WHITE FARMER SHOT, NEGRO FLEES

Pre-Revival Crowd Packs Two Churches

So This Is Texas

Colonel Harry Haines—
Smith of New Orleans—
Money Talks—
And a Big "Tater" Crop.

By H. N. Fitzgerald.

COLONEL Harry H. Haines is making a town to town speaking campaign of Texas. He is the republican nominee for governor. He is his own prophet. He predicts his election over Dan Moody in November. His most powerful selling point is that of a two-party government, saying that thereby the best men would be elected and the best administration be given.

How about Jack Walton in Oklahoma?

How about Len Small in Illinois?

How about Billy Sulzer in New York?

How about Albert B. Fall?

And there is Harry M. Daugherty. Isn't he a magnificent product of a two-party government?

And yet, the Colonel is right. A two-party government is needed in every one of the 48 American states. It does result in better men for office and in better service on the part of the servants of the people.

SMITH, of New Orleans, R. K. Smith, director of development for the Dock Board of the Port of New Orleans, has been appointed a member of the shipping board by President Coolidge. This is proper recognition of the ports of the south. It is proper recognition of the great southwest producing and shipping territory. Now for a man on the interstate commerce commission and another on the federal reserve board. Why should the producing sections be overlooked? Why should the farmers of the country be overlooked when these important appointments are made?

* * *

MONEY talks in Houston county. Houston county bankers and citizens have purchased 15,000 bales of cotton grown in the county and this cotton will be warehoused and held for a period of six to 12 months. This plan was worked out and financed by the Crocket chamber of commerce. An appeal will be made to the other cotton counties of the state to adopt this mode of procedure in order that a portion of the surplus cotton, approximately a million bales, may be taken off the market without delay and carried over until the selling time is more propitious.

Money talks.

THERE are thousands of tenant farmers in Texas, whites and blacks and Mexicans, and they can be withheld their cotton from the market unless they are given the financial aid for the withdrawal and storage of the same. These tenants owe their landlord, their merchants and their local bankers. They are the men who must meet their obligations.

This is the story of all the years since the close of the Civil War, a war which ended chattel slavery in the south but did not end industrial or agricultural slavery. Cotton as a single crop played the devil with the pockets and the prospects of the little farmer. He is forever in debt and forever facing poverty.

* * *

HOPKINS county farmers are harvesting the largest crop of sweet potatoes in the history of the county. More than 80 carloads have been shipped to out of the state buyers. Many carloads have been stored in the curing plants to await advance in prices and not more than half the crop has been harvested or gathered by the illers of the soil in the county of Hopkins.

Hopkins county is the home of Cyclone Davis, the Methodist Jim of populistic memory. It is the home of Blacksmith Bob Williams, the Cumby horse shoer who fought all through the war of the states, served two or three terms in the state legislature and came near defeating the late Thomas M. Campbell for a second term.

Hopkins county is famous for its pecan groves, its yam gardens, its sweet potatoes, its one gallused democrats of 57 brands and now and then a bale of long staple cotton.

* * *

THESE statistics, figures for the wise as wel as the unwise are interesting. They have to do with cotton and cotton production. They are furnished by the agriculture editor of the Dallas News. He predicts that acreage in 1927 will be reduced all right and then he introduces the records of other years as his argument that the reduction will come next year. "In 1904 cotton dropped pretty nearly 4 cents a pound," he writes, "the next year acreage was off three million acres. In 1908 the price was low 10 cents and the next year plantings declined 1,500,000 acres. In 1914 the bottom fell out of the price and we thought the end of the economic world had come. By next year the acredge dropped from $6,000,000 to 31,000,000 acres. In 1920 cotton shot down to less than half the wartime level and Mr. Farmer took one acre out of every seven cotton acres and planted it to something else."

WHEN Mr. Farmer in 1926 managed to plant an acreage of 45,000,000 acres and the vast army of

LARGE THRONG HEARS PLAN OF UNION REVIVAL

First Methodist and Christian Church Auditoriums Are Packed

MARCH 13 DATE SET

Leading Speakers Of City Arouse Enthusiasm For Project

Probably the largest congregation ever gathered in Wichita Falls heard the ministers of Protestant churches and several laymen give five and ten minute talks on the union revival which is planned to be held here beginning March 13 to Easter, under the auspices of the Wichita Falls Ministerial Alliance.

Hundreds of people including members of the First Presbyterian First Christian, Highland Heights Christian, Floral Heights Methodist and Yale Avenue Evangelical churches filled the First Methodist church to its capacity Sunday night, and an overflow congregation was taken care of in the First Christion church across the street, where the speakers repaired following their talks.

Organ Program Opens

The services were opened with an organ prelude "Evensong" by Mrs. J. W. Akin, Jr., and Joel MacGregor led a group of old fashioned songs. Dr. F. A. Bash, pastor of the First Christian church read the scripture lesson which was followed by prayer by the Rev. W. D. Cook, pastor of the Yale Avenue Evangelical church.

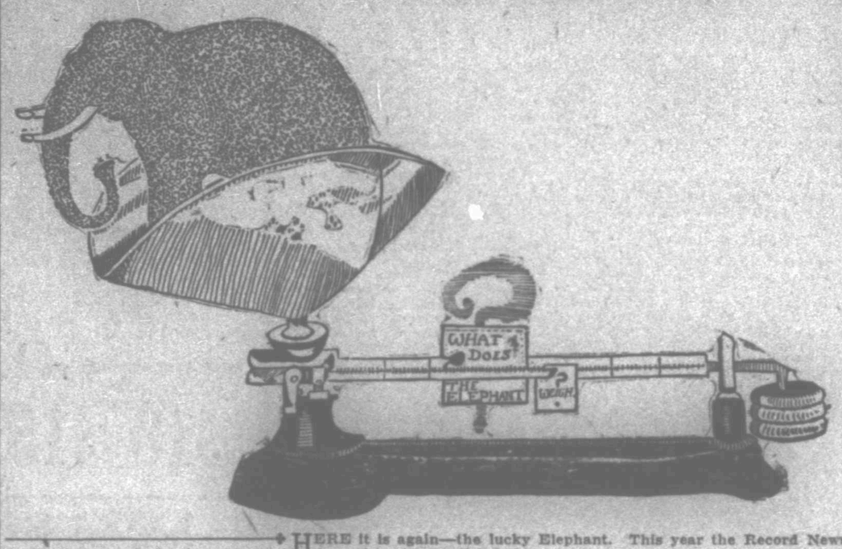

Mayor R. E. Shepherd and Dr. N. F. Grafton, pastor of the First Presbyterian church discussed the question "Why a Union Revival?" with Shepherd giving the first address.

Shepherd Speaks

"This is a wonderful audience and a most wonderful crowd of people I ever saw. Never before

Can You Guess How Much This Elephant Weighs?

HERE it is again—the lucky Elephant. This year the Record News is again going to distribute more than one thousand dollars in cash to its readers. It is announcing its annual Elephant contest on page three of today's issue. But this year there's a different Elephant—and incidentally one that is a lot harder to add up than last year's.

Five hundred dollars in gold is the grand prize and that prize is going to be mighty handy as a Christmas gift to someone who is good in arithmetic. Plenty of cash prizes will attract hundreds to enter the contest.

If you need extra copies of the Elephant to work upon, call at the Record News office and secure them from the contest manager.

FRENCH GROUP RATIFIES DEBT

Radicals Favor War Debt Pact With Certain Reservations

BORDEAUX, France, Oct. 17. (AP)—Ratification of the Washington debt agreement with reservations respecting safe-guard and transfer clauses, was one of two important decisions reached by the radical party in the course of a four-day conference which ended today. The other outstanding decision was support for the Poincare cabinet on questions immediately affecting stabilization of the franc and improvment of France's economic and financial situation.

JURY TAKES 20 MINUTES VOTING WOMAN'S TERM

Georgia Woman Given Life In Penitentiary For Slaying Spouse

MOTHER OF TWO BOYS

She Lay In Wait On Steps Of Church To "Get" Man, Jury Told

By Central Press.

AUGUSTA, Ga., Oct. 17.—It took a jury only 20 minutes to bring to a conclusion the most sensational trial in the history of Richmond County, Georgia. At the end of that time Mrs. Lillian Lindley McKie, pretty and 36,whose home is in Hutchison, Kan., was found guilty of murdering her husband and was sentenced to life imprisonment.

She Waits for Him.

For two hours, it was proven during the trial, Mrs. McKie sat in the doorway of the First Baptist church of Augusta on the afternoon of July 2, waiting for her husband to return to his automobile, which he had left parked on a prominent street of Augusta. Then, as McKie, who was 17 years older than his wife, opened the door of his car and took his place behind the steering wheel, Mrs. McKie rushed up and fired the fatal shot. It pierced his head and he died six hours later without regaining consciousness. His only utterances while he lay on his deathbed were low, almost undistinguishable muttering: "My baby, my baby boy." The couple had two sons, George A. Jr., nine, and Keith, six.

Pleads Self Defense.

Self defense was Mrs. McKie's claim during the trial and immediately following the reading of the verdict her attorneys announced they would appeal the case. Defense counsel relied solely on an unsworn statement of the defendant, who, under the laws of the state of Georgia, could not be questioned on the witness stand.

DORIS MARRIES MAN SHE IDOLIZED AS TINY SCHOOL MAID

DORIS KENYON

THE marriage of Doris Kenyon and Milton Sills brings together two of the screen's most interesting personalities. Both of them are among the most cultured folk acting before the Kliegs today. Miss Kenyon has achieved considerable recognition of her poetry from literery circles. She also possesses a beautiful singing voice and plays the piano artistically. For some years she divided her time between the stage and screen, but her present contract with First National requires that she devote all her time to picture making at the present.

Sills gave up a career as a professor of psychology to go on the stage, and it was not until 1917 that he cast his lot with the filliums. His hobbies are philosophy and architecture.

Their romance is of long standing, for Doris used to worship Milton Sills when she was just a school girl and he a matinee idol. In her first picture she played opposite him.

They came to love each other when both were playing in Hollywood. Sills had been estranded from his wife for several years but complications prevented a divorce at that time.

DISPUTE OVER 60 CENTS ENDS IN PISTOL PLAY

W. N. Wallace, Frederick, Okla., Farmer Shot Early Sunday

INJURED MAN MAY DIE

Carl Duboise, Negro Tenant Farmer, Sought By Posse Sunday

Special to The Record News.

FREDERICK, Okla., Oct. 17. A dispute over 60 cents worth of chicken sandwiches and coffee ended in a shooting affray at 2 o'clock Sunday morning that will probably prove fatal for W. N. Wallace, prominent farmer of this section. A posse headed by Sheriff J. D. McCorckle scoured southwestern Oklahoma all day in search of Carl Duboise, negro tenant farmer, who disappeared immediately after Wallace was shot. An unremitting hunt of more than 14 hours, however, failed to find a trace of the negro.

Wallace In Hospital.

Wallace is now in the Frederick sanitarium with four bullet wounds through the body. He was shot, apparantly with a 45 caliber revolver, the balls entering the left side about midway between the shoulder and hips and coming out on the right side. Attending physicians tonight declared he had slight chance to live.

Wallace had gone to the farm of E. E. Swartz where Duboise has been working, in search of a negro who owed him some money, according to information gleaned by the sheriff. While there he is understood to have made a purchase of some sandwiches and coffee, the bill on which amounted to about 60 cents. A dispute arose over the question and the shooting followed.

Wallace Unarmed.

Officers who searched Wallace's clothing after he was found declared he was unarmed. No weapon of any kind was found on him or near the scene where he was shot, they said.

Immediately after the affair, officers were summoned and the search for Duboise was started. He was described as being of light brown color, about 45 years of age. Notice of the shooting was sent out to all points in this vicinity and officers warned to be on the lookout for Duboise. A large force of deputies, augmented by special officers, began a systematic combing of this and all surrounding counties. They were unable, however, to find anything.

Frederick Excited.

The shooting caused considerable excitement in Frederick where Wallace has been a pioneer and prominent farmer for many years. There were no demonstrations, however, and everything was tranquil Sunday night.

Wallace owns and operates a large farm about seven miles southwest of the city. He has made his residence in Frederick, however. He has a wife and six children. He is about 40 years of age.

The youth had been in swimming when he became caught in a strong current which carried him under. With much difficulty the father dragged the boy to shore unconscious. He was revided and taken to a hospital.

Circus Day For Wichita Kiddies

Al G. Barnes Circus Arrives Sunday For Big Show Here Monday

All the color and glamor of circus day hit Wichita Falls full force Sunday when the Al G. Barnes big wild animal circus pulled into town on its special train and debarked with sundry howls and snorts preparatory to its twin showings here Monday.

A big crowd took a part of the afternoon off to hike out to the circus grounds to look things over as the "big top" went up and the various expanses of side show canvas took form. They got an eyeful—at least the youngsters did; and while the old folks put on perhaps a false front of superior tolerance, they gaped a little themselves at the big array of oddities and unique quadrepeds safely quartered behind steal bars.

Two shows are on the books for today, afternoon and evening.

$2,500 BAIL

VIGIL ON PEAK

Two Americans Will Watch Sunspots From Mount For Three Years

CAPETOWN, Union of South Africa, Oct. 17.(AP)—Two Americans have began a lonely three-year vigil on a mountain peak near here with a view to studying sun spots in the interest of better forecasting of weather.

Supplied with an immense amount of astronomical apparatus, F. Greeley and W. Hoover took up their abode on the peak a mile high, where the atmosphere is clear of dust, and there is little rain to interfere with their observations.

