EDITORIAL COMMENT

Re-elect Ralph Yarborough

Day by day for the last seven years a statesman in the halls of the U. S. Senate has fought the battle for the people of Texas and this great nation.

Make no mistake about it. He has guarded the interests of the businessman, the wage earner, the farmer, the cattleman, the oilman, the veteran, the student, the conservationist . . . and, of course, the aged and the handicapped.

Now, as he seeks re-election as senior U. S. Senator from Texas, those who oppose him, find this record of public service insurmountable.

And, so, they use the only weapon that is left — dangerous demagoguery, which seeks to destroy goodness through character assassination with smear, innuendo and trickery.

The Colorado City Record cannot believe that the voters of Mitchell County and Texas will stand for this crude, unjustified smear attack upon the character and service of Senator Ralph Yarborough.

But, at this eleventh hour before Saturday's election day, demagoguery is most likely to be effective. And, to be sure that the statesmanship of Ralph Yarborough is not lost to the people of Texas and our country, The Record urges renewed support in his behalf for re-election.

Ralph Yarborough is a Democrat — a Democrat in the terms of the late Sam Rayburn. And that means he not only campaigns and talks as a Democrat, but votes and serves as a Democrat.

His credentials for re-election, though, stand above party politics. For here, in the heart of his service, is the reason why Texas and the nation — for the good of all — need Ralph Yarborough to remain in the U.S. Senate.

Senator Yarborough, only U.S. Senator from Texas who has lived in West Texas, has served West Texas well. But his job requires that he serve all of our state, too, and that he act wisely in the affairs of our nation.

This, his record shows plainly, Ralph Yarborough has done admirably.

He has authored the Senate Bill to safeguard the cattleman against beef imports, called for marking of beef so the housewife in the food store can readily see if she is buying U.S. or foreign meat.

He has been among the first to call for a realistic cut down in foreign aid, yet working for stronger U.S. defense. He has successfully engineered legislation for the benefit of veterans and their families, has been at the forefront in promoting sound measures for strengthening our agriculture economy, has worked diligently for solutions to Texas water problems.

He has been a leader in the field of conservation and recreation — authoring, for example, the Padre Island Recreation Area and working for creation of a Guadalupe Mountains National Park.

He co-sponsored the Peace Corps Act, recognized by all factions as a great new step by America in foreign relations. And he has been especially effective in the field of Latin American relations.

His foresight into the future needs of our country has brought tremendous gain for the nation in the field of education — legislation co-authored and pushed by Yarborough promoting

Oil Man Lockhart Rites Held

H. L. Lockhart, 1105 Chestnut St., longtime Colorado City citizen and a prominent Mitchell County pioneer oil man, died Monday afternoon in Root Memorial Hospital after a long illness.

He had celebrated his 80th birthday Jan. 15. Born Herman Lee Lockhart in Bell County, Jan. 15, 1884, he came to Mitchell County in the early twenties.

Lockhart was one of the major developers of West brook Oil Field, the discovery field of West Texas.

With his brothers he was organizer of the Rio Grande Oil Co. which built refineries in El Paso, in Phoenix, in Vindale, Calif.

The Lockharts also laid the foundation for a refinery west of the Mitchell County town of Westbrook. That refinery was never built because Standard Oil bought production in Westbrook Field and notified the Lockharts of plans to build their own refinery.

Lockharts Bros. did build a loading rack at the site of their proposed refinery, where some foundation work had been done, and it became the first pipeline in the Permian Basin — probably the only one until 1924 when Standard

Election Party

Democrats will stage an election party Saturday night in front of the Colorado City Record office.

All election judges are asked to call in returns as fast as possible to the office of Bob Ratliff Insurance, RA 8-4371. Returns will be posted on the new return board and the public is invited to watch the fun.

Democrats & Republicans To Cast Ballots May 2

Mitchell County Democrats are set for the First Primary election throughout this county Saturday, May 2, with polls open from 8 a. m. until 7 p. m.

Republican Party members will stage their First Primary election Saturday in the Earnest building, in downtown Colorado City, Walnut St., with a single box for all Mitchell County Republicans.

Democrats of precinct 1 will vote at the Courthouse box with R. B. Baker as election judge. Buford citizens also in precinct 1, will vote in the Buford Methodist Church recreation cabin. Murrell Blassingame is election judge there.

Westbrook's precinct 2 Demos will vote in the agriculture building in Westbrook with Douglas Barber as judge. Precinct 2 Carr box will be in the old Carr school building with Don Henderson election judge. Mrs. John Womack is election judge for voting at the Cuthbert box in the Cuthbert store.

Precinct 3 voting Democrats who live in Colorado City will poll their ballots in a new box to be in Civic House with W. B. Crockett as judge. Colorado City citizens, were all formerly in precinct 1. Since the redistricting in April, 1963, citizens are reminded of newly enlarged precinct 3 boundary lines.

The lines stretch from Spade to Highway 80, down 2nd St. to Oak, then north to 6th St., east to Austin St. and south to city limits, back to the Colorado River, into Lowe community and east to the Nolan County line.

Spade box, precinct 3, will be in Spade's agriculture building with Robert Bolin as election judge.

Loraine Demos will vote in Lions building with Willie Taylor as judge. Other box in precinct 4 will be at Landers with Willis Cornut as judge.

