Quakes Shake Southern Italy, Greece; One Killed

Thousands Flee Into The Streets In Panic

BARI, Italy (UPI) — Earthquakes shook southern Italy and Greece today, cracking walls and sending thousands of persons fleeing into the streets in panic.

One fatality was reported, in Corinth, Greece.

The earthquake came a week after a series of tremors in southern Italy killed 18 persons and caused an estimated $100 million of damage in the Naples area.

But the area affected today was much wider, an estimated 150,000 square miles. It stretched from coast to coast in southern Italy, and drove panic-stricken people into the streets in places as far apart as the island of Malta and in Athens.

There was some uncertainty as to where the exact center of the earthquake was located.

The earthquake was not felt in the Ravello area where Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy was vacationing with her daughter Caroline.

However, in Naples, inmates of the Prison of Poggioreale were moved from their cells. Naples is less than 60 miles from Ravello.

In Pisticci, 60 miles south of Bari, the walls of a post office and a private home cracked.

The Rome observatory said the shock centered about 560 miles east-southeast of the Italian capital, presumably in Greece.

It said its power probably was of the 10th or 11th degree of the Mercalli scale—the power of a 50-megaton nuclear bomb.

In Greece, the prime minister's office in Athens said the center of the quake was at Tripolis, about 65 miles southeast of the Greek capital.

The shock stopped clocks, shifted furniture and rattled windows in hundreds of Italian towns and villages.

A violent earth tremor hit this south Italian port city on the Adriatic Sea early in the day. Scientists at the Vesuvius Observatory in Naples said the shock was recorded at 12:01 p.m. (7:01 a.m. EDT). They said it was "strong."

In Bari and Barletta, two separate shocks were felt, one at 12 p.m. (7 a.m. EDT) and another three minutes later. Experts in Barletta said it seemed to be of the fourth or fifth degree on the Mercalli Scale. The highest level on this scale—catastrophe—is 10.

In Pisticci, 60 miles south of Bari, the earthquake cracked the walls of the post office and of a private home. There was some panic.

The earthquake was felt as far away as Catania, Sicily, nearly 300 miles south of Bari. The shock there was strong enough to send people fleeing from homes and offices.

At approximately the same time, earthquakes struck Greece and the Mediteranean island of Malta.

Reports said the tremors were felt at Athens and Corinth, Greece, and on Malta.

Stock Market 'Took A Dive' Three Months Ago Today

By JESSE BOGUE
UPI Financial Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — Three months ago today the stock market took a dive which left scars that only now are beginning to fade a little.

A succession of good earnings reports from many industries, a series of fairly concrete signs of steady business, and some presidential assurances on the state of the economy, have helped to bring the market levels back to about where, at the start of business today, they were on the day before the Monday of the big sell.

Measured by popular market averages, the market has about recovered up to $20 billion in paper values it was estimated that it lost in a day's trading.

Some stocks never have regained the levels that they reached before the end of May; but a study of 20 of the most widely held issues showed that as trading closed Monday, all but one or two were higher than they were at the close of that 9,350,000-share day. Most also are well below their highs for the year.

Traders, analysts, brokers are most cautious in saying where they think the market will go from here. Many advise careful selection in purchases; but most notice that while boom signs are absent, the market trends which were downward for the three months leading through May have been slowly upward in recent weeks.

Effects Remain Notable

Yet, some of the effects of the deflation of the market will be notable for some time to come. The floating of new issues—the issuance of stocks to gain working capital — has fallen off, some sources saying by as much as 50 per cent below a year ago.

In Wall Street itself, there has been some unemployment and closing of opportunities for new employment, as a result of the cautious, take — look attitude of many investors who got out of the stock market during and after the slump.

More than 40 million shares of stock changed hands in the week of four trading days which began May 28 and ended on June 1, with a day out for the Memorial Day holiday.

While the volume of trading in the three months since that time compares favorably with the same period of 1961, Wall Streeters have complained of lack of broad interest in stocks, particularly among younger or inexperienced investors. Their concern extends not only to attitude toward listed issues—those which are on the exchanges—but to that toward the over-the-counter issues.

However, followers of the market can point to some of the stock quotations for the most widely held listed issues today and say that while these admittedly are below their highs for the year, they certainly show improvement over what they were in the last of May, for the most part.

AT&T Below 1962 High

Thus: American Telephone and Telegraph, $100.63 a share at the close of business May 28 was $113.88 at the start of trading today, but below its 1962 high of $136.50.

Comparable figures for others in the same order show General Motors, $48.88, $53.50, $57.25; Standard Oil of New Jersey, $46.00, 52.25, $58.25; General Electric, $62.50, $67.13, $78.50; General Telephone and Electronics, $19.25, $21.13, $29; but U.S. Steel, affected by developments in an industry which has notably failed to stage an attractive performance, was $50.38 after May 28, but $44.25 Monday and down from a high of $78.88 for the year. Wheat Growers Urged To Vote In Referendum

Wheat growers in Gray County were urged today to vote in the national wheat referendum to be held Thursday in four polling places in Gray county. The polls will be open from 8 a.m. until 6 p.m. Polling places in Gray County are Grandview School, Laketon Store, McLean City Hall and Pampa ASCS office, according to Evelyn Mason, county office manager of the Gray County ASCS.

At least two - thirds of the producers voting in the referendum must approve the marketing quotas if they are to become effective for the 1963 crop of wheat, Miss Mason stated. Under existing law, the national wheat allotment for 1963 is 55 million acres, the legal minimum. If voters approve marketing quotas, producers who stay within their acreage allotments may market all the wheat they produce without penalty.

Under quotas, according to the ASCS office manager, growers who stay within their allotments will be eligible for price support at a national average of not less than $1.82 per bushel on their entire production. Growers who exceed their allotments will not be eligible for price support and will be subject to marketing quota penalties if they have more than 15 acres of wheat for harvest. However, growers will be able to plant 15 acres of wheat without penalty, Miss Mason pointed out.

Growers who sign application for exemptions under the feed wheat provisions permitting 30 acres or less to be used exclusively for feed on the farm will not be subject to marketing quota penalties.

The penalty rate on excess wheat will be 45 percent of the parity price of wheat as of May 1, 1963. Excess bushels on which the penalty will be determined will be the normal production of the acres in excess of the allotment.

If marketing quotas do not carry, marketing quotas and penalties will not be in effect for the 1963 wheat crop. However, acreage allotments will remain in effect and will be used to determine eligibility for price support at the 50 percent of parity rate required by law if quotas are disapproved. The national acreage price support for wheat based on the 50 percent parity rate would be about $1.21 per bushel.

Living Costs Have Again Hit Record

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Higher prices for major food items and services pushed the cost of living to a new all-time peak in July, the Labor Department reported today.

The increase chipped another two cents off the buying power of the consumer's $10 bill. It also triggered penny-an-hour pay boosts for 950,000 workers in auto, farm equipment and aerospace industries.

The department said its consumer price index rose by two-tenths of 1 per cent last month to 105.5 per cent of average 1957-59 prices.

A spokesman said the advance was in line with seasonal expectations, however, since the index has climbed in July every year since 1950.

Higher prices for pork, milk and eggs were the major causes of a rise of three-tenths of 1 per cent rise in food prices. The price of services — medical care, haircuts and public transportation and similar items—also helped push up the index.

The July increase put the index at 1.1 per cent above its year-ago level. Most of the increases occurred during the first six months of this year.

In the housewife's terms, the index means it costs now $10.55 to buy the same goods and services that could have been obtained with a $10 bill five years ago.

Ballots Out For Nominations To Pampa CoC Board

First ballots to nominate members of a five-man advisory board to the Chamber of Commerce were mailed out to members yesterday, according to E. O. Wedgeworth, manager of the chamber.

Any member of the chamber of commerce is eligible for nomination to the board, Wedgeworth said, and the ten persons receiving the most votes will have their names placed on a second ballot to be mailed out Tuesday, Sept. 4.

First ballots will be counted Friday. The five - man advisory board then will be selected by vote of the membership from the ten names on the second ballot.

The five men eventually elected will replace the following five advisory board members whose terms expire: Aubrey Steele, Floyd Watson, Jack Edmondson, Clinton Evans, and Cameron Marsh.

Wedgeworth also stated today that the chamber's annual installation of officers and directors will be held in October to be followed on another date in October by the annual membership banquet.

Kiwanis Club In Drive To Make Streets Safer

The Top O' Texas Kiwanis Club today joined with the City Traffic Commission in that group's recent request for city - wide organizations to aid in a drive to make the streets of Pampa and the highways of Texas safe by cutting down on traffic accidents.

Ben Fry, president of the club, issued a statement for the club today in which he called particular attention to the fact that there is need for caution now that school is reopening and thousands of Pampa school children will be returning to classes tomorrow.

The statement released by TOT Kiwanis Club President Fry, says:

"It seems incredible, but each year nearly four thousand children of school age are killed or maimed by automobiles.

"Just last year Pampa had one near - fatal accident involving a school youngster, and the thoughts of this alone should be enough to keep each driver in the city on the alert.

"There are no sorrier two words in the English language than 'I'm sorry', when said by some careless driver after he (or she) has run down a school child.

"Little folks, especially the first graders, who are having their first "big experience" in going to school, may not have their minds altogether on crossing streets. You'll be doing them, and yourself, a wonderful service if you will watch for them near any parked car.

