Heaviest Rainfall In Months Covers Large County Area

The drouth in Lynn county may not be broken but it is certainly badly bent as the result of heavy showers that covered the area Tuesday and Wednesday of this week. The rainfall for the two days in Tahoka totaled 2.53 inches. It was the biggest rain Tahoka, and much of the county, has had in many months.

Based on incomplete reports received by The News Thursday morning, practically all of Lynn county received an inch or more.

Parts of the New Lynn, Edith, and Midway communities reported up to three inches. Grassland received from one to one and a half inches. The rain was possibly a little heavier, up to two inches, over most of the Redwine and Draw areas. Wilson had only about an inch, but ranged up to an inch and a half north and east. Dixie and Wayside, and a part of the Joe Stokes community received good rains; New Home from one to two inches; Petty an inch, West Point from an inch to two inches.

O'Donnell area reported good rains, up to two and a half and three inches.

Wells and Newmoore received little moisture.

W. W. and Larry Hagood reported only about a half inch in the triangle betwen Three Lakes, T-Bar, and Wells, but it was heavier north and east of them.

Tahoka received .61 on Tuesday afternoon and another .07 that night, .36 on Wednesday morning, 1.28 in a hard shower between 6 and 7:30 p. m. Light rain continued to fal until about 10:15 p. m., and the total for Wednesday was 1.84, or 2.53 for the two day period.

Skies were cloudy Thursday morning, and more rain was in prospect.

The rains came too late for major benefit this year, but they have helped everybody's feelings Irrigation farmers will be able to cut down on their watering. Some dry land feed has a chance to make, and some other feed will grow sufficiently to furnish a cover crop.

The rainfall this week brought Tahoka's total for the year to 8.06 inches, but much of Lynn county has not received this much this year. The last rain of any consequence in Tahoka was 1.55 on August 1. We refer our readers to the table printed elsewhere in this issue for the totals by months this year and previous years.

Bulldogs Begin Season's Work

Forty-one boys reported for the 1953 Bulldog football team Tuesday, when Coaches Bill Haralson and Bill Sharpley started work-outs for the season, which opens on September 18 with the Denver City Mustangs in Tahoka.

The Bulldogs have been district champions of 6-AA the past two years in a row, but the local team is definitely the "underdog" this season.

The coaches are faced with a complete rebuilding job in the line, and this department will be filled with lighter boys than have been available the past two years.

Also, Floydada and Abernathy, both champions of their respective districts, have been added to District 6-AA this year. Other teams are Spur, Slaton, and Post, along with Tahoka.

On the birght side, Coach Haralson believes he has a squad of boys who are willing to work and study and train.

WYATT AT PLAINS MOTOR

Vernon Wyatt, well known local mechanic, is now in charge of the repair shop at Plains Motor Co., Rollin McCord announces.

N. E. Wood Quits Local SCS Work

N. E. Wood, local Work Unit Conservationist with the Soil Conservation Service, resigned his position effective last Friday.

He is being succeeded, temporarily at least, by W. C. (Bill) Thomson of Lamesa, SCS supervising engineer for the Lamesa-Tahoka areas. W. S. Goodlett, Big Spring, Area conservationist, was here on Monday to check in the new Conservationist.

In announcing his resignation, Mr. Wood handed The News the following statement:

" Effective August 28, I have resigned my position as Work Unit Conservationist with the Soil Conservation Service.

"During the past nearly eleven years that I have served with the Soil Conservation Service, I have enjoyed the wholehearted and earnest support and cooperation of various groups. Among these are the Soil Conservation Supervisors, the business men, and the farmers, with whom I have directly or indirectly worked. To all I wish to say thanks for your cooperation."

Lions Club Plans Civic Projects

The weekly Lions Club meeting was held Tuesday night in the American Legion Hall. No program was planned as several members were out of town.

The club voted to work evenings in order to build bicycle racks for the Tahoka schools. They will also paint the score board at Kelley Field as soon as weather permits.

The men are working out a competitive contest to be available for school students to enter. What the contest will be has not been announced.

Landscaping for the Lions' Plot in the City Park in underway. The plans must be approved by the City Council before work can be started sometime late in October, according to Lester Strech, publicity chairman.

The next meeting will be Tuesday night, Sept. 8.

Pastor's Wife Leads Church Program

In the absence of the pastor District Missionary F. E. Swanner ably filled the pulpit at the First Baptist Church here last Sunday morning, bringing one of his finest messages.

The young people of the church conducted the services Sunday evening under the direction of the pastor's wife, Mrs. Lee Ramsour. The program had been well orepared by her and the young folks rendered it in a fine way. Quite a number of them appeared on the program and each one or herself as the case might be. In fact it was generally pronounced as one of the finest young people's programs ever heard in this church.

Attendance at both the morning and evening services was considerably larger than it was on the proceding Sunday.

Members of the Sweet Street Baptist Church also report an increased attendance there, even though the pastor of that church was absent in a revival meeting.

Pastor Lee Ramsour of the First Baptist Church was in Alabama conducting a revival for his father, who was seriously ill. He has returned and will be in his own pulpit here Sunday in all the services.

Rev. Bill Scantling, pastor of the Sweet Street Church, will be in his pulpit again also.

Soil Meeting Set This Afternoon

Today, Friday, at 2 p. m. is the time set for the meeting in the Lynn county district courtroom of business men, Soil Conservation District supervisors, county agent, and other agriculturalists for the purpose of discussing wind erosion and cover crops, or any good prevention measures.

The board of Supervisors of the SCS district especially urges all business men in the entire county to be present. All other people interested are also invited.

The board of Supervisors feels, K. K. Moore, chairman, states, that it has some good information, but also feels that the business men have some good thoughts for the board and urges that all such business men put on their thinking caps and bring their thoughts and solutnions to the meeting for an open discussion.

Four Indicted By Grand Jury

Four indictments were returned by the district court grand jury in session here Monday.

Three of the indictments were for passing forged instruments, and involved Troy Lee Smith, Mrs. Ollie James, and William Cato.

Smith entered a plea of guilty before Judge Louis B. Reed, and was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary. He has several other forgery cases pending in other counties of the area.

