

Bargaining Period Ends Today...

OPEC Fails To Unify

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP) — OPEC failed to unify prices in three days of intensive bargaining that ended today, Venezuelan Oil Minister Humberto Calderon Berti told reporters.

For consumers, the continuing rift in the powerful cartel could mean prices of oil products will remain unchanged or even decline.

The Organization of Petroleum Exporting

Countries' ministers were unable in three days of talks to strike a compromise between the positions of Saudi Arabia and most of the rest of the cartel's 13 member states.

No official communique was immediately issued. The Saudis, who charge the lowest prices — $32 a barrel — refused to lift prices beyond $34, a level unacceptable to a majority.

The principal resistance came from Venezuela,

OPEC's second largest producer after the Saudis, which declined to budge from its prevailing price of $36.

OPEC has not had a unified price since early 1979. Impetus for the Geneva conference was the world oil glut which put downward pressure on prices.

Saudi oil minister Sheikh Ahmed Zaki Yamani, asked before the meeting ended whether the Saudis would stick to their plan to set the base price as high as $34 a barrel — $2 more than currently charged — told a reporter, "Maximum." He also reiterated the Saudis would continue selling for $32 if there was no agreement.

The Saudi oil minister, said if the others would not come down to $34, his price would remain at $32, OPEC's lowest.

"We're happy with $32," said Yamani, who at that price is having no trouble selling the 10.25 million barrels a day his country is producing.

Venezuela, too, said it could sell all the oil it wanted at $36. But some of the others who have been trying to charge up to $42 a barrel for top grades have had to reduce production because of the international oil surplus caused by conservation in the industrialized countries and the huge Saudi output.

U.S. gasoline prices, since peaking in March, have gone down several cents a gallon due to reduced demand and the plentiful supply of oil. In New York, Gary Ross, an economist with the Petroleum Industry Research Foundation, estimated the cost of crude oil to U.S. refiners would increase 3 cents a gallon or more if the Saudis raised their prices $2 a barrel. The companies would try to pass that on to the public.

Monica Couto Receives Big Welcome

Students, school officials and representatives of the American Field Service were on hand Thursday afternoon to extend a welcome to Monica Couto, the 1981-82 foreign exchange student.

Miss Couto, who lives in Ribeirao Preto, Sao Paulo, Brazil, arrived to begin her year's residence in the home of Mrs. Dorothy Wolfe and her daughter, Penny.

Several gifts were presented to the exchange student to help prepare her for life in West Texas.

Gifts presented during the welcoming ceremonies at city hall included a western hat from Fenton's, jeans from Margaret's, a western shirt from Bar-H-Bar, and a belt from the American Field Service.

Miss Couto also received flowers from the Snyder High School Student Council, and a copy of the Snyder High School annual, which was presented by Principal Ray Courtney.

The arrival of Miss Couto revives a tradition dating back to the 50s that was interrupted last year when there was no exchange student at Snyder High School.

Warned To Register

WASHINGTON (AP) — A second batch of warning letters is going out to young men who apparently failed to register for the draft.

Assistant Selective Service Administrator Brayton Harris said letters were mailed Thursday to 84 individuals, giving them two weeks to respond before their names are turned over to the Justice Department for prosecution.

These youths, like the more than 200 who were sent warning letters on June 15, were identified from complaints sent in by citizens, Harris said.

Though there is no draft, men are required to register with the Selective Service System within 30 days of their 18th birthday. Large-scale enforcement of the law is on hold pending a decision by Congress on whether Social Security files can be used to locate eligible youths who have not signed up.

Inflation Eats Income

WASHINGTON (AP) — Raises received by American workers melted to less than nothing under the heat of inflation last year, with families' "real" income disappearing faster than in at least a quarter-century, the government says.

"Real," or inflation-adjusted, income fell 5.5 percent in 1980, the biggest drop the government has recorded since it began compiling such figures in 1947, the Census Bureau reported Thursday.

Real income had remained virtually unchanged in 1979 and hadn't dropped by any significant amount since the 4 percent and 2.6 percent declines of 1974 and 1975.

The spring 1980 recession also contributed to last year's negative record, holding income gains to 7.3 percent — about $21,020 annual income for a median family, the report said.

Bail Reduced

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two defendants accused of illegally selling bugging devices and other strategic technology for shipment to the Soviet Union have had their bail reduced, while the search continues for two other people accused in the case.

Anatoli "Tony" Maluta, 61, a Soviet-born U.S. citizen who lives in Redondo Beach, and Sabina Dorn Tittel, 31, of Rancho Palos Verdes were being held in lieu of $250,000 bail each after their bail was reduced Thursday from $800,000.

No Account By Libyan Leader

By The Associated Press

Libyan leader Col. Moammar Khadafy has not himself given a direct accounting of the U.S.-Libyan aerial dogfight over the Mediterranean this week, but the state-run media has continued to insist a U.S. plane was shot down.

In a speech Khadafy made in the Arab country of South Yemen, he spoke out against what he described as the American use of Arab oil "to operate the arms factories which destroy our Arab nation."

The Libyan news agency carried an account of the speech Thursday. Khadafy delivered the address Wednesday, the day of the one-minute battle over the waters 60 miles off the Libyan coast.

In the account of the speech, received in London, Khadafy did not mention the aerial dogfight or threaten to cut off the supply of oil to the United States.

He was quoted as saying, however, that the United States "goes too far in its aggression, tyranny, provocations and terrorism against the Arab nation."

In an apparent jab at the Saudi Arabia and other conservative Arab oil sates, Khadafy declared, "The Arabs did not employ their oil in developing the Arab world, especially the poorer countries. Instead, oil goes the United States and Britain to operate the arms factories which destroy our Arab nation" by producing weapons used by Israel, JANA said.

Libya is the third largest source of U.S. crude oil imports and the American market represents an estimated one-fourth to one-third of Libya's sales. The Pentagon reported two of its F-14 planes shot down two Libyan jets in the air battle over the Gulf of Sidra. Libya claims the area as international waters, but the United States rejects the claim, honoring instead the traditional three-mile territorial limit.

