U. S. Policy On Argentina May Be Reviewed; Unrest Continues

Braden Is Shocked But Not Surprised At New Flareups

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27—The State department disclosed tonight that a general review of United States policy on Argentina is imminent because of recent political developments in that country.

The disclosure came in response to request for comment from acting Secretary Dean Acheson on a talk made by the former Ambassador to Argentina Spruille Braden. Hastening back to this country, Braden said at a stop-over in Puerto Rico that the American nations could not sit idly by and watch the course of events in Argentina.

The regime there had re-imposed a state of siege and had caused the wholesale arrests of a number of leading citizens.

Bring Sharp Comment

These actions provoked sharp comment by several members of the United States Congress, who advocated the breaking of diplomatic relations and the imposition of economic sanctions.

Through a State department spokesman, Acheson sent word that he would have to consult first with President Truman, Secretary of State Byrnes who is expected in a day or so from London and with Braden before making any statement. After that, he was quoted as saying, when there is any decision it will be announced.

Braden, who has been serving as ambassador to Argentina, now becomes an assistant secretary of state in charge of Latin American affairs.

May Review Whole Policy

Acheson's comment was authoritatively interpreted as meaning the whole policy of the United States toward Argentina would be put under the microscope to find whether there were any steps which might be taken to promote the cause of democracy and freedom in that country.

Braden in San Juan, Puerto Rico today declared he was "shocked although not surprised by developments in Argentina."

He described the steps taken by the Buenos Aires government led by Vice President Juan Peron, as "extreme measures of repression" against patriotic citizens whose sole desire is to restore constitutional processes in their land.

The government contended its action was necessary to prevent interference with forthcoming national elections.

ARRESTS CONTINUE AND MORE RIGHTS SMOTHERED

BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 27 (AP) Arrests of prominent Argentines by the military regime of Col Juan Peron, vice-president and strong man of Argentina, continued today as civil liberties were smothered under a national state of siege.

Alberto Gainza Paz, publisher of the powerful newspaper La Prensa, was one of the latest Argentine leaders to be seized.

Back At Starting Point

(Diplomatic sources in Montevideo, Uruguay, said Argentine developments brought the whole international relationship with the Farrel regime back to the starting point — consideration of whether it is worthy of diplomatic recognition. One authoritative source said it was highly doubtful whether Argentina would be admitted to the forthcoming Rio De Janeiro conference on an equal footing with other American republics, and that the rio conference might even be postponed.)

Peron and other government leaders were said to be still smarting over the defiance shown by an estimated 500,000 persons who paraded Sept. 19 in a "march for constitution and liberty."

Certain Production By Japs Authorized

(By The Associated Press)

TOKYO, Friday, Sept. 28—General MacArthur today granted the Japanese government permission to continue production of textiles and certain metals, leather goods, trucks and processing of raw rubber under specific restrictions imposed by him earlier.

Manufacturers were given a go-ahead on textiles with the exception that "no raw silk, silk yarn, silk thread or sink mixture woven goods" or silk or silk mixture finished garments will be permitted, save on approval of the supreme commander.

EXCHANGE TRADING

TOKYO, Friday, Sept. 28 — The Japanese government today was instructed against reopening the stock exchange or similar institutions without approval of General MacArthur's headquarters.

Any request for reopening must include the plan of operation for the establishment, the Japanese were informed.

Approval was given for the use of 18,000 tons of steel; 6,000 tons of aluminus; 10,000 tons of electric wire, all to be governed by the commander's specific instructions.

10,000 Tons of Leather

The Japanese also were authorized to use 10,000 metric tons of leather, but a request for additional 10,000 tons was denied, at least temporarily.

Authorization was given for 6,000 tons of raw rubber. A request for another 10,000 tons was held in abeyance.

Manufacture of motor trucks was approved, but production of passenger vehicles was not.

Meanwhile Emperor Hirohito had humbled the exalted position of Japan's throne in a historic call on the foreign ruler of his broken empire, tlaking for more than a half hour with General MacArthur—possibly about the dark and drab future of his nation, or even abdication.

Topic Sealed In Secrecy

The Japanese central liaison office said that both Allied headquarters and the imperial government had "reached an agreement" to seal the topic of the momentous conference in secrecy.

It was assumed, however, that they discussed problems of American occupation, and possibly abdication, which again was being rumored without any confirmation whatsoever.

While the emperor talked with MacArthur, the transition of his nation to peace under American surveillance continued.

The Domei agency said the imperial government was weighing a "wholesale reorganization" of the Bank of Japan, the financial dynamo that kept the war machine and its supporting industries running.

Union To Dissolve

Domei also reported that dissolution was imminent for the Patriotic Labor Service association —Japan's only war-time union— to make way for those free labor unions which the United States is determined to see arise.

Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell called on MacArthur and later headquarters announced the deactivation of his U. S. 10th Army. The Tenth's occupation of Okinawa and adjacent islands will be taken over largely by Army regulars. Stilwell will return to Washington for reassignment.

Units of the U. S. Sixth Army's 33rd Infantry division arrived in force in the area of Kobe, Japan's greatest seaport, extending American occupation to the inland sea for the first time.

World Girdlers Hop Off Today

By PAUL MINNER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27—Seven men and a woman, oft tomorrow on the inaugural flight of the first regular 'round-the-world air service, prepared tonight to become human guinea pigs for the 23,147-mile journey.

Leaving Washington National airport at 5 p. m. ewt, they'll travel in an air-conditioned C-54 (Douglas Skyscraper) with upholstered, adjustable seats. They will have every comfort and convenience the U. S. Army Air Transport command can provide on the schedule terminating here at midnight Thursday, Oct. 4.

But tests throughout the flight —registering fatigue, reaction to altitude, everything the ATC can check—may supply information that will lead to even greater passenger comfort as long air trips become as commonplace as a boat-ride.

The ATC has made many globe-circling flights. This will be the first on a regular schedule. Planes on what is to be known as "The Globester" run will depart Washington every Friday, carrying military passengers, cargo and mail.

Only eight of the more than 20 aboard at the take-off will go all the way around, three ATC headquarters officers, an ATC public relations officer, a photographer and three reporters.

The eight who will go all the way are:

Col. M. S. White, Col. C. B. Allen and Major James Spear, ATC headquarters; Captain Phillip R. Warth, Washington National airport public relations officer, who will be conducting officer for the flight; Quentin Porter, civilian photographer employed by the War department; Mrs. Inez Robb of International News Service; Frederick Othman of United Press, and the writer, representing the Associated Press.

American Officer Is Slain In Indo-China

SAIGON, Indo-China, Sept. 26 (Delayed) (AP)—An American officer was killed and another wounded today in a three-hour siege of U. S. headquarters by Indo-Chinese who were spreading disorder through this smoldering city.

Field Marshal Count Juichi Terauchi, the Japanese commander, was placed under virtual house arrest because of increasing British suspicion that the Japanese had a hand in inciting the violence.

French sources, whose return the Annamites oppose, declared the natives had threatened to raze Saigon by fire.

Lt. Col. A. Peter Dewey of Washington, D. C., head of the American Office of Strategic Service delegation, was shot to death when Annamites laid siege to U. S. headquarters.

U. S. Changes In Basic Loan Policy Likely

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—The United States probably will propose to make substantial concessions in its basic foreign loan policy in order to meet British requests for financial aid on a grand scale.

This was strongly indicated today by officials familiar with Anglo-American economic negotiations. They view the loan problem as the heart of future trade relations between the world's two greatest commercial powers.

Five Billion Favored

At the moment official opinion favors recommending to Congress a $5,000,000,000 loan with a very low rate of interest and no restrictions on where the money could be spent.

This is about $2,000,000,000 more than the minimum which the British have discussed. (Their maximum figure has been about $6,000,000,000.) It also is some $2,000,000,000 more than American negotiators had in mind a few weeks ago. The purpose in raising the estimate, which is still tentative, is to try to place the British in a financial position so sound that their credit with other nations will be strengthened. The theory is that with more American credit they may actually have to use less of the American money than might be necessary if they got a sum that offered no margin ove rtheir bare necessities.

The concessions in the loan loan policy may result in sharp distinctions between what the British get and what the French and Russians, for example, get from the United States.

The French want at least $2,000,000,000 over the next three years or so and the Russians over their period of reconstruction would like to obtain $6,000,000,000 from this country.

TRUMAN JUMPS IN TO RESCUE JOBLESS PAY

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27. (AP)—President Truman jumped to the rescue today of a bill to pay more money to th unemployed—giving the congressional knuckles a rap on the way.

But he hasn't saved it yet.

Face to face with Democratic members of the House Ways and Means committee, he urged them to get busy on more cash for people out of work. Nothing happened immediately. He may not get his way.

This Did Happen

But this did happen:

1. The Senate argued hotly over jobs. Late in the day, it looked as if one of the main fights over wording of the "full employment bill' would be settled peacefully. The peacemaker: Senator Hatch (D-NM).

2. Unanimously, without debate, the Senate approved and sent to the House for a vote a measure to set up a Senate-House committee to see what should be done about controlling and using atomic energy.

3. The House whipped through —also uanimously and with no debate—a resolution to start a big road building program. The government would spend $500,000,000 a year for three years. States would have to match that. It looks like easy going for the measure in the Senate.

4. The House Naval committee

Message Says Cotton Bryant Is Liberated

A cablegram received here Thursday by Mrs. Fred Jobe, 2011 Twenty-sixth, from her brother, Cpl. William S. Harrelson, told of the liberation of another Lubbock prisoner of the Japanese. Cpl. Harrelson's cable said: "Cotton Bryant O. K."

BRYANT

Sgt. James H. (Cotton) Bryant, son of J. H. Bryant, formerly of Lubbock, now residing in Slaton, had not been reported as liberated until the news of his safety came through his friend, who was captured with him in the fall of Corregidor. Sgt. Bryant was last known to be a prisoner at Fukuoka, and Cpl. Harrelson was in a Tokyo camp.

The cablegram was from Manila, and Cpl. Harrelson said that he is all right and hopes to be home soon, but that it takes a long time to get things straightened out so they can leave.

Senator Warns On Continued Spending

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27. (AP)—Senator Moore (R-Okla) said today President Truman's recent message to Congress makes it evident that the American people must choose between free enterprise and "a socialistic statism."

It is "crystal clear," he said in a Senate speech, that the issue is:

"Whether the free enterprise system is to continue or shiall we continue the spending policies that lead to an ever increasing deficit and ever mounting debt, and directly to government ownership an da socialistic statism."

Belsen Gas Chamber Horrors Recounted At Trial . . .

Thousands Die At Blonde's Hands

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Staff Writer

LUENEBURG, Sept. 27 — Two witnesses at the Belsen war crimes trial today accused 22-year-old Irma Grese, blonde SS leader, of sending thousands of persons to their death in gas chambers.

Throughout the trial witnesses have singled out the sullen defendant, veteran guard of three concentration camps, as a girl who beat inmates with a leather riding crop and shot down internees with a pistol she carried strapped to her waist.

Plump Hanka Rozencweag, 25-year-old Polish Jewess, an inmate of the Osweicim and Belsen camps for two years, told the court today her body still bore scars from a vicious dog set on her by Grese.

She also accused Irene Haschke, a cookhouse supervisor, of pushing a woman prisoner into one of the Belsen camp's open concrete water tanks.

She said the supervisor, seeing an internee trying to get a drink from the tank, "rushed down from the kitchen, lifted the woman and threw her into the water where she drowned."

Court was interrupted this afternoon when Helena Kopper, husky defendant who has been accused of beating prisoners, suddenly began to shout "why do the British keep hitting me? Why do the soldiers keep beating me?"

It was learned that one of her guards had nudged her with his hand when she persisted in spitting on the floor of the prisoner's cage.

During a recess the court questioned all prisoners and were told by the accused that they were satisfied with their treatment and that no British soldier had ever struck them.

Another Houston Refinery Closes, But Strike In East Texas Field Called Off

HOUSTON, Sept. 27 (AP)—Crown Central refinery workers struck here today, the 17th shutdown in Texas, but employes of the East Texas Salt Water Disposal company called off a strike set for midnight.

Over the state, 22,500 CIO members were idle.

The Salt Water Disposal company walkout was called off following a meeting at Tyler today between union officials and plant management. Bryan Payne, president of the firm, said pay increases of from five to 20 per cent had been granted employes.

The company performs a function, vital in the East Texas field, of taking salt water produced with oil and returning it to the oil pool, thus disposing of the water and maintaining pressure in the pool.

Meanwhile picketing spread at Houston to a sixth bulk terminal, the Clinton Marine terminal of the Gulf Oil corporation.

H. S. Lane, vice president of the Crown Central Petroleum corporation, said deliveries from his firm's city sales depot had been halted.

Approximately 2,000 East Texas oil field workers will ballot on the strike issue, beginning Saturday.

PIPELINE PLANT CLOSING

HOUSTON, Sept. 27 (AP)—The ship channel plant of The Sinclair Pipe Line company was shutting down late tonight as striking CIO unionists tightened their vise on the Houston area oil industry.

E. W. Johnson, president of Local 227, OWIU, left a union conference late tonight only long enough to issue this terse statement:

"Union crews are bringing down the Sinclair Pipe Line company on the ship channel."

No estimate of the number of workers involved was immediately available. It was learned the process of closing down the pipe line company began at 4 p. m. today.

City Acts To Widen 19th In Road Plans

By WILLIAM L. ROPER
Avalanche Staff Writer

Paving the way for legal action to acquire right-of-way needed to widen Nineteenth street and make it a 90-foot wide cross-city artery, the City commissioners yesterday adopted an ordinance, establishing building set-back lines on Nineteenth from 200 feet west of College avenue to the east city limits.

This is the second important step taken by the city recently in carrying out its part in the proposed master highway plan, as approved by the State Highway Commission. Previously the commission had authorized Mayor O. W. Ribble to enter into a contract with the State for the improvement, in which the State and the Federal governments plan to spend $2,500,000. Widening and pavement of a part of Nineteenth is a part of the highway dispersal project.

New Buildings Must Comply

Ordinance No. 726, which was given its first reading and approval yesterday will prohibit the construction of any new buildings that do not comply with the set-back lines established by it, and will also ban repairs on buildings that are located on the strips, needed for the widening. Owners of buildings located on the desired right-of-way will be allowed five years in which to move them back, according to the ordinance.

"This action does not actually acquire the right-of-way needed," City Manager M. R. Smith, jr.,

Crowley Quits, FEA To Fold Up

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27 (AP)—The resignation of Leo Crowley as foreign economic administrator, today marked the end of that agency and one of the broadest governmental reshuffles since President Truman took office.

The chief executive accepted Crowley's resignation effective Oct. 15. Only yesterday the President had indicated that, despite rumors of Crowley's intentions, the White House would seek to sew the handsome and affable Crowley to his job a little longer.

Here Is New Setup

1. Administration of the lend-lease act, participation of the U. S. in the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation administration and the buyinf of certain materials in liberated areas, will go to the State department. These functions will include the procurement for various foreign governments of items which these governments have found it difficult to obtain for themselves.

2. The Rubber Development corporation, the Petroleum Reserves corporation and the U. S. Commercial company, as well as functions dealing with procurement of certain strategic commodities abroad, formerly procured by the U. S. Commercial company independently, will go the Reconstruction Finance corporation.

3. Export control, the technical industrial intelligence committee working now under a directive of the U. S. joint chiefs of staff, the facilitation of trade, and the functions of the clearing of office for foreign transactions and reports will go to the commerce department.