Howard Cox is to be judge of absentee balloting. About 47 absentee ballots were requested, said Harry Ratliff, Mitchell County Democrat Party chairman.

There will be two sets of ballots, one for holders of poll tax receipts, the other for citizens who did not pay a poll tax but who registered to vote for National candidates. Under the new amendment of the Constitution no poll tax is required to vote for any National office.

Ballots for precincts will vary only for candidates for offices of county commissioners and constable.

Republican Party ballot will carry no county candidates for any office, but do carry four candidates for the United States Senate and one candidate for Governor and other high state offices.

Voters will be required to show poll tax receipts, Ratliff said, or registration receipts. Bringing the receipts to the polls is a must for Saturday.

Democrats Set Precint Conventions

Democrats will stage their precinct conventions at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon, said Harry Ratliff, county chairman of the party today.

Precinct 1 will convene in district courtroom, precinct 2 in Westbrook School building, precinct 3 n Civic House here, and precinct 4 at the Loraine School.

County convention is set for Saturday, May 9. Each precinct is entitled to send 1 delegate for each 25 votes in the election of a Governor at last General Election, 1962. That gives Mitchell Demos a total potential of 73 delegates to county convention.

Ratliff urges all citizens to attend the 4 precinct convention Saturday. "Choice of delegates to represent each precinct will be left up to those who care enough to be present," he said.

Loraine Crusade Ups Total

Loraine's report of $661.09 in gifts to the Cancer Crusade brought the new total for Mitchell County to $2,697.38 at noon today, said Bod Carver, Crusade chairman.

While gifts from Loraine citizens exceeded their last year's contributions to the Crusade, about $500 is still needed in the grand total if the county as a whole is to equal Crusade total of '63 when donors gave $3,000 in this county.

All First Graders To Meet Tuesday

All beginning first grade children who expect to start school in Colorado Public Schools in September, are to meet for a pre-enrollment program Tuesday, May 5, from 9:30 a. m. to 11 a. m. in Primary School building.

Parents of all first graders to be enrolled for the first time for the fall term to open in September are also urged by Frank W. Wilson, superintendent, and by Brooks Teague, Primary principal, to attend the orientation and pre-enrollment program.

Wallace School area boys and girls to be in the next first grade to be taught at Primary are reminded that they and their parents are invited to be present in Primary School, Tuesday morning.

All first grade children in Colorado Independent School District, regardless of residential area, will be enrolled in and will go to Primary School building next term. There will be no first grade classes at Wallace School, in September.

Parents are asked to bring each child's birth certificate showing the child to be six years old on or before Sept. 1, 1964. A record of vaccination against small pox will also be required. If parents can present birth and vaccination records at the Tuesday pre-enrollment meet, it will help progress of the orientation program, Teague said.

Letters to all children known to be ready for enrollment were mailed this week. Citizens are asked to tell any beginning first grader who did not receive the letter about plans for the day.

Plans include greetings from Superintendent Wilson, from Teague, first grade teachers and the school nurse. They also include a tour of the building a lesson in use of cafeteria facilities, and refreshments.

Rites for Pioneer, Mrs. Anna Simon

Mrs. Anna Simon, 90, member of one of Colorado City's oldest pioneer families and daughter of an early-day mayor here, died at 5:45 p. m. Tuesday in Dallas.

She was the mother of Leonard G. Simon, president of Continental Trailways Union Bus Terminal, of Dallas. Her death came after a long illness which followed a stroke several years ago.

Born Anna Harness, July 6, 1873, in Cooper County, Mo., Mrs. Simon moved with her parents to Texas in 1881. The family lived in Buffalo Gap for one year, then moved to Colorado City in 1882.

She was educated in Colorado City schools and attended Baylor Belton, the college now called Mary Hardin-Baylor.

Her father, Jacob T. Harness, was one of the first business men of Colorado City, a partner in the firm of Harness-Shropshire, buyers of buffalo and cattle hides, warehouse owners and sellers of grain. Their business flourished near the old Texas & Pacific Railroad "turn table," used for reversing trains when the T&P western line ended here.

Col. Harness was a charter member of First Baptist Church and served as deacon from 1882 until his death in 1914. He was mayor from 1887 to 1895 and led Colorado City in building the first waterworks.

Mrs. Simon, herself, was a Baptist from early girlhood and long active in service to her church. For many years she was teacher of "The Young Ladies Class." After her health failed she moved to Dallas, in 1957. By then, she had lived for 75 years in Colorado City.

Last rites were in Kiker & Son Funeral Chaple here at 4 o'clock this afternoon (Thursday.) The Rev. Carl Lee, pastor of Oak St. Baptist Church was officiant and burial was in Colorado City cemetery.

Her son, Leonard G. Simon of Dallas, his wife two granddaughters and four great-grandchildren survive her.

Pallbearers for the funeral were Harry Ratliff, Joe Henry Smoot, Ford Merritt, Joe Earnest, L. J. Taylor and Edwin Moeser.

Old Baylor Bear Greets Coach Bridgers

Coach John Bridgers of Baylor University at right, is pictured with Bill Coffey, left at the All Sports banquet here Tuesday evening. Coffey, local grocer, was the All Southwestern quarterback and captain-elect for the last Baylor championship team, in 1924. "It's been a long time," grinned Coach Bridgers when he was greeted by the former Baylor Bear.