They have a wireless set and can "listen in" on the radio concerts at Johnnesburg and Capetown.

The observations are being carried on under the direction of the Smithsonian Institution, in connection with similar observations in Chile and California.

Col. Harvey Haines of Texas Too Busy To Take Medal From Rumanian Queen

DALLAS, Texas, Oct. 17. (AP)—Col. Harvey H. Haines, republican nominee for governor, will not be a member of the reception committee that will welcomes Queen Marie of Rumania to the United States, despite the fact that he was probably the first American officer to arrive in Rumania after the Balkan kingdom entered the world war.

When the queen lands at New York Tuesday, Col. Haines will be compaigning in the Rio Grande Valley. And thereby hangs a tale told on the colonel by his campaign director, Leonard Whitington of the republican state headquarters.

Shortly after Rumania threw her lot with the allies, Col. Haines on duty in connection with army transportation in the Far East was ordered to Bucharest. He called on Charles Vopica of Chicago, the American minister.

"Want to go up to the palace and call on the queen?" queried the minister.

"What for?" asked Col. Haines with true Texas disregard for royalty.

"Oh, she will probably give you a medal as the first American officer here," was the minister's replay.

"Hang the medal, I don't deserve one, and I am here to work, not to call on queens," said the colonel.

Mother Treats Kiddies To Movie Party And Then Kills Trio and Self By Gas

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Oct. 17. (AP)—Because she believed she had failed in her duty as a mother, Mrs. Ada B. Chamberlain, wife of John M. Chamberlain, Los Angeles attorney, put her three children, the oldest of whom was 9 years of age to death, and then ended her own life. The four were dead today in a gas filled room in a house which the mother had rented last Friday a few hours before she and her babies departed from their home.

Police, reconstructing the tragedy, report that before putting her children to death, the mother had treated them to a picture show. Returning to the rented house, she placed her children in bed, gave them a sleeping powder and then turned on the gas. While the tiny lives were being snuffed out the mother went into an adjoining room and penned four notes. She wrote that the two little girls, Edwina, 9, and Delamya, 7, passed away quietly, but that the boy, John, Jr., 4, moaned five times. After finishing her writing the mother walked to her death in the gas filled chamber.

In one of her notes, addressed to newspaper reporters, Mrs. Chamberlain explained that she could not let her children live in a world for which she had "failed to prepare them."

"I was capable of being a good mother, but just failed to put that duty first. Maude Adams said a girl cannot meet this world without a definite religious and home training. She knew, and we all know. Let us have quiet, peaceful homes, fewer and better children," the message concluded.

To her husband she wrote:

"Girls took sleep tablets willingly as a germicide. I put out their clothes. Please put their coats on with the fronts open and cremate us. You cannot be happy, and dying holds no terror for me. I simply must not let these children live."

One Smile During Life Far Better Than Tears in Death

Why Wait Until People Are Dead Before Bringing Flowers? Why Offer Words of Love Only To Deaf Ears? Bring these Tributes To Your Family and Friends While They are Alive.

BY DOROTHY DIX.

A poor sick woman, whose sufferings have made her a little morbid, has made a curious request of a friend.

"When I am dead," she said "my neighbors will come to my door with regret and sympathy. Do not let any of them in the house, because I have lived here for years lonely, and forlorn, and shut in, and not one of them has dropped in to cheer and comfort me with a little human companionship.

"If they offer their cars for the funeral, refuse them, because they never asked me to take a ride, though they must have known how much an invalid would enjoy getting out, away from the four walls of her room, and out into the country. Do not let them lay a flower upon my coffin, for they never gave me a single bloom in life."

Now this woman's neighbors are not specially hard and heartless people. They are just busy people. They are just as you and I. And even as you and I when they hear the poor invalid across the street is dead, they will be sconscience stricken at having failed in kindliness to her, and they will rush over to her house and try to atone for their neglect by heaping their tributes on her.

We all do the same thing, and I often think the most cynical thing in the world is that we have to die to find out what our family and friends think of us, and the esteem in which we are held in the community. The words we hungered and thirsted to hear, the love that we broke our hearts for, are only whispered into deaf ears.

Just read the eulogies that papers print when Mr. A dies. They call him a model citizen. They hold him up as an example of civic righteousness. They speak of the unselfishness, and the zeal, and the efficiency with which he served his city. They laud his blameless private life.

We were all silent as clams about Mr. A's virtues while he lived and yet a tithe of such a tribute paid to him while, could he have know it, would have made him feel that his long service to his community was worthwhile.

But no one so much as gave him a word of praise. He served on innumerable committees. He did the hard work on the boards of charities and public institutions. He could always be depended upon to fill any sort of a gap, and do the work of any shirker, but everybody took him for granted. They said nothnig when things went well. They blamed him when things went wrong. It took death to make them appreciate him.

Mrs. Allday Hostess To 20th Century Club

Mrs. D. H. Allday was hostess to the first meeting of the season of the Twentieth Century club at her home Friday afternoon when talks were made by Mrs. A. B. Lipscomb, the retiring president who thanked the members for their splendid co-operation during her term of office, and also by the incoming president, Mrs. Guy Raley, who stressed the opportunities for service and urged the continuance of the co-operative spirit.

Little Miss Francis Gross, niece of the hostess gave a reading.

Members who responded to roll call with vacation notes were Mesdames W. E. Ashford, J. D. Bright W. H. Bachman, J. L. Craig, Roy T. Carter, F. H. Eddleman, W. D. Cain, A. B. Lipscomb, E. U. McArthur, B. J. Shaw, F. P. Warren, Guy Raley and D. A. Lundien.

HIT BY BALL BAT

Blow on Boys' Head Breaks His Skull; Dies

MILES, Oct. 17.—His skull crushed by a blow from a baseball bat hurled by a boy companion, Billy Carrol, 8, is in a critical condition at the Alameda county hospital.

He was watching a group of older boys playing ball in the school playground today when one of them after making a hit excitedly tossed his bat away and ran for first base. The heavy bat struck Roy on the head.

Flamma Ardens (above) is the most famous of all Italy's film stars. Her striking beauty has aroused the admiration of artists throughout the entire eastern continent.

Large Crowd Attends First Weekly Dance

About 40 couples attended the first of the weekly dances Friday night to be given at the William-Mary hotel this fall and winter, when "Miss America" and her mother, Mrs. Dickerson and Al K. Hall, were special guests of the evening.

The rooms were beautifully decorated for the occasion in yellow and black carrying out the Hallowe'en idea and music was furnished by a six-piece orchestra.

TODAY'S RECIPES.

Sponge Cake with Custard Filling—Four eggs, two cups sugar, two cups flour, one teaspoon baking powder, one teaspoon lemon extract, three-fourths cup boiling water. Beat eggs, yolks and whites separately, then together, add gradually the sugar, flour, baking powder and flavoring, and, lastly, the hot water gradually. Bake in a large, round tin. When cold cut in half and put the following custard in between.

Custard—Beat one egg and one-half cup sugar light, two teaspoons of flour mixed with a little milk and one cup milk. Heat the milk and add the egg, sugar and flour and cook until thick. When cold put between layers of cake.

SUGGESTIONS.

When the snap fasteners on your gloves no longer stay fastened, look at them carefully, and if the under or button part is slotted into sections, take a good stout pin, slip it under a slotted section and pry very gently. Then try the snapper and see if it will hold If not, do the same to the section opposite the first one pried. Usually prying one or two sections is enough to make the snap hold like new. If you should pry a section out too far, so the top part will not snap down, you can squeeze it back with the scissors.

A shrimp cocktail can be made of freshly cooked or canned wet or dry shrimps. With a sharp, stainless steel knife, split the shrimp down the back, remove the black thread-like intestine. Take a small cucumber, quarter it and remove the seeds, then finely dice it. Take a half cup of catsup and add to it a dessert spoon of Worcestershire sauce, a few drops of tabasco, a half salt spoon of mixed cinnamon and cloves, or curry powder. Mix well, toss the cucumber and shrimp in the sauce, add a teaspoon of onion juice and a half teaspoon of very finely chopped green celery leaves. Serve in cocktail glasses, cold but not chilled. One large can, or one quart of the cooked shrimp will make four cocktails.

Starch should be mixed with soapy water. This will prevent the iron from sticking and will give the linen a gloss.

Coterie Club With Mrs. C. W. Boller

With Mrs. A. R. Bleakley leader for the afternoon, members of the Coterie club met with Mrs. C. W. Boller Friday and studied an interesting lesson on "France in the Eighteenth Century."

"Les Chauans," by Honore de Balzac was the special topic considered and the biography of the author was given by Mrs. J. H. Martin. "France of Today," was discussed by Mrs. Horace Robbins, and during the social hour, refreshments were served to Mesdames E. B. Bailey, C. P. Burton, C. W. Boller, H. M. Harrison, Horace Robbins, A. G. Holmes, Lester Jones, J. H. Martin, C. D. Shamburger, J. H. Massie and A. R. Bleakley.

Add 'Em UP — Here It Is—the Record News Elephant Picture Puzzle — Add 'Em UP

The Problem:

Simply Add Them Up to Get the Solution

There are no marks, lines or characters in the elephant figures. These figures range from 2 to 9, each standing alone. There are no "ones" or ciphers." Ther. are no groups of figures such as "23" or "42." The heads of the "6's" are distinctly curved while the tails of the "9's" are straight, or practically so. There is no trick or illusion of any description in the chart.

General Rules of the Contest

This competition is open to all residents of the states of Texas and Oklahoma, except employes of The Record News and members of their families.

Contestants may submit as many different solutions as they desire provided a payment of one of the amounts designated in the prize list shall accompany each solution. NO SOLUTION UN-ACCOMPANIED BY A SUBSCRIPTION PAYMENT WILL BE REGISTERED.

The Record News offers these prizes for individual effort. While it is proper for members of one household to work together or several friends, it is not permissible for more than one of those working in unison to send a solution of the puzzle. When in the judgment of the contest manager more than one member of the same family, or more than one of any number of persons he believes have worked together send in a solution of the puzzle, he reserves the right to refund subscriptions and return the solutions he believes have been submitted contrary to the foregoing rule. The Record News reserves the right to reject any solutions it believes have not been submitted under proper conditions. The Record News also reserves the right to finally decide any other questions or points which may arise and those entering the contest agree to abide by such decisions.

In the event of ties on this puzzle, as many prizes will be reserved as there are contestants tied, before any prizes are awarded for a less correct solution. For instance, if five people were tied on the best solution, the first five prizes will be reserved for them, and they would be awarded the prizes in accordance with the standing of their solutions of the second puzzle. That is, the one submitting the best solution of the second puzzle would receive the first prize; the one submitting the next best, the second, and so on.

Subscriptions may be NEW or RENEWALS. Both count the same.

Closing Date

The Great Elephant Puzzle Contest Will Close at Nine P. M. Wednesday, December 1, 1926.

The earlier you send in your solution the longer time you will have to go over your figures, AND SEND IN ANOTHER SOLUTION, if you find you can do better. Additional charts may be secured at any time by calling at the address below or sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope for mailing them. NO SOLUTION CAN BE CHANGED AFTER IT HAS BEEN ONCE REGISTERED.

Important Facts to Remember

While the amount you pay with a solution of the puzzle does not have any effect on your winning a prize, it does affect the amount you will receive, should you win one of the first nine prizes, as the value of these prizes is determined by what the winners pay. This is explained in the prize list, which you should study carefully before sending in your solution.

The time a solution is received has no bearing upon its winning a prize. Accuracy is what counts. .... Not more than one prize will be awarded to any one person

Address Solutions, Inquiries, Etc., to

COST OF KEEPING A PEACH

IT COSTS money to keep a feminine peach of the type that the rich lobsters and rounders find fascinating. Edward W. Browning, a wealthy New Yorker captured himself a peach. He was known as the Cinderella Man and she was known as Peaches Browning. He kept his Peaches six months. Then she went away. Mama has her now. Mr. Cinderella Man is pouring his gush into newspaper pages. Peaches cost him $150 a day. He spent $15,000 for clothes, $5,000 for diamonds and the other $10,000 for flowers and fruit, theatre tickets, dinners and lunches, parties and incidentals.

In addition to this he gave Peaches $300 a month for pin money and $200 a month for Mama Heenan, the mother of Peaches, and yet the mother of Peaches was always telling him how lucky he was that he had won the most blushing of all peaches that ever grew in the garden of feminity.

Papa Browning should gag his tongue. He should close his flytrap. If he paid the price, why growl about it? If the purchase was worth it, why not keep it to himself? If the purchase wasn't worth the money, who in the devil cares outside of Peaches and the Cinderella Man?

Why should the Cinderella Man continue to be what is known in Great Britain as a blithering ass. He should efface himself. He has been a first-pager for six months, and now oblivion should claim him as its own.

Peaches will come again. Peaches of the type that the Cinderella Man captured always come again.

DAUGHERTY A LUCKY MAN

HARRY M. DAUGHERTY and his co-defendants are in luck. They were prosecuted most brilliantly and most vigorously by the government agents. There was a chain of circumstantial evidence that was almost convincing of guilt.

But John T. King was dead. Dead men tell no tales. Jesse Smith was dead. He was a famous go-between. It was lucky for Daugherty and Miller that these men are in their graves.

Daugherty was defended by the ablest criminal lawyer in New York, and that lawyer had a battery of able lawyers as his assistance.

An able judge of the federal bench sat in the case. He gave a fair charge to the jury and the jury deliberated for many hours, night and day, until several of the jurors were exhausted. There was a mistrial for the reason that the jurors could not agree on a verdict.

