AIRSHIP EXPLOSION KILLS MANY

BOWIE COUNTY JUDGE DENOUNCES ACTIVITIES OF THE KU KLUX KLAN

ORDERS PROBE OF MANY ACTS BY MASKED MEN

Organization Is Declared an Enemy to Constituted Law in Jurist's Charges to the Jury.

Rewards Offered for Arrest and Conviction of Men Who Lynched Negro Norman, Total $800.

By Associated Press.

TEXARAKANA, Texas, Feb. 21.—Four masked and heavily armed men came into the Four States Press newsrooms tonight and handed the following note to the editor:

"We are the four men who took the negro away from Mr. Jordan. We are citizens of Texarkana and intend to stay here. Find us. We are not K. K. K."

Occupants of the office were under cover of guns while one of the men advanced and delivered the note at the news editor's desk.

By Associated Press.

TEXARKANA, Texas, Feb. 21.—Declaring that there is now more lawlessness and a worst kind of lawlessness in Bowie county than ever before during the 50 years he has practiced law and sat on the bench in Northeast Texas, P. A. Turner, judge of the criminal district court of Bowie county, today in a special charge to the Bowie county grand jury denounced the Ku Klux Klan as an enemy of constituted government requested the jurors to make a thorough investigation of recent acts of masked men here which culminated February 11 in the shooting to death of the negro P. Normat, who was a prisoner in the hands of Deputy Sheriff W. T. Jordan when he was seized.

Referring explicitly to the Ku Klux Klan, Judge Turner said:

"It is the most dangerous organization that has ever been organized in this country or that has been perpetrated in this country, it is the most dangerous organization I have ever known in my life to destroy law and order and government."

Judge Turner didn't charge that the Ku Klux Klan had any connection with any of the parties of masked men and did not "condemn the order so bitterly for its purposes as I do for its results." Adding that the very nature of the organization opens the way for any lawless element to operate seemingly with very little molestation. "Lawlessness and law and order cannot co-exist," Judge Turner asserted. "You must choose between the two, and you must choose now."

During the week that ended in the lynching of Norman, four white men were brought into the news room of a morning paper here by masked men who had whipped them and ordered to tell the editor in charge what had happened to them and why.

Rewards offered here for the arrest and conviction of the slayers of Norman now aggregate $800, of which $250 is offered by the Chamber of Commerce, $100 by the Ku Klux Klan, $150 by Sheriff G. A. Richardson, $100 by an anonymous member of the Rotary club and $200 by the Rotary club, which today adopted very strong resolutions condemning the lynching and other lawlessness.

MAINLY ABOUT PEOPLE

BY H. N. F.

Taxable incomes of individuals returned to the government for the calendar year 1919 showed an increase of nearly $4,000,000,000 as compared with 1918 according to statistics issued by the internal revenue bureau. For the year 1919 there were 5,332,760 individual returns filed for a total income of $19,859,000,000 as against 4,425,114 returns for a total of $15,924,000,000 for the previous year. The tax collected on the 1919 returns amounted to $1,270,000,000 which was an increase of $141,908,000 over the year 1918. Personal returns of incomes of $1,000,000 and over totaled 65 for 1919 compared with 67 in 1918, while for 1919 there were five returns filed for incomes of $5,000,000 and over. For 1919 there were six personal returns of income from $3,000,000 to $4,000,000; seven of incomes from $2,000,000 to $3,000,000; thirteen from $1,500,000 to $2,000,000; 34 from $1,000,000 to $1,500,000; sixty from $750,000 to $1,000,000, and 140 from $400,000 to $500,000. The average net income reported for 1919 was $3,724.05, the average amount of tax $238.08 and the average tax 6.39 per cent. The proportion of the population of the country filing returns for the year was 5.03 per cent reporting a per capita net income of $187.32 and a per capita income tax of $11.98. Five citizens of the United States reported an aggregate revenue in 1919 of $65,090,572, according to an official report issued by the treasury department. Deductions of $14,465,673 were allowed, bringing the net income to $50,624,899 on which the government collected $33,301,085, or 65.77 per cent. The analysis of the income of these five taxpayers, made by the treasury showed that less than $75,000 came from "wages and salaries," none from "business," $20,000 from "partnerships and personal service corporation," $11,000,000 from "sale of real estate, stocks, bonds, etc." $121,000 from rents and royalties," $46,000,000 from "dividends," $6,713,000 from "interest and investment income" and the balance about $380,000 from interest on government securities not entirely exempt from taxation.

WASHINGTON STILL LIVES

PLAN TO GROUP OBJECTIONS TO PACIFIC TREATY

Blanket Reservation to Cover Objections to Unreserved Ratification Virtually Agreed To.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—Administration leaders in the senate cleared away many of the obstacles in the pathway of the four power Pacific treaty today by indicating that they would accept without a fight a blanket reservation drafted to cover the objections of those who oppose unreserved ratification.

As presented to the foreign relations committee by Senator Brandegee, republican, Connecticut and virtually agreed to by those in charge of the treaty, the reservation provides that the United States accept no "legal or moral" obligation to "maintain the Pacific interests of any other power and that none of the adjustments reached under the treaty provisions are to be binding upon this government except by the consent of congress.

The administration senators on the committee including Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, republican leader and a member of the American delegation to the arms conference, are said to have shown general approval of the proposal during the committee debate. It was also the understanding of some committee members that President Harding while holding that reservations were superfluous, had indicated he would not oppose a qualification like that presented by Senator Brandegee. Senators Borah, republican, Idaho, and Johnson, republican, California, were said to have been consulted in the preparation of the reservation but it was not apparent tonight whether they would vote for ratification with the reservation attached.

WASHINGTON'S PRAYER FOR OUR COUNTRY

Almighty God, who hast given us this good land for our heritage, we humbly beseech Thee that we may always prove ourselves a people mindful of Thy favor and glad to do Thy will. Bless our land with honorable industry, sound learning, and pure manners. Save us from violence, discord, and confusion; from pride and arrogancy, and from every evil way. Defend our liberties, and fashion into one united people the multitudes brought hither out of many kindreds and tongues. Endue with the spirit of wisdom those to whom in Thy name we entrust the authority of government, that there may be justice and peace at home, and that through obedience to Thy law we may show forth Thy praise among the nations of the earth. In the time of prosperity fill our hearts with thankfulness, and in the day of trouble suffer not our trust in Thee to fail; all of which we ask through Jesus Christ Our Lord. Amen.

BONUS METHOD SEEKERS CONFER WITH MELLON

Secretary of Treasury Is Declared to Have Recommended Harding's Plan Over Bond Issue.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—The seven republicans of the house ways and means committee who are charged with solving the problem of financing the soldier bonus expect to get down to brass tacks tomorrow. Chairman Fordney said late today after the committeemen had had another general discussion with Secretary Mellon. he treasury secretary was heard behind closed doors but he was understood to have taken substantially the same position that he did at the open hearings two weeks ago when he reiterated his opposition to a bonus at the time.

Asked what the treasury would do if congress passed a bonus bill as a general charge against the treasury, Mr. Mellon was said to have replied that the amount would be paid by issuing short term certificates. He opposed this form of financing, however, on the ground that it might affect the interest rates on the refunding certificates due in 1923. Some members of the committee quoted the secretary as saying in substance that as between a sales tax or bond issue for the bonus he would recommend the former.

The sub-committeemen would not anticipate committee action but the general belief continued to be that

MAN DUMPED IN STREET IN ONLY TAR-FEATHERS

By Associated Press.

ORANGE, Texas, Feb. 21.—C. C. Johnson, age 25, a grocery merchant, was taken from his store tonight at 8 o'clock by two masked men and after a coat of tar and feathers were applied he was dumped into the street naked in the heart of the business section. The driver of the car refused to slow down for him to alight and Johnson fell. As a result, his left arm was badly lacerated when he fell to the pavement. He walked to the postoffice a half block away and asked to be taken to the hospital. Johnson was not lashed, he said.

Johnson was counting his daily receipts at the cash register when the command to throw up his hands brought him face to face with two masked men holding a pistol on him. He was seized, blindfolded and dragged into an automobile. An hour later he was dumped into the street. He said not more than four persons were in the party.

Johnson is unmarried and has been a resident here about six months. He said he was not warned to leave the city and he made no effort to account for the assault and the coat of tar and feathers.

DIRIGIBLE ROMA CRASHES TO EARTH, BURSTS INTO FLAMES, KILLING THIRTY-FOUR MEN

SENSATIONAL DEVELOPMENT IS INDICATED

Judge Weldon, Grand Jurors and County Attorney Are Examined in Secret Session Tuesday.

Hearing Arises as Result of Motion to Quash Indictment Against B. W. Acuff.

Developments of a sensational character were indicated as probable developments Tuesday evening when Judge Ed Napier of the 78th district court, sitting with Judge P. A. Martin of the 89th district court, adjourned the secret hearing which opened late Tuesday afternoon in connection with the motion to quash an indictment against B. W. Acuff charged with theft.

Without any previous indications of such an action Judge Napier ordered all members of the grand jury, which adjourned with a final report two weeks ago, to be subpoenaed at once. Lester Jones and O. A. Jones, two members of the jury commission, were also summoned, as was H. F. Weldon, who resigned as judge of the 30th district court ten days ago. E. L. Fulton county attorney, was subpoenaed.

After several members of the grand jury had testified the hearing was adjourned. Judges Napier and Martin said that the hearing would be continued Thursday afternoon following the return of Judge Martin from Graham, where he goes today.

Members of the grand jury and others who testified, said they were sworn to secrecy and refused to give any indication of the nature of the hearing. Judge Napier ordered that additional witnesses be subpoenaed for the Thursday afternoon hearing.

That the matter being considered by the two judges was of special importance with probable developments of which there has been no previous indications, was obtained from authentic information Tuesday evening. This party refused to disclose the nature of the development.

T. F. Hunter, local attorney representing Acuff and who was said to have made the motion to quash the indictment against the accused was the only other party outside the two judges, who was in the court from the time the hearing started. Last week, in connection with the trial of one of the cases in which an indictment was returned by the recent session of the grand jury, a motion was made to quash on the grounds that the grand jury was not legally empaneled. The motion was overruled.

Due to the fact that this hearing was public it is assumed that different allegations are made in the motion to quash presented Tuesday. The fact that members of the grand jury were recalled and appeared before the court separately gives credence to the belief that the motion to quash is based on some added irregularity alleged in the empaneling or work of the grand jury.

FULL DETAILS MAY BE GIVEN BY SURVIVORS

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—The disaster today at the Hampton Roads army base to the army's Italian-built airship Roma, largest craft of her type in the world, cast gloom over war and navy departments as the long list of officers and men who were burned to death in the ship came in.

Pending full official reports, however, Secretary Weeks and air service officials made no comment. Immediately on receipt of the news, Major General Patrick, chief of the air service, left for the scene by airplane.

Until it has been learned definitely what structural defect sent the ship plunging down to her death, it was added, the lessons to be drawn from the accident could not be forecast so far as airship design was concerned.

With several officers of the ship and some of her skilled mechanics among the survivors, it was hoped full information would be available.

When the navy rigid British-built ZR-2 exploded in the air during a trial trip in England, evidence of the cause of the smash had to be sought in the wreckage because no survivors were left to tell what happened. In that case, it has since been ascertained, buckling in the frame work resulted in the ship's destruction.

Navy officials in talking of the Roma's destruction stressed the point that had it been possible to develop a sufficient supply of helium, a non-inflamable gas first produced during the war, to fill her bag today's accident almost certainly would have been far less terrible. There would have been no fire after the crash, at least, it was said, and it was the terrible heat of the blazing hydrogen which apparently brought death to more than thirty men. But so far, only sufficient helium had been produced to inflate the naval blimp C-7, a mere pigmy beside the Roma.

Destruction of the Roma leaves both the army and navy without air-ships larger than the navy blimps. The ZR-1 is under construction by the navy, however, and recently arrangements were made with the cooperation of the allied governments that the Zeppelin plant in Germany should build for the navy a Zeppelin of the L-type, which proved successful during the war.

BROKEN RUDDER IS ASSIGNED AS CAUSE DISASTER

Heat of Flames, Fed by Million Cubic Feet of Hydrogen, Fought Back Rescuers for Hours.

Desperate Effort Made to Force Ship to Bay Which Would Have Meant Comparative Safety.

By Associated Press.

NORFOLK, Va., Feb. 21.—Thirty-four men were killed, eight were injured seriously and three men were uninjured or only slightly bruised when the giant army airship Roma, with her crew and a number of civilians, totalling 45 in all, plunged today from a thousand feet or more in the air to the ground at the Hampton Roads naval base.

The accident presumably was caused by a broken rudder and as the huge dirigible plunged to earth it capsized across a high tension electric line, bursting into flames.

Long after dark tonight, the ship was still burning. The fire fed on the million cubic feet of gas which had distended the great bag and made all attempts at rescue futile.

Barely a dozen of those aboard were picked up alive and one of these died on the way to the hospital. All of those who survived the fire escaped by jumping as the ship struck. The others, penned in the hull of the fallen bag, were burned to death.

The flames were finally brought into submission by three fire departments. The derricks began picking up the wreckage which consisted of scarcely more than the aluminum frame work and the six Liberty motors. Before the night had passed, 33 bodies had been removed, accounting for the last of those who were known to have taken the fatal flight. Accounts of survivors and of eye witnesses as to what had happened, appeared to agree tonight that the stern rudder had slipped to one side as the Roma drove along a thousand feet above the army base.

