Christmas season is a time of memories, including friends and acquaintences of by-gone days. And it always is a reminder that time does fly indeed.

It seemed merely "routine" to see the names of Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Roberts in the list of contributors to Snyder Goodfellows yesterday, but the Austin address made you realize that they have been gone from Snyder for more than two years.

Moreover, those who received Christmas cards from the Robertses this season had English stamps and London postmarks for their collections. Dick and Jan have gone to Europe on one of their annual outings, which have taken them to such exotic regions as Hawaii, Jamaica, etc., in recent years.

While en route to a local eatery around lunch time, in company with George Patterson and Gene Merrifield, a familiar figure was observed alighting from a station wagon with a Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. emblem on the doors. It was Truman Black, the former manager of the local telephone office who now rides herd on coin operated telephones over a big area while working out of Lubbock.

Black was agreeable to lunch and naturally the conversation turned quickly to football and basketball. It was during this discourse that I heard the latest rumor from Central Texas — that John Bridgers may resign as Baylor coach and take a position with a team in the National Football League, and that there is a move afoot, if Bridgers does resign, to try to interest Odessa Permian's Gene Mayfield in the Baylor job.

Considerable interest has been expressed over the possibility of moving Snyder High School basketball games to the Scurry County Coliseum. The remainder of the slate involves conference action, and some school officials and board members believe that attendance would increase enough to more than pay the coliseum rental. Fans get a better break from every standpoint at the coliseum, including parking facilities, seating comfort, space and the noise factor. — WACIL McNAIR

Today In History

Today is Thursday, Dec. 21, the 355th day of 1967. There are ten days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1620, the pilgrims went ashore from the "Mayflower" at Plymouth, Mass.

On this date—

In 1776, Benjamin Franklin arrived in Paris on a mission for the U. S. government.

In 1879, the Soviet dictator, Joesph Stalin, was born.

In 1898, radium was discovered by Pierre and Marie Curie.

In 1919, the United States deported to Russia some 250 aliens who had been arrested as radical agitators.

In 1944, horse racing was banned in the United States for the duration of World War II.

Ten years ago — The Soviet Union rejected disarnament proposals set forth by the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

TALKS IN CANBERRA

Johnson, Thieu Meet

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer

CANBERRA, Australia (AP) — President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam met here tonight with President Johnson and publicly agreed that Johnson's latest suggestions for promoting peace in Vietnam "were fully consistent" with the policy of his government.

Johnson and Thieu issued a joint statement following a working dinner which sought to dispel any idea the two leaders were in conflict over possible informal talks with representatives of the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front.

The joint statement said Thieu "reaffirmed willingness to discuss relevant matters with any individuals now associated with the so-called National Liberation Front, while making it clear that his government could not regard the front as an independent organization in any sense."

Johnson, in a taped television interview in Washington Tuesday, said "I have said that I think the war can be stopped in a matter of days if President Thieu's suggestion that he informally talk with members of the NLF are carried out, and if they would agree to what they have already agreed to in the 1954 accords and 1962 accords, and other points I mentioned—like one-man, one-vote under the present constitutional government."

Thieu was interpreted as taking a countercourse to Johnson's in the remarks he made on his departure from Saigon for Australia, where the two leaders have joined others to attend memoral rites Friday for Prime Minister Harold E. Holt, lost in a weekend swimming accident.

Johnson received assurances from Australia's interim prime minister that its pro-American Vietnam policy won't change.

He had a dinner meeting with Thieu at the U.S. Embassy.

Four Texans Die In Crash

HOPE, Ark. (AP)—An Illinois couple and four members of Texas family were killed as two cars collided in the rain before dawn today.

The crash occurred shortly after 2 a.m. near the crest of a hill six miles northeast of Hope on U.S. 67.

State trooper Robert Neel said a car driven by Dorothy Ritz, 49, of Jacksonville, Ill., veered to the opposite side of the two-lane highway and crashed head-on with one operated by Robert Timbrook, 39, of Chester, Tex.

Both drivers were among those killed. Neel listed the other dead as Dr. O. J. Ritz, 51, husband of Dorothy; Carrie Parks Timbrook, 35, wife of the other driver, and two of their children—Tim, 13, and Billie Jean, 5.

Two other children in the Timbrook family—Carrie, 6, and her brother Lynn, 12 — were brought to a hospital here with serious injuries.

Application For Funds Is Rejected

A Scurry County application for federal aid to assist in the development of community services here has been rejected, according to word received here this morning from Fred D. Baldwin of Austin, regional administrator for the Community Action Program.

Notification of the rejection was sent to Buford Browning, president of the Scurry County Community Action Committee.

Browning said the request was rejected pending completion of an area feasibility study in March of 1968. The area study is being conducted by the Taylor County office of the Office of Economic Opportunity.

Previously, local officials in the Community Action program had completed a feasibility study for Scurry County. The CAP program here was launched through individual initiative prior to the establishment of the program on a state-wide basis.

Basically, the local program "is ahead of" the state program. That is one reason for the delay in federal aid at this time, it was understood.

Browning said one long-range goal of the local group is to establish a neighborhood center where a variety of services would be made available, such as legal aid and couseling.

2 DAYS TILL CHRISTMAS

WILL KIDS UNDERSTAND?

Santa's On Strike In Butte

By STEVE MOORE

BUTTE, Mont. (AP) — Three little brothers sing Christmas carols for pennies in the streets of Butte to buy presents for their strikebound family.

Mrs. Clifford Gustavsen, who is pregnant with her eighth child, counts food stamps and a $10 weekly union food coupon and says "It's going to be pretty hungry around here this Christmas."

Mrs. Fred Chase, mother of five and wife of a struck copper miner who is too proud to take welfare money, says, "You can't tell a small child Santa Claus is on strike."

This is Christmas time, 1967, for 3,500 copper miners and their families in Butte. Christmas Day will mark the 165th day of the nationwide copper strike for higher wages and fringe benefits.

There will be few gifts under striking miners' Christmas trees, and many will be eating deer they killed themselves instead of turkey.

"Our backs may be bowed, but our knees aren't bent," said Fred Chase, 42, a veteran of 15 years in the underground mines. "We'll just cheer each other up this year."

"I want my daddy to go back to work," said 9-year-old Mike Gustavsen. His father, Clifford, a muscular miner, sits at home babysitting and plunking a guitar.

Mike and two of his brothers, Kenneth, 11, and John, 8, earned a handful of change singing Christmas carols in the streets in zero cold and snow, holding out their hands to passersby.

They used the money to buy for their four brothers and sisters a coloring book, some candy canes, a truck and two model flying saucer kits.

Mike's grandmother gave him a dollar for helping clean her house. He bought gloves for two of his brothers.

The Gustavsen family is like many others in which the father has been out of work for six months in a city where copper is the lifeblood of the economy. There are no signs of settlement of the strike—or even of negotiations.

Fifty thousand copper miners are idle in Montana, New Mexico, Utah, Arizona and Nevada.

Nearby towns are taking up collections of used toys and clothing for strike-bound families. One restaurant will feed 2,600 strikers and their families free on Christmas Day.

New Cold Blast Whips Into State

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A tornado struck a causeway bridge across Lake Tawakoni near Greenville this morning, causing considerable damage as a cool front swept through the upper part of Texas, bringing strong winds and bursts of rain.

new blast of cold air crashed down on Texas, meanwhile, threatening the coldest weather of the season so far.

The tornado struck about 20 miles south of Greenville but no injuries were reported.

The manager of the Tawakoni Marina, Jim Wynn, said the twister destroyed a 20-stall boat house and 10 boats were sunk.

A Cessna 170 airplane parked on a landing strip a few yards from the marina vanished during the storm.

Wynn said the tornado hit about 5:45 a.m. during a period when the Weather Bureau warned that tornadoes might occur. The warnings were withdrawn by the agency as the cool front and turbulence moved eastward.

The cool front brought occasional light snow, melting as it fell, to the Panhandle and brief downpours of rain in other places.

The rains, including some in South and East Texas, were blamed for the deaths of at least three persons in traffic accidents.

Right on the heels of the damp weather a new blast of cold air surged southward into the upper Panhandle on this last official day of fall. It promised the sharpest chill so far this season for Northwest Texas and parts of North Central Texas, with overnight temperatures as low as 8 degrees above zero.

As the Pacific front marched steadily eastward the Weather Bureau posted a tornado watch for a 120-mile-wide corridor centering on a line from Waco to Fort Smith, Ark. It said a threat of tornadoes and severe thunderstorms would exist until 11 a.m. but cancelled the alert for parts of the area as the Pacific front passed.

Early reports indicated moisture amounts generally were light. In the Dallas suburb of Richardson however, water filled some streets curb deep temporarily during a hard shower.

Snow mixed with light rain extended from around Perryton in the northeast corner of the Panhandle to El Paso and westward in New Mexico. El Paso measured .05 inch moisture.

Occasional snowflakes strayed as far south as Shamrock and the Lubbock area, but skies already were clearing over much of West Texas by morning.

As the new arctic front arrived, the mercury tumbled to 17 at Perryton—a drop of 46 degrees from the Wednesday afternoon high of 63.

Farther south in Dallas, the thermometer skidded 18 degrees from 71 to 53 as the Pacific front went by.

Cold wave warnings already had been issued for the north and central parts of Northwest Texas, where temperatures were expected to hit 8 to 15 above zero in the north and 12 to 25 in the south by early Friday. A freeze warning was issued for the north part of North Central Texas, with temperatures due to cover a 23 to 40 degree range.

In addition to rainfall across northern areas of the state, scattered rain or showers spread across South Texas from Cuero and San Antonio to College Station, Lufkin and into Louisiana.

Outside the chilling Panhandle, early morning temperatures stayed as high before daylight as 72 degrees in Houston and 73 at Brownsville, Tyler and Lufkin.

Decreasing clouds and dropping temperatures were predicted throughout Texas by Friday.

Pneumonia Claims Transplant Patient

By DAVID J. PAINE
Associated Press Writer

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — Prof. Christian N. Barnard said today the death of the world's first heart transplant patient left no evidence that heart transferrals should be discontinued.

Barnard, who performed the heart transplant of Louis Washkansky Dec. 3, said a post-mortem produced no clinical evidence that rejection played a part in the patient's death.

As soon as the occasion arises he will do the next heart transplant, Barnard told a news conference less than eight hours after Washkansky, 53, died in Groote Schuur Hospital.

Earlier Washkansky's anesthetist reported that the transplanted heart worked well until the very end and that the post-mortem indicated the patient died of a severe localized infection of the lungs.

Dr. Marthinus C. Botha, a pathologist, also said at this stage there is no clear evidence that rejection played a part in the outcome of the operation.

Barnard and Botha appeared at the news conference with cardiologist Prof. Velva Schrire, pathologist R.J.G. Thomson and cardiologist Dr. A. Forder.

A statement issued to the press shortly before the news conference said: "Clinically the cause of death was respiratory failure due to bilateral pneumonia. This was confirmed at post-mortem by Prof. J. G. Thomson."

Asked if he considered Washkansky's death "negated the experiment" Barnard replied, "Firstly, I would not consider it an experiment—it was a treatment for a sick patient.

"The problem of infection was loaded against the surgical team," he said.

Washkansky had an infected leg and diabetes.

Thomson said that had pneumonia not played a part there was the possibility Washkansky would have lived for a few years.

Prisoners' Yule Gifts Returned

WASHINGTON (AP) — North Vietnam has curtly returned 231 Christmas packages sent by wives and parents to American fighting men held prisoner by Hanoi, the Pentagon announced today.

Daniel Z. Henkin, a member of the Defense Department's Prisoner of War Policy Committee, told newsmen the 231 packages reached North Vietnam through international postal channels and were returned the same way bearing the "curt notation, 'refused by the postal service of North Vietnam.'"

