Remember just a few years ago(or was it months?) when conservationists and ecologists feared that the alligator was headed for extinction?

Well, he is making a comeback in most southern states, including Texas.

"Thanks to a combination of state and federal laws which make the interstate transport and the possession of alligator hides illegal, more and more Southeast Texans are reporting the big reptiles in their ponds and lakes," reports the Texas Parks and Wildlife Dept.

In fact, they say that if the alligator population continues to increase and expand its range, a limited harvest might become feasible.

Nobody knows how many gators there are in Texas right now, but a survey last fall indicates that over 90 per cent of Texas' alligators are less than six feet long, which means they are juveniles in the alligator world. This preponderance of juveniles indicates a veritable alligator population explosion, the Parks and Wildlife Dept. says.

Among our neighbors:

From the Big Spring Herald — "Howard County distinguished itself with a disgraceful performance Tuesday in the special election for state senator. Only 265 voters bothered to turn out, and, incredibly, in one box not a single person voted. It cost $5.01 per vote to hold that election. That's the worst record in our history."

From the Sweetwater Reporter — "The Women's Airforce Service Pilots (WASPS) join the Air Force in its slogan, 'Pride in the Past, Faith in the Future,' as they prepare to observe the 30th anniversary of their organization June 23-25 at Sweetwater. The Air Force is observing its 25th anniversary as a separate service. . .The Wasp anniversary will be held here where the majority of the 1,074 graduates of the flying training program for the women trained. Avenger Field, now the Sweetwater Municipal Airport, will be the scene of the reunion air show. . ."

From Colorado City Record — "Strategists for presidential candidates Sen. George McGovern and George Wallace have their eyes on Mitchell County's delegation to the State Democratic Convention. Their interest has warmed for 2 reasons: 1. The 'uncommitted' tag on the 5 Mitchell delegates, which means that the 5 have not pledged themselves as of now to any candidate or faction for the 1972 presidential campaign. 2. New Democratic Party rules — if they are adhered to in the business of the convention — are likely to open up the San Antonio gathering and make it the nearest thing to a real grassroots convention. . ."

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Tuesday, June 13, the 165th day of 1972. There are 201 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1956, Great Britain turned the Suez Canal over to Egypt after operating the waterway for 74 years.

On this date:

In 1502, Christopher Columbus discovered the West Indian island of Martinique.

In 1841, the first Canadian parliament opened in Ottawa.

In 1917, Gen. John Pershing and his headquarters arrived in Paris in World War I.

In 1940, Paris was declared an open city in World War II.

In 1942, the U.S. Office of War Information was created, with broadcaster and writer Elmer Davis as director.

In 1967, Thurgood Marshal was named as the first Negro on the U.S. Supreme Court.

Ten years ago: The Soviet Union suspended trade talks with France after failing to get tariff concessions equal to those accorded the countries of the European Common Market.

Five years ago: The Soviet Union called for an emergency session of the U. N. General Assembly to put pressure on Israel to return Arab territory seized in the six-day war.

One year ago: An Israeli-chartered oil tanker was hit by bazooka fire from a civilian speedboat off Yemen.

Legislature Meets Wednesday

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas legislature meets in special session Wednesday to start work on a one-year budget. Gov. Preston Smith, who called the session, claims he will try to block any attempt to increase taxes.

The governor also says he will not let the lawmakers consider any other proposals until they have adopted an appropriations bill for the fiscal year starting Sept. 1.

Of the 93 proposals suggested to him for the special session, Smith says "right now" he is considering opening the session only to changes in a 1971 trailer brake law that farmers and ranchers have protested.

Nearly 400 of Smith's appointments are to be considered by the Senate, which has the power to confirm or reject them.

The governor has said it might be better for the 1973 legislature to adopt a code of ethics for lawmakers since there will be so many new legislators here next January.

Texas budgets usually are written for two years, but Smith vetoed the second year of the spending bill last June.

A special session would have been necessary, however, even if Smith had not vetoed the bill because the 1971 legislature did not include money for public welfare spending in anticipation that the federal government might take over some of the costs.

Electrical Board Meets

The newly-appointed electrical board of the City of Snyder held its first meeting last night and elected Jimmy Hardy to serve as its chairman.

Bill Mapes was named vice chairman and W.A. Cooper, the city's building and electrical inspector, was named secretary.

City Manager George Patterson spoke briefly to the board, thanking the members for serving. He also outlined the duties and responsibilities of the new board. Among these are to thoroughly review the electrical ordinance currently in use and make recommendations to the city council for updating the ordinance.

The new ordinance should provide a permanent electrical board, a procedure for testing in connection with the granting of electrical licenses and establish a process for appeals on questions of interpretation of the electrical code. The board also was advised that the city council feels that all license holders would be tested under terms of the new ordinance upon expiration of their current licenses.

The board set its next meeting for June 26.

Local Republicans At State Session

All four of Scurry County's delegates to the Republican State Convention left Monday for Galveston to attend the state session.

Demo Convention Gets Slow Start

By GARTH JONES
Associated Press Writer

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Texas Democrats, operating for the first time under a presidential preference plan, met in state convention today to pick 130 delegates to the national Democratic convention.

Time for the 10 a.m. convention came and went as the 3,988 delegates and about as many alternates slowly wandered into the 10,000-seat San Antonio Convention Center arena.

Convention procedure was slowed more than usual by the addition of an opinion poll of delegates on Democratic presidential prospects. After each delegate and alternate waited in long lines to get credentials, each had to wait again in line to get the credentials checked for admission. Then each one had to cast a secret ballot for his choice for the presidential nomination.

The straw vote results will influence the makeup of the 130-member delegation to Miami Beach July 10.

Placards and signs supporting Alabama Gov. George Wallace far outnumbered displays by any other candidate in the big domed hall. Hundreds of straw hats with Wallace hatbands were everywhere.

Prospects of a hormonious convention, unusual to a party normally split at least along liberal-conservative lines, lay heavily on the shoulders of the Democratic gubernatorial nominee, Dolph Briscoe.

"We stand today on the threshold of our most productive, most peaceful convention in many, many years," says Briscoe, who won a runoff election handily June 3 from Mrs. Frances Farenthold of Corpus Christi, a dark horse liberal Democrat candidate.

Other Democrat leaders disagreed with Briscoe but efforts for a harmonious, or at least "hands off" convention continued through Monday night.

The No. 1 task of the convention was to select 130 delegates to the July 10 National Democratic Convention where the party's presidential nominee will be named.

Butz Predicts Big GOP Win

By PAUL RECER
Associated Press Writer

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) — The Republican party is "going to win big" in November because "the greatness of this President and this administration are becoming clear," Secretary of Agriculture Earl L. Butz said today.

His remarks were made in a keynote address prepared for the state GOP convention.

"We're going to tramp the living daylights out of whomever the Democrats nominate," Butz declared. "A strong affirmative Republican campaign ... will be persuasive and attractive to voters in all sectors of American life."

The secretary then ticked off what he said were the beliefs of the Nixon administration:

—"Building a lasting peace with honor;

—"Getting the facts to the people rather than making decisions for the people;

—"Decentralizing government;

—"Public servants rather than a proliferating bureaucracy;

—"Making progress through people than promising miracles through gradiose programs."

Butz illustrated his points with farm and ranch examples.

He said Nixon s[illegible] him when the secretary spoke out for the farmers in the face of rising food prices.

"The facts are on the side of the farmer," he said.

Another point, Butz said, is the administration's plan to shift decision-making emphasis away from Washington and "give farmers maximum latitude in making decisions which bring them the most profit while at the same time making the adjustments necessary to keep production in line with needs."

Egyptian Jets Shot Down

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli air force fighters shot down two Soviet-built Egyptian MIG21 jets today in a dogfight over the Mediterranean, the military command reported.

The Egyptian pilots were seen parachuting into the sea about 25 miles off the Sinai Desert, a spokesman said.

The Israeli planes returned safely, he added. He did not disclose how many planes were flying in the patrol which spotted the Egyptians or the type of Israeli fighters involved.

The dogfight was the first battle between Israeli and Egyptian planes since the Middle East cease-fire of August 1970.

Ground fire brought down two aircraft last September however.

A military command spokesman said today's air battle began when a patrol of Israeli jets encountered Egyptian aircraft over the Mediterranean near the Sinai Desert.

"Two Egyptian aircraft of the MIG21 type were downed," he said.

The fight occurred about noon, he added.

By unofficial count, the MIGs were 113th and 114th Egyptian planes claimed shot down by Israel since the end of the 1967 Middle East war. Israel has acknowledged losing 17 aircraft to the Egyptians in the same period.

The military command spokesman said it was not immediately clear whether the aerial battle was a violation of the American-sponsored cease-fire, now 22 months old.

The announcement did not specify exactly where the Egyptian planes were flying when the Israeli fighters made contact or whether the MIGs were in Israeli controlled air space. It said only that the first encounter was "near the Sinai."

Fast Action Is Urged

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon, disclosing some of the fine print of arms curb agreements negotiated with the Soviet Union, urged Congress today to act "without delay" in giving its approval to the accords.

A treaty limiting the deployment of antiballistic missiles —ABM—to two sites in each country was sent to the Senate with a request for early ratification.

Both houses of Congress were asked to pass a resolution approving a companion executive agreement that would freeze the total number of land-and sea-based offensive ballistic missiles in the United States and the Soviet Union at present levels.

While terming the agreements "an important first step in checking the arms race," Nixon told Congress they "do not close off all avenues of strategic competition."

He said it was "essential that we carry forward a sound strategic modernization program to maintain our security and to insure that more permanent and comprehensive arms limitation agreements can be reached."

Nixon revealed that the United States feels it would have a basis for withdrawing from the ABM treaty if tighter curbs on offensive arms are not negotiated within five years. Either side can withdraw on six months' notice.

The fine print Nixon sent Congress disclosed that the United States and the Soviet Union remain far apart in considering the question of modern submarines operated by U.S. allies in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The Soviets take the position that should the NATO allies build additional modern subs, over and above those now operational or under construction, "the Soviet Union will have the right to a corresponding increase in the number of its submarines."

The United States took the position that it "does not accept the validity of the considerations" raised by Moscow regarding submarines belonging to third countries.

American negotiators had wanted to restrict land-mobile intercontinental ballistic missile—ICBM—launchers as part of the agreement on offensive arms but deferred the topic in order to speed an agreement in time for Nixon's summit visit to Moscow last month.

However, the United States has served notice it would regard the deployment of such launchers "as inconsistent with the objectives" of the executive agreement. The Soviets expressed no view on the subject.

The exact timing of congressional hearings on the treaty and the agreement is still uncertain.

Chairman J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and Chairman John Stennis, D-Miss., of the Senate Armed Services Committee have indicated they favor approval of the accords.

Rapid City Starts Burying Dead

By F. RICHARD CICCONE
Associated Press Writer

RAPID CITY, S.D. (AP) — Burial of Rapid City's flood victims begins today in three cemeteries while survivors continue the search for the dead.

