Heavy Losses Are Reported In Oklahoma

Hundreds Driven From Homes As Waters Mount

(By The United Press)

TULSA, Sept. 5.—The Arkansas river was slightly above flood stage on a 100-mile stretch in eastern Oklahoma today, but engineers said a serious inundation would be averted unless further rain falls.

The downpours that yesterday choked tributaries, blocked highways and forced farm families from the lowlands had ceased. Showers were predicted, however, and 40 national guardsmen stood in readiness for further rescue work if it becomes necessary.

Small Streams Recede

The river crest was rolling downstream rapidly as small streams began to recede.

Damage from the cloudbursts and floods was estimated tentatively at $600,000. The figure included a $50,000 loss at Cleveland, where the pump station at city lake and a portion of the dam were swept away.

Hundreds of refugees still were quartered at Sapulpa, Bristow and Tulsa. Many spent the night in stalled railway trains. Officials said it would take several days before rail and bus service could be restored to normal.

Caught In Flash Flood

Farm families near Cleveland, 30 miles northwest of Tulsa, were caught in a flash flood when the dam gave way, and many were forced to take refuge in trees and on housetops. It was believed that all had been rescued. The Oklahoma highway patrol last night made an emergency appeal for boats as volunteers using flashlights searched flooded forests and underbrush for the last of the refugees.

Parts o fthe Arkansas river valley had been evacuated. A state of emergency was proclaimed at Tulsa, where the rain gauged 5.02 inches for the 24 hours ending at 6:30 a. m. today.

Sapulpa had a 10-inch rain, Cleveland 6.25 inches, and Bristow

Two Convicts Shot To Death

(By The Associated Press)

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Sept. 5—Bullets today cancelled two more convicts' names from the "wanted" list of Arkansas' wholesale, Labor day prison break.

State patrol headquarters here announced guards from the Cummins prison farm shot to death two of the fugitives in a gunfight in rural southeastern Arkansas, and reported recapture of another felon.

Names Are Given

Patrol Radio Operator Luke Barber said those killed in a battle at a cabin between Winchester and Tillar were James Scott, 21, and Raymond Harrell, 23. He said the man recaptured was B. G. Holtsclaw, 47, a convicted slayer.

This left at large only 11 of the 36 men who broke from the Cummins farm Monday after killing a guard. Four have been shot to death, 21 recaptured.

The Columbia, La., section breathed easier after the release, unharmed, of three high school students kidnaped by six convicts all of whom now are dead or retaken.

A report earlier today told of five or six convicts being surrounded near Watson, and it was believed the two reported killed may have been part of this group. Still another was reported spotted near Natchez, Miss.

Frank Conley, 34, a ringleader, was killed by possemen near Columbia Tuesday a few hours after Frank Gartman, Columbia automobile dealer, was fatally wounded while hunting the desperadoes. Another convict, Bruce Powler, 28, was shot and killed at the Vicksburg, Miss., river bridge yesterday.

Youths Were Kidnaped

Conley and Powler were two of six felons who kidnaped Voncille Williams, 16, Gladys Diamond, 15, and Jerry Harrigill, 17, high school students, Monday and held them captive in the swamps near Column-

Great Powers Are Given To New Premier

Hungarian Troops Occupying Zones In Transylvania

(By The Associated Press)

Abdication of King Carol II to join his red-headed friend, Madame Magda Lupescu, in exile was reported likely in Bucharest government quarters today as the Rumanian monarch bowed to the demand of his new iron-willed premier, Gen. Ion Antonescu, for a virtual dictatorship.

After an all-night conference ending at dawn, King Carol issued a royal decree dissolving parliament and suspending the constitution.

Full Power Granted

With full power yielded to General Antonescu to save the strife-torn kingdom from anarchy—arising from the recent cession of great chunks of Rumanian territory to Soviet Russia and Hungary—the rich little Balkan country for all practical purposes became one more in the growing list of European dictatorships.

Mme. Lupescu, with whom Carol fled into exile in 1925, abandoning his throne, was reported waiting for Carol aboard the royal yacht anchored at Istanbul.

Now in her 40's, the Jewish Mme. Lupescu has frequently been called the "uncrowned queen" of Rumania and has been bitterly opposed by the nation's anti-semitic iron guard and by the army.

Hungarians March In

As Carol was reported on the verge of quitting his kingdom for the second time, Hungary's aged regent, Admiral Nicholas Horthy, rode astride a white horse leading 80,000 troops of Hungarian army of occupation into northern Transylvania—the rich timber region wrested from Rumania under an Axis-supported threat of war.

Mobs of Rumanian peasants in the ceded area, armed with pitchforks and other crude weapons, were reported clashing with Hungarian peasants as a result of the occupation. More than 150 were reported

Camp Site For Nazis Sought

(By The Associated Press)

FORT WORTH, Sept. 5 — "Of course, if we're not liked here, if we're not wanted, we shall seek a location elsewhere for our seamen."

With these words, Capt. Wilhelm Daehne, former master of the scuttled German liner Columbus, replied today to complaints of Fort Worth business men who have objected strenuously to the establishment of a camp for the Nazi crew of 450 in this area.

Sites Are Inspected

Capt. Daehne was to start out this afternoon to look over the abandoned Civilian Conservation corps camp at Lake Worth, another CCC camp near Cleburne, and several sites near Dallas.

If no suitable location is found in this area, or if objections of Fort Worth residents continue, the Nazi captain and his companion N. D. Collaer, immigration service inspector of the El Paso area, will carry their search into West Texas.

Sites at Albuquerque, N. M., and Phoenix, Ariz., also will be inspected.

Chamber of commerce directors had authorized a resolution of "complete opposition" to the establishment of the camp "anywhere in this vicinity."

British Chief Claims Hitler Angry At U. S.

Churchill Still Confident Reich Will Collapse

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Sept. 5.—Winston Churchill declared to his parliament today that the British-American exchange of destroyers and defense bases will enable the United States "to take danger by the throat whilst it is still hundreds of miles away"—but he warned the British to remember that America is not in the war.

The prime minister, speaking for a time during a general London air raid alarm, declared, however, that Hitler "no doubt will pay the U. S. out if he ever gets the chance."

Will Pass Away

Nevertheless, he expressed his boundless confidence that the empire of the third reich "will pass away swiftly—perhaps more swiftly—than did Napoleon's army, although, of course, without any of its glitter and glory."

Churchill told the House of Commons that no one must read into the British-American agreement anything more than is on its face, and he stressed that it did not affect "in the slightest degree the non-belligerency of the United States."

Turning to the battle of England, even while it raged above the capital itself, the prime minister declared the Germans had used a greater proportion of their air strength already than the British; warned of heavier fighting to come, and predicted:

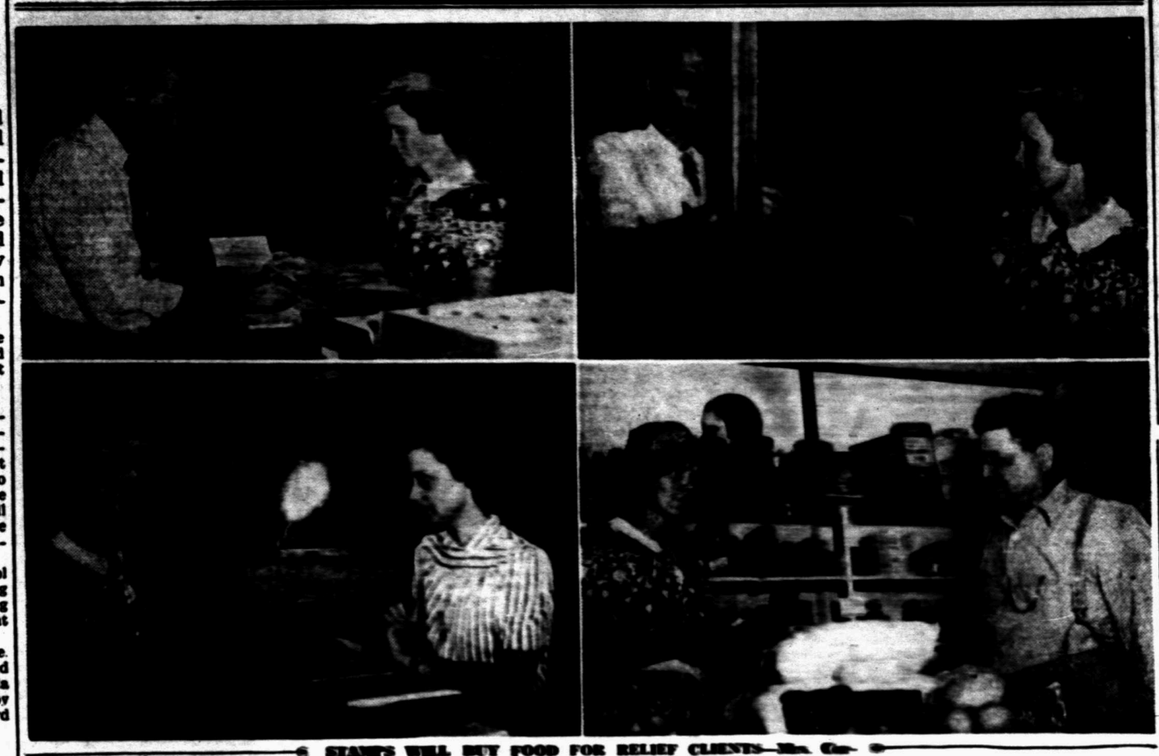

Nation Grim And Gay

"The whole nation will stand up to it, grim and gay."

While he was speaking the deep bleat of the London sirens sounded the "all clear."

British crews already are taking over the first of the 50 over-age American destroyers which are being transferred to Britain in exchange for western hemisphere defense bases in a deal announced

STAMPS WILL BUY FOOD FOR RELIEF CLIENTS—Mrs. Carmen M. Nauil, a widow with two children, a boy 5 and a girl 3, went to the office of the Surplus Marketing administration at 1308½ Avenue G Wednesday and discovered that by purchasing food stamps she could buy 50 per cent more groceries with them. Mrs. Nauil, who resides at 509 Avenue N, is a practical nurse in the WPA housekeeping aid project and earns approximately $60.00 a month. She learns from L. M. Hopkins, accountant, how much [illegible] purchasing 50c in orange food stamps she gets $7.50 [illegible] She may buy any food she desires with the orange stamps. With her blue stamps she may buy only food designated as surplus commodities such as corn meal, eggs, beans, flour, dried fruits and so on. Upper right photo W. H. McKelvy issuing officer of the administration here, takes Mrs. Nauil's money and issues her a book of stamps. Bottom left, she is certifying the stamps and the purchase before Audry Waddell, senior clerk. Lower right, Mrs. Nauil is using her stamps at her grocer's and is handing the stamps to A. W. Brewer, clerk in the store at 1411 Seventh street. Brewer tears out the orange stamps for her general food purchases and the blue stamps in the rear of the book for the surplus commodities mentioned above. The stamps are just like money to the storekeeper. The plan gives the patron on relief 50 per cent more food than he had been getting for the same money; permits the grocer to sell 50 per cent more food to a relief worker than he otherwise would, and provides a systematic way of moving surplus foods from producer to consumer. Laughing Cop Meets Death

(By The United Press)

CHICAGO, Sept. 5 — Threats didn't frighten Detective Anthony J. Gardner—nor bullets, nor guns nor the dark-haired wife who said he had been cuffing her around for a year.

He just stood in the middle of the bedroom and laughed when Helen Gardner threatened him with violence if he continued to "run around" with other women and beat her.

Punched Her Chin

He just laughed and punched her chin.

"Some day I'm going to let you have it!" This is from the story she sobbed to Police Capt. John Ryan today.

"Yes you will." Gardner jeered—and laughed his bold belly-laugh at the hysterical woman.

She pulled Gardner's police revolver off the chair and the detective still laughed as he tussled with her.

His Last Laugh

"He laughed at me when the blue flame came," Mrs. Gardner told police. Then, abruptly, he stopped laughing and slumped to the floor. Mrs. Gardner ran for a doctor and a priest. Their daughter, Jean, 20, was awakened and found her father trying to rise.

"I think I'm dying," he told her. The priest administered last rites. Gardner died. Mrs. Gardner slipped a black topcoat over her pink nightgown and went weeping with police to the station.

Walker Is Nominated To Succeed Farley

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5. (AP)—Frank C. Walker of New York City and Scranton, Pa., 54-year-old lawyer and theater owner, was nominated by President Roosevelt today to be postmaster general to succeed James A. Farley, resigned.

Walker is an old friend of the president's and is a former head of the national emergency council.

He also served as treasurer of the Democratic national committee in the early days of the first Roosevelt term.

Tempers Flare In Debate On Draft

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5 — With the spectacle of a hard-hitting fist-fight on the floor to testify to the shortness of some tempers, the House began its final drive today for a decision on the Burke-Wadsworth compulsory military training bill.

The chamber settled down to consider the measure section by section and to act on the scores of pending amendments. The vote on conscription was expected tomorrow night or Saturday.

Punches Are Thrown

Tense feelings burst into the open last night when the epithet "traitor" was spoken and the House beheld Rep. Vincent (D-Ky) and Rep. Sweeney (D-O) throwing punches at each other in the well of the chamber.

The fight followed a speech by Sweeney, who is 55, in which he assailed conscription and accused President Roosevelt of seeking to embroil the United States in war.

In the course of the speech, Sweeney mentioned that the slogan dur-

DIES AT AMARILLO

AMARILLO, Sept. 5 (AP) — Rep. Martin Dies of Orange, chairman of the House committee investigating un-American activities, will speak at Amarillo municipal auditorium tomorrow afternoon and night.

Boosters Will Get Costumes

Spanish costumes will be the official garb of members of Lubbock goodwill delegations when they visit all towns of the area this month to publicize the Panhandle-South Plains fair of Sept. 30-Oct. 5, members of the goodwill committee of the chamber of commerce decided at a special meeting this morning.

The costumes, to be supplied by the fair association without cost to the goodwill members, will be intended to draw particular attention to the fact that the featured attraction at the fair this year will be the Coronado Cavalcade, to be presented each night in front of the grandstand.

Details Announced

Gene and Wiley, radio and stage stars featured on numerous KFYO programs, will make all the trips.

Dates of the trips, the directions of their routing and the co-chairmen of each will be: Tuesday, Sept. 24, southwest and south, Hop Halsell and Ray Farmer; Sept. 19, east and northeast, George Dale and Ralph Trolinger; Tuesday Sept. 24, southwest to Hobbs, E. C. Henley and Ed Allen; and Sept. 26, northwest to Clovis, Chas. A. Still and J. D. Jenkins.

Word already has been received from Hobbs that members of the delegations will be guests at a barbecue, the committee was informed.

Members of the committee, additional to those already mentioned, are Leslie S. Young, E. Bert Collard, jr., Earl Collins, Johnny Gates, Achilles Corcanges, George Carter, B. E. Rushing, jr., Abe Kelner, R. C. Hewitt, Vaughn Wilson, S. V.

Bargain Rates To Be Offered

Tickets will be sold at bargain rates in advance of the opening of the Panhandle-South Plains fair Sept. 30-Oct. 5 as result of a plan approved by directors of the fair association at a special meeting Wednesday afternoon.

The tickets will be offered up to and including Sept. 28 in strips of four for $1, each ticket being good for admission to the grounds at any time during the fair, according to C. E. Maedgen, association president. Gate admission for those who fail to buy them will be the usual charge of 50 cents.

Club To Benefit

Sales of the strip tickets, Maedgen announced, will be conducted by Lubbock Boys Club, inc., an organization sponsored by service luncheon clubs of the city. The boys' club will receive 10 per cent of the proceeds.

Dr. Marshall Harvey president of Boys Club, inc., announced that members of the ticket sales committee are Syrian E. Marbut, chairman of Optimist club, Dr. M. M. Ewing of American Business club, John Hansen of Kiwanis club, Ray Farmer of Rotary club and Harry Morris of Lions club.

Marbut said that the ticket sales campaign probably will be started next week. He will call a meeting of

Nitroglycerin Plant Destroyed By Blast

ELECTRA, Sept. 5 (AP)—A nitroglycerin plant 15 miles from here was wrecked this morning by an explosion.

The blast was heard 40 miles away.

Three men who were mixing explosive fluids escaped injury by running when fire broke out nearby. They were 300 feet from the plant when the blast went off. Debris was blown over an area of a mile.

Felt Hat Day Will Be Observed Here

With fall in the atmosphere and footballs already being tossed to and fro, straw hats are being given the official "scuff" in Lubbock and felt hats will be the vogue after Friday. Hat Friday has been designated as official Felt Hat day in Lubbock.

Lubbock merchants are cooperating in the event and have made purchases of fall hats in sufficient quantities to give the patron a full selection from which to choose his heavier head covering.

Straw hats will be good for one thing at least. You can take your wife and your old straw kadie to the Broadway theater and you'll only have to pay for one ticket, the hat being good for the other one. The Mystery Sea Raider is the screen attraction.

Merchants cooperating in the official Felt Hat day are: Stephens' Dry Goods, Popular Price Store, Sears Roebuck & Co., Rumphill-Wells Co., Hanna-Pape Co., Walton's Men's Store, Wolfmis Clothiers, Montgomery Ward & Co., J. C. Penney Co., and Levine's.

House Passes Defense Bill

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5 — The House gave its approval today to a compromise version of a bill carrying almost $5,250,000,000 to provide equipment for an army of 2,000,000 men, start work on the "two ocean" navy and buy 14,394 airplanes for the army and navy.

The measure, which must go back to the Senate for approval of House changes before it is ready for President Roosevelt's signature, would boost the session's appropriations and commitments for defense well past the $15,000,000,000 mark.