Marshal Zhukov Plans Visit With President

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27. (AP)—Russia's No. 1 soldier, Marshal Georgi Zhukov, is coming to call on President Truman at the latter's invitation.

Maybe he'll ask that Russia be allowed to share the atomic bomb secret. Maybe it will be just a social call—a return of the visit Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower paid Moscow last month.

There was plenty of speculation about possible subjects of discussion between the president and Russia's great war hero.

It was Zhukov who stood steadfast ("every man must fight like ten") in her gravest hours, at Moscow and Stalingrad. It was he who led her most triumphal surge, the march to Berlin.

The White House reported today that the marshal would arrive in New York by air Oct. 4. It added he would see the president.

Cabinet Aide Urges Action

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27 — The Army and Navy have served notice they "cannot get along beyond next week" unless strike-curtailed oil production is resumed in full, Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach reported tonight.

"We've got to get this thing settled by the first of next week," the secretary told reporters. "Our oil supplies will begin to reach the critical stage by mid-week."

He said he knew of no government plans for seizure of oil fields or refineries, however, to restore production halted by the walkout of 35,000 refinery workers in seven states. The CIO Oil Workers union has authorized a nationwide strike if government conciliation efforts fail.

No More Stoppages

The secretary said he was advised union leaders had given an assurance of no additional work stoppage while negotiations were in progress.

Schwellenbach said he would meet personally with the industry and oil workers' representatives when conciliation meetings are resumed here Saturday morning after what he termed "stalling back and forth" for three days in Chicago.

The Major obstacle, he said, was the companies' objection to seeking settlement on an industry-wide basis. Schwellenbach's first move, he said, will be to assure both sides the government has no intention of forcing industry-wide negotiations in labor disputes.

Attention Diverted

The dispute over industry-wide negotiations diverted attention, he added, from the main wage issue —the CIO demand for a 30 per cent increase, which has brought an industry counter-offer of 15 per cent.

Meanwhile it was disclosed that Secretary of the Interior Ickes had notified oil company heads and union leaders that the return of troops to this country was "being slowed down."

"The very security of our armed forces and our military position is threatened," said Ickes, in telegrams dispatched in his orle as petroleum administrator. However, other petroleum administration officials estimated that mili-

LaGuardia Urges Return To Jobs

NEW YORK, Sept. 27 (AP)—Mayor F. H. LaGuardia appealed to elevator operators and other building service strikers tonight to return to work and end a situation he said had caused "millions of dollars of losses."

"Do you men realize that you have already caused millions of dollars of losses—not to business, but to your own fellow-workers?" the mayor said in his monthly radio speech over Station WJZ.

Follows Conference

LaGuardia's appeal followed a conference today of union officials and employer groups with the regional War Labor board and acceptance by opposing groups of an invitation to put the controversy before the state mediation board tomorrow.

Locals 32-B and 164 of the AFL Building Service Employes International union called the strike in protest against a WLB directive which increased hourly wage rates of elevator operators and building service workers but reduced the number of hours in the work week. It began last Monday.

Free, Independent News Agency Being Sponsored By Jap Press

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Sept. 27—The executive head of three leading Japanese newspapers said today in a message to Kent Cooper they were sponsoring formation of a free and independent news association to furnish news of the world to the press of Japan.

The message was sent to Cooper, executive director of the Associated Press, by Nagataka Muryama, president of the newspaper, Asahi; Singuro Takaishi, president of the Mainichi, and Matsutaro Shoriki, president of the Omiuri-Hochi.

It was in response to telegrams Cooper had sent them individually Sept. 20 expressing the hope that each would sponsor "restoration of a cooperative (new association) along the lines of the Associated Press, so that the latter can constructively cooperate in complete rehabilitation of news exchange between the press of our respective nations wholly independent of government control or interference."

Recalls Former Days

Cooper recalled participation of the three papers in the former Nippon Rengo Tsushin-Sha (Japanese Associated Press), which was developing along lines of free cooperation when it was compelled in 1936 by the developing militarist revolution to merge into the government-controlled monopoly, Domei.

The message from the three newspaper heads followed General MacArthur's order of Sept. 24 directing the Japanese government to remove all barriers to the collection and distribution of news, and stripping the Domei agency of its monopolistic privileges and government subsidy. Inosuka Furuno, Domei's president, promptly thereafter announced he would recommend early dissolution of the agency.

Said Free of Control

The message to Cooper from the three newspaper executives said:

"We have the honor to inform you that three Tokyo newspapers . . . have decided to sponsor a new association of Japanese newspapers by which not only domestic but also international news will be gathered and distributed to members of the association.

"Two other Tokyo newspapers and eleven representative local (provincial) papers now are being invited to participate.

"We hope for your kindest consideration for utilizing the new association as distributor for Associated Pres.. news to members of the association throughout Japan. The new association is organized by the newspapers' free will, without any government help or control."

Domei has been serving 76 newspapers in Japan besides the Japanese Broadcasting company.

The three papers whose heads are sponsoring the new association are the most widely circulated in Japan and claim circulations among the world's largest.

Job Referrals Show Increase Past Week

Referrals to jobs in Lubbock county moved up to 273 the week ending Wednesday, September 26, according to the weekly survey released by the local U. E. Employment Service office.

One hundred seventy-five of the 273 persons were given jobs. This group included 144 men and 31 women.

Persons registered for jobs during the period numbered 185 with 29 veterans signing, and the total job openings numbered at 340.

Principal demand for labor, for the third successive week came from the cotton compress seeking 84 laborers. Twenty-eight salespersons are needed along with 28 persons for clerical work. Other demands came for mechanics, welders, bricklayers, cotton oil mill workers, railroad workers, services and miscellaneous laborers.

ALLOWABLES CUT

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 27 (AP)—The State Corporation commission today set the Oklahoma oil allowable for October at 383,111 barrels a day, a reduction of almost 10,000 from August production and almost 5,000 below the August and September allowable.

Large Amount Meat Will Be Ration-Free During Next Month

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27 (AP)—One-third of the increasing meat supply will be ration free beginning Sunday.

The OPA formally announced today that from Sunday through October 27 no points will be required for lawer grades of beef, veal and lamb.

Also ration-free will be hamburger, lamb and veal patties and all cheaper cuts of all grades of meat. These include such cuts as short ribs and brisket of beef, breast and flank of lamb and shank of veal.

Points are being eliminated, too, on all canned meats, sausage, frankfruters, luncheon varieties and all other products made from lower grades of meat. These grades are utility, canner and cutter beef, and utility and cull veal and lamb.

Points on canned fish are being trimmed two to three points a pound.

OPA said it was in agreement with the Agriculture department that rationing of pork and the three top grades of beef, veal and lamb (AA, A and B) must be continued.

"Without rationing, most consumers in areas that do not produce these meats would find it difficult if not impossible to get their fair share," OPA said.

The usual monthly allotment of 50 red points will become valid next Monday. The new stamps, in Ration Book Four, are R1, S1, T1, U1, and V1. Stamps V2, W2, Y2, and Z2 expire Sunday.

Artist Course Plans Outlined

Two singers, a pianist and two dancers are scheduled to appear on the four Texas Tech Artist Course programs to be presented during the 1945-46 season, R. A. Mills, chairman of the committee, announced.

Nadine Conner, Metropolitan Opera soprano who is a regular star and guest artist on the Coca-Cola hour and Show Boat, will be here Nov. 14. Miss Conner made her Metropolitan debut Dec. 22, 1941 in the Magic Flute.

Metropolitan Tenor

Nino Martini, leading tenor of the Metropolitan opera, is scheduled to appear Dec. 3. Rosario and Antonio, Spanish dancers, will be presented Feb. 4. They are on their first American concert tour and have entertained many times at the "Hollywood Canteen."

Last of the artist course programs will be presented by William Kapell, 23-year-old American pianist, on April 4.

All programs will be presented at 8 p. m. at the Lubbock Senior High school auditorium.

"We have arranged for one of the best entertainment seasons yet scheduled by the artist course and ticket sales have been unusually high due to an increased student enrollment," Mills said.

Seasonal tickets, which are $5 plus $1 federal tax, are now on sale at South Plains Music Co., 1214 Broadway. Single admission tickets, $1.50 plus .30 federal tax, will be on sale at the music store preceding each performance.

General admission tickets, for students and children only, will be $1.25 plus .25 federal tax. All tickets will be sold at the South Plains Music Co.

Production Line Turns Out Civilians

Joining Army Simple Compared To Going Through Discharge

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following article explaining the intricate procedure involved in going through a Separation Center, was written by a former member of The Avalanche-Journal staff and for the past three years a member of the Army Air Forces. This is the first of a series of two such stories, the second to appear in Saturday's Morning Avalanche).

By JAY HARRIS
Avalanche Staff Writer

The cimplicity with which Uncle Sam changes a civilian to a soldier by a wave of the magic wand can be testified to by more than ten million men in the nation's armed forces today—but the procedure whereby Uncle Sam undoes the process has soldiers literally "sweating out" discharges in separation centers from New York to California.

Along with several hundred other lucky and unbelieving individuals, several of whom were Lubbock and South Plains men, we went through "the mill" at the Separation Center at Fort Bliss the past week-end. And by the time a major and colonel handed the group that certain piece of paper you could have spelled that last word with another letter.

Criticism Unjustified

There's been a lot of criticism of the Army's discharge plan. Some of it is justified. Most of it isn't.

So, because practically every young man's fancy today is turning toward getting out of the Army we want to give you a picture of just what happens in one of these production lines to unmake a soldier.

It happened this way. Last week, several of the men received notice they were to be given discharges.

Thursday night at 7:45, we boarded a bus for an overnight ride to Fort Bliss and the Border city of El Paso. The bus was about one-fourth filled with soldiers to be discharged or just discharged and about half filled with 18-year-olds going down to be inducted. It was a strange atmosphere but the 18-year-olds seemed to be getting about as big a kick out of it as the men who had three or more years of service.

They Were Waiting

Arriving in El Paso about 5 o'clock the next morning, we rambled up to Union Station and with several busloads of infantry and armored division veterans proceeded to Fort Bliss.

"Yes, sir!" they were waiting for us up on Logan Heights. "Right this way, please. And have you had breakfast? No? Then right this way."

Then, right away, a sergeant grabs our group and away we go to the receiving station. First, we fill out three cards with all the pertinent info. Then they look through our Army clothes, give us a complete set of winter ODs, a new summer uniform, shorts (thank goodness), socks and plenty of everything else to get us home decently with enough left over for veterans parades and conventions.

Out In A Hurry

"Things are really moving fast," we told each other. "We should be out of this joint by nightfall or at noon Saturday at the latest."

Next, we were assigned to huts, drew bedding and then began the long wait.

You get acquainted pretty quick when there's nothing else to do but sit and talk. And you meet a lot of people who have been all over the world. About 90 or more per cent of the men at Fort Bliss when we went through were combat veterans with ribbons and battle decorations up to their shoulders, and with points to burn. The others were being discharged because of age, essential occupations, dependency and health, the former two groups being much larger than you would think, the government apparently going all out to get men back into industry and business to speed reconversion as soon as possible.

Working 'Round Clock

Well, the long wait lasted from Friday morning until Monday morning at 5:45 o'clock. Our names finally come up on a roster after those men ahead of us had been discharged. Seventy men made up each roster and they were turning out four rosters a day and night although set up to handle only 100 men a day—testimony to the 'round the clock effort the Army is making to get the discharge plan moving.

Anyway, at 5:45 Monday morning, a whistle snapped us out of a dream and in 45 minutes we were in a formation headed for our first step out.

Promptly at 7 o'cock we filed into the "General Orientation" room. A lieutenant took over, told us what to expect during the day, gave us a general idea of what we faced as civilians, reminded us of our rights as veterans, answered our questions.

Hospital Examination Rough

One hour later, we marched into the seperation center hospital.

"Strip to shorts and shoes and make it snappy," a medic yelled.

Then, starting with the second you step out of the declothing room until you get 'em back again comes one of the most thorough examinations a man ever received. They want to know your weight, have you ever had any kind of physical trouble in the Army, ever been in the hospital, why, how long, what for, does it still hurt, ever have veneral disease, athletes foot or indigestion.

Then just to make sure your answers are correct they send you through the Army version of a clinic. You parade into an X-ray room where they take a shot of your interior, then comes the traditional Army tests on down the line to a blood test, eye, ear, nose, throat, heart, lungs, liver, feet, bones. You sit up, squat, reach for the ceiling.

Trained, experienced personnel watch every move, record every reaction.

The proceedure takes two full hours and brother, when you walk out of there the Army knows exactly in what condition they are returning you to civilian life—except for the mental attitude of course, which we intend to discuss tomorrow.

Anyway, if you get by the hospital and all except those few who preferred something stronger than water the night before and who in some cases show up as diabetes victims, go to the next step. That is a personal inspection of clothing and baggage.

Then comes what the Army calls "counselling," where experts find out what you did before you entered the Army, what you did in the Army and what you intend to do after you get out. They double check your permanent records.

And right nearby is located a pension claims office where claims may be filed (in fact, the Army actually urges all men who were hospitalized for any length of time or who were wounded and who still suffer any effects to file a claim). Also in the building is a Civil Service office where veterans are offered an opportunity for good paying jobs with the government in their home communities. Veterans administration officials are on hand to help in any way needed as are Red Cross officials.

That requires most of the afternoon. About 3 o'clock we were through, lined up for a personal inspection at which clothing had to be clean and presentable, faces clean shaven (Uncle Sam wants to turn his former soldiers loose looking like men, not bums).

Then comes another "slight" wait of several hours, a period when most soldiers really talk about being a civilian.

(TOMORROW: The "last mile," and just a few things the returning veteran is thinking about as he prepares to be a civilian.)

Railroads Must Face Anti-Trust Action

LINCOLN, Neb., Sept. 27. (AP)—Federal District Judge John W. Delehant today denied the motion of the western railrods to dismiss the government's anti-trust suit against them.

The suit, filed August 23, 1944, alleged conspiracy to restrain and monopolize trade in violation of provisions of the Sherman anti-trust act of 1890.

The railroads were charged with discriminating against the area west of the Mississippi river in the matter of rates, and with conspiring to retard the development of the trucking industry.

Brazil, the largest South American country, is 250,000 square miles larger than the United States.

In 1691, William and Mary granted letters of patent to Thomas Neale to establish a postal service in the colony. He was to have a monopoly of 21 years, and was authorized to "charge such rates and sums of money as the planters shall agree to give."

The Woman's Angle
By Margaret Turner

WHEN the news of Mrs. H. H. Kight's sudden and unexpected departure reached us it came as quite a shock and it is hard at this time to realize she has gone. She was a wonderful woman, a typical American mother.

Time, the efficient panacea, will efface the scars her husband and sons and daughters feel at present. Memories will preserve pleasant recollections of her smiling countenance, subtle humor, Irish-type wit and good nature, an inheritance of which the children should always be proud.

Soon after her son, Col. Richard Kight, was making headlines over the nation because of being chosen as pilot of the plane that took the late Wendell Willkie around the world, we talked to Mrs. Kight, asking questions about him. She was justly proud of his success but she soon turned the conversation to her other sons in service and said she was proud of them, too.

• • •

AFTER Willkie's "One World," dedicated to Col. Kight, was published, Mrs. Kight received a letter from the author of the book in which he was lavish in praise of the young man as a flier, an officer and a gentleman.

