EX-TEXAS COWBOY IS WITNESS TODAY IN CREAGER'S SUIT

(By Associated Press)

BROWNSVILLE, May 9. (AP)—A lanky ex-Texas cowboy who went east and became a writer, today told in R. B. Creager's libel suit against Colliers Weekly why he wrote "High Handed and Hell Bent."

Colliers printed that article and the republican national committee brought action, on trial here, to recover half a million dollars.

Takes Out Notebook
Owen P. White, rather bronzed from long contact with the El Paso sunlight, took a little black notebook on the stand with him where he had jotted down many of the charges against the Hidalgo county condition which later were used in the article.

He described how he said M. G. Chandler, real estate man, Dave Kirgan, mayor of Weslaco; F. B. Freeland, mayor of McAllen, and Ed Couch, president of a McAllen bank, had written Colliers letters saying taxpayers' money was being wasted and taxpayers' voices being denied.

Stayed In Hotel
At their urgent request, he said, he consented to come to the valley and make an investigation. He declined after arriving, he said, to stay at the home of Mayor Kirgan, going to a hotel instead because he wanted to avoid any partisanship.

On his first day in the valley, White went on, he and Kirgan went to McAllen.

"We stopped," he said, "at banks and stores and they told me of the general financial crookedness and political corruption, corroborating the charges I had seen in newspaper clippings. The business men told me the same thing as the bankers. Then we went to Edinburg and I talked to a lawyer—I think his name was ..."

POONA, India, May 9. (AP)—One hundred and fifty European women and children arrived here today, terror on their faces, from Sholapur, which they left yesterday as three Mohammedan policemen were being burned to death by an angry mob of Indians.

They said the three policemen, all Mohammedans, were captured by the mob, and bound together. Their uniforms were then soaked with kerosene and set afire. The outrage took place near the sessions court building which was also burned by the mob, which had begun its demonstration in behalf of the civil disobedience campaign and in protest at arrest of Mahatma Gandhi.

"If we had done nothing more than remove old tin cans from our premises which are excellent breeding places ..."

TEXAS RANGERS AND GRAYSON OFFICERS PREVENT LYNCHING

This aerial picture shows towers of flames and smoke sweeping over Nashua, N. Nashua was virtually placed under martial law, when 250 national guardsmen patrolled the streets, with orders to "shoot to kill" looters. Fourteen hours after the first blaze, wind-scattered embers from the smoldering ruins kindled a new blaze.

JUSTICE'S MOVEMENT EXPECTED TO BE FASTER NOW

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, May 9. (AP)—Drastic revision of the nation's criminal code, designed to make a score of knots now hindering the movement of justice, stood partially approved today by the American Institute of Law.

Until midnight last night debate over a voluminous "model code of criminal procedure," proposed as a result of four years labor by institute experts, swayed pro and con among approximately 600 high justice, judges and lawyers, drawn from all parts of the country to the institute's eighth annual meeting.

Then, with 12 chapters still to be considered a halt was called, the remaining provisions placed for in the hands of a committee, and a vote upon them set for tomorrow.

Among the approved recommendations were:

Selection of extra jurors in protracted trials, to eliminate retrials because of sickness or death on a jury.

Examination of jurors by the judge, rather than the opposing counsel.

Permission to defendants to waive Contracts Must Be Signed For Rates

Lubbock residents who are to benefit by the special five months irrigation contract recently made possible by action of the City Commission are required to sign contracts at the water department in the city hall within the next few days, Will H. Rodgers, city secretary, announced today.

The special contract has been created to aid in a yard beautification program this summer.

Signers of the contract will pay a minimum bill of $3 per month for five months ending September 30, 1930, which entitles each to the use of 6,000 gallons of water per month without extra charge. The consumer will pay 16 cents per thousand gallons for additional water used per month during this period. All charges are subject to 10 per cent discount for payment within 10 days from date of bill.

MOTHERS ARE HONORED IN PROGRAM OF AMERICAN BUSINESS CLUB TODAY

A program, dedicated to observance of Mother's Day and in which approximately 22 mothers of Lubbock took part, was featured by an address "Tribute to Mother," musical and reading numbers at the regular weekly luncheon session of the American Business Club today noon at the Hilton hotel.

Principal address of the day was given by Dr. R. C. Campbell, pastor of the First Baptist church, who spoke at length upon the subject "Mother."

"I wish I could bring a message to you in glowing language," the speaker explained, "but two great statements stand out in my mind today, one by Abraham Lincoln who said, 'All that I am or hope to be, I owe to my mother.' And another, 'God could not be everywhere, so he gave us mothers.'"

"The infinite love and influence of mothers is the greatest of all." (Turn to Page 13, Column 6, Please)

SHERMAN IS SCENE TODAY OF DISORDER

LARGE MOB SEEKS TO LYNCH NEGRO FOR ASSAULT CASE

(By Associated Press)
SHERMAN, May 9. (AP)—The Grayson county courthouse in which George Hughes, negro, is confined from a mob seeking to lynch him was on fire this afternoon.

At 2:30 the structure appeared doomed. The crowd had cut all fire hose and firemen were powerless to combat the flames. The building was a mass of flames.

It was reported the rangers would make a last effort to save the negro by rushing him through the howling crowds.

