GOP Leaders Set To Push Own Anti-Inflation Program

ESCORTED TO WORK—Workers at the Univis Lens Co. plant in Dayton, Ohio, are shown as they walk through a gate to the company plant while Ohio National Guardsmen with fixed bayonets keep a watch to prevent trouble. The plant has been the scene of violence the past several days as strikers and non-strikers clashed. Finally, the troops were ordered to patrol the violence torn area. They took over Tuesday. ## Troops Patrol Strike Front

(By International News Service)

DAYTON, O., Aug. 3—A booing, yelling, disorderly crowd of 500 to 600 at the strikebound Univis Lens Co., plant in Dayton dwindled to a meek 50 or 60 late today under a stern "no fooling" policy of National Guard troops.

The 1,400 guardsmen used tear gas, tanks and fixed bayonets under the overall protection of machine guns to herd recalcitrant spectators back from the shoulder-to-shoulder cordon the troops threw around the plant.

Gov. Thomas J. Herbert and the guard's top two commanders —Adj. Gen. Chester W. Goble and Brig. Gen Kenneth Cooper— made a flying trip to Dayton to inspect the work of the troops.

Emergency Declared

Herbert called the guardsmen from a dozen southwestern Ohio cities and towns to maintain order when Dayton city officials declared a "state of emergency" and admitted they were unable to cope with the striking CIO United Electrical Workers.

The guard, however, quickly re-established order and succeeded in limiting pickets to the three at each gate permitted by a court injunction. At separate times the number of pickets has numbered as many as 600 in a solid, six-abreast line.

Under the watchful eyes of the guard, which used five tear gas grenades to break up one mob of 400 milling union sympathizers, some 450 non-strikers of the plant's normal complement of 650 workers returned to their benches. The plant has been strikebound since May 5.

Police Use Tear Gas

There were no injuries in the latest outbreak, although four unionists were arrested. Pickets said the tear gas used by the troops apparently was milder than that used by city police last week.

Louis Kaplan, International organizer for the UEW, drew a 15-day jail sentence and was placed under a $2,500 peace bond by Judge Paul T. Klapp. He had been ordered to stay away from

CIO Phone Workers Approve Contract Without Pay Hike

NEW YORK, Aug. 3 (AP)—CIO long distance telephone workers have voted about 2 to 1 to approve a contract without a general wage increase, but the union said it would meet immediately to discuss reopening wage talks.

J. J. Moran, president of the CIO American Union of Telephone Workers, which claims to represent 25,000 workers in 42 states, announced the results of membership balloting today.

He said the vote was 3,043 to 1,610 in favor of approving the contract, which the union negotiated with the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. in June.

The 21-month contract provides for reopening of wage negotiations at any time, along with improvements in night differential pay, overtime for holidays and pay for certain telephone plant jobs.

Norman said that in view of wage increases won by other unions, he had called a special meeting of the AUTW executive board here Aug. 10 to consider reopening the wage issue.

Reds May Seek End To West Germany Plans

Allied Envoys Await Answer From Stalin

By THOMAS C. WATSON
INS Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Aug. 3 — Eastern European sources said in London tonight that Soviet Premier Stalin probably will demand withdrawal of plans for a west German state as his price for a new effort to settle East-West difficulties.

Sources close to diplomats of countries behind the iron curtain said they believed the Soviet leader would make this condition in answer to proposals by American, British and French envoys at their Kremlin meeting.

The Soviet bloc diplomats indicated their belief that the western envoys had proposed calling an immediate four-power conference aimed at swift settlement of the Berlin crisis and other Soviet-Western differences.

According to these informants, the Soviet line of action is indicated by the recent Polish note to the British government protesting the London accord to set up a separate state in western Germany.

In its note, the Polish government blamed the London accord for the present Berlin impassee.

Western diplomatic sources in London believed, however, that experts of the Big Four may soon begin negotiations aimed at finding a basis for high level ministerial talks designed to ease the East-West cold war.

But these sources urged only "cautious optimism" in assaying the developments in Moscow.

Envoys' Report Studied

It is believed that U. S. Ambassador Lewis Douglas is maintaining close private contact with British Foreign Secretary Bevin on the whole situation.

Douglas called at the British foreign office this afternoon to discuss the report on the Stalin meeting sent in by Frank Roberts, Bevin's personal emissary in Moscow.

A foreign office spokesman said "it may be some days before anything becomes known" of what transpired at the Kremlin parley. It was learned the three western envoys had agreed to say nothing of what went on at the meeting.

While the three western governments studied their envoys' reports, they maintained strict secrecy on the situation. Moscow also was silent.

A British foreign office spokesman indicated the East-West situation is still regarded as "very, very delicate." He said there is no immediate prospect of a big three or big four meeting of heads of state.

City Clears Way For C-C Building

By H. I. KIEFER
Avalanche Staff Writer

Chief obstacle to the erection of a separate building for the chamber of commerce and allied organizations was removed at a special meeting of the city commission at a luncheon in the Hilton Hotel Tuesday.

The commission approved a 32-year lease to the chamber of the lot on Texas avenue at Ninth street immediately north of the American Legion home.

Homer D. Grant, chamber president, announced the organization now is in position to proceed with plans to erect a building to house that organization, the Board of City Development, the Junior Chamber, the Panhandle-South Plains Fair association and the Retail Merchants association.

Estimated Cost $50,000

All the organizations now have headquarters in the city hall. The space vacated will be used for various municipal purposes.

As tentatively planned, the new building will be one story, probably with walls and foundation for a second floor. It will front approximately 54 feet on Texas avenue and extend about 125 toward the ally. Estimated cost is $50,000. Architectural design will harmonize with other buildings in the block.

Under terms of the agreement, the chamber is to pay $1 a year for the lease, and will pay all construction cost of the new building.

Rent-free occupancy is stipulated for 10 years. Between the 10th and 32nd year, the city will have authority to take possession of the building after a year's notice upon reimbursing the chamber for construction costs. After 32 years, title of the building will revert to the city or the chamber can be required to remove it.

Three Killed In Auto Crash Near Childress

CHILDRESS, Aug. 3 (AP)—Three persons were killed and one injured in an auto-truck crash two miles west of Goodlett, Texas, about noon today.

The dead were Mr. and Mrs. Buel Cunningham, and their 35-year-old invalid son of Waurika, Okla. They were occupants of the automobile.

M. E. Shelby of Wichita Falls, driver of a produce truck, was treated at Quanah hospital for a cut heel tendon.

Housewives' Rebellion Against High Meat Prices Gains Power

(By The Associated Press)

THE HOUSEWIFE uprising in 10 Texas cities against the high cost of meat was stronger by 10,000 women Tuesday.

Pledging its support to a proposed boycott was the Federation of Women's clubs of Dallas. Its membership exceeds 10,000.

It asked its members to join housewives in Dallas, Beaumont, Orange, Paris, Corpus Christi, Austin, Waco, Galveston, Abilene and Hamlin in refusing to buy meat between Aug. 9 and Aug. 16.

Abilene, Galveston and Hamlin housewives joined in plans yesterday. At Abilene Mrs. Rufus Stokes telephoned 200 women organizing a telephone chain to promote the proposed boycott. At Galveston Mrs. George B. Heard, leading the drive, estimated that with the relay of calls she said were promised by housewives, several thousand families were planning to do without meat Aug. 9-16.

Hamlin women were organizing a drive to coincide with that at Abilene.

Berlin Dispute Again Flares

BERLIN, Aug. 3 (INS)—German police in the Soviet sector of Berlin tonight seized the home and furniture of Johnannes Stumm, non-Communist police chief appointed by the city council.

The action, further widening the East-West rift in Berlin, came as Russia and the Western Powers sought to lay the groundwork for settlement of their differences.

The Soviet-controlled police also issued new interzonal travel regulations between Berlin and the western zones, tightening the Russian grip on movement of Germans.

Seizure of Stumm's home was ordered by Paul Markgraf, the pro-Soviet police chief in divided Berlin.

Stumm himself is living in the American sector of the city. His office disclosed that tow of his policemen, and the crew of a police radio car from the British sector, along with the car, vanished mysteriously Saturday night.

The belief was expressed that the missing policemen were either lured into the Soviet sector and seized or kidnaped from the western sectors of the city.

Uniforms Said Taken

It also was charged that Soviet-controlled police searched the homes of all members of Stumm's force living in the Soviet sector and seized their uniforms.

In another development, the Russians began rerouting long distance telephone lines between the Soviet sector of Berlin and the Soviet zone of Germany.

Long distance lines for all of Berlin at present pass through the American sector.

There was some speculation that the Russians may be considering cutting telephone communications between the western parts of Berlin and the western zone of Germany.

Meanwhile, despite the latest flareup, the first indication appeared of a compromise solution to Berlin's tangled East-West currency deadlock. Although indirect, it was the first indication in many months that the Russians are willing to work out a compromise on currency—a main point of contest in this complex situation.

Four Nabbed In Lamesa Burglary

LAMESA, August 3 (Special)—Four persons, three of whom have signed written confessions, have been taken into custody in connection with the burglary on the night of July 3 of the Fred Sanders grocery here. Sheriff A. M. (Buck) Bennett of Dawson county announced today.

Charges of burglary have been filed against Weldon T. Flowers, 24, and Mrs. Flowers, 23, of Jal, N. M., and Carl Gardenhire, 23, and Mrs. Gardenhire, 20, of Lamesa, Bennett said.

Returned To Lamesa

Bennett and Ranger J. L. Rogers, who assisted in the entire investigation of the burglary, returned Flowers to Lamesa from Wichita Falls early today. Already in custody were the two women, Bennett reported, and said that Gardenhire surrendered to him here this morning.

The four allegedly removed the safe from the grocery, loaded it into a waiting car, and hauled it into the country, where all records and checks were burned after an undetermined amount of cash had been removed. The safe was located shortly after the burglary.

The two men have admitted the theft of three automobiles since the time of the burglary, Bennett stated, and added that Flowers had been given a suspended sentence for car theft here several months, ago.

Total loss in the grocery burglary was estimated at several hundred dollars. The store has been burglarized three times in the past nine years.

New Record High Price For Hogs Set At Chicago Market

CHICAGO, Aug. 3 (AP)—A new record high price for hogs was set at the Chicago stockyards today when a small lot sold at $31.25 a hundred pounds. The previous record of $31.10 was set Monday.

The day's hog receipts were the smallest in nearly three months. Steady to strong prices were paid for most hogs. The average price of $26.40 set a new August record. The top price for full loads was $31.

Former Member Of Communist Underground Testifies

Additional High U. S. Workers Named As Leaders In Spy Ring

By JOHN B. OWEN
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3 — Whittaker Chambers, who said he once served in the Communist underground in Washington, swore today that it was headed by a number of U. S. government officials, including:

Alger Hiss, State department official who later rose to be secretary general of the San Francisco conference at which the United Nations was launched, and

Nathan Witt, who served successively as attorney and executive secretary for the National Labor Relations board.

White Said "Traveler"

Chambers also declared a number of other government officials were among the leaders of the Red network in the Capitol during his life as a Communist party member from 1924 to 1937.

Chambers, now a senior editor for Time magazine, testified before the House Un-American Activities committee as it dug into stories of a widespread spy ring in the federal government.

He asserted that Harry Dexter White, former Assistant Secretary of the treasury, was "certainly" a fellow traveler. Chambers said he tried to persuade White to "break away from the Communist group" but failed.

Statement Denied

The witness also told of seeking unsuccessfully to get Hiss to "break away from the party."

Hiss, now president of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, said in New York: "I don't know Mr. Chambers. As far as I know I never met him. And there's no basis for the statement which has been reported to me that he made to the committee."

Chambers named other cell leaders of the Red network as Lee Pressman, Donald Hiss, Victor Perlo, Charles Cramer or Kramer (also known as Krivitsky), John Abt and Henry Collins.

He said he told his story to government authorities in 1939 but that nothing happened.

Wallace Backers Named

Robert E. Stripling, committee counsel, described Donald Hiss as a brother of Alger and a State department employe from 1938 to 1945.

He said Pressman formerly was general counsel for the Works Progress administration and other agencies. Pressman was for years the general counsel of the CIO. He quit to support Henry Wallace's Progressive party after the CIO came out in opposition to Wallace for President.

Abt was described also as active in support of Wallace, and a former counsel for the Agriculture Adjustment Administration and other agencies.

Purpose Outlined

Chambers said that Collins was once with the agriculture department. He called him a treasurer for the group who collected party dues and turned them over to Chambers.

Chambers, a short, husky man, said he dropped Communism in 1937. He felt, he said, that "its triumph means slavery to men . . . and spiritual night to the human mind and soul."

The purpose of the underground group as he knew it was "infiltration" of the government, the witness said.

From acting Chairman Mundt (R-SD) of the committee came praise for Chambers and Miss Elizabeth Bentley, a previous witness who has unwound a story of spy work for Russia here during the war. She has named more than 30 government people as sources of information that went to Moscow.

Mundt said Chambers and Miss Bentley were to be congratulated for their "courage and patriotism" in revealing their past Communist associations.

"Slowly and surely," he said, "we're piecing together this pattern of Communist conspiracy to a gullible and rather indifferent America to show it is a fact that 'it can happen here'."

Across the Capitol, Chairman Ferguson (R-Mich) of a Senate Expenditures subcommittee also digging into the spy ring stories, complained that the administration hadn't come through with information requested.

TAX RATE NOT CHANGED

School Board Gives Okay To Budget For New Year

By CHARLES STONE
Avalanche Staff Writer

THE board of directors of Lubbock Independent School district met last night at the school business and tax office to discuss and approve an estimated budget for the 1948-49 school year.

Prior to consideration of the new budget, the board found it necessary to approve an expanded budget for the 1947-48 school year. Current expenses for the year had reached a total considerably above the $1,244,111 allotted in the original budget for that purpose.

Figures Are Compared

Principal reasons cited for the increase in current expenses were increases in cost of operation and maintenance of school plants, along with a sizable increase in cost of instructional service brought about by advancements in teachers' salaries.

The estimated budget for the 1948-49 school year, approved by the board at last night's meeting, was set at $2,829,578, to be disbursed in the following manner: Administration, $54,232; instructional service, $1,077,121; operation of school plants, $85,600; maintenance of school plants, $27,500; auxiliary agencies and coordinating activities, $157,840; fixed charges, $11,200; capital outlay, $1,175,000; debt service, $241,085.

Revenue to be used for current expenditures during the 1948-49 school year is estimated at $1,389,065. Some $616,000 of that amount will come from state apportionment, based on 11,200 scholastics at $55 per scholastic. Another $846,300 will come from tax income based on a $70,000,000 valuation at the current rate of $1.30 per $100 valuation, less about seven percent for delinquent taxes.

Maintain Present Tax Rate

By comparison, the $2,829,578 budget for 1948-49 seems considerably lower than the $3,048,057.10 allotted for 1947-48, but such is not actually the case. During the 1947-48 year, $1,650,550.09 was included on disbursements as capital outlay, compared to a capital outlay of $1,175,000 for the 1948-49 budget. Work on considerable new construction was started the past school year.

The board considered at length means of securing sufficient revenue to take care of the expanding needs of the next few years in the school system of Lubbock. However, after discussing the points in question and

It's A 'Crime' All Right -- But Nothing Police Can Halt

(By The Associated Press)

SEATTLE, Aug. 3 — Daylynne Rogers, 21, sleepless in the early morning hours at the YWCA hotel, heard outside her window the words, "holdup" and "money" and "cars."

She summoned police who traced the conversation to a garage next door.

Detective Sgt. M. E. Madden said two garage attendants and a merchant patrolman explained: "We were just talking about the high prices of everything."

Negro Charged In Slaying Here

Bond of $3,500 was set Tuesday afternoon for Sevard T. Jones, 24, a negro of 805 East Twenty-fifth, binding him over to an Aug. 9 grand jury on a charge of murder with malice of Julian May, a young Lubbock negro.

The charge is the seventh murder complaint that the jury, in the 72nd district court of Judge Dan Blair, will investigate.

C. E. Lynn, justice of peace in whose court the complaint was filed by District Attorney Lloyd Croslin, ordered an autopsy for purpose of recovering a bullet fired early Tuesday into May's abdomen. It will be used as evidence in the case.

Bullet Recovered

The autopsy was performed by Dr. J. A. Chatman, a negro physician. A small caliber bullet was removed from the third lumbar vertebra, and was delivered to the district attorney.

Lynn said he would enter an inquest verdict of death from a gun in the hands of Jones.

In a statement to Dep. Sheriff Earl Horton, after the suspect's arrest by Sgt. Tom Everheart of the police, Jones related that the shooting grew out of May's accusations at a dance that his mother's purse had been "snatched."

Jones said he and several other

Canadian River Dam Discussed At Amarillo

AMARILLO, Aug. 3 (AP)—Col. E. V. Spence, representing Gov Beauford Jester, spoke here today at a three-state Canadian river dam meeting.

"Army engineers will save you from drowning, but not from death by slow thirst," he said aiming his remark at the stated policy of Army engineers whom he said can approve a dam project for flood control only.

Forrest Nelson of Oklahoma City, chairman of the division of water resources board and a representative of Oklahoma Governor Roy Turner, and Arch Hurley of Tucumcari, representing New Mexico Governor Thomas Mabry were also present.

Nelson said Oklahoma had a strong case for a dam on the South Canadian near New Castle, Okla. He said it could be justified on the basis of a flood control project, and for irrigation and municipal use.

Oklahoma municipalities he said would benefit are Oklahoma City, Norman and Purcell.

Seminole Man Pleads Guilty To Charge Of Stealing Car

CHICAGO, Aug. 3 (AP)—Claudie F. Waldrep, 20, Seminole, Texas, pleaded guilty today to stealing an automobile in Oklahoma City and driving it to Chicago. He was sentenced to a year and a day in prison.

His two companions were sentenced yesterday to two-year terms. They are Roy F. Duncan, 21, Fort Worth, and Jesse W. Green, 21, Lowell, Ariz.

Schoeppel Takes Early Lead In Kansas Republican Senate Race

(By The Associated Press)

Former Gov. Andrew F. Schoeppel went out in front last night on early returns in the Kansas republic primary for the Senate seat the veteran Arthur Capper is leaving.

His count stood at nearly five to one over Harold H. Malone, Wichita lawyer.

In Virginia, with almost two-thirds of the precincts counted, Senator A. Willis Robertson held better than a two to one lead for the Democratic nomination for another term. His opponent was James P. Hart, former Army colonel from Roanoke.

Primaries were held in a third state—Missouri—but late closing polls held up the count there.

Dems Vote Tops GOP

Rep. Howard Smith in the eighth Virginia congressional district was leading Arthur F. Souther by more than eight to one on scant returns. Virginia had its first Republican primary in history in that district. In the first boxes counted Tyrell Krum had a lead for the chance to oppose Smith, but the GOP vote was running less than a fifth as heavy as the Democratic vote in the same poll

States' Rights Candidate Denies He Is Prospective Father

COLUMBIA, S. C., Aug. 3 (INS)—Reports that South Carolina's Gov. J. Strom Thurmond is a prospective father were denied today.

Sources close to Governor and Mrs. Thurmond said the rumor, which originated at Gastonia, N. C., is "definitely untrue."

Check Rein On Credit Seen

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3 — Republican leaders reached an agreement tonight to start a limited anti-inflation bill rolling through Congress tomorrow.

The agreement was announced by Senator Taft (R-Ohio), chairman of the Senate GOP policy committee, and Rep. Wolcott (R-Mich.), chairman of the House Banking committee. Their announcement followed a two-hour meeting of Taft, Wolcott and several members of the Senate Banking committee.

Goal Requirements Hinted

As outlined by Wolcott, the House Banking committee will start consideration tomorrow of a Senate-approved bill to re-establish consumer credit controls.

Wolcott said the bill would be used as a base. He explained that he would offer amendments in committee to restore the gold reserve requirements for federal reserve banks to their 1945 level, and probably an amendment to increase the reserves of federal reserve banks by three per cent on demand deposits and one per cent on time deposits.

Increasing the reserves cuts down the amount of money banks can lend. The theory is that this is a check on inflation.

Excess Profits Tax Urged

President Truman had recommended that the government be empowered to increase reserve requirements on time deposits by four per cent, and on demand deposits by 10 per cent.

The Republican leaders have marked for the discard most of the Truman anti-inflation program, which calls among other things for powers to control some prices and wages and to resume rationing if it is deemed necessary.

Despite indications that it has no chance of success, the President pressed today for passage of another item in his anti-inflation program—an excess profits tax designed to trim the peacetime profits of larger corporations.

He proposed a $4,300,000,000 tax, much like the wartime levy. Sponsors of the bill said it would discourage price increases. Rep. Knutson (R-Minn.), chairman of the House Ways and Means committee, predicted the bill's defeat.

Rep. Wolcott said his amend-

Cooler Weather Forecast Today

South Plains is slated to have ordinary summer weather today, according to the weatherman. The maximum temperature, he said, probably will be a mere 90 degrees as compared to a high of 93 degrees Tuesday.

The skies will continue to be partly cloudy with possible scattered thundershowers during the afternoon and evening. Tuesday the overcast was from thunderstorm activity at Amarillo, and southwest of Amarillo, the observer reported. No rain of consequence is seen for the Plains area.

The humidity Tuesday was near normal. At 6 a. m. 84 per cent was recorded and at 6 p. m. the minimum of 35 per cent was reached. The low temperature was 68 degrees Tuesday morning.

July Nearly Normal

Like the forecast for today, July was nearly a normal month so far as weather was concerned. The official records show that on only one day during July did the temperature exceed 100 degrees. That was on July 29 when the mercury hit 102 degrees.

However, the mercury went above 90 degrees on 23 days. The coolest day was July 5 when the maximum was 83 and the minimum 66. The lowest minimum for the month came on July 10 when the temperature fell to 61 degrees.

July was drier than average despite the many scattered thundershowers—nine were recorded during the month—with only 1.75 inches recorded at the weather station north of the city. The normal

Three McAllen Residents Have Narrow Escape On Stormy Lake

McALLEN, Aug. 3 (U.P.)—Three McAllen residents were back home today—with a tale of being tossed about in the rough waters of Marte Gomez lake in Mexico for 14 hours. During that time they became separated, and each thought the other two drowned.

Last Sunday afternoon Lloyd Langston, a McAllen business and civic leader, his wife, and their 25-year-old daughter, Mrs. Betty Jo Jenoweth, were fishing in the lake waters. Squalls came up, and their 16-foot outboard craft overturned.

Search Was Launched

Langston's wife had a partly-inflated Mae West lifesaver. Daughter Betty Joe had another and managed to inflate it after she was in the water. Langston had no lifebelt. The boat remained afloat, keel up, but the daughter was soon swept out of sight by the rough waters. Darkness descended upon Langston and his wife, both clutching the overturned boat.

A short time after darkness Mrs. Langston, too, was blown away from the boat. Throughout the night Langston clutched to a steel strip around the boat. The only relief for his aching arms came when he placed a rope between his teeth and held on.

Meanwhile, the three Langstons had been missed by others in their party. Searching crews swept the rough waters night-long, but found no trace of the trio. During the night Langston once heard his wife cry for help—and thought he heard his daughter's outcry.

Others Found Ashore

At daybreak a boatload of Monterrey fishermen came upon Langston, who had clutched the overturned boat for 14 hours. He directed them toward the spot where he had heard his wife's screams. They found her ashore, where she had been blown by the wind, her hair tangled in the underbrush.

Then they searched for the daughter and found her—bobbling along on the lifebelt.

The exhausted trio spent the day in their fishing camp and that afternoon returned to McAllen. None were seriously injured, but today all were still rubbing aching muscles.

Langston had a word of advice for others who would go fishing in Monte Gomez lake: That advice was: "Take along a Mae West. It'll do the job."

$3,000 Returned To Chicago Woman

CHICAGO, Aug. 3 (INS)—The finder of an envelope—owner unknown—was $20 richer today.

Miss Edna Muhelenbein, 30, an Oak Park department store clerk, found the envelope on a drapery counter and turned it over to the store manager, who notified police.

The envelope was lost by Mrs. Marguerite Creighton, 55, and it contained $3,000 in cash and $30,000 in securities.

Mrs. Creighton, a widow, lost the envelope while shopping but couldn't remember where.

When police notified her that the envelope had been turned in by the finder, Mrs. Creighton stopped at the department store and gave Miss Muhelenbein a $20 reward.

Bomb Is Found Near Vatican Cathedral

VATICAN CITY, Aug. 3 (INS)—A small bomb was discovered near St. Peter's basilica today.

Italian artillery experts detonated the missile, which a street cleaner discovered—its firing pin removed—in the 300-year-old colonnade surrounding St. Peter's square, near the door-steps of the cathedral. The explosion caused a flurry of excitement in Vatican city.

Pope Pius XII was not in the vatican at the time of the detonation. He is currently vacationing at his summer retreat, Castel Gandolfo.

A Vatican official described the missile as of the "balilla" type—from 6 to 10 inches long, but with a high explosive charge. He said that had the bomb exploded by itself, it might have damaged the holy building and possibly injured children who play in the square.

Other Vatican spokesmen hinted that the bomb plant may have stemmed from the current editorial war between Observatore Romano, the Vatican newspaper and the Communist organ, Unita.

One official said it was "the first attempt to bomb the Vatican in the liberation period . . . a bad symptom."

Stangel To Attend Gurnsey Field Day At Littlefield

W. L. Stangel, head of the Agriculture division of Texas Technological college, will attend the first guernsey field day to be held in the South Plains area Thursday at Littlefield.

Heavy Damage Caused To Two Cars In Collision Near City

Considerable property damage was done about 4:30 p. m. Tuesday when a station wagon driven by Coy Herman (Toots) Mansfield, well known Big Spring rodeo star and rancher, was in collision with a truck driven by Robert S. Hindman of Lubbock route 6.

Scene of the collision was about six miles south of Lubbock on the Tahoka highway. About $600 damage was incurred by Mansfield's station wagon, highway patrolmen said, but little damage was done to the truck.

The station wagon struck the truck on the left side, both vehicles having been going south. No serious injuries were suffered by either man.

The highway patrol said that Mansfield was charged with failure to grant the right-of-way on Hindman's left hand turn signal. Hindman was charged with driving on the left side of the highway while not in the act of passing another vehicle.

'March' On Capital Is Slated Thursday

NEW YORK, Aug. 3 (INS)—The 'people's lobby" march on Washington promised by Rep. Vito Marcantonio during the Progressive party convention will be staged on Thursday.

Announcement of the "march" was made by the civil rights Congress, through Len Goldsmith, national chairman, and William L. Patterson, national secretary.

They said more than 4,000 persons will join the demonstration, heading for Washington by train and bus from New York City, Detroit, Chicago, Cleveland and Pittsburgh.

Goldsmith said motorcades already are enroute to the national capital from Detroit and Chicago, and special busses are carrying the "marchers" from Cleveland and Pittsburgh.

Object of the "march," it was stated, is to protest against the Senate filibuster by Southern Democrats.

Burglars Enter Supply Company

Goods valued at $300 to $400 were taken in the breakin of Ameen and McCreary Supply company 2113 Nineteenth, police reports indicated Tuesday evening.

Entrance was gained, reports showed, by breaking a window pane and pulling a hasp loose from a door.

Although it was at first believed that nothing was missing from the store, a subsequent check revealed that three pairs of shoes, four flight jackets, three bomber type jackets, 36 pairs of underwear and a pair of coveralls were missing from the establishment.

A Lubbock negro, W. L. Brown of 311 East Twentieth, had regained consciousness in a hospital early Tuesday after being struck on the head, apparently with a bottle, at a dance. He declined to give information identifying his assailant, police said.

Investigation Underway

Investigation into an unknown man's possession of a $55.20 government compensation check was underway.

Ben L. Miller, a cab driver of 2824 Second, said a man, 25 to 30 years old, gave him the check as security for a cab ride and fled when Miller telephoned police. He said his suspicions were aroused when identification offered by he suspect failed to match the name on the check.

William Sherman Green, 32, and a Lubbock juvenile were fined in two separate cases for indecent exposure, police said this morning. Both pleaded guilty. Green was fined $50 and the juvenile $15.

Fine Is Paid

E. L. Nelson, 46-year-old negro, of 2311 E. Ave. A, paid a fine of $50 on a charge of aggravated assault, county records revealed.

A 9-year-old negro boy was taken into custody of police Tuesday in connection with a breakin at a cafe at 1714 Ave. A. The back was pried off a juke box and nickels from the coin box taken. A trumpet, valued at $27 was also taken. Entrance was gained by tearing a screen off a back window.

The boy admitted to police that he was responsible for the burglary, and the trumpet and $3 in nickels were recovered. The boy, too young to be classed as a delinquent, was released to his mother.

Allied Envoys' Cheer Indicates Stalin Again Playing 'Genial Joe'

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
Associated Press Staff Writer

The air of cheer among the Allied diplomats in Moscow suggests that Stalin has resumed the role of Genial Joe, the man who so often expresses sweetness and light to foreigners while his lieutenants are busy sabotaging world peace.

Details of the current negotiations are a carefully guarded secret. The job of the Allied envoys is to get the Berlin blockade lifted as a prerequisite for renewal of four-power conciliation efforts. They apparently think they are succeeding. But the measure of that success will be determined by what happens regarding the food blockade.

Truce Would Aid Reds

A conference, although it might lessen current tension, won't have much real meaning in itself. Conferences are places where the Russians divert the Allies from their job of economic and military recovery.

Stalin can afford to appear genial. He's in a nice position. He can be very magnanimous, lift the Berlin blockade, and resume his peace offensive. It would seem to be very much to his benefit to reach a truce in the cold war now when Allied resistance has reached a point where he can expand no farther without risking war.

A dictator has no trouble going right ahead preparing for war in time of peace. Relaxation of tension always brings lassitude to the democracies. Such a period is just what Stalin needs for the three five-year plans by which the Kremlin thinks it can make Russia strong enough for whatever tasks might be imposed by Communist expansionism. While Russia would be gathering strength the Allies would find military appropriations more and more unpopular, the pressure for Western European union would be lessened, and local Communists could use Moscow's peace front to regain some of their wartime prestige.

Stalemate Possible

Or Stalin can stalemate a four-power conference and create a war scare on the grounds peace with the West is hopeless, thereby seeing to regather beneath his winds the Eastern European satellites which are displaying signs of scattering.

Neither tactic would represent a desertion of Communist strategy, which denies the possibility of real peace before they stage their world revolution; which denies the possibility of real collaboration between Communist and non-Communist countries, but which authorizes any deal for temporary purposes and its betrayal when the time is right.

Travel To National Park Spots Shows Drop Under 1947 Total

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3 (AP)—Travel to most of the scenic sites in national parks during June slumped below last year's comparative totals, the National Park service said today.

Totals for the first nine months of the travel year, starting last Oct. 1, are, however, still well ahead of the previous year.

The park service counted 1,482,798 visitors in June, 6,136 less than for June, 1947.

Increases for the month were four per cent at national monuments, three per cent at national memorials outside the capital, 11 per cent for parkways and 227 per cent for recreational areas.

The tremendous increase in use of recreation areas was attributed to park service administration of the Lake Texoma recreational area in Oklahoma and Texas which had 1,382,123 visitors in the opening nine months of the travel year. For the same period, visitors in all units of the park system totalled 14,803,827, compared to 12,166,941 for the first nine months of the preceding travel year.

Travel totals for the Oct. 1-June 30 period at other national parks included: Big Bend, Tex., 22,101, increase, 9,764; Carlsbad caverns, New Mexico, 247,854, increase 16,491.

Court To Review Denial Of Bail For Five Communists

NEW YORK, Aug. 3 (AP)—A court review was ordered today of claims by five accused alien Communists that Attorney General Tom C. Clark abused his discretion in refusing them bail pending deportation hearings.

The court review was ordered by the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

The five men charged with being alien Communists include Gerhart Eisler, characterized by a House committee as the No. 1 Communist in the U. S.; Irving Potash, vice-president of the CIO International Fur and Leather Workers union; and John Williamson, labor secretary of the Communist party of the U. S.

Potash and Williamson were arrested recently, along with 10 other top Communists, on charges of plotting the violent overthrow of the U. S. government.

The Woman's Angle
By Margaret Turner

SOMEONE defines Russia as a country that sticks her "no's" into international affairs.

• • •

DO YOU?—The average American housewife takes approximately 18,000 steps daily, according to an estimate by the National Foot Health council. Suppose this emphasizes the need for medium, rather than high heels, on Mrs. America's shoes.

• • •

IN THE MAIL

DEAR Miss Turner:

Some of the women in our community would like to know more about the "Mrs. America" contest. Why can't we have a "Mrs. Lubbock" or "Mrs. Lubbock County" contest? There might be some very outstanding homemaking ability discovered among our Lubbock county women and there is a chance such a contest would create more interest in homemaking clubs.

Could you let us know more about the contest and find out if the women in this area would be interested?

Mrs. E. J. Exum,
Route 3.

• • •

DEAR Mrs. Exum: Thank you for your letter. We tossed the material about the "Mrs. America" contest in the waste basket because we had no idea anyone would be interested. If an organization is interested in the contest, however, we could get the name of the national organization. Time is running out.

As you suggest, such a contest might bring out some interesting facts and figures but it would be a lot of work for the one undertaking it.

If an organization is interested in a city or county wide "Mrs. America" contest, we'll be glad to cooperate as far as the publicity is concerned. Are there any hands going up?

TODAY'S GAG

WE think this appeared in The Plainsman Says column several months ago, but it is worth repeating.

A shipwrecked sailor who had survived three years on a desert island was overjoyed when a ship spotted his signal and sent a small boat ashore.

An officer stepped from the boat, handed the sailor a batch of newspapers and said:

"The captain suggests that you read what's going on in the world and then let us know if you still want to be rescued."

• • •

MISCELLANY

A Lubbock couple who is sending clothing to a minister's family in Germany is in need of large clothing for the woman. She is a size 44. We have an idea there are a few larger women in our city who would be glad to donate usable, clean clothing. If so, they are invited to telephone 2-1908.

Does anyone want a grown male lovebird? His mate died but "Jimmy" is still chipper and happy, so far as his owner can determine. ## Two Chicago Steel Workers Deny Possessing Bogus Bills

CHICAGO, Aug. 3 (INS) — Two Chicago steel workers pleaded innocent today before a U. S. commissioner to charges of possessing 60 to 75 bogus $10 and $20 bills and passing a counterfeit $10 bill.

The defendants are Frank Maury, 48, and Edward Buchanan, 35. Each was ordered held on $15,000 bond.

Maury and Buchanan were arrested early today when Miss Eleanor Ray, a barmaid, pointed them out to police shortly after they allegedly bought drinks with a bogus $10 bill.

'Everyday' Answers Chase 'Fire Balls' From Midwest Skies

CHICAGO, Aug. 3 (INS) — "Balls of fire" seen over Indianapolis and Chicago were figuratively chased from the skies today by explanations of the apparitions.

In Indianapolis, Dr. Howard Aldrich explained that a fiery mass seen there Sunday night was just a surplus Army balloon to which he had attached a railroad fuse. The fuse accounted for reports that small streaks of fire shot from the ball.

Aldrich said he had obtained a number of the balloons from a store and launched several bearing the name and address of his daughter, Alice, 12.

Sunday night, he said, he decided to send up one with a light attached so he could trace the balloon's course.

In Chicago, the municipal airport control tower staff solved the mystery of "balls of fire" seen in the air last night.

The fireballs, the staff members said, were reflections of searchlights on the cloud overcast at 15,000 feet. The height of the overcast made it hard for laymen to identify the reflections.

