Mainland Fighting To Follow Air Offensive Radio Algiers Says

Allied Peace Offer Remains Unanswered; Hundreds Of Thousands Of Italians Are Reported Fleeing Industrial Centers

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Aug. 2.—Italians were warned in radio broadcasts from Algiers tonight that Allied land forces would soon invade the mainland to follow up resumption of the aerial offensive, caught by the temporizing of Italy's military government on demands for surrender.

"We warn you again: our air force will strike at you from the air and soon our land forces will be fighting on the Italian mainland," the radio said.

The Allied offer of peace has remained unanswered by Marshal Pietro Badoglio's ministry, the message to the Italians declared, and it added: "our attitude is clear. Regimes based on violence and on slavery must be eradicated and destroyed."

By the hundreds of thousands, Italian civilians were reported fleeing metropolitan areas of Italy even before U. S. Flying Fortresses headed for Naples yesterday to pick up where they had left off in attacks upon its many military objectives.

Dispatches from Madrid said Rome advices indicated a flurry of activity at the Vatican which apparently was connected with some sort of peace discussions, but there was no evidence that Badoglio had made any move to deliver a direct request for an armistice.

Hour after hour yesterday, Allied radio stations dinned into Italian ears the ominous warning of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower that aerial death and destruction would be the penalty of Badoglio's government continued to harbor German soldiers on Italian soil.

3,000,000 Flee Cities

An immediate psychological effect on the populace was reported in Swiss-Italian dispatches through Bern, which said that some 3,000,000 Italians already had fled the cities.

The Algiers radio reported that in one Italian town marching women shouted "peace" and "set free our prisoners," but press reports and broadcasts from Rome continued to criticize the Allies for failing to offer Italy "a place of honor" among nations after Fascism was ended.

"We want to negotiate but we don't want to capitulate," was the tenor of Italian press and radio reaction.

The nature of the discussions in the Vatican was not disclosed in

Rumanian Oil Field Blasted

Attack Is Record Low Level Raid

(By The Associated Press)

CAIRO, Aug. 2—An armada of 175 Liberator bombers of the U. S. ninth air force flew a 2,400-mile round trip yesterday to dump 300 tons of explosives in a low level attack on the Ploesti oil fields in Rumania, one of the chief sources of the Axis fuel supply.

Announcement of the raid, described as the "biggest low level mass raid in history," was made last night by Major General Lewis H. Brereton, commander of the Ninth Air force.

A communique issued by the Middle East air command today said that "20 of the Liberators are reported to have been shot down over the target area and a number have not yet returned to base."

51 Axis Planes Destroyed

At least 51 enemy planes, including Messerschmitt 109's and 110's and Focke-Wulf 190's were claimed destroyed, the bulletin added. It described enemy opposition over the target area and on the return journey as heavy.

The Ploesti area, 35 miles north of Bucharest, Rumanian capital, supplies about one third of the Axis oil requirements and according to General Brerton has a daily production capacity of about 18,000 tons.

The big bombers, using special sights, swept in at smokestack height to drop their cargoes on seven huge refineries and other installations. The oil field was reported left a mass of fire.

Participants Praised

Brigadier General Victor H. Strahm, chief of staff to General Brereton, praised the 2,000 specially trained airmen who took part in the attack and predicted that the raid would "materially affect the course of the war."

"We bombed the refineries, storage tanks, distilleries and cracking plants," General Strahm said. "Between 150 and 200 big Liberators went over their targets and dropped high explosive bombs and wrecked installations with machinegun fire."

Yesterday's raid was the sec-

Cpl. Michael Bynum Dies In Post Hospital

Cpl. Michael Bynum, 31, died in the post hospital at Lubbock Army Air field this morning at 2:25 o'clock of a bloodstream infection. The infection set in after a tonsilectomy two weeks ago.

Cpl. Bynum, who enlisted at AAF last October, had been a resident of Lubbock since 1929. A graduate of Lubbock High school and a former student at Texas Tech, Bynum was employed by Sansom Paint and Paper company prior to his enlistment in the Army. He was in the medical detachment at LAAF and resided at 2419 Twenty-fifth street.

Funeral services are scheduled this afternoon at 5 o'clock at First Presbyterian church with Rev. Wm. H. Foster, assistant pastor, officiating. Burial will follow in Lubbock cemetery with Rix Funeral home in charge of arrangements.

Besides his wife, the former Marguerite Bates, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Bynum, sr., 1905 Dixie drive, Cpl. Bynum is survived by two brothers, Muton O. Bynum of El Paso and J. D. Bynum, jr., 1611 Twenty-first street; and four sisters, Louise, Iva L. and Jeanette, all of 1905 Dixie drive; and Mrs. Jack Durfee of Slaton.

Cpl. Paul C. Dean of Lubbock and Cpl. Paul Hamrick of Amarillo and other members of the medical detachment at LAAF will represent the post at funeral services. Pallbearers will be: Jesse Chinn, Eugene Knox, C. B. Hardin, Pfc. Russell Tarrance, Johnny Wells and Staff Sgt. Albert Bates of Camp White, Ore.

Airmen Hack At Jap Barriers

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS in the Southwest Pacific, Aug. 2 (AP)—Navy bombers hacked away Sunday away Sunday at Japanese barriers commanding the approaches to Munda.

Escorted by Army and Navy fighters, the bombers dropped 27 tons of explosives on gun positions and supply dump areas around the strongly-fortified central Solomons air base. Many of the bombs fell squarely on their targets.

For the second consecutive day the communique from General Douglas MacArthur's headquarters said nothing about how American troops were doing around Munda. Aside from bombing attack there, it told only of scattered air activity.

Five Barges Destroyed

Five barges were destroyed off Cape Gloucester, New Britain, and a reconnaissance plane bombed Lae, New Guinea, with unreported results. Fires were started in enemy oil installations at Boela, Ceram island, northwest of New Guinea.

Harder blows were struck at the Japanese Saturday just before heavy weather closed in, as Army and Navy planes dropped 110 tons of bombs on and around the Munda and Vila airdromes in the central Solomons.

Warplanes and light surface units destroyed at least 14 of the enemy's blockade-running barges, started a large fire among a concentration of 12 of these craft, and damaged a number of others.

Heavy bombers made the long haul to Soemba island in the Netherlands East Indies Saturday, starting large fires and causing "considerable damage" at Waingapoe.

Disorders In Harlem Quieted After Six Killed, 201 Hurt

District Placed Under Curfew

Forty Officers Among Injured

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—Mayor F. H. LaGuardia imposed a 10:30 p. m. curfew upon the Harlem district today after declaring the disorders in which six persons died and 201 including 40 policemen, were injured, had been under control.

At the same time the mayor announced that a committee of 1,500 persons, mostly negroes, armed with nightsticks and wearing identification bands, would aid authorities in patrolling Harlem's streets tonight in an effort to prevent recurrence of the disorders.

Meanwhile, Major General Thomas A. Terry, commanding the second service command, said he would not declare Harlem out of military bounds. General Terry, who conferred with the mayor, said, however, that all soldiers in the district would be asked to state legitimate reasons for being there.

More than 380 persons were arrested as looting of stores continued.

In his third radio appeal since trouble started last night when a policeman shot a negro who was attempting to interfere with the officer's arrest of a negro women in a hotel lobby, the mayor emphasized what he had said earlier:

"This was not a race riot. There was no conflict between groups of our citizens. What happened was the thoughtless, criminal acts of hoodlums, reckless, irresponsible people. Shame has come to our city and sorrow to a great number of decent, law-abiding citizens residing in the Harlem district.

"These thoughtless hoodlums had no one to fight with. They gave vent to their feelings by breaking windows and looting stores."

6,000 Police On Duty

Six thousand policemen were on duty in Harlem and all police leaves were canceled. Firemen patrolled streets where stores had been looted and special subway police guarded stairways and subway stations on the interborough and independent lines.

All traffic was stopped in the Harlem area and business there was at a standstill. Liquor stores

Detroit Police Seek 4 Negroes

DETROIT, Aug. 2 (AP)—Four negro youths were sought by police today in connection with an assault on a white bus driver.

Detective Sgt. Delbert Raymond said one of the four, whom he described as "zoot suiters," hurled a piece of concrete at the driver as the group left city bus last night.

The officer said the four apparently had resented orders from the driver to move to the rear of the bus to relieve congestion at the front.

The driver, William T. Craft, 28, was taken to Haper hospital where it was said he had suffered a possible spinal fracture. He collapsed at the wheel after attempting to continue his run.

TENSION FOLLOWS ATTEMPT TO ARREST NEGRO WOMAN

SAVANNAH, Ga., Aug. 2 (AP) — Heavily armed military and civil police were called on to disperse a crowd that gathered Sunday when city policemen attempted to arrest a negro woman on west Broad street near the union station.

Policeman L. C. Nasworthy said the crowd assembled after a negro soldier he identified as Sergeant Ed Levant attempted to interfere with the arrest.

Arresting officers, he said, were forced by the crowd to retreat into the hallway of a nearby building until other officers arrived.

Nasworthy declared that Levant, who received head injuries in the melee, and one other negro soldier were arrested and turned over to military authorities.

LAND DEAL ANNOUNCED

EDINBURG, Aug. 2 (AP) — A $488,250 land sale in which more than 21,00 acres in three sections of Hidalgo county were purchased by A. W. Beaurline, Chicago bus firm operator, from the Southland Life Insurance Co. of Dallas was on record today with the county clerk here.

CONQUEST OF SICILY SPEEDED—Axis forces in Sicily today were pressed tighter into the island's northeast corner, and great steps were taken toward a victorious end to the Allied invasion when U. S. forces captured San Stefano, northern anchor of the Axis line, and the British Eighth army opened a big push against Catania. The center flag on the map shows approximate position of Canadian forces.

Nazis Speed Removal Of Berlin Civilians

Speaker Daniel Said In Army

AUSTIN, Aug. 2 (AP) — If the Texas legislature is called into special session by Gov. Coke R. Stevenson, the House of representatives will probably have a new speaker.

It was learned on good authority here today that Speaker Price Daniel of Liberty has enlisted in the Army, and is now Private M. P. Daniel, temporarily assigned to a reception center.

Confers With Members

Meanwhile, the governor was conferring with members of the board of education in executive session before making up his mind to call the session in an effort to re-arrange the rural school aid appropriation to help wipe out the deficit in the general fund and put the state on a cash basis as provided for in a constitutional amendment adopted at the last general election.

A decision was expected today. Friends of Speaker Daniel said that he joined the Army about two weeks ago. No one knew whether he would be on hand for a special session, if one is called.

Daniel, 32, is married and has two children.

Status Is In Doubt

House rules provide that a speaker may select some member of the House to serve in his place in the event of his absence. Whether Daniel would do this, or whether the Army could be prevailed upon to relax its regulation providing that no furloughs or leaves be granted soldiers to par-

'Near Panic' Is Reported In City

STOCKHOLM, Aug. 2 (AP) — Spurred by the stupendous air attacks on Hamburg, which have left that once great port a heap of smoking rubble, German authorities were reported speeding the evacuation of all non-essential civilians from Berlin today in fear that the city may be next on the Allied blitz list.

Advices from the German capital said leaflets were being circulated instructing women, children and elderly people to find homes with relatives outside Berlin or go to special evacuation areas prepared in eastern Germany.

The instructions were issued during a day of frantic preparations as Berlin papers warned the population it must be prepared to meet bomb attacks on a scale never before seen in the capital.

A Berlin dispatch to Stockholm's Aftonbladt reported that "near panic" prevailed in the city and said that Berliners were out early yesterday in parks, squares and yards digging trenches and preparing family air raidshelters.

The Berlin press, frankly acknowledging that "our city can be bombed tonight or tomorrow, urged the public to have courage, but trainloads of wounded and homeless passing through Berlin from Hamburg and devastated areas in the Ruhr told the people what to expect.

Magazine Debunks Dangers-Of-Jungle Myth; Fierce-Looking Lizards Said Good Eating

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2. (AP)—Got the jungle jitters about your sweetheart, son or husband down in the lush, low islands of the south Pacific?—Relax, friend.

That's the reassuring word from Air Force, the official magazine of the U. S. Army Air Forces, which devotes two full pages of its current issue to "exploding the jungle myth."

If Johnny Doughboy finds any woes in New Ireland, the magazine intimates, it will not be on account of crocodiles, poisonous lizards or exotic diseases such as the New Guinea fall-a-parts.

This business about a hell of tangled vines teeming with insects, giant spiders, boa constrictors and screaming jackals, has a certain amount of hooey.

Is Pleasant And Safe

"Plenty of people, aside from the natives, have lived unromantically and without incident for years in jungle regions," says the magazine. "Those who visit the jungle return with an almost unanimous conviction that its a much more pleasant and safe place in which to live than most of our big cities. Seasoned jungle travelers tell us that they have found Washington, D. C., in the summer much more oppressive than any jungle they've ever visited."

(Editors note: You ought to be here this morning).

(Weather censor's note: What you said!)

Snakes, the article concedes, are the number one jungle danger but "normally one expects to see only one snake a month and the chances are that this one will not be poisonous."

Lizards Good Eating

If you want to get bitten by a poisonous lizard, you're out of luck unless you stick close to Arizona, home of the gila monster. The Air Force debunker says the fierce-looking junkle lizards are

Ten Are Killed In Army Glider Crash Sunday

Mayor And Other St. Louis Leaders Victims Of Crash

(By The Associated Press)

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 2.—Before a large crowd of horror-stricken Sunday spectators, a troop-carrying Army glider, its right wing gone, plummeted nose down for 1,500 feet and crashed near a runway at Lambert-St. Louis field, carrying to their deaths 10 persons, including Maj. William B. Robertson, pioneer airplane manufacturer whose company built the glider.

