NEW DEPARTMENT OPENS AT A. & M.

RELATION OF FARMERS' TEETH TO DIET TO BE STUDIED IN DEPARTMENT

COLLEGE STATION, Oct. 25. (AP)—A farmer's teeth and their relation to his diet are to be the subject of study by a new department at the Texas A. & M. college here known as the division of the Rural Home Research.

This question is but one of many which the department expects to take up under the direction of Dr. Jessie Whitacre, who has just been named chief of the new division. Dr. Whitacre comes from the University of Chicago, and has done similar work in Utah and Ohio.

The condition of the teeth is believed to have a close relation to the diet, and upon the general physical condition. We know what diet does on the teeth in the case of rats," Dr. Whitacre said. "We have found that diet determines whether a rat will have good or bad teeth. Now we wish to find out if this is the case with human beings, though of course we have a much longer life span, with which to deal in the case of the human and the hereditary factors must be taken into account."

Problems of far reaching importance to the homes of Texas are to be studied, Dr. Whitacre stated.

"We hope to assemble and improve the best teachings for the development of health habits in children," she continued. "These include problems in food, rest, cleanliness and exercise. When a child refuses milk or eggs, it may be that science can find a way to correct his habits to the end that he will improve in the factor of health. The effect of temperature, consistency, color and flavor on the appetite of children is well deserving of scientific study."

"Our work naturally will be directed toward women's problems in the home where women perform such a large share of the economic function of directing the consumption. We hope to discover facts, test theories and supply hypotheses to the end of bettering home conditions which make for a greater fulfillment of the enrichments of home life. It is possible to fulfill and enrich on the basis of scientific findings. The material and spiritual things are inseparable. It is not mean or worldly to talk about proper food, clothing and daily habits of living, because these things are so obviously necessary to our state of health and our outlook on life."

HURLWOOD NOTES

The four brick buildings at Hurlwood will be completed by the last of the coming week. The buildings are arranged for a bank, a mercantile store, a drug store, barber shop, cafe and a large and attractive filling station.

The filling station will have driveway for three cars and is built of brick.

Hurlwood is shipping two to three cars of cotton a day now and the gin is running night and day.

Hurlwood is soon to have a modern cannery factory giving the farmers in that section a market for their garden products.

Swift and company have opened a cream station which will be ready to handle the cream for the farmers in that section by the last of this week.

Stubborn Blaze On Steamer Smothered

MOBILE, Ala., Oct. 25. (AP)—Gas masked firemen waged a hard battle early today to check a stubborn blaze that raged in a hold of the Malheur line steamship Natchez, berthed at the company's dock here.

Volumes of heavy smoke, created by burning paper pulp and merchandise baled the firemen until gas masks were sent from headquarters and then with water pumped in through leading ports and hatchways, the flames were controlled, but not before tons of water had listed the ship from the dock and her mooring lines were strained almost to the breaking point. Spontaneous combustion is blamed for the fire.

Mrs. N. A. Jones was a business visitor from Tahoka Monday.

Marie And Party Board Train For Two Months Tour

NEW YORK, Oct. 25. (AP)—Queen Marie of Roumania today was aboard the rolling palace of ten special rail-wagons that will be her home for the two months of her western tour.

Leaving New York at 7:50 a. m., she is due at Buffalo at 8 p. m. She will make a radio talk there from station WGR, and will leave Buffalo for Niagara Falls tomorrow morning. Her itinerary today called for two ten minute stops, one at Albany at 1:20 p. m. and the other at Syracuse at 4:30 p. m.

Queen Marie, with her children, Prince Nicholas and Princess Ileana, and her retinue, boarded the train at Grand Central station at midnight after attending a benefit performance at the Metropolitan opera house of an interpretation of "The Lily of Life," a fairytale written by the queen.

Lola Fuller, whose ballet presented the performance, had been ill for several days but was behind the scenes, bundled up in blankets, directing the colorful light effects that make her production.

The performance was given for the mother's memorial foundation of New York, but Miss Fuller is reported to have contracted for 50 percent of the receipts. There were many empty seats but about 1000 spectators were on the sidewalk at less than box office prices, although many persons bought standing room.

The automobile blown up was carrying arms, ammunition and bombs. The cause of the explosion was not apparent.

GOODMAN TELLS OF EL PASO MEET

PARRISH WAS SPEAKER AT THE SCOTTISH RITE DINNER IN BORDER CITY.

Judge James H. Goodman returned Sunday night from El Paso where he had been attending the Masonic Scottish Rite and Shrine exercises held there last week. Mr. Goodman said that J. F. Holland, Ed. Allen, Vaughn Wilson and Mr. Lyle had taken the Scottish Rite degrees and that they had made wonderful subjects for initiation. At the banquet last Friday night Mayor Pink L. Parrish was the principal speaker of the occasion. Lubbock degree team assisted in exemplifying and putting on the degree work. They will also continue this degree work at the spring ceremonial which will also be held at El Paso. Judge Goodman says that he visited Juarez while there and also visited the old historic jail of Juarez which is a place every person should have a horror of ever being locked up in. He said that the spirit of great western hospitality was prevailing everywhere and that many of the city officers were members of the Masonic fraternity, although some of them were of Spanish descent. An international spirit of good fellowship feeling has been brought about by these fraternal meetings of these people in the city of El Paso.

Miss Ruth Ritz has returned from Tulsa, Okla., where she had been attending the Presbyterian Synod which met there three days last week. There were delegates from seven different states at this meeting which was one of the most interesting meetings ever held in this Synod.

Sentence Imposed In Calling Strike Upheld By Court

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25. (AP)—August Dorchy lost in the supreme court today in his contention that an officer of a labor organization had a right to call a strike, the Kansas state law to the contrary notwithstanding.

Dorchy was convicted in the state courts of violating the court of industrial relations act, in calling a strike, in a coal mine in the state. He contended unsuccessfully that the section of the act under which he was convicted was unconstitutional, especially in view of the fact that the supreme court in the Charles Wolff Packing company cases had held the compulsory arbitration provisions of the law unconstitutional.

In an opinion by Justice Brand the court today held that the coal strike was for the enforcement of a claim which should have been adjudicated in the courts, that the calling of the strike was coercion which a state legislature had the right to prohibit as extortion, and that the section under which Dorchy was convicted was valid and constitutional.

Mrs. W. H. Fleck and brother, Sid Wells returned Sunday night from Big Spring where they had been called by the serious illness of their father. They left him very much improved.

NORMAL REGENTS VISIT COLLEGE ABOUT NOV. 14

CANYON, Oct. 25.—Members of the Board of Regents of the West Texas State Teachers College will visit the college about November 14, according to letters received by President J. A. Hill, this week. Members who are expected in the party are Miss Margie Neal, State Senator-elect from Carlsbad, Texas, who will retire from the Regents Board when she assumes her new duties in January. Mr. A. B. Martin of Plainview; Mr. A. B. Mahew of Uvalde and Judge Henry Paulus of Yoakum.

While in Canyon the party will be given an opportunity to carefully inspect the college plant, interview students and faculty and learn the needs of the institution.

One of the interesting facts that will be evident to the Board of Regents is that the college attendance has increased 162-3 per cent over that of last year when members of the Board of Regents last visited Canyon.

DEMAND GREAT FOR SPRAYING MACHINE

TEXAS MANUFACTURERS HAVE GOOD OPPORTUNITIES FOR FOREIGN TRADE

HOUSTON, Oct. 25. (AP)—Spraying machine manufacturers in Texas have wonderful opportunities to extend their business to foreign shores, Ernest L. Tutt, manager of the Houston office of the United States bureau of foreign domestic commerce, said today. Plant diseases are many and they cause great losses to crops and the best way to combat the diseases are to use insecticides through spraying machines, he claims.

The field for spraying machine exploitation is large, Mr. Tutt said. "Now the use of spraying and dusting equipment is confined to European planters and the more intelligent natives," he continued. "The Indian department of Agriculture in the Madras district, is making experiments and devising methods to check plant diseases, and if the farmers are convinced the remedy will justify, they readily incur the expense for machines."

"Pneumatic or compressed air hand sprayers of copper or brass with one to four gallons capacity are the most popular for treating trees, tobacco, rubber, fruits and certain field crops. Hand sprayers are used for disinfecting streets and houses. Some power sprayers are used on rubber plantations and atomizers may become popular if strong machines are available."

Copper, sulphite, lime sulphur, lead arsenate, Paris green and sulphur are the chief insecticides used. This item is particularly interesting in view of the large production of some of these articles in this state.

