Aged Man And Wife Hike Most Of Way From Dallas To Baton Rouge; Hated To Ask For Ride

(By The United Press)

BATON ROUGE, La., Sept. 28—An 82-year-old Florida fisherman and his faithful 80-year-old wife took a much needed rest here today after walking most of the 400 miles from Dallas, Tex., because they were too embarrassed to ask for rides.

Mr. and Mrs. George Hunter are on their way home to Apalachicola, Fla., after an unsuccessful trip to the Dallas Veterans' hospital seeking an abdominal operation for the aged man.

The elderly couple ran out of money at Dallas and started hitch-hiking home a month ago. But they weren't "forward enough" to be successful hitch-hikers, so they walked nearly all the way to Baton Rouge.

"We've never asked for anything in our lives," Hunter said, "and we couldn't be starting it this late. So we just took rides when people stopped and offered them."

Very few motorists stopped. And some of those who did merely told the couple that they were "too old to be out on the highway" and then drove on, Hunter said.

Started With $9

The couple said they had only $9 left when they left Dallas, and they spent that for food on the way. They had 30 cents when they arrived here.

They carried no luggage and had only the clothes they wore. Hunter was clad in a worn blue shirt and blue trousers, and his wife wore a plain brown cotton dress.

Hunter's rubber boots were badly worn and his slender wife's tennis shoes were about gone. But the couple appeared to be in Amazingly good physical shape after their strenuous trek.

Hunter, a short, compactly built man with a shock of white hair, seemed spry and healthy despite the abdominal ailment for

Tech Is Promoting Student Union Building

Expansion Of Offices To Be Started Soon

Cooperation Asked On Point System Allowing 18 Cuts

By KENNETH MAY
Journal Staff Writer

Impetus to the movement for a student union building at Texas Technological college was given this morning in announcements by college and student officials in a convacation attended by approximately 1,500 students in the college gymnasium.

Although the building remains a future possibility, a fund has been started through a recently announced plan whereby the student council will receive all proceeds from candy and bottle drink concessions on the campus during the school year. Through that and other sources, the council hopes to have $20,000 in its student union building fund by end of the school year. Although the plan previously had been publicized, today's announcement by Curtis Sterling, student president, was the first made to the student body.

Construction To Start

Dr. D. M. Wiggins, president of the college, said the college board of directors in a meeting Oct. 14 would consider possibility of some profits from the Tech Book store going into the student union building fund.

The president said construction of two wings to the administration building should begin immediately and that was part of a building program which "quite soon" would include construction of two wings to the engineering building and a new home economics building and later construction of science and music buildings.

The student president and Dr. Wiggins and Dr. E. N. Jones, vice president of the college mentioned the point system being used this year at Texas Tech. Sterling urged students not to abuse the system, which allows 18 cuts per semester without penalties.

Projects Underway

Dr. Jones described the system as an effort to let the students manage themselves and expressed hopes they would cooperate this year so the cut system might become a permanent policy. Dr. Wiggins said, "If you cheat, you cheat yourself." Students should nont miss classes simply because they have not used all their allowable cuts, he said.

Sterling asked students to volunteer to help in projects in which they particularly are in-

Threat Of Rail Walkout Next Month Raised

Armed Guards Are Used To Protect Non-Union Miners

(By The Associated Press)

Another group of non-union miners returned to the coal pits of western Pennsylvania today while showdowns neared in disputes involving steel and auto workers.

Mine operators said about 250 diggers joined 1,100 others who went back to work yesterday

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 28 (AP) — United States Steel corporation today proposed a 10-cent hourly pension and insurance program to avert a nation-wide strike but the CIO United Steelworkers at the same time charged industry is trying to force a walkout.

armed with rifles and shotguns in defiance of striking United Mine Workers.

State police reported there were no signs of pickets early today but armed guards continued to patrol roads leading to mines operating with non-union diggers. Many of the miners continued to carry arms for protection.

New Offer Hinted

In the steel dispute, negotiations were still underway at Pittsburgh amid widespread reports that the industry has come out with a new settlement offer. Spokesmen for both the union and the steel industry declined to comment on varied rumors.

In Detroit, negotiators were still working to effect a contract that would head off a strike of Ford Motor Co., workers set for midnight.

There also was a new strike threat—a nationwide walkout of railway firemen and enginemen next month in protest of the rejection of a union demand for an extra fireman on diesel engines.

Reports No Violence

In the coal dispute John L. Lewis' 480,000 United Mine Workers remained idle for the 10th day while an estimated 22,000 independent and non-union miners continued to dig coal. There were reports of violence from Pennsylvania, Ohio, Utah and Illinois.

Meanwhile, with no indication of an early end of the walkout, UMW officials planned to meet today with southern operators at Bluefield, W. Va. Lewis may go to White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., tomorrow for resumption of contract talks with northern and western operators.

Try Again Today

Negotiators in the steel dispute were going to try again today to reach settlement on the pension issue. The strike deadline is mid-

FLIGHT MADE OVER ARIZONA

Navy Aviation Veterans Are Near Air Endurance Record

(By The Associated Press)

YUMA, Ariz., Sept. 28—A pair of Navy aviation veterans who now fly only as a hobby are rapidly approaching a new world's endurance flight mark for light planes.

Thwarted twice in their attempt to stay aloft an extended time, Woody Jongeward and Bob Woodhouse now have only a week left before hitting the 1,008-hour mark. That's the record set last spring at Fullerton, Calif., by Bill Barris and Dick Riedel.

(Although airplane endurance records aren't officially recognized by the National Aeronautics association, the Barris-Riedel mark is the accepted unofficial record for light planes).

Already the two Yuma businessmen have eclipsed the old record of 726 hours that stood until this year.

The 31-year-old Jongeward — complete given name Woodrow Pershing—and his 26-year-old flying buddy, planned their endurance try before the Californians set their mark. But the first attempt ended after less than four days and the second was over after 155 hours due to engine failure.

Stay Close To Home

Unlike Barris and Riedel who flew cross country during their record attempt, the two Yuma aviators are sticking close to home.

LABOR GOVERNMENT ASSAILED

Churchill Demands General Election

(By The United Press)

LONDON, Sept. 28 — Winston Churchill in a slashing attack on the labor government asked today for an early general election in this "serious and strange" hour of Britain's history.

The wartime prime minister and leader of the conservative opposition spoke in Commons on the second day of an extraordinary session to debate devaluation.

Churchill, who was sitting in the speakers gallery only one seat from Prime Minister Clement Attlee, was cheered as he rose to speak.

Situation Is Serious

"We are most of us agreed that it is high time for another parliament," he said. "All our difficulties will have a better chance of being solved in a new House of Commons."

Asserting that Britain has reached a point "in our post-war story and fortune which is both serious and strange," he asked for a new election and added:

"This election overlays all our domestic affairs, and will be fought out with more fundamental divergence over a part of our society than has been known in our lifetime.

"Over all three looms the atom bomb, which the Russians have got before the British, though happily not before the Americans.

"If you take three factors together, the financial crisis, the party conflict and the atomic bomb, it would be generally agreed that the hour is grave."

Vote Is Asked

General elections are scheduled for next summer, the end of the normal five-year term since the laborites won a landslide victory just after the end of the war in

Fire Fighters Aided By Wind

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif., Sept. 28. (AP)—Slackened winds are aiding crews battling in 8000-acre fire in the San Bernardino mountains, 15 miles northwest of here.

Dormant and virtually controlled along the southern front where it was touched off by lightning a week ago, the fire is advancing slowly on the east front. There it is moving into rugged, nearly inaccessible terrain 8000 feet high. Large trees are being attacked.

Norman J. Farrell, area supervisor of the U. S. Forest Service, reports a heavy loss of game and the destruction of considerable acreage of sugar pine.

He added that the loss of ground cover creates a critical flood menace.

A backfire late yesterday virtually ended any threat to the popular Glenn ranch resort area. Lack of wind abated danger to the Stockton flat area.

Some 600 men are combatting the flames, with fresh crews to be added today.

Four Slightly Hurt In Auto Collision

Four persons were shaken, and three of them were taken by two Rix ambulances to St. Mary's hospital, after a collision of automobiles at 11:45 a. m. at Thirty-fourth and Ave. Q, but no victim remained in the hospital after examination.

R. F. Rackler, 49, a farmer of Ropesville route 1 was operator of one of the cars. The other was driven by Dewey Thornton, 21, of Lubbock route 6. Also in Thornton's car, which police said was struck by that driven by Rackler, were Roy Snyder, 25, and G. W. Green, 26, both of Doak hall, Texas Tech.

All were taken to the hospital except Green.

L. W. Fristoe, police patrolman who investigated, gave Rackler a ticket to appear in corporation court on a charge that he did not stop at a stop sign. Thornton was given a ticket charging he was exceeding the lawful speed limit.

Hungarian Reds Are Said Mining Border

VIENNA, Sept. 28. (AP)—Austria claims that Hungary's Communist government is mining the Austro-Hungarian border to stop the escape of Hungarians to the west.

Austria protested yesterday her neighbors are putting out so many mines that the Austrians are getting hurt.

Since June 30, two persons have been killed and four injured by mines on the border.

Tidelands Suit Hearing Asked

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28. (AP)—The government has asked the Supreme Court to set the Justice department's suit for Texas tidelands for early argument.

It asked the court to give judgment immediately in its case against Louisiana.

The requests were in motions filed with the clerk of the Supreme Court yesterday. In them the Justice department charged that Texas and Louisiana were trying to delay disposition of its suits to fix ownership of the oil rich lands off their coasts.

Session Next Monday

Attorney General McGrath and Solicitor General Philip P. Perlman cited documents presented to the court recently by the two states.

The court convenes next Monday after its summer vacation.

The department's new motion says Louisiana has again by a motion challenged jurisdiction of the court and attempted "to raise other objections of an insubstantial character, calculated to delay the adjudication of this case on the merits."

McGrath's motion cited Texas' recent request for an extension of time in which to answer the government suit.

"We submit that such delaying tactics should not prevail," McGrath said. "While Texas may

Fate Of Tokyo Rose In Doubt

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 28. (AP)—Six silent men and six silent women try once more today to decide whether Tokyo Rose is guilty of treason for her wartime radio broadcasts from Japan.

They reported late last night, 34 hours and 30 minutes after they had received the case, that they were unable to agree unanimously on a verdict.

Judge Michael J. Roche urged them to "reconsider and reexamine all the evidence," as leisurely as they liked, to prevent if possible a second long and expensive trial. This trial is in its 12th week.

They had begun deliberating the case against the American-born defendant, Iva Toguri D'Aquino, at 11:44 a. m. (2:14 p. m. EST) Monday.

The trial "has been a long and expensive one for both the prosecution and the defense," Judge Roche told them.

"If you fail to agree on a verdict," he continued, "the case is left open and undecided; it must be disposed of some time.

Crowd Still Lingers

"You may be as leisurely in your deliberations as the occasion shall require . . ."

The crowd which has filled the courtroom throughout the long trial lingered last night. Every seat was filled. Corridor arguments over Mrs. D'Aquino's guilt or innocence raged all evening.

Iva herself was blank-faced as Deputy Marshal Herbert Cole, his arm about her shoulders, supported her on her way back to her cell for the night.

Fair, Cool Weather Reported Over Texas

(By The Associated Press)

The Texas weather was something to enjoy today—fair and cool over most of the state.

Early morning temperatures ranged in the low 50's in the northwest to the middle 70's on the upper coast. Dalhart had the lowest reading, 51 degrees.

No overnight rain was reported.

Yesterday's maximum temperatures ranged from 93 degrees at Victoria to 73 at Guadalupe Pass.

The weatherman said there would be little change in the weather during the next 24 hours. It will be a little cooler in the Panhandle and the extreme north portion tonight.

PRODUCTION SOARS, PRICES DROP

Warning On Farm Surpluses Sounded

(By The Associated Press)

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 28—Secretary of Agriculture Brannan said today unless the nation solves the problem of farm surpluses we may "re-enact the tragedy of another farm-led depression."

Noting that farm production is soaring while the prices farmers receive are dropping, the cabinet officer declared that "failure to live with our abundance could wreck our world leadership."

In a speech prepared for the annual meeting of the National Association of Commissioners, Secretaries and Directors of agriculture, Brannan said:

"The United States is the only nation, at midstream in the 20th century, that is faced with the challenge of abundance.

Better Marketing Needed

"We must learn to live with it if we are to safeguard the nation from unemployment and depression."

Emphasizing the need for better marketing, Brannan said the new price support program he has recommended to Congress "could help us use our abundance to build our markets." Congress has shown no disposition to enact it.

Brannan said the inability of the domestic market to use all of the country's production is "again becoming the dominant and decisive factor in consumption, farm prices, and farm income." This is one of

Tough Guy Of Films Ousted At Night Spot

NEW YORK, Sept. 28. (AP) The swank El Morocco night club posted a "keep out" sign for film tough guy Humphrey Bogart today after two pretty girls got pushed around in a fracas involving Bogey and two toy pandas, a modern version of the teddy bear.

This sounds confusing. It is. All that's really clear is that Bogart and a waggish pal, Bill Seeman, showed up at El Morocco late at night—not with their wives but with the pandas.

"Meet our girl friends," they announced.

All went well until fashion model Robin Roberts playfully picked up one of the pandas. Robin got shoved and wound up on the club's thick carpet.

Glamor girl Peggy Rabe also made a pass at a panda. She got shoved, too. Her escort, Johnny Jelke, didn't

Grocery Store Is Burglarized

C. D. Smitherman's grocery, at 1802 Avenue D, was burglarized Tuesday night or early today, police investigators were informed.

Ten cartons of cigarets, almost two cartons of chewing gum and 40 or 50 pennies were taken, Smitherman said.

Entrance was through a window, the screen over which was split.

The sheriff's department said Juan Costilla, 27, of Levelland had been arrested there and brought by Razz Renfrow, a Texas ranger, to county jail here. He will be held for the Rock Springs sheriff's department on a burglary charge.

Two Cars Stolen

Two automobiles, one at Brownfield, were reported stolen. C. C. Blackard of 1212 Eighteenth told police his black 1939 Ford sedan, license AU 6107, was stolen from downtown Lubbock. The sheriff's office at Brownfield said a black 1942 Ford sedan, license AU 8061, had been stolen there.

A radio consigned from Los Angeles to Sears Roebuck & Co. here was reported stolen from a warehouse at 1803 Ave. G. R. E. Stroup of the Fort Worth & Denver City Railway Co. made the complaint.

John Guthrie of 1306 Twenty-eighth complained that hub caps valued at $5 had been stolen from his car at the fairgrounds.

Cousin Of King George VI Announces November Wedding

Another Mrs. Simpson Of America To Marry A Member Of England's Royal Family Circle

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Sept. 28. Socialites on both sides of the Atlantic gossiped today of the announcement that a second American Mrs. Simpson would marry into the British royal court circle.

The Marquess of Milford Haven, handsome cousin of King George VI and one of Britain's most eligible bachelors, announced his engagement yesterday to Mrs. Romaine Dahlgren Pierce Simpson, a New York Park Avenue divorcee.

The Marquess, 30, who now makes his living selling heaters, said the wedding would be in Washington, D. C., probably in November.

Mrs. Simpson, an attractive 26-year-old piano student, was divorced in 1948 after two years of marriage to William A. Simpson, whose father was once president of Marshall Field and Co., Chicago department store.

The name of Milford Haven's fiancee recalled the romance of Mrs. Wallis Warfield Simpson 13 years ago when King Edward VIII—now the Duke of Windsor—gave up his throne to marry her. The two Mrs. Simpsons are not related.

Milford Haven's marriage to Mrs. Simpson will not rock the British empire in the way Edward's romance did. But it may cause some wounded hearts in London and New York society where the dashing young marquess was right in the front rank of sought-after bachelors.

The marquess, whose full name is David Michael Mountbatten, was a frequent dancing partner of Princess Margaret

Woman Who Formed Sentimental Alliance With Employer Years Ago Seeks Way Out

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I have read occasional articles about "office wives" but never anything in their favor. Is there nothing?

When an employer makes one feel that she is the most important woman in the world, when he devotes more time to her than to his family, takes her to dinner when they're supposed to be working, buys her gifts, etc., she is very apt to let other men mean too little to her. That is, until it is too late. Oh, much too late.

What is there for the woman, when she knows there is no chance of marriage? Even though my employer might wish a divorce—but I honestly think he does not,—there would be no grounds, for his wife doesn't even nag, yet we are quite sure she knows that we aren't always working. She never enters the office and is just barely polite nowadays, whereas we were very friendly once.

SHE LONGS FOR MAN OF HER OWN

AS I have my own apartment my family knows nothing of this, so I cannot go to them for advice. They think I simply don't care about men, when I would give the world to have one who really cared for me, and that I didn't have to share with someone else.

I am truly sorry that I let this develop and I suppose I should seek another place to work, but I know my employer would strongly object, as it would take a long time to train a replacement. Also I might not find such a remunerative job.

If this is real love, and Mack doesn't care for his wife any more, what should we do? Years have gone by and we have just drifted, but I can't take it much longer. Can you suggest any reading material that might get my thoughts into safer channels? — Signed—S. C.

SUCH FRIENDSHIPS WASTE THE SPIRIT

DEAR S. C.: More than 300 years ago St. Francis de Sales, then Bishop of Geneva, wrote in his native French on "Introduction To A Devout Life,"—with the charitable intent of helping persons who live in the world (not in cloisters, convents or monasteries) find true contentment in wholesome Godly behavior.

By happy chance a good translation of this profoundly wise, exquisitely sensitive and charming work of piety came to my attention some weeks ago; and as we say in the vernacular, its contents are as modern as the day after tomorrow. And it occurs to me that some of its chapters may give you light and strength for dealing with your special problem.

With compassionate good sense and delicacy of expression, yet also with great firmness of attitude, the author explores the very subject that worries you, namely, the problem of "dangerous friendship," as he calls it.

ADVICE, REMEDIES, PROPOSED BY SAINT

IN CHAPTER 18 he writes, "When these foolish friendships are maintained between persons of different sexes, without pretensions to marriage, they are called fond love—," after some pithy discussion he concludes, "They waste the spirit and ruin the reputation." And he warns there can be no compromise with such infamous bondage.

For example, in Chapter 21, dealing with advices and remedies against wrong friendships, he says: "An excellent remedy would be to withdraw yourself from the object (of wrong friendship). Change of place contributes very much to allay the pains of grief. . . But what must he do who cannot withdraw himself? Let him absolutely retrench all particular familiarity, all private conversation, amorous looks, smiles, and in general all sorts of communication and allurement—."

He adds, "I call upon everyone who has fallen into these wretched snares: cut them, break them, tear them. . . do not enter into any compromise with a love which is so contrary to the love of God . . . and doubt not but God will deliver you from those criminal passions provided you continue faithfully in good exercises." The Newman Press at Westminster, Md., offers a fine translation by Allan Ross, but other translations are also available, so take your choice.

Lectures Given Before Federated Study Clubs

MRS. J. W. WALKER

Reviews and lectures were presented at study club meetings Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. J. W. Walker of Plainview, outstanding club woman in this area, was guest speaker for Twentieth Century club, speaking on "Opportunities Unlimited." She emphasized the fact that the general federation of women's clubs is the most influential group of women in the world. The speaker encouraged women to take part in state and national politics, and while discussing politics, she gave pro and con arguments for the ten amendments to the Texas constitution which are to be voted on at the next election.

At present, Mrs. Walker is serving on the district and state federation boards and on the State Democratic Executive committee. She has attended three sessions of the United Nations.

The 18 members attending were hostesses to 30 guests for the program and tea which followed.

Mrs. H. F. Godeke presided and Mrs. James H. Goodman, program chairman, introduced the guest speaker. Members of the social committee, Mesdames W. O. Stevens, Roy Riddel and C. V. Hamilton, were in charge of the tea.

MRS. H. G. BIZZELL IS CLUB REVIEWER

The book, "Three O'Clock Dinner," was reviewed by Mrs. H. G. Bizzell for Sorosis club Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. E. L. Banks, 2202 Seventeenth.

PIN-WORMS GO! New Treatment Gets Real Results

Don't let your child suffer a single needless minute of distress with Pin-Worms. And it can happen. Medical experts report that an amazing number of children (and adults too) are victims of these ugly pests that live and grow inside the human body.

You should and can do something about Pin-Worms. A new, scientific treatment—Jayne's P-W Vermifuge—offers real relief. P-W contains a special, medically-approved ingredient that destroys Pin-Worms in the intestine and removes them from the body.

So watch for the warning signs of Pin-Worms in your family . . . fidgeting, nose picking and especially the nagging, irritating rectal itch. Then ask your druggist for P-W, the small, easy-to-take tablets perfected by the famous Jayne Co., specialists in worm remedies for over 100 years. Destroy those Pin-Worms . . . relieve that itch.

Just Remember: P-W ® for Pin-Worms!

Miss Smith Has Role In College Tradition

Miss Calleen Smith, daughter of John Lee Smith of Lubbock was a bridesmaid in the traditional New-Student-Old Student wedding held recently at Texas Wesleyan college, Fort Worth. The ceremony unites in bonds of friendship the old and new students of TWC.

Club Exes To Discuss Calendar Of Activity

Sub-Deb Alumnae association will meet Thursday at 7:30 p. m. with Mrs. Ernest L. Tarkenton, 2517 Thirty-fifth. Mrs. Jimmy Williams will be co-hostess.

Two main topics for the business meeting will be the election of new officers and the discussion of the calendar of activities of the organization for the coming year. Refreshments will be served.

First Baptist WMS Observes Prayer Week

"O Magic State," Week of Prayer theme song, was sung to open a program for First Baptist Women's Missionary society Tuesday afternoon at the church. The meditation was by Mrs. W. N. Noble.

Mrs. W. M. Peticolas spoke on "European Groups" and "Prejudices" and Mrs. Gerald Schantz discussed "The Rejected Star" and "Work Among Latin Americans." An offering was taken for state missions.

A duet, "Follow the Gleam," was sung by Mrs. J. P. Watt and Mrs. A. C. Bowden.

Similar programs will be presented by the WMS at 3:30 p.m. Thursday and Friday afternoons.

Memorial Tribute Is Paid Tuesday To Mrs. Ming

A memorial service for Mrs. F. Eric Ming was staged at a meeting of OES Freedom chapter Tuesday night at IOOF hall.

Conducting the hour were: Mrs. F. A. Kleinschmidt, worthy matron; Mrs. Mary Edwards, chaplain; Mrs. J. J. Modrall, soloist.

