(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Aug. 4.—Are you a safe driver?

1. Do you use proper arm signals when turning or stopping?
2. Do you always drive within legal speed limits?
3. Do you always refrain from passing other vehicles on hills or curves?
4. Do you bring your vehicle to a complete halt at traffic stop signals?
5. Do you observe right-of-way rules at intersections?
6. Do you always park your vehicle so that it does not obstruct traffic?
7. Do you dim your lights at night for oncoming vehicles?
8. Do you always drive on the right side, not too near the center stripe?

Pearl White, First Heroine Of Old Movie Serial Thrillers, Is Illness Victim In Paris Today

PEARL WHITE

(By The Associated Press)

PARIS, Aug. 4.—Pearl White, first heroine of the old American movie serial thrillers who always did her own dare-devil stunts, died today in the American hospital.

She was 49 and had been ill for several weeks of a liver ailment.

In the days when the motion picture business was young, movie audiences sat on the edge of their seats thrilling to the "Perils of Pauline," an adventure-packed serial in which the beauteous heroine managed to reach death's door at the end of each chapter, never to die.

"Pauline" was blonde Pearl White, blue-eyed actress catapulted to fame as the first of the dare-devils of the screen. Young America shuddered for a week at the thought of Pauline's perilous predicament, as each instalment faded out with the black-bearded villain likely as not cackling with satisfaction, the hero somewhere on the way to the rescue.

He always made the grade at the opening of the next episode, only to let "Pauline" get into deep trouble again. Besides the "Perils of Pauline" there were the "Exploits of Elaine" and a dozen other serials of the same melodramatic cast.

Pearl White grew rich on this. She went to Paris in the early twenties, and afterward saw little of the United States.

For several years she was in the gay international set at Paris and Deauville. In later years she lived more quietly, either at her town house in Paris or her chateau at Gazeran, near Rambouillet.

She made short trips to the United States in 1927 and 1937. On this latter trip her hair was still blonde,

Extension Of Route Sought

Road enthusiasts of Levelland have launched a movement seeking the extension westward from Lubbock of U. S. highway 82, according to information received by highway officials here this morning.

While plans of activities remain tentative, the information said, they likely will lead soon to a conference in Roswell, N. M., with representatives along a route for which designation as a trans-continental highway is being sought.

Lubbock Western Terminus

At the present time, it was explained, Lubbock is the western terminus of highway 82 which extends almost due eastward through Wichita Falls, Texarkana and Greenville, Miss. A movement in Greenville to finance construction of a bridge across the Mississippi river has gained considerable headway, according to information here.

The bridge, according to supporters of the highway, would be the essential link to assure another all-weather transcontinental highway upon which Lubbock would be an essential point.

Efforts in Levelland, according to

Grain Harvest Will Bring In Vast Sum

CHICAGO, Aug. 4 (AP)—The nation's 1938 grain harvest of more than four and a half billion bushels, one of the largest on record, was estimated today to have a market value of almost $2,500,000,000.

Analysts based this estimate on the forecasts of the six Chicago crop experts whose August summaries indicated total production of wheat, corn, oats and rye in the United States would amount to approximately 4,563,000,000 bushels.

With the exception of last year's production of these major grains, which totaled 4,715,000,000 bushels and had a market value of slightly more than $3,000,000,000, the 1938 harvest will be the greatest since 1932.

The valuation at market was based on Chicago prices for grain deliverable in the fall and winter.

The corn crop to be harvested this fall was estimated to have a market value of $1,343,000,000, the wheat crop, now more than half reaped, was valued at $645,840,000 compared with $935,172,000 last year. Oats were valued at $254,000,000 and rye at $24,380,000.

All But One Of Senators Are Renominated

Herbert E. Hitchcock Is Only Democratic Senator Not To Receive Renomination

BY W. B. RAGSDALE
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4—The figures for about half the primary elections show that all but one of the senators and most of the representatives who have asked their party's endorsement for another term have obtained it.

Tennessee, picking candidates today for one senatorial and nine house seats, is the twentieth state to hold primaries. In the 19 states that have chosen candidates for the November balloting, 13 senate and 190 house seats were at stake.

Hitchcock Fails In Race

Herbert E. Hitchcock, South Dakota Democrat, was the only senator who asked for renomination and failed to get it. Two other Democratic senators, Dieterich of Illinois and Reames of Oregon, did not ask to come back to Washington. The ten other senators were renominated.

Of the 190 house seats subjected to the scrutiny of the voters, 169 representatives have won party approval for two more years. Two seats were vacant when the primaries were held.

Some Voluntarily Retired

Twelve of the 19 representatives who have not been renominated did not ask for another term. Some voluntarily retired from congress, and others sought senate nominations.

Six of the representatives who did ask renomination were defeated in

CHALLENGE IS ISSUED

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4. (AP) — Rep. Bacon (R-NY) challenged the Democratic party today to "protect the right of the people to a free and unpolluted ballot."

The quotations were from a statement by the senate campaign expenditures committee yesterday charging that political use was being made of public funds in the Kentucky senatorial campaign.

Asserting that Republicans had made repeated efforts in congress to separate politics from relief, Bacon said: "Let Mr. Roosevelt undertake to defend what the senate committee has denounced."

ESCAPE THE HEAT

RICHMOND, Va., Aug. 4. (AP)—In Richmond's old and sedate Commonwealth club, members sat and sipped iced drinks against the August heat.

Shade and ice tinkling in frosted glasses seemed of no avail. Hotter and hotter it grew as members mopped brows and spoke longingly of autumn's "football weather."

Someone touched a radiator, and quickly out into the August sunshine went members to escape that heat. An automatic device had blundered and touched off the furnace.

NEWTON, Ia., Aug. 4. (AP)—Maytag CIO union members, capitulating to the demand of Gov. Nelson G. Kraschel, joined back-to-workers in entering the Maytag plant at noon today for the resumption of operations.

Newton today as the possibility of a clash of federal versus state authority over a National Labor Relations board hearing vanished.

Governor Nelson G. Kraschel last night ordered the plant reopened under military protection at noon today following refusal of the Maytag C. I. O. union local to accept a 10 per cent wage cut and a proposal which would deny restoration of jobs to 12 of the striking workers.

Five Hurt In Clash

Five men were injured seriously enough to require medical attention and 15 others were beaten in a clash between union members and "back-to-workers" July 20 at the Maytag factory gates.

Meanwhile, a National Labor Relations board hearing into alleged unfair labor practices by the Maytag company was to resume in the federal court house here today after Kraschel last night confined the limits of the military district of Iowa "to Jasper county only."

ABOARD U. S. S. HOUSTON, En Route to Balboa, Canal Zone, Aug. 4 (AP)—(Via Naval Radio)—President Roosevelt switched from fisherman to Good Samaritan today as he sped toward Panama and the end of his vacation cruise in the Pacific.

HEAT WAVE SWEEPS U. S.

Monopoly-Prober O'Mahoney's Investigation No 'Witch Hunt'

BY SIGRID ARNE
Associated Press Feature Service Writer

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4—Half way down the hill to the station in Boulder, Colo., young Joe O'Mahoney stopped dead and set down his bag. He had just quit a job on the local newspaper and was headed for El Paso to work on a paper controlled by a man named Albert Fall.

But half way down that hill something inside him asked, "Say, are you sure this is a good move?" O'Mahoney replied to himself, "No, by gosh! I'm not going."

He swung about and went home to the surprise of his wife who had kissed him good-bye just 20 minutes before.

O'Mahoney didn't realize it, that day in 1916, but his right-about headed him to Washington's inner councils where he has just been named chairman of the 12-man board that is to investigate the half-century-old-problem of American life: monopolies.

Two weeks after his change of mind in 1916, O'Mahoney went after another job in Cheyenne, Wyo. He was hired as city editor of a paper owned by Governor John B. Kendrick.

SENATOR JOSEPH C. O'MAHONEY

The young man secretaried in the day time, spent four years of nights attending law school. But all the time his Irish fingers itched for politics. He returned to Wyoming, practiced law, and in 1924 ran second in a race for the Senate.

Didn't Cure Itch

That didn't cure his political itch. He directed Kendrick's second campaign. The years stretched into 1932. Then O'Mahoney showed up at the Chicago convention that nominated Roosevelt. He joined up and when the smoke cleared he had been named first assistant postmaster general. Then his friend, Kendrick, died and O'Mahoney was named to round out his term. The next year he was elected to the Senate seat.

He's a hard man to tag, on his Senate record. At first, he seemed to be a Simon-pure New Dealer. He was a "Farley pet." But when the court fight came along he was one of the big three that wrecked the program.

Doesn't Call Names

O'Mahoney probably doesn't want to be tagged. He doesn't gang up with his colleagues in a fight. He doesn't "call names" in an argument. He sticks to the issue. He did that on his first speech in the court fight and lifted himself by his bootstraps into one of the Senate forces that must be reckoned with.

He works in a deliberate manner. He's a slim, erect man with a smooth, triangular face and thick blond hair. Looks much younger tha his 54 years. He doesn't attract violent partisans, but neither does he create violent enemies.

Touchy On Point

Right now he's very touchy on one point—if anyone refers to his forthcoming inquiry as "Anti-mo-

Colorado River Falls Gradually In Matagorda; Many Homeless

MATAGORDA, Aug. 4 (AP)—Matagorda saw an end today to flood conditions that have made 70 families homeless.

New York Is All Set Today To Give Corrigan Big Welcome; Irish Are To Have Their Day

Flier Is Still In Fog Today

BY PATRICK McGRADY
Associated Press Staff Writer

S. S. MANHATTAN AT SEA, Aug. 4—Douglas Corrigan, only a little less important in the minds of Irishman today than Brian Boru, Finn Mac Cool and the Great Cuchulain, grinned with pleasure today as he stood at the rail of this New York-bound liner and looked forward to the welcome awaiting him.

The ship moved at half speed through fog. Corrigan was in a fog, too, or at least he said he was as he remembered all that has happened to him in the month past—the flight in the old crate from California to New York, the takeoff for home, and his surprise at finding himself in Dublin, of all places.

Knows What's Coming

He knew of course, what awaited him in New York, for he had got more than a dim idea of New York's frenzied greetings a couple of days before he started his wild trans-Atlantic flight, when the city went a little balmy over Howard Hughes and his four world-circling companions.

A month ago, Corrigan was remembering, he was just another flier with an airplane that moved one and all to wisecracks. Today he was the most talked of flier, and to him had come offers to make all kinds of money he had never dreamed of making—offers to endorse tooth paste and cigarettes, appear in night clubs or in front of movie cameras.

"But I can't sing and I can't dance," Corrigan grinned. "So I guess I'll stay in aviation."

Long Beach Man 'Andy Gumpized' But Surgeons Fix Him Up O. K.

LONG BEACH, Calif., Aug. 4 (AP) Someone pulled J. Merrill Lavy, 28, Long Beach lawyer, from the wreckage of his automobile early this morning, called an ambulance, and saw him off to Seaside hospital.

When Lavy got there surgeons found he had no chin. The flesh had been sliced away by a piece of broken glass.

"We can't do much without that chin," said one of the surgeons.

Radio Policemen A. F. Slaight and B. C. Carstenson were sent back to the wreckage. On the floorboard they found Lavy's chin. The surgeons sewed it back. The policemen said it was a good job of stitching. The surgeons said Lavy would recover.

FRENCH PLAN FLIGHT

PARIS, Aug. 4. (AP)—The giant French flying boat, Lieutenant De Vaisseau Paris, it was announced today, will attempt a trans-Atlantic crossing to New York via Lisbon, Portugal, and the Azores, about Aug. 25.

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Aug. 4 — The big town was ready today to give Douglas Corrigan, hero by virtue of the most colossal navigation mistake since Columbus sailed for India and discovered America, a reception calculated to top all noise and attendance records.