Mayor William Dee Becker, three other city officials, and Thomas N. Dysart, president of the chamber of commerce, were killed in the crash which occurred during the army's first public glider demonstration here.

First Fatal Accident

Lt. Col. J. R. Johnston, Army Air Forces public relations officer, described the crash as the nation's first fatal glider accident since the Army began use of the motorless planes two years ago.

Besides Robertson, Becker and Dysart, the dead were:

Max H. Doyne, director of St. Louis public utilities.

Charles L. Cunningham, deputy city comptroller.

Henry L. Mueller, presiding judge of the St. Louis county court.

Harold A. Kreuger, 36-year-old vice president and general manager of the Robertson Aircraft corporation, headed by Robertson.

Lt. Col. Paul H. Hazelton of the Army Air Forces materiel command, St. Louis.

Capt. Milton C. Klugh of the first troop carrier command, Stout field, Indianapolis, pilot of the glider.

Pfc. J. M. Davis, attached to the first troop carrier command.

The tow plane, a converted Douglas transport, was crossing the airport with the glider behind for the second time after completing a flight over the city.

Eyewitness Account

Joseph C. Payne, business agent for a St. Louis labor union, said there was "a splintering noise and the wing seemed to fall away. The tow cable snapped and the fuselage dropped like a rock."

Another eyewitness, Edward Austin, said the noise of the crash was "like someone punching a huge air-filled bag."

President Of Chinese Republic Dies Sunday

CHUNGKING, Aug. 2 (AP) — Lin Sen, 81-year-old American-educated president of the Chinese republic, died last night after a long illness. Generalissimo Chiang Kai Shek was immediately designated by the Koumintang central committee, the nation's highest executive body, as acting president.

Lin Sen was taken ill May 12. He became president of China in 1932 when he succeeded Chiang Kai Shek who resigned at that time to devote all his time to preparing the army for the war with Japan.

The president's body will lie in state until 5 p. m., when it will be placed ceremonially in a casket. At that hour a three-minute silence will be observed throughout China, all traffic will halt and a 101-gun salute will be fired in the capital.

Nationwide mourning was decreed and all places of amusement will be closed for three days. Memorial rites will be held throughout the country on Aug. 7.

North Flank Of Axis Crumpled By U.S. Forces

Eighth Army Opens Big Push On Catania; Yanks Seize San Stefano, North Anchor Of Axis Lines; Planes, Ships Hit Italy

(By The Associated Press)

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Aug. 2.—Allied forces "have started an offensive" in Sicily, with U. S. troops seizing San Stefano to crumble the north flank of the Axis and the British Eighth army reported making a big push against Catania.

An official statement declared the offensive had begun, and British, American and Canadian armies obviously were making an all-out drive to fold up the Messina bridgehead.

Flying Fortresses shattered Naples in a heavy assault following up the Saturday ultimatum to Italy to quit or be bombed, and Allied warships have hammered Italy's aching foot as great knockout blows were aimed by Allied land, sea and air might.

San Stefano is the northern anchor of the Axis Etna line, and its loss threatened to roll the Axis armies rapidly back in the dwindling Messina bridgehead.

San Stefano is about 60 miles west of Messina.

British Gains Important

Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's Eighth army has gained important new positions near Catania—the other anchor of the Axis defenses on the east coast—in a series of furious assaults, the French and German radios admitted.

The Allied communique failed to mention this Eighth army drive. (A message by Montgomery indicated his troops were in action).

Powerful formations of Flying Fortresses rained 500-pound bombs upon dock areas of Naples and the nearby Capodichino airfield Sunday to put into action the warning given by Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower that Italy again would be rocked from the air because Premier Pietro Badoglio's government had temporized, and permitted the Germans time to strengthen their defenses.

Allied warships steamed into the heightening and perhaps decisive action, shattering railway communications in the foot of Italy and setting the port of Crotone afire, and American warships shelled enemy land positions in Sicily ahead of the advancing U. S. Seventh army troops.

Turning Point Said Reached

Three Events Mark Advance Of Allies

BY HARRISON SALISBURY
United Press Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Aug. 2 — The general opinion in London today is that three events of the past seven days marked the turning point of the war.

There is substantial variance of opinion both in British and American quarters as to how long it will be before Germany is defeated.

The three events are the Italian crack-up, the record-breaking Allied air offensive and detailed, corroborative reports from air combat crews revealing that the Luftwaffe strength in western Europe is beginning to wane.

Three Major Activities

The biggest question in the situation is how rapidly the Allies can cash in on their unique opportunity for putting Germany under maximum military pressure. Three major actions are in progress—Allied operations against Italy, Russian operations wearing down the Germans on the eastern front and the western European air offensive.

Many experts—sometimes accused of over-enthusiasm—regard the present Anglo-American air operations as equaling a major land battle in the strain imposed upon Nazi resources.

These experts believe the aerial attacks on Hamburg have been as destructive, if not more so, as a land assault would have been. They believe such assaults may well be compared with the siege such as the Germans imposed against Leningrad, denying the Nazis the use of Hamburg's war facilities while engaging huge land forces the size of which is indicated by estimates that Ruhr anti-aircraft personnel approximate 1,000,000 men.

Planes Are Lost

It also has been pointed out that the week's heavy air bombardment cost the American Air Force 87 bombers and the Royal Air Force, 98. Those are large figures. There certainly have been times in the past when such losses would nearly have wiped out the current effectives of both air forces. But their commanders have made clear they are not spending the forces faster than the replacement rate.

From this it should not be automatically decided that the Allied replacement rate approximates 200 a week because it must be remembered that for some weeks the weather washes out operations.

Pair Queried About Mexia Bank Robbery

TULSA, Okla., Aug. 2 (AP) — Chester Don Peeler and Ralph Bibee, captured near Kaw City Saturday after the $12,000 robbery of the Arkansas Valley State bank at Broken Arrow, were being questioned today by Texas officers in connection with a $20,240 robbery of the Predrast-Smith National bank of Mexia, Tex.

Chief of Police A. B. McKenzie, Mexia, and Sheriff Sam Adkins, Limestone county, Texas, came here after reading descriptions of the pair.

Sheriff Adkins said the Mexia robbery on January 28, 1942, was staged in a manner similar to the one at Broken Arrow.

Meantime Sheriff Garland Marrs of Tulsa county said Peeler and Bibee would be arraigned on a state charge of robbery with firearms if the federal government would release them for state prosecution. The sheriff said that kidnaping and auto theft charges also would be filed against them in that event.

Fiscal Plan Is Being Studied

AUSTIN, Aug. 2. (U.P.)—The state board of education excluded the public and newspaper correspondents from its meeting here today to hear Gov. Coke R. Stevenson's explanation of his plan to refinance rural schools.

The board had just concluded action on bond matters when the governor arrived. Board President Phil M. Stevenson of Houston at once announced an executive session.

"Everybody" Is Banned

In the past, the board has permitted newspaper correspondents to remain during discussions that were not open to the public. Board members inquired if the ban included newspapers. "Everybody" was the reply.

Prior to a call on the board of education, Governor Stevenson conferred with senators and school leaders in his office at the state capitol.

The plan calls for an increased state apportionment for all schools with proovision that the money assigned to rural schools to equalize their work with that of urban schools shall be paid out of the increased apportionment (and thus out of the available school fund), rather than out of the overdrafted state general revenue fund, so far as the increased apportionment will go.

It will necessitate also keeping the state ad valorem tax for

Draft Evader Given Chance To Join Army

HOUSTON, Aug. 2 (U.P.)—Instead of prison, 19-year-old Bernard Dolbear was in the Army today.

Federal Judge J. C. Hutcheson, jr., found the youth guilty of trying to dodge the draft.

But, in the judge's opinion, the "selective service law was made to fill the Army, not the prisons."

He offered the draft board opportunity to take the youth. The board did.

Young Dolbear's father, Walter S. Dolbear, 59, wealthy former exporter, was sentenced to a year in prison following conviction on a charge of aiding his son in his alleged attempt to evade the draft.

Suit Is Filed Against Cochran Gin, Owners

McNabb Gin Co. of Cochran county is defendant in a suit filed today in federal court here by the government, seeking to recover balance due on a $300 note given the Farm Credit administration by Jake Dunlap. The gin is owned by W. J. Weeks of Cochran county and Walter McNabb of Lubbock, who are made parties to the civil action, in their individual names.

The government alleges Dunlap mortgaged his crop to the government for his loan, that he still owes a balance of $248.57, and that the gin company took over Dunlap's cotton at the time it was ginned, leaving the farm loan unpaid.

We The Women

BY RUTH MILLETT

"Get busy and answer your letters" Uncle Sam has told the soldiers who are out of the country.

Uncle Sam isn't interested in teaching his nephews a fundamental rule of etiquette, that all letters should be answered promptly. He is just trying to stop the flood of letters that has been pouring in to him from anxious mothers, wives, and sweethearts who want to know what is the matter with Johnny, who hasn't been heard from in weeks.

What Johnny doesn't realize, obviously, is the vivid imaginations that the folks back home have.

Johnny knows he is all right, at least for the time being. And so he doesn't see much reason for writing home just to say so.

He doesn't worry about himself or his safety and he can't understand that those who love him worry almost constantly.

He doesn't know how a period without mail from him can get their imaginations working overtime.

"NO NEWS" BAD

They are sure he is ill. Or that he is being moved. Or that he is on a fighting front.

In wartime the old slogan "No news is good news" is forgotten.

If Uncle Sam can make Johnny understand that, he won't have to keep after him to make him write home more often.

For Johnny dosn't want those who love him to sit around and worry. He just doesn't realize that if he goes without writing them for a few weeks that is what they are bound to do. He doesn't know that in wartime no news is hard on the morale.

Veterinarian Office Taken Over By Hoyme

Dr. K. H. Hoyme assumed the duties of chief veterinarian of the city meat inspections department this morning, according to Dr. J. W. Rollo, city health officer.

Dr. and Mrs. Hoyme and their two children already make their home in Lubbock. He has been with the department of agriculture, stationed here. Dr. Hoyme is a graduate of Texas A. and M. college.

Dr. Kenneth Bolton of Albuquerque, N. M., who has been named assistant veterinarian has been granted permission to delay reporting for duty until the later part of the week, Dr. Rollo said. Dr. and Mrs. Bolton are at the bedside of a relative in Denver, Dr. Rollo was advised.

Grady Harrist and Joe Rieger, veteran Lubbock officers, have been on duty since July 1 as lay inspectors of the reorganized inspections department.

Livestock Regulation Asked Of Governor

DENISON, Aug. 2 (AP)—State Rep. Roger Q. Evans of Denison, chairman of a House committee investigating the slaughter of livestock for human consumption, today requested Gov. Coke Stevenson to ask for legislation governing livestock slaughtering if he calls a special legislative session to submit readjustment of the state's tax laws.

"Our present laws are inadequate to prevent the transfer, trading and sale of cancerous and diseased livestock to unscrupulous, improperly inspected packing houses and buyers to be slaughtered for human consumption," Evans said in a telegram to the governor.

Officers elected were president, Mrs. Douglas Adams; vice president, Pfc. Wagner Carr; secretary, Miss Marihelen Beasley; treasurer, Earl Weaver; chairman of study and worship, Mrs. H. H. Anderson; chairman of social and recreational life, Lynn Rowan; chairman of evangelism and church loyalty, Miss Elizabeth Hopper; chairman of society and worship, Mrs. Ralph Wyatt.

Reds Clear 100 Towns Of Nazis

MOSCOW, Aug. 2. (AP)—Red army troops, continuing the slow, relentless investment of the German defenses around Orel, yesterday hurled the Nazis out of 100 villages and tightened the pincers threatening that base with advances at five to 7½ miles, the Russians reported today.

Soviet troops operating to the north and northwest of the city beat off counterattacks in a drive which took 40 villages, leaving 3,000 German dead on the field and smashing a number of tanks, mobile guns and trucks and heavy artillery, a communique said.

The spearhead operating to the northwest of the city is aiming at cutting the Orel-Bryansk railway, feeder line for the Orel base.

Airmen Harass Nazis

Front line dispatches reported the Russian air force was relentlessly harassing the Nazis in an attempt to prevent them from consolidating new lines.

The Soviet advance to the south of Orel was somewhat hampered by numerous enemy minefields, the communique reported, but Soviet engineering units in one day cleared 4,000 land mines from 23 separate fields.

Counterattacks in the sectors east of Orel were repulsed. And Soviet troops advanced, capturing quantities of German war material.

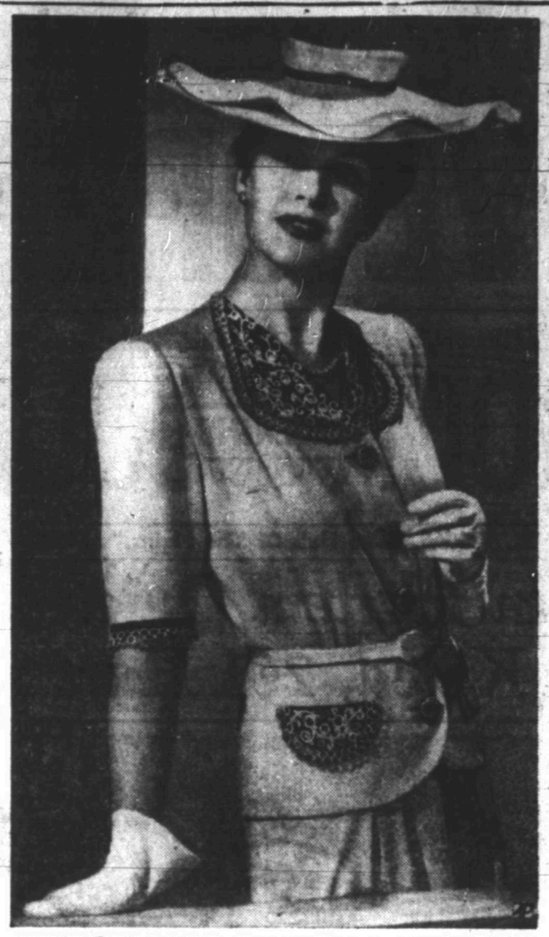

Reds Score Other Successes

The Red army met with other successes in the sharp fighting southwest of Voroshilovgrad in the Donets basin, the communique added.

