WORSHAM NO. 3 IS BLOWN IN

600 BBLS. MAY BE YIELD, OIL PRODUCERS SAY

Gulf Test East Of Henrietta Given Big Nitro Shot

IS HIGH GRAVITY

Flows 50 Bbls. In Hour And Bridges Over 400 From Bottom

Special to The Record News.

HENRIETTA, April 18.—Given a 70 quart nitro shot from a depth of 3,830 feet, the Gulf Production company's Worsham No. 3 on the Worsham ranch 12 miles east of here flowed 50 barrels in a hour, oil flowing over the derrick and then bridging over 400 feet from the bottom early Friday afternoon.

Oil men present estimated the well good for from 400 to 600 barrels when cleaned out, and a flowing well is predicted. Oil from this test shows gravity of 46.7, the highest of any crude in the southwest. The crude has tested 50 per cent gasoline content. This fact alone has been spoken of by oil men here as making the value commensurate with the depth at which the oil is found.

Offsets No. 1.

The No. 3 test is an offset to the original Worsham No. 1 which more than a year ago was brought in for 250 barrels and is at present making 100 barrels a day.

The Worsham test's success yesterday has had a wonderful affect on this city. It confirms the fact apparent since the No. 1 test came in on the Worsham ranch that a new field of the highest gravity oil in the mid-continent field is being opened. More than 250 people from Henrietta, Bowie, Bellevue, Ringgold and other nearby towns were present when the nitroglyverine was applied yesterday.

U.S.-World Court Plan Up for Public Hearing

"FIRED," DRY AGENT ASSERTS

Says He Got Too Much Evidence On Booze Ring Smuggling

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 18.—Testimony at an unexpectedly arranged session today of the senate committee investigating the department of justice dealth with a variety of subjects, including mysterious disappearances of confiscated liquors, bootlegging and bootlegging prosecution, and war fraud cases.

Once or twice committee members balked at the ramifiontions introduced, notably when one witness said he had heard that "two bottles" of confiscated intoxicants had been sent at one time to the office of Speaker Gillett of the house. Mr. Gillett later denied the charge.

Scalfe Testifies.

H. L. Scalfe, former investigator of war fraud cases, introduced the subject of whiskey smuggling through Savannah, and then was excused to permit Clarke Greer, another former agent of the department of justice, to tell about that matter from first hand information.

Greer said in 1921 he developed he facts as to extensive conspiracy for importing of liquor through Savannah, and was discharged almost immediately "through the influence of John L. Phillips, republican state chairman for Georgia."

"NO TRUTH IN IT."

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 18. — Speaker Gillett in a formal statement late today declared there was not the "slightest truth in the testimony (before the Daugherty investigating committee) that liquor from the department of justice went to my office."

SHEPPARD ENDORSED

By The Associated Press.

TEXARKANA, Tex., April 18.—Morris Sheppard, senior Texas senator, was endorsed for the presidency by the Bowie county democratic executive committee at Boston today.

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON April 18.—Proposals for American adherence to the world court which have been slumbering in the senate foreign relations committee will be brought out for a public hearing in the near future.

This was decided upon today by the committee but Chairman Lodge and other members declared this did not mean an early report would be made to the senate on any of the several propositions that have been advanced, among them the original proposal submitted by President Harding more than a year ago.

Committee action today was confined to the granting of a request of a number of organizations favorable to the world court idea that they be heard. A sub-committee of five, with Senator Pepper, republican, Pennsylvania, as chairman, was named to conduct the hearings.

Senators said there had been little discussion in the committee and there were no renewals of charges recently made in the senate by Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the democratic leader, that Senator Lodge was preventing action on the matter. At that time the republican leader declared no senators had pressed for action and that they could do so, any time.

Lansing Disqualified For Claims Commission

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 18.—Indications were given at the White House today that the appointment of Robert Lansing as an American member of one of the two Mexican claims commission, has been prevented by the development that the former secretary of state in his legal capacity represented some interests likely to become claimants before the commission.

President Coolidge regards Mr. Lansing as an ideal man for a place on one of the commissions, but the inquiry brought out that some of his legal connections would prevent him from accepting the appointment.

MURDER CHARGED.

By The Associated Press.

BALLINGER, Texas, April 18.—Indictments were returned by the grand jury here today against Reuben Cope of Norton and L. P. Kirk of Abilene, charging them with murder in connection with the death of Crawford A. Tabor, who was shot to death on a highway 14 miles northwest of Ballinger on the night of December 19, 1923.

Firemen Caught As Walls Fall; Many Injured

CHICAGO, April 18.—Five firemen are known to have been killed and a score of other firemen and spectators were buried beneath the falling walls of a burning four story box factory on the west side tonight. Many of those buried in the debris are believed to have perished.

Names of three of the firemen known to have perished are: Capt. John Brennan, Mike Devine and Francis Levy.

Henry Deohring, James Carroll and Robert Davy, three other firemen, are in a hospital not expected to live and 12 other firemen and two spectators are missing.

A dozen firemen were standing on the fire escape between the second and third floors when th roof of the stone building crashed in, carrying down two floors beneath. The wall against which the firemen were grouped collapsed and the firemen were thrown into the flaming debris.

A water tower which had been place in front of the building was wrecked when the building collapsed and a dozen more firemen and spectators who had crowded through police lines were struck by bricks and stones. Some of these are believed to have been killed or injured so badly thy may die.

The factory building was occupied by the Elegant Paper Box company and the Illinois Leather Goods company.

Battalion Chief Kerr in charge of the firemen in the building when it collapsed said the fire started on the fourth floor from an unknown cause and that his men were on the third floor working to confine the flame to the floor above them.

He saw the roof start to buckle and ordered all men out of the building. Some of them stepped to an adjoining building but several elected to go down the fire escape. The battalion chief said he believed a gas pocket had formed as the wall was pushed out when the roof collapsed. Some of the firemen, he said, were thrown clear of the falling walls by the force of the explosion but he estimated that about half a dozen had fallen back into the blazing building.

Stamp Collectors Bankrupt Somaliland Post Department

LONDON.—The fact that stamp collectors apparently are overstocked for the moment, with the issues of Somaliland, has brought about a financial crisis in the affairs of the postoffice department of that country. In explaining that the department was insolvent the official in charge said the revenue for 1923 was $6,100, a decrease of $9,310 over the previous year "due to the demands of philatelists being satisfied."

Underwood Too Wet, M'Adoo Too Oily-Neff

By The Associated Press.

MARLIN, Texas, April 18.—Texas democrats will not be able to carry W. G. McAdoo and his heavy fees to a progressive victory, Governor Pat Neff declared here tonight. In other states, progressive democrats have been beaten because of the burden of "McAdoo and his shady clients" was too much, the governor said. It was his third speech today, the others being at Mart and Groesbeck.

"McAdoo in his Dallas speech said that my attitude in Texas was contributing to the victory of the wet element in the party," Governor Neff said. "It may be all right for a stranger from California to say I am aiding the wet, but no one in Texas will believe it.

"McAdoo is, by course, however, contributing to the cause of the wets, for the reason that the prohibition democrats are not able to carry him and his shady clients. He is forcing himself as an issue in all the states and the progressive prohibition democrats, in the selection of their delegates, find him to be a liability and not an asset and are therefore meeting with defeat.

"In Wisconsin and in Illinois, the progressive democrats might have won but for the fact that they could not carry McAdoo.

Sen. Oscar Underwood is "too wet and McAdoo's too oily" was the slogan into which the governor crystalized his plea at Groesbeck for a Texas delegation to the national democratic convention instructed only to principles.

ALIEN ENTRIES HIT AS SENATE O. K.'S MEASURE

Immigration Bill For 1924 Restrictive; Vote Is 62-6

150,000 MAXIMUM

Reject Extension Of Quotas To Countries In South America

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 18.—The immigration bill of 1924 carrying substantially the same provisions relating to Asiatic exclusion and other important changes in basic policy recently approved by the house was passed today by the senate by a vote of 62 to 6.

On the final roll call, as upon every important test vote taken since the measure was first reported, the senate registered its decision by a larger majority even than in the house where the vote on passage was 322 to 71.

Six Oppose It

The six senators opposing the bill in its amended form on the last roll call were Chairman colt, Rhode Island and Weller, Maryland, republicans; and Bayard, Delaware; Gerry, Rhode Island; King, Utah and Walsh, Massachusetts, democrats.

As it goes to conference the new bill contains few changes which are expected to prolong discussion. Attention however, has been called to the possibility of important changes being worked out there. Slight differences in phraseology exist between the house and senate drafts in many sections, one of them the vital "Japanese exclusion" provision, and, while no evidence has been shown on either side of the capitol of a disposition to recede in the slightest degree, parliamentary observers called attention to the possibility offered for modifications in conference.

More Restrictive

The senate bill was described by its author, Senator Reed, republican, Pennsylvania, as "even more restrictive than that passed by the house."

Both measures adopt two per cent of the census of 1890 as the basis for fixing quotas, but the house bill permits certain non-quota classifications which are not included in that of the senate. Among the exceptions are the children and other dependent relatives of citizens, and skilled labor and families.

A maximum admittance of 150,000 a year is fixed by the senate bill, against an estimated "quota total" of 162,000 in the Johnson bill, exclusive of exemptions. Senator Reed estimated the house bill actually would provide for the legal admission of "twice the total," or 324,000.

REJECT EXTENSION OF IMMIGRATION QUOTA.

WASHINGTON, April 18.—Proposed extension of immigration quota restrictions to all countries of North and South America was rejected today by the senate by a vote of 60 to 12.

he amendment of the pending bill seeking such extension was offered by Senator Willis, republican, Ohio, who declared without it the bill would leave the back door "wide open." It was opposed by administration leaders in charge of the bill as destructive of the whole theory of Pan-Americanism.

Texans Favor It

Those recorded in favor of the proposal were Senators Watson Indiana, and Willis, Ohio, republicans and Dial and Smith, South Carolina; Harris, Georgia; Heflin and Underwood, Alabama; Mayfield and Sheppard, Texas; Neely, West Virginia; Weller, Maryland and Wheeler, Montana, democrats.

NO CAMPAIGN IN SOME STATES, IS SELLS' DEFENSE

By The Associated Press.

DALLAS, April 18.—William G. McAdoo, candidate for the democratic presidential nomination, has not campaigned in Missouri, Wisconsin, Arizona, Nebraska, Rhode Island and Illinois, Cato Sells, McAdoo chairman for Texas, declared in a statement issued here tonight.

The statement follows in part:

"In his recent speech at Sherman Governor Neff is quoted as saying that 'McAdoo fought and campaigned for an instructed delegation from Missouri, Wisconsin, Arizona, Nebraska, Rhode Island and Illinois and lost them all.'

"It so happens that McAdoo has not campaigned in a single one of the states mentioned. In Missouri the state was thoroughly campaigned especially and aggressively against McAdoo, by Senator Jim Reed, who was overwhelmingly defeated."

