A RIGED WAR ON INTOXICANTS

The Railroads Throughout United States Opposes Its Use

Chicago, Ill., April 19.—General managers of railroads throughout the United States are conducting a campaign against the use of intoxicating liquor in construction camps and results already achieved, it is said, have been exceptionally satisfactory. A report disclosing the evil effects of alcoholic liquor on men engaged in railway construction, prepared by the chief surgeon of a construction company, recently was given wide circulation among railroad officials. A statement was issued by J. L. Campbell, engineer of maintenance of way of the El Paso and Southwestern Railroad, says: "The El Paso and Southwestern Railroad can bear witness to the beneficial effect of the absence of such liquor as a result of experience in extending its lines recently to Tucson, Ariz. The construction period lasted for twelve months and about 1,200 men on the average were employed. Saloons were not allowed at any point along the line of this work, a distance of sixty-five miles from Fairbanks to Tucson.

Record Breaking Cattle Receipts

Fort Worth, Texas.—Although large consignments of South Texas cattle passed through the Fort Worth market enroute to pasturage, all previous records in cattle receipts were broken in April. The cattle receipts for the month aggregated 120,385 and is considered as an indication of an onward move in the cattle industry. During the week ending April 26, 35,306 cattle were received at the stockyards which is the largest run in any one week in the history of the yards.

Mr. Beach Returns from Trip.

Mr. Beach returned last week from an extended trip by auto, over a great deal of the South Texas coast country, including San Antonio, Coryus Chisti and other prominent points, and Mr. Beach informs us that in all his travels he has found no country that looks as good to him as Wellington and Collingsworth county.

Judge Cocke Improving.

We are pleased to acknowledge the receipt of a card from our most worthy County Judge who is at Mineral Wells, stating that his health is improving fast, and that should same continue he will be home in a short time, all of which will be good news to his many friends throughout the county.

"MEET ME AT THE MASS MEETING"

Patriotic Citizens Come Out To-Night—Your Duty Demands It

The citizens of the Wellington Independent School District will meet tonight to raise additional funds to apply to the new school building. The $12,000 bond issue recently voted, which is the full extent of our bonding power at present, is conceded to be insufficient for a building that will meet the demands of the town.

That this policy on the part of the trustees and patrons for increasing the sum to the required amount should succeed there is little doubt in any mind, for already there has been several large donations volunteered by both the commercial interests here and the land holders throughout the district.

To erect and equip a first class building, suitable to accommodate all the grades for a sufficient time to come until another ward will have to be cut out or a central High School erected will require additional funds.

The Leader has devoted much effort toward realizing this thing, and now that the last important matter in connection with the finances is to be disposed of tonight, and the new building is assured for the fall school opening, we again express a confidence that the people of Wellington will have the best school that can be afforded.

Three Year Old Child Dies.

We regret to chronicle the death of the little three year old Willis Emma, second child of Rev. G. W. Ellis, which occurred Wednesday night of this week. The little one had only been sick a short time from a severe attack of Whooping cough.

We join a large host of friends in extending to Mr. and Mr. Ellis deepest sympathy in the loss of their precious child.

Mr Rhodes Comes Back at Us.

Dallas, Texas, May 12, 1913. The Leader, Wellington, Texas.

Gentlemen:—

Just to pass away the time while I am here, I will in reply to my friend Durham, say a word or two. I don't think he did me just right, as he waited until I left for Dallas for an operation to write me up in regard to our little "row" which began last year as the result of my "feed crop and bank account" at the end of the year. He intimated that he took a "cold one" on me, and I think when I get back I will take one on him for writing me up while away. Now in regard to it taking two banks for me to do business with, he thinks that by that my bank account is on the right side of the Ledger.

And then my friend Durham forgot that I borrowed money from both banks. Does that sound like my account is on the right side of the Ledger? I am spending some of that Maize money now.

Tell all my friends I am doing fine and that I will be up in two or three days.

Respectfully,
J. B. Rhodes.