The blaze was started by the mob in its fourth attempt to take the prisoner. In one other try dynamite was resorted to. Ten gallons of gasoline were thrown into the basement and ignited by the crowd.

As rangers surrounded the negro in the court room where he was to have been tried today, county officers and Sherman firemen were fighting the crowds that overran the courthouse corridors, lawn and streets surrounding the building.

Tear Gas Bombs Used
Tear gas bombs were used freely by officers to drive back the crowd, and firemen ran up ladders to the second floor of the courthouse down which they forced a number of those inside the building.

The crowd rapidly grew after the negro was brought to the court room and the rangers, sent on orders of Gov. Dan Moody, surrounded the negro while county officers and Sherman firemen sought to drive back the mob.

Arrested After Attack
Hughes was arrested a few hours after an attack on a young white woman by a negro.

ASSURANCE OF CANDIDACY IS GIVEN TODAY

FORMAL STATEMENT IS EXPECTED WITHIN TWO WEEKS

(By Associated Press)
AUSTIN, May 9. (AP)—Assurance that Governor Dan Moody would be a candidate for governor in the coming primary election was seen today with his announcement, "I am figuring on getting into the race." Formal announcement of his candidacy, however, was not expected to be made for at least two weeks.

The announcement was construed as confirmation of rumors that he would run started as the result of the recent issuance of three statements in which he set out the cardinal problems now faced by the state. These points were expected to be made the main issue of the campaign.

"Figuring On Running"
In his informal announcement today, the governor said he was seriously "figuring on running." Amplifying this, he said: "The prospect of being forced to choose between Ferguson, a political demagogue, running either in his own name or in the name of somebody else, and Mayfield, a political quack and demagogue, is not very inviting to the people of Texas."

Early in Mayfield is to make his opening address tomorrow at Winnboro in his campaign for the nomination while the Supreme Court was expected to hand down a decision next Wednesday on James E. Ferguson's mandamus action to compel the state democratic executive committee to certify his name for a place on the ballot.

The charges were received by mail from Rev. Rembert Smith of Washington, Ga., and were said also to involve Bishop John M. Moore of Dallas, Bishop H. M. DuBois of Nashville, Tenn., Bishop Edwin Duose Moulton of Charlotte, N. C., and possibly Bishop W. A. Candler of Atlanta, Ga.

Although admitting receipt of the charges, Culver refused to divulge their nature.

WASHINGTON, May 9. (AP)—Owen J. Roberts of Philadelphia, special government counsel in the Teapot Dome and other oil cases, has been selected by President Hoover for the vacancy on the Supreme Court.

The nomination is expected to go forward today to the senate which two days ago rejected John J. Parker of North Carolina for the same place.

In selecting Roberts, Mr. Hoover consulted, among others, various members of the senate. By virtue of the close connection between the senate investigation and the litigation which followed, senators have followed Roberts' activities as oil counsel with particular care.

Roberts is a republican. He has just passed his 55th birthday. He has practiced law in Philadelphia since 1898.

REVIEW OF THE WEEK'S FOREIGN NEWS

By The Associated Press

BY CHESTER L. SHAW

Cable Editor, The Associated Press

Arrest of Mahatma Gandhi, nationalist leader, Monday at Jalapur, climaxed news of the wide world during the past week.

Observers of the unrest in India did not see how the government could permit the Mahatma to preach civil disobedience much longer unmolested. The nationalist leader has consistently counseled his followers to non-violence, but violence has broken out in various parts of India, and the British trace it, at least indirectly, to Gandhi's campaign.

May Day Quiet

May Day over the world was mostly quiet. Parades and speeches were the rule in most large cities, but except for sporadic rioting here and there, little trouble occurred. Two men were killed in a disorder at Havana.

The annual spring revolutionary trouble in China took a new turn. Peiping, the ancient capital of the Manchus, is to be restored to its original name of Peking under plan announced by Yen Hui-Shan, governor of Shansi; Fen Yu-Hsiang, military leader, and Wang Chin-Wel, leader of the Leftwing of the Kuomintang, or so-called people's party. They intend to establish what they call a national government, as opposed to the national government.

St. Louis Merchant Is Returned Safely

ST. LOUIS, May 9. (AP)—Jacob Godlove, 62, wealthy North St. Louis merchant who was kidnapped Monday night and held for $20,000 ransom for fifty hours, was freed late last night in Forest Park by his relatives.

Godlove revealed that he had been kidnapped while putting his car into his garage late Monday night. His son, Ralph Godlove, also a merchant, had received two letters demanding ransom under threat of death, but the matter was turned over to police and no ransom demands were met, the son said.

Spanish Tea Given Twentieth Century Group By Sorosis Members Thursday

Gay decorations emphasizing a Mexican and Spanish motif were used at a delightful program tea given by members of the Sorosis club honoring the Twentieth Century club Thursday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Allen T. Stewart, 1901 16th street. Blankets and bright swatches in every appropriate spot and bowls with early summer flowers were used throughout the entire suite.

Orange and blue were the favored colors for the dining room. The table was centered with a large cactus in a Mexican pottery bowl, which was surrounded by smaller bowls of cacti. The table was candle-lighted.

A Spanish shawl was used as a cover for the buffet, on which were placed vases from Mexico.

