Overtime Parking Ordinances Put Into Serious Effect on Tuesday

$2 IS THE PENALTY

One Hour in Business District Must be Obeyed, Is City Police Edict

Nobody parked right yesterday—or else they parked too long.

It seemed so, anyhow, from the number of traffic violations written up on the docket at the city police station.

Something like 300 charges were filed during the day, most of them for overtime parking. It was a busy session for the traffic squad.

The overtime parking rule, which prescribes it a violation of the law to allow a car to stand more than one hour in the business district between the hours of 8 a. m. and 6 p. m., caught them right and left. The regulation went into effect for the first time Tuesday morning and Traffic Captain Blocker and his squad had their hands full from first to last.

It's a $2 bill for every offense of this nature. Driving or walking against the red lights comes higher.

Jury's Guilty Verdict Gives Mrs. Rumore 2 Years for Shooting

Justice put on its proverbial blindfold Tuesday and drew a two year penitentiary term to Mrs. Elizabeth Rumore, convicted by a jury in the 30th district court and given a sentence of that extent after her trial for assault with intent to murder. She was indicted for shooting three times at her husband, Steve Rumore, as he was at work in an Electra barber shop several weeks ago. The verdict was reached shortly before noon after a brief deliberation.

An application for a suspended sentence was filed by attorneys for the defendant but this was not allowed by the jury.

Mails Opened Again To Magazines From Harvard U. Presses

WASHINGTON, April 28.—The mails were opened today to the two magazines published by Harvard university undergraduates, the Lampoon and Advocate, which have created something of a sensation in Boston and were held up by the postmaster there because of the character of some of their contents. The Lampoon, however, will bear the scars of censorship. Acting Solicitor H. J. Donnelly of the postoffice department informed the Boston postmaster here late today that he should not refuse to accept the magazines for mailing. He pointed out, however, that persons mailing them accept full responsibility for any violation of the law involved.

MORE CLOUDS FOR CITY

Tuesday Brings Damp, Chill Wind With Prospects of More Rain.

Another day of damp cloudiness was Wichita Falls' allotment from the weather man Tuesday. It was one of those days that threatened rain constantly but which never did appear.

A breeze that, if anything, was a little more chill than Monday scurried through the city from daylight to dark. Overhead the sun peeked through a cloud rift only at infrequent intervals.

Probable showers, continued cloudiness and still colder were the weather predictions for Wednesday.

Testimony Ends In Damage Suit Against Wichita Traction Co.

A damage suit in which $2,700 is sought from the Wichita Falls Traction company as a result of a collision between a street car and an automobile several months ago was started Tuesday afternoon before a jury and Judge P. A. Martin in the 89th district court. The plaintiff, Elizabeth Roark, is a negress.

The accident came early in the afternoon as a factory street car was rounding the curve at Eighth and Ohio. The auto, carrying several negroes, was running south on Eighth when the crash came.

It is alleged in the pleadings of the plaintiff she was seriously injured as a result of the smashup which, she claims, was the fault of the street car motorman.

All evidence was introduced Tuesday afternoon and arguments will start Wednesday morning.

CYCLONE HITS TEXAS TOWN; 8 ARE INJURED

Houses Razed When High Wind And Hail Storm Strikes

SAN ANTONIO, April 28.—Seven or eight persons were injured, one of them probably fatally in a cyclone that struck at a point one mile south ow Kyle, about 20 miles north of San Marcos late this afternoon.

All telephone and telegraph lines are down in the storm stricken area and according to Sheriff E. M. Allen of San Marcos, rumors were current that a cyclone had swept Maxwell, 8 miles east of San Marcos, between that place and Lockhart. He said it would be impossible to get word from that community tonight. Maxwell was in the direct path of the storm, Sheriff Allen said.

Houses Razed.

Several houses were razed by the storm, all on the Donaldson farm near Kyle. Hail broke virtually every window pane in the town. Telegraph and telephone lines were put out of order and there was no wire communication with the stricken communities late Tuesday night. Houses were unroofed and fences and sign boards were leveled, according to James Amberson of San Anotonia, manager of the local Union bus station who passed through the storm area shortly after the wind, hail and rain had hit. Hail covered the entire section and six and eight inches deep in places, Amberson said. Hill sides were covered with hail. A phenomenon of the storm was the settling of a dense fog over the area shortly after the storm subsided.

Ambulance Is Called For Justice Gibbs, But Judge Returns It With Thanks

JUSTICE OF THE PEACE O. L. GIBBS, looked a little doubtful Tuesday afternoon when an ambulance rushed up to the court house and the driver, after rolling out his rubber-tired cart, asked excitedly for "a fellow named Gibbs that's got a broken leg."

Nobody had heard about the broken leg feature of the judge's business, but the ambulance man said he'd had a phone call, stating Mr. Gibbs had fallen down a flight of steps and ruined one of his pedal stems.

The judge wasn't in his office and a search was speedily started. He was found standing outside the building, talking with some friends.

"Thunder, there's nothin' wrong with me," he observed when the object of the hunt was explain

RAINS ASSURE SPEEDY COTTON PLANTING HERE

Farmers of County to Get Busy as Soon as Fields Dry

ARSENIC ARRIVES

Carload Now Available In Fight Against Grasshoppers

Cotton planting will soon assume sectional-wide proportions as a result of the recent rains, County Farm Guy R. Jones declared Tuesday when questioned as to the immediate effect of the showers.

Very little cotton has been planted in Wichita county thus far, he said, and he believes the same to be true of adjacent territory. That which has been put in must be replanted because it has been set too deeply. As soon as the ground dries sufficiently to permit working, farmers generally will get busy.

Enough for Present.

The rains of the last week have assured enough miosture to carry the cotton crop through for two months or more, Mr. Jones believes. He said that without further rains fields would be in good conditions until the middle of the summer, perhaps.

As for other crops, those which

"It appears, however, that certain people did not want to accord to me good faith or honesty of purpose and are spending their time criticizing me in public and through the newspapers for following a liberal pardon policy." She asserted certain newspapers had seized upon the pardon policy as a "popular means to criticize."

"It seems that a certain part of the public are never satisfied," she said, "Governor Neff was criticized for issuing too few pardons; I am being criticized because they say I issue too many. Communists Will Find No Friend In Von Hindenburg, Right Hand Man of Kaiser

By HUGH NUGENT FITZGERALD
Record News Staff.

GERMANY, the republic of Germany has spoken. In the first election ever held for a president, Marshall Von Hindenburg has been elected chief executive of what not many years ago was the great German empire.

Von Hindenburg is a soldier and not a statesman. He is 78 and his future is behind him. He was the strong right arm of the kaiser and he fought on until the military machine of the empire was smashed, the house of Hohenzollern destroyed, and the dreams of a kaiser-ceaser were dissipated.

Great Shock to World

His election must have been a great shock to the world outside of Germany. Why so? He had behind him the monarchists; he had behind him the big business leaders or industrial kings; he had behind him all men who believe in a strong government; he had behind him all men who hate the red flag of the commune; he had behind him all men who are hero worshipers.

Von Hindenburg was their idol when the empire was magnificient; he is their idol today when the empire has passed away and the military machine is a broken thing.

Communism is hateful to the average Teuton. He does not believe in division of property. He prefers an emperor to a Lenine or a Trotzky. He believes in what he calls the estab-

CHURCH NO WAR LORD.

Speaker Says Because It Ministers to Wounded Does Not Approve War.

NEW YORK, April 28. — The church, by donning the uniform and ministering to soldiers, does not mean that it approves of war, Colonel John T. Axton of Washington, D. C., chief of the army chaplains told a convention of the second corps area chaplains today at Governor's Island. The chaplain's mission was to place himself alongside the men to whom he wished to minister and to live the same life and suffer the same hardships, Colonel Axton said.

CITY OFFICIALS RESIGNING.

Expose of Detroit Graft Brings Quick Action in City Circles.

In addition one other city official is slated to face Mayor John W. Smith tomorrow.

Ex-Kaiser Gleeful As Hindenburg Is Swept Into Power

DOORN, Holland, April 28.—(AP)—The former kaiser at his chateau here last night expounded the significance and importance of Von Hindenburg's election as related to the restoration of the monarchy and the Hohenzollern dynasty. Wilhelm, who seemed in excellent spirits, spoke to a home circle audience including his wife, the Princess Hermine, her two children, his court marshal and others of his imperial entourage as well as two high officers from Germany and one German ex-ambassador.

However, the Hohenzollern banner no longer floated from the chateau today.

After the speech, the audience broke into enthusiastic cheers of "hoch der kaiser."

The servants were treated to a generous allowance of wine to celebrate the occasion.

Despite this celebration it is said by well informed persons that Von Hindenburg's victory is less likely to affect the ex-kaiser personally than it is the former crown prince, whose activity and influence in military quarters have been increasing. It is understood that the Princess Hermine brought back that impression from her last trip to Belgium.

Child's Custody Is Sought by Two In Quanah Controversy

CHICAGO, April 28.—Miss Florence Whitman, cafe singer, told Judge John R. Caverly today that for nine years she had supported 13-year-old Catherine McCuller and the child's mother, but Mrs. B. E. Gray of Quanah, Texas, demanded custody of the child and insisted a cabaret entertainer was an improper person to be charged with rearing a girl.

Catherine's mother, Mrs. Nellie Sandlin, died a week ago. She requested that Miss Whitman retain custody of Catherine and begged the child to remain with the singer, Miss Whitman told Judge Caverly.

The court took the case under advisement and said he would make a personal investigation.

Mrs. Gray will return to Quanah with 11-year-old Frances, sister of Catherine.

lished order of things, the scared rights of property, a place in the sun for Germany today and forever.

Scant Respect.

He has scant respect for what is known as a social democrat. He loathes those who follow the red flag. Behind the Teuton of today are six centuries of monarchial achievements. Behind him is the most costly war in history. Behind him is the record that Germany fought the world and was conquered.

With him is the knowledge that the divine right to rule is as dead as the dodo and that the only way to win for Germany a new place in the sun is to accept conditions as they are and to bow to decrees of the new civilization.

Great Britain returned to a strong government a government of big business. Italy surrendered to the dictatorship of Mussolini, the most powerful Italian who has lived since the Ceasers. Spain is in the grip of a dictator. France is looking for a man of iron. Germany in a total vote of many millions, called Von Hindenburg, the iron handed, to the highest office in the gift of the Germanic people by a majority of upward into a million.

Russia and Russia alone of European countries, is ruled by the reds, but everywhere throughout Europe the people who believe in the strong government, an efficient government and a capitalistic system of industry and finance, dread the red and do not know where hell will break out on the morrow.

There are new republics in central Europe which are seething hotbeds of anarchy and revolution and all the fomenters of strife are accredited to Moscow, where the commune is the seat of power of those who came after the Romanoffs.

Don't Let That Cold Turn Into "Flu"

Rub on Good Old Musterole

That cold may turn into "Flu," Grippe or, even worse, Pneumonia unless you take care of it at once. Rub good old Musterole on the congested parts and see how quickly it brings relief.

Colds are merely congestion. Musterole, made from pure oil of mustard, camphor, menthol and other simple ingredients, is a counter-irritant which stimulates circulation and helps break up the cold.

As effective as the messy old mustard plaster, does the work without blister. Just rub it on with your finger tips. You will feel a warm tingle as it enters the pores, then a cooling sensation that brings welcome relief.

To Mothers: Musterole is also made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole.

Dallas county, (the Sidney Welk case) and say I have a heart of stone. In the next breath this same crowd are saying that I am too liberal and am granting too many pardons."

Raps Dallas Citizens.

Mrs. Ferguson took to task Dallas county citizens because they had raised a purse for the family of Sidney Welk, and did not raise a purse for the family of the murdered man. "In other words these self-asserted guardians of the public conscience want to lay a premium on murder by criticizing the governor and donating to the family of the murderer and leave the children of the murdered man in their distress," she said.

Governor Ferguson asserted her pardoning policy had been directed by a sense of mercy and fairness.

From January 21 to April 25, Governor Ferguson asserted, she had issued 353 pardon proclamations, divided as follows, 76 full pardons, 126 conditional pardons, 36 restorations of citizenship for men who had completed their sentences and were free, 31 paroles, 70 furloughs, or leaves of absence from penitentiary for extenuating circumstances at the hands of the convicts; four revocations of paroles and furloughs; eight remissions of bond forfeitures; fine proclamations for remission of fines and jail sentences, and two commutations of death sentences to life imprisonment.

She "Serves Notice."

Governor Ferguson "served notice" on her critics that no dying mother "shall ever plead in vain for a chance to again see the wayward unfortunate son before death shall claim him into eternity. When application for furloughs are made for this reason. "Yes, I am going to continue it no matter who kicks or howls," she said.

Mrs. Ferguson defended her policy of listening to the recommendations of the judges and attorneys who convicted the convicts when pardons are granted. She asserted they are best qualified to know the worthiness of the applications. Of the pardons granted, 118 were recommended by the judges, juries and prosecuting attorneys, she said.

50 to 75 More Coming.

"Ten of the prisoners were pardoned because of their bad physical condition in order that the public may know my full intention. I want to say now that in the next 30 days I expect to pardon some 50 to 75 prisoners who are now afflicted with consumption and in the last stages of tuberculosis," she said. "The doctors say most of them cannot live but a short time and I am going to pardon them out and let them die at home among friends.

"Howl on 'Ye Critics' if you think that you can explain your actions to your God.

"Again I want to repeat that it is not a question of how many pardons were issued but it is the reason for the issuance of each pardon, and I invite the Methodist organizations of the Panhandle who hate condemned me and the W. C. T. U. of San Antonio, who have condemned me to come to Austin and I will gladly present them the records and the reasons which have controlled me in the pardons of the unfortunate convicts."

New Clemencies By Mrs. Ferguson Are Reported on Tuesday

AUSTIN, April 28.—A conditional pardon, two extensions of furloughs and a parole were granted by Governor Miriam A. Ferguson as the first bit of executive clemency granted since her return to the capitol after almost a week's absence.

The grants were announced in the governor's office, as the first quota of information under the new plan, under which the newspaper men receive the information first hand instead of waiting until pardons return to the secretary of state for final record.

Clifton Plunkett of Madison county was given the conditional pardon. He had been sentenced for 99 years for murder and had served 15 years of his sentence.

The furlough extensions were granted Otto Neuhaus of Bexar county, sentenced for two years for theft and Charley Adler of Houston county, who had been convicted of murder and given 99 years. John Knott of Tarrant county, sentenced for two years for theft, was granted a parole.

"I was rundown in health some years ago and was advised to take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription," said Mrs. Effie Carter of 2516 Rosewood street, Dallas, Texas, whose picture appears here. were not already completely beyond salvation will be saved. It now appears a fair crop of oats is assured although it ripen later than usual. Some wheat, too, can be looked for. This grain, however, suffered heavily from the prolonged dry spell.

No denial is made that the storms have been sufficient to give Wichita county and north Texas farmers a new lease on life.

Arsenic Supply Here.

