GREECE WILL SURRENDER INSULL

EXPERT DENIES PASTOR'S WIFE WROTE LETTER

Kansas City Man Claims 'Suicide Note' Not Genuine

MOST OF DAY DEVOTED TO STATE'S REBUTTAL

Neighbor Tells of Seeing Pastor and Girl Wife Burning Trash

MUSKOGEE, Okla., Oct. 22. (AP)—District Judge W. J. Crump revealed tonight that his instructions to the jury which is to decide whether the Rev. S. A. Berrie is innocent or guilty of poisoning his wife, will carry only two alternatives upon conviction—death in the electric chair or life imprisonment.

MUSKOGEE, Okla., Oct. 22. (AP)—A tired jury will enjoy a leisurely week-end before hearing arguments in the murder case of Rev. S. A. Berrie, charged with poisoning his first wife to marry a young Sunday school teacher.

The defense rested late today after the state had concluded its rebuttal testimony. Weary from five days of strain, the jury asked for rest and District Judge W. J. Crump ordered adjournment until 9 o'clock Monday morning.

All the proof that human hands could assemble, purporting to show that a deadly drug was in Fannie L. Berrie's body either by natural circumstances, choice or through murderous intent, was huddled tonight in the minds of the jurors. W. L. Puckett, former, juror whose illness held up the case yesterday, expressed relief over abandonment of a court session tonight.

Much of today's testimony was taken up with state rebuttal after the defense closed this morning without placing the defendant on the witness stand. However, a transcript of testimony he gave at habeas corpus hearing was read to the jury.

Commenting on the note which the hymn-writing pastor alleged was written in desperation by his first wife after she "was driven crazy by gossip," Sherman testified: "In my opinion, it was traced from words such as appear in the handwriting of Mrs. Berrie."

Sees Trash Burned

The transcript of Berrie's testimony quoted him as once saying Mrs. Berrie "had a notion of swallow a bottle of strychnine."

A highlight in today's testimony came from Mrs. B. L. Harbison, neighbor of Berrie, who said she

RUMOR CABINET JOB FOR SMITH

NEW YORK, Oct. 22. (AP)—The New York World-Telegram, in a copyrighted dispatch from Ray Tucker, its Washington correspondent, says that "a new cabinet post to be filled by Alfred E. Smith will be created by Governor Roosevelt if he is elected president.

"It was learned today," says the dispatch, "that the Democratic nominee already has discussed his plan to name the popular New Yorker, provided he will accept, to an office in which he can utilize his ability in handling federal finances and reorganizing government departments. Mr. Smith, under the plan, would be a combination of budgetary officer and federal coordinator."

HUNTER AGAIN PLEDGES VOTE DEMO TICKET

Tom F. Hunter, Wichita Falls oil man and attorney, who ran third in the first primary in the state gubernatorial race, Saturday received a request from S. S. McClendon, chairman of the Smith county Democratic committee, for his attitude regarding the governor's race in Texas. Mr. McClendon explained that there was to be a meeting of Smith county Democrats at Tyler Saturday night and that Mr. Hunter's stand would be announced at that time.

Hunter's answer follows:

"Have committed myself twice from platform and three times through press that I would support the Democratic ticket from president to constable. Have never scratched a ticket.

"In announcing this to the local press Mr. Hunter said he would like to add the following comment:

"When the real estate of Texas produces only 15 per cent of our cash receipts, while it pays approximately 77 per cent of the ad valorem taxes it is prima facie evidence that the combines with intangible and hidden wealth are doing something to us."

HIJACKERS TERRORIZE OUTLYING ROADS AND EIGHT GROUPS ROBBED

A miniature reign of terror moved over Wichita Falls and the surrounding territory Saturday night as two bandits hijacked eight local parties, took five persons captive and helped themselves to two automobiles.

City police officers, led by Police Chief Dick Morris, and a sheriff's posse, headed by Sheriff Perry Browning, combed the roads and by-ways of Wichita county and the city immediately after the first word of the bandits was received. At 1 o'clock Sunday morning no trace of the two had been found.

A young couple, names unknown, were in the power of the pair when last heard of, and police had not learned who the couple were.

Two Wichita Falls residents, Grady and F. L. Taylor, were hijacked near Dundee, Archer county, and their money and personal property was taken before they were bound and put in the back of the Chevrolet sedan, driven by F. L. Taylor. The bandits abandoned their car, believed to have been stolen, when they held up the Taylors.

The Taylors were kept captive throughout the hijacking tour and were able to give police a descrip-

Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, former governor and wife of James E. Ferguson, former governor who was impeached and removed from office during his second term in 1917, won the Democratic nomination over Governor Sterling in the party primaries last summer.

Claims Majority

Governor Sterling claimed a majority of the "legal votes cast," in the run-off primary of last August were marked for him and contested Mrs. Ferguson's nomination with a suit in district court. The contest was dismissed, however, and the su-

SEEK EMBARGO TO PREVENT DUMPING OF MANGANESE ORE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22. (US)—Soviet Russia is dumping manganese ore in the United States at $21.50 a ton against an average of $32.50 per ton as the lowest possible selling price for American produced ore, U. S. Customs Commissioner Eble was told today during hearings on an application for an anti-dumping embargo.

The embargo has been sought for more than a year, but has been opposed by the iron and steel industries in this country, which claim the ban on Russian imports would force them to use inferior American ore at an advanced price, and would thus increase the cost of steel manufacture.

Almost all American mines, scattered through California, Arizona, Nevada, New Mexico, Montana, Arkansas, Tennessee, Georgia, North Carolina and North Dakota, have been closed down by the Soviet competition. Commissioner Eble was told.

The American industry was represented by J. Carson Atkerson and B. S. Barron, who asked that a temporary "order of suspension" be issued, bonding all future imports of Soviet manganese until the commission had definitely determined whether the ore is being dumped here in violation of the law.

COLORADO RIVER BEING DIVERTED FROM COURSE FOR HOOVER DAM BASE

BOULDER CITY, Nev., Oct. 22. (AP)—The mighty Colorado river in the period of its weakness—low water—is about to be turned by the hand of man from the bed it has formed in carving a mile deep channel.

Excavation work was under way today at the intake of diversion tunnel No. 4 which within a month will divert the river through a canyon wall. The diversion tunnel to be first used is on the Arizona side, one of four great tunnels 50 feet in diameter and nearly a mile long, two being on each side of the river.

When the Colorado is sent through the tunnel, it will leave a section of riverbed nearly a mile long which engineers will scour down to bedrock and then lay foundations for the Hoover dam—largest structure of its kind in the world.

COTTONSEED CRUSHERS' ASSOCIATION DISCUSSES PROBLEMS OF INDUSTRY

DALLAS, Oct. 22. (AP)—A tariff barrier against foreign fat products for protection of domestic producers and a reduction of one-third in freight rates on cottonseed meal and cake were approved by the Texas Cottonseed Crushers association today.

Henry Wunderlick of Austin, chairman of the organization's traffic committee, declared that rates to Alpine, Texas, a center of the cattle country, were "higher than they are to Denmark," on products of his association; while rates from here to such points as Wyoming and Montana often are more than the price received by the producer of those commodities.

J. T. Gant of Wichita Falls, president, was in charge of the meeting.

PRESIDENT OF GREECE ACTS TO EXPEDITE EXTRADITION INSULL SIGNS GRECO-AMERICAN TREATY

(Copyr't, 1932, by Universal Service, Inc.)

ATHENS, Oct. 22.—The president of Greece, Dr. Alexander Zaimis, tonight took the case of Samuel Insull, indicted Chicago utilities operator, out of the hands of politicians and acted to expedite Insull's extradition to the United States.

Going over the head of Premier Eleutherios Venizelos, President Zaimis himself signed the official Greek copy of the Greco-American extradition treaty and ordered it be sent by air mail tomorrow to Paris to catch a fast liner to America.

It was learned reliably that a representative of the American legation, said to have been Charge d'Affaires Leland Morris, had personally called on President Zaimis to ask him to sign the treaty as an act of amity.

The president acted swiftly, confounding Premier Venizelos and other political leaders who have been making political capital for two weeks out of Insull's "safety" in Greece and their "protection" of the aging man whose utilities empire in America collapsed.

Due in Ten Days

The treaty should reach the United States within 10 days, going into force as soon as official copies are exchanged between the Greek envoy in Washington and the state department. The state department can then officially ask that Insull be extradited to stand trial in Chicago on indictments charging embezzlement and larceny.

The extradition convention has already been ratified by congress and the Greek parliament, and all that remains before its coming into force is the exchange of copies in Washington. The Greek copy had lain unsigned in the archives here for more than a year.

President Zaimis' action came shortly after a late afternoon report that the government would

Nominee Tells Audience She Has Always Supported Nominee

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 22. (AP)—Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, Democratic nominee for governor of Texas, in an address here tonight, took cognizance of an intra-party bolt directed against her election on Nov. 8 with a plea for party regularity.

The candidate, first and only woman ever elected to the chief executive's chair in Texas, faced a situation this time similar to the one that obtained in 1924 when she was her party nominee. That time, also a presidential year, she defeated the Republican candidate, George C. Butte, by a plurality of 127,000.

Partisans of Gov. R. S. Sterling, incumbent, defeated for a second term nomination in the party primary by Mrs. Ferguson, have under way a well organized bolt, led by Sterling himself, against the Democratic selection and in favor of the

DEPORTED LEGATE POINTS TO POPE'S PLEA FOR PEACE

LAREDO, Texas, Oct. 22. (UP)—Anti-government action or violence by Catholics in expressing displeasure of control of clergy or laymen is in opposition to expressions of Pope Pius XI, Archbishop Leopoldo Ruiz y Flores, deported papal legate to Mexico, said here today in an interview with the United Press.

The archbishop, completely rested after his hurried departure from Mexico City, early in October, spoke briefly of papal relations with Mexico.

He declined to comment on his present status, relating agreements with Mexican authorities and Vatican City as explanation of his position before his deportation.

"The official declaration of President Portes Gil, published in the official daily of June, 1929, and cited by the pope in his last encyclical as modus vivendi base which permitted continuation of cult," said Archbishop Flores, "may be interpreted in accordance just as well as against the 1917 constitution because in its 24th article the constitution recognizes every man has the right to profess and practice his religion, while article 130 makes almost impossible practice of religion.

WESTERN MANAGER OF CRUSADERS WARNS OF DRY FORCES' CHARGES

CHICAGO, Oct. 22. (AP)—Col. Ira L. Reeves, western manager of the Crusaders, an anti-prohibition organization, says he has sent a letter to battalion commanders informing them to expect the appearance of "a political canard" based on the disappearance of "a well-known reformer and dry leader."

It was admitted the reference was to Col. Raymond Robins, dry leader and friend of President Hoover, who disappeared on his way to the White House from New York last September.

Colonel Reeves said he did not know what use, if any, the dry forces might attempt to make of Robins' disappearance. He advised his subordinates, however, to be prepared to refute any suggestion implying that the "wets" were responsible for Robins' continued absence.

MATTOON, Ill., Oct. 22. (AP)—Despondent and desperate, she said, because of inability to find employment, Mrs. Inez Stated Carrell, 29, a widow and former private secretary in Chicago, tonight told authorities she killed her three children and tried to kill herself. The children's bodies were found lying on beds in the hotel room she rented Friday night. Doctors said the mother probably would recover from an overdose of sleeping poison.

The tragedy was discovered by Lloyd Myers, manager of the hotel.

The children, who, Mrs. Carrell told Coroner F. S. Schilling, were first given heavy doses of sleeping potion and then drowned in a bathtub, were: Mary Ellen, 5, Robert, 7, and June 10.

Mrs. Carrell, unconscious, was found lying on the bathroom floor when Myers, his curiosity aroused by the failure of the woman or children to put in appearance during the day, broke into the room.

She was hurried to the Methodist Memorial hospital, where she regained consciousness.

Reveal Organized Band in Florida With Quota of One Flogging Weekly Ten Attacks Reported to Officers

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Oct. 22. (AP)—Belief that an organized gang is operating here on a set quota of one flogging a week, administered to some person accused by the band of activities to which it objects, was expressed, by police today after reports of additional whippings which brought to 10 the number recently reported.

Reasons assigned for the attacks said Police Lieutenant W. O. Silcox, ranged from charges of bootlegging to "living in a negro district" and "holding a white man's job." Officers said some of the men's charges had been investigated and found false.

Four new reports of floggings were received today, police said. Five of the victims were women, two white men, and hree negroes.

Names of persons reporting they had been beaten were withheld in most cases, officers saying secrecy would assist their investigation.

One woman reported she had been beaten last August, but had feared to say anything until the investigation began. She said she was afraid she would be punished further.

RIOT FOLLOWS NEW YORK CITY PRISON MURDER

More Than 300 Policemen With Machine Guns Called to Scene

MAN STABBED TO DEATH IN PRESENCE OF WARDEN

Climax of Bitter Feud Between Irish and Italian Prisoners

WELFARE ISLAND, N. Y., Oct. 22. (US)—With lighting speed furious rioting swept this island prison today after one convict was stabbed to death before Warden McCann's eyes in the climax of a bitter feud between Irish and Italian prisoners.

More than 300 policemen, equipped with machine guns and tear gas bombs, were rushed to the island in boats and after firing more than 100 "warning" shots managed to corral the several hundred rioting convicts and lock the ringleaders in solitary confinement.

Three police planes circled over the New York county penitentiary that occupies this entire strip of land in the East river and a squad of patrol boats surrounded the island to prevent any attempt of prisoners to escape by swimming.

Irish Prisoner Slain

The murdered prisoner was George Holshoe, member of a committee of Irish prisoners who had gone to Warden McCann's office with a committee of Italian prisoners to discuss the grievances which had developed between the two groups.

In the midst of the discussion which became heated Holshoe began to wrangle with some of the Italian prisoners. Suddenly a knife flashed through the air and was buried in Holshoe's chest just as Warden McCann rushed over to halt the argument.

It was not immediately determined who did the stabbing for the knife was dropped to the floor in the melee that followed but Joe Rao, known as "the Harlem terror," was held for questioning.

Riot Follows Stabbing

The rioting began immediately after Holshoe was stabbed. Members of the two committees began to fight with fists, chairs, and improvised weapons that suddenly were brought out from concealment.

Warden McCann pleaded with the men to stop but found himself powerless to halt the rising tide of battle. Guards who came to his assistance were shoved aside.

Word spread rapidly to several hundred convicts exercising in the prison yard and in a flash they took sides and plunged into a pitched battle of flying rocks, sticks and fists.

Those locked in their cells seized the opportunity to join the tumult as soon as tidings of the fight reached them and they smashed furniture, rattled cell bars and screamed.

The police threw a cordon around all the buildings as soon as they arrived on the island, set up machine guns, and fired shots into the air to warn the convicts.

Gradually, the prison guards managed to herd the men together and re-establish order while the suspected ringleaders were sorted out and speedily locked up in solitary cells.

TWO ALLEGED GANGSTERS INJURED IN AUTO CRASH EN ROUTE DENVER TRIAL

DENVER, Oct. 22. (AP)—Injured, perhaps fatally, when their motor car crashed last night near Watkins, Colo., two alleged Chicago and Kansas City gangsters were in a Denver hospital today.

They are Joe Fiore, Chicago, accused extortionist, and Vito Balestrari, Kansas City, professional body guard. Both were slated for trial here Monday for an asserted effort to extort $5,000 from George F. Daly, Denver investment brokers.

The men were pulled from their wrecked car by farmers of Watkins who heard the crash. There was no sign of another car on the highway, officers were told, and no apparent reason for the accident. The two men, who were free on bond, were assumed to have been hurrying back from Chicago for their trial.

Fiore and Balestrari were arrested with Joseph Roma, reputed local gang leader, two months ago in Daly's office.

REMEMBER THE LEAGUE O' NATIONS?

Sermon for today will be: Diplomacy is a snare and a delusion. And he who is overcome thereby shall inherit the League of Nations.

What's happened to the good old league? It's collapsed like one of Laurel and Hardy's kitchen chairs.

In trying to bring peace and good will to the surface it was drowned in the struggle. The league is like the farmer who went to market with a load of hay. He stopped at a speakeasy, took five drinks and forgot his errand.

Today the league has lost its original purpose and is just a lot of local boys drawing international salaries. It is supported entirely by England as the other nations haven't got enough money to stuff an olive.

The idea of the league originated in the pulp factory of Versailles in 1920. Those paper manufacturers were then turning out nine million yards of peace treaties a day. Production has now ceased and the league is back in the minor circuit with Ninevah and Tyre.

It's just as well. When we meet Maude Muller we'll have a crying duet over the saddest words of tongue and pen.

BETA SIGMA PHI TO STAGE ANNUAL PROM Y. W. C. A. MONDAY

"Girls Only" will be the placard hung outside the door of the Y. W. C. A. Monday evening when members of the Texas Kappa chapter of Beta Sigma Phi stage the "Powder Puff Prom."

The fact that there are no boys present will not mean that there will be no "dates." Members of the sorority as well as many of the invited guests, will be dressed in masculine attire. All who attend have been asked to wear masks.

Besides modern dancing, entertainment for the evening will include old-time square dancing, such as many of the young business women witnessed during the jubilee but were not able to join in because they could not compete with the "old-timers." An accomplished fiddler will be on hand to furnish the music, and T. A. Hicks will be there to call the dances. "Julia" will interest the guests with her knowledge of the "past" and her prophecies for their future. In addition to these attractions, two students from the Knickerbocker School of Fine Arts will be presented in novelty tap dances, and the Misses Burgess Eason and Beverly Calhoun will each appear as soloists in groups of popular song hits.

Beta Sigma Phi is a national educational and social sorority for business girls, the local chapter having been organized here last year. Miss Alta Saye is president and Miss Ora Watts, vice president. Members of the social committee who are in charge of arrangements for Monday evening are the Misses Watts, Agnes Blackmon, Anne Edwards, Winnie Foster and Louise Roberson.

Extra Special Session Congress To Legalize Beer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22. (US)—Democratic leaders are confident that Franklin D. Roosevelt, if elected president, will call a special session of congress next April, which would promptly legalize beer.

In urging this action on the Democratic nominee today, Representative James M. Mead, Democrat of New York, expressed the opinion that May 1, 1933, was the earliest date the Volstead act can be modified.

Even if the present congress passed a beer bill at the short session, Mead doubted whether the necessary two-thirds majority could be mustered to override President Hoover's veto, which would be sure to meet it, he said, adding:

"The surest and safest way to obtain immediate relief from every standpoint is modification of the Volstead law and this can be accomplished by the next president calling a special session of congress for the express purpose of liberalizing the present prohibition statute.

"With the election of Governor Roosevelt and Speaker Garner and a wet majority in the house and senate the sponsors of modification will have the question to be decided in the hands of their friends."

While expressing confidence that the next house will be wet, Mead said the majority may fall short of two-thirds needed to submit a resolution repealing the 18th amendment to the states. He pointed out that this was especially true in the senate as only one-third of that body seeks re-election this year.

GREECE MOVES TO EXTRADITE INSULL

shortly order Insull deported in order to "clear its skirts" with Washington. No official had been willing, at first, to discuss the report.

Unusual Activity

Premier Venizelos returned to Athens this afternoon from his summer home at Loutraki, a seaside resort, and his arrival was followed by unusual activity in the foreign office, ordinarily desolate on Saturdays.

The premier had evidently been advised of the American representations to the president, and hastened to the capital to ward off, if possible, outward signs of the sharp division in governmental attitude over disposition of the Insull affair.

Insull, meanwhile, scoffed at a rumor that he was planning to waive extradition and return to Chicago of his own volition. He said:

"That's all bunk. I sent to Paris for more clothes, if that is any indication of my plans."

Wants to Come Home

LONDON, Oct. 22. (US)—Samuel Insull Jr. was quoted in the London Evening News today as saying:

"I want to get back to the United States because my job is there, and my wife and baby are waiting for me. I have lost every bit of property I have. I have only my job left and I want to hang on to that."

At his hotel, Insull refused to discuss the reason for his trip to London, declaring:

"I can only say my stay here is to be short. I propose to return to the United States next month, and I may visit my father in Athens first."

True Love

Wife: You don't love me! The doctor says I must have a reducing course and you won't let me. Unsympathetic brute!

Hubby: Of course I love you, darling. I love you so much I can't stand to lose an ounce of you.—Lustige Kolner Zeitung.

DUNCAN PROPERTY TAXES CUT FIFTH BY EXCISE BOARD

DUNCAN, Okla., Oct. 22.—Duncan property taxes have been cut approximately a fifth over 1931 by action of the excise board in fixing levies. The rate for Duncan property this year is $49.54 per $1,000, but under the 20 per cent reduction in valuation, property that was assessed at $1,000 last year is in the tax rolls for only $800 now. The rate last year was $48.31.

Duncan city reduced its sinking fund levy form 17.89 mills to 16.29 mills because of a surplus transferred from the general fund to the sinking fund. There is no general fund tax levy, since expenses are met by surplus revenues from the water and light departments.

The county levy this year was increased from 7.92 mills to 9.88 mills. Because valuations dropped, it was necessary to increase the sinking fund levy 3.72 mills to 5.56 mills to raise funds required to pay interest and retire bonds.

The total tax rate in Marlow this year is $54.75 per $1,000, against $52.51 last year. Comanche's rate this year is $85.97, against $77.13 last year.

TARIFF COMMISSION TO INVESTIGATE SCHEDULES AT HOOVER'S REQUEST

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22. (AP)—Chairman Robert L. O'Brien said today the tariff commission would meet within a few days to take up the request of President Hoover that it investigate whole tariff schedules.

The chief executive called him to the White House yesterday, he said, and requested that the commission "give serious consideration and focus its attention" on determining whether American tariffs were adequate for protection against imports from countries which have depreciated currencies.

The chairman was unable to give the method by which the commission would go about the investigation, or the time it would take. This would have to be worked out, he said, in drafting the program for the survey.

RUBBING IT IN

"Who was that man you raised your hat to?"

"Oh, that was my barber! He sold me a bottle of hair restorer a month ago, and whenever I meet him I raise my hat and let him see what a fraud he is."—Answers.

NEVER FORGETS

"Why, Donald, it must be nearly 10 years since I last met ye."

"Aye, Sandy, 'tis a mighty long time. We must celebrate."

"Aye, let's. But ye'll remember, Donald, I paid the last time."—Tit-Bits.

EXPERT SAYS WIFE NOT WRITER NOTE

saw the pastor and the 19-year-old Sunday school teacher he married several weeks after his first wife's death burning trash.

"They seemed to be picking something out of a container and burning it," Mrs. Harrison said. "I saw the young wife bend over and pick up a bottle and when she started to look at it, Berrie grabbed it out of her hand and threw it into the trash."

Robert Ledbetter, county jailer, a rebuttal witness for the state, told of examining a worn Bible in which a purported "suicide" note from the first Mrs. Berrie was found by the minister as he looked through the volume in the jail.

"The paper was there, but no poetry," Ledbetter said, examining the note. He added that three sheets of paper fell out of the Bible, but there was no writing on one of them.

Jailer on Stand

John Hawn, a jailer, was asked if he saw the note in the Bible when he received it in the jail.

"No, it wasn't there," the witness answered.

Mrs. A. C. Trotter, sister of the first Mrs. Berrie, the next rebuttal witness, was asked if her brother had taken his own life.

"We never thought so," she answered.

County Attorney Phil K. Oldham took the stand to identify letters with Mrs. Berrie's handwriting and other papers, thus setting the stage for the handwriting expert.

Today's proceedings in the case followed an all-day suspension of court yesterday due to the illness of a juror, who recovered from a malaria attack in time for the opening of court this morning.

District Judge W. J. Crump handed a box of medicine to another juror this afternoon upon request of the latter's family, who reported he had a cold.

TEXAN REFUSES TO BE IMPLICATED IN IMPOSING PRESIDENCY ON ANYBODY

AUSTIN, Texas, Oct. 22. (INS)—Don Biggers is mad and he doesn't care who knows it.

It seems that somebody put his name on the ballot as an elector for president—Biggers can't find out what party—and though he has held various offices, not to mention running for various others, he'll have no truck with politics this year.

"Conceding," he said, "as modesty compels me to do, that my name as a presidential elector would insure the election of that particular party, yet patriotism likewise compels me to say I positively refuse to be a party to imposing the responsibility of the presidency of these United States on any person during the next four years."

MEXICO SENDS COX TO TEXAS

Deported to Laredo Under Federal Escort

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 22. (UP)—Seymour E. J. Cox, Texas and Oklahoma ordered deported from Mexico on a charge his passport was improper, entrained for Laredo today in custody of two immigration agents.

The charge against Cox was preferred after complaints were made by the United States he promoted fraudulent mining stock.

Cox was due to arrive at Laredo Sunday morning, where United States postal inspectors and federal officers from Oklahoma are expected to be waiting for him.

The one-time associate of Dr. Frederick A. Cook in oil stock promotion when arrested here was at liberty under bond while he appealed a mail fraud conviction returned at Oklahoma City.

