Talks Seek To Avert Dock Strike

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore Sun reports there is optimism in shipping circles that a threatened longshoremen's strike from Maine to Texas will be averted.

Sulphur Plant Planned Here

One of two sulphur extraction plants announced by American Petrofina Inc. will be constructed at the Cosden Refinery in Big Spring.

The unit will cost approximately $200,000 and will be constructed by Petrosul Corporation.

The other unit will be built at the American Petrofina of Texas refinery at Mt. Pleasant. Petrosul Corporation estimates the completion of this facility within about 120 days.

Hydrogen sulphide gas, formerly burned in the refinery's fuel system, will be utilized as a charge stock. The new unit will extract approximately 15 tons per day of sulphur, which will be shipped in molten state by truck to a chemical plant in Arkansas. To accommodate the unit, storage for approximately 100,000 tons of molten sulphur also will be constructed here.

U.S., Cambodia Seek Accord

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—The United States and Cambodia began talks today aimed at settling their differences. The outcome may determine whether the Southeast Asian kingdom drops behind the Bamboo Curtain.

Officials on both sides declined comment. The talks will last a week or longer in this neutral capital selected by Cambodia.

New Violence Erupts After Deadly Rioting

KHARTOUM, Sudan (AP)—Armored cars and truckloads of police today patrolled the streets of Khartoum, where the toll of two days of rioting has climbed to 38 dead and more than 500 injured.

While a precarious peace settled in the heart of the Sudanese capital, new outbursts of violence swept suburban areas throughout the night where vengeance-seeking Arabs pursued African blacks blamed for starting bloody racial rioting Sunday.

Anti-Western feeling mounted. Arab masses and Arab press editorials accused "Western agents and missionaries" of inciting the Africans to riot.

It was the worst riot in the recent history of this parched, dusty capital ruling over 10 million Arabs and four million Negroes, bitterly divided.

Dummy Tried As 'Moonship'

WHITE SANDS MISSILE RANGE, N.M. (AP)—A Little Joe 2 rocket hurled a dummy moonship skyward today in an apparently successful test of the launch escape system for proposed moonflight astronauts.

National Aeronautics and Space Administration officials termed the test a milestone in this nation's bid to put men on the moon by 1970.

The 340,000-pound-thrust rocket was knocked off course by a ground signal about 37 seconds after launch, at an altitude of about 31,000 feet.

The 155,000-pound thrust escape motors then ignited and pulled the dummy moonship vehicle away in the mock emergency.

Range officials set out to recover the spaceship, which was to descend about 6 1/2 miles from the launch pad.

Little Joe is being used to economically imitate the 3,000-ton Saturn 5, the moonflight launch rocket which is to hurl the first U.S. astronauts toward a lunar landing.

Today's test was the fourth in the launch escape system series at White Sands. All have been largely successful.

Brando's Ex-Wife Arrested

Actress Anna Kashfi, former wife of actor Marlon Brando, is led into the West Los Angeles, Calif., police station by Police Sgt. Ed Hall where she was booked on suspicion of battery on a policeman. The arrest ended a day-long scramble between Miss Kashfi and Brando over custody of their 6-year-old son, Christian Devi. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Brando's Ex-Wife Arrested; Accused Of Slapping Officer

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Police say Marlon Brando's ex-wife, Anna Kashfi, ran screaming and fighting through a hotel lobby late Monday night, claiming a day-long scramble for physical possession of their son.

The son, Christian Devi, 6, passed back and forth between them three times Monday.

Investigators said Miss Kashfi, arrested in the lobby of a hotel in the fashionable Brentwood district, was clad only in a sheer nightgown and light robe when she raced through the lobby.

CUSTODY FIGHT She was alarmed, they said, because of Brando's ultimate victory in the custody fight — he had taken Christian from her room.

She was handcuffed and taken to the West Los Angeles station after she allegedly slapped a police sergeant. She was booked on suspicion of battery on a policeman.

Judge Edward R. Brand ruled that Brando, 40, could have full custody of Christian pending a full hearing Dec. 17.

Under a previous court order, Miss Kashfi, 30, had custody with Brando allowed specified visits with the boy.

BRANDO COMPLAINT At Monday's hearing, Brando also complained of Miss Kashfi: "She keeps a fully loaded revolver in her home and carries it around and plays with it while under the influence of barbiturates. She is capable of doing great physical harm to herself and to our son."

Miss Kashfi and Brando were married in suburban Eagle Rock Oct. 11, 1957. She obtained a divorce April 22, 1959, charging the actor with extreme cruelty.

'Stoop Labor' For Growers Decried

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A domestic farm labor leader said at a Labor Department hearing Monday that growers tried to run his group out of the labor market by making them do stoop labor in an unproductive area.

Bennett Mann, director of the West Oakland Farm Workers Association, made the statement during the first day of the hearing in San Francisco.

The Labor Department's chief examiner, Clifford Grant of Washington, said the hearing probably will continue through Wednesday.

Generally grower groups contend a shortage of domestic farm workers necessitates extension of the bracero program — the importation of foreign farm laborers.

New Count On Solon Accused Of Masquerade

DETROIT (AP)—Daniel W. West, a Negro state legislator, faces prosecution in state and federal courts as well as a hearing by his legislative peers.

West, 54, Detroit Democratic member of the Michigan House of Representatives, was charged with hiding a prison record for 10 years by claiming a deceased New York lawyer's reputation as his own.

While West was appearing in a state court Monday in a vote registration fraud case, federal agents arrested him in what the government called an income tax swindle.

BOND SET U.S. Dist. Judge Thomas P. Thornton set bond at $10,000 and ordered an examination Jan. 6.

The Internal Revenue Service said West, representing himself as a tax consultant, prepared phony tax returns for more than 1,500 Detroit area residents.

The state's case against West charges that he induced voters to register fraudulently for him in the 24th District.

DEFEATED FOE Civic Searchlight, Inc., a non-partisan organization that rates candidates for political office, and Thomas W. O'Hara, one of West's defeated rivals for the legislature, brought masquerade charges against West.

West, a Negro, was charged with using the name and record of the late attorney Daniel Wilson West of New York, a white man. The New Yorker West died in 1961.

Red Guerrillas Kill 3 Yanks

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Viet Cong guerrillas overran a small outpost at the southern tip of Viet Nam today, killing three American soldiers and nine South Vietnamese.

Ten Vietnamese soldiers were wounded in the surprise attack by about 50 Communists.

The casualties brought the total of Americans killed in action in South Viet Nam to 229 since December 1961.

Two of the Americans killed today were infantry officers and the third was an enlisted man. Their outpost 125 miles from Saigon apparently was being used as the command post in an operation. The Viet Cong force, small by usual standards, probably infiltrated the post before opening fire, a U.S. source said.

BATTLE RAGES

In the An Lao mountain valley, 30 miles northeast of Saigon, Viet Cong guerrillas were making a determined attempt to overrun a district headquarters. The battle was still going on tonight, a U.S. spokesman said.

American helicopter pilots reported the Viet Cong moving openly across the valley.

"We have been shooting at them in the open and running across roads and at automatic-weapon positions in the trees," said Maj. Clement A. Wyllie, of Chattanooga, Tenn., commander of an armed helicopter unit.

BLOW UP BRIDGE The Viet Cong blew up the only bridge leading to the tiny valley. Military sources reported three armored personnel carriers moving to the battle area were hit and were in flames.

Vehicles around the barbed-wire fort at the district headquarters were burning, Wyllie reported. He said there were many dead and wounded Vietnamese inside the fort.

'Fired' Cuban Shoots Self

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Cuban Labor Minister Augusto Martinez Sanchez, notified that he was being dismissed from his post, shot himself in the head today, Havana Radio said.

A broadcast heard in Miami said his condition was reported as serious. The shooting occurred at 1 a.m., the radio said, but gave no further details.

'ROUND TOWN

By LUCILLE PICKLE

There's nothing wrong with the ingenuity of the young people in the home of DR. and MRS. JOHN NORTON. John, the son, and his sister, Debbie, have struck upon the happy idea of helping old Santa with his rounds and at the same time bolstering their income this Christmas season. Debbie is the chief appointment maker and her brother will double as Mr. Claus for those who would like his services. Appointments and information may be had by telephoning AM 3-2625 after 4 p.m.

If you didn't see red Sunday it wasn't because it wasn't there to be seen. The annual red dress party held this year in the GEORGE GLEN home at Sand Springs attracted several score of women, 90 per cent of whom wore red. MRS. CURTIS REYNOLDS wore a shirtwaist style while her daughter, MRS. CHARLES DUNNAM, chose a corduroy shift. MRS. BOB SIMPSON'S American beauty jumper was worn with a pink blouse and MRS. JIMMIE MOREHEAD had a deep red velvet sleeveless frock. Sisters MRS. A. C. BASS and MRS. E. T. O'DANIEL not only wore red dresses but topped them with pretty hats of the same bright hue as did MRS. NOLA IRWIN and MRS. C. W. MAHONEY. MRS. J. O. HAGOOD chose a red feathered half-hat with her holiday dress and her blonde sister, MRS. RUTH WELCH wore a pillbox of white feathers. MRS. BUDDY LAWSON wore a casual type belted frock that looked pretty with her striking blonde hair. MRS. HACK HUGGINS, who is in the midst of remodeling her home and is suffering from an allergy to something other than work, came to the party regardless of her discomfort, and was enjoying the festivities with her sister, MRS. GRADY HARLAND. MRS. JOHN BLACK was having a good time visiting with friends as were PYRLE BRADSHAW and MRS. WILLARD SULLIVAN. The hostesses surprised all their guests by turning up at their red dress party all decked out in green. That was the only way they could identify each other when the pressure was on.

