Lamesa Mayor Guest Speaker For Lions Club

Mayor Sam Richardson outlined plans in the "Make Lamesa Best" campaign before members of the Lamesa Lions Club Thursday at the Plaza Hotel. Richardson, a guest speaker, was introduced by City Councilman Henry Norris.

The mayor listed needs of the city and plans for enlisting cooperation of citizens in backing up the improvement campaign. He pointed to the possibilities for Lamesa as the rapid decentralization of population from larger cities goes to urban centers.

J. H. Littlefield, chairman of the Lions' community betterment committee, reported that the resolution asking the city to take action in securing parking lots adjacent to the downtown shopping areas is ready for presentation. Littlefield's committee, which sponsored the resolution, now has the cooperation of both the Rotary and American Business clubs.

Guests for the luncheon were Fred Flaniken, A. J. McDaniel, E. J. Peltier, Joe Clark of the navy and Lt. Owen C. Taylor Jr.

New Buick Due November 16

The new 1946 Buicks are due to arrive in Lamesa November 16. J. L. Cotten and Dave Jones, local dealers, will place the new cars on exhibition immediately.

"With new advanced styling, scores of important changes and improvements in appearance and design will make our exhibit of the new Buicks something that motorists of this vicinity will not want to miss," Cotten declared Saturday.

"The new cars are not only highly refined in every detail, but once more incorporate materials which have not been available since 1941," he added.

"Buick's postwar plans, recently announced, call for tremendously increased production facilities with a goal of well over a half million cars per year. Upon completion of these plans Buick's output and employment level will be by far the highest in the peacetime history of the company."

Workers Exceed Jobs, USES Says

Available local manpower exceeds current local employment opportunities, the United States Employment Service revealed Thursday in a report of the Lamesa area local market. A few job openings outside the Lamesa area were reported by USES Manager Raymond C. Jones.

Twelve persons were referred to jobs last week, and seven of them were hired. Twenty registered for jobs. 81 contacted office personnel in regard to employment. A total of 38 employment opportunities were listed in current labor market conditions.

Principal demands for labor included calls for common laborers, salesman, mechanic, male secretary, sheet metal worker, watchmaker, tinner and radiator man, plumber, waitress, druggist, grocery clerk, clerk, linotype operator and neon sign serviceman.

DOCKS AT BOSTON

Pfc. Donna J. Taylor of Lamesa returned to the states from overseas duty last week. Taylor was on the E. B. Alexander, that docked at Boston, Mass., November 6.

Mayor Points to Citizens' Enthusiasm as Initial Move In "Make Lamesa Best" Development Efforts

Enthusiasm of Lamesa citizens for civic development is to Mayor Sam Richardson the starting point for the "Make Lamesa Best" campaign.

"The first thing we must do in our campaign is to create enthusiasm among our people for civic development. We must encourage local pride, and to do this we must be sure that our city is such that citizens may be proud of it. Local pride of our people should rival that of any city in the country," Mayor Richardson declared Saturday.

"Are you proud that you live in Lamesa? Then don't keep it to yourself. Tell other people about the advantages of living in Lamesa."

The mayor pointed to local pride as the kind of pride all people should have in their hometown. "We must learn to pull together not only as individuals, but through our various civic clubs, agencies and institutions which are part of our community and which seek to further civic progress," he said.

Occupation Soldier Anchored off Japan Writes Newspaper

Pfc. Amon P. Hamilton, Jr., Route B, Lamesa, has written the hometown newspaper from a ship anchored off Shikoku, Japan. The letter was dated October 21, and on the following day, Hamilton's outfit moved in as occupation troops.

The Lamesa GI wrote primarily to tell the staff that he enjoys the papers, which he receives regularly except when he's on the move. He is with Company B, 19th Infantry, 24th "Victory" Division.

Other parts of his letter follow: "We are anchored about two miles from the beach and are supposed to go in by battalions in the morning. I am the assistant gunner on a 60mm mortar, and we go in with the fourth wave.

"There are about 20 ships in this convoy and each one carries between 1,000 and 1,500 men. You can very well see that this island is going to be pretty well covered by GIs. From here it doesn't look like a very nice place—looks pretty rugged and rocky. Naturally we are glad we are going in as occupational instead of invading forces.

"This weather is quite a change after being so used to the heat back on the Philippines. We have been digging out our winter clothing today. If this weather continues, I'm afraid it isn't going to be such a pleasant stay. I don't think we will have to stay here long.

"Well, we have a big day coming up tomorrow. I hope everything is coming along fine back home—and I hope I'll be seeing all of you before long."

Welch Seaman on Light Cruiser

James Darle Coker, of Welch seaman first class in the U. S. Navy, has helped the light cruiser USS Birmingham build up a record of 130,000 miles of sea travel. The ship took part in most of the major Pacific campaigns, before she was assigned the duty of bringing veterans back home.

The Birmingham saw action in both theaters of operation. Her major campaigns included the Sicilian, Pacific raids, including Iwo Jima and Wake, the Treasury Islands, Marianas, Western Carolines, Leyte, Iwo Jima and Okinawa.

The cruiser is credited with 16 planes, more than 3,000 tons of shipping and attacks on many shore installations. She was damaged twice during the course of her operations, her Honor Roll showing 284 killed, 507 wounded and 11 missing.

Awards to Birmingham men total 532, among them the Navy Cross, Silver Star, Air Medal and the Bronze Star Medal.

Holidays Are Set By Lamesa Schools

Lamesa Schools put the first foot forward in connection with announcing Thanksgiving holidays here. Superintendent V. Z. Rogers said late last week that the schools would take both Thursday, Thanksgiving Day, and Friday, November 22 and 23, as holidays.

In his formal proclamation setting November 22 aside as Thanksgiving Day in Texas, Governor Coke R. Stevenson reminded Texans that this year presents an unusual opportunity for public expression of gratitude for peace.

National Congress has officially set the fourth Thursday of November as Thanksgiving Day and designated the day as a legal public holiday throughout the country.

Baby Dies In Fire At Slaton Home

SLATON, Nov. 8. (AP)—Fire Wednesday resulted in the death of the 18-month-old child of Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Spurrell, and destroyed their home.

Another son was overcome by smoke while attempting to rescue the baby.

Enlisting before Pearl Harbor—on November 25, 1941—William R. Hunt, Route A, has been released from the army air force. A staff sergeant airplane maintenance technician, Hunt's discharge was issued at Randolph Field, San Antonio, on November 5.

S-Sgt. Frederick M. Harp, who served as an airplane armorer and gunner with the Eighth Air Force in the European theater of operations, has been discharged at Randolph Field as of November 5. He wears operations stars for Southern France, Central Europe air combat as well as the Air Medal with three clusters.

Harp enlisted in December, 1942, shipped out in January this year and returned June 2.

Army air force supply technician, Sgt. Thomas A. Weeks received honorable discharge at Fort George Wright, Wash., on October 30. He enlisted July 8, 1940, at Fort Bliss, El Paso.

October 10 was the discharge date for T-Sgt. Earl P. Baxter. The radar repairman was released at Camp Shelby, Miss. He enlisted at Fort Bliss one day before the Pearl Harbor bombing by the Japanese.

Lamesa Girl Scout Leaders To Have Training Courses

Girl Scout Training Courses for Lamesa leaders has been scheduled by Mrs. S. Z. Frazier, vice-president, and Mrs. Roscoe Holton, organization chairman, for Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 10 a. m. through 11 a. m., and 2 p. m. through 3 p. m., at the Recreation Building in the City Park. Miss Mary Miller, Girl Scout Field Adviser, will be in charge.

Leaders attending are Mmes. Davie Jones, Fred Mitchell, Leonard Scott, Bob Huff, Weldon Lindsey, Jack Blakely and C. E. West.

