TO KEEP UP WITH THE RUSSIANS

Defense chief urges more arms

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Donald Rumsfeld urged Congress today to act now to reverse a dangerous military power shift toward Russia, warning that "confidence in the future adequacy of our force structure is gradually declining."

Gen. George S. Brown, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, supported Rumsfeld's plea.

During the past year, Brown told the House Armed Services Committee, the extent of the Soviet Union's improvements in strategic nuclear striking forces has been "somewhat greater than anticipated."

The two Pentagon leaders said, in effect, that Congress must be prepared to vote a record $100.1 billion defense spending budget for next year to maintain American strength so that the United States can achieve an equitable nuclear arms limitation agreement with Russia.

Rumsfeld indicated the Pentagon may move to build a bigger fleet of missile-firing Trident super-submarines. The additional Tridents, which cost about $1.5 billion each, might replace some older submarines and land-based Minuteman missiles which may become vulnerable to Soviet attack in the future.

In his first formal report to Congress as secretary of defense, Rumsfeld said current U.S. forces are adequate to balance Russia's present arms strength. But, he said, "confidence in the future adequacy of our force structure is gradually declining."

"Because of the trends — reductions on our part and Soviet military expansion — there has been a gradual shift in the power balance over the past 15 years," Rumsfeld said.

"In light of the momentum of Soviet military programs of all kinds, it will continue to shift unless U.S. defense outlays are increased in real terms."

Rumsfeld's report, prepared for his appearance before the House Armed Services Committee, was the opening gun of the Ford administration's battle for its record $100.1 billion defense spending budget.

"Security is not available at bargain basement rates," Rumsfeld said.

The fiscal 1977 defense budgets calls for a spending boost of $8.9 billion.

But construction of a fleet of giant new Trident missile-firing submarines, plus decisions yet to come on producing the advanced B1 bomber and more powerful land-based missiles, could cost the United States at least $65 billion over the next 10 years, according to current Pentagon estimates.

The new defense secretary's positions on major weapons programs and other key defense policies coincided generally with those held by James R. Schlesinger, whom he replaced last November after Schlesinger was fired by President Ford.

Among other things, Rumsfeld embraced Schlesinger's controversial policy designed to give the president options to retaliate with nuclear weapons against limited military and other targets rather than wiping out Soviet cities. Critics have argued this policy might make nuclear war more "thinkable."

Schlesinger wanted a bigger budget for fiscal 1977 to overcome the effects of money cuts made by Congress in past years.

Rumsfeld said improvements in U.S. military forces — including a variety of sophisticated new fighter planes, tanks, warships and other conventional weapons, as well as new strategic missiles and bombers — "are essential if we are to have continued deterrence, stability and detente."

Without such improvements, he warned, the United States and its allies will become vulnerable because of Soviet momentum in deploying huge new missiles, a big and modern navy, a heavily armored and mobile army, and a hard-hitting air force equipped with faster, more agile jets.

"To reduce the danger, we must begin to act now," Rumsfeld said.

The Pentagon chief contended that detente is "a hope and an experiment" so far. He said "it makes sense to seek a reasonable accommodation of our differences" with Russia.

The Defense Department "would be agreeable to lower levels" of strategic nuclear striking forces than are provided in the Vladivostok understanding, provided Russian offensive capability were to decline, he said. "To have any prospect of such a result, however, we have to recognize that the Soviets negotiate seriously... only when they face real (not paper) programs with significant military capabilities and congressional support," Rumsfeld said.

In the past 10 years, Rumsfeld's report said, the Russians have come from far back to outnumber U.S. land-based missile forces by 1,500 to 1,054 ICBMs and submarine-launched missiles by 850 to 656.

The Soviets still trail the United States by 8,900 to 3,500 in strategic nuclear warheads, but Rumsfeld said they are closing the gap with the deployment of multiple warheads.

The United States leads in strategic bombers with 421 aircraft, mostly aging B52s, to 180 Soviet bombers. But the Russians have started deploying their new supersonic Backfire bomber, which Rumsfeld said "has the capability to strike the United States." The Backfire is one of the issues that has been holding up a new U.S.-Soviet nuclear arms limitation pact.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House voted today to override President Ford's veto of a $45 billion labor-health, education and welfare appropriation, adding momentum to a Democratic drive to expand spending on social programs.

The vote was 310-113, 28 more than the two-thirds needed.

CALL SPECIAL SESSION FRIDAY

Will discuss proposed water rate ordinance

The city council has called a special session for 9 a.m. Friday for a second reading of the proposed water rate ordinance.

The second reading was to have been today. However, a mistake was found in the original presentation and the water rate increase was changed to correct the error and re-read on first reading.

The city manager, who was at a Texas Water Quality Board meeting seeking sewer funds during the last meeting, told the council that when he returned, he noticed that the proposed revenue from the change in the minimum rate had been added in to the figures twice.

Because of this, the total revenue derived from the proposed change was listed as too high. The manager asked the council today to leave unchanged the change on minimum rates as it was presented last council meeting at $4.25 for the first 3,000 gallons rather than $3.30 as it has been in the past.

The council was told that Odessa this week went to a $4.50 base rate for 2,000 gallons instead of 3,000. Both cities recently accepted increases from the Colorado River Municipal Water District for the cost of water.

The rate above 3,000 gallons, however, will jump to 75 cents per 100 gallons instead of 60 per 100 gallons above minimum. This was approved on first reading, with a special meeting to be called for Friday for a second reading.

It was pointed out by Tom Ferguson, city secretary, that the water bill from CRMWD has already gone up and the water each month is costing the city $14,000 above what it was last year.

The special meeting Friday will allow approval in time for the rate increase to pass on to the customer on March 1. This will still find the city over $28,000 behind on cost of water.

Ferguson also told the city that due to rains during 1975, the water revenue was substantially down and that there was a shortage of a projected $142,000 not transferred from the water and sewer department into the general fund.

NOTIFIERS COUNCIL

He told the group that, at the end of 90 days, if the transfer was not possible, he was to notify the city council which he was doing at this time. As the water revenue fund increases, the transfer will be made.

Council members, upon hearing of these conditions, moved that the water rate increase be passed on emergency reading. Councilman Eddie Acri voted "No." An emergency reading can only be approved if it is unanimous. At this point, the second meeting was called for a second reading on the rate increase.

In other action, the council conferred with Marshall Day, representing the group from Sand Springs desiring to incorporate.

FAIR AND MILD

Fair through Wednesday. High today in the mid 50s. Low tonight, low 30s. High Wednesday, mid 60s. Southerly to southwesterly wind 5-15 miles per hour this afternoon and tonight.

Councilman Hall explained that the city firmly believed that it must keep its two mile jurisdictional limit, but would be glad to help the group apply to incorporate if they would stay outside that limitation. He offered the services of the city staff if they needed it to determine the jurisdictional limits. The council denied the Sand Springs request.

HEAVY AGENDA

In other action, the council set a proposed meeting with county commissioners to discuss an emergency medical system with the meeting to be held Feb. 5 at 6.

Commissioners were also told that the chief of general planning for the Corps of Engineers will be here Feb. 10 to discuss the Beal's Creek project.

THE COUNCIL ALSO:

- approved on final reading a plumber's request for Schedule 40 plastic pipe to be required;
- granted permission to advertise for a budgeted item of additional fire hose;
- approved a token bid of $25 from the YMCA for footage of land next to their property so that they can enlarge their handball courts;
- awarded a bid for two lots in Banks Subdivision to Jimmy Jolly for the only bid of $640;

- approved the traffic commission minutes and a priority list for future stop signs or traffic markers;
- approved the minutes of both the parks and recreation board and the detoxification steering committee;
- turned down a request to Frontier Advertising Co. to place a billboard on city land near the cemetery until Mayor Pro-tem Polly Mays can check the area to see if the sign would be in good taste at that location;
- approved paying the balance of expenses for the Big Spring-Howard County juvenile office, although councilmen expressed alarm that the expenses at the office have shown a large jump for two consecutive years;
- approved the first reading of a resolution authorizing the mayor to enter into agreement with Crim Engineering to do the engineering work for proposed sewer improvements;
- heard a Goals for Big Spring report from Tom Locke;
- heard a request from the industrial foundation that the city negotiate for the railroad spur near Webb declared surplus by the federal government.

Acri, Choate, Hall, Crocker enter race

By MARI CARPENTER

The city political pot began to boil and bubble this morning immediately after the regular council meeting when the election was officially called for April 3.

The three incumbents are Mayor Wade Choate, Councilman Harold Hall, place one, and Councilman Eddie Acri, place two.

When asked immediately after the meeting by the press if they intended to file for re-election, both Mayor Choate and Hall said "yes" and Acri answered, "I will let you know."

However, Acri was the first to place his filing in the hands of the city secretary. His filing application was already filled out and signed. Acri is filing for Place 1, rather than his own position, Place 2, and he will run against Harold Hall.

Mayor Choate followed Acri out in the corridors and asked him if this is what he had decided to do. Acri told the mayor, "Yes."

Hall was then told that if he desired, he could file for Place 2, presently held by Acri. Hall answered, "I will run for my same position. I have done the best I know how in this position and do not intend to hop around running for somebody else's spot. This is fine."

Jack Watkins, also a former councilman, told one person in the audience that he will run. When asked in the corridor, where he was talking to H. V. (Burr) Crocker, also rumored to be a probable candidate, if he had filed for the election, his answer was "No. Has anybody?"

Ten minutes after the meeting, Crocker officially filed with the city secretary for the position of mayor against Choate.

This means then that two incumbents, Hall and Acri are running against each other, with Crocker running against Mayor Choate.

This leaves Position 2, formerly held by Acri open and there may be at least two candidates for this post. All indications are that Watkins will be one of the candidates.

HONORING THE COLORS — President Ford and Israeli Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin, right, pause before the color guard as they inspected the honor guard that welcomed Rabin outside the White House today. Army Col. Robert H. Clark, commander of the troops stands between them. Rabin's visit is an effort to further peace efforts in the Middle East.

Ford reaffirms support for Israel to Minister Rabin

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford welcomed Israeli Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin today with a reaffirmation of American support for Israel's security and a call for increased efforts for Middle East peace.

