Wild Demonstrations Break Out In Poland

Hope Given In Fight For Cancer Cure

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mefford R. Runyon, executive vice president of the American Cancer Society, said today so much "hopeful" research is going on "that for the first time we dare hope with confidence that cancer will be conquered — and in our lifetime."

Runyon also indicated, in a speech for a District of Columbia Cancer Society meeting, that 50 per cent of all cancer patients might now be saved from cancer if greater use was made of present knowledge.

Runyon said 10 years ago one out of four cancer patients was saved, the ratio is now one out of three patients and "the doctors tell us we could do better — that half the people who get cancer can be saved."

"The American Cancer Society," he said, "is preparing to meet this challenge by expanding its research and education and service programs."

Runyon said women especially have benefitted from stepped-up efforts in cancer control, with their cancer death rate dropping 12.6 per cent in the past decade.

"Now that the annual checkup is becoming a family habit we can hope for a corresponding decrease in male cancer death rates soon," he said.

Old Henry Likes It At Church

TORQUAY, England (AP)— The vicar says that when Henry plays the organ in vine-covered St. John's Church the music is something, but you can't help noticing you can see right through him.

The vicar, the Rev. Anthony Rouse, reported the matter today to the Church of England's Fellowship for Physical Study.

The ghost is supposed to be Henry Ditton Newman, a former church organist who died as a young man in 1883.

The Rev. Mr. Rouse said there was some evidence that the organ played on its own during Newman's funeral. He added:

"I myself have heard the organ play twice at night. I can't tell you the music. It is sweet, but sort of heavy. I have heard it just for a few minutes.

"Quite a few members of the choir have been conscious of someone standing by the organ when they were singing unaccompanied, as if the organist had got off his stool and was at their side."

Ancient services to exorcise Henry have been held but they have not driven him out. A former vicar, the Rev. Sir Patrick Ferguson-Davie, who had trouble with Henry prowling around in the vicarage, thinks Henry will always be around.

"Unusual ghost in a way," Sir Patrick said. "He is very happy. He doesn't want to go away."

Soviet Flags Are Torn Down

WARSAW (AP)—Wild anti-Russian demonstrations were reported from three major Polish cities today.

Angry crowds in Wroclaw, the former German city of Breslau stormed the headquarters of the Polish-Russian Friendship Society and tore down and trampled on Soviet flags.

A Western eyewitness said the crowds yelled "Rokossovsky to Siberia" and "tell the truth about the Katyn murders"

Marshal Konstantin Rokossovsky, a Soviet Red army hero of World War II, is the Polish defense minister who was ousted Sunday from the United Workers (Communist) party politburo in a purge of Stalinists.

The Katyn Forest was the scene of the machine gunning of 10,000 Polish officers in 1940, before Russia entered the World War. The Russians, who had moved in to occupy eastern Poland, denied Western charges they did the killing.

Similar demonstrations were reported from Szczecin (Stettin) and the university city of Krakow. Wroclaw and Szczecin are near the Polish border with Communist East Germany. Krakow is on the Vistula River 155 miles southwest of Warsaw.

The demonstrations came as Parliament was called into session here amid public celebration of the nation's newly proclaimed independent course. A government shakeup appeared imminent.

The Western witness said the Wroclaw demonstrations started with a meeting in the city's university and an orderly parade through the town.

The meeting acclaimed resolutions supporting the new leadership of the Polish Communist party and demanding more democracy.

Then, with banners and torches the march through town started.

Thousands of cheering Poles lined the streets to watch. People poured out of restaurants and homes to join the march. Polish flags were hung from windows.

Sewer Line Work Slated

Work on the city's sewer department expansion program which will result in the laying of approximately 72,000 feet of new sewer lines in Snyder will begin about Nov. 1.

Roy Dunlap, city manager, said that engineers on the project have notified him that when work begins the contractor can lay about 10,000 feet of the lines per week and that the job should be completed in about two months if weather permits.

The new lines will range in size from six inches to 15 inches in diameter.

There will be 2,250 feet of 15-inch pipe, 8,106 feet of 12-inch pipe, 3,900 feet of 10-inch pipe, 18,250 of eight-inch pipe, and 39,620 feet of six-inch pipe.

Gravity will be used to propell flow through all the pipe and no lift stations are required.

The sewer lines are being paid for from city bond money voted early this year.

Names Can Cause Lot Of Trouble

HOUSTON (AP)—What's in a name? A lot of trouble for city traffic warrant officers.

Officers Charlie Nix and Harry Holman were issued warrants yesterday for the arrest of a James Taylor and a James Overshowen.

The officers inquired about Overshowen at a paint and body shop.

"Sure," said a husky young laborer, "that's me." Nix asked Overshowen, "wouldn't know a James Taylor would you?"

"Sure," said Overshowen, "that's me."

Overshowen insisted he was Taylor. "My mother's name was Taylor; my pop's name was Williams. Common law marriage," he explained.

Where does Overshowen come in?," Nix asked. This guy, what-do-you-call-him explained that too. His foster parents were named Overshowen.

James Taylor Williams Overshowen was jailed on a $90 traffic committment. Just for the record, he was given a number too.

Janitor Killed In School Explosion, Student Is Injured

SOUTHMAYD, Tex. (AP)—A shattering explosion virtually wrecked the upper floor of the elementary school at 10 a.m. today, killing a janitor and very critically burning a high school junior.

All the pupils and teachers in the elementary school were in the school yard for a recess.

The janitor and the junior, Larry McGee, 16, had gone to the second floor to do a repair job.

Authorities blamed heating gas for the explosion.

Supt. H. L. Richardson said the explosion occurred in the old school cafeteria, which was no longer used for that purpose.

The two-story structure was known as the "old building" and had been converted to an elementary school.

The newer, one-story high school building nearby was not involved.

Between 250-300 pupils are in the two schools in this town of 2,000.

The janitor, E. L. Dinwoodie, 70, was taken to a Sherman hospital by Richardson and Harold Waw, a senior. He was dead on arrival. His clothes were burned off, his right arm blown off and he suffered other injuries.

McGee was described as burned beyond recognition. He was taken to surgery as soon as he reached the Sherman hospital.

Young McGee is the son of the Rev. and Mrs. Fred McGee. The father is pastor of the Southmayd Methodist Church.

The old cafeteria had been converted to a music room. Pupils had been lighting pilot lights on individual, gas-heated radiators.

One pupil said he smelled free gas, and this caused Dinwoodie and McGee to seek the source of the leak, students told newsmen.

Southmayd is 8 miles west of Sherman, about 20 miles south of the Red River.

About 250-300 students attend school.

Another UF Drive Opens

Another drive of the 1956 Scurry County United Fund campaign opened today.

It was the drive of the industrial employe division, headed by J. T. Haynes.

One more campaign remains to be opened, and it will be started Monday by the residential division, with Mrs. Bill Atwood as chairman.

The United Fund so far has raised slightly more than $18,200, about half of this year's goal for the budgets of nine agencies participating.

Olan Griffith, chairman of the business employe division, which started its drive last week, today urged managers of local business firms to complete the canvass of their respective employes today if possible.

Griffith said captains in the division will begin making the rounds to pick up the campaign envelopes at the various firms Wednesday afternoon.

"I hope we can complete our part of the drive promptly," Griffith said. "We can do this if the managers will see to it that their employes are canvassed by Wednesday afternoon.

Street Light Program Set

A new street lighting expansion program in Snyder will soon get under way, and approximately 100 new residential and highway street lights will be installed during the next few months.

Roy Dunlap, city manager, said that Texas Electric Service Co. has ordered the new lights, but that delivery on some of them is not expected until about Jan. 1, 1957.

The number of mercury-vapor lights on the East Highway will be increased out to the city limits, doubling the present amount of lighting on the east Highway, he said.

Residential lights will be placed at street intersections where none exist upon the request of residents of the unlighted area. Many such requests have already been filed with the city.

Hungarians Stage Big Demonstration

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP) — Shouts of "Out with the Russian troops" and "We want a new government with Imre Nagy" were raised in a demonstration by thousands of university students, workers and off duty soldiers in Budapest today.

The huge and noisy demonstration was held in front of the statue of Gen. Josef Bem, a Polish general who headed Hungary's revolutionary army in this country's 1848 war of independence against the Hapsburg monarchs.

The demonstration had a double purpose.

It was advertised first as a gesture of "sympathy and solidarity" with the Poles, who threw Stalinist elements out of the Polish Communist party leadership Sunday.

Secondly, it turned into a public mass demand for a similar Hungarian "declaration of independence" from Moscow control.

Many demonstrators shouted for free elections and freedom of the press.

Others demanded that Matyas Rakosi, the deposed Stalinist dictator of Hungary, be brought back from Russia "to stand trial before a tribunal of the people."

Still others shouted demands for tearing down the huge Stalin statue in Budapest.

Police stood about the edges of the crowd and did not interfere. They only sought to prevent cars and trucks from running into the demonstration.

The Hungarian Communist party leadership had promosed government reforms looking toward a "new leadership, democratically elected," but begged the country to be patient.

Report Made On Airport

Scurry County's airport is not completely self-sufficient, a county commissioner said today.

Doyle Parmer, commissioner of precinct 4, said that contrary to some reports the airport does not quite pay its own way, although it almost does and fares better than any other department under county operation.

Books in the county treasurer's office show that the airport operating fund had a balance of $15,459.56 last Jan. 1, while the balance stood at $12,980.03 on Oct. 1.

Parmer said that while most of the cost of operating the airport comes from the regular airport operating fund, some does not. The cost of maintenance work on airport grounds comes from another fund and is handled by the county park department.

"I think the airport is doing well," Parmer said, "But it does not quite pay for its own operation."

Base Material Laid On Paving Project

Base material was being laid by workers this week on the paving project on Eighth Street in the north part of Snyder, and the road was expected to be ready for use within the next few days.

The paving project is one being done by the Texas Highway Department in cooperation with the county, and it includes two miles of paving beginning on Eighth Street at the Clairemont Road and extending east past the Snyder Cemetery to the already-paved Camp Springs road.

T. B. Knight, commissioner of Precinct 1, said yesterday that the base and a preliminary coating of asphalt is probably all which will be placed on the road this fall, just enough for use through the winter. The surfacing will be completed next spring.

Deer Hits Passerby

INVERNESS, Calif. (AP)—A pet deer broke out of its pen and knocked down a passerby yesterday while the animal's owner, Dr. M. R. Ottinger, was in Wyoming—hunting deer. The five-point buck sailed into Robert Bruckman, 57. He was not injured.