Plans Prepared For Intensive Campaign For $300,000 Home

J. J. Perkins Gives $40,000; W. B. Hamilton and N. H. Martin $25,000 Each; Boaz and Selecman Help in Move for Building

Pledges amounting to $90,000 toward the erection of a new $300,000 modern church and Sunday school building for the First Methodist church, south, Tenth and Lamar, were made at a meeting of the building committee held Friday afternoon at the Wichita club. J. J. Perkins, chairman of the committee, pledged $40,000; W. B. Hamilton, one of the members, pledged $25,000 and N. H. Martin, chairman of the finance committee, pledged $25,000.

An intensive campaign to raise the funds other than already subscribed will begin, Sunday, April 27, and will continue through the week when it is hoped the total amount will be obtained.

Bishop H. A. Boaz, who is holding revival services at the First Methodist church, south, opened the meeting and talked for an intensive campaign toward raising the funds for a new building. He stated that he and Dr. C. C. Selecman, president of the Southern Methodist university, had been to the new Junior college and had seen the bank buildings and from that had learned the spirit of the people of Wichita Falls in their efforts towards education and the pride of their city; he urged the committee to work toward building a church that would be worthy of the other structures in the city.

Selecman Helps.

Dr. Selecman made a brief talk on how to conduct the campaign in an intensive manner.

The plans for the new edifice have been drawn up after much consideration, and are now ready for the final revision, it was stated. The architects are Sanguinet-Staats-Heydric-Pate.

These plans are to include an auditorium with a seating capacity of 3,000 persons, and sufficient Sunday school facilities for 3,000 students. The present building has been found too small to care for the 2,000 members and the 1,700 Sunday school attendants.

Simpson Pleased.

The pastor of the church, Rev. Claude M. Simpson, expressed great delight on the willingness of the church to go forward to erect a building so greatly needed.

At the meeting, Friday, the organization of committees was made to carry out the work of putting over the campaign.

Those present at the meeting not including the ones mentioned above were C. W. Snider, J. T. Harrell, Mrs. P. P. Langford, Oral A. Jones and the Rev. F. M. Richardson, presiding elder.

WALES TUMBLES AT MONTMARTRE BUT ISN'T HURT

By The Associated Press.

PARIS, April 18.—The Prince of Wales left tonight for Le Touquet, where he plans to spend the Eastertide, nearly thirty hours behind the schedule he had originally laid out for himself.

The prince is finding it very hard to tear himself away from Montmartre, where for the pas five days, or rather nights, he has had a real royal time in a becomingly regal manner. Incidentally he has probably made the fortune of a young American who recently opened a dancing establishment in Montmartre, which the prince frequented assiduously for four successive nights.

The prince has made a great hit in Paris.

4 VICTIMS OF FIRE BURIED

McKinney Family Nearly Wiped Out By Blaze Friday Morning

By The Associated Press.

McKINNEY, Texas, April 18. — The bodies of Mrs. Will McSpadden, 55, a widow, and three of her four children, who were burned to death in their home at Copeville, Collin county, sixteen miles southeast of here, early today, were buried at Nevada, Collin county, this afternoon. The origin of the fire has not been determined. The children were: Alene, 17, Lockett, 15; and Husie, 9.

Aubion, 13, a son who escaped, said that he was awakened by the flames and aroused his mother and the others. He ran outside the house to give the alarm. It was believed that the victims were unable to reach the exits because of the dense smoke and flames. The house was destroyed.

House Refuses More For Survey on Coast

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 18.—An unsuccessful attempt was made today to have the house increase from $250,000 to $314,300 the appropriation for the activities on the Pacific coast of the coast and geodetic survey. The amendment, proposed by Representative Miller, republican, Washington, was offered to the annual supply bill for the department of commerce. It was lost 53 to 36.

HONOR PAID TO WASHINGTON BY D.A.R. VETERANS

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 18.—Accompanied by representatives of America's revolutionary war ally, and enemy, Daughters of the American Revolution journeyed to Mount Vernon today and paid homage to George Washington and his wife, with eulogies and by laying wreaths on the sarcophagus at the tomb. A steady downfall of rain failed to prevent many of the Daughters from participating in the annual pilgrimage which France's ambassador, Jules J. Jusserand, and Britain's ambassador, Sir Esme Howard joined.

A memorial service constituted the morning session of the fifth day of the 33rd continental congress, when tributes were paid to departed leaders of the society. The services were interrupted briefly for Chairman Johnson of the house immigration committee to discuss the immigration bill.

Government Drops Case Against Marr Defendant

By The Associated Press.

TEXARKANA, Ark., April 18.—A bombshell was exploded in the Pat Marr oil trial this afternoon when the government suddenly nolle-prossed the charges against J. H. Ingram, a co-defendant and called him to the stand as a witness.

Ingram declared that, like George M. Ferrell, who testified earlier in the week, that he was an officer in so many of Marr's companies, that he did not even know his own status. He was "either president or secretary" of the Western Oil company, "either secretary or president" of the Central Oil corporation and so far as he knew was "secretary of the Ajax Drilling company," all organized by Marr.

"How were you made an officer in these companies?" Prosecuting Attorney Rush asked.

"I don't know," the witness replied. "I was just put in."

Ingram's case was nolle prossed after he had talked yesterday with Mr. Rush, it was brought out.

"Tell the jury what you said to me," Mr. Rush said.

"I came to your office of my own free will," Ingram said, "and told you that I am not guilty of anything and did not want to sit here and be accused of these things. I told you I wanted to tell all I knew about Marr's operations.

Ingram said that none of the books of Marr's over which he had supervision showed what became of $1,000,000 received by Marr from sale of properties of two companies to the Texas company, testified about earlier in the day by Albert Culver, an official of the Texas company.

Desert State Seeking To Keep Out Cattle Affliction In West

By The Associated Press.

YUMA, Ariz., April 18.—Quarantine guards on duty here to enforce the state's embargo against California vehicular traffic tonight repelled an attempt to break the blockade.

The vanguard of more than 700 motorists from California barred from entry under the embargo against vehicular traffic swept past some of the guards on the Colorado river bridge, but retreated when a cordon was formed on the Yuma side and fire hose brought into play.

By The Associated Press.

YUMA, Ariz., April 18.—The California motorcade swept by the guards into Arizona late tonight.

Riot calls have been turned in and every available officer in Yuma county and the fire department have rushed to the bridge bent on stopping the rush.

Situation Tense.

The situation was tense in Yuma. Several thousand persons had crowded to points near the bridge. It was later announced that none of the bridge inspectors and guards are armed. There was no shooting.

Lines of fire hose were brought out by firemen to be used in directing streams of water against the desperate tourists.

C. OF C. NOT RUNNING ARIZONA, GOVERNOR SAYS.

By The Associated Press.

TUCSON, Ariz., April 18.—Governor Hunt declared here today that the Yuma chamber of commerce is not running the state of Arizona," after he had read an Associated Press dispatch in which the Yuma civic body expressed the opinion that the chief executive was "too strict" in the enforcement of the foot and mouth disease quarantine.

Sympathy for Victims.

"My sincere sympathies go out to those stranded motorists across the quarantine line from Yuma," the governor continued, "but my oath of office and conscience would never let me waver one bit toward lifting the quarantine. Arizona's future lies in keeping the terrible cattle disease out of this state and what is for the good of Arizona holds sway in my heart.

"I feel that California is guilty of a decided wrong in not taking more thorough measures to stop travelers from starting to leave that state with the idea they would be able to slip by the quarantine line into Arizona."

Desert Is Barrier.

"The 500 miles of desert leading to the Arizona line has been a blessing in keeping the foot and mouth disease out of this state as it has served as a natural barrier. The motorists pleading to be admitted into Arizona at Yuma were foolish to come across this stretch of arid land without knowing for sure that they could get past the quarantine line, but since they are there I feel they should be cared for if they are in need."

CALIFORNIA OFFICIALS CUT BORDER BARRIER

By The Associated Press.

EL CENTRO, Calif., April 18.—Officials of imperial county, Calif., today cut the barriers that held upwards of 500 eastward bound autoists it was announced here tonight by District Attorney E. R. Utley.

The district attorney declared he and Sheriff C. L. Gillett gave the order to cut the barriers. Any further interference with Imperial valley highway traffic will not be tolerated, he said.

Inspectors Co-operate.

Utely explained that inspectors on the Indian reservation, which stretches westward into the desert on the California side about ten miles from the Yuma bridge, had been co-operating with Arizona officials to keep back the rush of autoists headed eastward. Unauthorized persons erected the barriers on California soil, which kept the travelers penned in the desert miles from water and food, he declared.

Stage and Screen

By JOSEPHINE FISK

Olympic—Bert Lytell in "The Meanest Man in the World."
Strand—Barbara La Marr in "The Shooting of Dan McGrew."
Mission—Reginald Denny in "Sporting Youth."

The most thrilling picture of the year is "The Shooting of Dan McGrew," the new screen version of the famous Robert W. Service poem made by the Sawyer-Lubin company for Metro, which opened last night at the Strand theatre. Barbara La Marr was The Lady Known as Lou, and never has she appeared more beautiful nor as filled with dramatic fire as in this surging story of love in the Yukon. Lew Cody played Dangerous Dan McGrew, and made the character one of grim sternness and villany.

A Wonderful Cast

Percy Marmont appeared as Jim, the Husband, and he too seemed to be caught in the atmosphere of Service's story, and got every bit of tragic meaning into his acting. Mae Busch, as Lou's friend, and George Siegmann, as the Malamute Man, completed the stellar quintette—a really extraordinary cast.

The Metro version of the poem goes back to the years before the killing in the Alaskan saloon, and shows the early married life of Lou and Jim, Winifred Dunn, who is accredited with the scenario, it seems to have based her continuity on the true story of how the affair happened, as revealed by an eye-witness who knew the events leading up to the tragedy.

Plenty of Thrills

This handling of the poem proved remarkably successful and made possible the inclusion of a number of thrills that kept last night's audience on edge. The scene started in the South Sea Isles, moved to New York, and then shifted up to the Yukon, lending a variety of settings both beautiful and satisfying to the eye, and forming an ideal background for the dramatic tale.

Clarence Badger, who directed "Quincy Adams Sawyer," did an equally neat job with "The Shooting of Dan McGrew." Arthur H. Sawyer personally supervised the production.

Big Crowds Applaud "The Meanest Man.

"The Meanest Man in the World," which opened last night at the Olympic Theatre, won the approbation of a typical first night audience. It is a high-powered comedy-drama of true Cohanesque style, directed by Edward F. Cline.

Bert Lytell, as the soft-hearted, unbusinesslike young lawyer, wins the affection of everyone in his futile attempts to be the meanest man in the world. Blanche Sweet is a lovely, sympathetic heroine, the lady of Bert's heart.

Two other love affairs which help to keep the heart interest at a high pitch, are those of Bryant Washburn and Maryon Aye, and Helen Lynch and Lincoln Steadman. The two latter, respectively the stenographer and office boy in Bert's office, do some delicious droll work that stands out in this snappy comedy-drama.

Others in the cast who contribute excellent characterisations are Ward Crane, Frances Raymond, Carl Stockdale, Forrest Robinson, Robert Dunbar, Victor Potel, William Conklin and Tom Murray.

Victor Potel is his usual rube self, a clerk in a small country store. Forrest Robinson makes a beloved character out of the old shoe mender, friend and champion of Blanche Sweet. Ward Crane, is the successful lawyer who tries to inject some of his cold-blooded business methods into Bert, without success.

