Just Between Us

by JBS

Why and how communism gets a toehold in a country when so many high-placed officials and outstanding figures are opposed to it certainly is the mystery of the ages.

As we talked with the visiting Argentine delegation at the Hess Ranch here last Saturday we could sense their deep concern, even without understanding all they were saying.

Dr. Miguel Angel de la Torre, president of the 14-man delegation of young farmers and stockmen in the U. S. to observe our agricultural methods, could speak very little English.

But his furrowed brow caused by the word "communism" told how he felt even before he spoke.

—jbu—

These men—the agricultural leaders of today and tomorrow—have every reason to be unnerved by the growing red menace. Some of them are now raising crops and cattle on land held by their families for more than 150 years.

If communism comes, as pudgy Nikita Khrushchev boasts it will, the land will be theirs no more.

Whether bulwarks such as Dr. de la Torre and the others can stem the red tide will be decided by the future. It goes without saying that we hope their strong anti-communist convictions are shared by enough in the South American nation of Argentina.

—jbu—

You could read the puzzlement on de la Torre's face when he said through an interpreter:

It's difficult to understand why so many are turning to communism."

He and Anthony Morley, acting as interpreter for the group because he speaks English so well, repeatedly emphasized that they are "for freedom."

But somehow many misguided students in that country not so far away are joining the red ranks, obviously inspired to do so by the bearded Cuban character who has stirred so much resentment toward the United States since swallowing the Communist hook.

Many red-leaning professors have managed to infiltrate Argentina's colleges and universities, de

Argentine Group Sees Ranch Here

Ten young Argentine farmers and ranchers, showing grave concern over the growing Commuistic tide in their country and elsewhere in South America, stopped briefly Saturday afternoon for a look at registered Hereford cattle on the Hess Ranch south of town.

The group—who through their interpreter emphasized that they are not members of any organization comparable to the 4-H Club—arrived in the United States on June 3 and plan to return to Argentina in early August.

Actually, the delegation is made up of 14, but four had gone elsewhere at the time the visitors came to McLean.

They are members of the Rural Youth Athenaeums which were established in 1956, following the fall of the dictator Peron.

Anthony Morley, athenaeum secretary and acting as translator for the visitors, emphasized that the organization is "completely independent."

Not Political Force

"We are not a political force nor are we government controlled," he said. "The athenaeum is a society of young farmers 18 to 35 years of age with the aim of finding better techniques for agriculture."

They are paying their own expenses on this two-month stay in the U.S., including the rental of three cars being used to travel across the country. They rented the cars in Miami, Fla., after flying there from Argentina.

Miguel Angel de la Torre, a doctor of law from Santa Fe, is president of the delegation.

He and Morley explained that the group is attempting to compare agricultural techniques in America with those of their country. "We want to know American people better," they added, "and bring about better understanding of our common problems."

Interchange Program

Both spoke repeatedly of attempting to establish an interchange program between the two countries, setting up regular visits by delegations from the U. S. to Argentina and Argentine delegations to America.

De la Torre gravely discussed communism in Argentina. He said, through an interpreter, that Communists are "infiltrating" throughout the government and universities.

"It's difficult to understand," he said, "when sons from wealthy families become Communists."

He and Morley declared that the views of the athenaeums are "completely democratic . . . We are 100 per cent with the free world . . . We are against communism 100 per cent . . . We believe in freedom."

Rattlesnake Killed In Town; Marshal Cautions Residents

The bumper crop of rattlesnakes this year apparently are finding the fields and outlying areas too crowded.

One big rattler wandered into town last Friday, only to lose his life on the adventure.

Truitt Johnson, Jewel Bowling and J. L. Mann killed the snake, as he slithered near the railroad tracks in east McLean, and took his 10 rattlers as a trophy.

Bowling, McLean's city marshal, cautioned residents to keep a close "lookout" for the snakes.

Dozier Woman Bitten

A 74-year-old woman, Mrs. Kate Tate, was bitten on the leg by a four-foot-long rattlesnake at her home three miles west of Dozier recently.

Mrs. Tate, the mother of Floyd Tate, former McLean resident, was alone at the time, but managed to kill the snake with a hoe.