Owing to scarcity of water, dust spraying would be advantageous.

Mr. Tutt suggested demonstrations of spraying machines be made, and that to increase business in foreign countries, that pamphlets be distributed through the mails.

THREE BIG ONES NOW

From several different angles the world is being informed that we have a new state college of first importance out at Lubbock. One news item tells us that the enrollment of about 1,400 has taxed the facilities of the Technological College to such an extent that it is fair to say that the very success of the institution is causing embarrassment. From another source we learn that the regents are to appear in Austin this week to discuss with the Board of Control the budget to be submitted to the Fortieth Legislature when appropriations will be made for the ensuing biennium. The regents sent in an initial estimate of something in excess of four million dollars. That request looked rather large to the members of the Board of Control whose chief business is to keep expenditures to the very minimum. They were astonished that this little West Texas school, at least so regarded by many, should have the temerity to request an allotment of four million good dollars of the taxpayers' money to be spent in only two years. So they got on the train and went out to Lubbock to see what this request was all about and to ask the president, Dr. P. W. Horn, what he proposed to do with all this money. The result of that visit was no doubt illuminating to the watchdogs of the State Treasury. At any rate, when they got back to Austin the newspapers quoted them as recognizing there was some basis for what they had first thought was an extravagant estimate of the needs of the Technological College for the biennium of 1927-28. Of course, they didn't say they would approve the estimate as sent in, but they invited Dr. Horn and the regents down to Austin to talk matters over.

Approximately half of the appropriation is proposed to be spent on new buildings. Lots of people gasped a little when the Legislature created the Tech. College and appropriated a whole million dollars to set it up in business. Nearly everybody thought that a million-dollar plant would be entirely adequate to the needs of the new institution. Wasn't it to be located in West Texas? And prairie dogs and jack rabbits don't go to college. But now, the school in its second scholastic year finds itself over-crowded with students. If the students who wish to attend are to be taken care of in a decent manner new buildings must be provided, and the regents want to avoid a repetition of the disgraceful waste of public money witnessed at Austin when the University dotted its campus with wooden shacks, reminiscent of negro quarters of old plantations of the South in ante-bellum days. They need more buildings at Lubbock, buildings that will not be a waste of money and that Texas can be proud of. Tech College has already arrived as an educational institution of the first class and the time is not far distant when there will be a big three among the State's institutions of higher learning—the University, A. & M. and Tech—instead of a big two.—Vernon Record.

Yes, sir, we are here, and we are making a big noise. The big noise is because there are a lot of students here to make a noise. The South Plains is more than most people are willing to acknowledge that it is. When the school was located here, many persons thought it was so far out West that few people would ever find their way out of it. Three hundred enrollment was the limit that many people gave it for a starter, and we had that many and we had four times that many and then some. The college is nobody's peanut stand business affair, it is away up in the scale of schools in the State, and it is going to make the largest of them hard to catch, and the best of them will not excel it. Sure three big ones for Texas, and three cheers for the Texas Tech.

GOVERNMENT REPORTS OF THE COTTON CROP

Eugene Black, Representative in Congress from the Paris district of Texas, has announced his intention to seek Congressional action to eliminate the government's cotton crop estimates. He believes that the periodical reports of conditions and estimates of production, as at present prepared and issued by the Department of Agriculture, tend to stimulate speculation in cotton, and operate to the damage of the cotton farmers of the South; and his idea is that if these reports were discontinued the farmer would be able to secure a better price for his cotton.

Mr. Black's viewpoint is that of many who apparently do not understand the cotton marketing system. He is assuming that the government's estimates are incorrect, and that their benefit, if any, is to the buyer rather than the seller of cotton. As a matter of fact, the records of the government's reports on condition and estimates of production through the past ten years show that there has been remarkable accuracy. Last year, it is recalled, the government preliminary estimate of production proved to be nearly half a million bales less than the actual ginnings for the season. In other seasons the government's estimates have been proved by the later ginning reports, so that they may be regarded as uniformly conservative. The cotton trade as a whole accepts them at their face value, as evidenced by the immediate changes that occur in the markets when the government's reports are issued.

The benefit of the government's estimate and condition reports are shared alike by the buyer and producer. They are the chief stabilizing influence in the cotton market, and without them, or some similar estimate and report, the market would be in chaos because the buyers would have no guide to the market and would be unwilling to do business. If Mr. Black should succeed in his purpose to eliminate the government reports, the cotton trade would be compelled to rely upon private reports and estimates, which in no case are as accurate and dependable as are the government's reports, and the cotton grower would be compelled to sell his product on a market that lacked the element of assurance and safety.

The cotton trade is able to ascertain by private inquiries and investigations, the probable world demand for cotton in any given season. Against this demand the trade balances the probable world production, as indicated by the government's estimates, which are based upon detailed reports of acreage and condition in every section of every cotton-growing state. When the demand is larger than the production, the price automatically goes upward; but when the production is larger than the demand, as it is this season, the price goes down.

Instead of promoting speculation in cotton, the government's reports actually discourage it by giving accurate information for the guidance of the market. Without them, or more similarly dependable report and estimate issued periodically, speculation would control the market because no buyer would know how to gauge the balance between production and demand.

SNAP COTTON DETRIMENTAL TO MARKET

Preliminary experiments by the United States Department of Agriculture indicate that although the spinning quality of snap cotton does not materially differ from that of picked cotton, "snapping" as a method of harvesting lowers the value approximately two grades. A distinction is made between "snap" cotton, which has fairly matured, and "bollies" cotton, taken from bolls arrested in their growth by frost. No "bollies" were included in the test. The actual loss from snapping cotton as compared with picked cotton was $7.20 per bale and when the cotton was sold in the seed the loss was from $14 to $27 a bale.

The primary purpose of the test was to determine how and to what extent the grade and spinning characteristics of cotton are affected by the snapping method of harvesting. Four lots of cotton were used in the test, two grown in Oklahoma and two in Texas, alternate rows of the same field being picked and the intervening rows being snapped. The snap cotton in each case was classed two grades lower than the corresponding picked cotton. The lots were manufactured into yarns under similar moisture and mechanical conditions. The cleaning machines removed approximately 5 per cent more waste from each lot of snapped cotton than from the picked lots. This difference in waste, however, the report says, is in line with the difference in grade. The lowering of grade in the case of the snapped cotton was the direct result of the snap method of harvesting.

No special difficulty was encountered in manufacturing the cotton into 22s, 28s, and 36s yarns, according to the report. All the 22s yarns broke above the new Draper standard, as did all of the 28s except those spun from the Oklahoma snapped cotton, which fell slightly below. None of the 36s yarn reached standard since this number is out of the range of the length of staple of these lots. In both cases the yarns from the picked cotton broke slightly stronger than those from the snapped cotton. The difference in strength between the Texas picked and snapped cottons was found to be negligible.

The recent tremendous drop in the price of raw cotton is a serious matter, not only for the South but for the entire country. While the cotton raisers of the South are affected most directly, their poor financial condition must inevitably react upon those sections which supply commodities which Southern farmers buy.

With cotton selling around ten cents a pound in local markets, the purchasing power of the South will be greatly reduced, in spite of the large crop. The prevailing price is far below the actual cost of production, and unless the efforts now being made through the co-operation of government agencies, bankers and co-operative marketing associations with a view to stabilizing the cotton market shall meet success, results may be disastrous.

Through increased acreage and improved methods of cultivation the yearly cotton crop has steadily increased during the past four years, with a corresponding drop in price. Even the ravages of the boll weevil and other insect pests have not served to hold production to an amount which can be marketed at a profit.

There can be no permanent relief for this situation until the farmers of the South make up their minds to materially reduce their cotton acreage. It has heretofore appeared impossible to induce them to do this. Whether the present crisis shall serve to bring about a curtailment of production in future remains to be seen.

Little Avalanches

Some reflections concerning the value of man's life are provoked by the decision of the mixed claims commission in settlement of claims growing out of the sinking of the Lusitania. It sought to allow only for the value of a victim's life to those dependent upon him, therefore it awarded $10,000 to the heirs of a mechanic, but nothing to those of Alfred Vanderbilt.

OUT OUR WAY

SO THINK WE

We think that luck is a mighty big cog in the wheel of success.

We think that seeing America first is one great big plan, but getting the plan in operation will be a rather hard task.

We think if we can buy home products from home people it is the proper thing to do, and will give the dollars a better chance to roll around the old home town and pay several of the local bills.