"The Meanest Man in the World" is a picture full of genuine American humor, with the right amount of pathos and suspense to make it hundred per cent entertainment. It is a First National attraction.

Anna Q. Nilsson is playing opposite Ernest Torrence in "The Mountebank." Incidentally Anna acquired a blue blooded police pup with whom she planned to have her picture taken. Said pup proved temperamental, however, or else he had a most peculiar taste, for he refused to even make friends with Anna (imagine that!) and as for having his picture "took," nothing was farther from his ambition. Anna says she will swap him for a nice elderly mongrel of friendly disposition.

Richard Walton Tully has gone into seclusion to write the continuity for "The Bird of Paradise." And this editorial work is the least of his troubles. He has to choose an actress to take the leading part. He says that there are only twelve girls who are capable of playing the role, but has not decided which of the twelve he will engage. And in the meantime, to prevent any young and lovely actress from losing her beauty sleep over the situation R. W. T. is maintaining strict secrecy about the names of the twelve he had in mind.

Samuel Goldwyn wants a vamp for "Potash and Perlmutter in Hollywood," and he wants her badly. These are the qualifications:

She must be a perfect type, either very dark or a decided blonde.
She must not be too big of stature.
She must be able to wear stylish clothe.
She must have animation of eye and figure.
She must have a distinctive personality.
She must take her work seriously.
She must have grace.
She must have repression.
The line forms on the right.

Viola Dana has been learning to play golf and consequently she has a black eye. I don't play myself but don't think that is the usual thing to get when learning. I won't bore you with the technical details because I don't understand them myself, but anyway it seems she was practicing in her garage because the weather would not permit outdoor practice, and she hit the ball and the ball hit the wall and then hopped right back and hit Viola. It was several days before Viola was able to report for duty in "Along Came Ruth," her next.

Mesdames Howard Appleby and Fred Pearce were joint hostesses to the members of the S. A. L. Bridge club Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Pearce.

Easter suggestions were carried out in excellent style in the decorations, talleys and refreshments. Miss Katherine Barr received high score prize among the bridge players, and in the Easter egg hunt, which afforded much merriment among the guests, Miss Orpah Dennis headed the list with the largest number found.

Refreshments were served to the following: Misses Irene Aderholt, Lucille Wheeler, Leta Mae Cocke, Faye Moore Ruth Algood, Ruth Simpson, Harriet Barwise, Katherine Barr, Carrie Cross, Mary McGann, Allie Randall, and Orpah Dennis.

Misses Mary McGann and Leta Mae Cocke will be hostesses to the club at the home of Miss McGann on West Wharton next Tuesday.

Haiti Starts Year 1923 With Promising Financial Outlook.

By The Associated Press.

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti. — Customs receipts of Haiti for the first four months of the new fiscal year were $2,710,000, the highest total for such a period since the beginning of the American occupation in 1915. The corresponding period for the fiscal year ended in September, 1923, reached the total of $2,514,000.

It is estimated that if the remaining eight months of the fiscal year hold up to that period of last year, the total customs receipts will amount to $6,230,000 as compared to $6,313,790 for the fiscal year of 1922-23. The moderate increase of five per cent, which appears to be justified, would increase the total to $6,500,000.

Home-Wrecking Is Always An Inside Job | Lays Blame For Stolen Affections on Lack of Effort

Can the Quiet, Serene Second Love Be as Real and Lasting as the First?—What Shall a Mother Do With Her Gay Young Flapper Daughter?—Shall a Wife Keep Her Husband of Her Love?

Dear Dorothy Dix—Seven years ago I met and fell in love with a splendid man who returned my love. Misunderstandings arose, and thinking that I did not love him, he married another woman.

Within the last year I have become engaged to a fine, steady man who has loved me unfaltering for almost ten years. We have innumerable tastes in common and are ideally suited to each other, and the only thing that troubles me is the fact that my love for him is so quiet, so placid, and has not the thrills that the first love had. Yet I do love him. I never have told him about my former love affair. Should I? FIFTY-FIFTY.

Answer: There is only one springtime in the year, yet the other seasons are not less enjoyable. There is only one first love, with its romance and thrills and circling wings of glory but first love perishes as easily as do all airy, fairy, gossamer things. It is the serious, sober later loves that are built on realities instead of dreams that last.

No mature woman can any more go back and recapture her girlish emotions than she can regain her girlish figure. Something intangible has gone that can never be replaced. She does not look at men with the same eyes. She has not the same illusions about them. She does not expect the same things of them.

The debutante can see a Prince Charming in any good-looking youth. She can believe that any glib talker never loved before, that she alone can save his soul, and that he will die of a broken heart unless she marries him. The very young girl will marry, really believing that she will be perfectly happy and never have another care or anxiety and that her husband will spend the balance of his life holding her hand and telling her how much he loves her and how wonderful she is.

The mature woman, who has seen much of life and men, is disillusioned. She knows men for what they are, a mixture of tenderness and cruelty; of goodness and badness; of faith and unfaith. When she loves, she loves wisely, and her love founded on respect and congeniality and a thousand things that do not enter into the young girl's scheme of things, endures. The only love that can be really be trusted to the last is this quiet, discerning second love.

Of course, you should not tell this man you are going to marry about your former love affair. It is dishonorable to the first man. What happened then was something sacred between you and him, and a stranger has no right to know of it, nor would it add to the happiness of the second man to be told of a dead and past episode that might rankle in his mind and keep him always wondering if you cared for him as you did for your first sweetheart.

DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix—My daughter is just seventeen—at the foolish age. She is a typical flapper, smokes, drinks, paints, powders and all the rest of it. I have talked and talked to her, but it is of no use. I am an old-fashioned mother. My daughter's chum is just sixteen, but her mother is "up-to-date." They have parties at her house, on an average of three nights a week, where they can smoke, drink, dance. I have talked to the mother of my daughter's chum and asked her how she can tolerate such actions beneath her own roof. She says she does not "take it seriously." Girls will be girls; if they can't smoke at home, they will do it on the sly, and she had much rather her daughter would smoke at home. Do you think it right to sanction wrong-doing just because it is unadvoidable? Do you think I should say, "Mary, I know you will smoke, drink, etc., so have your friends here and I will furnish the refreshments," and thereby be the up-to-date mother? I am willing to do anything, or try anything to save my girl from these "good times" that are sure to lead her to her downfall, but my conscience says "no."

My husband is dead and my only other child married. I have nobody to turn to. Please help me if you can. HARASSED MOTHER.

Answer: I would gladly give my life, Harassed Mother, for the wisdom to tell you what to do with your silly little girl, who, as the Bible dramatically puts it, "has set her feet on hell." Because your problem is the biggest problem in the world today: How to save our girls from drink and the immorality that goes with it and the headstrong folly that is bound to be their destruction. Nobody knows the answer to this riddle of the modern age, for the young have broken the bonds that hold them and they will not listen to the warning of the elders.

Of course many of the things that the flappers do that are shocking to an older generation are really harmless. We can sigh over their lack of artistic sense when they smear their pretty little child faces with cosmetics until they look like clowns. We can wish that they wore a few more clothes and that they tried to imitate ladies instead of hoodlums. However, these are minor faults. So is smoking, but when it comes to drinking and wild parties they are not only standing on the very edge of the pit themselves—they are threatening to drag civilization over into the abyss with them.

And the pity of it is that no one knows how to hold them back. How to stop them.

But one thing is sure. The mothers who sanction the drinking and carousing in their own homes aid and abet it. They encourage it. They are responsible not only for their own children's downfall but they drag other women's children with them. They are a curse to society.

So I urge you Harassed Mother, to stick to your guns. Fight for your ideals. Keep your own home clean. If your daughter is bound to do the things she should not do, let them be done out of your house. In this way you will exercise a restraining influence over her. Somewhere in that bobbed head of hers will be a respect for you that she would not have if you had yielded to her, and some time she will turn with reverence and longing to the home that you have kept pure and sweet as a home and not turned into a roadhouse.

DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix: Is it proper for a wife to be continually telling her husband that she loves him?

BILL.

Answer: Depends on how he takes it. If he enjoys it—and most husbands do—she can't repeat it too often. If it bores him to be made love to, she is discreet to act coldly toward him, and let him do the love-making.

DOROTHY DIX.

LEN SMALL CAME BACK?

Governor Len Small has ben renominated by the republicans of Illinois. Governor Small had been accused by his republican critics, of every crime in the calendar. He had been indicted and sent to trial on a charge of having looted the state treasury. Acquitted by a jury, his republican enemies declared that the jury had been bribed. Denounced by his republican enemies, as sorbid and selfish and unfit to hold any position of honor, he appealed to the rank and file of his party for a vote of confidence and they have made him their standard bearer and hope that he will be elected governor to serve the people of Illinois another four years.

James E. Ferguson was cast out by his enemies. Jack Walton was broken on the wheel of fate. Warren C. McCray of Indiana, charged with stealing $150,000 from the agricultural fund of the state, convinced half the jury that heard the evidence that he was a foully wronged and muchly persecuted man and there was a mistrial. Six voted to vindicate McCray and six voted to send him to the penitentiary.

Governor Len Small should congratulate himself. If he wins at the polls in November he will be the political boss of Illinois for another four years. All this must be gall and wormwood to the Chicago Tribune. For years the Tribune has urged the people of Illinois to throw Small in the sewer or to send him to the penitentiary or to drive him to foreign parts. Now the Tribune must support him or bolt to the democrats.

This is not all. Senator Medill McCormick, one of the owners of the Tribune, was defeated for renomination, beaten by Charles S. Deneen, touted by his friends as a man of intellectual weight and power who had been a great prosecutor and a great governor of Illinois for eight years. Will the Tribune eat crow? No it has spewed out Len Small and its legions. Will it support Deneen who stripped a toga from one of its owners?

Well, if the Tribune is a good sport it will be compelled to throw its influence to Deneen or move over into the camp of the donkey and assist in the election of Colonel A. M. Sprague, the democratic nominee, who saw service in the world war, who was a Roosevelt republican until that great leader died and then finally landed in the democratic camp.

Small escaped conviction and is rewarded by a renomination. If McCray escaped conviction will the republicans of the Hoosier state give him another term as governor?

NATIONWIDE BUILDING BOOM.

National construction, based upon first quarter construction estimates and the prodigious volume exhibited between January 1 and March 15 in New York City, is proceeding at an eight billion dollar pace, according to a noted New York publisher of building reports. His judgment is that if such a demand for building construction should continue for the year it should never be supplied for the reason that there is not enough excess building material manufacturing capacity to produce it nor are there now enough available men to assemble these building materials into finished structures.

This building boom is nationwide. This is presidential year. There are few coal miners on strike in Illinois and Pennsylvania but the building trades are taking down the highest wages in their history and there is a scarcity of skilled labor everywhere.

Now what effect will this prosperity or seeming prosperity have on the voters on November election day?

MARYLAND NEXT.