27 Delegates Barred From State AFL Meet

NEW YORK, Aug. 3 (INS)—For the second successive day, 27 delegates were barred from the 85th annual convention of the New York State Federation of Labor.

Three significant questions, put to them by the credentials committee, made clear the reason for their disbarment.

They were: "Are you a member of the Communist party? Are you a member of any party affiliated with the Communist party? Did you march in the left wing May Day parade?"

Other Reasons Voiced

The questions dispelled any doubt that the credentials committee's reason for not seating the 27 delegates stemmed from alleged Communist activities.

Some of those barred, however, declared the committee's action was taken because they planned to introduce resolutions in favor of Henry Wallace, the Progressive party candidate.

All 27 were told to return tomorrow to learn whether they can take part in the remaining two days of the convention.

The chief speaker at today's session was President William Green of the American federation. He did not mention the internal troubles of the state body but confined his address to assailing the record of the 80th Congress as the "blackest in our American history."

Chicago Gold Star Mother Is Convicted Of Killing Husband

CHICAGO, Aug. 3 (INS)—A 48-year-old Chicago gold star mother collapsed tonight as a jury convicter her of murdering her husband and fixed sentence at 14 years imprisonment.

The women was revived 40 minutes after the verdict was read and removed to the Cook county hospital for further treatment.

The jury of nine women and three men found Mrs. Veronica Elliott guilty of fatally shooting her husband, Cecil, 55, last May 18.

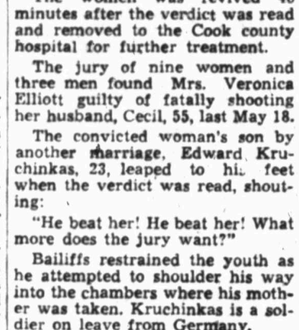

The convicted woman's son by another marriage, Edward Kruchinkas, 23, leaped to his feet when the verdict was read, shouting:

"He beat her! He beat her! What more does the jury want?"

Bailiffs restrained the youth as he attempted to shoulder his way into the chambers where his mother was taken. Kruchinkas is a soldier on leave from Germany.

Mrs. Elliott testified that a gun she wrested from her husband went off as they were quarreling over her expressed worries that Kruchinkas was being sent overseas. She said her husband beat her during the altercation.

Heart, Artery Strain Discovered In Many Texas City Victims

GALVESTON, Aug. 3 (AP) — A high percentage of victims in the April, 1947, Texas City explosion disaster, suffered from abnormal artery and heart strain, according to two researchers at the University of Texas medical school.

The researchers, Dr. Arthur Ruskin, associate professor of internal medicine, and Owen W. Beard, instructor of internal medicine at the medical school here today, reported these developments in their extensive study following the tragedy:

Findings Are Reported

(1) Of 180 documented cases, 103, or 57 per cent, presented diastolic blood pressure peaks of 95 mm or over, shortly after the blasts.

(2) After two weeks of bed rest only five of 61 cases still showed the diastolic elevations.

(3) In 24 cases, or 22 per cent of 111 patients, diastolic blood pressure of 95 mm or over were recorded after rest in a sitting-up position.

Typical Cases Sought

The report said the cases exceed any other previously noted for comparable age and population groups.

The researchers sought typical blast injuries of the heart for clinical and post-mortem examinations because of the tremendous force of the explosions, and the fact that many of the examined survivors were within 100 yards of the destroyed ships and plants.

The report concluded: "Whatever the cause of these phenomena it is now established that similar transient hypertensive states are followed in a significant number of cases by permanent hypertension with all its complications."

Kentucky recognizes more grounds for divorce than any other state—19.

TOO MANY LEFTOVERS

MILWAUKEE (U.P.)—Mrs. Marjorie Schmoldt, longing for a square meal, filed for divorce, charging her husband made her eat the leftovers of his meal for the past month.

ANTIQUE AND FANCY

U. S. Loan For UN Headquarters Favored By Majority Of Voters

By GEORGE GALLUP, Director
American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., Aug. 3 — Congress action to provide money for building the headquarters of the United Nations has substantial approval from the American people.

In a public opinion poll completed shortly before Congressional leaders re-opened the loan issue last week the majority of voters with opinions expressed a favorable view. An overwhelming majority said it would be a bad thing for the United Nations to move its headquarters to Europe.

GALLUP

President Truman in his message to the special session of Congress strongly urged granting the loan to the United Nations. The site for the headquarters along the East River in New York City was donated by John D. Rockefeller, Jr., but the United Nations had insufficient funds to put up the buildings. One main objection raised to a loan from the United States is that the financing should not fall so heavily on one country but should be divided among the leading nations.

This point of view is apparently shared by about one voter in three in the United States, as indicated in replies to the following poll question put to the country by the Institute during the last week in July:

"Do you think the United States should or should not lend money to the United Nations to go ahead with their headquarters building in New York City?"

The vote:

| | |
|---|---|
| Should | 46% |
| Should not | 34 |
| Qualified ans. | 4 |
| No opinion | 16 |

Opinion on this issue divided sharply according to degree of education. People who have had some college education were found overwhelmingly in favor of granting the loan, while among those who have had grammar school training only or no schooling the weight of opinion was registered against the loan.

| | Should | Should Not | Qual. & No opin. |
|---|---|---|---|
| College | 64% | 24% | 12% |
| High School | 51 | 31 | 18 |
| Grade or No School | 35 | 41 | 24 |

American opinion has always been found supporting the continuation and development of the United Nations as an organization, even though voters are far from satisfied with its progress or accomplishments to date.

The average American would not like to see the United Nations move away from American shores. That is shown in the vote on a second question in the Institute's poll, as follows:

"Because the United States has not yet offered to lend 65 million to the United Nations to build its headquarters some United Nations' officials want to move the headquarters to Europe. Do you think it would be a good thing or a bad thing for the U. N. to move its headquarters to Europe?"

The vote:

| | |
|---|---|
| Good thing | 11% |
| Bad thing | 61 |
| No difference | 15 |
| No opinion | 13 |

On this question no important difference was found according to degree of education, indicating that objections to a loan did not necessarily imply disapproval of the United Nations itself.

The vote by education follows:

| | College | High School | Grade or No Sch'l |
|---|---|---|---|
| Good thing | 11% | 12% | 10% |
| Bad thing | 60 | 60 | 62 |
| No diff. | 20 | 18 | 12 |
| No opin. | 9 | 10 | 16 |

Applications For Vet Village Housing Surpasses Supply

Considerable concern and some apartment vacancies have developed at Veterans Village following recent announcement that Lubbock Air field would be reactivated, but the applications by Tech students for apartments this fall exceeds the supply, said J. C. Wilson, who is on duty in the Housing authority office at the village.

Fewer inquiries are being received from working veterans, but Tech students are still asking, taking a chance that the field will not be reactivated before close of next college year, he said.

440 Families At Base

"Of course, no one knows," he said.

About 440 families live at the base, indicating a total of about 1,276 individuals on basis of a previously figured average of 2.9 persons per family, said Wilson. About eight or 10 families have moved into Lubbock since announcement the base would be reactivated, he estimated.

Ten apartments for Tech students now are vacant, but approximately 100 applications for apartments have been filed by veterans planning to attend Tech during the long session opening next month. Number of apartments available for Tech students is 85.

Numerous inquiries from tenants concerning length of time they may remain at the village have been received in the Housing authority office, but the authority has had no notice of plans to vacate the village and does not have the answer. It has never stopped taking tenants, Wilson said.

The Air Force announced June 28 its plans to reopen 19 air bases and one gunnery and bombing range before June 30, 1949. The air bases included Lubbock Air field.

The Hawaiian Islands and New Zealand have lost a great portion of their native fauna.

Storage Is Problem For Many Farmers

WACO, Aug. 3 (AP)—The president of the Texas Farm bureau federation charged today that many state farmers may be deprived of protection in the government's grain support price program because they are denied storage space.

J. Walter Hammond, TFBF chief, asked Texas Congressman W. R. Poage, member of the House Committee on Agriculture, to call a meeting of the State delegation in Washington to consider the problem.

Hammond said that elevator operators and the grain trade either were in collusion or the administration was derelict in the handling of the program.

At any rate, farmers are unable to secure storage space required to be eligible for participation in the support program, Hammond said. He reported that some are being "forced" to sell grain sorghums for as much as 50 cents per hundredweight under the parity price guaranteed by support legislation.

"It was not my understanding that it would be the responsibility of the farmers to provide storage, but if that is the case we want to be informed so a movement can be started to build cooperative elevators to safeguard the farmers' interests." his telegram to Poage said.

Hammond asserted that storage space was available in commercial elevators. Some which report to the farmer that they are full, he said, turn face to buy his grain at sub-parity prices.

Board Studies Name For Big Bend Peak

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3 (AP) — A recommendation that 6,405-foot Panther peak in Big Bend national park, Texas, be named for the late George M. Wright, park official, was placed before the board on geographic names today.

The peak, proposed as Wright mountain, is on the east side of the Chisos mountains in Brewster county, five and a half miles northeast of Emory peak.

Wright, founder of the wildlife division of the National Park service, was killed while on official duty near Deming, N. M., several years ago.

Asked To Name Streams

The geological survey also asked the board to establish official names for three Texas streams totaling 140 miles in length. The recommended names:

North Pease river, 80 miles long—originates 12 miles southeast of Alcino in eastern Floyd county, flows northeast across Motley county into Hall county and southeast into the Middle Pease river in northeastern Cottle county. Not the Pease river.

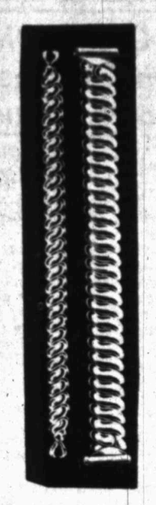

Los Lingos creek—Rises five miles southeast of Silverton in southern Briscoe county and flows southeast for 20 miles into Quitaque creek near the Floyd county-Motley county boundary. Not Linquist creek.

Quitague creek—Rises 10 miles north of Lockney in Floyd county and flows eastward 40 miles into the North Pease river in northern Motley county. Not North Pease river or Quitaque river.

The Trumpeter Swan, weighing about 35 pounds, is the largest flying bird.

GOT QUICK RHEUMATIC RELIEF WITH MERTOX

"For the past 15 years I have been bothered with frequent rheumatic pains in my left shoulder. This trouble later spread to my right shoulder also," writes Mr. J. C. Kirkland of Dallas. In my work I have to use my arms a lot, and my shoulders were beginning to stiffen up. After taking Mertox Compound for a short time this condition was quickly corrected, so that now I am free from rheumatic trouble and free of the aches and pains. I was also troubled with gas and bloat, which were very painful. I felt tired and rundown; just seemed to have no life or pep at all. Had severe headaches, too. The gas would seem to press against my heart and lungs and make it hard to breathe. Now I can eat anything, even meat, which was impossible before taking this splendid medicine. My bowels are now regular and I do not have to get up at night as I did before."

Pro-Communist Leader Assumes Office As Hungarian President

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Aug. 3 (AP)—Arpad Szakasits, pro-Communist Socialist, succeeded to the presidency of Hungary today.

He was sworn in immediately, taking the place of Zoltan Tildy, a member of the Smallholder party who resigned Friday when his son-in-law was accused of spying and treason.

Szakasits, a former brick mason and Socialist newspaper editor, was described elected unanimously by the parliament after about 30 members of the Democratic peoples party and the Christian womens camp walked out. The two opposition groups returned after the unanimous ballot was cast.

Iron Rule Pledged

His election had been forecast since Saturday when the dominant united workers party—a merger of Communists and Socialists headed by Szakasits—had declared for him and other parties followed suit. His was the only candidacy presented to the 241-member parliament by the speaker, Imre Nagy.

Szakasits, at a formal swearing-in ceremony, promised to deal with "satellites of imperialists at home" with an iron fist and to co-operate closely with neighboring "Peoples Democracies"—the countries of the Soviet bloc.

Hollywood Woman's Death Is Mystery

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 3 (INS)—Mystery tonight surrounded the death of Lavonne Silvers, 35-year-old divorced wife of film musical director Lou Silvers, after her nude body was found in a partially-filled bathtub.

Authorities estimated that the woman had been dead since last Wednesday.

Near the bathtub was a nearly-filled box of sleeping pills.

Cause of her death was not immediately determined. Authorities said, however, that it was not due to drowning. They scouted the theory that she committeed suicide and were inclined to believe that she was an accidental victim of sleeping pills.

Friends said that Mrs. Silvers had used prescribed sleeping tablets for treatment of a nervous disorder.

The strange death of Mrs. Silvers was discovered when neighbors became alarmed as newspapers piled up on her doorstep. Police broke into her home, found the lights on and the radio playing.

Mrs. Silvers sued her wealthy husband for divorce in September, 1946. Later suit was dropped and then filed again in April, 1947. Silvers, however, was awarded the divorce on a cross-complaint last March.

Couple Given Jail Sentence After Child Burns To Death

RHINELANDER, Wis., Aug. 3 (INS)—A couple whose only child burned to death because of parental neglect was sentenced today to six months in Oneida county jail.

Lloyd Turcotte, 42, and his wife, Margaret, 31, appeared relieved when Judge H. F. Steele pronounced sentence in the little courtroom at Rhinelander.

The couple's son, Victor, 9, burned to death July 24 in a fire which destroyed the Turcotte home. The father and mother had been drinking at the time of the fire, it was charged.

The couple will serve its term under the Huber law. This will permit Lloyd to work on his city garbage detail job, and his wife to do part-time work. They must eat their meals and spend their nights in jail.

Judge Steele warned the two that any drinking during the six-months will forfeit their Huber law privileges.

SHERMAN MAN KILLED

SHERMAN, Aug. 3 (AP)—J. M. Lenderman, 65, of Denison, a fireman for the Katy railroad, was killed instantly in a traffic accident early this morning six miles south of here on Highway 75. Pvt. Don Daffron of Perrin Field, driver of the other car, was injured. It was Grayson county's fifth traffic death for the year.

Fight Over Bottle Of Rum Endangers 66 Aboard Airliner

NEW YORK, Aug. 3 (INS)—A two-man battle in the skies almost spelled disaster today for a Puerto Rico-to-New York airliner carrying 66 persons.

The fight, according to authorities, was between two male passengers over a bottle of rum in the tail of the ship, a DC-4 of Air America, Inc.

Plane Lost Altitude

Capt. Anthony Matchado, of Long Beach, Cal., pilot of the airliner, said the plane was about 600 miles north of Puerto Rico when the tail suddenly became heavy and the craft lost altitude rapidly, dropping 2,000 feet from 8,500 feet.

Matchado went back to the tail and there, he said, Diego Cordova, 28, and Benito Santana, 34, both of New York, were fighting, and steward John Desbrow of Glendale, Cal., was trying unsuccessfully to separate them.

The pilot managed to end the battle, he said, and went back to his cockpit to regain altitude. Then, he charged, one of the men rushed in and bit him severely on the shoulder.

Matchado radioed for assistance when he approached LaGuardia field. Both Cordova and Santana were held for questioning by the FBI.

Aboard the airliner in addition to the crew of six were 26 women, 20 men and 14 children ranging in age from four months to 11 years. All passengers were Puerto Ricans. Matchado said they never were aware of the temporary danger.

Notes On Hub Homes Project Are Sold By Housing Group

Seventh series of notes on the Hub Homes project, in the amount of $452,000, was sold Tuesday noon to the Bessemer Trust Co. of New York by commissioners of the Housing authority of the City of Lubbock.

The notes were sold to the low bidders at the rate of 1.02 per cent interest with a $6 premium. One other bid was presented.

The rate of interest last year was .92 per cent.

A total of $47,000 of the indebtedness has been paid. Previously, notes have been sold for one year, but the latest financing was for six months.

Those attending the luncheon meeting, held in Hilton hotel Aztec room, were W. L. Bradshaw, executive director; Newton Walton, chairman of the commission, Dr. D. D. Cross, vice chairman, and Charles Whitacre, John Glover and W. B. Rushing, commissioners, J. H. Maynard, manager; James O. Cade, attorney, and B. Herbert Manning, attorney for the Public Housing administration, of Fort Worth.

Draft Boards Allowed To Set Up Additional Registration Places

AUSTIN, Aug. 3 (AP)—Texas' 137 local draft boards may set up as many additional registration places for the Aug. 30-Sept. 18 registration as they think are necessary.

The flexible plan was announced today by selective service state director, K. L. Berry.

It has been estimated that between 500,000 and 600,000 Texans will be registered during the period.

Oklahoma Studies Changes In School Segregation Legislation

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 3 (AP)—Oklahoma officials today were paving the way for amendment of the state's historic segregation laws.

The action comes after repeated court attacks on the laws—attacks that are now moving ahead on two fronts.

The state attorney general's office has prepared a legislative bill which would allow negroes to attend white colleges and universities to receive classwork not offered at Langston university, Oklahoma's only college for negroes.

The proposed bill has been drafted and submitted to the legislative council, an interim body of legislators to study legislation between sessions. If approved, it would then be submitted at the next legislature in January.

Present statutes prohibit school officials from enrolling negroes at colleges used by white students, teachers from instructing mixed classes or students from attending mixed classes.

Three negro women who yesterday were denied admittance to the University of Oklahoma are planning to carry their fight to the United States Supreme court.

DEDICATION IS PLANNED

Larry Don McElhaney Suffers Injuries In Fall From Car

Larry Don McElhaney, 4-year-old son of Mrs. Russell Prestidge of Lubbock route 2, was treated at West Texas hospital early Tuesday afternoon after he fell from the right rear door of a car driven by Mrs. Inez Drury of Lubbock route 3.

The youngster was examined by a hospital physician, and X-rays were made for a possible skull fracture. Results of the X-rays were not known Tuesday night.

The youngster, riding alone in the back seat of the car, apparently had forced the door handle down in some way and accidentally fell from the car, which was moving at a low rate of speed. His mother and Mrs. Drury were in the front seat. The accident occurred about 12:30 p. m.

He was taken to West Texas hospital by Mrs. Moore of Lubbock route 2, in front of whose home the accident occurred.

Lamesa Loboes Drop Hubbers, 7 To 5

Hubbers Blow 3-0 Lead To Visitors

By JOE KELLY
Avalanche Sports Editor

Any resemblance to the Hubbers of mid season was strictly coincidental last night at Rosenthal Field, as they bowed to the Lamesa Loboes 7-5 in a disappointing exhibition for 1,077 fans.

Lefty Fred Groth worked well for three innings, but grew steadily wilder, even though he didn't allow any hits. He left the scene in the sixth inning, when the Loboes chased over three runs without a hit. In fact, the visitors went hitless through the entire six-inning stretch. We shudder to think what would have happened had their extra-base eyes been in order.

Locals Take Lead

As it was, the Hubbers managed to take a three-run lead in the first three innings and gave every indication that Stan Grzywacz, who won his 12th victory of the season, wouldn't be around long. Jackie Wilcox opened the game with a double and scored on Manager Jackie Sullivan's triple. Virgil Richardson skied to the centerfielder and the Hubbers had a 3-0 lead.

They made it 3-0 in the third, when Sullivan singled, stole second, went to third on Richardson's repeat fly to center and scored on Frank McAlexander's Texas Leaguer to center. After that the Hubbers went down on four hits, managing to get only one more run.

And the Loboes started to make the most of Groth's increasing wildness. He walked Al Lounsbury and Grzywacz to open the fifth and McAlexander's error gave Melillo life to load the bases. Dan Pinto walked to force in one run and Walt Buckel, hitting a double play ball to Sullivan, went all the way to second when Wilcox threw the ball into the dugout. That allowed Grzywacz and Melillo to score and the game was tied up.

Give Game Back

Royce Mills took over in the sixth and didn't have any trouble that frame, then started the seventh with strikeouts on Pinto and Buckel. But I. B. Palmer singled to right and Manager Tony Fiarito was hit to put two men on. At this point Jim Skidgel, hitless in two trips, came to the plate, took a ball and two strikes and blasted a game-winning pitch over the leftfield screen.

That was the ball game right there, although the Loboes tried to give it back in the Hubber half of the inning. The locals scored two unearned runs on one hit, when both Melillo and Buckel committed miscues.

Tonight the two teams conclude their three-game series and the Hubbers bring their home stand to an end. Chris Haskins, who pitched one inning last night, might be the possible Hubber starter, while Chet Zara might go for Lamesa.

Two Hubber Hurlers Are On Disabled List

Hubber baseball fortunes were dealt a double blow yesterday when two pitchers, Cotton Russell and Bob Clodfelter, were forced to go on the disabled list.

Russell was put on a plane for his home in Fort Worth, where he probably will undergo an appendicitis operation. If he does, he will be lost to the local nine, currently in fourth place in the West Texas-New Mexico League race, for the remainder of the season.

Clodfelter will be out of action for a minimum of ten days with arm trouble. The hurler has a series of muscle knots and a bone chip in his elbow. However, it is the muscular trouble that is forcing him on the shelf, the bone chip having been there for a long time.

Russell might be back to help the Hubbers in the Shaughnessy playoffs, providing they remain in the first division. Clodfelter definitely will be back soon. He is having treatments at Bert Kahn's Health club daily and probably will be sent to Lamesa for treatment by Dr. O. L. McIlroy within the near future.

Larry Larsen, Hubber general manager, said yesterday that the Hubbers were seeking replacements and that an announcement might be possible today.

INDIANS BUY ERICKSON

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 3 (INS)—Purchase of veteran hurler Paul Erickson from the Pittsburgh Pirates was announced today by the Indianapolis Indians of the American Association. Erickson posted a 7-12 record with the Chicago Cubs last season and won two games this year for the Philadelphia Phillies before being shunted to the New York Giants. The Pirates obtained the pitcher from the Giants on waivers.

LUBBOCK AUTO DOWNS VFW

Johnny Bond and Raymond Heintze hurled the Lubbock Auto nine to two Industrial Softball loop victories over the Veterans of Foreign Wars, 6-3 and 19-1, Tuesday afternoon.

STOLARIK LEADS PLAY

CHICAGO, Aug. 3 (INS)—Little Mike Stolarik, a former sailor from Great Lakes, Ill., played the fairways like a synchronized testing machine today to create a four-under par 68 and take the first round lead in the All-American amateur golf tourney at Tam O'Shanter.

Ivy Gains Finals In City Tourney

Glenn Ivy, Texas Tech net ace, entered the finals of the annual City-Wide tennis tournament in the men's open singles division with two bracket victories Tuesday afternoon at Tech courts.

Ivy gained his first win of the tourney over Techsan Joe Wheatley, 6-3, in a delayed third set. Ivy and Wheatley had split the first two sets Monday afternoon, then darkness forced postponement of the final encounter until Tuesday. Ivy then chalked up an easy semi-final triumph over David Hester, 6-2, 6-0.

Ivy coasted to the victory behind a baffling service and a series of placements that kept the lanky Hester from making a serious threat, although the Lubbock stroker made a brief rally on a driving forehand to cop two games in the initial set.

In another men's open singles match, veteran Houston Boyd defaulted to Hubert Burgess, jr. Boyd took the first set of the match, 6-2 then piled up a 5-1 game margin in the second set. Leading 40-love in the seventh game, and needing only one more point for the victory, Boyd decided that he would be unable to continue in the bracket and defaulted to Burgess.

B. T. Rucker defeated Wiley Yates, 6-1 and 8-6, in a men's novice singles setto at Dupre courts, while David Clark stroked to an easy 6-0, 6-1 triumph over Thord Dockray in a boys' singles match.

Competition in the men's open doubles division will get underway at 5 o'clock this afternoon at the Tech courts, when Jake Broyles and Joe Wheatley tangle with Eddie Scudday and David Hester. Scudday and Hester are the defending champions in the division having copped the title in 1947, but the smooth-stroking Broyles and Wheatley will be heavy favorites to take the top honors in this tourney.

Cloverlake, Coffeemen In Opener

Playoffs Slated In Plains Softball Loop

The Shaughnessy playoffs in the South Plains Softball League will open tonight at Jumbo Webster Field, with Cloverlake Dairy meeting Golden Light Coffee at 8:30 p. m. and Baldridge Bakery meeting Thomas Jewelers at 9:45 p. m.

The playoffs will be operated on a best two out of three games basis, with the first and fourth place teams meeting and the second and third place teams playing.

Sunbeamers Withdraw

The Sunbeamers nine, actual first place winners, dropped out of the playoffs after winning the recent A.S.A. softball tourney and finishing the Texas Softball League season in first place.

Thursday night will see second round games, with Baldridge meeting Thomas in the first game and Cloverlake playing Golden Light in the second If a third game in either contest is needed, it will be played Friday night.

Next week, starting Monday night, the two winners will meet for the championship and the two losers will play for third and fourth place. Both of these series will run the best three out of five games.

May Run Through Friday

The games might continue through Friday night of next week, with the possibility also present that the games would end as early as Wednesday night.

Baldridge, recent second place winners in the A.S.A. tournament, are favored, on the basis of their season's record, to take the title. The Bakers have all-around strength, with a good hitting, good fielding and fine pitching nine. Their heaviest competition might come from Golden Light, which also showed power in the A.S.A. tourney.

The series, as was the league this year, will be sponsored by the Lubbock Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Baldridge Bakery Edges Stamford, 1-0

Lindsay Telford scored an unearned run in the third inning to give the Baldridge Bakery nine of Lubbock a narrow 1-0 win over Stamford Tuesday night at Jumbo Webster park, after the Stamford crew had copped the opener of the Texas Softball league double bill, 3-2.

Cecil (Smoky) Hale shut out the visitors in the second encounter to gain credit for the mound win, but his Baldridge teammates found the offerings of Stamford's Roy Weakes just as hard to solve. But Telford reached first on an error in the third stanza, then raced home with the winning run.

In the opener Stamford nosed out the Bakermen, 3-2, behind the steady hurling of E. W. Mickler. Wayne Ward, newcomer from Dallas, was charged with defeat.

The double bill was the last regular Texas Softball loop game of the season scheduled in Lubbock, and enabled the Baldridge nine to retain a position in the loop Shaughnessy playoff.

White Sox, Exchange Club Win Victories In Kid Games

Coming from behind in the first of the seventh, the Pee Wee League White Sox, scored fifteen runs to down a hard fighting Tiger nine, 28 to 16, and in the Junior League tilt, the Exchange Club edged by the ABC's, 7 to 6.

Ronald Hall paced the Sox attack with two triples and two singles in seven times up and batted in 9 of the winner's tallies. The Sox were behind 16 to 13 when the seventh inning opened up and Hall then started the attack and supported by the heavy batting of his teammates, went on to win the game.

Bobby Craig smacked out a homer and a double in the upper half of the seventh frame to give the Exchange Club their slim victory. Bill Breedlove was the winning pitcher. Lyndle Bailey paced the losing ABC nine with a double in the seventh that drove in two runs to tie the game.

Wednesday afternoon the Dodgers will play the Yankees in the Pee Wee League game, while in the second affair, Methodist Men will tangle with the Rotary Club.

He was born Joseph Youngs 78 years ago at Redwood, N. Y. Death was attributed by the coroner to a heart attack.

North-South Grid Game Set Friday

ABILENE, Aug. 3. (AP)—A sell-out crowd of 13,000 was forecast today for the annual All-Star football game of the West Texas coaching school.

The game, matching squads from the northern and southern districts of the Interscholastic league, will be played Friday night with Bobby Dodd of Georgia Tech coaching the north and Matty Bell of Southern Methodist the south.

Because the south squad has eight All-State players while the north boasts only two, and because the north is using the T formation, which is considered difficult to teach in only four days of training, Bell's team appears the favorite to win.

'T' May Be Exaggerated

The T formation problem, however, may be exaggerated. A check-up shows that all backs except one on the north squad have been playing under the T and that most of the linemen have also.

Anyway, the north was clicking much better today than in the first practice sessions yesterday.

A report on ticket sales showed 7,500 to already have been purchased—a heavy advance sale indeed.

A sell-out for the All-Star basketball game scheduled Thursday night also was indicated. But the gymnasium seats only 2,000. Coaching the north squad is Clair Bee of Long Island university. Tutoring the south is Jack Gray of Texas.

One injury has cropped up among the footballers. Bill Howton, Plainview end on the north squad, is favoring a foot hurt but is expected to be able to play.

A substitution was made today in the south basketball squad. W. J. Harrell of Maydell joined the navy and won't be able to come here. Leonard Childs of Jeff Davis (Houston) was selected in his stead and arrived at a workout this afternoon.

The coaching school has gone over the 1,000 mark in registrations—the all-time high. There are lectures daily on football, basketball, track, baseball and prevention and treatment of injuries.

BEE SAYS TEXAS SCHOOLBOY BASKETBALL HAS IMPROVED

ABILENE, Aug. 3. (AP)—Texas schoolboy basketball has improved greatly in the past decade and can be matched against the best in the nation, Clair Bee, famed coach of Long Island university, said today.

Bee, here as an instructor in the Texas coaching school, could comment with the authority of observation on the progress of the high school cage sport in the state because he has been in Texas on three occasions since 1938, each time to teach boys how to play basketball.

The initial trip was in 1938 at Denton when the first state basketball clinic was held. Last year he was at Fort Worth for the Texas Christian university school.

"I would say the boys have improved in ability by 50 per cent since 1938," Bee declared. "And I will also say that the Texas boys have more height and speed—the main ingredients of basketball—than any other part of the country That, I might add, includes Indiana."

Indiana is known as the hotbed of basketball in the nation.

The only weakness Bee said he observed was in passing. Texas boys play the game running too much instead of mixing in ball handling.

Three Lone Star Loop Managers Fined And Given Suspensions

KILGORE, Aug. 3 (AP)—Fred Nicholson, president of the Class C Lone Star League, today said he had fined three club managers $50 each and suspended them indefinitely.

The three fined and suspended were Art Nelson of Gladewater, Hack Miller of Tyler and Jess Landrum of Bryan.

Nicholson said the fines and suspensions resulted from action in last night's games.

He said Landrum was called out on strikes in a game with Longview and that the Bryan manager mistreated and cursed the umpire in protesting the decision.

The league president said Nelson abused the umpire. Umpire Henderson forfeited the game to Kilgore in the ninth inning while Kilgore was ahead, 17-2.

Miller was ordered from the field in the 10th innnig of a game Tyler won from Henderson. Nicholson said the Tyler manager refused to leave the field and used profane language in talking to the umpire.

COLLINS IS DISCHARGED

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Aug. 3 (INS)—James (Rip) Collins today was discharged as manager of the San Diego Padres of the Pacific Coast League "for the best interests of all concerned." ## Legion Play To Start Thursday

Prizes for the American Legion regional tournament, which will begin play here tomorrow afternoon at 12:30, are being lined up by tournament officials and several interesting awards will be made.

Among the prizes already secured is a $15 gift certificate from Hemphill-Wells for the family with largest number of boys; a $10 bed spread from Glassman's store for the fattest man; a set of dishes from State Furniture company for the longest married couple; a table lamp from Gross Furniture store for the shortest married couple; and a gallon of ice cream for each girl in the family with the largest number of daughters from Bell Ice Cream company.

Interesting Prizes Offered

Other prizes to be given are being decided upon now, with the shortest man, the tallest man, the largest family and the family traveling the longest distance for the games also to be rewarded.

For the American Legion players themselves, two contests have been arranged, with prizes to the winners in each. There will be a fungo hitting contest and a base running contest, with each team putting up four runners. They will circle the bases in relay against time, the fastest time winning.

When these contests will take place is not known and will not be announced by the committee in charge. The tournament [illegible] Thursday with four games, with the first of two afternoon contests starting at 12:30 p. m. and the first of two night games starting at 7:30 p. m.

Runs Through Friday

The tourney will continue Friday, with the single game starting at 7:30. And the championship battle will begin at 7:30 p. m. Saturday.

Teams from Wichita Falls, El Paso, Lamesa and Lubbock are entered. The state winner will go to the national tournament.

Free tickets for children may be obtained from the Lubbock Boys club or Dunlaps. These tickets otherwise will sell for nine cents each. A single day's admission for adults will cost only fifty cents, while a ticket good for all three days and nights is selling for only $1.50.

Joe Holmes, tournament chairman, said yesterday that tickets were selling rapidly and that the Legion expected good crowds for all games. A good turnout for this tournament probably will assure Lubbock of the state American Legion tournament next year, as well as the National Baseball Office tournament.

AL BEATS PANHANDLE

U.S. Captures Two More Olympic Titles

Mel Patton Wins 200-Meter Event

OLYMPIC STADIUM, WEMBLEY, England, Aug. 3 (AP)—Mel Patton's flying feet and the powerful right arm of Wilbur Thompson brought the United States two more brilliant victories and one Olympic record today. Another near-capacity crowd saw Uncle Sam's athletes continue to dominate the track and field events of the 1948 games.

Patton, 23-year-old student at the University of Southern California, flashed to a thrilling victory over teammate, Barney Ewell of Lancaster, Pa., by less than a yard in the final of the 200 meters, atoning for a humiliating loss in the 100 meters last week. His time was 21.1, and it was so close the timers caught Ewell in the same clocking.

U. S. Wins Seventh Title

Thomoson, also a student at U. S. C., propelled the shot to an Olympic record of 56 feet, 2 inches nosing out two other Americans in that event and giving his country its seventh championship in track and field.

Completing an American sweep of the first three places, Jim Delaney, of San Francisco, loosed a throw of 54 feet 8¼ inches and Jim Fuchs, 20-year-old Yale halfback did 53 feet 10½ inches.

All three American huskies shattered the Olympic record of 53 feet, 1¾ inches established by Germany's Hans Woellke at Berlin in the 1936 games.

Patton fully lived up to the hopes of his college mentor, coach Dean Cromwell of the U. S. track and field forces, in smashing through to win the 200 and complete his country's sweep of the sprints. He more than made up for his dismal fifth place in the 100 last Saturday.

Close Track Final

The big Californian got a fine start, matched only by that of Ewell, the 30-year-old veteran As the field of six finalists hit the head of the stretch, 100 meters from the tape, the two Americans were dead level, and it was plain that the victory lay between them.

Down the straightaway Patton slowly but surely gained on the stoop-shouldered little negro. Inch by inch he thundered ahead, until, 20 meters from the finish, there no longer was any doubt he would win. Ewell, who had run second to Harrison Dillard in the 100, again had to be content with the runner-up spot.

Lloyd Labeach, the Panamania, was a close third, and Herb McKenley of Jamaica, fourth. Both have done much of their sprinting as students in American colleges. Veteran Cliff Bourland of Los Angeles took fifth and Leonard Laing of Jamaica sixth. Labeach was caught at 21.2.

Owens' Record Stands

None of the six came close to the Olympic record of 20.7 set by Jesse Owens as he completed his triple win at Berlin in 1936, but they looked like they were flying. The track, sodden by yesterday's long rain, could not have been fast.

Over in the swimming pool, the U. S. men's 800 meter relay team cracked the world record and and three California girls gave United States a sweep of the women's springboard diving championships, duplicating the feat of the American men last week.

The relay quartet of Wally Ris, Wallace Wolf, Jimmy McLane and Bill Smith won the 800 meter final in 8:46, snapping the previous world Olympic record of 8:51.5 made by Japan at Berlin in 1936.

Yanks Pace Rifle Shoot

Vicki Draves won the springboard title, scoring a surprise victory over Zoe Ann Olsen, American champion and favorite. Mrs. Draves will be the favorite in the tower dive. Miss Olsen was a close second and Patricia Ann Elsener was third.

Americans also dominated the field in the 50 meter small bore rifle championship. Arthur E. Cook of the University of Maryland and Walter Tomsen of Flushing, N. Y., each shot 599 out of a possible 600. Cook had more shots in the center of the bullseye and took the title.