"Doesn't that letter excite you?" we teased Mrs. Kight.

"Of course it does," she answered quickly, "but Mr. Willkie isn't telling me a thing I don't know."

• • •

As we write these lines, we can fancy Mrs. Kight listening sympathetically to tales of adventures told by young airmen who, too, are living in that Far Distant Land because their numbers were drawn early in life, just as they were beginning to live. We like to think that she, and others like her, will take the place of earth-bound mothers who are destined to go for life without seeing their sons again. We like to think that this handsome, sweet character, through the part of Eternity which she must spend without her own sons, will yet find her hands full doing loving tasks for other mothers' sons.

OVERSEAS FUDGE

A mother whose son is stationed on Guam telephoned to ask us to repeat the recipe for Overseas Fudge which came from Mrs. Orville Shofner's files two years ago. She said a number of friends used it last year with marked success.

If you think your loved one is to spend Christmas overseas and are busy with his Christmas package, likely you'll want it too, provided, of course, you can manage to find the sugar somewhere. Here it is:

Four cups sugar, 4 squares bitter chocolate, 1 cup boiling water, 6 tablespoons Karo, one-half teaspoon salt.

Mix well before cooking and do not stir again. Cook slowly until mixture forms soft ball in water (between five and ten minutes). Set off stove. Break in one-eighth package of butter and one package of Philadelphia cream cheese. Add one teaspoon of vanilla, allow to set for one hour, then beat, adding two cups of chopped nuts.

Line container with waxed paper and pour candy directly into that, using container you will send overseas.

UNDERWEAR SHORTAGE

Not only are prospects not bright for an early flow of ample, normal supply of men's, women's and children's underwear to America's retail stores but according to a memorandum that comes to the desk from the Underwear institute, unless reversal of the picture by government action, there can be no underwear available next spring.

In an endeavor to determine the cause of the present acute peacetime shortage of underwear, the Underwear institute sent out a telegraphic questionnaire to jobbers who cited loss-producing ceiling prices as the reason manufacturers could not supply them today with underwear for spring trade. If jobbers cannot buy from the manufacturers, they certainly cannot sell to retailers. Figures, which were browen down to shirts, suits and shorts, showed that under present ceilings lightweight underwear must be manufactured either at a loss, or in return for insignificant profits. The survey shows that while ceiling prices have remained the same, costs of yarn have gone up 38 per cent during the war and labor costs have gone up 45 per cent. Furthermore, manufacturers polled by the institute were unanimous in declaring that, unless relief is granted, production must be cut still further.

Obviously, from the memorandum, failure of OPA to give the green light to the industry for the production of lightweight underwear means an increasingly critical shortage for the future.

According to the institute information, the price relief requested by the industry would mean an increase in retail prices of approximately 4 per cent amounting to only a few cents more per item purchased by the average consumer.

Ashes Of Three Jap-Slain Fliers Found In Shanghai Funeral Home

SHANGHAI, Sept. 27 (AP)—Three Doolittle fliers, lashed to improvised crosses, were shot dead on the fringe of an ancient Shanghai cemetery three years ago on direct orders from Tokyo, an American war crimes investigator disclosed today with the recovery of three small wooden boxes containing their ashes.

The investigator, Capt. J. S. Bailey of San Francisco, who found the remains on a shelf in a funeral parlor here, said their names had been falsified as was the date of their deaths which he later verified as Oct. 15, 1942.

Civilian Mortuary

The Japanese executioners chose to secret the remains in the civilian mortuary rather than turn them over to the International Red Cross, Bailey said.

An American graves officer took custody of the ashes today for return to the United States while the ashes of a fourth Doolittle flier, Lt. R. J. Meder, will be brought here from Nanking, where he died of malnutrition, dysentery and beriberi.

The harshly-discriminatory treatment of these American fliers came to light in the finding of court martial records of the Japanese government.

These papers disclosed that the airmen, members of Doolittle's command of 80, were convicted in only 30 minutes of a Japanese-language "trial" of violating "military regulations regarding aircraft crews."

Planes Forced Down

Doolittle and his men bombed the Nipponese capital April 18, 1942. The executed men and five companions were captured by the Japanese when their two planes were forced down in China.

Those executed were:

Lt. Dean Edward Hallmark, 27, Dallas, Tex., charged by the Japanese with piloting a plane which "bombed and strafed the city blindly and indiscriminately . . . killed scores of civilians and destroyed several civilian buildings."

Lt. William G. Farrow, 23, Darlington, S. C., who, his captors said, "dived and strafed a Nagoya grammar school building and children playing on the grounds."

Sgt. Harold A. Spatz, 20, Lebo, Kas., a machinegunner on one of the Mitchell bombers.

Others Allowed To Live

The five other fliers, including Meder, also were condemned but gained commutations to life imprisonment only a day before their three comrades were executed.

For days before their trial, the eight were tortured in the infamous Bridge House in Shanghai.

Surviving the maltreatment were Lt. Chase J. Neilsen, Hyrum, Utah; Lt. Robert Hite, Earth, Texas; Lt. George Barr, Madison, Wis.; and Sgt. Jacob D. DeShazer, Madras, Ore.

Sought as war criminals for ordering the executions are the trial judge, Lt. Col. Nakajo Toyama; the prosecutor, Hata Itsuro; and two minor judges.

The State Highway commission Thursday designated as a farm to market road in Yoakum county a section from Denver City west to the New Mexico line and appropriated $125,000 for its construction, according to the Associated Press. The designation is conditioned on Yoakum county's agreeing to retain outstanding indebtedness on the road and furnish whatever right of way may be required for future improvemens. The section is approximately 13.7 miles long.

Lubbock Men Honored For AAF Invention

"Plane Facts," the Army Air Forces periodical, gave recognition and national acclaim to the "bungee stretcher," an invention of two Lubbock men, Hubert H. Foster of 1915 Avenue J and John S. Hollingsworth of 3224 Twenty-second, in last month's publication. Both men were formerly foremen at South Plains Army Air field.

"A 'bungee' ", explained Foster, "is a rubber lifting cord on an airplane that aids in retracting the landing gear. Six of these cords exerting a pressure of more than 3,000 lbs., must be stretched to an expanded position before they are installed in the wheel wells."

Unsatisfactory existing methods of bungee stretching last May, led the men to the construction of this innovation which has helped the government to save money, material and man-hours. Similar time and labor-saving devices invented by civilians during the war has aided the army immeasurably in its effort to speed up production.

Other of Foster's inventions which have been utilized by the Army include an inspection plate die, and a strut remover for all types of basic training planes.

Campaign Launched On Demobilization

An educational campaign on the Army demobilization plans and separation procedure was inaugurated at Lubbock Army air field Friday. In announcing the educational program, officials at the base pointed out that it was the policy of the War department for all military personnel to be advised concerning their status under demobilization plans.

In accordance with directives received from higher authority the educational campaign will center about an information booth, which has been established in the ground school building. At this booth the latest information concerning the discharge program will be maintained. In addition to the information booth special talks will be given on the demobilization program. Slides will be run on the screen at the theater, and posters will be prominently displayed throughout the field advising personnel of their status.

In announcing the establishment of the new program, Col. Harold N. Holt, commanding officer, stated that "we want every man at LAAF to know that the AAF is doing everything possible to expedite demobilization. We want every man to know exactly his status under the discharge program. The personnel of the Army Air forces have been kept advised concerning the program of the war. Now that the war is over the war information center is being converted into a special center, designed to give current information on the discharge program."

ELECTIONS TO BE SET

ATHENS, Sept 27. (AP)—A reliable authority said tonight Premier Petros Voulgaris planned to issue a decree within a week setting a middle of December date for the Greek elections.

Other of Foster's inventions which have been utilized by the Army include an inspection plate die, and a strut remover for all types of basic training planes.

Postwar "Hard Feelings" Expected, But:

Repayment Of Lend-Lease Wanted By U. S. Public

By GEORGE GALLUP, DIRECTOR
American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J.—Diplomatic relations between England and the United States may suffer in the years to come because of a widespread public misunderstanding in thes country about Britain's obligations under lend lease.

GALLUP

After more than four years of lend-lease, the majority of Americans still think that England is supposed to pay back some or all of her share of the obligation, and that she should do so.

This attitude conflicts sharply with President Truman's statement of a few weeks ago that America ought not to ask for repayment of lend-lease from foreign countries, but simply cancel the obligations which total some 42 billions. It is felt in many quarters in Washington that this was a small price to pay for the assistance given in eradicating the Nazi threat to the United States.

What makes the public's misunderstanding serious is that many Americans still remember with resentment England's discontinuance of service on her debt to us dating from the first World war. As recently as 1942 the majority thought we should try to collect the money owed us from the first war. In view of that fact, many observers have felt that the government was lax in failing to make crystal clear to the American people that World War II lend-lease obligations were not to be considered as in the same category with previous debts between nations.

Opinion was sounded on two aspects of the lend-lease issue. The first dealt with the question of whether England is supposed to pay back for lend-lease, and the second dealt with the question of whether she should pay us back. The attitudes fould would apply to some extent to all countries receiving lend-lease. Britain was singled out in the poll only because she was the principal recipient.

"Was it your understanding that the lend-lease goods we sent to England during the war were to be paid for in full either in goods or money, or not to be paid at all?"

The public vote:

In full	44%
In part	21
Not at all	13
No opinion	22

"Do you think England should pay us back in some way for the lend-lease material we sent her?"

Yes	83%
No	12
No opinion	5

Additional questioning in the survey did indicate, however, that not all of the people who think England should pay us back feel strongly about the issue. When voters were told that President Truman had advised against seeking repayment, the proportion saying that we should not require England to make good the debt was 30% in stead of 12% who held that opinion when no authority for the step was cited. Even with President Truman quoted as favoring forgiveness, however, sentiment is 2 to 1 against writing off lend-lease.

Frigidaire Dealers To View New Models

Frigidaire dealers in the West Texas and Eastern New Mexico district will be shown post-war models of the company's refrigerators and electric stoves at a luncheon at noon today in Lubbock hotel, followed by a meeting during the afternoon.

H. L. McGurk, manager of the Frigidaire division of General Motors' Fort Worth branch, will be in charge of the meeting, which is factory conducted. Others from Fort Worth will be S. G. Hagy, household sales manager, and S. J. Miller, commercial and air conditioning manager. A factory representative from Dayton, Ohio, is also expected.

Sixty dealers from this section have been invited to the meeting and to view the new models which will be released soon.

Japs Further Humiliated As Their Emperor Pledges Aid To MacArthur

By FRANK TREMAINE
United Press Staff Writer

TOKYO, Sept. 27—Informed Japanese sources said that Emperor Hirohito, during an unprecedented visit with Gen. Douglas MacArthur today, promised to do everything in his power to insure faithful fulfillment of the surrender terms.

Contents of the conversation between the supreme Allied commander and the emperor who must obey his orders were not divulged, but Japanese sources believed Hirohito also pledged all possible aid in rebuilding Japan into a democratic, peaceful nation.

Breaks Precedent

Hirohito called on MacArthur at the American embassy and talked with him for more than a half hour with only the emperor's interpreter present. The meeting, largely social, broke a precedent of more than 2,000 years.

The bespectacled "son of heaven," immaculately attired in top hat and morning dress, was received by MacArthur in his customary summer khaki uniform with open-necked shirt.

(An NBC broadcast from Tokyo quoted MacArthur's personal photographer as saying that Hirohito bowed to and shook hands with MacArthur upon entering the spacious embassy living room. He said MacArthur extended his hand in greeting.)

Bows To Newsmen

Leaving the embassy, Hirohito broke still another precedent as old as Japanese history. He bowed and tipped his hat to American newsmen. Loyal Japanese who regard Hirohito as a god, dare not even look upon the emperor when he ventures out in public.

For Japan, the visit was Japan's final act of humiliation in the Pacific war. Never before has a Japanese emperor called on a foreign representative, though in 1933 Hirohito went to Tokyo station to meet Emperor Kanteh (Henry Pu Yi), so-called boy emperor of Manchuria.

The visit was Hirohito's own idea. He expressed a desire to meet MacArthur, and arrangements were made.

He rode to the embassy in a big black Rolls Royce, one of five cars in a fast-traveling motorcade with motorcycle escort. Just outside the palace gates, a group of GIs suddenly glimpsed the little man sitting stiffly on the edge of his seat.

One shouted: "There's the guy!"

The emperor's face remained absolutely immobile. Two officials faced him on jump seats. All the Japanese wore striped trousers, bat-wing collars, swallow-tail coats and top hats.

The imperial motorcade entered the embassy grounds after a bumpy three-mile ride over bomb-pocked streets from the imperial palace at 10 a. m. (8 p. m. Wednesday, CWT).

Met By Secretary

Hirohito and his grand chamberlain ascended the steps to the embassy residence together and were met by Brig. Gen. Bonner F. Fellers, military secretary to MacArthur, and Maj. Saubion Bowers, executive officer.

The two American officers escorted Hirohito and his interpreter to MacArthur in the main living room of the embassy. The other Japanese, including the minister of the imperial household, the grand chamberlain and another interpreter, remained in an ante room.

The living room has a rotunda at each end, a fireplace with nine stars on the wall above it, panelled walls and heavy draperies.

Guards Snap To Attention

Nearly 40 minutes after their arrival, Hirohito led his party out of the embassy and into their waiting cars. Armed guards of the First Cavalry division snapped to attention as the cars left.

Guards on the embassy grounds were specially alerted for the occasion, but no unusual number were on hand. They were instructed to permit no American cars below the rank of a five-star general to enter the grounds. MacArthur is the only five-star American general in Japan.

No correspondents were permitted inside the gate. They watched the procession enter and leave the embassy grounds from behind guards armed with carbines.

Elliot Roosevelt Says Texas Radio Stock Is Worth Big Fortune

(By The United Press)

HOOLYWOOD, Sept. 27.—Daily Variety, in a copywrighted article, today quoted Elliot Roosevelt as saying the Texas radio stock he bought back from creditors for two cents on the dollar in 1941 is now worth more than $1,500,000.

Variety quoted Roosevelt as saying part of the stock is now in possession of his former wife, Ruth Goggins of Dallas, Tex., and in trust for the children of their marriage.

Roosevelt, recently placed on the Army Air Forces inactive roster, plans to return to radio in a capacity he cannot yet reveal, Variety said. The son of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt could not be reached for confirmation.

Seven years ago Roosevelt bought up four 100-watt radio stations for the price of "a singing commercial," according to Variety. When he entered the Army, they were just beginning to pay expenses, the story said.

"I didn't want to saddle my estate with notes," the article quoting Roosevelt continued. "The creditors took the whole matter as a tax loss and returned the stock at two cents on the dollar."

Beginning in 1942 the corporation began to show a profit and by the end of 1944 was $400,000 in the black before taxes, the story said.

"This year the profits went even higher," Roosevelt was quoted. "In 1944 my stock went to other stockholders, my ex-wife and in trust for my children of that marriage."

At the time the stock changed hands, Variety quoted Roosevelt as explaining, he (Roosevelt) asked the corporation counsel how much it was worth.

"He replied that conservatively it should bring from $1,500,000 to $2,000,000 (m)," the Magazine said it was told by Roosevelt. "If I fathered a flop in the Texas State Network, I'd like another like it right now."

Solons Probing Discharge Plan

(By The United Press)

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 27.—A five-man Congressional committee one of six such groups appointed by the House military affairs committee observed separation activities yesterday at Randolph Field, AAF personnel distribution command, and Fort Sam Houston.