Every man who escaped alive was burned or bruised or both. She was making a trial flight with a new battery of Liberty motors. It was just before two p. m. when those below at the army base had their attention caught by the approaching thunder of the six motors, looked up to see the Roma dip down from her straight flight. They agreed that the rudder seemed to have slipped bodily down to one side.

Sought the Bay.

The ship nosed steeply as she came closer, and it was seen that her crew were hurling out sand ballast from her ports in the fragile fabric that formed the covering of the space between her keel and back. Her commander could not force her the few hundred feet that would have dropped her into the waters of the bay and comparative safety for her passengers.

Below ran the double wires of the high power electric line, a 2,300 volt current. The Roma's nose, shod with its aluminum guard thrust into the wires, broke them as the ship flattened to earth and rolled over, and the next moment came the noise of an explosion and the flames burst out along the hull space. There was a rush of men to the rescue from the army post and the navy base beyond.

Leaped to Earth.

Just as the Roma neared the wires two men were seen to leap from high up in her slanting hull. As the stricken, flaming monster writhed, ten more dropped from doors or ports or through holes they tore in the fabric sides that enclosed them. Some leaped from the platform where the engines stood, far out from the hull. So swift was the flare of gas flame that rescuers were driven back before its terrific heat. They watched helplessly as the great eighty foot bag shriveled.

The Roma was a wall of flame a city block long and until the thousands of gallons of chemicals and

GIRL ADMITS SHOOTING MAN MONDAY NIGHT

Says She Has No Regrets and Tells Authorities She Did It to Avenge Wrong, According to Officers.

Mike Tucker Wounded in Lung but Condition Is Not Thought Dangerous; Statutory Charge Is Filed.

Freely admitting that she had fired the shot and declaring to officers that she had no regrets, Ethel Elledge, 18-year-old orphan girl living at 1711 Sixth street was arrested Tuesday morning in connection with the alleged shooting Monday night of Mike Tucker, automobile mechanic living at 1010 Seventh street.

Charged with assault with intent to murder she was released under $500 bond Tuesday afternoon, returning to her home.

Shot in the left side with his left lung pierced, Tucker, who is about 25 years old, was suffering severe pain Tuesday night from the bullet wound. His condition however, is not considered serious, unless complications arise from the wound.

"I don't blame her for doing it," Tucker is said to have told police officers Tuesday after he had been apprehended at his room.

Based on the statement alleged to have been made to officers by Miss Elledge Tuesday morning a serious statutory charge was filed against Tucker Tuesday afternoon.

According to officers, the girl said that she shot Tucker soon after he brought the automobile in which they were riding to a stop near the Riverside cemetery Monday night.

She is said to have gone to a local doctor Monday morning and told a story of having been wronged by Tucker on the previous night. According to the story told police, she is alleged to have told the doctor that she contemplated shooting her alleged seducer. The doctor not thinking that she really contemplated the act allowed her to leave the office.

Shortly after the shooting, she is said to have called the physician on the phone and told him that she had done what she had threatened. Calling Night Chief of Police McDonald and other officers the doctor went to the scene of the shooting. The automobile was gone and no trace of Tucker could be found.

Directed by the girl, who had returned to her home, the officers found the pistol in an outhouse. The pistol was still cocked and three cartridges fired. According to officers, she had taken the pistol from the people with whom she was staying without their knowledge. The pistol is a heirloom having belonged at one time to Frank James, of the famous band of outlawe according to the owner.

She is said to have told police that having determined to be avenged for the treatment of the night before she consented to go on an automobile ride with Tucker on Monday night. Officers said she declared that Tucker brought the car to a stop near the cemetery stating he wanted to look about a repair on the car. She told officers she also got out of the car and fired two shots while Tucker was leaning over the rear door with his back toward her.

Both are said to have started running away from the scene. Later seeing him again at a distance she is said to have fired a third shot. This shot did not strike Tucker and one of the first two shots apparently missed him.

Tucker was located Tuesday morning at his home 1010 Seventh street after night police officers had made a futile effort to locate him. He told officers that a short time after the shooting he returned to his automobile and drove to his room.

According to officers, the story told by Tucker of the night's happening, is the same as that of the girl in most of the details.

DIRIGIBLE ROMA THIRD BIG AIRSHIP DESTROYED IN SPECTACULAR MISHAP WITHIN THE PAST THIRTEEN MONTHS

NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—The dirigible Roma which blew up today over Hampton Roads, was the third big airship to be destroyed in a spectacular mishap in the last 13 months.

On August 24, 1921, the ZR-2, built by the British for purchase by the United States at a cost of $2,000,000, exploded over Hull, England, killing 42, including sixteen Americans.

On January 1, 1921, the R-34 which flew from England to Long Island and back in the summer of 1919, the first airship to cross the Atlantic, was wrecked in a gale while tethered outside her aerodrome in Howden, England.

Before the ZR-2 disaster, the greatest number killed in an airship accident in peace times was 28 the toll of the explosion of the German Zeppelin L-2 over the Johannisthal aerodrome on October 17, 1913.

Some of the other airship accidents in which heavy losses of life occurred follow:

July 21, 1919—ten lost when dirigible exploded at Chicago and fell in flames into the Illinois Trust & Savings Bank.

July 2, 1912, five killed at Atlantic City when balloon Akron, in which Melvin Vaniman hoped to cross the Atlantic, exploded shortly after leaving the ground.

September 9, 1913, fifteen lost in destruction of Zeppelin L-1 off Helgoland.

July 15, 1919, twelve lost when British airship N8-11 fell into North Sea after being struck by lightning.

June 20, 1914, nine lost in Collision of airship and airplane in Vienna.

Six of the great peace time dirigibles built by Count Zeppelin, the German aviator, were wrecked in accidents. They were Zeppelins I, II, III and VI and Deutschlands I and II.

The Germans lost 66 of the 83 dirigibles sent out during the war, 34 of them being accounted for by the allies and the remaining 32 wrecked.

water had checked the heat it was impossible to reach the dead.

The ship left no passenger list behind her. She is known to have carried many officers and men as passengers, however, in addition to her operating crew. As she rose from the field her commander leaned out to signal that he had forty-four persons aboard. It is believed he did not include one civilian on the ship and that she actually carried forty-five.

Officers who knew personally many of the officers and enlisted men, were unable to identify a single one of the victims, so badly charred was each.

Only those in the forward part of the operating compartment of the ship had a chance for their lives. Several were injured severely by jumping but three come out practically unhurt and were discharged from the hospital within a few hours after the disaster.

Lieutenant Burt, who with Captain Reed, was the principal pilot of the Roma, was one of these. He jumped when the ship was only a few yards from the ground. A civilian, Roy Hurley, also escaped unhurt as did Master Sergeant Peek.

Of the forty-five who left the Langley Field air station this afternoon only eleven are known to have survived the accident.

Albert Flores, who was in the observers pit on top of the bag, said: "I felt the ship tilt up from the back and start to slide down. I tried to go back down inside but then I decided to come out forward again. By that time we hit the ground and I was thrown to the ground."

Flores was burned about the hands and is suffering from shock. Major J. D. Reardon, who was in the control cabin at the time of the accident said that the work of the officers in charge was excellent. "Lieutenant Burt and Captain Mabry were at their wheels, the major said. "The ship gave a duck and I saw Lieutenant Burt pull with all his might on the elevation lever. He yelled out 'she won't respond' and then 'cut the motors.' One by one I heard the motors shut off and then we struck. If the motors had not been shut off we would have hit the ground much harder."

When asked if he had seen any flame, he said that he had not.

Roy Hurley, a civilian and engine expert, was aboard and suffered a slight sprain of one arm and burns about the hands. The trip was Hurley's first flight.

HISTORY OF ROMA

NORFOLK, Va., Feb. 21.—The airship Roma was an Italian-built craft purchased by the United States government from Italy early in 1921 for $200,000. She was, it was believed, the largest semi-rigid aircraft in the world, the cost of which duplicating, it was said by the war department at the time of her purchase, would probably be $1,250,000.

The airship was of 1,200,000 cubic feet capacity, 410 feet long, 82 feet wide and 88 1-2 feet high. She was originally equipped with six 12-cylinder engines of 400 horsepower each, giving an estimated speed of 80 miles an hour and a cruising radius at full speed of 3,300 miles. These engines, however, were replaced with Liberty motors after the airship was brought to the United States.

An American crew was sent to Rome to make tests of the Roma in Italy and after these had been completed the aircraft was dismantled and shipped to this country, reaching here last summer. She was taken in her dismantled shape to Langley Field in Virginia and was assembled there during the fall and by November was ready for her trial flight which took place from Langley Field on November 15. Late in December she made a flight to Washington during a storm and was then christened and put into commission. Recently she was being groomed for a flight intended to take in the whole of the United States.

BURKBURNETT VETERAN AND PIONEER DIES

BURKBURNETT, Feb. 21.—John G. Goins, for 33 years a resident of Wichita county, and a Confederate veteran, died at his home here this afternoon. Mr. Goins was 79 years of age, and during his later years had been practically an invalid. CONGRESS GETS SHOALS BID OF ALABAMA FIRM

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.— Congress received today the offer of the Alabama Power company for purchase and lease of the government's nitrate and power projects at Muscle Shoals, Alabama.

In referring the proposal to the legislative body for final decision, Secretary Weeks made no specific recommendation other than to say indirectly he believed the new offer should be referred to the committees of the senate and house now engaged upon consideration of the Ford offer. The letter of transmission addressed to the president of the senate and speaker of the house, contained twelve comments upon as many provisions of the power company's proposal, all of which the war secretary said either were desirable or advantageous to the government's interests in the disposal to be made of the Muscle Shoals properties. The company's offer to complete the Wilson Dam at its own expense under a license subject to the provisions of the water power act, the letter said, had the advantage of proposing to relieve the government from further costs of completion.

POLICE BATTLE WITH STRIKERS; MAN IS KILLED

By Associated Press.

PAWTUCKET, R. I., Feb. 21.—One man was killed, two wounded and six persons were hurt when the police used riot guns today on a crowd of 1,000 persons who gathered at the plant of the Jenckes Spinning company where a strike is in progress.

The shooting occurred after several patrolmen had been knocked down after the arrest of three strike sympathizers.

The dead man is Juan D'Assumpeau of Valley Falls. Joseph Diaz and Toney Regoss of this city, were taken to a hospital in a critical condition.

Mayor Robert A. Kenyon witnessed the shooting. He had arrived at the gates of the plant early in the morning to observe the crowd that has customarily gathered to watch working operatives enter the mill. The mayor, believing that there was danger in the crowd, read the riot act. He then told the patrolmen to be careful and calm, but to do their duty, and to "shoot if necessary."

BOUNS METHOD SEEKERS CONFER WITH MELLON

some form of sales of manufacturers' tax would be recommended. It was pointed out in some quarters that with President Harding opposed to both the original tax program suggested and to the issue of bonds, the field has been narrowed to a sales tax or general charge on the treasury.

This last plan is supported by some house republican leaders and by those leading the opposition to a sales tax, Representative Frear, Wisconsin, declared in a formal statement that he believed he spoke the sentiment of a hundred republican members of the house to the effect that a sales tax will be opposed to any rule seeking to impose it on the members. He explained that his announcement was based on the fact that seventy republicans had signed a petition against any sales tax and that many others would sign.

Urging adoption of a sales tax similar to that in force in Canada, Representative Volk of New York sent an open letter today to Chairman Fordney asking that the sub-committee hear him on the question.

"It seems most unfortunate," he said, "that so many conscientious and well meaning members of the house, though lacking understanding of this most beneficial legislation, will rush to put half baked ideas into print and circularize members of the house with misinformation and misleading statements."

COLUMBIA COMPANY GIVEN VERDICT IN RECEIVERSHIP CASE

By Associated Press.

WILMINGTON, Del., Feb. 21.—Judge Morris in the United States district court late today, granted a dismissal of the complaint, with cost to the petitioners, for a receiver for the Columbia Graphophone Manufacturing company. At the same time, the court denied the application for receivership on the basis of statements filed by the defendants reciting the consent of creditor interest represented an important portion of the liabilities to plans proposed for extending these claims.

Women's Club Hears Talk on Decoration

Speaking on the subject of Home Decorations, Ivan Murchison gave a splendid and instructive talk concerning the latest styles in color tints in wall paper and draperies for living rooms, bed rooms and breakfast rooms at the weekly meeting of the Business Women's club Tuesday evening. The members were enthusiastic over Mr. Murchison's talk, and several questions were asked which he graciously answered. After, as he said, he thought "he had done his do" all that was requested of him before his arrival, the club insisted that he give two vocal numbers to which he generously responded. Mrs. Lucile Brooks Huff playing the accompaniments.

Following the short program, several announcements were made. The weekly contest was held, Miss Grace Dodd winning the prize offered by the First National bank. She was told to report there and receive it.

FORD PROJECT WOULD BOOST WATER POWER

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—Completion of the 1,000,000 horsepower waterway project at Muscle Shoals, Ala., under direction of Henry Ford, would give America 44 per cent of the world's developed waterpower, it was declared recently by Senator Harris, Democrat, of Alabama.

The project, however, probably will not be completed for several years. It would give America a total of 10,243,000 horsepower generated by waterpower.

New York, according to Senator Harris' statistics, is the leading State in the Union with 1,300,000 horsepower, while California is second with 1,111,000 horsepower. The Muscle Shoals project would place Alabama in third place, he said.