An attack launched by Nazi infantry and armored units in the area was smashed back, the Russians said. In one sector the Red army beat off seven German attacks, one of which penetrated the Russian trenches before it was halted.

Fifty German tanks and 53 planes were destroyed by the Russians in this area, the war bulletin declared.

Activity in the Belgorod sector was limited to reconnaissance, the Russians said.

Change In Command At Tech Preflight Is Announced; Johnson To Alabama

Maj. Ralph K. Johnson, commanding officer of the U. S. Army Air Forces Pre-Flight Training center at Texas Technological college, is being transferred to other duties and is being succeeded here by Maj. F. M. Monroe, it was officially announced this morning.

Major Johnson, who opened the pre-flight training center here last February, expects to leave Lubbock at mfi-week and will report at the Air Forces Southeast Training center headquarters at Montgomery, Alabama, for further orders. A South Carolinian, he came here from Randolph field.

Major Monroe, whose permanent residence is in San Francisco, more recently commanded a preflight unit at Denver university. Previously he served at West Coast Training center at Santa Ana, Cal.; at San Diego and at Moffett Field, Sunnyvale, Cal.

Major Johnson, his wife and daughter have been living here at 2613 Twenty-first street. Major Monroe is making his home at Hotel Hilton.

Jennings-Galbraith Match Is Golf Final

Athletic Director Morley Jennings of Texas Tech and W. C. Galbraith of the army personnel at Texas Tech, will play an 18-hole match for the 1943 city golf championship.

Jennings entered the finals last Thursday when he defeated Lieut. George Johnson, one up. Jennings won the match on the 18th green after Johnson had hit his second shot in a trap and failed to reach the green with his third shot.

W. C. Galbraith swept into the finals Sunday with an impressive 3 and 1 decision over Staff Sgt. Robert Stuart. It was a close match throughout but with Galbraith leading two up at the 17th green, Stuart's iron tee shot was far over the green and his second to the green failed to make the carpet, and he conceded the match to Galbraith, who was on the green for a cinch par three.

The championship probably will be settled over the Lubbock Country club's par 35-36—71 course next Sunday. Galbraith said he preferred to play Sunday because of difficulties in getting away from his army work at Texas Tech during the week days.

Ham Salad Rolls Get a Big Welcome

Here's something really new for dinner—hearty ham salad rolls! They're a snap to fix on a summer night, and so delicious your family will call for them often. So save this recipe for your file of point-thrifty favorites.

You can use leftover cooked ham if you have it—or buy a ¾ lb. piece of cooked, boneless Star Ham. We suggest Armour's Star Ham because it has such fine flavor. It is mellowed in fragrant hickory smoke and is very tender and mild. It will heighten your enjoyment of these salad rolls that will provide an ample meal for a family of 4.

Make the salad by mixing 2 cups cubed, cooked Star Ham, ½ cup diced celery, ¼ cup diced sweet pickle, 2 hard cooked Cloverbloom Eggs sliced, ¼ tsp. salt. Add enough mayonnaise or cooked salad dressing to moisten well. Slit 4 finger rolls lengthwise, to make large enough opening to hold salad. Butter lightly and toast if desired. Fill with ham salad and garnish the top with a slice of hard cooked egg.

A Salute To The Shock Troops Of The Home Front

Congratulations and Thanks

To The Men Of The Rationing Panels

War is an unpleasant business; unpleasant abroad and, in some instances, unpleasant at home.

But as war demands its fighting men to accept distasteful assignments abroad, it also calls for soldiers of the home front to serve at essential tasks which frequently are exacting of time and thought and also unpleasant in the decisions required.

In Lubbock, as in every community in the land, there are persons who unselfishly have accepted a call to serve the war effort---a part of the war effort which directs that they interpret rulings which necessarily interfere with the desires of their fellow citizens. These patriotic citizens often have to say "no," when they'd prefer to say "yes." Sometimes they must accept unjust criticism for acts which they must perform in keeping with their orders. Service on the various Rationing Panels is not always pleasant, but to the men of the Lubbock County Rationing Board's panels Swart Optometric Clinic offers unstinted commendation and praise; takes this method of telling these men that their neighbors are for them in their work; appreciate their unselfish service to the great cause of victory. Greater patriotism has no man outside of uniform than that of the men of the Rationing Panels.

Fascism's Collapse Is Morale Shaker

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press Staff Writer

The downfall of the dozen of European dictators, and the miserable collapse of his Fascist regime, strike me as likely to have a much greater effect on the morale of other Axis adherents than would have been the case had Mussolini and his government gone down to defeat in unity with flag flying.

True, the Allies had decreed death for Fascism. But it's one thing for an ism that's been toyed with by numerous countries to die with its boots on in battle, and quite another for it to go down with a bullet in its back while running away. Such an ignominious end is bound to trouble deep waters in other Axis-inclined countries where people are wondering whether their own governments are worth fighting for, or at least have come to recognize that the Hitlerian cause is a snare and a delusion.

Germany To Be One

Germany itself will be one of these. So will Bulgaria, Rumania and Hungary. And up in the far north little Finland long has been showing signs of regret for her entanglement with Fascism and Nazism.

The Balkans have been ripening fast for the plucking these many months. Rumania with her uneasy dictatorship is in a particularly bad way, having been despoiled and bled white on Russian battlefields to which her soldiers have been driven under the lash by Hitler. It's a hundred to one that the people of this unhappy country would be glad to see the Axis and their own government at the bottom of the Black sea.

As Italy is being knocked out of the war, so will Rumania—and perhaps without great pressure. A few more devastating air raids such as our Yankee Liberators carried out over the great Rumanian oil refineries at Ploesti yesterday should set the country to shaking like a bowl of jelly. Collapse of Rumania would tend to hasten the fall of her neighboring allies.

LAAF Swamps Big Spring Nine, 19-7

Lubbock Army Air field swamped the Big Spring Bombardiers, 19 to 7, in a baseball game Sunday afternoon at Hubber field.

Homers by Lt. Ralph Tankersly, Sgt. Sam West, LAAF manager, and Sgt. L. H. Dixon featured the hitting barrage of the locals. Big Spring was leading 3 to 2 at the end of the second inning but a nine-run assault put LAAF well out in front from which they were never headed.

Staff Sgt. T. G. Hardwick, LAAF mound standby, allowed the visitors only four hits.

The LAAF team meets the Sundown Oilers at Hubber park next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

What Readers Of The Evening Journal Say— The Plainsman Gets Some Mail

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Letters from readers are welcomed at all times and on all subjects. However, no letter of more than 500 words will be considered for publication, and all letters belittling, or impugning the motive of any individual, firm or corporation must include for publication, the true name of the author. The Editor shall be the sole judge of whether or not letters may be published and cannot engage in correspondence concerning them).

ANSWERS COMMENT

Dear Plainsman: I want to reply to your editorial of July 23 in which you spoke of our "tall, dark, and handsome" Mr. George Mahon.

I have read all your editorials for several years, and your ideas and mine usually have been alike. The way you wrote this sounded right "down my alley" until I got to meditating on it, and then I saw it differently. I wonder if you can't be persuaded to look at it from a different angle also. If so, lets hear from you in regards. Be the sport which I know you are.

Getting back to the editorial about Mr. Mahon. You seem to imply that George did what he should have done. Since this district has voted for Roosevelt all along, he should go along with him and do what he wants him to do as the people voted for Roosevelt. Well, then, why should we send him up there to fill the seat if that is the thing to do? Let's eliminate the whole Congress and save that expense and let Mr. Mahon gin cotton for me this fall. Put all our representatives and senators back home to a useful job and let's win this war. We only need Mr. Roosevelt up there. No, Mr. Plainsman, that argument is all wrong. I am going to argue that the voters expected Mr. Mahon to use his head a little. If, in his judgment, he thought Mr. Roosevelt was wrong, he should hold a tight rein on him and do what he thought was best for the country. I am going to hold Mr. Mahon strictly to blame for all his bad deeds and give him credit for the good ones. Then after striking a balance, I am going to the polls and Mr. Mahon will get the justice that he is entitled to. I think he deserves whatever credit he is due. Also, I think he should go down or survive on his own record and not Mr. Roosevelt's. He may follow the leader too far, and that is up to him to decide if that is the way he is deciding things in Washington.

There is too much politics now. We have a real war on and there is no place for our Congress to just follow the hoardes. Let them be real statesmen and be patriotic to the welfare of their country, even if it means their defeat in the next election. They will go down in history as great men if they will only use their own opinions instead of sitting there and letting their judgment be guided by public opinion or a leader that might be going wrong.

I have only three sons and they are all in the services of their country. I am expecting Mr. Mahon to use his head to the best protection for them and help bring this war to a rapid victory. The most important thing I can think of is to get this war over. The quickest way to do that is the right way, but not ruin this country in doing it if we can help it.

I think the re-election of our politicians is of the least importance. I wish our elective officers of government could look at it that way and stand up and fight for what they think is the right thing for their country, even if they do go down in defeat in doing so. That is what I think a real statesman is, and we need more of that kind and need them now worse than any time in our history.

Yours very truly,
W. C. McBride,
Lamesa.

PRISON LABOR

DEAR PLAINSMAN: I want to call your attention to the greatest mistake the chamber of commerce and some people of Lubbock and Lubbock county are making by using the Italian labor or even talking about using them to make and help gather this crop.

First I want to say that it is a shame that our government ever brought them to our country, not saying anything about taking the living away from our people that depend on farm-work from year to year. If Lubbock county gets that cheap labor there is no farmer who will pay our people more than the wages they pay the prisoners, which is $1.60 per day. The working people of Lubbock and the people that come in every year must as well give up for they can't make a living. I say, if Lubbock county gets this cheap work, they should be forced to feed and clothe the people that are depending on this work. Of course it will make the big farmer richer and Lubbock merchants poorer, and after the war, this county will be so well advertised by these Italians, Japs, and Germans that they will flock into the land of plenty and almost take it. We will have the most awful mixed up nation in the world. Of course the government will try to keep them out, but a large per cent will get here by underground route.

Let's keep our country clean and foreigners out.
Ernest Eugene,
Lubbock.

(Dear Mr. Eugene: You have overlooked one very important point in the matter of war prisoner labor. Before any can be used, need for such workers must be approved by the Manpower commission. The Manpower commission will not permit use of prisoner labor except in areas where there is insufficient free labor. In all cases, war prisoners are credited with the prevailing wage among free labor BUT the war prisoners do not get their full wages. They are credited with only 10 cents per hour; the balance goes to the U. S. government which applies it on the expense of caring for the prisoners. For your information there is a shortage of farm labor in this area now and that shortage is expected to be much, much more acute by harvest time. Even if 2,000 war prisoners were available for work in this county, they could be used now. But there likely will be available even at harvest time only about 500, say those in charge at Hereford. Very truly yours, The Plainsman.)

Negro War Veteran Is Shot To Death Sunday

AUSTIN, Aug. 2 (AP)—Will Robinson, 50-year-old negro veteran of World war One in which he became known by the nickname "Gray Ghost," was shot to death here Sunday. An arrest was made at Lockhart but no charge had been filed early today.

Relatives said that Robinson had been given the name by soldiers at San Antonio during the last war, but did not know what incident originated it.

When Australia declared war on Germany in 1939, she had no regular army, but a skeleton force of about 4,000 commissioned and non-commissioned officers.

Canada Awaits Vote Outcome

(EDITOR'S NOTE: DeWitt MacKenzie, foreign affairs analyst for the Associated Press, has been to Ontario to study the significance of Wednesday's state election there. Here is the story of what he found).

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, Canada, Aug. 2 (AP)—The election which is being held next Wednesday in Ontario, wealthiest and most populous of all Canada's provinces, ostensibly is a state affair but in reality it's a laboratory test to determine how the national government of Prime Minister Mackenzie King stands in the esteem of the voters of the dominion.

As the people of the United States look to Maine to tell how the political wind is blowing, so now Canada is watching Ontario.

Five-Year Office

Mackenzie King's opposition charges that he forced the Ontario election in order to determine his own strength. The point is, they say, that he wants to know whether to hold a national election in the near future, or allow his government to run its natural life until 1945. Success in a new election would return him to power for five years.

The Ontario election is a battle royal among three parties. There are the two-old-line organizations, the Liberals and the Conservatives (now called Progressive Conservatives), and there is the Socialist party which marches into battle under the designation of the Co-operative Commonwealth federation, which naturally has become just C. C. F.

Provide For Reforms

The platforms all provide for sweeping social reforms which are in line with the so-called "leftist" swing (this doesn't refer to a communistic tendency but to great social changes) which long has been in evidence not only in Canada but in the United States and Britain. The announced programs are so much alike that you could flip a coin to make your choice, exceping for the Socialists who include in their reforms the social ownership of all monopolies within jurisdiction of Ontario.

The Liberals, who now are in the saddle, are facing the million and a half voters on a nine-year record of government and elaborate promises for the future.

The opposition parties are riding hell-for-leather, with fixed lances against the formidable Liberal array. But it's the leadership of Dominions Prime Minister Mackenzie King which is in question rather than that of Ontario's Premier Harry Nixon, who is sniffed at by Conservatives and Socialists with the allegation that he's just Mackenzie King's chore boy.

State's Rights Involved

State's rights are involved. The national government at Ottawa is accused of encroaching on the prerogatives of the provinces and of trying to increase centralization of the dominion government.

Isolationism crops up vigorously. The Progressive Conservatives charge the Liberals with fostering isolation — an accusation which the Liberals hotly deny.