A real party touch was given the showing of arrangements and other room decorations by the Oasis Garden Club when the hostesses at the ALBERT HOBERTZ home greeted their Sunday guests in formal dress. MRS. HOBERTZ, and MRS. CLARK HITT chose white slim-line dinner dresses. MRS. EUGENE TURNER wore bright green. MRS. TOBY COOK selected turquoise. MRS. LOIS O'BARR SMITH wore blue and MRS. JIM ZIKE looked charming in beige which she topped with a matching sweater. Memories of childhood were certainly brought back by a visit to the HALVARD HANSON home. Homemade bread and a granite tea kettle made most of us feel nostalgic and the Christmas tree decorations of pop corn and cranberry strings along with the paper ring links, almost

Instead of receiving a ticket for going through a red light, Grace Barrett of San Francisco, Switzerland, was handed a book of matches by a policeman.

This is the local custom with foreigners, and on the matchbook was printed: "Madame, you have just gone through a red light. As punishment, the Lucerne police offer you this little souvenir. Please obey our laws. Happy vacation!"

Miss Barrett thanked him, then added, "But I don't smoke. Could I have another souvenir instead?"

The Plowman home was decorated in a red and green Christmas motif with a reindeer and greenery accenting the mantle. The refreshment table was covered in red overlaid with lace and a holiday centerpiece, illuminated with red tapers, was displayed. A traditional Christmas dinner was served to 20 members.

Opening lead: Queen of ♠ West's indecision at the opening gun proved fatal to the defensive cause.

East's preemptive jump overcall of three spades was designed to inhibit the opposition from finding their best spot. When South bid four hearts, West carried on to four spades. South raised his partner's clubs on the next round, and West's double was not sound strategy, despite the fact that he can expect to win two tricks in the trump suit. There is no assurance, for one thing, that the contract can be defeated. Furthermore, the opponents may escape to a safer haven. When North did in fact run to five hearts, West felt obliged to double again.

He was tempted to open the ace of clubs, for the bidding had marked East as being extremely short in that suit, and there was a strong likelihood that he could trump the second round. On further reflection — it appeared to West that he held two natural tricks in the club suit, so that it might not be necessary to give partner the ruff. He, therefore, decided to temporize by leading the queen of spades.

Declarer put up the king of spades from the dummy in order to keep West out of the lead. East played the ace and continued with another spade which South ruffed.

Trumps were drawn in three rounds and the king of diamonds was cashed. Declarer now led the queen of clubs, and he was permitted to hold the trick. Observe that, if West goes in with the ace, he is hopelessly employed. A diamond return for example, will present South with a free finesse of dummy's jack. If West gets out with the ten of clubs, however, declarer can win with the jack in his hand and pick up West's nine on the return.

When East showed out on the first round of clubs, South abandoned the suit and proceeded to lead two more rounds of trumps. West's first discard was the nine of diamonds, but on the next heart the pressure became unbearable. He could not spare another diamond without abandoning his protection in that suit, so he gave up the nine of clubs. North discarded the jack of diamonds. A club was led toward dummy, and West could do no more than take the ace. The defense was restricted to one spade and one club.

Creator Of Rudolph Still Gets Royalties

SKOKIE, Ill. (AP) — Robert L. May turned the tables on Santa Claus 25 years ago. He gave Santa — and children all over the world — a Christmas gift called "Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer." It happened almost by accident.

It started in 1938 when May, an advertising copywriter for Montgomery Ward, wrote some parodies to liven up the company Christmas party.

The parodies went over so well that the sales manager called May into his office a few months later and asked him to create a give-away item for the 1939 Christmas season.

"My idea is a little animal story like 'Ferdinand the Bull,'" the sales manager told May.

A REINDEER
"Ferdinand was very popular at the time," May recalled Monday, "but I thought then the only animal for Christmas was a reindeer."

He continued: "The idea for Rudolph was no flash in the night. I kept thinking that my reindeer had to be an Ugly-Duckling type and that the reason for his ugliness would also have to be the reason for his eventual popularity with the other reindeer."

"Speed and strength hardly seemed qualities which made for an under-dog, but flying in all sorts of weather seemed to have possibilities."

"I first thought of some kind of light coming from the reindeer's eyes, like the reflected light from a cat's eyes."

"As I thought of how to portray the lighted eyes, my thoughts went from eyes to nose, and then I knew I had it. A bright, red nose to light Santa's way in fog, mist and snow."

2.4 MILLION
Wards made copies of Rudolph's story available to their retail and catalogue stores. Total orders in 1939 reached 2.4 million.

In 1949 songwriter Johnny Marks wrote the famous Rudolph song, sung by Gene Autry, which fostered a boom lasting through 1952.

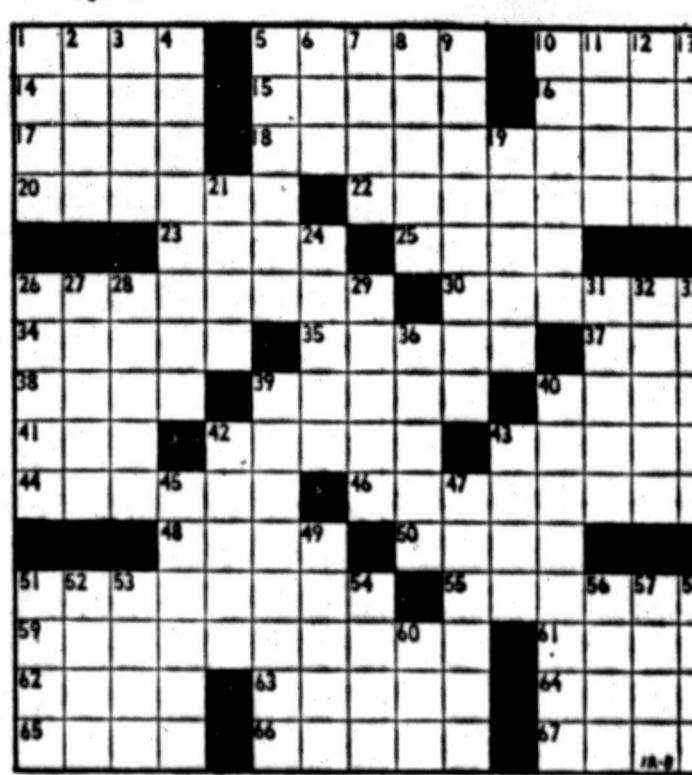

Asked how much money had been made from the sale of millions of Rudolph records and books, May, 59, now a catalogue editor for Wards, would only say that the extra earnings had taken the strain off the family budget. Royalties still roll into his home in Skokie, a suburb of Chicago.

Rich or not, the end of the Rudolph song could aptly be applied to May for creating a Christmas standard: "You'll go down in history."

Tax Guide Ups Pages And Price

WASHINGTON (AP) — Remember the swimming pool and oil-well towers that caused such a fuss last April?

Well, they aren't in the new "Your Federal Income Tax." But that's not all the Internal Revenue Service left out of its popular guide.

It rolled off 300,000 copies without realizing some of Acting Commissioner Bertrand M. Harding's opening statement got lost someplace on its way to the printers.

GLUM BUSINESS

When you're in the glum business of collecting taxes, though, you take things in stride. So, the presses were stopped, the lost copy inserted, and another million or so booklets were run off.

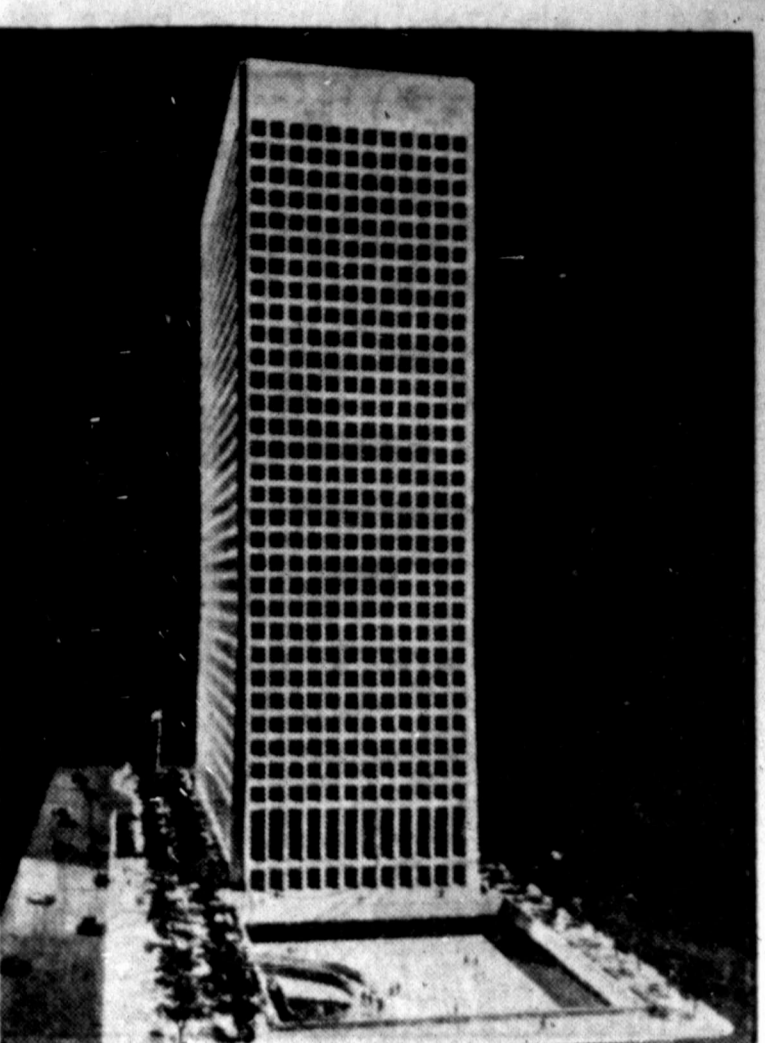

The 300,000 offenders? They are being retained for "internal use," a spokesman said without getting terribly explicit.