The President greeted Rabin in a driving rainstorm at ceremonies held before some 2,000 spectators standing outside the White House.

Ford and Rabin stood bareheaded with rainwater dripping from their ears and noses as the U.S. Army band played the national anthems of the United States and Israel.

In his remarks, Ford spoke of "the deepened friendship of our two countries." He added that he wanted to "reaffirm on behalf of the American people the friendship... and commitment to the security of Israel."

Rabin, alluding to the storm, told the President that in Israel "rain means blessing."

The Israeli official repeated Ford's concerns for the need of a Middle East peace and said: "Israel will continue to do all that can be done" to further peace efforts.

Several times in his remarks, Ford indicated he hoped Rabin would show a greater effort to find ways to reach a Middle East settlement.

The effort to put together a common strategy to reach such a settlement is one of the overall aims of Rabin's state visit.

During his 12-day visit, Rabin will concentrate on holding on to American diplomatic support and restoring threatened multi-million-dollar U.S. aid cuts.

Bush still faces test

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite being ruled out as a potential vice presidential candidate, George Bush still faces a residue of opposition to his confirmation as CIA director.

"We're not anticipating a defeat," one administration official said. He added, however, that about 20 to 25 no votes are expected when the Senate votes today on Bush.

"He's pretty nervous about it," the official said of Bush. "He wants to get it over with." It has been nearly three months since President Ford first chose Bush to succeed William E. Colby.

Opposition had centered on Bush's past as chairman of the Republican National Committee during the Nixon administration.

In a prepared speech Monday, Sen. Thomas J. McIntyre, D-N.H., called the Bush nomination "an insensitive affront to the American people." McIntyre said Bush's clear identification with party politics would destroy what is left of public confidence in the CIA.

Hearst trial begins

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Patricia Hearst's long-awaited trial for bank robbery was to begin today under tight security, with jury selection likely to focus on attitudes toward kidnap victims, radicals and the wealthy. Miss Hearst, meanwhile, was described by one of her attorneys, Albert Johnson, as "apprehensive as anyone in her position would be" as the trial approached.

PLO threatens escalation

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The Palestine Liberation Organization threatened to intensify its armed struggle against Israel following American veto of a U.N. Security Council resolution calling for an independent state in Palestine for the Palestinians and Israeli withdrawal from all territory it occupied in the 1967 Six-Day War. The 15-nation council ended a two-week debate on the Arab-Israeli dispute Monday night with a 9-1 vote in favor of the resolution. But the lone negative vote was cast by the United States, as expected, and constituted a veto.

Colby was CIA 'leak'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Amid charges and countercharges over the leakage of intelligence secrets turned over to the House intelligence committee, CIA director William E. Colby has acknowledged that he too was once an anonymous source for a 1973 newspaper story exposing CIA contacts with journalists. Colby and other Ford administration officials accused the House panel Monday of violating its oath by disclosing top-secret intelligence operations contained in the committee's final report which was to be released this Friday but which was leaked to the news media over the weekend.

Angolan Reds launch attack

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — The Soviet-backed Popular Movement (MPLA) has launched a three-prong attack against the Western-backed National Union (UNITA) in central Angola, British correspondents reported today from Luanda, the MPLA capital. The attack by the MPLA and its Cuban allies against the towns of Huambo, Silva Porto and Lobito was spearheaded by at least 50 old Russian T34 tanks armed with 75mm cannon, an MPLA spokesman told Nicholas Ashford of The Times of London.

We 'tolerate' a problem

The story about a former Mafia leader who was quoted as saying "Texas is a great big watermelon ripe for the plucking" might have shaken up a lot of people. The truth is, Texas has always had an abundance of crime — seamy and sophisticated, white-collar and juvenile, felonious and misdemeanor — but little of it dictated by lords of the underworld.

There is tremendous wealth in the state and those eyeing the organization of a crime syndicate find it a great temptation.

Attorney General John Hill suggests that law-enforcement agencies across the state are not coordinated in their effort to battle organized crime. Often there is far too much jealousy between the various agencies set up to defeat or track down the criminal. Too, the peace officers usually lack some of the tools necessary to control and reduce the incidence of organized crime.

When organized crime moves into a community, it concentrates mainly on narcotics, prostitution, loan-sharking and man's weakness for gambling. When local lawmen set about to break up these illicit operations, they are prone to put the arm on the lackies in the business. The bosses invariably escape harassment. The criminals immediately set about to reorganize their operation, with different personnel.

Stronger action is needed by our law-makers in Austin to provide law-enforcement agencies with the equipment and the clout to combat organized crime.

Organized crime prospers to the extent it does by exploiting human weaknesses. If a football fan wants to make a five-dollar bet on a football parlay card, he resists the idea that it is illegal, even though he probably has been told that the syndicate always has a piece of the action.

The incidence of crime could be reduced on any level, if man did not support his vices. Because he won't, he then must pay dearly to let some agency do it for him. He's been willing to do that thus far, but the agencies he supports are becoming costlier all the time.

Al Capone was convinced he was a vital and necessary part of society in Chicago because he provided mankind there with services it wanted. Organized crime anywhere operates with much the same philosophy in 1976.

Who will be nominee?

It shouldn't be long before other candidates take the cue of North Carolina's Terry Sanford and drop out of the sweepstakes for the Democratic Party's nominee for the Presidency.

The field is now ten and should experience other deletions once a few of the primaries are out of the way.

A thoroughly political animal in Washington, D. C., remarked before a group of editors recently assembled there that Hubert Humphrey has been pretty well painted into a corner and can't win any direction he takes, that a race by Sen. Lloyd Bentsen of Texas will be an exercise in futility, that Morris Udall of Arizona has no real constituency with which to work, that Teddy Kennedy is committed not to run, that Gov. Shapp of Pennsylvania is seeing a lot of the country but piling up no support, that the candidacy of Scoop

Jackson appeals to a lot of voters but the Washington senator's stance on some issues probably would deprive him of a win.

George Wallace's lure is still largely limited to the South, according to the speaker, although he is showing some strength in the early going.

Who did the speaker think was bids fair to lap the others and wind up with the nomination? After what happened in Iowa recently, this shouldn't be too surprising. He reasons Jimmy Carter of Georgia could and likely will emerge as the Democrats' Man of the Hour in November. He says Carter has an amazing ability to communicate with the voters and, equally important, to wind up in front of the television cameras and in the newspapers.

His analysis is interesting, to say the least. Whether he's right is something else again. We shall see.

Bribing daddy

Around the rim

Troy Bryant

One of the most exciting parts about being a kid, aside from Christmas, is a trip to grandmother's house.

So, when we departed Friday for the homes of two of my three-year-old Jan's grandparents, she was really excited.

ALL WEEK we had been using the trip as enticement to get her to be good, go to bed, quit pulling the dog's tail and things like that.

When Thursday night rolled around, she knew just what was going on when we started packing suitcases.

Her mother started out packing Jan's suitcase, but was called away for a few minutes to talk on the phone.

Jan, who had been helping her mother round up clothes, took the opportunity to do some packing of her own.

When her mother returned, all the drawers in her chest were almost empty and the stack of clothes in the suitcase was at least three feet high.

After that, it was pretty smooth until we got ready to go. She picked out her favorite toys, including a naked, bald, tattered and torn doll which she had gotten on her first Christmas and supervised the placing of her toys, pillows, suitcases and other menial tasks of putting the things in the car. Guess who did all the work.

ON THE ROAD, things began to liven up somewhat. Jan was dissatisfied because she was assigned the back seat so she could stretch out and go to sleep.

"Daddy, if you let me get in the front seat, I'll give you a BIG lollipop," she said.

No.

"I'll give you some candy."

No.

"I'll give you some 'schlocate' ice cream."

After that matter was settled and she rode awhile on my lap, we tried to get her to go to sleep.

She would sing, hollar, talk to 'Nanny and Granddaddy' on her toy phone, and tell us, 'I gotta go to the bathroom.'

Three bathroom stops and 150-miles later, we were 30 miles from grandma's and there was no sign of her going to sleep.

THEN, IT happened. She went to sleep only 10 miles from grandma's house. Fifteen minutes later she was wide awake again, greeting her grandparents.

The trip back was not as difficult. Although we came back during daylight hours, she slept a little more.

Then, only a block away from home, she said:

"Daddy, it's time for Christmas again. I want a Christmas tree."

Still Christmas

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — You would think by now that Christmas would be over. But for millions of children in America, it isn't.

I DISCOVERED this when I visited the Carmichaels the other evening. As I walked into the house, Mrs. Carmichael was yelling at her 12-year-old son. "No, you're not going to any movie until you write your grandmother, thanking her for the lovely scarf she sent you for Christmas."

"Aw, Ma, I'll write her tomorrow."

"You've been saying that for three weeks. You haven't written one thank-you note, and you're going to do it tonight. And while you're at it, you can thank Uncle Arthur and Aunt Sue for the fruitcake."

"Who are Uncle Arthur and Aunt Sue?"

"They're not really your uncle and aunt. Uncle Arthur works in Daddy's office. He's Daddy's boss."

"Good grief."

AND DON'T forget to write a note to Uncle Lester who sent you the Washington Redskins wool hat that didn't fit."

"Should I tell him it didn't fit?"

"Don't you dare. Tell him it was perfect and just what you wanted."

"That's stupid. I didn't want it, and if it doesn't fit, why should I say I liked it?"

"Because when someone sends you a gift, you're supposed to thank him."

Mrs. Carmichael took out a list and said, "There are several more people you have to thank. Grandma Collins sent you a sweater, Aunt Harriet a pair of gloves, Uncle Jack and Aunt Arlene a Walt Disney cereal plate. Wait a minute — I think Aunt Arlene sent you the gloves and Uncle Jack the Walt Disney plate. I can't make out my own handwriting."

"Why can't I say 'Thanks for the gift'?" Tommy wanted to know.

"Because it's not personal enough. Tell them it was the best gift you got all Christmas, and it was just what you wanted."

"You want me to say that about a Walt Disney cereal plate?"

"I don't care what they sent you," Mrs. Carmichael said. "It's what they want to hear that counts."

HOW'S THIS? Tommy said as he was writing. "Dear Uncle Jack and Aunt Arlene. Thanks for the great Walt Disney plate. I really liked it and would have eaten from it except my sister Estelle stepped on it and broke it the same day."