The Libyan news agency said both pilots survived and it released a photograph purportedly showing them, although it did not identify them. Its dispatches have not mentioned that their planes were lost, only that they were attacked by eight U.S. planes. The Pentagon says only two U.S. planes were involved and they returned to the carrier Nimitz undamaged.

The Pentagon denied that any U.S. jet was hit during the action.

Tax Arguments Are Postponed

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Arguments over a civil suit that would reinstate the 10-cent state property tax and wipe out 1979 efforts to repeal the levy have been postponed until October, at least.

The suit, brought by Midwestern University, Wichita Falls, originally was set for Monday.

William Thacker Jr., Wichita Falls attorney, said Thursday the trial delay was a mutual agreement between Midwestern and the state attorney general.

Thacker, a Midwestern regent, said the postponement will allow the plaintiffs time to decide if tax assessor-collectors in Texas' 254 counties should be added as defendants.

"The state has contended in its pleadings that the county tax assessor-collectors had the responsibility to collect the tax and therefore should be parties to the suit," he said.

"We are trying to consider the best way to move forward with the suit."

He said Midwestern had three choices. It can make the 254 tax assessor-collectors a part of the law suit or "it can meet the challenge that they are not necessary to the suit in written pleadings or go ahead with the lawsuit and argue the matter in court."

In the suit filed against the State Property Tax Assessment Board, Midwestern challenges a 1979 legislative act which reduced the state property tax from 10 cents per $100 property valuation to .0001 percent.

The university said this is unconstitutional because it violates a provision of the state constitution that says the levy must be 10 cents.

The 10-cent tax had been used to finance new construction at 17 state colleges and universities that are not included in the University of Texas and Texas A&M systems.

The 1979 act said future construction funds would come from general revenue funds. However, the attorney general ruled later that general revenue could not be used as long as a means for providing construction funds was in the constitution.

Efforts to repeal the state property tax and to provide college construction funds failed during the 67th Legislature's regular and special sessions.

A.—The Culex mosquito is a carrier of St. Louis Encephalitis. We have heard of none in this immediate area, but in years past there have been some reported to the north (around Plainview), and in coastal regions of Texas.

Reagan Ordered Navy To Challenge Libya

COSTA MESA, Calif. (AP) — President Reagan says he personally ordered the Navy to challenge Libya's territorial claim and conduct maneuvers in disputed waters to show "America has the muscle to back up its words."

Libyan leader Moammar Khadafy drew the line and the United States crossed it, knowing that hostilities might result, Reagan said Thursday after a three-hour tour on the carrier USS Constellation.

Nevertheless, Reagan insisted that he was not trying to provoke an incident and that the downing of two Libyan jets early Wednesday was a defensive action.

"Our men are going to shoot back," he declared. Reagan said he decided some time ago to assert the United States' claim that the vast Gulf of Sidra was international waters, not Libyan territory as claimed by Khadafy.

"We were faced with the knowledge that we could not go on recognizing this violation of international waters and that we were going to plan our maneuvers as we would have planned them without that rule, without his artificial line."

"I approved the idea," he said, adding that he revoked a previous standing order to the Navy to "not challenge" Khadafy's claim.

The Libyan incident was raised repeatedly during Reagan's time aboard the Constellation and later at a California Republican fund-raising dinner in suburban Orange County.

"I was given the briefing on the maneuvers before they were held quite some time ago. And these are international waters. And I approved the idea that while we don't want to be provocative or anything else, good Lord, we send our ships into the Black Sea, just as the Russians send theirs into the Caribbean, to establish the fact that they are international waters," Reagan said during an after-dinner question period.

"So the exercises properly required crossing to a certain extent that line ... and I approved that — that we would do that."

Reagan said the question of a military confrontation was raised during the briefing before the training exercise. "There was only one answer to that question. If our men are fired on, our men are going to shoot back," he said.

Earlier, after watching a dazzling display of firepower from the decks of the Constellation, Reagan told cheering sailors:

"Let friend and foe alike know that America has the muscle to back up its words, and ships like this and men like you are that muscle."

Keeping tab on our neighbors:

It rained in West Texas several days in a row recently—lots of it in some places. It not only dampened the countryside around Hereford, but reminded Speedy Nieman of the Hereford Brand of a rain storm.

A traveling salesman got caught in a rainstorm and stopped overnight at a farmhouse. The next morning he looked out on a flood tearing through the front yard.

He watched branches, pieces of chicken coop, and an old straw hat floating past in the current. Then he saw the straw hat come back, this time moving upstream against the current. Then he saw it go downstream with the current again, only to come back upstream again.

Finally, he called the farmer's daughter and asked her what was going on with the hat.

"Oh," said the rural miss after glancing out the window, "That must be grandpa. He said yesterday he was going to mow the lawn today come hell or high water."

James Roberts of the Andrews County News says it must be a real frustrating experience for a welfare family to move from a big city to a town like Andrews.

"For those accustomed to shopping for all the benefits normally handled by a welfare director or poverty official in the big city, it has to be a letdown to move to a community where there's no one in charge of handing out federal, state and city goodies for the so-called needy," said Roberts.

"When the mother of one such family from Michigan inquires of her 'benefits' and is sent from the chamber office to the city hall to the courthouse to the News office and finding satisfaction at none of them, it must be bewildering indeed.

"Here at the News office, we suggested several places she might be able to find gainful employment—and all we received for our advice was a cold stare, a disdainful toss of the head, and an irate stalking out the front door. Like we said, it's frustrating trying to find the 'goodies' in a small, busy community."

According To His Wife...

Nimitz Pilot Very Determined

HOUSTON (AP) — Lt. Laurence M. Muczynski, who flew one of the two F-14 Tomcats that shot down two Soviet-made Libyan fighters over the Mediterranean Wednesday is a "very determined guy" who "does everything by the book," according to members of his family.

"He knows what he wants and flying is his life," said the 28-year-old Navy pilot's wife Susan, who lives in Virginia Beach, Va. "It just seems like whenever anything happens, my husband's involved. He's one of the best pilots they have."

Muczynski's father, Ted, an electronics expert in Houston, said he was "really shocked" when he heard the news of the aerial battle between the Tomcats assigned to the USS Nimitz and the two SU-22s.