"The persistent refusal of the Hanoi government to deliver Christmas parcels is another shocking manifestation of callous disregard for the rights of prisoners of war under the Geneva Convention," Henkin said.

Henkin noted the same thing happened last year.

Bids Opened On Pipeline

BIG SPRING — Twelve bids on the construction of thirty-three miles of 36-in. diameter concrete and steel pipeline were submitted to the Colorado River Municipal Water District and opened at this morning's meeting in Big Spring. Apparent low bidder was Pahnandle Construction Co., Lubbock, with a bid of $2,251,828, with second low bid offered by Elm Fork Construction Co. of Dallas, $2,293,769. Top bid of the twelve was for the amount of $2,994,447.

The 33-mile section of pipe will be constructed from Big Spring to a pump station in Martin County.

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have long been faithful readers of your column and as I have no one to turn to in my hour of despair, I must talk to someone.

How does one go on when his faith in prayer is shattered and the bottom has fallen out of everything? I feel my life is are useless now.

We adopted a little boy when he was just one week old. We loved that child more than our own flesh and blood. We prayed for him constantly. Yet, between the ages of 15 and 18 he went from skipping school to robbery to rape.

Our hearts are broken. Our son was raised in a good Christian home. We went to church every Sunday and have always set a good example. We never had tobacco or liquor in the house.

Where have our prayers gone? We cannot understand it. We are numb, sick and broken-hearted. God bless you if you can help us.

HIS MOTHER

DEAR MOHER: You speak of "prayer" as tho it were the premiums you paid for insurance against all ills and evils. It is not. Prayer is simply "a talk" with one's God. No amount of praying will protect another, in this case your adopted son, from the consequences of his own behavior. Each man must do his own praying. Just as each man must accept the consequences of his own acts.

I do no know where your son went wrong. But your faith in prayer should not have been shattered because he did.

DEAR ABBY: Recently my wife and I spent a night in Topeka, and I bought a copy of the Topeka Capitol Times. I was amused by a letter in your column from a wife whose husband was a millionaire who went around looking like a hobo. He wore suits for months without having them cleaned and pressed, didn't change his shirt for three or four days, bought the cheapest sox and underwear, etc. If my wife had not been traveling with me, I'd have sworn she wrote that letter.

Your answer was good, considering you didn't know the other side of the story, but since I do, and can speak from experience, let me back you up. The millionaire who goes around looking like a hobo does so out of protest. All he hears a home is, "Why don't you wear a freshly pressed suit? You've got a closetful. Why don't you change your shirt? You've got a drawerful. Why don't you shave? Why don't you get some new shoes? Do this, do that, do this, do that . . . -etc." In other words, he is nagged to death, and the only way he can punish his wife is to ignore her and go around looking like a hobo.

ANOTHER MILLIONAIRE HOBO

DEAR ABBY: Please tell "DOG TIRED" for me that if her dog is a slob, there is a good reason for it. The animal is owned by a slob. And if he is unwanted and unloved by the family (with the exception of the kids who like to play with him, but refuse to care for him) she should get in touch with her Humane Society (or Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals) and let them take him off her hands.

And if the dog has suddenly become valuable, moneywise, she should place a "For Sale To A Good Home" ad in her local newspaper.

Just sign me,

Red Missiles Miss Mark

By GEORGE MCARTHUR
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — Communist missilemen fired three of their Soviet-built rockets Wednesday night at a flight of American B52 bombers attacking Red targets in the demilitarized zone, but all missed, the U.S. Command reported.

Radio Hanoi followed up with a declaration that two of the $8-million craft were shot down today over the Vinh Linh district, just north of the DMZ. The Air Force in Saigon emphatically denied this.

"We have not lost any B52s to hostile action," a spokesman said.

The Wednesday night attack was reported launched from a temporary site about 10 miles above the DMZ.

Texans On Buying Spree

AUSTIN (AP)— Texans went on a buying binge in November, spending an estimated $1,497,000,000 at retail stores, the Bureau of Business Research said today

"Consumers in Texas increased their spending more in November than consumers in the remainder of the country," the University of Texas Agency said.

It noted that retail sales in November increased 2 per cent in the state, without allowing for seasonal variation, and "was a better performance than the usual seasonal behavior, for after this adjustment the increase over October was 8 per cent" and "November 1967 retail sales were 6 per cent ahead of the same month a year ago."

Dallas Voter Rolls Exceed Expectations

DALLAS (AP) — If Dallas is any example, an unprecedented number of Texans will vote in 1968, a presidential election year.

"I didn't expect anything like what we've had so far," said Ben Gentle, Dallas County tax assessor-collector who Wednesday revised upward his estimate of how many persons will qualify themselves to vote.

"I was planning on only 100,000 to register by Jan. 1 based on our past experience," he said, he said, and so far an astonishing 250,000 persons have signed up.

He had predicted earlier that 450,000 Dallas County persons would register but said he feels this now may be topped.

UN Rushes To Extend Peace Force

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U. N. Security Council raced against the clock today in an attempt to agree on a resolution extending the life of the U.N. peace force on Cyprus.

The current six-month mandate of the 4,700-man force expires next Tuesday. Unless it is renewed before then, there will be no buffer between the hostile Greek and Turkish Cypriot communities which nearly brought Turkey and Greece to war several weeks ago.

Debate on a proposal to extend the life of the U.N. force for three months began Wednesday with statements from Cyprus, Turkey, Greece and others. The main points in dispute were reported to be insistence by the Cyprus government—made up entirely of Greek Cypriots — on an oer-all political settlement with the Turkish Cypriot minority and counter demands by Turkey that the council limit itself to broadening the role of the U.N. force.

Diplomatic informants said that Turkey is ready to use Secretary-General U Thant's good offices in broadening the role of the force so that it can act more decisively in a crisis.

Council members have drafted a number of tentative resolutions and studied several submitted by Turkey and Cyprus. But none has proved satisfactory to everyone, and none has been formally introduced.

Three Killed In Missouri Tornadoes

POTOSI, Mo. (AP) — Three persons were killed and more than 25 injured today when a tornado or tornadoes struck southeastern Missouri, the Missouri Highway Patrol said.

The patrol said the three deaths occurred at Potosi where a tornado swept slowly through the area causing extensive damage that extended into the community of Cadet five miles northeast.

The dead were not identified.

Potosi's city hall, power plant, a shopping center and several homes were damaged or destroyed, troopers reported. At least 20 persons in the community of 3,000 were hospitalized.

The tornado struck as thunderstorms and high winds lashed widely scattered sections.

The patrol said a tornado damaged 15 to 18 homes, destroyed several barns and other farm buildings and knocked down power and telephone lines late Wednesday night between Willow Springs and Burnham in extreme southern Missouri. Several persons were reported injured, none seriously.

Today a tornado hit near the communities of Viburnum and Bixby in the Clark National Forest. The patrol said at least four persons were injured, one at Bixby and three at Viburnum. Several homes were damaged, power lines and trees downed,

The Weather Bureau said communities suffering damage are located on a line extending from southern Missouri northeast toward the Missouri-Illinois border. Potosi is in the center of the largest lead mining district in the world about 80 miles southwest of St. Louis.

The severe weather reached northeast across Illinois to Rantoul. High winds or a possible tornado took the roof off a night club and bowling alley near Jerseyville, about 40 miles northeast of St. Louis.

Comedienne Wins Fight For Trees

PACIFIC PALISADES, Calif. (AP) — Comedienne Nanette Fabray has won a stay of the woodman's ax in a neighborhood battle to save a picturesque stand of trees near her home.

As honorary mayor, she spearheaded a drive to protect the trees, some of them 1,000-year-old oaks.

A land developer who planned to clear the area to build 10 estate-type homes agreed Wednesday to an alternative development to spare the trees.

The sorority then returned to the home of Carol Cornelius for a gift exchange and revealed secret sisters. Pat Pate and Pam Mengwasser conducted a white elephant sale and refreshments of spiced tea, Christmas candy and cake were served to 13 members and the rushee, Betty Holt. Pictured above, top row, Pat Pate, Billie McVey, rushee Betty Holt, and Carol Cornelius. Bottom row, Marianne Seitz, Mary Lou Scott, and Pam Mengwasser. Not pictured were Barbara York, Rosie Underwood, Patsy Elliott, Helen Hall, Wilda Peitchensky, Carolyn Martin and Joy Whiteside.

Sorority Christmas Social Held

Monday evening the sorority sisters of Beta Sigma Phi met in the home of Carol Cornelius for a gift exchange and caroling event.

The eighth meeting of Lambda Kappa Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi met Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. Cornelius. After the opening ritual was read Pat Pate reported on official communications. A letter was received from past president Linda Sallie, who is attending school, wishing the chapter a "Merry Christmas."

Rebecca McDonald, president of the Montgomery City Council, Montgomery, Alabama, sent her congratulations and thanks for helping in selling of their cookbooks and requested another recipe for a new publication called "Desserts Including Party Beverages."

The service chairman reported the chapter's "adopted family" appreciated their help and friendship in their time of need and a Christmas basket was discussed. Program chairman reported the next meeting will be Jan. 2 in the home of Rosie Underwood with Patsy Elliott presenting the program. The social chairman announced the next social will be a bowling party Jan. 30 and husbands are invited.

Marianne Seitz and Carol Cornelius served refreshments to members and Rushee Betty Holt.

Smoked Pork Cut Provides Tasty Casserole Dish

Start the preparation of casserole dishes the evening before, and dinner won't have to wait too long the next day.

With dried lima beans, cooking time is extensive. It need not get out of proportion, however, if part of the preparation is done while you tidy the kitchen or do other household tasks during the evening.

Pork smoked shoulder rolls, with their flavor like ham, may or may not need simmering, depending upon which type they are.

Pork 'n' Lima Casserole

2 to 4 pound smoked pork shoulder roll (butt)
1 pound dried lima beans
Water
1 cup chopped onion
2 tablespoons molasses
1 tablespoon cornstarch
¾ cup firmly - packed brown sugar
1 teaspoon dry mustard
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper

Wash beans, cover with 4 cups water and simmer 1 hour. Add smoked pork shoulder roll, onion and additional water to cover meat and beans. Cover tightly and simmer 1 hour. Turn meat and continue to simmer covered 45 minutes to 1 hour or until meat and beans are tender. Remove shoulder roll and drain beans. Mix molasses, cornstarch, brown sugar, dry mustard, salt and pepper. Add to beans; stir until mixed. Place a layer of beans in a 2½-quart casserole. Slice smoked pork shoulder roll and add a layer of sliced meat. Cover with remaining beans and top with remaining sliced meat. Bake in a slow oven (325 degrees F.) 30 minutes, 6 to 8 servings.

Ira 4-H Girls Holds Party

The Ira 4-H Club met Tuesday at the Ira community center.

The meeting opened with President Leigh Ann Sterling presiding, and the group said the 4-H motto, pledge and prayer.

Those present were Nancy Sterling, Leigh Sterling, Susie Hester, Doris Wiggins, Beverly House, Adella Geitierrez, Danita Layne and Debbie Clements; also leader Mrs. Jimmy Layne and visitors Donna and Kim Layne.

The girls held their annual Christmas party.

Creamy Corn Makes Filling For Pork Steaks

Fillings or stuffings for certain meats add a note of elegance to the entree. Frequently, they enhance the taste - tempting qualities of the dish, especially if the flavors sing top harmony.

Thrifty pork arm steaks can easily demand company attention if the small round bones are removed, filling spread on the meat which is then rolled and tied.

Cream-style corn mixed with bread crumbs and a few simple seasonings provides an easily spread filling for this meat. Remove skewers or strings before serving.