George H. Graham, who had been detained with Cox, was released. Police here described him as Cox's bodyguard. He was an oil field worker from Texas.

The complaint made against Cox followed a fraud order issued Aug. 5 by the United States government against the La Provesdor Mining company. It was alleged thousands of dollars of stock had been sold in the company and that it owned no mines.

Cox was given a 10-year sentence in the Oklahoma City fraud case. Mrs. Cox, who was with him here, was given a lighter sentence. Both appealed. Previously the oil man served 33 months in Leavenworth penitentiary on a mail fraud conviction returned at Fort Worth in an oil stock promotion case.

HOME SUPERINTENDENT CHICAGO SCHOOLS BOMBED FAMILY ESCAPES INJURY

CHICAGO, Oct. 22. (INS)—The home of William J. Bogan, Chicago's superintendent of schools, was bombed today. No one was hurt, although Bogan, his wife and three children were asleep in the house when the bomb exploded.

Bogan revealed that the bombing was preceded by a note, received two weeks ago, warning him to "get right with the business people."

State's Attorney John A. Swanson announced, as a squad of officers hurriedly left his office, that he believed the identity of the bombers was known but declined to reveal it pending further investigation and possible arrests.

DANDRUFF
A Sure Way to End It

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get plain, ordinary liquid arvon from any drug store (it won't cost you more than thirty-five cents), apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.—Adv.

REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE FOR STEPHENS COUNTY SHERIFF QUITS RACE

DUNCAN, Okla., Oct. 22.—Being a Republican will mean only an opportunity to vote for President Hoover and the state ticket for most members of the party in Stephens county, Nov. 8. R. G. Logan of Comanche, nominee for sheriff, and the only candidate on the Republican ticket for a county-wide office, withdrew this week.

Withdrawal of Logan leaves the race for sheriff between Earl Russell, Democrat, and Ed Cheves, Independent. Russell is a Duncan cattle buyer. Cheves operates a cafe here.

E. B. Goodrich, Marlow farmer, is the Republican nominee for county commissioner in the north district. J. T. Ault is the party candidate for commissioner in the south district. There is no Republican nominee in the Duncan district, where most of the Republicans reside.

Despite the fact that they have only two candidates for office in the county, Republicans under the leadership of Ben Ridge, Duncan postmaster and county chairman, have been waging an active campaign for President Hoover and the state ticket.

HALF OF COTTON CROP GATHERED IN WARREN AND BLAIR SECTIONS

ALTUS, Okla., Oct. 22.—Approximately one-half of the cotton crop in the Blair and Warren communities has been handled, according to the estimate given by farmers who visit the gins when they bring their cotton to these points.

Ginning at these two points in the northern section of the county reached more than the 3,000-bale mark this week and the crop to be handled there is estimated at about 6,000 bales.

If fair weather continues for several days the major portion of the cotton will be handled in a very short time. School children are helping gather the crop since school has been dismissed there for the past few weeks for students to aid.

Governor Ritchie Recalls Promises Reviews Results

DETROIT, Oct. 22. (AP)—The Democratic party today was depicted by Gov. Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland as "ready and eager for the opportunity to fight unemployment and the business depression."

Addressing a Democratic mass meeting here last night, the Maryland governor said that a victory for Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt would be a victory for "the man who tramps the streets today, unemployed through no fault of his own."

Referring to a recent address before the American Bar association, Governor Ritchie said President Hoover "warned against 'false prophets' who promise the 'millennium.'" He continued, "it is only natural to ask how much of the millennium which he prophesied in 1928 has come to pass."

"President Hoover grappled with farm relief," he said, "and never has the American farmers needed relief so much as now. He signed the Smoot-Hawley tariff bill, and never has an American tariff caused so much disaster as this one.

"He promised that poverty would be abolished, and ten million people are looking for jobs. He pledged economy in government, and never has a government spent so much. He guaranteed a sound fiscal policy, and the government is hopelessly in the red."

CULLEN THOMAS URGES SUPPORT OF AMENDMENT FOR TEXAS CENTENNIAL

DALLAS, Oct. 22. (AP)—Cullen F. Thomas, president, at a meeting of the Texas Centennial commission today, urged voters to adopt at the general election next month an amendment to the state constitution authorizing the Texas legislature to designate a place and date for the Texas centennial in 1936 and appropriate funds for the celebration.

Most of the 70 members of the commission expressed belief that the amendment would be adopted. Optimistic reports were made by Will H. Mayes, former lieutenant-governor and executive vice president of the commission; Penrose Metcalf of San Angelo, Mrs. W. R. Jones of Brownsville and others.

Organizations to sponsor the amendment have been established in 220 Texas counties, Mayes said.

MANKINS P.-T. A. HEARS PROGRAM ON HEALTH

MANKINS, Texas, Oct. 22.—The Mankins P.-T. A. met Thursday afternoon, Oct. 20, in the high school auditorium with an interesting program and lesson on "Health."

During the business session, the members decided to sponsor a Halloween party, Oct. 31, in the Mankins school auditorium. The members also voted to invite the school of instruction to Mankins, Dec. 3. Mrs. R. L. Kincaid of Crowell, president of the 13th district, will be in charge of the meeting, assisted by Mrs. J. B. Hill Jr. of Newcastle.

About 20 members were present for the meeting.

WHAT-A-MAN HUDSON TO FIGHT DIVORCE ACTION

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 22. (UP)—Guy Edward (What-a-Man) Hudson does not intend to permit Mrs. Minnie (Ma) Kennedy-Hudson, mother of Aimee Semple McPherson-Hutton, evangelist, to obtain a divorce without a strenuous fight.

Hudson filed a demurrer and a motion to strike certain paragraphs from the divorce complaint filed by Mrs. Hudson several months ago.

WELLS REOPENED IN OKLAHOMA CITY AFTER AGREEMENT

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 22. (AP)—Four wells of the H. F. Wilcox Oil and Gas company were flowing today and Col. Cicero I. Murray, in command of Oklahoma City oil field troops, said six others will be opened as the result of an agreement reached with Wilcox officials late yesterday.

Colonel Murray was to confer with special attorneys for the corporation commission on preparation of new charges of overproduction against the company, he announced.

The complaint will seek a new shutdown order similar to the one issued July 14 on which commission attorneys confessed error yesterday, in connection with Wilcox's appeal to the state supreme court. The wells have been closed since July except for a brief opening in September after the court granted $5,000 supersedeas bond, which was ignored by Governor Murray.

Wilcox attorneys said they will drop a federal court suit to enjoin the militia from interference as a result of dismissal of the shutdown order.

Indignant Clerk Subdues Robbers On Second Visit

NEW YORK, Oct. 22. (AP)—John Jones Jr., cordial store clerk, can be pushed only so far. After that he gets indignant.

It didn't rile him much when two robbers entered his shop Thursday night and took $3—all that was in the till.

But brazenness is a quality Jones does not like in robbers. Nor does he relish references to the adiposity of his boss, for whom he has the highest respect.

That's why he got angry when one of the robbers sniffed at the $3 and said:

"This isn't enough dough for us. Have your big fat boss here tomorrow night with his roll—and we'll be back."

Jones thought it over yesterday and the more he thought the madder he got.

He was hopping when the same two stickup men strode in shortly after midnight today and said, "Well, where's that big boss and his roll?"

With a berserk howl, he brushed aside the two pistols, clambered on one robber's back and began to tweak his ears and choke him.

The rumpus brought detectives, who arrived just in time to club down two men fleeing up the street.

They said they were William A. Sant and George Sibley and police said they had deserted from the army post at Fort Hamilton.

MRS. JESSEL FILES SUIT FOR DIVORCE RENO, NEV. PLEADS EXTREME CRUELTY

Mrs. Jessel charged extreme cruelty.

Simultaneously Jessel filed an answer, setting forth a general denial. This paved the way for an early hearing and it was expected the case would be heard Monday or Tuesday behind closed doors and without contest.

A property settlement was made Oct. 18 between the Jessels but its terms were not disclosed.

The Jessels were married in May, 1928, in Chicago.

Mrs. Jessel created a sensation a few weeks ago when she disappeared from Reno and a widespread search was conducted for her. Later it was revealed she had made a secret trip to New York to complete arrangements for the property settlement.

Jessel has been appearing on the stage with Norma Talmadge, who recently declared reports of their "engagement" were erroneous.

TEXAS PLANS SUIT TO FORCE FAIR DIVISION OF PECOS RIVER WATER

AUSTIN, Oct. 22. (AP)—Ralph Yarbrough, assistant attorney general, announced today that Texas plans to enter suit in United States district court against the state of New Mexico to force a "fair division" between the commonwealths of the waters of the Pecos river.

Yarbrough recently visited the section embraced as the Pecos watershed. He was accompanied by Vernon L. Sullivan, an engineer of El Paso.

It was found that a number of water projects in New Mexico, coupled with artesian development, has dried springs that formerly supplied the Pecos river, the result being a marked loss of water normally carried by the stream.

The last Texas legislature authorized the attorney general's department to investigate and file suit to force an equitable division if necessary.

Rosalinda Morini Received $100,000 From Otto H. Kahn

CHICAGO, Oct. 22. (INS)—One hundred thousand dollars was the amount Otto H. Kahn, former head of the New York Metropolitan Opera company, had to pay Rosalinda Morini for denying he had said her voice was "one of the most beautiful I have ever heard."

Such, at least, was the assertion here today of the diva, whose libel suit against Kahn was settled out of court. She said $25,000 of the damages went to her attorneys.

Previously it was reported that the singer had received only $7,500, of which $5,000 went to her lawyers.

Miss Morini declared the "damage" alleged to have been worked by the international banker's influence extended to Samuel Insull when he was head of the Chicago Civic Opera company.

She said when her manager called on Insull and asked for an audition, he was told:

"I have heard of Miss Morini's voice in great praise. But I am a friend of Mr. Kahn, and I have cold feet."

Which, Miss Morini said, dashed all her hopes of appearing with the Chicago company. The singer declared she is going to write a magazine article telling "all" about both the Chicago and New York Opera companies. She came here to appear in the Chicago stadium opera performances.

WHAT'S WHAT!

"Miss Green, do let me help you to some more pudding."

"Well, I will take some more, but only a mouthful."

LARGE GOLD ORE DEPOSITS FOUND IN SOUTH AFRICA

JOHANNESBURG, Union of South Africa, Oct. 22. (AP)—Potential gold ore deposits, estimated roughly at 278,000,000 tons, and possibly of vast importance to the Rand gold mining industry, have been discovered in a 40-mile extension of the famous Witwaters Rand main reef, it was announced today.

This announcement was a confirmation following an elaborate survey which has been going on for two years. The main reef series now is known to continue beyond the present western limit for 40 miles, and the operating company has procured an extension of options on a line of farms occupying the entire belt.

Today's statement advised a conservative view concerning the importance of the discovery until the new field is proved, for although it is certain that the reef series contiues, it is not yet known whether there is gold in profitable quantities. The venture at present is considered a gamble holding the promise of big developments.

MIGHT TRY ONIONS

EL PASO.—Dr. P. R. Outlaw, city health officer, had a rather peculiar problem recently. A middle-aged woman recently visited him and complained that she had been unable to shed tears for eight years. "I can't sleep well and I'm all upset," she told him. "What I need is a good cry." All Doctor Outlaw could think of was tear gas.

The STORY OF SUE

By Margery Hale

David Tells Joan About the Song

"How did you like the music of the song?" David asked Joan, as she brought the subject into the conversation.

The waiter came just then with iced fruit cocktails and Joan didn't answer until he had gone.

"You wrote a charming melody for the lyric," she answered. "How did you happen to have it published?"

"Do you remember the old uncle I was chaperoning around Europe? The one with the money? He died and left me his fortune. I have enough to get by now without thinking about the future. The market crash didn't hurt him. He was a canny old fellow—had everything sewed up safely. I bought some publishing house stock—I'm keen about that game. And I like to fool around with music. Anyway, we brought out your song the other day. It's to be taken over by a well known orchestra. That girl who was singing is their soprano soloist. She's been trying it out. I've been trying to find you. We can do more songs."

"The words were mine, you know," Joan said quietly.

"But darling, you gave them to me!"

"For sentimental reasons, not commercial," Joan answered.

"But you may have your share of the profits, of course—all the profits! I never thought of that. I was too eager to see the song going over." He looked puzzled.

"I'm not interested in the profits—even if my stocks are worthless and your uncle made good investments." She smiled and the smile curved her lips crookedly.

"Then what's the matter?" he asked, genuinely puzzled.

"Nothing at all. I'll be all right."

"You don't understand . . . . Oh, Joan, I've gone right on loving you just the same. Do you think that fool song brought me here? I wanted to see you—to see if I still felt anything. If it's any satisfaction, I do."

"I don't know. You should have told me that before you began on the song. It would have been better. Bad technique, dearest!" She could even talk lightly. She could see the shoddy places in the armor of the man. And she knew, looking at him now, that she could have him if she wanted him. That it was her game, not his. She could make him come pleadingly.

She wondered if she wanted him. This indifference of his had been too studied. He had been afraid that he might give himself away. Did she want him? She asked herself the question and wondered. But there would be time to decide later.

The waiter was removing the plates.

"Shall we dance?" David was asking.

"I'd love to," she answered. Perhaps with arm around her the old rhythm would come back. Some of the magic from the sunny days and the star-bright days at the Lido would find its way across the space of time.

The music was haunting. She had forgotten how perfectly she and David danced together. Just one movement, it seemed.

"We haven't grown any worse, have we?" she asked.

His arm tightened ever so slightly.

Joan's eyes wandered to a man and woman who were following the waiter to a table. The back of the man's head looked familiar. It was—it couldn't be . . . but it was.

Next: Joan is unhappy.

MISSISSIPPI ATTORNEY SENTENCED TO SIX YEARS

CLARKSDALE, Miss., Oct. 22. (AP)—Fred Hamilton, prominent Mississippi attorney, was sentenced to six years imprisonment and fined $5,000 in federal court today on a charge of conspiring with three farmers to prevent a witness, later slain, from testifying against them in liquor indictments.

Authorities accused him of plotting with three others to intimidate and injure J. H. Pruitt and thereby frighten him away from court. Pruit was slain the night of Oct. 20, 1927.

Removal from their location of the past 11 years at 723 Eighth street, according to A. C. (Gus) Ludlam, president of the concern, was made in order to obtain space for a men's store in which a varied and complete line of merchandise for men of all groups might be handled conveniently.

For that purpose the building now occupied by the firm has been remodelled to provide ideal quarters. With an 18-foot front, the store is provided with two modern display windows, so designed as to permit unit displays of men's clothing. The show windows, flanking the deeply recessed door, have a depth of 25 feet. They are equipped also with modern indirect lighting.

The 18-foot width of the store continues to a depth of about 75 feet to provide an admirably lighted furnishings department. The area is provided with almost a 100 per cent outdoor daylight by means of a huge skylight mounted at the apex of sharply beveled walls. Shirts, ties, hats, shoes and other accessories are accommodated by display cases and cabinets on either wall. The department also will include a select stock of leather bags.

Splendid Lighting

The larger portion of the store, and that in which suits, overcoats, jackets, overall suits, etc., are to be handled, is at the rear, where the floor space widens to a total width of 30 feet. Again, a remarkably light interior has been obtained by the use of a huge skylight mounted over the central portion of the room. Modern clothing cabinets feature the equipment of this part of the store for the display of a vast supply of ready-made clothing for every purpose.

The furnishings department is neatly floored with white terrazoy. All departments are provided with ornamental lighting fixtures, suspended by bronze chain drops, in addition to the daylight illumination provided by the skylights. Floor space in the new home is three times that used by the firm in its former location.

But not only the floor space was increased for the expansion of Ludlam & Riggs. The working personnel has been exactly doubled in making the transfer and enlargement. Six persons will devote their full time to the business in the future instead of the three who handled it for many years at the Eighth street location.

First on the list is Mr. Ludlam, who retired several months ago from the sales force of the Edwin Clapp Shoe company after about 20 years of coast-to-coast service to give his entire time to the retail business here. Beside him is J. S. (Johnnie) Riggs, who came here 11 years ago from Quanah to become Mr. Ludlam's partner, and who has had actual direction of the business since that time.

J. Royce Huddleston will have charge of the shoe department, beginning his second decade of service with the Ludlam & Riggs establishment. Mr. Huddleston has spent almost his entire life to date in Wichita Falls, and enjoys a wide acquaintance here. He is an active member of the Junior chamber of commerce.

Fuller Joins Staff

In the furnishings department, the concern has obtained the services of Charles F. Fuller, who has several years' experience in this city in the merchandising of men's ready-to-wear.

Two other departments are to be in charge of the remaining two recent additions to the Ludlam & Riggs personnel. Miss Jean Fisk, coming from the P. B. M. company a few weeks ago, will have complete charge of the office and credits. Roy Ragsdale, alterations and custom tailor, has moved his business from his location of the past several months at 702 Scott avenue, and will be established in the Ludlam & Riggs store. He will make all alterations, and do special custom work.

Both the proprietors Saturday expressed pride in the excellent quarters obtained for an impressive display of men's wearing apparel, and extended an invitation to the public to visit "the new home of an old concern."

Revolutionary Change in Design of Steamships Increasing Efficiency 100 Per Cent Near Birth in Tests

PASADENA, Calif., Oct. 22. (AP)—A revolutionary change in the design of steamships, involving a five per cent increase in length which would bring an increase in efficiency of almost 100 per cent, is near birth in the experiments of German scientists, Dr. Fritz Zwicky, physicist of the California Institute of Technology, said today.

Dr. Zwicky, who returned recently from a trip through the United States and Europe in which he studied tests of steamship models, said the principal experiments indicated that if most ocean liners were severed in the middle and a section inserted, increasing their lengths but slightly, an immense improvement would be obtained.

He told of watching tests near Hamburg, Germany, in which paraffin steamship models were propelled at the rate of 30 miles an hour. From these tests have come the theory of an improved design through increased length, the physicist said, and equally important research is under way on the shapes of prows and sterns.

The scientist predicted the future would bring considerable change in the types of prows. One of these would be designed with a bulge both at top and bottom, leaving the center concave. Another proposes a straight profile, jutting forward at the top. Tests of this, the "barge" type, have indicated it is better adapted to rough seas.

DEMO RALLY IS HELD FOR JACK COUNTY VOTERS

Judge P. B. Cox and H. W. Fillmore, Democratic nominee for judge of the county court at law, staged a Roosevelt-Garner rally for Jack county citizens at Jacksboro Saturday afternoon and reported a large and enthusiastic crowd.

Don Haynes, president of the Junior chamber of commerce, and Charles H. Tennyson, Democratic nominee for state representative, made a tour through Baylor and Throckmorton counties conferring with party leaders in those areas. They reported a good response from citizens.

The Wilbarger county rally will be held at Vernon next Saturday with Sam B. Spence, district attorney, as featured speaker. A rally for Young county will be staged in Graham Nov. 1.

District leaders here reiterated their plea for financial aid for the Democratic cause, stressing the enormous expense to which Republicans are going in an effort to re-elect President Hoover.

HEARING OPENS MONDAY ON INTEREST RATES ON GAS METER DEPOSITS

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 22. (UP)—The corporation commission Monday will open a hearing to fix the interest rates paid by Oklahoma Natural Gas corporation on security deposits, commonly known as meter deposits.

Monday's hearing is on application of the gas company which alleged discrimination because of the different rates.

OKLAHOMANS OPEN INTENSIVE BATTLE OVER INCOME TAX

Murray Issues Proclamation Calling Election November 8

ATTORNEY GENERAL KING LEADER OF OPPOSITION

King Threatens to Point Out Illegal Features of Measure

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 22. (UP)—An intense 17-day battle, for and against Gov. W. H. Murray's proposed income tax bill, began today on a state-wide front.

The governor issued the election proclamation on the measure for Nov. 8 "when I had caught them, where I had the constitutional authority." He termed the legal skirmishes and jockeying for position on the bill a "play of wits."

Attorney General J. Berry King, leader in the opposition, commented:

"I quite agree it's been a contest of wits, with the chief executive of the state playing the role of chief nit-wit."

King reiterated that the measure was unconstitutional and said that he would point out illegal features of the bill "at the proper time."

Meantime, the state board of affairs called for bids on the printing of 1,382,000 ballots, to be opened Tuesday morning.

Murray said that his proclamation calling the election "is entirely within the constitution and not violative of the law."

"Of course, it may be claimed that there was not full 10 days given in which there was time for a contest, but they have their remedy in law by enjoining the secretary of the state election board. In that case, they take responsibility for the delay, and not throw it on us, which they have sought to do," said Murray.

Ned Looney, citizens' league attorney, said the league would not attempt to prevent the election by further litigation. John Carlock, president of the opposition organization, said an intensive educational campaign seeking defeat of the measure would get under way at once.

Murray last week by letter called on his lieutenants in all counties to campaign for the bill and will speak in a dozen cities himself.

CORDELL PREDICTS BIG DECREASE IN OKLA. WHEAT CROP

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 22. (UP)—A decrease of more than 3,000,000 bushels in Oklahoma's next wheat crop was predicted today by President Harry E. Cordell of the state board of agriculture.

Lack of moisture in the Panhandle area, principal wheat belt, was given as reason for poor crop prospects. He said that wheat in the southwestern part of the state, was in "fair shape."

"A deplorable condition exists throughout Texas, Cleveland and Cimarron counties," said Cordell. "There is practically no moisture and the wheat is not coming up. In many parts of the state, they are still drilling, but in the dust."

Cordell said rain within the next three weeks might remedy the condition.

He said that in addition to poor crop conditions, state farmers have planted from 5 to 10 per cent less acreage in wheat which will tend to reduce the state's wheat yield still further.

"This year, a yield of 42,000,000 bushels was estimated," said the board president. "The crop now planted will be at least 8 per cent below this figure, I think, or about 38,400,000 bushels."

Prisoner Denied Release

M'ALESTER, Okla., Oct. 22. (UP)—Release on a writ of habeas corpus today was denied Ocie Yandle, serving a two-year penitentiary term from Wewoka by Judge H. L. Melton today. The petition alleged Yandle had been adjudged insane and that the trial court had no jurisdiction.

GLASSFORD IS PUNISHED

The only surprising thing about General Glassford's resignation is that it did not come sooner. It was due, of course, to his acts and views in connection with the bonus march, although another pretext is offered to the public.

An army officer who speaks his mind when he is in disagreement with the administration is certain to be penalized for it, especially if there is a national campaign in progress.

THE MAN WHOM TIME VINDICATED

Lindley M. Garrison, President Wilson's first secretary of war, who died Wednesday night, resigned from the cabinet because he could not get support for his national defense program. Not many months after he stepped aside, he saw the administration embarked upon a military program far in excess of the one he had advocated. Time fully vindicated him, even though it was Newton D. Baker instead of himself who directed the work.

The story of this country's participation in the world war might have been very different if Garrison had had his way. It would not have been necessary to wait 15 months before American arms became a real factor in the struggle. He had better vision than some others of his official day.

DESERVED RECOGNITION

The first duty of a pastor is of course to the congregation to whose spiritual welfare he ministers. There was a time when that seemed to be the whole duty of the pastor. In more modern times his usefulness is not so restricted. There are many pastors today whose influence for good extends far beyond their flocks, who are factors in the civic and cultural affairs for their communities and who, without skimping their strictly pastoral duties, contribute notably to the life of the community as a whole.

When a minister of that kind is called to work elsewhere, the loss is not that of his congregation alone. We know that the membership of the Church of the Good Shepherd greatly regrets that Rev. W. D. Bratton is to give up his work here, but we know also that Wichita Falls as a whole partakes of that regret. That regret is tempered by the realisation that his abilities have won deserved recognition. This city's sincere good wishes will go with him to his new field.

THE LAW-MAKERS' ERRORS

Portions of two state laws were invalidated Wednesday by the court of criminal appeals because of careless errors made in the drafting of the measures. In one instance, the law prohibited certain things, but failed to provide any penalty for infraction. In the others, the subject matter of the measure was found not to agree with the caption.

In both branches of the legislature, lawyers are in the majority. It is difficult to understand why, with so much legal talent available, errors such as these so frequently creep into legislative enactments. Sometimes it is carelessness, sometimes it is ignorance. Sometimes it is neither of these, but deliberate design, in order to defeat the measure's purpose.

Small wonder that the public has so little confidence in legislatures when the law makers make blunders so childish.

MR. BULLINGTON AND THE G. O. P. TICKET

Now that our esteemed fellow citizen and Republican nominee for governor of Texas, in a statement appealing for Democrats to bolt Mrs. Ferguson and vote for him, saying that at any time the Democrats put up a better man for office than his own party offers he will support the Democrat. This newspaper is wondering if Mr. Bullington proposes to bolt Hoover and Curtis and cast his vote on Nov. 8 for Roosevelt and Garner.