We all rejoice J. B. to learn that you are doing so well, and will be glad to see you home and in good health again. Yes, and we'll set 'em up too, when you get in. T. D.

OUR PRODUCTION OF FLEECY STAPLE

Statistics Just Published by the Government for Year of 1912

The total number of bales of cotton ginned in Collingsworth County from the crops of 1912 is 11163 according to a report which has just been issued by the Federal Census Department. This total excludes linters and the department counts round bales as half bales. The total production of Collingsworth County in 1911 was 10288 bales, 7278 bales in 1910. The total production of Texas in 1912 was 4,645,172 bales which is the largest production in history. The crops of 1911 and 1910 were 4,107,152 and 2,949,968 bales respectively.

No values have been announced on the Texas Cotton Crop but the large yield in the State was, in a measure, offset by the partial failure in other portions of the South which has had a tendency to keep up prices.

STRAYED—One brown mare mule about 14 hands high, from my place on the river, about a week or ten days ago. Will pay liberal reward for return of mule or information that will lead to its recovery. E. W. Cocke.

Home Came Near Burning

The cozy and beautiful home of Judge R. H. Cocke Jr., caught fire in some unknown manner last Thursday while the family was out, and it was only by the heroic efforts of neighbors that the entire building was not destroyed. We are informed that considerable damage was done to the room in which the fire originated. It is thought that the fire may have been caused by clothes becoming ignited while the lady of the house was doing some ironing.

J. B. Curtner Moves Drug Stock.

Mr. J. B. Curtner one of our popular and up-to-date druggist, has moved his splendid fixtures and stock of drugs to the building formerly occupied by the Bailey Grocery Co., on the northeast corner of the square. Mr. Curtner is a splendid business man, has a nice stock of drugs, up-to-date fixtures, and as he has an excellent location, will no doubt continue to do a good business. The building has been rearranged to some extent, the rear having been fitted up for two physicians, in fact when everything is established, this will be one the nicest drug stores in the city.

We will buy your chickens, butter and eggs. The Leader Grocery.

UP-BUILDING OF THE COMMUNITY

The Success of Anyone Depends Upon the Success of Others

It is remarkable how much our own success depends upon that of our neighbors. No man desires to live in a community where most of his neighbors are unsuccessful. If the majority of the people in the settlement cultivate poor farms, live in poor residences, shelter their scrub stock in dilapidated barns the roads will be poor, the schools inadequate, the churches unsatisfactory.

Under such conditions social life will lack progress and substantial; progressive home-seekers will find such a community undesirable and the result will be that the same people will remain in that community or others no more progressive take their places. A man who is so unfortunate as to have such neighbors has no encouragement; can make little advancement in education will be handicapped for better roads, adequate markets, diversified farming and in the essential for better farming—co-operation.

When our neighbors prosper financially we have an opportunity to sell our products, buy theirs and co-operate with them in making the most desirable plan for progress. We lend their influence for community building with the result that there are better schools, good roads, larger and better churches and increase in land values.

The sooner we as individual realize our own responsibility in neighborhood co-operation, the better it will be for us and the state. Every community is a state in miniature, not inclosed by walls, but held together by human sympathy which extends beyond neighborhood and township lines and reaches to remote corners of the state. And every community where such co-operation prevails in a factor in the development of the state and nation.

It is possible for selfish persons to prosper at the expense of their neighbors and without the co-operation and sympathy of those with whom they come in contact, but it is more christian like and civilized and a great deal easier and it gives more satisfaction for one to prosper because he helps his neighbors prosper.—Farm and Ranch.

Will Build Nice Bungalow.

Mr. Jim Moore the efficient manager of the J. C. Wooldridge Lumber Co., is breaking dirt for the erection of a new and handsome bungalow home, on his beautiful lots some four blocks southwest of the square, which when completed will be one of the nicest and best homes in the city.

Misses Beech and Boone.