Golden Filled Pork Rolls

8 pork arm steaks, cut ½ inch thick
Salt
Pepper
1 can (16 ounces) cream-style corn
1½ teaspoons salt
2 eggs, beaten
3 tablespoons melted butter or margarine
¼ cup chopped green pepper
2 tablespoons chopped onion
4 cups soft bread crumbs
½ teaspoon basil
½ teaspoon sage

Remove bones from pork steaks. Season with salt and pepper. Combine remaining ingredients, mix lightly and spread on steaks. Roll each steak like a jelly roll and tie or fasten with a skewer. Place rolls in a baking dish and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 1 hour. 8 servings.

Marinate drained canned asparagus spears in a savory French dressing and serve on lettuce, garnished with pimiento strips, for a company - dinner salad.

Two Self-Pitiers Don't Add To A Workable Pair

THE RECREATION HALL. By Richard Jessup.

Harry Cornell, once a seaman, has settled down in a little tidewater town and runs a bar called The Recreation Hall. His marriage is a mess, his 6-year - old son a stranger and Harry is fed up. He is about to take to the sea again.

But then he meets Carolyn, who has come home from New York, a battered career woman whose marriage also has been a wreck.

So here are two "losers" who are attracted to each other, with the whole town watching them. Inevitably, they have an affair. It cannot last.

The author makes it clear why it cannot last. Harry is engulfed in self-pity over being trapped in marriage. Carolyn is swamped in self - pity because her career and marriage have broken up. Two negatives do not make a positive. Harry and Carolyn do not have the strength to start a new life.

There are several observers of this drama, and Jessup makes the most of their reactions — among them Zach, a cynical lawyer who tries to keep Harry from getting too deeply into trouble, and Colonel Sami, a one - time Nazi who is trying to find how to pay for his sins.

Jessup writes in the highly taut style which he used in his frist novel, "The Cincinnati Kid," a story about a gambler. In "The Recreation Hall" he uses this style to create a somber study of people compelled to look back on "what might have been."

Historical Laws Arrived At By Oversimplification

THE CRITICAL HISTORIAN. By G. Kitson Clark.

Here is an admirable little book by a prominent British historian who imparts some professional wisdom for the practical end of general enlightenment.

Clark succeeds very well. He writes about methods of historical research — standards of proof, evaluation of documents and sources, the ubiquity of bias. But the habit of skeptical appraisal implicit in these methods would clear away many of the myths and legends that infest conventional opinion.

The author shows the precariousness of much of the evidence on which historical assumptions rest. For misguided spirits who would consider history an exact science, Clark has a towering objection:

"The great variety of factors influencing the course of human history," he writes, "the impossibility of isolating the effects of one factor from the effects of all the others, the complexity and the fluidity of the result, and above all the fact that each historical situation differs from every other historical situation, seems to make it improbable that a general science of history could be satisfactory or useful."

Dealers in grand theories of history (Spengler, Toynbee et al), and purveyors of historical "laws" arrive at them by oversimplification: they emphasize one factor to the neglect of the others.

The exact methods of historical evaluation and scholarship are numerous and require special training. All, as Clark notes, are devised to answer two questions: "What is your authority for saying this?" and "How do you know that what you say happened happened in this way?"

If these questions were asked more often and more insistently much mistaken and pernicious belief would be eliminated.

High Court Avoids Tangle Of Vietnam War Thicket

By BARRY SCHWEID
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — It came as no surprise this week when the Supreme Court refused to stand in the way of Capt. Dale E. Noyd's court-martial.

However active the court may be in other areas, it is anything but eager to joust with the military or to give its views on the Vietnam war.

A hearing for Noyd, charged with refusing to help train pilots for Vietnam duty, almost inevitably would have involved the 34-year-old officer's claim that the country is engaged in a "war of aggression."

And this, clearly, is a thicket the court does not want to get tangled in.

From the earliest days the court either has turned aside those who challenged war actions by the president and Congress or ruled against the challengers.

It's been no different with the Vietnam war.

On four separate occasions this term and last, draft resisters and soldiers who regard the war as illegal failed in their quest for hearings.

And although the court will decide before June if the law authorizing the jailing of draft card burners is constitutional, the ruling need not pass on the legality of the war.

This reluctance appears to disturb at least two justices, William O. Douglas and Potter Stewart.

Stewart, a highly pragmatic jurist, said in a dissenting opinion last month the war has raised "large and deeply troubling questions" and "the court should squarely face them."

And Douglas, in a dissent last March, noted "there is a considerable body of opinion that our actions in Vietnam constitute the waging of an aggressive war." He said legal questions raised by the war should be answered.

But the majority, without saying why, does not agree.

The tradition that the courts should not interfere with the president's power to make military decisions goes back to 1827.

That year the Supreme Court upheld conviction of a New York State militiaman who had refused to be called into federal service. Justice Joseph Story said the authority to determine whether a military emergency exists "belongs exclusively to the president."

In 1865 Chief Justice Salmon P. Chase's high court upheld federal seizure of ships that had tried to break a blockade of Southern ports set up before war was declared.

Even extreme exercises of wartime powers have been upheld.

For instance, in 1944 the court ruled constitutional an order excluding all persons of Japanese ancestry—including U.S. citizens—from the West Coast "military area."

No less a defender of civil liberties than Justice Hugo L. Black delivered the decision. He said "when under conditions of modern warfare our shores are threatened by hostile forces, the power to protect must be commensurate with the threatened danger."

Justice Felix Frankfurter, concurring in the decision, probably best expressed the court's traditional stance.

"The validity of action under the war power must be judged wholly in the context of war," he wrote. "That action is not to be stigmatized as lawless because like action in times of peace would be lawless..."

Junior Editors Quiz on GUNBOATS

QUESTION: What were gunboats used for?

* * *

ANSWER: A gunboat is a small naval vessel light enough to go up shallow rivers and other places where larger ships cannot penetrate. Yet it must be capable of carrying several large cannon able to damage enemy shipping and shore installations. These little ships were very useful in the early days of the U.S. Navy, when it was difficult for the new country to build expensive warships. At upper left we see what one type of early gunboat looked like. Notice the lateen sail, which would enable the boat to sail close to the wind and the large gun up in the bow. In the Civil War, the North was blockading southern ports when the South took one of its ships and covered it with iron. This ship, the Merrimack, began to destroy Northern vessels. Then an inventor got the idea of building a gunboat out of metal with a revolving turret. This was the Monitor. Merrimack was put out of commission by this famous gunboat. Later, gunboats became fighting ships like the one in the lower picture. Such ships served well in many parts of the world; but the American gunboat became obsolete as a type. The last one was commissioned in 1937.

Suggested Books For Celebrities

All in Fun: A Christmas Book List For Celebrities.

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Are you getting a bit frantic now about doing some last-minute Christmas shopping for presents for deserving acquaintances or suddenly remembered friends?

There is no reason for blind panic. The solution is simple. Just go to the nearest bookstore and buy a few books.

A good book is ~~always~~ an appropriate present. If you send it to someone who can't read, it flatters his vanity; if he can read, it will help keep him informed and stir in him a lasting gratitude. He may even lend you the book back so that you can read it, too.

Books, of course are handy in many ways. They are great things to impress visitors with or to hide behind when your wife is trying to start an argument and you are feeling too weak to defend yourself. And a good stout dictionary is as good a platform as you can find to stand upon while reaching up to pull down a stuck window blind.

Yes, there is no end to the uses books can be put to. But the selection of the right book for the right person is all-important.

For example, here—all in fun—is a suggested list of books suitable for certain celebrities:

"Incredible Victory"—The Los Angeles Rams.

"Last Reflections on a War"—Robert S. McNamara.

"The Deserted House"—Lyndon Johnson.

"The Chosen"—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, Gov. George Romney, Gov. Ronald Reagan, and Richard M. Nixon.

"No Laughting Matter"—John V. Lindsay, mayor of Fun City.

"At Ease: Stories I Tell Friends"—Zsa Zsa Gabor.

"The Instrument"—Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy.

"Anyone Can Make a Million"—Your friendly neighborhood Mafia leader.

"The Last Best Hope"—Bob Hope.

"A Dictionary of Angels"—Richard Cardinal Cushing.

"Between Parent and Child" Dr. Benjamin Spock.

"The Arrangement"—Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

"Foolish Figleaves?"—Phyllis Diller.

"The Revealing Eye"—J. Edgar Hoover.

"The Lost Revolutionary"—Any hippie.

"Oops! Or, Life's Awful Moments"—The Baltimore Colts.

"Bigger Than a Breadbox"—Jackie Gleason.

"The House in My Head"—Harold E. Stassen.

"One More Victim"—The Green Bay Packers.

"The Limits of Power"—Ho Chi Minh.

"With a Little Bit O'Luck"—King Constantine of Greece.

"The Age of Reason Begins"—Dr. Timothy Leary.

"On Top of the World"—Sidney Poitier.

76 Explosion Hits Seattle

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Philadelphia 76ers exploded for 53 points in the last quarter against Seattle and set a record in the National Basketball Association.

Big Wilt Chamberlain, with 53 points and 36 rebounds, helped the NBA champions erase the league mark for most points in one quarter in their 160-122 rout of the Supersonics Wednesday night.

In the other games, all played on the West Coast also, New York whipped Los Angeles 138-131, San Francisco edged Detroit 113-109 and Boston downed San Diego 126-116.

Chamberlain made 14 consecutive field goals as the 76ers, ahead by only 65-59 at halftime, broke the game wide open in the second half against Seattle. The 53 points in the last quarter broke the previous NBA mark of 52 set by Boston against Minneapolis in Feb. 1959 and equalled by Baltimore against Detroit in Dec. 1965.

Willis Reed, with 33, Dick Barnett, with 28, and Butch Komives, with 22, combined for 83 points in New York's triumph over the Lakers at Los Angeles. Jerry West, with 32, and Elgin Baylor, with 28, gave the Lakers an 81-80 lead in the third period before the Knicks pulled away. Prize rookie Bill Bradley of the Knicks got four points in his first Coast appearance as a pro.

Boston made it five in a row by downing San Diego behind 31 points by Larry Siegfried and 23 by Bill Russell.

San Francisco came from behind a 12-point deficit in the second quarter to beat Detroit. Jeff Mullins, who led the Warriors with 28 points, hit two key baskets in the last minute to keep the Warriors on top. Dave Bing also tallied 28 for Detroit.

In the American Basketball Association, Houston edged Kentucky 99-98, Minnesota beat New Orleans 100-93 and Indiana scored a 144-142 squeaker over Anaheim.

According To Hoyle, Oilers Clinch Tie

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Houston Oilers have clinched a tie for the American Football League's Eastern Division crown according to Hoyle, the football specialist, not the games expert.

Hoyle to the Oilers is hard-running Hoyle Granger, who has blossomed into one of the American Football League's top rushers.

Granger was named AFL Offensive Player of the Week by The Associated Press today after gaining 170 yards against San Diego in the 24-17 victory that insured Houston of no worse than a tie for the title.

He ran his season's total to 1,034 yards, only 53 short of Kansas City's Mike Garrett, who holds second place among the league's rushers. Garrett is finished for the season and Granger can overtake him Saturday night when the Oilers attempt to nail down the crown against Miami.

"We agreed in training camp that we were tired of losing," says Granger. So the Oilers went about winning, with their attack molded around the sophomore running back's powerful legs.

Against the Chargers, Granger bolted for his fifth touchdown of the season and showed the running finesse he has picked up in two years as a pro.

He was a rarely used rookie last season, carrying the ball only 56 times compared with 215 so far this season. But his 388 yards gained as a rookie showed promise and Coach Wally Lemm knew it. His 6.9 average was best among the top 20 rushers in the league last year.

49ers Fire Christiansen

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The San Francisco 49ers of the National Football League fired Coach Jack Christiansen on his 39th birthday Wednesday —and speculation swirled as to a possible successor.

The ax was not entirely unexpected following this season's 7-7 mark.