"It's going to be the greatest welcome New York has given any visitor since Col. Charles A. Lindbergh came home 11 years ago," was the expansive boast of James McGurrin, chairman of the mayor's reception committee.

After considerable squabbling, a truce was declared last night between competing Manhattan and Brooklyn reception committees. Daring Douglas will get his Broadway ticker tape shower and City hall ceremony and luncheon with Mayor LaGuardia and the Advertising club on Friday, as scheduled.

In the afternoon he will go across the East river for a mid-afternoon parade from Floyd Bennett field, where he started his flight to fame, through Brooklyn to the Borough hall.

Well Wishers To Greet Him

Dozens of craft have been chartered to take well-wishers down the bay to meet Corrigan on the Liner Manhattan.

There will be 3,000 proud Irishmen, including Jack Dempsey, Jim Braddock and Jimmy Walker, on one steamer and on others 300 of the mayor's committeemen, and 1,400 Brooklynites, 30 Corrigans, and the aviator's uncle, the Rev. S. Fraser Langford of Los Angeles.

Corrigan strolled around the Manhattan yesterday practicing his autograph, posing for pictures and making frequent broadcasts to America.

Week's Itinerary Given

At the moment, his itinerary for the week includes: air meeting at 8 p. m., Friday, Irish concert at Lewisohn stadium at 8:30, jamboree at Yankee stadium at 10 with 75,000 people and 50 speakers.

Saturday, review of Irish members of the old 69th regiment; Sunday, nothing yet; Monday, a full day in Boston; Tuesday noon, luncheon at Nawark Advertising club; Tuesday night, Baltimore, if possible; Wednesday, luncheon, dinner and reception in Washington; and thereafter—parades, receptions, dinners and cheers in any American city he will agree to visit, one of which is Galveston, his birthplace.

Hill Billy Is Said To Be Losing The Accent Of His Ancestors

By EDDY GILMORE
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3—The hill billy is losing the accent of his ancestors, an investigating linguist said today, but President Roosevelt isn't.

In a report to the National Parks service on what's happening to the speech of folks in the Great Smoky mountains of the South, Joseph H. Hall said:

"Mountain speech is changing rapidly and being brought more and more to conform to the speech of the lowlands."

The mountain boy or girl, he added, generally pronounces learn as learn, although their grand parents and possibly their parents always said "larn."

Simila prrogress toward the common pronunciation has not been observed, however, among some families in the east.

Going into the subject of rolling R's, such as in the words corn, morning and first, Hall said:

"It may be noted here that President Roosevelt in common with old New York families does

Cessation Of Hostilities On Border Asked

Terms For Settlement Of Dispute Not Revealed By Japanese Spokesman

(By The Associated Press)

TOKYO, Aug. 4 — The Japanese government today proposed to Soviet Russia the cessation of hostilities on the Siberian-Manchoukuoan border and terms for settlement of their dispute.

The foreign office announced the proposal was made by Kensuke Horinouchi, Japanese vice minister of foreign affairs, in a two-hour conference with Constantin Smetanin, Soviet charge d'affaires. At the same time the two nations exchanged stern protests over the border conflict.

It said Horinouchi offered Smetanin a settlement based on "a broad view of the situation."

The terms were not announced but they were understood to include:

1. Japan to withdraw from the territory around Changkufeng hill, near the junction point of the Siberian, Manchoukuoan and Korean frontiers, where fighting has been going on sporadically since Sunday.
2. Russia not to undertake to reoccupy the area.
3. A neutral zone to exist pending demarcation of the frontier by a commission.

Burke Sees Defeat In Third Term Try

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4 (AP) — Senator Burke (D-Neb) asserted today President Roosevelt would be defeated if he sought a third term.

A foe of the president's court reorganization plan, Burke told reporters he did not think any man could succeed in such an effort.

"The president," he added, "probably could come as close as anybody but he would be defeated. I personally would oppose anyone seeking a third term under any circumstances."

Asked what he thought would happen if the president sought a third term, Burke commented:

"It would split the Democratic party into a thousand pieces."

There's a Good Reason You're Constipated!

When there's something wrong with you, the first rule is: get at the cause. If you are constipated, don't fiddle around with make-shift remedies. Find out what's giving you the trouble!

Chances are it's simple if you eat only what most people do: meat, bread, potatoes. It's likely you don't get enough "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean a lot of food. It's a kind of food that isn't consumed in the body, but leaves a soft "bulky" mass in the intestines and helps a bowel movement.

If that fits you, your ticket is a crisp crunchy breakfast cereal—Kellogg's All-Bran. It contains the "bulk" you need plus the great intestinal tonic, vitamin B1.

Eat All-Bran every day, drink plenty of water, and just watch the old world grow brighter! Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Oil Industry Is Improving

BY WILLIAM E. KEYS
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, Aug. 4.—Continuing downward trends of gasoline and crude stocks, coupled with close proration in major producing states, inched the oil industry toward an improved position, many observers agreed today.

Interest centered on authorized production for August, final month of the high gasoline consuming period, which apparently will tell whether the industry will enter fall months in better condition than a year ago.

U. S. Production Drops

The Oil and Gas Journal reported United States production decreased 33,488 barrels daily during the week ended July 30 to reach a daily average of 3,315,890.

This was slightly less than an estimate of daily market demand for the remainder of 1938 made before the interstate oil compact commission meeting last week. Representatives of member states and many operators in attendance indicated they favored continuation of close proration rather than liberalization of restrictions at a time when possible demoralization might result.

Thompson Urges Study

Ernest O. Thompson, compact chairman, stressed the need of careful study of future demand as a guide for further production.

Although decreasing gradually, gasoline stocks for the week ended July 23 were 76,366,000 barrels, or 6 per cent more than a year ago.

The concensus was July production had removed the danger of immediate difficulties but whether new threats of distress prices would appear depended upon the control of August flow from wells.

Texas entered the month with a basic allowable of 1,417,805 barrels daily, or 58,613 more than the July 1 basic authorization. Sunday closing of wells, in effect since January, were continued. The increase resulted because there were five Sundays in July and there are only four in August.

The production of all Texas fields, except the vast East Texas pool, was reduced two per cent under allowables of July 26. Allowances increase each month due to new well completions.

There were reports of improved conditions in the KMA pool of Wichita county where lack of pipeline connections had caused alarm.

Oklahoma's corporation commission set the August allowable for that state at 428,000 barrels daily, unchanged from July.

Prize Female Setter Mothering Red Duroc Jersey Pig; Owner Wonders About His Pointing

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 4. (AP)—What next?

Collett Mayfield, Nashville lawyer and sportsman, wondered that today in revealing that his prize female setter bird dog, "Teddy," had been mothering a red Duroc Jersey pig for eight weeks.

Born during a severe rainstorm two months ago, the pig was the lone survivor of a litter, on the farm of Mayfield's father in Maury county.

Mayfield said some of the fellows down at the farm were wondering if the pig would point birds when "he grows up." A few of the boys believe, too, that he "will make a good coon 'dog'."

State Committee To Meet Saturday

AUSTIN, Aug. 4 (AP)—Vann Kennedy, secretary of the state Democratic executive committee, has announced the committee would meet in the state capitol Saturday to canvass the first primary election results.

Kennedy said the committee also would formulate the ballot for the second primary, Aug. 27 and certify district office candidates who had been nominated without necessity of a run-off.

The secretary said candidates for state offices who had obtained a majority would be certified as Democratic nominees to the secretary of state by the state convention in Beaumont, Sept. 13.

Post-Marital Litigation Of Frank Fays Has Been Closed

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 4. (AP)—The involved post-marital litigation of Screen Actress Barbara Stanwyck and her former husband, Frank Fay, master of ceremonies, has ended with dismissal of several lawsuits covering custody and property differences.

Attorney Charles W. Cradick, representing Miss Stanwick, declared: "I am not at liberty to disclose the terms of any agreement; we have decided that any arrangement should be confidential in respect to all parties involved."

Cooperation In Plan Offered

(By The Associated Press)

COLLEGE STATION, Aug. 4—Cooperation with Texas doctors in establishing health bureaus was offered by Farm Security administration workers who met here Wednesday.

"If physicians are interested in establishing county health bureaus, their county medical society officials should meet with FSA county staffs and make further arrangements," said an announcement by a committee of FSA field workers.

"FSA will make small loans to their clients for health service. Loans can be pooled, and doctors paid from a central fund. Each family can use the doctor of its choice.

"Families must agree to production of adequate and balanced food supplies; keep its premises sanitary; test drinking water and screen houses and provide for safe disposal of sewage and garbage to get a loan," the report said.

Barcelona Is Again Victim Of Bombs

BARCELONA, Aug. 4 (AP)—Aided by the light of a new moon, insurgent planes raided Barcelona last night for the third time since bombing of the cathedral of Barcelona July 19.

Roaring over the capital twice in a spectacular attack, five bombers plunged their cargoes squarely into the city, spreading destruction through many of the central streets.

The bodies of two dead were recovered from bombed houses, and 30 injured were counted.

The city was blacked out at 10:40 p. m. by an air raid alarm effective for three hours.

For the first time since the early stages of the war, the capital's searchlights succeeded in picking out the attacking planes and illuminating them during their passage over the city.

Sally Rand's Lawyer Succeeds In Striking Out Description

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 4. (AP)—Sally Rand's lawyer went to court Tuesday and succeeded in having statements describing her bubble and fan dancing as "exhibiting her nude body" and "nude dancing" stricken out of two damage complaints pending against her.

"Miss Rand's dancing is intended to be purely artistic," Attorney Milton Golden argued "and description of it as nude dancing is scandalous, sham and irrelevant."

Admitted Propagandist Halted Before Leaving For Germany

NEW YORK, Aug. 4(AP)—A subpoena for George Sylvester Viereck, admitted German propagandist, to appear before the house committee investigating un-American activities was served on the publicist Wednesday as he prepaerd to sail for Germany, reportedly to meet Adolf Hitler.

Rep. Martin Dies (D-Texas) chairman of the committee, said the subpoena was delivered as the German-born author and editor was packing his bags.

"We have been informed that Viereck had arranged a private meeting with Chancellor Hitler in his mountain retreat," said Dies.

Freezing Of Chemical Fires Is Latest Development From Scientific Laboratories

BELTSVILLE, Aug. 4 (AP) — They're prepared to "freeze" chemical fires if they should break out in the national agricultural research center here.

In the hall outside the chemical laboratories there hangs a large red fire extinguisher. An attendant explained that should a chemical catch on fire the fire extinguisher is turned on.

It emits a gas which turns into dry ice.

Calendar Must Be Wrong; Look At Pirates, Indians

By SID FEDER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The calendar must be wrong. If this is August 4, then what are the Pittsburgh Pirates, who are usually sound asleep at this time, doing up there 5 1-2 games in front of the National league pack and how come Cleveland's Indians, once so docile and sweet to the leaders, are in there punching, only two games off the Yankees in the American league entry?

And those aren't the only cases where either the calendar is way off or someone has his dates twisted. For instance, there are the Cincinnati Reds, doormats of '37, tied with the up-and-down Chicago Cubs for the National league's third place, while the somewhat gasless Cardinals wallow around in seventh and Brooklyn's baffling Dodgers head the second division.

Senators Are Fourth

And over in the American league, the supposedly woe-begone Washington Senators hang grimly onto fourth place, while Mickey Cochrane's Tigers can't seem to stay above the .500 mark.

The Bucs added half a game to their first place bulge yesterday by knocking off the Bees up in Boston in both ends of a doubleheader, 9-4 and 5-3.

From the looks of things, the Giants, 5 1-2 games back—seven on the losing side—aren't going to do much catching up, even though they showed signs of coming to life in walloping the Cubs 8-3 yesterday with an attack featured by four homers.

