YOUTH ADMITS SLAYING FATHER

SEARCH FOR MISSING SPANISH FLIERS FUTILE

UNDER ARREST

Mayor Frank Hague, of Jersey City, vice-chairman of the Democratic National committee, is under arrest, charged with contempt of the New Jersey legislature. Story below.

MAYOR HAGUE IS CORNERED

JERSEY DEMO BOSS IS HELD IN CONTEMPT IN GRAFT PROBE

(By Associated Press)

TRENTON, N. J., June 25.—Mayor Frank Hague of Jersey City, vice chairman of the national democratic committee, was under arrest today for contempt of the New Jersey legislature in refusing to answer questions concerning his private wealth.

The warrant, served last night by a sergeant-at-arms, ordered his incarceration in the common jail of Mercer county (Trenton), but he was given 24 hours liberty in which to seek a writ of habeas corpus. He obtained the writ three hours after his arrest from Vice Chancellor John Fallon at Hoboken who set today for a hearing.

Climaxes Long Battle

The arrest marked the climax of the third attempt of state legislative agencies to compel the mayor to disclose the sources of $400,000 he is reputed to have spent in the last 10 years.

It was ordered in a joint resolution after the mayor had appeared as a witness before a joint session of the senate and assembly and had invoked the protection of the 14th amendment to the constitution in his refusal to answer ten key questions.

MILK-ICE FUND STATION SOUGHT

Planning establishment of headquarters in the downtown district or in some vocated ice sub-station officials of the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal and Federated Aid Societies milk and ice fund campaign are amplifying their program for the summer months to extend charity into all needed portions of the city.

Seven families compose the list receiving the initial charity offerings of the milk and ice fund, according to Mrs. W. T. Milam, general chairman of the campaign. Mrs. Mary Hinton, treasurer of the fund, announced today that donations have not increased since Saturday, when a total of about $50 in contributions were reported.

Donations may be dropped into milk bottles placed in stores of the city, or contributions may be delivered to Mrs. Hinton, Mrs. Milam or to the Avalanche-Journal office.

HEAVY SEAS BELIEVED AS MEN'S DOOM

PLANES AND SHIPS IN HUNT FOR MISSING AVIATORS

(By Associated Press)

MADRID, June 25.—Fear increased today that disaster had overtaken Major Ramon Franco and his three companions in their hydro-airplane, which disappeared Saturday morning in a trans-Atlantic flight adventure.

Premier Primo De Rivera particularly was pessimistic, remarking the "Jupiter," as the planes sometimes was designated, could perhaps float for a few hours in a sea as calm as a mill pond.

Unfortunately, he continued, it was believed a heavy sea was running, and if the Hydroairplane fell rather than alighted gently it probably sank immediately. The Minister of Marine, agreed with his pessimistic view.

Efforts Increased

Efforts to locate the missing plane, which set out from Cartagena at 4:50 p. m. Friday, intending to stop at the Azores en route to New York, were increased.

Two huge seaplanes left the airdrome at Marchica, stopped for refueling at Punta Sebo, Huelva, and then disappeared over the sea in the direction of the Azores.

Carrier Asked

Four destroyers left Ferrol in the direction of the Azores intending to retrace the route of Major Francon and the British government was asked the loan of an airplane carrier at Gibraltar to serve as a sea base or reconsoitering flights.

A dispatch from Lisbon said an Italian army aviator, Commander Longo, would fly there today, immediately proceeding to the Azores in search of the Spanish aviators.

The Portuguese Gunboat Zaires was still searching today in the neighborhood of the Azores. Where it generally was believed the fliers probably had come down, but its efforts had been uavailing when it last reported. Several other smaller craft were engaged in the search.

Wreckage Reported

Much of the seeking centered around a locality at latitude 23

COMMISSIONERS SLASH TAX RATE

The Lubbock county tax rate was reduced from 80 cents to 75 cents at a meeting of the county commissioners Monday.

According to preliminary reports the valuations in the county will approximate $24,000,000, an increase of about $1,100,000 over last year, Judge Robert H. Bean announced.

Fort Worth Voting $3,000,000 Bonds

FORT WORTH, June 25 (AP) — Fort Worth citizens today voted on issuing bonds totaling $3,000,000. Two-thirds of the issue will be for grade separations, most of them at trackage of the Texas and Pacific railway to make possible execution of the railway's plans to erect passenger and freight terminals at a cost of between $7,000,000 and $10,000,000. Two other items are included in the bond issue, $500,000 for improvements at the municipal airport, and purchase of the land and an equal amount for fire protection.

Smith Makes A New Attempt At Record

SYDNEY, N. S. W., June 25 (AP)—Captain Charles Kingsford-Smith, trans-Pacific aviator, made a new start today on an attempt to break the speed record for flight between here and England.

He flew the Southern Cross, the same plane in which he once successfully negotiated the Pacific, and in which he and three companions were forced down recently in the wilds of western Australia. They were rescued after many days, two other aviators losing their lives in the search for them.

FLOWING GOLD TO PAY BILL

WICHITA, Kan., June 25 (AP).—The new Methodist church that the Rev. R. L. Dadisman and members of his flock at the little Sodgwisk county town of Greenwich have longed for probably will rise from the flow of a townsite oil well.

The church holds a share in the Shell community No. 1, which was flowing nearly 110 barrels an hour until checked by cavings yesterday.

Even the school holds four lots in the production block, and Greenwich is looking forward to taxless days.

Three hundred feet from the discovery well the Plains No. 1 topped the pay late yesterday at 2,928 feet and had several hundred feet of oil in the hole. Other tests are drilling feverishly on the townsite.

DEATHS OVER STATE OBJECT OF INQUIRIES

MURDER BLAMED FOR SEVERAL; PROBES ARE UNDER WAY

(By Associated Press)

TEXARKANA, June 25.—County authorities prepared today to try one man on charges he poisoned his wife while awaiting word from chemists in Austin which might indict another man on similar charges.

Armed with an alleged confession from Ocie Nix, 22 year old Bowie county farmer, that he poisoned his 17 year old wife, the state prepared to ask the death penalty in the trial to open Thursday.

Took Out Insurance

Nix was hidden in the Lamar county jail at Paris, but was returned to the county jail at Boston last night. He took out $1,400 insurance on his wife's life three weeks before she died, and the state expected to point to this as a motive.

In the same jail, a 24 year old Bowie county farmer awaited an analysis of organs from his wife's body after she had died suddenly, without treatment from a physician, and had been buried hurriedly. He too was known to have insured his wife's life shortly before her death.

BOULDER DAM GIVEN APPROVAL

WASHINGTON, June 25 (AP) — President Hoover today signed a proclamation making operative the Boulder Canyon Dam bill.

Under terms of the Boulder Dam act, six months were allotted for negotiations between states in the Colorado river basin in an effort to obtain a seven state compact.

This time expired last week. No agreement has been reached, and the law provided that a six state compact may be formed. Arizona has been the dissenting state and has shown no sign of withdrawing its opposition.

The presidential proclamation places in full force all provisions of the act and was necessary before steps could be initiated looking to a six state agreement.

Building-Loan Bill Is Passed In House

AUSTIN, June 25 (AP)—The House today finally passed the bill placing regulation of building and loan associations under the State Banking department. Heretofore they have been under the Insurance Commission.

ASSAULT CASE TO BE GIVEN JURORS HERE

TESTIMONY IS HEARD FROM PRINCIPALS IN AFFAIR

Climax in the trial of B. L. Thomason, of Lubbock, charged with a statutory offense in connection with an alleged assault upon the person of Lorena Hamrick, his 13-year-old stepdaughter, was reached shortly before noon today when Dr. H. A. Castleberry, local physician, testified in rebuttal that his previous testimony, in which he stated that an examination of the girl indicated an indecent relationship, was not a scheme to "frame" the defendant.

The charge was filed against Thomason by his estranged wife, from whom he has been esparated two months. Lorena is her daughter.

Child's Life Threatened

Early this mborning the girl testified that Thomason had been improper in his relations with her upon two occasions. "He said he'd kill me if I told mother," she testified, complacently. The child testified that upon one of the occasions the defendant placed her upon a bed and attempted an assault, and this testimony was corroborated in part by Marie, 10-year-old sister of Lorena, (who said that she saw them lying on the bed. With reference to this alleged incident, Mrs. Lula Taylor testified that she was in the home at the time and saw nothing of such an affair.

Defendant on Stand

Thomason occupied the witness stand about 45 minutes, during which time his defense hinged around assertions that his estranged wife is unbalanced in mind and

DE PRIEST ASKS NEGRO POLITICS

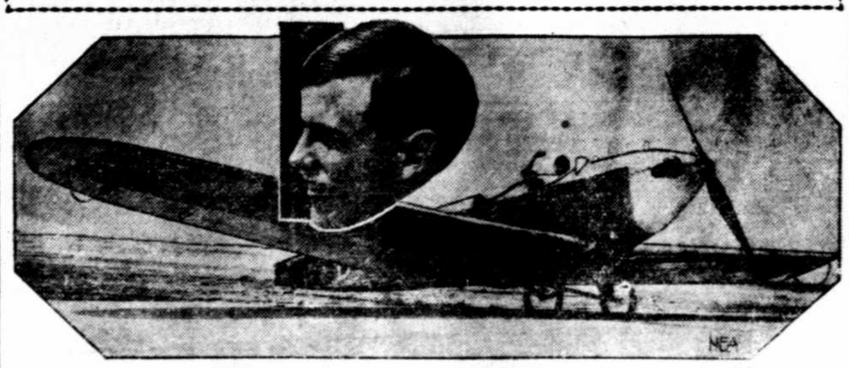

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., June 25 (AP)—Oscar De Priest, negro congressman from Chicago, declared before 1,500 negroes last night, that the white race was not to blame for the status of the negro, but that the negro would never gain equality before the law until he organized politically.

"Who wants social equality?" he asked amid applause.

"All I want for the negro is equality before the law."

Declaring that he was not in congress to put over special racial legislation, De Priest said the negro must work out his own salvation.

YOUNG GERMAN BARON CIRCLING GLOBE IN SMALL PLANE

Here's Baron Frederich von Loenig Walthausen, just arrived in the United States, and the tiny airplane in which he is flying around the world. The baron's plane measures 24 feet long, over all, and is six feet high, with a wing spread of 36 feet. It has a twin-cylindered, 20-horsepower motor capable of getting 50 miles on a gallon of gasoline. The young German flyer is now on his way across the continent to New York, having arrived in San Francisco by steamer from Japan.

BUILDINGS IN ZONE DISPUTE ARE DELAYED

DEFENDANT DENIES HE IS CAUTIOUS IN THE HALTING OF WORK

Although denying that he is exercising a cautious measure, A. W. Jackson has delayed plans for erection of five business structures at Broadway and Avenue Q, awaiting arrival of sufficient materials to start construction work, he has announced, following warning issued 10 days ago by Dr. M. C. Overton's legal counsel to the effect that Mr. Jackson will be cited for contempt in the event the proposed buildings are started.

Suit was filed against Mr. Jackson and J. B. Maxey, contractor, several weeks ago by Dr. Overton, who alleges that the site of controversy is a part of the Overton addition, which was originally restricted for residences. After Dr. Overton had won an injunction in 99th district court here, the case was appealed by Vickers & Campbell, defense counsel, and the Amarillo court of civil appeals granted a reversal. Appeal

Army Flier Plans Cross-Nation Hop

WASHINGTON, June 25 (AP) — The air department announced today that Captain Ross G. Hoyt, army air corps pilot, would begin a thirty-six hour flight from New York to San Francisco and return, early in July.

Captain Hoyt was one of the pilots who assisted in the refueling of the army endurance plane "Question Mark."

IT'S HISTORY

Editor Declares Rouge-Lipstick Practice Old

(By Associated Press)

RIVER FOREST, Ill., June 25 —If rouge and lip-stick make a woman more attractive their moderate use is all right, in the opinion of Dr. Walter A. Maier, of St. Louis, editor of the Walther League Messenger, here for the 34th triennial convention of the Evangelical Lutheran Missouri Synod.

Painting and powdering are thumb-worn sins catalogued in the indictments of modern youth Dr. Maier said. But anyone who thinks such denunciations are a reaction to the present generation alone or that the practice is a development of today does not know his history, Dr. Maier brought out.

"In America as early as the good old days of 1686 we read of one Boston belle who was denounced in these terms: 'to hide her laugh'," he said. "So if professional reformers point to a predominance of beauty aids, we can heartily agree, but we can not agree that this is the product of the present age. The early colonial newspapers revealed the Puritan prototype of all this in their advertisements."

NAME CANDIDATE TO EDISON POST

AUSTIN, June 25 (AP)—Thurman Evans, Corsicana youth, will represent Texas in a nation-wide contest to select an aide to Thomas A. Edison.

Evans survived scientific tests given 50 boys, he was declared by a committee to be best fitted to aid the aged inventor of a group of 13 who survived preliminary eliminations and who were interviewed by the committee last night.

A four-year technical scholarship, offer by Edison, will be the goal of the Corsicana lad in the nation-wide contest.

Michigan University Prexy Asks Divorce

ANN ARBOR, Mich., June 25 (AP) —Dr. Clarence Cook Little, retiring President of the University of Michigan, last week filed suit here for divorce from Mrs. Katherine Little, it became known last night.

Delay in learning of the suit was caused by a court order suppressing the plea until the date set for its hearing, August 20. The order also made it impossible to ascertain the allegations upon which President Little's action is based.

"Farm Board" Bill Killed In House

AUSTIN, June 25 (AP)—The so-called "farm board" bill, providing for the appointment of a commission of four persons which would, among other things, determine the maximum percentage which could be planted to cotton on each farm, was killed by the House today. It was postponed indefinitely.

Farmer Held For Torturing Youth

(By Associated Press)

ROCHESTER, N. Y, June 25 —Accused of torturing a 14-year-old boy by holding him over a bonfire until his right leg and hip were seriously burned, Frank Cromwell, 56, a farmer living in the town of Greece was in jail today, awaiting a hearing on an assault charge.

