Turned Back

Stephen Mackey, 14, right, walks with his father, Dr. Louis H. Mackey, a professor at Rice University, today as he tried to return to school with his long "Prince Charles" hair style. The father and son went into a conference with Lamar High School principal Harold K. Costlow. The father and son emerged from the conference with Stephen Mackey announcing, "I'm going back to bed." Stephen was expelled from school last week and told he could not come back until he had his hair cut. Dr. Mackey says he will take the question to the Houston School Board now. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Principal Again Turns Back Prof's Son With Long Hair

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — A school principal again turned a teen-ager away from classes today because the youth and his parents refused to change his long hair style.

Stephen Mackey, 14, arrived at the school amid the howls of fellow pupils — no one could tell whether they were for or against the lad — and left within minutes after conferring with the principal, Harold K. Costlow.

FATHER ALONG

Accompanying Stephen was his father, Dr. Louis H. Mackey, a professor at Rice University who declares:

(Earlier story on Page 14)

"The question is: Does a boy have to forfeit his civil liberties in order to get an education at Lamar High School?"

Lamar is part of the Houston school system.

Dr. Mackey quoted Costlow as saying: "I will now appeal to the Board of Education."

EXPELLED EARLIER

Stephen was expelled from school earlier and told he could not come back until he had his hair cut. His father said his son underwent no barbering except a light trim at the back, administered by his mother.

The principal had barred the youth last Friday.

Costlow said it was an unwritten policy of all Houston schools to send home boys who don't have "normal haircuts." He said he could give no clear-cut definition of a normal haircut other than what looks right.

Stocks Jump Forward As Trading Quickens

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market took off on another advance early this afternoon as the pace of trading quickened.

After a spell of profit taking and consolidation in the morning when volume was somewhat lighter than Tuesday, dealings became faster.

A number of stocks weathered profit taking and were taking up where they left off on their individual rallies.

HEAVY SELLING

Some, such as SCM Corp., which have had large percentage rises over several sessions, fell under heavy selling.

The pattern improved considerably for a number of blue chips in various groups. Motors, chemicals, oils and metal showed selective strength.

Airlines embarked on another vigorous rally. Many stocks throughout the list showed small changes.

AP AVERAGE

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose .3 to 341.5 with industrials up 1.0, rails unchanged and utilities off .2.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 1.98 at 928.50.

SCM Corp. sank 1¼ to 36 on an opening block of 24,000 shares and remained at about that price in brisk later dealings.

Prices were higher in moderate trading on the American Stock Exchange.

Corporate and U.S. Treasury bonds were mostly unchanged in light trading.

Defense Fund Bill Passed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress has cleared for President Johnson's signature a $46.88-billion defense money bill that includes $1.7 billion for a Viet Nam war build-up.

The defense appropriation is the largest money bill of the year. The special $1.7-billion appropriation included in it is to build up the armed forces in accord with increased requirements of the war in Viet Nam.

Barge Canal For State Challenged

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Wisconsin Republican challenged the $515 million barge canal feature of the $911 million Trinity River development project during House debate Tuesday.

A vote on the over-all $2 billion public works authorization bill, of which the Texas project is a part, could come today.

URGED ELIMINATION

Rep. Glenn Davis, R-Wis., said the barge canal should be eliminated. He is a member of the House appropriations subcommittee which handles funds for public works programs.

Two Democrats, Reps. Jim Wright of Texas and Kenneth Gray of Illinois, supported the entire Trinity project.

Wright is the chief House sponsor of the program, which has been appraised as feasible by the U.S. Engineers.

The Trinity River project calls for flood control and navigation development, including a barge canal from the Gulf of Mexico inland to the Dallas-Fort Worth area.

PROPOSES RE-STUDY

Davis said the Bureau of the Budget had proposed a re-study of the barge canal aspect.

He said that although the pending bill would authorize only an $83 million preliminary expenditure at this time, the measure would be a foot in the door for the entire $911 million measure, including the canal feature.

Bay City Private Killed In Fighting

WASHINGTON (AP) — Army Pfc. Johnnie Winfrey has been killed fighting in Viet Nam, the Defense Department reported Tuesday. He was the son of Lewis Winfrey of 3408 Ave. K. in Bay City, Tex.

Pig Dances Jig?

A pig dancing a jig? Well, not quite. But a nonconformist, nevertheless. Since he was injured when he was four days old, this 30-pound porker has walked only on his hind legs. Both India, Pakistan Announce War Over

Immigration Bill Approval Seen Nearing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate leaders expected passage today of a bill to scrap immigration quotas based on national origins and to put a ceiling on immigration from the Western Hemisphere.

Sen Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., floor manager of the bill, said the only amendment he expects to be brought up is one designed to bar the deportation of Dominican Gen. Elias Wessin y Wessin.

Wessin has protested that U.S. Army personnel forced him to leave the Dominican Republic after rebel forces refused to surrender their weapons to a new provisional government unless he were removed.

TO MIAMI

He was taken to Miami, Fla., ostensibly to become the Dominican consul there, but he rejected the post after his arrival. The U.S. Immigration service is now studying his status.

The amendment, proposed by Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., is phrased in general terms. It would provide that "no person involuntarily brought physically into the United States by the United States government or its agents shall subsequently be deported from the United States under any circumstances."

Kennedy predicted defeat of the amendment.

Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, after a discussion of Thurmond's proposal by the Senate GOP Policy Committee, said there is fear that Wessin might be assassinated if he is sent back to the Dominican Republic.

CAUSE DIFFICULTY

But he said the amendment might cause difficulty in the future. For example, he said, it might prevent deportation of someone who committed a felony.

The key feature of the immigration bill, one of the administration's top priority measures, is the elimination over the next three years of the national origins quota system.

Adopted in 1924, it assigns quotas to nations outside the Western Hemisphere to reflect the ethnic balance of the U.S. population in 1920. No numerical limit is placed on immigration from nations in this hemisphere under present law.

School Officials Going To Foot Of Class Now?

WASHINGTON (AP) — When Assistant Principal Percy L. Ellis Jr. noticed many students at Shaw Junior High School wearing gym shoes to class he reminded them of school rules.

These rules require the wearing of leather shoes or else a parent's note must be produced saying the children don't have any leather shoes.

Tuesday about 35 students showed up at the school, which is located in one of the less affluent sections of the city, wearing gym shoes and carrying the required note.

Postscript: the school P-TA is planning a fund drive to buy leather shoes for children whose parents cannot afford them, Ellis said.

Attacks Made On Envoy To Dominica Hit

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Richard B. Russell says critics of the administration's Dominican policies are committing a grievous disservice by attacking Ambassador W. Tapley Bennett Jr.

The Georgia Democrat told the Senate Tuesday he vigorously and categorically disagrees with Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., and others who have contended that Tapley gave poor advice to President Johnson before Johnson sent U.S. Marines to Santo Domingo.

FIGHTING HALTED

Since Johnson's decision, Russell said, "fighting was brought to a halt and we do not have another Castroite dictatorship in the Caribbean isles.

"It is a grievous disservice to a dedicated public servant," Russell said of the criticism aimed at Bennett. The senator, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, recalled that he served with Bennett's grandfather in the Georgia Legislature.

CRITICS CLAIM

Some critics have contended that Bennett overemphasized the extent of Communist influence among the revolutionaries during the Dominican crisis.

Red China Peril Cited By Shastri

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — The Kashmir war ebbed today toward a truce, with the armed forces of both India and Pakistan ordered to quit shooting before another sunrise.

Red China's threat of immediate action against India also eased, but Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri told his Parliament that nation presents "an even greater challenge" and the Indians must firmly resolve to meet it.

Shastri and President Mohammed Ayub Khan of Pakistan announced a cease-fire is to become effective in their three-week-old war at time translating as 4 p.m. Big Spring time today.

INDIAN WEEPS

Shastri wept as he announced the development in Parliament. He said the two Asian neighbors must live in neighborly peace.

Ayub said in a broadcast from Karachi he had ordered the cease-fire in the interests of international peace and he hoped it will lead India and Pakistan to an honorable settlement of their 18-year-old quarrel over Kashmir.

In this regard, Shastri said India has accepted the good offices offered by Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin. Kosygin had suggested that Shastri and Ayub meet in Soviet territory to discuss their differences.

TRUCE LINE

Troops of both sides temporarily intend to stay put, stretched along a truce line similar to the Kashmir cease-fire boundary established by the United Nations in 1949 to divide the largely Moslem state between Moslem Pakistan and India, which is predominantly Hindu.

Shastri, speaking of Communist China's recent moves to beef up its military stretch in Tibet along the Himalayan frontier opposite India and its buffer state protectorates, said: "We do not know what the Chinese will do next."

Earlier, India described as false an announcement from Peking that it has torn down military outposts on the Sikkim-Tibet frontier as demanded by Red China.

"We have not crossed into Tibet and we have not torn down anything," an official spokesman said.

ISSUE HANGING

The conflicting statements from New Delhi and Peking on the disputed Himalayan border posts apparently left that explosive issue up in the air.

China had charged India established 56 posts on the border of Sikkim, an Indian protectorate, or in neighboring Communist-ruled Tibet-and that they must be dismantled by 1:30 p.m. (EST) or New Delhi would face "grave consequences."

Peking radio then announced early today that Indian troops had destroyed their installations in what was termed Tibetan territory and had then withdrawn.

"If any installation has been demolished on the Chinese side of the border," the Indian spokesman said, "the demolition must obviously have been done by the Chinese themselves. Indian troops have not crossed the border."

STILL FIGHTING

An announcement by the Indian government radio indicated that India-Pakistan fighting was still in progress this morning.

The Indian government radio said 30 inmates of a prison hospital in Jodhpur, air base city in southwest India, were killed by Pakistani bombs.

The broadcast said Pakistani planes staged two raids Tuesday night and two more early today.

Official sources in Rawalpindi said Ayub Khan has expressed "earnest regret" and promised full reimbursement for the burning of the American library in Karachi and the damaging of the U.S. Embassy by rioters Tuesday.

U.S. officials felt that, over all, the cease-fire came because both countries had come to recognize they faced a potentially long and devastating conflict which might lead to general war in Asia — depending on what Communist China did.

Chinese harassment of India with a war of nerves, which was intensified within the past week, was designed probably for the immediate purpose of assisting Pakistan by creating a diversion on India's China border.

Prices Hint More Hogs

WASHINGTON (AP)—Favorable prices of recent months are encouraging farmers to increase production of hogs.

The Agriculture Department said farmers in 10 Midwestern states—which normally produce about 75 per cent of the nation's Hogs—plan to produce 3 per cent more pigs in the September-November period than they indicated last June. Nevertheless, the September-November crop would still be down 5 per cent from a year earlier.

A department survey indicated that the full 1965 production of pigs would be close to 78.3 million, one of the smallest annual crops in many years. Last year production was 80.7 million head. In 1963 it was 95 million.

Big crops of 1963 and 1964 pulled prices down to unprofitable levels. Farmers cut back production the first half of the year by 10 per cent and during the third quarter of the year by another 10 per cent.

AYUB KHAN

Johnson Talks To Ayub Khan, Vows Support

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson talked by telephone today with President Mohammed Ayub Khan of Pakistan and promised the United States would fully support with words and deeds efforts by the United Nations to achieve final settlement of the Pakistan-India war.

Johnson also read to Ayub a statement made public later in which Johnson said acceptance by Pakistan and India of a ceasefire call from the U.N. Security Council "takes us a long step away from the terrible dangers which have threatened the subcontinent of Asia."

The White House said Ayub initiated the call to Johnson late this morning and that the President took it alone in his office.

The public presidential statement, which Johnson read in full to Ayub, concluded with words:

"We now hope that both nations (Pakistan and India), in the spirit of the Security Council resolution, will move forward to peace settlement of their outstanding differences. The job of the U.N. has just begun. We will fully support it every step of the way by our actions and our words."

Bill D. Moyers, White House press secretary, said Johnson told Ayub he appreciated the phone call and reiterated that the United States will provide continuing full support of the U.N. course in seeking a Pakistan-India settlement.

City Has One Merit Scholar Semifinalist

A Big Spring High School senior, Jim Pettit, 17, son of T. Sgt. and Mrs. James C. Pettit of 152-B Dow Drive, has been named a semifinalist in the 1965-66 Merit Scholarship competition in June.

He came here June 1, 1964, from Wichita Falls, where he attended Hirschi High School, four years. Sgt. Pettit is stationed at Webb Air Force Base and was transferred to Big Spring from Wichita Falls.

"I plan to attend the University of New Mexico to major in mathematics," Jim Pettit said.

He is a candidate for president of the senior class in Big Spring High School this year, a member of the National Honor Society, has entered competition in Interscholastic League number sense, and plans to repeat this year, and to take part in track competition.

He is one of more than 14,000 semifinalists appointed across the country from 17,600 schools.

To become finalists the students must substantiate their qualifying test performances on a second examination, submit recommendations by their schools, and fulfill routine requirements. Merit scholars for 1966 will then be selected from the finalist group, and named late next April.

"Much of our future leadership will come from these young people," John M. Stalnaker, president of the National Merit Scholarship Corporation, said. "Semifinalists are representative of our country's most intellectually able young people. In honoring them, we should remember that others have contributed significantly to their success by encouraging the characteristics which produce high achievement, including energy and hard work."

High school grades, creative accomplishments, leadership of the students are evaluated, along with test scores, in selecting merit scholars.

Each merit scholarship is a four-year award covering the undergraduate college years. The winner's stipend is tailored to his need, up to a maximum of $6,000 for the four years in most cases. In some cases, the colleges attended by merit scholars also receive supplementary grants accompanying the scholarship.

Tornado Smashes Village In Texas

By The Associated Press

A tornado battered the far Southwest Texas village of Dryden and still more rain poured down over the eastern two-thirds of the state during the night.

Showers and thunderstorms triggered by a slow moving cold front appeared to be tapering off today, but at least some moisture was expected in most sections again by nightfall.

Meanwhile a fresh batch of cool air headed toward the Texas Panhandle.

At Dryden, in Terrell County near the Mexican border, the twister flattened a Baroid Corp. warehouse where oil well drilling mud was stored, smashed a gasoline station and tore one home apart.

HEAVY DAMAGE

Sheriff Bill Cooksey reported heavy damage to 15 or 20 other houses and to the Dryden Mercantile Co., the biggest business in the little town.