We think it is getting pretty near Thanksgiving time, and we have not heard a gobble in our backyard yet. We are thankful, however, that there is still hope.

We think snooks are already beginning to creep out of the windows and the nooks at home. It is nothing unusual, unless days to see several spooky-looking little faces peering out from the windows of the homes.

We think that having the satisfaction that we are living in our own home and being paid for even though it may not be as fine as some others offers a lot of consolation.

Pumpkins in the field makes us think of Halloween and we imagine we will have other things to remind us of the season of the year, too, within the present week.

We think that this old world would be just a bit brighter, if every fellow would do his part.

We think that a good, well rounded out health program in the schools of our cities and districts would add much to the happiness of the pupils, and the homes, and would add down the death rate among students.

We think an occasional word of encouragement to people helps a great deal. Even the ditch digger is pleased when people notice the good class of work that he is putting out.

We think it is the things that we do that count, but they count in altogether a different direction.

We think when a fellow thinks life is a joke, it is certainly one on him.

We think it is fit for fat with Florida and California. One day Florida pulls off a big hurricane and the next day California pulls an earthquake.

We think that cotton possibly holds the greatest interest of the people of the South. Interest is about all it holds, however at the present price. Very little of the principle can be reached by the cotton check.

IT IS REPORTED

It is reported that Uncle Sam has made more cotton than they had any idea they had, and according to the way that his employees have counted things up there is about seventeen million five hundred thousand bales of cotton in this nation.

It is reported that one fellow has discovered that while gold fish may not be as useful as some folks, they are a great deal more ornamental than some folks, and so there.

It is reported that one fellow got tired living in the town he was in so got busy and made it a better town. After studying this proposition for a few minutes, we believe the thought is worth passing on.

It is reported that wealth does not always produce happiness. We are frank to admit that we have never tried to purchase happiness anyway, and have found that homemade happiness is the best there is anyway.

It is reported that a person has never been known to rear their children according to the ideas of their neighbors.

It is reported that the best way to fool your wife is to tell her the truth. Most men undertake to fool them by saying, but that will never get them anywhere. Wife knows when you are giving her the straight goods, and don't fool yourself.

It is reported that the further the investigation committee goes into the investigation the more they find. Probably by the time they are in session several more days they will be compelled to increase the number of investigators.

It is reported that the perishing goes merely on in Austin, and we presume it will continue till the first of the year anyway.

It is reported that one of the European nations has said that America was a nation of people that trusted their word, but that would not trust each other in the time of peace.

It is reported that a man can travel about as far on the yarn he spins as a spider can on the thread he spins.

It is reported that there is still a few more tickets left for the Avalanche Journal train to the F. C. U. Matador game at Fort Worth. But you will have to get your reservations by noon if you want to go with the bunch.

SOUTH PLAINS PRESS

FIGURES: Croydon Review: The brief sent out this week by the Chamber of Commerce to the promoters of the proposed Ardmore and Lubbock railroad, contains much valuable information. Enumerated in this brief is a compilation of records of a ten-year period that would perhaps surprise those who are not familiar with the figures. Then, too, the potentialities of this territory which this new project would serve is a still greater surprise, and it would be well while for anyone to inform themselves concerning the contents of this brief.

The South Plains counties can all stack up a bunch of figures, and back them up with the very best proof as to their correctness, but people cannot believe them. The reports from this part of the country are beyond the people from other sections. Lubbock, Plainview and other towns already have a hard time convincing the Interstate Commerce Commission that this country is entitled to another railroad, while it is easy for most any other set of men to see that there is great need for more rail equipment. We are confident that Croydon put up some figures that would be almost unbelievable, except by people who are familiar with the great possibilities of this South Plains.

AUTOS AND SOWS:

Neogaves Signal: Last year there were nearly 10,000 automobiles registered in Ellis county and only a little more than 100 sows, which were not registered.

We presume that most every county in Texas will show a small number of sows and an increasing number in automobiles. This has put Texas farmers in a bad plight, and it has also brought bad conditions on people in nearly every trade and profession. Why sixty percent of the cars not paid for, and with no money to buy hogs, there is no wonder that there is hard times talk. If every farmer who has an automobile had the money invested in the car in broad sows, there would be prosperity everywhere. Or even if the farmer had an automobile, and he is just as despoiled of one as any class of folks we know of, and at the same time had some hogs, and not depending on cotton for a living there would be better conditions.

LAUGHS

He Enjoyed It
The citizens of a thriving small town in Georgia arranged for a Chattanooga Assembly last summer. They held the meetings in a big tent about a mile from the town, and the attendance was large from the first day.

An enterprising circus man heard of the big crowds, and landed in the town on the second day of the Chattanooga with a steam merry-go-round, which he located about half way between the town and the Chattanooga grounds.

Along in the afternoon a young man was accosted by a citizen of the town, "Well, Jake, I suppose you are in to the Chattanooga."

"I shore am. Just come from their now."

"How'd you like?"
"Fine as a fiddle. I rode on the darn thing nine times."—The Country Gentleman.

Uncle Sam Acquires a New Baby

EDITOR'S NOTE: With Washington awaiting the report of Col. Carmi Thompson, special investigator sent by President Coolidge to the Philippines, a new interest in the island question has been awakened. This is the fifth of a series of six articles telling the vital story of the Philippine development and present status.

By PAUL HARRISON
NEA Service Writer.

Philippine tolerance of Spanish rule reached the breaking point in 1896, when several hundred of the most prominent men of the country were imprisoned for participation in a revolutionary plot. Jose Rizal, reform party leader, had been exiled, native prices executed and the people robbed by plundering Spanish politicians.

The Katipunan, secret society that had been spreading in the islands, organized its forces for revolt. On August 26, 1896, three pitched battles occurred. The insurgents were defeated but the flame of war spread.

Spain strengthened the army and scattered the army in a fierce campaign in Cavite province. Jose Rizal, exiled by inactivity in exile, had received permission to go to the Philippines. However, the former leader of peaceful revolt happened to land at the time the insurrection broke out. He was arrested and executed. His people sprang to arms again. Their leader was Emilio Aguinaldo, son of a native farmer.

Spain could send no more soldiers and urged a peaceful settlement. Some reform measures were drawn up, the insurgents dispersed and the natives found themselves just as badly off as before.

Enter America

Now America enters the picture. On Feb. 15, 1898, the battleship Maine was blown up in Havana harbor. Commodore George Dewey mobilized his fleet at Hong-Kong, sailed over to the islands and totally destroyed or disabled the Spanish fleet. The surrender of Manila was refused and the Americans occupied Cavite. Defeat had destroyed the little prestige that Spain had and insurrection began in nearly every province.

Aguinaldo and his friends were allowed to come to Cavite and Commodore Dewey supplied his forces with arms. Thus outfitted, the Filipinos enthusiastically started out to perforate the Spaniards. In a few days the natives were in control of nearly everything but the city itself. Reinforcements for the Americans arrived Aug. 13 and Manila fell before the attack led by Gen. Wesley Merritt.

But it was not until February of the following year that the peace terms signed in Paris were approved.

by the United States Senate. Meanwhile President McKinley had declared that American sovereignty must be recognized in the islands.

War With Natives

Gen. Merritt had refused the Philippine permission to enter Manila. The Americans guarded the town and Aguinaldo's army stood about at respectful distances and called the doughboys bad names. Pretty soon the natives figured out that the Americans were afraid of them and started another war that lasted nearly two years.

Virtual peace came with the capture of Aguinaldo by Gen. Fred Funston. Thus, on July 4, 1898, the United States found a new baby on its doorstep of doubtful nationality and still more doubtful potentialities.

Plenty of Worry

There was plenty for Uncle Sam to worry about in this baby's 21st birthday. The scores of different tribes with their hatreds and superstitions, the archipelago's economic troubles and what not.

The "Philippine problem" has been crowding more pressing ever since. Many ways it was to canvas and the problem in its entirety that President Coolidge sent Carmi Thompson to the islands this year.

James Abbott, of Birmingham, Eng., accepted a sentence to prison rather than let his daughter be sent to a home for mental defectives.

JUST FOLKS

INTERRUPTED

"Let the war wait."
As you long me to romp on the floor, What would Caesar have done With a war just begun, With a charmer like you at his door? Just to spare you a frown or a tear Had I have given you his shield and his spear, He'd have sent out this word: "There, if he is war today! I intended to fight, but my babe wants to play."