BEST SELLER

So the tax men explain the depletion allowance this time without any pictorial help.

A best seller, "Your Federal Income Tax" has been upped in price from 40 cents to 50 cents a copy, obtainable at district IRS offices.

For the additional dime you get additional reading matter — 160 pages instead of last year's 144. Tax changes are spotlighted in a special portion of the index.

Atomic Mission Pilot Held Insane

GALVESTON (AP) — Jurors deliberated only 14 minutes before deciding Monday that Claude Eatherly, 46, who flew reconnaissance for the dropping of the first atomic bomb, is insane.

Eatherly, subject of the book "The Hiroshima Pilot," will not be tried on a charge of taking $32 from Mrs. Mario Dell'Osso on Sept. 25. The jury pronounced him insane at the time of the robbery and now.

The former Air Force major flew the "Straight Flush," a reconnaissance plane, over Hiroshima and radioed word the way was clear for the A-bomb drop.

Experts have said Eatherly's repeated troubles with the law stem from guilt feelings over taking part in the historic raid.

County psychiatrist B. W. Henry and Dr. Wiebke Thomsen of the University of Texas medical branch testified that Eatherly suffers from chronic schizophrenia, undifferentiated type.

Defense lawyer Andrew Baker said Eatherly presumably will be committed indefinitely to the Rusk State Hospital. He said Eatherly is "more of a threat to himself than to society."

His wife and seven-month-old daughter were in the courtroom as the verdict was returned.

Eatherly claimed he suffered a blackout and remembered nothing of the Sept. 25 incident.

Texas Rain Edges Inland

By The Associated Press

Clouds covered most of South Texas and drizzling rain edged inland from the state's lower coast today.

Skies were crystal clear in other sections with indications of slow warming, probably through this week.

Light rain or drizzle fell in early morning around Corpus Christi, Victoria, Alice, McAllen, Brownsville and other points south of a line linking Laredo and Galveston.

Temperatures before daylight ranged down to 20 degrees at Dalhart in the Panhandle.

Except for a little further rise in readings over the northern half of the state, forecasts called for little change in the weather.

LBJ, Wilson Take Up Atomic, Asian Issues

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson and Prime Minister Harold Wilson continue their talks today with two main subjects expected on the agenda: the nuclear future of the Atlantic Alliance and the situation in Southeast Asia.

Wilson began to spell out his ideas on how to organize a nuclear weapons force within the North Atlantic Treaty Organization at a midafternoon session with Johnson Monday, their second of the day. The prime minister will conclude his presentation today and then, presumably, Johnson will present a defense of the multilateral force as conceived by the United States.

Wilson is cool to the idea. Instead, the Labor government is understood to propose the formation of a new NATO nuclear command, to include Britain's nuclear bombers and submarines and all or most of the nuclear tactical weapons already in Europe.

NEW COMMAND
The U.S.-suggested nuclear fleet, drastically reduced from the proposed 25 ships with 200 Polaris missiles, also would be part of the new command.

The two leaders will seek no decisions on this delicate and complex issue, observers on both sides cautioned Monday night. The word that no blueprint will emerge from the two-day conference was stressed repeatedly, with American and British officials using the same word.

What should be achieved in the talks is a mutual understanding on how to shape the West's nuclear defense, before the issue is taken up with the Allies in NATO, the officials said.

The Johnson-Wilson talks are going far beyond the NATO problem, it was emphasized after the first day. The aim is to formulate a joint philosophy on the role in the world of the only two Western powers with worldwide responsibilities.

BROADER FORCE
While the mixed-manned nuclear missile fleet is at the heart of the NATO problem, it is but one factor, the British are saying. American observers are hopeful that this means Wilson would not rigidly oppose the fleet concept, if it can be subsumed in a broader Atlantic force.

AGENCY FINDS:

Dropout Rate Highest Among Rural Students

WASHINGTON (AP)—An Agriculture Department study shows the school dropout rate is highest among rural students.

More than one-fourth of the country's farm and non-farm youth 16 to 24 years old were school dropouts in 1960, the department said.

Its study, based on the last general census in 1960, sought to determine social and economic factors behind school dropouts among the 21 million farm and non-farm youths between those ages.

The department found that for both farm and non-farm areas, the dropout rate was higher among the non-white than among the white school age population.

Yule Trees For U.S. Seen At 46 Million

WASHINGTON (AP)—About 46 million Christmas trees will add glitter to the American holiday season this year, the Agriculture Department predicts.

The rates were 48 per cent for American Indians, 44 per cent for Negroes, 25 per cent for native whites and less than 10 per cent for youths of Japanese and Chinese heritage.

Dropout rates among the white youths whose parents were born in the United States were substantially higher than among those whose parents were born in Northern, Western or Eastern Europe, and about the same as for youngsters whose parents were born in Southern Europe.

Rich Phoenix Man Quizzed In Kin Death

TEMPLE CITY, Calif. (AP)—A wealthy 22-year-old Phoenix, Ariz., man was booked on suspicion of murder today in the fatal shooting of his twin brother.

Timothy Micholson told sheriff's homicide detectives he accidentally shot his brother, Todd F. Micholson, with a .22-caliber rifle in the brothers' $400,000 apartment house Monday night in this Los Angeles suburb.

Officers said, however, two shots had been fired from the rifle and that Timothy was unable to give them a clear account of the incident.

Officers said the shooting occurred about 7:10 p.m. They said Timothy went to the apartment house manager, Shuey Greenberg, and told him that he had shot his brother.

Todd was dead on arrival at Arcadia Methodist Hospital. The death was listed as accidental until officers learned the rifle had been fired twice and that, according to them, Timothy's story of the incident was not clear.

New Wetback On Border Is Cuba Refugee

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A new type of "wetback" is reported in action at the U.S.-Mexico border—Cuban refugees crossing the Rio Grande.

Cubans arriving in Miami after flying to Mexico from Havana say traffic across the border river is brisk.

"They are crossing by the hundreds," said Carlos Estevez, who came this week from Cuba via Mexico.

"From Mexico City they go to the U. S. border by any means possible, then take a boat or wade across the river."

The Cuban migration comes at a time of a U. S. - threatened shutdown against the original wetbacks—Mexican farm workers who have been coming to the United States. The law permitting their entry expires Dec. 31, and their future status is in doubt.

Estevez said about 100 Cubans a week have been flying to Mexico recently from their Communist country. Mexico and Spain are the only Western airline outlets remaining from Cuba.

"U. S. Border guards question them when they come from Mexico," Estevez reported. "If they qualify, they are admitted as refugees. Many come on to Miami."

Refugees say they must turn over their property to the Fidel Castro regime before obtaining permission to leave Cuba by air.

The only other escape route is by small boat, a hazardous undertaking.

Only four boats carrying 41 refugees made it to the United States in November.

Ready For Christmas

These volunteer workers prepare final touches for the gift shop they will operate this week for patients at the Veterans' Administration Hospital here. Mrs. L. J. Barlow, right, has directed plans for the shop, which will display some $2,000 worth of gifts for selection by patients for their families. Other workers are, left to right, Mrs. John Littlejohn, Mrs. Bruce Archer, Mrs. H. D. Bruton, Mrs. W. W. George and Mrs. Gayle Young.

Volunteers Prepare Hospital Gift Shop

Several hundred persons in Big Spring will be doing their Christmas shopping this week without paying for the gifts.

And they aren't shoplifters, but patients at the Veterans Administration Hospital, taking advantage of a project prepared by some 35 women volunteers who come to Big Spring from as far away as Lubbock and Lovington, N. M.

Not only will the patients select gifts for their families, which range from new dolls for children to hand-made items such as kitchen wall decorations, but the volunteers will also be wrapping the gifts for mailing this week, all at no cost to the patients.

"Last year almost 300 gifts were selected by the patients," pointed out Mrs. L. J. Barlow, who directed plans for the shop last year and again this year. "We wrapped for mailing about 170 of these."

The value of the items in the shop is about $2,000, she related. The second-floor conference room, used for the shop, was decorated Monday, after a Christmas tree for the room was decorated Sunday by Midland volunteers.

"This is more satisfying than shopping for your own family at Christmas time," Mrs. Barlow said in describing preparations. Joining in sponsorship of the gift shop are American Legion Auxiliary groups from Big Spring, Stanton, Sweetwater, Roscoe, Snyder, Midland and Odessa, along with groups from Lubbock, the Navy Mothers Club, World War I Auxiliary and the two Legion auxiliary groups. The Big Spring Credit Club will again help this year wrapping packages.

The volunteers will take a cart carrying gifts to hospital wards to allow patients who cannot leave their beds to pick out gifts. The shop opened this morning and will continue throughout the week.

"I am hoping we'll have as much success this year as we did last year," Mrs. Barlow pointed out. Plans have been underway several months. Each day this week, the Lubbock Auxiliary 148 will provide a party in the nearby recreation hall for patients using the shop.

One volunteer worker, Mrs. Elizabeth Ethridge, is driving from Lovington, N. M., to help with the project.

A shipment of dolls arrived Monday morning from Sweetwater's auxiliary group and a number of auxiliaries have sent hand-made items, some unique in their construction, such as a shoe-brush holder made of clothes-wire, wrapped in magazine pictures, around a coffee can.

Postage for the packages is supplied by the local auxiliary unit, while some groups send cash to help buy items which run short during the week.

All items included in the gift shop are new, Mrs. Barlow pointed out. Hand-made dresses are among items sent, along with neckties and belts for men, a range of toys and other articles.