An ample supply of arsenic poisoning is now available for farmers of the county who are waging a fight against the grasshopper menace. A car of the drug, ordered recently by the county to be distributed to farmers of the county, arrived Tuesday afternoon at Iowa Park and will be opened as soon as a supply held over from last year is exhausted.

A considerable amount of arsenic was on hand when the hopper fight was dropped last fall, Mr. Jones said, and this has been passed out for several days now. Not nearly enough was on hand, however, to continue the fight effectively for any length of time.

The same general plan will be followed this year as last in use of the poison. It will be mixed with bran, water, molasses and lemon or orange peel, forming a mash that works with deadly effect when scattered over hopper-infested fields. Mr. Jones has been actively engaged in directing the campaign throughout the county recently and will shortly have an assistant to help out.

Archer County Needs It.

That Archer county farmers are confronted with a seasonal menace from grasshoppers as great as that facing Wichita county was indicated Tuesday by A. A. Conner, county auditor of Archer county, who came to Wichita Falls to purchase 15,000 pounds of white arsenic to be used in combatting the insect hordes. He arranged through County Auditor E. P. Walsh for the necessary drug. Archer county farmers will take it overland to Archer City.

Mr. Conner declared Archer county agriculturists realized the need of a vigorous campaign against the hoppers if their crops were to amount to anything. For that reason, he said, they were planning on liberal use of the poison as soon as it was obtained.

State Solon Tries To Ban Flapper Term

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., April 28.—Reference to any woman as a "flapper" in Florida would be considered against the dignity of the state under provisions of a resolution introduced in the house today.

Immediately after its reading a motion was made that the measure be referred to the committee on Indian affairs. Members were quick in response to a defense of their committee, saying that it had already been made the "goat" at this session. An effort on the part of the chairman of the committee to have the motion tabled failed.

Speaking on the measure, the author, Representative Branch of Liberty, stated that he was serious in its introduction.

"The women of Florida are about all we have left to look to for decency," Mr. Branch stated, "and I resent the reference to the young women of Florida that they are like a house painted in front, shingled in the back and empty in the attic. I trust this measure will meet with serious consideration."

The resolution was placed on the house calendar to be further acted upon tomorrow.

that start at 9 o'clock with registration in the recorder's office and continue on until late in the evening.

A number of prominent Masonic officials from points in North Texas will be here for the day's festivities. Surrounding communities, too, are sending large delegations. Vernon, Megargel and Jayton, in particular, will be represented in force in support of candidates for the Shrine diamond ring. A candidate is in the field from each of these three points, but will find stiff opposition from a trio of popular Wichita sons who also aspire to flashing digit decorations. Jimmy Allison, Gerald Yates and Jimmy Lomax are the three here. The last named is an eleventh-hour entry who is conducting a high-powered "under cover" campaign in behalf of the gem.

As usual, one of the big attractions of the day will be the street parade that starts at 3:30 in the afternoon. It will include the band, patrol, candidates, fezzed Shriners and all the standard devices of discomfiture that can be devised for those scheduled for initiation.

1,500-Barrel Smackover Well Dies, 2 Months Old, Comes Back At 20,000

Biggest Arkansas Completion of Week is Freak Well

DEEP SAND WELL

Two Months Steady At 1,500; Now Making 20,000

SHREVEPORT, La., April 28.—The star performer of the week in Smackover, it developed today, was not a new giant gusher, but a deep sand well nearly two months old, one of the first of the 1924 series, which went dead late yesterday, quit cold without hint or warning, and as suddenly came back to life early this morning. When it went dead it was making 1,000 to 1,500 barrels. When it came back it contributed 20,000 per day, pipeline oil in both cases. It was completed March 3 by George and Jones of Shreveport as their third well on the Umstead lease in section 4-16-15, at 2,351 feet with 1,700 barrels initial.

Gulf Refining company got a good well today in their No. 9 J. H. Alphin in 10-16-15, flowing 3,500 barrels clean oil from four feet of sand at 2,394 feet. George and Jones' No. 8 Umstead in 4-16-15 was completed with 4,000 barrels of pipeline oil at 2,350 feet. Amerada Pet. Co. 5 Calloway in 4-16-15 came in with 3,000 barrels at 2,362 feet and Murdock et al completed No. 4 Bilyew in 8-16-15 with 2,500 barrels at 2,470 feet. All of these wells are making clean oil—drilled only a few feet into the pay.

Rains Help Some But Bother, Too

The rains which bid fair to come yet over north Texas will undoubtedly prove a big boon to operators in the long run but their present effect has been a tendency toward further slowing down of wrilling and the starting of contemplated work. Roads are worse than muddy—in most sections of the country impassable. Wires are still down in some places and there is every incentive to delay things a few days until the weather is more favorable.

The water situation itself is considerably relieved, both in Archer county and in Wilbarger county. As one operator with a well to finish up on the pasture remarked, he had enough water to drill up his lease now if it didn't wash his outfit away. And, he added, there was danger of even that.

M-F, Waggoner

Murchison and Fain are shut down for fuel oil at about 2,270 feet in their No. 1 Waggoner, southwest corner of the southeast forty of the southeast quarter of section 32, H&TCRRCO survey, block 4, Wilbarger county, south of the Noble well.

Gulf, Waggoner

Gulf Waggoner rotary hole No. 1-U, in the southeast corner of the northeast quarter of section 65, block 14, H&TCRRCO survey, is equipping to pump with a hole partially filled with oil from sand below 1,400 feet, offsetting the Levy well to the north, Wilbarger county.

Comac, Seay

Cooper and McLaughlin have finished up, plugged and abandoned their No. 1, John Seay, block 110, Harris subdivision of the Club ranch, west of Archer City, total depth given as 1,803 feet, central Archer county.

News Of The Fields

Gray County Well

Advices from Gray county yesterday indicate that the Clark-Harbison-Baldridge well on the Coombs and Worley ranch, south of Pampa, is holding to its 150 to 200 barrels a day from the upper pay at 2,845 feet and is just a few feet off the lower producing stratum some 60 or 70 feet lower from which it is expected to obtain the best production. The well has caused some trading in that section.

Wilbarger Deal

Ray and Massie last week sold their 30 acres in the northeast 40 of the northeast quarter of section 100, H&TCRRCO survey, block 14, Wilbarger county, for a consideration of $160,000 cash, buyers Staley and Gooch. The tract contains eight producing wells making about 600 barrels a day.

The two wells drilling are to be finished to 2,300 feet, according to the terms of the deal, both now past 2,200 feet, and considered proven for the 2,200-foot pal. The lease carries a large overriding royalty to the fee owners, Bond-Hawkins-Williams.

Throckmorton Well

The Panhandle Refining company and Larkin and White have been pumping their well on the Mrs. Richards land, block 23, A. J. Morgan survey, south of Throckmorton, Throckmorton county, for about ten barrels of oil a day and 200 barrels of water. While a definite decision as to the disposition of the hole has not been made it is expected to pump it for possibly a month or two before sending it deeper, if that should be the final decision.

Levy-Keyes, Waggoner

Levy-Keys et al were drilling yesterday below alast reported depth of 1,035 feet in their No. 1, Waggoner, notheast corner of the south half of the southwest quarter of section 58, block 4, H&TCRRCO survey, eastern Wilbarger county, after passing up a good sand showing oil at a depth of about 780 feet.

Cranfill, Mills

Cranfill Brothers Oil company are erecting a derrick 600 feet west of their No. 2, Mills, TE&LCO survey, black 2413, southwest of Megargel, southeast Young county, for their No. 3, southeast Baylor county. The new test will be two locations west of the single producer in the Cranfill pool, three other holes drilled here having been abandoned with good showings. The well is pumping now about 16 barrels of oil and a quantity of water a day while up until two months ago its output was about 14 barrels of oil a day and the water, water.

Simms, Carpenter

The Simms Oil company has set casing and cemented at a depth of 1,012 feet and will probably drill the plug Thursday in their No. 1-A, Carpenter, TE&LCO survey, block 237, north Young county. The well will give the Litchfield pool a westward extension of something more than a location.

Daniels-Rutis, Salmon

Daniels and Rutis apparently have a gas well in their No. 1, Salmon, northwest corner of the Panhandle 77 acres, John Chambliss survey, north Nocona, Montague county. The well blew two or three hundred feet of mud out of the hole yesterday. It is not known what will be done with the well.

Castlebury, Castlebury

The Castlebury Farm Oil company's No. 6, Castlebury, southeast quarter of section 83, H&TCRRCO survey, block 14, eastern Wilbarger county, is aflowing well reckoned at about 250 barrels a day from sand at 1,293-1,311 1-2 feet.

The No. 5 was drilling yesterday below 1,200 feet and expecting to pick up the 1,300-foot sand before morning.

TWO CARNEGIE BANKS FAIL

Board of Directors Close Second Bank; First Fails to Open.

PITTSBURGH, April 28.—The Carnegie, a suburb, failed to open its doors for business today. The First National Bank of Carnegie was closed by order of the board of directors a short time after it had opened for the day's business. John A. Bell of Pittsburgh is president of both banks.

Murder Case Holds Up Bail Pleas Of Ex-Klan Officials

INDIANAPOLIS, April 28.—Delay in conclusion of a murder case in criminal court prevented the hearing set for today on the petition of D. C. Stephenson, Earl Klinck and Earl Gentry for admission to bail pending their trial on a charge of murdering Miss Madge Oberholtzer, 28, of this city.

Judge A. Collins has indicated he will not hold the hearing until the murder trial under way in his court is ended, which probably will be late tomorrow or early Wednesday. The three men are held in jail pending the hearing and a decision by Judge Collins. They were indicted by a grand jury that investigated an alleged attack on Miss Oberholtzer. The case delaying the bail hearing is that of Louis Owens, a barber charged with slaying a fellow workman with whom he had quarreled.

Residents of Irvington, a suburb in which is located Miss Oberholtzer's home, at a mass meeting yesterday adopted resolutions demanding "swift and adequate justice" for the persons responsible for her death.

INVADER OIL LOSES TILT.

Oklahoma Interests Lose Motion to Get Indictments Quashed.

LOS ANGELES, April 28.—The Invader Oil interests of Oklahoma lost a round in federal court here today when the motion to quash an order to produce their books before the federal grand jury was denied. The companies were ordered to bring the books to the grand jury for inspection May 8.

In the Midst of Plenty Thousands of Children Are Starving

Not starving for food—mind you—for of that they get plenty—but simply starving for the want of vitamines that their entire being is eagerly craving for.

Let us all be thankful that these vitamines can now be supplied and that right now this vast army of weak, thin, undernourished and underweight boys and girls can with the balmy sunshine days of spring and summer grow strong, robust and happy.

Nature's greatest health builder and strength giver is Cod Liver Oil—it's full of vitamines of the first class—everyone knows that.

But pity the poor children—how can they take this nasty, nauseating stuff that invariably upsets their small, delicate stomachs?

Most of them can't and now—thank goodness—none of them have to.

For now Cod Liver Oil comes in tasteless sugar coated tablets, that are as easy for the kids to take as candy and they sure do build up the youngsters in double quick time.

So mothers, if any of your loved ones aren't feeling right just ask Smith's Drug Co., Tipton's Drug Co., or any druggist for a box of McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets—60 tablets—60 cents.

They start to help the poor child in just a few days and they'll help you too; for you won't need to worry any more.

One sickly, thin child aged 9 gained 12 pounds in seven months and now plays daily with other children.

Splendid for any run down, weak, skinny, nervous man or woman—thousands of boxes are sold daily—but be sure and ask for McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets—the original and genuine. Try them for 30 days and if you aren't delighted with the improvement get your money back.—Adv.

A CONSISTENT RECORD.

The executive council of the American Bankers' association meeting at Augusta, Ga., refused to reopen the question of branch banking, thereby putting the association on record as content with the present standing and resources of national banks. In line with this conservative stand, the council adopted a resolution on the business situation which breathes a spirit of unshaken confidence. It also launched a movement to create an endowment for economic scholarships in leading colleges and universities.

Thus the bankers' council established for itself a strikingly consistent record. It declined to take any thoughtless step and issued a reassuring message to the country at the same time that it contemplated measures which will tend to prevent alarmist thinking in the future. Its resolution on the business situation reminds those who have become needlessly anxious that there can be no serious slump when there has been no over-expansion. The council believes the passing of the threat of inflation to be the real safeguard of continuing business prosperity. There is now no possibility of hectic activity and the ingrained conservatism of business men and industrial leaders affords the country double insurance against economic mishap.

SENDING THEM AWAY.

Great Britian has announced the biggest plan for empire migration in the history of the world. By an agreement with the Australian government the home government is planning to send 450,000 Britishers to Australia in the next ten years.

It will cost the home government a $170,000,000 to be expended on approved undertakings and the acquisition and clearing and development of land which will be broken up into farms, the migrants selected will be assisted in their passage and the money will be loaned on easy terms for the development of farms, which also may be purchased on the easiest terms.

England alone has a population of 35,000,000. It is impossible for a small country to feed a large population and the surplus must go somewhere. Australia could support easily forty million or eighty million if pushed, but the surplus population of England is poverty stricken.

It takes money to buy passages to Australia. It takes money to create homes in the wilderness. England has decided to play the game and send her sons and daughters to the antipodes.

WHAT HAPPENED TO NICK.

Nicholas Cunco died in New York City last week. He was 72 and was known as the banana king. He was 12 when he came from Italy to America by steerage with all his worldly goods in a carpet bag. He began with a push cart in Chicago. He became the largest independent competitor of the United Fruit company in the wholesales fruit trade. He had six steamers carrying bananas and other fruits from the West Indies to the ports of the world.

He owned banana plantations in the West Indies. He had many vessels carrying lemons from Italy to America. He had many apartment houses in greater New York. He was a power in Jersey City where an avenue has been named for him. Nicholas found this a land of opportunity and the boy who began as a push cart banana merchant left an estate behind him valued at several millions.

Is this a land of opportunity? Is this a land where the accident of birth has nothing to do with the case? Ask the four grandchildren of Nicholas Cunco. They inherited his fortune.

PREPARING FOR A WAGE CUT.

British spinners are getting ready for a wage cut. A London dispatch reads as follows: "Judged by the descriptions of banks returns from textile centers, the outlook for the British cotton trade is uncertain, with no definite revival thought to be possible until the goods can be more cheaply produced."

There are 2,000,000 idle men and women workers in England. War time wages are in vogue. There is a business government in power. Now the wage worker in the textile centers is going to get it where the chicken gets the axe.

John Bull must have cheap labor to produce cheap cotton goods. He must have cheap cotton to return bank dividends. He is hoping some day to get his supply of cotton from the Soudan, where the Egyptian labor is almost as cheap as the coolie labor of China and the standard of living is at the lowest ebb.

Business is business.

WHY RUSSIA STAYS OUT.

Soviet Russia has refused to participate in the forthcoming conference on control of the traffic in arms. Just why should Russia participate? Russia has been outlawed by the powerful nations of the earth. Soviet Russia and its form of government have been denounced by the leading statesmen of the powerful nations of the earth.