The Yankees can't seem to put any appreciable space between themselves and the Indians. Yesterday they added a slim half-game to their edge by downing the Tigers, 10-7 in ten innings, with Joe Gordon's overtime homer featuring the winning rally. The Tribe, after dropping a 4-3 decision to Boston's Red Sox, in a twin-bill opener, came back to take the nightcap 8-6.

Ival Goodman's 27th homer paced a three-run rally in the tenth to give the Reds a 6-3 decision over the Phillies, moving the Cincinnati clouters into a third-place deadlock. The Cardinals nipped the Dodgers, 3-2, in a ten-inning night fuss.

Connie Mack's Athletics bombarded four pitchers with 34 hits to trample the White Sox twice, 14-2 and 13-5. Buck Newsom turned in his tenth win of the year in hurling the Browns to a 5-3 victory over the Senators.

Tremaine Loses To Johnson Last Night

Andy Tremaine owed Wednesday night to a well-laid offensive of Gust Johnson in the main event at the Auditorium.

Fight fans were reminded throughout the card of the "good old days". All matches were fast and clean wrestling was in vogue.

Johnson used a speedily executed leg lock to take the first fall in twelve minutes. Andy came back in the second canto and in six minutes had Gust patting the mat with a rocking chair split.

All fans were still in doubt after two falls as to which grunter would emerge the victor. Throughout most of the fall Tremaine held a slight edge but after some twelve minutes Johnson came up with his favorite leg hold and the bout was all over but the counting.

Jack "Bad Boy" Hagen took the semi-final joust from the popular Don Hill. After worrying Don down with his hair pulling and choking Hagen had little trouble pinning him with an arm lock.

Sheik Mar Allah tussled with George Hartay for the full 20 minutes in the preliminary match only to be sadly disappointed when John Nemanic called his efforts a draw. Persia's Sheik showed signs of being a bad boy but Hartay was well able to cope with such tactics and landed quite a few unethical blows himself.

Two Former Caddies Fighting It Out In Left-Handed Play

RYE, N. Y., Aug. 4 (AP)—Two former caddies, Alvin Everett of Rome, Ga., and Alex J. Antonio of Linden, N. J., fight it out today for the left-handed golf championship of the United States over the rough, tough Westchester Country club course.

Everett, runner-up last year at Chicago where he bested Antonio in the semi-finals, is naturally enough the favorite. But if Antonio's putting is on—he is erratic on the greens—the 36-hole match should be tight all the way.

'Come Back League' Is Better Name For American Ass'n

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 4 (AP)—They'd better change the name of the American association to the "Come Back League."

Cletus Elwood Poffenberger, who until recently was doing a disappearance act with the Detroit Tigers, added his name to the growing list of players let loose by major league clubs this season who have "found" themselves in the association.

Poffenberger pitched the second game of a double header at Indianapolis and behind his seven-hit twirling Toledo won easily, 12 to 2.

Hubbers To Play Barons Again Tonight; Win Opener 7-6

The Hubbers entertain Big Spring in the second game of the series at 8:45 o'clock tonight in the local pasture.

Lubbock opened the series Wednesday night with an interesting 7-to-6 victory over the Barons.

Gramly Is Winner

Wee Marvin Gramly had to come in for faltering Charley Bryan last night and pitch the Hubbers to their victory. Gramly helped win his own game with a timely single in the eighth inning that advanced Bob Mosel and put him in position to score when Joe Gedzius hit a hot grounder to Shortstop Hobson.

The score was tied twice during the interesting encounter that attracted more than 750 patrons, despite other athletic attractions last night.

Big Spring worked on Bryan for four straight hits, including a two-bagger and a triple, in the third inning, to bring in three runs and take a 3-1 lead, the Hubbers having scored in the second when Manager Hack Miller lashed a triple to right, scored when Catcher Fowler missed the throw from second on a double steal that worked. Ralph Marshall, playing as right fielder last night, had drawn a walk, and stole second as Miller attempted to swipe home plate.

Bryan Then Retires

The Barons went farther ahead in the fourth when, after two outs, Bryan walked three in a row to fill the sacks. Bobby Decker, popular Baron second sacker, smashed a single past third base to score Fowler.

Bryan retired then in favor of Gramly, who walked Red Greer to force in another run. He retired Capps, however, and from then on until the seventh had things his own way.

The Hubbers tied the count in the fifth, after Gramly had retired the invaders in order. Gramly fanned. Gedzius got his second single of the night. Boyd Watkins slammed a triple down first base way, scoring Gedzius. Taylor grounded out to third. Miller singled through left center, scoring Watkins, then Marshall, known as a hitting pitcher, slammed one over the left center fence for two runs and tied the count at five-all.

Score On Error

Big Spring took a lead in the 7th when Decker, who was hit and who stole second, scored on Saporito's single, after two were out. Lubbock tied the count in the last half of the inning with Miller's run. Hack had been hit, stole second, advanced on a wild pitch, and scored on Mal Stevens' single. Gramly loaded the Big Spring bases in the eighth, but retired the side without a run. In their half of the eighth, the Hubbers scored the winning run on Gedzius' grounder to short which Hobson fumbled, Mosel scoring on the play.

A tenth-inning homer by Jake Suytar with the sacks filled gave Midland a win over Hobbs. Cecil Smyly had done the same trick in the Booster eighth to tie the game at six-apiece. Four runs in the ninth inning let Clovis beat Wink, 8 to 8.

Small Montana Is Well On Way To Recovering Flyweight Title

NEW YORK, Aug. 4 (AP)—Small Montana, the Filipino who once held the world's flyweight title, is well on the way to recovering the crown.

Weighing 111, Montana easily outpointed Katsuni Morioka, the Japanese from Vancouver, British Columbia, at Queensboro arena last night. Morioka weighed 109 1-4. Montana, winner of the first bout to decide a new flyweight champion to replace Scotland's Benny Lynch, probably will meet Little Dago, a fellow countryman, next.

Byron White Says He'll Play In All-Stars Redskins Game

DENVER, Aug. 4. (AP) — Byron (Whizzer) White, Colorado's All-America back who decided Monday to play pro football with the Pittsburgh Pirates for $15,000, said today he probably would compete in the College All Stars-Washington Redskins game at Chicago Aug. 31.

RECORD NUMBER SOLD

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Aug. 4 (AP)—With some of the briskest and heaviest trading in years already on the books, the annual Saratoga sales headed for a banner business today after last night's auction in which 63 yearlings, a record number, sold for $128,276, an average of $2,036.

Top price last night was $13,000, paid by Don Cameron of California for a brown son of Blue Larkspur-Speed Boat by Man O'War, owned by H. B. Scott.

MOSQUITOES THE BEST

SWARTHMORE, Pa., Aug. 4 (AP)—Kenneth Reed dumped 24 goldfish into a spring-fed well on a local golf course with the comment: "They'll eat the mosquitoes." A week later the mosquitoes remained; the fish were gone. Reed refused to draw any conclusions.

What Makes An Athlete Click?

With their strange-looking "ergometer," Craig Taylor and Bob Morris, graduate physiology students, will test more than 50 Stanford University athletes to measure the "organic teamwork" which makes them click. In the demonstration above, Taylor makes heart action tests while Morris, his head enclosed in a copper helmet which records air intake and oxygen depletion, pumps bicycle pedals to determine horsepower output.

Canzoneri Criticizes Ambers In Training

SUMMIT, N. J., Aug. 4 (AP)—Lou Ambers moved into the last week of his training for his lightweight title defense against Henry Armstrong today with the words of his idol and former employer Tony Canzoneri ringing in his ears.

After watching Lou go through four rounds with two sparring partners yesterday Tony, who once had Lou as a spar mate, advised, "don't think Lou is working right for this fight. He should move around more, step from side to side instead of taking all those punches he absorbed this afternoon."

Armstrong Has Special Type Of Headgear After Injury

POMPTON LAKES, N. J., Aug. 4 (AP)—Equipped with a specially built headgear, Henry Armstrong today plunged into a furious last week of preparation for his bid for Lou Ambers' lightweight title.

The new helmet is necessitated by a cut on the inside of his lower lip and another on his cheek, souvenirs of a workout. He went five rounds yesterday and may work again today if he feels he needs it. He meets Ambers Wednesday night at the Polo Grounds.

Parker And Allison Chief Hopes Of U. S. In Canadian Tourney

TORONTO, Aug. 4 (AP)—Two giants of U. S. tennis, Frankie Parker of Beverley Hills, Calif., and Wilmer Allison of Texas, were America's chief hopes in the quarter-final round of the Canadian singles championship today.

Laird Watt, hitherto known as a fine doubles player but currently blossoming into a dangerous singles competitor, meets Allison today.

Parker meets Gordon Robinson, little-known Canadian from Stamford, Ont.

Yesterday Allison eliminated Bob Madden of Detroit, ranked second in Michigan behind Fischer, 6-4, 7-5.

Davis Cup Captain Can't Feel Even Little Alarmed In Test

NEW YORK, Aug. 4 (AP)—Walter Pate, captain of this country's Davis Cup team, can't feel even a little bit of alarm about the challenge round to be played just a month from now at the Germantown Cricket club near Philadelphia.

Pate figures the opponent likely will be Australia, and predicts the final count will be United States 4, Australia 1. Also, he is dead certain that Gene Mako will continue to partner the peerless Don Budge in the doubles, and that Bobby Riggs will be America's second singles player unless something drastic happens to the young Chicagoan between now and August 24, when the team will be selected.

The team captain, who ordinarily is very sparing in his predictions was feeling expansive at yesterday's luncheon at which his particular pride and joy, Budge, was presented the James E. Sullivan Memorial trophy as the outstanding amateur athlete of 1937.

Kilgore Rangers Pretty Tough; They Knock Off League Leaders

(By The Associated Press)

For a team that's been knocking around the cellar most of the season the Kilgore Rangers are plenty tough.

In their last seven games, the Rangers have taken six and most of them were from top-flight clubs in the East Texas league race. Last night they completed the show-off by downing the leading Marshall Tigers, 5-4.

The defeat trimmed Marshall's lead over Texarkana to three games, the Liners having defeated Palestine, 8-2.

Third-place Tyler moved on with a 5-2 win from Henderson.

Financial troubles caused Jacksonville's game with Longview to be called off. Jacksonville, which has been having trouble staying in the loop, decided to hold a financial drive, arranging to handle immediate obligations and wage a campaign for funds by popular subscription.

Don Gutteridge Is Acclaimed Fastest Man In The National

BROOKLYN, Aug. 4. (AP) — Don Gutteridge, third baseman of the St. Louis Cardinals, was acclaimed fastest man in the National league last night when a crowd of 35,000 saw him win an 80-yard dash against other survivors of a series of elimination heats staged by the Brooklyn Dodgers. He won $200 as first prize.

Chapman Elected Leader By Coaches; Teams Drill Hard

As promotion after a year as vice-president, Weldon Bailey Chapman, head coach of Lubbock High school, Wednesday night was elected president of the Texas High School Coaches association.

The Westerner mentor was nominated from the floor and elected by a big majority at last night's annual business session of the organization of Texas high school coaches. He succeeds L. C. Wood, Cameron, who presided last night and who had officiated at the current coaching school sponsored by the organization.

Schley Is Promoted

Bryan Schley, Nacogdoches head coach, who has served as secretary-treasurer for the past year, was elevated to the vice-presidency, and J. T. (Bobo) Nelson, Athens, moved up from assistant secretary-treasurer to head man of the department. Lee Mitchell of Yoakum High school was elected assistant secretary-treasurer.

A board of directors composed of Ted Jefferies, Wichita Falls; P. E. Shotwell, Longview; John Pierce, Corsicana; Bill Meyers, Fort Worth; Joe Ward, San Antonio; Buck Barr, Kingsville; Buddy Savage, Beaumont, and L. C. Wood, retiring president, of Cameron, was approved by the organization.