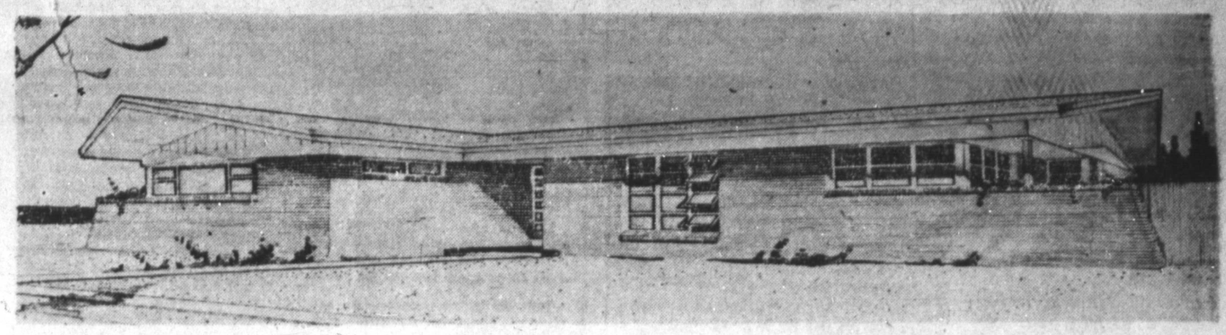

A fourth indictment was returned against a young man on a burglary charge. The young man, a first offender, pleaded guilty, was given a three years probated term, has a job and apparently has mended his ways.

The charge against Horice Crain, O'Donnell Negro, charged with stabbing a Negro woman of that city with an ice pick, was reduced to aggravated assault and he was assessed 30 days in jail by County Judge W. M. Mathis.

BULLDOG MOTHERS WILL ELECT NEW OFFICERS

The Tahoka Bulldog Mothers will meet in the High School building at 3:00 p. m. on Wednesday of next week to elect new officers, according to Mrs. Neely Brooks, vice president.

At Iron Mountain, Missouri is located the largest known mass of pure iron in the world.

NEW HOME EC. COTTAGE—Work has been started on Tahoka School's new $32,000 home economics cottage at the corner of North Second and Miller streets, immediately southeast of the High School campus. The rambling brick structure will cover 2,900 square feet, is designed to resemble a private home and will contain a food laboratory and kitchen, large living and dining room, clothing loboratory, and one bedroom, rest and storage rooms. Designed by Arnold Maeker, Lubbock architect who was reared at Wilson and being erected by Everton Nevill, Tahoka, contractor, the building represents a completely new idea in the training of future housewives and mothers. The building will be completed some time in December, it is hoped.

Enrollment Short In Local School

Tahoka schools opened on Monday with a disappointingly small enrollment, according to Supt. Otis Spears. Through Wednesday, 194 had enrolled in High School, and 59 in the 8th Grade, according to Principal Jake Jacobs, which ordinarily is about normal. However, Principal Archie Sims reported only 450 enrolled in the Elementary School.

This total of 703 is about 165 short of last year's enrollment, Mr. Spears said.

However, this figure is expected to climb as the year advances. Drouth conditions are attributed as the reason for the drop in enrollment. Many families are away at work, and many of these are expected back by the first of the year, some of them before.

Otherwise, school opening went according to schedule, with all teachers on hand, and Mr. Spears said everything was running the smoothest he had ever seen.

Mrs. Joan Townsen Gets College Degree

Denver, Sept. 3—Mrs. Dwight (Joan) Townsen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Slover of Tahoka, received the degree of Bachelor of Arts in the College of Arts and Sciences at the University of Denver here last week end in the D. U. fieldhouse.

Mrs. Townsen's husband is a ministerial student in the Iliff School of Theology of the University of Denver. Both are graduates of Tahoka High School, and both previously have attended McMurry College, Abilene.

Don Caraway, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Caraway, who formerly lived here but moved away several years ago, came back to Tahoka last week to attend the Tahoka High School as a senior student this session. The father was moving from Haskell county to Andrews, but he works in the oil fields and did not know how long he would be stationed there. Don will live with the K. E. Phillips family while here.

Only One On Police Force In Tahoka

For the first time in several years, Tahoka is operating with the services of only one policeman, following the resignation effective Tuesday, of Chief L. N. Bartley, who resigend to accept a job as deputy sheriff of Lamb county.

The remaining policeman, Roy Hefner, is being used now on night patrol principally.

The City Council has not announced whether or not another man will be put on duty, but it will definitely not employ more than two men as an economy measure, The News is informed.

Farm Bureau To Meet Thursday

Lynn County Farm Bureau will hold its annual membership meeting next Thursday night, Sept. 10, at the American Legion Hall in Tahoka, President Guy Smith announces.

The meeting will open with a watermelon feed at 6:30 p. m.

The program and business meeting will follow at 8 o'clock. Carrol Cobb of Seminole, state representative, will be the principal speaker, and Walter Ehrhorn will talk briefly on the Blue Cross and Blue Shield plans.

President Smith will report on the activities and accomplishments of the Farm Bureau during the past year.

Joe D. Unfred, chairman of the resolutions committee, will present the report from his body.

Lois Smelser, chairman of the nominating committee, will present the names of men to be voted on for director. The terms of three directors are expiring, these being Guy Smith, Ward Eakin, and Guion L. Cobb.

All members and all prospective members of the organization are urged to attend.

Jaycees Add 20 New Members

Tahoka Jaycees have taken on a new life with the addition of 20 new members as a result of the August membership contest.

The contest ended in a tie with each side bringing in ten new members. James Huey was captain of one team, and Granvel Ayer was captain of the other.

As a result, a big dinner will be held soon with the half the expense coming from the club treasury and half coming from the members pockets.

To cut expenses, the Jaycees are now meeting Thursday night in the Shorty Chestnutt building, with no meal being served. Frank Brown is the new program chairman.

Monday night members of the Jaycees and Jaycee-Ettes and the families of members held a watermelon feast at the roadside park.

Geno Jones is the club president, Dan Curry is vice president, Wendell Moore is secretary, and Charles McClellan is treasurer.

Mrs. Claude Chapman, formerly Miss JoAnn Henderson, has accepted a position as a teacher in the Plainview public school. Mr. Chapman is with a trucking firm in that city.

Agreement Is Near On Phone Service

If a majority or all Tahoka business telephone patrons of the General Telephone Company vote favorable, General is now ready to connect with Poka-Lambro Telephone Co-op for extended area service, without toll charges.

This information was given to Calloway Huffaker, attorney for Poka-Lambro Thursday morning by representatives of General.

However, the poll taken by the Tahoka City Council and the resultant action by the Tahoka body in granting General a business telephone rate raise is not enough, Huffaker was informed. General wants a yes or no answer from all business phone users.

Last week, the City Council sent poll cards to 105 business telephone subscribers. A total of 56 cards were returned representing 90 business telephones. Of this number, 33 subscribers with 61 phones voted in favor of granting a raise and 23 representing 29 phones voted no.

In accordance with the vote as indicated, the Council met Wednesday morning and voted favorable to the raise.

