"Danger in Alleged Consumption Cures", Warns

"Persons suffering from tuberculosis as well as their families and friends, in fact everybody, should realize that no drugs, pills, tonics or medicines have been found to cure tuberculosis."
This pertinent observation was made today by Dr. W. E. Ryan, city health officer, in pointing out the importance of the campaign of the Midland County Health board to bring before the community the great value of present-day methods of treating tuberculosis.
"Perhaps for no other disease have so many so-called 'cures' been brought forward through the centuries as for tuberculosis," he said.
"They have been announced frequently either as the honest offering of scientists or by quacks who hoped to grow rich on the gullibility of mankind. In the files of the National Tuberculosis Association are stored almost a thousand 'cures,' none of which has stood the test. These 'remedies' have ranged from the tuberculin of Koch, which was mistakenly but honestly regarded as a cure, through the exploitation of turtle serum down to the most ridiculous combinations of herbs, vapors and secret concoctions. Discoverers of some of these cures claim that they were 'revealed' to them by some supernatural power; others are crassly commercial and want money for their 'secret'.
The mental element in tuberculosis was pointed out as an important reason for the ready acceptance of any 'remedy' offered and this is made plain by the experiments of Albert Mathieu, a French physician, as related by Dr. Ryan.
"Tuberculosis patients were led to believe by Mathieu that a wonderful serum has been discovered. He gave them injections of what was supposed to be this serum, but what

PRELIMINARY PLANS COMPLETED FOR CONSTRUCTING A $10,000,000 PLANT FOR TEXAS CENTENNIAL EXPOSITION

DALLAS, (UP)—Preliminary plans are now complete for Texas' one-hundredth birthday celebration. The privately owned and operated exposition grounds here commencing June 6, 1936.
Just one year is left for construction of a $10,000,000 exposition plant, and ground will soon be broken for the first of the scores of unusual and artistic structures which will house the big display of Texas renaissance and international exhibits and embracing amusements.
When work actually is started on the grounds it is expected thousands of workmen will labor twenty-four hours each day in eight-hour shifts.
Ample funds are available to make the Texas Centennial Exposition one of the greatest international expositions of its kind in history.
The State of Texas has appropriated the sum of $3,000,000 of which more than a million dollars will go into the construction of a State of Texas Building which will be permanent on the exposition grounds.
The City of Dallas is issuing $3,500,000 of bonds for exposition purposes. The Texas Centennial Central Exposition, Inc., has already sold practically $2,000,000 of bonds to private individuals and corporations to aid financing of this Texas World's Fair.
It is considered more than likely Congress will appropriate another $3,000,000 for a Federal building and other features. This appropriation has already passed the Senate and is now being considered by the House.
Walter D. Cline, managing director of the Central exposition at Dallas, expects to make it a twenty million dollar show for fifteen million people.
Frank N. Watson has been selected as the promotion manager for the central exposition and has plans under way to tell the story of this great Texas celebration in all parts of the nation and throughout the world. He will aid in the creation of a national "urge" to visit Texas next spring and summer, and will advertise far and wide Texas' historical background, her unparalleled resources and the business advantages of the Lone Star State.

GOP GUNS TURNED ON FARLEY AT SESSION TODAY

Charged in Drawing Funds From the Wealthy

SPRINGFIELD, June 11, (AP)—The oratorical guns of the "grass roots" conference of republicans from ten farm belt states were trained on James A. Farley, postmaster general, today.
Farley was charged with drawing party funds from "swollen fortunes" of the wealthy.
Harrison E. Sprangler, temporary chairman, said that Farley was the "greatest political boss since the corrupt days of Boss Tweed."
At the meeting last night a scathing indictment of the New Deal—an 18 point "declaration of grievances"—was adopted with shouts of approval.
Contained in the report adopted by acclamation by an officially estimated 6,000 GOP faithful, was a repeated charge of "broken pledges" aimed at President Roosevelt and a warning that his planned economy would "spell the death of American institutions."
As soon as the conference opened yesterday the big guns were turned on Roosevelt.