BAYLOR BEARS'

Coach John Bridgers QB Banquet Speaker

John Bridgers, coach of the Baylor University Bears, made the chief address at All-sports banquet here Tuesday evening when Quarterback Club honored all high school sports participants.

Introduced by Dr. H. Jene Steakley, Baylor graduate and vice-president of Colorado School Board, Bridgers proved to be a popular speaker with the several hundred students, parents, school board members, caoches and teachers as listeners.

Coach Bridgers kept his speech alive with humor and with frequent references to famous Baylor athletes—Don Trull, James Ingram, Larry Elkins, Ronny Bull. He also praised two Colorado High School athletes now attending Baylor, Jerry McKay, out last season with displaced ankle, and Ken Northcutt, trackman now at Baylor.

The speaker called Truman Nix, new head of Colorado High's athletic department and now head football coach, "One of the best-liked high school coaches in Texas," and complimented the "good looking teams—especially that team called the Wolverines." Wolverines are members of Colorado High's pep squad.

During his talk, Coach Bridgers stressed the inspirational part of sports. "When it comes right down to it" he said, "athletic competition is a spiritual experience. You can't compete without your whole spirit, your soul. If you play just to win, you're missing something. Some of the greatest athletes I've ever known have been great Christians."

Bridgers listed and accented qualification of good athletes. The qualities were what he termed "the intangibles." He emphasized unselfishness, positive attitude, vision of success, desire to please, self discipline, and sportsmanship."

"No alibis, no excuses, no sour grapes," he concluded. "All athetics offers little failures, little successes. It is good sportsmanship which makes a girl into a young lady and makes boys into men."

Terry Redwine, president of the Student Council, "A" football team member and track star, was master of ceremonies for the banquet which was served in Primary School cafeteria, buffet style.

Frank W. Wilson, superintendent, introduced Mr. and Mrs. Nix and Mr. and Mrs. Fred McKay, parents of Baylor Bear Jerry McKay and David McKay, Colorado High athlete.

Nix, in a brief speech, said "We are looking toward the future." Nix moved here from Wink this month to assume his ned duties.

education, building greater school facilities, creating broader opportunities for all persons desiring education.

True, no man could work and act every day, within 100 per cent agreement with all the people. Neither can Senator Yarborough.

But his service as U.S. Senator has been based on judgment and unrelenting dedication for public good.

If there is a weakness in Ralph Yarborough, then it is his loyalty to the good of all — being too honorable to kow-tow, to compromise with any unreasonable pressure group.

So, now, in this final stage of an election campaign there is an attempt to discredit this loyal service.

The opponent, who has admitted publicly that he had just as soon run as a Republican as a Democrat and, therefore, is a wolf in sheep's clothing within the Democratic Party Primary, stoops to the demagogue's smear.

The opponent has no other weapon. He has no credentials worthy of the U.S. Senate.

Worthy credentials of service and integrity are all in record and heart of Ralph Yarborough. Therefore, The Record unqualifyingly endorses Senator Yarborough for re-election and urges your support in his behalf Saturday at the polls.

BUSINESS & PROGRAM

Mrs. Jordan Host 1949 Study Club

Mrs. Jack Jordan, Jr. was hostess for the 1949 Study Club meeting in her home recently when final plans for the reception at Spade Ranch were made.

Reception was Sunday afternoon, with club members serving as hostesses for the affair. Mrs. Jordan and Mrs. Bob Barman were refreshment committee members.

In other business, plans were completed for the club's cookbook and tickets for the Spring Art Show were distributed. Art show will be from 2 to 6 o'clock Sunday afternoon in Civic Huse.

Program on the life of Ernest Hemingway was given by Mrs. Art Dibble. She told of his early life in Oak Park, Ill. and of his adventures as an ambulance driver in World War I. His writing career began during post war days on the Left Bank in Paris, she said, where he was aided by such famous authors as Gertrude Stein, Ezra Pound, Ford Madox and F. Scott Fitzgerald.

"Hemingway is considered one of the greatest American authors. Rather than being an observer, as most writers are, Hemingway was an actor in his own life. As one critic said of him on the day he died, 'Hemingway was a man who lived it up to write it down'," Mrs. Dibble counciled.

One guest, Mrs. Frank Conard, was present. Members attending were Mmes. Barman, Carter, Dibble, Gregory, Holbert, Jordan, Koneeny, Morris, Neff, Sparks, Steakley, Strange, Weaver, Gilbert and Smith.

Meeting for March had programs on charm and sports. Mrs. Willie Landau was hostess for the March 19 program on charm by guest speaker Mrs. Charles Caldwell of Midland. She spoke on "Reflections in a Woman's Mirror."

Program for March 15 meeting was given by Mrs. Tom Neff. "Babe Ruth, Home Run King" was her subject. Mrs. Dwight Tomb was hostess for the day in the Villa Inn Restaurant.

John White Tells Texas Of Service

The agency headed by Texas Agriculture Commissioner John C. White provides more direct services to Texas consumers than any other department of State government, White's office reported this week.