Local Group Hears Long

BROWNWOOD—Sen. Russell B. Long of Louisiana denounced the administration "interest rate policies" and its farm program, and gave Sen. Lyndon Johnson credit for saving the tidelands for Texas at a huge Democratic party gathering here Monday night.

Over 500 persons attended the $10-a-plate fund-raising dinner held on the campus of Howard Payne College.

Long charged that the best months for farmers under the Eisenhower administration fell short of the worst months when the Democrats were in power.

He said interest rate of the present regime had increased the cost of government by $900-million per year, and that the present high rates of interest are benefiting few and hurting many.

Rep. O. C. Fisher was master of ceremonies, and Sen. Long was introduced by Sen. Johnson, the Senate majority leader. In paying special tribute to Johnson, Sen. Long said the Texas was "the greatest thing that ever happened to the U. S. Senate."

Several from Scurry County attended the session. Heading the Scurry delegation was C. T. McLaughlin, state finance chairman for the Democratic campaign. Others in the party were Frank Wilson, Scurry County, Democratic chairman, Art Blanchard, James Kincaid and Herbert Feather.

Two Hurt In Refinery Blaze

BEAUMONT (AP)— An explosion just before midnight touched off a raging gasoline fire in the sprawling Magnolia Refinery. The blaze was being brought under control today.

Two men were critically burned. No estimate of the damage has yet been made.

The spectacular blaze that sent flames licking 100 feet into the air from 16,000 gallons of gasoline was termed a flash fire and was confined to the immediate area. The threat to production units at the refinery lessened today as firemen prevented the spread of the flames.

The two fire victims, Roussell Byrom, 34, of Beaumont, a foreman, and James Rivet, 61, of Vidor, were standing about 150 feet from the unit when the fire occurred. Byrom, who was termed in the more critical condition, suffered burns over most of his body.

It was the second fire at the plant within a month. On Sept. 24 sulphuric acid burst into flames but no one was injured.

C. A. Reeves, night superintendent at Magnolia, said the fire occurred in the "sweetening" plant where gasoline is treated for odor.

He said a small pipe or a gauge apparently broke, flooding the area with gasoline. He said the fumes apparently were ignited from a welding machine working on a nearby unit.

A large explosion was followed by several lesser ones.

Reeves said the burned employes, Roussell Byrom and James Rivet, were about 150 feet from the two drums. He said they apparently were caught by the flash. Both men are from Beaumont and were listed in critical condition.

Reeves said refinery firefighters were able to confine the flames to the two small tanks. He said several others were in the area.

There was no damage estimate.

The flow of petroleum into the fire area was shut off, reducing the danger of spreading the fire into other units of the refinery, which dominates the southeastern edge of this southeast Texas city.

The refinery is one of the largest on the Texas Gulf coast.

Delay In Election Decision Criticized

AUSTIN (AP)—A member of the State Democratic Executive Committee said today Gov. Shivers' delay in calling a special Senate election "is causing many people to think you are deferring the election past midnight Jan. 14 so as to appoint a temporary successor to Sen. Daniel."

H. O. Woodward of Coleman, chairman of a legal subcommittee of the central Democratic body, made public the letter to Shivers saying also he did not believe the governor's intention was to do that. He called on Shivers to end "confusion and delay" by calling the election at once.

Shivers was not available for comment. His office said he was in Los Angeles on personal business and was to return to Fort Worth tonight before leaving on a Southern speaking tour in the Eisenhower campaign.

"Further delay is causing many people to think you are trying to defer the election past midnight of Jan. 14 so as to appoint a temporary successor to Sen. Daniel," he wrote.

"I cannot believe you have any such intention. As one of your supporters in past elections, I do not want to see your actions continue to bring about such unwarranted confusion and criticism.

"Further delay is unfair to Sen. Daniel, who urged in his letter of resignation that you call the election early enough for his successor to be on hand for the opening of Congress on Jan. 3."

Daniel, Democratic nominee for governor, has offered Shivers a letter of resignation as of Jan. 15 or as soon as a successor qualifies. Last week Shivers left the matter dangling, saying no action would be taken until after the general election Nov. 6.

Ike Slates State Talks

DALLAS (AP)—President Eisenhower will fly to Texas for two major campaign speeches in Dallas and Houston Monday, the Dallas Times-Herald said today.

The newspaper said the White House and the National Republican Committee have declined to confirm the trip, its date and the cities in which the President will speak. The reasons given were that because of the international situation, the President might have to cancel the Texas trip at the last minute.

White House aides, nevertheless, are going ahead with plans for the Texas trip, the Times Herald said.

The President is reported to have been wanting to make a trip to Texas, his birthplace, but the question had been as to when he could work in the trip.

Airport Talk Is Postponed

The county commissioners court had planned to meet with a property owner yesterday afternoon to discuss terms on the possible purchase of land for the new runway at Winston Field, but the meeting had to be postponed.

Harrie Winston, business manager for Winston Bros. Ranch, was in Kansas City and could not be here for the meeting. Winston was not expected to return here until later this week.

Winston has previously made an offer on the property, but no agreement has been made and the commissioners planned to discuss it with him.

Before the new runway can be built, the county must purchase some property and secure option on other property for clearance purposes.

The new runway was authorized last spring in a county bond election.

Terry Wildcat Shows On Test

Test tool was being pulled Monday from Anderson-Prichard Oil Corp. No. 1 Waters, Southwest Terry County wildcat, after drillstem test in Devonian returned oil, gas and water.

Interval checked was from 12,758 to 12,797 feet, with tool open five hours and 35 minutes. Water blanket surfaced in one hour and oil and gas-cut drilling fluid came to the top in one hour and 40 minutes.

After flowing into pits 55 minutes, the wildcat flowed into tanks three hours. During the first 30 minutes of the flow, the project made 13½ barrels of fluid, 10 per cent mud and 20 per cent water, 70 per cent oil. Second 30 minutes flow was 9.45 barrels of fluid, 10 per cent mud, 10 per cent water, 80 per cent oil. During the second hour of flowing, recovery was 2.70 barrels of fluid, 13 per cent mud, five per cent water and 82 per cent oil. The well was dead during the third hour.

Test tool was being pulled Monday.

Location is 8½ miles southwest of Gomez, 1,750 feet from north and 990 feet from west lines of section 118, block B-11, C&M survey.

Tucker Drilling Co. No. 1 A. A. Sugg, Central Irion County wildcat has been completed for a daily potential of 78.94 barrels of 34.4 gravity oil and no water, to open a new Wolfcamp pool.

The operation was formerly carried as Southwestern Development Company, Wickett Refining Company and Tucker Drilling Company No. 1 Sugg.

The production is from perforated section at 5,535-55 feet, which had been treated with 1,000 gallons of acid. Gas-oil ratio was 326-1. Total depth is 5,972 feet. The 5½-inch casing is cemented at 5,683 feet.

The opener is 1,980 feet from north and east lines of section 1, 893, B. Verbene survey. It is 3¾ miles northwest of the one-well O. H. Triangle (Wolfcamp) pool. Operator has requested that the new area be designated S.W.T. (Wolfcamp) pool.

Murray Petroleum of San Angelo No. 2-B Sugg is to be a 7,500-foot wildcat to explore the Strawn in South Irion County, 12 miles west of Mertzon.

It is to be at the center of the southeast quarter of the northeast quarter of section 6, block 14, H&TC survey. The drillsite is 8½ miles northwest of the nearest production from the Strawn, which is in the sixty Seven (Strawn) pool.

W. E. Bakke of Midland No. 4 V. L. Grady is to be a new operation in the recently opened Bakke multipay field of Central Andrews County.

It is one location north of the same operator's No. 1 Grady, opener of Devonian and Ellenburger production, which also logged shows of discovery production in several other formations.

The No. 4 Grady is 1,981 feet from south and 660 feet from west lines of section 22, block A-44, psl survey. It is projected to 13,000 feet, which will take it into the Ellengurger and all of the higher sections. It is four miles southeast of Andrews.

Famed State Historian Is Dead At 82

AUSTIN (AP)—Dr. Eugene Barker, 82, world famous historian of the University of Texas, died last night.

For 60 years he was a student or teacher at the university, specializing in the backgrounds of his native state.

Dr. Barker retired from active teaching in 1950. His best-known work was a life of Stephen F. Austin, but he was author of scores of textbooks and historical papers which brought him world-wide fame in scholarly circles.

University regents named its Texas History Center for the professor who was born on a farm in Walker County and who devoted his life to a study of Texas history.

He attended the public schools at Trinity and Palestine.

In his half century on the University of Texas faculty, Dr. Barker had eight titles.

His eighth was Distinguished Professor of American History, Emeritus. The title was bestowed on him by the regents, when Dr. Barker requested retirement.

Dr. Barker for 27 years was editor of the Southwestern Historical Quarterly, publication of the Texas State Historical Assn.

He was chairman of the university's History Department for many years. For almost a quarter century, Dr. Barker engaged in the study which resulted in the "Life of Stephen F. Austin," which has been called the "finest biography in Texas literature."

Report Made On Induction Into Service

AUSTIN—A total of 33,014 Texans entered the armed forces during the first three-quarters of 1956, and 33,501 were separated from active service during the same time.

This was revealed Friday in a report made by state Selective Service headquarters to the national Selective Service headquarters in Washington.

Of the 33,014 individuals entering the uniformed services from Texas during the first nine months of the year, only 4,811 were drafted, the remaining 28,203 entering by enlistment or other voluntary means.

"Actually, between a fourth and half of the inducted men were volunteers," Colonel Morris S. Schwartz, state Selective Service director, said.

He explained that a provision of the Selective Service regulations allows men from the age of 17 to 26 to volunteer for induction through the draft boards. Seventeen-year-olds must have the written consent of parents or guardians.

State Selective Service sent 8,027 men to armed forces examining stations from January through September of 1956. A total of 5,119 was found acceptable, the remaining 2,908 being rejected, a rejection rate of 36 per cent.

At the beginning of the year, Texas had an estimated 139,000 citizens wearing armed forces uniforms. At the end of September, the estimated total on active duty was 138,400.

Crowds In Algeria Clash With Police

ALGIERS (AP)—Angry demonstrators clashed with police in Tunis today and unrest spread elsewhere in North Africa in the wake of the surprise arrest of five top Algerian rebels by the French.

Hope dimmed for a "Peace in Algeria" meeting in Tunis between Sultan Mohammed V of Morocco and Tunisian Premier Habib Bourguiba. The Sultan was considering returning immediately to Rabat.