He'd never have conquered in Gaul Had he been at your beck and your call, Had you been his child, He'd have turned meek and mild As your little feet raced down the hall, And once you got into his room, Which they say he kept shrouded in gloom, You'd have driven away all his will to be great, He'd have played as a play, saying:

"Let the war wait."
But Caesar fought year after year Letting nothing with his interfere, For he never knew Such a charmer as you, All he had was his brilliant career, Never laughing and tapping there came to his door A blue-eyed and rosy-checked baby of four, It was easy for Caesar to work night and day, For he had no baby determined to play, Let the children be famous and great, Let old bachelors govern the state, Let the Caesars command, And make war in the land, I'll go down to a happier fate, 'Tis enough from this world I have had Little girl, to be known as your dad, No climb onto my knee and we'll frolic and play, And the work I should do won't be finished today.

GOT YOUR TICKET FOR THAT TRAIN TO COWTOWN, TO SEE MATADORS TAKE MEASURE OF HORNFROGS?

As the Tech College Matadors warm up in preliminary skirmish for the clash Saturday with the T. C. U. Hornfrogs, fans and followers of the Scarlet and Black are being given an opportunity to show their colors. Plans have been completed for the special train that will take the hundreds of rooters to "Cow Town" and reservations for Pullman accommodations on the train must be in to the Avalanche-Journal office not later than noon Tuesday. Regular chair car tickets may be secured later than this, but no reservations for Pullman fares will be made later than noon today.

In the meantime, as a matter of convenience for South Plains fans who will see the game tickets for the game have been placed on sale at the Hotel Drug Store here, where the general public may secure them. Another ticket office has been opened at the college for the benefit of students and faculty. All who expect to make the trip are urged to secure their tickets before they leave here in order to avoid the rush at the gates to the park in Fort Worth.

Make First Real Venture
In the Frog (T.C.U.) Matadors make their first venture into the field of what is termed "real football" in Texas, meeting the first Southwestern club contested in the history of the school.

The record of the train to date is well worthy of attention and name of any institution whether or not the school be surrounded by traditions or just in its second year of existence. The Matadors have met fourteen clubs during the life of the team, and only one game has been lost, with the state so far this season clean. Among the teams that have offered competition are some of the strongest of what might be termed secondary teams in the state, and having demonstrated their prowess against this class of competition, Tech now turns to greener fields, with a great deal depending upon the game for future standing of the club.

Jennings Unable to Play
Tech of course is not slated to walk away easily with the Frogs, and besides being the underdog, the squad is handicapped by the loss of Al Jennings, dashing end, who was injured in the St. Edwards game and probably will not be able to return to play this season. Others who have been injured at various times will be in condition to play, coaches believe.

The team has not yet been worked down to the smoothness of action that is the dream of the coaches, but many of the rough edges, apparent in the Simmons clash were overcome by the time Clarendon reached here, and a smoother running combination was offered late Saturday. More lubricant, however, will be necessary if the machine is to get far with Matty Bell's off-springs.

The morale of the team is good indeed, and this feature, coupled with the fight that has been evident in every game this year, is expected to mean a great deal in the coming contest.

Crew Working Hard
"Dope" White, one of the candidates of the St. Edwards game is back in action, and with Vincent and Calloway working hard at the ends in an effort to perfect these most important positions. Captain Horley Carpenter, Kern Aldridge and Westerfield are grinding steadily away at tackles, while Bruce Reed, Howard DeWitt,

Strolling Down Sport Lane With James R. Dow

The Westerners are being forward for the title of the Panhandle—all of the lads realize the importance of the coming event and are putting forth every effort in this week's workouts.

The Golden Sandstormers are favored to defeat the Westerners here Friday but it will be a battle—as the Westerners are a fighting crew and never is a game lost when your team is fighting.

T. C. U.—Every one is saying let's get T. C. U. and the Matadors are training hard for the clash. It is the Tech's first performance with Southwestern Conference club. It is truly the Matador's banner contest.

Must get your reservation in for sleeper before noon today—the management has to put in the order for this equipment at an early date.

The game Friday between the Westerners and the Sandstormers will be played promptly at 3 o'clock to assure all the Lubbock fans, that are to take the Fort Worth trip, plenty of time to catch the train.

"Dope" White, versatile end of the Freshmen eleven will likely be in action again for the T. C. U. game. The work of Al Jennings however, will be missed in the game.

A more lubricant and smooth running offense is beginning to show up in the work of the Matadors and every effort will be shown in the T. C. U. game to put over a victory.

It looks like there will be more than 500 to ride the Avalanche-Journal special to Fort Worth Friday. Better act now and get your reservation in for the special. Tickets are going fast.

Attend the Texas Tech pep meeting Thursday night—familiarize yourself with the yell and song of the college—you can help the student body out in all of the games if you yell with them. It takes that school spirit to win the victories.

Help the Westerners win the Panhandle championship—it is game that deserves the attendance of all the Lubbock fans. Help put one on the Golden Sandstormers.

Bill "Red" Smith are undergoing a preliminary preparation at guard, with Vaughn Corley holding down the pivotal position.

The first line of defense of the Matadors has so far this year proved practically invincible, and has been secured on only once this year, while in the backfield, Higginbotham is star of individual stars, but will present a combination that will be hard to handle. Hill, Hamilton and Woodbridge probably will be counted upon for the greater part of the burden under directions of Duke Lassiter, with a veritable army of reserve on the sidelines that can be called upon at any time with a feeling of ease behind the substitution.

Wellington Grid Team Beats Claude

(Special To The Avalanche)
WELLINGTON, Tex., Oct. 25.—The Wellington high school team smothered the Claude high school team at Claude Friday by a score of 24 to 0 before one of the largest crowds that ever witnessed a foot ball game in Claude.

Red McNelis, Wellington half back, made many sensational plays which included four touch-downs and the scoring of six goals. Lloyd Powell, Wellington captain, and quarter back, and often termed the greatest high school quarter back in Texas, battered the Claude line for substantial gains almost at will. Paul Williams also starred.

A unique thing about the game was that Wellington scored five touch-downs and kicked five goals in the first quarter in five minutes, each touch-down and the kicking of the goal requiring exactly one minute each to the second. This is believed to be a record in the making of touch-downs and the making of goals. Wellington made twenty first downs to Claude's one.

This making a total of five intercollegiate games played by the Wellington team without a defeat, they have scored to date 127 points to their opponents 12.

Storms Threaten Big Eastern Teams

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Eleven eastern teams responded to the roll call of the unbeaten today under storm clouds which, forebodingly, seemed to threaten to sweep another big smash along the gridiron front next Saturday.

At least one clean slate is certain to be made in the initial defeat, barring a tie, for two of the teams are scheduled to square off in Philadelphia. The struggle will bring together Washington and Jefferson and Lafayette, both of which have won five successive games.

Most of the remaining nine aggregations—Army, Brown, Navy, Cornell, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, New York University, Holy Cross and Boston College—found little excuse to hesitate confidence. Crucial contests were for all, but the latter two.

Holy Cross is not expected to encounter strong opposition from Dartmouth University in an intercollegiate clash at Worcester, Mass., while Boston College, the only eleven uncorrupted in the east, faces West Virginia Wesleyan. But indications are that at least one of the pair will be stricken from the list before the close of the season, since they collided head-on in their closing game on November 27 at Boston.

Of the others, the most seriously threatened upper to be Navy, Army, and Brown. Against the midshipmen at Baltimore, Monday, will be pitted undefeated Michigan. The midshipmen were submerged under a deluge of Friedman passes last year.

Encouraged by Brown's victory over Yale, Saturday, Army levels its guns on New Haven with confidence.

Dartmouth, beaten successively by Yale and Harvard, nevertheless looms menacingly before Brown, while Columbia enters into the path of the stately Cornell brigade to give Columbia its first severe test in the east.

Shoring the spotlight with the Michigan-Navy struggle on the intercollegiate card will be the clash of Pennsylvania and Illinois at Urbana, Ill. The Quaker team, with one of the highest powered and most deceptive offenses in the east, appeared confident of balancing accounts with the Illinois cohorts for the devastation wrought by Red Grange a year ago.

Modern critics seemed agreed that Coach Lou Young would take into the Midwest one of the most brilliant scoring machines ever developed at Pennsylvania.

There will be another clash of unblemished teams at Morgantown, West Virginia, bringing together West Virginia and Missouri. Records appear to justify the installing of the mountaineers as favorites. They have won all of their five games, while Missouri was tied by Tulane and Southern Methodist University.