Individual graveside services will be conducted for the identified victims who died late Friday and early Saturday when rain-swollen Rapid Creek erupted through this city of 43,000 persons in the shadow of the Black Hills.

"The services will probably go for at least a week," said a funeral director. A mass memorial service is scheduled Sunday at a local high school.

Civil Defense reported Sunday that the death toll stood at more than 200, but on Monday it said the toll was 175. However, newsmen counted 161 identified bodies and 31 unidentified, a total of 192. The toll was expected to climb.

A spokesman said duplication of reports and confusion caused erroneous reports. Officials said some bodies were moved to nearby communities Sunday when three Rapid City mortuaries used as temporary morgues became overcrowded.

The Omaha (Neb.) World-Herald reported in today's editions that two cloud-seeding experiments were conducted Friday in the Rapid City area, one of them about 5 p.m., an hour before the devastating rains began.

The experiments were conducted by the Institute of Atmospheric Sciences, South Dakota School of Mines & Technology "for increasing water supply and studying the dynamics of hail production," the copyright article quotes an unnamed federal official as saying.

The newspaper quoted Prof. Arnett Dennis, chief of the institute's meteorological analysis group, as saying the experiments "had totally and absolutely nothing to do with the storm that hit Rapid City. I would stake my life on that."

As the cleanup and search continued at Rapid City, Maj. Gen. Duane L. Corning, commander of the South Dakota National Guard, said, "Guardsmen have been finding bodies all day. It will continue for days and days."

Mayor Donald Barnett said he believes many bodies were washed downstream and never will be recovered. Farmers in outlying areas were asked to search their properties for bodies.

Barnett imposed a 9 p.m. to daylight curfew for the third day.

Officials said at least 400 persons were on the missing list, but Barnett added the list was shrinking "as the living find the missing and both of them report to us."

The number of injured was impossible to estimate, officials said.

Tentative Approval Is Given College Budget

Scurry County Junior College District Trustees last night tentatively approved a $1,254,408 operating budget for Western Texas College for the 1972-73 fiscal year and set a public hearing on the proposed budget for 4 p. m. June 20.

The operating budget, an increase from $973,667 for 1971-72, is based on a tax rate of 28.4 cents per $100 valuation, an increase of four cents over the past year.

The interest and sinking fund budget, which is a fixed item to service bonded indebtedness, is $535,002.50, and will require a tax rate of 29.4 cents.

State funds are due to provide $625,720 or approximately half of the operating funds. Local taxes will provide $470,361, while the remainder will come from tuition, fees, etc.

WTC expects a substantial increase in enrollment for the coming year. Dr. Duane Hood, registrar, told the board that some 540 inquiries had been received from prospective freshmen outside of Scurry County. In July of last year there were about 300 such inquiries, Dr. Hood said, which indicates an upsurge in interest [illegible] outside the immediate area.

The college will begin its second long session with the first phase of its building program completed and with construction underway on a student center and a physical education center.

Major items in the proposed new budget show $185,227 allocated to administrative and student services, compared to $154,830.88 for the past year; resident instruction, $413,249 compared to $271,481,64; oc-

IN RAPE TRIAL

Jury Acquits Black Athletes

By GARY GARRISON
Associated Press Writer

EDINBURG, Tex. (AP) — Emotions ran high and there were few dry eyes in the courtroom Monday as a jury acquitted two Pan American University basketball players on rape charges.

Reese Stovall, 21, of San Antonio, and Leo Tolin, 22, of Detroit, Mitch., the team's leading scorers, were being tried in 92nd District Court here on charges of raping a university coed from Laredo.

The noisy, chattering crowd grew suddenly silent as Dist. Court Judge Darrell Hester was handed the verdict from the jury of seven women and five men. The jury had deliberated one hour and 39 minutes.

Applause rang through the courtroom and there were shouts of tearful glee as the "not guilty" verdict was read. Even the shouting of bailiffs and the pounding of a gavel failed to completely silence the crowd.

"Thank you very much. You make the system work," said defense lawyer Craig Washington of Houston as he tearfully waved his arms at the jury.

Several of the jurors wept before they filed from the courtroom.

Hidalgo County Dist. Atty. Oscar McInnis, who earlier urged the jury to find the men guilty, was not in the courtroom when the verdict was read. McInnis had called nine witnesses in the two and a half days of testimony.

Describing the two basketball players as "privileged characters," McInnis told the jury "I don't believe the people's morals have sunk so low that you'll put the stamp of approval on this sort of thing."

"This is your county—your university. We'll have the kind of university you want," McInnis said.

Washington inserted the racial issue into the case in his closing arguments. "Would you be here if that had been a black girl in bed and two white guys?" he asked.

Stella Kramer, 19, the alleged victim, testified she was raped by Stovall and Tolin and at least four other persons Jan. 17, 1972. She said she was lured to Stovall's dormitory room on the pretext that Stovall was going to teach her to play pool. She also testified later that she asked Stovall to walk her to her dormitory because she was "afraid." She said Stovall agreed to do so.

"What rapist in his right mind would walk the victim home," Washington said.

Pointing out that the alleged victim did not report the incident until she was called before dean of women Bonnie Powers more than a month later, Washington said "she reported it when she was in a corner."

"You know what happened here—Miss Kramer got caught with her hand in the cookie jar," Washington said.

"She was found out. She had two choices—either admit it and get sent home or charge Reese Stovall and Leo Tolin with rape," Washington said.

"I think it was a very fair trial, a just verdict and justice has been served," head basketball coach Sam Williams said.

Williams, who attended every session of the trial, said no final decision has been made on whether Stovall and Tolin will return to play basketball for Pan American next season. He said their case is being studied by the University Disciplinary Committee.

"I thought they were going to find me guilty, but I'm free," Tolin said. Stovall remained mostly quiet although surrounded by well-wishers.

"We think, in fact we know, we did the right thing," said juror Jaime Ruiz of Pharr. "That's right," added juror Debbie Morrow of McAllen. They and some other jurors had waited on the first floor of the courthouse to shake hands with Stovall, Tolin and Washington.

"I hope this trial has allayed a great deal of suspicion about a great university," said lawyer Washington.

Asked by a newsman if there was to be a party to celebrate the verdict, Pan American sports information director Jim McKone said "there's no party.

"There's no celebration. We haven't eaten or slept for days, McKone, red-eyed, his voice cracking with emotion, said.

Jurors Ruiz and Morrow said there "one or more" persons on the jury who held out for a "guilty" verdict. Asked what changed their mind," Ruiz, a disc jockey and announcer at radio station KIRT, Mission, said "the law."

Faulty Door Blamed In Explosion

By STEPHEN H. WILDSTROM
Associated Press Writer

DETROIT (AP)-Investigators said today a malfunctioning cargo door that opened in flight caused a midair incident in which an American Airlines DC10 was damaged but managed to make it safely back to Detroit's Metropolitan Airport Monday night.

First reports indicated the tail section of the huge Los Angeles-to-New York plane might have been ripped by an explosive. But the airline quoted the FBI as saying there was no evidence of an explosive device being involved.

The 56 passengers and 11 crew members all escaped serious injury as the jet ran off a runway during an emergency landing.

After hours of investigation by FBI agents, Wayne County sheriff's officers and airline personnel, the incident was blamed on a faulty door which opened in flight.

George A. Warde, executive vice president and general manager of the airline, said in a statement issued at the company's New York headquarters:

"A thorough investigation by a company maintenance and engineering team assembled at Detroit Metropolitan Airport has determined that a cargo door in the lower part of the fuselage below the passenger cabin opened when the airplane was at about 12,000 feet altitude after having left Detroit en route to Buffalo, although signal lights in the cockpit indicated the cargo door and all other doors were closed and latched normally.

"Because the airplane was pressurized, a decompression with a loud sound occurred. During the night we have inspected the cargo compartments of all our DC10s and have found them to be functioning properly. American Airlines and McConnell Douglas, manufacturers of the DC10, are conducting a thorough investigation to determine what caused the malfunction of the door on Flight 96. The National Transportation Safety Board also is investigating the incident."

Investigators said that when the door opened, some of the cargo—including a coffin—tumbled out.

Coxes Celebrate First Anniversary

WASHINGTON (AP) — President and Mrs. Nixon had a family dinner party aboard the Navy yacht Sequoia Monday night to celebrate the first wedding anniversary of daughter Tricia and son-in-law Edward Cox.

The menu included steak, shrimp in coconut—a delicacy served at their White House wedding—and a fudge-iced cake that said "Happy Anniversary, Tricia and Ed."

Tricia said she is very happy with married life but revealed that she's lost weight in the past year. Her wedding dress was a petite size 4. She's down to a size 3 now.

"It has nothing to do with my cooking," she maintained.

The Coxes have left their student apartment in Cambridge, Mass., where he attended Harvard Law School, and have moved into the White House for the rest of the year.

Their second celebration of the week comes Wednesday when they go to Cambridge for Ed's law school graduation.

To mark their wedding anniversary, Tricia gave her husband an album of photographs of their first year. He gave her a miniature painting of a floral arrangement on an easel. For graduation, Tricia gave him a monogramed briefcase.

VFW Gives $10,000 For Flood Relief

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The Veterans of Foreign Wars, through its national headquarters, has given $10,000 for flood relief at Rapid City, S.D. The VFW Auxiliary has given another $2,000.

The money will be administered by the South Dakota VFW

Couple Retires With 68 Years

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) — Wellington E. Duncanson Jr., and his wife, Lillian, retired recently with a combined total of more than 68 years federal service.

Duncanson, a civil engineering technician for the Army Engineers' Galveston District, has 35 years service. His wife, claims examiner in the Galveston district office of the Social Security Administration, has more than 32 years service.

A native of Rock Island, Ill., Duncanson went to work for the engineers in his home town in 1934. He was promoted to draftsman in 1937 and transferred to Galveston in 1940.

Mrs. Duncanson was employed by the American Red Cross in 1936 when she took a leave of absence to work for the post office, issuing the first social security cards for the Galveston area.

She received her appointment with the Social Security Administration approximately two weeks before the local office was opened in December 1939. At that time, she was account number clerk and receptionist, one of the three-person Social Security staff located in the Customs Building.

In 1942 she became Claims Examiner for the Galveston office, and has been in that position since.

Panel OKs Expansion But . . .

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Finance Committee has drawn up the biggest expansion ever of the Social Security and welfare programs, but it hasn't figured out how to pay for it.

Committee members try again today to solve the last obstacle remaining before final committee approval which would clear the bill for floor debate.

The panel announced Monday that the annual cost of the measure would be $17.6 billion when it became fully effective in 1974. Chairman Russell B. Long, D-La., said this would be by far the greatest single increase since the two programs first were enacted as part of the same law in 1935.

Nixon administration specialists disagreed with the committee estimates and insisted that the true cost would be $24.1 billion, or $6.5 billion more than the committee's total.