The Muscle Shoals project, as outlined by Ford, would give the South an additional horsepower volume equal to the entire supply of waterpower developed in Japan, Harris said. The Japanese total, he added, is the largest in Asia.

The Alabama project, the senator declared, if generated to capacity, would surpass the waterpower now developed at Niagara Falls, where both Canadian and American sides generate but 870,000 horsepower. He explained, however, that engineers were adding 425,000 horsepower to the development at Niagara Falls, which probably will be completed prior to the Ford project.

"At any rate the Muscle Shoals development would be the second largest in the world after Niagara Falls has been enlarged," he said.

"The Muscle Shoals project," the senator added, "compares favorably with the total development in some of the most progressive nations of Europe. France, Italy, Germany, Norway and Sweden and Switzerland have total developments of a little more than 1,000,000 horsepower. The Muscle Shoals development will almost approximate the totals in these countries."

Council Passes Emergency Ordinance at Adjourned Session Monday Morning; Board Is Appointed.

Meeting in an adjourned session Tuesday morning the city council passed an emergency motion picture censorship ordinance—an action which is an outgrowth of the efforts of club women to prevent the showing of the Clara Smith Hamon picture here. The ordinance will go into effect today, and the board appointed come into being with the ordinance.

In the discussion of the picture members of the council, who were among the committee who viewed the picture at a private hearing the day before, reiterated their views expressed the day before, to-wit that there was nothing sensational or risque about the picture—in fact, much less so than with many pictures running here—but that objection was on the grounds of permitting an opportunity to the star to capitalize her notoriety.

The board appointed consists of Mrs. J. E. Sharpe, Mrs. W. S. Robertson and T. H. Noble. The appeal board consists of J. M. Bland, Mrs. T. B. Smock, Mrs. J. A. Richolt, Mrs. M. M. Adickes, J. C. Hunt, Wiley Robertson and M. A. Bondy.

In case the censors decide that the film should not be shown here, it is understood that the exhibitors will make an effort to attack the legality of the ordinance.

Fashions for Americans

The smart frock shown in the sketch combines a heavy silk crepe in plain rich brown with georgette in self color embroidered in gold, and, aside from the rich color blending, the gown is distinguished principally by its interesting sleeves, which are of the leg o' mutton type. Sleeves of this type were recorded as the new style note early in the season, having been sponsored by a Paris authority on dress, but the flaring sleeves of one sort or another have so far have been more generally approved. As a matter of fact, the leg o'mutton will probably have a better chance in the fall, as warm weather naturally demands that sleeves flare away from the arm for the sake of comfort.

The continued vogue for crepe weaves, especially in silk, is one of the high lights of spring and summer styles. The crepe, generally known as "canton," appears in various qualities and, as a matter of fact, it travels not infrequently under different names, practically every silk manufacturer or dealer having such a fabric christened so as to identify it with his own house.

Crepe de chine is having an unusually strong vogue for dreses, very many lovely printed effects being shown. These printed crepe de chines make wonderfully serviceable little frocks, cool looking, and smart for warm weather wear. Printed foulards and a wide range of tub silks are also being used for these warm weather utility frocks, that are suitable alike for street wear or traveling outfits.

A printed crepe de chine showing a small figure in two tones of gray fashioned a smart frock recently seen. The foundation of the dress was straight and plain, and pleated panels were set on at the bust line in front, the shoulders in the back, and at the waistline on either side. Six of these panels laid in about three-quarter inch flat pleats appeared on the frock with a self fabric sash belt holding it in at the waistline. The panels were long, giving the uneven hem line.

CONFESSES MURDER ANOTHER MAN WAS IMPRISONED FOR

By Associated Press.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Feb. 21.—Conscience stricken, Frank Novicky, 25 years old today confessed, according to police, that in December of 1920, he shot and killed John Arent, for which Theodore Sadowski, 22, recently was sentenced to life imprisonment. Arent, proprietor of a saloon, was killed in an attempted holdup. Novicky was arrested on a robbery charge and police say he told them he confessed because his conscience bothered him.

As he marched into the shop at the head of his five sons Slater looked very worried.

The tailor, scenting a big order, came forward, all smiles and bows.

"Yes, sir," he said. "What can I do for you?"

"I want suits for these lads," replied Slater.

"All five?" asked the tailor, beaming. "Yes, sir. And would you like any particular material?"

"I would," said Slater, in despair: "sheetiron!"

A Wife or a Profession?

BY CAROLYN BEECHER

(Copyright, 1922, by Carolyn Beecher)

Capter VI.

The dinner was finished without further contretempts, and Howard and Annette left early. Just before they said good night Dr. Blake said to Annette:

"Howard tells me there are a good many things you need to make things comfortable in the cottage. Run over and look around in my attic and take what you like. It's old, some of it so old it is fashionable again. And that will please you, dear."

"I would just love to, Uncle Mortimer, and thank you!" Annette enthusiastically replied. A friend in New York had a house full of old things. Annette knew something of their value.

Once again Howard saw that look of dislike directed at Annette by the housekeeper.

"I must caution Annette to keep on the right side of Mrs. Burr," he said to himself. But Annette also had seen that look and ascribed it to jealousy. And if she were intolerant, she was also a woman and so at times tactful. She said:

"Will it inconvenience you, Mrs. Burr, if I run over in the morning?"

"Come when you like. It's nothing to me."

"Burr's bark is worse than her bite," the old doctor whispered as he escorted his guests to the door.

"Try, dear, not to antagonize Mrs. Burr. It is hard to get good help, uncle says, even here in this small town. Most of the women and girls prefer to work in the factories where they have all their evenings and Sundays. I don't know as I blame them very much either."

"No one gets as much as the servant girl."

"Perhaps, when one counts wages, housing, food, etc. But they do not have the liberty factory workers have. I guess we are fortunate to have Elsie willing to help us."

"Such a name for a servant! Every time I call her 'Elsie' I want to giggle. The homely, little, cross-eyed thing. I didn't think I could keep her, but she has done pretty well, and as I know nothing about cooking I guess we better hang on if help is so hard to get."

Annette told the truth when she said she knew absolutely nothing about cooking. She had been in school until the war broke out and then had devoted all her energies to doing her bit in that direction. Her father's sister, who had been a mother to her, was one of the mistaken sore who would rather do things herself than bother to teach another to do them. So whenever Annette would tease to be allowed to cook she was told to "run along and have a good time."

"We're the two orphans," Annette once said to Howard in the first days of their acquaintance. "I have daddie, of course, but that's all. You have only an uncle, and I have auntie."

"It is odd that we should both be so alone in the world, isn't it?" Howard replied. "We shall have to be all the more to each other to make up."

"Relatives might be a drawback," Annette replied. "I guess a lot of them are. I know some of the girls think so. Claire Gordon said that was one of your attractions—that you had no relatives."

"And I have always envied large families. Always longed for a mother and brothers and sisters. Uncle took the place of a father."

"But suppose you had such a Roosevelt ian family and they didn't like me." How awful it would be.

"They couldn't help but love you, dear?"

"You think so, but they might find all sorts of flaws in me."

"Not when there are none."

This was a pre-marriage conversation, and Howard little dreamed that the foolish chickens of his courtship exuberance would ever come home to roost. Perhaps he may be pardoned in that others are like him. But a woman remembers such extravagant expressions, even though she may not refer to them for years, if ever.

Howard heard much of that other physician who had taken the wealthy patients of the town away from his uncle, whom they considered old-fashioned even while speaking kindly of him. This Dr. Agnew—his sign was a big brass sign black lettered The old doctor's sign was weatherbeaten, some of the letters of his name almost illegible. He had had Howard's name put underneath without consulting him.

"You might at least have had a new sign like that Dr. Agnew," Annette grumbled.

"I thought first of proposing it, dear, then how incongruous it would look or that old office. It would make everything seem inconceivably shabby. Now, we'll let Agnew have his bright new sign. The old one is better taste."

"If you don't look out you will grow old-fogyish like your uncle," Annette had returned, pouting.

"I have no greater ambition than to be like him. He is a good man, Annette."

"There is something else in the world than goodness, which often means mediocrity. There is satisfied ambition, fame, money." Then "And one can be good and have them all."

of the country as profiteers. Hart charged that Daugherty is ignorant of true conditions and is inspired by mail order houses. Hart made a most vehement defense of the mercantile classes of the country and flayed the attorney-general. This is what he said: "What would it be worth to the mail order interests to have the public educated by the attorney generals and the radical newspapers to believe that every time they made a purchase at a retail store they were being held up and robbed? It would mean millions of extra trade for the mail order concerns," Mr. Hart said. "If you are going to be successful in 1922 you must meet this vicious propaganda, you must answer the question in your advertising to your own community. You stand convicted without a trial by one of our national officials. Who is this man Daugherty? Where did he come from? He must have been reading a back number of the paper published in his old home town during the war. He thinks the same prices are in effect. I believe President Harding, much as I like him, made a mistake in choosing this man as attorney general because a lawyer is supposed to know the law and law is founded on common sense and justice, both of which seem to be lacking in Daugherty. Mr. Daugherty, I believe, it is one of three things: You are either playing into the hands of the mail order interests, are playing cheap politics or are ignorant of true conditions. I am going to be charitable and say that the latter is the case. And you can find the truth by looking over the income tax returns filed by merchants from all parts of the United States." Hart had a say coming. He said a mouthful.

War values have shrunk like the negro's catfish. Stockmen realized it. Value of live stock on farms and ranges of the United States showed a decrease of 1,100 million dollars, or 18 per cent on January 1, this year, as compared with the value on that date a year ago, the department of agriculture announced in its annual livestock report. Compared with the value two years ago there was a decrease of 3,385 million dollars, or 41.5 per cent. Two years ago the American dollar had a purchasing power of 46 cents. A year ago it had climbed to 65 cents. Now an American dollars is worth a hundred cents and hundred cents represents its purchasing power. It is the best dollar in the world.

Old Bill Edwards is the editor of the People's Review and the People's Review speaks for the people who are now on earth and the city of Henrietta in the county of Clay. Old Bill is strong for Lucian W. Parrish. Speaking of the opening gun on the campaign Old Bill's paper carried the following. "The campaign opening by Hon. Lucan W. Parrish, at Sherman, last Saturday, in his candidacy for the United States senate, was a noted event. It may be said that Texas "sat up and took notice." Those attending from Henrietta report an immense crowd on the occasion, and the development of keen interest as, clear of head and patriotic of heart, our Lucian treated national and international policies with a master hand. Mr. Parrish has since been in South Texas, and reports are to the effect that he is everywhere touching the popular chord—"just as we had expected." He is something new as compared to the old political hacks of which Texans have come to the point of "a genteel sufficiency."

Kenesaw Mountain Landis has resigned his judgeship. A very wise man is Landis. He was the best copy-maker in America. He started something for the press reporters every day of his life. He worked longer hours than any federal judge since the republic was organized. He never bowed to either Mammon nor the Mob. There never was a dull moment in his judicial life. There never was a dull moment in his sporting life. He saved baseball. He administered justice regardless of comment or criticism and the reading public will miss him.

Watching the Parade

By JOHN PILGRIM

Resolved, That I am off this Barger person for life. He's a trifle too childish for a grown-up man. I feel that any moment I might be called on take him on my lap and wipe away his tears.

I have been in the temper of a widowed hyena all day long because of Barger. Up to last night he had been a good friend of mine. He had made me free of his bottle and in return I gave him largess from my cellar. I thought he was an entertaining, humorous, inclusive sort of person, though I admitted that his manners were a shade too closely reminiscent of fine old Empire Camembert from time to time. But I excused him.

"Jim Barger," I said to myself, "lived rough when he was a boy. Maybe he is a shade too abrupt now and then. But he has a good heart."

Maybe that heart of his is all that I thought it was. But in that case he has a mighty bad liver. I asked him to dinner last night along with my wife and a very dear friend. After dinner we were to go to the vaudeville and then on to some wax finish place for a little easy dancing. My friend Jim crabbed the entire act. He was rude to my wife, neglectful to my friend, and too insistently friendly to me.

"I think he was put out because we had a fourth in to dinner," I told Mrs. Pilgrim. "He acted the way he did because he is genuinely fond of us."

The funny part is that this explanation is true, as I verily believe. He does like us. He likes to be alone with us. He resents the entrance of any one else unless he happens to be the host, when he would engage the whole dining room of his hotel and fill it with guests. He wants to have the spotlight turned on himself continually. He wants people to make a fuss over him.

So far as I am concerned, he can find some one else to do the fussing. Once more it is borne in on me, and this time with a cold chisel and a gouge and a hacksaw, that bad manners are only another name for low-down, contemptible selfishness. A man may not know how to behave in the company in which he finds himself, but that is not bad manners. That is his misfortune.

But a man who will deliberately make other people uncomfortable because he is peeved is pure swine. Even gutter birth and stable-yard rearing is no excuse.

WHY IT TAKES FAITH

By DR. FRANK CRANE

(Copyright, 1921, by Frank Crane.)

The reason why it takes faith is that evil is noisy and good is quiet.

And the reason of that is that evil is weak and good is strong.

For whatever is strong can afford to be modest, and whatever is weak is anxious to blow its own horn as loudly as possible.

Children are weak and hence they cry loudly. When they grow up and become strong they learn to suffer and be silent. That is, some of them do. Of course this does not refer to your Aunt Emma.

In a world so constituted, the shallow-minded tend to believe in the power of evil.

They believe easily that most women are bad, because bad women are experts in conspicuity.