During Commissioner White's administration of the Texas Department of Agriculture, the report said, program which directly benfit all Texans have been begun and increased to such an extent that consumer services are now 5 times greater than when White took over. Direct consumers services under White's department include such inportant programs as checking for honest weights on all goods for home and industry sold in Texas, inspection of egg grades and quality, quality tests of all brands of automobile anti-freeze, inspection of fruits and vegtables, and inspection of numberous kinds spection of nursery products.

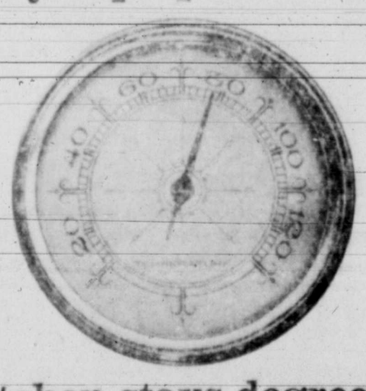

In addition to responsibility for fairness in the sale to Texans of the billions of items which come under these programs, White's agency is in charge of numerous additional laws and services which benefit Texas farmers. Laws to insure quality of seed the farmer uses, to guard against insect pests and diseases, to protect grain that the farmer stores, to assure careful application of farm chemicals these and many more programs of service and assistance for farmers and ranchers are Commissioner White's responsibility. Such farm-related programs have more than tripled in volume and kind since White took office as Texas' sixth Commissioner of Agriculture.

When you prepare hot meals

your kitchen stays degrees cooler

with flameless electric cooking

Flameless electric cooking units fit snugly against pan bottoms. They put their heat into the pans where it is needed, not into the kitchen air. The electric oven, being flameless, requires no flow of air into and out of it to support combustion. The oven is insulated all around, ~~including the bottom~~, to keep heat inside where it belongs. Result: your kitchen stays degrees cooler when you are cooking hot meals. See your electric range dealer soon. Cook the cool, clean, flameless way . . . and live better electrically!

Mahon To Address Hardin-Simmons

ABILENE, April 30— Rep. George H. Mahon of Lubbock, a Hardin-Simmons University graduate and one of the key figures in the U. S. Congress, will be speaker for H-SU's spring commencement June 1, Dr. James H. Landes, university president, has announced.

Hardin-Simmons will confer approximately 200 degrees at the exercies.

Rep. Mahon, who received his B. A. degree from H-SU in 1924, has served in the U. S. House of Representatives for 30 years. He is the No. 2 Democrat on the 50-member Appropriations Committee of the House and is chairman of the subcommittee on military appropriations.

He annually is author of the largest appropriation bill of the Congress, the one providing funds for America's armed forces. He also is extremely active in all phases of agricultural legislation in the House of Representatives.

He was the first representative elected in the 19th Congressional District when it was created in 1934 and has been only representative to serve the district. The district consists of Andrews, Bailey, Borden, Crosby, Dawson, Dickens, Floyd, Gaines, Garza Hale, Hockley, Howard, Lamb, Lubbock, Lynn, Martin, Mitchell Terry and Yoakum counties.

Born Sept. 22, 1900, near Homer, La., Mahon graduated from Loraine High School in 1918. Shortly afterward, when he enrolled in Hardin-Simmons (then Simmons College), he told college president J. D. Sandefer hat his gaol was to become a member of Congress.

Encouraged by the Simmons president, he worked his way through college and after receiving his Bachelor of Arts degree went on to the University of Texas Law School where he received law degree in 1925.

He was elected county attorney of the 32nd Judicial District and served three terms.

When the 19th Congressional District was established in 1934, he seized the opportunity to attain his gaol. He won the election and has held the post ever since.

CONVERSATION CORNER

THINGS you might as well be glad about 'cause there's not one single thing you can do about include such sand storm spectaculars as showed up Monday.

Who left the back door open so March could come back visiting in April without invitation?

Oh well. If you can't be tickled, you might as well be glad . . . be glad when the sand blow is over and the newly green trees stand tall and still again.

BE GLAD, while we're at it, that First Primtry comes Saturday, and that after that we can go on fighting in peace in Texas.

Read somewhere or other that Don Yarbrough, candidate for Governor, promised a visiting newspaper woman that he intends "to end the Civil War in Texas," when elected.

Now that's quite a promise. The young candidate wasn't referring to Civil Rights war. He meant CIVIL WAR. And he's a relatively young man to be so ambitious, 100 years after the shooting stopped.

ALL TRUE red, white and blue Americans still like to fight that war—no matter what part of the country they hail from.

This plan for ending the Yankee—Rebel fight sounds like a natural born joy killer's experiment.

Legislating against the Civil War here in 1964 falls into the class with making it against the law of argue with your own legally wed wife. Or maybe a sin punishable by fine for us Texans to keep dropping all the letters "G and R" and quit "Goin' through the dooah to the second flooah."

NEXT thing you know some candidate will be promising to do away with such Southern delicacies as blackeyed peas, cornbread and the whole land of cotton.

None of it is too likely to come to pass so long as Yarbrough faces a man like Governor John Connally, a giant and a gentleman, at the polls.

It's a thousand wonders some candidate hasn't come out promising to abolish the battle between the sexes. Nobody has, so far. For that your can be glad.

It's about the only thing nobody has promised to see about . . . if, as and when elected.