The U. S. basketball team added to the day's successes, but not until after it had been handed a stiff fright. Overwhelming favorites to win the title, the Americans barely squeaked past a surprising Argentine team, 59-57, after trailing at halftime, 33-26.

YANKS IN SEMI-FINALS

LONDON, Aug. 3 (INS)—Silvio Giolito of Woodside, Long Island, N. Y., and Dean Cetrulo of Hollywood fought their way into the semi-finals of the Olympic individual foil championships today. The final round will be held tomorrow. Both Americans gave a brilliant display of swordsmanship. Cetrulo defeated Rossi of Uruguay, Ruben of Denmark, Tewfik of Egypt and Baloc of Hungary. Giolito trimmed Galimi of Argentina, Ericksson of Sweden, Lievesdorf of Luxembourg and Horning of Switzerland.

District 2 softball tournament of the Texas Amateur Athletic federation will be held Aug. 16-21 at Jumbo Webster park, tourney director Curtis Barrett has announced, with teams from a 23-county area competing for the first place trophy and a trip to the state meet at San Antonio Aug. 26-28.

The district tourney will be conducted on a single elimination bracket, Barrett emphasized, and strict regulations on team rosters will be in effect. No player may compete on more than one team during the tournament here, and no team may have more than 19 players on its roster. No roster can be altered after a team opens its first game.

A entry fee of 20 dollars will be required from each team, Barrett said, and Friday, Aug. 13, will be the deadline for entering the meet.

Two games will be played each night of the tournament, with the first game beginning at 8:30. In case rain causes postponement of any game, the tourney tilts will still be unreeled in the original order.

Teams from any of the following counties will be eligible to compete in the District 2 meet: Scurry, Borden, Yoakum, Terry, Lynn, Garza, Kent, Stonewall, King, Dickens, Crosby, Hockley, Cochran, Bailey, Lamb, Hale, Floyd, Motley, Cottle, Gaines, Dawson, Andrews and Lubbock.

Greenies Down Bryan, 10 To 8 In American Legion Tussle

BEAUMONT, Aug. 3 (AP) — The South Park Greenies gained another notch toward the state playoffs in the American Legion race today as they defeated the Bryan Juniors 10-8 in the first game of a three game set.

The Parkers won the tilt in the last of the eighth with a three-run rally after Bryan had tied the score at 7-7 with a three-run splurge of their own in the top of the same inning. The visitors were given a free tally in the last inning as Oliver Graham walked four men, but he cut short the threat by forcing Red Cashion, catcher, to ground out to end the game.

The second game will be played in Bryan at 8 p. m. Thursday.

RIS BREAKS OLYMPIC RECORD—Wally Ris, of Chicago and the University of Iowa won the 100-meter freestyle swimming event of the Olympic games with a new Olympic record of 57.3. Ris is shown above being aided from the Wembley, England, pool by his teammate, Keith Carter, of Purdue university, after Ris had tied the old record of 57.5 in the semi-finals.

Reid came to Denver in May as business manager of athletics at the University. He previously served as coach or director at Achison, Kan., High school. Kansas university, and at Missouri state teachers colleges at Warrensburg and Marysville.

The chancellor, in his announcement today, also set forth the duties and responsibilities of each member of the school's expanded athletic staff.

Gray And Getz In Mat Bout Tonight

One of the outstanding light-heavyweight grapplers in the Southwest, Karl Gray, will return to Sled Allen's arena tonight to tangle with Al Getz, the durable Dutchman from Pittsburgh, in the two of three falls main event.

Gray has just completed a tour in the South and East, where he compiled a brilliant win record over top opponents, and he will attempt to notch an impressive victory in his first return bout in the local arena.

George Curtis, Vicksburg, Miss., speedster, will clash with Gil Knutson of Iowa in the two of three falls semi-final setto. Curtis, a clean-cut grappler, is a favorite of Lubbock mat fans and will be favored to best the burly Knutson in the 45-minute time limit encounter.

A crowd-pleasing preliminary match is carded tonight, with rowdy Pat O'Dowdy of Big Spring meeting Billy Hickson of Knoxville, Tenn. O'Dowdy and Hickson have met in the local arena four times, with three of the clashes ending in draws. Hickson won the fourth tussle when O'Dowdy was disqualified.

Tickets will go on sale at 9 o'clock this morning at Wylie's drug. Matches start at 8:30 p. m.

Babe Zaharias Shoots Four-Under Par 72 In All-American Tourney

CHICAGO, Aug. 3 (INS)—Mildred Didrikson Zaharias scorched the links for a four-under-par 72 today to tie the women's course record and take first-round command of the $4,500 All-American women's golf championship tournament at Tam O'Shanter.

The Babe had a four stroke-lead over three competitors, defending champion Grace Lenczyk of Newington, Conn., Patty Berg of Minneapolis, and Mrs. Eddie Bush of Detroit. A stroke back of that threesome was Carol Diringer of Tiffin, O., with a 77.

Sports Study

By Earl Scudday

There are always plenty of humorous angles to the coaching schools and all-star football games held in the state each year, but Tuesday's report from Abilene that the South eleven will be favored in the classic should take some kind of special prize. Reasons for the South being made the favorite in the annual tilt, according to the experts on the scene, are that most of the all-state performers are on the Rebel squad and that the North will be using the hard-to-do-right "T" formation.

• • •

There is a possibility, even a probability, that the "experts" are sincere in their beliefs. But there is no doubt that they are overlooking some very important factors. In the first place, the mere fact that eight all-state players are on the South squad is not a remarkable event. It is true that the all-state selections are fine performers but, as every sports fan knows, there are plenty of boys just as good who did not have a chance for recognition because they played with inferior teams. There is also the undisputable fact that the persons who make the all-state selections feel "honor bound" to put at least two or three members of the state championship eleven on the mythical team, regardless of how they compare with gridders that played with an "also ran."

Last fall a South team—Brackenridge—won the state championship in Conference AA. So several of the Brackenridge gridders received all-state honors. But it is safe to say that not more than one of the youngsters would have made the selections if the Brackenridge team had not won the championship. And when the going gets rough in the North-South classic Friday night at Abilene, someone will find out that many of the youngsters who did not get on an all-state team are playing better ball than the heralded "stars."

• • •

As to the other argument, that the North will be handicapped by using the tricky T-formation, that position cannot be supported by the facts. Many of the North squad members played on "T" teams during their schoolboy careers, and should be able to pick up the variations in Bobby Dodd's type of play readily. Most of the North's "name" stars are familiar with the "T", including Odessa's Byron (Santone) Townsend and Gordon Headlee, Bill Bumgarner of North Side of Fort Worth, and Levelland's Bobby Hart. Even the few who did not play on a "T" team played against it so often that they picked up lots of valuable information. Lubbock's Dick Schmidt played against some of the best T-formation offenses in the state, so he already knows the general pattern of play. And that applies to Bill Howton of Plainview, Carl Mayes of Pampa and Howard Hurt of Borger—all North squadmen.

• • •

Regardless of formations or coaching, it seems certain that the North has too much speed and power for the South eleven. Our prediction on the final score is: North 20, South 13.

Guldahl Leading In Tam O'Shanter

CHICAGO, Aug. 3 (AP) — Big Ralph Guldahl dropped a $1,000 five foot birdie putt on the last hole for a course record 64, eight under par, to jump into the first round lead of the $50,000 Tam O'Shanter golf tourney today.

The former National Open champion banged a five-under-par 31 on the front nine with an eagle 3 on the 485-yard second hole and was back in 3 under, 33. A $1,000 cash reward awaited the player to break the course record of 65 and Guldahl calmly rammed in his five-footer on the 18th carpet for a birdie 3 and a 64. Promoter George S. May then handed him a certified check. The record 65 had been matched previously by Len Dodson, Johnny Revolta, Johnny Bulla, Byron Nelson, Bobby Locke and also Guldahl in past tournaments.

Trailing Guldahl in today's opening round, of the 72-hole all-American pro meet, which pays $5,000 to the winner, were Dick Metz of Arkansas City, Kas., with a pair of 33's for 66, Chandler Harper of Portsmouth, Va., 32-35—67; and Herman Barron of White Plains, N. Y., the 1946 Tam champion, with two 34's for 68.

Favorites Tumble In Junior Tourney

KALAMAZOO, Mich., Aug. 3 (AP)—It was no day for favorites in the National Junior and boys tennis championships at Kalamazoo college today.

Three seeded stars, including two Californians conceded a good chance of winning, tumbled from the junior singles division in stunning upsets and one of the eight seeded players fell in the boys' division as the field in each class was reduced to 16 survivors.

Steve Potts, sandy-haired, methodical Memphis star, threw the biggest surprise into the day's play by taking out sixth-seeded Jerry DeWitts, Vallejo, Calif., tow-head, 6-1, 6-8, 8-6 in a third round junior match.

Junior (third round):

John Fraser, St. Augustine, Fla., defeated Charles Platt, El Paso, Texas, 6-0, 6-1.

Boys (second round)

Earl Schulze, Chicago, defeated John Green, El Paso, Texas, 7-5, 6-1.

Juniors (third round)

Ray DeBerry, Jr., San Angelo, Texas, defeated Jack Yates, Chevy Chase, Md., 6-2, 6-1.

Julian Oates, Waco, Texas, defeated Edwin Wesely, Chevy Chase, Md., 6-4, 5-7, 6-3.

GOP Plans Own Anti-Inflation Bill

ment to increase the reserves banks are required to set aside to assure payment of their depositors would apply only to members of the Federal Reserve system.

The President, too, asked that the increases apply only to member banks but federal reserve officials have said the increase should apply to non-member banks as well.

Passage Seen

Wolcott told newsmen his banking committee should agree on a bill tomorrow and place it before the House Thursday. He predicted the House would pass it and send it to the Senate the same day. Taft said it would be referred immediately to the Senate Banking committee.

Taft indicated the Senate might get around to taking up the bill Friday. If Tobey's group has it ready. He said that if everything works smoothly, Congress could adjourn this weekend but that he would have "no objections" to running a day or two next week.

Details of the White House tax plan came out almost simultaneously with a sharp attack by Marriner S. Eccles, former chairman of the Federal Reserve board, on Mr. Truman's overall anti-inflation program. Eccles offered a seven-point plan of his own emphasizing a balanced budget.

"Quit Politics," Eccles Asks

Eccles, still a member of the reserve board despite his demotion, told a House Banking committee that Democrats and Republicans should quit playing politics and consider only and honestly "the economic facts of life."

Among inflation curbs with the best apparent chance of passage was a return of the controls on installment buying. Chairman Wolcott (R-Mich.) of the House Banking committee said installment curbs probably will pass.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio), chairman of the Republican policy committee, said his group had checked to the Senate and House Banking committees the decision on what anti-inflation and housing measure to bring up in the extra session.

Filibuster Continues

Taft called a policy committee meeting for tomorrow to decide what to do about civil rights legislation.

The southern filibuster against the anti-poll tax measure continued into its third day and Taft said in his opinion "it is absolutely impossible" to break it up.

The measure would wipe out poll taxes as a requirement for voting in federal elections, and southerners claim it is a violation of state rights. They are trying to talk the bill to death.

Senator Wherry (R-Neb.), acting majority leader, expressed hope the poll tax issue can be cleared up tomorrow, leaving the Senate free to act on inflation and housing.

Time Payment Curbs Hinted

House Majority Leader Halleck (R-Ind.) said one bill in that chamber might be the curb on time payments. Restrictions on installment buying would mean boosting the amount of money paid down on time purchases, and requiring payment of the balance in shorter specified periods.

Wartime controls, which expired last November, required a one-third down payment on such things as automobiles, refrigerators, and stoves, with the balance paid out in not more than 15 months.

GOP leaders also were said to be studying a House-approved bill designed to increase the building of rental properties.

They also were reported to have agreed on a move to tighten bank credits, including an increase in bank reserve requirements. They believe this would help halt spiraling prices.

Smaller Firms Exempt

The President's anti-inflation measure, the multi-billion dollar excess profits tax, is not as tough as the wartime measure.

For one thing, it would hit only about 25,000 of this nation's 360,000 corporations now filing tax returns.

Smaller corporations are exempt, and those formed since 1940 are specially favored.

The tax would work like this: Before a corporation would be taxed, it could add 40 per cent to its average profits for the 1935-39 period, plus $50,000. The tax on profits exceeding 140 per cent of the base period would begin at 50 per cent, and run up to a maximum of 80 per cent on earnings in excess of 175 per cent of the 1935-39 period.

Corporations formed since 1940 would receive another $50,000 exemption.

Eccles Pessimistic

Dingell said the bill would remove $4,300,000,000 from buying power of large corporations; help restore a surplus of government receipts over expenditures; discourage price raises; and encourage wage stabilization.

Eccles was not optimistic. The former reserve board head, removed by Mr. Truman, warned that a "catastrophic" deflation might result if the question of inflation controls is not divorced from politics.

"There isn't much use talking about controlling inflation," he said, "unless fiscal policy calls for a budget surplus."

Program Offered

With all this spending going on, he said, it will be impossible to have a sizeable budgetary surplus "unless sufficient revenue through taxation is made available to meet the appropriations by Congress."

He offered this program:

1. A balanced budget and a budget surplus.
2. Restore consumer credit controls, including those on installm[illegible]
3. Restrict bank credit.
4. Encourage the states to cut down spending, and let the federal government "set an example."
5. Don't let "political reasons" lead the government into backing a housing program in excess of materials and labor available.
6. Bring down food prices "by encouraging more and not less production."
7. "Adjourn political considerations . . . and both parties . . . consider honestly and openly the economic facts of life."

Senator Taft said the Republican Congress will be asked tomorrow to decide whether to back a proposal for submission of the poll tax question to the states as a constitutional amendment.

Southerners, filibustering against an anti-poll tax measure, said they would not talk that plan to death. However, the plan for such an amendment would require a two-thirds approval of both houses.

Meat Boycott

Said Shanks:

"Some people don't think of cutting down on other things, such as shows, drinking and high-priced automobiles.

"Meat prices are high, what isn't?"

The meat industry offered a bit of advice concerning the boycott:

It won't work unless the proposed boycott is on a national basis. But it's hurting a little already.

Meat market operators at Orange did a quick reverse Tuesday. They had announced they would close up in sympathy with the boycott planned for Aug. 9-16. Today they changed their minds.

In Dallas, meat market operators and processors said their business volume already is down. They also said it was unfair to blame the retailer. One anonymous dealer said:

"The consumer, the producer, the retailer and the processor must all assume the burden of high meat costs. National income is high as are personal resources and more people than ever are determined to eat all the meat they want to eat and are willing to pay for it."

One meat packing industry spokesman in Dallas said of the widely-heralded strike campaign: "The only way such a plan might be successful would be to have it spread out all over the nation."

A similar tack was taken by L. A. King, manager of two Orange chain stores who Tuesday retracted his statement that he will close his meat markets "if the ladies mean business."

Gains More Backing

After consulting his home office, King said he will stay open. He added that his organization remains "completely sympathetic with housewives' efforts to achieve lower prices on meats" but that "a boycott of meat markets on a national scale would be much more effective, since these prices are determined in large national markets."

Though still far from nationwide, the housewife rebellion picked up more support Tuesday. Housewives at Paris joined those in Dallas, Corpus Christi, Austin, and Waco in telephoning their neighbors, asking a meat boycott for next week.

In Dallas, gray-haired Mrs. R. D. Vaughn, 71, said about 250 women are busy telephoning families asking them to join in the meat "strike." The president of the Dallas Women's Chamber of Commerce started the idea by planning a page-by-page telephone campaign.

Stores Await Next Move

At Orange, King also declared that "local boycotts are apt to cause hardships and loss to local market owners."

An independent grocer at Orange, asking anonymity, first released for publication and then retracted an announcement that he would offer a blanket ten per cent reduction in meat prices next week.

He said he decided against the idea when it occurred to him housewives might take the offer as "admission of guilt on the part of retailers that they are partially responsible for present high prices."

Some Orange grocers who had announced they will shut their meat counters were standing pat, while still others were adopting a "wait and see" attitude.

Mrs. L. A. Rex, young Navy wife leading the Orange campaign, said Mrs. Melvin Guidry and Mrs. Clarence Wilson of Port Arthur and Mrs. Marie Rollins of Beaumont had called her, asking for information on how to conduct similar drives in their cities.

"I just told them to call up newspapers and give them their names and telephone numbers," said Mrs. Rex, wife of a Navy civil service worker. "Women will begin calling you. They're just waiting for someone to take the lead."

ployment records of William W. Remington, official in the Office of International Trade whom Miss Bentley has named as a source of information for the Communist spies. Remington says he thought she was a newspaper reporter and that he gave her no secrets.

But Ferguson said the committee hasn't been able to get a direct answer to his request. It wants to know how Remington could be transferred from one important confidential government job to another while, Ferguson said, the FBI was running a check on him.

"We will proceed under this handicap," Ferguson said, and the 30-year-old Remington resumed his denial of wrongdoing.

Remington told the senators today he believed Miss Bentley's story of a wartime spy ring is true, but that he was not a part of it.

Remington said in response to questions that he knew many details of the "Manhattan project," in 1944 but that he didn't know it was developing the atom bomb. He testified that he never talked about this project to Miss Bentley, who has described herself as a wartime courier who picked up American secrets for the Communists.

Youths Escape Brownfield Jail

BROWNFIELD, August 3 (Special)—Two juveniles, one convicted of car theft charges and the other being held on the same charge, who escaped from Terry county jail here sometime Monday night, still had not been apprehended late tonight, according to a report by Deputy Sheriff Bual Powell.

The youths, Johnny Wright, 16, and Dale Webb, 13, pried their way to freedom by digging a hole in their cell wall with a hook torn off a jail bunk, and a commode lid. Once freed from the juvenile jail cell, the youths found themselves in the liquor storage room of the jail, the door of which could be opened from the inside, and free of that, made an unsuccessful attempt to pick the lock of a cell containing four other men.

Missed At Breakfast

Powell said the youths escaped sometime between 8 o'clock Monday night and 8 a. m. Tuesday. He said they were first missed when he took breakfast to the prisoners this morning "about 8 o'clock."

The youths, who were charged with having stolen a 1942 Ford coach from J. T. Woodall, a Brownfield oil field worker, were apprehended in Clovis, N. M., Powell said. Webb was tried and given an indefinite sentence in the Gatesville reform school.

Brownfield officials had delayed prosecution on Wright as a suspected Army deserter, and received confirmation from Scott Field, Ill., that he was absent without leave from that base. Army officials reportedly told Brownfield officials to go ahead and prosecute the case, and advise them of final disposition.

Powell said that at the time of escape both boys were wearing khaki clothing and had fresh haircuts. He described Wright as about 5 feet 5 inches, weighing 140 pounds, and having brown hair. Webb, he said was about 5 feet tall, weighed 120 pounds, and had brown hair.

Highway Patrol authorities in Lubbock have issued descriptions of the escaped youths and broadcast general warnings over the area.

Negro Faces Charge

negroes went to a dance and, later, to another. At the second place, he said, May approached and demanded that he see a purse carried by Johnnie Lee Hodge, whom Jones referred to as "my brother, because we grew up together."

The victim identified the purse as not the one sought, then exclaimed that he saw it in possession of someone he did not identify.

Says He Pulled Pistol

Jones said May was drinking and quarrelsome and "I could see he was hot, so I tried to quieten him down." He said he tried to talk with May, but May pulled a pistol.

"I didn't know anything had happened till I heard 'Skeeter' (Jones' name for May) say, 'Boy I is shot!' I followed him over to a table where he laid down, and I didn't know till then that I had a gun in my hand," he related.

E. G. Pharr, assistant district attorney questioned several witnesses.

One witness said that when May pulled his gun the witness caught his arm and pulled it back. When May was in that position Jones shot, the witness said.

Other Cases Set

Tom Garrett, Jr., charged with slaying Alvis Graves June 9;

Hildred Milton Duty, charged with slaying James W. Hickman July 19;

Richard W. McGee, charged with slaying R. L. Allston July 7;

Sandra Bitela, charged with slaying Ignacio Lopez Nov. 9;

Nettie Bowles, charged with slaying Roy L. Bowles, July 28, and

Henry White, a negro, charged with slaying Joe Perkins, another negro, July 17 in Slaton.

In addition, two murder indictments are set for specific trial call in September. They charge Brewster Dillard with the slaying of Garlon Douglas Weaver, and Milus Sloan, a negro, with the slaying of another negro.

Mississippi Demo Convention Continues To Back States' Rights Despite Opposition

JACKSON, Miss., Aug. 3 (INS)—Gov. J. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina and Gov. Fielding L. Wright of Mississippi were unanimously nominated candidates of the Mississippi Democratic party in Jackson tonight by delegates to the state convention.

Following resolutions adopted to this effect, the presidential electors who were nominated by the convention mounted the speaker's rostrum to condemn President Truman and his Civil Rights proposals and to pledge their individual votes for the Thurmond-Wright ticket in November.

Prior to adoption of the resolutions a debate flared in the convention when six students who claimed they represented opposition to the states' rights movement appeared in the convention hall and took seats reserved "for those opposed to the State's Rights Democratic party principles."

The five students were booed lustily by another section of college students—approximately 150—who said they had been elected delegates from the University of Mississippi, Mississippi State college, Mississippi college at Clinton and Millsaps College at Jackson.

Gov. Wright made a personal plea that the self-styled opposition be heard.

George Maddox, spokesman for the opposition students, then declared that his group is "opposed to the approach which is now being made to national and world-wide problems under the guise of states' rights."

Stewart Broom, a University of Mississippi law student, classified the opposition group as "a few malcontents, ne'er-do-wells and publicity seekers who are lapping at the fringes of freedom of speech under the guise of a Red carpet."

Following the debate the delegates passed resolutions endorsing previous actions of the Mississippi delegation—walking out of the national Democratic convention at Philadelphia and participating in the southwide conference held later in Birmingham.

Incumbents, headed by Gov. Frank Carlson, were taking comfortable leads in Kansas' other Republican races.

Complete unofficial returns from 243 of 2,772 precincts gave Carlson 15,195, Lambertson 1,881 and McClain 1,841.

On the Democratic side, Randolph Carpenter, for congressman from Marion was leading Ewell Stewart of Topeka by a margin for the gubernatorial nomination.

The unofficial count from 197 precincts: Carpenter 2,398 and Stewart 1,605.

George McGill, former U. S. senator from Wichita, was widening his lead over E. K. Dean, St. Marys farm leader. The count in 192 precincts: McGill 2,983 and Dean 1,322.

In the race for Republican senatorial nomination to succeed the veteran Arthur Capper, who is retiring, former Governor Andrew Schoeppel was making a runaway of his race against Harold H. Malone, Wichita lawyer. The count is 234 precincts: Schoeppel 13,902; Malone 3,611.

Capper, dean of Senate Republicans, stepped aside at the age of 83. His party chose between former Gov. Andrew F. Schoeppel and Harold Malone, Wichita attorney, for the nomination. Democratic candidates were former Senator George McGill and E. K. Dean, past president of the Kansas Farmers union.

In Missouri, President Truman was up as the roosters crowed to fulfill his obligations as a voter after traveling from Washington to Independence to do so. He flew back at once because of the congressional session.

Missourians were most interested in the race for governor after heated campaigning. The Republican contest featured a race between Murray E. Thompson, speaker of the Missouri house of representatives, and Manvel H. (Cap) Davis, Kansas City attorney.

Democrats witnessed a contest among Forrest Smith, state auditor, Dan M. Nee, former internal revenue collector for western Missouri, and Roy McKittrick, one-time Missouri attorney general. Nee was supported by James M. Pendergast of the Pendergast political organization.

In the seventh Missouri congressional district, Rep. Dewey Short was in a contest with youthful Quentin Haden, former state legislator. Short stood to head the House Armed Services committee in the next session if he is re-elected and the Republicans retain control of Congress.

Virginia Democrats had a choice between Senator A. Willis Robertson and James P. Hart, who conducted a spirited race for the Senate nomination. He attacked what he called "machine rule" in the state. Robertson did little campaigning.

Eighth district Republicans held what is believed to be the first GOP congressional primary in the history of Virginia.

The presidential campaign flared on the senate floor during the southern filibuster against the anti-poll tax bill. It found both Senator Bridges (R-NH) and Eastland (D-Miss) calling for a change of administration.

Bridges voiced the prediction that Thomas E. Dewey of New York would be the next White House occupant. Eastland said it would be Governor Thurmond of North Carolina, candidate of the states rights Democrats. The Mississippian said that "for all practical purposes" New York is "a communist controlled state."

Bridges said that as far as he knows there are no Communists in Dewey's state administration, but he acknowledged there are "too many Communists in New York."

Property Owners Block Road Work To Save 137 Trees

OSKALOOSA, Ia., Aug. 3 (INS)—The Iowa State Highway commission tonight announced it will fight the temporary injunction granted Oskaloosa property owners in their efforts to halt destruction of 137 trees in a street-widening project.

The injunction was granted today after housewives, 70 strong, battled construction workers who undertook the mass uprooting project. Foreman A. N. Wilson was free on $100 bond tonight after being arraigned on assault and battery charges preferred by one of the women pickets.

Project To Be Pushed

She said she was pushed aside by Wilson as he attempted to remove one of the seven trees dug up today before the injunction was issued.

Highway commission attorney Folsom Everest said the commission was determined to go through with the project, since it would be liable for damages to the construction company if work was halted.

Petition for the injunction claimed that permission for the project was gained from the city council without due process of law, that property owners were not being compensated for their loss, and that the city planning commission had not approved the work.

Housewives Block Work

Plans call for making the mile and one-quarter long street conform to federal specifications of 44 feet in width. The street is the route of U. S. highway 63 and two state roads.

The protesting housewives yesterday succeeded in preventing movement of heavy equipment, including bulldozers and a derrick, to the scene.

Property owners said the first they heard of the proposal was a report of the council meeting.

Hearing on a petition to make the injunction permanent will be held Aug. 17.

PHILPOT RESIGNS JOB

Various Events Are Scheduled At Parks

The City Recreation department has announced plans for various events which are to be held this week at the park playgrounds, including pet shows and a "wheels on parade" review.

All events will be supervised by the recreation department, and the playground directors will be assisted by Junior Welfare League volunteers, who will help with registration and serve as judges.

Pet shows will be held Thursday afternoon at 5 o'clock at both Booker T. Washington and Pioneer parks. The show at Pioneer was previously scheduled and postponed because of bad weather.

Ribbon awards will be given to participants for pets with longest and shortest tails, longest and shortest ears, most unusual pets, largest and smallest pets, prettiest pets, pets with most spots, and best dressed pets.

All children living in the two park vicinities are invited to participate in the shows.

Carlisle park will stage its "wheels on parade" contest Friday evening at 7 o'clock, with divisions for the best decorated bicycle, tricycle, wagon, and miscellaneous, or anything else on wheels. First place winners in each division will then compete for the grand prize.

A similar event is scheduled for next Tuesday at Burns park.

Five other union leaders drew $100 fines and were placed under similar bonds.

Meanwhile, the picketing spread to Columbus, where a dozen unionists paraded around the Statehouse in protest against the use of troops. BRITAIN AND RUSSIA CLASH

Allies To Refuse Recognition Of Soviet Proposed Danubian Pact

By KINGSBURY SMITH
European General Manager, INS

BELGRADE, Aug. 3—The United States, Britain and France served notice on Russia today that they will not recognize the Soviet-proposed Danubian agreement which the current Danubian conference is bound to adopt.

British ambassador Sir Charles Peake declared that the Soviet-proposed agreement could not be considered internatonal law unless the signatories of the 1921 Danube convention, including Britain and France, abrogate the old agreement.

Russia Cracks Whip

Western delegates regard the Soviet draft convention as being full of loopholes designed to assure Soviet domination over Danubian shipping, limiting the principle of free navigation on the river.

The conference developed into a virtual diplomatic circus today with Russian deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky acting as ring master over the satellite delegations, including Yugoslavia.

The "red tiger" of Soviet diplomacy cracked the whip to line up the puppet delegations behind the new convention which would exclude western powers from equal navigation rights and maintain Russia's monopolistic control of the river.

The western powers, outnumbered by the seven votes of the Russian bloc, sought to show that Soviet domination of Danubian shipping will affect the riparian states adversely.

But the Danubian countries are expected to go along with Russia in approving the Soviet-proposed agreement, despite the consequences.

Today's session was marked by a diplomatic duel between Vishinsky and Peake, during which Russia and Britain were accused of treating the Danubian states "like a cook treats potatoes in the kitchen."

Vishinsky was the first to hurl the charge in an attack on Britain's pre-war policy toward the Danubian states.

Sir Charles, after glancing around at the delegates, replied ironically:

"I have been at this conference three days now and I would ask the conference who at this table is the cook."

Vishinsky answered Sir Charles' taunt regarding the moral issue involved in Russia's refusal to recognize the 1921 agreement by saying:

"When there are imperialistic issues at stake there is no question of morals."

Sir Charles objected to Vishinsky's "prosecuting attorney" tactics, and with obvious reference to his role at the Soviet purge trials, retorted:

Cotton Exchange Pays Record Price For First Dallas Bale

DALLAS, Aug. 3 (AP)—Dallas county's first bale of cotton sold today for $853.20, the highest price ever paid on the floor of the Dallas cotton exchange.

When asked what he would do with the money, sandy-haired, blue-eyed Speer Waldrum, 13-year-old Seagoville boy who grew the cotton, quickly replied, "I'm going to put it in the bank."

A. Edgar Kucera, president of the Dallas cotton exchange and vice president of R. L. Dixon and Bros., Inc., bought the 570-pound bale for 51 cents per pound. With the addition of premium money offered by members of the exchange the final price of Speer's bale was $1.50 per pound.

Full Probe Planned In Housing Setup

DALLAS, Aug. 3 (AP)—A full-scale investigation of housing complaints in the Dallas area is scheduled to start by Aug. 15, Perry N. Moore, regional director of the housing expeditor's compliance division, said today.

Moore said that more than 100 complaints, mostly from veterans, had been received by his office, charging faulty construction and overceiling prices.

The office's jurisdiction covers Texas, Colorado, New Mexico, Kansas, Oklahoma, Missouri, Arkansas and Louisiana, concerning housing built under government priorities in 1946 and early 1947.

A few investigations already are underway but a shortage of trained investigators has severely hampered the work, Moore said. His office has a staff of 25 civil-service-appointed investigators. He said three investigators are at work in Dallas and six others in other sections of the eight-state area.

Big Spring Rodeo Boosters Parade And Entertain Here

The fifteenth annual Big Spring rodeo, which opens there tonight and continues through Saturday night, got a boost here yesterday when approximately 50 persons, the majority of them members of the Big Spring American Business club, spent 30 minutes in Lubbock from 11 to 11:30 a. m., parading and entertaining in interests of the rodeo.

Headed by Charles Staggs, ABC president, Pete Green, trip chairman, and Sheriff Bob Wolf of Howard county, the visitors staged a parade through downtown Lubbock and presented a brief program in the street in front of the Hilton hotel on Main.

Hoyle Nix and his band furnished music and a square dance team performed. Jimmie Pugh, rodeo clown, introduced as the "mayor of Big Spring," made a humorous talk to the crowd.

The good will visitors stopped at Lamesa, O'Donnell and Tahoka en route to Lubbock and visited Levelland, Brownfield, Seagraves, Seminole, Andrews and Odessa during the afternoon.

Communists Ban Photos Of Crowd Attending Convention

NEW YORK, Aug. 3 (AP)—The Communists banned news photographs last night of the crowd attending their national convention at Madison Square garden.

Cary Grant Sought For Top Role In Paris Movie; Actress' Loss In Theft Is Heavy

By DOROTHY MANNERS
INS Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 3—Lester Cowan is making it very attractive for Cary Grant to accept the star role in "Babylon Revisited" which he produces in Paris this fall.

Cary will be in Europe at that time making a picture for Korda and also honeymooning with Betsy Drake, so they say. All he would have to do is to move on to Paris for the Cowan production, a selling point Lester is talking up big to Cary.

During the flapper '20s, "Babylon Revisited" was one of the best selling F. Scott Fitzgerald novels. It's a tale of Bohemian life in the Paris artist colony at that time.

Cowan leaves for France after he puts his okay on "Blondes Up" with the Marx Brothers and Ilona Massey.

Jewelry Loss Heavy

Most of the jewels stolen from Loretta Young were not insured—which makes that $35,000 theft an unusually bad blow, the only real jewels she has left are her wedding ring and a diamond cross she was wearing. Two fur coats, however, were covered.

What breaks her heart about the jewelry is that most of it is irreplaceable. Two of the necklaces were heirlooms of unusual design and setting.

Once again the New York and Hollywood critics disagree on a picture. The Eosterners lambasted "The Babe Ruth Story" in a "ruthless" beating — if you will pardon the pun. The West coast reviewers have been enthusiastic.

The Franchot Tones say there is nothing to the rift rumors about them. By way of proving it, Franchot left for New York today with Jean due to meet him August 15.

They then go on to Paris where he will star in and co-produce "Man In The Eiffel Tower" with Jean as his leading lady. In fact, it was Franchot who arranged to "borrow" his wife from 20th Century-Fox for his picture.

Best training for good directors, at least on the MGM lot, is directing tests. Latest test maker taking bows as a full-fledged director is Jerald Mayer, nephew of head man, Louis B Mayer.

Auditor Says SHSTC Operating Funds In 'Unhealthy' Condition

AUSTIN, Aug. 3 (AP) — A "not very healthy" condition was noted in the general operating funds of Sam Houston State Teachers college at Huntsville today in a state audit report of the college.

State Auditor C. H. Cavness said that while the general operating funds on Aug. 31, 1947 showed total assets exceeding liabilities by $7,514, nevertheless $38,185 of the assets was supplies inventory.

"Actually the payables exceed the cash and receivables by $30,671.01. Not a very healthy condition," he said.

The report also noted that the general operating surplus account decreased $33,878.99 during the fiscal year ending Aug. 31, 1947.

Cavness said his audit disclosed that a member of the legislature is also a member of the college's faculty, drawing a salary from the college except during the time when the legislature was in session. The report did not call the name of the legislator but noted that the attorney general had been asked for an opinion on whether or not the arrangement was legal. Cavness said the attorney general had not replied at the time of the audit report.

California Burglar Decides Hearst House 'Job' Too Big

WEST LOS ANGELES, Aug. 3 (AP)—A burglar who was appalled when he discovered the identity of his intended victim was a subject today of police search.

Officers said Dorothy Basila, a maid, told them she surprised the man in the foyer of the house late yesterday.

"How did you get here?" she asked.

"I walked in," the man replied.

"William Randolph Hearst."

"Oh. This job is too big for me."

The report was made by David Hearst, son of the publisher.

Southern Demos Renew Demands

(By The Associated Press)

Coke Stevenson and Lyndon Johnson headed out of Dallas Tuesday on the trail of votes for their Aug. 28 U. S. senatorial runoff.

Meanwhile there was a rash of other political developments, including:

1. Disclosure that Gov. Fielding H. Wright of Mississippi, vice presidential nominee of States' Rights Democrats, will attend the Aug. 11 rally at Houston with Gov. J. Strom Thurmond of North Carolina, the presidential nominee. Wright previously had announced he couldn't make it.

2. The text of the States' Righters petition asking the state Democratic executive committee to put a presidential referendum on the Aug. 28 ballot was made public. The petition takes some healthy wallops at high party officials and office holders.

Prohibition Slate Talked

3. News that Texas Prohibitionists may select a slate of candidates for state office this year—their first since 1916.

4. Johnson announced he won't use his helicopter in the runoff campaign. It's too slow, the congressman said.

Johnson and Stevenson were still differing over whether foreign policy is an issue in their race as they took their separate ways out of Dallas.