The boy, George Foley, has been under the care of a physician since he limped home last Thursday afternoon and told his mother he had been tortured by the farmer.

According to the story later reported to Assistant District Attorney Napodano by the mother, Mrs. Elva Foley, the boy had been swimming in company with several companions. They had just lighted a fire to warm themselves when Cromwell appeared and grabbed young Foley who denied starting the bonfire. Lawrence Casterchino, one of Foley's companions, corroborated his playmate's story that Cromwell had held the youth in the flames until he had been critically burned.

Cromwell was arrested yesterday and held in jail without bail

ROBISON TO TAKE STAND IN HEARING

AGED LAND OFFICIAL TO TESTIFY TODAY IN OWN BEHALF

(By Associated Press)

AUSTIN, June 25.—J. T. Robison, Commissioner of the General Land office planned to testify in his own behalf on impeachment charges proposed in the House of Representatives, late today.

He took the oath before the noon recess. Attorneys for him said they would conclude their case with his testimony.

The 68 year old official, who has been exactly half of his life in the land office, stepped jauntily to the witness stand just before the noon recess, but after he had been sworn it was decided he should not begin his testimony until afternoon.

Fort Worth Man Testifies

Lloyd Price of Fort Worth, counsel for Mr. Robison, testified as to litigation that developed over the proposed sale of University lands last January, when he, representing clients, had made definite request of the land commissioner to place 53,000 acres on the market.

Cross-examined by E. T. Freeman of Sherman for the House, there were many objections by counsel to Price's answers, was complained his replies were not responsive, but argumentative.

Asked to repeat his words of last week that the act repealing the

MOLLY ADOPTS QUEER FAMILY

CHICAGO, June 25 (AP)—Molly, the big Maltese cat who has been the scourge of rats at the Sangamon Paper Grading Company warehouse, has become foster-mother to five young unweaned rats.

A porter last night came upon the cat and her adopted brood, and, not believing his eyes, called his boss. Later newspaper cameramen made a photographic record of what would have seemed without it to be hardly plausible.

The opinion was expressed that Molly had killed the mother of the brood and then had assumed the maternal role herself. She refuses to permit anyone to take the rats from her.

COLORS FOR THE GOLDEN BLONDE

BY LUCIEN LELONG
Special Cable to Central Press

PARIS.

Blondes are blondes to the ordinary eye, and what is good for one blonde in the matter of color and clothes is, by this logic, as good for another. Actually, there is as much difference between the ash blonde, say, and the golden blonde, as there is between the brunette and the red head. Imagine, then, these two types attempting to wear the same colors in costumes and accessories. And how much more impossible it is for them to wear the same kind and color of make-up. The golden blonde, with her hair like spun metal, almost invariably has some slight tinge of this precious tint in her complexion which is creamy rather than white. She is a vivid creature, endowed with nature's most rarely-given color scheme, and her make-up necessarily must be meticulously adjusted to enhance this coloring.

There are many kinds and colors of rouge, which kill that bright, yet delicate, tonal quality of the golden blonde complexion. And the same is true of powders. The kind of penciling and artificial shading which her eyes can support is also extremely special.

Blondes, down the ages, have been regarded as precious creatures, because of the extreme fragility of their coloring. They are precious in the sense that their hair, complexion and skin generally demand fineness of cosmetics. Not for them are the popular ordinary rouges and powders, for these will ruin their greatest charm, their coloring.

Vermilion for Lips

The golden blonde is probably the only woman who can wear effectively a pure vermilion lip rouge, and this kind of rouge is only smooth and capable of even application in the finest qualities. She should not use such a shade exclusively, either.

Changes of costume color demand slight changes in the nuance of the rouge. With pink, yellow, beige, black and yellow-green, vermilion is an excellent color for the lip rouges. If rouge is used on the cheeks, I advise the golden blonde to try first a paste rouge, and if her complexion can take this it will be the best for her. That depends on the fineness of the grain of the skin. If the pores are somewhat enlarged, a very good skin astringent should be applied to close them. This should be made part of the daily regime of the toilette, for it is part of the price of being beautiful. Should you golden blondes, prefer powder rouge for your cheeks, then it is best applied over some liquid base. The coloring for your cheeks may be slightly darker than that used for your lips.

When cool colors, such as blues and grays are worn by the blonde, then her lipstick and her cheek rouge should be more of the cerise tone, not too dark. There is less yellow in such make-up colors.

Lucien Lelong, famous Paris couturier, declares that there is as much difference in blondes as there is between the brunette and the red head. Clothes and make-up should be selected and used with reference to whether you are an ash blonde or a golden blonde. A Lelong evening cape of moonlight colored satin is pictured.

Living and Loving

BY MRS. VIRGINIA LEE

Why keep up the home when vows are broken and love and trust fled? Even for a child's sake it hardly seems worth while when the spirit of loyalty that made it worth while has been violated.

The lives of some seem so straight and simple—seem so, I say. They may not really be so if we knew them in their entirety. And the lives of others are so tangled and twisted. It's hard to know how to straighten them out, so, that the best may be made of the raveled strands.

"DEAR VIRGINIA LEE: I am writing to you to see if you can help me solve a problem that is on my mind night and day, and on which I must have advice. I am a young married woman 27 years old. Have been married seven years and have a little boy three years old.

"For over a year now I have been in love with another man who loves me in return. I have been thinking of getting a divorce, as I had grounds for one, as for over a year my husband ran around, drank and cursed and hit me several times, although he was a good provider and gave me almost anything I wanted as long as I let him do as he pleased. His neglect made me turn to this other man. Now my husband is sorry and swears he still loves me. Virginia, I can't make myself love him any more. What shall I do?

"If I should give the man I love up and stick to my husband and home for my baby's sake I would always have a guilty conscience, because this man has made me untrue to my marriage vows. If it wasn't for my baby I would go with the man I love. I have stuck for his sake. I know my husband has been with other women. He has admitted it. Still he has a different set of rules for me and I know if he knew about my behaviour he would not live with me a day. I will have to hurt somebody. Who shall it be?

"A TROUBLED GIRL."

It's pretty much of a mess, my dear girl, and I don't wonder you are troubled. These questions come to me. If you go with the man you love, will you take your baby, and will the man be a good father to the little fellow, and a "good provider," as you say your husband has always been? Also, can you trust this man? He has caused you to be unfaithful.

Would he be true to you if you gave up home, husband and maybe baby, and went with him? If you stay with your husband, isn't he going to learn something of your unfaithfulness and, in spite of the unfairness of it, refuse to live with you? I suppose you have thought of all these things. It doesn't seem right to go on living with a man you no longer love, but you must feel a certain responsibility toward him, as he is trying to do better, and, if you leave him, I suppose, manlike, he will go to drinking again.

You and your husband have both done wrong, haven't you? Why not atone by living rightly together, forgiving one another and making a good home for the little chap, who will suffer most in case of a smashup? Can you be strong and give this man you love up, and be a good true wife to your husband, even if you do not love him as you once did? And if he learns that you have been untrue, make him see that your fault is less than his; that, in fact, he was partly the cause of yours. Your greatest chance for lasting happiness and success lies there, it seems to me, and I hope you can see your way clear to at least try it.

MRS. T.: Please send a stamped, self-addressed envelope and ten cents and I will have the pamphlet you ask for sent to you. A proper diet and exercise will make your legs climmer, with the rest of your body, also massage. I think your husband is teasing you, but most men like to see their wives trim of figure. Encourage him to have an evening out a week and you go out with the girl friends, and try to correct your sensitiveness. It will bring you much unnecessary unhappiness.

C. S.: No, I haven't read the book you speak of, but can truthfully say that I'm not like that, and I do understand how many people feel freer to write and ask advice of a stranger than of even their nearest and dearest. An outsider gets a clearer view of the case than one involved, although, of course, sometimes one feels handicapped because one has only one side of the story.

As to the boy you speak of. There are people who, without any apparent reason, attract or repel one powerfully. This chap repels you, and your inability to account for it makes you unhappy. I am glad he has gone away, and I'd just forget him. Later, if you again meet, he may not have such a powerful effect on you.

Miss Crawford And Mr. Denison Marry

Miss Glenda Crawford and Russell Denison were married in the home of the bride's parents, Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Crawford, in Bartlettsville, Okla., last Thursday, according to announcements that have been received here.

Mr. and Mrs. Denison are to be at home in Meadow.

Both the bride and groom are graduates of the Technological college and former residents of this city. Last year Mr. Denison taught in O'Donnell and the bride taught in the Robertson community. The groom's parents live in Lorenzo.

Program And Social Meetings Church Women's Societies Are Held Monday

Business, program and social meetings of church women's societies were conducted here on Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Walter P. Jennings conducted a Bible contest when women in Circle 1 of the First Christian Ladies Aid met in the home Mrs. G. P. Kuykendall and Mrs. W. T. Milam was winner of the contest. Aid members attending the meeting were Mesdames C. M. Whipp, W. P. Jennings, C. O. Marquart, N. L. eBnson, W. T. Milam, E. A. Moody, Fred Wester and W. P. Posey. Visitors were Mesdames J. C. Street, M. H. Duncan, C. C. Whipp, of Waco, and J. K. Wester.

Refreshments were served.

Letter Is Read

Mrs. Herbert Maxwell read a letter from a Missionary in Brazil yesterday afternoon when the First Methodist Mary Helm Auxiliary met at the church. During a business session, the society members decided to meet only on third Mondays during the summer.

Mrs. R. D. Allen was the principal speaker during the devotional period when members of the First Christian Young Matron's auxiliary met with Mrs. J. A. Raley, jr., at 2219 14th Street.

Refreshments Served

Refreshments were served at the close of the program to Mesdames A. M. Johnson, K. M. Renner, Charles Smith, R. D. Allen, J. B. Rhodes, L. E. Grimes, Leo Edwards, and Miss Burna Lois McFarland.

Reports of social service work were heard when women in Circle 8 of the First Baptist W. M. S. met with Mrs. C. W. Ratcliff at 613 Avenue N. Mrs. L. J. Akers led the mission study on "Japan on the Upward Trail." Five enlistment visits, four visits to shut-ins and twenty visits to the sick were reporterd.

Visitor Attends

Mrs. C. O. White, 1916 Texas Avenue, was hostess to six members and one visitor when Circle 4 of the First Baptist society met in her home. Mrs. R. E. Swain was elected chairman and Mrs. W. E. Twitty was elected secretary-treasurer of the circle. The group is studying "The Wandering Jew in Brazil." The next meeting will be with Mrs. N. W. Brown at 1920 Texas avenue.

Circle 9 of the First Baptist society met with Mrs. J. E. Alexander with nine members and one visitor, Miss Pauline Carnes, in attendance. Mrs. William Lowrimore taught the Bible lesson.

MOODY SIGNS HOUSING BILL

DIRECTORS ALLOWED TO ORDER TECH DORMITORIES

Directors of Texas Technological college will be allowed to pledge rent revenues, over a period of approximately 20 years, to liquidate debts for five proposed dormitory buildings, by virtue of a bill authorizing the structures signed by Governor Moody late Monday after passing both houses.

The bill was designed by Senator Pink L. Parrish of Lubbock. The building of these dormitories, to be financed by an investment company, is independent of Tech's expansion program.

north and longitude 33 west where a British boat Gredden was said to have sighted the remains of a plane with one aboard. This announcement, made over military radio, was accepted with reserve in Madrid, one commentator remarking the large Dornier was so constructed it would have been difficult for its crew of four to have left it if it had been wrecked.

While the premier was pessimistic as to the possibility of the plane remaining afloat in the event of forced landing, other aviation authorities were less so. Colonel Kindelan, director of Spanish military aviation, said in Zaragoza it probably would have floated indefinitely, "as it has done on past occasions." He hoped for more favorable reports soon.

With Major Franco were Major Edouardo Gallarza, Captain Ruiz de Alda, and a mechanic, Pedro De Madariaga.

$65,000 Pledged On Baptist's Campaign

Pledges and cash payments to the $80,000 building campaign launched recently by the First Baptist Church of this city totalled $65,000 when collections were made Sunday at the two services.

There will be a meeting of the building committee of the church Tuesday evening and at this meeting plans for the raising of the additional funds will be discussed.

A portion of the $80,000 fund will be used for paying off a balance owed on the present church building, while the rest will be used to erect a new auditorium on Main street and adjacent to the First Baptist church.

Shoenhair To Make Another Try On Hop

DUBOIS, Pa. June 25 (AP).—Lee Schoenhair, whose airplane was damaged Sunday in an attempted take-off in his flight from Los Angeles to New York, said last night he would send his the ship back to Los Angeles by train and make another attempt at a non-stop flight from coast to coast later.

Has Non-Sink Suit

NEW YORK — Lieutenant Knud Clausson-Kaas, Danish aviator who hopes to fly the Atlantic, has a non-sink suit which he expects will keep him afloat several days in the ocean if his plane falls. The suit has been given a successful trial. The lieutenant floated in it 24 hours at the beach, much to the envy of heated folks ashore.

land leasing bill was "literally hurled through the legislature," the witness reiterated the phrase.

Protest Entered

His attempt to tell the legislature that in using that term he meant no criticism of any members of the legislature brought protest from House attorneys. He said the legislature had "come down here on edge," after hearing all the agitation for a postponement of the lease sales.

Price said he had talked with Governor Moody and attempted to show him that sale of the 53 000 acres his client wanted to bid on would be a good thing for the University fund.

"It was a good gamble from the standpoint of an oil man," he said. "There was one chance in six that there was oil, according to the geological structure. If there was oil, my clients would make money; the University would get $1,000,000 bonus, in addition to the usual royalty. There was everything to gain and nothing to lose for the University. However, if there should be some dry holes drilled around there and this territory condemned, the University would not only lose the royalties but the bonus as well."

WASHINGTON, June 25 (AP)—Friends and companions of long standing, Harry F. Sinclair, millionaire oil man, and Henry Mason Dal of New York, vice-president of the Sinclair Exploration company, shared imprisonment today in the Washington asylum and jail.