Most of those voting yes to the raise did so in hopes of bringing to an end the bitter dispute with General, stopping court action which may drag out for months or years, and in the hopes of getting service started quickly between rural areas and the town.

The rest of the users of business phones will now be polled.

The big fight by Poka-Lambro has been to secure extended area coverage without toll charges on area calls through General's Tahoka exchange.

General has presented sworn audits to show their Tahoka exchange income last year was only 1.64 percent, or about $1,900.00. They contend that inauguration of extended area coverage will cost them about $7,500.00, and they must have more income from the local exchange to cover same.

Under the present plan, this would be raised on business telephones only, as most of the benefit from extended area coverage would be to the business interests.

Rates on residence telephones would not be affected.

Poka-Lambro now has 350 rural telephones in their exchange areas of New Home, New Lynn, Fletcher-Carter (Draw and Grassland) and West Lakes (West Point and Three Lakes), ready to tie in with the Tahoka exchange. The area has a potential of 600 to 800 telephone users.

A raise in rates of Tahoka business telephones in order to get the extended area covrage would mean that Tahoka business telephone users would have to pay $12.95 per month, including excise tax, as compared with the present rate of $8.91 on a one-party line; $10.93 as compared to $7.19 on a two-party line.

Mrs. Joe (Maxine) Raindl of San Antonio, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Oliver of this city, underwent major surgery in a Lubock hospital Tuesday.

First Bale of 1953 Cotton Ginned

The first bale of 1953 cotton was brought in Tuesday by F. W. Tew of Grassland and ginned by the W. C. High Gin.

The bale weighed 430 pounds after ginning, and produced 750 pounds of cottonseed.

The cotton was picked from 18 irrigated acres on the Odis Tew farm, which the brother, F. W. farms, one mile east and one mile north of Grassland. The major portion was Half and Half cotton planted on April 10, but Mr. Tew had to go back and pick a little more to make a bale, and the last was from Macha cotton.

Mr. High donated the ginning, bagging and ties, and bought the seed. Mr. Tew gets a $50.00 first bale premium donated by Tahoka Chamber of Commerce, and there was a posibility that it might be auctioned off to the highest bidder this Saturday.

The first bale was placed on display at the First National Bank corner.

Sgt. Emmett V. Parker, Prisoner of Communists, Is Coming Back Home

Sgt. Emmett V. Parker, whose wife lives in Lamesa and whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. N. S. Parker of Newmoore, a prisoner of the Chinese Communists since 1950, is coming home.

He was returned to the Americans on Tuesday.

Sgt. Parker was reared at Newmoore, and attended school there and in O'Donnell. He saw service in Europe in World War II, He met his bride-to-be while serving in Italy after the war, and they were married at Buia, near Trieste, on January 7, 1948.

But Emmett was transferred to Germany immediately, and his wife, Edi, remained for a time with her parents. Late in 1948, Parker got to return to the States, and with the Government's permission, his wife came to this country. He was stationed in the Pacific Northwest. In 1949, a daughter, Trudy, was born to the couple. When she was seven months of age, in July, 1950, Sgt. Parker was sent to Korea, and Mrs. Parker and baby came to live with his parents, later moving to Lamesa.

Then, the day after Christmas, 1950, the wife and parents were informed Emmett had been killed in action.

The Italian war bride was sent the purple heart "awarded posthumously to Sgt. Parker," and she was paid $5,000 of his GI insurance, the other half going to his mother, by the Government. With this she bought a home in Lamesa. But Mrs. Parker never gave up hope, and in July, 1951, she received a letter from her husband saying he was a Communist prisoner. Incidentally, when she informed the Government he was alive, she was told to keep the money, as it was the Government that had made the mistake.

Needless to say, all members of the Parker family are over come with joy.

TAHOKA AUTO SUPPLY

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

BY C. W. HARDER, NATIONAL FARMER

One reason behind drive to reduce government employees is belief a big army of government jobholders is greater threat to nation than any foreign army.

* * *

History illustrates socialistic or communistic dictatorships are preceded by a huge corps living off the taxpayers. In time the corrosive effect of living without producing often warps mental processes of government jobholders.

C.W. Harder

* * *

An example of this socialistic thinking among government employees is supplied by Local No. 135, Federation of Federal Employees, in Vicksburg, Mississippi.

* * *

This group seeks furniture, appliances, auto accessories, sporting goods and general merchandise to sell on non-profit basis.

* * *

Letters to manufacturers are bluntly coercive. Stating that their store, called the Federal Employees Cooperative, will serve 2300 Federally employed families in Vicksburg, the manufacturer is tacitly threatened with boycott for non-compliance.

* * *

The letter states: "Because of the fact that the merchandise we will handle will be sold on a non-profit basis, there is little doubt the cooperative will command practically all the business for these lines from the 2300 families served by our cooperative. For this reason, we believe that it will be advantageous to your concern to grant us sales privileges for your products, as these privileges will virtually preclude any sales of similar lines to Federal employees in this vicinity."

* * *

Federal employment supports almost 30% of the population.

* * *

The president of one firm selected wrote a very thought-provoking reply.

* * *

Stating it apparently was the intention of the Federal employees to eliminate retailers and wholesalers, he wondered what percentage of their salaries are paid by the people they desire to put out of business.

* * *

He then stated: "At the risk of losing the business of 2300 families in the Vicksburg area, we must consider what appears to us a serious threat to the American way of life as we have known and learned of it during the last century and a half. No, if all trade and industry must be socialized and all of us become pawns in a giant wheel whose speed, direction or stagnation is controlled by a master switch, or politboro, I'll go down swinging. It seems to me now that I would much prefer to be a very thin, rugged individualist, than a sleek and well fed puppet on a string."

* * *

He probably knows some short-sighted competitor will sell the cooperative of the Federal employees commune of Vicksburg.

* * *

Many hope they will be publicized for guidance of independent retailers and wholesalers.

* * *

No Washington observer is surprised over employees action.

* * *

It is recognized government employee ranks are loaded with those who believe more in socialistic and communistic methods than the free enterprise system.

* * *

And here is the way many Washington observers refer to the Vicksburg action with a common saying.

* * *

"An unwatched bureaucrat is more dangerous to the national welfare than three Red Army Divisions."

COOPERS RETURN FROM CALIFORNIA; CALLED TO DALLAS BY ILLNESS

E. J. Cooper accompanied his wife down to Dallas last Saturday, where she expects to remain for a week or longer with her daughter and at the bedside of her son-in-law, Col. Robert E. Smith, who is serious y ill. He is the husband of the former Miss Myrtle Cooper. He has not been well since he was released from the service months ago and for the past six weeks has been a patient in a Veterans hospital in Dallas.