Almost miraculously, however, none of Dryden's about 50 residents was hurt. Two workmen suffered minor injuries at a ranch north of Dryden, where pounding hail followed the tornado.

The twister likewise overturned a railroad box car and several automobiles, snapped power and telephone lines, and toppled windmills.

State police said a report relayed from peace officers in the area about a tornado also striking Langtry, 40 miles southeast of Dryden, proved erroneous.

FUNNEL CLOUD

Weather Bureau personnel received an unconfirmed report from a pilot that a tornado funnel cloud was spotted aloft near downtown Dallas during a hard shower late Tuesday. It apparently dissipated without getting close to the ground.

Moisture totals kept on mounting most of the night across the state toward the east and south from Abilene, where showers began dying down gradually. Skies cleared to the west and north of this area.

Heavy rains soaked the Fort Worth-Dallas area, ranging up to an unofficial 6 inches west of Fort Worth at Dido. Arlington and Grand Prairie in the same vicinity measured 5 inches.

RAIN THREATENS

For the 24 hours ending at midnight, Dallas gauged 4.32 inches of moisture and Fort Worth 4.23 inches.

The downpours sent the Trinity River surging up toward flood stage.

Weather Bureau radar tracked numerous showers and occasional solid lines of heavy rain moving toward the southeast through the sector from Gainesville, Sherman and Paris southward past Waco.

The rainfall occurred along a waning cold front which first set off deluges Sunday in parts of Northwest Texas. Temperatures were pleasantly lower today in its wake, ranging down to an overnight low of 41 degrees at Dalhart in the Panhandle.

NEW FRONT

To offset the warming due today, another cold front was due to push into the Panhandle tonight or Thursday.

More showers were forecast for most sections of the state but there was no indication of widespread heavy rains like those earlier this week.

Dope Ring Case Quartet Convicted

LAREDO, Tex. (AP) — Lucien Rivard, who managed a smile even though a jury had just found him guilty of directing an international narcotics smuggling ring, faced a maximum of 40 years in prison today.

The 50-year-old French-Canadian, whose case caused political turmoil in Canada, was convicted Tuesday of two counts of federal narcotics law violations — of conspiring to smuggle heroin into the United States and of actually causing heroin to be smuggled.

Each count carries a maximum of 20 years in prison. U.S. Dist. Judge Ben C. Connally said, however, sentencing would be delayed for 30 to 40 days until he had time to study the case.

OTHERS CONVICTED

Three other Montreal, Canada, men, Julien Gagnon, 36, Charles Emile Groleau, 56, and Joseph Raymond Jones, 28, also drew guilty verdicts on the conspiracy charge as Rivard's associates.

The verdict, reached by an all-male jury in about three hours at the end of the seventh day of the trial, culminated years of investigation by U.S. and Canadian authorities.

Testimony revealed that Rivard masterminded the ring that got its heroin from Europe and Mexico and distributed it to contact men in the northeastern United States.

Prosecution attorneys pictured Groleau, a gray-haired man who had an almost fatal heart attack in 1963, as Rivard's chief assistant, and Gagnon and Jones as couriers who brought huge cargoes of heroin from Europe to Canada.

Rivard has been held in Webb County jail in lieu of $500,000 bond. Bond for Gagnon, Jones and Groleau was $100,000 each, and was never posted.

A political controversy erupted in Canada as U.S. officials sought to have Rivard extradited to the United States for prosecution. Rivard claimed he was a political prisoner.

Pierre Lamontagne, an attorney representing the United States, said he was offered a $20,000 bribe not to oppose bail for Rivard. Raymond Denis, a former officer of the Canadian Immigration Ministry, was charged with attempted bribery.

Operators Of Closed Blood Center Indicted

DALLAS (AP) — Operators of the now closed Dallas Blood Bank were ordered arrested Tuesday on an indictment charging conspiracy and mislabeling of blood sold to hospitals in Texas and Oklahoma.

A government spokesman said the case is only the fourth ever filed under a seldom invoked public health statute.

Grand jurors named Charles Blank and his wife Maxine in the indictment handed U. S. Dist. Judge Joe Estes.

OPERATED CENTER

The couple operated the blood center here, Blank as president and Mrs. Blank as secretary, until the government revoked their license last July.

Asst. U. S. Atty. Tim Timmins requested bond of $1,500 each when the two are arrested.

Four counts in the indictment accuse the couple of falsely labeling blood sent to two Dallas County hospitals as being RH positive when it was RH negative type.

SENT TO HOSPITALS

Five counts allege that blood showing a positive reaction to a serological test for syphilis was labeled as showing a negative reaction and sent to hospitals in Sherman, Temple and Abilene in 1963 and 1964.

Two counts charge that blood was sent to hospitals in Clinton, Okla., and Sherman was mislabeled to show an expiration date later than 21 days after the blood was donated.

Guild, Times Talks Resume

NEW YORK (AP) — Negotiators go back to the bargaining table today in New York's seven-day-old newspaper strike, complicated by the threatened entry of a second union into the dispute.

Mediators met with the AFL-CIO New York Newspaper Guild and the New York Times at 10 a.m.

LATER SESSION

They scheduled a later session with the AFL-CIO Mailers Union, which served notice Tuesday its 875 members at seven papers will not go back to work even if the guild strike against the Times is settled.

The mailers dispute is with the Publishers Association of New York, of which the Times and six other metropolitan dailies are members. The other members have suspended publication in support of the Times, leaving the city with only one major publishing daily, the afternoon New York Post. The Post is not an association member.

NONE TUESDAY

No negotiating sessions were held Tuesday in the Times strike. Mediator Theodore W. Kheel had asked both sides to take the day off to reflect on their positions.

The mailers announced that their members would not go back to work "until we have concluded a satisfactory agreement." The mailers are seeking job guarantees for 275 members classified as extras.

Canadian Bank Burglary Suspect Escapes Jail

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — One of the most wanted men in the Western Hemisphere, arrested with the help of the Early Bird satellite four months ago, has escaped from jail by the ancient method of a rope down a wall.

Georges LeMay, a dapper Canadian wanted in the spectacular burglary of a Montreal bank, made a clean getaway Tuesday night from the seventh floor of the modern County Jail.

FLEES IN CAR

He shattered the panes of an unbarred window, slid 90 feet down on a cleaning house anchored to plumbing, and screeched away with three men in a 1965 white sedan.

Police said they were investigating the possibility that LeMay had some inside help getting from his fifth floor cell to the unoccupied seventh floor.

LeMay, considered one of the smoothest operators in modern annals, has not hurt for money. He paid his debts at a Fort Lauderdale marina where he was arrested May 6 from a fist-sized roll of $100 bills.

Police and the FBI spread a dragnet for LeMay, 39, but if they had any leads, they weren't talking about them. LeMay, a seasoned yachtsman, could put out to sea from any of hundreds of secluded coves along the Florida coast.

HUGE HAUL

LeMay is charged with leading a crew that tunneled under the Bank of Nova Scotia in 1961 and blasted open 377 safety deposit boxes.

They escaped with between $500,000 and $4 million, but the exact amount was never established because of the reluctance of the box owners to talk.

The stocky, 5-foot-8 college graduate has been Canada's most wanted person since then. He was hunted all over the world for four years but was not discovered until the Royal Canadian Mounted Police flashed his picture on the first Early Bird satellite television program.

Mrs. Johnson Has New Title

MILWAUKEE, Wis., (AP) — On a day's journey promoting parks and beautification, Lady Bird Johnson gently mixes in the Peace Corps, school kids and home town folks.

It seems like a political campaign.

But workers in the beautification vineyard call the President's wife the "leader of the crusade for a more beautiful America."

"America's No. 1 ambassador of beauty," was the title bestowed by Howard W. Gregg, general manager of the Milwaukee Park Commission as he led Mrs. Johnson on a tour of his parks Tuesday.

"Our most powerful ally in Washington," said Milwaukee Mayor Henry W. Maier, appealing to Mrs. Johnson for a research program to conquer Dutch elm disease, which has played havoc with historic trees here.

Mrs. Johnson had an appeal of her own. She urged the thousand members of the American Institute of Park Executives meeting here to instill in more young people a desire to preserve natural beauty.

Cotton Meeting Slated Thursday

Cotton defoliation and harvesting will be discussed at a meeting slated for 2:30 p.m. Thursday in Room 8, Science Building, Howard County Junior College.

Herb Helbig, county agricultural agent, said all cotton farmers are urged to attend the meeting. Beverly Reeves, cotton gin specialist, and Fred Elliott, cotton specialist with the extension service, will be the speakers. They have both appeared in this county on other occasions and are well known to cotton growers.

The latest information on defoliation and handling of machine harvested cotton will be provided by the speakers.

Lake's Water Level Drops, Relics Of Old Town Spotted

WILMINGTON, Vt. (AP) — New relics of a small town that thrived in the 18th and early 19th centuries emerge each day as water levels in Whitingham Lake decline from the prolonged drouth.

For nearby residents, who once lived in Whitingham on what is now the lake's bottom, it is like the rise of a ghost.

The lake was formed in 1924 by New England Power Co. to generate power for New England and part of New York State.

FIRST TIME

It is the first time in memory that water levels have fallen low enough during the summer to reveal the flooded community.

Attracting the most attention are the watersoaked and bleached remains of what was once the backbone industry for Wilmington, the Mountain Mills Paper & Pulp Co.

The mill opened in the early 1800s and provided employment for 200 men. Between 30 and 40 homes of employes grew up around it.

Also emerging are pieces of a former highway between Wilmington and Readsboro, ties and spikes from a narrow-gauge railway, broken pottery and iron kettles.

The Hoosac Tunnel & Wilmington Railroad, known locally as the "Hoot, Toot and Whistle," once ran through the abandoned town.

Now it joins the Boston & Maine Railroad at Hoosac Tunnel and serves only Readsboro and Monroe Bridge.

EARTHEN DAM

The earthen dam stretching across a valley in Whitingham and holding back 11 miles of the Deerfield River to a depth of 200 feet in some places was an engineering feat when completed in 1924.

Most of the residents left after the start of the reservoir project. Some stayed on until the water lapped at their doorstep.

Hotel Has Fire; First Lady Guest

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Firemen put out a blaze early today in the downtown hotel where Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson was an overnight guest. The First Lady apparently was unaware of the fire.

A discarded cigarette in a plastic waste basket started the fire on the second floor.

No guests were evacuated. Mrs. Johnson occupied a suite on the 19th floor.

Graveside Rites For C-City Infant

COLORADO CITY (SC)—Cody Wayne Harrison, 2-day-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Freddie Harrison, Lubbock, died in Reese AFB Hospital in Lubbock Monday. He was born Sept. 17 in Lubbock.

Cong Lob Mortar Shells At Towns

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Viet Cong guerrillas launched wide-ranging attacks in the Mekong River delta south of Saigon today while U.S. forces exchanged shots with Communist units in the central highlands.

The Viet Cong lobbed mortar shells at two towns in Dinh Tuong Province, 50 miles southwest of Saigon, killing or wounding 26 civilians, a U.S. military spokesman said.

HEAVY LOSSES

The Communists overran an outpost in the same province and inflicted heavy losses on the defenders. They attacked another, causing light casualties. Government troops later retook both posts, killing two guerrillas and capturing two.

In the highlands, elements of the 1st Cavalry Division, Airmobile, exchanged fire for 10 minutes with a Viet Cong unit probing the defense perimeter of the "Flying Horsemen" at An Khe, 260 miles north of Saigon.

The Army's 101st Airborne Brigade in the same area also reported sporadic fire with the enemy, but no casualties were reported.

HITS MINE

In another action, a government truck filled with troops hit a mine 65 miles southwest of Saigon. Heavy losses were reported and the vehicle was destroyed.

Twenty-one U.S. soldiers were killed in action, 106 were wounded and two were listed as missing or captured in the week ending Sept. 18, a spokesman said. The casualties reflected the bitter battle fought last weekend at An Khe by the "Screaming Eagles", of the 101st Airborne Brigade.

REDS KILLED

The Communists suffered 495 killed and 196 captured. Viet Cong wounded are not recorded, as the guerrillas carry their wounded away. The spokesman said 65 government troops were killed, 285 wounded and 15 missing or captured.

U.S. pilots striking targets in North Viet Nam reported heavy ground fire, but all planes were reported to have returned safely. Sixteen Navy planes from the U.S. 7th Fleet carrier Midway reported they destroyed two boats and heavily damaged several bridges.

Pig Show Skills Demonstrated

COAHOMA (SC) — The Coahoma 4-H Club met Saturday morning at the Audrey Early home. Assistant County Agent Don Bradenburger gave a demonstration on "how to show a pig" in preparation of the forth coming pig show Oct. 6. After the demonstration, 11 members and seven adults ate watermelon.

Publisher Scripps Hostage On Yacht

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — "When he pulled the pin out of that hand grenade, and when I saw that fellow crouched and I was looking down a gun barrel, my heart was going pitty pat," said publisher-sportsman John P. Scripps.

Scripps was describing a two-hour drama Tuesday in which he and two crew members were held hostage by a young sailor aboard Scripp's $800,000 yacht.

YOUTH BOOKED

The youth, identified as Guy M. Warinner, 19, was booked for investigation of kidnaping and assault with a deadly weapon. No one was injured.

Scripps, 53, is the grandson of the late publisher E. W. Scripps and is publisher and chairman of the board of seven newspapers in California and Washington.

He quoted Warinner as saying he was from Los Angeles.

CONTACTS GUARD

A crew member managed to slip into the radio room and contact Coast Guard officials by the harbor patrol.

Police quickly surrounded the craft and boats were sent out by the jharbor Patrol.

Scripps said Warinner became excited, pulled the pin from the grenade and warned police: "Don't throw any tear gas . . . I'll blow us all up."

But officers, after repeatedly trying to sooth Warinner, fired a warning shot and Warinner surrendered, after putting the pin back in the grenade.

Draft Call For Doctors

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department moved today to draft 1,979 doctors, dentists and veterinarians because of the armed forces buildup.

The Pentagon asked the Selective Service to call 1,529 doctors, 350 dentists and 100 veterinarians for service in the Army, Navy and Air Force starting in January.

"The call is necessary to provide the health services required for the increase in the active armed forces strength announced in July by the President," the announcement said.

President Johnson has approved a 340,000-man boost in the armed forces, to a new total of nearly three million.

District Cancer Society Meeting Slated Thursday

Fred M. Learned, associate director of public information, New York, will be the featured speaker at the American Cancer Society district two annual meeting, scheduled for 9 a.m. Thursday at the First Presbyterian Church.