Mrs. Earl McClatchy was elected and installed as associate conductress for the remainder of the year, filling a vacancy caused by Mrs. Ming's death. Mrs. Raymond Waters was installed as Ruth for the remainder of the year. Mrs. J. R. Hamilton served as installing marshal.

A chili supper was served earlier in the evening with Mesdames McClatchy and Fred Holleman as hostesses.

ACE Chapter Talks Are On Summer European Trip

Three members of Lubbock chapter of Association of Childhood Education, who studied and traveled in Europe this summer, spoke at seated tea given for the Lubbock chapter Tuesday night at the Hilton hotel. Cottage, Dupree and Wilson schools were hostesses.

Mrs. Pearl Watson spoke on "International Relations"; Miss Evelyn Jones on "Children of Europe" and Miss Mildred Boone showed 100 colored slides she took in Europe.

Mrs. Josephine Ballenger, president, welcomed the old and new members and during a business meeting she was elected as chapter delegate to the Texas ACE Biennial meeting in San Antonio Oct. 21-22.

Mrs. T. J. Lovett sang "Autumn Serenade," "Yours Is My Heart Alone" and "Sympathy," accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Elois Elliott.

THREAT TO PEACE IS CHARGED

China And Russia Head For First United Nations Clash

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Sept. 28 (AP)—Nationalist China and Communist Russia headed for their first open clash in the United Nations today on charges that Russia was a threat to peace.

Conciliation moves were afoot in the old, nagging Greek-Balkans conflict and on the Communist menace to Korea.

But China carried to the assembly's 14-nation steering committee her demand that the whole 59-nation assembly weigh the Chinese charges filed against Russia.

Calm little T. F. Tsiang, the chief delegate of the Canton government to the United Nations, had a full file of charges to throw across the table at Russia but indicated he would hold up on specific details at the committee hearing.

Has U. S. Support

His insistence was to get it on the discussion schedule and he had, Chinese sources said, United States and British support for that maneuver. The United States and Britain generally take the stand that any question of wide interest should have a chance to be heard.

Opposing Tsiang in the battle of the huge land mass nations was red-faced, excitable Andrei Y. Vishinsky, Soviet Union foreign minister.

There were indications in advance that Vishinsky and his supporters would quote liberally from the recent U. S. State department report on China which pictured the shortcomings of Chinese Nationalist leaders in the Russian fight to keep the charges off the floor of the general assembly.

Tsiang said before the meeting that his country charged Russia with violating a friendship pact signed in August 1945 as well as U. N. charter provisions.

Tsiang did not describe the violations. He saved that for discussion if and when his charges reached the political committee.

But in the general debate on the assembly floor last week he accused Russia of directing the so far successful Chinese communist war that has driven his leaders back in China.

The Chinese delegate told newsmen frankly yesterday that he was trying to stop Russia with words. He did not indicate what punishment he was after. But, he said, "a moral and political judgment" by the United Nations would be valuable.

Hopes that this U. N. meeting would be known as the "peace assembly," proclaimed by assembly President Carlos P. Romulo last week sagged under these blows and under the open Yugoslav-Soviet fight going on in assembly halls.

Father Blakeslee Exchange Speaker

"Communism is losing ground in Western Europe," was the message Rev. William F. Blakeslee, pastor of St. Elizabeth's Catholic church, delivered to the Exchange club today at a luncheon meeting in Hotel Lubbock.

Father Blakeslee, who emphasized he was not an authority, said he based his conclusions on observations and conversations made during the summer when he made a six-week tour of six European countries.

He said his observations led him to believe that Italy was overpopulated. "Belgium is recovering the fastest, Ireland is the best fed and England is suffering the most," he added.

However, the Catholic priest pointed out that Western Europe is still "a long way from recovery."

Joe Manicapelli introduced Father Blakeslee and Mr. B. Hilburn, jr., presided.

Houston Theft Ring Cracked By Arrests

HOUSTON, Sept. 28. (U.P.)—Police said today they had broken up a theft ring that was active in the city's business district, and filed charges against four young men.

Held and charged with burglary and felony theft were Louis Kenneth Powell, 21, Billy J. Seelhurst, 22, Bobbie Russell, 31, and William Tom Follis, jr., 18, all of Houston.

The quartet was charged in burglaries at a feed store, two cafes and a supermarket.

Oil Title Case Before U. S. District Court

Arguments on a motion for summary judgment in the case of Standard Oil Co. of Texas versus Frank E. Bell, et al, suit for removal of cloud on title to ⅞ minerals under Section 441 and ¼ interest of the north half of Section 392, Block 97, H.&T.C. Railway survey, Scurry county, were being heard by Federal Judge Joseph B. Dooley in U. S. District court here today.

J. C. Hutchison, III, Houston attorney and member of the firm of Baker, Botts, Andrews & Parish, counsel for the plaintiff, spoke for approximately two hours in opening the arguments this morning. Jas. Shepherd, also of Houston, and Robert Turpin and Irby L. Dyer, members of the firm of Whitaker, Turpin, Kerr, Smith & Brooks of Midland, are other plaintiff's attorneys.

A battery of other lawyers represent defendants and cross-plaintiffs in the case. James H. Milam and Chas. C. Crenshaw of Crenshaw, Dupree & Milam, represent John Tweedy and his wife; G. H. Nelson and Geo. McCleskey represent one group of defendants and James Kimmel of Bradley, Key & Kimmel is representing another group.

One-fourth interest in the minerals of a section and half of Scurry county land is involved in the suit. There are five producing oil wells on the land at the present time.

Should the court act on the summary judgment motion, the case will probably end this afternoon, otherwise it will likely continue the remainder of the week.

Two Small Planes Missing In Mexico

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 28 (U.P.)—Two small planes were missing today in Yucatan and Durango states, the secretary of communications reported.

A two-passenger plane has been missing in Yucatan since late last week, and an Army plane on a rain-making mission in Durango is long over-due, the report said. Search parties were ordered to both areas.

Salt Mines Seen As Atom Bomb Shelters

DETROIT, Sept. 28. (AP)—Salt mines under the city of Detroit are being inspected for possible usefulness as air raid shelters in case of an atomic bomb attack.

The mines honeycomb the southwestern sector of the city. City planning commission officials are looking them over.

NOTE AND GUN FOUND ON MAN

Holdup Believed Averted By Arrest Of Dallas Resident

DALLAS, Sept. 28 (U.P.)—Police today arrested a 24-year-old man who apparently was on his way to commit a $1,000 holdup.

A cruising squad spotted the man and took him into custody because he fitted the description of a man wanted for a liquor store robbery Monday.

Searching him, officers found a bank check reading, "cash-me one thousand dollars." On the signature line there was the cryptic phrase: "I have a gun on you."

Revolver Is Found

A .38-caliber revolver also was found on the man, and after ten minutes questioning he told Capt. Will Fritz that he had been enroute to hold up an A&P grocery (on Forrest Ave.).

The manager of Buck & Ruck package store, Sam Alsobrook, identified the tall, thin man as the armed bandit who took $60 from him Monday.

Meanwhile, Fritz said an apparent similarity in the use of the check for the would-be holdup and a recent attempt to rob the Dallas National bank was being investigated.

Robbery Is Blocked

In the frustrated bank robbery, a young blonde woman was frightned away from a teller's window and escaped after shoving a note toward the bank employe.

The note read, "... You cash this quietly and let me get out of here or you can ... make me pull this gun. It's up to you, I want it in 10-20-50- and 100-dollar bills."

It was signed simply, "the bandit."

A preliminary check of police records failed to show any crime history for the 24-year-old suspect. He made his home in Lisbon, a section of south Dallas.

YOUTH IS CRUSHED

BONHAM, Sept. 28. (AP)—Joel Wilson, 13-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Wilson, was crushed to death today when a tractor overturned while he was trying to pull a car from a ditch. The Wilsons live southwest of Ector.

The car that likes to be compared!

PLYMOUTH

White sidewall tires, chrome wheel covers and rear fender scuff guards optional at extra cost.

Great Value is built into every beautiful inch of the new Plymouth. For the positive proof — compare! Put this greatest Plymouth ever built up against the other cars — feature for feature, dollar for dollar, mile for mile!

Look at all three of the leading low-priced cars. Plymouth — and only Plymouth — has the famous Air Pillow Ride — now smoother than ever.

The new, more powerful Plymouth engine has a compression ratio of 7 to 1 — low-priced car "A" has 6.8 to 1 — low-priced car "B" has 6.6 to 1. You get greater performance because Plymouth's higher compression squeezes more power out of every drop of gas. And Plymouth is the only one of "all three" with the sensational new chrome compression ring that adds thousands of miles to the life of the engine.

Plymouth is the only low-priced car with the spectacular new double safety feature — Safety-Rim Wheels with Safe-Guard Hydraulic Brakes. Patented retaining humps hold the tire straight on the rim in the event of a blow-out. Powerful brakes give quick, safe, accurate stops, without grabbing or biting.

These are just some of the reasons why the new Plymouth is the car that likes to be compared — not just to other low-priced cars — but even to cars costing hundreds of dollars more! Visit your Plymouth dealer who will be glad to arrange a demonstration drive.

PLYMOUTH BUILDS GREAT CARS

Of 22 quality features found in high-priced cars—the new Plymouth has 21... low-priced car "A" has 13... low-priced car "B" has 4. That's why the Plymouth today—more than ever before—is the low-priced car most like high-priced cars!

WELFARE PROGRAM IS DEFENDED

President To Leave Tonight On Air Journey To Missouri

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28. (AP)—President Truman leaves tonight on a two-day trip to his home state of Missouri after defending his welfare program as being "American as the soil we walk on."

He will board a plane at 7:30 p. m. (EST) tonight for a three-hour flight to St. Louis. He will install grand lodge officers in a Masonic ceremony there Thursday morning, then fly to Kansas City for a speech at a dinner honoring William M. Boyle, jr., new chairman of the Democratic national committee.

Program Is Defended

The President will speak from notes about 10:30 p. m. (EST) Thursday at the "home-coming" for Boyle, the former Kansas City police official he picked to succeed J. Howard McGrath as national chairman.

Mr. Truman will return to Washington Friday evening in time for another speech over the radio, opening the Community Chest campaign.

Speaking from the east wing of the White House late yesterday on a radio program observing "Democratic Women's day," the President said his housing, health, education and other welfare programs are founded on the constitutional principle that the power of government should be used to promote the general welfare.

The Democratic party intends to carry out this constitutional responsibility, he said, in spite of those who say there is "something alien or dangerous in the idea of a government that works for the welfare of all our citizens."

"Those people," he asserted, "are just about 160 years behind the times. They want us to forget the language of the constitution."

"Expression Of People"

Mr. Truman said his program is "not a blueprint imposed from on high by a little group of theorists. Neither is it a set of platitudes concocted by a group of corporation lawyers in a smoke-filled room. Our program is an expression of the desires of the people."

He said it is not enough for Congress to pass the measures he has recommended.

"They have to be brought to life," he said, " by the citizens of this country, and by our state and local governments."

He said this should be borne in mind when people say that general welfare measures are merely federal handouts to the shiftless or the incompetent," or that they are 'undermining local government and the moral character of our citizens."

"The facts are just the opposite," he asserted. "Our program increases opportunity and incentive among our citizens. It increases the responsibilities and activities of local government."

In the early days of the game, golf balls were stuffed with feathers.

Worst-Dressed Men In Movies Chosen

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 28 (INS) Hollywood studio secretaries, the unsung heroines of the industry and avid film fans themselves, got into a huddle today and named the "ten worst-dressed men on the screen."

Up for the dubious honors were the following he-man stars:

Howard Duff—" . . . Looks like an exploding couch."

MacDonald Carey—". . . Still wears Marine corps fatigues."

Frank Sinatra—"He must have built-in midgets holding up his shoulder pads."

Robert Cummings—" . . . Probably wears night shirts."

Jimmy Stewart—" . . . Like a tweed weed."

Bing Crosby—"Wears rainbows, complete with pot."

Van Heflin — "Still wears the suit he wore in 'Philadelphia Story.'"

Rudy Vallee—". . . Vagabond lover—and dresser."

EX-RED TALKS — Maurice Malkin, above, a former Communist, told a Senate Judiciary Subcommittee the Communist Party in American is afraid it will be "liquidated" if Congress passes a law making the party illegal. He said the prospect has Red leaders so worried that three "top-layer" agents from Moscow have been sent to this country to help keep the party on its feet. Malkin said he helped organize the Communist Party in this country in 1919.

Doctors Remove Fat Off Man's Abdomen

MADISON, Wis., Sept. 28. (AP)—Fifty-eight pounds of fatty tissue were cut from the abdomen of a 450-pound Rock Falls, Ill., man in a rare operation at a Madison hospital today.

The operation was performed by Dr. James A. Jackson and a staff of associated surgeons.

The patient was Albert W. Bartells, 45, a welder, and his condition is good. His operation was described as a lipectomy (excision of fatty tissue).

Dr. C. M. Fry, Bartell's physician at Rock Falls, said that his patient at one time weighed 700 pounds. He lost 250 pounds following a reducing program outlined by Dr. Fry, but excess tissue remained.

Girl Sets Swimming Of Catalina Channel

SANTA MONICA, Calif., Sept. 28. (INS)—Pretty Yvonne Wood, 20, revealed today that she has been practising for the past month for a projected Catalina channel swim.

The Massachusetts girl declared that she will swim the 23-mile choppy stretch sometime next month. Her course will be from Isthmus Cove on Santa Catalina island to Point Vicente on the mainland.

Only one woman has ever completed the gruelling swim. The late Martha F. Huddleston swam the distance in 20 hours and 42 minutes in 1927. Three men also successfully made the channel swim.

Oysters have three hearts, according to findings of a U. S. Bureau of Fisheries expert.

FBI Probing Records Of Medical Society

HOUSTON, Sept. 28. (AP) — Washington headquarters of the FBI didn't like it when it was disclosed records of the Harris county medical society are being probed.

An FBI spokesman who declined to be quoted by name said, "We caught a lot of hell for the disclosure."

Galen N. Willis, local agent in charge, confirmed reports that agents have been checking the records.

He said it is part of a nation-wide checkup to see if there have been violations of anti-trust laws.

Argentine Airliner Crashes In Flames

BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 28 (AP)—At least five persons were killed last night in the flaming crash of an Argentinian airliner. One crewman is missing.

The ministry of transportation said 19 persons were injured in the crash near Castilla, 155 miles west of Buenos Aires and only 45 minutes away from the airport here.

The plane was returning from a mercy mission in Ecuador, where thousands died in an earthquake recently. Waiting at the airport here to greet it was Senora Eva Peron, the wife of the Argentine president.

The Eva Peron foundation for earthquake victims had sent an aid mission to Ecuador.

Virginia High School Closed After Students Start Strike

ST. CHARLES, Va., Sept. 28 (AP)—St. Charles high school students, championing the cause of three girl classmates, aren't attending school these days.

They're on strike because the principal kept the three girls in after hours to discipline them for making too much noise in the girls' lounge.

Division Superintendent S. J. Sheburne says he hopes the walkout can be settled soon, but that he doesn't intend to let students take over control of disciplinary policies.

With students out of classes, this coal mining community has a considerable part of its citizenry on the idle list. Most of the students' relatives are involved in the coal mining stoppage.

The student strike started last week when half the 841 pupils left classes. After the strikers began parading against the building, authorities ordered the school closed as a "safety measure."

He said reports to him stated that Principal Rufus Fugate ordered the three girls kept in as punishment after they were flippant and resentful to a teacher questioning them about loud laughing and singing in the girls' lounge.

Olivia De Havilland Gives Birth To Son

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 28 (AP)—Olivia De Havilland has a new name—mama. Benjamin Briggs Goodrich will be calling her that soon.

The eight-pound youngster was delivered by caesarian section yesterday.

The actress, wife of Novelist Marcus Aurelius Goodrich, has been ill and in bed almost continually since February. At one time, when her condition became critical, doctors feared for her baby.

Benjamin, their first child, is named after his paternal great-great grandfather, a Texas pioneer.

All In A Lifetime — Discouraging

Crime Clean-Up On In Rome As City Gets Ready For Holy Year

By NORMAN MONTELLIER
United Press Staff Writer

ROME, Sept. 28 — The big "clean-up" is on in Rome—morally and physically—to get the ancient capital ready for the 1950 Holy Year. The Italian government expects 1950 to be a tourist boom year and does not expect any visitors to find fault with the general cleanliness of the city.

On the moral side, police are working quietly under special orders to run all suspect persons out of town. Pickpockets have been hit hard and one falling into police hands these days can be sure to receive a one-way ticket for his home town—and a police guard to make sure he goes there.

Prostitution is legalized in Italy—for certified houses and card-holding girls working either in those houses or as streetwalkers. But a postwar boom in illegally operating "de luxe" call-houses and a jump in the number of streetwalkers has brought a police crackdown. Parliament is studying a law to make all prostitution illegal.

Police estimate that there were 7,000 pickpockets operating in Rome and said they were the source of the biggest headaches as far as tourists were concerned. An estimated 1,000 women were believed operating in Rome as petty thieves, usually working in pairs and using their feminine charms to beguile visitors.

Shoo Ten A Day

The police said that about 10 persons a day are being sent out of Rome under police orders. Tighter controls on persons living in the city are also in effect. Rome is barred to all persons who cannot show a legitimate reason for being here, either as tourists or as working people or business men. An Italian moving into Rome must register with police at his lodging house and then present a certificate showing that he is gainfully employed and that his employer accepts the responsibility of notifying police whenever his work terminates. Foreigners register their passports at their hotels. Usually, under the law, foreigners should obtain a permisso di soggirno—or residence permit—if they stay longer than three days, but this law is not invoked when police are satisfied the visitor is a bona fide tourist. The crackdown is primarily against smaller hotels and pensions.

Police patrols on the highways check cars coming into the city—not only to look for taxable items bein brought in from one province to another but also to make certain the cars are driven by the owners and not by the modern thieves-on-wheels who like autos better than trains for quick moving around. Special agents travel daily on all trains, streetcars and buses, looking for suspects.

Rome is getting the cleaning of its life. Squads of men are out every dawn to attack tattered, dirty posters. Almost miraculously, entire streets are turning clean faces to the world. The grime of centuries cannot be rubbed away but removal of defacing posters has made an amazing difference. Street gangs are fixing broken pavements everywhere in the city. More street police are on duty to aid tourists and act as information clerks. Pedestrian crossings are being remarked and traffic controls are getting better.

Holy Years will be a big year—and the Rome police intend to be ready for it.

Sudan High Band To Play At Grid Game

SUDAN, Sept. 28 (Special) — A touch of glamour will be added to Sudan High School band for its first solo appearance at the Sudan - Muleshoe football game Friday night at Muleshoe. The newly-elected drum majorette, Charlsie Roark, and twirlers Maxine Wiseman and Frances Hall will head the players, in flashing new costumes of gold and white satin. Dyanne Curry and Eddie Chance, a couple of three-year-olds, will march as band mascots, also dressed in new gold uniforms with plumed hats.

Eddie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Chance, is mascot for Sudan Chapter, Future Farmers of America, and has attended FFA conventions in various parts of the country. His father is vocational agriculture teacher here.

Don Williams, Abilene Christian College graduate, is instructor for the 35-piece band. His home town is Winfield, Kan.

Student band officers are Gaston Gage, president; Rose Nell Wiseman, vice-president; and Teddy Martin, secretary-treasurer.

Liquor Is Seized As Oklahoma Votes Dry

LAWTON, Okla., Sept. 28 (U.P.)—Comanche county bootleggers worried about their private stock of scotch, rye and bourbon today as a quick acting sheriff went about executing wishes of the people.

As soon as Sheriff Everett Ray Hale was convinced Oklahoma had voted to remain "bone dry" in yesterday's repeal election, he raided the home of a bootlegger.

His booty consisted of 742 half pints, 143 pints and 22 fifths of liquor.

Services For Post Pioneer Set Today

POST, Sept. 28. (Special)—Services were to be conducted at 4 p. m. today at the First Methodist church of Post for Charles Edward Nickens, 73, who died here Monday.

Burial was to take place in Terry cemetery here.

He was employed as an overseer by the Postex Mill for 30 years.

Man Faces Trial On Wife's Accusations

FARGO, S. D., Sept. 28 (U.P.)—A man accused of chaining his 18-year-old wife to a bed and forcing her to have intimate relations with other men was ordered to stand trial today on charges of violating the Mann act and forcing a minor into prostitution.

Roland L. Davison, 42, was held on $20,000 bond after his blonde wife testified that she was forced to sell herself to supplement her husband's meager earnings as a harvest hand.

She displayed the chains, one similar to a dog leash and the other about the size of a tire chain, which she said Davison used to padlock her ankles to the bed.

Davison is a former Tyler, Tex., radio singer.

When newly born, the blue whale is approximately 25 feet long and weighs about 15 tons.

Traffic Accident Is Fatal To Texas Man

PASADENA, Sept. 28 (U.P.)—A Sunday traffic accident claimed the life today of a 78-year-old Houston man.

W. B. Leach died in a hospital here early today of chest injuries received when his car collided with one driven by Pat Hardee, 22, of Clifton-By-The-Sea.

DOCTOR, NURSES WORK IN SHIFTS

Epidemic Of Throat Infection Among Indians Under Control

CLEWISTON, Fla., Sept. 28 (AP)—An outbreak of streptococcic infection among 21 Seminole Indian children and two grownups was reported under control today, thanks to the skill of a former U. S. Army doctor.

No new cases were reported last night and Dr. Albert B. Johnson said "everything is under control." He added he expected some would be discharged "in a day or two."

Dr. Johnson said he and three nurses — one for each eight-hour shift — were treating cases of sore throat and fever that sometimes looked "a little like measles and then again more like scarlet fever."

New Patients Admitted

Three patients were dismissed yesterday and three new ones were brought in from the Big Cypress reservation in Hendry county.

Dr. Johnson, from Jamestown, N. Y., came here in 1946 and took over as resident physician at Sugarland hospital, operated by the U. S. Sugar corporation.

There are about 80 Indians on the Big Cypress reservation, including the sick children, though sometimes there are as many as 150. Each family lives in a camp of two or three palm-thatched huts called "chickees."

Kenneth Marmon, superintendent of the Seminole agency under the Office of Indian affairs, said the same illness struck children at the Brighton reservation last month.

20 New Polio Cases Are Found In Texas

AUSTIN, Sept. 28 (U.P.)—Twenty new cases of polio were reported in Texas for the week ending Sept. 24, the state health department announced today.

In all, 90 cases were listed by the state office. However, of that number 18 were carried over from the previous week when they were received too late for that report.

The latest report brought Texas' polio total for the year to 1,891 cases, far exceeding the final figure of 1,765 cases for 1948.