She was treated for the bite for nine days in Shamrock General Hospital, and was reported this week to be recuperating satisfactorily at home.

Independence Day Observance Tuesday

McLean will celebrate Independence Day Tuesday with the customary closing of businesses throughout the city.

Most stores and offices will close their doors for the day, but business as usual will resume on Wednesday.

McLean Post Office Will Be Dedicated on July 15

REP. ROGERS IS INVITED TO BE SPEAKER

Formal dedication of the new Post Office in McLean will be at 2 p. m. Saturday, July 15, Postmaster Bill Reeves announced this week.

Congressman Walter Rogers has been invited to deliver the principal address at the event, and the Post Office Department is to be represented by W. B. Weatherred, field service officer in the Dallas regional office.

Word was awaited from Congressman Rogers this morning, and it had not been determined if he would be able to accept the invitation.

The dedication is being sponsored by the McLean Lions Club. Reeves is chairman of the committee planning the dedication.

Everyone Invited

Several other special guests are being sent invitations to the event, and all persons in this area also are invited to attend and see the new structure which was occupied in early April.

The new building actually isn't owned by the federal government. It was constructed under the Post Office Department's unique commercial leasing plan and remains under private ownership.

A steady increase in business during recent years made construction of the new brick building necessary.

BIG GAINERS: George Saunders, Mc Lean registered Angus breeder, looks over the group of his bulls which just recently completed a 140-day performance test. The animals showed an average daily gain of 2.63 pounds each, with two recording weight incresaes of three pounds per day each. (McLean News Photo)

Junior Smith Speaks At Services Here

Junior Smith, a native of McLean, is speaker at a series of services which began Wednesday night at the Assembly of God Church and will continue through Sunday evening.

Rev. I. R. Green, pastor, invited the public to attend the services at 7:30 p.m. each day.

Smith, now lives in Globe, Ariz., and is a missionary among the Indians.

Baptist Picnic Will Be Friday Evening

Every family of the First Baptist Church is invited to an all-church picnic at 7 p.m. Friday in City Park, Rev. Dan Beltz, pastor, announced this week.

Rev. Beltz said each family is to bring a basket lunch. The picnic is being sponsored by the First Baptist Sunday School.

ANGUS MAKE LARGE GAINS

Twelve prize Angus bulls in the George Saunders herd recently made an average daily gain of 2.63 pounds in a 140-day performance test.

The test was based on the basic rules as outlined by the Beef Performance Registry International Association, according to Foster Whaley, Gray County agent.

The test was conducted in cooperation with Whaley, who participated in the weighing and grading of the bulls when the test started January 17 and in the weighing and grading on June 6.

Two of the most outstanding bulls in quality — grading fancy and fancy minus — gained three pounds daily. None fell below a two-pound average daily gain.

A Yardstick

Saunders, whose Angus have won shows through the Southwest, and numerous high ratings in livestock many other registered beef cattle breeders have become interested in placing some type of yardstick on their stock — other than eye appeal.

Through such tests a breeder can not only determine the potential of a prospective bull, but has a record on the sire and dam of the animal.

Kermit Rites Held For Citian's Brother

William Leonard Kingston, brother of Bill Kingston of McLean, died last Friday morning of a heart attack at his home in Kermit.

He was 55.

Funeral services were held Sunday in Kermit.

Furniture Store Will Open Here

A new furniture store will open its doors here within the next few weeks, it was announced Wednesday.

Cecil Crawford of Erick revealed plans to establish a furniture store in the Stubblefield building in the 100 block of Main Street during the summer.

Crawford told the McLean News Wednesday that he is to take possession of the 50-foot-front building owned by Earl Stubblefield on July 15 under a lease arrangement.

"Some remodeling" inside is planned, and the front of the structure will undergo a "facelifting," Crawford reported, before the store is opened.

Large Line of Furniture

The building formerly was occupied by the Stubblefield dry goods store, which was closed last year.

Crawford said he plans to handle a "large line" of well-known brands of furniture. The store also is expected to handle appliances.

A manager for the store will be named in the near future.

The owner has operated the Crawford Furniture and TV Store in Erick since 1947. He is a long-time resident of Erick.