Pictures Are Shown

Most of the coaches attending the sixth annual coaching school of the organization, currently being conducted at Texas Tech, attended last night's formal meeting. There were no new developments or business activities outside the election of officers. Attending coaches were entertained by motion pictures of football subjects provided by Lynn Waldorf of Northwestern and Harry Stuhldreher of Wisconsin, head of the staff of instructors. Pictures of games in which Northwestern and Wisconsin featured last season were projected on the screen, and the coaches provided the "sound."

Divided For Workouts

Coaching school "students" continued to bear down with pencils during yesterday's regular sessions, listening to Waldorf and Stuhldreher in indoor lectures and watching workouts in the morning, attending Frank Leahy's outdoor lecture on offensive line play in the afternoon, and going inside to hear the colorful John Da Grosa expostulate more fully, and more humorously, on defensive line play.

The crowd was divided for the afternoon field sessions where Waldorf put the Southern All-Stars through their paces on the regular field while Stuhldreher sent his Northerns through a stiff scrimmage that lasted more than an hour.

Biggest crowd was attracted to the practice field where the Stuhldrehermen worked hard and fast. Twenty-two men pounded each other up and down the field, blocking, tackling and running with midseason spirit and ambition.

On the other side of the stadium, Waldorf was working more slowly and patiently with the Southern all stars, teaching fundamentals and demonstrating them. The drill contrasted with the sharp scrimmage by the big Northerns.

Stuhldreher takes the rostrum this morning for the first lecture, then a field workout follows, with Waldorf lecturing at 10:30.

Frank Cramer of Kansas, noted member of the Cramer medical manufacturing company, makes his first official appearance this afternoon, lecturing on treatment of injuries at the 1:30 session. Da Grosa follows with another lecture at 2:30, after which Stuhldreher and Waldorf drill the gridders on the field again.

Deafness Possible Advantage In Coaching Game--You Can't Hear Wolves Growling; Rudolph Gamblin Doesn't Let It Bother

BY TOM MILLER
Journal Sports Writer

For thorough geniality under handicap meet Coach Rudolph Gamblin.

Gamblin is deaf, but has gained a name for himself as a coach and before that as an all-round athlete. He is coach at the New York School for the Deaf in New York City. His mother is a resident of Amarillo.

Gives Credit To Lynch

Attending the coaching school at Texas Tech, Gamblin picks up pointers from lectures, thoroughly understands what position is being discussed, but gives credit to Howard Lynch, Amarillo coach, for sharing notes with him.

There's a twinkle in his eye that readily attracts your attention and a little "chat" with scratch-pad and pencil with him is refreshing. He says deaf coaches expect interviews, so "I'm ready."

Earned 19 Letters

Gamblin earned 19 letters in sports before graduating from the Texas School for Deaf at Austin, where he captained the football team two years. That information came, not from him, but from another source. At Gallaudet college, Washington, D. C., the only college for the deaf in the world, he received his A. B. degree.

Upon graduation he was selected to play with the Washington, D. C., all-stars against the Alabama all-stars in the nation's capital, an honor surprising in itself, since he played with "hearing" persons, a term he applies to those not deprived of hearing.

Played Semi-Pro Ball

He coached at the Louisiana School of the Deaf before going to New York.

He has played semi-pro baseball in Post and Amarillo a few years ago.

Gamblin has two deaf friends in or near Lubbock whom he would like to see, but has been unable to get in touch with them. They are Aurice McCallon and Ernest Williams. However, he admonished, with a characteristic smile;

"Don't try to locate them. They have no telephones."

Sports Roundup

By EDDIE BRIETZ
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—Broadway operators who made Henry Armstrong a 3-1 choice to trim Lou Ambers have the jitters because of reports that such operators as Beverly Brown of St. Louis; Frankie Gatto of Kansas City and Babe Barron of Chicago are gobbling up all the 2 1-2 to 1 dough they can get their hands on. . . . Now that Blondy Ryan is off the Jints he can resume sending those famous "They can't beat us!" wires—which may do the Jints a lot more good than Blondy did sitting on the bench. . . . That Strickland-Farr bout which Toronto had set its heart on is definitely off—not enough dough for Farr.

In passing out the orchids don't overlook Burleigh Grimes for the job he is doing in Brooklyn. . . . The guy ain't had so much as a posey since the day he signed to manage the Dodgers. . . . Name of the gal who did such a swell broadcasting job on a Syracuse baseball game a few nights ago is Helen Detweiler of Washington, D. C., and she's available for future engagements of the same sort. . . . (No charge for the ad, lady). . . . Al Weill, who manages Ambers, swears the Armstrong fight will do $150,000, but Mike Jacobs (who is only the promoter) probably would settle for half that—and pay a commission to boot.

New yellow ball made a hit here with everyone except the Cards—who lost. . . . Jesse Hawley, the old Dartmouth coach, is cleaning up in the tropical hat business. . . . Reservations have been made from every state in the union for the fifth annual Sugar Bowl game in New Orleans next January 1. . . . Is this some sort of a record? . . . In a game between Hobbs and Clovis in the West Texas - New Mexico league the other night the first three Hobbs guys to go to bat in the last of the eighth swatted homers. . . . The Greeks might have a word for it at that.

Rain Washes Out Another Duel Between Schoolboy And Daffy

(By The Associated Press)

Rain washed out another pitching duel between Schoolboy Rowe and Paul Dean yesterday but the patter of the drops made sweet music for the San Antonio Missions.

The former Detroit ace, now with Beaumont, holds two minor league decisions over Dean, who is toiling for Dallas.

San Antonio downed Fort Worth, 4-0, and gained a half game on Beaumont, the league leader.

The ailing Tulsa Oilers, in the throes of a losing streak that has taken on the aspects of disaster, couldn't make it two wins in a row and Shreveport blasted them down, 6-3, in ten innings. Tulsa had lost nine games before the Oilers beat Shreveport Tuesday night.

Bill Seinsoth was the fair-haired boy as Houston nosed out Oklahoma City, 4-3. The Buff hurler turned in a sensational relief job after Harry Brecheen had put out the distress signal in the fifth, then supplied the hit that won the game in the ninth.

Texas Air Travelers Soon To Have Maximum Protection By Radio

Stations Being Built In State

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—Air travelers in Texas soon will have maximum protection from hazards which might be encountered during bad weather or night flying.

A bureau of air commerce executive said today rapid progress was being made on the installation of eight new radio range finding stations in the state, which, with those already in service there, will project a criss-cross of signals to guide flyers from the Panhandle to the Rio Grande valley and from East Texas thickets to New Mexico.

To Finish One Today

Scheduled for completion and operation today is the first of the eight, a station at Tyler. Another is scheduled to be finished at Austin by August 9, installation of radio beam equipment in a recently finished building at Galveston is to start at once. Operation was originally scheduled for August 17, but the bureau now believes the date more likely will be August 25.

The other new range stations are to be installed at Brownsville, Dallas, Abilene, Corpus Christi, and Wichita Falls.

May Be Advanced

Work has progressed so rapidly on the construction of housing facilities at all except Brownsville that the original dates set for beginning of service may be advanced at least a month, the bureau executive said. January 24 had been set as completion date fo installation work at Dallas, Abilene, and Wichita Falls, and February 8 for Corpus Christi.

The Brownsville station is scheduled for completion early in February.

Because of its southerly location, Brownsville was chosen to be the last for installation so bureau engineers could take advantage of warm winter weather in which to work. Also because of its distance from other air centers in the state, Brownsville will have the strongest station of the eight. Its signal will radiate at least 100 miles. The Corpus Christi station too will project its beam about 100 miles, but those at the other points must be shortened 25 to 50 per cent of that distance to prevent interference with signals of other stations.

Total Cost $25,000 Each

The total cost of the average range station, including building and radio equipment, is $25,000. The annual maintenance cost is a little over $10,000, including about $9,000 salary to a five-man staff providing 24-hour service.

With a proper receiving instrument, a pilot aloft in bad weather and unable to see the earth can pick up the signal of one of the stations and by noting the intensity or volume follow it through and know when he is almost overhead of the station. The sound cuts off entirely when he is overhead, then picks up again as he moves on and diminishes in intensity gradually as he gets farther away. Even should he be off his course and some distance to either side of the station he can determine fairly accurately when he passes by it.

The Galveston station was planned primarily as a precaution to prevent a pilot from overshooting the island and roaring on out over the Gulf, the bureau said. A range station already is in service at Houston amply powerful to guide airmen on a straight course to Galveston, but they have no way of knowing when they are directly over the island, should the land be blanketed by a heavy fog.

Buying Said To Be Improving

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—The commerce department saw on the business horizon today "definite signs" of expansion in consumer purchasing. It also noted a healthier inventory situation in both the retail and capital goods divisions.

Richard C. Patterson, jr., assistant secretary, said, July sales figures afford enough information to indicate that consumer buying will improve sooner than had been anticipated.

A study of available figures indicated that the large quantity of merchandise accumulated in the latter part of 1936 and early 1937 has gradually been liquidated and that for some lines, stock levels are back again to normal.

The survey added that dealers' stocks of heavy merchandise also "have been gradually worked down."

Davis Said To Know Where Cash Hidden

NEW YORK, Aug. 4. (AP)—District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey said by the New York World Telegram today to have learned that huge sum of money—estimated at from $1,000,000 to $3,000,000—was hidden away by the late Arthur (Dutch Schultz) Flegenheimer and that J. Richard (Dixie) Davis was the only person who knew the hiding place.

Davis, who has pleaded guilty to policy racket charges and is scheduled to be the principal witness against James J. Hines, Tammany district leader accused of "fronting" for the racket, was said by the newspaper to be slated for a grand jury appearance within the next few days.

"Davis is believed to have denied he knows of any such hidden funds," the World Telegram says, "but some of those connected with the present inquiry are of the opinion Davis is counting on this money to keep him in lush circumstances after he has served whatever sentence is imposed on him as a result of his part in the racket."

Slip Of A Girl Writes Book On Question Bothering Women

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—A slip of a girl in a red velvet dress with a white collar, who looks daring merely smoking a cigarette, has written a book called "How About A Man?"

You ask her why.

"Why?" she replies. "I wanted to make some money."

This is jolting, considering her wispy, fragile appearance, her blue eyes and blonde hair. But that's how Hildegarde Dolson is—soft and dreamy, but really made of stern stuff.

"Why a book about men?"

"Because," she says, "women are more interested in reading about how to get a man than men are in reading about how to get a woman."

"Is that how you feel about men, too?"

"I think they're so nice," she exclaims. "We can't get along without them."

"That'll be good news here and there," her interviewer remarked.

They're Not Trappers

"That's why I wrote my book," she went on. "Women will make more of an effort to please a man. Reading is part of that effort. They'll go further, too—try to look better, dress better. It's not a question of trapping a man—it's to do the things men like so they'll like you better."

Miss Dolson doesn't think a career is enough for any woman, but she hesitated about saying flatly that marriage is the ultimate feminine goal.

"It's a moot point," she said. "It's a fine thing if you fall enough in love. As for myself — well, I can tell you this. I haven't any hope chest."

There are two kinds of men Miss Dolson tries to avoid.

"I hate men who bully waiters," she says. "And I hate the superior male, the patronizing kind who feels that anything a woman may say isn't important just because a woman says it. Most men aren't like that," she ended jubilantly.

Wispy And Pretty Too

Miss Dolson, who is 29 and looks 19, is a small town girl (Franklin Pa.) who made good in the big city (New York). She lives in Greenwich Village with a younger sister, likewise wispy and pretty. She contributes sharp, humorous pieces to "The New Yorker" magazine and writes advertising copy for a Fifth Avenue department store. To write her book, she worked week-ends from March to June last year. Now she is working on a play.