Getting Steer Out Of Well Big Task

NEWTON, Mass., Sept. 28 (U.P.)—When Butch, an 800-pound steer, fell into a dry well, it took the combined efforts of 15 firemen, eight policemen, a veterinarian, a steam shovel, and a five-ton crane to get him out.

Butch plunged 17 feet to the bottom of the dry well when boards over the top gave way under his weight. Ropes manned by owner John Lydon and his friends were of no use so he called in the city highway department, which sent a shovel and crane.

The steam shovel dug a sloping ramp to the bottom of the well, more ropes were connected to the crane and Butch was hauled out, none the worse for wear.

Elevated Highway In California Proposed

ESCONDIDO, Cal., Sept. 28 (U.P.)—Roland C. Casad, who campaigned for president of the United States five times, but never received a political party's nomination, has proposed an elevated highway from San Diego to Los Angeles.

The elevated highway would settle current traffic problems by allowing cars to travel at higher speeds along the upper road, Casad pointed out. The lower road could be used for slower speeds and cars traveling to points along the route. It also could be used for parking.

The cost should not exceed that of a super-highway which has been proposed for the route as it would require much less property for construction, Casad said.

Beer Case Conceals Hijacking Weapons

TACOMA, Wash., Sept. 28 (U.P.)—A man carrying an empty beer case approached the manager of a local store just as the latter was opening up one Sunday. The manager prepared to tell him that the store wasn't allowed to sell beer on Sundays.

But the man didn't want any beer. Inside the case was an automatic pistol. He held up the manager and escaped with the contents of the safe.

MEET THE MANAGER—B. T. O'Connell, manager of the Lubbock area office of Texas Employment Commission, was born at Margaret, Texas, in Foard county Nov. 11, 1901. He grew up there and attended the old University of Dallas. He worked in the oil fields for two years, then went to work for the Westinghouse Electric Manufacturing company in Pittsburgh, Pa. He was an industrial management student for three years, then worked up to production manager for a section which was manufacturing transformers and circuit breakers. After nine years there, Mr. O'Connell came back to Texas and started with the Texas Employment service in 1937. During the war he was employed by the Lone Star Defense corporation at Texarkana as personnel manager from 1942 to 1945. He then returned to the Texas Employment Commission, as it had become by then, first in Texarkana, then being transferred to Lubbock as manager on Dec. 6, 1948. Mr. O'Connell belongs to the Lions club. His hobby is any kind of mechanical work, particularly working on his automobile. Mr. and Mrs. O'Connell and one son, B. Western Berlin Lord Mayor Sets Fast Pace In Daily Routine; Telephoning His Hobby

BERLIN, Sept. 28. (U.P.)—He looks like a painter, speaks like an orator, hurries like a New York business man and works like a horse. That thumbnail description fits only one man in Berlin's battered city of 4,000,000 people.

Everybody in the street knows the slightly bent, fast-walking man wearing the blue French-type beret and carrying a cane. Te is at every public meeting and at most of the more exclusive social functions in western Berlin.

He is Ernest Reuter, 60-year-old Lord Mayor of western Berlin. Once a staunch Communist leader, he is now the aggressive force in the violently anti-Communist Berlin Social Democratic party.

Reuter lives in a little white house in the American sector of this divided city. His wife, Hanna, a quiet, mild-mannered elderly woman, finds her husband's post-war career like a three-ringed circus. She never knows when he is going or coming.

Works Till Exhausted

"And he hardly knows when he is eating or sleeping," she said. "He is on the go from the time he gets up until he falls exhausted into bed at night."

"What is the mayor's hobby?" a reporter asked.

"Telephoning," she replied ironically. "When he arrives home the phone starts ringing and he spends most of his time talking on it."

The distinguished blue beret stems from Herr Reuter's wartime stay in Turkey. He used to wear it riding a bicycle to the University of Ankara. He grew to like it so well, that when he returned to Berlin after the war he insisted on bringing it along. The only time he is without it is on high state occasions when he must wear a topper.

Reuter's two secretaries, Rose Marie and Melitta Schulz, say he is an easy man to work for except for one thing.

"Speed, That's all he ever seems to want," said Rose Marie. "He is always in a hurry and the faster we do something the faster he wants it done."

Day Begins Early

Reuter begins his day with a hurried breakfast of coffee and toast at about 7:30 a. m. His chauffeur drives him to his office in the city-owned black sedan which is at his disposal. By 8:30 he is hard at work, going through the never-ending pile of papers on his desk. He takes a quick look through most of the 18 Berlin newspapers, including the Russian-licensed press. Some of the early editions he has already looked over while eating breakfast and driving into town.

Throughout the day, while the Lord Mayor is in his office, the smell of coffee and blue haze of cigar smoke fills the large, unimpressive room where he makes his headquarters.

In between callers—and there always are visitors waiting in his anti-room—the Lord Mayor makes rush appearances at civic functions, benefits, city council meetings, parties or confers with officials of any one of the three Western military governments.

Reuter has two children by his first marriage and one son by his second marriage. His 28-year-old son, Harry, is a mathematics teacher at Manchester University, in England.

Late at night, the Lord Mayor frequently tries to lose himself in the distant past by reading ancient Greek and Roman classics. Many of these he reads in the original. He speaks many languages, including Latin, Greek, Russian, Turkish, English and French.

First ascent by man in a balloon was made by Pilatre de Rocier at Paris, France, in 1783.

Promotion Stunt Of Theater Backfires

DENVER, Sept. 28 (U.P.)—A promotion stunt designed to lure customers into a theater didn't go over so well with the police judge.

In keeping with the movie, a picture about prisons, the operator hired two slapstick artists—one dressed as a cop and the other as a convict—to run through a cops-and-robbers routine in front of the box office. Then he put a siren in the background.

The siren was his undoing. Police moved in with arrest warrants after several motorists complained that they confused the siren for a real one and had pulled their cars over to the curb.

Victor Spouse, manager of the theater, was fined $25.

Could Cleopatra Drink a Pearl with Stomach Ulcer Pains?

An intriguing story of Cleopatra is the one where an admirer praised the beauty of two of her pearls, whereupon she dropped one into a glass of wine and drank it. She would hardly have done this had she suffered after-eating pains. If excess stomach acidity causes you distress after eating, or painful heartburn, gas, sour stomach, indigestion, even stomach ulcer pains, then try Udga for quick relief. Udga Tablets contain 3 proven fast-acting medicinal ingredients. Like a doctor's prescription, Udga works soothingly and fast. More than 210 million sold since 1938. RECAPTURE OF TOWNS OBJECTIVES

Chiang's Armies Preparing Counterattack Against Reds

CANTON, Sept. 28. (AP)—The Nationalists are preparing a counteroffensive against the Communists in China's northern Kwangtung province, official dispatches asserted today.

This counteroffensive will utilize reinforcements just arrived at the key rail town of Kukong, 125 miles north of Canton, the dispatches said. Kukong itself already was under Red threat.

The ministry of national defense said yesterday fighting was in progress only 15 miles east of Kukong and gunfire could be heard inside the town. Kukong is on the rail line linking Canton and the main South China defense base of Hengyang, 265 miles to the north.

Objective Given

Recapture of Chihing, 135 miles north-northeast of Canton, and Namyung, 155 miles away in the same area, was listed by the Nationalists as the first objective of the projected counteroffensive.

(This was the first indication from the Nationalists that the Reds had taken either Chihing or Namyung in the new offensive into Kwangtung from bases in Kiangsi province.)

The Nationalists also said preparations were under way for a determined effort to wipe out a small force of Red regulars and irregulars in the area of Yungyun, 100 miles north-northeast of Canton.

(This was the first admission by the Nationalists that the Reds were around Yungyun, which is 40 miles southeast of Kukong and less than 20 east of the rail line.)

Landing Claimed Foiled

Official reports from the big southeastern port of Amoy said the Nationalists had foiled a new Red attempt to land on the island. They claimed many Red junks were sunk by artillery fire.

The Communists were described as commandeering every available craft along the mainland near Amoy for another big amphibious assault.

Other official reports told of the defection of Nationalist Gen. Tang Sheng-Chi, onetime famous warlord who used to be director-general of military training. He was reported reorganizing Red guerrillas in western Hunan province.

Tang, commander of Chinese forces at Nanking against the Japanese in 1937, has held no active Nationalist command in recent years.

June is the only month which has no presidential birthday, while March has five such birthdays and April four.

New Economy Move Threatens Senate Approval Of Pay Hike

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28 (AP) — A new economy move threatened today to block Senate approval of a pay boost President Truman wants for top government officials.

Senator Ferguson (R-Mich) brought the money saving issue up by offering, as an amendment to an executive pay raise bill, a proposal to direct Mr. Truman to cut federal spending from 5 to 10 per cent.

This proposal, offered originally by Senator McClellan (D-Ark), wasn't attached to previous money bills because two-thirds of those voting failed to approve it. Such a majority was required by the rules prevailing in that situation.

But Ferguson needed only a majority to tack it on to the pending bill, which provides pay increases for top government executives. He obviously was trying to attach it to a bill he thinks the President wouldn't veto.

Mr. Truman has urged pay increases repeatedly.

Senator Lucas of Illinois, the Democratic leader, has opposed the Ferguson proposal on the grounds that it would be a cowardly act for Congress to direct the President to cut the budget instead of the lawmakers doing it themselves.

To Oppose Plan

Lucas told a reporter he plans to continue his opposition, but he would not predict the outcome on the Ferguson maneuver.

Lucas already had agreed to accept a compromise version of the pay bill in the hope of getting speedy Senate action.

The compromise measure would boost the salaries of cabinet officers from $15,000 yearly to $22,500. The Senate civil service committee originally had proposed an increase to $25,000.

"It is either take that or nothing at all," Lucas told reporters.

The compromise measure, offered by Senator McFarland (D-Ariz) and others, would hold the pay of most agency heads to $15,000 a year, in line with the $12,500 plus $2,500 tax-free expense allowance received by the lawmakers themselves.

However, President Truman would be allowed to pay two of his assistants $20,000 yearly and three of them could draw $18,000.

With the exception of the President's assistants, no official could get more than a 50 per cent increase in his present pay under the compromise bill.

Burglaries

Worth by sheriff's deputies, will be investigated by a grand jury meeting Monday. The complaint accuses him of forgery of a $47.63 check.

Three Atlanta, Ga., youths were arrested in Matador and charged with theft of a car at Floydada.

They, C. D. Slaton, Jack Bannister and Floyd Nash, signed statements admitting the charge, and theft of cars in Mississippi, Alabama and Georgia. All are 18.

Other Offenses Admitted

Sheriff Leland Hart of Floyd county asked the state highway patrol station here to broadcast a description of the stolen car, owned by C. E. Morren of Floyd county, and 30 minutes later Sheriff John Stotts of Motley county recognized the car when it approached the west limits of Matador, where he had parked to wait for it.

The men said they had driven a stolen car from Mississippi and abandoned it in the canyon between Floydada and Cone. One of the three also said an attempt had been made to steal a car "somewhere west of Lubbock" but that the engine would not start.

The suspects will be returned to Floydada. Whether federal charges will be filed had not been announced.

Farm Surplus

the key facts upon which his suggested program is founded, he said.

Other essential facts, he said, are the American farmer's proven capacity for greater production and the continuing downward trend in net farm income while prices farmers pay stay close to their postwar highs.

Price Score Is Warning

"The price box-score gives warning," he said. "Prices received—off 20 per cent; prices paid—off three per cent.

"The implication for farmers is plain in the old familiar pattern of farm prices going down first and going down fastest."

Brannan said federal production payments under his plan would hold up farm income while farm products would sell at what price the market would bring. He said this would free farmers of the "undeserved" penalty of low prices for abundance, relieve the government program of surcharges for storage, spoilage, buying in processed forms, and taking unnecessarily large quantities from the market, and offer consumers a greater share in abundance.

He said the payments, recommended for meat, milk and eggs, would amount to the difference between the average farm price and the support price.

"The right methods of supporting farm prices could help us use our abundance to build our markets," he said. "This is one of the fundamental goals of the price support recommendations."

GAINS ARE SHADED

NEW YORK, Sept. 28 (AP) — Sharp early gains were shaded in the stock market today on late news that steel contract negotiations were deadlocked.

The dead lock renewed the threat that a strike will shut down the industry at midnight Friday.

The market closed with leading shares—notably steel, auto and rail stocks — still up fractionally, more than a poinnt. Most issues finished under the day's best marks.

Higher were such leaders as U. S. Steel, Bethlehem Steel, Youngstown Sheet & Tube, General Motors, Chrysler, Southern Pacific and Santa Fe.

News that the union had renewed its insistance that social benefits be financed entirely by the industry appeared a short time before the market closed.

Trading slowed to a walk as the news circulated. Earlier activity, though, was enough to lift turnover for the day to around 1,300,000 shares.

In mid-morning a sudden burst of buying lifted prices fractions to 2 points or so. Demand was based on unconfirmed rumors that steel negotiators were getting closer together on their ideas about a pension plan.

In this favorable atmosphere steel, motor and other shares advanced rapidly. Losses of Monday and Tuesday, when apprehension was mounting over the possibility of a strike, were wiped out.

Cotton Market

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Sept. 28 (AP) — Cotton were irregular in slow trading today. There was further evening-up in nearby October, with no October transferable notices issued today. Mill buying absorbed scattered liquidation and hedging.

Approval by the senate-house committee of the ECA appropriation bill attracted attention since most of the current season's exports of cotton hinge on the bill.

The international cotton advisory council estimated that world cotton production in the 1949-50 season will reach a new post-war high of about 30,000,000 bales which would be 1,000,000 above the past season.

ECA authorized a cotton purchase credit to bi-zonal Germany amounting to $5,985,000.

Futures closed up to 30 cents lower than the previous close.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Sept. 28 (AP) — Wheat rested while corn raced upward on the board of trade today.

Profit-taking after yesterday's advance to new seasonal highs, climaxing several weeks of climbing prices, kept wheat pretty much under control. However, there was one flurry of buying which sent the December and May contracts above yesterday's peak for a time.

A continued small run of cash corn, plus a good demand for available supplies, was one factor in the corn strength. Some buying of cash corn is believed to be coming from those who were short at the time September futures expired and now must get the cash grain to make deliveries.

Wheat closed 1 to 1⅛ lower, December $2.15-$2.15⅛, corn was ⅛ to 1 cent higher, December $1.18⅛-⅜, oats were ⅛ lower to ⅛ higher, December 68¼, rye was ⅛-¼ higher, December $1.45¾-1.

Friends said that Milford Haven was believed to have first met Mrs. Simpson in New York on one of his trips as a salesman for a British heating concern. They were seen together on the French Riviera last summer.

The future marchioness is the daughter of Mrs. Clark McIlwaine of Washington. Mrs. Simpson's father, scientist Vinton U. D. Pierce, died in a railroad accident in 1925.

Mrs. Simpson, a former Barnard college student, has been studying piano in New York. She came to London from Paris two weeks ago. During the war she worked for the U. S. State department in Washington.

Singer Al Jolson Talks With Truman

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28. (U.P.)—Singer Al Jolson said today President Truman may have to run for re-election in 1952 because he might need the job.

Jolson, a native of Washington, called on Mr. Truman for a chat about old times.

"I asked him if he was going to run again and he told me, 'I don't know whether they want me or not, but maybe I will need the job'."

GAME IS POSTPONED

BOSTON, Sept. 28. (U.P.)—Rain today forced postponement of the scheduled game between the Brooklyn Dodgers and Boston Braves. It will be played tomorrow as a doubleheader starting at 1 p. m. to wind up the year's series between the two clubs.

Door Can't Dispel Marital Troubles

BALTIMORE, Sept. 28. (AP) "Go out the same door," advised Judge J. Howard Murray as he gave another chance to a young couple in his court yesterday with marital troubles.

They did. They left the courtroom together.

"The electors will have to pronounce upon it at no distant date."

Houston Girl's Last Rites Set Thursday

HOUSTON, Sept. 28. (U.P.)—Funeral services will be held Thursday in Waller for Vernelle Rightmire, 19-year-old high school student, who died yesterday after a long illness.

Vernelle attended John Reagan high school here, but was forced to abandon her studies last March because of poor health. She would have been a senior this year.

She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Rightmire. Other survivors are two sisters.

Demo Leaders Tangle In New Mexico Fight

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Sept. 28. (U.P.)—Two top-file Democratic leaders who squared off in a fist fight yesterday in a downtown hotel lobby refused today to say what the argument was about.

State liquor control director Tom Montoya and Johnny Michael, an Albuquerque party leader, exchanged several blows before they were separated.

The only casualty was State Senator Tibo Chavez who received hand bruises when he tried to break up the fight.

classes. Blackman had the junior champion.

Hales' Ormsby Burke Calsar, an 1,800 pound bull which was calved May 5, 1947, was named grand champion Holstein bull.

All judging in the dairy cattle division was done by Dr. I. W. Rupel, head of the dairy department at A. & M. college. Dr. Rupel said "the quality is good but the entries are light."

Swine Judging Complete

The swine division completed all judging by 11 a. m. The Hampshire and Spotted Poland China classes were in the spotlight today.

D. O. Bomer, Lubbock, had the grand champion Hampshire boar. It was a two-year and four-months old pig weighing 750 pounds. Named Plainsman's Roller he was given the nod as senior champ and then went on to win top honors.

The 600 pound junior champion sow, Miss Silverway, got the purple ribbon in the female Hampshire class. The champ is owned by James Shearer, Lubbock.

Special Added Prize

A special added prize of $300 was given by the National Spotted Poland China Record, Indianapolis. It is the Futurity of 1949 and first place with $50 went to S. W. Duffy, Meadow. His son, C. W. Duffy, won second money, $40. Third place and $30 went to M. H. Kinard, Lubbock.

S. W. Duffy had the champion boar and junior sow pig in the Spotted Poland China division. Marcell Rose, Brownfield, had the senior champion sow pig.

Today's judging completes the heavy livestock divisions. Thursday will see the judging of rabbits and cavies in the arena. Judging begins at 9 a. m. There is no admission charge.

Bands Are Expected

Most of the schools of the area are following the custom of dismissing the students who visit the fair. The delegations are expected to include several uniformed bands.

Today's programs will follow one of the biggest Lubbock day turnouts Tuesday in the history of the fair.

The attendance of 19,705 was almost 5,000 more than the 14,832 who visited the grounds on the same day last year and is well above the average for Lubbock days of the past. The total, however, was short of the record-breaking "gate" of 25,076 for the day, set in 1947.

Total attendance for the first two days was reported at 25,111, a substantial increase over the 22,666 for the same period last year.

Show Draws Big Crowds

The day, however, did produce one all-time record breaker for Panhandle-South Plains fairs.

The approximately 3,100 people who saw the first performance of the Lucky Lott "Hell Drivers" was the largest afternoon grandstand crowd in the history of the fair. The performance was as spectacular as has been advertised, and the prospects favor another large turnout when the "Hell Drivers" make their second and final appearance Saturday afternoon.

Attendance at the second performance of the musical revue, "A Trip to Wonderland," the night grandstand attraction, was even larger. Approximately 3,200 spectators filled the stand to more than three-quarters of its capacity—the largest grandstand crowd of any of the postwar fairs.

Expectation was that the first of the two Children's days of the current fair will bring another large crowd today—possibly the largest of the week — to the grounds.

Several thousand school children from all parts of the South Plains are expected to be arriving during the early forenoon in their school buses for their day of entertainment. Some will be accompanied by their school bands.

The youthful visitors will be admitted to the grounds upon the payment of the federal amusement tax which, for the great majority, will be 5 cents. Fair association officials have attempted, unsuccessfully, to persuade the government to waive this levy.

Special Prices Planned

Special prices, however, will prevail on the Forsythe & Dowis Carnival midway until 6 p. m. "Kid" rides will be 5 cents and most of the others will be 9 and 14 cents, all including tax.

Hugo Zacchini, the human cannonball, also will give a special performance on the midway at 5:30 o'clock for the visiting children.

While the attendance today is expected to be large, there is no prospect that it will approximate the 47,913 who visited the fair on Wednesday of last year. The attendance was the largest on any day in the history of the fair, and was due to the fact that the Ringling Brothers-Barnum & Bailey circus played inside the grounds.

The previous record for one-day attendance was 45,737 on Children's day in 1939. Until that time, only one day at each fair was set aside especially for children. Since then, two days have been dedicated to them.

Today will see the completion of judging in all the livestock departments, clearing the Livestock Judging arena for the opening of the third annual Panhandle-South Plains rabbit and cavy show Thursday. The show then will continue through the remainder of the week.

The crowd which turned out Tuesday seemed thoroughly satisfied with everything—exhibits, the midway and the grandstand entertainment. Visitors to the agriculture building were said by officials to have been among the most numerous they could recall. The exhibits there are, by unanimous agreement, the best ever displayed at a fair here.

Show Is Spectacular

The Lucky Lott "Hell Drivers" provided by far the most spectacular performance of that kind ever presented in this portion of the southwest. They crashed cars head-on, turned them end-over-end, rolled them over from side to side, crashed through a blazing wall while a performer rode on the hood of the car, smashed through a 12-inch wall of ice, made hair-raising transfers from speeding machines, exploded a large charge of dynamite as a car raced over it and otherwise risked life and limb. It is a spectacular, fast-moving show spiced with the comedy of a clown known as "Fuzzy."

Musical Revue Tops

The cast of the musical revue, "A Trip to Wonderland," gave an even smoother performance than Monday night after having been given the opportunity to iron out some of the invariable opening night kinks.

Audience reaction was enthusiastically favorable, promising increasing support during the remainder of the week. Most of those who have seen the show undoubtedly will recommend it.

Adding color to the grounds during the day were the members of the Tulia High school band clad in their striking uniforms of maroon and white and accompanied by their corps of dainty baton twirlers. The band, directed by Rupert Hornbeck, played several selections in front of the grandstand before the start of the Lucky Lott show.

Contributing to the comfort of visitors was the heavy sprinkling of unpaved portions of East Fourth street approaching the fair as well as the drives within the grounds.

Some of the officials of the fair association were upset by a report that automobiles have been stolen from the grounds. Never in the history of the fair association, they said, has such a theft been reported from any of the fairgrounds parking areas.

The officials do advise strongly, however, that visitors lock their homes and their cars before leaving them. Watchmen are on duty at all times, but petty thefts from parked cars occur occasionally unless they are locked.

Thief Is One Head Ahead Of Officers

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 28. (U.P.)—Red-faced police conceded today that a strange thief was still a head ahead of them.

An unknown intruder sneaked into the museum of science here and stole a human head, once the property of a Peruvian Indian, from a showcase.