Democrats of Maryland will hold their state convention in Baltimore on April 22 and sixteen delegates instructed for Governor Alfred E. Ritchie will be sent to the Madison Square Garden convention. Governor Ritchie is the most popular leader of the Maryland democracy. He is his own successor and this never happened before in Maryland. He is said to be the handsomest man in the state of Maryland and as brainy as he is handsome.

When it comes to looks Senator Carter Glass of Virginia is no great shakes but when it comes to ability he is there with all the goods on display. These Maryland democrats are said to be very friendly to the noted Virginian who is a successful newspaper publisher as well as a brainy statesman.

The Kiss of Pharaoh

"Dead . . . dead . . dead . . ."

Her voice died away as she crept out across the sands gleaming yellow in the sun, to commune with the silence of the desert.

"Dead . . . dead . . ."

In the shadows the charge of Rah Neb had watched, with an expression of deep fascination upon his handsome features. This youth was fast growing into early manhood.

As Sampi went, he turned to the old high priest, with a puzzled frown upon his brow.

"Doth the future indeed unfold itself to her gaze, even as she saith?"

The old man nodded slowly and went over and placed his hands upon the youth's strong shoulders.

"Here eyes see far, my son. The words of Sampi are the words of truth. Thou didst hear?"

The boy nodded.

"Even so, my father. Thou shalt not find me lacking."

And suddenly, from the sunlit distance, the shrill voice of Sampi was heard, as if to confirm the message of the crystal.

"Dead! Dead! Dead!"

CHAPTER XII.
Rana Daughter of a King.

It was many days after when a rider came to Thebes from the desert and entered the palace with urgent news for Pharaoh. He was ushered into the presence of the monarch and, bowing low, he spoke.

"O, Egypt, thy servant hath fulfilled thy mission. Our search hath not been in vain. Nine days since, we passed a traveler whose journeying took him past the cavern where liveth Sampi, the Serpent-Woman and apostle of magic. With her, O King, reside two whose destinies will be of great interest to thee, O One of Wisdom. Rah Neb is one, and the other . . . this boy whom the priest aspires, even now, to place upon thy royal throne. Thy spies, O Egypt, look well into this matter, and thy servant came immediately to acquaint thee with the tidings. Sampi, it is rumored, is secretly communicating with others who practice her wiles, and these are seeking to gather the scattered priesthood of Amon.

"Is it thy wish, O Royal Master, that we should proceed at once to the cavern, of the Serpent-Woman and bring the fugitives hence, so that thy judgment of wisdom may fall upon their heads?"

Pharaoh was jubilant at the tidings, for while the fate of Rah Neb and the boy had remained a mystery, despite the price he had lately put upon their heads, there remained an uncomfortable fear within his heart—a half-felt, half-imagined dread lest the high priest of Amon still be plotting to undermine his prestige and attempt an upheaval which might rob him of his throne.

He bade the servant proceed to the presence of Hiljah and repeat the news, so that his counsellor might advise him on the matter. Then, with a thrill of triumph he made his way to the Queen's apartments and acquainted his beautiful consort with what the messenger had said.

Herotah bore the news with outward calm. Yet his words so pleasantly, confidently uttered, sent shafts of icy fear into her heart, and her lips were cold as he embraced her.

Indeed, Pharaoh noticed the pallor of her waxen cheeks and drew back.

"Fairest One," he urged, "what aileth thee? Doth the heat of the day weary thee. Beloved? Surely . . . thou art not ill?"

With a last effort to deceive, Herotah drew her husband closer to her breast and held him desperately the while her lifeless lips pressed kisses upon his brow.

"Nay," she pleaded. "'tis only the heat, Beloved. I am a little tired, but 'tis nothing of account. Leave me a while, I beg of thee. Tonight thy consort shall gladden thy heart. See if thou wilt, I will dance for thee ere the sun goeth down. Shall it be so, O Royal Master?"

Completely deceived Akhnaton smiled and, kissing her gently upon the cheek prepared to leave.

He passed into the spacious corridors. But even as the heavy curtains swung to behind him the Queen rose, and, clenching and unclenching her hands in a fever of anguish, searched her brain for some means of saving the child and the priest whose whereabouts were now revealed to Pharaoh.

"Ah," she cried, "this is too much! My beloved child . . . whom I love as if it were my body which had given him birth . . . how can I save him from the wrath of the king? Is the cause of Amon lost? Nay, there must be a means . . . . . I . . ."

She paused and clapping her hands, twice, gave a brief instruction to the slave who entered.

"Go with haste and find Rana, my daughter. 'Tis on urgent business that I would speak with her."

It was but a few moments ere the curtains swung back and a lovely girl, with the features and beauty of her mother, stood upon the threshold.

Rana was the third and by far the fairest of all Herotah's children. Frail as a lily, and as graceful, her eyes were as sparkling, her rich black tresses as silken and her figure as graceful as her mother's. And the Queen loved her, too, beyond her sisters.

Secretly she had instructed her daughter in the worship of Amon, and the girl was as devoted as Herotah to the religion of the former diety of Egypt. The love of the Queen was more than reciprocated in the heart of Rana, Rand, to her had been unfolded the story of ah Neb and the boy who had been placed under his care.

"What is it, Royal Mother," she inquired, "that thou wouldst say to me? Art thou unwell? Thy dear cheeks are pale, and thy hands, Beloved . . . how cold they feel to the touch!"

"It is nothing, Rana child, I am well. But listen. Thy father hath been here a moment since, with news that Rah Neb and the boy are hiding with Sampi, the Serpent-Woman. Ere the sun goeth down, this night, soldiers will have been dispatched to the cavern in the desert and unless we can act those whose safety we have at heart will pay the penalty and share the fate of the priests who, three years ago, were slain at the walls of the palace the . . .

"My daughter, to thy hands, I entrust this mission. Rah Neb and the boy must be warned at once. Thou, whom alone of my daughters I trust, must hasten to the cavern of Sampi, and bring them news of the approach of Pharaoh's soldiers. Rana, my beloved, wilt thou go, that our sacred cause might be saved at thy hands?"

With a little smile, Rana nodded and kissed her mother once again.

"Rest in peace, O my mother, it shall be done even as thou sayest. Thou knowest I would give my life for thee and our cause. Rah Neb shall be warned in time."

Herotah kissed her daughter fondly.

A few brief words of farewell, fond kisses of afection. . . and Rana had passed out, leaving her mother reclining weakly on her couch.

Herotah's part that night was to deceive Akhnaton . . . to play her part for a kiss . . . . the kiss of Pharaoh!

Meanwhile, from the shadows of the palace walls, there crept a chariot wherein rode a beautiful girl, the daughter of a King, to play her part in this drama of hatred and passion.

CHAPTER XIII.
Amon Hath Spoken.

In the witching hour of midnight the sands of the desert were cold. On the horizon, where the edges of the earth communed, with the purple and gray of the sky, distant sphinxes stood bleakly out as if to guard the sacred silences of the east.

A little way from the cavern of Sampi were two for whom this picture of beauty was also a picture of life, in whose minds the sleeping sanctity of Egypt foretold a drama wherein they themselves would play the foremost parts.

"It is night, my son," Rah Neb, his hand caressing his silvery beard, murmured half-inaudibly, "and it is the night of Akhnaton. A little while . . . a few more moons shall come and depart from the heavens, and then . . . "

"Even so, my father. The dawn will come, and with it, the true glory of Egypt . . . it is a little hard, O One of Wisdom for me . . . a lad who must needs flee from enemies he hath never known . . . to dream as thou dost, of a crown upon my head, a scepter in my hand and the royal robe of Egypt's monarchy about my shoulders."

A tingle of sadness clouded the eyes of the old high priest, but it passed even as a momentary doubt—and he turned to his companion with a smile.

"It is given to Rah Neb, my son, to understand many things. Yet all that I told thee is true. This . . . is the night of Akhnaton. Tomorrow shall be the dawn of a day wherein thou thyself shalt sit upon the throne of Egypt."

He paused, and the fire in his eyes died slowly. It was then that Sampi came from the shadow of the cavern and beckoned them with a lean finger, her sallow cheeks burning with some great emotion, her lips trembling as if she had some message too great for her to speak.

"Come, my children," she piped; "I have much to reveal unto you. Amon . . . . Amon hath spoken but a moment since, and . . ."

Rah Neb started, now all attention.

"Thou sayest . . . . ?"

But Sampi only chuckled faintly and led the way into the cavern. Rah Neb paused on the threshold and looked around him inquiringly.

But the youth had gone straight in after the old woman and, as they awaited the high priest's presence around the rough table on which rested Sampi's crystal, Rah Neb stepped forward and took his place silently.

So Goes It

By BURNS HEGLER

The music critic or the dramatic critic is a funny animal. Most of his criticism is adverse, and he has as much conceit as a group of movie stars. And furthermore, he seems to operate on the theory than when he says a thing that settles it. The chief consolation comes out of the fact that it doesn't.

This rather caustic comment on our part is inspired by the fact that Ernest Newman, the London critic, declared Nevin's "The Rosary" is the world's worst song. It is a sad fact that it never seems to occur to one of these critics that they might be wrong, and in this instance, everyone knows that Newman is.

Imagine a man who posses as a critic putting "The Rosary" in the same class with "Yes, We Have, etc." although most any one else besides Mr. Newman would quite readily agree that "Yes, We Etc." isn't a song at all but a fantastic musical blurb.

We never had much experience as a dramatic critic. That is to say we never drew enough money as a reporter to be called a critic, albeit we have written enough criticisms on the drammer to know something of the feelings of the man who views a show or hears a song from the standpoint of purely professional duty.

And in that brief experience we learned our lesson early. We were sent to "cover" a theatrical performance of the ordinary run of dramatics. Upon our return, the city editor inquired as to the quality of the show and we frankly told him it was "rotten. "But he was not satisfied.

He wanted to know how the audience acted, if it applauded much, and so forth. We told him that the audience, or at least the majority of the audience, applauded some of the wise cracks and attempts at dramatic art, quite enthusiastically to our educated disgust; that summing up the show in a nut shell, the audience "fell for it."

It was then that the city editor spake words of wisdom, which have stayed with us always. "That being the case," he said, "say in your story of the show that it was a good show. If the audience as a whole liked the performance it was. If you didn't that was unfortunate, but it doesn't mean anything."

That's the trouble with a lot of its self-appointed critics. We try to judge what other folks like by what we like. And while every man is entitled to his own likes and dislikes, we can't regulate the universe.

Brilliant European Swindler Booked As Habitual Criminal

BERLIN—Stephen Otto, born near Brussels, who posed as a major in the Belgian army in 1919 and decorated Major General Henry T. Allen, commander of the American forces at Coblenz, with the Belgian military medal of honor, and who has since been arrested as a swindler in half a dozen European cities, has been classed by Berlin detectives as a "habitual criminal." Despite this, the young man may soon slip from the German prison because no specific charge has been filed against him. His latest exploit was an attempt to obtain a high-priced car on the pretense that he was a member of the Inter-Allied Commission of Control in Germany.

Otto has associated with high officials in Paris, Vienna, Constantinople and other cities, and the story is even told that on one occasion he actually slept a night in Buckingham palace.

More Truth Than Poetry

IT'S A WAY THEY HAVE IN OLD ATHENS

Sound the timbrel! beat the drum!
Let the harps go rum-te-tum!
From the mountains to the sea
Shout the tidings "Greece is free!"

