Construction Of Pipe Lines By Cities And Municipal Ownership Recommended In Resolutions At Abilene

(By The Associated Press)

ABILENE, Feb. 18. — Recommendations that West Texas cities adopt forceful means in an attempt to obtain reduction in gas rates were adopted unanimously by official representatives of more than 30 towns in a meeting here today. The recommendations called for a permanent organization to keep the proposed program on the move.

Among the resolutions were recommendations that cities of the district endeavor to secure competition in the sale and distribution of natural gas, and that if this measure is not practicable, that cities band together for construction of their own pipe lines and take steps toward municipal ownership of distribution systems.

Petsch Bill Favored.

The body urged active support for the Petsch bill, pending before the legislature, calling for appointment of a fact-finding committee on utilities rates; and urged defeat of the Holbrook bill, providing for a state commission to fix utility rates, instead of municipal bodies. Recommendation also was given for support of the bill amending pipe line laws so that gas pipe line companies cannot own producing properties. This measure is favored by the Independent Petroleum associa-

Legge Praises Wheat Embargo

Legislation To Aid American Farmer Against Importation Of Cheap Commodities Is Urged By Farm Board Head

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—Legislation to aid the American farmer against importation of cheap commodities from abroad was urged today by Chairman Legge of the farm board.

Appearang before the house ways and means committee in behalf of the Burtness bill for a 12-months embargo on wheat, feed grains and other products, Legge said he thought the legislation would be helpful to the producer and to the farm board.

"Needs Encouragement"

"Anything showing interest in the agricultural producer would be helpful," the chairman said. "He needs a little encouragement about as much as he needs money right now."

Legge said it is "immaterial to us whether the relief is by embargo, a tariff increase or a change in the tariff commission's procedure."

"The flexible provision is in operative on agricultural products," he added. "The farmers don't keep costs and at the time the relief is needed, as in the present depression, costs don't cut much figure anyhow."

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Feb. 18. (AP)—Gov. Frank C. Emerson of Wyoming died tonight.

Earlier in the day the belief had been expressed by his physicians he had rallied slightly.

Announcement of the governor's passing was made shortly before 9 p. m.

He was the second Wyoming governor to die in office within a period of seven years. Governor William B. Ross died in office in 1924.

Spain Has New Government To End Disorders

Country Looking Forward To Period Of Calm After Five Days Of Political Turmoil; Admiral Aznar New Premier

(By Associated Press)

MADRID, Feb. 18.—Spain tonight had a new government, peacefully formed, and was looking forward to a period of calm after the political turmoil of the last five days.

Admiral Juan Bautista Aznar, staunch royalist and political neutral, heads the ministry formed today by King Alfonso in a successful effort to head off another military dictatorship like that of Miguel Primo De Rivera.

Public Waiting.

The king called for no participation by socialist and republican elements, and their attitude remained problematical tonight. The public generally, however, seemed to be waiting quietly until the program and policies of the new government could be formulated and put into effect.

The cabinet which replaces that of Damaso Berenguer, which resigned last Saturday, because of widespread opposition to Premier Berenguer's plank for parliamentary elections in March, includes Berenguer himself, and the Count of Romanones and the Marquis of Alhucemas, the men most responsible for his overthrow.

It is formed of right monarchists with liberal, conservative and Catalan independent's party representation and, according to its chief, the heart of its program will be the restoration of legal and political stability.

Former Deputy Sheriff Is Acquitted In Murder Trial

LONGVIEW, Feb. 18. (AP)—V. B. Shoffner, 35, former Panola county deputy sheriff, was acquitted by a jury late today on a charge of murder in the slaying of Thurmond Wall, 21-year-old farmer, who was killed in Carthage last summer.

Shoffner, who had entered a plea of self-defense, was freed after the jury had deliberated two hours and 45 minutes.

His wife and two small children were present when the verdict was announced. Shoffner clasped the hand of each juror after Judge Walter Russell of Tyler read the verdict.

Posse Expects To Arrest Man For Abduction

Officers Surround California Ranch House In Hopes Of Finding Kidnaper Of Missing School Girl

Clues Discovered

Photograph Of Suspect And Another Of Girl's Father Found In Vacated House At Pomona; Trail Followed

(By Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 18.—A posse of officers surrounded a ranch house near Lebec, 60 miles north of here tonight, expecting to arrest a man suspected of kidnaping Virginia Brooks, 10-year-old San Diego school girl who has been missing a week.

The posse was sent out hurriedly after a quiet check of clues unearthed here, in Pomona and San Diego. Running down one of the score of reports by citizens that a girl answering Virginia's description had been seen with a man in an automobile on the streets, police were led by an automobile license number to a recently vacated house in Pomona.

A search of the house disclosed a photograph of the suspect and another of John F. Brooks, Virginia's father. Brooks, in San Diego, was unable to explain how the man gained possession of his picture. He said he never had seen the suspect.

From San Diego garagemen, police learned the suspect had traded his automobile for another there at about the time the Brooks girl disappeared last Wednesday while en route to school. He told the garagemen he planned a trip to Arizona, but officers traced him later to a Los Angeles suburb and discovered he held a mining claim near Lebec to which he was alleged to have retreated.

Butler Is To Give Up Post

Marine Corps Officer Will Take Lecture Platform Next Fall; Little Opposition To Resignation Expected

(By The Associated Press)

CLEVELAND, Feb. 18.—Major General Smedley D. Butler, marine corps officer, who has been in the limelight for a decade, will resign next fall to take the lecture platform, it was announced tonight by Louis J. Alber, manager of a lecture bureau here.

The announcement was made after General Butler conferred with Alber during a stop-over while en route from South Bend, Ind., to Buffalo, N. Y.

General Butler has been signed for the season from October 1931, to May 1932, Alber said, adding "he will resign his commission, but only with the consent of the president." He indicated official Washington had been notified of the intention to resign and said he expected no opposition would appear.

Story Of Louis Wolheim, Movie 'Tough Guy', Ends

Great Character Actor Dies Wednesday At Age Of 50; Tumbled Into His Career

(By The Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 18. — The of Louis Wolheim has ended.

Death came to the great character actor of stage and screen at 6 a. m., today closing a life which, if Wolheim had not lived it, might be set down as only an entrancing tale of fiction.

He passed away at the apex of his career after suffering with cancer of the stomach. At the bedside kneeled the companion of his life and his only survivor, his widow.

He was 50 years old, but for Hollywood, he was too young to die. His famous portrayals as the "tough guy" in many pictures and stage productions had brought him to the zenith of his life in the world of make believe and when death came there laid before him the greatest promise of his career.

Wolheim was one of the few in Hollywood who tumbled by accident into the life of the actor and long before his debut, fate had prepared him for his parts.

He was born in New York City March 28, 1880, and for 38 years he lived the life of an ordinary man. He graduated in 1905 from Cornell university with a degree in engineering. His stocky build well befitted him for football and it was during a game with Pennsylvania in 1904 that the battered nose which later became famous on stage and screen was first misshapen.

Running with the ball as a halfback, he was tackled hard and his nose broken.

In 1918 Lionel Barrymore, the noted actor, was dining in a New York cafe. He saw, across the room, a broad shouldered, pugnacious appearing man. The striking, bulldog features of the face caught the actor's eye and although he had never seen Wolheim before, he introduced himself and explained his visit.

Success greeted him almost from the start. Few who saw the stage production "What Price Glory," have forgotten the hard boiled

Deadlock Over Muscle Shoals Finally Broken

Congressional Leaders Think Compromise Agreement Is Facing Veto By Hoover If Approved By Congress

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18. — The 10-year-old deadlock between the house and senate over Muscle Shoals legislation was broken today, but many congressional leaders were apprehensive that the compromise agreement faced a veto by President Hoover if approved by congress.

The bill which emerged today from the conference committee after a year of negotiations provides for government operation of the power plant at Muscle Shoals, Ala., and lease of the nitrate plants to private interests if possible.

Experiments Likely.

If the nitrate plants are not leased within a year after the bill passes they would be operated by the government for experimental production of fertilizer.

The measure also provides for government construction of transmission lines to distribute power from Wilson dam, completion of the steam power plant, and construction of the Cove Creek dam on the Clinch river in Tennessee.

The provision for government construction of transmission lines is the controversial point which advocates of the measure fear may prevent its final enactment.

The congressional leader who has talked frequently with President Hoover on Muscle Shoals legislation said "there is not one chance in a million that he will sign this bill."

He predicted a veto which would throw the issue back into the next congress and into the 1932 presidental campaign.

The conference report will be submitted to the house tomorrow. Leaders planned to bring it up Friday.

Congestion Is Result Of Oil Boom In Gregg

Kilgore Claims More Humanity To Square Inch Than Any Community In Southwest As Result Of Recent Oil Play

BY R. W. BARRY
Associated Press Staff Writer.

KILGORE, Feb. 18. (AP)—This little Gregg county town doubtless has more humanity to the square inch than any other community in the southwest, if not in the nation. Congestion in Henderson and other East Texas oil rush towns, bad enough, does not begin to compare with the jam here.

The Eddie Jones-Crim No. 1 is on the verge of coming in, and doubtless would have been delivered not later than today had not a siege of inclement weather last week made the road to the location, about three and a half miles out, virtually impassable, impeding receipts of certain tools and equipment needed when a gusher arrives.

Sold To Humble.

The Jones-Crim isn't far from the Ed Bateman No. 1 Lou Della Crim, which came in making an estimated 20,000 barrels daily a few weeks ago and was sold to the Humble Oil and Refining company for $1,500,000.

Operators said completion of the new well was unlikely before Friday or Saturday.

There are about 40 wells drilling in the Kilgore pay area, with at

Would Preserve Majestic Beauty Of Niagara Falls

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18. (AP)—State department officials were perplexed tonight over the question of how to proceed with the problem of preserving the majestic beauty of Niagara Falls.