It is but fair that Mr. Bullington should make a declaration along that line and every real Democrat should make that demand of him. If he expects Democrats to repudiate their nominee for governor of Texas, why should not those Democrats who are supporting Roosevelt and Garner with all their power and at the same time advocating the election of Mr. Bullington, the Republican nominee for governor, demand that he renounce allegiance to his party nominees, and vote for the Democratic nominees for president and vice president?

Mr. Hoover has been repudiated by the American people throughout the 48 states, according to straw votes taken by the Literary Digest, the Hearst papers and other publications, Roosevelt and Garner, the Democratic nominees, polling nearly as many votes among those who voted the Republican ticket four years ago, as Hoover and Curtis, the Republican nominees for president and vice president, in addition to 95 per cent of the Democratic vote in all the states. Let Mr. Bullington speak out on this matter of party rule.

A PAIR OF GOOD CLAIMERS

Mr. Lucas, chairman of the executive committee of the Republican national committee, has given the situation the once-over and finds that Mr. Hoover is sitting pretty, as the saying goes. Right now, he figures, the Republicans have 270 electoral votes, four more than they need to win, in the bag. Between now and Nov. 8, he thinks, enough more will be picked up here and there to bring the Republican total to 340.

Kansas and Iowa are safe for Republicanism, avers Mr. Lucas, also Oregon and Colorado; Washington and South Dakota are rapidly being made safe, and Nebraska and Indiana are "leaning" Hooverward.

The dispatch that tells of these observations by Mr. Lucas doesn't say whether he reads the Literary Digest, but no matter about that.

Let no one think, however, that Mr. Lucas has any monopoly on optimism.

Mr. Farley, Democratic national chairman, is not conceding a single state to the opposition. Privately, the New York Times says, he admits that Democratic prospects in Vermont, New Hampshire, Connecticut and New Jersey are less bright than they might be. He thinks that one or two speeches by Al Smith will erase whatever doubts there may be as to Massachusetts and Rhode Island. We gather that if the Democrats should carry every one of the 48 states on Nov. 8, Mr. Farley would not be in the least surprised.

So far as claiming goes, the honors are Mr. Farley's. He makes Mr. Lucas look like a piker. It would be more interesting, however, to know what the two managers honestly think about the situation. It would be still more interesting to see these two playing draw poker and watch the way each bets after passing the opener and then drawing one card each.

The Schools and Economy

By GLENN FRANK
President of University of Wisconsin and Former Editor of the Century Magazine
(Copyright McClure Newspaper Syndicate)

That the depression confronts the schools with the necessity of economy goes without saying.

Yesterday I spoke of the protection of the schools against whipped-up hysterias.

The day before I spoke of the safeguarding of the schools against partisan political control.

Today I want to speak of the problem of effecting imperative economy in ways that will least hurt the service of the schools to the nation.

In the first place it is important that educators do not blindly ask for funds, just because they could be effectively used, when the outlook for municipal or state finances obviously will not permit their appropriation.

If educators ignore the practical condition of municipal or state finances and ask their needs as if a depression did not exist, it is obvious that the slashing will be done by the appropriators of educational funds rather than by the administrators of educational services.

It is important, as I have said so often, that educational retrenchment be achieved from the inside by analysis rather than from the outside with an ax.

In the second place it is important to effect economies by educational reorganization rather than by a mechanical reduction of scale in compensation and equipment alone.

Every school does not have to do everything.

Whatever is done should be done in the best possible manner.

It will be better to do fewer things superbly than to attempt everything in a sloven and ineffective manner.

Now is the time to clean house educationally.

If there is a service that has measurably outlived its usefulness, now is the time to eliminate it.

If there is anything that has been over-developed, any department that has been over-specialized, if there are places where we are over-coddling the student where we might properly ask him to indulge in a little more self-education, now is the time to correct such errors.

Contemporary Comment

IOWA DOUBTFUL STATE?

Is Iowa a doubtful state? If so, why? Ever since 1856, with the exception of 1912, Iowa voters have cast their ballots for Republican nominees in state and nation. In 1928 Hoover received 623,570 votes and Smith 379,311 votes. Its two senators, 10 of the 11 congressmen, and the present state administration are Republicans. Only one Democrat has represented Iowa in the upper house of congress since the close of the civil war. Daniel Steck, still in the land of the living, is the Democrat who holds the distinguished mark. Now Iowa Republican farmers are disgruntled. They have organized along the lines of the American Federation of Labor. They have organized a strike for higher prices for farm products. They have picketed the highways and byways to prevent independent farmers from trucking their products to the cities and towns. They have as an independent candidate for the senate of the United States, Smith W. Brookhart, defeated for renomination by Henry Field, Republican. If Iowa should go Democratic in November then all scoffers at the miracles wrought by the Man of Nazareth when he walked the earth will be compelled to hide out in the brush and compelled to recant of their opinions, expressed both publicly and privately, that a miracle age did not exist in that far away period when the Nazarene walked the earth and spread the gospel of Christianity. Is this a miracle-making age? It is if the Republican Gibraltar of Iowa lands in the Democratic column in November. Stranger things have happened. Texas landed in the Republican column of states four years ago. Did it paralyze the regulars of the ancient faith under Lone Star skies? Why ask? They have been mad ever since. All the indications are they are going down the line this year not only to wreak vengeance by wiping out old scores but in piling up a Democratic majority for Roosevelt and Garner that will be a high water political mark for the Texas of the past and the Texas of the future.—Waco News-Tribune.

ROUGHLY SPEAKING

by John Gould

Autumn

I love the hue of autumn skies,
All autumn's glories I admire,
But oh, the somber thoughts that rise
At monthly gas bills getting higher.

Autumn's moods are mild and kind,
With skies that smile and leaves that dance,
But oh, what tragedy to find
A hole in one's last winter pants.

Service

One of the collateral benefits of the well known depression has been the fact that you don't hear so much about Service as you used to. The capital letter is correct. None of the apostles of Service would think of spelling it with anything except a capital letter. They view it in a way that has been so beautifully expressed by the poet who wrote:

"We should never let anything swerve us,
From always rendering Service,
If we give enough of it,
We're certain to profit,
For to it no one is impervious."

The sentiment is just too sweet for anything. We almost broke down and cried when we first read it. Still and all, we are glad that the depression has shoved the word into the discard. It had gotten to be almost as bad as its teammate, Cooperation.

The latter word reached a point where, if a panhandler stopped you on the street, he was likely to ask you if you wouldn't cooperate with him in buying something to eat by giving him a dime. Any time somebody asked you to do something you didn't want to do, they called it Cooperation. You would ask a banker to cooperate with you by loaning you some money, and later on he would ask you to cooperate with him by paying it back, and so on.

We are as sick and tired of the depression as Mr. Hoover is—and we dare anybody to make it any stronger than that—but if it continues until those two words have been rubbed out of the language, we shall put up with it cheerfully enough.

The Service Sister

We used to patronize a magazine stand that was presided over by a young woman. Every time we entered this stand, we would go through a sort of ritual. The magazines were arranged in alphabetical order, with Scribner's parked right next to Salacious Stories and Harper's right next to Heated Confessions, and so on. We would pretend that we were looking for something we couldn't find.

The young woman would take her stand directly in front of us and say, cordially yet crisply, "Was there something for you?"

We wouldn't answer. We would fix our gaze at a point on the magazine rack about half-way between the American Mercury and the Manufacturer's Record.

"Was there something for you?" This time she would say it with more emphasis, with a touch of rancor in her tones.

Still we wouldn't answer. We would shift our gaze so that it pointed right between Liberty and Love-Nest Stories, and act as if we just couldn't make up our mind.

"Was there something for you?" By now the young woman's voice would have icicles in it. Cold and sharp and brittle.

But we wouldn't answer. We wouldn't let on that we even heard her. We would stare steadfastly at a point just between Popular Magazine and Passionate Stories.

"Was there something for you?" The tone is not only cold, but it has a menacing quality. There is the hint of carbolic acid in it. We would decide that it was time to stop fooling around. We would pick up a Literary Digest which was what we had come for in the first place, and pay for it, and go on our way. And the young woman would ring it up vigorously, taking her feelings out on the cash register.

The Vice in Service

Now why, we ask you, couldn't the young woman assume that we, being in search of reading matter, were a literate person, and therefore able to see what was available to read and pick it out for ourself? Why couldn't she let us alone to exercise our own intelligence, if any, and to make our own purchase unassisted?

Why? Because that would not have been giving Service. She was one of the Service sisters, unable to understand that we could get along just as well if she would sit still and powder her nose. Instead of giving us Service, she was giving us an endomorphic pain.

It's Different Now

It used to be that when you went to a filling station to get some gasoline, you also got the windshield wiped, the fenders polished, the battery watered, the tires aired. They poured Service on you with a big dipper, with two or three individuals dressed like major generals doing the pouring. But nowadays you like as not have to handle the gas nozzle yourself because they've done away with all the help that was hired to render Service and there's nobody left except the ones who sell gasoline and oil.

Maybe, before the depression is over, we'll all realize that a whole lot of what we used to call Service was just a derned nuisance. And that goes double for Cooperation.

The United States has recognized the government of Chile. Which is probably more than a great many Chileans can do.

The trouble with recognizing some of the South American governments is that they change reels too often.

We hope the new contract bridge rules will provide penalties of at least six tricks for the player who says "vulgar" or "vulcanised" instead of vulnerable.

As we understand the local football situation, Wichita Falls has a splendid stadium. And a lovely pep squad.

One of the reasons that politics is what it is seems to be that when a Democrat wants to build a postoffice, it's pork, but when a Republican builds an $8,000,000 office building in Washington, it's constructive effort.

Hard to Hold on and Hard to Let Go

WILL ROGERS CAMPAIGN GUIDE AND DIRECTORY

(Copyright 1931, McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

By WILL ROGERS

Well lets take this Campaighn right from the jump. You might wonder "Just when does a Campaighn really start?" Well they really start about 15 minutes after the official returns are in from the last election, on about the fifth drink after the counting is over or the Radio has announced that "So and So concedes the election to his honorable opponent." That is the first hooey of the following Campaighn. What he would like to concede to him is a dose of giant powder or a couple of hou-deuvers of Paris Green. Well right then is when the boys start laying their traps for the open office holding season which is four years away, but they start cutting their bait right that very night. "Well Jim, I'll tell you where we made our mistake this year and how we can beat that "Ham" in '36. So they start soaping the tracks right away.

Course the President, he is always conceded the nomination of the next election unless he has been notoriously incompetent. But all things being as they usually are why he of course can have the election if he wants it. And history has never recorded the one that dident. Coolidge dident but he had already had practically two terms. And there is a kind of an unwritten law against that (like the one where if a wife shoots her husband). But it wasent a third term bugaboo that kept Calvin out, it was horse sense. He knew just to an inch how much American wind the financial balloon would hold and he got out just two days before it busted. Poor Mr. Hoover dident see the thing any more than poor Rin Tin Tin. Or for that matter, the rest of us.

But what we are talking about is this Campaighn. It was set that Mr. Hoover could have it if he choose, and he did choose, and how! They do love to be president. Its the toughest job in the world, but there is always 120 million applicants.

Now that brings us down to the Democrats. (What do you mean brings us down?) The Democrats can always furnish more candidates than the Republicans. There is less Democrats, but more of em are Candidates. Just after the previous election, let us say the one of 1928. Well the next morning after it, every Democrat who has been elected to anything at all the night before, his local paper said, and he like a yap believed it. "Jim Jasbo swept all opposition before him at the polls yesterday. He will be the best Justice of the Peace the Democrats ever had in the Country and the U. S. Senate is in his grasp, and the White House is before him."

We have 96 senators in there, all of whom think they are only there till the next election when they will move to the other end of the Pennsylvania avenue. Then the Democrats go through what they call a "Delousing" process, that is they remove some of em's ambition. They ask em if they wont please wait four years, that they are young yet and that the office will be theirs four years later. Then we will say its getting down near nomination time. Its been culled down to about one native son of each state. They get all they can out of him in the way of Campaighn tripe, bands and hotel bills. Then on a certain ballot they quit him cold and jump over to the fellow who was nominated the night before in the hotel room, and will be publicly announced the following morning.

Well the nominations are over now. The disgruntled ones start in: "Wrong Man." "Will never make it." "Punk." But as the weeks drag along and their complaining is getting them no Campaighn funds why they begin to "See the light." They have "Heard the Candidates speeches and he is sound and we are going to support him."

Now the Campaighn is going. The Democrats must attack. He is the "Out" as usual. He has to tell what he would have done. Finally the "In" must come "Out." He must tell "Why he dident do it." Now its up to the voter to believe one mans promises or another mans alibis.

One fellow is in and he dont want to get out, the other fellow is out and he wants to get in. Nobody knows what the one that is in would do if he continues in, for no man knows what he would do till a condition arose, and he really faced it. But this thing has been going on for years, 150 I think it was, when George started it. But we always have good men on both sides so just let the voters guess their head off.

LaFollette Faction Crowded From Center of Fight in Wisconsin Throws Support to Democratic Candidates

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Oct. 22. (AP)—A Wisconsin state political campaign without a La Follette dominating the proceedings is drawing to a close.

In the September primary Wisconsin surprised the nation and itself, by upsetting the La Follette-Progressive organization.

But, crowded out of the center of the fight, the La Follette faction is coaching from the sidelines—and shouting for Democratic candidates of national and state tickets. The perplexing question, political followers say, is whether homeless La Follette votes are going Republican or Democratic. Heretofore they have been in the Republican column.

The progressives are pondering the advice of Senator Robert M. La Follette, not a candidate this year, who said in a formal statement that there is little to hope from either party, but that the Democratic "is the lesser of the two evils." He urged support for all Democrats except those opposing the new progressives who survived the primary upheaval.

Gov. Philip F. La Follette, victim of defeat in the primary, has urged followers to support a Democrat for United States senator, but has remained silent on other candidates.

Control Large Vote

The La Follette plea was intended to appeal to 320,000 voters who supported the governor in the primary. The office holding brothers are trying to add them to the 132,000 votes cast for Democrats in that election. The conservative gubernatorial candidate polled 414,000 votes in the primary.

For governor Wisconsin voters will choose between Walter J. Kohler, Republican, and Albert G. Schmedeman, Democrat. Kohler, former governor, philanthropist and manufacturer whose industries are situated at the "ideal village" of Kohler, is the man who eliminated Governor La Follette in the primary. Schmedeman is mayor of Madison and was minister to Norway in the Wilson administration. He has devoted himself largely to urging strict regulation of utilities and demanding adequate care for the unemployed.

Kohler last week endorsed the candidacy of President Hoover, thereby surprising Democrats who had dared him to do it. Democrats charged that Kohler, who made the primary fight on state issues, chiefly economy in government, would hesitate to associate himself with the national Republican ticket. Whereupon Schmedeman presented all Republican opponents with a hyphen, terming them the "Hoover-Kohler crowd."

Senate Race

For United States senator, the race is between John B. Chapple, Republican, and F. Ryan Duffy Democrat, of Fon du Lac. In the primary Chapple, crusading young Ashlung editor, campaigned against what he called "radicalism" and eliminated a veteran of the progressive wars, Senator John J. Blaine. But in the election he faces Duffy, who also says he is a foe of "Communism and Socialism." An attorney, Duffy first gained public notice as a member of the American Legion, of which he is a past department commander.

Chapple's drive against what he described as "atheism" at the state university and against "insidious influences which undermine the American order," was so completely successful in the primary that his supporters said they feared he was out of ammunition. But the debate was revived after Duffy visited Senator Blaine at his home. The visit, Chapple charged, was evidence "of a deal with the Blaine-La Follette political racket," which, he said, was linked with forces inimical to the American system. Duffy's retort was that he merely made a "courtesy call."

Twenty Years Ago Today

From Files Wichita Times

October 23, 1912

Lexter Cooper, 17-year-old son of J. D. Cooper of this county, has established a cotton picking record that is expected to stand for a long time. Between sunup and sundown yesterday he picked 705 pounds of cotton.

Although Wichita Falls started issuing building permits for new construction only two weeks ago, the total is already more than $60,000. It is not believed that any city in Texas has equaled this showing.

A trainload of 27 cars of hogs from points along the Wichita Falls and Northwestern passed through here today, being one of the largest shipments of the kind on record.

DAILY HEALTH TALK

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
Editor, Journal of American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, The Health Magazine

Time and again those who are careless with their statistics shout that cancer is increasing, that it is becoming a greater and greater menace and that something ought to be done about it.

It has been argued repeatedly in this column that there has been no actual increase in cancer and that the so-called increase is an apparent rather than a real one. The figures brought forward to support the statement that cancer is increasing are the death rates from disease per 100,000 of population.

Dr. Madge T. Macklin has carefully analyzed the causes of death in Canada since 1900. She points out that more people now live to the cancer age than did formerly, the diagnosis is much better today than it was 20 years ago, that the mortality records are better kept now than they were before, and that many more people get early and good medical treatment now than used to.

One of the problems which arises in this connection is the question as to whether or not cancer is tending to occur at progressively younger ages. She made a very careful analysis on this point and find that there is on apparent tendency for the age of death from cancer to be lower in 1921 than it was in 1901.

In fact, the average age at death from cancer in 1901 was 59 and the average age at death from cancer in 1921 was 61.7. Thus the average age at which cancer claims its victims is not decreasing.

Moreover, Dr. Macklin shows by her figures that the real increase in percentage of deaths from cancer is in people over 60 years of age. The real reason why there are more deaths from cancer, both actually and relatively, is obvious from a study of what medicine has done to improve the health of mankind generally.

In 1901 the causes of death were such conditions as infectious diseases, appendicitis, childbirth and similar causes. In 1921, due to improved sanitation, typhoid has practically disappeared; the increase in our knowledge of infectious diseases controls diphtheria and other infectious diseases.

Surgical skill has so greatly improved that appendicitis is diagnosed early in more cases and operated on satisfactorily in more cases. Nevertheless, there has been working against what medicine can do the complexity of modern civilization and the increase in the number of deaths from diabetes and from heart disease.

In 1901 the average age of death in Canada was 31; in 1921 it was 38.5. In 1901 the death rate per 1,000 was 15; in 1921 it was 10.6. Dr. Macklin concludes:

"Cancer is increasing because by preventive methods, there has been created a large population to grow old and, having grown old, they are kept from dying of those ills from which they formerly suffered."

BEHIND THE SCENES IN Washington

By RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON.—This is the annual story about whether we are in for a cold, hard winter or a warm, mild winter.

Your guess, as usual, is just as good as the weather bureau's.

If this winter is anything like last winter it will be relatively balmy, whereas if it is the opposite of last winter it will be a tough one.

The last six winters have been warmer than the normal winter, which does not demonstrate anything aside from the fact that there has been a general marked trend toward milder temperatures in the last 50 or 60 years.

If it's warmer than normal in the coming season, a succession of seven warmer-than-normal winters will be occurred for the first time any one remembers.

All of which is in no way conclusive but is about all any one can say.

The weary patience of the weather bureau officials in answering each fall this question about the winter's prospects is one of the more convincing evidences of the extreme limits of human endurance.

"Every time we think we have established sequences and cycles for the weather, nature comes along and proves us wrong," says Dr. Charles F. Marvin, veteran head of the bureau.

"We still don't believe any one can yet make a long-distance weather forecast on a scientific basis, although studies with that aim in view have been made in all parts of the world and men have spent decades seeking to demonstrate a weather periodicity."

So if those old bones of yours just tell you this winter is going to be pretty awful, you have just as much right to your prophecy as any one else. It's just as good as that of the farmer up near the Canadian border who draws his conclusions from the current antics of the woodchucks, the thickness of the bark or the amount of honey the bees are storing away.

Dr. Marvin says the bureau is quite successful in predicting weather 48 hours in advance. It even issues an "outlook" for a full week ahead, forecasting specific weather in certain regions at a given time. But that's as far as it is prepared to go.

"We can tell what has caused a given bit of weather, but we can't tell why it happened that way," Marvin says. "Weather is the result of a complication of factors.

"Weather may be just a fortuitous combination of factors."

There is no convincing evidence that weather sequences are either fortuitous or otherwise. The fluctuations may arise from both periodic and fortuitous sources. Dr. Marvin, in recent exhaustive experiments with dice, demonstrated by means of a chart that weather showed fluctuations in about the same way as the ebb and flow of luck.

Toss a coin. If heads come up six times in succession the next flip is as likely to bring a head as a tail, although the law of averages runs heavily against seven heads in a row. In the same way, despite six successive relatively mild winters this one may be cold or warm. The law of averages is quite useless in weather forecasting.

A chart showing fluctuations of average winter temperatures in this area since 1872 shows 10 warm winters and 17 cold winters up to 1900 and 10 cold and 21 warm since. That may indicate melting, but no one knows how that the polar ice is gradually long it will continue to melt and there is no assurance that the warmer trend will last.

"Records for only 60 years aren't much to figure with," Marvin says. "We may be able to do better in another 50 or 100 years."

MURRAY LIKES WORD 'CATFISH'

Would Borrow Large Sum And Supply State

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 22. (INS)—The word "catfish," which so irks Umpire William Klem that baseball players mention it only under their breath or at a safe distance, is music to the ears of Gov. William H. "Alfalfa Bill" Murray.

In fact the Oklahoma chief executive would borrow a huge sum from the Reconstruction Finance corporation and build lakes in the state which he would stock with "catties" to feed the needy.

Commissioner Henry O'Malley of the bureau of fisheries at Washington declared that bass was Oklahoma's best native fish but could yield a maximum of but 100 pounds per acre of lake, insufficient to feed Oklahoma's population one-pound of fish per day, as Murray suggested.

"However," O'Malley declared, "Murray could raise goldfish which produce 600 pounds to the acre."

"We don't have to raise bass or goldfish," Murray declared by way of reply. "We can raise catfish. Catfish produce he-men who wear breeches, goldfish produce silk stocking experts."

Another Idea for Rocket to Moon

VIENNA.—A new idea in space rocket ships is being worked on here by Dr. D. O. D. Lyons, an American expert, with the idea of making a flight to the moon. It is said he has evolved an explosive many times more powerful than any yet known to furnish the motive power. The rocket will be made in a number of sections. The first shoots out its stream of gases, ignites the second, and falls off when the work is done. Thus the rocket goes on getting lighter and lighter as each segment is dropped and moves faster as the weight is reduced. It is said a trip to the moon would require only 10 hours, as the rocket is expected to make more than seven miles a second.

Fannin P.-T. A. Has Program on Child Health

Mrs. H. C. Haynes gave the devotional opening the Fannin P.-T. A. meeting in the school auditorium Friday afternoon and Mrs. H. W. Conn led in prayer.

In keeping with the theme of the day, "Health and Safety," the children in Miss Cleo Stinnett's room gave a play, "Daily Health Habits."

Mrs. J. W. Laseman, health chairman, announced a discussion on the five point child project and Mrs. J. F. Swaim, introduced Mrs. E. P. Newsom who gave a detailed explanation of the project.

Mrs. Virginia McCormick gave a talk on "What the School Is Doing for Health Education, in which she compared the old methods of teaching health and the modern method of teaching hygiene.

Mrs. Swaim presided over the business session and Mrs. Ora Lemon read the minutes of the executive board meeting.

Standing committee chairmen as follows made reports: Mesdames H. W. Conn, J. W. Smith, H. C. Honea, B. L. Corbett, Carl Moore and J. W. Laseman. J. B. McNeil, principal, reported that a new period clock had been installed at a very small cost to the club. Mrs. B. L. Corbett was elected to attend the state convention at Galveston Nov. 15-18.

A letter from Mrs. R. L. Kincaid, district president and one of thanks from Mrs. T. A. Pratt were read. Several interesting reports were made concerning school projects.

BARWISE P.-T. A. HAS HEALTH PROGRAM

Health was the theme of the meeting of the Barwise P.-T. A. which met at the school on Thursday afternoon at 2:30.

Rev. C. A. Baxter of the Lory Memorial Baptist church of this city delivered the interesting devotional, using as his text the passage which deals quite distinctly with the confession of sins.

In close connections with the theme of the meeting, a very instructive address using the subject of "The Five Point Child" was appropriately presented by Mrs. E. F. Newsom, city council health chairman. Mrs. Newsom indicated in her speech her enhusiasm in the work by telling of several publications for the purpose of getting more mothers interested in the health program of the city. Together with her discussion Mrs. Newsom urged parents to take advantage of the Dr. Walker clinic which is being held for the purpose of immunizing children from that dreaded epidemic which is prevalent in our city.

May Pearl Martin gave a reading, "The Bath," and after her reading the talented little girl played a piano number, "Falling Waters."

Another attractive feature of the program was a group of songs by the third grade pupils under the direction of Miss E. Spalding. Among the numbers presented were "Mr. Duck and Mr. Turkey," and "The Five Vowels."

At the business meeting it was decided to postpone the annual fall carnival because of the concurrent "hen" party which was held on Friday night of the past week.