Johnson, heading for San Augustine to address a rural electrification meeting, declared again that the former governor is an isolationist — despite Stevenson's announced stand in favor of the

Health Board's Order Ruled Out

AUSTIN, Aug. 3 (AP)—The state board of health was without authority to rescind a regulation made by state health officer George W. Cox outlawing use of oleomargarine or other vegetable fat in the manufacture of ice cream, the attorney general held in an opinion today.

The opinion, written by Assistant Attorney General Joe Greenhill and approved by Attorney General Price Daniel, informed board chairman Dr. Howard Granberry of Austin, who requested the opinion, that the board is neither authorized to repeal Dr. Cox's June 1 order nor to promulgate its own order of June 14.

Board Repealed Order

On June 1, Dr. Cox issued revised regulations which provided that ice cream should contain not less than 8 per cent of milk fat and no fats or oil other than milk fat.

On June 14, the board repealed the health officer's regulation and issued in its place a regulation providing that ice cream should contain not less than 8 per cent butter fat "and not less than four per cent vegetable fat if vegetable fat is added, and that all ice cream manufactured, whether under the new process or the old process shall state on the label just what it contains and the percentage of each."

Drilling Permit Asked For Scurry Wildcat

McAlester Fuel Company, Walter Keith, et al, of Magnolia, Ark., have filed an application with the Railroad Commission of Texas, requesting a permit to start drilling by August 5, on their No. 1 A. E. Gesell, as an 8,500-foot wildcat in Southwest Scurry county.

The prospector will be six miles southwest of Snyder, and 662 feet from north and 560 feet from east lines of the northwest quarter of section 154, block 97, H&TC survey. Drilling will be with rotary tools.

Seaboard Oil Company of Delaware No. 1 E. M. Hinson, Northeast Terry County discovery from the Pennsylvania lime between 9,405 feet and the total depth at 9,455 feet, had drilled the plug on 7-inch casing, which had been cemented at 9,400 feet, and at last report had swabbed down to 4,500 feet below the surface, and was showing signs of oil and gas.

Operator was continuing to swab to clean out, try to kick off to flowing, and test.

The project had produced in excess of 45 barrels of oil per hour, natural, on drillstem tests run before the casing was set. It is expected to be flowing clean oil to the tanks in a few hours.

The new discovery is 10 miles northeast of Brownfield, eight miles southeast of Meadow, and 660 feet from north and west lines of section 91, block 4-X, psl survey.

Evicted Mother, Six Children To Live In City Hall Corridor

WINONA, Minn., Aug. 3 (AP)—Mrs. Philip Wilson, 42, and her six children settled down to live in the first floor corridor of the Winona city hall today after being evicted yesterday from their rented five-room house.

Mrs. Wilson, who said her husband is working on a road construction job in Missouri, brought her brood, ranging from 11 months to 15 years, before the Winona city council last night, demanding a place to live.

Airline Withdraws Landing Application

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3 (AP)—The Civil Aeronautics board said today that CIA Aviacion Mexicana (CMA) has withdrawn its request for permission to land at Laredo, Texas.

A CAB spokesman said that CMA's letter withdrawing the request was dated July 28 and was received by the board a few days ago. It gave no reason for the withdrawal.

No Formal Hearing

The spokesman said that no formal hearing ever had been set on the CMA request that the Mexican airline be allowed to use the landing facilities at Laredo.

The CAB outlined the following chain of events that occurred in the CMA case:

CMA's application for permission to land at Laredo, was submitted to the CAB by the State department, which enclosed a letter from the Mexican embassy.

Field Under Repair

The Mexican airline said its own landing facilities at Nuevo Laredo, Mexico, across the Rio Grande from Laredo were undergoing construction and repair that was expected to take about 60 to 90 days.

CMA asked for permission to land at Laredo on those days when rain made the Neuvo Laredo airport's sod runways unsafe for operation.

Red Claims Capital 'Saving' Eisenhower

NEW YORK, Aug. 3 (AP)—Eugene Dennis, general secretary of the Communist party, told the national convention today "big capital is saving (Gen. Dwight D.) Eisenhower for a more acute emergency."

Dennis devoted most of his speech at the closed party convention session to the 1948 elections. He said the Communists would continue to support the Progressive party despite contentions they should withdraw this backing if they "really want to help beat reaction."

Portions of the speech were released by the convention publicity staff. Dennis was one of 12 top Communist officials recently indicted by a federal grand jury on charges of seeking to overthrow the U. S. government.

"It should be noted," Dennis said, "that the very emergence of the new anti-monopoly people's party (the Progressives) is an expression of the developing crisis within monopoly's two-party system."

Symptoms of the crisis, he continued, include the "short-lived Eisenhower boom, which united southern bourbons, northern machine Democrats, the ADA (Americans for Democratic action) crowd and various CIO leaders in a desperate search for a winning candidate."

New Agriculture Building For Beef Cattle Planned At Tech

Plans for a modern, fireproof, four-building beef cattle barn unit to be ready for use Nov. 1 have been completed at Texas Technological college and specifications have been mailed to contractors for bids, W. L. Stangel, dean of the division of agriculture announced Tuesday afternoon.

The $60,000 appropriation which makes construction of the unit possible was secured at the last meeting of the Texas legislature by President W. M. Whyburn, who has resigned his post at Texas Tech to accept a position as head of the mathematics department at North Carolina university as of Sept. 1.

Modern Equipment Planned

Stangel said that bids on the project would be opened at 10 a.m. on August 13 in Room 101 of the Administration building at Tech.

"The four buildings will equip the animal husbandry department at Texas Tech with the best facilities available for the handling of beef cattle," Dean Stangel said, adding that beef cattle units at colleges all over the nation have been inspected as a method of learning the most advantageous construction of beef cattle barns.

Blueprints of the main barn specify a U shaped building of steel construction with a 140-foot front, containing 26 tie stalls in one wing and 27 box stalls and two feed rooms in the back and in the other wing. Stalls in the barn are to be so constructed as to leave walkways between the cattle and the corrugated sheet iron walls. In each stall is to be placed an automatically controlled watering basin and a feed pan which will eliminate the necessity of taking up valuable space with feed troughs and racks, Stangel said.

"The combination classroom and residential two-story brick building called for in the plans is

Lubbock Delegates Return From Lions Meeting In New York

After a two-weeks tour of southern and eastern United States, with the New York City convention of Lions International as the high spot, a group of Lubbock and South Plains Lions and members of their families, returned last night.

Traveling by charter bus, the group left here two weeks ago yesterday on a planned tour that provided for side trips before and after the New York convention, including a dip into Canada on the return via Detroit.

A smaller group, traveling both ways by train, returned Tuesday morning from the convention, reporting that a total of 56 people attended the convention from this city and area. Attendance from Texas numbered several hundred.

It was announced at the club's weekly luncheon yesterday that next week's luncheon program will feature a full report on the convention.

SAN ANGELO PLAN

Can It Work Here?

SAN Angelo civic leaders have scheduled a one-day campaign for $100,000 today which, they announce, will insure a 10-story downtown office building for that up-and-coming West Texas city. With that sum subscribed, they say, the remainder of the financing for the building can be arranged.

If there is any doubt as to the success of the drive, it is not apparent in San Angelo. Civic clubs are to carry the ball, each having named teams to secure a given quota of subscriptions. A good deal of friendly, constructive rivalry among clubs has been engendered, and promises to push the total of subscriptions well above the goal.

Those who subscribe will do so with full warning that they may never get their money back. If the building should prove a profitable investment, the subscribers will be the last to cash in. While most of them are outspokenly confident that their subscriptions will be a sound and profitable investment, they feel the indirect benefits to San Angelo and San Angeloans from supplying the urgently needed office building will be sufficient to make it worth while.

We do not know whether a similar undertaking could be adapted successfully to Lubbock. But if the San Angelo campaign results in a downtown office building, Lubbock certainly will have nothing to lose from an investigation of the technique.

Civic clubs here definitely do not suffer from comparisons with those of San Angelo, or in any other city. This is one expression of confidence that if they ever pick up, or should be entrusted with, the office building ball, they would not be stopped short of the goal line.

Free Hand For Oil

WHILE a somewhat more cheering picture as to oil outlook during the next year is contained in a recent report by the Oil Industry Information committee, it does not pretend to deny that problems still exist.

This reliable and authoritative source estimates that the domestic supply of oil daily will average 6,038,000 barrels. Anticipated demand is placed at 5,907,000 barrels daily. The indicated excess of supply over demand is not sufficient, it is explained, to guarantee that there won't be local shortages, chiefly due to lack of transport to the more inaccessible of inland areas. An excess of about 1,000,000 barrels daily would be required to guarantee abundances everywhere, the committee says. But the situation, taken as a whole, is much better than it was.

The committee blames government interference for failing to make more progress. It insists the industry could solve supply problems if freed of some of the crippling wartime regulations which still remain in effect.

An increasing number of Americans may be disposed to feel that the time is overdue to give the industry a chance to show what it can do since the government definitely has failed to be of any discernible help in easing the problems.

Bitter Reprieve

(THE STORY: Playboy Marcus Sterling owes Harry Bindle a gambling debt of $10,000 he cannot pay. His wealthy wife, Miriam, has refused him the money. Bindle calls at Sterling's home late at night to collect. Cornered, Sterling steals his wife's diamond necklace from a wall safe in her room while she sleeps, offers it to Bindle as security. He agrees to pay up Saturday. Sterling has also taken a sealed packet from the safe. After Bindle leaves, he sets the stage for robbery. A disconnected electric clock, set ahead to 1:30, will mark the time. Satisfied, Marcus goes to Edgecraft Country Club to spend the night. There attractive man-chaser Janet Weirhaven greets him with pleasure, suggests they take drinks into the lounge.)

IX

SEATED with their drinks where there was less prospect of being overheard, Sterling said, "Now, then, what's this about suggesting to Miriam that we come out here tonight?"

"Invited, not suggested, my dear, and it was while we were having luncheon together today. Accidental meeting on 57th, and each of us with an hour to spare before appointments. She didn't tell you?"

"Not a word of it. But then she was tired. Ten-thirty or so when she came home, only a little while after I got there. We had only a word or two in the library before she begged off and went up to her room to go to bed."

"Whereupon you went out, the unappreciated husband, chased around and wound up out here, is that it?"

"If you want the record straight, I sat around a while, listened to the news on the radio, came out here in a taxi to stay overnight and have some morning golf."

"And ran plump into me, knocking your good intentions into a cocked hat."

They drank in silence, alternately looking at each other across the small table, then looking away.

"Another drink, Janet, and then call it a night?" Sterling said.

"You won't go places with me?"

"Not tonight. My room's upstairs and I need sleep."

"You need sleep . . . or something. But you'll walk out with me to my car?"

"Oh, that, surely. Shall I get another round?"

"Let's pass it up, if you don't mind too much."

• • •

ONLY a few cars were scattered in the parking lot at the side of the clubhouse. There was a chill in the stiff night breeze off the Sound. Sterling had come out without his hat or topcoat.

"Better sit in the car with me while we talk, unless you're inviting pneumonia," Janet said, "I promise not to abduct you."

When he had sprawled in the seat beside her, Janet moved close to him. He sat with his head back, silent.

"Not like you to have nothing to say, darling," Janet said. "Are you really so deeply in trouble?"

"Trouble?"

"Is it money trouble, Marcus?"

"What makes you think I'm in trouble . . . that I need money?"

"Well, Miriam was coming out of her uptown bank when I met her today. She looked terribly worried and I suggested we have lunch together. At lunch it came out. You were messed up in some terrible trouble you wouldn't even tell her about and needed a lot of money. I gathered from the way she spoke that she intended to let you down. I suspected she had gone to her bank for advice instead of money. That's why I invited her to bring you out here tonight."

"But, why out here? I don't understand."

"Marcus, darling, between us the sky is the limit. What's the good of being a very rich woman, if she can't pay for what she wants? A big figure won't frighten me, Marcus. How much do you need?"

"Janet!"

• • •

SHE held his head between her hands, and her lips were devouring. His arms held her close to him. Her soft body was ecstasy.

When their lips drew apart, she spoke intensely. "Marcus, why do you remain tied to it?"

"To . . . to what, Janet?"

"To a marriage that became a mockery after a month?"

"Let's not talk about it . . . not now, Janet."

"Somebody's got to talk about it. I've got to talk about it, darling. I'll have to tell Miriam, if you won't."

"Tell her what?"

"That if she doesn't know the road, she should move over and let someone else take the wheel."

Janet's vehemence startled Sterling. He had not yet fully recovered from her surprising announcement that he could look to her for money. He had not even thought of her in his desperate dilemma with Bindle. How easily he might have taken care of that if he had known.

Janet was slipping her hands into gloves. She found her ignition key in her bag and inserted it. "You are not really serious about staying out here overnight, are you, darling?"

Reality forced itself through the haze that enveloped Sterling's thoughts. His very security depended upon remaining in evidence in the clubhouse.

"Definitely I'm dated for golf at eight-thirty."

"And that calls for the night away from home?"

"I'd have trouble getting breakfast and making it out here in time on a Friday morning. Stella doesn't show up until eight or so."

Sterling had found the handle of the door on his side, pushed it open.

"About the money, Marcus. How much do you need?"

"Let it ride for a day, Janet, and thanks heaps. I may have to come to you."

He was standing beside the open door when she leaned toward him and said seriously, "I meant exactly what I said a moment ago, darling. I'm going to put my cards on the table with Miriam."

Looking At Life -- By Erich Brandeis

IT is funny how you may read two entirely unrelated items and when you start to think about them, all of a sudden you see a definite connection—just as so many seemingly unrelated things make up that strange weave called life.

After this erudite and rather obscure—or shall I say obtuse?—introduction, let me tell you what I mean.

BRANDEIS

From the National Wallpaper Wholesalers' Association, in convention assembled at Atlantic City, comes the announcement that a campaign will be conducted to change wallpaper styles every two years.

Women's styles change all the time, they say. Automobile manufacturers come out with new models every year.

Why then keep the same wallpaper, say the manufacturers. Let us make people repaper their walls whenever we dictate new styles!

I shall not dwell on the awful mess such a biennial change in wallpaper styles would make.

I shall go on to my second item.

• • •

In Miami, Fla., Dr. Frank W. Hubbard, director of research for the national Education Association, told a Teachers' Conference that they must aim higher, that they must raise their standards, that the teaching profession must increase its prestige.

Beautiful sentiments, those, aren't they?

But, my dear Dr. Hubbard (no relation to old Mother Hubbard, I presume), did you tell the teachers how to raise their standards, their aims, their prestige, on the miserable salaries they are being paid?

Will you tell me how a teacher who sees all her friends getting new wallpaper every other year, must feel when she has to get along with the same old wallpaper because she hasn't even enough money to buy a new pair of shoes, let alone some fancy wall covering?

ONE of our neighbors is a teacher. She has two children, one of whom she is sending to college on her teacher's salary helped, perhaps, by some little money her late husband left her. Will she be able to raise her social standards and buy new wallpaper every other year?

Or will the thousands of teachers who, like our ministers, are supposed to be examplars of everything that is fine and noble, be able to raise their academic standards on the material standards forced upon them by those miserable stipends that are less than what a ditchdigger or a bartender earns?

I am all for teachers raising their standards, their aims, their prestige.

I also have a very simple way of making it possible for them to do so.

Let us consider teaching as important as plumbing, butchering, grocering and saloonkeeping—and the teachers will do the rest on their own.

TO AVERT DEPRESSION

Controls Under Fire

BY RAY TUCKER
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON—President Truman's special session program for combating high prices and extending additional federal financial aid for housing, education and the aged differs in almost every respect from the anti-inflation recommendations advanced by the man he personally picked to handle these problems—Thomas B. McCabe, the Pennsylvania Republican who heads the Federal Reserve board.

TUCKER

Ironically, almost on the very day that Mr. Truman submitted his elaborate proposals for further government controls on certain prices and wages, Mr. McCabe declared that "the citizen can do more than government agencies in lowering prices if he does so consistently, persistently and intelligently."

• • •

VIEWPOINT: Like Treasury Secretary John W. Snyder, the Federal Reserve Chairman has more faith in "voluntary" restraint on the part of the individual than he has in the kind of compulsion and regimentation requested by the man in the White House. Incidentally, neither of these financial and fiscal authorities were consulted by the President about calling a special session or about the remedies to be proposed.

Mr. McCabe differs from Mr. Truman on another key question touching the inflation problem. Whereas the Chief Executive coupled his plea for reimposition of wartime controls with a housing and educational expansion program estimated to cost many billions of dollars within the next five years, the Federal Reserve head insists that now is the time for the federal government, states and municipalities to restrict all expenditures to the absolute minimum.

It is generally believed that the McCabe viewpoint will have more influence on the Republican-controlled Congress than Mr. Truman's, especially as the Pennsylvania manufacturer was a Truman-Snyder selection for his present post.

• • •

NON-POLITICAL: Mr. McCabe expressed anti-White House views in an exclusive interview with Harkey Peiter, an old Delaware county neighbor and correspondent for The Chester (Pa.) Times and a score of other newspapers in the Keystone State.

Although Mr. McCabe is a Union League Republican, he has never taken part in politics, and, therefore, his non-political solution for ending the boom-and-bust cycle now threatening has special and current meaning for individual consumers, industrial leaders, bankers and all men in charge of the volume and direction of the money flow.

"There is too great a tendency," he says, "for people to believe that there is little anybody except fiscal and monetary authorities can do about inflation. Actually, in my opinion, the citizen can do more than government agencies if he does so consistently, persistently and intelligently."

• • •

SAVE: When asked what contribution the ordinary individual can make to the anti-inflation movement, he replied:

"Defer every purchase that is not immediately necessary. Save a portion of earnings and invest the savings in government bonds. Insist that federal, state and local authorities curtail public expenditures and build up reserves for hard times.

"We must save today so as to spend tomorrow. With too much money in the hands of the people, and not enough foods, prices are bid up far beyond any semblance of real value. If a purchase can be deferred, a gain has been made against inflation."

• • •

WARNING: The nation's fiscal and banking boss then issued the same warning which he and Secretary Snyder have been making to bankers with respect to excessive grants of commercial and real estate loans—a warning which has begun to have its effect in the tightening of money advances and interest rates.

"Credit is easy to get in boom times like these," he continued. Perhaps credit is too easy. However, the deferment of any purchase is all the more necessary if borrowing must be done.

"I favor instalment buying to aid mass production and distribution of goods, but this is no time to pay puffed-up prices for luxuries. I think that consumers should be discouraged from borrowing and spending today on non-essentials.

"If enough citizens will confine their buying to immediate needs, prices will come down. The inflation spiral will have to turn downward.

"In good times there must be thrifty saving for bad times. This applies particularly to those income-makers who are enjoying unusual prosperity. I refer particularly to wage earners on hourly rates and to farmers."

• • •

ECONOMY: Mr. McCabe then clashed directly with the Truman program for new spending by the federal government. He said:

"What I have said about the wage earner and farmer is true also of those in business. No capital expenditure that can be deferred should be incurred at this time unless such expenditure breaks a bottleneck in essential production.

"State, municipalities and other political sub-divisions can join in the fight against inflation by postponing expenditures for public improvements where community health and safety are not jeopardized. The greatest possible economy should be practiced by government, not only in direct spending, but also in the extension of credit by or under guarantees of government agencies. It's the citizen's job to see that his public officials practice real economy now!"

• • •

LEGISLATION: "How much of President Truman's elaborate, legislative program do you think Congress will act upon at the special session?" asks E.B.T. of Cleveland, O.

Answer: It is extremely harazardous to second-guess the behaviour of the reconvened Congress, in view of the circumstances under which the boys and girls were summoned back to the heat and humidity of Washington by President Truman. Both sides will be jockeying for position in the presidential race, and such an atmosphere is not conducive to logical thinking or sound action.

As of today, I would say that almost the only measures sure of passage are the repeal of federal taxes on oleomargarine, and an increase of the minimum wage figure from forty to seventh-five cents an hour, possibly to the dollar amount demanded in Henry Wallace's Philadelphia platform. Those are the only non-controversial proposals before the Congress.

At the least, the government ought to give the taxpayer an annual vacation, with pay, so he could go off somewhere and turn loose and have a nervous breakdown.

If you feel that you must tell a lie, tell a short one, and don't interpret, qualify, amplify, explain or repeat it.

POWERFUL LOBBY IS BLAMED

Vote Blocked On Housing Bill

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—What is happening—or not happening—on the Taft-Ellender-Wagner long-range housing bill at the special session of Congress shows clearly how a handful of powerful key figures can manipulate the machinery of Congress in favor of big special interests to defeat the popular will.

It is an excellent case history, as well, of the 80th Congress and its approach to major problems affecting the general public welfare. It is herewith spelled out for the enlightment and guidance of the public for it is a negation of Democratic procedure.

STOKES

The T-E-W bill passed the Senate April 22, two months before the end of the regular session, and finally was approved by the proper legislative committee of the House, the Banking and Currency committee, despite attempts of Rep. Jesse P. Wolcott (R-Mich), chairman, to prevent action because of the slum clearance and public housing provisions to which the powerful real estate lobby objected.

• • •

Solons Block Bill

The layman might logically think that approval by the proper legislative committee would send the bill to the floor for a vote. But not so. In the House there is a committee called the Rules committee which determines what bills can go to the floor and how much debate there can be and whether amendments may be offered from the floor.

With eight of its dozen members voting, the Rules committee politely tabled the measure, 6 to 2. This is a committee of veteran members of the House that, by custom, shares in leadership. Its members, carefully picked, are predominantly conservative by circumstance. The Democrats on it reflect the southern influence because of the places held in the House by that wing of the party, while its Republican members reflect the regular, GOP influence dominant in that party's leadership. It is an effective instrument of the Republican-Southern Democratic coalition. Three of its present four Democratic members are from the South.

So today we have the irony of a little group of men in the House blocking action on a measure designed to relieve the distressing housing shortage despite its approval by the Senate, by the proper House legislative committee, and despite support by a majority of members of the House who can not get a chance to vote on it in the Democratic fashion. Veterans, other people with inadequate housing, can complain all they please, but they can't reach this little group of self-ordained bosses.

The group includes not only the recalcitrant Rules committee members, but also the House leadership which, in the first instance, passes down the order to the committee chairman, Rep. Leo E. Allen, (R-Ill), and his henchmen. Primary responsibility belongs to Speaker of the House Joseph W. Martin (Mass.) and Floor Leader Charles A. Halleck (R-Ind).

Lobby Is Blamed

The real estate loby, which bitterly fought the bill all the way and lost every round up to the Rules committee, finally won its way when it reached the little group embraced in the speaker, the floor leader and the Rules committee members who voted its will. They feel very good about this success, for the bill will have to start all over again in the next Congress and they feel confident there will be more Republicans and they are sure of the same Southern Democrats.

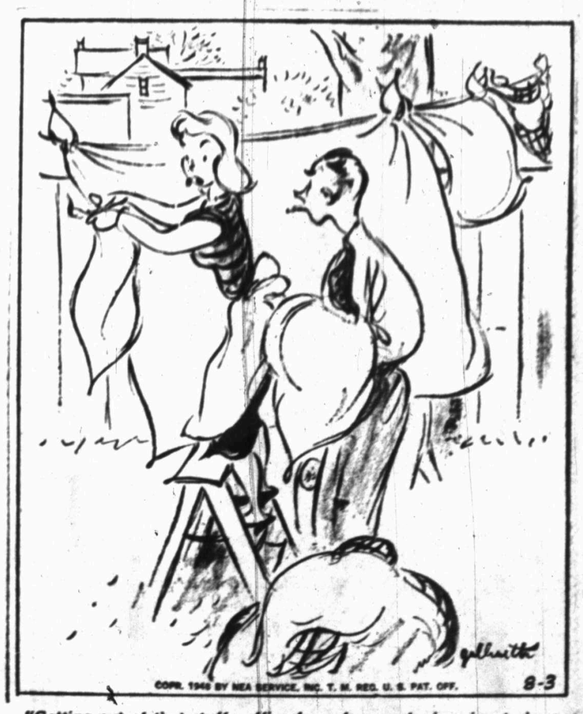

This lobby, like other special interest lobbies, can work its way in Congress because of the difficulty of the public to fix responsibilty, to find the culprit in the legislative maze. There is not only the Rules committee, which is subservient also to other lobbies, but there is the Republican-Southern Democratic coalition.

• • •

For example, the T-E-W bill, when it was passed by the Senate two years ago, likewise was blocked in the House which was then under Democratic control. Also, most southern conservative Democrats in the Senate voted this year to eliminate the public housing features of the bill, joining a number of Republicans in an unsuccessful move in that body.

While the housing bill carries all sorts of assistance to private builders, the real estate interests are ired over the provisions for loans and grants to local housing authorities to clear slums and build low-cost rental housing for low income groups, even though this is restricted to projects that private builders can not undertake. The reluctance in Congress now toward the T-E-W public housing, which is on a limited basis, is hard to understand, for it approved the principle in the 1937 housing act for which both Representatives Wollcott and Allen voted.

SOME SKILLED CONSTRUCTION WORKERS
ARE GETTING THEIR PLANS FOR THE FUTURE INTO HIGH GEAR

HERE'S THE STORY
The high cost of living is putting a crimp into most everybody's hopes for the future. You can't save for that new house (or new anything) when it takes every penny to just get by. This is why many skilled construction workers are turning to overseas work to build a big enough stake to get out of the bind. Some figure to turn an 18-month hitch into a nice four-figure bank account.

NOT MANY OPENINGS

Cotton

NEW YORK REPORT
NEW YORK, Aug. 3 (AP) — Cotton futures were steady in slow dealings today with the market drawing support on persistent mill buying. Indications of a fairly large volume of trade buying orders in the background induce covering by locals and New Orleans.
Most traders held to the sidelines awaiting the government cotton crop forecast next Monday with ideas at 13,000,000 bales or better.
Futures closed 14 cents a bale higher to 18 lower than the previous close.

CHICAGO REPORT
CHICAGO, Aug. 3 (AP) — Grain futures were strong today, although profit-taking frequently cut into the best advances.
An upward revision in the government's estimate of possible wheat exports to Europe during the 1948-49 crop year was the main bullish influence. Also aiding sentiment were reports indicating an easing in the glutted elevator situation in the southwest, and an advance in the government wheat buying price at Kansas City.
Wheat closed ⅝ to 2¼ cents higher. September $2.23¾-23⅝, corn was up ⅛ to ¾, September $1.64¾-⅞, oats were ahead ⅛ to ¾, September 72⅛-⅜.

Marshall Plan and the U. S. foreign policy.
Stevenson, heading for Fort Worth and planning his usual talks with voters en route, may add fire to the foreign policy argument Wednesday night.

Stevenson's Stand Blasted

Stevenson's Austin office announced he will make his first address of the second primary campaign at 7:45 p. m. Wednesday. There were strong hints the 15-minute talk over a 19-station state network would deal with foreign policy.
Johnson, ending conferences with his campaign people in Dallas, told newsmen:
"Throughout the first primary George Peddy and I repeatedly urged him (Stevenson) to state his views on foreign affairs, and he repeatedly stated that the people of Texas were not interested in international affairs. Now he comes back to Texas after a 14-minute conference with Undersecretary Lovett and says 'me no isolationist'."
Johnson said the former governor should state his stand on the Taft-Hartley law also.
Stevenson had said at Dallas that as a result of his recent Washington visit he is convinced war is not imminent. The former governor said, however, "we have to stand firm with the Russians. That's what I said in the opening speech of my campaign, and it remains true today."

Plans Made For Meeting

Announcement that Mississippi Governor Wright will attend the Houston States' righters rally August 11 came from E. E. Townes, Houston attorney and chairman of the rally invitation committee. Wright ill make his formal acceptance of the vice presidential nomination.
Governor Thurmond already had accepted an invitation to make his acceptance speech at the Houston gathering.
Townes said "thousands of States' Rights Democrats from every corner of Texas" are expected to crowd into Miller memorial theater at Houston's Hermann park. "We feel," he said, "it is a great honor for the state for these two men to come here to officially accept their nominations."
Texas States' righters petition for a presidential referendum was made public in Fort Worth by Attorney Lloyd Price. It asks the state Democratic executive committee to let Texas voters decide, in the August 28 primary, whether the state's electoral vote will go to the Truman-Barkley or Thurmond-Wright ticket.
The petition, blasting Gov. Beauford H. Jester, State Chairman Robert H. Calvert and Rep. Sam Rayburn as "in effect, disloyal to the fundamental rights and liberties of Texas," was prepared for presentation to the executive committee meeting at Austin next Monday.
Price announced Sunday that he was preparing the petition and brief for circulation and signing throughout Texas. The move for a referendum has found no support from Jester. Rayburn nor Calvert.
The petition argues that the executive committee has the power to order such a referendum.
News that Texas Prohibitionists may be on the ballot for state office, for the first time since 1916, came from state Prohibition party Chairman Gerald Overholt of Houston. He said candidates probably will be selected at the party's state convention which opens next Monday at Houston. The convention also will select 23 Texas electors for the party's ticket on the November general election ballot.

Hike In Cigarette Prices Reflected In Lubbock Stores

Price increases announced last week by leading cigarette manufacturers are being reflected this week at tobacco counters in Lubbock drug stores, with seven of the 14 local stores contacted Tuesday night reporting price increases by carton or by pack or both, and seven reporting no increase.
Single packs of cigarettes were increased one and two cents per pack, and increases in cartons averaged 10 cents, in line with the increase of cigarette manufacturers and distributors of about 9 cents per carton. In local stores, individual packs of popular brand cigarettes ranged from 18 to 20 cents in price, and cartons ranged in price from $1.61 to $1.89.
Most of the drug stores reporting no increase were those whose prices on cigarettes were already several cents above the "cut price" level, with individual packs mostly 20 cents, and cartons ranging from $1.79 to $1.85. Most of the stores reporting increases were the larger downtown establishments whose prices had been lower to meet competition.
Several stores kept prices the same on individual packs, but boosted prices on cartons. Ten of the stores already were asking 20 cents for an individual pack of cigarettes, and apparently felt no need to raise prices more. Of the remaining four stores, two boosted prices on packs from 18 cents to 20 cents—because of price increases on the part of both manufacturers and wholesalers they said—while the third upped prices one cent from 18 cents to 19 cents per pack. The fourth, a large chain store which had previously been selling cigarettes by carton and pack several cents under most others, reported it would continue selling packs at its old price.

This building will contain a classroom downstairs, and three bedrooms, a living room and a bath upstairs, which will accomodate from four to six junior and senior animal husbandry students who will assist the herdsman in caring for the cattle.
To the rear of these two buildings will be a feed barn and a wash and nurse barn, both of which will be constructed of corrugated sheet iron. The feed barn will be used for storing feed, and the wash and nurse barn will contain wash racks and space for cows that are nursing calves.
All four of the buildings are to be located west of the present hog farm, and will face south.

Congress To Probe Report FSA 'Censored' Warning Against Reds

By LEON SHLOSS
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3 — Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich), announced today that Congress will investigate charges that the Federal Security agency "censored" official warnings against Communist influence in the school system.

The announcement of the ace Senate investigator followed demand by Sen. Bridges (R-N.H.), that President Truman dismiss Oscar R. Ewing as head of FSA.

Ewing Is Called "Pet"

The actions were taken after Dr. John W. Studebaker, recently retired head of the U. S. Office of Education, declared one of Ewing's aides advised him to "tone down" an address denouncing Communist-sympathizing school teachers. The edcuation office is a division of FSA.

Ferguson said the matter will be probed during the current inquiry of his committee into Communist activities in the federal government.

Bridges, in a Senate speech, called Ewing a "pet of the White House," and demanded that he be "sent back home or deported to some other country."

Eastland Fires Jibe

In Senate debate, Sen. Eastland (D-Miss) asked Bridges what steps could be taken to correct the situation. Bridges said it "will take a change in the administration." Eastland then asked:

"Do you think Dewey will clean out the Communists from the federal government when New York is a Communist state?"

In a letter to Ferguson, Bridges, chairman of the Senate Appropriations committee, said:

"Dr. Studebaker charges that top level censorship within the agency has restricted the office of education in its legitimate and proper effort to proclaim the hostility of the Communist party to the concepts of American education in which our free and democratic institutions are rooted.

Drastic Action Possible

"In recommending an appropriation for the Federal Security agency, it never was intended by the Senate Committee on Appropriations that funds should be used to pay the salaries of a supervisory staff which might frustrate the office of education in its honest attempt to combat Communist philosophy in the public schools of the nation.

"If Dr. Studebaker's charges are true, there has been a breach of trust tantamount to betrayal within the Federal Security agency. Immediate and drastic action is called for if any officials within the agency are thwarting the efforts of the office of education to foster through public education a decent respect for the American way of life and an honest antagonism to the totalitarian forces that threaten the free peoples of the world."

The Studebaker address, which the former office of education head wanted printed and distributed to the schools, was delivered in March at the University of California at Los Angeles. Studebaker's request for funds to have the address printed was held up while a Ewing aide allegedly tried to have it altered.

Studebaker protested vigorously and the address was distributed as written.

Federal Judges Rule Indians In New Mexico Have Right To Vote

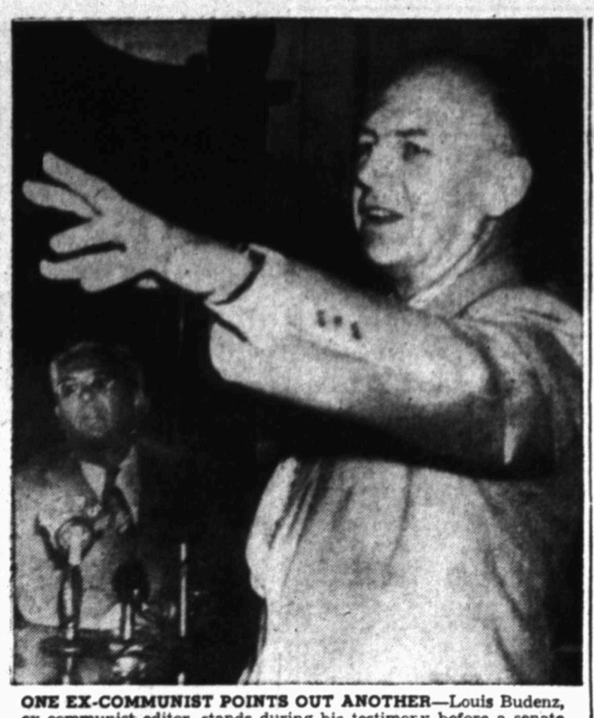

SANTA FE, N. M., Aug. 3 (INS)— The right to vote in New Mexico was accorded Indians living on reservations in an opinion delivered today in Santa Fe by three United States judges.

Indians have been denied the ballot under the state's constitutional ban against "Indians who do not pay taxes."

The court of three federal judges held that the provision of the New Mexico constitution is invalid since it is discriminatory from a racial standpoint and violates the federal constitution.

The court consisted of U. S. circuit Judge Orrie L. Phillips of Denver, and U. S. district Judges Bower Broaddus and Royce Savage of Oklahoma.

Indian veterans returning from the armed services started the agitation two years ago to secure the franchise for all Indians of the state. The veterans' fight was climaxed by the federal court ruling.

FBI Statistics Show Rural Crime Rates Are Noticeably Outpacing Rise In Urban Areas

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3 (AP) — The FBI said today the odds have dropped at least 50 per cent since 1941 on the chances of rural people spending their lives without becoming entangled in or victimized by crime.

During and since World War II, the increase in rural crime rates has noticeably outpaced the rise in city crime rates.