"A perfect safety record where school children are concerned is a priceless reward. Here is an added word of caution to the teenage driver: Someone was considerate enough to watch after you when you were small - potatoes. Pass the favor along and look after the ones who are just beginning. You'll be glad you did."

'BICYCLE PARADE' — These neighborhood youngsters having their own "bicycle parade" caught the photographer's eye today as a warning to motorists to keep a close "watch out" for children riding their bikes to and from school. All students in the Pampa Independent School system will report to their respective schools tomorrow morning for registration and the beginning of the 1962-63 school year. (Daily News Photo)

Cuba, Still Short Of Goods, Ends 'Year Of Progress'

MIAMI (UPI)—The year which Premier Fidel Castro said would solve the problems of shortage-plagued Cuba ended Monday with the country in worse shape than ever, it was reported today.

A foreign diplomat accredited to Havana said during a stopover here that Cuba is still suffering from acute shortages of food, clothing, shoes and medicines.

Conditions are so bad, the diplomat said, that:

Expectant mothers must stand in long lines to get cloth for diapers. It is an errand no one else can run for them, because clerks in dry-goods stores will sell diaper cloth only to pregnant women.

Sales of underwear are limited to two garments per person.

Owners of shoe stores fill their show windows with empty boxes for want of anything better to display.

The diplomat said Castro has failed to meet any of the target dates he set in a speech a year ago, when he said poultry would be plentiful by Feb. 1, 1962, and that shortages of potatoes and fish would be met by June, 1962.

Although it is customary for the Castro regime to blame its troubles on "imperialist aggression," supply boss Orlando Ravelo acknowledged last month that they actually are caused by "insufficient production and inexperience in solving problems."

US Officials Say

Red China May Test A-Device Within Year

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Red China may be capable of detonating a crude nuclear device in a year or so, U.S. officials said today.

They said they had no intelligence information indicating the Peiping regime might reach this stage in the next few months.

This explanation was given to newsmen after a senior official of the U.S. Arms Control and Disarmament Agency told a group of newsmen that Communist China would "probably" be able to set off its first nuclear explosion "within a matter of months."

The official, who declined to be quoted by name, later qualified the statement, saying that by a "matter of months" he meant a year or two rather than several years. This was the estimate previously given by U.S. officials.

Weapons System In Future

The estimate is that even if China succeeded in exploding a simple nuclear device it would be a number of years before it could develop anything approaching a weapons system.

Officials said information on the exact state of Communist Chinese nuclear development was sketchy.

Russia entered an agreement to give the Peiping regime technical assistance in the field of atomic science in 1955. But less than a year ago, at the height of Moscow's ideological dispute with Peiping, Russia withdrew most of her technicians and scientists from China.

When the Russians pulled out, however, they left behind scientific equipment, including that which could be used by the Chinese in nuclear projects.

Have Own Scientists

In addition to this equipment, the Chinese Communists are known to have atomic scientists of their own, trained in Russia or in some instances in the United States.

U.S. officials doubt that the Chinese could get very far in developing a nuclear weapons system of their own because of their lack of industrial facilities.

Officials said the prospect of China someday becoming a nuclear power was one reason this country was pressing Russia for a partial test ban treaty which would outlaw all but underground tests.

Scientists Jubilant Since Mariner-2 May Pass Venus At 10,000 Miles

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI) — Scientists were jubilant today over revised tracking figures which show the United States Mariner-2 spacecraft can come within 10,000 miles of the mysterious planet Venus.

The scientists said the probe designed to find out if life can exist on the cloud-shrouded planet now gives promise of a "smashing success" and should give America her first major stride ahead of Russian space technology.

It was feared shortly after the Mariner was launched from Cape Canaveral at 2:53 a.m. EDT Monday aboard a 136-ton Atlas-Agena rocket that it had veered too far off course.

Had the preliminary figures been correct, it would have meant the probe would have missed Venus by at least 100,000 miles.

But the revised figures showed that a corrective mid-course maneuver could be carried out to hurtle the 447-pound space probe close enough to Venus to carry out its scientific experiments.

Man Gives Chase To Prowler

Jack Fisher, 924 S. Nelson, gave chase to a prowler and window peeper last night, but the man climbed over a back fence and escaped.

Fisher said he came home about 8:30 p.m. and his daughter and two neighbor girls reported a man in a yellow shirt was at the living room window.

Police called to the scene were unable to find any trace of the prowler.

Jack Watson, 704½ E. Malone, reported that someone broke into his trailer home Saturday or Sunday night and stole a quantity of clothing including six shirts, five pairs of slacks, five pairs of blue jeans, two pairs of overalls, one pair of work boots, three sweat shirts, one dozen pair of work gloves and a duffle bag.

A report of vandalism was filed with police by Ben Mullinax, 906 E. Denver. He said someone entered a rent house he owns at 910 E. Denver, broke open a bolted door, tore down curtain rods and poured water over the floors in several rooms. Police investigated and gained a confession from two 11-year-old boys, Police Chief Conner said today.

City Commission Studies Plan To Finance Local BCD Next Year

Pampa's 1962-63 city budget of $1,562,802 was tentatively approved by the City Commission last night with one major change and one minor change.

The major change had to do with the revised request of the Board of City Development for $15,300 in tax money for operating expenses in 1962-63. The revised budget is $5,700 less than the first BCD budget request made several weeks ago.

The new budget of the BCD does not include salaries for three BCD employes which totaled $15,600 in the first request, but lists a total of $15,000 in proposed expenditures needed for the following items:

Development of aviation, $500; Fire prevention, cleanup and safety, $300; Highway development, ment, $1,000; Industrial advertising, promotion and research, $5,000; Oil and gas activities, $500; Publicity and general information including maps, brochures, etc., $1,500; Public improvements promotion, $500; Public relations, $1,000; Tourist development, $1,000, and office supplies, including telephone, telegraph, postage, stationery, supplies, bonds, and equipment, $4,000.

After considerable discussion of the proposed BCD budget, the Commission decided to call a meeting of BCD directors and the commission at the earliest possible time to discuss a proposed financial arrangement for support of a Board of City Development. The BCD originally was set up under a city ordinance adopted in 1928.

It was the consensus of all city commissioners last night that the BCD should be maintained. However, it was indicated that the ordinance governing the BCD may have to be changed to carry out the plan commissioners have in mind.

The commissioners released no details of their plan for maintaining the BCD and said it would not be made public until the matter has first been discussed with BCD officers and directors. Commissioner Will Graham was named chairman of a committee to set up a meeting between the BCD and the City Commission for further discussion of the plan to finance the body.

Commissioner Graham said last night he hoped to be able to make

Speaker Says Great Britain, U.S. Share Courage And World Outlook

Great Britain and the United States may have their differences, but in the final analysis they are as one in the matter of courage and world outlook.

This was the message brought to an audience of men and women at yesterday's monthly Chamber of Commerce membership luncheon in the Starlight Room of Coronado Inn by the Rev. Ronald Pearce, British exchange pastor at Pampa's First Methodist Church during the month of August.

"I want to pay tribute to you Americans as a nation of courage and hard work," the Rev. Mr. Pearce said. "I believe it to be true that our countries share a quality of courage as nations."

The Rev. Mr. Pearce was great in his praise for the people of Pampa and for the city's progressiveness.

"I say it sincerely," he stated, "that never have we met with such kindness and hospitality as we have here in Pampa."

With the minister at yesterday's luncheon were his wife, Brenda, and their daughters, Heather and Catherine, who marked her tenth birthday yesterday.

The Rev. Mr. Pearce explained to his audience that when he first was contacted as an exchange pastor to come to the United States he informed the authorities that he did not wish to be sent to New York or some large cosmopolitan city.

"I told them I wanted to get out where the real folks live and to see Americans at their best," he said.

And then he added:

"So they sent me to Pampa."

Yesterday's meeting was presided over by Gordon Lyons, chamber president, and the speaker was introduced by Bob Curry.

Foreign Commentary

By WILLIAM FOX
United Press International

Notes from the foreign news cables:

Berlin Situation:

The big Three foreign ministers undoubtedly will meet in New York in mid-September to align their policy on Berlin, where the situation may deteriorate further but will not lead to war. The high-level Western meeting will be an offshoot of the 17th United Nations General Assembly, which starts Sept. 18. Secretary of State Dean Rusk, British Foreign Secretary Lord Home and French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville will be at U. N. headquarters for that session, and will use the opportunity to get together again—probably with West German Foreign Minister Gerhard Schroeder sitting in, as he did at the last such session in Geneva. Informed observers believe that the abolition of the Soviet Berlin comman indicates continued propaganda and political pressure on the West, but they doubt that it will lead to any immediate or abrupt interference with Allied access rights to the city. The betting is that the Russians, having needled the West again, will let things cool off a bit before jabbing at another point in their continuing campaign to get the Allies out of Berlin.

De Gaulle's Disgust:

France's President Charles de Gaulle is said to be ready to pull out of Algeria altogether if the present political chaos makes application of the Evian peace settlement impossible. This would mean bringing an additional 400,000 Europeans to France, but DeGaulle is said to be willing to face this situation—which would aggravate the already-difficult problem of providing jobs, homes and a future for the half million who already have returned from Algeria. He has been quoted as saying that, in any case, the Algerians will have been so hurt by such a move that they would come on bended knee within two years to ask for French help. Of course, DeGaulle still is bitterly hated by some die-hard elements of the former Secret Army Organization which tried and failed to keep Algeria French through terror. Their two overt and one planned attempt to kill him in the past year is stark evidence of that, and grim warning to the President's security men that they have to tighten up.