Seniors Write of College Opinions

AUSTIN, (UP)—University of Texas seniors satisfied a four-year-old desire before graduation June 3—they left a written report on what they thought of college and affairs in general.
Even as most freshmen, the seniors wanted final examinations and mathematics requirements abolished as useless parts of a college education. Instead of finals, graduating students thought frequent short examinations should be held to encourage studying during the school year.
Sixty per cent thought fraternities and sororities at Texas cost more than they were worth, that such organizations tended to make persons undemocratic. Forty per cent, about the number who belong to social groups, thought Greek-letter clubs were proper and beneficial.

HISTORIC SPOT USED TO HIDE LARGE AMOUNT

Waley Burns $4,000 Because It Got Too "Hot"

WASHINGTON, June 11, (AP)—Recovery of $116,000 of the $200,000 ransom paid for the return of the kidnapped George Weyerhaeuser of Tacoma, Washington, was announced today by J. Edgar Hoover, director of the department of justice bureau of investigation.
This included $90,700 found buried in historic Immigration Pass, five miles south of Salt Lake City, Hoover said, explaining that it was recovered after a confession of Harmon M. Waley, under arrest, at Salt Lake City since Saturday.
Hoover said the fugitive William Mahan, who deserted his automobile and "between $15,000 and $16,000," probably had the balance of the ransom money.
Waley burned $4,000 because "things became too hot." "G" men said the Waleys spent "about $300." The remainder was not immediately accounted for.
Hoover said Waley and Mahan collected all the ransom.

BUTTE, MONTANA, June 11, (AP)—

Heavily armed department of justice agents are scurrying about this city today and indicated that the federal men had definite information that William Mahan, third member of the Weyerhaeuser kidnap group, was "holed up" here with probably $84,000 of the ransom money.
Display of side arms suggested that peace officers have orders to "shoot it out" with Mahan upon sight.

EXPOSITION TO RECALL ROMANTIC NORTHWEST

Looking ahead a small matter of 11 years, the people of the Pacific Northwest are already preparing for a big centennial exposition in 1946 to celebrate the acquisition by the federal union of Oregon territory.

If you like expositions—as most of us do—almost any excuse is good enough to justify holding one. The excuse in this case, however, seems especially good, for it celebrates one of the most romantic and important phases of our entire history—and marks, also, a significant event in international relations.

Consider the second point first. Oregon territory—comprising the present states of Washington, Oregon, and Idaho—was part of a vast stretch of land which was in dispute between the United States and England for many years.

The Louisiana purchase left the northwest boundaries of the country in a fog. The United States claimed everything up to Alaska; Britain claimed everything down to Mexico—whose northern boundaries then was the upper end of California.

You can still read in your school books about the "54-40 or Fight" slogan of the fire-eaters of those days. The way was open for war; indeed, war was at that time just about the only recognized way of settling an argument of that kind.

But there was no war. Instead, there was a peaceful compromise, with each nation taking less than it felt entitled to—and this compromise, more than any other one thing, cemented the theory that no dispute could arise along the Canadian boundary which could not be settled peacefully.

So much for that. The purely romantic and picturesque aspects of the anniversary make it equally worth celebrating.

It was in 1843 that the first wagon train plodded its way to Oregon. The first white women had taken up residence in the territory seven years earlier; in 1843 the first American government was formally organized there.

And then began that great epic of pioneering and achievement which made the homely covered wagon an emblem of lusty youth and high daring; and which by its steady pushing back of the frontier saved America from the pressure of Europe's industrial problems and made it possible for the concept of a classless society to endure to our own day.

All in all, the story of the Oregon trail is one of the greatest in our history. If any chapter in the American story is worth celebrating with a centennial exposition, it is this.

The people of Idaho, Washington, and Oregon ought to put on a great show; they have all the materials for it.

BOW TO PROGRESS

When the Nebraska state legislature adjourned the other day it established a landmark in the state's history—and, possibly, in the whole history of state government in America, as well.

The legislature did this by the simple act of adjourning; for the next Nebraska legislature to convene will be a one-chamber affair of 43 members, a small and compact group which will be much less expensive for the state to support and which should be infinitely more efficient in action than any previous legislature.

