Bids Called For June 27 On School Construction Plan

South Elementary Addition, 20 Teacher Houses In Plan

Bids on construction of an addition to the South Elementary School, for construction of twenty new teacher houses and renovation of the North Elementary building have been called for by the School Board and will be received and opened by that body on June 27 at 2 p. m.

The projects were provided for in a recent election in which the voters overwhelmingly approved a $200,000 bond issue to provide needed teacher housing, construction of an auditorium at the South Elementary school and for badly needed repairs at the North Elementary.

Plans and specifications on the projects have been prepared by Wyatt C. Hedrick, Architect-Engineers, of Fort Worth and copies of the plans are in the office of the superintendent of schools here.

The bids may be divided into any one of the three projects or a combined bid for all three, according to the notice to bidders in this week's issue of the Stockman. The notice provides that a check for 5 percent of the bid must accompany bids and a security bond of 100 percent of the contract price must be provided by the successful bidder. The Board reserves the usual rights.

The twenty new teacher houses are to be built on school property on the hillside just east of the high school building. The plot is to be prepared from plans submitted by the architect, in advance of the start of construction.

Invite Citizens To Confer With Phone Officials

County Commissioners Seek Information On Company Plans

All interested citizens of Crockett county are invited to meet with the Commissioners Court when it holds a conference at 3:30 Monday afternoon, June 11, with officials of the General Telephone Co., requested by the Court in an effort to learn what the company plans in the way of service to Ozona when and if the local exchange is converted to the dial system.

Ranchmen of the county who are now enjoying telephone service through the local exchange are especially invited. County Judge Houston Smith said. Citizens here are disturbed at rumors of the possibility the company will take away all operators from the local exchange if it is converted to the dial system, in which case, it is understood, present rural phone service will be impossible without expensive construction on the part of the rural users. The elimination of the human element in exchange operation, also, community leaders fear, will cripple the Ozona system of fire protection by hampering the alarm system and notification of firemen as to the location of a blaze.

John E. Robbins from the San Angelo office of the General Telephone has indicated that he will be here for the conference Monday. The Court plans to ask him some questions as to the company's plans and to seek the best deal for Ozona if the company is planning any change.

S. B. Patterson, Ozona Country Club's new pro, arrived this week to assume his duties at the club. Mr. Patterson came to Ozona from Dumas, Texas.

Misses Pam Jones, Linda Mills-paugh and Camille Adams left today for Camp Waldemar near Hunt, Texas, for six weeks of summer camp.

15,395 Acres Of U.T. Lands In Crockett Co. Offered In Lease Sale

Fifty-five tracts of University of Texas lands in Crockett county, totalling 15,395 acres, are offered for mineral leases in an auction sale of leases in eight West Texas counties set by the Board of Lease of University Lands to be held in Austin June 26.

Most of the University acreage offered in the sale is in the northern part of Crockett county. Several of the small tracts are grouped into units, one in Block 12 totalling 2,565 acres on which a minimum cash bonus of $20,000 is specified and the buyer assuming an obligation to drill a 10,200-foot well. This acreage is near the Crockett-Reagan line south of Big Lake.

In another unit in Block 45, 9 tracts are offered in a 2,735-acre unit with a $20,000 minimum bonus and an 8,500-foot test. This tract is approximately 16 miles north of Ozona. Another unit of 1,352 acres in Block 39, about six miles east of Block 45, the minimum bonus is set at $9,000 and a test to 2,200 feet required.

Sheep Council Plans $1,400,000 Advertising Program For Industry

Denver — American Sheep Producers Council's Board of Directors approved the first fiscal year's program beginning July 1 by allocating $600,000 to National Consumer Advertising, Merchandising, and Promotion for wool, and $800,000 for the continuance of regional promotions in some of the greater metropolitan areas of the United States for the promotion of lamb. These cities include Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, D. C., Detroit, Cleveland, Chicago, Los Angeles, San Francisco-Oakland, Portland and Seattle. In addition, a continuing advertising program is planned in the areas already having promotions.

Again these promotions will be on a pilot-test basis with the use of all media — in some instances attempting to test effectiveness of the various media. It is planned that the USDA will assist through statistical surveys to help determine the value of advertising and promotion of lamb. "The industry is beginning to learn a great deal about consumer attitudes toward lamb," explains J. M. (Casey) Jones, the Council's Executive Secretary, "but we have a long way to go, so every move that is made is for the purpose of gaining greater knowledge of the industry's problems and how to overcome them."