Day was just entering upon the routine of the jail experience, already familiar to his friend and employer, who went through that phase of month and a half ago. Both were serving sentences for contempt of court because of the shadowing of jurors during the Sinclair-Fall conspiracy trial, while Sinclair was at the same time rounding out the latter half of his 90-day sentence for contempt of the Senate for refusal to answer questions during its investigation of the Teapot Dome Naval Oil Reserve lease.

Enters Cheerfully

The New York man, facing a four months term as compared with the six months imposed on Sinclair, arrived at the jail, alone in a taxicab, at 6:40 last night, and cheerfully entered.

"I say now, as I said then, that I am not conscious of having committed any wrongful act," he declared. "I emphatically deny that anything I did in connection with the trial of Mr. Harry F. Sinclair was done with improper, much less criminal intent.

"After I have served out my sentence, I shall continue to live in New York. I am now and shall be able to look any man straight in the eye, as I have all my life. I have nothing to live down."

Board of Reviews Scheduled In City

Officials of the Lubbock Boy Scouts will be concerned this week with two board of review meetings and a court of honor, H. B. Yates, executive of the South Plains Area council, announced today.

REPORTS GIVE LOWER WHEAT CROP TOTALS

HOT WINDS SHRIVELING GRAIN; PRICE GOING UP STEADILY

By CLINTON COFFIN
Associated Press Financial Writer

WASHINGTON, June 25.—Railroad reports on the wheat situation coincide closely with grain exchange information that establishes the probability of great deterioration in the 1929 harvest through important producing sections.

Rising prices accompanying the bad crop reports again illustrate the paradox, that the best luck for farmers in most periods is bad luck with crops, since any full wheat production this year would only add to an already embarrassing large grain surplus.

Oklahoma Crop Law

"Our manager for Oklahoma wires me that the wheat crop in that state, estimated this spring at 65,000,000 bushels, will drop back to perhaps 40,000,000 bushels," said L. M. Beets, chief of the American Railway association division which is mustering cars for moving the harvest. "Hot winds have hit through the southwest, shrivelling the wheat berries in the head and sharply cutting estimates.

"Kansas wheat will be off 25 per cent from expectation. The movement of the harvest is now just commencing, but will be at its height in the southwest after July 1."

Santa Fe Prepared

The Santa Fe, one of the great wheat haulers, has 18,000 empty box cars parked along its line awaiting the wheat movement, but there is some doubt as to whether this will be enough. New combine harvest methods have accelerated the wheat movement greatly, and some of the storage points, like Kansas City, have their storage pretty well jammed now, so that the new wheat will have to be shot through to the export ports in greater volume than usual.

Presbyterian Church Organized At Ralls

RALLS, June 25 (Special)—A Presbyterian church has been organized in Ralls with the following members. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gillon, F. L. Robbins, C. A. Whitfield, Mr. and Mrs. F. J. McClure and Mr. and Mrs. Leon Noel, with a number of others coming in at an early date.

The following were ordained and installed as officers: F. L. R. Robbins, C. A. Whitfield and Leon Noel. Mr. Noel was elected clerk of the session and Rev. Jack Lewis, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Lubbock, directed the ordination and installation services and delivered the charge and prayer.

The new organization will be known as the First Presbyterian church U. S., Ralls, Texas. The first services were held Sunday in the municipal auditorium.

"THE PENDULUM IS SWINGING BACK," FOR FARMER, WISCONSIN DECLARES

DALLAS, June 25.—The American farm again is becoming a self-sufficient independent unit, speakers told the twenty-third annual convention of agricultural engineers here today.

Professor E. R. Jones of the University of Wisconsin pointed out that the American farmer originally ground his own corn, built his own house, wove his own cloth and was independent of anyone else. This situation was changed by the industrial revolution, Professor Jones said, but now "the pendulum is swinging back."

"Of course," he continued, "it will not swing all of the way back, but the farmer is going to think twice before he buys anything in which he does not obtain the advantage of the economy of quantity production."

The relation of farm mechanics to profitable farming was discussed by M. F. Thurmond, assistant professor of agricultural engineering at Texas A. and M. college.

Ralls Ships First Carload of Wheat

RALLS, June 25 (Special)—Bob Whaley, manager of the Ralls Elevator company, reports having shipped the first car of Crosby county wheat. The wheat tested about 62 and was raised in the south part of the county.

J. G. Igo brought in the first load of wheat to Ralls last week. It was purchased by the Ralls Elevator company. Mr. Igo's wheat was said to have averaged about 15 bushels to the acre.

PLAINVIEW YOUTH WINS

'ZERO HOUR' IS OBSERVED

KIWANIANS HERE JOIN WITH OTHER CLUBS IN CEREMONIAL

The Lubbock Kiwanis club, uniting with thousands of fellow clubmen over the United States and Canada, observed "Zero Hour" program Monday night in the basement of the First Presbyterian church, the occasion marking the opening of the annual international convention in Milwaukee.

It was also ladies night for the club.

Dr. Jack M. Lewis, first vice president, presided over the program of which T. E. Buckner was chairman.

Orchestra Plays

Raymond, Earl and Garth Green composed an orchestra which rendered several musical selections during a dinner served by women of the church.

W. C. Rylander opened the program by reading the president's annual address.

Margaret Halsell, accompanied by Mrs. Mamie Neal, gave two violin solos, after which Dr. W. R. White, pastor of the First Baptist church, made a short talk.

"Civilization has grown and developed through man's willingness to co-operate," said Dr. White in his address which stressed the importance of the part the spirit of idealism is playing in the lives of American people.

"Primary emphasis is being placed on primary things," he said, "and through co-operation such as is manifested in the spirit of Kiwanis a climax of civilization is to dawn."

Following his talk, Miss Nell Parmley, gave two vocal selections, accompanied by Mrs. Neal.

THE "TOTTERING" TEXANS

The Lubbock Hubbers proved Sunday at Amarillo that the club has been needing pitching to win ball games. In lefty Hannah, the locals have found just that. The elongated southpaw went to the hillock for the Hubbers in the fourth inning and held the Tactless Texans helpless for the remainder of the struggle. Lefty turned Sled Allen and his cohorts back during the five innings he worked and made 'em like it. One hit during the five frames was the sum total of the Texans' efforts against his offerings.

The crowning achievement of the day's work for lefty came in the ninth inning with the bases jammed. Old Sled himself came to bat determined to lay on down to score the runner on third. Two desperate efforts to connect resulted in foul tips in the dirt. A wide sweeping curve found the old man swinging for the third strike. Allen found occasion to contest the decision of the arbiter on several occasions, proving that he has lost none of that old fighting spirit since leaving Lubbock.

Roy Taylor, playing his first game at second base, turned in a nice game for the locals. The former Tech first baseman and shortstop showed plenty of hustle and played the ground balls as if he had always filled the keystone position.

Old Tack, himself, for whom the Amarillo team was named sat on the sidelines and watched the boys take their second defeat of the season. Some kind of alibi will likely be forthcoming from the News-Globe columnist—"all I have to say in rebuttal" etc.—and all that sort of stuff. It may take another beating when the Texans come here next month to convince Erasmus that his club is "tottering" almost as badly as Mary Garden.

WATCH 'EM STEP

To quote our friend B. Wilson, it looks like they can't get out since we've started. First it was Hale Center, then it was Snyder and now the great Texans fall before the onslaught of the slugging Hubbers. Three straight wins in a row on top of each other coming together without a defeat in between—how you goin' to beat 'em when they're playing ball like that. Looks like it will be Plainview next Sunday and then on July 4 comes a double header with the big bad Loboes from Lamesa.

As we've mentioned before, the Hubbers can't seem to stop those Loboes this year, but that woeful song is ended. With Rose in the box or any other blooming flower doing the chunking for the White aggregation, the Hubbers are right now in the correct frame of mind to gain sweet revenge for the two setbacks at the hands of their rivals on the south. Far be it from us to leave the impression that this Rose person can't beat most of the teams in this section. He made the Raton Yellow Hammers resemble so many monkeys Sunday when he registered his sixth successive triumph. Two of these were won from Lubbock.

HE DESERVES IT

Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight champion has received a handsomely framed resolution thanking him for his aid in promoting the Stribling-Sharkey affair at Miami Beach. It's embossed and all that. The Old Man Mauler certainly did his part to make the "fight" a financial success even if the chief actors did not choose to mix it.

Those who insist that interest in baseball is waning can find little backing in the figures given out from the office of Edward Grant Barrow following the three-day fracas between the Yanks and Athletics. Exactly 184,096 New Yorkers paid their way into the gate during the five game series played in the three days. This attendance set a new record for a single series, beating the mark of 177,152 made by the same teams at the same park last September in three afternoons. In taking the series from the world champions, the Athletics convinced even the most doubtful of their improvement over the Macks of 1928.

BARNABE'S WINS STREAK GETS SETBACK

LEAGUE RECORD OF 19 STRAIGHTS STANDS AT FAIR MARK

BY GALE TALBOT, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Texas League of 19 straight victories set in 1917 by Snipe Conley, Dallas pitcher, has withstood another assault and come out with flying colors.

When Jim Lindsey, Houston ace, set the leading Steers down, 5 to 3, in the series opener yesterday at Dallas, he snapped Charlie Barnabe's streak of victories at nine straight. The slim Heard southpaw had visions of eclipsing Conley's great mark, but it faded when the Buffaloes slammed him from the mound in four rousing innings.

Setback Painful

The Steer setback was painful not only to Barnabe. It was a jolt to the entire corral and sliced the Steers' lead over the oncoming Spudders to one game. Three runs in the eighth inning enabled the Wichita maulers to trim San Antonio, 4 to 1, in their opener and keeep their percentage around the .900 mark for the last three weeks.

Fort Worth captured a wooly exhibition from the sliding Waco Cubs, 20 to 16, in the inaugural at the city on the Trinity. Forty-eight hits peppered about La Grave Field in the course of the melee, but none went over the palings. Only three four-baggers have been hit at the Fort Worth park all season.

Rain Halts Play

Rain marked out the scheduled opener at Shreveport, the harried Exporters getting a breathing spell after succumbing to Dallas three in a row.

When Big Jim Lindsey bested Barnabe and two other Herd moundsmen, including the newcomer, Merle Settlemire, he ran his private string of triumphs to 12 and now lacks very little of having pitched half of the games in Houston's won column. The big righthander's record with an eighth place club this year is just short of being remarkable.

Condemned Horse Is Victor of Big Derby

BUDAPEST, June 25 (AP).—Condemned and sold a few months ago by his former owner for $70 because he considered him "fit only for the plow," a three year old horse named Rabalo, today won the Hungarian National Derby and a $10,000 prize against a field of 21 of the country's thoroughbreds.

When Rabalo's old master consigned him on the farm, he was bought by a local tavern keeper who found him too short to hitch to a cart. He turned him over to a friend who after a few months training prepared him to race again, the action culminating today when he assumed the proudest place on the Hungarian turf.

New Virginia Loop May Be Organized

NORFOLK, Va., June 25 (AP).—A Norfolk commercial organization is taking the lead in a movement to revive the Virginia league for 1930.

Norfolk, Richmond, Lynchburg, Portsmouth, all large Virginia cities, are without baseball this season, while Charleston in South Carolina, Raleigh in North Carolina and Savannah, in Georgia, also have no professional teams.

Split Season For Southern Planned

ATLANTA, June 25 (AP).—The Atlanta Journal today said that Bob Allen, owner of the Little Rock club, had wired club owners in the Southern Association in regard to a plan to split the league's season effective July 1.

The Journal said that R. J. Spiller, owner of the Crackers, had wired back that he was in favor of the idea.

Mr. Allen, in Little Rock, declined to comment.

Labor is so cheap at Singapore that it does not pay to use motor boats for carrying freight.

Unique Plan Given By Texas Promoter

FORT WORTH, June 25 (AP).—Just when is a boxing match not a boxing match? Dick Griffin, who is promoting the Tex Rickard memorial benefit wrestling program here Friday night, believes he has found out.

After the wrestling show is over, Griffin anounces, Duke Trammel and Clyde Hull, two well known welterweights, will clash in a 10-round bout. Both fighters have volunteered their services, and, as the patrons will be charged only for the wrestling program, Griffin does not see how the exhibition could come under the state anti-prize fight ban.

300 IN CO-ED SPORTS

NORTHFIELD, Minn., June 25 (AP).—Three hundred co-eds at St. Olaf college are registered for participation in spring and minor sports. A loving cup goes to the class which has been outstanding in athletics throughout the year.

IF THESE HOMERS CONTINUE, MASKS MAY HAVE TO BE WORN IN BLEACHERS; BIG GUNS SETTING UP BARRAGE

Here are four of the leaders in the home run race in the American and National Leagues. Chick Hafey, wearing glasses because of an injury he sustained during the 1928 world series, says the ball looks like a balloon through the specs. Gehrig and Simmons are sharing the honors in the American League, with Hafey and Klein at the top in the National.

U. S. NETMEN IN 2ND ROUND

SEVEN PLAYERS ENTER SECOND DAY FOR WIMBLEDON

WIMBLEDON, Eng., June 25 (AP).—Tennis players from the United States started at a fast pace in the second round of the British championships today, John Hennessey defeating R. E. Worthington, England, 6-4, 6-4, 6-3 after George Lott had won from L. De Borman, Belgium, 6-0, 6-1, 6-2, and Wilbur Coen had stopped C. J. Robbins, South Africa, 6-1, 6-1, 7-9, 6-1.

P. Landry, England, defeated Edward Andrews, New Zealand, 4-6, 7-5, 6-0, 6-1.

Miss Helene Wills, the champion, won her first round match from Miss G. E. Tomblin, 6-0, 6-0. The American star was never in danger of losing a game.

Mrs. Molla Mallory, former champion of the United States, won her first round match in the women's play from Miss A. De Smidt, South Africa, 6-3, 3-6, 7-5.

"Big Bill" Tilden won from C. H. Campbell, 6-1, 6-2.

WIMBLEDON, Eng., June 25 (AP).—Seven Americans survived for the second round of the men's singles in the British tennis championship today.

They were Big Bill Tilden, Frank Hunter, George Lott, John Van Ryn, John Hennessey, Wilbur Coen and Wilmer Allison.