Nebraska is about to begin a highly interesting experiment, which other states might well watch with great attention. With one bold stroke, Nebraska has attempted to make its legislative branch as modern and as truly representative of the best things in the state as the beautiful capitol in which the legislature meets.

If the experiment works half as well as its proponents claim, the next decade will probably see it copied widely.

In spite of the many improvements made in automobiles, aerial maneuvers seem a bit out of their class still. Stories in STAMPS

By I. S. Klein

THE outside world may remember Marshal Joseph Pilsudski for his bristling walrus mustache—"The Walrus of Warsaw," some called him—and for his silent, stern dictatorship of Poland. But the country that he succeeded in regaining for his people finds in him the man who fought for this independence from his earliest days. Not until the end of the World War did Pilsudski gain this victory. Since then he was virtual dictator of Poland and idol of his people.

Three of Poland's stamps honor him, and another may be expected soon. The first Pilsudski stamp is shown here, one of a series issued in 1919 to commemorate the meeting of Poland's first national assembly.

Legion Memorial Highway Is Named

AUSTIN, (U.P.)—State highway No. 66, running north and south across Texas from Red River, near Byers in Clay county to the international bridge at Reynosa, Mexico, has been named "The American Legion Memorial Highway," according to a proclamation issued by M. L. Wighton, secretary of the State Highway commission.

The American Legion of Texas, through its Department Commander, H. Miller Ainsworth, proposes to secure roadside parks adjacent to the rights-of-way of the highway and to dedicate each park to some particular unit of the Legion that served in the war.

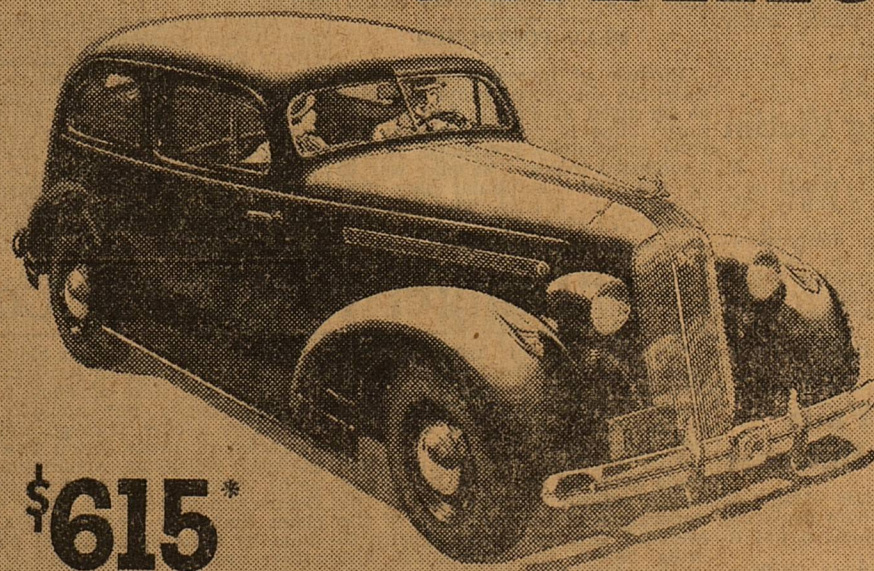

As fast as the parks are acquired the Legion will erect plaques giving the names of the men who were killed during the war in that locality.

The highway extends for 600 miles and it is planned that when the project is completed, there will be 100 road-side parks built adjacent to the highway.

Technique of Young Musician Is Praised

Playing a program of difficult music including works of Chopin and Bach, Dorothy Sue Miles presented a piano recital at the First Christian church Monday evening under direction of her teacher, Mrs. Lee Cornelius.

Assisting in the program with a selection of readings was Dorothy Lou Speed, expression pupil of Mrs. Bryan Henderson.

The church auditorium was roped off with ribbons of pink tissue so that the audience was seated in a position to view the player's hands.

Baskets of vixen and pink roses carried out a pink decoration motif with lavender larkspur adding a pleasing note.

Mrs. Cornelius expressed gratification at the technique of the 11-year-old musician. "Her tones were remarkable," she said, stressing the distinctness with which melodies were carried in the selections.