Grenier Quitting, Supports Burch

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — John Grenier, a top strategist in the Republican presidential campaign, says he is going to work to keep Dean Burch as chairman of the national party although he is leaving his own post.

The young Birmingham attorney, credited with delivering 271 votes to Sen. Barry Goldwater at the GOP convention, reluctantly submitted his resignation Monday as executive director of the Republican National Committee. It was accepted.

Grenier, 34, gave four reasons for resigning — and strongly emphasized the last one: to tell the "full story" of what he termed the magnificent job done by Burch.

Burch — as was Grenier — has been under fire since the national ticket of Goldwater and Rep. William E. Miller lost in a landslide vote to the Democratic slate headed by President Johnson.

Grenier, at a news conference, blamed New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, Michigan Gov. George Romney, and Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton — in that order — for the defeat.

He said they were the causes of the defection of 7 million Republican voters.

"The three most damaging issues against Goldwater were that he was trigger-happy, against the Social Security system, and surrounded by extremists," Grenier told The Associated Press.

"These were the three charges delivered by Gov. Rockefeller and Gov. Scranton," Grenier said. "I would say much the same applied to Gov. Romney." He noted that Romney later endorsed Goldwater's candidacy, but indicated the damage had already been done.

Grenier was named executive director after the Republican convention in San Francisco. Prior to that he was active in a pro-Republican grassroots movement in Alabama and was named director of the Goldwater-for-President drive for 11 Southern states.

Grenier will resume his post as chairman of the Alabama Republican committee. In his statement of resignation, Grenier said his leave of absence from a law firm was about over and he had to return to the job.

He said he would work in defense of Burch "by personal contact with other committee members and by telephone." Grenier said his resignation was not prompted by antagonism of certain Republican leaders. "It was delayed, if anything, by them," he said.

Damage Suit Names Bank

DALLAS (AP) — John A. Wright of Chicago filed a $360,000 damage suit against Republic National Bank of Dallas and two of the bank's vice presidents Monday.

Wright, a former president of Curtis Lighting, Inc., of Chicago, alleged in his federal court petition that Clarence Norsworthy Jr. and C. W. Austin Jr. forced him to liquidate $508,000 in securities.

Wright claimed that in 1959 the light company was sold to a firm controlled by Norsworthy. As part of the exchange, he alleged, Norsworthy agreed to arrange financing for Wright to buy stock.

In July, 1962, he claims, Republic asked him to pay the $87,729 balance due on a loan allegedly arranged by Norsworthy.

Wright said he could not find further financing and was forced to give Norsworthy stocks in exchange for Norsworthy paying the money due Republic National Bank.

Ice Storm Refugees Hole Up In Emergency Center

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y. (AP) — New York's savage ice storm meant no school for delighted children, no heat for their parents' cold homes, no rest for weary work crews.

Today it also meant hopes that winds would not snap more power lines or topple more trees bowed under tons of ice in east-central New York and parts of Vermont and Massachusetts.

The ice accumulated during a weekend of freezing rain and snow. Effects of the storm and below-zero temperatures early this week have forced hundreds of families to live in emergency centers — such as the Lake Avenue Armory here.

GOOD SPIRITS

The armory atmosphere is one of good spirits and helpfulness. Families share belongings and talents as they shared hardships in an ice storm that, at its peak, took electricity and heat from 75,000 homes and business es in eastern upstate New York. About 4,000 homes in the Pittsfield, Mass., area also lost power.

Monday night, officials of the Niagara-Mohawk Power Corp. said the number of customers without electric power was down to 27,000 — representing more than 50,000 persons.

DOWNED LINES

More than 900 men, coming from power companies as far away as Philadelphia, are working 16-hour days to free an area of more than 1,000 square miles of downed power lines and to restore service.

There was no estimate of damages, except that they would be in the hundreds of thousands of dollars. One company official said the storm in his section was "the most destructive I've seen. We aren't repairing in many areas. We're rebuilding."

Lobbyist Friend Of Baker Called

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate probe of Bobby Baker's financial dealings and his role in an alleged political payoff appeared headed today for a climactic decision on its future.

The Senate Rules Committee, resuming the inquiry after a weekend recess, called a Washington lobbyist friend of Baker for questioning about a $5,000 payment from a California bank.

The committee planned to ask lobbyist Wayne Bromley what he did for the Redwood National Bank of San Rafael, Calif., to earn the money and whether Baker received any of it.

The bank contends Bromley was paid only a "perfectly normal" fee as an attorney for services performed in 1962-63. Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., has pictured it as a payment for lobbying activities.

Williams told the Senate in a speech last July 27 that the $5,000 check from the bank was cashed by Baker at the Senate disbursing office after Bromley endorsed it but that he did not know what was done with the money. Baker at the time was secretary to the Senate Democratic majority. He resigned later under fire.

Republican and Democratic members told reporters the committee probably would meet in a closed session later in the day or Wednesday to consider how far to press its stormy, often politically flavored investigation of Baker's outside business dealings.

Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., the lone GOP member of the Rules Committee still in Washington, said he would demand a far more searching inquiry than has been made up to now.

Democratic members indicated privately they believe the time is about at hand to consider winding up this new phase of the inquiry by turning over its evidence to the Justice Department and some of it perhaps to other Senate investigating groups.

Cooper said he would oppose a windup and seek a recess until after Jan. 1. He said this will provide time for committee investigators to check new evidence obtained from insurance man Don B. Reynolds and from the Justice Department.

Cooper said he also wants more details concerning Reynolds' disputed testimony naming himself as the "bag man" for Baker and builder Matthew H. McCloskey in a purported $25,000 payoff in the 1960 Democratic presidential campaign fund.

McCloskey, former chief fundraiser for the Democratic National Committee and a former ambassador to Ireland, hotly denied Reynolds' testimony. Baker invoked the Fifth Amendment, refusing to answer practically all of the committee's questions. He explained that he is under investigation by a federal grand jury, the FBI and the Internal Revenue Service.

Challenging Proposal

In an effort to prevent the many agencies which depend upon the United Fund for support from suffering curtailed operations or crippling cutbacks, R. L. Tollett has made a proposal and an offer to keep the United Fund campaign open for a last, dramatic effort toward success.

He and his family will give $1,000 more toward the United Fund if nine other individuals or firms will do the same, he said.

This will provide $10,000 and put the campaign right on its goal.

While he did not so specify, we venture that Mr. Tollett would have no objection to a few banding together to underwrite $1,000 pieces of the total goal.

This is a generous offer and a challenging proposal. It is made out of a sense of responsibility to the key agencies which serve our community, and with a sense of pride which rebels at failure in a community enterprise.

How will our people react to it?

Outlook Seems Good

A strong foundation for confidence in continued prosperity is to be found in the results of the survey made among business leaders by Nation's Business. This poll of businessmen, including a large number of presidents or board chairmen of major firms, discloses a general feeling that the rising trend of the economy will continue at least through the coming year.

There were some expressions of caution. Some of those questioned predicted a slowdown toward the end of 1965. But 80 per cent of all those asked for their views felt confident that there would be no interruption of economic growth in the next 12 months. Many spoke of record sales and rising profits, with a consequent vigorous demand for additions to the labor force.

This cannot be taken as gospel, obviously. Businessmen, however shrewd and perceptive, are not infallible. They can only base their judgment on experience and on their assessment of supply and demand. Any major world event, or a combination of events, may change the picture. But the chances seem excellent that they are right — that the long, steady rise in our economy is going to continue in the year ahead.

Holmes Alexander Kennedy, With And Without Tears

WASHINGTON—Very likely the anniversary of the Dallas assassination will never again be celebrated with the poignancy that it was last month. In time we shall be reading fewer books which demean the memory with flippancy and slander or which sanctify it with eulogy, or which sanctify it with eulogy, and history requires the cool appraisal.

Such an appraisal turns up in a 113-page paperback, "The Leadership of President Kennedy" by Major General Thomas A. Lane, Retired, an Irish-extracted New Englander, who once taught military history at West Point, served as MacArthur's engineering officer for plans and operations in World War II and now writes a syndicated column on military affairs.

THIS IS A BOOK of stern disapproval of the Kennedy clan and of regret that the youngest man ever elected to the White House did not bide his time and bring more mature qualities to the office. The author, whose parents were immigrants, does not take well to Ambassador Joseph Kennedy's tearing haste for social recognition in Boston and notes that Kennedy Sr. moved to Florida and New York with the comment that Boston "was no place to bring up Irish Catholic children . . . the social and economic discrimination was shocking." General Lane didn't like it a bit when Robert was made Attorney General of the United States after saying during the campaign that this very appointment "would be the worst kind of nepotism." Lane found it shocking for Benjamin Smith, the President's college chum, to be appointed to the open Senate seat in order to keep that place for Edward who was then under-age but subsequently elected.

LANE GRANTS President Kennedy all the brilliance, charm, eloquence, idealism and aura which his admirers claim for him, but he feels that the disasters of the Bay of Pigs, the Berlin Wall, the catastrophes of South East Asia were more than just bad luck which might have happened to anybody in the White House during those years.

THESE ARE old-hat charges, no longer with any sting, but Lane feels that the stress on seeking popularity, and the experience of hearing himself too easily praised for work that was not entirely his own, prevented John Kennedy from grappling with realities and brought him to the presidency amid the adoration of his family, friends and followers which cruelly deceived him about his own abilities.

BY THE TIME President Kennedy came to die, he was hardened in the crucible and seemed to be ready for deeds to match his aspirations. But history will judge him on the record of those thousand days when he was mortified by Castro, flouted by Khrushchev, trapped in Southeast Asia, marked with a gross miscalculation in the Congo and barely beginning to see progress in Latin America. Too many books have and will put the emphasis upon his glowing personality, his warm gift for friendship and princely meanness. Too many others have reflected the prejudice and meanness of their authors.