Shrunken to the size of a large apple by an ancient and secret process, the head was the prize exhibit of the museum.

Police "head hunters" are still seeking the trophy, valued at $500.

Strike Tension

night Friday and a walkout is expected to make idle some 1,000,000 CIO United Steelworkers.

Midnight tonight is the deadline for a strike by some 115,000 CIO United Auto Workers at the Ford Motor Co., but company and union representatives worked throughout the night in efforts to reach agreement on a new contract.

There was no indication a settlement was imminent but a Ford official said last night the company was ready to give a pension plan that would cost a maximum of 10 cents an hour per worker. That was the amount recommended by a presidential fact-finding board in the steel industry. However, discussion over such issues as temporary layoffs and prodyction standards were reported holding up final agreement rather than pension and insurance demands.

In Washington, David B. Robertson, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, said the union's executive board will meet in Chicago Oct. 7 and will recommend a strike against all of the nation's class one railroads.

A presidential emergency board on Sept. 19 rejected the union's demand, stating that the extra man was unnecessary. An earlier presidential board also had rejected a similar union request for another engineer on Diesels, which now are run by one engineer and one fireman.

The rail workers are barred by law from striking until 30 days after an emergency board reports its finding.

Little Bright Spot

There was a little bright spot in the labor picture. The threatened strike of 65,000 AFL east coast dock workers appeared to have been delayed for at least 30 days. The negotiating committee of the AFL International Longshoremen's association agreed to recommend a month extension of the present contract. ILA members will vote on the proposal at ports from Portland, Maine, to Hampton Roads, Va., on Friday. Union leaders expressed belief approval will be given.

In Buffalo, N. Y., the CIO United Rubber Workers and the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., met to discuss a new contract. The union is asking a 25 cents an hour wage hike and company financed $100 monthly pensions for some 22,000 production workers at nine plants. The union's similar demands on the B. F. Goodrich Co. led to a strike a month ago.

DALLAS MAN SHOT

DALLAS, Sept. 28. (AP)—Nathaniel McNeal, 34, was wounded fatally in an early morning street shooting in South Dallas. He died en route to a hospital in an ambulance for negroes. Police said the shooting followed an argument with another man and woman. His assailant has not been arrested.

Zone Changes Are Requested

Lubbock's City Planning commission will consider three new and two old requests for zone changes at its next meeting Thursday night, Oct. 6, it was announced this afternoon by K. N. Clapp, chairman.

The requests met the deadline of the 25th of the month preceding the meeting, a requirement established by the commission in order to give full public notice regarding requested zone changes.

Requests Listed

New requests received were:

Floyd E. Waynick, to change the south half of the south half of block 3, Kinser subdivision of the northeast one-fourth of section 14, block B, from "A" residential to "F" retail business zone. The property is between Thirty-seventh and Thirty-eighth streets, Adams and Jefferson avenues.

George S. Berry, to change lots 1 and 2, Wayside addition from "E" to "F" zone. The property is at 1301 North Third, and a petition from 48 residents of the area supports the request.

Zoning On Thirty-Fourth

Sixteen property owners, to change to retail business zone all property abutting Thirty-fourth street from Ave. X to Adams avenue.

Old business includes a request of Homer L. Hensley to change property on the north side of Fifth street from Ave. X to College avenue to allow construction of a tourist court.

Vaughn E. Wilson, city attorney, will appear and discuss the question of "spot zoning" in connection with request of G. C. Stevens, to change north half of the east one-half of tract 40, Arnett-Benson addition, from "B" zone to "F" zone.

terested. One proposed project, still in an early stage of consideration, is a campus radio station. Another is a lighted softball diamond, which is further toward realization since $2,000 has been set aside for it by the Tech Chamber of Commerce. He asked that some students help with plans for Homecoming and the Varsity show.

Officers Introduced

He introduced other council officers: Marshall Gettys, vice president; Margaret Clark, secretary, and Raymond Brigham, business manager.

Both the student president and the college president praised campus improvement. E. J. Urbanovsky, landscape architect for the college, is directing campus improvement. Sterling asked students to cooperate in the program to protect grass and otherwise safeguard appearance of the campus.

Music was presented by the Matador band, under direction of D. O. Wiley.

Sterling asked students living in dormitories to leave their cars in dormitory parking places, so parking places near class buildings will not be congested.

He introduced Dean of Women Margarette Walker and Dean of Men James G. Allen. Mrs. Walker said that some persons consider they can determine the future of a college by its freshmen and that on that basis the future of Tech is assured.

Classes separated after the convocation to elect class officials. Ballots will be counted this afternoon and some run-off elections are expected to be necessary.

which he sought an operation.

Will Stick With Him

His wife, several inches taller, was thin and looked more tired than her husband. But she said she would stick with him.

"We were married when George was 20 and I was 18," she said, "and we've never been separated in 62 years. We don't aim to be separated now."

The pair won't have to walk the remaining 480 miles of their journey home. Their case came to the attention of Salvation Army director Capt. A. C. Sigmon here, and he provided money and bus tickets to Apalachicola. The Hunters plan to leave tomorrow on the last leg of their trip.

Hunter told Sigmon that friends in Apalachicola got up a purse to pay for his trip to Dallas several months ago. Doctors at the Dallas hospital gave him treatment, he said, but were unable to perform the operation he wanted because of his age.

"I'm a veteran of the Canadian army from the World War I," Hunter explained, "so they could not give me money for the return trip."

"We've just been trusting in the Lord that we would get home," Mrs. Hunter said. "It looks like there are still some people in the world with hearts of gold," she added, after kindly Baton Rouge citizens provided them with food and a place to sleep.

Eight Persons Injured When Bus Rams Rear Of Big Truck

TEXARKANA, Sept. 28 (AP)—A Tristate Trailways bus last night rammed into the rear of a loaded lumber truck. Eight persons were injured.

The bus sliced off highway 59, crashed down a ten-foot embankment and tore a 200-yard path through tangled brush before coming to a stop.

The truck, almost completely demolished, stayed on the highway.

State Highway Patrolmen Aron Sanders and C. R. Baldridge said you could have driven an automobile through the hole knocked in the front of the bus.

List Of Injured

The bus left Texarkana shortly before 8 p. m. for Louisiana. The accident occurred 19 miles southwest of Texarkana about 8:30 p. m.

Injured and treated at Atlanta, Tex., hospitals were:

Bill Stuckey, Atlanta, Tex., both legs broken.

W. O. Parker, Queen City, Tex., both legs broken.

Odessa Williams, negro woman, Atlanta, Tex., head injuries.

C. A. Maxfield, 49, Clarksdale, three teeth knocked out, other injuries.

Charles R. Shuttlesworth, 19, Atlanta, Tex., facial injuries.

In a Texarkana hospital:

W. W. Vaughn, 30, Glenmore, La., driver of the bus, compound fracture of the right leg.

Terrible Impact

Maxfield, one of the bus passengers, said he was dozing when the bus and truck hit. He said there was a terrible impact and that he heard a terrific noise just before he was lifted from his seat

"My head went round and round," he said. When he came to his head was between two seats and people with broken legs were all around him.

He said a negro woman in the rear of the bus was praying aloud.

Maxfield said he stumbled from the bus, but the others apparently were trapped inside. It had not yet been determined who pulled them from the wreckage.

Maxfield said he remembered someone coming from the highway and turning off the motor of the bus.

He said he stumbled back to the road and saw the truck. The driver was still in the cab, covered with blood.

The cause of the accident has not been determined.

Radio Workshop Is Organized At Tech

Students interested in radio met in the Texas Tech speech building Tuesday night to organize a radio workshop designed to further training in that field.

Use will be made by the club of a new RCA console with two Presto turntables, one of which is equipped for recordings. To be sponsored by Robert L. Cunningham, associate professor of speech, the club is open to all students, including those interested in radio script writing.

Actual broadcasts over local radio stations are planned by the workshop group from their campus studio. Some original scripts by members will probably be used, Cunningham said.

JOAN PROUTY

THE QUESTION

Do you think that classes in sex education should be held in Junior High schools, and if so, should the classes be mixed?

THE ANSWERS

REV. H. J. POWERS, 2305 Main, assistant pastor at St. Elizabeth's Catholic church: "No. Among junior high groups there are various ages and various degrees of maturity. It is not advisable to give public sex education to such a varied group. Parents have the primary duty to train their children, especially in matters of such intimate nature. They know the child better than anyone else, and therefore, will know the best time to impart such information. I am particularly opposed to one person's giving information on the physical aspect of sex to a mixed group. Such treatment would scarcely include the moral or religious aspect of this important question."

J. T. CARTER, 3003 Thirty-first, manager of First Methodise church: "Yes, I do believe in it. I approve of my two children taking such courses in Junior High. Many parents are at a loss to know how to present such information to their children, and as a result, the child gets it from unreliable sources. I think that the course should be offered by a person trained in that field or by a registered nurse or M. D."

DONNIE PRESLEY, 2504 Twenty-ninth, student at J. R. Hutchinson junior high: "I think that sexual education should be taught in schools, but by special teachers in separate boys and girls classes. I've read stories where it has been carried on in other schools, and I believe that it would help us in later life."

STILL KEEN AT 101

PITTSFIELD, Mass. (U.P.) — At 101, Mrs. Ralph B. Bardwell still engages in the real estate business. Only recently she negotiated the sale of a plot of land.

MRS. R. BRIGGS IRVIN, 2701 Twenty-ninth, teacher at J. T. Hutchinson: "I think it should be taught in junior high, but not in mixed classes. We do need a trained person to present the material because boys and girls of the Junior High age need professional guidance through the emotional crises of their adolescent life."

MISS DIANE RATISSEAU, 2512 Twenty-third, student at J. T. Hutchinson: "I think it would be perfectly all right, but I don't think they should have mixed classes. If they did, it hight cause embarrassment, although it really shouldn't.

MISS NELL GOODLOE, 1924 Twenty-fifth, teacher at J. T. Hutchinson: "I think that there is a definite need for it: But it should be taught by people who are especially trained for it. Classes should be well organized and planned by a person with experience in teaching the subject. On the junior high level, separate classes would be better."

Boy Is Accidentally Killed On Coon Hunt

MERKEL, Sept. 28. (AP)—A predawn coon hunt ended fatally for Billy Sam Perkins, 12. He died from a blast from his own shotgun.

A dog treed a coon about 3 a. m. and the boy pleaded with his mother, Mrs. J. T. Blackburn of the Butham community near here, to let him go help the barking dog.

At daybreak Billy hadn't returned. Mrs. Blackburn found him dead near a fence. The 12 gauge double-barreled gun lay several feet from him. One barrel was fired.

Mrs. N. D. Cobb, justice of the peace, ruled accidental death by gunshot wounds.

HOUSTON MAN HURT

TEXAS CITY, Sept. 28 (AP) — Carl Taylor, 42, was seriously hurt yesterday when his motorcycle skidded out of control. The Houston man received a fractured skull.

Oklahoma Still Legally Dry

Ban On Liquor Is To Remain

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 28 (AP) —Oklahoma is still legally dry, and victory-flushed prohibitionists proclaimed they intend to make it literally dry too.

The fifth attempt in 42 years of statehood to repeal the state's constitution al ban on intoxicants was decisively beaten in a special election yesterday.

Victory Is Conceded

With 3,584 out of 3,720 precincts reported, the unofficial returns were:

For repeal—264,661.

Against repeal—313,071.

Victory was conceded to the dry forces at 10:35 p. m. (CST) last night by A. G. Kulp, Tulsa attorney who headed the repeal organization incorporated as the Oklahoma Economic Institute.

The chairman of the victorious United Dry association, David C. Shapard, promptly announced a campaign for "ridding our state of bootleggers and the evils of the whisky traffic."

But the wets said the bootleggers were the real winners. Kulp called the outcome a "tragedy." He added:

"It appears the professional drys convinced the people it is better to trust control of the enormously big liquor business that now exists in Oklahoma to the bootleggers rather than their legislators."

Cities Went Wet

The defeated measure would have empowered the legislature to determine conditions under which liquor could be sold. It forbade the "open saloon."

Oklahoma City and Tulsa went wet by big margins. But traditionally dry rural areas ran up majorities as great as five-to-one for continued prohibition.

Other repeal efforts were defeated in 1908, 1910, 1936 and 1940. Mississippi is the only other state with a statewide liquor ban.

The voters approved by a 100,000 majority the only other proposal on the ballot. Gov. Roy J. Turner's measure for a $36,000,000 bond issue for buildings at state institutions.

The governor, who kept hands off the repeal controversy, announced he would call a special legislative session, probably in November, to approve details of the building program.

Dallas Presbytery Selects Moderator

DALLAS, Sept. 28. (AP)—New moderator of the Presbytery of Dallas, U. S., is the Rev. Jack T. Goodykoontz of Sherman.

At the meeting yesterday, the Rev. Charles A. Tucker accepted a call to the Presbyterian church in Bowie, the Rev. Guy B. Duff to Denison and the Rev. C. M. Frerking to Texarkana.

Spring Meeting Is Scheduled At Slaton On May 2, 1950

New Officers For Year Are Named As Church Leaders From South Plains Meet At Lamesa

LAMESA, Sept. 28 (Special) — Christian church lay and pastoral leaders of District 11 held a convention here Tuesday which was attended by approximately 100 persons.

Delegates were from First Christian and Lubbock View Christian churches of Lubbock; and from Christian churches in Lamesa, Plainview, Spur, Roaring Springs, Post, Floydada, Slaton, Brownfield, Levelland, and Sundown.

Highlight of the day's activities was an address by William H. McKinney, executive secretary of the Department of Men's Work of the United Christian Missionary society in Indianapolis, Ind. Mr. McKinney discussed the responsibility of the laymen to the church and its activities.

New Officers Named

At Tuesday's meeting, new officers were named for the district for the forthcoming year. They are: President, Rev. Alan Lynch, of Plainview; first vice president, W. A. Simon of Levelland; second vice president, Mrs. William Kirkpatrick of Post; and secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Adella Dew of Plainview.

The Spring meeting of District 11 is to be held in Slaton May 2, 1950.

Rev. L. W. Bridges of Lamesa, host pastor and president of the convention, was unable to participate in the day's activities because of illness.

Following registration at 9:30 a.m., the program opened at 10 a.m. with a hymn led by Glen Hutton of Paducah. Invocation was given by W. M. Spreen of Brownfield. Presentation of district activities was made by Mrs. W. M. Schroeder of Plainview, for children's work; Mrs. O. P. Hankins of Lubbock, for women's work; and H. T. McKissack of Lubbock, laymen's work.

Lubbock Man On Program

Following church reports, E. A. Powell of Floydada made a convention offering at the morning worship service. A message, "Crusading With Christ," was delivered by Hollis Turley of Indianapolis, Ind.

The benediction was offered by J. F. Matthews of Lubbock.

The afternoon program opened with a worship service under direction of Rev. Harry Purviance, pastor of Lubbock View Christian church of Lubbock. Following this service a convention business session was held.

At 3:55 p.m. today, Homer Haislip of St. Louis, Mo., discussed "Christian Literature," after which Rev. Travis White, pastor of First Christian church of Lubbock, spoke on "Looking Ahead in District Work."

Mrs. Paul Campbell was in charge of a conference on children's work which was held beginning at 4:50 p. m. today.

A banquet for all those attending the convention was held at 6 p. m. Following, the group divided for a laymen's meeting. A session in charge of the district youth concluded the day's program.

Burglar Gives IOU After Taking $126

DAYTON, O., Sept. 28 (AP)— Somewhere in Dayton there is a reluctant thief who knew just how much money he needed and took it.

When Julian Tangeman returned to his home yesterday, found $126 missing from a small metal box in which he keeps valuables. A note left in the box read:

"Will pay you back as soon as possible."

Tangeman said an additional $98 in the box was untouched.

Rotarians To Meet In City

Lubbock Rotarians are making final preparations for their 26th annual Inter-City Relations meeting to be held Thursday, according to Guy C. Victory, president of the organization.

Gov. Thomas J. Mabry of New Mexico will be principal speaker at the meeting which will attract an estimated 600 Rotarians and guests from over 45 West Texas and eastern New Mexico clubs.

More than 400 reservations already have been made for the event, which will include a chicken barbecue at 6:30 p. m. under the east side of Jones Stadium, and a program at 7:30 p. m. in the Tech gymnasium.

Victory said no Rotary luncheon would be held today because of the barbecue Thursday night.

In addition to Gov. Mabry's speech, the Noteables quartet will perform, and Dr. William O. Gordon will speak on the work and advancements made by the Lubbock Cerebral Palsy center.

Victory said Gov. Mabry probably would arrive Thursday afternoon.

Dr. E. N. Jones, vice-president of Texas Tech, heads the local committee in charge of the program.

Air Guards To Stage Mock Houston Attack

HOUSTON, Sept. 28. (AP)—Three Texas air guard fighter squadrons and a bombardment squadron from Louisiana will make a simulated bombing run on the Houston ship channel Sunday.

Houston, Dallas and San Antonio units will participate, Lt. Col. Roland Burns of Houston said.

Plans For '50 Tech Yearbook Drafted Here

Texas Technological college's Silver anniversary will be the theme of the 1950 La Ventana, student yearbook, Editor Roy Grimes revealed Tuesday.

To include approximately 500 pages divided among sections of administration, classes, limelight, activities, organizations, and athletics, the book will have as photographer Fred Gibson, Dallas.

Other members of the staff as announced by Grimes include Margy Bullen, 2323 Eighteenth, Lubbock, as art editor and Vernon Bradley, 1623 Seventeenth, Lubbock, as sports editor.

To Include New Features

Features of the yearbook will include "Mr. and Miss Texas Tech," a former feature being revived for the first time since 1945. Also new this year will be the inclusion of men favorites from each class.

Formerly only women favorites had been chosen, Grimes stated. The editor plans to have the favorites elected by ballot rather than by class meetings as in the past. An ROTC beauty elected by members of that corps on the campus will also be a yearbook attraction.

Beauties for this year's annual will be eight in number and will be given a two-page spread each, on a formal pose and the other page made up of informal shots. Nominations for beauties are now being accepted through Oct. 8. On Oct. 16 a group of three prominent Lubbock citizens will choose the finalists, from which a nationally-known celebrity yet to be selected will pick the winners.

Division pages of the 1950 La Ventana will be yellow with black designs drawn by the art editor, Grimes declared. The class section is expected to include approximately 3,900 pictures, as indicated by receipts for snapshots. Deadline for the making of class pictures has been set for Friday.

Other students who will do yoemen duties for the yearbook include Mary Ann Kelly, Colorado City; Mrs. Norma Crews, Edinberg; Kathleen Kilpatrick, Cleburne; Margy MacEachin, Fort Worth; and Luan Wear, Big Spring. Doug Fairchild, Calvert, will be assistant photographer.

Pioneer Air Line To Test Swedish Plane

HOUSTON, Sept. 28 (AP) — A new-type Swedish manufactured transport plane, proposed for use by U. S. air lines, will land at nine Texas towns on a trial flight Saturday.

Pioneer Air Line officials said one of the 32-passenger, Scandia 90A-1 transport, will land at Austin, San Angelo, Abilene, Fort Worth, Dallas, Waco, Temple and Bryan.

ACCUSED LIABLE FOR LATER TRIAL

Former Constable Adjudged Insane In Murder Of Couple

DECATUR, Sept. 28 (AP) — W. I. (Ike) Arwine, accused of a double slaying, will be committed to a hospital for the insane.

A jury yesterday found the former Bridgeport constable insane on Sept. 26, the day the lunacy trial opened, but sane on Aug. 23, when Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Mash were shot to death.

The jury deliberated three hours and three minutes.

Herbert V. Foreman, the jury foreman, said the jurors agreed from the start that Arwine was not now of sound mind.

"We wrangled a little," over whether Arwine was sane at the time of the slaying, he said.

Another Crazy Man

Arwine was charged with murder. Before he was tried on the first count, the lunacy trial was ordered.

Judge J. E. Carter signed a judgment ordering Arwine "to the custody of the sheriff of Wise county."

County Judge Jennings C. Brown said "we'll send him to some hospital. To me, he's just another crazy man."

Liable For Later Trial

County Attorney Tom McMurray said of the verdict:

"It's just what we wanted. We just want to keep him out of circulation the rest of his life."

Because he was judged sane at the time of the slayings, Arwine will be liable for trial on the two murder charges if and when he is released from a mental hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Mash were shot to death on their farm near Bridgeport. Arwine fled through brush 24 hours before he surrendered to a posse.

Man Publishes Will Before His Death

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Sept. 28 (U.P.) —A "will" published before he was dead in a newspaper "Letters to the Editor" column was Serop Hagopian's way of singling out novelists, journalists and newspapers that have given him pleasure in recent years.

"As I lie on my deathbed . . ." it commenced, and went on to say that the Armenian baker would like to distribute $1,300 "while I am alive to see it."

Hagopian gave $100 each to an Armenian-American novelist, a radio program, a newspaper writer and five Armenian-language newspapers. The rest of the money would be distributed later on, he said.

DALLAS LADY LOSES 58 POUNDS

The following remarkable story shows conclusively that Barcentrate DOES take off fat.

It contains nothing harmful. In fact, it contains ingredients that make you feel better. No starvation diet—no weakness—no hunger. Barcentrate, the original grapefruit juice recipe, takes off fat quickly, safely and you can eat plenty.

Here is proof

"I want to tell you what weight I have lost in 2½ months by using Barcentrate. I weighed 262 pounds when I started. I now weigh 204. I am so proud I tried it. I was told that I could not live a year unless I lost some weight. You may use my name any way you wish."—Mrs. J. B. Moore, 1638 Mentor Street, Dallas, Texas.

At all druggists

If you are overweight and want to take off ugly fat, just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of liquid Barcentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Then take just two tablespoonfuls twice a day. If the very first bottle doesn't show you the simple, safe way to take off weight, return the empty bottle for your money back.

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—The flapper of the Terrible Twenties is due for a comeback in the Fabulous Fifties.

Newest indication is the return of the short evening dress, a favorite of the jazz age, now gaining general acceptance in the bebop era. Along with the single bob, the shorter skirt and the "bunny hug" coat, it is a sign of the times.

Although the short evening dress has appeared in fashion collections for the last four or five years, it has established itself as a major fashion in all price ranges and age groups just this season. Fashion authorities agree that we will be seeing it this winter on Main street as well as Park Avenue.

In Various Phases

This nostalgic garment is shown in various phases, most extreme of which is the street-length chiffon sheath, embroidered in rhinestones, just as the John Held girls used to wear them back in 1925. The waistline, however, has not yet dropped to the hips, and the bustline is still allowed its natural curves.