The senate foreign relations committee today rejected unanimously the proposed treaty with Canada providing measures to present erosion and recurrence of the recent rock slide. Its action placed the entire question again before the state department.

The treaty, already approved by the Canadian parliament, provided for diversion of water to power companies in return for which they would do such work as necessary to check erosion.

Little Girl With Big Red Apple Is The Only One Able To Crash Gate And See Paderewski At Wichita Falls

(By The Associated Press)

WICHITA FALLS, Feb. 18.—Paderewski couldn't be seen.

Reception committees, public officials and prominent musicians were kept out of the private car in which he lives by a vigilant retinue of servants and attendants who greeted all visitors with "I'm sorry, but you can't see him now."

Be that as it may, one young Wichita Falls flapper came, saw, and conquered the shy, reserved old master. The gray, shaggy head that nodded stiffly to those who rushed forward to greet him every time he left the car was bowed in grave obeisance to a wide-eyed little girl Wednesday afternoon, when three-year-old Martha Anne Holmes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne J. Holmes, calmly crashed the uncrashable gate, walking past protesting cooks, valets, private secretaries and managers to the room where Paderewski was eating his lunch, and presented him with a big red apple that she had bought for him.

Since 1922, when he returned to the concert stage after giving years and fortunes to the service of his native Poland, Paderewski has played for America and the world with all the fire and genius of his earlier days. Now at 70, with his farewell tour of the United States nearing its close, he is still acclaimed at his best.

Although he has sharply separated his art and his statesmanship, the pianist's next public gesture at the end of the tour will be the presentation of his collossal monument to Woodrow Wilson to the people of Poland.

The great figure in bronze and granite, the work of Gutzon Borglum, will be unveiled in Poznan on June 28, Paderewski's gift to the nation and his tribute to the man who did so much for Poland in the peace conference.

Paderewski sails for his home in Switzerland on May 22, the last day of his American tour.

Consideration Of Deficiency Bill Is Begun

Last Of Big Money Measures Begins Journey Down Legislative Paths Wednesday As House Starts Action

Boosts Allowances

Largest Sum In Bill Will Go To Veterans Administration; Public Building Projects Included In Proposal

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18. — The last of the big money bills of this congress began its journey down the legislative ways today when the house began consideration of the second deficiency bill.

The measure would immediately provide $59,108,000 to care for emergencies in government departments and $69,940,000 in allocations for more than 300 public building projects. The funds for the public buildings are provided for in a lump sum of $60,000,000 in the annual $1,100,000,000 treasury-postoffice, supply bill which went to the White House today. The remainder of the building funds are to be supplied by congress next December.

Would Aid Veterans

The largest sum in the bill—$23,668,000—went to the veterans administration, mostly to care for increased disability allowances.

As the house received the measure from its appropriations committee, Representative Byrns of Tennessee, ranking minority member of the comimttee, declared "this congress will be known as the $10,000,000,000 congress."

He said about $5,000,000,000 had been appropriated for each of the first two years of the Hoover administration. The people of the nation, he said, would demand econo-

Bills Reported To Await Turn

Legislative Committees Run At Full Speed Wednesday To Take Action On Number Of Texas Measures

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Feb. 18 — Committees ran at full speed today with several addidtional bills being reported out to await their turn on the floors of the house and senate. The senate state affairs committee voted a favorable report on a bill which would give Texas A. and M. a share in the University of Texas permanent fund. The bill, introduced by Senator Gainer of Bryan, would allow A. and M. $200,000 for each of the next three years and approximately one third of the interest accruing on the fund thereafter until 1944.

Hearing Conducted

The house committee on oil, gas and mining conducted a hearing on the bill to eliminate proration of marginal or small oil wells. The proposal, offered by Representative Hardy of Breckenridge, was deferred to a sub-committee with indications it would be favorably reported after minor changes. Tom E. Cranfill of Dallas, president of the state independents, said proration of small wells ruined them.

The house constitutional amendments comimttee took its first ac-

The other two are under 99-year terms on convictions in the murder.

John D. Jones, manager of the theater, was relieved of several diamonds, including a large stone, and two day's receipts after being slugged and bound in his office.

Extortion Is Exposed When Ruse Is Used

First Payment Of $100 On A Demand For $3,000 Causes Capture Of Would-Be Extortionist At Kerrville

(By The Associated Press)

KERRVILLE, Feb. 18.—The best-laid plans of a would-be extortionist had gone awry tonight as police here were holding a man accused of having obtained $100 from L. A. Schreiner, prominent Kerrville banker and wool buyer, as "first payment" on a demand for $3,000.

Schreiner received a printed letter on February 10 demanding that the $3,000 be left at a designated spot in an alley between the Schreiner wool warehouse and the Schreiner store. He was threatened with injury if he failed to comply. The letter was signed "labor."

Detective Assigned.

The banker went to San Antonio February 13 and conferred with Police Commissioner William Wright, at whose instance "Rich" Tucker, San Antonio city detective, was assigned to the case. "The Deacon," as Tucker is known to his fellow detectives, returned to Kerrville with Schreiner.

The two placed a bogus package at the place designated by the letter but two negroes found it and picked it up. They were arrested and questioned but were found to have known nothing of the extortionist's demand and were released.

Schreiner received another letter February 15, which reiterated the demand for $3,000 and the added threat that "it is a long distance from your home to the bank" and Mrs. Schreiner possibly would be injured. That missive also was signed "labor."

Sends $100.

Tucker and Schreiner put $100 in marked bills into an envelope, and Schreiner included a note, address-

Agreement For Vote Made To Speed Up Bill

Presidential Protest Swept Aside As Measure Rushed Through Finance Committee By Vote Of 13 To 3

Passage Predicted

Administration Leaders Hunt For Necessary One-Third Vote To Sustain Expected Veto Of President

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—Thrusting aside a presidential protest, the senate today swept the veteran's loan measure through its finance committee and decided to vote tomorrow in an effort to speed the legislation to the White House.

The finance committee approved the house bill authorizing loans to veterans up to half the face value of their compensation certificates by a vote of 13 to 3 within an hour after receiving a letter from the president vigorously objecting to the legislation.

Passage Predicted

Agreement quickly was entered into a moment later on the senate floor to take up the bill tomorrow and its passage by tomorrow night without change was predicted by Senator Harrison, Democrat, Mississippi, in getting the agreement for consideration.

Mr. Hoover's letter to Chairman Smoot of the senate finance committee asserting the measure will "not only nullify the benefits to the veterans but inflict injury to the country as a whole" was accepted at Capitol Hill as full warning of a veto.

Hunt For Votes

But administration leaders still were hunting tonight for the necessary one-third votes to sustain the veto and they admitted this number was not in sight in the senate.

Senator Watson, of Indiana, the Republican leader, joined five other Republicans on the finance committee in supporting the house bill after a substitute and all amendments had been rejected.

Under-secretary Mills of the treasury followed Mr. Hoover's letter to finance committee and told the senators the legislation would force the treasury to float a bond issue. He protested that "common business sense would tell anyone

John W. Davis To Represent Senate

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18. (AP) — The senate will be represented by John W. Davis, democratic presidential nominee in 1924, in its court contest with President Hoover over the right of Chairman Smith of the power commission to his office.

Davis will come to Washington in a few days to open the unprecedented legal proceedings which are expected to add another chapter in the history of constitutional clashes between the executive and legislative branches of the government.

Selection of Davis assures a spectacular court test with the former presidential candidate on one side and possibly Attorney General Mitchell on the other. The final decision probably will be rendered by the supreme court.

Wedding At P. H. Sammons Home This Morning To Introduce Busy Day

The Woman's Angle

BY BLANCHE E. BEAN

IT IS REFRESHING to read of one young woman who so yearned for her home and husband that she walked out of Hollywood and left her "big chance" in the movies flat. Edna Best, English girl, did that the other day and started back to dear Ol' Lunnon.

ON BANNING THE WOMEN

THESE companies that are banning married women employes. I wonder if they are accomplishing anything.

The latest I have read of is the Denver and Rio Grande Western railroad company which is laying off about forty married women who were in clerical positions. Of course, in an ideal situation, married women should not work because theoretically, they are supported by husbands. The catch in this is that many times the married woman's salary is as essential in the home as a man's.

The solution to the economic depression doesn't lie in banning married women—or all women, as some advocated—from working.

Among other things men can't fill the places women are holding in the business world. (Cheers from the male sidelines.)

THE DEW'S PLACE

HERE IS why you bleach linens by spreading them on the dewy grass to let the sun shine on them: The sun's rays and the oxygen in the water do the bleaching and the dew is good because it holds the moisture for a longer period of time. Freezing is better still, for frost holds the moisture in the linen.

SORRY MISTER:

Some fellow up in New York doesn't read by column. I'm afraid. He thinks I'm bothered with obesity, so today he sent a letter offering to send a free copy of Vance Thompson's "Eat and Grow Thin" and he dressed his letter all up with an introductory paraghaph which reads:

"Are you fat? Have you fasted and rolled on the floor? Have you boiled yourself in Russian and Turkish baths, and suffered all the other tortures of reducing? Then you have been following the dozen dangerous roads to thinness, says Dr. Leon Patrick, authority on dietetics, who contributes the introduction to the 111th (and revised) edition of Vance Thompson's famous book of Mahdah Menus for fat folk."

To all of which honesty compels me to reply, "No. I just growed thin. Boiling had nothing to do with it."

Perhaps somebody else would be interested in Mr. Thompson's don'ts for the corpulent. They're supposed to accompany the diet, I'm sure, and are:

Don't sleep too much.
Don't take naps.
Don't overeat, even of lean dishes.
Don't eat unless you are hungry.
Don't drink with your meals.
Don't drink alcoholic beaverages.
Don't eat bread—except gluten bread toasted, and this in moderation.
Don't take a cab—walk.