EPISCOPAL CHAPTER SPONSORS REVIEW

Mrs. John Hampton will be presented by the Bishop Tuttle chapter of the Church of the Good Shepherd Tuesday at 2:30 o'clock in the parish house, in an interpretation of Ellen Glasgow's latest book, "The Sheltered Life."

This is the 18th novel written by Ellen Glasgow, who deals with the South, old or new, in practically every story. She is a leader in the revolt against the sentimental traditions of the South. This particular book deals with that trait of southern character that forbade the acknowledgment of unpleasant facts.

Miss Glasgow herself is a product of the old regime, a typical southern gentlewoman, and this makes all the more surprising her rebellion against southern traditions. She lives in Richmond, Va., in the old stone house at No. 1, Main street and numbers among her friends, all the leading figures in American letters today.

A novel from her pen is eagerly awaited, for to her followers, it means the enjoyment of a delightful prose and a thoughtful thesis. "The Sheltered Life," is acclaimed by critics as her best work, the fruit of her maturity, combining all the epigram and with her two previous books, "The Romantic Comedians," and "They Stooped to Folly," with a new and richer insight into people and manners.

'Fiesta de Flores' Will Have Hostesses in Costume and See Lovely Feature in Push Carts

Both the old world and the new will furnish inspiration for the annual flower show at the Forum clubhouse, which is sponsored as usual by the Garden club and which will be known as the "Fiesta de Flores." It will be held at the clubhouse Nov. 9 and 10. Probably as charming an exhibit as any to be displayed, will be the pushcart exhibit, of which Mrs. C. E. McCutchen is chairman.

Newport inaugurated the use of the quaint carts that one sees in France and Italy filled with cut and potted flowers and carrying vegetables in all the pretty colors that may be found. They were then used in New York City in the flower show and Dallas had a pushcart exhibit in the latest flower show to be given there.

Mrs. McCutchen's own pushcart will hold vases of zinnias, dahlias, chrysanthemums, and pots of red geranium, pyramids of colorful fruits; clean pretty vegetables will hang from the sides. There will be scarlet and green peppers, and possibly a string of sweet white Bermuda onions, a vegetable of which Texas is proud. A gay umbrella will cover it and she will be dressed in costume to make it still more picturesque. Mrs. McCutchen will give information to any one wishing to enter a cart in the exhibit.

Mrs. Hamilton, Chairman

Mrs. W. B. Hamilton will be chairman of hostesses, and each member holding this office will be dressed in brilliant Spanish costume. The bright colors, gorgeous flowers, and numerous new displays will harmonize beautifully with these Southern dresses. The second hand bookstall, for instance, which is to be conducted by the literature department, might be modeled after those charming stalls that line the left bank on the Seine. Spanish frocks will brighten them.

Hostess Personnel

Members of the junior forum in lovely frocks will act at night as pages. The hostesses to serve through the two days and evenings are Mrs. Peyton Gwynne, chairman of the Garden club and general chairman of the flower show, Mesdames W. B. Hamilton, Q. B. Lee, J. D. Bright, Luther Wright, C. N. Alexander, J. C. Mytinger, C. E. McCutchen, Landon Cullum, Horrace Robbins, N. H. Martin, Rhea Howard, W. P. Ferguson, Ed Howard, Frank Timberlake, Newton Maer, James P. HUNT P.-T. A. WILL OBSERVE FOUNDERS DAY

The 23rd anniversary of the Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers will be observed at the regular meeting of the Huey Parent-Teacher association at the school Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Mrs. O. H. Karr will pay a tribute to Mrs. Ella Caruthers Porter, organizer of the Texas branch and the mother singers will give "A Little Child Shall Lead," the state P.-T. A. song. A birthday offering will be taken and sent to the state for extension purposes.

Mrs. Austin F. Leach will give the devotional. "For every child the right to health protection," an important section of "The Children's Charter," will be used as the basis of the health division of this program. Mrs. Frank Holmes will discuss "Good Meals for Children" and Mrs. Estelle Chandler, "What Our School Is Doing to Promote Health." Children of the second grade, Miss Zihlman's room, will give a health playlet.

A play room has been arranged for the smaller children so that the mothers may attend the meeting unhampered. Attendance is an important requirement for a standard association and all patrons of the school are urged to be present at this meeting. Mesdames J. K. Ricks, W. E. Baldwin, H. C. Ayers, C. G. Alexander and T. A. Crosby will be hostesses for the afternoon.

Garden Club Will Open Season at Lunch Wednesday

A common interest the love of beauty that probably binds more hearts than any other, will be noted in the opening meeting of the Garden club at the Forum clubhouse Wednesday. Luncheon will be served promptly at 12 o'clock at tables that will be lovely through special courtesy of the Hoffman nursery of Denton, who have expressed a desire to furnish the bowls of flowers for the opening meeting and to give blossoms for place favors for each guest.

Mrs. Peyton Gwynn, president, will preside during the short business meeting and an open discussion will be held of the school judging held recently in Dallas, which was attended by Mesdames P. F. Gwynn, Frank Timberlake, Luther Hoffman, Floyd Randel and C. E. McCutchen. Mrs. Gross R. Scruggs presided and an interesting school was held. There were 19 garden club presidents at the school beside numerous guests, all of whom were driven over the city by the hostess group to see many interesting rose gardens.

Mrs. C. E. McCutchen will make the talk of the day, using as her theme, "Fall and Winter Planting," and will lead the discussion that follows.

The scope of interest shown in the local Garden club was emphasized in another way of late when Mrs. Frank P. Timberlake was invited by the Maids and Matron's club of Bowie to give the paper she so ably presented in Wichita Falls last year on "Perpetual Bloom in the Garden."

Hostesses for the meeting Wednesday will include Mesdames Rhea Howard, Robert E. Basham and Charles R. Daniel.

Reservations may be made with Mrs. Rhea Howard, 6178 or with Mrs. Ruth Kirksey, hostess at the forum, phone 7230, until Tuesday evening.

Scottish Rite Choir of 35 Voices To Present Free Concert Friday at Wichita Falls Memorial Auditorium

Choral music by the Scottish Rite choir of about 35 voices, now in its fourth year of constant rehearsal and concert training, comprises an entertainment of unusual merit to be offered the public without charge at the Memorial auditorium Friday night, Oct. 28, at 8 o'clock.

Organized almost four years ago by Dr. L. D. Parnell and sponsored by the Scottish Rite club of Wichita county, the choir long since has established itself as an outstanding musical unit in this section of the state. Appearances during the past year revealed the development of a genuine group-spirit, which has enhanced the choir's interpretation of ensemble compositions.

The program announced for Friday, Oct. 28, is being given for the entire community. No admission of any kind will be charged. Ushers will hold plates at the exits after the performance, and such cash offerings as may be made are to go to the Scottish Rite hospital for crippled childen, located at Dallas. The hospital accepts for treatment crippled children of all creeds and races, with no requirement of family connection with the Masonic order.

Names of composers found on the program announced by Dr. Parnell comprise an imposing list—Rachmaninoff, Lleurance, Wagner, Gaul, Beethoven and Mendelssohn. But a survey of the numbers to be sung reveals that they have been chosen because of their melodic charm and interesting themes, rather than for the heavily intricate compositions of which some of those composers were capable.

The choir will be heard in four groups of songs. One of especial interest in the third group will be "Creation Hymn," a vocal transcription of Rachmaninoff's famous "Prelude in C Sharp Minor." In the closing group will be heard the thrilling "Hail, Bright Abode," from Wagner's "Tannhauser," and the Palestinian Laborers' chant reputedly sung by workmen during the erection of Solomon's temple in Jerusalem.

Two solo artists will assist the choir, Mrs. S. P. Cunningham, pianist, playing a group of two numbers, and Mrs. Vera McNew Bickerstaff, soprano, singing two favorites for that voice with Mrs. Lucille Brooks Huff as accompanist.

Mrs. Cunningham and Miss Ruby Murrell will act as choir accompanists. The following program will be given:

In the Valley ..... Beethoven
A Song of the Sea ..... Stebbins
Elfin, Sweet Nymphs. (1638) ..... Pilkington
Reflets dans l'eau ..... Claude DeBussey
Seguidilla ..... I. Albenis
Mrs. S. P. Cunningham
Zuni Rain Prayer ..... Thurlow Lieurance
A Pastoral ..... Henry Carey
How Can I Forget Thee, Russia ..... Khachansky
Aria, "Lucia di Lammermoor" ..... Donizetti
Lo! Here the Gentle Lark ..... Bishop
Mrs. Vera McNew Bickerstaff
Lucille Brooks Huff, accompanist
Creation Hymn, (Prelude, C sharp minor) ..... Rachmaninoff
O'er Birch—Moon Waters ..... Thurlow Lieurance
On the Sea ..... Mendelssohn
Hail! Bright Abode, from "Tannhauser" ..... Wagner
Palestinian Laborer's Chant ..... Arr. Gaul
Song of the Vikings ..... Eaton Fanning

AUSTIN WOMEN WILL STUDY CHILD HEALTH

"Has Your Child an Appetite?" will be the general question studied at the Austin Parent-Education club Tuesday morning when members meet at 9:30 o'clock in the school auditorium.

Mrs. T. M. Maricle will have as her subject "What Foods to Serve Children," and "Establishing Food Habits," will be discussed by Mrs. T. W. Gouldy. Mrs. Jimmie Mills will talk on "Eating Problems of Older Children," and Mrs. L. E. Willis will discuss "Exercises and Eating."

Material for these lessons is found in the Child Welfare magazine, the official magazine of the national congress. The course is designed for use of parent teacher associations and will be an all round health course, dealing with health in the home, the school and the community.

Mrs. L. A. DeLee is study circle chairman and has invited all mothers to attend the meetings.

Barwise P.-T. A. Sponsors Party School Friday

The novel party at Barwise school Friday evening given under the auspices of the parent-teacher association of that community proved to be one of the most outstanding social events of the season.

Guests were received at the door and ushered into the auditorium by members of the executive committee to the charmingly arranged tables which were decorated with dainty center pieces of fall flowers decorated the tables. While the guests were being seated some members of Tom McCarty's high school band entertained with a concert of popular "pep" songs.

Closely following the concert 25 school children under the direction of Miss E. Spalding gave appropriate selections. Among the songs sung were "Questions," and "Swing Song." The children sang three songs which were wel received, after which a group of the Girl Reserves in their uniforms of blue and white sang very sweetly their club song, "Follow the Gleam."

After the musical part of the program W. E. Walker introduced the speaker for the evening, H. D. Fillers. Mr. Fillers agreed to accept the invitation to substitute for Berk King, announced speaker for the occasion, who was stricken with illness on Friday and is confined to his home.

In his talk to the parents and the teachers of the organization Mr. Fillers laid particular emphasis upon "The Child" as the one subject which is meriting the consideration of both the home and the school officials.

"Even as the child is the news bearer from the school to the home, he is also a very explicit messenger to the teacher of the goings on of the home," Mr. Fillers declared in his discussion of the relationship of the home and school. He also suggested that both sides to every story be weighed by both the teacher and the parent before any very action be taken in regard to the child's report.

Mr. Fillers expressed his deep appreciation for the organization and all the activities which tend to bring a closer and more binding bond of understanding between the parents and the teachers of this, "the modern child."

Frank J. Creighton conducted the games for the evening in the usual fine "Creighton" style. A varied program of such games as balloon volley ball, a candle race, and several brain teasers provided wholesome entertainment for every one for a period of about two hours. Great competition was aroused between the two competing sides, which lasted throughout the evening. Mr. Creighton so handled the situation that there was not a lagging minute in the whole evening of games and every one entered whole heartedly into the fun.

As a fitting climax to an already delightful evening Miss Ines Terrell, expression teacher, gave a very clever reading, "Miss Pharoh."

Refreshments were served. The chicken sandwiches cleverly indicated the motive for the "Hen" party, and not only was the party a huge success fro ma social standpoint, but also from a financial view. Twenty-four hens were collected at the door as payment of dues to the organization. Including the number of hens collected and the amount of cash payment of dues approximately 30 new names were added to the list of paid membership of the organization.

What Price Health of

YOUR CHILDREN?

A few months ago the American Journal of Public Health carried five new arguments for PASTEURIZED MILK.

The first is an epidemic of 202 cases of scarlet fever in Washington, New Jersey, due to raw milk; second, 101 cases of scarlet fever occurring on one milk route that supplied raw milk in Plymouth, Massachusetts; third, 141 cases of septic sore throat, including the proprietors of the raw milk dairy, in Maryland, New York; fourth, 75 cases of septic sore throat in Savannah, New York; and last but not least, 950 cases of septic sore throat in Lee, Massachusetts.

"Do we need further arguments to show the importance of pasteurization?"

If you are not already a user of PASTEURIZED MILK, it seems inconceivable that you would delay longer and endanger your health by using raw milk, after reading the above facts when Grade A PASTEURIZED milk is so easily obtainable in Wichita Falls.

ZOE Beckley's Corner By Zoe Beckley

No Personality

"Dear Zoe—Our ages are 48 and 45 and we have been married 26 years. We always got along until another couple took furnished rooms in our home. My husband is always drawing comparisons between this other woman and me, saying I have no personality and she is everything a wife should be. I am

HEARTBROKEN."

Don't waste energy being heartbroken. Put your effort into cultivating a personality as charming as this other woman's and give yourself the lovely adventure of surprising and recapturing your own husband!

I speak of effort because love languishes and often dies because one or other of the lovers has simply laid down on the job of being interesting.

Being interesting is largely a matter of dynamics. We give out a sort of force—let us call it love-vibrations. This is what attracted our mate in the first place. Once we have won our partner and settled into the rut of marriage, it is the easiest thing in the world to allow these magnetic love-sparks to fade out.

Sometimes the cause is quarreling, sometimes it is a nagging jealousy, and sometimes it is a fade-out of personality that comes from careless dress, weariness, indifference, lack of humor and of that quick, bright cooperation that makes one always ready on a minute's notice to do what is wanted by the other.

Love cannot be compelled. If a man falls out of love with his wife, the fact of being married to her does not automatically revive it. Yet the wife who suffers this misfortune invariably blames it on her husband, just as a grouchy tightwad of a husband, or one who refuses to take his wife places or let her have friends, reproaches her coldness with:

"What's the matter with her anyhow? Don't I pay her bills and isn't she my wife? What more can she want?"

There is only one way to be happy though married: Make a huge effort to be attractive and companionable.

You must apply intelligence to the task.

Mis-in-Law

"Dear Zoe—You warn young wives, old wives, wives of every description not to live with mothers-in-law but what can you do when she insists on living with you and has the grandest time running your home when you're gone for a few hours? She is financially independent, has good health and if she didn't want to be alone, could share an apartment with some one else. I am nervous and miserable over this problem. My husband—best in the world—won't be left alone with her so I can never even have a vacation. Is there any way to have her live elsewhere without having a real quarrel?—MRS. B."

There are several ways. I think it is your husband's job to have a heart-to-heart talk with his mother and explain the situation sensibly and truthfully. If she insists on being hurt over it, put the hurt down as inevitable and part of her education. When a woman knows no better than to inflict herself unnecessarily upon married children she must be taught.

An alternative might be to move into a home so small that she cannot live there. Or to decide to give up housekeeping for a while on the ground of being tired and nerve-wracked. But the better way is the straight way, and the longer you postpone it the greater the danger of your marriage being wrecked. Is politeness (or cowardice) worth that?

Out in the Cold

"Dear Zoe—I have gone with her steady for 18 months. Coming from a dance one night she said she didn't want to see me any more. I love her. What can be the matter? How does a girl show she loves a man?

Well, certainly not this way! But I could only answer you intelligently if I knew what happened between you at that dance. It is silly not to demand explanations when things so suddenly wrong. It may be just a whim of hers. Or maybe she is plain tired of you.

You have two courses: Ask her in plain words, what's the matter. Or try the absence treatment for a while.

Who Can Say?

"Dear Zoe—Is a girl's love stronger than a man's?

—ERIE."

Generally speaking, love is more a part of woman's life than of man's. It is woman's nature (also generally speaking) to be more faithful once she has found her mate, but until then she is often a handful!

Hard Role

"Dear Zoe—We have been engaged four months and I have been to his home but once. His mother tells him everything to do and he just about does it. He has always helped her generously and I suppose always will, but his salary is good. He seems to think she is God and that I am just an ordinary mortal. The main trouble is that I love him.

—UNREST."

A girl who marries a man with too-strong family ties is out of luck. When Mother dominates him, and so successfully too, there is usually trouble in the offing. A grown man should be free from too great parental influence. Mothers' boys are selfish, demanding, critical and sometimes cruel (to their wives).

Think this all over well before you order your wedding gown.

Non-Leak Spout

Rub a little butter on the spout of your cream pitcher before setting it on the table. This lets the cream skid over the spout and prevents it leaking onto the cloth.

PARTY LEADERS ACTIVE AS NATIONAL CAMPAIGN NEARS CLOSE

Senator Norris Charges President Failed to Keep Pledge to Farmers While Blocking Farm Legislation

DES MOINES, Iowa, Oct. 22. (AP)—Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska, tonight told an audience here that President Hoover has failed to redeem "every pledge he made to the farmers," and as secretary of commerce "blocked genuine farm legislation."

The progressive Republican senator, campaigning in support of Governor Roosevelt, assailed the president's record on agriculture in a speech which he said was in reply to President Hoover's opening campaign address in the same auditorium Oct. 4.

Norris recalled that four years ago he had pleaded with the farmers of Iowa and the Northwest "not to elect the man who had sat in the cabinets of Presidents Harding and Coolidge for eight years, using his influence and appearing before committees "to block real farm relief measures."

Relief Measures Opposed

Measures which he and his colleagues proposed and which were defeated "through the power and influence of Herbert Hoover and his associates," would, Norris asserted, have brought relief to agriculture and to a large measure would have prevented the general depression.

Norris attributed principally to "vigorous opposition and influence" of Mr. Hoover as secretary of commerce the defeat of a bill which would have set up a governmental crop purchasing corporation when the plight of the farmer finally was recognized after the war.

Other Bills Rejected

He also placed responsibility for the rejection of other bills proposed by the agricultural committee on Mr. Hoover.

"It was clearly shown that the farmer was not getting the benefit of the tariff," Norris said. "We undertook to meet this by legislation. The McNary-Haugen bill had no other object athan to give the farmer the benefit of the same tariff protection which is given to the manufacturer.

"Later on, we proposed the debenture plan. That had the same object but it was much simpler in operation. It seemed to me no one could question the fairness of this proposition.

"All of this was opposed by Mr. Hoover, who, by that time, had become president of the United States and it was through his influence alone that it was defeated in the house of representatives after it had twice passed the senate."

STERLING TO VOTE FOR BULLINGTON

preme court placed its approval on the trial court's action, the state's highest civil tribunal holding it would have been impossible to determine the Sterling suit before election day. It ordered Mrs. Ferguson's name printed on the ballots as the Democratic nominee. The official primary returns gave Mrs. Ferguson a majority of almost 4,000 votes.

Shortly after his contest was dismissed, Governor Sterling announced he would not vote for Mrs. Ferguson, but not until today did he recommend the election of Bullington.

Organizations Formed

Already, several organizations had been formed by Democrats who favored Governor Sterling's renomination and re-election in the interest of the Bullington campaign.

Governor Sterling announced Bulling as his choice simultaneously with the appearance of Mrs. Ferguson and her husband in an opening campaign address at San Antonio. The Fergusons have announced a series of other speaking engagements for several sections of Texas prior to the voting on Nov. 8.

When Mrs. Ferguson was elected Texas' first woman governor in 1924 she was opposed by a large faction of her party, who bolted her nomination and favored the Republican nominee, that year, Dr. George C. Butte. Mrs. Ferguson was elected by a plurality over Butte of 127,000. That also was presidential election year.

Supports National Ticket

Governor Sterling renewed his fealty to the Democratic national ticket nominees in this language:

"As a life-long Democrat I rejoice in the glowing prospects of the election of a Democratic president and vice president of the United States; but the Democratic banner must not be tarnished with the slime of Fergusonism. It would make the democracy of the nation hang its head in shame for the Democratic hosts of grand old Texas to be led by Jim Ferguson when Roosevelt and Garner are inaugurated in Washington next March.

Discussing the state gubernatorial campaign, he said there was "but one thing left for Texans who love their state and Democrats who love their party to do, and that is to throw the whole weight of their influence and their votes behind" Bullington.

"Texas Democrats cannot render the Democratic party a better service than by smashing Fergusonism with their votes at the November election, and I predict that this is what they will do by a substantial majority," Governor Sterling said.

Refers to Service

Continuing, his statement in part, said:

"Two years ago I was nominated governor by more than 88,000 majority; and I have served the people of Texas with absolute fidelity and to the best of my ability and at enormous personal sacrifice. When I became governor I was well-to-do and now I am returned to the ranks of the poor from which I sprang but I have no regrets. To serve the people of Texas even at such a sacrifice has been a glorious privilege.

"I have been a candidate for governor again this year, because I was convinced that it was my duty to the people of Texas. During my two years in the governor's office at Austin and four years before that as chairman of the state highway commission, I have had opportunities which few others have had to study Fergusonism at close range . . . When the legislature is in session and when it is adjourned, Jim Ferguson operates out of Austin and all his . . . gang make this their headquarters; and I have known the desperate, organized effort that was going to be made to elect him governor in his wife's name this year; and I have felt that as a candidate for a second term I could probably make a stronger race than any other anti-Ferguson candidate that might be chosen out of the vicissitudes of a campaign with the large number of candidates that would have been in the field if I had not run. Besides, my business training and experience, as applied to the governor's office, convince me that a governor who serves one term owes it to the people at least to offer for a second term; for a governor who serves honestly and faithfully during his first term preeminently fits himself for valuable service to the people in his second term.

Claims Nomination

"Thus believing it to be my duty I submitted my candidacy to the people in the Democratic primaries this year; and I have no doubt whatever that of the lawful votes cast in the run-off primary I received a majority of many thousands.

"So believing, I had no doubt that it was my duty to the people of Texas and to the cause of good government to take the necessary steps provided by law to secure a review and a recount in the courts of the result as certified by the chairman and the secretary of the state Democratic convention; and I appealed to the people for their support and financial assistance in seeking this review, and I am grateful for their generous and hearty response to my appeal. I received more votes in the run-off primary this year than I received two years ago when I was nominated by over 88,000 majority and I have never had the slightest doubt that a recount of the ballots cast in the run-off primary would establish my legal right to the nomination for governor beyond all question and I have hoped that such a recount would be ordered by the court, so that the correct result could be ascertained and declared by the court in ample time for the name of the nominee to be printed on the official ballot. Certainly, no one ought to object to a recount of the ballots in an election in order that mistakes and frauds and illegalities may be corrected and the true result ascertained.

Charges Filibustering

"But a condition and not a theory confronted the people of Texas at this time, Jim Ferguson and his lawyers and henchmen have been determined that there should be no investigation of the run-off primary election and no recount of the ballots and they have done everything possible, by filibustering methods of delay and otherwise, to make such a recount impossible.

"Under these circumstances my duty is clear and I am determined to do all that I can to consolidate the forces opposed to Fergusonism and render its return to power impossible . . .

"If Jim Ferguson should again become governor in his wife's name he will urge upon the legislature and use all the power of the governor's office to pass a bill creating a new highway commission, in place of the present highway commission, which he will appoint and in this way secure absolute control of the millions of dollars in the state highway fund for the next two years.

"It will be found that he will urge and if possible force through another bill creating a commission to be appointed by the governor to take over the work of the present railroad commission and control the output of oil by the Texas oil fields and thus put under his control every oil producer big and little doing business in the state.

"And he will endeavor to pass various other measures adding to the power of the governor's . . .

"If the people of Texas could understand the situation as it really exists they would know that the menace of Fergusonism threatens them with greater damage than they have ever been confronted with before; and they would agree with me that absolutely nothing must be left undone to prevent its return to power.

"The issue is plain and simple It is the issue of common honesty and responsible government. Texas must be saved from Fergusonism."

Bullington Will Withdraw Under Condition Named

FORT WORTH, Oct. 22. (AP)—Orville Bullington, Republican candidate for governor, offered today to withdraw from the race and support the Democratic national ticket if the backers of Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson the Democratic gubernatorial nominee, will withdraw her name and substitute that of an "outstanding man."

The offer was made in a statement issued this afternoon through Henry Zweifel, of Fort Worth, Bullington's campaign manager, in reply to an invitation from W. A. Thomas of Dallas for the Republican nominee to withdraw and support the Democratic nominees for president and vice president. The invitation from Thomas, Democratic campaign manager in the fifth congressional district, was prompted by the statement of Bullington that he would not support the Republican presidential nominee any time the Democrats offered a better man.

SHAWNEE MAN LOWEST BIDDER ON BUILDING FOR SEQUOYAH SCHOOL

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 22. (UP)—W. Cooke, Shawnee, was the apparent low bidder on construction of a combination gymnasium and auditorium, to cost approximately $40,000, at the Sequoyah Indian Training school, Tahlequah, the Builders exchange reported today. Cooke's low bid was $34,200.