An indication of the wide acceptance of the trend comes from Ruth Jacobs, fashion editor of "Women's Wear," who says:

"There's no question about it—short evening dresses are at their peak of acceptance right now. Although they've been around for several years, we have noted that each year has seen a more general acceptance throughout the country. At first this was a limited big-city fashion. Now short evening dresses are selling at all price levels, and to all age groups. They're even included now in the pattern books. You might call it a 'sweeping' acceptance."

Opinion Is Confirmed

Mainbocher, designer to the upper crust, confirms the opinion:

"I have been showing short evening dresses ever since L-85 (wartime restrictions) would permit. I think that if a woman's legs permit it, the shorter evening dress is younger and more fashionable than the long, from dinner dresses right through to ball dresses."

The New York Dress Institute reports the short evening dress as selling in greater numbers this year than at any time since 1925, gaining favor with juniors as well as older women.

Some of the street-length after-dark outfits, however, are as formal as they come, with strapless tops, bejewelled trimmings and even crinoline skirts.

A favorite city outfit is the strapless street-length dress and matching cover-up jacket. With the jacket, it's a discreet street outfit. Without, it's the last word for dinner or dancing.

Fashion magazines such as "Vogue" and "Harper's Bazaar" show the street-length evening gown as an important winter fashion. Designers such as Sophie, Hattie Carnegie, Adrian and Lilly Dache feature it in their current collections.

It seems the fashion is here to stay—at least for a season—and that once more it's the style to show your ankles when you dance.

Armed Brothers To Defy Union Order To Shut Down Mine

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Sept. 28. (AP)—Vowing to "defend our right to make a living," six brothers who operate a small, non-union coal mine armed themselves today.

The brothers said they were warned to "close down or expect trouble" by six union miners who visited their diggings yesterday.

S. O. Preskill, eldest brother and spokesman for the owners, said he also was told that a band of 200 to 300 striking union miners met at nearby Sipsey yesterday for a march on their mine.

Sheriff Holds Men

Sheriff Grove C. Baggett of Walker county said he alone held off the men who assembled at Sipsey.

Baggett accompanied the group that visited the Preskitt mine.

He asked the brothers "not to cause me trouble" and told them "you can't have good health even with the best I can do if this mine continues in operation."

Preskitt said he told Baggett the brothers would talk "peacefully with anybody, but we don't propose to shut down."

The Preskitt mine is a strip mine in nearby Walker county. It produces about 150 tons per day.

LEGAL ANGLES BEING CHECKED

British, Canadian Scientists May Join U. S. Atomic Work

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28 (AP)—Lawmakers heard today that British and Canadian scientists may be invited to join in atomic energy developments in this country.

Senator Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) told a reporter he has asked for legal advice on whether any such arrangement can be made. He wants to know whether it would violate terms of the atomic energy act, which he and others contend bans exchange of a-bomb information with any other country.

Another committee member, who asked not to be quoted by name, said it is his belief that British and Canadian experts could be taken into the American project without any change in the law.

Screening Proposed

This senator said he would not be surprised if some such proposal is made as a result of American-British - Canadian atomic talks which James E. Webb, undersecretary of state, has said probably will be put on a continuing basis.

Hickenlooper said he has no basic objection to bringing British and Canadian scientists into the American set-up, so long as they are properly screened. He added that he would favor a change in the law to that end, if necessary.

The senator made it plain, however, that he doesn't subscribe to any full partnership arrangement under which the British would be given the complete know-how and would go ahead with bomb manufacture in their country.

Program To Be Reviewed

"In view of Russia's claim that she has the bomb, we have more responsibility than ever before to keep atomic developments entirely under our control," he said.

Chairman McMahon (D-Conn) of the Senate-House atomic committee said he doubts that Congress will be called upon to consider at this session any change in the law.

He added, however, that he expects the Russian atomic developments to have "considerable influence" on the course of American-British-Canadian talks.

McMahon called the joint committee together to review with the Atomic Energy commission the progress of the program in this country, in the light of Russian claims.

Hiked Output Likely

It is entirely possible, McMahon said, that some move will be made to step up a-bomb manufacture. He noted that Congress has voted $1,100,000,000 (b) for AEC use in the year that ends next June 30.

The United States is using all of the uranium it can get now and wants more, McMahon said. Division of the supplies of this mineral that are under their control is one of the topics of the American - British - Canadian conversations.

Meanwhile there was talk of still greater efforts to develop an atomic - powered airplane that could drop a-bombs.

The great difficulties of converting atomic energy into a propulsive force are being studied as an Air Force project. The project has several hundred persons working, mostly in development of the theory on paper, at Oak Ridge, Tenn.

Fourth Baby In Set Of Quadruplets Dies

CHICAGO, Sept. 28 (AP)—The last remaining baby of quadruplets born to a mother who not certain she was pregnant died yesterday, 16 hours after the first baby was delivered.

Mrs. Bernice Ecker, 33, the mother of the two boys and two girls who were born three to four months prematurely, died Monday night from anemia.

One of the two girls died three hours after birth. One boy was stillborn and the second boy died in the incubator at Holy Cross hospital 10 hours after birth. The last of the quads, a girl weighing about one and a half pounds, died in an incubator at 2 p. m. yesterday.

Mrs. Ecker's husband, Vernon, a truck driver, said his wife had not received prenatal care as she was not sure she was an expectant mother. Mrs. Ecker was the mother of three children ranging in age from 11 to 8 by a previous marriage.

Change In Methods Of Polls Forecast

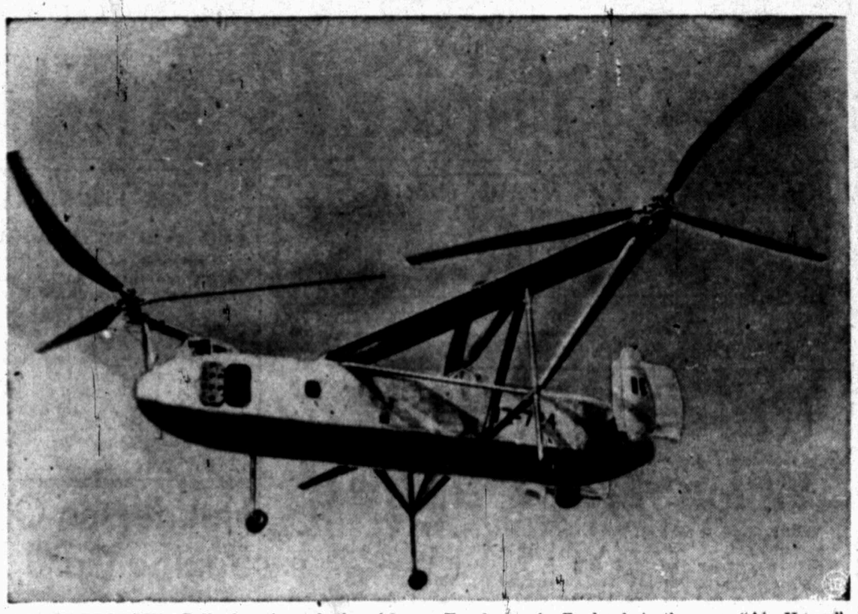

CHICAGO, Sept. 28. (U.P.)—Poll takers are realizing that spot checks of public opinion are not as important as the factors which lead people to change their opinions over a period of years.

Paul F. Lazarsfield, Columbia University sociology department chairman, claimed recently that future surveys probably will keep the same group of people under observation for a long period, perhaps years.

Lazarsfield explained that opinions change very slowly, and repeated questioning over a long time will be necessary to learn how childhood attitudes are changed by maturity and outside pressure.

More and more problems are becoming community rather than family problems, he claimed, with the result that "there needs to be more and more research on public opinion."

There is a shortage of skilled public opinion researchers, Lazarsfield said. He added that schools for teaching the subject should be established.

Czechs Confiscate U. S. Information Bulletin, Charging It Carried Insult To Soviet Union

PRAGUE, Sept. 28 (AP)—The Czechoslovak government confiscated the U. S. Information service's daily bulletin distributed here today, claiming that it contained an "insult" to Russia.

The alleged insult, the Czechs said, was contained in the bulletin's reprint of a New York Times editorial which suggested that German scientists had helped the Russians in discovering the secret of the atomic bomb.

Joseph Kolarek, press attache of the U.S. embassy who is in charge of the bulletin, said Czech authorities told him they objected to the following sentence in the editorial reprinted from the Times:

"It is an obvious conclusion (as has often been stated by competent scientists) that sooner or later the Russians would succeed in splitting the atom, especially if they had—and they do have—the help of borrowed German scientists."

The Czechs said that sentence ran afoul of their law for the defense of the republic, particularly of a paragraph dealing with "insulting an allied state."

The confiscated issue also contained President Truman's statement on the reported atomic explosion in Russia, Washington statements on American atomic policy and various U. S. press comments on the subject.

About 2,000 copies of the USIS bulletin are published here in Czech. These go by mail to political leaders, educators and various other Czechs. The bulletin is subject to postal censorship.

Reds Free Two Young American Bicyclists

HELMSTEDT, Germany, Sept. 28. (AP)—Two young Americans, jailed by the Russians two months ago for bicycling into the Soviet zone of Germany, were freed today and came back to U. S. territory.

The youths were Warren Oelsner, 20, of Oyster Bay, N. Y., and Peter Sellers, 18, of Philadelphia.

They had been held at the Soviet zone city of Madgeburg ever since their arrest July 28 because they had entered the Soviet zone without proper permit papers while trying to bicycle to Berlin.

Youths Seek Thrill By Burrowing Under Track And Letting Trains Pass Overhead

CHICAGO, Sept. 28. (AP)—Two high school boys were hauled off a railroad embankment by police yesterday, halting what the youths described as their newly discovered idea of a thrill.

Detectives had seen the boys walking along the tracks and then burrow into a 10-inch deep opening under the ties. The officers became more curious when they saw the boys spread a sheet over them.

The cops wanted an explanation.

"We like to lie under the tracks and watch the trains go over us," they told Detectives James O'Neil and John Pretzel. "We were doing it just for a kick."

The boys told the detectives they discovered the cleared opening under the tracks about a week ago and climbed into it. Within inches of their heads, they said, six trains on the Chicago and North Western railroad tracks zoomed over them within 30 minutes.

Yesterday they brought along a sheet so they wouldn't get their clothes dirty. They also picked the rush hour—between 5 and 6 p. m.—when they expected about a dozen trains would pass over them.

The boys, Raymond Salaman, 16, and Thomas Collins, 15, were turned over to their parents by police.

Italy Relaxes Trade Barrier

ROME, Sept. 28 (AP) — Italy has answered appeals from Marshall plan chiefs for fewer trade barriers by opening its borders to unlimited imports of 100 products, mainly raw materials needed for industry.

The foreign commerce department said the list of products for which import licenses have been abolished represent about 45 per cent of all Italian imports from Marshall plan countries. The "free trade" order applies only to goods from Marshall plan.

An additional list of imported goods is being prepared on which import licenses will be waived provided other Marshall plan countries grant similar rights to Italy, a spokesman said.

The usual customs duties and currency exchange regulations will prevail on the imported goods but there will be no limitation on quantity. Previously all imports were strictly regulated, with importers being required to get a license before bringing the products into the country.

A government spokesman said the import licenses were abolished on the 100 designated products at the request of Paul G. Hoffman, Marshall plan administrator, to facilitate free flow of trade between Marshall plan countries.

Other Marshall plan countries were reported preparing similar steps.

Young Democrats To Meet In Fort Worth

DALLAS, Sept. 28. (AP)—Fort Worth will be the site of the Oct. 28-29 state convention of Texas Young Democrats.

The executive committee of the organization picked the site at a meeting here yesterday.

Wright Morrow, Texas Democratic national committeeman, and Roy Baker, Sherman, national president of the Young Democrats, attended.

A debate between a Republican and a Democrat was staged as a stunt to create interest in politics among young people.

Dad's Fast Thinking Saves Drowning Lad

LA SALLE, Colo., Sept. 28. (U.P.)—When the two-year-old son of Walter Channell fell into a pool of water, crude but effective artificial respiration saved the lad's life.

The father, a caretaker at a fish hatchery, pulled the child out of the water, held him up by his ankles and whacked him on the back until the youngster started breathing again.

Episcopal Church Convention To Study Rector's Dismissal

ACE-HIGH HOSE—No matter what the game, the trump card is always at your ankle if you're wearing these "Canasta hose" created by a Hollywood designer. A tiny spade, heart, club and diamond, in red and black, decorate the ankle of the conversation-piece nylon hose.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 28 (AP)—The case of the ousted Brooklyn rector, the Rev. John Howard Melish, is expected to reach the 56th general convention of the Protestant Episcopal church late today.

Convention sources said a resolution in his behalf would be presented to the house of deputies.

Dr. Melish, rector of Holy Trinity Episcopal church in Brooklyn, was dismissed by Bishop James P. De Wolfe. There were charges that Dr. Melish had condoned alleged pro-Communist activities of his son, the Rev. W. H. Melish, 39, associate rector of the church. Parishioners of the church voted 261 to 27 to ignore the ouster of Dr. Melish and to dismiss, instead, nine complaining vestrymen.

To Study Resolution

The resolution as drafted questions canon 46 of the church, which designates vestrymen as "agents and legal representatives of the parish." It also urges the house of deputies to declare that vestrymen must not act in opposition to known wishes of the parishioners. Convention sources said the resolution would be referred to a committee for study.

Meanwhile three women delegates to the house of deputies, denied seats on Monday, were invited by resolution to attend the sessions without a voice or a vote.

The three are Mrs. Edmund V. Cowdry of St. Louis, Mrs. Elizabeth Pittman of Omaha and Miss Ruth Jenkins of Tacoma, Wash. They have not indicated whether they will attend as silent guests.

The women's auxiliary drafted a resolution protesting the general convention's refusal to seat the trio. It will not be voted upon by the auxiliary until Thursday or Friday.

Texas Radio Station Used For Servicemen

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 28. (U.P.) A little-known installation on a hill on the outskirts of San Antonio bridges the gap of thousands of miles between members of families stationed at military outposts throughout the world.

The installation is short-wave transmitter K5FAC, located at Lackland Air Force Base. A powerful station, it regularly contacts such remote spots as Tokyo and tiny Johnson Island in the Pacific.

A new wrinkle recently has been added to the station's facilities. Now, by means of the newly installed telephone connection, a San Antonio housewife can talk directly to her service husband in England, Panama or elsewhere.

Operated for servicemen and dependents of the San Antonio area, K5FAC is managed by the personnel services section of Lackland. The station is linked with an emergency short wave network that co-operates with ham operators, Civil Air Patrol pilots and law enforcement officials.

When Her Hair Has Turned To Purple, That's All, Brother

NEW YORK, Sept. 28. (U.P.)—The fashionable women of New York are tinting their hair pink, blue and purple today—and sometimes striped—to match the colors of their hats and dresses.

Michel of Helena Rubinstein (Michel Kazan in private life) says about 25 per cent of his customers have already fallen for the "eccentric" colored tints he introduced only a few weeks ago.

Nostalgia, He Says

"It is a sort of nostalgia for the 20's," Michel said. "Remember how they bleached and dyed their hair and sometimes it came out green?

"Also with the short haircuts, there is not so much they can change, so we change the color."

Michel's new colors all wash out as easily as dirt, he said, and are simple enough so a woman can use them at home—as often as she changes her dress, maybe.

Pirates Defeat Cards, 6-4; Yankees And Bosox Triumph

Idle Dodgers Gain On Leaders As Angry Bucs Batter Munger

By RALPH RODEN
Associated Press

The St. Louis Cardinals' violation of the unwritten baseball rule "let sleeping dogs lie" may cost them the National league pennant.

Pittsburgh's Pirates, a docile sixth place club when Ralph Kiner isn't on the prowl, act like a pack of roaring lions when they clash with the swifties from St. Louis—chiefly because of an early-season feud.

Pittsburgh chopped the Cards' advantage over Brooklyn to one game last night, scoring a 6-4 triumph over their despised rivals before 27,283 fans under the lights at Forbes field. The Dodgers were idle.

Bosox Beat Nats

While the Pirates jolted the Cards, the Boston Red Sox downed their "cousins," the Washington Senators, 6-4, to protect their one game American League lead over the New York Yankees. The Yanks defeated the Philadelphia Athletics, 3-1 in the afternoon.

The Pirates' long war with the Cards began early in the season when Ken Johnson, wild young Cardinal lefthander, beaned Shortstop Stan Rojek. The Pirates charged the Card Catcher Joe Garagiola had deliberately called for the bean ball. Garagiola and Card Manager Eddie Dyer denied the accusation but the Pirates were firm in their conviction.

The vendetta flamed anew in the Pirates' last visit to St. Louis. Enos Slaughter of the Cards spiked Pirate Second Baseman Danny Murtaugh and the Pirates vowed to take care of the Red Birds when they came to Pittsburgh.

Pirates Belt Munger

This they did in no uncertain manner. The Pirates belted Red Munger, righthanded ace of the Cards, for five runs in the second inning to clinch the game last night.

Rookie Outfielder Tom Saffell dropped Munger through the trap door with a grand slam home run to climax the rally. The runs will not blemish Munger's earned run average as an error by Red Schoendienst made all of the runs unearned. The Pirates now have beaten the Cards 11 times in 21 games.

Joe Dobson, with help from Walt Masterson, pitched the rampaging Red Sox to victory over Washington's woeful Senators. The victory was Boston's 11th straight and its 14th consecutive win over Washington.

The Sox socked Paul Calvert for six runs in the first six innings while Boston limited the Senators to one hit over the same span. Boston drove Calvert out with a four run blast in the sixth, which Dobson capped with a run-producing single.

Washington loaded the bases against Dobson in the seventh with none out but managed to score only once. The Senators sent Curly Joe to the showers in the following inning, scoring three runs before Masterson rushed in, threw a double play ball to Roberto Ortiz, and got Eddie Robinson to fly out.

Vic Raschi hung up his 20th victory in pitching the Yanks to victory over Philadelphia.

The Yanks jumped on Dick Fowler for all of their runs in the third inning. Fowler forced the first one home by walking Tommy Henrich with the bases loaded. Yogi Berra followed with a two-run single to chase Fowler in favor of Bobby Shantz.

In the only other games yesterday, the Cleveland Indians shaded the Chicago White Sox, 3-2, on Joe Gordon's ninth inning single. The Cincinnati Reds edged the Chicago Cubs, 5-4, scoring two runs in the ninth. Virgil Stallcup's fourth hit scored Danny Litwhiler with the payoff run.

Tulsa Oilers Gain Texas Loop Crown

FORT WORTH, Sept. 28. (AP)—The Tulsa Oilers polished their new Texas league crown today and got ready for the Dixie Series with the Nashville Vols, champions of the Southern association, tomorrow night in the Tennessee city.

Tulsa won the Texas league title last night by defeating the Fort Worth Cats, 4 to 1, in an 11-inning rubber game played under protest.

It was Tulsa's first Texas league title since 1936.

The Oilers defeated Birmingham in four straight games that year.

The Oilers and Vols will play in Nashville Thursday and Friday nights, spend Saturday traveling and open a three-game stand in Tulsa Sunday. If additional games are necessary, the clubs move back to Nashville Thursday, Oct. 6.

Top Golfers To Play Here

Two of the outstanding golfers in the world, Frank Stranahan, amateur, and Dr. Cary Middlecoff, professional, will be seen in action Oct. 7, when they play an 18-hole exhibition match at the Lubbock Country club.

Appearance of the two golfers in Lubbock is being made possible by the American Business club, with the Lubbock Boys club benefitting by the appearance. The ABC members sponsor the Boys club.

Stranahan last week won the Western Amateur to add to his already long list of growing titles. Middlecoff won the National Open title as a professional last year. Both golfers have finished high in most outstanding tournaments this year.

Stranahan Old Player

Stranahan has been playing golf longer than Middlecoff and his record is, in some ways, more impressive. He won the Trans-Mississippi tournament in 1941 and that started him on a long list of victories. After service during the war, Stranahan returned in 1946 to win the Western Amateur title.

The following season, 1947, Stranahan was runner-up in the Western Amateur, but won the Canadian Amateur title, a trophy that he annexed again in 1948. He had, in the meantime, won the highly coveted British Amateur golf title in 1946 to stamp himself as one of the leading golfers of the world. He also holds the Mexican Amateur crown.

Middlecoff, a Memphis, Tenn., dentist, deserted filling holes in teeth to fill holes in greens after an eye injury in 1945. He opened his golf campaign unheralded by winning the North and South Open, the first and only time an amateur has ever turned the trick.

Left Dental Practice

That decided him. He left his dental practice and went into golf seriously as a pro. He finished twelfth in the Jacksonville Open in 1947, but two weeks later copped the Charlotte Open. He was on his way.

VARSITY RAGGED IN WORKOUT

Raider Drills For WTS Tilt Pushed

Varsity and freshman practice was combined at Texas Tech yesterday and after the long afternoon's double scrimmage session had ended, some observers were hoping the varsity would play West Texas State college's freshmen Friday night and the freshmen the varsity Saturday .

Both teams are slated for action against Buffalo teams this week end, the first year men playing the Buffs Friday night in Jones Stadium and the varsity meeting the Buffs Saturday night in the opening Border Conference game.

Coach Dell Morgan, obviously dissatisfied with the way the varsity looked against the freshmen yesterday, was in a raging mood. One varsity group worked offense against the freshmen, while another was on defense against freshmen using Buff plays.

Freshmen working Buff plays advanced the ball too well to suit the coaches and the air was filled with imprecations all afternoon. Little Carl Madison, the Alabama ace, ran the frosh from the quarterback slot and scored consistently with his plays. His passing, especially deep downfield, was brilliant and the varsity was handcuffed.

Varsity linemen stopped running plays fairly well, but still made too many mistakes. The type of error being committed was pure negligence, not lack of instruction, and set up various successful play gains by the frosh. If they had been made in a real game, West Texas would have pushed relentlessly down the field.

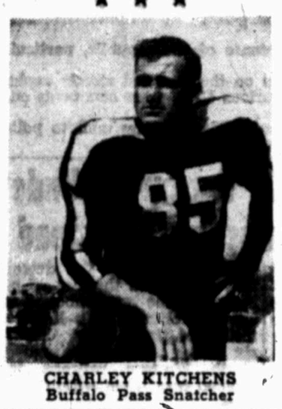

Raider offensive plays were working much better against the freshmen defenders, but there was something lacking. The backs weren't driving as hard as they should and the line wasn't opening holes as well as they could. Altogether, neither the offensive or defensive Tech units showed much.