CCITY wears the bright hunting Welcome signs and the flags of Tumbleweed Festival, coming up next week end, already yet.

So be glad when you drive by City National Bank. It looks particularly festive.

Office visitors, talking everything from Festival to the Sunday Art Show here in Civic House have been tall, always pleasant George Womack . . . Fred Marberry . . . Freddie Guitar (Mrs. Don) . . . Elmer Martin . . . and Darris Egger, all at one and the same time!

BRIEF ENCOUNTERS: met for the first time Mrs. B. J. Riley of 935 Marshall St. . . . Also pretty blond, Mrs. J. L. Harder, 1535 Watson, wife of a Sun Oil man and mother of David.

Ditto Mrs. Larry Kinard of Tesco Village . . . and the wife of CHS Principal Floyd Morris . . . plus Mrs. Travis Toland . . . all pretty gals.

Saw again Jim and Odessa Wood . . . The Brooks Teagues . . . B. D. Mason . . . Louella Crockett (Mrs. W. B. Jr.) . . . and two Bobs—Carver and Reily, by name.

OTHER Seen Latelys included Addie Ruth McKay, dark haired wife of Fred, mother of Jerry and David . . . Nice Larry Damborsky, CHS athlete and pitcher for the Wolves . . . Tex and Terry Keel lunching together . . . Buddy Heftenberger, Texas Highway Patrolman, having coffee with two visiting patrolmen.

Saw, too, the John Drummonds and son John Paul . . . The Merle Brocketts . . . Jackie (Mrs. Art) Dibble.

Mrs. Dee Bassham, looking trim and cool in a pretty cotton frock, came in to say that 250 people came to the Renderbrook reception, last Sunday, sand or no sand. And that down by the spring the air was cool and clear, so they moved the big reception outside.

HEAR TELL that the Chorlatetts, CHS choir, had the biggest crowd of their history when they staged that concert and charged admission for the first time in their lives.

That proves, maybe another funny thing about human nature. Do people value more that which cost them money?

The best things in life may be free, as the little song goes. But sometimes the things most cherished seem so because they've prove costly.

What else makes a diamond, say, lovlier than a crystal bead? Or gold table service finer than stainless steel?

Be Glad, anyhow, that it still doesn't cost a penny for things like an unexpected "thank you."

To Mrs. Joe Armstrong, this week goes a "thank you" for a surprise call of graciousness, dear to the heart of anybody who ever wrote a twice-weekly column.

Editorially Speaking

The Record unhesitatingly offers its heartiest endorsement to Governor Connally in his Campaign for re-election.

His record of service to Texas and the Democractic Party is outstaning with exceptional foresight, leadership, integrity and progress.

Infact, his edministration as governor has been so dedicated and effective that John Connally is the only real gubernatirial candidate to be considered in Saturday's voting.

John Connally still bears the physical scars of the assasin's bullets that last November murdered President John F. Kennendy and critically wounded the governor. His successful, but slow recovery from this infamous attack has required that he save his strength for offical duties instead of conducting the usual poltical campaign.

But the governor needs no special re-election campaign. His record of service speaks eloquently and loudly on his behalf.

That's because John Connally, during his first term as governor, has kept faith with the people and carried out his original campaign promises in splendid manner.

He has led this Lone Star state in an unprecedented industrial growth.

He wisely has led our state toward advancement in higher education and technical research.

He has awakened statewide interest to provide the tools for vigorous development of the tourist industry whin our state.

He has institutea an expansion of vocational education programs to equip our people for new skills required in modern industry.

His recommendations to the Texas Legislature resulted in the Texas '65' Health Insurance Plan for assist in providing lower-cost medical insurance for our senior citizens and in modernizing as well as expanding the public welfare program.

There are many more factural examples of this remarkable record of service during the first 15 months of John Connally's term as governor.

All in all, they join together in link of achievements that point to a new economic and cultural growth for Texas with a new atmosphere of opportunity for every Texan.

John Connally's record of governor is a record of performance that will win for him a great majority Saturday in the Democratic Primary and forge the foundation for re-election in the General Election next November.

Exceptional Service

Temple Dixon -- Capable for Legislature

Capable, trustworthy representation in the Texas House of Representative is important to Mitchell County citizens.

Best way to assure his type representation is by voting Saturday in the Democratic Party Primary for Temple Dixon, condidate from the 80th District of Texas.

There is no candidate asking re-election to the legislature from the 80th District. The incumbent, Max Catriker, is seeking election to U. S. Congress, and the leading candidate on Saturday's ballot is certain to be your next state representative.

This fact makes it even more important that your vote Saturday is cast for the best quailfied on Democratic ballot.

Dickson, although a resident of Sweetwater, is well-known in Colirado City and thoroughout Mitchell County. He is steeped in the tradition of public service—his father, the late Temple Dickson, having service as state representative from Mitchell, Nolan and Fisher counties, his grandfather having careers as district judge and physician.

His duties as a practicing attorney have gained for him a level of respect among lawyers and judges throughout this area. His working leadership within the Democratic Party for many years has proved valuable, loyal to the welfare of our dictrict and our state.

But Temple Dickson offers more than this as a candidate for the state legislature.