Learned has wide experience in communicating research and medical news. A reporter and editor for 15 years, he has been consultant to the president of the Sloan - Kettering Cancer Center and currently analyst in the statistical research section of the National Cancer Society.

"For one-half of the 550,000 persons who will develop cancer this year, information is available to save their lives," Learned said. "For the other half, there is only one hope—research."

The meeting will be highlighted by the appearance of Dr. John F. Thomas, member of the Texas Division Medical Committee, who will discuss the objectives of the division for the coming year. A well known Austin surgeon, Dr. Thomas has worked with the American Cancer Society eight years, both in planning and executing programs of public education about cancer.

Presiding at the meeting will be three elected district directors, Trevlyn Kelley, Colorado City; Mrs. H. D. Smith Jr., Brownfield; Carl A. Dillaha Jr., M.D., Snyder. New district directors will be elected to attend the division annual meeting in October.

Presidents, other officers and board members for ACS units in 20 counties, including Howard, have been invited to attend this district meeting.

A Devotional For The Day

Humble yourselves in the sight of the Lord, and he shall lift you up. (James 4:10)

PRAYER: O Lord, when our path is dark and cold, and life is hard and bitter, lift us up above the clouds. Help us to abide with Jesus Christ, Thy Son and our Savior, and to see the light of His countenance and feel the warmth of His love. In the name of the Redeemer we pray. Amen.

A Baffling Situation

The three-judge federal court at Houston is openly baffled over the determining issue in the case testing the constitutionality of Texas congressional redistricting law, and understandably so.

Presiding Judge John R. Brown has observed that precisely equal population in congressional districts is an unattainable, if ideal, goal. "There will have to be some deviation. But how much are we permitted in each direction?" he wonders. The U.S. Supreme Court offered no deviation guidelines in its one-man, one-vote ruling.

Actually, it is both legally and technically impossible to redistrict precisely for equal population representation in mid-decade. The 59th Legislature legally had to redistrict on the basis of the 1960 decennial census, which theoretically would require 416,508 persons in each congressional district.

Even if the Legislature had hit that nail on the head, which Judge Brown concedes as impossible, the result still would not be strictly equal representation. The reason is that there are about a million more Texans today than there were when the 1960 census was taken, and no one knows exactly where they all are.

Consequently, a mid-decade reapportionment in a state with a growing and shifting population is going to deviate substantially from the one-man, one-vote rule, no matter how conscientious the redistricting effort. It is a dilemma of the law that neither the Legislature nor the court can take account of post-census population changes.

Judge Brown says the federal court will have to decide whether the 23 new congressional districts are "as nearly alike in population as practicable." But what is "practicable" is still an open question, and one not easily answered satisfactorily.

Criticism Ill-Timed

Senate Foreign Relations Committee Chairman J. W. Fulbright's blast against the Johnson administration's Dominican Republic intervention was, if nothing more, deplorably ill-timed.

It came five months after the emergency move; far too late to alter the course of events. It came at the delicate moment when a provisional Dominican government is struggling to prepare the chaotic island republic for free elections. And it came on the heels of a tour of Latin America by Assistant Secretary of State Jack Hood Vaughn designed to reaffirm that region's freedom and well-being.

Fulbright's outburst raised no issues that have not been fully and openly debated for months, and its only discernible effect will be to make the United States extrication from the Dominican crisis more difficult and embarrassing. There is some substance in his critique, it may be conceded, but its timing and tone are hardly calculated for constructive results.

David Lawrence

Senator Fulbright On Dominica

WASHINGTON — Sen. J. William Fulbright of Arkansas, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, studied as a Rhodes Scholar in England and must have familiarized himself with the British parliamentary system. If Mr. Fulbright had been a member of the House of Commons and had made the same kind of speech as he delivered in the Senate the other day—saying, in effect, that the leader of the majority party had bungled in handling a grave international problem—it would have been regarded either as a call for a "vote of confidence or no confidence" by the people or the removal of the critic himself from the councils of his party.

BUT POLITICAL parties in the United States have no such system of discipline. Chairman Fulbright will continue to hold his post as a spokesman of the Democratic party in the Senate on the subject of foreign relations.

Mr. Fulbright insists that he wasn't exactly blaming the President for what he regards as a blundering policy in intervening with military force in the Dominican Republic. The senator attributes this instead to "faulty advice" given Mr. Johnson by his advisers at the time of the crisis.

MR. FULBRIGHT is considered one of the modern "intellectuals," but his speech is a little difficult for a "non-intellectual" to understand. He says for instance:

"The question of the degree of Communist influence (in the Dominican Republic) is, therefore, crucial, but it cannot be answered with certainty. The weight of the evidence is that Communists did not participate in planning the revolution—indeed there is some indication that it took them by surprise—but that they very rapidly began to try to take advantage of it and to seize control of it. The evidence does not establish that the Communists at any time actually had control of the revolution. There is little doubt that they had influence within the revolutionary movement but the degree of that influence remains a matter of speculation . . .

"THE POINT I am making is not—most emphatically not—that there was no Communist participation in the Dominican crisis, but simply that the administration acted on the premise that the revolution was controlled by Communists — a premise which it failed to establish at the time and has not established since . . ."

Chairman Fulbright evidently does not believe in fire hoses or fire apparatus being used when there's a smouldering fire but only when it has burst into flame and a property has already been virtually destroyed. He seems to have forgotten that the American policy in 1949, which assumed that a coalition in China with the Communists would be a recognition of a "social revolution," wound up with the loss of the mainland to the Communist Chinese. Similar vacillation and hesitancy on the part of the United States lost Cuba to Castro and the Communists.

MR. FULBRIGHT concedes that a Communist-dominated government might have emerged in the Dominican Republic. He rationalizes, however, that "this might conceivably have happened, but the evidence by no means supports the conclusion that it would have happened." He declares that "we based our policy on a possibility rather than on anything approaching a likelihood."

So the Arkansas senator feels that the judgment of President Johnson, Secretary of State Rusk and the American Ambassador who was dodging bullets on the spot in Santo Domingo was, so to speak, "faulty."

I do not print sex magazines, but I deliver them. I take out the worst ones, and yet some that I handle are very rotten. If I leave my job other jobs are hard to find in this area. Perhaps the next man will not take out the worst magazines as I do. What shall I do? W. O.

A problem of economics is involved in your question, but I believe there is also a problem of morals. By distributing these salacious magazines you are contributing to what is considered by many thoughtful people one of the greatest evils of our day. Personally, I would rather hazard my job than my conscience, and evidently your conscience is troubled or you would not have bothered to write me about this problem.

"Conscience," said Huckleberry Finn, "takes up more room than all the rest of a fellow's insides." You have to live, that is true — but more important, you have to live with yourself. Jesus said, "Man shall not live by bread alone."

If everyone would obey their conscience the world would be rid of a lot of its ills. It's the people who compromise their convictions who make possible the filthy publications, the rackets, and every kind of shady business.

Give up this cheap, questionable job, and I'm sure you will find a better one. But if you don't, you will sleep better.

In Porto Amelia, northern Mozambique, a laughing hyena attacked Rainca Saala, 25. Saala at first was surprised by the fact that the usually cowardly animal dared to pounce on him. Ike's Plea Means: 'Please Help GOP Stay Alive'

WASHINGTON (AP) — About the best reason former President Dwight D. Eisenhower seems able to think of now for telling voters to go Republican next time is that the country needs a two-party system.

But that's not an issue, the usual basis on which voters choose between the parties. It's just another way of saying please help the Republican party stay alive.

Last month Eisenhower was asked specifically what he thought Republicans should make campaign issues of in next year's elections, the first big test since their devastating defeat in 1964.

HE MENTIONED fiscal responsibility, frugality, self-dependence, self-reliance, self-respect and integrity. But he himself so far hasn't been at deep odds with President Johnson's administration on any of those subjects.

The Republican leadership in general hasn't been any more specific than Eisenhower on issues to wrap around the Democrats' necks, except for occasional criticisms that seem to melt away.

Republicans cut themselves up so badly with intraparty antagonisms in the 1964 campaign, and were so smashed in the election, that they haven't yet recovered any kind of broad voice to show how they differ from Democrats.

Instead, much of their time has been taken up trying to heal last year's wounds and finding some way to save the party from being ruined altogether by splinter groups.

THEY HAVE no top leader. Usually a defeated presidential candidate is considered the titular head of his party until the next election when he or someone else carries the party flag.

But this month Barry Goldwater, who led the Republicans to their 1964 disaster, said he doesn't consider himself the party's titular head. And, if he tried to be, he'd have a lot of opposition.

At this point there is not one Republican who looks like a sure bet even to try for the presidential nomination in 1968, although Richard M. Nixon, as usual between elections, is eye.

The former vice president and defeated Republican presidential candidate of 1960 may still have hopes the party, which passed him over in 1964, will take a chance again on him three years from now.

HE HAS been touring Asia, making statements on world affairs, and suggesting how Johnson should be tougher in Viet Nam. But, like Eisenhower, he, too, seems lacking in any basic criticism of the Democrats.

The only fairly consistent pecking and picking on Johnson has come from House Republicans, particularly from their leader, Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, but he is not getting much mileage out of it.

The House Republicans had tried to make an issue of the origin of U.S. policy — that is, the military involvement — in Viet Nam. Johnson had said he was following the policy of Eisenhower and President John F. Kennedy in promising and making good on American aid to the South Vietnamese.

House Republicans tried to stress that Eisenhower's help was economic, not military, but, just as they were stresssing it, Eisenhower said it was "rot" to suggest a difference between him and Johnson on Viet Nam. He backed Johnson.

FOR AWHILE the House Republicans obviously thought they had an issue on Johnson's decision to drop the fight to make the Soviet Union and 12 other nations pay their share of the United Nations' peace-keeping costs.

No Homework For Teachers

LONDON (AP) — More than 40,000 British teachers have decided to ban homework—home work for themselves, not their pupils.

Beginning Oct. 4, members of the National Association of Schoolmasters will confine their work to classroom hours, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

They will correct no math papers in evening hours.

THEY WILL take no compositions home with them at night.

They will coach no athletic teams at 4 p.m.

The strike against homework will last two weeks.

Said Terence Casey, 45, secretary of the association:

"This is a protest against a suggestion by our employers that teaching is practically a part-time occupation.

"All our outside activities will cease at 4 o'clock, and work not completed during the day will be left undone."

THE ASSOCIATION represents about one in every seven of the country's teachers. The members are angry over a recent award which increased their pay by an average of $5.60 to $8.40 a week.

In making the award, there was a suggestion that the teaching profession allows a teacher to earn money in his or her spare time.

The association wants the government to set up a commission to examine what the teachers claim are many deficiencies in the country's educational structure.

The National Union of Teachers — the biggest teachers' union — said a commission had already examined the educational structure. It intimated it would not go along with the no-home work ban.

THE SPOKESMAN for the National Association of Schoolmasters said:

"We want all the existing educational deficiencies, which have been concealed for too long, properly looked into even if it takes 10 years."

This association is made up solely of men teachers. More than half the members of the rival union of teachers are women.

The Ministry of Education said it was difficult to state an average teacher's pay because of the numerous classifications.

A spokesman said it might be about $2,520 a year.

For Low-Sodium Diet, Avoid Certain Foods

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have been told to give up ham, bacon, a certain soft drink, and a number of other foods because of swelling in my ankles as a result of too much sodium.

What does a low sodium diet consist of? — MRS. N.G.

A low-sodium diet isn't a matter of "what it consists of," but of what you leave out. And what you leave out is sodium.

For the most part, this means ordinary salt. Bacon, ham, and other preserved meats all have a lot of salt. So avoid them — sausage, corned beef and such. Stick to fresh meats.

Don't put salt in food when you cook it. (This may mean that the rest of the family will have to do a little more salting than usual at the table, but after all, that's a mild inconvenience. It is important for you to avoid salt, which is sodium chloride.)

Don't use salt on your food. Pickles, relish and such items contain salt. Avoid them. Don't eat anything that you know is salty — nuts, potato chips, food cooked with salt.

In some cases, salt-free bread and butter are necessary.

The soft drink you mentioned says on the label that it contains sodium citrate, so that is why it's prohibited. Reading labels will be a help to you. Avoid things with sodium.

Dear Dr. Molner: Can a person have mumps twice on both sides? My son has it again, but everybody tells me a person can have it only once. —W.M.M.

In general, we have mumps only once, and it doesn't matter whether the disease is apparent on one side or both. We still have the disease! However, there are occasional instances, with this and other diseases, in which a second attack MAY occur. And there's also the chance that one attack or the other wasn't really mumps, but something else that caused the swelling and soreness.

Around The Rim

Tires, Tires — And Tires

Few things are more difficult for the novice than buying a new set of shoes for the family bus. The most careful reading of manufacturers' claims turns up very little in the way of guidance when buying a tire.

For instance, any tire can be advertised as "first quality, first line, 100 level, guaranteed." These terms mean exactly nothing, according to W. W. Marsh, executive vice president of the National Tire Dealers and Retreaders Association. He should know; he has been working for years to get some standardization in the industry.

"YOU CAN get a tire guaranteed three years that costs less than a tire guaranteed two years," he points out. The so-called guarantees are merely a basis for adjustment and have no relation to tread wear or service.

Another curious fact: tires of the same labeled size, but from different manufacturers, may vary as much as two inches in diameter. Incidentally, this could be dangerous to the motorist, as the car would tend to lean toward the side with the smaller tire.

TRYING TO get some order from the chaos of this unusual situation, the Vehicle Equipment Compact Commission adopted the Rubber Manufacturers Association's standards for tire certification. But these standards are so loose, all 1,000 brands of tires available are certified.

"The worse tire you can buy," Marsh said, "is certified as being of acceptable quality."

IN THIS ERA of mounting car accidents, many of them are attributable to faulty tires. The industry thus far has made no headway in setting up a system of standards, that can guide the consumer in making sure the family car is well-shod.

In other areas where such a situation exists, the federal government, soon or late, gets into the act. The Federal Trade Commission has held hearings on this problem and may well be taking action in the future, as more lawmakers are becoming aware of the problem.

IT'S AXIOMATIC that when 50 per cent of consumer complaints deal with tires, and that when 42 per cent of the tires on a high school parking lot are ruled unsafe, then someone is going to do something to correct the situation. It is helpful that the industry plans to take the bull by the horns for its own sake. Certainly, if it doesn't, the government will.