Meanwhile the injury list continues to grow, with ankle trouble still the big problem. Latest casualties are Halfback Tim Hatch and End Luke Thompson. Hatch injured his ankle in the Texas game and then reinjured it Saturday against the Texas Aggies. He was in uniform and running plays, but limping, yesterday.

Thompson also injured an ankle Saturday night and then reinjured it yesterday. He was also in uniform and limping yesterday, as was Halfback Herman Bailey, another leg injury case. Halfback Walter Maloney still hasn't recovered from his charley horse.

Bobby Close, Shamrock sophomore halfback, came down with an infected heel after a blister broke and wasn't in uniform. He may see no action Saturday at all. Marshall Gettys, senior tackle, got a broken nose in Saturday's game, but is taking his turn in practice.

More heavy work is on the program today after the poor showing that the varsity turned in yesterday.. Spirit, however, on the Techsan squad remains high.

Red Sox Triumph Too Much For Man

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Sept. 28 (AP)—A man who told police he suffered a shock Monday as the Boston Red Sox defeated the New York Yankees, 7-6, was found lying beside his radio last night, 27 hours after the game's end.

James H. Kingston, 65, who lives alone, was discovered by his sister, Mrs. H. J. Dodds, after her telephone calls went unanswered.

Henderson On Boxing Card

Three South Plains fighters, Bill Henderson, Gene James and Leonard Duncan, will appear on a special fight card in Carlsbad, N. M., tonight.

Henderson, the promising lightweight fighter from Levelland, who also claims Texas Tech and Lubbock as home, will face Lee Jones of Cincinnati, Ohio, a negro, in a 10-round main event. Jones is a tough fighter with an impressive string of victories compiled mainly throughout New Mexico, Arizona and Nevada.

The Levelland Larruper will be after his 25th victory in 27 starts when he meets Jones.

James, a Lubbock heavyweight, and Leonard Duncan, Hale Center middleweight, also will be seeking to extend winning streaks. James now has won 11 straight fights and will seek his 12th, while Duncan has won his only four fights so far. James is to meet Clint Rawlings of Albuquerque, a negro, in a six round bout.

Duncan, who has won his first four fights in impressive fashion, will battle Gene Zobie, a soldier stationed at Fort Bliss in El Paso. Duncan and Zobie were matched once before, but the soldier wasn't able to secure a pass and the bout was cancelled.

Two other fighters, Charley Neff of Petersburg and Billy Brackeen of Slaton, also may be on the card. Babe Ritchie, responsible only for Henderson, James and Duncan, said that he heard they might appear, but that there was nothing definite.

Henderson has lost only two fights so far, both to Jean Mougin of France.

PLAYOFF SERIES OPENS

BIG SPRING, Sept. 28. (AP)—Corpus Christi and Big Spring tonight open a best four out of seven game series for the Class D baseball championship of Texas.

Shallowater Cagers Trounce New Home

NEW HOME, Sept. 28. (Special)—New Home basketball teams met defeat here last night at the hands of Shallowater High school boys and girls teams, the boys winning 39-27 and the girls taking a 14-4 victory.

Harold Clark and Walter Hutton paced the visiting Mustangs, Clark with 15 points and Hutton with 14. Bill Van Diver sparked the losers with 13 points.

Alice Russell scored 10 of the Shallowater 14 points for the winning girls.

The two teams meet again Friday night in Shallowater.

Tackling And Dummy Scrimmage Feature Lubbock Grid Workout

Dummy scrimmage, head-on tackling and wind sprints occupied Lubbock High school's football team yesterday and the Westerner players, who battle Plainview Friday night, responded to the unexpected light drill with high spirits.

Heavy scrimmage had been planned by Coach C. R. Pattison and anticipated by the players, but things were changed and the Westerners had a light drill. For over two hours they worked on dummy scrimmage, polishing their offensive plays, and there was distinct improvement by the time Coach Pattison called off the day's work.

Primary attention was given to timing in the backfield and the learning of blocking assignments in the line. Plays were run and run until Coach Pattison appeared satisfied.

Wind Sprints Held

Following the dummy scrimmage, Westerner players went through a short session of head-on tackling and then a gruelling number of wind sprints. Part of the Westerners' fine showing in the first two games has been due to their fine physical condition and Coach Pattison intends to keep them fit.

Sleepy Nelson, a member of the varsity last year, but relegated to the Cowhands at the start of the season, was brought up to the varsity yesterday. The stocky little guard is a good blocker and has shown fine competitive spirit.

A review of Westerner statistics for the first two games follows:

Lubbock team totals against North Side were very encouraging, with passing being used for the first time this year. Against Childress the team used nothing but ground plays, rushing to 414 net yards.

Tested The Wings

But the Steers were a different team, and Coach Pattison felt it necessary to test the wings of the Westerners. Sixteen passes were thrown, seven being completed for 103 yards and three touchdowns. One was intercepted late in the game.

On the ground 265 net yards were accumulated, and the first down total was 13. Of this number three came through the air. Total net yardage was 368 yards.

Thus far few plays have backfired, with four plays losing yardage against the Steers for a total of only six yards. The longest run from scrimmage was Charlie Williams' 86 yard gallop in the fourth quarter against North Side. In the Childress game Wayne Stroud ran 72 yards and Tommy Fisher 63 yards.

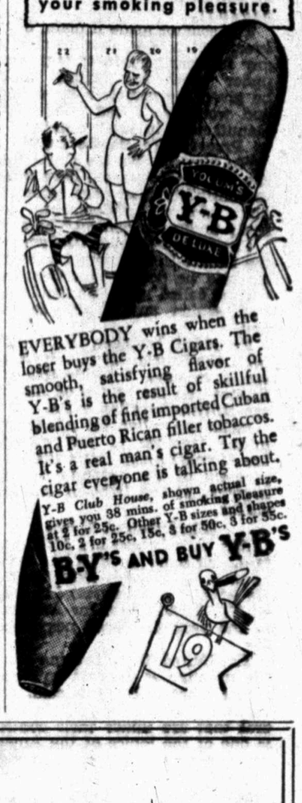

Penalties dropped considerably over the first week's, but the Westerners were charged 45 yards on five violations against the Steers, yardage that could prove costly in a close game.

Defensively the Westerners proved strong once again. North Side was able to capture 10 first downs, five on the ground and five passing, but total net yardage was only 97.

Between The Lines by Joe Kelly

Something's wrong at Texas Tech and no one seems to know where the fault lies. What's more, no one seems to be able to diagnose the ailment. The players, the coaches, and the faithful sideline observors have been trying to put their finger on it and they can't. But unless the Raiders correct whatever is wrong before another day or two passes they may be in for a most unpleasant Saturday night in Jones Stadium.

Before the season opened, the players and coaches both were looking for the best season they had had in years. There even was a feeling among the players that they could beat Texas in Austin and they were certain that they'd lick Texas A. and M. They were looking for a season that went along smoothly, with possibly nine victories and certainly a Border Conference championship again. Close supporters of the college, looking at the squad in spring practice and early fall, expected great things of the Raiders. This was a squad of which to be proud, one which was going to function smoothly and roll steadily along.

Who has thrown sand in the gears? No one knows and everyone wishes they knew. Reliable players, old hands, have been making mistakes they haven't made since they were freshmen. Injuries have struck the team in abundance. The offense won't click except for brief moments. The blocking wouldn't do credit to a Class B team much of the time and the tackling has been on the slipshod side. The Raiders, at this point of the season, need a spark that they haven't exhibited yet. They need to think more while playing. And they need to get rougher. So far they have been the sports disappointment of the year in Lubbock and if they don't know it, everyone else does.

Perhaps there was too much confidence before the season got underway. If so, that should have been rubbed out with the tight squeeze they had with Abilene Christian. The Texas defeat should have made them more determined than ever. Instead, they let an inferior Aggie team, aroused to fever pitch, beat them badly. It wasn't so much the fact that Tech wasn't a good team as it was that the Aggies, on Saturday night, were a much better team. If the Raiders had had the desire that the Aggies had, Tech would have won the game. If the first three games are an indication of things to come, Tech is in for a bad season. And the possible turning point could be the West Texas State college game Saturday.

We hope that the Raiders settle down, quit their mistakes, sharpen their blocking and tackling and think. Potentially they have the best team in Texas outside the Southwest Conference. They have size, speed and ability. If they'd talk themselves into it, they could play rough, bruising ball, the type that wins games. Contrary to the opinions of several, they are getting coaching and good coaching at that. It's disheartening to watch players receive instructions day after day and then see them turn right around and do the opposite. And don't forget, the amazing thing is that most of these players are seasoned. They probably know better, but yet they make foolish mistakes. It's the same thing as in baseball; you have to keep thinking one play ahead of the present play.

We believe that the Raiders can win Saturday night. We believe that they are capable of playing better ball than they have played and that they will. We believe that if they have the desire to win, they will win. It won't be an easy game Saturday night. The Buffaloes always point to next year, always believe that this is the time that they'll beat Tech. It's an obsession, but the type of obsession that can be dangerous for the Raiders unless they take the game seriously. There's little doubt that the Buffs were thinking ahead to the Tech game when McMurry beat them. It's an indication of how tough they will be when they come to town. We can't forget the terrific battle the Buffs gave the Raiders in 1947 and 1948. Just a little more either year and they'd have won.

Incidentally, the stories of injuries in the Tech camp are not to be taken lightly. So far the Raiders have been struck by more losses than they were at any time all last season. Right now they virtually have no speed in their backfield because of ankle injuries. Herman Bailey, Walter Maloney, Tim Hatch, Bobby Close and Ike Stuver, five of the fastest backs, all have injuries that have slowed them tremendously. Loss of Don Williams can't be underrated, while the loss of End Jack Davis, best offensive receiver on the squad, cuts deeply into the passing game. The squad definitely isn't in top shape, but spirit yesterday was high. We hope it remains that way and that it grows even more intense.

THE ROUNDUP: Coach Allie White says that McMurry's Brad Rowland could play pro ball right now . . . We'll stay with Doak Walker, though, because he has ability in all departments backed up by a great football mind . . . Texas Western landed End Bill Thompson, Tackle Ewell Dee Kelley, Center Don Bybee and Halfback Jerry McCullough from Lockney's 1948 District 3-A championship football team. Kelley was Class A all-state . . . That's great news for golfers that Cary Middlecoff and Frank Stranahan will be here . . . Coach C. R. Pattison is doing a wonderful job of constructing a football system in the Lubbock school system . . . Who are you betting on in the pennant races now?

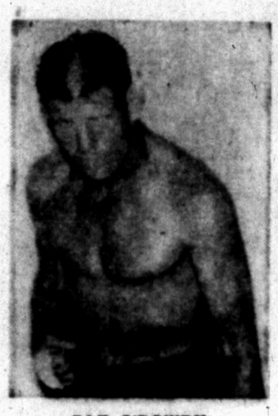

Lindy Berry Paces Backs Of Southwest

DALLAS, Sept. 28. (U.P.)—Larrupin' Lindy Berry of Texas Christian university today jumped ahead of Southwest conference backfield hopefuls in passing, punt returning and total offensive gains.

Conference Secretary James H. Stewart reported that the lithe, 170-pound Horned Frog signal caller had completed 32 out of 52 pass attempts for 408 yards. The 59 yards he picked up on 22 running plays put him far ahead of the field in total yards gained.

Paul Campbell of Texas completed 15 out of 32 passes for 291 yards, but a minus 20-yard rushing average cut his overall offensive total to 271 yards in 32 plays.

Doak Walker of Southern Methodist was third in the flipping department with 216 yards on 10 completed passes on 15 tries.

PAT O'DOWDY
Wrestles Here Tonight

Team Bout Is Set Tonight

Wayne Martin and Vic Weber, a pair of old hands in the ring, take on Rod Fenton and Pat O'Dowdy, another pair of oldsters in the main event at Sled Allen's arena tonight.

The four grapplers, only two of whom will be in the ring at the same time—legitimately—in the Australian tag team match, should provide fans with an exciting night. Fenton and O'Dowdy have as much respect for ring rules as a bandit on the highway. Both Martin and Weber are clean wrestlers with more respect for the rules.

Gorilla Pogi and Bill Brooks, another pair of favorites, will appear in the preliminary bout and this is billed as the perfect first match for a full night's card.

O'Dowdy has met Martin and Weber in the local ring in recent weeks, and each time he came out slightly worse off than he anticipated. Against Martin, O'Dowdy reached low in his bag of tricks for something that would give him the match, but he was not able to find one that would work for him and Martin won the first and last falls to take the decision. O'Dowdy raised a howl and had a run-in with the referee, who happened to be Weber.

Last week at the arena Weber and O'Dowdy met in the main event, an event that went to a draw. The two grapplers exchanged holds 50 minutes before O'Dowdy won the first set-to, but Weber came back to take the second in five minutes, with the remaining time being used up without decision.

So Pat will be out for a victory tonight, and with the aid of Fenton, a fine team man, he hopes to accomplish the feat.

Tickets will be on sale today from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. at the arena, with matches beginning at 8:30 p.m.

Schoolboy Powers Battle This Week

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Editor

San Jacinto of Houston has the dubious honor of trying to stop the mighty surge of Port Arthur in the Texas schoolboy football campaign this week.

It is a clash of undefeated, untied teams and headlines a schedule dotted with important battles from border to border.

Port Arthur last week whammed Milby of Houston 50-6 and Milby is supposed to be stronger than San Jacinto.

Paris and Corsicana, both unbeaten and untied, get together at Corsicana in another feature. In fact, this may be the best game of the week. At least it will show what if anything has been holding up these two unheralded teams.

Scotties Play Sherman

Other important contests have Marshall scrapping Adamson at Dallas, tough Thomas Jefferson (San Antonio) marching against unbeaten, untied Corpus Christi, Abilene testing Wichita Falls and Orange playing Baytown. In each instance a perfect-record team may fall.

Other state powerhouses do not appear strongly tested. Amarillo plays Paschal of Fort Worth, Pampa meets Vernon, Lubbock takes on Plainview and Austin engages Arlington Heights (Fort Worth).

There are more than 50 games with four of them conference affairs. The San Antonio district of the City conference has three—Brackenridge vs Lanier, Burbank vs Alamo Heights and San Antonio Tech vs Harlandale.

The start of title play in Class AA finds Ennis meeting Waxahachie in District 13.

Games Are Listed

District 1 — Thursday: Gladewater at Sunset (Dallas); Friday: Marshall at Adamson (Dallas); Saturday: Jeff Davis (Houston) at Woodrow Wilson (Dallas).

Earle Edwards, Michigan State's new end coach, never has been associated with a losing football team, either as a player or coach.

Tackle Named Top Lineman

NEW YORK, Sept. 28 (AP)—Harvard took a 44-0 drubbing from Stanford on the Pacific coast last Saturday, but nevertheless came up with the football lineman of the week in 23-year-old Howard Houston.

In the first Associated Press poll of the grid season the 200-pound senior tackle from Haverhill, Mass., today was named the top lineman of 38 nominations.

Gets Rare Tribute

Houston, who served three years in the Army Air corps from 1943 to 1946 and who was one of the East's top heavyweight collegiate wrestlers last year, earned an unusual tribute from Marchie Schwartz, Stanford coach.

"Houston undoubtedly was an All - American against us," Schwartz told San Francisco football writers. "This is something I seldom do. I intend to write Houston a personal letter congratulating him on his fine play. He made 90 per cent of the tackles on defense and was hard to block out."

Guard Is Honored

"Even when the Harvard cause was utterly hopeless in the fourth period Houston played his heart out. He is one of the best I have seen in years."

Runnerup in the voting from all parts of the country was Ewell Pope, Georgia Tech's little 168 pound guard. Pope suffered a broken jaw in the second quarter, but played the entire game and helped the engineers to an upset 12-7 victory over Vanderbilt. X-rays after the game showed his jaw broken at the point of his chin and also that three teeth were knocked out.

Ed Bagdon, Michigan State tackle, was third in the balloting. His play was one of the main reasons MSC held Michigan to a 7-3 triumph.

Billy Burke and George Von Elm won 144 holes before Burke won the 1931 U. S. Open title by a single stroke.

Conference Games Slated In Class A

By ED FITE
United Press Sports Writer

Crucial games start early in the Texas Interscholastic league's Class A football race.

In at least three districts, current leaders will be matched against each other this week in games that may go a long way toward deciding district championships.

For example, Memphis meets Lefors in District 2-A. Albany plays Haskell in the east half of 6-A and Brenham collides with Caldwell in 23-A.

Few Upsets Reported

Upsets were few among the state's 233 Class A teams last week, but two big ones occurred in 5-A where Wink and Pecos, figured to give state champion Monahans a run for its crown, were knocked over.

Around the state, it looked like this:

Phillips and Dalhart, with Hereford looking on enviously in 1-A. Phillips rocked McLean 47-0, Dalhart stopped Shamrock 27-7, while Hereford remained unscored on by downing Sudan 6-0.

Memphis' stock dropped a bit when the Cyclones beat Dumas only 13-7, while Lefors had trouble with Canadian 12-0 in 2-A.

Seminole Beats Pecos

Seminole knocked over Pecos 21-13 and Andrews upset Wink 13-9 in 5-A, while Monahans looked spotty in getting by McCamey 20-0.

Albany rolled over Eastland 26-0, while Haskell bumped Rule 32-12 in warmups for their 6-A east battle. Rotan stopped Stamford 19-0 and Colorado City kicked Anson 32-6 to emerge as threats along with Idle Hamlin and Snyder in 6-A west.

Ballinger rolled along as 7-A pace-setter with a 34-13 win over Dublin, as challenger Brady absorbed a 48-19 drubbing from 1948 state finalist New Braunfels.

Bowie Downs Olney

Ranger continued to strengthen its 8-A challenge role by upsetting Classs AA Stephenville 20-12, and Hamilton beat San Saba 19-13.

Holliday dumped Crowell as a contender for its 9-A laurels 27-0, but Burkburnett styed around with a 13-0 win over Iowa Park.

Bowie, standing out alone in 10-A, whipped Olney 32-7. In 11-A Arlington and Handley stamped themselves as contenders by whipping Pleasant Grove 20-6 and Decatur 12-0, respectively.

Garland's 12-A top role continued safe as the Owls downed Plano 19-0. But front-ranked Farmersville in 13-A took a 26-20 licking from Royse City, a team that may give high-flying Kaufman trouble in 17-A.

Atlanta blanked Mt. Pleasant 26-0, but DeKalb emerged as a 4-A contender by beating Clarksville 26-7.

Mount Vernon's 72-24 win over Edgewood strengthened its hold on the 15-A top role, but Mineola, 18-7 winner over Wills Point, and Winnsboro, 25-6 winner over Talco, can't be overlooked.

Despite Royse City's showing, Kaufman's third-straight 32-0 win of the year—at the expense of Mesquite this time—made it a strong 17-A favorite.

Bowling Results

Medlock Cafe's bowling team added Walton's to its list of victims last night in the Major Bowling League, but failed to gain ground on second place McFarland-Maisen, which beat Tate's. Hub Clothiers scored a sweep against Hemphill-Wells to move into third place.

Medlock's beat Waltons, three points to one. McFarland-Maisen duplicated against Tates. And Hub Clothiers won four points from Hemphill-Wells.

McFarland-Maisen had the team high single with a 986 and the team high series with a 2,860. Individual high scores included Eddie Sawzer, Medlocks, 254-685; Ben Brown, Hub, 235-637; Cy Barkley, McFarland-Maisen, 233-638; Bill Nelm, Waltons, 232-601; and George Tate, Tates, 231-586.

The standings: first, Medlocks, nine points; second, McFarland-Maisen, eight points; third, Hub Clothiers, six points; fourth, Waltons and Tates, five points each; and sixth, Hemphill-Wells, three points.

Mystery Surrounds Ghost City Buried In Jungles Of Africa

LONDON, Sept. 28. (U.P.)—In the dense jungleland of Kenya Colony there is a "ghost city" of unknown origin which the Colonial Office said may soon become a tourist attraction in East Africa. Gedi, the mystery city of Kenya, was discovered 25 years ago. It was overgrown by a tangle of dense tropical jungle.

No reference to it exists in the historical records of the Kenya coast. But officials of the colonial government here recounted how they visited the ruins ten years ago at a spot about one and a half miles inland and ten miles south of Malindi on the Kenya coast.

They said African tribesmen shunned the area in the belief that it was haunted and gave it the name "Shauri Mbeya" which literally means "Bad Show."

Colonial officials said investigations and conservation of Gedi are now being planned by Prof. J. S. Kirkman, warden of Kenya's historical sites.

"The city covers about a hundred acres," according to colonial officer Antony Haler.

"There are five mosques, a ruler's palace and a number of large houses, one of which might have been a school. Among the ruins have been found jars and pottery from China, Siam and Annam. Trees were growing through the roofs of the temples and there were ghostly sounds and an eerie atmosphere all about."

It is thought that Gedi may have been an Arab town because there were many built in the 12th century when Arabs migrated from southern Arabia. But unlike all other Arab cities in East Africa, Gedi is not on the sea coast.

The Kenya government plans to take over the area as a national park. "There is terrific fascination about the place," an official said. "It could be made into a wonderful tourist attraction. It has never been established how the place originated or why it was deserted. It may have been deserted because of plague or possibly coaostal raiders drove the inhabitants away. It may be 300 years old or possibly 3,000. There are absolutely no records even of its existence today but we all know it is there off the beaten track, overgrown by jungle and an aura of mystery."

Or Malayan?

The Atlantean Research Center said all their available data indicated that Gedi was a city of Malay origin.

"We have records which show that traders from Malaya were going to East Africa in the year 1200 The curator of the museum in Nairobi has minutely described the pottery found in the ruins of Gedi which provide evidence that the city was occupied by traders from the East. The architecture indicates they were Mussulmans. They may have been Islamic but the fact that the city is not on the seacoast is contrary to Arab traders' practice," the Research Center said.

Video Pioneer Says Colored Television Not Likely For Another 10 To 20 Years

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Staff Writer

PASSAIC, N. J.—A video pioneer says it will probably be at least a decade before you can have rainbows in your living room.

"I figure color television is still 10 to 20 years away," said Dr. Allen B. Du Mont, one of the "big three" TV manufacturers.

The Federal Communications commission is currently holding hearings on whether to authorize color telecasts.

"I think the FCC will postpone the thing until they have something decent to go ahead with," said Du Mont. "There has been no real change in either the CBS or RCA systems in the last three years.

The FCC announced in advance of its hearings that it wouldn't approve any color system that would make television sets now on the market obsolete.

Du Mont believes that by 1953 there will be 13,500,000 video boxes in use, 1,000 TV stations on the air, and some 950,000 persons in the mushrooming new industry.