Overcoat Purchased For Aggies' Field

COLLEGE STATION, June 25 (AP).—Fans who flock here from the four corners of Texas next fall to witness the annual Aggie-Longhorn encounter will see their heroes perform on a dry field, no matter what the rainfall in the preceding 48 hours.

A canvas "overcoat" has been purchased for Kyle Field at a cost of several thousand dollars. It will be in twelve sections, easily handled, and will turn back the hardest rain.

Gopher Quarterback Is Rhodes Scholar

MINNEAPOLIS, June 25 (AP).—Fred Hovde of Devils Lake, N. D., fleet quarterback of the University of Minnesota football team last fall has been named a Rhodes scholar to Oxford University, England.

Another Gopher athlete to attain scholastic honors this year was Leland Watson of Minneapolis, hockey player, who was elected to Phi Beta Kappa, highest arts scholarship organization. Watson also attained prominence as an editorial writer on college publications.

COOMBS GETS CUP

DURHAM, N. C., June 25 (AP).—Jack Coombs, who once twirled for Connie Mack's Philadelphia Americans, was presented with a handsomely engraved cup after his Duke University baseball team won the southern conference championship.

BONDS GO ON MARKET

NEW YORK, June 25 (AP).—A syndicate is placing tomorrow $4,000,000 El Paso Electric company of Texas 5 per cent first mortgage gold bond series "A" priced at 99.

BY WM. M. BRAUCHER
NEA Service Sports Writer

Get out your adding machine, Sadie, and let us see what we shall see about this business of baseball busting.

With one-third of the season clouted away, some very interesting figures about home runs bob right up boldly to meet your gaze, which leaves us one of these four facts to seize upon. Here they are:

1—The ball is livelier this year.
(a) The moguls deny that.
2—The batters are mightier.
(a) Well, maybe they are.
3—The moguls are fibbing.
(a) Impossible.
4—Pitchers have suddenly become saps.
(a) That could be.

Last year, with Ruth in there pasting them every day, the home run total for the American and National League was 1093. That's quite a bucketful of apples, if you ask us, but that's not half of it. According to figures on approximately the first fifty games played this year, the old apple knockers are going to amass a total of something like 1413 four base busts.

Of course, the noble business of whanging it, as we used to say in Snohomish, ought to fall off a little after the pitchers in both circuits throw away their Bloomer girl disguises and start to do a little frank and earnest chucking.

But with the season one-third gone you have 471 home runs already parked safely over the wall, and the pitchers ought to be going now if they really intend to do anything like that.

At this point the Phils, of all people, had passed the mark of 60 homers and a merry race was on between Chuck Klein, with 15; Hurst with 11, and Lefty O'Doul with 12—all of them doing their bashing for the same ball club.

Over in the Aemrican League the Macks and Yanks were tied with 46 apiece. Counting Ruth's absence, that makes it look as if the Yanks are still leading potentially in that department.

The rate of homers has been something like forty a week, which is indeed. Mr. Heydler or Mr. Bernard would naively tell you themselves, "the kind of baseball the fans like to see."

The American League, long supposed to have the heaviest hitters, seems to have slipped a bit in this regard the last couple of semesters. The figures show the National League with 273 homers for the first 50 games, while the American had a scant 198, or 75 less than the other circuit.

The leaders in both leagues have been hitting along at about an even clip, Chick Hafey and Klein vying for the honors in the National while Lou Gehrig and Al Simmons were on top in the American.

SOONER AGGIES GET NEW MENTOR

STILLWATER, Okla., June 25 (AP).—Lynn Waldorf, the son of a Methodist bishop, may be the Moses to lead Oklahoma A. and M. out of its athletic wilderness.

The former Syracuse gridiron star, who reformed the athletic system of Oklahoma City university and gave the University of Kansas a sturdy line last year, has signed a three-year contract to become head coach of all athletics, and active football mentor at the Oklahoma school.

Only winning wrestling and track teams salvaged the school's athletic record the past year.

COLUMBIA IS RACE WINNER

NEW YORK CREW WINS OVER ROUGHEST COURSE

By ALAN J. GOULD
Associated Press Sports Writer

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 25. Columbia is a gem of the intercollegiate ocean after the roughest and most disastrous naval battle in the history of the Poughkeepsie regatta.

Through four turbulent miles last evening the sons of little old New York rowed to triumph for the second time in three years, capturing the varsity championship of America. In their dazzling wake were strewn the shattered hopes of four of Columbia's eight rivals, chief among them the proud golden bears of California.

Only Five Finish

Old Man River went on a rampage for the crowning classic of the 1929 rowing season, kicking up a disturbance that wrecked the fortunes of all but five of the record fleet of nine.

What was forecast as the greatest of all college regattas was turned into a knockdown and drag out battle with the old man, who spared neither champions, nor favorites nor trailers as he swamped one boat after another.

Columbia stood out supreme, overcoming all obstacles to beat a gallant Washington crew by three lengths. The huskies were eight lengths ahead of another surprise boat, Pennsylvania. The Quakers came up out of the choppy seas to beat navy as other craft sank.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

CHICAGO—Jack Britton, former welterweight champion, outpointed Patsy Pollock, Winnipeg, Canada, (10); Kurt Prenzel, Germany, outpointed Micky McLaughlin, Milwaukee, (6).

TORONTO—Kil Chocolate, Cuba, knocked out Jimmie Jonhston, Toronto, (1). Black Bill, Cuba, outpointed Harry Goldstein, Boston, (3).

NEW YORK—Pete Nebo, Tampa, Fla., stopped Willie Michel, Belgium, (6).

ST. PAUL—My Sullivan, St. Paul, outpointed Billy Light, St. Paul, (10).

PEORIA, Ill. — Les Marriner, Champaign, Ill., outpointed Tom Sayers, Detroit (10). Johnny McGrath, South Bend, Ind., defeated Harvey Mortenson, Chicago, foul, (2).

FLINT, Mich.—W. L. "Young" Stribling, Macon, Ga., stopped California Jack Lee, Los Angeles, (8).

ANDERSON, Ind. — Eddie Shea, Chicago, knocked out Buck Timidy, Tulsa, Okla., (2).

LINCOLN, Neb.—Joey Phelan, Omaha, Neb., outpointed Jack roper, Sioux City, Ia., (10). Jimmy Simons, St. Paul, outpointed Steve Mickna, Omaha, Neb., (8).

JANESVILLE, Wis.—Tony Myszka, Grand Rapids, Mich., knocked out Earl Little Boy Blue, Minneapolis, (1).

AUTO-BARBER NINE SWAMPS HARDWARERS

FOURTH FRAME PROVES DISASTEROUS FOR DEALERS

Auto-Barbers of the City league turned a baseball game into merry-go-round Monday evening, handing the Hardware dealers their worst defeat of the season by a 14 to 1 count. It was the most one-sided farce staged in the twilight loop this season.

For three innings the contest resembled a ball game but 11-run scoring rampage in the fourth turned the contest into a comedy with the winners furnishing a large majority of the laughs. During this spasm, the Auto-Barbers almost batted around twice, counting the 11 tallies on three hits, hree walks, two hit batsmen and a flock of boneheads.

Jackson and his change of pace was no puzzle for the Chism crew yesterday. Terry succeeded Jackson and fared little better.

While his mates were making merry around the bases, Del Morgan held the Hardware sluggers at bay, allowing but three hits through the seven innings. One of these was a bad hop over Crites' head on third base. The losers counted their lone run in the second inning when Red Hill, Hardware backstop, clouted one of Morgan's sinkers over the right field fence for a home run.

The league-leading Santa Fe nine meets the Carpenter-Painters today.

COMING UP

Here is Joe Kuhel, Kansas City's flashy first baseman, who is due for a trip to the majors soon, according to reports. The Cleveland Indians are said to have an eye on the former Cleveland sandlot player.

NAVY WILLING TO RESUME CONTEST

ANNAPOLIS, June 25 (AP)—Athletic officials at the United States Naval Academy here said today that no contracts for games during the coming football season would interfere with any resumption of the annual clash between the Navy and Army should pending negotiations between the two arms of the service reach a successful termination.

Disabled War Vets Present Resolutions

DETROIT, June 25 (AP).—Recommendations for a more adequate national defense, civil military training camps, restricted immigration, a universal conscription law and increased allowances for national guard units were endorsed today by 6,000 delegates to the ninth annual convention of the Disabled American Veterans of the World War, at the opening business session of the convention.

The report of the organization's executive committee, adopted without debate, also suggested that the veterans bureau regional offices establish employment agencies for disabled men and that there should be a merger of all federal offices for the relief of veterans.

Charges were made that the veterans bureau functioned only when demands were made on it through a routine full of "red tape."

Publisher To Return To Georgia Prison

CHICAGO, June 25 (AP).—Robert Elliott Burns, magazine publisher and wounded veteran of the great war, will return to Georgia Tuesday to rejoin the chain gang from which he escaped seven years ago. His return is voluntary, he told Judge Joseph B. David of superior court today.

Habeas corpus proceedings, started by attorneys to keep him from the chain gang, were halted until Georgia officials have him in custody.

Three Million Left By Lotta Crabtree

SAN FRANCISCO, June 25 (AP).—The will of the late Lotta Crabtree, famous actress of a generation ago, was admitted to probate here today and disposed of an estate valued at more than $3,000,000.

Disabled American veterans of the World War and their families will benefit by the income from a $2,000,000 trust fund to continue for forty years. The will also created a $100,000 fund for destitute actors and a similar amount for discharged prisoners from San Quentin and Folsom prisons in California.

GIANTS AND CORSAIRS GO DOWN 1 GAME

DODGERS HOLDING JINX OVER NEW YORKERS; A'S 9 AHEAD

BY HERBERT W. BARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

If they could play the Giants every day, Uncle Wilbert Robinson's Brooklyn Dodgers would be leading the National League instead of however tough the Giants may be for the rest of the league, they're only "cousins" to the Dodgers who beat their Manhattan rivals yesterday, 5 to 2, for the second straight day, the fourth time in their four last meetings and the 8th time out of 13 games this season.

In the only other National League engagement, the Chicago Cubs salvaged one game out of the Pittsburgh series, beating the Pirates, 4 to 3, chiefly because of the eight hits Erwin Brame allowed including homers by Cuyler, Wilson and Hornsby.

Rain Halts Game

Rain halted the other scheduled league game between Boston and Philadelphia with the Braves leading 2 to 1 in the third inning.

In the American League, the Philadelphia Athletics increased their lead over the idle New York Yankees to nine full games by nosing out the Boston Red Sox, 5 to 4. A double play with the bases full saved the day for the Mackmen in the ninth inning and enabled Rommel to chalk up his seventh straight triumph without a defeat.

Although idle the Yankees regained undisputed possession of second place when the St. Louis Browns, with whom they had been tied, dropped a decision to Cleveland, 10 to 4.

Crowder and Ogden were found for 12 hits including four home runs, two of them by Earl Averill, Miller, Indian southpaw, kept the Brown batters in subjection except in the seventh when all the St. Louis runs were scord.

At Detroit, the Tigers pounded Faber and Guan for 13 hits and scored an easy 13 to 4 victory over the Chicago White Sox. Emil Yde, former Pirate southpaw, gave the Sox ten hits but tightened up in the pinches.

ANDERSON, Ind., June 25 (AP).—Eddie Shea, Chicago featherweight contender, returned to the ring last night after a twelve weeks' absence with an injured hand and knocked out Buck Timidy, Tulsa, in two rounds.

PLANS MADE FOR ANNUAL PRESS MEET

WEST TEXAS EDITORS GATHER IN JULY AT SWEETWATER

SNYDER, June 25 (Special)—Complete plans are ready for the fourth annual convention of the West Texas Press Association which will get under way July 12th at Sweetwater. Headquarters will be at the Blue Bonnet Hotel where all meetings are to be held except the morning of the first day when registration and meeting will be held at the Municipal Auditorium.

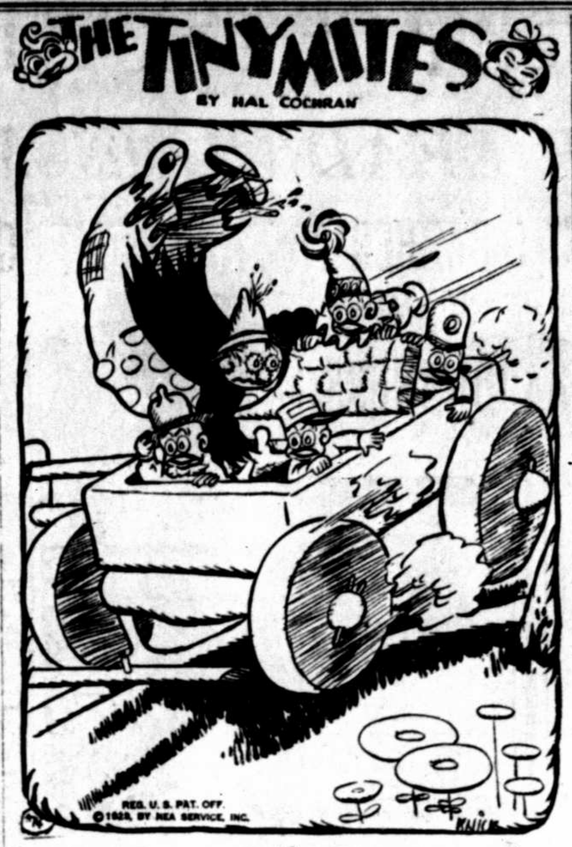

Address of welcome will be by Mayor C. W. Bryant of Sweetwater with a response from J. J. Hutchison, Abilene Reporter-News. President Bowen Pope will give the annual address with appointment of committees to follow and luncheon will follow at the Blue Bonnet Hotel.

Golf Tourney Set

Judge R. C. Crane of Sweetwater, T. H. Jackson, Coleman and George Hill of Winters together with round table discussions will be the business session opening day. During the afternoon the annual golf match will be concluded with a silver trophy cup going to the prize winner and donated by Bill Parker of Olmsted-Kirk Paper Co. Visiting ladies will be entertained during the afternoon with a tea at the Country Club.