THANKS, ANYWAY

WHILE I'm hunting around for enough paragraphs to fill this out, Mrs. Otis Felty comes in with a bouquet of sweetpeas that she has grown and gives them to me. I can't think of any reason for anyone to give me anything and rather through some thanks. But I like the flowers just the same.

FOOL'S QUESTIONS

NOT LONG ago we were talking about forty questions asked to a group of college students and some typical ones were listed. Don't feel dumb if you couldn't answer them. Fifty-three Columbia University professors were asked to answer them. I am told, and forty-three refused. Of the ten submitting to the test, a professor who conducts course, in Slavonic literature led the list with 55.1 per cent.

ALTON, Ill., Feb. 18 (AP) — The Rev. Alonzo L. Shoemaker, 38, former pastor of a Pentecostal church here, was taken to Chester, Ill., penitentiary today to serve an indeterminate sentence of one to 10 years for the abduction of a 19-year-old former choir girl in his church.

IMPROVED ROASTING PROCESS RESULTS IN DISTINCTIVE COFFEE

Flavor Such as No Other Coffee Has is Marvelously Developed Through Control

Beyond a doubt the most revolutionary event in the history of coffee was the invention and patenting, a few years ago, of a remarkable roasting process by Hills Bros. of San Francisco.

This process is called Controlled Roasting. By permitting only a few pounds of coffee at a time to pass continuously through the roasters in which the heat and speed of operation are accurately controlled, a perfect roast is insured. Every berry is roasted evenly with the result that there is a matchless, uniform flavor in every pound.

Tests show that such flavor cannot be developed by the common method of roasting coffee in bulk. In spite of watchful care, the operator cannot prevent variation of roast in the different batches. Naturally there is variation in the flavor.

In order to keep their delicious coffee absolutely fresh, Hills Bros. pack it in vacuum. By this process air, which destroys the flavor of coffee, is taken out of the can and kept out. Ordinary cans, even if air-tight, do not keep coffee fresh. Hills Bros. Coffee is sold everywhere by grocers. Ask for it by name and look for the Arab—the trade-mark—on the can.

Texas Legion Started Fight

Wynn S. Goode, Service Officer, Says State First To Indorse Payment Of Adjusted Vets Certificates

The Texas American Legion was the first state department to indorse payments on adjusted service certificates and the Texas department was responsible for calling of the meeting at which the national executive committee of the Legion approved the proposal, according to Wynn S. Goode, service officer of the Texas department, of Austin.

Mr. Goode was here Tuesday and conferred with Daniel A. Blair, service officer, and other officials of Allen Brothers post, No. 148. The state service officer is on a tour in which he intends to visit virtually all West Texas and Panhandle posts.

Now With Senate

A proposal to permit former service men loans to the extent of 50 per cent of the face value of their service certificates was passed Monday by the house of representatives and has gone to the senate. The plan from which the compromise bill emerged was indorsed at the state convention of Texas legionnaires last August 1.

"Every ex-service man in Lubbock county should be a member of the Legion," said Mr. Goode.

Result Of Campaigns

"No legislation ever has been passed for the benefit of ex-service men that did not follow a determined campaign in its support by the Legion."

"Outstanding" was the word the Texas service officer used to describe the work of Allen Brothers post.

Mr. Goode arrived here at noon Tuesday and expected to leave this morning for Plainview.

Soviet Scientists Are Sturying " Anarchy Of Nature" In Arctic

It is to study the "anarchy of nature" that a Soviet scientific expedition composed of nine men and one woman has begun a three-year stay in the frozen wastes of Franz Josef Land, in the Arctic. These are the first pictures sent back from the expedition, which is kept in contact with civilization by radio. Below, center, is a general view of the colony in which the Communist scientists hope to discover the "laws of regularity" governing water and land, air, plants and animals in the far north. The explorers are shown above, center, erecting their main quarters. At the right is a close-up of Mme. Seek To Improve Quality Of Eggs

Quality of eggs offered for sale can be improved by the elimination of dirty, cracked, small or odd shaped eggs.

Farmers and poultrymen were urged to seek to improve quality of their eggs by that means in a letter from the Lubbock office of Titman Egg corporation to all buyers and branch managers.

W. R. Johnston, branch manager, in his letter, sets forth the claim that one reason for the present low price of eggs is the fact that there has been such a large amount of dirty, broken or odd sized eggs dumped on the market.

Asked To Keep Them

Farmers are asked to consume the odd sized and dirty eggs at home instead of selling them. They are also asked to provide enough nests for their laying hens so as to eliminate the necessity for more than one hen using a nest in which an egg has been laid.

Mr. Johnston points out that a broken, cracked or undersized egg does not have its edibility endangered by this fact. The sale value of the egg however is affected, as buyers do not care to pay for off sized eggs or for dirty eggs.

Prediction is made that by the elimination of these types of eggs from the market, there will be an immediate response with an increased price for the products.

Mrs. Woodrow Wilson Frequent Visitor In Senate Gallery; Listens To Debate

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17. (AP) — Occasionally she is seen in the senate gallery, listening to debate on some subject in which her husband was interested—Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, widow of the war-time president of the United States.

She lives, when she is in Washington, in the house where he spent his last days. She travels much, and when she is in Europe she usually visits the League of Nations at Geneva.

Attends Church.

Sometimes she attends the picturesque ivy-covered St. Margaret's Episcopal church, sometime she goes to the imposing Washington cathedral which towers above the city. There in a small chapel the body of Woodrow Wilson rests. There are always flowers and wreaths in front of the crypt.

Mrs. Wilson takes little part in the social life of the capital. She supports many charitable enterprises, and in recent years has taken more and more interest in the Women's Democratic club. She attends its meetings regularly.

Although she has avoided the limelight since her husband's death, she consented on one occasion to give a little talk before the club, with the understanding that no publicity be given her remarks.

Has Two Hobbies.

Flowers and music still are Mrs. Wilson's hobbies, as they were when she lived in the White House. Her informal musicales and small receptions in the red room assembled interesting groups of people who had a much better chance of becoming acquainted there than at the larger White House affairs. Under Mrs. Wilson's direction the flower garden south of the White House was replanted into restful and harmonious design.

From the day she married him, Dec. 18, 1915, until he died in 1924, Mrs. Wilson was her husband's almost constant companion. She came into his life when he was almost a recluse in the White House, following the death of his first wife in 1914.

She was Mrs. Galt then, widow of Norman Galt, a wealthy Washington jeweler. She was a friend of the president's daughter, Margaret, and she invited the Wilsons to a dinner at her home. After that she often was a White House guest.

For some years after the former president's death Mrs. Wilson always appeared in mourning, but recently has begun to include colors in her costumes.

She is spending the winter in Washington, although she takes a trip abroad almost every year.

Prize Of Contest Is European Trip

Conference winners of a subscription campaign conducted by the Christian Advocate, official organ of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, will be given trips to Europe, according to Fiske Miles, educational director of the First Methodist church in this city. Five conferences have been divided into areas for the campaign and first award in each conference is a sixty-day trip to Europe; second, a sum of $200 and third, $100.

On Sunday afternoon at an open house for young people at the church a ballot vote will be taken and one person will be elected to enter the contest.

An executive committee consisting of Robert Martin, Mildred Hinds, Daisy Lockwood, Ralph Glover, and Annie Fern Bickley students, together with Dr. John C Granbery, the Rev. J. O. Haymes Ethridge Eagan and Mr. Miles chose three delegates candidates this week from a selection of eleven They are Lizzie Belle Clements Lilah Gaye Rodgers and Don Wellenman.

The campaign opens Tuesday February 24 and continues until April 30.

Bill Provides Pensions For Widows Of World War Vets

Provisions of the Johnson bill enable World war veterans' widows who have children to receive pensions, according to Daniel A. Blair, service officer of Allen Brothers post, No. 148, of the American Legion.

Mr. Blair says he has handled applications for several widows and that he believes there are more in this section who are entitled to the aid. The bill provides that $26 a month is given each widow of a former service man, with $6 additional for each child.

A Judicious Decision Made

THE House committee on State Affairs, we believe, took the wishes of the majority of Texans into consideration the other day when its members voted unanimously to kill the bill providing for a State Board of Movie Censors.

With all respects to those who would like to sit in judgment of other persons' amusements, The Morning Avalanche doesn't believe there is a group in Texas—or in any other state—capable of deciding what the majority should have in the way of cinema productions. This newspaper continues to have faith in the judgment of the majority—still feels that a public capable of choosing its officials is likewise capable of choosing its entertainments.

The bill to establish such a board of overseers was introduced by Representative B. J. Forbes, of Weatherford, a minister of the gospel. There is no doubt that the gentleman from Weatherford was acting in sincerity, but he lost sight, in his zeal, of the fact that the people of this state are presumably fitted to decide problems for themselves, without aid in personal tastes from the legislature.

We agree, en toto, with Representative VanZandt, of Tioga, who opposed the bill on the grounds that "the best way to prevent the showing of indecent pictures is through public opinion not to support such showings." We consider that the tastes of Texans are still such as to turn thumbs down upon cinema productions which smack of the risque.

Representative Forbes argued that some means must be taken to guard children from the effects of questionable movie productions and we agree with him entirely. But we believe the guarding must be done by parents who, charged with the responsibility of rearing their offspring, should be relied upon to exercise ordinary judgment in when to permit their children to attend theatres.

There are many motion pictures unfitted for children which are not in the least injurious to grown-ups. Cinema productions cannot be scaled for adults upon a basis of child welfare, any more than a diet can be selected for the benefit of all people—young and old. No one will deny that a beefsteak may be beneficial to an adult, yet fatal to a small child. We feel the same way about movies.

Parents should not wish to hide behind the skirts of a State Board of Movie Censors. The Morning Avalanche doesn't believe the average parent cares to shunt the responsibility of rearing his child off on any appointive group—no matter whom may compose it. That isn't the way to assure the right kind of home discipline.