FBI officials told a reporter:

"It is particularly significant that in the most serious crimes against the person — murder, nonnegligent manslaughter and manslaughter by negligence — the rural rate at present is considerably higher than the city rate.

"The profession of law enforcement has responded to these particular trends in postwar crime by laying emphasis on training and mutual cooperation among small agencies serving rural and small town areas."

"The fact that rural crime rates are rising faster than urban does not necessarily mean that the quality of law enforcement in the country is inferior to that in the cities," the FBI said.

"It means rather than the citizens of America's towns, villages and agrarian communities are not making as much headway in crime prevention as the citizens of metropolitan areas.

"By and large, our urban communities are tackling the problem of crime more aggressively than the agrarian . . . They are learning that the crime problem is essentially a youth problem."

In support of its contention that rural crime has bounded upward faster than city crime, the FBI offered statistics showing that in 1946 major crime in rural areas rose 14.1 per cent, while the increase for similar offenses in cities was 7.4 per cent.

In 1947, there was an overall decrease of five per cent in major crimes in cities. But rural areas recorded a seven per cent increase. The total U. S. murder rate per 100,000 inhabitants was 6.12 last year, but in rural communities the rate was 10.88 per 100,000.

GOP Leaders Set To Push Own Anti-Inflation Program

ESCORTED TO WORK—Workers at the Univis Lens Co. plant in Dayton, Ohio, are shown as they walk through a gate to the company plant while Ohio National Guardsmen with fixed bayonets keep a watch to prevent trouble. The plant has been the scene of violence the past several days as strikers and non-strikers clashed. Finally, the troops were ordered to patrol the violence torn area. They took over Tuesday. ## Troops Patrol Strike Front

(By International News Service)

DAYTON, O., Aug. 3—A booing, yelling, disorderly crowd of 500 to 600 at the strikebound Univis Lens Co., plant in Dayton dwindled to a meek 50 or 60 late today under a stern "no fooling" policy of National Guard troops.

The 1,400 guardsmen used tear gas, tanks and fixed bayonets under the overall protection of machine guns to herd recalcitrant spectators back from the shoulder-to-shoulder cordon the troops threw around the plant.

Gov. Thomas J. Herbert and the guard's top two commanders —Adj. Gen. Chester W. Goble and Brig. Gen Kenneth Cooper— made a flying trip to Dayton to inspect the work of the troops.

Emergency Declared

Herbert called the guardsmen from a dozen southwestern Ohio cities and towns to maintain order when Dayton city officials declared a "state of emergency" and admitted they were unable to cope with the striking CIO United Electrical Workers.

The guard, however, quickly re-established order and succeeded in limiting pickets to the three at each gate permitted by a court injunction. At separate times the number of pickets has numbered as many as 600 in a solid, six-abreast line.

Under the watchful eyes of the guard, which used five tear gas grenades to break up one mob of 400 milling union sympathizers, some 450 non-strikers of the plant's normal complement of 650 workers returned to their benches. The plant has been strikebound since May 5.

Police Use Tear Gas

There were no injuries in the latest outbreak, although four unionists were arrested. Pickets said the tear gas used by the troops apparently was milder than that used by city police last week.

Louis Kaplan, International organizer for the UEW, drew a 15-day jail sentence and was placed under a $2,500 peace bond by Judge Paul T. Klapp. He had been ordered to stay away from

CIO Phone Workers Approve Contract Without Pay Hike

NEW YORK, Aug. 3 (AP)—CIO long distance telephone workers have voted about 2 to 1 to approve a contract without a general wage increase, but the union said it would meet immediately to discuss reopening wage talks.

J. J. Moran, president of the CIO American Union of Telephone Workers, which claims to represent 25,000 workers in 42 states, announced the results of membership balloting today.

He said the vote was 3,043 to 1,610 in favor of approving the contract, which the union negotiated with the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. in June.

The 21-month contract provides for reopening of wage negotiations at any time, along with improvements in night differential pay, overtime for holidays and pay for certain telephone plant jobs.

Norman said that in view of wage increases won by other unions, he had called a special meeting of the AUTW executive board here Aug. 10 to consider reopening the wage issue.

Reds May Seek End To West Germany Plans

Allied Envoys Await Answer From Stalin

By THOMAS C. WATSON
INS Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Aug. 3 — Eastern European sources said in London tonight that Soviet Premier Stalin probably will demand withdrawal of plans for a west German state as his price for a new effort to settle East-West difficulties.

Sources close to diplomats of countries behind the iron curtain said they believed the Soviet leader would make this condition in answer to proposals by American, British and French envoys at their Kremlin meeting.

The Soviet bloc diplomats indicated their belief that the western envoys had proposed calling an immediate four-power conference aimed at swift settlement of the Berlin crisis and other Soviet-Western differences.

According to these informants, the Soviet line of action is indicated by the recent Polish note to the British government protesting the London accord to set up a separate state in western Germany.

In its note, the Polish government blamed the London accord for the present Berlin impassee.

Western diplomatic sources in London believed, however, that experts of the Big Four may soon begin negotiations aimed at finding a basis for high level ministerial talks designed to ease the East-West cold war.

But these sources urged only "cautious optimism" in assaying the developments in Moscow.

Envoys' Report Studied

It is believed that U. S. Ambassador Lewis Douglas is maintaining close private contact with British Foreign Secretary Bevin on the whole situation.

Douglas called at the British foreign office this afternoon to discuss the report on the Stalin meeting sent in by Frank Roberts, Bevin's personal emissary in Moscow.

A foreign office spokesman said "it may be some days before anything becomes known" of what transpired at the Kremlin parley. It was learned the three western envoys had agreed to say nothing of what went on at the meeting.

While the three western governments studied their envoys' reports, they maintained strict secrecy on the situation. Moscow also was silent.

A British foreign office spokesman indicated the East-West situation is still regarded as "very, very delicate." He said there is no immediate prospect of a big three or big four meeting of heads of state.

City Clears Way For C-C Building

By H. I. KIEFER
Avalanche Staff Writer

Chief obstacle to the erection of a separate building for the chamber of commerce and allied organizations was removed at a special meeting of the city commission at a luncheon in the Hilton Hotel Tuesday.

The commission approved a 32-year lease to the chamber of the lot on Texas avenue at Ninth street immediately north of the American Legion home.

Homer D. Grant, chamber president, announced the organization now is in position to proceed with plans to erect a building to house that organization, the Board of City Development, the Junior Chamber, the Panhandle-South Plains Fair association and the Retail Merchants association.

Estimated Cost $50,000

All the organizations now have headquarters in the city hall. The space vacated will be used for various municipal purposes.

As tentatively planned, the new building will be one story, probably with walls and foundation for a second floor. It will front approximately 54 feet on Texas avenue and extend about 125 toward the ally. Estimated cost is $50,000. Architectural design will harmonize with other buildings in the block.

Under terms of the agreement, the chamber is to pay $1 a year for the lease, and will pay all construction cost of the new building.

Rent-free occupancy is stipulated for 10 years. Between the 10th and 32nd year, the city will have authority to take possession of the building after a year's notice upon reimbursing the chamber for construction costs. After 32 years, title of the building will revert to the city or the chamber can be required to remove it.

Three Killed In Auto Crash Near Childress

CHILDRESS, Aug. 3 (AP)—Three persons were killed and one injured in an auto-truck crash two miles west of Goodlett, Texas, about noon today.

The dead were Mr. and Mrs. Buel Cunningham, and their 35-year-old invalid son of Waurika, Okla. They were occupants of the automobile.

M. E. Shelby of Wichita Falls, driver of a produce truck, was treated at Quanah hospital for a cut heel tendon.

Housewives' Rebellion Against High Meat Prices Gains Power

(By The Associated Press)

THE HOUSEWIFE uprising in 10 Texas cities against the high cost of meat was stronger by 10,000 women Tuesday.

Pledging its support to a proposed boycott was the Federation of Women's clubs of Dallas. Its membership exceeds 10,000.

It asked its members to join housewives in Dallas, Beaumont, Orange, Paris, Corpus Christi, Austin, Waco, Galveston, Abilene and Hamlin in refusing to buy meat between Aug. 9 and Aug. 16.

Abilene, Galveston and Hamlin housewives joined in plans yesterday. At Abilene Mrs. Rufus Stokes telephoned 200 women organizing a telephone chain to promote the proposed boycott. At Galveston Mrs. George B. Heard, leading the drive, estimated that with the relay of calls she said were promised by housewives, several thousand families were planning to do without meat Aug. 9-16.

Hamlin women were organizing a drive to coincide with that at Abilene.

Berlin Dispute Again Flares

BERLIN, Aug. 3 (INS)—German police in the Soviet sector of Berlin tonight seized the home and furniture of Johnannes Stumm, non-Communist police chief appointed by the city council.

The action, further widening the East-West rift in Berlin, came as Russia and the Western Powers sought to lay the groundwork for settlement of their differences.

The Soviet-controlled police also issued new interzonal travel regulations between Berlin and the western zones, tightening the Russian grip on movement of Germans.

Stumm himself is living in the American sector of the city. His office disclosed that tow of his policemen, and the crew of a police radio car from the British sector, along with the car, vanished mysteriously Saturday night.

The belief was expressed that the missing policemen were either lured into the Soviet sector and seized or kidnaped from the western sectors of the city.

Uniforms Said Taken

It also was charged that Soviet-controlled police searched the homes of all members of Stumm's force living in the Soviet sector and seized their uniforms.

In another development, the Russians began rerouting long distance telephone lines between the Soviet sector of Berlin and the Soviet zone of Germany.

Long distance lines for all of Berlin at present pass through the American sector.

There was some speculation that the Russians may be considering cutting telephone communications between the western parts of Berlin and the western zone of Germany.

Meanwhile, despite the latest flareup, the first indication appeared of a compromise solution to Berlin's tangled East-West currency deadlock. Although indirect, it was the first indication in many months that the Russians are willing to work out a compromise on currency—a main point of contest in this complex situation.

Four Nabbed In Lamesa Burglary

LAMESA, August 3 (Special)—Four persons, three of whom have signed written confessions, have been taken into custody in connection with the burglary on the night of July 3 of the Fred Sanders grocery here. Sheriff A. M. (Buck) Bennett of Dawson county announced today.

Charges of burglary have been filed against Weldon T. Flowers, 24, and Mrs. Flowers, 23, of Jal, N. M., and Carl Gardenhire, 23, and Mrs. Gardenhire, 20, of Lamesa, Bennett said.

Returned To Lamesa

Bennett and Ranger J. L. Rogers, who assisted in the entire investigation of the burglary, returned Flowers to Lamesa from Wichita Falls early today. Already in custody were the two women, Bennett reported, and said that Gardenhire surrendered to him here this morning.

The four allegedly removed the safe from the grocery, loaded it into a waiting car, and hauled it into the country, where all records and checks were burned after an undetermined amount of cash had been removed. The safe was located shortly after the burglary.

The two men have admitted the theft of three automobiles since the time of the burglary, Bennett stated, and added that Flowers had been given a suspended sentence for car theft here several months ago.

Total loss in the grocery burglary was estimated at several hundred dollars. The store has been burglarized three times in the past nine years.

Former Member Of Communist Underground Testifies

Additional High U. S. Workers Named As Leaders In Spy Ring

By JOHN B. OWEN
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3 — Whittaker Chambers, who said he once served in the Communist underground in Washington, swore today that it was headed by a number of U. S. government officials, including:

Alger Hiss, State department official who later rose to be secretary general of the San Francisco conference at which the United Nations was launched, and

Nathan Witt, who served successively as attorney and executive secretary for the National Labor Relations board.

White Said "Traveler"

Chambers also declared a number of other government officials were among the leaders of the Red network in the Capitol during his life as a Communist party member from 1924 to 1937.

Chambers, now a senior editor for Time magazine, testified before the House Un-American Activities committee as it dug into stories of a widespread spy ring in the federal government.

He asserted that Harry Dexter White, former Assistant Secretary of the treasury, was "certainly" a fellow traveler. Chambers said he tried to persuade White to "break away from the Communist group" but failed.

Statement Denied

The witness also told of seeking unsuccessfully to get Hiss to "break away from the party."

Hiss, now president of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, said in New York: "I don't know Mr. Chambers. As far as I know I never met him. And there's no basis for the statement which has been reported to me that he made to the committee."

Chambers named other cell leaders of the Red network as Lee Pressman, Donald Hiss, Victor Perlo, Charles Cramer or Kramer (also known as Krivitsky), John Abt and Henry Collins.

He said he told his story to government authorities in 1939 but that nothing happened.

Wallace Backers Named

Robert E. Stripling, committee counsel, described Donald Hiss as a brother of Alger and a State department employe from 1938 to 1945.

He said Pressman formerly was general counsel for the Works Progress administration and other agencies. Pressman was for years the general counsel of the CIO. He quit to support Henry Wallace's Progressive party after the CIO came out in opposition to Wallace for President.

Abt was described also as active in support of Wallace, and a former counsel for the Agriculture Adjustment Administration and other agencies.

Purpose Outlined

Chambers said that Collins was once with the agriculture department. He called him a treasurer for the group who collected party dues and turned them over to Chambers.

Chambers, a short, husky man, said he dropped Communism in 1937. He felt, he said, that "its triumph means slavery to men . . . and spiritual night to the human mind and soul."

The purpose of the underground group as he knew it was "infiltration" of the government, the witness said.

From acting Chairman Mundt (R-SD) of the committee came praise for Chambers and Miss Elizabeth Bentley, a previous witness who has unwound a story of spy work for Russia here during the war. She has named more than 30 government people as sources of information that went to Moscow.

Mundt said Chambers and Miss Bentley were to be congratulated for their "courage and patriotism" in revealing their past Communist associations.

"Slowly and surely," he said, "we're piecing together this pattern of Communist conspiracy to a gullible and rather indifferent America to show it is a fact that 'it can happen here'."

Across the Capitol, Chairman Ferguson (R-Mich) of a Senate Expenditures subcommittee also digging into the spy ring stories, complained that the administration hadn't come through with information requested.

Canadian River Dam Discussed At Amarillo

AMARILLO, Aug. 3 (AP)—Col. E. V. Spence, representing Gov. Beauford Jester, spoke here today at a three-state Canadian river dam meeting.

"Army engineers will save you from drowning, but not from death by slow thirst," he said aiming his remark at the stated policy of Army engineers whom he said can approve a dam project for flood control only.

Forrest Nelson of Oklahoma City, chairman of the division of water resources board and a representative of Oklahoma Governor Roy Turner, and Arch Hurley of Tucumcari, representing New Mexico Governor Thomas Mabry were also present.

Nelson said Oklahoma had a strong case for a dam on the South Canadian near New Castle, Okla. He said it could be justified on the basis of a flood control project, and for irrigation and municipal use.

Oklahoma municipalities he said would benefit are Oklahoma City, Norman and Purcell.

TAX RATE NOT CHANGED

School Board Gives Okay To Budget For New Year

By CHARLES STONE
Avalanche Staff Writer

THE board of directors of Lubbock Independent School district met last night at the school business and tax office to discuss and approve an estimated budget for the 1948-49 school year.

Prior to consideration of the new budget, the board found it necessary to approve an expanded budget for the 1947-48 school year. Current expenses for the year had reached a total considerably above the $1,244,111 allotted in the original budget for that purpose.

Figures Are Compared

Principal reasons cited for the increase in current expenses were increases in cost of operation and maintenance of school plants, along with a sizable increase in cost of instructional service brought about by advancements in teachers' salaries.

The estimated budget for the 1948-49 school year, approved by the board at last night's meeting, was set at $2,829,578, to be disbursed in the following manner: Administration, $54,232; instructional service, $1,077,121; operation of school plants, $85,600; maintenance of school plants, $27,500; auxiliary agencies and coordinating activities, $157,840; fixed charges, $11,200; capital outlay, $1,175,000; debt service, $241,085.

Revenue to be used for current expenditures during the 1948-49 school year is estimated at $1,389,065. Some $616,000 of that amount will come from state apportionment, based on 11,200 scholastics at $55 per scholastic. Another $846,300 will come from tax income based on a $70,000,000 valuation at the current rate of $1.30 per $100 valuation, less about seven percent for delinquent taxes.

Maintain Present Tax Rate

By comparison, the $2,829,578 budget for 1948-49 seems considerably lower than the $3,048,057.10 allotted for 1947-48, but such is not actually the case. During the 1947-48 year, $1,650,550.09 was included on disbursements as capital outlay, compared to a capital outlay of $1,175,000 for the 1948-49 budget. Work on considerable new construction was started the past school year.

The board considered at length means of securing sufficient revenue to take care of the expanding needs of the next few years in the school system of Lubbock. However, after discussing the points in question and

Negro Charged In Slaying Here

Bond of $3,500 was set Tuesday afternoon for Sevard T. Jones, 24, a negro of 805 East Twenty-fifth, binding him over to an Aug. 9 grand jury on a charge of murder with malice of Julian May, a young Lubbock negro.

The charge is the seventh murder complaint that the jury, in the 72nd district court of Judge Dan Blair, will investigate.

C. E. Lynn, justice of peace in whose court the complaint was filed by District Attorney Lloyd Croslin, ordered an autopsy for purpose of recovering a bullet fired early Tuesday into May's abdomen. It will be used as evidence in the case.

Bullet Recovered

The autopsy was performed by Dr. J. A. Chatman, a negro physician. A small caliber bullet was removed from the third lumbar vertebra, and was delivered to the district attorney.

Lynn said he would enter an inquest verdict of death from a gun in the hands of Jones.

In a statement to Dep. Sheriff Earl Horton, after the suspect's arrest by Sgt. Tom Everheart of the police, Jones related that the shooting grew out of May's accusations at a dance that his mother's purse had been "snatched."

Jones said he and several other

Schoeppel Takes Early Lead In Kansas Republican Senate Race

(By The Associated Press)

Former Gov. Andrew F. Schoeppel went out in front last night on early returns in the Kansas republic primary for the Senate seat the veteran Arthur Capper is leaving.

His count stood at nearly five to one over Harold H. Malone, Wichita lawyer.

In Virginia, with almost two-thirds of the precincts counted, Senator A. Willis Robertson held better than a two to one lead for the Democratic nomination for another term. His opponent was James P. Hart, former Army colonel from Roanoke.

Primaries were held in a third state—Missouri—but late closing polls held up the count there.

Demo Vote Tops GOP

Rep. Howard Smith in the eighth Virginia congressional district was leading Arthur F. Souther by more than eight to one on scant returns. Virginia had its first Republican primary in history in that district. In the first boxes counted Tyrell Krum had a lead for the chance to oppose Smith, but the GOP vote was running less than a fifth as heavy as the Democratic vote in the same poll-

Check Rein On Credit Seen

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3 — Republican leaders reached an agreement tonight to start a limited anti-inflation bill rolling through Congress tomorrow.

The agreement was announced by Senator Taft (R-Ohio), chairman of the Senate GOP policy committee, and Rep. Wolcott (R-Mich.), chairman of the House Banking committee. Their announcement followed a two-hour meeting of Taft, Wolcott and several members of the Senate Banking committee.

Goal Requirements Hinted

As outlined by Wolcott, the House Banking committee will start consideration tomorrow of a Senate-approved bill to re-establish consumer credit controls.

Wolcott said the bill would be used as a base. He explained that he would offer amendments in committee to restore the gold reserve requirements for federal reserve banks to their 1945 level, and probably an amendment to increase the reserves of federal reserve banks by three per cent on demand deposits and one per cent on time deposits.

Increasing the reserves cuts down the amount of money banks can lend. The theory is that this is a check on inflation.

Excess Profits Tax Urged

President Truman had recommended that the government be empowered to increase reserve requirements on time deposits by four per cent, and on demand deposits by 10 per cent.

The Republican leaders have marked for the discard most of the Truman anti-inflation program, which calls among other things for power to control some prices and wages and to resume rationing if it is deemed necessary.

Despite indications that it has no chance of success, the President pressed today for passage of another item in his anti-inflation program—an excess profits tax designed to trim the peacetime profits of larger corporations.

He proposed a $4,300,000,000 tax, much like the wartime levy. Sponsors of the bill said it would discourage price increases. Rep. Knutson (R-Minn.), chairman of the House Ways and Means committee, predicted the bill's defeat.

Rep. Wolcott said his amend-

Cooler Weather Forecast Today

South Plains is slated to have ordinary summer weather today, according to the weatherman. The maximum temperature, he said, probably will be a mere 90 degrees as compared to a high of 93 degrees Tuesday.

The skies will continue to be partly cloudy with possible scattered thundershowers during the afternoon and evening. Tuesday the overcast was from thunderstorm activity at Amarillo, and southwest of Amarillo, the observer reported. No rain of consequence is seen for the Plains area.

The humidity Tuesday was near normal. At 6 a. m. 84 per cent was recorded and at 6 p. m. the minimum of 35 per cent was reached. The low temperature was 68 degrees Tuesday morning.

July Nearly Normal

Like the forecast for today, July was nearly a normal month so far as weather was concerned. The official records show that on only one day during July did the temperature exceed 100 degrees. That was on July 29 when the mercury hit 102 degrees.

However, the mercury went above 90 degrees on 23 days. The coolest day was July 5 when the maximum was 83 and the minimum 66. The lowest minimum for the month came on July 10 when the temperature fell to 61 degrees.

July was drier than average despite the many scattered thundershowers—nine were recorded during the month—with only 1.76 inches recorded at the weather station north of the city. The normal

Three McAllen Residents Have Narrow Escape On Stormy Lake

McALLEN, Aug. 3 (U.P.)—Three McAllen residents were back home today—with a tale of being tossed about in the rough waters of Marte Gomez lake in Mexico for 14 hours. During that time they became separated, and each thought the other two drowned.

Last Sunday afternoon Lloyd Langston, a McAllen business and civic leader, his wife, and their 25-year-old daughter, Mrs. Betty Jo Jenoweth, were fishing in the lake waters. Squalls came up, and their 16-foot outboard craft overturned.

Search Was Launched

Langston's wife had a partly-inflated Mae West lifesaver. Daughter Betty Joe had another and managed to inflate it after she was in the water. Langston had no lifebelt. The boat remained afloat, keel up, but the daughter was soon swept out of sight by the rough waters. Darkness descended upon Langston and his wife, both clutching the overturned boat.

A short time after darkness Mrs. Langston, too, was blown away from the boat. Throughout the night Langston clutched to a steel strip around the boat. The only relief for his aching arms came when he placed a rope between his teeth and held on.

Meanwhile, the three Langstons had been missed by others in their party. Searching crews swept the rough waters night-long, but found no trace of the trio. During the night Langston once heard his wife cry for help—and thought he heard his daughter's outcry.

Others Found Ashore

At daybreak a boatload of Monterrey fishermen came upon Langston, who had clutched the overturned boat for 14 hours. He directed them toward the spot where he had heard his wife's screams. They found her ashore, where she had been blown by the wind, her hair tangled in the underbrush.

Then they searched for the daughter and found her—bobbling along on the lifebelt.

The exhausted trio spent the day in their fishing camp and that afternoon returned to McAllen. None were seriously injured, but today all were still rubbing aching muscles.

Langston had a word of advice for others who would go fishing in Monte Gomez lake: That advice was: "Take along a Mae West. It'll do the job."

Miss Edna Muhelenbein, 30, an Oak Park department store clerk, found the envelope on a drapery counter and turned it over to the store manager, who notified police.

The envelope was lost by Mrs. Marguerite Creighton, 55, and it contained $3,000 in cash and $30,000 in securities.

Mrs. Creighton, a widow, lost the envelope while shopping but couldn't remember where.

When police notified her that the envelope had been turned in by the finder, Mrs. Creighton stopped at the department store and gave Miss Muhelenbein a $20 reward.

Bomb Is Found Near Vatican Cathedral

VATICAN CITY, Aug. 3 (INS)—A small bomb was discovered near St. Peter's basilica today.

Italian artillery experts detonated the missile, which a street cleaner discovered—its firing pin removed—in the 300-year-old colonnade surrounding St. Peter's square, near the door-steps of the cathedral. The explosion caused a flurry of excitement in Vatican city.

Pope Pius XII was not in the vatican at the time of the detonation. He is currently vacationing at his summer retreat, Castel Gandolfo.

A Vatican official described the missile as of the "balilla" type—from 6 to 10 inches long, but with a high explosive charge. He said that had the bomb exploded by itself, it might have damaged the holy building and possibly injured children who play in the square.

Other Vatican spokesmen hinted that the bomb plant may have stemmed from the current editorial war between Observatore Romano, the Vatican newspaper and the Communist organ, Unita.

One official said it was "the first attempt to bomb the Vatican in the liberation period . . . a bad symptom."

Heavy Damage Caused To Two Cars In Collision Near City

Considerable property damage was done about 4:30 p. m. Tuesday when a station wagon driven by Coy Herman (Toots) Mansfield, well known Big Spring rodeo star and rancher, was in collision with a truck driven by Robert S. Hindman of Lubbock route 6.

Scene of the collision was about six miles south of Lubbock on the Tahoka highway. About $600 damage was incurred by Mansfield's station wagon, highway patrolmen said, but little damage was done to the truck.

The station wagon struck the truck on the left side, both vehicles having been going south. No serious injuries were suffered by either man.

The highway patrol said that Mansfield was charged with failure to grant the right-of-way on Hindman's left hand turn signal. Hindman was charged with driving on the left side of the highway while not in the act of passing another vehicle.

'March' On Capital Is Slated Thursday

NEW YORK, Aug. 3 (INS)—The 'people's lobby" march on Washington promised by Rep. Vito Marcantonio during the Progressive party convention will be staged on Thursday.

Announcement of the "march" was made by the civil rights Congress, through Len Goldsmith, national chairman, and William L. Patterson, national secretary.

They said more than 4,000 persons will join the demonstration, heading for Washington by train and bus from New York City, Detroit, Chicago, Cleveland and Pittsburgh.

Goldsmith said motorcades already are enroute to the national capital from Detroit and Chicago, and special busses are carrying the "marchers" from Cleveland and Pittsburgh.

Burglars Enter Supply Company

Goods valued at $300 to $400 were taken in the breakin of Ameen and McCreary Supply company 2113 Nineteenth, police reports indicated Tuesday evening.

Entrance was gained, reports showed, by breaking a window pane and pulling a hasp loose from a door.

Although it was at first believed that nothing was missing from the store, a subsequent check revealed that three pairs of shoes, four flight jackets, three bomber type jackets, 36 pairs of underwear and a pair of coveralls were missing from the establishment.

A Lubbock negro, W. L. Brown of 311 East Twentieth, had regained consciousness in a hospital early Tuesday after being struck on the head, apparently with a bottle, at a dance. He declined to give information identifying his assailant, police said.

Investigation Underway

Investigation into an unknown man's possession of a $55.20 government compensation check was underway.

Ben L. Miller, a cab driver of 2824 Second, said a man, 25 to 30 years old, gave him the check as security for a cab ride and fled when Miller telephoned police. He said his suspicions were aroused when identification offered by he suspect failed to match the name on the check.

William Sherman Green, 32, and a Lubbock juvenile were fined in two separate cases for indecent exposure, police said this morning. Both pleaded guilty. Green was fined $50 and the juvenile $15.

Fine Is Paid

E. L. Nelson, 46-year-old negro, of 2311 E. Ave. A, paid a fine of $50 on a charge of aggravated assault, county records revealed.

A 9-year-old negro boy was taken into custody of police Tuesday in connection with a breakin at a cafe at 1714 Ave. A. The back was pried off a juke box and nickels from the coin box taken. A trumpet, valued at $27 was also taken. Entrance was gained by tearing a screen off a back window.

The boy admitted to police that he was responsible for the burglary, and the trumpet and $3 in nickels were recovered. The boy, too young to be classed as a delinquent, was released to his mother.

Allied Envoys' Cheer Indicates Stalin Again Playing 'Genial Joe'

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
Associated Press Staff Writer

The air of cheer among the Allied diplomats in Moscow suggests that Stalin has resumed the role of Genial Joe, the man who so often expresses sweetness and light to foreigners while his lieutenants are busy sabotaging world peace.

Details of the current negotiations are a carefully guarded secret. The job of the Allied envoys is to get the Berlin blockade lifted as a prerequisite for renewal of four-power conciliation efforts. They apparently think they are succeeding. But the measure of that success will be determined by what happens regarding the food blockade.

Truce Would Aid Reds

A conference, although it might lessen current tension, won't have much real meaning in itself. Conferences are places where the Russians divert the Allies from their job of economic and military recovery.

Stalin can afford to appear genial. He's in a nice position. He can be very magnanimous, lift the Berlin blockade, and resume his peace offensive. It would seem to be very much to his benefit to reach a truce in the cold war now when Allied resistance has reached a point where he can expand no farther without risking war.

A dictator has no trouble going right ahead preparing for war in time of peace. Relaxation of tension always brings lassitude to the democracies. Such a period is just what Stalin needs for the three five-year plans by which the Kremlin thinks it can make Russia strong enough for whatever tasks might be imposed by Communist expansionism. While Russia would be gathering strength the Allies would find military appropriations more and more unpopular, the pressure for Western European union would be lessened, and local Communists could use Moscow's peace front to regain some of their wartime prestige.

Stalemate Possible

Or Stalin can stalemate a four-power conference and create a war scare on the grounds peace with the West is hopeless, thereby seeing to regather beneath his winds the Eastern European satellites which are displaying signs of scattering.

Neither tactic would represent a desertion of Communist strategy, which denies the possibility of real peace before they stage their world revolution; which denies the possibility of real collaboration between Communist and non-Communist countries, but which authorizes any deal for temporary purposes and its betrayal when the time is right.

WAR GAMES — During the current peace in the Palestine fighting, Israel's army keeps on the guard. Seeing all those soldiers around makes it easy for Israeli youngsters to find models for imitating, as these two in Jerusalem are doing. (Photo by NEA-Acme.)

Travel To National Park Spots Shows Drop Under 1947 Total

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3 (AP)—Travel to most of the scenic sites in national parks during June slumped below last year's comparative totals, the National Park service said today.

Totals for the first nine months of the travel year, starting last Oct. 1, are, however, still well ahead of the previous year.

The park service counted 1,482,798 visitors in June, 6,136 less than for June, 1947.

Increases for the month were four per cent at national monuments, three per cent at national memorials outside the capital, 11 per cent for parkways and 227 per cent for recreational areas.

The tremendous increase in use of recreation areas was attributed to park service administration of the Lake Texoma recreational area in Oklahoma and Texas which had 1,382,123 visitors in the opening nine months of the travel year. For the same period, visitors in all units of the park system totalled 14,803,827, compared to 12,166,941 for the first nine months of the preceding travel year.

Travel totals for the Oct. 1-June 30 period at other national parks included: Big Bend, Tex., 22,101, increase, 9,764; Carlsbad caverns, New Mexico, 247,854, increase 16,491.

Court To Review Denial Of Bail For Five Communists

NEW YORK, Aug. 3 (AP)—A court review was ordered today of claims by five accused alien Communists that Attorney General Tom C. Clark abused his discretion in refusing them bail pending deportation hearings.

The court review was ordered by the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

The five men charged with being alien Communists include Gerhart Eisler, characterized by a House committee as the No. 1 Communist in the U. S.; Irving Potash, vice-president of the CIO International Fur and Leather Workers union; and John Williamson, labor secretary of the Communist party of the U. S.

Potash and Williamson were arrested recently, along with 10 other top Communists, on charges of plotting the violent overthrow of the U. S. government.

The Woman's Angle
By Margaret Turner

SOMEONE defines Russia as a country that sticks her "no's" into international affairs.

* * *

DO YOU?—The average American housewife takes approximately 18,000 steps daily, according to an estimate by the National Foot Health council. Suppose this emphasizes the need for medium, rather than high heels, on Mrs. America's shoes.

* * *

DEAR Miss Turner:

Some of the women in our community would like to know more about the "Mrs. America" contest. Why can't we have a "Mrs. Lubbock" or "Mrs. Lubbock County" contest? There might be some very outstanding homemaking ability discovered among our Lubbock county women and there is a chance such a contest would create more interest in homemaking clubs.

Could you let us know more about the contest and find out if the women in this area would be interested?

Mrs. E. J. Exum,
Route 3.

* * *

DEAR Mrs. Exum: Thank you for your letter. We tossed the material about the "Mrs. America" contest in the waste basket because we had no idea anyone would be interested. If an organization is interested in the contest, however, we could get the name of the national organization. Time is running out.

As you suggest, such a contest might bring out some interesting facts and figures but it would be a lot of work for the one undertaking it.

If an organization is interested in a city or county wide "Mrs. America" contest, we'll be glad to cooperate as far as the publicity is concerned. Are there any hands going up?

TODAY'S GAG

WE think this appeared in The Plainsman Says column several months ago, but it is worth repeating.

A shipwrecked sailor who had survived three years on a desert island was overjoyed when a ship spotted his signal and sent a small boat ashore.

An officer stepped from the boat, handed the sailor a batch of newspapers and said:

"The captain suggests that you read what's going on in the world and then let us know if you still want to be rescued."

MISCELLANY

A Lubbock couple who is sending clothing to a minister's family in Germany is in need of large clothing for the woman. She is a size 44. We have an idea there are a few larger women in our city who would be glad to donate usable, clean clothing. If so, they are invited to telephone 2-1908.

* * *

Does anyone want a grown male lovebird? His mate died but "Jimmy" is still chipper and happy, so far as his owner can determine. It takes time to clean his cage and feed him and she has decided there might be a little girl or boy who would delight in his ownership. If so, telephone Mrs. J. M. Everheart at 2-3438.

A small mixed dog, described as good with children and an excellent farm dog, is to be given away at 2608 Thirty-fifth, telephone 2-7333.

Four puppies are to be disposed of at 2622 Twenty-fifth, telephone 8200. They will be six weeks old Monday.

Two Chicago Steel Workers Deny Possessing Bogus Bills

CHICAGO, Aug. 3 (INS) — Two Chicago steel workers pleaded innocent today before a U. S. commissioner to charges of possessing 60 to 75 bogus $10 and $20 bills and passing a counterfeit $10 bill.

The defendants are Frank Maury, 48, and Edward Buchanan, 35. Each was ordered held on $15,000 bond.

'Everyday' Answers Chase 'Fire Balls' From Midwest Skies

CHICAGO, Aug. 3 (INS) — "Balls of fire" seen over Indianapolis and Chicago were figuratively chased from the skies today by explanations of the apparitions.

In Indianapolis, Dr. Howard Aldrich explained that a fiery mass seen there Sunday night was just a surplus Army balloon to which he had attached a railroad fuse. The fuse accounted for reports that small streaks of fire shot from the ball.

Aldrich said he had obtained a number of the balloons from a store and launched several bearing the name and address of his daughter, Alice, 12.

Sunday night, he said, he decided to send up one with a light attached so he could trace the balloon's course.

In Chicago, the municipal airport control tower staff solved the mystery of "balls of fire" seen in the air last night.

The fireballs, the staff members said, were reflections of searchlights on the cloud overcast at 15,000 feet. The height of the overcast made it hard for laymen to identify the reflections.

27 Delegates Barred From State AFL Meet

NEW YORK, Aug. 3 (INS)—For the second successive day, 27 delegates were barred from the 85th annual convention of the New York State Federation of Labor.

Three significant questions, put to them by the credentials committee, made clear the reason for their disbarment.

They were: "Are you a member of the Communist party? Are you a member of any party affiliated with the Communist party? Did you march in the left wing May Day parade?"

Other Reasons Voiced

The questions dispelled any doubt that the credentials committee's reason for not seating the 27 delegates stemmed from alleged Communist activities.

Some of those barred, however, declared the committee's action was taken because they planned to introduce resolutions in favor of Henry Wallace, the Progressive party candidate.