"When I heard the Black Aces were involved in this incident, I figured there are 12 planes in the squadron and two were involved, so there was a six-to-one chance Larry was involved," the elder Muczynski said.

Dorothy Muczynski, who also lives in Houston but is divorced from her husband, said she learned of the incident from her son's wife and thought "Oh no, not again."

Muczynski intercepted an Iranian aircraft April 29, 1980, when it approached the Nimitz during the Iranian hostage crisis and escorted it back to Iranian air space.

"He hadn't bothered to tell me about that one," she said. "It was only after he came home a few months later that I found out about it."

Muczynski also was aboard the Nimitz when a plane crashed into the carrier off the coast of Florida during a night exercise last May, killing 14 people.

He was born in El Reno, Okla., and moved to Houston with his family. He graduated from the U.S. Naval Academy in 1976 after attending Strake Preparatory Jesuit Preparatory School.

He trained at Corpus Christi Naval Air Station after graduating from the Academy and has been aboard the Nimitz for almost two years, his father said.

"They (Navy pilots) are trained to do a job just so it's a matter of course," the senior Muczynski said. "I'm sure he would handle it very calmly."

Guilty Pleas Are Heard

Several guilty pleas were heard Wednesday and Thursday in 132nd District Court with Judge Wayland G. Holt presiding.

Gail Arthur Baker was assessed six 10 year terms in the Texas Department of Corrections to run concurrently for four counts of burglary and two of criminal mischief.

Roberto Martinez was fined $500 and sentenced to 90 days in the penitentiary for driving while intoxicated.

Joe Refugio Gonzales was given three five year terms for unauthorized use of a motor vehicle, aggravated assault on a peace officer and driving while intoxicated.

Larry Jay Ainsworth was given five years probation for burglary of a habitation.

Steven Wayne Kelley had his probation revoked after pleading guilty to theft and failure to observe curfew.

Arturo Aguilar had his probation revoked and was sentenced to five years in the penitentiary for unauthorized use of a motor vehicle.

We Americans who survived "the Great Depression" of the '30s will never stop talking about—how hard it was, how poor we were, the scars it left.

All our lives we will run scared from the specter of thin soup, patched britches and sour investments.

Yet in retrospect we recognize the depression for much of our motivation to work harder, do better, build higher.

We went through hell—and came out heat-tempered and better than ever!

There's been another Great Depression. The spiritual depression of the 1960s.

Let's heed what's happened to its survivors.

They've been called the homefront casualties of the Vietnam War. They sat-in, loved-in, shot-up and freaked-out.

They dropped acid and dropped out.

For the most part they were middle-class kids in over their head. They talked "revolution" without the slightest idea what it was. They tried to evolve suddenly and, as Darwin knew, there's no way.

In a wall-to-wall world they tried for vertical—and for the few who went straight up many went straight down.

Two recent studies have called the roll of young adults—the youngsters of the '60s who are now in their 30s—to discover an alarming percentage are only marginally functional. A disproportionate number suffer behavior disorders.

Patty Hearst Plans Book

NEW YORK (AP) — Newspaper heiress Patricia Hearst, who served a prison sentence after being kidnapped by a terrorist group, plans to publish a book on the incident, Doubleday & Co. has announced.

The publisher said Wednesday Miss Hearst has been working on "Every Secret Thing" in collaboration with author Alvin Moscow, who wrote the best seller "Collision Course" about the sinking of the Andrea Doria. Moscow also was the ghost writer of Richard Nixon's "Six Crises."

Doubleday said Miss Hearst, who now is married to her former bodyguard Bernard Shaw and has a child, chose her book's title from a passage in Ecclesiastes 12:24: "For God shall bring every work into judgment, with every secret thing, whether it be good, or whether it be evil."

Miss Hearst was kidnapped by the Symbionese Liberation Army in 1974, became a member of the terrorist group and later was released from prison in 1979.

writing in a recent issue of Hospital and Community Psychiatry, agree that many who, a generation ago, would have been confined in mental hospitals are now on the streets, frequently victims of crime.

Sometimes perpetrators of crime—as in the cases of misfits John Hinckley, who shot the President, and Mark David Chapman, who shot Lennon.

Many, to support drug habits, commit lesser crimes.

The arrest rate for these dysfunctional social dropouts is eight times normal; their suicide rate 10 times greater.

Casualties of the spiritual depression of the '60s.

But what of the survivors?

There is other evidence that most of the lost generation has found itself, has rediscovered that chemicals are an unsafe hiding place, that free sex costs too much, that do-your-own-thing eventuates in anarchy.

And in their own enlightened self-interest, they have reverted to doing the established thing.

The proof is all around us: The Reagan election, the renaissance of tradition, their fascination with the royal wedding.

They're smoking less, eating soy bread, jogging.

What'll you bet...

Today's young children of young parents, when they are old enough will hear more than enough of:

"Son, when I was young...I survived one of the most troubled decades in American history...the social depression of the '60s...but I'm better for it."

Your Birthday

August 22, 1981

Greater success than you have experienced in the past is likely this coming year because you'll know exactly what you want and will define your goals more clearly.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Rather than shopping around today, you're apt to buy what you like on sight without first comparing prices. It may not be a bargain. Romance, travel, luck, resources, possible pitfalls and career for the coming months are all discussed in your Astro-Graph which begins with your birthday. Mail $1 for each to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Your possibilities for material gains are encouraging today, but you may not appreciate what you get or utilize it properly once you have it in hand.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) This is one of those days when you will innately know the best way to handle things, yet for some unknown reason will make matters harder on yourself than they need be.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Your instincts for conducting joint ventures successfully are likely to be more keen than those of your counterparts today. Follow your hunches, not theirs.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) This should still be a pleasant day, though you may not be able to do things exactly as you'd like to because of adjustments you'll have to make to please others.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You're a very efficient person today. You know how to get things done. However, associates might not give you the full credit you deserve.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) If you are socializing with a business contact today, put the emphasis on having fun rather than on trying to make a deal. Talking dollars might spoil everything.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) If there is something you want to do today to please someone you love, you'll pull it off more successfully if you don't involve him or her in the act.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Companions will try to overlook your faults today, but you must be very careful not to be too critical of theirs. Harsh comments will evoke unpleasant responses.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Unless you keep a tight reign on your expenditures today, there's a good chance you could spend beyond your budget. Don't let extravagance get out of hand.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Playing favorites today could more deeply hurt the feelings of one who already feels he hasn't been appreciated. Treat those you care for equally.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Your compassion and sympathy are easily aroused today, a fact which will cause you to extend yourself on behalf of others. Don't spoil it by acting superior.