Mr. and Mrs. Cooper and another daughter, Mrs. Vinita Hamilton, had just gone out to Compton, California, on Ttursday two weeks ago, to visit a brother of his and other relatives, when Mrs. Hamilton heard from her husband that he was ill, so they hurried back to Tahoka, arriving Tuesday of last week. They found Mr. Hamilton improved, but on account of the reported serious condition of Col. Smith, she decided to hurry on down to Dallas.

Mrs. Ida Moore of Dallas, blind sister of Mrs, S. J. Cowart and Mr. E. H. Cunningham, who has been here visiting them the past two months left for her home by train Saturday afternoon. She was accompanied home by her daughter, Mrs. Lillie Simmons of Dallas, who came out for the purpose.

You're "sitting pretty" behind the wheel

Take this Bel Air model. First thing you'll notice is the quality of the interior. Rich-looking appointments. Roomy seats with foam rubber cushions. Turn the key to start the engine and you're ready to go.

You can see all around

You look out and down through a wide, curved, one-piece windshield. The panoramic rear window and big side windows provide a clear view in all directions.

And it's the lowest-priced line

A demonstration will show you that Chevrolet offers just about everything you could want. Yet it's the lowest-priced line in the low-price field.

Biggest brakes for smoother, easier stops

An easy nudge on the pedal brings smooth, positive response—right now! Chevrolet's improved brakes are the largest in the low-price field.

I figure this demonstration saved me many hundreds of dollars!

I expected to pay that much more for a new car until I discovered I was better off in every way with this new Chevrolet!

Let us demonstrate all the advantages of buying a Chevrolet now!

CHEVROLET

MORE PEOPLE BUY CHEVROLETS THAN ANY OTHER CAR!

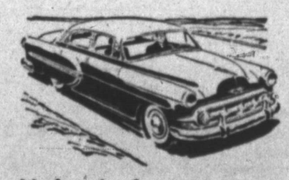

You get greater getaway with the new Powerglide*

A lot finer performance on a lot less gas. That's what you get with the new Powerglide automatic transmission. There's no more advanced automatic transmission at any price.

You get more power on less gas

That's because Chevrolet's two great valve-in-head engines are high-compression engines. In Powerglide* models, you get the most powerful engine in Chevrolet's field — the new 115-h.p. "Blue-Flame." Gearshift models offer the advanced 108-h.p. "Thrift-King" engine.

It's heavier for better roadability

You're in for a pleasant surprise at the smooth, steady, big-car ride of this new Chevrolet. One reason is that, model for model, Chevrolet will weigh up to 200 pounds more than the other low-priced cars.

Combination of Powerglide automatic transmission and 115-h.p. "Blue-Flame" engine optional on "Two-Ten" and Bel Air models at extra cost.*

ODDS AND ENDS

(BY E. I. THE ELDER)

Last week I started out to tell about the recent trip made by and other members of my family up to the mountains of Colorado and particularly about our ascent to the summit of Pike's Peak.

We have been mentioning this mountain as Pike's Peak, as everybody else does, but it is not so conspicuous on account of its peak as on account of its sheer bulk. Neither is it conspicuous on account of its beauty, for it can not be listed as a beautiful mountain. While it lifts its head 14,110 feet above sea-level, there are quite a number of mountains in the Colorado Rockies that are several hundred feet taller and also many that are more symmetrical and attractive. Nevertheless, it is the most conspicuous and the best known mountain in all the state of Colorado. Not only on account of its height but also on account of its situation, it can be seen from longer distances and from more directions than any other mountain in the state. There is probably no other mountain on the Western continent that attracts so many visitors. Mt. McKinley in the far northwest and other mountains in Canada and Alaska and even some in Idaho and Utah may be more breath-taking, and certainly two or three in Mexico, our neighbor to the south of us, and still others in the Andes of South America, are probably more world-renowned on acount of their dizzy heights, but none of them draws as many visitors as does old Pike's Peak.

Orizaba in rugged Mexico, some 75 miles west of Vera Cruz, is one of the very tallest in all North America being more than 18,000 feet high, but it is far to one side of the densely populated areas of America, is almost inaccessible to the traveling public, and hence draws comparatively few visitors.

Popocatapetl, the tallest active volcano in North America, lifting its snow-capped head to a height of almost 18,000 feet, is nearly 4,000 feet higher than Pike's Peak, and is one of the most beautiful mountains on the western continent. From a reasonable distance it looks much like a giant ice-cream cone turned upside down, so smooth and symmetrical are its lava-covered walls. But it too is situated in southern Mexico, far from the world's busiest trade marts and lines of commerce, and hence most of its grandeur is also lost up in the lofty ethereal blue. But thousands of people from the North and East and the South hie themselves out to Colorado each summer to drink in the grandeur of Old Pike's Peak and to enjoy the cooling breezes that sweep about his hoary head. Hoary? Yes, there were flecks of fine snow in the air and small patches of it on the ground when we were there last week. Yes, and unlucky for us, the fog, or clouds, and the mists completely enveloped us as we reached the summit and cut off our vision as we sought to scan the neighboring mountains and forests that surrounded or lay below the dizzy heights where we were perched following our long and triumphant climb up the big hill.

* * * *

A double-decked building has been erected on the top of the Peak, and visitors, if they wish, may climb up on to the second floor and even to the top of the tower that surmouts it, provided they do not become too weary in making the climb.

But the authorities are prepared for such emergencies, and pure oxygen will be sent down into the lungs of any person who may feel his strength to be failing him. I myself felt a little leg-weary but did not think I needed any extra shot of the offered ozone but took it mainly because it was practically free and I was sure it could do me no harm. I did not mount on up into the topmost tower, however, for the breeze had gotten rather strong and was rather cool—down to 39 degrees F. or a little lower, and I had neglected to take my overcoat along.

* * * *

And so there we are now on top of Pike's Peak along with a lot of other folks, and ready to go back down, and I have not told you scarecely anything yet about our trip up. Well, it was thrilling, all right, but there is little more that I can say about it.

We will begin at Colorado Springs, however, for that is where the highway really starts up hill. I failed to write down the average elevation of the broken foothills on which Colorado Springs stands and have not been able to find any definite information on that point since arriving home but it is my recollection that the common level is given as a little less than 7,000 feet. The ascent from that level to the summit of Pike's Peak, therefore, would be a little more than 7,000 feet. My impression is that it considerably exceeds that figure, being approximately 7,200 feet. The engineers who built the highway tell us that it is 30 miles from the sfarting point up to the top. That would indicate a climb of 250 feet per mile. The ordinary Chevrolet or Ford and most other modern cars will make the climb with little trouble. There are stop stations on the way at certain intervals where each car is required to stop for inspection and cooling off and speed limit is listed at 15 miles per hour, and the time required for the trip up and back down therefore is four hours. Any one making the drive, however, should be careful to observe all traffic regulations.