New York University draws Fordham, a traditional foe, and indications point strongly to a reversal of last year's results. With a rugged, hard running team which has brushed aside five opponents, Meehan's N. Y. U. aggregation appeared primed to furnish balance overwhopping defeats suffered in 1924 and 1925.

MULESHOE IN THE GAME WITH SUDAN

(Special To The Avalanche)

MULESHOE, Tex., Oct. 25.—The Muleshoe Yellow Jackets played the Sudan herd to a 7 to 0 tie at Muleshoe Friday afternoon.

Jack Griffith and Moore in the backfield starred for Muleshoe. Robinson and Holt were particularly effective for Sudan.

Both teams resorted frequently to a passing game.

A "Garrison" Finish?

RICHARD GARRISON

One of the most promising athletes on the Indiana University squad this fall is Richard Garrison, a quarterback, a brainy pilot and a fast, clever runner. Hoosier rooters are looking to the youngster to come through in sensational style for "Pat" Pogue's aggregation. Garrison comes from Indianapolis, where Big Ten stars have got their starts.

The NUT CRACKER by Joe Williams

For a while it looked as if the world series and the Daugherty trial would both run over into the spring tennis season.

Historians are undecided whether to list St. Louis as a former manager or a former manager of the Browns.

Ruth's demand for a $125,000 contract was no doubt inspired by the knowledge that there is no law against demanding.

If what we hear about the veteran pitcher is true, Mr. Berlin's old song will have to be changed to "Alexander's Jag-Line Band."

Off-hand, we'd say that Tex Rickard is the only guy in the world who has a chance to bring about a return match between Peaches and Brownie.

After all, the real hero of the series was the wild-eyed maverick who sat behind the Cardinals' dugout in St. Louis and roared for the Yanks.

When the boys get around to figuring out the best high school football team of the year, Harvard will have to come in for a lot of consideration.

Walter Eckersall writes in a current magazine about an Illinois punter who used to run down and catch his own kicks. The stuff the old-time collectors drank must have been pretty bad, too.

Right after the series closed Ruth visited a hospital to cheer up a sick friend. We don't know whether it was Koenig or Muesel.

Republicans want Alexander to go out and make campaign speeches for them. Whether the master of the fast ball is also master of the fast talk remains to be seen.

TO DRILL IN GAINES

Ardmore Men Get Leases in Gaines County With View to Starting Oil Well

Wentheimer and Daube, of Ardmore, Okla., prominent oil operators, have secured leases on a large tract of land in Gaines county, 14 miles southeast of Seminole, and 31 miles southwest of Lamesa, and will begin work on a new test well in a short time. The test well probably will be on a large block of land owned by the Hoge-Porter cotton company.

High prices were paid for leases in this section despite the fact it is strictly wild-cat territory.

Other oil tests are in prospect for oil tests near Sulphur Draw.

COUNTY COURT DOCKET BEING CLEANED FAST

County Judge Charles Nordbye returned yesterday from Dallas to take up his work in the county court bench here again. During the present term Judge Nordbye said yesterday that the criminal docket had been cleaned and that civil cases, including a number of agreed judgments and non-jury trials, were rapidly being disposed of.

Bush Signs as Pirate Manager

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 25.—Owen J. (Donnie) Bush, manager of the Indianapolis American Association baseball club, has signed a one year contract to pilot Pittsburgh Nationals in 1927. Pirate officials announced tonight.

Bush will succeed Bill McKenchie, who was informed last week by President Barney Dreyfuss that his services would no longer be required. Pirate followers at the time expressed that opinion that McKenchie's discharge was an outgrowth of international dissection in the ranks of the world's champions of 1925.

Bush was prominently mentioned in connection with the Pittsburgh managerial berth as a was Art Fletcher, of Philadelphia.

In announcing Bush's appointment, Sam Dreyfuss, treasurer of the Pittsburgh club, said the contract covered only the season of 1927. He refused to make public the financial clause of the paper.

Bush, manager of the Indianapolis team for three years, formerly managed the Washington Senators. As a big league player he started with Detroit as short stop.

Governor Refuses Farmer Proclamation

AUSTIN, Texas, Oct. 25.—Expressing the opinion "the farmer is getting too much advice from those who either lack experience in cotton raising or who are acting too fast," Governor Miriam A. Ferguson stated Monday she would not at this time issue a proclamation calling on the farmers of Texas to reduce their cotton acreage.

Special Worker Is Here With Agents

Miss Susan Landon of Dallas, who is connected with the Farm Bureau Cotton Association of Texas, is in the city and together with County Agent D. F. Eaton and Miss Hazel Hammer, County Home Demonstration Agent, will go out to Wofforth, where a special called meeting will be held tonight for the purpose of discussing and encouraging diversified and co-operative community work. There will also be a like meeting held tomorrow night at Acuff. Miss Landon has just returned from a three months trip to the little country of Denmark where she studied first hand methods of diversified and co-operative community work and marketing projects, that will serve as a great help to all those who are now deeply interested in trying to solve the present cotton situation, said Miss Landon.

WACO COTTON BUYER POINTS OUT NECESSITY OF HOLDING

Baker Hoskins, Waco cotton buyer, in the South Plains for a few weeks buying cotton, said yesterday that the farmers might as well hold back their cotton, because it would be held back anyway. "At least three million bales will be kept back out of this year's crop by the mills and the cotton exchanges who buy the crop," he said, "just as five million were held over from last year." He pointed out the necessity, stressed by so many observers, of materially reducing the cotton acreage next year—"else" he said "the hold-over cotton will merely serve to make for a greater surplus and a lower price in 1927."

Miss Ruth Mosby has accepted a position as secretary with Dr. W. N. Lemmon in the Temple Ellis building.

WELLINGTON GRES BEAT CLAUDE CAGERS

WELLINGTON, Tex., Oct. 25.—The Wellington high school girls basketball team defeated the Claude team at Claude Friday evening by a score of 32 to 21. Bernice Wood, Wellington forward, was responsible for 24 of the Wellington score.

MADDOX ELECTED TO LEAD ENGINEERS

Charles Woodbridge, of Dallas, and Burton Atcheson of Lubbock, were elected vice-presidents, and J. C. Street as secretary and treasurer.

The engineers voted to organize a football team and James Atcheson was elected as field manager. A challenge will be sent to the Aggie students for a game to be played on November 18, just before the Howard Payne game. A social committee was appointed and a social event will be arranged for sometime before the Christmas holidays. Dean J. M. Miller spoke to the boys at the meeting urging clean athletics in the inter-school contests.

DR. SUTTON PLEASURES TECH STUDENTS

One of the most enjoyable lectures of the year was delivered yesterday by Dr. W. A. Sutton, superintendent of the city schools of Atlanta, Ga. Dr. Sutton, one of the best versed men in educational procedure in the United States, and a man responsible for routine dental inspection for the Atlanta public schools, held the student body spell bound while he told of startling facts concerning the care of the teeth and health.

"The greatest trouble with the United States is misplaced emphasis," Dr. Sutton said. "What we need is development of the human body, personality, to think in terms of people and life, not in material things," he added. "Students you are depositors of life, you are entering the stream of life and you must meet it with health and happiness." Your bodies hold the seeds of health which have not stopped beating for millions and millions of years and it is your duty to present it to the next generation in perfect condition.

Dr. Sutton gave his receipt for raising boys' teeth and feet them and second, keep them busy.

MARKETING EXPERT TO SPEAK TO FARMERS OF LUBBOCK COUNTY

Aaron Sapiro, one of the best known marketing experts in the United States, and the man who is largely responsible for the co-operative marketing system now in effect among fruit growers of California, will be in Lubbock November 2, and will address an audience at the Tech College stadium at 2 o'clock in the afternoon when it is understood that he will discuss in detail the problems now facing the farmer of the South in marketing his bumper cotton crop.

Plans have been put under way here for one of the largest audiences ever to hear a speaker in Lubbock, and delegations are expected from all the surrounding territory. The Lubbock Chamber of Commerce and various other civic organizations of the city are backing the proposition and propose to give the speaker a good hearing.

John T. Orr, President of the Texas Farm Bureau Cotton Association will accompany Mr. Sapiro on the trip here and as both of these men have recently returned with members of the President Coolidge's committee to study the cotton situation, and will have first hand information to offer on the subject that is of vital importance to not only the farmer but the business man who indirectly is affected by the failure or success of the farmer.

Invitation will be sent to various luncheon clubs of this city and to organizations in surrounding cities and towns. The meeting will be in charge of R. E. Overstreet, state director of the Texas Farm Bureau, and introductory remarks will be made by O. L. Stinton, President of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce. The reception committee has been selected as follows:

abandoned by the Indians about 1600 years ago and it is now one of the most important places in the southwest.