"I definitely don't set myself up as an authority on love," she says. "I simply wrote down things I thought were true. I talked to a lot of men about it — particularly when I was writing the chapter on matrimony."

This, her interviewer assumed, was a reference to her foreword, which is a model for length.

"To acknowledge the invaluable aid of my accomplice, R. B., who advised and blue-penciled with a nice masculine candor."

"To tell the truth," she said, concluding the interview, "what with spending my week-ends writing the book, and working on a play, I have begun to ask 'How About A Man?' myself."

Heir To Motor Millions Weds $15-Week Telephone Operator

ROCHESTER, Mich., Aug. 4. (AP) A $15-a-week telephone operator from Gore Bay, Ont., became the bride of Daniel G. Dodge, heir to several motor millions, Tuesday as the climax of a north woods vacation romance.

Ann Laurine MacDonald, the bride, is the daughter of a Manitoulin Island (Ont.) tugboat captain. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John A. MacDonald, were unable to attend the wedding because of the mother's illness.

The ceremony was performed at Meadowbrook hall, estate of Mrs. Alfred G. Wilson, widow of John F. Dodge and mother of the bridegroom. The Rev. Joseph A. Vance, pastor of the Detroit First Presbyterian church, officiated.

Dodge, beneficiary of a trust fund amounting to $9,331,600 at the last accounting, met Miss MacDonald three years ago when he bought a vacation lodge 20 miles from Gore Bay.

'Stowaway Magellan' On Free Ride Equalling World Jaunt

NEW YORK, Aug. 4. (AP)—Thirteen-year-old Bobby Stap, New York's "Stowaway Magellan," sailed on Caribean seas Tuesday toward a free ride record equalling the distance around the world.

The youthful sea-going hitchhiker was located aboard the Grace line's 16-day cruise ship Santa Elena when the vessel put in at Curacao, Dutch West Indies—his fourth stowaway junket in recent months. The ship left here last Thursday.

When the voyage is completed, Bobby will have travelled 20,166 nautical miles "on the cuff," just a few hundred statute miles short of the circumference of the Globe.

Here's his record:

Two trans-Atlantic round trips, 13,768 miles; voyage to Savannah and return, 1,400 miles; latest 16-day cruise, 5,000 miles. He's due home August 15.

At first, Bobby tied a few spare belongings in a red bandana handkerchief but this time he went de luxe with an extra suit — and $1 cash, just in case.

DID you see last Sunday's Avalanche-Journal? If so, you'll remember the picture on the front page.

If you didn't, be here informed that it was a three column picture of a little colored boy eating watermelon and bore the caption "Here's Lubbock's Automatic Seed Extractor."

The picture was of 7-year old Willis Terry Johnson, who lives with his folks 'down on The Flats." It was the photographic work of W. G. "Bill" McMillan, Lubbock contractor, widely known as an ace amateur picture-taker.

There was some discussion here in the office over whether or not the picture was worth Page 1.

Those who said it wasn't pointed out—and truly—that it had no news connection other than time for moving the South Plains melon crop was just about upon us.

Others pointed out that it was a swell piece of photographic art and that it was pleasing to the eye and that a lot of people would get a kick out of it.

On that argument, The Plainsman smacked it on Page 1.

And a lot of people liked it. We heard considerable comment on the picture.

NOW, it seems, little Willis Terry Johnson's puckered face will be grinned at by millions.

Yesterday, The Plainsman received the following wire from Cleveland offices of NEA Service:

"Please airmail special delivery to Harold Blumenfield, Acme News Pictures, 220 E. 42nd St., New York, picture your last Sunday page one negro boy eating watermelon. Thanks and regards, Bob Beard."

Acme News Pictures is owned by Scripps-Howard, one of the big newspaper and feature outfits, and sells its pictures to scores and scores of papers, large and small, from coast to coast.

It specializes not only on pictures of news events, but also on objects of photographic art and attractive subjects.

So, an orchid—in fact, an armload of orchids, to crack Photographer McMillan.

He must be even better than people around here agree—and the general consensus here-abouts is that he's some punkins as a picture snapper.

THE PLAINSMAN has an out-and-out affinity for Mr. Hack Miller.

In case you are not a baseball fan, and don't know Mr. Miller — although we don't see how that's possible since Mr. Collier Parris never lets a day go by without praising the Hubbers—we'll explain who he is and why we have the brotherly feeling toward him.

Mr. Miller is a large and bombastic young gentleman who hails from McKinney and he is manager of the Lubbock baseball team in the current West Texas-New Mexico league.

Now the writer has never met Mr. Miller.

But we feel a most friendly feeling toward him, since he, in his job, is in the same sort of position The Plainsman is in his own.

What we are trying to say is that there are hundreds of people who are so sure they are better at running a ball club, or editing a newspaper than are either Mr. Miller or the writer, that we have all sorts of unsolicited aid and assistance!

Both Mr. Miller and The Plainsman are never at a loss for critics—either friendly, or otherwise.

MR. MILLER is blissfully ignorant of the fact, but he has been for The Plainsman what The Plainsman is for so many other people.

The writer dearly loves to go out to Parris field to disagree with Mr. Miller's often wierd baseball strategy, just as many readers turn to this page daily just to see what that Simpel Simon has written about today."

In other words, we delight in disagreeing with Mr. Miller's handling of his ball club, just as so many of our customers delight in reading our comments for the sole purpose of getting so mad they could bite themselves on the backs of their necks!

Really, Mr. Miller has been a big help to The Plainsman.

When he sends Mr. Charles Bryan in as a relief pitcher, for instance, or when he bunts on the third strike. Or when he orders a subordinate player to "lay one down" when the Hubbers are trailing by a half dozen runs and the guy doesn't know how to bunt, anyway.

When Mr. Miller does any of these things, then The Plainsman knows exactly how a lot of his own arm-chair assistants feel when this column climbs out on a limb and then saw the limb off!

In fact, we wouldn't take anything for Mr. Miller's example this summer. For he certainly has taught us a lesson.

THE PLAINSMAN hopes to meet Mr. Miller before he goes back to McKinney for the winter.

As a matter of fact, we'd like to invite him to lunch some day, along with Pete Cawthon and Weldon Chapman who, like Mr. Miller and The Plainsman, are constantly surrounded by grandstand managers and Monday morning quarterbacks.

We four ought to have a good time—although we'd probably wind up each telling the other how he should do his job!

Human nature is funny that way!

Mystery At The Lazy R

CAST OF CHARACTERS

NIKKI JEROME, heroine; blond, popular, is engaged to six-foot, black-haired

STEVE MALLORY, hero; who is accompanying her on a trip to Nikki's aunt and uncle on a Wyoming dude ranch. Nikki's father,

PETER JEROME, is a wealthy New York jewel merchant.

Yesterday: The stranger introduces himself as Bancroft and then advises that he has decided to go to Wyoming, too, for a vacation.

CHAPTER III

When the train pulled into the little station Aunt Amy was at the bottom of the steps to wrap Nikki in a thoroughgoing embrace that left them both breathless and laughing. Aunt Amy was a gray-haired woman, slender, almost angular with a quiet deliberateness which seldom saw a change of pace, but now she held Nikki off at arm's length and looked at her.

"My, my. Such a grownup lady. Why the last time you were out here . . ."

"Now Amy, Nikki knows how big she was five years ago. Sure she's grown up. Never sick a day in her life. Just like her uncle. But she needs some ranch cookin' to put a little heft onto her," said Uncle Jim, looking her over critically. Nikki laughed and kissed her bald, boisterous relative.

"Wait a minute, you two," she said. "Don't you want to meet the man I'm going to marry?" Steve hadn't completely forgiven her for the club car incident with Bancroft, but the rest of the trip had passed without incident, largely because Nikki had wisely decided to stay out of the lounge.

Now she led Steve over and introduced him to her aunt who kissed him, and to her uncle who welcomed him largely. Nikki saw out of the corner of her eye that Bancroft and Sarto were standing several yards away by their luggage, waiting for the family group to break up. Steve hadn't seen them. Uncle Jim finally walked over to them, shook hands and brought them back.

"Amy," he said, "these gentlemen are Mr. Bancroft and Mr. Sarto. They figure on going out to the Lazy R for a spell. Reckon you must have met on the train," turning to Nikki and Steve. Nikki nodded. "We met," said Steve briefly, without looking at Nikki.

"Come on, then,' 'said Uncle Jim. "Things have shore changed, Nikki. Remember the old truck we used to cavort along in? Well, we got one of them new station wagons now. It was Amy's idea, but it certainly does the business. Why you can haul a dozen people in this thing, with all their gaggage."

He kept up a cheerful, noisy conversation all the 15 miles to the ranch, telling Nikki and Steve about the improvements and some of the guests already there. He included Bancroft and Sarto in his conversation with a casual wave of his hand and a turn of his head.

"Hey Rance," he yelled as the station wagon came to a stop in the drive before the ranch house. "Here's Nikki," and a tow-headed young man in khaki trousers and shirt came strolling up from the corrals.

"Rance," said Nikki, and kissed him enthusiastically. Rance drew back, completely covered with a fine cloud of pleased confusion.

"Looks like a lot of kissing goin' on," observed Uncle Jim. "Ranse, your ears are redder than that cow barn."

"Hush," said Aunt Amy. "Rance and Nikki were practically brought up together," she explained diplomatically to Steve. "They're just like brother and sister. Hey Bill," she called to a wiry young man crossing the yard. "Come and take these bags up to the porch." She turned to Steve who was watching Bill's approach. "I can't get used to seeing men around in chaps again. But the easterners want hair pants and hair pants they get. Don't mean you, o' course," she added, remembering that Steve, after all, was an "easterner" too.

As they walked up to the ranch-house Nikki was amazed at the changes. The old house had a new wing on the south which almost doubled its size, and a wide patio ran completely across the front. She saw several men in ten-gallon hats, high-heeled boots and bright neckerchiefs over brighter shirts.

"Your hired hands certainly have changed," Nikki said to her uncle.

"Lord, Nikki, them ain't the hands. All the old boys are guides now. They're around in back. These new whippersnappers are just the atmosphere. They can all ride, though, and they look like cowboys. When you see one kinda hefty around the middle you'll know he ain't atmosphere. He's a dude."

Uncle Jim pointed out the cabins to her. There were six of them.

"Four we built just to accommodate two people each," he said. "The other two will hold as many as six. They're for the family groups. All with hot and cold running water," he added grandly. Nikki learned that the new wing held several private rooms and a big dining hall.

Uncle Jim dropped back to explain something to Steve. Aunt Amy was taking Sarto and Bancroft in to register and to get them settled. They had preferred one of the cabins. Rance fell into step with Nikki.

"It's awful nice to have you back again Nikki," he said gently, and Nikki knew that Rance loved her just as he always had loved her and that he probably would never dream of telling her. Rance was the son of an old partner of Uncle Jim and when the partner and his wife had died, Uncle Jim and Aunt Amy took the boy into their own home, reared him as their own and sent him away to the State University.

After one year Rance returned to the Lazy R and said he would rather go to work than to school, and after a while Uncle Jim made him foreman. Nikki always thought that Rance would like to have continued school, but that he felt his foster parents couldn't afford the money to send him.

Nikki breathed deeply and turned her eyes to the purple fringe of mountains to the west. She let her gaze linger over the distance and lost her troubles. Nothing very wrong could happen in such a setting.

"We've just time to change and have a short ride before supper," she called to Steve. "I'll beat you dressed. Rance, may we have a couple of horses? How about Marquis and the Palamino?"

"Both a little old," said Rance. "Remember it's been five years. But I've got a couple of good ones saved for you."