All 27 were told to return tomorrow to learn whether they can take part in the remaining two days of the convention.

The chief speaker at today's session was President William Green of the American federation. He did not mention the internal troubles of the state body but confined his address to assailing the record of the 80th Congress as the "blackest in our American history."

Chicago Gold Star Mother Is Convicted Of Killing Husband

CHICAGO, Aug. 3 (INS)—A 48-year-old Chicago gold star mother collapsed tonight as a jury convicter her of murdering her husband and fixed sentence at 14 years imprisonment.

The women was revived 40 minutes after the verdict was read and removed to the Cook county hospital for further treatment.

The jury of nine women and three men found Mrs. Veronica Elliott guilty of fatally shooting her husband, Cecil, 55, last May 18.

The convicted woman's son by another marriage, Edward Kruchinkas, 23, leaped to his feet when the verdict was read, shouting:

"He beat her! He beat her! What more does the jury want?"

Bailiffs restrained the youth as he attempted to shoulder his way into the chambers where his mother was taken. Kruchinkas is a soldier on leave from Germany.

Mrs. Elliott testified that a gun she wrested from her husband went off as they were quarreling over her expressed worries that Kruchinkas was being sent overseas. She said her husband beat her during the altercation.

Heart, Artery Strain Discovered In Many Texas City Victims

GALVESTON, Aug. 3 (AP)—A high percentage of victims in the April, 1947, Texas City explosion disaster, suffered from abnormal artery and heart strain, according to two researchers at the University of Texas medical school.

The researchers, Dr. Arthur Ruskin, associate professor of internal medicine, and Owen W. Beard, instructor of internal medicine at the medical school here today, reported these developments in their extensive study following the tragedy:

Findings Are Reported

(1) Of 180 documented cases, 103, or 57 per cent, presented diastolic blood pressure peaks of 95 mm or over, shortly after the blasts.

(2) After two weeks of bed rest only five of 61 cases still showed the diastolic elevations.

(3) In 24 cases, or 22 per cent of 111 patients, diastolic blood pressure of 95 mm or over were recorded after rest in a sitting-up position.

Typical Cases Sought

The report said the cases exceed any other previously noted for comparable age and population groups.

The researchers sought typical blast injuries of the heart for clinical and post-mortem examinations because of the tremendous force of the explosions, and the fact that many of the examined survivors were within 100 yards of the destroyed ships and plants.

The report concluded: "Whatever the cause of these phenomena it is now established that similar transient hypertensive states are followed in a significant number of cases by permanent hypertension with all its complications."

U. S. Loan For UN Headquarters Favored By Majority Of Voters

By GEORGE GALLUP, Director
American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., Aug. 3 — Congress action to provide money for building the headquarters of the United Nations has substantial approval from the American people.

In a public opinion poll completed shortly before Congressional leaders re-opened the loan issue last week the majority of voters with opinions expressed a favorable view. An overwhelming majority said it would be a bad thing for the United Nations to move its headquarters to Europe.

GALLUP

President Truman in his message to the special session of Congress strongly urged granting the loan to the United Nations. The site for the headquarters along the East River in New York City was donated by John D. Rockefeller, Jr., but the United Nations had insufficient funds to put up the buildings. One main objection raised to a loan from the United States is that the financing should not fall so heavily on one country but should be divided among the leading nations.

This point of view is apparently shared by about one voter in three in the United States, as indicated in replies to the following poll question put to the country by the Institute during the last week in July:

"Do you think the United States should or should not lend money to the United Nations to go ahead with their headquarters building in New York City?"

The vote:

| | |
|---|---|
| Should | 46% |
| Should not | 34 |
| Qualified ans. | 4 |
| No opinion | 16 |

Opinion on this issue divided sharply according to degree of education. People who have had some college education were found overwhelmingly in favor of granting the loan, while among those who have had grammar school training only or no schooling the weight of opinion was registered against the loan.

| | Should | Should Not | Qual. & No opin. |
|---|---|---|---|
| College | 64% | 24% | 12% |
| High School | 51 | 31 | 18 |
| Grade or No School | 35 | 41 | 24 |

American opinion has always been found supporting the continuation and development of the United Nations as an organization, even though voters are far from satisfied with its progress or accomplishments to date.

The average American would not like to see the United Nations move away from American shores. That is shown in the vote on a second question in the Institute's poll, as follows:

"Because the United States has not yet offered to lend 65 million to the United Nations to build its headquarters some United Nations' officials want to move the headquarters to Europe. Do you think it would be a good thing or a bad thing for the U. N. to move its headquarters to Europe?"

The vote:

| | |
|---|---|
| Good thing | 11% |
| Bad thing | 61 |
| No difference | 15 |
| No opinion | 13 |

On this question no important difference was found according to degree of education, indicating that objections to a loan did not necessarily imply disapproval of the United Nations itself.

The vote by education follows:

| | Grade High Coll. | Sch'l | or No Sch'l |
|---|---|---|---|
| Good thing | 11% | 12% | 10% |
| Bad thing | 80 | 80 | 62 |
| No diff. | 20 | 18 | 12 |

Applications For Vet Village Housing Surpasses Supply

Considerable concern and some apartment vacancies have developed at Veterans Village following recent announcement that Lubbock Air field would be reactivated, but the applications by Tech students for apartments this fall exceeds the supply, said J. C. Wilson, who is on duty in the Housing authority office at the village.

Fewer inquiries are being received from working veterans, but Tech students are still asking, taking a chance that the field will not be reactivated before close of next college year, he said.

440 Families At Base

"Of course, no one knows," he said.

About 440 families live at the base, indicating a total of about 1,276 individuals on baris of a previously figured average of 2.9 persons per family, said Wilson. About eight or 10 families have moved into Lubbock since announcement the base would be reactivated, he estimated.

Ten apartments for Tech students now are vacant, but approximately 100 applications for apartments have been filed by veterans planning to attend Tech during the long session opening next month. Number of apartments available for Tech students is 85.

Numerous inquiries from tenants concerning length of time they may remain at the village have been received in the Housing authority office, but the authority has had no notice of plans to vacate the village and does not have the answer. It has never stopped taking tenants, Wilson said.

The Air Force announced June 28 its plans to reopen 19 air bases and one gunnery and bombing range before June 30, 1949. The air bases included Lubbock Air field.

The Hawaiian Islands and New Zealand have lost a great portion of their native fauna.

Storage Is Problem For Many Farmers

WACO, Aug. 3 (AP)—The president of the Texas Farm bureau federation charged today that many state farmers may be deprived of protection in the government's grain support price program because they are denied storage space.

J. Walter Hammond, TFBF chief, asked Texas Congressman W. R. Poage, member of the House Committee on Agriculture, to call a meeting of the State delegation in Washington to consider the problem.

Hammond said that elevator operators and the grain trade either were in collusion or the administration was derelict in the handling of the program.

At any rate, farmers are unable to secure storage space required to be eligible for participation in the support program, Hammond said. He reported that some are being "forced" to sell grain sorghums for as much as 50 cents per hundredweight under the parity price guaranteed by support legislation.

"It was not my understanding that it would be the responsibility of the farmers to provide storage, but if that is the case we want to be informed so a movement can be started to build cooperative elevators to safeguard the farmers' interests." his telegram to Poage said.

Hammond asserted that storage space was available in commercial elevators. Some which report to the farmer that they are full, he said, turn face to buy his grain at sub-parity prices.

"For the past 15 years I have been bothered with frequent rheumatic pains in my left shoulder. This trouble later spread to my right shoulder also," writes Mr. J. C. Kirkland of Dallas. In my work I have to use my arms a lot, and my shoulders were beginning to stiffen up. After taking Mertox Compound for a short time this condition was quickly corrected, so that now I am free from rheumatic trouble and free of the aches and pains. I was also troubled with gas and bloat, which were very painful. I felt tired and rundown; just seemed to have no life or pep at all. Had severe headaches, too. The gas would seem to press against my heart and lungs and make it hard to breathe. Now I can eat anything, even meat, which was impossible before taking this splendid medicine. My bowels are now regular and I do not have to get up at night as I did before."

Board Studies Name For Big Bend Peak

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3 (AP) — A recommendation that 6,405-foot Panther peak in Big Bend national park, Texas, be named for the late George M. Wright, park official, was placed before the board on geographic names today.

The peak, proposed as Wright mountain, is on the east side of the Chisos mountains in Brewster county, five and a half miles northeast of Emory peak.

Wright, founder of the wildlife division of the National Park service, was killed while on official duty near Deming, N. M., several years ago.

Asked To Name Streams

The geological survey also asked the board to establish official names for three Texas streams totaling 140 miles in length. The recommended names:

North Pease river, 80 miles long—originates 12 miles southeast of Alcino in eastern Floyd county, flows northeast across Motley county into Hall county and southeast into the Middle Pease river in northeastern Cottle county. Not the Pease river.

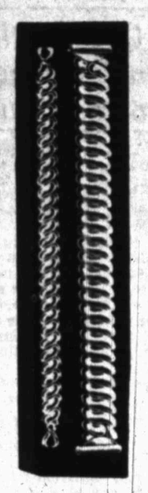

Los Lingos creek—Rises five miles southeast of Silverton in southern Briscoe county and flows southeast for 20 miles into Quitaque creek near the Floyd county-Motley county boundary. Not Linquist creek.

Quitague creek—Rises 10 miles north of Lockney in Floyd county and flows eastward 40 miles into the North Pease river in northern Motley county. Not North Pease river or Quitaque river.

The Trumpeter Swan, weighing about 35 pounds, is the largest flying bird.

Pro-Communist Leader Assumes Office As Hungarian President

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Aug. 3 (AP)—Arpad Szakasits, pro-Communist Socialist, succeeded to the presidency of Hungary today.

He was sworn in immediately, taking the place of Zoltan Tildy, a member of the Smallholder party who resigned Friday when his son-in-law was accused of spying and treason.

Szakasits, a former brick mason and Socialist newspaper editor, was described elected unanimously by the parliament after about 30 members of the Democratic peoples party and the Christian womens camp walked out. The two opposition groups returned after the unanimous ballot was cast.

Iron Rule Pledged

His election had been forecast since Saturday when the dominant united workers party—a merger of Communists and Socialists headed by Szakasits—had declared for him and other parties followed suit. His was the only candidacy presented to the 241-member parliament by the speaker, Imre Nagy.

Szakasits, at a formal swearing-in ceremony, promised to deal with "satellites of imperialists at home" with an iron fist and to co-operate closely with neighboring "Peoples Democracies"—the countries of the Soviet bloc.

Hollywood Woman's Death Is Mystery

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 3 (INS)—Mystery tonight surrounded the death of Lavonne Silvers, 35-year-old divorced wife of film musical director Lou Silvers, after her nude body was found in a partially-filled bathtub.

Authorities estimated that the woman had been dead since last Wednesday.

Near the bathtub was a nearly-filled box of sleeping pills.

Cause of her death was not immediately determined. Authorities said, however, that it was not due to drowning. They scouted the theory that she committeed suicide and were inclined to believe that she was an accidental victim of sleeping pills.

Friends said that Mrs. Silvers had used prescribed sleeping tablets for treatment of a nervous disorder.

The strange death of Mrs. Silvers was discovered when neighbors became alarmed as newspapers piled up on her doorstep. Police broke into her home, found the lights on and the radio playing.

Mrs. Silvers sued her wealthy husband for divorce in September, 1946. Later suit was dropped and then filed again in April, 1947. Silvers, however, was awarded the divorce on a cross-complaint last March.

Couple Given Jail Sentence After Child Burns To Death

RHINELANDER, Wis., Aug. 3 (INS)—A couple whose only child burned to death because of parental neglect was sentenced today to six months in Oneida county jail.

Lloyd Turcotte, 42, and his wife, Margaret, 31, appeared relieved when Judge H. F. Steele pronounced sentence in the little courtroom at Rhinelander.

The couple's son, Victor, 9, burned to death July 24 in a fire which destroyed the Turcotte home. The father and mother had been drinking at the time of the fire, it was charged.

The couple will serve its term under the Huber law. This will permit Lloyd to work on his city garbage detail job, and his wife to do part-time work. They must eat their meals and spend their nights in jail.

Judge Steele warned the two that any drinking during the six-months will forfeit their Huber law privileges.

Fight Over Bottle Of Rum Endangers 66 Aboard Airliner

NEW YORK, Aug. 3 (INS)—A two-man battle in the skies almost spelled disaster today for a Puerto Rico-to-New York airliner carrying 66 persons.

The fight, according to authorities, was between two male passengers over a bottle of rum in the tail of the ship, a DC-4 of Air America, Inc.

Plane Lost Altitude

Capt. Anthony Matchado, of Long Beach, Cal., pilot of the airliner, said the plane was about 600 miles north of Puerto Rico when the tail suddenly became heavy and the craft lost altitude rapidly, dropping 2,000 feet from 8,500 feet.

Matchado went back to the tail and there, he said, Diego Cordova, 28, and Benito Santana, 34, both of New York, were fighting, and steward John Desbrow of Glendale, Cal., was trying unsuccessfully to separate them.

The pilot managed to end the battle, he said, and went back to his cockpit to regain altitude. Then, he charged, one of the men rushed in and bit him severely on the shoulder.

Matchado radioed for assistance when he approached LaGuardia field. Both Cordova and Santana were held for questioning by the FBI.

Aboard the airliner in addition to the crew of six were 26 women, 20 men and 14 children ranging in age from four months to 11 years. All passengers were Puerto Ricans. Matchado said they never were aware of the temporary danger.

Notes On Hub Homes Project Are Sold By Housing Group

Seventh series of notes on the Hub Homes project, in the amount of $452,000, was sold Tuesday noon to the Bessemer Trust Co. of New York by commissioners of the Housing authority of the City of Lubbock.

The notes were sold to the low bidders at the rate of 1.02 per cent interest with a $6 premium. One other bid was presented.

The rate of interest last year was .92 per cent.

A total of $47,000 of the indebtedness has been paid. Previously, notes have been sold for one year, but the latest financing was for six months.

Those attending the luncheon meeting, held in Hilton hotel Aztec room, were W. L. Bradshaw, executive director; Newton Walton, chairman of the commission, Dr. D. D. Cross, vice chairman, and Charles Whitacre, John Glover and W. B. Rushing, commissioners, J. H. Maynard, manager; James O. Cade, attorney, and B. Herbert Manning, attorney for the Public Housing administration, of Fort Worth.

Draft Boards Allowed To Set Up Additional Registration Places

AUSTIN, Aug. 3 (AP)—Texas' 137 local draft boards may set up as many additional registration places for the Aug. 30-Sept. 18 registration as they think are necessary.

The flexible plan was announced today by selective service state director, K. L. Berry.

It has been estimated that between 500,000 and 600,000 Texans will be registered during the period.

PUERTO RICO HOUSING PROJECT—These are part of 7,000 five-room concrete homes, which are being built near San Juan, Puerto Rico, at the rate of 50 per day. They will sell for $4,000 with payments of $25 monthly. Non-Veterans must put $400 down; veterans nothing. The Insular Government worked out $30,000,000 project with help of Leonard D. Long, Charleston, S. C.

Oklahoma Studies Changes In School Segregation Legislation

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 3 (AP)—Oklahoma officials today were paving the way for amendment of the state's historic segregation laws.

The action comes after repeated court attacks on the laws—attacks that are now moving ahead on two fronts.

The state attorney general's office has prepared a legislative bill which would allow negroes to attend white colleges and universities to receive classwork not offered at Langston university, Oklahoma's only college for negroes.

The proposed bill has been drafted and submitted to the legislative council, an interim body of legislators to study legislation between sessions. If approved, it would then be submitted at the next legislature in January.

Present statutes prohibit school officials from enrolling negroes at colleges used by white students, teachers from instructing mixed classes or students from attending mixed classes.

Three negro women who yesterday were denied admittance to the University of Oklahoma are planning to carry their fight to the United States Supreme court.

DEDICATION IS PLANNED

HALE CENTER, August 3 (Spesial)—Dedication ceremonies and a home-coming event for Hale Center's new $45,000 Church of Christ structure is planned for Sunday, Aug. 8, according to an announcement by Joe Banks, minister.

Larry Don McElhaney Suffers Injuries In Fall From Car

Larry Don McElhaney, 4-year-old son of Mrs. Russell Prestidge of Lubbock route 2, was treated at West Texas hospital early Tuesday afternoon after he fell from the right rear door of a car driven by Mrs. Inez Drury of Lubbock route 3.

The youngster was examined by a hospital physician, and X-rays were made for a possible skull fracture. Results of the X-rays were not known Tuesday night.

The youngster, riding alone in the back seat of the car, apparently had forced the door handle down in some way and accidentally fell from the car, which was moving at a low rate of speed. His mother and Mrs. Drury were in the front seat. The accident occurred about 12:30 p. m.

Hubbers Blow 3-0 Lead To Visitors

By JOE KELLY
Avalanche Sports Editor

Any resemblance to the Hubbers of mid season was strictly coincidental last night at Rosenthal Field, as they bowed to the Lamesa Loboes 7-5 in a disappointing exhibition for 1,077 fans.

Lefty Fred Groth worked well for three innings, but grew steadily wilder, even though he didn't allow any hits. He left the scene in the sixth inning, when the Loboes chased over three runs without a hit. In fact, the visitors went hitless through the entire six-inning stretch. We shudder to think what would have happened had their extra-base eyes been in order.

Locals Take Lead

As it was, the Hubbers managed to take a three-run lead in the first three innings and gave every indication that Stan Grzywacz, who won his 12th victory of the season, wouldn't be around long. Jackie Wilcox opened the game with a double and scored on Manager Jackie Sullivan's triple. Virgil Richardson skied to the centerfielder and the Hubbers had a 3-0 lead.

They made it 3-0 in the third, when Sullivan singled, stole second, went to third on Richardson's repeat fly to center and scored on Frank McAlexander's Texas Leaguer to center. After that the Hubbers went down on four hits, managing to get only one more run.

And the Loboes started to make the most of Groth's increasing wildness. He walked Al Lounsbury and Grzywacz to open the fifth and McAlexander's error gave Melillo life to load the bases. Dan Pinto walked to force in one run and Walt Buckel, hitting a double play ball to Sullivan, went all the way to second when Wilcox threw the ball into the dugout. That allowed Grzywacz and Melillo to score and the game was tied up.

Give Game Back

Royce Mills took over in the sixth and didn't have any trouble that frame, then started the seventh with strikeouts on Pinto and Buckel. But I. B. Palmer singled to right and Manager Tony Fiarito was hit to put two men on. At this point Jim Skidgel, hitless in two trips, came to the plate, took a ball and two strikes and blasted a game-winning pitch over the leftfield screen.

That was the ball game right there, although the Loboes tried to give it back in the Hubber half of the inning. The locals scored two unearned runs on one hit, when both Melillo and Buckel committed miscues.

Tonight the two teams conclude their three-game series and the Hubbers bring their home stand to an end. Chris Haskins, who pitched one inning last night, might be the possible Hubber starter, while Chet Zara might go for Lamesa.

Two Hubber Hurlers Are On Disabled List

Hubber baseball fortunes were dealt a double blow yesterday when two pitchers, Cotton Russell and Bob Clodfelter, were forced to go on the disabled list.

Russell was put on a plane for his home in Fort Worth, where he probably will undergo an appendicitis operation. If he does, he will be lost to the local nine, currently in fourth place in the West Texas-New Mexico League race, for the remainder of the season.

Clodfelter will be out of action for a minimum of ten days with arm trouble. The hurler has a series of muscle knots and a bone chip in his elbow. However, it is the muscular trouble that is forcing him on the shelf, the bone chip having been there for a long time.

Russell might be back to help the Hubbers in the Shaughnessy playoffs, providing they remain in the first division. Clodfelter definitely will be back soon. He is having treatments at Bert Kahn's Health club daily and probably will be sent to Lamesa for treatment by Dr. O. L. McIlroy within the near future.

Larry Larsen, Hubber general manager, said yesterday that the Hubbers were seeking replacements and that an announcement might be possible today.

INDIANS BUY ERICKSON

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 3 (INS)—Purchase of veteran hurler Paul Erickson from the Pittsburgh Pirates was announced today by the Indianapolis Indians of the American Association. Erickson posted a 7-12 record with the Chicago Cubs last season and won two games this year for the Philadelphia Phillies before being shunted to the New York Giants. The Pirates obtained the pitcher from the Giants on waivers.

LUBBOCK AUTO DOWNS VFW

Johnny Bond and Raymond Heintze hurled the Lubbock Auto nine to two Industrial Softball loop victories over the Veterans of Foreign Wars, 6-3 and 19-1, Tuesday afternoon.

STOLARIK LEADS PLAY

CHICAGO, Aug. 3 (INS)—Little Mike Stolarik, a former sailor from Great Lakes, Ill., played the fairways like a synchronized testing machine today to create a four-under par 68 and take the first round lead in the All-American amateur golf tourney at Tam O'Shanter.

Ivy Gains Finals In City Tourney

Glenn Ivy, Texas Tech net ace, entered the finals of the annual City-Wide tennis tournament in the men's open singles division with two bracket victories Tuesday afternoon at Tech courts.

Ivy gained his first win of the tourney over Techsan Joe Wheatley, 6-3, in a delayed third set. Ivy and Wheatley had split the first two sets Monday afternoon, then darkness forced postponement of the final encounter until Tuesday. Ivy then chalked up an easy semi-final triumph over David Hester, 6-2, 6-0.

Ivy coasted to the victory behind a baffling service and a series of placements that kept the lanky Hester from making a serious threat, although the Lubbock stroker made a brief rally on a driving forehand to cop two games in the initial set.

In another men's open singles match, veteran Houston Boyd defaulted to Hubert Burgess, jr. Boyd took the first set of the match, 6-2 then piled up a 5-1 game margin in the second set. Leading 40-love in the seventh game, and needing only one more point for the victory, Boyd decided that he would be unable to continue in the bracket and defaulted to Burgess.

B. T. Rucker defeated Wiley Yates, 6-1 and 8-6, in a men's novice singles setto at Dupre courts, while David Clark stroked to an easy 6-0, 6-1 triumph over Thord Dockray in a boys' singles match.

Competition in the men's open doubles division will get underway at 5 o'clock this afternoon at the Tech courts, when Jake Broyles and Joe Wheatley tangle with Eddie Scudday and David Hester. Scudday and Hester are the defending champions in the division having copped the title in 1947, but the smooth-stroking Broyles and Wheatley will be heavy favorites to take the top honors in this tourney.

The Shaughnessy playoffs in the South Plains Softball League will open tonight at Jumbo Webster Field, with Cloverlake Dairy meeting Golden Light Coffee at 8:30 p. m. and Baldridge Bakery meeting Thomas Jewelers at 9:45 p. m.

The playoffs will be operated on a best two out of three games basis, with the first and fourth place teams meeting and the second and third place teams playing.

Sunbeamers Withdraw

The Sunbeamers nine, actual first place winners, dropped out of the playoffs after winning the recent A.S.A. softball tourney and finishing the Texas Softball League season in first place.

Thursday night will see second round games, with Baldridge meeting Thomas in the first game and Cloverlake playing Golden Light in the second. If a third game is needed, it will be played Friday night.

Next week, starting Monday night, the two winners will meet for the championship and the two losers will play for third and fourth place. Both of these series will run the best three out of five games.

May Run Through Friday

The games might continue through Friday night of next week, with the possibility also present that the games would end as early as Wednesday night.

Baldridge, recent second place winners in the A.S.A. tournament, are favored, on the basis of their season's record, to take the title. The Bakers have all-around strength, with a good hitting, good fielding and fine pitching nine. Their heaviest competition might come from Golden Light, which also showed power in the A.S.A. tourney.

The series, as was the league this year, will be sponsored by the Lubbock Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Baldridge Bakery Edges Stamford, 1-0

Lindsay Telford scored an unearned run in the third inning to give the Baldridge Bakery nine of Lubbock a narrow 1-0 win over Stamford Tuesday night at Jumbo Webster park, after the Stamford crew had copped the opener of the Texas Softball league double bill, 3-2.

Cecil (Smoky) Hale shut out the visitors in the second encounter to gain credit for the mound win, but his Baldridge teammates found the offerings of Stamford's Roy Weakes just as hard to solve. But Telford reached first on an error in the third stanza, then raced home with the winning run.

In the opener Stamford nosed out the Bakermen, 3-2, behind the steady hurling of E. W. Mickler. Wayne Ward, newcomer from Dallas, was charged with defeat.

The double bill was the last regular Texas Softball loop game of the season scheduled in Lubbock, and enabled the Baldridge nine to retain a position in the loop Shaughnessy playoff.

White Sox, Exchange Club Win Victories In Kid Games

Coming from behind in the first of the seventh, the Pee Wee League White Sox, scored fifteen runs to down a hard fighting Tiger nine, 28 to 16, and in the Junior League tilt, the Exchange Club edged by the ABC's, 7 to 6.

Ronald Hall paced the Sox attack with two triples and two singles in seven times up and batted in 9 of the winner's tallies. The Sox were behind 16 to 13 when the seventh inning opened up and Hall then started the attack and supported by the heavy batting of his teammates, went on to win the game.

Bobby Craig smacked out a homer and a double in the upper half of the seventh frame to give the Exchange Club their slim victory. Bill Breedlove was the winning pitcher. Lyndle Bailey paced the losing ABC nine with a double in the seventh that drove in two runs to tie the game.

Wednesday afternoon the Dodgers will play the Yankees in the Pee Wee League game, while in the second affair, Methodist Men will tangle with the Rotary Club.

North-South Grid Game Set Friday

ABILENE, Aug. 3. (AP)—A sell-out crowd of 13,000 was forecast today for the annual All-Star football game of the West Texas coaching school.

The game, matching squads from the northern and southern districts of the Interscholastic league, will be played Friday night with Bobby Dodd of Georgia Tech coaching the north and Matty Bell of Southern Methodist the south.

Because the south squad has eight All-State players while the north boasts only two, and because the north is using the T formation, which is considered difficult to teach in only four days of training, Bell's team appears the favorite to win.

'T' May Be Exaggerated

The T formation problem, however, may be exaggerated. A check-up shows that all backs except one on the north squad have been playing under the T and that most of the linemen have also.

Anyway, the north was clicking much better today than in the first practice sessions yesterday.

A report on ticket sales showed 7,500 to already have been purchased—a heavy advance sale indeed.

A sell-out for the All-Star basketball game scheduled Thursday night also was indicated. But the gymnasium seats only 2,000. Coaching the north squad is Clair Bee of Long Island university. Tutoring the south is Jack Gray of Texas.

One injury has cropped up among the footballers. Bill Howton, Plainview end on the north squad, is favoring a foot hurt but is expected to be able to play.

A substitution was made today in the south basketball squad. W. J. Harrell of Maydell joined the navy and won't be able to come here. Leonard Childs of Jeff Davis (Houston) was selected in his stead and arrived at a workout this afternoon.

The coaching school has gone over the 1,000 mark in registrations—the all-time high. There are lectures daily on football, basketball, track, baseball and prevention and treatment of injuries.

BEE SAYS TEXAS SCHOOLBOY BASKETBALL HAS IMPROVED

ABILENE, Aug. 3. (AP)—Texas schoolboy basketball has improved greatly in the past decade and can be matched against the best in the nation, Clair Bee, famed coach of Long Island university, said today.

Bee, here as an instructor in the Texas coaching school, could comment with the authority of observation on the progress of the high school cage sport in the state because he has been in Texas on three occasions since 1938, each time to teach boys how to play basketball.

The initial trip was in 1938 at Denton when the first state basketball clinic was held. Last year he was at Fort Worth for the Texas Christian university school.

"I would say the boys have improved in ability by 50 per cent since 1938," Bee declared. "And I will also say that the Texas boys have more height and speed—the main ingredients of basketball—than any other part of the country That, I might add, includes Indiana."

Indiana is known as the hotbed of basketball in the nation.

The only weakness Bee said he observed was in passing. Texas boys play the game running too much instead of mixing in ball handling.

Three Lone Star Loop Managers Fined And Given Suspensions

KILGORE, Aug. 3 (AP)—Fred Nicholson, president of the Class C Lone Star League, today said he had fined three club managers $50 each and suspended them indefinitely.

The three fined and suspended were Art Nelson of Gladewater, Hack Miller of Tyler and Jess Landrum of Bryan.

Nicholson said the fines and suspensions resulted from action in last night's games.

He said Landrum was called out on strikes in a game with Longview and that the Bryan manager mistreated and cursed the umpire in protesting the decision.

The league president said Nelson abused the umpire. Umpire Henderson forfeited the game to Kilgore in the ninth inning while Kilgore was ahead, 17-2.

Miller was ordered from the field in the 10th innnig of a game Tyler won from Henderson. Nicholson said the Tyler manager refused to leave the field and used profane language in talking to the umpire.

COLLINS IS DISCHARGED

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Aug. 3 (INS)—James (Rip) Collins today was discharged as manager of the San Diego Padres of the Pacific Coast League "for the best interests of all concerned." # Tourney Prizes Are Announced

Legion Play To Start Thursday

Prizes for the American Legion regional tournament, which will begin play here tomorrow afternoon at 12:30, are being lined up by tournament officials and several interesting awards will be made.

Among the prizes already secured is a $15 gift certificate from Hemphill-Wells for the family with largest number of boys; a $10 bed spread from Glassman's store for the fattest man; a set of dishes from State Furniture company for the longest married couple; a table lamp from Gross Furniture store for the shortest married couple; and a gallon of ice cream for each girl in the family with the largest number of daughters from Bell Ice Cream company.

Interesting Prizes Offered

Other prizes to be given are being decided upon now, with the shortest man, the tallest man, the largest family and the family traveling the longest distance for the games also to be rewarded.

For the American Legion players themselves, two contests have been arranged, with prizes to the winners in each. There will be a fungo hitting contest and a base running contest, with each team putting up four runners. They will circle the bases in relay against time, the fastest time winning.

When these contests will take place is not known and will not be announced by the committee in charge. The tournament will open Thursday with four games, with the first of two afternoon contests starting at 12:30 p. m. and the first of two night games starting at 7:30 p. m.

Runs Through Friday

The tourney will continue Friday, with the single game starting at 7:30. And the championship battle will begin at 7:30 p. m. Saturday.

Teams from Wichita Falls, El Paso, Lamesa and Lubbock are entered. The state winner will go to the national tournament.

Free tickets for children may be obtained from the Lubbock Boys club or Dunlaps. These tickets otherwise will sell for nine cents each. A single day's admission for adults will cost only fifty cents, while a ticket good for all three days and nights is selling for only $1.50.

Joe Holmes, tournament chairman, said yesterday that tickets were selling rapidly and that the Legion expected good crowds for all games. A good turnout for this tournament probably will assure Lubbock of the state American Legion tournament next year, as well as the National Baseball Office tournament.

AL BEATS PANHANDLE

Mel Patton Wins 200-Meter Event

OLYMPIC STADIUM, WEMBLEY, England, Aug. 3 (AP)—Mel Patton's flying feet and the powerful right arm of Wilbur Thompson brought the United States two more brilliant victories and one Olympic record today. Another near-capacity crowd saw Uncle Sam's athletes continue to dominate the track and field events of the 1948 games.

Patton, 23-year-old student at the University of Southern California, flashed to a thrilling victory over teammate, Barney Ewell of Lancaster, Pa., by less than a yard in the final of the 200 meters, atoning for a humiliating loss in the 100 meters last week. His time was 21.1, and it was so close the timers caught Ewell in the same clocking.

U. S. Wins Seventh Title

Thomoson, also a student at U. S. C., propelled the shot to an Olympic record of 56 feet, 2 inches, nosing out two other Americans in that event and giving his country its seventh championship in track and field.

Completing an American sweep of the first three places, Jim Delaney, of San Francisco, loosed a throw of 54 feet 8¼ inches and Jim Fuchs, 20-year-old Yale halfback did 53 feet 10½ inches.

All three American huskies shattered the Olympic record of 53 feet, 1¾ inches established by Germany's Hans Woellke at Berlin in the 1936 games.

Patton fully lived up to the hopes of his college mentor, coach Dean Cromwell of the U. S track and field forces, in smashing through to win the 200 and complete his country's sweep of the sprints. He more than made up for his dismal fifth place in the 100 last Saturday.

Close Track Final

The big Californian got a fine start, matched only by that of Ewell, the 30-year-old veteran As the field of six finalists hit the head of the stretch, 100 meters from the tape, the two Americans were dead level, and it was plain that the victory lay between them.

Down the straightaway Patton slowly but surely gained on the stoop-shouldered little negro. Inch by inch he thundered ahead, until, 20 meters from the finish, there no longer was any doubt he would win. Ewell, who had run second to Harrison Dillard in the 100, again had to be content with the runner-up spot.

Lloyd Labeach, the Panamania, was a close third, and Herb McKenley of Jamaica, fourth. Both have done much of their sprinting as students in American colleges. Veteran Cliff Bourland of Los Angeles took fifth and Leonard Laing of Jamaica sixth. Labeach was caught at 21.2.

Owens' Record Stands

None of the six came close to the Olympic record of 20.7 set by Jesse Owens as he completed his triple win at Berlin in 1936, but they looked like they were flying. The track, sodden by yesterday's long rain, could not have been fast.

Over in the swimming pool, the U. S. men's 800 meter relay team cracked the world record and and three California girls gave United States a sweep of the women's springboard diving championships, duplicating the feat of the American men last week.

The relay quartet of Wally Ris, Wallace Wolf, Jimmy McLane and Bill Smith won the 800 meter final in 8:46, snapping the previous world Olympic record of 8:51.5 made by Japan at Berlin in 1936.

Yanks Pace Rifle Shoot

Vicki Draves won the springboard title, scoring a surprise victory over Zoe Ann Olsen, American champion and favorite. Mrs. Draves will be the favorite in the tower dive. Miss Olsen was a close second and Patricia Ann Elsener was third.

Americans also dominated the field in the 50 meter small bore rifle championship. Arthur E. Cook of the University of Maryland and Walter Tomsen of Flushing, N. Y., each shot 599 out of a possible 600. Cook had more shots in the center of the bullseye and took the title.

The U. S. basketball team added to the day's successes, but not until after it had been handed a stiff fright. Overwhelming favorites to win the title, the Americans barely squeaked past a surprising Argentine team, 59-57, after trailing at halftime, 33-26.

YANKS IN SEMI-FINALS

LONDON, Aug. 3 (INS)—Silvio Giolito of Woodside, Long Island, N. Y., and Dean Cetrulo of Hollywood fought their way into the semi-finals of the Olympic individual foil championships today. The final round will be held tomorrow. Both Americans gave a brilliant display of swordsmanship. Cetrulo defeated Rossi of Uruguay, Ruben of Denmark, Tewfik of Egypt and Baloc of Hungary. Giolito trimmed Galimi of Argentina, Ericksson of Sweden, Lievsersdorf of Luxembourg and Horning of Switzerland.

District 2 softball tournament of the Texas Amateur Athletic federation will be held Aug. 16-21 at Jumbo Webster park, tourney director Curtis Barrett has announced, with teams from a 23-county area competing for the first place trophy and a trip to the state meet at San Antonio Aug. 26-28.

The district tourney will be conducted on a single elimination bracket, Barrett emphasized, and strict regulations on team rosters will be in effect. No player may compete on more than one team during the tournament here, and no team may have more than 19 players on its roster. No roster can be altered after a team opens its first game.

A entry fee of 20 dollars will be required from each team, Barrett said, and Friday, Aug. 13, will be the deadline for entering the meet.

Two games will be played each night of the tournament, with the first game beginning at 8:30. In case rain causes postponement of any game, the tourney tilts will still be unreeled in the original order.