Provision Eliminated

Before completing its action, the House agreed to elimination of a provision which would have repealed a section of the recently-enacted navy "speed up" bill empowering the secretary of the navy to commandeer industrial plants under certain conditions.

Rep. Woodrum (D-Va) explained that it was deemed advisable to let the commandeering authority stand because the whole question would be settled under the pending conscription bill.

In its action today, the House also approved a $220,109,030 increase for new flying fields and housing for army, navy and national guard personnel and national defense workers.

Draft Of Industry Urged By Wallace

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Sept. 5 (U.P.)—Henry A. Wallace today branded as slackers manufacturers who refuse to cooperate with the government in national defense and said the government should have the right to conscript industry as readily as men.

He challenged Republican party leaders to make a campaign issue of conscription of industry and said the Democratic administration does not propose to "raise another crop" of millionaires on defense funds.

Guardsmen To Get A Refund

Arrangement whereby tuition fees of national guardsmen will be refunded should they be called for duty any time before Jan. 1 was announced this morning at Texas Technological college by President Clifford B. Jones.

On Jan. 1, there would be only 25 days remaining of the fall semester.

Because of uncertainty as to whether they might be called, the question of whether their fees would be refunded has been of interest to many of college age who are members of the guard.

Transcripts Are Filed

Uncertain world conditions apparently have had no effect on number of high school graduates planning to attend Texas Tech this fall. Registrar W. P. Clement said this morning 1,012 high school transcripts had been filed in his office and that number was about the same as on the same date last year. He said 352 college transcripts had been filed for students wishing to transfer to Texas Tech.

Capt. Frank A. Pettit, commander of the Tech senior engineering unit of the Reserve Officers Training corps, said between 300 and 350 students are expected in the ROTC unit this fall. Number last fall was 279.

Lubbock Man's Body Hanging From Pole

Body of Russell Bledsoe, about 27, lineman for Texas-New Mexico Utilities company, still was suspended by his safety belt from the top of a pole in the rear of 2317 Twenty-ninth street when The Evening Journal went to press this afternoon more than an hour after he had come in contact with a 2300-volt power line.

It had not been determined at that time whether he was dead or alive. He was unconscious.

Resuscitation work was going on at the top of the pole, being administered by W. S. Pool. City firemen and an ambulance waited on the ground beneath. Fire Chief W. E. Twitty explained it was dangerous to do that work on the ground. He said that Bledsoe's body is so highly charged with electricity that if he came in contact with the ground and still is alive, it might stop his heart action.

Many hundreds of people were at the scene. Firemen at the spot were Mose Hood, Scott Hollingsworth and John Nugent. The waiting ambulance was that of Rix funeral home.

H. L. Allen, vice president of the utilities company, said that Bledsoe still was limber, and that "as long as he is limber, there still is hope."

Bledsoe's place of residence is listed in the city directory as being at 1640 Main street.

Girl Kills Young Brother To See What The Cops Would Do

(By The United Press)

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., Sept. 5.—Mary Wolf, 17, told police today that she shot her nine-year-old brother to death "to see what would happen to me."

The girl, a high school graduate, was charged with first degree murder after she confessed that, "on a sudden impulse," she fired a .22-caliber rifle bullet into the boy's head as he slept. The victim, Frederick Wolf, died instantly.

Mr. and Mrs. George Wolf, the parents, told police that Mary had been "seeing too many movies and reading too many detective stories."

Assistant District Attorney Salem Mansour, who took the girl's statement, said she was seized with a "sudden impulse" to see what the police would do if she shot her brother.

She used a rifle which she had borrowed for target practice. The first time she pulled the trigger, Mansour said she told him, the weapon missed fire.

She went down stairs for another bullet, returned to her

Destruction Of British Ships Claimed

Civilians Are Bomb Victims

(By The Associated Press)

BERLIN, Sept. 5—Six British destroyers have been sunk recently by U-boat and torpedo boat flotillas, the high command said today, as Adolf Hitler's Volkischer Beobachter, bellwether of the German press, declared Britain's acquisition of 50 United States destroyers might be used "only to cover the eventual glorious retreat" to America.

The high rate of destruction of Britain's smaller warships was emphasized by the high command as German planes striking back at the British whose bombs killed a score of persons in raids last night on Berlin and other parts of Germany, were reported centering day attacks on airports in the suburbs of London.

200 Or More Available

(Britain has announced the loss of 30 destroyers in the war, but with replacements and the addition of the 50 destroyers she acquired from the United States is believed by observers to have 200 or more available).

The high command's communique said "numerous fires" were started at Britain's ports, air bases and industrial centers—Liverpool, Swansea, Bristol, Weymouth, Poole, Chatham, Tilbury, Great Yarmouth and Hull—in night raids, while an airplane motor factory at Rochester, a plane factory at Weybridge, munitions dumps and hangars were hit in day raids.

Good weather, the first reported here in weeks, permitted numerous German battle planes to resume attack this morning.

Eighteen civilians were killed by a British bomb in a northern German town last night, the high command announced, and two men were killed in a two-hour raid on the Berlin area.

Attack Founders

The command asserted the British attack on the capital "foundered" in face of strong defenses.

The 18 German civilians were killed when a bomb dropped on workers quarters while the victims were outside a shelter, the high command reported.

In the Berlin raid, bombs damaged an electrical plant and warehouse where army equipment was stored.

A policeman was killed when a bomb dropped in the famous Tiergarten park in Berlin, and another man was killed by a bomb which damaged apartment houses in a community south of the city.

At the electrical works in the suburb of Spandau, nine miles west of the heart of Berlin, two bombs struck without "causing extensive damage," an official announcement said.

Authorized sources declared only two British planes penetrated the Berlin defenses, and one of these was shot down outside the city.

Most Turned Back

Most of the British raiders which entered Germany were turned back for the second successive night, they said.

These sources asserted the British succeeded, however, in dropping incendiary bombs on various parts of the reich.

Adolf Hitler's sportpalast address yesterday in which he reiterated his determination to crush Britain and threatened to "erase" English cities to avenge the British night raids absorbed attention of all Germans.

The German press took up his cry of retaliation for night bombings.

Authorized circles said 54 British planes were shot down in yesterday's action over southern England, while 15 German planes failed to return.

Negro Youths In Dixie Eager To Join Armed Forces Of U. S.

BY ALLEN BONNER
United Press Staff Correspondent

COLUMBIA, S. C., Sept. 5. — It doesn't take much flag-waving to get negro boys from Southern cotton patches to answer the nation's call to the colors.

Sergt. Chester R. Vaughan, veteran recruiting officer with more than 28 years service, said he could enlist a regiment of negroes within a month if he were assigned that many vacancies.

"It's my opinion that almost half the negro boys you meet on the street would like to be in the army," Vaughan said. "From 10 to 15 a day come into the office here and try to enlist."

What's more, asserted the sergeant, 90 per cent of the negroes who enlist will stay in the army and make it their career.

Negro's Patriotism High

"They like the brass buttons, the good clothes and food, the regular pay and clean quarters," Sergt. Vaughan said. "And I've found that after a negro has served one or two terms in the army he is much more patriotic than a white man.

"On many of the application slips filled out by negro recruits lately the reason 'because Uncle Sam needs me' and 'to defend my country' is revealed as prompting them to join the service."

Flat feet and the weight requirements keep as many negroes out of the service as anything else.

Vaughan believes negroes are better suited for combat units than any other place in the army.

"Some of the best truck drivers I've ever seen have been negro soldiers," he said. "A good negro driver is hard to beat. He is strong enough to handle his truck and generally handles it very well."

Experts At Drill

Sergt. William R. Crandell who works with Vaughan in the recruiting office, pointed out that a well-drilled unit of negro soldiers on a parade is hard to beat.

"They've got a rhythm, a timing that a white company will have a hard time bettering," Crandell said. "I've seen several negro groups on the parade field and you can believe me when I say they put on a snappy show.

"They whip through intricate marching maneuvers like they were mechanical robots."

Most of the negroes who seek to enlist are between 20 and 25 years old, although occasionally a white-headed man or even a barefooted, wide-eyed youngster will climb the stairs looking for "de place to join the armee."

Although many try to join up, few of those who enlist want foreign service.

"The negro boys are plenty enthusiastic about getting in the army, but they want to stay in their own backyard," Vaughan said.

Compressed Air Gun Which Shoots 10,000 Times A Minute Now Is Being Perfected

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 5. (AP) — A compressed air gun which the inventors say will shoot 10,000 times a minute—and possibly many more—was demonstrated with the firing of half-inch ball bearings.

At 100 feet distance, the missiles easily pierced airplane armor plate and cut a 2-inch oak plank in two.

The gun is practically soundless. It emitted only a gentle hissing noise. The steel balls shot out so quickly that they struck brilliant sparks from each other at the targets.

Muzzle Was Colder

The gun muzzle was colder after the firing than before.

In the test, instrument dials indicated the air pressure was 150 pounds a square inch. The inventors said 2,000 pounds pressure would be feasible.

They think of it as an anti-aircraft weapon that would fire between 10,000 and 20,000 shots a minute, and also a naval and army gun.

The inventors are William B. Hale and Durand Beam, associated with Roger J. Adams, Hollywood engineering research technician.

"Anyone who can spray planes with a hose could knock down a diving plane with this gun," Hale said. "Trying to hit a plane with current anti-aircraft guns is like trying to shoot a duck on the wing with a cannon."

The bale was ginned free by the Co-Op gin.

World-Wide Repercussions From British-American Trade Expected

New Evidence That America Is Determined British Must Win

BY EDWARD E. BOMAR
Associated Press Staff Writer

The day's news hints world-wide repercussions from the trade of destroyers for naval bases, far beyond the prospective immediate effects on American and British defenses.

Warring and neutral capitals inevitably accept the deal as fresh evidence that the United States is determined at all costs that Britain must not lose.

From this interpretation flow effects on Europe, the far east, Latin America and elsewhere which already are making their appearance.

Decision Influenced

In his threat to "erase" Britain's cities by night bombing, Adolf Hitler refrained from any mention of his foe's latest reinforcements, but the development might well have influenced the decision whether to attempt invasion.

Logically, time now is even more on Britain's side. Under the terms of official announcements, the first of the fleet of 50 urgently needed warships will be in British hands in a few days; and the period of most favorable weather for air or sea offensives is fast nearing an end.

In the far east, a Hongkong dispatch reports without confirmation that a Japanese ultimatum to Indo-China has been withdrawn for the time being.

Giving Anxious Study

Linked or not with the British-American fait accompli, the report suggests that Tokyo is giving some anxious study to the documents in the case in the light of the Japanese campaign to set up by force a new order in Asia.

Washington officials view the new arrangement with Great Britain as lessening the danger that the United States fleet may have to be speeded to the Atlantic in an emergency and thus remove from the Pacific a restraining influence on Japanese expansionist tendencies.

In Latin America, the acquisition of United States air and sea bases on and adjacent to the southern continent should remove some of the doubts in evidence at the recent Havana inter-American conference as to the effectiveness of joint hemisphere defense.

Frontiers Extended

The aerial frontiers of the principal partner in that scheme have now, in effect, been extended to the Amazon. The base to be set up in British Guiana will put the United States army and navy warplanes in a position to intercept quickly any future invasion by way of the 1,600-mile short line from Africa to Brazil. The air distance to the southern continent's easternmost bulge is shorter from Georgetown, in British Guiana, than from Dakar, jumping off place for planes flying from Africa to South America.

Elsewhere the cooperation between Washington and London appears likely to encourage scattered French colonies to support the de Gaulle regime rather than the Vichy government.

The latest American aid to Britain certainly can not be without effect on such distant parts of the world as Russia, Turkey and India, where evidences of empire strength or weakness are of profound importance.

In Moscow and Istanbul, as well as Tokyo, it is safe to assume that the jubilation in London is being carefully balanced against the official interpretation of the Axis that the tender of sites for bases involves a loss of John Bull's dignity, prestige and naval power and means that the British empire is breaking up.

Some of the lines surveyed by George Washington still stand.

Rush Of Acid Into Stomach During Time Of Great Worry Reported By Doctors

BY HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Sept. 5—Discovery of a rush of acid into the stomach during intense worry was reported today to the American Psychological association.

Two New York physicians said they found this in 11 persons with stomach ulcers, and in eight others with burning sensations in the stomach. The worry periods apparently were the direct cause of the ulcers and indigestion.

The report was made by Drs. Bela Mittelmann, of New York post graduate hospital, and Harold G. Wolff, of Cornell university medical school.

The acid is hydrochloric, the normal digestive juice. The amount sometimes more than doubled during the worrying.

The physicians were able to measure the acid changes by fine rubber tubes running down, via the nose, into the stomach while the patients talked about their troubles.

Dawson Given Sears Award

Edwin L. Dawson, high ranking agricultural student at Texas Technological college last session, was announced Wednesday by Ray L. Chappelle, head professor of agricultural education, as the winner of the sophomore scholarship given by Sears, Roebuck & Co.

Dawson, whose home is at Tulia, was graduated from Tulia High school in 1939 and was highest ranking student in his class. He won more honors in Tulia High school than any student ever had won previously

Funds Received

In the fall semester at Tech last year he was the highest ranking freshman student in a class of 233 students and was the highest ranking Sears, Roebuck & Co. scholarship holder in any class in the agricultural division. He held a freshman scholarship. He also had the third highest scholastic rating among the 511 students in the division. In the spring semester he again was the first ranking freshman and was fourth ranking student in the division.

He will receive a $200 scholarship, the only sophomore scholarship to be awarded. It will be effective during the session opening this month.

It also was announced Wednesday that Jimmy Sprawls of Cisco, who had been announced as one of 20 freshman scholarship winners for next session, would be unable to accept and that Walter Patrick of Quitaque had been chosen for the $100 award.

Check for $2,200 to pay for the freshman and sophomore scholarships was received at the college recently from the company and $600 also will be received for a graduate fellowship, which has been awarded to J. R. Bertrand.

Marriage Of Dorris Kirk And Herschel Maxey To Take Place September 14

Date Is Made Known At Tea

To announce the approaching marriage of her daughter, Dorris, to Herschel Maxey, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Maxey of 2123 Thirteenth street, Mrs. Dorrell B. Kirk is entertaining with a tea at their home in Spearman this afternoon between 4 and 6 o'clock. Invitations have been issued to 100 guests.

In the receiving line will be the hostess, the honoree, Mrs. Delon Kirk and Mrs. Raymond Kirk, all of Spearman. Members of the house party are Mrs. Ivy Duncan and Mrs. C. W. Stowell of Pampa and Miss Catherine Spencer of Dumas.

A blue and white motif is being carried out in appointments.

September 14 has been selected as the wedding date for the young couple, popular members of South Plains and Panhandle society. Miss Kirk was graduated in June from Texas Technological college where she was a member of the D. P. D. social club. She has visited here several times this summer.

Mr. Maxey is a former student at Tech college and of the University of Texas. He is a contractor, associated with his father.

Pantel-Sanders Wedding Takes Place At Church

The marriage of Miss Dorothy Sanders, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Sanders of 2119 Fifth street, to Leslie Pantel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Pantel, 2019 Main street, took place Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock at St. Elizabeth's Catholic church. Rev. Fr. Jerome Donegan performed the ceremony.

The bride wore a navy wool redingote coat with light blue silk frock and navy and wine accessories. Her corsage was of American Beauty roses. For "something old" she wore a gold pin that belonged to her grandmother.

Miss Ernestine Sanders, sister of the bride, wore a wine velvet dress with black accessories and a corsage of Talisman roses.

Ernest Pantel, jr., served as best man.

A dinner was served at the home of the bride's parents following the service. Guests were Mrs. Ernest Pantel, mother of the bridegroom, Miss Era Williams, Mrs. Oscar Glascock of Slaton, Miss Ruby Walker and Jimmy Pantel.

The couple will be at home in Lubbock.

Mrs. Pantel is a graduate of Lubbock High school.

Jewell Jennings To Be Bride Of Lt. Mueller

LEVELLAND, Sept. 5 (Special)—The approaching marriage of Miss Jewell Jennings, daughter of Mrs. T. W. Jennings, to Lieut. Carl B. Mueller of Austin was announced Wednesday night when the bride-elect's mother entertained with a "mystery yarn" party at their home. Mrs. Grace Stephens was assistant hostess.

After a series of games, guests were directed to the dining room where a red mystery chest centered the table. The chest was placed on a blue glass reflector that resembled water and deep blue candles flanked the sides.

Miss Bettye Bryan opened the chest to reveal two ivory hearts engraved in gold with the names of the betrothed couple.

Punch was served from an antique cutglass bowl placed on one end of the table.

Guests were Misses Bryan, Hazel Phelps, Muriel Peden, Ruth Maples, Ruth Stevenson, Marie Bettser, Eveland Bettser, Mildred Baird, Merldine Dunken, Eva Spitler, Pauline Stevens, Ila Mae Brooks, Addie Oden; Mesdames Dunken, Jimmie Bolton, Orion Wood, L. B. Gunn, Littlefield and Misses Alma Byres and Lorene Newsom of Littlefield and Miss Martha Marie Lane of Sudan.

Mrs. Jane Bell Honored With Surprise Party

Mrs. Jane Bell was surprised with a party and shower given Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. H. B. Williams, 1614-B Sixth street. After several games were played, refreshments were served to Mesdames D. R. Davis, Bill Thompson, Anabell Hopson, J. H. Hunter, Roy McGouirk, Loucille Bessent, E. W. Stephens, H. B. Hunter, Levoyd Stephens, David Cumming, S. E. Bell, Ben Cumming, B. L. Oats, Howard Clay, Misses Opal Holcomb, Leta Fern Denton. Gifts were sent by Mesdames B. L. Pate, jr., of Oklahoma City and Cliff Cawtron.