PONY LEAGUE TILT TONIGHT

The McLean Pony League team will see its initial game action tonight in a meeting with an independent squad at 7 p.m. at Little League Park.

Only one squad of Pony Leaguers has been organized here, and the team will face similar young baseball players in surrounding towns.

Little League action continued to go as the Cubs would have it in the past week. The Cubs, coached by Harvey Taylor, posted two more big victories, downing the Cardinals 22-3 last Friday and the Braves 13-2 Tuesday night.

Cubs, Cards Friday

The Cubs and Cards go after it again Friday night following a farm team tussle at 6:30 p.m.

Simpson and T. Bible handled the pitching assignment for the Cubs in their 22-3 rout of the Cardinals last Friday. Mann and Redwine hurled for the Cards.

The Cardinals nipped the Braves in a close one 5-4 Monday, with Hugg taking credit for the win and Longino burdened with the loss.

Reading Program Begins Next Week At Local Library

The summer reading program at Lovett Memorial Library will start next Thursday, with Mrs. Willie Harris telling the stories and directing games and songs for youngsters aged 3 to 7.

Mrs. Guy Hester, librarian, said all children and young people may register on July 6 or any day thereafter during the program. The only requirement is that 15 of a recommended variety of books be read in the six-weeks period.

The reading program will be from 9 to 9:30 a.m. each Thursday through August 10.

Credit for Stories

Others telling stories during the period will be Mrs. Morris Brown, Mrs. Sonny Back, Mrs. Spencer Sitter and Miss Leona Forbes.

Pre-school-aged children will receive credit for one book each time they attend a story hour and for each book read to them by an older person.

Mrs. Hester said the library now has "several readers for first, second and third grade level, and a big number of new junior books."

"We hope for a big attendance at this first story hour," she said, "because we know if you come once you'll want to attend all the sessions each Thursday morning."

Highway Project Bids Are Invited

Bids will be opened July 18 on the reconstruction of FM 291 north from Alanreed, according to the Texas Highway Department.

An invitation for bids on the project is published in this week's McLean News.

Sealed proposals are requested for the construction of grading, structures, base and surfacing on FM 291 beginning 8.8 miles north of Alanreed and extending south of Alanreed.

Bids will be received by the Highway Department in Austin until 9 a.m. on July 18, at which time they will be opened.

City School Wins Land Court Suit

Nineteen sections of land formerly in the Alanreed school district were made a part of the McLean school district Tuesday night, ending a months-long court fight.

District Judge Lewis M. Goodrich made the decision in favor of the McLean district shortly after 11 p. m. Tuesday, when the petit jury hearing the case reported itself deadlocked following some five hours of deliberation.

The trial had begun Monday in the courthouse at Pampa after numerous delays.

The Alanreed board of education had brought the suit last year after owners of the property petitioned to have the 10 sections transferred to the McLean school district.

The suit charged the McLean school board with attempting to destroy the Alanreed district by annexing the 19 sections of the total 190 sections in the district.

Tax money from the property involved, amounting to several thousand dollars, had been set aside until a court decision was reached.

It was reported that 21 students have transferred from the Alanreed district to McLean schools, compared with five transferring from McLean to Alanreed.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Vern Sanford

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN, Tex. — State Capitol is having a relatively quiet period — somewhat like the "eye" of a hurricane.

Legislators are at home, and Gov. Price Daniel has gone to Hawaii for the National Governor's Conference. Officially, the "time out" ends July 16 when the special tax session begins.

But despite the lull, sharp gusts of differing opinion are still blowing. Before leaving, Gov. Daniel issuend a parting blast at lobbyists in particular and critics of his anti-sales tax stand in general. He is thinking of asking for tighter lobby control measures, particularly in regard to reporting of money spent to influence legislation. He also accused opponents of his tax plan of being unwilling to compromise.

Lawmakers are having their say before the Daniel- appointed committee to study tax measures. Sen. Wardlow Lane, sponsor of the Senate-passed sales tax bill, took a dim view of the "compromise" talk. Legislature compromised on taxes in 1959, he reminded, and the state government ended up more deeply in debt.