According to the Associated Press report Daugherty smiled when the result was announced. Miller smiled and shook hands with his friends.

More important than this, the federal district attorney announced that he did not know when he could take up the case again. A mistrial is almost as good as a verdict of not guilty.

Who burned the bank book? Who made away with the missing evidence? Not the government. Not the agents of the government.

A man is presumed to be innocent until he has been proven guilty. A Scotch verdict may have saved Daugherty and Miller. As for the lawyers, they lived in clover while the trial was on.

BLOUNT RETURNS FROM POLITICS

EUGENE BLOUNT of Nacogdoches county is a member of the 39th legislature. He is chairman of the House Appropriation committee. He managed Lee Satterwhite's campaign for speakership honors. He was re-nominated by his constituents.

Now he has withdrawn from the ticket and will not be a member of the 40th legislature. He has a big bank, many farms and many industries to superintend. For this reason he has withdrawn from the political game and will permit another to shoulder the responsibilities and make the sacrifices.

It is to be regretted that business men cannot see their way clear to officiate as makers of laws under the Big Dome. Constructive men are needed at all times and Blount is a constructive lawmaker.

DEMANDS OF ORGANIZED LABOR

THERE are five million members of the American Federation of Labor in the United States. These federationists held their convention in the city of Detroit this year and adopted a national legislative program in the forthcoming session of congress. Their representatives at Washington will center upon child labor, immigration control, judicial procedure in labor disputes and an offensive against forces favoring abolition of the direct primary. Insofar as may be practicable, the federation will seek to aid the farmers in securing legislation that will advance their economic interest.

Organized labor is for the direct primary. Their leaders say that under no circumstances should the people return to the old system. They say that it is the most monstrous fiction that can be imagined, that, because in certain states millions of dollars were expended to corrupt the electorate, a return should be made "to the old boss control convention system." Furthermore, they declare, that if the people are competent to elect delegates to a nominating convention, they are equally competent to elect their candidates direct.

Warning is served upon the politician who favors the convention system that the American labor movement will be untrue to itself unless it makes it one of its most important duties to keep alive the political spirit of the people, and the declaration is made if there are not sufficient laws to prevent corruption of the ballot, new laws should be enacted.

There are laws in every American state to prevent the corruption of the ballot. There are laws in Pennsylvania and Illinois, very drastic laws. Why fatten fat statute books with new laws?

G. O. P. GETTING TOGETHER

SENATOR WILLIAM A. BORAH of Idaho is a bitter ender, ever opposed to the league of nations and the world court. President Coolidge is for the world's court. His influence practically put it over, that is lead to the ratification of the proposal by the American senate.

Now President Coolidge and Senator Borah are in agreement that the United States cannot enter the world court under the conditions laid down by the recent Geneva conference. Senator Borah is happy. He is going to all the republican states where there is bitter senatorial contests on. He will speak for all the republican senatorial candidates who voted against the court proposal and make speeches in some of the states where the republican candidates had favored the court.

When it comes to practical politics, the national leaders of the republican party know how to play the game. They are playing it this year. Their work may tell in the debatable states in November. Senator Boral has also declared that William S. Vare of Pennsylvania and Frank L. Smith of Illinois must be seated by the senate if they are elected.

After being seated, it will be necessary for Vare and Smith to win a majority in favor of the two great money spenders in politics to retain their seats. Harmony is the watchword and prosperity the slogan of the big chiefs and trainers of the G. O. P. Elephants. They usually know what they want and how to get it.

TEETH ARE TO BE ADMITTED

WORD comes from Washington that the anti-saloon league plan to put more teeth in the Volstead act as represented in the Goff bill, is to be abandoned by the treasury department. A. W. Mellon is the boss of the treasury. He has made it known that his department will not support all the drastic points in legislation proposed by the extreme drys. One of these clauses in the Goff bill is the one providing for the entry of homes without a search warrant on suspicion that liquor was being made. A well informed Washington correspondent writes, "the treasury department has turned it down." This is campaign year.

Town Talk - - - By H. F. J.

WHO'S GOING TO WIN?

Now and then the news of the day runs along for a considerable period without anything especially extraordinary to excite the imagination or disturb the equanimity of you bona publico.

Then something comes up like that yarn from Jeffersonville, Ind., where a mother is seeing the school board from breakfast to midnight because her small daughter has been barred from class while afflicted in knickers. The whole thing is one of those instances where the absurdity of the human make-up, when it starts out on a streak of contrariness, is revealed in all its grotesqueness.

The school board of the Indiana town, of course, has a right to exercise some perogatives and control the actions of its youngster-students. The matter of regulation of dress, however is something open for debate. As long as a girl appears in reasonable garb, a school board ought to be content—and most school boards would. Which immediately brings up the question, is a pair of knickers on a 9-year-old girl a reasonable costume?

But on the other hand, a mother who finds her kid's dress falling under the displeasure of the powers that be, ordinarily would modify it a little. Few, it is to be assumed, would go to court on the thing.

Who wants to guess on the outcome of the Indiana embroglio? Nobody! And the ultimate victor is the innate craving of the public for something new under the sun.

Lyrics of Life

By Douglas Malloch.

THINGS THAT FATHERS SAY

"It's only something Father said,
You know how fathers are—
Forget the world has moved ahead
And moved ahead so far
That things that once perhaps were true
So long have passed away
You just can't pay attention to
The things that fathers say.

"It's only something Father thought,
The way that Fathers will;
Forgetting changes time has wrought,
They think the old way still.
Another view once people took
From that they do today;
Remember that, and overlook
The things, that father say.

"It's only something Father meant,
Some truth he meant to tell.
God bless him for his good intent,
And all the dads as well.
Yet, after all is said and done,
There's be the deuce to pay
With any business that was run
On things that fathers say."

It's only something Father said,
And yet I'm glad he did.
A lot of things that lie ahead
Of youth are often hid.
Some day temptation must be passed,
Some hand must point the way,
And you'll decide to do at last
The things that fathers say.

"I'M THE GINK"

I'm the gink who has a stock line of phrases which I think are funny and give me a "hale-fellow-well-met" air. I come into a room where there are a number of people and I say "Good morning, gentlemen. You, too, Mr. Smith." I am sure that is killingly funny. When the discussion turns to evolution I simply say, "Well, you can have an ape for your grandfather if you want to. I have a little phrase for every occasion. It saves me from thinking, even if it does make me a pest.

NEW UNIFORMS

New York's Finest Don New Garb For Winter Season.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—The split-tailed cavalry coats New York firemen have been required to wear since the Civil war were abolished by Commissioner Dorman in new uniform regulations, providing for overcoats similar to those worn by navy officers, with roll collars, white shirts and black neckties for fire department officers.

The new regulations represent the first change in uniform in the 61 years since the fire department was organized as a city department.

The shirt collars to be worn by officers will be rolled, the winged collar with its throat-cutting edges goes with the old-style coats.

BURNING SHOE

House Ignited When Workmen's Shoe Catches Afire.

RICHMOND, Va., Oct. 17. — When a workman in a rubber company plant saw his shoe had caught fire in some unknown manner he jerked it off and threw it from him.

Unfortunately it landed in a bucket of inflammable cement, which immediately blazed up. In a few minutes the whole building was in flames. Up to $100,000 damage was done.

DAD HURLS SHOE

Father Breaks Son's Neck When He Hits Youth

HERRIN, Ill., Oct. 17.—Enraged when police brought his son, Bradley, to his home after he had been out all night, H. B. Burnett hurled an old work shoe at the boy, breaking his neck.

The father sobbed in his cell, where he is held awaiting the action of a corner's jury. "I had been tarrying to make the boy do right. I'm not afraid of the punishment, but think what I've done."

DAILY SCIENCE SIX

1. Who was the founder of modern physics?
2. Who was the founder of modern botany?
3. Who was the founder of geometry?
4. Who was a famous artist who was also a military engineer?
5. Who has recently brought about a revolution in physics?
6. Who was the inventor of the telephone?

Answers to these questions in tomorrow's Record News.

A SCIENTIST'S IMPERTINENCE

The great naturalist Linnaeus like most scientists, gave himself so wholeheartedly to his studies that he knew little of the world and its manners, and he had also a democratic attitude such as science breeds. Invited to the court of Sweden, he was drawn unwillingly into a game of blind man's buff. He took care to leave himself a peep-hole through the bandage and made straight for Queen Louisa. It was against etiquette to catch the queen, but he did it, saying:

"Clap, woman, sit on the bench!" (The equivalent of "Tag, you're it.")—This to the daughter of Frederick the Great.

When he removed the bandage and saw the shocked expressions on the courtier faces he only laughed and said:

"Who plays at this game may expect to be caught."

Now what do you know about that?

Answers to yesterday's questions:

1. The Everglades are not swampy jungles but open prairie-like country, having more or less water in them and dotted with groves of trees.

2. It is hard to drain the Everglades because they are at or very near to sea level, and as fast as water is pumped out it seeps in through the porous rock bottom from the sea, at least in some places.

3. The Pontine marshes near Rome caused the Roman plain to be unhealthy and have been the subject of worry and endeavor from ancient times to the present.

4. The will-o'-the-wisp is a spontaneous combustion of marsh gas.

5. Bogs and swamps are not clearly distinct, but the word bog might be used for water covered by floating vegetation, whilst a swamp could not be traversed on foot like some bogs.

6. Big moss is used for surgical dressings and for keeping seeds roots.

DUCK SEASON OPENS.

Flooded Creeks and Muddy Roads Fail to Detter Hunters.

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Oct. 17.—Duck season opened Saturday morning in splendid style in this community in spite of the fact that all the lakes and streams are in an overflow condition and the roads, which are not paved leading from the city are impassible. A large group of hunters left the city, with dogs and guns, with the expectation of bagging a great number of ducks. Hunters, however, report that the ducks are not as plentiful this season as last, but they expect to make good sport of the number which have arrived this early.

THE CANARY.

The Teacher: Jake Falstaff.
The Class: Louise, Jerry, Jo, Beth, Rusty, Marie, Helene.

Class: "Dear teacher, what is a canary?"

Teacher: "The canary, my dear scholars, is a small bird not as little as a coockroach and not as large as an aardvark."

Class: "Tell us, dear teacher, what it looks like."

Teacher: "It looks like a spoiled lemon."

Class: "And what is it good for?"

Teacher: "Its purpose in life is to scatter birdseed all over the surrounding landscape."

Class: "Is that its sole purpose in life, dear teacher?"

Teacher: "No. It serves as an object for women to work off their surplus baby talk on. Many a woman who could crown her husband with the gas log if he didn't jump at her first word will spend two hours trying to get the canary to make its familiar sound."

Class: "Tell us quickly, teacher dear, what is the canary's familiar sound?"

Teacher: "A sound like a hot-box."

Class: "Is the canary good to eat?"

Teacher: "Nobody knows. There isn't enough meat on one to taste. A canary deprived of its feathers looks like something your baby sister drew on the wall-paper. If canary meat were worth $1,455,-339.00 a pound, the average canary would be worth three paper marks on the open market."

Class: "Does the canary roam at large, dearest teacher?"

Teacher: "No, dear scholars. The canary is like the bank teller in that it has a cage. But it is generally known that bank tellers do not have paper in the bottom of their cages."

Class: "Thank you very kindly, dearest teacher."

Teacher: "You are quite welcome, dear scholars, and be sure to come to class again some time."

ASTOUNDING

"Why, you have knives and forks, haven't you!" exclaimed a lady visitor to a convict in the prison dining room.

"Yes, ma'am," replied a hard-boiled convict, "an' some of us even got teeth."

Nothing surpasses the pathetic condition of a man who has told his wife he won't be home until midnight and who comes home to dinner, after all!

FUGITIVE FROM JUSTICE.

Brown and Gold
There was a young painter named Brown
Whose art was the talk of the town
One picture he sold
Won a medal of gold,
Though hung, by mistake, upside-down!

—Martha Lehman.

Lady, Be Good!

A lady once went to the zoo
And looked at a green cockatoo,
When to her dismay
She heard the bird say:
"You think I'm a sight; so are you!"

—Albert Weller.

Home Sweet Home!

Bradley: "Has the ambulance brought my daughter home yet?"

Servant: "No, sir."

Bradley: "Have the police called to know where my son is?"

Servant: "No, sir."

Bradley: "Well, when my wife calls up that she isn't coming home tonight, tell her I've gone to bed."

66,000 Acres of Productive Land In Throckmorton County Escapes Taxes

Land Being Leased to Farmers By School Districts Pays No Part Toward County Government's Expense But Gets Benefits, Is Claim

THROCKMORTON, Oct. 17.—Sixty-six thousand acres of land in the Throckmorton territory are causing the ruin of the county, according to A. H. King, member of the Texas legislature. These 66,000 acres comprise the "school land" section owned by counties outside of Throckmorton.

On the so-called school land property there live farmers and ranchmen who have leases from the other Texas districts holding the right to the sections, and these lessees pay no taxes and nothing to the upbuilding of Throckmorton county. Yet their children are educated in Throckmorton schools, and their families enjoy the use of Throckmorton county roads and highways which have been built without any contribution from them toward upkeep and repair. Such are the principal evils of the so-called school lands of Texas pointed out by King who is joint author of a bill proposing the taxation of such properties in the state.