Commission

arrangements today for the meeting of the City Commission and the BCD.

In the proposed city budget handed to the commissioners last week, there was no provision for funds for the BCD in the coming fiscal year, beginning Oct. 1.

Commissioner Graham said last night he thought the BCD could be of much value to Pampa's progress and that money for its maintenance would be well spent.

The commissioner then unfolded his proposal which will be explained to BCD officials at the planned meeting of the two groups, he stated.

The only other change in the tentative budget was the reduction from $600 to $300 a year of a proposed increase for the water works office manager, putting it in line with a $300 annual increase for the public works director.

A public hearing on the city budget has been set during the commission's regular meeting on the night of Sept. 11.

Last night's session was a special meeting. The commission will hold its regular weekly meeting in City Hall at 7 p.m. today.

Market

was likewise $33.25 at the close May 28, but $32 after Monday and $43.75 at its high for 1962.

For those who follow averages to get the pulse of the market, the picture shows that Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks stood at 611.88 on May 25, last trading day before the big Monday; it had been sliding steadily all week, although nothing like the 34.95 point drop it took on that day.

At the start of trading today, the same average was 612.57. In the last five trading sessions, it has shown gains on two days, losses in three, including Monday.

Standard & Poor's index of 500 stocks was 59.47 on May 25, and likewise had slid for a week; at the close May 28 it was off 6.68 points, to 55.50. Monday, it was at 59.38, off 0.05 from the previous day.

Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW
United Press International

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Forty-seven years ago, a German U-boat torpedoed the luxury ship Lusitania, killing 1,198 persons. Monday night, NBC-TV decided to look into the matter.

In a special entitled "The Riddle of the Lusitania," narrator John Chancellor and his cohorts poked and probed for an hour in an effort to clear up such mysteries as why the world's largest and fastest liner sank in 18 minutes. But when the poking and probing were done, it was admitted we were no closer to an answer than one hour before.

In an advertisement in the weekly show business trade paper, "Variety," NBC said its search for answers had taken "the better part of two years." Chancellor termed the hour a "modest" investigation, which is something of a riddle itself. Suffice it to say the results tend to bear out Chancellor, the newsman.

Nation Was Aroused

What the program drove home well — but failed to connect with possible timely modern events — was the way a single sudden event can unexpectedly help rouse a nation into war. In this case, the nation was the United States. Of those who perished with the Lusitania, a British ship, 124 were Americans; subsequent anger on these shores aided in spurring the United States out of its isolationism and into World War I.

The show took too long to get down to the subject of the riddle, perhaps because it was realized that little had been unearthed that newspapers had not recounted numerous times. The result was another of those period-setting newsreel rehashes — fully the first third of the program — with the same old documentary favorites: Charlie Chaplin and Henry Ford and John D. Rockefeller and the Wright brothers and Marconi and Suffraggettes.

You can usually catch this layout once a week on television, and if you don't know exactly what you're watching it really doesn't make much difference; it fits almost any situation. In any case, there was far too much extraneous material of this type preceding the riddle.

Illustrated Romantic Concept

The best part of the show followed the theme of the subtitle: "The Death of a Ship and an Era" — illustrating the altering of the romantic concept of war. At one time, for instance, U-boat commanders would surface and fire a shot across the bow of an enemy merchant ship, permitting the crew to abandon the vessel before sinking it.

But when the British retaliated with Q-boats, ships armed with hidden guns, the Germans announced attacks would have no warnings.

A few survivors were also on hand Monday night, including one who recalled the captain shouting "the ship cannot sink" as it went down.

In its "Variety" advertisement, NBC added: "Today, the concept of full-scale conflict is not only unromantic but unthinkable." If the thought of conflict is so unromantic, why is the only new major trend in the coming television season a group of shows with military settings—one, ABC-TV's "Combat," billing tiself: "From Beachheads to Redheads?"

The Channel Swim: Richard Boone plays a triple role in his seasonal debut of CBS-TV's "Have Gun, Will Travel" Sept. 15. . .Art Carney guests on the premiere of Jackie Gleason's new weekly program on the same network Sept. 29.

Plans are going ahead for a one-hour special about Monaco with Princess Grace as guide. . . NBC-TV's "The World of Jacqueline Kennedy" will be aired Nov. 30 instead of Oct. 29; "The World of Benny Goodman" is set for Oct. 29.

Liberace guests Sept. 18 on a CBS-TV musical special, staring Keefe Brasselle, set at the turn of the century. . .Johnny Carson takes over NBC-TV's "Tonight" show Oct. 1 instead of Oct. 8. . . CBS-TV's excellent "Accent" program has been cancelled as of Sept. 6.

Carbon monoxide poisoning is said to take the lives of some 300 persons every year.

Dear Abby....

Admit Your Error And Go Home!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I thought I couldn't live without Alan, so my Mamma signed for us to get married. I am 16 and he is 22. My folks didn't want me to get married but they were fearful, if they didn't sign for me, I might get in a family way. Well, to make a long story short, we have been married for four months and Alan has changed. He leaves me alone and runs with his boy friends. (He has even dated some old girl friends.) He has hit me a couple of times. When I beg him to stay home or take me with him, he says I nag him. Abby, I can't tell my parents I made a terrible mistake, and I can't live this way any more. Please help me.

TOO YOUNG

DEAR YOUNG: Admit you were wrong and go home to your parents. Alan obviously is not ready for the responsibilities of marriage. Perhaps an annulment can be arranged because of your age. Invite a clergyman to sit in with your parents and his. Better now than three years and three babies later.

DEAR ABBY: Whenever my wife and I want to go somewhere she tells me she has "nothing" to wear. I swear to you you couldn't get another dress in her closet it is so crammed tight with dresses. Will you please tell me what a woman means when she says she has nothing to wear?

STUPID

DEAR STUPID: Your wife means she has nothing "new" to wear. But that is no longer a legitimate excuse because the older a dress is these days, the newer it looks!

DEAR ABBY: I have been married four years. I am 52 and my husband is 60. This is the second marriage for both of us. I have married children who never ask for a thing from us. He has a son who is 38, has been married and divorced twice, and is planning on a third marriage. He works for his father (when he feels like it) but he never has any money. He wants his father to pay for the rings and the honeymoon. I told my husband absolutely not. He says he will do it for the last time and swear off helping the boy. I'd like your opinion.

MRS. K. F.

DEAR MRS. K. F.: The "boy" is 38 years old. He hasn't behaved like a man because he hasn't been required to. If your husband buys the rings and finances his son's honeymoon, he had better prepare to take care of this free-loader forever.

Unload your problem on Abby. For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to ABBY, care of this paper.

For Abby's booklet, "How To Have A Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Fall Board Meet Set In Austin For TFWC

The annual Fall board meeting and workshop of The Texas Federation of Women's Clubs will be held in Austin on Oct. 15-16 in the Headquarters Building Auditorium. This announcement has been made by Mrs. A. T. Carleton, president of the organization, who has spent a great deal of time in Austin during the summer months planning her administration affairs. Mrs. Carleton's home is in Houston.

Headquarters for the meeting will be the Stephen F. Austin Hotel with preliminary meetings of the Board of Trustees, Department Chairmen, District Presidents and the Executive Committee with the president in her suite at the hotel on October 14th. The formal opening will be a 10 a.m. on Oct. 15 with Mrs. Carleton presiding.

Mrs. W. R. Elliott of Waxahachie and Mrs. Herbert Davis of Dallas, co-chairmen, are planning the program for the two day meeting, and Mrs. J. Robert Reynaud of Houston will serve as expediter. Protocol director will be Mrs. H. B. Gillette of Houston.

The local general chairman will be Mrs. Alden Davis of Austin with Mrs. Bob Long serving as co-chairman. Presidents of all federated clubs in Austin will be official hostesses for the meeting. The Call will be mailed in September, and those who pre-register may pick up their reservations on Sunday, October 14th, but other registration will not begin until 8:30 on Monday morning at the Headquarters Building.

An innovation this year will be the individual meetings of the state vice presidents with the corresponding district vice presidents from nine to 10 a.m. on Monday at the State Headquarters. This will acquaint the district vice presidents with the federation program for the 1962-64 administration.

Emphasis for the meeting will be on departmental programing, and a general workshop of the plans for the next biennium will be presented. In line with the General Federation objectives there have been some changes in the divisions of the departments, and a careful study and understanding of these changes will be made. The GFWC departments are: Conservation, Education, Fine Arts, Home Life, International Affairs, Public Affairs and Council of International Clubs. The Texas Federation will continue the Texas Heritage Department. Coordinating agencies, some of which have heretofore been under departments, will be independently administered during this administration, and will come under the headings of American Studies, CARE - Literacy, Community Improvement Program, Leadership Mobilization, Legislation, Public Relations, Safety and United Nations and Specialized Agencies. The functions of all of these agencies will be studied and explained under the new set-up.

Recommendations of the executive committee and the board of trustees will be brought to the meeting, and the fourteen district presidents will give their objectives to the Board of Directors for the next two years.

Mrs. Carleton extends an invitation to all members of the Texas Federation interested in the plans of this administration to come to Austin, and she promises that this will be a most informative and constructive meeting.