Panel members have been wrestling for three days with how to finance the higher Social Security benefits. They are trying to come up with some combination of higher tax rates and changes in the wage base—the amount of annual earnings on which the tax is paid.

Conservatives in control of the committee, seeking to trim the costs of benefits already voted, put through a revision Monday which would deny to persons at the bottom of the scale the general 10 per cent Social Security increase voted last Friday.

Under this decision, individuals getting the present minimum of $70.40 a month would be limited to a 5 per cent increase. This decision also limited to 5 per cent persons aged 72 and over not qualified for full Social Security but allowed special benefits under a 1967 law. An individual in this category thus would go from $46.30 a month to $50.80.

Long said the decision was justified on the grounds that persons with such low incomes also would qualify for welfare benefits.

The committee rejected a tax reform amendment sponsored by four Democratic senators who said it would raise $6 billion a year in revenue.

Three Mishaps Are Reported

Three traffic mishaps have been reported by city police.

At 10:45 p.m. Sunday a 1968 Chevrolet driven by Earnest E. Pinkerton Jr. was damaged when it hit a utility pole at 1300 College Avenue.

At 11:59 a.m. Monday, a 1970 Oldsmobile driven by Sam Irvin Cross and a 1970 Ford pickup driven by Darrell W. Taylor were involved in a mishap at 3700 College Avenue.

At 12:20 a.m. today, a 1971 Chevrolet driven by Jerry Thomas Rinehart and a 1972 Ford pickup truck driven by George Robert York were involved in a mishap at 2300 College Avenue.

Compact Won't Fight Resolution

By MAX B. SKELTON
AP Oil Writer

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — A 34-state oil and gas conservation group has decided not to fight an amended congressional resolution that criticizes the group for endorsing such controversial matters as oil's depletion tax allowance.

The vote was unanimous Monday after Gov. Stanley K. Hathaway, R-Wyo., chairman of the Interstate Oil Compact Commission, called for "a motion that we not do anything overtly to reject the amendment to let nature take its course."

He drew immediate response with a motion that the compact take no position on the amendment.

Hathaway said the compact has done nothing wrong but that congressional extention of the group's legal status is more important than the charges made in the amendment drawn by a house subcommittee.

"Without congressional approval, some states might have to withdraw from the compact," he said.

The Senate voted last August to extend the compact until Aug. 31, 1974, but the House last week approved the amended version of the resolution asking that the justice department determine whether the endorsement of oil depletion, oil import controls and similar matters violate a charter provision prohibiting the states from conspiring to stabilize or protect oil and gas prices.

Before the Monday vote, Richard C. Byrd, the group's general council from Ohawa, Kan., said the amendment "really doesn't affect us at all because we have never done anything not pertaining to the conservation of oil and gas."

Hathaway had discussed the matter earlier in the day with Govs. Bruce King, D-N.M., and Robert Docking, D-Kan.

"We agreed we should not place any roadblocks in the way of congressional approval of the extension," Hathaway said.

Govs. Dale Bumpers, D-Ark., and Dave Hall, D-Okla., also have part in the group's midyear meeting but only Hathaway and King were present when the official representatives of the 29 permanent member states voted on the extension problem.

Hathaway and Byrd blamed the amended resolution on Congressmen representing New England states whose governors have challenged the legality of the mandatory oil import control program.

"Our job is to continue to act as a catalyst to bring about viewpoints by individual states and individual industry spokesmen," Hathaway said.

"We as a compact cannot intervene in the suit challenging oil import controls but three individual states already have indicated they plan to do so and I hope there will be more."

Resolutions were to be considered at today's concluding session of the two-day meeting. One proposal called for renewal of a plea that import controls be maintained and strengthened.

College

cupational education, $197,747, compared to $160,000; and plant maintenance and operation, $182,290, compared to $187,012.

In other business Monday evening, the board approved two policy items. One will enable the college to make purchases from a relative of a college employee, provided he owns a bona fide business and such purchases are made in accordance with procedures outlined in the established policy. No purchase can be made from an employee of the college, however.

A policy was established for awarding state scholarships as provided by statute. A seven-member committee will administer the state scholarship program here, which will involve around $3,000 the coming year, it was estimated.

The board also authorized the purchase of equipment to produce student identification cards. Dr. Robert Clinton, WTC president, said Snyder High School had indicated an interest in using such equipment and the board approved negotiation with the public school district on the possibility of joint ownership of the equipment.

Dr. Clinton gave a brief oral report on the meeting last week of the Coordinating Board of the College and University System which heard a request from a Haskell group that an extension center of WTC be established there. The request was referred to a committee for further study. Dr. Clinton said that the state board is working on guidelines for such extension centers, which were approved by the legislature.

The board also was given a current report on scholarships awarded by WTC for the 1972-73 school year.

The next regular meeting of the college district board is scheduled for July 17.

HHH Seeks Support Of Texas Demos

By RICHARD BEENE
Associated Press Writer

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Presidential contender Hubert Humphrey, vowing to throw President Nixon a knockout punch if given a rematch, left Texas today after seeking support from the state's Democrats in a drive to stay alive politically.

"I think we picked up a few (delegate) votes here," he said before flying to Columbia, S.C.

He declined to speculate how many.

Humphrey arrived here late Monday in an 11th hour bid for support before today's Texas Democratic convention opened.

"The eyes of the nation are upon you," Humphrey told a group of supporters.

"What happens here may very well tell what happens in Miami—and what happens in this country," he said.

Humphrey was the only presidential contender to appear in person to seek delegate support for the July 10 national Democratic convention at Miami Beach.

Others sent representatives to meet with delegates here.

Humphrey shook hands with hundreds of people as they swarmed around him at a VIP reception that drew a crowd of more than 1,000, then spoke briefly to three other groups, jabbing at the Nixon Administration and citing his own record and past experience.

Before turning in for the night, the former vice president met privately with Dolph Briscoe, the Democratic nominee for Texas governor.

Briscoe has said he will be an uncommitted delegate to the national convention, and Humphrey's target during his visit here was the reportedly large number of uncommitted delegates.

He urged those already committed to him to "get a few more. And those of you that are not sure, let me reconcile your doubts."

The Minnesota Democrat said he had Nixon "on the ropes" in the 1968 campaign, and if he wins a rematch, "I'll give him the knockout he deserves."

Humphrey carried Texas by a small margin in 1968.

He predicted "disenchantment and disillusionment" throughout the nation if Nixon is re-elected and declared that while unemployment is now 6 million, it will jump to 9 or 10 million with four more years of Nixon.

Earlier Monday, Humphrey discounted speculation that Alabama Gov. George Wallace might be his vice presidential running mate.

He called the possibility of a Humphrey-Wallace ticket "highly remote" and "unrealistic."

He also said he has stated in the past only that "any man in the Democratic party is entitled to be heard and his views to be heard." Wallace, he said, "is entitled to every opportunity, just like any other candidate."

Great Dane Is Buried On Shore

FALMOUTH, Maine (AP) — A young Great Dane weighing about 140 pounds, unable to conquer the incoming tide, was buried on the shore of the Presumpscot River estuary where it drowned.

While spectators watched helplessly, the dog made a valiant and exhaustive effort to stay alive. It managed to crawl at low tide through a mud flat for some 200 feet toward shore before the tide took its course in from Casco Bay and covered the dog.

Police Chief Clyde F. LeClair, one of those who witnessed the dog's death Saturday, said he wants to find the person responsible.

The dog's rear legs and neck had been bound with rope, and its legs were shackled with heavy auto parts.

Following the bake contest, a bake sale was held at Piggly Wiggly, Liebs, Everybody's and Rainbow stores.

The 4-H'ers, their leaders and the County Home Demonstration Agent would like to express their appreciaion to the stores and to all the people who stopped by their table to look or to buy.

Restoration Poses Problem

Choosing a material to match the marble of the Pieta is one problem confronting those involved with the restoration of Michelangelo's famous work of art. The sculpture, which depicts the Virgin holding the dead Christ, was the victim of a hammer assault in May by a man who claimed to be Jesus Christ. One material solution comes from Robert Organ, who restores and conserves art objects for the Smithsonian Institute. He suggests the method of mixing powdered milk glass with resin to achieve the correct degree of translucency. The restoration cannot be too perfect, though, because it can technically be labeled a forgery if the repairs cannot be spotted by an art expert.

Beauty Expert Helps Younger Generation

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Although long-time beauty expert Lucille Bouchard studied to be a school teacher in her native Montreal, and became instead an electrolysis technician, she is using her teaching abilities to make young people more aware of their grooming needs.

In addition to conducting beauty seminars for New York State's Board of Cooperative Education (BOCES), a program that helps potential drop outs learn a trade as they attend regular school classes, she treats and comforts a great many young people who have extreme hair and skin problems.

"The incidence of excess hair growth on girls' bodies has increased fifty-fold in the last few years," she notes. "Some girls have hair lines that grow almost to their eyebrows, others have hair on their faces."

Such problems have existed in other generations, but many people are baffled as to the cause of the large increase in excess hair growth, she comments. In her opinion it is caused by overexposure to the sun—excess hair is nature's way of protecting the skin, but she says in many instances the problem is hereditary or caused by glandular disturbances.

Many young people make the hair problem worse by treating it themselves with bleaches and waxes or by shaving the skin or tweezing the hair.

Mrs. Bouchard warns young people to consult doctors if they need hair removal as there are many inexperienced people doing electrolysis work. Some doctors may consider such treatments expensive and tedious, but Mrs. Bouchard feels every woman wants to be pretty and "the greatest morale builder for a woman is to be admired."

This beauty consultant often has to start from scratch and teach her clients to wash their faces properly. In doing so, she explains that skin is argest organ of the body, and that its real food comes from with by activation of the skin. Exercise, warm water, ice, and applying cream or patting the face will bring blood to the surface that will nourish the skin. When she suggests a cream for problem skin, it is applied after the pores have been opened with hot towels.

In teaching the BOCES group, she stresses personal grooming because "they may never go into the beauty business doing nails and hair."

Birmingham Belle Is Mother Of Windshield Wipers

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Before the windshield wiper there were disgruntled motorists and obstructed views. A society belle from Birmingham envisioned a brighter day.

It was in the winter of 1902 that Mary Anderson went to New York and was distressed at the plight of the street car driver. Back in those days a motorist went out on a rainy day with an onion, a plug of tobacco or a piece of carrot.

Theoretically, the things were rubbed briskly over the windshield, leaving an oily film which prevented water from collecting.

But the theory left a bit to be desired.

When she returned to Birmingham she made a drawing of a gadget she thought would do the job. A local company made a working model—a simple, manually-operated arm to remove snow, rain and sleet from the glass of the modern electric motor car.

NYSE Board Nominees All Businessmen, Busy

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Two factors stand out in an analysis of the list of 10 nominees proposed to represent the public interest on the new board of the New York Stock Exchange:

—The list is made up of extraordinarily busy people.

—Most of the nominees are associated with big business.

The two who have little or no business connections, Jerome H. Holland and Juanita M. Kreps, are involved in jobs that seemingly would occupy them fulltime.