He offers a practical, responsible legislative program in water and soil conservation, continued development of our rural areas and small towns, support for Governar John Connally's program to make Texas Public School System second to none in our nation, renewed vigor in meeting the problems of our senior citizens, special attention on to the further development of projects for alleviating juvenile deliquency and developing the vocational skills of those youths who do not advance into higher education.

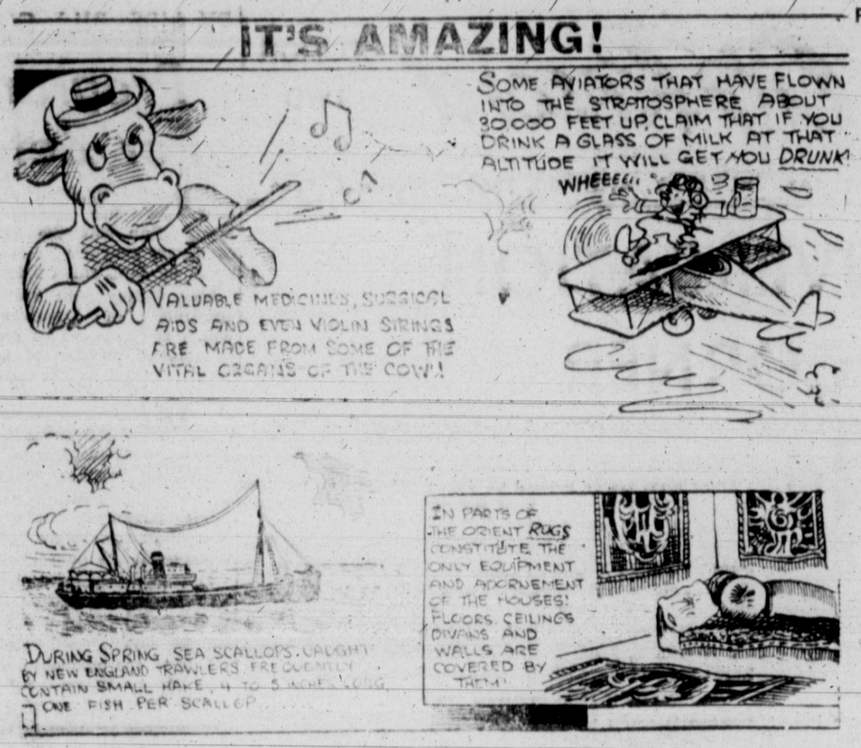

With this program, Temple Dickson has pledged representation for a government, although progressive and on the move for greater economic advancement, that will be responsible financially.

One of Dickson's finest assest is his businessman-lawyer knowledge of his community, a first-hand knowledge that gives him clear insight for the needs of his district.

His education, with two formal degrees, includes studies in government at both the University of Texas and American University, Washington, D. C.

He is area chairman of Texas Youth Conference, a state director of the Texas Law Enforcement Foundation, and a former employe of the U. S. Congress and Texas Senate.

And, thus, the Colorado City Record gives its heartiest endorsement to Temple Dickson for State Representative, 80th District, on the basis of his training capability, practical platform and dedication to the best interests of the folks here in this West Texas area.

An Extra Weekend's Hunting May Be Added Deer Season

Texas deer hunters may get an extra weekend of shooting this fall, if official action being contemplated is carried through.

Will Odom, Chairman of the State Parks and Wildlife Commission, said here Wednesday that the three Commissioners are currently giving study to the advisability of advancing the opening of deer seasons to November 14 in certain counties under regulatory authority where the season has traditionally opened November 16.

If approved by the Commission, the new date would provide an extra Saturday and Sunday at the start of the season. The presently scheduled opening is on a Monday.

Odom said that the proposed advanced opening date will be presented at a series of public regulatory hearings scheduled in counties throughout the State during June. Reaction from the meetings will be evaluated by the Commission at its regular quarterly meeting in July, he said, where a final decision on the action will be reached.

"It is the thinking of the Commissioners that opening of the deer season on the weekend of November 14, rather than the following Monday as now scheduled, would provide better hunting opportunity for thousands of Texans," Odom explained. "The Saturday and Sunday will enable many fathers on hunts the first days of the season without interrupting school schedules, as well as enable many workers to take part in opening of the season who would not be able to do so on a Monday."

Odom pointed out that most predictions are for a substantially increased deer population this fall.

Texas' most famous winter visitors the majestic whooping cranes have left on their 2,500 miles mirgration to the far north.

But the influence of the giant white birds on the public interest still prevails, all because of volunteer efforts to perpetuate their species.

This concerns the move, not too subtle, to mate a captive whooper named Rosie, star attraction of the San Antonio Zoo, with another whooper in the New Orleans Zoo.

Names in both instances are tentative because once before a whooper called Helen or something turned out to be Jake or such. In other words, keepers are not too certain about the present planned courtship.

But they have a sizeable management conquest to justify their efforts. A pair of whoopers, named Crip and Josephine, have raised a family of four young in the New Orleans Zoo.

Whatever happens now is up to Rosie who got a jet plane ride from San Antonio to New Orleans.

Extraordinary moves to help the inert whoopers help themselves were moved indoors after an abortive attempt about fifteen years ago to start a family on the Aransas National Wildlife Refuge on the Gulf Coast, ancestral wintering grounds of the whoopers. One whooper did lay an egg. And it hatched. The newcomer was named Rusty. But for one day only because a varmint invaded the "raid-proof enclosure" and consumed the rare specimen.