Teams from any of the following counties will be eligible to compete in the District 2 meet: Scurry, Borden, Yoakum, Terry, Lynn, Garza, Kent, Stonewall, King, Dickens, Crosby, Hockley, Cochran, Bailey, Lamb, Hale, Floyd, Motley, Cottle, Gaines, Dawson, Andrews and Lubbock.

Greenies Down Bryan, 10 To 8 In American Legion Tussle

BEAUMONT, Aug. 3 (AP) — The South Park Greenies gained another notch toward the state playoffs in the American Legion race today as they defeated the Bryan Juniors 10-8 in the first game of a three game set.

The Parkers won the tilt in the last of the eighth with a three-run rally after Bryan had tied the score at 7-7 with a three-run splurge of their own in the top of the same inning. The visitors were given a free tally in the last inning as Oliver Graham walked four men, but he cut short the threat by forcing Red Cashion, catcher, to ground out to end the game.

The second game will be played in Bryan at 8 p. m. Thursday.

RIS BREAKS OLYMPIC RECORD—Wally Ris, of Chicago and the University of Iowa won the 100-meter freestyle swimming event of the Olympic games with a new Olympic record of 57.3. Ris is shown above being aided from the Wembley, England, pool by his teammate, Keith Carter, of Purdue university, after Ris had tied the old record of 57.5 in the semi-finals.

Reid came to Denver in May as business manager of athletics at the University. He previously served as coach or director at Achison, Kan., High school, Kansas university, and at Missouri state teachers colleges at Warrensburg and Marysville.

The chancellor, in his announcement today, also set forth the duties and responsibilities of each member of the school's expanded athletic staff.

John Baker, head football coach, will be in full charge of the grid-iron team and will devote "a considerable part of his off-season time" to public relations as related to football.

NEGRO TOURNEY OPENS

TEMPLE, Aug. 3 (AP)—The state negro semi-pro baseball tournament opens here tomorrow night at Crestview park.

Gray And Getz In Mat Bout Tonight

One of the outstanding light-heavyweight grapplers in the Southwest, Karl Gray, will return to Sled Allen's arena tonight to tangle with Al Getz, the durable Dutchman from Pittsburgh, in the two of three falls main event.

Gray has just completed a tour in the South and East, where he compiled a brilliant win record over top opponents, and he will attempt to notch an impressive victory in his first return bout in the local arena.

George Curtis, Vicksburg, Miss., speedster, will clash with Gil Knutson of Iowa in the two of three falls semi-final setto. Curtis, a clean-cut grappler, is a favorite of Lubbock mat fans and will be favored to best the burly Knutson in the 45-minute time limit encounter.

A crowd-pleasing preliminary match is carded tonight, with rowdy Pat O'Dowdy of Big Spring meeting Billy Hickson of Knoxville, Tenn. O'Dowdy and Hickson have met in the local arena four times, with three of the clashes ending in draws. Hickson won the fourth tussle when O'Dowdy was disqualified.

Tickets will go on sale at 9 o'clock this morning at Wylie's drug. Matches start at 8:30 p. m.

Babe Zaharias Shoots Four-Under Par 72 In All-American Tourney

CHICAGO, Aug. 3 (INS)—Mildred Didrikson Zaharias scorched the links for a four-under-par 72 today to tie the women's course record and take first-round command of the $4,500 All-American women's golf championship tournament at Tam O'Shanter.

The Babe had a four stroke-lead over three competitors, defending champion Grace Lenczyk of Newington, Conn., Patty Berg of Minneapolis, and Mrs. Eddie Bush of Detroit. A stroke back of that threesome was Carol Diringer of Tiffin, O., with a 77.

Sports Study

By Earl Scudday

There are always plenty of humorous angles to the coaching schools and all-star football games held in the state each year, but Tuesday's report from Abilene that the South eleven will be favored in the classic should take some kind of special prize. Reasons for the South being made the favorite in the annual tilt, according to the experts on the scene, are that most of the all-state performers are on the Rebel squad and that the North will be using the hard-to-do-right "T" formation.

• • •

There is a possibility, even a probability, that the "experts" are sincere in their beliefs. But there is no doubt that they are overlooking some very important factors. In the first place, the mere fact that eight all-state players are on the South squad is not a remarkable event. It is true that the all-state selections are fine performers but, as every sports fan knows, there are plenty of boys just as good who did not have a chance for recognition because they played with inferior teams. There is also the undisputable fact that the persons who make the all-state selections feel "honor bound" to put at least two or three members of the state championship eleven on the mythical team, regardless of how they compare with gridders that played with an "also ran."

Last fall a South team—Brackenridge—won the state championship in Conference AA. So several of the Brackenridge gridders received all-state honors. But it is safe to say that not more than one of the youngsters would have made the selections if the Brackenridge team had not won the championship. And when the going gets rough in the North-South classic Friday night at Abilene, someone will find out that many of the youngsters who did not get on an all-state team are playing better ball than the heralded "stars."

• • •

As to the other argument, that the North will be handicapped by using the tricky T-formation, that position cannot be supported by the facts. Many of the North squad members played on "T" teams during their schoolboy careers, and should be able to pick up the variations in Bobby Dodd's type of play readily. Most of the North's "name" stars are familiar with the "T", including Odessa's Byron (Santone) Townsend and Gordon Headlee, Bill Bumgarner of North Side of Fort Worth, and Levelland's Bobby Hart. Even the few who did not play on a "T" team played against it so often that they picked up lots of valuable information. Lubbock's Dick Schmidt played against some of the best T-formation offenses in the state, so he already knows the general pattern of play. And that applies to Bill Howton of Plainview, Carl Mayes of Pampa and Howard Hurt of Borger—all North squadmen.

• • •

Regardless of formations or coaching, it seems certain that the North has too much speed and power for the South eleven. Our prediction on the final score is: North 20, South 13.

Guldahl Leading In Tam O'Shanter

CHICAGO, Aug. 3 (AP) — Big Ralph Guldahl dropped a $1,000 five foot birdie putt on the last hole for a course record 64, eight under par, to jump into the first round lead of the $50,000 Tam O'Shanter golf tourney today.

The former National Open champion banged a five-under-par 31 on the front nine with an eagle 3 on the 485-yard second hole and was back in 3 under, 33. A $1,000 cash reward awaited the player to break the course record of 65 and Guldahl calmly rammed in his five-footer on the 18th carpet for a birdie 3 and a 64. Promoter George S. May then handed him a certified check. The record 65 had been matched previously by Len Dodson, Johnny Revolta, Johnny Bulla, Byron Nelson, Bobby Locke and also Guldahl in past tournaments.

Trailing Guldahl in today's opening round, of the 72-hole all-American pro meet, which pays $5,000 to the winner, were Dick Metz of Arkansas City, Kas., with a pair of 33's for 66, Chandler Harper of Portsmouth, Va., 32-35—67; and Herman Barron of White Plains, N. Y., the 1946 Tam champion, with two 34's for 68.

Favorites Tumble In Junior Tourney

KALAMAZOO, Mich., Aug. 3 (AP)—It was no day for favorites in the National Junior and boys tennis championships at Kalamazoo college today.

Three seeded stars, including two Californians conceded a good chance of winning, tumbled from the junior singles division in stunning upsets and one of the eight seeded players fell in the boys' division as the field in each class was reduced to 16 survivors.

Steve Potts, sandy-haired, methodical Memphis star, threw the biggest surprise into the day's play by taking out sixth-seeded Jerry DeWitts, Vallejo, Calif., tow-head, 6-1, 6-8, 8-6 in a third round junior match.

John Fraser, St. Augustine, Fla., defeated Charles Platt, El Paso, Texas, 6-0, 6-1.

Boys (second round)

Earl Schulze, Chicago, defeated John Green, El Paso, Texas, 7-5, 6-1.

Juniors (third round)

Ray DeBerry, Jr., San Angelo, Texas, defeated Jack Yates, Chevy Chase, Md., 6-2, 6-1.

Julian Oates, Waco, Texas, defeated Edwin Wesely, Chevy Chase, Md., 6-4, 5-7, 6-3.

GOP Plans Own Anti-Inflation Bill

ment to increase the reserves banks are required to set aside to assure payment of their depositors would apply only to members of the Federal Reserve system.

The President, too, asked that the increases apply only to member banks but federal reserve officials have said the increase should apply to non-member banks as well.

Passage Seen

Wolcott told newsmen his banking committee should agree on a bill tomorrow and place it before the House Thursday. He predicted the House would pass it and send it to the Senate the same day. Taft said it would be referred immediately to the Senate Banking committee.

Taft indicated the Senate might get around to taking up the bill Friday. If Tobey's group has it ready. He said that if everything works smoothly, Congress could adjourn this weekend but that he would have "no objections" to running a day or two next week.

Details of the White House tax plan came out almost simultaneously with a sharp attack by Marriner S. Eccles, former chairman of the Federal Reserve board, on Mr. Truman's overall anti-inflation program. Eccles offered a seven-point plan of his own emphasizing a balanced budget.

"Quit Politics," Eccles Asks

Eccles, still a member of the reserve board despite his demotion, told a House Banking committee that Democrats and Republicans should quit playing politics and consider only and honestly "the economic facts of life."

Among inflation curbs with the best apparent chance of passage was a return of the controls on installment buying. Chairman Wolcott (R-Mich.) of the House Banking committee said installment curbs probably will pass.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio), chairman of the Republican policy committee, said his group had checked to the Senate and House Banking committees the decision on what anti-inflation and housing measure to bring up in the extra session.

Filibuster Continues

Taft called a policy committee meeting for tomorrow to decide what to do about civil rights legislation.

The southern filibuster against the anti-poll tax measure continued into its third day and Taft said in his opinion "it is absolutely impossible" to break it up.

The measure would wipe out poll taxes as a requirement for voting in federal elections, and southerners claim it is a violation of state rights. They are trying to talk the bill to death.

Senator Wherry (R-Neb.), acting majority leader, expressed hope the poll tax issue can be cleared up tomorrow, leaving the Senate free to act on inflation and housing.

Time Payment Curbs Hinted

House Majority Leader Halleck (R-Ind.) said one bill in that chamber might be the curb on time payments. Restrictions on installment buying would mean boosting the amount of money paid down on time purchases, and requiring payment of the balance in shorter specified periods.

Wartime controls, which expired last November, required a one-third down payment on such things as automobiles, refrigerators, and stoves, with the balance paid out in not more than 15 months.

GOP leaders also were said to be studying a House-approved bill designed to increase the building of rental properties.

They also were reported to have agreed on a move to tighten bank credits, including an increase in bank reserve requirements. They believe this would help halt spiraling prices.

Smaller Firms Exempt

The President's anti-inflation measure, the multi-billion dollar excess profits tax, is not as tough as the wartime measure.

For one thing, it would hit only about 25,000 of this nation's 360,000 corporations now filing tax returns.

Smaller corporations are exempt, and those formed since 1940 are specially favored.

The tax would work like this: Before a corporation would be taxed, it could add 40 per cent to its average profits for the 1935-39 period, plus $50,000. The tax on profits exceeding 140 per cent of the base period would begin at 50 per cent, and run up to a maximum of 80 per cent on earnings in excess of 175 per cent of the 1935-39 period.

Corporations formed since 1940 would receive another $50,000 exemption.

Eccles Pessimistic

Dingell said the bill would remove $4,300,000,000 from buying power of large corporations; help restore a surplus of government receipts over expenditures; discourage price raises; and encourage wage stabilization.

Eccles was not optimistic. The former reserve board head, removed by Mr. Truman, warned that a "catastrophic" deflation might result if the question of inflation controls is not divorced from politics.

"There isn't much use talking about controlling inflation," he said, "unless fiscal policy calls for a budget surplus."

Program Offered

With all this spending going on, he said, it will be impossible to have a sizeable budgetary surplus "unless sufficient revenue through taxation is made available to meet the appropriations by Congress."

He offered this program:

1. A balanced budget and a budget surplus.
2. Restore consumer credit controls, including those on installm[illegible]
3. Restrict bank credit.
4. Encourage the states to cut down spending, and let the federal government "set an example."
5. Don't let "political reasons" lead the government into backing a housing program in excess of materials and labor available.
6. Bring down food prices "by encouraging more and not less production."
7. "Adjourn political considerations . . . and both parties . . . consider honestly and openly the economic facts of life."

Senator Taft said the Republican Congress will be asked tomorrow to decide whether to back a proposal for submission of the poll tax question to the states as a constitutional amendment.

Southerners, filibustering against an anti-poll tax measure, said they would not talk that plan to death. However, the plan for such an amendment would require a two-thirds approval of both houses.

Meat Boycott

Said Shanks:

"Some people don't think of cutting down on other things, such as shows, drinking and high-priced automobiles.

"Meat prices are high, what isn't?"

The meat industry offered a bit of advice concerning the boycott:

It won't work unless the proposed boycott is on a national basis. But it's hurting a little already.

Meat market operators at Orange did a quick reverse Tuesday. They had announced they would close up in sympathy with the boycott planned for Aug. 9-16. Today they changed their minds.

In Dallas, meat market operators and processors said their business volume already is down. They also said it was unfair to blame the retailer. One anonymous dealer said:

"The consumer, the producer, the retailer and the processor must all assume the burden of high meat costs. National income is high as are personal resources and more people than ever are determined to eat all the meat they want to eat and are willing to pay for it."

One meat packing industry spokesman in Dallas said of the widely-heralded strike campaign: "The only way such a plan might be successful would be to have it spread out all over the nation."

A similar tack was taken by L. A. King, manager of two Orange chain stores who Tuesday retracted his statement that he will close his meat markets "if the ladies mean business."

Gains More Backing

After consulting his home office, King said he will stay open. He added that his organization remains "completely sympathetic with housewives' efforts to achieve lower prices on meats" but that "a boycott of meat markets on a national scale would be much more effective, since these prices are determined in large national markets."

Though still far from nationwide, the housewife rebellion picked up more support Tuesday. Housewives at Paris joined those in Dallas, Corpus Christi, Austin, and Waco in telephoning their neighbors, asking a meat boycott for next week.

In Dallas, gray-haired Mrs. R. D. Vaughn, 71, said about 250 women are busy telephoning families asking them to join in the meat "strike." The president of the Dallas Women's Chamber of Commerce started the idea by planning a page-by-page telephone campaign.

Stores Await Next Move

At Orange, King also declared that "local boycotts are apt to cause hardships and loss to local market owners."

An independent grocer at Orange, asking anonymity, first released for publication and then retracted an announcement that he would offer a blanket ten per cent reduction in meat prices next week.

He said he decided against the idea when it occurred to him housewives might take the offer as "admission of guilt on the part of retailers that they are partially responsible for present high prices."

Some Orange grocers who had announced they will shut their meat counters were standing pat, while still others were adopting a "wait and see" attitude.

Mrs. L. A. Rex, young Navy wife leading the Orange campaign, said Mrs. Melvin Guidry and Mrs. Clarence Wilson of Port Arthur and Mrs. Marie Rollins of Beaumont had called her, asking for information on how to conduct similar drives in their cities.

"I just told them to call up newspapers and give them their names and telephone numbers," said Mrs. Rex, wife of a Navy civil service worker. "Women will begin calling you. They're just waiting for someone to take the lead."

ployment records of William W. Remington, official in the Office of International Trade whom Miss Bentley has named as a source of information for the Communist spies. Remington says he thought she was a newspaper reporter and that he gave her no secrets.

But Ferguson said the committee hasn't been able to get a direct answer to his request. It wants to know how Remington could be transferred from one important confidential government job to another while, Ferguson said, the FBI was running a check on him.

"We will proceed under this handicap," Ferguson said, and the 30-year-old Remington resumed his denial of wrongdoing.

Remington told the senators today he believed Miss Bentley's story of a wartime spy ring is true, but that he was not a part of it.

Remington said in response to questions that he knew many details of the "Manhattan project," in 1944 but that he didn't know it was developing the atom bomb. He testified that he never talked about this project to Miss Bentley, who has described herself as a wartime courier who picked up American secrets for the Communists.

Youths Escape Brownfield Jail

BROWNFIELD, August 3 (Special)—Two juveniles, one convicted of car theft charges and the other being held on the same charge, who escaped from Terry county jail here sometime Monday night, still had not been apprehended late tonight, according to a report by Deputy Sheriff Bual Powell.

The youths, Johnny Wright, 16, and Dale Webb, 13, pried their way to freedom by digging a hole in their cell wall with a hook torn off a jail bunk, and a commode lid. Once freed from the juvenile jail cell, the youths found themselves in the liquor storage room of the jail, the door of which could be opened from the inside, and free of that, made an unsuccessful attempt to pick the lock of a cell containing four other men.

Missed At Breakfast

Powell said the youths escaped sometime between 8 o'clock Monday night and 8 a. m. Tuesday. He said they were first missed when he took breakfast to the prisoners this morning "about 8 o'clock."

The youths, who were charged with having stolen a 1942 Ford coach from J. T. Woodall, a Brownfield oil field worker, were apprehended in Clovis, N. M., Powell said. Webb was tried and given an indefinite sentence in the Gatesville reform school.

Brownfield officials had delayed prosecution on Wright as a suspected Army deserter, and received confirmation from Scott Field, Ill., that he was absent without leave from that base. Army officials reportedly told Brownfield officials to go ahead and prosecute the case, and advise them of final disposition.

Powell said that at the time of escape both boys were wearing khaki clothing and had fresh haircuts. He described Wright as about 5 feet 5 inches, weighing 140 pounds, and having brown hair. Webb, he said was about 5 feet tall, weighed 120 pounds, and had brown hair.

Negro Faces Charge

negroes went to a dance and, later, to another. At the second place, he said, May approached and demanded that he see a purse carried by Johnnie Lee Hodge, whom Jones referred to as "my brother, because we grew up together."

The victim identified the purse as not the one sought, then exclaimed that he saw it in possession of someone he did not identify.

Says He Pulled Pistol

Jones said May was drinking and quarrelsome and "I could see he was hot, so I tried to quieten him down." He said he tried to talk with May, but May pulled a pistol.

"I didn't know anything had happened till I heard 'Skeeter' (Jones' name for May) say, 'Boy I is shot!' I followed him over to a table where he laid down, and I didn't know till then that I had a gun in my hand," he related.

E. G. Pharr, assistant district attorney questioned several witnesses.

One witness said that when May pulled his gun the witness caught his arm and pulled it back. When May was in that position Jones shot, the witness said.

Other Cases Set

Tom Garrett, Jr., charged with slaying Alvis Graves June 9;

Hildred Milton Duty, charged with slaying James W. Hickman July 19;

Richard W. McGee, charged with slaying R. L. Allston July 7;

Sandra Bitela, charged with slaying Ignacio Lopez Nov. 9;

Nettie Bowles, charged with slaying Roy L. Bowles, July 28, and

Henry White, a negro, charged with slaying Joe Perkins, another negro, July 17 in Slaton.

In addition, two murder indictments are set for specific trial call in September. They charge Brewster Dillard with the slaying of Garlon Douglas Weaver, and Milus Elton, a negro, with the slaying of another negro.

Mississippi Demo Convention Continues To Back States' Rights Despite Opposition

JACKSON, Miss., Aug. 3 (INS)—Gov. J. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina and Gov. Fielding L. Wright of Mississippi were unanimously nominated candidates of the Mississippi Democratic party in Jackson tonight by delegates to the state convention.

Following resolutions adopted to this effect, the presidential electors who were nominated by the convention mounted the speaker's rostrum to condemn President Truman and his Civil Rights proposals and to pledge their individual votes for the Thurmond-Wright ticket in November.

Prior to adoption of the resolutions a debate flared in the convention when six students who claimed they represented opposition to the states' rights movement appeared in the convention hall and took seats reserved "for those opposed to the State's Rights Democratic party principles."

The five students were booed lustily by another section of college students—approximately 150—who said they had been elected delegates from the University of Mississippi, Mississippi State college, Mississippi college at Clinton and Millsaps College at Jackson.

Gov. Wright made a personal plea that the self-styled opposition be heard.

George Maddox, spokesman for the opposition students, then declared that his group is "opposed to the approach which is now being made to national and worldwide problems under the guise of states' rights."

Stewart Broom, a University of Mississippi law student, classified the opposition group as "a few malcontents, ne'er-do-wells and publicity seekers who are lapping at the fringes of freedom of speech under the guise of a Red carpet."

Following the debate the delegates passed resolutions endorsing previous actions of the Mississippi delegation—walking out of the national Democratic convention at Philadelphia and participating in the southwide conference held later in Birmingham.

Incumbents, headed by Gov. Frank Carlson, were taking comfortable leads in Kansas' other Republican races.

Complete unofficial returns from 243 of 2,772 precincts gave Carlson 15,195, Lambertson 1,881 and McClain 1,841.

The unofficial count from 197 precincts: Carpenter 2,398 and Stewart 1,605.

George McGill, former U. S. senator from Wichita, was widening his lead over E. K. Dean, St. Marys farm leader. The count in 192 precincts: McGill 2,983 and Dean 1,322.

In the race for Republican senatorial nomination to succeed the veteran Arthur Capper, who is retiring, former Governor Andrew Schoeppel was making a runaway of his race against Harold H. Malone, Wichita lawyer. The count is 234 precincts: Schoeppel 13,902; Malone 3,611.

Capper, dean of Senate Republicans, stepped aside at the age of 83. His party chose between former Gov. Andrew F. Schoeppel and Harold Malone, Wichita attorney, for the nomination. Democratic candidates were former Senator George McGill and E. K. Dean, past president of the Kansas Farmers union.

In Missouri, President Truman was up as the roosters crowed to fulfill his obligations as a voter after traveling from Washington to Independence to do so. He flew back at once because of the congressional session.

Missourians were most interested in the race for governor after heated campaigning. The Republican contest featured a race between Murray E. Thompson, speaker of the Missouri house of representatives, and Manvel H. (Cap) Davis, Kansas City attorney.

Democrats witnessed a contest among Forrest Smith, state auditor, Dan M. Nee, former internal revenue collector for western Missouri, and Roy McKittrick, onetime Missouri attorney general. Nee was supported by James M. Pendergast of the Pendergast political organization.

In the seventh Missouri congressional district, Rep. Dewey Short was in a contest with youthful Quentin Haden, former state legislator. Short stood to head the House Armed Services committee in the next session if he is reelected and the Republicans retain control of Congress.

Virginia Democrats had a choice between Senator A. Willis Robertson and James P. Hart, who conducted a spirited race for the Senate nomination. He attacked what he called "machine rule" in the state. Robertson did little campaigning.

The presidential campaign flared on the senate floor during the southern filibuster against the anti-poll tax bill. It found both Senator Bridges (R-NH) and Eastland (D-Miss) calling for a change of administration.

Bridges voiced the prediction that Thomas E. Dewey of New York would be the next White House occupant. Eastland said it would be Governor Thurmond of North Carolina, candidate of the states rights Democrats. The Mississippian said that "for all practical purposes" New York is "a communist controlled state."

Bridges said that as far as he knows there are no Communists in Dewey's state administration, but he acknowledged there are "too many Communists in New York."

Property Owners Block Road Work To Save 137 Trees

OSKALOOSA, Ia., Aug. 3 (INS)—The Iowa State Highway commission tonight announced it will fight the temporary injunction granted Oskaloosa property owners in their efforts to halt destruction of 137 trees in a street-widening project.

The injunction was granted today after housewives, 70 strong, battled construction workers who undertook the mass uprooting project. Foreman A. N. Wilson was free on $100 bond tonight after being arraigned on assault and battery charges preferred by one of the women pickets.

Project To Be Pushed

She said she was pushed aside by Wilson as he attempted to remove one of the seven trees dug up today before the injunction was issued.

Highway commission attorney Folsom Everest said the commission was determined to go through with the project, since it would be liable for damages to the construction company if work was halted.

Petition for the injunction claimed that permission for the project was gained from the city council without due process of law, that property owners were not being compensated for their loss, and that the city planning commission had not approved the work.

Housewives Block Work

Plans call for making the mile and one-quarter long street conform to federal specifications of 44 feet in width. The street is the route of U. S. highway 63 and two state roads.

The protesting housewives yesterday succeeded in preventing movement of heavy equipment, including bulldozers and a derrick, to the scene.

Property owners said the first they heard of the proposal was a report of the council meeting.

Hearing on a petition to make the injunction permanent will be held Aug. 17.

PHILPOT RESIGNS JOB

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 3 (INS) — Hurst Philpot today resigned as trainer for the famed C. S. Howard stables. He said he had been offered another racing position.

Various Events Are Scheduled At Parks

The City Recreation department has announced plans for various events which are to be held this week at the park playgrounds, including pet shows and a "wheels on parade" review.

All events will be supervised by the recreation department, and the playground directors will be assisted by Junior Welfare League volunteers, who will help with registration and serve as judges.

Pet shows will be held Thursday afternoon at 5 o'clock at both Booker T. Washington and Pioneer parks. The show at Pioneer was previously scheduled and postponed because of bad weather.

Ribbon awards will be given to participants for pets with longest and shortest tails, longest and shortest ears, most unusual pets, largest and smallest pets, prettiest pets, pets with most spots, and best dressed pets.

All children living in the two park vicinities are invited to participate in the shows.

Carlisle park will stage its "wheels on parade" contest Friday evening at 7 o'clock, with divisions for the best decorated bicycle, tricycle, wagon, and miscellaneous, or anything else on wheels. First place winners in each division will then compete for the grand prize.

BELGRADE, Aug. 3—The United States, Britain and France served notice on Russia today that they will not recognize the Soviet-proposed Danubian agreement which the current Danubian conference is bound to adopt.

British ambassador Sir Charles Peake declared that the Soviet-proposed agreement could not be considered internatonal law unless the signatories of the 1921 Danube convention, including Britain and France, abrogate the old agreement.

Russia Cracks Whip

The conference developed into a virtual diplomatic circus today with Russian deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky acting as ring master over the satellite delegations, including Yugoslavia.

The "red tiger" of Soviet diplomacy cracked the whip to line up the puppet delegations behind the new convention which would exclude western powers from equal navigation rights and maintain Russia's monopolistic control of the river.

The western powers, outnumbered by the seven votes of the Russian bloc, sought to show that Soviet domination of Danubian shipping will affect the riparian states adversely.

But the Danubian countries are expected to go along with Russia in approving the Soviet-proposed agreement, despite the consequences.

Today's session was marked by a diplomatic duel between Vishinsky and Peake, during which Russia and Britain were accused of treating the Danubian states "like a cook treats potatoes in the kitchen."

Vishinsky was the first to hurl the charge in an attack on Britain's pre-war policy toward the Danubian states.

"I have been at this conference three days now and I would ask the conference who at this table is the cook."

Vishinsky answered Sir Charles' taunt regarding the moral issue involved in Russia's refusal to recognize the 1921 agreement by saying:

"When there are imperialistic issues at stake there is no question of morals."

Sir Charles objected to Vishinsky's "prosecuting attorney" tactics, and with obvious reference to his role at the Soviet purge trials, retorted:

Full Probe Planned In Housing Setup

DALLAS, Aug. 3 (AP)—A full-scale investigation of housing complaints in the Dallas area is scheduled to start by Aug. 15, Perry N. Moore, regional director of the housing expeditor's compliance division, said today.

Moore said that more than 100 complaints, mostly from veterans, had been received by his office, charging faulty construction and overceiling prices.

The office's jurisdiction covers Texas, Colorado, New Mexico, Kansas, Oklahoma, Missouri, Arkansas and Louisiana, concerning housing built under government priorities in 1946 and early 1947.

A few investigations already are underway but a shortage of trained investigators has severely hampered the work, Moore said. His office has a staff of 25 civil-service-appointed investigators. He said three investigators are at work in Dallas and six others in other sections of the eight-state area.

Eighth Air Force Receives Another Huge B-36 Bomber

FORT WORTH, Aug. 3 (AP)—The fleet of B-36 Superbombers the 8th Air Force hopes to have ready for its 7th very heavy bombardment wing by the end of August increased to seven today as another of the massive planes took its place on the ramp at Carswell air force base.

Thus far the 7th wing's 492nd squadron has received three and the 9th and 436th squadron, two each. The 7th is expected to continue to receive deliveries from the Convair plant across the field until the full wing quota of 18 has been reached.

Cotton Exchange Pays Record Price For First Dallas Bale

DALLAS, Aug. 3 (AP)—Dallas county's first bale of cotton sold today for $853.20, the highest price ever paid on the floor of the Dallas cotton exchange.

When asked what he would do with the money, sandy-haired, blue-eyed Speer Waldrum, 13-year-old Seagoville boy who grew the cotton, quickly replied, "I'm going to put it in the bank."

A. Edgar Kucera, president of the Dallas cotton exchange and vice president of R. L. Dixon and Bros., Inc., bought the 570-pound bale for 51 cents per pound. With the addition of premium money offered by members of the exchange the final price of Speer's bale was $1.50 per pound.

Big Spring Rodeo Boosters Parade And Entertain Here

The fifteenth annual Big Spring rodeo, which opens there tonight and continues through Saturday night, got a boost here yesterday when approximately 50 persons, the majority of them members of the Big Spring American Business club, spent 30 minutes in Lubbock from 11 to 11:30 a. m., parading and entertaining in interests of the rodeo.

Headed by Charles Staggs, ABC president, Pete Green, trip chairman, and Sheriff Bob Wolf of Howard county, the visitors staged a parade through downtown Lubbock and presented a brief program in the street in front of the Hilton hotel on Main.

Hoyle Nix and his band furnished music and a square dance team performed. Jimmie Pugh, rodeo clown, introduced as the "mayor of Big Spring," made a humorous talk to the crowd.

The good will visitors stopped at Lamesa, O'Donnell and Tahoka en route to Lubbock and visited Levelland, Brownfield, Seagraves, Seminole, Andrews and Odessa during the afternoon.

Communists Ban Photos Of Crowd Attending Convention

NEW YORK, Aug. 3 (AP)—The Communists banned news photographs last night of the crowd attending their national convention at Madison Square garden.

Cary Grant Sought For Top Role In Paris Movie; Actress' Loss In Theft Is Heavy

By DOROTHY MANNERS
INS Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 3—Lester Cowan is making it very attractive for Cary Grant to accept the star role in "Babylon Revisited" which he produces in Paris this fall.

Cary will be in Europe at that time making a picture for Korda and also honeymooning with Betsy Drake, so they say. All he would have to do is to move on to Paris for the Cowan production, a selling point Lester is talking up big to Cary.

During the flapper '20s, "Babylon Revisited" was one of the best selling F. Scott Fitzgerald novels. It's a tale of Bohemian life in the Paris artist colony at that time.

Cowan leaves for France after he puts his okay on "Blondes Up" with the Marx Brothers and Ilona Massey.

Jewelry Loss Heavy

Most of the jewels stolen from Loretta Young were not insured—which makes that $35,000 theft an unusually bad blow, the only real jewels she has left are her wedding ring and a diamond cross she was wearing. Two fur coats, however, were covered.

What breaks her heart about the jewelry is that most of it is irreplaceable. Two of the necklaces were heirlooms of unusual design and setting.

If you like little kiddies on the screen it will give you a glow to hear that England's Margaret O'Brien will appear with our Margaret O'Brien in "The Secret Garden." Once again the New York and Hollywood critics disagree on a picture. The Easterners lambasted "The Babe Ruth Story" in a "ruthless" beating — if you will pardon the pun. The West coast reviewers have been enthusiastic.

The Franchot Tones say there is nothing to the rift rumors about them. By way of proving it, Franchot left for New York today with Jean due to meet him August 15.

They then go on to Paris where he will star in and co-produce "Man In The Eiffel Tower" with Jean as his leading lady. In fact, it was Franchot who arranged to "borrow" his wife from 20th Century-Fox for his picture.

Best training for good directors, at least on the MGM lot, is directing tests. Latest test maker taking bows as a full-fledged director is Jerald Mayer, nephew of head man, Louis B Mayer.

Other men who have moved on to distinguished acclaim from the test route are George Sidney and Fred Zinnemann — latter the director of the much-praised "The Search."

259 Cases Of Beer Are Sold To High Bidder At Big Spring

The district office of the Texas Liquor Control board announced Tuesday that 259 cases of beer were loaded from this office and sent to Big Spring, where a high bidder paid $685 for it.

Charley Fuller, deputy supervisor of the board and commanding officer of the district, said the receipts made a total of $2,351.70 realized from sale of 830 cases of beer in approximately a month.

Auditor Says SHSTC Operating Funds In 'Unhealthy' Condition

AUSTIN, Aug. 3 (AP) — A "not very healthy" condition was noted in the general operating funds of Sam Houston State Teachers college at Huntsville today in a state audit report of the college.

State Auditor C. H. Cavness said that while the general operating funds on Aug. 31, 1947 showed total assets exceeding liabilities by $7,514, nevertheless $38,185 of the assets was supplies inventory.

"Actually the payables exceed the cash and receivables by $30,671.01. Not a very healthy condition," he said.

The report also noted that the general operating surplus account decreased $33,878.99 during the fiscal year ending Aug. 31, 1947.

Cavness said his audit disclosed that a member of the legislature is also a member of the college's faculty, drawing a salary from the college except during the time when the legislature was in session. The report did not call the name of the legislator but noted that the attorney general had been asked for an opinion on whether or not the arrangement was legal. Cavness said the attorney general had not replied at the time of the audit report.

California Burglar Decides Hearst House 'Job' Too Big

WEST LOS ANGELES, Aug. 3 (AP)—A burglar who was appalled when he discovered the identity of his intended victim was a subject today of police search.

Officers said Dorothy Basila, a maid, told them she surprised the man in the foyer of the house late yesterday.

"How did you get here?" she asked.

"I walked in," the man replied.

"William Randolph Hearst."

"Oh. This job is too big for me."

The report was made by David Hearst, son of the publisher.

Southern Demos Renew Demands

(By The Associated Press)

Coke Stevenson and Lyndon Johnson headed out of Dallas Tuesday on the trail of votes for their Aug. 28 U. S. senatorial runoff.

Meanwhile there was a rash of other political developments, including:

1. Disclosure that Gov. Fielding H. Wright of Mississippi, vice presidential nominee of States' Rights Democrats, will attend the Aug. 11 rally at Houston with Gov. J. Strom Thurmond of North Carolina, the presidential nominee. Wright previously had announced he couldn't make it.

2. The text of the States' Righters petition asking the state Democratic executive committee to put a presidential referendum on the Aug. 28 ballot was made public. The petition takes some healthy wallops at high party officials and office holders.

Prohibition Slate Talked

3. News that Texas Prohibitionists may select a slate of candidates for state office this year—their first since 1916.

4. Johnson announced he won't use his helicopter in the runoff campaign. It's too slow, the congressman said.

Johnson and Stevenson were still differing over whether foreign policy is an issue in their race as they took their separate ways out of Dallas.

Johnson, heading for San Augustine to address a rural electrification meeting, declared again that the former governor is an isolationist — despite Stevenson's announced stand in favor of the

Health Board's Order Ruled Out

AUSTIN, Aug. 3 (AP)—The state board of health was without authority to rescind a regulation made by state health officer George W. Cox outlawing use of oleomargarine or other vegetable fat in the manufacture of ice cream, the attorney general held in an opinion today.

The opinion, written by Assistant Attorney General Joe Greenhill and approved by Attorney General Price Daniel, informed board chairman Dr. Howard Granberry of Austin, who requested the opinion, that the board is neither authorized to repeal Dr. Cox's June 1 order nor to promulgate its own order of June 14.

Board Repealed Order

On June 1, Dr. Cox issued revised regulations which provided that ice cream should contain not less than 8 per cent of milk fat and no fats or oil other than milk fat.

