Non-Aggression Is Aim Of Japs With U. S., Leader Says

By RELMAN MORIN
Associated Press Staff Writer

TOKYO, May 9.—Foreign Minister Koki Hirota, interviewed today by the Associated Press, said that fear of the United States worried "not a few" Japanese and posed the question of a non-aggression pact.

"Non-aggression is a desirable condition to exist between nations," he said in a comment on rumors that Japan was preparing to discuss such a treaty with the Washington government.

Discussing anti-Japanese sentiment in the United States and mutual fears of the two nations, he said at one point in the interview trat "the question is whether the United States government have the intention to conclude a non-aggression pact with Japan."

He went no further on the subject of a treaty but praised the Washington government for its "well balanced policy" with respect to the war in China and said he expected an early disappearance of anti-Japanism among what he termed a "small section of the American population."

In a full press conference later the soft-spoken, smiling statesman commented on a speech in Washington last week in which Secretary of War Woodring declared aggression by authoritarian nations threatened to provoke widespread war.

SECONDARY THRUSTS

SHANGHAI, May 9 (AP) — Stalled in their desperate and costly efforts to reach Suchow from the north, the Japanese today reported rapid progress for two secondary thrusts from the south toward that nerve center of the central China battle area.

Japanese dispatches declared that two columns driving northward through Central Anhwei province along the highway from Pengpu had captured Mengcheng, 85 miles southwest of Suchow after a desperate battle. Another column moving up the Tientsin-Pukow railway was approaching Kuchen, 70 miles south of Suchow, said a Japanese army spokesman.

Merely Personal Expression

But that speech, the suave Hirota said, was "merely an expression of personal opinion."

In his talk with this writer, the foreign minister disavowed any Japanese intention of interfering in the Philippines the United States' far eastern outpost.

"Japan considers herself in no position to meddle with the matter," he said.

"Whether the commonwealth delays independence from the United States is a question solely to be settled between the commonwealth and the United States. . . ."

Idea Not Entertained

"No one in Japan entertains any idea regarding the possibility of Japan's adopting an aggressive attitude toward the United States," the foreign minister stated.

"Contrarily, not a few Japanese

Gov. Elmer Benson ordered the national guard and state agencies to prepare to evacuate farmers endangered in the northern flood zone after receiving reports that a large part of Aitkin county was under water and that highway damage alone will exceed $1,500,000.

Stump Tour Is Latest Idea

(By Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, May 9—Some of President Roosevelt's supporters in congress proposed today that he stump the country this summer in an attempt to defeat legislators who have opposed his policies.

They cited the renomination last Tuesday of Senator Pepper (D-Fla) as evidence that the power of the White House is still great at the ballot box, despite any insurgency in congress.

One Of Three "Blessings"

Early in the Florida Democratic primary James Roosevelt, the president's son and secretary, said Pepper should be returned to the senate. It was one of three direct "blessings" the White House has given senatorial candidates. The others were bestowed by the president on Democratic Leader Barkley of Kentucky and Senator F. Ryan Duffy of Wisconsin.

Petition Is Filed On Church Group

ATLANTA, May 9. (AP)—G. Seals Aiken, Atlanta attorney, filed a petition in superior court today for incorporation of Loyal Southern Methodists to combat Methodist unification.

It was the first of a series of legal actions considered by Southern opponents of the merger, which was approved recently by the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, in Birmingham, Ala.

Among "specific purposes" of the proposed corporation were listed:

"To preserve at all hazards the Methodist Episcopal church, South, with all its property and its glamorous achievements for the advancement of the kingdom of Christ and the benefit of mankind.

Measure Now Before House For Action

Only Few Minutes Of Debate Preceed Voice Vote Today On Bill In Senate

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 9.—The senate gave its final approval today to the compromise tax revision bill.

The five-billion-dollar measure, which sponsors contend will encourage business expansion and melt frozen capital, now goes to the house. When that body adopts the agreement reached in conference between the two chambers, the bulky bill will be ready for President Roosevelt's signature.

No Negative Votes Heard

Senate approval was given after only a few minutes of debate. There was a voice vote. No negative votes were heard.

STRATEGY IS DISCUSSED

WASHINGTON, May 9 (AP) — Administration insistence that congress remain in session until it passes a wage-hour bill appeared today to be the probable outcome of a White House conference on legislative strategy.

President Roosevelt, returning from a fishing trip, called in his congressional leaders for a first-hand report of their success in forcing the wage-hour measure to the house floor.

He also wanted their views on the amount of other legislation to be placed on the pre-adjournment calendar, and on the progress of his spending-lending program. The latter will come before the house tomorrow.

Drafted by a conference committee to reconcile differences between separate senate and house measures, the bill would retain for two years a modified version of the undistributed profits tax.

This taxation principle, originally rejected by the senate, was written into the bill after President Roosevelt had indorsed it in a letter to the conference committee.

Would Overhaul Structure

The compromise measure also would overhaul the existing capital gains tax structure, substituting a system of flat rates for the present graduated scale.

Prompt house approval is expected, and senate leaders said the revenue bill may go to the White House this week.

Senator Borah (R-Ida) previously had said he would oppose the compromise bill because it omits legislation to make federal securities taxable.

Borah pointed out that amendments to eliminate tax exempt securities twice had been stricken from

World Church Move Opened

(By The Associated Press)

UTRECHT, The Netherlands, May 9—Church leaders from many countries and many faiths gathered today under the leadership of England's Archbishop of York to form the nucleus of a world church structure for greater religious cooperation and influence.

They came to write a constitution and to work out other details for a world council of churches, uniting as many protestant groups as possible.

U. S. Has Large Group

The United States has one of the largest delegations. It includes four members of the Archbishop of York's committee of 14 which arranged the conference.

In all there are more than 50 delegates representing 32 denominations and 20 countries.

Not represented is the German Evangelical church.

A public service at Utrecht Presbyterian cathedral Monday night, with devotional addresses in five languages, will inaugurate the conference.

For three days the delegates will sit in executive session, seeking to reconcile views on a form of organization. No public announcement is expected until the end of the conference, Thursday night or Friday.

The conference is the outgrowth of the Edinburgh world faith and order and the Oxford world life and work conferences last summer.

JERSEY CITY, N. J., May 9.—Two new efforts to hold open meetings in Jersey City were planned today as the most highly publicized in a recent series of attempts to defy Mayor Frank Hague's ban on unauthorized public speeches spluttered and died.

20-minute tube train ride from a crowd estimated by police at 65,000, announced he would be back, with even more congressmen if possible, a week from Saturday.

Representative Jerry J. O'Connell (D-Mont) expressed disappointment and disgust that his sponsors had cancelled speeches by him and Representative John T. Bernard (FL-Minn) Saturday night, but said it had averted a riot in which Hague's foes would have been "beat up."

An earlier attempt to hold another meeting was announced by Norman Thomas, Socialist party chairman, who said he had applied for a permit to speak a week from tomorrow.

Called For Removal

Both O'Connell and Thomas called for Hague's removal as vice chairman of the Democratic national committee, a position he had held since 1924.

Declaring "Hague's violation of constitutional rights is a disgrace to the Democratic party," O'Connell said he would ask President Roosevelt to see him personally about it.

Freight Car Hurled 100 Yards Into Air As 'Wild' Train Hits Derailing Switch In Colorado

(By The Associated Press)

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., May 9.—Splintered boxcars and smashed steel littered the Rock Island railroad yards in northern Colorado Springs today as evidence of what happens when a runaway freight train traveling 180 miles an hour hits a derailing switch.

Eighteen freight cars were demolished in the crash—one of two freight train accidents in Colorado yesterday.

Two Steers Casualties

Steers scattered bawling from two stock cars as the train piled up. Two of the steers were the only casualties.

One of the freight cars described a 100-yard arc through the air. Wheels and truck springs were hurled in all directions, some broken into small fragments.

The train made the 18-mile "run" from Falcon in nine minutes. Railroad men estimated its speed when it arrived here at 180 miles an hour. It tore around curves so rapidly that rail spikes were pulled up two and three inches.

William Marquand, car inpector at the Rock Island roundhouse at suburban Roswell, received a frantic telephone call from Falcon warning that the train was "wild." He ran from the roundhouse and

Neck Was Broken

Judge Cammack escaped with injuries apparently not serious. Mrs. Cammack's neck was broken.

First aid was given by five Matador men returning from a fishing trip who reached the scene within a few minutes after the accident, which occurred five miles north of Guthrie in King county. Members of the fishing party were Elmer Stearns.

Mrs. Gomez had accused the baseball star of cruelty and desertion.

She had been receiving $75 a week temporary alimony. The attorneys would not discuss the plans of the couple or any possible change in the alimony arrangement.

Withdrawal of the two actions followed an extended conference of the attorneys with Supreme Court Justice Aaron Levy in chambers.