In charge of the committee is Lt. Col. Earl S. Willis, War department special staff. Others in the party were John J. Sparkman, George M. Grant, Luther Patrick, George W. Andrews, and Albert Rains, all of Alabama.

Arriving from Maxwell Field, Ala., the committee spent a day of intensive observation of the machinery set up for the separation of army personnel from military service.

Maj.-Gen. Robert G. Breene, commanding general, Central Flying Training Command, welcomed the party on its arrival at Randolph Field.

The party will visit the Camp Shelby, Miss., separation center after leaving San Antonio.

Committee To Study Atomic Energy Okayed

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27. (AP)—The Senate unanimously approved and sent to the House today a resolution to set up a joint committee to study the development, control and use of atomic energy.

Without debate, senators passed a resolution by Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich) establishing a 12-member committee to which all legislation dealing with nuclear energy or the atomic bomb would be channeled.

Six members of the Senate and six repersentatives would be appointed by Senator McKellar (D-Tenn), the Senate's presiding officer, and by Speaker Rayburn.

Tech Band, Cheering Unit To Attend Game

The Matador Band, the Saddle Tramps, (pep squad organized for upper - classmen), a number of other students and faculty members will represent Texas Tech at the Raider-Texas A. & M. football game Saturday night in San Antonio.

Added to the spirit of the occasion this year will be the local school's ambition to get revenge for signs that were found decorating the campus Thursday morning.

Signs Painted On Campus

Some enterprising Aggie, (it is now between semesters at College Station and vacation time for students there), had decorated the Tech college bookstore with huge letters, "AMC," in whitewash across the brick wall. It will be some years before that mark leaves. Another sign directly in front of the Administration building said bluntly, "Texas Aggies beat the h — out of Texas Tech."

Sixty-six members of the Matador band will leave Lubbock early Friday morning for San Antonio in two chartered busses. They will arrive there in time to play for the South Texas Ex-Student association barbecue, to be given this evening in San Antonio.

The group, 26 girls and 40 boys of the better Tech band, will travel in two chartered busses. They will be accompanied by D. O. Wiley, director of the band, Mrs. Wiley and Miss Mary Frances Hill of the physical education department.

Pep Rally Slated

Saturday morning the band will meet other Texas Tech upperclassmen, who plan to leave Lubbock at 12 midnight tonight, at the Bluebonnet hotel for a pep rally. The combined student group will tour the city and stage pep rallies in several down-town hotel lobbies.

Troy Caldwell, president of the student council, said the number of Tech upperclassmen who will attend the game is indefinite, depending upon how many obtain written approval of their parents and whose scholastic average warrants a leave of absence.

This group of students will be under the sponsorship of the student council and two faculty members Cecil Ayres, assistant professor of agronomy, and Dorothy Rylander, librarian of the engineering division.

Headed by Dr. Wm. M. Whyburn, Tech president, a group of faculty members will be guests of the San Antonio chamber of commerce at the Tech-A&M game. Dr. Whyburn will arrive in San Antonio today, to be present for the barbecue, and will be joined at Saturday's game by Dean W. L. Stangel, Dean and Mrs. James G. Allen and Dr. and Mrs. Fred Standefer.

Foreign Economic Setup Changed As Truman Re-Delegates Powers

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27 — President Truman today ordered the Foreign Economic administration terminated and transferred many of its functions to the State, Commerce and Agriculture departments and the Reconstruction Finance corporation.

Lend-Lease Affected

Transferred to the State department are the FEA functions involving administration of the Lend-Lease act, participation by the United tSates in UNRRA, and buying of certain strategic materials in liberated areas.

To the RFC were transferred the Rubber Development corporation, Petroleum Reserves corporation, and the U. S. Commercial compny, as well as functions dealing with procurement of commodities abroad except for certain commodities over which the Agriculture department will have control.

The Commerce department will have charge of export control, the technical industrial intelligence committee working now under a directtive of the U. Action Indicated

Members of the commission indicated that they contemplated taking action on this request along with other legal procedure required to obtain right-of-way for the proposed widening.

Expressing themselves concerned over the fact that a recent ruling of the Texas State Railroad Commission deprived the city of jurisdiction over passenger transportation between the city and the municipal airport, and excluded taxicab service between the city and the airport, the commissioners moved to appeal to the State Commission to reconsider its ruling.

On September 17, the State Railroad Commission granted the application of W. L. Coker, a Lubbock disabled war veteran, for a franchise to operate a bus service between the airport and the city, the transcript of the hearing having been submitted to the state commission on September 11.

Filed Prior To Ruling

The commissioners are asking that the ruling of the State Railroad commission be reconsidered on the grounds that their brief drawn by City Attorney Vaughn Wilson, was filed prior to the ruling, that the airport is three miles instead of four miles from the city as Coker's legal representatives are asserted to have contended, that there are valid reasons for considering the area of the airport a "suburb" of Lubbock, and that the present ruling will exclude taxicab service.

It is the contention of the City commissioners that a regular 24-hour "call and demand service" is needed between the city and the airport to accomodate air travelers who arrive by private plane or who miss the bus and wish to catch an out-bound plane.

Said Not Adequate

They contend that a bus service, operating on a fixed schedule as provided in the railroad commission's order, is not adequate to meet the need of air travelers.

Homer Grant of the City zoninging commission appeared before the commissioners with four zoning recommendations. His proposals were: (1) Establishing of building set-back lines on all highways and major streets within the city; (2) Amending of section XIV of Ordinance No. 661, or side-yard regulations, so that buildings in the business zones can be constructed on the property line, instead of five feet inside the line as is now required.

He said that many owners of business buildings would prefer to have them on the line instead of having a space left between the buildings, since this space frequently becomes clogged with paper, trash and other inflammable material. The zoning commission be said believed that this amendment to the ordinance would help to prevent fires.

Hearing Date Set

The commissioners set 2 p. m., October 16 as the date for hearing on the proposed amendments.

A petition, signed by four citizens, asking the commission to enact a nuisance law to eliminate the maintenance of sleep distrubing kennels in supposedly quiet residential neighborhoods, was considered by the commissioners without any action being taken.

Protesting that dogs maintained by N. A. Cox, of 2314 Twenty-ninth street, disturbed their nights, J. N. MacQuire, 2313 Twenty-eighth, J. E. Cozby, 2311 Twenty-eighth, H. E. Brown, 2315 Twenty-eighth, and W J. Burt, 2309 Twenty-eighth, asked the commissioners: "Cannot we have a nuisance law that will give us some redress through the courts."

Have Redress In Courts

Attorney Wilson advised the commissioners that the petitioners did have redress through courts —that they could seek an injunction to abate the alleged annoyance.

Six taxicab operators gathered in the commission room to hear a discussion on the applications of Primitivo E. Romo to operate a taxicab service to Mexican town and of Charles Deo to operate a taxi to the Negro section. After Attorney B. B. Chappel, representing the City Cab company, argued before the matter was continued that the city could not legally grant any taxicab franchises other than "general permits," for operation in all parts of the city.

"The city," he declared, "cannot grant certain limited franchises for the operation of cabs between downtown Lubbock and Mexican town, or between the Negro section and other parts of the city."

Industrial Tracks

A petiton of the Fort Worth, Denver & South Plains railway for permission to lay a 750-foot industrial track in an alley, between Twenty-seventh and Twenty-sixth street, was considered and tabled. City Manager Smith pointed out that the city would have to have time in which to lay sewer and other utility lines under the proposed spur track. The commissioners decided further investigation was necessary.

The commissioners approved elimination of the building set-back lines on College avenue between Fourth and Nineteenth, and authorized the drawing of an ordinance, providing for the zoning of the property recently taken into city limits in the Wheelock Second addition and the rezoning of the "L" district immediately south of East Twenty-sixth — from East Avenue A to the Santa Fe right-of-way. An ordinance, zoning the Phillips addition, was also ordered drafted.

Mayor Ribble presided at the meeting, Commissioners W. B. Price and Fred Childress participating.

Westerners Play Big Spring Tonight In First Home Tilt

Lubbock grid fans will be given the first chance to see Coach Dixie White's Westerners tonight when they kickoff with Coach John Dibrell's Big Spring Steers at 8:15 o'clock in Tech stadium for the first home game of the year for the schoolboys.

Little is known here of the Steers, but the club is reported to be light and scrappy, and likely to give the Westerners a run for their money.

Cochron Sparks Steers

The visitors are paced by Hugh Cochron, 150 pounds of dynamite, and rated as one of the top backfield stars of District 3-AA. Cochron is the spearhead of the Big Spring attack, and a veteran performer that Lubbock players will well remember from last year.

The Westerners tapered off Thursday afternoon, taking it easy with only a light drill in which they ran through plays to be used tonight. At the close of the week's work, Coach White expressed himself as very much displeased with the showing made by the boys during the week, and looked upon tonight's opener with a pessimistic view.

The Westerners will start the game tonight without two veterans of the forward wall, both starting tackles being sidelined with injuries and illness.

Tackles Are Out

O. C. Foster, rated as one of the top linemen in District 1-AA, was out Wednesday with the flu. He was on the sidelines Thursday, but was not in uniform. Wayne Cobb, the other regular tackle, is also out with a cracked rib. Neither boy is expected to see any action tonight.

Ticket sales at the high school have been brisk, indicating a big crowd will be on hand for the kickoff tonight. Tickets will be on sale at the school all day today, starting at 8 a. m. and until 4:30 p. m. The tickets will go on sale at the stadium at 6 o'clock.

Officials named for tonight's game will be Prentice Walker, referee; Pat Murphy, head linesman; Morley Jennings, umpire, and C. I. "Stoney" Wall field judge.

Season's Records

The season's records of the two clubs show Big Springs with a win and a loss in two games. The Westerners show a loss and a tie in the same number of games.

Big Spring opened the season with an impressive 37-0 win over Tahoka. Last week, the Steers lost to high scoring Cisco, 12-0. The Westerners were thumped 26-7 at Odessa, then came back to tie San Angelo, 13-13.

Comparing the scores leaves little to choose between the two clubs, however, the Westerners have played the tougher foes in the two games.

Coach White indicated that his starting lineup would not vary much from the regular crew, except at the tackles, where Don Holton will move into Foster's slot, and Kemper McGowan will take over for Wayne Cobb.

This would indicate that Robert Collier and Gerald Davis would start at ends, Holton and McGowan at tackles, Stoney Wall and Ike Modawell at guards, Charles Presley at center, John Paul Jones, George Brewer, Don "Speck" Austin and John Lanham at the backfield slots.

For Big Spring, the starters likely will be Douglas and Wright at ends, Harris and Hollis at tackles, Robb and Casey at guards, Clinkscales at center, and Barron, Cochron, Hardy and Miller in the backfield.

Ladies Complete Opening Round

The first round of play for the womens championship at the Lubbock Country club was completed Thursday afternoon, and all second round matches must be played by Sunday night, it was announced by Herb Schroeder, club pro.

Play in the championship flight was close all the way, with Mrs. M. E. Wagenfeuhr winning over Mrs. W. F. Helwig, one up, 19 holes. Mrs. M. K. Dean nosed out Miss Mary Jarrott, two up, and Mrs C. M. Trout won by the some margin over Rose Mary Crawford. Mrs. Roy Autry won over Mrs. Bill Freeman, 2 and 1.

For the second round, Mrs. Wagnerfeuhr will play Mrs. Morley Jennings, medalist; Mrs. Dean will play Mrs. F. L. McRee; Mrs. Trout will play Mrs. George Soash, and Mrs. Autry will play Mrs. J. H. Stiles.

In the nine-hole flight, Mrs. Ennis Roberts, medalist, defaulted to Mrs. J. B. McCauley. Mrs. Sam Strong won over Mrs. John Markham, 3 and 2, Mrs. Herb Schroeder won over Mrs. Lewis Kerr, 4 and 3, and Mrs. Charles Hoyt won over Mrs. Walter Granberry, 4 and 2.

Both Cowhand Clubs Play On Road Today

The Lubbock Cowhands take to the gridiron this afternoon and tonight on two foreign fields, an afternoon game at Abernathy and a night game with the Plainview B team at Plainview.

Coach Marlin "Shorty" Hayhurst will take his Cowhands Gold to Plainview for a battle under the arcs, while the Plainview Bulldogs are playing at Electra.

It is understood that this will be the first game of the year for the Pups at Plainview, while Hayhurst's eleven has two games under its belt. The Golds outscored a battling Post club in the opener, to win a 21-13 battle, then last week fell before a strong Abernathy team, 6 to 0.

Coach Curtis Barrett will take his Cowhands Black to Abernathy this afternoon to battle the Antelopes at 2:30 o'clock. The Blacks also have a .500 record for the year, losing the opener to Meadow, 27-7, and coming back last week to beat Ropesville, 7-0.

The Blacks will try to reap revenge for the Golds this week, and at the same time stop a two game winning streak of the Antelopes. The Abernathy eleven has won over Lockney and the Cowhand Golds this season, to establish themselves as a strong contender in the Class B ranks.

Area Grid Card Is Big Schedule

Football on the South Plains this week offers a full schedule of tilts that should provide some real fireworks, and also show a trend in the way several races will go especially the District 1-AA group.

The spotlight will be on the Plainview Bulldogs, who invade Electra tonight. The Bulldogs looked potent last week in bumping Childress, a team Amarillo was hard pressed to beat. Electra pressed the Pampa Harvesters hard, and the game tonight will offer direct comparisons of three clubs.

Other 1-AA Tilts

Pampa has a breather this week with Class A Phillips, while Borger takes its first crack at Class AA foes, playing the Quanah Indians at Quanah. Amarillo draws the Vernon Lions, a team always hard to beat, and the Brownfield Cubs takes their unblemished record to Roswell, N. M., to play New Mexico Military Institute Colts (High school division.) There seems to be some question as to when this game will be played. The Cub schedule says Friday, and Roswell sources claim Saturday is the day of the game.

The Lamesa Golden Tornados of District 3-AA will face Class A Kermit, at Lamesa tonight, with the Kermit club expected to offer the Windstorm a rather rugged evening.

Conference games will feature the Class A slate, with four conference games scattered over two districts. Heading the list will be the battle at Littlefield tonight.

The Littlefield Wildcats have scored 161 points in two games, and face undefeated Morton. Listed in Morton's wins is one conference game, this over Muleshoe last week.

Other games in District 5-A will find Slaton moving into Denver City for the feature battle. Slaton has won its only conference tilt, while the defending champion Mustangs will be starting conference play.

Post, another winner in the conference opener last week, will play Seagraves, at Post, in another game that will be closely watched. O'Donnell, loser last week in a conference opener with Sundown, will go to Andrews, where Coach Tubb will start his eleven on the conference trail.

In other games, Seymour plays at Spur, Petersburg goes to Floydada, Matador plays at Crowell and Crosbyton plays at Frenship this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Chicubs Sweep Pair Off Cincinnati Reds

CINCINNATI, Sept. 27. (AP)—Following their usual procedure whenvere the Chicago Cubs come to town, the Reds rolled over and played dead today and the Cubs climbed over them twice in a record - wrecking spree that brought Jolly Cholly Grimm's Grizzlies within two games of the National League pennant.

Rolling along on Hank Wyse's classy three-hit curving and the eight-hit pitching of Paul Derringer, the Cubs clouted the rocky Reds, 3-1 and 7-4, in today's twin win.