Bids were received by the department of interior, at Washington. Contract is not expected to be let for several days.

ROOSEVELT MINGLES WITH WEST VIRGINIA MINERS

Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt en route to Pittsburgh, visited in the mining districts of West Virginia. He is shown here conversing with a miner at Elm Grove, W. Va. The miner advised the Democratic presidential candidate that he worked six days a week and was paid $6 a week. The miner's daughter is sitting on Roosevelt's lap. Groups of miners gathered along the route to greet Roosevelt.

HOOVER CHARGES PLAN UNWORKABLE

service men standing on the running board, the president started on his four-mile drive to the Olympia arena.

OLYMPIA ARENA, DETROIT, Oct. 22. (AP)—President Hoover tonight asserted that Franklin D. Roosevelt, his Democratic opponent, had sponsored a "fantastic" and unworkable plan for the relief of unemployment and that he had recently broadcast statements "amazingly removed from the truth" concerning the administration's fiscal policy.

Standing in the huge hall, where a year ago he successfully appealed to the American Legion against the bonus, the president opened his address with a statement that the nation's economic "tide has turned."

"The gigantic forces of depression are in retreat," he said.

"Our measures and policies have demonstrated their effectiveness."

Then, while listing 18 recommendations made by him as the "Republican program," the chief executive devoted much of his address to an attack upon statements made by Democratic leaders during the campaign and to what he called "the destructive Democratic program" proposed during the last session of congress.

Attacks Roosevelt

The Democratic candidate, he asserted, "has refused to renounce or disavow these destructive measures, or to give the country the assurance it deserves that he will not be a party to these measures, including the prepayment of the bonus.

"Observing this, and examining the dominant elements of his party under the leadership of the vice presidential candidate, we can only assume that this program is still in abeyance, to be produced by them if they shall come into power."

The president directed an attack upon a letter he quoted as having been written by Roosevelt and containing the statement that he believed "in the inherent right of every citizen to employment at a living wage and pledge my support to whatever measures I may deem necessary for inaugurating self-liquidating public works, such as utilization of our water resources, flood control and land reclamation, to provide employment for all surplus labor at all times."

There could be "only one conclusion from this statement," the president asserted, terming it "a hope held out to 10,000,000 men and women now unemployed and suffering that they will be given jobs by the government."

Plan Unworkable

He asserted the worst situation in the world today "is the lack of confidence and faith."

"It is a terrible thing to increase this undermining effect by holding out, for political purposes, promises to 10,000,000 men which can not be kept and must end in leaving them disillusioned," he added.

An effort to furnish such a number of men with government work, he said, would cost between $9,000,000,000 and $12,000,000,000 and would withdraw so much money from industry as to cause more unemployment.

"I ask you," he said, "whether or not such frivolous promises and dreams should be held out to suffering unemployed people. Is this the new deal?"

The president discussed what he called "a misstatement of facts" concerning the fiscal policy of the government in recent years.

Quoting Roosevelt as saying in his recent Pittsburgh speech that the administration had been "extravagant" in its fiscal affairs and had increased the "routine" cost of government by $1,000,000,000 between 1927 and 1931, the president asserted:

"The ordinary expenses of the federal government except for relief purposes have been reduced while those of the government of New York state have been increased. Moreover, there will be proof that the governor of New York, no doubt through ignorance of our fiscal system or through misinformation supplied to him, and totally ignoring the actions of the Democratic house of representatives, has broadcast a misstatement of facts. In consequence, his conclusions are amazingly removed fsom the truth. So few of the statements made by the Democratic candidate in accordance with the records of fact that it leaves me nonplussed where to begin."

Saving in Sight

Quoting Roosevelt as saying he would cut $1,000,000,000 a year from the costs of government, the president declared that if he was reelected and "if the Democratic house will cooperate, I will make for the next fiscal year a reduction from the totals of 1932, not of a billion but of $1,500,000,000."

He said if Roosevelt would compare the total expenditures for 1932 with estimated total expenditures for the fiscal year ending in June, 1933, "he will find a thing that he may possibly know already, that his promised saving of a billion dollars already has been accomplished, even though we are still struggling with the expenditures forced on us by the Democratic house."

"But more than this," he said, "if the economies proposed by this administration had been accepted by the Democratic house there would have been for the current year a further saving of at least a half billion more."

The president asserted that Roosevelt, in his statement that government costs had increased by $1,000,000,000 between 1927 and 1931, had failed to mention that the increases "were almost wholly for relief of the depression." Listing as emergency expenditures figures which totaled $815,500,000, he said that "if we adopt the governor's own definition of ordinary routine expenditures and deduct this sum, then the ordinary routine costs of government for 1931 were actually less than those of 1927—not one million greater as he states."

Charges Unfairness

The president said if Roosevelt had "wanted to be fair," he would have chosen for his comparison of fiscal totals not the year 1927, but 1929, in which, he added, "you can be sure there was no waste under President Coolidge."

Listing the date of each of his recommendations to congress as to the need of slicing expenditures and securing more revenue, the president asserted that the "reply" of the Democratic house had been to pass measures which would have added billions of dollars to expenditures.

"If there is a deficit this year," he said, "it will be due to the Democratic members of congress."

Roosevelt, the president continued, has entered "a labyrinth of inaccurate statements," in speaking of Secretary Mills' estimates of future revenues. The Democratic nominee, he said, would "appear to expect that by crystal gazing or by astrology," revenues could be properly predicted "in the midst of the greatest crisis in history."

"The governor implies," he said, "that as the result of failure to read the crystal of the future we have jeopardized the credit of the federal government. The answer is that the governor does not know that only 10 days ago the treasury sold $500,000,000 of notes at three per cent interest. That does not look like a discredited institution. There is no government in the world financing upon such a confidence in its stability.

"The governor's labored charge that for some sinister purpose the facts were misrepresented or concealed from the people is too silly to merit serious consideration. The actual federal expenditures and receipts are issued to the public every day in the year and 9:30 o'clock in the morning."

Brains and Not Legs Needed By President Says Senator Hawes

By HARRY B. HAWES
U. S. Senator of Missouri
Distributed by Universal Service

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 28.—Ashamed to do the thing openly, a contemptible whispering campaign methodically circulated; the stealthy whisperer suggests a muscular handicap that might not stand the strain entailed by the office of the presidency.

Three years ago Governor Roosevelt took out a $500,000 life insurance policy. How many men, even with means, could do this? He can ride a horse, drive an automobile, is an expert swimmer. No one can see his powerful torso, the vigor of his arms and body, his great head, and watch the smile that wraps you up and hear the voice that rings clear to any audience, will believe this lie.

Real Americans, called to choose between a temporary affliction of the legs and a permanent affliction of the head, will choose the leg affliction. Legs might be important in a horse race, but this is a presidential race in which the head is more important than the legs.

SENATOR JOHNSON TO SPEAK FRIDAY BEHALF ROOSEVELT

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 22. (AP)—California's progressive Republican senator, Hiram W. Johnson, announced today he would speak here next Friday in support of Franklin D. Roosevelt, Democratic candidate for president.

Only last week Johnson issued a statement saying he could not and would not support President Hoover. The announcement of the senator's decision to champion the Roosevelt candidacy said he would a mass meeting of the Progressive Republican Roosevelt league of California. Johnson declined to add comment to the bare announcement.

Several weeks ago Johnson in an address before the state federation of labor criticized the relief and international debt policies of the administration.

The Progressive Republican Roosevelt league of California was described by one of its leaders, Frank R. Devin, prominent Alameda county attorney, as being "composed of prominent residents of northern and central California counties who have been actively identified with progressive Republican activities in this state for many years." Hiram Johnson Jr., son of the senator, was listed as a vice chairman.

HIJACKERS RAID OUTLYING ROADS

tion of the route taken by the holdup men, as well as information regarding the number of hijackings.

The Chevrolet, commandeered by the robbers, moved along the Holliday road, across "dead man's bridge" near Iowa Park, along the outskirts of Wichita Falls from the Seymour road to the west end of Tenth street and then on to the Municipal airport where they were last heard of.

Near "dead man's bridge" the pair held up and robbed Ned Lewis G. F. Ross and T. A. Vaden, all of Wichita Falls, but released them after taking their money.

From there the Chevrolet was driven to south of Iowa Park and a young couple was hijacked there, but neither was molested and the girl's jewels were returned to her.

Between the Tenth street bridge and the Iowa Park road two others were hijacked, while a young couple was hijacked at the west end of Tenth street.

The bandit car moved from Tenth street back to the Seymour road, where a couple were robbed and then thrown in their car, bound. One of the bandits took the hijacked car and drove it behind the Taylor Chevrolet.

At the Municipal airport the eighth party was robbed, and it was there that the Taylors were released, when the bandits decided to abandon the Chevrolet because of engine trouble.

Once free from their bonds, the Taylors notified the police and sheriff's offices. It is believed that the bandit car headed away from the airport and Wichita Falls.

Police authorities believe that the bandits are the ones who robbed and bound a party of negroes near Electra Thursday night.

Grocery Robbery

A lone bandit, whose partner waited in a parked car, held up and robbed the Kemp Street Grocery, 1708 Kemp, of $16 in small change and bills at about 9 o'clock Saturday night.

Floyd Ham, proprietor, and Dick Merchant, clerk, were threatened by the bandit, who refused to take any pennies or checks from the store safe.

BETTING ODDS IN FAVOR ROOSEVELT

NEW YORK, Oct. 22. (US)—W. L. Darnell & Co., betting commissioners, stated today that the odds in favor of Roosevelt against Hoover are 2½ to 1.

Roosevelt betting to carry New York is 3 to 2. But Hoover runs a 6 to 5 favorite to win New Jersey. He is an 8 to 5 favorite to carry Pennsylvania and 7 to 5 to capture Massachusetts.

FERGUSONS SPEAK AT SAN ANTONIO

Busy Hand-Shaking Day

Mrs. Ferguson spoke in the Municipal auditorium after a busy hand-shaking day with Democrats who assembled from many parts of Southwest Texas to help the woman candidate and her former governor husband, James E. Ferguson, launch their general election campaign.

The husband member of the country's only married couple team that ever served a state as governor, spoke from the same platform. He dwelt, too, on the necessity of Democrats standing together, not only in the interest of their nominees to state office but in an effort to roll up a big majority for the national presidential ticket.

James E. Ferguson was impeached and removed from the governor's office while serving his second term in 1917. Mrs. Ferguson was elected the first time on an issue of vindication for her husband, after the state's highest courts had ruled Ferguson's impeachment judgment precluded his holding public office in Texas again.

Has Supported Nominees

Mrs. Ferguson said she never had voted against a nominee of her party. She recalled that six and two years ago when she was defeated, the first time for a second term by Dan Moody and the other time by Sterling, she did not "cry fraud, but following the dictates of an honest conscience I marched to the polls, took my medicine and voted for both of them."

"As the people have now nominated me, I appeal to every honest voter, whether you voted for me in the primary or not to demand that they take a dose of their own medicine or go way back and sit down," Mrs. Ferguson said.

She asserted that it was true her husband had voted "only once" against the Democratic ticket, in 1920.

"That was when he was the nominee of a different party—the American party—and he did not that year go into the Democratic primary and did not take a Democratic pledge and, therefore, violated no pledge," she said.

James E. Ferguson organized the American party two years after his impeachment and was its candidate for president. Texas was the only state whose ballots carried American party presidential electors.

Party Concern

She said the present campaign "has ceased to be one of personal concern, but is now one of party concern." She said she came before the people in the general election campaign "not to discuss personal ambitions or personal platforms," but "to raise the flag of party ambitions and party platforms."

"It is now the duty of every good Democrat to lay aside the discussion of personal ambitions and personal platforms and declare his or her allegiance to the party principles and the party nominees, from president to constable," she said. "Having taken the party pledge as a Democrat and having agreed to support all the nominees of the party, I here and now solicit support for every district, county and precinct nominee to the same degree and with the same loyalty that I expect as a candidate for governor or president. Anything less will destroy all confidence in each other.

Question of Contract

"If our conscience will not permit us to keep our words on the primary, then the same conscience ought to keep us out of the primary. If we knowingly enter into a contract with one whom we consider unworthy, with a silent and secret mental reservation that we are not going to keep our contract if things do not turn out as we wanted or expected, then are we not as unworthy as our unworthy opponent?"

She said that regardless of what others "may have done in the past, we must restore party regularity in this country or all party government will be destroyed and we will soon find ourselves again under the domination of political rings and cliques dominated by corporate power and corruption."

Golden Opportunity

She asserted "the Democrats of Texas have a golden opportunity to do Texas a great service.

"If every good citizen will do his patriotic duty and go to the polls and cast a free ballot, it is not only possible but highly probable that the total vote of Texas will exceed a million," she said. "With a native Texas son (John N. Garner) as the first vice president of the United States the South has ever had holding up the hands of democracy's great president, Franklin D. Roosevelt, the Lone Star of Texas will shine with new luster in the galaxy of states and the pride of every Texan will know no bounds and our glorious destiny will be assured."

Party Platform

The woman former governor and second-time selection of the Democrats for chief executive referred to the national and state party platforms as "the shortest declarations of political principles ever adopted by any political conventions.

"Stripped of all the isms that have vexed our people in the past, these party declarations still retain and affirm all the fundamental principles that makes safe the liberty of the citizen and the stability of our country," Mrs. Ferguson said.

Mrs. Ferguson made her address from manuscript, but "Governor Jim," as his long-time followers like to refer to him, spoke extemporaneously. He followed the predicate of party regularity laid down by her.

Two Factors Together

Appearance of the Fergusons here brought two factions of a Bexar county political feud together on the platform. Mayor C. M. Chambers, leader of one element, presided. Walter Tynan, district attorney, opposed to Chambers' regime, also participated in the rally. Tynan introduced F. C. Davis, who presented James E. Ferguson. Mrs. Ferguson was introduced by Mrs. J. E. King, formerly a member of the prison board. Davis was a staunch supporter of Governor Sterling in the Democratic primaries. In the first primary, Mrs. Ferguson had a plurality in Bexar county of approximately 10,000 votes. In the runoff her majority was reduced to about 3,600.

FORD 'REMINDER' IN PAY ENVELOPE

DETROIT, Oct. 22. (INS)—Henry Ford today repeated his advice to his workers that "President Hoover must be elected to prevent times from getting worse and to help them get better."

Every Ford employe found in his pay envelope today a printed card bearing the same statement which appeared on bulletin boards at the Rouge plant last week.

"These are our convictions and we submit them to the serious consideration of all Ford motor employes and their families," the statement concluded.

LEADER DEMOCRATS VISITOR KNOXVILLE

Hour Behind Schedule

Governor Roosevelt reached here over an hour behind schedule. He had passed a strenuous day journeying through Kentucky with frequent appearances and talks to the assembled crowds.

It was something of a triumphal journey through the borderland and into the Southland. Four years ago the border states swung to the Republican party. From the cheering crowds and the friendly greetings today, however, there was no doubt of the border states return to the Democratic fold.

At Corbin, Ky., before crossing into Tennessee, a crowd of over 20,000 assembled to cheer and hear the Democratic nominee. At Junction City, another huge crowd gathered about the train.

Governor Roosevelt, as at his Louisville speech, hammered away at Republican mismanagement and emphasized that the present depression in large measure could be laid at the doors of the Republican administration rather than the G. O. P. "alibi" that it started abroad.

Before 16,000 people jammed into the armory at Louisville, Ky., Roosevelt said the "destructive policies" of the federal administration caused the depression and turned it into an "international calamity."

Early tonight the nominee was "barnstorming" across the border states of Kentucky and Tennessee, speaking briefly from the rear platform of his train at a half dozen cities en route. He arrives at Atlanta, Ga., tomorrow for a two-day stop.

Barring a political miracle between now and Nov. 8, the pivotal border states, so often Republican in presidential years, seem certain to land in the Democratic column.

Dispirited Campaigns

In both Kentucky and Tennessee, local leaders said the Republicans have just about thrown up the sponge and are waging only dispirited campaigns. At Louisville, Roosevelt spoke at a morning rally following an enthusiastic motor parade through the downtown section.

His address was a carefully prepared answer to President Hoover's assertion that the world-wide depression first appeared in 11 foreign countries with a total population of 600,000,000 people.

Roosevelt said:

"Using world trade as a basis, only 20 per cent of the people of the world were in a state of depression when our boom broke in 1928, and 80 per cent were prosperous.

"Just as soon as we went into a nose dive or tail spin in 1929, the depressed percentage of the world rose from 20 per cent to 45 per cent, because we Americans represent a very large factor in world trade.

Smoot-Hawley Tariff

"When the Smoot-Hawley bill was passed in 1930, another great increase in the proportionate depression of the world took place, raising the percentage of depression to somewhere around 75 per cent for the whole world.

"The figures of trade prove the point that we have made repeatedly in this campaign, and that is that the depression in this country was primarily responsible for the depression in the rest of the world."

Roosevelt then renewed his charge that hard times in this country actually resulted from the failure of the Republican administration at Washington to "flatten out" the boom of 1927-28 and check the over-inflation then apparent.

As a witness for his contention, he quoted a report signed by President Hoover himself, as secretary of commerce in 1922, which stated that peacetime booms are always followed by peacetime depressions. He said:

Says Charge Fair

"It is a perfectly fair charge that when the boom started in this country on an unprecedented scale about the year 1927, there was no attempt on the part of the administration to give any regard to it or even to read over the sound conclusion stated in that report of 1922 which had been done under the auspices of Secretary Hoover.

"Our fight is not against the millions of splendid American men and women who up to this time have called themselves Republicans. Our fight is against a Republican leadership which has shown itself to be not only inept but absolutely destructive of the prosperity of America."

Roosevelt promised that under his administration, the country will stop chasing "political and economic rainbows."

A large delegation of Tennesseans, under the leadership of Senator Kenneth McKellar, boarded the Roosevelt train at Louisville. They made arrangements for Roosevelt's speech tonight at Knoxville.

HARRY HINES ISSUES STATEMENT REGARD BULLINGTON'S RACE

(The Times gladly gives space to the following, with the distinct and positive understanding that it in no wise endorses the reflection on those true Democrats who believe a pledge made to their political party is just as binding as a pledge made to their church, or to their banker.—Editor.)

Wichita county Democrats supporting Orville Bullington for governor resent and deny the accusation that they are bolting the state ticket, according to a statement issued Saturday by Harry Hines, executive committeeman for the Bullington-for-Governor Democratic club here.

"We cannot feel that we are bolters so long as we feel that the Democratic party has failed to select a candidate legally entitled to run for the office of governor," he said. "The charges of illegality made by Governor Sterling and the counter-charges made by Mr. and Mrs. Ferguson have convinced us that the results of the primary are voided. Under the circumstances we cannot support any candidate selected by the party to run for governor."

Describing the recent formation of Bullington Democratic organizations over the state as "a landslide for Bullington," Mr. Hines stated that the progress being made in this connection "tends to surpass anything of the sort seen in Texas since the days of Jim Hogg." He expressed the opinion that no one can question the fact that Bullington occupies a strategic position in Texas politics, and said that those in touch with the state as a whole realize that the Wichita Falls candidate is gaining ground by leaps and bounds at the expense of the Fergusons.

Calls It Intimidation

"One of the most amusing things to me," he said, "is the 'upside-down' psychology of the Ferguson support in trying to scare, almost to intimidate, the Democratic voters in arousing their emotionalism with reference to their pledge to vote the ticket. Any sane and intelligent person knows that it was not the voters' pledge but was just an idea conceived by a group of political leaders known as a committee who, because they could stuck those words on the primary ballot in an attempt to bind the voters to some moral obligation. The voters didn't go to the polls for that purpose; they went to vote."

Mr. Hines recalled the record of Jim Ferguson and said the present situation was doubly amusing in view of the ex-governor's record as "a party bolter himself." He pointed out to the young voters that Mr. Ferguson once bolted the Democratic ticket and ran for president under the name of the American party.

"How do you voters who feel conscientiously bound to this pledge expect to elect a Democratic president?" he asked. "We all know that the only way we can elect Roosevelt is to look to the Republican voters of the United States. We cannot ask the Republicans to do something that we cannot do ourselves."

He deplored the fact that some Democrats "had rather stick to some traditional party idea than elect the man they want to do the job." He stated his opinion that the party is under obligation to the voters, not the voters to the party and added: "The party is not supreme in a democracy, but the people are supreme. When any party nominates a person whose record is offensive to the public, we are under no obligation whatsoever, as good citizens, to vote for that candidate."

Concluding with the statement that every Texan should be glad of the opportunity to cast a vote for Orville Bullington, Mr. Hines said: "Mr. Bullington is not running as a Republican. He is running as a statesman, a patriot who has responded to the call of his people in a time of dire need. He is supported by those who want a clean honest, upright government, by people of both parties in Texas."

AMUSEMENTS

Will Rogers, the ambassador of good will, at his best in the current attraction at the Majestic, "Down to Earth." Dorothy Jordan and Irene Rich are featured with him.

Will Rogers in 'Down to Earth' at Majestic; Then 'Phantom President' 'Night Club Lady' at State Sunday

Very different in theme and treatment from its star's previous screen offerings, but all the more interesting and entertaining for that, "Down to Earth," scored a decided hit with local Will Rogers fans since its opening at the Majestic. The attraction will continue through Monday.

Realizing the timeliness of turning his witty spotlight on present conditions, the noted humorist has unobtrusively woven the very human story of a business man's domestic and financial worries into the background of a riotously funny picture. His solution for his problems is as significant as it is hilarous.

To complete the entertainment, the Majestic is presenting an excellent selection of short features headed by a Boy Friend comedy, featuring those popular young stars of comedy who please you so well with their pranks. The comedy is entitled, "Too Many Women." Another one of the Mack Sennett films of his advventures in hunting for deep sea fish is offered, entitled, "Freaks of the Deep." The program is concluded with Majestic talking news.

"The Phantom President"

One of America's best known stage personalities makes his talking picture debut in the "Phantom President," a comedy packed full of real laughs and more funny situations than are possible to mention, in the film which opens at the Majestic for a three days' engagement, starting Tuesday.

He is George M. Cohan, known to both Broadway and the "road" as one of the stage's most prolific actors, playwrights, producers and song writers. Claudette Colbert and Jimmy Durante are also featured in the cast.

Jimmy Durante is at his best in this comedy riot. He will make the most serious-minded burst into laughter with the campaign tactics he used to elect a president.

Included on the program of Majestic featurettes are Aesops Fables, entitled "Stone Age Era"; comedy, "Engineer's Daughter," and Majestic talking news.

"Blonde Venus"

Again Marlene Dietrich proves herself the actress, unequaled on the screen, in the title role of "Blonde Venus," coming to the Majestic theater, starting next Friday. It is a new Marlene Dietrich who makes her appearance in "Blonde Venus"—warm, loving, humanly-moved and withal just as glamorously exotic as she ever was.

In conjunction with this extra special smash hit, the Majestic presents the latest in comedy, screen novelties and news events of the world.

"NIGHT CLUB LADY" AT STATE THEATER SUNDAY

"Night Club Lady," at the State theater, brings to the screen a new type murder mystery, solved by Thatcher Colt, that suave, cultured, handsome New York police commissioner, played by Adolphe Menjou.

This production is one of the most satisfying of the detective mystery pictures yet shown. Somehow, it contrives to get across all the essential elements of suspense, mystery, horror and skillful detective work, and yet it does so without employing the stereotyped or formula detective picture.

Seldom has any detective in fiction, or in reality, been confronted with such a baffling crime as was the murder of Lola Carewe, the night club lady. She was warned in a note that she would die at midnight and Thatcher Colt and his detectives were guarding her apartment very closely at the time. Just as the clock reached the hour Lola Carewe gave a shriek and fell over dead. A doctor pronounced death due to a heart attack, but Colt was not fooled. He pursued his investigation with a picture of a man dead for years as his only clew, until, by a final ingenious stroke of daring, he solved the crime and got a confession from its perpetrator.

"Hot Saturday"

"Hot Saturday" starts Wednesday at the State for two days, starring Nancy Carroll and Cary Grant. "Hot Saturday" is one of the Paramount new season pictures that will give plenty of entertainment for everybody.

"Igloo" Coming Friday

"Igloo" will be the feature picture Friday and Saturday with an all-star native cast.

This unusual picture was filmed in the frozen wastes of northwestern Alaska, with a cast composed entirely of Eskimos. The film not only deals intimately with the home life of the natives, living in ice igloos during the terrible winters, but follows them in a trek to the sea, where they are seen in exciting hunts for whale, walrus and polar bears.

This picture is not only educational in its exploits but is one of the most entertaining pictures as well as the most exciting films ever made in the arctic.

'Guilty as Hell' Lowe-McLaglen Picture at Gem

"Guilty as Hell," a murder story with a comedy twist to it, opens Sunday at the Gem theater, with Edmund Lowe, Victor McLaglen and Richard Arlen in the starring roles.