* * * *

The summit of Pike's Peak is far above the timber line. The lower portion of the big hill is covered with forests of pine, spruce and evergreen trees of many varieties, as are most of the mountains in Colorado and neighboring states, but the top of Old Pike's Peak is as barren as any sand hill or as any 1953 cotton patch in Dawson county. Its bald head extends far down over the face also the old gentleman not even having any visible chin whiskers.

What does the top look like from a close up view-point? Well it consists mainly of broken rocks —rocks from the size of a washtub to that of a Colorado dairyman's barn. In fact, from most angles, Pike's Peak does not look so much like a single mountain but rather as a pile of mountains piled up on one another and cemented together into a single mass millions of years ago perhaps, making it irregular in shape and having more than one Peak with one of them a little taller than the others. So it is a whopping big mountain. If some big metallic saw could saw the thing off at the base from the rest of the earth, on a level, for instance , with the common level of Colorado Springs, we would have a detached land mass several times as large as the whole state of Rhode Island likewise sawed off, at sea level.

* * * *

Yes, Pike's Peak is conspicuous and notable not for its syminetry and bueaty, but for its sheer massiveness. In this respect, it reminds me of old Popocatepetl's legendary lady love, Izcaccihuatl, who reclines at his side in the lofty Sierra Madre mountains near the Gulf coast of Old Mexico. But even Izcaccihuatl, more than 17,000 feet high and her reclining from (body) enveloped in a mantle of eternal snow, is for that reason, more attractive and beautiful than massive Pike's Peak. For his length and his apparent strength, he reminds me of the reclining Izcaccihuatl, but otherwise she out- shines him.

Popocatepetl and Izcaccihuatl both are Indian names, as you may know, and there is a legendary story of their love affairs dating back to the time of the Mayas and possibly to the Toltecs which we have heard but is too hazy in my memory for me to undertake to relate it here, even if it were important enough to be related, but it played an important part in ancient Indian life and they gave these names to these two mountains and doubtless worshiped them as gods. In form and massiveness, Pike's Peak reminded me of Izcaccihuatl, which I also saw at fairly close range while I was in Mexico early last year.

* * * *

Before going up on Pike's Peak, we went out to The Garden of the Gods just outside the city of Colorado Springs, and visited it again at an early hour the next morning. It is a place of strange rock formations which only the hand of the all-wise and all-powerful God, the "Unknown God" to many people, could have formed and set up for the pleasure of his human creatures here on earth. If you ever go to Colorado Springs, you will want to visit this unique example of God's matchless handiwork.

From the Garden of the Gods, we proceeded again up into the heart of the mountains and ascended the Rampart Range Mountains lying on the north side of the scenic valley that separates them from old Pike's Peak and went over a mountain pass on this range at an altitude of 9,550 feet. From there we followed a rather devious but wonderfully scenic course up through the mountains to Denver. The variety and brilliance of the mountain flowers on the Rampart Range especially attracted our attention but they are prevalent and marvelously gorgeous throughout most of the mountain country.

A strange but friendly little animal rarely seen in West Texas but plentiful everywhere in that area is the chipmunk, which will scamper out of its hiding place to hop onto the sholder of a tourist or a native to beg for a peanut, crumbs of bread, or almost anything else that is edible and platable to the chipmunk's taste. Ground squirrels and common tree squirrels are also humerous. It's interesting to hobnob with these diminutive animals of the forests if one has time for it but few of us do.

* * *

With innumerable crooks and turns to make on the highway, bridges to cross, mountains to ascend and decend, occasional stops to make at wayside parks or at small towns and villages, it seems like a very, very long 65 or 70 miles from Colorado Springs to Dinver, but we finally reached the metropolis of the Rocky Mountain area soon after noon.

In many respects, we found Denver to be an exceedingly attractive city. its large and well-kept public parks were ideal, many of its churches are remarkably beautiful, its educational institutions had not only splendid buildings but also marvelly attractive campuses, and its capitol building is the pride of all Colorado. Its dome is gold-plated, and gleaming in the bright Colorado sun-light it can be seen from many view-points in the city. I was somewhat surprised that we found he site of the city so nearly level or only slightly rolling. I hadexpected to find it situated on a broken, semi-mountainous area, but instead it is situated for he most part on a broad and nearly level plain. This was pleasing enough, but I was somewhat disappointed that so much of the city consisted of cheap and unattractive small residences and third-rate business houses sprawled out over so vast a thinly settled area. I do not know what the population of Dinver is but it prides itself on being the metropolis and the finest city of all the Rocky Mountain region east of the Paci-

Parking's a pushover with Ford Power-Steering

It's a brand new Ford "Worth More" feature—costs up to $40 less than any other power steering in its field and it's the newest and finest power steering.

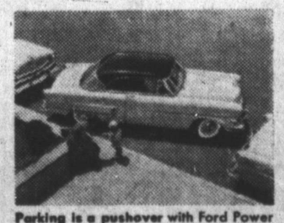

With one finger, while the car is standing still, a woman can turn the steering wheel. No longer will rough road ruts "throw you". Should ever a tire blow out, power steering assistance helps you to keep safe straight-line control. Ford Power Steering does up to 75% of the work; and it has a more natural "feel" than many others. You don't have to change your driving habits radically. The steering gear ratio is the same as without power steering and the hydraulic system gives you just the right assistance when you need it.

No change in driving habits! You could drive off in a Ford with Power Steering with absolutely no radical change in the way you ordinarily drive a car. . . . just a lot less effort!

"Wheel Shock" reduced! With a hydraulic "cushion" between your steering wheel and the front wheels, Ford Power Steering noticeably reduces "wheel shock" on rough roads.

Parking is a pushover with Ford Power Steering. In fact, all driving is a lot easier and so much more relaxing. You can easily turn the wheel with one finger while the car is standing still.

You're safer! Even if a front tire should blow out, Ford Power Steering comes to your assistance . . . gives you the "muscle" to keep the car under control. That's really extra security!

ARNOLD FURST TO PRESENT MAGIC SHOW FOR TAHOKA JAYCEE'S

The poeple of Lynn county will be fooled and hoodwinked soon by one of the nations leading magicians, Arnold Furst, the person chosen by The Society of American Magicians to represent the United States at The International Conghess of Magicians which was held in Paris, France. This program has been arranged by The Tahoka Jr. C. C. which is sponsoring the show for the benefit of a worthy cause. The show, which is called "Mysteries Around The World", will be presented in the High School auditorium Sept. 29.