Pottery As Favors

It was in this colorful setting that piniceto sandwiches and orange ices were served from crystal glassware, and pieces of Mexican pottery were given as favors.

The colors red and green predominated in the other entertaining rooms, with a large Mexican flag in the background. The piano, covered with a Spanish shawl and decorated with a bowl of flowers and pieces of pottery, was especially attractive.

Guests were met at the door by Mrs. Horace Hawkins and were introduced to Mrs. Stewart and to Mrs. W. A. Jackson, president.

Those presiding in the dining room were Mesdames O. B. Hewett and J. R. B. Cooper, past presidents. They were assisted in serving by Mesdames R. S. Williams, J. B. Jackson, and R. M. Boyd.

YOUR EYES

USE NERVE ENERGY

The eyes are one of the most highly sensitive parts of the body and of course must have a greater amount of nerve energy to function properly. This nerve energy is directed to different parts of the eye, and each part must receive equally it's own proportionate part to carry on its individual work

For instance there are the three different muscle fibers that are used in focussing light on the back part of the eye to make the "picture."

Two of these fibers must do the work to let us see at close distance and the other muscle fiber acts to let us see clearly at a distant point. If two sets of the muscle fibers are used extensively at all times and the other muscle fiber is seldom used, not allowing the two in use to relax, then new blood has difficulty in flowing through them. Then quite often these muscles become cramped, a condition causing blurred distant vision, also headaches may result or a number of troublesome things may happen. These conditions are caused by the nerve energy not being equally distributed.

There are many cases of eye strain caused by nerve energy not being equally distributed to the muscles of the eye. One muscle will be getting more nerve energy than another, so eye strain is the result.

In these cases proper treatment to the eye will equalize the nerve energy sent to the eye and give the patient relief and comfort.

Some of them may require glasses, for near work only, and still others will require only exercise or treatments.

Many who come to have their eyes examined think that they must wear glasses, and do not consider that they may have eye strain that can be corrected by proper muscle exercise or treatment. As a matter of fact, a thorough examination must be made in order to be able to understand whether glasses are necessary. Glasses are the last resort used to correct the eyes.

The most scientific methods will enable the most correct and complete examination, and Optometry offers the foremost scientific methods available.

As science progresses in its forward steps of betterment, it marks each new mile with a mile stone of new discoveries in knowledge and equipment. This office commands the services of the latest and best equipment and the results of latest research work.

We wish to announce that we again are installing a new and better "Crossed-eye" instrument that is the newest and latest development offered to our scientific field.

HEARINGS ON NAVAL TREATY ARE SLATED

TWO COMMITTEES TO START WORK ON REPORT

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, May 8.—Hearings will start next week by two senate committees on the London naval limitations treaty with prospects it will be ten days or two weeks before the pact is ready for a report to the senate.

The senate foreign relations committee today decided to begin hearings Monday in open session. It invited Secretary Stimson, head of the American delegation, to be the first witness.

Secretary Adams, another of the American delegation, and Rear Admiral William Pratt, chief of the naval advisers to the London conference, will follow Mr. Stimson.

Depend on developments
Chairman Borah of the foreign relations committee said he had no other witnesses in mind, but the scope of the hearings would depend on developments.

Chairman Hale of the senate naval committee then arranged for the hearings by his committee. He announced that these would begin Tuesday.

Senator Reed, republican, Penn-

BORGER'S TURBULENT PAST IS TO BE RECALLED IN OPENING OF TRIAL FOR SLAYING OF YOUNG DISTRICT ATTORNEY

(By Associated Press)
STINNETT, May 8.—Borger's turbulent past, which resulted in the reign of martial law there, probably will be recalled here May 19 when the case of Jim Hodges, charged with murder in connection with the death of District Attorney John A. Holmes, is called for trial.

Holmes' assassination culminated many unpublished crimes and was directly followed by the declaration of martial law. He was shot to death by an unseen assailant last September, his slayer firing from ambush as Holmes was closing the door of his garage, after putting up his automobile for the night.

His wife and mother-in-law were entering the home. They turned to see the militant district attorney fall to the ground, dying. He died in the arms of his wife.

Arrested Two Months Later
It was not until November that Hodges was arrested and with Sam Jones, a former officer, charged with the murder.

At the American delegation, last of the American delegation to return to this country, reached the capital Wednesday. He went to the White House to pay his respects to President Hoover and arrived at the capital in time for the meeting of the foreign relations committee.

Once the treaty is before the senate, leaders believe it can be disposed of within two weeks.

with murder. Hodges as employed in a Borger factory. Jones had recently been returned from another state, ostensibly in connection with a liquor case, but soon after his return he and Hodges were charged.

Evidence upon which the indictment was based was not fully revealed. After the arrest of the two men a most unusual chase was held, with the accused men, accompanied by deputies, doing a tour of North Texas jails. They left Stinnett for an unannounced destination; were reported to be in Dallas, Fort Worth, Waco and other cities, and finally were returned to the Stinnett jail. The motive for these wanderings was not revealed but it was presumed that they were made to forestall premature efforts to bail out the two men.