The outcome of the election appears much in doubt at this writing. As things stand there seems a possibility that no party will secure an over-all majority which will permit it to establish a secure government. There's some talk here that, should this situation arise, there might be a coalition between the two major parties—the Liberals and the Progressive Conservatives.

Should the Liberals be returned with a big majority, it would give Premier Mackenzie King the cue which might impel him to stage a general election for the entire dominion.

Created by the
in 1913...

A PART OF THE EMPLOYERS' LIABILITY ACT

It was during the year 1913, the year immediately preceding World War I, that the Texas Employers' Insurance Association was created by the Legislature of the State of Texas, as a part of the Employers' Liability and Workmen's Compensation Act. This Act was passed by the Legislature in 1913 and became effective September 1 of that year.

The Association was created to carry out the provisions of the Workmen's Compensation law and to make it easier and more economical for the employers of labor in Texas to comply with the law.

INSURANCE AT COST

Although the Association was created by the Legislature, it was created as a separate body corporate, free of state control, subject only to those laws and regulations which apply to all insurance companies alike. And, it was required to secure its business in competition with and charge the same rates as other insurance companies operating in the State.

However, the Association had one advantage over its competitors. It was not to be operated for profit. Any money left after paying losses and expenses and setting up surplus and reserves was to be returned to its policyholders in the form of dividends. Last year, this advantage meant savings of approximately two million dollars to the employers of labor in Texas.

As an employer of labor in Texas, are you taking advantage of these savings?

Close Races Talk In Majors Is Out

Yanks And Cards Stretch Leads

By PAUL SCHEFFELS
United Press Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—Forget all that talk about close races in the major leagues and make up your mind today that the Brooklyn Dodgers' collapse will become historic in the National league and the New York Yankees' margin in the American league will grow bigger daily.

The second set of intersectional games in the major leagues come to a close tomorrow and, despite numerous war-time losses and various injuries, both pace-setters have virtually stamped out all semblance of opposition to their continued rule as champions.

Yanks Quicken Pace

The Yankees, although four games off the pace of 1942 when on this date they showed their heels by 12½ games, are moving fast and trimming off ambitious opposition as soon as it comes along. During the current invasion of the west, the champions won every series, knocking off the White Sox, Indians and Tigers in that order, excluding Washington, who the Yankees have whipped nine times in 15 starts, that just about takes care of all the opposition in the American circuit.

In the National league, the Cardinals have spread-eagled the field to lead by 11 games over the Pirates, a performance that puts them exactly 20 games ahead of their position at this same time last year when they trailed Brooklyn by nine games.

Dodgers Drop To Third

The Red Birds wrapped up the Giants, Braves and Phillies with almost monotonous regularity and delivered a virtual knockout punch to the Dodgers with a double victory yesterday, 7-1 and 5-4, to assure them of victory in every series and on this western tour which concludes with a final game against Brooklyn tomorrow night.

The double defeat dumped the Dodgers into third place only half a game away from fourth and helped the Cardinals pick up a full game on the Pirates, who split with the Braves.

Riot Almost Started

A brief fistic flareup almost started a riot in the first game. Charges of "duster" were flung at Les Webber when he apparently threw four balls at Stan Musial. Then Walker Cooper, the next man up, spiked Augie Galan in a close play at first and Brooklyn backstop Mickey Owen tangled with the Cardinal catcher. Police separated them in a general melee involving both teams, and Umpire Al Barlick banished both participants.

The Cards sewed up the battle with four runs in the first. Trailing 3-1 in the nightcap, St. Louis rallied for four runs to put the game in the bag in the sixth. A wild pitch sent Johnny Hopp across with the final and winning run in that frame.

Sewell Wins His 17th

Boston braked the Pirates, 6-3, in 10 innings, but then fell before the almost unbeatable Rip Sewell in the nightcap, 7-1. The Braves shoved across three runs in the extra frame. Sewell allowed only three hits for his 17th triumph and 11th in succession.

Cincinnati clubbed the Giants, 5-3 and 3-2 in 13 innings. Ed Heusser, although kayoed in the sixth, won his own game with a two-run single in the fourth inning of the opener. Bert Haas' long fly flagged home the winner for Cincinnati in the nightcap.

Kewpie Barrett, former Cub, pitched the Phillies to a 4-1 triumph in the first game with the Bruins and the Quakers checked in with four runs in the eighth of the nightcap to win, 5-3.

Etten Hits 3 Homers

Nick Etten hit three home runs to raise his league-leading runs-batted-in total to 71 as the Yankees whipped Detroit, 5-4 and 2-1.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—Willis Vance, a Cincinnati theater man, has been touring the big-time sports arenas and has drawn up complete plans for an arena to be built in Cincinnati after the war . . .

FUTILE QUESTION

Herb Simons' "baseball digest" reports that Casey Stengel recently received a letter from a young hurler who wrote: "I'm also a first class futility player." . . .

MONDAY MATINEE

Those Georgia marine gridders who raised Duke's hopes so much when they appeared on the campus have decided they won't play football this fall . . . Wonder if Uncle Sam's $50 per is below the union scale where they come from? . . . Golf ball manufacturers have discovered that re-processed pellets are about eight yards longer off the tee than new ones and that they'll stand as many as four recoverings . . . Semi-pro baseball is feeling the war boom, too. The Kansas state tournament at Wichita paid out $11,000 in prizes, including $3,700 to the victorious Fort Riley team . . . Columnist Joe Palmer of "The Blood Horse" has this word for prospective buyers at the Lexington horse sales: "Kentucky still produces fast horses and about women this deponent doesn't care to speak, but the whiskey situation is terrible."

SERVICE DEPT.

Cpl. Bob Donovan of Buffalo, N. Y., with the Marines in the south Pacific, and his brother Jackie, a soldier who probably is in Sicily by now, both double as boxers and cartoonists. . . . Jackie won 27 of 30 pro fights and Bob was a promising amateur who has flattened three rivals in scraps at his Pacific post . . . So when they communicate with each other halfway around the world it's by V-mail cartoons . . . Tech. Sgt. Frederick Missildine, former national skeet champion, still is shooting clay birds at Moore Field, Tex. He teaches the cadets skeet so they'll know how to aim at a fast-moving plane.

He hit a pair in the first game to drive in two runs and connected for his 10th of the year in the sixth of the nightcap with one on for the winning edge.

Buck Ross pitched an eight-hitter as the White Sox nicked the A's, 5-1 in the first game and then went on a 17-hit batting rampage to notch the finale, 15-9.

Washington moved past Detroit with 5-3 and 20-6 triumphs over the Browns.

A five-run fifth-inning burst gave Cleveland an 8-6 win over Boston in the first game of a double bill, but Dick Newsome held the Tribe to six hits as Boston took the second contest, 4-1.

Yesterday's star—Rip Sewell, who won his 11th straight and 17th of the year as Pittsburgh beat Boston 7-1.

Sewell Throws It; You Name It; It's The 'Rainbow' Ball

BY ARDEN SKIDMORE
Associated Press Feature Service Writer

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 2 — A "rainbow" or "humpback" slow ball, the likes of which Pittsburgh baseball fans have never seen, is helping Truett Banks (Rip) Sewell in his bid to become the first 20-game winner the Pirates have had in 13 years.

The 35-year-old righthander recently chalked up his 12th victory of the year, as against but two setbacks. He not only is expected to touch the 20-game mark last attained by a Pirate — Ray Kremer — in 1930, but he might approach the 25-game record last set by Burleigh Grimes in 1928. He's that hot.

In the All-Star game he pitched only one inning but he retired Jake Early, Bobby Doerr and Jeff Heath in order after an error put a man on.

Same Grip For Two Speeds

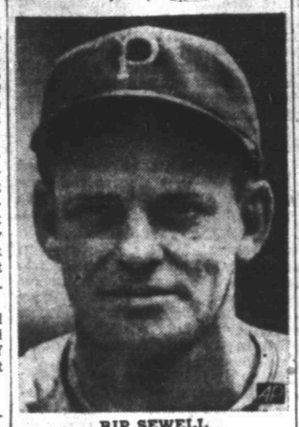

Rip's slow ball is thrown exactly like his fast ball, but with wrist action that sends it 12 to 15 feet in the air, from where it floats downward at a steep angle and crosses the plate knee high.

Sports writers have given the pitch a dozen different names, including the "dipsy-doodle" and the "parachuter," but Rip doesn't call it anything.

"They can call it whatever they like," says the Buc ace. "I just throw it."

The batters just fret and fuss, and kick up the dirt.

Rip explains the pitch thusly: "I use the same grip as my

RIP SEWELL
Slow But Sure

RIP'S GRIP
Keeps Hitters Guessing

fast ball and throw it with a strong overhand motion, with the ball held loose. It just falls off the back of my fingers after my arm goes through, giving the ball good backspin."

"That 15-foot arch," he continues, "is what makes it tough on the batters. They can't level off against it because of the angle, and they usually swing up or down at it. If they do get hits, they're singles, and it takes a lot of singles to beat you."

The red-head, who practiced the slow ball late last year and used it for the first time in an exhibition game with Detroit this Spring, thinks he has the pitch down pat, declaring "I believe I can throw seven out of 10 strikes with it."

In view of the ball's high trajectory, it takes marvelous control to hit the strike zone. If you doubt it, try it sometime!

"This slow ball," says Sewell, "helps my other pitches—makes the fast ball faster. It also keeps the batters guessing. When you can do that, a pitcher doesn't have to bear down so much."

Sewell uses the pitch more when men aren't on bases.

Football Dodgers To Come Up With Touch Of Texas This Fall

BY OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 2 (U.P.) — They say anything can happen in Brooklyn — and usually does. So the Flatbush faithful won't be too surprised when their football Dodgers come up with a touch of Texas in their play this fall.

Attribute it to a drawling character named Pete Cawthon, former Texas Tech coach who has taken over and promises: "I came from a section where they throw the ball around and I'm going to give you a show." The confident Cawthon is happy over his chance to be a pro coach.

"When you lose three games in college they start looking for a new coach," he explained. "In the pro league they look for new players."

We hope Pete doesn't count on this, because Brooklyn is a land apart.

Baylor Waiting On Army Action

If Rules Changed Team Will Play

(By The Associated Press)

If Army trainees are allowed to play intercollegiate football Baylor university will have a team, thus bringing the Southwest conference to full strength for the 1943 campaign.

This information comes from President Pat M. Neff of Baylor today as the first of the conference squads—Texas A. and M.—opens the training grind.

Has 400 In Training

At the present time, Neff said, Baylor is not planning a team because of lack of material, but there are 400 boys in the Army specialized training program at the school, most of them sent there from Illinois and Wisconsin and among the group are a number of capable football and basketball players.

If the present status of these boys regarding competitive athletics is changed, as has been suggested by a petition of Congressmen to the President, and they are allowed to play football, then Baylor will have a team, but until this matter is cleared up nothing more can be done about the situation, Neff explained.

Rule Is Suspended

The Southwest conference voted last week to suspend the Sept. 5 opening date for practice and to allow the teams to start now. However, it will be informal training until Aug. 20 when regular practice can be begun.

A. and M., Arkansas and Texas have announced when they will start work. While the Aggies open today, Arkansas says it will not begin formal drills until Aug. 20, although several players in summer school may engage in touch-ball before then, while Texas will start either Aug. 20 or 23.

Southern Methodist, Rice and Texas Christian have not announced definitely when they will open practice.

Haegg's Final Race Is Set For Aug. 11

NEW YORK, Aug. 2. (U.P.)—Gunder Haegg, who makes the next appearance of a cross-country tour at Cincinnati this Saturday, will run his final race in the United States on Aug. 11 at Triborough stadium, Daniel J. Ferris, secretary of the A. A. U., announced today.

Bill Hulse of the N.Y.A.C. and Gil Dodds of Boston will run against Haegg Saturday and in his final performance. The Swede plans to leave for home Aug. 24.

Australia, through reciprocal aid, has furnished American forces with more than 26 million pounds of fresh meats, 20 million pounds of potatoes, 25 million pounds of fruit, and almost 5½ million quarts of milk.

Texas Interscholastic League Grid Teams Cut But 600 To Take Part In 1943 Season

(By The Associated Press)

In one more month the Texas schoolboy gridiron legions begin their march — and when they go to the post the state championship field will boast 104 teams.

Each division — class AA, class A, class B and six man — has taken a cut in numbers, but indications are that around 600 schools will participate.

Three Teams Drop Out

Class AA — the only division playing through to a state title—is dropping three teams that took part last year. They are Borger in district 1, Colorado City in district 3 and Conroe in district 14. One school is picked up with Kingsville returning to district 16 after an absence of a year. Colorado City will not quit Interscholastic league football entirely as are Borger and Conroe but will be in class A this season.

Masonic Home of Fort Worth, which announced last winter that it would not play this year, has now decided to do so but will not engage teams outside its district in the regular season, Supt. Tom Fletcher announcemd.

Seven Out Of Class A

Class A, which plays to regional championships, has 261 teams lined up while 20 that participated last year have not indicated their intentions to R. J. Kidd, athletic director of the Interscholastic league. Seven schools are dropping out. They are Clarendon, Paducah, Iowa Park, Granbury, Kirbyville, Junction and Bracketville.

Class B, which decides bi-district championships only, has 122 schools officially entered but 84 have not yet reported either way and 12 are uncertain. The latter plan to play if they can obtain coaches — scarce with the young men going off to war.

Class B Drops 28

Twenty-eight schools have dropped out. They are: Follett, Higgins, Estelline, Iraan, Fort Hancock, Robert Lee, Sipe Springs, Tolar, Desdemona, Anna, Collinsville, Tioga, Joshua, Emory, Tatum, Crandall, South Bosque, Coolidge, Kosse, Marquez, Normangee, Flatonia, Blanco, Pflugerville, Hardin, Stockdale, Bishop and Ed Couch-Elsa.