Holland is ambassador to Sweden. Kreps is professor of economics, dean of the women's college and assistant provost at Duke University.

In the past it was often assumed that there was no limit to the number of responsibilities that could be handled by a businessman. "Give a busy man the job and he'll get it done," it was said.

Since the Penn Central debacle, however, when some directors apparently were unaware that the multibillion-dollar transportation company was on a one-way track to financial disaster, there has been considerable rethinking.

Now, it is generally agreed, a director must be involved and knowledgeable about the organization on whose board he serves because it is his responsibility, to stockholders or public, to check on management.

The question arises, therefore, of whether the exchange's public nominees will be able to devote enough time to the public interest. In the past, the board met every week, although only one meeting per month involved policy.

There is little evidence, either, that some nominees have established reputations for anticipating or being sensitive to consumer and small investor interests. Some represent companies that have been targets of consumer groups and ecologists.

There is no representative of any small investor group, such as the National Association of Investment Clubs, even though it is known that the NAIC sought a role.

What all have in common, besides being busy, is considerable ability, which has been shared broadly and often selflessly, frequently without remuneration.

These are some of the outside activities of the nominees as published in the 1972 Standard & Poor's Register:

William M. Batten not only is chairman of J.C. Penney Co., one of the nation's largest merchandisers, but is listed as a director of four other corporations, including American Telephone, First National City Bank and Boeing.

Karl R. Bendetsen, chairman of Champion International, is listed on the board of Westinghouse Electric, the Conference Board, and three industry institutes.

Donald C. Cook, heads American Electric Power Co., which also puts him on the board of 24 electric utility operating companies. He is a director also of four outside corporations.

William C. Greenough, chairman of Teachers Insurance and Annuity Association and College Retirement Equities Fund, is listed as a member or director or trustee of eight other organizations, including the First National City Bank trust board.

Raymon H. Mulford, chairman of Owens-Illinois, Inc., is listed as being involved with a variety of organizations as trustee or director, including the Toledo Museum of Art and Marathon Oil Co.

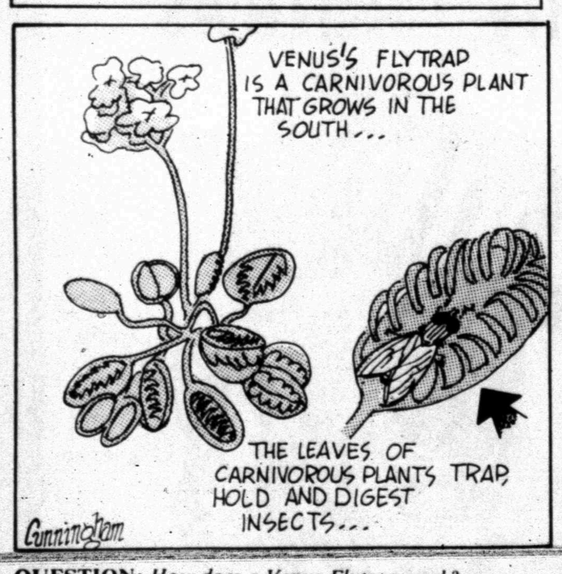

Cornelius W. Owens, executive vice president of American Telephone, is a trustee of Boston College, vice president of the N.Y. Chamber of Commerce and a director of several other corporations.

James M. Roche, retired General Motors chairman, is associated with 13 organization. He is a trustee of Holy Cross College and Tuskegee Insitute, a director of Pepsico, a member of the National Business Council.

Robert Sarnoff, RCA Corp. chairman, is director of four subsidiaries, including Random House. He is a director also of Manufacturers Hanover Bank and a member of the visiting committee of the Harvard College Board of Overseers, among others.

One of five extant drafts of the Gettysburg address in Lincoln's handwriting was written at the request of Edward Everett, former president of Harvard, to be sold at a fair for the benefit of soldiers.

Junior Editors' Quiz on VENUS FLY TRAPS

QUESTION: How does a Venus Flytrap work?

ANSWER: The Venus Flytrap is a member of a group of plants known as insectivorous plants. These plants supplement the food they receive from the soil and air by trapping insects in their specially constructed leaves and absorbing the insect material as a supplement to their diet. The Venus Flytrap is a perennial herb and is called a carnivorous or meat-eating plant. It is found in the swamps of North and South Carolina and grows in bogs where the soil is lacking in nitrogen, so it traps insects to gain nitrogen. Venus Flytrap reaches a height of 12 inches. It has white flowers about one inch in diameter. These blossoms rise out of a tuft or cluster of leaves consisting of two hinged blades, set with sensitive hairs. When these hairs or bristles are touched by an insect, the halves of the leaf close to form a trap. The entrapped insect dies and its juices are absorbed by the plant. Then the leaf opens up again to trap another victim. After a leaf has caught a number of insects, it withers and dies.

Ogre Likes Daughter's Suitors

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Many fathers of young daughters complain about either the quality or quantity of suitors who come knocking at their doors.

I have no problems on either score.

The suitors—if that's the right word—of my daughter Tracy Ann, who is nearly 19 are far better than this proud father feels she deserves. And as to quantity, they have been stumbling into our apartment like confused moths in limitless numbers since Tracy had her fifth birthday.

They have my sympathy. She treats them as a medieval Russian empress might treat a clumsy serf. I have always told Tracy that if her husband later wanted to run away from home because of this kind of treatment, I would lend him the money. She doesn't like much to hear me say that.

I called seldom at the homes of young ladies when I was a teen-ager, and the visits were always as brief as possible, it was always tongue-tied in the presence of parents, and felt their unspoken questioning of my evil intentions.

But the young men today who ring my front bell and try to make it sound like a circus calliope are no such social cripples. I envy them their breezy assurance. They have more self-confidence at 18 to 20 than I have at three score and one.

By and large, I like them very much. They dress like the inhabitants of a hobo jungle, but they are all clean. They are noisy, but there isn't a hophead, weirdo or premature drunk in the lot. And not one of them has ever been lippy with me. This may be because my daughter has warned them all, "I am the daughter of an ogre—please don't give him any excuse to start shedding your blood."

Not one of these young commandos has showed up with a box of candy or bouquet of flowers. Now and then, however, one will arrive with a bouquet of pizza pie.

About half of the boys wear beards, and I call them all "Fuzzy." I asked one of the new bearded ones the other day, "Why did you grow a beard? Are you about to undertake the principal role in the Second Coming?" "No," he answered, "I'm simply traveling incognito this year."

All the clean-shaven ones over six feet tall I call "Jack," because the one I like best falls in that category.

"Why do you call the others by Jack's name—that's not fair," said Tracy.

"Because he returns my neckties he borrows, is too big to wear my shirts, and gives me cigars for Christmas," I told her.

I secretly would like to have Jack for a son-in-law, but feel guilty about it. What responsible grown man would wish on a fine, upstanding, good-hearted boy like Jack a fate like that? After all, what kind of daughters do ogres have?

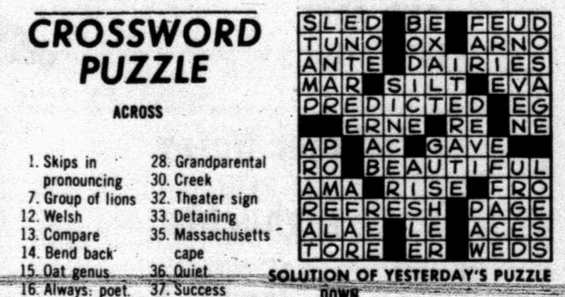

Edward Kennedy Buys Yacht

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., has bought a 50-foot sloop-rigged auxiliary sailboat from William Bolling, father of actress Tiffany Bolling.

Kennedy wants the yacht for his family's use in Cape Cod this summer.

The three-year-old sailboat costs about $160,000, new but Fisher refused to tell how much Kennedy agreed to pay for it.

Blue Is Betrayed By Oakland Bats

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Vida Blue's fastball is alive and humming in Oakland. Too bad the same can't be said of the A's bats whenever he pitches.

"I hope one of these games I pitch, the A's get some hits and runs," said Blue after losing a heart-breaking 1-0 game to Pat Dobson and the Baltimore Orioles Monday night.

Considering recent developments, Blue has every right to feel that way.

Winner of the Cy Young Award and Most Valuable Player in the American League last year, Blue came back late this year after contract difficulties and hasn't had much support since.

In 25 innings, the left-hander has been backed by a grand total of one run and hasn't won a game in three decisions because of it.

Elsewhere in the American League Tuesday, the Detroit Tigers defeated the Minnesota Twins 2-1 and the Texas Rangers swamped the Milwaukee Brewers 7-1.

An abbreviated schedule also was played in the National League, where the Atlanta Braves topped the New York Mets 8-7; the Houston Astros trimmed the Montreal Expos 3-1 and the St. Louis Cardinals defeated the Los Angeles Dodgers 3-2.

Blue's best performance of the year was witnessed by the largest crowd to watch the A's since they moved west from Kansas City—50,182. The enormous crowd also saw Dobson pitch one of the best games of his career, a powerhouse three-hitter.

Don Buford collected one of only five hits off Blue in his eight innings of work, but it was a big one—a single in the eighth that knocked in the game's only run.

Norm Cash and Mickey Stanley cracked home runs while Joe Niekro and Fred Scherman pitched out of constant trouble in Detroit's victory.

Cash connected off Bert Blyleven with one out in the second inning to give Detroit a 1-0 lead while Stanley unloaded off the Minnesota righthander to break a 1-1 tie in the fourth.

Mike Paul and Casey Cox teamed for a three-hitter and Don Mincher hit a home run and double, driving in four runs, as Texas defeated Milwaukee.

Paul, making only his second start of the season, allowed but two hits in seven innings. After the starter tired, Cox came on to pitch the final two innings and gave up only George Scott's ninth inning single.

Cards Whip Sox; Rain Stops Duel

In the first game in Monday night's Little League play, the Cardinals took a one-sided win over the White Sox, scoring 12 runs on an equal number of hits and allowing only two scores on three hits on the pitching of Randy Courtney.

The Cardinals scored in four of the five innings, crossing the plate five times in the first when Sid Everton rapped a lead-off double, followed by three free passes, Keith Wortham's single and Mark Hartsell's two bagger.

The Sox scored both of their runs in the second inning when Courtney put two men on and was touched by Barry Farquhar's single.

In the Cardinal half of the inning, singles by Everton and Randy Browning opened the way for Ronnie Tite, who smacked a three run homer off White Sox pitcher Lonnie Blackard, who sought relief from Alvin Ollison. The Cards scored three in the third and one in the fourth to complete the scoring.

Four Redbirds fattened their batting stats by collecting two hits. David Jolly and Randy Browning were perfect, two for two, Hartsell was two-for-three, and Everton was two-for-four. Blackard, Bobby Degrate, and Farquhar were the only Sox to have hits.