Today's two games gave the Cubs a mark of 21 victories against one loss for the year's campaigning against the Reds, to tie a mark set first by the Cubs way back in1909 against the Boston Braves, and equalled since by the Yankees of '27 against the Browns and Pirates of '37—yep, the Reds.

At the same time, the sweep completed the 19th time this season the Cubs had made both ends meet in a doubleheader, and this broke their own twin-win record of 18 which they set recently.

The Cubs' pleasant afternoon was marred by an accident to second baseman Don Johnson in the seventh inning of the opener, when the Reds scored their only run. Making a desperate dive for a hit from Al Lakeman's bat, Johnson crashed into Umpire Babe Pinelli and banged heavily onto the infield dirt. Hedped from the field, he was taken to a hospital where examination revealed he had pulled a muscle in his neck.

Giants Sign Ott For Five Years

NEW YORK, Sept. 27 (AP)—Mel Ott, completing his 20th season with the New York Giants and his fourth as manager, signed a contract today to pilot the club for the next five years.

Ott, holder of 10 National League marks, more than any other player, is one of the few players to jump into major league baseball without minor league experience.

The 36-year-old native of Louisiana, only five feet nine inches tall and never weighing more than 170 pounds, has hit 510 homers including 21 this year, trailing only Babe Ruth and Jimmy Foxx in this department. In addition every time he draws a base on balls, clouts an extra base, scores a run or drives one in, he sets a new league mark.

Ott joined the Giants in 1925 as a catcher during the managerial regime of John J. McGraw, and made an immediate hit with the Little Napoleon. McGraw converted the youngster into an outfielder the following year where he held forth ever since except for occasional excursions at second and third base.

Master Mel, as he is affectionally known, was appointed manager of the Giants Dec. 2, 1941, succeeding Bill Terry. His lifetime batting average is .306, the exact figure he owns this season in 135 games.

LAAF Heads For Tilt With Lobos

The LAAF Fliers will take off at noon today on their first football mission of the season against the high-scoring University of New Mexico Lobos, Saturday night at Albuquerque.

Coach Lem Clark is taking 33 gridders with him and expects to arrive in time for a workout under the lights Friday night before pitting his Fliers against the heavily favored high-stepping Lobos the following evening.

With nine of his first string men newly arrived on the field, and only eight days of accelerated practice and conditioning under their belts, Coach Clark isn't making any predictions on the forthcoming Lobo game.

"After seeing the University of New Mexico eleven crush Eastern New Mexico College 78-0 last weekend, using their first team only 11 minutes and a total of five teams in all, I'm convinced that the game will be a fast, rough and tough affair," said Clark.

The Fliers finished up two days of strenuous practice sessions with the emphasia on play making and polishing their offensive tactics in an effort to iron out the mistakes that popped up all over the place last Tuesday night when the LAAFers held their first supervised scrimmage work-out with the Texas Tech Red Raiders.

Although the Fliers go into combat Saturday night with a slight weight advantage in the line, they have the very short end of odds in view of the Lobos' impressive spree last weekend. Coach Willie Barnes' Navy trainees, led by their high-scoring halfback, Don Rumley, had an easy time of it with the New Mexico Teachers.

The probable starting lineup for LAAF will find Eddie Glinski and Chuck Johnston at the ends, Bob Gaynor and Bob Harmos at tackle, E. L. Schultz and Chuck Klatt teaming up in the guard positions with big Bill Norby, 205 pound former Minnesota gridder at the pivot position. In the backfield, team captain "Bud" Devine and Milan Kosanovich at halfback, aggressive Jake Cristil calling the signals, and husky 212-pound Bob Williams at the fullback position.

The Fliers will return Sunday morning for a short practice session on tap immediately upon arrival, after which they will begin Monday morning to prepare for their first home game this season, next Saturday night, October 6th, at Texas Tech stadium, when they play host to the Amarillo AAF eleven.

The first Liberty ship, the Patrick Henry, was launched at Baltimore Sept. 27, 1941.

Tech Traveling Squad Named For Aggie Tilt; Turner Ill

Chances of the Texas Tech Red Raiders to win the Saturday night encounter against the Aggies in San Antonio took a drop late yesterday when Co-Captain Otis Turner, first string center, became ill. He was taken to the West Texas hospital for overnight treatment and may be unable to accompany the squad. Coach Dell Morgan expressed hope the illness could be whipped quickly and that Turner will be available for at least part of the game.

Morgan plans to shift Floyd Lawhorn, first-string center of last year, back to the center slot against the Aggies if Turner does not recover. Lawhorn this season has been at guard. Reeves Morenburley Graham freshman who played so flashily against the LAAF Flyers Tuesday night, probably will start at guard if Lawhorn is forced to work at center.

A squad of 32 men, including Turner, was announced last night to travel to San Antonio on the bus leaving the Tech campus at 7 a. m. Morgan ordered the following to be on hand:

Ends—R. W. Moyers, Lubbock; Stanley Mitchell, San Angelo; Billy Bob Harris, Lubbock; J. E. Brantner, Leland, Miss.; Bill Kelley, Idalou; and Frank Ottmers, Fredericksburg.

Tackles—Joe Snodgrass, Brownfield; Harold Kiger, Wichita Falls; Clyde Black, Ben Franklin; James Gimmell, Littlefield; and John C. Martin, Lubbock.

Guards — Lawhorn, Temple; Moran, Graham; Douglas McSwane, San Angelo; Russell Birdwell, Bossier City, La.; Charles Walsh, Graham; and Mac Weaver, Temple.

Centers—Turner, Wink; Jamec Cleckler, Weslasco; and Johnny Staewan, San Antonio.

Backs—Arthur Shaham, Graham; Don Davis, Tulia; Bennie Tidwell, Hobbs, N. M.; Cecil Norris, Beaumont; Jack Hinson, San Antonio; T. M. Cox, Muleshoe; Gene Hardey, Hugoton, Kan.; Jack Dillon, Winslow, Ariz.; Jiggs Jackson, Monument, N. M.; Walter Schlinkman, Dumas; Dick Wiggins, Hobbs, N. M.; and Tommie Dutton, Odessa.

Accompanying the team in addition to Morgan will be Assistant Coach Polk Robison, Manager G. W. Warden, M. F. Peters, photographer; and Clark Schooley, sports publicity man.

Morgan last night was undecided on his starting lineup but indicated he will use virtually the same eleven which opened the season last weekend against Southwestern university.

Yesterday afternoon's workout was concentrated on perfecting running plays and defense against Aggie pass plays.

Aside from Turner all members of the Raider squad are in top form.

Mighty Carrier Fleet Would Be Backbone Of Proposal For Navy

By TOM REEDY
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27—A postwar aircraft carrier fleet 16 times the size of America's flattop forces at Pearl Harbor time was urged today by the House Naval Affairs committee.

A resolution was adopted unanimously favoring a Navy of 1079 combat ships.

This force would include 116 carriers.

The Navy had just seven on Dec. 7, 1941—the Wash, Hornet, Lexington, Saratoga and Big-E, the famous Enterprise which pulled into Pearl Harbor soon after the Japs had struck.

Emphasis On Carriers

Thus the emphasis for postwar defense would be on carrier task forces, just as the U. S. offensive in the Pacific was built around that arm of attack under Admirals Nimitz, Halsey, Mitscher and McCain.

The committee's findings were in accord with the testimony of Secretary of the Navy Forrestal when hearings on the postwar fleet opened.

The committee suggested the giant force be divided three ways. One third would be fully manned, ready to go anywhere. Another third would be tied up but painted, oiled and set for an emergency, the remaining third would be decommissioned.

Such a fleet would be the greatest peacetime aggregation in history. It would be only 220 fewer combat vessels than the present mighty armada.

No Binding Effects

The committee's resolution isn't binding, of course. It simply shows the sentiment of that group and would have to be adopted by both House and Senate before it gains real weight.

Chairman Vinson (D-Ga) styled the action a "fixed goal" toward which the committee wants the nation to work.

Vinson estimated the annual cost of maintaining a fleet of the size favored by the committee at between $2,500,000,000 and $4,000,000,000.

tary supplies would last longer than the "next week" estimate given by Schwellenbach.

Earlier in the day Schwellenbach—speaking through a labor department spokesman—pledged the government to continued conciliation rather than plant seizure to keep refineries running.

His stand strengthened the signs of an administration policy not to seize plants or industries for the sole reason that their labor troubles delay the nation's reconversion, although such power exists.

On White House authority it was learned that seizure of oil fields or refineries would be ordered only if the Army or Navy declared the stoppage to be harming military opeartions.

Kight Funeral Plans Not Yet Completed

Funeral plans for Mrs. H. H. Kight, 58, of 2208 Eighteenth, still were incomplete Thursday night, Sanders Funeral home reported.

It was expected, however, that services would be held at 10:30 o'clock Saturday morning in the Broadway Church of Christ with Dr. M. Noryel Young, minister, officiating.

The body will lie in state in Sanders chapel until shortly before time for services. The casket will not be opened at the church, it was announced.

Mrs. Kight, mother of Col. Richard T. Kight, who has served as plane pilot for the late Wendell Willkie and former Vice President Henry Wallace, died Wednesday afternoon in St. Mary's hospital a few hours after suffering a stroke at her home.

For every 100 men inducted into the U. S. Army, there have been 170 tooth extractions and 740 fillings.

Anton Man Liberated From Jap Prison Camp

Pfc. Claude Thomas, jr., has informed his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Thomas, sr., of Anton, that he has been liberated recently from a prison camp in Fukuoka, Japan, and is now awaiting transportation home from Manila. He did not give the date of liberation.

Pfc. Thomas, who joined the Lubbock National guard unit in 1940, is a former Texas Tech student. He was captured in the fall of Java and was a prisoner in Hokkaido camp before being moved to Japan in 1944.

The telegram told his parents that he was in good health and would be home within the next ten days. A card written in April, 1944, was received by the family this month.

Water Treaty Given Mexico's Approval

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 27. (AP)—The U. S.-Mexico water treaty was ratified by the Senate today without reservations. The vote was unanimous.

The treaty now will become effective, since the U. S. Senate previously ratified it with minor reservations or interpretations. Mexico by ratifying the pact, accepts these.

Water of the Rio Grande, Colorado and Tijuana rivers are divided between the United States and Mexico under the agreement.

The pact was approved without debate after two Senate foreign relations committees erported it to be constitutional, equitable, and the nation's benefit.

War-weary cars need tires of Preferred* Quality

Your car—and every other car in America today—is a used car. Wheel parts and brakes show the effects of wear that impose extra burdens on your tires. Look at the tread on your tires for proof of this fact.

Your replacement tire must be a much more rugged tire than one built for new car "standard equipment". It will have to be better to give satisfactory service on a war-weary car. That's why Dayton has developed the *preferred quality tire—the Thorobred.

Into the Dayton Thorobred has gone the technical skill of over a quarter of a century of practical experience in mastering the use of synthetic rubber.

So, when you part with your precious new tire certificate, insist on the *preferred quality Dayton Thorobred built especially for war-weary cars by experts in synthetic rubber.

*Preferred The preferred tire is the tire you personally select to replace the mass-production-built tire that originally came on your car.
The Dayton Thorobred is a preferred tire built to special high-quality standards to withstand the greater punishment given tires by war-weary cars.

Within walking distance

IT'S not even too far to hobble, when you're leaving the blank walls of a hospital room for a brief while, on your way to a place of laughter and song and play.

The welcoming doors of a U.S.O. lounge club are just outside the hospital grounds—at more than 500 hospitals.

Here, at the house of smiles, war-shattered veterans escape that hospital routine, from the smell of ether and disinfectants. Here they enjoy their favorite phonograph records, today's newspaper, the checkerboard that you gave them when you gave to your County War Chest.

These are little things, but they're good medicine! The nearby U.S.O. lounge is theater, club—almost home—to the shocked and hurt boys whose present home is a hospital room. And your dollars keep these lounges going—the dollars you give to your County War Chest.

It's time to give again—for the men who gave a lot. Give generously! Make your donation twice as big—the need is more than twice as great.

You help many who can't help themselves, yet you are asked for only one gift. Let your heart decide how big it should be.

Emperor's Visit Is Major Blow To Hero Worship Of Jap People

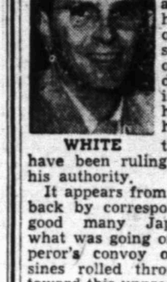

By JAMES D. WHITE
Associated Press Staff Writer

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 17—Something in Americans, perhaps the thing that makes them throw pop bottles at umpires, gets an unholy kick out of Emperor Hirohito's visit to General MacArthur.

The important thing, of course, is what it means to the Japanese.

That will depend upon what the Emperor means to them.

Obviously, he means different things to many Japanese—an object of worship to the huge, simple mass of his subjects; a God, mostly, but also a political figurehead at the top of Japanese life, something like our own president is to us. He is also a very handy guy to have around for the oligarchs who have been ruling Japan through his authority.

WHITE

It appears from accounts cabled back by correspondents that a good many Japanese realized what was going on when the Emperor's convoy of black limousines rolled through the streets toward this unprecedented humbling of Japanese pride before a conqueror.

Head of Empire

The correspondents asked questions of these merely embarressed Japanese, and the answers appear to confirm the suspicions held by a good many observers of Japan as to just what the Emperor stands for in Japanese minds.

When you put all the claptrap about him in a basket and shake it around, the idea which stands out most prominently is that the Emperor serves as a sort of walking family crest for the Japanese nation. He is kept carefully secluded, surrounded with all sorts of fancy stories about his inviolability and graciousness and what not. Invisible mostly, he stands for the glory of Japan, the power, the superiority, the uniqueness which every Japanese likes to think of as his own.

Now the Japanese already has been humbled by the occupation. The Emperor's visit is but the final, most conclusive proof of that humbling process which goes on all around him.

Baby Outsmarts Crew And Dodges Disaster

SEALY, Tex., Sept. 27. (AP) — Early last Tuesday night as a Cane Belt train branch of the Santa Fe that runs between Sealy and Natagorda was pulling into the outskirts of Bay City, Engineer M. E. Brooks and Fireman Eldridge Williams noticed an object on the track they thought might be a small animal.

At a distance of about 300 feet they discovered the object was a baby. Brooks applied the emergency brakes and Williamson quickly climbed to the cow-catcher so he could attempt to pick up the child. Just as he was getting set to grab the baby, dressed only in a diaper, it flattened out on the track, preventing the fireman from picking it up.

Expecting the worst, Williamson hurried back to the rear of the train. There sat 18 months old Larry Head—without a scratch.

Williamson handed Larry to Mrs. W. W. Head, his mother, who lives adjacent to the track. Mrs. Head exclaimed "if you ever do that again!"

FORT WORTH MAN KILLED

Groce Quits Draft Board Post; Protests Use Of 18-Year-Olds

The resignation of Freelan W. Groce, secretary of Selective Service board No. 1 for three years, has been submitted in a protest against the drafting of 18 and 19-year-olds for a foreign army of occupation.

In a letter addressed to Dr. J. T. Hutchinson, board chairman, he set forth two objections to such a draft: Youths would be kept out of school at a formative age that, to Groce, would mean a deficiency of leadership 20 years hence; and the nation's youth would be subjected to temptations not uplifting to it.

Groce cited service himself in World War I as a predicate for his convictions. He fought in France seven months, then remained in the army of occupation eight months.

No Time For Mischief

"When you're fighting you don't have time to get into mischief," he said by way of amplifying his letter to newsmen.