Kidd said to date he had not received enough information on six man football to announce a roster of teams. This division plays to bi-district titles.

Schools have until Sept. 15 to file their entries.

Oddments Enliven Semi-Pro Tourney

WACO, Aug. 2 (AP)—Play in the state semi-pro baseball tournament was enlivened by a triple play and other oddments as Ellington field ousted Camp Wallace and Waco Army Air field defeated Houston's Shipbuilders 10 to 4 yesterday.

Ellington was leading 9 to 7 when an argument started and Umpire Curtis Hatter ended it by declaring a forfeit, making the official score 9 to 0 for Ellington.

Ellington was seven runs ahead at the end of the third, but Wallace tallied five in the fourth. Wallace got Katchmer, starting pitcher, out of the box, and Scoggins came in from the outfield to pitch good ball. Smiley of Wallace relieved Peters.

In the eighth, Shadle was on first for Wallace and two were out. Szuch hit a double. He was out at the plate. Barbolla and Tannehill argued the decision and were ordered from the park. They refused to leave and Hatter forfeited the game.

Sid Hudson of the Waco team fanned 12 men. Waco used a makeshift infield which made numerous errors, but which made the first triple play in the tournament's history.

Hits on his first two times up gave Waco Manager Birdie Tebbetts six straight safeties. Bone Sanders hit a homer for Houston.

New Navy Rules To Upset Seahawk Slate

NEW YORK, Aug. 2 (AP)—A new set of Navy sports rules all but wipes the 1943 football schedule of the Iowa Seahawks, threatens the all-star grid game at Chicago and makes impossible a duplicate of the 1919 Rose bowl contest in which the Great Lakes Sailors walloped the Marines, 17 to 0.

The regulations, issued by Navy Secretary Knox at Washington last night prohibits Navy teams from going outide the National Collegiate Athletic association district in which they are located to meet a sports foe. The Seahawks, stationed at Iowa City in district 5, are scheduled to play Illinois, Ohio State, Marquette, Minnesota and Notre Dame, all in district 4.

Another rule says that "individuals in the Navy who have been or are prominent in sports will not be permitted to engage in contests or sports away from their stations except as members of a team representing the activity."

That would remove numerous names from the all-star roster for the game at Chicago, Aug. 25 between collegians, many of them already under Navy control, and the Washington Redskins.

The new code added that V-12 trainees would participate in intercollegiate sports as representatives of the college to which they are assigned and not as Navy representatives.

The U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md., is not affected by the rules.

One pound, or 31 tablespoonsful, of waste cooking fats will produce the glycerine, processed as an explosive, required to fire four 37mm. anti-aircraft shells.

The Plainsman Says:

That Girl on Broadway says if you don't get everything you think is coming to you, maybe you ought to be glad.

Batching is that summer period a married man looks forward to and is darn glad when it's over!

That Man on Avenue Q says women always have the last word, but some of them never get to it.

IF you don't mind, The Plainsman would rather hear nothing more about "cool Colorado." Although Denver and the entire Rocky Mountain area are widely advertised as a heaven-on-earth come July and August, the weather there recently has been sizzling.

Of course, you can't get the natives to admit it. Like the denizens of Southern California after a rain, they claim temperatures in the high nineties are "very unusual."

But we'll take a paralyzed oath that we were a lot hotter during a recent visit in Denver than we have been this year in Lubbock—and as all and sundry know our last six weeks have been much more torrid than average.

The Plainsman flew up the other day with a party of Lubbock, Fort Worth and Dallas folks as guest of the Braniff Air Lines, which recently have received government permission to open a new route linking the Texas Gulf with Denver, and which hope to get permission soon to add service to Lubbock.

With the exception of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Davis, The Little Woman and the writer, all the other Lubbock people on the jaunt returned immediately after stretching their legs there. The four of us mentioned stayed in Denver where Mr. Davis and The Plainsman did a little spadework in connection with the future linking of the Alcan highway with the Pan-American highway at Laredo. What Mr. Davis and The Plainsman specifically tried to do up there was to work up some interest toward routing the highway through Lubbock.

PECULIARLY enough, Denver—judging from the Chamber of Commerce attitude—isn't particularly interested in the hookup between the Alcan and the Pan-American highways.

It may be that Denver figures the road will have to go through there anyway, and where it goes to north or south makes little difference.

But that sort of figuring isn't exactly fool-proof. It is possible that the road might very well go down the Pacific coast, shoot east from Los Angeles, through El Paso and on to San Antonio and Laredo. If that happens, Denver can and will be left high and dry as as far as this most important north-south highway link is concerned.

Make no mistake about it, the U. S. link between Canada and Mexico someday will be the most important—and lucrative—auto route running from north to south in this entire land.

In addition to linking Mexico, Central and South America with Western Canada and Alaska, this route will link—in the long run—Europe and South America.

For plans are under way this very minute for a post-war tunnel under the Bering Straits, connecting Alaska with Russia.

And anyone capable of counting to 10 can see the added value there.

LUBBOCK'S hope is that the connection between Alaska and Mexico will follow Highway 87 from Billings, Mont., through Cheyenne, Denver, on to Raton; thence east to Amarillo, San Angelo and San Antonio.

A great deal can be said for that route. In the first place, it is already set up; in the second place, it is the best all-weather route; in the third place, it is the fastest route, because it misses most mountain twists and turns. And, finally, it will give the traveler a better over-all picture of the U. S. from border-to-border than any other possible route.

No matter how much work it takes, or how much money, Lubbock should and must fight to the last ditch for a place on the Alcan-Pan-American highway.

It will bring untold thousands of visitors through our city; it will cause to be dumped there untold hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Also of prime importance to us is the Braniff Airlines application to the Civil Aeronautics board for permission to put Lubbock on its Denver-to-Corpus Christi route.

Such a permit would not only give us north-south air service—and we have none at all now—but it would connect us by air with east-west service from coast-to-coast.

There is little doubt that the post-war years will see us on both a north-south and an east-west airline route, but the Braniff application may be favorably acted upon even prior to that time.

Approval of the Braniff application would place us within four hours of Denver, via Amarillo, Pueblo and Colorado Springs. It would also link us up with connections with Tulsa, Oklahoma City, St. Louis and Chicago; with San Antonio, Houston, and New Orleans.

It's an improvement we need now; a service all Lubbock and the South Plains could use to good advantage.

LUBBOCK folks are still getting around. The other morning, as we stepped off the hotel elevator en route to breakfast, we ran into Misses Ina Bacon and Pauline Stafford in Denver on vacation. They were on the trail of rooms, which are at a premium in the war-clogged gateway to the West.

Another day, again en route to breakfast, we literally bumped into Dr. and Mrs. J. T. Krueger, and son, Julius Thomas, jr., also looking for a place to rest their heads.

One night, in an Italian restaurant, an Army Air Forces sergeant at the next table was regaling his girl friend with a report on his experiences in Lubbock. The sergeant, now learning to be an aerial gunner, formerly was in the glider pool at South Plains during that period when the Army's high command was debating what to do about the glider program.

Also living in Denver are Mr. and Mrs. Hank Meredith, former Tech students. Mrs. Meredith is a daughter of Dean and Mrs. A. H. Leidigh and her husband is an engineer at the Remington Arms plant there. To further illustrate what a small world this is, etc., Mrs. Davis and the Little Woman were talking on the streetcar about Mrs. Meredith and her sister, Miss Mary Leidigh, and a young girl in the seat behind them broke in.

"Were you talking about the Miss Leidigh who teaches in Oklahoma?" the girl asked, and upon being answered in the affirmative, she said:

"Miss Leidigh taught me there last year. She surely is a peach!"

There is a real ice shortage which has hit every Denver home with an ice box and every downtown establishment which does not have its own ice-making equipment.

Mr. Brown's boarding house, where we stopped, has its own ice machinery, so there was no shortage there. However, we dropped in at a soda fountain in one of the big downtown drugstores for a limeade and got one without the least bit of ice in it. One of the biggest restaurants in town serves chilled water—but with no ice in it.

MRS. MEREDITH, who has a 20-months-old daughter, says she has quite a problem since she didn't take her electric refrigerator up there with her. She gets 25 pounds of ice each Monday and Wednesday, and, if she's lucky, 50 pounds on Friday to last until Monday. Since she can get milk delivery only every other day, she's in quite a quandary. She is helping to solve the problem by keeping the icebox in the basement which is the coolest part of the house.

Lubbock and South Plains folks may not realize it, but they're lucky.

Our city and section seems, from all we've seen and heard since Pearl Harbor, to be the least affected by war dislocations of all kinds.

VANISHING TIARA

CHAPTER XVI

Within the Channing house there was now a sound of revelry by night. Soft music filtered through the open windows. Bright evening gowns swished and rustled. The black and white of dinner jackets and boiled shirts were sharp silhouettes. Mr. H. L. Channing's version of a victory ball was in full swing.

On the fringes of the festivities hovered Miss Meath. Miss Meath had made herself very useful in the preparations for the party. No detail had been too small to escape her attention. Voluntarily and with a spirit that bespoke undying devotion to her employer, she had attended to everything.

At the moment Miss Meath was hovering unobtrusively in the semi-darkened dining room. Here a great feast was in readiness. Tables and sideboards groaned under comestibles that would have brought a tear to the eye of Lucullus. But, as Meath slipped past the huge family board toward the living room, she forbore to snag even a tidbit of Special Vermont Turkey. Turkey, tonight, was just peanuts to Meath.

On the theshold of the living room she paused and ran an appraising eye over the assembled multitude. Unerringly the eye picked out Mrs. Channing. Mrs. Channing was chatting with a covey of guests. And upon her graying and patrician head there reposed, to all intents and purposes, 40,000 bucks worth of diamond tiara.

Behind their utterly useless pince-nez the eyes of Miss Meath gleamed. And Miss Meath spake unto Miss Meath, inaudibly. "Okay, dearie," muttered Miss Meath. "Here's where Gertie Swan takes a weight off your coiffeur."

Two minutes later Miss Meath gained the privacy of Mr. Henry L. Channing's den. There, after causing a low light to burn, she did a peculiar thing. She tied a handkerchief over her mouth and picked up the house phone.

Out in the hallway another phone tinkled. From his position of importance near the front door, Corby the butler moved majestically to answer it.

"Mrs. Channing is wanted on the telephone in Mr. Channing's office," sounded thickly in Corby's butlerian ear. "Some belated guest, it appears."

Then, back in the den, Miss Meath put down the house phone and took the receiver from the instrument that connected Mr. Channing's sanctum with the outside world. After which she stepped swiftly behind one of the mulberry - colored drapes at the window. The drape reached to the floor. It completely obliterated Miss Meath.

She had but a short vigil. Presently footsteps sounded. And Meath, peeping cautiously from the arras, was gratified to see Mrs. Channing enter the dimly-lit den and make straight for the recumbent telephone receiver.

"Hello," Mrs. Channing said, in a party voice. "Does someone wish to speak to me?"

Even as she spoke, an arm, like a long white snake, issued from the mulberry drape. For a second it wavered in mid-air. And then, as far as Mrs. Channing's diamond tiara was concerend, it was a case of "now - you - see - it, now - you-don't."

"Oh" gasped Mrs. Channing, suddenly aware of a disturbance in the region of her hairdo. "What on earth . . ."

She dropped the phone and turned. The next instant she was entirely enswathed in mulberry draperies. Gasping and chocking, she fought the clinging fabric, vaguely aware of soft retreating heel-clicks. Then the light in the den went out.

Mrs. Channing, fighting coolly, won a decision over the mulberry drape. She backed off, put a hand to her head. It touched nothing worth $40,000.

"Oh, dear," said Mrs. Channing, shaking her head in annoyance. "What a silly joke to play! Now I'll have to go and do my hair all over again."

Miss Meath's time for the journey from Mr. Channing's den to a certain tree some 200 yards from the house had been a neat nothing flat. In the tree, well within reach of a tall girl such as Gertie Swan, there was an aperture.

Miss Meath hesitated not. She put the diamond tiara in the aperture.

"R. I. P., honey," she whispered to it lovingly. "You're just one little trinket that Mr. Joseph Baboon-Face Slyncniski won't get his hands on."

When it came to double-crossing a pal, Miss Meath ranked with the first 10.

But, as she slipped elsewhere, Meath did not stop to congratulate herself on her proficiency as a double-crosser. Instead, coldly businesslike, she gained the site of the summerhouse, lately razed by the mysterious fire. Putting two fingers to her lips, she achieved a low whistle.

Instantly there was an upheaval in the rhododendrons.

"Is that you, Cracker?" Meath called softly.

"Who," came in a throaty growl, "d'ya t'ink it is, Fiorello LaGuardia?" And Mr. Slyncniski converged upon Miss Meath, like the mountain upon Mahomet.

Miss Meath surveyed the indistinct bulk and laughed, chillingly.

"How very very funny," she said. "What a gift of repartee!" Then her tone changed. "Well, what's biting yon now, you heel? You seem annoyed."

"Wha wouldn't be?" said the Cracker aggrievedly. "It's damp in dem bushes."

"Now isn't that just too bad." The edge in Meath's voice could have shaved the prophet. "But never mind. Muvver will run inside and get her little darling a snuggle-bunny."

"Aw, lay off, Goitie," said the Cracker uneasily.

"Well, stop beeting then. Now, Cracker, I came to see if you've got it straight. You understand that you're to come to the house at 12 sharp? They'll be having refreshments then. Well, I'll meet you out by the driveway and smuggle you upstairs. The wall safe is in Mrs. Channing's bedroom behind a picture of the Mona Lisa. . . ."

"I knew a dame wit' dat moniker onct," interrup'ed the Cracker, reminiscently. "Mona Murgatroyd. She usta woik in a one-arm jernt in Brownsville. Her an' me. . . ."