New leaders who will begin work with troops this month are Mmes. R. B. Kerbow, Fred Henderson and Mrs. Debnam, all under the supervision of Mrs. Roscoe Holton. The new troops include one Brownie Troop. There are now a total of eleven active troops in Lamesa.

The next monthly board meeting will be held December 3 at 7:30 p. m. at the Recreation Hall with Judge Louis B. Reed presiding.

The leaders meeting will be held December 5 at 10 o'clock a. m. at the City Recreation Hall for the purpose of training and discussing tentative annual meeting plans for the entire Lamesa Girl Scout Association. The Girl Scout Field Adviser will be present at all of these meetings.

Dawson County AAF Vets Leave For Home Base

Two Dawson County servicemen, members of the 58th Bombardment Wing, based on Tinian, are en route to the United States for separation from the armed forces. They are S-Sgt. Barnett E. Singleton of Lamesa and Sgt. Otha C. Polvado of Ackerly.

The 58th, pioneer superfortress unit, is commanded by Brig. Gen. Roger M. Ramey of Denton.

Sergeant Singleton, a sheet metal man in the 355th Engineering Squadron, and Sergeant Polvado, a plumber in the 25th Air Service Group, were members of the service organization which first took the giant B-29 into combat. They established one of the outstanding records of the war in maintenance and supply in operations against Japan from India, China and Tinian over the broadest territory covered by any air force unit.

From the spring of 1944 until spring this year the B-29 bombardment wing was based at Duddhikund, India, with forward elements in China. Then it was moved to Tinian to join other 20th Air Force units in the final "blitz" against the Jap mainland.

Return to the United States will mark the completion of a round-the-world trip for veteran members of the Superfortress unit.

Sergeant Singleton is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry O. Singleton, Route A, and Polvado is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl D. Polvado of Ackerly.

AAA Personnel Given Instruction At Big Spring

Instruction on applications of AAA payment for 1945 practices was presented at a district AAA meeting in Big Spring Wednesday and Thursday. C. E. Tarter, Dawson County AAA administrative officer, and Mrs. Gerald Costin, clerk in the local office attended.

Seventeen counties were represented at the conference, held at the Settles Hotel for District 6 North.

Instructors from the state office, Colege Station, were Otis Cowser, auditor; A. H. Jeffries, district field man; and John Poindexter, assistant field man.

13 Servicemen Civilians Again Records Show

Thirteen veterans have filed their honorable discharge papers in the county clerk's office since Tuesday. The ex-servicemen listing releases include 11 from the army and two navymen.

Back in civilian clothing in Dawson County are Mack Buckalew, Jack W. Ingram, John R. Porter, Jr., Elmer G. Williams, William R. Hunt, Frederick M. Harp, Thomas A. Weeks, Earl P. Baxter, Alva W. Jones, Clarence N. Coon, Harace E. Brown, Douglas Hardwick and Victor Edwin Lentz.

French decoration, the Croix de Guerre with a Vermillion Star, was awarded to T-5 Mack Buckalew who was with the headquarters of a tank destroyer battalion in the European theater of war. He was discharged at Camp Hood on November 6.

Buckalew was overseas two and a half years as a light truck driver in campaigns at Naples-Poggia, Rome-Arno, Northern Apennines and the Po Valley. He was returned to the states July 31.

After spending two and half years in the Pacific with an engineering group, T-5 Jack W. Ingram of Ackerly was discharged at Fort Sam Houston on November 3. He reached United States soil October 23.

New Guinea and Luzon were the campaign stars worn by Ingram. He served as a construction machine operator.

Foreign service in the two directions was listed by First Sgt. John R. Porter Jr., Motor Route B, before his October 31 discharge at Fort Bliss, El Paso. An administrative specialist, Porter's latest tour of duty was at the Ikateng army air base, Greenland Base Command.

He enlisted in the regular army July 3, 1940. In the Pacific he participated in the Northern Solomons campaign, returned to the states for six months and was sent to Greenland September 6, 1944.

The Silver Star Medal and a Distinguished Unit Badge are possessions of Cpl. Elmer G. Williams of Welch, who served as an assistant section leader for the reconnaissance company in a tank destroyer unit. Williams returned from the European theater of operations October 23 and was discharged at Fort Sam Houston October 31.

Induction date for the veteran was January 6, 1943, and he left for overseas April 7, 1944. Williams wears battle stars for Normandy, Northern France, Ardennes, Rhineland and Central Europe.

Canner Blackeyed Peas Put $150,000 In Pockets of Dawson County Growers

Between three and four million pounds of canner blackeyed peas made farmers in Dawson and adjacent counties a small jag of cash between September 1 and November 1. A small jag meaning between $110,000 and $150,000 folding money in the farmers' pockets.

That was the result of six men from East Texas buying peas for two canneries at Rusk.

Then, of course, there might have been a second crop of blackeyed peas for the market had old man weather not acted up. The rains and early cold ruined that number two pea picking season.

N. B. Hall of Rusk headed a group of six buyers who loaded onto those huge trailer trucks with peas and they reached the Rusk canneries within 24 hours after they were picked from fields in this area.

In the Mungler Community in Dawson County alone, Hall paid blackeyed pea growers $60,000 worth of crops. A per acre average of from $35 up made the pea harvest quite valuable to the farmers.

Most peas in this area were planted after July 12. Hall said, too little moisture in the soil—much less than cotton, and the maturity time is so much shorter that land can be utilized for growing peas even when cotton planting is an impossibility.

Up to now many people had the same idea about blackeyed peas—they were a legume grown in the garden, dried and then served on New Year's Day to attract good luck all year, Hall said.

Dawson County's sandy land is excellent for blackeyed peas. Soil around Lamesa and Brownfield tops the West Texas territory in suitability for planting peas, the buyer declared.

Next year, in Hall's opinion, blackeyed peas should be planted between June 15 and 25, thereby giving plenty of time for a second crop. With early planting, too, there will be no interference with the East Texas season, assuring better prices and available pickers.

Next season, Hall pointed out, buyers will be able to handle half million pounds daily. His company is making plans for placing a cannery in West Texas, Hall said, either in Lamesa or Brownfield. The cannery would take care of the New Mexico fruit crop in season.

Pickers furnish the major problem for blackeyed pea growing in this area, the buyer asserted, even though a picker makes an average of $10 or more a day.

Breezes Win 6-0; B Team Defeated

Lamesa's on-coming gridiron hopefuls broke even in two football frays this week. The Tornado reserves dropped a game to the Cowhand Blacks, Lubbock's top reserves, by a 13 to 0 count here Thursday night. The visitors scored both touchdowns in the second half, one of them coming on a 95 yard run after a Lamesa punt.

The Breezes played Seminole's grade school eleven in Seminole Thursday night and emerged with a 6 to 0 triumph in a rough and tough battle.

Another $10 Adds To War Fund Total

One $10 contribution Friday took the United War Fund total in Dawson County up another notch. The cash donations, turned in by an anonymous person added the total up to $5,952.48.

Continuing through the month of November, Dawson County citizens have plenty of time yet to reach their $10,371 quota. The pace of community drive chairmen, however, will stand a little more speed leaders said.

DAV Meet Set for Wednesday Night

Meeting of the new Disabled Veterans of American chapter will be held at the city park recreation hall Wednesday night at 7:30. R. L. Price, temporary commander, has announced. The meeting time was changed from Thursday because of conflicting with VFW.

The new local DAV now has more than 20 members, Price said, and charter membership will be held open for another 60 days.

Plans Laid To Raise Money For Ball Club

Abilene Eagles Maul Golden Tornadoes 45-6

Abilene's Eagles, rated no more than two touchdowns better than Lamesa by their fondest critic, sped to a 45 to 6 victory over the hapless Tornadoes here Friday night before a small crowd on the wings of a mercurial backfield that simply flew over and around the local club.