Job Outside Home Sometimes Expensive

When a wife takes a job outside the home, family food costs rise, according to a recent study. That's because working wives buy more convenience foods that can be quickly and easily prepared and also because a family eats out more often when the wife works.

Food costs aren't the only ones that tend to rise when a wife turns wage earner. The wife who goes to an office every day has to spend more on clothes and grooming than a stay - at - home wife. She needs more spending money, too.

If there are young children she spends more on baby sitters than the wife who stays home and takes care of the children herself.

The working wife is likely to pay out more money for small services than the stay-at-home wife. Money to a dressmaker for alterations, money to have slip covers made, furniture refinished, inside painting done are all tasks she might very well be able to do herself and feel she should do if she weren't earning a pay check.

Judging from the letters that come to his column, the husband of the working wife is inclined to spend more money on himself—to drive a better car, to buy more expensive clothes, to spend more on hobbies. Since his pay check isn't the family's only income, the husband of a working wife may feel free to do a little more as he pleases with what he earns.

Because of all this extra spending that a family does when a wife goes to work, few working wives actually contribute as much to their family's financial welfare as they think they do just from looking at their pay checks.

Much of what a working wife earns gets dribbled away in little extras here and little extras there.

Giants Hobble To Stretch Ready For All Comers

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The hobbling San Francisco Giants, counted out of the National League race 10 days ago, are right back in there today—ready, able and eager to tangle with all comers.

"We play Milwaukee, Cincinnati and Los Angeles during the next 10 days," said manager Alvin Dark as he rested at his home after a strenuous 6-6 road trip. "But we are going to take them one at a time.

"Against Milwaukee we'll pitch Juan Marichal, Billy O'Dell and Jack Stanford."

The mound staff looks strong these days, but there are holes in the rest of the lineup. Willie McCovery still is limping; and the return of Jimmy Davenport to third base is a question mark.

"I used Willie for a couple of innings in the Sunday game at Philadelphia," said Dark. "But he's still limping. I don't know.

"And I don't know yet when Davenport will be able to return to third base. We'll have to see."

Willie Mays was given a rest Sunday to see if he can get his batting swing back in the grove. Earlier in the week, second baseman Chuck Hiller was given a rest after running into a series of errors.

"I'm sure the rest will do them both good," said Dark. "They'll both play better starting tomorrow."

Dark had nothing but praise for Orlando Cepeda, his baby - bull first baseman. Orlando was in a slump and Dark fined him two weeks ago for failing to run out a grounder. But in the last six games he has batted an even .500 with 13 hits in 26 trips to the plate, with six homers, three doubles and 11 runs batted in.

"He was phenomenal in that Philadelphia series," said Dark. "He was a one - man wrecking crew. I never saw anything like it. I've never seen one man carry a ball club the way he did."

The catching situation has boiled down to two youngsters, Tom Haller, a left-handed swinger; and John Orsino, who hits right-handed.

"I'll alternate them, depending upon the pitcher," said Dark. "And I'll use (Ed) Bailey on occasion."

Major League Roundup

Mgr. Houk Says, 'I Figured We'd Win One Sometime'

By MILTON RICHMAN
UPI Sports Writer

Great strategist, that Ralph Houk.

"I figured we'd win one sometime," he said knowingly, working a cigar around the corners of his mouth so as to conceal the tongue in his cheek.

The never-really-worried Yankees finally did win one Monday night, thus ending a six - game losing streak as well as some diverse conjecture that they might be going to pot.

"I wasn't as concerned as most people," Houk said, after Ralph Terry won his 19th with a three-hit 5-0 triumph over the Cleveland Indians that increased the Yankees' lead to 3½ games in the American League.

"I realized our pitching was a bit thin when we went into Baltimore," Houk added, referring to those five straight losses at the hands of the Orioles. "But we're squared away now."

Terry, the Yanks' No. 1 "stopper" all season long, took care of that.

Struck Out Nine

The skinny, 26-year-old boyish-looking right - hander struck out nine, didn't walk a man and pitched perfect ball for five innings en route to this third shutout of the season.

The only hits off Terry were singles, one by Bubba Phillips in the sixth, one by Tito Francona in the seventh and an infield safety by Al Luplow in the ninth.

Rookie Sam McDowell suffered his sixth defeat in eight decisions, giving up two runs in the second inning before being kayoed during a three-run rally in the eighth when Mickey Mantle drove in the final run with his fourth hit of the game.

Only two other games were played in the American League, with the Washington Senators beating the Baltimore Orioles, 7-0, and the Boston Red Sox defeating the Detroit Tigers, 7-4.

All National League teams were idle.

Winning Streak Snapped

Tom Cheney snapped the Orioles five-game winning streak with a four-hitter. The Washington right-hander has won only five games this season while losing eight, but three of his victories have been shutouts.

Harry Bright collected three of the Senators' nine hits and drove in two runs. Left hander Billy Hoeft was tagged with his seventh setback compared with four victories.

Lu Clinton's 17th homer of the year and seventh in the last 13 days led the Red Sox to their victory over the Tigers.

Clinton's two-run blast in the sixth inning offset first inning homers by Bill Bruton and Al Kaline. The Boston outfielder also drove in another run with a third inning double off loser Hank Aguirre, whose record is 12-6.

Gene Conley went 6 1-3 innings for the Red Sox and was credited with his 13th victory against 11 losses. Rookie Dick Radatz came to Conley's aid in the seventh when the Tigers scored their last two runs and allowed only one hit the remainder of the way.

Youngsters Starring In Women's Tourney

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (UPI)—Two teen-age graduates of the junior ranks shared the billing with the defending champion and three former titleholders today in the second round of the women's National Amateur golf championship.

The youngsters, are two 17-year-old Southerners, Ann Baker of Maryville, Tenn., and Brenda High of Glasgow, Ky.

Miss Baker upset veteran American Curtis Cup player Ann Casey Johnstone of Mason City, Iowa, 7 and 5, Monday. At about the same time, Miss High scored a 2 and 1 victory over 19-year-old Jean Roberts, the current English Amateur champion and a British Curtis Cup stalwart. Rain fell periodically throughout the day and made the course slow.

Anne Quast Decker, the 24-year-old Marysville, Wash., school teacher, who won this tournament in 1958 and last year, had little trouble beating Helen Reynolds, Mansfield Center, Conn., 8 and 7, in her opening 18-hole match. Today she plays Marjorie Burns, Greensboro, N.C., a 6 and 4 winner over Carla Jean Glasgow, Whittier, Calif.

Joanne Gunderson, of Kirkland, Wash., the 1957 and 1960 Women's Amateur Queen, 1959 winner Barbara McIntire of Colorado Springs, Colo., and Grace Lenczyk Cronin, who wore the crown in 1948, came through as expected.

Blonde, 23 - year - old Joanne racked up a 7 and 5 victory over Nancy Gunther, Troy, N.Y.; the 27-year-old Miss McIntire downed Gail Harvey, Willowdale, Ont., 4 and 3, and Mrs. Cronin, from Hartford, Conn., overpowered Judith Ann Taylor, Indianapolis, Ind., 5 and 4.

Althea Gibson, the 34 - year - old former tennis star who has been playing golf seriously for three years, defeated Jeanie Butler, Harlingen, Tex., 2 and 1, and faced Mrs. Paul Dye, Jr., Indianapolis, Ind., 6 and 5 winner over Mrs. John B. Whitacre Jr., Waynesburg, Ohio.

In addition to the Decker-Gunderson-McIntire triumvirate, three of the other six Curtis Cup players entered in this match-play tourney were successful Monday. Judy Bell, another Colorado Springs resident, ousted Mary Ann Doctor, Glen Cove, N.Y., 2 - up; Phyllis Preuss, Pompano Beach, Fla., stopped young Sherry Taylor, Oklahoma City, Okla., 6 and 5; and experienced Polly Ann Riley, Ft. Worth, Tex., beat Mrs. Maurice Glick, Baltimore, Md., 5 and 3.

Teammaters Jean Ashley, Chanute, Kan., lost, 6 and 5, to 21-year-old Bonnie Byrne, Whittier, Calif., and Clifford Ann Creed, Alexandria, La., bowed 2 and 1 to Pat O'Sullivan, Orange, Conn. The other casualty was Mrs. Johnstone.

All-American Quarter Horse Futurity On Tap Monday At Ruidoso Downs

RUIDOSO DOWNS, N. M. —(UPI)—Hustling Man, Mr. Juniper Bar and Little Chloe, all clocked in less than 20.5 seconds in last week's trials, headed up the 10-horse field named Monday for the fourth annual $222,850 Labor Day all - American Quarter-horse Futurity.

The three favorites, owned by Texas, Oklahoma and Colorado residents, figure to break the monopoly California owned horses have held on top money in the nation's third richest horse race.

The pot for this year's 400-yard spring spectacular ranks only behind the thoroughbred Arlington-Washington Park Futurity's $350,000 event and the Garden State Stakes' $301,000 gross purse.

Only four one-hundredths of a second separated top - timed Hustling Man's heat winning time from that of Little Chloe's runnerup clocking in the same heat, 20.44 and 20.48 seconds. Mr. Juniper Bar won his heat in 20.45.

Hustling Man is owned by J. B. Ferguson of Wharton, Tex., Juniper Bar by Oscar Jeffers Jr., of Wagoner, Okla., and Little Chloe by Jack and Lenia Casement of Padroni, Colo.