Identity Of Youth Buried Is Puzzle

MASONTOWN, Pa., May 9 (AP) — The identity of a youth buried in a little cemetery near this southwestern Pennsylvania mining community became a mystery today with the return of 15-year-old Donald Fiore from a two-year hitch hiking trip.

For Donald's parents buried there a year ago the body of a lad they believed was their son, missing since February, 1936. The body was that of a boy shot accidentally while playing "postoffice" a kissing game —in a darkened room of an Olive Hill, Ky., home.

On a little steel marker above the grave, tended carefully and covered with flowers by a grieving mother, was a card enscribed "Donald Fiore, died April 26, 1937."

Donald, a tall, handsome lad with a friendly smile, came home Saturday — for Mother's day — a visit he said he had planned as a surprise for his mother for months.

Fate Of Chicago Baby Resting With 'Life-Death' Jury Of 12

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, May 9—The fate of Baby Helaine Colan, suffering from glioma, a cancerous tumor which creeps along the optic nerves to the brain, rested today with a "life-death" jury of 12 men—nine Chicago medical specialists and three rabbis.

The distraught parents, Dr. Herman Colan, 30, a dentist, and his wife, Estelle, 23, agreed to place the case in the committee's hands after a dramatic five-hour family consultation.

The nine physicians—eye, brain and x-ray specialists—will meet during the morning at the Garfield Park community hospital where the five weeks old infant is confined.

Attorney Samuel A. Hoffman, a spokesman for the family, said the specialists will decide whether to operate for the removal of both eyes; remove only the left eye and treat the other with super-voltage x-ray or let nature taks its course which some physicians held would mean death within two months.

Speedy Action Urged

Both British Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax and French Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet, in private talks with other delegates in connection with today's opening of the 101st session of the league council, urged them to speed action to free league members to recognize Italy sovereignty over Haile Selassie's old domain.

Halifax and Bonnet wanted public discussion of their "do-as-you-please" proposal to start tomorrow if possible.

A campaign to call the full league membership into session was reported being actively pushed for different reasons by Colombia, Chile and Mexico, encouraged by Soviet Russia, China, New Zealand and Bolivia, members of the 14-member council.

Halifax' and Bonnet's spokesmen indicated the British and French statesmen feared delay if the assembly, already scheduled to meet Sept. 5, were asked to deal with the question.

"Special Occasion" Frocks In Novel Designs Are "Musts" For Summer Wear

Pleated Skirts Are Being Featured

BY ROSETTE HARGROVE
NEA Service Staff

PARIS, May 9—Every summer wardrobe, however modest, includes one extra dress which does not form part of an ensemble and is simply meant to be worn alone. While much depends upon the occasions when this dress will be worn, still there are a few general points to bear in mind before acquiring it.

Remember that pleated skirts or skirts showing alternate panels of the plain and pleated fabric are very new and smart. Length is important, and this type of dress should vary between twelve and fourteen inches from the ground.

Bodices underline the bust, but are not too form-fitted. You have a choice between the hiplength, sweater top, with the waistline stressed by soft folds or a narrow belt, or the bodice which is bloused all around. Both are the newest fashion features, but if neither suits you, then you might consider a vest front effect in contrasting fabric and color such as Chanel favors.

Wallpaper Prints

The printed silk afternoon dress is smart provided the design is new. The latest pattern is an 18th century wallpaper design with figures and landscapes in a solid color on a white ground. Molyneux showed these in his mid-season collections, as well as a few dotted fabrics, the former in soft blue and henna red on white grounds, and the latter in black on sapphire or lime green grounds. Nearly all the skirts were short and pleated from the waistline or perfectly slim and straight. Bodices were the acme of simplicity, with short sleeves, revers and front shirtwaist fastening or else rounded high necklines, with the buttoning down the back.

Monotones, on the other hand, were also featured in Molyneux's collection, every line of which expressed the easy, unsophisticated grace of summer wear, with no excess of gadgets, trimming or fussiness of any sort. Light colors, mainly various shades of blue from periwinkle to turquoise, lavender, heliotrope, some very luminous yellows and pale greens including lime green, replaced the more formal black and navy, the former appearing in charming little cocktail dresses, or semi-formal evening gowns.

Tulle Strong This Year

Schiaparelli's circus prints are arresting and attractive and make unusual afternoon dresses, the simplicity of line offsetting the complicated design. The all black dress, on the other hand, is gathered at the bodice and contrasts with a simple skirt. Black chiffon is another very sure choice for that extra summer dress, and this could be made with box-pleated skirt and simple bodice, over a smooth satin slip, leaving the shoulders and arms to show through the sheer fabric.

Tulle is another medium which is being included in the category of afternoon dresses and despite its fragile look, is as practical and durable as many heavier weaves. It is treated in a semi-tailored manner or else made into fluffy, schoolish frocks which look delightfully unsophisticated. Prints and monotones are equally smart and multicolored stripes look very gay.

The choice of a hat is very important, too, in regard to the summer dress. But repeating one of the dominant colors, is much smarter with a print. Straw or felt is perhaps the smartest and is favored by the Parisienne. With a monotone dress, on the other hand, whether this is black or pastel colored, you can wear a hat in a contrasting shade or any of the more eccentric flower-bedecked toques which are fashionable this season.

Mrs. W. H. Duke Is Victim Of Illness

Mrs. W. H. Duke, 41, of seven miles east of Lubbock in Canyon community, died at 11:30 o'clock Sunday morning in a hospital here where she had been a medical patient since Tuesday.

The family had lived in Ropesville before going to Canyon community.

Survivors include her husband; four sons, J. S. of Littlefield and Harold, Roy and Dewey Lee of Canyon community; four daughters, Mrs. W. S. Carwile of Mobeetie, Lucile Duke of a California city, Mrs. Monroe Jeffcoat of Abernathy, and Mary Lee Duke of Canyon community; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Inspections On In City Today

With the stimulus of lowered clouds and occasional showers to promise much needed rain, first inspections were started on schedule this morning in connection with Lubbock's ninth annual cleanup-paintup drive which will close May 17.

Despite the threatening weather, 30 of the 38 women comprising committees representing 12 women's study clubs of the city met on schedule at the chamber of commerce, completed their plans, posed for a photographer and started their work.

Inspect Front Yards

Their task today was the inspection of the front yards of every piece of residence property in the white section of the city. They will make recommendations as to improvements they believe needed, and will make a second inspection next Monday to ascertain whether their recommendations have been followed.

Each of the 12 clubs is assigned to a particular section of the city, Mrs. Clark M. Mullican is chairman and Mrs. Frank L. Winn vice chairman of the general committee.

Other Inspections On

Also in progress this morning were inspections in the business district by a committee representing Allen Bros. post of the American Legion, with Chester A. Hubbard chairman; of the Mexican section, with Mrs. George Duval, principal of Guadalupe school, the chairman; and of the negro section, with E. C. Struggs, principal of the negro school, in charge.

Boy Scouts were to make the first of their two inspections of back yards and alleys this afternoon. Every troop and most of the scouts were scheduled to take part, competing for cash prizes to be applied on summer camping expenses.

Scouts Sold 2,500 Tickets For Circus

Ticket sales for the council-wide Boy Scout circus here Friday probably exceeded 2,500, according to preliminary estimates at scout headquarters here this morning. Actual attendance approximated 1,900 despite threatening clouds and a wind of such velocity that some of the scenery was damaged.

Reports still were incomplete this morning, according to Earl M. McClure, who urged that troops from various parts of the council report their ticket sales without delay.

Indications are, said the executive, that receipts will fall a little short of actual expenses although he termed the circus, weather conditions considered, a "pronounced success."

Activities in the council this week, he said, will be centered about preparations for the leaders training school at Camp Post Saturday and Sunday, having been postponed to that date because of the cold wave last month.

Any adult leader in the council is eligible to enroll but the executive asked that those who plan to attend notify headquarters here by card if possible. Advance registration before the postponement exceeded 40.

The camp will start at 5:30 p. m. Saturday and close at 4 p. m. Sunday. Church services will be held Sunday morning. Camp topic will be "Troop and Patrol Organization Methods and Teachings."

Drilling for oil will be continued in Kuwait, Arabia, although the first two wells showed little.

Tangible Results Seen In Nation's Battle For Business Recovery

Wall Street Notes Gains

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, May 9—The battle for business recovery has moved forward rapidly recently with maneuvers to bring billions of dollars out of hiding and idleness back to the firing line of industry.

Wall street saw today tangible results of the drive to put money back to work in these developments last week.

Bonds On Market

A move by United States Steel corporation to market $100,000,000 in bonds to raise funds for its plant modernization program, the biggest industrial loan for capital improvements since 1929.

Preliminary steps and discussions by several other large corporations to undertake new financing in what looked to many Wall streeters like revival of the capital market.

Broader demand in security markets for high-grade bonds and other investments, giving impetus to a recovery from the early spring decline.

Capital Out Of Hiding

A heavy return flow of hoarded capital to Paris after further devaluation of the franc and a pledge by French authorities no further cut in the gold value of the currency was planned.