If conditions in Texas cities, where a local board of movie censorship is in control of amusements, may be taken as a criterion of state censorship, we certainly want none of the latter. We prefer to rely upon the belief that intelligence in this state is not lodged with a handful of individuals who might be chosen to make up a movie censorship board.

In a radio address A. Smith remarked, "When I run for public office again." Letting radio listeners in on the ground floor.

Practical Health Problems

MENTAL DISORDERS MAY CAUSE CHILDREN TO LIE

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

One problem that disturbs parents as much as any other is the tendency of children to invent the most fantastic explanations for their actions and to indulge in what is plainly and bluntly called lying, on what sometimes appears to be slight provocation.

In association with recent attempts to analyze scientifically the reasons for the conduct of the child, the psychologists have given special attention to this problem.

Professor Franz Alexander believes that children lie because they need to lie more than do adults in order to satisfy their wishes and to maintain themselves toward conditions in the outer world. Therefore, children lie because adults compel them to lie.

The child, when it comes into the world, has no knowledge of right or wrong, and its code of conduct is determined by its parents. If parents compel the child to do something which it feels is unjust, it is likely to respond by resentment in the form of equivocation and evasion.

The parents are so much more powerful than the child that the child of necessity responds to subterfuge if compelled to do something that it does not understand. Hence, as Doctor Alexander points out, it is necessary for the parent who demands restrictions of the child to compensate in some manner in order that it may realize the value of restrictions. The parent should, of course, endeavor to understand the reason for various inhibitions.

The child recognizes in its parent a master. It is always the tendency of those who are dependent to endeavor to please the master. Thus the child sometimes lies to please the parent, realizing that such pleasure will be compensated by a reward.

There is finally the lying that is purely the result of fanciful imagination. Thus the child will invent strange tales in order to please itself in a world in which pleasure is sometimes found with great difficulty.

Sometimes the lying of the child is, however, not the harmless type of lying that is imaginative and fantastic, but the pathologic lie invented for the definite purpose of deceit. This type of lying is seen, of course, in grownups as well as in children, and represents in many cases a mental disorder requiring careful study by an expert in order to get at the basis of the disturbance and thus to correct it.

A child whose mind is troubled by some social or moral condition that it does not understand may lie in order to compensate in its own mind for the conflict that is going on. Hence it is especially necessary that the parents be sufficiently close to their children to detect the mental conflict and to explain it away logically rather than to force the child into lying in order to obtain mental quietude.

Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—It took a Democrat to rescue the present Republican administration from the worst danger it is possible for a political entity to run into.

The danger is the danger of seeming hard boiled toward the country's ex-soldiers.

Ex-soldiers are so numerous and they have so many friends and overwhalming appeals in their behalf are so easy to make, that it simply is fatal to resist any demand on which they are at all united.

Hence the administration's supporters shook in their shoes as they observed the development of the movement for immediate payment of our World war veterans' bonus certificates. Originally they were not to have been payable until 1945, but these are hard times and the boys need their money now, it was cogently argued. Nevertheless, the administration did not like the idea.

FOR ONE thing, said Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, turning three and a half billion dollars loose all at once would send prices skyhooting, the veterans would spend their few hundreds or thousands each just at the time when they would get the least in return—and then the boom would burst and times would be worse than ever. Moreover, he continued, of course the government would have to issue bonds to raise the three and a half billions and these bonds, be predicted, would knock the bottom out of every other security and leave the country's industries gasping for funds to carry on business.

Secretary Mellon IS a hard-boiled financier, and due allowance has to be made for the fact that that is exactly what he is, in deciding how much weight to give to his expressions of opinion relative to public policies. Here, however, was a situation in which, according to many folk, his predictions sounded probable.

But they never made a dent in the bonus lineup. If the plan's advocates noticed his prophecies at all, it was merely to say that he talked like a banker.

The prospects at that stage in the proceedings all were in favor of congress' adoption of the program outlined, regardless of the administration's objections and despite the house of representatives' oft-manifested pdasticiay in the hands of its administration managers. That is to say, th ehouse is manageable up to a certain point, but to ask a representative to antagonize all the exservice men in his district is too much for almost any politician.

AT THIS juncture along came Owen D. Young, and by heck!—if he doesn't appear to have averted the peril.

Far from being a plugger for the current administration, Owen D., as we all know, is a Democratic presidential possibility himself; none the less so for having denied that he is in the running.

As an expert witness before the representatives' ways and means committee, engaged in considering veterans' legislation, Mr. Young agreed in genera, with Secretary Mellon as to the likely effect of a three and a half billion dollar government bond offering on the securities market, and as to the chances of an ensuing boom, followed by a disastrous slump—all of which produced no great impression, being too technical.

But after that he raised a question calculated to catch anyone's attention.

Could the government, he queried, sell such a lot of bonds?

HERE WAS something that never apparently had occurred to a soul present. It evidently had been taken for granted that the government could do anything.

"Well, I have grave doubts about it," quoth Owen D. "We have had no experience with peace-time bond sales to an amount so staggering, and no one knows whether the issue could be sold at all."

The ways and means committeemen gazed at one another quite blankly. They had heard plenty of hints that the inerest rate would have to be mighty high, but the notion that Uncle Sam might offer a huge batch of bonds and fail to find enough customers a new one.

It would be a nice thing for the national credit, Mr. Young intimated, to have it happen, wouldn't it?

THIS JOLT by Owen D. Young, more than any other argument, was what started the compromise negotiations which have been pending on Capitol Hill.

In the main, he furnished the tentative scheme—

To let the veterans who actually are in need borrow on their bonus certificates up to 50 per cent of their value, instead of 22 per cent, as hitherto, and cut the interest they must pay from 6 to 4 per cent.

Thus, Mr. Young estimates, the sum Uncle Sam must dig up immediately will be reduced from three and a half billions to half a billion.

IT REMAINS to be seen how it will suit the veterans.

Senator Couzens of Michigan also contributes a disquieting suggestion—the entire sum will have to be paid in 1945 anyway.

But let the party in power then worry about that.

A RICH PRIZE

New York has long entertained the ambition to usurp the position of Paris as the style capital of the world. Leading the world in the manufacture of garments, the metropolis would like also to lead it in the designing of garments.

For several years "originals" have been coming out of the New York garment center in gratifying numbers until Paris has been forced to recognize them, although as yet without fear of losing her supremacy in the world of fashion. "Paris fashions" are still quite the thing with America's fashionable, and more Paris "originals" than American "originals" are being copied and "adapted" by our garment makers.

But the New York style center has sold itself on the idea of some day rivaling, if not leading, Paris in setting the vogue. Supported already by several promising designers, it has established an institute for styling and merchandising.

It is the ambitious purpose of the institute, which has the backing of the Carnegie Corporation, the Chambers of Commerce of New York, Brooklyn, Newark, Paterson and Jersey City, to develop fashion creators from the rank and file of designers who are highly skilled in adapting French originals to the taste of the American woman.

This is not a case of chasing rainbows. Millions of American dollars cross the Atlantic every year to line the pockets of the French garment trade, millions that ought to stay at home to enrich Americans and America. If the pursuers get what they are pursuing it will be a rich prize.

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

WE KNOW MORE ABOUT THE SUN THAN THE CORE OF THE EARTH.—All theories regarding composition, shape and consistency of the interior of our earth are merely speculative. It is assumed that the hard crust, or the cold outer portion of the earth, is about nine miles deep. Beyond that depth the materials of which it is composed are thought to be liquid, or even gaseous. In comparison we are much better informed about the sun, the mean distance of which is 93,000,000 miles from our planet.

RALPH SANDERS RODE A BULL 2,700 MILES.—Sanders, mounted on a sturdy bull of the Texas range, arrived in New York City on January 20th, 1931, after a 254 day trip from Brownsville, Texas, over a roundabout route covering 2,700 miles. The trip, which started May 12, 1930, was undertaken in the interest of Sanders' health, and it greatly benefited both rider and mount. The latter gained 100 pounds in weight while wearing out seven sets of iron shoes.

THE DRONE BEE HAS A GRANDFATHER BUT NO FATHER.—According to Dr. Dzierson, the eminent entomologist, the fertilized queen bee can lay fertilized or unfertilized eggs at will. The drone, or male bee, is a product of the latter. It follows that the drone has a mother and a maternal grandfather, but no male parent.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Because life was so slow in the little town of Red Thrush, Iowa, GINGER ELLA TOLLIVER conceived the idea of a Junior Country Club to save the younger set from utter boredom. It was to be exclusive—no parents allowed, no babies. Accordingly, she arranged for the purchase of the Mill Rush farm, a 10-acre tract with an old house on it, and proceeded, with the assistance of her friends, to overhaul and furnish it.

Ginger was the daughter of a minister and the stepdaughter of a very wealthy woman, the former PHIL VAN DOORN, who was a tolerant person and crazy about Ginger.

One day, while the rehabilitation of the club house was going on, an artist called at the kitchen of the Tolliver home and offered to do a portrait in exchange for a meal. After he had shaved off his beard Ginger saw that he was good looking. He had studied in Paris and his name was BARD HOLLOWAY.

Ginger, who was never at a loss for ideas, thought it would be a good one if Bard remained for a while in Red Thrush, instead of wandering about the country like a hobo. He could pick up some money painting portraits for families who would be flattered—especially if the Tollivers sponsored him. And he could do mural decorations in the new club house, for Ginger was bound it would be a success.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER X

"Something very modern and daring, eh? Full of the joie de vivre," Holloway said.

"That's a good name for it, too," said Ginger thoughtfully. "joie de vivre means just what we stand for. No parents, no preachers, no babies. Yes, we'll call it joie de vivre. That's the first article in the constitution."

"I'm sure I could do it," he said "I'd like to."

"I can't pay you a lot but you don't need to work very hard at it. You see—don't tell anybody—it's my club, and I'm footing the bills. Phil and father don't know it yet. And it is taking a lot more money to fix it up than I figured on. Maybe we can arrange with Phil for you to stay here while you are doing it, and I will pay you all I can spare."