Mrs. Ben Gaither and Miss Ladora Williams were assistant hostesses.

TWO SUITABLES—Campus jumper, campus suit—the two together are almost a complete college wardrobe. The velveteen jumper teams with tailored shirts for classroom wear, with frilly blouses for dates. The suit combines bright plaid with natural-color camel's hair.

Beatrice Tapp Is Married To E. B. Green, Jr., Today

The marriage of Miss Beatrice Tapp of Lubbock daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Tapp of Brownfield, and E. B. Green, jr. son of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Green, 2110 Seventeenth street, took place at 10 o'clock this morning at the home of the bridegroom's brother, J. Lawrence Green, and Mrs. Green, 2009 Twenty-sixth street.

Mrs. Hestand Havens sang "I Love You Truly" and Douglas Hardy, violinist, played the traditional wedding marches and as the vows were said offered "The End of a Perfect Day."

Floor baskets of tube roses and gladioli were placed at either side of the fireplace before which the bridal party were grouped. Delicate pink candles, burning in crystal holders were placed on the mantel.

John T. Smith of San Angelo, formerly of the Broadway Church of Christ, read the single ring ceremony.

Mrs. L. L. Kuykendall, the bride's sister, served as matron of honor and Mr. Green attended his brother as best man.

Wears Navy Suit

The bride wore a navy alpaca suit made with fitted jacket and French blue trim. Her accessories were in navy and she wore a corsage of blue carnations and pink rosebuds and for "something old" she chose a pearl necklace that belonged to Mrs. Lawrence Green.

Mrs. Kuykendall wore a brown tailored alpaca suit with white blouse and brown accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations and Talisman rosebuds.

At a reception that followed the ceremony Mrs. John T. Smith poured coffee from a table covered with lace and centered with an arrangement of pink rosebuds.

Later in the morning the couple left for Evergreen Valley near Montezuma, N. M. and upon their return will live at 2313 Twenty-eighth street. For travel the bride will wear a gray-blue tailored suit with navy accessories and striped turban.

Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Tapp, Mr. and Mrs. Green, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Hunt of Littlefield, Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Green, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Ohnemus, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cooper, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Tubbs, Mrs. Baker of Tennessee, Mrs. Clinton Casstevens, Neal Purdy, Clifford McKee, Homer Tapp of Brownfield and Jean Katherine Kuykendall.

The bride is a graduate of Lubbock High school and Mr. Green is a graduate of L. H. S. and a former student at Texas Technological college where he was a member of Los Camaradas social club. He has been employed at Radford Wholesale Grocery company for eight years. Mrs. Green has been employed at John Halsey Drug store for four and one-half years.

Mrs. Cox Is Hostess To Sew-On Needle Club

Sew-On Needle club members met Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. Morris Cox, 2212 Twenty-fourth street. New officers were elected as follows: president, Mrs. Grady Davis; secretary, Mrs. Ben Jenkins; social chairman, Mrs. Homer Hunt; reporter, Mrs. John D. Haygood.

Other members attending were Mesdames M. S. Craig, W. I. Pittman, Eugene Knox, J. V. Jones, Preston E. Smith and Milton Kirksey. Mrs. Gordon Deering was a guest. The next meeting will be Sept. 18 with Mrs. Craig.

Four-Year-Old Is Honor Guest On Wednesday

Linda Gaye Richards, 4, was honored when her mother, Mrs. E. L. Richards, 1917 Twenty-second street, entertained Wednesday afternoon. The occasion marked her birthday.

Guests were Meredith Malone, Patsy Wright, Bobby Jack Hill, Carol Crisler, Miles and Ann Bondurant, Stephen Allen, Patricia Christianson, Pauline Winslow, Stanley Sullivan and Martha Jane LaRoe; Mesdames Ray Livesay, Earl Bullock and J. E. Sullivan.

Novelty Party Held By Club

Outstanding in the rush week events being given for Sub-Deb club and rushes was the carnival party at the country home of Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Peterman Wednesday night. Hostesses were Barbara Hale, Darlene Newton, Anne Birkman, Wynelle Boyd, Jane Hess, Kathleen Moore, Betty Cross, Wanda Ruth Stiles, Grace Marian Griffith and Marie Peterman.

Guests were greeted by small boys who served as "barkers." They were told to "come over" for games of bingo, golf and a "hit Hitler" game arranged by Wanda Ruth. In the background groommen led ponies along a bridal path and the traditional fortune teller, "Madame Ghazonga," presided at a booth.

Refreshments of hot dogs and pop corn were served from trays by the hostesses, dressed as waitresses. Crepe paper decked booths where novelty ice cream and pink lemonade were dispensed.

When the rain broke up the outdoor party, guests came into town to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Firtle where they viewed scenes of the Sub-Deb presentation dance last spring.

Tonight at 11:30 the club members and rushees will meet at the Slaton residence and go from there for a hayride to the home of Betty Bob Redwine, near town. A midnight supper will be served and guests will remain overnight.

Torrences Are Honored With Surprise Party

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Torrence were honored with a surprise housewarming recently when Mesdames Jesse Winn, L. E. Bell, Abner Stevenson and R. E. Torrence entertained at their home, 1522 Thirty-second street.

Gifts were presented and refreshments of punch and cookies served. Musical selections were played by Juanita Torrence, W. E. Ellis, Mrs. A. F. Laing, Rev. A. F. Laing, Mrs. T. L. Johnson, Mrs. Lon Blevins, Margaret Johnson and Richard Torrence.

Others present were Messrs. and Mesdames O. C. Hunt, W. T. Blevins, W. E. Ellis, J. A. Graves, I. E. Banks; Messrs. T. L. Johnson, Jesse Winn; Mesdames J. B. Hacker, Bryan Flournoy, John Abernathy, C. H. Bray, Clyde Foster, W. E. Foster, E. A. Johnson, J. H. Kinziar, J. W. Furious Sea And Air Battles In Africa And Mediterranean Seas

Victories For Italy Claimed

(By The Associated Press)

ROME, Sept. 5—A series of furious naval and air engagements with British forces in which Italian mas (motor torpedo boats) participated "successfully" was reported in Africa and the Mediterranean by the Italian high command today.

It told of British air and naval bombardments of Italian bases in the Dodecanese islands, off the coast of Turkey, and Italian attacks on three British naval and merchant ship formations.

Ships Are Damaged

Six British naval ships, including two cruisers, were damaged by aerial bombs in two of these actions, the high command said, and 17 British planes destroyed in this and other combat.

In addition an Italian torpedo boat "successfully attacked" a British cruiser and two destroyers, the Italian communique said, and Italian planes "seriously hit" a British merchant ship.

Italian losses were listed as one mas boat, and four planes.

The action ranged from off the coast of Algeria in the western Mediterranean, through the Aegean to the Red sea.

Spurts of flame shot high from the deck of one of two British cruisers "violently" attacked off the coast of Algeria by Italian bombing formations, the high command said.

Slight damage to dwellings and wounding of a few of the civilian population was caused before dawn yesterday by a naval bombardment of the island of Scarpanto, the communique said. A British attack by two bomber formations on airfields at Gadurra and Marizza, in the same Dodecanese islands, resulted in the wrecking of two Italian planes on the ground.

This action, the Italians said, was set off when their air force pursued a large British merchant convoy in the Aegean. It was followed by five successive bombings in 10 1-2 hours of the British fleet which attacked the Dodecanese, and by spirited assaults by Italian torpedo boats.

School Enrollment At Abernathy 501

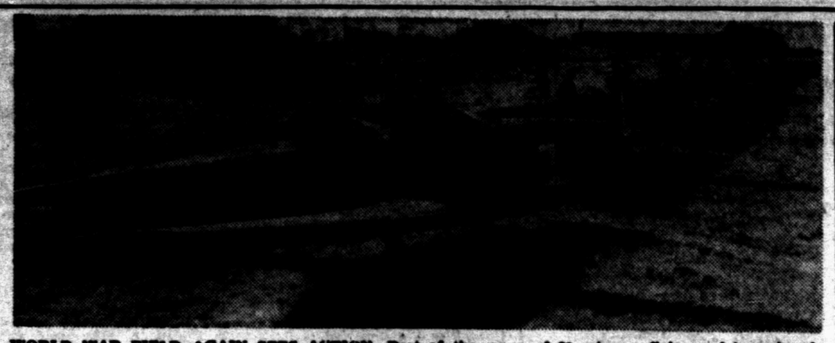

ABERNATHY, Sept. 5 (Special)—J. L. Snider, superintendent, announced that 501 students enrolled on the opening day of school this year.

There were 315 in the grades and 186 in the high school. This figure compares with approximately the same as last year on the first day of school.

Snider, who is serving his first year, coming here in July from Higgins, has departmentalized the system. There are 20 teachers in all.

New work this year includes a dean of boys for the high school. Seth Lindsey, high school principal, was appointed dean.

Miss Evelyn Stallings, English teacher in the high school, is dean of girls, also a new position.

WORLD WAR FIELD AGAIN SEES ACTION—Part of the group of 60 primary flying cadets assigned to Hicks Field, near Ft. Worth, Texas, are shown in new PT-training ships on the field which is being rebuilt for Army flight training. Active in 1917 and 1918, the airport stood idle until recently when national defence expansion started the building of modern facilities.

Questions About U. S. Trade For War Bases Are Answered

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5 (U.P.)—Questions and answers clarifying various aspects of the British-American trade of naval base leases for destroyers:

Q. How many destroyers and how many naval aid air base sites are involved in the transaction? A. The United States is giving Britain 50 World war destroyers in return for 99-year leases on sites for bases in strategic places in Six British possessions in the Caribbean area. Britain has thrown in two other sites—in Newfoundland and Bermuda—free of charge. The leases expire in the year 2039.

Q. How will the destroyers be turned over to the British? A. They will be sailed by their American crews to Canada where they will be boarded by British seamen for the journey to Britain. American crews are not permitted to go into European danger zones. Eight of the destroyers are scheduled to sail for Boston late this week. Details on the transfer of the rest of the ships are not complete.

Two Million Each

Q. What are the destroyers worth? A. The vessels are 1,200-tonners and cost about $2,000,000 each 20 years ago. They have been recommissioned recently at an average cost of about $10,000. New destroyers being built by the navy today are of about 1,600 tons and cost from two to three times as much.

Q. Where are the new bases to be located and when? A. From the south shore of Newfoundland to coast of British Guiana in northern South America. Intermediate bases will be set up at Bermuda, the Bahamas, Jamaica, St. Lucia, Trinidad and Antigua. The exact sites will be selected by a joint Anglo-British board of naval and army experts. The American delegation left yesterday for Bermuda.

Expenses Incurred

Q. Wil the United States incur any expenses in taking over the sites? A. Yes. Adequate naval and air facilities must be established, and the United States in addition must pay the proper parties for any private property which is taken over to create the bases. No estimates of cost are available yet, but there are sufficient funds on hand to get the work started when the preliminaries are complete.

Q. Will the United States have absolute control over the leased areas? A. Yes, for the 99-year period of the lease.

Q. Why were the British anxious to effect the transaction? A. Germany's aerial warfare, and more limited sea fighting, against Britain has taken a heavy toll of British destroyers.

Of Vital Interest

Q. What is the vital interest of the United States in the agreement? A. The procurement of defense locations in the Caribbean area, keystone of defense of the Panama Canal. The canal has been called the jugular vein of American defenses, for it offers a short, quick route for transfer of the fleet from the Atlantic to the Pacific, or vice versa. The Newfoundland base would be essential to preventing any aggressor from getting a foothold in Canada.

Q. How far will the bases project America's defense lines? A. Approximately 500 to 1,000 miles out into the Atlantic.

Q. Are funds available to start construction of the bases? A. Congressional defense committeemen say so. Mr. Roosevelt was given $10,000,000 for establishment of auxiliary air bases, and in addition Congress gave him a $200,000,000 blank check for defense.

Q. Does Congress have to ratify the agreement? A. According to an opinion by Attorney General Robert H. Jackson, it does not. The agreement, Jackson ruled, is not in the nature of a treaty requiring Senate ratification.

Q. Did Mr. Roosevelt violate any laws in his historical "deal"? A. He proceeded in conformance with Jackson's construction of the law. Isolationists denounced the president's action as an act of war, a violation of law, and an usurpation of congressional powers over treaties.

Q. How many destroyers does this leave in the U. S. navy? A. It leaves 151, of which 60 are the overage class, similar to those traded to Britain. Besides the 151 remaining destroyers, the navy is now building 57.

Delegates To Report On VFW Convention

Semi-monthly meeting of Lubbock post of Veterans of Foreign Wars in the basement of the Myrick building tonight will be featured by reports of delegations who attended the recent national encampment in Los Angeles.

Harry Hill, commander, presided at his first meeting since returning from his summer vacation in West Virginia.

Lloyd Johnson, J. H. Hackfield, Leonard Day, W. G. Love and Tom Carter, all of whom attended the encampment, reported. The national VFW oranization endorsed the preparedness program of the government and advocated conscription of munitions factories as well as men, they said.

Approximately 25 members attended.

Johnson Quits Welfare Post

AUSTIN, Sept. 5 (U.P.)—Adam R. Johnson, who has been head of Texas relief and the Texas welfare department for the past seven years, will leave the welfare department on Sept. 15.

His resignation tendered to the board members yesterday was accepted with a letter of appreciation of his work in organizing the department "from a chaotic condition which obtained in the administration of the old age assistance law."

Johnson said he accepted the post of executive director of the department with a reservation that he would resign when it was organized and running smoothly. During that period an old indebtedness of more than $2,000,000 has been almost cleared up, final payment to be made Sept. 10.

Successor Unknown

Board Members Marvin Leonard of Fort Worth, Frank S. Roberts of Breckenridge and Thomas H. Taylor of Brownwood left for their homes after yesterday's meeting of the board without announcing Johnson's successor, nor what September's old age assistance payments will be.

Despite the friendly letters exchanged between Johnson and the board, it was currently reported that differences had arisen.

A merit system as a substitute for civil service in the department has been demanded by the federal social security board but has not been set up so far.

Farm Loan Session Planned At Slaton

SLATON, Sept. 5 (Special)—Annual meeting of Slaton National Farm Loan association will be held Saturday in the community clubhouse, according to Howard Hoffman, secretary-treasurer.

The meeting will provide the members with an opportunity to elect directors for the cooperative organization through which farmers obtain long-term land mortgage loans from The Federal Land bank of Houston.

An interesting program has been arranged for the meeting which opens at 2 p. m., featured by an address by C. C. Jobson, county agricultural agent. Presiding at the meeting will be J. T. Pinkston, president of the association. Other members of the board are C. C. Sheldon, W. L. Meurer, A. J. Johnson and A. J. Buxkemper.

Organized in 1917, the association has a membership of farmers in Lubbock, Lynn, Garza and Crosby counties

Softball Tournament Is On In Detroit

DETROIT, Sept. 5 (AP)—The defending world champions in both men's and women's divisions put their titles on the block here tonight in a "sudden death" curtain raiser to the 1940 championships of the Amateur Softball Association of America.

Carr's Boosters of Covington, Ky., defending men's champions, meet the Detroit metropolitan champions, and the Alameda, Calif., defending women's titlists oppose the Keller girls, Detroit women's champions, in opening first-round tilts at the University of Detroit stadium.

One defeat means elimination.

Others of the 90 clubs competing in the tournament play their first round games tomorrow.

The first round pairings for Friday include:

Men's division: Oklahoma vs. Chicago, Nebraska vs. Texas, Louisiana vs. Montana; women's division: Georgia vs. Texas.

Little Interest In Conn-Pastor Fight

NEW YORK, Sept. 5 (AP)—There's to be a fight at Madison Square garden tomorrow night between Billy Conn, the light heavyweight champion, and Bob Pastor.

The fight "mob" are the only ones showing any great amount of interest. The general public hasn't been mobbing the box offices, although the fight may bring Conn a fight with Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis.

Billy was a lopsided favorite before the fight was postponed from Aug. 13, but the odds-makers give him only a 5 to 8 edge now.

Most of the drivers in accidents in the state of Washington during 1939 were between the ages of 25 and 32.

Mexico Is On Alert As Rumors Of Planned Rebellion Are Heard

Federal Army Is Reinforced

(By The Associated Press)

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 5—The administration of President Cardenas took extraordinary precautions today to forestall a possible armed attempt to seize power which a leader of General Juan Andreu Almazan's party declared might begin "within the next 10 hours or two days."

The government patrolled highways, watched airports and kept all trains under surveillance to check on movements of Almazan's followers, while responsible sources reported troop reinforcements were being moved to northern Mexico, regarded as an Alamazan stronghold.

Are Ready To Fight

Graciano Sanchez, head of the national confederation of 3,000,000 peasants, announced 80,000 trained members were ready to take up their rifles in support of the administration, which backed General Manuel Avila Camacho against Almazan in the disputed and bloody July presidential election.

Angel Trechuelo, executive of Almazan's party, made the prediction of an early outbreak of revolt just before he left Mexico City for an undisclosed destination in northern Mexico shortly after midnight.

Plans Are Advanced

Declaring plans were so advanced that publicity would make no difference "as the government is unable to stop us," Trechuelo asserted 500 key directors of the revolt left the capital secretly during the night for prearranged meeting places.

There, he said, they would start uprisings and proclaim their allegiance to the "legal" government of Almazan and his "congress" which yesterday proclaimed Almazan president-elect.

The office of Avila Camacho said last night the chamber of deputies on Sept. 12 would declare him elected.

Trechuelo declared scattered skirmishes "now are going on," we believe, in Chihuahua, Jalisco, Durango, Sonora and Sinaloa states, but the government is suppressing the news."