As to lobby control, Sen. Lane said the Legislature had already passed the measure that the governor had said would do the job. In general, Sen. Lane urged "a stop politicking and get on with the job" approach.

NEW LAWS COMPLETED — Before leaving for Hawaii, Gov. Daniel signed scores of bills into law, vetoed a few, and otherwise cleared the decks from the 57th regular session.

He signed the bill which will allow the University of Houston to become fully state-supported in the fall of 1963. This bill was the cause of a month-long filibuster in the Senate.

He let become law without his signature a measure known as the Carling Brewery bill, also highly controversial. It was sought by the Carling Brewery which plans to build a $40,000,000 plant in Fort Worth. Under the bill, a brewery may continue to operate in an area even if it is voted dry. By not signing it, the governor demonstrated his lack of enthusiasm.

Altogether the Legislature passed 549 bills in the regular session. Only 14 were vetoed by the governor.

SCHOOL BUS PRICES PROBED — Atty. Gen. Will Wilson has launched inquiry into the prices being paid by the state for school buses.

Wilson announced courts of inquiry to be held in Austin, Dallas, and perhaps later in San Antonio. He said investigation had been under way for six weeks and revealed Texas was paying from 10 to 25 per cent more for school buses than other states. He said there was no evidence foldentical bids, but that he felt there was a strong possibility of "rigged bidding."

School buses are bought by the Board of Control with state school funds on the basis of sealed bids. Bus dealers could, if found guilty of conspiring together over prices, be subject to both civil and criminal anti-trust suits.

PARENT LIABILITY UPHELD — In a recent case, the Supreme Court refused to change a lower court decision that the law holding parents liable up to $300 for damage caused by their children is constitutional.

Challenging the law was a father whose 15-year-old son had stolen and wrecked a car. Three courts upheld the constitutionality of the law and the father's responsibility.

It holds parents liable for "malicious and willful" destruction of property by children between 10 and 18 years of age.

INSURANCE HIKE FORECAST - Higher auto insurance premiums are predicted by officials of the State Board of Insurance.

Board has the matter under advisement after a public hearing. New rates, if set, will go into effect Aug. 1.

Increases suggested by both industry spokesmen and the Board's actuarial staff are the same. They are 8.7 per cent for comprehensive private passenger coverage, 8.1 per cent for collision, 23.6 per cent for liability, and 16.1 per cent for medical coverage.

A Department study showed that premiums were down as a result of the new safe driving plan and that claim costs were up because of the costliness of replacements on today's automobiles.

GAS TAX RULINGS ASKED — Probability of a strong push for a gas tax in the coming special session was indicated by Gov. Daniel's request for opinions from Atty. Gen. Will Wilson on the constitutionality of two such proposals.

One is a proposal by Rep. Bob Eckhardt of Houston which would require the holders of contracts for dedicated gas reserves to guarantee the state a tax of at least one cent on each 1,000 cubic feet of gas produced.

Another, by Rep. George Hinson of Mineola, is a rewrite of the severance beneficiary tax passed in 1959 and since held unconstitutional by the courts. Gov. Daniel has said that the 1959 bill would have stood up in court if it had been enacted as he recommended.

LINCOLN AND CABINET PLAN FOR BATTLE AT BULL RUN

By LON K. SAVAGE

Abraham Lincoln called his Cabinet and his top generals together 100 years ago this week and laid his cards on the table. The nation was demanding an offensive—an attack—a march on Richmond.

Time was running out; the three-months troops already had served half their time and had nothing to show for it. A Confederate force had been amassed at Manassas—30 miles to the south. There must be a battle.

He spoke mostly to old Winfield Scott, the federal army commander, and to Brig. Gen. Irvin McDowell, newly appointed commander of the troops at Washington. The Cabinet members, too, looked at the two soldiers, firmly behind the President's demand for action.

Scott still was reluctant. He had drawn elaborate plans for his "Anaconda," to choke the South into submission by controling the Mississippi and blockading the coast, and now this plan was about to be discarded. McDowell, too, asked for more time to drill and discipline his troops.

"You are green, it is true," Lincoln answered, "but they are green also."