"I don't think I could stay here—I'm sure— Who is Phil?"

"Phil is my stepmama. She'll be surprised." Ginger eyes twinkled. "Think up a good reference—she may ask for one. You never know what to expect of people who have money. Make it somebody who lives a long way off so she can't hear too soon—Paris, maybe. Or China, if you know anybody there."

"Do you live here alone, you and Phil?"

"And father," said Ginger nonchalantly.

Bard Holloway moved uneasily. "You father! Gosh, what will he think if you spring me on him like this — dropped in from heaven knows where? He'll be sure to object. And he'll ask a lot of questions—"

"Not father. He wouldn't dream of objecting because he is the sort who never sees any reason to object. And he wouldn't think of asking questions. But look out for Phil."

When he professed himself entirely satisfied with his food, Ginger stood up and tapped her lips reflectively. "What do you think I should do first, Gooby?" she asked. "Show him to Phil, or put him right away to work at Mill Rush?"

"I should think you'd better tell Miss Phil first," said Gooby judiciously.

"Yes, but on the other hand, if he has already started to do the walls, he'll have to finish the job," said Ginger.

"Yes, that's so, too," said Gooby agreeably.

Bard Holloway interrupted them, laughing, but firm. "Nothing doing," he said. "It is more dignified to show me to the family first. I'm strong for dignity. It was the continental life did it. If they're going to chuck me out they can jolly well do it before I put any long-legged women on your walls."

Ginger sighed.

"All right," she assented moodily. "Gooby, do you think it would look better to take him around the house and in by the front door, or shall we just go through from here and take a chance on it?"

"I'd go by the front door," said Gooby, who was rather punctilious about details of etiquette.

"I suppose so," said Ginger. "All right. You take his bag up to the front room—no, give him the room on the southwest—the furniture isn't so expensive there, but the view's better. Take the portfolio right up. Come on, then, Mr. Bard Holloway. Wipe the pencil marks off your chin and follow me."

"Aren't they going to think this AMARILLO, Feb. 18. (Special.)—Premiums totaling $300 for carload beef cattle are included in the premium lists of the first annual Amarillo Fat Stock show, which will be held here March 2 to 5, inclusive.

Catalog of the show came off the presses this week. The premiums for carload beef cattle were contributed equally by the Fat Stock show, the American Hereford Cattle breeders, and Julian Bivins of Amarillo. A carlot is composed of 15 animals, either steers or heifers.

Another feature will be the meat grading and cutting demonstration by the United States department of agriculture. Cattle will be graded both on the hoof and on the block, and demonstrations given to teach the art of home-cutting.

Show officials and officers of the five organizations cooperating in the show are enthusiastic over the rapid completion of new facilities at the Tri-State Fair grounds, where the show will be held. The sale ring, seating 1,000 is nearly finished. Steel is practically all in place for the new sale arena. Comfortable quarters for attendants with the cattle are being installed, including gas, lights and hot water. Plenty of room is provided in the judging arena for groups and spectators inspecting the offerings. Offices where the business of the sales can be handled easily and quickly are going in right at the arena. Every precaution is being taken to provide the necessary machinery for making the show schedule move swiftly and smoothly throughout the four days.

Lubbock Beats Amarillo; Tech Drops To Buffs, 50-43

Teams Battle Fiercely For Last Victory

Game Ends Scheduled Season For Both Clubs; Lubbock Plays Sensational Game To Overcome Amarillo Lead

When athletic teams of Lubbock and Amarillo schools meet there is always something to see in the way of feature entertainment and it is said that the teams always fight against each other harder than against any other foes.

They met last night on the Tech basketball court. There followed a game that was truly a fitting climax to the playing season of 1931. The final score was 25 to 17, favoring the Westerners of Lubbock high school. But it was the manner by which that score was made and not the actual score itself that delighted one of the largest crowds of the season here.

Both teams fought every inch of the way in typical Lubbock-Amarillo style. Both teams were keyed to a high pitch. Both teams were highly ambitious of winning. But it was one of the smoothest, most orderly and best governed contests of the year. Coach Keeling sent in the usual five men to start the game and when the battle ended the original five men were still in. They had gone the entire route without a substitution. Forewarned not to execute fouls but to fight all the way, only six personal fouls were called by Referee Hambright on the locals. The maximum for an individual was two. The Sandies fared a bit worse. Extremely desirous of making it two for the season over Lubbock they were over anxious and one man, Cazzell, who played a fine defensive game at guard was disqualified. Hambright was conservative with his whistle on both sides.

Lubbock Guards Look Good.

Capt. Jimmie Knight of the Westerners failed to get going with his long shots and for the second time this season dropped high scoring honors. He looped a pair of neat baskets, but little Jack Quinlan, dwarfed in size in comparison with the rest of the field, made up for Knight's weakness and three times scored from scrimmage, twice from a good distance. Thompson and Payne, playing their best games of the season, offensively and defensively, were good for two field goals each and Thompson dropped in three from the foul line.

High scoring honors were divided between Quinlan, who also tossed two free ones, and Fennimore, a substitute forward for Amarillo each with eight points. Fenninimore was the only effective scorer for the Sandies, shooting true from scrimmage four times.

The Sandies appeared a bit stronger on the defense and many times had ample opportunities to score from under the basket, but their shooting was erratic and they failed to locate the ring. Davis, Cazzell, Corbett and Captain Bufkin were good for one field goal each. Bufkin, all-state backfield ace captain of the 1930 Amarillo football team, played one of the best defensive games seen here this season. A bit slow, he was, but steady and careful.

The game was closely played all the way. Lubbock spotted Amarillo to a 4-point lead in the first eight minutes, but in the second quarter Quinlan and Payne found the basket a sufficient number of times to warrant a 12-to-9 lead at the rest period. The Sandies never regained the lead. Each team gained 4 points in the third quarter, Fennimore doing Amarillo's shooting, but in the final period the Westerners went on a party to gather 9 points while their adversaries totalled 4 for the eight minutes.

The game was the final practice contest of the season for both teams. Both are entered in district tournaments this week in their respective cities.

Tech Stages Second Fun Night For Men Only

Wrestling And Boxing Appear On 'Fun' Card

Varsity And Freshman Honor Letter Sweaters Awarded At Open House Tonight; To Start Program at 7:30

Varsity and freshman football awards in the form of letter sweaters will be given tonight to Texas Tech gridsters of the 1930 season when the Tech athletic department holds its second monthly "open house and fun night" for men only at the Texas Tech gymnasium.

All men students of the college and all men of the city are invited to the gymnasium tonight where, at 7:45, there begins a varied program of athletic events and military demonstrations tended to produce entertainment in plenty and a closer spirit between college and business men of Lubbock.

At the first open house held last month the largest crowd of the year packed the gymnasium and were delighted with a program of boxing, wrestling, dancing and singing. The program tonight promises to be even more satisfying, "bigger and better than ever," as promoters suggest.

To open the program the bands of Texas Tech and Lubbock high school will unite in a grand march and frolic, furnishing the music throughout the evening for the visitors. Boxing, wrestling and machine gun demonstrations follow the awarding of sweaters and medals.

The program in detail is as follows:

Texas Tech and Lubbock high school bands in frolic.

Awarding of Matador varsity football honor sweaters.

Awarding of Picador freshman football honor sweaters.

Presentation of a pennant to Dean J. M. Gordon by W. L. Stangel as a token of the intramural football supremacy of the School of Liberal Arts.

Heavyweight boxing, Al Simmons 197, vs. "The Unknown," 205.

Popular army sing-song, W. R. Waghorne in charge.

Heavyweight wrestling, "Terrible" Tribble, 168 vs. "Tuffy" Carr, 210.

Matador blackface minstrel.

Strong Man Frizzell.

Fancy rope jumping by the "Swede."

Battle royal, six African heavyweights.

Harper of Oakland, Cal., have been ranked No. 1, respectively, of the men's and women's divisions by the United States Lawn Tennis association. Both were unranked this season because he turned professional. Mrs. Moody was unranking [illegible] championship tourney at Forest Hills, L. I., forfeiting her chance to successfully defend her 1929 national title.

Matadors Give Buffs Hardest Fight Of Year

Game On Even Terms To Finish With Buffs Staging Rally To End With Lead; Hodges Leads Club With 10 Points

(By The Associated Press)

CANYON, Feb. 18. — The Texas Tech Matadors gave the West Texas Teachers their toughest basketball game of the season here tonight, and were barely beaten by a score of 50 to 43. The game was a thriller from start to finish, keeping the huge gallery in an uproar as first one side and then the other forged ahead until late in the game when the Buffs pulled away.

It was almost entirely an offensive affair with the Matadors scoring from any and all angles, taking every possible shot no matter how far from the Buff goal the shooter stood.

Giant Joe Fortenberry, Buff center, was high-point man with 16 counters, while Comer, forward and tip-in artist for the winners, was next, with 13. Hodges, sharp-shooting forward of Tech, led his club with 10.

The battle excelled the Buffalo-Phillips "66" contest this winter for sheer fan enjoyment, and it was apparent from the starting whistle the Matadors were a ball club, the likes of which is surpassed by none in these parts save the Buffaloes.

A sizzling first half in which all kinds of basketball was displayed by both sides ended 25 to 23 for the Buffs. With 10 minutes to go in the initial period the score was tied at 13-all. Then the Buffs made it 19 to 13 by calling into use one of Burton's most famous scoring plays—the guard rushing in play. Tech then called time out, came back from the huddle and did enough scoring in the next two minutes to knot the count at nineteen. Then followed one basket each and the count was 23 to 23 with three minutes left in the half. Bob Clark, Buff guard, looped in a long one from the center of the court just as the gun sounded to give his team a 25 to 23 lead.