GENERAL LANE'S book is not free of hindsight nor as touched with sympathy as a differently-oriented biography might well be. But for a stern accounting of those three years, and as a warning to the country that the presidency must be more than a political prize, this book offers much to balance the diet of laudation and calumny on which we have been fed. (Distributed by McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

Billy Graham

Many of my friends are offended by my frankness. I can't understand why they should be when I try to be honest with them. O. B. Restraint in appraising others is a part of wisdom. The best way to be offensive is to be unwaveringly candid in one's judgments and opinions. Remember, you may be sincere and honest, but wrong. To be absolutely frank is a mark of intellectual egotism.

Tact and diplomacy are desirable factors in etiquette. Most of us respond to a little praise, more than we do to brutally frank estimates of our conduct and character. The average person is too well aware of his defects, and frankly only adds fuel to the flame of inferiority.

Let us say you enter a new house of a friend, and the decor strikes you as being ridiculous. Being frank, you could say, "How inharmonious — how utterly absurd!" This may be your honest, frank estimate — but is such a statement wise or necessary? How much more tactful and helpful to say, "How different-how unique!" A good rule to go by is this: If you can't be helpful, don't be harmful.

WHAT OTHERS SAY

We prefer J. Edgar Hoover when he speaks and writes of the responsibilities of police. He has said many things on this subject that the country ought to hear. He has no use for those who would make vigilantes out of citizens who have no professional competence or knowledge of the ethics of the profession. He condemns self-constituted counterparts and those who persecute their fellow citizens because of some domestic antipathy and a belief that they can play at being police.

Despite the many and fierce political pressures that have swirled around the FBI, its chief contribution to the United States is professionalism and its sense of responsibility. In the midst of many temptations to act otherwise, and even granting there are gray areas where critics say that it has succumbed, the over-all picture is one of police government. It is of government served by police.

So it is precisely because of this record that Mr. Hoover ought to keep out of politics and government policy. His flamboyant press conference, intriguingly enough, had statements to delight some of the left (that some southern sheriffs and deputies "participate in crime," for example), and some of the right (when he assailed "bleeding heart judges" including some on the Supreme Court).

Hardly anyone can fail to be fascinated by such statements coming from the chief of the nation's investigative police. But they are his business, not public business. We must have confidence that the man in his position is an impartial professional in his work, whatever his personal politics might be.

James Marlow GOP Unity Drive Diversified

body mention unity? There are about a dozen dictionary definitions of unity and this may explain the lack of it among Republicans who want their defeated party to unite.

Dean Burch says he wants unity although over the weekend some Republican governors said they want him fired as chairman of the Republican National Committee, a job he got through Sen. Barry Goldwater.

The governors in Denver issued a statement calling for party unity and, among other things, suggesting the national committee take a good look at its leadership.

Some of them said this wasn't aimed at Burch; some said it definitely was. Particularly Govs. George Romney of Michigan, Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York and William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania said they want Burch out.

But Monday, in a statement which some interpreted as a move to soothe his critics and keep his job, Burch called for

Hal Boyle Office Yule Party Wanes

NEW YORK (AP) — The office Christmas party today is in about the same plight as the whooping crane.

It isn't extinct — but it's in danger of becoming so.

Many young people aged 25 to 30 have never seen a real old-fashioned office Christmas party.

"What were they really like?" they ask curiously about this time of year. "Were they really as wild as the old-timers say they were?"

That depends. Actually in the old days — say a quarter of a century ago — many office Christmas parties were so sedate that not one member of the staff wound up with a black eye or broken bone. You might not even have had to call the cops.

But the classic, old-fashioned office Christmas celebration — at least as it is fondly recalled by many — was somewhere in between a Roman orgy, a Sioux scalping raid, and the attack on the Bastille.

Some, or all, of the following events might happen: Somebody fulfilled the dream of a lifetime and put gin in the office water cooler.

At least 15 employees went up to the boss and told him what they really thought of him — and the boss made a mental note to start off the New Year by giving 15 merit decreases in pay.

Six middle-aged married men suffered ankle sprains chasing the girls from the stenographic pool from desktop to desktop.

By 10 p.m. — the party was supposed to end by 7 o'clock — the place looked like it had been hit by a hurricane, and the office boy was sent out for four more bottles.

By midnight, the boss was wearing mistletoe in his hair, had his arm around the janitor, and was promoting him to executive assistant.

The old-fashioned office Christmas party served many useful purposes in its heyday.

It gave the indoor peasants one day on which to blow off 364 days of accumulated steam. It enabled the boss to find out who really loved him for himself, and who merely gave him lip service the rest of the year. It made the girls feel more like girls and less like typewriting robots.

The question arises then as to why these annual staff frolics have practically died out.

Some say it was because of the objections made by wives. Some say it was because of a growing tendency by employees to file suits against management for injuries and other mishaps suffered at the parties or on the way home afterward.

But others find a simpler explanation for the doom of the old-fashioned office Christmas party: the younger generation just doesn't have the stamina to endure them, and the older generation doesn't enjoy them properly.

was a good chairman, was a terrible prophet for on election night, Nov. 3, with the roof falling in on Goldwater, he cheerfully predicted: "This picture is going to brighten considerably as the sun moves toward the West."

The final news from the West was even worse. Goldwater lost every Western state except his own Arizona.

But Monday, in a statement which some interpreted as a move to soothe his critics and keep his job, Burch called for

"It now remains for all of us, governors, senators, congressmen, state chairmen, national committee members and workers, to demonstrate that the Republican party seeks strength through unity — not weakness and even impotence through needless quarreling and disunity."

At the same time his right-hand man — John Grenier, executive director of the national committee — quit with a statement which could hardly be considered a unifier or a pacifier.

GRENIER, a fervent Goldwaterite, had been under criticism, too. His sudden departure, so soon after the governors' statement, could be considered an effort to cool off attacks on Burch and the committee.

But Grenier didn't seem obsessed by unity when he called in newsmen to announce he was leaving.

He said he will defend Burch and blamed a big part of Goldwater's defeat on "so-called Republicans": Romney, Rockefeller and Scranton. He said he was leaving to resume his law practice in Alabama.

The urge toward unity among Republicans is not new although it has taken strange turns. It began right after the election.

Richard M. Nixon, former vice president who campaigned for Goldwater, said the party needs unifiers, not dividers, and then attacked Rockefeller, who didn't campaign for Goldwater, as one of the principal dividers. He called Rockefeller, a "SpillSport" and Rockefeller called him "peevish."

To Your Good Health Bed Rest Required For Mononucleosis

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D. Dear Dr. Molner: My 19-year-old nephew has mononucleosis. He is on bed rest but he thinks after he is allowed up, he can continue his teenage activities. These, unfortunately, during his year in college included much drinking and partying. What is the care needed for recuperation? Does alcohol have a bad effect on a person who has this disease? — MRS. L. M.

Infectious mononucleosis has a notorious tendency to result in relapses if the patient does not give it time to be fully cured.

Alcohol has no particular effect except as a depressant and possible irritant of the liver. Poor diet, too little rest, and a number of other obvious violations of the rules of healthful living can be harmful, too.

The real problem for this 19-year-old playboy isn't the question of how long it takes him to recover from his mononucleosis. The question is whether he will have the good sense to realize what the partying and the alcohol are going to do to him, and to his school career. These habits are going to be worse for him than the mononucleosis.

Dear Dr. Molner: My doctor says I probably have alimentary glycosuria instead of diabetes because I only "throw sugar" after several heavy meals, and I do not have any of the "classical symptoms." What is the difference between it and diabetes? I am 60 and have no family history of this trouble. He cautions me to watch my weight but says I do not need medication. — M. T.

Glycosuria (sugar in the urine) can occur after meals containing large amounts of sugar and starch and is then called alimentary or intestinal glycosuria.

We know from experience that many individuals with this condition are mild diabetics, or may become diabetics. The question is whether the sugar content of the blood also becomes abnormally high, and a sugar tolerance test (series of blood sugar tests) will determine whether diabetes is present.

Thus in your case, if you do not have diabetes you will be wise to follow your doctor's advice: Watch your weight. It is one of the most important steps in warding off diabetes.

Never take a chance on diabetes! For better understanding of this disease, write to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald for a copy of the booklet, "Diabetes — The Sneaky Disease." Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Because of the tremendous volume of mail received daily, Dr. Molner regrets that he cannot answer individual letters, but whenever possible he uses readers' questions in his column.

Around The Rim Lo, The Poor Indian

Some of the full-blood Choctaws in the community were great imbibers of off-brand beverages. They were fond of canned heat for example and they often drank freely of bayrum. Some were inclined to favor lemon extract. There were even those who apparently drank wood alcohol without suffering the disastrous results science insisted would follow such practices.

ONCE FILLED up on whatever he had gotten his hands on, the average fullblood would set out on foot for his home. His favorite path was the mainline of the Santa Fe railroad system.

Usually it was along in the shank of the evening when Lo, the poor Indian, would begin his somewhat wobbly journey to his shack. Sometimes Lo got too sleepy to make it all of the way. Then he would stretch out on the tracks, pillow his weary head on a rail and drop off into dreamland.

WE WERE accustomed, therefore, to the unsavory task of going to the scene after one of the Santa Fe trains had passed over the tracks and gathering up the scattered remnants of what had been an original American.

The penchant for strange beverages and for walking (and sleeping) on the railroad tracks could not be eliminated from the Choctaw character.