Let the dirges moan afar,
Set, alas! is freedom's star,
What a bleak and bitter hour!
Greece is in the tyrant's power!

Now the streets of Athens ring
With the songs the people sing!
From the forest summon Pan!
Greece has gone republican!

Bow your heads, ye one time braves;
Know ye not that ye are slaves?
Festoon crepe on every door;
Greece has got a king once more!

Pericles once more arise,
And gaze about with happy eyes!
Sing ye maidens, shout ye men!
Glorious Greece is free again!

Gloom broods over hill and vale,
While the stricken people wail:
"We are lost once more alack!
Woe to us! the king is back!

The Greater Calamity

By DR. FRANK CRANE

If somebody had stolen both the Teapot Dome and the Elk Hillz oil lands some dark night, run away wtih them and given them to Japan or Great Britain, it would not have done so much harm to the United States as the investigation which has been carried on by the senate.

That is not because investigation is wrong, it is because of the way the investigation was carried on.

If you wish to attain the ends of justice you must have someone of a judicial mind. There is not particular justice emerges from a dog fight.

If it is justice you are after you must first establish your facts. If those facts prove that certain men were guilty of crime no consideration of reputation or high office should interfere with the business of making those persons suffer the consequences of their evil deeds.

Justice is careful, swift and relentless.

But all through the conducting of this matter by the senate the manifest object sought was not justice but political advantage.

Throughout the whole discussion there were constant charges that whatever evil had been done was the work of the republican party or the democratic party. Of course nobody but a mattoid believes any such thing. If there was crime it was personal. Bad and foolish as political parties are none of them is so unintelligent as to propose and deliberately carry out crime. Individuals do such things, sometimes, of course, making use of party machinery.

The oil scandals have done incurable harm to business for they have spread uncertainty. The devil of business is doubt.

The oil scandals have been published in every newspaper in Europe and have created an wholly false impression of American business men and methods. The business world of America is the most honest, open, sound and sane in the world. The idea that big business in America is essentially corrupt is about as wicked and poisonous an idea as can be found. The effect of the disgraceful manner in which the oil scandals have been handled has been to propagate this septic idea.

The strange part of the whole business is that most of the senators who have been besmirching honorable names right and left are themselves gentlemen and anywhere else than in the field of partisanship would engage in no such antics.

Yet, under our glorious party system, we cast suspicion first and afterwards search for proof. We spatter scandal and broadcast hearsay and gossip, we destroy reputations, we clog prosperity, we ruin the moral influence of American in the world, all because we want to obtain political advantage for our party in the next election.

It would be difficult to find any citizen of the United States who is not in favor of the trial and punishment of every guilty person involved in the oil scandal. Nobody wants the affair hushed up nor wants any wrongdoer whitewashed.

But it would seem that there should be some sort of tribunal in the country capable of accomplishing swift and stern justice without shooting up all the bystanders.

SOILS AND SOIL PHYSICS
Forms of Nitrogen in the Soil.

Yesterday we saw how essential it was thought that nitrogen was in plant growth, how some scientists believed nitrogen to be the key element which caused the combination of other elements that form the body of the plant.

Nitrogen in its gaseous form is esnumber of various forms. As one of the component gases of the air it penetrates the soil and circulates around the soil particles.

Nitrogen in its gasous form is essential to the life of certain classes of very valuable bacteria that live in the soil. These bacteria takes the nitrogen gas and convert it to other forms which can be used by plants. Nitrogen also exists in the soil in the form of ammonia and as nitrous acid. Both ammonia and nitrous acid are constantly being changed into nitric acid. It is in the form of nitric acid that most plants take in their nitrogen.

As nitric acid nitrogen is often found combined with calcium. Calcium is the element which forms the basis of all limestone and gypsum. When nitric acid is combined with calcium it forms calcium nitrate.

Nitrogen also occurs in certain very complex compounds derived from decaying vegetation. Decayed vegetation in the soil forms humus and it is in humus that the introgen is found.

In ordinary soils where no commercial fertilizer has been added the great storehouse of nitrogen is the humus.

WHAT TODAY MEANS TO YOU

ARIES

Today shows a fruitful combination of aspects, helpful and beneficial in all endeavors. The influences are favorable for business or literary efforts, work or research of a progressive character, and scientific experimentation.

A child born today will be healthy, but will not show any marked aptitude for anything in particular, until quite late in life, when success will be immediate and positive.

If today is your birthday, you possibly have a reputation for more ability than you possess owing to your enforced habit of secretiveness and silence. Many human sphinxes are credited with abnormal intelligence when, if the facts were really known and appreciated, it would be developed that their silence is often caused by ignorance or inability for outward expression. If you have intelligence, if you possess valuable information, it is stingy and ungenerous to keep it to yourself. These gifts have been given you for a purpose and should be diffused, so that those with a lesser degree of intelligence or with less reliable information can benefit thereby. It is all right for "little children to be seen and not heard"; it is not right for grown-ups if they have anything to say worth hearing.

Your companionship is not sought by friends to any great extent; they do, however, pour out their troubles to you as your secretiveness assures them you will never betray their confidence.

If in business, you are not much of a success, your characteristics better fit you for a profession, a lawyer or a doctor for preference.

In your home life, you are quiet and unobtrusive, listening, at all times to advice, but rarely giving any. You are capable of very great affection, but demonstration of the fact seems to bebeyond your province; you do not, therefore, derive that amount of pleasure, or the thrilling ecstasy, that you should from the companionship of those you love, because they think, not being able to look below the surface, you are cold and unresponsive.

Secretiveness and silence are, at times, assets; if, however, traded in all the times, they lose their primitive values, and become liabilities that arouse suspicion and distrust.

Successful people born on this date are:

Roger Sherman, stateman.
James S. Rollins, stateman.
Mary L. Booth, author.
Wayne MacVeigh, lawyer and politician.
Leo Rassieur, judge.

STOLEN LOOT FOUND AT BOWIE

Local Police Recover Goods For Man But Thief Escapes

Clothing, books, a portable typewriter and other articles with an aggregate value of $200 or more were recovered early Friday afternoon at Bowie after their theft from the Marion hotel here was reported to city police by W. R. Newsome of Dallas. For some unknown reason Bowie officials failed to hold the man believed to have stolen the property.

Mr. Newsome reported to Chief Detective Dave May and Detective John Boone that his traveling bag containing the articles was picked up from the lobby of the hotel. The man, it was thought, had started to Fort Worth in a service car and word was accordingly sent to Bowie to make a search of the machine when it went through.

At 2 o'clock word was received here that the car had been searched and the articles found; it was reported, however, that no one in the machine claimed the property or knew anything about it, so no arrests were made.

Mr. Newsome left for Bowie later in the afternoon to claim his goods.

Fine 3 Romeos At Electra For Vags Wednesday

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, April 17.—Three young men, well dressed and plentifully supplied with this world's goods in both money and "licker," were arrested here Monday, on advice from Wilbarger county officers, who had the day before discharged them for want of a charge. The men were traveling in a car without a state license, but they proved that they had applied for a license at their home, Paducah, and were on their way to Dallas. They had a gun in the car, and two pint bottles of prescription whiskey. They were all well dressed and had, between, them, several hundred dollars.

After paying a fine totalling $100, they were given their freedom Tuesday and they continued their journey.

Color Cut-Outs

An Easter Hat Game to Play.

No, these aren't the heads of Bluebeard's Wives! They are all Betty Cut-out, but each time in a different kind of Easter headgear.

Betty has been shopping for an Easter bonnet and she has found so many becoming ones that she can't decide which to choose. First she thinks she wants a sport hat and next she doesn't want a hat at all, but a little headband of flowers instead. She can't decide, so the only way is for you to choose for her.

Fold your paper back on H and forward on G. That will bring the first hat down to place on Betty's head. Now fold back on F and forward on E and you may try the next to the bottom hat. Repeat this folding till each sample has been tried on.

The hats will be prettier if you color them. Make the top one green, the flowers lavender and pink, the third one brown and tan, the fourth blue with orange and yellow trimming.

S.S.S. The World's Best Blood Medicine

It's a Bad Day Tomorrow for The Eggs; Druggists Report Heavy Call For Fancy Dyes; Stencils Popular

Easter eggs will blossom forth with radiance tomorrow morning if the quantity of eggs and dyes sold by local stores to Wichita mothers and busy committee members has anything to do with it.

Pots of steaming dyes, heaps of eggs going through the various color baths and stencil processes a la vinegared cloth, to emerge and cool before a final polish with a greased cloth; mother and dad with sleeves rolled up, dabbing at unruly eggs with spoons and forks; Dorothy and Buter underfoot begging to color "just one"—these will be scenes in Wichita Falls kitchens tonight.

Meanwhile in many church basements, eggs are being colored and decorated in great quantity by groups of women who are artists in their line and have prepared many similar batches for the annual Sunday school Easter hunt for the tiny tots.

Modern methods make the process quite simple and fascinating and the ingenuity and resourcefulness resorted to by our grandmothers is well nigh a thing of the past.

Eggs of Yesterday.

Years ago, when the means of elaborately decorated Easter eggs did not come in a small envelope, onion skins gave purple tints, sassafras produced everything from light yellow to rich brown, beet juice made red eggs and indigo dyed them blue. Besides colored eggs for the children, there were the eggs big sister made to send to her beau—raw eggs carefully pierced and the centers blown, the shells gilded, with mottoes and flowers painted thereon. They were then strung on baby ribbon and finished with rosettes or bows at either end with a ribbon loop by which to hang the egg on the parlor curtain.

At the Easter dinner, the places were marked by clever Easter egg dolls made by glueing a blown shell on end to a gilded spool, painting features in appropriate colors and fitting a wig of cotton wool, or finely raveled yarn. Ingenuity and clever fingers made everything from negro mammies to French court beauties with high white wigs and intriguing beauty spots.

Carts and Everything.

One of grandmother's delights for the children were the little carts made of half a shell, painted or gilded, with toothpicks stuck through for axles, and tiny cardboard wheels. There were drawn by little cotton chickens with beaded eyes and embroidery floss beak, or little pink eyed cardboard bunnies.

"Necessity was the mother of invention" and it was far to the shops where such things were sold, besides being very expensive to purchase such novelties, which were rare.

Old timers say that these home made symbols of Easter were appreciated by little children of the time perhaps more than all the elaborate and gorgeous offerings in modern shops beautifully made and artistically designed novelties of every conceivable sort which may be had for only a few cents.

Spudders Hit Opportunely For 3rd, 10-5

BUCK FREEMAN HOLDS GASSER BATSMEN IN HAND AND KEEPS WICHITA SAFELY ON TOP ROW

Buck Freeman turned in a nice game for the Spudders Friday, and though hitting was free enough on both sides, held the Gassers' blows scattered to take the third straight of the series, 10 to 5.

Foreman, who relieved Harris in the second, for Shreveport, was touched at opportune times by Wichita Falls, after starting with his club leading. He was unable to come out of the hole in winning fashion.

Shreveport held the lead for the first time since the opening here, by one run through three innings. This advantage was rudely shaken in the fifth when the Tannermen harvested five scores.