"You don't have to mention Estelle broke it," said Mrs. Carmichael. "Just say you love it and had wanted one for three years."

"I thought you told me I wasn't supposed to lie."

"That's not lying. Well, it may be lying, but it's all right to fib where Christmas gifts are concerned. If everyone told the truth about the gifts he received, there would be no Christmas."

"I'll never get to the movies," Tommy protested.

"Start writing," Mrs. Carmichael said, "and be careful of your spelling."

"Boy," said Tommy, "adults sure take the fun out of Christmas."

Less Likely

Rowland Evans

LOS ANGELES — Non-candidate Hubert H. Humphrey was, on the surface, the totally committed candidate during three hyperactive days here recently, but beneath the surface was making his nomination for President more remote and completely dependent on external events.

"I can assure you," Sen. Humphrey told a close California political associate who asked him about published reports that he would enter some key primary elections, "that I have no intention — no intention whatsoever — of entering any primary." This was the message repeated by Humphrey, privately and publicly, with uncharacteristic consistency to anyone who asked during his Southern California sojourn.

THAT LIMITS flexibility even for someone so adept in changing directions during a generation in bigtime politics. Without flexibility to enter a few late primaries, Humphrey's chances become totally dependent upon an absolute deadline at Madison Square Garden in July. How likely is Humphrey's last hurrah nomination if he really avoids all primaries? The answer from a canny party pro, until recently optimistic about Humphrey: "In the neighborhood of 3 per cent."

There exists, then, a gap between appearances and realities. The conventional and generally uninformed wisdom (shared by none less than Gerald R. Ford) sees non-candidate Humphrey pinning down the nomination while a herd of faceless announced candidates flail away without effect. In truth, however, Humphrey's most astute supporters see the nomination growing more and more distant as the actual delegate search begins.

Certainly, appearances were bright during Humphrey's swing here that crowded 31 events into 75 hours and fattened the warchest for his Senate reelection campaign in Minnesota by $40,000.

Humphrey was introduced at a reception as "the next Mr. President" by Armenian leader John Gabriel. That notion was widely shared by many contacting Humphrey here — including 40 who paid $1,000-a-couple for a private, press-excluded dinner at the Bel Air mansion of Roz Wyman, widow of Humphrey intimate and Democratic power Eugene Wyman.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: My two teenage sons both love the Lord very much, but they are very concerned about how to choose the right person to marry when the times comes. I think they are especially concerned because my husband is not a Christian, and our home life has been a struggle. — Mrs. T.R.

DEAR MRS. R.: I know you are thankful for this concern. So many young people make the same mistake you perhaps did, in thinking that lasting happiness can be found in a relationship that has no common spiritual foundation in Christ.

First, I would encourage them to commit this whole matter to the Lord now and trust Him to provide them with the mate of His choice. Believe it or not, God is more concerned about the right person for each of them than they are.

Second, they should search out what the Bible says about marriage and the characteristics of a godly wife. Chief among these characteristics is that she must be a committed Christian who will help raise her children to love and obey our Lord.

Finally, no two persons' experience is exactly the same. However, when the times comes, I believe God will give direction if they are trusting Him, both through circumstances and through the inward conviction of the Holy Spirit.

Poor man's FDR

Jack Anderson, Les Whitten

MONTGOMERY, Ala. — The 1972 presidential trail led George C. Wallace from the Governor's mansion in Alabama to the Holy Cross hospital in Maryland.

Before they wheeled him in for the emergency operation that saved his life, Wallace looked up at an attending physician and said: "Doctor, I must have been shot in the spine. I can't feel or move my legs."

NOW, ALMOST four years later, George Wallace is back on the presidential trail. But this time he's in a wheelchair; for his diagnosis was correct. A bullet struck his spine and turned out most dogged presidential candidate into a paraplegic.

Should this handicap bar him from the White House? Wallace looks upon himself as a poor man's Franklin D. Roosevelt, who successfully governed the nation from a wheelchair. But polio left FDR merely with disabled legs; Arthur Bremer's bullets left Wallace paralyzed from the waist down.

The Governor and his doctors insist that the paralysis wouldn't hamper him as President. "If you can concede that a man can run the presidency from a wheelchair," said one of his doctors, "then Wallace can be President."

Echoed Wallace fiercely: "I have not let my disability control me; I control it."

He controls it with a determination that has amazed his doctors. He has overcome most of the problems of paralysis. He shifts in his wheelchair periodically to avoid bedsores. He has learned to control his bowels. He works out with weights each morning. As one of the doctors who operated on him said: "He's one tough cookie."

Wallace conducts the business of Alabama from his wheelchair. He sometimes propels his wheelchair himself but usually for short distances only. Aides move him through the halls, hoist him into cars and bathtubs, prop him up for speeches, fetch things he is unable to reach.

The Governor says he feels no pain from his paralysis. "I have discomfort after a long time sitting in one position," he told our associate Jim Grady, "but no pain, no pain at all."

For awhile, Wallace took tegretol, a non-addictive, non-narcotic drug to ease his discomfort. He recently quit using the aspirin-like medicine. He smiled when he said: "It don't really do any good."

HE WATCHES his weight carefully, eating a light breakfast, often skipping lunch. His major meal of the day comes in the evening before he settles down for a night of phone calls.

John Cuniff

NEW YORK (AP) — The 1974 private pension act makes the future income of workers more secure but it has created a dilemma for some investment advisers, one that some of them feel can be resolved only by the courts.

The confusion centers on the interpretation of prudence, the use of which any fiduciary — that is, a handler of other people's money — must be able to demonstrate. But how do you prove prudence?

You'll find this requirement way back in the common law. For many years it meant simply that the fiduciary must manage other people's affairs in the same way a prudent man would handle his own affairs. It was the golden rule.

Then society became institutionalized. The affairs of trusts and pension funds, which hopefully will go on "forever," must be managed differently than the affairs of individuals. The "prudent expert" became the measure.

But even the experts can't figure out how to interpret the introduction of another factor by the Employees Retirement Income Security Act. Prudence, it maintains, dictates that pension funds also must be adequately diversified.

What does adequate diversification mean? Fiduciaries say they are puzzled.

There is "confusion but not exasperation," said Jerome Valentine, president of the Financial Analysts Research Foundation and vice president of Texas Commerce Bank, Houston. While defending the high standards of ERISA, he still believes "everyone will operate in a great doubt."

You may say at this point that you'll just let the experts worry about it. But it concerns you more vitally, because it's your money that's involved and it might be your pension funds that brings the clarifying court case.

As often applied, the prudent man rule means that a fiduciary may show prudence by defending the individual companies in a portfolio as having been selected wisely and responsibly.

Now that diversification is called for, that interpretation might change, but nobody knows in what way. "It's good that the law doesn't tie us down, but bad in that we don't know how the courts will interpret it," said Valentine.

Modern portfolio theory, as practiced by many trust departments, pension funds and other fiduciaries, maintains that risk is a factor of the overall character of a portfolio, not simply a characteristic of each company in the portfolio.

Lice, scabies on rise

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

By KATHRYN JOHNSON
(Substituting for Dr. G. C. Thosteson)

ATLANTA (AP) — A child hangs his overcoat on a hook next to a friend's coat at school. A few weeks later, his mother finds tiny white eggs on his hair. He has hair lice.

The Center for Disease Control here says lice — and scabies, a skin disease also caused by parasites — are more common in the United States now than at any time since World War II.

Neither is considered a public health problem, said Dr. Dennis Juranek, assistant chief of the CDC's parasitic disease branch. "They are just nuisances."

And where both once carried a social stigma and generally were associated with wartime conditions, poor hygiene and persons on a low socioeconomic level, Juranek said, today's rising incidence cuts across economic lines.

Persons in all social and economic levels are affected, he said.

Reports from 280 dermatologists indicated cases of both on the rise, Juranek said. For scabies alone, 249 doctors noted increasing numbers of patients with the parasite, a CDC report showed.

Nevertheless, he said, the CDC is making no great effort to determine why head lice and scabies are occurring across economic strata — "It doesn't make any difference as far as we can determine."

"The last big incidence of scabies was after World War II. We don't know why it — or head lice — are on the rise. There are a lot of theories — some people think they occur in 20-year cycles."

Lice do not jump from one child's head to another, the scientist said. They are very slow-moving, he said. They may be transmitted from one friend's coat to another, or by borrowing a friend's jacket.

"It's all a matter of degree of contact, such as children wrestling or playing with each other," he said.

The house sucks its host's blood, then moves on to another victim. Scabies, a skin disease characterized by small pimples or blisters that itch, is caused by a parasite so minute it can be seen only with a microscope.

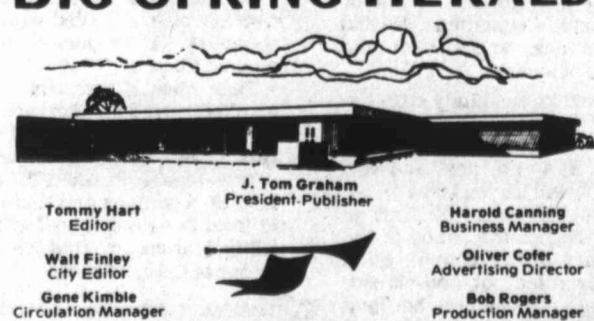

Scabies, he said, is transmitted by close physical contact — most often by sleeping in bed with an infested person.

The CDC has issued a pamphlet for state health officials, recommending that schools systematically check to determine which children have lice and treat them. Some schools have begun such programs.

"Blacks are rarely infested with head lice," Juranek said. "We don't know why. It mostly affects persons other than black — whites, orientals, Spanish-Americans."

Both lice and scabies are treated with medication. Juranek said the procedure is a simple one.

REHEARSING THEIR ROLES — Olympic hostesses discuss their roles Monday during rehearsals for the opening ceremonies of the 12th Winter Olympic Games scheduled to begin Feb. 4 at Innsbruck, Austria. Their outfits feature Tyrolean-style hats and winter capes.

17th CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT

Wrinkle named chief of Citizens For Reagan

Winston Wrinkle, Big Spring radio station owner, has been named chairman of the Citizens for Reagan Committee within the 17th Congressional District.