Several hundred students ran through the streets of Casablanca waving the green flag of the Algerian rebellion and shouting for "free Algeria." Another crowd gathered in front of the French embassy shouting rebel slogans.

Labor leaders called general protest strikes in Tunis and Casablanca. Crowds in Tunis were described as in an ugly mood. Frenchmen were reported fearful of outbreaks of violence directed at them. Tunisian mounted police clashed with the demonstrators as they tried to march on government buildings.

The five captured rebel leaders were held incommunicado in Algiers. French sources said they were questioned throughout the night.

Security measures were stepped up throughout Algeria in expectation of rebel reprisals.

Dramatic capture of the Algerians was made possible by the French pilot of an airliner who duped them into thinking they were landing on friendly soil. It evoked bitter protests from both Tunis and Rabat.

Big prize for the French was Ahmed ben Bella, veteran nationalist who has been masterminding the insurgent movement from sanctuary provided by Egypt.

The seizure touched off a flurry in Paris.

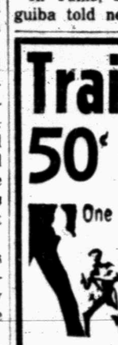

In Rabat, the Moroccan government charged the capture of the Algerians was "pure piracy." Morocco's Acting Premier Edriss M'hammedi said he had called on the United States, Britain and Spain to intervene on behalf of the rebels.

In Tunis, Premier Habib Bourguiba told newsmen, "This is an extremely grave event — not only for its effect in North Africa, but for the effect it may have on relations of Morocco and Tunisia with France."

The swiftly executed coup was carried out last night as the rebels were flying over the Mediterranean.

The plane, a DC3 owned by the French-operated Atlas Airlines, was manned by a French crew. It took off from Rabat and was heading for Tunis when French authorities made contact with the pilot and invited him to land in Algiers.

The rebel leaders, obviously convinced they were in Tunis, climbed unsuspectingly out of he plane and into the arms of a waiting police squad at Algiers' Maison Blanche Airport. They were in Western clothes and had been traveling under assumed names.

Iron Makes Care Of Ruffles Easy

Tucks, pleats, ruffles, and puffed sleeves are so very feminine. And these trimmings on pretty cotton dresses and blouses no longer present an ironing problem.

A new electric ruffle iron helps do the trick easily and in no time at all. The iron has a tall stand which fits over the edge of the ironing board and a fabric dial which can be set for the correct temperature. The fabric can be eased over the heated aluminum iron head and smoothed with two hands when necessary.

DATE DATA

By BEVERLY BRANDOW

What should you wear to attract boys? Some girls will answer that plunging necklines, high slit skirts and other peek-a-boo clothes will do the trick.

Spit curls that dangle on the forehead and streaks of peroxided blonde lend sex appeal to the hair, they say, and a dash of cologne makes you irristable.

Well, this approach does reap dates. The only hitch is this. Are the dates of the right sort with the right motives? Are you being dated because of the thinking, breathing you, or just your sex appeal?

If sex appeal is the only answer you're in trouble. If you could read your dates' minds, I wonder—would you slap them, and run?

Girls wear revealing clothes and follow fads primarily to interest boys, but too few of them realize how easy it is to lead a boy beyond his emotional depth. A blouse that is cut too low or shorts that are too brief may seem simple feminine strategy for attracting the opposite sex, yet they may arouse a boy to such an extent that, given the opportunity, his emotion may break through all conventional social barriers.

You call him fresh and he lands in the dog house. Whose fault? It's yours! By wearing clothes that leave so little to the imagination, you have encouraged him not to be a gentleman.

Boys are far more influenced by what they see than girls are. Girls can see a boy mowing the lawn clad only in a pair of shorts and think "hum-m-m, nice physique — I believe this flower bed needs weeding."

A boy, on the otherhand, may be so aroused he may mow down the petunias, and it may be an hour or longer before he can erase from his mind, the girl with the plunging neckline.

If you want a boy to treat you with respect, do not tempt him to do otherwise. Realize that it does not take nearly so much stimuli to arouse him as it does you.

Help him to be the kind of boy you want to date. Boys hate the "tease" who toys with their emotions, giving them the "come on" and then freezing up when they respond and informing them she is not "that kind of girl."

Be attractive by wearing complimentary colors and styles, but if you want a nice reputation among boys and no wolves to fight on dates, stay covered up.

Unless you're looking for trouble, comb that sexy spit curl back a little, let the natural color come back into your hair, and quit flirting with your eyes.

Wholesome and sweet are very complimentary adjectives. They describe girls who are wife material of the golden anniversary type, not future candidates for the divorce courts.

Rice With Fruit

For an easy dessert stir strawberry or peach preserves into hot cooked rice. Add sugar to taste and a dash of vanilla. Serve this hot or chilled with whipped cream or toasted nuts.

About 500,000 aged persons are now being cared for in institutions, even though most older people live at home.

Iota Psi Chapter Has Costume Party

A contest for identifying name brand slogans was held with Eetty Cox being the winner. A game using the word love was also held. Each member tried to see how many words she could make, containing the word, with Jane Craft taking first place.

A Halloween motif was used through the home. Refreshments was served to the eight members and four rushees present. Rushees include Jean Everett, Janet Penn, Marlene Stokes and Avanell Corbell.

Kefauver's Comeback

When Senator Kefauver of Tennessee went down to crushing defeat in California this June, most political observers were prepared to write finish to his presidential prospects for all time.

But today, amid the presidential drive of Adlai Stevenson, his one-time rival, Ketauver finds his political fortunes rising in a fashion that must surely have kindled his hopes anew.

Though he is just the second man on the Stevenson ticket, the senator is in heavy demand in many areas of the country. Top Democrats in Ohio said they could use his campaigning talents in every county of the state's 88. The stress, of course, is on farming and small town areas.

In a sense there is nothing new about this. It has been clear for many months that Kefauver had a strong appeal to farmers and lots of other plain folk. What is different is that for the first time he is gaining the respect and support of his party's professionals.

Their dislike of him always has been his greatest stumbling block. They thwarted him in 1952 at the Chicago convention when he fell before Stevenson after two ballots. This year their concerted opposition made it harder for him to make the kind of impressive primary showing he had scored in 1952.

But the tide turned for the lanky Tennessean on July 31, 1956. On that day he pulled out of the race for the nomination and promised to throw all his weight behind Stevenson. It was the first time political leaders felt he had behaved as a "team player" rather than a lone wolf.

Kefauver kept his word and labored hard for Stevenson at Chicago. He was credited with a strong assist to Adlai's nomination drive.

When he won the vice presidential nomination in a whirlwind turnabout at the close of the second ballot, many leaders who backed him indicated they felt he had "earned" the berth both through his good sportsmanship in withdrawing and through his long toil on the campaign trail.

Kefauver's campaigning since convention time evidently has convinced key Democrats the choice was wise. In some places he is plainly the stronger element on the ticket. He pushes local candidates hard, and cooperates with the regulars at all stages.

Right now few Democrats doubt that he is one of the strongest No. 2 men they have ever nominated.

Whatever the Nov. 6 verdict, Kefauver seems sure to be credited with aiding the Democratic cause powerfully. No one now questions that he will try again for his party's nomination. And the events since July 31 suggest that on the next attempt he may have the vital professional support he has always lacked before.

A Great American

The career of a great American may now be studied at the Library of Congress, to which the letters and papers of the late Sen. George W. Norris of Nebraska have been given. Future historians will find them invaluable.

Norris, whose unassuming appearance belied his courage and resourcefulness, served from 1903 to 1913 in the House of Representatives. In 1910 he directed the filibuster which forced the House of Representatives to abolish the arbitrary power of the speaker. Before that the speaker could kill legislation by a word, and even deny its sponsors the privilege of speaking on the subject in the House. Norris changed all that.

In his 30 years in the Senate his many activities included the authorship of the Tennessee Valley Authority, and of the 20th Amendment to the Constitution that abolished lame duck Congress by changing the date of the presidential inauguration from March 4 to Jan. 20.

Long a Republican, Norris supported Al Smith and Franklin D. Roosevelt. In 1936 he was elected senator on an independent ticket. He failed to repeat this feat in 1942, and died two years later. Of Nebraskans, only William Jennings Bryan has bulked as large in the national consciousness. Few senators have been as useful.

Spread Of Titoism Gives Evidence Of Separation Of Communistic Countries

By WALTER LIPPMANN

Aid to Yugoslavia has been United States policy for about eight years, since 1948 when the great break occurred between Stalin and Tito. The aid has been given in order to help Tito maintain his independence, and there is every reason to think, as the President declared that the policy has been sucessful.

To be sure, we are not well informed about what has been going on recently during Khrushchev's visit to Belgrade and Tito's return visit to Yalta. But there is much objective evidence which goes to show that the essential principle of Titoism, which is national independence from the dictation of Moscow, is not only strong in Yugoslavia but is spreading in the satellite orbit, especially in Poland and in Hungary.

What we are seeing is a growing separation between Communism — as an ideology, a secular religion, and a social movement — and the Soviet Union as a great power and an imperial state. In the reign of Stalin the spread of Communism and the increase of the power of the Soviet state were meshed one with the other.

Thus the line of the Iron Curtain, which has brought Russian power into the center of Europe, was an old Russian objective at least as long ago as the middle of the Nineteenth century. When at the end of the war Stalin's army reached that line, he installed Communist governments on his side of the line. But there is every reason to suppose that his primary object was to found a Soviet empire, using the Communist ideology as one of the ways of binding the empire together.

In Stalin's time, moreover, the Communist parties in the outer world, in Italy and in France notoriously, were used not so much to advance Communism in their own countries as to serve the interests of the Soviet Union.

• • •

The historic importance of Titoism as an instrument of Russian against Moscow's use of Communism as an instrument of Russian imperialism. From the end of the World War until Tito's quarrel with Stalin, the Soviet Union treated Yugoslavia as, in the old days, the empires used to treat their colonies: as countries which were not to be developed for their own advantage but were to be exploited for the advantage of the imperial power.

This anti-colonialist rebellion has spread beyond Yugoslavia. It is very active in Poland and in Hungary, and it is working, so it would appear, inside the powerful Italian Communist Party. In principle, the men who have followed Stalin in Russia have accepted Titoism. There are, they have stated publicly in the Soviet-Yugoslav communique after Tito's visit to Moscow last June, different roads to socialism. About the application of this principle, there is, it would seem, still much argument. For there must be very considerable anxiety in Moscow, not only among the Communist Old Guard but perhaps also in the army, at the rapidity with which in Poland the ardent vigorous nationalism of the Poles is breaking out all over the place.