To Prevent Prosecution
Many possible reasons for Holmes' slaying were advanced, the most widely accepted being that it was to prevent prosecution of certain murder cases which he had announced he had planned to carry forward. During the nearly two months that the crime was under investigation many clues were brought to light, only to be abandoned. One time it was announced that important papers—one a confession—had been stolen from his office. Another concerned the alleged conspiracy of officials, and still another a missing grand jury list.

Mrs. Holmes made the statement that her husband had "played a lone hand" against lawlessness in Borger "when others were afraid."

Subsequently there was a wholesale resignation of city and county officials and the establishment of a new regime under the leadership of District Attorney Clem Calhoun, appointed by Governor Moody to "clean up Borger." In the interim Borger has discarded its previous reputation as a focal point for "bad men" of the oil field.

CENSUS TOTAL FOR LUBBOCK PLEASES CITY

BUSINESS MEN EXPECT ATTENTION FROM NATION

Lubbock business men view the official announcement that this city has a population of 20,612, the greatest percentage of gain during the last decade yet reported in Texas, with a feeling that the eyes of the nation will be centered on the expanding capital of the South Plains.

This city has grown within 10 years from a town of 4,056 to a city of the present population, a percentage gain of 408.8. If the same rate of growth continues Lubbock would in 1940 record a population of 104,709.

"I believe that Dr. E. E. Barr, census supervisor, and his staff of enumerators, committees from the Chamber of Commerce, Retail Merchants association, the Automobile-Journal newspapers and the hundreds of citizens who interested themselves and cooperated in trying to get every individual enumerated certainly should be commended for the job they have done," stated A. B. Davis, manager of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce.

Mayor Clements Pleased. "I had hoped that the census figure would top the 20,000 mark," stated J. J. Clements, mayor of Lubbock and president of the Rotary club. "I was very pleased to hear that it had done so. I feel that this figure will be a great aid to Lubbock in several ways. One thing, the people of Texas and of the nation will know that Lubbock has not tried to claim more than its just due. When a city passes the 20,000 mark the world begins to sit up and take notice and I believe they will of Lubbock now more than ever."

"While it was no more than I expected," R. J. Murray, president of the Chamber of Commerce said, "I am very happy over the enumeration. I feel that the figure is very gratifying and a tribute to Lubbock and the rest of the country that such a city can be built in such a short time. It is my opinion that large manufacturing agencies, such as those of farm implements, automobiles, radios, etc., will realize that Lubbock's growth is due to the development of the natural resources and when they realize that this country is only half developed, they will establish distributing plants. This means that Lubbock will be recognized as the distributing point of West Texas."

Woods Pleased. Harley D. Woods, former mayor, also was pleased with the count. "While I am pleased with the figure, I feel that the idea of Greater Lubbock should be given more attention and stress. Texas Technological college students, numbering into the thousands, while enrolling at their homes in other cities, spend a greater portion of the year in Lubbock. I think the result will be a great advertisement for Lubbock."

"To me the result was highly gratifying," said Clark M. Mullican, president of the Kiwanis club. "I believe that there are more people here than in Lubbock, but I am pleased with the showing."

"Frankly, I had no idea that Lubbock would reach the 20,000 population," declared Carl D. Brandt, president of the American

Spent About Half Of Her Time In Bed

Plainview Carpenter's Wife Gains 7 Pounds On Argotane; Now A Well Woman

"I have gained seven pounds since taking Argotane and am feeling like a well woman for the first time in two years," said Mrs. H. O. Cole, wife of a well-known carpenter, and living at 217 Hillcrest street, Plainview, Texas, recently.

"I suffered from a severe case of indigestion, nervousness and general rundown conditions," she continued, "and in spite of everything I did, I just kept getting worse. I finally got to where I couldn't eat anything, and gas formed and caused those bloating spells. My nerves were all on edge and I could hardly sleep at all for worrying about my condition and by morning I would be so weak and fagged out I was hardly able to get up at all. I was just going down hill and I actually got so weak and listless at last I just had to stay in bed part of the time. I was gradually losing weight, and I tried all kinds of medicines and treatments, but nothing seemed to bring my health and strength back."

"One day a friend came to me and told me so much about Argotane, and what it had done that I decided to try it. I am certainly getting wonderful results, and had only taken a few doses and I knew that I had found the medicine I needed. I have improved right along ever since and can now eat anything I want and I agree with me. My kidneys and liver are back to normal, and I rest every night and sleep like a child. I have honestly gained seven pounds on Argotane and it has helped me so much, my husband is now taking it. Argotane is the best medicine I have ever seen or heard of and a medicine that will do what Argotane did for me is certainly worth recommending."

Genuine Argotane may be purchased in Lubbock at the Bowen's Drug Store.

ROBINSON DECLARES PEOPLE'S FAITH IN HOOVER ADMINISTRATION IS LOST; PRESIDENT'S DECLARATIONS NO GOOD

Business club. "It was a surprise to me, but a very pleasant one."

"I am of the opinion that business conditions generally will be greatly aided," Dr. S. S. McKay, president of the Lions club, stated. "I was agreeably surprised for I think that the two on the left hand side of the figure is much more attractive than a one."

The city total of 20,612 will replace in Doctor Barr's office for a period of five days until it is turned in to Washington will be classed as a preliminary announcement of population. After the five day period, if there are no additions or public objections made to it, the preliminary enumeration will become official.