Regardless of this, the government founded by Lenine has been in existence eight years and is more powerful today than at any time since the passing of the Romanoffs. Russia was made an outlaw because the followers of Lenine reputiated the loans made by the investors of France and England to the dear czar and his dead government.

Soviet Russia refuses to dismount. Soviet Russia refuses to recant. Soviet Russia is marching on. And soviet Russia is going to continue the manufacture of arms for self-protection.

There is another war coming in Europe some day and Poland and Russia will be among the active participants.

COST OF CREDIT FRAUD.

A third of the annual financial l st suffered by the people of the United States through crime can be attributed to credit frauds, according to J. H. Tregoe, secretary of the National Association of Credit Men. He says that the losses caused by credit fraud last year amounted to more than $300,000,000. That is the tax levied upon the honest people of the country by the credit criminals of the country. Where does the swag go or flow

FACULTY POINTS.

The state of Texas has recently given a two thousand acre site one milion dollars, as a starter and a free hand for establishing a school in southwestern Texas.

The president of this, Mr. P. W. Horn, gives the following points, which indicate what he is about to do with the institution:

1. Some colleges are factors for evil in individual lives and in building up citizenship for a democracy.

2. Faculty members should be the kind of men and women that we want our boys and girls to become.

3. Mental traits in the faculty are as easily transmissible as physical diseases.

4. The teacher who is little enough to be sorry when his colleague's salary is raised will tend to produce dwarfs among his students.

5. Faculty members should be young enough, both chronologically and mentally, still to possess open minds and large capacity for growth.

6. Faculty members should set a high value on scholarship, a higher value upon human ability and a still higher value upon human character.

7. They should be people of enthusiasms and enthusiasms of the right kind.

8. A college that boasts that one third of its freshmen fail, is no more sensible and humane than a doctor who boasts that one third of his patients die.

9. Self support on the part of students who need or desire it should be made possible.

10. There is just as much botany to be learned from studying cotton as from the study of orchids.

11. To spend seven million dollars on a dormitory is a well nigh wicked waste of money.

12. The moment standards of admission are used for the purpose of excluding from college those who might otherwise enter and profit from the work therein, they become instruments of the merest intellectual snobbery.

THE PRESIDENT'S CONFIDENCE SHAKEN.

President Coolidge's confidence in the shipping board seems to have been rudely shaken by the filing of minority views by Vice Chairman Plummer and Commissioner Thompson in the District of Columbia supreme court in the dispute over the sale of five government ships. Faced with the prospect that the whole transaction involving the sale of the ships will be thoroughly aired, the president has abandoned his position that the board's judgment could be trusted. He is understood to have sent a letter to Chairman O'Connor requesting a report on the situation. The letter has not been published, nor has the manner of its reception been made known.

If nothing startling is likely to be brought out in the judicial hearing, the president's letter will probably never be answered. On the other hand, if significant revelations are in store for the country, the president, no doubt, will be given the privilege of announcing them. Thus the national administration will be enabled to come out with flying colors, no matter how the shipping board fares.

WHERE THEY LIVE TO EAT.

Edward J. O'Malley is a commissioner of markets in the city of New York. He delivered an address the other day on the subject of how New York is fed.

Among other things he said New York has 15,000 restaurants, 5,000 bakeries, 7,000 fruit and vegetable stores, 12,000 retail butcher stores, 10,000 grocery stores and 4,500 delicatessen stores.

It is up to the wise men of the magic valley of Texas to get in touch with the men who see to it that New York is fed and fed daily. They live to eat in New York, and the magic valley grows the stuff.

Uncommon Sense

By JOHN BLAKE.

Greed.

One of the definitions accompanying a crossword puzzle I saw the other day was "insatiable desire for something." The word was "Greed."

The puzzle maker might have said "insatiable desire for something that one ought not to have and is not entitled to," for that is what greed really is.

A great industrial leader once said that his business was run on the principle of "enlightened selfishness."

The business paid good wages, it made a good product, and by dint of economy in production had reduced prices far beyond what its predecessors received for the same commodity. So "enlightened selfishness" was not a misleading term.

But it is the unenlightened selfishness we call greed which is making most of the trouble in the world, and which will not be eradicated till we have made a far greater advance than we have today.

It is greed that makes men cheat and lie, and take advantage of their neighbors, and oppress the poor.

It is greed which is responsible for adulterated food, for rotten tenement houses, for cheap, shoddy, imitation goods.

It is greed that makes it harder than it ought to be to make an honest living, because so many obstacles are thrown in the honest man's way.

It is useless to pass laws to limit greed, as long as it is in the hearts of men.

Only patient effort to teach people, especially children, that they owe others something as well as themselves and that decent consideration for the welfare of mankind is essential will help to get rid of it.

Now the stupid thing about greed is that it never brings happiness.

The man who wants something he ought not to have is not happy while he is trying to get it, and as soon as he gets it he becomes miserable through wanting to get something else.

Always greed is accompanied by envy, and envy eats its heart out at the sight of comfort or happiness possessed by others.

I have lived in villages, in towns and cities, and after a year's residence in each I have been able to pick out the greedy people by their evil and unhappy faces and by their manner toward others.

I am not here preaching contentment.

All I want to point out is that the chronic yearning for something which we haven't got, which we do not need, and which we would be better off without, undermines the characters faster than any other mental attitude, and will soon reduce us to abject misery.

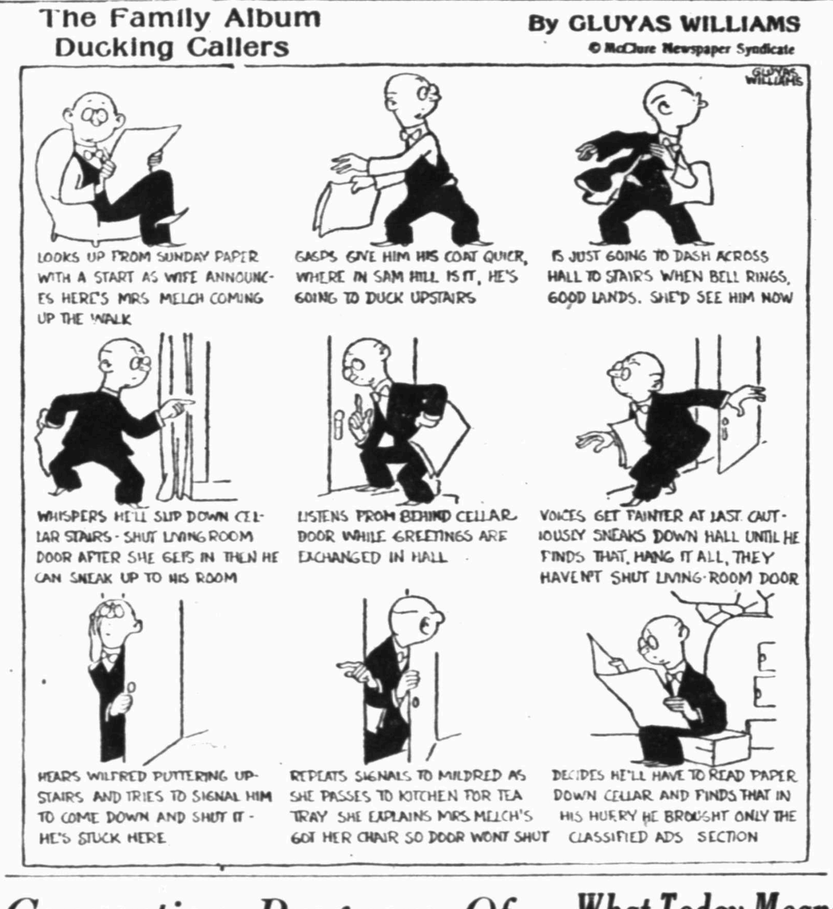

Yet so numerous are the greedy that their power still is great, and their guild is difficult to dislodge from power.

If they had their deserts they would be left to suffer from their own greed. But their pursuit of a monopoly of all the good things of life is a menace to the welfare of others, so as fast as possible, they must be taught to repress their desires, to curb their appetites and to keep their greed within the bounds of ordinary human selfishness.

Convention Program Of West Texas Chamber Of Commerce Is Good One

Editor's Note: This is another of a series of articles by Hugh Nugent Fitzgerald on the winning of west Texas. They are now being published in The Record News in connection with the coming convention of the west Texas chamber of commerce at Mineral Wells to which Wichita Falls will send a large delegation. Wichitans should make their reservations now with the chamber of commerce committee.

By HUGH NUGENT FITZGERALD
Record News Staff.

It is said that the West Texas chamber of commerce is the largest organization of its kind in the United States with the sole exception of the national organization. Porter Whaley is its general manager. He has been its general manager since its organization six years ago. Before its organization he was secretary of the chamber of commerce of Wichita Falls. It is a matter of history that the big organization had its inception in the brain of a distinguished citizen of Wichita Falls.

Its sixth annual convention will be held in the city of Mineral Wells May 4, 5 and 6. An auditorium with a seating capacity of 4,500 will be dedicated by the convention. There will be fifty bands in attendance, including the famous Brownwood band and the Old Gray Mare with its graceful rider from Amarillo. Those who are managing the arrangements expect 15,000 people to participate in the festivities.

Neff to Speak.

Pat Morris Neff has been invited to be one of the speakers on the Sunday before the business sessions are held. This is appropriate. Neff signed the bill which created the Texas Tech at Lubbock and the appropriation for $600,000 for the surveys of Texas rivers which will lead to the conservation of flood waters.

There will be more bands playing than ever heard before at any time in Texas. And the social program is most elaborate. Colonel Charles C. Walsh of San Angelo is the president of the chamber and will wield the gavel at all the sessions. He is one of the builders of the Concho river country, noted banker, prominent in the literary circles of Texas and a poet of fame.

Among the speakers will be Congressman Guinn Williams of Decatur, Sydney Samuels of Fort Worth, John W. Carpenter of Dallas, Governor Miriam A. Ferguson, Colonel Harvie Jordan of South Carolina, Senator Earle B. Mayfield, Senators Morris Sheppard, D. D. Moore of Fort Worth and Colonel W. E. Lea of Orange.

Cline on Program.

Former Mayor Walter Cline of Wichita Falls, a most interesting speaker and well known in the ranks of builders of West Texas, on opening day will deliver an address with this title: "West Texas Yesterday and Tomorrow."

All the college bands of the west will be represented. One of the features of the program will be a historical pageant at the Country club lake with a thousand participants. Another feature will be "Miss West Texas bell" on the evening of May 5. This function will be held at convention hall honoring visiting matrons and maids of honor and escorts.

As a matter of course one of the big events will be the annual banquet in open air on the night of May 6. Plates are to be laid for 5,000 and Colonel Walsh will be the toastmaster. Annual reports of the officers of the organization are awaited iwth interest.

It is known that money expended by West Texas counties and towns during the last three years for road, street, sewer and other improvements totals at least $22,000,000. This list is yet ipcomplete. As bond issues voted by Abilene were $150,000 for schools and $50,000 for street improvements. Counties lead the towns in the expenditure for public improvements.

South Carolinian.

Porter Whaley is a South Carolinian by birth, but came to Texas in his early youth. Homer D. Wade, who has charge of the legislative work of the chamber and is well known in the political circles of Texas, is a native of Bastrop county but has lived most everywhere in Texas. His report will deal with the legislative achievements of the lawmakers from West Texas and what the chamber hopes to do in future years it, the way of securing legislation.

Incidentally, for the first time in the history of Texas, a West Texan, Lee Satterwhite, was the speaker of the thirty-ninth legislature. He is the speaker today and will be until a successor is elected. In the closing hours of the regular session of the thirty-ninth, Senator Willis Bledsoe, a West Texan, was elected president pro tem by unanimous vote. Congressman Claude Hudspeth, while in the state senate, won the distinction now enjoyed by Bledsoe.

West Texas has five congressmen of the eighteen. Whenever the state is redistricted if it happens to be on the present basis of representation, West Texas will be entitled to three additional congressmen. It is a matter of fact as well as of history that there are fewer negroes or Mexicans in West Texas than in the older sections of the state, and there are more native born Americans, two to one, than in the other sections of the state.

Three cities are in the race for the convention of 1926. Amarillo led off, Abilene came in and then San Antonio completed the list of contenders. El Paso is the largest city in West Texas. Wichita Falls is the second largest city and as for the third largest city the warriors can fight it out as the writer refuses to referee the game.

Irrigation

LAKE KEMP WATER AS A FERTILIZER.

A gentleman asked us the other day if Lake Kemp water would not act as a fertilizer. What he really had in mind was that the water would be full of silt the same as the river water is when the river is high or as Lake Wichita used to be.

He was astonished to learn that Lake Kemp water is crystal clear. He had never visited the big dam.

The river Nile in Egypt has kept up the fertility of its valley since the earliest dawn of history. It has done this through the silt carried by its high waters and deposited on the flood plain.

The Colorado river deposits silt on the irrigated lands of the Imperial Valley much to their benefit. This same silt deposits in the canals and must be removed at great expense.

Before we can say whether Lake Kemp water will act as a fertilizer to the soils here we must know whether it contains anything of benefit. We know that the water does not carry any silt to be deposited.

We do know that it contains lime and gypsum because it is very hard. But can lime and gypsum be classified as fertilizer? It all depends upon what constitutes a fertilizer.

If it is something that will improve the soil and the growth of plants then we can class lime and gypsum as fertilizers. They are fertilizers on soils which need lime. Not all soils need lime but many of ours will be greatly improved in their texture by lime and gypsum applied to them.

It is probable that many of our soils will be greatly improved by the addition of lime and gypsum from the waters of Lake Kemp.

MATTERS OF HEALTH

Oh, he planted a garden,
As most of us should;
For the vitamine values
In vegetable food.

When the people are busy the doctors are not.

And another good place to clean up is the back yard.

When you camp where the skeeters are don't forget your skeeter bar.

You may swallow your capsules,
Your powders and pills;
But screening and drainage
Beat big doctor bills.

The longest lives are well begun when wholesome work is mixed with fun.

What Today Means To You

By MARY BLAKE.

Taurus.

Today's planetary aspects are adverse during the whole day. They denote a decided discontent and general feeling of pessimism. Not only will it be inexpedient, but it will be practically impossible, to accomplish anything of much value under such conditions and it will be very hard to realize at all times during the day that "there is a silver lining to every cloud,' as your outlook will be based on pessimism. No speculation of any character should be indulged in, and only routine duties executed.

A child born today will be quite normal in health and strength and will cause little worry or anxiety on physical grounds. Its disposition will be at once sympathetic and affectionate. Its character will be well developed along right lines, and it will be truthfully inclined and very conscientious. It will have many friends and be very devoted to all the members of its family. It will not attain a very large degree of material success, but will be able, owing to its sterling characteristics, to reap happiness wherever it may be found.