Misses Beach and Boone who were to have given a recital at the Baptist church Saturday night May 17th will not be here before next week. They haven't made a date yet but will soon. They come highly recommended, and those who fail to hear will miss a treat.

Watch for announcement in next weeks paper. Every body come.

DRESS LENGTHS At Less Than Usual Prices

This time of the year our Dress Goods Department goes over its stock and finds odd lengths of Dress Goods—some enough for one, some enough for two dresses—some just enough for a waist. And these "just enough for one dress" or "just enough for one waist" lengths are sharply reduced in price to close them out.

Shrewd buyers come each season to look over these short lengths and they buy as many as they can because they know what good values are. They buy now and make them up when they are ready.

We have the fittings and trimmings at saving prices, too.

But the early buyer, like "the early bird" finds the best selection.

Republicans Bombard

Now the heavy guns are thundering in the senate and the Underwood tariff bill is being bombarded by Republican stand-patters. There is no use; the handwriting is on the wall. William Howard Taft and his party failed to bring about a downward revision of the tariff. Now Democrats are intrusted with the jobs and the signs in the heavens indicate that it will be a most thorough one. It may not be pleasant to wool growers, cotton growers, and livestock growers. The sugar planters may be disappointed, but the Underwood tariff bill is very certain to go to the President and receive his approval. Business men are willing to accept it and give the party of Jefferson an opportunity to show what it can do along tariff lines. The pledge was made to the people that the trusts fostered by a high protective tariff would be destroyed in the event of Democratic ascendancy. A Democratic Moses led his people out of the wilderness and is doing the best he can—Fortworth Record.

Hail! Hail! Hail!

If you want your entire crop insured from hail, see A. J. Bradfield. He writes for the St. Paul Mutual Hail and Cyclone Insurance Co. of St. Paul, Minn., incorporated in 1897. They have a surplus to policy holders of $342,707.72. It will cost only 70 cents per acre with 10 cents per acre cash and 60 cents per acre note due Oct. 1, without interest. It takes effect April 1, and lasts until September 15. You get $10.00 per acre if you have a total loss. Get busy for you know it hails in the Panhandle. This company is reliable and under the jurisdiction of the Commissioner of Insurance of Texas.

R. J. Bradfield
Dodsonville, Texas.

Card of Thanks.

We take this method of extending our most sincere thanks to all who so valuably assisted in the saving of our home last week when same caught fire, had it not been for your heroic efforts the building and its entire contents would have been destroyed.

Immoral Songs

The woman's clubs of Chicago have inaugurated a crusade against suggestive and immoral songs. It is about time. That music should be put to such base uses seems unpardonable. It shows the perverted taste of the time. There should be a penalty fixed by law to punish and imprison men who pander to the vulgar taste of the masses by writing suggestive songs. Some are contrived with such insidious skill and the vulgar points is so cleverly veiled that to the innocent they seem harmless. At the same time the sting is there and will be felt in the end.

Song is the gift of God to his children. Music is a most potent and powerful factor in the world. It has commanded influence since the day of creation. It is known to every nation. From the remote days of the stone age down to the present time music has had a wonderful influence upon the race.

That music is abused should be properly a crime. Hymns have been written in praise of the Creator. The worship of God is carried on in song. Glad tidings are told in inspiring harmonies. The saddest messages are conveyed in tearful cadences. Martial music has inspired patriots in time of war. Men have faced death on the battlefield with their eyes bright and with fear no longer in their hearts, banished by the inspiring sounds of music.

When the message of music is delivered we should all be pleased and when man so far forgets the purpose of music as to pervert it to base uses and appeal to the lower instincts of his fellow beings with obscene songs he should hang his head in shame. The musical comedy has been gestive songs. The play of words is sometimes clever, but encouraged by society's acceptance of these racy song hits, composers have gone a little too far. Some are so holdly broad, and so obscenely vulgar that good taste forbids them being sung in public.

In the lower order of theaters, in the burlesque houses, no effort is made to restrain the introduction of many vulgar compositions. Here is where the law should intercede.