Police Called To Bunkhouse

Two officers were called to the Bunkhouse early this morning when Sam Alexander reported a disturbance there. He said two men, beers in hand, were running up and down the hallways knocking on doors, including the doors in the girl's dorm. However, by the time the officers arrived, the culprits had made good their escape in a yellow pickup truck.

In other activity, A.B. Linvill, 218 36th, reported the theft of 12 brass belt buckles and a small radio. Value of the items was set at $30.

An accident occurred at 12:42 a.m. today at 600 28th. Involved was a 1978 Chevrolet owned by Jim Burditt and a fence owned by Joe Cotton. Damage was not immediately determined.

Pleads Not Guilty To Kidnapping

CORONADO, Calif. (AP) — A handyman has pleaded innocent to charges of kidnapping a 3-year-old Utah girl who was rescued unharmed after nine days.

Robert Gene Edwards, 46, was arrested Monday by undercover police, allegedly as he delivered Maria Martin to a ransom payoff point after $5,000 had been demanded in three anonymous telephone calls.

Edwards, arraigned Wednesday in Municipal Court, was held on $100,000 bond.

...First Varsity Football Scrimmage Scheduled Tonight At 7 In Stamford...

Four-Hour Work Prepares Tigers For First Games

Yesterday's scrimmage work with Seminole, Denver City and Lamesa yesterday left Snyder volleyball coach Joyce Elrod with mixed feelings concerning the 1981 season as the Tigers set to defend their District 2-AAAA title.

The four-hour scrimmage took place Thursday afternoon in Lamesa.

"It gave me a chance to get to see what everybody on the team can and can't do," said Elrod, who noted Snyder got off to a slow start but became more relaxed as the afternoon progressed.

"We don't keep score, but in rallies won and lost we outscored each of our opponents."

As usual in a scrimmage, coaches get some surprises and yesterday's experience was no different.

"The areas I thought we would be the strongest in we didn't do so well," Elrod noted. "Our hitting and serve receiving were not as good as I expected. Some of that was due to the fact that the girls were nervous. Even though this was just a scrimmage it was their first varsity experience of the year."

On the other hand...

"Our blocking was real good and our serving was real good," she beamed. "I hadn't expected our blocking to be that good yet, but we've still got a lot of work to do."

Elrod pointed out the work of Sabrina Robinson and Kathy Northcott at the middle blocking position and the setting of Toni Elrod and Sherri Rich. She also commented "All of our girls that had (were recovering from) injuries - Rich, Becky Harrell and Shana Koonsman - were getting around better than I expected."

"They (the team) were relaxed more and grew more confident as the scrimmages went on. Overall, it was real good work for us. I think it helped us a lot to get ready for Saturday."

Snyder begins the 1981 season tomorrow against Seminole and San Angelo Central. Matches begin at 11 a.m. in the local high school gym as Snyder and San Angelo junior varsities contest each other. The schools' varsity teams take the floor at noon, followed by San Angelo and Seminole JV and varsity units at 2 and 3 respectively. Snyder JV and varsity then meet Seminole at 5 and 6 p.m.

Gridders To Scrimmage Vernon In Stamford

STAMFORD -- Under the direction of a new coaching staff, Snyder's Tigers are to unveil the 1981 season here this evening as they meet Vernon in scrimmage action at 7 o'clock.

It will be the first test of the gold-and-black clad Cats since new head coach George Byerly took over the position last spring.

Execution will be the key for the Tigers tonight, who have dropped the Veer and T of former coach Mike Jenkins and have installed the T ofensively.

"We're having trouble executing both offensively and defensively," Byerly said earlier in the week. Most of the problem can be attributed to learning the new system, and coaches are hopeful that tonight's inter-squad exposure will serve as a yardstick.

The scrimmage will be the first of two for the Tigers before opening the season Sept. 4 in Big Spring. August 28, Snyder hosts Brownfield for junior varsity and varsity scrimmages.

This evening's work will be a varsity scrimmage only, though it is expected coaches will look at several juniors currently on the junior varsity squad.

Carpenters Ready For Oilers To Focus On Running Game

HOUSTON (AP) - Houston Oilers running back Rob Carpenter hasn't been doing enough "reading" during Oiler preseason games and he hopes that changes Saturday in an exhibition game against Tampa Bay.

Carpenter, who complained in the off season of a lack of playing time, says reading enemy defenses is something you can't learn in practice.

"You can't pick up your reads in practice," Carpenter said. "You can't go full speed."

The Oilers, with a new offense and a new starting quarterback in Gifford Nielsen, have placed more emphasis on passing in their first two exhibition games.

But Carpenter says its time for a change. "We need to run the foot-

Some Respond Harshly To New Playoff Plan

NEW YORK (AP) - Players union chief Marvin Miller perhaps summarized baseball's problems best when he said that "Einstein himself couldn't devise a system that didn't have bugs in it."

So it was predictable that the response to a new split-season format for major league baseball would be harsh in some quarters. One executive called the new plan "unjust and irrational."

Under the revised format, if the same team wins both halves of a division race, its opponent in the divisional playoffs will be the team with the second-best record in the second half.

Commissioner Bowie Kuhn was heavily criticized for the original format, which called for the team with the second-best record for both halves in a division to get a playoff berth in case there's a double division winner. Under this plan, it was possible that a team would need to lose games late in the season to assure itself of a playoff berth.

Thursday's announcement by Kuhn, American League President Lee MacPhail and National League President Chub Feeney, said, "This revision eliminates the outside possibility that a club losing a game or games toward the end of the season would thereby qualify as a wild card team for the new Division Series."