More Damage In France

WASHINGTON — French President de Gaulle's campaign to dilute American influence in Europe got an unexpected boost when it was disclosed that the Benjamin Franklin Library in Paris would be closed.

The library, which is supported by the United States Information Service, has been used by hundreds of thousands of French students since the end of World War II. Its closing, which was dictated by two U. S. Senators, will be a further blow to relationships between Gaullist France and the United States.

THE TWO SENATORS most responsible for the demise of the library are Allen J. Ellender (D., La.) and John L. McClellan (D., Ark.).

"You may remember," Sen. Ellender said to USIA director Carl T. Rowan during appropriation hearings, "that this committee felt that of all places Western Europe was the easiest one to curtail . . . It would seem to me that you could have cut most deeply into your Western Europe funds and spread those around to other places which may be more important and where more effective work could be done."

SEN. McCLELLAN chimed in with, "Over in Europe where certainly they have as much sense and judgment about war as we have and about Communism as we have, I just don't understand why we have to keep spending a lot of money over there to try to enlighten them." Later he asked Rowan, "Are they spending any money over here to try to keep us from going Communist?"

Rowan pointed out that Great Britain spent more than $700,000 a year on information activities in the United States, and he tried to show McClellan and Ellender that both Britain and France had many students from underdeveloped countries of Africa and Asia who were exposed to U. S. programs.

BUT BOTH Senators remained adamant, and both specifically warned USIS officials that they wanted "that big, fancy library" in Paris shut down. Sen. Ellender coldly alluded to USIS personnel in Western Europe as "hangers on" and bluntly said, "If it were left to me, I would trim this considerably. I hope to move in that direction."

How sharply Messrs. Ellender and McClellan moved in that direction is just now becoming clear. In addition to closing the Benjamin Franklin Library, USIS also was compelled to withdraw support from four other libraries operated by the American Library in Paris. A private organization, a USIS fortnightly magazine, Informations et Documents, was another casualty. It will now be published only 12 times a year, and its circulation lists have been slashed.

IT WAS coincidental, of course, but only four days before USIS announced the cutbacks in its programs for France, President de Gaulle took dour pleasure in letting the world know just how far apart France and the United States had drifted. After 1969 at the latest, De Gaulle said, France would no longer take part in an integrated system for the defense of Western Europe.

Most observers agree that would be the death knell of NATO, and a crushing blow to American influence in Europe. But few harked back to half-forgotten appropriations hearings when two U. S. Senators pursuing their vendetta against U. S. propaganda activities in France had measurably advanced De Gaulle's cherished dream of ending American power in Europe.

What Happens To A Special Report

WASHINGTON — Published last March in a very limited edition of 100 copies was a small package of dynamite: "The Negro Family," a case for national attention. Its author was Assistant Labor Secretary Daniel Moynihan, who became a Democratic candidate for president of the city council in New York City. Some 25 copies were distributed to government officials, some were "leaked" to reporters (my copy is Number 74), but the contents were supposed to be confidential and for "internal" use only.

AS USUAL, the hot-footed, light-fingered Washington press corps had gotten hold of suppressed information long before Congress did, and there was partial as well as nearly complete publication, though still from non-official sources. About the time House members were being dragooned by the administration to sign a petition for the Washington Home Rule bill, Speaker McCormack unsuccessfully was hounding the office of Labor Secretary Wirtz for this study of Negro home life, a subject of more than passing interest on Home Rule.

Over in the Senate, which also must pass on Home Rule for Washington, no copies were available, as of the second week in September, to the minority staff of the Labor-Welfare Committee.

ON SEPT. 14, primary election day in New York, Moynihan was defeated. Three days later word came out of the Labor Department that "The Negro Family" could be bought for 45 cents from the superintendent of Documents. Suggestions that the loosening-up had something to do with the passing of the election date were hotly denied. I phoned the superintendent and was told that copies would not be available "for a few more weeks."

SINCE THE Home rule petition and the New York primaries went by with the booklet still under wraps, it seems not too cynical to surmise that a "few weeks" might easily stretch deep into October. By then the publication could hardly affect the contest for Mayor of New York.

It will require a full column to attempt a review of "The Negro Family," which is a heart-rending yet devastating account of how this race does differ in its basic way of life from the rest of America. There have been suggestions of a domestic Marshall Plan which would treat Negroes as a separate, underdeveloped people whose problems require special remedies.

SUCH A PLAN was flight-tested during the Kennedy administration. It was poorly-received by Negro leaders and rather well-received by Southern segregationists — for the same reason. The former were indignant, and the latter were eager, at the quasi-official admission that poverty, education, housing and crime should be considered in racial compartments rather than as broad national problems.

Find Excuse

OWENSBORO, Ky. (AP) — Before Ann Bristow left for Girl Scout camp, her mother instructed the 10-year-old to label her clothes.

Departure day arrived and Ann still hadn't carried out orders.

"I called the other girls," she explained to her mother, "and found out they're marking their clothes. So I figured I wouldn't have to mark mine because the clothes with no names in them are bound to be mine."

AT AFTER FIVE CLUB

Mrs. Guy Cook Speaks On Bulb Planting, Care

How bulbs should be selected was explained by Mrs. Guy Cook, national flower show judge, when she was guest speaker at the Tuesday evening meeting of the After Five Garden Club. Mrs. Harold Bell, 2402 Allendale, was hostess and Mrs. Edward Shive the cohostess. The program was arranged by Miss Leah Davis.

Mrs. Cook stressed the need for choosing good bulbs that would produce healthy plants and blossoms. After purchasing the best bulbs, the gardener must provide the special soil and additives required for proper growth. She suggested selecting bulbs that thrive best in your own location and told what could be expected of them under the best growing conditions.

Mrs. Cook noted that tulips and daffodils do best here but said that the tulips require special care and good soil. The tulip, she said, must form new bulbs to bloom the next year, and they should be planted to a depth three times their diameter.

Mrs. Bell reminded members of the Flower Show School No. 5 which is slated for the YMCA in October.

Mrs. Shive assisted the hostess in serving refreshments. In the entertaining area, a side table held an arrangement of Lycoris lillies.

Mrs. Edward Clark and Miss Davis will be hostesses Oct. 19 when the club meeting will be in the nurses quarters at the Veterans Administration Hospital.

Private Producers Display Concern At Oil Quota Plan

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—Venezuela's efforts to adjust world oil production to demand and prevent "wasteful competition" cause uneasiness among large private oil producers.

The companies' reaction was sparked by the recent Venezuelan-sponsored Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC) resolution assigning each of the eight member countries a quota increase for the July 1965-June 1966 period.

OPEC members are Venezuela, Kuwait, Iran, Iraq, Saudi Arabia, Libya, Qatar and Indonesia.

OPEC approved a joint production program in Tripoli last July and agreed to force the companies to stay within individual quota limits.

The resolution aims to prevent a glut of the market which, OPEC argues, would reduce prices and lower income to the producing countries.

All OPEC countries are in the developing stage and depend heavily on oil for industrialization programs. Venezuela, for instance, gets roughly $1 billion per year in oil income. The nation's annual budget is $1.7 billion.

Creole Petroleum Corporation, a Jersey Standard subsidiary and the largest Venezuelan oil producer (1.4 million barrels per day), was the first to show "concern" over the OPEC resolution. The company said previous attempts to regulate international market commodities failed and that markets could be lost to other producing areas.

OTHERS AGREE

Shell de Venezuela and other companies operating in Venezuela agree with Creole.

Private oilmen also argue that non-OPEC members continue to grant concessions which may accelerate production and further increase the world market surplus.

OPEC argues that non-OPEC members will benefit from the measure when they see that a regulation program stops unnecessary competition and increases prices.

"What we really want is not to sell much oil, but just enough at fair prices," Venezuelan officials say.

Venezuela has for several years limited annual increases to 4 per cent although the capacity is much higher. Current production is 3.4 million barrels per day, 3.1 per cent above 1964.

Venezuelan officials say the companies' reluctance to accept the resolution stems from their refusal to give up their control of the market.

Whether OPEC can actually wrest control away from the companies remains to be seen. The stability of the governments involved and their ability to handle domestic criticism of a measure which in some cases means sharply reduced production will be the main factors.

Desert-Trained Bravos In Jungle

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — It was one of those times when nothing goes right. It began with an abortive raid on a Viet Cong stronghold and ended amid the burning wreckage of a crashed helicopter.

In between came 30 nightmare hours of hacking and marching through the jungle of Viet Nam's central highlands with one company of "Screaming Eagles" of the 1st Brigade of the 101st Airborne Division close to An Khe.

Hungry and thirsty, though drenched to the skin by blinding rainstorms, men of Bravo company gave uncomplaining testimony to the fighting spirit of their crack paratrooper outfit while breaking almost every rule in the manual of jungle warfare.

THORNY ROUTE

Training in the United States did not prepare them for impenetrable thorn thickets or spike-studded creepers that trip a man or slash at his face, hands and clothing. Before they came to Viet Nam five weeks ago, these men had been taught to fight in the desert.

"It's going to be one of those pick 'em up and lay 'em down footslogging infantry affairs," warned Lt. Col. Joseph B. Rogers of Fairfax, Va., as he outlined an operation to flush out and destroy Viet Cong guerrillas.

Bravo company, led by Capt. James Nichols of Clarksville, Tenn., had been assigned to act as the western side of a piston to drive the Viet Cong on to the guns of another company airlifted into the zone in helicopters.

Jury Ponders Damage Suit

A jury was pondering its verdict at noon in a default judgment case tried Wednesday morning in 118th District Court.

The case was styled Norma Williams vs. Melvin R. Delano. It was tried without the defendant or his attorney being in the court under a law which specifies if a jury trial is asked, such cases cannot be taken off the jury docket without consent of the litigant asking for such trial. The plaintiff had asked for a jury trial. The case, it was said, had been set at an earlier docket and the defendant had not appeared.

The suit stem from a traffic accident on Oct. 27, 1964. The plaintiff alleges she was a passenger in a car driven by Eileen Sanborn. As they came to West Third and Gregg, a truck, owned by the defendant and driven by Glenn Bell, and their vehicle collided. The plaintiff asked $35,600 damages.

Police said entry was made from the front window of the church after an unsuccessful attempt at entry had been made at the south window. The window screen was forced, detectives said, but the front window was not latched.

Police Looking For Bad Checker

A woman gave the Dale White Music Co. a check for $370 Monday, for a guitar, took the merchandise and left, police said today. The check, drawn on a Georgia bank, "bounced."

Police checked the motel address the woman had given and found she was registered under another name than the one on the check. She had checked out several hours before police arrived. Investigation continues, Leo Hull, assistant police chief, said.

Loraine Girl In Serious Condition

L. B. Jarrett Rites Thursday

LAMESA (SC) — Lummie B. Jarrett Sr., 56, died at 8 p.m. Tuesday in Medical Arts Hospital.

He was born Sept. 10, 1909 in Clarksville, and moved to Dawson County in 1931 from Gorman. He was owner and operator of a radiator shop. Mr. Jarrett had been in ill health for several years, but was hospitalized only two days.

No improvement was reported in the condition of Joe Hayden, Howard County Commissioner, this morning. He is in Howard County Hospital Foundation as the result of a stroke suffered early Monday evening.

Attendants described his condition as "not much worse," but added his condition continues critical. He was found unconscious at the home of his mother about 7 p.m. Monday.

Viets Execute 3 Cong Sympathizers

DA NANG, Viet Nam (AP)—High-ranking Vietnamese military officers said a government firing squad executed three Vietnamese accused of being Viet Cong sympathizers tonight.

The officers said the three were shot by a firing squad at a soccer stadium.

A South Vietnamese military spokesman said the execution was originally postponed because news photographers refused to obey orders not to take pictures until after the last shot is fired.

JEEP LIGHTS

A Vietnamese officer, Lt. Col. Tran Huu Tu, said the headlights of three jeeps illuminated the stadium for the unusual nighttime execution.

A handful of people gathered outside the stadium, but they were not permitted to enter. No newsmen or photographers were believed to have seen the shooting.

The three persons were among five arrested Monday during an antigovernment demonstration by about 200 persons in downtown Da Nang. They were sentenced to death Tuesday by a military tribunal on charges of inciting the demonstration.

CONG INSPIRED

U.S. and Vietnamese authorities claimed the gathering was inspired by the Viet Cong.

Informed sources said the demonstrators protested heavy artillery fire and air strikes by U.S. forces.

Photographers who hoped to witness the execution were told that a government law prohibits the taking of photographs until after the final shot.

Crews Cleaning Up After Rains

"City crews are still cleaning up the silt and debris left by Monday's rains," Larry Crow, city manager, said today. "It will take a few days, but they'll have it cleaned up as fast as possible."

Silt was left on many paved streets in town, especially on the north side, where water washed several "stabilized" streets during the downpours Monday night. Drainage ditches were silt-filled, but were cleaned out Tuesday for the most part, Crow said.

A large hole washed out at Fourth and Birdwell has been refilled with dirt, but has not yet been retopped. Crow said water damage was far less serious than he had expected from such heavy rains.

Portable Machine May Help Heart Treatments

GALVESTON (AP)—Two doctors and a florist have built a lightweight, portable machine which they believe may be of great use in diagnosing heart interruptions and starting the heart beating again. It also might prove useful in treating drowning victims.

The florist, Howard Knapp, became involved because his wife is a nurse and knows the doctors, and he dabbles in electronics and radio.

The machine was developed by Dr. Joe Walker, assistant professor in anesthesiology at the University of Texas medical branch here, and Dr. Val Hutchinson of San Antonio, a resident in anesthesiology.

LIGHT MACHINE

Similar machines are available but they are much heavier. The machine developed here weighs 25 pounds.

While he was a student at the medical branch, said Hutchinson, "I realized there was a need for a small, completely portable, battery-operated electrocardiograph with a defibrillator and I knew it was possible."

An electrocardiograph machine tells doctors how a heart is functioning. A defibrillator is used when the heart is only quivering and is not doing any work; it uses electrical impulses to start the organ to pumping blood again.

TIME FACTOR

Hutchinson said time is a critical factor in heart stoppages and said it has been necessary to collect equipment, some of it weighing 100 pounds, from several areas in the hospital.

The unit also contains all the drugs used to stimulate the heart into going to work again, and equipment to start breathing by artifical means. It can go into operation in 30 seconds.