Supervisor Barr announced last night that during the next five days any person or persons in Lubbock who have not been enumerated may yet be added to the list. He urges any persons missed to come to his office, 1210 Texas avenue, and make their report.

TO HAVE ROOF GARDEN

Lamesa this summer is to have its first roof garden. A. A. Hutton, owner of the Dal Paso hotel, is planning a roof garden on top of the third story he is adding to the structure. The complete plans will not be ready for the roof garden until a little later.

GETTING "AGED"

If reports are correct, the sheriff of Dawson county has had in captivity longer than any other sheriff of West Texas, three kegs of whiskey. The kegs were captured in a raid made by the late sheriff, Joe L. Ray, husband of the present sheriff, Mrs. Sude Ray. The whiskey was not ordered destroyed by the court and it has been kept all these years.

BUSINESS GOOD

Hobbs draws a good deal from Lamesa and other towns and Lamesa is the center of bus and automobile travel from fields to the south, to the new Lea county field. C. W. Jones and C. C. Costin own a bus line from Lamesa into Hobbs and on to Carlsbad. They report a big business, with passengers on the increase and also packages. "We don't want to carry any more packages than we have to," Austin explained. "When we began we carried anything to make the line pay. But now, with passengers increasing, we would rather carry passengers. They are freight that you don't have to help to get on and off."

A WARNING

In the court room at Lamesa, staring before the eyes of those on the witness stand, is a scriptural message. "Thou shalt not bear false witness." The letters are a foot high and there is no avoiding the message except to a person who is blind. The words were placed there at the behest of the late Judge W. C. Spencer, predecessor of Judge Gordon B. McGuire. They have attracted wide attention from visitors in the court room. Judge McGuire says they have saved considerable trouble to the court.

BUS LINES ACTIVE

Bill Watson, genial owner of the Red Star coaches, is station master of the union bus depot at Lamesa. It is located in the Dal Paso hotel and three lines of coaches start from the station. One line is the Austin Costin line to Hobbs, Carlsbad and El Paso, another the Red Star connecting Lubbock and Big Spring and the third is to Brownfield. Bill has his hands full from the first bus in the morning to the last at night. He has freight, express, passengers and mail to look after. "Business is on the increase all the time, more people now are traveling by bus than before," he said.

All names of those desiring to attend the school are requested to be submitted by 5 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

George Eaton, deputy commissioner, attended a troop meeting at Wilson last night. Plans for competing in the field meet to be held here May 17 were discussed.

PLANS READY FOR GOODWILL TRIP TO CITY

OKLAHOMA CITYANS TO VISIT HERE, MAY 14TH

Preparations for the 29th annual Oklahoma City Chamber of Commerce Goodwill Tour, May 12-17, are complete, local chamber of commerce officials were advised today.

The pullman train of Oklahoma City business leaders, state and city officials is scheduled to arrive in Lubbock, Wednesday, May 14th at 2:30 p. m.

Two baggage cars loaded with souvenirs are attached to the train. The souvenirs will be distributed among school children and there will be some for the grown-ups too, Sam Trave, souvenir chairman, has promised.

Not Sending Office Boys "We are not sending a lot of office boys on this trip," M. E. O'Neil, tour chairman, announced. "Those going on the tour are business and professional leaders of Oklahoma City, the heads of its leading business institutions."

Governor W. J. Holloway of Oklahoma, Mayor Walter C. Dean of Oklahoma City, the heads of our two big colleges, the editors of our leading newspapers are among the group.

"When we say we are coming to get acquainted, we mean it. Oklahoma City as well as other cities along the route of the tour is a part of the great southwest in whose development all will prosper. We want to work with all these communities in this great common cause. We can do it better if we know you better. That's the only purpose of this trip."

Advice

It seems to be the chief function of visiting Europeans to give advice to the United States. Since we are gradually learning how to ignore such advice, and since the giving of it seems to give pleasure to the donors, the whole system is all very nice. However, it might be well for our advisors, now and then, to get their facts straight.

A few days ago two distinguished European journalists were in Washington. Entertained at a dinner party, they arose afterward to speak their minds.

One of them, Andre Gerard of Paris, had this to say:
"Your present position is unexampled in the history of the world.
Recently you only had to take the trouble to file a request to get from England a 50 per cent share in the impetus of the seas."

The other, Wickham Stead of London, said this:
"You have asked and obtained only parity of strength. You have not sought parity of responsibility.
Those two remarks—worth noting because they represent so well the condemning attitude of most Europeans—seem to us to be somewhat wrong-end-to."

Someone should tell these visitors that America did not ask for naval parity. America granted it.
In 1921 the United States had in warships built, building and appropriated for, the most powerful navy on earth. No other nation was able to build up to us. If this country had desired it could have kept itself in first place without the slightest difficulty.

But America did not choose to do so. Voluntarily, it threw away millions of dollars worth of new warships and gave up the chance of having unquestioned naval dominion.

That needs to be remembered. We are being told, too often, that we are too intensely nationalistic, too selfish. Let the visiting Europeans bear in mind that we gave parity;
we did not ask for it, or "file a request." This "proud Britain" that Mr. Gerard speaks of was very glad to get parity.

