WEST VIRGINIA Dam Bursts, Report 90 Dead

LOGAN, W. Va. (AP) — At least two dozen persons died Saturday when water that had backed up behind a slate dump broke through and inundated remote coals camps in Logan County. Unconfirmed reports put the death toll as high as 90.

Early Saturday night authorities were still trying to reach the isolated area. Because normal access was blocked, National Guardsmen and state troopers were proceeding by foot over a mountain in an effort to reach the small towns of Pardee and Lundale.

WIDESPREAD FLOODING

Private helicopters did reach another village, Lorado, and brought out 12 of the most seriously injured.

Widespread flooding, brought on by three days of rain, caused damage in numerous spots around southern West Virginia.

The deaths occurred when water of Elk Lick, a small tributary of Buffalo Creek, broke through a slate dump at a coal mine at Lorado. Slate, a waste product of coal mining, is often discarded in dumps near the mouths of mines.

The water cascaded down a hollow, destroying houses, cars and bridges, reports from the area said.

"A 20-foot wall of water gushed out of there," said Lt. K. H. Ellis of the state police.

In Charleston, Gov. Arch A. Moore Jr. said he had received unconfirmed reports that up to 90 persons had perished.

Ballard Trial Resumes Monday

ALPINE — The trial of Whitmer Jean Ballard, accused of the murder of Glasscock County rancher Steve Currie, resumes here Monday after a respite in which Ballard was whisked to Big Spring for psychiatric examinations.

Ballard was checked by members of the Big Spring State Hospital staff Friday and then returned by Texas Rangers to Alpine.

Testimony began last Monday afternoon with a parade of several witnesses, but the principal ones were Judy Dunham, an acknowledged participant in the robbery of the Currie home Dec. 2, 1970, and who was granted immunity for her testimony, and Mrs. Janie Montgomery, admitted prostitute who said she had lived with Ballard about six months prior to the robber-murder.

Both testified that they had heard plans for a robbery discussed, and Mrs. Dunham told of the roles she and four men — Ballard, Floyd Palmer, William Tisdale and Orville (Pete) Davis — were to play. Everything went wrong, she said, including a shooting. She and Palmer fled in separate vehicles and she was stopped at a road block and released. Ballard wandered through thickets by night and hid in brush by day until Dec. 6 when he emerged near St. Lawrence and got a ride to Midland.

It was there she met him and returned him to Odessa, said Mrs. Montgomery, adding that Ballard told her he had shot a rancher. She was with Ballard when they fled and were arrested in California.

Other witnesses testified about items introduced in evidence and supposedly stolen from the Currie home; about having seen certain weapons; about putting Ballard near and at the scene of the crime; about money missing from Currie's person.

Reviewing the . . .

Big Spring Week

. . . with Joe Pickle

The initial week of nominations for the annual Youth Achievement awards brought in a number of responses. You will note these forms in the Herald, and if you know of a senior boy or girl deserving of consideration for their good character, constructive attitude and helpful hands, please toss their white hats into the ring. Don't be hesitant.

A bit of good news came to the Colorado River Municipal Water District and to area cities, including Big Spring, last week with an out-of-court settlement of a suit alleging price fixing by pipe companies. This area recovered $545,000. The biggest amount went to CRMWD with $273,082 (or a net of $204,814), followed by Midland with $196,469, Odessa $57,388 and Big Spring $15,461. In the district's case, this may help hold the line on rates for next year.

Big Springers, probably in excess of 1,500, turned out Saturday to see the Big Spring Dress Company plant in action. Company officials were gratified by the response. Soon they hope to complete a fourth line, then add a fifth production line, which will mean about 100 more employees soon.

The trial of Whitmer Jean Ballard, charged with murder of Steve Currie, 71, Glasscock rancher on Dec. 2, 1970, got underway during the week, and the state apparently had presented the bulk of its case. Proceedings were halted to bring Ballard to Big Spring State Hospital Friday for

Lebanon, Israel Seeking Sanctions

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Lebanon and Israel each called for condemnation of the other in a Security Council debate Saturday on border battles between Israeli raiders and Lebanon-based Arab guerrillas.

Najati Kabbani, Lebanese ambassador to Washington, said the council should impose sanctions against Israel for two days of reprisal attacks on border villages in southern Lebanon.

Sanctions would mean U.N. punishment of Israel. They could take several forms, such as requesting member nations to boycott Israeli trade or take other economic measures against Jerusalem.

Jacob Doron, an ambassador in Israel's U.N. mission, declared that Lebanon should be condemned and "ordered to take immediate action to put a stop to all terrorist activities from Lebanese territory against Israel."

GROUND ATTACK

The council met on Lebanon's request that it consider "a large-scale" Israeli air and ground attack on Lebanese villages Friday. Israel countered with a request that the council consider guerrilla killings of two civilians and three border patrolmen in Israel on Wednesday and Thursday.

Hours before the council convened, Israeli aircraft roared over villages in southeastern Lebanon to attack guerrilla camps for the second straight day.

Guerrilla artillery traded fire with Israeli tanks protecting the bulldozers, the Lebanese said, but there were no reports of resistance by the Lebanese army.

Premier Saeb Salam of Lebanon met with guerrilla leader Yasir Arafat and then hurried Kabbani, sitting in for Lebanon's ailing U.N. Ambassador Edouard Ghorra, told the Security Council 60 tanks and armored cars backed by planes took part in Israeli attacks Friday on six Lebanese villages.

Kabbani said he had word the Israeli jets attacked again Saturday and claimed that Israeli bulldozers are carving roads to Lebanese villages which might be "attacked tomorrow."

NO CONTROL

The Lebanese ambassador denied the guerrillas cited by Israel came from Lebanon. He said Lebanon could not control its border and could not take responsibility for what happened in Israel.

Doron said Israel had "the right and the duty" to act in self-defense and its operation Friday "was minimal and directed only . . . against the terrorists in their encampments." He said all Israeli forces now had withdrawn from Lebanon.

The council adjourned after hearing 10 speakers in a three-hour session. It took no action and diplomatic sources said a new meeting on the Middle East probably would be called for Monday morning.

An Israeli military spokesman in Tel Aviv claimed the jets were dispatched to silence Arab guerrilla fire along the slopes of Mt. Hermon, where Israeli territory juts into Lebanon. Lebanese reports of major artillery battles and waves of jet strikes were exaggerations, he added. The spokesman acknowledged two Israeli soldiers were wounded Saturday but denied any invasion of Lebanese territory.

Death Penalty Decision Hailed

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Former Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark says he is glad the California Supreme Court decided against capital punishment, but he says the government should also work toward early release of prisoners sentenced to life terms.

"If a man has demonstrated he can live in peace with society next week he should be released," Clark told a news conference Friday prior to the Annual Roosevelt Day Dinner of the Americans for Democratic Action here.

Plane Plunges Into Lake C-City

COLORADO CITY — A light plane apparently hit a power line and crashed into Lake Colorado City at about 6 p.m. Saturday.

Later in Hangchow, Nixon declined to discuss his negotiations in any detail, adding: "If we had yielded to the pressure for hard news, it would have jeopardized what we have accomplished, and you, of course, will be the judge of what we have accomplished."

REACH SOME AREAS OF AGREEMENT

Nixon's Last Day In China

SHANGHAI (AP) — President Nixon and Premier Chou En-lai, having forged some areas of agreement in five days of talks, arrived here Sunday morning in cloudy weather for the President's last day in China. A strong wind was blowing and the temperature was in the low 30s.

They flew in a Soviet-built Chinese airliner from the garden city of Hangchow to this fabulously port city, through which the President entered China last week for his historic visit.

U.S. and Chinese flags fluttered side by side and huge signboards in English—white letters on a red background—decorated the sides of the terminal building at Hung Chiao Airport. One of the signs, which have been up for some time and were not erected especially for the presidential visit, reads: "The just struggles of the people of all countries support each other."

In Hangchow, Nixon added a word of caution on the extent of his accord with Chou. "Note that I said some areas" of agreement, he told newsmen after a tour of the city's picturesque West Lake, a surrounding park and a honeymoon island.

A joint communique on the results of the talks was to be issued by late afternoon Shanghai time, which is 13 hours ahead of Eastern Standard Time. It was expected to be couched in general terms.

The Nixon party and Chou En-lai were met at Shanghai airport by Chinese officials and went directly to the Shanghai Exhibition Hall to view an industrial show.

President and Mrs. Nixon are to be lodged at Ching Kiang Guest House in the former French Concession during their 24 hours in Shanghai. It was through Shanghai that Westerners made their first penetration of China centuries ago.

The Nixons will attend a banquet and cultural show at the exhibition hall Sunday night. They will leave Shanghai at 10 a.m. Monday, 9 p.m. Sunday EST, for Anchorage, Alaska, aboard the presidential jet, the Spirit of '76.

Mrs. Nixon was scheduled to visit the Shanghai Municipal Children's Palace Sunday afternoon to see gymnastics, table tennis, ballet and a puppet and variety show performed by students.

The communique was expected to promise cultural and journalistic exchanges, some expansion of trade, an easing of tourist restrictions and procedures for continuing contacts between Washington and Peking.

Nixon told newsmen: "The communique will speak for itself." "In announcing last summer that he would visit China, the President said one of the purposes would be the normalizing of relations with Peking. Word that Nixon and Chou had come to some form of agreement came first from Ronald L. Ziegler, the White House press secretary.

County Dads Down Pay Hikes For Women Deputies

The Howard County Commissioners Court, in a called session Friday afternoon cut back two pay increases for deputies in the sheriff's office, and held in abeyance two individual salary adjustments previously made.

In lieu of a first deputy, Sheriff A. N. Standard had split the $50 increment which goes to that office and split it between two women office deputies, who were designated first and second deputies. He said that this involved no increase in the department allocation.

DELAY RAISES

The court, however, ruled that it was responsible for fixing the number of and pay for employees, and the officials responsible for the hiring within those guidelines.

Adjustments previously voted for Mrs. Ruby Phillips, county welfare officer, and Mrs. Lulia Adams, Justice of Peace at Coahoma, were held in abeyance pending a ruling from the wage and price board regional office at Dallas. Each shared, as did all employees, in an across-the-board five per cent increase which is within the federal guidelines.

WORK LOAD

"The inner-office work load has been increasing for some time now, and the two persons we have working in the office were doing a good job," said Standard. "Therefore, I decided to appoint them first and second chief deputies and divide the appropriated salaries between the two."

The sheriff said that an official letter was sent to the county auditor requesting the increment in the employees' salaries. "Everything was done above board, and according to existing policy standards," Standard said.

When he learned there was some controversy developing over the appointments, he advised Judge Mitchell to put the issue on the agenda for regular commissioners court meeting, said Standard.

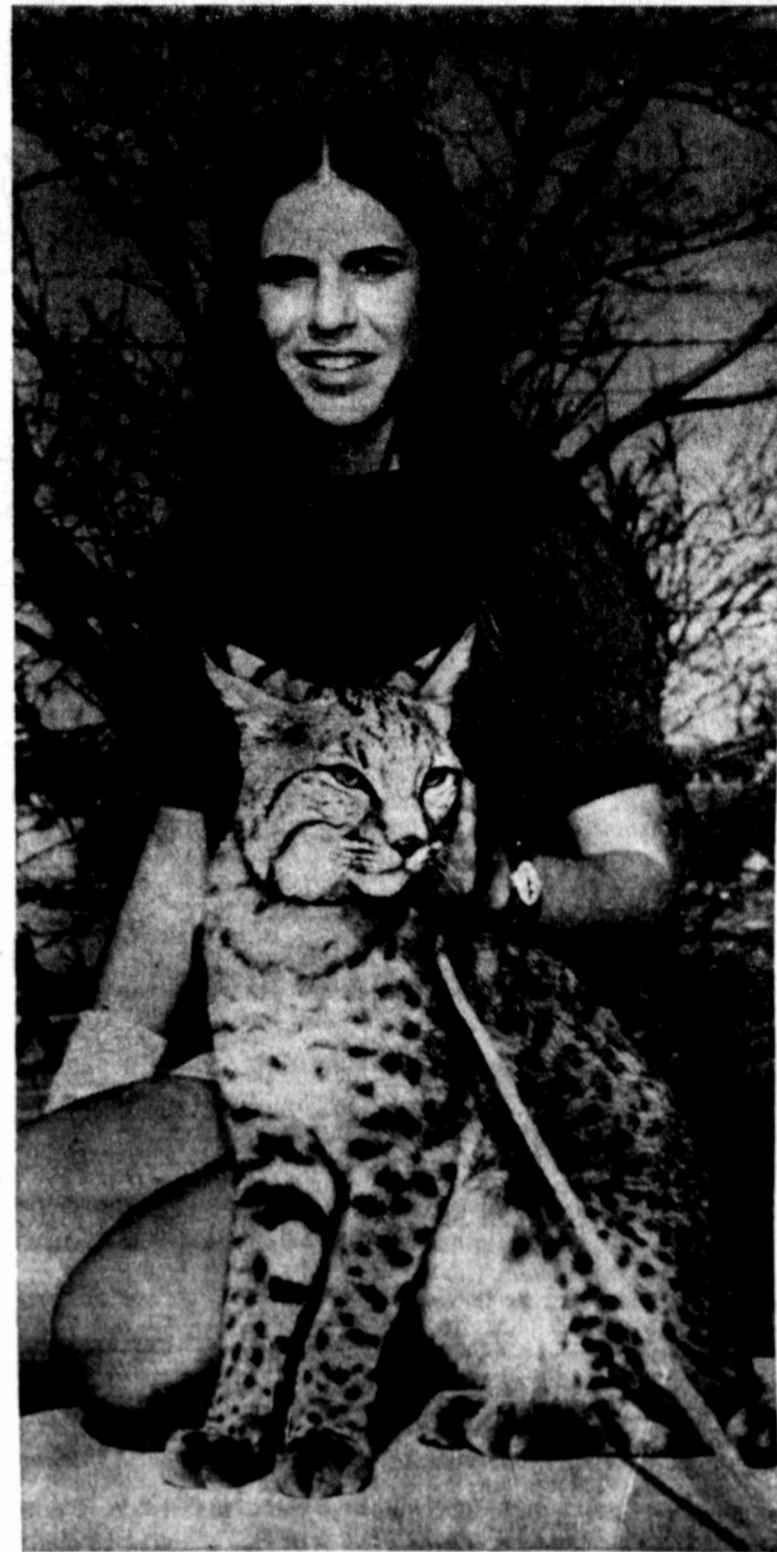

NOT THEIR INTENT

Before the regular meeting agenda was made up, however, Commissioner Bill Crooker, after talking with other commissioners asked that a special meeting be called. He said that court members felt like the sooner the matter was resolved, the better for morale in all departments.

"We want to do everything by policy standards, and I was not aware that I did not have the prerogative to make the increments in the salaries with the department money," Standard added.

"I feel that it is, however, my responsibility to hire and pay accordingly. In view of this, I think that the court's decision is unfair, including some of the things that were said about the books being juggled to allow the increment in salaries," Standard said. Commissioners said they did not feel that the sheriff had been accused of misrepresentation, and this was not their intent.

HOUSE CAT — "TC," a 1½-year-old bobcat, enjoys the afternoon sun with Sharon Rorick. The cat is the Rorick family's answer to cat chasing dogs. "She really gets along fine with dogs," said Sharon.

'COOL' CAT 'TC' Stars In Bathroom Capers

By STEVE HULTMAN

"TC" is just like any other house cat, except she is a lot bigger.

All the normal things a cat does, "TC," a year-and-a-half old bobcat, does.

"Before we declawed her, she would stretch and dig her claws into a big vinyl covered chair — the one covered in cloth now," said Mrs. LeRoy W. (Jean) Rorick.

"TC," which stands for "That Cat" (Someone was always yelling, "Where's that cat?"), purrs, plays with a ball of yarn and jumps up on top of things, "including your head."

BATHROOM

"She growls sometimes and when she is stalking a bird, she makes a sound like she is stepping on a rubber duck."

"TC" has some more tricks. She opens the screen doors, and she gets up on the commode to go to the bathroom.

"People come over all the time asking to take a picture of "TC" going to the bathroom. It used to bother us, but we are used to it now," said Mrs. Rorick.

The Rorick family, including SM.Sgt. Rorick, Mrs. Rorick and their two daughters, Sharon and Pat, got "TC" June 10, 1970, when she was four weeks old.

A friend of the family found three bobcat kittens and gave the Roricks one of them.

"We started "TC" out on a bottle of bitch animal milk, and she has since graduated to two cans of Alpo a day," said Mrs. Rorick.

NO RAW MEAT

"We never feed her raw meat, and we have never put her in a cage. We think she is so gentle because of the way we have treated her."

"She was in a cage once, but she went in on her own. We had a Guinea pig that we kept in a cage, and one day we opened the door to the cage, and "TC" ran inside. "TC" didn't hurt the pig, but both of them were scared to death until we got "TC" out. We don't have the pig anymore."

"TC" is kept on a leash when she is outside, and likes birds. "Whenever she sees one, she stands up on her hind legs like a prairie dog to look at it."

"TC" has also traveled around Texas some. "Every underpass we drive under, "TC" ducks and looks back to see what has happened."

"TC" has been loose twice, but she has never gone more than two blocks. "She wouldn't hurt a soul. The first time she was out, some children who knew us saw her and just walked up to her and put a leash on her."

"People have offered to buy "TC," but we wouldn't give her up for anything."

Gas 'War' In Making

A gas war, something Big Spring has not seen for several years was in the making Saturday. It appeared to involve most of the smaller independent stations.

However, according to some of the larger companies, the past week of low gasoline prices is beginning to take its toll on their business.

Curtis M. Vaughn Sr., Premier Station on Wasson Road, is taking the credit for being among the first to cut prices. Attendants at the station said Saturday that prices there have been steadily dropping all week.

Bruno, an attendant, over 1,000 gallons of gasoline were sold by the small station Friday alone.

Some station operators said the bottom will completely drop this weekend. Unless halted they could sag to 14 cents per gallon, they speculated.

John Workman, manager of the Robo Double S Brand station Gregg, said Saturday that his prices had fluctuated all week, and his district manager had given the word to stay with competition no matter how low the prices go.

BARGAIN TIME

1,000 GALLONS
Saturday prices at the station were 22 cents for regular and 26 cents for premium, but station employees said they will probably drop as low as 19 cents per gallon.

Gibson's Gasoline Station dropped its prices three times Friday and was down to 21 cents for regular and 23 cents for premium Saturday morning.

Another competitor was the Tyco-Fina station on Wasson Road. According to Larry

His station prices stood at 22 cents per gallon of regular and 24 cents per gallon of premium Saturday. Ever some of the major company stations were beginning to feel the pressure Saturday.

Some of the Gage Fina stations had dropped prices by one or two cents down to 31 and 33.

H. C. Fitch, Shell station on Gregg, said they were losing business, but no word had been given by company officials of a drop in price.

JAYHAWK WELCOME — Mrs. Rhea Marie Paxton, art instructor at Howard County Junior College, paints one of four billboard signs which will be erected at the four main entrances to Big Spring. These proclaim "Welcome to Big Spring, Home of Howard County Junior College Jayhawks."

The project for the colorful signs is being underwritten by Big Spring Savings, First Federal Savings, First National Bank, Security State Bank, Webb AFB Credit Union and Cosden Credit Union.

Open House Has Good Response

Between 1,000 and 1,500 people turned out Saturday morning to view the Big Spring Dress Company, one of the city's newest industries, in action.

Production lines were kept humming as Big Spring and area residents witnessed close-up how dresses, hot pants, and other items of women's apparel are fabricated, and finished for shipment to distribution points.

Jack Peery, plant manager, expressed gratification with the response of the community to view the new facilities.

Here for the occasion were Louis Kreditor, Dallas, founder of IBI, the parent company; also Sy Thum, president; Jack Baberrash, Dallas, of the headquarters staff; and Emma Miller, manager of the company plant in McKinney.

From the opening time at 9:30 a.m. there was a constant flow of groups being escorted through the plant to witness various stages of production from the unpacking and bundling of cut goods, to the assembly step by step by 155 workers on the lines, and finally the pressing of dresses and packaging for shipment to Dallas for distribution under three brand labels.

Peery said that the three lines now produce about 1,400 items each per week, and that a fourth is being added to the dress and hot pants lines. However, a fifth line, to be activated soon, will be devoted to the manufacture of jeans. The full implementation of the fourth dress line, together with the new line, will mean an addition of about 100 employees within a month.

When the plant's in full production Peery estimated that some 10,000 garments per week will come off the production lines.

The plant is located just off US 80 west near the Loop 70 and US 80 West intersection.

Crowd Erupts In Emotion As Fernandez Acquitted

EDINBURG, Tex. (AP) — A and La Raza Unida political hush fell over the courtroom. Sweat beads popped out on the forehead of many as they awaited the verdict Friday in the trial of a young Mexican-American leader.

Efrain Fernandez, 28, of Pharr, was being tried on a felony charge of malicious destruction of property in connection with the bloody Feb. 6, 1971, riot at Pharr.

Many of those who lined wooden benches or stood in the aisles at the rear of the courtroom had not missed a word of the five days of testimony.

The riot, the only violence experienced in the Lower Rio Grande Valley in almost six years of sporadic demonstrations, claimed the life of a bystander, resulted in several injuries and caused heavy property damage.

Judge Tillman Smith took the verdict from jury foreman S. H. Long. Without even glancing at the verdict, he warned the spectators against outbursts, saying "the court won't tolerate them."

Mrs. Dora Fernandez, wife of the defendant, nervously moved about and appeared to be fighting back tears as the final juror was seated.

The spectators, many of whom were at Pharr through a peaceful demonstration against alleged police brutality, appeared to move forward in their seats.

NOT GUILTY
A large number of deputies were outside the courtroom. More officers were downstairs on the first floor of the courthouse. Others were located in a parking lot across the street from the courthouse.

"We, the jury, find the defendant, Efrain Fernandez, not guilty," Judge Smith read. Soft, almost polite applause came from the spectators.