On June 14, the board repealed the health officer's regulation and issued in its place a regulation providing that ice cream should contain not less than 8 per cent butter fat "and not less than four per cent vegetable fat if vegetable fat is added, and that all ice cream manufactured, whether under the new process or the old process shall state on the label just what it contains and the percentage of each."

Red Claims Capital 'Saving' Eisenhower

NEW YORK, Aug. 3 (AP)—Eugene Dennis, general secretary of the Communist party, told the national convention today "big capital is saving (Gen. Dwight D.) Eisenhower for a more acute emergency."

Dennis devoted most of his speech at the closed party convention session to the 1948 elections. He said the Communists would continue to support the Progressive party despite contentions they should withdraw this backing if they "really want to help beat reaction."

Portions of the speech were released by the convention publicity staff. Dennis was one of 12 top Communist officials recently indicted by a federal grand jury on charges of seeking to overthrow the U. S. government.

"It should be noted," Dennis said, "that the very emergence of the new anti-monopoly people's party (the Progressives) is an expression of the developing crisis within monopoly's two-party system."

Symptoms of the crisis, he continued, include the "short-lived Eisenhower boom, which united southern bourbons, northern machine Democrats, the ADA (Americans for Democratic action) crowd and various CIO leaders in a desperate search for a winning candidate."

BIDS TO BE TAKEN ON UNIT

New Agriculture Building For Beef Cattle Planned At Tech

Plans for a modern, fireproof, four-building beef cattle barn unit to be ready for use Nov. 1 have been completed at Texas Technological college and specifications have been mailed to contractors for bids, W. L. Stangel, dean of the division of agriculture announced Tuesday afternoon.

The $60,000 appropriation which makes construction of the unit possible was secured at the last meeting of the Texas legislature by President W. M. Whyburn, who has resigned his post at Texas Tech to accept a position as head of the mathematics department at North Carolina university as of Sept. 1.

Modern Equipment Planned

Stangel said that bids on the project would be opened at 10 a.m. on August 13 in Room 101 of the Administration building at Tech.

"The four buildings will equip the animal husbandry department at Texas Tech with the best facilities available for the handling of beef cattle," Dean Stangel said, adding that beef cattle units at colleges all over the nation have been inspected as a method of learning the most advantageous construction of beef cattle barns.

Blueprints of the main barn specify a U shaped building of steel construction with a 140-foot front, containing 26 tie stalls in one wing and 27 box stalls and two feed rooms in the back and in the other wing. Stalls in the barn are to be so constructed as to leave walkways between the cattle and the corrugated sheet iron walls. In each stall is to be placed an automatically controlled watering basin and a feed pan which will eliminate the necessity of taking up valuable space with feed troughs and racks, Stangel said.

Lubbock Delegates Return From Lions Meeting In New York

After a two-weeks tour of southern and eastern United States, with the New York City convention of Lions International as the high spot, a group of Lubbock and South Plains Lions and members of their families, returned last night.

Traveling by charter bus, the group left here two weeks ago yesterday on a planned tour that provided for side trips before and after the New York convention, including a dip into Canada on the return via Detroit.

A smaller group, traveling both ways by train, returned Tuesday morning from the convention, reporting that a total of 56 people attended the convention from this city and area. Attendance from Texas numbered several hundred.

It was announced at the club's weekly luncheon yesterday that next week's luncheon program will feature a full report on the convention.

FRANKFURT, Germany, Aug. 3 (AP)—Several thousand Czechs who fled their Communist-ruled homeland were promised a pardon today if they return within three months.

Drilling Permit Asked For Scurry Wildcat

McAlester Fuel Company, Walter Keith, et al, of Magnolia, Ark., have filed an application with the Railroad Commission of Texas, requesting a permit to start drilling by August 5, on their No. 1 A. E. Gesell, as an 8,500-foot wildcat in Southwest Scurry county.

The prospector will be six miles southwest of Snyder, and 662 feet from north and 560 feet from east lines of the northwest quarter of section 154, block 97, H&TC survey. Drilling will be with rotary tools.

Seaboard Oil Company of Delaware No. 1 E. M. Hinson, Northeast Terry County discovery from the Pennsylvania lime between 9,405 feet and the total depth at 9,455 feet, had drilled the plug on 7-inch casing, which had been cemented at 9,400 feet, and at last report had swabbed down to 4,500 feet below the surface, and was showing signs of oil and gas.

Operator was continuing to swab to clean out, try to kick off to flowing, and test.

The project had produced in excess of 45 barrels of oil per hour, natural, on drillstem tests run before the casing was set. It is expected to be flowing clean oil to the tanks in a few hours.

The new discovery is 10 miles northeast of Brownfield, eight miles southeast of Meadow, and 660 feet from north and west lines of section 91, block 4-X, psl survey.

Airline Withdraws Landing Application

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3 (AP)—The Civil Aeronautics board said today that CIA Aviacion Mexicana (CMA) has withdrawn its request for permission to land at Laredo, Texas.

A CAB spokesman said that CMA's letter withdrawing the request was dated July 28 and was received by the board a few days ago. It gave no reason for the withdrawal.

No Formal Hearing

The spokesman said that no formal hearing ever had been set on the CMA request that the Mexican airline be allowed to use the landing facilities at Laredo.

The CAB outlined the following chain of events that occurred in the CMA case:

CMA's application for permission to land at Laredo, was submitted to the CAB by the State department, which enclosed a letter from the Mexican embassy.

Field Under Repair

The Mexican airline said its own landing facilities at Nuevo Laredo, Mexico, across the Rio Grande from Laredo were undergoing construction and repair that was expected to take about 60 to 90 days.

CMA asked for permission to land at Laredo on those days when rain made the Neuvo Laredo airport's sod runways unsafe for operation.

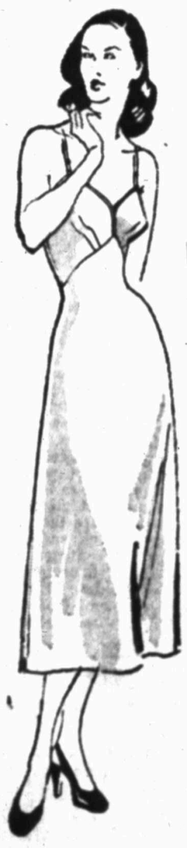

The Mexican airline applied for a temporary foreign air carrier permit, or such permission as might be necessary to allow it to land its plane at Laredo.

SAN ANGELO PLAN

Can It Work Here?

SAN Angelo civic leaders have scheduled a one-day campaign for $100,000 today which, they announce, will insure a 10-story downtown office building for that up-and-coming West Texas city. With that sum subscribed, they say, the remainder of the financing for the building can be arranged.

If there is any doubt as to the success of the drive, it is not apparent in San Angelo. Civic clubs are to carry the ball, each having named teams to secure a given quota of subscriptions. A good deal of friendly, constructive rivalry among clubs has been engendered, and promises to push the total of subscriptions well above the goal.

Those who subscribe will do so with full warning that they may never get their money back. If the building should prove a profitable investment, the subscribers will be the last to cash in. While most of them are outspokenly confident that their subscriptions will be a sound and profitable investment, they feel the indirect benefits to San Angelo and San Angeloans from supplying the urgently needed office building will be sufficient to make it worth while.

We do not know whether a similar undertaking could be adapted successfully to Lubbock. But if the San Angelo campaign results in a downtown office building, Lubbock certainly will have nothing to lose from an investigation of the technique.

Civic clubs here definitely do not suffer from comparisons with those of San Angelo, or in any other city. This is one expression of confidence that if they ever pick up, or should be entrusted with, the office building ball, they would not be stopped short of the goal line.

Free Hand For Oil

WHILE a somewhat more cheering picture as to oil outlook during the next year is contained in a recent report by the Oil Industry Information committee, it does not pretend to deny that problems still exist.

This reliable and authoritative source estimates that the domestic supply of oil daily will average 6,038,000 barrels. Anticipated demand is placed at 5,907,000 barrels daily. The indicated excess of supply over demand is not sufficient, it is explained, to guarantee that there won't be local shortages, chiefly due to lack of transport to the more inaccessible of inland areas. An excess of about 1,000,000 barrels daily would be required to guarantee abundances everywhere, the committee says. But the situation, taken as a whole, is much better than it was.

The committee blames government interference for failing to make more progress. It insists the industry could solve supply problems if freed of some of the crippling wartime regulations which still remain in effect.

An increasing number of Americans may be disposed to feel that the time is overdue to give the industry a chance to show what it can do since the government definitely has failed to be of any discernible help in easing the problems.

The Little Savage

Bitter Reprieve

By DREXEL DRAKE
Distributed By NEA Service, Inc.

(THE STORY: Playboy Marcus Sterling owes Harry Bindle a gambling debt of $10,000 he cannot pay. His wealthy wife, Miriam, has refused him the money. Bindle calls at Sterling's home late at night to collect. Cornered, Sterling steals his wife's diamond necklace from a wall safe in her room while she sleeps, offers it to Bindle as security. He agrees to pay up Saturday. Sterling has also taken a sealed packet from the safe. After Bindle leaves, he sets the stage for robbery. A disconnected electric clock, set ahead to 1:30, will mark the time. Satisfied, Marcus goes to Edgecraft Country Club to spend the night. There attractive man-chaser Janet Weirhaven greets him with pleasure, suggests they take drinks into the lounge.)

IX

SEATED with their drinks where there was less prospect of being overheard, Sterling said, "Now, then, what's this about suggesting to Miriam that we come out here tonight?"

"Invited, not suggested, my dear, and it was while we were having luncheon together today. Accidental meeting on 57th, and each of us with an hour to spare before appointments. She didn't tell you?"

"Not a word of it. But then she was tired. Ten-thirty or so when she came home, only a little while after I got there. We had only a word or two in the library before she begged off and went up to her room to go to bed."

"Whereupon you went out, the unappreciated husband, chased around and wound up out here, is that it?"

"If you want the record straight, I sat around a while, listened to the news on the radio, came out here in a taxi to stay overnight and have some morning golf."

"And ran plump into me, knocking your good intentions into a cocked hat."

They drank in silence, alternately looking at each other across the small table, then looking away.

"Another drink, Janet, and then call it a night?" Sterling said.

"You won't go places with me?"

"Not tonight. My room's upstairs and I need sleep."

"You need sleep . . . or something. But you'll walk out with me to my car?"

"Oh, that, surely. Shall I get another round?"

"Let's pass it up, if you don't mind too much."

• • •

ONLY a few cars were scattered in the parking lot at the side of the clubhouse. There was a chill in the stiff night breeze off the Sound. Sterling had come out without his hat or topcoat.

"Better sit in the car with me while we talk, unless you're inviting pneumonia," Janet said, "I promise not to abduct you."

When he had sprawled in the seat beside her, Janet moved close to him. He sat with his head back, silent.

"Not like you to have nothing to say, darling," Janet said. "Are you really so deeply in trouble?"

"Trouble?"

"Is it money trouble, Marcus?"

"What makes you think I'm in trouble . . . that I need money?"

"Well, Miriam was coming out of her uptown bank when I met her today. She looked terribly worried and I suggested we have lunch together. At lunch it came out. You were messed up in some terrible trouble you wouldn't even tell her about and needed a lot of money. I gathered from the way she spoke that she intended to let you down. I suspected she had gone to her bank for advice instead of money. That's why I invited her to bring you out here tonight."

"But, why out here? I don't understand."

"Marcus, darling, between us the sky is the limit. What's the good of being a very rich woman, if she can't pay for what she wants? A big figure won't frighten me, Marcus. How much do you need?"

"Janet!"

• • •

SHE held his head between her hands, and her lips were devouring. His arms held her close to him. Her soft body was ecstasy.

When their lips drew apart, she spoke intensely. "Marcus, why do you remain tied to it?"

"To . . . to what, Janet?"

"To a marriage that became a mockery after a month?"

"Let's not talk about it . . . not now, Janet."

"Somebody's got to talk about it. I've got to talk about it, darling. I'll have to tell Miriam, if you won't."

"Tell her what?"

"That if she doesn't know the road, she should move over and let someone else take the wheel."

Janet's vehemence startled Sterling. He had not yet fully recovered from her surprising announcement that he could look to her for money. He had not even thought of her in his desperate dilemma with Bindle. How easily he might have taken care of that if he had known.

Janet was slipping her hands into gloves. She found her ignition key in her bag and inserted it. "You are not really serious about staying out here overnight, are you, darling?"

Reality forced itself through the haze that enveloped Sterling's thoughts. His very security depended upon remaining in evidence in the clubhouse.

"Definitely I'm dated for golf at eight-thirty."

"And that calls for the night away from home?"

"I'd have trouble getting breakfast and making it out here in time on a Friday morning. Stella doesn't show up until eight or so."

Sterling had found the handle of the door on his side, pushed it open.

"About the money, Marcus. How much do you need?"

"Let it ride for a day, Janet, and thanks heaps. I may have to come to you."

He was standing beside the open door when she leaned toward him and said seriously, "I meant exactly what I said a moment ago, darling. I'm going to put my cards on the table with Miriam."

Looking At Life -- By Erich Brandeis

IT is funny how you may read two entirely unrelated items and when you start to think about them, all of a sudden you see a definite connection—just as so many seemingly unrelated things make up that strange weave called life.

After this erudite and rather obscure—or shall I say obtuse?—introduction, let me tell you what I mean.

BRANDEIS

From the National Wallpaper Wholesalers' Association, in convention assembled at Atlantic City, comes the announcement that a campaign will be conducted to change wallpaper styles every two years.

Women's styles change all the time, they say. Automobile manufacturers come out with new models every year.

Why then keep the same wallpaper, say the manufacturers. Let us make people repaper their walls whenever we dictate new styles!

I shall not dwell on the awful mess such a biennial change in wallpaper styles would make.

I shall go on to my second item.

• • •

In Miami, Fla., Dr. Frank W. Hubbard, director of research for the national Education Association, told a Teachers' Conference that they must aim higher, that they must raise their standards, that the teaching profession must increase its prestige.

Beautiful sentiments, those, aren't they?

But, my dear Dr. Hubbard (no relation to old Mother Hubbard, I presume), did you tell the teachers how to raise their standards, their aims, their prestige, on the miserable salaries they are being paid?

Will you tell me how a teacher who sees all her friends getting new wallpaper every other year, must feel when she has to get along with the same old wallpaper because she hasn't even enough money to buy a new pair of shoes, let alone some fancy wall covering?

ONE of our neighbors is a teacher. She has two children, one of whom she is sending to college on her teacher's salary helped, perhaps, by some little money her late husband left her. Will she be able to raise her social standards and buy new wallpaper every other year?

Or will the thousands of teachers who, like our ministers, are supposed to be examplars of everything that is fine and noble, be able to raise their academic standards on the material standards forced upon them by those miserable stipends that are less than what a ditchdigger or a bartender earns?

I am all for teachers raising their standards, their aims, their prestige.

I also have a very simple way of making it possible for them to do so.

Let us consider teaching as important as plumbing, butchering, grocering and saloonkeeping—and the teachers will do the rest on their own.

Controls Under Fire

BY RAY TUCKER
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON—President Truman's special session program for combating high prices and extending additional federal financial aid for housing, education and the aged differs in almost every respect from the anti-inflation recommendations advanced by the man he personally picked to handle these problems—Thomas B. McCabe, the Pennsylvania Republican who heads the Federal Reserve board.

TUCKER

Ironically, almost on the very day that Mr. Truman submitted his elaborate proposals for further government controls on certain prices and wages, Mr. McCabe declared that "the citizen can do more than government agencies in lowering prices if he does so consistently, persistently and intelligently."

• • •

VIEWPOINT: Like Treasury Secretary John W. Snyder, the Federal Reserve Chairman has more faith in "voluntary" restraint on the part of the individual than he has in the kind of compulsion and regimentation requested by the man in the White House. Incidentally, neither of these financial and fiscal authorities were consulted by the President about calling a special session or about the remedies to be proposed.

Mr. McCabe differs from Mr. Truman on another key question touching the inflation problem. Whereas the Chief Executive coupled his plea for reimposition of wartime controls with a housing and educational expansion program estimated to cost many billions of dollars within the next five years, the Federal Reserve head insists that now is the time for the federal government, states and municipalities to restrict all expenditures to the absolute minimum.

It is generally believed that the McCabe viewpoint will have more influence on the Republican-controlled Congress than Mr. Truman's, especially as the Pennsylvania manufacturer was a Truman-Snyder selection for his present post.

• • •

NON-POLITICAL: Mr. McCabe expressed anti-White House views in an exclusive interview with Harkey Peiter, an old Delaware county neighbor and correspondent for The Chester (Pa.) Times and a score of other newspapers in the Keystone State.

Although Mr. McCabe is a Union League Republican, he has never taken part in politics, and, therefore, his non-political solution for ending the boom-and-bust cycle now threatening has special and current meaning for individual consumers, industrial leaders, bankers and all men in charge of the volume and direction of the money flow.

"There is too great a tendency," he says, "for people to believe that there is little anybody except fiscal and monetary authorities can do about inflation. Actually, in my opinion, the citizen can do more than government agencies if he does so consistently, persistently and intelligently."

• • •

SAVE: When asked what contribution the ordinary individual can make to the anti-inflation movement, he replied:

"Defer every purchase that is not immediately necessary. Save a portion of earnings and invest the savings in government bonds. Insist that federal, state and local authorities curtail public expenditures and build up reserves for hard times.

"We must save today so as to spend tomorrow. With too much money in the hands of the people, and not enough foods, prices are bid up far beyond any semblance of real value. If a purchase can be deferred, a gain has been made against inflation."

• • •

WARNING: The nation's fiscal and banking boss then issued the same warning which he and Secretary Snyder have been making to bankers with respect to excessive grants of commercial and real estate loans—a warning which has begun to have its effect in the tightening of money advances and interest rates.

"Credit is easy to get in boom times like these," he continued. Perhaps credit is too easy. However, the deferment of any purchase is all the more necessary if borrowing must be done.

"I favor instalment buying to aid mass production and distribution of goods, but this is no time to pay puffed-up prices for luxuries. I think that consumers should be discouraged from borrowing and spending today on non-essentials.

"If enough citizens will confine their buying to immediate needs, prices will come down. The inflation spiral will have to turn downward.

"In good times there must be thrifty saving for bad times. This applies particularly to those income-makers who are enjoying unusual prosperity. I refer particularly to wage earners on hourly rates and to farmers."

• • •

ECONOMY: Mr. McCabe then clashed directly with the Truman program for new spending by the federal government. He said:

"What I have said about the wage earner and farmer is true also of those in business. No capital expenditure that can be deferred should be incurred at this time unless such expenditure breaks a bottleneck in essential production.

"State, municipalities and other political sub-divisions can join in the fight against inflation by postponing expenditures for public improvements where community health and safety are not jeopardized. The greatest possible economy should be practiced by government, not only in direct spending, but also in the extension of credit by or under guarantees of government agencies. It's the citizen's job to see that his public officials practice real economy now!"

• • •

LEGISLATION: "How much of President Truman's elaborate, legislative program do you think Congress will act upon at the special session?" asks E.B.T. of Cleveland, O.

Answer: It is extremely harazardous to second-guess the behaviour of the reconvened Congress, in view of the circumstances under which the boys and girls were summoned back to the heat and humidity of Washington by President Truman. Both sides will be jockeying for position in the presidential race, and such an atmosphere is not conducive to logical thinking or sound action.

As of today, I would say that almost the only measures sure of passage are the repeal of federal taxes on oleomargarine, and an increase of the minimum wage figure from forty to seventy-five cents an hour, possibly to the dollar amount demanded in Henry Wallace's Philadelphia platform. Those are the only non-controversial proposals before the Congress.

At the least, the government ought to give the taxpayer an annual vacation, with pay, so he could go off somewhere and turn loose and have a nervous breakdown.

---

If you feel that you must tell a lie, tell a short one, and don't interpret, qualify, amplify, explain or repeat it.

POWERFUL LOBBY IS BLAMED

Vote Blocked On Housing Bill

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—What is happening—or not happening—on the Taft-Ellender-Wagner long-range housing bill at the special session of Congress shows clearly how a handful of powerful key figures can manipulate the machinery of Congress in favor of big special interests to defeat the popular will.

It is an excellent case history, as well, of the 80th Congress and its approach to major problems affecting the general public welfare. It is herewith spelled out for the enlightment and guidance of the public for it is a negation of Democratic procedure.

STOKES

The T-E-W bill passed the Senate April 22, two months before the end of the regular session, and finally was approved by the proper legislative committee of the House, the Banking and Currency committee, despite attempts of Rep. Jesse P. Wolcott (R-Mich), chairman, to prevent action because of the slum clearance and public housing provisions to which the powerful real estate lobby objected.

• • •

Solons Block Bill

The layman might logically think that approval by the proper legislative committee would send the bill to the floor for a vote. But not so. In the House there is a committee called the Rules committee which determines what bills can go to the floor and how much debate there can be and whether amendments may be offered from the floor.

With eight of its dozen members voting, the Rules committee politely tabled the measure, 6 to 2. This is a committee of veteran members of the House that, by custom, shares in leadership. Its members, carefully picked, are predominantly conservative by circumstance. The Democrats on it reflect the southern influence because of the places held in the House by that wing of the party, while its Republican members reflect the regular, GOP influence dominant in that party's leadership. It is an effective instrument of the Republican-Southern Democratic coalition. Three of its present four Democratic members are from the South.

So today we have the irony of a little group of men in the House blocking action on a measure designed to relieve the distressing housing shortage despite its approval by the Senate, by the proper House legislative committee, and despite support by a majority of members of the House who can not get a chance to vote on it in the Democratic fashion. Veterans, other people with inadequate housing, can complain all they please, but they can't reach this little group of self-ordained bosses.

The group includes not only the recalcitrant Rules committee members, but also the House leadership which, in the first instance, passes down the order to the committee chairman, Rep. Leo E. Allen, (R-Ill), and his henchmen. Primary responsibility belongs to Speaker of the House Joseph W. Martin (Mass.) and Floor Leader Charles A. Halleck (R-Ind).

Lobby Is Blamed

The real estate loby, which bitterly fought the bill all the way and lost every round up to the Rules committee, finally won its way when it reached the little group embraced in the speaker, the floor leader and the Rules committee members who voted its will. They feel very good about this success, for the bill will have to start all over again in the next Congress and they feel confident there will be more Republicans and they are sure of the same Southern Democrats.

This lobby, like other special interest lobbies, can work its way in Congress because of the difficulty of the public to fix responsibilty, to find the culprit in the legislative maze. There is not only the Rules committee, which is subservient also to other lobbies, but there is the Republican-Southern Democratic coalition.

• • •

For example, the T-E-W bill, when it was passed by the Senate two years ago, likewise was blocked in the House which was then under Democratic control. Also, most southern conservative Democrats in the Senate voted this year to eliminate the public housing features of the bill, joining a number of Republicans in an unsuccessful move in that body.

While the housing bill carries all sorts of assistance to private builders, the real estate interests are ired over the provisions for loans and grants to local housing authorities to clear slums and build low-cost rental housing for low income groups, even though this is restricted to projects that private builders can not undertake. The reluctance in Congress now toward the T-E-W public housing, which is on a limited basis, is hard to understand, for it approved the principle in the 1937 housing act for which both Representatives Wollcott and Allen voted.

WANTED: Experienced grain buyers at Lamesa, O'Donnell, Whitface, Bledsoe and Causey. Box 53, Avalanche.

HERE'S THE STORY
The high cost of living is putting a crimp into most everybody's hopes for the future. You can't save for that new house (or new anything) when it takes every penny to just get by. This is why many skilled construction workers are turning to overseas work to build a big enough stake to get out of the bind. Some figure to turn an 18-month hitch into a nice four-figure bank account.

NOT MANY OPENINGS
Middle-East, Inc. wants a limited number of responsible men for oil refinery and power house construction in Saudi Arabia, near the Persian Gulf. This company will pay top wages, monthly bonus, monthly vacation allowance and living expenses to those who can qualify.

BASIC QUALIFICATIONS
You must know your trade from the ground up. You must also be 30 to 50 years of age, have proof of U. S. citizenship and be able to pass a physical exam.

Certain Trades Needed Most PIPE WELDERS
PIPE FITTERS
CRANE OPERATORS
ELECTRICIANS
BOILERMAKERS
CEMENT FINISHERS
PLUMBERS
CARPENTERS

Welders must be certified by pipe test. All others must have plenty of industrial construction experience.

NO BED OF ROSES
This is not a travel for romance deal. It's an opportunity for farsighted men. Good food and a fine clubhouse hardly make up for terrific heat and isolation. Think this over before inquiring.

Get The Story First Hand
... from Mr. A. L. Anderson of Middle-East, Inc. He will be in Lubbock, Texas, August 5th through August 10th at the State Employment Service Office.

Remember: August 5th through August 10th. Daily: 8:30 - 4:00. Sat. 8:30 - 12:00.

Cotton

NEW YORK REPORT
NEW YORK, Aug. 3 (AP) — Cotton futures were steady in slow dealings today with the market drawing support on persistent mill buying. Indications of a fairly large volume of trade buying orders in the background induce covering by locals and New Orleans.
Most traders held to the sidelines awaiting the government cotton crop forecast next Monday with ideas at 13,000,000 bales or better.
Futures closed 15 cents a bale higher to 15 lower than the previous close.

Marshall Plan and the U. S. foreign policy.
Stevenson, heading for Fort Worth and planning his usual talks with voters en route, may add fire to the foreign policy argument Wednesday night.

Stevenson's Stand Blasted

Stevenson's Austin office announced he will make his first address of the second primary campaign at 7:45 p. m. Wednesday. There were strong hints the 15-minute talk over a 19-station state network would deal with foreign policy.
Johnson, ending conferences with his campaign people in Dallas, told newsmen:
"Throughout the first primary George Peddy and I repeatedly urged him (Stevenson) to state his views on foreign affairs, and he repeatedly stated that the people of Texas were not interested in international affairs. Now he comes back to Texas after a 14-minute conference with Undersecretary Lovett and says 'me no isolationist'."
Johnson said the former governor should state his stand on the Taft-Hartley law also.
Stevenson had said at Dallas that as a result of his recent Washington visit he is convinced war is not imminent. The former governor said, however, "we have to stand firm with the Russians. That's what I said in the opening speech of my campaign, and it remains true today."

Plans Made For Meeting

Announcement that Mississippi Governor Wright will attend the Houston States' righters rally August 11 came from E. E. Townes, Houston attorney and chairman of the rally invitation committee. Wright ill make his formal acceptance of the vice presidential nomination.
Governor Thurmond already had accepted an invitation to make his acceptance speech at the Houston gathering.
Townes said "thousands of States' Rights Democrats from every corner of Texas" are expected to crowd into Miller memorial theater at Houston's Hermann park. "We feel" he said, "it is a great honor for the state for these two men to come here to officially accept their nominations."
Texas States' righters petition for a presidential referendum was made public in Fort Worth by Attorney Lloyd Price. It asks the state Democratic executive committee to let Texas voters decide, in the August 28 primary, whether the state's electoral vote will go to the Truman-Barkley or Thurmond-Wright ticket.
The petition, blasting Gov. Beauford H. Jester, State Chairman Robert H. Calvert and Rep. Sam Rayburn as "in effect, disloyal to the fundamental rights and liberties of Texas," was prepared for presentation to the executive committee meeting at Austin next Monday.
Price announced Sunday that he was preparing the petition and brief for circulation and signing throughout Texas. The move for a referendum has found no support from Jester Rayburn nor Calvert.
The petition argues that the executive committee has the power to order such a referendum.
News that Texas Prohibitionists may be on the ballot for state office, for the first time since 1916, came from state Prohibition party Chairman Gerald Overholt of Houston. He said candidates probably will be selected at the party's state convention which opens next Monday at Houston. The convention also will select 23 Texas electors for the party's ticket on the November general election ballot.

Hike In Cigarette Prices Reflected In Lubbock Stores

Price increases announced last week by leading cigarette manufacturers are being reflected this week at tobacco counters in Lubbock drug stores, with seven of the 14 local stores contacted Tuesday night reporting price increases by carton or by pack or both, and seven reporting no increase.
Single packs of cigarettes were increased one and two cents per pack, and increases in cartons averaged 10 cents, in line with the increase of cigarette manufacturers and distributors of about 9 cents per carton. In local stores, individual packs of popular brand cigarettes ranged from 18 to 20 cents in price, and cartons ranged in price from $1.61 to $1.89.
Most of the drug stores reporting no increase were those whose prices on cigarettes were already several cents above the "cut price" level, with individual packs mostly 20 cents, and cartons ranging from $1.79 to $1.85. Most of the stores reporting increases were the larger downtown establishments whose prices had been lower to meet competition.
Several stores kept prices the same on individual packs, but boosted prices on cartons. Ten of the stores already were asking 20 cents for an individual pack of cigarettes, and apparently felt no need to raise prices more. Of the remaining four stores, two boosted prices on packs from 18 cents to 20 cents—because of price increases on the part of both manufacturers and wholesalers they said—while the third upped prices one cent from 18 cents to 19 cents per pack. The fourth, a large chain store which had previously been selling cigarettes by carton and pack several cents under most others, reported it would continue selling packs at its old price.

This building will contain a classroom downstairs, and three bedrooms, a living room and a bath upstairs, which will accomodate from four to six junior and senior animal husbandry students who will assist the herdsman in caring for the cattle.
To the rear of these two buildings will be a feed barn and a wash and nurse barn, both of which will be constructed of corrugated sheet iron. The feed barn will be used for storing feed, and the wash and nurse barn will contain wash racks and space for cows that are nursing calves.
All four of the buildings are to be located west of the present hog farm, and will face south.

Congress To Probe Report FSA 'Censored' Warning Against Reds

By LEON SHLOSS
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3 — Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich), announced today that Congress will investigate charges that the Federal Security agency "censored" official warnings against Communist influence in the school system.

The announcement of the ace Senate investigator followed demand by Sen. Bridges (R-N.H.), that President Truman dismiss Oscar R. Ewing as head of FSA.

Ewing Is Called "Pet"

The actions were taken after Dr. John W. Studebaker, recently retired head of the U. S. Office of Education, declared one of Ewing's aides advised him to "tone down" an address denouncing Communist-sympathizing school teachers. The education office is a division of FSA.

Ferguson said the matter will be probed during the current inquiry of his committee into Communist activities in the federal government.

Bridges, in a Senate speech, called Ewing a "pet of the White House," and demanded that he be "sent back home or deported to some other country."

Eastland Fires Jibe

In Senate debate, Sen. Eastland (D-Miss) asked Bridges what steps could be taken to correct the situation. Bridges said it "will take a change in the administration." Eastland then asked:

"Do you think Dewey will clean out the Communists from the federal government when New York is a Communist state?"

In a letter to Ferguson, Bridges, chairman of the Senate Appropriations committee, said:

"Dr. Studebaker charges that top level censorship within the agency has restricted the office of education in its legitimate and proper effort to proclaim the hostility of the Communist party to the concepts of American education in which our free and democratic institutions are rooted.

Drastic Action Possible

"In recommending an appropriation for the Federal Security agency, it never was intended by the Senate Committee on Appropriations that funds should be used to pay the salaries of a supervisory staff which might frustrate the office of education in its honest attempt to combat Communist philosophy in the public schools of the nation.

"If Dr. Studebaker's charges are true, there has been a breach of trust tantamount to betrayal within the Federal Security agency. Immediate and drastic action is called for if any officials within the agency are thwarting the efforts of the office of education to foster through public education a decent respect for the American way of life and an honest antagonism to the totalitarian forces that threaten the free peoples of the world."

The Studebaker address, which the former office of education head wanted printed and distributed to the schools, was delivered in March at the University of California at Los Angeles. Studebaker's request for funds to have the address printed was held up while a Ewing aide allegedly tried to have it altered.

Studebaker protested vigorously and the address was distributed as written.

Federal Judges Rule Indians In New Mexico Have Right To Vote

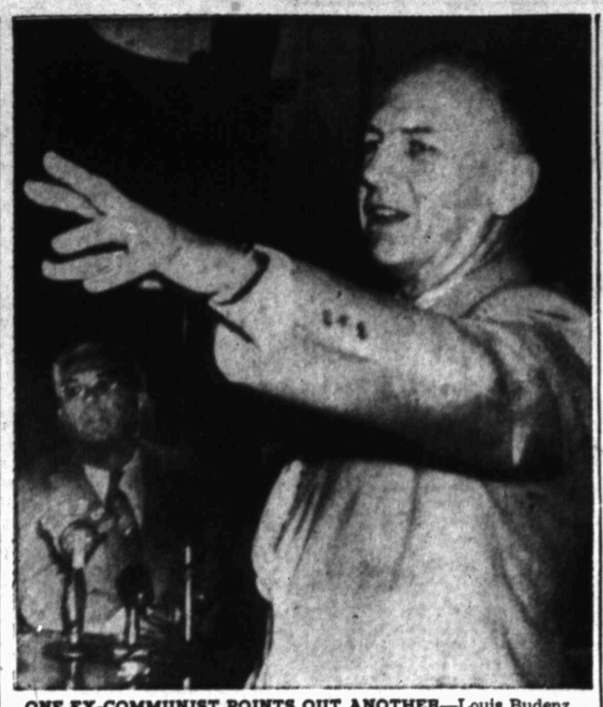

SANTA FE, N. M., Aug. 3 (INS)—The right to vote in New Mexico was accorded Indians living on reservations in an opinion delivered today in Santa Fe by three United States judges.

Indians have been denied the ballot under the state's constitutional ban against "Indians who do not pay taxes."

The court of three federal judges held that the provision of the New Mexico constitution is invalid since it is discriminatory from a racial standpoint and violates the federal constitution.

The court consisted of U. S. circuit Judge Orrie L. Phillips of Denver, and U. S. district Judges Bower Broaddus and Royce Savage of Oklahoma.

Indian veterans returning from the armed services started the agitation two years ago to secure the franchise for all Indians of the state. The veterans' fight was climaxed by the federal court ruling.

Miss Bentley, seated in the rear of the room at the time, has testified that she collected information from government employes during the war. (AP Wirephoto).

FBI Statistics Show Rural Crime Rates Are Noticeably Outpacing Rise In Urban Areas

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3 (AP) — The FBI said today the odds have dropped at least 50 per cent since 1941 on the chances of rural people spending their lives without becoming entangled in or victimized by crime

During and since World War II, the increase in rural crime rates has noticeably outpaced the rise in city crime rates.

FBI officials told a reporter:

"It is particularly significant that in the most serious crimes against the person — murder, nonnegligent manslaughter and manslaughter by negligence — the rural rate at present is considerably higher than the city rate.

"The profession of law enforcement has responded to these particular trends in postwar crime by laying emphasis on training and mutual cooperation among small agencies serving rural and small town areas."

"The fact that rural crime rates are rising faster than urban does not necessarily mean that the quality of law enforcement in the country is inferior to that in the cities," the FBI said.

"It means rather than the citizens of America's towns, villages and agrarian communities are not making as much headway in crime prevention as the citizens of metropolitan areas.

"By and large, our urban communities are tackling the problem of crime more aggressively than the agrarian . . . They are learning that the crime problem is essentially a youth problem."

In support of its contention that rural crime has bounded upward faster than city crime, the FBI offered statistics showing that in 1946 major crime in rural areas rose 14.1 per cent, while the increase for similar offenses in cities was 7.4 per cent.

In 1947, there was an overall decrease of five per cent in major crimes in cities. But rural areas recorded a seven per cent increase. The total U. S. murder rate per 100,000 inhabitants was 6.12 last year, but in rural communities the rate was 10.88 per 100,000.