The names of two Christiansen assistants—Bill Johnson and Y.A. Tittle—have come up as possible successors.

Lou Spadia, president of the 49ers, gave Christiansen his notice at a meeting in Redwood City, and said he had not had any contacts concerning a possible successor—but would like to start talks soon.

Christiansen commented: "That happens to a coach if he doesn't win. Mr. Spadia gave no reason. He said things didn't work out like he hoped and he wanted a change.

"I had hoped to be given a chance to continue after we won our last two games."

He noted his record the past three years was 20-19-3 after taking the 49ers at the bottom from fired Coach Red Hickey in 1963. He had a 2-9 mark the remainder of that season and was 4-10 in 1964.

Cage Classic Set In Big D

DALLAS (AP) — Three teams with top records, one of them rated fifth nationally, will move in here next week for the All Sports Association Basketball Classic, to which Southern Methodist is the host.

Indiana, undefeated through six games, is the nationally ranked outfit in the field. California, with a 3-0 record and planning on getting into the top 10 any day now, and Western Kentucky, with a 5-2 record, are the other visiting teams.

Southern Methodist has the worst record in the Southwest Conference (0-6) to throw at California in the opening game of the tournament Dec. 28. Western Kentucky faces Indiana in the second.

The winners will meet for the championship Dec. 29.

Trinity Grabs Fifth Spot

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Kentucky Wesleyan Panthers are likely to at least close the gap between themselves and leading San Diego State in The Associated Press' small-college basketball poll now that the Aztecs' unbeaten streak has gone by the boards.

San Diego State remained in the No. 1 spot in the latest poll based on games through last Saturday.

The Aztecs, though, were beaten by Indiana State 84-69 Monday night. Runner-up Kentucky Wesleyan overwhelmed Texas Wesleyan 113-87 the same evening.

In the latest balloting by a national panel of 14 sports writers and broadcasters, San Diego State received five votes for first place and 108 points. Kentucky Wesleyan had one first-place vote and 87 points.

Southwestern of Louisiana climbed two positions to third after defeating Northeastern, La. and Lamar Tech in last week's games.

San Diego State had a 4-0 mark, Kentucky Wesleyan was 4-1 and SW Louisiana 5-0 through Saturday's games.

Evansville holds down the No. 4 spot followed by Trinity, Tex., Indiana State, Long Island University, Winston-Salem, Akron and Cheyney State.

The Top Ten, with first-place votes in parentheses and total points on a 10-9-8-etc. basis:

1.	San Diego St. (5)	108
2.	Kentucky Wesleyan (1)	87
3.	Southwestern, La. (3)	82
4.	Evansville (1)	79
5.	Trinity, Tex. (2)	77
6.	Indiana State (1)	47
7.	Long Island U.	41
8.	Winston-Salem	36
9.	Akron	28

Landry Has Respect For Brown Running

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Coach Tom Landry of the Dallas Cowboys expressed great respect for Cleveland's running game today although the Cowboys handled it well the last time the two teams met.

That, however, was in September, when Dallas held the Browns to a minus five yards. It also limited the heralded runners, Leroy Kelly and Ernie Green, to a total of 15 yards between them.

"They had little psychology going for them that day," Landry pointed out. "With Frank Ryan starting with a ba ankle and getting another before the day was out."

The Cowboys coach said there just was no comparison now, that Cleveland had a great running game, extra good punt returns and "If Ryan throws as well as expected they will have one of the best teams in football playing us."

He was speaking of Sunday's Eastern Conference playoff when the Cowboys will be trying to return to the National Football League finals.

Kelly will enter that game with the NFL rushing championship. He got it with 1,205 yards. Green, with 90 less tries, has racked up 710 yards.

The Cleveland team is the league rushing leader with 152.8 yards per game.

Dallas isn't bad itself and, in addition to that, has the best defense against rushing in the league, giving up only 77.2 yards per contest.

The Cowboys, with Don Perkins rolling up 823 yards and Dan Reeves 603, averaged 135.7 rushing per game.

The Cowboys are not expecting to outgain Cleveland on the ground and, in fact, Landry says this may not be the deciding point anyway.

"The quarterback who comes up with a hot hand could be the difference," said Landry.

Dallas will start much injured Don Meredith. Cleveland will depend on Ryan, who has been hurt about as much as Meredith but played more until last Sunday when he rested on the bench while the Browns took a 28-24 licking from Philadelphia when the game didn't mean anything.

Both quarterbacks seem to be on the beam and Landry didn't give his views in the event both come up with hot hands.

Ryan Last To Leave Drill Field

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Cleveland Browns quarterback Frank Ryan, one of the walking wounded last week, put in a hard workout here Wednesday and was pronounced ready to lead his team against Dallas Sunday for the Eastern Conference championship of the National Football League.

Ryan was the last to leave the field here after the Browns put in a heavy two-hour drill. He missed the Browns' game last week because of injury, but Browns officials said he and the rest of the team were fit and ready for drills.

The Browns arrived here Tuesday night for four days of practice in the Alamo City's balmy December weather. They'll leave Saturday for Dallas after a final workout here.

The practice Wednesday was open to the public and Browns' officials said conditions "were perfect."

Coach Blanton Collier had expressed dismay Tuesday night when told that the practice field—the municipally-owned Alamo Stadium—was a block down hill from a 15-story apartment house. The apartment house, it was pointed out, would make a perfect perch for someone trying to pick up pointers to use against the Browns.

But if there were any spies around, the Browns made it easy for them. One gate to the stadium was left open and unguarded. About 100 persons tarned out to watch the practice.

Rams Hold Final Drill

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Rams got in a final home field practice Thursday and then flew away to Milwaukee to face the Green Bay Packers, leaving behind at least one unanimous belief.

The Packers' loss to the Pittsburgh Steelers last week, 24-17, means the Packers will be tougher than ever Saturday in the Western Conference title game with Los Angeles.

Defensive tackle Roger Brown, a valuable man in the front four and a costar in the rout of Baltimore last Sunday, put it this way:

"The Packers probably had their minds more on the Ram-Colt game than they did on the Steelers. They'll be the old Packers Saturday."

Big Roger, who came to the Rams after a brilliant career with the Detroit Lions and filled a huge gap created when Roosevelt Grier was hurt, played his greatest game of the year against the Colts.

Johnny Unitas was thrown for losses seven times and Brown was responsible for two of them.

Skidoo Kid Averages 45.6 Points Per Tilt

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

They're calling Calvin Murphy, college basketball's new high scoring leader, the Skidoo Kid.

Why? Because he wears uniform No. 23 for the University of Niagara Purple Eagles. It's a takeoff on the slang expression of yesterday — 23, skidoo.

Murphy, a 5-foot-10 sophomore, replaced Pistol Maravich of Louisiana State as No. 1 major college scorer today in the latest NCAA statistics with a 45.6 point average.

The Skidoo Kid got 42 points against Cornell Wednesday night, but it wasn't enough to keep the Ivy League Big Red from winning 84-78. In fact, Murphy fouled out in the closing minutes and it was his man, Gregg Morris, who got loose for a side shot that broke a 61-61 tie and put Cornell ahead for good with seven minutes left.

Boston College, Tennessee and Bradley, the only teams in the Associated Press Top Ten to see action, each won handily.

Eighth-ranked B.C., led by Bob Dukiet's 23 points, trounced North Carolina State 72-55 after Providence whipped LaSalle 77-56 in the first round of the Boston Garden Invitational.

Tennessee, ninth-ranked, made it 28 in a row at home as the Vols defeated Wake Forst 81-63 at Knoxville. Unbeaten Bradly, No. 10, won its eighth straight by routing San Diego State, No. 1 in the AP small college poll, 95-76 at Peoria.

Manhattan downed Bowling Green 74-64 and Marshall whipped Virginia 97-89 in the first round of the Marshall Invitational at Huntington, W. Va.

Wisconsin came from behind, paced by James Johnson's 27 points, and beat Florida 86-81 at Madison, Wis., in one of the top intersectional games.

In others, St. John's of New York downed St. Mary's, Calif., 67-50, in New York, Los Angeles Loyola humbled Xavier of Ohio 80-69 at Cincinnati, Texas defeated UCAL, Santa Barbara, 87-75 at Austin, Denver whipped Southern Methodist 86-81 at Dallas, Marquette licked Villanova 81-62 at Milwaukee, Tulane crushed Dartmouth 97-76 at New Orleans and Colorado humbled Northwestern 73-68 at Boulder.

Butler surprised Purdue despite 23 points by soph star, Rick Mount, 76-59. In other home court triumphs, DePaul downed Iowa State 67-63, Michigan State overcame Nebraska 74-70, Idaho tripped Ohio Univ., 78-64 and Creighton humbled Minnesota 82-65.

On the road, Tulsa routed Memphis State 64-47, Yale beat Tampa 82-66, Brown took Stetson 75-66 and Drake downed Valparaiso 95-76.

'Horns Stick California

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Texas Longhorns defeated California at Santa Barbara without the services of their leading scorer and Denver handed the winless Southern Methodist Mustangs their sixth consecutive loss Wednesday night.

Texas, playing without Gary Overbeck, who received a shoulder separation in practice Monday, won 87-75 after leading only 35-33 at halftime. The Longhorns hit 61 per cent of their shots in winning a second straight game after losing four in a row.

Denver jumped off to an 11-point lead at halftime and trailed only once, at 64-63 with 11:46 to play, as it beat SMU 86-81. The Mustangs pulled to within one point with about a minute left but could not move ahead.

A Texas official said it was not known whether Overbeck, who is averaging 17 points a game, will be available for play in the Far West Classic at Portland, Ore., next week.

Baylor, which has the best won-lost record of any Southwest Conference team, plays the only game tonight, meeting Oklahoma City at Waco.

Muskies Slash Buccaneers 100-93

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Professional basketball came to Mississippi Wednesday and the boys from the Minnesota tundra had a better time of it than the ones from the Louisiana bayou.

The Minnesota Muskies beat the New Orleans Buccaneers 100-93 as some 4,500 fans turned out in Jackson, Miss., for an American Basketball Association game that had been switched from Memphis, Tenn., because of poor attendance at earlier games there.

Actually, the Eastern Division-leading Muskies needed the victory far more than Bucs who lead in the West. Minnesota now leads Pittsburgh by just one game, while New Orleans is up by 6½ games over Denver.

In other ABA games Wednesday night, Houston edged Kentucky 99-98 at Houston and Indiana nipped Anaheim 144-142 at Fresno, Calif.

In the National Basketball Association Wednesday, Philadelphia walloped Seattle 160-122, Boston downed San Diego 126-116, San Francisco defeated Detroit 113-109, and New York humbled Los Angeles 138-131.

New Orleans led by as many as 11 points in the first half, but Minnesota came charging back and went ahead late in the third period on a layup by Les Hunter. Don Freeman led the Muskies with 30 points while Jack Moreland topped the Bucs with 24.

Houston, leading by as many as 17 points in the third quarter, actually went behind late in the fourth quarter before Jerry Pettway scored with 1:15 remaining and stole the ball with two seconds left won the game. Wilbert Frazier of the Mavericks and Jim Ligon of the Colonels each had 21 points.

Free throws by Roger Brown and Bobby Edwards in the last minute gave Indiana its squeaker over Anaheim. Bob Netolicky, who paced the winners with 36 points, preserved the win by smothering a last second shot by Les Selvage of the Amigos. Warren Davis was high for the Amigos with 31 points.

Big Game Ducats Go

HOUSTON (AP) — "We never dreamed we'd sell it out," says an enthusiastic Ned Thompson, business manager of athletics at Houston University.

He was referring to the UCLA-Houston basketball game in the Astrodome Jan. 20. It will be the first time basketball has been played in the domed stadium.

Thompson said Wednesday that 38,000 to 40,000 tickets have been sold in the nine days they have been on sale.