Clash Is Reported

Although the ministry of national defense reported "all quiet" in those areas, dispatches from El Paso, Tex., told of a clash in Durango four days ago in which a lieutenant colonel of the army and three rebels were killed.

Trechuelo said Almazanistas were confident they could assume control of the national government within a month because they were certain the mass of Mexican people and the army were with them.

He expounded a blueprint of revolution calling for sabotage paralyzing transportation, communications and oil fields; then a period of emergency during which General Hector F. Lopez of Guerrero state would be designated provisional president, probably operating from Chihuahua state, until Almazan was able to restore order and formally take office.

Would Restore Order

With consolidation of control, Trechuelo said, Almazan would restore "Democratic" government to Mexico.

Followers of Almazan, who now is in the United States, issued a manifesto yesterday charging the Cardenas regime with assassination and imprisonment of their members and attacking the 1938 expropriation of American and other foreign oil companies as "part of a shadowy Stalinist maneuver to create difficulties for the Democracies on this continent."

They said the people were ready to help the Almazanistas "rectify the policy of blind subordination to Soviet totalitarianism and criminal destruction of the nation."

The manifesto called upon Mexicans to make "whatever sacrifice is necessary to crown the Democratic victory which legally is ours."

Avila Camacho's office quickly replied:

"There is no crisis. The Almazanistas have finally revealed themselves as the paid servants of the oil companies against the interests of the Mexican people. The manifesto is a call to rebellion. But the Almazanistas may call the people to rebellion until doomsday without receiving any answer."

Bargain Rates

his committee in the next few days, he added.

Plan Proves Success

The strip ticket plan was adopted here, Maedgen explained, because of its success at the Colorado state fair in Pueblo which closed last week. Admission to the fairgrounds there, as in Lubbock, is 50 cents. This year, however, strip tickets were offered there and more than $10,000 of them were sold before the fair started. Hopes here are, according to Marbut, to equal or better that record.

Belief was expressed that the strip ticket plan will be of more appeal to most patrons of the fair than the season ticket system of the past. Prices of adult season tickets have been $2.50 and they will be sold again this year at a proper time, entitling the bearer to admission to the grounds once each morning, afternoon and night each day of the fair.

Most patrons, however, have no occasion for such frequent visits, and it is expected that the strip tickets will be especially attractive to them. Furthermore, each strip ticket will be good for the admission of any person as long as it is not detached. Season ticket can be used only by the person to whom it is issued.

Directors also decided to sell automobile season tickets at the usual rate of $1 this year. They will be good for parking as often as the vehicle may be driven into the fairgrounds.

RALLY IS EXTENDED

NEW YORK, Sept. 5 (AP) —A better brand of war and business news today helped the stock market extend Wednesday's rally by 1 to around 4 points despite comparatively heavy profit selling.

Dealings, amounting to some 1,300,000 shares, were the fastest since mid-June, although slow-downs appeared now and then as prices shifted from their tops. After absorbing offerings leaders generally resumed the advance.

Wall street, brokers said, was more hopeful than ever, in the light of European dispatches, that John Bull would succeed in beating off attacking Nazis & long conflict, it was added, with a probable British victory, might further stimulate American industry.

Revived optimism in the financial sector was reflected in the transfer of a stock exchange seat for $40,000, up $5,000 from the previous sale.

Some traders in stocks continued to step lightly, it was understood, pending final congressional decision on taxes and conscription and the desire for more assurances regarding the foreign picture.

Shares out in front most of the day were U. S. Steel, Youngstown Sheet, Chrysler, U. S. Rubber, Allied Chemical, Douglas Aircraft, Sperry, Lockheed, Du Pont, J. C. Six Americans Are Captured

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—Capture of six Americans on a steamship seized by German warships was reported today in a broadcast by Edwin Hartrich, CBS correspondent in Berlin, quoting the newspaper Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung.

Hartrich said the Berlin newspaper related the Americans were taken from the steamship Atlantic en route to South Africa.

They were first taken to a French port, he said, and then "given transportation" to Irun, Spain. No details were given as to whether the six were ultimately released.

CBS studio officials here gave the following names of the six, adding that there was no confirmation of the spellings and no addresses:

Mr. and Mrs. O. Yoder, F. A. Schmallenberger, Jesse M. Nicholson, Frank J. and Zona C. Kuntzer.

People Believed It

"And the people believed it," he said, "and they returned that individual to the White House.

"Then they were brought to their senses 5 months later when he put us into war."

Sweeney returned to a seat beside Vincent, 5 years his junior, and the flare-up occurred. Each representative landed hard blows to the face until colleagues intervened.

Sweeney apologized to the House. Vincent at first repeated his charge of "traitor"—but later withdrew it. Each gave the House his version of the altercation.

Sweeney's account:

"As I resumed my seat, the gentleman with whom I had difficulties called me a traitor. He repeated it again and you know what happened."

Vincent's account:

"I served in the World war . . . To say that my president of that time brought on that war to me was an untruth. . . .

"When he came down to sit with me, I got up and moved. . .

"I said I did not want to sit by a traitor to my country. Then he attacked me and you know what happened."

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Sept. 5 (AP)—Although cotton prices moved irregularly today the undertone was steady. Nearby positions reached new highs for the move for a time in early trading.

Recurrent flurries of hedging and liquidation prompted by favorable weather and larger crop ideas were offset by domestic mill price fixing, local buying in sympathy with securities, and optimistic reports of the dry goods trade.

Futures closed 2 higher to 1 lower.

killed at the border town of Sighet.

On the war front, developments broke swiftly:

Threat Is Challenged

British RAF bombers, challenging Hitler's threat to "erase" English cities in retaliation for night raids on Germany, dropped high explosives on the Berlin area in a two-hour attack, damaging a big electric works at Spandau, nine miles from the heart of the capital, and an army warehouse.

One of the RAF's bombs crashed in Berlin's Tiergarten park, killing a Nazi policeman. Another fatality resulted when a bomb hit an apartment house.

Hitler's high command reported 18 other Germans were killed in a north German town, but the high command asserted that the British raiders attack on Berlin itself "foundered" against anti-aircraft fire.

London Gets Alarm

German raiders gave London a 56-minute alarm starting at 10 a. m. (3 a. m., C.S.T.) after widespread night attacks which the British said caused little damage and failed to live up to Hitler's threat to assault the island kingdom with thousandfold fury.

Berlin said the first excellent flying weather in weeks had sent waves of German bombers and fighters to attack London's suburbs this morning, but only a few incendiary and explosive bombs were reported dropped in the London area.

Intense activity was noted meanwhile at German airports in northern France in the past 24 hours, indicating the Nazi luftwaffe may be preparing for a huge-scale attack.

Warships Damaged

In the Anglo-Italian conflict in the Mediterranean, Mussolini's high command reported a series of naval and air battles in which six British warships, including two cruisers, purportedly were damaged by aerial bombs and 17 RAF planes destroyed.

The clashes occurred off the coast of Algeria, in the western Mediterranean, near the Dodecanese islands of the coast of Turkey, in the Red sea, and over Africa, the high command said.

In the western hemisphere, Mexico's political troubles burgeoned into a full blown crisis in which the administration of President Lazaro Cardenas was reported to be preparing for the possibility of an armed revolt.

Film Colony Buzzes With New Gossip; Barrymore, Lamarr And Landis Call It Quits

(By The Associated Press)

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 5 — Anti-marital tidings from the film colony:

Beauteous, black-haired Hedy Lamarr is suing writer-producer Gene Markey for divorce. The veteran thespian-iconoclast, John Barrymore, and his young wife, Elaine Barrie, have "busted up" again. Blonde Carole Landis has left her wealthy, socially-connected yacht broker husband, Willis Hunt, planning an early divorce suit.

Cruelty Is Blamed

In her brief complaint, Miss Lamarr charged she had been subjected to "grievous mental and physical suffering" but omitted details.

Barrymore, the Rabelaisian, pungent "old man river" of the stage and screen, declared he and his 25-year-old fourth wife are separated permanently this time. In previous rows, she has started and then dropped two divorce suits.

"Neither of us is to blame," he said. "I came to the realization that we'd both be happier, so I beat it."

Separated Week Ago

To newsmen who came to his Tower road mansion, which he calls the "Chinese tenement," Barrymore disclosed that he and Elaine had separated "about a week ago."

"I can't remember the exact date," he said. "I don't like to appear half-witted, but in California, where there is no summer, no spring, no winter, no fall, I simply can't remember dates."

A reporter reminded Barrymore that he said the last marital break-up was to be for good.

This One Is Final

"Yes, but I know this one is final," the actor countered. "This one is unlike the others. Neither of us is to blame. I came to the realization we'd both be happier, so I beat it. The situation was untenable."

"Has Mrs. Barrymore called you since you left?" asked a newsman.

"Yes, she called, but I didn't answer. She telephoned to remind me that I have a business appointment."

Barrymore said the separation came because of "defamation of character." He did not elaborate.

more, who was transferred several months ago.

Weston is a graduate of Oklahoma A. and M. college, class of 1928, and has had one year of active duty in the army. He will come to Lubbock about Sept. 12, after attending a "refresher" course at the engineers school at Fort Belvoir, Va. Another officer originally had been appointed to take the place of Skidmore, but the order later was changed.

Capt. Bruce D. Rindlaub arrived here recently and will become commander of the Tech unit upon the transfer of Captain Pettit, who has not yet been ordered elsewhere but has been notified of an impending order.

West Point Graduate

Captain and Mrs. Rindlaub and their 8-year-old daughter, Cornelia, are living at 3008 Twentieth street.

Captain Rindlaud attended Yale university one year and North Dakota Agricultural college two years before going to the United States Military academy at West Point, where he was graduated in 1929. His graduation was followed by a detail with the air corps at March field, Calif., after which he went on troop duty with the second engineers at Fort Logan. He attended the University of California in 1932-33 and was graduated with a bachelor of science degree in civil engineering in 1933. He received a master of science degree in civil engineering from that university in 1935. He attended a company commander's course at Fort Belvoir in 1937. He was on duty with the Civil Works administration in 1932 and Works Projects administration in 1935-36.

Announcement had been made several months ago of his appointment to the Tech unit.

Lamb County Sector Soaked By Rainfall

Sudan, Lamb county, had a half-inch rain Wednesday night and the territory from Anton to Muleshoe was soaked, telegraphed J. Sam Lewis, Avalanche-Journal publications farm editor who is visiting several South Plains towns working up copy for the annual Panhandle-South Plains fair edition of his paper.

A severe electrical storm put numerous telephones out of order, Lewis said.

Amherst, Earth and Littlefield also received rain, and there were reports of hail damage at Sudan and Amherst.

Racing Bill Is To Be Offered

(By The United Press)

AUSTIN, Sept. 5 — Parimutuel horse racing, barred in Texas in 1937, may return by act of the next Texas legislature. State Sen. Houghton Brownlee of Austin, lawyer and breeder of racing stocks, announced here that he will advocate its return as a means to bring an estimated $3,000,000 annual income for social security purposes.

Revenue measures must originate in the House but a number of the representatives who have advocated racing have been re-elected and can sponsor the measure in the House.

Outlines Tax Program

Brownlee made the statement in outlining a tax program based on a moderate increase in natural resource taxes, luxury taxes and the racing tax. He will oppose a general sales tax.

Betting at race tracks was barred in Texas in 1909 after a hard fight in the state legislature. After unsuccessful attempts to reinstate racing with betting, a parimutuel bill was passed in 1933 as a rider on an agricultural appropriation bill. Under it part of the state's share in bets went to establish a state supply of breeding animals which were made available to farmers at nominal fees.

Large tracks were established at Houston, San Antonio, and at Arlington Downs, between Dallas and Fort Worth. Racing was resumed also at Dallas. The parimutuel act was repealed at a special session of the legislature in 1937.

Two Children Dead After Auto Crash

TYLER, Sept. 5 (U.P.)—Two children were killed and six other persons were injured critically—five may die—in a headon collision of two automobiles near Overton last night.

The dead are Hiram Luther Busby, 12, and Lois Fern Busby, five, children of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Busby of the Rocky Mount community.

The Busbys, three other daughters, Irmadine, Alline and Florine, and J. R. Arnold of Arp were in critical condition. Only Irmadine was given a better than 50-50 chance of surviving. The others suffered serious head injuries.

Arnold was driving alone when his car collided with that of the Busbys. Cause of the accident was not determined immediately.

Moratorium Hinted On Tax Collection

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5 (AP)—Private employers of national guardsmen called for a year's active service may be granted a moratorium on payment of unemployment benefit insurance premiums during their employes' absence.

A tentative proposal for withholding collection of the 3 per cent payroll tax paid by employers developed today from a series of social security board conferences on various suggestions for federal and state cooperation to "freeze" the unemployment benefit status of men taken from their jobs in the defense program.

Administration officials, who refrained from direct comment in advance of prospective legislation, said that some authorities favored a moratorium also for employers of the men who would be called if the conscription bill is enacted.

More Aid To Great Britain Is Urged

NEW YORK, Sept. 5 (U.P.)—American friends of Great Britain now are negotiating for the secret American bomb sight, for the entire output of American tanks and half the output of flying fortress bombers, for the use of Texas and California airports to train British fliers and for 250,000 more rifles, it was disclosed today.

Clark M. Eichelberger, executive director of the committee to defend American by aiding the Allies, in listing these requirements, said there was "certain to be a controversy" about letting Britain have them, but that "negotiations for them are now proceeding."

Revenge Upon U. S. Hinted

only Tuesday, Churchill reported.

That, he said smilingly, "is a case of what one might call the long arm of coincidence."

Churchill conceded that Hitler should be able to "magnify and multiply" his air onslaught on Britain this month, but he added: "We can stand it."

Casualties Are Reported

Then he gave the British civilian air raid casualties for August as 1,075 dead, slightly more than that many wounded and said 800 houses were destroyed.

Again, he warned the people that the danger of invasion is not passed, and called for "the greatest vigilance." But he insisted the problem of invasion, for Hitler, was vastly harder in September than in June.

Dealing briefly with the Balkan territorial changes, Churchill said that Britain intended to recognize no such changes "unless they take place with the free consent and good will of the parties concerned."

Fleet Almost Doubled

He turned to the near east to disclose that the eastern Mediterranean fleet had been almost doubled by the addition of powerful vessels. The Italians, he said, knew this, "but we were unmolested."

Heavy fighting is coming in the middle east, he said.

Churchill declared a British-American agreement had been completed to the "general satisfaction of the British and American peoples" as the house cheered him loudly.

The prime minister said "there is no doubt, Hitler will not like this transference of destroyers: no doubt he will pay the U. S. A. out if ever he gets the chance."

Law Not Violated

The transfer of destroyers did not constitute "the slightest violation of international law" or affect "in the smallest degree the non-belligerency of the United States," Churchill declared.

There will be no delay in bringing the destroyers into active service, and British crews are already meeting them at various ports where they are being delivered "by the long arm of coincidence," Churchill declared amid loud laughter.

Dispatch of the destroyers to Britain will allow the United States to "take danger by the throat whilst it still is hundreds of miles away," he said.

Glad Of Advance

"That is why I am very glad that the armed air and naval frontiers of the U. S. have been advanced along a wide arc into the Atlantic ocean and that this will enable them to take danger by the throat while it is still hundred of miles away from their homeland," Churchill said.

The prime minister added, however, it was a mistake "to read into the official notes more than the documents appeared on their face."

Turning to Balkan and European developments, Churchill said "no one can say how far Herr Hitler's empire will extend before this war is over. But I have no doubt it will pass away swiftly—perhaps more swiftly—than did Napoleon's army, although of course without any of its glitter or glory."

Will Be Stronger

"We are going to be a good deal stronger next year than we are now, although we are quite strong enough for the immediate work in hand."

He said Germany's need "to obtain a decision is very great" and warned the house that Germany should be able to "magnify and multiply" her attacks during this month.

He spoke of August as a "real fighting month."

"The Germans have made a very substantial and important effort to gain the mastery and they have certainly put forth a larger proportion of their total air strength than we have found it necessary up to the present to employ against them. Their attempts to dominate the Royal Air Force and our AA (anti-aircraft) defenses by daily attacks have proved very costly to them," he said.

Even if the air attacks are doubled or trebled the prime minister said, he believed the nation "can stand it" and "emerge from it stronger in the air than we were before."

Of the Balkans, Churchill said he had always thought that southern parts of Dobruja, which Rumania is ceding, ought to be restored to Bulgaria, and he had never been happy about the way Hungary was treated after the last war.

Vigilance Necessary

"No one must suppose that the danger of invasion is past," he further warned, and the "greatest vigilance is necessary to save our lives and our cause." But he said Britain was "very much better off than a few months ago" and if the problem of invading Britain was difficult in June it "has become far more difficult in September."

He said Britain had sent "a continuous stream of convoys with reinforcements" to the middle east and "we have every intention of maintaining our position there at the utmost strength."

After reviewing situation in middle east Churchill declared "in this way both at home and abroad we shall persevere along our course however the winds may blow."

Disclosing 1,075 civilians were killed in air raids in August, Churchill said "our sympathy goes out to the wounded and to those who are bereaved but no one can pretend that out of 45 million people these are losses which, if they are multiplied two or three times as they may be, would be serious compared to the majestic world issues which are at stake.

Houses Are Destroyed

"Apart from minor or repairable injuries about 800 houses have been destroyed or damaged beyond repair. This is out of a total in this island of 13 million houses."

Churchill said he favored reexamination of the question of insurance against air raid damage particularly for the "small man."

"The actual figures of British losses which we have published daily for these two months amount to 558," he said. "Our loss in pilots is, of course, happily very much less. I do not know whether Herr Hitler believes the truth of his own published figures. (Laughter) I hope he does."

He said the German claims of British aircraft destroyed during the month of July totaled the "surprising figure of 1921 British aircraft destroyed.