The visitors' finest tallying terror was H. D. Terry who dashed 9, 52 and 43 yards for three touchdowns. Loyd King, Eagle quarterback, made two scores. Ted Hardin, another speed demon, went 59 yards for an Abilene six-pointer. Billy Murphy, still another classic pigskin totter for the Eagles, rambled 16 yards for a touchdown. Hendley, Eagle terminal star, booted 3 extra points for his club besides catching two passes for sizeable gains.

Lamesa was hopelessly outclassed from start to finish as Abilene's backs ran wild and the Eagle line completely throttled the Tornadoes sputtering offense. Abilene scored only 7 points in the first quarter on Murphy's sprint but the visitors scoring momentum reached a peak in the second period as they piled up 26 more tallies to leave the field at the half with a comfortable 33 to 6 lead.

The Abilene first string started the second half intact, but it wasn't long until Eagle mentor Jake Bentley practically emptied the bench by sending in a stream of reserves.

Lamesa's lone warbler came in the waning minutes of the last stanza when Cyril Nieman, whose kicking kept the score down side and outran the fast Abilene secondary for 58 yards and a touchdown. His try for point went away when the ball was juggled before it was set in place.

Abilene completely dominated the game as the Tornadoes suffered their most decisive defeat of the season. Tate, big 225-pound tackle, Green at guard, McCombs at guard and Bely at center led the Abilene line. Pat Patterson, Bryant Clark, Ed Hawkins and J. R. Bizzell led the locals defensively.

Hawkins recovered two Abilene fumbles, one of them on the Eagle 30 yard line, but the Tornadoes failed to take advantage of either opportunity.

The Eagles held a magnificent margin in statistics. They made 12 first downs, 345 yards rushing and 53 yards passing. Lamesa made 2 first downs, 117 yards rushing, including Nieman's scoring sprint, and 1 yard through the air. The Tornadoes tried 11 passes, none connected and two were intercepted by Abilene. Abilene completed 4 of 10 aerial attempts.

Lamesa punted 7 times for 247 yards, Nieman kicking off some good quick-kicks. Abilene booted 4 times for 130 yards. Both clubs were penalized 5 times each for 35 yards.

The game was played in cold, damp weather after intermittent winter showers had fallen during the afternoon. Band director Richard Youps called off the band's scheduled performance at half-time when it looked as if the rains would continue.

Starting Tornado line-up: Ends, Hoover and Clark; tackles, Matlock and Furtzenberry; guards, Roberts and Bizzell; center, Hurley; quarterback, Patterson; halfbacks, Nieman and Rippy; fullback, Early. Substitutes: Tankersley, Helms, Arthur Bizzell, Hawkins, Corbett, Anthony, Rowbotham.

Finance Drive For Girl Scouts Opens Wednesday

Kickoff Breakfast For Workers Scheduled In Plaza Dining Room

Annual finance drive for Lamesa Girl Scouts will get underway Wednesday morning with a $1,000 fund-raising breakfast. Leuenberger, finance chairman, announced Saturday.

At least 20 workers will attend the kickoff breakfast Wednesday morning, 8 o'clock at the Plaza Hotel. The drive will open immediately after breakfast, Leuenberger said.

During the drive the 20 solicitors will work in teams of two. "Every citizen of Lamesa will be given an opportunity to contribute to the Girl Scout funds this year. If the workers miss you," Leuenberger suggested, "turn in your check to any member of the finance committee."

Work of 11 active Girl Scout and Brownie troops will be financed by the 1945 money drive. Troop membership includes over 100 girls, and plans are being made to enroll others as soon as leaders are available.

A training school for leaders is in progress this week. Miss Mary Miller, Girl Scout field workers, is instructor for the new leaders.

Tornadoes Play Odessa Saturday

Lamesa's Golden Tornadoes, pounded to disastrous defeat by Abilene 45 to 6 Friday. Face the dismal prospect of battling the powerful Odessa Bronchos here next Saturday night. The game with the Odessans was moved up to Saturday instead of Friday when the Bronchos agreed to play Sweetwater in the Mustang city on Monday, November 12.

Odessa, led by a high-scoring back named J. W. Thompson, is gunning for the district 3-AA title. The Bronchos are unbeaten and are likely to be very easy victors over the Tornadoes, bruised and buffeted by the marauding Eagles from Abilene.

The contest with the Odessans will wind up the home schedule for the Lamesa lads. They complete the season on November 22 when they meet the Bulldogs in Midland.

Aleutian Island Veteran Arrives Here Discharged

J. D. Harper, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Harper of South Sixth Street received an honorable discharge from the Army November 6, at Fort Bliss, Texas.

He had served with the Army Signal Corps three years and one month, spending 29 months of that time in the Aleutian Islands. At the time of his discharge he held the rating of Corporal.

Prior to entering the service he was an independent trucker, making his home in this city.

His wife and two year old son, whom he had never seen until arriving here November 7, have made their home in Lamesa while Harper was in the service.

A minute group of about 20 baseball fans were in the district courtroom Thursday night to hear a report by Chairman Dutch Leuenberger concerning the meeting at Lubbock Sunday when the West Texas-New Mexico League was reorganized.

Plans were laid to begin accepting donations from Lamesa and Dawson county baseball fans to raise enough money to have the club ready to go when the season opens next spring.

The motion was made and approved that three men be named to accept the donations which will be put in the bank in escrow, not to be drawn on until the donors have met and named a business manager and a board of directors.

Dutch Leuenberger, Dutch McLondon and Travis Tarter were named in closed ballot as the committee of three would be formed. This committee plans to reach a goal of at least 75 donations of $100 each. It was pointed out that two or more fans could combine their donations to reach the one hundred dollar figure.

An individual Lamesan has indicated that he might be willing to take over the local club, and his final decision will be made within a week. He has stipulated that if he assumes the responsibility of operating the club then the fans must assist him in selling the box seats and signs to be painted inside and outside the park so that money may be raised to put the grandstand and playing field in good condition.

The balance of the money from these sources left after the park is ready would be put in the bank for emergency use.

It was specified that the donations made would be strictly donations in the full sense of the word, and that the money would be returned to the individual donors if other arrangements for the operation of the club were made.

Leuenberger stated that a fee of $50 must be sent to the National Association of Baseball Leagues within the next 10 days, and added that this is all the money that will be needed until the opening of the season draws near.

A possible working agreement with the Chicago Cubs of the National League is hanging fire, and agreements with Houston or Dallas of the Texas League are other possibilities.

Leuenberger stated that a fee of $50 must be sent to the National Association of Baseball Leagues within the next 10 days, and added that this is all the money that will be needed until the opening of the season draws near.

W. M. Yates, president of the Fair Association, has given tentative assurance that the park will be ready for the club's occupancy. Selling of box seats and the painting of signs at the park will be started in the near future regardless of the final set-up for the operation of the club.

It was pointed out that practically all clubs in the league are ready to go, and that Lamesa, not wanted in the circuit by at least one member club, must get busy and arrange for the necessary funds to operate the club here.

Neal Rabe and Dick Ratliff, former catchers and managers in the league, were mentioned as possibilities for the role of playing manager here. Most of those present at the meeting concurred in the idea that the Lamesa club should have a playing manager.

Hank Miller, former catcher in this league who is now with the Detroit Tigers, is another who has strong backing for the manager's post. However it is reported that Lubbock has made him a very attractive offer.

It was emphasized that since the league had moved up to class C, providing for the use of six class up, that the brand of baseball wien instead of three in the line-played in the league would be much faster and better.

Latest News From COUNTY AGENT

County Agricultural Agent
T. A. BARFIELD
THE NATIONAL FOOD SITUATION

Civilian families will have a larger choice and supply of food this fall and winter than in the first nine months of the year. This conclusion was arrived at by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics of the U. S. Department of Agriculture after a survey of the national food situation.