It is an adaptation of the successful stage play of the same title which enjoyed a long run on Broadway last season.

Lowe and McLaglen, the battling pals of "What Price Glory," "The Cockeyed World," and "Women of All Nations," have the same types of role in "Guilty as Hell"—but they're not in the army this time. Lowe is cast as a police reporter and McLaglen as a detective.

The picture opens with the murder of a woman. The audience sees the crime and the man who commits it. But Lowe and McLaglen, called in on the case, don't. The many bungles they make before finally straightening matters up produce many comedy situations.

Arlen is in the role of a young man, intimate with the slain woman before her death, who faces death by hanging, as a mass of circumstantial evidence piles up against him.

Adrienne Ames, socialite who turned to the movies has the leading feminine role.

LONGHORNS SERVE NOTICE WITH 18-6 VICTORY OVER OWLS

THE LOOKOUT

BY AL PARKER

Baseball's lone hope of successful operation in the season of 1933 is confined in the reported recommendation of the minors' executive committee of stringent salary reductions and league salary limits that can be enforced. The committee of five, of which J. Alvin Gardner is a member, is reported ready to submit to the minor association as its December meeting a proposition that would limit club pay rolls in class A leagues to $3,500 monthly. The player limit also would be reduced to 16 men. Such a salary limit would place the Texas league player's monthly stipend at far less than it has been in a decade, an average of little more than $200 per month. In these times of stress that might not seem such a low sum after all, but when it is considered the professional baseball player receives pay for only six months the proposed reduction would be quite a blow to the pocketbooks of the playing fraternity.

Baseball undoubtedly is up against it. The $3,500 monthly limit may be exaggerated, but it is a certainty that drastic measures will be attempted at the minor league meeting. When cities the size of Dallas finish the season in the red in spite of a team good enough to win half the split race, when cities like Fort Worth and Atlanta of the Southern association consider franchises worth nothing at all and turn them back to the league, the seriousness of the thing may be recognized easily. The $200 a month ball player in the Texas league sounds much like a nightmare, but it may be a fact when another season starts. It appears to be the only hope.

Class A playing standards probably can be maintained regardless of the salary limitations that may be adopted at the minor league session. The ball player has no choice in the matter. He must accept what he is offered or find a job outside organized baseball. Some players will follow that course if called upon to work at $200 per month. The majority will not be able to pursue other courses. Baseball is their profession and they cannot earn as much in any other line of endeavor. Regardless of its remunerations, the great majority of its hired hands will have to stick to the game. As nasty a pill to swallow as it will be for the player, $200 a month salaries and 50-cent admission prices loom as the only salvation for the class A leagues next year.

Reduction of the player limit from 17 to 16 is a step that should have been taken last season. The Texas league magnates knew what was coming last spring. They knew customers were going to be quite scarce and pay rolls would be hard to meet, yet they went right on paying 17 salaries and in some instances a bench manager in addition. It has been only in the last few seasons that the 17-limit has been in effect in the Texas league. The teams managed to get along well enough with 16 men for many years. Nearly all clubs increased their pitching staffs to seven when the limit was raised to 17, but there never was any good reason why seven pitchers are necessary. Regardless of what action is taken this winter in salary matters, the league is sure to go back to the old limit of 16 players.

If the player is deserving of sympathy in the emergency the game as a whole now faces, just consider the bench manager. He is the fellow who has given his best days to the game, has worn out his usefulness as an active player, knows no profession other than baseball. Nothing is left for him but a job managing a team or umpiring. The latter positions are so limited they can absorb only a minute number of the oldtimers. With every club cutting expenses to the bone, the bench manager will have little chance at any salary. The rumored passing of league rules banning non-playing managers, however, is not likely to transpire. It is a problem that should be handled by each individual club, and undoubtedly will be left in the hands of the individual clubs. The bench managers are going to find it tough enough without being banned entirely.

Happ Morse, the Dallas manager for the last two years, has been quoted from Dallas as saying terms offered him for next season were "unfair," and he would not sign, at least immediately. Morse has proved a decidedly popular manager in a city whose fans are the most difficult to please in the entire league. No city has quite so much trouble as Dallas keeping the customers satisfied, and we doubt if any manager in a decade has done as good a job of it as the present skipper. Morse lives in Dallas the year round, mixes in sports generally, and a pleasing personality puts him over with those who make his acquaintance. Our guess is that the Dallas club would be unwise in letting him get away.

Bill Parker, the Associated Press writer, has gone to the trouble of collecting data on the playing experience of the gridders making up the Jefferson law school team at Dallas. This is the team that is blazing a blue streak through the season, taking on all comers but finding it difficult to schedule games. Various yarns have been told and printed of the class of gridders performing for the Rangers, but here is the "low down" on the squad as Parker took it from Coach Nick Dobbs:

Downes—Georgia three years.

Flashy Hilliard Leads Procession In Steer Scoring

By WILLIAM S. WHITE
Associated Press Staff Writer

RICE FIELD, HOUSTON, Oct. 22. (AP)—The University of Texas hoisted storm warnings for all the Southwest conference to see here Saturday, smashing the Rice institute eleven, previously a feared rival, for conference honors, 18-6—largely through the irresistible Bohn Hilliard, sophomore back, who made two of Texas' three touchdowns.

The Longhorns launched upon Rice from the start a savage and powerful assault, from the air and upon the ground, and scored in each of the first three periods. The sole Rice touchdown was made in the third period by Gordon Nicholson, a substitute fullback.

Hilliard, who runs with a peculiar swaying motion of the hips and with tremendous speed, got loose when the game was but a few minutes old, gaining 53 yards in two runs, one with a punt and one with a pass, and polishing the matter off with a final nine-yard run for the first touchdown.

Fullback Ernie Koy smashed over the intervening two yards for the second touchdown for which a 25-yard run with a pass by "Oochie" Earl and a similar 16-yard run by Bibbey had paved the way.

Sophomores Shine

Hilliard's most spectacular play of the game came in the third period when he scooped a pass from shoestring level and sped 57 yards for his second touchdown. As he dashed down the field, the orange of his sweater almost blurred the sight by the speed with which he moved. The crowd set up its customary long, high chant "Hilliard, Hilliard," as he raced free of the Rice defense men.

Bill Wallace, another sophomore, was the spearhead in the successful Rice offensive of the third period which brought its touchdown. Wallace and John McCaulley smashed the Texas line successfully for more than 40 yards to place the ball in position for Nicholson to carry it over.

Brilliant Backs

Rice showed weakness in permitting the Longhorns to take advantage of quick kicks, but the standout of Texas performance was of course, the brilliance of its celebrated backs, Stafford, Koy and Hilliard.

The Texas victory avenged two successive defeats at the hands of Rice in the last two years. Some 15,000, the largest crowd at a football game here in history, saw the game.

The lineups:

BILLIES SCORE LATE TOUCHDOWN TO EARN DRAW WITH ST. EDS

AUSTIN, Oct. 22. (AP)—Scoring a touchdown late in the fourth quarter, Daniel Baker fought St. Edward's university to a 7-7 tie here Saturday.

St. Edwards scored a touchdown and made the extra point early in the first period when a sustained passing and running attack placed the ball on the Hill Billies' 2-yard line. Evans crashed across. Stone and Kivlin played a prominent part in the drive. Stone place kicked for the extra point.

Late in the fourth quarter, Daniel Baker opened up with an aerial bombardment. Aided by two penalties on St. Edward's, one for 25 yards and another for 15 yards, the Daniel Baker eleven managed to score through the air from the 15-yard line. Smith tied the score with a place kick.

A pass, Weaver to Hopkins, netted 12 yards and another pass, Weaver to Scanlin, gained 20 yards. A third pass, Weaver to Scanlin, was good for 15 yards and a Daniel Baker score.

St. Edwards made nine first downs to five for the Hill Billies.

RESOURCEFUL COLGATE TEAM DEFEATS N. Y. U.

NEW YORK, Oct. 22. (AP)—Colgate's hard hitting, resourceful football forces administered an artistic beating Saturday to New York university, 14 to 0, and kept its place in the fronk rank of eastern championship contenders.

A crowd of 35,000 saw the fast, versatile "Red Raiders" score their fifth successive victory of the 1932 season, keep their goal line uncrossed and hand the Violets their first setback of the year. Colgate's version of the famous Warner offensive system, as taught by Andy Kerr, completely baffled the New Yorkers.

LAKE ALTUS RECEIVES STOCK OF GAME FISH

ALTUS, Okla., Oct. 22.—Employes of the city, in addition to local sportsmen fished "in a big way" recently and are planning to make a similar catch late this week when the second of two hatchery lakes near the city reservoir is drained.

Several thousand fish, most of them measuring six to eight inches in length, were taken from the first of the small lakes, placed in large cans and trucked to Lake Altus, where they were released in the large body of water for fishing next spring.

Frogs Scamper Over Grid in 68-0 Fiasco

FORT WORTH, Oct. 22. (AP)—Several reserve backs flashed brilliantly here Saturday afternoon as the Texas Christian university Horned Frogs completely smothered the Austin college Kangaroos of Sherman, 68 to 0. The Purple team started scoring with the first kickoff and counted almost at will all afternoon.

Rex Clark, a sophomore from Ranger turned in some nice runs, one for 67 yards and a score. Charlie Casper, Joe Coleman, Dan Harston and one or two other reserve ball luggers also did nice work. At no time during the game did Coach Schmidt have his entire first team on the field but every man on his roster saw some action.

Red Oliver, fast Frog back was in the game for only two plays but scored touchdowns on both appearances. In the second he picked up a kickoff and returned it 80 yards for a score. In the third, he raced off tackle for 10 yards and another counter. He left the game after each play.

The Frogs piled up the staggering total of 675 yards from scrimmage and made 30 first downs Austin college made one first down, that on a pass, and earned but 12 yards on running plays all afternoon. They got the ball inside the Frogs' 50-yard line only once and an intercepted pass killed that threat.

The lineups:

AUSTIN (0)	Pos.	T. C. U. (68)
McConnell	L.E.	Langdon
Messick	L.T.	Perkins
Cox	L.G.	Bassinger

TULANE STOPPED BY AUBURN, 19-7, FIRST TIME IN FIVE YEARS

NEW ORLEANS, La., Oct. 22. (US)—Tulane Saturday took its first Southern conference defeat in five years from the Auburn Plainsmen, 19 to 7, in a game demonstrating the superior running of Hitchcock, fleet Auburn back whose outstanding role was ably supported by Talley and Phipps.

Though Tulane drove for 13 first downs to six for Auburn and completed five forward passes to one, Hitchcock's speed and interceptions of Tulane passes nullified Tulane's ground gains while Auburn's stiff defense of its goal line prevented scoring.

Auburn's first quarter score came from a 65-yard run by Hitchcock after intercepting a Tulane forward pass. This came after Tulane's drive was stopped on the Auburn 18-yard line.

On the second quarter opening, Roberts cut through tackle for a 32-yard touchdown run, booting his own point after. Hitchcock next on a fake kick ran 73 yards for a touchdown.

Zimmerman and Roberts starred for Tulane with the former impeded by lack of offensive balking. Auburn tried five passes incomplete, Tulane had seven incomplete and lost the ball on five additional tries. Penalties were insignificant.

NAVY FIGHTS WAY TO TIE AGAINST TIGERS

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 22. (AP)—A scrapping Navy eleven, which hasn't been doing so well this season, made up for any previous lapses by playing Princeton's Tigers to a scoreless tie before 40,000 spectators at Palmer stadium Saturday.

Not only did Coach Rip Miller's Middies avert what the experts had predicted was certain defeat, but they roundly outplayed the Tigers most of the way and contributed what few scoring threats were offered in a pretty dull contest.

Only once did Princeton threaten the Middie goal line—that late in the second period—while the future admirals harassed their rivals repeatedly in the first half and kept them backed against their own goal posts much of the second.

The Middies piled up eight first downs, compared with six for princeton and gained 132 yards by rushing to Princeton's 83.

LOUISIANA COLLEGE BEATS MEXICAN TEAM

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 22. (US)—The Louisiana college football eleven Saturday defeated the University of Mexico, 12-0.

Anders, Louisiana's speedy 195-pound fullback scored both touchdowns. In the third period the Mexicans outgained the Americans 60 yards to 20 yards, but the Louisiana line held fast when Mexico threatened to score.

The game drew 30,000 spectators. This is the fourth year of football at the U. of M. John H. Joss of Yale is the coach.

LONG RUNS TOO MUCH FOR FORDHAM ELEVEN

NEW YORK, Oct. 22. (AP)—Three long runs of 80, 72 and 60 yards respectively by Monnett, Eliowitz and McNutt gave Michigan State's fighting Spartons a 19-13 victory over Fordham in a thrilling intersectional football game before 20,000 persons.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA KEEPS RECORD INTACT

PALO ALTO, Calif., Oct. 22. (AP)—Keeping intact its record of never having lost to the Cardinals on their own field, the University of Southern California team upset Stanford, 13-0, here Saturday afternoon to the surprise of 65,000 fans.

Tigers Take Air Route to Defeat Arkansas, 14-0

Two Long Passes Provide Touchdowns in L. S. U. Win Over Porkers

SHREVEPORT, La., Oct. 22. (AP)—Two long, high passes into the right halfback's territory, coming into safe landing inside the enemy's 10-yard line within the first 10 minutes of play, gave the Louisiana State university eleven a 14 to 0 victory over Arkansas' Razorbacks here Saturday.

It was the 27th meeting of the teams and the victory gave the Tigers a two up margin on the Porkers. Gov. O. K. Allen and President J. M. Smith of Louisiana State university viewed the contest.

After the Tigers put over their two scores they threatened only three times thereafter. They were checked on the 6-yard line by the timer's whistle announcing the completion of he first half, were held for downs shortly after the start of the fourth quarter and lost the ball on a fumble by Smith on the 6-yard line midway in the final period.

A missed punt by Jordan of Arkansas paved the way for the Tigers' first score. Stovall covered the ball. Yates passed from the 39-yard line to Lobdell on the 4-yard line and after two trials Keller scored.

Scoring Threats Fail

Taking the ball from Arkansas on a punt a few minutes later, Louisiana moved down the field with Lobdell and Yates staging brilliant runs until they hit the 39-yard line, where Yates passed 30 yards to Flemming, who ran 9 yards for a score.

After the Tigers' second score the Razorbacks threw a scare into the enemy by moving from their own 31-yard line to the 5-yard stripe with LaForge doing a little sprinting and Murphy and Nations completing a 34-yard pass. On the second play from the 4-yard line Biddle fumbled and Wilson recovered. LaForge made a nice running return of Torrance's punt and soon the ball was down to the Tigers' 2-yard line, where the L. S. U. forwards held and the drive ended.

The first part of the second quarter found Smith of L. S. U. and Murphy of Arkansas punting but the last two minutes of play found Bowman, Smith and Langley moving the ball from their own 22-yard line to Arkansas' 10-yard line. A 15-yard penalty put them back but Joe Almokary pulled a 28-yard run to get within the shadow of the goal posts. The half ended as Almokary lost a yard on the next play.

Tigers Halted

The third quarter was played between the 20-yard lines until the last 30 seconds, when a series of penalties against Arkansas helped the Tigers get to the 12-yard stripe. With Captain Bull Erwin showing well on the defense the Tigers were stopped with a 5-yard loss. A short while later the Tigers threatened again but Smith fumbled on the 5-yard line. The Tigers, with their regulars back on the field, took a punt on the 22-yard line and ran 17 yards on three plays as the half ended.

This was Biff Jones' first appearance at the Louisiana State fair as coach of the Tigers. The Tigers, using the Warner formation, showed an entirely different brand of ball from that of other years.

LOUIS RIESEN THIRD BOWLER TO GET 300 ON SPUDDER ALLEYS

The third perfect bowling game in the history of the Spudder alleys was scored Saturday afternoon when Louis W. Riesen posted a 300 score on alleys one, two and three. It was the third time he had posted 11 consecutive strikes, but this time he went all the way with a perfect hit in the "New York pocket" for No. 12. Continuing the string, Riesen started the next game with a double before he was stopped with a nine-pin count at 14 in a row.

The other two perfect games were rolled last season by the late C. F. Sweeney and C. E. Pimlott.

Outweighed Shreveport Has Little Trouble With Mustangs

By BILL PARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS, Oct. 22.—Being outweighed 20 pounds to the man did not matter to a hard charging little Centenary college team tonight, for with Ralph Murff and Harold Oslin leading the way, the Gentlemen pounded their way to an 18-7 victory over Southern Methodist's Mustangs. It was Centenary's second consecutive victory over a Southwest conference team, the Gentlemen having recently defeated the University of Texas.

There was never a doubt about the superior team. The husky Mustang front wall simply was riddled to shreds by the low-running and powerful smacking Centenary backs, who reversed their fields, skirted ends and smashed center for two touchdowns and a pair of field goals just to prove themselves versatile.

Loss in First Round Third Annual Polo Matches At El Ranchito

FORT WORTH, Oct. 22. (AP)—Georgetown poloists today defeated the crack Wichita Falls team, 11-4, and Dallas mallet wielders trounced the highly touted Abilene quartet, 8-3, in the first two games of the third annual fall polo tournament at El Ranchito field near Arlington.

Wichita Falls, represented by Ernest Fain, No. 1, Horrace Robbins, No. 2, Auburey Floyd, No. 3 and Charles Featherston, No. 4, with J. Smith alternating with Featherston, gave Georgetown a handicap of three goals in the opening but the victors could have done without the award. O. W. Cardwell, No. 1, L. Starke, No. 2, After Weir, No. 3, George Kuykendall, No. 4, with J. Gillan, substitute, played for Georgetown. Starke scored four goals, Gillan two, Kuykendall one and Cardwell one for the winning team. Robbins tallied twice for Wichita Falls and single tallies were made by Fain and Floyd.

The Dallas-Abilene game was a thriller from start to finish with both teams staging frequent rallies. J. Harry Neal, Dallas skipper, maneuvered his team splendidly and scored twice. Capt. "Bib" Newman registered once, as did Fred Bailes. Randolph Allen tallied twice and Major Bill Long, who alternated with Newman, made a single marker. E. Griffin was high man for Abilene, scoring three goals. Price Campbell, J. Harker and Willis Cox completed the Abilene lineup. Cooper alternated for Abilene.

Army Youngsters Lead Assault on Elis in 20-0 Win

Long Sprints by Vidal and Pick Feature Rout of Yale Team

By EDWARD J. NEIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 22.—A couple of long-legged buckoes, Felix "Pick" Vidal and Jack Buckler, turned one of the most brilliant of all the East's annual football pageants into a two-man rodeo Saturday as Army finally caught up with Yale and battered the Bulldogs all over the bowl. The score was 20 to 0.

For three years, crushed once by the individual brilliance of little Albie Booth, twice held to meaningless ties, the Cadets have massed in the mammoth stadium, waiting this day.

The shock that battered down the Elis was as nothing to the flood of grey that swept the field in a mob battle for the goal posts the minute the ball game was over. Yale saved the uprights after a terrific struggle, but that was the only consolation for the Elis.

Twice in the second period, the kid rough riders of the Army outfit took the Bulldog apart and left Yale as dazed as the 40,000 spectators, smallest crowd to view this spectacle in post-war history.

Two Long Runs

Vidal, 20-year-old youngster from Madison, S. D., looking like the Booth of three years ago, picked one of Dud Parker's kicks out from under the noses of half a dozen burly Eli forwards as the ball was rolling loose on his own 27-yard line, dodged his way past tackler after tackler to complete a 73-yard touchdown dash.

Almost before the cheering had died, out of an end run from his own 32-yard line burst Buckler, a 162-pound sophomore from Waco, Texas, and threaded his way with all the deftness and ease of his predecessor through the secondary and out in the clear to score from 68 yards away.

That finished what little chance a burly but faltering Yale team had of continuing the spell the Elis have over Army with five victories and four ties in 12 games since the post-war resumption of hostilities.

Elis Never Dangerous

Never even dangerous, Yale all but conceded the Cadets' touchdown in the fourth quarter although Army twice more crossed the goal line in the closing minutes but was called back by penalties. After big Joe Crowley kicked to midfield, Paul Johnson started another drive that wound up over the Eli goal. He pranced back 18 yards with Crowley's boot, picked up 20 more on a 5-yard pass and a 15-yard penalty, and then went the rest of the way in two plunges. Johnson, a junior from Ashland, Ohio, and one of the fastest men on the squad, missed another touchdown when Army was caught holding on his 26-yard run from scrimmage that ended the scoring at the corner of the field.

On Friday night, Nov. 4, the Tigers will go to Frederick; on the night of Nov. 11, they will journey to Childress. The Tigers will go to Breckenridge Nov. 18 as Breckenridge played here last year. MATADORS WIN 21-0 CLASH WITH MINERS

DENVER, Oct. 22. (AP)—Combining a tricky, deceptive running offensive with a versatile passing attack, the Matadors from Texas Tech downed the Colorado School of Mines, 21 to 0, in an intersectional grid contest here Saturday.

Sollis, Matador back, shone in the Texas Tech victory. His open field running baffled the Mines defense as much as his passing to Hitchcock, Matador end, and Moffett, quarterback. The Colorado team never seriously threatened to score.

Mines held the Matador shock troops scoreless in the first period but when the first string took charge in the second quarter they quickly scored two touchdowns and added another in the third. The final period was scoreless.

ESTELLINE BEAR CUBS ROLL UP 50-0 SCORE

ESTELLINE, Texas, Oct. 22.—The Estelline High school football team rolled up 50 points here Saturday while holding the Childress B squad scoreless. The home team's heavy scoring was featured by many long runs and its defense allowed the visitors only two first downs. Greer, Leatherwood and Coppedge led the Estelline attack, with Carter, Ivey and T. Plicher featuring for Childress.

COLUMBIA KEEPS ITS STRING WINS INTACT

Lou Little's charges rang up their fifth decisive victory in as many starts, and Williams had to bow for the fourth straight time since winning the opening game of the season.

The score was 46 to 0, the most one-sided score in the history of the Columbia-Williams gridiron strife.

The Blue and White scored one touchdown each in the first and fourth periods, with two in the second and three in the third when Columbia showed its highest efficiency by scoring twice before Williams had an opportunity to rush the ball.

NORTHWESTERN EARNS TIE WITH PURDUE 7-7

EVANSTON, Ill., Oct. 22. (AP)—Northwestern held the undefeated Purdue eleven to 7-7 tie in a dramatic finish of a bitterly fought game before 40,000 spectators Saturday. The Wildcats scored in the closing minutes with Olson tossing a pass to Potter back of the goal line as the climax of a 65-yard drive.

Lines Prove Too Much for Attack Of Both Elevens

Baylor Stops Domingue and Farmers Bat Down Bruin Passes

By BILL PARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

WACO, Texas, Oct. 22. (AP)—A battle between two powerful lines which gave all they had to their elusive backs but saw it go for nothing ended the Texas A. & M.-Baylor university Southwest conference game Saturday at Carroll field 0 to 0. The Aggies' mixture of running and passing could not fathom through the brilliance of the Baylor front wall. The Baylor offense that swept the air was unsuccessful because Aggie linesmen were always on the spot to ground the aerial heaves.

The only thing that marred the contest was frequent fumbling by both teams. Both clubs failed to take advantage of several opportunities to score that resulted from fumbles, but that only brings the two lines back into print.

Baylor had the best chance to reap victory, when in the last two minutes of the fourth period Archie Kroney kneeled on the Aggies' 15-yard line and held the ball while Arthur Norton tried a Baylor field goal. The ball started well, but sliced to the right of the goal posts, and one play later the game terminted in a scoreless tie.

Field Goal Fails

C. M. Cummings, Willis Nolan and Stapp Maxwell played marvelous front line football for the Aggies. They were in the thick of the battle from start to finish and trotted from the gridiron with the applause of the crowd ringing over Carrol field for them. The same goes for the elongated Frank James, Jim, Tom Petty, Bennie Clark and Arthur Norton of Baylor. Several times the Aggies were inside the Baylor 20-yard line, but each time that bulky Baylor line would dig in and the Aggies' backs were either stopped at the line of scrimmage or tossed for losses.

The Bears never had as many scoring opportunities as Texas A. & M. but the ones they had were stopped at the line of scrimmage.

Baylor's final march in the fourth period was the high spot of the game. Starting on the Aggies' 46-yard line, a flat zone triple pass with Reeves on the receiving end gained 9 yards. Reeves then swept through for a first down on the Aggie 34-yard line. A pass from Price to Petty put the ball on the Aggie 10 with four downs for a touchdown. Reeves hit the line twice and got only two yards. He lost a yard on the third down when Cummings nailed him. With fourth down and nine yards to go for a touchdown and only two minutes to play, Norton tried for a field goal that gave the fans their biggest thrill, but failed to score for Baylor.

Domingue Stopped

Joe Jack Pearce, with his long punts, starred in the Baylor backfield, but when running yardage was needed, none of the Baylor backs could sweep beyond the Aggies 7-yard stripe. Baylor scored five first downs and the Aggies four.