"Now this," said Meath, a fair interrupter herself, "is just the moment when I'm dying to hear about your love life. As I was saying . . . oh, skip it! I'll show you the safe myself. And it's got plenty in it. But if you make a noise, I'll tear your head off."

"Relax, sister," said Mr. Slyncniski confidently. "I kin crack a crib so soft an' easy it'd put a baby to sleep."

"Well, see that you do. Now don't forget! The driveway at 12 sharp."

"I got it," said the Cracker.

"If you have," said Meath, "it's the world's eighth wonder."

But she did him the honor of comparing watches.

Left alone again, Joe the Cracker was loath to return to the rhododendrons. He had almost two hours to wait, and with all this magnificence around him, he saw no reason to put them in sitting amid dew-soaked foliage.

As a preliminary step, he drew forth a bottle. Entirely counter to Miss Meath's injunctions, the Cracker had provided himself with this bottle against his lonely vigil. Now, shivering, he blessed his foresight. He tilted the bottle and took a Herculean drink.

This Curious World

THE BLAME FOR OVER-CONFIDENCE

The American people have been warned innumerable times against the dangers of over-confidence. Warnings have come from almost everyone in official life, including the President. Just the other day, Undersecretary of War Patterson blamed recent slumps in war production upon this cause.

Everyone recognizes the truth of the warnings. Everyone knows that over-confidence leads to slackening of effort.

Therefore, it becomes all the more difficult to understand why the President should be harping so strongly of late upon the subject of benefits for men who are discharged from the Armed Forces.

In one breath he says the end of the war may be far away. He stresses the necessity for undivided attention upon winning the war by everyone. In the next breath, he speaks of the millions of men now in the Armed Forces who are to be returned to civilian life.

Certainly he should know that the very fact that he speaks of the discharge of such men will be interpreted by many people as meaning that the demobilization of the armed forces may be started soon. Those people naturally suppose that demobilization won't be started until the war is won.

Thus they are encouraged—by the President above all others—to expect the war may be over soon. If this causes them to slacken their efforts, is anyone more to blame than the President himself?

Yesterday's Children

Fate Of Pyle's Ship Hung Upon Whim Of The Enemy . . .

Story Of Five Searchlights Will Linger Long

By ERNIE PYLE

Journal Roving Correspondent

WITH THE U. S. NAVY IN THE MEDITERRANEAN (by wireless-delayed) — As long as this ship of ours sails the high seas, even after every member of the present crew has been transferred away, I'm sure the story of the searchlights will linger on in the wardroom and forecastle like a written legend.

It is the story of a few minutes when the fate of this ship hung upon the whim of the enemy. For some reason which we probably will never know the command to obliterate us was never given.

ERNIE PYLE

Our great, bad moment occurred just as we had ended our long invasion voyage from North Africa and stopped at our designated place off the south coast of Sicily. Our ship was about three and a half miles from shore which in the world of big guns is practically hanging in the cannon muzzle. Two or three smaller ships were in closer than we but the bulk of our invasion fleet stood far out to sea behind us. Our Admiral had the reputation of always getting up close where he could have a hand in the shooting and he certainly ran true to form throughout this invasion.

Concentrated On Us

We'd been stopped only a minute when big searchlights blinked on from the shore and began to search the waters. Apparently the watchers ashore had heard some sounds at sea. The lights swept back and forth across the dark water and after a few exploratory sweeps one of them centered dead upon us and stopped. Then as we held our breaths the searchlights, one by one, came down with their beams upon our ships. They had found their mark.

All five of them stretching out over a shore line of several miles pinioned us in their white shafts as we sat there as naked as babies and just as scared. I would have been glad to bawl like one if it would have helped for this searchlight business meant the enemy had us on the block. We not only were discovered, we were caught in a funnel from which there was no escaping.

We couldn't possibly move fast enough to run out of their beams. We were within simple and easy gunning distance. We were a sitting duck. We were stuck on the end of five merciless poles of light. We were utterly helpless.

Children Became Orphans!

"WHEN that fifth searchlight stopped on us all my children became orphans," one of the officers said later.

Another one said, "The straw that broke my back was when the anchor went down. The chain made so much noise you could have heard it.

A third one said, "The fellow standing next to me was breathing so hard I couldn't hear the anchor go down. Then I realized there wasn't anybody standing next to me."

We got all set to shoot at the lights but then we waited. Our Admiral decided there was some possibility they couldn't see us through the slight haze although he was at a loss to explain why all five lights stopped on us if they couldn't see us.

Had Three Alternatives

We had three alternatives—to start shooting and thus compel return fire; to up anchor and run for it; or to sit quiet like a mouse and wait in terror. We did the latter.

I don't know how long the five lights were on us. It seemed like hours. It may have been five minutes. At any rate at the end of some unbelievably long time one of them suddenly blinked out. Then one by one, seemingly erratically and with no purpose in mind, the others went out, too. The last one held us a long time as though playing with us. Then it too went out and we were once again alone in the blessed darkness. Not a shot had been fired.

Lights Soon Shot Out

ASSAULT boats had been speeding past us all the time and a few minutes later they hit the beach. The searchlights flashed on again but from then on they were busy fanning the beach itself. It didn't take our attacking troops long to shoot the lights out from close range.

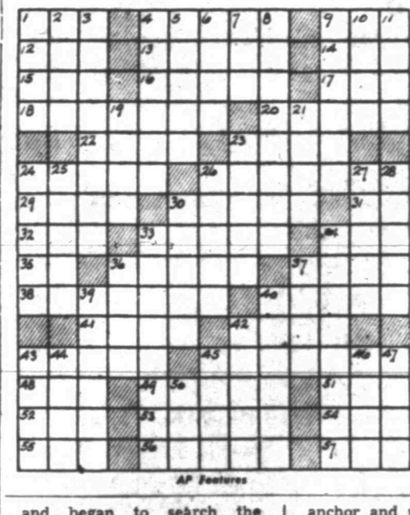

I'm not sure some of them weren't just turned out and left off for good. We've never yet found out for sure why the Italian big guns on the shore didn't let us have it. Several of us inquired around when we got ashore after daylight. We never found the searchlight men themselves but from other Italian soldiers and citizens of the town we learned that the people ashore were so damn scared at whatever was about to attack them from out there on the water that they were afraid to start anything.

I guess I'm always going to have to love the Italians for anybody else behind those searchlights and guns that night and we of this ship would be telling our searchlight yarn to St. Peter by now.

Guy Johnson Buried In Austin Saturday

Lubbock relatives returned Sunday night from Austin where they attended funeral services Saturday for Guy H. Johnson, 37, former resident here, who died July 27 in an El Paso hospital after long illness.

The survivors include his widow; his mother, Mrs. H. H. Johnson, and a sister, Mrs. Glenn C. Jones, both of 2707 Twenty-ninth street, and a brother R. P. Johnson, 2624 Twenty-second street, all of Lubbock; and a sister, Mrs. M. M. Mitchell of Austin.

A building contractor popularly known as "Judge," Mr. Johnson moved from Lubbock to Austin about 10 years ago. He was a member of the national guard while here.

Toy Pistol Used By Woman To Nab Negro

DALLAS, Aug. 2 (U.P.) — Mrs. Helen Yarbrough of Dallas today had the admiration of city police.

Last night Mrs. Yarbrough heard someone trying to break in the rear of her home. She took a pistol and went around to the back of the house, slipping up behind the would-be burglar, a negro. She pressed the pistol against his back and told him:

"Don't move or I'll blow you in two."

When police arrived, Mrs. Yarbrough was still holding the negro — with a toy pistol.

News Briefs

Bond of $500 was set by County Judge G. V. Pardue this morning for Wallace Cox, who pleaded innocent of aggravated assault on T. R. Hutson. Complaining witness Mrs. Hutson charged that Cox entered Hutson's private residence to make the alleged assault.

Solon Lee, police recorder, was on 15-day vacation this morning, two days after M. N. Davidson, night sergeant of police, returned to duties after vacationing.

Mrs. Floe Swenson and Mrs. Jacqueline Siniard returned to their desks as deputies county clerk this morning after several weeks of hospitalization. Mrs. Siniard underwent surgery, Mrs. Swenson medical treatment.

The sun's rays cooked an egg in the yard of the S. J. Terral home, 407 Thirtieth street, last Friday and Saturday, according to Terral, who brought the egg to the Avalanche-Journal editorial rooms today and showed it. Terral said he had a flock of laying hens—and one guinea hen. The guinea had dropped the egg in the sand in the sunny part of the yard, and there it lay for a couple of days. Mrs. Terral picked it up Saturday, placed it in the refrigerator, and when she started to use it in her cooking today, found that it already was "half-done."

Lt. Col. Marvin B. Durrette, commander of the West Texas Recruiting and Induction district, today announced the promotion of 15 enlisted men under his command. The following 9 men were promoted to sergeant: Tech. 4th Grade Ray A. Noret, Cpl. Walter C. Baldwin, Cpl. George D. Hinson, jr., Tech. 5th Grade Joseph F. Barlow, Pfc. Kenneth G. Martin, Pfc. Christian C. Hoffman, jr., Cpl. Glen E. Dawson, Cpl. Troy P. Ross, Tech. 5th Grade Dan M. J. Castles, Tech. 4th Grade Eugee Y. Merriam and Tech. 5th Grade Dewitt R. Reid.

Glider Crash

today will take over an investigation begun immediately after the crash.

Maj. Ralph Page, head of the Army service command at Lambert field, reported all gliders there have been grounded until the formal investigation is complete.

Col. Johnston said the glider was accepted for the Army Friday by Hazelton, after customary tests, and that it made a flight with six persons aboard about two hours before taking off on the fatal trip.

Had Army's Approval

The pilot, Klugh, with eight years of glider flying experience, was regarded as one of the best in the nation.

The flight demonstration had the Army's approval as one of a series to acquaint the nation with the comparatively new type aircraft.

Robertson was a leading aviation figure linked as a financial backer with Charles A. Lindbergh's trans-Atlantic flight in May, 1927.

Closer Scrutiny Of War Spending Seen

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—President Roosevelt's renewed request for "stiff" increases in taxes—made in a review of the revised $105,869,000 budget for this fiscal year—appeared likely today to be countered in Congress with bipartisan demands for closer scrutiny of government spending.

Senator Wherry (R-Neb) told an interviewer he believed the huge financial problem ought to involve reduced government outlays as well as enactment of new taxes.

"Some of the unnecessary appropriations must be curtailed if we are going to keep America financially sound," Wherry declared.

Service Requests Due Study

Similarly, Senator Radcliffe (D-Md) said he thought Congress was preparing to look much more closely into future Army and Navy requests, a subject the Byrd committee on reduction of non-essential expenditures has marked for early exploration.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio) predicted that Congress will have trouble in finding additional revenue sources for the "truly stiff program of additional taxes, savings, or both" that Mr. Roosevelt said ought to be enacted.

Over-All Picture Unchanged

In his first budget summation in five years, the President disclosed Saturday that while the over-all war spending outlook remains unchanged, the Army now is expected to use $6,000,000,000 less than the $62,000,000,000 estimated for it last January, while the Navy's share will be upped $4,000,000,000 to $28,000,000,000. Congressional circles viewed this as perhaps indicating greater offensive power was being sought for the Pacific theater dominated by the Navy.

The summation placed total government spending during the fiscal year at $106,000,000,000, of which $38,000,000,000 will be covered by receipts from present revenue laws, leaving a $68,000,000,000 deficit that will boost the national debt to $206,000,000,000 by next June 30.

Spending in the past year aggregated $80,000,000,000—all but $5,000,000,000 for war—while receipts of $22,000,000,000 left a deficit of $58,000,000,000.

Produce Market

KANSAS CITY REPORT

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 2 (AP) — Produce: eggs, standards to special 38.7-44.2; eggs, current receipts 37.7; butterfat 42-46; butter 41.47-42.32; poultry: Hens 23.50; broilers, fryers, springs, all 27.18; old roosters and stags 19.50; turkeys, young, 30.68-33.18; turkeys, old, 28.68-31.18.

Grain Market

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Aug. 2 (AP) — Grains weakened in late dealings today as selling came into the rye pit from houses with eastern connections. News advices saying the Allies had started their all-out push in Sicily and easiness in securities discouraged buying.

Losses were mainly confined to fractions and trade continued light. The decline appeared to result from absence of buying orders rather than any aggressive selling. Oats held relatively firm.

At the close wheat was ¼-⅜ lower, September $1.43¾-⅞, December $1.44½-¾; oats were ¼-½ lower, September 80¾, and rye was down ¾-⅞, September $1.50¾-½.

FORT WORTH REPORT

FORT WORTH, Aug. 2 (AP) — Wheat No. 1 hard winter, 1.41¾-43¾.

Stock Market

BLUE CHIPS WEAK

NEW YORK, Aug. 2, (AP) — The stock market went into lower ground today after feeble recovery efforts failed to stimulate any appreciable buying interest.

Late retreat was accelerated by weakness in a few blue chips, notably American Telephone, which fell more than 3 points, and Dupont, off around 2. These and other heavy losers suffered from lack of bids rather than pressure of offerings.

Extreme declines ran from 1 to 2 or more points for such stocks as Standard Oil (N. J.), Pepsi-Cola, Dow Chemical, Allied Chemical, Santa Fe, Johns-Manville and Douglas Aircraft.

Other losers in the final hour included U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, U. S. Rubber, Woolworth, Montgomery Ward, Westinghouse, American Can, General Electric, Texas Co., Southern Pacific, Southern Railway and Baltimore & Ohio.

Transactions amounted to around 1,200,000 shares.

At lower levels in the curb were Aluminum of America, Cities Service, American Cyanamid and Sherwin Williams.

Cotton Market

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Aug. 2 (AP) — Subsidence in peace talk coupled with a scarcity of offerings advanced cotton today.