In his letter, he phrased his objections thus:

"Now that the government says for us to take the 18- and 19-year-old boys and put them in foreign service and take them out of school, I do not feel that way about it. I spent eight months in the army of occupation at the age of 23, and I am not going to send any mother's son to the army of occupation when he is only 18 or 19.

"We have taken the 18-year-old boys out of school for three years already. Now it appears such boys are to be taken out for two more years. That would be five years without an education. What will our country be 20 years from now, when this age becomes the heads of the nation. The experience they gain in the Army and on foreign soil is not to uplifting, as I see it.

'So please accept my resignation before we send any 18-year-old boy to the Army after victory."

Work Harmonious

Groce said his work with Dr. Hutchinson and George C. Wolffarth, others on the board, had been in harmony, and unanimous" and that my conscience has been clear over every action we have taken." He said his appreciation for the untiring work and guidance of our secretary, Mrs. Viola Younger."

Groce has a 23-year-old son, Sgt. Wayne D. Groce, who left the freshman class in business administration at Texas Tech for 42 months in service, 37 of it in the Pacific with the 40th infantry division. The youth, unmarried, has 92 points and expects to be sent home when transportation becomes available. Young Groce has not been home since his induction. He will become associated with his father, at Groce Furniture company, upon his return, should he elect not to return to school.

Whether Groce will be replaced or whether the board will function with only two members awaits later announcement. Mrs. Younger was in touch this morning with national headquarters of Selective service.

Speedup In Used Fat Collections Expected

DALLAS, Sept. 27. (AP) — Speed up in used fat collections from kitchens in seven southwest states was predicted here today by Latham White, acting regional director of the USDA production and marketing administration, following OPA's announcement the point bonus had been increased from two to four red ration points per pound.

This year housewives in Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Louisiana, New Mexico, Colorado and Kansas have turned in 5,500,000 pounds of used fats, White said.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills. Adv

Peach Pickles Made With Syrup, Honey

FRUITS play an important role in the family's daily diet and housewives are looking forward to winter days when fresh fruits will be unavailable at the market and are putting up those at hand. The lack of sugar should not prevent the canning of a good supply of fruits and berries because they can be successfully canned without sugar and sweetened when the jars are opened.

In response to several requests, the food editor today is presenting two methods for pickling peaches, the one substituting corn syrup; the other using honey.

PEACH SWEET PICKLE

2 gallons peaches
1 gallon corn syrup
1 quart strong vinegar
2 sticks cinnamon bark
1 tablespoon eaeh of cloves and allspice

Select firm fruit (white clingstone peaches are best). Wash well, remove thin skin. Cook spices and syrup until thick, pour over fruit and let stand overnight. In the morning drain off juice and boil until thick, add fruit. Do not stir but keep fruit under syrup until tender. Pack into hot, sterile jars, cover with the juice. Seal, polish and label.

HONEY PEACH PICKLES

8 pounds firm fruit
3 cups honey
3 cups strong vinegar
2 cups water
2 tablespoons broken stick cinnamon
1 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon each of whole cloves and whole allspice.

Mix liquid ingredients. Add spices tied in a bag. Add salt. Bring to a boil. Add fruit and cook until tender. Let stand overnight. In the morning remove spices. Drain syrup from fruit and boil syrup rapidly until thickened. Pack fruit into clean, hot sterilized jars. Pour syrup over fruit, filling jars to the top. Seal tightly with hot lids.

These recipes are from the Lubbock county home demonstration agent's office.

Bread And Butter Pickles

25 medium-size cucumbers
10 medium-size onions
½ cup salt
1 pint vinegar
½ pint water.
1 cup honey
1 cup sugar
3 teaspoons mustard seed
3 teaspoons celery seed
½ teaspoon turmeric.

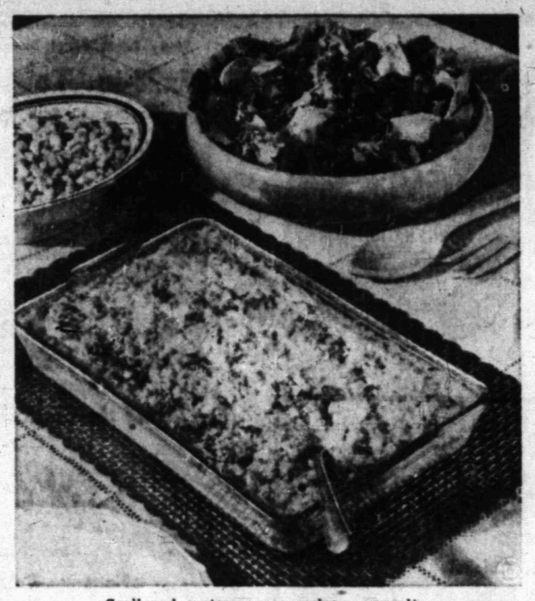

Arrange the cucumbers and onions, which have been sliced medium thick, in layers, sprinkling salt between each layer. Allow to stand 3 to 4 hours. Drain. Combine remaining ingredients. Bring slowly to boiling. Add onions and cucumbers and cook for about 5 minutes. Pack in hot, sterilized jars. Seal. Yield: 10 pints.

Mexene Deviled Eggs

6 eggs, hard boiled
2 tsp. mayonnaise
½ tsp. Mexene seasoning'
Salt to taste

Prepare eggs for stuffing; remove yolks and mix in above condiments, refill whites of eggs and garnish with dash of Mexene seasoning.

To save time, scald dishes with boiling water and leave them on rack to dry instead of wiping them dry.

Scalloped oysters are a welcome novelty.

That "R" Month Is Time For Oysters

By GAYLORD MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

OYSTERS "R" back in season. Use them in stews, scalloped, fried in butter, or just as is with lemon, or with cocktail sauce. They are valuable as food, important as good eating for all the family. Men like them.

SCALLOPED OYSTERS
(4 servings)

1 pint Bluepoint oysters
2 cups rolled cracker crumbs (unsalted)
½ teaspoon salt
1-8 teaspoon pepper
½ cup melted butter or margarine
1-4 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1 3-4 cups milk

Arrange ½ of oysters in bottom of buttered shallow baking dish. Combine cracker crumbs, salt, pepper, and butter, tossing lightly to mix; sprinkle ½ over oysters. Arrange remaining oysters on crumbs. Add Worcestershire sauce to milk and pour over contents of dish. Sprinkle remaining crumbs on top. Bake in hot oven (450 degrees F.) 30 minutes, or until crumbs are browned. Serve at once.

Oyster Cocktails

Use 1 pint oysters. Allow 6 oysters for each serving. Arrange in shallow paper cups or cocktail glasses. Serve with any of the following cocktail sauces.

Chili Cocktail Sauce
(3-4 cup)

2-3 cup chili sauce
1 tablespoon horseradish
2 tablespoons lemon juice
½ teaspoon grated lemond rind
1-4 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
3 drops tabasco
1-4 teaspoon salt

Combine ingredients in order given and chill thoroughly.

Onion Cocktail Sauce
(1 cup)

½ cup finely chopped onions
3-4 cup vinegar
2 teaspoons peppercorns
½ teaspoon salt

Combine ingredients in order given and let stand several hours to blend. Strain, reserving liquor for sauce or, if hotter sauce is desired, use sauce unstrained.

Oyster Pie

4 tablespoons fat
1-3 cup flour
1 cup milk
½ teaspoon salt
1-4 teaspoon celery salt
Dash of pepper
1 teaspoon lemon juice
1 pint Bluepoint oysters
1 recipe Baking powder biscuit dough

Melt fat in saucepan and stir in flour. Add milk gradually and cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Add seasonings, lemon juice, and oysters. Line bottom and sides of small casserole with biscuit dough, rolled 1-8 inch thick. Fill with oyster mixture and cover with rolled dough. Press edges of dough together with fork dipped in flour and make slits in top to permit escape of steam. Bake in hot oven (450 degrees F.)

Connally 'Tired' Of Insults To Congress And Minority Pressure

WASHINGTON Sept. 27. (AP)—Chairman Tom Connally, D., Tex., of the Senate Foreign Relations committee is "tired" of people's insults to Congress.

Furthermore he said, he doesn't like the way "minority groups" try to "bulldoze things through" Congress.

Connally rebuked Miss Anna Lord Strauss, national league of women voters president, for urging that the Senate be stripped of its exclusive treaty-ratification power in favor of a Senate-House majority vote on such matters.

Asks "What's Wrong"

Testifying before a Senate Judiciary committee hearing on a proposed constitutional amendment to give the House a share in ratifying treaties, Miss Strauss said the present system made it impossible to formulate a "dynamic" foreign policy.

"What's wrong with our foreign policy?" Connally demanded.

"I think that if our representatives abroad—" she began.

"You haven't answered my question," Connally interrupted. "I asked you to kindly tell us what's wrong with our foreign policy?"

Serious Charge

Miss Strauss also charged that development of the two-party system resulted in "some Senators voting against a treaty presented by the opposite party, regardless of the merits of the treaty."

"Now just a minute, young lady," Connally cut in. "That's a pretty serious charge. Here you're coming up with a statement that we're all a bunch of crooks."

"I didn't mean —— "protested Miss Strauss.

But Connally, irate, demanded names of Senators "who will do that." Miss Strauss could name none, and Connally bellowed:

Tired Of Insults

"I'm so tired of people coming up here and insulting the Senate and the House . . it's getting so a lot of minority groups think they can come up here and bulldoze things through . . . because they don't agree with you they think you're crooks or scoundrels."

Earlier, both Sen. J. Fulbright, D, Ark., and Chairman Hatton W. Sumners, D, Tex., of the House Judiciary committee had urged amendment of the constitution to have treaties ratified by a majority vote of both houses.

Fulbright said the current method is "an obstacle to our playing a positive and leading role in the affairs of the world."

Counsel Named By Pearl Harbor Group

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27. (AP)—Congressional investigators of Pearl Harbor picked William D. Mitchell, attorney general in the Hoover administration, as their counsel today.

This cleared the way for an early start on the actual investigation since the joint Senate-House committee is counting on its counsel to do most of the spade-work.

August Shows Good Business In Texas

AUSTIN, Sept. 27. (AP)—In spite of a normal seasonal slump in some businesses, the picture in Texas for August was good, the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research said today.

In August, 95 new domestic corporations wer echartered at $1,706,000 as compared with 71 new firms last August at a capitalization of $1,042,000. Thirteen foreign corporations were given business permits.

There were no commercial failures this August and 46 cities reported considerable bulding activity with a total of $6,868,000 for August 1944.

Egg shipments were more than twice as high this as last August.

Shipment of livestock in Texas last August totaled 8,296 railcars, as compared with 10,641 railcars in August, 1944, the bureau reports.

Retail sales of independent stores in Texas showed an increase of 9.7 per cent for the first eight months of the year, compared with the first eight months of 1944.

Texas produced 2,223,000 barrels of petroleum daily in August, 1945, which was almost half the total petroleum produced in the United States that month.

San Antonio Voters OK Five, Reject 17

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 27. (AP)—Seventeen postwar projects were rejected and five approved by San Antonio property owners in a torrid bond election here yesterday.

A total of 11,758 persons voted.

The issuance of $5,700,000 in municipal bonds was approved by the election. Projects which carried were the interregional highway; the airport administration building; street and bridge; garbage disposal and a new fire station.

Rejected were street markers; library addition; Witte museum addition; aquarium; river improvement; West Side park; South Side park; park caretaker house and rest room; colored park; Los Angeles heights park; Riverside park; traffic signals; fire alarms; fire alarm building; and a police repair shop.

Export Import Bank To Liberalize Loans

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27. (AP)—The Export Import bank, in a move to stimulate movement of American cotton into world markets, was reported tonight to have liberalized its loan regulations to borrowing countries.

Spokesmen for the American Cotton Shippers association, after a conference with Wayne Taylor, president of the bank, quoted him as saying that foreign nations now could obtain domestic raw cotton under short terms loans, rather than long term loans as heretofore required.

W. L. Walker of Houston, Tex., chairman of the postwar planning of the National cotton shippers groups, declared that numerous Allied powers immediately would take advantage of the new arrangement.

He said the export bank held out the qualifications that the borrowing power should initiate negotiations for the loan.

Whereas long term loans were usually considered over a 20 or 30 year period, the short term loans would be made for the purchase of a specific commodity and probably extend over an average period of between 18 months and two years, Walker added.

After the meeting with Taylor, the cotton shippers group immediately started conferences at the legations of potential buying powers, advising them of the procedure necessary to obtain the American fiber through the Export Import bank.

Lieut. Col. Burris Jackson of Hillsboro, Tex., chairman of the Texas statewide cotton committee, said the discussions so far at the foreign embassies indicated a unanimous interest in the Export Import bank arrangement for purchasing American cotton.

Besides Walker and Taylor, others in the cotton group participating in the conferences here include Ben J. Williams of New Orleans, W. B. Davis, Newnan, Ga., L. T. Murray of Waco, Tex.

Smuggling Ring To Get Germans Out Of Russian Area Is Broken

(By The United Press)

WIESBADEN, Sept. 27 — A smuggling ring which guided Germans across the American-Russian occupation border has been smashed with the arrest of at least 1,000 German civilians in the Kassel area, it was announced today.

The Third division of the U. S. Seventh army reported wholesale arrests in breaking up the ring which smuggled German civilians and former soldiers between the occupation zones.

Paid In Jewelry

"Guides" familiar with the terrain on both sides of the border served those wishing to cross it illegally. They were paid in reichsmarks, rings and jewelry.

Among those arrested were two German Red Cross girls, a postman, and an interpreter who had been employed by the Americans.

Border guards recently seized several hundred Germans trying to sneak through the woods and across the border under cover of darkness.

Leaders Said Held

In a community southeast of Kassel, 2nd Lt. J. Crosby Smith of Sioux Falls, S. D., and Pfc. Helmut Bauer of Ridgewood, Queens, N. Y., caught 105 civilians marching four abreast toward the border.

A search of nearby barns, haystacks and woods produced 50 more Germans hiding while they waited for their "guides."

Third division officials said the leaders of the ring were among those under arrest.

El Pasoan Believes He's About Luckiest Prisoner Japs Held

HONOLULU, Sept. 27. (AP) — Marine Staff Sgt. Uzelle D. Walker, who arrived here en route to his home at El Paso, believes he was the luckiest prisoner of the Japs.

He learned the language. As a stevedore at Osaka he lived well on looted food, sold food in the black market, and talked himself out of trouble.

The sergeant, son of Mrs. Clara B. Walker, El Paso, learned to speak and read Japanese soon after being sent to Osaka in November, 1942, subsequent to his capture on Corregidor.

Bribed Jap Easily

"Many food-laden ships from the southern part of Japan's stolen empire unloaded at Osaka," Walker reported. "By bribing Jap military police and civilian work captains, I was able to dispose in the black market of the food I looted on the ships."

Contrary to the experience of many prisoners who were kept virtually ignorant of the war's progress, Walker kept himself informed by reading the Japanese language papers, obtained from lock guards. "Now and then I even got copies of the "Nippon Tibes," a daily newspaper published in English," he said.

The Texas Marine was placed in charge of a gang of 50 stevedor-prisoners, and through his knowledge of Japanese kept them out of trouble. He kept himself out, too. "One day I lost my temper with a Jap civilian who had been nagging me for several months. Without thinking, I suddenly pushed him off the dock into the drink.

Got No Punishment

"When the authorities called me in, I expected the worst. However, they let me explain and—almost unbelievable—let me go without punishment.