The annual banquet will be held Friday night at the Roof Garden, atop the Blue Bonnet Hotel with Paul T. Vickers of Midland as toastmaster. The opening number on the program will be a three round exhibition debate between State Press Joe Taylor and Jim Lowry of Honey Grove Signal on the question: "Resolved that Buttermilk is a Better Beverage Than Pot-Liker." Others who will appear on the program include: President Harry F. Schwenker, Texas State Press, Brady; Hon. Clarence E. Gilmore; Wm. C. Edwards, Homer D. Wade, Max P. Bentley, Silliman Evans, Andy Bourland and Col. R. H. McCarty. Gridiron stunts are to be given at the banquet and dancing is to follow.

In the last two months President Hoover cut down the amount of presidential handshaking by half. You'll have to hand it to him for that.

The tinies sure was in a fix. "Is this one of the farmer's tricks," asked Clowny, as the wagon bounced around to beat the band. "I'll bet he thinks it heaps of fun to scare his team and make it run, but why he scares us too is something I can't understand"

"Oh, don't be silly," Scouty cried. "You can't convince me that he tried to make his horses run away. What would he do that for? The farmer now is far behind. Some things you say are real unkind. He may not suee his wagon or his horses any more.

"I wish that we could stop this team, but frankly now, it doesn't seem that there is anything at all we Tinymites can do. When Mister Farmer quickly jumped off of this wagon, bumpty-bumped, I think that he was mighty smart. We ought to do that too."

"Oh, no," cried Carpy. "Not for me. I'm going to stick right here 'cause, gee, we all might turn an ankle and be laid up weeks and weeks. And, that, of course, would spoil our fun. Just think, we couldn't even run. My goodness, how this wagon goes, and listen how it squeaks."

Just then the wagon hit a rock. It almost seemed that it would knock the four wheels off, but luckily the wheels stayed where they were. The wagon teetered to and fro, and suddenly someone yelled, "Oh! The harness now is tangled up. What queer things can occur."

And this was right. The harness snapped. At first the horses both seemed trapped, but then they gave a sudden jerk and quickly broke away. "We've lost our horses," Clowny cried. "Oh, why dod we come on this ride? I fear something will happen, so we'll ne'er forget this day."

(A big crash comes in the next story.)

ANNUAL W.T.C.C. MOTORCADE STARTS FROM BALLINGER, JULY 10, JOURNEY INCLUDES BEAUTY SPOTS OF SECTION

(Special to The Journal)

STAMFORD, June 25—The dates for the 4th annual motorcade of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, have been set for July 10th up to and including July 19th. The itinerary for this trip comprehends one of the most attractive routes through the recreational section of West Texas and Eastern New Mexico.

The citizens in the towns included on this itinerary have advised the Stamford office that elaborate arrangements were being made for the entertainment of the party during their visit to the respective cities. It is so planned that hotel accomodations may be reached each night while out by those who so desire them, but the management of the motorcade believes that every one who goes could enjoy and appreciate this great country a great deal more if they would carry their camping equipment, such as cots, bedding, cooking utensils, etc., and prepare to spend the nights out in the open.

Assemble At Ballinger

The motorcade will assemble in Ballinger on July 10th at 10 a. m., leaving there at 2 p. m. for San Angelo and for all intermediate points to Alpine, Fort Davis and Marfa. This portion of the itinerary will take the party through the famous Fort Davis Mountains and into Marfa on the night of the 12th.

Saturday, July 13th, will be spent at Van Horn, where the annual district convention of the Big Bend territory of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce is scheduled to be held.

Sunday, the 14th, will be given over to the members of the party who desire to visit the Carlsbad Cavern, the eighth wonder of the world, being the largest underground cavern known.

On Monday the 15th, the party will play in the Sacramento and White Mountains, the most picturesque summer resort in the Southwest.

Visit in Ruidoso

The night of the 15th will be spent in Ruidoso, leaving early the morning of the 16th for the city of the Upper Pecos Valley, Roswell. At this point the Pecos Valley-Intermountain Distrct convention of the organization will be held. Claude Simpson, manager of the Roswell Chamber of Commerce is preparing an extensive program for this occasion in that Hon. R. C. Dillon, Governor of the tSate of New Mexico and his representatives will be in attendance.

Leaving Roswell the 17th, the party will stop at all intervening points, lunching at Clovis, arriving at Canyon that night.

From Canyon a visit will be made to the Palo Duro Canyon then to Amarillo. Stops will be made at all cities along the way to the key city of the great Canadian river, Canadian. The members of the motorcade will be the guests of Judge H. E. Hoover at his ranch for an old-fashioned barbecue.

The next stop, after leaving Canadian early Saturday morning will be at the historic old fort at Mobeetl, and following this the towns of Wheeler, Shamrock, Wellington, Childress, Quanah, Chillicothe and Vernon where the motorcade will disband.

Reservations for this trip are being made daily and others who are interested should communicate with B. M. Whiteker, agricultural manager, headquarters office, Stamford, for information.

Strain Upon Truth
The strain upon truth in advertising becomes too great when the public is told that other cigarettes enjoy the toasting process. It takes three years to produce Lucky Strike's flavor. This unrivaled cigarette is a blend of finest tobaccos from each of three consecutive growths—the cream of the crop. Then comes the secret toasting process which in the opinion of 20,679* physicians makes Lucky Strike less irritating than other cigarettes. This exclusive heat treatment also purifies the tobacco and adds a touch of nut-sweet flavor—appetizing, delicious, different—the earmark of one of the world's most popular products.

PROTECT YOURSELF NOW AGAINST A RISING RUBBER MARKET

General's reputation for never tampering with quality has stood the test of every rise in the price of crude rubber. Car owners will remember even when rubber prices soared to their highest levels General came out publicly against the widespread use of reclaimed rubber in tires. Today the industry again faces a rising rubber market and again the temptation grows for the reclaimed rubber users to increase their percent of reclaimed in an effort to beat the rising cost of crude rubber.

By getting Generals you protect yourself. By getting them now you take advantage of the lowest price level and assurance of the quality that will carry you safely through the next period of high prices. You avoid the chance of having to pay higher prices later on for tires, when even a tire of cheaper quality will cost much more than General Tire costs today.

The big swing to General, the outstan ing sales gains each year, is convinci evidence of the confidence car own throughout the country have in Ge eral's policy of Top-Quality manuf ture.

The New GENERAL Dual-Balloon 8

ANOTHER DEMONSTRATION OF GENERAL'S QUALITY SUPREMACY

The Dual-Balloon will give you more than you have ever expected any tire to give...and in more ways!

1. Greater mileage at regular balloon low-pressure. It completely reverses the tendency of today toward high-pressure or moderate-pressure in tires.
2. It introduces a new permanency of non-skid...far beyond the point where you expect to run on smooth rubber. It does away with the necessity of running on tires that wear prematurely "bald."
3. In puncture freedom, too, it is far ahead. Even the remote chance of a puncture is reduced to the vanishing point.

Now you may drive with serene disregard for the daily hazards of the road. With the Dual-Balloon, in all probability, you will never have a moment's delay chargeable to rubber.

Our Trade-in Sale includes the new Dual-Balloon 8 and the regular super-lines of 4-ply, 6-ply and 8-ply Generals. Trade in now for General's Top-Quality that means season after season of trouble-free driving and the economy of the longest, safest and most comfortable mileage you have ever known.

Case of Mooney

Governor C. C. Young of California seems to have laid down an entirely new principle of criminal law.

A few days ago the Los Angeles Church Federation wrote the governor asking an early review of Tom Mooney's application for a pardon. Mooney, you recall, is the San Francisco labor organizer who has been in prison since 1916 on a charge of murder.

Governor Young, writing his reply, put down the following amazing paragraphs:

"If his innocence is established he should, of course, be set free irrespective of other considerations. If, however, there is not a certainty of innocence, but only a doubt as to his guilt, his case should obviously be treated the same as that of any other prisoner. This would normally mean a parole as the first step, with the possible consequent pardon as it might be justified in the future.

"If there is a probability of his guilt, he ought to remain right where he is, of course."

If this isn't an entirely new principle of law, it comes mighty close to it.

American law provides that any defendant must be convicted of guilt "beyond the shadow of any reasonable doubt." No man can be found guilty on "probability." Guilt must be proven, up to the hilt. The accused man gets the benefit of the doubt. The law was designed on the famous old theory that it is better for two guilty men to escape than for one innocent man to suffer.

Governor Young seems to be reversing all the criminal courts of the land.

But that isn't all of it.

Mooney's case has an importance far greater than that of the ordinary man who has suffered injustice. There are plenty of reasons for suspecting that he was arrested and convicted because the San Francisco capitalists did not like his union activities. Since his trial the testimony on which he was convicted has been shown to be perjured. The judge who sentenced him and the jurors who voted his guilty as well as the police captain who handled the case against him, have been convinced of hi sinnocence and have asked that he be pardoned.

Thus it behooves the state to lean over backward in dealing with his case. It is especially important that he be given the benefit of every duobt.

His liberty is not the chief thing at stake. The chief thing is the confidence of millions of ordinary men and women in the fairnes and decency of our social and legal system.

Governor Young, babbling about "probability of guilt," has it in his power to hit this confidence a knock out blow. And, at the same time, he is in a fair way to write down his own name as that of a small and unchivalrous man.

Peace

Ramsay MacDonald's decision to come to the United States to talk with President Hoover about armament reduction is one of the most refreshing things that has happened in the field of international relations in a long time.

It is always inspiring to find the leader of a government willing to cut across the ties of red tape and go directly to the heart o fany problem in a new way. The British premier is doing precisely that—and he is, thereby, rendering the whole English-speaking world a service.

During the last few years we have chanted incessantly that a war between England and the United States is "unthinkable," but we have allowed ourselves to drift directly toward it. This meeting between Hoover and MacDonald should do more to stop that drift than a decade of ordinary state department negotiations.

Every friend of peace will applaud the British prime minister's action.

THE PLAINSMAN Says

That Girl on Broadway says, when it comes to clothing, the woman of today is content with 'bare necessities.'

Tut, tut—and a couple more tuts thrown in for good measure. Why all this hualballo about the bare-legged fad? There are grown people publically worried about it, lifting their voices to high heaven and where-not, all over the laying aside of a few sheer hose, the presence of which makes not one bit of difference to the human eye. Tut, tut—again!

* * *

Personaly, The Plainsman has long since given up any secret and cherished hope of getting the ladies back into their clothing. They've just naturally gotten used to going without 'em and they're not going back to those yester-years, regardless of what the men folks say—unless, of course, Parisian styles demand it. That's a different proposition and a question over which we suffering males have absolutely no control.

* * *

James Whitcomb Riley made himself famous by remarking: 'There is nothing easier to handle than a small boy. All you have to do is call out the militia.' He could have become a national hero had he thought to say: 'There is nothing easier to convince than a woman. All you need is to mobilize the army navy and the marines!'

* * *

Anybody with normal eyesight will agree that a few ounces, more or less, of transparent hose make little difference in the appearance of the feminine limb. A dash of powder here, an application of lotion there, and a magnifying glass alone can shown the difference between the limb sans hose and the limb with hose. So, after all, what is the difference?

* * *

The Plainsman has had a sneaking idea for a good many years that the ladies, in the matter of clothes at least, have been making monkeys out of the men-folks. We wrap ourselves up in bvd's, shirts and ties which bind the neck, corset ourselves in vests and then add a coat for good measure when we'd be a darn sight more comfortable if we'd follow the lead set by the more or less fair sex. Then, when they blossom forth, cool and comfortable, we get mad and start howling—which might not be such bad pyschology if the howling got us anywhere. But it doesn't. The ladies continue to wear less and less—and that's that. It's like the lines in the old family Bible and the seven year itch. You can't scratch either out.

If a lady is a lady she's just as much of a lady without sox as she is with 'em. If she isn't a lady, wrapping her up in six petticoats, long underwear, wool stockings and a bustle isn't going to change her outlook on life. In other words, The Plainsman believes the hue and cry about the bare-legged fad is a lot of baloney—and will have no effect whatsoever upon what milady decides to leave off in the way of dress.

* * *

It's probably cheaper to go without stockings. The rest of the reasons presented in favor of the fad are doubtful. It all sifts down to the propositin that somebody, somewhere, decided to go without 'em and so great was her prestige that the rest of the ladies, like sheep, couldn't resist the temptation to follow in wake. They've made up their minds that it's all right and most of us know what happens when a lady makes up her mind. That's the crop, as the farmers say.

* * *

So here's a tip for the fellows—and a few of the more sedate ladies whose loud cries have been lifted up against bare legs—who want to see the hosiery business go back to normal: If you really want to induce the fair sex to slip back into stockings start praising the bare-legged fad. Make 'em believe you like it—and as soon as they're convinced you do they'll decide that stockings, after al, are essential and a run on hose, instead of a run in 'em, will result.

* * *

That Man on Avenue Q says he's having trouble with the shieks who are courting his flapper daughter. The other night he rushed out of the house just in time to see one of the local drug store cowboys planting a full blown kiss upon the daughter's uplifted mug.

"I say, young man," he stormed. "I can't stand that kind of thing!"

"You could if you tried it yourself sometime," the shiek returned. "You have no idea how nice it is!"

* * *

An Illinois woman is mayor of her city at the age of 35. A woman who will admit she's 35 is entitled to more honor than that.

A gentleman reared north of the Mason-Dixon line and a citizen of the great state of Illinois, passed through Lubbock the other day and in conversation with The Plainsman said it is entirely possible that the republicans of one of Chicago's congressional districts will send a negro running mate for Oscar DePriest to congress next term, giving that state two, instead of one, black solons.

* * *

The Plainsman is of the opinion that the constitution, which permits the sending of negroes to congress, is in sore need of a right and left handed, plain and fancy changing. Folks who were willing to see the constitution amended for prohibition and those who are wanting to change it again to defeat prohibition might paste this suggestion in their hats for future reference.