A report of the survey received by the A. and M. College Extension Service said that the domestic civilian stocks of meat, canned fruits, vegetables, turkey, chickens, fluid cream, potatoes and other food supplies will be larger than in recent months and much larger than in the same period last year. The report forecasts that more potatoes, more eggs, and more lower grades of beef may be available than civilians will demand at present prices.

As a further easing of the situation, some increases are expected in supplies of butter, cheese, pork and veal. But little change in lamb and mutton supplies for civilians is looked for because non-civilian takings will be larger in the next few months, the report said.

Some relief from the tight supply of sugar is expected next spring as the Cuban crop turns out well. But no substantial increase in world stocks seems likely before early in 1947 when there will have been opportunity for larger production in the Philippines, one of the large producing areas.

Viewing the meat situation from the civilian consumers standpoint, the BAE found some favorable and some unfavorable aspects. Present indications are that supplies will be considerably higher than in the first half of the year and may exceed an annual rate of 140 pounds per capita this winter. Prices of lower grades of beef may even decline from ceilings.

On the other hand, military and export needs probably will be so large as to keep civilian supplies of pork, lamb and mutton below full demand at present prices, and below the heavy rate of consumption in the last quarter of 1944. This seems likely to develop despite of the probable output of these meats in the last quarter of the year.

The survey indicated, the report said, that prices of most classes of meat, other than the lower grades of beef, are likely to continue at ceiling levels at least through the first part of 1946.

A Major Victory, Son, Even Though A Tie

JOHNSON CITY, Tenn.—AP. A really decorated veteran was having his picture taken when a visiting major suggested he might look better awaiting a tie.

"Sir," the boy replied, "in the Army, I obeyed orders. I'm a major now and can do as I want to. And I don't want to wear a tie."

The major grinned and subsided.

Look, Western Union: Mouse Sends A Wire

BALTIMORE, AP.—Miss Louise, one of Baltimore's tamest mice, comes close to being an electrical engineer than probably any other of the cat-food species. Stumped electricians at the Army's Holabird Signal Depot here were unable to draw a wire through a particularly tortuous hole. Holabird Junior Jerry Carter nominated his pet, "Miss Louise," for the job. The wire cord was fastened to the animal which was then coaxed through the hole.

Tree Time Glow Twine

AP Newsfeatures
SAN DIEGO, Calif.—Your Christmas tree this year can glow without electric lights if you use the colored lighting effects invented by M. J. Ralph, of nearby Chula Vista.

The trick is application of fluorescent and phosphorescent paint applied to twine. The decoration then will glow all night says Ralph, after being exposed to light.

Ralph, who has been working on the process since 1937, last month finally hit on the solution. "The paint does away with fire hazard and burning out of bulbs," he explains.

He is looking now for 15 men to help him in experiments and manufacture of the product.

Alert Patrolman Spots 1,500 Stolen Autos

NEW YORK—(AP)—At headquarters they call 43-year-old Patrolman James A. Horn "Bring 'Em Back Alive Horn."

Since joining the force in 1931 he has recovered 1,500 stolen automobiles. He says his secret of success is to list the license numbers of missing cars in such a way that he can read them at a glance.

What's Back of My Gas Burners?

A thousand years ago, the Chinese used natural gas fuel for evaporating salt brine. They transported the gas in bamboo tubes. Thus, in those days, the gas business was simple. Now, however, it has become complicated and technical, utilizing many scientific devices and processes.

Since natural gas service so vitally affects your daily life, we believe you would enjoy knowing more about it. Therefore, we plan to publish a series of four advertisements which will attempt to explain how natural gas is brought from its deep-underground reservoir to the burners of your gas appliances. Due to space limitation, the story must be brief and over-simplified. The drawing at the left will help you follow the gas on its travels.

Most of our gas comes from Hutchinson, Moore, Carson and Potter Counties in the Panhandle Gas Field, one of the largest in the world. We purchase some gas in Ector County for use in the southern portion of our system. In the Panhandle Field gas wells are generally drilled by the "rotary" method, so named because of the rotating motion of the drill bit. A modern rotary drilling outfit costs from $100,000 to $200,000.

The hard steel drill bit is the cutting tool which drills down through successive strata of shale and rock. Screwed to the top of the bit is a string of hollow, round drill pipe which in turn is screwed into the bottom of a hollow, square pipe known as a "Kelly." The Kelly works through a square hole in the rotary turntable. Thus, when the engines spin the turntable, the Kelly, the drill pipe and the bit also spin, and the bit cuts its way downward. Heavy pumps force drilling mud down through the hollow Kelly and drill pipe, through perforations in the bit, then outside the pipe and back to the surface, carrying with it the cuttings from the bit.

As the bit moves downward, additional joints of drill pipe are added below the Kelly.

When the gas producing horizon is reached, a string of steel pipe, known as casing, is inserted in the hole from the surface of the ground to the top of the producing horizon. After running the casing, cement is run through the casing and forced out around the bottom in order to prevent the gas from escaping around the outside of the pipe. Then the well is drilled into the gas-producing horizon.

A steel derrick, capable of supporting weights of 200 tons or more, is used to support the drill pipe during drilling and the casing when casing is being installed. When the well is completed, the derrick is removed. In its place is installed a "Christmas Tree," an odd-looking assembly of valves and fittings necessary in producing, testing and maintaining the well.

EXPLANATION: 1—Drilling derrick. 2—Christmas tree. 3—Meter House. 4—Field gathering line. 5—Field compressor station. 6—Absorption tower of gasoline plant. 7—High-pressure main transmission line. 8—Town border station. 9—Intermediate pressure line. 10—District regulator station. 11—Low-pressure line. 12—Gas meter. 13—Your yard and house piping.

The National Food Situation

COLLEGE STATION — Civilian families will have a larger choice and supply of food this fall and winter than in the first nine months of the year. This conclusion was arrived at by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics of the U. S. Department of Agriculture after a survey of the national food situation.

A report of the survey received by the A. and M. College Extension Service said that the domestic civilian stocks of meat, canned fruits, vegetables, turkey, chickens, fluid cream, potatoes and other food supplies will be larger than in recent months and much larger than in the same period last year. The report forecasts that more potatoes, more eggs, and more lower grades of beef may be available than civilians will demand at present prices. As a further easing of the situation, some increases are expected in supplies of butter, cheese, pork and veal. But little change in lamb and mutton supplies for civilians is looked for because non-civilian takings will be larger in the next months, the report said.

Some relief from the tight supply of sugar is expected next spring if the Cuban crop turns out well. But no substantial increase in world stocks seems likely before early in 1947 when there will have been opportunity for larger production in the Philippines, one of the large producing areas.

Viewing the meat situation from the civilian consumer standpoint, the BAE found some favorable and some unfavorable aspects. Present indications are that supplies will be considerably higher than in the first half of the year and may exceed an annual rate of 140 pounds per capita this winter. Prices of lower grades of beef may even decline from ceilings.

On the other hand, military and export needs probably will be so large as to keep civilian supplies of pork, lamb and mutton below full demand at present prices, and below the heavy rate of consumption in the last quarter of 1944. This seems likely to develop in spite of the probable output of these meats in the last quarter of the year.

The survey indicated, the report said, that prices of most classes of meat, other than the lower grades of beef, are likely to continue at ceiling levels at least through the first part of 1946.

New York in the 1840's had less than 400,000 inhabitants.