In his new role, Wrinkle will head the presidential campaign for the former California governor, Ronald Reagan, in all the counties embraced by the district now served by Democratic Congressman Omar Burleson.

Wrinkle was active in the successful John Tower senatorial campaigns in 1966 and 1972. He also served as a member of the GOP state executive committee in 1968-70 and was Republican deputy state chairman from 1970 to 1973.

The local man was also named as a delegate to the Republican National Conventions in 1968 and 1972 but had to decline the second time around due to a health problem.

Wrinkle was assigned to his new post by Mayor Ernest Angelo of Midland, GOP state co-chairman.

Wrinkle revealed that more than 35 signatures in Howard County and more than 50 in Taylor County had been obtained on a petition which qualifies Reagan as a candidate for a position on the ticket in District 17 in the upcoming Republican primary election. Only 17 signatures were required within District 17 to make Reagan eligible for the race. Requests for petitions supporting Reagan were also received from Floyd, Young and Palo Pinto counties.

Unemployment may double tax rate

AUSTIN (AP) — Increased unemployment in Texas will almost double the average tax rate paid by employers, Texas Employment Commission officials said today.

However, the sharp increase will be felt only by some of the 209,000 employers while many will have no change in their tax rates, said Henry Rothell, administrator of the Texas Employment Commission.

The 1976 tax rate notices are being mailed to employers covered by the TEC act.

Rothell said that during 1975, $175 million was paid out in unemployment benefits in Texas but only $60 million was channeled back into the TEC fund through employer-paid taxes.

At the end of the year the unemployment benefits trust fund totaled $227 million. Rothell predicted that the fund would remain solvent through 1976 unless the economy takes a steep downturn.

He said the rate for each employer is determined according to his employment experience, or employee turnover, in the past three years.

"Thus those who have had a moderate to high turnover within the past three years will pay a higher tax in 1976," Rothell said.

This year 73.8 per cent of employers will be taxed at the minimum rate of one-tenth of one per cent, the same as that paid by most last year. Another 2.9 per cent will pay the maximum rate of 4 per cent, which could mean a 4,000 per cent increase over last year.

Officials laud county librarian

County Librarian Susan Conley was commended by Howard County commissioners Monday for a year-end report presented at the meeting of the group.

Commissioner Simon Terrazas pointed out that "We have never had such a complete and well done library report since I have been on the court."

Ms. Conley pointed out that one in four persons in the county is using the library, which is more than have ever used it during past years.

She also counted reference questions directed to the library over a two-month period which totaled 1,424. She furnished the court with statistics on the building and space in the basement which might be utilized in the future.

The budget of the library has doubled in the past four years, as has the number of books.

She also displayed two books completely ruined in the book drop when it rained and water leaked in the unit. She asked for a book drop where books would end up inside the building.

Other details were also available including number of adults using the facility, number of children, special programs such as the story hour and other services offered.

Schedule coin show at Hobbs

HOBBS, N. M. — The Lea County Coin Club has scheduled a Feb. 29 coin show at the VFW Hall. The hall is located on North Turner St.

Numerous dealers will set up displays for the public. No admission will be charged and the public is invited to attend. Hours will be from 8 a.m. until 6 p.m.

ORDERED TO AID IN ARREST

Youth fined for not helping officer

HOUSTON (AP) — An 18-year-old high school senior was charged Monday night with failing to render aid to an off-duty, out-of-uniform officer who was arresting a shoplifting suspect.

Officer Virgil E. Wooley

'Parity and abundance'

Those interested in helping to form a boll weevil eradication program will meet 7:30 tonight in the Howard County Fair Barn.

Bruce Griffith, Howard County extension agent, will be guest speaker for the evening. Also, a film entitled "Parity and Abundance", dealing with various government farm programs, will be shown.

All Howard County farmers and ranchers are urged to attend.

said he filed the municipal court charge against Erik Mrok after Mrok did not respond to an order for assistance on the Sharpstown Center parking lot.

Mrok was released after posting a $52.50 bond.

Wooley said he filed the seldom used city ordinance charge after being told a similar state statute had been repealed in 1973.

Wooley said he ordered Mrok to help him handcuff the suspect he said had pulled a knife on him. The policeman said he did not file against other persons who were nearby because the youth was closer than the others.

"It's called proximity," he said. "The man was immediately next to me."

Mrok said he asked Wooley three times for his identification and each time the officer replied, "I'm a police officer and I order you to help me."

Two other security guards from the shopping center then arrived and helped subdue the suspect, Mrok said.

One of the security guards, Mrok said, handcuffed one of his hands and led him through a department store to an office where he was held two hours while Wooley filled out a report and confirmed on the telephone about the charge.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Tyler Moore said the repealed state law that required citizens to aid police officers requesting help carried a maximum penalty of a $100 fine. The city ordinance carries a maximum $200 fine.

Caucus 'setback' for Bentsen

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Sen. Lloyd M. Bentsen of Texas, who trailed the pack of Democratic presidential hopefuls in last weekend's Mississippi caucuses, says the development was a setback for him.

However, he said he doesn't think Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey will jump into the fray and he doesn't think any of the contenders will have a clear advantage going into the party's national convention in July.

Gov. George C. Wallace, who emerged the victor in Mississippi, will arrive at the convention site with the most delegate votes committed to him, Bentsen predicted, "but he won't be on the final ticket ... He just won't get a majority."

Bentsen, a Houston businessman, was here and at St. Joseph Monday for meetings with area businessmen.

He said he expected the national convention to pass through three or four ballots before deciding on a presidential nominee and based his prediction on the large number of candidates. Noting Wallace's 3-1 victory over former Georgia Gov. Jimmy Carter in Mississippi and Carter's victory in the Iowa caucuses, Bentsen said, "I think somebody else might win in Oklahoma," and added he would concentrate his forces for that effort, scheduled for Feb. 7.

"That's Fred Harris' home state and Jimmy Carter has been working the hell out of it," Bentsen said.

After Oklahoma, Bentsen said he will pursue delegates in several Midwestern states and then focus on New Mexico, Utah, California and Texas.

But good cigar is a smoke

MODESTO, Calif. (AP) — Joseph Jefferson Floyd, who celebrates his 100th birthday next Sept. 14, is a regular cigar smoker. When asked whether he has smoked cigars all his life, he answered: "No," with a hint of annoyance, "I'm not through yet."

Company won't cut Big Thicket timber

DIBOLL, Tex. (AP) — The chairman of an East Texas company says the integrity of the firm is more important than the money it would lose for deciding not to cut timber it discovered is within the area of the Big Thicket National Preserve.

Arthur Temple, chairman of Temple-Eastex Inc., said that when the 410-acre tract of timber was bought in March 1974, "we presumed on the basis of several park bills then under consideration that its location was outside the boundaries of the proposed preserve."

Temple said it was only after the tract was defined by survey in the federal register that the company realized the timber was within the preserve boundary.

"We paid $34,000 for the timber but would rather lose the money than cut the trees," Temple said.

"Temple-Eastex has long been a supporter of the Big Thicket Preserve. More than 30,000 acres of company land were withdrawn from our harvest schedule for nine years, until the preserve boundaries were determined. Painful as it is to lose the money, the integrity of Temple-Eastex is more important."

Theme for Bicen gem show picked

"See the U. S. A. the Rockhound Way" was selected as the theme for the Bicentennial Gem and Mineral Show to be held on March 6 and 7 in the Dora Roberts Building at the Fair Grounds.

Committees met Friday evening at the home of Charles Leek, president of the Big Spring Prospectors Club, sponsors of the annual show for the past six years. Donna Chaney, co-chairman of the 1976 show, provided information about the Michigan Lapidary Supply, Detroit, Mich., and Raytech Industries, Stafford Springs, Conn., new participants in this year's show.

Returning with new material are Bill Vance, Portales, N. M., the Farmers, Valley Mills, Tex., and the Craigs, Yorktown, Tex. From several requests for space at the Gem and Mineral Show, Dadrock N. Z., Remuera, Auckland, New Zealand, were selected to be invited.

Police, sheriff's deputies and members of the U. S. Air Force will be admitted to the show free with their I.D. Youth organizations accompanied by their adult sponsor will be admitted free Saturday morning only. More information can be obtained by calling Donna Chaney at 3-2781 or Lt. Col. (ret.) John H. Samuel at 7-2616.

The Bicentennial Gem and Mineral Show will have sales, noncompetitive exhibits and working demonstrations.

MAP, NOT MASTER PLAN

Goals for Big Spring presented to judge

Tom Locke, chairman of Goals for Big Spring, presented the first completed copy of the report to County Judge Bill Tune Monday morning at Howard County Commissioners Court.

A second copy will be presented today to Mayor Wade Choate and others will go to the school board and the board of trustees of Howard College.

Locke pointed out that the report is a compilation of the desires of citizens of Big Spring and Howard County who took time to attend the Town Hall meetings during 1975.

"It is a roadmap, not a master plan," Locke pointed out, "to guide all of us as we attempt to help Big Spring grow and progress."

Judge Bill Tune, Commissioners Jack Buchanan and Bill Crocker all commented on the time that it required to compile the report. They thanked Locke and his committee for their work.

The report includes objectives, in more or less orders of priority in the fields of health, education, government, community relations, design, culture and entertainment, housing, economy and parks and recreation.

Key items in the different divisions include a desire for cleaning of vacant lots and abandoned structures, air conditioning of schools, more cooperation between governmental agencies, publicizing of public services, development of a plan for traffic plans, zoning, and continued beautification. Also establishment of a supervised youth center, encouragement of the renovation of older homes and businesses, providing the industrial foundation with sufficient funds to encourage more aggressive efforts to recruit new industry and improving the existing park facilities.

Beard growing registration

Registration for the Big Spring Jaycee's beard growing contest begins Feb. 1, and continues until June 4. Those wishing to register may do so at the office of the Chamber of Commerce for $1.

Final judging will take place on July 4. Entrants may qualify in three categories: neatest beard, longest beard and ugliest beard.

The only qualification for beard growers is that they be clean shaven when registering.

'CHARLESTON' CHEERED

Crowd roared when they played it again, Sam

They did it again. Campus Revue '76, "Play It Again, Sam" is all that it had been predicted to be and more.