Wall street saw Washington unlimber its heavy guns in the campaign to put money to work through the recent cut in bank reserve requirements and release of impounded gold into the credit structure. These steps immediately added more than $700,000,000 to the credit base on which banks may expand loans and investments.

Surplus lendable funds in member banks of the reserve system have more than doubled in recent months. They approximately $2,500,000,000 and are expected to increase by at least another billion as the treasury pays out the $1,400,000,000 in "de-sterilized" gold under its credit-expansion drive.

A Strategic Key

Meanwhile, Wall street men read Washington developments for improvement of relations with business as holding a strategic key to the efforts to get idle money to work.

Greeted by many brokers as a significant indicator of the way the tide was moving was brisk buying of long-neglected utility shares Friday following the Pittsburgh plea of SEC Commissioner John W. Hanes for peace in the controversy over government regulation of utilities and for business co-operation with government.

The stems of the papyrus tree were used until the fourth century to make papyrus, forerunner of paper.

Experiment In Texas Valley May Shed Light On Habits Of Dread Pink Boll Worm

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, May 9.—A Rio Grande valley experiment aimed at exterminating the dread pink boll worm from cotton fields may shed light on the habits of an equally destructive insect—the boll weevil.

Last fall cotton farmers of Willacy, Cameron, Hidalgo and Starr counties dug up and destroyed all stalks standing in the fields after the cotton had been gathered.

In so doing they hoped to end propagation of the boll worm which lives during the winter months in the plants.

Weevil Leaves Stalks

The boll weevil also is dependent in part on the stalks and bolls left in the fields after harvest. It differs from the worm in that it leaves the stalks at the first real cold spell and runs to nearby woodlands to hibernate.

Because the cleanup program in the 200,000-acre era was completed by Oct. 1, long before cold weather, the experts reason the weevil was deprived of food before the hibernation period arrived and there possibly was a high mortality among the weevils.

Results To Be Known

The results will be known this season by the degree of infestation or lack of it in the new crop. This should be a guide to future control programs.

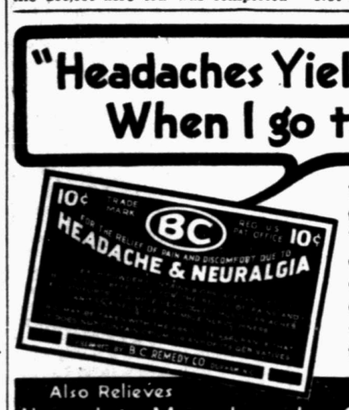

J. M. Del Curto, state entomologist, estimates about 90 per cent of the cotton plants were destroyed, the remainder escaping the cleanup drive due to vagaries of weather and other causes.

For this reason, he says, it is reasonable to assume the weevil was not eradicated. It is possible, by the same reasoning, the boll worm was wiped out because the infestation of worms was light.

Not so however, with the weevil which first made its appearance in this nation in the valley area.

The Mexican government carried out a similar and concurrent cleanup program in 200,000 acres on its side of the Rio Grande adjoining the valley and results of the test in the 400,000-acre section are being looked for eagerly by insect experts.

Blanchard Hurls No-Hit, No-Run Sunday

Hubbers Split With Wink's Spudders

BY TOM MILLER
Journal Sports Writer

Jerry Blanchard, ace Hubber lefthander, was in the rarest of form Sunday afternoon to set the Wink Spudders down with no runs and no hits in the second contest of a doubleheader after the visitors had taken the first game.

Working smoothly and breezing his fast ball by the corners, Blanchard achieved the first shutout of the season in the West Texas-New Mexico league and except for periods of wildness he was never in trouble to win the nightcap, 13 to 0. Wink triumphed in a free hitting game in the opener, 12 to 10.

Fast Ball Working

Lefty's fast ball was just about all he needed. His curve was missing the corners, but the Spudders were missing his swift one. The big cunnythumb whiffed an even dozen in seven innings. He gave up six bases on balls.

Only three balls got past the infield. Paul Reeves sent one to Pope Mize in the second inning, Jack Cheeves backed Boyd Watkins deep into centerfield in the fourth and Happy Spangler awakened Mize with one in the seventh.

Gedzius Saves Hit

Nearest semblance of a hit was converted into a forceout at second base when Joe Gedzius scampered far to his right on a ground ball off Reeves' bat in the sixth and tossed to Malcolm Stevens to head Jack Cheeves at the keystone sack. Johnny Taylor's good arm saved an infield bingle on a bunt by Spangler in the third.

While Blanchard was guarding the Spudders away from the plate, he and his mates were jumping on two Wink hurlers for 14 basehits and one less run. A cluster of nine came across in the third frame. Al Carr, who lashed a home run in each game, found two runners on the paths in the second game during the big uprising.

Carr Hits Two Homers

Carr's two circuit clouts and as many singles, driving in five runs, gave him distance honors for the day. He went to bat 10 times. Gedzius got one bingle in the first game and three in the second in an aggregate of nine trips to the plate and Stevens matched that average by reversing the three runs to the first game.

Sloppy fielding and lack of pitching control cost the Hubbers a clean sweep of the twin bill. Carr and Stevens each was guilty of two bobbles in the field and Manager Hack Miller donated the final tally on a poor throw to third in the eighth.

Kaliski Slightly Wild

Cashimere Kaliski, righthand fastballer, couldn't find the plate with his offerings, and, abetted by misplays of Stevens and Carr in the second stanza, allowed six runs on three hits, a like number of walks, and a hit batsman in the first two innings.

His successor, Vernon Wilson, walked two and hit one in the second frame before he tossed out Red Hodges for the final out. He checked the Spudders with no runs for three rounds, then a walk, an error, sacrifice and infield out sent a run over.

He wobbled in the seventh long enough to allow three successive hits, one a double by Red Nutt, for two more runs. The payoff came in the eighth. Ernst Jupela singled to lead off and Stevens miscued on Cheeves' grounder. Oscar Bates was safe on a fielder's choice and Jupela scored on Raines' fielder's choice, on which Bates was nipped at second.

Cheeves scored on Reeves' safety, Raines going to third on the throwin and scoring on Miller's wild peg.

The teams will play the rubber game today starting at 3:30 o'clock.

Racing Eyes Turn To The Preakness

(By The Associated Press)

BALTIMORE, May 9.—Pimlico's railbirds divided their attention today between Sun Egret's attempt at a comeback and arrival of four Kentucky derby horses for Saturday's $70,000 preakness, the year's richest purse for 3-year-old.

Sun Egret, dark chestnut colt owned by A. C. Compton, sent hopes of his backers soaring sky-high with two flashy victories in the mud at Bowie this spring, then dashed them with two disappointing performances at Havre de Grace.

Gets Another Chance

He was given another chance in today's $2,500 Jennings handicap, six furlong dash. Hal Price Headley's Preeminent was the favorite to best Sun Egret.

Dauber, chestnut colt owned by William C. duPont, jr., led the parade of derby horses to Pimlico for the Preakness and a chance at the year's 3-year-old crown. War Admiral won that title last year with victories in the Derby, Preakness and Belmont. Lawrin, the Kentucky winner, is not eligible for the last two but Dauber, second at Churchill Downs, is.

duPont's colt, a great stretch runner, must out race strong competition to win the mile and a sixteenth Preakness, a sixteenth shorter than the Derby. His lack of early speed will make him a target in the shorter Pimlico race.

Lawrin's Victory Does Little To Settle Controversy

NEW YORK, May 9. (AP)—The unexpected victory of Herbert M. Woolf's Lawrin in the Kentucky derby Saturday did little to settle the three-year-old turf situation.

The lanky, Kansas City-owned son of Insco-Margaret Lawrence is not eligible for another important state until the $30,000 Arlington park classic July 23. And then, too, there still is the ailing Stagehand to be reckoned with.

Stagehand May Run

Stagehand, if sufficiently recovered from the sore throat that forced his withdrawal from the Derby two days before the race, will start in the renewal of the $75,000 Preakness at Pimlico next Saturday. But even the star trained by Earl Sande is not in the $50,000 Belmont stakes June 4.

All of this means that as far as the three-year-old situation is concerned, the Preakness and Belmont will be just two more rich stakes. The classic figures to be the race to settle matters.

Performance Falls Short

Although Lawrin ran a game race under Eddie Arcaro's guidance to give the Kansas City, Mo., merchant and Trainer Ben Jones their first derby victory in their initial try, the performance was far short of those turned in by the last two victors—War Admiral and Bold Venture.

Lawrin was clocked in 2:04 4-5 for the mile and a quarter as he came from behind, took the lead in the stretch and then turned back the challenge of William Dupont, jr.'s, Dauber to register by a length. War Admiral's time last year was 2:03 1-5 and Bold Venture's 2:03 3-5.

OLD RIVALS TO MEET

DENVER, May 9. (AP)—After staging a fairly close battle for the track and field title in the Big Seven's Eastern division last week, Colorado and Denver will add another stanza to their old rivalry in a dual meet here this Saturday.