The question of the taxation of the so-called Texas school lands has been before the country for some time, and will be brought to a crisis next month when citizens of the state are asked to vote upon the amendment allowing the taxation of school lands property. Only 12 to 15 counties will be affected by the amendment should it pass. The land voted taxable will be only those sections now used for farms, upon which no school buildings have ever been erected. The proposed bill will not affect public school, college or university lands. It will merely remove the evil that is now choking those counties in which so-called school lands are located. King is making active efforts to present the problem to the judgment of the Texas people so that the amendment will pass for the good of the country. The West Texas Chamber of Commerce is endorsing the movement for the taxation of the so-called school lands of the state.

2 BIRTHDAYS

Boy Born On International Dateline Can Celebrate Twice

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 17.—When the United States Navy transport Chaumont arrived here there was a baby on board who will celebrate two birthdays. The Chaumont was crossing the 117th meridian when little Harold Chaumont Flynn came into the world, August 4.

Inasmuch as he was born on a 48-hour day he hereafter will celebrate two days a year as his birthday. The father is Quartermaster Sergeant Harold Flynn of the Marine Corps, who was en route with his family from Cavite, P. I., to the aviation field at Quantico, Va.

OLD THEFTS

Bullion Is Stolen From Smelter At San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 17.—Theft of between $100,000 and $150,000 in gold bullion from the Selby smelter of the American Smelting and Refining company, was revealed by officials of the company who have been investigating the case for a period of 3 months.

Four men, one a lawyer, another a real estate agent, the third a garage owner and the fourth an employe of the plant, are being watched as suspects in the case, although no arrests have been made.

OLNEY SOCIETY

Thursday Bridge

The Thursday Bridge club was entertained by Mrs. Harlan Deets this past week when Hallowe'en suggestions furnished the motif, being used in the house decorations and table appointments. Mrs. Geo. Roach won high score.

Refreshments were served to Mesdames Roach, Geo. B. Hamilton, Buck Weaver, M. Gruver, Fred Harrell, Lavelle Arwood, Geo. Rice, and Edwin Hoover.

Baptist Missionary Society

The Baptist Missionary society met in its respective circles on Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Circle One met with Mrs. George Ride. Circle Two met with Mrs. O. R. McAlester and Circle Three with Mrs. W. N. Lunn, general president. The ladies sewed, making tray cloths for the tubercular sanitorium at El Paso.

Those present in Circle Two were Mesdames Claude Harrison, Wright McClatchey, E. W. Hunt, George Hutchins, Lee Atchley, Cal Owens, Thomas Guimarin, Sidney Hunt, Cland Wyatt, H. C. McKinney, Will Thomas, J. P. Alexander and the hostess, Mrs. O. H. McAlister, who served a dainty refreshment plate at the close of the busy afternoon.

Bridge Party at Deets Home

Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Deets entertained Wednesday evening at their home with an informal bridge party. In the games Mrs. L. O. Nix won high score for the women and was given a novelty pine cushion, and Troy Dees received a hand painted ash tray as high score favor for men.

Sandwiches and coffee were served later in the evening to Mr. and Mrs. Elby Wilburn, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Benson, Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Nix, Misses Mae and C. Cozard, and Messrs. Bruce Nesbit, Troy Dees and Paul Mansold.

KILL KARE KARNIVAL.

Clarendon College Students Stage Festival and Parade.

CLARENDON, Oct. 17.—The Las Fielas club of the Spanish department of Clarendon college won first place here yesterday in the Kill-Kare Karnival parade for the most original and beautifully decorated float with the senior class of the college winning second and the freshman class third place. In the contest for first places in the school division the Clarendon high school won first place, Lelia Lake school second and Ashtola school third place.

HERDS IMPROVING

ST. PAUL, Minn., Oct. 17.—Within five years both quantity and quality of dairy beef herds within the state have shown marked improvement and the children's clubs have had marked influence in this direction, said Edward Barr, secretary and executive director of the Northwest Dairy Exposition, a part of the state fair.

WOMEN TO MEET

Electra and Wichita Falls Women Go To Dallas Session.

ELECTRA, Oct. 17.—Mrs. J. M. Tanner of East Wabash street has returned from attending the state executive meeting of the W. M. U. of the Baptist church in Dallas, Tuesday and Wednesday of this week. Mrs. Tanner, who is county president, reported a very delightful meeting, being held in the First Baptist church of that city, with a luncheon at the Baylor hospital Wednesday. Plans were discussed at this meeting for the state convention in San Antonio, November 17, at which time Rev. and Mrs. E. M. Francis and Mrs. Tanner from Electra will attend.

Mrs. Tanner was accompanied to Dallas by Mrs. Homer McGregor, district president of Wichita Falls, and Mrs. J. F. Delief, district corresponding secretary, also of Wichita Falls.

After the meeting Mrs. Tanner visited with her sister, Mrs. S. R. Barnes in Fort Worth before returning to her home.

700 BALES

Clarendon Ginnings Behind [illegible] Year When Total Was 2,000.

CLARENDON, Oct. 17.—Weigher's receipts for cotton bales passed the 700 mark here today as compared to more than 2,000 bales weighed on the same date last season. Average prices for cotton sold on the market here today were twelve to twelve and a quarter cents per pound.

OPERA IN CAFE

Noted Italian Singer Gives Treat To Fellow Diners

VENICE, Oct. 17—While Americans sipped coffee, imbibed cocktails and ate Italian ice, a Metropolitan Opera House voice rang from the bandstand of St. Mark's Square. It was that of Benjamino Gigli.

The word was quickly passed round that it was Gigli, who in fulfilment of a promise made to some friends, had decided with the aid of the bass, Zoni, and the soprano, Nadia Svilarova, to give the public a free concert.

LEAPS OFF TRAIN

Sick Man Jumps Off Fast Moving Coach

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 17.—Jumping from a sleeping car attached to a train speeding west, Joseph P. Cain, suffered a severe scalp wound and possible internal injuries.

Cain had been ill for some time and was taken to the Mayo clinic, Rochester, Minn., by his father for treatment. When Cain had sufficiently recovered from his illness to be moved his father started with him for Los Angeles.

GAS WEAPONS

Michigan City's Police Use Tear Gas Bombs on Criminals

PONTIAC, Mich., Oct. 17.—Pontiac's police department has been armed with tear gas bombs to be used in the future whenever it may be necessary to break up mobs or enter barricaded places.

Gas shells for revolvers and shotguns have been provided the department. The gas is said to be blinding for a period of half an hour, but is harmless in its effects.

RULE SOCIETY

Special to The Record News.

RULE, Oct. 19.—On Monday afternoon from 3 to 5 p. m. Mrs. J. E. Parsons was hostess to the Missionary society of the Methodist church at the home of Mrs. T. B. Denison. The following officers were elected: president, Jack Williams; vice-president, Hazel Rayborn; secretary, Junita Cassle; treasurer, W. T. Averitt; reporter, Joy Lindsey. The class colors, flowers and yell leader were also selected.

The class flowers are pink and white roses, and the yell leader is Miss Vesta McCready. Class motto, song, etc., have not yet been selected.

Senior B. Y. P. U. Entertained.

On Thursday evening the Senior B. Y. P. U. was delightfully entertained at the home of Miss Dora Lee. The guests were greeted at the door by the hostess and introduced them to the receiving line composed of the officers of the B. Y. P. U.

The guests were then given slips of paper by Mrs. R. Neal Greer containing a line of a song, these were put together which formed a "Tangled Quartett."

Various other games and contests were enjoyed by the guests till a late hour.

The hostess assisted by Mrs. Greer served delicious refreshments to about thirty guests. The music furnished by the orchestra, composed of Messrs. John Hager, Raymond McCandless, Nancy Franklin, Frank Campbell and Miss Dora Lee was enjoyed as much as the rest of the social.

County Line School To Remain Closed So Children Can Pick Cotton Crop

Rains However Have So Far Hampered Work In Fields Since School Was Closed Two Weeks Ago To Put Cotton Crop In Harvest

ELECTRA, Oct. 17.—The County Line school, northwest of the city, which dismissed two weeks ago in order that the children might help in gathering the cotton crop, is still dismissed and will be for the next two weeks, trustee T. A. Frazier reports. However, since the dismissal of school very little cotton has been picked due to bad weather. This is the only school in Wichita county to be dismissed since opening.

In the Public Eye: Suzanne and Mary Train for Large Money, Noble Redskin Hangs Up Great Score, Dazzy Vance Is Not So Good, After All

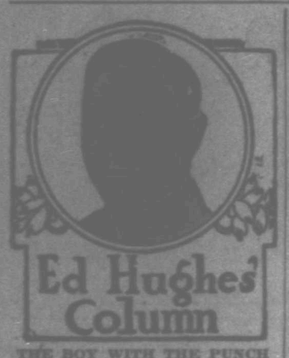

SUZANNE AND MARY—America is getting its first taste of professional tennis as Mlle. Suzanne Lenglen, French wonder, tours the United States playing exhibition matches with Mary K. Browne, and other American net stars. Photo shows Suzanne and Mary in one of their daily practice games between appearances.

GREAT Record—Is being hung up by Mayes McLain, 200-pound fullback of Haskell Indian Institute team, who scored 111 points in first three games.

Ed Hughes' Column

THE BOY WITH THE PUNCH

There's always a Sultan of Swat in sport, a lad with the mighty polthogue, the kick, the punch that brings home the bacon. Last year it was Red Grange, king of the college gridirons. Last month it was Gene Tunney, who plastered Jack Dempsey and took over the world's heavyweight championship, and George Van Elm who walloped Bobbie Jones and won the American amateur golf title. There was also Rene LaCoste of France who won the American single tennis championship held for six years by Big Bill Tilden, who went down in his first defeat in championship play. Also there was Molla Mallory, regaining the women's tennis title for the first time since she lost it in 1923.

More recently it was Babe Ruth, batting out three home runs in a single game of the world series—a feat incomparable in baseball history, or Alexander, or "Cowboy" Kutsch of Iowa, who is another Red Grange at galloping over the opposing goal lines. This week more enthusiastic college players will score sensational plays, and perhaps by the end of the month Red Grange will become nothing more than a tradition.

Drawing seventy-five hundred people at Madison Square Garden in New York, professional tennis started fairly well in this country. Apparently, too, the competitors are "on the level" otherwise why should Mlle. Lenglen defeat Miss Browne in straight sets, 6-1, 6-1. A little closer competition might have made it more exciting for future matches, and in professional sport these things are usually arranged. But perhaps the one sided play will help a little ballyhoo for Suzanne. After all, it is Suzanne the sensational, that people want to see—and the more sensational, and overwhelming the better. Suzanne at her liveliest may put a lure into professional tennis just as she did into the amateur game.

Professional tennis may do fairly well, as the forty five thousand dollar gate at Mr. Pyle's first metropolitan venture shows. In some other countries there are professional sports that draw capacity crowds, especially contests that produce big betting. But it isn't rivaling boxing yet in Mr. Rickard's arena. Tex won't close down his boxing shows and substitute tennis. A couple of plain pugs, ballyhooed as challengers for some title or other, might draw as much as Mr. Pyle's collected talent.

Mentioning "Cowboy" Kutsch of Iowa, the goal line galloper, that bird isn't the only cowboy on the map this season. "Cowboy" Smith led the St. Mary's college team to a smashing victory over the Golden Bears of California a few days ago. These are the same Golden Bears that were undefeated for six years until Sanford trampled on them last fall. "Cowboy" Smith of St. Mary's rivals "Cowboy" Kutsch as a ground gainer. Although St. Mary's is a small college it always has a corking football team and has upset the football dope before by beating U. S. C. and other strong western outfits.

The World Series drew only about seven hundred thousand dollars less than the Dempsey-Tunney fight at Philadelphia. Of course the world series teams were composed of a large number of star players each with a personal following in New York and St. Louis, and there were several games instead of one as in Dempsey and Tunney covered minutes. However baseball will probably manage to struggle along.

Red Grange wears a number 11 jersey and Red Dawson, Illinois coach, states that the large size of Red's dogs had a lot to do with his football playing ability. Maybe there was a lot of Red Grange in that set of dogs, but somehow we have a hunch that the Galloping Ghost had a little more than that to do with his success. The Tiger offense looks powerful somewhat weak in early performances, but the line has developed much power even in early games, shows and has developed a fight that grabs any goal-line pushing opponents and the pack-ing to both of the fact that only one touch has been thus far.

IT'S TOSS-UP, THAT CONTEST WITH ELECTRA

Wichita Falls May Discover Tigers Pretty Fierce Outfit

Of primary interest for the week in local athletics is the great opening interscholastic league battle carded this coming Saturday when the long-standing rivals, the Coyotes of Wichita Falls and the Tigers of Electra, meet at Electra. This will be the first of the series of conflicts for the district championship to be entered into by the two teams engaged, and the outcome of the game will have much to do with the possible league title.

Vernon Has Edge.

True, there will be no sure title decisions until the last of the three sets of games to be fought out between Wichita Falls, Electra, Quanah and Vernon for the class A honors of the eastern district, for all four teams seem pretty evenly matched. While it is not generally believed that the lads from Quanah have much chance at first place, the other three teams are practically a toss-up for a dopester's choice, with Vernon undoubtedly having any edge there may be. The powerful Lion team, built around a good number of members from last year's fast crew, probably will prove the main barrier for any other aggregations with championship aspirations. There is even a good likelihood that no team will come out with a clear record. If such is the case this year's rules give the district title to the team holding the best percentage in the win column when the round of games between district members has been completed.

Little To Choose Between.