Plan of Attack

So McDowell then came forth with the plan he knew Lincoln wanted to hear. He would move 30,000 men in three columns south from Washington against the Confederates lined up behind Bull Run at Manassas under Gen. P. G. T. Beauregard.

Gen. Robert Patterson, despite his delay in moving south from Pennsylvania, would see to it that the Confederate army under Gen. Joseph E. Johnston in the Shenandoah Valley was kept busy.

If the two rebel armies were kept divided, McDowell could win.

There was some discussion about Patterson's part in the campaign. His delay in moving toward the Potomac had annoyed Scott, who was considering replacing Patterson. Finally, it was decided Patterson would be kept in his post. And the plans for the Battle of Bull Run had been decided.

Lincoln left the meeting somewhat comforted. It was time for action, he felt, as the war was getting entirely too close to Washington.

Steamer Captured

Only the day before the meeting, the private steamer St. Nicholas had been captured by Confederates on the Potomac while going from Baltimore to the nation's capital. (Unbeknownst to Lincoln, the capture had been led by a Confederate naval officer, Hunter Lewis, who disguised himself as a pretty French "madameoiselle." His "charms" had captivated the Union men aboard the steamer before he had pulled his guns and, with other disguised Confederates aboard, had taken possession of the ship.)

And only two days before the meeting, Commodore James H. Ward, commander of the federal Potomac flotilla, had been killed at Mathias Point, 30 mies south on the Potomac in an exchange of gunfire with a group of Confederates. Ward was on the bow of his steamer aiming a gun when he was hit.

In Lincoln's native Kentucky that week, however, the Union cause began to look up. Maj. Gen. William Nelson, a former naval officer, established himself in southeastern Kentucky with the purpose of enlisting infantry for federal service.

Perhaps it was a violation of Kentucky's neutrality, but Nelson had a promise of 5,000 stand of arms from Lincoln, and it would not be long before Kentuckians would be drilling and training to fight against the Confederacy—the fulfillment of one of Lincoln's fondest hopes.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Glenn and family of O'Fallon, Ill., are visiting Mrs. Essie Glenn and other relatives here this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Mertel took Sandra Greenwood, Kay Ash, Teresa Mertel and Dorothy Beasley to the Methodist junior camp at Ceta Canyon Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Johnston of Stephenville visited Mrs. R. N. Ashby recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack McClellan and Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Lee have returned from a vacation trip to Arkansas and Missouri. They visited relatives of Mrs. Lee's in Missouri.

Floor baskets at each side contained similar floral arrangements, and the aisle markers were majestic daisies and white satin ribbon.

Sister Is Organist

Mrs. Charles Cullin, sister of the bride, was organist and accompanied Mrs. W. F. Jacobs, soloist and aunt of the bride, as she sang "Through the Years," "To Each His Own," and in benediction "The Wedding Prayer." Traditional classical preludes and wedding marches were played by Mrs. Cullin.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a gown of white Chantilly lace and nylon tulle. The Sabrina neckline was re-embroidered with seed pears and irridescent sequins and the sleeves extended to points at the wrist. The full skirt was fashioned in tiers of lace and tulle and featured a chapel train.

The bride's fingertip veil of silk illusion was attached to a crown of seed pearls, and she carried a bouquet of yellow sweetheart roses and baby's breath on a white lace fan. She wore single strand of pearls, the gift from the bridegroom.

Miss Linda Kay Rattan was maid of honor, and the bride's other attendants were Misses Cherri Ann Barton and Janie Waybourn, Matador, and Mrs. Mike Murff, Amarillo, sister of the bridegroom. His nieces, Tanya and Allison Murff, were flower girl and ring bearer.

Lester Sitter of McLean was best man. Groomsmen were Mike Murff of Amarillo, Beryl Murdock Jr. of Jayton and Richard Campbell, brother of the bride. Ushers were Gerald Pipkin and Robin Darsey, cousins of the bride.

Wear Yellow Organza

Pastel yellow silk organza dresses were worn by the bride's attendants. Designed with cap sleeves and bell-shaped street length skirts, the dresses were accented at the waistline with self cummerbund caught at the center front with an organza rose. For headdresses they wore short yellow net veils attached to crowns of pastel yellow roses. Miniature lace fans held their bouquets of white Marguerite daisies.