They believe easily that most men are liars, because liars talk very loud. And men who are addicted to the truth usually speak in a lower tone of voice.

It takes faith because lightning is fierce and followed by thunder, while the wireless messages stream through the air in silence. Any fool can believe in lightning. It takes brains to believe in the wireless.

It takes faith because most noise is humbug. The kaiser and his crew made a tremendous racket because they were such tremendous humbuzs.

The volcano amazes and the earthquake terrifies the people but neither of these two striking manifestations contains a billionth part of the power that lies in the silent sunshine which lifts billions of tons of water from the ocean every day and scatters it upon the land; which raises the tides, and is the scource of all force terrestrial.

Drunkards, murderers, wastrels, and perverts make a great stir upon the earth, but their influence is infinitesimal compared with that exerted by the mothers of the world.

For instance, out of the 2,388 devastated communes in France, all but 295 were adopted by cities in France, Great Britain, the United States, and elsewhere by the first of this year, and some $4,000,000 in cash had been subscribed by the "godparents" of these unfortunate districts, and the total value of their offerings, it is declared, amounts to three times this sum.

And all this constructive work has been quiet and un-noticed, while the work of devastation during the war resounded throughout the earth and filled the heavens.

It takes faith simply because it takes intelligence.

The other name for unfaith is stupidity.

Modern version: Marry in haste and repeat at leisure.

Every normal married man feels a little bit sorry for the poor spinsters who can't get a man like him.

It is only a question of time until some ribald critic will call Poincare the bonehead of contention.

We are heartily in favor of this hands-across-the-sea stuff so long as our own crowd keeps the upper hand.

What are the wild waves saying? Well, if they're crime waves, they are probably saying: "Ain't we got fun?"

Unfortunately for the peace of the world, sore spots, as well as sins, are visited on the third and fourth generations.

Too many people think patriotism is merely a desire to kill a neighbor who lives on the other side of the boundary line.

When a woman complains that her husband doesn't understand her, she usually means that she has found another man who does.

Confessions of a Paragrapher

OR HOW A PARAGRAPH IS MADE

Dear Editor:

You ask how the things are manufactured. Well, take the case of one of them in the other morning's batch.

Picture me sitting on the back on my neck before my trusty typewriter. My mind is a blank. I am a casual from the ears up, and have been evacuated. Not a thought on the premises.

Suddenly there appears before me the word ankles. I sniff. I will have none of it. I am fed up on ankles, and so is the public. I positively refuse to write a paragraph on ankles.

The word ankles timidly suggests calves. More of the same. Worse and worser. Darn calves. I'll be hanged if—

Calves slink off and as parting shot suggest the Prodigal Son. Well now, that is better. Perhaps a body might—

But no; already the Prodigal Son has suggested a place in the sun. Old stuff. A place in the sun suggests a fiddler's bill—preparations—moratoriums—all good pegs on which to hang a paragraph, but no bright thought to complete the hanging.

A fellow might make a pun on moratorium, but puns are a last resort—the last despairing cry of a worked-out imagination. Let's see; moratorium? Oh, yes. Well, why not define consortium in some Smart Aleck fashion? That always goes good. Deep thought. Frantic shimmying of the cerebellum. . . Periods denote shimmying. Vain effort.

Well, hang it, define something else then—patriotism, impudence, warship, college, pants, child—

Whoa! A little more line, please. Steady. All right. Reel him in.

Let's get it on the typewriter.

"A child is simply a stomach entirely surrounded by curiosity." And there you are.

Time: Ten minutes and three seconds.

Gosh, it's an awful strain.

Be good,

QUILLEN.

PLAIN FACTS ABOUT FIRE

"I don't see why so many people are burned, daddy, every time there's a cold snap," said Johnnie at the breakfast table.

The morning paper rustled and Johnnie's mother attempted to atone for the suddenly acquired deafness of his father.

"I suppose it's because, dear—because people build extra fires and—— Tell the child why, father," she finished, wavering under the attention Johnnie had focussed upon her.

"What are you talking about?"

Johnnie's father came out of cover and put down his paper with a sigh.

Johnnie's Father Surrenders.

"Fire, daddy! I can see all the headlines on your paper when you are reading inside, and it says about people being burned in a big fire downtown."

Making a mental note of this and deciding to turn the headlines in thereafter, Johnnie's father said:

"The people are not to blame, because in many instances they are terrorized——"

"What's terrorized?" interrupted Johnnie eagerly.

His father having explained, he resumed:

"There are some facts with which we should all be familiar—facts about fire. Too often we wait until after a fire to learn them. In the first place, burning consists in the union of oxygen with matter. So, if we exclude the air, the fire will be put out."

How to Fight the Flames.

Johnnie was a trifle vague as to what oxygen was, but he did not interrupt.

By pressing something hard and thick against the burning material, such as wood, or rugs, or blankets, one can put out a fire quickly. But one must think quickly," continued Johnnie's father.

"These fire extinguishers we see hanging in buildings almost all contain chemicals which interact and free carbon dioxid when poured over the flames. Carbon dioxid is heavier than air, so it puts out the fire.

"If your clothes ever catch fire, son, don't run. Remember that movement of air fans the flames and spreads the fire!

"If there is only a small place burning, try to press immediately against the wall or the floor, or draw the rug or anything heavy that happens to be in sight closely around you. By lying down on the floor one can almost always with one's body make pressure against the burning spot by rolling slowly."

What Teacher Told Them.

"Why should one lie on the floor?" asked Johnnie.

"Because the fire spreads more rapidly over your clothing when you are standing up," explained his father.

"Teacher said that if any of the fellows caught fire we were to wrap them up in a blanket, or a coat, or anything like that," Johnnie contributed.

"Exactly. Only always remember to put the blanket or whatever you are using between the face and the flames, otherwise you will fan the flames toward the face.

"And if anything in the room catches fire, Johnnie, you must always remember to bank something hard down on it first, to shut the windows or door to prevent a draft fanning the flames, and to get water if you can, unless it happens to be oil that is burning. Then water would only spread it. Sand or wet blankets or ashes are the things to put out burning oil."

So, thoughtfully, Johnnie crept off, like a snail, to school.

The Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

ON THE HOLLYWOOD GRILL

Prosecutor: Now go on and tell us all about it.

Movie Actress: There really is nothing much to tell. I had simply dropped in to borrow a copy of the Firemen's Weekly Herald. We were both very literary. We talked a short time, and then I got into my sedan and went home. Somehow I felt uneasy and I went back to the bungalow. As I entered it I saw Bartholomew in a heap on the floor. An overturned piano rested on his chest and there was a bookcase across his neck.

Prosecutor: Whadja do then?

Movie Actress: Nothing. It didn't strike me as suspicious at first. .....Bartholomew was often that way when I called!

Prosecutor: Often that way?

Movie Actress: Well, I mean he was often in a heap on the floor .....although I don't recall that he ever had the furniture scattered over him before. So, not thinking anything of it, I sat down on the floor and tried to talk to him. He didn't answer.....then I shook him..... and when he didn't respond I began to think something was wrong.

Prosecutor: You finally became suspicious?

Movie Actress: Yeah, I think it was the way the furniture was arranged over him. Suddenly the thought flashed over me that he had been a victim of violence!

Prosecutor: Then whaja do?

Movie Actress: I rushed out on to the front porch and cried for help.

Prosecutor: Did anybody answer?

Movie Actress: Why, er, it was most peculiar; there were six other bungalows in the block and there was a movie actress on the front porch of each one yelling for help, too. I shouted, "Oh, girls, my director has been murdered!"

Prosecutor: What'd they say?

Movie Actress: They all yelled back, "So has mine."

Prosecutor: Then whadja do?

Movie Actress: We all got together and I found all the girls had had exactly the same experience I had.

Prosecutor: Didin't that strike you as unusual?

Movie Actress: Well, it was the first time we'd ever had six crimes in the same block on the same night.

Prosecutor: Did you see anybody else in the neighborhood?

Movie Actress: I saw a stout man in a cap and muffler looking around the lawn of a hotel across the street.

Prosecutor: What was he doing?

Movie Actress: At first I thought he might have been connected with the slayings, but I later found he was a prominent screen comedian and knew nothing about them.

Prosecutor: What was he looking around the lawn for?

Movie Actress: It seems he had been giving a little dinner party in the hotel and had thrown a young lady guest out of the window in a playful mood. He was trying to find her when I saw him.

Prosecutor: I have been told by my detectives that a large motor truck was in the vicinity immediately after the shootings. Did you see it?

Movie Actress: Oh, yes, indeedy.

Prosecutor: What was it doing there?

Movie Actress: Must I tell?

Prosecutor: Yes, It may have an important bearing on the case.

Movie Actress: Well, we girls sent for it to come and cart our letters away.

(Curtain as the prosecutor collapses)

To Prevent Epidemics

By H. ADDINGTON BRUCE

Author of "The Riddle of Personality," "Self-Development," Etc.
(Copyright, 1921, by The Associated Newspapers.)

I commend to the consideration of parents in general a circular letter sent by the superintendent of the public schools of Hillsboro, Ill., to the parents of the children in the Hillsboro schools.

This letter was inspired by appreciation of the fact that the surest way to prevent epidemics of infectious diseases among school children is to secure the co-operation of parents in the taking of precautionary measures. Indeed, without such co-operation, medical vigilance and the enactment of health laws will be of little avail.

And, with rare exceptions, the many parents who do not co-operate for epidemic prevention as all should, are influenced more by lack of knowledge of the factors tending to make disease epidemic than by wilful defiance of the regulations of school boards and boards of health. To diffuse the necessary knowledge was, accordingly, the prime purpose of the Hillsboro superintendent in writing his letter to parents.

"Parents," he reminded those to whom he sent the letter, "can do much to help in the matter of the health of school children. Children who have fever and complain of headache, backache, sore throat, or of chilliness should not be sent to school. Quite often these are the symptoms of some communicable disease, and if the child is sent to school it may mean that other children will be exposed and a serious epidemic may occur.

"No parent would do anything that would endanger the health or life of another's child, but sometimes because of the lack of care this may happen. Children who are ill can do very little work in school, and they had better be kept home even though there is no danger of contagion.

"Children should be kept away from other homes where there are sick children. Quite frequently serious epidemics have been caused by the taking of children into homes where other children are ill.

"If one child of the family is sick it is always well to keep the other children away from the sick child. If this is done the other children will be protected, even though the child who is sick has a contagious disease.

"Sometimes people have the idea that children must have some of these diseases, and they use no precaution in protecting the children. Many of the diseases that are often considered as of little danger prove serious. Measles, for example, is a disease usually considered not fatal.

"But statistics show that out of every 100 children who have the measles four die. Suppose your child should be one of the four instead of one of the ninety-six?

"It is always well to consult a physician as early as possible. Many children die because the physicians is not called in time. This is especially true in diphtheria. If in doubt call a physician every time.

"Quarantine rules and regulations should be observed at all times. Very often a disease becomes a severe epidemic because people do not observe the rules of quarantine.

"A failure to comply with such rules may cause the death of many children. All of us desire to have our children protected, and we should be just as anxious to help protect the children of others."

Every parent who happens to read this letter as here reprinted will do well to give it serious thought. Action in accordance with it may some day be of vital importance to his or her own children and the children of friends and neighbors.

And school superintendents everywhere might advantageously address a similar letter to parents of children in their charge. Simply written, and appealing as it does to heart and mind alike, it is a letter of distinct value as a contribution to public health education.

DOGHILL PARAGRAFS

By GEORGE BINGHAM.

Raz Barlow will make another deposit at the Tickville bank next Saturday. He is getting used to the cashier now and is not afraid to go up and speak to him right out loud.

Jefferson Potlocks has had a fine chance to study children at first hand in his own family for the past several years, and he finds that while a child may be hard to please about some things, no matter how much too big a new pair of shoes or pants may be, he raises a racket if his ma wants to take them back and swap them for some that will fit.

The big swinging oil lamp, hanging from the ceiling of the Hog Ford church, suddenly ceased leaking last Sunday morning. This leaking has been going on some time, and it is believed the lamp is now empty.

The Daily Story

Copyright, 1921, by W. Werner

A KITCHEN PHILOSOPHER

At the instant the town clock struck 8 Susie Sweet entered at young Mrs. Mason Raymond's back door. She was humming a tune, softly, and hung her thick battered coat and a wilted hat out of the way. From a newspaper wrapping she took a large, clean apron which she tied about her waist. She was ready for a full day's work.

From the dining room beyond came the voices of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond at breakfast. They were not cooing in the way you might expect of such a recently wedded pair. Indeed, Susie was pained to admit to herself, they seemed to be having a disagreement. However, her business was to mind her own business, and she went quietly about removing careless traces of toast and scrambled eggs from the range.

Her motions were arrested by the flying entrance of Mrs. Raymond, flushed, choked, tearful. At the same time a door slammed somewhere in the distance.

Mrs. Raymond dropped into a chair. She had snatched off her breakfast cap and was twisting and tearing it. Even as she was she looked pretty. Susie thought. She went right on with the work of polishing the stove.

"Susie," gulped a little voice, "you can go right back. I shan't want you today. I—I'm going home to my mother."

Susie felt no surprise, only an intense pity.

"I am going home," repeated Mrs. Raymond forcibly, while her nervous fingers dissected a pitiful pink ribbon rosebud. "And I shall never come back as long as I live and breathe."

"I bet now you never eat a speck of breakfast, did you?" remarked Susie unexpectedly.

Mrs. Raymond poked a curl paper out of her eye. "No, I didn't. It—it began just as I'd sugared—" The confedence ended in a wail.