The Gassers opened the game with two runs off the same number of hits. From then, with the single exception of the fifth, some visitor got on base via the safe hit route. In each of six frames one hit was chalked against Freeman, while two safe ones were made in each of two others.

Unlike either the first or the second contests, the third game was neither a hitting bee, one way or the other, or a pitcher's battle. It was put on ice by Wichita Falls in the fifth, when any chances of a throwing duel or a slug-fest jamboree were made doubtful.

It was a feature that Wichita Falls scored three out of four times after two were out. This was true in the first inning, when two tallies were counted, in the fifth, when five were made, and in the ninth, when one was driven in, to make them high score in the league for the second time. The sixth inning saw two forced across after one man was out. Sacrifice hits played a big part in the proceedings.

Pete Turgeon lead in hits, and featured in driving in runs. Two singles and a double were his portion for the day. Callaghan slammed out the only three-bagger of the day.

Pat Sullivan had the honor of clouting over the first home run of the series and the season here, when in the first of the eighth he came to bat first and sent a high one over left field fence. The husky left fielder retrieved his luck of the day before, and managed for three hits out of the ten issued by Freeman. One was a double, his first time at bat, which sent in a run in the first.

Wichita Use Bat.

Spudders poured the maple onto the horsehide all afternoon. A big majority of their outs went on the fly ball route, and the most of these were hard drives. Gasser fielders were given a great workout and came through. Eichrodt at center field handling his six chances, many of them hard, without a bobble. Several times he was forced back to within proximity of the boards, to drag down a solidly hit ball.

It was not for long Shreveport got away with the two-run lead. Wichita Falls promptly matched same their first time at bat. Coombs and Tanner flied out. Weiss walked and took second on Fitzgerald's single past shortstop. Turgeon smashed one through the box, scoring Weiss. Callaghan made it the third single in a row, placing his off second, and Fitzgerald raced in with number 2. White flied out to center field.

Big Fifth.

Not until the fifth did Wichita catch up, after the second. In that session, two men were down while everything was being put in readiness. Coombs walked and went to second on Tanner's single. He was forced at third on Weiss' bunt to the pitcher. Weiss was forced at second on Fitzgerald's grounder. With two men down and third and first populated, Turgeon was walked. Callaghan took it up where he found it, and cleared the three by a smashing three-bagger to right center. White doubled, a line drive over third, which scored Callaghan. Jonnard singled past second, scoring White. Freeman struck out.

The two in the sixth were off Tanner's pass to first, Weiss' base hit, Forteman's error and Fitzgerald's fly to left.

Coombs got on base on a base hit in the Eighth. Tanner was out on his grounder to Barnes. Weiss fouled out to Graham. Fitzgerald was hit by a pitched ball. Turgeon singled, scoring Coombs from second. Callaghan flied out to Donaldson, retiring the side.

Shreveport Starts.

Shreveport went off strong. Donaldson, first up, walked. Zeider sacrificed him to second. Riley singled and Donaldson went home on Callaghan's bad throw to third, Riley taking second. Sullivan doubled, scoring Riley. Orr and Barnes flied out. The third tally in the second, came off Eichrodt's double. Foreman's sacrifice fly and Donaldson's sacrifice fly. In the eighth, Sullivan, first up got his four-ply clout. French, batting for Foreman, drew a walk, in the ninth. Donaldson singled, French going to third. Zeider was out, third to first. Donaldson stole second and French scored on Jonnard's bad throw. Riley walked, but Sullivan struck out and Orr popped to Turgeon, ending the game.

TEXAS TRACKERS TO KANSAS MEET

AUSTIN, April 18.—The University of Texas Longhorn track team, which won the medley relay race cup at Lawrence, Kans., last year, will defend their trophy in the Kansas state capital Friday and Saturday.

This meet, which is conducted by the University of aKnsas, will be attended by 1,000 athletes from high schools, colleges and universities from all over the United States.

Coach Clyde Littlefield will enter George Ritchie of Mineral Wells, Kenneth Hackler of Dallas, either Captain Richard McNatt of San Saba or Dewey Youngblood of Fort Worth, and Jim Reese of Comanche in the medley race. Aubrey Jackson of Hillsboro and Frank Dayvault of Glen Flora will also enter individual contests, Jackson is a 220-yard hurdler, while Dayvault will take part in the shotput and discus events.

The University of Texas winning relay team of last year included McNatt, Reese, Beaumont Stinnett of Amarillo, and Tommy Loop of Stamford.

"I am unable to predict the outcome of this year's race," stated Coach Littlefield. "I feel certain our team will make the same time it did last year, but it is impossible to tell what the other teams will do. Last year we run the race in seven minutes, 45 seconds and a half. That time was within three-fifths of a second of the world's record," according to the Longhorn coach.

The selection of Watson Washburn as a member of America's Olympic tennis team is surprising in one way—if that he is not listed in the ranking ten U. S. players. He was placed fifteenth after the 1023 campaign.

The choice is a logical one, however, when Washburn's experience in international play is considered. His worth as a doubles player is also beyond need of discussion.

Washburn and Williams were the two men who turned back the Jap invasion in the Davis cup matches in 1921, defeating Kumagae and Shimizu in the doubles event.

D. B. C. WINNERS OVER POLLYWOGS

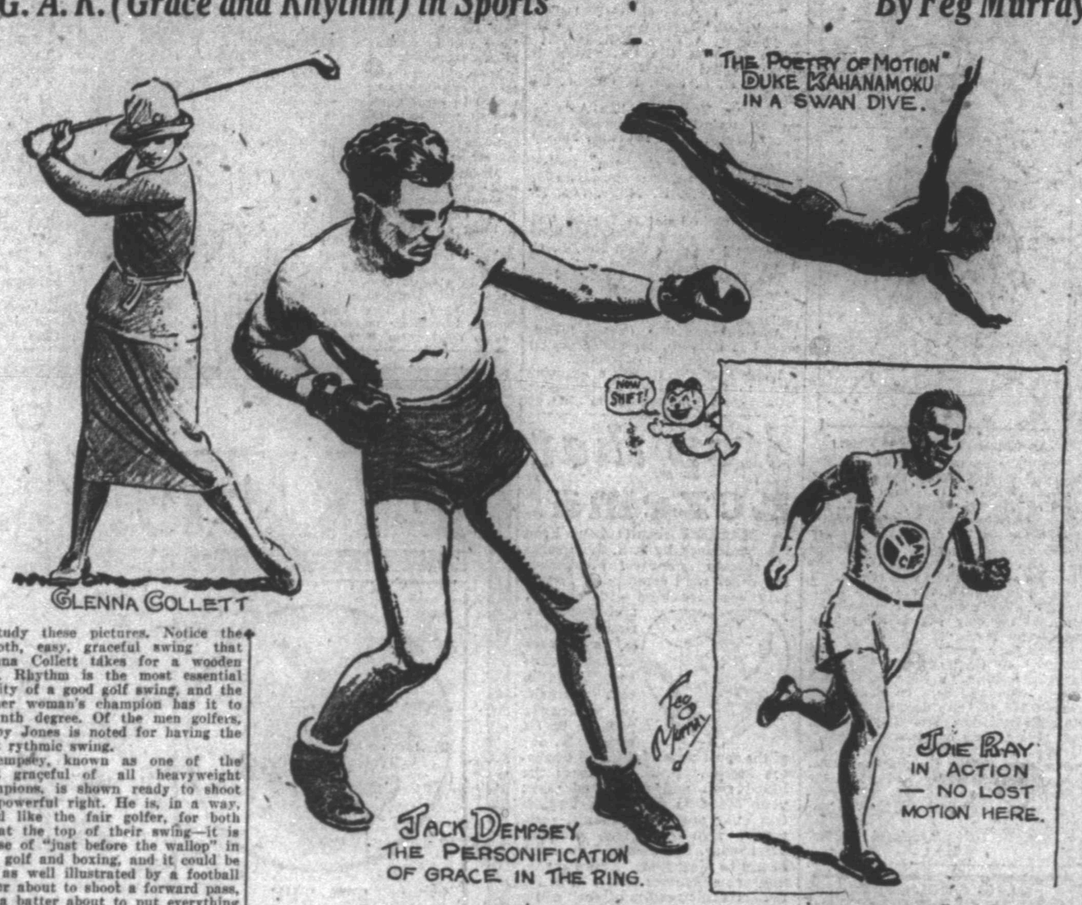

DECATUR, Texas, April 18.—Decatur Baptist college defeated the T. C. U. Pollywogs at Ft. Worth Thursday, 7 to 6. Decatur got away to an early lead, which the Christians were unable to overcome.

Biddy for the Baptists secured a home run and two triples out of four trips to the plate. Watson also hit a homer.

Batteries: T. C. U., Brewster and Smith; Decatur, Watson and Sebastian.

Johnny Dundee's ambition increases with his age. Having acquired the featherweight and junior lightweight titles after 12 or 15 years of scrapping Dundee is still hopeful of landing another title—the lightweight one now held by Benjamin Actor Leonard.

G. A. R. (Grace and Rhythm) in Sports — By Feg Murray

Study these pictures. Notice the smooth, easy, graceful swing that Glenna Collett takes for a wooden shot. Rhythm is the most essential quality of a good golf swing, and the former woman's champion has it to the nth degree. Of the men golfers, Bobby Jones is noted for having the most rythmic swing.

Dempsey, known as one of the most graceful of all heavyweight champions, is shown ready to shoot his powerful right. He is, in a way, posed like the fair golfer, for both are at the top of their swing—it is a case of "just before the wallop" in both golf and boxing, and it could be just as well illustrated by a football player about to shoot a forward pass, and a batter about to put everything into his forward swing at the horsehide.

Joie Ray is about the smoothest, easiest runner of the cinder-path today. If Joie didn't have rhythm and grace, and the ability to propel his arms and legs without the least bit of wasted action, he wouldn't be the champion that he is, year after year.

A graceful swan dive is about the prettiest thing there is to watch in all outdoor sports. Duke Kahanamoku, here shown volplaning through the air like a bird, has that graceful rhythmic something in his powerful crawl stroke, as well as in his diving, which enables him to continue breaking swimming records even though he is well over thirty years old.

Electra Strong For Trackmen

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, April 17.—Coach Dinsmore, of the Electra high school athletic squad, says that he believes his boys will have a good chance to capture some first prize trophies and honors at the track meet to be held in Iowa Park Saturday.

Although it is admitted by the local men that Baldwin of Wichita Falls, will make the contests hard to carry, Electra's favorite, Lawton Thomas, has been showing up fine in track practices here the past two weeks. Thirteen of the local boys are entered, and they expect to at least capture some first places.

A large delegation of local rooters will be on hand to encourage them.

BAYLOR OPENING COACHES SCHOOL

WACO, Texas, April 18.—The first school of coaching ever conducted by a southwestern United States university will be opened at Baylor university here June 15 with Frank B. Bridges, a graduate of the Harvard university department of physical education and director of athletics at Baylor university, in charge. Coach Bridges, who turned out the southwestern conference championship football team here in 1922, will offer a course in "Football, Theory and Practice."