They returned from an hour's ride ravenous, and after dinner Steve suggested a walk. The sun had just set, a huge orange circle that left the indescribable beauty of a soft, western dusk. They were both still in riding togs. Nikki linked her arm through Steve's and they strolled silently, both lost in the magic loveliness of the twilight. The dust of the yard padded their footsteps. There was no sound except the faint notes of radio music from the background of the ranch house, framed against the darkening sky.

They stopped at the corral fence, their figures hidden by the shadow of a shed. In a swift motion Steve took Nikki in his arms and their differences vanished like the outlines of the distant hills fading into the lowering night. They stood thus for many seconds, their bodies locked, oblivious to the ranch and to the world. Then they heard a man speak and Nikki stepped back.

Bancroft and Sarto were standing not more than 20 feet away, unable to see them because of the shadow of the shed. The first words they heard were Sarto's.

"I know you're the boss, but I'm tellin' you this is no spot for us. Let's get away."

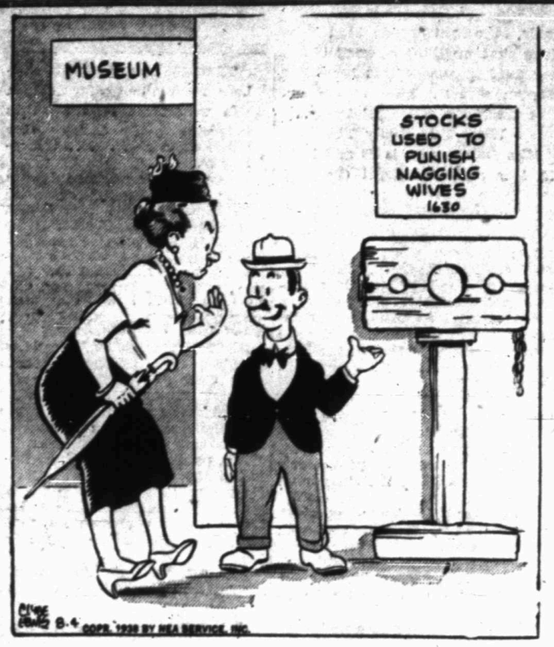

Steve started to take a step out into the light and reveal their presence, but a warning pressure on his arm from Nikki stopped him. This was no time for ethics. Bancroft was answering in the same low, smooth voice, but the undertone of metallic hardness was rising.

"I know what I'm doing. The girl saw the money, I tell you. I don't know how much she knows. Sup-

NOPE, IT "AIN'T" THE HEAT

Several items of current news should bring home forcefully to South Plains residents the truth of the hackneyed heat alibi that "it isn't the heat; it's the humidity" which causes most suffering.

In Budapest, for example, the temperature rose to 89 degrees and the number of prostrations swamped hospitals. At the moment the news item came to The Evening Journal, the official Lubbock temperature hovered around the 95-degree mark. This is no attempt to deny that the heat here was unpleasant, but at the same time it is true it was a sufficiently healthful heat that neither deaths nor prostrations were reported.

Even on the South Plains, anyone who exposes himself unnecessarily and immoderately to the rays of the sun is showing very poor judgment. Even here, such foolish acts invite prostration or death. But at the same time, news items of recent days have supplied abundant evidence that a person can endure more heat with less harm in our area than in almost any other place in this land.

Hollywood Chit-Chat

BY PAUL HARRISON
Journal Hollywood Correspondent

(Bill Porter, of NEA Service's Hollywood staff, is writing the Hollywood column while Paul Harrison is on vacation.)

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 4 — The nature fakers are busy again, and judging from the stories press agents are putting out Hollywood is swarming with amateur Frank Bucks.

Warner Brothers' latest is that Hugh Herbert is teaching a goldfish to live on dry land. By taking the fish out of water a few minutes at a time he has accustomed it to being out as long as 20 minutes without suffering ill effects. He is also teaching it to propel a toy auto by flapping its fins.

Recently Martha Raye was said to have been trapped in a producer's office for over an hour by a Great Dane. Inspiration for this story was Miss Raye's remark about the ferocious mien of a couple of those dogs in the presence of a press agent. The story was planted so easily that a few days later the same press agent popped up with another about how Miss Raye was trapped in a canyon by a mountain lion while waiting for her chauffeur to repair a tire.

To The Hills!
The 'Gators Are Coming!

During the making of "Her June Love," 15 or 16 alligators were rented from a farm. When wild animals are being used a yarn always has to be issued that some of them have escaped and are lurking in the dark corners waiting to pounce on an unwary extra. This time it was maneating alligators.

The funny part of that story was that it had a foundation in fact. When the 'gators were returned to the farm it was found that two were missing.

Immediately the story was issued that two man-eating alligators were loose on the Paramount lot. They failed to mention, however, that the reptiles were only 18 inches in length.

Universal's latest is that beaters had to be sent into the river bottom on their back lot to silence frogs, tree toads, and owls which were making so much noise that it was registering above the clatter and blare of noise-makers and horns of a New Year's Eve scene which was being filmed for "Letter of Introduction."

It has been a long time since an owl hooted or a frog croaked on a hot afternoon.

P. A.'s Motto: A Bat In Every Belfry

The usual production - stopper story is that a butterfly or bat enters a sound stage and flies under the lights, making shadows that look like eagles. Warner Brothers figured that wouldn't quite do justice to "The Adventures of Robin Hood." So they issued a story that production was halted because a buzzard with a six-foot wingspread kept hovering over some prop rabbits and casting airplane-like shadows over the set. The rabbits, according to the story, had to be buried before the bird would leave.

The man-bites-dog news story was given a new twist by TCFox. When Shorty, the chimpanzee, bit Marjorie Weaver on the big toe and broke her wrist watch, all, at the same time, they let it be known that she pounced on that beast and bit him soundly on the ear. Actually, she is afraid to work with him.

Snakes, Dogs, Anything For A Laugh

A star can't have a weekend without and adventure. Allan Jones and his wife, Irene Hervey, had hardly returned from a weekend at Leo Carrillo's ranch when the Metro publicity department was trying to plant a story about how Jones had shot a rattlesnake just one foot from the cot on which his wife lay sleeping.

Then there's Dolores Del Rio's Schnauzer dog, Liebchen, which gives itself a graceful flip from her driving board and somersaults into her swimming pool. And Russell Hayden's bevy of carrier pigeons, which he has trained to carry messages of love to his current heart interest.

Two true animal stories have been issued in the past couple of months. Andrea Leeds was bitten by a spider, and Ian Hunter was bitten by one of his own dogs.

LaFollette Senatorial Probe Uncovers Spy System In Use In Steel Labor Difficulties

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4 — The LaFollette committee, through which labor spies have been introduced to the public for the first time, dug up a couple the other day and put them on the stand.

Dutcher

Scanning the committee room crowd, you can't spot spies from the rest. You exempt Mrs. LaFollette and other women, since steel spies are men. Also Vice-President C. M. White of Republic Steel, who chews gum, and his retinue, and a score of newspapermen and photographers and others you know. That leaves 30 or 40 men who might be spies, steel workers or spectators.

Chairman LaFollette, white-clad, sunburned, bespectacled and wearing in lapel the circled cross emblem of the new LaFollette political party (does anyone remember the name?), looks over the crowd.

How A Labor Spy Looks

Then he calls Harold F. Vargo, who promptly admits such aliases as Ira Albert and Richard Brooks. Vargo is a tall, slim, darty-eyed young fellow probably in his late twenties. His hair is plastered back, and he wears a pencil-striped blue suit, fancy-figure blue shirt and white wash tie. He blows cigaret smoke through his nose and mouth simultaneously and answers questions slowly and shrewdly. His grammar doesn't go to pieces until he becomes excited an hour later.

Yes, indeed, he was employed at the Republic plant in Youngstown in 1936-37 as Ira Albert, joined the union and organized workers. The boys elected him financial secretary and he kept track of all records and dues for a lodge of 1800 to 1900 members. Kept the records at home for safety.

Just before the big strike his resignation was asked—apparently, said he, because he wasn't "communistically inclined." At this point only a few in the hearing room—including Vargo—know he's a spy.

LaFollette calls other leaders of the union lodge. Charlie Fagan, boyish-faced, swarthy Irishman who was fired before the strike, and Ed Valesky, soft-voiced, wavy-haired Pole, once a steel inspector, and others. Yes, rumors had come that someone was "turning in" names of new union members, who were being fired in different parts of the plant. Albert alone had the names of dues-payers. Albert, without suffering, spent much time away from work at meetings, at union headquarters. He was a red-baiting (described as a company anti-union tactic).

Not The Right Tactics

Albert would say, referring to Republic cops, "let's go up and clean 'em out." Explained Fagan: "A good union man never says that. . . . We took steps to eliminate this gentleman." It took a week to get the union safe from Albert. Records were incomplete and an affidavit mentioned $1000 in dues as unaccounted for, which Albert denied.

Suddenly LaFollette pops an affidavit from the lady with whom Vargo previously lived in Buffalo. They were "getting along very well" when Vargo became discontented with $25 a week, became a Republic guard and went to Youngstown. "That's what I told her," snorted Vargo, denying Republic employment in Buffalo, but admitting under questioning he had gone to drive a cab during a Cleveland taxi strike.

Witness Tells All

Without warning, LaFollette demanded to know all strike-breaking and undercover jobs on which Vargo had worked. Vargo, dropping a pose of innocence, revealed a series. Burly Chief Jim Williams of Republic police had sent him to Youngstown. (It had been "out on the grapevine that Jim Williams could use a few men.") Republic Police Captain Earl Butler gave him a gun and told him to "keep his eyes open." . . . At this point Joseph Vamos, a swaggering, self-contained fellow not quite as smooth, was called to say he had gone to Youngstown with Vargo and had worked with him on previous jobs. . . . Vargo said he had "worked on the picket line" after the strike began. He had been on both salary and expense account, merely telephoning Butler for cash when he needed it. The last payment was $300. Then he was sent to work for Republic in Buffalo.

The story of Vargo ended as Valesky, after asserting the man had tried to get himself and two others to chip in for bomb expenses, told how the group had been arrested and beaten up at the police station with the exception of "Albert." Vargo said the victims got what was coming to them.

the results of indigestion and extreme nervousness which wrecked my entire system. Foods soured, I bloated dreadfully and my heart would palpitate until I could hardly stand it. I tried many medicines but to no avail and I grew worse continually. Finally neuritis settled over my body and such sharp stabbing pains as I endured often made my rest and sleep impossible. It was many miserable months I endured before I learned of Gly-Cas—then it went right to the source of my health troubles.

"I am now enjoying the best health I have had in months," continued Mr. Blalock. "My stomach, kidneys and bowels are now regulated giving me proper elimination. I eat and sleep good, relieved of those dreadful attacks of indigestion, sour stomach and bloating. My nerves are now practically normal, awful neuritis pains have been relieved and I really cannot say too much in praising this vegetable remedy. Gly-Cas gives the health nature intended."

You Need Printing!

OF COURSE; . . . NEARLY EVERYONE DOES, But what kind of printing do you need? That's the question.

You can't simply say that printing is printing and let it go at that. Think of the DIFFERENCE between the fresh-laid eggs and that of yesteryear!

And there's a whale of a big difference between printing . . . of the sort you love to look at, and the "Run-of-the-mill" variety.

In emphasising your need for printing, what we mean to coyly suggest is that you really need The Baker Company Printing.

Cotton Market

NEW YORK REPORT
NEW YORK, Aug. 4. (AP)—Cotton futures opened 1 higher to 1 lower with easier Liverpool cables offset by further rains in the eastern belt and trade buying. Oct. 8.47; Dec. 8.52; Jan. 8.54; March 8.60; May 8.62; July 8.65.
Prices held steady later in the morning but trading was quiet. Further showers in the eastern two-thirds of the belt were considered unfavorable.
Dec. at midday was selling at 8.60 and the list was 2 to 7 points net higher.