Susie went to the cupboard and before Mrs. Raymond could wipe her eyes twice Susie was holding a cup of strong tea before her. "Now sip this," she said, soothingly. She dropped down upon a near chair. "I couldn't begin to remember the times I'd have flew all to pieces if it hadn't been for a pinch of the best kind. There was one day in particular—it comes back to me just as plain as though it happened yesterday—something went wrong at the breakfast table. Hain't it queer how family difficulty usually does start then? I expect it's because the world allus looks a trifle bluer in the morning than it does any other time of the day. Well, anyway, Joans said something and I said something back and then he said something again and so we kept it up till we was both hoppin' mad. I often wish," Susie added reflectively, "that somebody'd invent some automatic contraption that'd shut our moths on that first ugly word. What a lot of misery it would save!"

"I think so myself," said Mrs. Raymond. She had ceased crying and was taking her tea. "Ray started it. You see, he said—"

"Oh, I've been through it!" Susie went on with her own recital. "Well, that particular morning Joans nor I neither one seemed to have a mite of sense left. I jumped up and ran home to my mother. She lived just around the corner. Say, I got the surprise of my life!"

"What was it?" asked Mrs. Raymond eagerly.

"My mother gave it to me. Do you know before you're married your mother's one thing and after you're married she's another—that is, she is if she's the right kind of mother. My ma was. Let me tell you what she did. She cuffed my ears—"to save your husband doing it," she says. Ma was a real, old-fashioned woman." Susie laughed merrily. "Ma said a woman always started the trouble herself. She knew from her own experience. She said men had to be treated like children. You can get a five-year-old boy into a perfect tantrum in three minutes by just picking at him, and a man of twenty-five hain't much better. Not that's, you'd pick intentionally, but you see how it is. When a man feels a little cross-grained to begin with and his coffee don't suit and the toast's burned maybe, and the eggs are tougher'n tripe, it don' take much to start a family rumpus. And the trouble with a family rumpus is it's apt to grow worse instead of better. Ma taught me something that day I never forgot. I'd allus been a real pet at home."

"So have I," murmured Mrs. Raymond, very thoughtfully.

Susie went on: "Course, that wasn't the last fuss Jonas and I had. We was young and high strung and newly hitched together, so there couldn't fail to be ructions. But we learned sense as we got older. Come to think of it, a woman hasn't no idea what a man meets with out in the business world where every other man's got his back up against him. Jonas took me to the stock exchange once on a Satu'd'y, and, say, after I got through with that I was glad I was a woman. It's easier to save money in the kitchen than to earn it in public." Susie arose. "Had you planned any special baking for today, Mis' Mason?" she inquired casually. "How you 'spose your man'd like one of my lemon pies for his dinner?"

"He'd like it, I'm sure," said Mrs. Raymond. She set the empty tea cup down and went out of the room.

Susie grinned. And when a boy came with a package of meat she sent him skirmishing with her broom out of a pure spirit of fun, which he took as she intended it.

Mr. Raymond did not come home to lunch and Mrs. Raymond was asked out. She came home greatly refreshed and in a brand-new humor.

In the meantime Susie had been busy. She had cooked dinner, she had the house as neat as a pin.

Mrs. Raymond was delighted when she looked around. "Why, you're a treasure, Susie," she exclaimed. "If I could afford it I'd offer you a steady job. You must teach me."

Susie was in the dining room doing something to the table when she heard the front door open. Raymond came in with a confident rush and bang. Within sight of Susie he caught Mrs. Raymond and kissed her—she had gone to meet him—then he presented her with a florist's box. They both came into the dining room together, Mrs. Raymond almost as radiant as her roses.

"How do, Susie?" the young man cried. "I hope you've a good dinner, for I'm hungry as a wolf. Been a great day, Elsie. By the way—" He caught her to him again and whispered.

Susie stole out of the room. She filled her tray and carried it in a little soberly, for she thought of those early days with Jonas. If he had lived she would have had a comfortable home of her own. Her young couple sat glowing with the roses between them.

"Susie, Elsie said, tremulously. "Mr. Mason has something to say to you."

"Susie," said Raymond, "I had a streak of good luck today and we can afford to keep our help in the house after this. We offer you a permanent home, Susie. Will you accept it?"

"Will you, Susie?" pleaded Elsie. She laid her hand on Susie's.

Susie looked down. A quiver of relief passed over her face. "Sure, I'm yours for life," she said.

Rippling Rhymes

By WALT MASON

THRIFT WEEK

We lately had a week of thrift, to brace our spendthrift souls, and close observers saw us drift to savings banks with rolls. A week of thrift is far too short this lesson to convey; quart, against the rainy day. I save the dimes for seven days, and find it quite a bore, for I can think of forty ways to blow them at the store. I drop a kopeck in the jar, and sigh, "It's saved, alas! but it would buy a good cigar, composed of herbs and grass." A rouble in the jar I drop, and I'm that much ahead; "but, oh," I sigh, "the drugstore pop, that's stained a guady red!" And when the week of thrift is done, I gladly rald the till, and take therefrom the hoarded mon, and blow it with a will. But if we had a year of thrift, the lesson we would heed, and from our shoulders we might lift the load that makes them bleed. It is a habit, saving scads, a habit hard to learn, if we train with the giddy lads who thing coin's made to burn. But in a year we've learned to count the guilders we have stored; it's good to see the package mount, to view the rising hoard. We realize how foolish 'tis, to waste the hard-earned rocks, and to ourselves we say, "Gee whiz, this is the graft that knocks!" And so we save the marks and francs, the kroners and the bucks, and haul them to the savings banks in lorries and in trucks.

Little Stories for Bedtime

JUMPER, THE HARE, CONSULTS BUSTER BEAR

Jumper the Hare was sitting under a low growing hemlock tree deep in the Green Forest, where he could look out over the pond of Paddy the Beaver. Jumper was not feeling at all good that morning. No, sir; Jumper was feeling anything but good. In the first place, it was a long time since he had a real good sleep. In the second place, he couldn't rest easily a minute even with his eyes wide open. All time time he felt as if his heart might jump right up in his throat any minute. And it was all because Reddy Fox had set out to catch him, and gave him no peace night or day.

"Old Mother Nature certainly takes better care of some than she does of others," thought Jumper, just a wee bit bitterly, as he watched Paddy the Beaver swimming about in his pond. "Now, there is Paddy, perfectly safe out there in the water, and here am I, not safe anywhere. It isn't fair. It certainly isn't fair."

Then Jumper looked and listened anxiously for the least sign of Reddy Fox. But all was quiet, and once more he began to think about the unfairness of Old Mother Nature. Now, that isn't a bit like Jumper the Hare. Jumper is almost as happy-go-lucky as Peter Rabbit, and takes things just as they come. It wasn't long before he began to feel a little ashamed of himself for having such thoughts. He thought of those long legs Old Mother Nature had given him to take him quickly out of danger, and then he remembered how Paddy the Beaver had to get his food on shore, or most of it, anyway, and how slow and clumsy Paddy is out of the water. The more he thought of this the more ashamed he grew of the thoughts he had had of Old Mother Nature's seeming unfairness, and pretty soon he knew right down in his heart that he wouldn't change places with Paddy the Beaver if he could, not even to get rid of Reddy Fox.

He was still thinking of this when a stick snapped a little way from him and his heart gave a great, frightened thump. You see, he had grown so anxious and nervous that whenever he heard a stick snap or a leaf rustle he was sure it was Reddy Fox trying to steal up on him. Jumper held his breath and looked in the direction from which the sound had come. There, shuffling along and muttering to himself, was Buster Bear. Jumper grinned. It was a very great relief to see Buster Bear instead of Reddy Fox. You see, Jumper isn't the least bit afraid of Buster, because he knows he can keep out of his way. Buster knows it too. So he wastes no time trying to catch Jumper. So they are very good friends. You see, they understand each other perfectly.

Jumper hopped out and sat up in front of Buster Bear. Buster sat up, too. Very funny they looked as they faced each other, one so very big and one so small, and both sitting up in just the same way. Paddy the Beaver had to laugh as he looked across at them.

"Hello, Buster!" said Jumper. "How do you like the Green Forest?"

Buster's little eyes twinkled as he grinned down at Jumper. "Pretty well, Jumper; pretty well, so far. Seems to me you are looking thin. Yes, sir, you are looking thin. That ought not to be in the beautiful springtime in such a nice place as the Green Forest." Buster shook his head as if he did not understand it at all.

"It's all your fault!" cried Jumped.

Buster Bear looked puzzled. "How is it my fault?" he demanded.

Then Jumper told him the whole story, how he had been sent to invite Buster to meet the other little people of the Green Forest, how Reddy Fox had tried to catch him, and then had been terribly frightened by the sudden appearance of Buster and had run, and then how he (Jumper) had run after him just for fun, and how all the little people were making fun of Reddy now, so that he was spending all his time trying to catch Jumper so as to get even. Buster's eyes twinkled more than ever as he listened.

"Perhaps I can help you," said he.

"Oh, will you? That would be perfectly splendid!" cried Jumper.

"NEXT STORY: BUSTER BEAR PLAYS A TRICK.

"Buster," said Jumper, "how do you like the Green Forest?"

Wichita Falls Dogs Take Honors at Bowie Bench Show

EUGENE M. JR., WINS SECOND PLACE WITH 160 DOGS ENTERED

Two Other Wichita Falls Dogs, Doc Bass' Pointer, Tom Hall and Patty May, Owned by R. A. Pate of Claude and Handled by J. L. Nabb, Place in the Show.

Special to The Record News.

BOWIE, Texas, Feb. 21.—It was a great day for Wichita Falls dogs in the bench show held here tonight, and particularly was it a great day with Claude Woods' setter Eugene M. Jr., who took four prizes, including that of second best dog in a show with 160 dogs entered. Successively winning as first in the all-age class for setters, first in the winner's class of the setters, and the decision as the best male or female setter, in the show, he lost first place to Dr. Sidney Smith's pointer, Benefactor, the best pointer in the show, as the best bench dog in the show. The decision was made only after a careful study on the part of the judges, Jim C. Foster of Fort Worth, president of the association holding the trials and W. S. Pierce of Fort Worth, both widely known bird-dog men.

The victory of Eugene M. Jr., is all the more remarkable in that it took a dog which beat Ch. Beck Broomhall, a national champion and regarded as the greatest field dog in the United States to beat him.

This is the second time Eugene M. Jr., has ever been entered in a bench show, the other occasion being in Houston last year when the dog was adjudged the best dog in the show in which 80 dogs entered.

The local dog is a sweet worker in the field, and is one of the four dogs to run tomorrow.

Two other Wichita Falls dogs placed in the show, Doc Bass' pointer, Tom Hall, winning second place in the all age class for pointers. Patty May, a Tom Hall puppy belonging to R. A. Pate of Claude, and handled here by J. L. Nabb of Wichita Falls, took first place for pointer bitch puppies.

JUDGE MARTIN TO ADDRESS GRAHAM BAR

Judge P. A. Martin of the 30th district court will leave today for Graham. He will address the Washington birthday banquet to be held in that city tonight under the auspices of the bar association. Judge Martin will return to this city Thursday.

Plead Guilty To Burglary; Get 2 Years

Following their pleas of guilty, F. W. Smith and D. M. Stout charged with burglary, were sentenced to two years in the penitentiary by a jury in the 30th district court Tuesday morning. Smith and Stout were indicted at the recent session of the grand jury.

The men were arrested the first of the month in connection with the theft of clothing from a home in the residential section. Confessions alleged to have been made by the two men were read to the court.

Basket Ball Game Goes to Estelline

Efforts sponsored by the University club at their noon meeting to arrange for the bi-district basketball game between Clara and Estelline here next Friday, failed through inability to use the Athletic park, which has been plowed up in preparation for the coming baseball season. Estelline demanded an outdoor game, and this was the only outdoor ground available where an admission fee could be charged. The acceptance of the Estelline offer for the game to be played there was then accepted.

Rabbi David Goldberg delivered a treatise on "Education" at the club meeting, laying especial emphasis on the dependency of the mind on bodily surroundings. Vocal solos by Wm. E. Young, accompanied by Miss Annette Walsh furnished the musical entertainment.

Members of the losing team in the recent membership campaign will "pay-off" by having one member of the winning team as individual guests at next Tuesday's luncheon, it was decided.

To Reorganize Avoleh Club

Reorganization of the Avoleh club, with new outlines of activity, was accomplished at the Tuesday night meeting of the club, held in the Episcopal parish house. Discussion of several lines of entertainment featured the meeting, and plans were laid for a dance to be held shortly, which it is planned to make exceedingly interesting.

George Rose was elected the new secretary of the club.

Boxing matches and other athletic events are also planned, as a part of the enlarged scope of the club, it was announced by the new secretary. Dates and definite arrangements for these events will be ready for announcement in a few days, it is stated.

Originally organized by boys of the high school, the Avoleh club has recently been extended to include a few boys not in school. These and the girl friends are sharing the program of entertainment which is being mapped out.

MEETING HELD BY TEMPORARY FARM COUNCIL DIRECTORS

IOWA PARK, Feb. 21.—A meeting of the temporary directors of the Farm Council of Wichita county was held here Monday afternoon for the purpose of adopting the by-laws and constitution of the organization. Good representations from Electra, Burkburnett and Iowa Park were here, unfortunately Wichita Falls members were unable to attend. This was a rousing good meeting and a wonderful thing for our farmers this being an organization strictly for the farmer and ruled and governed by the farmers of Wichita county, Texas.