The group was granted $750 for research and development from the Medical Research Foundation of Texas.

The doctors and others predict that the unit, which they call the Texas Cardiac Resuscitator, will be used widely by police, ambulances and wherever drownings are an unusual threat.

Volunteers Are Still Needed

There are still a few vacancies for volunteer workers at the local Veteran's Hospital, according to Mrs. Ara Cunningham, volunteer director.

A total of 141 volunteers are now serving at the hospital, Mrs. Cunningham said, after 13 signed on Tuesday. "Those who wish to serve, but were unable to attend the training and orientation session yesterday, may still sign up," she said.

"Approximately 50 of the present volunteers serve during evenings and weekends, and many of our volunteers are men, so it is far from fact that volunteer work is a woman's job," she added. Individual training will be given any persons who want to fill the few remaining vacancies, Mrs. Cunningham indicated.

Minor Accident

Only one traffic accident occurred in Big Spring yesterday, police said today. There were no injuries. William C. Bedwell, 1308 Owens, backed his car into a tree, damaging the rear end of the car. The accident was at the Golden Nugget, 508 W. 3rd.

Students Are Signing Up At Lakeview

Students living in the former Kate Morrison Elementary School attendance area started enrolling at Lakeview Elementary this week, Supt. Sam Anderson said. The school district began the first process of filing charges against parents, of those not enrolled in school, this morning.

A check with Lakeview Principal Ernest Morgan, showed at 13 new students appeared Tuesday morning and that six more were scheduled to enroll Tuesday afternoon. Seven others enrolled this morning.

Tom Henry, visiting teacher and school truant officer, has spent several days calling on parents of the children being kept out in protest against the closing of Kate Morrison school to explain the new compulsory attendance law requiring students to attend a minimum of 165 days of the school term. Anderson said records show approximately 67 former Kate Morrison students now enrolled at Lakeview. There were about 120 living in the area.

The Big Spring school board ordered the administration to begin filing charges this morning against parents who have failed to comply with the attendance law. This law provides that parents convicted on charges of keeping children out of school may be fined $5 per child for the first day's absence, $10 for the second, and $25 for each subsequent absence.

Woman Held For Local Officers

Deputy Sheriff Sam Roberts and city policeman Dub Day are en route to Carlsbad, N.M., today to take custody of Mrs. Charles L. Roman Jr.

Mrs. Roman was arrested by New Mexico state police on a Howard County warrant. She is charged with writing a felony worthless check. She has waived extradition and will be returned here today.

Venezuela Has Mills, Firms Up For Sale

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — "For sale: unprofitable sugar mills, railroads and hotel chain. For information contact Finance Minstry."

The Venezuelan government is not advertising quite this way, but wants to get rid of several state-owned enterprises. A spokesman says they have become a bureaucratic burden the government cannot afford to carry.

On the possible market list are six sugar mills owned by the Venezuelan Development Corp., the hotel chain Conahotu, the Railroad Institute, and bus lines.

What the government aims to do, in the case of the sugar mills for instance, is to seek a formula to turn them over to selected groups that will run them for the workers or in joint operation with the growers.

Eloy Anzola Montauban, the corporation president, has suggested that its enterprises could be turned into cooperatives of their stock offered for public sale.

The Conahotu runs 10 hotels and, despite promotional efforts, continues to lose money.

Lake Guide Weds -On The Water

DETROIT (AP) — Fishing guide Henry Bradley has embarked on the sea of matrimony on a charter boat.

Bradley and Miss Rollande Gouin of Belle River, Ont., were wed on the craft by Judge Herman L. Brys. Bradley, 42, said he decided to marry on the lake "because I'm on it all the time anyway."

Work-Study Plan Starts This Week

Employment of Howard County Junior College students by both the college and Big Spring schools in a work-study program financed through a grant of federal funds, started this week. The Big Spring school board approved the participation at a recent meeting, pending availability of qualified students.

The work-study program, allowing freshmen students at the college to work a maximum of 15 hours per week as playground assistants, teacher aides and library assistants, places the college as contractor and the school district as sub-contractor. Each will pay 10 per cent of the salaries of students employed to bring the hourly salaries to $1.25. The grant will pay 90 per cent.

Dr. Dawson DeViney of HCJC, in charge of the program, said Tuesday afternoon that the college was employing some for clerical helpers and in other capacities. Marshall Box is in charge of the students taking part in the Big Spring schools.

Dr. Len Ainsworth, director of educational services for the schools, said 14 had been placed Tuesday, but that many more could be used.

"We are going to use the students primarily for the physical education program in elementary schools," he said. "They will be under the supervision of PE instructors. More are being interviewed and schedules worked out as fast as they are sent to us."

Dr. DeViney said the problem of adjusting schedules at the college and public schools was one of the first steps needed to make students available.

"The elementary schools close at 3:45 p.m. while college classes continue up to 5 p.m. and laboratory schedules even later," he said. "The 52 freshmen students requested by the public schools may not be available. They must make satisfactory progress in their college work, and meet other requirements to take advantage of the program, and right now it appears that most qualified students are finding it difficult to arrange schedules."

The work-study program was designed to give capable college students an opportunity to study methods used in both public schools and college, and to have a needed income.

Both DeViney and Ainsworth said Tuesday that more would be known about the availability of HCJC students by the last of the week as schedules are worked out.

New Order Praying For Church Unity

WIEN, Mo. (AP) — Four members of three Christian faiths have formed an ecumenical monastery in a north central Missouri hamlet to promote Christian unity through prayer.

Two Roman Catholics, an Episcopalian and a married Syrian Orthodox priest are the men of the new monastic order, the Brothers of Christian Unity. The order is open to Roman Catholics, Orthodox and Protestants.

POVERTY, CHASTITY

"We live under modified Benedictine rules," said the Rev. Robert Bowman, the Episcopalian. "This essentially means we do not have corporal punishment. The life is one of poverty, chastity, obedience and prayer."

The Rev. Mr. Bowman will take his final vows as a member of the two-year-old order Thursday at Christ Church Cathedral in St. Louis. The Rt. Rev. George L. Cadigan, Episcopal bishop of Missouri, will conduct the ceremony.

Other members of the order are the Rev. Joseph Starmann and former lay Brother Joseph Bona, both Roman Catholics, and the oblate, the Rev. Francis Forbes of the Syrian Orthodox Church.

An oblate cannot become a full member because he is married and the pledge of chastity prohibits him. Father Starmann and Borther Bona are full members.

Comedian Kaye 'No Perfectionist'

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie - TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Conditions presaged trouble when I entered Danny Kaye's penthouse apartment at CBS' Television City.

The comedian was glowering at the other end of the sumptuous suite, and I quickly learned why. In his lap was a portable radio pouring forth news of another disaster for Kaye's beloved Los Angeles Dodgers.

"Well, see you later," I said, aware that a Kaye interview under the best of circumstances would be touch-and-go.

"Don't leave," he said, shutting off the radio sadly. Although the Cubs were whipping the Dodgers 7-3, he emphasized that his action did not concede defeat. Nor has he given up on the pennant race.

LAST PITCH

"I never give up until the last pitch of the last inning," he remarked steadfastly.

Kaye has two other major interests in his life: flying and television, not necessarily in that order. While his fellow television stars were out mining mints at state fairs and in summer theaters and night clubs, Danny "never worked harder in my life."

At what? Taking examinations for more advanced pilot ratings. He spoke glowingly of piloting a private jet to Portland in an hour and 40 minutes, "the same time it takes me to fly to San Francisco in my own plane."

Don't get the notion that Danny is any less interested in other ratings, say of television shows. At the start of his third season, he remains as avid as a Catskill comic, which he once was.

He blunted the reporter's questions by reversing the interview, a familiar Kaye plot. "How do you feel about TV, now that you're starting your third season?" he asked. "Is it different to be shooting in color this year?"

That out of the way, he settled down to some observations on his life in television.

"People said I was a nut, a perfectionist who would last six weeks in television and then go quietly mad because of the way you have to work in TV. But I'm not a perfectionist. Anyone who says that he is a perfectionist is claiming that what he tries to do is perfect work. Perfect in whose eyes? His own? The public's?

"All I try to do is the best I can. When you put together a complete show in five days — the equivalent of two-thirds of a movie — you can't expect everything to be polished.

"Things can go wrong, but you can capitalize on them in TV, and that gives an added quality. Like last week when Harry Belafonte had a punch line that he couldn't get out. His difficulty was much funnier than the line would have been.

"We've had some great shows; last week's with Harry was one, I believe. We've had some good shows. Yes, we've had some poor shows, too.

"That was my biggest adjustment to TV: how to accept the poor shows. How did I do it? Merely by moving on to the next show and trying to profit by the bad one."

Most critics and a large segment of the audience seem to agree that his batting average is high. Now if the Dodgers could only do as well.

One Of L.A. Quads Dies

LOS ANGELES (AP)—One of the Pigge quadruplets, all in critical condition since they were born Sunday, died at 1:20 a.m. today.

Spokesmen at General Hospital said the cause of death was not known.

The child, named Winston Lydel, was the second of the four to be born, and the heaviest. All four weighed slightly less than nine pounds at birth.

The mother, Mrs. Alice Pigge, 28, told newsmen she had taken a drug prior to the childrens' conception. The drug, often used as a fertility stimulant, was used in Mrs. Pigge's case to correct a female condition.

Farm Bill Called Key To Sweeping Advances

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — Agriculture secretary Orville Freeman says the administration farm bill pending in congress would bring sweeping advances for American agriculture.

He was the principal speaker at "Farm Day" discussions, part of Radio Station KWKH's six-day celebration of its 40th anniversary Tuesday.

Freeman predicted changes by 1975 under the proposed farm program including better food and clothing for Americans at lower cost, better nutritional standards, better income for farm families, better educational and medical facilities in rural areas, and more rural opportunities.

He said the American supply would increase as a feeder of world markets. He said food would be of critical importance in the struggle for freedom, becoming a weapon in foreign policy.

Freeman said the purpose of the administration's farm program is to enable farmers to exercise their initiative and skill to produce an abundance of food and fiber and lower food prices in proportion to consumer income while avoiding needless accumulation of costly surpluses.

Ohio Political Race Watched

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP)—Clarence J. Brown Jr., political newcomer with a noted Republican name, squared off today against a young prosecuting attorney in a nationally watched fall election for the congressional seat Brown's father had 27 years.

Brown swamped six opponents for the GOP nomination in a special primary Tuesday while James A. Berry, prosecutor of Clark County, most populous of the 7th District's eight counties, easily defeated a lone Democratic opponent.

Democrats promised a strong campaign with party help from Washington in the western Ohio district which has elected only two Democratic congressmen since the turn of the century, the last time during the 1936 Roosevelt landslide.

Democratic leaders term their chances the best in 30 years because President Johnson carried all but one county last year and Democrats cut in half the 1962 margin of Clarence J. Brown Sr. Brown, ranking Republican on the House Rules Committee, died Aug. 23.

The term sought by his 38-year-old son and Berry, 35, runs to Jan. 3, 1967. The winner will be determined in a Nov. 2 special election called to coincide with Ohio city elections.

Peking Said Using Cuba

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Internal Security subcommittee has published a Cuban exile's claim that Chinese Communists are using Cuba as a springboard for Latin American infiltration.

The claim was made to the subcommittee Aug. 4 by Enrique Chau, a Cuban whose father was Chinese, and released Tuesday. Chau is a waiter in a restaurant in Miami.

Some 10,000 Chinese Communists entered Cuba in the last five years, he said, and "in Cuba you have masters to falsify documents and passports for these people to emigrate illegally."

With the establishment of diplomatic relations between Communist China and Cuba in 1959, Chau said, "the door was opened wide for Cuba to be the base of operations for the Red Chinese Communists that fanned all over Latin America."

Chunkers For Longhorns

Snyder Has Good Potential: Scout

Snyder was described by Steer scout Allen Simpson as a team which is capable of beating any foe if it can overcome its mistakes in a talk made before members of the Quarterback Club here Tuesday night.

The two teams tangle Friday night in Snyder. The game will be the last non-conference action for Big Spring this season.

Snyder is unless and Big Spring has yet to lose a game but the same situation existed last year and Snyder emerged with a 13-0 victory over the Steers, Simpson reminded his listeners.

The Tigers, who always seem to play better against the Longhorns than against any other foe, will have the added advantage of playing at home, the QBC speaker said.

Simpson describes Rich Hall (No. 40) and Jackie Rice (No. 41) as the two best pass receivers in the Snyder camp and pointed to junior Murray Bowden (No. 10) as a talented quarterback capable of delivering the ball to them.

Rice is also a fine ball carrier, Simpson said, and gets plenty of help from other Snyder backs.

The Tigers have been hurt badly by inability to hold onto the ball in their last two games. Last week against Stamford, the Tigers yielded the ball to the opposition seven times on bobbles.

Andrews toppled Snyder, 23-12, in the first game of the season but the Tigers were on the Mustangs' six-inch line when the game ended, Simpson said.

Largest crowd of Snyder's home season will likely be in attendance at the contest. Almost 2,000 adult and student tickets were sent here for the contest and school officials asked for more.

Head coach Don Robbins of the Steers, who is bothered with voice trouble, told the gathering that Big Spring, no doubt, would get its most severe test of the season in Snyder.

Asked in Snyder if he thought his Tigers could defeat Big Spring, coach Horrace Bostick of Snyder replied:

"If they hook up and play football, they'll have a chance."

There's not a doubt in anyone's mind here that Snyder will "hook up" for the game. The Tigers have a habit of playing that way against Big Spring.

Action films of the Big Spring-Ysleta Bel Air game were screened for QBC members, at which time coaching aide Cliff Patton offered the commentary.

Coach Robbins said the Steers showed improvement in the Bel Air game over its performance in the previous contest with Lamesa but would have to improve still more to master Snyder.

The largest crowd of the season attended the conclave, which lasted about an hour.

Coming in for particular praise in the Bel Air game were fullback Rey Navarette, tackle Eddie Crittenden and end Harrell Newton, along with several reserves — among them Wayne Kennedy, Bobby Baker, Henry Dirks and Terry Smith.

Bulldogs Await Debut At Home

COAHOMA — The Coahoma Bulldogs are preparing for what coach Spike Dykes says will be their toughest test of the season thus far, a Saturday night outing with the Big Spring B team. Kickoff time is 8 o'clock.

Dykes scouted the Big Springers personally in their losing effort with the Snyder reserves last week and discounted the Dogies' showing.