Spirited dancing, a good balance of topnotch singing, a touch of patriotism and a bit of America is on the stage at the high school at 8 p.m. again today, Thursday, Friday and Saturday for the annual Big Spring High School band extravaganza.

Bill Bradley, Gene Currie, Todd Lane, Dois Pace, and Steve Waggoner can be proud of the production, of which Donny Green and Kim Andrews were production assistants.

JOKES

Paul Ruiz, who has appeared all year around Big Spring as a young teen-age Uncle Sam came through with flying colors — of red, white and blue. A quick change artist in clothing and a remarkable speaker, he hung it all together while David Trim, playing everything from Benjamin Franklin to Santa Claus was the scene stealer of the evening.

The deletion of the stand-up jokes added to the production and the magic shows of Kerry Whitley and Joe Edwards, along with a few cornpone numbers by a variety of entertainers such as Jana Porter, Eddie Grizzard and Donny Green tied it all together for the back stage crews.

JAZZ

From the chill-rendering finale of "Yankee Doodle Dandy," "The Grand Ol Flag," and the "Battle Hymn of the Republic" with solos by Sherry Huckabee, Cindy Cowan, Raymond Pekowski, Tamera Hart and Janet Ivery all the way back to Paul Prather and Janet's opener, the group held everybody's attention.

All of the patriotic numbers were not heavy. They included "Take an Indian to Lunch," handled by Green along with Ben Walker, Cary Hise, Leslie White and a chorus. They also included a "Sell Manhattan" routine featuring much the same group. Dancers in this routine included Charla Hamner, Tammy Worthan, Lisa Kelly, Melody Dabney, Raymond Pekowski, Elias Chavez, Joe Deanda and Scott McGuire.

Miki Reed, John Martin, Twayne Bledsoe and Keith McGuire, along with Bobby Mills and a chorus also brought humor with "Yankee Doodle Jazz."

A lot of different numbers were chained together through nostalgia of America including summer songs, such as Janet Ivery's rendition of "Summertime," Margaret McGee's "Ring Them Bells," contemporary summer selections and Walker and Angie Fulham in "Anything You Can Do."

The travel sequence with soloists, Eddie, Lisa and Janet included some old favorites such as "Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe," the "Trolley Song," "Swanee" and the "Robert E. Lee."

Under the guise of musical comedy came selections from "Mame" featuring Sherry Huckabee, Scott McGuire and Ben Walker.

The roaring Twenties sequence featured Kim and Margaret again as soloists and Godspell selections featured Janet, David, Paul and Eddie.

SILVER HORNS

The Silver Horns with trombonist, Tamera Hart, and the Golden Horns with trumpeter, Eddie Smith, added true American jazz.

Everybody has favorites, but the audience favorites on opening night proved to be the patriotic finale, the comic routine by Barry Fish and Joe Edwards; the Shenandoah Civil War sequence by the boy's chorus, Janet's "Summertime"; and the whole group in "The Robert E. Lee" and "Charleston."

In addition to those already named in the cast, some of the important crew members included Sharon Smith, Pat Daniel, Jim Reed, Debbie Shroyer, Tammy Thomas, Jackie Sawyer, Shauna Hill, Valerie Richardson, Jennie Speegle and Bruce Ziman.

In that boy's chorus, in addition to those named were Joe Rihard, Blane Hinton, Pete Hinton, Kenny Watkins, Less White, John Martin, Chuck Dickens, and Junior Chavez.

UNCLE SAM EGGS

Other members of the girl's chorus included Tamera Hart, Jill Walker, Denise Young, Lougene Pruett, Debbie Samuels, Tammy Thomas, Becky Blalack, Gala Teague, Lynde Thames and Reina Hamby.

That all important pit band included Larry Wheat, Russell Burchett, Shauna Hill, Kathy Birdwell, Darla Morrell, Sheri Proctor, Robin Jadoi, Jim Griffin, Laura Allen, Anita Butler, Cheryl Gillenwater, Adrian Ayala, Chris Shortes, Gilbert Chavez, Cindy Rudd, Robert Rodriguez, Gordon Birrell, Steve Merrick, Jeff Joseph, Scott Vick, Debra Mitchem, Lee Alexander, Wayne Pruitt, Carl Condray, Pat Daniel, John Burroughs, Bruce Ziman and Paula Witte.

Sam presented Uncle Sam eggs, Big Spring's emblem of a youthful America, to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Boland and Col. and Mrs. Robert E. Owens for their support of the band.

The Hall of Flags included a display of early American flags, flags from every state and the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company's early phone display.

Band members will move 150 extra seats into the auditorium for Thursday night's performance. That many more tickets will be available for those interested, at $4. These may be the last tickets available for this year's performance.

—By M.C.

KNOTHOLE TRICK — Barry Fish and Joe Edwards pleased the crowd on opening night of Campus Revue '76 with their comic routine separating patriotic and Broadway selections presented at the annual extravaganza. Judge says Work Committee violates Federal statute

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal judge says that the legal-aid arm of the National Right to Work Committee violates federal law because it operates as a front for employers trying to weaken unions.

U.S. District Court Judge Charles R. Richey, in a decision seen as a major victory for organized labor, ruled Monday that among the committee's financial contributors are "employers who have concrete interest" in lawsuits against unions which the National Right to Work Legal Defense and Education Fund encourages and supports.

He set a Feb. 20 hearing for the foundation to argue why he should not issue an injunction barring the groups from getting contributions from interested employers. The action came after repeated foundation refusals to give to the unions a list of some of its contributors.

Ten major unions led by the United Auto Workers, the Machinists and the State, County and Municipal Employees filed suit more than two years ago alleging violations of laws that bar employers from aiding workers in suits against unions.

The committee is a lobbying group that has been a strong opponent of labor, principally in the fight against the union shop, where workers are required to join unions. With its companion legal-aid arm, it spends millions of dollars lobbying and aiding in suits against unions.

To prove the groups get heavy employer support, the unions asked for a list of their biggest contributors. The foundation refused, saying disclosure would expose donors to union retaliation and harassment.

On. Off. Here's how to save both ways.

We all need to use adequate lighting for reading, working, and security, but we also need to use it wisely. These ideas can help.

- Don't leave security lights on during the day. A photoelectric cell or a timer can control them for you.

- Use low-watt bulbs where you can. The lower the wattage, the less energy the bulb uses.

- Use fluorescent lights where possible. They produce about 2½ times more light per watt than incandescent bulbs.

- Leave three-way bulbs on the lowest setting until more light is needed.

- Use light colors in lamp shades, walls, and floors to get the most reflectivity from light.

Carsons file $22 million libel suit

CHICAGO (AP) — The 7th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals has ruled that "Tonight" show host Johnny Carson and his wife are entitled to a jury trial in their libel suit against a Chicago-based national newspaper.

Carson and his present wife, Joanna Holland Carson, filed a $22-million libel suit in 1972 against the National Insider after it reported that Carson moved the "Tonight" show to California to be closer to Miss Holland, the woman the newspaper said caused the break-up of Carson's former marriage.

The appeals panel said

Monday that the story was a "highly defamatory and inflammatory diatribe" and that the Carsons were entitled to a jury trial, denied by a federal judge in 1973.

ABDUCTION STORY

Police chief flunks polygraph

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Porum Police Chief Bill Callaway says he may quit his post after flunking a polygraph test in which he described his alleged abduction by a gunman last Friday at a Tulsa shopping center.

Callaway, 31, had asked Gov. David Boren to declare martial law in Porum, claiming "open crime" reigned in his town and he couldn't get help from Muskogee County Sheriff Bill Vinzant.

"I don't see much other choice than to resign," he said Monday after returning to Tulsa. "The only way to prove my story is to find the guy who hijacked me."

He said the gunman, whom he described as wearing a maroon vest suit and speaking with a "Chicago" accent, forced him to take about 30 pills en route to a secluded area in nearby Washington County.

Callaway, Porum's police chief since last Dec. 31, said he fled the abductor "when I bent a blackjack limb and turned it loose so it hit him in the face."

Dr. Lynn Miller, principal of Porum High School, accompanied Callaway to Oklahoma City so Callaway could give the State Bureau of Investigation a description of his alleged abductor.

"I was going to do that until I flunked that polygraph," said Callaway, who says he has been hiding in Tulsa for more than a week since the alleged abduction and attempt on his life.

Meanwhile, Callaway admitted he has spent time in mental institutions in Vinita, Okla., and Alexandria, La.

He said he spent two weeks in Eastern State Hospital at Vinita in mid-1965 after he was involved in a traffic accident in which a 15-year-old boy died.