"It is rather like figures we have heard about our fleet which has had many ships sunk many times over."

News Briefs

Bond Posted—The sheriff's department said this afternoon that C. R. Bradshaw, 30, had posted $5,000 bond in connection with a criminal assault charge filed this week in the court of J. T. Inmon, justice of peace. Jimmie Burney, similarly charged, had not posted bond, it was announced.

Assault Charged—Robert Hogan was charged today in county court with aggravated assault on Everett Wayne Hogan, a child, said the sheriff's department. The complaint set out Hogan struck and wounded the child with a rope and choked him with his hands.

Testimony Presented— Court officials early this afternoon said testimony was being presented in the civil action of E. N. Pickens against Mercury Life Insurance company, suit on insurance policy, before Judge E. L. Pitts of 99th district court.

Daughters At Kiwanis— Daughters of members of the Lubbock Kiwanis club were guests at the club luncheon today noon in Lubbock hotel. Last week sons of Kiwanians were guests. Misses Reuby Tom Rhodes, Eunice Klett and Barbara Read gave a vocal selection, accompanied by Burnie Howell at the piano. Miss Carolyn Reynolds gave a violin solo accompanied by Miss Monda Hamilton. Miss Bernice Cocanougher gave a reading. Dinty Moore was program chairman. Dr. O. W. English introduced the visitors. Larry Doyle, director of the Coronado Calvacade at the fair here, invited Kiwanians and their wives to be at the fairgrounds Friday night for selection of the cast of 1,000 local people to take part in the gigantic spectacle. President W. L. Stangel presented a gift from the club to Miss Eva Mae McPherson, senior in Buckner's Orphans home at Waco. She was a guest of her foster parents for the day, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. McMillan at the luncheon.

Americans Included In Canadian Force

LONDON, Sept. 5 (U.P.)—Vernon Terry, a Texan who hitch-hiked from his native state to Canada to enlist, was in a Canadian troop unit arriving this week at a north British port.

Other Canadian units included a movie actor, Jerry Johnstone, known as Gerald Kent and former leading man of Mae West; John Warburton, former U. S. army sergeant who hitch-hiked from New Mexico to Montreal to join the Canadian army, and a number of Poles, Norwegians and Dutch.

In Africa, bushmen fill ostrich egg shells with water, stuff the holes with grass, and hoard them for use in time of drouth.

Grand Jurors Report Bills

(Special To The Journal)

LEVELLAND, Sept. 5.—Sixteen bills of indictment naming 16 defendants were reported Wednesday afternoon by a 72nd district grand jury in Levelland to Judge Daniel A. Blair.

Six of those charged either were in jail this morning or had made bond set by the court, said Sheriff Ed Hofacket, who received the bills at 9 o'clock this morning.

Defendants Named

The sheriff said:

I. B. Russell, charged in two cases with swindling over $50, represented by checks given to Tom Davis of Anton for grain, was in jail.

William Henry Price, charged with theft over $50, represented by a suitcase filled with clothing belonging to Miss Christine DeVitt, and a camera, was in jail. The charge said the woman had a flat on her car and locked it on a road near Sundown, but that the machine was broken into.

Stanley W. McCarty, Levelland jeweler charged with drunk driving, executed bond.

Walter Young, negro charged with theft over $50, represented by 40 sacks of cane seed from T. E. Wood of near Anton, was in jail.

Man Makes Bond

Elmer Spear, charged with burglary of a lumber company at Ropesville, had made bond and Milton R. Smith, similarly charged, was in jail.

Other arrests were expected today and later in the week, the sheriff said.

Burton S. Burks, district attorney, said other indictments charged: Burglary, four cases; forgery, one; forgery by false endorsement, one; swindling over $50, two, and drunk driving, two.

The district attorney said criminal actions would be tried beginning Monday.

Judge Blair convened his September term Monday.

Los Angeles Woman Killed In Mishap

MONAHANS, Sept. 5 (U.P.)—Mrs. R. A. Kennison, 40, of Los Angeles, died last night shortly after she suffered a fractured skull when her automobile turned over on U. S. highway 80 miles west of Monahans.

She had been driving the rear car of a six-machine caravan and was towing another automobile when a blow-out in a rear tire of the machine she was towing caused her to lose control, highway patrolmen said.

Mrs. Kennison died before she reached a hospital.

Britain Will Give All Aid To Greece

LONDON, Sept. 5 (U.P.) — Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax said today that Great Britain would give "full support" to Greece if that nation resists an Italian invasion.

Halifax said that the Greeks were determined to defend their independence and integrity.

"In event of any action which clearly threatens the independence of Greece," he said, "and which the Greek government feels bound to resist with its national forces, the British government will feel bound to lend the Greek government all the support in their power."

Grim Story Of War At Sea Is Related

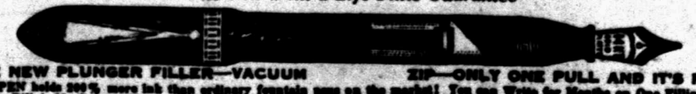

BALTIMORE, Sept. 5 (AP) — Thirty-seven haggard and disheveled British seamen, eight of them injured, told a grim tale today of disaster and death in the war at sea.

Landed here unexpectedly last night by the Swedish freighter Eknaren, they were the sole survivors of crews of two British vessels, the 4,000-ton freighter Blairmore and the royal navy sloop Penzance, both torpedoed and sunk Aug. 24 about 700 miles off the Irish coast.

More than 100 of their shipmates were lost.

Britons are being urged to raise pigs.

Hitler May Be Awaiting Bad Weather To Start Invasion Atte

Projed Will Be Hazardous

By DeWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press Staff Writer

Herr Hitler's sportspalast speech last night reaffirmed his promise to the German people that England would be smashed—but he didn't say when.

The fuehrer employed the same slashing, crowd-swaying technique which I have seen him use with great effect from that same rostrum before this. Someway, however, it didn't produce the impression of being an announcement of the war's end.

From his reference to a protracted conflict one gathers that perhaps he expects a long grind yet.

May Be Potential

Maybe the fuehrer meant that the hour is at hand. The first of the week they told us in informed Nazi quarters in Berlin that the British air force couldn't survive another fortnight of the German attacks—a claim made in connection with the official assertion that the reich now has mastery of the [illegible] over England.

Undoubtedly Hitler had mastery at the outset of the war and for long months after that—but he didn't take advantage of it. Now it is fair to say that if the Germans do indeed have mastery, it is potential and rests in power which hasn't yet been brought into play.

However, I think we must accept as a possibility (I don't say probability) that the Nazi chief may be getting ready for his big fling—a crushing blow on England from the air, and then invasion with troops.

May Use Bad Weather

We have been talking a lot about the bad weather intervening at the end of September to give a breathing spell. But how about the weather being used by Herr Hitler to save himself from a spot of bother?

It strikes me as possible that his strategy involves taking advantage of the break in the weather. He may be planning to use it as a shield in case his grand coup fails.

We mustn't forget that if and when Hitler tries an invasion of England he will be undertaking one of the most hazardous of military projects. The only way he can achieve it will be first to blast Britain into near insensibility from the air. Unless that were done, the great British home army and air force in all likelihood would pour terrible disaster on the head of the invading troops.

Must Use Big Reserve

This means that when invasion is attempted, Hitler must fling into the air all the big reserve which he may have been holding for this purpose. In thus filling the sky with planes over England he will be taking the chance that the British may shoot them down in such numbers as to shatter his air force.

Should this happen he would have no adequate weapon for the defense of Germany against British bombing. He would have placed himself in England's hands.

But supposing he waits until almost the time of the change of weather for his assault. Either he smashes England quickly and the war is over, or he himself is flung back in heavy defeat. If he encounters a crushing blow, the weather intervenes to save him from being finished off on his own home grounds.

I am not advancing this idea as a probability, but as a possibility that holds water.

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE

Many of those gnawing, nagging, painful backaches people blame on colds or strains are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Girl Tells Of Experiences As Hostage Of Killer Band

(EDITOR'S NOTE: A comely, 16-year-old Rayville, La., school girl gave the following exclusive account of her experiences following her release with a boy and girl friend after all three had been held two nights and a day as hostages by escaped long-term convicts from the Arkansas penitentiary.)

BY VONCILLE WILLIAMS

COLUMBIA, La., Sept. 5 (AP)—At first we were all scared when the convicts, six of them with sawed off shotguns, took over our automobile in Rayville. But they did not harm us.

The men told us all about prison life. They said they had been planning this break 16 months. They had it all fixed they would go to Mexico and they were pretty sure they would make it.

Gladys Diamond, my best girl friend, was driving the car and Gerry Harrigill and I were riding in the back seat. We saw their car had been wrecked so we stopped.

It Was Too Late

Then we saw they carried guns but it was too late and Gladys said: 'Oh! oh! We're in for it now.' All six piled in our car, three in front and three in back.

We rode around on gravel roads for a long time circling around before we saw a whole line of automobiles coming with men crowded in them. We had a flat tire and so we turned out our lights and waited.

Bullets began whizzing by. Things were getting hot and we ran. Three of the convicts left us and we didn't see them again. Gladys and I screamed while we ran and finally the shots stopped.

Later Jerry could have even reached one of their pistols, but we wouldn't let him because we know we would all be shot. They were nice enough, no rough stuff.

Our only trouble was the men kept pushing us to go on and on through the woods. They said they couldn't let us go because they would be killed.

I got so tired Tuesday night I almost fainted. We hadn't had anythin to eat and nothing to drink. My legs were burning just like coals of fire. They were so scratched up. We tried to get some sleep but every time we would doze off we would see flashlights in the dark and dogs barking on our trail.

Went After Water

Those men made Gladys and me sneak up to a farm to get water. Dogs were barking at us and we were scared. So we left as soon as we got drinks from a well. When we got back the men were angry and sent us back for some for them.

Late Tuesday night they thought they would let us go if we couldn't walk out until the next morning. Gerry swore on his Boy Scout honor, and we promised too, but the men must have changed their minds because they wouldn't let us go.

Then yesterday morning they made me walk out and make a truce. They wanted the police to send in a car with only a driver and with its doors open so they could see no one would be in it. They wanted the driver to blow his horn twice to signal that everything was okay.

Then I told the police where they all were. Later the convicts were captured and Gerry and Gladys came out of it safe and sound.

Trial Of Reese To Be Started Monday

GROESBECK, Sept. 5 (AP)—Arlin F. Reese, 43-year-old rural route newspaper carrier of Mexia, is expected to go on trial Monday for the slaying of Mrs. Lizzie Reinhardt, an expectant mother, whose body was found on a side road near Corsicana.

L. L. Green, county attorney of Limestone county, said Reese probably would be tried before Judge H. Fountain Kirby.

The grand jury indicted Reese on a charge of murder yesterday.

Texas Tech Red Raiders Open Grid Training; Fifty Recruits Seeking Berths

Two Drills On Daily Schedule During Week

With football fever catching the city in its grip, Texas Tech's 1940 Red Raiders this morning blasted the lid on their fall practice campaign and will climax the opening day's activities with a final drill at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

Starting their eleventh consecutive season at the helm of Scarlet and Black gridiron fortunes are Coaches Pete Cawthon and "Dutchy" Smith. In the decade in which they have guided the Raiders' pigskin destiny Tech has won 73 games, lost 33 and tied 5.

Two Workouts Daily

Assisting the two nationally known mentors are Berl Huffman, basketball tutor as well as chief scout and freshman coach, and Dixie White, who was added to the staff this year.

Two drills daily until the fall semester starts is the order for the approximately 50 recruits expected to seek berths on the Tech squad this fall.

Tackles Switched

Springing something of a major surprise even before the boys reported this morning, Line Coach Smith announced that he had switched all his tackles, transferring all left tackles to right tackle and vice versa. The move was deemed advisable when it was learned that Eddie Saliba of Blytheville, Ark., would not return. Saliba had been listed as a regular left tackle. His father objected to his football playing. Eddie plans to attend a medical school.

Coach Smith's rather drastic move means that hefty Jack Shanks and elongated Bob O'Connor will be slated to alternate at left tackle and with Newman "Red" Ledbetter and Rafe Nabors in the right tackle slot. Nabors had been listed as the regular center but the need of another tackle pulled him out of that position. Nabors played tackle last season. The center job will be an open fight between Edwin Irons, Wayne Pipes, J. E. Townsend and Stanley Sigman with Irons and Pipes appearing to hold the inside track.

Public Invited

Coach Cawthon said last night that the first few days of practice would consist of running around the track several times daily, playing touch football and tossing the ball around. Getting the players legs in proper condition is the coaches' first major assignment. Cawthon stressed the fact that all workouts will be free and open to the public.

Cawthon also announced that A. D. Chester, sophomore tackle of Dallas, would not return. Chester, figured on as a third string tackle, plans to join up with Uncle Sam.

Everybody Ready

"Most of the fellows are on the scene, eager to get started and I am sure that we will have a team that will always be trying even though it may not win many games.

The returning players quartered in La Fonda Hall Wednesday night included Glenn Lowe, halfback; J. E. Townsend, center; Edwin Irons, center; Loyce Baillio, guard; Roger Smith, halfback; Sandy Waldrep, end; Wayne Johnson, halfback; Will Allbright, guard; Doyle Caraway, guard; Milton Hill, halfback; Walter Nelson, guard; Stanley Sigman, center; Wayne Pipes, center; Captain Ty Bain, quarterback; Tom Douglas, fullback; Clarence Tillery, end; Thayne Amonett, halfback; Don Austin, halfback; Charlie Daniels, guard; Charlie Dvoracek, fullback; Walter Webster, fullback; Newman Ledbetter, tackle; Kenneth Robbins, quarterback; Peter Blanda, fullback Ed Harris, halfback; Jimmy Jay, guard; Bing Bingham, end; Robert Duncan, end; Warren Cudd, tackle; Rafe Nabors, tackle; E. J. McKnight, end; Jack Shanks, tackle; C. L. Storrs, halfback; Prince Scott, end; Captain Lonnie McCurry, guard; and Bengy Estes, center.

Junior High Cowboys To Start Out Friday In Grid Practice

With regular fall workouts scheduled to start Monday afternoon, Coach Mule Davis said today that he would issue grid equipment at Junior High school Friday for his Cowboy prospects.

Those desiring suits should call for them between the hours of 9 and 12 o'clock in the morning, 2 and 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

Eligible for the uniforms and to participate in the Junior High games this fall will be those boys who are attending Junior High school. Recruits from other schools will not be allowed to play with the Cowboys, Davis stressed.

Facing a tough schedule yet to be completed, Coach Davis and his assistant, Lovic Liston, must build from the bottom, every letterman having graduated to Senior High school.

There will be two reserves around which to build the squad, Frank Jones, at a quarterback post, and Darwin Morgan, a tackle.

The Cowboys open the season in Spur, Thursday, Sept. 26.

Meadowbrook's New Greens To Be Thrown Open Friday For 'Public Links' Dubs

Golfing interest, already staging a "comeback" in the city the past few days, should jump several more notches Friday morning with opening of the new grass greens at Meadowbrook Golf club.

Competition over the new velvety layouts will get under way when the first golfers report Friday.

W. G. "Bill" McMillan, owner-operator of Meadowbrook, announced that several innovations will feature opening of the course.

Second Grass Greens

Carpeted with the most popular species of bent grass covers, the new grass greens will be the city's second 18-hole grass green layout, Lubbock Country club being the first. Some of the greens measure 93 feet over the putting surface.

Delayed because of adverse weather conditions, the opening has been anticipated for some time now. Construction on the greens started more than a year ago and extreme care has been the rule in "bringing them along." Activity at the club has not lagged, however, players using the old sand carpets, which are now being dismantled, the oily surfaces hauled away and fertile topsoil brought in on which bermuda grass will be planted.

No Radical Changes

Layout of the course has not been radically changed, the new greens and grass tee boxes being situated near the old sand greens.

McMillan said that daily greens fees would be 60 cents per person on week days, 85 cents on Sundays and holidays. Yearly, semi-annual and monthly memberships, however, may be purchased. The monthly fee per person will be $3.75, with slight increase for additional members of a family. A six-months membership may be purchased for $20, or a year's membership for $30.

McMillan pointed out that the new Meadowbrook Club house, situated on a hill in Mackenzie park overlooking the golf course, provided the most up to date facilities for golfers. Spacious dressing and locker and shower rooms, for both men and women players, occupy one entire wing of the new building. Large boilers and heaters provide plenty of hot water for shower purposes.

Lockers may be rented for $5 per year, or $1.25 per quarter, McMillan said.

The former clubhouse will remain standing for use as a caddy house, and cold drinks will be available there.

Other Improvements Made

Fairways have been decorated with new yardage markers, showing distances to and from tee and green. Each tee is marked with the yardage and par number of the hole. New benches have been built and set up near tees; ball washing machines have been installed at various points on the course, and drinking fountains installed at intervals.

"We have done everything possible to make the course one of the most modern and interesting in West Texas," said McMillan.

"Star-Less" Squad Defeats Pro Giants

NEW YORK, Sept. 5 (AP)—A "star-less" squad of Eastern collegiate All-Star gridmen tumbled the New York Professional Giants' proud, unbeaten exhibition record last night, 16 to 7.

The Giants never had been whipped before in eight tussles with all-star squads from coast to coast, and were 1 to 3 pre-game favorites to take their fifth straight in this series with the Eastern All-Stars for the New York Herald Tribune's fresh air fund.

Sparked by Merlyn Condit, a southpaw passer from Carnegie Tech who never came closer to an All-America team than seeing it in the movies, the stars scored one touchdown in the second period, a field goal in the third and another six-pointer in the fourth to roll up their total. Tuss McLaughry, Brown coach and all-star pilot, had picked this squad so well that most of the few really headline names on the list saw either only a few brief moments of action, or none at all.