Plans Mapped For Poison Campaign Against Rabies

Destruction Of Rabid Animals On Ranches Is Objective

Considering that an emergency exists in this county because of the growing numbers of rabid foxes and other animals being observed, a plan was being mapped to launch a drive against these animals throughout the county.

County Agent Pete Jacoby, at the request of the Commissioners Court, was assembling information this week concerning methods used in other counties and on probable cost of an extermination campaign for ranchers. County Commissioner Ralph Jones was also making an investigation of the matter and planned to report to the Commissioners in regular session Monday.

At least three more rabid foxes were reported by ranchmen in the Ozona vicinity during the past week. Two of the animals believed to have been suffering from the disease were found dead near the Joe Tom Davidson headquarters and on the Joe Williams ranch a Mexican ranch hand killed one of the beasts while the animal was trying to find an entrance into the house. Tests were not made of the animals since they were not known to have bitten any domestic animals, but from their condition they were thought to be rabid.

A county-wide campaign to spread poison on the ranches to eliminate as many as possible of these animals will be considered when the matter is brought before the Commissioners Court Monday.

Crockett Co. 4-H Teams Win State Title In Judging

Both Senior And Junior Teams Are Tops In State Contests

Crockett county 4-H Club judging teams, Senior and Junior, both won the state championship in wool and mohair judging in the state contests held in San Angelo Wednesday. The teams were coached by County Agent Pete Jacoby.

This is the first time for Crockett county teams to win the State title in any judging contest. Also for the first time, two members of the local team won high individual honors in the state meet. Carl Conklin was high individual on the Senior team and Frank Childress was high individual on the Junior team. Second high individual in the Junior contest was Jay Miller. Bill Jacoby was the other member of the Junior team, with Herbie Noelke as alternate.

George Bunker and Pierce Miller were other members on the Senior team, with Jacquelyn Williams as team alternate.

This is the first year in which a State contest in wool and mohair judging was held for Junior teams, composed of members not over 12 years of age. Some twenty teams from West Texas counties completed in the contest.

Carl Conklin won high individual honors with a score of 660, which was the highest score posted by any individual in a number of years. The team score of 1857 also was one of the highest team scores in previous years.

Second place honors in the Senior division went to Upton county with a total score of 1815. Schleicher county was third with 1752 and Sutton county fourth with 1738.

Heaping humiliation upon defeat, the Crockett county Junior team's score of 1744 bested the Sonora Senior team's score. Sutton county's Junior team placed second with a score of 1589.

Frank Childress in winning high individual honors in the Junior division posted a score of 605, which would have been high enough for a berth on the state winning Senior team had he been entered as a member of that team.

Crockett county 4-H teams in Grass and Range judging, who were district winners last month, will leave Tuesday for Texas A&M College, where they will compete in State contests next Wednesday. Grass team members are Carl Conklin, Roy Mann, Erby Chandler and Johnny Jones. Range judges will be Jacquelyn Williams, Pierce Miller, Peas Childress and George Bunker.

ARE WE RICH IN OIL?

The Ozona Lions Club, the Woman's Club and other organizations have been battling their gums and pulling hair for two or three years trying to get suitable street markers and house numbers for Ozona.

A Lions Club committee has even seen to the donation of enough two-inch pipe to provide the marker standards. An estimated 100 such street name markers will be needed, costing an estimated $300 to $500. A gallon of aluminum paint would paint the lot of pipe and all that's needed is the labor and equipment to set them up. Home owners no doubt would be glad to buy the house numbers, maybe at a little above cost to provide a little extra money for the street marking job.

Committees who have contacted the Commissioners Court on the project have received the information that the county is "broke" and can't do the street job just now. If this is a fact, then it would seem that it's time somebody looked into the method of evaluating oil properties in this county. It hardly makes sense that with the tremendous and progressively larger oil development in this county that enough valuation can not be placed on such wealth to provide the county and schools a "decent living."

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Scott and Mr. and Mrs. Dick Webster attended the district Lions convention in Brownsville last week.