TEARS ON FACES
Tears streamed down the faces of several as they anticipated the verdict for Fernandez, a man who has fought for the rights of the poor through work with the Mexican-American Youth Organization (MAYO), the United Farm Workers Organizing Committee

History Of Broken Dam Is Clouded By Passing Time

By BRIAN PEAY

Older than many of the senior citizens of Big Spring, a broken monument of men's dreams and past efforts stands unnoticed here, surrounded by modern man's progress and development.

Once it was an immense undertaking, and possibly the center of a community's plans. But now, many would not know what it is, or was, and many more who probably don't care.

But there it still stands, while other of its historical counterparts are being torn down daily to make room for modern improvement.

And even though it failed the purpose for which it was erected, there still may be room for its existence in this modern day society.

PLAYGROUND FOR YOUTH

Broken Dam is its name, and even before the construction of FM 700 and extension of Goliad Street south, it was frequented by adventuresome youth.

The area was known under many nick-names, as far as the youngsters who played there were concerned.

Starting a few hundred feet from the old broken dam and running all the way to U.S. 87, and the Cosden dam, there was a succession of ponds, which some called Seven-Creeks.

Several of the seven ponds were quite large, and during the rainy seasons would catch a surprising amount of water. It was easy to see why people who built the dam felt this would be a good catch basin.

Later, after FM 700 was built and Highland South Addition was started, there was a small road built through the area, connecting Goliad Street and U.S. 87.

The area then became known to all local teenagers as "Little Africa," because it provided a perfect place near town where the lovers could "park," and the teens could do whatever teens do.

DETAILS VAGUE

However, the period of time surrounding the inception of the idea to build the great dam and the actual building of the structure is clouded and forgotten — at least there are no specific facts or records.

And as far as this reporter can determine, there are no folks left in the city that are old enough to remember when, or even why the dam was constructed. A few old timers place the construction before 1920.

R. W. Baker, 80, present county surveyor, began work with the county in 1920, and according to him the dam was already broken before he came here to work.

"I had an old timer helping me with my work in 1924. His name was Jim Winslow, and he had been a farmer and rancher in these parts and in Glasscock County for many years before he came to work for me," said Baker.

DIDN'T PEG DATE

"He once told me that in his younger days he had helped build that old earthen dam, but I can't remember when he said it was actually built. However, it must have been well before 1920 to have been in his younger days," said Baker.

The old dam is located in Block 32 of Sections 7 and 8, T-1-S, T&P Survey. Baker speculated the dam was built to form a basin of the area to the west, so that the water could be used by the Texas & Pacific Railway Co.

Apparently at that time, the Big Spring was still running, which created a large creek through the valley. At one time the T&P Railway Co. had a pump house located at the spring. It also built a dam a quarter of a mile upstream.

According to other old timers, who still live in the valley along FM 700, they can remember when the dam broke, almost flooding the entire valley.

One lady still living in the area, (she wishes her name unused), was just a small girl when the old dam broke.

DAM BREAKS

"I can remember the rains were very heavy then, and when it rains hard on this valley the water rises fast. The dam broke and almost flooded our house," she reminisced.

She said that many people from Big Spring, which at that time was a couple of miles away, came to the valley to catch the huge fish coming down the creek. "There were fish everywhere and many people went home with dozens of them," she said. However, she could not remember the exact date the dam broke, only to say it was during the years around 1910.

The dam is old, and granted there are new developments in the area that could threaten its existence, plans for the use of the old relic are still being made.

RESTORATION?

Later in the century J. Y. Robb and Dr. M. H. Bennett bought the land around the dam for development purposes, which resulted in the creation of the Highland South Addition.

Ike Robb, son of the elder Robb, said that he and other developers still plan to rebuild the dam to create a recreation lake for Highland South and the city.

No actual reconstruction time is in sight, but plans supports the supposition that another of our country's historical relics may be saved for posterity.

Asks Demos To Be On Hand For School Busing Battle

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield disclosed Saturday he has wired all Democrats—including five campaigning presidential hopefuls—to return for Tuesday's showdown on the battle over school busing.

Mansfield told reporters that "My guess is that they will all be here," and that with their votes, there is a reasonable chance that a strict anti-busing measure approved Friday will be rejected in favor of the compromise for which the Senate had voted initially.

END SEGREGATION

The Montana Democrat rejected the contention by Republican Leader Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania that the absence of the five candidates was responsible for the 43-40 adoption of an amendment by Sen. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., to bar federal courts from requiring school busing to end segregation.

All five, Sens. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine, Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, Henry M. Jackson of Washington, George S. McGovern of South Dakota and Vance Hartke of Indiana, said they were opposed to Griffin's amendment.

Of the other 12 absentees, seven Democrats and five Republicans, four indicated definitely they would have opposed the Griffin amendment and two others also were reported against—a total of 51 of the 100 senators.

Griffin, the assistant Republican leader, said his proposal was the strongest legislative weapon available to busing foes, short of a constitutional amendment requiring a two-thirds vote.

FEDERAL SPENDING

Rejection of the Griffin amendment would probably lead to adoption of the compromise Mansfield-Scott amendment, which would allow federal spending for busing if local officials so request. It was approved Thursday on a series of three votes—51 to 37, 50 to 38 and 79 to 9.

Because of the complex parliamentary situation, none of last week's votes was final, and the votes due to start at noon Tuesday will decide the issue.

The busing issue is being fought out on amendments to a massive higher-education bill. Once it is passed by the Senate—and final action is due Wednesday under an agreement reached earlier—it will go to Senate-House conference.

He succeeds Don (Lefty) Reynolds, whose term on the board expires. Also retiring from the board is Don Womack.

Other officers named included Harold Davis, vice president, and Walter Wheat, secretary-treasurer.

Mrs. Morris Rhodes, as president, and Mrs. Walter (Frances) Wheat as immediate past president, will represent the Ladies Golf Association on the board.

Paul Meek, one of the board members has been re-elected to the club's directorate.

Winchell Estate Near $750,000

Primary Expenses Facing Court Test

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Secretary of State Bob Bullock says he will take the primary election funds issue to the Texas Supreme Court "no later than Wednesday."

The state's highest civil court evidently is the last hope of Bullock and Gov. Preston Smith to avoid a nasty-tempered pre-primary session of the legislature.

Bullock's staff has been preparing a request for a Supreme Court order commanding State Comptroller Robert S. Calvert to issue checks for primary election expenses.

The secretary of state has sent Calvert several vouchers for such expenses, but the comptroller sent each of them back to him unapproved.

"I expect we'll have this thing settled in 10 days," Bullock said Friday.

The major issue involved is whether Bullock can use state funds for primary election expenses incurred by political parties without a special act of the legislature appropriating money for that purpose.

Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin says he can't.

Bullock says he can. He and Gov. Preston Smith have been planning to use Smith's power to transfer appropriations from one agency to another to get the necessary $1 million-plus for the primaries.

Federal court decisions knocking out large filing fees for candidates—the traditional source of funds for the primaries—raised the issue.

Martin reiterated his position in a statement issued Friday. "There is no more legal authority for the secretary of state to enact laws concerning the conduct and financing of primary elections than there is for him to enact laws levying taxes or defining crimes," he said.

Besides, said Bullock, "the way tempers will flare (at a session during the primary repeatedly a special session campaign.) I don't know that would be too costly, with estimates of legislative expenses anything high as $800,000. Besides, said Bullock, "the way tempers will flare (at a session during the primary repeatedly a special session campaign.) I don't know that would be too costly, with estimates of legislative expenses anything

'Daisy Cutter' Is Heaved Out Of Plane In Attack

SAIGON (AP) — A 15,000-pound bomb—the heaviest conventional bomb in the U.S. arsenal—was dropped Saturday on a fortified bunker line 40 miles east of Saigon in an attempt to destroy the headquarters of a North Vietnamese regiment.

Military sources reported that the "Daisy Cutter" bomb, 33rd North Vietnamese Regiment's headquarters and troops of one of its battalions were being located.

DESTROYS

The "Daisy Cutter"—so called because its ground level blast destroys everything for hundreds of yards in all directions—is more often used to create "instant" landing zones for U.S. helicopters.

rolled out of the rear ramp of a C-130 cargo plane, hit in the area where 22 Americans had been wounded the day before in a five-hour battle.

There was no immediate report on the results of the drop, which climaxed a night and day of artillery and tactical air strikes into the area, where the 33rd North Vietnamese Regiment's headquarters and troops of one of its battalions were being located.

The battle broke out after a 100-man company from the 3rd Brigade, 1st Air Cavalry Division pursued two North Vietnamese soldiers along a trail and walked into the bunker position.

A military source said the cavalry troops were still holding their positions 600 to 700 yards from the bunker complex.

Associated Press correspondent Richard Blystone reported from Pleiku that enemy gunners continued to shell South Vietnamese positions in the central highlands as they have throughout the week. Most of the attacks were minor, Blystone said, but appeared to be spread throughout the provinces of Pleiku and Korat.

COPTER CRASHES

To the north, Associated Press correspondent Holger Jensen reported from Da Nang that an enemy company attacked a platoon of government troops just to the south. Five enemy troops were reported killed while South Vietnamese losses were one dead and several wounded.

In another development, two U.S. helicopter crashes Friday killed nine Americans and three Vietnamese, including the fifth Vietnamese general to die in the Indochina war.

Baby Gorillas Hunt For New Home—Again!

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Two baby gorillas donated to the city zoo after a prankish candidate for mayor ran on a "Get the Gorillas" platform are in search of a new home—again.

Grandeza and Boweca never did make it to the Audubon Zoo when they arrived in 1970. There wasn't enough money to build a home for them.

They were put up at Tulane's Delta Regional Primate Center at nearby Covington but now they are being evicted—no room.

So far the best offer has come from the United States Humane Society, which suggested they be loaned, sold or traded to a zoo or breeding compound.

In 1969, the gorillas got into politics.

Rodney Fertel, an eccentric millionaire who ran for mayor, said if he were elected he'd put a gorilla in the city's zoo. He didn't come close to being elected, but he continued to promote the acquisition.

A family heard about the request and donated Grandeza and Boweca.

The zoo still doesn't have the $300,000 to build facilities for primates. But the zoo does own the gorillas.

"There is a lot of wisdom in the suggestion that the Audubon Park Zoo lend them to another zoo. In that way someone could appreciate them at this particularly charming age," said Dr. Peter J. Gerone, director of the center.

Grandeza, the male, is about three. Boweca, a female, is 4-years-old.

Stan Kenton Didn't Plan To Be Leader Of The Band

By STEVE HULTMAN
"I never intended to become a band leader."

So disclosed Stan Kenton, a band leader since June of 1941. He is in Big Spring for the Texas Stage Band Festival being held at the high school auditorium. He and his band presented a concert Saturday night following the conclusion of the festival, of which he was a judge.

PIANO LESSONS
"I started taking piano lessons when I was 14, and I planned to be a professional piano player. When I was 29,

I had some music I had written that I wanted to try out. I didn't know if it was any good, and couldn't get a band to play it.

"A bunch of musicians said why don't we have a rehearsal, and hear what the stuff sounds like. We did, and everybody was quite encouraged and they encouraged me to go ahead.

"My original idea was to be the piano player for the band and write music for it and have somebody front the band," he said. "But we somehow never found anyone else to front the band so I wound up running it."

WILD SITUATION

Kenton kept his band together during World War II, but "It was a real wild situation, guys were coming and going like it was Grand Central Station. Sometimes we would play and we would have no drummer, sometimes no bass player, sometimes we would have only two trumpet players and all kinds of weird things," said Kenton.

"We were starving to death until about the beginning of 1946, then we began to make enough money to pay our bills," he recalled.

The band started at the Rendezvous Ballroom in Balboa, Calif. "Then as the band started developing and the music became more experimental and it got away from dance music, we had to start playing for listening, which of course meant concerts. Today we don't play many dances. Mostly it's concerts, strictly for listening.

STAN KENTON

PET PEEVE
Most of the work today is one-nighters, with an occasional longer date. Kenton has been a band leader for 30 years, but his music has always been creative and modern.

Remap Mistakes Reopen Filings In Five Races

HOUSTON (AP) — The Harris County Democratic Chairman says he will reopen filings in five legislative races. Bill Williams said candidates will have another opportunity to file for the Democratic nomination in legislative districts 79, 87, 88, 91 and 93.

The situation developed because employees in Tax Assessor-Collector Carl Smith's office made errors in transcribing the legislative redistricting lines onto county election precinct maps.

One of the mistakes involved the assigning of one census tract with a population of 4,097 to legislative district 79 instead of district 87. The districts are in central Harris County.

Other errors involved minor discrepancies in boundaries. Harris County Republican Chairman Nancy Palm said none of the persons who have filed for the Republican nomination in the five districts are affected by the changed boundaries. She said he did not plan to reopen filings unless instructed to do so by the county attorney or the Texas Secretary of State.

Williams said he had telephoned Secretary of State Bob Bullock and had been instructed to reopen filings.

When the band moved from the dance hall to the concert stage, the "unorthodox" action was met with much hostility by even some of his most devoted followers.

"If I had to name a pet peeve of mine, I could describe it with one word... nostalgia," said Kenton.

"There is a continuous musical evolution happening all around us. To cut oneself off from this continual caldron of progress in life is to only be half alive," he said.

"I don't believe in trying to psych an audience out and find out what they like and give it to them. Our job as creators is to create the finest thing we are capable of and then present it to people and hope that they accept it," said Kenton.

For 30 years, people have been applauding Stan Kenton and his music.

Four Drown In Car Dive

SAN MARCOS, Tex. (AP) — Four persons drowned Saturday when their car ran off a dam and into the Blanco River near San Marcos.

Highway patrolmen identified the victims as Sheila and Ernestine Herrera, sisters of Austin, ages unavailable; Richard Guterrez, 21, of San Marcos; and Pauline Godoy, 22, of Austin.

A fifth person, Anselmo Gonzalez, 28, of San Marcos, reached safety.

Investigators said the accident occurred about 2:30 a.m. when the car ran off the 5-mile dam which is about four miles north of San Marcos.

The bodies were recovered a short time after the accident.

Mars Hotline Disappoints

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — The "hotline" linking Moscow and Pasadena has been largely silent and barren, a disappointment for U.S. scientists who had hoped for fruitful exchange of data from the countries' two spacecraft orbiting Mars.

The teletype circuit was established in November shortly before the U.S. spacecraft, Mariner 9, went into Martian orbit.

The Soviet Union's Mars 2 and 3 spacecraft went into Mars orbit several weeks later and dispatched landers to the Martian surface.

There has been little communication on the circuit.

Soviet messages are received on teletypes at the California Institute of Technology's Jet Propulsion Laboratory here. The Russians receive their messages at the Soviet Academy of Sciences in Moscow.

"The big disappointment to some of us is that they haven't responded to our suggestions of some cooperative ventures," said a prominent project scientist who asked not to be identified.

He said, for example, that the Soviets are obtaining data from a microwave radiometer, an instrument Mariner 9 doesn't have. Likewise, Mariner 9 has instruments the Soviet craft lack.

Bookmaking In Texas Major Syndicate Item

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Organized crime has only a small impact in Texas, the head of the State Department of Public Safety says.

"It's obvious to me the eastern syndicate would have some tentacles reaching into Texas," Col. Wilson Speir said, "but as far as the total operation, it would have a very small influence as far as the total crime picture goes."

Speir said bookmaking is "the biggest single item" of organized activity in Texas, in terms of dollars and cents,

Keep Triple Date At Altar

NOTTINGHAM, England (AP) — The Smith brothers kept a triple date at the altar today.

Terry Smith, 26, married Joyce Spence, 21.

His younger brother, Mike, 22, married her younger sister, Sheila Spence, 19.

The youngest brother, Stephen, 18, wed Susan Elliot, 19.

It was all a bit of a surprise for the boys' mother, Mrs. Winnie Smith, who recently left a hospital after recovering from major surgery.

"I didn't know until eight days ago that all three were getting married," Mrs. Smith said today. "The boys waited until I could stand the shock before telling me."

NOT A VERY BIG THING

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — When the Tulsa Metropolitan Area Planning Commission considered a zoning request, 11-year-old Dawn Falletti was the only protester.

Dawn filed a petition with 113 signatures she had gathered opposing a request for rezoning a site for an office building.

"Important people want to put up an office building where we go exploring and eat our lunch," she told the commission, standing on tiptoe.

"Even though it's not a very big thing, we want a place for adventure like you had in your younger years."

The commission tied 3-3, sending the proposal to the City Commission without recommendation.

NIGH GIGS CROWD

Spirit Of Will Rogers Recalled At C-C Meet

By JOE PICKLE

SNYDER — The nation is "hung up and so up tight on race, religion, politics and any other subject that people are just waiting to be offended."

One of the best things a Chamber of Commerce or a city can do is to relax those tensions and "just see ourselves."

Lt. Gov. George Nigh of Oklahoma said at the annual Snyder Chamber banquet before a crowd of nearly 900 here Friday in the Scurry County Coliseum.

Nigh, himself from the Will Rogers country, said the nation stands on the verge of an era with the spirit of Rogers who said "I never met a man I didn't like."

"And," added Nigh, "I say it is about time." He spent three-quarters of an hour hilariously regaling everything and everybody in sight of the National Cowboy Hall of Fame and its adjacent city, Oklahoma City.

Snyder's outstanding citizen award went to Henry Clark, a Snyder. Introduced were Snyder native who manages Texas Electric Service Company's operations in the Snyder area. He is a director and past president of the Chamber; was on the study and steering committee that led to creation of Western Texas Junior College; a past president of the industrial foundation; director in the museum association and on the historical survey committee; a Gold Coater charter member; past president of the Rotary Club and an active member in the First United Methodist Church. Ernest Sears, last year's honoree, said, "I never met a man I didn't like."

Entertainment was furnished by the El Mariachi los Gallos of Odessa and El Paso, and special guests included Dean Krakel, art director of the National Cowboy Hall of Fame and its adjacent city, Oklahoma City.

10th Body Discovered In Pearland

HOUSTON (AP) — Medical authorities here performed tests Saturday on a badly decomposed body found in Pearland, the 10th such discovery made in the Houston-Galveston area since last summer.

The body, apparently that of a young girl, was found Friday in Brazoria County, just across the Harris County boundary.

A schoolboy cutting across wooded lots on his way home discovered the body, believed to be that of a 10 to 12 year old girl.

The body was nude except for shoes and a pair of glasses, said Capt. W. W. Fisher of the Harris County Sheriff's department.

Dr. Sheldon Green of the Harris County medical examiner's staff said death occurred one to two months ago. The site of the discovery is 13 miles southeast of downtown Houston, and about four miles from the place where other bones were found Jan. 29.

Green said the remains are complete except for missing hands, one arm, some of the ribs and half of the vertebrae.

Sgt. C. D. Kennedy of the Pearland Police Department said the site was an undeveloped city block covered with brush, trees and tall grass.

Fridays' discovery brought to three the number of bodies of youths found in the Houston-Galveston area since November.

The first of the 10 bodies discovered in the area turned up last summer. It was the bound and gagged body of Brenda Jones, 14, found floating in Galveston Bay.

All the bodies were found in the Houston-Galveston area.

Texas' Oil Reserves Dwindle

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas oil ain't what it used to be. There's less of it, and it's harder to find.

The belief that Texas' huge oil reserves have dwindled to the point that the state is already producing almost as much oil as it can be expressed recently by Railroad Commission chairman Byron Tunnell.

Tunnell told a statewide meeting of oil company executives that, pumping at the same rate, Texas is getting 100,000 barrels of oil a day less out of the ground that it was a year ago.

IT TAKES LUCK

He also noted that Texas' crude oil stocks this month totaled 87.9 million barrels, the lowest supply since 1966 and 12.1 million barrels less than what the commission is considered a "desired level."

Chief engineer Arthur Barbeck of the agency's oil and gas division said Texas oil that "is easy to find has been found... and it takes damn good geology and luck to find hidden oil deeper in the ground.

Because it is becoming increasingly difficult to drill oil in Texas, Barbeck said, international oil companies are spending more and more of their money in the mid-East and North Africa, where oil appears more plentiful.

The drilling of wildcat, or unproven, oil wells in Texas declines each year, and George Mitchell of the Texas Independent Producers & Royalty Owners Association says drilling is near the lowest in 30 years.

To meet a demand for more oil in March, the commission

McKee Witness Shoves Reporter

GOSPEL SINGING — Rev. and Mrs. Woody McGehee and their son, Woody Lee, will start a revival meeting at the Foursquare Gospel Church, 1210 E. 19th, Wednesday at 7 p.m. The McGehees are noted for their gospel singing. The congregation has invited the public to attend.

DALAS (AP)—Thirteen witnesses, many of them Scottish Rite leaders, testified before a grand jury Friday in the John McKee controversy.

Few of the witnesses would identify themselves as they went into the grand jury waiting room. One unidentified witness shoved a woman television reporter against a wall when she attempted to question him.

The grand jury is expected to continue its probe Monday. McKee, indicted on two counts of embezzlement and said by Dist. Atty. Henry Wade and Police Chief Frank Dwyer to be really a onetime Navy deserter named James Kell Zullinger, did not attend the grand jury session.

Nor did Lee Lockwood of Waco, head of the Scottish Rite in Texas, although he was understood to be in Dallas for Masonic ceremonies this weekend.

McKee, also a prominent Mason, is accused of embezzling $8,722 from Lockwood.

Fundamental Truths of Christianity

THE NEW TESTAMENT SCRIPTURES

The advent of Jesus Christ on earth as the Savior brought into the world a new system of religion, known as the new covenant or new testament. It was very different from the law of Moses given exclusively to the Jews, which law was taken away by the death of Jesus on the cross (Col. 2:14). The New Testament scriptures are an unfolding of the gospel system or plan of salvation by grace through faith in Jesus Christ as the Son of God. The New Testament alone reveals the way of this great salvation. We now present a brief outline of these scriptures with their special significance:

The four gospels — Matthew, Mark, Luke, and John — give the history of Jesus as an example, of His teaching as instruction, and His death as the atonement for the sins of the world; all this for the purpose of creating faith in Him as the Son of God. Acts of the Apostles gives the history of the organization of the church; the coming of the Holy Spirit and its purpose; the preaching of the apostles under the great commission of Christ, beginning at Jerusalem and continuing throughout the world. In Acts alone, of all books of the Bible, we are told how people came into the church; of what they must do to be saved and the many examples of conversion to Christ.