Dorothy Sue wore yellow and Dorothy Lou a pink evening dress. Ushers were Jessa Lynn Tuttle, Adale Reiger, and Darleen Vance.

Shower Party for Bride-to-Be Calls For Dainty Dishes

By MARY E. DAGUE
NEA Service Staff Writer

The most successful kitchen shower for a bride that I ever heard of was preceded by a merger of finances, and the purchase of an electric combination toaster, griddle, a waffle maker, which this bride particularly wanted. Guests each took dime presents besides so there were plenty of packages to open before the main gift was presented.

In any kitchen shower, it's best to find out the special likes and dislikes of the bride. What utensils does she prefer in tin, aluminum, in iron, in stainless steel, in glass, in earthen-ware?

Try to avoid duplication and unnecessary trilly gadgets that may take more time to wash and keep clean than they save time in using.

Naturally the refreshments for the shower are of utmost importance to the hostess. She wants something to reflect the spirit of the occasion—not elaborate nor fussy but delicious.

If you want to carry out a pink and white idea, why not have tiny cup cakes with strawberry icing and vanilla ice cream? Make the cup cakes tiny, a mouthful each only.

Here is your ice cream made either by freezer or automatic refrigerator method.

Freezer Method

One and one-third cups sweetened condensed milk, 2 cups thin cream, 1 cup cold water, 1 tablespoon vanilla, few grains salt. Thoroughly blend all the ingredients before turning into dasher freezer. Turn until frozen. Remove dasher, repack in six parts ice to one part ice cream and let stand one hour at least before serving.

Vanilla Ice Cream

Automatic Refrigerator Method. Two-thirds cup sweetened condensed milk, 1-2 cup water, 1-2 teaspoons vanilla, 1 cup whipping cream, few grains salt. Blend milk, water, and vanilla. Chill. Add salt to whipping cream and whip until firm. Fold into first mixture and turn into freezing tray. Freeze in automatic refrigerator until a mush. Remove from refrigerator and scrape from bottom and sides of pan and beat until smooth. Even off top and replace in freezing unit until frozen for serving.

Tiny Cup Cakes

Two eggs, 2-3 cup sweetened condensed milk, 3-4 cup flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder, 1-2 teaspoon almond extract, few grains salt. Beat egg yolks with a Dover beater until thick and lemon colored. Add milk and continue beating until thoroughly blended. Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt and sift again. Sift slowly into first mixture and stir until smooth. Add flavoring and fold in whites of eggs beaten until stiff. Pour into tiny paper baking cups and bake fifteen minutes in a moderate oven (350 degrees F).

Strawberry Frosting. Two and one-half cups confectioners' sugar, 4 tablespoons sweetened condensed milk, 1-4 cup crushed fresh strawberries, 1 tablespoon lemon juice. Sift sugar and stir into milk. Add berries forced through a coarse sieve. Add lemon juice and beat until smooth and creamy. Spread on cold cakes.

Back Plane Seaters

CAMDEN, N. J. (U.P.)—Airplanes, too, have the back seat driver menace, according to Amelia Earhart, famous aviatrix. Stopping at the airport here for a brief rest, she said: "A woman in the back seat of a plane or an automobile should act just the same—trust the driver and refrain from comment."

THE LARGEST-SELLING READY-TO-EAT CEREAL

It was in 1906 that our company brought out the original Corn Flakes. Growing steadily in popularity for 29 years, Kellogg's Corn Flakes have become an important factor in the lives of millions of people—consumers and farmers.

More than a trainload of grain comes to Battle Creek daily, and other trains carry Kellogg's Cereals to all parts of the world.

When you eat a bowl of Kellogg's Corn Flakes, 12,000,000 other people are also enjoying them. The whole year's yield of a 700-acre field of corn is consumed every day in Kellogg's Corn Flakes. And that is only the start. The milk of a quarter of a million dairy cows, and the fruit from hundreds of acres of orchard, are used daily along with this famous cereal.