NO WORD ON DAMS

Although last information made available by Congressman J. T. Rutherford from Washington last week was that the Department of Agriculture had indicated the Johnson Draw watershed control plan would be ready for submission to the Bureau of the Budget on or before June 1 and that that body had pledged to turn the project over to Congress immediately, no further word on progress in the capital city was available here this week. It was understood that all attention had been turned to the Corps of Army Engineers and Texas representatives and Senators were poised to rush the matter through Congressional committees in the hope of clearing the plan for start of actual construction this summer.

Soil And Water Saving Stressed by Ben Ramsey

San Augustine, Texas — Soil and water conservation and great protection for Texas families through good services and stability in government are the major issues on which Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey will campaign for re-election this summer.

Ramsey, who is touring the state preparatory to officially opening his campaign, said, "Soil is the storehouse of agriculture and industry. Water is the key to both. The people of Texas have made great strides in soil and water saving practices in the past 10 years." He added, "The state must give full assistance to equitable plans for conservation at the local level if we are to maintain a sound economy and reach our true potential."

On plans for protection of Texas families, Ramsey said the government must effect rigid rules of conduct and exacting controls over blind forces of influence. Ramsey cited the need for (1) strict curbs on lobbying; (2) stiff narcotic penalties, with life imprisonment or death penalty for the second conviction on charge of selling to minors; (3) eliminating loan sharks, and (4) an unceasing watch to assure families their insurance policies are sound.

HIGHLIGHTS AND SIDELIGHTS From State Capitol

By Vern Sanford
Texas Press Association

Austin, Texas — Nearly 100,000 Young Texans take off mortar boards and roll up their sleeves this week.

Analysts predict that figures, when complete, will show a record number of diplomas and degrees awarded this year.

Texas Education Agency pegs public high school graduates at between 64,000 and 65,000. Degrees being conferred by state-supported colleges and universities are estimated by the Texas Legislative Council at 20,000. Private and church-supported schools swell the graduate rolls several thousand more.

Awaiting these young people, said commencement speakers, is unprecedented opportunity. Examples of the '56 high school graduate's future, as outlined by an Austin speaker: (1) a longer life span — 44 years ahead for boys, 49 for girls; (2) higher earnings averaging a quarter million dollars apiece; (3) less work, dwindling to a 30-hour week and (4) ever-increasing ease and leisure as technology advances.

Concrete evidence of the speakers' promises is the job placement story. University of Texas Student Employment Bureau reports five to ten job offers per graduate at better than ever salaries. Personnel in some deans' offices speak wearily of the impossibility of coping with the year-old flood of would-be employers.

High school officials say many graduates began work between their last exam and commencement night.

Mixed Reaction to Highway Bill — a bonanza or a blunder — Texans are in disagreement as to which term applies to the new federal highway bill.

Senate passage of the bill left only a few details to be ironed out in House-Senate conference before sending the measure to the President. Final enactment will set into motion a 13-year, $51,000,000,000 interstate highway construction program.

Texas Highway Department officials are frankly jubilant. They are poised to begin letting contracts Aug. 1, using the new supply of federal funds. "We'll be scraping the bottom of the barrel in the July letting," said State Highway Engineer Dewitt C. Greer.

Greer said the new law would mean a minimum increase of $57,000,000 a year in federal road building aid to Texas — or double the present amount.

He called it "the most far-reaching piece of highway legislation yet enacted." He predicted an era of unparalleled development.

Gov. Allan Shivers was less enthusiastic. He charged turning a state function over to "bungling bureaucracy" made it unduly costly.

His objection was to the provision giving the Secretary of Labor rather than the states, power to set wages on all contracts. "This means a third less highway mileage than the people would otherwise get," said Shivers.

"Tax money always dwindles in value," said the governor, "when it is sent to Washington for processing and returned to the states."

Hope Held For Labor Law — Champions of Texas' "right-to-work" law haven't given up the fight.

Railroad attorneys and Atty. Gen. John Ben Shepperd contend that the U. S. Supreme Court decision on a Nebraska law did not touch on the constitutional issues involved in Texas. This was pointed out in a supplemental brief filed last week with the Texas Supreme Court.

A ruling is expected soon from the state's high court on the hard-fought "Amarillo case" involving railroad unions' right to demand closed shop contracts.

Union leaders interpret the U. S. Court ruling as knocking out state anti-closed shop laws in the railroad industry. Shepperd and railroad lawyers say the decision, if anything, strengthens the case for the Texas law.

TV Trial Appealed — Fairness of the first televised murder trial in Texas history is being challenged in the Court of Criminal Appeals.