As stated in these columns Sunday, there is little comparative dope on which to decide a probable outcome of the Coyote-Electra skirmish. Not only are the records of the practice season for the two teams about the same, with one victory and three resulting otherwise for each, but also in a comparison of letter men there seems to be little basis for choice. Of effective lettermen from last year the Coyotes have available Coyal Francis, half and quarter; Captain Wilkes Dobson, tackle; Roy Neal, end; Walter Pinney, center; Sisk, end and quarter; Wymore Downing, tackle and guard, and Hunkie Ray, guard and punter. There is Horton, lettering end, to be thick; but his injured knee will make him see little or no service in the Electra game. Hobbs, letterman of '24 at center, is also overcoming a foot injury and will certainly be at his old post for part of the league contest. Pinney's shoulder injury is also still bothering him some, leaving the squad with no top-condition man for the all-important job of passing the ball from center and holding the pivot for the Pack. No second stringer has been found as understudy for these men. Mitchell, halfback, is also back, but he has so far had so much trouble making his grades that he is not being counted on to help the squad. Thus the Coyotes have 7 letter men back in the probable first-string line-up.

Tigers Have Stars.

Jim Reese's Tiger line-up holds five first class letter men from last year with a possibility of a sixth being back for league competition. Besides these there are a number of capable men from last year's reserves and from the new men. Letter men include Brown, end; Coolidge, center; Kent, halfback; Lebus, quarter; Avens, tackle, and Carnahan, quarter. Carnahan, however, will not be counted on much, according to Coach Reese, as his injured knee received last year failed him again early this year to such an extent that not much hope for his return to the squad was left. Of these men Avens rates as one of the best tackles in the district, while Coolidge at center and Brown at end are no slouches for anybody's team. Johnny Lebus at quarter and Louis Kent at half give the Tigers two seasoned backs who should stack up pretty well with the rest of the conference. Among the new men in the red and white uniform, Sargent, weighty 190-pound tackle; Gilham, fast and heady youngster at fullback, and Clonginger, speedy and versatile end and end and half, all fall little short in their performance thus far. Davis, Smith and Foster furnish further line power that has made the Tiger line hard to pierce all season. The Tiger offense looks powerful somewhat weak in early performances, but the line has developed much power even in early games, shows and has developed a fight that grabs any goal-line pushing opponents and the pack-ing to both of the fact that only one touch has been thus far.

SYRACUSE MAN LEADS SCORING

Carr Has Total Of Eight Touchdowns So Far This Season

NEW YORK, Oct. 17 (AP)—Carr, of Syracuse, with eight touchdowns and 11 added points, had scored a total of 59 points for his team and stands out as a leading scorer for the season in the east thus far. Wascolonia, of Pennsylvania, has scored five touchdowns, but has not increased his scoring total by kicking.

Among the leading scorers in the east:

FATS GETTING GOOD

At Least He Ought to be With a Coach All His Alone

"I see you have another coach up here besides Coach Baggett," the writer remarked one afternoon while looking 'em over in a Vernon football practice.

"Yeah," pipes up "Scoops" Dixon of the Vernon Record, "that other fellow is Bob Vaughn. He specializes on the line but mostly Fats Parker, trying to make a center out of him."

Now if Baggett could get himself nine more coaches, one for each position except the quarterback on which he could work himself, just think what a team Vernon might have this year.

But laying joking aside, the Lions certainly have the power to make it mighty tough on the Wichita Falls eleven.

"CABBY" ON JOB

Panhandle Expects to Step Out Next Year and Cop Crown

"Cabby" Cabiness, business manager of the Panhandle Refinery baseball team that won the Wichita Falls championship last summer, beat Fort Worth's champions and then lost out in semi-final series to the Victory-Wilson team of Dallas, thinks his nine is going to go further next year.

"Cabby" isn't going to forget baseball during the winter but will plan for a stronger team even than was turned out this year by Jess Winters.

WON'T BE LONG!!

Cage Loopers Due to Get in Warming Up Pretty Soon

Won't be long now until B. G. Sharp, Wichita Falls basketball commissioner, starts calling a commercial league organization session. Chubby Neal, Preston Beck and the rest of the Landon-Hill gang, last season's champions, will be out hitting the hoop soon.

POP CHANGES HIS TACTICS.

Boone Has Quit Panning Dallas and Has Forgotten Cats.

Pop Boone, Cowtown scribe whose daily pastime as a rule is writing one article boosting Jake and his Cats and another razzing Dallas and Dallas fans, has shifted to another topic. For once Pop is laying off the Steer raspberries and buckling down to the business of boosting Fort Worth high school and T. C. U. football instead. And the Cats have cured Pop of writing baseball through the winter, having finally toppled from their championship perch, an event, you recall, which occurred the past summer.

It is also a fact that Wilson, Okla., is the only team thus far able to penetrate the Tiger line; and that was in the opening of the season.

All in all, the two squads seem to be pretty evenly matched and both pack much line steadiness, thus giving promise of a great defensive battle next Saturday rather than one of much scoring from either side.

Southwestern Conference Teams Show Strength In Major Contests Staged Saturday; S. M. U. Picked As Class

DALLAS, Texas, Oct. 17. (AP)—Southwest conference elevens engaged in intersectional combat gave excellent account of their prowess to feature last week's gridiron play.

Ray Morrison's Southern Methodist University Mustangs passed their way to a 7-7 deadlock with Coach Gwinn Henry's mighty Missouri Tigers, and the Texas University Longhorns were outweighed though not outplayed by the Black and Gold Vanderbilt eleven that conquered the Steers, 7-0.

Gerald Mann's fodward passing, and Redman Hume's kicking were bright spots in the play of the Ponies. Most gratifying, too, was the work of the Mustang forwards, opposed by heavier and more experienced linemen. Late in the third period, the Tigers passed and and stammed their way to the four-yard line, but failed by inches to carry over the pigskin.

Fumble Leads Way

Missouri's touchdown came shortly after Dawson had fumbled the opening kick-off, the Tigers recovering on the Ponies' 23-yard line. After carrying the ball to the three-yard line, Stuber passed to Clark for the counter.

The Ponies came back with snap and fight that must have been gratifying to Coach Morrison and former pony star who watched the game. Getting the leather on Missouri's 48-yard line, the Mustangs with three heavies produced the typing touchdown. Mann passed to Wade for 16 yards; Mann passed to Hume for 20 yards; and after Mann had lost on an end run he passed to Dawson for the touchdown.

Ponies Show Class.

In battling the Tigers to a well earned draw, the Ponies from Dallas showed class that made even more pleasurable the anticipation with which dyed-in-the-wool gird fans are looking forward to Saturday's tilt here between the Mustangs and Coach Dan Bible's fighting cadets from A. and M. Saturday with Joel Hunt showing the way, walked over New Mexico to the tune of 62-0. Hunt, one of the classiest backs in the South, scored 7 touchdowns. His most thrilling contribution an 80-yard return of a Kickoff. "That good old Aggie line" continued to function in almost flawless fashion, promising interesting opposition for Chris Cortemeglia, Mann, Hume, Wade and other Mustang aces.

Hochuli Lumenary.

Paul Hochuli was the luminary of the 19-0 victory gained by the Rice Owls over Coach Jack Meager's St. Edward's U. Saints. The Owls and Steers meet Saturday at Houston in a conflict that should be hard fought all the way.

Matty Bell's T. C. U. eleven defeated Austin college 7-0; Arganses bested the Hendrix College Bulldogs, 14-7, and Baylor avenged last season's defeat by taking Coach Barry Holton's Trinity University Tigers into camp, 14-6.

Winning Play.

The winning play came in the third quarter, when Hendrix, astounding fast for his bulk, sliced inside the Longhorn left tackle, dodging the secondary defense, and raced to the two yard line, before being pulled down from behind by Slover, an end.

It required four slams at the line before Hendrix carried the pigskin over the left side of the line. Spears drop-kicked for the extra point.

In Spears, the quarterback, the Commodores exhibited a finished triple threat man, who ran, passed, and kicked in sterling fashion. In addition he run his machine well and his handling of the slippery ball on punts was flawless. With the Longhorn ends on him waiting for the ball to drop before smashing, Spears invariably signaled for a fair catch, instead of taking the foolish chance of trying to run back the ball.

The Commodores whipped the Longhorns by attacking what was supposed to be the Longhorn's strength. Longhorn coaches were of the opinion their line would hold, but were much afraid of an overhead attack. During the past week they worked on the forward pass defensive to check the attacks they expected to come from Vandy. However, the mighty Vandy line, built around McKibbon, tackle, and Sharp, center, whipped the Longhorn forwards.

Wray One Star.

"Red" Wray, guard, playing his first year of intercollegiate football and "Pottie" McCullough, center, playing his first college football as a regular, worked well, despite the fact that Vandy's smashing attack was centered on the middle of the line much of the fray.

Vanderbilt early solved the Longhorn off-tackle shift and Rufus King made little headway against the line. The Longhorn attack seemed to run the smoothest in the last quarter, with Joe King directing the passing attack.

ALABAMA RUSH FOR GRID FLAG IN FULL DASH

Gerogia Tech Eleven Goes Down Before Speed Of Champions

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 17.(AP)—University of Alabama continued its rush toward its third Southern conference championship Saturday by defeating Georgia Tech, 21 to 0, while two conference teams were returned victors in the three intersectional games scheduled.

Only four other conference games were scheduled and from these contests Virginia Poly Technic Institute, Waashington and Lee, Virginia and Louisiana State university bettered their position in the conference standing, the first two having a clean record.

Hendrix, Vanderbilt full-back, ran wild in the third quarter at Dallas to score a one touchdown victory over the University of Texas Longhorns.

The University of Mississippi entertained hundreds of former students at the annual Ole Miss homecoming celebration at Oxford by defeating Loyola University of Chicago, 13 to 7.

Mike Donohue, former coach at Auburn, brought his Louisiana State University Tigers to Montgomery to defeat his former charges, 10 to 0, in a game that surprised pre-game dopesters.

Washington and Lee's generals defeated the Kentucky Wildcats in the opening game for both teams, 14 to 13.

Virginia Polytechnic Institute upset predictions and defeated Maryland university, 24 to 8, while Virginia Military Institute was bowing before the University of Virginia, 14 to 7.

In games with non-conference teams the greatest surprise of the day was the 14-7 defeat of the University of Georgia at the hands of Furman.

JINX PIPES DOWN

Waco's Cosical Sports Writer Not So Rough These Days

Jinx Tucker, the funny Waco sports writer, hasn't erupted with anything outlandish in many weeks now. As a rule this bolshevik of Texas athletic scriveners pops off hilariously with some wild and impossible assertion at least once every other day. But Jinx, strangely, of late, has been quite orderly. Must be losing his pep.

GILLUM HAS GOODS

If He Stays in and Pitches He Will Make Grade

This boy Gillum, who has been playing in the backfield for Jim Reese over at Electra has the makings of a mighty neat gridder if he will buckle down, take matters seriously and fights all the way. The lad has lots of stiff work before him, however.

HOLDING OUT FOR MORE

Guy Tells Tony About Possible (?) Sale to Major Club

Tony DeFate, one of Burkburnett's leading citizens, dropped in over the week-end on pleasure, not business, and among other things inquired at baseball headquarters, if any major league teams had made offres for his services. Spudder Secretary Guy Airey divulged that the Wichita Falls ball club is holding out with the hopes of making Jawn McGraw or maybe Connie Mack pay more money than they first expected to.

SQUINT BETTER GET WELL

If Squint Holstein, the high school's mountain-man, doesn't cure up that injured knees of his in a hurry, the Coyotes are going to be sore pressed next Saturday at Electra. Jim Reese's "four horsemen," whoever they are, may work havoc with McCallum's front line defense minus the huge Holstein.

JUDD HITS 'EM HARD.

Judd Waller, lanky outfielder with Panhandle in the Twilight league last summer, is doing himself right proud with the Decatur Baptist this fall as a fullback. This is Waller's second year as the Baptists' heaviest offensive power. Judd rams the line hard and plays a nifty game on defense.

MOORE ROCKING ALONG

Former Electra Star Gridder Cutting up With Varsity

Murray Moore, the former Electra high school grid star, is making the grade right merrily with Doc Stewart's Longhorns down at Austion. Moore stacks up as one of the best linesmen in the Southwest conference.

Guess Ross Must Admit I'm King of Whole Works, Wires Mantell When Selected To Beat Kanthe

Dutch Mantell didn't arrive Sunday as expected for his match with Dick Kanthe, the Detroit roughhouse grappler, Tuesday at the Eleventh and Ohio arena but he wired The Record News sports editor that he will be in soon.

Said Dutch: "Why don't Ross put Jap or Gorman against this tough cookie? Guess he must admit I am the king of the whole works. Feel fine and have my daily raw meat, so look for blood. Be there Monday. Say hello to the gang. Dutch."

Matchmaker Ross said yesterday that if Kanthe beats Dutch he will be given a match with Joe Kopecky and the winner will meet Johnny Myers, world's middleweight champion, here.

Revival

tonight did I know what the front seats in a church were for. I see they are in use tonight. And while this is an unusually large crowd, many people are not at church tonight, I would be safe in saying that 90 percent of the people in this city are not at church. Therefore while we have wonderful churches and all that, I wonder if we are doing all we should to bring people to the churches," the speaker said. In union there is strength and I believe it will be beneficial for the congregations of the various churches to have this union revival as well as others, for by being together we become better acquainted, and I don't believe we can love each other as we should until we know each other better. You hear of Wichita Falls everywhere. We are advertised all over the United States as a city of financial influence. I heard lots about our city while on a recent trip to New York. But wouldn't it be better to be known as a city of God where the citizenship loves the church? I believe a union revival will do more to that end than any other means. I hope the day will come when there will be just one church. Too many denominations mix people up they don't know which church to join," the mayor continued.