CORNHUSKERS DEFEAT JAYHAWKERS BY 20-6

LAWRENCE, Kan., Oct. 22. (AP)—The fleet Cornhuskers of Nebraska, defending their Big Six football championship, defeated the revived Kansas Jayhawkers, 20 to 6, here Saturday before a Kansas homecoming crowd of 9,000 and remained in a tie with Oklahoma in the scramble for the title.

Coach Dana X. Bible made good his promise to produce a football squad stressing the open game. His two midget backs, Chris Mathis and Carlyle Staab, sent the Huckers into a two-touchdown lead in the first period on flashy runs.

MISSOURI TIGERS GET TIE WITH IOWA STATE

COLUMBIA, Mo., Oct. 22. (AP)—The University of Missouri Tigers snapped out of their lethargy Saturday, but failed to gain when gains meant touchdowns and wound up in a scoreless tie with the Iowa State Cyclones.

After playing on even terms in the first half the Tigers put on two powerful drives in the third and fourth periods, one good for six consecutive first downs and 70 yards, but the fighting Cyclones held both times in the shadow of their goal line.

SOONERS BUMP KANSAS AGGIES BY 20 TO 13

NORMAN, Okla., Oct. 22. (AP)—Seven thousand wildeyed fans Saturday saw Lewie Hardage's gridiron strategists of the University of Oklahoma overcome the threat of a powerful Kansas State aggregation in a last-period whirlwind finish that resulted in a 20 to 13 defeat for the heretofore undefeated visitors from Manhattan. The Sooners have not been defeated in the Big Six race this season.

The once mighty Scot from Carnegie Tech valiantly attempted to stem the tide of the point-a-minute scoring Ramblers before 30,000 spectators Saturday but fell under another avalanche of touchdowns, 42 to 0. It was the worst defeat they had received in 10 years of warfare with Notre Dame.

Except for the first minute of play when Harry McCurdy recovered Mike Koken's fumble on the first play from scrimmage on Notre Dame's 11-yard line, the Scots didn't have a chance. They were able to gain but 2 yards after that break.

Six backs, representing the first and second teams, scored Notre Dame's touchdowns, piling up 466 yards from the line of scrimmage to the Scots' 79, and adding up 17 first downs to only two for the enemy.

The Ramblers ran their points for the first three games of the season to 177 against none for the opposition, an average of 59 points a game or almost a point per minute, Haskell was downed 73 to 0, and Drake 62 to 0.

Olney's 2 to 0 victory over Burkburnett Friday night in one of the greatest battles the class B section has ever known counts just as much in the percentage column as Crowell's feat of scoring 102 points against Megargel, and the Cubs by virtue of their hard earned win remain with Chillicothe the only unbeaten teams in district five.

The district championship will may be decided Friday afternoon when Coach Albert Acker leads his Cubs into Chillicothe for the headliner of the week's North Texas schedule. There is no doubt whatever but that it is the deciding game if Olney is the victor, for the Cubs then will face only three second division teams, none of which can hope for more than to hold the champs to a close score. A Chillicothe win Friday will leave the Eagles the only unbeaten team in the race, but still facing stiff tests against Burkburnett and Crowell proven powerful teams in the championship scramble.

Lots of Power

That the Cubs will have anything but easy sailing against Coach Volney Hill's high flyers has been demonstrated in the Eagles' two games, the latest Friday's 38 to 0 victory over Archer City to go along with the 45 to 0 rout of Seymour.

Olney has exhibited no such scoring power as demonstrated by Chillicothe, but the Cubs have their usual smooth working machine, led by the versatile co-captain, "Bull" Graves, who falls little short of matching Chillicothe's ace, "Rat" Ramsey. The contest bears all the qualifications of a true championship combat, and should attract one of the largest fan gatherings of the district five season.

Second in importance and promising of fully as many thrills is Crowell's invasion of Burkburnett for a night game Friday. Both teams have been beaten by Olney, but the winner will not be out of the title fight by any stretch of the imagination, and Bulldogs and Wildcats have at it to determine which stays in the race.

Todd Returns

Crowell Friday gave a thorough demonstration of its power with Captain Dick Todd in the lineup. The triple-threat backfield star was on the sidelines the afternoon the Cats lost to Olney, 14 to 0, but he has recuperated and Friday paced the team to a 102-point victory over the Megargel Mustangs. And just as the Olney-Chillicothe tilt matches two great backs in Ramsey and Graves, the Burkburnett game sends Todd against Joe Earl Bryarly, the Bulldogs' great all-round player.

The class B district seldom has offered two games so tempting as those slated for Friday at Chillicothe and Burkburnett, and picking the winner in either is strictly a matter of guessing.

The third game Friday finds two of the weaker clubs clashing in a game that is likely to be close and interesting. Archer City invades Seymour and there is little to choose between the two, both rating considerably below the "big four" of the district, Olney, Chillicothe, Burkburnett and Crowell.

Henrietta and Megargel are idle so far as league competition is concerned.

MANKINS AND GERALDINE TEAMS DIVIDE HONORS

MANKINS, Texas, Oct. 22.—Two Mankins High school basket ball teams defeated Geraldine teams here Friday night, while the girls' volley ball team was losing to the invaders. Mankins junior cagers won, 20 to 3, and the seniors, 28 to 6. The scoring of J. W. Richeson and Randell Kirksey in the first game and Jack Coles in the senior contest was a feature.

CHICAGO OPENS RACE BY WHIPPING INDIANA

CHICAGO, Oct. 22. (AP)—Staving off a desperate closing aerial attack, the University of Chicago opened its Western conference football campaign with a 13 to 7 triumph over Indiana. The Maroons scored in the first two periods. Edmonds heaved a 45-yard pass to Lyons for Indiana's touchdown in the third frame.

Coyotes vs. Lions

Their stock lowered as the result of a 7 to 0 loss at the hands of a team beaten, 39 to 0, by Vernon, the Coyotes Monday embark upon their final week of practice before invading the den of the vaunted Lions Saturday afternoon for their third league game of the season. Generally ragged play and offensive inability in the Grandfield game Saturday at the stadium has resulted in the Pack's stock reaching new low levels, and by comparison with the heavy scoring record of the Lions, Coach Ted Jefferies' young men loom as little more than cannon fodder for the current district No. 5 favorites.

The last championship hopes of the Pack will be carried into the contest at Vernon, a victory being necessary to retain a meager hope of continuing in the hunt for the district crown. A victory over the Lions, provided Vernon or some other team can stop Quanah, would reinstall the Pack in the thick of the titular race, but a much higher grade of football must be played next Saturday to maintain hopes of victory.

Hurd Uncertain

Even the absence of the team's two wing stars, Capt. Ed Greenwood and Charlie Hurd, failed to account for the miserably poor showing in last week's game, and the status of these two cannot be determined until practice is resumed Monday. Hurd's case is particularly undertain and he may be kept out of the Vernon game by a leg injury that has not shown as rapid improvement as expected. Greenwood, however, should be fit and ready for the Lions.

Further work on the team's ground plays may be expected this week in view of developments in the Grandfield game. This phase of the team's play showed little improvement, though it had received minute attention in the last week's practice. Many backfield combinations have been used and practically all 12 of the leather luggers have been given chance after chance to supply the needed punch, but with a month of play gone the team remains as weak as ever in the ground game.

All Practice Games

All five district teams played non-league games this week, with Wichita Falls the only loser. Electra was held to a 7 and 7 tie by the Temple Tigers; Vernon defeated Frederick, 21 to 0; Quanah won from Duke, 72 to 6, and Childress routed Gould, 40 to 0.

Vernon's decisive victory over Frederick enabled the Lions to continue their heavy scoring, which has been held to less than 15 points in only one game this season. The speedy Lion backs, Thompson and Garner, set the pace in registering three touchdowns, while Hopson had a perfect day with his toe in booting all three extra points.

Electra ran into surprising opposition from Temple, though this Oklahoma team is known to have a stronger lineup than in several seasons, and the Tigers' tie may be construed as an indication of an improving team, rather than as a sign of weakness.

The big scores compiled by Quanah and Childress were expected, since both their Oklahoma foes had fared poorly against Texas teams in early games. Duke having been beaten by Vernon in the Lions' opener, 75 to 6.

Two District Tilts

Two district combats are on the calendar for this week, Electra playing at Quanah Saturday afternoon in addition to the Coyotes' invasion of Vernon. Both games will provide more or less important comparisons for games to follow. Vernon must defeat Wichita Falls by a wider margin than one touchdown to maintain its rating above Quanah, the latter having won from Wichita Falls week before last, 6 to 0. Quanah can gain prestige only by scoring over Electra far more decisively than did the Coyotes in winning a 7 to 0 verdict.

In the three games played so far in the district race Vernon's 13 to 0 decision over Childress represents the widest winning margin, and since all five teams have been in action at least once close battles may well be expected in all the remaining league skirmishes. Even the three losers, Wichita Falls, Childress and Electra, undoubtedly still may boast of meager chances to get back into the race.

BADGERS HANG UP 15TH CONSECUTIVE CONQUEST

AMARILLO, Oct. 22. (AP)—The Amarillo college Badgers turned their aerial attack wide open here Saturday and defeated the Wayland college Jackrabbits, 18 to 0, in a Texas Junior College conference game.

During the entire first half the Badgers did nothing but mix passes; however, their scores came in the final periods as results of running plays. Gilbreath, giant halfback, plunged the line once in the second quarter on a play calling for a lateral pass. It was the only Badger plunge of the first half, and Gilbreath was benched for the play.

The Badgers threw 40 passes, completing 26 of them for a gain of 215 yards. They made 26 first downs to Wayland's six, and gained a total of 422 yards.

Taylor, Gilbreath and Crass accounted for the touchdowns, one in the third period and two in the fourth. All were results of long drives after the Badgers had returned to their running attack.

The victory was the Badgers' 15th straight.

CALIFORNIA TRAMPLES CHAMPIONSHIP HOPES OF WASHINGTON TEAM

SEATTLE, Oct. 22. (AP)—The battered Bears of California trampled the Pacific Coast conference hopes of the University of Washington football team today by scoring a sparkling 7 to 6 victory. Washington was the only undefeated eleven in this section before the battle.

Late in the second period after Washington had tallied a touchdown in the first quarter, Coach Bill Ingram sent Arleigh Williams into the fray to replace the triple-threat star, Henry Schaldach.

After Matt Mucsynski returned a kick, Williams went to work from Washington's 47-yard line. He took the ball for a line smash. His linesmen opened a big hole at right tackle. He pushed one tackler aside, wiggled out of the clutches of two others and headed for Art Ahonen, the Washington safety man. His interference took care of Ahonen and Williams romped on to the touchdown.

ALL READY FOR OPENING CHEST DRIVE OCT. 26

All Divisions to Be in Full Swing at Breakfast Wednesday

CHAIRMAN ROY B. JONES EXPECTS REAL SUCCESS

Many Organizations Report 100 Per Cent Pledges Of Employes

The community chest campaign to finance the budgets of the eight relief and welfare agencies for another year is making good progress, Roy B. Jones, general chairman, announced Saturday afternoon.

"All divisions of the drive will be in full swing this week when Col. E. W. Crump's sales army takes the field after an "Early Bird" breakfast at 7:45 a. m. Wednesday, Oct. 26, at the Wichita club, and if Mr. Crump's unit makes as good a start as the other three divisions have made we will finish on schedule with a fully subscribed quota," said Mr. Jones. "The main point we must all keep in mind is that we will have to get more money out of fewer people this year because so many of our citizens who subscribed last year are unemployed this year. This is the year when we will have to make real personal sacrifices in order that there may be no human suffering in our city this winter."

The special gifts division, under the leadership of Col. C. E. McCutchen, and Lieut. Col. M. W. Blair, began the solicitation of 250 big givers last Thursday and will make their first report at a 12 noon luncheon, Oct. 24, at the Kemp hotel. HEAD CHILD WELFARE DIVISION DENIES ANY INTEREST IN POLITICS

AUSTIN, Oct. 22. (INS)—Violet Greenhill, director of the state child welfare division, denied today that her bureau had any interest in politics.

Her statement followed charges made yesterday by Senator Carl Hardin in an organization meeting of the bureau.

The statement follows:

"The charges have been made that the Texas child welfare division is engaged in political activities, and I want to assure the public that that charge is not true. Our activities have been entirely devoted to the interests of child welfare.

"Since May we have organized the department, formulated our plans. Through the commissioners courts the personnel of 28 county boards have been appointed. They are ready to serve their counties for the welfare of the dependent children in their communities."

NATIONAL SOCIALISTS PICK AGED GENERAL FOR REICHSTAG POST

BERLIN, Oct. 22. (AP)—The National Socialists of Adolf Hitler today nominated 83-year-old Gen. Karl Litzmann for the reichstag to prevent the possibility of the veteran Communist Clara Zetkin opening the next reichstag by virtue of her seniority.

General Litzmann opened the Prussian diet as its oldest member recently. Both of those legislative bodies honor the oldest member by naming them temporary president at the opening sessions.

Clara Zetkin, who is 75, was the oldest member of the reichstag at its latest session, and delivered at the outset an attack on President Von Hindenburg and republican government.

AUSTIN, Texas, Oct. 22. (INS)—United States treasury vouchers totaling $118,548, for distribution in nine Texas counties as emergency relief, were received at the governor's office today from the federal Reconstruction Finance corporation.

These vouchers will be countersigned by the governor and made immediately available for relief as outlined in the requests sent in by the individual cities and counties.

Counties benefiting from this first major Texas payment were Harris, $46,138; Tarrant, $16,034; Jefferson, $11,371; Travis, $9,500; McLennan, $5,445; Anderson, $312; Robertson, $425; Bexar, $23,778; and Potter, $5,542.

Brewster county has already received $9,750.

A voucher for $55,000 for El Paso county was expected Monday or Tuesday, according to Pat Dougherty, the governor's secretary.

These amounts were scheduled to have been paid out Oct. 1, but had been delayed.

A similar amount will be allotted each county, including El Paso county, on Nov. 1, today's payment being one-half the amount granted in each case.

OPERATION PERFORMED ON YOUTH CONFINED IN ARTIFICIAL RESPIRATOR

NEW YORK, Oct. 22. (INS)—To save the life of Anthony Ilisch, doctors for the first time on record performed a major operation on a patient confined in an "iron lung."

The physicians at the Brooklyn hospital where the feat was performed reported today the boy apparently would recover.

Ilisch, only 15, suffered from a brain tumor. When surgeons tried to operate the boy became unconscious and almost stopped breathing.

He was placed in the artificial respirator, which left only his head outside. With strength pumped into the boy by the scientific contraption, it was possible to cut out the tumor.

PROVIDE GUARD FOR MUSSOLINI

Premier to Confer With Sir Eric Drummond

ROME, Oct. 22. (AP)—Premier Benito Mussolini entrained for Turin today for a conference with Sir Eric Drummond, retiring secretary general of the League of Nations, to discuss reorganization of the league secretariat. He will meet Sir Eric en route.

MILAN, Oct. 22. (INS)—To forestall the danger of any untoward demonstrations during the scheduled visit of Premier Mussolini, nearly 1,000 anti-Fascist suspects have been rounded up at Turin, it was learned today.

The suspects will be detained by Turin police for duration of the premier's visit.

LONDON, Oct. 22. (INS)—Five thousand plainclothes detectives from all parts of Italy have been sent to Turin to protect Premier Benito Mussolini during his visit to that city, it was stated in a dispatch to the Daily Express today.

When Il Duce visits Turin, the dispatch said, he will face "sullen masses of hostile workers for the first time since the beginning of fascism."

Tom Mix Resting Comfortably Says Hollywood Report

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 22. (US)—Having escaped death as though by a miracle, Tom Mix today was resting "as comfortably as could be expected under the circumstances" at a ranch house near Lone Pine, following an accident yesterday.

Three ribs and possibly a fourth, were fractured when Mix was thrown and then rolled on by his horse, the renowned Tony, while they were making a picture.

Telephone communication between Los Angeles and Long Pine was broken during the day but a message received at Universal City studios said physicians had determined Mix was not injured internally.

BUSINESS STILL SEASONALLY AHEAD SHOWS SOME HESITANCY

FREIGHT CAR LOADINGS SHOW VIGOROUS IMPROVEMENT WHILE CONSUMPTION OF POWER GAINS

NEW YORK, Oct. 22. (INS)—With politics not taking the full spotlight, business, while still ahead seasonally this week has shown some hesitancy and commodity and security prices have declined.

A factor in the business hesitancy was the four days of rain, undoing much of the good of the preceding week's snappy seasonal weather.

As for the business indices, freight car loadings is the only one to register any vigorous improvement. Loadings again increased counter to the seasonal trend. But steel production continues to hover around 20 per cent of capacity, auto output is at an extremely low level and the electric power consumption barely registered a gain.

The stock market has been under pressure most of the week, but the volume of trading has been light, with activity almost entirely professional.

The downward tendency has reflected in part the failure of business gains to come up to earlier ballyhoo, weakness in commodity and yesterday to a speech of Montagu Norman, the Bank of England's mysterious acting director.

Norman Pessimistic

This last factor is curious. Norman will be remembered for his antics on a visit here this summer, when he secretly conferred with New York bankers on war debts. Now he tells a group of London bankers the world is helpless in the depression and affairs "at this time being outside the control of any man and any government and any country."

Be that as it may, Mr. Norman has personal reasons for belittling. He has been pretty well overruled in matters of British financial policy ever since September a year ago, when England went off the gold standard. This step was taken over his protests.

He has been a foe of managed currency, but England has been following that teaching recently. England has not yet shown signs of turning the corner, so Norman is probably pounding a little salt into the wounds of his opponents.

Stocks Decline

In the stock market, the tobacco shares have been the weakest group, while the rail stocks have given about the best performance selling of the former was based on reports of increased competition in the trade, especially in the cheaper grades of cigarets.

The market Friday broke to the the important $60 level in the Dow, Jones price average for 30 industrial stocks. The market touched $60.71 Friday but closed at $61.01 for a net loss on the day of $3.39 and $2.83 on the week.

Just under the $60 level, the market on its setback earlier in the month established a resistance point at the $57-58 level. On Oct. 10 $57.67 in the market was touched, and the closing level for that day was $58.47. The next important resistance point under that is bear market low—$40.56.

COTTON HOLDS IN NARROW RANGE IN LISTLESS SESSION

NEW YORK, Oct. 22. (AP)—The cotton market moved within a narrow price range today and was generally featureless.

An opening advance of 2 to 6 points in response to relatively steady Liverpool cables was followed by declines under southern selling and liquidation, with December contracts easing off from 6.24 to 6.16 and closing at that figure. The general market closed steady at net declines of 2 to 4 points.

The steady opening reflected domestic and foreign trade including moderate demand through houses with Liverpool, Continental and far eastern connections. This was supplied by hedging, which became more active after the call.

Trade buying and covering continued on scale down but prices made new low ground for the movement with October declining to 6.10 and March to 6.30, making net losses of about 2 to 5 points on active positions. The close was within a point of the lowest.

Southern selling here through spot houses houses was in considerable volume though again accompanied by reports of a generally firm spot basis. Sales of spot in the 10 designated spot markets for the week-ended yesterday, amounted to 407,-344 bales against 263,726 last week and 315,718 last year.

Liverpool cables attributed the relative steadiness there to trade calling and Bombay buying of the more distant months and reported a brighter feeling in Manchester with an improved demand for cotton cloth from the continent and South America.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 22. (AP)—Hesitancy of the trading public to take hold in the closing days of the presidential campaign was reflected in a narrow cotton market today. Trading in the short Saturday session was moderate and prices after a slight advance at the start sagged under hedging, closing at the day's lows and showing net declines of 5 to 8 points.

The market opened steady as Liverpool cables came in 5 to 8 penny points better than due. Private cables said there was trade calling and straddle buying of distant months narrowing the parity but hedge selling was smaller. Manchester cabled the outlook in cloth and yarns was much brighter with improved cloth demand from the continent and South America.

First trades here showed gains of 2 to 5 points with December at 6.25 and March at 6.37. The market soon turned easier, however, on hedge selling and continued to ease off gradually during the balance of the session owing to the hedging and lack of buying support, coupled with easier stocks. Lows of the day were reached right at the end with December at 6.14 and March at 6.27. December closed at a net loss for the day of 6 points and March showed a net loss of 5 points.

Port receipts 44,687, for season 2,553,570, last season 2,837,811, exports 19,068, for season 1,788,199, last season 1,269,085. Port stock 4,008,451, last year 4,281,199, last year 4,281,589. Combined shipboard stock at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 140,678, last year 143,468. Spot sales at southern markets 76,917, last year 63,278.

Livestock

Midwestern Livestock Review

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 22. (AP) (U.S.D.A.)—Cattle trade during the week under review was marked by a continued sluggish demand for most killing classes, packers enforced declines of 25@75c on fed steers and long yearlings. At several of the principal markets, there was a liberal movement of fed steers with Chicago reporting the largest receipts of the season. The average cost of the beef steers in Chicago was $6.65 as compared with $8.12 the middle of August. Occasional loads of finished heavy steers sold upward to $9.00 and above, but bulk of supply cashed under the $8.00 mark, light weight steers at $7.00@7.75 showing the effects of an extended feeding period. Country demand for stockers and feeders was slow with several points reporting material declines. In Kansas City, however, there was a fair demand at steady rates for well bred stockers and stock calves. Aggregate receipts at 11 markets for the week totaled 228,200 against 225,441 last week and 286,655 the corresponding period a year ago.

Hog prices the fore part of the week were sharply lower, but on late sessions there was a reaction with part of the early loss recovered. Current rates are steady to 25c lower than a week ago with a late top of $3 65 in St. Louis. Total offerings were around 353,000, an increase of 32,000 over last week and 108,000 short of a year ago.

The week's supply of sheep approximated 513,500 as compared with 471,059 last week and 626,577 a year ago. Fat lambs are generally 15@25c lower for the week and other killing classes about steady. Feeding lambs ruled steady to slightly higher.

Week's tops, medium weight steers, $8.75; best long yearlings, $7.75; bulk fed steers, $5.00 @7.25; butcher cows, $2.00@2.85; most killing calves, $4.25 down; bulk stockers and feeders, $3.25@5.50; choice stockers and stock steer calves up to $6.00.

Sheep—Receipts, 1,000 through; for the week, slaughter lambs steady to 15c lower; sheep steady; feeding lambs, 10@15c higher; top range and fed lambs, $5.25; bulk westerns, $4.90@5.15; best natives, $5; slaughter ewes, largely $1.25@1.75; feeding lambs, mostly $4.35@4.65.

FORT WORTH, Oct. 22. (AP)—(U. S. D. A.)—Hogs—Receipts 900 including 770 direct; two loads 190-pound rail hogs to packers at $3.60 or steady to strong; few light lights out at $3.00; no truck hogs offered.

FLUCTUATIONS IN SHORT SESSION OF STOCKS IRREGULAR

NEW YORK, Oct. 22. (AP)—The stock market received passively today news of an unseasonal gain in freight car loadings. Fluctuations over the two-hour session were irregular, resulting in a slight average loss.

With speculative activity stalemated by what brokers are calling the usual pre-election apathy and hesitation, and also by uncertainty as to next Tuesday's action on U. S. Steel corporation's preferred dividend, "in and out" traders were ready enough to accept small profits.

Thus the moderate first-hour gains that followed the freight movement report wilted quickly, in some instances being converted into minor losses. Net changes, however, were almost entirely of a fractional nature.

Most rails rose at least a point on the temporary upturn in which other groups participated. Union Pacific rallied 2½, but lost it all. Santa Fe, up 1⅞, finished slightly lower; other carriers behaved in similar fashion. Tobacco stocks steadied after a week of sharp declines, reflecting late covering. American Telephone yielded most of a 2-point rise. Net changes, either way, for U. S. Steel, General Motors, General Electric, Case, Standard Oil of New Jersey, Allied Chemical, North American, Harvester and Consolidated Gas were very narrow. Sales totaled only 447,820 shares.

Loadings of revenue freight in the week ended Oct. 15 showed the surprising advance of 24,942 cars. An increase had been expected, but the actual gain exceeded best estimates.

Otherwise, the market heard little that was of interest. Considerable division of opinion exists as to what the steel corporation's board will decide on the dividend question. The preferred payment has never been disturbed since the company began business, although the fact that it has survived other depressions is not being taken as assurance that it can escape unscathed this time. They will doubtless be governed to a considerable extent by near-term prospects.

Advance estimates of next week's steel operations suggested little change, although this might be taken to indicate that the industry was leveling off at the seasonal top. Orders for rails are usually placed during the year's closing weeks, so that any stimulation to such business resulting from recent price cuts should begin to be manifest in another month.

STRENGTH IN CORN CONTRASTS SHARPLY WITH WHEAT TREND

CHICAGO, Oct. 22. (AP)—Surprising activity and strength of the cash corn market today contrasted sharply with a persistent downward trend of wheat.