Continued dullness in the spot market was a regarding factor, but hedge selling and liquidation was noticeably light. New contracts, which became operative today, were selling at a premium of 19 to 25 points above the old contract, but there was little trading.

Futures closed (old contract) 40 to 66 cents a bale higher.

ticipate in legislative sessions, were questions yet to be answered.

It is possible that a new speaker would be elected, in the event Daniel could not attend.

If this policy were adopted, it would put Rep. Claude Gilmer of Rock Springs in a favored spot, since at the close of the last general session he announced he had pledges from more than a majority of House members to support him for speaker at the next general session. Daniel had announced he would not be candidate for speaker at the next general session.

Bestwick Discusses Tires At Luncheon

Because the OPA district office is located in Lubbock and "all we have to do is reach for a telephone to get straightened out on some puzzling problem," the Lubbock county war price and rationing board has been a little more fortunately situated than some others, Clarence A. Bestwick said in a talk before the Junior Chamber of Commerce today, Hilton hotel.

Ray Farmer presented Bestwick. The speaker is chief clerk for the rationing panels here, and has been appearing at luncheon clubs and other meetings.

Bestwick said tires, of all the things the government is rationing, are scarcest, hold less promise of again being plentiful, and the rationing of them has caused more grumbling, more violations, and more dissatisfaction with the public than any other commodity.

The speaker paid tribute to members who "are taking the rap" on the board, and he said a puzzling problem with board members is why parents allow their youngsters to burn up gasoline and tires on the streets of Lubbock to such an extent this practice is becoming noticeable and a frequent subject of unfavorable comment in other places.

He said tires for civilians will not be available until 1944, according to the government spokesmen. In the meantime, dairy trucks, peace officers, public utility vehicles, and those in essential industry have recapped their old tires, some of them as many as three times, in a real effort at conservation.

"You people here don't know what a friendly, serviceable rationing board you have," Bestwick said, "unless you go elsewhere and find the doors locked, a slit in the door to drop your request into, and a wait of many days perhaps before your request is answered by mail." He said the Lubbock rationing board has not seen fit to treat the public quite that impersonally, and yet "we have lots of complaints," he said.

ond by American fliers on the Ploesti fields and it was by far the biggest. The first American mission was carried out in Jan. 1942, by 15 bombers, four of which were forced down in Turkey on the return trip. The area also has been bombed intermittently by the Red Army Air force.

Returning pilots said they encountered considerable fighter opposition both on the way in to the target and for some time after they left. They also reported heavy anti-aircraft fire over the fields. Complete figures on enemy losses were not available but preliminary reports by the returning pilots indicated that dozens of planes were knocked down.

schools up to 28 or 30 cents, instead of reducing it to 10 cents or less. The present state ad valorem tax for schools is 33 cents on $100.

Gaynor Kendall, who for many years has handled the state board's bond issues, closed his work for the board today and a resolution acknowledged the profit to the state from his handling of bonds—particularly a recent transfer netting the school fund about $300,000 profit.

Kendall's job was abolished in the new appropriation for state departments to be effective Sept. 1.

Harlem Disorders

were closed on the order of the mayor.

The west 123rd street police station, established as headquarters for operations of the authorities, was cluttered with clothing, furniture, liquor, canned goods and groceries, picked up from the streets where they had been abandoned by looters.

Hospitals Overflowing

Harlem hospitals were overflowing with injured men and women, the majority negroes. Some were being treated in corridors and as the injured list increased, police began taking patients to hospitals in other sections of the city.

Four negro civilians were killed by gunfire. Bottles and bricks rained down from rooftops as 6,000 police drawn from all parts of the city sought to quell the widespread disorders.

One of the eight shot was a patrolman on special duty in Harlem. His condition was described as serious.

Mayor LaGuardia remained in the area all night directing police operations.

Negro Soldier Shot

The disturbances were touched off when a white policeman shot and wounded a negro soldier, who police said, attempted to interfere with the arrest of a negro woman in a hotel lobby.

Approximately a dozen emergency trucks patrolled the area along with 5,000 patrolmen and 1,000 detectives—wearing white air raid helmets—when looting of stores was reported.

Blocks of stores had their display windows smashed in. Looting was one of the major police headaches during the night and authorities sought to minimize loss to storekeepers by removing stocks to station houses.

La Guardia Booed

Early in the evening Mayor La Guardia, who was booed when he made a direct appeal to the people from the steps of a Harlem police station, ordered all traffic off surrounding streets.

He later ordered that no liquor was to be sold in Harlem until further notice.

Only police-escorted food and milk delivery trucks will be allowed into the section today, the mayor said. All buses will be halted. One crosstown trolley line will operate under police supervision, La Guardia said.

Troops Sent To District

Six trucks carrying armed troops were sent into the district last night to round up soldiers on leave and get them out of the area.

Vacations for all police officers above the rank of lieutenant were cancelled and those now on vacation were ordered home immediately. All police were placed on emergency detail.

Police reported the following negroes killed:

Sterling Stokes, 20, found on a street corner suffering a gunshot wound of the thigh. He died later at Bellevue hospital.

Frank Stoner, 40, shot by a patrolman after, police said, he drew a six-inch knife when ordered to drop a suitcase he was carrying from a luggage store.

Michael Young, 43, found dead with a gunshot wound in the chest in a doorway.

Zinc Randolph, 35, negro, shot by a patrolman who said the man was running away from a grocery store after he had broken a window and taken merchandise.

Bullets, knives, bottles, fists, bricks and other missiles accounted for the majority of injuries.

Altercation Started Disorder

Precipitating the disorders, police said, was an altercation between Patrolman James Collins and Pvt. Robert Bandy, 26, Middletown, Conn.

Police said that Bandy interfered when Collins attempted to arrest a negro woman on a disorderly conduct charge, grabbed the patrolman's nightstick and beat him on the head with it.

Collins, police reported, drew his service revolver and shot the soldier in the shoulder. Bandy was taken to a hospital where his condition was reported as good.

As the looting and disorders continued throughout the early morning, two police cars, equipped with loudspeakers, cruised through the district, appealing to the crowds to remain at home.

It is estimated that about 800,000 persons in the United States are suffering from diabetes.

Young Boy Has Been Busy Stealing Bikes

An 11-year-old Lubbock boy hasn't lived long in Lubbock—but he has been busy, nevertheless.

He informed officials this morning, when confronted with accusations he had stolen a bicycle, he had taken seven bikes.

A petition, in accordance with new procedure in juvenile court, was filed against him. Hearing will be later.

Floyd Reed of 620 Avenue A informed police a bike, had been stolen from him.

A negro was held for investigation into possession of a draft card not his own. Police said he allegedly had drawn a gun on another negro earlier.

The sheriff's department at Seminole asked other South Plains officials to watch for three runaway girls, 14 and 15 years old.

Edd Dye of Post said he had lost a billfold containing approximately $30 in currency and $46 in check he had endorsed.

A 54-year-old negro was held for charges after he had been found in possession of three pints of whisky, police said.

Police arrested 20 persons over the weekend, for gambling, drunkenness, disturbance and for continued investigation into unstated offenses.

Ed Robnett arrested a negro who allegedly had threatened to kill another black, and found a long knife in the waistband of the suspect's trousers.

All-Out Push On In Sicily

swept up Mistretta, six miles directly south of San Stefano as the troops of Lt. Gen. George S. Patton, jr., cracked through the Etna defenses.

Steady progress was reported officially all along the Sicilian front, and the Eighth army was said to have repelled strong German counter-attacks with heavy losses. Canadians battling ahead in the central area were engaged in heavy fighting, but their advances continued.

Yanks Take 10,000 Nazis

The Americans took 10,000 more prisoners in the fall of Mistretta alone. The majority were Nazis, giving the Americans their largest bag of Germans.

Capture of San Stefano put the Americans in full control of a major road running from the southward through Nicosia and gave them a strategic artery for quick transport of troops and guns through the vital north.

Both target areas at Naples and Capodichino were "well covered by bomb bursts," the headquarters communique stated, and eight Axis planes were shot down in aerial battles.

Other Allied planes ranged ahead of the attacking ground troops in Sicily, with medium bombers hammering the port of Milazzo, used to bring in Axis reinforcements, and other planes hitting the vital communications centers of Adrano and Randazzo in the diminishing Axis bridgehead.

Five enemy planes were shot down over Sicily besides the eight downed over Italy itself, and one Allied plane was lost in all operations, headquarters said.

Warships Bombard Mainland

Allied seapower again carried the war to the Italian mainland, with warships bombarding the port of Vibo Valentia Marina, on the south side of the Gulf of San Eufemia 50 miles northeast of Messina, a railway bridge across the river Oliva 22 miles to the north, and the harbor of Crotone, on the Ionian sea to the southeast. These actions were carried out from Saturday night through early Sunday.

"Two good fires were started (at Crotone) and two patrol craft were sunk," said a naval communique. "Retaliatory fire from the shore was ineffective."

Crotone had been heavily shelled by the British in mid-July.

Naval Forces Aid Yanks

"American naval forces are rendering effective support by their gunfire for the advance of the (U. S.) Seventh army along the road of the north coast of Sicily," the communique said. "To the north and northeast of Sicily, American P-T boats continue their offensive operations against the enemy."

While their British and Canadian allies to the south found slow going against sturdy defenses dug in at the base of Mt. Etna and along the fringe of the Catania plain, the Americans advanced swiftly in a two-day drive forcing the Germans to order a general withdrawal to take up new positions on high ground.

Latest reports placed American forces at Castel di Tusa on the Tyrrhenian sea coast and at Motta, Pettineo and Castel di Lucio in the interior.

Under Heavy Fire

The position at Castel di Tusa was under heavy fire from German 88mm artillery. The barrage was described as one of the heaviest of the entire Sicilian campaign and civilians in the coastal town were forced to take shelter in a tunnel.

The American advance was over extremely rough terrain and the Axis defenders were apparently taking advantage of every elevated point, bitterly contesting each thrust before giving way.

Units of the Seventh army pushing forward from Nicosia in the interior were threatening Troina, a vital Axis communications junction, 11 miles away.

At the southeastern end of the Allied line the British still were hammering away against what was described as "very strong resistance." A delayed dispatch yesterday revealed that the British and Canadians had driven across a river Friday capturing an unidentified town and gaining control of a road junction "opening routes to the northeast and northwest."

Italians Said Fleeing Cities

the Madrid dispatches but they said that Luigi Cardinal Maglione, papal secretary of state, and Mgr. Giovanni Battista Montoni, Vatican under-secretary of state, were meeting foreign diplomats "day and night."

One semi-official report received in Madrid said that Cardinal Maglione, after conversations with Harold Tittman, American charge d'affaires, called on Premier Badoglio at the royal palace.

Swiss reports said that quiet seemed to have been restored nearly everywhere within Italy, but the far-reaching effects of the nation's crisis continued to be felt outside her borders.

Nuns Disarm Italians

British Middle East headquarters at Cairo announced it had proof that Germans in Crete, apparently fearful that an Italian surrender would result in an exodus of Italian-occupation troops from the Balkans, had disarmed some Italian units garrisoned there. One unit was said to have refused to give up its weapons although surrounded and already fired upon.

Reports reaching Ankara said that thousands of tracts calling for a Bulgarian break with the Axis had been distributed in Sofia Saturday. "While there is still time, let us imitate Italy's example," the circulars were said to have declared.

The Spanish press, taking a line far different from that of a few weeks ago, said yesterday that Germany has abandoned all hope for a future offensive, and the Berlin correspondent for "YA" went further by saying that Germany is now engaged in "extreme defensa"—which may be interpreted as "last stand."

Youths Get Fractures In Unusual Accidents

Several youths suffered fractures in unusual accidents Sunday, and other patients remained in hospitals for treatment of injuries suffered in Friday and Saturday accidents.

Fracture of his right leg just below the knee was suffered by 10-year-old Ross Dean Hinson of Spur Star route 2, son of Mr. and Mrs. I. C. Hinson, when he was kicked by a horse. He entered West Texas hospital at 8 o'clock Sunday night.

Another 10-year-old boy, Franklin Dunn, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. V. Dunn of Abernathy route 1, suffered compound fracture of both bones in his right arm when he fell from a tree. He entered the hospital at 7:40 o'clock Sunday night.

Fracture of his right hip was suffered by 15-year-old Billy Joe Short, son of Mrs. Vonie Short of 1505 Twenty-second street while he and other boys were roping goats Sunday afternoon in the vicinity of Third street and Paris avenue. The boy suffered the injury when he jumped from a horse. He is expected to removed home from West Texas hospital this afternoon.

Two patients injured in automobile accidents entered Lubbock General hospital over the week-end. Examination revealed neither had suffered fractures.

Five-year-old Guanda Ann Cummings, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Cummings, jr. of Post, entered at 9:30 o'clock Saturday night after having been struck by a car in Post as she was crossing a street. She suffered only bruises and was considered satisfactory in condition this morning.

Marion O'Briant, 17, son of M. F. O'Briant of Rotan, entered early Sunday morning for treatment of lacerations on the neck and face suffered in an automobile accident.

O. B. Daniel, city secretary of Idalou, is in West Texas hospital for treatment of fracture of the right leg suffered Friday when his bicycle overturned in Idalou. He was riding his bicycle across a street when he overturned it to avoid collision with two approaching cars, it was reported.

merely very good eating.

"Man-eating crocodiles," he continues, "represent another very much overrated danger. They're big, to be sure, but they have minute brains, very little initiative and certainly no courage."

Brainy or not, he said, look out for crocs longer than 15 feet—if they're that big they don't have to be smart to bite.

Brushing aside vampire bats, tropical leeches, and such small fry, the anonymous author reassures the soldier that he won't have to cope with tigers until he hits Bali, Sumatra or Borneo.

He cautions:

"Don't bother the big animals and they won't bother you."