Both the original split-season format - conceived at the end of the 50-day players' strike - and the new plan call for division winners in each half of the season to meet in a best-of-five divisional playoff. The New York Yankees, Oakland A's, Philadelphia Phillies and Los Angeles

Dodgers, all first-place teams on June 12 when the strike began, were declared first-half winners.

The division playoff victors will advance to the league championship series. The survivors go on to the World Series.

The change in plans hurts teams that did well in the first half, but weren't in first place when the strike started. For example, the Cincinnati Reds were only one-half game behind the Dodgers in the NL West on June 12.

One of those who was upset with the revised plan was Cincinnati President Dick Wagner.

"As the architect of the split season and the leader in promoting this recent decision, the commissioner must take full responsibility," said Wagner. "It was a situation that required surgery and was treated with band-aids. The change is simply an easy way out and whitewash by baseball's leadership."

The Texas Rangers, who were second to Oakland in the AL West in the first portion of the season despite losing one less game than the A's, also weren't happy with the new plan.

NCAA 'Panicked', Says CFA Head

ATLANTA (AP) - The president of the College Football Association says the National Collegiate Athletic Association "pushed the panic button" when the CFA moved into money matters rather than academic and recruiting issues.

The controversy comes to a head today when the CFA decides whether to ratify a four-year, $180 million television contract with NBC, an agreement that would guarantee each CFA member at least two appearances and $1 million.

The NCAA, which has a $263 million package for the same period (1982-85) with ABC and CBS, has threatened to take disciplinary action against CFA members if they adopt the TV package with NBC.

"Naturally that kind of reaction is a little repugnant to me," Dr. Fred C. Davison, president of the CFA and the University of Georgia, said Thursday night.

Davison said threats of probation and possibly even expulsion from the NCAA never arose when the CFA pushed for raising academic requirements. But he said the NCAA "pushed the panic button" when the TV issue arose.

The CFA consists of 61 universities, represented by 17 major independents and five conferences - the Atlantic Coast, Big Eight, Southeastern, Southwest and Western Athletic. It includes most of the major powers with the exception of the Pac-10 and Big Ten conferences.

Today's vote will not be binding since the members have a period of reconsideration. That date was set for Sept. 10 but there has been some sentiment to bring it back to Sept. 1.

The CFA's executive committee met Thursday night to take up the reconsideration date issue, but Charles M. Neinas, executive director, said the committee decided to leave the matter up to the membership today.

Key Fight Slated Tonight In Vegas

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) - Promoters have billed it as the "fight of the year" and even the "fight of the decade," but all the hype and talk will be left outside the ring tonight when Salvador Sanchez and Wilfredo Gomez meet for Sanchez's World Boxing Council featherweight title.

After a week of alternately praising and knocking each other, Sanchez and Gomez will finally have their chance to actually go at it in the scheduled 15-round title bout.

Sanchez will be making his sixth defense of the WBC crown he captured with a 13th round knockout of Danny "Little Red" Lopez in February 1980 and Gomez promises to be his toughest opponent yet.

Gomez, the reigning WBC super bantamweight champion, has scored 32 consecutive knockouts since being held to a draw in his first professional fight, but is giving up his crown to move into the featherweight division.

Dallas Hopes To Execute Better Against Steelers

DALLAS (AP) - The Dallas Cowboys led the National Football League in scoring last year, but you couldn't tell it by the way their quarterbacks have performed in the first two exhibition games.

Danny White and Glen Carano have each completed 16 of 35 passes in losses to Green Bay and Los Angeles, a poor 45.7 per cent completion rate. Each has been intercepted twice.

Carano has thrown two touchdown passes and White only one. Third team quarterback Gary Hogeboom has thrown no touchdown passes or interceptions. He has completed four of nine attempts for a 44.4 completion percentage.

The Cowboys go into Saturday night's preseason game with the Pittsburgh Steelers in Texas Stadium with their potent offense sputtering and the defense still giving up the big play like it did last year.

Dallas' defense has yielded 59 points in the two games as opposing quarterbacks complete passes at a 62 per cent rate.

White has been bothered by a sore left shoulder. He had the same problem last year in a regular season game against the New York Giants and threw five interceptions.

"It's getting better and should be no problem," he said.

The Cowboys' multiple offense typically gets off to a slow start. Complicating this preseason is an experimental signal system which has replaced, at least temporarily, Coach Tom Landry's shuttle.

Landry calls to the plays to assistant John Mackovic who signals from the sidelines to the quarterbacks.

For the Steelers, Terry

Bradshaw is expected to see his first preseason action after missing a start last week because of a stiff neck.

Defensively, the Steelers have also had their problems, yielding 67 points and 902 total yards in two games.

The Steelers lost 36-20 to the Philadelphia Eagles last week.

"I wasn't impressed with anything we did against Philadelphia," said Steeler Coach Chuck Noll.

Pittsburgh broke a five-game preseason losing string to Dallas last year with a 31-10 victory in Texas Stadium. Dallas is 5-2 against the Steelers in preseason but Pittsburgh has an 11-10 regular season edge, including two Super Bowl victories over the Cowboys.

Company Can Provide Celebrity Look-Alikes

NEW YORK (AP) — You want Woody Allen to pitch your toothpaste, or Katharine Hepburn to pep up a sales meeting?

The reclusive stars would almost certainly refuse, even supposing you could afford them. But a Hollywood-based company, Ron Smith's Celebrity-Look-Alikes, offers "the next best" for far less.

"There is only one Burt Reynolds, but we can offer the next best thing," says Smith, who was in New York recently, auditioning look-alikes for Prince Charles and the Princess of Wales.

"Almost everything a star can do, we can do, but for a reasonable price," says Smith. He describes his work as "selling an illusion of an illusion."

Smith, who looks strikingly like a bearded, 34-year-old former actor named Ron Smith, keeps a roster of 1,200 housewives, doctors, actors and others who just happen to look like somebody else, and are eager to capitalize on the coincidence.

Charging 1 percent of a celebrity's fee, Smith says, a double can earn as much as $50,000 a year, depending on the popularity of the real thing.

Adolf Hitler, Anwar Sadat, Yasser Arafat and Ayatollah Khomeini are on the roster, and find work mostly in documentaries. The list, which runs from Edie Adams to Robert Young, also includes an Albert Einstein, a Marlene Dietrich, and Lassie.