We have always put the quality of Kellogg's Corn Flakes beyond imitation. Finer flavor. Crisper, more appetizing flakes. More value for what you pay. Ask for Kellogg's, in the red-and-green package, and don't be satisfied with substitutes. Your family deserves the best.

FEMININE FANCIES

By KATHLEEN EILAND

We've been reading about the Texas girl, Portia Portar of San Antonio, who has been winning plaudits as a bull-fighter in Mexico City. We've always known Texas could take the lead in whatever she wished to undertake but somehow we'd never thought of a Texas girl taking the matadors' laurel wreaths (or do they have horns for trophies?) right away from them.

Naturally one visualizes an Amazonian person sort of person when Miss Portar's prowess is mentioned, but she is described as being only 18 years old, little over five feet tall, lithe and graceful in physique. We believe in annexing most all the crowns one can in this old world but so far as we are concerned the Spanish gallants may wear their honors without fear of competition. We get enough alarms and frights just in ordinary peaceful living without going into the bull-fighting ring for more.

It is curious and sometimes sad to what an extent the sorrowful and the joyful events of life go hand in hand. Almost simultaneously with the announcement of wedding festi-ivities, there comes news of deaths which will bring grief to many in the town and country.

Another dish that spells summer in capital letters is a platter of boiled corn on the cob. And fried chicken in conjunction with sliced tomatoes.

We observe that bathing caps are again in demand, so we suppose that sunburn-and blisters will again soon be in the ascendancy.

Old Swimming Hole

AUBURN, Wash. (U.P.)—"Hum," yawned County Prosecutor Warren Magnuson, "Spring is here at last." He received the first of his annual barrage of complaints that boys were swimming in the old swimming hole of White River, without bathing suits.

How Weather Travels

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (U.P.)—It takes weather about three days to cross the United States, according to Roscoe Nunn, chief of the St. Louis weather bureau. This, he said, helps forecasters to be correct 90 per cent of the time.

On July 8, 1833, a shower of oranges fell near Naples, Italy. The oranges had been sucked into the air 10 minutes before by a waterspout.

Dry Rouge Needed To Repair Makeup, Girls are Advised

By ALICIA HART
NEA Service Staff Writer

Smart society women who are sports enthusiasts have turned to subtle, light-colored makeup in keeping with the warmer weather and summer clothes. The dark nail polish, rouge and lipstick have been relegated to the winter shelf. After all, cosmetics that were just right during the winter and early spring months are too heavy and obvious to use when sunshine is bright. Every woman ought to have special preparations to put on from now until October. During the season when your skin gets more oily and stays fairly moist from the heat, you ought to carry dry rouge with you. The creamy variety you put on in the morning will be absorbed before noon. From then on, you'll have to freshen up with color from a compact. Be sure that the rouge in your vanity case matches perfectly the cream rouge you put on at home. Nothing is worse than to start with a pinkish shade and then to put a layer of orange-toned rouge over it. You'll find that you can use a lighter and finer - textured powder, too. If you have oily skin, cream foundations probably will be more satisfactory than liquid types. Try several, however, until you find one that holds your powder in place.

Stock up on skin tonic and plan to keep the bottle in the ice box. After you have cleaned your face, pat it with a clean cotton pad that has been dipped in the tonic and then let the freshener dry before you start to apply cosmetics.

Frankly- Who Pays the Bill?

When government steps out of its sphere and tries to operate or control business, who pays the bill? THE PEOPLE PAY THE BILLS! It might be in the actual cost of service or it might be in higher taxes, but THE PEOPLE PAY THE BILLS!

When the government decided to operate the railroads, what happened? Chaos and confusion followed. When the railroads were returned to private ownership there was a tremendous deficit. Who paid it? THE PEOPLE DID WITH HIGHER TAXES!

When more and larger government commissions and bureaus are created, who pays the bills? THE PEOPLE DO!

Taxes in the United States have INCREASED more than a billion and a half dollars IN THE PAST 12 MONTHS! Who paid these increased taxes? THE PEOPLE!

There is legislation now pending in Congress known as the Wheeler-Rayburn bill which should be of vital concern to every citizen because it will create costs which, in the long run, THE PEOPLE MUST PAY!