ONE HOT afternoon, the north-bound Santa Fe freight pulled into the station. The engineer, somewhat shaken, reported that his engine and train had passed over what appeared to be a man sprawled on the tracks about two miles south of town. The trainman, not certain that what he feared had happened, had raced on into town rather than stopping to investigate.

The sheriff, the coroner, a doctor and the undertaker, accompanied by a newspaper reporter, headed for the scene. We had to park the cars and the hearse about a half mile from the railroad right of way. We crawled through the barbed wire fence and lugging a stretcher and a rubber blanket, began plodding through the brush toward the tracks.

THE RAILROAD at that point passed through a deep cut and we had to go to one end of the cut to get onto the roadbed.

When we had descended into the cut, we could look ahead and sure enough, sprawled in the space between the rails was what appeared to be a tangled bundle of clothing.

We approached the clothing. It was revealed as the rag-clad body of a big Indian, whose head was twisted to one side and whose mouth was gaped wide.

THE SHERIFF observed that the train did not seem to have done much damage to the body.

The undertaker unfurled his stretcher and stooped over to roll the corpse onto it. At that moment, the mouth closed and the corpse opened one bloodshot eye. This seemed to be painful, so he promptly closed it. In a second or two he opened both eyes and frowned.

He looked at our faces as we bent over him.

"HOW, MR. SHERIFF," said a mulleted voice. "What the matter?"

The sheriff told him apparently nothing was the matter but that he must get up, get off the tracks and go on home. Otherwise, the sheriff said, Lo would wind up in the county pokey.

"Sure, sheriff, me go right now," said the Indian. He scrambled to his feet, looked around to orient himself and headed off across the pasture land.

We never learned how he managed to escape being awakened, much less killed. —SAM BLACKBURN

Richard Starnes All Kinds Of Tires

WASHINGTON—The Federal Trade Commission, a glacial organism of government that is poor old Sucker Comearly's only shield against fraud and deceit in the market place, has at last undertaken to look at the tire thing.

The tire thing, for the benefit of any pedestrians in the hall, is a mess. The ordinary consumer is almost helpless to know what he is buying in the welter of claims, confusion, obfuscation and downright sharp practice that dominates a large slice of the replacement tire market.

AS THE OWNER of two vehicles (three, if you count the ancient rattle-seat Flinders that Chip and Andy are preparing to restore to mint condition) I have had some passing experience with buying replacement tires. I find, as all motorists eventually find, that there are no reliable standards by which to judge tires.

The jargon of Madison Avenue helps not a whit, for no sane person can tell if the Gluefoot Puncture Proof Super Triple X is the equal of Screechie's Home and Mother Bow-out Proof Special, or if either is safe at turnpike speeds.

I AM A permanently terrified motorist, so my solution is to throw myself on the mercy of a reputable dealer and trust him to sell me tires that won't send me careening into an orphan asylum playground someday. But the consumer who tries to decide for himself is immediately confronted by a gimmicky nightmare. Trade designation of tires often provides no clue to real quality, size, grade or durability.

MANUFACTURERS traditionally feel put-upon when the subject of federal standards for auto tires is broached. They contend — and accurately — that tire technology has more than kept pace with the tremendous demands made by modern autos. Higher speeds, greater loads, faster starts and stops, and the demand for a softer ride have required tires that would have been regarded as visionary nonsense back in the days of the clincher rims. The prudent motorist can, the manufacturers insist, buy a tire that is practically indestructible, and they'll even guarantee it. So who needs a bureaucracy of federal snooks vulcanized into the tire business?

THAT, IN ITS leaden way, is what the FTC hopes to learn. Are deceptive practices confined to a relatively small handful of operators, or are abuses so widespread that the public needs the protection of a rigid scale of federal standards?

Part of the problem, to be sure, lies in the swift pace of tire technology. Few persons outside the trade can keep up with the answers to esoteric questions such as: "Is a 2-ply with fiberglass cords better than a 4-ply with nylon cords?" and in the present chaos often can find no meaningful guideposts to help them find answers. ## Marquis Childs India And The Nuclear Race

NEW DELHI — To observe even briefly the struggle of a nation to cast off the bondage of ancient poverty is to understand how enormously difficult the undertaking is. The handicaps — ignorance, inertia, caste traditions — are so great. And when still another handicap is added the outlook must seem all but hopeless.

THAT ADDED handicap is the arms race. Unless the ever-mounting burden it imposes is reduced or done away with, the end will be failure — starvation, anarchy, chaos whether with or without a large-scale war.

This has been shown in stark relief by the lurid light of the Chinese nuclear explosion. The comforting belief currently cherished is that China has been shown by this act to be a wicked warmonger. But the mushroom cloud that hangs on the horizon is a symbol of power and prestige to all of Asia. Go and do likewise is what seems to signal to nations yearning for prestige and power.

WHAT IT SHOWS in an equally stark light is the bankruptcy of a policy that simply opposes the proliferation of nuclear weapons. The race cannot be halted by washing it away. India is a dramatic case in point.

The brilliant physicist-administrator, Homi J. Bhabha, who is largely responsible for this country's remarkable atomic establishment at Trombay, near Bombay, believes that within 18 months a nuclear device could be set off in India. Actually, assembling the device is a relatively simple process once a plutonium plant is constructed and in operation. Furthermore, he believes the Chinese have the capacity today to make 30 to 50 bombs a year and this apparently would not be beyond India's reach at a cost of under $100,000,000.

BHABHA SAYS his critics are wrong in saying he wants to rush into making bombs. But he insists that China's bomb is above all a signal that no time is to be lost. Neither the United Nations nor the great powers, he went on to have succeeded in creating a climate favorable to countries which have the capability of making atomic weapons but have voluntarily refrained from doing so.

Within two years, in his view, a start must be made on nuclear and general disarmament. Particularly, the United States and the Soviet Union must make massive cutbacks. Having set such an example, the great powers could take the steps essential to prevent the further spread of nuclear weapons. Short of this, the drift will continue and the nuclear club will be steadily enlarged.

TO ASSUME that China had won admission to the nuclear club and that in any future conference of nuclear powers Peking would be present, this in the Indian view would be the greatest mistake that could be made. Such a conference, if it is held, must include the powers with a potential for making bombs in the not too distant future — among others Canada, India, Japan, Sweden, West Germany.

The race in conventional arms has been rapidly expanding under the threat of Chinese imperialism. If the next phase is a nuclear race, the future is uncertain.

HENDERSON, Ky. Miss Winstead made it plain that many library patrons didn't dig it either.

Gene Stallings Is New Aggie Mentor

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Texas A&M remembered how Paul (Bear) Bryant rebuilt its football fortunes, so it got a man from Bryant's championship team to coach it back to greatness.

From Alabama, where he has been assistant head coach to Bryant, comes Texan Gene Stallings to take over the sagging fortunes of the Aggies. Stallings was named head coach of A&M Monday while

Everett Case Quits Job As NC State Cage Coach

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Everett Case, the Old Gray Fox who helped bring bigtime college basketball to the South, resigned Monday as North Carolina State's basketball coach because of extreme fatigue.

Case, who was to have retired next June 30 after 19 seasons with the Wolfpack and nine days after his 65th birthday, said the decision to quit had been "coming for some time."

Athletic Director Roy Clogston and the faculty athletic committee immediately approved the appointment of assistant Press Maravich, 45, as head coach and granted Case's additional request that he be allowed to serve as an advisory coach.

Case, whose State teams compiled a 378-133 record prior to Henry (Hank) Foldberg, who has been athletic director and head coach for three years, becomes full-time athletic director.

Stallings was recommended by Foldberg to succeed him as coach with the statement that "we are fortunate to get a real outstanding young coach like Gene Stallings to head our football program."

Stallings was an end on the 1956 Texas A&M team which went undefeated and won the Southwest Conference championship under Bryant.

Bryant quit at A&M in 1957, however, and went to Alabama, his alma mater, which was looking for somebody to drag it out of the doldrums. Bryant did that—he has had two national champions at Alabama.

Stallings was freshman coach in 1957 but went to Alabama with Bryant in 1958.

He was a member of Bryant's first team at Aggieland in 1954—the year Bryant took his unlikely squad to Junction, Tex., to train.

It was rough and tough and several of the players quit but from this rigorous grind came the hard core of one of the great Aggie teams—the 1956 outfit that among its many accomplishments beat arch enemy Texas in Memorial Stadium at Austin—the first time it had ever been done.

They speak of the Junction Boys with reverence at Texas A&M.

The 1956 team couldn't participate in a bowl game because the school was on probation for recruiting violations. But the next year it was off probation and Bryant's team, which had an 8-2 record, played in the "Gator Bowl."

Since then A&M hasn't had a winning team. This past season it won only one game, bringing the record of Foldberg in three years to 6-23-1.

Stallings and Foldberg both were given four-year contracts and will begin their official duties next Monday. Stallings returned to Alabama Monday to wind up his affairs.

"I'm thrilled at the challenge to coach at A&M," said Stallings. "I appreciate the confidence that Hank Foldberg and the board has shown in me."

The college board acted after Dr. Chris H. Groneman, chairman of the A&M athletic council, recommended Foldberg because "a full-time athletic director is a necessity at Texas A&M," and Foldberg, in turn, recommended Stallings as his successor.

Stallings, 29, is a native of Paris, Tex. Bryant has called him "the top young collegiate coaching prospect in America."

No Rest Ahead For Top Cage Aggregations

By DICK COUCH

Michigan has survived the first summit meeting of the college basketball season but there will be no immediate rest for the weary Wolverines.

Cazlie Russell and Bill Buntin led the Wolverines, No. 1 in the Associated Press' pre-season ratings, past fifth-ranked Duke 86-79 Saturday night at Durham, N. C. But it took big plays by unsung Oliver Darden and John Thompson in the final minutes—after Michigan had blown a 13-point lead—to hold off the dogged Blue Devils.