• • •

We may regard Titoism as the counterpart within the Communist world — the world between the Elbe and the Pacific — of the national uprisings which in the non-Communist world extend from Morocco to Indonesia. Titoism is the anti-colonialism, the anti-imperialism of the Communists. Moscow may be able to restrain it, here and there to set it back. But there is every reason to suppose that in Titoism, with its national autonomy, rather than in Stalinism, which is a form of Russian imperialism, lies the future of the worldwide Communist movements.

This will pose, indeed it is already posing, problems which reappraisal of many of the concepts which have served us during the Stalinist period of the cold war.

• • •

On the one hand, as Moscow ceases to be the governing center of all Communist movements, we shall see the Soviet government acting more and more like a conventional great power, like a conventional imperial power, less and less as a militant crusading power. There is already much evidence of this change. This does not mean that there is going to be agreement, much less that the Soviet government will give up its Russian objectives — to exclude us from the Far East, to establish herself in the Middle East, to push back or to liquidate the Atlantic alliance. What it means is that the Soviet government will be playing the game of power politics in the conventional way, being able to count less than it did under Stalin on the local Communist parties.

This does not promise international harmony. But it will be better than what we faced when Communism and Russian power were one and the same thing.

On the other hand, in the underdeveloped countries we must expect the Titoist Communist parties to have a much greater popular appeal than the Stalinist parties. Communism as a means of social revolution and reconstruction will less and less be handicapped by the spectre of Russian imperialism. We cannot afford to doubt that Titoist Communism will be a most formidable challenger. For Stalinist Communism inasmuch as it threatened subservience to another empire on the make, and, to speak frankly, a white man's empire at that, carries within itself to some considerable degree its own antidote.

RADIO-TV REPORT

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—Meet Francis X. Bushman, 73, once the idol of millions of women, twice a multimillionaire, thrice renowned as one of the world's great actors. Bushman has survived the vicissitudes of great success and sudden failure to achieve serenity.

Tonight on The Big Surprise (NBC-TV) the man who once made six million dollars in five years as a movie actor starts a climb that could lead him to $100,000.

"Whatever I win," he says, tapping his bride of two months on the hand, "we'll use it around the house out there in Pacific Palisades, California. It's a lovely place. You can sit there forever and look out over the Pacific . . ."

The category of his questions? Love poetry.

"It's appropriate," said Bushman with a wry smile. "After all, didn't I once have the reputation of being one of the world's great lovers? Furthermore, I like poetry and read a lot of it. When you're lonely, you read poetry. And I was very lonely after I retired. I read poetry and walked the beach and watched the Pacific . . . Now a neighbor told me about a widow woman who lived nearby —"

"That was I," said Mrs. Bushman.

"So I went to pay a call on her," continued her husband, "hoping to cheer some poor soul in her declining years. And what did I find?" He smiled at his bride.

"You found that my television set was bigger than yours," she said.

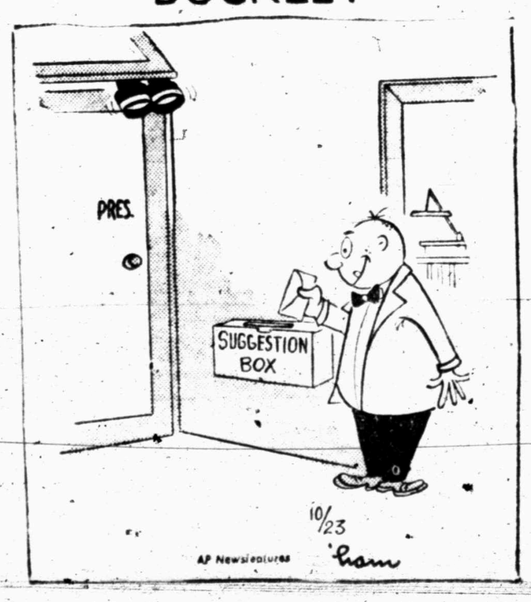

"And I found," he said, "that I could spout some poetry at you and you could finish the quotation."

In 1918, Bushman recalled, his first wife divorced him — and the resultant publicity dashed the affections of millions of women. His public did not know he was married — let alone that he had five children.

"They stoned me off the pedestal and then they threw mud at me. I had had 18 secretaries answering my fan mail from women. . . . Well after the news broke I suddenly had no mail. And the next I knew I was broke."

But he went on to earn another fortune as an actor — and lost it all again in the crash of 1929.

Wisconsin, Birthplace Of GOP, Remains Unshakably In Republican Ranks In '56

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The state where the Republican party was born just 100 years ago apparently remains unshakably Republican in 1956.

Down through this past century, Wisconsin has gone Republican most of the time. Unless advance signs are wrong, it will go for President Eisenhower again Nov. 6.

Leading Democrats in the state have all but written off Adlai E. Stevenson's chances of getting Wisconsin's 12 electoral votes.

That doesn't mean the Democrats aren't pulling up. They have been gaining for months.

So Eisenhower can't expect another victory of the landslide dimensions (Eisenhower 980,000; Stevenson 622,000) of four years ago.

Republican politicos concede that disgruntled farmers will cost Eisenhower votes, but not enough to lose the state.

For one thing, it would take a farm revolt of somewhat massive proportions to defeat Eisenhower. The state's 146,000 farm families can cast only about one sixth of the state's votes, people tied to the farm economy another sixth.

And, while the farm issue is the one big one that is helping the Democrats here, a majority of Wisconsin farmers traditionally vote Republican and a lot of them still like Ike.

With many farmers and their wives, peace is the big issue. The Wisconsin Agriculturist and Farmer found that out in a poll.

The bimonthly magazine reported in its Oct. 6 issue that a far larger proportion of farmers think the Republicans will do a better job of preventing war than the Democrats, but that far more say the Democrats will do a better job in helping raise farm income. Of the two issues, farmers rated peace more important than prosperity in a ratio of about 3-2.

As for prosperity, that's likely to help the GOP in Wisconsin's normally Democratic industrial cities. Things are booming there and in suburbia.

Employment in the state has dropped only a little below the peak set in July. Unemployment is low, although there are annoying spots of it in auto and farm implement plants that have felt the impact of decreased farmer purchasing.

On the whole, Wisconsin seems to be enjoying a feeling of relaxed, comfortable well-being. This troubles the GOP more than anything else. Consequently, party candidates are putting in some heavy licks with their own people to stir them up enough to turn out and vote.

Sitting silently on the sidelines is Republican Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, with nobody beseeching him to jump into the campaign.

Eisenhower has classed McCarthy as a senator to whom he can't look for help in putting over a program "for the good of the country." McCarthy was on the losing side in an attempt to prevent the renomination of his fellow senator from Wisconsin, Alexander Wiley.

Wiley looks like a handy winner Nov. 6 over Democratic challenger Henry Maier, the minority leader of the State Assembly.

Democratic leaders figure their best chance of capturing a top office in the state is with William Proxmire, their nominee for governor. They also are eyeing two or three congressional seats now held by Republicans, but more in hopes than certainty. The GOP has 7 of the 10 and is counting on gaining at least one.

As for the presidential race, a prominent farmer, Wilbur Renk, summed up a rather widespread sentiment throughout the state:

"The Democrats have definitely staged quite a comeback, although I don't believe the farmers are as dissatisfied as they were last spring. The only thing that would wreck Ike and the Republicans would be if he had a little stomach ache about Oct. 25 and missed one or two TV appearances."

One of the top Democrats in the state, a person who understandably uses a more optimistic tone in his public pronouncements, sized up the presidential contest like this:

"I do not think the national ticket is running well in the state. Stevenson is not popular with the masses of the voters and has done little to correct it. His TV appearances have been flat. If he would mingle and mix more, it would help.

"Eisenhower still has a lot of popularity with a lot of voters."

Disillusion: Many Artists Do Not Live Like Freaks

By INEZ ROBB

This souped-up Bohemian life of the artist is for the birds and Broadway, in the opinion of one of the nation's foremost artists.

"I'm as normal as blueberry pie, and I'm tired of people hanging around nowadays, waiting for me to detach myself from my ears," said Harry Sternberg as he stood in the middle of the American Contemporary Art gallery on New York's East 57th Street, where his latest one-man show has just opened.

"As a personality, I'm real dull. I commute, just like those other characters in the gray flannel suits," said the man whose pictures hang in the permanent collection of dozens of the most important galleries at home and abroad.

"And," he added as the final clincher to normalcy, "I have no intention of deserting my wife and child and running off to the South Seas. No one in Hollywood would waste a plugged nickel on my life or the life of any of my artist friends, and they're all top men. We're all as conventional as hell. We don't even chase each other's wives at parties like the Madison Avenue and the country club sets."

I reeled under this bleak picture of life among the palettes, but Sternberg went relentlessly on.

"All of a sudden, literature, the theatre and the movies are knee-deep in emphasis on the artist as a psychotic, wildly operating on the lunatic fringes of society. He's a drug addict. He's a sot. He deserts his family. He's a moron.

"That's the way we're pictured, when the truth is, a lot of us are Republicans. Yet the public wants to believe we're nuts, so much so that Harvard recently published a paper, 'The Artist in the University.'

"This report says, 'It is curious to what extent this myth is reserved for the visual arts: Few persons believe that an author, poet, or a composer might be slow-witted, if not frankly insane. The thought encounters little difficulty, however, that an idiot or a madman might produce drawings, paintings and sculpture of a high order, indeed, on occasion, masterpieces.' "

"So there you are," went on Sternberg. "People think an artist is a freak, when the only mad thing about us is our absolute 24-hour devotion to a trade or profession that doesn't bring in big material rewards. Art doesn't pay well. It sure as hell doesn't. And we can't keep up with the Joneses.

"But we're in love with what we do, even if we have to do all kinds of odd jobs to earn the time and the money to paint. I've kept body, soul and family together by teaching at the Art Students League for the past 20 years. I've written two books, and I do a good bit of industrail designing. I've just designed and am now producing a combination seat and easel that a lot of art schools are buying.

"I have a happy home life. I love my wife and my little girl. And I'm crazy about gardening. You should have seen my tomatoes in August! It's just like I told you, I'm a real dull character."