The twenty-one epistles were written to organized churches and individuals — to Christians, instructing them in everything pertaining to life and godliness, that these children of God, by receiving "the sincere milk of the word," might grow strong in all the Christian graces, thus preventing their falling away. Fourteen of the epistles were written by the Apostle Paul, the great apostle to the Gentiles, and in his writings, as in no other, is developed the distinction between the gospel of Christ and the law of Moses which Judaizing teachers sometimes sought to bind upon Christians.

The revelation by the old Apostle John gives a prophetic history of the church, foretelling great calamities which were to come upon the earth, the struggles and sufferings of the saints and their final victory. It concludes with a word picture of John's vision of heaven that beggars the language of the ablest writers of all human literature.

"Preach the word; be instant in season, out of season; reprove, rebuke, exhort with all long suffering and doctrine." (2 Tim. 4:2.)

Five Completions Logged In Martin

Although some of the bloom was off the Spraberry Trend boom in Martin County, activity there kept Martin in fourth place in Permian Basin drilling last week.

Lea County, N.M., continued to lead with 25 tests going down three for the week. Pecos County was second with 24, the same, while Ward County hung at 19 to hold third place.

Martin's nine active rigs was the same as the previous week, only a couple more than Midland, which has been sharing in the Spraberry play.

Other counties in this area, according to the weekly survey of G. W. Murphy Industries, showed: Dawson one, the same; Howard two, down one; Reagan eight, the same; Scurry two, down one.

Asks Newspapers To Weed Out Ads

LANCASTER, Pa. (AP) — Virginia Knauer, the presidential assistant for consumer affairs, has urged newspapers to be more diligent in attempting to weed out fraudulent or misleading advertising.

"To knowingly accept misleading advertising is to be an accomplice in defrauding your reader," Mrs. Knauer said Friday in an address to the Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers Association.

"The reporters on your papers may well be covering the deceptive practices of local firms," Mrs. Knauer added. "But sometimes the message does not seem to get through to the advertising department."

Five completions were noted in the Martin Spraberry area:

Quickie Decision Keeping Mustang Park Issue Alive

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — A quickie decision by Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin's office has kept the Mustang Island Park issue alive after opponents thought they had killed it.

With three of its six members abstaining, the Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission voted 2-1 Friday to rescind its offer to buy part of the island for a state park.

But the validity of the vote was questioned because it did not reflect the necessary quorum of four members.

James U. Cross, the commission's executive director, put in a call to Martin's office and was told the vote was not valid.

The commission then voted to postpone further action for up to 60 days, indicating another vote might come sooner than that.

Stainers "probably got the word from the governor of the state to be against it."

Smith said Friday he once favored the Mustang Island purchase but "went over to the other side" after learning the Parks and Wildlife Department staff had not recommended the purchase. He said it was now up to the commission to decide what to do.

SELLING PRICE

The governor relieved Johnson as chairman Feb. 7 and re-

tated the chairmanship to Stone. He also appointed Cross as liaison officer for federal park funds.

Selling price of the property across the bay from Corpus Christi, was $4.2 million, with the federal government paying half.

Mrs. Wilson's lawyers contend they have a valid contract with the state and may take their case to court if the commission ultimately votes down the purchase.

But he said that, too, could be extremely costly.

'ENERGY CRISIS'

Mitchell, the chairman of TIPRO's national energy policy committee, says the country is in an "energy crisis" with domestic drilling down and oil imports juggling 26 per cent in 1971.

Higher crude oil prices could free more money for production, he said in a recent statement.

The Bureau of Business Research at the University of Texas estimated in 1969 that present technology could recover 75 billion barrels of the 135 billion barrels still under Texas soil. But it added that "the physical potential of oil production... is not likely to be realized... almost certainly technology and economics, in combinations yet unforeseen, will cause the eventual cessation of production from wells before actual physical depletion."

Barbeck gives a simple reason: "Our oil discoverers are not as good as they used to be."

A clear look at plastic impact-resistant lenses.

One of the finest materials available today for impact-resistant lenses is a plastic known by the jawbreaking name of allyl diglycol carbonate.

Plastic lenses are tough. Tougher than the Food and Drug Administration minimum standards for impact-resistant lenses.

They weigh less than glass, too, which makes eye-wear with plastic lenses more comfortable to wear. They even fog up less than glass.

CLOSED DOORS

All the votes took place behind closed doors.

Chairman Jack Stone of Wells and former chairman Pearce Johnson of Austin voted to cancel the commission's offer to buy the 3,985 acres from Mrs. Sam E. Wilson Jr. of Corpus Christi. Harry Jerzig of San Antonio voted against the motion.

Under the old three-member commission, Johnson was on the short end of a 2-1 vote in November 1970 to buy the property for a state park.

But he used his power as state liaison officer for federal park funds to block the purchase. U.S. District Court Judge Jack Roberts upheld Johnson's position, but his ruling was overturned by the U.S. Court of Appeals for the 5th Circuit at New Orleans. That decision sent the matter back to the commission.

LACKED DATA

The 1971 legislature expanded the commission to six members, and Gov. Preston Smith filled a vacancy with Stone, whose opposition to the Mustang Island park was known already.

Abstaining from Friday's vote were new members Robert Burlinson of Temple, Joe K. Fulton of Lubbock and Max L. Thomas of Dallas, all Smith appointees.

Fulton and Thomas said they abstained because they felt they lacked the necessary background and information to vote intelligently on the question.

Parks Get Railroad For 'Free'

PALESTINE, Tex. (AP) — The Texas State Railroad from Mile Post 3.69 just east of Palestine to Rusk, a distance of 29.01 miles, has been accepted by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission. Jack Stone, president of the First State Bank of Wells and chairman of the commission, announced Saturday.

The last legislature passed a bill providing that "upon adoption of a formal resolution of transfer by the Parks and Wildlife Commission...the Parks and Wildlife Commission shall assume all of the power, duty and authority of the board of managers for the 29.01 miles.

The bill also provides that "all laws applicable to state parks are to apply to the property transferred and all revenues collected therefrom are to be deposited into the state treasury."

The board of managers of the railroad continues to have responsibility for the control of that part of the railroad from Mile Post Zero in Palestine to Mile Post 3.69 Freight service to an industry at Mile Post 3.69 is being provided by the Missouri Pacific Railroad, which has the nearly four miles under lease.

Stone said the commission "is going to take a close look at the property and try to do with it what is best for the State of Texas."

Construction of the railroad was begun in 1894, said Wayne Sellers of Palestine, a member of the board and editor and publisher of the Palestine Herald-Press. It was built by the state prison system as a plant facility of the penitentiary at North Rusk to serve an iron furnace and other industries.

The railroad was operated by the prison system until 1921, and at one time even overnight Pullman service was available to Dallas via Gallatin.

At Gallatin, the Pullman was attached to the Southern Pacific for the final run to the city.

In 1921, the legislature created the board of managers. The line was leased to the Texas and New Orleans, a subsidiary of the Southern Pacific. It gave up its lease in 1962.

The line was then leased by Texas Southeastern, which operated its last train between Rusk and Palestine Dec. 31, 1969.

Other members of the board of managers are W.C. Richards, Athens, chairman, and E.M. Decker of Jacksonville.

'Teen Bombers' Maintain Offensive Across Ireland

BELFAST (AP) — Fears of a violent Protestant backlash mounted Saturday as a Cabinet minister began a remarkable recovery from an assassination attempt and guerrilla bombers maintained their offensive across Northern Ireland.

Two teen-age terrorists—a boy and girl about 16—blew up a Belfast wallpaper shop with an incendiary time bomb, British army headquarters said. The explosions and the possibility of more assassination attacks against Protestant political figures brought a warning from a prominent Irish parliamentarian that a disastrous crunch is yet to come in this British province.

RELEASED ON BOND In London, Scotland Yard detectives questioned two men in connection with last Tuesday's blast at a British regimental headquarters in Aldershot. It killed seven persons, including five women and a Roman Catholic priest.

In Dublin, Sean Kenny, a U.S. organizer for Sinn Fein, the political arm of the Irish Republican Army, was charged under the Offenses against the State Act and released on $1,300 bail. At least 12 other suspected members of the IRA were detained.

The anger of Northern Ireland's Protestant majority was underscored in a fighting speech by hardliner William Craig, a former home affairs minister and leader of the Ulster Vanguard Movement.

DECLARE WAR "If people declare war on this community we will play our full part in fighting that war," he told a rally at Enniskillen.

Two thousand Protestants at the rally pledged themselves to fight any move toward a united Ireland.

At Wexford, in the Irish republic, Irish labor party leader Brendan Corish told 1,000 delegates at the party's annual conference that even more disaster must come before a political solution can begin.

"It is now an English-Irish crisis involving two sovereign governments in Dublin and London in a diplomatic war and causing the beginnings of an economic war," he said. "We still have not come to the crunch. That is the harrowing and fearsome prospect which we can hardly even begin to contemplate."

Plans For $33,500 Homes In Coronado Hills Area

The firm of Murphy and Rochester, developers of the Coronado Hills residential area, have contracted to build the first two of what promises to be a substantial number of homes.

The builder will be Joe Lanier of Monahan's. Exclusive sales within the area will be handled by the Home Real Estate Company.

One of the structures will have a contemporary type of decor. The other will be of conventional construction. They will be in the $33,500 price bracket.

Each will boast approximately 1,800 square feet of floor space and will be built on a lot 135 x 130 feet.

Louis Rochester, co-owner of the firm bearing his name, and Lanier were here last week to announce the start of construction and confer with Jeff Brown, owner of Home Real Estate.

Lanier has built an estimated 600 homes since he started 14 years ago. He has been active in construction work in such places as Monahan's, Van Horn,

Weapons In Jail

NEW YORK (AP) — A recent search of 1,900 Adolescent Remand Shelter cells on Rikers Island uncovered 300 homemade weapons.

Correction Commissioner Benjamin J. Malcolm called it "the first massive search" in the department's history.

Lanier says it will require anywhere from six weeks to two months to finish a house and prepare it for public inspection. Each of the first two homes will have three bedrooms and two baths.

Murder Trial Of Nix Monday

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals refused Friday to block the murder trial of Kirksey McCord Nix Jr.

Nix, son of a retired chief justice of the Oklahoma Court of Criminal Appeals, was scheduled to go on trial Monday at Lafayette in the fatal shooting of Frank Corso, a grocer in his New Orleans home last Easter.

He was sentenced Wednesday to five years in prison for violating the Federal Gun Control Act.

In a suit filed in U.S. District Court, he claimed that he could not be transferred from federal to state custody without formal extradition proceedings.

After U.S. Dist. Court Judge Herbert W. Christenberry held Thursday there was no merit to Nix' argument, an appeal was taken to the 5th Circuit. The appellate court denied the plea without comment.

OUT OF TROUBLE — Gene Littler, from Lajolla, Calif., lets his chip fly on his approach to the 18th green here during the second round of play at the $260,000 Jackie Gleason Invitational Classic. Littler scrambled nicely on this chip shot by placing the ball within three feet of the cup and managed to lose only one stroke on the hole, taking a bogey 5 after a near disastrous trap shot which overshot the green by some 40 yards.

Texas Vaults Into Lead

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Sophomore Larry Robinson led the Texas Longhorns to a 93-81 basketball triumph over Southern Methodist Saturday vaulting the Steers into a tie for first place in the Southwest Conference.

Robinson scored 37 points as the Longhorns moved their conference mark to 8-4, dropping the Mustangs from a solo lead given them when Rice defeated A&M earlier in the day. Robinson scored 14 of 23 field shots and 9 of 9 from the foul line and gathered 10 rebounds as he notched his career scoring high at Texas.

Junior B. G. Brosterhaus pulled down 14 rebounds and scored 15 points for the Longhorns. For SMU, Rubin Triplett scored 24 points, hitting 11 of 21 field shots. The victory moved Texas' season record to 15-7 while SMU is now 14-10.

McNally Becomes Richest Pitcher

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Dave McNally, winner of 20 or more games for Baltimore in each of the last four seasons, signed late Saturday and became the first $100,000 pitcher in American League history.

Executive Vice President J. Frank Cashen announced the agreement on 1972 contract terms with McNally's negotiating agent from a Cleveland career management concern.

The 29-year-old lefthander earned an estimated $85,000 while posting a 21-5 record for the American League champs last season.

Jimmy Stewart Places Fourth In Tournament

ANDREWS — The Big Spring Steers placed fourth among 21 Class AAAA teams in the Andrews High School Invitational Golf Tournament that ended here yesterday.

The Steers' five-man team was tied for the lead with Monterey Lubbock the first day, Friday, both with a 305 total, but they dropped into the four-place slot with a second day's tally of 312 for a two-day total of 617.

Almogordo, a former holder of the New Mexico state golfing crown, won the tournament with a 304-295 for a 604 total.

Jimmy Stewart, who had the lowest score of 105 participants the first day, paced the Steers to their first day's lead. Stewart made a 70 the first day, but soared to a 79 Saturday for a 149 total, good enough for the fourth lowest score in the tournament.

Mark McCraney made a 77-74 for a total of 151 for the Steers to finish in seventh place in the tournament.

Other Steers in the tournament were: Robert McFaul with a 77-82 for a total of 159;

Richard Egan with a 81-79 for a total of 160; and Bennett Robb with a 84-80 for a total of 164.

Royce Cox, Big Spring's golf coach, praised McCraney and Stewart for their accomplishments in the tournament.

McCraney and McFaul combined talents in the two-man, low-ball contest with 70-71 for a 141 total. Stewart and Robb coupled efforts for a 69-74-143 total.

Big Spring will travel to Austin Thursday for the Austin Invitational Golf Tournament. The District action will start the third weekend of April.

Cox said that Mark Peters, who didn't play in the Andrews tournament, will go to Austin.

Tascola of Amarillo finished second in the tournament with a 306-299 for a total of 605. Lubbock Monterey placed third with a 305-303 for a total of 608. Big Spring was fourth. Amarillo came in fifth with a 310-311 for a total of 621. Midland Lee tied for fifth with an identical total 318-303 for 621. San Angelo placed sixth with a 316-306 for a total of 622.

Finley Wants To Talk But Blue Won't Listen

CHICAGO (AP) — The telephone isn't ringing for Charley Finley. Vida Blue won't return his calls.

The Oakland A's owner told the Associated Press Saturday that he remains firm in his $50,000 offer to his 22-year-old award-winning pitcher.

"But I want to talk to Vida and explain to him in person the fairness of my offer," said Finley. "In the last week I've placed 10 phone calls to him at his home in Mansfield, La. Seven times no one answered. Twice I reached his mother and once his sister. They told me Vida was out, or somewhere."

"I asked them to have him call me. He hasn't. I want to go down to Mansfield and talk with him. But I can't make arrangements until he tells me he will be there."

Finley said he hopes Blue who led the A's to the Western Division title last season with a 24-8 record, and as a rookie, won the Most Valuable Player Award in the American League and the Cy Young Award, will reconsider and join the team before he is stamped an official holdout March 1.

Blue is the only Oakland player unsigned, Finley said, after second baseman Dick Green came to terms earlier Saturday.

"I don't mind paying a player that has proved himself, but a player can't prove himself in just one year," said Finley. "I've got five proven players who have signed for $50,000 or more."

Blue's contract last year was for $14,750, slightly more than the major league minimum. As fringes, Finley said he threw in a luxury auto, a gasoline credit for one year, $1,000 cash for new clothes, and $600 of auto insurance. Finley figures the fringes to be worthy $13,100.

Blue, through his attorney, Robert J. Gerst of Los Angeles, is asking for $92,000 this season.

"I'm not going to raise the price of tickets to take care of unjustified, astronomical salaries that some athletes are demanding today," said Finley. "Any time I'd do that, the fans are going to rebel."

"If the time comes when I have to float a big mortgage to meet unjustified salaries, I'll just have to get out of the game."

"I also don't like the threats I've been reading that Vida is going to play baseball in Japan," Finley continued. "This

Texas Takes Doubleheader From Sam Houston By 8-1

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The Texas Longhorns swept a baseball doubleheader Saturday, defeating Sam Houston State University 8-1 and 8-1.

It was the second double header sweep for the Horns in as many days.

In the second game, freshman right hander Jim McCutchin of Levelland pitched a one-hitter to lead the Steers. He gave up his only hit in the top of the ninth, striking out seven.

The Longhorns' attack was led by David Chalk who belted a home run and drove in three more. Chalk also snagged a home run in Friday's game.

Cowboys Sign Best Punter

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys announced Saturday the signing of three 1972 draft choices, including record-breaking punter Marv Bateman of Utah.

Bateman, 6-3, 213, chosen in the third round of this month's player selections, is the only kicker ever drafted by the Cowboys. He led the nation in punting in both 1970 and 1971, averaging 48.1 yards per kick in '71.

Also signing were a pair of North Carolina A&T athletes, linebacker Ralph Coleman and Tackle Lonnie Leonard.

Coleman, 6-3½, 216, was chosen in the eighth round. Leonard, 6-4, 244, was an 11th-round pick.

The Cowboys announced earlier the signing of their 17th round choice, 3-3, 271-pound defensive tackle Alfonso Cain of Bethune-Cookman.

FOR LILLY'S TROPHY CASE — Bob Lilly, right, defensive tackle for the Dallas Cowboys, Super Bowl Champs, poses with Field Scovell of the All Sports Association and the Field Scovell trophy that Lilly was awarded in Dallas. Lilly, an All-American at TCU, and All-Pro for seven of the 11 years he has been in pro football, was described by head coach Tom Landry of the Cowboys as "something a little more than great; nobody is better than Lilly."

Wallace And Randle Named All-District

ABILENE — Robert Wallace, a six-foot, seven-inch Big Spring senior, was selected to first team of the All-District 5-AAAA basketball squad.

Another Steer, Mike Randle, gathered enough votes to make the second team.

The players were selected by the eight coaches in District 5-AAAA and a team of five area sports writers. Five points were awarded for a nomination to the first team and three points were given for selection to the second were the big guns for Big Spring all season. Wallace, a post man, led the Steers with a 17.6 average in the 32 games in which he played. Randle finished the season with a 15.6 point average.

Gary Brewster from Midland and Wayne Williams from Abilene both collected the maximum number of votes — 65. Brewster made the first team with a 24.1 average and Williams made the grade with a 23.5 average. Danny Woods of Midland with a 11.5 average gathered 46 votes for his berth on the team, and Rusty Forrester from Abilene with a 16.9 average made the team with 43 votes.

All the members of the first team were seniors, but there were two juniors on the second team: Ronald Taylor from Midland and Terry Been from Odessa.

Randle, who led the Steers in rebounding with an average of 16 per game, made honorable mention on the All-District team last year. This year he made the second team with one of the best averages on that team. Only Charles Swedberg with 19 points per game had a better average. Randle had a 17 point average.

Ron Plumlee, Big Spring's basketball coach, said, "I'm quite honored to have one of my players make the first team and to have another one make the second team. This goes for a good season!"

Coach Plumlee, completing his second year at the helm, had several Steers making the second team last year, but this is the first time one of his players has made the first team.

Plumlee continued, "Wallace made it primarily because of his consistency. He was very consistent throughout the season. He gave a good offensive output each game."

Each of the eight coaches nominated a five players for the first team and five players for the second team. They were allowed to vote for their own players if they wanted to do so. A team of sportswriters also nominated players to the teams.

Wallace received 44 votes of a possible 65. Randle garnered 27 votes.

Forsan Nudged In Triangular Links Matchup

The Forsan Buffaloes hosted a triangular golf meet Friday at the Big Spring Municipal Golf Course.

Robert Lee, a class A powerhouse, won the practice meet with a 507 four-man total. Stanton placed second in the meet with a 520 total and Forsan finished third with a 570 total.

Forsan was at a disadvantage in that they only had four players while the other two teams had five golfers. The other teams selected their four best scores and matched those cards with Forsan's. Forsan, of course, didn't have that option or selection.

Charles Bailey Jr. from Forsan led all players in the meet with a 33-37 for a total of 107. Mark Matlock of Robert Lee placed second with a 41-35-35 for a total of 111. Gary Henson from Stanton finished third with a 40-41-43 total of 124.

Others playing for Forsan were: Richard Reed with a 45-46-45 for a total of 136; Mike Murphy with a 51-41-48 for a total of 140; Steve Murphy with a 66-61-60 for a total of 187. Forsan's team total was 570.

Others playing for Stanton were: Ricky Gilbreath with a 42-44-46 for a total of 132; David Dillard with a 43-48-41 for a total of 132; Gene Louder with a 44-44-44 for a total of 132; Jimmy Dean with a 51-49-52 for a total of 152. Stanton's selected four-man score was 520.

Others playing for Robert Lee were: Bobby Mumford with a 43-46-43 for a total of 132; Edwin Lindsey with a 44-44-45 for a total of 133; Steve Meadows with a 45-41-45 for a total of 131; Bill Rowald with a 45-47-43 for a total of 135. Robert Lee's selected total was 507.

Forsan will tangle Robert Lee in its first regular season match on March 17. The Buffaloes will attend the District tournament in April at Riverside golf course in San Angelo.

David Redwine, Forsan's golf and tennis coach, scheduled yesterday's match to give his team some practice before the regular season.

Carmine Nips Huckaby (B)

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Defending Class A champion Claude defeated Southlake Carroll 57-55 to win its second straight conference title in girls' basketball Saturday.

Janice Irby, 6-2, a 1971 all-tournament forward, led the scoring with 38 points. Peggy O'Brien, 6-0, scored 26 for Southlake Carroll.

Carroll led briefly at the start of the game, 2-0, but never took the lead again and missed their final shot with eight seconds left.