Let Honey Supplement Sugar Supply

COLLEGE STATION — If the family's sugar supply is not up to present needs, farm families can always fall back on honey for sweetening. That is the statement of Cameron Siddell, entomologist of the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service. And contrary to some practices, it is not necessary to keep pure honey under refrigeration in order to keep it good. Honey has little moisture and is a concentrated sweet. This fact accounts for its high keeping quality without refrigeration. Cold honey is thick and hard to spread and not so easy to use for sweetening dry cereals. Honey will keep good for months at ordinary room temperature if it is tightly covered. Honey can be "stretched" by thinning with water and it is good for sweetening fruit and cold drinks. However, thinned honey will ferment in a few days and you do need to keep thinned honey in the refrigerator. It's a good idea to thin a small amount of honey at a time is used up.

Housing Problem Centers On Move

CHICAGO (AP) — Mrs. Helen Centers got a place to live, but she had to do it the hard way. She bought a lot in suburban Harvey and a vacant five-room house on a farm two miles away. She obtained permission from the state and county to transport the structure, arranged with the utilities companies to raise telephone and electric wires along the route, called in the house movers and in due time her home-hunting worries were ended.

Here's How To Make Your Own
Yule Cards

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

It's lots of fun, economical and fairly simple to make your own Christmas cards.

Art stores can supply you with linoleum blocks and wood cuts that can be chiseled out to form patterns. These may then be printed at home on your own paper or can be finished at a printing shop. Most of these sets come supplied with directions that are easily followed.

Use Letter Paper
If you feel artistically inclined you might create your own cards by sketching them yourself. After your sketch is made you can take it to a job shop to be done in offset printing.

It is wise to use standard size letter paper (11 by 8 1-2 inch size) that may be folded either lengthwise or crosswise. Then your Christmas greetings may be done on either or both sides of the flat sheet; and then fold in booklet form.

The first thing to do is to decide on a theme that will be representative of you or the family.

Work Out Central Idea
There are many ideas that can be worked out. If you are interested in sports — fishing, hunting, skiing or skating — such a theme may be developed and used each year.

Or if you have children, you can center your Christmas greeting about them.

If you use a photograph, cut it out in a circle and trace it on paper which has been folded to the size of the envelope you wish to use.
Then draw a pretty holly wreath around, and it is all ready for the printer to reproduce inexpensively.

If the photograph is unusually good, you can have it reproduced directly on your Christmas card from an engraving which a job printer can have made for you.

You should be able to buy envelopes to match the paper supplied by the printer at about one dollar a hundred. After your cards are printed you can have fun coloring them with water colors.

City Manager Represents City At Austin Meet

Joe A. Jenkins, mayor of Amarillo, was elected president of the League of Texas Municipalities in closing sessions of the annual conference in Austin Wednesday. City Manager G. T. Hill was Lamesa's representative at the meeting.

Harlingen, Texas and Monterrey, Mexico, were selected as conference cities for 1946. Hill reported, a two-day session has been planned for the Valley and one day in Mexico. Dates will be set later.

C. P. Dodson, mayor of Decatur, was selected vice president. Dodson was placed on the list of vice presidents of West Texas Chamber of Commerce at the Abilene meeting early last week. E. E. McAdams of Austin was re-elected executive director.

Four resolutions adopted by the attendees included the following: Recommend to Congress that it accept the House version of the federal airport bill, now in free conference committee.

Ask the Texas Construction Council to make a special study relative to the standardization of job classification on public works projects.

Ask the University of Texas regents to provide for expansion of the university's bureau of municipal research.

Victory Loan Falls Behind

Dawson County's E bond total up to Saturday noon was not encouraging, said J. P. White, chairman for the Victory Loan drive in the county.

"We are behind," the chairman pointed out. "Now is the time for Dawson County citizens to come forward with those unused dollars. Sale of E bonds in the county is now at a $34,462.50 level, and that's far from the $250,000 quota."

Beginning Monday, November 19, the school children's Victory bond drive will open. The chairman added that a list of prizes for bond sales of the students will be published Thursday.

Girl Flight Orderlies To Serve As Air Hostesses On Transports

By MARGARET BECHTEL
AP NEWSFEATURES

OLATHE, Kas.—WAVE flight orderlies are pioneering the air hostess job of the future when superliners carrying around 50 passengers will fly thousands of miles between stops.

To speed demobilization, Naval Air Transport Service is planning to start daily flights of Navy R5D's, plus four-motored aircraft, from Oakland, Calif., to Washington and back. These "hotshots" may measure the nation nonstop, but probably will stop at Amarillo, Texas, so that the fuel load doesn't crowd off passengers and mail.

Ann P. Dumais, s 1-c (722 Providence St.) Woonsocket, R.I., who will give flying WAVES special training for work aboard the R5D's at Patuxent River, Md., says, "Most commercial hostesses only fly 200 to 300 miles between stops and around 500 a trip. Even TWA Stratoliners make two mid-continent stops and carry two stewardesses the entire distance, changing crews at Kansas City."

Preparing and serving meals to 36 to 42 passengers on the twelve-hour hop is one new problem the flight orderlies will have to solve.

"They may put plate dinners of frozen foods into an oven made especially for that purpose. Probably they will cook a little in tiny galleys built into the plane. Box lunches like those now used to feed the crew on shorter flights by twin engine planes might furnish one meal.

The girls will also have to be briefed on the use of new oxygen equipment, because Navy planes frequently fly at altitudes of 10,000 to 14,000 feet over the Rockies. A passenger's lips and nails may turn blue at any height above 10,000 feet—a sign to the orderly to administer oxygen.

WAVE Dumais recalled that on the first test mission from Oakland to Washington on the R5D two WAVE officers* rained from lack of oxygen and a submariner became ill.

The big Navy liners have a ventilating system for each pair of deluxe seats and the flight orderly will be responsible for air conditioning the plane. WAVES also will find out about the use of new types of lighting, an interphone system, and other kinds of new equipment.

Most of the WAVES who will take this training already have a diversified background gained at the V (transport) Specialist school at the Olathe Naval Air Station, and duty flying with the Navy R4D's (similar to DC3).

"The prettiest girls in the Navy were selected for this program," says R. P. Hubley, C.S.V.P., the lucky man who heads the school for flying WAVES. He used to work for Lockheed at Los Angeles. Around 160 girl orderlies have been graduated from his classes since last February.

WAVES applied for the instruction were chosen for it at boot camp. Those who were accepted are poised, attractive, intelligent, and handle people well. They were not taught charm or grooming. Instead they learned how to balance the plane's load, emergency procedures, how to gas a plane, the handling of air-sick passengers, how to secure the plane on the ground, the preparation of manifests, aircraft recognition, the mechanisms of the aircraft, facts on priorities, cargoes and mail—all in three weeks, eight hours a day.

WAVE flight orderlies think theirs is the most glamorous job in the Navy. "You really join the Navy and see the world," exclaimed pretty Marty Haden, s 1-c, of (1350 West 104th St.) Los Angeles, who was among the first girls to fly for the Navy. "I've spent a couple of days in Miami, Chicago, San Francisco—cities all over the country—and traveled more than I ever could in civilian life."

Kibitzer, Victim Haul Each Other Into Court

AP NEWSFEATURES

NEW YORK—When a barber and a neighbor charged each other with assault, the barber testified in Flatbush court:

"He makes nasty remarks to my customers when they come into my shop, and he bothers me while I'm cutting their hair or shaving them, and he tells them they got terrible haircuts when they leave."

"Besides, he is always putting his face up against the window and making faces. It makes me and my customers nervous."

The judge advised the men to "abide by the Golden Rule and try to respect the rights of each other," and suggested that the kibitzer move his sidewalk chair away from the barber shop, eliminating the temptation to carp.

Said one defendant, leaving court:

"You keep your chair away from my shop—and no more funny remarks!"

Said the other:

"I'll put that chair where I like, and you can't stop me!"

Said a court attendant:

"They'll be back soon."

Jack Stinnett Says...