Colorado, as expected, won the championship by piling up 97 points, but D. U. put up a capable fight as her 78 1-2 points showed. Colorado State scored 37 and Wyoming 21 1-2.

Riegel, Martin Certain To Be On Cup Team

(By The Associated Press)

DALLAS, May 9 — Texas brightest golfing satellites of the moment — Bobby Riegel and Iverson Martin, champion and runner-up of the state golf association tournament — are almost certain to be named within the next few days to the Texas cup team.

The cream of the state's amateurs will meet a picked professional team in the Texas cup matches at Tyler June 19.

Other Candidates Listed

Other prominent candidates are Don Schumacher of Dallas, Trans-Mississippi titlist; Walter Emery of Houston; Jack Munger of Dallas; Morris Norton, West Texas champion from Wichita Falls; Dave Goldman, former National amateur runner-up from Dallas; Lonnie Wendland of San Antonio; Dennis Lavender of Dallas, state public links champion; Billy Bob Coffey of Fort Worth, and a representative of the East Texas section.

Reynolds Smith of Dallas, Walker cup player, will return from the European golf wars June 15 and may be able to participate in the matches if he is selected.

Others Considered

Also considered are Harry Todd, O'Hara Watts and Jamie Gough of Dallas; Willie Maguire, jr., of Houston; Hack Williford of San Antonio, and W. R. Long of Austin.

A committee of the Texas Golf association will name the team, probably this week.

Riegel and Martin came through the toughest field in the history of association to win their honors at Fort Worth last week.

Riegel took the title with his deadly iron shots. On the thirty-fifth green he shoved in a 20-foot side hill putt for a birdie and a 3 and 1 victory over Martin, Fort Worth youngster.

Riegel, Beaumont's best, formerly was Southern champion.

Red Hodges Signed By Wink On Sunday

Klah (Red) Hodges, slugging outfielder, was signed Sunday by the Wink baseball club after his release by the Clovis team Saturday night, Manager Joe Tate of the Spudders said yesterday.

Hodges is considered one of the most potent hitters in the West Texas-New Mexico league. He bats lefthanded. He was removed from the first game Sunday and remained out of the second because of a slight illness.

Midland Climbs Out Of Cellar With Victories Over Clovis

CLOVIS, N. M., May 9 — Midland's Cardinals climbed out of the West Texas-New Mexico league cellar Sunday by whipping the Clovis Pioneers in both ends of a doubleheader, 17 to 10 and 7 to 3, leaving the Pioneers in sole possession of the basement.

In the first game Clovis held a 4 to 0 lead going into the fourth, but Brown's homer with the sacks loaded tied the score. The Cardinals did not go ahead, however, until they staged a five-run splurge in the seventh, climaxed by Suytar's homer with two on.

Morris with two triples and a double in four times up, was the star of the second game.

First game—

Midland	000	412	541—17 17 5
Clovis	211	120	201—10 14 2

Warren, Neighbors and Ballinger, Cuncan; Craddock and Ratliff.

Second game—

Midland	121	210	0—7 12 2
Clovis	200	100	0—3 5 2

Franklin and Beers; Jones and Ratliff.

New Yorkers Wouldn't Miss Next Two Months Of Sports Events For All The Sunshine

BY GAYLE TALBOT
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, May 9—Those who dwell in this thriving township are beginning now to feel sad about all the unfortunates not similarly endowed. They wouldn't trade, sight unseen, their expectations of the next two months for all that sunshine they heard rumors about in California and Florida the past winter.

It isn't going to be hard to take, at that: The Barney Ross-Henry Armstrong bout and the Seabiscuit-War Admiral race within a few days of each other the latter part of this month, and then on June 22 the gaudiest heavyweight championship in a decade between Max Schmeling and Joe Louis.

Schmeling Due In Soon

Only the imminent arrival of Herr Schmeling from Germany is needed to set the ballyhoo drums to thumping earnestly. The former champion is expected to pitch his camp at Speculator, N. Y., and settle down to his customary long, methodical getready. Louis will begin limbering up his left jab a little later, probably at Pompton Lakes, N. J.

Ross, the welterweight king, and Armstrong, his sturdy challenger, already are hard at it. Their scrap, incidentally, could have high-lighted any normal summer. It is certain to be a savage thing—one of those spectacles that makes the heart try to climb out of its socket.

Horses Are Training

The Admiral and Seabiscuit, who match strides for a tidy prize of $100,000 on May 30 at Belmont park, are up and out on the track at dawn each day, slowly rounding to what their trainers hope will be top form for the big day.

Right now opinion on each event is so sharply divided that there isn't anything approaching a real favorite in the lot. Practically all bets between individuals are being made on an even-money basis and the arguments are hot.

Southwest Schools In Annual Meet

DALLAS, May 9 (AP)—Southwest conference track and field performers, headed by Fred Wolcott, brilliant Rice hurdles and sprint star, converge on Southern Methodist university's Ownby stadium here next week-end for their annual championship contests.

Despite the presence of Wolcott, the Rice aggregation was not picked to win. The favorite's spot was given to the well-balanced University of Texas squad, with Rice figured a close second, Texas A. and M. third, and Texas Christian fourth.

Last week the Texas Longhorns defeated Rice and Texas A. and M. in a triangular meet in Austin.

Wolcott, shining light of the Drake relays, was believed certain to erase the 120-yard high hurdles record of 14.5 seconds. Wolcott has done 13.9, 14 and 14.2 this season.

Other records believed endangered were those for the 440-yard relay, the half-mile, the 100 and 220-yard dashes and the discus.

Tyler's Trojans Sweep Back Into First Place On Sunday

(By The Associated Press)

Tyler's Trojans, swept back from third place to the top of the East Texas league by victories 10-8 and 6-5 over Marshall's Tigers yesterday, engage the Kilgore Rangers tonight.

While the Trojans went up, Long view plummetted down from first place to third, it's 11-game winning streak stopped 3-2 and 6-5 by the Texarkana Liners, who moved up from fourth to second place, supplanting Henderson.

The Jacksonville Jax took Henderson into camp 12-10 and 9-6 while Kilgore split a double bill with Palestine, losing the first 4-2 and taking the second 14-8.

Yesterday's Stars

(By The Associated Press)

AL TODD, Pirates—His 12th-inning homer gave Pirates 2-1 win over Bees.

JACKIE WILSON, Red Sox—Blanked Indians, 5-0, with four hits, fanning 12.

MEL OTT, Giants—Hit two homers to whip Cubs, 4-2.

CECIL TRAVIS, Senators—Drove in five runs with homer and two singles to whip Browns, 9-7.

BUCKY WALTERS, Phillies—Whitewashed Reds with eight hits for 2-0 win.

BILL WERBER, Athletics — Hit homer with one on and singled with bases loaded in tenth innings for 7-6 win over Tigers.

JOHNNY MIZE, Cardinals—His two homers trounced Dodgers, 4-2.

RED RUFFING, Yankees—Fanned nine in ten-hit pitching performance for 7-3 victory over White Sox.

Tulsa Oilers Take Two Wins Sunday

(By The Associated Press)

Tulsa's Oilers, Texas league leaders by a comfortable margin, but hot after a tenth straight win, clash with the Houston Buffs at Tulsa again tonight. The Oilers were victors by scores of 2-1 over the Buffs in a double-header yesterday.

The Texans were affected by unexpected turns early in each game. Pitcher George Munger was sent to the hospital with an injury in the second inning of the opener and Umpire Joe Pate banished First Baseman Watwood and Catcher Poland after they protested a decision in the first frame of the nightcap. A line drive struck Munger just above the heart.

Oiler Blows Bunched

The Oilers were able to grab only five hits off Munger and John Grodzicki, who replaced him, while the Buffs amassed nine in the first game, but the Oilers' blows were bunched and Parker's single drove in two Tulsa runs for the victory.

Pitcher George Milstead barely shaded the Buffs' Jim Winford in a pitcher's duel in the second game.

The San Antonio Missions downed the Dallas Steers 13-1, and 7-1 in another twin bill to climb to third place above Houston in standings. Shreveport beat Oklahoma City 4-3 and 3-1, and Fort Worth trounced second place Beaumont 2-1 in an opener, but dropped the nightcap 8-6.

Hubber Firstbaseman Is To Be Out Of Game Another Week

Robert Mosel, Hubber first baseman who was spiked in the Midland-Lubbock game Wednesday night at Midland, probably will be out of the lineup another week, Business Manager Harry Faulkner said Sunday.

The big lefthander is considered a big defensive asset to the Hubber nine and his absence considerably weakens the team's play. His hitting thus far has not been considered dangerous although he has come through in the clutches several times.

He still is on crutches.

Giants Appear To Be Riding High On Pennant Road Again

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Safely past the first barrier that threatened difficulties, Bill Terry's New York Giants appear to be riding high along the National league pennant road—if they can escape the injury plague that has been affecting a large number of the other major league clubs.