Owns Television Network

The stocky, 48-year-old scientist-turned-businessman began at the bottom. In 1931 the young inventor made the biggest decision of his life—"to be my own boss."

He began turning out cathode-ray tubes in a remodeled garage. He has his own television network now.

He feels that radio will soon be secondary to television and believes this is already true in the larger cities. And he stubbornly contests the contention by some that radio will retain its dominance during daytime hours.

"We already have a bigger audience on some of our daytime TV programs than competing radio stations," he said.

Jack Heppinstall, a U. S. Olympic team trainer in 1948, is in his 35th year massaging the muscles of Michigan State athletes.

House Takes Up Pay Hike For Workers In Executive Branch

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28—Congress has approved a pay raise for most of the people in the armed services. Now it's in the midst of voting on a wage raise for government employes.

Not all people getting government pay. Just those in the executive branch of the government. And not all of them. Just these:

1. Postal employes. The House yesterday voted to raise them by as much as $150 to $450 a year, depending on grade and years of service. But they get no raise unless the Senate also approves.

2. White collar civil service workers making under $10,000 a year, such as clerks, stenographers, scientists, professional people, and so on. Average pay for people in this group is $3,352.

Today the House was to take up a bill giving them an average raise of $130 a year. Even though the House approves, they'll get no raise unless the Senate also approves.

Cabinet Raises Sought

3. The Executives who make $10,000 a year or more but less than $25,000. This group includes most of the top people in the government, such as cabinet members who are department heads, like the secretary of state, and the heads of various agencies and bureaus.

The House has passed a bill to give them raises ranging up to a top salary of $25,000 a year. The Senate today was to take up their case. Unless the Senate approves, they get no raise.

President Truman has been pressing Congress to boost this group. Pay for the various jobs they hold has not been increased since 1925. On the other hand, Congress raised pay for the postal and white collar civil service workers in 1945, 1946 and again in 1948.

Only four people in the executive branch make $25,000 a year or more: the ambassador to Britain and the ambassador to France, each of whom gets $25,000 a year; and the President and Vice President.

Truman Gets Boost

In January of 1949 Congress raised the President from $75,000 a year to $100,000 and boosted his tax-free expense allowance from $40,000 to $90,000. At the same time it increased the vice president's pay from $20,000 a year to $30,000 and gave him a tax-free expense allowance of $10,000 a year.

Next highest paid man in the executive branch is Paul Hoffman, head of the Economic Cooperation administration (Marshall plan). He gets $20,000.

Congress is not considering raising pay in the other two branches—legislative and judiciary—this year.

In the legislative branch — members of the House and Senate—Congress raised its own pay in 1946 from $10,000 a year to $12,500, plus a tax-free expense allowance of $2,500 a year.

In the judicial branch — the judges of the federal courts—Congress raised all the judges' salaries $5,000 each in 1946. This way:

Chief justice of the Supreme Court, from $20,500 to $25,000; eight associate justices of the Supreme Court, from $20,000 to $25,000; judges of the circuit court of appeals, from $12,500 to $17,500; and judges of the U. S. district courts, from $10,000 to $15,000.

Pay Scales Cited

(Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn got his pay boosted to $30,000, plus a $10,000 tax-free expense allowance, in January of this year when Congress was voting Vice President Barkley the same pay).

The highest paid men in government, therefore, are President Truman, Vice President Barkley, and Speaker Rayburn, although Rayburn is in the legislative branch.

Besides ECA's Hoffman, with his $20,000 a year, the pay scales for the other top executives runs like this, although the list is not complete here:

$17,500—David Lilienthal, chairman of the Atomic Energy commission.

$14,000—J. Edgar Hoover, head of the FBI; $12,500, four members of the Reconstruction Finance corporation board; $12,000, eleven members of the Interstate Commerce commission.

$10,300 — Some undersecretaries and assistant secretaries, who are chief assistants to the big department heads, like the secretary of state.

$10,000—Most heads of independent agencies and commissions, like the five members of the Federal Trade commission; three members of the Civil Service commission.

OLD POSTMAN CALLS—Former Postmaster General Will Hays rides a rural mail cart during a visit to Major Lenox R. Lohr (left), president of the Railroad Fair in Chicago.

Clayton Favors Union Of Democracies

Russian Atomic Bomb Forces U. S. To "Win The Cold War"

HOUSTON, Sept. 28 (U.P.)—Russia has the atomic bomb and puts the United States in the position of having to win the cold war "before it becomes an atomic war," former Undersecretary of State William L. Clayton said last night.

Speaking to his fellow-Houstonians at a special discussion panel, Clayton expressed no doubt that the "atomic explosion" announced by President Truman was actually the bomb.

Costs To Mount

"...Now that Russia has the atomic bomb, costs to the democracies will mount and mount," Clayton said in discussing the United States obligation to economically stagnant European countries.

With the Soviet finding a trump card, Clayton said the biggest problem in the world now was establishing peace between "two hostile camps—the Communist world and the free world."

The cold war has assumed a nature so universal and explosive, said the former State department executive, that it could result in "consequences to dreadful to contemplate."

Union Is Advocated

Clayton, vice chairman of the Houston Atlantic union committee, again urged establishment of a union of western democracies to combat Communism. As in other addresses, he explained that the union would give 350,000,000 people in the so-called "western" democracies one currency, one defense policy and one foreign policy.

"There would be concentrated such an overwhelming weight of the world's economical, industrial, military and spiritual power that no nation on earth would dare attack," Clayton theorized.

England has discovered two new coalfields at Madeley, in Staffordshire.

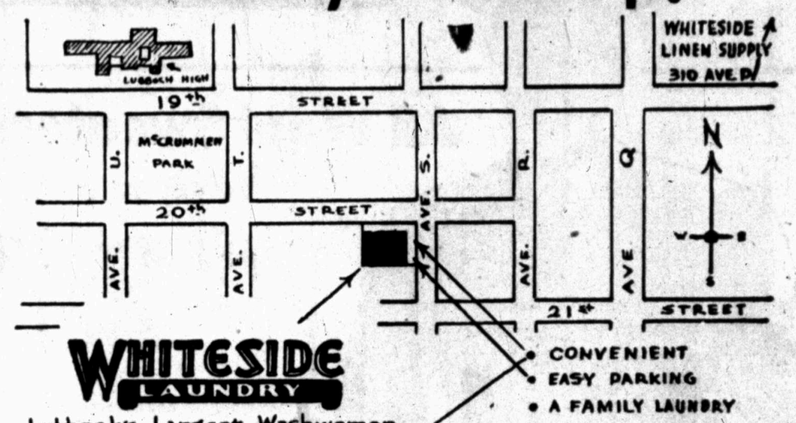

Man Injured As Car Is Hit By Gas Truck

HOUSTON, Sept. 28. (U.P.)—A big gasoline truck collided with a car and then careened into the front of a night club here last night, demolishing the front of the building and seriously injuring one man.

Tom Virgadamo, 38, driver of the car, was hospitalized. The truck driver, Sidney W. George, 47, was not hurt when the cab of his truck crashed through the front of the Hacienda club. Fire trucks rushed to the scene, but the truck did not catch fire.

"Courtesy Car" Used To Make Motorists Realize Violations

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Sept. 28. (U.P.) Memphis calls itself "The city of good abode," and it has been trying to live up to that name with the latest thing in traffic controls—the "courtesy car."

Like nearly every other American city, this world cotton center has been plagued with post-war traffic problems.

It hired a firm of traffic engineers from Columbia, S. C., to survey the situation and make recommendations. The survey cost more than $8,000 and resulted in many changes.

Problems Remained

Left turns were eliminated in many cases, streets were made one-way, buses were re-routed and automobile flow was guided to less-traveled streets.

But the human factor remained, and the "traffic cheaters" continued to operate. These are the fellows who slip through the changing amber light, who edge up just a bit too closely to the pedestrian crossing lines or who signal incorrectly for a turn.

Just minor points, but the mayor's Traffic Advisory Commission decided they were just the things which could keep accidents piling up fast on the city's books and casualties piling up in the city's hospitals.

To cope with the situation the commission, headed by Bruckner Chase, a former naval officer, came up with "Operation Safety" and the "courtesy car."

The car was simply a vehicle outfitted with a public address sound system that cruised the city streets with a police officer and a safety engineer. They watched for traffic violations and called the offender's attention to them over the loudspeaker.

It was as simple as that, with the commission preferring to call its program one of "education" rather than "traffic enforcement."

A. A. Williams, chairman of the Education Committee of the Mayor's Commission, put it this way:

"We are planning this in a spirit of co-operation, rather than one of antagonism.

"If we can make Memphis America's most courteous city, it also will be America's safest city.

"The traffic car is designed to make people conscious of the common traffic violations, most of which are based on thoughtlessness, rather than intention to violate the law.

"We do not intend to embarrass anyone. However, if it comes to embarrassing one person or pleasing one thousand, there is obviously a preferred choice."

Studies Show Foot Trouble Widespread

CHICAGO, Sept. 28 (U.P.)—If you suffer from sore feet, the chances are your boss is suffering right along with you—in his pocketbook.

Sore feet, according to Dr. L. A. Walsh, chairman of the National Association of Chiropodists' committee on industrial foot health, cost American business men about a billion dollars a year.

Dr. Walsh said that studies in factories and stores revealed that one in 10 workers lost from two to seven days a month because of aching dogs. He added that one in six stays home at least one day a month for the same reason.

More than 30 industrial firms are employing chiropodists to help employees fight such ailments as "policeman's heel" and chauffeur's foot," the doctor reported.

"Policeman's heel" is not limited to policemen. It troubles persons who walk pretty constantly on hard floors and results from loss of protective fat beneath skin over the heel.

Delivery truck drivers are susceptible to "chauffeur's foot," because of frequent jumping from their trucks to hard pavement. They develop a calloused and painful enlargement of the first ball joints on their feet.

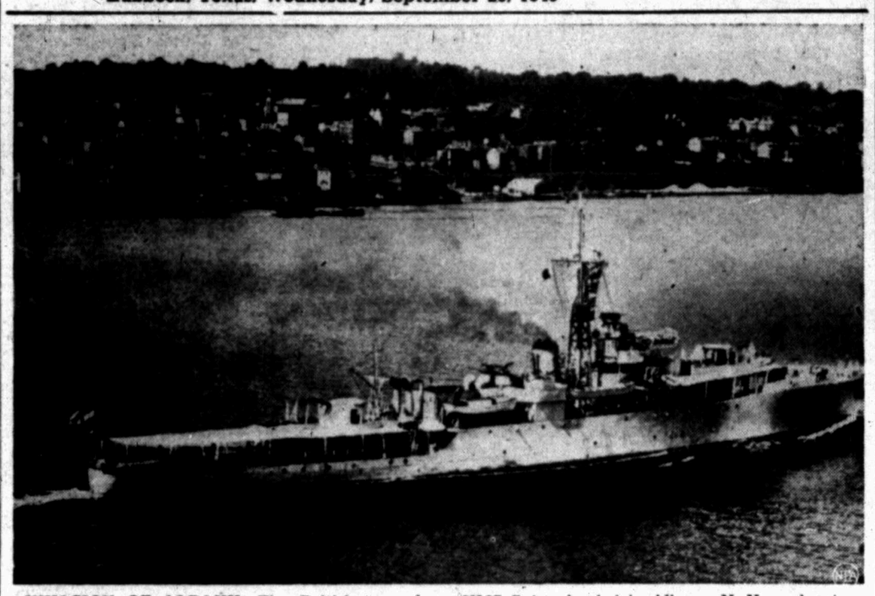

Mariners' Guide In Boston Has Pedigree

BOSTON, Sept. 28. (U.P.)—Boston's Beacon Hill Monument in perhaps the only monument in America with a "pedigree."

It's directly descended from the original Beacon Hill monument which was erected in 1635, principally as a guide to mariners.

A 60-foot doric column topped by a weather-beaten eagle, the monument is situated behind the State House.

INVASION OF ALBANY—The British war sloop, HMS Snipe, landed in Albany, N. Y., and not a shot was fired at the English invaders. The Snipe is the first British warship ever to sail up the Hudson past West Point. Seems the Red Coats tried it and failed in Revolutionary days. This time all went well, with thousands of spectators lining the banks of the Hudson to watch the little ship on its goodwill tour. The Snipe is seen steaming past Newburgh, N. Y.

Buttered Rum Recipe Recommends Itself

DORSET, Vt., Sept. 28. (U.P.)—Elderly Ernest H. West, a retired marble expert whose family started quarrying back in 1830, has a treasured heirloom—a recipe for "Comstock hot buttered rum." The recipe:

"Use heavy tall glasses like "bar glasses," 10 or 12 ounces, and a long spoon. Fill them up with boiling water, then empty—don't start to make this drink with cold glasses or cold pewter.

"Put in each glass a jigger and a half of New England rum and a tablespoon of maple sugar. Then drop in a chunk of butter about as big as a peanut. Fill up the glass with boiling hot water, stirring vigorously. Grate a little nutmeg on top. Then relax and enjoy it.

"If you want to be a Dorset Old-Timer, double upp the amount of rum, sugar and butter for the recipe, and then double up the quantity you make:

"This drink will cure any human ailment."

Eight-Year-Old Boy Game Fighter For Life Against Disease And Misfortune

LORAIN, O., Sept. 28 (AP)—This steel city of some 50,000 had opened its heart to eight-year-old Eugene Johnson.

He contracted luekemia about a year ago. Doctors said he had no chance to live—unless he could be treated three times a week at the baby's and children's clinic of Cleveland university hospital.

When the Lorain Journal told the story, hundreds offered to help.

Every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday, Gene and his mother, Mrs. Russell Johnson, 35, went to the hospital. Volunteer drivers took them.

Yesterday they started for the Cleveland hospital again. Mrs. Mary Carter, 30, was the volunteer driver.

About six miles east of here, the car collided with another. Gene was badly hurt. Taken to St. Joseph's hospital, he made another game fight for lift. This time, though, he couldn't make it. He died shortly afterwards.

The others were not injured seriously.

Jury Rejects Death Charge

WASHINGTON, Ia., Sept. 28 (AP)—Oscar Fetters, 63, was acquitted of a 35-year-old murder charge by a district court jury yesterday.

The jury, which deliberated less than two hours, found he was insane at the time he fatally shot Hugh Dougall, sr., on Sept. 9, 1914. Dougall was the father of the girl who had rejected Fetters in a love affair.

Released From Ward

Fetters was committed to the insane ward at the Anamosa state reformatory shortly after the shooting. He remained confined until early this year when he was released as "mentally restored."

He was then ordered to stand trial on the old murder indictment. Dougall's daughter, Mrs. Sarah Dougall Sailor, 59, of Plumas, Manitoba, who said she had spurned Fetters' attentions, testified for the state at the trial.

Fetters testified he became distraught after the breakup with Mrs. Sailor and he did not remember events connected with the slaying of her father.

More people in the United States have their names on church rolls today than at any time in the nation's history.

BY DREW PEARSON: CONTROVERSY OVER CIVIL RIGHTS SIMMERS BEHIND CLOSED DOORS

Russian Germ-Warfare Plans Dangerous As Bomb

WASHINGTON.—For three years, a running filibuster has been going on to keep the fair employment practices bill from coming up on the Senate floor. But after 2,000 pages of testimony, the weary talkathon was temporarily ended — without fanfare — when the bill was dicharged by the Senate Labor committee.

PEARSON

This is the most controversial of all the civil-rights legislation and is certain to touch off another filibuster as soon as it reaches the Senate floor. All that is holding it up now is the Democratic high command—still undecided whether to bring up civil rights at the tail end of this session while the senators are too tired to talk and in a mood to go home, or to save civil rights until the 1950 election year when it will be more potent politically.

The last words of the three-year filibuster against the fair employment practices bill were said behind closed doors. Starting off, the man who blocked the bill at the previous session, Senator Forrest Donnell of Missouri, sputtered: "Drew Pearson in his newspaper column gave me undue credit for delaying this bill!"

What had happened was that Donnell, though not a southern Democrat but a midwestern Republican, had blocked the bill on a technicality. Though this also had taken place behind closed doors, it was reported afterward in this column.

Not pleased at being exposed, Donnell went on angrily: "I think the members of this committee know I am not one to bicker over technicalities!"

The Gentleman From Missouri

This brought a hoot of delight from the other senators, since Donnell has been known to debate literally for an hour over the placement of a comma.

Red-faced, the senator from Missouri went on to explain that the only reason he had held up the bill was at the request of Alabama's Senator Lister Hill who had been called over to the White House. Yet, no sooner had Donnell disclaimed responsibility for blocking the bill, than he turned around and called for more hearings—which would have prolonged the filibuster indefinitely.

Minnesota's hair-trigger Senator Hubert Humphrey leaped to his feet.

"How much more hearings do you think we need?" he snorted. "We have already heard from 250 witnesses who have filled 2,000 pages of testimony."

In a vote on Donnell's proposal for more hearings, four other senators sided with him—Taft of Ohio, Pepper of Florida, Hill of Alabama, and Withers of Kentucky. Three senators sided with Humphrey—and for FEPC—Thomas of Utah, Neely of West Virginia, and Murray of Montana. But Chairman Thomas pulled two proxies out of the bag from Morse of Oregon, and Douglas of Illinois—for FEPC. This gave Humphrey and Thomas a one-vote majority—for a moment at least.

THEN Donnell triumphantly pulled out a letter from Smith of New Jersey, authorizing Donnell to vote for him and trusting to Donnell's "infinite wisdom." Donnell raised a question, however, on how the proxy should be applied.

"Don't forget that you are empowered with 'infinite wisdom'," chided Hill. "You can't make a mistake."

Finally it was agreed by an 11-1 vote to discharge the bill without a recommendation either for or against it. The lone dissenter, in this case, was not Donnell—but Hill of Alamaba.

Germ Warfare

Despite the unpleasant news about Russia's a-bomb, those who plan U. S. war strategy had long ago figured on a Russian weapon probably even more gruesome—namely, Bacteriological warfare germ warfare.

preparation is now no secret either in the United States or Russia. By the end of the war the United States navy had developed a germ capable of wiping out the entire Japanese rice crop. The germ, of course, was nver used. But since then, American scientists have continued their experimentation, while Soviet scientists are reported to have been working feverishly and to have developed two types of virus. One would wipe out cattle, the other would spread pestilence among human beings.

U. S. intelligence regarding developments behind the iron curtain is now much better than at the end of the war. It's even known that the Russians are working on inoculation for their own troops so they could advance into enemy territory immune to disease germs, after their own bacteriological warfare units had knocked out the enemy.

For some time this was to be Russia's chief answer to the atomic bomb, for germ warfare can be prepared in small, inexpensive laboratories instead of the acres and acres of industrial plants necessary for a-bomb construction.

THE 1,278 Americans and other refugees who left beleaguered Shanghai last week aboard the SS Gen. W. H. Gordon can thank Walter Winchell for their rescue.

Behind the fact is an almost unbelievable story of official procrastination and red tape. For weeks, about 400 Americans have been pleading with their government for some means to leave Shanghai, while the American President lines also has been pleading with the State department and the navy for permission to enter Shanghai and pick them up.

But the navy passed the buck to the State department and the State department passed it back, on top of which Secretary of Defense Louis Johnson said "no." Even the personal appeal of George Killion, head of the American President lines, who has raised more money for the Democratic party than Johnson, got nowhere. Killion had flown back from Europe to arrange the evacuation, was willing to risk his ship. But the government was not willing to cut red tape.

Finally Walter Winchell blasted the Defense department for cowardice. Next morning the SS Gen. Gordon was permitted to enter Shanghai.

Merry-Go-Round

Most attentive newspaper reporter at the Senate debate over arms for western Europe has been quiet, red-haired Jean Montgomery, of the Soviet's Tass news agency. She has been scribbling copious notes on everything that has been said—for relay to Moscow . . . Correction: Though Ben Mandel of the House Un-American Activities committee, keeps up certain contacts with Congressman John Rankin of Mississippi, no longer on the committee, this column is now convinced that Mandel does not share Rankin's race views as previous stated. Sincere apologies.

The PLAINSMAN

HOLLYWOOD, Cal.—This is a Hollywood column to end all Hollywood columns. Or, if that seems like too broad a statement, call it a column telling things about Hollywood that have never been brought into the public prints before.

The average Hollywood reporter dishes up stuff which gives the reader the idea that the people who live in the celluloid capital are of a different breed than the rest of us. Some of them are, of course, and we all ought to be glad of that. But a great many of them—the most of them—are just like the Joes and Janes of every other city. All of them don't eat whipped cream on their hotcakes.

Having spent most of the last two days and nights here, I now can qualify as an expert on Hollywood. At least, I can testify to what I have seen with my own eyes in what doubtless is the most maligned city in the world.

Hollywood is the home base, production-wise, of the movie business and therefore has more than its share of exhibitionists of all kinds.

But it also has ordinary people; who get themselves born, who have children, who die, who attend church and who have occasional head colds.

Hollywood has its full quota of people who have financial troubles, who have a hard time finding—and paying for—baby sitters; and who don't like to bathe.

It has stores, like Lubbock and Eskota, and in them people can and do buy the very same kinds of hats, shoes, gloves, dresses, suits, handkerchiefs, ties, etc., that other people buy in Hale Center and Minneapolis.

Hollywood has a less than satisfactory bus system ridden by a great many people who don't have automobiles — let alone Rolls Royces. It also has a very antiquated interurban system linking it with Los Angeles, Beverly Hills and other nearby whistle-stops.

It has movie theaters, but in no greater numbers than in any other city of a quarter-million souls. And to show you that the ordinary people of Hollywood aren't in a constant state of suspense over the movie industry, let us advise that nearly all Hollywood cinema palaces employ the double-feature dodge to drag reluctant customers through their doors.

HOLLYWOOD IS about the same size as Oklahoma City and not quite so big as Fort Worth. But its business section is not as large, nor as imposing as that of El Paso, where even the most civic-minded won't claim over 130,000 population, or of Austin, or Corpus Christi.

Hollywood has a half-dozen very high priced restaurants and night clubs, but most of its eating places and nighteries are very much like their counterparts in Dubuque, or Peoria. The Brown Derby, of which you've heard so much, is neither raucous nor sinful and the right hand side of its menu is not calculated to bring about a heart attack—even to a visitor from Glasgow.

It is possible to eat in the Brown Derby, for instance, without seeing a single movie luminary although you may, as we did, see some who hope to be—like three blonde bombshells whose hair-do's made 'em look like sheep dogs.

On the other hand, we dropped into a very modest cafe for a light lunch and in the next booth, discussing plans for a new song with a fat guy, was the bearded gent who wrote "Nature Boy."