The twilight game was a different story entirely as the Giants and Indians battled for 7½ innings in a 1-1 deadlock before rain cooled the fray. Indian Robert Stoneman and Giant Calvin Reese duelled for six innings before Darrell Lester took the mound for the tribe and John Hopkins took over for the Giants.

Reese allowed three hits, Luke Jeffrey's first inning single, and two bingo's by Greg Sullenger and Jay Hammond in the second, but did not give up a run until Stoneman walked in the fourth inning and stole around the bases.

Stoneman gave up five hits, but only two combined for a score when Zane Sterling and Keith Early hit a pair of singles in the fifth to score Bobby Roemisch who had reached base via a walk.

Both teams threatened to break it open, but could never find the magic combination to paydirt. The Indians put men in scoring position three times and the Giants knocked at the door five times.

Reese led both teams in hitting with a three-for-three showing, but collected them without runners in front of him.

Taylor Signs With Houston

HOUSTON (AP) — Ted Taylor, a veteran left-winger for the Vancouver Canucks of the National Hockey League, has signed a three-year contract with the Houston Aeros of the World Hockey Association.

A's Pound Cards In Farm League

It was a long night for the Cochran Construction Cardinals, and most it was spent in the fourth inning as Snyder Saving Athletics scored 16 runs in that inning that lasted well over two hours.

The Athletics blasted three Cardinal pitchers, Allen Early, Paul Fagin, and Roger Patterson, for a game total of 29 runs to take a 29-16 win. The Cardinals actually had one more base hit, three, than the A', who had two, but errors and walks put enough men on base to make the difference.

Both of the Athletic hits came in the second inning when David and Jerry Bloom stroked back-to-back singles.

The Cards scored half of their runs in the long fourth, dividing the other eight among the first three frames. Tim Dickenson started the night by slapping a triple in his lead-off spot, but could get no help. In the second inning the Birds collected their other two hits with back-to-back shots by Terry Hagins and Early. Dee Dow received credit for the Athletic win from the mound.

It took the White Sox of Clark Lumber Company an inning to warm-up against Brave hurler David Armandariz who sruckout the side in the first, but then the Sox took the lead in the second after stiffening to kill a first inning threat by theBraves.

The Braves threatened with the bases full when Steve Dillard hit back to hurler Dwain Hicks who alertly cut the base runner down at home, then caught Mike Roemish looking at a third strike to end the pressure.

The White Sox came to town and racked up three hits. John Igo and Kelly Deavers singled, and Todd Bell doubled, scoring three runs to take the lead. In the bottom of the second however, the sky literally fell on the Sox. It also fell on the Braves, the fans, and the sports writer as rain terminated what looked to be an exciting game.

The two teams will meet again Saturday afternoon, June 17, at 4:30 to complete the game.

Rebels, Braves Take Close Wins

The Rebels narrowly defeated the Dogers last night in the first game of Junior League action in a see-saw battle that went down to the wire.

The Rebels scored in the first inning, but the Dodgers took the lead in the third when they pushed over two runs. The Rebs scored once in the fourth and three in the fifth. The Dodgers came through with four runs in the sixth but the Rebels scored twice to be one run out of reach. A single by Rick Hernandez advanced Norm Autry, who had walked, and then Bill Murry singled to score the final two runs that gave the Rebels the victory.

Dennis Young allowed only one hit to the Dodgers, a single in the second inning by Joey Hardin,, to take the victory for the headstrong Rebs. Gary Greenlee threw for the Dodgers and only gave up three hits, all singles, to Murray, Autry, and Hernandez, but all three were costly.

In the late game, the Braves pulled a 9-8 victory out of the fire from the Buffs. The Braves relied on a four run fourth inning and a tight defense that held the Buffs to three runs in the last three frames. Randy Gressett claimed the victory for the Braves, relieving Stan Francis after Francis was nailed for four runs in the first inning.

Bernie Weems, Francis, and Gressett were the big offensive men for the winners, each collecting two hits against Buff Tim Flynn.

Temple In Path Of Sun Devils

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Lightly regarded Temple gets a chance tonight to stop the Arizona State college baseball juggernaut.

The top-ranked Sun Devils blanked defending two-time champion Southern California 3-0 Monday night to become the tournament's only unbeaten of the four left from a field of eight.

"We don't care who we play, we have to win or it's over," mused Temple Coach Jim (Skip) Wilson after his club dumped Connecticut 7-4 to stay alive.

A six-hit, nine-strikeout complete game by Jim Crawford let the Sun Devils streak by Southern California (47-13-1), which faces Texas in tonight's other game.

Texas (40-8) stayed alive by beating No. 4 Oklahoma 7-1 behind a combined four-hit pitching job of sophomores Zane Grubbs and Jimmy Brown.

"We just ran into one helluva well pitched ball game," said USC Coach Rod Dedeaux, whose team is seeking a record eighth crown. "This does not bother us to lose one ball game. We just don't plan to lose two."

One record was set and one missed in the two night games. The attendance failed to pass the anticipated million mark for the tournament's 23-year stay in Omaha.

Officials refused to say how many persons short of the mark they were, but expected to pass the milestone tonight.

Arizona State's All-American shortstop, Allan Bannister, slugged a run-scoring triple, giving him a national collegiate record 99 hits for a season. The old mark of 98 was set by teammate Roger Schmuck last year.

Nicklaus Holds Earnings Lead

NEW YORK (AP) — Jack Nicklaus, despite a two-week absence from the tour in preparation for the U.S. Open, still maintains the lead among pro golf's money winners, according to statistics announced Monday by the PGA Tournament Players Division.

Nicklaus has earned $153,051 while Lee Trevino, who withdrew due to illness after the second round of the IVB-Philadelphia Golf Classic, continues to retain second place with $118,572. Jerry Heard is third with $113,311.

J. C. Snead, winner at Philadelphia, soared from 34th to 16th place with $62,715 in total earnings but failed to break into the top 10.

Washington Signs With Cardinals

Tommy Washington, Snyder's ace baseball player, officially became a member of the St. Louis Cardinal professional baseball organization when he met with Cardinal scouting supervisor John "Red" Barkley of Waco and signed a contract for an undisclosed salary and bonus.

Washington and high school Coach Speedy Moffett met with Barkley in Snyder at 9:00 a.m. to discuss and finalize the contract. "Tommy is a good boy and has the chance to become a good ball-player, especially if he hits the way we expect him to," said Barkley. "He's had some exceptional coaching, and I really think he's a fine prospect.

Washington will leave Thursday, June 15, for St. Petersburg, Florida, and then travel to Sarasota where he will join other recruits of the Cardinal Rookie Club for a ten day practice session before being assigned to a team. Barkley stated that Tommy would probably play in the Gulf Coast League, in which the Cardinals have two farm clubs, and will play about 60-65 games in a season stretching from June 26-August 26.

Torre Tops Among Fans

NEW YORK (AP) — Third baseman Joe Torre of the St. Louis Cardinals, who isn't tops in any National League batting category, apparently is No. 1 with National League Fans.

Torre collected 73,129 votes from fans across the country in the first day of balloting Monday for the July 25 All-Star Game in Atlanta. Ron Santo of the Chicago Cubs, his closest contender, was second with 26,227 votes.

Second in the voting was outfielder Hank Aaron of the Atlanta Braves with 69,548 votes, followed by shortstop Bud Harrelson of the New York Mets with 56,759.

The closest competition was shaping up for the catcher's position with Manny Sanguillen of Pittsburgh leading Johnny Bench of Cincinnati 48,203 to 47,305.

Following Aaron in the balloting for the three outfield spots were Roberto Clemente of Pittsburgh with 53,812 and Rusty Staub of the Mets with 50,713.

Lefty Phillips Is Dead At 53

ORANGE, Calif. (AP) — Harold "Lefty" Phillips, the California Angels' second manager, who was fired after last season, died Monday at St. Jude's Hospital after suffering a seizure at his home, a club official said. He was 53 years old.

Phillips had long suffered from a severe case of asthma, the club official said, and although the official cause of death was not immediately known pending an autopsy, asthma was belived the cause.

The Angels hired Phillips May 27, 1969, when they fired Bill Rigney in the midst of a losing streak. Phillips, who had been a coach in the Brooklyn and Los Angeles Dodgers' organization, helped the team achieve a 71-91 record that season.

Flames Wash Cars For Tourney Costs

The Snyder Flames, Snyder's women's softball team, is sponsoring a car wash at Fletcher's Downtown 66 station, today and tomorrow between 1:00 and 6:00 p.m. to help pay for expenses to two tournaments.

Albert Lewis, coach of the Flames, said that the funds from the car wash would finance their first tournament in Mineral Wells, and a tournament the following weekend in Eastland.

The Flames will play their first home game this Thursday night at 7:30 against Hamby.

Arnie Going After U.S. Open Title

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) — It's the 19th U.S. Open coming up for Arnold Palmer and, if Arnie's Army has despaired of his chances of ever winning another big one, the same can't be said of Arnie.

"I don't remember when I've worked harder for a tournament—that is, in a concentrated period," the deeply tanned, fit looking miracle man of the 1970s said today.

"I've played 20 days in a row now. Since Thursday when I arrived here, I've played at least 27 holes a day.

"I'll guarantee you—when I tee up the ball Thursday I'll know all that's possible to know about my game. I'll be as physically ready as I can be."

As for his psychological condition, that may be something else.

"I haven't really been confident in a long time," he added. "I can't exactly put my finger on it. Maybe it's my age. Maybe I'm not concentrating as I should. Certainly, putting has been a problem.

"But I still think I can win. If I didn't think so, do you think I'd be out here knocking myself out getting ready? I've never won at Pebble Beach. Maybe the odds are with me."

The 42-year-old professional's son from Latrobe, Pa., with career earnings of $1,650,000 on the U.S. tour alone, has won only one open—that in 1960 at Denver—but three times he has tied only to lose in playoffs. His last major triumph was the 1964 Masters.

The rugged, thick-shouldered winner of four Masters and two British Opens, still maintains an electrically charged appeal to golf galleries.

Playing the picturesque, 6,815-yard Pebble Beach links Monday with dapper Doug Sanders and Glenn Johnson, Palmer drew a gallery of hundreds. After finishing, he stood for close to an hour signing autographs for fans.

Palmer smiled and acknowledged every word of encouragement. Then with his pilot, Darrell Brown, he stepped aboard a helicopter and flew to Carmel for another nine holes of golf.

Punches Catch Up With Max

SOUTH PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Slapsie Maxie Rosenbloom ranks as one of boxing's beloved. He was a master boxer without the kayo punch. He was an actor who could deliver punch lines. As a restaurant host, he made all guests feel like winners.

Today, Maxie can't remember how great he was. He can't remember his friends. The toll of 289 professional fights, including the time he was light-heavyweight champion of the world, has stopped him.

He's confined in a sanatarium under care of the Motion Picture and Television Fund. Physically he's fine for a man of 63.

Back in 1925, he fought to no decision against middleweight champ Harry Greb, and he beat Jim Braddock and Mickey Walker along the line plus Ace Hudkins, Lou Nova and Lee Ramage.