When the Giants were winning those eleven straight from Eastern rivals, they were warned: "Wait until you meet those Cubs. It won't be so easy then."

Hubbell Scatters Nine Hits

They met the Cubs yesterday and beat them just like everybody else, 4 to 2, with as neat a three-man performance as you'd see anywhere. Carl Hubbell took care of the Chicago batters, scattering nine hits, fanning seven and pulling out of his one bad inning, while Mel Ott and Jimmy Ripple handled the job of scoring four times on six hits off Larry French. Ott hit two home runs, each with Ripple on base, and that was all there was to increasing New York's lead to 3 1-2 games.

While they got past that first and hardest game in Chicago safely, the Giants haven't come through entirely unscathed. Hal Schumacher got in front of a line drive in Pittsburgh Saturday and was badly bruised, and yesterday Catcher Harry Danning split a finger.

White Sox Injuries Mount

They got off easy compared to the Chicago White Sox and a few other teams, however. The Pale Hose lost First Baseman Joe Kuhel for a week or so in addition to dropping a 7-3 game to the New York Yankees yesterday. Kuhel caught his spikes on the bag sliding to second and was carried off with a badly wrenched foot. Saturday Clint Brown, veteran relief pitcher, discovered a chipped bone in his elbow. Shortstop Luke Appling has been out with a broken leg since the training season.

With a makeshift lineup, the Sox couldn't do much when Red Ruffing fanned nine of them and Lou Gehrig, Joe DiMaggio and Tommy Henrich belted homers.

Fail To Break Tie

The Yanks, however, failed to break their tie with Washington for second place, as Cecil Travis knocked in five runs with a homer and two singles to pace the Senators to a 9-7 victory over the St. Louis Browns. These two teams, with Boston's aid, cut the Cleveland Indians' lead to a half game. With Jack Wilson pitching four-hit ball and fanning 12, the Red Sox blanked Cleveland, 5 to 0. A triple by Jimmie Foxx with two on and Manager Joe Cronin's homer were too much for Bob Feller.

Home runs and hurt players marked the day's other games as well. Bill Werber, who had homered earlier, hit a single with the bases full in the tenth to give Philadelphia's Athletics two runs and a 7-6 decision over Detroit after Hank Greenberg had hit for the circuit in the same frame.

Todd Breaks Up Game

Al Todd of Pittsburgh belted Lou Fette's first pitch of the 12th inning out of the park and beat the Boston Bees, 2-1. Johnny Mize, with two homers and a double, and Lon Warneke, who pitched seven-hit ball, accounted for the St. Louis Cardinals' 4-2 triumph over Brooklyn. Warneke was hit on the hip by Cookie Lavagetto's liner in the sixth but continued to pitch.

Without the aid of homers, the Phillies downed the Cincinnati Reds, 2-0 as Bucky Walter bested Johnny Vandermeer in a mound duel. But to keep the record intact, Ernie Lombardi, Cincinnati catcher, went out with a split finger in the first inning.

Sons Of Legion Win First Practice Tilt

Baseball team representing Lubbock Squadron of Sons of the national American Legion won their first practice game by a 7 to 5 score from a "pickup" aggregation of high school boys at the field at Twenty-Third street and Avenue K Sunday afternoon.

The team will compete in the national American Legion tournament which, after several eliminations, will be climaxed with a "junior world series" between championship clubs from east and west of the Mississippi river. Dates of preliminary tournaments in which the Lubbock team will compete have not been received, according to E. Kelley Nail, member of the son's sponsoring committee of Allen Bros. post of the Legion.

Nail also announced this morning that the squadron's newly organized drum and bugle corps will give an exhibition when Daniel J. Doherty, national commander of the Legion, visits Lubbock May 21. Regular practice of the corps is scheduled Wednesday night at Legion hall. Monthly meeting of the squadron will be held at the same place the night of May 18.

Texas' 1938 Political Drive Is Pushed Farther Along; More Opening Speeches Are Made

BY HOWARD C. MARSHALL
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, May 9—Additional "opening" speeches Saturday by candidates for state office pushed Texas' 1938 political campaign farther along today.

At Nacogdoches John Wood, candidate for the railroad commission seat of C. V. Terrell, urged a change to give the state the services of a younger, more vigorous man.

Brooks Cites Economies

P. Pierce Brooks, candidate for lieutenant governor who unsuccessfully ran for the governorship two years ago, told an audience at Crockett expenses of government could be reduced $6,000,000 annually.

Robert W. Calvert, speaker of the house of representatives, opened at Corsicana, where he once was a youngster in the state orphans home.

Others Are Active Also

Other candidates, some of whom had delivered their formal "openers," were busy making less pretentious talks.

One of these was Judge Ralph W. Yarborough, another candidate for the attorney generalship, who, speaking at Sweetwater, said the state's chief law office required experience, and cited his record as assistant attorney general in charge of land matters.

Gerald C. Mann, likewise running for attorney general, opened earlier in the week at Sulphur Springs. Fourth candidate for the position is Lieut.-Gov. Walter E. Woodul, who spent most of the week in West Texas.

McCraw At Vernon

At Vernon, Attorney General William McCraw advocated appointment of the state auditor by the legislature instead of by the governor as at present.

At Clifton Ernest O. Thompson, like McCraw a candidate for governor, criticized Mayor Fiorello H. LaGuardia of New York for a speech in Wichita Falls advising Texas to stick to agriculture and avoid industrial development.

Another gubernatorial candidate, P. D. Renfro of Beaumont, on a brief visit to the capital, declared the state ought to have a business administration and pointed to accomplishments as mayor of Beaumont as evidence he was the administrator needed.

Interest In Hunter Platform

Interest continued in the promised "four-minute" platform of still another candidate for the governorship, Tom F. Hunter, who has opened headquarters at Dallas.

From San Antonio James O. Rail wrote to Congressman Maury Maverick and others demanding an investigation of relief work for women in that city and charging unjust treatment.

With almost a month left for candidates to get their names on the primary ballot seven entrants in the governor's marathon had paid the filing fee of $100 while five others had said they were candidates.

Entrants Are Listed

In addition to McCraw, Thompson, Hunter and Renfro, the seven were Clarence Farmer of Fort Worth, S. T. Brogdon of Stephenville, and Joseph King of Houston.

Some speculation former Senator Roy Sandeford might run for governor again developed after his statement saying platforms of announced candidates were unsatisfactory and Texas needed a "veto governor."

Possibility Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson also would run again apparently dwindled completely as, noting several meetings of friends proposing to "draft" her, she reiterated she definitely would not be a candidate.

Others Open Campaigns

The week further saw formal inauguration of speaking by Robert A. Stuart and Will M. Martin, also trying to oust Terrell from the railroad commission. Martin spoke at Hubbard City and Stuart at Tyler, R. A. Tullis of San Antonio was reported to have withdrawn from the contest in favor of Stuart.

Terrell spent some time in South Texas and addressed luncheon clubs at Ranger and Breckenridge, while Jerry Sadler and Frank Morris, remaining candidates for the commission, also were active.

Comptroller George H. Sheppard drew fresh opposition in the candidacy of Lane Terrell of Fort Worth, his former employe. J. J. Biffle of Hillsboro is another out for the job.

In a statement, Land Commissioner W. H. McDonald pointed with pride to his land leasing policies, saying they had netted the state large financial returns.

Tom F. Hunter Is To Open Campaign At Dallas, May 23

DALLAS, May 9. (AP)—Tom F. Hunter, candidate for governor, will open his campaign here Monday night, May 23, he has announced. The speech will be broadcast (TQN, 7:30 p. m. to 8 p. m.)

Hunter said his platform, the reading time of which would be four minutes, would be released Tuesday.

That Girl on Broadway says a watch is something which if you look at long enough it will be too late to do what you were going to do before you looked at it.

The week's best figure of speech: "He shifted his intellectual gears into neutral and idled through the radio program."

THE Plainsman notices with considerable interest that the Oklahoma City boosters will be in Lubbock on May 18. They will arrive around two chimes in the afternoon and visit with us until their special train pulls out about 5 o'clock the next morning.

Perhaps you hadn't thought about it, but the Oklahoma City train will mark the third booster special to visit Lubbock within a 60-day period. The boys from Fort Worth and the lads from Dallas made up the other two.

The way the big wholesale and population centers are courting the famous South Plains "white spot" is well nigh scandalous.

They're fightin' over blushing Miss Lubbock Territory's favors like a lot of swains over the dimpled smiles of the new milliner (in the season of 1905.)

'Pears like Fort Worth, Dallas and Oklahoma City" rather like us—and want to keep on our good side, economically speaking.

Houston, where are you at? Come up to see us sometime!

* * *

IT is particularly interesting to The Plainsman that Oklahoma City is showing such a great interest in our thriving little municipality and its neighboring country.

Here's why:

This writer has personally seen Lubbock grow from an unknown community "way out West" to its present status as quite a business center.

Yes, sir!