South America Is Land Of Promise But U. S. Department Of Commerce Warns That Jobs There Are Hard To Secure

By RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON, June 25.—Just as millions of people in the Old World have in the past looked toward the United States as a land of promise and profits, thousands of Americans are now turning toward South America.

Two evidences are at hand here indicating the increasing and widespread interest in opportunities for employment and small business enterprise on the southern continent.

The postoffice department has had to check up on numerous agencies which have pretended to be able to steer applicants into South American jobs, but which, as a matter of fact, have been primarily interested in picking up a $2 or $3 registration fee from the unsuspecting seekers of employment.

Frauds Are Prosecuted

The department of commerce has produced a comprehensive pamphlet on "Employment for Americans in Latin-America," which is worth reading by anyone who has the yen to emigrate. It was written by George J. Eder, chief of the department's Latin-American section.

Fraud orders have been issued by the postoffice department against some of the persons and agencies engaged in selling South American "employment service." It has been the custom of these agencies to accept fees and broadcast long mimeographed names of applicants to American firms doing business in Central and South America. The Department of Commerce has found that few, if any, such firms ever pay any attention to these lists.

The "employment" bureaus draw remarkably seductive pictures of climate, development and opportunities of "this great virgin land," presenting lengthy lists of positions in various industries.

But here is the low-down on the situation, as given by Eder:

Don't be misled into supposing that a minimum of effort in South America will produce a maximum of golden returns. Latin America's true wealth is not found in pleasant tropical atmospheres, but in the strenuous industries of more temperate climes.

There are about 3000 positions available in the United States for American citizens for every one open in South America. The prospective worker who goes armed only with health, courage and ambition will meet the almost insurmountable obstacle of native labor, accustomed to the country and speaking the language, working for from 50 cents to $2 a day. The cost for the same standard of living runs from 50 to 85 per cent higher in South America than in the city of Washington. This covers the the prospect of the untrained man who goes down looking for a job.

A certain small demand for young men of requisite experience and qualifications always exists among the many American companies doing business in South America, but Eder advises that it behooves the applicant for such a position to obtain a satisfactory written contract before leaving the United States and to make sure that the company is both responsible and fair to its personnel.

Publications which might offer suggestions can be recommended by district and co-operative department of commerce offices over the country. Sometimes South American opportunities appear in employment advertisements in New York newspapers.

There are virtually no opportunities for unskilled or agricultural labor, because of the great supply of native peon labor.

Eder suggests that a married man without children should not accept a South American clerical position at less than $4000 a year and sets $2400 as the minimum for a young man without family responsibilities.

There is a limited demand among wealthy American residents for tutors for their children, and a large demand for the jobs, though there is no demand for American teachers in local schools. Only a few professors from the United States have been able to find positions in Latin-American universities.

A certain number of excellent opportunities exist for trained engineers, geologists, chemists and other scientific workers and qualified engineers may apply to the American Engineering Societies' Employment Service in New York, Chicago, or San Francisco. Similarly there are opportunities for physicians and dentists with larger American organizations abroad and steamship lines. It takes some time to build up practice in Latin-American cities, however, and full knowledge of Spanish or Portuguese is required for a license.

Employment opportunities for American women are "exceedingly limited," consisting mostly of a few secretarial positions with American firms. The working woman is likely to find her social position difficult, except in American and English colonies in the larger cities.

Letters to the Editor

OUR PUBLIC SCHOOLS

The city of Lubbock has been under a strain for the past twenty years, trying to keep the public schools in line with the needs of an ever increasing populace.

This task has proven a great burden to the people. But the spirit of the west has been predominant and we have built schools until it has hurt.

The people of Lubbock and the Lubbock independent school district are willing to keep digging down in their pockets to build more and more schools as they are needed but there are some things that must be considered.

The voting of a school bond at this time in the amount of six hundred and fifty thousand dollars for the purpose of building a new high school seems ill advised.

What we really need at this time is three ward schools. The people in the southeast part of the city need a ward school, the people in the northwest part of the city need a ward school and the people in the Ellwood addition need a ward school.

With the addition of these three ward schools, built at a cost of about eighty thousand dollars per school will solve the school problem as it should be solved for some time to come.

If we will vote bonds to build these ward schools at a cost of two hundred and forty thousand dollars we will have taken the burden off the present high school and it will be adequate for all needs for at least five years.

Lubbock has been too liberal in voting bonds. We are bond-minded. We are not content to vote bonds for the present generation, we are voting bonds on our grandchildren, yet unborn. And it seems that we should at least take time to ponder results.

We are all agreed that we must have free public schools. But if it is necessary for us to enslave ourselves to procure them it might be best to forego just a few of these seeming necessities.

Free public schols are teachers of democracy. Democracy, in its final analysis means freedom. Can we be free and bonded too?

Lets vote bonds for the schools. But let's be sure that we are building wisely.

Lubbock has voted nearly a half million dollars of bonds during nineteen hundred and twenty-nine. And the present petition would, if carried bring the total of bonds voted for this year over the million mark. And that, taken by and large is a lot of money. And it must be repaid.

We are all agreed that it takes lots of money to build a city. But if it is going to take so much money that the repayment will take away all the pleasure of the city then we are paying far too much.

Lets vote bonds for schools. But lets ponder the question. Lets build wisely so that we may continue to build as needed.

We can build three new ward schools, teach from the first to the eighth grade in each ward school and the high school problem will be solved as it should be solved without adding a burden that cannot be borne.

—JOHN F. TURNER.

Lutherans Maintain Closed Clergy Field

RIVER FOREST, Ill., June 25 (AP).—The ministry of the Lutheran church is a closed field to women regardless of the modern tendency of some other protestant churches to permit women to occupy the pulpit, today declared Prof. J. In New York

By Swan

NEW YORK, June 25—Just about the time that Manhattan seems staggeringly metropolitan and huge, I generally manage to hear something that reduces it to the status of almost any point in suburbia.

For instance: the other night the 1904 class of the De Witt Clinton high school held an alumnae dinner. Twenty-five years had elapsed since some 80 New York lads and lassies had graduated—yet all of them were discovered living within a radius of a few miles of New York and all of them attended to swap notes. Half a dozen had become rich and prominent in the world of industry or in their particular professions. I doubt if that could be duplicated in most small cities.

Or again: Many years ago a youth and a maid were estranged, as young lovers are often estranged. Each had gone his own way and each had married. Both marriages were unhappy, and the boy and girl had each looked upon this early romance as the one true love of a lifetime. Both had drifted to New York. And June being in the air they had wandered over to the Little Church Around the Corner to inhale a bit of vicarious romance. Each had stood on the hedged path watching wistfully the culmination of other romantic loves. And so they met again. They went into the parsonage and talked it over. And decided that nothing should part them again.

Curtain!

The other day I received a note from a young man I used to know out west. He told me he was hesitating about coming to New York because of the tremendous cost of everything.

My reply was that I knew of no city where one could get so much for a nickel or a dime. If a person wants to engage in the simple pastimes enjoyed at home and stay away from the primrose path some extraordinary adventurers can be had for very little.

For a mere nickel one can take the longest nickel's worth of subway riding to be found in the world. For a dime one can spend most of a morning riding atop a Fifth Avenue bus, juggernauting along the Hudson river for miles and looking upon a truly lovely view. Or one can take a boat ride to the Statue of Liberty; can ferry over to such quaint old German towns as Hoboken or Weehawken for a few pennies; can see one of the finest zoos in the world at Bronx park and wander through the rustic trails there; can look upon the amazing spectacle of a new skyline from Central Park; can cross Brooklyn bridge or wander through the colorful east side push cart belt; can spend endless fascinating hours among the antiques or art collections of the Metropolitan Museum, or can study another absorbing collection of prehistoric specimens at the American Museum of Natural History; can get lost in the woods of Spuyten Duyvel—but that's just a sample.

And not one of these endlessly assorted trips would cost more than a dime. Manhattan furnishes more entertainment for less money than any place I know. The trouble is that most newcomers, for some reason or other, are not satisfied until they are imitating the spenders.

GILBERT SWAN.

DR. PETERS DESCRIBES THE POISONOUS PLANTS TO AID IN AVOIDANCE

Dermatitis Venenata (Part 2)

Under the title Dermatitis Venenata are included all of the inflammatory conditions of the skin, due to contact with caustics, drugs, plants and other substances almost innumerable. During the season, the rhus plants bring the largest number of cases of D. V. to the clinics. These plants are the rhus toxicodendron (poison ivy), a climbing plant; rhus poison oak, a small tree or shrub, and poison sumac.

Certainly one of the first things that one who suffers from poison plants should do is to learn to distinguish them. I'll give you a brief description of them, as given in the Government Bulletin No. 534. (You can obtain this by writing to the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington. The cost is 5 cents in stamps.)

The poison ivy and oak are found practically everywhere except above an elevation of 6,000 feet, and very dry places—in fields, pastures, woodlands, along roadways and streams, cemetery and suburb.

The ivy and oak leaves are in clusters of three. (You can remember them as having the same number of leaves as there are letters in the word "ivy".) Two of the leaves are opposite each other and are short-stalked, while the middle, or terminal leaf, is long-stalked. The leaflets vary from one to four inches long, dark green on the upper surface, lighter and sometimes velvety, with fine hairs underneath. The edges of the leaves may be smooth or deeply indented. They are red when young—later green—and in the autumn, beautiful shades of scarlet and orange. They are very ornamental, and are often picked by the unknowing for decorative purposes.

Small, inconspicuous yellowish-green flowers in loose branching clusters, growing out of the angles of the leaf stalk and its stem, appear in early summer and ripen into fruit (not unlike the mistletoe berries), first green and later white. These remain on the plant until late in the winter and later in the season have a tendency to dry and wrinkle.

The terms poison ivy and oak are often used interchangeably; but the poison ivy is really a vine, and the poison oak is a plant of bush-like habit of growth. There is a western plant known as an oak which is also found growing like a vine. Remember that both types have the three leaflets and the waxy fruit.

The vines of the ivy and vine oak attach themselves to trees, fences, rocks or anything handy, by means of aerial rootlets (not twining tendrils, the same as is found on many vines). The bushy forms of oaks grow erect, and may reach as high as three to five feet.

Poison Sumac

There are types of sumac plant which look like the poisonous ivy and oak, except that their berries are red and they have aromatic properties, some being fragrant and others ill scented.

Then there is a type of poison sumac with no resemblance to the ivy and oak. It grows usually in swampy lands, and is known under the name of poison dogwood, poison ash, poison alder, etc. (It frequently grows as a tree, but is more abundant as a shrub.) The trunk has a smooth, light-gray bark, while the young twigs are reddish-brown at first, then turn to orange-brown. The leaves consist of a slender stalk, bearing seven to 13 short-stemmed leaflets, arranged in pairs opposite one another, with a single, usually long-stemmed leaflet at the end.

When these leaves first unfold in the spring, they are a bright orange color. At maturity, the leaflets are dark green and glossy on the upper surface, with prominent scarlet midribs. Early in the summer tiny yellowish-green flowers appear in clusters, about three to eight inches, growing out of the angles of the leaf stems. These ripen into shiny, ivory-white or yellowish fruits, resembling those of the poison oak or poison ivy. In early autumn the foliage turns to a brilliant red or orange. The leaves fall early, but the center clusters of fruit remain. This, with the light-gray bark of the larger stems and trunk, serves to identify it in the winter state.

OIL CONSERVATION SAID TO REQUIRE STATE LEGISLATION

BY RAY LYMAN WILBUR, Secretary of the Interior

(Ray Lyman Wilbur wa sborn at Boonesboro, Ia., April 13, 1875. He is a graduate of Stanford university and Cooper Medical college, later studying abrcad. He holds honorary degrees from several universities. From 1900 to 1903 he was assistant professor in physiology at Stanford university, and professor in medicine there from 1909 to 1916, being dean of the school for five years. Since 1916 he has been president of Stanford. He was made secretary of the interior by President Hoover last March. In 1917 he was chief of the conservation division, U. S. Food Administration in Washington. He is a member of various societies and medical organizations.)

The responsibility for the handling of the problem of oil conservation in the United States lies with the petroleum industry and the governments of oil-producing states.

RAY LYMAN WILBUR

The oil industry faces a difficult and complicated situation which can only be met by an earnest study of all of the factors involved and by a spirit of cooperation. This is a gasoline civilization here in America. It is acknowledged that there are considerable preventable wastes in the handling of our oil supplies. These are due eo the wastes of gas and oil, the use of gasoline containing crude oils in other than gasoline engines, the large amounts left in the ground because of badly managed attacks upon the pools and the wastage from evaporation due to the expensive storage above ground. It is also acknowledged that there is a limited supply of oil available. Estimates vary, but those most expert in the field expect our present volume of production to last for less than a decade.

Only a small portion of the producing lands are in the public domain, although a large potential supply in those areas should be safeguarded. In some states conservation legislation is already in effect. The position of the federal government is not to interfere with the rights and duties of the local state governments, but to lend such aid as it can and to participate in the solution of the problems. This administration has no desire to concentrate the forces of government in Washington. It has every desire to co-operate with the states.

The suggestion has been made that some form of co-operation between the states and the national government would be the most effective method of eliminating waste and conserving our limited supply, and that by such action we could avoid all price-fixing operations. The aims sought are uniformity of the conservation laws of the major producing states by the enactment of identical conservation legislation and the uniformity of enforcement by some body, such as a point commission. This could be created by a simple compact of the states ratified by congress.

THIS HAS HAPPENED

NAN CARROLL, secretary, is in love with her employer, JOHN CURTIS MORGAN, criminal lawyer, who is deeply in love with his wife, IRIS. Nan decides to resign but lingers when she learns Morgan is to defend a supposed friend, BERT CRAWFORD.

After Crawford's acquittal he leaves town and Iris follows closely. She writes Morgan she will never return but cleverly omits reference to Crawford, whom Morgan trusts implicitly. Nan saves Morgan from despair by forcing him more deeply into his work. She acts as long distance housekeeper for him for six months, winning the love of little CURTIS, his son, and bringing comfort to a man who ironically thinks only of another.

Nan returns from her bar exams, and Morgan proposes to her. He divorces Iris, and Nan and he are married.