Washington Hostesses Preparing For Parties

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON — Capital hostess no longer wait for the White House to set the pace for the town's glamorous social season as they did previously. Already they're fanning the party mood with their own gala shindings, "jumping the gun" as it were, long ere the lights go up at 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue.

This doesn't mean, however, they're sending out invitations, booking orchestras and lining up caterers for wingdings later on. Naturally, they'll await announcement of plans for the "official" White House season — the dates of the 10 big "white tie and tiara" dinners and receptions annually staged between Thanksgiving and Lent. A White House bid is a "must" and no hostess would cream of planning a private party on a date when the President and First Lady, or an official hostess, as the case might be, is entertaining. Usually the White House program is announced in October, but Mamie Eisenhower is hold off making public her plans for a full, or even a partial season, until November 6 when the voters decide whether they want her husband to stay on in the executive mansion after January.

It's going to be a brilliant season, whatever happens, say the private hostesses, many of whom find the secret of continuing success is to remain non-partisan, at least on the social front. Back from a summer of travel and going to other people's parties away from home, they've already got off to a dazzling start:

Gwen Cafritz, one of the "Big Three" of Washington hostesses (Perle Mesta and Mrs. Merriweather Post are the others) has given the festive carouse an initial spin with her traditional "opener" a 6-to-8 party following the convening of the Supreme Court. "It's just a small party — for 300," the exotic brunette wife of wealthy realtor, Morris Cafritz, told me. "My biggest party is the one at Easter. Usually I don't work from a list, just invite people sort of on the spur of the moment, people I like and think will be fun. At Easter, I get up a long list and ask all the people I think should be invited whether we have very much in common or not."

Reducing Specialist Has Found A Full Life At 28

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Joan Grove could well be the heroine of a Hortense Alger success story.

At 28 she can't cook and is afraid of gas stoves. But she is a vice president in a 12-million-dollar a year firm, earns about $50,000 annually herself, and has a wardrobe containing 125 hats.

She also has her own apartment on Fifth Avenue —Jackie Gleason is a neighbor in the same building — dresses better than the average movie star, and collects expensive Louis XIV furniture. What else could a girl ask for — except maybe a decorative husband?

"I'm in no hurry for one," said Joan, a tall, slender, blue-eyed girl with blonde-tipped brunette hair. "Right now I like my life as it is."

Miss Grove, daughter of a Detroit auto engineer, was graduated in 1951 from Michigan State University, where she had studied sociology and psychology.

"I had dreamed of becoming a crusading social worker, spending my life helping the needy," she said, "but after looking into the financial rewards of social work, I decided I'd end up being a needy person myself. So I decided to try the business world."

A newspaper ad changed her career.

The ad was placed by Larry Mack, dynamic young president of Slenderella, Inc., who the year before had launched a nationwide chain of salons to help American women improve their figures.

Joan, who has an interesting figure herself (33-24-35), skyrocketed right up with the skyrocketing firm which last year claims it reduced U.S. women four million inches in girth and three million pounds. This has freed in a crowded land a space equivalent to that taken up by 24,000 women weighing 125 pounds, or the area required to park 2,400 cars.

Last year Miss Grove became the youngest of seven vice presidents of Slenderella, and now supervises about 225 employes in 22 salons ranging from here to Canada.

She believes any woman who is well-groomed, intelligent and has a well-balanced personality can succeed in business—and compete with men for top jobs.

"But she should be better dressed than most movie star," Joan added. "She can't afford to look as casual or disheveled in public as—well, say Marilyn Monroe sometimes does. If clothes make the man, they are even more important to the business woman.

"I am very fond of hats myself, and believe a woman should have a hat for every mood."

LITERARY GUIDEPOST

THE IDEA OF LOUIS SULLIVAN. By John Szarkowski. University of Michigan Press.

Szarkowski set out five years ago to make a photographic record of Sullivan's Prudential Building in Buffalo, N. Y. But stirred to a new enthusiasm for this great Chicago architect, he went on to a record of Sullivan in his richness and fullness, and this book is his fond interpretation, in about 100 pictures matched with pages of text and comment.

There are well adapted quotations not only from Sullivan and a man who used to work in his drafting office, Frank Lloyd Wright, but also from Whitman, Turner, Garland, Veblen, Kipling and others. Various key constructions, the Transportation Building at the Columbian Exposition, the Chicago Auditorium, the Stock Exchange, the Wainwright Building in St. Louis, the Getty tomb and so on appear in series of photos as wholes and in details. Jobs of this sort are tricky and do not often come off. Szarkowski manages wonderfully, here is Sullivan caught in these pages.

PITCHMAN. By Robin Moore. Coward-McCann.

A lusty, gusty, busty expose of the television industry in the vein of "The Hucksters" and "What Makes Sammy Run." It brings into focus the predatory shadow world of TV producers, network tycoons and free-lance packager behind your 21-inch screen. A powerful first novel, often shocking, with some brilliant (and some purple) passages.

US Fears Soviet Action In Poland

WASHINGTON (AP) — Top U.S. officials fear Russia may yet take drastic action — possibly including force — to smash Communist Poland's drive for independence.

In their view, the most dangerous phase of the struggle for control of Poland is just beginning, with the Kremlin apparently undecided about its countermove.

American diplomatic officials said Soviet leaders scarcely will sit back and let Poland slip out of their control because:

1. If successful, Poland's example in defying Moscow may be followed throughout Russia's satellite empire.

2. Kremlin leaders, led by Nikita Khrushchev, Soviet Communist boss, undoubtedly realize their future may be in jeopardy if they can be accused of fumbling away a chunk of the satellite domain left by Joseph Stalin.

3. An independent Poland would cease to be a buffer against the kind of surprise attack Nazi Germany launched in 1941. Further, it might imperil communications with Soviet army and air force units in East Germany.

Responsible officials stressed a belief that Poland's drive for independence broke so fast that the Kremlin was caught by surprise.

Now that the initial shocked has eased, they said, Khrushchev and other top Kremlin leaders undoubtedly are considering countersteps. These U.S. officials said the possibility of outright military force cannot be ruled our even though Soviet leaders apparently have avoided resort to any such steps thus far.

Reliable intelligence reports reaching Washington show that from two to four Soviet divisions in East Germany were moved to the Polish frontier last Thursday. The Soviet troops apparently did not cross into Poland, however, and may have returned to their East German bases by now, officials said.

Officials said Soviet leaders undoubtedly realize that resort to force might wreck the image of a new "reasonable" Russia which Moscow has sought painstakingly to spread before the world since Stalin's death.

American economic aid likely will be made available to the new Polish regime, if it survives, but U.S. officials said they would wait a while before acting.

Dock Boss Storms Out Of Meeting

NEW YORK (AP)—Brooklyn dock boss Tony Anastasia stormed out of the contract talks yesterday between the International Longshoremen's Assn. (ILA) and New York dock employers.

He told the shippers and stevedore firms that any new contract with the ILA would not apply to his 10,000 dockers.

Anastasia, an ILA vice president, was reported irked because union negotiators put efforts to win a nationwide contract ahead of a pet project of his— amedical of a pet project of his—a medical clinic.

Two hours before he walked out, Anastasia told ILA general organizer Teddy Gleason:

"Stay out of Brooklyn, or you don't come back alive."

The ILA seeks a 32-cent-an-hour wage boost and other benefits in a new contract with the New York Shipping Assn. Wages now average $2.48 an hour. An extension of the old contract expires at midnight Oct. 31.

The ILA is also striving to win a master contract to cover member dockers in all Atlantic and Gulf Coast ports. The union has represented these men for many years but previous contracts have been on a port-by-port or regional basis.

Ruling On Election Suit Given By Court

BROWNSVILLE (AP) — Judge James Graham said yesterday the number of contested votes in a $3,375,000 right-of-way bond election was not sufficient to change the results, and ruled against a suit contesting the election.

The bond election passed 7,623 to 2,311. Proceeds will purchase rights-of-way for Expressway 77 and for Farm roads in Cameron County.

BEYOND THE MOON—Flying upsidedown, three F100A Super Sabre fighters of the Air Force Thunderbird precision aerobatics team seem to be passing the moon, left, as they fly over Nellis Air Force Base near Las Vegas, Nev. Picture was taken in morning daylight from another jet plane flying at 15,000 feet by Russ Reed of the Oakland, Calif., Tribune. He used a No. 12 yellow filter on an aerial camera, shooting at 1,000th of a second with a lens opening of F16.

Mother, 34 Is Charged With Murder

POTTSVILLE, Pa. (AP) — A 34-year-old mother was charged with murder last night after she slashed her wrists and those of her four-year-old son and her nine-year-old daughter. The boy died.

Mrs. Cecilia Linder was arraigned before Alderman Robert J. Kalbach and ordered held in the Schuylkill County Prison without bail pending a grand jury hearing on charges of murder, assault and battery, and aggravated assault and battery.

Chief of County Detectives William Keuch said Mrs. Linder told him she tried to take her own life and those of her children early yesterday because she had been in poor health, bordering on a nervous breakdown.

She said she waited until her oldest child, 13-year-old Ethel, had left for school, then tried to smother the younger child in their beds, first with a pillow, then a towel.

Failing that, she said, she took a razor and slashed their wrists, then went to the celler and tried to hang herself. However, the rope broke, she said, so she slashed her own wrists.

Meanwhile, the girl, Cecilia leaped from her bed and ran to the home of her grandmother, Mrs. Mary Murray, who called police. The father, Lester, was on a hunting trip.

The boy, Joseph, was dead when taken to Good Samaritan Hospital in Pottsville. The mother and daughter also were treated there and later discharged, the mother into the custody of police.

Man Beats Speeding Fine With Sliderule

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Marvin Lee Perryman Jr., 29, an engineer, used a slide rule and a sheaf of maps to beat a $85 speeding fine. He convinced Criminal Court Judge Frank Ropeke the officer who arrested him was wrong in claiming he was doing 80. Perryman said the officer would have had to drive his motorcycle 140 m.p.h. from a standing start to catch a motorist going 75, and the judge agreed.

They were released in custody of their parents.

Kefauver Hits At Ike Farm Policies

WATERLOO, Iowa (AP) — Sen. Estes Kefauver accused the Eisenhower administration today of using the farm soil bank program for political purposes.

"The soil bank is being cut and trimmed to fit the political needs of the Eisenhower administration," he said in a speech prepared for delivery at a fair grounds farm-labor gathering here.

"Very little of the money is going to states that are considered sure to go Democratic. Not much more of it is going to states that are considered safely Republican."