Round Top-Carmine also repeated last year's championship play, winning a second straight Class B crown by defeating Huckabay of Stephenville, 54-58.

BUMPED — Tom Boerwinkle (18) of Chicago Bulls totters after being hit by Neal Walk (41) of Phoenix Suns during NBA contest Friday night at Chicago. Bulls won, 115-107.

Hot Detroit Smears Choneless Warriors

DETROIT (AP) — A hot-shooting University of Detroit basketball team scored a smashing 70-49 victory Saturday over second-ranked Marquette, which was playing without star center Jim Chones who turned pro last week.

It was the second game for the Warriors without Chones, who signed with the New York Nets of the American Basketball Association for more than $1 million.

In the first game with Chones they beat Creighton. The Titans streaked to an early 15-point lead in the first half and held a 36-24 bulge at halftime. They never let up in the second half, leading at one point by 24 points.

It was the first loss of the year for Marquette, rated just behind UCLA in The Associated Press poll. The Warriors edged Detroit earlier in the season, 68-66 in Marquette.

The absence of Chones was sorely felt, but it was debatable whether his presence would have saved the day for Marquette.

Detroit shot 65 per cent in the first half, featuring deadly outside shooting, and displayed a tenacious defense that usually limited the Warriors to just one shot at a time.

Marquette closed the gap slightly just before halftime, but after intermission it was Detroit all the way, as the Titans kept their hopes alive for a National Invitational Tournament bid.

TAPE CRASHERS — Dr. Delano Meriwether of Boston, left, charges the tape as he wins the 60-yard dash in 6.2 in the National AAU Indoor Championships at Madison Square Garden in New York Friday night. Lone Star State Football Players To Spring War

COMMERCE, Tex. — Lone Star Conference football players have gone to war.

The league recently launched preparations for its 38th race when co-champ Southwest Texas opened spring training.

The LSC limits members to 20 scrimmage sessions in a 36-day period, not counting spring or Easter vacations.

And, here is what is happening or will be happening on the LSC football fields this spring:

SOUTHWEST TEXAS — Coach Bill Miller said he is "pleased with the progress" of his 67 squad members. With 28 lettermen back, including 14 starters from an 8-1-1 season, Miller said, "I think we will have another good offensive ball club, depending on Noe Gonzales. He has had his ups and downs in workouts, but we have a lot of confidence in him. He has a lot of talent, and right now we're trying to give him the experience he needs at quarterback."

Strong safety is the big question in the defense for Miller. He said he might have to use a freshman at the position. Top names in the Bobcat organization are runningbacks Josh Brown and Monroe Daniels. Brown gained 892 yards last year and Daniels had 511 as a sub. Also, Ben Sharnberg is a top prospect at wide receiver, according to Miller.

22 LETTERMEN — DEAN HOWARD PAYNE — Dean Slayton, who was promoted to head coach after James Cameron switched headquarters to Angelo, takes 50 Yellow Jackets into spring drills March 13. Twenty-two lettermen, including 12 starters, return from the club that shared the LSC title, won the Cowboy Bowl in Lawton, Okla., and posted a 10-1-1 record. Slayton said, "we'll be looking for offensive linemen, a tight end and defensive backs. We're also hoping to improve our passing game. We must find a replacement for Ken Sanders (second team All-America) at defensive end. Several of the prospects are quick and strong, but none are like him." Ronnie Colliflower returns at quarterback after gaining 1,385 total yards and winning the LSC's "most valuable back award." All-LSC Charles Louis also is back at runningback after rushing for 1,188 yards in the 11-game regular season. In the defense are All-LSC linebacker Robert Woods and HPC's leading tackler, safety Randy Adair.

REALLY IMPRESSED — ANGELLO — Cameron's first spring drill with the Rams will be March 14 with 60 players. The roster includes 16 starters from a 7-3 team.

Hawks Cool Pointmaking Machine Before Region V

Howard County Rests Quietly

The Howard County Jayhawks, resting this weekend after dumping the Odessa Wranglers Thursday, 110-83, are anxiously waiting to throw their hats into the Region V tournament which starts Wednesday at the Lubbock Coliseum.

The Jayhawks, seeded fourth in the tournament, tangle McClendon Community College, seeded fifth, at 4 p.m. McClendon carries a 17-4 over-all record into the duel, while the Jayhawks are 27-8.

The Jayhawks are cooling their point-making machine which has blistered opponents throughout the season. Howard County has won more Region V tournament games than any other team. The Jayhawks have won 31 games in the last 23 years.

The Jayhawks won the Region tournament in 1969 when they defeated Christian College of the Southwest, 86-79. They lost to Hill College, seeded number one this season, last season in the final game, 100-98.

Coach Harold Wilder will be seeking his first Region V crown since assuming the helm at Howard County.

Howard County holds the single-game scoring record with 112 points which they made in 1955.

Archie Myers, tied for second in scoring among all national junior college players, owns a 36.8 scoring average. He leads all scorers in the nation with a total of 1,066 points. Myers may break Larry Linder's 968 individual scoring effort of '90 points in the tournament.

Pairings for the Region V: Amarillo College (18-4) vs. Schriener Institute (23-1) at 2 p.m.; Howard County (27-8) vs. McClendon Community College (15-7) at 4 p.m.; South Plains (21-9) vs. Ranger (12-10) at 7 p.m.; Hill County (26-1) vs. New Mexico JC (15-10).

Winners of the 2 p.m. and 7 p.m. games meet Thursday at 9 p.m. and winner of the 4 p.m. and 9 p.m. games meet at 7 p.m. Thursday in the semifinals.

The consolation game is slated for 7 p.m. Friday and the championship tilt is scheduled for 9 p.m.

Rice Owls Sting Aggies In 73-69 SWC Victory

COLLEGE STATION (AP) — Rice fought off a late furious rally by Texas A&M and stunned the Aggies with a 73-69 Southwest conference basketball upset Saturday.

It was the first league victory of the year for the Owls, who are now 4-5.

The loss dropped A&M's record to 8-4 and momentarily knocked the Aggies out of a share of first place, depending on the Texas-SMU game being played later in the afternoon.

Rice, playing a tight defense, carved out 43-31 halftime advantage but the battling Aggies caught them at 62-62 with 3:58 remaining.

It was tied again at 64-64 but A&M never gained the lead.

The Owls outshot the Aggies 49.2 per cent to 38.2 per cent but A&M controlled the boards with 52 rebounds to 43 for Rice.

Leroy Marion led Rice with 21 points and John Kabbes had 15. Bobby Threadgill scored 25 for A&M while Randy Knowles had 18.

Boomerang Ban

BALSALL HEATH, England (AP) Boomerang thrower Henry McCabe has been told to stop pitching his favorite missile in a public park near Birmingham. McCabe's boomerang always returns for a landing within 10 feet of its launching place but authorities ordered an end to his Sunday morning practice sessions on the grounds that "it could be rather dangerous."

LOOKING 'EM OVER

Leg Miseries Slowed Arch

By TOMMY HART

A leg injury HCJC's Archie Myers suffered in the Hawks' game with Clarendon College caused his scoring norm to drop off — otherwise the ace from Mississippi might have been able to lead in the nation's junior college scorers . . . Myers relied on pure grit to play against both Clarendon and Amarillo, at which time he scored a total of only 38 points . . . Incidentally, Arch is going to take his time about picking a senior college . . . He likely won't be going back to Mississippi, he says, because he didn't seem interested in him when he got out of high school . . . It isn't likely, either, he will wind up at any of the Southwest Conference schools, mainly because he likes to run and shoot, whereas they slow down the tempo of play . . . Many basketball buffs here would like to see him continue his schooling at Texas Tech, if for no other reason than they would be afforded the chance to see him in action occasionally . . . Myers hopes eventually to go into professional ball . . . If they're still offering those fabulous bonuses when he becomes eligible for the basketball draft, so much the better . . . Boxing champion Joe Frazier said he'd do a lot better if he took up golf than Lee Trevino would if Lee took up boxing . . . That's Joe's way of complaining that Trevino was awarded the Hickok belt for athletic excellence . . . San Jacinto (32-4 on the year) is the overwhelming favorite in the Region XIV South Zone Basketball Tournament which begins Monday in Temple . . . The winner of that meet contests the Region V title for the right to play in the National JC Tournament at Hutchinson, Kan., next month, if it can survive a playoff with the North Zone winner . . . Next year, the Region V champion will again go directly to the National Tournament . . . Sunland Park's betting handle is up 21 per cent this year over last . . . During the spring season, the racing oval has been handling an average of $180,254 a day . . . The business agent of golfer Billy Casper says his client earns three times as much off the course than what he makes on the tour each year . . . Puerto Rican galleries who followed the field around in that recent $30,000 American Airlines Golf Tournament were more enamored of the big league baseballers than the pro footballers . . . Baseball, of course, is the big sport on the island.

JOE FRAZIER

The people in Levelland have refused to warm to South Plains College's basketball teams, although Buddy Travis has given them fine play over a period of two years . . . Their chief complaint, even if they don't care to admit it: Too many Negroes on the roster . . . (A team simply can't win without some good Negro talent these days) . . . As a result, Travis likely would listen to overtures from other schools, if the price was right . . . No school has gone farther down in the collegiate basketball ratings than Oklahoma State, which won only two of its first 19 starts . . . The Cowboys have never been the same since Hank Iba hung up his tack . . . Dallas may be devoid of big time sports more than any city its size in the country . . . What about the Dallas Cowboys, you ask? . . . They're based in Irving . . . The Texas Rangers will be doing business at Arlington . . . There's a rumor a major league hockey team will relocate in North Texas . . . If that is the case, chances it will wind up in Grand Prairie . . . Dallas has an ABA club, true, but just barely . . . Incidentally, officials of the Texas Rangers had hoped for a larger network than the 23 radio stations and 17 TV outlets which will be carrying Ranger games . . . Baseball outfielders whose legs are going on them are prone to think they can last another year or two at first base but infielders of the San Francisco Giants learned Willie McCovey was a much better and more reliable target than Willie Mays, who was tried there . . . Kip Keino, Kenya's premier distance runner, replied, when asked for his impressions of the Afro hair styles: "You don't see long hair or beards like that in the civilized parts of Africa. Everyone wants to look clean and neat. Only in the savage wilderness, where razors and clippers are unknown, do you find such wild hair as I have seen in America" . . . Ex-Olympic great Jesse Owens may wind up working as a color man for television in the summer Olympics Games . . . Let's hope he's better at it than Bill Russell is in pro basketball . . . Russell doesn't speak too distinctly and isn't too articulate . . . This will likely be the last sports column I'll be doing, at least in the foreseeable future . . . It's been fun and thanks for being so patient with me.

Sweden's Isaksson Breaks Own Pole-Vault Record

NEW YORK (AP) — Kjell Isaksson of Sweden broke his own world indoor pole vault record Friday night by soaring 17 feet 10½ inches and immediately attempted to break the over-all world mark by attempting 18 feet ½ inch.

He made three tries at 18½ and missed each time. Isaksson's mark came in the National AAU Track and Field Championships at Madison Square Garden. His height was initially announced as 17-10, but when officials remeasured it was announced at 17-10½.

It bettered Isaksson's own mark by ½ inches.

Webb's ABC Golf Tourney Due Saturday

Webb Air Force Base is offering a golf tournament which attempts to eliminate the advantage that strong teams have over weak ones by combining strong players with average and weaker players.

Webb AFB golf officials call the tournament which begins next Saturday the ABC (Louisiana Draw) Tournament. Jerry Northbrook, Webb golf course manager, said, "Each team is made up of a low, middle and high handicap golfer who all pool their talents in an effort to break par."

Northbrook continued, "The best ball is picked from among the three team members on every shot. All three players hit from this point and count the low ball of the group." These rules should eliminate the possibility of one team's running away with the tournament as when several strong players are coupled together on the same team.

The ABC tournament will get underway at 10 a.m. March 4. The tournaments, as are all Webb tournaments, are open only for base personnel or retired military personnel.

All participants are urged to sign up in the Webb Pro-shop by Thursday afternoon so that pairings may be made and posted by Friday morning.

Entry for this and all tournaments are $3. Beverage and merchandise certificates will be awarded to the winners.

The second tournament at Webb will be the Over-and-Under team event, March 18.

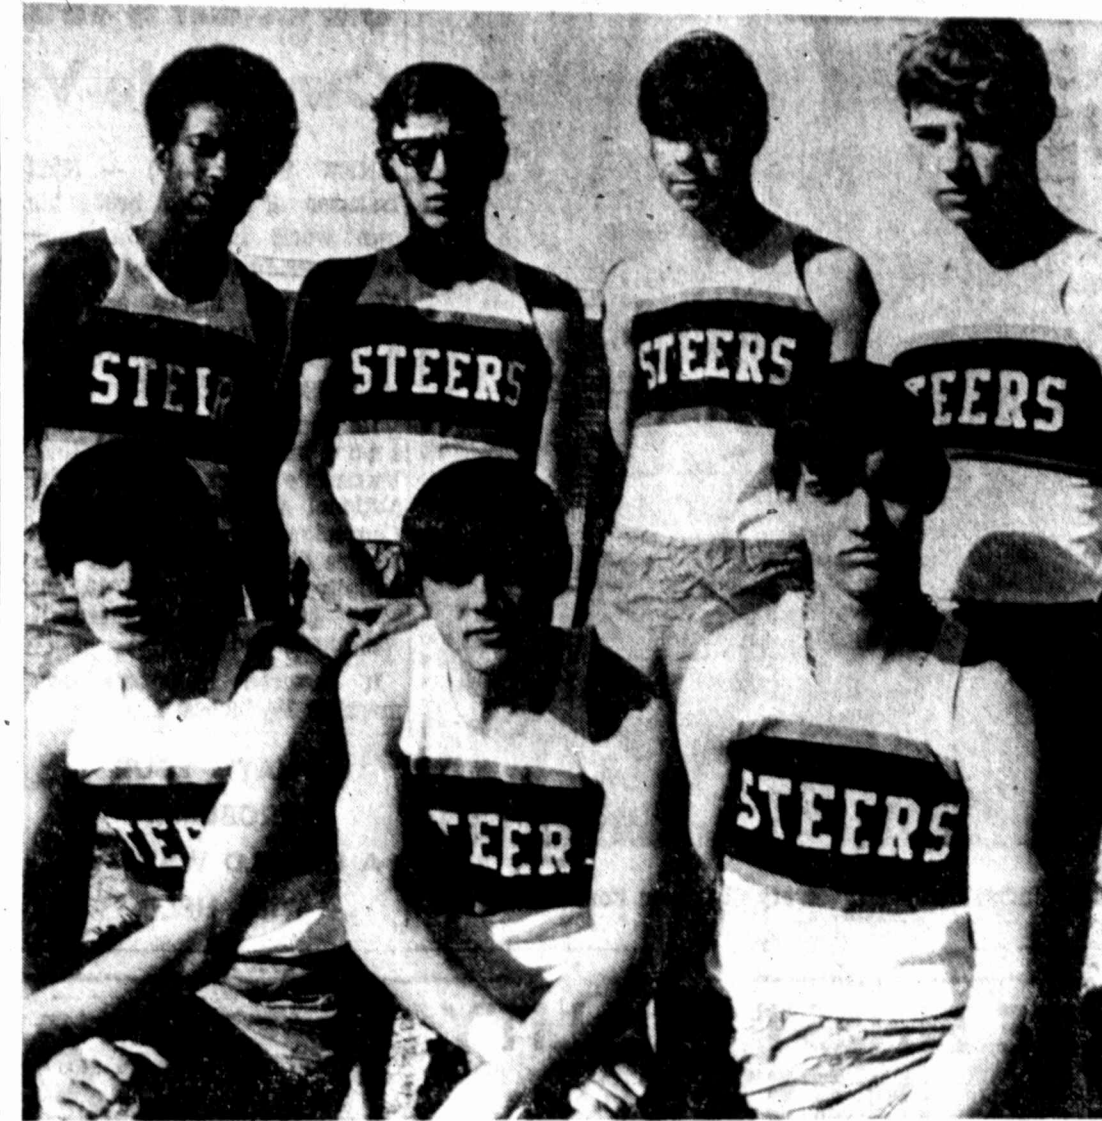

Northbrook said, "In the over-and-under team event, each team of two players is made up of golfers having handicaps of under 12 and over 12. The event will be played at full handicap and each golfer may pick his own partner."

He continued, "All Webb golfers are urged to get their 'five scorecards' in as soon as possible so that they will have established handicaps for the coming season."

Whitis Rites Held In Abilene Saturday

ABILENE — Funeral services for Glen Whitis, Hardin-Simmons University basketball coach and athletic director, were held yesterday in the First Baptist Church here with burial in Green Leaf Cemetery in Brownwood.

Whitis, who coached two colleges into the winner's circle, died Thursday afternoon in a fiery two-vehicle crash 4.5 miles southeast of Abilene on Texas 36. He was returning to Abilene from the Whitis' farm near Brownwood.

Whitis was in his second year at Hardin-Simmons. He had coached for 15 years at Howard Payne College in Brownwood prior to that. He coached his last season at Howard Payne in 1970.

Whitis' coaching record was 273-157.

Hardin-Simmons' game with Pan American at Edinburg was canceled Friday night.

Whitis was born January 22, 1926, at Kempner and he graduated from high school at Lampasas. He played on the Howard Payne basketball team. He received a master's degree from Sul Ross University.

He coached high school teams at Pyote, Monahans, and Coleman before accepting the coaching position at Howard Payne.

Survivors include his wife of Abilene, a son, Robert Glen Whitis of Abilene; a daughter, Beverly Ann Whitis of Abilene; his father, W. L. Whitis of Kempner; six brothers, W. L. Whitis of San Antonio, Donald Whitis of Kempner, Maurice Whitis of Arlington, Kline Whitis and Delbert Whitis, both of Lampasas and Albert Whitis of Tyler; and two sisters, Avid Whitis of Crane and Mrs. Joe B. Rushing of Fort Worth.

Mustangs Sandwich Lentz To Sweep Practice Series

By JOE HINDS

The Sands Mustangs, utilizing a collapsible two-three zone defense and a run-and-gun offense, tripped Old Glory, 53-51, Friday evening in the Howard County gymnasium.

The Mustangs swept the practice series from Old Glory, a strong team northwest of Abilene which won 30 games during its regular season, in front of a crowd of about 800 packed into the Jayhawk arena.

The smaller Mustangs had to crowd around Russel Letz, Old Glory's six-foot, six-inch senior, in order to contain him. Several representatives from college teams were scouting the fall youngster Friday night. He pumped in 26 points to lead his team.

But the scouts also got a good look at Bobby Beall, Sands' six-foot guard. Beall, who shoots a lot like Pistol Pete Maravich, paced his team with 26 points. He made 17 of his points in the first half to lead the Mustangs from a nine-point deficit to a three-point lead. He was able to weave through the defense diminitive Mustangs, but Coach Bob Davis instructed the Mustangs to collapse their two-three zone defense thereby allowing two or more defensive in the last half to lead Old Glory in an all-out effort, but the Mustangs never fell behind more than two points in that half as Beall countered the efforts of Letz. Letz, dribbled the ball behind his back bringing shots thus intimidating smaller Mustangs, and twisted around defenders for easy bank shots; but the Mustangs outran Letz and his team in the final seconds to win the practice game.

The Mustangs will go to the bi-district with a 29-2 over-all record. They finished the season with a 13-1 record in District 8-B.

The Mustangs clipped Old Glory in their first encounter in Asperment, 60-59. Both games were scheduled as practice games for the upcoming bi-district tournament.

Old Glory raced to a 10-5 lead with 1:46 remaining in the first quarter. Letz pumped in six of those points and it seemed in the early stages that he would lead his team in the second three-point lead. He was able to weave through the defense diminitive Mustangs, but Coach Bob Davis instructed the Mustangs to collapse their two-three zone defense thereby allowing two or more defensive

Old Glory stopped at the first quarter with a 14-7 lead and went on to build a 18-9 bulge. But then the collapsible zone started working as the Mustangs grabbed rebounds that were not within the reach of Letz who was sandwiched by several Mustangs. The Mustangs' offensive team raced down the court and sunk their shot. Then they pressed Old Glory and forced turnovers and converted them into easy layups under the basket.

Beall connected from the corner on a 20-foot jump shot to tie the game, 18-18, with 5:03 left in the first half. Old Glory slowed the game down as the two teams took turns at being in the lead. Beall slipped under the basket and twisted an awkward shot through the hoop with 46 seconds remaining in the half to give the Mustangs a halftime margin, 28-25.

Letz made short jump shots and tipped in missed shots to lead his team in the second half. Beall was hot with his jump shots from the corner. The two teams seassed back and forth with their one on top shot and then the other. With just seconds left in the third quarter, Sands tried to delay for the last shot. They held the ball, but Old Glory pressed and forced them into an over-and-back infraction. Gary Teichelman sunk a long arching jump shot with two seconds left to tie the game, 39-39.

In the last quarter, Old Glory passed the ball around the horn until they could work the ball into the center where Letz could try to score under the basket. The strategy worked for the first few minutes in the last quarter, but David Barnes tipped in a shot with 4:06 left to put Sands on top to stay, 50-48.

Sands went into a stall at that point and Old Glory didn't score until Letz sunk a free-throw making the score 50-49 with 2:13 left in the quarter. Beall then raced down the court and slipped between two defenders and connected on a short jump shot. Old Glory didn't score the next time they had the ball. Beall brought the ball down court and then just held it in his arm letting the seconds tick away. With 27 seconds in the game, Letz came out to foul Marcy Robles. Robles made the shot and Sands was on top, 53-49. Teichelman sunk a 20-foot jumper with 15 seconds left to bring his team within two-53-51, but Sands controlled the ball to win the game. Stan Smith, a Sands' forward, tucked the ball under his arms and was holding it like a football when the buzzer sounded.

Fans poured onto the court to congratulate the players. Sands had won its 29th game.