In 1932, Rosenbloom had 30 main events. The following year he was a headliner 25 times. He fought often and he boxed well, holding the 175-pound title 1930-34, but he was hit.

Dr. Russell Jones, Director of Medicine for the Motion Picture and Television Fund, says, "He has a good deal of damage to his brain, the intellectual portion. There is a loss of memory and he is confused. He lacks judgment and mental responsibility."

Asked how this should occur in the past year or two after Rosenbloom had been long retired from the ring, had appeared in more than 100 films and operated his own restaurant, the physician said, "I have seen it in other instances."

Five years ago Maxie began having trouble with his hearing. Then his friends noticed he was having other troubles. He wasn't boisterous or pugnacious. Mostly forgetful.

Friends asked that he be helped and the aid was forthcoming. But even with the help, doctors fear that former boxing champion Maxie Rosenbloom never will remember he once was the champ.

Midland Wins In 10 Innings

A 10-inning Texas League marathon which produced 36 hits and used 11 pitchers finally ended with Midland a 12-11 victor over Shreveport Monday night.

Midland called on six hurlers and Shreveport sent five to the mound. Robbie Sperring smacked a 3-2 pitch into the bleachers for the winning run in the top half of the 10th frame.

Amarillo collected 12 hits en route to a 4-3 verdict over Arkansas. The Amarillo Giants went ahead to stay in the fifth inning when Dick White and Augusto Austin each singled in a run. Randy Cohen was the winning pitcher, making his record 5-4.

Tom Bianco wielded the biggest bat as he drove in four runs for San Antonio in a 5-4 decision over Memphis. Bianco netted one RBI in the first inning on a sacrifice fly, another in the sixth on a double and two more the seventh on another single.

Three-hit pitching by Dan Spillner, now 7-3, helped Alexandria drub El Paso 6-1. The losers' Lee Lacey saw his hitting streak snapped after 14 straight games.

The same clubs meet again tonight with Shreveport at Midland, Arkansas at Amarillo, Memphis at San Antonio and Shreveport at Midland.

Wadleigh Clinches First Half Crown

Wadleigh Star Builders of Snyder, led by the two hit pitching performance of Don Head, defeated Holiday Rambler 9-1 last night to clinch the first half championship of the Sweetwater Softball League.

Head struckout ten batters enroute to his 13th win of the year without a defeat. Ralph McArthur and Head had two hits apiece to pace Wadliegh at the plate. The win gives Wadleigh an 8-1 league record and boosts their season mark to 23 wins against 3 losses.

For those who say the railroads are at the beginning of the end, here's a progress report from Santa Fe that says it's much, much more like the end of a beginning.

MORE POWER
We're adding 52 new giant diesels and rebuilding 50 older units to provide a locomotive fleet producing over 3,850,000 horsepower.

MORE CARS
1910 additional cars are coming in 1972, including 100 giant refrigerated hopper cars for in-bulk movement of potatoes, oranges and other perishables.

MORE TERMINALS
Santa Fe's new million dollar rail and truck terminal has now been completed at Houston, Texas to meet expanding truck, Piggy-Back and container traffic.

BETTER SERVICE
Run through trains with connecting railroads link—east, west, and southwest and save hours moving through Santa Fe's electronic classification yard in Kansas City.

BETTER PIGGY-BACK
We're expanding Piggy-Back and container service all along the Santa Fe to handle increasing domestic and international shipments.

BETTER IDEAS
An expanding microwave network linked to our data system for car tracing and locomotive utilization, and plans for the development of a unique coaxial train for moving containers are just a few of the new ideas at work on the Santa Fe.

MORE and BETTER are key words at Santa Fe. What we're doing, is why we're saying, rail service is still one of the most efficient ways to move freight. What we're spending says so too: over $100 million this year in railway capital expenditures. One billion in the last 10 years. Two billion since World War II.

The railroad industry and the Nation need sensible, transport regulatory policies—administered with an even hand. We can take it from there—into a new era of railroading.

Still think the railroads are at the beginning of the end? For Santa Fe it's more like the end of the beginning!

Santa Fe—The complete transportation company moving by rail, truck, air freight, pipeline and land development.

Hoffa Cites 26 Ways To Improve Prisons

By JOHN LENGEL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — After four years and nine months in a federal prison, former Teamsters President Jimmy Hoffa has told Congress 26 ways to improve federal penitentiaries.

Without elaborating in his testimony prepared for a Senate subcommittee, Hoffa said: "I have seen useless destruction of property, maiming of human beings, loss of self-respect, and inhumane treatment.

"The causes are not one-sided, but much of this can be cured by proper planning and education on the part of the prisoners and the officials of the institution."

Noting that prisons are overcrowded and have an average age of 75 years, he said the antiquated ones should be torn down and new ones built that are smaller and more comfortable.

Job training is out of line with reality, he added, with "license plate and mop bucket manufacturing" two examples "that bear little relation to potential jobs in private industry."

"It is not for humanitarian reasons alone that we must reform our corrections system," he said. "It is for our own safety. We have never faced up to the facts that most convicts will someday be released from the hell-holes we call correctional institutions. They come out, as we have seen, more bitter, more disturbed, more anti-social, and more skilled in crime than when they went in."

Hoffa said he realized that budget money for prisons did not enjoy the highest priority, but he called for:

—New prisons holding no more than 350 people, with individual cells "to retain some sort of dignity."

—Adequate, comprehensive medical and dental care, libraries, recreational space.

—Movies with more general appeal "rather than ... sex movies, and crime movies, which create nothing but problems for a majority of the prisoners."

—Better guard training, sufficient counseling and case workers, and prisoner grievance boards.

—Visiting hours that are not restricted by number of visits per week, with a proper place, with seats, for a prisoner's visiting family.

—Unrestricted mail and telephone privileges.

Prisoners should receive a minimum wage for prison work, with an active job procurement program to secure work for them when they get out, he said.

Pair Charged In Shotgun Slaying

HOUSTON (AP) — Two Houston men have been charged with the shotgun slaying of a 20-year-old woman and a city detective said they have also made a statement admitting the killing of a 16-year-old girl in which another man has been charged.

Harry Andrew Lanham, 25, who has been held in county jail since January after being convicted of beating a 5-year-old child, was charged Monday with the murder last Nov. 7 of Linda Faye Sutherlin, 21.

Anthony M. Knoppa, 24, was charged in the same death last week after being arrested in Morgan City, La., Both men were charged in neighboring Brazoria County, where Miss Sutherlin's body was found under a bridge.

Paul Nix, a Houston police detective who questioned the two men, said both gave him a statement in which they said they killed Adell Crabtree, 16, last November. They have not been charged in that case.

Another man, James M. Whittle, 28, a Houston wrecker driver, was charged with the murder of Miss Crabtree last Nov. 30 in Conroe, where her body was found.

Dist. Atty. E. A. Oualline Jr. of Montgomery County said his office was aware of the statements by the two men.

"We plan to investigate this matter and see what we can come up with," he said.

Oualline said that Whittle still faces charges, but he has not been indicted. A grand jury which meets today in Montgomery County probably will take up the case, he said. Whittle is free on bond.

Nix, who has been working on the case with Montgomery and Brazoria officers, said that Lanham and Knoppa told police Miss Sutherlin was abducted from the parking lot of a bar the night of Nov. 4, taken to a building where Lanham operated a wrecker service, and raped repeatedly.

Nix said she was then driven to Brazoria County, where she was strangled with her own panty hose and thrown off the bridge. She was not killed, however, until she was shot with a 12-guage shotgun, he said.

Officers recovered what they said was the murder weapon from a Houston pawn shop Monday.

Nix said he was told that Miss Crabtree, a runaway from Cincinnati, Ohio, who was working as a waitress here, was picked up as she hitchhiked to work on a Houston street.

Nix said Lanham told him both men took her to Lanham's apartment where they had sexual relations with her, then decided to kill her with the shotgun.

Knoppa was accused in a 1970 case here in which a 22-year-old woman claimed he forced her to shave her head and then raped her.

Knoppa finally pleaded guilty last October to aggravated assault. He told the court the woman had consented to come to his apartment and the shaving of her head occurred after he found her going through his wallet.

Lanham was sentenced in March 1970 to two years in jail for aggravated assault on the 5-year-old daughter of a girl friend.

McGovern Backers Confident

WASHINGTON (AP) — Backers of George McGovern claim the South Dakota senator will have at least 1,360 delegate votes by the time of the Democratic party convention in Miami Beach next month.

That would be 149 short of the 1,509 needed to clinch the party nomination for president. McGovern now has 957.55 committed delegate votes and is after the 278 votes at stake in the New York State primary on June 20.

McGovern's total is greater than all of his major rivals put together. Sen. Hubert Humphrey has 349.6, Gov. George Wallace has 328, and Sen. Edmund Muskie has 178.05 for a total of 855.65. Another 127.5 are committed to other candidates and favorite sons.

There are 521.3 uncommitted delegate votes to date, and McGovern will be trying to woo support from this group, as well as from about 350 delegates remaining to be selected in state conventions. The National Democratic Convention will open July 10.

President Nixon already has sufficient votes to clinch the Republican nomination.

Rites Set For Hotel Tycoon

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Masonic funeral services will be held Wednesday in Fort Scott, Kan., for Texas hotel tycoon Theodore B. Baker, builder of the famous Baker Hotel in downtown Dallas. Baker died Sunday at the age of 98.

Services will be held at 2 p.m. in the chapel of Konantz Funeral Home. Burial will be in Evergreen Cemetery.

A native of Iowa who expanded his holdings into a chain caross Texas, Baker died of a heart attack.

Baker was born in Washington, Iowa. He moved to Kansas as a child and, as a young man, assumed operation of the family's Goodlander Hotel in Fort Scott, Kan.

Baker's first Texas hotel was the St. Anthony in San Antonio. He added a second hotel, the Menger, a few years later and in 1924 bought the Gunter Hotel, both in San Antonio.

Baker built the Texas Hotel in Fort Worth in 1921, then constructed the landmark Baker Hotel in 1925.

A second Baker Hotel—this in Mineral Wells—was added in 1929 and, in 1931, he opened the Thomas Jefferson Hotel in Birmingham, Ala.

He also acquired leases on the Galvez Hotel in Galveston, the Edson Hotel in Beaumont and the Stephen F. Austin Hotel in Austin.

A nephew, Fenton J. Baker of Dallas, succeeded Baker as president of the company in 1935. In 1949, the Baker Hotel in Dallas was purchased by the investment banking firm of Dallas Rupe & Son.

A nephew, Fenton J. Baker of Dallas, and a niece, Miss Oneita Baker of San Antonio are among the survivors.

Driver Killed

IDABEL, Okla. (AP) — A Texas truck driver was killed Monday when his semi-trailer loaded with limestone overturned 21 miles south of here on U.S. 259.

Highway patrolmen identified him as William C. Hyram, 45, of DeKalb, Tex.