Will I Win, owned by Sid Vail of Apple Valley, Calif., Lightning Belle, I. R. French Jr., of Odessa, Tex.; Big Reward, Charles Lee Brown, Orlando, Fla.; Christy Go, E. K. Johnston, Amarillo, Tex.; Bar Depth, Lester Goodson, Magnolia, Tex.; Dan Sugar bars, Rhoades Brothers and Meek, Lovington, N. M., and Tiny Charger, Western Stables, Los Alamitos, Calif., rounded out the starting field with times ranging between 20.63 seconds for Will I Win to 20.79 for Tiny Charger.

Little Chloe, Will I Win, Lightning Belle and Christi Go are fillies.

Six other horses, headed by Goodson's Go Eagle Go, were listed as "also eligibles" in case of scratches.

The others were B. M. Taylor's Joe Win, Vernon Pool's Sure Be, Gill Brothers' Dick Killian, Hillcrest Stock Farm's Dandy Deck and A. B. Green's Barbara II.

'Look' Says Longhorns Tops In SW

NEW YORK (UPI) — Look magazine Monday picked the University of Texas as the 1962 Southwest Conference football winner and the No. 3 team in the nation.

The magazine listed the Longhorns as a contender for the mythical national title in its annual pre-season analysis of the Nation's college football teams.

Look also predicted that Texas Coach Darrell Royal "probably will be chosen by his peers as coach of the year."

The magazine said Arkansas and Texas Christian could be considered the most serious threats to Texas' bid to retain its conference football crown. Texas A&M was seen as a darkhorse.

Look picked Ohio State first in the nation and Louisiana State second.

It named TCU quarterback Sonny Gibbs and Texas fullback Ray Poage as top contenders for All-America honors.

'Be On Time' Just That In 'A' Opening

By United Press International

Be On Time was just that Monday at Aqueduct's re-opening program.

The chestnut son of Eight Thirty, one of only two three-year-olds in the field, turned back nine rivals while stepping to a front-running, three-quarter length victory in the $28,850 Fall Highweight Handicap.

With a crowd of 31,612 loking on as the big "A" staged its second opening day of the year, Be On Time moved into a commanding 2½ length lead coming out of the gate in the six furlong spin, and by the time he had reached the wire, he was only two-fifths of a second off the track record of 1:09 flat for the distance.

Crozier, the second choice who finished behind Carry Back in the recent Whitney Stakes at Saratoga, was second again, and Jets Pat, an outsider like Be On Time, was third. Rullah Red, the 7 to 4 favorite, finished a well-beaten sixth.

Victory was worth $18,752 and gave Be On Time 1962 earnings of $34,152 for five victories in nine starts. The colt was not raced as a two-year-old.

Be On Time, overlooked in the betting, paid $22.90, $9.20 and $5.90 for his latest victory. Crozier, who earned over $167,000 a year ago for owner F. W. Hooper, paid $4.80 and $3.80 and Jets Pat returned $7.60.

In Monday's other feature races around the country, Conestoga won the top Allowance Purse at Atlantic City; Play Rough finally reached the winner's circle after 14 straight losses in annexing the Ashland Purse at Rockingham; Danilo, an import from Argentina, won the $10,000 Town and Country Purse at Arlington, and Nite Shift took the San Diego Purse at Del Mar.

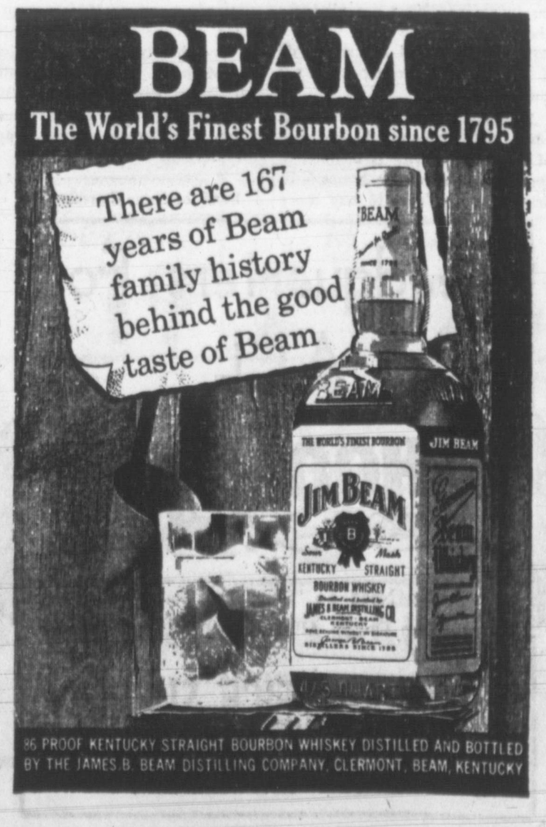

Cowboys Home

DALLAS (UPI)— The Dallas Cowboys returned home Monday from their 24-10 loss to the Baltimore Colts at Roanoke, Va., Saturday night and cut four players from the squad.

They are Gene Babb a linebacker from Austin College; and rookies John Sutro of San Jose State; Lloyd Winston of the University of Southern California and Charles Sells of Washington State.

The Cowboys held a light workout Monday.

Babb had been a linebacker with the Cowboys since 1960. Sutro was an offensive tackle and guard acquired last month from the Green Bay Packers. Winston was an offensive halfback and Sells an offensive end.

Hoffa Wins First Round Against Bobby Kennedy

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second of five dispatches on the life and times of Jimmy Hoffa.

By HARRY FERGUSON
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) —About the only thing Bobby Kennedy and Jimmy Hoffa have in common is physical culture.

Hoffa is five feet, five and a half inches tall and 180 pounds of solid muscle. He doesn't smoke or drink, does push-ups and exercises with bar bells. He has been known to sit alertly at the table for 36 hours in a contract negotiation. Kennedy is a push-up man, too, and rides horseback, hikes, swims and plays touch football.

So both were in the pink for the historic struggle that started on Aug. 20, 1957, when Chairman John L. McClellan of the Senate rackets committee said: "Mr. Hoffa, will you be sworn, please." Kennedy, as committee counsel, was going to do the prosecuting. One member of the committee was Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts.

At the time Hoffa was ninth vice president of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Warehousemen and Helpers of America. The president was Dave Beck of Seattle, now serving a prison term for income tax evasion, and already on the skids as head of the big union. The one thing that probably wrecked Beck's career as a labor leader was that he took the Fifth Amendment (140 times in one session) when he appeared before the McClellan committee.

Faces Decision

Hoffa was faced with a tough decision as he got ready to testify. If you are going to take the Fifth Amendment, you had better take it all the way rather than answering some questions and refusing to answer others. If you answer a question as to whether you are a member of the Teamsters Union, then the next one is likely to be whether you ever stole any money from the union, and if you decline to answer you are in contempt of Congress. Dave Beck Jr. took the Fifth when asked whether he knew his father.

Hoffa, with a lawyer on either side, rejected the protection of the Fifth Amendment. He was deferential toward the senators on the committee and addressed them as "Sir", but he treated Bobby Kennedy as though he were patting a shaggy dog on the head. Kennedy bored in immediately:

"You have been arrested a number of times. Mr. Hoffa. How many approximately?"

"Well, I don't know, Bob," Hoffa replied. "I haven't counted them up."

Lists Arrests

Kennedy counted them up for him. They skimmed over the arrests for illegal picketing (Hoffa claims he once was arrested 18 times in 24 hours but always returned to the picket line). Two things were left. Hoffa was accused of violating the federal antitrust law in Detroit in connection with the collection and shipment of waste paper. He pleaded nolo contendere (no contest) and was fined $1,000. He also was convicted of a misdemeanor in connection with collecting $5 in "initiation fees" from Detroit grocers and was ordered to return $7,500 to them.

Hoffa was calm and cool and almost every time he answered a question he took out insurance against a perjury charge by saying "to the best of my recollection. . .". That meant he could change his testimony later if somebody refreshed his recollection.

Gradually a pattern developed in Kennedy's questions and Hoffa's answers. When they got on the subject of his finances, Hoffa testified that he made the acquaintance of Owen Bert Brennan, president of a Teamsters local in Detroit. Brennan had achieved something that millions of persons have sought without success — an infallible system for beating the horses.

Explains Funds

Hoffa testified that each year he gave Brennan some cash to put on the horses and at the end of the year he got back winnings that ranged between $5,000 and $10,000. Hoffa's income tax returns over a few years listed a total of $60,000 income in "wagering and miscellaneous."

The commitee and everybody in the crowded room was eager to have the Brennan system of picking horses explained. Kennedy poured questions at Hoffa, but Jimmy professed to know nothing.

"Ask Brennan," he suggested.

That's what the committee did and Brennan was brought to the stand. His lawyer explained that Brennan was involved in some litigation in New York state, and then Kennedy started the questions.

"On the advice of counsel," Brennan replied; "I respectfully decline at this time to answer, and under the Fifth Amendment to the United States Constitution I assert my privilege not to be a witness against myself."

He started saying that around 2 p.m., and said it steadily until 6:20 p.m. It soon became evident to everybody that the secret of picking horses was going to remain locked in Brennan's brain with the Fifth Amendment standing sentinel.