The soil bank, enacted this year by Congress, authorizes payment of more than a billion dollars to farmers who agree to reduce plantings of surplus crops or place a percentage of the acreage into a soil reserve.

Kefauver backtracked his campaign trial into Iowa today in a new quest of the Corn Belt vote. He visited the Des Moines area Oct. 12 and this time scheduled visits at Waterloo and Mason City.

He told his Waterloo audience that the "Republican politicians are banking" on the soil bank program "to pull them through the election after three years of indifference to rising surpluses and falling prices."

He reminded the farming Midwest that until the end of 1955 Secretary of Agriculture Benson had said he was against the soil bank.

"He said it was against his principles to pay farmers to plow under their crops. But all his principles evaporated when the election loomed up on the horizon this year."

Kefauver declared Iowa farmers will "not be fooled by Republican leap year sympathy" or "political tinkering with public programs, and will repudiate it on election day."

Kefauver said as for the Eisenhower administration's past farm performance, farm surpluses are 3½ times as big as they were three years ago.

He also said the cost of three years of price support operations under Eisenhower has been double the entire cost of price supports under 20 years of Democratic administration.

Tiger Defense Has High State Ranking

The Snyder Tigers, known throughout the state for its defense, are tied for third this week among all schoolboy grid teams in Texas for defense.

The Tigers have had only 13 points scored against them all season for an average of 2.2 per game. They are tied with Grapevine for the position, both teams moved up from a tie for sixth last week, according to a survey made by the Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

Ranking at the top in the state on defense are Sweeny, with seven points scored by the opposition, and second is Hamilton, with 14 points in seven games. The Tigers have played six games and are undefeated. They have scored 169 points.

Offensively, Powell Berry continues to lead the Tigers on total offense with a total of 591 yards rushing and passing. Berry is rushing leader with 312 yards and has gained the most yards passing with 279. Berry is also the team's top punter with an average of 41.9 yards in 17 boots.

Top scorer is Milton Ham with 32 points, followed by Tommy Prichard with 30. Ham is also leading pass receiver with 243 yards and five touchdowns on 13 catches. Next is Prichard with 75 and one TD in three receptions, and Jimmy Allen ranks third with 53 yards on two catches.

Israel Hinojos leads in punt returns with an average of 42.5 yards on two runbacks, and Bobby Pollard leads kickoff returns with 22.5 in two.

Three Tigers hold perfect records on passing, although they have not done much passing this season. They are Pollard, who has thrown two passes, Prichard and Bobby Joines, one pass each. Ronnie Smith is next in percentage with .500 on completing six out of 12 for 109 yards.

School System Has Trouble With Names

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—The Jefferson County school system has come up with a unique type of shortage. Board members can't find a supply of names for new schools. Superintendent Richard Van Hoose said he's spent a futile two months trying to find a better name for Miles Lane Elementary School. He said the 55 other county schools and the 70-odd city schools have just about exhausted the supply.

He's Better Off Than He Figured

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—Truck driver Fred Robert Brown and his vehicle plunged over a bluff west of here. He soon discovered he was luckier than he first thought.

Knocked out for about four hours, and still inside his truck, the 23-year-old Brown learned his pickup truck had come to rest on the Frisco Railroad tracks only 10 minutes after a freight train roared past.

He wasn't seriously hurt.

The International Race at Laurel has been won by four different nations — England, France, United States and Venezuela.

Frosh Win Scrimmage Tilt, Six More Games Scheduled

Six more grid games are scheduled by Snyder schoolboy teams this week, while one took a win in a scrimmage last night.

Of the remaining games two will be played tonight. The junior high seventh and eighth grade B teams will go to Lamesa tonight for games, with the seventh grade teams playing at 6:30.

The six remaining games do not include one by the Snyder High School varsity team, which will have an open date this weekend.

Last night, the high school freshman team downed Colorado City frosh 20-6 in a scrimmage.

Colorado City gave Coach J. P. Ward's charges some trouble in the first period. Snyder scored first when Jimmy Moroney broke loose for a 30-yard run into the end zone, but Colorado City came back with a score.

Coleman John made the longest run of the game in the second period when he ripped off 60 yards to set up a touchdown. He made the remaining two scores in that quarter and in the fourth with runs of 15 and five yards. Devane Jones kicked both extra points.

The frosh team, with three wins, two losses, and a tie, will play a regular game when it hosts Lamesa Thursday at 7:30 p.m. The last time the two teams met Snyder won 18-12.

Also scheduled for Thursday are games by the varsity teams of the seventh and eighth grades at Colorado City, with the first game starting at 6:30. The seventh grade has a 5-0 record, and that of the eighth is two wins, one tie, and one loss.

Rounding out the week's schedule will be a game matching B teams of Snyder and Sweetwater here Saturday night. The Snyder B holds a season record of four wins and one tie.

Snyder's football teams now hold a combined season record of 20 wins, three losses, and three ties, for an overall percentage of 86.0, up from last week's figure of 80.4.

There were only two games played last week, with the varsity winning 27-7 over Dumas and B team downing Midland B 31-19.

AF Academy Grid Team Is Untested

DENVER (AP)—"Undefeated, untied and untested" is Coach Buck Shaw's report on his Air Force Academy team that's devastated four opponents in its first season of varsity football.

The Falcon's team of freshmen and sophomores has scored at least seven touchdowns in each victory over teams from smaller four-year colleges in the West.

But Shaw, veteran college and pro coach, sees room for improvement.

"They've been making an awful lot of mistakes," he said.

Those errors are not in the scoring column. Here's the academy record 46-0 over San Diego University, 53-14 over Colorado College, 48-13 over Western (Colorado) State, 49-6 over Colorado Mines.

Shaw may be right when he says the Falcons are "untested." Their four victims have a combined record of 7 won and 14 lost this season.

But those clubs are made up mostly of junior and senior players.

Col. Robert V. Whitlow, academy athletic director, has blueprinted steadily increasing competition for the Falcons. Next season they tackle five teams from the Skyline, a major conference of the large state universities in the Rockies. The academy's opponents will include Wyoming, Utah, Denver, Colorado A&M and New Mexico.

In 1958 — the senior year for the academy's first class — the Falcons hit the top row, with games against Stanford, Tulane, Iowa, Colorado and five Skyline Conference teams.

Their first interservice academy game will be with Army in 1959. Navy may be scheduled the same year but at least no later than 1960.

SWC Coaches Set Rough Workouts

By The Associated Press

Southwest Conference football coaches took stock of injuries and scheduled rough workouts Tuesday with two conference games and two intersectional games coming up.

Texas A&M started preparation for its match with Baylor with two key players injured. Back Pardee reinjured his shoulder against TCU Saturday. Tackle Bobby Lockett also received a shoulder injury in the Froggie game.

The Aggies who played most against TCU had a light workout Monday.

Baylor concentrated on defense Monday in a two-hour workout that included scrimmage. Tackle Bill Barsley and center Larry Cowart are doubtful starters against A&M.

All but 11 varsity men who started last week's match with SMU suited out for scrimmage at Rice. The second unit ran against the reserves in a long workout. G. F. Alsbrook got off a 40-yard run.

Texas, which hosts Rice this week, limbered up in shorts for its conference tussle. End Allen Ernst was inured against Arkansas last week and is expected to miss the Owl game.

TCU, which meets unbeaten Miami, Fla., Saturday, took a light workout. At least partial service is expected from injured halfback Ken Wineburg and end John Nikkel.

Coach Jack Mitchell but his Arkansas Razorbacks through a short training session with the accent on running and timing.

Gerald Nesbitt, who suffered a sprained knee against Texas last week, will be ready for Mississippi this week, Mitchell said.

SMU, which takes the weekend off, took a holiday Monday. Tuesday the Ponies watched movies of the Rice game and a little running was planned.

Wolverines Have No Star, Coach Says

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Kick around the football terms "one-man gang" and "one-two punch" all you want, but don't kick 'em toward Michigan!

Coach Bennie Oosterbaan, whose Wolverines' only loss was to powerful Michigan State, has dotted his club's old-fashioned single wing attack with a host of runners and passers of near-equal ability.

The system has been so successful that Michigan boasts no stars, says the veteran Wolverine coach.

"We don't have outstanding personnel," he insists. "We have a fine group of boys who do a number of things fairly well. They work hard as a unit, and because of their versatility, we have been fortunate enough to keep the opponents' defenses pretty loose."

To illustrate what the Michigan coach is talking about, four runners — fullback John Herrnstein and halfbacks Terry Barry, Jim Pace and Bob Ptacek — have carried the ball on 152 of Michigan's 212 running plays.

Barr has carried 35 times and leads the ground gainers with a 6.2 average. Pace has a 3.6 average for 44 carries. The sophomores, Herrnstein and Ptacek, have carried 73 times between them. Herrnstein has a 4.5 average in 53 tries and Ptacek has a 4.1 average in 20 attempts.

The Wolverine passing game is just as evenly split up. Although Michigan lacks what Oosterbaan calls a "good, consistent passer," no fewer than 11 players have tried their hand at it in the four games played so far.

QUARTERBACK CLUB MEETS

The Snyder Quarterback Club will hold its weekly meeting at 7:30 o'clock tonight in the high school cafeteria, according to Dan Cotton, president.

The film on last Friday's Snyder-Dumas game will be shown.

There will be reports from coaches of the various teams, and there will be scouting reports, Cotton said.

Young Irish Improving, Brennan Says

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Notre Dame is heading for one of the worst seasons in its glorious football history and faces one of the nation's top teams Saturday, but Coach Terry Brennan plans no drastic changes.

"We're a sophomore team," says Brennan, whose Irish were pounded by Michigan State 47-14 Saturday, "and I can honestly say our young ball club is coming along fine."

The Irish, who have lost three out of their first four games, oppose Oklahoma Saturday. The Sooners have won 34 straight games and would like nothing better than to make Notre Dame, a team they have never beaten, victim No. 35. The game will be nationally televised.

Brennan already has dismissed earlier talk of reverting to a single wing formation to take full advantage of the talents of star quarterback Paul Hornung. The Irish employ the split-T.

"We're moving all right offensively," said Brennan. "Offense is the least of our problems."

The big question is can the Irish contain Oklahoma defensively? They did a good job of it against Michigan State in the first half when they played the Spartans to a 7-7 tie.

But State's depth and speed proved too much. If Oklahoma has anywhere near the depth displayed by State, the Irish are in for another bad day.