They are prevented from going on their honeymoon by the arrival of DAVID BLACKHULL, accused of the murder of his father. Nan insists that Morgan stay and take the case.

For three months Nan's and Morgan's farcical marriage continues, but Nan's heart is breaking. Three months to the day after the marriage Nan tells herself she cannot go on like this. Fate was waiting for her ultimatum, ready to accept the challenge.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXXIII

When, that Wednesday evening, the third monthly anniversary of her marriage to John Curtis Morgan, the little Curtis loudly clamored for a game of anagrams, Nan had no presentiment that a crisis in that still incomplete marriage was rapidly hurtling down upon her.

Curtis' very modern school teacher had introduced the game of anagrams into her class room as a novel but effective aid in the teaching of spelling definitions. And Curtis had become so enamored of the game that he insisted upon a session of anagrams with his father and stepmother every evening after dinner.

Thef had been engrossed for 10 minutes this evening with the little wooden letters when Curtis triumphantly formed the word "h-o-p," adding it to the three other words he had captured.

"Only trouble is, it's too easy to make," the little boy grumbled. "There! I knew I'd lose it! Why did you have to get 'E' so quick, Nan?"

His stepmother grinned at him as she took his three letters and made the word into "hope."

"And here's an 'S' which I can't do anything with," his father said with pretended discouragement, as he laid the letter in the pool, along with an "R" and a "K" already there.

"And here's an 'L' that's no good to me," Curtis gloomed, as he flung the letter to the center of the bridge table.

"But I can makes it 'hopes'," Nan triumphed, annexing the "S" from the pool and discarding another "E" she had drawn from the pile of face-down letters.

"Whew!" Curtis leaned excitedly toward Nan and studied the pool and her word, "Hopes." Lookee! If Father gets an L he can take 'Hopes' away from you, Nan, and leave you 'hopeless'! Hi! That's a joke, Father! Get it? It's a pun, 'cause a pun is a play on words. We had it in spelling yesterday—"

"Did you also learn that the pun is the lowest form of wit?" his father gibed. "Well, what do you know about that?" he pretended vast amazement and triumph, "I have got the 'L'—"

"Poor Nan! Father takes her 'hopes' away from her," Curtis sympathized. "Don't you mind, Nan. Father's got some little old three letter words over there you can steal. Look! I betcha you can take his 'love with a 'G' or an 'R'—Gee!" he marveled aloud. "I can take his 'love' with that 'R' that's been in the pool all along. Poor Nan! Father takes her 'hopes' and I take his 'love' before she can—"

It was then that Nan in her heart cried out despairingly: "I can't go on like this! I'll go crazy or run away. . . . But I can't go on like this! Even a silly little word game stabs me in the heart—"

She played on mechanically, her small face pale and set, her wide Brown eyes blind to so many chances that at last Curtis demanded resentfully: "What's the matter, Nan? You aren't trying any more! Are you mad, Nan? You won't let me be a bad sport and sulk when I lose—"

"Sorry, darling!" Nan apologized. "I wasn't sulking about the game—honest! I was thinking of something else. You've won again, haven't you, Curtis? . . . Fine! Suppose you and your father play alone for a while. I've got some work to do—"

And before Curtis could utter half the protests that were tumbling from off his clamorous tongue Nan had run into the library and shut the door.

Fifteen minutes later father and son appeared in the doorway, hand in hand, the tall man smiling down fondly upon the flushed, excited child. He's licked me again, Nan," Morgan told her. "I'm getting even with the champion anagram player by sending him off to bed. It's after eight. He's 10 minutes to the good, and gloating indecently over having won three games straight."

"I'm going to take the dictionary to bed with." Nan threatened blithely. Would either of them notice that she had been crying? "Good night, Curtis. Your father'll be up with you tonight. I'm busy darling."

"Going over the Blackhull case, Nan?" Morgan asked cheerfully. "Good! There are one or two points I'd like to smooth out with you, if you feel like it. . . . Come along, champ! . . . Oh, all right, but might I remind you that you've already kissed Nan twice?"

When they had gone, hilariously, chummily—her work, that! —Nan stared for long minutes at the mass of papers on the library desk, but a thick lens of tears makes a poor reading medium.

No, she couldn't go on like this any longer. Why should she? Every day was torture, every night a hell of loneliness and crushed hope. Curtis had put it with terrifying clarity: "Poor Nan! Father takes her 'hopes' and I take his "love' before she can—"

For three months he had daily given her a tiny modicum of hope, only to kill it, by a casual good-night kiss on her cheek or forehead or hand. For three months she had striven with every ingenuity known to a woman in love to win his love . . . and she had failed. She had made his home a haven of comfort and peace and beauty. She had mothered his boy until the boy's mother would scarcely have known him, so splendidly healthy and happy and normal he had become. She had brought father and son into such close companionship and congeniality that an editorial writer for a woman's magazine would have burbled with joy as he described the two. She had worked on his cases with a brilliance and zeal which not even the old Nan of pre-marriage days had dreamed possible. And for reward she had—exactly nothing.

Oh, of course—Nan reminded herself bitterly—he appreciated her work as housekeeper, mother and law partner. He was not chary of praise. And of course there was some nourishment for her starving heart in seeing him slowly lose the tragic shadows from his deep-set black eyes, in seeing his lean body become less lean. Oh, yes, she had given him peace of a sort, contentment of a sort, and he was obviously grateful. But what had he given her? Well, a chance to serve him! Once that would have been enough for Nan, but now it was not enough. She had earned more—everything. And since his love for Iris could not die, he had no coin with which to pay his debt to her. To his credit be it said—Nan reminded herself with a bitter smile—he had not tried to pay in counterfeit.

"Slaving away, dear?" Morgan interrupted from the doorway. "See any loopholes in the case? Want to be in court in the morning when the case opens?"

Nan bowed her head lower over the papers, so that he might not see the traces of her tears. "I—believe not, John." She could not explain that the jovial, teasing attitude of her husband's legal colleagues toward the great criminal lawyer's partner-wife was unbearable to her. If she had been his wife in fact, as well as in name, she would have gloated over their pleasantries. . . . "The case looks watertight to me. I see you have the last of the depositions from Riverside, California. Bassett doesn't suspect a thing, does he?"

"No, and neither does Nina Blackhull, so far as I know," Morgan answered, his deep voice throbbing with triumph. "If nothing slips up, Nan, we'll get a dismissal of the indictment against young David Blackhull and new indictments against Nina Blackhull and Bassett before another week has passed into history. A fine Christmas present for young David hunh? Let's see: about this time last year I was maneuvering an acquittal as a Christmas present for Bert Crawford. Time seems to drag endlessly, and then all of a sudden you wake up to realize that it hasn't been dragging at all, but flying—"

His voice trailed to a constrained pause. Nan knew that he was thinking not only of the anniversary of the opening of the Crawford case, but also of another anniversary that was hurtling inevitably toward him —the anniversary of his adored first wife's desertion. Was there any wonder that he had no thought at all for the significance of the date, so far as he and she were concerned? He had not indicated by word of glance that the twelfth of the month meant anything. . . . Perhaps it didn't—to him, since the marriage, and there was room in his heart for celebration of only one wedding anniversary.

"I've often wondered about Crawford," Morgan went on, his voice almost normal again. "You know, it's rather hurt me that he has never written. After all, I did get him out of a nasty situation. . . . By the way, I got into conversation the other day with a new vice president of the First National bank. He brought up Crawford's name; said he' heard about my defending him on an embezzlement charge, and thought I might be interested to know that Crawford had been living in Paris. He saw him there about six months ago, playing about with a woman so beautiful that she was the talk of the town. Up to his old tricks, I suppose," he added, with a wry grin.

Nan's heart stood still. It was ghastly to hear him gossip with such appalling innocence of the man who had tricked him into defending a crook and who had stolen his wife. A hundred times Nan had wondered if Morgan had had no suspicion at all of the shameful alliance of the two who had wronged him so deeply. She was answered now. He had not the faintest suspicion that the woman "so beautiful that she was the talk of the town" was Iris Morgan.

Morgan took his seat on the opposite side of the flat topped desk, and reached for the thick sheaf of papers which Nan had been pretending to study. His hand touch-

THE BEST PURCHASE

For some time now we have been telling the discriminating real estate buyer about that property up on Q, at 804 and reminding you that for a medium sized purchase there is nothing in Lubbock as good as this.

At $3150 it most certainly does afford the buyer a chance to make some real money. The lot is 55 by 148 and will carry three small stores of economical construction that will pay a better rental rate than high priced realty closer in.

ed hers, inadvertently, then closed over it.

"Why, Nan dear, your hand's like ice!" he exclaimed, instantly solicitous. "Aren't you well, child?" Or did something I say upset you? . . . Good heavens, Nan! It—it's not Crawford's name that's made you look like that, is it? . . . I used to think—why, I even teased you about him! Look at me, Nan!" he commanded sternly.

Involuntarily the sleek, brown head jerked up, a pair of great brown eyes, blazing with anger, raked his suddenly perturbed and anxious face.

"Bert Crawford!" Nan flung the words at him. "You think I ever cared the snap of my finger for that—that—" she bit bit back the word "crook" just in time. Why disillusion him now, when she had protected him all these months?—"—that lady killer?" she amended, but the force of her vehement protest was spoiled. "Oh, John! How stupid, how blind you are! Bert Crawford! I could laugh! I could laugh myself sick!" she went on hysterically, and proved it by bursting into a wild fit of laughter whose final high note broke on a sob.

"Nan, darling! What is the matter? I don't understand—"

"Let me go!" She jerked her hand from his, and sprang up from the desk so precipitately that she overturned her chair. Before he could circle the desk she was through the door. The slam of its closing was like a slap in his face, but what did she care now? It was all over, she sobbed, as she fled up the stairs to her room. Hadn't she known all evening that she couldn't go on any longer? Let him think that his insult had driven her away. Let him think anything he chose. It didn't matter. . . . All that mattered—she told herself, as she jerked open the door of her clothes closet—was that she had reached the end of her rope. She was through, through! She had tried her best and she had failed. What if they did still need her? She was sick unto death of thinking of them all the time, of crucifying her love every day on the cross of self-sacrifice.

She was cramming dresses into a suitcase when a low knock interrupted her. Her heart leaped. Oh, couldn't she ever learn not to hope? Yet him knock! . . . Slowly, jerkily, she crept toward the door to open to her husband. . . .

Farmer Kills Wife, Hired Man And Self

DOWS, Iowa, June 25 (AP)—Joseph Fromn, 65, farmer, today shot and killed his wife and his hired man, Earl Fischer, 21, and then committed suicide. Fischer's body was found; unclothed, lying on the floor of Mrs. Fromn's bed room. She lay dead on the bed.

The corner stone of a sports pavilion, the gift of Sir James Barrie, the author, to Kirriemuir, Scotland, was laid recently.

STOCK MARKET IS IRREGULAR

CALL FLURRY CAUSES SHARES TO DROP SLIGHTLY

NEW YORK, June 25 (AP)—Widespread irregularity developed at the opening of today's stock market as a result of the flurry from 7 to 10 per cent in the call money rate yesterday. Goodyear Rubber, which was under pressure yesterday, rallied 2 1-2 points, North American advanced 1 and Radio Corporation 3-4. Selling pressure was resumed against Onaconda Copper, which opened 1 3-4 points lower. Allis Chalmers dropped 2 points and Columbia Graphophone 1.

Early selling centered largely in the Public Utilities. Declines of a point or more were registered by Consolidated Gas, Standard Gas & Electric, American & Foreign Power and American Telephone Reading dropped 2 points and New York Central 1 3-4.

Rails Revived

Revival of investment buying in the rail group helped to restore confidence, and the market steadied as the session progressed. Pennsylvania crossed 84 for the first time in more than 25 years, and Lehigh Valley advanced a point.

Adams Express, which advanced 35 points yesterday and 40 the week before, jumped another 25 points today to 650. Auburn Auto continued its spectacular advance, quickly moving up 3 1-2 points to another new high record at 327 3-4. Bethlehem Steel, Superior Steel, Curtiss and International Telephone also pointed upward in the early trading.

Foreign exchanges opened steady, with cables unchanged at $4.84 25-32.

CAR ACCIDENT IS FATAL TO FOUR

TULSA, Okla., June 24 (AP)—Four persons, three men and a woman were killed today when their roadster overturned ten miles east of Tulsa.

Plainview Man Wants To Tell The World About It

Orgatone Restores Health After Flentge Was All Run Down

"All my troubles have been completely overcome since I commenced taking Orgatone, and I never enjoyed better health in my life," said Ben Flentge, a well-known farmer residing on rural route 1, Plainview, Texas.

"About seven years ago," continued Mr. Flentge, "my stomach went back on me, and I began to have nervous indigestion. I lost my appetite also, and just had to force myself to eat enough to keep me going. Everything I ate, would sour on my stomach, and I would often be so badly bloated with gas that I could hardly get a good breath. I was so nervous from headaches, too, and would often have such bad dizzy spells I could hardly walk. I also suffered from a pain in my back around my kidneys nearly all the time. I didn't seem to get a particle of good from any of the many different kinds of medicines I took and I finally got so weak and run-down that I was hardly able to go at all.

"One of my friends had been taking Orgatone, and it has done him so much good that he insisted on my giving it a trial. Well, I bought a bottle of Orgatone, and it wasn't very long after I commenced taking it until I could see that it was the very medicine I needed. My appetite came back, and now I can eat three square meals every day, and I never suffer the least bit from indigestion or stomach trouble of any kind. Why, I even eat big meals of heavy foods like meats and pastry, and it doesn't hurt me at all. The nervousness has left, and I sleep just fine and dandy every night. I never have that pain in my back any more, and haven't had a headache since I took my first bottle of Orgatone. In fact, I never had better health in my life, and I will tell the world that Orgatone did the work fine."

Genuine Orgatone is not a so-salled patent or secret remedy but a new scientific bile treatment containing no alcohol or other false stimulating drugs and is sold in Lubbock exclusively by the Bowen's Drug Store who are direct laboratory agents. Adv.