"Nothing will compare with this," he said. "It is a dream because you are talking about 45,000 to 50,000 people for a basketball game."

UCLA is ranked first and Houston is second in the latest Associated Press poll. Both teams are undefeated.

High Court Avoids Tangle Of Vietnam War Thicket

By BARRY SCHWEID
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — It came as no surprise this week when the Supreme Court refused to stand in the way of Capt. Dale E. Noyd's court-martial.

However active the court may be in other areas, it is anything but eager to joust with the military or to give its views on the Vietnam war.

A hearing for Noyd, charged with refusing to help train pilots for Vietnam duty, almost inevitably would have involved the 34-year-old officer's claim that the country is engaged in a "war of aggression."

And this, clearly, is a thicket the court does not want to get tangled in.

From the earliest days the court either has turned aside those who challenged war actions by the president and Congress or ruled against the challengers.

It's been no different with the Vietnam war.

On four separate occasions this term and last, draft resisters and soldiers who regard the war as illegal failed in their quest for hearings.

And although the court will decide before June if the law authorizing the jailing of draft card burners is constitutional, the ruling need not pass on the legality of the war.

This reluctance appears to disturb at least two justices, William O. Douglas and Potter Stewart.

Stewart, a highly pragmatic jurist, said in a dissenting opinion last month the war has raised "large and deeply troubling questions" and "the court should squarely face them."

And Douglas, in a dissent last March, noted "there is a considerable body of opinion that our actions in Vietnam constitute the waging of an aggressive war." He said legal questions raised by the war should be answered.

But the majority, without saying why, does not agree.

The tradition that the courts should not interfere with the president's power to make military decisions goes back to 1827.

That year the Supreme Court upheld conviction of a New York State militiaman who had refused to be called into federal service. Justice Joseph Story said the authority to determine whether a military emergency exists "belongs exclusively to the president."

In 1865 Chief Justice Salmon P. Chase's high court upheld federal seizure of ships that had tried to break a blockade of Southern ports set up before war was declared.

Even extreme exercises of wartime powers have been upheld.

For instance, in 1944 the court ruled constitutional an order excluding all persons of Japanese ancestry—including U.S. citizens—from the West Coast "military area."

No less a defender of civil liberties than Justice Hugo L. Black delivered the decision. He said "when under conditions of modern warfare our shores are threatened by hostile forces, the power to protect must be commensurate with the threatened danger."

Justice Felix Frankfurter, concurring in the decision, probably best expressed the court's traditional stance.

"The validity of action under the war power must be judged wholly in the context of war," he wrote. "That action is not to be stigmatized as lawless because like action in times of peace would be lawless..."

Junior Editors Quiz on GUNBOATS

QUESTION: What were gunboats used for?

* * *

ANSWER: A gunboat is a small naval vessel light enough to go up shallow rivers and other places where larger ships cannot penetrate. Yet it must be capable of carrying several large cannon able to damage enemy shipping and shore installations. These little ships were very useful in the early days of the U.S. Navy, when it was difficult for the new country to build expensive warships. At upper left we see what one type of early gunboat looked like. Notice the lateen sail, which would enable the boat to sail close to the wind and the large gun up in the bow. In the Civil War, the North was blockading southern ports when the South took one of its ships and covered it with iron. This ship, the Merrimack, began to destroy Northern vessels. Then an inventor got the idea of building a gunboat out of metal with a revolving turret. This was the Monitor. Merrimack was put out of commission by this famous gunboat. Later, gunboats became fighting ships like the one in the lower picture. Such ships served well in many parts of the world; but the American gunboat became obsolete as a type. The last one was commissioned in 1937.

Suggested Books For Celebrities

All in Fun: A Christmas Book List For Celebrities.

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Are you getting a bit frantic now about doing some last-minute Christmas shopping for presents for deserving acquaintances or suddenly remembered friends?

There is no reason for blind panic. The solution is simple. Just go to the nearest bookstore and buy a few books.

A good book is always an appropriate present. If you send it to someone who can't read, it flatters his vanity; if he can read, it will help keep him informed and stir in him a lasting gratitude. He may even lend you the book back so that you can read it, too.

Books, of course are handy in many ways. They are great things to impress visitors with or to hide behind when your wife is trying to start an argument and you are feeling too weak to defend yourself. And a good stout dictionary is as good a platform as you can find to stand upon while reaching up to pull down a stuck window blind.

Yes, there is no end to the uses books can be put to. But the selection of the right book for the right person is all-important.

For example, here—all in fun—is a suggested list of books suitable for certain celebrities:

"Incredible Victory"—The Los Angeles Rams.

"Last Reflections on a War"—Robert S. McNamara.

"The Deserted House"—Lyndon Johnson.

"The Chosen"—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, Gov. George Romney, Gov. Ronald Reagan, and Richard M. Nixon.

"No Laughting Matter"—John V. Lindsay, mayor of Fun City.

"At Ease: Stories I Tell Friends"—Zsa Zsa Gabor.

"The Instrument"—Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy.

"Anyone Can Make a Million"—Your friendly neighborhood Mafia leader.

"The Last Best Hope"—Bob Hope.

"A Dictionary of Angels"—Richard Cardinal Cushing.

"Between Parent and Child" Dr. Benjamin Spock.

"The Arrangement"—Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

"Foolish Figleaves?"—Phyllis Diller.

"The Revealing Eye"—J. Edgar Hoover.

"The Lost Revolutionary"—Any hippie.

"Oops! Or, Life's Awful Moments"—The Baltimore Colts.

"Bigger Than a Breadbox"—Jackie Gleason.

"The House in My Head"—Harold E. Stassen.

"One More Victim"—The Green Bay Packers.

"The Limits of Power"—Ho Chi Minh.

"With a Little Bit O'Luck"—King Constantine of Greece.

"The Age of Reason Begins"—Dr. Timothy Leary.

"On Top of the World"—Sidney Poitier.

76 Explosion Hits Seattle

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Philadelphia 76ers exploded for 53 points in the last quarter against Seattle and set a record in the National Basketball Association.

Big Wilt Chamberlain, with 53 points and 36 rebounds, helped the NBA champions erase the league mark for most points in one quarter in their 160-122 rout of the Supersonics Wednesday night.

In the other games, all played on the West Coast also, New York whipped Los Angeles 138-131, San Francisco edged Detroit 113-109 and Boston downed San Diego 126-116.

Chamberlain made 14 consecutive field goals as the 76ers, ahead by only 65-59 at halftime, broke the game wide open in the second half against Seattle. The 53 points in the last quarter broke the previous NBA mark of 52 set by Boston against Minneapolis in Feb. 1959 and equalled by Baltimore against Detroit in Dec. 1965.

Willis Reed, with 33, Dick Barnett, with 28, and Butch Komives, with 22, combined for 83 points in New York's triumph over the Lakers at Los Angeles. Jerry West, with 32, and Elgin Baylor, with 28, gave the Lakers an 81-80 lead in the third period before the Knicks pulled away.

Prize rookie Bill Bradley of the Knicks got four points in his first Coast appearance as a pro.

Boston made it five in a row by downing San Diego behind 31 points by Larry Siegfried and 23 by Bill Russell.

San Francisco came from behind a 12-point deficit in the second quarter to beat Detroit. Jeff Mullins, who led the Warriors with 28 points, hit two key baskets in the last minute to keep the Warriors on top. Dave Bing also tallied 28 for Detroit.

In the American Basketball Association, Houston edged Kentucky 99-98, Minnesota beat New Orleans 100-93 and Indiana scored a 144-142 squeaker over Anaheim.

According To Hoyle, Oilers Clinch Tie

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Houston Oilers have clinched a tie for the American Football League's Eastern Division crown according to Hoyle, the football specialist, not the games expert.

Hoyle to the Oilers is hard-running Hoyle Granger, who has blossomed into one of the American Football League's top rushers.

Granger was named AFL Offensive Player of the Week by The Associated Press today after gaining 170 yards against San Diego in the 24-17 victory that insured Houston of no worse than a tie for the title.

He ran his season's total to 1,034 yards, only 53 short of Kansas City's Mike Garrett, who holds second place among the league's rushers. Garrett is finished for the season and Granger can overtake him Saturday night when the Oilers attempt to nail down the crown against Miami.

"We agreed in training camp that we were tired of losing," says Granger. So the Oilers went about winning, with their attack molded around the sophomore running back's powerful legs.

Against the Chargers, Granger bolted for his fifth touchdown of the season and showed the running finesse he has picked up in two years as a pro.

He was a rarely-used rookie last season, carrying the ball only 56 times compared with 215 so far this season. But his 388 yards gained as a rookie showed promise and Coach Wally Lemm knew it. His 6.9 average was best among the top 20 rushers in the league last year.

49ers Fire Christiansen

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The San Francisco 49ers of the National Football League fired Coach Jack Christiansen on his 39th birthday Wednesday —and speculation swirled as to a possible successor.

The ax was not entirely unexpected following this season's 7-7 mark.

The names of two Christiansen assistants—Bill Johnson and Y.A. Tittle—have come up as possible successors.

Lou Spadia, president of the 49ers, gave Christiansen his notice at a meeting in Redwood City, and said he had not had any contacts concerning a possible successor—but would like to start talks soon.

Christiansen commented: "That happens to a coach if he doesn't win. Mr. Spadia gave no reason. He said things didn't work out like he hoped and he wanted a change.

"I had hoped to be given a chance to continue after we won our last two games."

He noted his record the past three years was 20-19-3 after taking the 49ers at the bottom from fired Coach Red Hickey in 1963. He had a 2-9 mark the remainder of that season and was 4-10 in 1964.

Cage Classic Set In Big D

DALLAS (AP) — Three teams with top records, one of them rated fifth nationally, will move in here next week for the All Sports Association Basketball Classic, to which Southern Methodist is the host.

Indiana, undefeated through six games, is the nationally ranked outfit in the field. California, with a 3-0 record and planning on getting into the top 10 any day now, and Western Kentucky, with a 5-2 record, are the other visiting teams.

Southern Methodist has the worst record in the Southwest Conference (0-6) to throw at California in the opening game of the tournament Dec. 28. Western Kentucky faces Indiana in the second.

The winners will meet for the championship Dec. 29.

Trinity Grabs Fifth Spot

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Kentucky Wesleyan Panthers are likely to at least close the gap between themselves and leading San Diego State in The Associated Press' small-college basketball poll now that the Aztecs' unbeaten streak has gone by the boards.

San Diego State remained in the No. 1 spot in the latest poll based on games through last Saturday.

The Aztecs, though, were beaten by Indiana State 84-69 Monday night. Runner-up Kentucky Wesleyan overwhelmed Texas Wesleyan 113-87 the same evening.

In the latest balloting by a national panel of 14 sports writers and broadcasters, San Diego State received five votes for first place and 108 points. Kentucky Wesleyan had one first-place vote and 87 points.

Southwestern of Louisiana climbed two positions to third after defeating Northeastern, La. and Lamar Tech in last week's games.

San Diego State had a 4-0 mark, Kentucky Wesleyan was 4-1 and SW Louisiana 5-0 through Saturday's games.

Evansville holds down the No. 4 spot followed by Trinity, Tex., Indiana State, Long Island University, Winston-Salem, Akron and Cheyney State.

The Top Ten, with first-place votes in parentheses and total points on a 10-9-8-etc. basis:

1.	San Diego St. (5)	108
2.	Kentucky Wesleyan (1)	87
3.	Southwestern, La. (3)	82
4.	Evansville (1)	79

Landry Has Respect For Brown Running

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Coach Tom Landry of the Dallas Cowboys expressed great respect for difference," said Landry.

Cleveland's running game today although the Cowboys handled it well the last time the two teams met.

That, however, was in September, when Dallas held the Browns to a minus five yards. It also limited the heralded runners, Leroy Kelly and Ernie Green, to a total of 15 yards between them.