Grafton Next

Dr. Grafton the next speaker on the question "Why a Union Revival," spoke forcibly on the importance of the impact of a union revival on thinking people. A great union for good has a wholesome influence on people just look at this great crowd and at the one across the street, that shows how eager people are for a union service." Speaking of the Russian-Jap war, Dr. Grafton told of the taking of a city in Russia by the Japanese that had never been taken before. "They assaulted the city from all four sides and there was nothing to do but surrender. That is what we want to do, with great united Christian forces, we want to attack Wichita Falls from all sides and take it for Christ," he said

The question, "When a Union Revival?" was discussed by Judge B. D. Sartin and Dr. S. A. Barnes, pastor of the Floral Heights Methodist church.

Sartin Wants Souls

"March 15 to Easter is the season of the year when all the churches are turning their thoughts to the time of the resurrection of Christ and of life. I believe that the churches united under one banner, many a soul will be gathered. I believe the Potestant churches are closer together now than ever before in Wichita Falls and think it an opportune time for a union revival," Judge Sartin said.

Dr. Barnes, speaking on the subject, "When a Revival?" said he use to think that you could have a revival any time that you could get a preacher to preach and a singer to sing, but with experience he has learned that there is a psychological time for a revival if it is to be a success. "The winters are severe in this section, the summers are long and hot and in the fall of the year, people are very busy. In the spring the flowers are beginning to bloom, the birds to sing and all the Christian bodies in the world are beginning to plan revivals and think of the Easter season and the resurrection of Christ, so it would seem that the time selected is an opportune time," he said.

Chauncey Addresses

The next question discussed was "How a Revival?" with Judge W. B. Chauncey and the Rev. Henry Paul Packard talking on the subject. "The church is the greatest institution in the world today because it has a place for every man, woman and child. Three or four of the pastors may work as hard as they can but we cannot have a revival unless the pastors have the support of the membership. The greatest preacher today is not the man who preaches the greatest sermon, but the one who can get the most work out of the membership," Judge Chauncey said in part.

Dr. Packard said the first essential for a good revival was enthusiasm. "A united spirit of enthusiasm of the christian people of of the churches of Wichita Falls can do much to bring about a successful revival. I believe the greatest man in Wichita Falls is the man who is trying to make it the city God wants it to be, not the man of much money and wide social influence," the speaker said as he quoted the passage of scripture, "The people had a mind to work."

A quartette including Messrs. Hansen, Macgregor, Bohmfalk and Gary, sang, "Lord It Is I," by Harkness, and the benediction was given by the Rev. W. D. Cook.

Spanish-American War Veterans Celebrate At Dallas Fair.

DALLAS, Texas, Oct. 17. (AP) Spanish war veterans and Lutherans of the south joined to make Sunday one of the biggest days of the state fair of Texas of 1926.

The Lutherans held their services in a large tent on the grounds.

George A. Lake, chaplain of the department of Spanish war veterans of Texas presided at the veterans' meeting. Addresses and music made up their program.

WHAT'S LAWRENCE DOING?

American Refinery Team Manager Hasn't Started Building Yet

This time last fall Lawrence Medford, manager of the American refinery amateur baseball club, already had started planning for the following summer. But the Eagles bumped into a gob of tough breaks in the 1926 twilight league race, apparently cooling Lawrence's ardor. He hasn't said anything yet about building a club for the 1927 scramble.

PANTHER CITY AFTER RODEO

Fort Worth May Soon Call Itself Rodeo Capital Of Country

FORT WORTH, Texas, Oct. 17. (AP) — Efforts to make Fort Worth rodeo training headquarters of the United States were mobilized Saturday by backers of a project to convert 200 acres of land west of here into a $250,000 ranch deluxe, with race tracks, indoor training quarters and living accommodations for 75 to 200 performers.

Fred M. "Foghorn" Clancy, rodeo promoter, known wherever they are staged, announced the plans, declaring that one third of the top notch rodeo performers of the nation winter here now. He said twice as many more would be attracted by the training project.

Arms Reduction Outlook Cloudy

Geneva Experts Are Skeptical What Results Will Come

GENEVA, Switzerland, Oct. 17. (AP)—Close followers of the question of world disarmament are inclined to be skeptical as to the results of the general disarmament conference which will be convoked before next September by the League of Nations.

From the American viewpoint the preparatory arrangements for the conference, which have been going on for many weeks have made little progress. There is absolute disagreement among the experts on the question which the American delegates consider of fundamental importance, namely the method to be fololwed in comparing the strength of the various world navies.

Great Britain is particularly interested in the cruiser and submarine programs of Italy and France; first, because of the narrowness of the English channel and, second, because of her interests in the Mediterranean which is her sea route to Indian and other British dominions.

For this reason, it will be exceedingly difficult for Great Britain to enter a three power agreement with the United States and Japan on naval limitation. France and Italy, the British believe also should be parties to such a pact.

RUTH GOES WILD

Bambino Knocks 36 Balls Out of Montreal Park

MONTREAL, Oct. 17. (AP)—Babe Ruth stopped a perfectly good ball game here today after he had hit 36 balls out of the grounds, the management had to call the game shortly after the start of the ninth inning because there were no more spheres. Three thousand persons, braving a chilling wind, saw the home run king give the Guybourg team a four-three victory over Beauviridge. Ruth was accompanied by Urban Shocker, a New York teammate.

The Babe's performance included two home runs. The first in the sixth inning to tie the score at 3-3 for his side, was made off Shocker. The second came from the slants of Paddy Galkin, who has been signed for a tryout with the Chicago White Sox next year. The majority of the balls were lost when the Babe hit fouls.

"DO YOUR BEST WITH TALENTS YOU HAVE," KAY'S PLEA

Life of Great Leader Moses Cited as One Full of Achievements and Good Works; 341 Hear His Lecture

"Yet With All His Greatness and Leadership, I Think He Was Glad When the Whisper Came in the End—Go Home," Teacher Declares at End of His Address.

"Let us so live that when we come to the end, we can say that we have done what we could with the talents that were given us." Judge John C. Kay exorted his Men's Bible class Sunday morning in an address that cited the life of Moses as one full of achievements and good works.

His address, heard by 341 persons, was as follows:

"The lesson this morning is about the death and the burial of our great hero of the last few months' lessons, Moses. He failed to reach the Promised Land, and was carried up into a mountain and buried by the hands of God, without any man knowing the place of his grave."

One of the old Persian kings assembled the scholars and historians of his kingdom and ordered them to write a history of the world. They were gone for years and, finally, the king saw a great caravan of camels coming, and when they got to the palace gate, these historians said: "We have completed the history of the world and it is on these camels. There are six thousands volumes." He said: "I am a business man. I have got plans for the kingdom and I haven't got time to look at a set of books like that. Go back and hi-pencil it, and abridge it, and bring the book in a smaller form." So, they were gone for a long time, and came back with five hundred volumes. He said: "I am getting up in years. I haven't time to look at a thing like that. Cut it down and abridge it." That happened three times, and the fourth time they came with one volume, and one book, but they found the king on his bed passing from the scenes of this world, and they said: "Sire, we have now brought you the history of the world in this one volume."

And he said: "Behold, I die. I haven't time to read that one volume. Tell me—tell me, in a word, what is in it," and one of the editors said: "Oh, King, I can tell you in a word. They were born. They lived. They loved and suffered, and worked, and fought, and toiled, and died."

How full a man's life ought to be. What driving energy there ought to be in the heart of a man to accomplish that thing that he sets about to do. To one man, the great energy of life is burned in the improvement of his intellect. He is first among you. Another man sets out to accomplish great things in business and finance, in politics, in medicine, or in any one of the walks of life, and his success depends and must always depend on the effort and energy that he puts into it.

Burn it Both Ways.

I hear people talking about burning the candle at both ends. That's the way to burn it. You know, nothing would hurt me worse than to think that some day, in somebody's house, some descendent of mine should have one of these little pictures of me hanging on the wall, and some stranger come in and say: "Who's the old man?" And, some of the children should say: "That was Grandpa. He never was any good." And, it's dangerous, too, because you know children sometimes blurt things right out before the company and everybody. Let's put all that we have, and all the energy that we have, into life.

Now, this great man Moses, great as a soldier, great as a poet, the greatest of all the law-giving, a great judge and a great leader, was climbing up the slopes of a high mountain for his last effort. We can almost hear the whisper of the pine trees, and see the eagles circling about these snowy peaks, and the fleecy white clouds passing above them, as he comes at last to the end of his journey. And, what were his thoughts? Great thoughts they must have been, because his was, perhaps, the most dramatic life that was ever given to any mortal man. He began in a little bulrush basket and his little blue eyes, looked out for the first time on the great sweep and tide of the River Nile. He was carried into the king's house by the king's daughter. He lived among his own people. He became a great minister. He became too zealous for his own people and slew a man. He, it was, who watched the funerals of the first born children, as they were buried under the shimmering summer sun of Egypt. He watched theplagues of flies, and the plagues of blood. He, it was, who led his people out of bondage, and saw the pillar of cloud by day and the pillar of fire by night. He heard the rush and the clatter of Pharoah's army, and he saw them overwhelmed in the Red sea, and everywhere he saw the hand of God. More, and most of all, he it was who had climbed up Mt. Sinais slopes and brought down from there the very oracles of God, the Ten Commandments. He knew that he had seen and had done all these things. He had watched God feed His people with manna in the desert, and with flocks of quail that came up on the south wind, and so it was that His life had been very full.

What Have We Done?

What have we done? What do we do? One of our great poets has truly said that "art is long and times is fleeting." What can we do in a short life-time? Must we come, at last, with empty hands into the presence of our Judge and say that: "I lived and loitered, and lingered by the way, and have come empty-handed to these gates!" Must we come at last to say that: "There was nothing accomplished," "There were no sheaves bound," that, "There was nothing of good, nothing of greatness, no energy spent, no effort made?" This is the lesson that we are to learn from great men. We have tried, and tried and tried. That they lost not their faith in the presence of the enemy and that their courage failed not under difficulties.

We need more faith, and more of courage and determination, and energy, because, out of these things come the power that drives us forward. Because, man can't last always. They must come at last, as Moses did, to the end of effort, to the end of accomplishment, to the end of energy and to the wages and reward, whatever it is, that is laid up for them.

So let us live that when we come to the end, we can say that we have done what we could with the talents that were given to us.

But, you know, I think Moses was ready to die. With all his effort; with all his mighty history, with all of his great accomplishments, with his powerful leadership of his people, until he brought them in sight of the Promised Land, I think he was glad when there came a little whisper: "Home through the trees, Home through the dew, Home through the Greenwood, Home,—Home."

TAMES ANIMALS

German Uses Hypnotic Force to Control Animals

BUDAPEST, Oct. 17.—Bruno Bree, a German from Berlin, gave his first performance of throwing animals and birds into hypnotic trances before the directors of the zoo and a few specially invited spectators.

The first subject was a hare, which kicked and struggled when Bree lifted it up, but instantly became unconscious when it had been fixed by the hypnotic eyes.

Next the experiment was tried on an eagle, which endeavored to attack Bree when he opened its cage, but when he had succeeded in seizing it by the leg and peering into its eyes it became limp and was laid down beside the hare.

IDEAL DAY A BOON FOR CITY

Indian Summer Weather Gives Wichita Falls Time To Get Out Doors

Wichita Falls turned out Sunday to take full advantage of an ideal autumn day that was all the more enjoyable because of its contrast with weather conditions "as was" locally.

A brilliant sun, a sky cloudless from morning to night and a mild breeze that was not sufficiently boistrous to be disagreeable but which at the same time kept things comfortable all combined to form a perfect Indian summer Sunday. Night time capped it all with a large half moon and a cool and stimulating atmosphere.

MRS. QUALLS DEAD

Funeral Services To Be Held Today For Wichita Falls Woman

Mrs. Nannie Qualls, aged 56, died at 5:30 Sunday morning at her home, 502 Jefferson street, after a short illness. She had been a resident of Wichita Falls for a number of years and leaves a husband and six children, all of this city, as survivors.

Funeral services will be held at 4 o'clock Monday afternoon in the North Side Community house with Rev. J. H. Townsend of the Lamar Avenue Baptist church in charge.

Whoopee! Injuns Galore and Lots of Animals at Circus Here Today

For those who love stories of the Indians, and the strange and perilous adventures of white men in dealing with the forest tribes, a remarkable anecdote of life in the Virginia woodlands three centuries ago, brilliantly portrayed by a gigantic staff of living actors, including three tribes of Indians, will be seen at Wichita Falls tonight, Monday, October 18, when the Al. G. Barnes, largest wild animal circus in the world, shows here.

The Al. G. Barnes circus, which grows larger and more gorgeous each year, has provided for lovers of magnificient pageants this season the American gigantic, historic feature, "Pocahontas at the Court of Queen Anne," the extravaganza that opens the big program in which 2,000 wild educated animals from every clime under the sun is represented in daring and thrilling acts.

Indians from the famous "Painted Desert" of Arizona, the cactus-covered plains of Nevada and the wild, rolling hills of New Mexico, are included in the gigantic pageant. There will also be 100 bathing beauties from the "sunkist" shores of southern California, all of whom have been trained extensively for their parts in some of the best motion picture, dramatic, dancing and singing studios on the west coast.

The celebrated "sacred snake dance" enacted by Hopi Indians, clad in skins of wild animals, will be seen. The savages, crazed by the beating of tom-toms, actually wind squirming, deadly rattlesnakes about their half-naked bodies and thrust the heads of the poisonous reptiles in their mouths during the weird ceremony.