Becomes Pattern

This was to become a familiar pattern in the hearings. Hoffa would suggest that somebody else knew the answer to the qestion and then that person would take the Fifth Amendment. Sen. Karl Mundt of South Dakota, a member of the committee, finally leaned toward Brennan and said:

"I think Mr. Hoffa is taking the Fifth Amendment through your lips."

There wasn't any doubt that Hoffa had won the first round.

Wednesday: Cloak and dagger stuff in a federal court.

Those Permanent 'Temporary' Taxes

In 1932 A "temporary" tax for one year was put on each gallon of gasoline.

The tax was 1 cent per gallon and it was due to "expire" one year later.

In 1933 the "temporary" 1 cent tax was increased to 1½ cents and extended another year. Temporarily.

In 1934 the "temporary" ½ cent increase was terminated but the 1 cent "temporary" tax was continued another year.

In 1935, 1937 and again in 1939, the 1 cent tax was continued "temporarily" in two - year stretches.

In 1941 the "temporary" was changed to permanent.

In 1951 the gasoline tax of ½ cent was increased "temporarily" to 2 cents; It was supposed to expire in March of 1954.

In 1954 the "temporary" 2 cent tax was increased to 3 cents "temporarily."

As of July 1, 1961 the tax was supposed to drop back to 3 cents but the law was amended to extend the "temporary" 4 cent tax up until 1972. Then it is supposed to revert to the permanent tax of 1½ cents as approved in 1941.

But don't count on it.

Coin Of The Realm

It's no news to hear someone complain that he can't make money fast enough.

But when the people who literally make money—the U.S. Mint—say the same thing, it comes as a surprise.

The fact is, however, that although coins are stamped out by the billions, periodic shortages still occur.

The 1961 Christmas shopping season left the mints in Denver and Philadelphia completely emptied of coins. Recently, New York banks ran out of nickels. Most of us have had the experience of earning a store clerk's gratitude by paying for a purchase with the exact change.

The reasons for this are many:

The mushrooming population of vending machines gobbles up coins and keeps them out of circulation longer than store registers.

Parking meters, which can be seen today even in the smallest towns, eat up mountains of coins.

Sales taxes added to prices result in odd figures requiring pennies in change.

You may not be able to buy much with small change anymore, but you can't very well get along without it.

Electronic Campus Fashion

An idea of the far - reaching effects of the electronic revolution going on around us in gained from an announcement by Case Institute of Technology in Cleveland.

This fall term, 200 engineering students will be issued portable analog computers for use in solving assigned problems.

The computers have six self-powered components, each a little larger than a package of king-size cigarettes. They can be carried and used by a student either in class, in his room, in the cafeteria or sitting under a tree on the campus.

The classic trademark of the engineering student used to be a slide rule sticking out of his back pocket. That item appears to be going the way of plus-fours and raccoon coats.

It's Up To You

by HOWARD KERSHNER
L. H. D.

Socialism is obviously the goal of Presidential top aide, Dr. Arthur M. Schlesinger, Jr. The CONGRESSIONAL RECORD, Vol. 107, September 26, 1961, contains an article by Dr. Schlesinger from which I quote a few significant passages:

"Neither communism, with its despotism, nor capitalism, with its instability, nor fascism, with its combination of the two, provide attractive solutions to the problem of how to live with modern industry and the modern state. Is there another possibility?"

Dr. Schlesinger thinks there is and he thinks it is Fabian, or gradual socialism. Of this he says:

"If socialism (that is, the ownership by the state of all significant means of production) is to preserve democracy, it must be brought about step by step in a way that will not disrupt the fabric of custom, law and mutual confidence upon which personal rights depend."

Of this gradual descent into socialism, Dr. Schlesinger comments:

"There seems to be no inherent obstacle to the gradual advance of socialism in the United States through a series of New Deals."

It is now perfectly obvious why Dr. Schlesinger is admired in the Kremlin and considered as an oracle by the political scientists who fabricate Communist philosophy. Dr. Schlesinger further pays his respects to capitalism and, by inference, his approval of socialism in the following significant passage:

"This normal political incompetence of the capitalists has recently been exaggerated by a gradual disappearance of the capitalist energies: It is this combination which justifies the term 'death wish.' Not only does the bourgeoisie lack the skill to protect itself it is increasingly lacking the will to protect itself."

According to Dr. Schlesinger, therefore, capitalism neither desires to survive nor is able to do so.

If any are in doubt about the direction in which the administration in Washington is heading, a study of the writings of the political philosophers, such as Dr. Schlesinger, who surround the President, would clear up all doubt. We are headed straight into socialism. The men in Washington have good intentions and want to preserve as much freedom and democracy as possible, but the goal of many of them is socialism, alias statism, alias government - managed economy and there is no warrant in human experience for believing that a people can remain free and self-governing under the system variously described by these terms.

The American people must reverse this trend or resign themselves to live under coercive statism.

TRUTH-FORUM

With Ed Delaney

"Washington D.C., is becoming a cesspool where rottenness swirls around and no outlet. Today we have to rely more and more on faith rather than reason that this cesspool has not contaminated the entire Nation and that the people of our country still become shocked when they hear of corruption."

Those are not the words of a John Birch Society member or one of those persons whom the leering liberals characterize as an "extremist." They are the words of Rep. Thomas B. Curtis of Mo., spoken on the floor of the House in Washington and may be read in the Congressional Record of July 30, 1962. The words are a serious indictment of the present administration in Washington and cannot be brushed off lightly. They should be strongly impressed in the minds of millions of our people.

Among other disgraceful connivings and maneuverings in Washington, Rep. Curtis cited the Billie Sol Estes case and its unprobed ramifications. The attorney general, the president's brother, appears to be up to his neck in partisan politics, says Curtis. Not only does he fail to enforce the laws, asserts the Missouri congressman, but he seems to encourage violations of the laws. He has moved with snail's pace in the Estes case and seems inclined to brush the whole matter under the rug, at least until after the November elections. The reason is obvious. Disclosures to date involve fraud, connivance of federal officials, corruption and even murder. There undoubtedly would be repercussions of a scandalous nature if the whole affair were made public now for it appears likely some federal and administration appointees will not be able to absolve themselves of blame. The Estes case is shot-through with politics, rotten, disgraceful partisan politics and it is small wonder that Rep. Curtis calls Wasington a "cesspool" which threatens to contaminate the entire nation.

Machiavel, the cunning conspirator and devil's disciple of the middle ages appears to be the patron saint of the juvenile pressure boys whom the White House has employed to importune and cajole members of Congress into rubber-stamping legislative measures or projects which the President deems desirable for the country. Perhaps it would be more accurate to say, measures which is corps of neo - socialist advisers and the illuminati of the Council on Foreign Relations prescribe for our domestic and foreign ills.

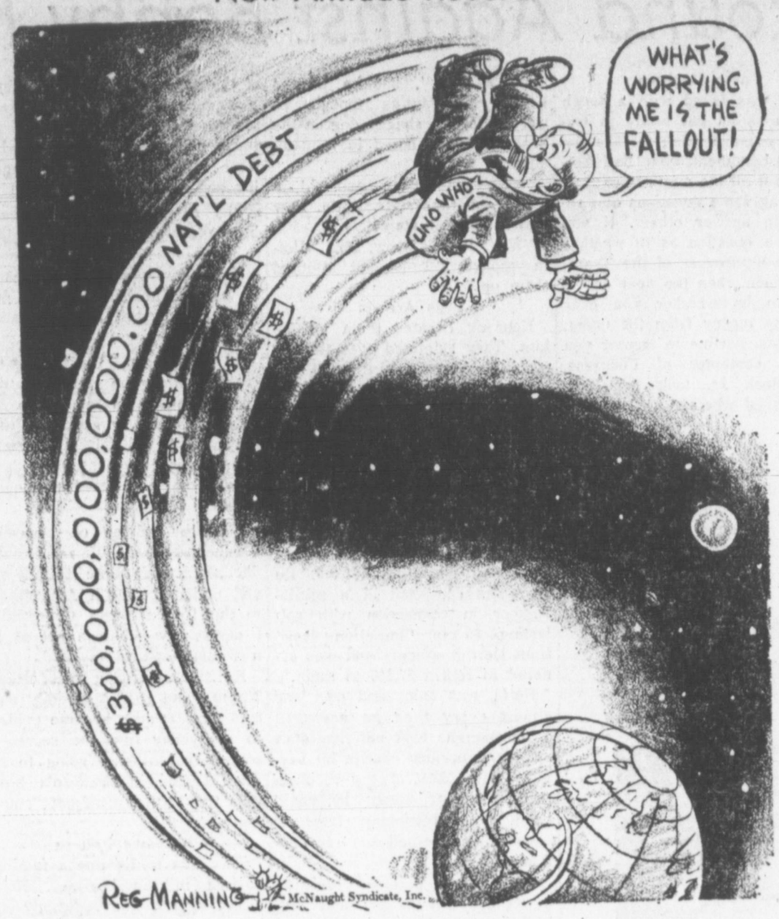

The inordinate pressure that was exerted by the administration for passage of the foreign aid bill and for giving the president discretion in the matter of giving or withholding funds from communist countries, is a positive example of sinister influences in Washington — the "cesspool" as Mr. Curtis calls it. Aid to communist countries does not aid the captive people toward their hoped - for freedom. It only strengthens the power of the oppressor. But of course in the words of Prof. Walter W. Rostow, the President's foreign policy planner, the communists are "mellowing". The building of the "Wall" through Berlin and the imprisonment of some 16 million people behind those barricades across the heart of Europe, shows how the "mellowing" is being applied.