"They had little psychology going for them that day," Landry pointed out. "With Frank Ryan starting with a ba ankle and getting another before the day was out."

The Cowboys coach said there just was no comparison now, that Cleveland had a great running game, extra good punt returns and "If Ryan throws as well as expected they will have one of the best teams in football playing us."

He was speaking of Sunday's Eastern Conference playoff when the Cowboys will be trying to return to the National Football League finals.

Kelly will enter that game with the NFL rushing championship. He got it with 1,205 yards. Green, with 90 less tries, has racked up 710 yards.

The Cleveland team is the league rushing leader with 152.8 yards per game.

Dallas isn't bad itself and, in addition to that, has the best defense against rushing in the league, giving up only 77.2 yards per contest.

The Cowboys, with Don Perkins rolling up 823 yards and Dan Reeves 603, averaged 135.7 rushing per game.

The Cowboys are not expecting to outgain Cleveland on the ground and, in fact, Landry says this may not be the deciding point anyway.

"The quarterback who comes up with a hot hand could be the

Dallas will start much injured Don Meredith. Cleveland will depend on Ryan, who has been hurt about as much as Meredith but played more until last Sunday when he rested on the bench while the Browns took a 28-24 licking from Philadelphia when the game didn't mean anything.

Both quarterbacks seem to be on the beam and Landry didn't give his views in the event both come up with hot hands.

Ryan Last To Leave Drill Field

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Cleveland Browns quarterback Frank Ryan, one of the walking wounded last week, put in a hard workout here Wednesday and was pronounced ready to lead his team against Dallas Sunday for the Eastern Conference championship of the National Football League.

Ryan was the last to leave the field here after the Browns put in a heavy two-hour drill. He missed the Browns' game last week because of injury, but Browns officials said he and the rest of the team were fit and ready for drills.

The Browns arrived here Tuesday night for four days of practice in the Alamo City's balmy December weather. They'll leave Saturday for Dallas after a final workout here.

The practice Wednesday was open to the public and Browns' officials said conditions "were perfect."

Coach Blanton Collier had expressed dismay Tuesday night when told that the practice field—the municipally-owned Alamo Stadium—was a block down hill from a 15-story apartment house. The apartment house, it was pointed out, would make a perfect perch for someone trying to pick up pointers to use against the Browns.

But if there were any spies around, the Browns made it easy for them. One gate to the stadium was left open and unguarded. About 100 persons tarned out to watch the practice.

Rams Hold Final Drill

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Rams got in a final home field practice Thursday and then flew away to Milwaukee to face the Green Bay Packers, leaving behind at least one unanimous belief.

The Packers' loss to the Pittsburgh Steelers last week, 24-17, means the Packers will be tougher than ever Saturday in the Western Conference title game with Los Angeles.

Defensive tackle Roger Brown, a valuable man in the front four and a costar in the rout of Baltimore last Sunday, put it this way:

"The Packers probably had their minds more on the Ram-Colt game than they did on the Steelers. They'll be the old Packers Saturday."

Big Roger, who came to the Rams after a brilliant career with the Detroit Lions and filled a huge gap created when Roosevelt Grier was hurt, played his greatest game of the year against the Colts.

Johnny Unitas was thrown for losses seven times and Brown was responsible for two of them.

Skidoo Kid Averages 45.6 Points Per Tilt

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

They're calling Calvin Murphy, college basketball's new high scoring leader, the Skidoo Kid.

Why? Because he wears uniform No. 23 for the University of Niagara Purple Eagles. It's a takeoff on the slang expression of yesterday — 23, skidoo.

Murphy, a 5-foot-10 sophomore, replaced Pistol Maravich of Louisiana State as No. 1 major college scorer today in the latest NCAA statistics with a 45.6 point average.

The Skidoo Kid got 42 points against Cornell Wednesday night, but it wasn't enough to keep the Ivy League Big Red from winning 84-78. In fact, Murphy fouled out in the closing minutes and it was his man, Gregg Morris, who got loose for a side shot that broke a 61-61 tie and put Cornell ahead for good with seven minutes left.

Boston College, Tennessee and Bradley, the only teams in the Associated Press Top Ten to see action, each won handily.

Eighth-ranked B.C., led by Bob Dukiet's 23 points, trounced North Carolina State 72-55 after Providence whipped LaSalle 77-56 in the first round of the Boston Garden Invitational.

Tennessee, ninth-ranked, made it 28 in a row at home as the Vols defeated Wake Forst 81-63 at Knoxville. Unbeaten Bradley, No. 10, won its eighth straight by routing San Diego State, No. 1 in the AP small college poll, 95-76 at Peoria.

Manhattan downed Bowling Green 74-64 and Marshall whipped Virginia 97-89 in the first round of the Marshall Invitational at Huntington, W. Va.

Wisconsin came from behind, paced by James Johnson's 27 points, and beat Florida 86-81 at Madison, Wis., in one of the top intersectional games.

In others, St. John's of New York downed St. Mary's, Calif., 67-50, in New York, Los Angeles Loyola humbled Xavier of Ohio 80-69 at Cincinnati, Texas defeated UCAL, Santa Barbara, 87-75 at Austin, Denver whipped Southern Methodist 86-81 at Dallas, Marquette licked Villanova 81-62 at Milwaukee, Tulane crushed Dartmouth 97-76 at New Orleans and Colorado humbled Northwestern 73-68 at Boulder.

Butler surprised Purdue despite 23 points by soph star, Rick Mount, 76-59. In other home court triumphs, DePaul downed Iowa State 67-63, Michigan State overcame Nebraska 74-70, Idaho tripped Ohio Univ. 78-64 and Creighton humbled Minnesota 82-65.

On the road, Tulsa routed Memphis State 64-47, Yale beat Tampa 82-66, Brown took Stetson 75-66 and Drake downed Valparaiso 95-76.

'Horns Stick California

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Texas Longhorns defeated California at Santa Barbara without the services of their leading scorer and Denver handed the winless Southern Methodist Mustangs their sixth consecutive loss Wednesday night.

Texas, playing without Gary Overbeck, who received a shoulder separation in practice Monday, won 87-75 after leading only 35-32 at halftime. The Longhorns hit 56 per cent of their shots in winning a second straight game after losing four in a row.

Denver jumped off to an 11-point lead at halftime and trailed only once, at 64-63 with 11:46 to play, as it beat SMU 86-81. The Mustangs pulled to within one point with about a minute left but could not move ahead.

A Texas official said it was not known whether Overbeck, who is averaging 17 points a game, will be available for play in the Far West Classic at Portland, Ore., next week.

Baylor, which has the best won-lost record of any Southwest Conference team, plays the only game tonight, meeting Oklahoma City at Waco.

Muskies Slash Buccaneers 100-93

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Professional basketball came to Mississippi Wednesday and the boys from the Minnesota tundra had a better time of it than the ones from the Louisiana bayou.

The Minnesota Muskies beat the New Orleans Buccaneers 100-93 as some 4,500 fans turned out in Jackson, Miss., for an American Basketball Association game that had been switched from Memphis, Tenn., because of poor attendance at earlier games there.

Actually, the Eastern Division-leading Muskies needed the victory far more than Bucs, who lead in the West. Minnesota now leads Pittsburgh by just one game, while New Orleans is up by 6½ games over Denver.

In other ABA games Wednesday night, Houston edged Kentucky 99-98 at Houston and Indiana nipped Anaheim 144-142 at Fresno, Calif.

In the National Basketball Association Wednesday, Philadelphia walloped Seattle 160-122, Boston downed San Diego 126-116, San Francisco defeated Detroit 113-109, and New York humbled Los Angeles 138-131.

New Orleans led by as many as 11 points in the first half, but Minnesota came charging back and went ahead late in the third period on a layup by Les Hunter. Don Freeman led the Muskies with 30 points while Jack Moreland topped the Bucs with 24.

Houston, leading by as many as 17 points in the third quarter, actually went behind late in the fourth quarter before Jerry Pettway scored with 1:15 remaining and stole the ball with two seconds left won the game. Wilbert Frazier of the Mavericks and Jim Ligon of the Colonels each had 21 points.

Free throws by Roger Brown and Bobby Edwards in the last minute gave Indiana its squeaker over Anaheim. Bob Netolicky, who paced the winners with 36 points, preserved the win by smothering a last second shot by Les Selvage of the Amigos. Warren Davis was high for the Amigos with 31 points.

Big Game Ducats Go

HOUSTON (AP) — "We never dreamed we'd sell it out," says an enthusiastic Ned Thompson, business manager of athletics at Houston University.

He was referring to the UCLA-Houston basketball game in the Astrodome Jan. 20. It will be the first time basketball has been played in the domed stadium.

Thompson said Wednesday that 38,000 to 40,000 tickets have been sold in the nine days they have been on sale.

"Nothing will compare with this," he said. "It is a dream because you are talking about 45,000 to 50,000 people for a basketball game."

UCLA is ranked first and Houston is second in the latest Associated Press poll. Both teams are undefeated.

Ever Gift Wrap A Live Shark?

By HAL COOPER
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — 'Tis the season to be jolly, and what could be jollier than getting a gift-wrapped shark for Christmas?

Or Santa Claus playing accomplice to a pair of bank robbers?

Or a Christmas tree which grows its own ornaments?

Or take the little Jewish boy who informs the store Santa Claus in Omaha that while he does not celebrate Christmas he does observe Chanukah, the festival of lights. So Santa Claus asks him what would he like for Chanukah, and the kid says "A Christmas tree."

The Christmas shark bit was dreamed up by a pet dealer in Caracas, Venezuela. As the gift for the man who has everything, including an extra swimming pool, the dealer offered live sharks at $22 a head.

Cincinnati was where Santa Claus turned up as the innocent stooge in a bank robbery. He was standing in front of the lens of a tell-tale camera intended to discourage holdups. So two gunmen clipped a teller for $4,200 and s c r a m m e d, unphotographed and unidentified.

The self-decorating Christmas tree? It has been developed in an arboretum at Placerville, Calif., by the Forest Genetics Institute of the U.S. Department of Agriculture. The institute crossed two types of lodgepole pine and emerged with a tree which develops ornamental cones while still small enough to stand in a room.

In Portland, Ore., postal workers browsing through letters to Santa Claus ran across one from a little girl named Susan which contained a warning: "Santa, I want to tell you about our chimney. We haven't got one."

In Los Angeles, thieves marked up an assist for Christmas shoppers. The sheriff held a holiday auction of 500 unclaimed stolen articles retrieved from burglars and such.

In Des Moines, Iowa, a merchant cutely wrapped his front door to resemble a big Christmas present and pasted on a label saying "Please DO open before Christmas."

A criminal prosecutor in Tulsa, Okla., was rather pleased to receive a Christmas card from a man he had sent to prison, at least until he read the greeting: "Christmas would be so much better this year, if only I were there, or you were here."

Christmas carols came under fire twice in, of all places, merrie England, which invented most of them.

Charles Cruddock, a regional railway manager, banned carols from the public address systems of nine London and suburban train stations, explaining:

"I can imagine the ribald remarks passengers waiting for late-running trains might make when they hear 'God rest ye merry gentlemen, let nothing you dismay."

In Ipsley, England, the Rev. F r e d e r i c k Foreman out-Scrooged Scrooge by denouncing carols as "meaningless twaddle." For instance, he pointed out, "merry gentlemen" might well be construed as a reference to a bunch of the boys whooping it up in a pub.

Clean Air Act Praised By Board

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas Air Control Board members feel "probably the most important new feature" of its new law is the authority it gives local governments "to take an active role in air pollution control work."

Board officials submitted a brief written analysis Wednesday of the 1967 Clean Air Act, as passed by the last legislature.