MAN ON THE ATOM BOMB
 WASHINGTON — When Brien McMahon was running for senator in Connecticut, he was discussing with a reporter why his name was not better known in his native state, although he had made an outstanding record as assistant attorney general in Washington.
 "I've never been very good at personal publicity," McMahon said. "Some people just have it and some don't; I'm one of those who don't."
 As chairman of the Senate's brand new committee on the control of atomic energy, the 42-year-old freshman Democratic senator won't need any flax for personal publicity. He'll get it in spite of himself. He has already started. By being in the Senate less than a year and heading what everyone agrees is one of the most important committees ever set up in the upper chamber, he has broken a long cherished Senate tradition: that the seniors go the plums.

Senator McMahon was born in Norwalk, Conn., and educated there until he went off to Fordham and Yale to become a lawyer. His father, a building contractor, was in politics up to his fresh ears and for a long time was known locally as "watch-dog of the city treasury."

So young Brien came by his politics naturally and early. Even at Fordham, he was nicknamed "Senator" because he had said someday he would like to be one. However, all his jobs were appointive until he struck out with both fists flailing in the 1944 campaign against isolationist but able and popular Sen. John A. Danaher. McMahon confidently predicted he would win by 35,000 votes, he beat his own prediction by 5,000.
 What he had done before that—and it hadn't won him much personal publicity in his home state—was to become, at 31, the youngest man ever appointed assistant U. S. attorney general, and to have up an enviable record in that job. Out in Chicago, he prosecuted some chums of a certain notorious "Baby Face" Nelson.

He went down into "Bloody Harlan" county, Kentucky, to prosecute coal operators and county officials for allegedly depriving the coal miners of their rights. He was maligned, threatened, even shot at, and the case was declared a mistrial, but his threat to come back and try it all over again put an end to a bloody labor war.

Sen. McMahon is a pleasant, friendly, but serious-minded, person. He is a vigorous liberal in international affairs and this, coupled with his great capacity for hard work, is what has carried him so far in so short a time in the Senate. That, and undoubtedly a little private respect on the part of his colleagues for any man who could knock John Danaher down in a political race.

Aside from his professional activities, Sen. McMahon does little to attract the "personal publicity" that some members of Congress go in for. He has an attractive young wife and three-year-old daughter. He attends about as many of the Washington social functions as he should and no more. About his only hobby is golf, which he shoots in the eighties. About his closest friends are the two partners of his former all-Irish law firm, Walter E. Gallagher and Richard J. Conner.

Concerning his new appointment as chairman of the Senate atomic energy control committee, he is deadly serious. To congratulations, his most frequent comment was: "It is a grave responsibility."

Nov. 13th Marks 6th Anniversary For Lubbock SS

November 13 marks the sixth anniversary of the opening of the Lubbock Social Security Board office, located at 1311 Texas Avenue. The office was established for the purpose of issuing social security account numbers and furnishing information and assistance in filing of claims for old-age and survivors insurance benefits under provision of the Social Security Act.

"Early in the program, our biggest job was issuing account numbers," said Sam Leifeste, manager of the Lubbock office. Although issuing these numbers still involves considerable time in this office owing to the fact that new workers are entering the labor market daily, our biggest job now is taking claims for benefits. Another special service is to the returning soldier who had social security problems to solve, "and to each we give careful personal attention," he continued.

The claims department pays out each month in the Lubbock area approximately $11,000.00. The majority of these monthly payments are being made to widows and their children, based on the wages earned by the husbands.

At present, only workers in commerce and industry are included under the old-age and survivors insurance sections of the Social Security Act. The Board has this year recommended that coverage be extended to about 20 million workers who are now excluded, including farmers, farm workers, self-employed, and other non-covered groups.

COURTHOUSE NEWS

Rapid turnover of real estate in Lamesa and Dawson County is clearly illustrated by warranty deed records listed in the office of County Clerk Howard Humphrey. Fourteen deeds were filed with recording dates between November 2 and 6.

They include the following:

Colombia Test Cast Lights Nazi Problem

AP Newsfeatures
BOGOTA, Colombia — Efforts to cancel the citizenship of Austrian-born Peter Paul von Bauer, founder of the first commercial airline in South America, are being watched closely for the effect on cases involving former aliens suspected of collaboration with Nazi Germany.

Bauer, who came to Colombia a quarter-century ago and established the Scadta airlines, extended his air operations to virtually all parts of the country. German pilots and mechanics manned and maintained the planes. German engineers and cartographers laid out airfields.

Some of Scadta's prospective airfields seemed economically senseless to U. S. military authorities who were preoccupied with the defense of the Panama Canal and nervous over the proximity of Scadta's air-routes to this vital military establishment.

Shortly before Pearl Harbor, Colombia, in the interests of hemispheric defense, solved the military problem of the Scadta setup by nationalizing the airline. North Americans and Colombians replaced the German personnel.

Although Bauer lost control of his airline, he managed to retain an interest in its successor, Aero vias Nacionales de Colombia, better known as Avianca. Today he still ranks as one of the largest minority stockholders.

The Colombian attorney general now is making an attempt, the second, to revoke Bauer's citizenship, basing the action on documents alleging that he accepted citizenship with mental reservations. When the attorney general first cancelled von Bauer's citizenship, the Consejo de Estado — a non-partisan government body with many of the attributes of a supreme court — ruled the proceedings illegal.

The eventual disposition of the Bauer case may decide the fate of others who, like him, married Colombians and accepted citizenship in this country. It is no secret that U. S. authorities, regarding former Nazi agents as a potential menace to hemispheric peace, would like to see their citizenship cancelled, making them eligible for repatriation to Germany.

MORE MASSEY-HARRIS Self-Propelled COMBINES IN 1946! SEE US NOW!

ONLY THE MASSEY-HARRIS SELF-PROPELLED HAS THESE EXCLUSIVE FEATURES

- LOW CENTER OF GRAVITY with the weight of the engine and grain tank counterbalanced, results in better performance on uneven ground—easier handling.
- "EYE VIEW" LOCATION OF GRAIN TANK permits the operator to check the tank without leaving his seat.
- POWER GRAIN-TANK UNLOAD-ER makes unloading easy even "on the run."
- UNEQUALLED GRAIN-SAVING ABILITY and simplicity of construction result in easier, more efficient combining.

• If you want to be the lucky owner of a Massey-Harris Self-Propelled Combine in 1946, now is the time to see your Massey-Harris dealer. You have seen these sensational combines at work... now get the facts about their amazing performance records in the hands of thousands of farmers and in the emergency Harvest Brigades of 1944 and '45. In these mighty million-acre harvests, the Massey-Harris Self-Propelled broke all previous records of bushels harvested per man, per hour, per gallon of fuel and per dollar... opened up fields without tramping down precious grain.

Yes, you know that Self-Propelled is the common-sense way of harvesting—the combine of tomorrow. You can have one of your own next year—save more of your crops using less manpower and fuel, but you must act promptly. Remember, Massey-Harris is the only Self-Propelled with 6 years' field-proven experience, resulting in refinements and advantages found in no other combine.

We will have more of these combines next year, but act promptly if you want a Massey-Harris Self-Propelled in 1946. Come in and see us now.

Swiss Say U. S. Stopped Italian Trade Treaty

BERN—(AP)—Swiss commercial circles report that a Swiss-Italian trade agreement has been rendered ineffective by the opposition of American military authorities.

The two countries had arranged for the amortization of the 400,000,000 Swiss francs clearing debt which Italy owed Switzerland, and a credit of 80,000,000 Swiss francs was planned to finance Italian exports to Switzerland.

The view of American authorities, Swiss sources said, was that Italy should first liquidate its debt toward the United States.

Swiss War Damage: 100 Million Francs

BERN—(AP)—Switzerland suffered 80,000,000 to 100,000,000 Swiss francs' worth of damages in military operations during the war, according to the newspaper Der Bund. Eighty-five places were bombed, 1,200 explosive bombs were dropped, 84 persons were killed, 85 seriously injured and several hundred slightly hurt.