Walker enlisted in 1939, went to the Philippines a year later, and was at Manila on Dec. 7, 1941. His commanding officer selected him to head a detachment of 22 Marines guarding General MacArthur's headquarters on Corregidor. After the general's departure, Walker had charge of a machine-gun platoon.

During the week prior to Corregidor's surrender on May 6, 1942, the El Paso Marine received six shrapnel wounds. He was bleeding and seldom conscious when the American prisoners were forced to make the now famous "Death March," but his comrades saved him by carrying him slung to a bamboo pole.

U. S. May Continue Training Of Chinese

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27. (AP)—Lt. Gen. A. C. Wedemeyer said today the United States is considering the continuance of its program of training and equipping Chinese troops.

The commander of U. S. forces in the China theater arrived at the National airport from China this afternoon.

Sept. 7 is Independence Day in Brazil.

FBI Report Reviews Job Done In Texas During War Years

(By The Associated Press)

Smooth work by the Federal Bureau of Investigation eliminated the black phrase "draft dodger" from the lexicon of World War II.

In a report prepared in Washington by the FBI for the Texas bureau of the Associated Press, the FBI said it had handled the selective service cases of enough men in Texas to form a fairly good-sized fighting force.

A total of 18,425 draft cases were investigated, and in most instances the men were made available to the military service. A few had to be turned over to the law for disposal.

Suspicions that wrecks, fires, explosions and other disasters in war plants or transportation systems were caused by enemy agents were entirely unfounded, the report says.

Eighty-five cases of sabotage were uncovered by the FBI in Texas—but not one single case was enemy-directed.

All cases were traced to spite, carelessness, greed, prankishness, and similar motvies.

For example: A mechanic was cutting eectrica wires in a pane, hping the mechancia faiures would lead to the dismissal of the foreman and the promotion of himself to the job.

The FBI's job of defending the home front during war had many facets:

FBI agents began rounding up alien enemies in Texas while bombs were still falling on Pearl Harbor. A total of 542 were found in Texas—295 Germans, 117 Japanese, 130 Italians.

Tracking down escaped prisoners of war was a major job. It still is. There have been 261 escapes in Texas. Up to Sept. 7, 1945, only four enemy prisoners were still at large.

The FBI attributes much of its success to citizen cooperation. It said it had received wholehearted assistance from law enforcement agents all over Texas.

Its wartime job ended, the FBI is reconverting to peace. Its program of training officers in FBI methods; its taking outstanding officers and putting them through courses similar to the FBI's own; its policy of working closely with Texas peace oficers—all will be continued.

Incidentally, the FBI has four field officers in Texas—at Dallas, San Antonio, El Paso and Houston.

All are ready for peace and its problems.

House Hunting Takes On Partisan Color

DES MOINES, Sept. 27. (AP) — House hunting in Des Moines has taken on a partisan note.

A want ad in a recent issue of a Des Moines newspaper said:

"Republican who will move on 30-day notice wants two bedroom house, or apartment; three adults; no pets."

FORMS TO BE LATE

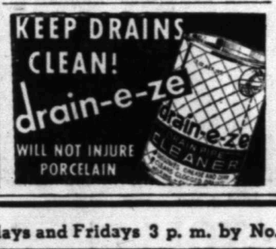

AUSTIN, Sept. 27. (AP) — Frank Scofield, collector of internal revenue for the first internal revenue collection district of Texas, said today that due to printing delays the blank forms for use of employers in filing social security returns for the quarter year ending Sept. 30 will be a few days late.

Kwajalein Seen As One Reason Why Guys In Pacific Want To Be Home

By KENNETH L. DIXON
Associated Press Staff Writer

KWAJALEIN, Sept. 27 (AP)—If you want to know one reason why guys in the Pacific want to go home, all you have to do is drop in on Kwajalein—if you can find it.

Kwajalein is a strip of sand just long enough and wide enough to make a good runway. It sticks up out of the Pacific a thousand miles from nowhere on the route from Honolulu to Manila. At night it's just a dot of light in a dark sea, as difficult to find as a tiny piece of glass on a carpeted floor.

Kenneth Dixon

We found it twice at night — the first time when we flew over in what we thought was to be a non-stop flight from Honolulu to Manila and the second time when we came scurrying back, expecting our big C-54 to blow to bits in the night sky.

Tourist Book Listing

According to ancient tourist books, this place was once "a lovely, unspoiled Pacific atoll, thick with vegetation and a typical south sea island."

It was subsequently the mainstay of the Marshall island group which was held by the Japanese, and although they built some military installations, there still were plenty of trees on Kwajalein.

All that was before February, 1944. A bunch of us were holed up on Anzio beachhead in Italy then, and that Mediterranean hotspot was getting most of the publicity, so you may not have noticed that Kwajalein in the Marshall islands was getting a terric bombardment.

Vegetation Destroyed

It was, and that bombardment destroyed almost all the installations and vegetation on the entire island. What was left when American troops came ashore promptly was polished off by bulldozers—and a bulldozer can do as much damage from a scenic point of view as a bomb or shell. In fact, more.

Kwajalein served its purpose. It has continued to serve a purpose since, as a jumping off point for attacks elsewhere in the west Pacific and as an aerial stepping stone to Guam, Manila and Tokyo.

But that doesn't make it a pleasant place to live. Lines of tin-topped quonset huts fringed the huge runway, and there by endless months live the men who service, maintain and fly huge Army and Navy transport planes.

Then Rains Comes

When it isn't raining, dust and ankle-deep sand blow interminably. Then it starts pouring and everything underfoot—except for the runway — turns into filthy, mucky slush.

"Are there any trees at all on the island?" I asked a weary soldier who lay on the bench under bright lights in front of one hut.

"Fifteen," he replied. "But they're over on the other side. Sometimes we walk over just to stand at look at them."

Navy Finds Evidence Jap Blockade Perfect

PEARL HARBOR, Sept. 27. (AP) —The Navy reported tonight that evidence accumulated since Japan's surrender disclosed that the Naval blockade of the empire's Pacific holdings, which eliminated 120,000 bypassed Nipponese troops, was the most efficient campaign of its type in Naval warfare.

Forces engaged in peaceful landings in the first phases of Japan's occupation advised fleet headquarters that due to the blockade the Japanese were unable to get a single surface ship to outpost garrisons for "many, many months."

If the war had continued much longer, the Navy said, Japan's former island strongholds would have fallen one by one simply because the garrisons would have been wiped out by starvation.

The same process of strangulation was being applied to the Japanese homeland when surrender came, the Navy stated.

Phoney Vet Claims Slow Down Others

BOSTON, Sept. 27. (AP)—General Omar N. Bradley, administrator of Veterans' affairs, said today that there were so many "phoney" disability claims that deserved claims are being snowed under.

"The veteran who files just for luck is doing his disabled buddies a real disservice," Gen. Bradley said at a news conference.

WTCC Referendum To Start October 2

ABILENE, Sept. 27. (AP) — The annual referendum season of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce will begin Oct. 2, and continue for five weeks, the Abilene headquarters office said today.

Following a plan inaugurated early in the war, the WTCC again is calling for referendum meetings in its 140 affiliated towns, at which directors and their local groups will vote on a 76-page ballot document containing proposed policies and work program for 1946.

The organization's officers and district directors will take the program to affiliates by conducting eight district meetings over the territory, during the first two weeks in October.

Time To Drop Controls

But Newspapers Still Held Down

FOR the newspapers of America the war has not ended. Their supplies of newsprint are still under tight government control, although the War Production board lifted its restrictions on the use of paper by all other branches of the publishing business last August 24.

The "true-story" magazines, the lurid confessionals, the sexy picture magazines, and all kinds of books can get all the paper they need. So can "throw-away" advertising sheets.

But the newspaper, which is a bulwark of Democracy and the medium that keeps the American public accurately informed of world affairs and local happenings, is still under bureaucratic control.

Why are newspapers kept under control, while magazine and book publishers are allowed all of the paper they want?

Is it the policy of the government to wish to maintain a control over the newspapers?

Certainly the shortage of newsprint is not the sole reason for the continuance of these regulations. For much of the paper used in the pulp magazines is of similar quality to that used for newspapers.

And if there is such a shortage of paper, why do not governmental agencies concern themselves with drives to collect waste paper? A few months ago waste paper drives were being conducted throughout the country. Boy Scouts, schools, and girls' organizations were enthusiastically cooperating.

The newspapers of America "went to town" in aiding all of these drives, just as they gave unstinted assistance to War Bond campaigns and other wartime efforts.

Their aid to the war effort was many times that of the magazines and the book publishers. And at the same time that the newspapers were contributing both space and energy to assisting the government, throw-away advertising papers were granted large allowances of paper in many cities where legitimate newspapers were compelled to turn away subscribers and advertising for lack of space.

Now that the war is ended, after an all-out cooperative effort by the press, the newspapers wait like an orphan in the woodshed while the fair-haired book and magazine publishers enjoy the feast of plenty.

Chairman Lyle Boren (D-Okla.) of the House Newsprint committee announced last Thursday that the committee has recommended that the WPB lift all government newsprint restrictions effective Dec. 31.

Perhaps, the newspapers of America will receive thus belatedly the favors already granted other publishers.

Democracy is best served by a free press unhampered by governmental harness.

Humble Pie For Hirohito

WHEN the mountain failed to come to Mohammed, the Arabian prophet, he decided to go to the mountain.

When buck-toothed, bandylegged Hirohito, ruler by the right of succession over what's left of Japan's crumbling empire, found himself faced with a problem similar to that of Mohammed, he too, was forced to go to the mountain—in this case, to the headquarters of Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

When the Jap ruler went to the MacArthur residence in the U. S. embassy in Tokyo, it marked the first time in modern history that any Japanese emperor went to another ruler for an audience, although Jap emperors were taking orders from the Sho-Guns at the time of Commodore Perry's visit in 1853.

In requiring the deflated "Son of Heaven" to come to him, MacArthur carried out a policy that he previously announced.

He is reported to have told American newsmen some time ago that he would make Hirohito call upon him.

MacArthur, deeply schooled in Oriental psychology, knows how to crack the whip and it will be interesting to watch results from his wild animal training act.

A New Type Of Battleship?

BACK in 1932, the late Gen. William Mitchell, the prophet of air power whom we failed to hear and heed, declared:

"Battleships, in my opinion, are archaic weapons, destined to become extinct in future wars. The airplane is capable of sinking any battleship that may be constructed."

The old battleship, "Alabama," anchored in shallow water in Chesapeake Bay, was one of the first to be used as a target for Mitchell's historic demonstration. This was in 1923. The first large bomb struck the battleship under her port quarter and tore a hole about 48 feet long and 28 feet wide in her bottom. She sank in 30 seconds.

Two years later Mitchell, who had been the general in command of air forces for the AEF during World War I, gave a second demonstration that left two old battleships in a sinking condition. But still the Brass Hats scoffed.

While the war just ended has demonstrated conclusively that battleships in their present form are exceedingly vulnerable to air attack, the battle wagons proved their worth in pushing the wr home to Japan. Battleships are not going to join the chariots in the museums for awhile at least, but they are going to be drastically changed to meet modern war conditions.

CAROLYN WORKS FAST
XII

THE STORY: Disturbed by the mystery telegram, Carolyn reseals the envelope, leaves it on Leana's desk. Then she investigates the shipment. The X-999 is to be carried in a freight car, accompanied by guards. The freight is held up, robbed. Bob is wild. But Carolyn calms him. "The stuff wasn't there. I took it out, myself."

* * *

Bob came to Carolyn's home because it was the quickest way for them to meet. She had snatched on the first clothes available and she literally ran into the night when his car swerved to the curb. He stopped halfway out the car door, hatless, his hair uncombed, wearing not even a coat or tie. His voice was a study in misery.

"Oh, Bob!" She tried to speak calmly. "The X-999 was not on that freight train! It is still safe here in the city!"

"I helped put it on myself, yesterday morning!"

"No! You put on dummy packages! Bob listen. I know you don't understand, but Ken Palmer and I removed those inner leaden boxes and substituted rocks! Yes, rocks!"

"But Carolyn—!" He was beginning to believe, at least to hope. He gripped her shoulders now.

"I was going to tell you but you were away all day yesterday. Ken and I did our work at 2 in the morning. The stuff is safe. I—Bob, I had a sort of tip. A hunch! Don't ask me any more yet. Just come on! Let me drive!"

She ran around to the wheel and when he had collected his wits again they were well out toward the Schoenfeld Laboratory.

* * *

When they arrived she took him into the compound and to the laboratory proper. He was surprised to see several of their hired guards still on duty. "I ordered them to stay," she explained. "And paid them."

She had a key to the laboratory door. "I copied your key, Bob. Had it done. Stuck yours on chewing gum to get a mold, then used candle wax. A keysmith cut one easily from that. I—forgive me, Bob! And wait."

She let him in and the door closed behind them. For a moment they stood in semi-darkness. Only the great looming form of the Schoenfeld cyclotron assailed them, silhouetted in part against the high windows.

"Perhaps it is best not to turn on the main lights," she said. "Wait—a desk lamp—" She crossed to the sturdy oak cabinet table where work sheets were usually spread out. In a moment she had the small light burning.

"Bob—please."

He came over. He was still in somewhat of a daze. While he watched, she swung back one of the four broad bottom doors of the cabinet. Gingerly she then lifted the lid of a strong wooden packing box. Bob peered in.

He saw four small leaden cases, sealed, cushioned in crude but effective burlap padding. He knew them to be his own.

"Carolyn!" He barely breathed that, but it was a speech of infinite relief and gratitude.

* * *

Lest state police and newspaper reporters flood the laboratory, Bob hastened to go back downtown. He didn't want too much attention to him and his work. He explained to police that his shipment had been chemicals only and that he couldn't imagine who would steal them, nor why.

By mid-morning Leana Sormi had returned, heard of the robbery and she rushed to Bob with every possible aid and sympathy. Carolyn left them at state police headquarters. She was strangely keyed up now. She even forgot to eat.

"I have to move fast!" she told herself.

She inspected her purse. Then she called a taxi, went to a bank and took out all the $340 she had saved. Next she ordered a taxi driver to take her to the municipal airport, and there she made another business deal.

By noon her taxi driver had her back at the laboratory again, and when she alighted this time she smiled her sweetest at him and said, "I need a strong man to help me carry something."

"That's me, miss!" the driver answered with alacrity. "You want a trunk moved?" I'll make room on the back rack."

"Not a trunk, a box. And—I'd be ever so much happied if it went inside. On the seat itself. I—here!" She thrust a $5 bill at him.

He grinned. "Lady, I'll carry the box in me teeth if you want!"

* * *

She asked two of the guards to help him. The box was small but astonishingly heavy. She explained, in partial truth, that it contained some leaden forms which Dr. Hale wanted moved, and some "other heavy junk." Her heart went bump-bump-bump double time during the whole loading procedure.

Some 40 minutes later she had transferred the box to an airplane, a powerful cabin ship now under her personal lease, with pilot awaiting orders. She told the pilot she would be back.

"We going after another box, miss?" her taxi driver asked as they drove away from the municipal airfield this second time.

"No. After a — man."

"Hmmmmmmm!" He grinned. "Elopement, I'll bet!"

She sighed at that, in a much-needed relaxation. "I wish it were. Driver, how in the world does a—a self - respecting girl pursue a man?"