If today is your birthday, you, in spite of shrewdness, intelligence, decisiveness and positiveness, are very cautious. Notwithstanding the possession of these valuable assets, you have a weakness, which enables others very often to take advantage of you, as you are peculiarly sympathetic and sensitive. You take offense very often to take advantage of you, forgive. As a result of this, you are often misunderstood, but those who know you will appreciate you and will be extremely loyal. In your home life this causes of great deal of unhappiness, as the freedom which prevails in the family circle encourages the expression of thoughts outspoken in absolutely unrestrained manner, and you can never accustom yourself to these conditions. You resent them.

Successful people born on this date are:

Matthew Vassar, philanthropist.
Jacob W. Bainey, naturalist.
Adolph H. J. Sutro, mining engineer, philanthropist, and former mayor of San Francisco.
Charles R. Otis, elevator inventor.
Wm. L. Elkin, astronomer.
Lorado Taft, sculptor.

HOW IT STARTED

THE USE OF CHECKS

How much the course of modern business is facilitated by that little check book is apparent only when we contemplate doing without it! The check had its beginning in England and dates back to 1793, when it evolved out of the gradual development of the banking business.

With the growth of commerce in England in the early eighteenth century, a demand arose for easily negotiable credit instruments. Practically the only medium in use at the time consisted of notes issued by banks which were written out like a modern promisory note.

In 1729 Child and company introduced forms partly printed and partly written like our modern check. These continued to be used until about 1793 when the present system of crediting depositors with the amount of their deposits and permitting them to draw checks against this amount was introduced.

More Truth Than Poetry

THE FIRESIDE EXPLORER

I love to read the tales of the Arctic—
The kind Dr. Stefansson writes—
Of plodding through snow when it's sixty below,
And camping through long winter nights;
I love—in my fancy—to wander
O'er the ice to the northward of Nome,
Yet it suits me first rate to submit to the fate
Which insists that I hang around home.

If I could step out in my door yard
When my afternoon's labor was done,
And capture a seal to provide me a meal—
I would think it was glorious fun.
But I'd want to be sure that a beefsteak
Could be had at a handy cafe,
So I'd never need lack for a bit of a snack
If the seal should perchance get away.

I would like—if I thought I could lick him—
To fight with a huge polar bear,
And to drag him in dead with a dog team and sled
With a proud and triumphant air.
But I'd rather imagine this battle
On the floes of the far northern sea,
For in case it was real I admit that I'd feel
That the bear would be sure to lick me.

I prefer my adventures by proxy,
I would far rather brave the wild storm
That blows o'er the snows while my maple log glows
In a room that is cozy and warm.
A round now and then on the golf course
Is all the excitement I need,
But I hope these brave men go exploring again—
For their tales are delightful to read!

INEVITABLE

The next irrepressible conflict in this country will be between the school master and the caddy master.

REASONABLE

Perhaps in seeking to annex Wrangel Island for Great Britain Mr. Stefansson wanted to provide some occupation for the Keep of the Seals.

DON'T RUN TO THE DIVORCE COURT IF YOU'VE DISCOVERED THAT TAKING A HUSBAND "FOR BETTER OR WORSE" MEANS "FOR WORSE"—SIT TIGHT AND SAVE YOUR MARRIAGE BY PLAYING YOUR CARDS CAREFULLY

"The reason why a great many women lose out in matrimony is because they are not good enough sports," said a woman to me the other day. "They are bad losers, and when they find out that the cards are running against them they simply throw down their hands and quit cold.

"They haven't the nerve to sit tight and play the game, and wait for their luck to turn, yet nine times out of ten it will if a woman just has the grit to stick on.

"That is why I haven't much patience with the wires who cry out that marriage is a failure the first time their rosy dreams get a good, hard jolt and who rush to the divorce court when they discover that their husbands are just ordinary human males, instead of the romantic heroes of their maiden dreams.

"Not that I am especially opposed to divorce. On the contrary, I believe there are times when it is as absolutely a necessity as the surgeon's knife that cuts away a malignant growth that is poisoning your life.

"But I do not believe that the great majority of divorces are not only unnecessary, but that they are mistakes, and that they bring the women who get them—for far more women are the petitioners in divorce cases than men—no happiness.

"A wife gets peeved with her husband because he is grouchy and hard to get along with, or unsympathetic, or neglectful, or she is justly outraged with him because he is unfaithful to her, and she hastens to the divorce court.

"The result is, in most cases, that she finds herself with a decree absolute in one hand and the necessity of supporting herself and her children with the other hand. She has lost her home and her meal ticket, and that settled feeling that a married womah has, even if she hasn't a blue-ribbon prize husband, and it makes her wonder if she hasn't jumped out of the frying pan into the fire, and if even the husband she has left isn't better than no husband at all.

"For, you see, very few men are all-around brutes. Most of them are a mixture of good and bad, of virtues and vices, even as women are. There are not many men who cannot be handled by a woman who is willing to take the time and trouble to do it tactifully, nor are there many marriages that do not hold consolation prizes for the wife who is wies enough to accept them.

"The women who are dissatisfied with their husbands hold their own personal grievance so closely before their eyes that it blots out all the balance of the world from their vision, yet if they looked about them they would see that what they have to endure is no harder to stand than what other wives have to bear.

"Mrs. A bemoans her fate in being married to a man who gets drunk occasionally, but who is amiable and good natured, and tender, and kind. Mrs. B's husband is a prohibitionist, who is as sober as the town pump, but he has an intemperate temper and goes into debauches of rage that keep her in abject terror of saying or doing something that will displease him.

"Mrs. C wails that her husband is a philanderer, with an eye out for every pretty girl who crosses his path, but he is one of the women's men who remembers anniversaries and are as gallant to their wives as they are to other women. Mrs. D's husband doesn't know there is another petticoat on the line except his wife's but he has never told her he loved her since their wedding day, and as far as she can see regards her merely as a piece of useful household furniture.

"Mrs. E is broken-hearted because her husband neglects her and never takes her out anywhere, but he gives her a fine home and pearls and limousines. Mrs. F's husband is as domestic as the house cat, but he was born too tired to work and the bill collector is always at the door.

"And so it goes. There are no perfect husbands any more than there are any perfect wives. Those of us who marry have to swap good qualities for bad ones, and bad ones ofr good ones, and I believe that the wife who has the courage and endurance to do this will nearly always win out in the end.

"At the bottom of every man's heart is some fondness for the woman he married. She had some peculiar appeal to him beyond that of the balance of her sex, else he never would have picked her out for a wife, and so if a woman is only willing to wait and keep her home fire burning her husband is pretty sure to come back to it in the end.

"Whether he is worth waiting for is for her to decide. Sometimes he is. Sometimes he isn't. That's her problem. So is it whether she care enough about him to want him to come back or whether she is glad to be rid of her husband at any price.

"My contention merely is that the woman who loves her husband is foolish to give him up, even when he has grave faults. She will be happier with him than without him, and ninety-nine times out of a hundred she can save her marriage from going into the discard by just sitting tight in the game and playing her cards carefully."

Free Bridge Over Red River Is Now Assured by State

Texas and Oklahoma's second free bridge across Red river was assured Tuesday morning with the granting of $163,000 federal aid to the project by the state highway commission at Austin. The grant came at the end of a fight sponsored and taken up by Wichita Falls chamber of commerce covering a period of several years with four months intensive labor on the part of its officials actually preceding it.

North of Burkburnett.

The bridge will cross Red river just north of Burkburnett and will be of solid concrete reinforced with steel, total cost to approximate $326,000, of which $81,000 is to be furnished by Wichita county, $81,000 by the Oklahoma state highway commission, and $163,000 obtained from the federal source. Cotton county, Oklahoma, will pay for the north approaches, some 2,000 feet long while Wichita county will build the south approaches at a cost of several thousand dollars.

The bride will provide Texas free access to the whole of southwestern Oklahoma and should greatly increase tourist traffic to Medicine Park and other feature spots of that part of the state. This and other Oklahoma-Texas traffic and corresponding business between the two states has in the past been greatly reduced by the imposition of tolls on the bridge across the river.

Will Be Second.

The bridge will be the second of its kind across the Red river, another having already been started near Hugo, Oklahoma.

Wichita county had special legislation passed to spend its funds outside the county and permission was granted by the interior department at Washington for use of the public domain. The boundary between Wichita county and Oklahoma was finally settled by the supreme court of the United States some two years ago whe litigation started on account of oil wells being discovered in the river bed. B. D. Sartin, county judge Wichita county, Senator Parnell and Fred L. Haskett of the Wichita Falls chamber of commerce attended the hearing with the Texas highway com-

SARTIN AND HASKETT RETURN FROM AUSTIN.

County Judge B. D. Sartin and Fred Haskett, assistant manager of the chamber of commerce, returned to Wichita Falls late Tuesday night from Austin, gleeful over the prospects for the new free bridge across Red river.

"Everything is practically assured for the bridge," Judge Sartin declared. "The state highway commission gave us assurance state aid would be available for the structure and everything looks rosy."

Mr. Haskett, too, stated prospects for speedy construction work on the bridge were excellent.

In addition to the bridge matter which was laid before the commission, a large delegation from Electra appeared to present a plea for state aid in the construction of a road that would give Electra an outlet past the diversion dam and on to Dundee. A road is now being paved from Electra to the Archer county line and the proposed project would connect with that and run on past the lake and thence into Dundee.

BRAUN BACK AS PREMIER

Socialist Leader Reappears as Leader of Party in Diet.

BERLIN, April 28.—(AP)—Otto Braun, leader of the socialists and candidate of the socialist party for the presidency of the republic in the primary election held March 29 reappeared as premier at the head of the three-party coalition ministry in the Prussian diet today. After announcing the new government's program, Herr Braun informed the diet that his cabinet would ask an immediate vote of confidence on the outcome of which will depend the definite solution of the Prussian parliamentary crisis, which has been in existence for more than three months. Braun heads the same cabinet that former Chancellor Marx organized at the time he entered Prussian politics. The cabinet comprises delegates from the socialist, centrist and democratic parties. It commands only a slight majority as the German nationalists, the German peoples party, the communists and several detached groups can by joint vote force its retirement.

NO CLUES IN GIRL CASE.

Officers Still Working in Dark on Murder of Girl.

GARY, Ind., April 28.—Authorities of Illinois and Indiana investigating the death of the girl whose charred, bullet-riddled body and dismembered body was found near Chesterton, Ind., last Sunday, tonight were still working in the dark.

The young woman had not been identified and no positive clues as to the identity of her slayer or slayers were in the possession of the officers.

RECOMMEND FUNDS FOR PROVINCES IN M. E. CHURCH

CHICAGO, April 28.—A recommendation that provinces be given shares in the national fund of the Episcopal church is foremost among provisions of the plan of reorganization made public today by a joint commission of bishops, clergy and laymen of the national church meeting here. The plan which has long been the subject of controversy within the church will be placed in final form for presentation at the next general convention.

ARE YOU OVER-DRESSED?

These Spring Days, when every real girl is excited to her finger-tips over the prospect of a new spring costume—every detail carefully planned and thought out—it might be well to issue a word of warning to all the budding Gloria Swansons.

Don't be over-dressed. Don't in your desire to affect all the latest models in jewelry, button-hole bouquets, scarfs, trick gloves, chin veils, and so forth, ruin your whole appearance by too many accessories.

This year the three-piece suit seems to be leading all the other styles in popularity—and of course they're all charming and extremely fashionable.

Now the three-piece suit is usually fairly elaborate all by itself—being more or less fur-trimmed and silk-lined—so that it really doesn't need many aids to beauty.

If you've bought an ensemble sfit, and the dress part is of some soft-colored crepe—as they usually are—then you won't need a scarf.

If the suit is fur-trimmed, a tiny little bunch of artificial flowers will look rather smart fastened to the fur—but in that case you won't want to wear a choker necklace with the outfit, since you'll look stuffy and over-dressed with fur, bouquet and necklace.

You've got to decide which accessories you prefer, and cut them down to one or two.

If you're chosen a tailor-made two-piece suit for spring—then you can have an awfully nice scarf and also a small artificial flower matching the scarf in tone.

Don't however, wear a veil with a tailor-made suit and scarf. That will put you in the over-dressed class.

And, don't above all things, add to your wardrobe one of those elaborate pairs of shoes—which every girl can afford to be without.

You know the sort of footwear I mean—too many straps, and too much open work, and dozens of eyelets, with perhaps a big bow tied over the ankle making your foot look bunchy and unattractive.

Shoes want to be high-heeled and graceful looking—perfectly fitting, with no fancy work.

Of course in the matter of hosiery you can wear pretty nearly any shade and be extremely fashionable. You'll have to select the tint that goes best with your costume. The gun metal shade of hose is going to be very popular, and it goes well with just about anything you wear.

If you want any hints about how to make yourself look like a million dollars, call on me for my humble advice.

But whatever you do, don't put on everything you own, and expect people to think you are well-dressed.

Scientists Disagree On Einstein Theory

WASHINGTON, April 28.—Contradictory views on the Einstein theory of relativity were expressed in papers read today before the annual meeting of the National Academy of Sciences. The meeting ended its open sessions with a banquet tonight at whic hthe Daniel Giraud Elliot medal for 1924 was awarded to Abbe Henri Breuil, European archaeologist, for his paleolithic researches, and the Mary Clark Thomnson medal was given to John Mason Clark, New York geologist.

Dr. Dayton C. Miller of the Case School fo Applied Science, Cleveland, Ohio, told the academy today that experiments conducted during the last four years at Cleveland and Mount Wilson, Cal., pointed to the conclusion that there is a relative motion of the earth and the ether and that the solar system as a whole is moving through space. This tends to disprove the Einstein theory, he said, which is predicated in part on experiments conducted in 1887 by A. A. Michaelson of the University of Chicago, and the late E. W. Morley, who concluded there was no drift of either.

TIRED FEELING--HEAD FELT HEAVY

Mississippi Plantation Owner Takes Black-Draught and Says, "It Never Fails to Help Me."

CENTERVILLE, Miss.—Mr. W. G. Huff, a leading plantation owner of this district, recently told of the relief he experienced through the use of Thedford's Black-Draught.

"I would get up in the morning with a bad taste in my mouth," said Mr. Huff, "feeling tired, and my feet as well as my head felt heavy. I wouldn't feel like working, but more like going back to bed. I knew my liver was out of fix and that I must take something.

"After I tried other remedies that didn't seem to fit my case, I began the use of Black-Draught, with splendid results. After a few good big doses my head seemed to clear up. I would feel fine, full of 'pep,' go about my work and really enjoy it.

"It is necessary down here to take a good liver medicine occasionally to assist nature and I have never found a better one than Black-Draught. I believe Black-Draught saves me many days in bed, for had I gone on, instead of correcting my condition, I must have gotten down. Now when I see or feel the first symptoms of liver trouble, I begin taking Black-Draught and it never fails me."

Black-Draught is made from pure, medicinal roots and herbs, and contains no harmful mineral drugs.