A score or more past and present football stars of the southwest will be brought to Baylor to demonstrate the various plays and football coaching and practice methods. Floyd (Jim) Crow, former Texas A. & M. star, and line coach at Baylor, also will offer several courses in the school of coaching. Ralph R. Wolf, star Bear trackman of several years ago, and now track coach and trainer of the university here, will offer courses in that branch of athletics.

None of the usual matriculation or incidental fees of the college will be charged where students in the coaching school are not applicants for college credit. The course, however, may be taken as a full major subject for credit in the school of education.

A list of the courses to be offered in the coaching school, and their respective instructors, follows: "Football, Theory and Practice," Bridges; "Football Line Play," Crow; "Basketball Theory and Practice," Bridges; "Track and Field Sports," Wolf; "Gymnastics," Bridges; "Conditioning and Training of Athletic Teams," Wolf.

Every now and then we read about some fighter's manager "laying down the law." "Joe Goofus will have to fight my boy first or he won't fight anybody," pipes up the daughty managerial parasite.

Jr. Hi Rally Beats Burk, 9-8

Wichita Falls Junior Hi team rallied briskly in the ninth inning, overcame a five run lead, and ended the game with Burkburnett here Friday on the long end of a 9-8 score. Two walks, three hits and a flock of errors did the trick. The junior Coyotes won their game after this fashion with one out in the last frame.

Burkburnett went strong until the ninth inning blow-up, getting thirteen hits off Brashear and Seale. Horton received for Wichita. For Burkburnett, battery was Bowler and West.

Coyotes to County Track Meet Today

Today is the day for which Wichita Falls high school trackmen have been waiting, when district four winners will enter in the annual tournament at Iowa Park.

Never have the Coyotes come out with a victory over the Electra Tigers at this meet, and this year the odds are stacked again in the Tiger's favor.

Coach "Bud" McCallum is taking some fifteen cinder path artists to the meet in the hopes of giving the Tigers a run for the money.

In the individual high-point division, Leo Baldwin is doped to have a shade on Thomas, the Tiger star. Thomas was the state's best last year in running the 100 yards and will be hard to beat in the dashes.

A blow came at the last minute when it was learned Buck Steed, stellar performer on the Coyote relay four, will not be eligible for the meet. In his place, McCallum will use Martin or "Big" Smith, he stated Friday.

With Baldwin taking the hurdles and the jumps, Smith and Steve West the weights, there will be left to the distance men the task of carrying the crimson and black across.

Beaty and West were primed to enter the hurdle events with Baldwin, Martin with Baldwin in the 100-yard dash. The absence of Steed will be felt in several portions of the day's work. Beatty and Presson will probably run the 220 and the 440. Barrett, Cadane and Catter. The half mile is expected to be taken by either Catter, Keller or Miller, with the mile left to Neal and Nolen. Beatty and Callaghan are the Coyote pole vaulters.

Iowa Park has some good men in Davis, Hill, Smith and Van Horn. The small number of Iowa Park thinly clads leaves them under a handicap, but there will be among them some winners after the meet is done.

TIMELY REVIEWS ON WORLD TOPICS

"WASHINGTON SCANDALS THREATEN DEMOCRACY," SAYS MRS. GIFFORD PINCHOT."

Mrs. Gifford Pinchot, wife of the governor of Pennsylvania, sees danger of the end of democracy in recent developments in Washington, in a prepared statement she made recently:

"A sinister development of the recent disclosures at Washington is the control which corrupt business and groups representing liquor and other interests are managing to obtain over certain elements in both political parties. The real danger is that this would mean the end of democracy.

"Perhaps the most subversive and dangerous evidence of lawlessness with which we have to cope today is the open violation of the eighteenth amendment which we see on every side; a cynical contempt for law on the part of a small group is bound to bring evil consequences in its train to the entire community. There is the failure to enforce law on the part of those elected officials who have sworn to do so, the encouragement which this gives bootleggers and rum runners to defy the law for their own profit, and the moral obtuseness of decent men and women who talk of personal liberty without realizing what liberty means, without understanding that when law abdicates, liberty ceases and anarchy rules.

"Without buyers there ould be no sellers. Without a market there would be no bootleggers, no rum runners, no poisoned alcohol, nc corrupt judges. Unfaithful officials, venal procurers and lawless consumers are heaping upon the United States the deepest disgrace which has come upon it."

CLEVELAND, Ohio.—Selective immigration based upon physical, mental and moral qualifications of individuals, as opposed to racial or national qualities, recommended by the immigration committee of the chamber of commerce of the United States, is prepared for submission to the chamber's national convention here May 6 to 8.

Little Lessons In Big Sports

Why it it that a player often will get much worse "pulls" with his irons than with his wooden clubs?

Answered by
BOB CRUIKSHANK

Runner up in National Open championship, 1923, and the man who, in 1921, defeated Hutchison, Sarazen and Barnes in an invitation tournament at St. Joseph, Mo. Runner up in Pittsburgh tournament for professional golfers, 1922, being defeated only by Sarazen.

The tendency with the average golfer in iron play is to stand too far away from the ball and thus "pull" his shot. This allows too much scope for the elbows; in other words, the elbows are not kept close enough to the body. The elbows should be kept close to the body—not strained, but so as to give a compact feeling. A straight left arm throughout the stroke and firm wrists will greatly assist in keeping the ball straight. Too loose wrist action is very often the cause of "pulling."

Today's Iron

By T. T. HUNT.

What with Wichita Falls winning and others losing, there is not so much choice now in the standings. The noble San Antonio Bears have managed to weather through.

A most propitious start—that's the Spudders. A young club and a fighting club—that's also the Spudders. A manager who has his team's interest always out in front, who will work and get his men to work—that's Buddy Tanner.

Buddy was talking about how good the present on opening day made him feel. And most anyone could tell that, too.

Harry Schwab, who disappeared from the Spudder roster before there was one, is out in uniform these days and looking like he'd like to start. Although in the togs only a few days before his injury, the first sacker candidate made quite an impression.

Pete Turgeon is going like abousen-fire. And not by himself. When Foreman lobbed a couple of balls ideally wide to walk him in the fifth, he did not know of his bad judgment. He was told of it later, by the sweet music of a soundly thwacked ball over near right centerfield fence. Callaghan turned the trick.

It's ominous the way the Cats are getting tarred. For, true to custom and just natural causes, Atz will not be able to get the time-worn cogs of his steam roller into working order for a time.

Cold, with rain, postponed four games in the majors Friday while the Texas went marching on.

Mons. Riley was left almost entirely alone at first. Outside of Spudder runners brushing past him on the way, his job was fairly easy. It was along in the seventh inning when he got his first putout. The other came in the eighth, both being from the arm of Orr. His chances of making putouts on his own hook were exactly nothing, minus.

One Gasser earning a night's rest was Eichrodt. Six hard hit fly balls did he snare, besides the ones he picked up near the fence.

Home runs are one thing there has been little of.

Getting back to amateur athletics, Texas university is again battering along on top the Southwestern under Uncle Billy Disch's wise guidance; the spring track meets are going along; and Twilight and Sunday school leagues get better with the larger crowds.

BAYLOR HURDLER TO KANSAS MEET

WACO, Texas, April 18.—Earle (Mule) Frazier of Baylor university, dean of all Southwestern conference hurdlers and referred to by Olympic officials as one of the greatest athletes the southwest has ever produced, left Thursday for Lawrence, Kansas, where he will take part in the great Kansas relay meet. More than 1,000 athletes from 100 universities, colleges, military schools and schools of the country are entered in the meet.

On Saturday the veteran Baylor track star, who this year was ruled out of the Southwestern conference, will run a special 400-metre exhibition hurdle race against Reilly, the Kansas timber topper of national repute. Both of these men have Olympic aspirations. If Frazier shows as much speed in this race with Reilly Saturday as he showed in the national collegiate championship tournament held at Chicago a few years ago, when he did 15 1-0 seconds on the high hurdles and 23 9-10 on the lows, he stands a good chance of beating the Kansan. Whether Frazier is as fast now as he was then, however, is a question that may be answered in Saturday's race.

From Kansas Frazier will go to Philadelphia where next week he will participate in the Penn relays. Frazier was unable to participate in both the Drake and Penn relays because of conflicting dates of the two meets.

Security 5, K-P 2, in Good Game

Security National Bank club defeated the K-P crew 5 to 2 in completing the first week's round of the Twilight league schedule, Friday afternoon. The largest gallery of the week was present.

Glidewell went all the way for the winners, and although allowing six hits the seven innings, turned in the remarkable record of striking out 10 K-P batsmen. Errorless support by his teammates and a home run by himself, added to take the contest.

Friley and Hatton gave out only seven hits, but they were for extra bases, and errors finished the balance.

University Seismograph Records Earthquake a Week.

By The Associated Press.

BERKELEY, Calif. — An earthquake a week is the average recorded by the seismograph at the University of California. The station has gathered data which has been forwarded to scientists all over the world.

Most of the tremors were of remote origin, though some were quite close to home. One, which the instrument failed to localize, was traced by Professor J. B. Macelwane of the geography department by interviewing persons who had felt the shock. It was found to have centered in the Corralitos district in the Santa Cruz mountains of California.

Japanese Laborers Organize For Expected Manhood Ballot.

In many parts of the country industrial and agricultural guilds are forming in preparation for direct participation in national politics. Farm tenants have recently formed the largest of these organizations, 12,000 farmers in Yamanashi perfecture and the district around Fujiyama having organized the Yamanashi Farm Tenant's association, with political action as its chief purpose.

FRIENDLY RIVALS FOR JOB

Max Bishop, left, and Jimmy Dykes.

Jimmy Dykes was counting on playing second base for the Athletics this season. Then Connie Mack purchased Max Bishop for a mint of money. The two lads fought it out for the keystone job. Bishop has won out, temporarily at least. But that doesn't change the friendship between the two aspirants.

ILLINOIS FORCES READY FOR VOTES

By The Associated Press.

SPRINGFIELD, Ills., April 18.—Political forces consolidated their legions in Illinois today preparatory for the great November offensive which democrats and republicans in the biennial state conventions, with rousing platform, focused their attention upon victory in November.

At the democratic gathering the leadership of George E. Brennan, Cook county chieftain, was reaffirmed by the success of the organization program.

Across the street the Small-Thompson-Lundin combination jumped into the saddle at the outset, organized the party and proclaimed the "great day of triumph."

WALTON FREED ON ALL COUNTS

Judge Dismisses Charges Against Deposed Oklahoman

By The Associated Press.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., April 18.—For the first time since his removal from office five months ago, former Governor J. C. Walton was clear tonight of all charges growing out of his conduct in office. District Judge A. S. Wells late today sustained demurrers to the last five charges of diverting public funds pending against the deposed executive.

The court acted over the protest of County Attorney J. K. Wright, who gave notice of appeal to the criminal court of appeals. If that court sustains the lower, Wright said he would file new informations against Walton. The new informations, Wright said, would rectify errors in the original charges, which the court today held were invalid because they charged Walton with being a principal in the diversion of funds whereas he only "aided and abetted" in the diversion.

Walton was charged with having caused T. P. Edwards, his personal chauffeur, to be paid out of funds of the state health department. Similar charges were included in the bill of impeachment on which he was removed from office.