ALL NICK LACKS OF BEING A DOG MAN IS ONE DOG

Everything Else He Has, From Dog Biscuit and Whistle to Dome Load of Training Rules.

David Harum Has Nothing on Joe Henson as Horse Trader and "Dinty" Booth Sure Is "Sore."

By "NICK CARTER"

BOWIE, Texas, Feb. 21.—Say, you fellows, back home—has any one of you got a good bird dog you'll swap for a couple o' dozen extra fine gold clubs? I've asked the same question of every bird dog lover in Bowie (which means just about the total population) and not one of these hard-hearted devils will trade! I've just got to have a bird dog. I never was so fascinated by anything in my life.

Hunter Dempsey already has told me exactly how to feed and care for my dog; "Ches" Harris, handler of Champion Becky Broomhill, has given me a few training rules to work by; I bought an old bone whistle from Joe Crane that he swears Commanche Rap used as a teething ring; Joe Henson sold me half of one of Mister Spratt's w. k. dog biscuits—and I'd be one of the best known bird dog men in the Southwest, darn the luck, if I only owned the dog!

Serious Thought

I can buy a mighty nice dog, here, too, and I'm thinking seriously about it. He's a setter about five years old, and has been placed repeatedly in events on the big circuit. His owner only asks the ridiculously low price of $7,500 for the dog, and I figure that if he'll take $10 down and the balance in monthly payments of $20 each I'll buy that darn dog! Aw, be still, Claude Woods, I wasn't talking about old Eugene M., Jr.! You think every time a feller mentions a setter he must be talking about 'Gene—just you wait until 'Gene hooks up in the 16th brace tomorrow with Miss Bess.

I had to buy a whistle. I don't know whether I can charge it on my expense account or not, but honest, Boss, I had to buy a whistle. You see, a fellow don't get any recognition nowadays in Bowie unless he's got an old bone whistle hanging around his neck suspended from a piece of old tarred cord; unless he's got that, why a man's a social outcast; he simply doesn't belong in "our set"—O-h no, Bertie, he's a bally outsider, a blooming bounder, what?

What gets me is how these bird dogs differentiate between the whistles. A brace of dogs is "put down" and cut loose, with their handlers walking or riding behind them. Each handler, we'll say, has a whistle—and every so often the whistles shrill, and the handlers wave their hats—and the dogs stop, wheel, flash a glance at the waving hats and obey orders. But it is very rare that any dog pays the slightest attention to the sound of a whistle blown by the handler of his brace-mate. The whistles sound alike to me—and the only conclusion I have been able to reach is the modest admission that I can't be quite as intelligent as a bird dog!

What "Dinty" Did.

But I'm just as bright as "Dinty" Booth, even if he did win $5 for being the best speller in the Kiwanis club. After I found out I could ride the horse assigned to me here, I didn't try to trade horses later, as Dinty did.

Joe Henson rode up alongside of Dinty in the course of the running of the amateur derby Monday at a time when the spectators had gathered around a small tank to water their horses.

"Say, Dinty," remarked Joe, "you're there on a horse, I'll say."

"Oh, I've ridden a little," admitted the pleased Dinty.

"I'll bet I'm going to be mighty lame tomorrow," mused Joe. "I was wondering if I wouldn't be a little less lame if I should swap horses with you. Then you see I'd get a little lame in several places instead of getting awful lame in one place from riding the same horse all day."

"Why, I'll be glad to swap, Joe," said Dinty. "Anything to oblige a friend."

So they dismounted and swapped. Joe immediately rode on ahead, and Dinty rode his new mount into the tank to water him. The horse promptly laid down in the muddy water and rolled over, gently spilling the surprised Dinty in the general filth.

Dinty Booth arose and cussed. He lambasted his steed a couple of swift jolts, yanked him to his feet and staggered out of the tank and mounted—and the horse then put up one prettiest pitching exhibitions of the day.

Course He's Sore.

Dinty is a little sore today, he admits—but he came in grinning and he bought the dinners Monday night for that tricky city slicker, Smiling Joe Henson.

Everything is lovely in Bowie. The folks here sure have left the latch-string out. But there is always a fly in the ointment, and in this case what do you think?—why some goshdurn constable actually tried to arrest some of the gang last night for playing cards for matches! They couldn't have been playing for money, because everybody here but me and the other dogs has already got money (Billy Rose says his is running a little low, however). Now I'm not going to name any names in connection with this horrible scandal, but I did here as how there was a bald-headed "fixer" in the crowd who settled everything all right with the "law"—settled it swell, did it easy, too—all he did was pay out something like $40 in fines, and then spent the rest of the evening braggin to all us experienced bird dog men about what a "pull" he had with the police force!

I hear the battle cry to dinner, and I'm long gone. Every time they holler, "Food," I'm faster than "Doc" Bass's pointer, Tom Hall.

SILVER CREEK BEN, NATIVE TEXAN WINS AMATEUR DERBY OF OIL BELT FIELD TRIALS

Special to the Record News.

BOWIE, Texas, Feb. 21.—Tie a blue ribbon around the Texas flagpole.

Racing against the biggest field of starters in United States derby history, Silver Creek Ben, a beautiful setter owned by H. V. Lee, of Fort Worth, and Ted Sloan of Houston, today won the amateur derby of the Oil Belt Field Trials Association.

Not only did Texas take the coveted first honor but a Texas dog led for third place and another received honorable mention in fourth place.

Running second to Silver Creek Ben was Miss Positive, also a setter and owned by Weil and Ray of Alexandria, La.

Doc Napa, setter, owned by Dr. I. M. Dupay of Alexandria and Ben May Day, a pointer owned by Dr. Sydney Smith, of Houston, tied for third place while the judges gave honorable mention to Deuce of Spades, a pointer owned by C. E. Oliver of Caldwell, Texas.

Eight dogs were taken over in the second series of the derby before the judges reached their decisions.

In addition to the prize winners, the dogs that got in the second series were Speck, owned by C. E. Sykes, of Ardmore, Okla., Miss Sunburst, owned by C. E. Proctor, of Oklahoma City, and Cincinnati Gnats Den, owned by R. Q. Kennedy of Bowie, Texas.

Silver Creek Ben, the setter that made a big hit with the gallery on opening day by pointing two coveys of quail in his first ten minutes of work, showed the same splendid form today in the second series and the verdict of the judges in awarding him first place met with universal approval.

The amateur derby finished at noon today and the amateur all-age stakes started immediately afterwards.

Two Wichita Falls dogs showed up well in their early work, Leslie's Lady Bimby, owned by E. V. Leslie, and Plain Joe's Lou, owned by Ollie Rahl.

Eleven braces in all were run in this event before darkness set in. There are 39 dogs entered in the amateur all-age, another record field, and probably all of tomorrow will be consumed before the winners are named.

Tomorrow E. P. Basston Hall will run in the same brace with Llewellyn Mabel, Joe Henson's fine dog, and command considerable respect.

Claude Wood's veteran setter, Eugene M. Jr., a big league hunting dog, also is due to run with J. L. Nabb's Miss Bess.

It was a strange coincidence that these four Wichita Falls dogs were drawn in braces Nos. 16 and 17.

They have all hunted together around Wichita Falls and their owners are all close friends.

IMPROVED POULTRY STOCK HAS PROVEN WORTH AT HEDLEY

HEDLEY, Feb. 21.—Two carloads of poultry and 125 cases of eggs were shipped from here today, the total receipts for the entire shipment was more than $3,500.00. A message to the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, from R. E. Mann, president of the Hedley Poultry Breeders association, says that this large shipment of poultry is the result of the farmers culling out the "scrub" stock and poor laying hens, replacing them with standard bred chickens. This very important point in poultry raising, was demonstrated by the poultry specialists, in charge of the Denver railway's one day poultry school which was held here a few weeks ago.

Orange trees have been known to bear fruit until they were 150 years old.

BREMAN FIGHTS GAMELY AND WINS DRAW FROM JIM FLYNN IN FAST BATTLE AT BURK

Special to The Record News.

BURKBURNETT, Feb. 21.—Fighting with a broken hand after the second round and outweighed twenty pounds by his veteran opponent, Abe Breman of this city here tonight battled through ten rounds of fast fighting and won a draw from Jim Flynn, the Pueblo fireman.

Over six hundred tight fans taxed the capacity of the Liberty Athletic club and cheered the home fighter who showed a distinct come-back from his recent disastrous fight with Sailor Williams.

Flynn was the aggressive throughout the fight but Breman battled gamely through the entire ten rounds and was never in danger from the rapid-fire blows of his more experienced opponent. Breman won a draw due to the fact that he succeeded in landing more blows than did Flynn. Living up to his reputation during years of fighting, the veteran Flynn took the punishment without any cessation of aggressive fighting.

The difference in weight in favor of Flynn was apparent. Breman showed a more shifty defense and aggressiveness than has been apparent in previous bouts here and this fact made it possible for him to come out of the encounter with a draw.

The first round went to Flynn with the second a draw. Breman had the best of his opponent in the third and fourth. The remaining rounds were even with the exception of the sixth which was Flynn's. Referee Cheshire was the third man in the ring.

Previous to the main bout, several preliminaries were held, some of which were fast and won applause from the crowd. Gid Snider and Kid Crawford opened with a draw which brought them a free-will offering of over $16 from the crowd. The pair were fast and were evenly matched.

Speedy Sparks ended a scheduled 10-round semi-final in the first round when he floored Battling Chestain of Denver. The latter outweighed Speedy twenty pounds.

Kid Hill of this city and Campbell of Lawton, Okla., light heavyweights fought four rounds to a draw in the preliminaries.

After taking the first round, Sailor Williams was knocked out of the ring by Sailor Griffin. He got back into the ring but the bout ended in a dispute.

YOU CAN'T TRUST CALOMEL AT ALL

It's Quicksilver, Salivates, Causes Rheumatism and Bone Decay.

The next dose of calomel you take may salivate you. It may shock your liver or start bone necrosis. Calomel is dangerous. It is mercury, quicksilver. It crashes into sour bile like dynamite, cramping and sickening you. Calomel attacks the bones and should never be put into your system.

If you feel bilious, headachy, constipated and all knocked out, just go to your druggist and get a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone for a few cents, which is a harmless vegetable substitute for dangerous calomel. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't start your liver and straighten you up better and quicker than nasty calomel and without making you sick, you just go back and get your money.

Don't take calomel! It can not be trusted any more than a leopard or a wild-cat. Take Dodson's Liver Tone which straightens you right up and makes you feel fine. No salts necessary. Give it to the children because it is perfectly harmless and can not salivate. (Adv.)

Record News Readers: Laugh With Us

Some Chest-Nuts

They were discussing love.

"Love," said the bachelor, "is an emotion which never existed. It was first folstered upon the world by a soft-headed novelist who wanted something to write about."

"Ah!" sighed the married man. "Love is an illusion of youth which only time and a wife will dispel."

"Love," cried the cynic, "is the sentimental outpourings of a moon-struck youngster in the last stages of infancy."

"Oh, no," objected an old maid. "Love is the heavenly reward of all who withstand the temptations of life."

"Tee-hee!" laughed a chorus girl. "I think love is a sure road through a breach-of-promise case to enough ready cash to enable you to enjoy single blessedness."

"Rather," agreed a college man. "Love is the most expensive form of gambling, with all the odds against the man."

"Oh!" exclaimed the flapper. "If you really love, it is a series of electric shocks, low-whispered confidences and beautiful kisses."

Which only goes to prove that love is a thing which every one seeks and no one is satisfied with (for long) once it is found.

She was a school teacher and he a four-button model summer student. He had just finished a graphic description of how a friend of his had been struck in the eye by a golf ball and nearly lost his sight. It was a delightful moonlight evening and as they strolled through the campus he had grown eloquent in the details of the terrific drive, the whir of the ball through the air and the audible crash as it struck his companion full in the face. Then he followed up with a description of the blood and pain and a couple of subsequent major operations and paused to light a cigarette, while he let the effect sink in. They moved slowly on for a few moments and then she suddenly looked up at him. "Gee," she murmured, "I'll bet that boy had a black eye!" The janitor found her remains in the frog pond the next morning.

While in London recently a Dublin man, spending a holiday, sauntered into a barber shop for a shave.

When he had finished the barber handed him a check for more than the man thought he should be charged.

He regarded it thoughtfully.

"Do you happen to know the significance of that red-and-white-striped pole in front of your shop?"

"Yes, sir," said the barber. "You see, in olden times, barbers were surgeons as well as tonsorial artists. When a man had to be bled he came to a barber."

"Then whatever you do don't take down that pole!"

The doctor examined the patient and then, turning to the man's wife, said:

"Now, be sure to give him only as much as this powder will cover sixpence."

Next morning the doctor returned to find the patient much worse.

"Did you give him the powder?" he asked, anxiously.

"Oh, yes. But I hadn't enough, doctor," said the wife.

"Enough?" gasped the doctor. "Enough?"

"No," said the woman, meekly. "I only had sufficient to cover fivepence."

W. M. Priddy returned Tuesday from an extended business trip to northern and eastern points.

Fred Dumrease, of Eastland, formerly with the Prairie here, was a visitor here Tuesday.

Mrs. C. Threet left Saturday to accompany her daughter. Mrs. Lexie Bachman of Wichita Falls to Marlin, Texas, where Lexie goes for health benefit.—The Archer County News.