Indecent songs are worse than indecent books, and both are bad enough. Just what charm can be found in works of this sort it is not quite clear to understand. Yet there is a morbid streak in some human beings that is only satisfied when appealed to by vulgar songs and stories. It is not a natural taste. It is an indication of a diseased mind.—Commercial Appeal.

Those Democrats who always vote the ticket straight (except when Bryan is the nominee) are now charging that President Wilson is being "coached" by Bryan. That may or may not be true, but if true, then President Wilson is to be congratulated. There are just thousands of us fellows who have never yet got over being Bryan Democrats. At times Bryan may be wrong, but he made no mistake at Baltimore when he made the nomination of Woodrow Wilson possible. Bryan has said, however, that he would have no part in the framing of the new tariff. The credit for that should go to Mr. Underwood and the President himself. —Wichita Falls Times.

This is the season of the year when the sweet girl graduate is in her element—God bless her. Right here we wish to state that every girl and boy who leaves the school room in the country, town or city high school should go right on to school. Yes, they should. They do not know it all, by any manner of means. A little learning may be a good thing—but more learning will prove to be a better thing as they go on down toward the setting sun. Go to some good school. Stay with it. Finish the course. Do not think all has been learned when a high school diploma has been received. Verily, there are many other worlds to conquer and the little inexperienced graduate has only just begun climbing over the first obstacle in the road to learning. —Higgins News.

Every habitation is not a home. Alas! No! We have seen a beautiful house, richly appointed, supplied with every luxury, whose beautiful tapestried walls and lovely carpets, all flower-strewn, handsome furniture, exquisite china, sparkling cut-glass and silver, beautiful flower yards, make a picture of lovely beauty, and would suggest a real "fair land," everything wealth, skill and taste could command, whose inmates were highly educated and considered very refined, and yet that was no home, and the Christian father of that family would go from a daintily spread breakfast table; and a cross, ill-tempered, silk robed wife, and not one kind word, not a single ray of sunshine to chase away the gloom of a busy business man's long days. The boys were glad to get off to school, out of the reach of mother's scolding tongue, and a "beautiful fashionable" daughter fretted the day away over novels that didn't turn out like she wanted them to, and dresses that didn't hang just right, and spent the evening and a goodly part of the night dancing and saying silly things to a more silly young man. Why was this home so unhappy? Because the mother was not in sympathy with the father and children, and the children were uncongenial with each other. So wealth alone cannot make a happy home.

Democratic-Socialist Debate.

We are requested to announce that on Saturday night May 24, there will be a joint discussion at the court house in this city, between representatives of the Democratic party and representatives of the Socialist party.

The question for discussion will be: Resolved "That Socialism as defined by Standard Authorities, should prevail". Messrs H. M. Hurst and Warren Johnson, Socialist, will defend the Affirmative side of this question, and Messrs W. N. Benson and J. W. Richards, Democrats, will represent the Negative side.

These men have debated this question before and each time the occasion was well attended and enjoyed by all present, and no doubt should the weather be favorable on the above mentioned night standing room even, will be above par, in the big court house auditorium. everybody is invited, and especially the ladies.

What You Eat

is an important question to be con-you eat to live, or live to eat, the things you eat should be good.

The grocer who sells an inferior quality of goods is not working to the best interest of his customers, but his profit is given first consideration. While we like to make (and do) a reasonable profit on our goods, yet that is not our sole ambition. We want satisfied cus-them, is selling the best goods at a reasonable margin of profit,

COLLINGSWORTH PORK PRODUCTION

The Farmers' Union is inaugurating a "Live at Home" campaign among the farmers of Texas. Mr. Peter Radford, President of the Union in discussing the subject said: "There is no reason why a farmer should buy a dollar's worth of meat during the year, but from such information as I am able to obtain, the farmers of Texas buy $26,000,000 of pork and its products per annum, to say nothing of other kinds of meats and supplies purchased that should be raised on the farm. No farmer can afford to buy a thing he can raise, no matter how cheap it may be."