Less than 15 years ago. The Plainsman would meet friends in Oklahoma City after having lived for a while in Lubbock.

"Where are you living now?" they would ask.

"Lubbock, Texas," we would reply, truthfully.

"Where's Lubbock, Texas?" they would pursue. And we would dutifully explain where it was with reference to Wichita Falls, Amarillo, Albuquerque and, sometimes, El Paso and Los Angeles.

BUT a few years after that, we noted a change. Everybody in Oklahoma City knew where Lubbock was.

Even as far over as Tulsa, people would nod their heads when Lubbock was mentioned.

Now, everybody knows where it is—that is, everybody who lives within a wide, wide, radius. And they know that Lubbock, and what everybody calls "the Lubbock country", is some punkins!

They know so much about it in Oklahoma City that they hike 'way down here to play up to us.

Yes, sir!

That Man on Avenue Q says what this country needs is less interest in laws governing wages and hours and more interest in turning in hours of work in return for wages.

THE grand old army game of "playing both ends against the middle" has begun in the Texas political campaigns.

District Judge Ralph Yarborough, of Austin, a candidate for attorney-general, opened his campaign in East Texas awhile back, telling his listeners of his East Texas antecendants and that he had "come back to the land of his forebears" to open his drive.

A couple of days ago, West Texas editors were deluged with publicity from Yarborough's able and persuasive press agent, Boyce House, in which Yarborough was headlined as "a former West Texan" who, in the past, "has accomplished a lot" for us woolies out here in the wide open spaces.

Slush!

Incidentally, Judge Yarborough is the campaign's biggest disappointment to The Plainsman to date. We thought he might be a "different" sort of politician but judging from his campaign to date he is just another harranguer.

The Austin man is a fine looking, personable young fellow with a lot on the ball. But instead of running for attorney-general upon whatever merits he may possess, like the rest of "Governor Allred's bright young men" he has pitched his pies upon the alleged shortcomings of the No. 1 candidate—Lieutenant-Governor Walter Woodul.

In grasping for things to say about Woodul—very much as a drowning man is supposed to grab at straws—Judge Yarborough, among other things, told a Kilgore audience that Woodul is not fit to be attorney-general because he, when acting as governor in absence of Governor Allred, commissioned a few Texans as "honorary colonels!"

If the Yarborough charge were not so asinine, it would be funny. As it is, it strains the imagination to call it nothing less than ridiculous.

EVERY man who has ever filled the governor's chair has appointed what are known as "honorary colonels" on his staff.

The action is generally regarded as humorous, since an "honorary colonel" hasn't even as much official standing as a notary public.

If Judge Yarborough hasn't any better judgment than to try to flimflam the electorate into thinking that commissioning "honorary colonels" is unusual, wrong, or subject to suspicion, he certainly hasn't judgment enough to be attorney-general of Texas.

However, there is little use to worry on that score. He won't be.

If The Plainsman were Walter Woodul, he'd go fishin' between now and the first primary and then return only long enough to discover whether or not he had to go through the motions of a run-off.

The big, genial Houstonian is getting more publicity from his rivals than he possibly can give himself.

The battery of "Jimmie's bright young men"—composed of Gerald Mann, Yarborough and Bob Calvert—is firing all its guns at Woodul, since each realizes that to have even a chance of election he must someway squirm into second place in the first primary. As a result, Woodul's candidacy is being publicized at every turn of the campaign.

Mann, Yarborough and Calvert are generally referred to over Texas "as Jimmie's bright young men", since each rode into the public eye on the Allred shirt-tail as a result of support or appointment to office by the governor.

The other candidate for attorney-general is Lewis Goodrich, of Shamrock, a nice fellow who has about as much chance of reaching the run-off as he has to fly to the moon.

AS a matter of fact, all the youngsters running against Woodul are nice fellows.

Ambitious, personable, likeable and thoroughly agreeable, these young men are entitled to a fatherly smile and a pat on the back from Old Man Texas.

But since none of them can cite a record even remotely indicative of their right to ask the attorney-generalship, the electorate can hardly do anything else but choose Woodul. He's the only one with the age and the experience, and with a long public record which can withstand even the most critical eye.

Some day, with little doubt, any or all of the young men seeking the attorney-generalship will be experienced enough to assume the trust of a high, state office.

But none is ready just yet.

CAST OF CHARACTERS
CONSTANCE MAIDWELL—heroine; the stand-in.
DEREK MANTHON — an artist who loved money first.
HILDEGARD THORVALDE — Derek painted her portrait.
Dr. Rogers—he met his most difficult case.

Yesterday: At the end of her assignment, Connie is surprised one day when Dr. Rogers' mother arrives and calls her "Mrs. Manthon." She assumes Connie is on her honeymoon!

CHAPTER XXIII

"And of course this is the artist husband!" Mrs. Rogers went on.

Happily unconscious that at her first words all other sound and motion had stopped about her as abruptly as the action of a motion picture when the projection machine goes wrong, Mrs. Rogers bore cordially down upon Derek.

Seeing Derek's striken gray face, Constance felt suddenly sorry for him.

"Of course I asked for you, my dear, when I went back to Bartlett's the other day," Mrs. Rogers was rushing blithely on. "I had to go back to exchange one of those dresses I bought for my niece. . . . the pink one — too tight. She's not so slim as you are my dear. Such a pity wasn't it?"

The question was obviously rhetorical, for Mrs. Rogers went on in the same breath, "As I say, I asked for you at once. One of the models—that lovely blond one—they call her 'Gertrude,' don't they? . . . Well, anyhow, she had had a card from you that very day postmarked from California, and they were all wondering if you really had come on to be married after all these weeks of waiting."

Constance, watching Derek's face and hoping the others had not seen it, began, "I think there's—"

But it was useless. Mrs. Rogers heard only her own voice.

"Of course they had all been tremendously interested in your romance from the time you bought your trousseau there," she was rushing on. "To think you were going to be married the very day Mr. Manthon left to come here, and—how could you bear to tear yourself away from her, Mr. Manthon?"

"Mother—"Mark Rogers began; but there was no stemming that tide of words.

"And I'm surprised at your not insisting on his bringing her right along with him in the first place, Hilda, with all the rooms in this big house that are simply going to waste. . . I do not understand, Mark Rogers"—the old lady turned accusingly upon her son—"why you haven't written me a line of this. If it had been a nice messy typhoid epidemic, now, I'd have had to read all about it."

Constance started to say, "But really, Mrs. Rogers, this is all an absurd mistake."

But a glance at Derek's face told her that the damage was already done. No one who had seen it could have failed to realize that there was more to this than an absurd mistake. . . . And they had all seen Derek's face.

"The joke about the whole thing, Mrs. Manthon"—the merry twinkle in Mrs. Rogers' eyes assumed that Constance would enjoy the joke as much as she did—"was that one or two of the girls in the store had an idea that your young man had jilted you to come out here, and were wasting a lot of sympathy on you."

Well, it's out now, Constance thought. That's all it needed.

Into the silence that followed, Derek began in a thin, stifled voice, "Of course it's easy to see how this story started. There was—in fact, we—"

Out of sheer pity Constance broke in, her voice clear, cool, and just enough amused, "It's too bad to spoil such a pretty romance, Mrs. Rogers; but Mr. Manthon and I are not married. It is true that we did announce our engagement—there was even something about it in some of the papers, I believe; but we found—oh, some time ago—that the whole thing was—well, rather a mistake."

She smiled a little pityingly at the gratitude she read in Derek's hunted eyes.

Mark Rogers had strolled to a window, and was standing now, looking out, his hands in his pockets, whistling inaudibly.

Derek began again, "Constance, I think I ought to—we don't want any misunderstanding about this, of course, I—"

"Really, aren't we making a mountain out of a mole hill?" Hilda Thorvald asked lazily with one of her faint, inscrutable smiles. "After all, this isn't anyone's affair but yours and Connie's, is it, Derek?"

She smiled companionably at Constance, strolled over to the piano, sat down, and began to play with complete absorption.

* * *

Constance stood for a moment exactly where she had stood since Mrs. Rogers had begun her epoch-making narrative; then she turned and swiftly left the room. As she went, she heard Mrs. Rogers insisting in a voice of amused bewilderment, "And they actually told me at the store that she had bought the last things for her trousseau only the day before she went away, Mr. Manthon."

When Constance went up to George Thorvald's room a few minutes later, Dr. Rogers was there.

"What's this about your going away, Connie?" George demanded. "Good Lord, Doc! I thought you were one of these strong silent men who know how to handle women. . . You brought her here because you thought I needed her, didn't you? All right, tell her I still need her, and put a stop to this nonsense."

"You spoiled brat," Mark Rogers said shortly, "you don't need her any more than I do"; and realizing too late how unwary he had been, turned an unprofessional crimson when the boy went on, his black eyes snapping delightedly in their deep hollows:

"All right, then. For God's sake, tell her how much you need her. Maybe that will hold her if nothing else will. . . . Oh, very well"—it was only too evident that George Thorvald was enjoying himself immensely—"if you, as my physician, don't know how to see to it that I get the kind of care and nursing my feeble state requires, I'll have to see what can be done about it for myself. . . . Interrupt me if I'm wrong, but this seems to be the only way out of it:

"Connie, darling, will you marry me—and make me laugh for the rest of my life?"