Looking At Life ------ By Erich Brandeis

A NEW medical science, the study of man's tiniest enemies, which are particles measured in a millionth of an inch and much smaller than microbes, has been announced by Duke university.

These particles are viruses, of which about 100 are known at present, all causing disease. They are so small that when ten billion of them are concentrated in one cubic centimeter of liquid, they don't even fog the solution.

It seems remarkable that medical science, which has made such wonderful strides in so many fields, is still so backward in others.

BRANDEIS

There is the common cold for instance, and cancer, and sinus trouble and arthritis.

Millions of people are suffering from them and still none has yet found a cure for any of them.

* * *

Three weeks ago I had a toothache. I went to the best dentist in Danbury, who X-rayed my teeth.

"Your first and second left upper molars are abscessed," was the verdict. "They have to come out at once."

So I made an appointment with the extractionist, but first, to be sure, I went to a New York dentist for a check-up. He confirmed the Danbury man's findings and I was ready for the extraction. In the meantime, by the way, the toothache had stopped.

Before going to the extractionist, I visited the denture man who was supposed to put in a bridge after the teeth were pulled. He examined the X-ray and my teeth.

"If I were you I wouldn't have those teeth pulled," he said, "you may have them for another ten years."

Well, I figured, two dentists have advised pulling, so I better go through with it.

In the afternoon I went to the extractionist. He looked at the X-rays and inspected my teeth thoroughly.

"I won't pull those teeth," he said. "They are abscessed all right, but the abscesses are walled in. You may keep those teeth five or ten years or all your life. Or you may have to have them pulled next week. But isn't it worth taking a chance?"

So there you are. I still have my teeth, and they haven't bothered me for three weeks.

* * *

MY wife is in the hospital to get penicillin treatment for her sinus.

Deuce, the dog is sneezing. He has a cold.

Viruses, a millionth of an inch in size!

But how about your teeth and mine and your sinuses and my wife's and your colds and Deuce's cold?

There is something for you to chew on, you men of science!

P. S. I just read about a new cure for which there is not yet a disease.

Drug Problem Up Again

War Causes Habit To Spread

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

FEDERAL narcotic agents have been ordered to keep watch for the appearance of seemingly innocent but dangerous drugs based on synthetic medicines manufactured by resourceful German chemists to combat the wartime shortage of morphine, cocaine and other pain-killing sedatives. The close tie-up between one American firm and German interests already has caused one narrow escape for Washington authorities.

The drug involved was produced by a company whose continued association with the German firm has frequently been under Department of Justice investigation. It was a coal tar derivative, and it furnished an excellent substitute for morphine when administered by competent hands.

Physicians and the police reported to Narcotic Commissioner Harry J. Anslinger that new and old addicts had taken to the use of this article, which they buy at any drugstore without a prescription. Mr. Anslinger's inquiry confimed these reports.

TUCKER

He immediately petitioned Congress for a change in the law so the sale of this and similar medicaments could be barred by regulation rather than by statute. In the past specific enactment of a law was necessary to give him the authority to rule a dangerous product off the market. The legislators heeded his request, and gave him a blank check for use whenever his men find it necessary through their field investigations.

Ironically, the firm protested violently against federal banning of its fast-selling commodity. Now it is learned that several other drugs based on German synthetics are on their way to the American market.

Addiction has always increased after every conflict of modern times. It results partially from the military medicos' frequently use of habit-forming drugs, and also from the general lassitude which overcomes a war-weary people. It will be aggravated this time because so many of our soldiers have been stationed in such lands as Iran, India, Burma, China. It is one of Uncle Sam's big worries.

* * *

OCCUPATION: The Russians are showing the German people no mercy in the Russian zones of occupation. Although confidential reports reaching Washington refer only to conditions in the section of Berlin under Soviet domination, it is understood that the situation is even worse in areas farther East.

When Marshal Zhukov's men require a home or building for billeting or administrative purposes, they simply order the German tenants to scram. When they object, as they generally do, they are thrown out bodily and usually wind up living in a hut built of scrap metal. If the natives protest violently, they are hustled off to prison.

The Russians are also stripping residences of furniture, especially stoves and beds, and removing all machinery that can be utilized in their own factories. Starved of luxuries ever since the 1917 revolution, the Stalin forces show partiality for watches, jewelry, knickknacks etc. It is estimated that the stuff purloined officially and by individual Soviet soldiers already amounts to many millions of dollars.

American occupation forces, according to these reports, are almost too softhearted. When they take over a home, they shift the occupants to celler or attic, and American GI's frequently serve as moving hands. To cultivate friendship, the younger Germans try to bestow Nazi books, potscards, medals etc. on our men as souvenirs. As a rule, they get Army rations and candy and issue clothing in return.

These accounts of the Russians' hard-boiled policy were forwarded to the capital not as criticism of the Reds' behavior, but merely as factual reports on conditions under the occupation. On the contrary in view of the hardships and misery which the Nazi invaders wreaked on Stalin's people, our military observers seem to feel that the native populace is getting just what it deserves.

BURTON: Although the appointment of Sen. Harold Hitz Burton to the Supreme court vacancy has met general and bipartisan approval, President Truman showed typical political resourcefulness in handling the judicial plum to the mild, hard-working and nonpolitically minded Buckeye legislator.

The two men became close friends when they served together on the erstwhile Truman committee. They have a great deal in common; they are quiet, nonspectacular and conscientious public servants. But an even more able candidate for the bench on that same committee was Sen. Homer Ferguson of Michigan. Whereas the Ohioan has never presided over a courtroom, Senator Ferguson established a fine reputation as a "one-man jury and judge" during his investigation of political crookedness in Detroit.

However, the governor of Ohio — Frank J. Lausche — is a Democrat, and will undoubtedly name Burton's successor from that party. The governor of Michigan—Harry F. Kelly — happents to be a member of the opposition faith, and would be expected to name a GOP-er to a Ferguson vacancy. Last, Ferguson has a more partisan taint than Burton, who has never been an "organization man."

The selection of Robert P. Patterson as Secretary of War casts another sidelight — and a favorable one—on Mr. Truman. The two tangled like cats and dogs when, as head of the Truman committee, the Chief Executive frequently assailed the War department's procurement methods as handled by Under Secretary Patterson. The latter often suggested that the Senate sleuths did not know what they were talking about, and that they were seeking headlines.

Unlike some of his predecessors, the President forgot these personal differences because he apparently regarded his former foeman as the man best qualified for this difficult assignment.

TEXAS
By Gordon Shearer

AUSTIN. — Texas is gaining steadily in population by the birth and death route.

Vital statistics in the Department of Health show an increasing number of babies and a decreasing number of deaths.

For the first seven month sof 1945, the baby crop in Texas was 91,331, compared with 89,619 stork visits in the first seven months of 1944.

Correspondingly, 1945 was making a favorable death record. For the first half of the year there were 28,397 deaths compared with 31,738 for the first half of last year.

TOWER: When the late J. M. West of Houston built the 13-story Tribune Tower in Austin, some people thought it was a poor investment.

But today the Tower is in demand both for conversion into a state office building and as a permanent headquarters for the U. S. Army Eighth Service Command.

The state has a committee scheduled to meet in October and recide if it shall purchase the building or erect one. The Austin Chamber of Commerce recently revealed negotiations for bringing the Eigth Service Command headquarters here, and said the Tribune Tower is considered as a place for the Command — now in the Santa Fe building in Dallas.

ADV: How ya gonna keep 'em away from the farm, after they know about Texas?

An 18-year-old Coast Guard veteran from Philadelphia, Pa., has written Sheriff Smoot Schmid of Dallas county asking him the "chances" of getting a good farm hand job in Texas.

"I would like to come to Texas for a job on a ranch or farm but I do not know anyone who could help me out . . . I worked on a farm several months before I enlisted. . . "

For the benefit of labor-rationed farmers, here's the young man's address: William Wiseley, 671-529, Hdq. Co., 230, USCGTS, Manhattan Beach, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Statement Of Policy OK'd By Stokes

Atmosphere Is Cleared In Japan

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Publication of the statement of United States policy in Japan, as sent to General MacArthur before the surrender, served to clear the atmosphere of some confusion over recent developments.

It reassured the American people that the government intended what they had generally understood: ultimate dissolution of the power of the feudal industrialists. It went even further than had been generally known in approving revolution, if necessary.

STOKES

An interesting psychological situation had developed here that is significant in retrospect.

This grew out of General MacArthur's announcement that within six months an Army of Occupation of only 200,000 would be needed. The reaction in this country indicated that a sizeable army had become a symbol—whether rightly or not—in achieving what they thought the administration planned. The sudden announcement, then, that a smaller force would be used, less than half of what General MacArthur himself had contemplated not so long ago, came as a surprise. It raised some doubts about the thoroughness of the administration program.

* * *

"Interests" Get Busy

This was natural and it was encouraging as to the attitude of the American people.

The MacArthur announcement, on the other hand, was seized by some interests in this country, political and otherwise, for their own purposes. Some critics seemed to be trying to create the impression that the administration was out to spread terror in Japan, to act in a brutal and high-handed manner with the Japanese people. The inference from their outbursts was that this would be the object of a large Army of Occupation.

They capitalized on the popularity of General MacArthur, trying—or so it appeared—to make him a sort of martyr for their own ends. In all of this there can be seen, here and there, the hand of isolationists who have been looking for an opening.

* * *

ACTING Secretary of State Dean Acheson stepped in to set matters right, to scotch this sort of campaign, and to restore the confidence of the public in the program. For his pains he was put on the pan by some in the Senate. The statement of policy delivered to General MacArthur backed him up completely.

It also seems to express clearly the objectives of the American people.

What the American people want most of all is to give the Japanese people the chance to come out from under the yoke of those who have exploited them.

* * *

Global Tie-Ups Known

They also have come to know from their own history—some of it fairly recent—that formidable obstacles to democracy are big economic interests who want to use the people and their government to promote their own selfish ends. Therefore the people want to be sure that the power of big, behind-the-scenes influences—usually designated in Japan as "The Eight Families"—is broken, just as they want to be sure the power of German industrialists and cartelists is broken.

Our people have learned, too, both in the case of Germany and Japan, that these big interests in the past have had tie-ups with big politically-powerful interests in our own country as well as in other countries. This brought about a species of international society that has operated above national interests and above the interests of ordinary people everywhere.

* * *

THERE is a suspicion that such interests in our country still want to let these big German and Japanese interests survive. These same interests were among the isolationist forces—along with lots of peace-loving people—who wanted to avoid a clash with Germany.

Our people want to be sure that this does not happen, either in Japan or Germany. This would seem to lie at the roots of their constant watchfulness of what goes on in Japan. It is a healthy sign.

Mrs. Lee Talks With Husband In England

Mrs. Wm. B. Lee, 2419-B Sixteenth, is all up in the clouds today.

The reason: She talked by overseas telephone with her husband, M/Sgt. Wm. B. Lee, from London, England.

Sgt. Lee, who is stationed in Antwerp, Belgium, is on furlough in England from his duties with a processing unit.

He informed Mrs. Lee that he hoped to be home soon.

Mrs. Lee, who talked with her husband for three minutes, said his voice "was clear and distinct and sounded like he was talking from across town."

"I even pinched our little boy, so he could hear him cry over the phone," she said. Sgt. Lee saw the youngster when he was but ten weeks old. He has been overseas since Dec. 1944, having served with an anti-aircraft unit in Patton's Third Army.

Mrs. Lee, the former Ima Moore of Lubbock, said the call was "well worth the $12 it cost to talk."

The art of using veneer dates back to the earliest days of civilization.

Full Employment In Post-War Era Major Problem For Government

By ALVIN H. HANSEN
Litauer Professor of Political Economy, Harvard University
(Distributed By The Associated Press)

The vital economic problems for this postwar perod are twofold. One, what role are we prepared to play in cooperation with other countries to solve the great world economic problems? Two, shall we be able to maintain full employment in the United States?

In order to maintain full employment, government must be prepared to vary expenditures, taxes and borrowing according to economic conditions so as to "compensate" for or offset fluctuations in employment and production. In a surging investment boom, taxes should exceed government spending; the national debt should be reduced. In depression, government outlays should increae and the basic income tax rate should be lowered. The debt would rise.

Boon To Private Business

Won't large outlays endanger private enterprise? No, a well-planned public investment policy will enlarge opportunities for private enterprise.

Won't large public investment programs result in an ever-increasing debt? Yes, the debt may intrease in the long run. But if by means of a positive program the national income rises faster than the fixed charges on the government debt, the tax burden will remain quite manageable. Above all we must maintain a high level of income and a high consumption economy in which living standards constantly rise.

Our tax structure must be revised to encourage high consumption and private investment. When the transition from war to peace has been bridged, most sales taxes and excises should be eliminated. The excess profits tax should be abolished. Corporate and business taxes should be lightened and generous loss-offset provisions provided. Double taxation of dividends should be eliminated and exemptons for personal ncome taxes rased and the rates lowered. Tax incentives to stimulate new investment deserve careful consideration.

What about the dangers of inflation following the war? To avoid this we must retain rationing and price control so long as scarcities continue.

Finally, as an answer to our first problem, we must cooperate with the rest of the world in the Bretton woods and trade agreement programs. Prosperity will have to be achieved in all the great industrial nations—and that requires international financial and economic cooperation—if we want to maintain it in the United States.

Polish Youth Says Nazis Slew Brother

LUENEBURG, Germany, Sept. 27. (AP)—A Polish youth who said his brother was beaten to death at Oswiecim, and a Polish Jewess who described atrocities at Oswiecim and Belsen added their evidence today to the case against 45 Nazis on trial here for crimes at the two concentration camps.

Lanky Abraham Glinowiecki, 24, who identified five of the accused, testified that his brother was set over a chair and given 75 lashes after being caught in the woman's compound trying to trade cigarettes for food. Asked if his brother died, he buried his face in his hands and said:

"Yes, he died in the hospital and I never got to see him."

Today's session also brought the presentation of the first defense witness—Maj. Geoffrey A. J. Smallwood, former officer of the judge advocate general's department.

Smallwood, who directed the taking of depositions from inmates of the Belsen camp after the British liberated them in April, told the court his interpreters were former inmates. He said the names of S S (Elite Guard) and other camp administrative personnel were often inserted when deponents decognized photographs, but did not know names.

Government To Take Silver Price Hike

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 27. (AP)—Mexico's government is going to take close to three-fourths of the recent 26 cent increase in the price of silver.

Taxes already decreed absorb 17.89 cents of the new profit and there remain to be announced another treasury tax, formerly two cents an ounce, and the export tax, unofficially said to be 3.23 cents an ounce.

For domestic use the price is expected to be fixed at about 67.5 cents an ounce, which would equal roughly the 71.111 cent ceiling established last Thursday by the United States, less the export tax and shipping to a foreign market.

Fishermen Foiled As Fish Refuse To Bite

DES MOINES, Sept. 27. (AP)—Between 20 and 30 fishermen, rated as among the most talented in Iowa, cast their lines for three hours along the banks of the Raccoon river here last night for prizes offered by the Des Moines chapter of the Izaak Walton league—$10 for the longest fish and $10 for the heaviest fish.

Fish frying equipment was held in readiness, but nary a fish did they catch. The only catch was that the fish just weren't biting. And one fish would have been worth both prizes—$20.

OIL PRODUCTION UP

JACKSON, Miss., Sept. 27. (AP)—Despite the fact practically all of the wells in one field are shut down for lack of a market, Mississippi oil production increased 300 barrels per day during the past week.