The Big Ten co-champions are back home tonight against dangerous Missouri. They'll meet third-ranked Wichita next Monday and play in the ECAC Holiday Festival at New York before opening a rugged conference schedule next month.

Wichita, paced by All-American Dave Stallworth's 37-points, swamped Long Beach State 114-78—setting a school scoring record—in its season opener Saturday night.

Second-ranked UCLA rebounded from an opening loss at Illinois and riddled Indiana State 112-78; sixth-ranked Vanderbilt trimmed Southern Methodist 99-67; San Francisco, No. 9, clubbed Stanford 77-50, and St. John's, N. Y., eased by Temple 60-50.

But St. Joseph's of Philadelphia upended fourth-ranked Davidson 77-64 while Penn State stunned Syracuse, No. 7, 81-59 and Kansas State, No. 8, bowed to Indiana 74-70.

Three-point plays by Darden and Thompson around a Russell layup enabled Michigan to pull away from Duke after the Blue Devils had tied the score 69-69 on Bob Verga's jump shot with 5:05 remaining. Russell scored 21 points and Buntin 17 as the Wolverines avenged a 91-80 loss to the Atlantic Coast Conference club in the NCAA semifinals last March.

Illinois, which had snapped UCLA's 30-game winning streak Friday night, was ambushed by St. Louis 79-64 Saturday. Minnesota, which barely missed crashing the pre-season top, whipped Iowa State 63-53 for its third straight triumph.

Michigan Rated Tops In Basketball Poll

By BOB GREEN

Michigan's powerful, veteran Wolverines, who have romped through three games without major difficulty, dominated the Associated Press' first regular season basketball poll today and confirmed their pre-season selection as the nation's best collegiate crew.

The Wolverines, who lost only one regular game to the team that finished third in the nation last year, gained 32 of the 24 first-place votes cast and had a whopping 100-point margin over second-place Wichita.

Michigan, which already has survived two major tests, gained 337 points in the balloting on the basis of 10 points for first, 9 for second, 8 for third etc. Wichita, winner of its only start this season, moved up from third in the pre-season poll to second with 236 points.

A flock of upsets and surprises in the first week prompted a major shuffling of the first weekly ratings from the pre-season poll, with only top-ranked Michigan and 10th ranked

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

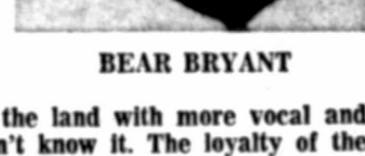

Sports dialogue: BOBO OLSON, veteran middleweight fighter: "I'm broke, but I still say boxing has been good to me. I'd do it all over again if I had the chance. I'd make one change, though. I'd manage myself all the way, just as I'm doing right now. I like to fight, and I'm still a pretty good fighter, good as I was two or three years ago."

BUDDY PARKER, coach of the Pittsburgh Steelers: "It's ridiculous for 60,000 people to attend a football game and only one person, the back judge, know the correct time."

BEAR BRYANT, University of Alabama football mentor: "Georgia Tech recruits better than any team in the country, and they play it mean for a little while. But they don't play it rough enough or mean enough, long enough."

KEN LOEFFLER, who went back East after coaching the Texas A&M basketball team a few years ago:

"If there is a college in the land with more vocal and real spirit (than A&M), I don't know it. The loyalty of the Aggie fan and graduate is legendary and it is their proud and truthful boast that an Aggie graduate is 'never without a job or help.' Their combat military record is also unsurpassed. Boys from moderate circumstances are disciplined in the classroom, on the drill grounds and on the athletic fields. There is little foolishness at this fine university and out of this comes a fierce loyalty that is wonderful to behold. This is a great and tough school that gives its students something more than books, teachers, classrooms and athletics. It breeds into them a 'spirit' which is sometimes defined as an 'inner glow' which controls intelligent behavior."

FURMAN BISHOP, Atlantic scribe: "A University of Virginia doctor told a medical convention last week that 'dirty football is taught on the sly' by some coaches and that 'you know this situation exists in the Southeastern Conference. Dr. Charles Frankel said it in Memphis.'"

CHARLES HENNIGAN, Houston Oiler footballer, on playing the game: "It's like an actor preparing for a play. You spend all week getting ready, concentrating on the performance. You reach a pitch for the game, and you're keyed up, so high, it takes you two days to come down off it."

SHELBY METCALF, Texas Aggie basketball player, when asked if his school's tall John Beasley had improved: "I'll tell you how much. We changed his number from 34 to 44, so we figure he's about ten points better."

DAVE CAMPBELL, Waco scribe: "The additional practice time a bowl trip offers was a factor in Texas Tech's decision to go to the Sun Bowl this year, although certainly the Raiders, with All America Denny Anderson as a prime attraction, rated an invitation."

Washington Redskins coach BILL McPEAK, discussing the sensational success Mel Renfro of the Dallas Cowboys has experienced against his team: "He's building a career on us."

ALLEN SIMPSON, Big Spring basketball mentor, discussing the officiating in the Steers' recent tournament game at Plainview with Pampa: "I didn't get upset until after I got home and looked at the score book. The fouls were 20-7 against us, and they were 'on us' all night."

Dean Chance ERA Leader

BOSTON (AP) — Dean Chance, 23-year-old Los Angeles Angels' right-hander, posted the lowest average in 21 years in winning the American League's earned-run championship last season, the official figures disclosed today.

Chance yielded only 51 earned runs in 278 innings for a 1.65 mark, the best since Spud Chandler of the New York Yankees finished with 1.64 in 1943. Chance was named winner of the Cy Young as the majors' outstanding pitcher in 1964 last month.

The Angels' star also pitched the most innings, 278, the most complete games, 15, and the most shutouts, 11. Five of his 20 victories were by 1-0 scores, tying a major league record.

Joel Horlen of the Chicago White Sox was second in the ERA competition with 1.88. He was followed by Whitey Ford of the Yankees, a two-time earned run king, 2.13; Gary Peters of the White Sox 2.50, Juan Pizarro, another Chicago left-hander, 2.56, and rookie Wally Bunker of Baltimore, 2.69.

Bunker had the highest winning percentage, .792, on a record of 19 victories and only five defeats.

Al Downing, the Yanks' south-paw fireballer, was the strike-out leader with 217. He also issued the most bases on balls, 120.

Baltimore reliever Stu Miller gave up the most intentional bases on balls, 14, while Bill Fox's "John Goldfarb — Please Come Home," scheduled for its premiere here Christmas day, charges that showing the film would do "irreparable and immeasurable injury" to the Roman Catholic university.

The film concludes with a football team financed by an Arab king — angry with the university because his son never made the Irish eleven — defeating Notre Dame.

In the complaint, the Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh, university president, charges that the film and the novel of the same name "knowingly and illegally misappropriate, dilute and commercially exploit for their private profit the names, symbols, football team, high prestige, reputation and goodwill" of the university without its permission and over its objections.

Father Hesburgh maintained the film's climax "is a scene in the king's harem in which Notre Dame players, under the influence of harem girls, are depicted as undisciplined gluttons and drunks."

Red Raiders Are Kayed In Cliffhanger, 77-75

Texas Tech's Red Raiders took their second straight intercollegiate loss Monday night, falling to Arizona 77-75, and it gave another jolt to those who might have been rating the Red Raiders tops in the Southwest Conference.

In another shocker Texas succumbed to Louisiana State 83-75—the same Louisiana State team that Baylor walloped 84-72 last week.

That left Baylor the only undefeated team in the league. Meanwhile Texas Christian's young men showed off again as they straggled Arlington State 95-71 for their second victory in three starts.

The Tech and Texas losses pushed the conference's intercollegiate record down to 5-11, which is about as poor as they come.

Southern Methodist will try to gain a little lost ground tonight when the Methodists play Tulsa at Dallas. Texas A&M takes on San Houston State of the Lone Star Conference at Huntsville.

Arizona led Texas Tech most of the way and fought off several surges in the last half as Bob Hansen paced the Wildcats with 21 points and 11 rebounds. But the high man of the night was Dub Malaise, who pitched in 27 points for Texas Tech.

Louisiana State came from behind a 43-42 intermission deficit to beat a Texas team that had been averaging 90 points per game. Bill Wilson and Harry Heroman pitched in 21 and 20 points, respectively. The only 20-pointer for Texas was Paul Oliver.

Kentucky Loses To Tarheel Five

The developments at Philadelphia and Charlotte, N.C., came too late to affect the Associated Press weekly ratings, released today with Kentucky in the No. 9 spot and Villanova barely outside the top ten. A shuffle on the next go-round is likely, however, with Villanova assuming the role of top 'Cat.

Top-ranked Michigan, meanwhile, cleared its bench early while brushing off Missouri 91-61 and Kansas State, knocked out of the top ten by Indiana last Saturday, rebounded against Southern Illinois 61-48.

Indiana whipped Oklahoma 87-79; Ohio State beat Houston 77-69; Bradley edged Murray State 76-74; Tennessee topped Georgia Tech 66-52; Utah State thumped Pacific 96-74; and Arizona surprised Texas Tech 83-75 in other games involving national powers.

Tonight's top games match third-ranked Vanderbilt against Western Kentucky; San Francisco, No. 5, vs. San Francisco State; Minnesota, No. 6, vs. Marquette, and St. John's, No. 10, vs. Holy Cross.

Melchioni outscored Bill Bradley, Princeton's All-American sharpshooter, 24-23 as Villanova ran its record to 3-0. The Wildcats' junior star fired the winning two-pointer after Bill Kingston's layup had put Princeton ahead with one-half minute left in the extra session.