It is stressed that the program will have a great appeal to the adults as well as the children. Furst entereained over one million service men during the three and a half years he was with the USO Camp Shows during World War II. His present program will feature all of the effects he performed in those days as well as many new and larger illusions. one of the most unusual aspects of this magic show is that young ladies from the audience will take part in the two most spectacular effects of "Cutting a Girl In Half" and "A Girl Floating In the Air"

Other advertised tricks are titled: Otto, The Mindreading Duck; The Enchanted Princess; Hindu Sands; Bossie, The Magical Cow and The Houdini escape. These tricks have been assembled by Furst as the result of his traveling around he world three times.

Furst and "Oscar" have performed in almost every major capital of the world. They had an audience with His Holiness, Pope Pius XII, in Rome. They had president Truman and Chief Justice Fred Vinson in their audience when they performed for more than 3,800 persons in Constitution Hall in Washington, D. C. In London they were at The Prince of Wales Theater. In Paris thousands saw their act at the Palais De Chaillot, France's most modern theater built under the Eifel Tower. In Algers they were held over at The Opera House. General Douglas MacAuthur Signed their " short-snorter,, bills in Manila.

This evening of entertainment promises to be one of the most unusual programs to be presented here this year. Furst declares that his intentions will be to keep the audience so amused and busy laughing that they will not have a chance to figure out how he performs his mystifying effects.

The Jaycees who has arranged for Furst's appearance invites all the people of this community to attend as the proceds from this show will be used for a worthy cause.

Miss Joyce Lester of Hermleigh is here visiting her friend, Miss Villa Phillips, for a few days.

J. L. Cunningham Writes From Freeport

The News received a communication a few days ago from J. L. Cunningham of Freeport renewing his subscription to the News and requesting that the paper be sent to his address there. He will continue to reside in the home of Cecil Collins, his late wife's son-in-law, with whom they resided for many months prior to her recent death.

Mr. and Mrs. Cunningham were residents of Lynn county for many years and resided in Tahoka for some eight or ten years before moving to the environs of Houston on account of their failing health.

Mr. Cunningham declares that he greatly misses his Tahoka friends, especially at Sunday school on Sunday mornings. He would be glad to receive letters from his friends at Box 1146, Freeport, Texas.

I. B. HILL HAS SURGERY WHILE VISITING SON

Mr. and Mrs. I. B. Hill returned home a few days ago from a two week's visit in South Texas with their son, Kelly Hill, and family and with other relatives in Houston.

On the night they were to return home, I. B. had to undergo surgery for an acqute attack of eppendicitis, after having been released from five days hospitalization.

Kelly drove them home and remained a couple of days to visit his parents and other relatives here.

After spending a vacation of two weeks here visiting and on a pleasure trip to Colorado and Yellowstone Park in Wyoming, Miss Berta Hill, who is employed in a state welfare office in Seguin, left for that city early Sunday morning to resume her work there. She is a daughter of the senior editor and visited all the connection here. She was accompanied to Tahoka and back to Seguin by Mrs. A. J. Mullins, wife of a former well- known business man of this city. He and Mrs. Mullins now live in Seguin. She came up to visit a sister and a daughter who live at Idalou in Lubbock county.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere gratitude to the doctors and nurses who have been so faithful in their ministrations during these weeks of our suffering, to the dear friends who have brought food and flowers and helpfulness of every conceivable kind, who have furnished blood when needed, have done countless other acts of kindness and spoken cheering words of comfort—to all these we offer our sincere thanks, and May God bless you all. Gratefully, Mrs. Cora Bennett, Mr. and Mrs. Clay Bennett.

CARD OF THANKS

We again want to thank our good neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Vester Stone, Mr. and Mrs. Omer Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Schulz, for seeing after our things while we were away and during I. B.'s illness. After our return, they still came to help. There are none better than the good folks of Dixie. Again, we thank you.—Mr. and Mrs. I. B. Hill, Mr. and Mrs. Kelley Hill and LaJaun.

CARD OF THANKS

I want to thank everyone who remembered me on my birthday—for the cards, letters, flowers, and gifts. And I do enjoy your visits. I would not want to live without friends. God bless all of you.—Mrs. John Berry, Route 2.

The cotton harvesting should not be considered complete until the cotton stalks have been destroyed and plowed under. Early stalk destruction is important to cotton producers because it is a very effective insect control practice; good cultural practice and gets the land ready for the winter legumes.

A hunt for drouth-resistant plants is now being made in the drouth area by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station.

Sought are propagating stocks of native range, pasture, and forage plants which appear resistant to drouth.

On June 1 of this year, there were 960,00 milk cows on Texas farms. This figure is far below the peak of 1,394,000 reported for June 1, 1944. Most other parts of the country are showing increases in the number of milk cows on farms.

Humus is most valuable to growing crops when it is breaking down. Humus helps hold the moisture, nitrogen and other plant food in the soil and makes the soil easier to handle.

Look what your FORD dollar buys!

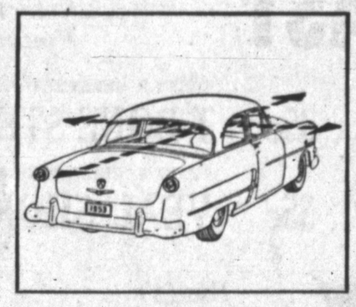

Check the features below against any car in the low-price field and you'll see why Ford's worth more when you buy it...worth more when you sell it.

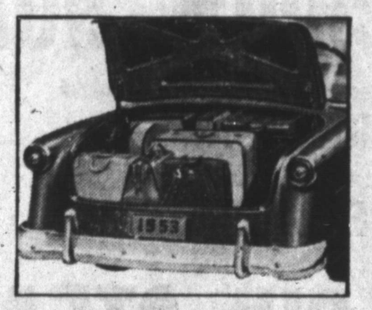

V-8 POWER is yours in Ford—but not in other low-priced cars. It's the product of Ford's experience in building over 13,000,000 V-8's! Ford's high-compression, low-friction Mileage Maker Six with Overdrive, is the Economy Sweepstakes winner.

ROAD-LEVELING RIDE reduces front end road shock alone up to 80%. Wide front tread, diagonally-mounted shock absorbers take tilt out of turns. You'll discover in the '53 Ford that a car need not be excessively heavy to ride smooth as silk.

FULL-CIRCLE VISIBILITY is yours in Ford. With huge, curved, one-piece windshield, car-wide rear window and "picture windows" all-around, Ford has more "look out" area than any car in the low-price field. I-REST tinted glass also available.