"No, George, dear," answered Constance. "I will not."

"And why not?" George affected hurt surprise.

"Because, dear George, I love another," Constance said demurely.

"Hm!" George frowned. "That does complicate the matter. Not"—his eyes lighted with wicked cunning—"not that fair-haired boy in the studio, I hope."

Too late Constance saw whither this game was tending.

"No," she said shortly. "I should hope not."

"I hoped not. . . . Well, now, let's see"— George's eyes ruminated innocently upon the ceiling—"it couldn't be—"

"If you're through playing 20 questions," Mark Rogers snapped, "here's Miss Wilcox with your lunch. I'll come back when you've eaten it."

Constance followed Mark Rogers out of the room.

"Well," she said with a mocking little smile, "it had to be a major operation, after all, didn't it?"

"I'm sorry," Mark Rogers said. "But when Mother gets under way she—well, you saw for yourself."

"Of course," Constance told him.

WARNINGS GIVEN VACATIONISTS

The dread season of the year is at hand for members of the Texas Highway patrol. It is the season of vacation travel.

The patrolmen report that the vacationing motorist already has appeared. They know from experience that the volume of such travel will increase rapidly until the first heat of summer, that it then will continue at a high level over a period of about two months, and then will diminish gradually.

They know, also from experience, that before the season is over they will become the witnesses to gay vacation excursions which have ended in bitter, bloody tragedy. The patrol, of course, is doing and will continue to do what can be done to prevent those things, but the officers know that despite all they and others can do, the tragedies will occur just the same. About all they can do is hope that they will be fewer than during vacation periods of previous years.

Warning from the patrol of the vacation dangers is something which should be of personal concern to everyone. They should take to heart the reminder that when they start on their vacation trip, their eagerness to reach the scene of anticipated pleasures is likely to lead to excessive speeds. The individual motorist should bear in mind also that his thoughts are likely to be pre-occupied by anticipation so that he will not drive with ordinary care. He should take into consideration, too, the probability that the danger to him from other motorists will be increased, because they also may be thinking of the future instead of the moment.

If the individual will observe those precautions, he may save the patrolmen the pain and the trouble of listing his name in what they term "the little black book."

Today's Thought

And his mouth was opened immediately, and his tongue loosed, and he spake, and praised God, —Luke 1:64.

Hollywood Chit-Chat

BY PAUL HARRISON
Journal Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, May 9 — Short takes: More and more attention is being devoted to timely pictures, timely titles. If Universal could reassemble Robert Taylor and the other principals who appeared in his first success it might remake the picture and title it "The Magnificent Recession."

Typical scene in Beverly Hills these days: Actresses sitting around swimming pools wearing mink coats over their bathing suits.

Group of writers and executives were planning their usual monthly poker game. "I'm afraid I won't be able to be there that night," said Sam Wood. "Will it be all right if I just send over a check for the usual $2000?"

* * *

Any day, now, Charlie McCarthy will be talking about his operation. Both of his arms are to be amputated and replaced by new ones, with complicated joints which can be manipulated by Edgar Bergen.

Martha Raye's newly-acquired glamor is endangered by an offer that Producer Arthur Loew has made for her services in a picture.

If Paramount lends her, she will be co-starred in "The Gladiator"—with Joe E. Brown, Gladiator Brown, Miss Raye, and the arena lions will then take turns putting their heads in each other's mouths . . . Incidentally, Miss Raye makes so much noise on movie sets that they're calling her a clamor-girl.

The cycle of slapstick comedies is definitely past.

Carole Lombard who pioneered it, says she will not make any more under any circumstances. Neither will Irene Dunne or Katharine Hepburn. Greta Garbo's next will be a comedy, but light. No kicks, punches or squishy tomatoes.

Press agents continue to try to make fools of their clients. Example: "Fernand Gravet calls Paris, France, via trans-Atlantic telephone every midnight to keep in touch with political developments in his native country."

Mr. Gravet can read the newspapers. Mr. Gravet does not call Paris for news. And France is not Mr. Gravet's native country. He is a Belgian citizen.

Mary Pickford is trying to trade her famed estate, Pickfair, for an office building in Hollywood . . . Earl Carroll is paying the tuition of ten statesque beauties at a Los Angeles bartender's school. They'll be glorified barmaids in the big, glittering night club he plans to open next autumn, and they're being educated in all the answers as well as all the recipes.

* * *

In 1934 Shirley Temple played a bit part in "Change of Heart," starring Charles Farrell, but she grew so much before the flicker was completed that her role was cut out. Back in films, now, Farrell is the romantic male lead in "Lucky Penny," starring Shirley Temple . . . George Raft plans to finance and produce a picture with Max Baer . . . Marlene Dietrich, in her new job with Columbia, will be directed, if at all, by Frank Capra . . . A new Tarzan has been chosen. He's Frank Foster, former Miami lifeguard.

The Tyrone Power- Janet Gaynor romance, if ever there was one, is definitely off . . . Michael Whalen and Lynn Bari, romantic leads in "Lucky Day," don't have a single kissing scene in the picture. But Whalen has to kiss a horse . . . Twentieth-Fox is having more trouble trouble with Simone Simon.

* * *

Two old friends of mine, the chimpanzees Shorty and Ditto, are working in "I'd Give a Million." Shorty, the elder, is growing vile-tempered in his adolescence; bit Marjorie Weaver one day and keeps pinching poor Jean Hersholt black and blue. Ditto, though, is everybody's pal, and will even share his lunch with you.

"It just goes to show," said Hersholt, "how tough times are in Hollywood. Monkeys are tossing peanuts to the actors!"

Jackie Coogan likely will be a leading man, if not a star again.

Universal has a picture for him, "No One Man," and not with Betty Grable either, but opposite Nan Grey. If Coogan, who's 23, assumes a romantic role he'll be the youngest toupe-wearing actor. He's getting balder by the minute, and not from worrying about his phantom fortune either.

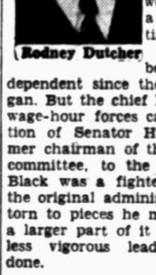

'Some More Radical Stuff, Chief'

Fear Of A More Unfriendly Senate In 1939 Spurs Wage-Hour Bill Advocates To Action

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 9.—Some very special reasons figure in the determination of wage-hour bill advocates to struggle to the last for a measure from the House this session.

Rodney Dutcher

Among the reasons is a general belief that the Senate—which passed a wage-hour bill last year and would have to be asked to do so again next winter if there were no enactment by the present Congress—wouldn't pass such a "good" bill next time.

The Senate has become more independent since the depression began. But the chief loss there to the wage-hour forces came with elevation of Senator Hugo Black, former chairman of the Senate Labor committee, to the Supreme court. Black was a fighter and although the original administration bill was torn to pieces he managed to pilot a larger part of it through than a less vigorous leader could have done.

The present committee chairman is Senator Elbert D. Thomas, the Utah scholar, who is sincere and able, but lacks force. There are no other strong wage-hour battlers among the committee's Democratic members.

Business Boost

The Senate bill set up standards of 40 cents an hour and 40 hours a week, to be administered by a board which would be empowered to make exceptions.

Further, it's orthodox wage-hour bill theory that such a law would aid recovery by increasing purchasing power and protecting many "legitimate" business men from sweatshop competition. Twenty-two Pennsylvania congressmen have signed a petition claiming that thousands of workers in their state have lost jobs lately when industries moved to other states to pay lower wages.

Some advocates believe passage of a wage-hour bill would cause a spurt of production in low-wage industries, somewhat similar to that preceding NRA codes in 1933.

Tyrolean Tops

There isn't any Austria in Europe any more, but the Department of Agriculture is making sure that there will be a little bit of it in America.

Rangers and guides of the Forest service will be equipped with green Tyrolean hats to replace the army campaign type of top-pieces they now wear.

It isn't planned to provide them with yodels. Yodeling will be optional with the individual.

Helium Hunting

Dr. Hugo Eckener, the Zeppelin man, who is about as popular a figure as Herr Hitler could have chosen to come over and try to pry some helium loose from government officials, will soon be in Washington wheedling.

Some time ago Eckener was tossed into the Nazi doghouse and his name barred from the German newspapers, apparently because he wasn't sufficiently pro-Nazi and was getting too much publicity. Now Hitler and Goering think he can be useful.

But Eckener is likely to run into a stone wall in the person of Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes. Ickes, who under the helium act must sign any contract for sale of this country's helium to any foreign nation, won't let Germany have any unless President Roosevelt tells him he must.

Helium for Germany happens to be an emotional issue with Ickes, and he would have let the stuff go long before this if German planes hadn't bombed Barcelona babies and German troops hadn't taken over Austria with subsequent cruelties to Jews.