Thanks, pal.

Charles Stewart Dies In Hospital Sunday

Charles Stewart, 72, died at 10 o'clock Sunday morning in St. Mary's hospital, where he had been a patient 11 days.

Mr. Stewart had been living at the Kelly hotel.

He is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Gertrude Mae Lyne of National City, Calif.; two sons, C. E. of Amarillo and John of Dallas, and one grandson, Charley Reynolds of Belin, N. M.

Funeral services will be conducted at 4 o'clock this afternoon in Plains Funeral home chapel, with Dr. C. E. Hereford of the First Baptist church officiating. Burial will be in Lubbock cemetery.

Witness Describes Battle For Catania

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Hugh Baillie, president of the United Press, is in Sicily and in the following dispatch presents an eye-witness account of the battle of Catania).

BY HUGH BAILLIE
United Press Staff Writer

WITH BRITISH 8TH ARMY, Before Catania, July 30—(Delayed)—You see Catania over there on the opposite hillside, so near and yet so far, shimmering in the heat haze, a whitish town terracing down to the lower bastion of Mount Etna.

In between you and the town lies the Catania plain, a brown landscape dotted with green trees. And down there on that plain are the British and German armies.

The German line runs through a long ridge which looks wooded and pleasant. The British are down there on the brown plain somewhere but you can't see them.

Batteries Are Behind

However, their batteries are behind you. The sharp crack-crack of artillery comes intermittently, followed by the abrupt yell of shells arching overhead. There are curses. You see smoke drifting where the shells hit. It looks like a smudge from grass fires.

The bridge you stroll over is an occasional target for German guns. There are shell holes around here and there. The farm houses in the vicinity are smashed as if by earthquakes.

Plenty Of Battle Stink

There is plenty of the stink of battle. One sharp bend in the road nearby is called, most appropriately, dead horse corner and you know why when you whiff the breeze. There was sharp fighting here recently and the evidences remain. Graves are here and there, and rough crosses, some with helmets stuck on them. Several very dead Germans lie in attitudes utterly relaxed. One has his right arm over his head in a macabre caricature of Heil Hitler. Rifles, ammunition and iron helmets are strewn everywhere but you don't touch anything. Remember booby traps.

There are heavy rumblings from tranquil looking Catania. Brownish gray smoke billows up lazily from the town. Men are dying. Men are losing limbs and eyes.

But after Hollywood movies it seems rather undramatic. It is all way over there in that Riviera-looking town or down in that plain which resembles the San Joaquin valley. There is one effect you don't find in movie theaters however. That is the smell of death.

Roads Are Poor

The road wanders over the shoulders of the hills paralleling the front. Strange that a would-be empire builder like Mussolini should have such foul roads right in his home country. Empires need roads. The Romans knew that. Along the roads the Sicilians are threshing grain as if nothing is going on. One old chap shambles along with a valise on a stick like a good old American hobo.

All along is the litter of war, such as burned out trucks and smashed planes. And always those intermittent basso rumbles from Catania and the occasional industrious whack-whack of our artillery.

Some distance off you find the headquarters of a famous division. From it emerges a figure familiar to all, Americans and British alike. You can't mistake that beret, that sharp glance. Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery gets around over a lot of territory.

Radiates Alertness, Eagerness

Montgomery radiates alertness and eagerness. "The Americans are going wonderfully," he says. "I saw General (George S.) Patton and we discussed plans. By the way, I nearly killed myself in that Flying Fortress landing yesterday. We burned out the brakes rushing down a short runway and finally the pilot slewed it around just in time." Then he climbed into his open car and was off about his business of battle. Montgomery's car is like no other. It carries desert compasses, including one Messerschmitt compass.

Along the rough, bumpy road we pass through a shelled area where the Germans made repeated attempts to destroy a bridge. Girders are twisted and the roadway holed. We pass a former German airfield neatly patterned with American bomb craters and littered with the wreckage of German planes that never got a chance to arise to fight.

There is a Sicilian farmhouse a few miles away where we tarry to talk to the farmer. He informs us he used to live in the Bronx but returned to Sicily because his old parents wanted to die at home. What does he think about things? First he wants to know whether the Germans are ever coming back. Reassured on that point, he asks when all the "trouble" will end. Told it won't be long now, he smiles happily and remarks he will be glad to have the trouble over so he won't need to worry any more about those banging noises which scare his cows and chickens.

Synthetic Gas Plant Is Urged

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2. (U.P.)—An immediate start on development of a synthetic gasoline industry, through construction by the government of a plant for the manufacture of gasoline from coal, will be urged on Congress this week by government officials, backed by scientists, economists and industrial representatives.

Appearing before the Senate and House public lands committees, witnesses will exhibit synthetic gasoline made in Pittsburgh at the U. S. Bureau of Mines' experiment station, where a "toy-size" synthetic plant has been in operation for eight years.

The gasoline has been used in airplanes and tanks, and the committee will be shown a motor operating on the fuel. The hearings will move to Pittsburgh Friday, and later to Salt Lake City for investigation of the use of western coals.

Seek Approval Of Bill

The witnesses are seeking approval of the O'Mahoney bill, to authorize construction of a larger plant that could work out the economics of operation as a guide to private plants of the same sort.

They will stress the dwindling reserves of domestic petroleum, and the thesis that the future of the gasoline age requires attention now to alternate methods of producing liquid guel.

The Pittsburgh plant is the only one in the western hemisphere producing synthetic gasoline. Using 100 pounds of coal a day, it turns out liquid fuel by the bergius process at a cost of 12 to 25 cents a gallon.

Used In Other Countries

In contrast, Germany, according to Interior department officials, is getting more than one-third of its gasoline from synthetic sources, England is getting enough synthetic production to keep one bomber fleet over Europe, and Japan is known to have synthetic production.

The bergius process is described as producing a gasoline superior to Germany's. The Pittsburgh experiment station now is building a laboratory plant to produce synthetic fuel by the Fischer-Tropsch process, which is expected to develop heavier fuels.

Interior department officals say that development of synthetic plants, in view of the nation's vast reserves of coal, will extend the gasoline age a thousand years.

U. S. Now Has 34,215 Mexican Farm Hands

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 2. (AP)—The Mexican farm worker migration to the United States since the program started in September, 1942, totals 34,215, H. J. Brown, of the Farm Security administration, disclosed in a speech. On July 15, he reported the number as 31,936.

Including rail workers, 46,250 Mexicans have gone to the United States, Brown said. He added that contracts have been complied with except in isolated instances.

Pilot With Foot Cut Off By Zero's Prop Hopes To Fly Again

BY CHARLES P. ARNOT
United Press Staff Writer

U. S. NAVAL HOSPITAL, Pearl Harbor, Aug. 2.—1st Lieutenant Samuel S. Logan, 22, of Paola, Kas., awkwardly adjusted his crutches today and spoke wistfully of the day when he'll return to active service as a marine fighter pilot.

Logan's right foot was hacked off by the propeller of a Japanese Zero that attacked him repeatedly a month ago as he parachuted from his damaged plane over the Solomons.

Today he has a bandaged stump where his foot and ankle used to be, but his fighting heart is as sound as ever.

Expresses Confidence

"Just give me a few months' rest and an artificial foot," he said confidently, "and I'll be back in shape to fly again."

Sam tried to tuck his right leg behind his good left leg so it wouldn't be quite so conspicuous. Then he added:

"Maj. Alexander de Seversky did it in the last war, you know. Lost a leg while flying for the Russian air force and went on to become one of the world's foremost fliers."

There is good evidence that the Japanese already regret that day in June when a Zero pilot made four passes at Sam Logan as he parachuted down from 5,000 feet over the Russel islands. Logan's fellow Corsair pilots haven't forgotten that act, disdained by even the most ruthless fighter pilots.

Someone pointed out to Sam that it was shortly after they heard of his harrowing experience that American fighter pilots went out and shot down 94 of 120 Japanese planes attacking Guadalcanal.

But Logan has a personal score to settle and he's waiting for that artificial leg to give him his chance.

"My 'accident'", he said, "occurred on my second combat mission. On my first one I bagged one Zero over Bougainville. And I'm hoping it won't be my last."

Rodeo Success At Brownfield

BROWNFIELD, Aug. 2 (Special)—Terry county laid down its weeding hoe Saturday afternoon and came to town to mingle in the largest rodeo crowd in the town's history. The celebration was a success from every angle.

The gate was the largest, prizes were more numerous, the program throughout Saturday and Sunday the most varied and spectacular, and the entire show is pronounced by everyone to have been the best ever staged.

Saturday afternoon's parade was a crowd-getter. The cowboy dance Saturday night surpassed all expectations, and the riding and roping were up to par in every particular. Business men believe the entertainment was well worth while, and came as a brief respite in the extreme farm labor campaign which gradually is winning in a fight to save the crops.

Labor Situation Eases

A. L. Hartzog, county agent, reports the county's farm labor situation has eased somewhat. Most of the fields are being manned. A number of workers have been sent into the county. The peak of the chopping season has passed. Abandonment of cotton acreage will be relatively small because of inability to get the crop cleaned, Hartzog said, although a lot of work yet remains.

Local labor has been the big help. Farmers and their families have gone to the fields as never before. Feed crops have been neglected somewhat while cotton received attention. The prospects for prisoner labor seem to be growing dimmer.

Hartzog said crops have staged a come-back, after hail, rainstorm, wind, and every other damage nature could devise in the early part of the season, and grain and feed especially are looking good. Forrest Gresham has nearly 200 acres of combine maize which will be ready for harvest by Aug. 15.

Club Boys Buy Calves

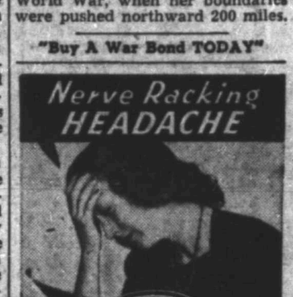

So far, Hartzog said, there have been 28 calves bought for 4-H and FFA boys for feeding and breeding purposes, and about 30 more will be bought. Brownfield business men are helping in this, led by the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Approximately $172 has been paid out during the past two months as bounties for coyote scalps, rabbit ears, and ravens' feet, according to Mrs. O. L. Jones, county treasurer.

Most of the schools will open in August, and the teacher shortage is less acute than seemed would be the case earlier. A check showed last week that only 16 shortages existed at that time.

Italy gained control of the historic Brenner Pass after the first World War, when her boundaries were pushed northward 200 miles.

"Sure you made it ahead of me, but just give me a few months—I'll be up there with you! Those wings on my lapel mean I'm a member of the U. S. Army Air Forces, too. I'm waiting for my 18th birthday before I start my training, counting the days till I can be an Aviation Cadet!"

IF YOU are 17 and not yet 18, you can apply for examination at any Aviation Cadet Examining Board. If qualified, you may receive your "Silver Wings" identification badge. When you become 18 and are called to active duty you will get your opportunity for Aviation Cadet training—Bombardier, Navigator or Pilot — in the U. S. Army Air Forces.

If you are between 18 and 26, inclusive — either in or out of the Army — you may apply now for Aviation Cadet training and receive a Certificate of Qualification upon meeting physical and mental requirements.

The free booklet, "Aviation Cadet Training for the Army Air Forces," explains how to become a fighting flier. You may obtain a copy from your nearest Aviation Cadet Examining Board or Army Recruiting Station. Or clip and mail the coupon below.

If you are interested in Naval Aviation Cadet Training, apply at any Naval Recruiting Station for information, or write to the Chief of Naval Personnel, Washington, D. C.

Some Insects Found In Cotton Of Area

Lice, leafworms, and fleahoppers all are present in South Plains cotton fields, according to K. N. Clapp's weekly crop reporting letter sent out for the Anderson, Clayton Co., but not in sufficient force to cause damage. The hot dry weather during the last week has retarded the insects' dirty work.

The letter said condition of the crop is good, the weather has been excellent, with showers and good rains to the westward, where it was most needed. Progress of the crop for two weeks has been excellent. Many half-grown bolls have been noted.

About 10 per cent of the total acreage still is weedy. Cleaning continues, with only a small amount of abandonment. Choppers are scarce and temperamental; getting 50 cents an hour, but efforts are somewhat a la WPA. "Some speed-ups have been obtained," the letter said, "by ice watering every 200 feet—with soda pop at the end of each row.

OPA Spokesman Sees Critical Egg Shortage By Next Winter

By JAMES MARLOW And GEORGE ZIELKE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2. (AP) — There will be a critical egg shortage in this country by next December, a spokesman for the Office of Price administration (OPA) said today.

"It will be the worst egg shortage in this nation's history," he said. "It will be accompanied by a bad black market. No plan for mid-winter egg rationing is being considered. I don't see how we could do it, the problem is so huge."

This is the explanation he gave:

Right now this country is passing the peak of its egg production. Hens do their best laying in spring and early summer, producing in that time 60 per cent of the annual egg supply.

Production To Decline

From that early summer peak production falls off to a low point in mid-winter.

Normally cold storage eggs help tide Americans over the slack winter months. This year there will be no cold storage eggs for civilians. They will go to the armed forces.

Thirty per cent of the total egg production will be turned into dried eggs but—that entire 30 per cent will be bought by the government for the armed forces and lend-lease.

Bakers who use dried eggs in their work will suffer for lack of them, will have to get along on what fresh eggs they can buy and on frozen eggs.

Usually those frozen eggs are eggs damaged on their way to market and salvaged by freezing for future use.

One reason why the control problem is huge and the black market can be serious:

Approximately six million farmers supply the nation's eggs and 98 per cent of them have flocks of less than 400 hens. They are spread across the country.

England tried to solve its own egg shortage problems by buying up all the eggs but even there the black market in them thrives.

OPA says Britain considers its egg black market the hardest to crush since producers do not always sell to the government but hold back eggs for better private prices from black market dealers.