Defense attorneys charge that Dist. Atty. Tom Moore of Waco was more interested in "putting on a show" in the Waco trial of Harry L. Washburn, than in giving the man a fair trial.

Law Violation Admitted — Violation of Texas Election laws was admitted by C. T. Johnson in a deposition just taken in Austin. Johnson admitted spending $1,200 in travel expenses during his 1954 campaign for Lt. Governor, but reported only $125 to the Secretary of State. Previously he had testified under oath that he had spent "no more and no less" than $125.

Supreme court, under fire as any ever directed at in history, is being criticized for trespassing the rights of the individual. Some 70 bills are now in the Congress in an effort to realign the laws and to end the encroachment of the Federal Government on the rights of the States. Bills thus far include: a bill to require all Supreme Court Justices to possess a background check; a proposed Constitutional amendment providing each Justice shall have unlimited power of health, morals, education and good order with boundaries; an amendment to limit Supreme Court Justices to 12 years, as opposed to life-time appointments; several bills providing for early retirement of all Federal Justices at age 75.

now Chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee, will fight to bring such bills out of his committee next session. Congressman Celler of New York, Chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, is expected to oppose such legislation in his Committee.

I enjoyed a trip to the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md., (just 30 miles from here) one afternoon last week, where I represented the Congress in presenting a trophy to the outstanding Midshipman in the graduating class.

As the name of all honor graduates were called, I noticed a distinct Southern flavor to the announced home States, and said to a Navy Commander standing by me: "Save your Confederate Money boys, the South will rise again." He answered: "And they'll have the best doggone Navy in the world, too." Later, talking to top Academy officials, I was told about 75 % of the honor grads this year come from below the Mason-Dixon line.

As you read this, the Congress is heading down the home stretch. It's a long gallop, some six weeks more in length, and the pace is to be heavier than at any time this session. President Eisenhower has just sent to the Congress a list of some 20 items he wants passed before adjournment. He is assured a battle on many of them, as several controversial measures are involved.

The President's recommendations included: International: Additional Military and economic foreign aid; Organization for Trade Cooperation participation by the U. S.; Simplification of customs and immigration laws, including an amendment to the Refugee Act, and construction of an atom-powered merchant ship. National Security: Military career incentives, including medical care for dependents and survivors' benefits. Government: Postal rate increase and pay increases for top-ranking Civil Service officials and Presidential appointees. Economic: Highway Program; farm credit legislation; rural development program including research into the problems of low income farmers. Welfare: Aid for school construction by the Federal Government; Health reinsurance; Construction of research and technical facilities at Medical schools; Labor legislation including amendments to the Taft-Hartley Act and regulation of welfare funds; Civil rights legislation, including establishment of a Civil Rights Commission and establishment of a Civil Rights Division in the Department of Justice. He also asked to keep statehood for Hawaii among the "high points" of his program.

Pricklypear Increase Noted In Experiments At Barnhart Station

College Station, — Pricklypear density has increased on all pastures of the Barnhart Range Station during the 18 years that studies dealing with grazing and pricklypear spread have been underway. A sixfold increase has occurred in some pastures, says Gerald W. Thomas and Robert A. Darrow of the Department of Range and Forestry of the Texas A&M College System.

The research workers found response of pricklypear to grazing intensity variable. On areas in poor condition in 1938, plants increased rapidly even under very light stocking rates. Soil characteristics appear to influence pricklypear numbers more than does grazing treatment. Dry lakebed areas on the station support higher densities of the plants than do the tabosa flats or the better-drained, ridge top soils.

During the 18-year period, the 16 pastures of the 3,160 range station, were grazed at different rates of stocking, at various seasons of the year and with different combinations of sheep and cattle. Pear increased under all rates of stocking as well as within livestock enclosures. Grazed pastures generally had more pear than did protected areas.

Because pricklypear replaces more desirable types of vegetation on the range, the research workers say that many ranchmen are concerned about its spread. Pear serves as an emergency feed during drouth, but the plants are widely distributed by the grazing animals.

Thomas and Darrow conducted during 1954-55 tests to compare the cost and effectiveness of grubbing versus chemicals for control. They found grubbing to be cheaper and survival of plants 7 months after treatment about the same for both methods. Chemical treatment, from the standpoint of grass recovery, is superior because the plants are killed in place with little soil disturbance and the dying plant protects the small grass seedlings, they say.