The Tigers froze the ball for the last two minutes of regulation play but Bradley missed a jump shot with two seconds remaining and the teams went into overtime dedocked at 64-41.

The tall Tar Heels poured in 20 points in the last 5 1/2 minutes to pull away from Kentucky. Sophomore Bob Lewis led the winners with 23 points, one more than teammate Billy Cunningham, who played the last 17 minutes with four personal fouls. North Carolina has won three of four starts. The Wildcats are 1-1.

Michigan, sweeping both backboards, raced to a 46-26 halftime lead over the visitors from the Big Eight Conference and breezed to its third straight victory with reserves seeing more action than regulars. Bill Buntin led Wolverine scorers with 14 points.

Hall Of Fame Party Slated

NEW YORK (AP) — Football stars, coaches and fans and notables from business and government will be among the capacity crowd of 1,500 honoring former All-American Donald B. Lourie and 10 new members to the Football Foundation's Hall of Fame tonight.

Lourie, an All-America quarterback at Princeton in 1920 and now chairman of the board of Quaker Oats, will be presented with the Foundation's gold medal award at the organization's annual dinner at the Waldorf Astoria.

Notre Dame, which lost its final game to Southern California after winning its first nine, will receive the MacArthur Bowl as the Foundation's outstanding college team of 1964.

The 10 Hall of Fame inductees include one coach—Col. Earl H. (Red) Blaik, famed for his teams at Dartmouth and Army. He now is an executive of Avco Corp.

The others are Robert J. Herwig, California center, 1935-37; Allison (Pooley) Hubert, Alabama fullback, 1922-25; Charles O. Carroll, University of Washington halfback, 1926-28; Ray R. Evans, Kansas halfback, 1941-42-46-47; W. Earl Sprackling, Brown quarterback, 1908-11; Kyle Rote, Southern Methodist back, 1948-50; and three deceased players, William N. Mallory, Yale fullback, 1921-23; Langdon Lea, Princeton tackle, 1892-94, and Charles R. Rinehart, Lafayette guard, 1894-97.

LAUGHING MATTER

"We don't know what they are."

DEAR ABBY

Another Lawyer

DEAR ABBY: After 15 years of marriage, my husband and I separated because of his interest in another woman. We lived apart for two months and then he asked to come home again, so I let him. Although we are living together, he is not the same any more. We are married in name only and I think the only reason he came back was because it is cheaper than living separately. He comes and goes as he pleases and I'm alone most of the time anyway. I think he still has this woman on his mind. I am depressed and upset all the time. Do I have to put up with this? Don't advise me to see a lawyer because my husband is one.

DEPRESSED: Just because a woman has a lawyer for a husband doesn't make her ineligible for legal redress. If you want to know what your legal rights are, ask a lawyer. But first, see a doctor. Going along with an "in-name-only" type marriage may be cheaper for the husband, but it's very

Fraud Alleged In Indictment

DALLAS (AP) — The grand jury indicted James Owens, 40, today on a charge of embezzling nearly $1 million to gain control of an insurance company, which now is defunct.

Owens was accused of embezzling $969,130 from the Lumbermen's Insurance Corp. He also was indicted for theft of the same amount from the Texas Bank & Trust Co. of Dallas.

Owens is a former president of Lumbermen's Insurance, a company placed in temporary receivership in 1962.

The indictments accused Owens of depositing a worthless check for $1 million in the Mansfield State Bank in Tarrant County and then using this account to get $969,130 from the Texas Bank & Trust Co.

Owens used certified checks to buy the controlling interest in Lumbermen's Insurance from Kenneth Murchison & Co. and the Murchison Trust.

Wool Growers Slate Meeting

SALT LAKE CITY — "Our Changing Industry — the next 100 years" sets the theme for the 100th anniversary convention of the National Wool Growers Association Jan. 13-16 in Phoenix, Ariz.

When the gavel opens the four-day round of panel discussions, talks and business sessions, representatives from all of the principal wool and lamb producing states will hear and take part in phases of a modern agricultural industry.

The nation's top food production and marketing experts will man four panels based upon "Improvement and the next 100 years" which center upon such titles as: Can we produce two lamb crops a year? bunched your lamb crop; breeding selection through Sonora; solar water heating; herderless allotments; and a "consumer preferred" lamb program.

Every session of the convention will deal with some phase of improvement, according to executive secretary Edwin E. Marsh of Salt Lake City. These involve production improvement; health improvement; operational improvement; and marketing and promotion improvement.

NAUSEATED

DEAR NAUSEATED: You probably can't. But if you are willing to test your friendship, go ahead and try.

DEAR ABBY: Why do people who are honest in every other respect think nothing of cheating the telephone company? I refer to those person-to-person calls to signal someone that you have arrived safely. I was recently visiting a friend when her son, who had driven himself to college, telephoned and asked for "Fritz" McGuire person-to-person. ("Fritz" is the DOG!) She laughed and said he always did that to let them know he got there all right. Isn't there some way the telephone company can put a stop to that?

DISGUSTED

DEAR DISGUSTED: If there were, they would have put a stop to it long ago. But if you (or anyone else) can come up with a solution, I am sure the telephone company would like your number.

Troubled? Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Networks Tie In Popularity

NEW YORK (AP) — The major television networks wound up in approximately a three-way tie in audience popularity, according to Nielsen ratings made public Monday.

Research departments of all three networks found that the final statistics based on Nielsen's sampling of television homes during two weeks in mid-November resulted in total ratings of 19.4 for both CBS and NBC, and 19.3 for ABC. Each rating point represents slightly over 500,000 homes, and usually is counted as representing slightly more than a million viewers.

The report found NBC's "Bonanza" the nation's most popular show, followed by ABC's "Bewitched" and CBS' "Gomer Pyle, U.S.M.C."

ABC's "The Fugitive" and CBS' "Andy Griffith Show" were tied for fourth, followed by CBS' "Red Skelton," "The Munsters" and "The Lucy Show." These were television's "top 10" shows for a rating period which the industry considers critical in making any schedule changes and in planning for next year's schedule.

Meningitis Case Fatal

HOUSTON (AP) — Mrs. Berry Lane McClanahan, 34, wife of Dr. Lane McClanahan, died Sunday night of meningitis—the second death from the disease here in eight days.

Mrs. McClanahan's sickness was noncontagious, the hospital said. Miss Rebecca Thompson, 18, of Houston, died Nov. 29 of the disease. A Brenham woman and a Houston child are in hospitals with the disease. Their illnesses, also noncontagious, are not serious now.

U.S. Construction Still Goes Strong

NEW YORK (AP) — Winter's first onslaughts may be putting a crimp on construction here and there but not in the industry's confidence that still another good year lies ahead.

Construction poured about $62 billion into the economy in 1963, and in the first 11 months of this year was running 6 per cent ahead of that.

Once feared as a possible drag on 1965's economic growth because of a slowdown in home building, construction in general now is billed to add at least a moderate lift next year.

Housing accounts for about one-third of the total and may be less than spectacular. Many elements in the other two-thirds continue to boom.

FOR NOVEMBER

Census Bureau figures for November show actual construction, figured at a seasonally adjusted annual rate, running at $65.6 billion, ahead of both October 1964 and November 1963.

This helps offset the pessimism generated by the October reports of another statistic, contract awards. These had dropped 7 per cent from a year ago, largely because of the sharpest decline of this year in the residential field.

Contract awards point ahead and any drop if prolonged is disturbing. But economists point out that other forward-looking signs are good. Spending for several other forms of construction seem sure to rise.

These include new highways, school building, manufacturing plants. Plans have been announced for expansion in all three fields. Office building has topped out in some regions, continues at a fast pace in others. For the nation as a whole, office building may stay around this year's rate — far from a drag on the economy, but still no boost.

SPEND MORE

And the utilities should spend more for expansion because Americans go right on talking more on the phone and using more electricity and gas.

Much of the slowdown has been charged to overbuilding in some communities, and largely in apartment houses where vacancy rates have been rising.

All of this is expected to change in the next few years as the many who were born in the middle and late '40s become young adults and move, first into apartments, and then into homes of their own.

U.S. Nods On Bolivia

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States recognized the new military junta government of Bolivia.

The State Department said the new regime in La Paz, which overthrew the government of President Victor Paz Estenssoro Nov. 4, had promised to hold elections May 30 for selection of a new representative government.

The United States will resume aid to Bolivia on some types of projects immediately and open discussions with Bolivia on the others.

Connie Enjoys Good Season

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The one person who has never doubted that Connie Stevens would be a star is — Connie Stevens.

She has a way about her, a kind of sunny confidence that sweeps all doubt away. Listening to her, you are convinced that everything is going swimmingly, professionally and personally.

In plain fact, she is enjoying her best season. After a faltering start, her television show with George Burns, "Wendy and Me," seems to be in the safe column. This has left her tired but exhilarated.

GOING WELL

"It's great that the show is going so well, especially since we had the toughest competition in television," she commented. (The ABC show faces Lucille Ball and Andy Williams). "Nobody is going to take Lucy off the air — I'll fight them if they try — and it's hard to beat the only weekly musical-variety show on TV. But one of the recent ratings showed we were ahead.

"It's fun to be carrying a show, but boy, is it work! I know now what Laurence Olivier meant when he said the most important factor for success as an actor was not talent but energy. They had to move my dressing room next door to the stage so I could save the walk."

Connie's cheerful attitude toward her work is in contrast to her years with "Hawaiian Eye." Then she was in frequent skirmish with the Warner Bros. brass.

COMO SHOW

"Now their approach is entirely different," she said. "When I go to ask to do the Perry Como show in April, the wheels start turning. They gave me a percentage of the series, which has never happened at Warners before, and all my outside salaries. That's no small concession, because I can earn 10 times my studio salary by doing a guest spot on another show."