Wife of Texas Solon One of Honor Guests At Wichita Club Party

QUITE one of the most beautiful and attractive affairs of the spring season was held Tuesday afternoon when Mrs. Ben G. O'Neal entertained about 100 guests with bridge, honoring her house guest, Mrs. Fritz G. Lanham of Fort Worth and Washington and Mrs. Charles Norton, a recent bride, at the Wichita club.

Value of Planes In Warefare Shown In Hawaiian Maneuvers

HONOLULU, April 28.—The value of airplanes in scouting and reconnaissance duty was proved in the "battle" of Oahu of the joint army and navy maneuvers just concluded here, in the opinion of the chief umpires, Admiral Robert E. Cooke and Major General John L. Hines, as expressed in official communiques from their office.

The maneuvers were featured by extensive and spectacular aircraft activity mostly limited, however, to scouting duty. The official statements do not reveal any case of a battleship being destroyed. The "black" or defense patrol airplanes, after sighting the "enemy" confined their efforts mainly to preventing landing parties from the vessels reaching the shore.

The "black" patrol airplanes were the first to sight the "blue" or attacking fleet, establishing contact at daylight, April 22. When discovered, the Wyoming, flagship of the scouting fleet, four cruisers and 18 destroyers, were anchored off the island of Molokai. Four "black" airplanes landed on Molokai and resisted the attempt of the Shawmut, tender for the aircraft forces of the attacking fleet, to land a force on the island of Lanai and capture the flying ground there. The "black" force claimed the Shawmut was sunk, which contention was upheld by the umpires. Two "black" bombers encountered the destroyer Lawrence soon after contact with the opposing force was established and attacked from an altitude of 1,000 feet.

WHO'S WHO IN THE STORY

ROSILYN PAGE, pathetic wistful hard-worked daughter of a Long Island innkeeper, has burning aspirations for a fuller and more beautiful existence. Wealthy New Yorkers come yearly to her father's inn for the duck shooting, but she dislikes them all except one young society fellow.

LANDIS RIDGEWAY, handsome and distinguished, well-used in the ways of the world, and at present in serious financial difficulties. For ten years he has come down at intervals to the Long Island inn to hunt, and has always been kind to the lonely, overworked young woman. He is in love with a beautiful society girl.

LYDIA HARBROOK, who values money far above love. Lydia, one night calls on Landis while he is staying at the inn, and swears she still loves him although she plans to marry

STEIVE VAN VORST, a wealthy old roue.

Rosilyn who is tending her sick father, overhears the conversation between Landis and Lydia.

Rosilyn's father dies, and to everyone's amazement it is found that he has left the girl heiress to an enormous fortune. Landis prepares to leave as he does not want to be found dancing attendance on an heiress. He tells her of his departure.

Landis is touched by Rosilyn's generous offer of half her fortune to make his way clear to marry Lydia. He refuses gently, and leaves for the city.

CHAPTER X.

The Gay World.

How hopelessly plain and sallow the poor child looked in noonday light!

Something must be done at once.

"Clothes" repeated Rosilyn, mechanically, as though she hadn't understood the meaning of the word. (That was one dreadfully 'bourgeois' trait of hers which grated on her highborn hostess—the inane repetition of a question! Indeed there were a heap of faux pas that the girl was always making! Small wonder that Landis was so inattentive! Each day his mother's hopes of an alliance between her son and the gauche little heiress of the marshes seemed more distant!)

"Manners make the man and clothes make the woman," rapped out Mrs Ridgeway, with a faint attempt at jocularity. "It's high time we—"

"Isn't it too soon?" Rosilyn stared up at her own great dark and nervously crumbled a bit of lace—another bourgeois trick of hers.

Her hostess drew her lips in.

"You mean too soon after your father's death." (No use to camouflage, but just call a spade a spade.

The girl nodded.

"I just wondered."

Mrs. Ridgeway leant across to pat her hand with an immensely condescending gesture.

"You must let me be the judge of that, my dear. I'm a great stickler for conventions, but in the circumstances my conscience is perfectly clear that it's time you stopped moping and got yourself attractive clothes and started to make the very best of life. Else why did your father save that fortune for you? To what end?"

Before Rosilyn could reply to this, the determined lady went on, briskly:

"I've two tickets for the great Paret's dress show this afternoon, and it would be a liberal education for you, my dear, to see his gowns. Landis gives a little dinner at the Ritz this week, you know, and I really want you to do full credit to yourself. Paret is an artist and a genius and his frocks are poems! He'll design one specially for you, if I ask him."

At half past three the car was at the door, and shortly afterwards Rosilyn found herself in the magnificent perfumed salons dedicated to the Paret dress parade.

"We're early, so we'll get good seats." Mrs. Ridgeway led the way to gilded arm chairs with their backs to the light and facing the long rooms.

"How beautiful!" murmured Rosilyn, dazzled by the gorgeous coloring of the great Chinese lanterns and the fairy lamps, the exquisite upholstery and appointments of the place. All the mingled odors of Araby arose in fascinating fragrance. "I never thought a shop could look like this!"

"'Sh-h! Paret would faint if he heard you apply such a profane word to his temple of art and beauty!" Mrs. Ridgeway smiled indulgently, and then bowed to some fashionably dressed woman who just entered. The place was filling rapidly, and soon not a chair was vacant.

From behind some curtains a hidden orchestra struck up a lovely melody, and through these curtains marched four exquisite young women in pyjamas of bright variegated silk, their slim feet sandaled and their ankles bare. Their heads were closely cropped, like boys, varnished with [illegible] and [illegible] back, at earrings dangled from their delicately rouged ears, and each girl had a cigarette between her lips. They carried trays of perfumed fans and little scented dolls which they distributed among the audience.

Rosilyn was astounded. Were these young females human?

She was dumb when one of them—an exotic beauty with a head as shiny as a shoe button—stopped in front of her, said something in a foreign tongue and dropped into her lap a green wigged doll with a frilly skirt that had gold lettering upon it advertising someone's perfume.

"Rather 'ultra,' but amusing" was Mrs. Ridgeway's comment, as she fanned herself with a highly scented fan that had been given her.

"Oh, look!" Rosilyn's gaze was transfixed by a quaint little creature in green satin trousers, purple jacket, heavy makeup and hair trimmed squarely, like a page. She had her arm about the waist of a stuffed rag doll that was an exact replica of herself in clothes and height and hair-cut and complexion.

Another child of the same age, dressed up as a Chinaman, also complete with a four-foot doll that was a model of herself, handed round cigarettes to the spectators.

The great Paret then appeared, and announced (in French) that his dress show would begin. He was a handsome man of middle age, with a pointed beard, a pleasant eye and a delightful manner.

To the hidden strains of trembling music, his lovely mannequins "undulated" through the salons, meeting the battery of female eyes, lorgnettes and fascinated stares, with absolute aplomb.

CHAPTER XI.

Broken Shrines.

Never in all her life had Rosilyn beheld such beauty!

"There! That would suit you!" murmured Mrs. Ridgeway, as a black haired siren in an amazing evening gown swayed back and forth between them like a lilly on its stalk. "The girl actually looks like you, I do declare!" Then, leaning forward, and tapping the mannequin on her bare arm: "How much, my dear?"

"Jus' five hungred dollars," floated from the reddened lips that parted in a ready smile. "For 'mees' it would be parfaite!"

"Mees" drew back with a frightened shudder. To the very waist, the gown was backless, sleeveless and displayed the wearer's figure more thoroughly than would a one-piece bathing suit. Fashioned of every gleaming color of the rainbow in metallic thread, it terminated in a golden flounce about the absolutely bare ankles of the model, while a great inky bow was set at the sauciest of angles on one hip.

"A New York producer, he see me in zis gown but yesterday, and he offer me much money to wear it on ze stage," volunteered the charmer, undulating like a hula hula girl. Her black hair was parted in the middle, dragged severely back over her tiny ears into an immense, old fashioned chignon that stuck out half a foot behind. "He like my coiffure also. It ees newer than ze shingle—" and she patted the great 'bun' on the nape of her neck affectionately.

Tea was handed around and a variety of entrancing little cakes and sandwiches. Cigarettes in quaint wooden boxes shaped like books; and tiny glass pipettes with perfume in them.

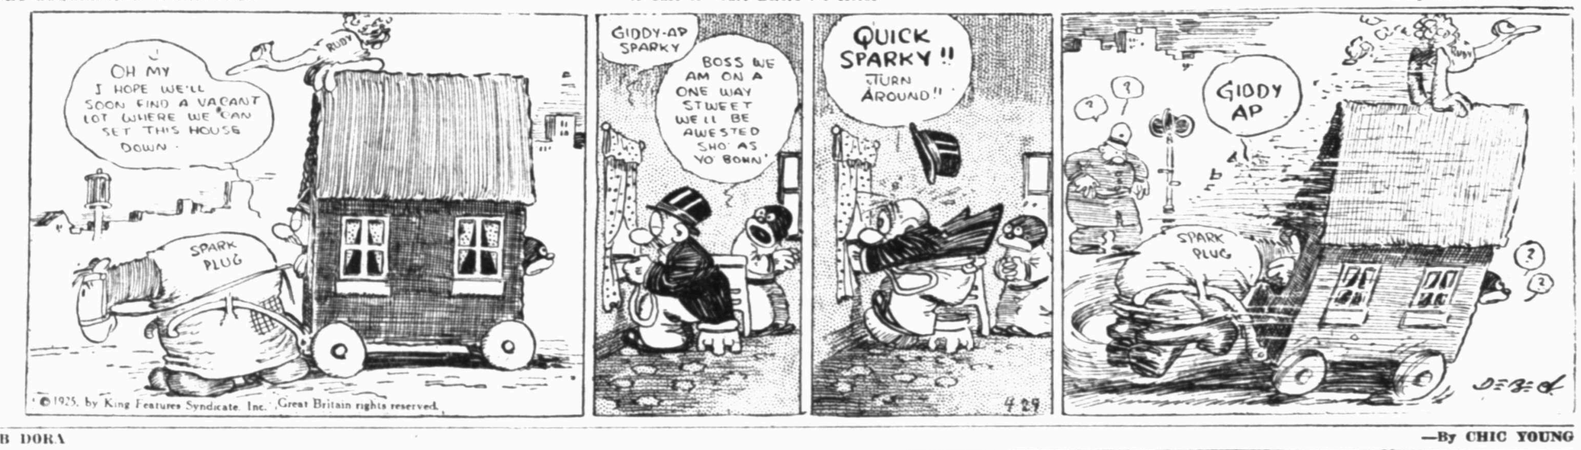

"What are these for?" Rosilyn inquired, feeling more gauche than ever. Would a day ever come when she could accustom herself to the queer doings of the Great Gay World?

TIMELY VIEWS ON WORLD TOPICS

"Labor's Hope Lies in Elimination of Waste," Declares Hoover.

Commerce Secretary Hoover, referring in a recent speech to the growth of interest by labor in its responsible for the functioning of the whole economic machine, declared that the fund from which labor must expect the maintenance of present wages or an increase in real wages lies in more effirient production and the elimination of waste.

HERBERT HOOVER

What I am referring to is the type of waste in industry which arises from bad roordination of industry as a whole, said Hoover.

In discussing the relationship of labor to the problem of better coordination to eliminate waste, Mr. Hoover said labor deserved to participate in the gains made as the result of the elimination of waste, and he felt that from the savings made in this way labor would have to expect the maintenance of present wages and the advance in wages.

"The savings we can make through the application of invention, through increase in skill, through elimination of collective wastes, is bound to divide over the consumer," he said. "It should be divided over labor of secure service and contentment, and as a matter of fact it will be divided over capital because capital comes cheaper with increasing security.

"If we would examine our utilities, many of our older and larger manufacturing concerns from this point of view, we would find that an astonishing proportion of our national production and service is now operating in various degrees under this regime of a new conception of capital, management, labor and consumer.

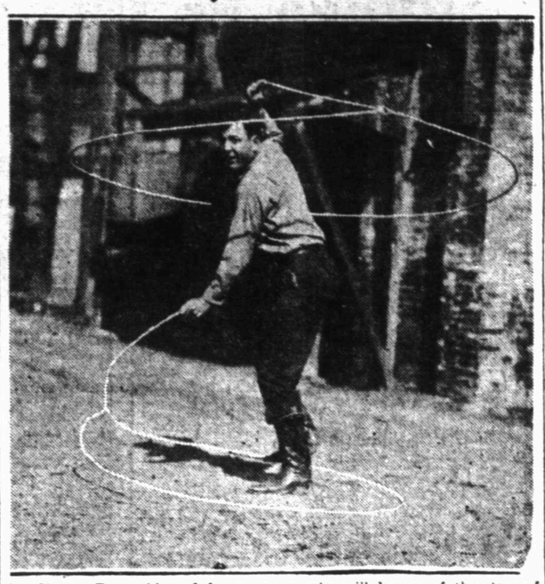

"Intelligent Self-Interest."

"Of those concerns which we commonly refer to as 'big business' I would not be surprised to find a considerable majority now evolving into this field. Thirty years ago we would not have believed this possible. Nor are these tendencies based upon any abandonment of self-interest as a motive power in production. Just a little more intelligent self-interest with perhaps a little larger proportion of that salt of altruism found in the impulse to personal accomplishment and in responsibility to widespread numbers—and to public opinion.

"He would be a rash man who would state that we are finally entering the industrial millennium, but there is here a great ray of hope that America is finding herself in a solution of the greatest of all her problems, that is a method by which social satisfaction is to be attained with the preservation of private industry, of initiative and full development of the individual. It is idle to argue that there are at times no conflicts of interest between the employe and the employer. But there are wide areas of activity in which their interests should coincide and it is the part of statesmanship on both sides to organize this identity of interests in order to limit the area of conflict. There is an identity of interest in the elimination of industrial waste. In all this setting it has become far more possible to deal with the problem of waste elimination than ever before in our history, for cooperative action is easier to summon today than ever before and more certain of action. To deal with waste by such action is to strengthen these very foundations of a better relationship between employer and employe.

"Labor can play a large par in these questions. Nor is labor's part that of distasteful speeding up to the ultimate production of nervous human wrecks. It lies in the study of where the major wastes of industry lie in relation to labor, where labor can play its part in the field of reduced wage or longer hours, but in the multiple directions of constructive action, decreased unemployment, decreased intermittent and seasonal employment, final extinction of individual restraint of effort, actual helpfulness in better method and broad policies, and thereby increased productivity. And labor has a right to insist upon its part of these savings."

Through A Woman's Eyes

Less Stress on the Brain.

Announcement Extraordinary: "Men are rushing to the plain girl!" It is Mr. W. L. George, that trained observer in matters of the heart, who points this out to us. Speaking of matrimony, he says, the "plain Jane" is at a premium today. She is the first to get a husband.

Come to think of it, we do see more and more attractive, clever women continuing to paddle their own canoes while little gray mice without beauty and not overlong on brains capture the best prizes in this matrimonial market.

Why? Mr. W. L George was not very explicit about the reason, so I asked a young man who is my authority on the masculine viewpoint. This what he said—and where he did not say it in so many words, it is what he meant.