And what is this talk about "seeking parity of responsibility"? It does not, really, mean anything; but what the gentleman evidently had in mind was that it is somehow our duty to embark ourselves so thoroughly in Europe's various intrigues that we would inevitably become involved in the next war that breaks out over there. Perhaps he can demonstrate that that is really our solemn duty, but it will take some talk.

It is just as well that this country has developed a knack for letting this advice pass in at one ear and out at the other. Regardless of that, however, our self-appointed advisors really should get their facts straight.

Peanut Politics

It is not quite 13 months since the Senate passed the Norris resolution to end the "lame duck" sessions of congress.

As to the merits of this resolution there can be no argument.
There is no valid reason for allowing congressmen defeated at the polls to spend an additional 13 months in office. There are all kinds of very weighty reasons against it.

But the Norris resolution still lingers in the House of Representatives, which in former years has killed four similar resolutions.
The House, however, has managed to do this much: continuing to ignore the Norris bill, it has sent to committee an identical resolution sponsored by a Massachusetts member. Apparently the House finds it self unable to put off the passage of this needed reform any longer;
but by obstructing the Norris resolution it is trying to take from the Norris senator the credit that is due him.

It has seldom played a pettier
brand of peanut politics.

THE PLAINSMAN

That Girl on Broadway says there are some persons who seem to prefer failure to minding their own business.

BY GOLLY, the big day is here.
The Lubbock census is announced, and now The Plainsman has to dig down in his jeans to reward
those who diligently and accurately estimated the population. Well, it wasn't much trouble for anybody and it's not going to cost The Plainsman very much so everybody ought to be satisfied. Here goes:

THE WINNERS

First—John Robert Moxley,
son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert D.
Moxley, 1809 14th street, $2.50.
Estimate, 20,176.
Second—Donald Porter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl R. Porter, 1404
6th street, $2.00. Estimate,
20,174.
Third—Mrs. H. D. Phillips, 1624
16th street, $1.00. Estimate 21-137.

When you stop to consider that John Robert Moxley missed the official census by only 436 people, Donald Porter missed by 438 and Mrs.
Phillips by 535, you'll have to admit that's pretty good estimating. Yes, sir—with 20,612 people in town to consider—not counting the other 2,406 living adjacent to Lubbock and who swell the "Greater Lubbock" total to 23,018!

A whole parcel of folks came close to figuring Lubbock's real population and they are listed, followed by their estimates, right here:

Mrs. R. H. Moore, 2117 13th, 21-
274; Mary Myles Mitchell, 1311 15th, 15th, 26,000; Chester Pruitt, Box
2085, 25,300; Lou Adair, 2209 16th, 17,471; S. S. Grant, 2425 Avenue L, 17,846; Bob Henry Porter, 1404 6th, 21,186; Mrs. C. R. Porter, 1404 6th, 19,575; Norma Parks, 1704 Avenue J,
23,883; Mrs. E. O. Parks, 1704 Avenue J, 22,883; Johnnie Pierce, 1330 13th, 18,174; Mrs. R. Q. Pierce, 1520 18th, 17,012; Mrs. Carl C. Hunt, 1205 15th, 22,800; Theda Beth Porter, 1404 6th,
21,476; Jack Moxley, 1809 14th,
21,262; Buster Moxley, 1809 14th, 21,321.

SEMI-ANNUAL OF THE CENSUS, we might just as well have a little fun with it as we go along. Cast your glances over this mess of figures.

Amarillo's city census is announced as 43,094. Abilene's as 23,129 and Lubbock's as 20,612. Yet a comparison of schoolistics in the three cities don't jibe at all. Lubbock enumerating 5,102. Amarillo, 7,680, and Abilene, 5,813, about a year ago.

There's one of two things certain.
Either people in and around Lubbock have too many children—or those in and around Abilene and Amarillo don't have enough—and you can decide it to suit yourself.

By dragging out the old family pencil and paper, Amarillo's total population is roughly six times as great as its schoolistic population, Abilene's is roughly four times as great as its schoolistic total while Lubbock's is just less than four times as great. How you gonna figure that?

Number of schoolistics has long been a basis of estimating total population and if that is the case Lubbock still has something coming to it in this nose-counting business.
The Amarillo ratio between school kids and total population is correct, then Lubbock should have a total population of around 30,000 souls, and if Abilene's is correct Amarillo has too many people in its total population, and Lubbock should have in the neighborhood of 22,000 people. That ratio would give Amarillo a population of about 32,000 instead of the 43,094 the North Plains city has been given by Uncle Sam.

NOW let's see what would happen to both Amarillo and Abilene if the Lubbock ratio were to hold good. Amarillo, instead of 43,094, would have only about 30,000 people and Abilene, instead of 23,129, would have around 22,500. Lubbock would still be sitting tight with its 20,612 souls and we'd still be happy in this vicinity.

Of course, The Plainsman
wouldn't write anything to detract from the census totals of either Abilene or Amarillo. Oh, no, Oh, no. We're just doing a little figuring in our own heads—for the fun of the thing
—and if anybody else is interested in our cogitations, how can we help it, we ask you?

Lubbock yesterday received a new total of schoolistics, the independent school district enumerating 5,721.
However, The Plainsman has used last year's enumeration in comparing with Amarillo and Abilene, because their figures used in this article were compiled last year. Their new schoolistic figures are probably as large, in ratio, as Lubbock's new ones.