Buffs Fight Hard For Lead

In the beginning of the second half, the Buffs fought furiously to pull up in the lead with a 38 to 29 score. Then followed the most desperate fight ever seen on a Buff court, and with the game due to finish in seven minutes, the count stood, 44 to 36 with the scrapping Matadors on the short end. At this point Giant Joe and Colosus Comer connived on some niffty tip ins, and with but one minute to play the score board read—Buffaloes 50, Tech 41. During the final minute Tech scored one field goal to cut the Buff's winning margin to seven points.

National League Prexy Says New Ball Is Boon

New Ball To Bring Baseball Back To Normal

BY ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 18. (AP)—Baseball, like nearly everything else in sport and business and life in general, is seeking the normal levels again after having been, in effect, on a good old fashioned spree, in the opinion of the National League's chief executive, John Arnold Heydler.

So far as the national game is concerned, Heydler believes, the adoption of a less lively ball for the 1931 season will have a wholesome effect in bringing play back to normal, with a better balance of power so far as the pitcher and batter are concerned.

New Ball Result of Study.

"This was no sudden and hasty decision on our part," he explained to the Associated Press today. "A good many of our club owners have felt for a long time that the ball was too fast, that pitchers were handicapped and the long hitters making a joke out of the home run.

"We considered many suggestions but finally adopted the heavier cover and coarser stitching, as a means of making the ball slightly heavier and enabling the pitcher to get a better grip on it, thereby increasing the chances of his effectiveness and control.

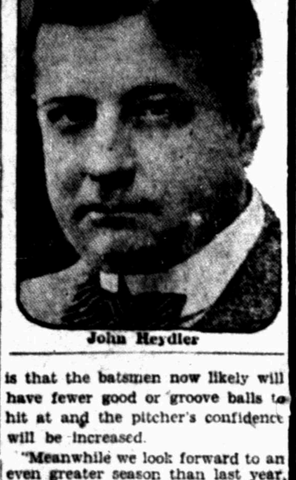

Won't Hinder Ruth, Klein.

"I think the changes will do much to restore the scientific features of the game, without at the same time handicapping any of the really great long sluggers, such as Ruth, Klein and Wilson. Those fellows will knock the ball out of the park any time they connect.

"The main difference, as I see it, is that the batsmen now likely will have fewer good or groove balls to hit at and the pitcher's confidence will be increased.

"Meanwhile we look forward to an even greater season than last year, when National League attendance records again were broken."

The league's president, with Mrs. Heydler, plans to spend a vacation in Miami before visiting some of the Florida training camps.

RUTH BREAKS RECORD

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Feb. 18. (AP) — Babe Ruth, the well known golfer, broke the course amateur record for the season at the Jungle club today when he turned in a snappy 71, two above par. The Babe went out in a par 34 but in spite of two birdies on the second nine, was two over par with 37.

Jones, Golden Square Match In Exhibition

Gene Sarazen And Horton Smith Even Cards With Bobby And Johnny; Play At Atlanta Club

(By The Associated Press)

EAST LAKE COUNTRY CLUB, ATLANTA, Ga., Feb. 18. Bobby Jones and Johnny Golden, Connecticut professional, finished their exhibition match here today with Gene Sarazen and Horton Smith, New York professionals, all square after 18 holes.

Golden and Sarazen were tied medal low score with 72, one over par. Jones had 74 and Smith trailed with a 75.

Smith and Sarazen went into an early lead on the second hole of the first nine as Horton sank his putt for a par three while the other three needed fours. Jones narrowly missing his putt for a par. Neither could win another hole until the ninth, when both Sarzen and Smith were in trouble and Golden pitched his third shot five feet from the pin to go down for a birdie four.

This squared the match and it rolled along in that fashion until the 16th when Bobby sank a 15-foot putt for a birdie three to gain the advantage.

Both Smith and Sarazen had a hand in the final squaring of things on the last green, a par three hole. Bobby was in a trap and Golden was barely on the edge of the carpet, with a difficult downhill putt. Bob got out nicely and missed a three as his 30-foot putt rolled around the edge of the cup but refused to fall in. Golden also narrowly missed his second putt. Smith and Sarazen were in close putting distance with their seconds and each got a three.

(By The Associated Press)

Ponies Tumble To Baylor '5' In First Loss

First Defeat Of Season Is Handed Championship-Bent Mustangs When Bruins Win By 34 To 28 Victory

(By The Associated Press)

WACO, Feb. 18.—The hitherto unbeaten Southern Methodist University basketball players realized their worst fears tonight when Baylor inflicted their first conference defeat of the season, 34-28.

The Ponies were always battling to come from behind. Early in the game they had a lead of six to four but that was the only time they were out in front. The score later was tied at 8-all, and at 9-all, but then Baylor ran its lead to 13-9, then a bit later to 15-10, the half closing with the Bruins leading 16-10.

In the second half, on a series of free shots the Ponies cut the Baylor lead to two points, but the Bruins came right back and smashed their longest lead of the game, 22-14. Coach St. Clair then jerked some of his stars, sent in fresh blood Puny Witcher, a great Baylor guard going out on personal fouls as the substitutes rallied for the Ponies. The Bears ran their lead to 24-15 but did not score another point until the Ponies had brought their total up to 22.

Ralls Is Crosby County Champion

RALLS, Feb. 18. (Special)—Ralls high school Jackrabbits clinched the Crosby county basketball championship here tonight by defeating the Robertson Eagles, 37 to 12.

The cage contest was more interesting than the score indicates, Ralls experiencing more than the usual good fortune in locating the hoop. The Jackrabbits' first scheduled game in the district tournament at Lubbock is against the champions of Garza county.

For Ginger's Sake

a very strange proceeding?" inquired the artist anxiously as he followed Ginger along the flowered flagstone path from the kitchen door.

"Oh, not so very," she assured him comfortingly. "They are so used to strange proceedings."

"But after all this is pretty much out of the ordinary, you know."

"Most things are," she replied.

Circumstances conspired to ease the awkwardness of their sudden appearance. Phil was reading aloud to Mr. Tolliver on the front piazza. A piazza presentation is bound to be less formal than one in even the most livable of living rooms.

"Oh, hello, darlings," called Ginger cheerfully. "Got to interrupt a minute, Phil, dear, I want you to meet Mr. Holloway, the artist from New York. My father and my stepmother, the Tollivers, Mr. Holloway is the artist who is going to brighten up the walls at Mill Rush, father."

"How nice," said Phil, extending a friendly hand.

"I hadn't heard about it," said Mr. Tolliver cheerfully. "Seems like a bright cheerfully, "Seems like to have pretty much of a time out there, Ginger—you chil—and I take it as a distinct ship that parents and preachers barred, thus cutting me out on counts."

"And babies, too," added Ginger. "Do come up and sit down," said cordially.

And in less than minute they all sitting companionably together on the pleasant piazza, quite as they had known one another for years. Ginger entirely comfortable about it all, Mr. Holloway just the least bit ill at ease.

"Mr. Holloway is going to do a portrait of Mrs. Updike while he is here, too, and maybe one of Mirabelle," announced Ginger cheerfully.

"Oh, that is just lovely," said Phil with quiet appraising eyes upon the young man's face.

"Where are you stopping in town?" inquired Mr. Tolliver cordially.

"Why, to tell the truth," he began, but Ginger interrupted with a great burst of conversationalism.

"To tell you the truth, father, he isn't stopping at all yet. He just arrived. Naturally he wouldn't wish to make a mistake, so we thought it better ask you. What do you think about it, father? The hotels here are so awful. Don't you suppose we could be more comfortable at Mrs. Adams' boarding house? I wish the club house was ready—we could put him up there. He will be here for—oh, maybe a couple of weeks or—"

"Why, my dear boy," said Mr. Tolliver, "why don't you stay here with us? We have plenty of room, and it would be a pleasure—"

"Oh, that would be nice," gurgled Ginger. "So convenient. He is going to do a portrait of me, too, Phil, in color, and I am going to give it to you for a present. Including the frame. And you can pick it out yourself and I'll pay for it."

"How nice," said Phil enigmatically.

"I think that would be a very great imposition upon your good nature—er—entirely unwarranted," said Bard Holloway clumsily.

"Not at all, my dear sir—it will be a pleasure. This is a par—Phil, my darling," he said contritely, "I beg your pardon. I forgot that this is your hiuse I am living in—and no longer a parsonage."

Phil laughed good-naturedly. "It is our house," she said, "and all your invitations hold good here. Any house that harbors you and Ginger is a parsonage and open to all comers. That's all it would take to turn a palace into a parsonage, you and Ginger.

"I agree with my husband, Mr. Holloway, that it will be a joy to have you stay here with us while you stay in Red Thrush." And she observed how Ginger's eyes shone thanks.

Ginger stood up. "That's settled," she said cheerfully.

"I beg your pardon," said the artist humbly. "I'm very sorry, Miss Ginger, but I simply can't let you get away with this. They've got entirely the wrong impression. I confess I don't see how you worked it so cleverly, but you did. I didn't come here upon commissiin to do that club house. Miss Ginger doesn't know me at all—"

"But you're going to do the club house," she interrupted hotly.

Cotton Firmness Revealed In Cotton Market — Livestock Active Demand In Livestock Market — Grain Fair Demand In Cash Grain Mart

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 18. (AP)—Trading in cotton was active today and prices moved upward rather briskly. New York had advanced while the market here was closed yesterday and Liverpool cables were much better than due, hence prices here opened up 14 to 18 points.

There was a slight reaction of 1 to 2 points after the start on realizing but the market promptly firmed up again on active trade buying and shorts covering. The advance was helped by very favorable advices from the domestic goods markets and by improvement in the political situation in India. Firmer stocks also were a helpful influence.