EARLY CHRISTMAS SHOPPERS CAN REALLY PICK EM THIS YEAR

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Newfeatures Writer

That peacetime Christmas shopping list you've been saving for four years may have a few deletions again this year, but if you're a tireless hunter you may find many things that have been missing since before the war.

Biggest, brightest and most eagerly awaited additions to the 1945 Christmas pack are nylon stockings, already piling up in manufacturer's stock rooms. They are due to appear on dealers' shelves in time to supply at least a part of the Christmas rush. Every woman on your list will consider this the gift supreme — but you'd better edit the list well, as initial sales will probably be limited to one or two pairs per customer.

Household Gifts In Demand

Household gifts, to replace the war-worn equipment of U. S. homes, will be most in demand this Christmas, and no wife will complain in '45 about the gift of a washing machine, a refrigerator, an electric mixer or a vacuum cleaner. All these long-missing items are rolling off assembly lines already, but delivery usually is still on a priority basis — those who have had their names on the list the longest get their orders first.

A few lucky families may even snare a new 1946 model car in time for Christmas — or at least a surplus jeep. And radios are appearing in increasing numbers, though not yet fast enough to supply fully the pent-up demand.

If Sister and Junior are to get those skates, tricycles, metal construction sets and prewar dolls they've been writing to Santa about, you'll have to assist the old gent with the white whiskers by some early and determined shopping. The toy situation still is tight, says the Toy Manufacturers of America. Even though metal restrictions were relaxed after V-J day, less than 8 per cent of the toys available this Christmas will be metal.

Light On Steel, Rubber Toys

There will be only a token showing of wheel toys, electric trains and mechanical toys," says James L. Fri, managing director of the toy association. "The only metal toy lines which will be produced in any volume will be the simplest type of stamped-out metal toys."

Rubber toys also will be scarce, and plastic toys will be available in about the same volume as last year, manufacturers predict. Textile restrictions will continue to limit production of dolls.

The scarcity of toys is further aggravated by the fact that more than five million extra children have been added to the toy age population as a result of the high wartime birthrate. Purchasing power is at peak level, and production still not reached high gear.

Games are Plentiful

Most plentiful on the toy list will be games — all the old favorites, such as Rook, Pit and Finch as well as newer and fancier word games, and the competitive board games such as Monopoly, Camelot and Bonanza. A limited supply of dart games is available, and toylands will start off with some miniature croquet and bowling games.

The 1945 Christmas doll is going to be hard to find, but when you find her she may have movable eyes once more and say "Mama." She'll have an extensive wardrobe, too, and perhaps hair that can be combed.

Babyette dolls, exact models of a newborn baby, are available with elaborate layettes, with or without bassinets, and in twin, triplet or quadruplet combinations.

In the masculine gift line many long-missing items will be available in time for Christmas. These include new streamlined fountain pens,

Still Going Strong

SALT LAKE CITY—(AP)—Forty-eight years is a Methuselah-like age for an automobile, but "Lucile," an 1897 Oldsmobile which S. F. Walker has owned since 1905, still gets around. Walker recalls a trip he once made between Idaho Falls and Fort Hall, Idaho, when Indians on horseback helped him pull his gas bus out of a mudhole.

No Time To Retire

TRENTON, Tenn.—(AP)—W. E. Seal, 94, is out of a Trenton political office for the first time in 40 years. He recently was swept out of his mayor's office which he held for 29 years. Recognized for several years as the nation's oldest mayor, he had been in politics almost from the time he was old enough to vote.

It's Big-It's Beautiful-It's BUICK

THIS, we reasoned, is no time to offer folks a car that stops with artful face-lifting.

It has been nearly four years since our last new Buick was built — it wouldn't be shooting square now to give you less than our honor-bright best.

So we overhauled our whole factory to advantage it with the latest in war-developed machines and processes.

We scoured the country for the stoutest metals anyone can buy today.

We set ourselves precisions that in some cases exceed those of aircraft engine production.

And we eagle-eyed every one of this Buick's 12,000 parts to see if it could be bettered in any way, big or little.

The result is that through every stunning inch of this bright new honey runs solid, dependable Buick character, honest and uncompromised.

It's in swift clean lines. In seats that are three-persons wide. In stout, time-defying frames and underpinning. Above all — in the lift and life of a Fireball straight-eight that's even livelier than in 1942.

The cars your Buick dealer will have are big. They're beautiful. They're Buicks.

In fact — the best Buicks yet!

New Program Is Launched By The Salvation Army

The Salvation Army is planning to extend its traditional welfare services for the needy to thousands of rural communities throughout the United States as rapidly as local volunteer committees can be formed, it is announced by Commissioner William C. Arnold, Territorial Commander of the 15 Southern and Southeastern States.

Salvation Army leaders in this country, after studying postwar problems, decided to launch the program immediately on a nation-wide basis. There are 30,000 communities in the United States where the plan can be used to help provide a greater community strength for the future it is believed.

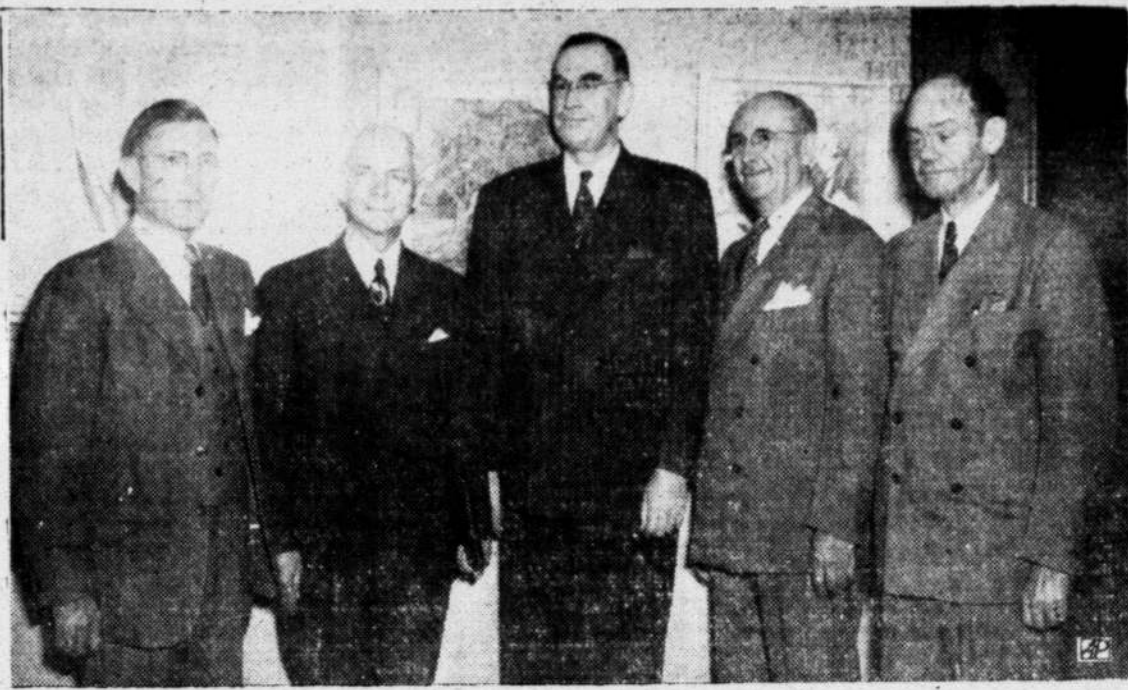

The rural extension plan was developed after surveys and trial operations in New England, Pennsylvania and California. More than 900 of these Service Units already are in operation in various parts of the country.