You will also see the giant Gorilla Man—Joe Martin, himself. And last, but not least, you'll see Lotus, five-ton, largest and only blood-sweating hippopotamus in the world, with "the show that's different"—gorgeously bigger every year.

What About Your Neckties of Yesterday?

On every man's neckwear rack hangs a dozen or more ties—spotted, soiled, wrinkled—Ties he liked and regretted to give up wearing.

But they can be cleaned and restored to shape by our superior methods—and returned to you anxious for service—a dozen of your old favorites brought back to life for $1.20.

FIRE GETS CAR

Motor Belonging to C. Davis Destroyed Here Sunday.

The city fire department responded to a call at Twenty-third and Holly drive at 10 o'clock Sunday morning, and found that they had arrived too late to save a Columbia touring car from destruction by fire.

The car belonged to C. Davis, who stated that the fire must have been caused by a short in the wiring as no one had been near the car for some time previous to the fire.

McCOY IMPROVES.

J. D. McCoy, local truck driver who was shot and seriously wounded last Friday night in an altercation in connection with which Mrs. Ida Eckenrod now faces charges of assault with intent to murder, is progressing satisfactorily in the Hargrave-Walker hospital, reports Sunday night said.

McCoy has lost the sight of one eye and also lost part of his nose. A charge from a small guage shotgun carried these away.

Dr. George B. Hamilton of Olney left Saturday to attend the inter-state post graduate course at Cleveland. He expects to be gone for a week.

MRS. WILLIAMS DEAD

Local Woman Expires Sunday Morning In Hospital

Mrs. J. A. Williams, 34 years of age, of 2701 Forest avenue, died at a local hospital at 6 o'clock Sunday morning. Funeral services will be held at the Highland Heights Baptist church this afternoon at 3 o'clock with the pastor, the Rev. A. J. Ballew, officiating. Burial will be in Rosemont cemetery.

The deceased is survived by her husband and three small children.

Avoid Excess Uric Acid!

Good Elimination is Essential to Good Health

OUR BODIES are continually manufacturing uric acid from the food we eat and the breaking down of tissue. This is a normal process of the body. And uric acid is a normal constituent of the blood. Ordinarily our kidneys are quite capable of filtering out these bodily wastes. It is only when uric acid is permitted to accumulate in excess that trouble comes. Under certain conditions an excess of uric acid accumulates beyond the functional ability of the kidneys to remove it. Such individuals are said to be "gouty." Symptoms are a soreness and stiffness of the joints and muscles, and a tired, nervous, depressed feeling. That the kidneys are not functioning properly is sometimes shown by scanty or burning passage of secretions.

Authorities agree the kidneys are the principal eliminative organs of uric acid. Doan's Pills, stimulant diuretic to the kidneys, have thousands of endorsers in uric acid troubles. Doan's stimulate the kidneys to greater activity and assist them to flush away the excess uric acid. Ask your neighbor!

WIDE RANGE IN COTTON PRICES

Fluctuations During Last Week Show Real Activity

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 17.(AP)—The cotton market developed considerable activity and a wide range of fluctuations during the past week. During the greater part of the period themarket was firm and prices scored a broad advance from the low price of 12.36 for December reached the previously week immediately after the last government report was issued. At the highest reached Friday morning the December option traded at 13.71 or just 145 points above the low of the preceding week.

This rally was due to a good trade and speculative demand engendered by the belief that prices had dropped too low and cotton was a good investment. Another stimulating influence was the falling off in the hedge sales which was attributed to the growth of the holding movement. Still another constructive influence was the appointment of a commission of federal officials to co-operate with the cotton interests in finding a solution of the cotton problem and the assurances from both government and banking authorities that the most liberal assistance would be accorded the producers in holding their crops until they can be safely marketed.

Another encouraging factor was a statement by Secretary Hester of the New Orleans cotton exchange pointing out that thepanicky conditions prevailing were unjustified, that the world's consumption would in all likelihood so increase as to take care of the large crop and that exports would probably expand to about 16,000,000 bales for the season.

During the closing days of the week unfavorable period, cables and a renewal of hedge selling coupled with the enormous movement of the crop into sight for the week caused a sharp reaction of 75 points from the high point of Friday morning.

The following shows the high, low, and closing sales in the New Orleans futures market during the past week compared withthe price a year ago:

Month	High	Low	Close	Year
Oct.	12.49	12.91	12.92	21.00
Dec.	13.71	12.98	12.97	20.91

Mexico Sends Troops To Crush Yaqui Revolt

Photos show a typical group of th e Yaqui Indians, and General Joaquin Amaro, secretary of war and marine, who will take active charg e of the federal troops in their maneuvers against the rebels. Map shows Guaymas, where federal troops will make their headquarters, within sight of the Yaquis' stronghold, and Nogales, near the American border, toward which small groups of the Indians are reported moving in search of food, arms and ammunition.

By W. Y. FERROLL
Central Press Correspondent

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 17. — The Yaqui Indians long have been the thorn in the side of the Mexican government. Now, if present plans of the government materialize at least the Yaquis in open rebellion against the government, will be virtually wiped out.

The government has completed its plan for the expedition against the Yaquis, and once under way, between 20,000 and 25,000 federal troops will be thrown into battle.

General Joaquin Amaro, secretary of war and marine, has left for Sonora, and it is intimated he will assume active charge of the troops. According to official word, he left, escorted by 300 picked men, on an inspection trip, but it is hinted that he will relieve General Francisco Manzo, who has been in command up until this time, and will personally conduct the offensive against the Yaquis.

The Yaquis have retreated into the Bacatete mountains in Sonora and already the efforts of the government to starve the Indians out are showing effect. The Yaquis have already started sending out small scouting parties from their mountain stronghold for food, and they seem to be trying to maintain a line of food communication between the mountains and the granary of Sonora.

The government already has 10,000 troops guarding the line between Sonora and the Bacatete mountains and this number will be doubled as soon as the extra troops can be rushed to Guaymas, where the federals have established a base within sight of the rebel stronghold.

Both land and sea troops will be used in the government's offensive and they already have been concentrated from all parts of Mexico. The government has not overlooked a single modern weapon of warfare in its plans to rout the Yaquis. Airplanes, gas bombs, armored trucks, artillery and cavalry will be included in the expedition that will be pitted against the rebels.

Government scouts near Nogales report many small groups of Indians moving toward the American border, apparently in search of food, arms and ammunition. Movements of the Indians indicate they are making a desperate effort to set up a line of communication to combat the governments' plans to starve them out and that the trapped rebels are trying to get in touch with the main body of Yaquis to gain their amistance.

General Manzo has reported from Nogales that Chief Mori has decided to remain loyal to the rebelling Yaquis and is now in open rebellion against the other tribes. It was reported recently that Mori was wavering in his stand and was thinking of joining his superior Chief Matus, leading the "faithful" ones.

BONDS GO UP IN BIG SURGE

Steady Advance Displayed In Face Of Losses On Stock Market

NEW YORK, Oct. 16 (AP)—In contrast to the pronounced reactionary tone of the stock market; bond prices moved slowly ahead last week on a much broader volume of trading. Despite the continuance of relatively high money rates, there was no recurrence of the "credit scares" which have become more or less familiar this fall and considerable comfort was derived from the failure to the federal reserve authorities to alter the rediscount rate.

The most important factor in the improvement of bond prices was a resumption of institutional buying. Uncertainties of the money market had largely eliminated this type of support since Labor day, but with the return of more attractive price levels large purchases for banks and other institutions were again carried out.

A possible contributing factor in the rise was the lack of competition from new financing. After several weeks of intensive activity in this field, bond offerings fell to near the smallest volume of the year, totaling about $20,000,000 compared with more than $100,000,000 in the preceding week. This was partly due to the holiday interruption.

Investors may look forward this week to one of the most important foreign financing operations of the year—the sale of a $42,500,000 Chilean government loan.

Formal offering of the bond issue will take place tomorrow in the United States, Canada and Europe, but the banking syndicate was already indicated that advance subscriptions exceed the amount of the loan.

The investment market also is awaiting the floation of a large Belgian loan, which latest reports have placed at $75,000,000.

All classes of foreign bonds scored moderate progress last week, with buying of European issues probably influenced by the prediction of a leading international banker that France, Belgian and Italy all were approaching solution of their financial and currency problems. French government obligations sold around the highest levels of the year.

Selective buying was the rule in the domestic list, with several railroad and miscellaneous industrial liens basking in pouplar favor.

Farmers In Oklahoma Gain By Co-operative Buying.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 17. Farmers in Oklahoma have saved $222,110 on merchandise purchases through the Farmers' Union during the last 12 months, according to a report of the activities of the union up to August 1, issued by John Simpson, president. Savings were effected by co-operative buying in carload lots. Among the largest items of savings are $78,000 of 60 carloads of coal; $67,500 on 110 carloads of binder twine; $32,000 on 50 carloads of flour and feed, and $12,000 on 40 carloads of potatoes.

little fellows in the game unable to hold their cotton have sand in their stomachs this year. This is a reminder that the plan evolved by a former Texan who served eight years in the cabinet of Woodrow Wilson, simply calls for legislative enactment that will prohibit farmers from planting to cotton two years in succession. That is, they would be compelled to skip the land every other year. This would refertilize the land, this would call for diversification, this would compel the land owners to permit their tenents to grow food stuffs for the table and feed stuffs for the livestock and it would prevent some of the bankers and many money loaners from compelling borrowers to plant cotton and nothing else.

This should be a campaign of education for the education of the men who control affairs in the cotton states. As for the tenent, he gets his education every year. He is a pawn in and to the credit system which has existed in the south since the close of the Civil war.

NAMELESS DEBTOR

Unidentified Man Pays $40 To Estate In Pennsylvania.

NORRISTOWN, Pa., Oct. 17. The Montgomery Baptist church has been enriched $40 from an unknown source. When Victoria Manuel died in February, 1925, at Lansdale, the church was bequeathed everything she had and settlement was completed more than a year ago.

Attorney E. J. Bennett has just received $40, an anonymous sender declaring that this amount is due the estate. The letter was postmarked at Lansdale and states:

"For the Victoria Manuel estate—I could not pay sooner. No matter who it is; I owe it. Friend."

$50 PENALTY

War On Noisy Motorists Opened By London Police.

LONDON, Oct. 17. — War has been declared on noisy motorists, especially motorcyclists, by the home office. "A great deal of annoyance and inconvenience, amounting in many cases to an intolerable nuisance," says the home office, "is caused to members of the public at large by the excessive noise emitted by the exhausts of motor vehicles, and particularly motorcycles." All "motorists" are warned that if they desire to escape this penalty of 10 pounds sterling, they must take the necessary steps to reduce the noise.

OFFICERS HELD

Police Force of Small Village Crippled by Arrests

ATLANTIC CITY, Oct. 17.—The police force at Pleasantville, a small town near here, were seriously crippled when Police Chief Bellville L. Naylor, Police Recorder William B. Stevens and Constable Butler Boyd were arrested by state troopers, charged with malicious michief.

The first two were held in $1,500 bail and Boyd in $500 on the complaint of John Reeves that he was illegally disposed by the defendants, who, he says, put him, his wife and five children out of their house and then threw the furniture out after them.

PEACHES HIDES FROM FRIENDS

Wife Of Cinderella Man In Seclusion Sunday At Home

NEW YORK, Oct. 17. (AP)—Frances "Peaches" Heenan Browning, young wife of Edward W. Browning, wealthy New York real estate operator, was in seclusion at her mother's New York home tomorrow in a suit for separation on the grounds of desertion.

The Brownings were married last April in spite of efforts of the children's association in New York to prevent it. "Peaches" left Browning October 4, and since that time has not seen him.

Yesterday at Poughkeepsie, Browning appeared before Supreme Court Justice Morschauser, initiating his suit for separation with a plea that a guardian be appointed for his wife. Justice Morschauser appointed Attorney Francis Dale of New York, guardian.

Mr. Dale said tonight that "Peaches" must submit to guardianship because she is Browning's legal wife and is only 18 years old.

FARMERS' UNION

Co-operative Hatchery Maintained In Canadian Province.

EDMONTON, Alberta, Oct. 17. The farmers of Alberta have established a co-operative hatchery and brooding establishment, it being felt that the yearly scarcity of eggs was due to out-of-date methods of hatching and rearing chicks on the farm.

As the hatching occurs during seeding time, the busiest season of the year, this important branch of the farming industry is neglected. The plant will not be run for profit but all money over after operating expenses will go to lessen cost of the next season's hatching.

WAR ON FAGS

American Minister Goes to London to Reform Britishers

LONDIN, Oct. 17.—The Rev. Manfred P. Welcher, an American preacher, who for the past 16 years has been telling the youth of the United States and Canada the perils of the tobacco habit, has arrived in England to attempt to make young English smokers see the error of their ways. Rev. Welcher, who hails from Hartford, Conn., has the following argument to support his contention that smoking is injurious. Twenty-five per cent of the men rejected as unfit for the United States army during the great war were cigarette smokers. Nicotine is the second known most deadly poison. Many children die before the age of 1 because their parents are addicted to the tobacco habit. He is to lecture at various halls here.

"HONEY LOU" By Beatrice Burton

AUTHOR OF "LOVE BOUND," "HER MAN," ETC.

READ THIS FIRST:

HONEY LOU HUNTLEY is private secretary to old "GRUMPY" WALLACK, head of the Wallack Fabric Mills.