Texas Boxers Collide For State's Golden Glove Title

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — champs will be bantamweight Johnny Moreno of San Antonio and welterweight Tommy Van Hatten of Fort Worth, who now are professionals, and heavyweight Nick Wells of Fort Worth, who didn't compete in the regionals.

The four-day show opened Thursday night, continued Friday and Saturday and concludes Monday with the crowning of the state's representative to the national tournament.

Four of a possible seven defending champions returning are James "Bubba" Busceme of Beaumont, James Martinez of Dallas, Paul Stephens of Fort Worth and Johnny Boudreaux of Houston.

The only definite absentee

Stephens will be after his third consecutive national tournament berth. The middleweight, who has captured six Fort Worth regional blue ribbons, also competed in the 1970 national tourney as an alternate.

Boudreaux is a 1970 crown-bearer, but the 19-year-old won't be in the same weight division this year. He took the light-heavyweight title last year and is moving up to heavyweight.

Other 1971 champion also expected to be back are featherweight Ladislav Vicencio of El Paso, light welterweight Billy Miller of Temple and light-middleweight Johnny Calloway of Lamesa.

Some solid contenders include welterweight Pat Ozuna of Wichita Falls, who won the 1969 state lightweight title and has spent the last two years in Vietnam; bantamweight Bobby Vasocu of Tyler, who has been a semifinalist the last three years and represented the United States against England and Russia earlier this year; featherweight Hector Pena of Dallas; who was a 1970 runner-up; and Danny Avales of Corpus Christi, who has fought in the last three state tournaments and whose brothers, Gilbert and Jesse, were state champions.

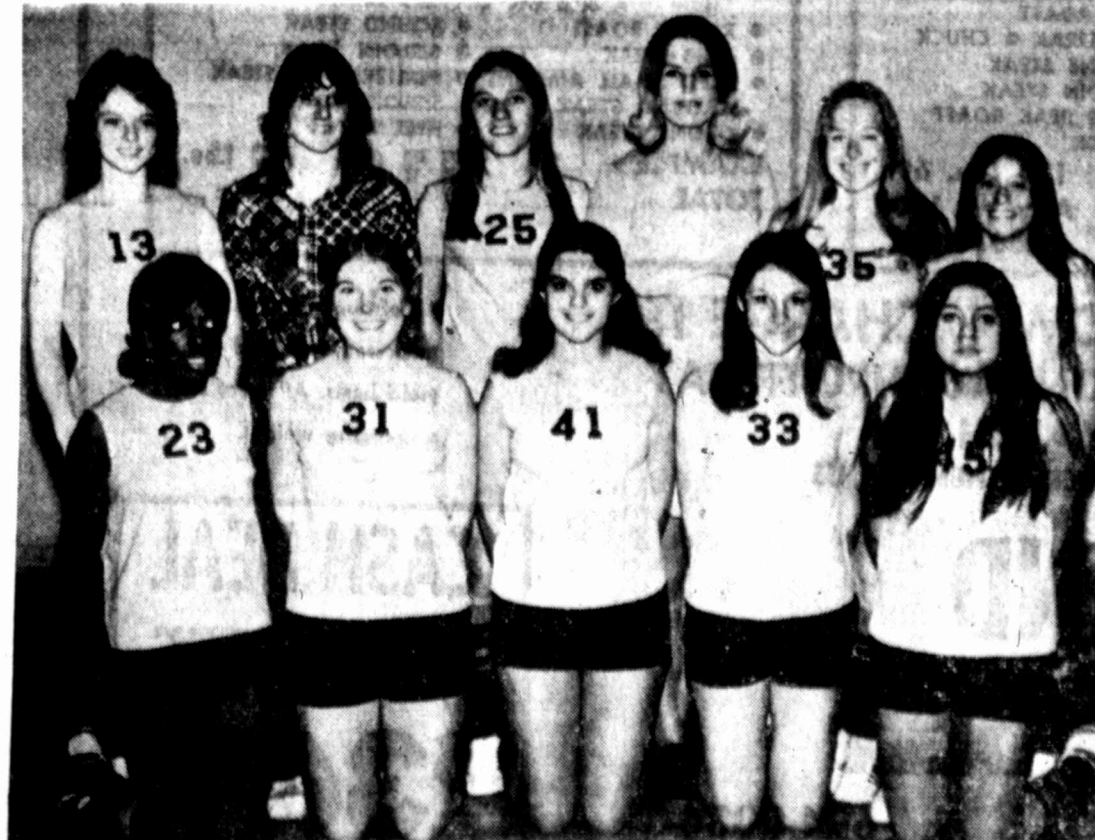

Wright Will Judge Relays

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Veteran track coach Hoover Wright of Prairie View A&M, near Houston, will be the referee of the Texas Relays, which have been scheduled for April 7-8.

Wright, a member of the U.S. Olympic staff for 1972, has twice been named coach of the year in the NAIA.

Texas Longhorn coach Cleburne Price also said Saturday that H. C. "Bully" Gilstrap, former Longhorn athlete and coach, will be the honorary referee at the 45th annual relays.

For more than 25 years Gilstrap was in charge of the relay events and was associated with the University of Texas for more than 50 years.

Flu Tapering Off In Texas

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The State Health Department said Saturday there has been a "very slow tapering off" of flu-like illnesses since a peak of 25,763 cases in the week ending Jan. 25.

The department said 15,070 cases were reported the week ending Feb. 19.

So far this year, 120,764 cases have been reported.

Cases of Hong Kong flu (Influenza A-2 Hong Kong) have been confirmed by laboratory tests in all parts of Texas, the department said.

"The influenza outbreak has been general, varied from mild to severe illness, and at present appears to be deminishing," the agency reported.

Kin Of Onassis In Divorce Action

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Christina Cassandra Bolker, daughter of Greek shipping magnate Aristotle Onassis, has been named in a divorce action.

Real estate developer Joseph R. Boker, 48, who married the 22-year-old Christina in Las Vegas last July, filed a divorce petition Friday.

Bolker said he and Christina separated Tuesday.

California divorce law requires only a declaration of irreconcilable differences.

Matchmaking Going To Dogs

ROCKFORD, Ill. (AP) — The business of matchmaking—sometimes handled by computers nowadays—is going to the dogs in Rockford.

The Forest City Pet Information League, started by Paullette Mattson and Georgia Nix of Rockford, is designed to introduce male and female dogs. And if all goes according to plan, the women say, they also help find homes for the puppies that follow.

Local Students Attend Bell's Recognition Day

Outstanding high school science students and their teachers from Big Spring were honored during Southwest Bell's annual Science Recognition Day in Lubbock on Friday.

Students from Big Spring High School included Billy Priebe, Bennett Fletcher, Vincent Wiggins, Mark Terelesky, Mike Williams as well as Bill Hakes the teacher.

The program was held to commemorate the 125th birthday of Alexander Graham Bell, inventor of the telephone.

During the day-long event, telephone specialists from various fields presented talk-discussion programs about lasers, holograms, data communications and communications of the future.

Tough Sentence For Smart Aleck

WINDSOR, Ont. (AP) — A man who muttered an obscenity after being sentenced to one year in jail Friday had three months added to his term by Provincial Court Judge Gordon Stewart.

Florent Millette, 25, of no known address, was given a year's sentence upon conviction of theft under $50.

But when Millette greeted the sentence with a curse, Stewart upped the sentence to 15 months and asked Millette: "Did you think I was going to give you a medal?" "He's just a smart aleck, and this sentence is long overdue. I'll tell you that," the judge added.

Makers Of Liberty Bell Are Still In Business

LONDON (AP) — Two hundred-and-twenty years later, the British firm that cast the Liberty Bell is still a bit put out about the crack.

"We don't know whether it was our bad workmanship or your bad handling in unloading and hanging it," hedged master founder William Hughes at the Whitechapel Bell Foundry, which has been doing business at Aldgate, the easternmost gate to the ancient city of London, since 1570.

"You know after World War II, as a gesture of friendship to America, we offered to recast the bell and cure its crack, but by that time you chaps had grown so fond of the old cripple, you would have none of it."

ORIGINAL CRACK
Founder Hughes, whose firm has molded Big Ben, the bells of Westminster Abbey, the clock bell on St. Paul's and most of the other famous bells tin-tinabulating about the British Isles, was talking about the original crack in the Liberty Bell, not the famous, fatal one that developed when it tolled the death of Chief Justice John Marshall in 1835.

Today few people realize that the Liberty Bell's prophetic inscription, "Proclaim Liberty Throughout the Land Unto All The Inhabitants Thereof," had nothing to do with the American Revolution—Pennsylvania was still loyal to the mother country when assemblyman Isaac Norris chose the quote from Leviticus 25:10 for the bell he asked Robert Charles, the colony's London agent, to purchase for Philadelphia's handsome state house.

Charles approached Thomas Lester, one of Whitechapel's most famous founders in a long line of master craftsmen.

The bell came ashore the following September and became a headache for everyone concerned. Norris informed his London agent he had "the mortification to hear that it was cracked by a stroke of the clapper without any violence, as it was hung up to try the sound. We concluded to send it back by Capt. Budden, but he would not take it aboard."

At last, in May 1753, the Liberty Bell got off the ground and into the State House steeple, and set about its destiny of events leading up to the American revolution, along with warning assemblymen not to tarry over their madeira in the Old City tavern across the street. A fine of one shilling was imposed for members who failed "to appear in the house within a half-hour after the assembly bell ceases to ring."

The Liberty Bell, contrary to popular rumor, did not ring on July 4, 1776, since the Declaration of Independence was signed in executive session.

But it did ring on July 8, when Col. John Nixon mounted the special wooden platform outside the state house for the first public reading of the declaration.

CAST BIG BEN
Since its inauspicious American debut, the Whitechapel Foundry went on to bigger and better bells on both sides of the ocean. In addition to Big Ben, its 13½-ton masterpiece, it has founded and hung peals of bells for Groton School and Smith College, for the Liverpool Cathedral, whose 13 bells weighing 16½ tons are the heaviest hanging in the world, and recently sent over 10 bell ringers to show the American swingers how to pull the 10-bell peal in the belfry of the new Washington Cathedral.

As a further sign that all is forgiven, crack-wise, the foundry is now busy filling an American order for 2,400 miniature replicas of the Liberty Bell for the 1976 bicentennial celebration.

Even though business is booming, or bonging, at the moment, Hughes, a liverman of Founders Company, considers himself in a dying craft.

"Maybe not in my lifetime, but probably in my son's. When you consider that once there were dozens of bell founders in the streets around Aldgate, and now there are only two left in the whole country, you know we are heading for hardest times since Henry VIII dissolved the monasteries."

Dwindling church attendance and the closing of many country churches toll the dirge for a craft that has changed little since medieval days. Tuning is now done scientifically from a stroboscope, but bells are still molded and cast by hand from a mixture of 77 per cent copper and 23 per cent tin.

Cherry Blossom Symbol Of Death To Japanese

TOKYO (AP) — Of all Japanese flowers, cherry blossoms have the shortest lives.

Traditionally, the Japanese believe the most gifted and most beautiful people also die young. So they long have admired and revered the cherry blossom.

During World War II, Japan's kamikaze suicide pilots — many in their late teens — selected the five-petal cherry blossom as their emblem. They had been so educated that they preferred voluntary death to life in disgrace.

In the war-renounced Japan of today, many people say no such militant concepts should exist. But modern underworld leaders of Japan have begun to make an approach to that "glorious death" philosophy.

National police have disclosed that the Yamaguchi-Gumi, the largest underworld organization in Japan, issued an official organ carrying a three-page article dealing with the 1970 harakiri death of Japanese novelist Yukio Mishima in Tokyo.

In the 30-page magazine, police said, a commentator wrote that novelist Mishima had once again brought Japan's "most beautiful but almost forgotten" style of death back into society.

The 45-year-old Defense

Force's Tokyo headquarters, tried to raise the armed forces in revolt, and committed harakiri with a centuries-old Samurai sword when his plot failed.

Mishima, also a playwright, actor, physical cultist, left behind a death ode in which he compared his brief life to the fate of the cherry blossoms:

"While the other flowers
Unwilling to fall cling to the trees.

"This one small flower falls Midst the nightly storm of wind."

As if to follow this, the magazine carried several poems contributed by accused organization members from behind bars. The following relates the destiny of the cherries.

"Lo! you see this.
This small flower doomed to fall
Stakes the last drop of life
Till the last moments of tomorrow."

Police estimate the number of members of the Yamaguchi-Gumi at 11,500 across the country.

The police said it is Japan's first underworld organization to issue such a periodical. They added that major underworld groups total 3,500 in Japan.

Four Listed In Trustee Race

Four candidates have filed for the school board with only two days left before the Wednesday filing deadline.

The first candidates to file were incumbents J. W. Little, for a three-year term, and Tom Fetters, for the remaining two-years of the term he was appointed to earlier this year. Little was elected to the remaining year of a three-year term in 1971.

Gus Ochotorena later filed for a three-year term, as did Frank D. (Dan) Wilkins.

A. K. Guthrie has not filed for reelection to his three-year term.

The election will at this point leave Tom Fetters unopposed and Little, Ochotorena and Wilkins vying for the two three-year terms.

The election will be held April 1, with absentee voting March 13-28.

School is out in Big Spring Monday and Tuesday, but only for the students.

Teachers will begin in-service training at 8:30 a.m. Monday with a general session that Dr. David Aspy, Northeast Louisiana University, will speak on "Humanizing Education."

Ladies, It's Leap Year —

'Would You Care To Comment?'

By JO BRIGHT

Like an appendix, Leap Year is still with us, but not quite as functional as it once was. Today, no man has to grow a beard, change his name or take a leave of absence to escape some lady's claim on him.

But it was not always so.

In the 12th century, the Scots were believed to have passed a law allowing women to propose to men every Leap Year and making it unlawful to refuse such a proposal. Being a practical people, they later amended this law to require a Leap Year lady with marriage on her mind to make known her intentions by showing a red petticoat an inch below the hemline.

Supposedly, governing bodies in Florence, Genoa and France adopted similar laws.

Times have changed, and a Leap Year proposal no longer carries the weight it once did. In fact, we express ourselves a bit differently today, as indicated by this sentiment from a contemporary greeting card:

"It's Leap Year again, so I wonder if you'd mind helping me out? Do I set my clock back an hour or turn my thermostat down to 68?"

And that about sets the tone for liberated ladies of today. Yes, they would care to comment.

Gina McGuiness, captain, USAF: "I think Leap Year is a fun game. I'm getting my track shoes ready for the chase on the 29th, but I hope the guys run faster than me because it's more fun playing than winning. If I catch one this year, what would I have to look forward to in 1976?"

Susie Lynch, physical education teacher: "No one had to tell me it's Leap Year. I noticed last pay day that this month had 29 days."

Mary Ann Stephens, physical education teacher and volleyball coach: "As the old saying goes, after the BS comes the MRS., and I'm still waiting."

Star Warford, coordinator of educational services, Big Spring State Hospital: "Leap Year just gives you an extra day to do your thing — being happy, helping someone — whatever it is."

Ardie Stockmoe, student: "Leap Year is still one of the privileges I enjoy. Just one more year of freedom with no baby diapers to wash."

Priscilla Riordan, vocational education instructor, Big Spring State Hospital: "I like being single."

Jan Breland, history teacher: "They say Joe Namath's favorite girls are tall, blond and have Southern accents, so he'd better watch out this year!"

Sharon Storey, homemaking teacher: "Leap Year is the time when a female can play and win at a predominantly male sport. When I think of Leap Year and catching a guy, it reminds me of learning how to play Frisbee — once you learn how, it's a lot of fun."

Judy Storm, choir teacher: "Leap Year is a good time to try and stay single."

Caren Chaney, homemaking teacher: "Leap Year is the year the girl keeps the little black book."

Wyvonne Holcombe, VA Hospital volunteer: "The good thing about Leap Year is it gives you another day to look for a guy."

Chris Cowan, dietitian, VA Hospital: "Now it's our turn!"

Libby Oglesby, high school teacher: "Yea, it's finally my turn to ask."

Connie Thompson, clerical worker, VA Hospital: "My telephone number is 263-0032."

WOLVES IN SHEEP'S CLOTHING had best beware, for these pretty ladies may be setting traps this year. Single and sassy, they are, left to right, seated on floor, Jan Breland, Connie Thompson, Star War-

LOOKING AT FINE PRINT on the back of a marriage license are three pretty bachelor girls who may (or may not) be looking for a prospective husband this year. From left, they are Sharon Storey, Judy Storm and Caren Chaney.

HOW SWEET IT IS — that valentine candy from a suitor! Still, Susie Lynch likes the taste of freedom and has made no plans to give it up during Leap Year.

Miss Cross Weds Robert J. Publicover

Miss Linda Louise Cross became the bride of Robert Johnson Publicover in a candlelight ceremony held at 7 o'clock Saturday evening in a chapel at Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard F. Cross of San Antonio, and parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Philip W. Mason of Magnolia, Mass.

Preceding the ceremony, a prelude of nuptial music was performed by Robert Wade, organist. The wedding party stood before an altar graced with arrangements of white gladioli with blue accents and flanked by tall, white baskets holding matching arrangements.

The couple exchanged wedding vows during a ceremony performed by the Rev. Robert Holdt, an Air Force chaplain.

The bride was attired in a bouffant, floor-length gown of white organza over opaque taffeta, styled in the medieval manner. A wide front panel of Venise lace flowed from the wedding ring collar to hemline, and bands of lace extended over the shoulders, forming edging on a sweep train attached at the waist with a taffeta bow. The bodice featured transparent bishop sleeves with lace cuffs. Her elbow-length veil of illusion fell from a Camolot headpiece, and she carried a bouquet of white roses and pompon daisies with blue accents.

Geoffrey, Reno, Nev.; and Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Jeffries and Mrs. Mildred Jeffries, all of Ottawa, Kan.

Mr. and Mrs. Publicover will reside at Apt. 107, Carlton House, Big Spring, following a wedding trip to Houston and Galveston.

Publicover, who attended San Diego State University, is assigned to the Information Office at Webb AFB. Mrs. Publicover is a reporter for the Big Spring Daily Herald. She is a graduate of Harlandale High School, San Antonio, and Southwest Texas State University, San Marcos.

A LOVELIER YOU Late Night Calories Are Worst For Diets

Beware the bedtime snack! If you're a weight-watcher, that is. In the first place, a late-night repast is certain to overdraw on your calorie allotment for the day. But even more significant is the fact that your body cannot possibly utilize the calories.

While you sleep, only about 400 calories per 100 pounds of body weight are used in 8 hours. During the day, an active person burns up more calories in a half-hour than in a long night's sleep. Excess weight is the direct result of the unused calories.

The midnight raid on the refrigerator, therefore, could be even more of a threat to successful reduction than cheating on your diet at regular mealtimes. Not that the latter course is ever recommended. You actually have a chance to work off extra calories snatched during the day. The calories in the post-prandial fudge cake make a plump feather bed for themselves — and you know where — the moment you bed down.

Iron In Water Stains Fixtures

Iron, which causes stains on porcelain fixtures and laundry, is a troublesome problem in many homes, says Hobart Mitchell, general manager of Culligan Water Conditioning of Houston, Inc.

In addition, iron makes water taste bad and spoils the flavor and appearance of coffee, tea and other beverages.

Albeit many reducers are aware of the danger, they continue the one-for-the-road. All manner of reasons are given for the habit. The principal one seems to be, "I'm so hungry, I can't sleep."

True or false, the excuses cannot be shrugged off. Otherwise, real or imagined misery ensues. So what's the answer? One comes from low-cal snacks, such as chewy, bulky raw carrot and celery strips. Another idea is to save fruit or a glass of skim milk from daytime rations and have it at bedtime. That way you do not break your calorie bank and you save a lot of distress.

Do you really know the calorie counts of the foods you eat? Our leaflet, "Pocket Calorie Counter," tells the score at a glance. It also gives a diet plan — a way to eat and slim. For your copy, write to Mary Sue Miller, care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 15 cents in coin.

Local ESA Member Seeks District Post

Mrs. Clovis Hale announced she is a candidate for Epsilon Sigma Alpha District 8 treasurer, at a meeting of Alpha Chi Chapter, ESA, Thursday in the home of Mrs. Frank Perry, 1207 E. 18th. Elections will be held at the April district meeting in Snyder.

The history and tradition behind Valentine's Day was traced by Mrs. Tim Smith, who said the practice of sending cards and tokens is documented as long ago as the 14th century, but probably dates back to Roman civilization.

The valentine holiday is the result of merging pagan and Christian feasts and is based on a combination of these traditions. Some people believe it is a survival of an old Roman feast called "Lupercalia," and others think the day is based on stories of an early Roman priest named Valentine. The final theory is that the custom arose because February is the traditional time of year for choosing mates.

"Today we see a return to traditional lacy valentines in lieu of the recent trend to send comic cards," said Mrs. Smith. She concluded by reading the poem, "How Do I Love Thee?" by Elizabeth Barrett Browning.

Mrs. Hale presided, and plans were finalized for chapter rush activities which begin March 2 with a get-acquainted party for rushers in the home of Mrs. Hale, 2611 Larry. A model meeting is scheduled March 9 in the home of Mrs. Bill Narrall, and a couples party will be held March 18 at the Webb AFB pavilion. Rush theme is "Join Raggedy Ann In ESA."

Members sold tickets to the March of Dimes auto show which climaxes today at the National Guard Armory.

Says Employers Must 'Motivate'

The importance of providing motivation to employees was stressed by Wade Holcomb of Midland, in his talk, "Nature of Management," presented to the West Texas Dietetic Association Thursday at St. Anne's School in Midland.

"The type of motivations used for each employee must be based on that employee's personal needs," Holcomb said. "Therefore, the manager must know the employee and listen to him to be aware of his individual needs."

The next meeting is at 7:30 p.m., March 23 at St. Anne's School.

ATTENDANTS

The feminine attendants were Miss Sandra Harrington, of Kansas City, Mo., maid of honor, and Miss Pamela Smisek of San Antonio Miss Harrington was attired in a floor-length, long-sleeved, blue velvet gown trimmed in lace. Miss Smisek wore an identical gown in green velvet. Each carried a nosegay of yellow roses and pompon daisies tied with picot streamers.