Smith always has an eye out for new faces. He once met a man who looked like actor George Segal in a New York department store. He said he offered him a contract but was turned down, because it really was George Segal.

Stopped for a speeding violation, Smith said he was confronted with a policeman who looked like Elliot Gould. He signed him immediately — and the cop forgot the ticket.

The business was inspired by a Halloween party in 1976. As a publicity stunt, Smith set up a contest to choose doubles for President Gerald Ford and then-candidate Jimmy Carter, and it drew far more attention than the main event.

With a stable of pseudo-stars, the next logical step is pseudoevents. On inauguration day, Smith hosted hundreds of guests at a ball with doubles for Ronald and Nancy Reagan. More recently, the winners of the Prince Charles and Lady Diana pageant in Chicago starred in a mock wedding — "for all the Americans not invited to London," Smith said.

The demand for doubles in advertising, films and public affairs is growing each year, says Smith, and his "stars" also work in Europe, Africa and Asia.

Working as a celebrity double can compensate for some of the annoyances of mistaken identity, or the frustrations of ordinariness.

"I don't like it when people see me in the subway and complain about the mass transit system," said George Leader, who looks like New York Mayor Edward I. Koch. "Otherwise I like my role and the mayor very much."

Adolf Gottsmann got his role by attending last year's Grammy Award ceremony in New York. "The next day a local paper published a picture of me saying that George Burns also was at the ceremony," said the 73-year-old retired public-relations executive. "I never met the real George Burns, but I enjoy looking like him."

Eileen Dillard looks like a twin sister of Katharine Hepburn, and seems happier playing the role.

"Normally, I'm a very shy person," she said. "But when I'm her I become very confident. It's very satisfying because everyone likes her."

Wedding Is On Target

TWIN FALLS, Idaho (AP) — In the romance between Bill Hays and Susan McFarland, you might say Cupid shot darts, not arrows. Hays, a dedicated dart thrower, organized dart-shooting tournaments in this south-central Idaho town. He met Miss McFarland while playing his favorite game.

So, his friends thought it only appropriate he be married in front of a dart board.

The brief ceremony was conducted Sunday afternoon in the dart room of the Klover Klub here.

The couple exchanged vows, and Miss McFarland was given a ring fashioned from a bar straw.

The wedding cake, topped by two dart-shooting figures, was in the shape of — what else? — a dart board, complete with numbers and two small yellow darts inserted at the side.

BRIDE HONORED—Mrs. Bradley Woolsey, the former Mary Tullis, was honored with a bridal shower August 18 at Calvary Baptist Church. Pictured

Every year thousands of home owners vow to get their fireplaces and accompanying chimneys in good shape for safe and efficient operation.

Some do. Some don't. While the warmth and ambience provided by the old hearth, is undeniable, a brick fireplace that looks tired and overwhelms the living room is sometimes in need of a facelift. When cosmetic surgery seems in order, gypsum board, often loosely called drywall, can be the answer.

The first step in the renovation is to clean the bricks with a strong detergent and a stiff brush. Pay special attention to those within about 8 inches of the fireplace opening. On completion, that area will be left uncovered. Using nails or screws and anchors, attach 1-by-2-inch furring strips to the brick. Place them on all outside and inside edges except around the fireplace opening.

There, attach furring strips a minimum of 8 inches from the sides and the top of the opening, leaving a brick border around the opening. Add other furring strips so that there is no more than 16 inches between any two strips. Cut the gypsum board to cover the fireplace so that the edges butt over the center of the furring strips. On the corners, the edges should be flush with the side of each furring strip. To cut the panels, score the face side with a sharp knife, using a straightedge as a guide. Fold the panel back until it snaps, then slice through the remaining paper on the uncut side.

Nail the boards to the furring strips, using drywall nails. Be sure to cover the inside edges of the wood framing around the fireplace opening with strips of gypsum panels so that no wood is exposed.

Place a nail about every 8 inches where the drywall overlaps with furring strips. Make sure the nails are at least 3/8ths of an inch from the panels' edges. Drive the nails into the boards just far enough to create a little dimple.

An expert on such an installation, Wallace Weidman, U.S. Gypsum senior vice president, says all outside corners should be reinforced with metal corner bead, nailing the flanges through the boards into the furring strips, trimming to size and nailing every 9 inches on each flange.

Apply joint compound across all joints and immediately apply reinforcing tape by firmly pressing it into the compound. With a joint-finishing knife, remove excess compound, making sure a thin layer covers the tape. Apply joint compound to the dimples and corner bead and remove any excess with a joint-finishing knife. Run the knife along the corner bead with one edge riding on the corner bead and the other edge on the surface of the gypsum panel. Let dry for at least 24 hours and then smooth lightly with sandpaper or a moistened sponge. Apply two more coats of compound over the joints, dimples and corner bead.

Cover all the drywall and joint compound with a primer and at least one coat of paint. You can either paint the brick around the opening or leave it as is.

The result is a contemporary look for a tired fireplace. If painted the same color as the room's walls, the fireplace will blend visually with the entire room. Or you can choose a different color to accent the fireplace.

(Home-handy persons will find much valuable information in Andy Lang's handbook, "Practical Home Repairs," available by sending $1.50 to this paper at Box 5, Teaneck, N.J. 07666.)

The professor looked over the dummy with some distaste and broke his usual rule of silence by telling the student, "You should have let me play in four spades. Still, we will probably make our slam."

He won the heart lead and cashed two of his top trumps. Then he led a low diamond.

West ducked and dummy's jack held the trick. The Professor came back to his hand with dummy's last trump and led a second diamond. West ducked again, but the Professor was in charge. He returned to his hand with his other high heart in order to lead a third diamond. West had to win this one or lose his ace. Now dummy's last two diamonds were good and the slam came home.

This hand is quite instructive. The Professor's four-spade call was very descriptive. Solid trumps and eight winners without too much high card strength or slam interest.

The student should really have passed. He had extra values, but he should have discounted his queen and jack of hearts. When the student bid five clubs the Professor's five heart bid was correct. He was entitled to show heart control. Once started on his way to the stratosphere the student bid six spades.