"Grumpy" hired Honey Lou not only because she does her work well, but because she is pretty and pleasant to have around. Everyone at the place likes Honey Lou from ANN LUDLOW, the office vamp, to JOE MEADOWS, the shipping clerk. But Honey Lou is half-afraid of Joe Meadows without quite knowing why.

Young JACK WALLACK comes to work in his father's mills to learn the business "from the ground up." He falls in love with Honey Lou, and she with him. But when he asks her to meet him on a street corner after work, she refuses to. And when he kisses her one night on their way home, she slaps his face and gets out of his automobile. Later he apologizes, and they become good friends.

Honey Lou tells him that she never lets men "pet" her, and that she seldom smokes, never drinks or does any of them wild, careless things the modern flapper is said to do. All this is the truth, and Jack believes it.

His neighbor, ANGELA ALLEN, meets Honey Lou and invites her to a dinner she is giving in honor of Jack's birthday. Honey Lou drinks two cocktails—the first she had ever had—thinking that they are fruit punch. She "passes out" and Angela tells Jack that "his hard-boiled little friend took seven or eight drinks." Jack believes her, for he never has had any reason to doubt her word. And Angela apparently is a saintly person who does charity work at the hospital where Honey Lou's half-sister, Margret, keeps books. Margret is in love with a young doctor named STEVE MAYHEW, but the latter's mother, MRS. HUNTLEY, thinks that Steve is in love with Honey Lou.

Honey Lou does not understand why Jack does not come near her for four days after Angela's party. She wonders if it is because she drank, or because she let him kiss her on the way home. She talks it over with Ann Ludlow, the office vamp, but she comes to no conclusion.

NOW GO ON WITH HER STORY.

CHAPTER IX.

It was on the Saturday afternoon before Christmas that old Mr. Wallack called Honey Lou to his end gave her a Christmas present.

He was sewing at his desk when she came in, and he was so absorbed in his work that he did not notice that she had entered the room. Honey Lou stood for a moment watching him, and then she coughed a little, hoping to attract his attention. He looked up, and when he saw who it was he smiled and laid down his needle and thread.

"Yes—I got over it," Honey Lou said. "I never should have touched those drinks of yours. I'm not used to alcohol and even those two little glasses did me. I haven't seen Mr. Wallack since that night. I reckon he was awfully disgusted with me."

Her voice was wistful and the wide-set velvety brown eyes were wistful, too, as she looked at the other girl.

Angela shook her head.

"Of course, he wasn't disgusted with you," she answered. "He knew you never had drunk before. I told him so. I told him you had only had two tiny drinks. I fixed it up for you with him."

She smiled at Honey Lou as she spoke—a sweet, innocent, gentle smile. And it never occurred to Honey Lou that she might not be telling the truth.

"I'm coming down here some day to get you to have lunch with me," she went on. "Will you come?"

Her dove-like eyes were soft and appealing above her dark furs, and she held out one white-gloved hand to Honey Lou in the friendliest sort of way.

"I'd love to," Honey Lou answered, suddenly feeling happy and warm as she always did when people were nice to her and met her half way.

She shook Angela's hand, and backed away from the car. "I hope you'll have a very merry Christmas," she was saying when she saw Jack Wallack and his father come out of the building.

She did not look at them. She pretended not to see them. And her eyes were straight ahead of her when the blue car passed her a moment or two later.

* * *

On Christmas afternoon, Honey Lou was helping her mother and Margret get the turkey-and-cranberry sauce dinner when the telephone rang.

Every time it rang these days, Honey Lou's heart leaped within her breast. It might be Jack Wallack. It might be—.

"It's a man to talk to you," Margret said to her, and she flew to the phone.

It must be Jack! It couldn't be anybody else!

"Hello," she said, and there was a whole world of joy in her voice.

"This is Timothy Donegal," answered the voice at the other end of the wire. "I'm having the rottenest Christmas ever, and I wondered if you could get away from your folks long enough to have supper with me somewhere, tonight."

Honey Lou hesitated. Steve Mayhew was coming over for the six o'clock dinner, and afterward he was going to take the three women to the theater.

Then all at once she made up her mind that she would go out to dinner with Donegal. It must be pretty awful to be lonesome on Christmas day. To have to ask someone to share a restaurant dinner.

"Why, yes. I'd like very much to go with you," she said into the mouthpiece of the telephone. "Six o'clock, Mr. Donegal? I'll meet you downstairs."

"If I knew him better," she said to herself, "I'd have invited him to have dinner with us. But he probably wouldn't want to come."

Donegal had struck her, somehow, as a snob, not at all the kind of man who would enjoy a simple home-cooked dinner served by herself and Margret.

Steve Mayhew was different. It never made any difference to Steve whether people were rich and important or poor and unknown. He liked folks, not for what they had, but for what they were. He treated everyone alike.

At six o'clock Steve came.

Honey Lou heard his voice in the living room as she dressed before the cloudy looking glass in the bedroom.

"Where's Honey Lou?" was almost the first question he asked, when he came in.

"Going out with some fellow she's only met once," she heard Margret reply in her sweet throaty voice. "Some friend of Jack Wallack's."

Honey Lou could not make out Steve's answer.

She went on with her dressing, turning and turning in front of the glass to get the effect of the new pearl beads Margret had given her that morning—beads that swung from her slender neck in three gleaming strands, just the way that Angela Allen wore hers.

She had a new fur scarf, too—a gift from Aunt Lucy and Uncle Henry, who always asked what she wanted for Christmas beforehand.

That year Honey Lou had told Margret and her mother what she wanted, too. Her mother's present lay on the bed—a small turban of very heavy black satin that was an exact copy of the one that Honey Lou had seen on Angela Allen's head.

"Hello, Steve!" she said when she walked out into the living room where Steve sat alone under the yellow lamp. "Take an eyeful of me! Don't you think I look quite wickedly attractive?"

He stood up and his eyes seemed to grow darker as he looked gravely at her. His mouth twisted in a half smile.

"Very wickedly," he answered awkwardly, and picked up a big square pasteboard box from the table beside him.

It was a florist's box, Honey Lou sat at a glance.

"These are for you," he said when he put it into her hands.

She opened it. Within it was a sweet and heavy mass of small white roses with drops of water still glittering on them like crystal beads.

"Oh, boy!" sighed Honey Lou. "Aren't they gorgeous! Steve, you old extravagant thing! Now if you were in love with me, I suppose you'd be telling me that I'm like a white rose, wouldn't you?"

She laughed like a small happy child. But a second afterward she was sorry she had said it to him. For his nostrils quivered, and she saw him clench his hands as he sat down in the chair under the yellow lamp.

"I didn't say it, but I've been thinking it for quite a while," he said deliberately.

At that precise second, Margret walked into the room. Her face was flushed, and she had on an apron. Her eyes were shining like stars in her pink face.

"Did you see what Stevus brought me?" she asked, her eyes on Honey Lou's face. "A whole set of Galesworthy. Look, isn't it lovely?"

Honey Lou looked at the pile of purple-bound books. She hardly saw them.

The door opened again and Mrs. Huntley came in from the kitchen.

She looked first at the white flowers that stirred with the fall and rise of Honey Lou's young bosom, and then at the pile of books that Steve had given to Margret as his Christmas gift to her.

Then her eyes met her younger daughter's and something she had said not so long before flashed through Honey Lou's mind:

"Steve will never marry Margret so long as you're around."

She knew now just what her mother had meant. She unpinned the roses and laid them on the table.

"I won't wear those tonight. They'll only wilt if I do," she said. "Will you put them in water, mother?"

She kissed her mother and Margret and said: "See you later, Steve," and went down the stairs to wait for Tim Donegal.

"There's only one man alive that I want flowers from," she told herself, ungrammatically but passionately, "and I don't get so much as a 'How-do-you-do' from him!"

(To Be Continued.)

How does Honey Lou's dinner with Tim Donegal turn out? All this will be made apparent in tomorrow's installment.

FOUR INJURED IN CAR CRASH

Grade Crossing Accident At Fort Worth May Be Fatal

FORT WORTH, Texas, Oct. 17. (AP)—Four persons were injured, one dangerously, in a grade crossing accident in the city's outskirts Sunday.

J. M. Estes, 53, real estate dealer, suffered possible skull fracture, a broken arm and rib fractures when his automobile was struck by a backing freight train, hurling his car against that of the Charles Harrington family, all of whom were injured slightly.

Plan To Handle Surplus Cotton

Kansas City Expert Devises Methods To Bolster Prices

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 17. (AP) A plan for handling surplus crops of non-perishable farm commodities, such as grain, cotton, wool and tobacco, had been worked out by W. I. Drummond, Kansas City, Mr. Drummond is editor of the Agricultural Review and chairman of the board of governors of the American Farm congress.

Mr. Drummond's plan has just been perfected and will be submitted to al lfarm organizations, members of congress and presidents of agricultural colleges for approval and support.

The Drummond plan is based on the theory that the problem of surplus production is a national one, largely under the control of landlords and creditors, "who will not permit tenants to diversify or allow land to lie fallow."

The plan provides for a farm surplus board, which would be a governmental agency, this board would not itself handle or direct the handling of the commodities, but would supply funds for removing the "distressed portion" of a commodity from the market, in times of price collapse. These funds would be advanced to corporations formed by the co-operative marketing associatings handling the commodity concerned.

Purchases would be at current market prices. This operation, it is declared, would result in substantial profits on resales or exports, which would be distributed among the members of the co-operative associations, after setting aside reserves.

A provision for checking overproduction is that this distribution shall not be shared in by members who have increased their acreage without the consent of their associations. It is further provided that the board may "cooperate with any state, or with associations or corporations of producers, bankers, or business interests, to deal with emergencies affecting any section or commodity."

Under this provision further plans could be worked out for checking over - production, Mr. Drummond says.

PEACHES MAY FIGHT

NEW YORK, Oct. 17. (AP)—Mrs. Frances (Peaches) Keenan Browning will confer tomorrow with Henry Epstein, her attorney, to determine what action she will take in the suit for separation brought by Edward W. Browning, 27, 35-year-old husband. If the 24-year-old wife desires to fight the case two courses are said to be open to her, one to bring a counter suit and the other simply to contest the action.

TRAIN KILLS TWO

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Oct. 17. (AP)—Mrs. Ernestine Werner, 77 years old, and Mrs. Marie Werner, 60, were killed early tonight when the Milwaukee train on the Chicago and Northwestern railroad crushed their automobile at a highway crossing north of the city. Herman Werner, 65, husband of Mrs. Marie Werner and son of the other victim, was so seriously injured that his death was expected.

TWO SHIPS IN HEAD-ON JOLT

Gasoline-Loaded Tanker Hits Steamer In Texas City Harbor

GALVESTON, Oct. 17.(AP—The Bull Line Steamship Ellenor and the Tanker Swift Arrow today were awaiting survey following a head on collision in the Texas City channel near here last night, which caused damage approximating $40,000. The two ships were locked two hours before tow boats and the force of their own power could pry them apart. The Swift Arrow, which was loaded with high gravity oil and outbound, had her dry cargo space cut in two and had the impact extended back 20 feet into her oil cargo tanks, a disastrous explosion might have resulted. Repairs to both will be necessary before departure.

RECALL MOVE

Labor Council of Washington Out After Governor

SEATTLE, Wash. Oct. 17. (AP) The executive council of the Washington state federation of labor, at a meeting here today pledged the organization to support the recall movement against Governor Roland Hartley.

The recall movement against the governer had its inception because of the dismissal of Dr. Henry Suzzallo, as president of the University of Washington, but the labor men are joining the movement because of Hartley's record against favorable labor legislation.

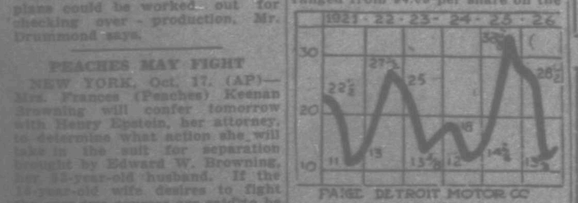

MEDAL TO CHEMIST

NEW YORK, Oct. 17. (AP)—Dr. John R. Teeple, chemist of this city, will receive the Perkins medal for 1927 in recognition of his chemical achievement, particularly the development of an American potash industry at Searles Lake, Calif. The medal has been awarded annually since 1906 to the American chemist who has "most distinguished himself by his services to applied chemistry."

The Paige Detroit Motor Car company, which was organized in 1909, manufactures Paige and Jewett automobiles and also the engines for the Jewetts. BANK DEBITS

Banks of Texas Report Steady Gains In Accounts

DALLAS, Oct. 16.(AP)—A gain of slightly more than $5,000,000 was shown in the total of debits to individual accounts of banks in the eleventh district, reporting to the Dallas federal reserve bank for the week ending October 14, as compared with the figures for the same week of last year.

Dallas showed a loss for the week, as did Fort Worth and some smaller cities, due to the Columbus day holiday, but gaines in the remainder of the distric more than made up this difference.

The comparative figures follow:

	1926	1925
Austin	$ 3,199,000	$ 4,892,000
Beaumont	4,858,000	3,667,000

AUTO RACES FATAL

Three Killed and 16 Hurt In Havana Accidents

HAVANA, Oct. 17. (AP)—Three persons were killed and 16 injured in two accidents during the automobile races through the city streets of Havana today. A wheel of one automobile came off and injured several when it plunged into a group of spectators. The steering gear of another snapped and the machine plunged into spectators lining the streets. Both drivers were injured.

In the motorcycle races American machines came in ahead in the first three places. American automobiles also won the three events for cars of different engine sizes.

TREE FALL FATAL