COTTON STEADY; FALL SALES UP

NEW ORLEANS, June 25 (AP)—The cotton market had a relatively steady opening despite heavy circulation of July notices. Cables were rather favorable and although May opened 5 points down good demand for July brought out sympathetic buying on other deliveries.

Months later than July opened 2 to 3 points up and prices continued to advance after the start until the end of the first hour July sold at 1834, October 1849, and December 1868, or 9 to 12 points above yesterday's close.

The market was active and strong all morning supported by the prompt stoppage of July tenders. The demand for July contracts carried that month to 18.40, or 15 points above yesterday's close. New crop positions also advanced in sympathy with the strength of July and on buying promoted by the numerous showers and the official forecast for continued rainy weather in the central and eastern portions. October traded up to 18.67, and December to 18.76, or 16 to 17 points above the opening figures and 18 to 20 points over yesterday's close.

At mid-session the market was steady and near the highs.

MARKET OPENS WITH ADVANCE IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, June 25 (AP).—The cotton market opened steady at an advance of 1 to 12 points with late months relatively firm on the steady showing of Liverpool and an unfavorable view of early weather reports.

Circulation of notices estimated at between 100,000 and 150,000 bales, caused a good deal of July liquidation but trade interests were good buyers of July at the wider differences and after selling at 17.90 at the start, the price advanced to 18.02. December sold up to 18.82 making net advances of about 8 to 15 points with the market fairly active and steady within 3 or 4 points of these figures at the end of the first half hour.

July liquidation was absorbed at the increased discounts as compared with new crop months, and the general list sold about 16 to 23 points net higher during the middle of the morning with July advancing to 18.10 and December to 18.89.

Buying of new crop months was promoted by the unfavorable view of the weather and some buying was reported on a theory the market was likely to improve after the first July notices were out of the way.

Trading was quite active early but tapered off later, with the market at mid-day rather quiet but fairly steady at reactions of about 8 to 15 points from the best.

GRAIN DROPS ON CHICAGO MARKET

CHICAGO, June 25 (AP)—Grain values underwent a lively setback today after a show of firmness at the start. Better weather in the harvest region southwest and some rain in Canada led to heavy profit-taking sales in wheat, and there was much selling of corn owing to warmth and sunshine. Opening unchanged to 3-4 higher, wheat quickly underwent a material drop. Corn started 1-8 off to 1-4c up, and then sagged. Oats followed corn. Provisions were easy.

OIL NEWS NOTES

TULSA, Okla., June 25 (AP).—With the exception of West Texas, virtually every major field in the United States reported increased crude Oil production during the week ending June 22 over the week ending June 15, the Oil and Gas Journal here says today. The increase in daily average production of light and heavy gravity oil in the county was 46,943 barrels.

The total daily average production of all fields as estimated by the Journal was 2,790,129 as compared to 2,743,186. Light oil increased 45,416 barrels; heavy oil approximately 1,000 barrels daily during the week.

A general increase in all minor divisions of the Oklahoma area brought a total increase of 4,920 barrels. West Texas drop was approximately 1PO barrels. The total midcontinent area increase in light oil was approximately 8,616 barrels while heavy oil production in that area remained constant.

Gulf coast and southwest Texas areas showed nominal increases in heavy oil; eastern remained constant and Rocky mountain decreased approximately 2,500 barrels.

California production, on the other hand, boosted by steadily increasing production in the deep drilling area of Santa Fe Springs soared approximately 39,500 barrels above the production for the week ending June 15. Heavy oil in this area, however, decreased.

Kansas production was 121,210 as compared with 120,710 for the previous week.

ACHED ALL OVER, VERY NERVOUS

Virginia Lady Says She Took Cardui, Felt Better, Got Strong and Well.

Wytheville, Va.—"I was very weak and run-down," says Mrs. Mary B. Mills, who lives near this city. "I got worse and worse, and had no strength at all. It was a critical time in my life, and it was hard for me to keep up.

"I was so I could not keep going. I was 'going down-hill' for a long time.

"I ached all over, and could not rest at night. I was very nervous.

"I had read of Cardui and one of my friends, in discussing my illness, asked me why I did not try it. I decided to do so, and soon found I was being helped.

"I began to get stronger, and I felt and looked better. My rest, which had been broken, was good. I gained in weight and felt better than I had been.

"I am strong and well."

Great numbers of others have written to tell how they have obtained relief through the use of Cardui.

Having helped so many others, Cardui should help you, too. N-700-a

SCHOOL MAN IS SECRETARY

G. S. DOWELL NAMED TO POST AT O'DONNELL; WORK PLANNED

O'DONNELL, June 25 (Special)—G. S. Dowell, former superintendent of schools at Quitaque, took over the office of secretary-manager of the Community Chamber of Commerce at O'Donnell on June 15. A well equipped office has been opened and a big program of work outlined for the coming year.

Before Mr. Dowell was employed a committee of five business men went to Quitaque to investigate his record there. They not only reported favorably but said that he had the best recommendation of his home townsmen of any man that they ever known. Since he took over the duties as manager here the community has become interested in the milk plant to be built at Lamesa. Six business men and farmers were sent to Tyler to investigate the plant there and the O'Donnell is buying more than ten thousand dollars worth of the stock in the Lamesa plant which will cover the O'Donnell trade territory.

WACO TEACHERS TOURING NATION

BOSTON, Mass., June 25 (AP).—A group of 21 Waco, Tex., school teachers arrived here yesterday on a six thousand mile tour of the United States which they are making in two automobile busses. The teachers are riding in one bus while the other carries their baggage, cook house and tents. The party camped at a tourist park on the edge of town. A three day stop is planned here, after which the party will go on to New York.

Committee To Visit Milford School Site

AUSTIN, June 25 (AP).—The senate voted to order appointment of a committee to visit Milford college at Milford with a view of the conversion of the Presbyterian school into a state teachers college.

Senator Will N. Martin, Hillsboro, said the college would be turned over to the state if the legislators desired.

CAR SEARCH CONTINUED

Officers continued a search today for a Ford coupe, property of C. W. Presley, which was stolen from in front of a local theater, last night about 9:30 or 10 o'clock.

The coupe is a 1927 model with license plate No. 710-536.

Hotel Systems Plan Giant Combination

NEW YORK, June 25 (AP).—The Evening World today said that a merger is near completion between two of the country's largest hotel systems, the Bowman-Biltmore and the United Hotels corporations. Negotiations are said to have reached the stage where the deal is in the hands of bankers with nothing but the terms to be decided.

Letters Offered In Heart Balm Action

CHICAGO, June 25 (AP).—Letters written by Franklin Hardinge, wealthy 62 year old oil burner manufacturer, to Miss Ann Livingston, formerly of Tulsa, Okla., were offered as evidence today in the latter's $250,000 breach of promise suit.

The letters purported to show Hardinge's devotion to Miss Livingston and his desire to marry her.

BAPTISTS TO HOLD COLLEGE DAY IN JULY

CAMPAIGN ON TO PAY OFF DEBTS AGAINST WAYLAND COLLEGE

(Special To The Journal)

PLAINVIEW, June 25—By agreement of the pastors and laymen recently assembled in Wayland chapel, the pastors in every Baptist church in the Panhandle and plains territory are requested to discuss publicly on Sunday, July 7, Wayland Baptist college, and to take a cash offering to aid in covering a $4,000 deficit. If the pastor and church can not get to it on that day, they are requested to do so as soon thereafter as possible.

The state program is to pay off debts and keep up certain lines of work, and the budget control committee has said that every Baptist institution must run without creating a debt on the denomination and must raise locally and deficit in running expenses.

According to the committe composed of E. D. Morgan and R. E. Bost, "it is up to Panhandle Baptists to keep Wayland open and going. Wayland's position on the plains and her constant contribution of trained lives to the work of the world and kingdom make her worthy of an extra offering in every time of need. Plan to put Wayland in your church budget next year and we can do this easily. A little co-operation will do it now.

postoffice here yesterday.

Mrs. Cross was at liberty today on a $10,000 bond after making a statement to County Attorney Emmet Thornton in which she is alleged to have said she intended the four bullets she fired for a Dallas woman. The fatal bullet struck Mrs. Reid in the head, killing her instantly.

Motive Unknown

No indication was given as to Mrs. Cross' motive, but the county attorney said that she said in her statement she felt her trouble with the Dallas woman was of a nature to justify an attempt to shoot her.

Mrs. Cross and Mrs. Reid both had husbands and families. Mrs. Reid is survived by a daughter, and Mrs. Cross is the mother of three children.

TEMPLE MAN PLACED UNDER $1,000 BOND

TEMPLE, June 25 (AP).—Charlie Hall, 65, was at liberty today on $1,000 bond after a shooting in which his son-in-law, John Vickers, 45, was killed.

Vickers, apparently under the influence of alcohol, shot at members of his family yesterday, forcing them to flee to the Hall home. Vickers was shot and killed at the Hall gate as he sought to follow his wife and children.

INVENTORS HAMMER AWAY AT ODD AIRCRAFT; SUCCESS OF OLD ORDER FAILS TO SATISFY; NATURE'S WORK STUDIED

Builders of aircraft deviating from the conventional are busy these days. Shown above are the bird wing monoplane built by J. H. Montgomery at Glendale, Cal.; the steam driven dirigible under construction at Glendale; Cierva autogyro in flight, and an odd type Napier supermarine flying boat used by the British navy.

GLENDALE, Calif., June 25 (AP).—All over the world men are flying successfully in standard type airplanes and dirigibles, but aerial navigation has opened a busy field to those who never are satisfied with the success of the old order.

For instance, here in Glendale is a man who believes that the airplane of today is constructed improperly.

Studied Birds

J. H. Montgomery is convinced that nature knows something about wing construction. For 16 years he studied the soaring flight of the eagle and the hawk while he was a watchman at a mine in Arizona. He was fascinated by their ability to gain altitude and even make good progress, with little apparent wing motion, against the winds that swept the barren hills.

He dreamed of constructing an airplane wing on the lines of an eagle's pinions, and eventually a mining strike made it possible for him to lease ground at the Grand Central air terminal here and work on his plane.

Details Simple

"The details of the new wing and principle upon which it is built really are very simple," Montgomery says. "A bird's wing is made up of numerous feathers, all of which are set at an angle of 45 degrees to the course of flight. These feathers in turn are made up of smaller parts or blades set at a 45 degree angle to the larger ones. Then, microscopic examination reveals, there are still smaller blades set at an angle of 45 degrees. Each is a minute air foil.

"The front of the feather is only one-third as wide as the back, and each feather overlaps so that the same width is exposed from the center of the feather.

Builds Vacuum

"The air meeting this wing builds up a vacuum on top the same as on the conventional type of airplane wing, which gives lift. But with the feather wing the air follows the secondary blades down under the overlap, and is diverted even further from the original direction by the third set of blades of the feather. This causes more swirls or vortices within the wing itself. These swirls caused by the deflection of air currents within the wing are nature's secret of propelling power without wing movement. That is the secret of the soaring bird."

Awaits Test

Near the Montgomery factory the new creation of the Slate Aircraft Corporation awaits the completion of its power equipment preparatory to its initial test flight.

Should the dirigible designed by Capt. Thomas B. Slate prove successful, aviation experts say it will revolutionize construction of lighter-than-air craft of this class.

The dirigible's outstanding feature is the expected use of a steam driven turbine engine with 500-horsepower to propel the craft. The ship would have a cruising speed of 100 miles an hour with such a power plant.

Accommodates 45

The hull of the airship, which is designed to be fireproof, is built of sheet duralumin, 200 feet long. The cabin has accommodations for 40 and a crew of five.

Captain Slate declares his airship will be able to land its passengers or cargo at any point without ground assistance, by means of an anchor and elevator system.

Other unusual aircraft of recent developments are the Cierva autogyro of England, which rises upward by means of a huge windmill propeller above it, and the Napier supermarine flying boat now being tried by British fliers.

SANTA FE TO OFFER RATES TO EL PASO

SPECIAL TRAIN MAY BE RUN OUT OF PLAINS

According to announcement made by T. B. Gallaher, general passenger agent of the Santa Fe Railway at Amarillo, every effort will be made by his company to secure a large attendance from the Panhandle and Plains country to the eleventh annual meeting of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce in El Paso, October 24 to 26.

Usual low round trip fare will be granted over the Santa Fe and it is hoped that the attendance will warrant operation of special train from Amarillo.

A fast overnight schedule would be provided in the event one hundred twenty five tickets are sold from this entire territory for the special train. Further details will be announced later.

SEARCH STARTED FOR LOST PLANE

HONOLULU, June 25 (AP).—Eleven airplanes carrying forty army men and E. R. Frost of Pelham Manor, N. Y., started today for the Island of Hawaii to search the slopes of Mauna Loa for the monoplane Golden Eagle, lost in the Dole flight nearly two years ago. Four aviators and a young woman passenger perished during the race.

The Golden Eagle was piloted by Frost's brother, Jack Frost, of San Francisco.

Deputy Dry Law Men To Be Transferred

FORT WORTH, June 25 (AP).—Three deputy administrators of the prohibition enforcement bureau in Texas and 15 field agents in the state will be transferred, effective July 1, it was announced today by Carl Jackson, administrator for Texas. This shakeup does not mean any dismissals Jackson said, but merely is a routine move to keep the men from getting in a rut.

YOUTHS INJURED

WICHITA, Kansas, June 25 (AP).—J. W. Hume, 21, of Wellington, Kansas, and C. S. Nash, 25, Throckmerton, Texas, harvest hands employed near Wellington, were seriously injured today when their motor car was struck by a train near Riverdale, Kansas.

Quarterly Decrease Plan Thing of Past

Automobiles of Lubbock county are now being registered under the new bill authorizing monthly decrease in taxes, instead of the quarterly decrease plan, according to W. H. Carpenter, assistant county tax collector.

Under the old plan, cars registered this month would be taxed for three-fourths of a year, while under the new system the cars will be taxed this month for seven-twelfths of a year. For instance, the car upon which the owner would be required to pay $16 annual tax will be taxed in June $9.33 for the remaining months of this year, and under the old system would have been taxed $12.