"The plain girl scores over her more exceptional sister because she is less independent and more clinging. She feeds a man's vanity and nourishes his masculine sense of bigness. Usually she is more modest, more unassuming, more willing to sit and listen, to worship at the shrine of his intellect and his achievements.

"The beautiful girl, spoiled by excessive attention, is apt to be exacting, selfish, condescending.

"The intellectual girl is frequently too self-assertive; she is not restful. Her personality is aggressive rather than clinging and harmonious, and unless she is exceedingly pretty this robs her of her femininity. Even then, though she may be easy on the eyes, she is hard on the ego. And when that is so, she may as well be as dull as a moron and as homely as Medusa.

"For men want a refuge for their ego. Buffeted all day by an uncompromising world, they want to go home to someone who will warm and feed their self-esteem. Their superiority gland needs replenishing. And it is the plain girl who is best fitted to do this. That is why, though she may know the pangs of the wallflowers in her debutante days, she is at an advantage in the marriage market."

If the truth of this has already struck home to the consciousness of man a pretty, pert young miss who has seen formerly enthusiastic suitors shy away to become someone else's fiance, should she mar her beauty or chloroform her brain?

Heavens—no! It is not by sacrificing our advantages that we can steal a march on our competitors, but by acquiring theirs! A pretty face and a brain are woman's greatest assets in life. Only in anticipation of matrimony they should not be stressed—particularly not the brain! Occasionally it is quite all right to bring this out and show it off like an unusual piece of bric-a-brac or the best dishes. But for a steady diet, the more unobtrustive it is, the less stress laid on the special accessories and the more on the good home cooking and substantial comforts, the better!

Icelander and Englishman Will Race to North Pole; One to Use an Airplane

LONDON, April —Giving details of the plans for the British aerial expedition to the North Pole on which he intends to start next month, Grettir Algarsson, a young Icelander, says in the Daily Express today that the final dash will be made in a small nonrigid airship.

The ship will be 150 feet long and specially designed to withstand polar conditions. It will carry four passengers, a thirty-day food supply, special cooking stoves and spare gasoline as ballast. It also will take a small light sledge, on which, in case of accident, enough food can be packed to last until the crew find their way back to the base ship or reach the Alaskan coast.

Algarsson is eager to beat Captain Roald Amundsen, Norwegian explorer, who plans to make a similar expedition, also to start in May.

Algarsson's expeditonary ship, a small sailer, will start for Liverpool this week. The expedition will leave Liverpool for the north on May 1.

Algarsson, who hopes among other things to prove that the water at the Pole is shallow and that perhaps there is land there, describes the last dash as follows:

"We ought to reach the Pole in 12 hours. We will make a brief landing at the Pole for scientific observations. We intend to head straight for Nome, Alaska."

The Delco-Light Millions Have Waited For

F.O.B. DAYTON, O.

AS THE world's largest manufacturers of farm electric plants, we have been working for months on the development of a lighting plant that could be sold at a radically lower price—a price so low that it would bring electricity within the reach of every farm home in America.

We knew that a million farm homes were ready for electricity—that a million farmers realized the money-saving, time-saving value of electricity—that a million farm women had learned that electricity would lighten the burdens of farm life and bring new happiness and new opportunities to their families.

A Price That Is Revolutionary

We realized that a small reduction in price would not be enough. It must be revolutionary—drastic. And we wanted to be able to offer this plant on very easy terms—so that every farm home, whether owned or rented, could have the benefits that are so much appreciated on the 200,000 farms where Delco-Light is now in use.

And Now It's Ready

Today the new Delco-Light is ready. It is more than we had hoped. Quantity production—modern engineering—millions of dollars worth of machinery—research and invention—have produced the Delco-Light that can make all farms electrically lighted farms.

A 600-Watt Non-Storage-Battery Plant

The new plant is a genuine Delco-Light in every respect—full 600-watt capacity, strong, sturdily built, economical in operation. It is equipped with a standard Delco starter and an economical starting battery. And its price is only $195 f. o. b. Dayton—the lowest price and the greatest value ever offered in a Delco-Light electric plant.

Complete Installation at a Remarkably Small Cost

In addition to this, special arrangements have been made whereby the Delco-Light dealer in your community will install your plant and wire your house for five lights, to be located wherever you specify. You will receive with the plant five beautiful spun-brass lighting fixtures complete with bulbs.

And all of this—plant, installation, wiring, fixtures, everything ready to turn on the lights—will cost you only $53, in addition to the price of the plant itself.

A Small Down Payment —Balance on Easy Terms

Finally, we have arranged that this new low cost for Delco-Light, completely installed, can be paid on terms so easy that anyone can take advantage of them. The total cost is only $248, including freight (a little more west of the Mississippi). But you make only a small down payment. The balance is payable on easy terms, arranged to suit your convenience.

Ask for Details

Never before has such an offer been made. Never before has Delco-Light cost so little and been so easy to buy. It means that any farm home—your home—can have Delco-Light today.

At the bottom of this advertisement appear the name and address of the Delco-Light dealer for your community. Call on him, write, or telephone for full information—specifications of the plant, illustrations of the fixtures that come with it, details of our complete installation and wiring plan, and the figures that show how easily you can now get Delco-Light.

A Baker's Secret.

The word baker always suggests an expert in the culinary line. He is the one we expect to prepare new and tasty cakes, rolls, etc., which will appeal to both young and old.

A baker has chosen baking as his profession after careful apprenticeship and study. His success depends upon whether or not he pleases. One important point which insures the excellency of his dishes is the manner in which he prepares the food before cooking.

The baker knows which foods to put together to bring out the desired flavor, just how much Baking Powder to use, and what kind of sugar, spice and flavoring to use. The decorations which he also adds give just the necessary artistic touch, appealing even to the most jaded appetite.

The baker, unlike the average housewife, carefully weighs all supplies before they are mixed. He is never in such a hurry that he neglects the food he is baking. He does not guess, he knows, whether a food is right when it goes into the shop to be sold.

After all, the preparation of the product is just one of the baker's secrets. The combination of materials, the baking, temperature, seasoning, flavoring, grade of flour and the finished appearance, each contribute a share, but his greatest success lies in the fact that he knows when he sells a product that it is just right. He has made an art and a profession of foods. The housewife who does that will get great satisfaction out of her work.

Deep Fat Fring.

Deep Fat Frying is cooking by means of immersion in deep fat raised to a temperature of from 350-400 degrees F. Three pounds of leaf lard or a good vegetable aft are required for deep frying and a Scotch kettle is the best cooking utensil to use.

Great care should be taken in frying, that fat is of right temperature; otherwise food so cooked, will absorb fat.

Do not fry too much at one time, not only because it lowers the temperature of the fact, but it may cause it to bubble and go over the sides of the kettle. It is not the fat that boils but the water which the fat has received from the food. All fried food should be drained on brown paper to prevent greasiness.

RULES FOR TESTING DEEP FAT FOR FRYING

1. Drop an inch cube of bread, from soft part of loaf, and if in one minute it is golden brown, the fat is at the right temperature for frying any batter or dough.

2. If after heating the fat, an inch cube of bread is golden brown in 40 seconds, the fat is then of the right temperature for frying any cooked mixture.

TO CLARIFY

Melt fat, add raw potato, cut in quarter-inch slices, and allow fat to heat gradually; when fat ceases to bubble and potatoes are brown, strain carefully. The potatoes absorb any odors or gases and collect some of the sediment, the remainder settling to bottom of kettle.

Questions and Answers.

Answer: The dinner napkin is preferably folded in a square, but it is permissible to fold it in an oblong. It should further be folded in such a manner that it will be easy for the guest to open half way on his or her knees.

Question: Does the guest push in her chair on rising from the table?

Answer: No, the guest never pushes in her chair on rising from the table. She acts as though the chair came within the visual range of her blind spot. This appears to violate the rule of consideration for the waitress, yet it is quite an unchangeable convention.

Osborn and Pate Battle 14 Scoreless Chuckkers To Draw Verdict

BOB AND JOE EACH GIVE UP SIX SAFETIES

Airtight Support Holds Down Both Clubs In Great Game

ONE EXTRA-BASE HIT

Spudder Infield Pulls Off Trio of Double Plays

By BLONDY CROSS

When Robert Osborn, high powered Spudder starboarder, and Joe Pate, the wily Fort Worth southpaw, hook up you are always in for a real ball game. There was no exception to the case Tuesday afternoon at the Harvey plant.

The Cowtown veteran and our Robert battled through 14 more or less frantic stanzas to a draw verdict. Batting averages weren't worth a German mark in this high temperatured slab duel. For in 14 scoreless innings but an even dozen base knocks were collected by the two erstwhile ball murdering aggregations, and these safe clouts were divided equally between them.

Pate possibly had the edge on the Spudder hurler in that of the six hits combed from his southern exposure delivery not one went for more than a flitting single. Whereas our Robert was bruised in the eighth by Stump Edington for a double. Pate passed three. Osborn issued a quartet of four ball coupons. But the tall Spudder had Jacob's alleged ferocious Felines perfectly domesticated in the rounds he made the donations. Three out of four walks set the stage for double killings, or in other words, with exception of Stump's double the Cats couldn't hit Robert as hard as the Spudders did Josephus.

Those Double Plays.

After striking out Koney in the second, Osborn passed Palmer. Then the toiling slabster buckled down to work of whiffing Edington. Palmer set out for second on Stump's third swing, and Rubber Jonnard cut him down at the keystone with a rifle-like pelt to Distel. Windle drew a ticket in the third. There was none away, but Moore aviated to Callaghan in right. Pate hit into a snap double play, White to Distel to Golvin. Then again in the sixth a walk led to a two-ply murder of Cats on the paths. Windle pulled Bob for another donation, and was forced at second by Moore. Once more Pate was victim of the Spud inner works. He biffed a bounder at short. Distel took the pelt on the rip and chunked to White, killing off Possum. Al lined her on down to Golvin at the initial corner, turning Pate away.

Frying-pan colored clouds hung around and over the scene of conflict throughout. It was just about as gloomy in the first frame as it was at the close of the fourteenth when Umper Hill called off hostilities because of darkness. The atmosphere was frigid and wet enough (occasionally some cloud tipped over and split a few sprinkles) all the way to dampen the ardor of any bludgeoner. But taking it all in all, the drabness of the situation made it about an even break for both hitters and pitchers.

Can't Touch Osborn.

Distel punched Pate in the opening round for a snarling single to center. But there was one down, and Fitz and Bodie hoisted out. Callaghan beat a shrieking bingle to starboard in the third after two had gone. He was decapitated at second on an attempted pilfering foray. Moore to Windle. The Spudders menaced mildly in the fourth. We say mildly, because the threat failed to mature. After Distel had bounced out to second, Fitzgerald lofted one back of short that was lost in the wind by Windle. The short stop by a great effort got his hands on the sphere, but couldn' hold it. Pate passed Bodie. Dorman slapped an elbowk liner to right that seemed headed for virgin territory but Palmer raced back and while on the dead run clutched the cantaloupe in mid-flight. It was twilight robbery. Wasn't pulled in the daylight for there wasn't any. Golvin then flied out to right.

They couldn't touch Osborn for six and two-thirds couplets. It began to look like one of those oft talked of but seldom seen no-hit affairs in the offing. But with two away in the seventh Sears larruped a hair-raiser down first base way too torrid for Golvin to tag. Koney followed with a poke between short and third. It was the first Panther menace and a meager one at that for Palmer's best was a latent bounder to the box. Osborn took the play easily and tossed him out at first.

Edington's two-base bust caused a slight elevation of eyebrows in the Spudder dugout and near heart failure for several rabid fans in the stand. The clout came in the eighth with none away. Windle put him to third with a sacrifice tap down the first base line. It was a tense situation all right, all right with Possum Moore at bat. But Moore popped out to Distel, and Pate whiffed. Spudder maniacs nearly tore up the stand when Joe took his third cut.

The Spudders hinted at a run in the ninth when Distel led off with a clean drive to right center for a base. Fitz, trying to lay one down, popped out to Pate. Bodie struck out. George absconded with second, but Windle and Koney took care of grounder to short hit by Dorman.

Both Menace in Tenth.

Both clubs menaced in the tenth, but the threats served merely to make the hurlers tighten up, and lay 'em in there all the harder to hit. After the infield had retired a pair in the Cat portion of the chukker, Edington plumped a single to right and was followed by Windle with a duplicate poke to left, but Moore aviated to Callaghan.

White rifted a liner down first base way in the latter half of the tenth with one out. Jonnard popped to Koney, and Osborn followed with a saccharine swat to starboard. Pate walked Callaghan, loading the cushions. Distel was retired on ground ball to Palmer. That was the last indication made by our noble Spudders, for Joe tightened up the string and turned 'em back three in a row the remainder of the way.

Bob got in trouble in the twelfth, but pulled out in great style. Sears touched him for a bingle to left. Koney advanced the runner to second with a sacrifice bunt at third. With Palmer at bat Gilbert balked. Ziggy went to third. But Eddie struck out. Edington walked, and Windle went out, Distel to Golvin.

Battle at Short.

The affair was not only a pitchers' battle but a battle of shortstops. Time and again, the opposing shortfielders raced over and back to pick up near hits and cut the runners away at first. Both clubs fielded miraculously on occasions, and it was Distel and Windle, the infield timers, who showed the way. Base hits through the inner works were as scarce as safe knocks of other types greatly through the fielding of the shortstops.

Few putouts were made by the outfielders considering the length of the contest. Edington in right was kept fairly busy snagging a quintet of fly balls, and Callaghan got under four.

One fielding feat that brought yelps of glee from the fans, however, was enacted in the outer gardens. Bodie bucked up against the fence in the fifth and took a short jump to pull down what should have been a clean base blow by Palmer.

EIGHT HOMERS FOR EIGHT RUNS

SAN ANTONIO, April 28.—Ten home runs characterized the slugging on Bear Field Tuesday afternoon, marking the return of the Grizzlies to win the opening game with Waco, 10 to 8. Six of the homers were on the Bear side. One by Mike Meyers coming with the bases loaded. The Bears started the circuit smashing in the opening round when Danny Clark drove one over the right field fence, scoring Rosenthal and Washburn, after each had been passed with two down. Washburn also hit a homer with two on as did Stumpf for Waco in the eighth. Galloway sent in four pitchers in an effort to stem the tide but the Bears hit them all alike. The Bears have amassed a total of 99 runs in the last eight games played. The score:

Spudders Buy Pitcher Keefe From Portland

Metzler And Brown go To Ardmore—Drake Is Released

The purchase outright of Pitcher Dave Keefe from the Portland club of the Pacific coast league, the release of Spudder Pitcher Logan Drake, and the farming of Outfielder Alex Metzler and Pitcher Lloyd Brown to Ardmore of the Western association, was announced Tuesday at Spudder headquarters.

Metzler and Brown will go to George Whiteman's team with strings attached and it will not be surprising if Spudder fans see this pair again before the year is out.