NEW ORLEANS REPORT
NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 4. (AP)—Cotton futures prices opened steady, 1 point lower to 1 higher here today.
The October contract opened at 8.56-57, Dec. at 8.63, Jan. 8.65, March 8.70, May 8.73 and July 8.76 bid. The active October and December options gained 3 to 4 points in early dealings on a bullish private crop forecast.
A private crop estimate, smaller than expected, and unfavorable weather in the eastern portion of the belt caused Oct. and Dec. to advance and near mid-session they were 6 to 7 points above yesterday's closing figures.
One authority estimated the new crop would total 10,572,000 bales. Previous estimates ranged from eleven and a quarter to eleven and three-quarter million bales.
The weather map showed showers in the east, adding to weevil danger and dry conditions in the west where the crop was reported making good progress.
Cotton goods markets were dull at unchanged prices.
The turnover yesterday was 19,830 bales and open commitments 388,800 bales, a decrease of 1,800 bales from the previous day.
With offerings scarce the market gained a few points on price fixing in near months and a little Liverpool buying.
Dec. sold up from 8.52 to 8.56 and shortly after the first half hour was selling at 8.55, with the list 1 to 3 points net higher.

Stock Market

WALL STREET REPORT
NEW YORK, Aug. 4. (AP)—Buyers exhibited a liking for selected industrial stocks in today's market and neglected numerous other issues.
In an exceptionally slow session of mild ups and downs, steel and motors were able to finish with gains running to a point or so. But top marks were whittled down near the close and losses of moderate proportions were plentiful.
The list opened with slight advances for the favored groups. Prices occasionally backed away in profit taking interludes, but there was no pickup in volume. With the ticker tape loafing the greater part of the day, transfers approximated 600,000 shares.

Hall did not say how long it would be until the hill dwellers speak exactly like the rest of the people, but he gave the impression it won't be long.

And when that time comes, he added sadly, America will lose a lot of language color. Gone will be such mountain expressions as:

"It began to come down dusky; the sun was a-settin'."

"I let drive at hom. The bear broke to run and ran yan way up the mountain."

Bandit Sought After Holdup

Police and sheriff's department officers were still searching this morning for a lone bandit who escaped in tall weeds in the 500 block on Avenue R last night after hi-jacking an attendant at the Gulf Filling station, 1703 Broadway and securing $44.

The bandit's 1938 model Ford, stolen in Austin May 26 last, was abandoned in an alley in the block, about 15 minutes after the robbery. The man, it was said, dashed into the weeds and efforts of officers to locate him were futile.

Watch For Car Theft

Police Identifications Officer Bill Mabray this morning expressed the opinion that the bandit would steal another car in order to get away.

During the night officers watched for a possible car theft. None had been reported. A fair description of the wanted man was available. Officers in nearby towns were advised of his escapade and his description.

George Gilfillan was the only attendant at the new Gulf oil retail station which is under lease to C. J. Bell. The time was approximately 9:20 o'clock.

Gilfillan said the man drove the 1938 black Ford coach into the drive and asked to have the tires checked. He sat in the station and talked a few minutes, the attendant said.

"We talked about five minutes about tires, and I wasn't suspicious of him," Gilfillan said. "When he started to leave, he got in the car and started the motor. He called me out to the car and asked if we had anything cold and ordered a drink.

"After I went into the station and got the drink for him and started to turn around to take it out to the car, he was standing there with a gun in my back. I didn't even hear him get out and come in."

After the bandit demanded the money, Gilfillan said he opened the cash register and told him to get it; but the hijacker commanded the attendant to hand it to him.

"He stuffed the money into his shirt," Gilfillan said.

The lone, bold hijacker forced the attendant to ride three blocks with him on the running board of the car. The lights of the machine were not on, Gilfillan said.

"We went one block west, then two north before he stopped and told me to get off," he said. "I was afraid he wouldn't even stop to let me off, but make me jump."

The hold-up took place at one of the most traveled intersections at night in the city and lights on all four corners of the intersection lighted the area until the station could be seen several blocks.

Officers who immediately began a search for the bandit were Jas. P. Posey, chief deputy sheriff; Bill Mabray, police identifications officer; Lewis Kittrell, police traffic sergeant; and Ralph Goldwater, Ham Odom, O. E. Rush, and H. B. Brown, all of the police department.

Gilfillan said the hijacker was about 5 feet 9 inches tall with light brown hair combed straight back, was 28 or 30 years old, and was wearing a light brown dress shirt and light dress trousers.

Descriptions of the gunman were broadcast over police radio station KGZW and officers of this area notified by telephone to be on the lookout for the bandit.

Drove Like "Bat Outa H——"

The abandoned automobile was taken to police headquarters and later stored and will be held, pending further investigation.

Davidson said the first report of the abandoned car came from a man in the neighborhood where it was left.

"Is anything wrong?" Davidson quoted the man. "A man just drove a car up an alley here like a bat out of h——, left it, and started running." A half-dozen officers immediately rushed to the abandoned machine, but were unable to find the driver.

Efforts were made immediately to attempt to prevent the hijacker from stealing an automobile parked near the baseball park or from leaving Lubbock by train.

numerous alleged illicit Soviet actions and declaring responsibility for the fighting, which began Sunday after repeated charges and counter-charges of border violations the past month in the Changkufeng hill region, was entirely Russia's.

The Russians sent four battalions against Changkufeng and Shachofeng last night but lost 200 men when Japanese repelled them. A Japanese army communique announced today, after "thousands of flares" exposed their ranks in a thick fog.

The Soviets were said to have abandoned 15 tanks and 25 cannon. Their uniforms showed some of them to be members of the 118th Novokievsk infantry, reported to be a unit of the Far Eastern red army.

The Japanese war office failed to estimate the number of Russian soldiers involved or the number of Japanese casualties, but said 250 tanks had been concentrated in the area.

Tokyo awaited anxiously the report of Namoru Shigemitsu, Japanese ambassador to Moscow, following a conference with Maxim Litvinoff, Soviet commissar for foreign affairs, scheduled for today.

Prosecutions Face Election Violators

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4 — Chairman Sheppard (D-Tex) of the senate campaign expenditures committee said today if any criminal violations were disclosed by committee investigators, they would be reported to the proper authorities for prosecution.

This is one of three lines of formal action the committee may take as a result of its investigations into 1938 senatorial campaigns, Sheppard said the other two are:

1. To recommend to the senate "further laws needed to safeguard the ballot."
2. To report on the legality of the claims of newly-elected senators to their seats if a challenge is made.

More formidable than these potential actions, however, is the committee's constant use of publicity to bring to the attention of voters whatever alleged misdeeds it uncovers.

Thus far, Sheppard said, the committee has received about 20 complaints. It has investigators in half a dozen states—California, Georgia, Pennsylvania, Indiana, Kentucky, and Tennessee. No criminal violations sufficient to warrant porsecution have been turned up, the chairman said, but investigators are watchful.

Mississippi Party Is To Visit In City

Forty-six members of a tours party from Jackson, Miss., are to spend nearly five hours in Lubbock Monday en route to the Grand Canyon and the Pacific coast, according to a letter received at the chamber of commerce this morning.

Arrangements for the trip were made by the Murphree-Ford tours agency of Jackson, of which Dennis Murphree, former governor of Mississippi, is president. Heading the party will be Tom Dennis.

The stop here, said the letter, will be the longest at any intermediate point on the itinerary.

Members of the party re scheduled to arrive at 8:30 a. m. aboard two special Pullman coaches and will leave at 1:25 p. m. They are to have lunch at the Hilton hotel.

The chamber of commerce good neighbor committee, of which Chas. Whitacre is chairman, will arrange sight-seeing trips for the visitors and a program for their luncheon.

The board decision to transfer the procedings to Des Moines preceded the governor's announcement limiting martial law only to the county in which Newton is located.

League Asks Investigation Of Davey-Smith Relationship

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 4 (AP)—Labor's Non-Partisan league of Ohio—dominated by C. I. O.—asked the U. S. senate civil liberties committee today to investigate any relationship between the Rev. Gerald L. K. Smith, Governor Martin L. Davey and "certain lawless industrialists."

Davey has been under C. I. O. attack for calling out troops in last summer's steel strike. The Kent tree surgeon, Ohio's two-term governor, is opposed by Charles Sawyer, national committeeman from Cincinnati who has the league's endorsement.

Smith, political lieutenant of the late Huey P. Long, is scheduled to speak here Sunday in a campaign against "isms."

Shouts and boos brought the Ohio Federation of Labor (A. F. L.) convention to a close last night as supporters of Davey and Sawyer attempted to speak.

Investigation Is Requested Of Associate Farmers, Inc.

ST. PAUL, Aug. 4 (AP)—Gov. Elmer A. Benson today asked Senator Robert M. LaFollette's senate civil liberties committee to conduct a nation-wide investigation of Associate Farmers, Inc., as well as the Minnesota unit headed by W. F. Schilling of Northfield. Schilling was a member of the Federal Farm board.

In a letter to Senator LaFollette at Washington, Benson charged that, according to "dozens of reliable members of his audiences," Schilling as leader of the Minnesota unit, has advocated the use of "axe handles" against organized labor.

The governor told LaFollette he was informed that the first unit in California got its start with $3,500 donated by the Pacific Gas and Electric company and the Southern Pacific railroad."

Union Picket Lines Continue Around Plant In Louisiana

HAMMOND, La., Aug. 4 (AP)—Union picket lines were continued today about the plant of the Hammond Box company and the factory remained closed for the second day due to a controversy over wages.

Six men injured yesterday in a skirmish between pickets and men attempting to go to work were discharged today from private hospitals. No arrests had been made and officers described the picketing as quiet today.

Work Continues Under Protection Of Police

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 4 (AP) — Under police protection work was continued today on construction of two bridges over the Metairie canal here where union members forced a group of workers to leave the jobs two days ago.

nopoly." When anybody does, he jerks out of his seat and explodes in a very unsenatorial manner: "Hooey! Ant! nothing! We just want facts. This is no Senate witch hunt."

He has just conducted Senate hearings that brought some of New York's biggest industrialists before him. After they left one wrote him, "May I offer our sincere gratitude for the courtesy we received at your hands."

That letter pleases O'Mahoney. But so does the success of his crusading friend, Ed Keating, who edits "Labor," the weekly publication of 15 railway labor groups. They met in 1908 when O'Mahoney had arrived in Denver from New York. He'd just given up a Columbia scholarship to bring a sick brother West. He had only $15 in his pocket. He wanted (and needed badly) a job on Keating's paper, and Keating turned him down. They laugh about it now over dinner 30 years later.

her face rather full. She told news photographers she didn't like to have pictures taken any more because they "make me look too fat."

Miss White was born in Green Ridge, Mo., March 4, 1889. She made her debut at six as "Little Eva" in "Uncle Tom's Cabin," and her parents got $5 a week for her work.

At 13 she was with a traveling circus as bare-back rider, and several years later went on the stage. She went to the films in 1913.

At the top of her fame she earned $10,000 a week, usually playing opposite Warner Oland, who was the villain.

word here, will be centered on the designation and development of the present highway 24 from Lubbock as a state and federal artery. The highway already is paved. From Levelland, the contemplated development is to Roswell and thence along a route west by slightly north across New Mexico into northern Arizona and almost due westward from there to California.

State Primaries

the primaries. They were two Texans, one from Illinois, one from Virginia, and two from Pennsylvania. Another Texan still faces a run-off primary.

All those beaten, either for the house or in the senate, were Democrats. In most cases, however, political students say local conditions as much as anything else contributed to their defeat. Whether the men were for or against presidential policies was not always a major factor.