It would take 2,000,000 years for all the sea water in the world to flow over Niagara Falls.

Rain Postpones Shaughnessy Playoffs

Hubbers Facing Amarillo In Opening Tilt

Weather permitting, the delayed Shaughnessy playoff to determine the 1940 West Texas-New Mexico league champions will get under way tonight in Amarillo and Pampa—fans' appetites for diamond action, featuring the circuit's most colorful nines, whetted to razor edge.

Rain caused one-night postponements in both Amarillo, where the Hubbers were scheduled to open against Manager Bubba Jonnard's Gold Hose, and Pampa, where Borger's Gassers were all set to meet the regular-season champs.

The Hubbers will remain in the Panhandle tomorrow night, then the teams will move to Lubbock to open hostilities in Hubber park Saturday night. They will remain here until one team has won three games. Pampa and the Gassers will alternate over the 27-mile route between the towns until the first sawoff series is completed.

Tradition Favors Hubs

Winners of the two series will meet in a four-out-of-seven round.

Tradition is one thing and winning ball games is another, but the Hubbers have lost only two games in the Shaughnessy plan playoffs in two years—one each season. They carried Wink out in three straight in 1938, then turned on Clovis for four wins in five games in the final series. The order was repeated against Big Spring and Pampa last year.

Stack Will Start

Big Gene Stack, who carried the brunt of Lubbock's pitching burden through early stages of the campaign, likely will toe the slab for the Englemen tonight. Skipper Claude Jonnard could lead with his ace—good baseball, if not bridge—since Russell Crider has rested since Monday. Chet Hill and Bus Dorman also are ready. Dorman had been tabbed, but the extra day may make a difference.

The 1940 season, which ended Monday, saw records fall in several departments, although slugging records, held chiefly by Manager Gordon Nell of Borger, were left untouched.

Pitchers Hold Own

Pitchers came into their own in wholesale fashion for the first time. Although the schedule was no longer than in 1939, there were seven 20-game winners in comparison with two last year.

Willard Ramsdell won 23 of Odessa's 45 decisions over the full route to tie Jodie Marek's year-old record. Only Marek and Stud Raines of Midland and Lamesa won more than a score of victories last year and Lefty Nelson of Clovis won 20 in 1938.

Pat Ralsh set up a pretty good consecutive victory record on Sunday when he won his 13th in a row. Robert Crues held the record of 12 straight. Both Ralsh and Crues, of Borger, won 20 decisions.

Others were Lloyd Patterson of Lamesa, with 22, Rex Dilbeck, Gus Hallbourg and Milbert Vannoy, all of Pampa.

Southwest Conference Grid Work Opens Under Broiling Sun; 'Stop Aggies' Is Cry

BY FELIX R. McKNIGHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS, Sept. 5—Cloaked in chic fall woolen jersies with gay leather accessories, the football boys who give you fall thrills you glimpse from behind a topcoat collar, staggered out in oven temperatures today to start drilling for the Southwest conference chase.

Intense heat was general at every training camp as the squads of seven conference schools headed straight into the wildest campaign of all, started two-a-day practice sessions.

"Stop Aggies" Is Cry

First games are still three weeks away, but the cry rose today:

"Stop the Texas Aggies."

Not that the other six schools have definitely bitter feelings against the Aggies, but they just happen to be the team trying to defend its title.

The quaintest tradition of the conference concerns the fact that a team has never won the flag two years hand running. Reason for this bit of history can be traced to the fact that the other six schools set about at this time of the year to train their sights on the culprit who whacked them all the season before.

To Have Terrific Time

On that basis, it is safe to say that the Aggies will have a terrific time repeating and that, as usual, some other team will come loping in with the unsuspecting aid of the others.

Quite ready to fill the interloper's role are Southern Methodist and Baylor. The former, blistering in near 100-degree Dallas heat, started practice with one of the finest bunch of backfielders in the old league's history.

No fewer than eight lettermen were available for the offensive tasks, with some exceedingly bright sophomore talent on hand. Notable in this group was Orville (Bull) Johnson, a strapping fellow from Bryan who was not exactly an eyesore to Coach Matty Bell in spring training.

Bible Loses Prospect

Coach D. X. Bible got a last minute jolt when his University of Texas Longhorns started practice without Malcolm Kutner, a fine looking end from Dallas slated to play one of Mr. Bible's eleven first string positions. A knee injury he received playing basketball has ended the football career of a lad who ranked as a marvelous pass receiver and good defensive player.

But at Texas A. and M., things picked up a bit when it was learned that Willie Zapalac, a great class B player of two years ago and star of last year's freshman team, would be available after a similar knee operation. It was still doubtful, however, whether he would chance a season on the leg or wait until next year. But big John Kimbrough and the rest of the lads who captured the nation's fancy last season were definitely on hand.

To Jess Neely, starting at Rice institute as head coach, it was the beginning of a rough season—a season the fans have waited for. Neely is Houston's Moses, and the rail-birds, a persistent lot, predict considerable leading out of the wilderness.

Texas Christian greeted Kyle Gillespie, great junior back who successfully underwent a knee operation and prayed he would last out the season. If he does, he will be another Baugh or O'Brien. He is just that good. Baylor, with the dark horse label, and Arkansas with a stack of green material, started work today.

Texas League Hurler Bought By Indians

CLEVELAND, Sept. 5 (AP) — The Cleveland Indians announced the purchase today of Dewey Adkins, 21-year-old right-handed pitcher with a brilliant minor league record, from Oklahoma City of the Texas league.

Adkins will not report to the Tribe until Oklahoma City is out of the Texas league playoffs.

Adkins is a 6-foot, 4-inch 200-pounder who has won eight games against one defeat with Oklahoma City.

Farmer Jones Is 'Colorful' In His Mat Debut In City

That "breath of fresh air" in the wrestling profession has been discovered as far as Sportarena spectators who witnessed Wednesday night's abbreviated show are concerned.

There was only time for the "special" event last night before a downpour necessitated postponement, but the 20-minute prelim was long enough to permit Arkansas' Farmer Jones to demonstrate quite conclusively in his match with the "Flying Scot," Edgar Gideon of Glasgow, that when more color is brought into the ring, he—meaning the Farmer—will bring it.

Ducats Still Good

And that is exactly what Promoter Sled Allen plans for him to do next Wednesday night. The promoter announced that the entire card arranged for last night would be re-scheduled for next Wednesday night, the only exception being that the Farmer will be in a semi-final, one hour role.

Ducats purchased at last night's show will be good next week, said Promoter Allen.

Sporting long, somewhat wavy locks and a growth of whiskers that would have done justice to the proudest Arab, the Farmer came parading into the ring wearing sawed off blue jeans and sans shoes.

Uses Feet Too

It didn't take him long to show the good folk sitting in the rain that he could handle himself and the Scot either with his hands or his feet. Sticking his toes in the Scot's eyes, kicking him in the stomach and even batting him around the ring with the lower extremities, he kept the house in an uproar. Referee Dutch Mantell of Amarillo, who has witnessed perhaps more wrestle wrangles than most persons couldn't keep a straight face through the proceedings.

Regardless of the opposition, when Farmer Jones comes back he'll bring a brand of entertainment the people can go for without shouting for substitutes.

So when he returns next week in the one hour go his following should be greatly enlarged. His "hit" last night gained him the higher booking.

Scheduled to meet last night, booked to return in the same spot next week, "Big Train" Clements and "Big Mouth" Powell may spend the time awaiting their two hour session on the climaxing part of the program doing what they like most—that being the habit of telling the other off.

Dick Sampson of Denton and Ace Abbott of Abilene will meet on the opening preliminary. They were carded for the semi-final spot last night.

Cleveland Pennant Stock Takes A Dip

Tigers Turn On Loop Leaders

By GEORGE KIRKSEY
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Sept. 5—Cleveland pennant stock took a sharp dip today after the Tribe's Bob Feller had his ears pinned back by the Detroit Tigers.

Feller, who hasn't pitched a really outstanding game in a month, was given a terrific lacing yesterday by the Tigers who emerged from a 4-game losing streak and beat the Indians, 7-2. The triumph over the league leaders enabled Detroit to regain second place as the Yankees fell before the Senators, 6-5. The Indians' lead is now 3 games.

Feller Is Unimpressive

Cleveland has lost three straight and 7 out of its last 11. This wouldn't be so bad if it wasn't for Feller's unimpressive pitching. Only once since Aug. 4 when he let the Yanks down with five hits and beat them, 3-1, has Feller looked overpowering. That was against the Yanks again on Aug. 24 when he held them hitless for seven innings. But the strain of that performance told on Bullet Bob and in the end the Yanks blasted him to defeat in the last two innings, 3-2.

The question of overwork doesn't seem to enter into Feller's slump. He's big and powerful and can stand a lot of work. He pitched 278 innings in 1938 and 297 last year. He's pitched 273 innings this season and ought to be able to stand up well under 50 more innings of work during the next 23 days of the season. However, if Feller can't regain his form soon the Cleveland pennant barge is going to sink.

Tiger Bares His Claws

All season long the Indians have cuffed the Tigers around, winning 8 out of 13 from them. But yesterday the Tiger turned and bared his claws. The series now stands: Indians 8, Tigers 6, 8 games to play. Those eight games may well decide the pennant. If they should cut each other's throats, the Yanks could slip home the winner. If either team can dominate those remaining eight games, then that club is likely to bring home the bacon.

The Yanks struck a snag in Washington, losing to Joe Krakauskas, the Lithuanian lefthander who hadn't won a game all season. Although he gave up ten hits, Krakauskas pulled through to a 6-5 victory. The defeat dropped the Yanks back to third place.

Red Sox Win Two

The Boston Red Sox won two extra inning games from the Athletics, 6-5 (10-innings), and 5-4 (11 innings), to hang on the outer of the contenders, 5 1-2 games off the pace.

Bob Harris pitched the Browns to a 4-1 victory over the White Sox. Johnny Berardino had a perfect day at bat, with "3 for 3."

Cincinnati remained eight games in front of the National league pack after scoring a 12-inning, 3-2 victory over the Pirates before a night crowd of 30,543.

Hamlin Stops Phils

Luke Hamlin won his ninth victory as he pitched the Dodgers to a 3-0 triumph over the Phils. Hamlin stopped the Phils with eight hits before a Shibe park night crowd of 18,031, largest home crowd to watch the Phils in two years.

The Cards took over third place from Pittsburgh by handing the Cubs their ninth loss in 11 games, 4-2 before 16,197 fans.

Boston blanked the Giants, 2-0 behind the five-hit pitching of Dick Errickson.

YESTERDAY'S HERO: Schoolboy Rowe, lanky Detroit pitcher, who won his 13th game of the year against three defeats and pitched the Tigers out of a four-game losing streak and into second place with a 7-2, seven-hit win over the leading Indians.

Wolcott To Join Rice Grid Squad

BY WILLIAM T. RIVES

HOUSTON, Sept. 5.—Freddy Wolcott, the blond blur, has finished his collegiate track career, but for at least one more year fans will see his churning legs challenge hurdle records he himself lowered to seemingly unapproachable marks.

Wolcott said today that after a fling at intercollegiate football—his first—he would compete unattached next season in various important non-college meets.

Then he plans to coach track.

The tow-headed Rice institute hurdler has set more world and American records than any athlete in history. He is no One-Time Charley; most of his record performances he has duplicated frequently.

Tagged "Greatest Athlete"

More than a year ago Lawson Robertson, famed Olympic track coach, called Wolcott "the greatest athlete of today; perhaps of tomorrow."

That was before Wolcott ran the 200-meters low hurdles in 22.3; before he sped over the 220-yard high barriers in 22.5; before he ran the 120-yard high hurdles in 13.7; before he ran the 220-lows around a turn in 22.9, and before he raced the 110-meter highs in 13.9.

Freddy is the only man in Southwest conference annals to sweep three championships three straight times, setting records for each event. (Besides the hurdles, Wolcott runs the 100-yard dash—he's done the event in 9.5).

Last Races His Best

Brunson, the Rice coach, considers Wolcott the greatest athlete of "all time." A look at the record will prove that, he says.

"To me the most impressive thing about Fred is that he was not one of those sophomore stars who wilts as time goes on. Fred's greatest races were his last races. He ran the 120-yard highs in 13.9 or better in five of the last six meets in which he competed. The other time rain slowed him up."

Wolcott started his track career by accident.

One day at the county track meet at Snyder, the West Texas town Wolcott calls home, the sprinter of the Snyder High school team became ill. Freddy, a bystander, was hustled into service.

He didn't even have track shoes Donning tennis footgear, he won the 100-dash, the 220, and the hurdles.

Was Speedy Halfback

When he came back to Rice he was known principally as a speedy halfback who had been his high school district's leading scorer, averaging two touchdowns a game.

Coach Brunson recognized his track prowess and developed him.

A strong bond grew between tutor and pupil; a bond so strong that Wolcott insisted Brunson should keep the coveted watch awarded Freddy at Princeton on his greatest day—the day he broke two world and one American records.

"It's the one I want you to have," he mumbled to the flustered Brunson.

The coach sometimes unconsciously uses "we" in speaking of Wolcott's doings. "We had a good day at Minneapolis," he may say. Brunson doesn't mean to bask in Freddy's glory; the two simply have formed a partnership.

Throughout his collegiate career, Wolcott has led an absolutely normal life. He followed no strict regimen. He trained only about 45 minutes a day; denied himself no normal pleasures.

Because of his long layoff from football, it is problematical whether Wolcott may be able to make the Rice grid team this fall.

He probably will be used as a "spot player," dashing into the lineup when the situation calls for a speed demon to make those last few yards across the goal-line.

Even if he doesn't break into the starting line-up, his nuisance value should be terrific. It would not be a comforting thought for an enemy player to realize a man who can run 100 yards in 9.5 seconds is about to break loose.

"I'm going to give 'em the devil as long as I can," says Wolcott.

Already Rice fans are going around muttering:

"If we can only get him past the line of scrimmage."

Matador Squad To Be Much Stronger On Grid This Year

(Special To The Journal)

MATADOR, Sept. 5.—Though not exactly shouting for the "crying towels," Coach Don Martin isn't ready to concede what most fans of this section are—that his Matador High Matadors are the pick of Conference 4-A this grid season.

Ten lettermen form the nucleus for the squad which will attempt to march to a football conference championship against an array of stronger than usual elevens this fall.

Play Crowell Sept. 13

The Matadors this week are drilling twice daily, planning to taper off next Monday to one session a day. First contest on the Matador schedule lists a tilt at Crowell with the Wildcats Friday, Sept. 13.

Each of five lettermen battling for backfield posts have at least two years playing experience, and there are what might be termed veterans for every position except center and one tackle slot.

Allsup, Berryman Co-captains

Leading the contingent of veterans are Johnny Allsup and Mutt Berryman, halfbacks and co-captains. Allsup scored more than three-fourths of his team's points last season and was easily the outstanding man in the district. An exceedingly shifty runner, he was fast enough to win three first places in the district track meet last spring, incidentally tying the district record in the 100-yard dash.

Berryman plays the opposite halfback in capable, if less sensational fashion. His offensive work and blocking are outstanding.

Another standout is Jack Martin, 193-pound tackle who has played on the first eleven two years.

Phil Green and Bill Tunnell promise to handle the ends in efficient fashion. Each has one year's experience; Green weighs 155, Tunnell 150.

Returning lettermen at guards are Junior Pitts, 168, and Merritt Faulkner, 153. Each lettered for the first time last year.

Nelson, Kenedy Back

In the backfield, besides Berryman and Allsup, are Quarterback Leroy Nelson, 145, a two-year monogram winner. Wiley Kenedy, 185 pounds of driving fullback, promises to handle that slot in the manner befitting a two-year letterman.

Backfield understudy will be capable E. A. Day, 174 pounds, who has lettered for three years in a row.

After playing Crowell at Crowell in the opener, the Matadors come home to entertain the bi-district champion Olton Mustangs Sept. 20 in the final pre-conference game.

They open the conference season at home against Crosbyton on Oct. 4.

Martin, who played college football at East Texas State Teachers from 1933 until 1936, is beginning his third year as head coach of the Matadors. He will be assisted by Wilmer "Skinny" Green, who was a guard on the Texas Tech team from 1936 until 1939.

The schedule:
Sept. 13—Crowell at Crowell.
Sept. 20—Olton at Matador.
Sept. 27——Open.
Oct. 4—xCrosbyton at Matador.
Oct. 11—xSpur at Spur.
Oct. 18.—Turkey at Matador.
Oct. 25—xRalls at Matador.
Nov. 1—Silverton at Matador.
Nov. 8—xFloydada at Matador.
Nov. 15—xLockney at Lockney
Nov. 22—xPaducah at Paducah.

O'Brien Vs. Luckman In Grid Tilt Tonight

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 5 (AP)—Two of professional football's greatest aerial artists clash tonight as the Philadelphia Eagles and Chicago Bears pry the lid off a brand new football season in an exhibition game.

Matching wits—and tosses—will be tiny Davey O'Brien, of the Eagles, and Chicago's Sid Luckman, whose strong arm completed many a pass for Columbia. O'Brien may get the help of a former teammate at Texas Christian. Don Looney, who joined Philadelphia this year, is a top replacement at end.

Cleveland Rams Are One-Sided Victors

CLEVELAND, Sept. 5 (AP) — The Cleveland Rams of the National football league opened their season last night with a 29 to 0 victory over the Midwest College All-Stars in a game that gave clear indication that Parker Hall is still the key man of the club.

Hall showed unexpected strength as a ball-carrier in racing through the Collegians' line for two touchdowns.

Jack Nix, Mississippi State, scored on a 10-yard pass from Ken Heineman, Texas Mines.