Showers Fall In Texas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Hot weather showers persisted over parts of Texas today as damp air kept pouring inland from the Gulf of Mexico.

While moisture amounts generally were small, as much as 2.30 inches fell Monday around Wink in West Texas and more than an inch at Lubbock on the South Plains and McAllen in the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

Gusty thunderstorms again developed in some areas and the sighting of a tornado funnel was reported near Smyer in the northwest part of the state. No damage was found.

Most of the showers during the night ranged from Northwest and Southwest Texas into the upper and middle portions of the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

By this morning the showers were moving mostly through the Panhandle-Plains sector, a few other spots in West and Central Texas and from near the coast as far inland as a line linking Lufkin and Palacios.

Temperatures reached into the 90s at many points Monday afternoon, going as high as 96 degrees at Wichita Falls.

Readings early today ranged from 63 at Amarillo and Dalhart in the Panhandle up to 76 at Beaumont, Corpus Christi and Palacios, and 79 at Galveston.

Forecasts held out prospects for little change the rest of this week.

Smith Appointees Stand To Lose State Posts

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — A mutual agreement between Gov. Preston Smith and Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes to lay off Senate consideration of Smith's appointees apparently has expired and some could lose the state jobs which Smith gave them.

They include Secretary of State Bob Bullock, who has bitterly criticized Barnes on numerous occasions, and Insurance board chairman Larry Teaver.

Both were appointed by the governor Sept. 1, 1971, but have not been confirmed by the Senate. Bullock makes $28,000 a year and Teaver $25,000.

The governor told newsmen Monday he would send such "controversial" appointments as Bullock, Teaver and Vending Commission chairman Raymond Williams of Dallas to the Senate Wednesday, the first day of the special legislative session called to pass a one-year spending bill for state government.

The governor said he expected the Senate to "single them out" for full-scale public hearings.

Sen. Chet Brooks of Pasadena has said he will block the appointment of another vending commissioner, L. C. Butler, who lives in Brooks' senatorial district, because of Butler's "interlocking business relationships with four other members of the commission."

A single senator traditionally has the power to block any appointee from his district.

Texas Republicans claim the commission "may be one of the hottest political potatoes to land in Gov. Smith's lap since the stock scandals which broke on inauguration day" in January 1971.

Brooks said he thought Smith would "welcome" rejection of several of the six members he appointed to the commission last August.

Two appointees to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission, Joe Fulton of Lubbock and Max Thomas of Dallas, also may be grilled extensively because of their votes to block a 30-mile nature trail north of San Antonio.

The commission turned down the project in January on a 3-3 vote. "I'm going to recommend that the Senate take a long hard look at them when they come up for confirmation," said Sen. Don Kennard of Fort Worth.

The controversial nominations and other appointees could have been considered at the March 28 special session, but Smith and Barnes met at the governor's mansion on Sunday morning before the session started Tuesday and worked out a truce.

They were both candidates for governor in the May 6 Democratic Party primary and, a source said, "they wanted to prevent a big, nasty fight" over appointments before the election.

They agreed if the legislature could pass a primary election financing bill and a proposal to comply with federal highway beautification guidelines in less than 10 days, they would put off the appointments until the next special session.

If the session lasted longer than 10 days, they felt they would have to consider the appointments because of constitutional requirements.

The legislature finished its work in three days and went home, putting off the appointment battle.

Smith and Barnes were both defeated in the May 6 election, however, and, as lame ducks, do not have as much to lose in an all-out fight now.

Bullock admits "my chances aren't good. Barnes should be able to muster 11 votes," which would be the two-thirds necessary to reject an appointment.

Criticism of Williams, the juke box magnate and a major contributor to Smith's 1970 re-election, center around his widespread investments in the vending machine business. At the time he was named chairman of the regulatory agency, Williams owned Commercial Music Co. of Dallas and operated other vending firms.

Identities Of Many Nixon Backers Remain Secret

By JANET STAIHAR
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Although a president of a soft-drink firm and the political committee of the nation's largest stock brokerage firm top the list of publicly reported contributors to President Nixon's re-election campaign, the identities of hundreds of wealthy backers still remain secret.

Donations of $15,000 apiece from Pepsi Cola President Donald M. Kendall and the Effective Government Association of Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith were listed in campaign reports as the largest Nixon contributions filed with the General Accounting Office.

The reports were the first quarterly accounting of contributions and spending required under a new federal elections law that went into effect April 7.

The reports, filed Saturday but not open for inspection until Monday, cover the period from April 7 through May 31. They were required of all political committees expecting to spend or actually spending more than $1,000 in behalf of a candidate for federal office.

Kendall and Merrill Lynch were among 51 donors who gave a total of $409,405 in gifts of $2,500 or more to various Nixon committees.

In all, $1.22 million was collected since April 7, and listed by the Washington-based Finance Committee to Re-elect the President and three satellite committees.

The four committees operating under the chairmanship of former Secretary of Commerce Maurice Stans have collected about $10 million—approximately a third of what Nixon expects to raise and spend for his bid for the White House again.

Former Atty. Gen. John Mitchell, chief of the Nixon re-election drive, said recently that identities of those who gave some $9 million before the new law went into effect will not be made public.

Basically the report affirmed the general speculation that the Republicans are heading into the fall campaign with their presidential war-chest bulging while the Democrats have been drained by primary spending.

At least $10 million has been spent by Democratic presidential aspirants already and two—Sens. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota and George S. McGovern of South Dakota—are in debt.

Most of the leading Democratic hopefuls, with the exception of Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington and Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace, disclosed major campaign donors early in the primaries.

A check of the report showed that virtually all the big Nixon contributors from 1968 were missing from the GAO filed papers. This could indicate that some donors may have given before April 7 or that some may be waiting until later in the campaign.

Although he acknowledged pointing out the loophole in the new law to potential donors, Stans has said he didn't encourage them to slip in under the deadline when he made a fund-raising swing through the country earlier this year.

Economic Stabilization Questions and Answers

Internal Revenue Service

This column of questions and answers on the President's Economic Stabilization Program is provided by the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service. The column answers questions most frequently asked about wages and prices.

Q — Are landlords still subject to Phase II rent regulations even though small businesses have been exempted from controls?

A — Yes. Although the Cost of Living Council has lifted controls from firms with 60 or fewer employes, except for businesses in the health service and construction industries, this small business exemption has no application to residential rent transactions.

Q — In computing the average number of employes for determining whether the small business exemption applies, are part-time and casual employes counted as employes?

A — Yes. Every employe is treated as if he were a full-time employe for purposes of this computation.

Q — How does the small business exemption affect master employment contracts negotiated on an industry basis?

A — Prices and wages remain under direct control in all small businesses where more than 50 percent of the employes are affected by a master employment contract covering more than 60 workers. In small businesses and small governments where less than 50 percent of the employes are covered by a master contract or jointly-negotiated contract involving over 60 workers, only the wages of the employes covered by the master contract or jointly-negotiated contract remain subject to controls. Wages of small firm employes who are covered by contracts involving 60 or fewer workers will be exempted from direct controls.

Q — If after Pay Board disallowance of a wage increase, the parties leave a provision in their collective bargaining greement which states that any disallowed increase shall be paid when controls are lifted or relaxed, have they violated Economic Stabilization regulations?

A — Yes. It is a violation to fail or refuse to comply with a decision of the Pay Board. Leaving a provision in an agreement which calls for the payment of a wage and salary increase disallowed by the Board constitutes such a refusal.

Q — If an employer establishes, either through negotiations or independently, an escrow account into which it will pay an amount equivalent to wages and salaries disallowed, is the amount "wages and salaries" under Stabilization regulations?

A — Yes. Since this escrow arrangement is, in effect, a form of deferred compensation, it would constitute "wages and salaries" for services performed currently. If an amount in excess of that allowed is payable to the escrow account and if the account continues to be maintained for the pupose of setting aside this excess, this arrangement violates Stabilization regulations.

Q — Can a landlord pass-through to his tenants an increase in his personal property taxes?

A — No. Since a tangible personal property tax is not a real estate tax or a fee for municipal services, it is not an allowable cost and cannot be passed along to the tenant in the form of a rent increase.

Gromyko In Paris For Consultations

PARIS (AP) — Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko is in Paris for consultations, and French officials hope he will tell them something about the U.S.-Soviet summit.

French officials complain they have been told little about the substance of the summit.

Gromyko arrived Monday for one of the regular series of consultations between Soviet and French officials provided in a treaty.

A plan to take the 'X' out of movies

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1972 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: Everybody keeps talking about how dirty the movies are nowadays, but nobody does anything about it.

I think that every time we see an "X" or "R" rated movie advertised, we should write to the president of the studio that made that movie and tell him that this is one movie our family will not be seeing. And when they start making clean movies, we will be glad to see them.

If you printed this letter, Abby, and people all across the country started writing letters, do you think it might help to get all this raw sex out of the movies? DISGUSTED

DEAR DISGUSTED: It might. But how do we get the "raw sex" out of the balconies and drive-ins?

DEAR ABBY: We are grandparents in our sixties. We have two married children who live in a city not too far from us. We never go there uninvited, so it cannot be said that we make pests of ourselves.

We have heard that they have come to our city to shop, or visit, but they haven't even bothered to call us. We have the usual family get-togethers at our home for Christmas and Easter, but they never stay very long, and we are made to feel that they regard it more a duty than a pleasure to be with us.

We send them and our grandchildren gifts, which are seldom acknowledged.

What has happened to the manners and Christian love we taught them? We denied ourselves many things so they could both have good educations to prepare them for the fine professions they now practice so successfully.

On those few occasions when we go to their homes they do not even have the courtesy to see us to the door when we leave.

Please, Abby, tell us where we have failed?

UNAPPRECIATED AND NEGLECTED

DEAR U AND N: Don't assume that YOU have failed. THEY have failed. Occupy yourself with other things and don't dwell on their lack of appreciation and neglect. If the calamity doesn't overcome you, feeling sorry for yourselves will.

DEAR ABBY: While at the grocery store this morning, a woman struck up a conversation with me about my baby girl, who was in the infant seat of my shopping cart.

The lady asked me how old she was and when I said, "Two and a half months," she acted horrified and then she went into this long-winded speech about how fat she was, and asked if my doctor had put her on a diet yet because her grandson had the same "problem!"

Abby, my b a b y got a very healthy s t a r t in life [11 pounds, three ounces at birth], and she weighs 14 pounds now and doesn't look like a slob. On the contrary, my doctor is very pleased with her progress.

I admit that my baby does look older than she is, because she's larger than most babies her age; but I don't appreciate hearing that I should "do something" about her "infant obesity." This isn't the first time this has happened. If it happens again, what should I say to shut them up?

PROUD MOMMY

DEAR PROUD: Say, "Thank you, but my doctor tells me my child is just fine." Then head for the frozen food section.