Dr. Judd stressed the importance of the study of the pueblo section and pointed out the degree of development of the people of that time. The government has spent sums of money in exploring the pueblo and have produced a number of interesting things as data for further study.

His talk last night was one of the most interesting and instructive ever heard at the college. He will return soon to his home in New York City.

FACYS AS TO "HUB OF PLAINS" BROADCAST NOVEMBER 3RD OVER WFAA

Lubbock, the Hub of the Plains, will be on the air Wednesday, November 3, and radio fans over the entire Southwest will hear about the resources, growth and development, places of interest and other things, according to a letter received by the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce Monday from John W. Murphy, office department of public relations of the Southland Insurance Company of Dallas.

The Southland Insurance Company has been conducting radio exercise programs from 6:30 to 7:30 each morning for over a year and have members from California to Florida, according to Murphy's letter. CONVICTED FOR LABOR BOOTLEGGING

STATE LABOR DEPARTMENT GETS AFTER COTTON GANG AT ABILENE

ABILENE, Tex., Oct. 25.—A stillnetto was thrust into the heart of the labor "bootlegging ring" that has been roasting cotton farmers of Central West Texas when J. Lee Tarpley, chief deputy of the state Department of Labor obtained yesterday a conviction at Abilene and brought three other men to justice, two of whom are Mexicans.

The gang, according to Tarpley, has been transporting cotton pickers into Texas from San Antonio, stationed them at the edge of a town and invited prospective farm employers to look them over and, if satisfied, to pay for their transportation and a fee of $5. Then, it is alleged, the labor would go with the farmer, pick cotton a few days and return the fee that brought them in, and be peddled out again at $5 a head, both the ringleaders and the pickers shared in the illicit fee, it is alleged.

Many complaints of violations of the labor laws which have been filed with Tarpley received his attention almost all of last week. He spent the major part of the week investigating and accumulating evidence for convictions that are expected to follow.

Tarpley discovered during his sleuthing in Jones county last week that a "ring" operated that brought labor from San Antonio, stationed them at the edge of a town and invited prospective farm employers to look them over and, if satisfied, to pay for their transportation and a fee of $5. Then, it is alleged, the labor would go with the farmer, pick cotton a few days and return the fee that brought them in, and be peddled out again at $5 a head, both the ringleaders and the pickers shared in the illicit fee, it is alleged.

A Word With the Old Folks

Elderly People Are Learning Importance of Good Elimination.

In the later years of life there is apt to be a slowing up of the bodily functions. Good elimination, however, is just as essential to the old as to the young. Many old folks have learned the value of Doan's Pills when a stimulant diuretic to the kidneys is required. Scanty or burning passages of kidney secretions are often signs of improper kidney function. In most every community are scores of users and endorsers who acclaim the merit of Doan's. FAMOUS COMEDIAN WHO IS COMING TO LUBBOCK ROCKS CARNEGIE HALL

An old and established concert hall like Carnegie Hall, New York, which has been in the habit of housing such celebrated orchestras as the New York Symphony, Philadelphia, Philharmonic and the Boston, and such famous artists as Sammler, Melba, Paderewski, Hoffman, Kreisler, Elman, John McCormack, and thousands of other artists famous in the concert world and put on the same stage a man like Will Rogers, acknowledged to be the greatest humorist since Mark Twain, a man who started life as a cow-puncher in Oklahoma and rode the plains day in and day out roping and branding cattle, later coming to New York as a fancy rider and bull-dogger in Jack Mulford's rodeo and later in 1919 Ranch and still later making his debut in vaudeville with his cow-punch and his rope, which success brought him to the attention of a great and well-known theatrical manager of New York who was responsible for launching him on the legitimate stage where he has thrilled many thousands of people with his clever jokes on topics of the day while he was performing his funny romps, well you take it, place like Carnegie Hall and put Will Rogers in there for just one night and something is bound to happen, and something did happen, two things in fact, the first was that the old Hall rocked on its foundations with peals of laughter from a great audience in which were some of our most celebrated politicians, actors, singers, stars of the moving picture world, writers, etc., such laughter has never been heard in Carnegie Hall and certainly never such a performance styled "a concert."

The second thing which happened was that the hall having been so shocked and rocked to its foundations that immediately after the performance contractors began work on the rear of the Hall strengthening the foundations.

Some of the funniest words which were ever uttered were spoken by Rogers immediately after a five minute ovation from the vast audience. "Gentle people," said he, "I have all the time, he said between others, 'I'll bet I'm the only guy that ever came out on this here platform with a name you could pronounce and I'll bet I'm the only guy that had hair as short as mine.'"

MRS. W. A. CLARK HURT WHEN SHE HANGS HEAD DOWN FROM MOVING CAR

Mrs. W. A. Clark, wife of a Lubbock cotton buyer, was seriously injured Sunday afternoon, and narrowly escaped death when she was dragged approximately 75 feet along the highway by a rapidly moving car while Mr. Clark held firmly to her foot to prevent her falling completely out of the machine and being ground under the wheels. The accident happened just this side of Snyder when the couple were returning to Lubbock after a trip to Corpus Christi.

Bruised and Cut
Mrs. Clark was severely bruised and cut on the head and face, but reports from the hospital here, where she was taken for examination and treatment, are that she is resting well and that if complications do not develop she will completely recover.

The accident happened when Mrs. Clark, nothing, a suitcase about to fall from the car, made an effort to catch the bag, and the door flew open, hurling her out. Her husband, sensing the situation, grasped her foot and frantically held on while trying to stop the headlong plunge of the machine, but could not lift his wife high enough so that her head would clear the ground, and her head struck several rocks before the car could be stopped.

First aid was given at Post.

LUBBOCK COUNTY'S GINS ARE MANY IN NUMBER AND THEY'RE OPERATING FULL SPEED NOW REFINING COTTON

If you should be asked how many gins there are in Lubbock county, would you know the exact number to give? It is rather doubtful if there are very many people in the county that could give the exact number. How many many people have figured out the average number of gins a bale of cotton is hauled in Lubbock county before it reaches the market? Not a person, would be a safe answer.

Below will be found a list of Lubbock county's gins, where they are located and number of miles from Lubbock: Estacado is located thirty miles distant in the far northeast part of the county where one gin is located. Idalou, fourteen miles northeast, has the third largest number of gins in the county, four in number. Canyon, seven miles east, has one gin. One gin is located at Acuff, sixteen miles east. The community of Beeton, twenty-five miles northeast, has one gin. Then fourteen miles southeast is Posey where another gin is located. With the exception of Lubbock, Stanton has more gins than any other place in the county, there being five in number, located sixteen miles southeast from Lubbock. The community of Union, sixteen miles south has one gin. Twelve miles south is Wofford where one gin is located. One gin is also located at Woodson, ten miles south. Twelve miles north is Monroe where two gins are located. There are three gins located at Shallowford, but it is reported that there is only two in operation. Hurlwood, ten miles west, has one. At Abernathy, which is a county line town, twenty miles north, is located several gins, all ginning several hundred bales of Lubbock county cotton. Lubbock comes last with seven modern gin plants. Every gin in the county will turn out several thousand bales of cotton, which in a normal year, will run above the forty-five thousand mark. Figure the number of miles each bale will be handled in the county. It is easy.

Production Is All Right
The agricultural situation in Lubbock county is good, so far as production is concerned. Reports coming from all sections of the county indicate a big yield of cotton will yet be realized. There are many farms in the county that will produce from one-half to a bale of cotton per acre and, considering the amount of damage sustained from the recent excessive rains in this section which began September 17 and continued with but few pretty days until October 15, nearly thirty days, this county is hard to beat when it comes to quantity of production per acre. There is no better soil in the world for diversification than is found in Lubbock county. Every kind of garden plants can be produced in abundance, as has been evidenced by the various girls' canning clubs over the county and the many splendid specimens shown at the recent South Plains fair held in Lubbock. Small grains, alfalfa, sorghums, maize, feterita, beards, corn cotton watermelons cantaloupes, all grow in a marvelous way. It is confidently believed that from this time forth, all farmers will give much of their time and soil over to feed crops, and stock their farms with plenty of livestock to take care of any surplus feed that might be raised and market such feed stuff in a cowhide or pig skin.