William A. Publicover of Littleton, N.H., brother of the bridegroom, served as best man, and another brother, Bruce Publicover of Norton, Mass., was groomsmen. Ushers were James Kelch and Gerald Lowe, both of Big Spring. Gary Allen Antille of San Antonio was the ring bearer.

The flower girl, Joannette Denise Flowers of San Antonio, was attired in a green velvet dress trimmed in lace.

RECEPTION

After the ceremony, the couple was honored at a reception in the Non-Commissioned Officers Club at Lackland Air Force Base. An all-white motif was used on the refreshment table, where appointments were of crystal and silver. Members of the house party were Miss Jean Fannin, Ypsilanti, Mich.; Miss Sue Faulkenberry, Big Spring; and Miss Gaby Ginn of San Antonio. Guests attending from out of town, other than the bridegroom's parents, were Mrs. Leslie O. Johnson, Gloucester, Mass.; Dr. and Mrs. Paul Ericson, San Diego, Calif.; Mrs. Marilyn Beuschen and son,

'ROUND TOWN

By LUCILLE PICKLE

Have you noticed yet what a friendly time of the year this is getting to be? Some people you had no idea knew you, suddenly are so pleased they came across you after all those years.

I'd like to think we all are just naturally a friendly bunch of people, but I know in my heart that this is election year and it very well may be that all those people are getting friendlier but more than likely each candidate is counting the prospective votes. But it's a nice atmosphere while it lasts.

MR. and MRS. TOMMY VICK and their sons, Gregg, Stan and Scott, have spent the weekend in Dallas with her brother, Jimmie Porter, and his family.

SUSAN CAPE, a second-year student at Texas Tech University in Lubbock, is spending the weekend with her parents, MR. and MRS. JAMES CAPE.

MR. and MRS. TOMMY HART are in El Paso for a weekend vacation.

After spending several days here visiting her parents-in-law, MR. and MRS. VERNON SMITH, MRS. TAYLOR SMITH and her little daughter, Carolyn, returned to their home in San Antonio Friday evening.

We missed a number of the regulars who usually attend the Snyder Chamber of Commerce banquet, Friday night, but Big Spring was represented, nevertheless, by a good group. Present were the new Big Spring Chamber of Commerce, president, R. H. WEAVER and MRS. WEAVER, MR. and MRS. RICH ANDERSON, MR. and MRS. JERRY WORTHY and MR. and MRS. KEN PERRY.

Garden Club Council Completes Work In Comanche Trail Park

Extensive work has been completed in the rose garden at Comanche Trail Park according to a report given by Johnny Johansen at Thursday's meeting of Big Spring Council of Garden Clubs. The group met in the home of Mrs. Paul Guy, 1305 Tucson.

The work was done by garden club members, who dug up the rose garden and planted 75 new rose bushes of four varieties. The council's goal for the year is to beautify Big Spring.

Mrs. Guy presided and introduced Mrs. Guy Cook as a representative of Texas Bouquet African Violet Club, which recently joined the council.

A combination garage and bake sale is scheduled March 16-18 at 705 W. 18th. Each club will provide items and workers for the sale. Mrs. C. Y. Clinkscales was named over-all chairman. Anyone wishing to donate items for the sale may contact Grady Randel, Johansen, or Bill Sneed to have them picked up.

A council flower show, "Everything is Beautiful," is planned for April 29-30 at First National Bank. The public may view the show from 3 p.m. to 6 p.m. April 29, and from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. April 30. A table setting classification will be included with the three open classes of flowers.

Mrs. Frank Wilson of Planters Club is chairman for the flower show, and Mrs. Dale Smith is at 5 p.m., March 22, at Mrs. Guy's home.

VFW Unit Installation

Mrs. Pauline Petty installed four new members of Christensen Tucker Auxiliary No. 2013, Veterans of Foreign Wars, during ceremonies Thursday in her home, 707 N. Gregg.

The new members are Mrs. LaVerne Rogers, Mrs. U. S. Beechly, Mrs. Dimas Anguiano and Mrs. Albert Garcia.

Mrs. G. C. Broughton Sr., vice president, presided, and Mrs. C. G. Barnett displayed the 30-year membership pin she received from the auxiliary.

Miss Shirley White announced that Mary Whitley, District 25 president, has called a meeting for March 12 in Odessa. The spring convention is scheduled April 30 in Odessa for election of officers.

Members agreed to sell black pepper and vanilla as a fund-raising project. A patriotic theme was used in table decorations.

FOCUS ON FAMILY LIVING

Lead Poison Threat In Mexican Pottery

If you've received some Mexican cookware or dishes for Christmas, you may want to be cautious in using them because of the discovery that some pottery contains lead in the glaze. However, homemakers can test their own Mexican pottery to detect harmful lead, if it is present. The lead can cause severe illness through lead poisoning.

Recently the Food and Drug Administration warned that continued use of some Mexican pottery or earthenware for food purposes could cause lead poisoning.

Lead is a cumulative poison, so it is essential for people to take all possible steps to see that lead intake is kept to a minimum. The homemaker can place vinegar in the dish or casserole and let it stand overnight. The dish should be only partly filled with vinegar so she can easily see if there is any difference in the glaze below the vinegar line.

If you detect a change in the glaze, the dish should be used only for non-acid foods. Acid foods include fruits, such as tomatoes and citrus fruits and vegetables such as green beans, spinach and broccoli. If the homemaker wishes to bake in the pottery it is suggested that the dish be lined with aluminum foil.

Pottery that shows a rough or dull glaze rather than a glossy one gives the most lead when mildly acid solutions are placed in it. It is recommended that the careful consumer test any highly glazed dishes before using them for foods with a high acid content.

The warning has been conveyed by FDA to all state health authorities as the first in a series of steps to remove hazardous products from the market. Action is based on FDA's legal responsibility to protect the health of the U. S. consumer.

The U. S. government has informed the Mexican authorities of these measures in order to cooperate in finding a solution to the problem.

FDA chemists test glazes with a five per cent solution of acetic acid. They let the acid stand overnight in the dish, then analyze the solution for lead. In all of the dishes they have tested, lead showed up when the glaze had been visibly dulled by the acid solution.

THE ARTS

Piano Concert Slated At HCJC Auditorium

Cecil Lotief of the West Texas State University music faculty will be presented in concert at 8 p.m. Tuesday at the Howard County Junior College as a free public service of the Big Spring Piano Teachers Forum, together with the WTSU Friends of Fine Arts Series. Inaugurated this year, the series provides arts-related organizations in West Texas with programs in music, art, speech and drama.

Lotief, who was reared at Rotan, has been featured in solo piano recitals in Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, and Missouri, also in Italy. He was a first place winner in the National Guild of Pianists and Piano Teachers in 1954.

By calling a Roman Catholic priest, the artist-teacher holds his basic music degree from North Texas State University, a sacred theology degree from Catholic University of America and a master of music degree in piano from the University of Texas. He has studied extensively in Gregorian University in Rome. Currently he is working on his doctorate in music at the University of Iowa.

Coming to Howard County Junior College March 9 will be the Pecos High School stage band and chorus. The group, on spring tour, will be heard at 10 a.m. in the auditorium.

Howard County Free Library is to present a display of artifacts. The exhibit will be arranged by Mrs. Floyd Mays and others interested in historical preservation.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Roley of San Antonio (she is the former Maedell Birdwell) visited here during the past week and spent the most of a day at Heritage Museum. She was here early last summer and so impressed she gave the new institution several items. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Birdwell, pioneers. Among other visitors were Girl Scout Troop 118 and Cub Pack 10, and the Big Spring High History Club. J. O. Hagood produced a school tax book now out of use; Charlie Creighton, early magazines; and McMillan Printery, donated letterheads to the museum. A new acquisition is a page layout taken from a Fort Worth Star Telegram files on H. W. Caylor, the pioneer cowboy artist of Big Spring.

Kathy Garver, acclaimed for her part as Cissie in the "Family Affair" television series, arrived in Lubbock Monday to begin rehearsals for the comedy production, "Under the Yum-Yum Tree," at the Hayloft Dinner Theatre. Dates are Feb. 29, March 1-2.

Gov. Preston Smith has declared March, April and May as Bluebonnet months. This is the first year when three months have been designated Bluebonnet Months. Mrs. Robert Ward Cutler, native of Waxahachie, has accepted chairmanship of the observance spotlighting the state flower. A bluebonnet queen will be named to succeed Mary Helen Yarborough, Temple, and will be crowned at the governor's mansion later in the spring.

For those who happen to be in Houston, works of Ary Stillman are on display (except Monday) 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily, Sunday 12 noon to 6 p.m. A native of Russia who studied extensively in Paris as well as in New York and Chicago, he was challenged by the Mayan culture, and much of the display reflects the Mexican period of his career.

The Dallas Theatre Center's Women's Committee is putting together a package (April 5-7) which includes tours of fashionable homes and gardens of prominent Dallasties, also featuring collections of paintings, sculpture, objects d'art, and luncheon in the new Texas Stadium, the Dallas Garden Flower Show, concert by the Dallas Symphony etc. Details are available at Dallas Theatre Center, 3636, Turtle Creek, Dallas, 75219.

Coming up in Midland March 8 is a concert by Van Cliburn, the East Texan who gained international fame in winning the Moscow Tchaikovsky competition in 1958. The recital will be in Midland High auditorium, and tickets are available at the Museum of the Southwest, 1705 W. Missouri, Midland, 79701 (or 915-683-2882).

In case you're interested, March 18 is the date set for opening the new Seven Seas center at Arlington. One of the features will be a fiberglass iceberg floating past igloos, Eskimo families, wolves, polar bears, killer whale, penguins, etc.

Jack Valenti of Motion Picture Association of America, notes a change in the rating system for films. The PG rating replaces both PG and its category companion GP. The new PG means Parental Guidance suggested — some of the materials may not be suitable for pre-teenagers, a choice parents should make. Other categories remain unchanged: G — general audiences, all ages admitted; R — restricted (under 17 requires accompanying parent or adult guardian); and X — no one under 17 admitted.

It's open season all Leap Year For female hunters to bag a "dear."
If your goal is wedding banding
The Women's Lib thing notwithstanding,
Your opportunity's more than equal
If you don't wish to be a free gal.
Is it trapping tips you need?
Here's advice that you should heed:
If you want a man beside you Do not let your conscience guide you
All is fair in love's pursuit— Help Cupid aim that bow and shoot.
Should you hesitate or falter,

You'll never get him to the altar.
If your friends aren't good at matching
You, yourself, must do the catching.
Every single man's a candidate
For this year's election as your mate.
That guy you thought was just a crony
Maybe a bet for matrimony:

Fairy quarry for the girl who trails men.
Doctor, lawyer, merchant; cook—
Better leap before you look.
If you don't act you're in a fix;

Hints From Heloise

Dear Gals:
Brace yourselves — we're going to clean the kitchen today. Let's do the cabinets and cupboards first. Oh, what a conglomeration of odds and ends! If you get just this much done, I'll say to you, "You've done wonders, my friends!"
I'm a shorty and can't reach my top shelf unless I use a kitchen step stool, so here is how I do my shelves:
I remove everything from the bottom shelf and place it on the drainboard, clean the shelf, and, using two or three pieces of waxed paper or foil, reline it. I like to use waxed paper first, foil second and another coat of waxed paper. Reason? The silver foil shows through the waxed paper and is pretty, but it costs more than the paper. Besides, "variety is the spice of life."
Next time those shelves need some "clean underwear," it can be done in a jiffy with a smile by shoving everything to one side, and starting at one end of the shelf, just rolling the top lining up — replacing the things on the other side.
Catch?
Now you have the variety — foil! The second time you change, the foil is gone like the wind and you know that soon you will have to do a good changing and cleaning chore again. This at least gives you a forewarning.
After you have lined the bottom shelf, place the stuff from the second shelf on the bottom shelf. Saves getting up, and down on that stool as your box of waxed paper is on the bottom shelf too.

I work my way to the top shelf, following this same method.
Then, starting at the top shelf and coming down, just grab everything on the shelf below it and replace it. This way, things are in their usual and proper place. This is a quicky method and everything can be replaced in less than a minute. That'll cheer you up, gal!
This saves me going up and down the stool to take down and put back all those items — from all those shelves — which are usually spread out on the drain-board. (It's a safety factor too!)
And while you are cleaning out the spice shelf, take a good long look at all those cans, jars and bottles. I'll bet you haven't used some of them in years.
I don't know whether "the chewing gum loses its flavor on the bedpost overnight," but I do know that many spices lose their flavor on the shelf over the years. And remember, check for bugs! Especially the paprika. Little buggies just love it.
So why not get rid of all those old cans and make more room on your shelves so that it doesn't take so much fumbling around to find the spices you do use. I always replace mine in alphabetical order and hope they stay that way. Usually they do.

If your cupboards don't go all the way up to the ceiling, give that open top area a good cleaning too. Oh, the greasy grime that settles up there! Cover it entirely with two or three pieces of waxed paper.
If you use this space to stack odd dishes, I suggest that you cover them with plastic garment bags from the cleaners. I do. When these bags get soiled with vapors from cooking, just remove and replace. It's much easier to remove and replace the paper and plastic, and wad up all that grease and throw it in the trash can, than it is to scrub it off.
And while you are at it — have you ever thought to look at the top of your refrigerator? Clean that too.
As I am such a shorty, that's one thing I always forget. I don't see it. (Some people say we forget things unconsciously that we really don't want to do.)
Anyhow — while the top of that refrigerator is still damp, cover it with a piece of waxed paper. It'll stick and won't even show! Besides it's mighty cheap when compared to other materials made for this purpose.

Bridge Players Eye Sectional Tournament

The 21st annual spring duplicate bridge tournament of Fort Western Unit, 183, Fort Worth, is to be played at the Tarrant County Convention Center from March 10-12. Sponsored by the national organization, the American Contract Bridge League of Greenwich, Conn., it has been assigned sectional rating for award of master points.
About 600 outstanding bridge players from the Southwest are expected to compete for master points and awards. An innovation in regard to awards is that instead of a trophy, a Neiman-Marcus gift certificate is to be presented to winners.
Featuring the three days will be the most popular event in tournament bridge inventory, the two-session Swiss team of four. It is to begin at 12:30 p.m. March 12; the second session March 13 at 6 p.m. Other events on the program are the men's and women's pairs at 1:30 p.m. and masters pairs at 7:30 p.m. March 10. Qualifying round for the open pairs begins at 1:30 p.m. March 11, and the finals and consolation at 7:30 p.m.
A. Kenneth Stone of Fort Worth has been named senior tournament director by the national organization. He is to be assisted by others to be designated by ACBL.
The sponsoring unit is to be host to the players at its traditional filet dinner between sessions on the final day.
Don Fitzhugh is tournament chairman.

Wedding Performed In All Faith Chapel

The wedding of Miss Jo Sonja Peach and Sgt. Allen Kingston was held at 8 p.m., Friday in the Tollett All Faith Chapel.

Chaplain Lee Butler of Big Spring State Hospital performed the vows at an archway entwined with pink flowers and ivy.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. George A. Kingston of Norristown, Pa., and Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Peach, 2503 Larry.

The bride wore a street-length gown fashioned in white crepe with Empire bodice and long tapered sleeves of heavy lace with a deep cuff. Scattered seed pearls accented the front bodice of the gown which featured a round neckline. Her elbow-length veil was held with a cluster of beaded lace petals, and she carried a nosegay of pink and white carnations, pink rosebuds and pink gypsophila.

Mrs. Ray Peacock of Midland, the bride's sister, was matron of honor, attired in a street-length, pink Empire-style gown accented with white trim. She carried a bouquet of shaded pink carnations.

MSgt. Charles E. Gillenwater of Dunganon, Va., was best man.

A reception was held in the home of the bride's parents. A white organza cloth, overlaid with pink net, covered the refreshment table, which was centered with a tiered cake topped with a nosegay of assorted flowers. Fern and pink carnations encircled the cake. Mrs. Oscar Glickman served.

Following a trip to New Mexico and Denver, Colo., the couple will reside at 1321 Kindie.

Sgt. Kingston is a graduate of Eisenhower High School, Norristown, Pa., and Mrs. Kingston graduated from Big Spring High School and Howard County Junior College. She also attended the University

MRS. ALLEN KINGSTON

Out-of-town guests for the wedding, other than the bridegroom's parents, were Mr. and Mrs. Earl Zetsche, Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Van Zandt, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Payne, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Sloan and Miss Ellen Britton, all of Midland.

Before You Buy....

An Information Service For Consumers
BY MARGARET DANA

Any woman who has the job of sorting out a load of family and others concerned with the laundry, finding which items can go in together, which need a different water temperature or spin cycle, which must not be washed at all (cleaned only) and so on, will welcome a piece of the news to come out in a long time. A new rule announced in December, 1971, by the Federal Trade Commission says that beginning this year every article of wearing apparel must carry a permanent label, geared to last the life of the garment, providing clear and trustworthy instructions for its care. This regulation becomes effective in July, 1972, giving manufacturers time to prepare new labels, change their production lines, and get labeled garments out to stores. Actually some garment manufacturers have beaten the deadline. Already, if you search, you can find permanent labels on some articles, giving definite washing or dry-cleaning directions. I noticed that the Blue Bell company, for one, is supplying such labels on all its garments under brand names "Lady Wrangler" and "Mr. Wrangler."

PIECE GOODS — Piece goods too — for the home sewer to make into garments — come under the rule. Every length of goods you buy after that July deadline must carry with it correct labels to be sewn or ironed onto the garment by the home sewer. Of course retailers are going to have to train their piece good clerks to remember to comply with this rule — but consumers can help by their reminders at the counter.

There are some interesting sidelights on how this rule came to be. It has taken two years of intensive study and investigation, as well as the resolution of some tough problems, to bring this new rule to life. The worst stumbling block in the way of agreement between manufacturers — personal experience based on trial and error — no longer meets the needs of consumers. The number of different (textile) products with different care performance characteristics has become so great as to foreclose any possibility that one person could ever accumulate enough personal information or be able to recall this information when it is needed. And many consumers do experience substantial economic loss because of erroneous assumptions about care of clothes, and assumptions which are quite normal in the absence of any contrary instructions from the manufacturer.

In response to my suggestion here that women speak up and tell it like it is, many readers did just that. Today their opinions and questions on buying and will use them in her columns as rapidly as possible due to large volume of mail from readers. Address Margaret Dana in care of the Big Spring Herald.)

World Day Of Prayer Will Be Observed

The local Church Women United will observe World Day of Prayer at 10 a.m., Friday at St. Mary's Episcopal Church. The theme, to be used in similar gatherings in 169 countries, is "All Joy Be Yours."

The Rev. Harland Birdwell will be the featured speaker for the program, and Dr. Jordan Grooms, district superintendent for United Methodist Churches, will also participate.

Mrs. Smith Swords is in charge of over-all plans for the observance. Serving on the planning committee with her are Mrs. William Eysen and Mrs. Dan Shockey, both of St. Mary's; Mrs. Gene McElroy, First Christian; Mrs. Eugene Welsh, Webb AFB Chapel; and Mrs. Charles Holcomb, Wesley United Methodist.

World Day of Prayer can be described as the most important ecumenical occasion during the year. This celebration is the most widely observed activity of CWU, which is the ecumenical expression of Protestant, Orthodox and Roman Catholic women who wish to mobilize around common goals and channel their energies into effective action. The goal of CWU is to form a visible fellowship of believers in Christ. There are 2,300 units of CWU in the United States.

PLAN PRAYER DAY — Final plans for the local observance of World Day of Prayer were made at a committee meeting Thursday. Shown at the session are, seated, Dr. Jordan Grooms, Mrs. Calvin Daniels and the Rev. Harland Birdwell. Standing, from left, are Mrs. Dan Shockey, Mrs. Gene McElroy and Mrs. William Eysen.

The preparation for the celebration is an internationally far-reaching as participation in it. Liaison officers from each national committee form a committee, which meets every three or four years.

Chairman of the International Committee is Gudrun Diestel of Germany, who also compiled the material which was developed into a service for the 1972 celebration.

As women of eastern and western Europe chose what petitions should be included in this year's worldwide prayers, they were aware of three problems affecting the world: the plight of displaced peoples, the strained relationships between the generations, and the unsettling effect of the technological revolution.

This year's theme, "All Joy Be Yours," is designed to raise the consciousness of the participant that "the joy found in Christ is transcendent, permeating all of life no matter what conditions prevail."

The World Day of Prayer offering goes into a fund called Intercontinental Mission — the process by which CWU participates in a ministry to people all over the world. The people and places to whom funds are granted include women and children in need of education and better nutrition, minority women in new careers, thirteen women's colleges in Asia and the Near East, international students, American Indians and Spanish-speaking people, migrants, refugees, people on vacation in National Parks, future church leaders interested in ecology, and women leaders in Africa and Latin America.

The work accomplished by the use of these funds includes the training of health and nutrition workers who then hold workshops in villages, the training of rural women overseas to participate in the social and economic development of their own countries, the preparation of indigenous literature in countries where many people are newly literate, the subsidizing of minority groups seeking self-development and self-determination, and peace-building through cooperation with the United Nations and international conferences.

Event Set For Older Residents

The second luncheon for older residents of Howard County is scheduled March 15 at the Boys' Club, 212 E. 3rd.

"We feel that the general enthusiasm of those attending the February luncheon warrants another one," said John Clancy Jr., chairman of the Howard County Council of Aging which sponsors the lunches. About 35 people attended the February affair. Clancy said most of them were women, and he would like to see more men attend. The luncheon is for anyone over 60 years of age, regardless of race.

The lunches are covered-dish affairs, but those unable to bring a dish are welcome to come anyway. For reservations contact Miss Sherry Mullin, Howard County home demonstration agent, at 267-3468. Anyone needing transportation should also contact Miss Mullin.