"Their coaches just haven't had time to work with them," Dykes stated. "There's fine potential there. They'll come around."

The contest will serve to open Coahoma's new stadium, which is located immediately west of the old park. The stands will seat in excess of 4,000 and may be filled for the engagement since Coahoma has become a fine gate attraction in this area.

The Bulldogs came out of last week's game in reasonably good physical condition.

Coahoma has defeated Rankin, 20-0, and Stanton, 42-0, and appear to have a much tougher defense than they had a year ago, although they are a lighter ball club.

The Bulldogs are rated third in the Fort Worth Star Telegram statewide poll behind Goldthwaite and White Deer and fifth by the Dallas News behind Three Rivers, Jefferson, Forney and Goldthwaite.

Coahoma has won 12 of its last 13 games over a two-year period. Primarily a running team, the Bulldogs have a fine passing quarterback in Marshall Williams and outstanding receivers in Bobby Pherigo, Mike Mosley and Terry Denton.

Brunt of the Coahoma attack falls on the 197-pound Tony Butler, a candidate for all-state honors.

The Big Spring reserves took an early lead over Snyder's B team last week but lost, 18-12. Against San Angelo the previous week, the locals were beaten, 14-0.

Golf Champ Promoted

Frank Mackey, who won the Big Spring Invitational Golf tournament while playing out of Colorado City, has been named an assistant vice president of the First National Bank in Fort Worth.

Minnesota Twins Have All Regulars Playing

By The Associated Press

The Minnesota Twins have shut down their sick bay for lack of patients, but a couple of their convalescents seem to need some occupational therapy.

Harmon Killebrew, Tony Oliva and Camilo Pascual, expected to be the Twins' slugging, hitting and pitching leaders this season, played together Tuesday for the first time since July 28.

Their combined efforts fell short, however, as Baltimore trimmed the Twins 6-4 in 10 innings and postponed their American League pennant-clinching celebration until at least Friday night.

Of the three, only Oliva appeared ready to take on the National League winners in the World Series without the aid of vitamin pills.

Back from a five-day bout with an injured right knee, Oliva rapped three hits, boosting his league-leading average to .320, seven points better than runner-up Carl Yastrzesmki of Boston.

In other AL games Tuesday, Detroit defeated Chicago 6-2, New York whipped Cleveland 9-4, California defeated Boston 4-0 and Washington edged Kansas City 4-3.

Minnesota scored two runs in the eighth for a 2-2 tie, but Baltimore pulled it out with two runs in the 10th, the first coming on Luis Aparicio's two-out single and the other on Mel Nelson's bases-loaded walk to Boog Powell.

Detroit reduced Chicago's pennant chances to only a tie, erupting for five unearned runs in the third inning after pitcher Joe Horlen missed Ray Oyler's sacrifice bunt.

MIDDLE LINEBACKER'S BATTLE PLAN ROUGH ON BIG SPRINGER

NEW YORK (AP)—If Charley Johnson of Big Spring still has a feeling he is being followed, blame it on Dave Lloyd, the persistent middle linebacker of the Philadelphia Eagles.

Lloyd, an important member of the Eagles' blitzing defense that threw the St. Louis quarterback six times for losses of 58 yards has been named the defensive player of the week in the National Football League by The Associated Press. Philadelphia upset St. Louis 34-27.

"Johnson will be looking at those movies again and again trying to figure out what Lloyd was doing to him," said Joe Kuharich, the Eagles' coach.

The 248-pound former Georgia star who lost 10 pounds in the 94-degree heat at Franklin Field said the Eagles overshifted with the tackles head up on the Cardinal center, leaving only the fullback between him and Johnson.

"I was able to get a running start," said Lloyd, formerly with Cleveland and Detroit before he moved to Philadelphia in 1963.

Nichols Is Out Of Golf Meet

SEATTLE (AP) — The $45,000 Greater Seattle Open Golf Tournament gets under way Thursday with three of its four former champions hoping to repeat.

Bobby Nichols, who took the title two years ago, has pneumonia and withdrew Tuesday.

Competing for the $6,000 top prize will be Jack Nicklaus, the 1962 champion whose victory in the Portland Open last week boosted his total earnings to a record $145,539; Dave Marr, the winner in 1961, and defending champion Billy Casper.

Play Set Back

DALLAS (AP)—Match play, already delayed one day because of heavy rain, was to start today in the Texas' Women's Amateur Golf Tournament.

Purdue, Hogs And Bovines Among Picks

By HAROLD CLAASSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — It is 96 years ago since Princeton and Rutgers invented what now is known as American football. The rivalry was intense then and will be again Saturday when these ancient foes meet. That's about the only thing that remains the same, everything else has changed including the probable winner.

Rutgers won that first game but this time Princeton is the pick, perhaps by the same margin as the Tigers' 10-7 triumph of a year ago. There's added interest this season because twin brothers are the rival captains. Paul Savidge is a guard and the Princeton leader, Pete Savidge, is a center and the Rutgers captain.

Other picks for the coming weekend:

Purdue over Notre Dame: The Big Ten Boilermakers have burst previous Notre Dame bubbles and will do it again, drawing strength from the backing of the hometown crowd. Purdue will contain the speedy Nick Rassas.

Nebraska over Air Force: The Huskers have the better battery.

Texas over Texas Tech: But the losers' Donny Anderson will be the star of the game.

Michigan over California: The defending Rose Bowl champions still have plenty left.

Arkansas over Tulsa: Jon Brittenum has taken over as the Porker quarterback, the team's only major weak spot.

Louisiana State over Rice: The Texans will think they are being entertained by Hurricane Betsy.

Florida over Mississippi State: The Gators romped over Northwestern last Saturday.

Syracuse over Miami of Florida: Floyd Little was held in check last week. It can't be done two weeks in a row.

Kentucky over Mississippi: The home field gives the Wildcats a thin edge.

Georgia over Vanderbilt: The Georgia Bulldogs showed they could bite as well as growl in their amazing triumph over Alabama.

Iowa over Oregon State: Your television entertainment. The Coast Rose Bowl team lost 19 lettermen and it's coach.

Penn State over Michigan State: Two powerhouses. It should be close.

Minnesota over Washington State: The Gophers have found the quarterback they needed.

Ohio State over North Carolina: There are too many Ohioans.

Drysdale's Mace Work Rough On Opposition

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Don Drysdale — good-hitting pitcher, or good-pitching hitter?

Take your pick. He's helping keep the Los Angeles Dodgers afire in the National League race with both his arm and his bat.

Drysdale's versatile performance Tuesday night was typical. The tall right-hander recorded his 21st pitching victory of the season with a six-hitter, drove in the clinching run with a single, and helped build an insurance run with another single.

Result: The Dodgers' fifth straight victory, 3-1 over Milwaukee, and a notch upward in pennant scramble.

ERROR OPENS DOOR

Second-place Los Angeles now is three games back of the San Francisco Giants, who were trimmed 7-4 by Cincinnati after an error by first baseman Willie McCovey opened the way for four unearned runs.

Drysdale's two hits raised his batting average to .298, highest for the Dodgers, while his third straight victory raised his pitching record to 21-12. The lone Milwaukee run, in the fourth inning after an error by Maury Wills, was unearned — giving the Dodger pitching staff the remarkable distinction of allowing just one earned run in 45 innings covering the club's five-game winning string.

In other NL action — Jim Pagliaroni's two-run homer with two out in the last of the ninth lifted the Pittsburgh Pirates to their fifth straight victory, 6-5 over the New York Mets; Ron Santo rapped two homers and drove in six runs as the Chicago Cubs beat Philadelphia 7-5; and St. Louis blanked Houston 3-0.

The Giants, who had won 17 of their last 18 games, went into the sixth inning at Cincinnati with a 4-1 lead — but came out of it trailing 7-4.

BIG INNING

Two Red runs were in, two were out and bases were loaded when Tommy Harper sent a grounder to McCovey. The big first baseman bobbled it, enabling another run to score. Then Pete Rose's single made it 5-4, and Vada Pinson capped the rally with his second hit of the inning — a two-run single.

Frank Robinson hit his 30th homer for the Reds, and Jim Davenport homered with two on for the Giants.

B. B. Lees Praises Ace Quarterback Of Lobos

PORTALES — B. B. Lees, one-time Big Spring athlete and now head football coach of the Eastern New Mexico University Greyhounds, gave Sul Ross State a full measure of credit after the Lobos stopped the Hounds, 28-25, at Alpine, Tex., Saturday but set a course of strategy to prevent a similar defeat by Tarleton State.

"Sul Ross State is probably the more experienced and better football team," coach Lees commented. "They capitalized on our defensive errors."

Recalling the 10-0 lead held by the Greyhounds at halftime, Lees added, "I think their coaching staff did a fine job at halftime of discussing our weaknesses and attacking them, and then coming up with a definite plan for the second half."

The Hound coach was high in priase of the Lobos' signal-caller, senior Luz Pedraza. "He is as fine a quarterback as we'll see all year. He found our weak points and hit them constantly."

Lees' acclaim wasn't all for the Sul Ross squad. He singled out Greyhound defensive end Ken Herring, Wink, Tex.

House Panel Votes Billboard Curb Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill that could lead to removal of billboards from all major highways outside commercial areas by 1970 has been approved by the House Public Works Committee.

Similar to one passed last week by the Senate, the bill would require the states to ban billboards within 660 feet of their main roads and screen or remove junk yards within 1,000 feet, or forfeit 10 per cent of their federal highway funds.

It would authorize $120 million a year for "scenic enhancement" of the highways—a term not specifically defined in the bill.

TOUGH BATTLE

The administration won a hard fight in approval of the bill, although it falls far short of what President Johnson originally requested. A few weeks ago, however, it was considered all but dead.

The President and Mrs. Johnson both took an active interest in reviving it. They made frequent telephone calls to key committee members and White House staffers kept in constant touch during committee sessions.

Mrs. Johnson said Tuesday night she was delighted with the committee's action.

"The committee operated under the direct command of the White House," said Rep. William Cramer, R-Fla., an opponent of the bill, after the group finally approved it Tuesday.

"NO RUBBER STAMP"

Chairman George Fallon, D-Md., denied the committee merely "rubber stamped" the White House recommendations. But he said the Commerce Department, which would administer the law, suggested language that has been included in the bill.

The secretary of commerce would become the nation's billboard boss under the bill. Even in commercial areas where signs would be permittted, they would have to conform in size and numbers to standards agreed to by the secretary.

The committee added a provision requiring public hearings in each state before any such standards are put into effect, and also broadened the Senate's provision for court review of any order by the secretary cutting off highway funds to a state because of failure to comply with the law.

DEAR ABBY

Must Face The Music

DEAR ABBY: I have been married for three years. My wife and I work different shifts so we don't see very much of each other. A while back I started seeing a girl who works my shift. One thing led to another and now she tells me that she is going to have a baby and I am the father. She has been divorced a full year so there's no pinning this on her ex-husband. She thinks I love her just because I told her I did, but what else does a guy say in a situation like that?

Anyway, I don't love her that much and I would rather stay with the wife I have. This girl says if I don't divorce my wife and marry her fast, she will take me to court. Can she? Maybe I should just pack up and leave town. What do you recommend? JACK

DEAR JACK: (And I hope you have plenty of it.) Get yourself a lawyer. I suggest you stay where you are and face the music. They're playing YOUR arrangements.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: When you informed a young woman, who had been married by a Justice of the Peace, that her own clergyman would perform the marriage a second time under more auspicious circumstances, I think you goofed.

It may be that there are some denominations that have a special regulation on second ceremonies. It is even conceivable that there are pastors in my own denomination who would consent to such a request. However, if I interpret my church's teachings correctly, we are obliged to recognize a civil marriage as valid and inviolate. I would, in some sort of church ceremony, offer the church's blessings on such a marriage, but I would not perform the marriage ceremony the second time.

Sincerely yours,
RICHARD C. RIFE, Pastor
St. Paul's Lutheran Church
Morgantown, W. Virginia

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I sent his niece and nephew a check for $100 for their wedding gift. When all the gifts were displayed, our check was in a sealed envelope on which was written $100 check," but our name was nowhere in sight. There were other checks in envelopes marked "$25" and several "$10" and one "$50." (Ours was the only $100 gift.) Why did they not display the checks so their friends and relatives could see who gave how much. I was so put out about this I told my husband that we should stop payment on that check and buy them something for around ten dollars. What is your opinion? PUT OUT

DEAR PUT OUT: Sorry, but your niece displayed her gifts properly. According to the etiquette experts, checks should be displayed so that the donor's name is not in evidence.

Opening lead: Ten of ♠

Careful play by South, the declarer at seven hearts, overcame the adversities of unfavorable distribution in today's hand.

South opened the bidding with one club and North temporized by responding with one diamond, a one round force. Altho the opening bidder has 17 high card points, his singleton diamond deters him from taking strong action on the second round and he contents himself with a simple rebid of one heart.

North's jump to four hearts announces the equivalent of an opening bid, including a strong trump fit. South restrained himself no longer and embarked on a Blackwood inquiry. When North showed the missing aces plus one king, South elected to gamble out a grand slam on the assumption that the diamond suit could be established for the necessary discards.

West opened the ten of spades and North's king won the first trick. An examination of the combined holdings convinced South that it would be easier to establish the dummy rather than his own hand. Accordingly, he cashed the ace of diamonds and ruffed a diamond with the four of hearts.

The dummy was reentered with the ten of hearts and a third round of diamonds was trumped with the queen as East discarded a spade. A club was led to the queen—as West followed suit with the ten of clubs—and South established the diamond suit by ruffing with the king of hearts, his last trump.

It appeared to South that West was short in clubs and, as a precautionary measure, declarer cashed the ace of spades on which North discarded the three of clubs. The ace of clubs was led next and West realized that he could not gain by ruffing, for North would overruff, pick up the remaining trumps and then run the diamonds.

West discarded a spade on the high club and, when declarer continued with the king of clubs, West parted with another spade. On the next club, he was obliged to ruff with the three of hearts since he had nothing left but trumps. Dummy overruffed with the eight of hearts and the ace and jack of trumps took the last two tricks.

Here's Day In Capital

WASHINGTON (AP) — The men and women who write the country's laws aren't being fooled by the relentless, midsummer-like heat that is plaguing the capital. They know autumn is almost here and they are acting as if they'd like to get out of town.