Drake, a pitcher who was with the Spudders last year had worlds of stuff and a great change of pace, was forced to undergo amputation of the index finger on his pitching hand late last fall because of infection. He will leave Wichita Falls soon for his home in Spartanburg, S. C., where he intends to go to work in an iron foundry which is owned by the family, he said.

There is a possibility that Logan will play ball in South Carolina. By carrying along easily and strengthening his hand little by little, the three-fingered hurler stands in a great way of coming back just as good as ever, his followers say.

Harris and Blue Each Hurl No Hit Game, But Latter Loses, 1-0

MISCUES LEAD TO SECURITY'S CLOSE VICTORY

Two Errors And Sacrifice Bunt Scores Lone Tally

WEATHER IS HANDICAP

Woodson Fielding Sensation And Cuts Down Near Safeties

Bob Osborn and Joe Pate may have battled 14 innings yesterday at Spudder park and allowed only six safe clouts, but two of Wichita Falls' Twilight league hurlers weathered Tuesday's frigid air, and hurled no hit games. Gabe Harris of the Security National bank nine and Everett Blue of the Wichita Falls Electric company club are the slabsters who turned the trick.

But Blue and his Electrics lost the tilt, 1 to 0. The contest went the regulation Twilight league distance, seven innings. The lone marker was scored on a couple of infield miscues and a sacrifice bunt by Parker, sending Courtney across the pan.

Blue Wild at First.

The cold weather prevented clean fielding and several bobbles were made on balls that would otherwise have been fielded cleanly.

The Securities threatened to score in the first inning, but Blue warmed to the occasion and tightened. Blue started a trifle wild, but as the game progressed became better.

Montgomery, the first man up, was given four wild ones. While Flatt was striking out Montgomery stole second. Courtney was also passed to first on balls. Montgomery and Courtney pulled a double steal. Montgomery took third and Courtney second. Horton also walked, filling the bases. Parker fanned. Curren Brown hit to George at third who touched the bag forcing Courtney.

Dee Woodson saved the day for Blue twice. In the second his long running catch of Virgil Brown's line drive cut down what looked like a sure hit. In the fourth it was again at the expense of V. Brown that Woodson saved the day. With a man on first Brown slashed one through the infield. Woodson was playing close and with a fast play nailed Brown at first.

Errors Scattered.

In the seventh Montgomery went over back of second to snare V. Brown's hot grounder and threw him out at first.

The errors were well scattered through the seven frames, but on the only occasion that two came together it meant the winning and losing of a perfectly good ball game. Coolidge and George supplied the two bobbles that placed Courtney on third and Horton on first. Parker laid down a bunt in front of the plate and was thrown out by Norwood. Courtney beat the return throw to the platter for the winning run.

Benny Leonard Boasted Rare Combination of Intelligence and Fighting Ability, Writes Edgren

Retired Lightweight Champ Cleverest and One of Gamest to Ever Step in Ring

In his time Benny Leonard was one of the best fighting lightweight champions in ring history. He had a rare combination of intelligence and real fighting ability. As long as there were any real rivals to fight he went on fighting, but when he couldn't get a match without going into the welterweight class he stopped. He had enough money and he was weary of pugilistic prominence. He showed good sense in dropping out without waiting until, "old age grabbed him," as Joe Gans used to say.

Benny was born in New York and did his fighting as a schoolboy. It doesn't show on the record books, but when Benny was about 15 he fought an unofficial 20-round fight that went the full distance. It was held in a back yard.

Benny broke into boxing professionally by climbing through a window into the old Fairmont A. C., run by Billy Gibson in the Bronx. Many famous encounters were held in the old Fairmont and the boys used to slip in to see them. Billy Gibson let the boys train in his club gymnasium, and Benny began boxing there. He soon attracted Gibson's attention, and Billy gave him a chance in a preliminary bout. Benny started with a burst of wild energy and excitement, like other amateurs, and knocked out several opponents, making such a good showing that Gibson offered to manage him. The arrangement between them held, without a written contract, through all of Benny's fighting career. Leonard and Gibson have always been closest friends. They've never had a disagreement over money matters or anything else. This establishes a world's record for fighter and manager.

After his first knockout flurry Benny settled down to become a scientific boxer. He won decisions easily, showing a lot of speed and skill, but delivered so few knockout blows that he became known as "the feather duster puncher."

In 1915 Leonard boxed no-decision bouts with Johnny Dundee, Johnny Kilbane, Patsy Cline, Johnny Drummie, Jimmy Duffy, Frankie Callahan, Joe Azevedo and other famous boxers of that period. He had no trouble winning decisions but showed no great hitting ability.

Billy Gibson, thinking Benny had gone as far as he could without a punch, sat down one evening and said: "Benny, you can outbox all the boys now, but it isn't getting you anywhere. There never was a champion without a punch. You've got to study hitting and learn how to deliver a knockout."

Studied Punch

Next day Benny began a scientific research into the gentle art of dropping 'em for the 10 count. He admits today that he knows more about anatomy and how to scientifically reach the knockout points than any other fighter—and perhaps he does.

When he fought his next battle, against Joe Mandot of New Orleans, who was a near-champion in those days, Benny startled his followers by knocking Mandot cold with an unexpected punch in the seventh round.

At once Benny became a knockout artist. He flattened them one after another, knocking out Joe Welsh, Phil Bloom (the iron man), Shamus O'Brien, Ever Hammer, Packey Hommey, Ritchie Mitchell and several others.

Then, in 1917, he knocked out Freddy Welsh in nine rounds and won the world's lightweight championship that he has held for eight years.

That was a great fight. Welsh had every defensive trick in the world. Leonard weakened him with body blows, knocked him down in the eighth, and two or three times in the ninth, finally knocking him across the ropes and keeping him hanging there with sharp right hand hooks until referee McPartland jumped in. Welsh collapsed as Benny stopped hitting, and sunk to the floor.

Fighting Champ.

Leonard was a fighting champion. He fough the Monday night following the Welsh fight. He fought as often as he could get matches. He knocked out Leo Johnson, the negro champion, in one round, shortly after winning the title. He knocked out Johnny Kilbane in three rounds, knocked out Willie Ritchie in eight, Young Erne in six, Charlie White in nine, Rocky Kansas in eight, and a score of other well known fighters in from one to 14 rounds. During the war Leonard was boxing instructor at Camp Upton, where he did a lot of good work.

Benny always fought scientifically. He boxed for openings, and then let go the punches intended for a knockout. He took risks that few champions take. He was knocked down and nearly out by both Ritchie Mitchell and Charlie White, and knocked them both out in the follwing rally. He was a thoroughly game fighter, and a student of fighting. Several fighters gave him a tough battle the first time they met, and were outclassed by Leonard in a second fight. Leonard had intelligence. He could learn. A bout wasn't just a haphazard mauling match with him. He studied his men, and beat them by playing on their weak points.

"Benny," said a friend of his last year, "you can go on fighting for a long time. Nobody has any chance to beat you."

"You're wrong," said Benny. "As soon as I slow up a little bit some boy will come along with a faster and better left hand and beat me. I'm going to stop fighting when I feel that I'm slowing up. I'm not going to wait to be knocked out."

Benny didn't wait. And unless Benny is persuaded to try to "come back" when he has really begun to slow up through ring inactivity we'll all have to admit that Benny has brains.

ST. LOUIS WINS LONG ONE

DETROIT, April 28.—Although Davis was wild, allowing 10 walks and hitting one batsman, Detroit was unable to hit his offerings and St. Louis won a 10 inning game, 5 to 3, here today. The visitors had men on bases in every inning, but Gerber's error in the fourth after two were out, helped Detroit score three runs. It was Detroit's seventh straight defeat and the 14th consecutive game in which Sisler had hit safely. The score:

Lake Wichita to Get Fish Shipment; State Hatchery May Be Located in County

State Fish Commissioner Visits Here on Inspection Trip of Three Big Lakes

Lake Wichita is to get enough fish, crappie, brim, perch and striped bass, to put her back in rank with other fishing waters of Texas. Such was the information divulged Tuesday morning by State Fish and Game Commissioner, Turner E. Hubby, on his departure for Austin after a two-day's inspection of Lake Kemp, Diversion lake, and Lake Wichita.

That is not all. Wichita Falls has first call on a new state fish hatchery to be installed somewhere in Texas in the next two months. Mr. Hubby came here with a view to inspecting the locality for a hatchery. So well pleased was he that within the next two weeks a commission will visit Wichita Falls and look over the land. The hatchery will be awarded next month, Mr. Hubby stated.

Two Wardens Here.

Two fish wardens will be sent to district three within the next two weeks. They will have jurisdiction over Wilbarger, Baylor, Wichita, Archer and Clay counties. One will be stationed at Lake Kemp, the other will divide his time between Lake Wichita and Diversion lake.

Mr. Hubby was brought to Wichita Falls by E. G. Hill and Joe Carrigan, two local sportsmen, who accompanied the officials Monday afternoon on an inspection trip of the three big lakes.

The commissioner expressed himself as well pleased with the three lakes, Lake Kemp in particular coming in for many gratifying remarks, the official stating that in his statewide inspection trips of the past two months he had not seen any lake to compare with Lake Kemp as a fishing and pleasure resort.

The waters in the three lakes are ideal for perch and crappy, and Mr. Hubby promised a special shipment within the next month, to be divided among the three lakes. This is exclusive of the shipment of brood fish to be sent especially for Lake Wichita.

Dallas Supervisor Here.

R. B. Ridgeway, supervisor of district three with headquarters at Dallas, came to Wichita Falls Tuesday morning, and remained over last night, returning to Dallas today. Mr. Hubby left yesterday afternoon for Austin.

Both officials expressed pleasure with the co-operation the state department has been receiving from the Wichita area, no complaints of law violations have been reported from any of the three lakes yet.

Yesterday Mr. Ridgeway spoke to members of the North Texas Fish and Game association in which he stressed the need of conserving our fish and game supply. He called attention to the new fish and game laws passed by the recent legislature. These laws have not yet been published and many sportsmen are unacquainted with the new provisions of the law. He urged that all fishermen obtain a copy of the bill before Friday when the fishing season opens and thus avoid future trouble.

Light Weight!

3 H. P. Fast, Light "Twin"

THE fastest, most powerful of light weight outboard motors—the lightest motor per H.P. Built around big bearings. The ELTO has more than double the bearing surface of other light weight outboard motors which means durability and long service life without constant repair.

Starts on first quarter turn because improved waterproof battery ignition gives big, hot spark independent of cranking speed. Battery lasts entire season and is renewable anywhere. No parts to be returned to factory for remagnetizing. No boat vibration—silent under-water exhaust—weedless—perfect trolling speed. The perfected motor of Ole Evinrude, pioneer designer of outboard motors. Sold only under the name "ELTO." Writefor catalog.

If the Shoe Fits You—Wear It!

We don't know whether Buddy Tanner or Jakie Atz cracked this wise one, but we do know that is why so many men are asking for

Bion F. Reynolds Shoes

It's the fit that tells and with its combination last the Reynolds Shoe has certainly said a lot. We have them in black and tan for young men and men who think that they are young. Better come by today and give those tired feet a laugh or two.

As the summer season advances, light-weight felt hats will be noted in greater numbers. Shades of gray are in a strong position to repeat their popularity of last season, with tan felt hats running a close second. While straw hats flaunt fancy bands, the light-weight felts are without this colorful note.

How Often Do You Use Your Telephone?

Do you use your residence telephone often enough to warrant the expense of a "one-party-line?" Consider the number of hours that your line is not in use, and you will probably conclude that a

By sharing your line with another subscriber you not only save money, but you enable the Telephone Company to add more telephones to the exchange—and thus make your telephone more valuable. For the value of—increases in proportion to the number of other telephones you can be connected with. In other cities where "selective-ringing" service is offered, residence subscribers find that this service satisfactorily meets their needs.

Economic Issues Face Soviet Communist Meet

Over 500 Delegates Attend Russian Congress At Kremlin

TROTZKY IS DELAYED

Believed That Ex-Leader Will Regain All His Lost Popularity

MOSCOW, April 28.—More than 500 delegates from all parts of Russia are attending the 14th congress of the communist party which opened yesterday in the Kremlin.

Former Minister Trotzky, whose presence was expected to be the chief feature of the gathering, has postponed his departure from Sukhum for another fortnight in order to complete a book.

Meanwhile he has been given a new lease of political life and his friends are sanguine that he will soon receive a responsible place in the government and gradually retrieve his former popularity and prestige.

Another feature of the congress doubtless will be M. Zinovieff's report on the movement for a world revolution. He will inform the delegates, it is understood, that although no direct revolutionary situation exists either in the United States or Germany "a revolutionary situation in general exists throughout the world" and he will emphasize the need for the Russian communists giving their constant support to revolutionary movements in other countries with the ultimate goal of a world revolution in view.

Communist Party Is Asked to Striks As Hindenburg Goes In

BERLIN, April 28.—The communist organ Rote Fahne (Red Flag) today publishes an open letter to the trade union and socialist executives urging a 24-hour strike on the day of Field Marshal Von Hindenburg's entry into Berlin to assume the presidency to which he was elected Sunday.

RUSSIA IS ASTONISHED.

People Had Believed Hindenburg Had Little Chance.

MOSCOW, April 28.—News of the election of Hindenburg was received with astonishment in soviet Russia, where people had been led to believe that the aged military leader had little chance of success. His triumph is especially unwelcome to the Russian communists who know his avowed hostility to bolshevism.

Paris Police Find Arms in Homes of Alleged Reds.

PARIS, April 28. — Police today searched 16 houses where secretaries of communist organizations resided found literature and lists of members and seized some daggers and revolvers. English Standard Of Gold Restored

LONDON, April 28. — The gold standard will be restored dating from today by a special license to the Bank of England to export gold bullion, it was announced by Winston Churchill, chancellor of the exchequer, in his budget speech in the house of commons this afternoon.

The bank's special icense, Mr. Churchill said, would operate from today pending the formal lapsing on December 31, next, of the 1920 act prohibiting the export of gold bullion.

SEARCH FOR LOST BOY

ST. LOUIS, April 28.—Search continued here today for "Jimmie" Crowder, three-year-old boy, who disappeared late yesterday when his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. William Crowder, were injured in a collision between a motorcycle and side car, in which they were riding, and an automobile. The parents were in a serious condition in a hospita while police today were unable to determine whether Jimmie, also injured, was picked up by passing motorists or had wandered away unharmed.

STERLING HAS ADVANCE

High Price Reached On News of English Gold Permit.

Suppressed College Comic Put On Sale But Features Are Censored By the Law

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., April 28. — While an edition of the Harvard Lampoon, student humorous publication recently barred from the mails because of alleged indecent pictures, went on sale today copies of the Harvard Advocate were being detained by Cambridge postal authorities pending a decision from Washington on one int in the issue which they believed may be ruled indecent.

The current issue of the Advocate is a burlesque of the Dial. The picture to which the postal authorities' attention is drawn is entitled "Nero Platonic Love" depicting an embracing couple.

In the Lampoon issue which was withheld from the mails the authorities objected to the use of the American flag in a comic cover design showing Washington crossing the Delaware and to a picture of a nude woman.