HD CLUB SPEAKER

Stresses Importance Of Making Decisions

The far-reaching effects of making decisions, and how to arrive at those decisions, were discussed by Miss Sherry Mullin, Howard County home demonstration agent, when she spoke before area clubs during the week.

CENTER POINT CLUB
Methods of solving problems and making decisions were discussed by Miss Mullin for Center Point HD Club Tuesday in the home of Mrs. C. T. Lindley, 1405 E. 19th.

"We must learn to take problems in stride as they arise," said Miss Mullin, "and not cross bridges until we get to them."

Miss Mullin said problems must be analyzed with facts assembled and listed in order of importance. Various solutions must be considered, and a decision made as to which solution to use. Once the decision is made, it is important to carry it through without worrying about whether it was the right thing to do.

"Always remember to count your blessings instead of your troubles," said Miss Mullin. "This leads to an inner peace and a well-adjusted person."

Mrs. N. R. Garrett presided, and program topics for the club year were discussed. Subjects include gardening, quilting, interior decorating and baking bread.

Members will donate food items to Big Spring State Hospital for use in teaching outpatients how to cook. Old hosiery was turned in for use in therapy at the hospital.

Other contributions included sheets for bandages for the American Cancer Society and greeting cards for use by patients at the Veterans Administration Hospital.

Members will furnish pies and work at the concession stand during the March 17 stock show at the fair barns. Mrs. James Petty won the attendance prize. Ed Kissinger of the Big Spring Police Department will discuss narcotics at the next meeting, at 2 p.m., March 14 in the home of Mrs. Vernon Kent, N. Birdwell Lane.

LUTHER CLUB

The importance of making decisions was discussed by Miss Mullin for Luther HD Club Thursday in the home of Mrs. Frances Zant.

Miss Mullin stressed that adequate time should be allotted to analyzing various possible solutions to problems, and that once a decision is made, people should remain confident that they did the right thing.

Mrs. Regis Fleckenstein won the attendance prize, and members agreed to donate birthday cards for use by patients at Veterans Administration Hospital.

Members will assist with the stock show March 16-18. The next regular meeting is at 2 p.m. March 9 in the home of Mrs. J. M. Wilson.

KNOTT CLUB

Knott Home Demonstration Club members attended a discussion of new driving regulations presented by Jack White of the Texas Department of Public Safety Wednesday at First Federal Community Room.

Following White's program, the women toured Big Spring Dress Factory. The next regular meeting is at 2 p.m., March 14 in the home of Mrs. Joe Webb.

CITY CLUB

"Today's homemaker spends much of her time being a consumer," said Miss Mullin to City HD Club Friday in the home of Mrs. Marvin Sewell, 407 Washington Blvd.

"The homemaker must choose goods and services from a wide variety of changing alternatives, so she needs to be able to make decisions," continued Miss Mullin.

Noting that decision making is an art that must be learned, Miss Mullin outlined steps to take. A person must recognize the problem, then identify all possible solutions. Positive and negative aspects of each solution must be analyzed to determine consequences of each, both in the immediate and distant future. When choosing a solution, the person must consider their personal values in order to make the right choice.

"Everytime you make a choice, you give up something else," said Miss Mullin. "Every decision involves some compromise, and you must accept the fact that it is impossible to have all desired aspects."

Suggested reading by Miss Mullin included books by Norman Vincent Peale, Dr. Murray Banks, and "How to Live 365 Days a Year," by Dr. John Shindler.

Mrs. Ross Callihan presided, and Mrs. A. C. James announced the county-wide arts and crafts exhibit will be April 5 at Highland center Mall.

Members will donate food items and kitchen equipment to Big Spring State Hospital to be used in cooking classes for patients.

Guests were Mrs. Miller Harris and Miss Joanna Sewell. Devotion was by Mrs. E. F. Arnold. The next meeting is at 3 p.m., March 10 in the home of Mrs. Carl Gum, 1509 Tucson. Monahans.

FUTURE BRIDE — Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Shaver of Abilene announce the engagement of their daughter, Kara Nan, to Richard Bradley Kemp, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Kemp of Ackerly. Miss Shaver and her fiancé are students at Abilene Christian College. An August wedding is planned.

Randy Atwoods Announce Birth

Mr. and Mrs. Randy Atwood of Midland announce the birth of a son, Tony Randal, Feb. 2, and weighing 5 pounds, 10 ounces. Mrs. Atwood is the former Nora O'Bannon, a 1967 graduate of Big Spring High School.

The infant's grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smart, Big Spring; Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Atwood, San Angelo; and Mr. and Mrs. Sam O'Bannon, Monahans.

BRIBERY TRIAL BEGINS MONDAY IN ABILENE

Sharp Had Big Plans For Mutscher

ABILENE, Tex. (AP) — The high point of the bribery trial of Speaker Cus Mutscher, which begins here Monday, is expected to come when Houston promoter Frank Sharp takes the stand for the state.

A jury will decide whether Mutscher, Rep. Tommy Shannon of Fort Worth and Mutscher aide Rush McGinty are guilty of conspiracy to accept a bribe.

Mutscher also is charged with accepting a bribe, but he is not being tried on that charge at this trial.

'UNDERSTANDING'

Sharp testified before the House General Investigating Committee Aug. 19 that he had a "tacit understanding" with Mutscher to finance a stock market venture in return for help in passing two banking bills Sharp wanted.

The prosecution is expected to say this is the way sophisticated bribes of politicians are handled in the 20th century.

On Sept. 24, when he was indicted by the Travis (Austin) County Grand Jury, Mutscher said: "I am convinced the indictments returned against me were politically motivated to protect others and designed to destroy my political future."

The Associated Press learned Thursday that Sharp had big plans for Mutscher's political future—until Gov. Preston Smith vetoed the banking bills.

Sharp asked Vance Newell, Houston public relations counselor, to advise him in 1969 on how a statewide campaign for Mutscher in 1972 should be organized.

which statewide race was being considered, but apparently it was either the governorship or the lieutenant governorship.

Sharp's bank in Houston was closed Jan. 21, 1971, after the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission filed a stock fraud suit against it and 27 other persons and firms.

According to SEC records, Mutscher, Shannon and McGinty all bought National Bankers Life Insurance Co. stock on the same day, July 28, 1969, and all sold most of their NBL stock on the same day, Sept. 11, 1969—two days after the banking bills passed the legislature.

MONEY BORROWED

They borrowed money from Sharpstown State Bank to buy the stock. The loans were secured only with the stock they were used to purchase.

Sharp controlled both the bank and the insurance company.

Mutscher made a profit of $52,500, Shannon $31,125 and McGinty $26,625, according to SEC records.

Mutscher later bought more of the stock just before its price plummeted and he says he suffered a net loss.

Sharp was granted immunity from prosecution by a Houston federal judge in exchange for his testimony and for pleading guilty to two minor banking law violations. He was fined $5,000 and drew a three-year probation sentence.

The banking bills would have permitted state banks, including Sharp's, to insure their deposits with a state corporation and thus avoid federal bank examiners.

The trial was moved from Austin on a charge of venue because both sides asked for it and because of extensive news coverage of the case in the capital.

There are three prosecutors and six defense attorneys.

Jury selection is expected to begin Monday afternoon following the completion of a questionnaire by 255 prospective jurors in the morning.

Prospective jurors will be questioned individually, a rare procedure except in capital cases, where it is mandatory.

The trial is expected to last from two to four weeks.

Furr's Income For '71 Spirals

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — Furr's Cafeterias, Inc., reported Friday 1971 net income of $1,361,958, an increase of 38 per cent.

Sales of $25 million were 15 per cent above the prior year.

Don Furr, president, said the company recently has acquired a cafeteria in Tempe, Ariz., and completed construction on another in Greeley, Colo.

Furr's currently has five additional cafeterias under construction—two in Oklahoma City, two in Tulsa and one in San Angelo. These additions will give the company 43 cafeterias and four pie shops in six Southwestern states.

IT'S JUST MONEY, PAL

LYNN, Mass. (AP) — National Wholesale, Inc., a discount house, offered $5 bills on sale for $4 but the public showed a lack of interest that National's president, Edward Bobigan, found hard to explain.

About 100 persons were in line when the one-to-a-customer sale began at 9 a.m. Wednesday, but six hours later Bobigan still had 50 of this stockpile of 500 $5 bills.

"We felt this was a pretty good promotion," Bobigan said. "We figured that we'd give the customer something where he could really see a discount."

Sex Offenders Given Hormone

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) — Dangerous young sex offenders are being given injections of a female hormone to reduce sex drive, a medical official said.

Dr. Lionel Chatz, a psychiatrist, said the treatment is used in cases where the only alternative is indefinite confinement.

Youths are injected every two weeks with the hormone oestrogen, Chatz said, but the treatment is temporary and completely reversible.

"Most offenders who are dangerous child assaulters... settle down by adulthood," he said.

BOYS 'BRIGHT'

Sharp sent Mutscher a copy of Newell's confidential reply on Sept. 19—10 days after the passage of the banking bills. Smith vetoed the bills on Sept. 29.

Newell recommended that two "bright" assistants be hired at a total salary of $50,000 a year, plus expenses, to begin work in 1970 on a statewide campaign for Mutscher in 1972.

This would be worth more, Newell said, than $500,000 injected into a campaign in its final weeks.

Problem Corrected By New Tax Tables

Ellis Campbell, Jr., District Director of the Dallas District of Internal Revenue Service, covering 143 North Texas Counties, issued the following fact sheet on the New Income Tax Withholding Tables for 1972:

Under the Revenue Act of 1971, the withholding tables will make the amount of tax withheld for 1972 more closely match the tax liability for the year.

The new tax tables correct an underwithholding problem experienced by many taxpayers who ended up with large year-end tax bills. Taxpayers most affected by this problem were working couples and persons who held more than one job.

If taxpayers haven't filed a new Form W-4 — Employee's Withholding Exemption Certificate (Revised December 1971) — it is essential for them to do so now. This should ensure that the correct amount is withheld from their pay.

In the past many taxpayers had been claiming fewer exemptions than they were entitled to in order to avoid paying additional tax at the end of the year. These persons may now claim on a new W-4 all exemptions and special allowances to which they are entitled; they no longer need to claim fewer exemptions to avoid paying large income tax bills each April.

married taxpayers with incomes under $31,000 should claim the special withholding allowance if they qualify.

Extra allowances may also be claimed by taxpayers who have large itemized deductions. The Form 2-4 contains a table that will show the number of extra allowances that may be claimed for large itemized deductions. These extra allowances, like the special withholding allowance, may be claimed only for withholding purposes, not on income tax returns.

The amount of tax withheld in 1972 will decrease for an estimated 47 million taxpayers if they claim all exemptions and extra allowances to which they are entitled. Most taxpayers who do not claim all exemption allowances to which they are entitled will receive refunds when they file their income tax returns in 1973.

Forms W-4 may be obtained either from employers or Internal Revenue Service offices.

Items Of Routine Nature Discussed

Yellowing of house plant leaves is a sign of trouble. Here is a tip:

Gradual fading of color, long leaf stems and progressively smaller leaves are symptoms of poor light. Pruning outside shrubbery or opening window drapes blocking sunlight will help. Rotate plants from dark areas to sunshine if you have limited areas of bright light. Avoid keeping plants in windows with awnings or northern exposures, and inside wall areas.

Over-watering often is the reason plants stop growing or leaves turn yellow. Too much water drowns roots.

Use pots with drainholes to reduce over-watering.

Fraser, Colo., Is Nation's Ice Box

FRASER, Colo. (AP) — 68 figure quoted by Mrs. Eleanor "Toots" Smith has a warm spot in her heart for the coldest spot in the nation.

And that's the general feeling in this town of about 400 hardy citizens, who often face the prospect of freezing temperatures in the summer — and below-zero temperatures, always, in the winter.

Fraser, located in a valley plateau of the central Rockies called Middle Park, has long endured the elements and the title, "Icebox of the Nation."

The National Weather Service says Fraser's extremely cold weather is caused by super cold air trapped in the 8,500-foot valley by surrounding mountains.

Toots Smith, manager of the community's biggest cafe, which also houses the bus station and the only bar, has lived most of her life — "never mind how old I am" — in the Fraser area.

"I wouldn't go anywhere else," she said. "Every time I leave here I get depressed. This is the prettiest spot on earth."

It got down to —68 here once, she recalls, but she's been colder than that. In Tabernash, four miles down the road, it dropped to —72, but that wasn't officially recognized because Tabernash doesn't have a weather station.

"We get anywhere from 50 to 70 letters a year from all over the country," said Edna Tucker, the town's postmistress. "They ask the dumbest things, like, 'Is it really that cold?' and 'How do you stand it?' and 'Do you ever go outside?'"

It really is that cold, she verified, because for 20 years she monitored the weather bureau station here.

She didn't recall offhand the —68 figure quoted by Mrs. Smith, but she did remember numerous — 50 readings, and once it got up to 91 degrees, for the hottest.

"Sure, it gets cold, but it doesn't bother us too much because we know how to dress for it," said Jim Leonard, 58, who is Mrs. Tucker's brother and foreman at Kopper's Co. Inc., a wood products plant and the town's biggest industry.

The temperature drops so low in Fraser the trout grow fur in order to survive, and great white bears come down from the mountains at night, on their way north, so they can warm up.

At least, that's what Fraserites tell the tourists who pass through.

The trout really don't grow fur, and the only bears around here are the brown type.

But dogs have been known to stick to water pumps. And when the temperature falls below —40, the whole country squeaks.

"That's right, everything squeaks — even the trees," says Joseph Vita, manager of the Icebox Gulf Station, Vita, a 28-year-old Los Angeles transplant, says the trees squeak when the wind blows at that temperature — and when it's —40 and the wind blows, "the chill factor up here must make it about —100."

Vita is serious when he says dogs stick to water pumps. He said once when the temperature dropped to —48, his dog made the mistake of licking a frosty section of a metal water pump.

"Had a heckova time getting him off," he said. "He wasn't too happy about it."

The town's population has stayed about the same for the last 20 years, with the departure of young people balanced by the arrival of those seeking to get away from it all in one of the country's top recreational areas.

Can't Risk Crippling

The frightening experience through which England is passing — with a national coal strike causing power blackouts — and our own just-ended longshoremen's strike point to the danger we face without adequate machinery for dealing with dangerous labor stoppages.

In England, an agreement with striking miners has been reached just short of the disaster point. Already unemployment caused by power shortages has reached 3 million persons — none of whom were involved in the labor dispute, except as victims. The economic cost is bound to be astronomical.

In this country, the months-long docks strike on the West Coast has cost the economy dearly. And it was only under the threat of government-imposed arbitration that an end was finally negotiated.

President Nixon and other responsible leaders of both parties long have argued for more adequate laws to deal with critical labor stoppages. The time has come, surely, to get down to work on this serious national problem.

Our economy is so complex that a long strike in a basic industry — particularly transportation — can cripple us nationwide. That makes a strike in such industries not the private concern of labor and management involved, but the entire nation.

What is needed is a system leading by charted steps to binding arbitration by an impartial labor court. Ample provisions safeguarding the rights of both labor and management can be written into any such law, including economic penalties on either side through use of taxation powers should either or both be unreasonable. We simply cannot any longer risk the crippling of the nation because we lack the will to prevent it.

Softball Park Stalemate

The recent visit by President Nixon to China may have been opened by the crack resulting from the "ping pong diplomacy." We need some sort of crack in softball diplomacy here.

For the past three years there has been some effort to move the park from Loop 700 and Eleventh Place, or else to create a new park. This got into a three-way affair with the Parks and Recreation Board, which was willing to bless any cooperative arrangement, the Softball Association and finally the Jaycees, who wanted to take the lead in constructing a new or a more adaptable park.

Ultimately, an alternate site on a tract of land given to the Salvation Army was selected, but more problems arose. Title of the land apparently is vested in the Salvation Army but there is a paving lien of some $1,300 against the tract. The city had agreed to participate on grounds the change wouldn't involve any substantial amount of money; the Salvation Army, which had leased the land to the city, seemingly doesn't want to yield its title without being relieved of liability.

And there it is, in one big tangle. About all we can suggest is that Big Spring is not so large but what representatives from the various groups could sit around a table and see if there isn't some basis of resolving the problem. The citizenry would be the winner.

Left-Overs

Around The Rim

Walt Finley

Remember back in what we recall fondly as "the good old days" when the end of the week or the month came along — depending on your dad's pay period — your mother took everything out of the ice box and made hash out of it?

FREQUENTLY IF your mother was a good cook — mine was and is — it turned out to be delicious, and I'd give $1.25 for a good meal featuring it right now.

Well, Paste-Pot friends, what you're going to get today is Round the Rim hash — all the left-overs blended into a mishmash.

If that isn't your dish, take a day off.

—It Won't Work

William F. Buckley Jr.

PEKING — At the banquet I saw personal diplomacy, and I say it won't work. But let it be said that Richard Nixon tried. Everyone could see him in the large banquet hall, but I saw him not alone from the advantage of being seated only 20 yards away. I watched him through binoculars after his remarks, raising his glass to toast Chou En-lai and the three or four Chinese officials seated at his table.

THEN — TO the surprise of everyone and the consternation of the Secret Service — he strode purposefully to the three surrounding tables and there greeted Chinese official after Chinese official, his face red with the sweat of quite genuine idealism, bowing, smiling warmly, touching each glass. He looked altogether noble, flushed with the righteousness of great purpose, and the two dozen Chinese — old generals, commissars, politicians — were quite visibly startled, first at being approached at all, then at being wooed so ardently.

Make no mistake about the moral courage all this required. It is unreasonable to suppose that anywhere in history have a few dozen men congregated who have been responsible for greater human mayhem than the gentlemen at the banquet, instruments and mentors of Mao Tse-tung.

WE ARE in Peking, and among the pamphlets distributed to the American press is a speech by Mao Tse-tung less than two years old which (manifestly) has been neither withdrawn nor forgotten. "While massacring the people in other countries," — goes this particular thought of Chairman Mao — "U.S. imperialism is slaughtering the white and black people in its own country. Nixon's fascist atrocities have kindled the raging flames of the revolutionary mass movement in the United States. The Chinese people firmly support the revolutionary struggle of the American people. I am convinced that the American people who are fighting valiantly will ultimately win victory and that the fascist rule in the United States will inevitably be defeated."

THEN THERE was the treatment of Nixon on his arrival in China?

The already famous airport reception, at which the guard of honor looked as though it was there to perform quarantine duty. The motorcade through empty streets. If charity covers the Big Lie here was the test. Mr. Nixon began his speech by thanking Premier Chou for his government's "incomparable hospitality." At the hands of an ironist, that statement would have brought down the house.

He said that he wished the United States and China might undertake a "long march" together, which historical reference is like Chou saying that China wanted to stand side by side with America next time we face "the rocket's red glare."

AND THEN . . . and then, he toasted Chairman Mao, Chou En-lai, the whole lot of them. I would not have been surprised if he had lunched into a toast of Alger Hiss.

Premier Chou was more cautious. He had begun the day with a snub, he would end it with condescension. He did not even say that Nixon is a nice running dog. The stress, always, was: People to People, it being communism's insistence that the American people are okay, but their leaders are awful, with something of a lacuna in their theory on how it is that Okay People elect fascist, warmongering leaders.

THERE WAS not a word, in Chou's speech, which would have earned him a demerit in communist theology class. Came the toast: "I propose a toast" — to President and Mrs. Nixon? — No. . . . to the health of President and Mrs. Nixon. The difference between toasting someone, and toasting someone's health, is well, noticeable. And, finally, Chou toasted "to the friendship between Chinese and American people." Which means nothing new at all, inasmuch as friendship among all peoples is postulated by Marxist dogma.

The implications of all these symbols may not be immediately apparent. But, watching the face of Chou, one could not help but reflect that the smile must have been similar on the face of his hero, Stalin, when the boys got together to toast peace, and dignity, and self-determination of all peoples, at Yalta.

Trade Flows With Dock Strike End

By CAROLE MARTIN
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — After dining with Premier Chou En-lai in Peking one night this past week, President Nixon turned his attention to domestic matters and signed legislation to end the longest dock strike in U.S. history.

Essentially, the bill signing was a symbolic act. The 13,000 striking members of the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union, by that time, had ratified a contract ending the 135-day strike which had frozen most commercial shipping on the West Coast of the United States. Some, in fact, already were back at work.

Nixon had asked Congress to pass the bill which would have ended the dispute through arbitration, then held off signing it to see if a voluntary agreement could be reached.

WANTS BILL
The administration made it clear, however, that it still wanted permanent legislation to deal with transportation strikes. On Thursday, Sen. Bob Packwood, R-Ore., reintroduced a bill to give the President permanent new tools to deal with transportation strikes which cause regional or national emergencies.

On another matter, the Senate acted Tuesday to give the Equal Employment Opportunities Commission power to sue in federal courts on behalf of victims of discrimination in employment.

The bill would bring state and local employees and employees of educational institutions under the law for the first time, and would extend coverage to employers and labor unions with as few as 15 employees or members, instead of the present minimum of 25. The House previously passed a similar measure, so differences would have to be resolved by a conference committee.

ANTI-TRUST SUITS
In other developments, this past week:
—The Senate Banking Committee unanimously approved a bill ratifying the already-negotiated dollar devaluation. Housing Banking Committee hearings were to begin next Tuesday.

—Richard Kleindienst, Nixon's nominee to succeed Atty. Gen. John Mitchell, pledged vigorous antitrust law enforcement.

The Week's Business

- Strike-end measures symbolic as crippling stoppage ends
- Equal employment opportunity unit wants power to sue
- Anti-trust action may not halt economic concentration
- January consumer price factor rises slower
- NYSE reports record loss of $16.7 billion in 1971

ment, but said it might not be possible to arrest concentration of economic power in some industries. He said he agreed with U.S. Supreme Court rulings that "bigness standing by itself, alone wasn't objectionable."

—The Labor Department reported that consumer prices rose at a slower pace in January. Administration spokesman said the tapering off of the post freeze price bulge was encouraging January's seasonally adjusted gain of .3 per cent in the consumer price index compared with a .4 per cent advance in December.