Critics have said the measure does not give cities enough leeway to set and enforce standards higher than the state's.

"It is spelled out in the act that local governments are authorized to bring civil action within their own air control programs. A local government may go on public or private property to make inspections and may bring enforcement actions under the act," board Director Charles Barden said.

"A city may also adopt its own air pollution control ordinances if they are consistent with the act and the board's regulations and orders," he said.

He said local governments may enter into cooperative agreements for air pollution inspections and enforcement.

Also, Barden said, the term "undesirable levels" of pollutants is now defined to bring the act more in line with the standard definition of air pollution recommended by the U.S. Public Health Service.

Steinbeck's Son Is Found Innocent

WASHINGTON (AP) — John Steinbeck, IV, son of the author, has been found innocent of a police charge of maintaining a nuisance in connection with some marijuana found in his apartment here.

A General Sessions Court jury rendered its verdict Wednesday after hearing the 21-year-old former soldier testify the marijuana did not belong to him.

A separate charge of possession of marijuana was dropped Monday.

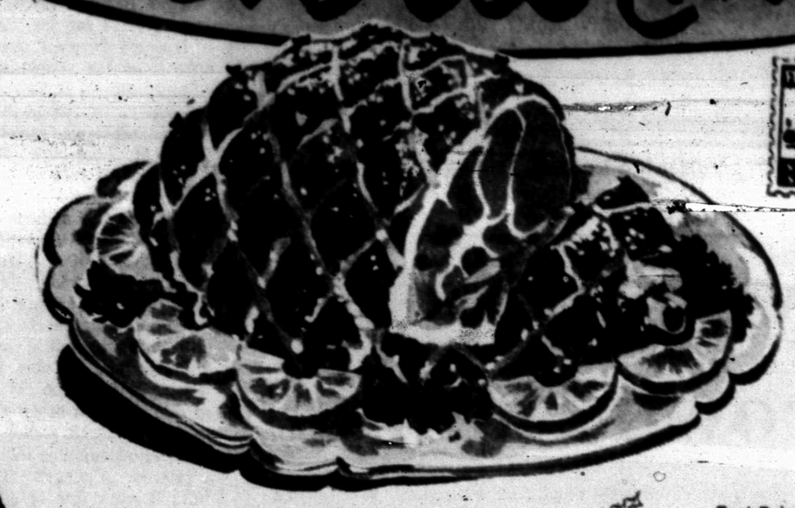

Young Steinbeck said he sometimes smoked marijuana in connection with some articles he was writing on the drug. He recently was honorably discharged from the Army, serving some of his hitch in Vietnam.

The Man Died, Idea Will Survive

By JOHN BARBOUR
AP Science Writer

In the end it was the man who died, but not the idea.

For a time a 53-year-old South African grocer with a failing heart had been given hope, indeed had lived 18 days with a strange new heart beating in his breast, and smiled and talked cautiously about the future.

Then he died, and with him the chance for success in this first attempt to transplant the human heart from one person to another.

The experiment was born out of the desperate frustration of doctors watching the whole man die for want of one healthy organ.

It will be tried again for the same reason.

In the last days, something began to accumulate slowly in the body, in the lungs, of Louis Washkansky. Perhaps it was the mysterious poison of rejection, or the subtle strands of an infection. Doctors are not sure which.

On Dec. 3 in daring surgery they had replaced Washkansky's sick heart with the more vital heart of Denise Ann Darvall, 25, an auto accident victim. But now they were powerless to stop the secret forces moving against Washkansky.

The failure points up the gaps in man's knowledge. The doctors know how the heart works, how the blood courses through this vital pump to the lungs to be refreshed, and back through the heart to carry food and to cleanse the distant cells of the body.

They know how to keep a man alive briefly with a heart-lung machine. They know how to take a heart out and place it in another body.

They know that a certain white blood cell called a lymphocyte is a keystone to the body's ability to fight off infection, to build immunity, to reject things foreign. They know that somehow the lymphocyte recognizes protein intruders, and mobilizes against them.

They know that the body produces antibodies against germs and against foreign tissues. They know these antibodies are designed to attack specific targets.

But no one knows just how the immunity forces, the rejection mechanism, work. No one knows just how the body recognizes a transplanted heart or kidney or liver or spleen as a stranger. No one knows for certain whether there are one or many systems at work to protect the body.

The doctors give transplant patients powerful drugs to drive down the immunity forces, to make the body more tolerant although they know that when they do this they are nearly stripping the body of its weapons against even normally harmless infection.

Thus, the body may learn to tolerate its new kidney or heart only to die later of pneumonia.

The doctors see strange signs in the lungs and wonder if it is a bacteria they can fight with antibiotics, or a fungus, or a virus against which they are powerless.

The lungs, one of the body's filters, become the collecting point of trouble. Here doctors may find blood clots that form elsewhere, or clumps of cells, or slowly accumulating fluids when the heart shows signs of failure.

So it was with Louis Washkansky. If his lungs were infected, the infection did not respond to penicillin.

If it were some sign of rejection that showed in the lungs, the doctors could not recognize it.

From the beginning, Washkansky must have known the awful reality of his odds for survival. His was the first heart transplant, and the first of anything is the most risky.

He also must have known that his would not be the last. Even while he was recuperating, Dr. Adrian Kantrowitz, a Brooklyn heart surgeon, took the heart from a dead baby and transplanted it to the chest of a 2½ week old boy. For six hours the infant lived with his new heart, and then it failed, and the doctors did not know why.

Yet the men who pioneer transplants know they must try in humans, or never know the answers. They have not rushed to the surgical table. Dr. Kantrowitz said his hospital and his team felt they were ready to transplant a heart as early as mid-1966. Yet they did not attempt it until Dec. 6.

In the cases tried, death is first judged to be inevitable anyway for both donor and recipient, with or without the operation.

Surgeons also know that human heart transplants are not the answer for the half a million Americans who die each year of heart trouble. There would not be enough hearts to go around, even if doctors knew well enough how to make the heart last. The answer, almost everyone believes, is a truly artificial, man-made heart to replace those that become sick. Beyond that, the better answer is to prevent heart disease in the first place.

Yet perhaps a new heart could keep a person alive long enough for the artificial heart to become reality.

In any case, faced with a person 90 per cent healthy but dying for want of a heart or a kidney, doctors will take any reasonable step to thwart death.

For years they have transplanted kidneys and other organs to this end. In the beginning they met continual failure. Now their successes are growing.

The future holds other possibilities. In laboratory experiments surgeons have grafted the brain of one dog to the body of another. The transferred brain lived for three days.

Many researchers say it never will be practical to transplant the human brain. And even if it were, they ask, would you be giving a man a new brain, or a brain a new man.

Who is to say. But who would have guessed at the turn of the century that men would be taking out hearts, throwing them away, and replacing them with new hearts?

And when Louis Washkansky was born in 1914, who would have dreamed of the course his life would take.

State To Seek Death Penalty

WACO (AP)—Asst. Dist. Atty. Geor. Allen said today the state plans to seek the death penalty if the McLennan County grand jury indicts Jackie W. Grider, 25, on a charge of murdering a Baylor co-ed.

The grand jury meets Dec. 28. Its recall was ordered by 54th Dist. Judge Vic Hall.

Allen told The Associated Press Grider was examined by a private psychiatrist for the state Tuesday and "was found sane."

"We definitely plan to seek the death penalty," Allen said.

Police have quoted Grider as saying he killed 19-year-old Jill Brown of Crawford, Tex., Dec. 8 after he had raped her. Her body was found in a clump of cedar brush near Lake WaWco where it had been hidden.

An unidentified member of Grider's family t old the Waco News-Tribune Wednseday that Grider had seen four psychiatrists in the last 13 years—the last one two years ago.

"They (the psychiatrists) all have said there was something wrong, but just left us hanging with no answer," the relative told the newspaper.

The relative, who asked not to be identified, said Grider was first taken to a psychiatrist when he was 12 years old. The relative said the psychiatrist mentioned that Grider's problems were "an emotional thing."

Grider has waived his rights to a court-appointed attorney although Justice of the Peace Joe Johnson offered him counsel.

Meanwhile, a privately collected reward mounted to $1,240 for the slayer of Miss Brown. The Waco City Council offered to match any reward to a total of $5,000 for both private and council money .

The reward would be paid only should Grider be convicted. Mayor T. M. Johnston said claims for the reward money should be filed with the city attorney.

Pine Tree Seedlings To Be Distributed

LUFKIN, Tex. (AP) — One hundred forty thousand free pine seedlings will be distributed within a year by the Texas Forestry Association to East Texas youths, James L. Love, president of the association, reports.

The Southwestern Timber Co., Jasper, has donated approximately 50,000 pine seedlings for free distribution. The other seedlings have been purchased by the association from the Texas Forest Service.

ART COLLECTOR CONVINCED

38 'Masterpieces' Are Fakes

By RICHARD CURRY
Dallas Times Herald
(for The Associated Press)

DALLAS (AP) — Multimillionaire oilman Algur H. Meadows, subject of one of the world's most publicized art frauds, says he now is convinced 38 of the 40 "masterpieces" in his collection are fakes.

"I'll take the loss," he said, putting it at $525,000 in actual money paid out.

"I plan to go out and do a better job this time," he added.

In the six months since the scandal broke, Meadows has cooperated closely with Paris police in trying to track down the person who misrepresented the paintings.

He also has assembled a new multimillion - dollar collection and plans to keep buying.

His new purchases—all bought through a major New York art dealer rather than through auctions or traveling dealers—includes a Cezanne portrait of the artist's wife, a Renoir once owned by the New York Metropolitan Museum, a Picasso, a Modigliani and a Matisse.

Within the last two months he presented a 17 Century Valasquez portrait to Southern Methodist University and an oil painting by Jackson Pollock for which he paid $150,000 to the Dallas Museum of Fine Arts. He also gave the museum a sculpture by Lipchitz.

The Meadows case is a commentary on today's fast-moving, sensationally expensive art market in which many businessmen invest as a hedge against inflation.

As a result of the Meadows scandal, French art certification experts recently formed an organization to regulate their trade. Meadows notes wryly that some of the experts who cetrtified as genuine the bogus pictures in his collection are officers of the new group.

He makes it clear he suspects no art experts of collusion but he is highly critical of the system by which the sought-after paintings by French masters are authenticated.

The techniques to prove a painting is real and not a forgery include certification by a recognized expert or by a member of the artist's family.

Meadows, a collector for 15 years, began buying his questioned paintings from two French dealers who brought a collection here in 1964. He said he bargained for their canvases much as he might aggressively haggle for a promising oil lease.

"They would show me two canvases and say they wanted $75,000 for each. I would tell them I wouldn't give them $50,000 for both of them. We would discuss the paintings off and on for weeks, and finally I would tell them I wasn't interested.

"Then just as they were about to leave Dallas, I would offer them $75,000 for both paintings and they would accept that," Meadows said.

"If I bought $160,000 worth of paintings for $80,000, I would give them the right to buy them back within six months at a $10,000 profit to me," he said.

Each of the paintings came with detailed authentication by experts. Some had been sold once or more through leading art auction houses.

During a 2½ year period, Meadows bought 40 paintings from the two Frenchmen. The canvases bore such names as Chagall, Bonnard, Dufy, Gauguin, Vlaminch.

Meadows hired the head of a U. S. auction house to establish the value of the collection for estate purposes. The expert put the market value of it at $1,362,750. He got a $3,000 fee for his detailed examination.

A dealer friend suggested that Meadows double check the paintings' authenticity, and he invited to his house two representatives of the Art Dealers Association of America.

After a brief inspection, Meaows said, the men declared Meadows' pictures to be either outright forgeries or wrongly attributed. Meadows said he would not accept their verdict as final without further research. The story of the bogus art shortly after was leaked to New York newspapers.