Mrs. Campbell, mother of the bride, wore a sheath of beige lace over pastel green with a coif of matching flowers and other matching accessories. Mrs. Allison, the bridegroom's mother, chose a jacket sheath ensemble of brown silk with beige trim, with pillbox hat and other accessories matching.

The bride's chosen colors were repeated in the room decorations and table appointments for the wedding reception.

At Campbell Home

The reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, where the walkway to the terraced lawn was marked with hurricane lamps decorated with white ribbon streamers and containing yellow and white daisies.

Adding a decorative note to the refreshment table, laid with a white organza embroidered cloth over a yellow cover, were the fan-bouquets carried by the bride's attendants. Majestic daisies and palm fern were used for a floral centerpiece. The three tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bridal couple, was served with frosted lime punch.

Miss Donna Williams presided at the punch service, and Misses Geney Spray and Gwen Killingsworth served the cake. Guests were registered by Miss Carolyn Pohl.

Piano selections during the reception were played by Gerald Pipkin.

Room decorations included a miniature bridal party on the piano, floral baskets of daisies and fern, and a bridal couple on the mantel. An epergne containing arrangements of daisies enhanced the dining area.

After a wedding trip to Denver, Colo., and Estes Park, the couple will live at 3010 Manioca Road in Lubbock. For travel, Mrs. Allison wore a beige and brown cotton and silk suit with bone accessories and a corsage of yellow roses from her bridal bouquet.

The bride is a 1961 graduate of Matador High School and was outstanding in both scholastic and social activities. Her husband graduated from McLean High School and is a junior agricultural economics major at Texas Tech.

'HOW COME A CAR THAT RIDES LIKE' THIS ONE DOESN'T COST MORE?

A good question—and we could spend this whole page answering! But what it all boils down to is this: It just stands to reason you're going to get more for your money when you put it on the car more people are buying . . . and that car is the Jet-smooth Chevrolet.

Best way to settle any further questions about Chevy's ride is to settle behind the wheel and try it. Full Coil suspension and over 700 other gentle persuaders throughout the body and chassis will go to work cushioning, insulating, smoothing, soothing and pampering. Only JET-SMOOTH CHEVY question you'll have left is why didn't you try it sooner.

You might also ask: Who else in Chevrolet's field gives you Body by Fisher craftsmanship and such a wide variety of models to make sure you get just what you're looking for? Answer: Nobody.

Prices? The man to check for the low-down on that one is your Chevrolet dealer. He's ready and waiting for you right now with all the right answers.

TEXAS A. & M. COLLEGE EXTENSION SERVICE

By FOSTER WHALEY

COTTON CLASSIFYING

Mr. B. F. Holland and I have a chore to perform sometime between now and Aug. 1.

Each year we must submit from Gray County an application for cotton classing service. Several things must be done in order to qualify for this service.

A cotton sampler's bond must be executed. After we have met the provisions as outlined this will enable each farmer of Gray and surrounding counties that gin their cotton at McLean to the classification service at the new Memphis cotton classing office.

CONDITION OF CROP

Few cotton farmers on the high plains have their cotton up. They have either been washed out or hailed out. They considered the planting date too late for a chance at a cotton crop.

Most of the cotton farmers in the McLean vicinity have replanted. Much of it is up at the time of this writing.

This is late for cotton to just be coming up. But we have planted it late before and made good cotton. Some of it last year was not planted until June 13.

It all depends on growing conditions from here out and how early we catch that fall frost.

WHEAT HARVEST

Although we don't have much wheat or other small grain in the McLean vicinity, our harvest is 95 per cent complete. Yields have been excellent.

Hail damage has been the heaviest in the county since 1932, according to some of the oldtimers in the insurance business.

Many high plains farmers who reaped big profits on cattle on wheat pasture now find themselves hitting the jackpot again. My advice to them would be to wait until after Jan. 1 to put their wheat in the loan or sell it.

They should confer with their income tax consultant on this.