NEW YORK (AP) — Roland LaStarza, the one-time leading heavyweight contender, announced at the St. Nicholas Arena last night that he was planning a comeback. Now 29, the Bronx Adonis hasn't fought since he was knocked out in the fifth round by Julius Mederos, March 2, 1955.

Spartans Replace Oklahoma In Poll

By The Associated Press

Football experts, reversing their previous opinions like a set of shifty halfbacks, today picked unbeaten Michigan State over equally unbeaten Oklahoma as the nation's No. 1 football team.

It was the first time this season that Oklahoma's Soonets had finished anywhere but first in the weekly Associated Press poll of sports writers and broadcasters.

The 47-14 trouncing Michigan State handed Notre Dame last Saturday seems to have swung the balance. Oklahoma racked up its fourth and record breaking, victory at the expense of Kansas 34-12.

That was the 34th in a row for the Sooners, who don't often face opposition quite as tough as Michigan State's.

Georgia Tech, whose standing in the poll has been improving steadily as its victories pile up, retained third place by a comfortable margin. After those three, the order was jumbled by upsets, but all the teams rated in the first 10 a week ago managed to stay in there as two losers tied for 10th place.

Michigan State drew 96 of 156 first-place votes this week and Oklahoma only 44.

In the point soring on the usual basis of 10 for each first place vote, 9 for second, etc., the totals came out Michigan State 1,459, Oklahoma 1,356 and Georgia Tech 1,182.

Tennessee moved from seventh into fourth place after beating Alabama 24-0. Michigan and Southern California also advanced three notches, to fifth and sixth. Texas A&M, a 7-6 winner over Texas Christian, advanced from the second 10 into seventh place. Then came Baylor, idle last weekend, and upset losers Ohio State, Mississippi and TCU, all of which fell in the ratings.

The top 10 teams with first-place votes in parentheses

1.	Michigan State (96)	1,459
2.	Oklahoma (44)	1,356
3.	Georgia Tech (9)	1,182
4.	Tennessee (4)	861
5.	Michigan	717
6.	USC (2)	646
7.	Texas A&M (1)	461
8.	Baylor	293
9.	Ohio State	210
10.	Mississippi
	Texas Christian (tie)	188

Movies Show Frogs May Have Scored

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—Texas Christian Coach Abe Martin says movies of the TCU-Texas A&M game Saturday appear to show that TCU should have had another touchdown, but "the true story of the game is that we were beaten by a good football team 7-6."

Martin said no protest was planned.

He said the picture appeared to show that Jim Swink had gone over the goal line on a play that the officials ruled didn't make it.

"The film was taken from an angle from the press box and might have been deceiving. I wouldn't say it was documentary proof that Swink had scored," Martin said.

Both teams were undefeated before the match.

Attendance Gains At SWC Grid Games

Southwest Conference football attendance is up over last year. Games this season are drawing an average of better than 3,000 above 1955.

Estimated attendance for 19 games last season was 647,881. This year 17 home games have pulled 642,004.

The average last year was 34,052. This season it is 37,764.

Arkansas, Texas, Rice, Texas A&M and SMU are registering gains over last year.

Challenge Hurled By GOP Backers

By WHITEY SAWYER
The Associated Press

Texas supporters of President Eisenhower have challenged pro-Stevenson leaders to say what they think about the Democratic candidate's H-bomb test proposals.

Gov. Shivers and Mrs. Oveta Hobby, Houston Post publisher and former member of the Eisenhower Cabinet, sided with President Eisenhower, who has opposed proposals to abandon the H-bomb tests.

Shivers issued a statement challenging Sen. Johnson and Speaker Rayburn, leaders in the Adlai Stevenson campaign in Texas, "to say how they stand on Adlai's H-bomb plan."

Mrs. Hobby, speaking at Texas Democrats for Eisenhower meetings in San Angelo and El Paso, said Stevenson "seems to urge that we give up our hard-won advantage in nuclear research in the fond hope Russia will follow our example."

Byron Skelton of Temple, Democratic national committeeman, issued a statement saying that Shivers has started "the usual Shivers campaign of smear" in the presidential contest.

Skelton's statement said that "according to the newspapers, Shivers said that Adlai Stevenson was 'without common sense or morals or both.'"

"This is in accord with the methods Shivers has used in campaigns in the past and came as no surprise to anyone," Skelton said.

Johnson was not available for comment.

Rayburn said through National Democratic Headuarters that he fears the Eisenhower administration has fallen into a propaganda trap by rejecting summarily Russian Premier Bulganin's latest proposal on ending nuclear tests.

Eisenhower sharply rejected Bulganin's suggestion for an international agreement to ban the testing of atomic and hydrogen bombs. He accused Bulganin of meddling in the American election.

President Eisenhower should be concerned with how "to save the world from atomic death" more than with diplomatic niceties, the Texas Democrat said.

Rayburn made no direct answer to Shivers.

Meanwhile, at Brownwood, Sen. Long of Louisiana criticized Monday night the interest rate policies of the government. He charged that President Eisenhower "has not tried" to do anything about them.

"The best month of the Eisenhower administration has not measured up to the worst month of previous Democratic administrations," Long charged. "The profits of small business have been reduced by 41 per cent under the Eisenhower administration and the rate at which small businesses go bankrupt has doubled.

"High interest rates of the present administration have benefited few and hurt many. They hurt small business and do not help any business except lenders."

Long speaks in San Angelo Tuesday night and in Laredo Thursday night.

Sen. Kennedy of Massachusetts, another Democratic senator pushing Stevenson, speaks at El Paso Tuesday night, at Laredo Wednesday and at San Antonio that night.

Sen. Daniel, the Democratic nominee for governor, will appear at the San Angelo, Laredo and San Antonio rallies.

Mrs. Hobby was to speak in Lubbock Tuesday afternoon, at Midland Tuesday night and Amarillo Wednesday night.

Speaking at El Paso, she scored Stevenson for what she called his "terrifyingly naive and irresponsible suggestion."

She said Eisenhower has met the challenge of the hydrogen age "with boldness and yet with prudence."

Nixon Barnstorms Michigan

EN ROUTE WITH NIXON, in Michigan (AP)—Vice President Nixon barnstormed through Michigan by train again today, cheered by predictions of local Republicans that this pivotal state is in the bag for President Eisenhower.

Sen. Charles Potter (R-Mich), who is traveling with Nixon across the state, told a reporter he had advised the vice president that the GOP ticket probably will sweep Michigan by more than the 320,000-vote margin of 1952.

"President Eisenhower has come up awfully fast in the last week or so," Potter said. "The Democratic campaign has gone completely flat."

The senator said, however, that he was not making the same forecast of an easy victory for his party in the governorship race, in which Democrat G. Mennen Williams is seeking an unprecedented fifth term. He is opposed by Detroit Mayor Albert E. Cobo.

Nixon, opening the first GOP whistle-stop tour of the campaign yesterday, spent much of his time plugging for Cobo and also for Republican congressional candidates. This gave point to his assertion that the campaign now is in the "big mopup" stage for the Republicans with the main drive for the final two weeks centered on the fight to give Eisenhower a GOP-controlled Congress.

Later today Nixon will move on to South Bend, Ind., for a visit to Notre Dame University and a major speech at a rally in that city tonight.

Nixon hammered away at two themes in his train tour of five Michigan towns yesterday. He argued that Eisenhower was far better fitted than Adlai Stevenson to keep the peace in the next four years, and that the Republican administration had given the nation four years of "true prosperity" which might be lost if the Democrats win Nov. 6.

There will be international meetings with top Russian leaders in the next four years, he said, and voters must decide whether they want Eisenhower or Stevenson to represent them at these parleys.

Nixon spoke at length last night in Flint on the prosperity theme, which he termed the pocketbook issue.

He said he was willing to concede that "New Deal and Fair Deal planners really want to help American workers and farmers.

"But they put the chicken before the egg. They wanted government to step in and redistribute wealth. But they forgot that first you must get something to distribute.

"We differ from them not in goals, but in policies for reaching these goals. Their policies failed and ours succeeded. The American worker knows this. He will not take a chance on losing the gains he has made."

Speaking in one of the country's important auto manufacturing cities, Nixon also laid heavy stress on "a bright new future" he said was coming for workingmen providing Eisenhower policies are continued.

Automation, electronics and atomic power will open the way "to a shorter work week and more leisure for workers," he said, adding that this must be accomplished by a partnership of management and workers because "government will not do this job."

Man Claims Thunder Told Him To Kill

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—A man who told police an ominous roll of thunder was a sign to kill a faith healer who had "hexed" his mother was charged with murder today.

Police said Johnny Lee Tolliver, 26-year-old Negro of Coldwater, Miss., spoke of magic incantations and heavenly signs of disaster after his arrest in the shotgun slaying of George Webster, leader of the Negro Divine Temple of Healing.

Webster was shot yesterday at the temple.

Homicide Capt. W. W. Wilkinson quoted Tolliver as saying that Webster had hexed his mother, and had started in on his sister Gracie Tolliver.

"The Lord told us to kill him," Wilkinson said the sister told officers. Both Tollivers told officers they had prayed for a heavenly sign.

"We knew the Lord was listening when he let it thunder Saturday night," Wilkinson quoted Tolliver. "He told us we were to kill the first time it rained."

The sister was charged as an accessory.

Jury Rules Ray Insane

HOUSTON (AP)—A jury deliberated 20 minutes yesterday and found Franklin Ray was insane now and at the time he attacked a stranger with a hand axe.

Ray, 36, was a partner in the F. S. Ray Co. before he attacked Lawrence Haigwood of Dallas at the Houston airport March 23. Haigwood was struck on the head three times and sent to a hospital with three gashes.

Dr. Lake Fowler of Galveston testified Ray suffered a convulsive disorder during the attack and "was not aware of what he was doing."

Dr. C. A. Dwyer testified Ray told him the seizures came regularly. Dwyer said Ray told him he had choked an elevator girl and a maid in the Texas State Hotel in 1947 and a girl in the Kirby Theater in 1946.

Dwyer said Ray "should be hospitalized for his own good and for the good of the community."

Agents Hold Part Of Loot

HOUSTON (AP)— Customs agents held today part of the loot recovered by Houston police while investigating Harvye Marley's role in the "big story" burglary here in July.

Jewelry valued at $1,905, an ermine coat, a rifle and a shotgun were recovered by detectives from a Mexican couple in Laredo, who said they bought the articles from Marley.

The coat and guns were believed stolen by Marley from Houston residents. Agent Al Scharff said if the owners fail to claim the property within a year, it will be sold at auction.