The one hopeful omen Rep. Curtis sees for our people is, that reporters and commentators in the "hinterland" of these United States, refuse to be deceived by the propaganda emanating from the White House and kindred sources. The grass roots editors and writers cannot be intimidated nor are they susceptible to the blandishments of the Washington hierarchy. In the last analaysis the government nabobs in Washington are not our masters but are servants of the people. It is just possible that our small town opinion makers, editors and publishers may yet save us, by putting the servants in their proper place.

One day each year New York's largest toy store holds open house for all youngsters who, with their elders, stampede the place. Any damage done? Well, the management concedes, whatever damage results is chiefly caused by elders who accompany the kids. . .The current American Heritage declares "the dirtiest election" of our history was that of 1884 when Grover Cleveland (Dem.) won over James G. Blaine (Rep.). During the campaign it was openly charged that Cleveland had seduced a widow, fathered her child and then refused to marry her. He made no attempt to deny it.

A leading color expert has found that in areas where there is a high amount of sunlight, warm colors will have the greatest acceptance, while in areas with more cloudy days, the colors favored will tend to be softer and more on the cool side. Thus, as one travels from South to North, he points out, and goes from a warmer at a cooler climate, the ratio of blue roofs compared to red ones will increase. . .Set back: After 1½ years of preparation, Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy's book, "The Enemy Within," was on the point of being filmed for the movies when its producer, Jerry Wald, died suddenly. Work is halted until a successor is chosen.

Purely psychological: Inasmuch as a salesman's most important duty is to make his prospect feel big, Marketing Digest gives these five methods of accomplishing this result: 1. Always call your prospect by name. 2. Pay him at least one true, justified compliment. 3. Make him feel important in the eyes of others. 4. Ask his opinion on a matter on which he is an authority. 5. Show your interest in him by repeating back a remark he made previously. (Now go ahead and get the order.)

Hey, girls: New on the market are disposable galoshes. Put them on once, wear them through all the rain and mud you choose, then throw them away; the cost is trivial. . .Headline in the Indianapolis Star: "R. W. Blank Weds Linda Quick.". . .Just as persons may now bequeath their eyes and bones to the eye banks and bone banks, so human skin can now be passed on for the use of others. This skin can be kept as long as a month under refrigeration, and used in emergencies for badly burned patients.

Today's favorite gag: The radiant bride-to-be listened to an older friend recount her first days of marriage. "It's all so clear." the friend said softly. "He had bought a little home in the suburbs, and after our honeymoon he carried me over the threshold. And when we were inside, he said, 'Honey, this is your world, and this is my world.'" "And you lived happily ever after?" the bride-to-be interrupted. "Well, not exactly," the friend replied. "We've been fighting for the world championship ever since."

Row's Not Over In Hanna Quiz

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Last hot words have not yet been exchanged by a long shot on the Senate stockpile investigation into government nickel contracts with the M. A. Hanna companies, of Cleveland, Ohio, formerly headed by ex-Sec. of Treasury George M. Humphrey.

Committee chairman Stuart Symington, D-Mo., will be out of circulation for a minimum of three weeks, perhaps longer, recovering from his hernia operation.

While he is convalescing, the team of United States General Accounting Office auditors headed by Walter W. Henson will be working in Cleveland, going over the Hanna books again. And there can be no further committee hearings till this work is completed.

Henson served three subpoenas on the company in April and May to get records which formed the basis of his report to the committee. He testified then that full information was not made available to him and that some records were missing and may have been destroyed.

The company denies this charge and says there are records of every transaction. The company has now made additional records available to the government auditors and the Henson team will be in Clevland to go over the books again.

According to the original Henson report, the Hanna nickel contract with the government, 1954 through 1960, showed gross sales of $26,296,000, costs of $11,200,000 and profits before taxes of $15,097,000. These figures indicate profits as a percentage of gross sales of 57 per cent for the six years.

Profits as a per cent of costs averaged 135 per cent and profits on the company's capital investment 457 per cent.

According to the Hanna statement submitted to the committee by Humphrey, from this $15.1 million profits before taxes, Hanna deducted federal income and withholding taxes of $7.8 million to make the net profit after taxes $7.3 million, or 20 per cent.

The Henson report also charges that some items of Hanna capital expense were charged off as costs for income taxes purposes. This has already been the subject of informal discussions between the Symington Committee staff and Internal Revenue Service which made Hanna tax returns available to the committee for study, under executive order of the President.

At the session, Humphrey said that if further audit showed there had been some mistake in accounting, it would be corrected.

Observed Senator Symington, "I'd like to make a little side bet with you on that."

What happens after the Henson GAO team's second audit of Hanna books is completed has not been decided.

Sen. Strom Thurmond, D-S.C., is ranking Democrat on the committee and would preside if Chairman Symington is unable to be present. During the initial session with Humphrey, Thurmond questioned him on the propriety of high profits on the nickel contract while there was a shooting war on in Korea.

Humphrey has been promised an opportunity to reply to the charges made against him in Symington's blast, just before he adjourned the hearings to enter the hospital.

The senator accused the former treasury secretary of impugning the motives of the committee by his comment to Christian Science Monitor reporter Richard Strout that the investigation was a "stab in the back attack" on the Eisenhower administration.

Symington's statement was in part a reply to what he called Humphrey's efforts "to browbeat" his counsel, Robert C. Coburn, St. Louis Republican trial lawyer.

Coburn himself admonished Humphrey that they could get along better if the witness would wait until the questions were asked before trying to answer them.

Coburn has commitments to try cases in Federal Court during September and October. He will try to schedule committee hearings between his trial appearances. But if Symington is fully recovered he will handle further hearings himself with the aid of the committee staff.

Dirksen Could Lose Illinois Election to Yates; Cook County Vote, President's Attitude Significant

ROBERT ALLEN — PAUL SCOTT

CHICAGO, Ill. — Senate Republican Leader Everett Dirksen has a lot tougher re-election fight than appears on the surface.

Outwardly, the odds definitely favor the 66-year-old Illinoisan's winning a third term. He is far better known than his Democratic opponent; has a large and competent campaign organization; all the funds he needs; and last but far from least a most unusual factor—a widely-held belief that the Kennedy Administration is not particularly adverse to Dirksen's re-election.

But, rosy as this picture is, there is another side to it.

Representative Sidney Yates, the 53-year-old Democratic challenger and seven-term veteran of the House, is an experienced and knowledgable campaigner; is waging an aggressive and tireless fight; and has the unstinting backing of Mayor Richard Daley and his powerful Cook County organization.

It was Daley and his machine that piled up the huge Cook County majority that swung Illinois into President Kennedy's column by a hairline 8,000 majority — and thus nailed down his paper-thin victory. Without Illinois, he wouldn't be in the White House.

The crucial significance of the Cook County vote is further demonstrated by the following:

This one county of Illinois' 102 has 54 per cent of the state's ballot. In Cook County, the Democrats outnumber the Republicans by around 25 per cent—upwards of 1.3 million to approximately one million.

In the April primary this year, the Democrats polled 232,911 more votes throughout the state than the Republicans. The totals were 1,171,443 to 939,532. In Cook County, the Democratic figure was 705,083 to 351,684 for Republican candidates. But "downstate," the GOP outnumbered the Democrats 586,848 to 466,360.

In this same primary, Yates' total vote narrowly topped Dirksen's — 744,128 to 742,973. "Downstate," Dirksen swamped Yates 474,449 to 291,374; while in Cook County, Yates handily turned the tables 452,754 to 268,524.

In both parties, this primary vote was the largest in years. Also in both parties, there was a considerable ballot against Dirksen and Yates: 109,574 for GOP opponents of Dirksen, 291,374 for Democrats running against Yates.

WHO'S KENNEDY REALLY FOR? — Illinois Democratic leaders readily admit that Yates' chances depend largely on the size of his Cook County majority.

Their estimates vary as to how much he needs to win — ranging from 250,000 to 400,000. Kennedy swept this key county by around 300,000, but ran poorly in the rest of the state, taking only 9 of the 102 counties.

On the other hand, Governor Otto Kerner, who overwhelmed his Republican opponent that year, carried many "downstate" counties, and militant liberal Senator Paul Douglas won a third term by an even bigger majority, in which he virtually split even "downstate"; losing it only by some 500 votes.

State Democratic chiefs claim their party's strength is steadily increasing outside of Cook County. They contend a growing number of young voters are going Democratic.

Directly offsetting that, Republicans point to the indisputable fact that they are making a bigger showing in Cook County suburbs.

But both sides agree that the most intriguing question of the tense Dirksen - Yates battle is just where the White House stands; whether the President is really for Yates or is merely going through the motions.

Mayor Daley and Yates are emphatic that the latter has the administration's unequivocal backing.

They cite the fact that the President already is scheduled to spend October 19 stumping for Yates, with several or more "downstate" stops and a big $100-a-plate rally in Chicago that night. Kennedy's speech there will be televised throughout Illinois, and perhaps nationally.

It is also being asserted the President may make a return trip in behalf of Yates.

But the widespread backstage report persists that Senator Dirksen rates high with the President and other administration moguls, and they will shed no tears if he is re-elected.