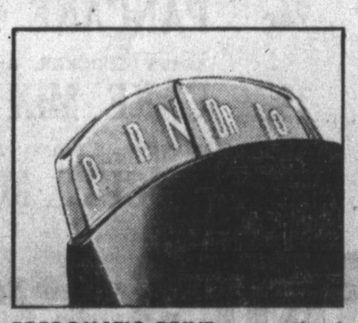

ROOMY TRUNK is one suitcase bigger . . . bigger than any other luggage compartment in Ford's field . . . bigger than you'll find in many of the expensive cars. With Ford's Center-Fill Fueling, there's no long gas-fill pipe to eat up your trunk space.

SUSPENDED PEDALS make braking and clutching easier . . . allow more clear floor space . . . eliminate dusty, drafty floor holes. This feature, exclusive to Ford in its field, permits dash-mounting of brake master cylinder for easy accessibility.

FOAM-RUBBER CUSHIONS over non-sag springs in Ford's sofa-wide seats make even long trips a treat. And you'll find that only Ford in the low-price field offers this fine-car feature as standard equipment on both front and rear seats in all models.

FORDOMATIC DRIVE—an optional extra—is really two automatic drives in one. It has a fluid torque converter for smooth, steady power flow. It has automatic gears for greater "get-up-and-go." Ford also offers you Overdrive and Conventional Drive.

MASTER-GUIDE POWER STEERING—an optional extra on V-8 models—gives you the natural "feel" of steering on the straight-away yet takes the work out of turning. Absorbs road shocks before they reach the steering wheel—adds to safety.

If you're interested in A-1 used cars, be sure to see our selections.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

Often major Washington explosions are triggered by a circumstance obscure to the public.

* * *

Thus, recent request of major airlines could set off probe.

* * *

Major airlines have applied to CAB, the Civil Aeronautics Board, for permission to reduce commissions paid thousands of independent travel agencies. CAB has authority on everything pertaining to civil aviation.

C. W. Harder

* * *

CAB has in the past taken many steps to block independent airlines from competing with the majors, so they apparently feel it will be a routine matter to secure approval for the plan to cut down the independent travel agent. Yet, the issue, from the airlines' standpoint, is so petty, it may be the straw that breaks the camel's back.

* * *

Independent travel agents are credited with doing a great selling job for air travel, but in addition travel agents have become almost indispensable to the traveler. Buying transportation through an experienced travel agent who knows facilities, connecting lines, and other data, the traveler avoids standing in line in an airline ticket office, the often futile attempts to seek information from a green clerk and other harassments.

* * *

For this service, the travel agent receives a 5% commission. Thus, on a cross country trip, the average commission to the agent for all his services is only $4.95. But now the major airlines want to cut this to $1.50.

In fact, major airlines are going even further.

* * *

Fully staffed ticket offices are opening in many communities so small they do not even support a medium-sized department store. In smaller towns they are trying to sell tickets through traveling ticket trucks.

* * *

It is important to bear in mind that airline tickets are not a commodity bought by a large share of the people on a frequent basis. Thus, in many communities there is no economic justification for an airline office.

* * *

Yet major airlines are willing to spend dollars to save pennies.

* * *

Therefore, this move may start a full scale probe of airlines.

* * *

There are many in Washington, in and out of Congress, who have long asked, "Just how good is the business management of the major airlines?"

* * *

It is based on several factors.

* * *

For example, despite the fact that the major airlines receive millions from the U. S. Treasury as a mail subsidy, in practically every major U. S. city plush airline facilities occupy highest valued property.

* * *

Yet, when independent competition has succeeded in getting permission to fly, despite CAB obstructions, it has given the public good low-cost service at a profit with no subsidies.

* * *

Many in Washington feel major airlines represent monopoly practice in the highest degree. Competition is restricted by a government bureau and they enjoy heavy subsidies. And now, to keep from paying 5% commission on tickets, the major airlines are willing to spend several times that amount to operate ticket sales facilities in small communities.

Mrs. L O Mitchell Buried Sunday

Mrs. L. O. Mitchell, 59, died at her home in Grand Prairie Friday after an illness of several months. Mrs. Mitchell and her late husband formerly lived in Tahoka, and L. O. was plant man for the local telephone exchange. She had moved from Arlington to Grand Pairie a few months ago.

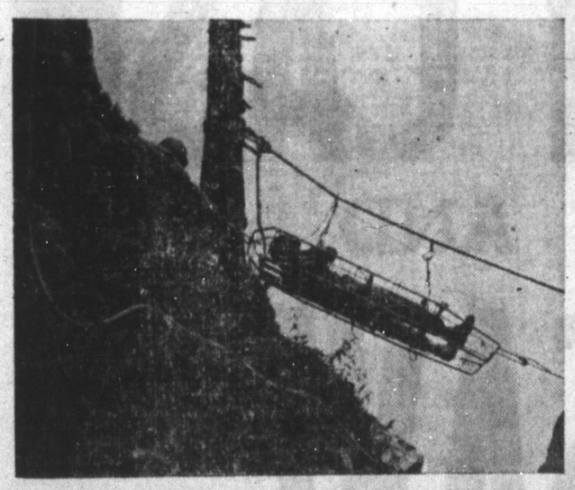

Funeral services were held Sunday at 2 p. m. in the First Methodist Church of Arlington, with the pastor, Rev. Catt Henson, officiating assisted by the Eastern Star Chapter. Burial followed in Parkdale Cemetery, Arlington.

Survivors include a son, Leland O. Mitchell Jr. of Paris; three daughters, Mrs. Frances Jane Sproles, Mrs. Evelyn Mae McIntosh and Miss Mary Margaret Mitchell, all of Grand Prairie; mother, Mrs. J. W. Oliver of Fort Worth; Four sisters, Mrs. E. C. Green of Houston, Mrs. W. R. Lindley of Terrell, Mrs. J. H. McDonald of Farwell, and Mrs. G. L. Compton of Fort Worth; and one brother, W. L. Oliver of Grand Prairie.

Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Fortenberry of Kerrville, residents of the New Home community for many years, came up from Kerrville Monday to look after their property interests, but returned to Kerrville Wednesday. Mrs. Fortenbery dropped into the News office Tuesday to extend their subscription to the News for another year and had a kind word to say about the paper. She reported that the drought had been severe and long-continued in the Kerrville section but was broken by good rains about a month ago and the grass was getting green again, and stock were getting fat.

MOUNTAIN CLIMBING has its own technique especially in warfare. These soldier-students at the Army's Mountain Training Center at Camp Saalfelden, Austria, demonstrate how a rifle platoon uses a fixed rope to scale a height.