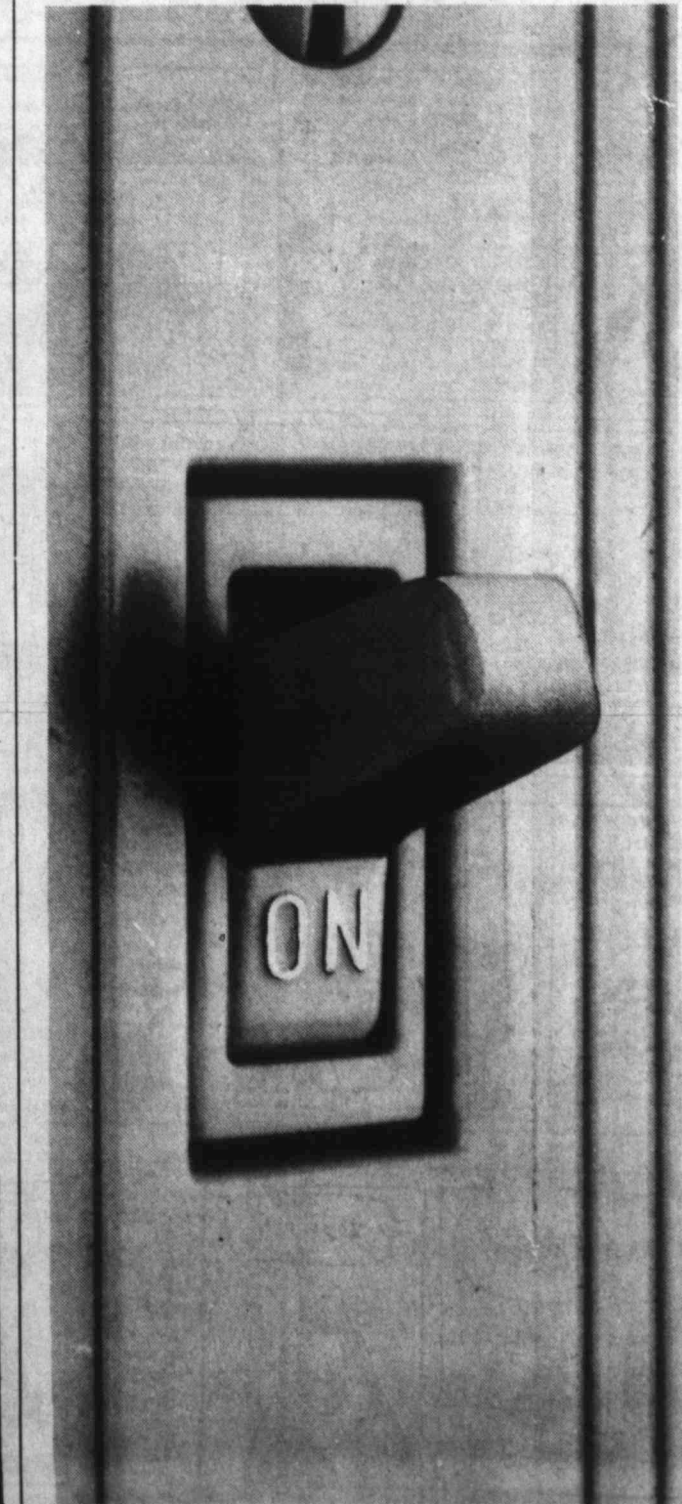

Sheriff Vinzant, whom Callaway has accused of giving Porum "no help" in investigatory matters, said he also learned Callaway was arrested on a breach of peace complaint at Vinita in 1967.

Citizens elected to Girl Scout council

Two Big Spring citizens were elected by acclamation to the board of directors of the West Texas Girl Scout Council at the annual dinner meeting held in Snyder Thursday evening.

Darrel Hohertz was elected as vice president of the council. Mrs. Clay LaRochelle will serve as a board member.

Mrs. J. B. Cooper Jr. of Roscoe was voted president-elect for the next three-year term.

Ms. Sandy Sibilsky, Big Spring area field director, was given several awards of appreciation for Big Spring individuals who have served Girl Scouts.

Tommy Gage was presented a plaque for his donation of the new Girl Scout office at 2005 Gregg.

Mrs. Elmo Wasson was given a silver tray in appreciation of the use of an office in the Wasson building.

Certificates of appreciation were prepared for Mrs. Arlene Stephenson for the Big Spring Girl Scout festival held in Highland Center mall in March and for Mrs. Carol Ann Ivey for her donations and contributions to local Girl Scouts.

First-class scout certificates were given to twenty Senior Scouts including Big Spring Girl Scouts Jerri Davey, Coleen Anderson and Pat Hamilton.

Miss Hamilton was the pianist for the evening.

Highlights of the evening included a program on "Volunteering, Girl Scout Style," and presentation of the thanks badge to Mrs. Mava Cooper. The thanks badge is the highest award in scouting. The award was made by Holman King on behalf of the council. Mrs. Cooper in turn presented King with an engraved plaque for his leadership as president of the council.

Pregnancy clause added to Miss America rules

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP) — The Miss America Pageant has added a clause to its constitution stipulating that contestants "must not be and never have been pregnant."

The pregnancy clause was adopted "to eliminate the possibility that a contestant could be eligible because she was unmarried, although she was a mother or had been pregnant at some time," pageant director Albert A. Marks said Friday. He said the rule would also apply to abortions.

The new directive was tacked onto a rule which previously said that the contestant "must be single and never have been married or had her marriage annulled."

Two years ago the pageant amended its by-laws to prescribe that contestants must be female.

"That change was made after several instances across the country where men attempted to enter various events such as contests to select a college homecoming beauty," Marks recalled.

Child's leash letter sparks reader response

DEAR ABBY: May I please respond to INDIGNANT MOTHER, who tried to justify placing her child in a harness to save him from being lost or run over, or falling down a flight of stairs?

A child should be taught—not leashed! To defend using a harness by saying it's for the child's protection is a cop-out used by parents who are too lazy or busy to look after their own children. There is no substitute for a mother's personal attention.

Of course, unkind remarks from strangers are out of place, but someone should open the eyes of mothers who put leashes on children. Maybe the mothers should put leashes on THEMSELVES and be walked through stores and airports for their "protection." Adults also get lost, run over and fall down stairs.

I say, God giveth and God taketh away, harness or no harness.

UNLEASHED IN OKLAHOMA

DEAR UNLEASHED: Please read on for another point of view.

DEAR ABBY: This is for INDIGNANT MOTHER, who was frequently subjected to insults from strangers because she used a harness on her 2-year-old child.

I, too, used a harness, and a plain, old-fashioned dog leash on my two children when they were toddlers. They were only 11 months apart in age and quite a handful. While I worked in the yard or hung my clothes outside, I'd clip their harnesses to the clothes line so they could run and play within safe limits.

While shopping with my harnessed youngsters, I collected many cold stares from strangers. Some even reminded me that I was raising children—not dogs.

Then, something happened that made it easier for me to bear those insults. A beautiful, 2-year-old neighbor girl was killed. Two minutes earlier, she was beside her mother in the kitchen. There was one broken-hearted mother, one dead child and one unsuspecting driver who didn't see the wee curly head dart from between two parked cars until he felt the thump of a wheel go over her little body.

That was 25 years ago. Today I am the mother of two living children and six grandchildren, and I thank God that He gave me the intelligence to value the lives of my children above the criticism of a few "know-it-alls."

Indignant mother, forget your indignation and rock your living baby to sleep. Keep him harnessed until he's old enough to understand simple danger. It's much better than carrying flowers to a small grave.

EXTERIOR SHOT OF ENLARGED SECURITY STATE BANK BUILDING

Open house due Sunday at Security State Bank

J. D. Nelson, president of Security State Bank of Big Spring, has announced the completion of phase two of the bank's three-phase remodeling and expansion program. Nelson said, "We are happy to be moving into our new and expanded quarters which will enable us to better serve our customers."

An open house for the general public will be held Sunday afternoon between 2 and 5 p.m. Refreshments will be served and guided tours of the new and larger facilities will be conducted. The new facility at 1411 Gregg will open for banking business Monday morning at 10 o'clock.

Completion of phase two more than triples the floor space of Security State's present facilities. Features of the addition include eight teller stations, approximately doubling the capacity of the bank, and a loan department separate from the teller stations which will make it possible to expedite all loan transactions faster and more efficiently.

Nelson pointed out that all executive quarters will have private offices for each loan officer to allow maximum privacy to customers when discussing their personal financial needs.

Designed by the architectural firm of Gary and Hohertz of Big Spring, the new building is of tan brick, trimmed with anodized bronze aluminum and bronzed plate glass. Accenting the exterior are archways which give the structure a contemporary Spanish effect. J. W. Little Construction Company of Big Spring was the general contractor.

The first phase of Security State's building program, the construction of five drive-in windows was Security State Bank, which will celebrate its twentieth anniversary this summer, was founded in 1956 by a group of Big Spring business and community leaders. Marvin M. Miller serves as chairman of the bank's board of directors.

Nelson has served as president and director since 1970 and prior to coming to Big Spring served as president of Tarrant State Bank in Fort Worth and Stonewall Bank in Corpus Christi. He is a veteran of 23 years in the banking business.

A native of Erath County, Nelson and his wife Pauline have two children, Sandra and Scott. He is past president of both the United Way and the Big Spring Country Club and is a member of the Big Spring Industrial Foundation, the Chamber of Commerce, Kiwanis, YMCA and Boy Scouts of America.

Jere Sink is executive vice president of the bank. He joined Security State March 1, 1973 as vice president and was elected to the board of directors Aug. 12, 1974. Sink previously was employed by First State Bank of Tulia, Tex., for seven years and American National of Amarillo for 6½ years. He is a graduate of Howard College and West Texas

Locke gains commendation

Mayor Wade Choate issued a mayor's commendation award to Tom Locke, following his presentation to the city Council this morning on the Goals for Big Spring.

"You have spent many hours seeking information to help with the progress of our city and we, the city council, would in turn like to commend you for a job well done," Mayor Choate said.

The framed certificate was the fourth ever presented by the mayor for special commendation for service to the community.

State University at Canyon. Sink grew up in Yoakum County. He is married to the former Andre Sledge of Big Spring and the couple has three children, David, Jamie and Melissa.

Sink is a member and director of the Kiwanis Club, a member of the Chamber of Commerce, the Chamber's Ambassadors and is a director of the Easter Seal board through the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center.

Other officers of Security State Bank are Darlene Dabney, cashier; Oneta McDaniel, vice president; Bob Hecker, assistant vice president; and Sadie Wallace, assistant vice president.

Attendance at schools dip

Attendance in the Big Spring public schools showed a decrease of 14 for the week ending Jan. 23.

Most of the loss occurred on the secondary school level. The senior high head count diminished by five, Goliad Junior High by four and Runnels Junior High by two.

Schools showing gains included Airport Elementary, up by one; College Heights Elementary, up by two; and Lakeview Elementary, which gained six.

The head count in all schools at the close of business Friday amounted to 6,399, compared to 6,413 the previous week. Attendance for the comparable period a year ago was 6,413.

VA, HEW give plan blessing

The Veterans Administration and the Department of Health, Education and Welfare have agreed on new principles expanding services for the disabled and their dependents.

A joint statement between the VA and HEW's Rehabilitation Services Administration (RSA) was signed by officials of both agencies. In attendance were VA's Dr. John D. Chase, Chief Medical Director; Rufus H. Wilson, Chief Benefits Director; and Dr. Andrew S. Adams, RSA Commissioner.

Each agency encourages the disabled to make maximum use of vocational rehabilitation services offered by state and federal governments. Computerized voting units to cost $27,732

Howard County will soon have computerized voting equipment, decided county commissioners at their bi-weekly meeting Monday. The system will be the same as the one used in the county's last election, said commissioners.