Orchards Are Needed
It would be well for every farmer of Lubbock county to have an orchard and grape vineyard, and secure therefrom, not only plenty of such fruits as is necessary for the home consumption, but derive much revenue therefrom. Plant fruit trees, and even though they might be cut short some seasons for fruit, they make beautiful shade trees, and nothing sets off a place and makes it look more homelike, than plenty of shade trees: Lubbock county has ideal soil for diversification. The altitude is high enough to insure against pests which are prevalent in large numbers in other parts of Texas. Every merchant of Lubbock, with the Chamber of Commerce, is standing solidly behind the diversified cultivation of this great Plains country.

TROTTER TURKEYS TELL ABOUT TEXAS

SESQUI-CENTENNIAL BOOTH IS GOOD AD. FOR THE STATE

(Special To The Avalanche)
BRADY, Tex., Oct. 25.—Trotter Texas turkeys shown at the famous Brady post card pictures, are telling Philadelphia and Sesqui-Centennial visitors that Texas should have the crown for being the nation's center in the production of the American national bird.

According to word from J. E. Whitaker, in charge of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce exhibit at the big Philadelphia exposition, publicity sent to the West Texas chamber booth by Brady and other counties of the Lone Star state is going over big with exposition visitors from all parts of the country.

Shipment of several hundred copies of the Brady booklets and post cards of the famous Brady turkeys were recently made to Whiteaker by Carl Blasing, secretary of the local chamber of commerce. The post cards are in good demand and are being distributed generally while the more expensive booklets are being given out only to those particularly interested in this section of Texas.

Critics of Captain A. D. Broughton's form of "wagging" his club during a recent golf match in England, were informed that this was due to a nervous trouble caused by a fall from an airplane during the war.

GROWS DESPITE LOSS

WEST TEXAS FAIR ORDERS IMPROVEMENTS, ALTHOUGH YEAR SHOWS DEFICIT

(Special To The Avalanche)
ABILENE, Oct. 25.—Pocketing a loss of $4,817 entailed by inclement weather the last day to the exposition, the West Texas Fair association, in session yesterday, ordered that extensive improvements be made for the 1927 exposition. A surplus from last year's exposition wiped out the deficit this season, but left no reserve. The midsummer automobile races on July 4 this year brought a net profit of more than $15,000 a report of Secretary C. J. Jones of the association disclosed.

More than $6,000 was spent during the year on improvements, including an enlargement of the race course, now a mile circle.

NOODLE DOME TO BE NEW CITY

INJUNCTION FOLLOWS GROWTH OF OIL TOWN IS DISSOLVED

BY HAMLTON WRIGHT
Special Correspondent
ABILENE, Oct. 25.—Noodle Dome, the proposed "Borger" of the Noodle Creek field—is to become a new Texas city if Fred Malloch can make it so, he said yesterday, when a temporary injunction restraining him from putting the town on the map was dissolved by Judge Walter R. Ely in the local district court yesterday.

A compromise has been effected between the Midwest Exploration company, complainant, and Malloch, where the former obtains use of certain proposed town lots in the new town for use as a camp and for storage purposes. Malloch retains around 70 lots on the east side of the Thornton well now being drilled as an offset to the Joe Winter No. 1, an 800-barrel well.

Prior to the issuance of the restraining order Malloch had extensively advertised the new town through large floating circulars distributed extensively over West Texas. The new town will be built up against the oil wells—potential and prospective.

In the meantime promoters at Trent are starting proceedings to make their town a real little city. The main street of one block is to be extended directly north to the wells, the land to be platted into townsite lots and disposed of in the near future, according to word received here. It is understood that Eastern capital lured to the new town is already preparing to put on a whirlwind selling campaign.

The advent of a new well in the Noodle Creek field—a matter of ten days or fifteen days—is calculated to inflate Trent from its few hundred inhabitants to a city of 10,000 and Texas may look with some interest and speculation on the union of Trent and Noodle Dome and the fight that will be made by each to have the other declared a suburb of it.

INVENTION AND USE OF COTTON-PICKING MACHINE URGED ON FARMERS OF S. PLAINS BY B. YOUNGBLOOD, EXPERT

"Out here on the Plains, the farmers have one of the best chances in the South of establishing the use of the cotton picking machine," B. Youngblood, director of the experiment station system of Texas and at present special research agent for the cotton economic survey of the United States department of agriculture, told the Avalanche recently, his departure for Raleigh, North Carolina, where he will continue his study. Youngblood has been here for several days making a study of the cotton situation.

Soil Is Right
"The soil is of such a nature here that the cotton suitable to be picked by the machine can easily be bred and the land is so level that the machine could be perfected as much as the big wheat combines of the North Plains and wheat sections," Youngblood added. "It is up to the farmers of the South Plains to put their knowledge of mechanics and ingenuity together and devise a machine suitable for picking the bumper crops," he said.

The shortage of pickers which is witnessed by this section every year was pointed out by Youngblood and the cotton picking machine placed as a solution for removing this shortage. Youngblood believes that a machine can be so devised as to pick the cotton as clean and as efficient as the other harvest machines used in the various crops.

Seven Convicts And Three Guards Hurt In Foiled Jailbreak

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Oct. 25 (AP)—Seven convicts, two of whom are believed to be dying were in the prison hospital here today suffering from lacerations and wounds received in a foiled jailbreak. The convicts and a negro trustee were recovering from minor injuries received when the prisoners attempted to escape from the Missouri state prison yesterday.

Armed with knives the prisoners attacked and overpowered J. T. Wynne and A. R. Wickenburg, cell house guards, and after securing a pistol from Wynne, escaped through a window to a corridor leading to the tuberculosis hospital. Here they attacked J. L. Freeman, another guard, who was stabbed in the shoulder before the convicts obtained his pistol. A negro trustee who tried to aid Freeman was stabbed after he knocked one of the men down with a chair. The prisoners then opened fire on other guards and trustees who appeared in the corridor and ran to the south stockade where two of them were shot down by wall guards using riot guns loaded with buck shot. The five convicts were taken from the factory building after a two-hour siege in which tear gas was used without effect.

Most of the convicts were serving from five to 25 years on robbery or assault charges. Two were believed fatally wounded are James W. Adlow, 23, sentenced to six years for grand larceny at St. Louis and Raymond Crews, 25, serving 15 years for robbery of the American Bank at the St. Louis.

At Farm Meet
Youngblood was in Lovelland yesterday where he attended a meeting of the farmers of that section. He reported a large meeting and the farmers interested in the situation.

In speaking of the situation last night Youngblood stated that unless some intermediate credit system was substituted by the government for the relief of the farmers, the low price and overproduced market would exist for several years, or until the acreage was reduced 50 per cent. He stated that the department was now working on the situation and hoped to be able to do it so that the average crop will be maintained in the South instead of the week and heavy years.

HALEY RETURNS FROM TRIP OVER LOWER PLAINS

(Special To The Avalanche)
CANYON, Oct. 25.—J. Everett Haley, field representative of the Panhandle-Plains Historical society, has returned to Canyon from an extensive trip over the lower plains country, where he has been collecting materials and data for the historical society.

Reports from Tahoka indicate that his work in the region of that little city has been particularly valuable in the society, and he received much assistance from its citizens. Haley will spend the coming week in organizing and cataloging the material which he has on hand. The Panhandle-Plains Historical society has recently been requested to the copy of the list of its possessions with the historical research department of the war college of the United States at Washington, D. C.

DAILY MARKET

NEW ORLEANS COTTON
NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 25 (AP)—The cotton market was active and fluctuated freely today although the government forecast was considerably larger than the trade expected, that 17,454,000 bales. The decline which followed was only 23 to 35 points from the lowest. The ginning total to October 18 issued at the same time and showing 5,722,000 bales was also quite large considering the lateness of the crop.

The market opened 13 points down in sympathy with much lower cables than due and soon showed losses of 15 to 17 points. Before the government report was issued at 10 o'clock, prices had rallied 14 to 15 points from the lows to about parallel with Saturday's close. The early response to the bureau's figures was a decline of only 33 to 35 points. This comparatively small drop attracted good buying and covering and by the middle of the afternoon prices rallied 19 to 24 points from the lows. The market continued to advance in the late trading, making new highs, 42 1/2 to 44 points above the lows and closed very steady at net gains for the day of 4 to 12 points. At the low points of the early morning before the bureau report was issued, December traded at 12 3/4 and March at 12 1/2, or 15 to 17 points down from the previous close. Just before the bureau, December rallied to 12 3/4 and March to 12 1/2, or 14 to 15 points up from the lows and these prices were the ruling figures when the government totals were issued.