Tennessee Voters Balloting Today; Governor In Fight

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 4. (AP)—Tennessee voters marked ballots today for a United States senator, governor, and public utilities commissioner in a Democratic primary devoid of outstanding political issues, but important as a testing ground for two powerful political factions.

Interest aroused in the fight between National Democratic Committeeman E. H. Crump of Memphis and Governor Gordon Browning for supremacy within the state caused observers to forecast a record vote of around 400,000.

Backed Browning In 1936

Crump is head of the Shelby county (Memphis) organization and Browning is seeking renomination. Crump backed Browning two years ago, thus giving him approximately 60,000 votes but this year threw his support to Prentice Cooper, of Shelbyville, for the governorship.

Browning charged that efforts would be made "to steal the election" in Memphis, and only this week abandoned plans to send national guardsmen there. He denied that his decision resulted from a federal court injunction against such action.

Alligned with Browning is Senator George L. Berry, seeking nomination to succeed himself, and W. H. Turner, incumbent public utilities commissioner, while Crump is supporting Cooper for Governor, A. Tom Stewart, Winchester attorney, for senator, and W. H. Hudson of Clarksville for utilities commissioner.

Roosevelt's Name Is Back In Kentucky's Campaign

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Aug. 4. (AP)—President Roosevelt's name today is back in the forefront of Kentucky's sizzling senatorial primary.

New Deal Majority Leader Senator Alben Barkley, given the personal political blessing of Mr. Roosevelt, tells his audiences:

"Mr. Chandler (Governor A. B. Chandler, his opponent) says I have been a 'yes man, to the president. Well, I must plead guilty to his charge. Maybe the governor won't like it but I take some pride in knowing I have been loyal and faithful to the president."

Governor States Attitude

The governor, who drew some praise from the president on his conduct of state affairs, informs his crowds:

"I will support President Roosevelt in anything he undertakes to do for the people of Kentucky.

"I will fight with him, by him and for him in anything he undertakes to do for the people of Kentucky, and anything he don't do for Kentucky I ain't going to be for anybody—I'm going to be for you."

Both candidates are going at a hectic clip these last few days before the voting Saturday. The Democrats and Republicans are to nominate candidates, in addition of the senate, for Kentucky's nine congressional seats and a few other odd offices.

Nebraska's Governor Seeks To Shatter Tradition

LINCOLN, Neb., Aug. 4. (AP)—A popular Democratic governor seeks to shatter tradition by trying for a third consecutive term in Nebraska's primary election next Tuesday. Just to make it clubby, all five congressmen, four Democrats and a Republican, also are after third term nominations.

Despite the trial of "third term" psychology, the state's primary campaign has been dull and almost bereft of national issues.

Gov. R. L. Cochran, who has done no formal campaigning, bases his third term bid on claims of an economy record in the state which advertises itself as "the white spot of the nation." Most other candidates, including Charles J. Warner, Republican, speaker of the unicameral legislature, have joined Cochran in promises to "keep the white spot white" by no new taxation.

Bryan Influence Seen

Hovering on the edges of the Democratic governorship race, however, is the potent name of Bryan, made famous by "The Great Commoner," William Jennings Bryan.

His brother, Charles W. Bryan, thrice governor himself (not consecutively) is not in the race. But his former secretary, Franz C. Radke, is running and some observers have termed his candidacy a test of Bryan strength. If he runs well, they speculate, Bryan will make the general election fight a three-cornered battle by entering as a petition candidate.

The New Deal is not an open issue in the congressional trials. Most of the Democratic candidates profess friendship and a desire to cooperate with the Roosevelt administration.

District Attorney Refuses To Hand Over Information

HARRISBURG, Pa., Aug. 4 (AP) — District Attorney Carl B. Shelley refused today to hand over to a Pennsylvania house of representatives investigating committee evidence he said he had gathered in support of charges against Governor George H. Earle and 13 associates.

The evidence was intended for a grand jury investigation which the legislature has moved to suspend.

Shelley, coming before the committee in response to two subpoenas —one ordering him to appear, the other demanding his evidence—said he could not comply because of an order by Judge Paul N. Schaeffer impounding the evidence.

Trustees Will Meet Friday

Applications by patrons for transfers of pupils to other school districts, of which 127 have been filed, will be considered at the monthly meeting of the county board of school trustees in the courthouse here at 1:30 p. m. Friday.

Transfers are not made until they have been approved by the county board, according to a ruling from the attorney general's office.

Earl Davis of Acuff, is president of the board. Other members include Bailey Guess of Idalou, J. H. Brewer of Slaton, D. B. Williams of Frenship and W. O. Sheeley of Lubbock.

Only protest filed has been by Estacado for transfer of pupils of all grades to Lorenzo. The board will consider all protests before making its decisions.

Corn Referendum Is Being Arranged

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4. (AP)—Federal farm officials made tentative arrangements today for a referendum in the corn belt about Sept. 3 on a proposal to invoke marketing quotas.

Private forecasts of a corn crop in excess of 2,800,000,000 bushels indicated, officials said, that an election would be necessary to determine whether growers want to use quotas to keep surplus corn off the market.

The new arm act directs that a referendum be held when the indicated supply is 17.7 per cent or more above normal domestic and export needs.

The surplus from last year's crop has been forecast at between 350,000,000 and 400,000,000 bushels. With a new crop of 2,500,000,000 bushels, the supply would be large enough to make a referendum mandatory.

Final decision on an election must be made by August 15 on the basis of a forecast on this year's crop next Wednesday by the federal crop reporting board.

The election would be held in Illinois and Iowa and in the major corn producing counties of Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska, South Dakota, Indiana, Ohio, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota and Kentucky.

Parks Director Thanks You But He Doesn't Need Any More Magazines—Just Now

John W. Wilson, supervisor of the summer parks recreation project, is very grateful, thank you, but he doesn't need any more magazines.

Earlier this week, at Wilson's request, The Evening Journal's "Plainsman" mentioned that magazines would be welcome for distribution among participants in the parks program.

Since then, said Wilson, his biggest job has been hauling magazines. This morning, for example, he filled and emptied the back end of his car three times and another full load was to be secured.

The supply thus obtained, he added, has insured all the reading material which can be used during the remaining few weeks of operation of the project.

Dr. Danforth Invited To Attend Legion Installation Program

Dr. W. J. Danforth of Fort Worth, state commander of the American Legion, has been invited to officiate at installation ceremonies for new officers of Allen Bros. post of the Legion here Monday night, according to information given this morning by A. C. Jackson, new commander.

Dr. Danforth had advised, he added, he will attend "if possible," but no further word has been received from him. George W. Brewer, abstracting company operator, will head the slate of new officers as post commander.

Jackson also said that a special committee will be named to arrange a special program on the occasion. Jim Willson of Floydada, district commander who was invited to attend, advised that he previously had accepted an invitation to officiate at installation ceremonies for the Legion post at Olton.

One of the events on the approaching program will be reports by Robert J. Allen, W. O. Daniels and M. E. Ware concerning the New Mexico department convention which they are attending. They were present there to repay some of the good will visits by New Mexico Legion members to the Lubbock posts at various times during the past year.

Bulletin Cites Dixie's Trend

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4—The National Geographic society noted today a distinct trend toward industrialization of the farming South.

In a statistical bulletin on the 13 states which President Roosevelt described as the nation's "No. 1 economic problem," the society said manufactured products in Texas already exceeded farm products in value.

Operate More Spindles

"Cotton mills in the South operate three times as many spindles as New England factories," it said. "The South has few tobacco factories, but they are large, and the region turns out over 80 per cent of the cigars and cigarettes."

Although agriculture still is the South's biggest business, the bulletin declared, there are many other sources of income—forests, fisheries, petroleum, helium, sulphur, and zinc.

Commerce Booming

"Commerce, booming along the Gulf, has given southern ports a larger share of export shipping than to any other American harbors except New York's," the society said.

The bulletin cited a long list of statistics on Southern states:

With a fourth of the country's land, the south produces 93 per cent of the peanuts, 80 per cent of the rice, 95.7 per cent of the grapefruit, and 100 per cent of the sugarcane.

The South's per capita wealth is about 60 per cent of the national average.

London Girl Is Grabbed From Perch; Threatened Suicide

LONDON, Aug. 4 (AP)—Seventeen-year-old Emily Arkwell gave policemen and firemen some anxious moments yesterday as she emulated John Warde, spectacular New York suicide, and defied attempts to rescue her from a ledge 50 feet above the ground.

Clad in a nightgown, the inmate of the East Croydon Moral Welfare home climbed from her room to the ledge and threatened to jump if anyone went near her.

But unlike the young New Yorker who plunged to his death from a 17-story ledge after 11 hours, the rescue attempts succeeded. While the girl's attention was distracted from below, watchers reached out a window and seized her wrists.

Plans for the drive to obtain for Lubbock the proposed government hospital for veterans were discussed

Sandwiches were served.

Wild Monkeys Reported Roaming Cattle Country In California

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Aug. 4 (AP)—A report that wild monkeys are roaming the cattle country east of San Diego caused some consternation today among ranchers and interested zoologists and naturalists here.

Luke F. Pace, an employe at the naval air station, said he shot the mother of a band which included a full-grown pair and "three or four young," when she raided the chicken yard at his ranch. He exhibited a monkey's arm and hand as proof.

Other ranchers reported they had seen the monkeys, and claimed they killed chickens, frightened children and purloined loose articles left around ranch houses.

Mrs. Belle Benchley, manager of the San Diego zoo, expressed the opinion someone had turned their pet monkeys loose and they had multiplied.

School Plan Is To Be Started

Part-time work in several business fields have been arranged for this fall for eligible boys and girls in Lubbock Senior High school, said Sam Leifeste, director of the public school-sponsored plan.

The pupils will receive training in the hardware, jewelry, men's furnishings, paint and paper, and furniture businesses, shoes stores and electric shop, it was announced.

All Work Associated

The program, which will begin operation early in September, has been worked out through school officials, allowing student meeting certain qualifications to attend school part-time and work part-time in their chosen profession or trade. The work they do must be associated with their studies at the school.

"Boys and girls who have chosen their vocations will have four hours of employment a day in that vocation and will have opportunities to attend high school four hours a day to receive related training," Leifeste explained.

More Slots Open

"They should be 16 years old or older and have two years in which to remain in the program.

"Approximately 60 boys and girls have indicated a desire to participate in the program. We can use several more who want their training because many of those interviewed need additional credits or are too young for entrance, or, for other reasons, are not eligible.

"Business men are anxious to get young men and women who have good character and personality, initiative and the ability and willingness to work. They are willing to provide opportunity for practical experiences on jobs in their shops and stores.

Survey Started Program

"The work will be so organized that the program will be in full operation by Sept. 12."

Students who wish to learn more of the program with intentions of enrolling if they are eligible should apply to Leifeste in room 111 from 1 to 3 o'clock each afternoon in the Senior High school building.

The program is an outgrowth of a survey taken early in the summer by the school with assistance and cooperation of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce.

MAVERICK IN MEXICO

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 4. (AP) — Maury Maverick, vacationing here with his 17-year-old son, Maury, jr., after his recent defeat in the Texas primaries, ascribed political upsets there to "confusion and fear prevalent throughout the state."

Maverick said he would leave for home "in a day or so."

Dr. John W. Calhoun, president interim of the University of Texas, has accepted an invitation to deliver the August commencement address at Texas Technological college, according to announcement Wednesday.

With his acceptance, major arrangements for the commencement service to be conducted Aug. 24 were completed, said Dr. James M. Gordon, chairman of the executive committee. Clifford B. Jones, chairman of the board of directors, had consented to confer degrees.

Dr. Calhoun became acting president of the university May 31, 1937, after the death of President H. Y. Benedict May 10. Dr. Calhoun had been on the faculty of the university since 1905.

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE

Many of those gnawing, nagging, painful backaches people blame on colds or strains are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.