The pipe line furnishing an outlet for the product of the Westfork Oil Field some ten miles southeast of Archer City, has been moved from a railroad connection at Jean to Anarene. This was deemed necessary on account of the contemplated bringing in to production from the Miller 900 foot sand several new wells to production in that field, and the poor railroad shipping facilities offered by the G. T. & W. at Jean.—Archer County News.

The Stewart, Marley & Jones Luke Wilson No. 3 test, on the 66-farm 3 1-2 miles north of Archer City got properly spudded in Monday and today the equipment is doing business rhythmically at a reported depth of 520 feet. They are headed for a 1200 foot sand encountered and lost in No. 2 via a rotary, but information is that with their cable tools they are preparing to test the value of a 10 foot thickness of oil bearing sand rotaried through at 600 feet.—Archer County News.

A new oil derrick this week poked its nose above the horizon about 4 miles to the northwest of Archer City, and we learn it is for a test to be drilled at once by local capital and men, to-wit: George Abercrombie, Joe Longley, Harold K. Dyess and The Archer Realty Co., witih the well to be drilled by Lester Miller. The test is going down on an 800 acre lease out of the H. Corsine survey, with a rotary, and doubtless an honest to goodness test as they will core barrell ahead in time to properly tap an expected 1200 foot sand. The Gulf people as a precaution, have bought a 100 acre lease offsetting at 1700 feet at $1500.00.—Archer County News.

Mrs. O. E. Wilson and daughter, Katherin, Miss Ann and Al Cargill and Master Paul Cargill were here Sunday from Wichita Falls, visiting Mrs. J. R. Cargill, who has been sick the past week.—Stamford Leader.

Friends here were surprised when the announcement was made Monday by H. W. Roberts, an employee of the city, of his marriage Sunday in Wichita Falls, Texas, to Mrs. Ellis Morris. They will reside here in the future.—Frederick (Okla.) Leader.

O. D. Wilkes and M. B. Pickens left Monday for Wichita Falls, Texas, and other points in that state on a business trip.—Frederick (Okla.) Leader.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Gordon Smith of Wichita Falls, Texas, spent Sunday at the home of Mrs. Smith's mother, Mrs. Lee Carter.—Frederick (Okla.) Leader.

The Gulf Production Company will spud in its fourth well May 1, on the McClelland Creek acreage near Panhandle, and the event will be celebrated with a big barbecue, according to oil men of Panhande. A public auction of leases will be held at that time, and acreage will be disposed of to the highest bidders. The McClelland Creek proposition comprises approximately 11,000 acres, and the promoters of the project believe they will encounter production at a reasonable depth. Reports that the Gulf Company will start another test west of Panhandle have been current in Amarillo for the past several days, but no details of the project have been made public.—Amarillo Daily Tribune.

FIGHTERS ARE ARRESTED BY SHERIFF SMITH

Special to the Record News.

BURKBURNETT, Feb. 21.—In connection with the boxing match between Abe Breman and Jim Flynn, principals and managers of the Liberty Athletic club were arrested here tonight by Sheriff Fred Smith. The arrests were made following the boxing match which included several preliminaries.

The men arrested were released on bond and told to report to Wichita Falls Wednesday for preliminary hearings. The action by county officials comes after several bouts had been staged here during the last few weeks. A capacity house saw the bout Tuesday night.

UNITY SOUGHT BY LEADERS OF THE SINN FEIN

By Associated Press.

DUBLIN, Feb. 21.—There is a possibility that a split in the Sinn Fein over the Anglo-Irish treaty will be avoided. The Ard Fheis, which met at Mansion House today to define the attitude of the Sinn Fein clubs on the treaty adjourned until tomorrow, with instructions to the leaders of both parties to devise a plan to keep the Sein Fein organization united.

The unexpected outcome was due to the direct initiative of the meeting in general. After Eamon DeValera had presented a resolution pledging adherence to the constitution adopted by the Ard Fheis in 1917, looking to "International recognition of Ireland as an independent republic," and stated his objections to the treaty the debate did not settle down into an examination of the merits and demerits of the treaty.

COURT ORDERS J. C. PELLETIER OUT OF OFFICE

By Associated Press.

BOSTON, Mass., Feb. 21.—The Supreme court today removed Joseph C. Pelletier from the office of district attorney of Suffolk county. Its decision, returned unanimously by the majority of full bench, who sat as judges and jury at the recent trial, is that he had used his office for "private favoritism and personal aggrandizement."

Conspiracy with certain attorneys to extort large sums of money was held to be proved. The fact that Pelletier and the United States Senator James A. Reed of Missouri, his chief counsel, elected at the trial, to introduce no testimony in defense was declared by the court to warrant inferences unfavorable to the respondent.

"It is conduct in the nature of an admission," the court declared.

AUTO PLATES RECEIVED BY LEGION POST

Several Hundred Already Disposed Of; Campaign to Sell at Least Two Thousand This Week.

Those holding receipts for the "Wichita Falls" plates for their automobiles may now secure them by presenting the receipts at the Chamber of Commerce, according to an announcement Tuesday. One thousand pairs of the plates have now been received.

The first sales campaign resulted in the sale of several hundred pairs of the plates, a green plate, uniform in size with the number plate, with the name "Wicita Falls" in white letters.

Another campaign, designed to sell the remainder of the first thousand and a second thousand to local car owners will be launched by the Legion on Thursday and Friday.

NEW HIGH RECORD ESTABLISHED BY BRITISH EXCHANGE

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—The outstanding feature of today's foreign market was the continued rise of British exchange which established yet another high record since August 1919.

Demand bills on London rose to $4.40 during the market session and this was extended by a liberal fraction after the close of business.

The French rate eased slightly from its recent brisk advance and Italian remittances also were lower, but the Belgian rate hardened to the accompaniment of the higher quotations reached by that government's bonds in this market.

Guilders, or Dutch exchange, rose about fifty points on reports that the Netherlands government is negotiating a loan of considerable proportion here. Danish, Swedish and Norwegian remittances more than recovered their losses of the previous day.

Indications of better trade conditions between the United States and Canada were furnished by the further discount on Montreal, which fell to 2 15-16 cents. This is the lowest rate of discount reported for the Canadian dollar here in almost three years.

LOCAL SCHOOL FIRST TO BUY MOVIE MACHINE

Tuesday evening at the Barwise school, the first public demonstration of the first motion picture machine to be installed in a local school, was held under the supervision of W. T. White, the principal, and attended by a large number of students, their parents, and representatives of the school board.

The machine, a Zenith, was operated for this initial occasion by D. F. Parker, of Dallas, who pinced the machine. Four reels of pictures were shown, two educational and two recreational.

Mrs. A. H. Carrigan, wife of the president of the school board, and daughter of Judge Barwise, for whom the school was named, made an interesting talk, contrasting the first schools of Wichita Falls, which she attended, with the present-day modern schools. Mrs. M. M. Adiekes, member of the school board, also made a short talk.

The addition of this motion picture machine to the school equipment is a pronounced forward stride in the development of the school as a community center, as it planned to use the machine for a community program one evening each week, when the school will be opened to the residents of the ward. The boys of the school will be instructed in the operation of the machine, both for the use of class work, and for the open programs.

YOUNG ZBYSZKO GIVEN DECISION OVER STECHER

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—Wladek Zbyszko, a younger brother of the world's champion heavyweight wrestler, tonight defeated Joe Stecher of Dodge, Neb., former champion, in a finish match at Madison Spare Garden.

A large crowd of spectators displeased with the result surged menacingly about the ring. They were dispersed by the police after several minutes of excitement.

The first fall went to Zybszko when Stecher after taking him to the mat with a flying headlock fell underneath. In attempting to escape from a half Nelson and body hold he rolled on his shoulders. Up to a moment before the fall was awarded him Zbyszko had been on the defensive. The scissors expert several times attempted to apply his famous hold, but the Pole managed to escape.

Stecher took the second fall with an arm and leg hold after 14 minutes of wrestling. The referee warned Zbyszko against the use of rough tactics.

With one fall to the credit of each the rivals went to the mat for the third fall with the spectators keyed up to a high pitch. When the referee after six minutes twenty-five seconds interfered announcing that Zbyszko had won a rolling fall, the crowd shouted demands that the referee be overruled.

SCOTLAND GIRL ACCIDENTALLY SHOT TUESDAY

Accidentally shot while playing with other members of the family in December, Katie Peyson, eight-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Peyson of Scotland was brought to the Call Field hospital here Tuesday night. Little hope was entertained for her recovery at the hospital at an early hour this morning.

The accidental shooting occurred about 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. The child was brought here in a machine by her father. The bullet lodged in abdomen.

NEW CLUE HAS DEVELOPED IN DRURY TRAGEDY

MONROE, La., Feb. 21.—Mrs. Ada Converse, nee Ada Drury, formerly of Wichita Falls, Texas, who is believed to have been murdered near Hazelhurst, Mississippi, passed through Monroe with other members of a magazine and newspaper soliciting party in December, according to Inspector of Police Rober E. Heap, of Monroe, who believes he has discovered an important link which may lead to the solution of the crime in Mississippi.

The entire party consisting of four men and four women were arrested by Monroe police December 23 and were held in jail for several days. A woman of the description of the slain woman gave the name of Miss Lois Jewell and claimed she had a sister by the name of Bell Brown in the party. Heap asserts the other members arrested gave names as D. M. Bissett, manager; L. M. Groves; E. E. Farrar; E. L. Adams. Miss Christine Baldwin and Miss Thelma Coppes.

It is the opinion of the police that the body of the woman found at Hazelhurst, Miss. is that of Lois Jewell.

Farrar was in Monroe a few days ago hungry, mud spattered and clothing torn. He said, according to the police that the high-priced car in which the party was traveling was his and it had broken down "somewhere east of Monroe" and the party had scattered following their release in December.

REFUSE PERMIT FOR PARADE OF UNEMPLOYED

Unanimous refusal of a request for a parade of unemployed here next Saturday, advanced in behalf of those taking part in recent meetings in complaint against the irrigation project, together with the adoption of a resolution praising and expressing confidence in the membership of the irrigation board, and the letting of contracts for the paving of Eleventh from Grace to Indiana marked an adjourned session of the city council Tuesday morning.

Mayor Cline, in reporting the request for such permission, stated that it had been presented by one O. B. Kelly who claimed to represent local unemployed. Mr. Cline, in the course of a talk with his visitor, suggested that Police Commissioner Fitts was the proper officinl to whom he should present the request.

"If a permit like that is granted, it will be by the council's going over my head," Mr. Fitts declared, expressing the opinion that agitation such as the kind that is being carried on never helped any cause.

The mayor said that Kelly explained the request for a parade by saying that local newspapers were not giving him the sort of publicity in connection with his crusade. He also reported that he had questioned the man and learned that he followed no particular work or trade; that he had once attended a theological school but that he was not now connected with any church. Commissioner Fitts said that he had been formerly in the employ of the city in the capacity of dog catcher, but had resigned when some one had released all the dogs he had gathered in the pound.

Both concrete and bitulithic paving will be used on Eleventh street in conformity with the expressed wish of property owners. Concrete will be used in the paving from Indiana to Austin, and bitulithic from Austin to Grace. The West Texas Construction company was the winner on the bitulithic bid, and L. E. Whitham on the concrete.

ORDINANCE No. 394
DEFINING COMMERCIALIZED AMUSEMENTS, CREATING THE POSITIONS OF CENSORS OF COMMERCIALIZED AMUSEMENTS AND A BOARD OF APPEALS, PRESCRIBING THEIR DUTIES REGULATING MOVING PICTURE SHOWS AND OTHER COMMERCIALIZED AMUSEMENTS, PRESCRIBING A PENALTY AND DECLARING AN EMERGENCY.
BE IT ORDAINED BY THE BOARD OF ALDERMEN OF THE CITY OF WICHITA FALLS.
Section 1. That by "Commercialized Amusements" as used in this ordinance is meant all places and forms of amusement or recreation which are created, established, equipped or maintained for the purpose of profit and gain, or to the end that profit or gain may accrue therefrom, or which are attached to or allied with, or run in conjunction with any enterprise intended for profit or gain.
Section 2. That there be, and is hereby created in and for the City of Wichita Falls the position of censors of commercialized amusements. There shall be two or more censors who shall be appointed by the Mayor and Board of Aldermen of the City of Wichita Falls.
Section 3. That there be, and is hereby created a Board of Appeals of Commercialized Amusements, which Board shall consist of seven (7) members, and both men and women shall be eligible to membership of said Board. The members of such Board shall be nominated by the Mayor and confirmed by the Board of Aldermen. In making such appointments the Board of Aldermen shall designate one member so appointed to act as Chairman of the Board.
The Board of Appeals shall serve without compensation in that capacity, and the period of their service shall be at the will of the Board of Aldermen.
Four members shall constitute a quorum to perform any duty imposed upon the Board of Appeals by this ordinance and the decision of a majority of the members acting on any matter shall be final.
Section 4. It shall be the duty of the Censors to inspect and censor all places and forms of Commercialized Amusement. They shall actively enforce all laws, ordinances and regulations covering such forms and places of amusement, or shall report in writing breaches of ordinances, and laws, to the proper officials for enforcement. Such censors may be commissioned by the Board of Aldermen to exercise police duties, where necessary in the proper performance of their duties. The decision of Censors may be reviewed by the Board of Appeals as provided in Section 5 of this ordinance. The Censors shall receive such compensation as may be prescribed by the Board of Aldermen and their services shall continue or be terminated at the will of the Board of Aldermen.