According to government estimates, the per capita consumption of pork and its products per annum is 100 pounds and the Federal Census Reports on hogs marketed and slaughtered in each county, give a reliable basis for production by counties.

The reports shows Collingsworth county produces 3,668,200 pounds of pork and consumes 522,400 pounds per annum.

The Farmers' Union is asking that the farmers reduce the cotton acreage and "plant" hogs, raise more corn, milo maize, build silos and feed and fatten livestock on the farm and live at home the whole year around.

Collingsworth is one of the few Texas counties that produces enough pork for home consumption.

Texas has a Rural Credit Bank

Bee county, Texas, has organized a co-operative rural credit bank, possibly the first one in the United States. It is at Tuleta and the bank will be known as the Bee County Credit Union. Edwin Chamberlain of the Law School of the University of Texas has investigated the Tuleta plan and says it will not interfere with other banks, as it will extend a line of credit not possible under the present system. Builders Waiting for Cheaper Lumber are surely destined to a long spell of inactivity, for with the Government zealously pushing timber conservation and the population of the country constantly increasing all hope of lower prices long ago vanished. Even though prices are not going to be any lower, the prospect that confronts the home builder today is not nearly so dubious as some manufacturers of substitutes for lumber would have you believe. The quality of lumber we handle these days is for superior to any we ever had. It's smooth finish, steam kiln dried and most of it ready for nailing into place without a particle of hand work. This means a big saving to you, as hand work is expensive. This is only one feature in favor of building today. If you want others come in and let us show you some actual figures and the kind of lumber we handle.

"There's No Place Like Home"

Advice to Boys

See here, boys! Whatever you try to do, do it the very best you can; do it better than it was ever done before. Don't yield to the temptation to slight your work. And above all things, do what is right, every time. Never mind the scoff and leers of others, but go ahead and do what is right. Be brave about it too. Everyone hates a coward. And another thing, don't be afraid of doing right for fear you will make enemies. Enemies are as necessary to success as vinegar is to pickles. Don't above all things be a hypocrite. The thief may steal our property, but the hypocrite betrays one's confidence and only waits an opportunity to stab him in the back. If you have a mind of your own don't be afraid to express your opinion, and if you feel that it is right, stand by it. People will talk and fools will turn grindstones for others to sharpen their axes on. Think for yourself. Lay your course of action in accordance with the idea that some day you will be a man and called upon to take an active part in life's great battles. Don't imagine for a moment that you can please everybody, not yourself. Few people care for you and you must care for yourself or be left in the cold. Also but few people will love you although they may profess to. They love you merely for what they can make out of you. Society looks upon you as a orange, to be squeezed for its benefit. When you are squeezed dry you will be thrown to the dogs and another orange will take its turn. Think of these things and resolve to act with wisdom.

Try Russells Grocery for your next bill of groceries or your next month groceries and you will be pleased. Phone 166.

It will pay to plant a few of Simpkins Prolific cotton seed. Only a limited amount left at the Leader Grocery Co.

11,000 Rabbit Scalps Redeemed.

Snyder, Texas, May 13.—The commissioners court here has received 11,000 jack rabbit scalps at this term of court, for which the county pays a bounty of 5 cents each. The rabbits are still numerous and the bounty law will continue in force.

The Fireplace

Notwithstanding all the modern inventions for health I tell you there is nothing so full of geniality and sociability as the old-fashioned country fire place. The neighbors were to come in for a winter evening of sociability. In the middle of the afternoon, in the best room in the house, some one brought in a great back log, with great strain and put it down on the back of of the hearth. Then the lighter wood was put on armful after armful. Then a shovel of coals were taken from another room and put under the day pile, and the kindling began, and the crackling, and it rose until it became a roaring flame which filled all the room with geniality and was reflected from the family pictures on the wall. Then the neighbors came in two by two. They sat down, their faces to the fire, which ever and anon was stirred with tongs and adjusted on the andirons and there were such times of rustic repartee and story telling and mirth as the black stove and blind register never dreamed of, meanwhile the table was being spread and so fair was the cloth and so clean was the cutlery they glisten and glisten in our mind today. And then the best luxury of orchards and farm yard was roasted and prepared for the table to meet the appetites sharpened by the cold ride. We heartily wish for a return of the old fire place. Our readers, whose locks have whitened by the frosts of many winters, know that this pen picture of the fireplace is true to life.