At the lowest reached from the bureau, December traded down to 12 1/2 and March to 12 1/4, or 33 to 35 points down from the pre-bureau prices. The market then rallied, December recovering to 12 3/4 and March to 12 1/2, or 19 to 24 points up from the lows. In the late trading the market became very active and firm and December traded up to 12 3/4, January to 12 1/2 and March to 12 1/4, or 42 to 44 points above the pre-bureau levels. The close was at or near the top. Exports for the day were 32,945 bales.

COTTON SEED

NEW YORK, Oct. 25 (AP)—Selling on the bearish government report on cotton, broke the leading deliveries on cotton seed off 25 to 27 points today, after which the market rallied on covering and commission house buying on the surprisingly steady showing in the staple. Closing prices were five points higher to 1 net lower. Sales 16,200 barrels. Prime crude 7 1/2 to 7 3/4, prime summer yellow spot 8 1/2; October closed 8 3/4; December 8 3/4; January 8 3/4; March 9 1/2, May 9 1/2.

COTTON GOODS

NEW YORK, Oct. 25 (AP)—Cotton goods ruled quiet today with an easing tendency due to expectations of lower cotton following the government report. Yarns were quiet and barely steady. Burlaps were unchanged at Calcutta and quiet here with a lower trend. Raw silk eased off 10 yen in Yokohama, where from 2 1/2 to 5 cents a pound cheaper here. Silk goods were in fair demand, more interest being taken in spring goods. Spring worsteds sold steadily in the dress goods division, many sheer light weight fancies being bought.

SUGAR

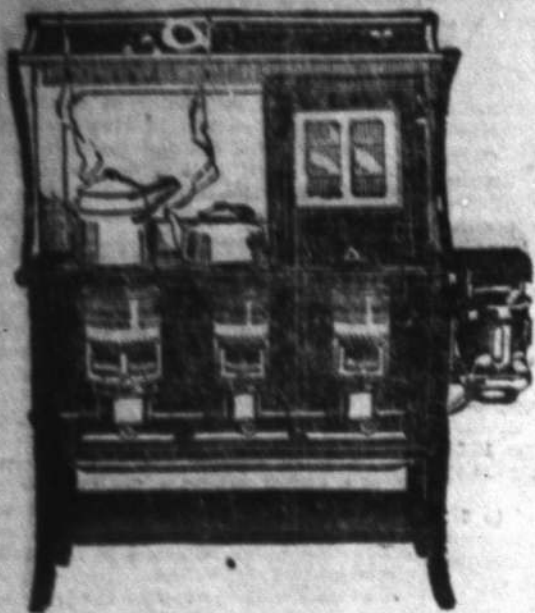

NEW YORK, Oct. 25 (AP)—The raw sugar market was quiet today, no sales being reported and prices were quoted unchanged at 43 1/2 for Cuban duty paid.

After opening 1 to 2 points higher on covering and trade buying, raw sugar futures broke under liquidation and selling for trade and Cuban account, prompted by reports that damage in Cuba by the recent hurricane was not as great as at first reported. Final prices were 3 to 7 points lower, December showing the maxi-and six (5), in block No. Four (4) of the G. A. Rush addition to the town of Lubbock, in Lubbock County, Texas, and on the 2nd day of November, A. D. 1926, being the first Tuesday of said month, between the hours of 10 o'clock A. M. and 4 o'clock P. FIVE WAYS TO PREPARE

CHICKEN

These Are Favorite Recipes
of Four Famous Cooks

(Editor's Note: This is one of a series of special cooking articles contributed to this paper by six famous cooks.)

Chicken is a universal favorite. Very few folks can find it in their hearts to refuse a second helping of this appetizing fowl. Four famous cooks give tempting recipes for cooking it — fricassee, fried, broiled, stewed, and soup. There's variety enough for everyone!

MRS. SARAH
TYSON RORER

Mrs. Sarah Tyson Rorer, the Philadelphia cooking expert, has a recipe for a delicious chicken corn soup.

"This is an excellent dish," she says. "With a salad, coffee, and a bit of ripe cheese it makes a wholesome meal."

Chicken Corn Soup

The directions follow: Since draw and cut up as for stewing a two year old hen. Put in a kettle and cover with three quarts of cold water. Bring to a boil, and cook until tender—about two hours. Remove chicken, skim the broth, and put it back on the burner. Add two medium sized onions chopped, a teaspoon of salt, dash of pepper and a box of noodles. Add one pint of canned or fresh cut-off corn. Cover and cook 15 minutes. Add the chicken cut into small pieces. When hot, serve. If too thick, add milk to thin.

Delicious Fricassee

For chicken fricassee, made according to the recipe of Mrs. Kate B. Vaughn, Los Angeles cooking expert, select a young chicken, weighing about 3½ pounds. Season pieces of chicken with salt and pepper, dredge with flour, and fry in hot fat until brown. Place in casserole, add water and cook in hot oven, 1½ degrees F. for one hour. Keep the cover on the casserole.

As They Cook It "Out West"

Pacific Coast fried chicken is delicious. You have the word of Mrs. Belle Dettler for that. Mrs. Dettler is a domestic science counselor in San Francisco.

For this dish cut one medium sized young chicken as for fricassee, sprinkle each piece with salt and pepper and dredge with flour. Heat four tablespoons butter or chicken fat in frying pan. Fry chicken until well browned. Cover with 1½ cups water. Add one tablespoon minced onion and cook until the chicken is tender, about a few minutes. When chicken is done, remove to serving plate. If any liquid remains in pan, drain off in cup.

Put 2 tablespoons of butter in the pan. Add 2 tablespoons of flour. Mix until smooth. Then add 2 cups of milk or cream and liquid left to make 2 cups. Stir constantly. Then add one tablespoon finely shredded green pepper, and 1½ teaspoons salt. Simmer a few minutes, then pour around, not over the chicken.

To prepare the green pepper pour boiling water over it and let stand 10 minutes. Shred with scissors.

Two Southern Methods

Miss Rose Michaelis, New Orleans domestic science specialist, comes from the south, where chicken is one of the most popular dishes. She gives two southern ways of preparing it.

For southern broiled chicken, she says, select a very young chicken. Clean, singe, and split it down the back. It will almost lie flat. Season with salt and pepper, and brush melted butter over it. Have a broiler ready over a moderate fire. Place chicken in it, and let it broil slowly for a half hour or a little longer if the chicken is not so tender.

Turn the chicken once in a while to brown both sides. When done, place on a heated platter which has been garnished with sprigs of parsley or lettuce leaves. Pour melted butter over chicken, and serve hot.

With Brown Sauce

Chicken prepared with brown sauce is good served with rice, Miss Michaelis says. Here are the ingredients:

1 chicken
1 tablespoon lard
1 sprig each of thyme, parsley, and bay leaf
1 onion
1 tablespoon flour, salt and pepper to taste

Clean and cut chicken in small pieces. Season with salt and pepper. Chop onion fine. Put lard into deep pot. When hot add onion and let brown. Add butter, let brown, and add chicken. Let simmer a few minutes with thyme, parsley, and bay leaf chopped fine. Stir often. When all is nicely brown, add 1½ pints boiling water. Stir until it begins to boil.

If necessary, add more salt and pepper. Cover and let simmer until tender (about an hour). The chicken, liver, and heart may be cooked with sauce, and served with boiled rice.

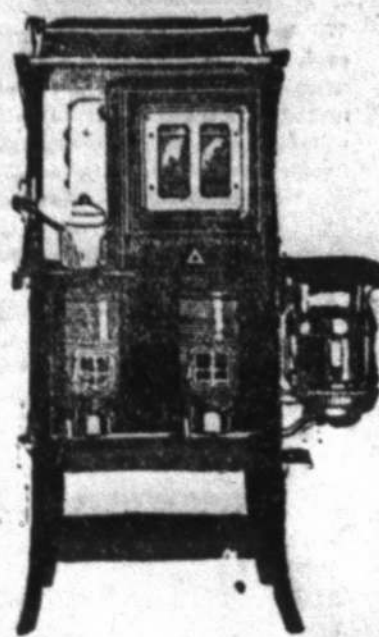

No matter if you are a young or old, you can make it taste good if you choose one of these recipes.

New Toaster

It really pays to invest in a good toaster which lasts a life-time. Many hardware stores are displaying a new blue-plated toaster. It makes four evenly browned slices of toast at a time. It does hot work. Very handy too, for crisping breakfast cereals. Its handle is ever cool. It can be used with equally good results on oil, wood, coal, or gas stoves.