CONFIDENTIAL TO YOU: The person who says he isn't "interested" in politics is like the drowning man who says he isn't interested in water. NOW is the time to make sure you are registered so you can vote. And if you aren't happy with the way t h i n g s are going in t h i s country, and you haven't voted, don't complain.

MEETS PEOPLE ON STREET — Evangelist Billy Graham prepares to autograph a Bible for a young person attending Explo 72 in Dallas Monday. Dr. Graham met with the people on the street in downtown during the afternoon. He signed the Bible with a Bible verse. The young man is not identified. 100,000 Christians are expected in Dallas for the week long "spiritual explosion" and training conference. (AP Wirephoto)

OVER 40,000 REGISTER

Dallas Rally Opens Explo '72

DALLAS (AP) — Explo '72 launched its five-day run in Dallas Monday night with an outdoor rally at the Cotton Bowl and an initial registration figure of over 40,000 persons.

Officials are predicting an eventual attendance of 100,000 young people at the week-long evangelical training conference. Those who came to take part in the affair spent most of Monday registering at 63 different conference sites across the city.

Accomodations have been another big order of business so far. With Dallas hotels and motels pressed to find space for the tens of thousands who are converging on the city, Explo volunteers have been asking apartment and homeowners to give the visiting youths places to sleep.

Evangelist Billy Graham and entertainers Johnny Cash and Kris Kristofferson are among the more famous personages who will appear at the conference. Graham arrived over the weekend with high hopes for the event: "I believe Explo will dramatize the spiritual awakening among young people around the world who now carry the torch of the gospel."

Graham has termed Explo "a great religious happening."

A series of rallies will be held at the Cotton Bowl each night, featuring Graham and other speakers including Bill Bright, founder of the Campus Crusade for Christ. That organization is the sponsor of Explo '72.

A "Jesus music" festival at the edge of Dallas will end the event on Saturday. Cash and Kristofferson will head the list of musicians who will appear at the finale.

The object of the convention is to train the young people to return to their hometowns to recruit others for evangelism.

Black Knights Receive Grant

DALLAS (AP) — A Dallas youth organization has received a grant to buy and distribute nearly 12,000 free lunches to low-income children in Dallas during the summer.

The Black Knights Youth Foundation, primarily a youth recreational group, received $199,000 from the Agriculture Department to sponsor the program.

Food is prepared by a catering service and distributed by five vans to five major park areas.

Guidelines have been set up to eliminate problems the program had last year with litter, ineligible recipients and food spoilage. Members of the organization will clean the areas and dispose of all litter.

RI Urges Personal Touch

HOUSTON (AP) — Rotary International must seek out projects to bring worthwhile change to the communities of the world, Ernst G. Breitholtz, president of the international service organization said here Monday.

Breitholtz of Kalmar, Sweden, spoke at the opening business session of the 63rd annual convention of Rotary.

In welfare state countries, the government is increasingly taking over traditional community projects such as aid to the needy, Breitholtz said. But despite this growth, there are still many areas where Rotarians can provide the personal touch.

"We must seek out such needs," Breitholtz said. "Rotary can and must keep the spirit of the pioneer, the explorer. It must be the catalyst in your community."

"We have the unique machinery for cooperation," he said. "We have assurance that our assistance will reach its objects whether it is goods, medical supplies, vocational training or equipment or professional service."

As an example of the type of project, Breitholtz pointed to the Rotary Club in Nipawin, Sask., Canada, which provides scholarships to train nurses in Africa.

In other action Monday the 12,000 delegates representing 65 countries elected William C. Carter of Battersea, London, England, as president-elect of the organization to take office in 1973.

Carter, a London lawyer, will succeed Roy D. Hickman of Birmingham, Ala., who will take over from Breitholtz July 1.

ON CRIMINAL ISSUES

Conservative Drive On High Court Successful

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's drive to put a conservative face on the Supreme Court is meeting with success. But the rightward drift in criminal law is not uninterrupted. Sometimes the Court seems to be going in two directions at once as it did Monday.

With resistance from only two of the Nixon nominees, Lewis F. Powell Jr. and William H. Rehnquist, the Court in one ruling actually expanded one of the landmark decisions of the liberal '60s: the right of all defendants, rich or poor, to have a lawyer defend them at trial.

The opinion came from the pen of William O. Douglas, an activist in applying the Bill of Rights long before Earl Warren even became chief justice.

Douglas said the Sixth Amendment guarantees a defendant a lawyer whenever he faces a possible jail sentence. Warren's conservative successor, Warren E. Burger, went along. So did Harry A. Blackmun, another Nixon nominee.

It wasn't until 1963 and the Gideon decision that defendants who were charged with "serious crimes" and could not afford a lawyer were guaranteed that one would be provided by the state.

In the nine years since, the Court and most of the states have confined this right to trials that could lead to jail terms of at least six months.

But Douglas said the Sixth Amendment calls for a lawyer whenever a trial could result in "deprivation of a person's liberty."

Unawed by the change this will require, he pointed out some 18,000 new lawyers are admitted to practice yearly—more than eight times the estimated number needed to represent all poor people charged with misdemeanors other than traffic offenses.

And most misdemeanors, he said, will not call for a lawyer since most do not lead to a jail sentence.

Within minutes of announcing this decision, however, the Court in another ruling carried forward the "law and order" theme of Nixon's 1968 presidential campaign. This was a 6-3 decision that gives police broader powers to conduct street searches without warrants.

Four years ago, the Court gingerly granted exceptions to the general Fourth Amendment rule that police cannot stop a citizen and search him unless the officer has "probable cause" to make an arrest.

The principal exception allowed a "stop and frisk" when the officer feared his life might be endangered.

Now the Court has gone on to approve the search of a man sitting in a parked car on the basis of a tipster's word that he is carrying a loaded handgun in his waistband.

The search, in Bridgeport, Conn., in 1966, turned up some heroin and the suspect was tried and convicted on narcotics and gun charges.

Said Justice Rehnquist, the newest and probably most conservative Nixon appointee: "The Fourth Amendment does not require a policeman who lacks the precise level of information necessary for probable cause to arrest to simply shrug his shoulders and allow a crime to occur or a criminal to escape."

Justice Thurgood Marshall, in dissent, noted that simply carrying a gun was not illegal in Connecticut. Therefore, he said, the officer had no more reason to suspect a crime than he would have if the frisked man, Robert Williams, were wearing a blue shirt.

Marshall said the decision "expands the concept of warrantless searches far beyond anything heretofore recognized as legitimate."

Douglas and Justice William J. Brennan Jr. also dissented.

But the four Nixon appointees plus Potter Stewart and Byron R. White won out.

Last week, it was the four Nixon appointees plus Stewart combining to give police authority to place arrested suspects in lineups without a lawyer on hand.

The week before, it was the four Nixon appointees plus White holding the Constitution does not require unanimity of jurors for conviction in most criminal cases in state court.

On the same day, three Nixon appointees lined up with White and Stewart to limit the immunity from prosecution that is to be guaranteed witnesses who are forced to testify before grand juries.

GI Drug Program Approved

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House approved Monday a bill to give the Pentagon legal authority for a program to treat and rehabilitate drug-addicted GIs.

The measure was sent through the House by a 211-1 vote and it now goes to the Senate.

The administration-backed bill passed after the House shouted down an amendment which would have given addicts immediate physical disability discharges and would have required either voluntary or compulsory civil commitment to hospitals for up to 42 months of treatment.

Under the legislation passed by the House, with only Rep. John S. Monagan, D-Conn., in dissent, the Defense Department would have statutory power to:

—Test servicemen for drug dependency.

—Set up treatment programs in military facilities as well as those of the Veterans Administration.

—Require servicemen who are on drugs to undergo treatment and rehabilitation for up to 30 days beyond their term of service.

The bill contains no funds authorization provisions.

HOME ON LEAVE — Pvt. Gary R. Armstead son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Armstead of Snyder, is home on leave. He completed basic training and graduated from the United States Army Training Center in Fort Ord, Calif. June 7. He will report to Fort Hood for AIT Training on June 18.

Ousted General Would Do Same Thing Over

WASHINGTON (AP) — The former U.S. air commander in Vietnam, fired for ordering unauthorized air strikes against North Vietnamese preparing for attack, says he would order the strikes again if he had the opportunity.

"If I had it to do over, I would do the same thing," Gen. John D. Lavelle told a House armed services subcommittee. However, he said, he would "check into reporting procedures better" before issuing the order.

Lavelle was recalled from Vietnam after reports prepared by officers under his command were forwarded to Washington indicating falsely that the North Vietnamese had undertaken some kind of attack to justify the retaliatory strikes.

Lavelle said he believed his superiors, including Gen. Creighton Abrams, knew of the air strikes he ordered without specific permission between last January and March 10.

Gen. John D. Ryan, Air Force chief of staff, said he recalled Lavelle as commander of the U.S. 7th Air Force in Indochina last March 23 after learning of 28 strikes involving 147 planes that he said violated terms of the 1968 bombing halt which permitted only retaliatory "protective reaction" strikes.

Lavelle said he relayed pilots' reports of Hanoi's buildup of MIGs at three airfields near the demilitarized zone plus 133 millimeter heavy artillery, antiaircraft guns, missiles, tanks and supplies and finally asked Abrams in January for permission to attack them.

He said Abrams relayed the request to Washington and when the only reply was to "prepare a plan" he ordered the strikes on his own.

Lavelle said he could understand Ryan's viewpoint that "I had exceeded my authority" but said he judged that the U.S. "Rules of Engagement" formulated after the 1968 bombing halt gave him authority as commander at the scene to determine what a protective reaction strike was.

Lavelle said he ordered the raids halted March 10 when an investigating officer showed him three false reports that were forwarded to higher headquarters and his staff determined he could not "continue what we were doing and report it accurately."

He and Ryan indicated the three reports falsely said North Vietnamese units had taken some kind of action against U.S. planes or other forces that would justify the "protective reaction" retaliatory U.S. strikes.

"I believe someone got overeager," said Lavelle. He added that the false reports were made out by low-level, "wonderful hardworking Air Force people who were trying to report what the hell we thought we were doing."

When Alton Lennon, D-N.C., asked if "forcing these men to file false statements" was a factor in Lavelle's dismissal, Ryan replied: "Yes, sir. Very definitely."

Poland Expresses Regret

WARSAW (AP) — U.S. Embassy officials went to Poland's Foreign Ministry on Monday and expressed their concern over the incident in which two Associated Press newsmen were beaten up by Cubans accompanying Fidel Castro.

"We made representations and the ministry expressed its regret," an American spokesman said.

The U.S. move follows similar action taken by the British Embassy—since one of the AP correspondents is British.

Last week four Cubans—identifying themselves as journalists—burst into the Warsaw office of AP, accusing Nicholas Lillitos, a London-born newsman, of writing "untruths" about the Cuban prime minister's health.

They also beat up George Brodzki, his Polish assistant, fracturing two ribs.

A reliable Polish state source earlier had told Lillitos that the Cuban leader was suffering from heart strain and had been medically advised to ease up.