THE State Observer, Austin weekly given over to things politic, is one of The Plainsman's favorite publications. Written in a sprightly manner each issue contains at least one original, bang-up approach to a current topic.

The current edition is no exception to the rule, and applies a poetic touch to the general subject of conscription and increased marriage statistics the nation over.

Under the heading, "Ah Hate Wah", which is strangely reminiscent of a speech made not so long ago by a very prominent interventionist, the verse is described as "being a poem of philosophical love."

Here 'tis:

My dear, I look into your deep, exotic eyes (Mascara)
Through your lovely lashes (Maybelline)
Gently touch your lovely tresses (came from Kresses)
And smell your perfumed breath (Listerine).

My pulses quicken with the lovely scent of woman
(Lifebuoy, Mum and other varied creams)
And I disregard my inner admonitions
And go on dreaming all my lovely dreams.

Though you're haggard, gaunt and bent, (The word is Glamour)
And you probably look like hell at early day.
I can only hold my breath and try to stammer
That I love you in a lovely, lovely way.

You're a phoney, I admit (in a lovely, lovely way)
You're skinny fore and very broad of aft.
But I promise I will love you, oh so very, very truly,
If you'll keep me out of Roosevelt's draft!

Mister Roosevelt charges Mister Willkie with injecting politics into the question of national defense.

Certainly, Mister Roosevelt must be mistaken.

Surely, Mister Willkie wouldn't do any such thing, any more than Mister Roosevelt would.

Whoever heard of a politician injecting politics into any sacred subject?

(Hey, bartender! See what the boys in the back room will have!)

PROOF that the educational safety campaigns conducted regularly in the schools of this country are beginning to pay wholesome dividends is contained in the National Safety Council's 1940 yearbook, "Accident Facts." Just off the press, this enlightening document reports that the elementary and high school students of the nation established another safety mark in 1939.

These youngsters between the ages of 5 and 14 set the lowest estimated accidental death total in the records, which extend back to 1913. The accidental death total for this group was 6,250—a decrease of 5 per cent under 1938.

Since 1922, when a definite national program of safety education was inaugurated, accidental deaths to children between 5 to 14 years of age have decreased 37 per cent. This is substantially more than twice the reduction shown by any other age group. Among persons 15 to 24 years of age the 1939 rate was only 1 per cent less than 1922. The 25-44 age group showed a decrease of 14 per cent, but the 5-64 age group's accidental death rate for 1939 was up 6 per cent above the 1922 figure.

Since all age groups have been exposed to these national safety campaigns, it would look from the facts as if the youngsters of this country are a lot more adept than their elders at learning how to stay safe and avoid accidents. Or perhaps there's some truth in that old adage that an old dog cannot be taught new tricks.

It cannot and must not be assumed, however, that the constantly improving record of our youngsters has yet reached a point of perfection.

It can be made still better and more impressive, especially if parents will accept their full responsibility in the matter.

As noted above, the record made by the young folks is traceable directly to safety courses in the schools.

Why not see if an additional improvement cannot be traced next year to safety advice and counsel in the home?

ONE cannot discuss for any length of time the question of young people and safety without bumping into the proposition of kids and cars—not only kids and their family automobiles, but with these stripped down jallopies so popular with them.

Most kids are reckless enough when they are granted permission to drive dad's car for an afternoon, or an evening. But put 'em behind the wheel of a stripped-downer and in nine cases out of 10 they go plumb wild.

The Plainsman has three boys, none of whom yet has reached the car-driving stage, but all of whom will get there some day, we hope.

Having heard parents shout that "my kids aren't going to do this, that or the other thing," and then having seen them eat their words, your humble servant isn't going to climb out on a limb at this stage of the game and say he'll never permit any of his kids to have a stripped down wreck in their late 'teens. Somebody might clip this out and confront him with it in a half a dozen years!

But if he ever is wangled into permitting his kids to get a jallopy—and if he does it'll be because they catch him in a weak-minded moment—he certainly is going to check up on their driving when they least expect it.

And if he catches 'em making jackasses out of themselves by endangering their lives and limbs and the lives and limbs of others, they'll not only lose their jallopy, but the Old Man'll whale the tar outen 'em!

WHEN The Plainsman's kids reach that careless age, they'll be just like other people's kids—just like the run of the mine of youngsters everywhere.

They'll get away from dad's eagle eye and they'll do a lot of damphool things dad used to do when he was a crazy kid.

They'll act up while driving dad's car; and if they have a jallopy, they'll skid around corners at high speed, weave in and out of traffic, pass cars on the right side and do all the other idiotic things most kids do.

But they'd better not let the Old Man catch 'em at it—and he's going to be snooping around, trying to catch 'em, too.

Which is what all parents should do under such conditions!

Memory Of The Moon

By JEANNE BOWMAN
(Copyright For The Journal)

YESTERDAY: Constance leaves El Cabrillo determined to raise moon for the dairy farm, somehow.

Chapter 14
Homecoming

Constance thought of Min's Tim's car as she drove her own coupe' out of the city garage. She patted the steering wheel as though to encourage it on, into that maelstrom of early evening traffic. Queer she'd never before noticed the noise and confusion.

Ahead of her lay The Family, and explanations. She'd worry about both when she faced them.

The first thing she saw, upon driving into the grounds, was the resplendent roadster which had belonged, after a fashion, to Don Cabrillo.

"Now what?" she wondered.

Lamson's face lighted with joy, then clouded. His eyebrows arched, his eyes rolled toward the ceiling and his shoulders seemed intent upon following.

"Lammy . . . what on . . . my word, are we having a funeral?"

The foyer was a mass of flowers, great baskets of blossoms filled the air with a heady fragrance.

"Your bag is in your car, Miss Constance?" he inquired and nodded to a trim new maid who was hurrying towards them.

"Of course, but—" Lamson was gone and the maid was insisting that Constance follow her.

"Will you please attend to your duties," Constance said. "I'm quite capable of finding my way about this house."

The maid disappeared and Constance tiptoed down the hall. Flowers everywhere. Heavenly Day, they'd had the living room done over again. And now the dining room; three long tables, exquisitely appointed, a new footman hovering over one.

Constance nearly ran into Lamson as he hurried into the house with her bag. "A wedding?" she demanded.

Lamson lost control of hisaitches. "H'it's a dinner to h'out dinner h'll dinners," he moaned.

"Listen," she grabbed him by the sleeve, "gentlemen don't visit ladies in their boudoirs, but I'm not feeling like a lady just now, so come on."

Lamson followed her upstairs and when she had closed the door behind him, she handed him a cigaret "Light up, Lammy, and start spilling. "What's happened since I went away?"

Lamson balanced gingerly on the edge of a chair. "C-Conchita," he began and stopped short.

Constance controlled her smile. She hadn't heard him call her that since she returned from her first boarding school. "That's all right. I like to hear you say Conchita. Now go on—"

Instead he reached into a pocket and drew forth a clipping.

Constance read it, slipper tapping. CABRILLOS TO SELL FAMOUS RANCHO, the heading advised her.

A second caption, elucidated—"Fabulous Price To Be Paid For El Cabrillo Rancho."

The clipping contained an interview with the Cabrillo family. Excerpts from it burned into the heart of the girl who read.

"—the days of the cattle barons are gone—"

"'Out of the mouths of babes,'" quoted Constance.

"—find it advisable to dispose of extensive holdings as times have changed and resident managers can no longer be trusted to give honest attention to the interests of absentee owners—"

Constance read the eulogy on Cabrillos past and present, through anger-dulled eyes. This then, was the thanks the Taylors were to receive: public condemnation.

'Credit'

Fine slits of sapphire shone through the black fringe of Constance's eyes as she looked up. "What has happened since this appeared?" she demanded.

"Credit!" stated Lamson. "Such credit I never saw given a Cabrillo."

"Don't perjure your loyalty, Lamson. I understand," soothed Constance. "You want to tell me that since then they've gone the limit, and by they I mean the family.

"Now listen. I don't want it known I'm here. I don't want to play Banquo at this evening's feast, but after that . . . well, just tell the maid that I'm . . . oh, say I'm a lady dick.

"Lammy!" her voice softened as she looked at the tired, old man. "How would you like to live on a ranch with plenty of horses—"

"'Orses!" echoed Lamson soulfully. "Oh, Miss Conchita, my father was an 'ostler—" he sighed suddenly. "No, I couldn't go. The promise I gave to your father."

Constance patted his arm. "We'll find a way," she promised. "Better go down now before anyone starts asking questions."

She locked the door behind him, then went to her desk, put the clipping to one side and drew note paper before her. Swiftly she wrote:—

"I know the newspaper stories released by my family will reach you. Please let me apologize for them. They spoke in ignorance of true conditions. As Juliano says, never has El Cabrillo had as efficient management.

"As soon as possible I will refute the printed statements and give you credit for your fine work—"

Constance slipped the letter into her bag, after addressing it to Peter Taylor, Senior, then turned out her light and went to the window to look down on the arriving guests.

Lights threw a luster on top hats and white shirtfronts, on folds of velvet, satin and furs. White eyes of limousines streamed up the driveway, and red tail lights blinked as they wheeled down again.

Once a cab stopped to deposit a tall, squarely-built figure, and Constance leaned close to the pane to look down and whisper— "Why . . . why, John!"

He had become real again. He'd stepped out of the background, where he'd been pushed by the more vivid life at El Cabrillo, and for a moment it seemed to Constance that only with the sight of him had she actually returned from the ranch.

She turned away then to study her position. One thing, the Cabrillos' headlong fling into debt substantiated her claim that the fifty thousand dollars wouldn't last long, once it was in their hands.

"Oh," she thought bitterly, "I wish this were Old England where they had a debtors' prison. Maybe that would teach this family the lesson they must learn some day.

"And why do I assume the burden? I'm not responsible for their actions? I'm not even bound by a promise to my father, as Lamson is.

"Why don't I let them sell the place and step out, start living my own life . . . let them sell—" she stopped with a sob. "I can't. I may as well be honest. I love El Cabrillo. I'm really saving it because I love it more than I love them."

The last car departed and comparative quiet reigned in the hall below. Assured the guests were all at dinner, Constance descended the stairs. "Going out to mail a letter,"

AN EASY ONE TO ANSWER

A puzzled reader of Avalanche-Journal newspapers telephoned the other day. She referred to conflicting claims of the British and Germans in regard to air losses they have suffered in fighting. Each claims to have destroyed approximately three times as many planes as have been lost. "Who can we believe?" the reader asked.

The answer to that was easy. Don't believe either one. Probably the loss of each nation is somewhere between what it admits and that claimed by the enemy.

However, it is reasonable to assume that German losses have been heavier in spite of general acknowledgement that their pilots and planes, taken as a whole, are rated somewhat superior to those of Britain. The superiority, if any, doubtless has been more than offset by the fact that most of the fighting has been over British soil where every weapon at Britain's command could be concentrated against them.

But as for the exact claims of the respective nations, don't believe them. They are propaganda. They go through the hands of censors who aren't going to approve any dispatches unless, in their opinion, it is helpful to themselves or harmful to the enemy. If figures on warplane losses aren't favorable to their country, they won't hesitate to manufacture some figures that are.

BY GYPSY ROSE LEE
"Strip Tease" Artist

DEAR WALTER: Meditating on the men I love, I find most of them have been the gentlemen for whom I worked. When I think of the Bosses, I feel a sharp twinge of nostalgia and a deep realization that these are the boys who helped me get along and who paid the salary.

First there was Sid Grauman at the California Theater. My sister June and I appeared in "The Blue Bird"; my mother was the Good Fairy of the piece. This dates my advent into show business. I seem to dimly remember it was the year of the Dempsey-Carpentier fight.

(Of course my mother carried me on).

Hal Roach was my next. He was making two-reel comedies with Harold Lloyd and Bebe Daniels. I won't mention my handsome salary for my first cinema effort — Miss Daniels, the star, was under contract for $45 a week. (Mother still carried me on).

Alex Pantages had the Gypsy on the payroll for a long time, then Sam Michaels took me under his wing. Billy Minsky saw me working in Newark in an act with six girls. He offered a contract and took the girls at increased salaries. He wanted me for his Republic Theater. "It'll be a showplace for you," he told me. I doubted this, but sure enough that's what it turned out. Flo Ziegfeld saw me Gypsy Rose Lee and offered me a principal's role in "Hot Cha." I worked in scenes, but since I had a chorus girl's rating with Equity I couldn't appear in the finale. This was a heart-breaker.

Ziegfeld was grand. Before the opening of "Hot Cha", we had an all-night rehearsal until 8 in the morning, and were called back at 11. All the weariness was forgotten when each girl got a note from the Great Glorifier. Each note was tucked in an expensive handbag and delivered with orchids.

RETURNING to burlesque to work for H. K. Minsky, I met young Joey Faye, my present sparring partner in "The Streets of Paris." Mike Todd was worried when Joey and I refused to rehearse our scenes, but the reason was, we had mastered every bit of burlesque foolishness in the Minsky classroom.

George White hired me for "Melody" and gave me a contract for $60, backed by the verbal agreement that I would never get less than $100. Came the Bank Moratorium and the dark days of 1932, but George never broke his promise. He rates a nice gold star on my list of All American Guys.

Billy Rose hired me for his Casino de Paree. There was early friction because I refused to work in the tableaux. Billy wouldn't believe it. "You who've been arrested twice, won't pose nude?" he said. "I wasn't exactly nude," I said. "I had my red bows glued on, and besides I was getting more money." "Ah, ha," said Billy, "so your modesty is monetary." Incidentally, Billy is now a neighbor, with his Aquacade right across the street from "Streets of Paris," and doing a thriving business, too.

LEE SHUBERT and Harry Kaufman gave me my first real break in "Ziegfeld Follies of 1937." Up to that time my speaking parts had consisted of such lines as "Shall I lay out your black satin, Madam?" and "Did you ring?" In the "Follies" I had a grand part but Lee Shubert objected to a piece of business which, though it had never been performed within the sacred portals of the Winter Garden, was, nevertheless, good for robust salvos of applause at the Republic and Irving Place. He drew the line on my removing my garter belt and dropping it into the orchestra pit. "Too much like burlesque," he said.

On the opening night I told my plight to Fanny Brice and Heywood Broun. "You can forget to forget," they counselled in unison. The garter belt went into the pit opening night — and every night thereafter.

Darryl Zanuck was my next boss. On my arrival in Hollywood, he showed me a stack of 20,000 letters, all protesting my appearance in pictures and suggesting that there were more deserving movie aspirants . . . They must not have realized that it took me 19 years to get there — I thought I was perfectly deserving. Anyway, my name became Louise Hovick for the duration, though Will Hayes, who insisted on the

Corcoran-Cohen Brain Trust Group Is Breathing Easier Now

New Deal Insiders Glad To See Hopkins Leave

By BRUCE CATTON
Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5—Nobody is saying anything about it out loud, but the innermost inner circle New Dealers are breathing much easier these days because of Harry Hopkins' resignation from the cabinet.

Catton

That may sound odd, since Hopkins himself is and always has been one of the elect, simonpure aged-in-the-vat New Dealers. But during the last couple of months there has been a sharp division between Hopkins and the Corcoran-Cohen group.

For one thing, the extremely close personal relationship existing between President Roosevelt and Hopkins has of late tended to freeze up the Corcoran-Cohen contacts with the White House.

More important, however, is the fact the Corcoran-Cohen crowd has felt that the third term campaign was being badly mismanaged under Hopkins' guidance.

Hopkins, like FDR, felt much more confident of a sweeping victory at the polls than did the Corcoran-Cohen group. This was perfectly manifest at the Chicago convention. Most of the New Dealers there were willing to compromise with the more conservative wing of the party in the interests of harmony.

Hopkins, who was running the draft movement, was not—the big idea being that FDR was sure to be re-elected, so why bother?

In Campaign?

After the convention something not unlike panic developed in New Deal circles because of this overconfidence at the top. All this began to come to a head when it became known that Paul V. McNutt would refuse to take part in the campaign unless Hopkins' attempt to eliminate him as a 1944 possibility was given up.

Finally, the feeling percolated through to the President and, it is said, somewhat abated his easy optimism.

Hopkins may be getting out of the cabinet, but it remains to be seen whether he is getting out of the campaign as well.

Miffed At Willkie

Isolationist senators are plenty peeved at Wendell Willkie, not so much because he came out for a more or less "interventionist" foreign policy as because he didn't do the coming out until the middle of August.

For some odd reason the isolationists had been hoping that Willkie was going to espouse a foreign policy they could support.

Hoping so, they delayed making their arrangements for an isolationist third party ticket.

Now that Willkie has undeceived them, it's too late. Third ticket maneuvers are still going on, but the consensus is that the time now is too short to do the kind of job that might have been done.

Memory Of The Moon

she whispered to Lamson.

The green maw of the post-box accepted the envelope. Constance drove on, trying to blind herself to the course of that missive. Someone would go down to the highway for the mail pouch. It would be brought to Peter Senior's table. He'd cough, rumble, and finally throw it across to Pedro.

"Please, God," whispered Constance seeking a glimpse of stars through the naked limbs of the park trees "please make them understand that the story was given in thoughtlessness."

She couldn't drive all night so she returned home, wormed her way through the driveway and, leaving the car before the garage, started back to the house. She stopped before the lighted windows of the solarium.

Somewhere an orchestra played discreetly. Couples danced through from the hall, down the tiled floors and back into the hall through another doorway.

There was her mother, radiant in amber velvet, looking at that moment only half the age of the daughter who scowled at her from the darkness of the terrace.

Constance scowled because she couldn't picture Nadine Cabrillo at the ranch. She belonged here; here in this exotic setting.

Don strode through, sleek and handsome. The girl in his arms adjusted her steps to his with a pained, adoring smile. Don would never adjust his steps to another's.