Marley was sentenced to five years after the $100,000 burglary of the Paul Denny home was brought to light by a San Antonio reporter in quest of a "big story."

Long To Speak In San Angelo

BROWNWOOD (AP)—Sen. Russell Long (La), one of a group of Democrats in Texas for Adlai Stevenson, goes to San Angelo to speak tonight.

Long criticized the government's interest rate policies in a speech last night. He said President Eisenhower has not tried to do anything about high interest rates.

"The best month of the Eisenhower administration has not measured up to the worst month of previous Democratic administrations," Long asserted.

"The profits of small business have been reduced by 41 per cent under the Eisenhower administration and the rate at which small businesses go bankrupt has doubled."

There was standing room only for Long's speech, which followed a $10-a-plate barbecue and fund-raising rally.

Long called Sen. Lyndon Johnson, who introduced him, "the greatest thing that ever happened to the U.S. Senate. Our tidelands legislation would hever have been passed without his leadership."

Long said, "I understand some efforts are being made in Texas to revive the tidelands issue, despite the fact Stevenson and Kefauver have agreed the tidelands is a closed issue."

"We have our tidelands problem in Louisiana right now. And we would like to have the help of Gov. Allan Shivers or anyone else in demanding that Atty. Gen. Brownell of the Eisenhower administration stop his efforts to strip Louisiana of the submerged lands to which we are entitled."

Shivers has charged that many Democratic senators in Texas speaking for Stevenson voted against the tidelands bill. Shivers has suggested that they explain their vote.

Maternity Bill Must Come Later

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A man who said he turned to burglary to finance the birth of his wife's baby must serve four months in jail—and then pay the maternity bill.

Police arranged for hospital care for Joe Connaughton's wife Aug. 31, the day he was arrested while attempting to burglarize the awning factory where he was employed. The baby was born the next day.

Yesterday Superior Judge Herbert V. Walker sentenced 25-year-old Connaughton to serve another four months in jail, with the provision that he can be released on probation if he pays the hospital for expenses for his wife's delivery.

Pickpocket Does Neat Cleanup Job

CHICAGO (AP)—A pickpocket did a cleanup job on a retired liquid soap manufacturer last night.

George L. Simmonds, 63, told police a man bumped into him as he was walking to his near North Side home after parking his car. Simmonds discovered a soapy substance had been sprayed on his suit, apparently, police theorized, from a toy pistol.

The stranger was apologetic and wiped off the suit with a handkerchief. When Simmonds got home he discovered his wallet containing $215 was missing.

Philippines Hit

MANILA (AP)— Typhoon Jean, which lashed across the northern Philippines Sunday, left at least one dead and five missing, reports from the area said today.

Ike's Answer To Reds Is Blasted

By The Associated Press

Adlai Stevenson said yesterday President Eisenhower erred in rejecting the latest Russian proposal for an agreement on ending nuclear tests. He said it should have been explored "immediately and all the way."

In another development of the fast-closing presidential campaign the White House said Eisenhower will undergo a top-to-toe physical examination Saturday, with results to be made public not later than Monday.

Eisenhower said in August he planned a pre-election test of his health and would report promptly to the people if it showed him unfit for a second term.

Presidential press secretary James C. Hagerty told newsmen Eisenhower's health is "fine" right now.

Meanwhile, debate raged on in the wake of the Russian proposal for an agreement to end nuclear tests — a proposal already wedged firmly into the U.S. political campaign.

Eisenhower denounced the Bulganin note Sunday as an attempt to meddle in U.S. internal affairs and a violation of usual diplomatic procedures.

Stevenson, the Democratic presidential nominee, said he shared Eisenhower's "resentment at the manner and timing" of the Soviet message, but the American reply was "unfortunate."

"The real issue is not Mr. Bulganin's manners or Russian views about American politics," Stevenson said, but what can be done "to save the world from hydrogen disaster."

Stevenson was expected to expand yesterday's statement in a nationwide radio-TV speech from New York tonight.

Time: 8 p.m., EST.

The administration has taken the position that a test ban agreement would be worthless without a foolproof mutual inspection system. Democrats have maintained tests could be ended without damaging U.S. security or retarding research.

Sen. Knowland (R-Calif) said last night Stevenson "has created a situation by his stand on ending H-bomb testing which has, by his own admission, permitted Soviet Premier Bulganin to 'interfere' in the current American election campaign."

Stevenson's vice presidential running mate, Sen. Estes Kefauver, said in Rock Springs, Wyo., Democrats will take whatever political risk is involved in going along with the Russians or any other atomic power on an end to atomic testing.

Vice President Nixon, campaigning in Michigan, said he was sure "America's workers are not going to play politics with their prosperity" by voting Democratic next month.

In Erie, Pa., Secretary of Agriculture Benson told a farm group that critics of administration farm policies are the "new reactionaries," who want to go "backward" to politics that feature "controls, not freedom."

Mrs. Hobby Lashes Adlai

EL PASO (AP)—Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby, speaking at a Democrats for Eisenhower dinner last night, said Adlai Stevenson had made an "irresponsible" suggestion in proposing a ban on H-bomb tests.

Mrs. Hobby, a former member of President Eisenhower's Cabinet, said the Democratic candidate "seems to urge that we give up our hard-won advantage in nuclear research in the fond hope that Russia will follow our example. The suggestion was met with warm endorsement in Moscow, as well it might."

Mrs. Hobby, president of the Houston Post, said Eisenhower has met the challenge of the hydrogen age "with boldness and yet with prudence."

Mrs. Hobby spoke at San Angelo and here yesterday and plans to speak at Lubbock and Midland today and Amarillo tomorrow.

Feuding Families Told To Make Up

TAVARES, Fla. (AP) — County Judge W. Troy Hall Jr. yesterday told the families of two men killed in a feud to forget the hard feelings.

He told the families of Estell R. Warnock, 35, and Leroy Lowe, 45, to devote their energies to assisting the widows and children of the victims.

The men shot each other when they met Saturday on a wild hog range in Ocala National Forest. Testimony indicated they had been feuding for months over hog hunting rights.

First Traffic Death

SMYRNA, Ga. (AP) — Smyrna (pop. 2,500) had its first traffic death in 20 years yesterday. Charlie Davis, 43, was killed when his car hit the rear of a parked truck.

Horticulture Meal Is Held In Michigan

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Rosebuds, chrysanthemums, carnations and sunflower seeds were on the luncheon menu yesterday of the 11th annual American Horticultural Congress.

Some 150 delegates, meeting at Kellogg Center, found a rosebud fruit cup at their luncheon plates. It consisted of a conventional fruit cup with a tiny rosebud in the center.

Did they eat it?

"Sure," said Mrs. Evelyn Drake director of the center's food service.

"A lot of people who work around flowers make a habit of eating them," she said.

Also on the menu:

Petal muffins made with the usual ingredients, but including chrysanthemum petals. Orange blossom honey topped the muffins.

Whipped-cream carnations for dessert, made with chopped carnation petals.

Turkey divan — Turkey breasts on top of asparagus with a side dish of tomatoes topped with chrysanthemum bud dressing.

Celery hearts and an autumn fruit salad spread on autumn leaves and sprinkled with yew berries.

The chrysanthemum muffins were especially good," commented Mrs. Drake." Very spicy."

New Curfew Law Is Approved In Pharr

PHARR (AP)—The City Council cracked down on juvenile delinquents yesterday by passing a curfew law making it a misdemeanor for any person between 14 and 17 to drive a motor vehicle while intoxicated.

Mayor R. S. Bowe said there was previously no way of dealing with juveniles caught driving drunk except under juvenile laws. The curfew law makes parents liable to fines of from $1 to $100 for any violation by their children.

The curfew prohibits loitering by persons under 18 between 11 p.m. and 6 a.m. between Sept. 1 and May 31. Between June 1 and Aug. 31 the hours are midnight to 6 a.m.

State Construction Report Is Released

DALLAS (AP)—F. W. Dodge Corp. said yesterday contracts for construction in Texas for the first nine months of 1956 were a record of $1,325,635,000.

The national construction news and marketing organization said the figure increased 15 per cent over 1955.

For September, contracts totaled $131,496,000, a gain of 23 per cent over 1955.

Rayburn Hits Decision By President

WASHINGTON (AP) — Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn said today he fears the Eisenhower administration has fallen into a propaganda trap by rejecting summarily Russian Premier Bulganin's latest proposal on ending nuclear tests.

President Eisenhower should be concerned with how "to save the world from atomic death" more than with diplomatic niceties, the Texas Democrat said in a statement issued through the Democratic National Committee.

Eisenhower on Sunday sharply rejected Bulganin's suggestion for an international agreement to ban the testing of atomic and hydrogen bombs. He accused Bulganin of meddling in the American election campaign and said that in other ways the Soviet Premier had transgressed usual diplomatic practice.

Adlai E. Stevenson, Eisenhower's Democratic opponent, said yesterday he shares Eisenhower's "resentment at the manner and timing" of Bulganin's letter. Stevenson, however, said the United States should "pursue this opening immediately and all the way."

Rayburn, in a statement telephoned here from his home in Bonham, Tex., discounted the importance of whether Bulganin had sought improperly to intercede in U.S. affairs.

"It seems to me," he said, "that the real issue is not whether the Russians sought to interfere in our domstic political debate, or whether or not they have used the proper diplomatic channels.

"The real issue is how we can find a way to save the world from atomic death. Mr. Eisenhower owes it to his country to address himself to that issue."

The White House said Eisenhower will issue sometime today a new statement, designed as a reply to Stevenson's repeated calls for this country to take the lead in efforts toward the end of H-bomb testing.

He has maintained — as he put it in his reply to Bulganin — that any agreement to end nuclear tests would be "simply a mirage" unless it was accompanied by a foolproof system of inspection and control.

Immediate Trial Of McDonald Ordered

NEW BRAUNFELS, Tex. (AP)—Judge John Fuchs ruled yesterday that the four persons indicted on theft conspiracy charges should stand trial separately and he ordered the trial of B. F. McDonald Jr. to start immediately. Selection of a jury began yesterday.

The others to be tried are George Parr and Givens Parr. D. C. Chapa, who was to stand trial, had the charges against him dismissed. He was convicted at Fort Stockton on a misappropriation of funds charge and was sentenced to five years in prison.

Judge Fuchs denied a motion to have Givens Parr stand trial first because he is ill in Corpus Christi and a delay would have been necessary.

Molitor's house wrapped in a copy of the newspaper which carried an account of the burglary. Police had no idea how it got there.