Symptom No. 1 of adjournment fever: Within three legislative days both the House and the Senate passed a bill carrying $46.88 billion for the armed forces, by far the largest money measure of the year.

Symptom No. 2: Congress snapped a five-month deadlock over state or federal control and sent President Johnson the bill he wants to clean up the nation's waterways.

Sympton No. 3: The Senate was poised to bury its differences on immigration policies and pass a bill that would end the 41-year-old national quota system — and establish a quota for the Western Hemisphere.

Defense: The armed forces money bill went to the President carrying a one-year ban on merger of the Army Reserve with the National Guard. It carried an extra $1.7 billion to support the larger American role in the war in Viet Nam.

Johnson's signature is a foregone conclusion.

Pollution: The clean waters bill went to the President with Washington established as having the final word on setting quality standards on interstate waterways.

A federal Water Pollution Control Administration would be set up in the Health, Education and Welfare Department and a new assistant secretary would be appointed to run the bureau.

Again, Johnson is expected to sign.

FALL IN LINE

Immigration: The only amendment floor leaders for the immigration bill expect to be offered is one designed to bar the deportation of Dominican General Elias Wessin y Wessin, now in Miami.

Otherwise, senators are expected to fall in line and approve an end to the system which sought to perpetuate ethnic balance the United States had in 1920. This quota system tended to encourage immigration from northern and western Europe and limit that from southern and eastern Europe.

At the same time, the bill would place a ceiling — 120,000 a year — on immigration from Western Hemisphere nations, beginning July 1, 1968.

Also on Capitol Hill: The House Public Works Committee has approved a bill that could lead to a removal of billboards from all major highways outside commercial areas by 1970. This is similar to the bill cleared last week by the Senate.

The House Republican leadership has clouded the chances of a bill that would give Washington residents an elected mayor and council to govern their affairs. The object of GOP objections: direct Treasury payments to the local government instead of yearly congressional appropriations.

Stolen Car Found But Storage Due

BOSTON (AP) — Theresa Fancy's car, stolen July 8 from in front of her suburban Somerville home, has been found parked in the Boston Common underground garage. And Mrs. Fancy acquired a new headache.

The garage wants Mrs. Fancy to pay $182.50 storage fees on the car — $2.50 for each of the 73 days since the car was left there July 9. Mrs. Fancy, and her husband, Harry, had purchased the car only the day before. The garage bill is mounting at $2.50 a day.

Two New Members Join TESCO's 'Exclusive' Club

Texas Electric Service Company employes of the Big Spring District honored their "old-timers" Tuesday evening with a program that combined inspirational and informational talks, entertainment and fellowship.

Occasion was the annual gathering of the TESCO Quarter Century Club, a dinner-dance affair at the Cosden Country Club.

Two new members were welcomed into the veterans group, each receiving a gold watch from the company president, Beeman Fisher. They are Everett Whatley and Steve Baker, both in the company's transmission division here.

STARTED IN 1940

Whatley is transmission superintendent, Baker flyer of the company's air patrol of highlines. Both joined TESCO in the spring of 1940, both started as helpers on line crews and have come up through the ranks. Both had interruptions of company tenure for service in World War II.

Featured speaker for the program was Dr. Charles E. Irvin, Daytona Beach, Fla., lecturer, educator and management consultant.

Irwin mingled humor with inspiration as he laid down a challenge to his hearers to become all-out, active participants in affairs relating to the welfare of their company, community and nation.

"ATTACHMENT"

He stressed the theme of "attachment" to moral and civic obligations, using the illustration of a transportation ticket which reads, at the separation perforation, "not good if detached." The people who do not respond to their obligations, he said, are the detached ones. They "reside" in a city but do not "live" there, he said; they "get paid" by a company instead of "working" there; they criticize instead of helping build a temple of greatness.

Dr. Irvin called for responsibility rather than mere accountability; for a willingness to give a little more of one's self; for a deeper relationship with God; for more resourcefulness through willingness to work; for full emotional involvement in worthwhile programs ("moderately good is not good enough"); and for leaving a stronger moral heritage for the generations to come.

PEOPLE IMPORTANT

President Fisher spoke briefly to his employes, stressing the role that people play in the company's success, in the role of service. Although industrial, business and population growth have meant much in TESCO's growth, Fisher said, it is the people who must firm up and further that growth.

He stressed that there is opportunity ahead in the company for those who wish to learn and strive, and pointed out that all the higher executives of TESCO had started at the lowest levels of labor.

A large number of TESCO's top officials from Fort Worth were here to join the people of the Big Spring district, which includes Big Spring, Lamesa and O'Donnell.

New Quarter Century Clubbers

Two new members were ushered into Texas Electric Service Company's Quarter Century Club, at an annual gathering of TESCO employes here Tuesday evening. TESCO President Beeman Fisher here presents gold watches to Steve Baker (center) and Everett Whatley, (right). Both are in the Big Spring transmisssion department, both have been with the company since the spring of 1940.

The evening was brightened with a presentation of the light classics by vocalists Katy and Mel Dacus of Fort Worth, both professionals in music and show business.

TESCO's Quarter Centry Club now has 343 members (the company employs about 2,500), and 12 are from this district.

Condition Of Wounded Deputy Still Serious

COLORADO CITY (AP) — A deputy sheriff remained in serious condition today from wounds suffered in a gun battle that killed a fellow peace officer and a fugitive.

The battle erupted in a maize field near here as the deputies flushed Carlos Perez from cover Tuesday.

Deputy Jesse Minton of Snyder was killed along with Perez.

Deputy Forrest Smith, 47, of Colorado City was wounded critically. Attendants at Hendrick Memorial Hospital in Abilene said his condition had improved slightly.

Perez was being sought in the Monday night slaying of Mario Valdez near Colorado City.

Witnesses said the officers moved into the field and Smith fell with wounds in the head and chest. Minton was hit as he moved up to cover Smith.

As Minton fell, he fired his shotgun at Perez. A .22 caliber rifle was found near Perez.

Funeral for Jesse Minton 43, was held at 10 a.m. today in First Methodist Church with burial in San Benito Cemetery in San Benito, directed by Bolger Funeral Home of Snyder.

The deputy had lived in and around Snyder most of his life. He was a county highway patrolman in Hidalgo County and Cameron County in Lower Rio Grande Valley and former Snyder policeman before taking a job in the Scurry County sheriff's office in 1958.

In 1961 he resigned his position in Snyder and took a job with the Cameron County sheriff's office. He returned to Snyder in February.

Survivors include his widow, Janie Minton; two sons, Gary and Keith Minton; three brothers, Louie and Alvis Minton, both of Snyder and Lester Minton, Hamlin; four sisters, Mrs. Mary Haney, Menard, Mrs. Ruby Robertson and Mrs. L. L. Calfee, both of Harlingen, and Mrs. E. L. Moore, San Benito.

COLORADO CITY (SC) — Mario Valdez, 31, was buried in the Mitchell County Cemetery at 2 p.m. today. Services were held at the Baptist Mission in Colorado City. Kiker and Son Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

Valdez was born Jan. 19, 1934 in Williamson County. He had lived in Mitchell County since 1952, and worked as a farm hand.

Survivors are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Pete Valdez of Colorado City, and a brother, John Valdez of Grand Prairie.

Carlos Portines Perez, 29, was to be buried at 4 p.m. today in Mitchell County Cemetery under the direction of Kiker and Son Funeral Home.

He was born April 21, 1936 in Medina County and had been employed as a farm laborer in Mitchell County.

He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Trinidad Perez, Grand Prairie; seven brothers and three sisters.

ACTUAL PRACTICE

New Method Teaches Youngsters To Write

ROCKFORD, Ill. (AP) — So what is it with youngsters and the English language?

"They can't read it, they can't write it, they can't spell it, they can't use it," says English teacher Nellie Thomas.

Most of all, Mrs. Thomas says, they can't write it:

"The monosyllabic grunts so many high-schoolers communicate with are transcribed with heart-breaking fidelity to the scribbled page."

But, she added in an article in the journal "Illinois Education," "it wasn't the pupils' fault that they were lazy, inarticulate and illiterate. It was the fault of the methods we were using in the first four grades."

NEW METHOD

The thing to do, Mrs. Thomas decided, was to develop a new method of teaching children how to write. So she did—a method that has children writing original, legible, coherent sentences with properly spelled words, as early as the end of the first grade.

And that's writing she teaches, cursive writing, not printing.

Mrs. Thomas started putting her theories to work back in 1951 in the Westview Elementary School here. Basic to all was her conviction that traditional methods don't work because the children don't get enough writing practice.

What evolved was a sort of do-it-yourself learning technique with the pupils responsible for finding their own mistakes and correcting them.

HANDS IT BACK

Here's how it works:

When the pupils hand in their daily written assignments, Mrs. Thomas glances over them. If she finds mistakes, she doesn't mark them—she merely hands the paper back to the child.

Then she goes to the board and writes 8 or 10 sentences, full of the mistakes she has noted in the papers. And she asks the class to find the mistakes.

"I'll discuss the mistakes with them," she said. "I'll explain why you use one verb form instead of another, or the difference between to, too, and two. But I never make the corrections on the board—the sentences stay there just as they are.

"Then I ask the youngsters to write the sentences properly. They have to go through them all, find the mistakes and correct them. If I made the corrections, the children would just copy them, and they wouldn't learn a thing."

On the papers handed back, the pupils also are expected to find and correct their mistakes.

Mrs. Griffin's Funeral Today

Services were held at 2 p.m. today in Nalley - Pickle Funeral Home Rosewood Chapel for Mrs. Lannie Griffin, 45, 609 W. 16th. The Rev. Donald Hungerford, pastor of St. Mary's Episcopal Church, officiated. Burial was in Trinity Memorial Park.

Mrs. Griffin died at 7:45 p.m. Monday in a local hospital after an illness of several months. She was born Nov. 29, 1919 in Collins, Miss. She married the late Johnnie Griffin in 1946 in Fort Worth.

Survivors include two sons, William Griffin and Gregg Griffin, Big Spring; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Will Dickens, Collins, Miss.; three sisters, Mrs. Roy Aultman, Collins, Miss., Mrs. Billy Gandy, Tucson, Ariz., Mrs. Verrnelle Conerly, Denham Springs, La.; and one brother, W. M. Dickens, Palestine.

Pallbearers were Cuin Grigsby, Alvin Thigpen, Dan Greenwood, Bill Griese, C. W. Proffitt, Charles Girdner, James Vines, and Floyd Bredeweg.

Frankie Edwards Reported Missing

Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Edwards, Sterling City Rt., have asked Sheriff A. N. Standard to help them locate their 16-year-old daughter, Frankie. She disappeared at noon Sept. 16 from Forsan school.

A check of all possible places the girl may have gone has failed to produce any clues to her whereabouts, the sheriff said.

The Edwards' described their daughter as being five foot, nine inches tall, weighing about 160 pounds, and having light brown hair.

Any leads as to the present whereabouts of the girl should be telephoned to Sheriff Standard.

Anti-Poverty Bill Due Final Okay As Row Settled

WASHINGTON (AP)—A fight between the House and Senate over governors' veto powers in the antipoverty program was quickly settled today, clearing the way for final action on a bill authorizing $1.78 billion for the program.

Conferees from the two houses agreed to accept the House version of the veto, which gives the director of the Office of Economic Opportunity power to override a veto in certain cases.

The Senate had stripped all veto powers over community action and work-training programs from the legislation, and the House conferees originally went along. Last week, however, the House rejected the conference action and insisted its version be reinstated.

The veto power now written into the bill would permit the director to override a veto when he feels the plan involved meets the standards of the legislation. The intent is to prevent plans from being blocked for racial or political reasons.

Man Tends Father's Grave, Kills Himself

AUSTIN (AP) — Maximino Sandoval, 40, of San Marcos was found fatally shot Tuesday after he had tended his father's grave. The verdict was suicide.

Fifth Member Of Family Dies Of Wreck Injuries

Enrique Coronado Sr., 26, San Antonio, died at 11 a.m. today in Cowper Hospital and Clinic. He became the fifth member of his family to perish of injuries received in a car wreck which killed his wife, two of his daughters and his young son early Monday morning. Two other of his children are in the Cowper Hospital and Clinic with major injuries.

Coronado never regained consciousness after the accident. He had suffered a severe concussion and heavy brain damage, physicians said.

Actually, doctors said, his death could be classified as the sixth to occur in the accident—Mrs. Maria Estella Rodriguez Coronado, 24, his wife, would have become a mother within a few months. She, with her 7-year-old daughter, Alicia, her 5-year-old daughter, Maria DeRosaria, and Enrique Jr., aged 1, were killed instantly in the crash.

Their bodies were flown to San Antonio today for burial. A plane chartered by Ortiz Funeral Home arrived today to take the bodies in charge. They have been at Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home since the accident.

Meantime, Maria Ester Coronado, 7, and Olivia Coronado, 5, are in the room adjoining the one in the hospital where their father died. They do not know of the tragedy which has struck their family. Maria is suffering from internal injuries but is believed to be improving. Her little sister has a broken thigh and a broken arm, as well as a deep cut on the face. She was in considerable pain today.

The accident was the second highest in total fatalities in the history of the county. In 1956, six persons died in a two car collision. This incident was about six miles farther south on US 87 than the place where the Coronados perished.

The wreck which killed the San Antonio family was a one car mishap. The 1958 sedan, in which the seven members of the family were traveling north, left the slab, crossed the road and plunged into the ravine spanned by a concrete culvert.

The wreckage was found at daylight by a passerby. When the crash actually occurred is uncertain. Officers said that the engine was completely cold when the rescue workers reached the scene.

The death of Coronado brings the county highway toll to 11, and the total traffic deaths in the county to 16. It was explained that one of the traffic fatalities listed earlier as being a rural road mishap was actually a city death. This was the fatal accident which took the life of George Whittaker Sept. 5. He was killed on the Moss Creek Road—a strip of highway which is officially listed as city-owned property.

Street Litter Riles Woman

GREENWOOD, S.C. (AP) — Mrs. G. L. Marshall Jr., a housewife, told City Council members she wanted to show them something.

Then, on the floor of the council chamber Tuesday, she emptied a sackful of litter — paper, trash, bottles, beer cans, broken glass.

This, she said, was litter, stewn on the streets of Greenwood. She demanded stiffer fines for litter bugs and said the money could be used to purchase litter baskets.

Council agreed to think it over. Mrs. Marshall left the chamber, leaving the litter on the floor.