—The Supreme Court agreed to review a 10-year-old antitrust suit filed against Howard R. Hughes, Hughes Tool Co. and Raymond M. Holliday, an executive of Hughes Tool, by Trans World Airlines. TWA blamed the defendants for its falling behind competitors in converting to jet aircraft.

RECORD LOSS
—The New York Stock Exchange reported a 1971 loss of $16.7 billion, the largest deficit since at least 1932 and perhaps the largest in its history. The exchange said $35.9 million in charges for assistance to customers at financially distressed member firms wiped out the year's record operating profit.

—The Pay Board changed its rules to permit higher fringe benefits that could raise total increases to workers by as much as 6.2 per cent. It also held that raises granted under incentive programs designed to promote increased productivity were exempt from general standards limiting new wage increases to 5.5 per cent.

Connally Thinks Controls Now In Force Will Be Sufficient

HOUSTON (AP) — The Nixon Administration feels that the current economic controls are going to work and no further planning is really needed, Secretary of the Treasury John Connally said Friday.

In town to address the Mortgage Bankers Conference, Connally was asked at a news conference if any contingency plan has been prepared if current economic controls fail.

"Nothing that I would want to discuss at all," he said. But later, he elaborated, "I really don't want to discuss it, but to more specifically answer your question, obviously we have thought about some contingency planning but not really in the sense that we don't think this is going to work because we think it will work."

If Mao Comes Here

WASHINGTON — Every one of us who has been glued to the TV set since President Nixon and his party arrived in China now knows more about the People's Republic than he dared dreamed he would.

THANKS TO OUR ABLE TV correspondents, we are now aware of what a hat costs, what kind of leather people wear on the soles of their shoes, how people walk in a park and how many bricks it takes to build a brick teahouse.

One can't help projecting into the future, when Mao Tse-tung makes his first visit to the United States and his activities are beamed back via satellite to the people in China:

"GOOD EVENING, comrades — this is Wo-pang of the Anti-Imperialist Television Network Broadcasting System, bringing to you live and in red color the banquet that President Nixon is giving in honor of our beloved and venerated leader, Chairman Mao, and his beloved and venerated wife, Madame Mao.

"Ba Ba Rah, what do you make of all of this so far?"

"Wo, the thing that impressed me the most was the reception the American people gave our beloved Mao. I was told by my interpreter that no one had received such a reception in Washington since Mayor John Lindsay joined the Democratic Party. The people seem very pleased to see Chairman Mao."

"DID YOU SEE many schoolchildren waving to Chairman Mao?"

"No, I didn't, but the interpreter told me that was because most of the children go to school on buses and it's hard to see them waving. Wo, what impressed you the most so far about this trip?"

"I think the thing that impressed me the most is that the U.S. Marine Band had managed to learn the Chinese national anthem. I believe this is a very good sign for future Chinese-American relations. They're starting to eat now. Do you have any idea what they're eating, Ba Ba Rah?"

"I HAVE THE MENU right here in front of me. The first dish is fruit cocktail, which is supposed to be an American delicacy."

"It is, Ba Ba Rah. I had some for breakfast and I can assure our Chinese viewers it is very delicious. Our beloved Mao is now eating his fruit salad with a spoon."

My Answer

Billy Graham

Our young people put on a musical evening in our church, and they sang the words to "Just As I Am", and "Amazing Grace" to rock and roll music. They marched up and down the aisles, and it was shocking. It might be okay for Hippie Land, but I can't see it in a worship service. What do you think?

O.B.
We of the older generation appreciate music in our own tradition. I'm like you: it is difficult for me to get used to some of the new religious music. But, we've got to recognize that trends in music change, sometimes for the better, and often for the worse. The important thing is: your young people are using the same lyrics (words), like the old favorites you mention. Isn't that better than not being interested in religious themes at all? I believe it is. They are just expressing it in their medium, and with their style.

As for walking down the aisle, I can recall camp meetings years ago where happy Christians walked down the aisle with their hands raised in the air, glorifying God. I believe this is the crux of the matter: if anyone, young or old, does anything which is intended to glorify God, then it can't be bad. One may do it in one way, and another, in another. The old may sing their favorites, and the young theirs, but if they do it for the praise and glory of GOD, I say, Amen.

Above all, don't do anything to discourage your young people from participating in the church services. Love them, pray for them, encourage them even if you don't like their music.

A Devotion For Today . . .

You are no longer aliens in a foreign land, but fellow-citizens with God's people. —Ephesians 2:19

PRAYER: Lord, thank You for revealing Your love to us. Enable us to recognize the cries for love that surround us. May we respond by reaching out to others who need You. Amen.

WASHINGTON — As President Nixon goes off to his rendezvous in Peking he cannot escape the troubled history of the recent past. The fierce conflict with mainland China to which he contributed when he was a hero of the China lobby left a heritage that his hosts may or may not, be too polite to recall to his memory.

THE ASTONISHING fact is that Nationalist China still has a larger garrison on the island of Quemoy in the mouth of Amoy harbor, only four miles from the mainland. The Nationalist force on the island is not less than 40,000 and it has been reported as high as 60,000.

While Mao Tse-tung and Chou En-lai may politely refrain from any hints about the future of Taiwan, it seems hardly possible that they will not refer to the continued presence of a powerful force designed to blockade one of their principal ports. A smaller garrison holds the island of Matsu, about 100 miles north and 14 miles off the mainland. These two islands came close to bringing the United States to war with China and again in 1958 a third world conflict.

UNDERWRITING the garrison and the total of roughly 600,000 men in Chiang's forces on Taiwan, the Pescadore and the offshore islands is the sizable volume of American military aid. Planned for fiscal year 1972 is $112.5 million in military assistance and $4.5 million in PL-480, which means food from surplus American stores. The military total for fiscal 1971 was $122 million and $200 million in food.

Over the years as the United States, prodded in the tense phase of the cold war by the China lobby and by such proponents as former Sen. William F. Knowland, who was known as the senator from Formosa, the Taiwan bill has added up to $5.2 billion. That includes not only military and economic assistance but various forms of aid such as the Peace Corps. Direct economic help, aside from PL-480, ended in 1965 as Taiwan developed a rapid growth with investment from many sources.

PRESIDENT EISENHOWER on Jan. 24, 1955, sent an urgent special message to Congress asking for authority to use the American military as he saw fit to protect Taiwan and the island chain of the Pescadores.

Businessmen Slayings Linked To Theft Ring

CHICAGO (AP) — The slaying of three Chicago businessmen whose bodies were found two weeks ago in Indiana may be linked to a burglary ring operating in Texas and Louisiana, investigators said Friday.

The Chicago Sun-Times said investigators recovered two stolen typewriters from offices used by James Biederman, 30, one of three partners found murdered.

Officials said the typewriters were identified as part of business equipment stolen in October from a high school in Vidler, Tex.

PRICES CUT-RATE

Biederman and two partners in a high school correspondence school were found Feb. 11 shot to death. The bodies of Biederman and Daniel Tobias, 29, were found behind an abandoned motel in Portage, Ind.

The body of Lawrence Foley, 39, was found in his car in Gary, Ind.

The Sun-Times said that investigators learned that Biederman reportedly boasted to friends that he could obtain business machines at cut-rate prices.

Chief Robert Reibly of Portage, Ind., said he sent two detectives to Houston "to check out some leads in the triple murder."

The detectives were sent to talk with William Stimack, a former Gary policeman who now works in Houston as regional manager for LaSalle Extension University, a Chicago correspondence school.

MURDER TRIPLE

Tobias and Biederman worked for LaSalle several years ago and Foley was district sales manager at the time of his death.

Skins Replaced

LONDON (AP) — British army bandmen are to lose their tiger and leopard skins — to support wildlife and save money. In the future, drummers in the army's 75 bands will wear nylon fabricated copies of the skin aprons.

"If we go on using skins for another 20 years there'll be no tigers or leopards left," a military spokesman said.

The three victims founded in February 1970 the Lincoln Educational Advisory Services. A fourth partner, Ronald Mustari, 30, was traveling in Texas and Oklahoma at the time of the slayings, police said.

Police also are investigating possible links between the triple murder and the Dec. 2 slaying in Indianapolis of three businessmen; Robert A. Gierse, 35, Robert W. Hinson, 27, and James C. Barker, 26.

In both cases, investigators said, the victims were young businessmen who at various times had worked in Chicago.

The three Chicago men carried insurance policies totaling $380,000 with their correspondence school listed as beneficiary. Two of the Indianapolis men, Gierse and Hinson, carried a total of $150,000 insurance payable to a small micro-film service they operated.

Volunteers Attend Training Class

The Veterans Administration Hospital will host an orientation and training session for volunteer workers in the recreation room (Room 219) — Tuesday beginning at 9:30 a.m.

The program will include presentations by Jack Powell, hospital director, and Dr. H. C. Ernsting, chief of staff. The directors of the various divisions and services will also outline their programs. A tour of the varied areas of the hospital will be conducted by all staff members. Lunch will be served in the hospital cafeteria at no cost to the volunteers.

Any person interested in volunteer work at the VA Hospital is asked to notify Mrs. Dene Sheppard, acting director of volunteer services.

Mass Move Sought

MANILA (AP) — After World War II the Philippine government urged settlers to move to underdeveloped Mindanao to relieve the land shortage in the overcrowded northern islands.

Well Adjusted

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: With mixed emotions, amusement and annoyance, I read the letter from the mother who was concerned because her eighth grade son insisted on kissing her goodby every morning. As a small boy, who kissed his parents and grandparents regularly, I had to contend with counselors and school principal (who hated children) who found me frustrating. As a child with a formidable record of academic achievement, I had many friends. Why do I seem to be a pseudo-psychologist? Because my classmates elected me captain of the softball team as well as class president. Everyone knows "gifted" children have social problems, and if they don't, they'd better develop some or some courses part of their lives to him. If you are acquainted with a n y frustrated Freudians, please suggest that they try to solve their own problems before inventing neuroses for the rest of us, in order to satisfy their own - preconceived - misconceptions of the generation gap. No need for anonymity here. WINSTON-SALEM

DEAR W.S.: That's what I've been saying for 15 years. But if I had told you that 10 years ago, would you have listened?

DEAR MARK: You seem unbelievable well-adjusted. Now, if there are any Freudians or other wise who suspect that you have a problem, I hope they will write in and tell us both what it is.
DEAR ABBY: I wrote to you 10 years ago for advice on what to do about a man I had been married with for 20 years. I was married and so was he, but we carried on a real love affair all that time. Well, he solved my problem for me when his wife left him. He got a divorce and took up with a young girl he hardly knew, and he married her. I thought I would die when he dropped me for her but now I realize that he did me the greatest favor in the world. I can now appreciate what a jewel my husband is. He is ready to retire, and I pray God will give me many years to make up to him for all the heartache I put him through. Please tell women that it doesn't pay to be the other woman. I learned the hard way. Thank you.
DEAR ABBY: I have been married for two years to a man who has a habit of doing something which infuriates me. If he loses his temper, he will kick me or slap me. It is always for something petty. I have told him how much this upsets me, and he keeps promising he won't ever do it again, but the next time he loses his temper, he forgets his promise. To teach him a lesson, I have considered refusing to get up at 5:30 the next morning to fix him a big breakfast. Do you think it would do any good? I just hate to be kicked and DEAR L.: Try it. And if he forgets again, try "forgetting" to get up to fix him a big breakfast for a month.

Maiden Aunt

Your Good Health
Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: We have a discussion going in the family about the proper treatment of a maiden aunt who is in a home for the elderly. She is 92 years old. One side says the proper way to treat her is to show her signs of senility or forgetfulness is to be severe and show her how wrong she is. The other side says the subject to her, change the subject and try to understand that is something inevitable that comes with age. We love her and watch out for her extra comforts and try to keep her alert and nicely dressed. Is there a set pattern for treating senility? — Mrs. O.S.

I can't resist the urge, first of all, to commend you and devotion you show this maiden aunt now living out the last years of her life. In answer to your question, I would have to favor the "other side" of your family's argument. Tender loving care is the surest, most effective long-haul approach to take. You must not interpret forgetfulness on the part of this lady as a quirk of personality or as any sort of childish stubbornness. One of the most certain events of aging is arteriosclerosis (hardening of the arteries) and when the arteries serving the brain are affected, then what follows are such things as forgetfulness. This process varies with individuals. I have known 90-year-olds who have retained their mental faculties intact. There have, of course, been many who have made significant social contributions at such an age. But, alas, we must accept the fact that deterioration of the body and bodily functions is a familiar companion along the road to aging. If she is comfortable and if her surroundings are as pleasant as you can make them, then you are doing your duty toward her in these later years. There are many things elderly people in her present situation appreciate — little frills that may not seem important. They usually love to be read to and they treasure letters. From your account, I assume that your aunt still has a lively interest in the world around her, a blessing for her and for you. Frequent visits from various members of the family are, in most cases, good practices. Reading aloud, perhaps from a newspaper clipping she would have an interest in, can fill in uncomfortable moments that may occur during such a visit. This reading creates a little bond between the reader and the listener and can lead to pleasant discussions afterward. If she was a woman who was interested in family affairs, keep her informed about them, even if it includes a little tidbit for her to be concerned about, nothing serious, of course. I sometimes think folks such as your aunt often crave such little things to perk up their interests. When she seems forgetful, simply pass on to some other subject and try to evoke a memory that all can share. Tender loving care.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Can lung cancer be detected by a chest X-ray? Can a person tell if he has lung cancer? If so, how? — M.E.

A full-size chest X-ray is the best way of detecting it. There is little chance of an individual discovering it himself in the early stages, except that a chronic cough should be investigated.

NEW-FOUND FAME 'Clockwork Orange' Star Bided Time

NEW YORK (AP) — Malcolm McDowell, bundled against the cold in a leather, sauntered into the crowded restaurant, hands in his pockets, bright blue eyes scanning the patrons, searching for nothing in particular.

He seemed neither flustered nor particularly flattered by the strangers who stopped him frequently on the way to his table, each volunteering admiration for his work. He made his polite acknowledgments, a simple thank you, the beginnings of a smile which never quite finished, and sat down to order a bullshot — bouillon and vodka.

The waitress, in hot pants and service-with-a-smile, returned with a glass of milk. "Thank you, but we didn't order milk," a surprised but courteous McDowell replied.

"I know," she smiled. "Two girls ... over there." She nodded. "asked me to bring it over and to tell you how much they liked you in the movie."

"That's very nice," he said. "Thank them for me."

Milk — actually "milk-plus" — plays a key part in McDowell's latest film, "A Clockwork Orange," and the recognition seemed the ultimate in audience admiration for the young actor, whose name had hardly been emblazoned in the household heavens.

Malcolm McDowell, a generally private, quiet young man, may have to get used to the sudden shine of the public spotlight. The face of the 28-year-old British actor — the piercing eyes, spreadout nose, not quite your Handsome Hollywood Hero type — is leering from newspaper advertisements and billboards all over town as the star of Stanley Kubrick's latest creation, a brilliant and brilliantly imaginative effort with McDowell as a futuristic young tough intrigued by rape, ultraviolence and Beethoven.

The professional compliments are not new for McDowell, although they are naturally more dramatic in a Kubrick film. McDowell's first film was "If...," the highly-acclaimed Lindsay Anderson-directed tale of student rebellion. That was in 1968. Then, he appeared in "Figures in a Landscape," which didn't last long enough for people to notice him, and the recent "Long Ago Tomorrow," in which he does another superb job, as a paraplegic in a tender romance.

He chooses his material carefully; thus the long time between films.

How does he choose? "You know ... You know immediately whether it will interest you. I don't know why that is."

McDowell is equally reluctant to outline his acting methods. "I just do it. Too much self-analysis can be a bad thing."

Writer Of Stage Hits Refuses To Slow Down

LONDON (AP) — David Storey hasn't stopped running long enough to find out that he's a big transatlantic success.

He hardly seems to realize that he wrote a hit, "Home," which won the New York Drama Critics' award as best play on Broadway in 1971 after capturing the Evening Standard award in London's West End the year before.

He shows the same tenuous grasp of reality about "The Changing Room," now doing a bustling business in London, and "The Contractor," scheduled for a New Haven-San Francisco tryout before heading for Broadway.

Storey just keeps on working seven days a week, nine hours a day, writing stage plays and novels in his daughters' bedroom while they are out.

His fourth novel, "A Temporary Life," appears in Britain next fall, and three of his plays await production at London's Royal Court theater.

With his wife, Barbara, and four children, the 38-year-old son of a Yorkshire coal miner lives in a four-room basement flat in North London.

Storey's average height and low-key approach made him a man more than likely to melt into the background.

MAMA CASS? Ah ... you're punning!

'Pufnstuf' Offers Family Entertainment At R/70

An unusual type of full-length motion picture which will provide enjoyment to all members of the family, Sid & Marty Krofft's production in Technicolor for Universal "Pufnstuf," Rated G, comes Wednesday to the R-70 Theatre. Uniquely utilizing both actors and n costume characters, starring Jack Wild, Billie Hayes, Martha Raye and Mama Cass, it is based on the highly successful Saturday NBC television show, "H. R. Pufnstuf."

The Krofft brothers first rose to prominence with a highly successful sophisticated puppet extravaganza, "Les Poupées de Paris," which they presented in night clubs in Los Angeles and Las Vegas and at the Seattle and New York's world fairs, starting eight years ago. Since they have established a multimillion dollar "show business factory" where entertainment ideas are conceived and executed for attractions around the world, "Pufnstuf" is their first full-length motion picture.

Producer Si Rose, who also wrote the script with John Fenton Murray, is a veteran of the motion picture industry having produced, among others, the Don Knotts features as well as the "McHale's Navy" films. For the director, Hollingsworth Morse, this marks his feature film debut, having been involved in directing television shows for many years.

Last Year Was Disaster But Nabors Optimistic

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Jim Nabors, the man with two voices, was one of the first casualties in CBS' decision a year ago to divest itself of a country-cousin image. His "Jim Nabors Show" was cancelled.

"At first I was personally very hurt," Jim recalled, "but then reality started to set in and other things came up. I began to feel that it wasn't the end of the world and that, maybe, it was for the best."

Jim's hurt has healed and he hopes to be back on television "some time" with his own show. He does not seem angry; he does not go into details.

"All sorts of things turned up that I'd never had time to do before," he reported with a grin. "First I went out for five months, traveled all over the country and did 150 performances."

He also worked with soprano Marilyn Horn, tenor Richard Tucker and Jack Gilford making a recording of "Man of La Mancha," an adventure he talks about with the enthusiasm of a 10-year old. His record albums continued to sell well, too.

Then there was his two-week tour with Bob Hope's overseas troupe over the Christmas holidays.

It was a rough trip for Nabors, but he says it was worth every minute of discomfort. "We played to the best audiences in the world."

Television, of course, has been very kind to Jim, who shot to fame on the strength of a surprising mixture of rube comedy played in a high nasal twang and a rich, full baritone that is effortless handling grand opera, religious music or Richard Rodgers.

A native of Sylacauga, Ala., Jim received a degree in business administration at the University of Alabama; he can't read music, but as his own cautious business manager he doesn't have to worry about money — now or the rest of his life.

The tall, gentle-mannered Southerner hit Hollywood only 10 years ago — with a job as a film cutter. He was discovered by Bill Dana performing at a small Santa Monica cabaret. This led to a shot on the Steve Allen Show. Then Andy Griffith caught his act at the cabaret. And Andy, then TV's sheriff of Mayberry, pulled him into his series — as Gomer Pyle.

JOHN WAYNE IN 'THE COWBOYS'

Sheriff, Rancher, Hero And Now Baby Sitter

"There was a time I would never have taken this picture for a million dollars."

That statement was made by John Wayne and the picture he was referring to was "The Cowboys," a Mark Rydell film for Warner Bros., now showing at the Cinema Theatre.

"No actor in his right mind," continued the Duke, "would dare try to match the antics of 11 kids on screen in the same movie. And yet that's exactly what I do in this film. But, you know what?" he grinned.

"It's the greatest experience of my life and I just hope one like this comes along every year that I'm still able to go on camera."

The kids the Duke was talking about were the youngsters he was forced to hire as trailhands for a mammoth cattle drive of some 400 miles across the roughest country in the West. He had to resort to boys when all the adult males in the country had been lured away by rumors of a new gold strike.

"This has been the most refreshing location I've been on in more than 40 years of moviemaking. Usually you end up with the same old bunch of actors, the same old pack of tall tales and lies. But this one is different."

The kids the Duke referred to were the 11 pre-teen and teen-aged boys who play the pivotal roles of "the cowboys" in this western classic.

The boys all had one thing in common and that was the feeling that their dream had come true and they were honest-to-God acting in a motion picture with the greatest western motion picture star in the world.

Army Vs. Angels
In Cycle Film

A foursome of Green Beret veterans take on a gang of motorcycle ruffians in "Chrome and Hot Leather," American International's action-filled release opening Wednesday at the Jet Drive-in Theatre. Spurred on by a determined hunt for a killer among the members of the gang, the soldiers set up a "search and destroy" mission using army ordnance and signal equipment to track down and battle their prey.

Starring William Smith, Tony Young, Michael Haynes, Peter Brown, Marvin Gaye and Michael Stearns, the film was produced by Wes Bishop and directed by Lee Frost from a screenplay by Bishop and Frost.

TRUE EPISODE Film About Bear

A 1,000-pound grizzly bear and 20 other North American wild animals were put into one of the remaining wilderness areas of the country, the high Uintah Mountains of Utah, to film the true life production of "Toklat," which starts at the Ritz Theatre Wednesday.

A fine performance by actor Leon Ames rounded out the production which has been in the making for over five years.

In the film Ames' heart-rending task of seeking out the bear for the crime of self-defense, is a social statement on man's way versus nature's way.

Ames' commentary is a amusing, educational and poignant as he describes how he witnessed Toklat's growth for the years he knew him.

The picture captures the natural beauty of the wilderness and its changing seasons, and encompasses an important message to everyone.