And then came Donna; exotic as a tropical blossom, in a frock that seemed a swirl of living blossoms; one scarlet flower in the high coils of her blueblack hair.

Donna and—Constance straightened. Donna and John Raskthorne engaged in a deeply serious conversation. Constance wondered if her feeling of alarm was jealously, and then she saw Donna jerk from John's arms, stomp tiny scarlet shoes and snap her fingers before John's patrician nose.

"Okay, sister!"

A hand closed on Constance's arm with the words, and simultaneously a flashlight blinded her.

"What's the business?" demanded the voice.

"Let go o mfy arm," warned Constance.

"Come on, come on, what are you up to?" droned the superior person beyond the flashlight.

"I'm Constance Cabrillo and I—"

"Yeah? Well, I'm old Don Cabrillo's ghost," chuckled the shadow. "Here, Ed, you go through her bag."

Constance fought the hand that gripped her. "You touch that bag and you'll be sorry," she promised. "Who are you?"

"We're private detectives, sister, put here to catch little blue-eyed snitchers. Want me to take you into the Cabrillos?"

"No," cried Constance. "But please look in my bag; you'll find my driver's license there, and if you can't believe what you read, call Lamson, the butler, he'll identify me."

"Fat chance," breathed the shadowy Ed. "You girls always work with someone on the inside. Let's take her down to the station for the night, the Cabrillos can come in tomorrow—" change, continued, and continues, to call me Gypsy Rose Lee.

Now I am working for Mike Todd, who has "Streets of Paris," Gay New Orleans and Dancing Campus at the Fair, and who produced "Hot Mikado" last year. In spite of his youth, I believe Mike was born with all of the feeling for showmanship that it took many of my previous bosses years to catch up with.

I AM a Worlds Fair fan, though doing three and four shows a day takes me back to hard-working burlesque days. What did I do on my first day off? I visited all the girls on the Midway. I saw Zorina, Rosita Royce, 20,000 Legs Under the Sea, Why Do, and Frozen Alive. In my next free moment I want to see little Betty Garrett do her lower-berth strip-tease in Railroads on Parade. That sounds like a novelty.

When Sally Rand opened in town the other day, I had a ringside table. Guess we all like a busman's holiday, because I've caught glimpses of Ann Corio, Margie Hart, Georgia Southern and Muriel Page in the audience at "Streets of Paris."

And so, the Men I Love have been my bosses. I also love a fellow who once, a long time ago, said "Orchids to Gypsy Rose Lee and her nudist colony." That's when I first felt I might go places. That's when I first started keeping a scrap book.

DEATH LEAP HALTED—Stanley Logan, 22, army private, is shown on a fourth-story window ledge in New York from which he threatened to jump before being forced back to safety by two priests, firemen and police. A few days previously, Logan's 15-year-old girl friend jumped to her death from the same window when fire swept the building. At the right is a long-range view of the threatened suicide attempt.

Brief Bits Of News . . . .

Go To Amarillo—Dean A. H. Leidigh of the division of agriculture at Texas Technological college and Earl T. Duke, assistant professor of agronomy left early this morning for Amarillo, where Dean Leidigh was to preside at a regional grassland conference this morning. Ernest Mader, instructor in agronomy, already was in Amarillo to attend the conference, which will continue through Friday.

Condition Satisfactory—Condition of Floyd Koen of 3302 Avenue J was reported satisfactory this morning in St. Mary's hospital, where he is receiving treatment of pleurisy.

Dismissed From Hospital—Patricia Privett, 7-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Privett of 1906 Twenty-Eighth street, was dismissed from St. Mary's hospital after treatment for an injury suffered early Wednesday night when she fell from her bicycle near the residence. Her collarbone was fractured.

Drunks Give Trouble — Nothing happened on the police front Wednesday night, except that the drunks were active. Two of them got out easily. They had joined the army Wednesday afternoon and so were released to the recruiting officer. Another "passed out" in the automobile of a friend, who said he couldn't dislodge him. The police could—and did. Another drunk was found lying on the ground. He awakened this morning in jail.

Alleged Burglar Held—In lieu of $1,000 bond, Presley Van Zandt of Tahoka was held in county jail this morning for federal authorities on a charge of burglary of Tahoka postoffice.

No Jury Report Soon—Burton S. Burks, district attorney, said this morning a 99th district grand jury impaneled Monday by Judge E. L. Pitts was "up to its neck in work and shows no indications of getting through soon." Seventy-five witnesses had been before the investigatory body through Wednesday and others sat in an anteroom subject to call this morning.

Goes To San Antonio—K. M. Renner, head professor of dairy manufactures at Texas Technological college, will leave today for San Antonio to serve as chairman of discussion groups at a farmer-industry conference and short course Friday. The Texas Manufacturers association will sponsor the conference for men in agriculture and industry in the San Antonio area. Renner is chairman of the agricultural livestock committee of the association.

Leaves For Perryton—Mrs. Willard McSpadden, the former Miss Oleta Kelley of Lubbock, left today for Perryton to resume her duties as teacher in the high school. She has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Kelley, 2123 Main street.

Daughter Born—A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Foreman of 1713 Texas avenue at 7 o'clock Wednesday morning in the home.

School Buses Alter Routes

Four changes in the routes of buses which will serve Lubbock city schools were announced this morning by A. C. Jackson, business manager of the independent school district.

The changes as described in a memorandum from Jackson's office follow:

Route 3, known as the Southwest ward route; the bus will go out on the Tahoka highway to its first stop approximately one and one-half miles south of the intersection of the Tahoka and Slaton highways; the last stop will be at the intersection of the Slaton highway and Thirty-fourth street where the highway crosses the railroad to the cemetery.

On Route 6

On route 6, the bus will travel out on Nineteenth street to one block east of Coffman courts and then south to Twentieth street for the first stop; children will be required to walk to this point to be picked up; the bus then will proceed southwest to Thirty-fourth street and east on Thirty-fourth to Rose avenue for its last stop.

On route 8, the bus will go out on the Slaton highway, then south on the old Tahoka highway, and then west on the new Tahoka highway back to school. The first stop will be nine-tenths of a mile east of the intersection of the Tahoka and Slaton highways. The last stop will be on the Tahoka highway nine-tenths of a mile south of its intersection with the Slaton highway.

On route 10, the route will be south of Lubbock on Avenue P, then west two miles, then north on the Carraway road to Thirty-sixth street, and thence east to Avenue W for the last stop. Children not catching the bus at the last or previous stops will be required to furnish their own transportation.

Rotary Zone Session Set Next Thursday

Lubbock Rotary club will not have a regular luncheon meeting next Wednesday as announced at this week's meeting, but instead attendance for the week will be counted at the zone meeting Thursday night, Sept. 12, at Texas Tech's stock judging pavilion, President Overton W. Ribble announced today.

Ribble had previously announced that a Wednesday luncheon would be conducted.

A large attendance from Rotary clubs over the district is indicated for the zone meeting, Ribble said. Levelland and Lockney have notified him the clubs there plan to attend 100 per cent. Lockney will not hold a meeting next week, the zone meeting counting in the club's attendance. Floydada plans to send 25 delegates, Brownfield at least 20 and Lamesa 15, Ribble has been notified.

The zone meeting is to begin next Thursday night at 7 o'clock at the Tech pavilion. A chicken barbecue will precede the program.

Jeff H. Williams of Chickasha, Okla., director of Rotary International, is to make the principal address at the meeting.

Battle For Second Is Still On In Texas

(By The Associated Press)

A nip-and-tuck battle for second place between Beaumont and San Antonio is about all Texas league fans have to look forward to until the regular season ends Sunday.

The Shaughnessy play-off contestants have been determined with Houston to play Oklahoma City and Beaumont to meet San Antonio.

San Antonio clung to a half-game lead over Beaumont when both clubs won their games last night.

The Missions defeated Shreveport 4-3 and the Exporters won over Houston 4-1.

Rain caused cancellation of the Dallas-Tulsa and Fort Worth-Oklahoma City games.

Mrs. Lee Hubby New Country Club Leader

Lubbock Country club ladies gathered in business session Wednesday, elected officers and discussed various golfing activities for the next year.

The meeting was conducted in connection with the regular "ladies day" at the club.

Selected president of the group was Mrs. Lee Hubby.

Other officers named included Mrs. Olan Key, vice president; Mrs. Fenner Tubbs, secretary and treasurer; Mrs. Cliff Widener, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Homer Hall, reporter.

Hostess for the day was Mrs. Charles Akey.

In a "cries" tournament, Mrs. Widener won the upper bracket on the front nine with par figures, Mrs. Bob Crawford taking the lower bracket honors.

Others at the luncheon and meeting include Mesdames M. L. Waldrep, jr., C. L. Dean, C. C. Longabaugh, Bill Helwig, M. M. Brown, K. L. Riggs, T. E. Patterson and Miss Ruth Ford.

Chile now has 5,446 miles of railways and 26,759 of roads.

Doctors Porter and Sistrand reported. The infant, who weighed 8 pounds, was named Bobbie June.

Elected At Littlefield—Littlefield school board has elected Truman Jones, June graduate of the agricultural education department of Texas Technological college, to teach vocational agriculture next school term. He will succeed Harold Frazier, also a Tech graduate, resigned. Jones was registered from Poolville when attending Tech.

Sheriff's Posse Of El Paso A Rough Riding Outfit; Admit That Boots Hurt Their Feet

(By The Associated Press)

EL PASO, Sept. 5.—The sheriff's posse of El Paso is the roughest ridin' gang of dude cowhands that ever met a train—down at the union station.

Ninety strong, with bandanas, red shirts and umpteen-gallon hats, they all admit their boots hurt their feet.

Henry Wooldridge, posse president, is in a business that darn' near ruint the hoss. He's head of an El Paso automobile agency!

The posse was organized in November, 1937, for the specific purpose of "reviving and preserving the spirit of the Old Southwest."

Sheriff Chris Fox, who has been the law in El Paso county since 1933, was elected top hand. Seventy-five men joined as charter members—mostly businessmen with a few ranchers thrown in.

After a posseman has enough riding practice to turn his saddle blisters callous he gets to travel mile: in parades and he has to greet prominent visitors at the station. This may mean rising as early as 5:30 a. m., getting on a nag and riding five miles into town from the posse corral.

Closest the posse came to a real, old-fashioned westedn gunfight was in May when Deputy Sheriff John Cramer was stabbed and shot to death by a prisoner on a lonely road. The killer fled into the sand hills.

Two hours later the entire posse was ready to ride in pursuit but word arrived that three deputy sheriffs had found the fugitive's trail. After a chase of 20 miles they caught up with him and killed him in a pistol duel.

Other western cities have organizations similar to El Paso's posse.

LAYING CURB, BUTTER

TAHOKA—Curb and gutter is being laid on West North Third street from Main street west to the high school. The street east of the high school will be paved for 400 feet for a width of 50 feet in front of the grade building. It is a joint City-WPA project.

Women are much less susceptible to color blindness than are men.

Grassland Parley Held In Amarillo

AMARILLO, Sept. 5 (AP)—Several hundred government and college specialists, government employes and ranchers were here today for the opening of the southern Great Plains grassland conference.

The specialists have completed a four-day tour of regrassing projects and experiment station work in Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Colorado and Kansas.

Funeral Rites Are Not Set

Body of D. A. McGonagill, 32, highway patrolman of the Lubbock district who was killed by lightning near Lockney late Wednesday afternoon, is in Plainview.

Funeral arrangements this morning were pending arrival of relatives in Plainview, said Capt. W. W. Legge, commander of the Lubbock district. It was expected that burial would be in El Paso or Marathon.

McGonagill was stationed in Plainview.

He was knocked from his motorcycle when riding about three miles east of Lockney on the Lockney-Floydada highway shortly before 6 o'clock.

Electrical storms accompanied local rains over the South Plains late Wednesday.

Glasses Burned

Captain Legge said McGonagill apparently died instantly. The motorcycle kept moving and the victim remained astride about 130 feet.

The shafts of his glasses were burned off and at each place where metal contacted his body, there were bad burns. His body was badly bruised.

In Service 2 Years

McGonagill had been stationed at Plainview since last February and had been in the patrol service two years. He formerly was stationed at Cameron.

He is survived by his wife; parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. McGonagill of Marathon; a brother, Eldon McGonagill of Marathon, and a sister, Mrs. James Worthington of Austin.

Rain over the section was not widespread. A few miles south of Lubbock in the Woodrow community, roadside ditches and field furrows were quickly filled in an early night downpour that lasted only a few minutes.

Abernathy had a good shower within a radius of seven miles north, there were two inches of rain, it was reported. It sprinkled at Ralls, where 2 1-2 inches fell Tuesday.

A quarter inch of rain fell in Slaton but Dickens remained dry.

The Panhandle area received good rains. At Amarillo and Pampa, opening playoff games of the West Texas-New Mexico league, were halted.

Flood water isolated several northeast Oklahoma towns after a day of pouring rains, the Associated Press reported. Small streams were sent surging out of their banks to flood lowlands, block highways and railroads, and disrupt communications.

Others Killed

Two other persons were killed by lightning bolts in Oklahoma. Arline Theimer, 11, was struck down at Oklahoma City and William Dori, Frisco railroad section hand, at Pawnee, was killed.

Heaviest rains fell in a section bounded by Pawnee, Pawhuska, Tulsa, Okmulgee and Bristow. Virtually all roads in that area were blocked. One official estimated highway damage in Tulsa county alone at $50,000.

Tom Garrard In 19th Area

AUSTIN, Sept. 5 (AP)—Congressional district chairmen for the Democratic drive in Texas were announced today by Campaign Director Myron Blalock of Marshall at state committee headquarters here.

In addition to the congressional district chairmen, local committees were announced in large cities to work under direction of the congressional district chairman.

Names Announced

The congressional district chairmen are:

(1) Tom Angor, Marshall; (2) James E. Wheat, Woodville; (3) Tom Pollard, Tyler; (4) A. H. Eubanks, McKinney; (5) Harry P. Lawther, Dallas; (6) Clay Bedell, Hillsboro; (7) Neal Tribble, Navasota; (8) Mrs. M. L. Gill, Houston; (9) Clark Thompson, Galveston; (10) Edward Clark, Austin; (11) Cecil Glass, Marlin; (12) Ward Bailey, Fort Worth; (13) George Moffett, Chillicothe; (14) Mrs. R. A. Thompson, Corpus Christi; (15) J. C. Looney, Edinburg; (16) Robert L. Holliday, El Paso; (17) W. R. Ely, Abilene; (18) R. E. Underwood, Amarillo; (19) Tom Garrard, Tahoka; (20) R. L. Bobbitt, San Antonio. (21) Dorsey Hardeman, San Angelo.

In the sixth district J. Thad Scott of Houston, who was active in the movement to have the Texas Democratic convention declare for a third term instead of endorsing Vice President John Nance Garner has been tendered a place on the local committee to serve under Mrs. Gill, it was announced, but his acceptance has not been received. Scott already had formed a campaign committee in Houston.

A finance committee was also announced for the sixth district with Jesse Andrews as chairman. Other members of the finance committee are Walton Taylor, Rex Baker, Lewis Dixon, Vincent Chido and R. R. Lewis.

Shallowater Lodge Formed Wednesday

SHALLOWATER, Sept. 5 (Special)—Shallowater Masonic lodge was granted authority under a special dispensation to start work at a meeting here Wednesday night.

A special program was presented at the recently-completed lodge hall, and W. Guy Casey, deputy district grand master, and Hugh J. McClellan, secretary of Yellowhouse lodge 841, AF&AM, both of Lubbock, explained necessary procedure to chartering the lodge.

When the lodge was opened, H. B. Bryan, past master of the Lubbock lodge, Howard Hunt, Edgar Inmon, John Portwood, McClellan and Casey occupied stations. Later the stations were turned over to appointed officers of the Shallowater lodge; Lee Pierce, worshipful master; D. J. Brown senior warden; E. R. Evans, junior warden; Joe Miller, treasurer; Edwin Merrell, secretary; M. J. Williams, senior deacon; E. R. Merrell, junior deacon, and J. H. Galey, tiler.

Several other lodges were represented by their masters: Abernathy by D. Z. Ward, Anton by E. L. Roach, Crosbyton by J. L. Collier, Slaton by Earl Johnson. M. J. Nelson of Slaton, former master, also attended.

The lodge will conduct regular meetings the third Friday of each month. On Sept. 20 a special program will be in Shallowater community house, Pierce announced.

From Lubbock also attended: Durwood H. Bradley, Lubbock city attorney who spoke on dangers caused by totalitarian conquest, Henry Jenkins, Cliff Elliott and R. C. Hankins.

Littlefield's First Bale Ginned Tuesday

LITTLEFIELD, Sept. 5 (Special)—Littlefield's first bale of 1940 cotton was ginned at Lamb county cooperative gin here Tuesday without cost to the grower, R. W. Ivey, who resides 12 miles south of town.

Ivey picked over 25 acres of cotton, he said, to get the first bale. From the 1,540 pounds of seed cotton, a 440 pound bale was ginned.

The cotton, Vernon half and half, was planted April 15 by Ivey and his son. He is a dry land farmer and has 110 acres in cotton, the rest of his 1,200 acres being in feed.

Last year the first bale for Littlefield came on Aug. 30.

A first bale is not new to Ivey. He came here from Briscoe county where in 1936, 1937 and 1938 he had the first bales.

Littlefield Chamber of Commerce has raised a premium for the producer. To date approximately $50 had been raised, said John A. Price, president.

GOES TO FLOYDADA

LITTLEFIELD— Gayle Hemphill, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Hemphill of Littlefield, has accepted a post as coach at Floydada. He graduated from W. T. S. T. C. and was coach last year at Spade.