Incidentally, the author of "Nature Boy" was described during the hey-dey of his song as a simple soul who drinks goat's milk and lives on herbs and nuts.

The day we saw him he was drinking coffee, Boston style, and eating a vegetarian lunch.

He hadn't shaved, or gotten a hair cut, though, and looked like those guys who play roles in the Passion Play.

Not so in Hollywood.

Dennis Day, the pint-sized, monkey-faced thrush on the airwaves rolled up beside us in a parking lot, driving—not a Rolls or a Cadillac—a 1947 Plymouth sedan with some strips of lumber roped on top.

The parking lot attendant—a kid about 16—came up.

"Hiyah, Dennis," he said, popping his gum, "howza boy?"

"O. K.," returned Mr. Day, climbing out and walking off just like anybody else, on two feet.

WE DIDN'T take any tours of Hollywood on account of it makes no difference to us whether Joan Fontaine lives on this side of the street, or the other—or that she probably doesn't live in Hollywood at all. We also didn't take any tours because we are slightly allergic to tours.

We did, however, attend a television show because we'd never seen one staged and wanted to see how much they differ, if at all, from the live shows on the radio nets.

This, then, is to report that the television shows are staged very much like the radio shows, with one major exception. This exception is that the lights and the cameras employed in TV are between the audience and the cast. This makes seeing and hearing a wee bit difficult.

Television, of course, is here to stay. But it is a long way from being grownup. In fact, it's on the baby side of adolescence and cannot as yet touch radio in smoothness, or finesse.

During the filming of a television show, the two or more cameras in use are kept constantly shifting in order that continuity of action may be achieved. The cameras are large—about 2½x2 feet in width and depth and about a foot thick—and are on rollers. The cameramen do the shifting of the machines but a second man is employed to keep the cables out of the way of the wheels on which the cameras are mounted.

JOSEPH Houston Bryant, the movie, popcorn and radio man in Lubbock who is our vice president in charge of the Arts; hooked us up with a guy out here name of Ned Trollinger, of Mutual, and Mr. Trollinger wangled us into the television program, called "What is the Name of That Song." You've probably heard it as a straight radio feature on the MBS net.

Anyhow, we got a seat where we could watch the show being televised and also see the television receiving set in the glassed-off room adjacent to the stage where the producer and technicians were at work.

Uncanny, and by far the most interesting part of the whole business, it was to watch the living actors being photographed in the show and, at the same time, seeing the televised results rolling across the receiving set's screen in the glassed-off booth.

Since Lubbockites going to television cities soon will be seeing TV programs, let us offer a word of advice.

When you go to a video show, take some dark glasses along with you—especially if you think you may be sitting up close.

The lights are very strong—in fact, they generate so much heat that the actors often sweat—and they are a little hard on the eyes.

HOLLYWOOD, like most places where TV is in operation, has gone stark raving mad over video.

Everywhere you turn, you find sets on display and people group around the store windows to watch the programs reeled off.

On the Northwest corner of Sunset and Vine, across the street from NBC, there's a store called Television Corner and its windows nightly display sets tuned into all four of Hollywood's TV channels.

There the crowds of onlookers divide up, some peering intently at a baseball or football game; some watching a wrestling match or a puppet show, and others watching some highly publicized comic star like Ed Wynn.

"Mad Man" Muntz, whose name became synonymous with sensational sales methods in new-used cars, has deserted the automobile field. He is now selling TV sets in his customary circus-day manner.

HOLLYWOOD ROUNDUP: There is much crying going on out here by movie and radio people on account of television, which is hurting both. . . Movie theaters soon will start selling ice cream, as they now sell popcorn. A new gadget has been invented by which the confection can be easily and quickly sold in theaters. . . While Hollywood is more important to radio from a production standpoint than New York, its radio buildings aren't comparable to the Gotham layout, Radio City. The big nets here have nice buildings, but they're not grouped together and they aren't as imposing as one would expect. . . It is not unusual to see foreign-make cars here. Numerous of the cheaper British and French models are on the streets, with right-hand drives, no less. They are not so desirable as the American makes except in one way: gasoline consumption. The smaller European cars get 30 miles or more to the gallon. Incidentally, several European manufacturers have sales agencies in town. . . Hollywood is much maligned—in some respects, at least, unfairly maligned. In a night round up of the town we saw the sum total of one drunk—and he was just walking down the street. He wasn't a movie man, either, or even a local citizen. He was a lieutenant commander in the Navy!

Patient Little Animal, Isn't He?

BY ROBERT C. RUARK

Writer Unimpressed By Use Of Twins In Advertisements

NEW YORK, Sept. 27—I clutch here, in my moist little palm, a full-page advertisement of two deliriously happy chaps who purport to be twin brothers. Each toasts the other with a glassful of liquor. They are shilling for a whisky, and one says he likes its moderate price. The other is rabid about its premium flavor.

RUARK

While I do not deprecate the inspirational qualities of honest grog, especially on cold wet nights, I cannot see how the octanage of same is enhanced by the fact that Messrs. George and William Malone of Atlanta, Ga., men who wear the same kind of polka-dot neckties, happen to like it. For all I know they both like oatmeal and the kind of spinach that they pour onto restaurant plates.

The advertising business, on which I like to keep a watchful eye, has swung onto a fresh cycle lately. Long ago, most endorsements were signed by sundry rump-sprung royalty, in need of a fast buck for the baccarat table, and later progressed to the easily-bid society lady who would proclaim that she daily smeared herself to the hips with Gilhooley's skin food, if there was a dollar in it.

Twins Are Used

Just after the war we arrived at the man of distinction, who lent a suspision of semi-anonymous grandeur to, whatever commodity he blessed with his name. The original distince man sang hosannas to booze, too, but latterly these available gentlemen came out hard for shaving lotions, beer and barbershops.

Finally, this appeared to be a trifle too snobbish for the subway trade, and a fresh gimmick was added. This being the era of the common man, whole relay teams of propagandizers were dispatched to flush the common man from his lair, in order that he might sancitify products ranging from bear's grease to bath salts with his humble approval.

At the moment one common man is not enough. We are in the twin stage, now, as a result of the raving success of the carbon copies who successfully prosecuted a home hair-set into millions. If two guys who look alike like it, it is assumed to be twice as good as if just one guy named Wilbur liked it. I just wonder what makes it better if two people have been approached with the blank check, instead of just one.

I NEVER went for this twin propaganda much, anyhow. What makes them cuter than other people, except that there are twice as many of them? I have known several sets of involuntary duplicates, and never could see that they had more in the aggregate than other folks in the singular.

Twins mostly make a big thing of dressing alike and wearing their hair alike and cultivating each other's mannerisms. If they are men twins they grow similar mustaches and buy their suits and shirts in sets and go out socially with female twins whenever possible. There is some delicious humor in here, supposedly, as they pretend that they are each other, to mystify casual acquaintances who do not have the time to search out the identifying mole or wen or wart.

A twin can certainly claim no credit for being a twin, since being hatched from the same egg if merely a freakish double-entry in a natural assembly line which produces people with a frightening monotony. Yet the exploitation of twinhood is such that you are led to believe that the duplicates thought the whole thing up themselves, and wish an agate credit line in the right-hand corner.

Twins I have known have always been smug, as if they felt they could commit no wrong because they were double. They assume they cannot be stupid or dull or mean or cruel merely because there was more of them around to influence public opinion.

Mere "Freak Appeal"

Actually what draws attention to multiple human births is the same freak appeal which makes a six-legged calf important in the community. I cannot understand how the commendation of Dr. Bilk's nerve-juice by plural people enhances its cancer-curing qualities, and so become twice as suspicious of two endorsers as of one.

This may indeed be the era of the common man, the little man, but I will not buy what he endorses just because he is a common man and endorses it. As a practicing snob, I want Tommy Manville or Harry Vaughan or some celebrity to say he always uses it and wants me to use it too, because triple-vitamin heat rash makes his goose-pimples prettier than other people's goose-pimples. We live in a celebrity-conscious world, and the least they can give me is romance for my dollar.

But no twins, please. I courted a couple of twin girls, once, and the scar is still on the soul.

BY RUTH MILLETT: TO THE LADIES

The Feminine Viewpoint

DO all marriages go through periods of depression?

The wife whose letter brings up that question writes me that she and her husband just aren't very happy any more. She has the feeling they are growing apart. Their marriage doesn't seem to offer either one of them very much but work and worry.

And if she is a wise wife, it won't always be that way, either.

MILLETT

All marriages may not have their low periods — but probably most of them do.

It is too much to expect a marriage to stay the same, year in and year out.

The wise wife isn't dismayed when her marriage seems to be less happy and rewarding than it once was, or when she realizes that work and worry and the demands of living seem to be pushing husband and wife a little apart.

When those times come in a marriage the wise wife doesn't dramatize her unhappiness or accuse her husband of having changed in his feelings toward her. She goes right on about her job as homemaker, wife and mother, trying to create as much happiness and gaiety for the whole family as she can.

MUSTN'T OVERDUE IT

HE doesn't wear a long face, or indulge in self-pity or drive her husband even further away by becoming critical of him or of his behavior.

She makes herself stay cheerful, and to the best of her ability makes home as pleasant for him as possible.

For she knows that if she doesn't do anything to make matters worse but calmly goes about living her life as happily as she can, the period of depression will pass.

She tries to make herself as happy as possible by doing things that are interesting and stipulating to her, so that she will avoid getting to feel like a martyr to an unsatisfactory marriage.

For it is an odd fact that in order to have a happy marriage it is far more important for the wife to make herself happy than to strive to make her husband happy. If she is happy—or at least content—her happiness will be catching. But no matter how hard a woman tries, she can't make a man happy just by striving to please him.

'Try And Stop Me"

THE late Jerome Kern, composer of "Smoke Gets in Your Eyes," the wonderful score of Show Boat and countless other successes, had only one vice. He had a passion for poker—and played it continuously and badly. Resigned to his fate, he carried a check book to all games, and paid his losses so promptly that Franklin P. Adams dubbed him the Pioneer of the Thanatopsis Poker Club—that is, its earliest settler.

One night he made out a check for over $2,000 and apologized for not bringing a blotter with him!

ONE of New York's most successful musical comedy producers made his first big bankroll on tour with a frayed-at-the-edges operetta troupe. A catchline in the advertisements for the show is what lured the yokels. It read, "Fifty beautiful girls: forty-five gorgeous costumes."

Today's Journal Editorial

BIG IMPROVEMENT AT THE FAIR

Those who have visited the 32nd annual Panhandle-South Plains fair doubtless are in agreement that one of the biggest improvements of this year has been the opening of another main entrance of Avenue A.

In justice to officials of the fair association, it should be emphasized they long have recognized the need. But nothing could be done about it until the recent completion of paving on Avenue A to provide one of the finest four-lane thoroughfares to be found anywhere.

No one who has attended fairs in the past needs to be told of the traffic congestion which occurred on rush days, when the only entrance was on East Broadway.

The new entrance should improve that condition by at least 50 per cent. During slack periods, the East Broadway gates still are closest. But during rushes, we recommend the Avenue A entrance. To reach it from downtown, drive north of Avenue H to the first traffic light beyond the underpass at East Fourth, turn right and follow the markers to the Fairgrounds.

Beery's Daughter To Get Allowance Raise

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 28 (AP)—Carol Ann Beery has been granted an increase from $2000 to $3000 monthly from the estate of her late actor-father.

A superior court judge granted the increase yesterday after Attorney Lyman A. Garber disclosed that Wallace Beery's estate came to $600,000 more than anticipated. It totaled $2,100,000.

Lyman said Carol Ann, 19, an adopted daughter, leaves Oct. 5 for a year in a drama school in New York.

12. Legal Notices

NOTICE TO BIDDERS

Sealed Proposals addressed to Mr. Steve Matthews, City Manager, Lubbock, Texas, will be received at his office until 5 P.M. October 27, 1949, for the construction of grading, drainage, concrete curb & gutter, and asphalt surface treatment on certain streets in the City of Lubbock, as hereinafter specifically designated.

As soon as possible after receiving the bids they will be considered and the successful bidder notified.

Prices in the Proposal shall be made on the basis of unit measurement for each of the 5 items in the proposal. The approximate quantities are as follows: Subgrade preparation 180,845 square yards; Concrete curb and gutter 56,061.05 linear feet; and Pavement (includes caliche base and asphalt surface) 156,259.94 square yds.

Bidder must submit cashier's or certified check issued by a bank satisfactory to the Owner, or a Bidder's Bond from a reliable Surety Company, payable without recourse to the order of the City of Lubbock in an amount not less than five (5%) per cent of the largest possible bid submitted as a guarantee that Bidder will enter into contract and execute bond and guaranty in the forms provided within ten (10) days after notice of award of contract to him. Bids without required check or Proposal Bond will not be considered.

The successful Bidder must furnish performance bond on the attached form in the amount of one hundred (100) per cent of the total contract price from a Surety Company holding a permit from the State of Texas to act as Surety, or other Surety or Sureties acceptable to the Owner.

The City reserves the right to reject any or all bids, to waive formalities, to accept the bid which seems most advantageous to the City's interest.

Bidders are expected to inspect the site of the work and to inform themselves regarding all local conditions.

Attention is called to the provisions of the Acts of the 43rd Legislature of the State of Texas, page 91, Chapter 45, Article No. 5159A Civil Statutes 1925) covering the wage scale and payment of prevailing rates of wages as established by the owner. Said scale of prevailing rates of wages is set forth in the specifications.

Information for bidders, proposal forms, plans and specifications are on file at the office of W. N. Harris City Engineer, at the City Hall, Lubbock, Texas, and may be procured upon a deposit of $25.00 as a guarantee of safe return of the plans and specifications. The full amount of this deposit will be returned to each bidder immediately upon return of the plans and specifications in good condition. No refund on contract document and plans returned later than ten (10) days after the date of receiving bids will be collatory. Additional sets of plans may be obtained at the cost of duplication.

The bidders attention is called to the fact that, although he will be paid in cash by the City of Lubbock for work performed under the terms of this contract, no work shall be commenced by the Contractor or any unit unless and until the City Engineer has issued his written order to the Contractor to proceed with construction of the unit and the City Engineer will not issue such written order unless contracts for the paving have been executed by all abutting property owners in the unit or the City Commission has otherwise by resolution authorized the City Engineer to issue such written order.

No bid may be withdrawn after the schedule closing for receiving of bids for at least thirty (30) days.

Man Always Gets Caught On Big Job Just When His Wife Is Having Baby

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Sept. 28 (AP)—Reporter Ray Kierce wonders sometimes if he's in the right business.

It seems that every time his wife has a baby, Ray has to go out and cover a big news story for his paper, the Jersey Journal.

A year ago, Kierce's first-born, a boy, Jan, arrived just as a three-alarm fire broke out. Ray had to cover the fire before he could go to the hospital.

Yesterday, Ray was covering an important press conference given by Governor Alfred E. Driscoll here.

In the midst of the proceedings, the telephone rang. Ray was told his wife was being taken to the Margaret Hague Maternity hospital.

Governor Driscoll told the reporter he could understand that the news was more important to him than anything the governor had to say.

P. S. This time it was a 7-pound baby girl named Penny.

New Government Quotas Seen For Wheat, Cotton And Corn

By VINCENT J. BURKE
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28. (U.P.)—You can buy a lot for farmland and plant it all to peanuts and tobacco which are guaranteed price support. But if you do, the government won't let you sell all that you harvest without paying an almost prohibitive penalty tax.

Peanuts and the four major types of tobacco are under rigid production and marketing controls. Marketing quotas are provided under farm law as a means of holding down burdensome surpluses of basic price-supported crops.

Agriculture officials say marketing quotas are virtually certain to be clamped on next year's cotton crop and possibly on next year's corn crop. Big surpluses of cotton and corn are piling up. Marketing quotas, however, cannot be used unless two-thirds of the producers approve.

The control system is designed to allot to each producer a fair share of the nation's production. A national planting allotment is set up by the federal government. Then it is parceled out among states and counties. County committeemen elected by the farmers themselves decide how much acreage to allot to each individual farm in their county. This usually is done largely on the basis of past plantings. A small percentage of the county allotment is set aside for "new farms" which have no production history.

Seek 20 Per Cent Cut

The government is expected to use the controls to seek an overall reduction of about 20 per cent in peanut plantings next year. Similarly, an attempt to cutback cotton acreage by 20 per cent from this year's plantings is likely. The government already has announced that the acreage allotment for flue-cured tobacco, major cigaret-type tobacco, will be about the same next year as it was this year.

A milder form of control will be used on the 1950 wheat crop. The government has asked wheat farmers to reduce plantings by an average of about 17 per cent under acreage allotment program. Marketing quotas will not be imposed. That means compliance is voluntary. Wheat farmers who overplant their allotments will not be eligible for direct price support through government loans and purchases. But they will be free to sell all they produce on the open market. They will benefit indirectly from the price support program because it tends to open up the market price.

Under quotas producers who don't comply with allotments are penalized. In addition to losing direct price support benefits, they must pay a stiff panalty tax on a the "excess" production which they market. The penalty usually amounts to more than half the market price.

Farmers Vote Quotas

Occasionally the complaint is raised that the quota system means "regimentation" and "government dictatorship." Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan says the answer to that is that farmers themselves must approve the quotas before they can be used.

Farm law provides that when supplies of a basic crop reach a specific level, the recretary of agriculture must propose quotas. Producers are polled by secret ballot then and if more than one-third vote against the quotas they cannot be used. In that event, the government's support price is slashed drastically for the entire crop. Thus, quotas serve as a limit on the amount the government has to lay out for supporting prices of surplus crops.

Muleshoe Approves Bonds For Airport

MULESHOE, Sept. 28. (Special)—An $11,000 airport bond issue was passed here Tuesday by voters in a special election. The vote was 149 for, and 53 against.

The money raised from sale of the bonds will be added to $9,000 provided by the Civil Aeronautics authority for the purchase and improvement of an airport that will measure up to CAA standards.

The present airport on the Plainview highway north of town has been leased by the city for five years. Upon expiration of the lease, it will be purchased outright for $4,000.

The remaining $16,000 will be used for new construction and other improvements on the approximately 340-acre site. Included in the improvement plans are resodding of the runways, erection of a new administration building, and fencing in of the area.

Presiding election judge was Tom Zimmer. Mrs. Henry Williamson was judge. Clerks were Mrs. H. O. Barbour and Mrs. E. R. Wright.

MAN TO BE TURNED OVER TO FBI

Parole Violator Is Captured In Dallas After Test Of Gun

DALLAS, Sept. 28 (U.P.)—Dallas police said today they would turn over to the FBI a California parole violator who was arrested yesterday when he tested a gun by firing a bullet into a mattress in his hotel room.

Police identified the gun tester as William Alec Sukovitzen, 31. They said he was "badly" wanted in Los Angeles for forgery and burglary charges.

Said Parole Violator

He was also described as a parole violator from Folsom prison.

Sukovitzen bought a .25-caliber gun at a Dallas pawn shop yesterday and decided to test it in his room. A negro porter heard the shot and called police.

They grabbed Sukovitzen as he was checking out of the hotel. He had new baggage and a plane reservation for El Paso.

Bonds Are Cashed

He told reporters he had cashed "about $2,000 in forged government bonds" in California, Texas and Arizona recently.

He admitted cashing a $500 government bond at a Dallas bank yesterday. He said he cashed another one in El Paso last week.

Sukovitzen had a $1,000 bond and about $800 cash in the pockets of his new suit when he was arrested. His pockets were stuffed with so many "official" identification papers that police had to fingerprint him to satisfy their own skepticism.

Dallas police said they "understood" that Sukovitzen was implicated in the theft of a "considerable amount" of government bonds in California.

Sukovitzen said he bought the bonds from a Los Angeles underworld character and did not steal them.

Man Pleads Guilt In Sign Language

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 28 (U.P.)—City Court Judge Charles G. Kelly thumbed through a stack of warrants on the bench and called "Frank Young!"

Young walked to the bar cheerfully, smiled at the judge, made a motion as if taking a drink of whisky and nodded.

Young is a mute. It was his way of pleading guilty to a drunkenness charge.

He was fined $5.

Fire Department's Gas Supply Stolen

HIGHLANDS, N. J., Sept. 28 (AP)—The fire department hook and ladder here has failed to respond to an alarm twice in the past three months, according to borough councilman Herbert Hartsgrove.

The reason? Somebody had stolen the entire 30-gallon gasoline supply of the truck in each case, Hartsgrove told a council meeting last night.

Hartsgrove added that he doesn't see how this state of affairs came about—the firehouse is right next door to the borough police headquarters.

Rites For Lubbock Woman Set Thursday

Mrs. J. L. Russell, 40, 536 Forty-second, died at 5:15 p. m., Tuesday, in Lubbock Memorial hospital, after having been ill for several weeks.

Funeral services will be at 2 p. m. Thursday, at the Overton Methodist church, the Rev. W. F. Gaede, pastor, officiating. Burial will be in a Lubbock cemetery under the direction of the Bryan McDonald Funeral home.

Survivors include her husband, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Perry, Forty-sixth street, Lubbock; two brothers, Theodore Perry of El Paco, and Kenneth Perry of Childress; and two sisters, Mrs. J. R. Pimlott of Washington, D. C., and Mrs. Elbert Harderson of Childress.

VOLCANO IS BUSY

TOKYO, Sept. 28 (AP)—Mount Asama's volcano is working overtime. The central meteorological observatory said today the 8,343 foot peak 95 miles west of Tokyo has belched ashes 92 times in the last 48 hours.

Heirs Of Producer Must Take Loyalty Oaths To America

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 28 (AP)—To benefit under his will, heirs of the late film producer Sam Wood must take a loyalty oath to the United States.

Funds Designated

The will, signed last May 25, requires the beneficiaries to file with the court an affidavit declaring he is not a member of any Communist organization or of any group which has been declared by the government to be subversive.

Mrs. Wood will receive the family home and $2000 monthly. The daughters, Mrs. Jeane Hiestand and Mrs. Gloria Marlowe, each will get $1000 a month. Upon their deaths the fund will be distributed among their children.

Wage Hike Refused By Maritime Group

GALVESTON, Sept. 28 (AP)—The Maritime association has refused a longshoremen union's demand for a 22-cent an hour wage boost.

Frank Yeager, Gulf coast president of the International Longshoremen association (AFL), last night revealed the association said no during negotiations last month.

Union representatives and James O. Hubbard, U. S. conciliation service, conferred yesterday without reaching a decision.

The union's contract for an estimated 10,000 workers expired Aug. 21. It seeks changes in pension and vacation and welfare fund setups in addition to the pay increase.