The main flock of whoopers, which numbered 33 until one was found mysterlously deceased last winter, already has departed for the Great Slave Lake area near the Arctic Circle. There, under watchful eyes of Canadian provincial authorities, the big birds have averaged a hatch of three to four young in recent summers.

Spring Clean-Up Week, observed in many communities the length and breadth of the land for 50 years, is in full sway here in Haskell.

And if you haven't caught onto the spirit of the season yet, will you? It's a healthy occupation, this cleaning up, and it kind of cleans the cobwebs out of one's mind, too.

It's very easy to get the urge. Just drive headlong into the rubble that needs your attention in the attic, basement, or storage areas, and fight your way out of it. Don't get nostalgic, and ruminate and fondle the dusty, musty, accumulation that is there. You know what you can do without, you old string-saver, so make way for more that might meet your eye to clutch to your bosom in the future.

This is a fine time to get rid of old newspapers and magazines, old broken down furniture you don't intend to repair, old clothes and other articles that constitute de finite fire hazards.

In addition, let's police up the premises, helping to give Haskel in totot a a "facial," removing litter from our backyards, vacant lots, alleys and streets, parks and playgrounds, and downtown exterior areas.

Let's all spruce up and clean up to provide Haskell that cleancut, healthy, radiant look as a community. And see if we can get us a FIve S rating when the Clean-Up Week is complete.

Yessirree, 5 S stature. That's our goal.

The Democratic and Republican primary elections will be coming up sooner than you might think. Voting will be held in both party primaries this Saturday, May 2. Absentee voting has been heavy, and looks as though we might be in for a pretty hot race.

Many state races will be contested in both primaries and there should be plenty of fireworks for all.

After boasting of his prowess as a marksman the hunter took aim on a long duck overhead. "Watch this," he commanded his listeners. He fired and the bird flew on. "My friends," he said, with awe, "you are viewing a miracel. There flies a dead duck."

That man, we would say, is a politician.

Leukemia and Hope

Leukemia is a form of cancer that strikes fear in all of us. This is understandable. It is a fatal disease; it brings heartbreak to parents whose child is strickenby it and to families of adult victims. And leukemia is increasing, especially among older people.

Against this dark side is a bright side. This is the new and hopeful side. The hopeful side is very real. The course of leukemia has been slowed, even halted for a time. It has brought months and even years of happy, useful life to children and adults alike.

This is the results of research—the finding of new drugs and new methods of treatment. All of this has happened since the end of World War II when scientists began to tackle the cancer problem in earnest.

The gains have been so important that many scientists now believe that "time is running out" on leukemia. They believe that cures will be found for leukemia sooner than for any other cancer. Scientists consider that this may happen in the foreseeable future. All of this because science has probed deeply into the disease.

Some of the things scientists want to know now are: Do viruses cause human leukemia? They have caused leukemia in animals. If viruses cause leukemia in humans, as many believe, can a vaccine be developed against it as was the case with polio? A vaccine that will prevent leukemia in animals has been found. If viruses are found to cause human leukemia and a vaccine is developed against it, then it may be possible to bring all cancers under control.

Based on the hope that the answers to these questions are possible, the American Cancer Society is supporting many scientists in many institutions charged only with finding these and other answers to leukemia. Currently the Society is investing over $2,000,000 on leukemia-related research.

Remember this when an American Cancer Society volunteer calls for a contribution. Scientists can move ahead only as fast as funds are made availible.

AGRICULTURE IN TEXAS

Farm Accidents Are on the Rise

A new crop year is underway in Texas. With it comes the increased danger of crippling accidents on the farm.

It is a paradox that although the farm population is on the decrease, injuries and deaths from farm accident are on the rise. This is partly becuse of the increasing average age of the people of farms, according to a recent study.

The annual mortality from farm accidents is estimated at from 60 o 70 per 100,000 farm population. It is an alarming fact that fully one-third of our farm population suffers accidents of some type each year. Some of them are of monir nature with no losses involved, however. But lost-time injuries involved about 19 percent of the farm population and this year about three percent of our farm people will suffer permanent disabilities in accidents.

Rural environments are naturally more hazardous than urban life. Farms are relatively isolated with little supervision of work and not much opportunity for an injured person to obtain first aid promptly. Farm-to-market highways are often hazardous and, though there is less traffic, even on the most improved rural highways it is less controlled than on urban streets.

The high rate of accidents to farm people is also related to the pattern of farm work, which is more of a family job running more nearly around the clock than the job of the wage earner in town.

Accidents take a heavy toll among our farm youth, also. For the United States more than half of the annual mortality to young people between the ages of 15 to 24 is due to accidents. The motor vehicle hazard exists for both farm and city youths but the young people

FARM BUREAU REPORTS

New Pants Fabric Good For Cotton

WACO—(Spl)— A remarkable research breakthrough in the 100% cotton mens and boys pants market was announced at the quarterly meeting of the Texas Farm Bureau board of directors recently in Waco by TFB leaders who are members of the Founders' Committee of the Cotton Producers Institute.

TFB President C. H. DeVaney of Waco and Directors H. L. King of Brownfield and J. H. West of Bishop told the board of development through the grower-financed research program that led to the new process which eliminates ironing.