This bill is aimed solely at the electric industry.

The provisions of the bill are so severe and restrictive and so revolutionary in character that the companies could not live under them. The bill would give government a vise-like grip on the management and control of these companies and in doing so would create new federal commissions and bureaus. As usual, more bills for THE PEOPLE TO PAY.

The inevitable result of such a program would be the complete collapse of the electric industry with losses running into the billions for 10 million investors. Again, THE PEOPLE WOULD PAY THE BILLS.

This would lead to socialization of the industry and bring the risk of inferior service and higher rates to be PAID BY THE PEOPLE.

The record of privately-owned electric companies needs no defense. They have contributed generously and unselfishly, through excellent service at low rates, to the communities of which they are an integral part.

We don't believe we deserve to be singled out as the next national experiment—the 1935 "business guinea pig."

T.C.U. Students Can't "Take It"

FORT WORTH, (U.P.)—Students of today have "gone soft" according to Prof. Will M. Winton, head of the geology department of Texas Christian university in Fort Worth.

"I used to take my students on field trips to points from five to eight miles away from Fort Worth," Prof. Winton said.

"Now the students are nearly exhausted after they ride in automobiles out and back.

"There were no automobiles and radios on the campus in 1913 when I came to Fort Worth to teach at T.C.U.," Winton said. "Movies were just beginning to be popular.

"Many students had made the longest trips of their lives when they came to Fort Worth to go to school and a number of them had never seen a street car.

"Today, the students are more sophisticated. The freshmen of two decades ago could be herded into almost anything. The sophomores sold them shower bath tickets, catalogues, and even induced some of them to pay for chapel seats."

How Cheese Began

MONROE, Wis. (U.P.)—The Monroe area, which now produces more than half of all the Swiss and Limburger cheese made in the United States, was settled by a little band of Glarner Swiss in 1845. They had planned to produce wheat, not cheese, and the cheese industry was not started until 22 years later, when crops began to fail.

BAER SLATED TO WIN BOUT WITH BRADDOCK EASILY

By EDWARD J. NEIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, June 11.—The rail-birds came out of the shadow along slug-happy alley today to get their first glimpse of an old favorite, James J. Braddock, and to examine at first hand his chances of whipping Max Baer for the heavyweight title out on Long Island Thursday night.

They watched the Irish icicle box his last two rounds in this training siege against a youngster named Jack McCarthy of Boston, and as much as they wish Jimmy could win the consensus was that the best thing in his favor was his first name and middle initial, they being the same as three past champions, Corbett, Jeffries and Tunney.

Managers, trainers, handlers of fighters schooled in the business of judging fistic material give him the smallest chance to win of any challenger in years. But they made Demers 4 to 1 over Tunney at Philadelphia, some of them even went back to the time John L. Sullivan was "name your own price" against Corbett.

"Baer out to be 100 to 1," said one manager of heavyweights who doesn't want to be named because he has a job writing his opinions now for the papers. "Braddock's still the easiest guy in the world to hit with a right hand. Baer murders you with a right hand. So how can Baer lose?"

While they agree that there isn't a reason they can see for Braddock lasting more than three rounds, despite his increased strength, his improved form, his added weight—196 pounds—they think too that if some miracle gets the surprising Irishman past the first ten minutes of fighting his chances for victory are greatly improved. Betting, where you could find anyone willing to risk money on Braddock, ran from a low of 3 to 1 in commission houses up as high as 25 to 1 on private wagers.

Baer at Asbury Park already has reduced his training to calisthenics, and Jimmy will do the same now until weighing in time Thursday afternoon.

Braddock, with a crowd of several hundred jamming the gymnasium, seemed faster on his feet than in any of his previous drills, and he was more vicious, slamming heavy rights into McCarthy's head and sides.

Spatterings of rain held down the ticket sale today, although the Irish are massing to give Braddock, a veteran at 29, a lot of vocal support at the ringside. The Garden's prediction of $250,000 began to look a bit high, and there were reports that the advance sale indicates it may not draw better than $200,000.

The bout will be broadcast over a National Broadcasting company network.