The equipment will be purchased from the Computer Election System Company at a total cost of $27,732.50, which will include 112 self-contained voting quarters, 21 transfer cases for ballots, and 20 voting demonstration cases.

There were only two bids for the voting equipment at Monday's meeting. The other, provided by Automatic Voting Machine Company, relied on an electric sensing system requiring special pencils to darken voting selection boxes on the ballots, and was more expensive.

The system selected uses a punch card method of vote selection.

In other business, commissioners authorized funds for mailing and phone calls to help organize the Justice of the Peace Convention to be held in Big Spring in October. Justice of the Peace Gus Ochotorena will be in charge of contacting delegates across the state for the convention.

Must file before Monday

Candidates for nomination to county and precinct offices must file with the Democratic or Republican county chairman before 6 p.m. Monday to run in the May primaries, County Clerk Margaret Ray said.

Court upholds Texas primary

WASHINGTON (AP) — Texas has been given the go-ahead by the federal government to conduct its first presidential primary May 1.

The head of the Justice Department's civil rights division, Asst. U.S. Atty. Gen. J. Stanley Pottinger, ruled Monday without written comment that the primary complies with the federal Voting Rights Act.

Some opponents had claimed the primary's winner-take-all provision would discriminate against black and Mexican-American voters.

Under the Texas Primary Law, passed by the state legislature last year, at least 75 per cent of the delegates to the Democratic National Convention will be selected on a winner-take-all basis according to voting in state senatorial districts.

The Republicans will elect 96 delegates to their national convention on a winner-take-all basis according to congressional districts.

Opponents of the primary bill have aimed most of their criticism at the Democratic senatorial district election method. During debate on the bill in the Texas legislature, the primary bill was often referred to as the "Bentsen bill," because Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Tex., was expected to benefit the most from the bill.

'Road hogs' reported

They must have considered themselves "road hogs."

But their owner, Royce Parker, saw things differently when notified by the Howard County Sheriff's Office Monday afternoon.

Hogs were first reported on IS-20 east of Coahoma Monday morning.

Then, two red hogs were reported on the highway near the Mitchell County line Monday afternoon, and the sheriff's office located their owner.

Baylor upsets Hogs

By The Associated Press

The Texas Aggies rebounded from their weekend shock in Arkansas Monday night to keep alive championship hopes but the Razorbacks got a deadly taste of road cookin' in Waco that likely killed their chances in the Southwest Conference basketball race.

The Aggies, now 5-1 and just a half-game behind idle Texas Tech (6-1), depended on freshmen Karl Godine and Jarvis Williams for an 85-77 victory over Rice in College Station.

Coach Shelby Metcalf of A&M said "I wasn't happy with the way we played but I'd rather see us play badly and win than play well and lose in double overtime.

"I'm concerned that we didn't show much intensity. I'm glad our next game is in Austin Wednesday night against Texas. We can't get any more motivation than that."

A&M lost 93-91 to the Razorbacks Saturday night in a disputed game in the Ozarks but Arkansas obviously was still celebrating the victory against Baylor. And Heart-O-Texas Coliseum in Waco is a bad place to have your head in the clouds.

Baylor overcame an 11-point Arkansas lead and whipped the Razorbacks 84-81 behind sophomore Arthur Edwards' 23 points. Both Arkansas and Baylor are now 4-4.

In other games, Southern Methodist outran Houston 87-75 to take over third place with a 5-3 record and Texas Christian nailed Texas 73-70 in Austin to move into fourth place with a 4-3 ledger.

Godine and Williams each scored 18 points to pace the Aggies who had trouble with the winless Owls.

"We were ahead 40-22 and I killed our momentum by substituting just for the sake of substituting," Metcalf secondguessed himself.

Baylor Coach Carroll Dawson did the same in victory over Arkansas.

"We tried to press Arkansas early and found we couldn't do it because they are so quick... so we went to a half-court pressure defense and that won the game for us," said Dawson.

Arkansas Coach Eddie Sutton just shook his head and said "We just couldn't slow Baylor down in the second half. We did a poor job blocking out on the offensive boards."

Things went according to plan at Dallas where SMU came out smoking with Bob Arnold scoring 24 points in the first half.

"When we come out running like we did tonight a lot of good things can happen," said SMU Coach Sonny Allen. "I thought Arnold was just super."

In Austin, TCU Coach Johnny Swaim said "We played as good as we could. I don't know how we could play any better. Ricky Hensley was great."

Hensley scored 16 points in the second half and hit six crucial free throws. Texas is now 2-6 for the campaign.

Tech returns to the fray Wednesday night at Arkansas while Baylor is at TCU, SMU is at Rice and Texas A&M is at Texas.

Football's final curtain NFC rally stuns AFC

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — "It's just go down to the fire hydrant and turn left," laughed Mike Boryla as he described the home recipe pass play that sparked the National Football Conference's 23-20 victory over the American Conference in the Pro Bowl.

Boryla brought the play, known to the huddle only as the "Mike Special," south from Philadelphia where he was a sometime starter for the Eagles.

The "Mike Special" and the "Hart Special," also named for its creator, NFC quarterback Jim Hart of the St. Louis Cardinals, produced the two touchdowns that won the nationally televised game Monday night.

It was the second year in a row that a quarterback who wasn't even supposed to be in the Pro Bowl led the NFC to victory.

Last year it was James Harris of the Los Angeles Rams who entered the game in the final quarter to toss a pair of touchdown passes in a span of 1:24 for a 17-10 triumph.

But this year Harris was suffering from a sore arm.

So were Archie Manning of New Orleans and Steve Bartkowski of Atlanta. Minnesota's Fran Tarkenton — the first choice of conference officials — was scratched for injuries, and Roger Staubach of Dallas was battered out of commission by the Super Bowl.

That left only Boryla to come in during the fourth quarter and throw a pair of touchdown passes in a period that consumed only 2:01 on the clock for the NFC edge.

The substitute was narrowly outvoted for Most Valuable Player in the game over punt return specialist Billy Johnson.

"I hadn't thrown the football for three weeks until practice Tuesday," Boryla said. "I usually like to start throwing three weeks early, so I wasn't in real good shape."

But the shape looked fine as he lofted a 14-yard scoring strike to Terry Metcalf of the St. Louis Cardinals with 3:10 remaining. That put the underdog NFC within striking distance at 20-16. On the next drive Metcalf's teammate, Mel Gray, elbowed under a Boryla toss in a crowded end zone for the game's final score with just 1:09 left to play.

Boryla describes his special as "kind of a razzle dazzle play" in which two faked handoffs lure the linebackers up close while Metcalf sneaks into the secondary for a pass.

The "Hart Special" saw Gray's end zone area cleared by a crossing pattern between the split and tight ends.

"It completed the season," was the way Boryla summed up a game in which four Pro Bowl records were shattered.

Johnson broke the marks for longest punt returns and most yards gained in a game, both of which were held since 1971 by Mel Renfro of Dallas.

The 5-foot-9, 170-pound Houston Oilers set up the game's first score as he bobbled a John James punt early in the second quarter, picked it up and raced back the left sideline for a 55-yard gain. Jan Stenerud booted a 20-yard field goal six plays later.

In the fourth quarter, Johnson evaded five would-be tacklers and rambled 90 yards to the end zone to give the AFC a 20-9 lead that seemed insurmountable. That broke Renfro's record of 82 yards.

Johnson said later he owed his success to "the guys on the special team for throwing super blocks and to the Man upstairs — to the Lord."

Also shattered was a 57-yard record for longest pass play, set on a throw from Harris to Gray last year.

Dan Pastorini of Houston broke that mark when he found teammate Ken Burrough for a 64-yard touchdown pass with only 12 seconds left in the half.

Lawrence McCutcheon of Los Angeles snapped the record for the longest run from scrimmage when he dodged 43 yards from his own 29 in the third quarter and fumbled into the

Steers travel to San Angelo tonight

The Big Spring Steers travel to San Angelo tonight to close out first half action against Arnold McDowell and the Central Bobcats at 8:00.

McDowell leads 5-4A in scoring with a 24.5 average and many accuse Central of being a one-man team. However, in its last game, a double overtime loss to second place Permian, McDowell fouled out with three minutes left in regulation time and the Bobcats losing by four points. Steve Speer, their second leading scorer with a 14.8 average, and Mike Brown almost led the team to victory after McDowell's departure.

Central coach James Sharp agrees with the consensus of the other coaches in the district that the Steers have a balanced attack.

"They're a real balanced team," Sharp said. "They've got several good outside shooters they can go to."

The Steers will be at home Friday night for the beginning of the second half versus first half leader Abilene.

Brahmas stay undefeated

SNYDER — The Big Spring Brahmas (9-0), remained undefeated, beating Snyder Travis 58-48. Ysa Rubio led the attack with 22 points. Oscar James (16) and Mike Evans (12) also hit for double figures for the Brahmas. Johnson led Travis with 17 points.

James had 19 of the winners' 41 rebounds. Travis had 20 rebounds as a team.

The Brahmas' next game is at Sands Friday night at 6:30.

Andrews beats Toros

The Toros lost a heartbreaker to Andrews 91-90. They stole the ball with 15 seconds remaining, but could not score to win the game. The Toros are now 5-4 while Andrews is 19-2. Mark Poss and Billy Johnson with 18 points led the Toros. Willie Myles (17) Louis Rodriguez (14) and Byron Harris (13) also hit for double figures. Traver led the winners with 25.

The Toros play Thursday night at Snyder Travis following Golliad's game. Golliad beat Andrews 38-36 in overtime.

arms of Harold Jackson, also of the Rams. The previous record was 30 yards, held since the 1975 Pro Bowl by O.J. Simpson.

Simpson was x-rayed following the game for a hand injury when he tried to protect his chin strap from a souvenir-hungry fan after the game. Doctors gave the Buffalo running back a clean bill of health.

Another record of sorts was set when Ray Guy became the first punter to bounce a kick off the Superdome instant replay screens — 90 feet above the artificial turf.

Guy says he aimed for the 20-by-40 foot color screens "just to see if I could do it."

The NFC seemed unable to move throughout the opening half as an AFC defense stifled the offense led by Hart of St. Louis.

Kansas City's Stenerud followed his opening field goal with a 35-yard mid-way through the second quarter. The second kick was set up by Pastorini's 35-yard toss to Cliff Branch of Oakland.