Despite the publicity, Meadows had his collection painstakingly reviewed by Wildenstein, a New York art dealer with offices in Paris. The investigation was finished in November with the decision that 38 of the 40 were fakes.

"The very system set up to protect the public is now being used against the buying public," Meadows said. "I did not trust those dealers. But I did trust the system of authentication. I don't know how a person can protect himself unless he deals only through a top gallery."

Year-End Rally Now An Institution

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market's year-end rally is becoming as much an institution in financial communities as Christmas parties and bonuses, both of which have been plentiful and bountiful this year.

There still remains some slight uncertainty, however, about the appearance of the traditional rally. In 35 of the past 40 years it has arrived on schedule, but you don't have to look far to find exceptions.

Last year, as the culmination of a nearly year-long decline, the market faded in the final week. As if to emphasize the year's bearishness, prices fell on each day between Christmas and New Year's.

There are a few indications this year also that the year-end rally might not be as pronounced or as financially rewarding as it has been in most years. But neither are prices expected to fall very much. It is a safe period.

The factors that keep prices buoyant are numerous, but perhaps nothing in recent years has played a bigger role than income taxes. Shareowners early in December often sell stock to establish gains or losses for reporting on their tax forms in April.

This often depresses the prices of many shares and sets the stage for a quick recovery, especially if such tax selling has depressed prices into the big value category. There are always buyers looking for real values.

Selling to establish tax losses is a more important factor than selling to realize gains, for those who have big declines for the year are very much inclined to recoup some of their losses through tax rebates. The law says $1,000 per person in losses can be deducted from income each year.

In anticipation of a busy Christmas season, most shareholders get their tax selling out of the way by Dec. 25. This leaves them with proceeds to reinvest and, in the Christmas spirit, they frequently do just that.

Institutions increasingly are doing their bit to assure the year-end rally, for many of them dress up their portfolios with new stocks before the year-end report. A big list of strong stocks is their best window display.

All these coincidental factors act to boost prices during the final week of the year and very often well into January of the next year as well.

Psychological factors also play a role. December is the month of economic forecasts, and few analysts of the American economy are consistently bearish. Hope an optimism reign, at least in the financial realm.

This year two other factors will be influencing the year-end attitude. First, inflation is unrestrained at the moment and very likely will remain unchecked into 1968. A good many people believe stocks are inflation's best hedge.

The other factor might work to dampen a year-end rally. Again, this factor involves taxes. There is a widespread feeling that income taxes will be raised next year. As a result, many shareholders are bound to sell and take their profits this year.

Political Crisis Eases In Greece

By PHILIP DOPOULOS
Associated Press Writer

ATHENS (AP) — Greece's political crisis appeared today to be reaching a turning point after King Constantine said he would return if the junta announced a firm timetable for restoration of democracy.

The 27-year-old monarch's condition appeared easy for the ruling junta to accept. He called for an "acceptable date" for publication of a new constitution, an early date for a national referendum on it and assurances to the Greek people that they will be able to elect a new government.

Constantine did not stipulate what should be in the constitution, what his powers should be or when the election should be held.

The junta, which wants Constantine back to help it hold recognition as the legitimate government, long has promised a return to parliamentary rule. A draft constitution is to be presented to it Saturday—a consiution sharply reducing he king's powers.

The three ruling colonels who came to power in a coup last April 21 resigned Wednesday from the army, clearing the way for them to run as civilians in the elections they have promised. But there was no indication the action would diminish their grip on Greece.

Speakng to newsmen in Rome Wednesday after five days of negotiation with the junta, Constantine said he did not oppose the April coup because he wanted to avoid bloodshed, and he stayed in Greece for eight months because he hoped he could convince the junta to return to democracy.

But, he said, a "deviation" in the junta's avowed intention to do this became clear and he tried to call the 8 million Greeks into a countercoup Dec. 13. It never really got started and he fled to Rome.

"I decided to act," he said. "I did not succeed ... Let us be perfectly realistic. I have no actual power at my command now. But I do have behind my purpose the desire of every Greek to live in freedom."

Increase Expected In Winter Wheat

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department predicted Wednesday that Texas would produce 71.85 million bushels of winter wheat in 1968, an increase of nearly 20 million bushels over this year's crop.

Nationally, the department said it was looking for a crop of 1.2 billion bushels, a drop of one per cent below the record 1967 crop of 1,212,111,000 bushels was grown on 3,326,000 acres.

Planting allotments for the 1968 crop were reduced 13 per cent below the 1967 allotments, the department said.

No forecast on spring wheat was available.

An Agriculture Department spokesman said the large crop might cloud possibilities of improving grain prices in 1968.

Humphreys Go Home For The Holidays

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey will leave the capital Friday to fly home for the Christmas holidays.

Mrs. Humphrey left Wednesday for the couple's Waverly, Minn. home.

The vice president said Wednesday he will visit his mother in Huron, S.D. before going on to Waverly for the rest of the weekend, returning to Washington next Wednesday.

SPREADING CHRISTMAS CHEER — The Christmas holiday is a busy season in Gay 20 Social Club's civic activities. MODERN BRAIN DRAIN

Scholars Are On The Move

By LYNN HEINZERLING
Associated Press Writer

LONDON (AP) — This is the "brain drain:"

India needs doctors for a desperate campaign to reduce the country's birth rate. But 1,600 Indian doctors are practicing abroad.

Spain needs 3,000 chemists for its developing chemical industry; at least 7 per cent of the graduates emigrate.

Switerland is short of engineers. Its Federal Institute of Technology says about 2,500 Swiss engineers and scientists live in the United States.

Germany lost more than 4,000 scientists and engineers to the United States in 1956-66. Ten per cent of the 34,000 doctors in German hospitals are foreigners, mostly Asians.

Ghana has only one doctor for each 15,000 inhabitants. About 100 Ghanaian doctors practice in Britain, Canada, West Germany, the United States and Ireland.

Britain has lost an estimated 2,000 doctors to the United States while 4,000 doctors from Asia and Africa help maintain the British National Health Service. Britain lost 2,700 engineers, technologists and scientists through emigration last year and the flow continues.

As far back as the Renaissance artists, architects and scholars were on the move in Europe.

They are still on the move. But the emphasis now is on chemists and agronomists, biologists and physicists, engineers and mathematician, the thinkers and doers of the atomic age and space exploration.

And on physicians, whose ministrations become more important as populations multiply.

Britain, with its cultural institutions, is 18th century industrial revolution and the empire, has been a focus of this movement for centuries. Now the balance of incoming and outgoing talents is running against her.

"The future prosperity of the country depends on skilled manpower," says the minister of technology, Anthony Wedgwood Benn.

He lost his ministerial calm when Westinghouse Electric advertised here for atomic scientists specializing in fast breeder reactors, a field where Britain excels.

In an angry letter Benn told Britain's scientists:

"Britain's economic and political future depends upon all our industries applying modern engineering technology right up to and over the frontiers of present scientific knowledge. That is what you are doing for us. We depend on you. And so, indeed, in a real sense does Europe because it is British technology within a wide community that will secure Europe's future, too."

A committee set up by his office reported several weeks ago that the total outward flow of engineers and technologists from Britain has doubled in six years.

The loss to the British economy through the emigration of a young engineer of top grade is put at $72,000. Taking into account higher salaries paid in the United States, the committee estimated he engineer's value to the American economy at $187,200.

"The significant point is that for every young, high-quality engineer who emigrates to the United States, the British economy in effect presents the American economy with a gift of the magnitude indicated in these figures," the committee reported.

Higher salaries available in the United States are an important factor. Another attraction is the lower rate of taxation in most other countries. British income tax and surtax in the higher brackets ranges between 40 and 90 per cent.

Appointment Told

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. John Connally announced the appointment Wednesday of Tommy V. Smith as acting commissioner of the Bureau of Labor Statistics to fill the term of Charles H. King Jr., who resigned.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Bager, City, are the parents of twins; a boy, weighing 3 lbs. 11½ oz. an a girl weighing 2 lbs. 3½ oz. born at 6:18 p.m. Dec. 20.

Persia has changed its name to Iran but the gulf, rugs and cats continue to be called Persian.

Castro Jails Pro-Soviets

HAVANA (AP) — Prime Minister Fidel Castro's Communist government has jailed about 40 pro-Soviet party members, including a central committee member, for opposing Castro's policy of exporting revolution, informed sources say.

The sources said Wednesday night that the dissidents could not be described as being against the government but favored a Soviet-style line of concentrating on domestic economic problems. They also reportedly opposed the party's campaign to elimfnate material rewards for workers.

They said the old-line Communists were arrested three or four months ago. The purge appeared to be part of a crackdown reported earlier against lesser known Communists and a handful of Havana University professors and students.

The sources said the leader of the group was Anibal Escalante, who was denounced by Castro in 1962 for "sectarianism" and for having old ideas. Escalante later was reported studing in Poland and the Soviet Union and returned to Cuba about two years ago.

SANTA and the PIGWIDGEN

By LUCRECE BEALE

Synopsis: The Pigwidgen refuses to lift the curse unless Claus beats him in a drinking bout. Tweedleknees uses his wits and Claus wins the contest.

CHAPTER SIXTEEN
THE RACE

AFTER the drinking contest the Pigwidgen stomped away and all the pygmies withdrew to ponder the awful fact that their king had lost.

Claus waited in the great hall. Patrick Tweedleknees crawled out from under the table. "Where have you been?" cried Claus. Tweedleknees lifted the tablecloth. Claus leaned over and saw a half empty vat of chocolate milk. A hose led from the bat to the urn the Pigwidgen has drunk from.

"So that was why the urn was always full!" exclaimed Claus admiringly.

"Precisely," replied the elf. "And now our wits together have twice defeated the Pigwidgen and he must lift the curse."

But when the Pigwidgen returned, he announced there would be still another contest. This time he would race Claus to the end of the rainbow and the winner would name his own reward.

Before Claus could protest the Pigwidgen left the castle and raced toward the far distant spot where the rainbow ended.

The Pigwidgen had put on magic boots which could take 10-mile steps and when Claus had barely started the Pigwidgen was halfway there.

"It is useless!" moaned Claus. He leaned against a tree and gasped for breath.

At that moment one of the flying reindeer appeared in the woods. Quietly Claus approached him and gently rubbed his nose. He climbed on the reindeer's back and whispered softly, "Fly! Oh, please fly me to the end of the rainbow!"

The reindeer soared into the sky and in an instant came to earth at the spot where the rainbow came to an end. Hours later the Pigwidgen came panting up. There was Claus sitting on a rock, calmly smoking his pipe.

"What kept you" enquired Claus pleasantly.

Now the Pigwidgen was mortified and sunk in gloom. But when they returned to the castle and Claus demanded that all curses be lifted, the Pigwiden declared there would be one last contest.

"And how do I know it will be the last?" demanded Claus. "Always you break your word and put me off."

The Pigwidgen led Claus outdoors to a small round box in the middle of the lake of ice in front of the castle.

"This box holds all my sorcery," said the Pigwidgen. "All my spells, charms, hoodoo, hexes, curses, incantations, enchantments and witchcraft.

"If you can lift the box, it will be yours and all my magic power will pass to you. If you can't lift it you will turn to stone. Agreed?"

Claus nodded solemnly. The box was very small. Even if it were filled with lead he was sure he could lift it if only an inch from the ice.

While the Pigwidgen went away to call the pygmies to watch the contest, Patrick Tweedleknees rushed up to Claus and cried, "It's a trick! The box is really the tip of the North Pole. No one on earth could lift it!"

"What shall I do?" groaned Claus.

The elf screwed up his face and pulled at his hair and twisted his ears. He was driving up his wits.

At last he growled, "Go back to the castle and delay things as long as you can." With that he dashed away.

Tomorrow: Merry Christmas to All

Claus, on the reindeer's back, soared into the sky.