BALL GAMES TURN TO RUNS—WILDNESS

By JESS RODGERS

Despite the fact that they were outbit 12 to nine the Southern Ice softball club bunched their hits more effectively and overpowered the Hughes Tool club last night by a score of 17-11.

Lewellen, Hughes pitcher, was as wild as a March hare and gave up 11 walks during the night and nearly all of them figured in the run making for the winners.

The winners put the game on ice in the sixth inning when they sent 15 men to the plate on five hits, five walks and numerous errors to count 11 times.

In the aftermath the Hardware had no trouble overpowering the Continental club and marking up their second victory without a loss. The Continental team has yet to win a game in three tries.

The Hardware team batted around in the second inning for seven runs and again in the seventh for eight runs. The final score was 19 and 5.

What Makes the Loco Weed Loco, A&M Experiment

COLLEGE STATION, (U.P.)—What makes the loco weed drive livestock "loco" or crazy has been determined by Dr. G. S. Fraps and E. C. Carlyle.

The two attaches of the Texas agricultural experiment station here have isolated the poisonous principle of the weed.

They expect their experiments will help in combating the plant, which has caused untold havoc among herds. The work was carried on jointly with the Department of Agriculture.

Extracts from the loco weed, which abounds in the Rocky Mountain grazing region, Mexico and portions of Texas, were taken and separated chemically.

Portions of the extract were administered to livestock until the poison was isolated. The final extract was named locoine. It is a tartrate.

Experiments showed that toxic effect on the horse is much more pronounced than on cattle, sheep or goats. Only 30 per cent of the horse's weight in green loco weed is sufficient to cause death. Cattle must consume 90 per cent of their weight before effects are noticeable and much more to produce death.

Advocate's Museum To Preserve Facts

AUSTIN, (U.P.)—Texas, once rich in museum material, is being rapidly depleted of interesting historical articles, according to A. Garland Adair, chairman of the American Legion Texas Centennial committee.

The reason for this, according to Adair, is that Texas has no adequate museum in which to store its historical objects.

"The great museums in the United States are exclusively in the North and East," he said. "Expeditions from these museums are constantly scouring the state to dig up and carry away interesting museum pieces."

The American Legion, through the sale of Centennial half dollars, is endeavoring to raise funds for the erection of a museum to house Texas historical objects.

It is planned that the museum will be completed in time for the 1936 Centennial celebration.

Schoolhouse Fire

PARADISE VALLEY, Nev. (U.P.)—School kids were given an extra three days vacation at the end of the spring term when the 57-year-old school building was destroyed by fire. The fire came at a time when negotiations were underway for a PWA loan to construct a new building.

WHOSE WORD WILL YOU TAKE FOR BLOWOUT PROTECTION?

Low wheels, larger tires, and the high speeds of today make blowout protection in your tires vital to your safety as never before. Are you accepting exaggerated and unsupported advertising and sales claims—or are you accepting the judgment of men who risk their lives on their tires and know from experience the tire that gives them the greatest blowout protection?

Thirty-three race drivers and their mechanics lined up for the dangerous, gruelling grind of the 500-Mile Race at the Indianapolis Speedway May 30th. Firestone Tires were purchased and used on every one of the thirty-three cars.

Kelly Petillo won the race at an average speed of 106 miles per hour. Wilbur Shaw was second, flashing across the finish line just behind the winner. Both drivers broke the track record without tire trouble. In fact, not one of the thirty-three drivers had tire trouble of any kind.

For sixteen consecutive years Firestone Tires have been on the winning car. The race this year simply emphasizes again the undisputed evidence that Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires have the greatest stamina and blowout protection.

Gum-Dipping is one of the outstanding reasons why Firestone Tires give such amazing performance. By this process every cotton cord is soaked and every strand is insulated with pure liquid rubber, preventing internal friction and heat, the main cause of blowouts. Gum-Dipping is a patented extra process not used in any other make of tire.

1 University tests show Firestone Tires stop cars 15 to 25% quicker

2 Gum-Dipped cords give greater blowout protection. Gum-Dipping is not used in other tires

3 Wider, flatter tread gives more than 50% longer non-skid wear