Hall elects three new members

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Jim Taylor, Ray Flaherty and the late Len Ford, integral parts of gridiron dynasties in four different decades, have been elected to the Pro Football Hall of Fame.

Flaherty coached the Washington Redskins through their most successful era in the late 1930s and early 1940s. Ford, a bruising 250-pounder who was converted from offensive to defensive end, helped the Cleveland Browns to divisional titles seven times in eight seasons in the 1950s.

The 40-year-old Taylor is the most familiar name to the current generation of pro football fans. The powerful fullback played a key role in transforming the Green Bay Packers from National Football League doormats to champions in the 1960s.

He retired as the No. 2 rusher and touchdown-scorer in National Football League history with 8,597 yards and 83 touchdowns and holds the record of five consecutive 1,000-yard ground-gaining seasons.

Taylor, Flaherty and Ford will be inducted into the Hall of Fame here July 24.

"Being named to the Hall of Fame is the ultimate goal of every professional football player," Taylor said in New Orleans, where he does public relations work for a shipbuilding firm. "But being named at the age of 40 means I'm young enough so that I, my family and friends can really appreciate the honor and enjoy it for a number of years."

Ford, who died of a heart attack in 1972 at the age of 46, launched his pro career in 1948 as a pass-catching end with the Los Angeles Dons of the old All-America Conference. When the AAC and NFL merged in 1950, he joined the Browns and became an all-pro almost every season until his retirement in 1957.

"He was probably the finest defensive end in the history of the club," said a Browns' spokesman.

Flaherty was an outstanding end in the early years of the NFL. In 11 seasons as the Redskins' coach, his teams compiled a record of 80-37-5. He capped his career by guiding the Skins to a 14-6 upset of the Chicago Bears in the 1942 NFL title game.

After serving in the Navy, Flaherty led the New York Yankees of the AAC to divisional crowns in 1946 and 1947 and later coached the Chicago Hornets.

"For a person who has been out of football as long as I have, I'm kind of tickled about it," the 72-year-old Flaherty said at his home in Coeur d'Alene, Idaho, where he is semiretired.

NMMI, FP upset Hawks level Texans

LEVELLAND — The Howard College Hawks traveled to South Plains College Monday night, needing a win more than Levelland needs hills. They table-topped everything in sight that wasn't already flat, and leveled the Texans 109-101.

The final score was much closer than the actual game; for the Hawks yelled into a "Team" with a capital "T," leading by as much as 18 points several times throughout the game. The comfortable margin allowed Coach Wilder to give a number of the reserves a workout. Daryl Scoggins, Larry Kelley, Lowell Walker and Kirby Grant came in off the bench and contributed their talents towards an almost error-free game.

South Plains claimed the first two points of the game, but after that HC never trailed. With 6:06 left in the first half, the Hawks held a 15 point advantage. With a combination of cold free throw shooting (63.6 per cent), a handful of "alleged" turnovers, and the South Plains band striking up "Big Balls in Cow Town" practically every time HC had the ball, the half-time margin dwindled to 51-46.

But the Hawks came out the second half as fired-up as they were at the outset. HC reeled off 10 quick points to the caprock cagers' mere one. Any grit the Texans might have still had deserted them with that surge. The Texans' ice-cold free throw percentage, plus a sterling display by HC entitled "How to break a press" kept the South Plains fans frustrated all night.

As usual, Marvin Johnson responded to the call, scoring 37 points, and assuring his position as the nation's leading scorer. He hit 54.8 per cent from the floor, and played a bruising hit and run with South Plains' ace Henry Taylor.

But Reggie Leffall was the whirling sandstorm that swept through the Levelland coliseum, covering the hapless Texans from the start. He scored 29 points, eight of them during the opening moments of the game, and would always come alive with a quick four or six points at a time when the Hawks looked as if they might be slipping.

portunistic outside shooting sparked HC into playing one of its most emotionally-inspired games of the season.

Larry Erves and Paul Cathey were stymied much of the game. The respect South Plains held for this duo was shown by the manner in which they were doubled-teamed. Erves still managed 15 points and Cathey snatched away caroms.

The Hawks, now 18-5 for the season (They were awarded the college of the mainland game yesterday because of violations at that school), and 5-4 in WTC conference action definitely remained in the ever-tightening race for the playoffs. With the victory they pulled even with South Plains (14-8), now 5-4 in league competition as well.

Howard College shot 54 per cent from the field, and 62 per cent from the gratis stripe in scoring an unquestionably deserved win. They take the road again this Thursday night against a very formidable New Mexico Military Institute in Roswell, N.M., hoping to knock off another leader in the conference.

And if they Hawks perform as they did last night, they likely cannot be beaten by NMMI, nor any other team for that matter.

OTHER WC ACTION LAST NIGHT:

SNYDER — Western Texans kayowed Odessa College, 74-62, here Monday night to gain sole possession of first place in Western Conference basketball standings.

The win was the seventh in nine league starts for the Westerners. Amarillo, which had been in a tie with Western Texas, did not play Monday night.

MIDLAND — Midland College outlasted NMMI in a Western Conference basketball thriller here Monday night, 72-71.

McClelland led NMMI in scoring with 24 points. Tommy Parks counted 24 for Midland.

HOBBS, N. M. — New Mexico Junior College won its fourth basketball game in five starts by defeating the Texas Tech Picadors, 117-84.

The win was the 10th in 21 starts for the Thunderbirds. Junior Hutchings led the way with 21 points.

Spreading weeds clog Texas lakes

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Water villains such as hyacinth and hydrilla are clogging two lakes north of Houston, says a Texas A&M researcher who has been monitoring the lakes from the air with color infrared film.

Bob Benton of the Remote Sensing Center at A&M notes that efforts to control aquatic plants in Texas waterways "are not keeping up with the rate of spread."

He described water hyacinth and hydrilla, coontail, watermilfoil, pondweed and duckweed as the "villains of the water community."

"Their accelerated growth in Texas lakes and reservoirs in recent years," he said in a report distributed by A&M's Water Resources Institute "is reminiscent of the onset of the problem in Florida."

"There, noxious plants have ruined water frontage for homeowners, limited water recreation and boating, clogged navigable streams, and blocked intake structures of water supply plants and power generating stations."

Florida's attempts to control the runaway weeds cost $15 million a year.

The plant population of Lake Livingston grew from 50 acres of water hyacinth in 1971 to 2,000 acres of hyacinth and other plants by 1974, Benton said. The spread of water plants at Lake Conroe, he added, is "even greater."

At Livingston, the Parks and Wildlife Department is applying the chemical 2,4-D from spray boats to control hyacinth, but Benton reports, "unless you can totally eradicate (the plants) the use of 2,4-D actually encourages late-season regrowth in areas where the plants might have withered early if left alone."

"One month," Benton said, "the stuff would be killed off and we would say 'hurray for our side,' but the month after that it would come booming back in the cleared area. It has a property within itself which will produce a springlike regeneration after it has been stressed."

In his "test" project at Livingston with the infrared film, Benton can differentiate between vegetation species, as well as determine the stage of growth or decay of the plants.

The 1975 work was done under contract with the Trinity River Authority, and Benton said he hoped by the end of this year the authority can take over the photography and analysis.

"Ideally," he says, "every major lake in Texas should be monitored."

Board should set own fee policy

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Spokesmen for Texas schools want the State Board of Education to set its own policy on collection of special fees from public schools, not just follow Atty. Gen. John Hill's advice.

A special committee of the State Board of Education Monday held a daylong hearing Monday to get testimony from local school officials on Hill's Oct. 1 opinion that said special student fees violated the constitutional provisions for free public schools.

Recommendations of the committee will be presented to the February meeting of the state board.

Several witnesses said they thought Hill had misinterpreted the state constitution.

"I think it is not only legally unwarranted but impermissible," said Paul Lyle, Plainview attorney representing Plainview.

Tulia, Lockney, Olton and other schools. "I think you need counsel other than the attorney general . . . The attorney general got you into this. Why don't you let him get you out by asking him if you have authority to revoke a school's accreditation (if fees are collected)."

"This study has to be concerned with what is basic education," said James Perkins, Farwell school superintendent. "Among other things 'Is driver education a function of public schools?'"

Doyle Little, who said he represented the Tuloso-Midway system in Corpus Christi and 49 other schools in Region II, said it was "our feeling the attorney general's opinion is a bad opinion . . . we think you should ask for relief if you can do so in your legal framework, at least to delay its implementation."

Board Chairman Joe K. Butler, Houston, stated that, in his opinion, the state board had not adopted the attorney general's opinion as state policy, although State Education Commissioner M.L. Brockett instructed schools on Oct. 1 to stop collecting the fees or lose their accreditation.

Flood control study okayed

Congressman Omar Burleson has announced that the President's Budget for Fiscal Year 1977, just submitted to Congress, contains $180,000 for the Colorado River and Tributaries.

The funds will be used for general investigations of the flood control project.

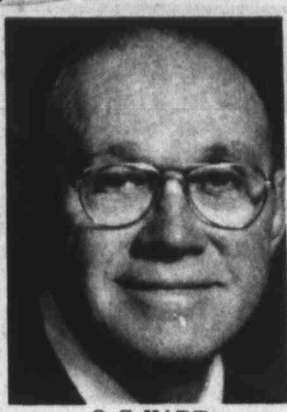

Appropriations Committees of the U. S. House of Representatives and Senate will now consider the budget proposals prior to enacting funds for these purposes.

Mexican authorities plan drug crackdown

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — In an apparent response to a request by President Ford, Mexican authorities have announced a crackdown on narcotics traffickers and smugglers near the U.S. Mexico border around El Paso.

Dr. Fernando Herrera Horiga, Mexican federal health officer in Juarez, across the border from El Paso, said he participated in a secret meeting at the Juarez military garrison Saturday. Herrera said the meeting was called on instructions from the office of Mexican President Luis Echeverria.

President Ford urged Echeverria in his State of the Union message last week to help halt traffic across the long border between the United States and Mexico.

Herrera said he could not disclose the details of plans discussed at the meeting, but it was learned that mechanized Mexican army units will patrol the Rio Grande from Ft. Hancock to the Palomas port of entry opposite Columbus, N.M.