Section 5. Any person, firm or corporation aggrieved by any ruling or action taken by any Censor may take appeal from such ruling or action within twenty-four (24) hours after such ruling or action and it shall be the duty of said Board of Appeals, without delay, to pass upon such appeal and the decision of said Board or of a majority of a quorum thereof, acting shall be final; provided, however, that the ruling or action of the Censor shall be stayed or held in abeyance pending such appeal. The Board of Appeals shall keep actively in touch with all Commercialized Amusements by personal investigation and inspection. They shall have the right to enter at all times any place of Commercialized Amusements for the purpose of observing the same and for the purpose of determining whether they are conducted in accordance with the terms of this and other ordinances of the City of Wichita Falls relating thereto.
Section 6. That no moving picture shall be displayed in the City of Wichita Falls without written permission or approval of the authorized Censor. Permission may be given by the Censor to display or exhibit specific pictures when in his judgment an advance view of such picture may not be necessary. Such permission will be given, however, subject to the right of the Censor or Board of Appeals to order cuts or entirely condemn the picture, in writing with reasons therefor when in his or their judgment the actual display indicates that such exhibition is calcualted to corrupt the morals of youth, or is indecent, low or vulgar, or calculated to promote racial prejudice, or create disorder, or is reasonably calculated to cause a disturbance of the peace. The Censor may recommend a prompt view of any moving picture in advance of display or exhibition, in which case the picture will be definitely approved, or, if its exhibition is calculated to corrupt the morals of youth or is indecent, low, vulgar or is calculated to promote racial prejudice, or create disorder or is reasonably calculated to cause a disturbance of the peace, it shall be condemned in whole or in part in writing with reason therefor, and it shall be unlawful to display or exhibit any such picture after the same has been so condemned or to display or exhibit any condemned part of such picture when same has been condemned in part only, provided, however, that no moving picture shall be condemned entirely by the Censor without the agreement of the agent, owner or exhibitor, unless the Board of Appeals agrees to such condemnation.
Section 7. That all places of commercial amusement shall be kept well ventilated and in a sanitary condition, both ventilation and sanitation to be of a standard in accordance with the rules of the Health Department, and all ordinances of the City of Wichita Falls, and laws of the State of Texas relating to public health and to the safety of patrons in such place of amusement. It shall be the duty of the person or persons, firm or corporation keeping, operating or maintaining any commercialized amusement to comply with all laws and ordinances relating to public health. Any censor or any official or employee of the Health Department or member of the Police Department who shall inspect any place of commercialized amusement or recreation, shall report to the owner or agent of such enterprise any infraction of the laws and ordinances, and upon failure to comply with such laws and ordinances, the said owner or agent shall be subject to the provisions of Section 13 hereof and the failure to comply with such laws and ordinances, if persisted in after written notice from Censor or any official authorized by this or other ordinances shall subject the license held by the proprietor of such place to forfeiture or suspension as provided in Section 12 of this ordinance.

That it shall be the duty of the person or persons, firm or corporation, owning, conducting or maintaining any place of commercialized amusement and the employees of such persons, firm or corporation, to keep and preserve order and see that no lascivious, indecent or vulgar conduct is carried on among the persons attending such place of public amusement. If in the opinion of the Censor, a police officer may be required to preserve order in said place of commercialized amusement, it shall be the duty of the owner, keeper or persons conducting the same to make arrangements with the Police and Fire Commissioner of the City of Wichita Falls to secure a member of the Police Force of the City of Wichita Falls to be on duty at such place of amusement for the time prescribed and directed by Censor. The owner, keeper, or persons conducting such place of commercialized amusement must pay for the services of such police officer the sum of Three ($3.00) Dollars for each day or portion thereof, that he may be on duty at such place of amusement, which sum shall be paid to the Chief of Police before such officer is furnished and the money so collected by the Chief of Police shall be immediately turned into the General Fund of the City of Wichita Falls.
Section 9. That no notoriously known or commonly reputed prostitute and no person in a state of intoxication shall be allowed to resort to or remain in any place of commercialized amusement at any time, and the proprietor of such place of commercialized amusement shall see that all laws and ordinances prohibiting minors from entering or remaining in any such places are strictly observed.
Section 10. That all places of commercialized amusement shall be operated and conducted in accordance with the ordinances of the City of Wichita Falls and the laws of the State of Texas.
Section 11. Whenever dramatic or vaudeville performances or other representations, plays or performances of any character for admission to which a fee is charged, or anything of value received is given inconnection with any theater of the City of Wichita Falls, the same shall be subject to the supervision of the Censor herein provided for and no performance shall be given which is calculated to corrupt the morals of youth or which is vulgar or indecent or demoralizing, or which is calculated to disturb the good order and peace of the public by exciting racial prejudices or otherwise create an unreasonable disturbance of the peace. That whenever any performance is condemned by the Censor, it shall be the duty of the keeper, owner or person in charge thereof, to immediately stop the performance and discontinue its exhibition.
Section 12. The license of any place of commercialized amusement or public amusement or of the proprietor thereof, may be forfeited and revoked or suspended for a definite period by the Board of Aldermen for disorderly or immoral conduct on the premises, or for the violation of any of the provisions of this ordinance, or of any other ordinances, regulation or laws governing or applying to places or forms of commercialized amusement or recreation, or for failure to comply with the rulings and orders of the Censor or Board of Appeals. In case any such license for the operation of any commercialized amusement is revoked or suspended, then another license may be granted to the same proprietor or the former license revived for the conduct or operation of such commercial amusement, on the same premises, at any time when deemed proper by the Board of Aldermen upon the application of such proprietor.
Section 13. That any person, firm or corporation or the agent or employe of any such person, firm or corporation, keeping, conducting or maintaining or aiding or abetting in the keeping, conducting or maintaining of any such place of public amusement in violation of the terms of this ordinance, or in any other manner violating the provisions of this ordinance, shall be subject to a fine upon conviction in the Corporation Court in any sum not exceeding Two Hundred ($200.00) Dollars and each and every exhibition or display of any moving picture or vaudeville or theatrical performance in violation of this ordinance shall constitute a separate offense.
Section 14. That this ordinance shall be cumulative of all existing ordinances of the City of Wichita Falls not in direct conflict herewith, or repealed hereby, and all ordinances or parts of ordinances in conflict therewith are hereby in all respects expressly repealed.

Passed and approved this 21st day of February, 1922.

SUGAR

NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—There was a decline of 1-8c in the local sugar market today with Cubas quoted at 2 1-8c cost and freight equal to 3.73 for centrifugal. There were sales of 15,000 bags of old crop Cubas to a local refiner for March clearances at 2 1-8c cost and freight and more offered for February shipment at the same price. The raw sugar futures was easier under a renewal of yesterday's selling movement, prompted by the easier tone of the spot market and final prices were 2 to 6 points net lower. Trading was a gain of fair proportions, with considerable switching for March to later deliveries. March closed at 2.15; May at 2.36; July 2.56; September 2.70.

There was no change in refined sugar prices, with all refiners quoting on the basis of 5.10 for fine granulated. The demand continued fairly active. In refined futures prices were five points higher with no transactions. March closed at 5.60; May 5.65; July 5.85.

CHICAGO PRODUCE

CHICAGO, Feb. 21.—Butter lower, creamery extras 36. Eggs lower; receipts 13,638 cases; firsts 26. Poultry alive higher; fowls 25, springs 26, roosters 18.

Stocks

NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—On a turn over approximating one million shares and involving more than the usual number of standard issues, the stock market today resumed its upward course, many favorites rising to maximum quotations for a year or more.

Unexpected ease of money rates and the further strength of international chedits were factors in the advance, as was also the more encouraging outlook in the basic industries, notably the steel and iron trade.

Steels, equipments, motors, oils, rails of high and low degree, coppers, leathers, textiles, tobaccos and mail order shares figured prominently in the movement. U. S. Steel made a net gain of 3 1-2 points to 94 7-8. Its highest price since 1920.

Other strong industrials embraced American and Baldwin locomotives, Studebaker, American woolen and American ice; rails were featured by Rock Island, Union Pacific and Canadian Pacific, the latter gaining three points.

Exceptions to the general trend included Mexican petroleum, Atlantic Gulf, Crucible steel and National enameling as well as local tractions, which were under constant pressure as a result of the valuation report submitted to the transit commission. Tomorrow's holiday was without influence on money offerings, call loans declining from 5 to 4 1-2 per cent in the afternoon. More liberal offerings of time funds were reported and loans extending into June were made at 4 3-4 per cent.

Demand bills on London established a new record at a fraction over 4-40 but allied exchanges, the Belgian rates excepted, eased, Dutch bills were very strong on prospects of a government loan by American bankers and all the Scandinavian quotations advanced 5 to 25 points. Exchange on Canada continued to move more favorably to that center, the Montreal rate falling to the lowest discount in almost three years.

Cotton

NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—Interest in the cotton market today seemed to center largely on the continued evening up of March commitments. Reports that unexpectedly large notices in New Orleans had been promptly stopped led to rallies after an early decline here, but after selling up from 17.85 to 18.03, May broke to 17.85 again and closed at 17.91. The general market closed firm at a net decline of 21 to 37 points.

The opening was barely steady at a decline of 17 to 23 points, with active months soon showing net losses of 29 to 34 points under liquidation and selling for a reaction which was promoted by the easier ruling of Liverpool and reports that notices representing 11,000 bales had been issued against March contracts in New Orleans. New Orleans and Liverpool sold here and there was some scattered southern selling but after a sharp break at the opening March in the New Orleans market rallied sharply and reports reached here that the issuers of New Orleans notices were trying to get back their cotton. This started covering by some of the early sellers locally, while there was also considerable trade buying and the market firmed up during the middle of the day on favorable trade reports from Manchester and reports of a spot demand in the south.

March rallied from 18.15 to 18.30 and July from 17.34 to 17.52 but net increased realizing sales at these figures and turned a shade easier following reports that the cotton taken up on the first March notices in New Orleans would be shipped to New York for delivery. Prices dropped back to about the early low level, but the March premium was pretty well maintained and there was a renewal of near months covering in the late trading which came largely from houses with Liverpool connections.

Closing prices showed rallies of several points from the lowest. There appeared to be no very définite idea as to how many notices might be issued here on Thursday, estimates ranging all the way from 15,000 to 50,000 bales. Exports today 7,478, making 3,662,793 so far this season. Port receipts 14,816. U. S. port stock 1,581,853.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORELANS, Feb. 21.—The lower trend of the cotton market today was mainly due to larger March tenders than generally expected, although rain in Oklahoma and prospects of the breaking of the drought in the northwestern section of the belt was a cause contributing to the easiness. Lower levels came in the early trading when the market was 32 to 34 points off. After that prices backed and filled with a narrow range and the close was at net losses on the day of 22 to 29 points, March closing at 16.85, at the lowest March traded at 16.75.

Notices for about 11,500 bales of cotton to go against March contract appeared, this being first notice day for the incoming spot month. For a while it looked as if they were being allowed to circulate and the market reached its lowest levels under this impression, but when it was perceived that the notices were gradually sifting through brokers hands to firms which had instructions to stop them the market began to recover and around the middle of the morning prices were back within 6 to 12 points of yesterday's close, March rising to 17.01.

Fresh selling appeared after Oklahoma began to wire in messages that rain was falling in that state, shippers having all the more effect because of the storm area to the west of the belt, which many traders thought likely to bring considerable rain over the holiday tomorrow.

Grain

CHICAGO, Feb. 21.—Although wheat today scored a new high price record for the season, the market declined most of the time, chiefly on account of a prospective breakup of the drought in the southwest. Closing quotations were unsettled 1c to 1 5-8c net lower, with May 1.44 7-8 to 1.45 and July 1.26 1-4 to 1.26 3-8. Corn gained 3-8c to 1c and oats finished unchanged to 1-4c lower.

In provisions, the outcome was the same as yesterday to 1.00 down.

General expectance of rains in Kansas and other states that for a long while have been without adequate moisture gave an advantage from the start to sellers of wheat. The fact that tomorrow would be a holiday acted also as an inducement to realize on holdings.

For the time being, fresh upturns in Loverpool quotations were practically ignored here. About the middle of the session, however, a leading crop expert gave publicity to a comprehensive report indicating severe deterioration of the winter crop in the territory from Texas to Nebraska inclusive. This report brought about a temporary rush of buying that lifted the market to the highest level of the day. A majority of traders nevertheless preferred to avoid the risk of rain and of any unforeseen contingencies while business was interrupted tomorrow. Late dealings, therefore, were at a material setback from the top prices reached.

Active export call was largely responsible for the corn market marking a new high-price record for the present crop. One handler said the amounts he could sell were limited only by ability to get the grain loaded. Shipping demand for oats was relatively slow.

Provisions advanced with hogs, but reacted later as a result of selling which appeared to be for New York account. Prior to the increased selling, lard had attained the highest prices yet this season.

COFFEE

NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—The market for coffee futures opened unchanged to 8 points higher and sold about 4 to 8 points above last night's closing figures during the morning. Offerings were light and the market advanced easily on some scattered covering by March shorts and a little buying of late deliveries encouraged by the firmer ruling of Rio exchange rates. Later there was scattered realizing for over the holiday and some March liquidation, however, with March selling off from $8.65 to 8.55 and May from 8.71 to 8.64.

The market closed net 1 point lower to 2 points higher. Sales were estimated at about 59,000 bags including further exchanges of March for later deliveries. March 8.55; May 8.65; July 8.70; September 8.72; October 8.73; December 8.75.