Mrs. Alice Short Smith is leaving June 29 on a world tour which will include 17 countries, including Berlin, Germany, Leningrad and Moscow in Russia, Italy, Greece, Egypt, the Holy Lands, Lebanon, Turkey, India, Bangkok, Hong Kong, Tokyo and Honolulu.

WALTER ROGERS REPORTS

DESALINIZATION OF WATER

On June 21st the President of the United States pressed a button in Washington, D.C., that started the flow at Freeport, Texas, of fresh water produced from the sea. It heralded the completion of the first saline water conversion plant in a long-range government program designed to produce the answer to one of man's oldest problems. It is the hope of all of us that effective answers to this problem can be found at an early date. However, we must recognize that the proper attack must be on a long-range basis. If we can find the solutions early, the research and development program can be terminated. On the other hand, if the answers are not forthcoming quickly, we must not run the risk of wasting money on short-range, ineffective programs. Man lives by the theory of elimination. He moves step by step as he probes into the future. He can only discover by repeated attempts to gain the desired result. In other words, "If you don't succeed the first time, try, try again." It was this philosophy that the first flight of the Wright brothers blossomed into the jet airlines of today.

We know that the vast waters in the sea, as well as the brackish waters underlying the earth in many places, can be changed into life-giving fluid that can be utilized not only for human consumption, but for all other domestic and industrial needs of man. The question is, as to how this can be done so that it will be economically feasible. Whether or not this can be done by new and unknown methods is our responsibility. It must be accomplished and it can only be done by proper research and development. It must be done, because this accomplishment during our generation would go down in history as the greatest single step ever taken by mankind to bring about universal peace.

I was honored to be present at the Freeport ceremonies, as the legislation making possible the research and development in this field was handled by a subcommittee of which I am chairman. It was indeed gratifying to see the physical results of what can be produced by a free nation with the government and private enterprise working hand in hand for the betterment of mankind. The ceremonies were most impressive and were attended by the Vice President of the United States, Lyndon B. Johnson, whose long record in support of this program was written in the Senate; the Honorable Stewart L. Udall, Secretary of the Interior; several United States and several members of the House of Representatives; Lieutenant Governod Ben Ramsey; and other, State officials. Private enterprised by leaders in the industrial and commercial fields of this country.

Let us all hope that this occasion which took place in the State of Texas will constitute the beginning of man's conquest of one of the most dread enemies, "drought."

THE BERLIN ISSUE

The Berlin issue could turn out to be the number one issue in this decade. There is no doubt but that Khrushchev so connsiders it. Some feel that he would rather have the issue than a settlement. This, however, appears to be wishful thinking. The Berlin question has already been pushed by Khruschev to the point that some settlemen, is expected by the other countries of the world. Undoubtedly Khrushchev realizes this, because he has as much, or more, at stake than does this country. He also realizes tht war is not and cannot be the answer to this dilemma. It can probably be concluded also that he realizes the futility of war as a solution to problmes, as compared to the additional problems created. Our position must be firm and he must understand that we will not vacillate. Unless this posiition is maintained, our position in the eyes of the world and each area could be seriously jeopardized.

In passing, I would make the ollowing observation: although the Germans have been our enemies twice in this century, it is difficult to visualize people of the German stock remaining complacent under a Russian boot heel.

la Torre pointed out.

—jbu—

We once would have said fearlessly that so long as there are men in Argentina and elsewhere in South America like de la Torre and the others we weren't really worried about our southern neighbors becoming a part of the Communist encircling movement.

But now . . .

Whether the United States is approaching this problem of encirclement—being carried out, incidentally, just as Lenin mapped it out so long ago—in the right manner is a matter for argument,

We have taken it on the chin as Castro dished it out far too long. And we firmly believe that everytime he opens his whisker-encircled mouth against us more Spanish-speaking people in this hemisphere are swayed to his side.

So you can put us in the corner of Sen. Barrqy Goldwater and a handful of others who believe the Cmmunistic dupe in Cuba must be stopped someday if we are to survive . . . so why put it off any longer.

Tests at the Pan Tech farm show that calves from the high-gaining bull outweighed those of the low-gaining bull in their feeding tests by 38 pounds at six months of age.

Saunders plans to continue the tests each year, as a matter of information to him and prospective bull buyers.