Behind this persistent belief is Dirksen's influential support of a number of major administration measures, such as the UN bond proposal, the bitterly-fought communications satellite bill, and the trade liberalization measure, and a series of remarkable incidents.

The latest, was the flowing tribute paid Dirksen on the Senate floor last week by Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, Mont. To signalize the 30th anniversary of Dirksen's service in Congress (8 terms in the House and 2 in the Senate), Republican colleagues delivered a number of eulogies. A few Democrats joined them, but without particular notice until Mansfield rose and warmly acclaimed Dirksen.

This unexpected tribute was widely publicized in Illinois — to the great anguish of Yates and state Democratic leaders. Publicly, they couldn't blast Mansfield, but privately they said plenty; in fact, they are still fuming.

To them, this was one more instance of giving Dirksen a very helpful pat on the back.

Last spring the President himself was credited with a similar assist.

According to this widely - discussed report, he did this at a White House luncheon for a group of Illinois editors. One reputedly asked the President how serious he was about defeating Dirksen; whether he intended to vigorously campaign against him.

In a carefully-worded reply the President voiced high personal regard for the Senate Republican Leader, warm appreciation for his backing of major Administration measures, and was significantly silent about stumping against him.

Illinois Democratic chiefs made no secret of their astonishment and chagrin at the friendly remarks attributed to the President.

Dirksen, asked by a newsman about this episode, replied with a Mona Lisa smile and characteristic mellifluousness, "I never look a gift horse in the mouth. I am always grateful for all favors, big and small."

PRAIRIE STATE FLASHES — Mayor Daley, who suffered a stinging defeat in the April primary when a $60 million bond issue for municipal improvements was decisively beaten, comes up for re-election next year. This fall's election puts him on the spot because, if Yates runs poorly in Cook county, that will be widely interpreted as a repudiation of the Chicago mayor. As a result, he is going all-out to roll up a huge vote for Yates, his hand - picked choice for the Senate. . .Senator Dirksen isn't too unhappy about the prolonged session of Congress. As the GOP Senate Leader, he is in a position to make frequent headlines under a Washington dateline, which he couldn't do campaigning in Illinois. So while occasionally expressing hope for adjournment, the wily vetern politico is quite content to remain in the capital until October, the final month of the campaign.

Bid For A Smile

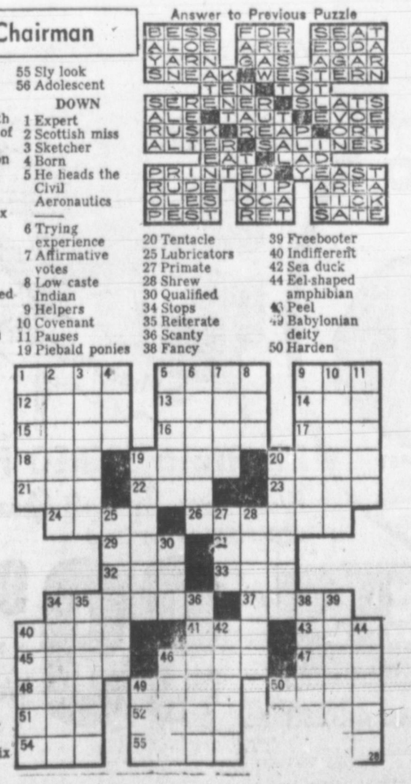

The skipper of a tramp steamer was peering over the side of the bridge through a thick fog. Suddenly he saw a man leaning over a rail only a few yards away.

Skipper — get out of the way you darned fool, can't you see I've got the right of way?

Voice Out of the Fog — Gently, sir, this ain't no blinking ship. This ere's a lighthouse.

Act Establishes Minimum Age For Employment During School Hours

DALLAS — Approach of the fall school term brought a reminder to employers today that the Fair Labor Standards Act sets a minimum age of 16 years for any employment during school hours.

Regional Director William J. Rogers of the U. S. Department of Labor's Wage and Hour and Public Contracts Divisions here pointed out that the Act applies to employment in interstate commerce or the production of goods for interstate commerce and in certain large enterprises engaging in such commece.

Youths 14 and 15 who have been working this summer and who plan to continue in their jobs must work out an arrangement with their employer so that the hours of employment do not interfere with their schooling. He added that children 14 and 15 years of age are limited to three hours of employment on a school day and 18 hours during a school week. No employment is permitted after 7 p.m. or before 7 a.m.

The Labor Department official suggested that employers can protect themselves against unintentional violations of the minimum age provisions by obtaining an dkeeping on file an age certificate for each minor employed.

In Texas such age certificates are issued as a public service by the Texas Employment Commission.

Weekly Report To Texans

By SEN. JOHN TOWER

Senator John G. Tower (R-Texas) today, in his weekly report to Texas constituents, commented on the passage by the Senate of the Agriculture Bill and outlined his reasons for opposing enactment of this legislation. The text of his report:

This week, the big news in the Senate is that we passed the Farm Bill. As you are probably aware, I have been a consistent foe of this very complex and complicated farm legislation that imposes a great deal in the way of controls on the farmer. For the most part, it is regimentation and the manifestation of a trend toward the nationalization of the production of food and fiber in this country.

The purpose and intent of farm bills enacted over the years by Congress has been, of course, to raise farm incomes. Unfortunately, this effort has too frequently overlooked basic economic factors. The farm problem has been compounded by efforts to solve an essentially economic problem by resorting to political panaceas. The farm problem has gotten involved in the political arena, has become a political issue. Votes are sought, political capital is all too frequently made, of the farm program. So immersed in politics and politicians is the farm problem that rational solutions are very often ignored.

What has occurred over the past few years, is the creation of a patchwork of laws, which are often temporary expedients to meet crises of a rather temporary nature. Too often, some of these "temporary expedients" we have adopted have found their way into the statute books permanently. For example, the programs which were enacted during World War II were enacted for the purpose of stimulating farm production to meet the demands of food and fiber which were created by the fact that we were involved in a great world war. Those incentive programs, unfortunaely, were kept in force after the war, and have been, in large measure, responsible for the problems that we have now. In other words, the farm programs themselves have, because they come into conflict with certain basic and natural economic laws, become perpetuators of our current farm problem. The farm progams have, in fact, become a part of the problem.

American agriculture is passing through a period of very great change. We've learned a lot about applying science to the technology of farm production. Now per man productivity on the farm is about three times what it was twenty years ago. Because of increased productivity, we are able to produce more on the farm. Actually this is a good thing. It makes the United States a country of abundance,— which stands as one very striking example of the difference between the success of the free enterprise system in this country and the failure of Communist regimentation in Soviet Russia, where there is a grave deficiency in the production of agricultural goods.

I proposed an amendment to the Bill which would call for the Secretary of Agriculture to present a plan for phasing the government out of controls, subsidies, and market quotas, over a period of four to six years. I ask only for the presentation of a plan for the Congress to consider. It was, however, rejected. It is my hope that, someday, we can seek some non-political solutions to a very grave economic problem — our farm crisis.

I'm sorry this Farm Bill passed this week. It is, in my estimation, a bad bill. I think you corn and grain people are not going to find much in it you can like. You stock people aren't going to like it either.

Elk City Rodeo Gets Underway On Labor Day

ELK CITY, Okla. (Spl) — The 24th annual Elk City Rodeo of Champions, to be highlighted by the appearance of television star Chu Gulager and extra added prizes, will get underway at 8 p.m., Labor Day, Sept. 3, and extend through Sept. 5.

Gulager and Miss Rodeo America ,Karen Lavens of Idaho, will head up a star-studded cast of professional attractions which will augment the regular rodeo contest.

The famous star of NBC-TV's "Tall Man" series will ride in the opening night grand entry and Miss Rodeo will ride in the traditional parade. The parade this year will be held at 4 p.m., Sept. 5, and will feature Roundup clubs from all over the state and the panhandle of Texas.

Float entries in the parade are expected to be at an all - time high and reports indicate , riding club entries will be bigger than last year.

Performers who will lend glamor to the billing include Frank Gilbert and his famed White Sock Jumpers, Ken Boren and his new Old Grey Mare, Junior Meeks and the Kajun Kid, clowns and bullfighters.

Another highlight of the rodeo will be professional girls barrel racing and the event will attract top girl racers in the rodeo association.

An extra incentive for competing cowboys will be the presentation of saddles at the final performance to contestants making the highest scores in each of five events from three rodeos—the Elk City event, the Pampa, Tex., show and the Woodward rodeo.

Arena direction and stock for the $3500 purse, three-night rodeo will be furnished by the Beutler Brothers, whose headquarters ranch is located four miles north of Elk City.

Cy Taillon, nationally known professional rodeo announcer, will emcee the show and Rudy Nance and his band of Oklahoma City will provide musical entertainment and background "sound effects."

Pension Payment Speedup Caused By Legislation

Hospitalized veterans with dependents will get faster service in receiving pension payments as a result of a new law enacted by the 87th Congress, Robert W. Sisson, manager of the Veterans Administration Regional Office in Lubbock said.

The law previously specified that when these veterans were in VA hospitals more than two months, their pension payments would be reduced to $30 a month, with the balance sent to their family in a separate check. This often resulted in delayed payments.

Under the new law, Sisson said, the veteran with dependents will continue to receive the full amount of his pension while in a VA hospital.

The $30 pension limitation still applies to hospitalized veterans with no dependents.

George Washington owned a ferry while U.S. president, charging one shilling for an adult and horse.