Prices moved upward all morning and in the early afternoon, showing gains over the previous close of 20 to 21 points. The market continued to rule firm in the late trading with active trade buying and shorts covering and made new highs 1 point above the earlier highs and closed at or near the top, the general market showed net gains for the day of 29 to 31 points. The late strength was shown despite easier stocks.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Feb. 18. (AP) — Cotton showed continued firmness today, with prices making new high ground for the movement on further trade buying and covering. This evidently was stimulated by relatively firm Liverpool cables and encouraging reports as to the prospects for a settlement of the disputes in India, while far eastern interests were credited with buying again in the local market. May contracts sold up to 11.45 in the late trading and closed at 11.44 with the general market closing firm at net advances of 18-21 points.

Houses with Liverpool and continental connections were reported buyers here. The advance met considerable realizing and a little southern selling from time to time but offerings were absorbed on comparatively slight setbacks and the highest prices of the day was reached in the late trading. March sold up to 11.16 and October to 11.99 making recoveries of about 153 to 177 points from the low records of the season touched during the middle of December. Closing prices were at about the best of the day.

Reports of continued good sales of print cloths in the domestic market no doubt contributed to the advance while cable advices received said there had been fair sales of cotton cloth for shipment from Manchester to India. An improved demand also was reported for Egyptian yarns in Lancashire and advances of 18-27 points were reported in the market for Egyptian cotton futures in Alexandria.

Another Early Flare-Up In Stocks Is Dampened By Realizing On Wednesday

BY JOHN L. COOLEY
Associated Press Financial Writer.

NEW YORK, Feb. 18. (AP) — Another early flare-up in stocks was dampened by realizing today, but this time the market had enough vitality to stiffen in the late trading and prices closed somewhat higher, although well below the days top.

Bullish activity during the forenoon rally was somewhat restrained, nor was the rush to take profits as pronounced as on Tuesday. The result was a sharp decrease in turnover, sales approximating 2,800,000 shares against 4,000,000 in the previous session.

Reports that steel production had maintained an advance for the eigth consecutive week and that automobile manufacturers were increasing their schedules probably represented a reasonable basis for an advance in shares of companies affected by such mildly encouraging news. Foods and utilities also looked up, the latter in sympathy with smaller decline reported in electric power production as reported for last week. With the copper trade talking 13 1-4 cent metal, stocks of leading producers were stimulated. Rails and oils were dull.

President Hoover's statement to the senate on the bonus was followed by firming tendencies in U. S. government securities, which closed with small advances. The tone of the entire bond market improved, especially in the rail division which responded to savings bank buying.

tion of the session. It voted a favorable report on a proposed constitutional amendment by Representative Johnson of Carrizo Springs to lighten requirements for the redemption of property sold for taxes. Johnson would allow the original owner to repurchase the property for 25 per cent more than the sale price during the first year and for 50 per cent above the sale price during the second year.

The senate criminal jurisprudence committee reported favorably on the bill by Representative Petsch of Fredericksburg to make kidnaping a capital offense. The bill passed the house overwhelmingly and senate action was expected within a few days.

The first deficiency appropriation bill was signed today by the governor.

It calls for $162,725 to cover deficiency warrants approved by former Governor Moody. The governor also signed a resolution asking congress to consider the establishment of a national park in Texas.

The house spent the entire morning and nearly an hour overtime continuing its argument on the departmental emergency appropriation bill.

The agricultural bloc again was beaten at every turn in its fight for additional appropriations for the state department of agriculture.

To Increase Force

The measure carries $300,000 for the bureau of industrial alcohol to permit an increase in the force to replace those lost in the transfer of the prohibition bureau from the treasury to the justice department last July.

Roads and trails in national parks received $2,500,000 on a project to increase employment, while $1,270,000 was set aside for fighting forest fires. Penal institutions under the federal prison expansion program were given $1,904,000 and $1,900,000 was allowed for the completion of the new penitentiary at Lewisburg, Pa.

Hostility Between New And Bartlett Shown In Hearing

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18. (AP)—A deep-seated hostility between Harry S. New, postmaster general under Presidents Harding and Coolidge, and John H. Bartlett, his assistant, was disclosed today by New before the senate postal lease investigating committee. He came to defend his record against Bartlett's accusations.

Declaring Bartlett was "obsessed with the idea that he ought to be postmaster general," New said the reason he had "endured" his former assistant for six years was because of his "capacity as a trader."

The former postmaster general defended the St. Paul commercial station postoffice lease which he approved and denied he had attempted to prevent a grand jury investigation of it or had recommended dismissal of the assistant district attorney who had submitted it to the jury.

Truett Talks In Interest Of Baptist Mission Work

FORT WORTH, Feb. 18. (AP)—Dr. Geo. W. Truett, Dallas, speaking to a mass meeting of Baptists today, declared the church, which has no definite home and foreign mission program does not justify its existence.

Speaking after the North Texas Baptists had been challenged to raise their quota of the $850,000 needed to maintain the Baptist foreign mission program from this year, Dr. Truett listed reasons why the church should support its missionaries. Any one of them, he said, would justify maintaining missions.

Commodity prices in Germany are declining.

Grain

FORT WORTH GRAIN

FORT WORTH, Feb. 18. (AP) — Cash grain was in fair demand here today with receipts and offerings heavier. Estimated receipts: Wheat, 19 cars; corn, 4; oats, 1, and sorghums, 6. Cane seed were slightly higher with planting season nearing.

Quotations ranged as follows, basis carloads delivered Texas common points, freight paid:

Wheat: No. 1 hard of any protein, 78@80 1-2c.

Corn, No. 2 mixed 70@71c; No. 3 white 73@74c; No. 2 yellow 72@73c.

Oats, No. 2 red 43@44c; (dealers also quoted No. 3 white oats at 42 3-4@43c delivered group one.)

Sorghums, No. 2 milo per 100 lbs. 1.22@1.24; No. 2 kaffir 1.18@1.20.

Cane sed, bulk country run red top per 100 lbs., according to type, germination, origin and clean cut, 2.65@2.85.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Feb. 18. (AP)—Bearish domestic crop reports and pressure on elevators to furnish storage space for wheat tended to bring about lower prices on grains today. A further handicap to upturns was scant export demand for North American wheat. Reassuring advices that Russia would not be a large exporter of wheat led to price rallies of only a transient nature.

Wheat closed irregular, 1-4 cent to a shade up, corn 1-4 to 3-8 down, oats at a shade decline to 3-8 gain, and provisions 2 cents to 20 cents off.

Persistent selling by elevator interests that were holders of May contracts did much to weaken wheat. Notice was taken of selling to put into store new arrivals of wheat here. In this connection, primary receipts of wheat, 1,311,000 bushels were considerably larger than a week ago and almost double the total last year.

Interest Shown.

Much interest was shown in first hand reports to the Chicago analytical club of Chicago that although Russia has had a record yield per acre, wheat shipments from Russia probably would not be forced further on an unwilling market.

Nervous price changes in wheat within a range of 1 cent but averaging lower governed corn and oats. Falling off in the volume of corn arrivals in Chicago to 104 cars, compared with 262 at this time last year, was partly offset by primary receipts totaling 1,208,000 bushels against 885,000 a week ago.

Sawdust Concrete Possibilities In U. S. Are Outlined

NEW YORK, Feb. 18. (AP)—Sawdust concrete—a new light weight building material—is ready to conserve American forests.

The sawdust is substituted for rock sand or other "aggregates" mixed with cement in concrete making. The possibilities were outlined at the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers today by H. Herbert Hughes, assistant mineral economist of the building materials section, U. S. bureau of mines.

"Sawdust," he said, "is practically unknown as light weight aggregate in this country. In Europe, however, both sawdust concrete and saw-dust-diatomite cement tile are used rather extensively because of their low cost and their light weight. Even the difficulty of swelling on wetting and shrinking on drying, is reported to have been overcome by a secret process of treating the sawdust."

least four now in the pay sand. The derricks are encroaching on the little town itself, with one towering over a home in the city limits and another soon to be erected within the corporation.

When Harold G. Anthony, managing editor of the Kilgore News, came from Center to look the town over as a newspaper prospect in January, he said there were less than 800 inhabitants. Anthony did not have time to return to his former home and pack his belongings, and he has not been out of Kilgore since. He estimated that there are now 5,000 persons living in the place, 1,500 of them living in tents. While his mechanical force is busy getting out his paper carpenters saw and hammer on an addition to the paper's quarters.

New buildings are rising on all sides as excited efforts are made to catch up with the influx of newcomers and to turn bedlam into order.

Overton, about five miles from the Crim well and four miles from the Joinerville field, has five brick buildings and numerous others of frame construction underway and is thriving with bank deposits increasing from $59,000 to $350,000 since October 15. Schreiner walked through the alley between the two buildings and dropped the envelope, while two detectives posted at a window in the warehouse watched.

Presently they saw a man, accompanied by his 11-year-old son, enter the alley. The man directed the boy to pick up the envelope. He was followed to a hotel and as he sat reading the letter in his room there, the detectives entered.

They said the 36-year-old man, operator of a dance hall six miles south of Kerrville, confessed to having written the letters to Schreiner. He came to Kerrville two months ago and has a wife and six children here. Pending filing of charges tomorrow, he was held in jail tonight.

Condition Of Mrs. Dunn Satisfactory

Hospital attendans Wednesday night described the condition of Mrs. Mary Luella Dunn, 71, who underwent an operation for appendicitis early Tuesday night, as "fairly satisfactory." Mrs. Dunn is at West Texas hospital.

Widely known in West Texas church circles, Mrs. Dunn is the widow of the late Rev. R. F. Dunn, pioneer Methodist minister. Before residing here, Mrs. Dunn had lived in nearly a score of West Texas towns where her husband had held pastorates. Towns in which they had resided included Sweetwater, Tahoka, Wilson, Lorenzo, Matador and Crosbyton.

Although she withstood the operation better than had been expected, Mrs. Dunn's condition was regarded as serious because of her age and the condition of her heart.

A daughter, Miss Myrtle Dunn, arrived here early Wednesday from Abilene to be at her mother's side. Other children reside in Lubbock, El Paso, May Pearl and Los Angeles. Those who live here are Dr. Sam G. Dunn, surgeon, and Misses Mary and Beulah Dunn, teachers of music in the public schools.