SHARP FANGS of a sentry dog pierce the padding worn by a soldier "agitator" at the Army Dog Training Center, Camp Carson, Colo. This is one step in training Army sentry dogs to guard Army supply depots.

SOFT HEARTED THIEF RETURNS LOOT TO BRIDE

This is a simple story of a thief with a heart.

Last Saturday Miss Merle Dunnagan, Austin, and John E. Pulliam, San Antonio, took out a marriage license, at the county clerk's office here.

While eating at a restaurant here Sunday night, a car prowler stole a box containing the marriage license, wedding band and gifts for all the attendants.

Tuesday Miss Dunnagan, a distraught bride-to-be found a paper sack in the driveway of her home In it was this note: "Sorry, wish you lots of luck."

Also in the sack everything that had been stolen.

The above story was clipped from an Austin Daily newspaper and sent to Judge and Mrs. A. L. Dunagan by a close relative on Wednesday of last week.

The "bride-to-be" mentioned in the story is a niece of Judge Dunagan, the daughter of a deceased brother, and has been employed for the past two years in the office of the state highway commission in Austin. The marriage rites, delayed for a few days by the intervention of the thief, were made possible after all by his soft-heartedness, and the couple were actually married on Friday of last week and all parties concerned made happy again. But the Tahoka judge and his wife were unable to attend the ceremonies.

Howard Payne of Clovis, N. M., formerly in the insurance business, here visited Tahoka friends Wednesday while en route to Big Spring.

Court Justice Is Tahoka Visitor

Will Wilson of Dallas, associate justice of the Supreme Court of Texas, was guests speaker at Tahoka Rotary Club Thursday noon of last week.

In an interesting talk, he stated that government ownership is the most primitive form of government. Most of our problems today are the same old problems under a new name—the problems of a free people as opposed to totalitarianism.

He said up until 1776 there was not freedom as we know it today. Government operated on the theory that the state, or the King, dictator, or other ruler owned and controlled all the land and material property and wealth, and actually the people were subject to the whims of the rulers. Land was worked by permission of the governing body rather than as a privilege of ownership.

He cited instances in past history of our world. In the days of the Roman Empire, the citizens waged an apparently losing fight, but the government instituted free food and living quarters for the needy and also instituted labor legislation. Attempts were made to freeze earnings and to freeze people to their jobs.

Today, the fight still goes on in this world with the citizens of a republic on the one hand and the subjects of the monarchy on the other. Communism is simply a new name for a similar controlled state, he emphasized.

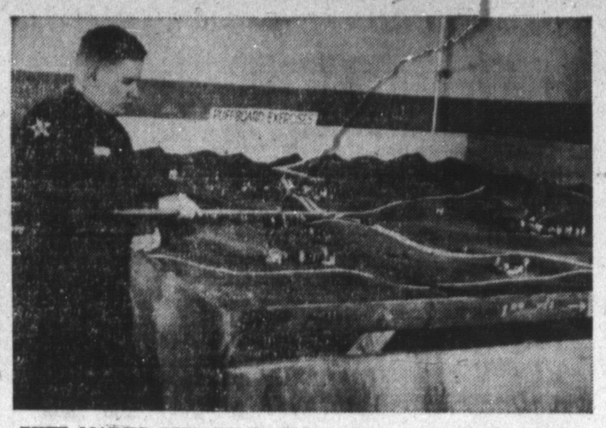

Even with the republic, the citizens must keep awake to protect their freedom.

The speaker was introduced by Truett Smith, program chairman for the day. Judge Wilson is one of the youngest men ever to serve on the Texas Supreme Court.

President Winston Wharton announced the coming inter-city meeting sponsored by the Lubbock Rotary Club on Sept. 15, when Senator Lyndon B. Johnson will be the principal speaker.

Durwood Howard and Fred McGinty are in charge of the program for September, Chairman Clint Walker announces. The annual Rotary Ann-teachers banquet will probably be held late this month.

Drouth Feeds And Feeding

J. H. Jones, Animal Husbandman Texas Agricultural Experiment Station.

Protein is the most important single feed nutrient in drouth feeding and the first necessity is to meet the livestock's need for this nutrient.

At drouth relief prices, cotton seed meal is the cheapest source of protein. Corn is the cheapest source of energy, followed by wheat and then oats. Under drouth conditions cattle need approximately 2 pounds of 41 percent protein cottonseed meal or cake as a protein supplement and sheep and goats three-tenths pounds daily. Since cottonseed meal, cake or pellets supply energy as well as protien, under situations of some dry forage, the cottonseed meal may supply not only the needed protein but enough energy also.

The question of how much grain to use after the protein needs are supplied depends on the condition of the stock, weather conditions and how much feed can be had from other sources.

Amounts of corn, wheat or oats to be allowed in addition to the minimum protein supplement of 2 pounds and .3 daily should be flexible.

However, it is suggested that 4 pounds of either wheat or corn plus 2 pounds of cottonseed meal be allowed for cattle. This ration may be replaced with 5 pounds of oats and 2 pounds of cottonseed meal.

For sheep and Goats .75 pounds of either wheat or corn plus .3 pounds of cottonseed meal is suggested. This ration may be replaced with one pound of oats and .3 pounds of cottonseed meal.

Further if the supply should permit, as much as 4 pounds of cottonseed meal. cake or pellets should be allowed for cows with calves and .7 poduds for ewes with lambs. If there isn't enough of a single feed to go around, then it is suggested that allowances be made to take care of animals showing the greatest need. Close observation is a very important consideration when livestock are being handled under emergency conditions.

MRS. J. H. COLLENBACK VISITOR IN TAHOKA

Mrs. J. H. Collenback, a resident of Tahoka for many years, was here last week visiting old friends. Mr. and Mrs. Emory Nance brought her to The News office for a brief visit. She is visiting in Lubbock this week, but expects to be back here this week end to visit others.

Mrs. Collenback, who came here in 1921 and left in 1939, has been living with her two daughters, Mrs. L. D. (Dovie) Anderson of Hammond, Louisiana, and Mrs. C. B. (Leta) Grissom, Lamesa, Motor Route B.

Mr. Collenback operated a blacksmith shop here for many years. He died in 1937 from burns received in an explosion and fire at his shop.

Mrs. Collenback was amazed at the many improvements made in Tahoka since she left, and said she had still rather live here than anywhere she knows. A few years ago she fell and broke a hip and still has to use a crutch to get around.

Last year's valuation was $5,518,000. The consolidation of the the Newmoore district brought this to $5,813,513. In order to meet the budget, the valuations have been raised to $6,750,000, or an increase of $936,587.