A club lead would have led to quick defeat of the slam as would the lead of ace and a second diamond.

Finally, if the Professor had drawn three trumps he would have lost the contract. (NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

Lawyer's Novel Offers Insights

THE MAN WHO OWNED NEW YORK. By John Jay Osborn Jr. Houghton Mifflin. 234 Pages. $10.95.

John Jay Osborn Jr. is a lawyer and when he deals with the law and its practice in his novels he is on firm narrative ground.

Such was the case in his previous book, "The Associates," and so it is with his new fiction, "The Man Who Owned New York." Both offer entertaining — and, to the layman, informative — insights into what many regard as an arcane society, the large New York law firm.

When, however, Osborn strays from the law, his narrative runs into trouble. This usually happens when Osborn details and tries to explain human relationships, especially those between men and women. It is not his forte.

Robert Fox, for example, is the protagonist of "The Man Who Owned New York." Fox is a partner in a prestigious Wall Street law firm. His career is going nowhere. He may be a partner, but he is also the man who gets the jobs the really hotshot attorneys don't want.

A bit on the neurotic side, but still believable. Unfortunately, Fox is in love with a woman art appraiser, a situation hard to accept since the woman comes across as a self-centered, shallow type and not at all the sort the reader has been led to think a man such as Fox would go for.

To make matters worse, Osborn has included two other badly drawn women in his plot. One is a deranged oldster suffering from a weird disease. The other is a bubblehead named Fluffy whose only reason for being is to provide the gun needed in the penultimate chapter.

"The Man Who Owned New York" has its moments, to be sure, but there are what seems like dull hours between them. Phil Thomas AP-Books Editor

Dear Abby

Boy Won't Kiss for Fear Girl Will Tell

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1981 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I won't beat around the bush. The fact is, I've never kissed a girl and I'm 19 years old. Isn't that ridiculous? It all started in grade school when an older kid told me that kissing a girl wasn't all that easy — there was a right way and a wrong way, and if you didn't know how to kiss a girl, you'd be better off not kissing one at all. So I never kissed a girl because I was afraid I'd do it wrong and I'd get laughed at.

Now the situation is worse than ever. I've gone all through high school and one year of college with very few dates. I'm fairly good-looking, friendly and have many girls as friends. I have no trouble getting dates, but I never take a girl out more than once because eventually she'll expect me to kiss her, and when she discovers I don't know how to kiss, it will be all over.

I'm too embarrassed to admit this problem to others — they'd die laughing. So tell me, Dear Abby, what do I do? Pay a total stranger to teach me how to kiss?

NEVER BEEN KISSED IN OHIO

DEAR NEVER: Save your money and start dating. When you get the urge to kiss a girl who seems receptive, lead with your lips — gently and slowly. Just act as though you know what you're doing and don't worry about it. Regardless of how inexperienced you are, with a little cooperation, you'll catch on fast. Trust me.

DEAR ABBY: I have nine children between 8 and 13 years old, most of them adopted. I would gladly write out a progress report to any mothers and fathers who wanted to know how their children were. Some of these children came to me from agencies, some were given to me personally. I am grateful to all their parents.

My twins were given up at birth by a Korean woman. There are no records of who she was or where in Korea she lived. How I would like to tell her that the twin girls she bore are now 13 — both honor students in seventh grade, musically talented and budding artists.

Each of the others has special talents. Nothing earth-shaking, but news of them might mean something to women somewhere who gave them up only after some long and painful pondering. Feel free to use my name.

LAURA BILLINGTON IN MAPLE VALLEY, WA.

DEAR LAURA: Beautiful!

DEAR ABBY: Being the mother of an adopted child, I read with interest the pros and cons of adoptive mothers sending "progress reports" to the natural mother.

If we had sent yearly reports to the mother of our adopted son, here is a sample of what we would have written: "Child suffered seizures due to brain damage."

"Extreme language difficulties indicate that child will require special education."

"We have called in psychiatrists and neurologists in an effort to determine what to do about our son."

"The boy seems unable to relate to his peers. His ability to comprehend is minimal and his future appears dismal."

Our progress report would have been very depressing. And since the child's natural mother was in no position to help, it would seem unnecessarily cruel to inform her of the above. On the other hand, if one had agreed to submit an annual progress report, the truth would have to be told, would it not?

ANOTHER MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: You make a point that I had not considered.

DEAR ABBY: I heard you give the commencement address at Westridge School for Girls in Pasadena last June when my daughter graduated. I wish every high school girl in the country could have heard your closing remarks. Will you please share them with your readers?

MR. L., PASADENA, CALIF.

DEAR MR. L.: Was this it?

"When you leave this school, your first order of business should be to equip yourself to be independent, self-supporting and in control of your own destiny."

"Learn a skill, so you will never have to ask your mother or your father or your husband or your boyfriend — or heaven forbid, your government — to take care of you."

Do you have questions about sex, love, drugs and the pain of growing up? Get Abby's new booklet: "What Every Teen-Ager Ought to Know." Send $2 and a long, stamped (35 cents), self-addressed envelope to: Abby, Teen Booklet, 12060 Hawthorne Blvd., Suite 5000, Hawthorne, Calif. 90250.

Long-Time Smokers Can Cut Risk Of Disease

CHICAGO (AP) — A new study of nearly 4,000 men indicates smokers can cut their risk of heart disease by kicking the habit, even if they have smoked for decades.

Increases in blood pressure and heart rate caused by consumption of nicotine may be among the most important causes of heart disease, according to Dr. Arthur J. Hartz, one of the scientists whose findings were published in the Aug. 21 issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association.

Previous studies found smoking increases the risk of heart attack by causing the arteries to clog, Hartz said. But the new study found "there are other, probably more important ways that smoking causes heart attacks." Those who quit smoking minimize that damage, Hartz said.

The study was conducted by researchers at the Medical College of Wisconsin, where Hartz is an assistant professor of preventive medicine, and the Wood Veterans Administration Medical Center, both in Milwaukee.

HEALTH

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Trouble with salt?

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am training for football season. It is hot, of course, and we sweat a lot. Would it help if we took salt tablets? My coach said no, that you could get into trouble with them, but I don't see why if you lose salt when you sweat.