THE PLAINSMAN hopes you've been interested in these few remarks about populations and school-istics. They'll probably be very

A Year In Office Doesn't Seem To Have Made President
Hoover Look Any Older, Correspondent Dutcher Reports

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON, May 9.—Your correspondent has just taken a good close squint at President Hoover to confirm a common belief that he has been looking much poorer and older

after more than a year in office,
what with all his troubles. Report
Not especially apparent, although his hair has grown quite al-
lary, an obvious
thing.

The executive offices, remodeled
since the White House fire, are much handsomer.

The most striking improvement is in the lighting. Although there's a handsome new set of black leather furniture. The down wall lights in Hoover's private office now rest in large, upturned domes and are supported by long, scabbard-like pieces of highly polished nickel, matching the Hoover hair. The shining chandelier in the center is equally modernistic with a flat frosted circular surface, a yard in diameter through which the light filters.

Trimmings, and suspensions are in nickel except for a large golden eagle, decorating the suspension about a foot above the chandelier itself. Beneath the frosted surface hangs a many-faceted crystal ball about three inches in diameter.
The new chandelier room lighting is more modern. Two ceiling light clusters are set against mirrors reflecting down on the cabinet table and fringed with crystal tassels. Wall lights are set behind frosted circular pannels inset into guiding frames featuring other golden eagles.

Well, somebody reads the stuff, anyway. And it turns out to be none other than the Hon. Cole L.
Eisele, senator from South Carolina, a fact which your correspondent acknowledges with pleased blushes. The mails brought this:

"Dear sir: I notice in the Columbia (S. C.) Record, of Tuesday, April 15th, an article on the front page, signed by you, in which you state speaking of Senator E. D.
Smith of South Carolina: 'He was the one Democratic senator who refused to vote for an increased duty on anything.'"

"Will you please point out to me where I voted for any tariff on any article, either high or low? I will thank you for this information."

"I shall withhold my reply in the Senate to this article in the Columbia Record for a reasonable time, awaiting your reply. Very respectfully, Cole L. Eisele."

Subsequent mails carried this reply:

"Dear Senator Eisele: The only information I have concerning your votes for tariff increases is to be found on Page 4072 of the Congressional Record for Feb. 18 and on Page 4075 of the Congressional Record for Feb. 19. It appears that you voted for the Connally amendment to raise the duty on hides and for the Hayden amendment to raise the duty on dates in packages."

family fuses as we go along, what's the use of living?

We know, as well as anybody, that Abilene and Amarillo are larger than Lubbock—but we aren't prepared to say just how much larger.
And by the time another federal census rolls around you'd better look out! Both Amarillo and Abilene are liable to have to go back and sit down!

NEW YORK, May 9.—Perhaps for the first time, an Atlantic liner sailed the other day with a passenger list which signed itself "one big family."

No average tourist had a chance to buy cabin room, for the entire space of the liner De Grasse had been taken over by the members of New York's Philharmonic Orchestra.

There are, if you please, something like 120 players in this symphonic organization and, starting off on a European tour which will take in Berlin, London, Prague, Brussels, Paris and way points, they were allowed to take along their wives and families. So there were some 30 wives and a considerable assortment of children.

Which reminds me that James Carroll, the "property" man at Carnegie Hall, has fallen for a large job. It is up to him to keep an eye on some 200 instrument cases, including several exorbitant-ly valuable flutes—one or two worth something like $100,000—and also see that they are properly routed on European trains which are not especially famous for their efficiency. To keep them from going astray, the packages and trunks have been marked with a large white design.

It is not, perhaps, generally known that America boasts the second largest orchestra in the world.
In the face of a great deal of talk about music in Europe, as compared to that of America, we can point with pride to the fact that the Phi-harmonic not only has an international reputation, but dates its beginnings back to 1852. Only London can beat that record.

I am told that in those dear old days, symphony musicians were not supposed to occupy chairs. They all stood while playing and doubled as ushers before each program started.

For generations the theater has maintained the tradition that come what may the show "must go on."
Actors have left the deathbed of wives, son mothers and fathers to rush to the stage in time to "go on." Men and women have played their roles in the face of every tragedy.

And now it seems, the tradition
has been handed on to the radio.
Within the past few months at least a dozen broadcasting artists have appeared on schedule despite heart-aches and heartbreaks they had just left behind them for a moment.

One of the strangest cases I have ever encountered in this connection was that of a actor who had a great reputation for playing unattractive husbands.

For years whenever a New York company was casting for a play containing such a role, he was almost certain to get the job. He had a sort of reckless reputation and was the part of a gay philanderer. Perhaps in the audience often wondered what sort of a private life he led, their notions being colored, of course, by what they had watched upon the stage.
Once in a while, a press agent would make some airy comment about him.

One day I met him at the Players' Club and we fell to talking of himself. He seemed a strangely sad and brooding man. His face was lined and gray-tinged from worry and from lack of sleep.

It appeared that for three years he had been nursing a wife, slowly dying from cancer. He was at her bedside night after night after the curtain fell. Now and then he would drop in at the club for a moment of companionship. He knew she could live but a short time and it was breaking his heart. Yet, he would go from her bedside to the theater and play a faithless husband. Funny—what?