Gas Parley

tion of Texas.

A committee of three—S. H. Bothwell, Sweetwater; John O. Turner, Hamlin, and W. E. Baxter, Santa Anna—was named to compile and submit reports of the last five years of gas companies filed with cities and of company reports filed with the state railroad commission.

Organization Planned.

A formal organization is to be formed with a group of five named to draw up the machinery. They are Forrest Wright, Cisco; V. Earl Earp, Sweetwater; H. L. Debusk, Abilene; Charleton Brown, Mineral Wells; N. A. Moore, Eastland, Mayor Thos. E. Hayden, jr., of Abilene, and Debusk, local city attorney, will serve as chairman and secretary of the group until formal organization is completed.

The resolutions were adopted after a day of addresses the general theme of which was that cities' hands are tied in attempting to lower gas rates except by competition, legislation, or both.

This morning the more than 80 delegates heard Frank L. Chase, vice-president of the Lone Star Gas company, whose subsidiaries serve the towns interested in the rate protest. Chase asserted his company "welcomes an investigation of rates and is ready to cooperate with city officials in every way, including a fact-finding body appointed at this conference; provided always that this body will make public its findings."

Chase indicated, however, that his company will oppose any reduction in the domestic rate. The Abilene Reporter-News submitted to him a list of 24 written questions, all of which he answered. One question was:

"If you reduced the domestic rate at all points served to 50 cents per 1,000 cubic feet of gas, what reduction in your net income do you believe that would entail?"

Chase answered: "I would say it would be impossible under those conditions for us to continue to render the quality of service we are now doing."

Another question was:

"What is your company's attitude toward any reduction?"

The answer: "We do not see how reduction at all in the domestic rates could at this time be justified."

Chase was asked:

"How do Texas rates compare with those of other southwestern states? What is the average domestic rate for Texas?"

Answer: "Gas rates are fairly uniform throughout the southwest part of the United States. The average domestic rate for Texas is 67 1-2 cents."

Lubbock Men Report Good Accomplished

Proof that an increase in gas rates would be justified could be established if the gas rate controversy were taken to the courts, said Frank L. Chase, vice-president and operations manager of the Lone Star Gas company, at a meeting of Oil Belt city officials Wednesday at Abilene.

City Manager J. Bryan Miller of Lubbock, who with Mayor J. J Clements represented Lubbock at the meeting, said that Mr. Chase made the statement at the conference, referring particularly to the Lone Star company and its rates in the Oil Belt area.

"Good Accomplished"

Belief that good was accomplished at the meeting, that it was a constructive assembly and that suggestions made were practical ones, was expressed by City Manager Miller who returned here Wednesday night.

The experience of similar gatherings, such as that held in Lubbock last Friday, aided the Oil Belt officials in outlining means of investigating gas rate protests, according to City Manager Miller.

The West Texas City Officials association was formed at the meeting here. The association will meet here February 24, when city officials of the Oil Belt are expected to be present in response to invitations issued at the Abilene meeting.

Crux of the controversy in both sections is whether or not present rate-charges for natural gas are justified.

Wilbur B. Foshay And Six Others Face Indictments

ST. PAUL, Minn., Feb. 18. (AP) — The federal grand jury today indicted Wilbur B. Foshay, president of the W. B. Foshay company, and six former officials of the now defunct Foshay companies. While the specific number of counts and charges were not made public, it was understood they centered about use of the mails in selling Foshay securities.

Veterans Bill

that this is no time for the government to be entering the bond market."

Compromise Asked

The administration representatives appeals for a compromise which would restrict the loans to those veterans actually in distress but the finance committee rejected this proposal. Veterans Administrator Hines estimates the cost of the bill to the government at approximately $1,000,000,000.

The committee, however, bolstered by a roar from the senate and a 363 to 39 majority in the house, stood squarely behind the loan bill which had been designed as a compromise on measure for full cash payment of the certificates.

"By far the largest part of the huge sum proposed in this bill is to be available to those who are not in distress," the president wrote.

"The acute depression and unemployment create a situation of unusual economic sensitiveness much more easily disturbed at this time than in normal times by the consequences of this legislation and such action may quite well result in a prolongation of this period of unemployment and suffering in which veterans will themselves suffer with others."

Unfaithful Lover Forgets His Date To Commit Suicide

WINNIPEG, Feb. 18. (AP) — Not only was Morris Yamowitch an unfaithful lover—he forgot as well his date to commit suicide with her, Yetta Rubin today convinced a Winnipeg martial relations tribunal.

In March, 1928, they were happy, Yetta testified. In February, 1931, nothing but regret and despair remained of their romance.

Yetta said they became distracted and agreed to end it all together.

Morris, she said, failed to show up at the appointed time and place to shoot her and himself. This Yamawitz denied vigorously but to no avail.

The court believed Yetta and ordered Morris to pay her $2,000, not because he would not die with her, but because, quite to the contrary, he would not keep his promise to live with her as husband.

Ceremonies In Lubbock Churches Mark Beginning Of Observance Of Lent Here

Ceremonies in Lubbock Catholic, Episcopal and Lutheran churches Wednesday marked the beginning of observance of Lent, which is the 40 week-days preceding Easter Sunday.

Wednesday was Ash Wednesday, first day of the 40-day fast period. The three denominations will hold regular services through Lent. Easter Sunday will be April 5.

The 40-day fast is one of the most solemn periods of the entire year for the churches that observe the time. It commemorates the 40 days that Jesus Christ spent in the wilderness prior to his taking up his ministry that was to lead to the Cross on Calvary.

Strict observance requires the practice of self denial, the withdrawal from social activities and the attendance upon the services of the churches. Abstinence from meats on certain days and other practices are frequently observed. Social affairs of members of the churches are foregone and there is more time spent at the stated church services and masses.

Ash Wednesday begins the Lenton period. At the Episcopal church, St. Paul's on the Plains, a service was held Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock. Rev. J. Bradner Moore, rector will announce later the full schedule for the services of his church.

At St. Joseph's Catholic church, Rev. G. A. Boeckmann, priest, has arranged a special program. There will be a mass at 7 o'clock every morning during the period, he said.

"We will present 'The way of the Cross' on three days each week," he said. "The service will be in Spanish at 7 o'clock each Wednesday night; in English at 7:30 each Friday night and in Spanish at 2 o'clock each Sunday afternoon.

"There will be a confirmation class Sunday afternoon, March 1, with the Rt. Rev. R. A. Gerkin, of Amarillo, bishop of the Northwest Texas diocess, officiating. The service will be at 3:30 in the afternoon.

"A mission will be held from March 1 to March 8. Services will be held each night at 7:30."

Services will be held regularly in Trinity Lutheran church by the pastor, Rev. H. C. Ziehe. These will include a Wednesday night service in addition to the Sunday services.

Prevention Of Fire Outlined

All-Year Program Made When Fire Prevention Committee Of Lubbock Chamber Of Commerce Meets Wednesday

Plans for promotion of an all-year fire prevention program were outlined at a meeting Wednesday afternoon of the fire prevention committee of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce.

H. D. Woods is chairman of the committee, which recently was appointed by the chamber of commerce board of directors and will recommend a program to the directors. Upon being indorsed by the directorate, the plans will be launched. During the intervening period, investigations will be under way in connection with fire prevention efforts.

Members of the committee are: Chairman Woods, Wesley Read, Gregg James, John Crisler and W. E. Twitty, chief of the city fire department.

Applications Signed.

The committee Wednesday signed applications to enter the Inter-Chamber Fire Waste contest sponsored by the United States Chamber of Commerce. Ratings will be based upon the amount of improvement accomplished in fire prevention in a year.

Five major points of the program adopted by the committee to be presented to the chamber directorate are:

1. To make a study of the needs of the fire department to determine whether the personnel and apparatus are sufficient in quantity and quality to cope with fire conditions in the community.

Mr. Crisler and Fire Chief Twitty were appointed to conduct this investigation.

2. To study the water supply from a fire protection standpoint, such a survey to include a check of the distributing system, number and location of hydrants, size of mains, pressure and allied points.

3. To secure the standardization of hose couplings to meet the national standard so as to make possible the exchange of fire department service with adjoining cities if emergency arises.

4. To make a study of traffic conditions to insure the rapid response of apparatus to alarms in any section.

Mr. Jones and Mr. Reed were appointed to make this study.

5. To make an investigation of the fire protection afforded surrounding rural sections and to take steps to secure additional rural protection if necessary.

Other items will be added to the program later, the fire prevention committee reported.

Next meeting of the committee is scheduled for March 18 at chamber of commerce offices, where Wednesday's assembly was held.

Now Try Nature's Most Unique Coffees

Grown Only In The Rich Volcanic Soil of Central America

DOWN along the West Coast of Central America, Nature has performed another miracle. Produced coffees with a rare tang and superlative richness that, experts concede, are utterly unlike any other coffee you have ever tasted. Nature leaves the "rough" offensive oils out of these coffees. You taste only pure, invigorating flavor—never "flat," or thin, or bitter.

We don't want to tell you how good it is. We want you to try it, as thousands have, and see how it literally spoils your taste for ordinary kinds.

Introduced by Folger

Years ago Central American coffee was first served in the famous Bohemian restaurants of San Francisco where it was brought by Folger. Travelers tasting it there were captivated by its unusual flavor. Flavor produced by a peculiar combination of rich volcanic soil, altitude, sun's rays and tropic rainfall—that is found nowhere else in the world.

The Folger Test

Would you like to see for yourself just how different these coffees are—in richness and in flavor? Here's a test that is as simple as it is fair.

Tomorrow morning drink Folger's. The next morning drink the coffee you have been using. The third morning drink Folger's again. In a morning or two you will decidedly favor one or the other; the best coffee wins. That's fair, isn't it?