Klan Given TV Attention

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV - Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The Ku Klux Klan is receiving special attention from television now, probably because of a pending congressional investigation of the secret organization.

NBC's Huntley-Brinkley news program Tuesday night wound up a three-part, once-over lightly look at the operations of the cross-burning society.

A few hours later "CBS Reports" devoted an hour to an illustrated lecture on the past, present and probable future of the 100-year-old organization that started as a six-member social club and was so strong in the 1920s that it has been credited with a part in the defeat of presidential nominee Alfred E. Smith.

Although narrator Charles Kuralt said it is believed that there are no more than 30,000 to 50,000 active Klansmen today, the general tone of the program suggested that its influence — asserted by terror, harassment and assault — is widespread, particularly in smaller Southern communities.

Highlight of the hour were films of a Klan gathering. The costumes, masks and childish-sounding titles made the whole thing seem like a silly game except for rabble-rousing speakers exhorting their audiences to fight for white, gentile, Protestant supremacy. Later, a Negro told how he had been tortured by a group he described as Klan members.

But even with the films, the hour crept along at snail's pace and revealed nothing with which the average newspaper reader was not already familiar.

CBS' "Rawhide," back for a seventh season, keeps those dogies moving across those plains. This year, for a change, Clint Eastwood has been promoted to trail boss — and solo star — and a couple of new drovers have been added to the cast.

C. O. Parks Dies Tuesday

LAMESA (SC) — Claude O. Parks, 65, co-owner of the Parks & Roberts Well Servicing Co. of Lamesa, died at 5:30 p.m. Tuesday. He was on his way to one of his units near Ackerly when his car left the highway and rolled into a field. W. J. Seldon, a road contractor who was behind Mr. Parks, saw the mishap and called for help.

Justice of the Peace Luther Sandefer of Lamesa, called to the scene, ruled death due to a heart attack.

Mr. Parks was born March 22, 1900 in Flower Grove, Ga. He moved to Lamesa nine years ago from Levelland, where he had been in the well servicing business.

Services will be held at 3 p.m. Thursday at the First Baptist Church, with the Rev. Milo B. Arbuckle, pastor, officiating. Burial will be in Longview under the direction of Branon-Philips Funeral Home.

Survivors are the widow, Mrs. Lottie Kay Parks, Lamesa; two brothers, Luther Parks, Wheeler, and Walter Parks, Amarillo; a sister, Mrs. Hobdy Hodges, and his mother, Mrs. Arvilla Lener, both of Springerville, Calif.; a granddaughter, Mrs. Lenda Taft; and two great-grandchildren.

Robbery Goes Off Without Hitch–Almost

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — The robbery went off without a hitch — well, almost.

Two gun-waving bandits stepped coolly into a downtown jewelry store Tuesday afternoon and held the co-owner, Harry Kagan, at gunpoint while they scooped up cash and gems valued at more than $5,000.

Then they ran outside to their waiting getaway car, an old convertible. It wouldn't start.

As the bandits desperately tried to start the motor, things began to happen. Kagan called police. In a camera store two doors away, Donald L. Adams, a shipping clerk and amateur photographer, saw the men with guns get into the car and rushed out, camera in hand.

SNAPS PICTURES

"The back window of the convertible was out, so I stuck the camera inside and snapped some pictures," he said.

One of the bandits turned and aimed his gun at Adams.

"It went click," Adams said, "but I got out of the way."

The bandits did, too.

They leaped from their car and headed toward a sports car being parked nearby. The driver saw them coming and fled with the keys.

The bandits then commandeered another car. The driver, Ruth Schrumpf, tried to get out with her poodle, Lucky. Her husband, Al Schrumpf, appeared on the scene and rescued both wife and dog.

The bandits roared off in the Schrumpf car — for about 100 feet. Then it stalled.

They leaped out and separated. One of them tried to commandeer another auto, but the driver — another woman — roared off, leaving him standing at the curb, gun in hand.

He was still standing there when policeman Robert Frederickson came up on his motorcycle. The bandit pointed the gun at Frederickson, and ordered him off the cycle.

The officer got off all right, but grabbed the gunman and wrestled him to the ground.

He was identified later as Walter E. Bigelow, 31, who was recently paroled from San Quentin where he had been serving a sentence for robbery.

At police headquarters, Bigelow was asked about the trouble with the getaway cars.

His answer: "I've been in The Joint so long, I forgot how to drive."

The second bandit? Oh yes . . . he got away with the loot.

Midwesterners Flee Floods

By The Associated Press

Rivers rolled over their banks in Iowa, Missouri, Kansas and Oklahoma today, driving thousands of persons from their homes and damaging crops and property.

Snow and cold stung the West and a new storm headed into the area which was snowed under last week.

Floodwaters poured through Smithville in northwestern Missouri and for the second time in two months the 300 residents fled their homes. Classes were canceled in Smithville and the school buildings turned over to workers.

The Little Platte River was expected to crest 10 feet over its banks today.

OUT OF BANKS

Rivers were unable to handle the runoff from torrential rains in Missouri and Kansas. The Grand River was out of its banks along its entire length in Mosby and Tracy, Mo.

Families were evacuated in northwestern Missouri.

The Republican River was slightly above flood stage in Clay Center, Kan., and the Grand River rose more than 13 feet in Chillicothe, Mo.

Flooding also struck southwestern Iowa and southeastern Nebraska.

Twenty families were evacuated when the Stranger Creek overflowed in Leavenworth County, Kan. The Blue River was out of its banks in the Kansas City area and in East Independence, Mo.

The swollen waters from the Little Grand River and other tributaries caused the Missouri River to overflow in St. Joseph, Mo., and Leavenworth, Kan.

SWELLS DAMAGE

Torrential rainstorms Tuesday swelled the damage.

High winds and tornadoes accompanied rainstorms in Iowa City and Sigourney, Iowa, damaging homes and farm buildings. A 3 ½-inch downpour sent water rushing into 50 homes in Wyoming, Iowa.

Police and National Guardsmen helped remove 35 persons stranded in their homes in the Ottumwa, Iowa, area.

Another cold surge stung Wyoming, though officials didn't expect it to match last week's storm which brought two feet of snow. With the exception of Wyoming 130 over the snowy range west of Laramie, all major highways were open.

Heavy snow fell in north central Montana Tuesday night after a day of rain. US 212 remains closed by snow.

Girl Attack Trial Pushed

DUNCAN, Okla. (AP)—Seventeen-year-old Bert Lana sat impassively Tuesday as Tama Hallmark, 19, pointed him out as the attacker who left her near death after a wanton stabbing.

The trial moved into its third day.

She remained on the witness stand for more than five hours of questioning by prosecutors and defense counsel. Dist. Judge Arthur Marmaduke then held a night session in order to hear more of the state's 38 witnesses.

DEFENSE EFFORT

Comparing testimony she gave Tuesday and her statements at a preliminary hearing last December, defense lawyers sought to raise doubt over her story about the Jan. 6, 1964, attack.

Defense lawyer Jerome Sullivan asked Miss Hallmark who had told her to change her story, including details which were not brought out in the preliminary hearing.

She replied that her father helped her review testimony at the preliminary hearing but did not tell her to change the story.

"WAS MISTAKEN"

"It's my memory," she said, adding she had been mistaken about some details at the earlier hearing.

She said her assailant entered her car after school the day of the attack and made her drive to a county road with a knife at her stomach. Miss Hallmark said the attacker "forced me on the floor of the back seat" and stabbed her when she tried to break free.

Republicans Campaigning On Shoestring

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican challengers for two of the year's top political prizes are campaigning on shoestring budgets that could become even tighter as election time nears, party officials said today.

At stake: the governorships of New Jersey and Virginia, both held by Democrats. Those two races will be the first statewide political contests since President Johnson's 1964 landslide victory over Barry Goldwater.

The Republican nominees, state Sen. Wayne Dumont Jr. in New Jersey and Roanoke attorney A. Linwood Holton of Virginia, both are cast as underdogs.

JERSEY, VIRGINIA

Democratic Gov. Richard J. Hughes seeks re-election in New Jersey; Lt. Gov. Mills E. Godwin Jr. is out to succeed Gov. Albertis S. Harrison Jr. of Virginia.

Republican chairmen in the two states said they doubt campaign funds will approach their targets of $500,000 in New Jersey and $250,000 in Virginia.

Some campaign projects already have been curtailed because of the financial situation. The party leaders said it could get worse late in the race, when expensive radio and television time becomes a major campaign need.

Republican National Chairman Ray C. Bliss said the national party is not sending financial aid to any state nominees.

"The national committee is not a cash dispensing organization," said Fred Morrison, the party's public relations director.

"NO EXTRA CASH"

Bliss and Morrison said the party has no extra cash to dispense anyhow.

At the Democratic National Committee, a spokesman said no campaign cash has been sent to either gubernatorial contender. He said funds for state races traditionally are raised by state parties, with national help coming in expert political personnel and advice.

Democrats in the two gubernatorial election states have not asked for national committee aid, the spokesman said.

New Jersey GOP Chairman Webster B. Todd said in an interview he had hoped for some financial assistance from the national party. "But they've got their problems, too," he said.

Both Republican candidates already have had campaign assists from former President Dwight D. Eisenhower. He was in Richmond, Va., a week ago, and in Newark, N.J., Monday, for fund raising appearances.

REQUIRE $500,000

Todd said it would take at least $500,000 to run "a real bang up campaign" in New Jersey. "I'd hate to guess at this point, but if we get half that amount we're doing well," he said. "And the Democrats are talking about a million dollars."

The New Jersey chairman said his party already is $80,000 in debt, and will not go deeper to run the gubernatorial campaign.

Todd said Dumont's chances are improving, and if that continues, fund raising should be easier.

Todd and Virginia GOP Chairman Robert J. Corber said they believe the Democratic candidates will stage massive radio, television and newspaper advertising campaigns in the days just before election.

At that point, Corber said, the Republican money situation could become critical.

Corber said he believes Virginia Democrats will spend about $450,000 on the campaign, and the Republicans would like to raise $250,000.

Dad Balks At School Order That Son Must Get Haircut

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — A father says a school edict that his son cut his flowing locks is an abuse of authority.

"There's more involved here than just Stephen's hair," said Dr. Louis H. Mackey, a professor at Rice University.

"The question is, does a boy have to forefeit his civil liberties in order to get an education at Lamar High School?"

Stephen, 14, was expelled from school because of his "Prince Charles" hair style. He was told he could not come back until he had his hair cut. His hair has not been cut except for a trim in the back, his father said.

TRY AGAIN

Dr. Mackey said he was returning his son to school today at the suggestion of School Supt. John W. McFarland.

"He might be admitted," McFarland said. "But then, the principal might turn him down again."

The principal, Harold K. Costlow, said he would reject Stephen again if his hair is the same as when he was barred last Friday.

Costlow said it was an unwritten policy of all Houston schools to send home boys who don't have "normal haircuts." He said he could give no clear-cut definition of a normal haircut other than what looks right. "We don't set any pattern," he said.

"DO SET IT"

But that's just what they do set, said Dr. Mackey, 39, a teacher of philosophy who wears his hair medium.

Dr. Mackey said the edict violates "the liberty to have our own taste, to use our private judgment."

Stephen's long hair "offends the taste" of the school authorities, Dr. Mackey said.

"I think they're scared. I don't know what they are scared of. They seem to associate long hair with all sorts of horrible crimes. With beatniks. They see long hair and they think of rebellion."

Dr. Mackey said he will not compromise on the haircut. If Stephen is not accepted by the principal he will go to the school board. If the school board turns him down he will go to court.

And if he loses in court, "I'll find another school. A private school or something like that."

Hurricane Aid Said Greatest

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A Red Cross official says Hurricane Betsy's destruction brought out "the single greatest outpouring of volunteer help" in the history of United States disaster relief.

Robert Shea, national vice chairman in charge of disaster relief, said 510 Red Cross staff workers summoned to the area were supported by more than 10,000 volunteers at the peak of relief efforts.

In addition, said Shea, contributions total $1½ million in relief goods and more than $410,000 cash.

Betsy hit 13 days ago. The area death toll: at least 78. Damages are still being assessed. Gov. John J. McKeithen said he expects the total to pass $1 billion.

Sherman Plant Plans Expansion

SHERMAN, Tex. (AP) — A $3 million expansion of the Burlington Industries plant here will begin immediately, the company announced Tuesday.

Plant manager Willis Hastings said the addition of 70,000 square feet of manufacturing space and installation of new looms and spindles will double the plant's sheeting output.

C. W. Stafford, Inc., of Sherman will do the major construction work.

Injury Incidence Of Dockers Dips

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz says deaths and injuries to longshoremen aboard ships reached a new low in the first six months of 1965.

He said the injury frequency rate was 90.2 per million manhours worked — 11 per cent below the comparable 1964 period. He also said injuries declined 13 per cent in the nation's shipyards during the January-June period, despite a 23 per cent increase in man-hours of employment.

Cong's Jungle Hospital Found

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. B52 jet bombers staged their 30th strike of the Vietnamese war today, hammering suspected Viet Cong targets in Binh Duong Province, a U.S. military spokesman said.

No assessment was made of the effectiveness of the raid 25 miles north of Saigon by the Guam-based Strategic Air Command bombers.

Elements of the U.S Army 173rd Airborne Brigade uncovered a big Viet Cong hospital hidden in dense jungle northwest of Saigon, a U.S. spokesman said.

The paratroopers discovered the medical facility Tuesday while combing a Communist-infested area near the district capital of Ben Cat, 40 miles from Saigon, the spokesman said.

GUERRILLAS KILLED

Nine guerrillas were reported killed and 44 suspects seized in the sweep. The U.S. soldiers suffered light casualties.

The spokesman said the abandoned field hospital of 25 buildings was capable of handling 2,000 patients.

The paratroopers destroyed the complex and seized large quantities of medical supplies. An intricate system of underground tunnels also was destroyed.

The spokesman said the troops also uncovered a Viet Cong ammunition factory with 186 pounds of explosives.

South Viet Nam charged Hanoi with 76 violations of the demilitarized zone in August, Saigon's Viet Nam Press reported.

PROTEST NOTE

A protest note to the International Control Commission urged it to take "appropriate measures" to halt the alleged violations by North Viet Nam, Saigon's press said in a broadcast heard in Tokyo. The commission is composed of India, Poland and Canada.

The commission supervises the 1954 Geneva agreements that ended the French Indochina war and established the demilitarized zone between North and South Viet Nam.