Indications were that a large amount of corn was being moved to eastern positions to take advantage of prospective big European demand. It was estimated 2,000,000 bushels or more of corn has been disposed of to exporters this week, the best export business known in years.

Corn closed firm at the same as yesterday's finish for immediate delivery, with a shade decline to an equal advance. On futures a shade to ⅛c off, and oats at the other hand, wheat was ⅛@¼c down, and provisions showing setbacks of 2 to 5 cents.

Chicago handlers made shipping sales of 532,000 bushels of corn today, largely to seaboard exporters. Vessel charters were taken for 200,000 bushels to Montreal, and there was evidence that 750,000 bushels were loading to go out from Chicago to Canada. Nevertheless, there was something of a deadlock in the market, bigger export business apparently depending on a small decline in prices, whereas receivers intimated that in case of an advance of around 1c there would be liberal amounts of cash corn available from the country.

Less favorable weather for corn movement from rural sources appeared to be developing over the Middle West. This was construed in some quarters as threatening to curtail receipts.

A curious feature was that speculative trade in corn remained slack, although pit operators as a reule professed to be favorable to the buying side, taking the ground that prices were at an unusual low level.

Wheat values churned with a narrow range today, with the volume of dealings small. Timely rains in Argentine with downpours also at various points in Kansas gave an advantage to bears. Export demand for North American wheat was meager. Scantiness of receipts helped to steady the oats market.

Provisions sympathized with weakness of hog values.

Mid-Continent Oil Activities

TULSA, Okla., Oct. 22. (UP)—Oil scouts today reported that 34 new locations had been made in Oklahoma fields this week, a considerable increase over new work reported for last week.

With 10 new locations, Creek county led the field. Stephens county was second with four.

TULSA, Okla., Oct. 22. (UP)—Mid-continent refined gasoline markets closed stronger for the week. The new $1.10 to $1.12 a barrel crude price was maintained despite the continued resistance of purchasing subsidiaries of the Standard Oil company of New Jersey and Standard of Indiana.

Retail gasoline prices were raised one cent a gallon in Oklahoma by virtually all companies. Tank car prices of U. S. motor gasoline were quoted 4¼ to 4½ cents a gallon before 57 octane and 4¾ to 5 cents for 57 to 64 octane.

HOUSTON, Oct. 22. (AP)—Burglars ransacked the home of J. M. West Jr, early today, escaping with $20 in cash and jewelry valued at $2,360.

The most expensive item of jewelry was a combination necklace and bracelet set with diamonds and valued at $2,250.

In another depredation a burglar entered the home of A. W. Peeples, choked Miss Lois Linzy, 25, a visitor at the home, and was frightened away when a gasping sound aroused Peeples.

Wooten and Reed Sixty-five Barreler Swaim Pool 2,000 Feet to Southwest Near Graham, Young County, Extends

This discovery is in the 700-foot sand and is a 2-000-foot extension of the Swaim pool to the southwest.

Only two feet of pay sand was cut when the hole filled rapidly and showed an unusual amount of gas for shallow production. Gravity of the oil is 37 with no water.

The discovery well was drilled about the center of a 160-acre lease owned by Wooten and Reed and it appears that a pool of considerable magnitude has been opened up. The Sinclair pipe line has made a connection with the new well.

TATUMS FIELD HOLDS CENTER OIL ACTIVITY

DISCOVERY WELL IS DEEPENED FOR TEST

Swab 252 Barrels in Eight Hours at No. 1 Trahern At 2,270 Feet

DUNCAN, Okla., Oct. 22.—Good production found in the southeast extension of the Tatums field of Carter county has placed that district to the front in southern Oklahoma oil development.

One new producer was added there in the last week, a new location was made and the discovery well is being deepened for a test that may reveal new information about the field.

A water shortage continued to hold up work in Stephens county, which got one small oiler, a shallow gas well, a dry hole and a new location during the week.

Forbes and associates swabbed 252 barrels of oil in eight hours from their No. 1 Trahern, in the SW SE NW of 31-1s-2w, in the southeast Tatums extension, and shut down for tankage. The sand series was found from 2270 to 2479 feet, with total depth 2481 feet in shale.

The Carter Oil company is building derrick for the No. 2 Burton, in the SW NW NE of 31-1s-2w.

Walter Gant and others are deepening the No. 1 Burton, in the SE SW NE of 31-1s-2w, where Frank Gouin and associates opened the southeast extension a couple of years ago. The well was completed at 1970 feet for 70 barrels. In deepening, oil sands were found from 2092 to 2096 and from 2110 to 2134 feet. Broken oil sand was found from 2134 to 2148 feet and shale from 2148 to 2227 feet, where operators are shut down for water.

Cements Casing

Frank Lundy, Duncan operator, has cemented surface casing in the No. 1 Majors, in the NE SE NE of 25-1s-3w, between the extension and the old field.

Page & McFarland have casing cemented to test oil sand from 2303 to 2385 feet in the No. 1 Brooks, in the NE SW SW of 13-1s-3w, on the north edge of the field. Total depth is 2415 feet in shale.

Paul Turner and associates are shut down for water at 1500 feet in the No. 1 Sparks-Carter, in the SW SW NW of 13-1s-3w, three locations north of production.

Disappointing reports continue to come in from the English Drilling company's No. 1 Heenan and Coe, in the NE SE NE of 32-3n-7w, a wildcat two miles north of Marlow, but in southern Grady county. The well was on the pump again this week, making approximately 12 barrels of oil and 100 barrels of salt water a day. The wildcat is not a commercial producer in its present condition and it is doubtful if operators can remedy the water trouble. If the well does not make a commercial producer at 3266 feet, top of the sand, operators are under contract to go to 3500 feet. The fact that some oil was found, however, will lead to further development of the district when the marketing situation clears and there is an outlet for the crude.

Flowing 100 Daily

Two-inch tubing has been set in the A. E. Trowbridge and associates' No. 1 Price, in the SW NE NE of 30-2n-9w, in the old Hanbury district of eastern Comanche county, and the well has been flowing approximately 100 barrels a day.

The new producer, however, is in a granite wash district that has proved disappointing in the past and it will have to hold up for a few weeks before much excitement is created among operators here.

The Curtis Oil company completed its No. 5 Dare, in the NE NE NE SE of 2-2s-8w, in the field five miles south and two west of Duncan, for 25 barrels in sand from 1457 to 1470 feet.

J. M. Russell of Oklahoma City and associates made location for their No. 1 J. H. Smith, in the SE SE SE of 35-1s-8w, just north of the Dare field, and plan to start work soon.

George L. Pace abandoned his No. 3 Branch, in the NE SW SW SE of 1-2s-8w, on the edge of this district, as a duster at 2226 feet in shale and boulders.

The A. A. Peard No. 1 Lue Florence, in the NW NW NW SE of 11-3s-6w, southeast of Comanche, is estimated good for 2,000,000 cubic feet of gas in sand from 232 to 233⅓ feet.

Pace missed the 1715-foot sand in his No. 3 Caldwell, in the SW NE SW SE of 21-2s-7w, a mile east of Comanche, and was drilling ahead to test the 1900-foot pay level.

The California Producers' No. 1 Sitton, in the NE SE SW of 12-3s-6w, is a steel derrick and shut down.

Wildcat Location

The McKeon & Dingee No. 1 Toney, in the SW SE SW of 15-2s-7w, is a wildcat location northeast of Comanche.

Pace has liner set to test oil sand from 2157 to 2165 feet in the No. 5 Allen, in the NE NE NE NE of 3-2s-8w, on the edge of the old Empire field, southwest of Duncan.

A fishing job has held up a test of sands from 2216 to 2229 feet at the Julia A. Linson No. 1 Doss, in the NW NW SW NW of 4-2s-8w, and operators are shut down for water.

Ed Chamberlain and associates are shut down repairing machinery at the No. 1 Parker, in the NE NE SE SE of 11-2s-8w.

H. J. Brown has liner set to test oil sand from 1500 to 1505 feet in the No. 1 Donham, in the NW SE NE of 11-2s-6w.

P. L. Gilbert's No. 4 Green, in the NW NE SE NE of 2-2s-8w, is rigged up and shut down.

The English Drilling company's No. 1 Nigh, in the SE NE NE SW of 11-2s-8w, is a rig and shut down.

J. C. Chambers and associates are shut down at their No. 1 Dolen, in the SW NW NW of 15-1s-8w, four miles west and one and one-half south of Duncan, with some cement to be drilled out to test oil sand from 2106 to 2111 feet.

Carl Willie and associates are rigged up and shut down for water at the No. 1 Cates, in the SW SE NW SW of 15-1s-8w.

Louis Sikes is rigged up and waiting for rain at the No. 3 Furst, in the NW SW SE NW of 16-1s-8w.

E. D. Gillette and associates still were shut down for water at 60 feet at the No. 1 Cooley, in the NW NW SE NW of 17-2s-8w, wildcat three miles south of Empire City.

Donald Brothers have the 8-inch casing set at 2198 feet in the No. 1 Wilson, in the NW NW NW of 6-2s-8w, on the east edge of the Walters field of Cotton county.

The Bridwell Oil company was fishing at 1419 feet in the No. 1 Wohlgemuth in the NW NE SE NW of 30-6s-5w, a wildcat northwest of the Oscar field of southern Jefferson county.

O. V. Beck has the 8-inch casing cemented at 1515 feet at the No. 8 Seay, in the NE SE SW of 34-6s-5w, in the Oscar field. He set 75 feet of liner, 40 feet perforated, and was shut down. Total depth is 1538 feet.

MID-CONTINENT PRICE FEATURES BATTLE ON OIL

Independents and Majors Continue Fight Regard Crude Quotations

GOVERNOR MURRAY TAKES ACTIVE PART IN BATTLE

Wentz Wildcat in Perry Area of Noble County Holds Limelight

TULSA, Okla., Oct. 22.—Overshadowing all other matters in the mid-continent oil territory is the price struggle now on between several of the major purchasers and 20 of the leading independent buyers.

The independents on Oct. 15 put into effect a 12 cents a barrel advance in crude prices, ranging from 88 cents to $1.12 a barrel, while the two majors—Standard of Indiana and Standard of New Jersey—persist in paying the old scale of prices—76 cents to $1 a barrel, and declaring that the advance was unjustified.

That the independents will win their struggle to reward oil producers for accepting a sweeping reduction in crude oil output, and a decided tendency on the part of refiners to halt over-production of gasolines, to stop oil thefts and to strengthen the phases of the market that the two Standard companies set up as their reason for not meeting the advance, is the view of most mid-continent oil men.

Gov. W. H. Murray of Oklahoma has now entered the fight and has asked the Oklahoma tax commission to investigate the action of the two major buyers in paying a lower scale of prices for crude than do the majority of the other buyers. Still another situation is developing that tends to add to the untenable position of the two majors is the inquiry that United States Indian officials are making as to why oils taken by the two major buyers from the wards of the government do not receive the full benefit of the advance. This applies to wells in the Five Civilized Tribes and the Osage tribe in Oklahoma.

Demand Increases

As a direct result of the crude advance, made by the independents the refinery markets of the mid-continent have done a positive right about face, and as the week ends, it finds all factors reporting demand as increasing, tank car, tankwagon and service station prices for gasolines on the definite upturn, and quotations for other petroleum products as dearer.

Just two weeks ago the refinery picture was declared ill, due to the viewpoint that oil thefts at East Texas and Oklahoma City were giving little refineries, always willing to cut prices, the edge on the market in the central Mississippi valley territory, and primarily in Arkansas, Missouri, Kansas, Illinois, and adjacent states. Then many refiners expected crude prices to be cut, and they conducted their operations accordingly so as not to have large inventories of crude on hand when the slash occurred. They kept their stocks of products down.

Oil producers in Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas willingly accepted recommendations for a sharp curtailment of production and the announcement of the price advances followed.

Refineries turned about and tried to stock up on crude, but virtually all supplies that had been seeking a buyer, were withdrawn and the situation turned at once. Today one finds mid-continent refiners in a very fine position as regards crude stocks, gasoline stocks and those of other products. Unless the "unexpected" occurs the mid-continent oil situation will end 1932 with crude and refined prices higher and with a prospect of that condition continuing into 1933.

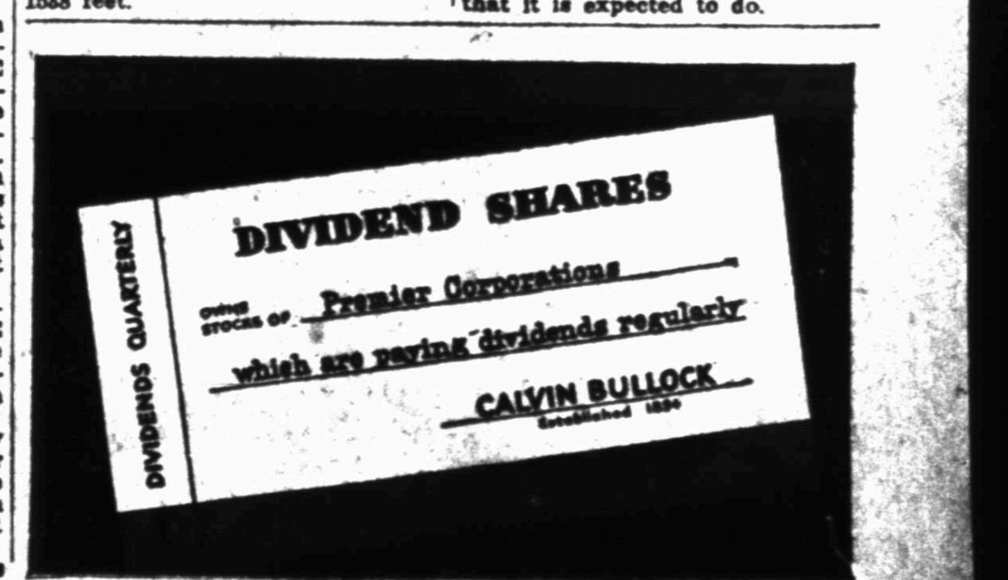

The high light of Oklahoma oil fields for the week just ended continued to be the Perry area of Noble county, where L. H. Wentz and associates recently opened a new oil area. The well, No. 1 Wolf, in the center of the southeast of the northwest of 17-20-2w, being just in the upper sand, fell off sharply when opened up for a 10 days potential test before being prorated. Owners then went in and deepened it and now are in the true Wilcox sand and its output is again increasing.

It made 1,194 barrels yesterday compared with 1,170 the day before and is now in the pay to 5235 feet.

In the meantime two tests nearby are shortly to start. Lacy Rollins and others have rig up for No. 1 Franks, in the southeast corner of the southwest of 6-20-2w, northwest of the new well, and Stanolind Oil and Gas company and Amerada Petroleum corporation No. 1 Kolb, in the center of the northeast of the northwest of 33-20-2w, southeast of the producer.

Water encroachment is reported as making greater inroads in the Wilcox sand zone of the Oklahoma City field and threatening to cut down the estimates of what the pay would eventually produce.

All of the Arbuckle lime horizon, the discovery area, is now threatened by water, but the sands are being more and more threatened and this condition convinces many operators that the capital district will not be able to produce the oil that it is expected to do.

TWO NEW CORPORATIONS OPEN PLAN MAKE TRUCKS HERE SOON ALTUS CAR DEALER NEWCOMER

Two Wichita Falls corporations, one of them a newcomer to the city and the other a rebirth of an old concern, were granted charters by the secretary of state at Austin Saturday.

The Morgan Motor company, which handles Dodge and Plymouth automobiles and trucks, was the new corporation. It has capital stock listed at $20,000 and the incorporators were named as Mr. and Mrs. Ralph W. Morgan and Joe B. Carrigan, local attorney.

Mr. Morgan had been Dodge dealer at Altus, Okla., for the last seven years and moved his shop to Wichita Falls about two weeks ago. He is located in a two-story 70-foot front building at 1012 Scott avenue.

The company's display room has been opened and five models of passenger cars and trucks made by Dodge and Plymouth are on the floor. A complete service department has also been set up and is ready to take care of any troubles brought in by Dodge and Plymouth owners.

The second charter was granted to W. O. Beeman, Mrs. Lucille M. Beeman and E. U. Smith for the Wichita Falls Motor company with a capital stock named at $2,500.

Mr. Beeman purchased the real estate, factory, shops, parts and trucks of the Wichita Motor company, manufacturers of trucks, at a bankruptcy sale here recently. He explained that the capital stock would probably be increased next year and that it was incorporated at a nominal amount merely in order to get the business started.

Mr. Beeman said he expected to start the actual manufacture of trucks again soon after the first of the year and at present time is engaged in assembling trucks manufactured shortly before the company went out of business.

The new corporation is maintaining a complete parts and service department and has a large repair shop at the factory, which is located south of the city, a few blocks west of Grant street.

Mr. Beeman had been with the Wichita Motor company 18 years when it closed. During the time the company's affairs were in bankruptcy court he kept open the service and parts end of the business in order to care for the needs and demands of Wichita truck owners.

E. U. Smith is the superintendent.

CHILDREN DAY NURSERY STAGE WINDOW PARTY

By GREGG EWING

If you happened to pass by the offices of the 1932-33 community chest on Scott avenue Saturday and if you noticed the Wichita Falls day nudrsery demonstration, chest drive leaders won't need to ask you for a donation.

Instead you'll rush around to offer one!

Just about noon Saturday a group of tiny tots—the oldest wasn't 5—trooped into one window under the chaperonage of the nursery's head nurse and an "older-girl nurse." In the opposite window another nurse placed two tots in their high-chairs.

And then the show started! Trthufully it was a great show. It wasnt' the sort that makes you laugh, but you would smile for happiness' sake. It wasn't the sort that makes you hold your breath, but it beat anything Clyde Beatty and his lions or Al Jolson and a chorus or a Junior chamber of commerce dinner could offer.

Just one look at those youngsters preparing for their noon meal and then eating it with the utmost enjoyment, would make any one mighty glad to be alive.

Irish Stew on Menu

Saturday noon they had an Irish stew—that offers a balanced ration and it was easy to transport from nursery headquarters to the chest office windows. And there was fresh bread and fresh milk. That meal was just what those youngsters wanted and they ate it with the greatest of relish.

The finest part of their performance was the fact that they didn't mind being watched. Those tots looked around at the audience with the most unconcerned of airs. And then they turned back to their food. The two babies in high chairs were even more concerned and possibly happier than their larger friends. They ate with both hands and they didn't bother to look up—that food needed too much attention. One o fthe pair failed to offer the slightest smile, looking perhaps like Calvin Coolidge in his hey-day, while his partner doubled up on the grinning act.

Even if the high chair youngsters were neglectful of their manners, those under the supervision of Mrs. Fred T. Datson, superintendent of the day nursery, displayed excellent ability in knowing just what to do. The "dinner hour" conversation apparently was lacking, but it wasn't needed.

Incidentally, the Saturday demonstration was the third in the last eight days and is typical of the treatment accorded the youngsters at the nursery proper.

During the past year, there has been an average attendance of 75 children at the nursery, and 235 different children have been served. In all 54,750 meals have been given hungry children. The youngsters are, in most instances, the children of working mothers.

Yes, that demonstration Saturday should make the securing of contributions easy.

CAMP FIRE SPARKS

The executive board of Camp Fire Girls held its regular monthly luncheon Wednesday at the Y. W. C. A. The resignation of Miss Mary McIlheran as local executive was read and accepted with an expression of appreciation for her service to Camp Fire. Committee to act on matter of new executive is E. A. Bebb, chairman; Mrs. R. R. Clark, H. D. Fillers and Mrs. R. E. Davis. It was the recommendation of the board to the committee that an out-of-town person, particularly an experienced executive recommended by national, be given preference.

Mrs. Clifford Deaton, known to and loved by local Camp Fire Girls as their swimming counselor the past summer, has accepted a place on the executive board and will serve as chairman of the committee of awards. Come on, girls, let's keep her busy.

Yes sir, the Camp Fire office is open. Come right in. Office hours 9 to 5 as usual. Mrs. R. E. Davis, assisted by volunteers who are earning coveted service hour honors, is on hand to serve you.

The Adi-Iwah group met Monday afternoon at the home of the guardian, Mrs. Frank W. Micheaux, 1607 Bluff. The afternoon was spent on handcraft projects. Mrs. Micheaux demonstrated spatter printing. Mary Elizabeth Largin completed an Every Girl's port folio. Thelma Simmons made spatter print book markers.

Mankilo group met Wednesday afternoon at Crockett school to begin assembling materials to beautify the school ground. A. D. Carr with a crew of three boys, Beverly Byrd, Karl Greenwood and John O'Riley, met the girls in the Mytinger truck and volunteered to haul rocks. The girls with their guardian, Mrs. Maude Bartholomew, and Mrs. J. P. Tarry followed in cars. The party went several miles out the Seymour road collecting rocks and loading the truck and hauling material to the corner of the Crockett school grounds where the Camp Fire corner park will be.

Gladys Brandberry was hostess to the Oawakiya group Wednesday afternoon at her home, 1207 Buchanan. These girls claim to be expert candy makers and put in an afternoon at their favorite pastime of licking spoons and pans, seeing if the candy "spun a thread" or "made a soft ball in cold water." Those present were Clarice Clark, guardian; Anita Clark, Dorothy Belle Clifford, Mildred Fisher, Mary Margaret Hinds, Maurine and Willie Mae Bralley, Ruth Lotheridge, Jane Reppy and the hostess, Gladys Brandberry.

Executive Secretary, Wichita County Tuberculosis Association

The keystone of all tuberculosis work is education. In tuberculosis more than any other disease "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure," and tuberculosis associations constantly endeavor to impress this truth upon the public through the newspapers, over the radio, with talks, motion pictures, distribution of literature and personal consultations and free chest clinics.

Only by constant repetition can the truth be driven home that tuberculosis is not an inherited disease, but is spread from a person who has an active case, to those in close association with him. The fact that simple preventive measures cost nothing is indeed a standing contrast to the fact that tuberculosis can be cured if discovered early, but that cure takes considerable time.

The Wichita County association holds a free chest clinic twice a year, with an expert chest specialist in charge. Dr. John Potts of Fort Worth will conduct a three-day clinic in the city and county starting Nov. 1 and continuing through Nov. 3. He will serve the people of Wichita Falls Tuesday, Nov. 1, and Wednesday morning, Nov. 2. Only those who register will be examined. If you have a stubborn cough, run temperature daily, are losing weight and have a loss of appetite, or have been living in a home with an active case of tuberculosis and are in a rundown condition, you should call for an appointment at 2-5320. Every one is urged to register early. The clinic here will be held at the First Christian church.

Free clinics will be held in Burkburnett Wednesday afternoon, Nov. 2; Electra Thursday morning, Nov. 3, and Iowa Park Thursday afternoon, Nov. 3.

SUNDAY TO BE FULL DAY FOR DR. BULGIN FAMOUS EVANGELIST

Dr. E. J. Bulgin, who is now conducting a revival under the auspices of "The Church of the Air," 607 Scott, is in demand as a speaker among the various civic and religious organizations of the city.

Sunday morning at "The Breakfast Hour Program" over KGKO, Dr. Bulgin will speak on the subject, "The History of the Jew," from 7:30 to 8:30. Dr. Bulgin will speak before the Kay Bible class at 9:30 a. m. At 11 a. m. Dr. Bulgin will speak at the First Presbyterian church. At 3 p. m. he will speak at the headquarters of "The Church of the Air," 607 Scott. At 5 p. m. Dr. Bulgin has been invited to speak at the First Methodist church in Iowa Park. Then at 7:30 he will speak again at the headquarters of "The Church of the Air."

Dr. Bulgin has more calls for the work of evangelism than he can possibly fill, it was reported Saturday. Evangelist A. E. Davis states that regardless of the fact that Dr. Bulgin's singer, "Radio Charlie" Clark, has been ill and unable to assist in the services, and also that his whole family has been seriously ill with influenza in Portland, Ore., he rendered most efficient work in the revival here last week. While Dr. Bulgin is a highly accredited evangelist of the Presbyterian church, he loves all of God's people regardless of church affiliation and invites all the religious forces of the city to cooperate with him in the work of the revival, it is announced. The services start each evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Forty students tried out for membership in the college dramatic organization and the election was on the basis of ability shown in presenting excerpts from plays.

Three full-length plays are given annually by the Trinity Players and one-act plays are given twice a month, with students directing the shorter productions.

Under the direction of Miss Yetta Mitchell, head of the speech arts department, the Trinity Players will present "Broadway Jones," a comedy, here Friday, Nov. 18. Last year the players presented "Ten Nights in a Barroom," "Romeo and Juliet" and "The Trial of Mary Dugan."

INSURANCE Trust

Would you consider for a moment taking out a life insurance policy with an individual rather than with a well-established company? Hardly.

Then why leave your life insurance proceeds to be managed and invested by an individual?

Why not put your life insurance in trust with this established institution as trustee—to protect the proceeds, to pay both income and principal to whomever you wish whenever you wish?