Another thing, my dad said that you would get in shape faster and tolerate the heat better if you didn't drink water while practicing and playing. I have been drinking a lot of water. I'm sure most of the guys would appreciate it if you would give us some guidelines about salt tablets and water. With your help we may be the champions this year.

DEAR READER — It will take more than salt and water to make a champion football team. Your letter points out many of the problems associated with heat and sweating. Your coach is right about salt tablets in most instances. It is true that you lose salt when you sweat but maybe not as much as you would get in the salt tablets. Too much salt, particularly if you have lost a lot of water too, can be dangerous. It can make you more likely to have a heat stroke.

The best idea is to drink plenty of fluids and be sure to drink lots of fortified skim milk. It contains salt in it. Get plenty of orange juice to add potassium to your diet. If you need more salt, get it by adding salt to your food.

Next, be sure you are getting enough fluids. A good guide here is to weigh every day. If your weight is going down a lot and it is not from loss of fat, you are losing water your body needs. That means you should increase your water intake.

I'm sending you The Health Letter number 7-12, Heat Stress: Cramps, Exhaustion, Stroke, to give you an overview of these your teammates. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019. These rules in it apply to everyone exposed to heat and that includes older people sitting at home who are particularly susceptible to heat problems.

Authorities no longer agree with your dad. That is an old idea that has been

WWI Veteran Finally Gets Purple Heart

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Tommy Roe was a 24-year-old Army machine gunner when he was knocked out of action Oct. 8, 1918, in the Argonne Forest in France, barely a month before the end of World War I.

He was too grateful to be alive to give much thought to the fact that he never got a Purple Heart for the wounds he suffered in battle.

Some 62 years later, his grandson has seen to it that the 86-year-old veteran from Ardmore has been given his long-overdue tribute.

In ceremonies Thursday at the Oklahoma Veterans Administration Regional Medical Center in Oklahoma City, U.S. Sen. Don Nickles, R-Okla., made Roe the third-generation Purple Heart recipient in his family.

Roe's son, Danny, from Fort Worth, Texas, and a grandson, Robert Mobbs, a deputy U.S. marshal from Edmond, were wounded in World War II and in Vietnam, respectively.

Roe was wounded during a charge on enemy lines when a cannon shell tore through his right thigh, missing the bone and exploding in a tree behind him. "It seared the flesh and didn't bleed a drop," he recalled.

Roe recuperated in a Paris hospital for two months before rejoining his unit after the shooting had stopped.

It wasn't until eight months after the Armistice was declared that he returned stateside.

Roe now has retired after 30 years of operating a service station.

problems and what to do about them. Share it with discounted as we got smarter. You need to replace the water your body loses before, after and especially during practice and a game.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Could you please tell me if a woman my age is too old for contact lenses? I am 50. My husband said he read an article which said a woman my age is too old for them.

DEAR READER — Age is not the determining factor as to who should and should not use contact lenses. In fact many people who have had cataract operations wear contact lenses afterward with great success. When they can be worn they provide far less distortion than the thick eyeglasses worn after cataract surgery. Most of these people are older than you are.

There are new contact lenses coming on the market all the time. Some of these can be worn for long periods of time. In some cases the eyeball is out of shape to the point that a contact lens is difficult to fit. In other cases you may need eyeglasses as well as contact lenses because of the differences in reading versus normal vision. But the way to find out is to go to your eye doctor for a good examination and a recommendation that applies to your particular case.

Officials Seek His Arrest...

Martin Will Talk To Grand Jury

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Rep. Mike Martin says he'll talk to a grand jury Tuesday about his shooting, but officials in Longview say they will arrest him before then — if they can find him.

"This fellow here is going to get to the bottom of this thing right now," Longview District Attorney Rob Foster said Thursday.

Foster said Martin, R-Longview, is wanted on a misdemeanor assault warrant charging he punched a man in the face in January 1980.

Martin is the victim of an unsolved shooting. He was wounded in the arm about 2:40 a.m. July 31 by shotgun blasts fired at him near his recreational vehicle in Austin.

He was living in the vehicle during the recent special legislative session.

Foster and Gregg County Sheriff Bobby Weaver said they would question Martin about the unexplained shooting if they find him, even though it happened outside their jurisdiction.

Martin, 29, initially said he had no idea who shot him or why. Later he claimed he was the target of a masked gunman sent by the "Guardian Angels of the Underground," an occult group out to get him.

The freshman lawmaker's only bill, an attempt to require the teaching of creation science in public schools, died in committee. Martin was labeled one of Texas' 10 worst legislators by Texas Monthly magazine.

On Tuesday, Martin missed a second appointment with grand jurors here. Last week he ignored a subpoena. This week he went into hiding so he could not be served with a subpoena.

On Wednesday, Martin called Travis County Assistant District Attorney Allen Hill and said to the prosecutor, "I understand you're looking for my body."

A transcript of the brief phone call said Martin told Hill, "I'm quite safe right now. I just wanted to let you know if you need me in Austin I'll be there next Tuesday. You just name the time."

Hill, who said he did not know where Martin called from, told him to be at the grand jury room at 1:30 p.m.

Martin's two stories about the shooting have been rejected by Hill. Even some of Martin's political associates say they don't believe he has told the truth.

Foster said the occult story is "hogwash" and asserted that Martin's conduct since the shooting has been "a disgrace to his office, to himself, to his city and to everyone else I know."

Hill said Martin would get no special privileges before the grand jury. Martin had told The Longview News-Journal that Hill agreed not to announce when Martin would show up.

"That is not correct," Hill said. "It's another incident of some sort of serious confusion."

Hill said he never discussed secrecy with Martin.

Hill also denied Martin's reported comments about taking a lie detector test if Martin could set the "ground rules."

"I don't know what he means by ground rules," said Hill, who denied talking with the lawmaker about a lie detector test.

Will Martin show up next Tuesday?

"I don't know if he is going to be here and what he is going to say if he does show up," said Hill.

The grand jury has received Martin's legislative telephone and financial records. Hill said there is a "possibility" Martin could be charged with violations of state ethics laws concerning financial statements.

The 29-year-old Republican legislator also could face misdemeanor charges of making false statements to police.