The commercial application of the process that retains a permanent crease while shedding wrinkles has been made by a California firm and licensed to one of the nation's leading pants manufacturers, Levi Strauss Company.

The manufacturer guarantees them to have permanent creases and to require no ironing.

Leading department stores in Texas are currently receiving shipments and several already have the STA-PREST slack on sale. Outstanding consumer acceptance, and record sales are being reported.

A leading Lubbock department store executive stated: "The new development is a major advance over competing wash and wear fabrics now on the market and we are highly pleased on both the sale potential of these trousers as well as its significance to our cotton based economy. In our own quality tests before purchasing these slacks, we were unable to remove the crease, even by holding it under a steam press."

H. L. King, Chairman of TFB Field Corps Committee said that "The men and boys pants market is cotton's largest in volume. Yet it has been under severe threat from synthetic fibers and losses have occurred in recent years. This gives us a new competitive advantage and means that we will be producing and selling many

The Power Companies: Free Enterprise?

Congressman Al Ullman of Oregon, a strong supporter of REA and the rural electrification program, denounced the "Machiavellian activities of the private power combine" in a statement that appears in the April 7 edition of the "Congressional Record."

Ullman referred to the fact that the Idaho Power Co. — which he described as an "important element of the so-called investor-owned utilities" — is doing everything it can "to stir up uninformed opposition to the extension of the Bonneville Power Administration into southwestern Idaho and southeastern Oregon."

Noting that the IOU's are "very fond of pointing to themselves as great examples of free enterprise," the Oregon legislator inserted in the "Record" an article "which points out the real position of private power companies in comparison to true free enterprise."

The article, which appeared in the Oregon "Grange Bulletin" early this month, was written by Walter Wells of the Oregon State group.

Congressman Ullman told House colleagues that Mr. Wells' statement "points out the real position of private power companies in comparison to true free enterprise."

Supporters of consumer-owned electric systems will be interested in the points made in the Oregon "Grange Bulletin" article, which is reproduced below, in part:

"Private power companies spend millions of dollars of the ratepayers' money advertising in local papers and national magazines to convince the reading public that they have a free enterprise, business-managed, taxpaying operation.

"Actually they have the special privilege of an exclusive franchise and monopoly granted by the city and the state and have no competition at all in most areas they serve.

"This, in effect, is a very valuable subsidy they enjoy because the state law allows them to set rates high enough to earn 6 percent on their investment and almost all money they have ever put into the system is still on the books for rate-making, even the money spent for lines and equipment now obsolete and no longer in use.

"Private power companies almost never reduce their indebtedness and their electric consumers will always be paying rates based on this high value; yet they will never have any measure of control and will always have to buy from an exclusive monopoly.

"Is this free enterprise? No.

"Public power systems require and have the best business management, because they have lower rates, and out of their income they pay interest on their investments, pay Bonneville or some other source for their electric energy.

"They hire their employees from the same union as does the private power company and they pay the same wages.

"Each year they pay on their bonded indebtedness, and as the debt is paid off, lower rates for electricity will follow since public power systems are in business not to make a profit but to serve their electric users at the lowest possible rates.

"Public power, co-ops and public utility departments are owned by the members and supervised by a manager and a board of directors elected by the people. In this way, the people have full control over their systems. Public utility departments pay taxes the same as private power companies do.

"Some co-ops, because of the state law under which they work, do pay less taxes; yet the savings in rates paid by the consumers many times over offset this difference. Anyway, taxes paid by private or public power systems is money taken away from the ratepayers' pockets and is not new money brought into the area.

"All public power systems should advertise more to let the public know the great benefit derived where the people own the systems serving themselves."

bales of cotton that would not have been possible otherwise.

The research project which led to the new development was financed by cotton growers who voluntarily invested $1.00 per bale in the self-help program, and was conducted at the Harris Research Laboratory in Washington. According to J. H. West, Campus Area Chairman of the Institute, projects along this line are being continued in order to further improve the process and apply it to the 230,000 bales men's dress suit market.

A total of $800,000.00 is being invested by cotton producers in twenty-one institute research projects. Warm cotton fabrics suitable for the winter clothing market and fabrics with improved luster for the women's dress, drapery and upholstery market, all large cotton market potentials, are also targets of CPI research.

An additional $1,800,000.00 from the 2.6 million dollar program, now in its second year, is being invested in nation-wide advertising for cotton.

President DeVaney emphasized that the breakthrough in the trousers market is just one example of what growers can do to help themselves through their own research and promotion efforts.

ACCIDENTS

in rural areas are exposed to the additional hazards of farm machinery.

The tragedy is that perhaps 80 percent of our farm accidents resulted from carelessness or failure to deal with hazards safely. But in that tragedy is the seed of hope, for more caution would cut the rate. Many of the accidents are avoidable.

Farm accidents are at their peak in June, July and August the most active period of crop production and harvest. At this time, the farmer works long hours, becomes tired and perhaps a little careless.

Farmers are urged to inspect their premises for hazards especially in the home and around the outbuildings. Make repairs now. Inspect and get machinery in good running order. Above all avoid unnecessary risks and don't try to "cut corners" in order to save time during busy season A minor slip can result in a major accident.