Just the same, Ickes figures he is technically justified because the helium act says "such regulations shall not permit accumulations of helium in quantities of military importance in any foreign country."

Roosevelt has given Ickes permission to handle the situation as he thinks best. And if Eckener hopes to cure the secretary's case of writers' cramp he will have to see the head man and get him to change his mind.

TUESDAY AND FRIDAY
BUYERS made no effort to conceal their intentions of establishing 25 to 50c lower prices, but there were few cattle sold at our sales that figured more than 25c off, although all other markets are at least 50c lower. We have lined up many packers and buyers for packers who are making our Tuesday and Friday sales regularly, so we need more good, choice grade killing cattle to supply the market that we have built up. We are going to depend on you to bring us in the cattle to supply this market. Both the Tuesday and Friday sales begins promptly at 10:00 a. m., so get your stock in as early as you can so you will have a good place in the auction.

Non-Aggression Is Aim Of Japs

are apprehensive regarding chances the United States might some day adopt such an attitude as would adversely affect the natural development of Japan's policy in this part of the world.

"So from Japan's standpoint it is earnestly to be hoped that all cause for such fears and anxieties will be eliminated by the United States.

"I do not believe it will be difficult if the American people understand Japan's peaceful intentions in her relations not only with the United States but with all nations.

"In these circumstances the question is whether the United States government have the intention to conclude a non-aggrssion pact with Japan."

He said he believed the "overwhelming majority" of Americans are friendly but "there seems to be a small section of the American population which manifests unfavorable sentiment toward Japan."

Lack Of Understanding

"Such sentiment is traceable to a lack of understanding of Japan's real position in East Asian affairs."

He said the United States "cannot fail to find (in Japan) a friend and partner in the noble work of promoting peace and prosperity in the Pacific area."

Asked if he regarded the United States' attitude on the war in China as fair and impartial, he replied with an emphatic "yes."

In his full press conference, Hirota expressed belief the war would be protracted "but the development is difficult to predict."

He admitted the Japanese-established amalgamated government for China "must have more territory than it now possesses in order to be strong."

Because the world did not want all the pineapples they raised last season, growers in Malaya may voluntarily restrict the number produced this year.

Tax Revision Bill

tax bills by conference committees. The first case occurred three years ago; the second applies to the pending bill.

"The president has said he wants these tax exempt securities eliminated," said Borah, who had succeeded in having the senate insert such a provision. "We had a chance to do something immediately, but the conferees have killed that chance."

Chairman Harrison (D-Miss) of the senate finance committee, replied that the conferees had eliminated the Borah amendment on the insistence of the house. They also believed, he said, that the whole question of making state and federal securities taxable should be considered in one separate measure.

S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, United Aircraft, Standard Oil of N. J., Anaconda, Kennecott, American Smelting, Dupont, Westinghouse, General Electric, Johns-Manville, Allis Chalmers, Climax Molybdenum and Union Carbide.

General Motors, lagging most of the day, came back. American Telephone and General Foods were backward.

Stump Tour For FDR

contended Pepper's victory demonstrates that Mr. Roosevelt should strike a bold course by carrying his policies directly to the country in the primaries as well as in the general election in the fall.

Would Minimize Chances

Advisers of this procedure, chief among whom is Senator Norris (Ind-Neb), argued also that prompt action would minimize chances of a complete split between the Democratic party leadership and the LaFollettes' new liberal party.

Reports have been circulating for several weeks that Mr. Roosevelt might tour the country this summer, although he has given no personal indication of such a course.

Would Give Opportunity

Political interests would not have to be the announced purpose. Any national tour would give him opportunity to express favor for his chosen candidates in train platform speeches and friendly visits and in many other ways.

Senator Norris said the president "can either take the stump—by radio—and tell the people that those who have opposed him ought to be defeated or he can be partisan and say that all Democrats ought to be re-elected."

Should Mr. Roosevelt follow the latter method, he said, he would face defeat on major issues in the next congress.

F. A. Clark, associate milk specialist of the United States Public Health service, and W. E. Roberts, milk sanitarian of the state health department, had arrived. Both will appear on Tuesday's program, which will open at 8 a. m. Sessions are being conducted in room 121 agricultural building.

Life Insurance Week Is Being Observed In U. S. This Week

Life insurance underwriters in Lubbock and about 1,000 other cities and towns throughout the United States, are co-operating this week in transmitting to the public the annual message of life insurance. This year's program is broader in scope than that of any of the five previous annual educational campaigns devoted to informing the public of the value and purposes of the institution of life insurance.

One hundred and thirty-seven life insurance companies are co-operating in the compaign, the principal feature of which is newspaper advertising to appear during the week in 426 cities. A total of 750 daily newspapers are on the advertising schedule.

The National Committee for Life Insurance Education states that the success of newspaper advertising in previous educational campaigns, and the enthusiastic reception given this advertising by the public and local organizations of underwriters, influenced the committee's unanimous decision to concentrate on newspapers again this year.

Local compaigns in each of the 426 cities in which the national committee's advertising will appear have been organized under the local Association of Life Underwriters.

Mother Of Durwood Bradley Dies In Arkansas On Sunday

City Attorney Durwood H. Bradley failed Sunday in a dash across two states attempting to reach the bedside of his mother, Mrs. Dona Bradley, before she died in her home at Banks, Bradley county, Ark.

A telegram from Bradley to The Evening Journal said she died at 10:10 a. m. Sunday just before he arrived. Later word said that funeral services probably would be held today.

Mrs. Bradley, who would have been 87 years of age next October, became ill Friday, but her condition did not become alarming until Saturday. The son left immediately for her bedside.

Mrs. Bradley had visited in Lubbock on a number of occasions.

Death Of Infant Daughter Is Mourned By Former Texans

OPELOUSAS, La., May 9 (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. Dave Sweatt mourned today the death of their infant daughter whose birth here halted a 700-mile trek from Brownsville, Texas.

The father, mother and four other children arrived in a homemade wagon which Sweatt said he had pulled all the way from Texas. The wagon was loaded with all their possessions.

The baby, named Geneva Pearl, was born a week ago Saturday. Civic clubs provided clothes, food and hospitalization.

Mrs. Sweatt was reported "doing nicely" today and her husband said they would remain here indefinitely because "the people are friendlier than any other place I have lived."

Settlement Of 2,800 Claims Against Mexico Said Made

WASHINGTON, May 9. (AP)—The state department will announce shortly settlement of approximately 2,800 claims of Americans against Mexico, originally involving over $200,000,000, it was learned reliably today.

The total amount to be paid will be somewhat over $2,000,000. This enormous scaling down is the result of the findings of a mixed claims committee which has labored many months.

The claims, all antedating 1924, arose from government seizure and damage suffered from bandits and revolution.

Scaling down of the original total is due in large part to outlawing of many claims, to the fact that many others were held to be exaggerated fantastically, and to a general desire by the commissioners for moderation.

One Of Most Popular Recreation Places In Post Is Herd Cabin

(By Staff Correspondent)

POST, May 9.—One of the most popular places of recreation for business men here, is the rustic cabin game cottage of John T. Herd, vice president of the First National bank.

Located in the rear of his home in the southwest part of town, the structure appears from the outside to be an old time cowboy bunkhouse. At the entrance is an old cowbell that visitors are supposed to ring in order to get admission.

The room is 20 x 42 feet, in one large room, with a small kitchen where food can be prepared and a lavatory. At one end is a large fireplace, built by George Samson, contractor, of native stone. There is a radio, easy chairs and reading lamps.

At the other end is a pool table, with racks and cues. Plenty of easy chairs are available. Rafters give the interior a rustic cabin appearance.

Herd entertains his friends frequently at the place. Mrs. Herd likewise uses it for small parties.

PROVE IT YOURSELF IN ONE MINUTE

STOPS QUICKER

When brakes are applied, the "de-skidded" cross cuts go into action...hundreds of sharp gripping edges bite through the slippery surface film...enable the flexible tread units to solidly grip the pavement.

CONTROLS SIDE SKIDS

When the weight of the car suddenly shifts to the side, in turning corners, passing cars, etc., the sharp lateral edges of the seven continuous ribs go into action, instantly bite through the film and gain a direct positive foothold on the road.

"This morning I added 10 years to my life!"

"IF IT'S true, what the doctors say about worry shortening a man's life—well, I've just added ten years to mine!

"Worry had me down, I can tell you! Worry about what would become of my wife and baby, if anything should happen to me.

"Then this morning, I decided to do something about it. So I talked it over with a friend of mine—a life insurance man.

"He showed me how a life insurance policy I could easily afford, would give my wife at least some security if the unexpected happened. Did I sign up? You bet I did—and what a load that lifted off my mind!

"Then he told me how, by adding to my life insurance, little by little, I can build up a plan that will pay me a regular monthly income in later years.

"Believe me—that's what I'm going to do. I'm going to keep on buying freedom from financial worries... on the installment plan!"