11,000 Demonstration Farms in 215 Counties In Texas Industrial Congress Contest

From 1,746 students of better farming in 161 counties of the State in 1911, the Texas Industrial Congress has steadily increased this number to 10,869 in 215 counties in 1913.

Unique among associations for agricultural development, the Congress, by offering $10,000 in gold annually for the best yields of specific crops, cost of production considered, has in a little more than two years awakened among the farmers of Texas enthusiastic interest in scientific cultural methods, improved seed selection, better preparation of the soil and the conservation of its fertility through crop rotation and diversification.

While this remarkable growth has been the result primarily of the stimulus caused by the prize offer, this inducement to use brains as well as brawn in crop production, is recognized by thinking men as but an incident for the purpose of accomplishing the real object of the Congress, which is to lower the cost of production while at the same time increasing the acreage yield, hence its slogan, "Smaller farms; better farming." The enrollment of nearly 11,000 contestants in this year's competition means that many demonstration farms in as many neighborhoods, intensively cultivated by 11,000 farmers who are seeking the best information they can get both from the Congress and from other sources, and are striving for the highest farming efficiency, thus educating not only themselves but presenting an ocular demonstration of better cultural methods to their neighbors as well.

Every dot on the above map represents a demonstration farm cultivated in corn, cotton, cowpeas, kafir or milo, in accordance with the advice and suggestions of the Congress. This information is furnished by bulletins at frequent intervals and also by personal letters. The stars indicate those counties in which prizes were won in the contests of 1911 and 1912.

Among the 215 counties represented, Bexar County, which in 1911 had but seven contestants and in 1912 but nine, leads the State with 505 entries. Ellis County is second, having 381 contestants; Hunt County, with 339, is third and Kaufman, Cooke, Navarro, Tarrant, Dallas, Rockwall, Hill and Rusk counties rank next in the order named.

The counties represented in this year's contest and the number of entries in each are as follows:

The Need of The Silo.

We are indebted to Col. Peter Radford, President of the farmers' Union, for directing attention to the importance of the silo in Texas agriculture. He says it will increase the efficiency of the feed 40 per cent. And inable cereals and forage crops to successfully complete in productive value with cotton. Silo and red barns are the twin agencies of prosperity and fortune are the farmer who possesses them. They are good business educators and ownership arouses the spirit of thrift and enterprise.

Another Fine Rain

The third fine season during this month fell throughout this section Tuesday night, and now the prospects were never brighter in this county for all crops, and especially is the prospects very flattering for heavy yields of small grain, such as wheat and oats. Infact many farmers tell us that big yields will be almost sure with just another rain at the right time.

Device of the Devil

It seems strange that the God serving of less than a hundred years ago possessed the wisdom to predict the demoralizing influence and cussedness to follow in the wake of railroads and telegraphs.

"In 1820, according to Paten Nuggets, a club of young students in Ohio, arranged to debate the question of railroads, then just coming into notice. When they asked the school board for the use of the school house, they received the following reply: "You are welcome to the school house to debate any proper question in, but such things as railroads and telegraphs are impossibilities and rank infidelity. There is nothing in the Word of God about them. If God has designed that his intelligent creatures should travel at the frightful speed of fifteen miles an hour by steam, He would clearly have foretold it through His holy prophets. It is a device of satan to lead immortal souls down to hell."

Hides! Hides! Hides!

It will pay you to see me before you sell your hides or any thing else you have to sell as we're the farmer's friend.