Now the flag on the cover is white and a white space has been ruled off on the nude woman in which the following appears under the caption "Puris omnia pura:" "Part of this picture is omitted in this edition in deference to the tastes and prejudices of sundry nasty minded Torquemandas and Dogberrys. Art lovers may see the original of the painting by Manet excellently reproduced among the university prints which are on sale at the Fogg are museum and the Harvard Cooperative Society."

Black and Blue Armies Both Say They Won "War"

Heavy "Casualties" Are Sustained by "Blues" In Landing

CAPTURE SOME LAND

Umpires Now Considering Claims of Victory By Both Sides

HONOLULU, April 28.—The grand fleet of the United States exemplified the weakness of the defense of the Island of Oahu, the purported center of the nation's web of defense in the Pacific when it delivered its main attack in the joint army and navy maneuvers which ended at noon yesterday in the vicinity of Haliewa, on the northwest coast of the island.

Feint Attacks.

The attack was preceded by a feint attack at Maunalua bay and a secondary attack at Barber's point. The attacking fleet forces were known as the "blues" while the island defending land forces were known as the "blacks." All the attacks were preceded by a preparatory barrage by bombers of the "blue" ships and a subsequent landing which was accompanied by heavy "losses" on the part of the "blues." The landing parties, however, were successful to a certain extent in that they occupied a considerable number of "black" entrenched places.

The main attack of the "blue" fleet was delivered shortly after zero hour — dawn—between Waialua and Kawaihapai where a large number of "blue" troops landed successfully despite heavy "casualties." The landing forces took up an initial position on the beach preparatory to developing arrangements for assaulting the "black" defenders further inland.

Some casualties to the "blue" forces resulted from the heavy surf which made landing difficult.

Meet Heavy Fire.

The attackers were met by heavy fire from machine gunners, rifles and mobile artillery, the latter being placed in fields to make the location of the guns difficult to ascertain from the sea.

The weight of numbers was on the side of the "blue" force and the "black" first line of defense fell back to previously prepared positions. Reinforcements which had been pressed forward to that sector by the "black" commanding general failed to repel th "blue" attack.

The entire engagement was marked by intense aerial activity on both sides, considerable damage and casualties being inflicted, of which no account has yet been determined.

The umpires are now considering the conflicting claims of the high command of both forces in an effort to ascertain who won the "war."

ST. LOUIS, April 28.—An unidentified bandit about 25 years old was shot to death here late last night when he and two companions, also unidentified, attempted to hold up Patrolman Harry Cramer. The dead man was not identified today, while police sought the other two who escaped.

In civilian clothes Cramer was driving to his North Side home after visiting a friend. He had climbed from his automobile to repair a punctured tire when three men approached with the command "throw up youh hands" and leveled revolvers. Simultaneously Cramer drew his own weapon and replied: "Throw 'em up yourself—I'm a policeman."

Cramer was uninjured in the exchange of shots.

MARKETS

N. Y. Stocks

NEW YORK, April 28.—Chief financial interest today centered in Great Britain's decision to restore the gold standard which was immediately reflected in an advance of about 3 cents in sterling exchange, which touched $4.84, the highest price in 10 years and within 3 cents of parity. The stock market apparently had discounted the news, prices holding firm with the volume of trading about the smallest of any full day session since the election day.

Most of the so-called pivotal shares closed higher on the day. United States Steel common touched 115⅝ and then slipped back to 115½, where it was up ⅝ on the day. The quarterly report, showing net earnings of nearly $39,000,000 which was issued after the market closed, was about in line with Wall street's expectations. Most of the independent steels also closed fractionally higher.

Sharp gains were recorded by some of the standard industrials, in which large short interest is believed to have accumulated. Baldwin closed 2 points higher at 113 after selling slightly above that figure, and American Can showed a net gain of 2¾ points at 172½, after having touched 173.

Wide fluctuations again took place in some of the high priced specialties. Federal Light and Traction soaring nearly 9 points to 144¾, in reflection of the stockholders' approval of the capital re-adjustment plan. United States Cast Iron Pipe jumped 8½ points to 156 and then sagged to 154 on profit taking.

There were several strong spots in the rail group, Western Pacific standing out with a gain of 4⅝ points at 41. New high prices for the year were recorded by Norfolk and Southern, Seaboard Air Line common and preferred and International Railways of Central America. Net gains of a point or more also were recorded by Atlantic Coast Line, Chesapeake and Ohio, Chicago Great Western, the Erie issues, Gulf, Mobile and Northern, Northern Pacific and "Katy" preferred.

Sugar shares were reactionary in reflection of the declining tendency of commodity prices. Cuba cane preferred dropping 1½ points to a new low record for the year.

Call money renewed at 4 per cent and then dropped to 3½ where it closed. Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged with business quiet.

The sharp rise in sterling overshadowed all other developments in the foreign exchange market and brought about sympathetic advices in other European rates. French francs ruled about 3½ points higher around 5.21½ cents. Dutch guilders soared 8 points to 40.10 cents in reflection of the announcement that Holland and the Dutch East Indies would return to the gold standard with England.

Opening: May, 23.92; July, 24.25; October, 23.62; December, 23.69; January, 23.67 bid.

NEW ORLEANS, April 28.—The cotton market was a comparative quiet affair today and the general trend was downward, although at the start prices improved owing to the prompt stoppage of May notices in New York. First trades were 8 to 9 points up and during the morning October traded up to 23.67, or 12 points net higher compared with yesterday's close. That month declined 33 points during the later trading to 23.34 and closed at 23.38 or 17 points down for the day. The general list declined 8 to 17 points on the day.

It was reported that notices for 120,000 bales of May deliveries were issued in New York and promptly stopped by the interests issuing them. This excited a stimulating influence during the first half of the morning helped by good cables and the sharp advance in sterling exchange to a new high point since the war. The report that the British chancellor of the exchequer had stated in parliament that the prohibition on the export of gold was to be removed at once was taken to mean that Great Britain would go back to the gold standard.

The weakness of the second half of the session which carried July down to 23.97 or 30 points below the early highs was due mainly to reports of more Texas rains, although the downward trend was checked for a time by reports of a cold wave and fears of possible frost.

The slight rally at the end was due to moderate covering induced probably by the possible effect of England and the Netherlands restoring the gold standard.

Exports today, 6,255 bales.

Approval of Park Paving Given By C. of C. Directors

A resolution calling upon the Wichita county commissioners to proceed at once with the letting of a contract for the paving of the new south side park with connections at the foot of Harrison and Holliday streets was passed at Tuesday's meeting of the directors of the chamber of commerce following a report of W. R. Hamilton, chairman of the city plans committee on the progress that had been made up to date in the matter. The immediate need for the paving was expressed by several, and the action met with no opposition.

An expenditure of $5,000 for the issuance of an illustrated booklet, 10,000 copies, carrying information on Wichita county and Wichita Falls was authorized at the meeting. The directors also approved the report of the special committee of the business council on the question of opening a road through the Oak street section of the city to give openings to the south on Ohio, Indiana, Scott and Lamar avenues.

A report on what other sections of West Texas and elsewhere are doing with their irrigation projects was heard from Hubert Harrison, who has just returned with P. A. Rogers from a trip of inspection in these sections, lasting more than three weeks. The trip was financed by the Wichita Falls Electric company, of which Mr. Rogers is manager here.

The report of Burton Stayton, chairman of the trade extension committee on the progress that was being made in getting tickets for the Red River valley special to the Mineral Wells convention of the West Texas chamber of commerce sold was heard and some approval expressed at the statement that 80 tickets had already been disposed of.

Those attending the meeting included: President, J. T. Harrell, W. D. Cline, J. C. Mytinger, Judge A. H. Britain, Carter McGregor, W. P. Ferguson, W. B. Hamilton, J. S. Bridwell, T. P. Duncan, Jack Barnard and P. A. Rogers.

Eighty Tickets Sold For Big C. of C. Trip

Eighty tickets for the Wichita Falls Business Men's trip to the West Texas chamber of commerce convention at Mineral Wells next week had been sold up until yesterday morning a tabulation of returns of those working up the trip showed at the meeting of the trade extension committee of the chamber of commerce.

With eighty sold but 20 remain out of the 100 that are expected from Wichita Falls and, according to Burton Staton, chairman of the committee, little difficulty is expected in disposing of the remainder.

Plans for the trip call for the train carrying besides the Wichita Falls delegation a number from other communities in Wichita and adjoining north Texas counties, to leave Wichita Falls Monday evening, spend Tuesday in Mineral Wells, returning thereafter. A Wichita Falls band will accompany the tradesters on the trip and provide the needed music and pep.

The tickets, providing for everything except meals, are costing $20 each.

Johnson Urges More Smiles Before Club

"Happiness is essential to any business," read Rev. Walter A. Johnson, from a specially prepared paper for members of the University club when he appeared before them Tuesday at their weekly luncheon held at the Kemp hotel.

In his paper he urged the men to smile more, make more hearts happy. The most useful and successful person is one who can smile and make others smile.

Rev. Johnson stated that life is a song and God makes the music and we set the words to it. He also said if a person would make one person happy every day that in 10 years he would have made 3,600 persons happy.

The speaker closed his paper by saying "Our lives are what we make them and the one and only great thing in this life is doing something good for the other person."

Maskat's Best Appear Tuesday Night In Big Vaudeville Presentation

Maskat's best in real vaudeville song, dance, in everything, that's what Wichita Falls and most of Wichita Falls was there, saw at the Wichita theatre last night. There was the young girl who could sing the dapper young chap with the best jokes in the current issue of the Literary Digest at his tongue's end, the dramatic reader, the danseuses, and four gentlemen, whose every note was acoustically accurate, whether it was an extract from "Doo-Dle-De-Do" or some negro spiritual.

It was an hour's real entertainment, hardly more, and a packed house clapped and laughed its appreciation, and then left laughing, not a bit hard-boiled.

Sportlights Open It.

Grantland Rice's sportlights opened the program. The way of the athlete," it might have been called, a clever motion picture prelude with the newest in the world of athletics its inspiration. Then came Herman Munden, with a brand new set of jokes and chatter which won him many a deserved laugh.

Mrs. J. S. Pittman read someone's "Sail On" with all the seriousness and tenseness that must have pervaded the good ship Isabelle itself at the moment described. Her encore consisted of advice to married and forlorn, "The Street in Heaven Called Broadway." To both selections she was accompanied at the piano by her husband.

Miss Kahn Dances.

The dancing part came next. Miss Anna Ruth Kahn mixing the military with the petulant and marching all the while she danced. Little Jane Rahl did a mechanical doll dance, then Miss Kahn returned for an Egyptian number. Kisses were the encore of both dancers. The blandishments filled the room, and won't be forgotten soon.

Jazz incarnate came from Conan Cantwell and Miss Irene Taylor in their "blues songs," something at it Nobody Knows and "When My Sweetie Goes Marching Down the Street." Miss Taylor sang and Mr. Cantwell played the piano.

Chanters at End.

The program was ended with the Maskat chanters, Fred Van Alstyne, R. Vaughn Ray, Grover Bullington, and Ivan Mortimore, singing "Doo-Dle-De-Do," "Red Hot Mamma," and a group of negro spirituals.

The Shrine band played the post lude.

An announcement was made by Mrs. Hemoine Vaughn of the presentation of the Junior High school's operetta, "Rumpelstiltskin," soon.

The Old Home Town

A large number of non-jury civil suits have been set for trial in the county court at law during the week of May 4, Judge McFarland announced Tuesday.

Sam Wilson left Tuesday afternoon on a short business trip to Fort Worth. He will return Thursday.

R. K. Rathford, a Dallas attorney, was in the city Tuesday on legal business.

County Tax Assessor Arthur C. Howard was confined to his home Tuesday by illness.

Four marriage licenses were issued Tuesday by the county clerk's office. They were as follows: Leopold Gutierrez, Wichita Falls, and Roza Carrizales, Wichita Falls; E. R. Sellers, Wichita Falls, and Mrs. Nellie Jones, Wichita Falls; Sam F. Cox, Wichita Falls, and Mrs. Clara Lane, Wichita Falls; James Thomas, Burkburnett and Miss Vina Watts, Burkburnett.

P. B. Curd, public utilities commissioner of Wichita Falls left Tuesday morning for Louisville, Ky., to attend the annual convention of the American Waterworks association, now in session there.

Council to Take No Action on Plea For Change in Highway

The city council will take no official action on the recent request of W. F. Weeks that the new paved road to run through the city's south side park and golf grounds be laid out to connect with Harrison street rather than Holliday. It is the belief of city officials that inasmuch as the county is interested in the matter and is sharing a heavier expense than the city on the Holliday project, any action looking to a change should come from that source.

Paverd From Eleventh.

As now planned, Holliday street is to be paved south from Eleventh street to the city limits. The new park roadway, it is contemplated, will connect with the termination of this and meander through the grounds to an ultimate connection with the lake road at a point near the asylum grounds.

Mr. Weeks has suggested that a more economical route can be obtained by utilizing the wide boulevard to be paved by W. B. Hamilton and N. H. Martin as a part of their development program in territory just west of the city park. This boulevard will connect at Harrison street and skirt the western edge of the park grounds.

Wants a Change.

In view of this, Mr. Weeks, who donated the ground for the new park, stipulating only that a paved road should be put through it, has asked that the paving be so arranged as to branch out from the Hamilton-Martin boulevard, which in turn will connect Harrison street, and run from the boulevard connection on to the lake road. He maintains that the park road, if this is done, will be shortened considerably and that its cost will be reduced at least one half.

Construction work is soon to start on a new 40-room modern and completely equipped hospital to cost in the neighborhood of $150,000, it was announced Tuesday by Drs. M. M. Walker, R. L. Hargraves and R. H. Graham. Plans for the structure have been completed and excavations for the basement will begin within a week.

The hospital is to be erected at the corner of Grave and Eleventh on what is known as the A. H. Brittain property.

Three stories in height, the building will be of fireproof construction throughout. It will cover a land area 46 by 110 feet, with the main entrance fronting on Eleventh. The first floor will have offices and reception rooms, while the two upper floors will have rooms for patients, as well as two modern operating rooms.

Big Arena Is Ready For Thurs. Opening Of Burnett's Rodeo

Finishing touches have been placed on a special arena on the Burnett ranch where Tom L. Burnett's rodeo opens Thursday for a four days session.

With the arrival of the carnival company which will pitch its tented shows and riding devices just outside the main entrance to the arena and with the many concessionaries and workmen finishing work, the arena Tuesday was a busy scene.

It is said that the champion of every line of cowboy sport will defend his title at the Triangle rodeo from the "king of bulldoggers" down to fancy roping where Chester Byers, called by many the "grand old man of the lariat" will as usual give the other twirlers of the fancy lariat a few lessons in the arena. Byers has held the championship for the past nine years.

At noon Thursday a free barbecue will be given thousands. Bill Smith of Electra will be the chef in charge with thousands of pounds of beef over barbecue pits to roast.