Princess Denies
Suit Allegations

DENVER, Colo., May 9.—(AP)—Denial that her husband found her scantly clad in the New York apartment of William B. Quigley, Denver attorney, has been made by Princess Almira Kunkel, a witness in a $50,000 alienation of affections suit brought against Quigley by

William J. Kunkel, New York broker, the husband.
Testifying here yesterday, the princess said she had gone to Quigley's apartment to discuss her pen-ing divorce suit. She was fully clothed in the bathroom, dressing for a dinner engagement, later appearing in a bath robe.
She denied that she fell in love with the attorney, or that Quigley ever had made love to her.

Man Was Sure

of President

SANTA CRUZ, Cal., May 9. — "You can't arrest me," declared the young trout fisherman, "my father is a state senator."

"I can't do it," the deputy game warden is quoted as having said, "well, my brother is President of the United States."

And sure enough he was, for the deputy game warden was Prof. Theodore Hoover, dean of the school of engineering at Stanford University, who gets a dollar a year for his deputy job. He was walking through his estate in the Santa Cruz mountains when he saw Roy Felton, Jr., 19, whose father is a state senator, and two other boys fishing for trout.

The boys appeared in justice court here today on a charge of catching more than the legal limit of fish.

Arthur Mueller, one of the boys, was fined $30 for fishing without a license. Senator Felton was attorney for the three.

ADVANCE; OTHERS
RISE ACTIVELY

NEW YORK, May 9. (AP)—Accumulation of the food shares, which advanced one to three points provided a leadership that turned the tide of stocks upward in the late forenoon today after a spasm of selling had driven many leaders down one to two points under yesterday's close.

Pools, well fortified with cheap money began to push up their favorites, and high-priced issues, as usual, began to climb vigorously.

U. S. Steel rose 10 points, American Express "B" and Eastman Kodak and Borden, Seafair creamery, General Cable, "A", American Machine & Foundry and Oliver Farm equipment prior preferred between 4 and 5 points. Advances included Lowes, Westinghouse Electric, International Harvester, Locomotive, J. C. Penney and Pacific Gas Electric.

ONE APPEAL MADE IN CAR THEFT CASES

SEVEN SENTENCED BY JUDGE ATWELL IN SAN ANGELO

(By Associated Press) SAN ANGELO, May 8.—Of seven men convicted and sentenced here

Thursday in federal district court on charges of violating the national motor vehicle theft act, only one, W. E. Boswell, took steps to appeal. Judge William H. Atwell overruled Boswell's motion for a new trial and granted a 30-day extension for perfection of an appeal.

Those Sentenced

Those sentenced were: Coleman H. Armstrong, Santa Fe, N. M., 23 months, $1,000 fine; W. E. Boswell, Brownwood, two years, $1,000 fine; R. L. (Tip) Russell, Goldsboro, 15 months, $100 fine; Ellsworth W. Goree of Abilene, 18 months, $1,000 fine; W. P. Hubbard, Coleman, two years; Fred Coleman, Paradise, one year and a day, $500 fine; Russell Grooms, Clovis, N. M., two years, $100 fine. Three of the men pleaded guilty to the indictment which department of justice operatives declared to be the most extensive auto theft case in the state, bringing from $35,000 to $40,000 into the pockets of the operators.

The group of seven and Elvin W. Newham, given a year and a day on a plea of guilty to a Dyer act violation in another case, were taken to the penitentiary by Baylor Crawford, Deputy U. S. Marshal, last night.

Houston Grant and Joe Cole of Coleman county were sentenced to 30 days in the Tom Green county jail on a plea of guilty made earlier in the fourth term to the tearing down of 27 mail boxes in the Trincham community of that county.

POPULATION IN OKLAHOMA CITY BOUND

CENSUS SHOWS DRIFT OF PEOPLE TOWARD GREAT CENTERS

(By Associated Press) OKLAHOMA CITY, May 9.—As census enumeration nears completion in Oklahoma, figures received emphasize the drift of population from the smaller towns and villages to the cities of the 10,000 or over class.

Statistics available from 188 cities and towns of the state which already have reported official figures show an aggregate gain of 56,911 or 18.3 per cent despite heavy losses reported by the smaller communities.

Show 8.2 Loss Thirty-six of the 66 towns of less than 500 population, which already have reported, show an aggregate loss of 1,813, or 8.2 per cent, while the remaining 30 towns to report in this class reported increases so small that they had only a fractional effect on the total loss percentage.

In the next classification, however, between 500 and 1,000, only 27 of the 48 towns reporting showed losses, and the entire decrease for the 48 towns amounted to only 308 or .67 per cent.

Twenty-five of the 57 towns ranging from 1,000 to 5,000 showed decreases, but the other towns showed such substantial increases that the aggregate gain for this class is 5,993, or approximately 5 per cent.

Only one—Pawhuska—reported a decrease in the 5,000 to 10,000 classification, while seven others showed gains which brought the increase total to 14,342 or 36.4 per cent.

All cities in the 10,000 or over group reported heavy gains, with not one chalking up a decrease. The aggregate gain in this classification, so far, is 39,344 or 37.2 per cent.