Under this plan, prominent leaders in each community form a local committee, or Service Unit, of the Army. These committees, which include public welfare and associated agency representatives, work in cooperation with other welfare organizations; approve and administer financial budgets; and coordinate and direct services to the needy under the supervision of resident or visiting Salvation Army welfare workers.

Services to veterans and their families in cases of emergency or marginal needs not covered by the "G. I. Bill of Rights" or met by other local agencies, are being extended in increasing volume by Service Units already in operation. Commissioner Arnold said.

While a nation-wide pattern has been set for the program, each Service Unit has wide flexibility in extending a helping hand to those in need. For instance, the Service Unit might help a war veteran, temporarily out of a job, stranded and in need of food, clothing or work; a poor family whose children need optical care or medical attention; an aged couple in need of care or comforts; a young woman or young man who needs a helping hand after making some mistake.

Surgical, medical and dental care, hospitalization, clothing, furniture, transient aid, financial grants, home

Noted German Author at Work On New Book

AP Newsfeatures
BERLIN — Thin, bespectacled Hans Fallada, author of the prewar best seller "Little Man — What Now?" is at work on a new novel of a private, sacrificial fight against Hitlerism in wartime.

Invited to return to Berlin by the Soviet-authorized Cultural Union for Germany's Democratic Renewal, the author promised his next sociological fiction to the city's new picture magazine, which is published under Soviet control.

He told an interviewer from the visitation, care and comforts for the needy aged, camp vacations, visual aid, and other services for underprivileged children are among the standard forms of Salvation Army aid given by the rural Service Unit.

Individuals interested in obtaining additional information about the program with a view toward helping to establish such a unit here, may simply send a postcard or letter to Commissioner William C. Arnold, The Salvation Army, 54 Ellis Street, Atlanta 3, Georgia.

Red Army newspaper, Tag-nich Rundschau he had served as village burgemeister in Mecklenburg after its Soviet occupation but suffered a nervous breakdown because he was "sunk in hopelessness and depression."

Last year, he recalled, he was jailed for approximately six months by the Nazis, who had judged him unreliable for having refused to write a novel based on anti-Semitism.

Fallada said his mental depression vanished when the poet Johannes Becher of the Cultural Union recently urged him to come to the capital and engage in radio talks and magazine writing "for the spiritual reconstruction of German peace."

For the main characters in his next novel, Fallada disclosed, he has taken a young, obscure married couple persecuted in Berlin by the Gestapo while Hitler was conquering France and invading Russia.

Protector Of Canada's Ducks Finds Them 'Almost Human'

AP Newsfeatures

WELLINGTON, Ont. — Once a hunter who slaughtered wild ducks and geese for market, Dayton Murphy became a protector from whose hands the wild waterfowl would eat. For 20 years he has lived among them without breaking the trust.

The 67-year-old nature lover, around whom as many as 200 blue-winged teal have flocked at a time to accept scattered food, says "wild ducks are my pets."

"When you live among the waterfowl and get to know those old characters and personalities you begin to wonder whether they really differ from people," he said. "In fact, the gentleness of some and the mean traits of others remind me a great deal of some people."

Murphy, a former high-wire performer on a bicycle, bought his last suit of clothes in 1917 and wears running shoes and old clothes winter and summer because "if I were to dress up, my birds wouldn't know me."

One of Murphy's prizes was a white-fronted goose, a bird of the far west, which found its way to his colony in 1937 and within a week was eating from his hand. Last year, he said, it came "home with one leg nearly twisted off, probably from a trap" and he had to amputate.

Murphy sees the average hunters as "just plain killers" with no conscience. "I was a killer once myself, although I called it sport," he says. "I think our soldiers coming back from overseas will respect our need for conservation. They have been at both ends of the gun and I hope they will understand the problem facing our wild ducks."

Quebec was founded by Samuel de Champlain in 1605.

MAXIMUM
LIFE

The triple-braced bars on Ground Grips give a forceful cleaning action leaving tire clean and sharp for the next bite.

The longer, stronger, cleaner traction bars take a deeper, firmer bite giving up to 16% more pull at the drawbar.

Extra traction prevents spinning, triple-braced bars keep bars strong and rigid. They're built with strong, tough rubber for longer wear.

MYRTLE DICKIE NEGY County Home Demonstration Agent DAIRY SCHOOL

If you are interested in dairying on a large or small scale we believe you will want to attend the Dairy Short Course which will be held in the District Court Room next Monday, November 12. It will begin promptly at 10:00 o'clock and should close between three and four p. m. There will be four good speakers: Dr. E. A. Grist, Extension Veterinarian; G. G. Gibson, Extension Dairyman; Dr. I. W. Rupee, Head of Dairy Department of A. and M. College, and D. F. Simons, Secretary of the Jersey Cattle Club. Their subjects will be "Mastitis," "Feeding the Dairy Herd," "Herd Management" and "Herd Improvement Through Breeding."

FEATHER COMFORTS

Mrs. C. P. Gowen, Chairman of the Council Marketing Committee, has found a firm from whom feather proof rayon satin can be purchased by the bolt. Orders are being taken through the home demonstration clubs for 10 yard quilt lengths of the material. Mrs. J. H. Adkins, chairman of the Home Demonstration Club Year Book Committee, says that a demonstration on making feather comforts will be given to all the clubs who want it by the home demonstration agent early next year. The demonstration was started several years ago and some women already know how to make them. But the material for the comforts became a war casualty and others did not have an opportunity to make a comfort. Women in communities where there are no home demonstration clubs should see me and make arrangements for demonstrations if they are interested in making feather quilts. They can see Mrs. Gowen about ordering the material.

FEATHERS FOR COMFORTS

Goose and duck feathers are best for comforts, but good chicken feathers make nice quilts. Feather from old feather beds can be used. If feathers are dirty they can be washed. Some laundries wash and dry feathers. The work can also be done at home. To do this put about 1-2 to one pound of feathers in a good tight sack or pillow case and stitch the open end with a sewing machine. Wash in washing machine through one or two luke warm suds and rinse through three or four luke warm rinse waters. It takes from three to five pounds of clean, dry, fluffy feathers to make a quilt. Feathers from old feather beds lose a good many pounds in weight when they are washed. So to be safe you should start with six or eight pounds of feathers for a quilt. I have never found it practical to have feathers de-stemmed.

CHRYSANTHEMUMS

Dawson County seems to be the home of the "mums." Mrs. Ross Hileman, of the Mc-Carty Home Demonstration Club, sold a half truck load to a florist this week. Mrs. G. U. Boyer, of the Welch Home Demonstration Club, has the most beautiful dark red chrysanthemums in her yard that the agent has seen. It seems that a plant exchange day would be a good thing for the clubs next year.

Town on Rails Is No Longer

AP NEWSFEATURES
OGDEN, Utah—after 41 years as a strategic railroad station, Midlake's semaphores are motionless and its signal lights dark.

Midlake's claim was that it was the only habitation with a trunk line railroad as its main street and the world's second largest salt water lake as its back and front yards.

Midlake had no postoffice, no jail, no stores—only a string of railroad buildings on a trestle-supported platform 240 feet long and 40 feet wide.

This Southern Pacific Railroad outpost came into being in 1904 after the S.P. completed the 30-mile Lucin cutoff to slice 44 miles from the old route which circled the northern shore of Great Salt Lake.

Trainmen received their orders at Midlake for lake-spanning operations. Section workers lived there and kept the track bed on the trestle in repair. Bridge and right-of-way maintenance men called it their headquarters.

Now a decentralized traffic control system extending across the lake has put Midlake in the same outdated category as link-and-pin couplings and wood-burning locomotives.

Mrs. W. Harper of Lamesa had as her guest last week her brother, Hershel Dorning of Fort Worth.

Mrs. W. Harper and three small children, Joel, Virgil and Linda are at home again after a brief visit with relatives and friends in Georgia and Alabama.