KINGSTON, Jamaica.—Jamaica decided to spend $1,000,000 for a dam to augument the water supply of Kingston. Visitors to the island have complained about the appearance of Kingston, and the authorities have decided not only to extend the water supply, but have concluded arrangements for the re-making of the streets and bettering the sanitary system at a further cost of $2,000,000.

SCHREIBERHAU, Germany. — Death recently brought peace to a woman in the Schriberhau hospital who was once the wife of Leopold Woelfling, an Archduke of Austria, who became a variety of performer after royalty crashed in that country.

Marie Ritter was the woman's maiden name. She was the daughter of a peasant and was serving as a maid in Berlin when Woelfling married her in 1907, after divorcing his first wife. The second marriage soon terminated. The abandoned wife was left penniless and was buried by friends who had known her before her marriage.

BONUS BILL IS BEFORE SENATE

Curtis Believes Its Passage Is Mere Matter Of Time

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 18.—The soldier bonus bill was taken under consideration by the senate tonight with the prediction by Senator Curtis, republican, Kansas, its sponsor, that only a "few days would be necessary for its passage."

A political skirmish marked its official entry before the senate, democrats withholding temporarily their proposal for inclusion in the bill of any option for full cash payments to veterans.

Senator Harrison, democrat, Mississippi, asked Senator Curtis to seek the view of President Coolidge on the bill as passed by the house and ordered reported by the senate finance committee with the 20 years endowment policy provision.

"If these reports were true," Senator Harrison said, "that are coming to us through American Legion officers, that President Coolidge will sign the pending bill but would veto a measure with a full cash payment option, we democrats will gladly expedite passage of this measure."

Meanwhile Senator Walsh, democrat, Massachusetts, introduced a substitute bill providing for the insurance policies or a full cash payment option, which he said he may offer.

DEFENSE WINS GROCERY SUIT

Napier Orders Instructed Verdict in Blair vs. Basham Case

An instructed verdict for the defendant was returned late Friday afternoon in the case of the Blair Hughes Wholesale Grocery company vs. C. E. Basham, E. S. Goodner and others after evidence had been heard by a jury and Judge E. H. Napier of the Seventy-eighth district court.

As a basis of action it was alleged by the plaintiffs that several years ago they had sold 1,000 sacks of sugar, valued at $2,400, to a number of local restaurant operators. The sugar was stored, it was brought out, and later the selling company took a mortgage on the lot and accepted the notes of the purchasers. These latter suffered a business decline then, it was alleged, and creditors of the men induced a local business man to take over the properties operated by them, care for the funds and look after affairs while a settlement was made.

While this was being done, it is alleged, the sugar held by the plaintiffs was used. Suit was accordingly brought for collection. A judgment, of course, will be allowed against the obligators, but the court ruled that the creditors of the cafe men were not liable for the sugar consignment.

FIRE DAMAGES BURNETT HOME

Fire of undetermined origin caused a loss of approximately $500 at 10 o'clock Friday morning in the home of C. S. Conant, 402 Burnett street. The blaze was discovered in the roof of the building and had made good headway before an alarm was turned in. Firemen succeeded in subduing the flames, however, before they had spread to all parts of the house.

The loss is said to be covered by insurance.

GO TO CHURCH Easter Sunday — and EVERY SUNDAY

"Rejoice in the Lord always, and again I say, rejoice!" St. Paul's words will find glad echo on Easter Sunday; for millions will come from out of the tombs of passion, pride, doubt or despair into the sunlight of a new morning.

As Christ triumphed over death, so our faith will conquer temptations and trials. We will come closer to Christ; we will hear his message proclaimed from our pulpits; and we will realize anew the spiritual benefits of church attendance on Easter Sunday and every Sunday.

When all denominations teach the glory of God, what matters it where we attend church, AS LONG AS WE ATTEND!

So in whatever Wichita Falls Church we worship this year, the Easter lillies will be taken from the altar and transplanted into the hearts of men, there to bloom perennially.

MEN! ATTEND

HONOR MISS MILLER.

In special honor of Miss Donna Miller as a prenuptial courtesy to her marriage to Mr. John Vann on April 30th, Mrs. W. D. Utts and Mrs. J. D. Ahern entertained with a delightful one o'clock luncheon at the Utts home Tuesday afternoon.

The splendid three-course menu was daintily served about five small tables, and amid a pretty setting of yellow and white. The color scheme was carried out in the centerpieces of yellow jonquils, angel food cake with an orange icing and orange cream.

At the close of the luncheon a season was given over to bridge in which Mrs. John Hanning won first place and Mrs. H. I. Johnson second honors, while the honoree, Miss Miller, received the booby prize which was a tiny "bunny." That, however, was not the end, the bunny was found to carry a little note which told Miss Miller were to find the Easter nest; and, in compliance with the suggestion, she found a wonderful big basket covered with green moss on top of which was the little Easter nest of many colored eggs—but the end was not yet. Beneath it all she found a wealth of useful and beautiful gifts from the friends assembled, a veritable kitchen shower with every modern accessory from a full set of pyrex to the indispensible can opener.

The guests of this gay gathering were Mesdames Jack McKenzie, Kiser, Hanning, Joe Overton, Harry Lamb, R. E. Moss, Leo Foster, Dewey Pence, William Martin, Floyd McCutcheon, Floyd Covington, Andy Anderson, H. I. Johnson, Blake Grennell, W. R. Hill, H. A. Brooks, A. R. MAIDS AND MATRONS.

The Young Maids and Matrons club was entertained at its last meeting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Spence. The pretty rooms displayed an artistic arrangement of decorations in the four colors of red, yellow, green and orange; which were carried forth in the evening colors, bright caps which were worn by the merry guests throughout the hours.

A gay series of bridge was played, ending with Mrs. Saxe holding high score, and was duly rewarded with a tiny teapot, while Miss Knauth was consoled with a gift of home-made divinity candy.

The pleasant occasion was concluded with a treat of refreshments, a salad course with sandwiches, pie and coffee.

Those present were Misses Lilla Majors, Addie Floyd, Winnie Waldroup, Cora Knauth, Geraldine Parker, Agnes Grennell, Gladys Gibbons, Weltha McClain, Ellone Word, Mesdames E. Wyatt, Lynn Kincaid, W. D. Pence, M. E. Gleason, Pat Crawford, R. B. Saxe and Mrs. Eura Moore, mother of the hostess.

UNIVERSITY STUDY CLUB.

On Wednesday afternoon the ladies of the University Study club met their bi-weekly session at the home of W. D. Gant with Mrs. I. E. Harwell and John E. Haynes as joint hostesses.

The program was informal and the time passed in social exchange over busy needles. A sprightly little contest was also given in which a potato and an onion was placed before the guests and each asked to write a poem on the two vegetables. The rooms rang with merriment as each "author" read her jingle; and then by vote of the body, Mrs. W. P. Martin was given first place on the efforts and Mrs. R. D. Cunningham, second. Each was rewarded with a dainty heliotrope handkerchief for their cleverness.

The closing feature of the gathering was an elegant Easter luncheon in which the plate was especially beautiful; the cream being in heliotrope hue and in form of a large Easter lily, while the cake was decorated in the delicate colors. The special plate favor was a spray of sweet peas in lavender hue.

Those enjoying this charming hospitality were: Mesdames Joe M. Overton, W. R. Hill, R. D. Cunningham, W. D. Utts, J. C. Adams, Glenn Kincaid, W. P. Martin, J. M. F. Gill, Rex D. Smith, J. M. Pogue, Joe Davis, M. L. Urban, R. L. Brumbalow and her sister, Miss Eola Spring from Australia.

YOUNG MATRONS.

The monthly social of the young matrons' class in the Central Christian church was held at the home of Mrs. W. J. Hodges this month. A short business session opened the meeting, after which the hours were spent informally over busy flying needles.

The concluding favor was a refreshment course served the following members present: Mesdames R. L. Sparkman, N. C. Sheffer, Cecil Price, Curry Calhoun, Walts, Scarbrough, W. J. Dickson, Forest Burgess and W. D. Bent.

Easter Menu Suggestions

Potato Puree.

One dozen potatoes, 2 onions, 1 head celery, half cup butter, salt parsley, 2 quarts white stock, 3 cloves, 3 yolks of eggs, half cup of cream, 1 tablespoon butter.

Dice pared potatoes and fry with onions and celery in half cup butter. Add veal stock, cloves, parsley, salt and pepper. Simmer, then pass through sieve. Just before serving add beaten yolks diluted with cream and remaining butter in tiny bits. Serve with chopped parsley and bread crutons.

Raspberry Cream Ice.

One quart rich cream, 1 cup sugar, 1 pint raspberry juice, one and one-half cups sugar, juice half a lemon.

Mix lemon and raspberry juice with one and one-half cups sugar and let stand. Mix cream with one cup sugar and begin to freeze in ice cream freezer. When partly frozen, add second mixture and finish freezing. The whites of two unbeaten eggs will make the mixture more velvety. It may be molded or served in individual cups.

Pineapple Cake.

Half cup butter, one and a half cups sugar, half cup milk, two and a fourth cups flour, 4 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon lemon extract, whites of five eggs.

Bake in two-layer cake pans. Make filling by grating the flesh of a pineapple and adding three-fourths cup of sugar to each cup of pulp. Simmer slowly until of marmalade consistency. Spread between layers and decorate with marshmallow icings.

French Dressing.

Six tablespoons oil, 2 tablespoons vinegar or lemon juice, half teaspoon salt, one-fourth teaspoon pepper or paprika, onion juice or garlic.

Rub the salad bowl with a clove of garlic or a few drops of onion juice. Blend pepper, salt and oil, then add acid and stir or shake to an emulsion. This is the standard dressing suitable for all green vegetables and many fruits. It may be varied by adding one teaspoon made mustard or chopped herbs, capers or other seasonings. Always chill oil and vinegar before blending.

Cheese and Celery Salad—This may be served as a luncheon dish with sandwiches and fruit. Select celery stalks with depe grooves, wash dry. Mix a small cream cheese with a bit of salt, and one-fourth cup finely chopped nuts. Fill grooves in celery stalk with the cheese mixture and chill. When ready to serve cut stalks into small pieces with sharp knife. Serve on lettuce leaves with French dressing.

Mrs. Tom Hickman Killed By Accidental Shot; Known Here

GAINESVILLE, Texas, April 18.—Mrs. Tom Hickman, wife of a ranger captain, accidentally shot herself at Fort McKavitt, according to a message received here signed by Sergeant Koonsman. The message simply said she and her husband were packing preparatory for a trip to London, England, when the accident happened, and Mrs. Hickman died instantly. Captain Hickman was going to England as a judge in a rodeo contest. The message was to Fred Hickman, a cousin of Captain Hickman.

The death of Mrs. Hickman was announced first in Wichita Falls by a telegram to Sergeant J. W. McCormick which he received at 11 o'clock Friday morning. The message had been sent by Ranger M. N. Koonsman who stated that Mrs. Hickman's death was instantaneous following the accidental shooting.

Immediately on receipt of the message Sergeant McCormick and Ranger W. W. Belcher sent a message to Captain Hickman expressing their sympathy. Later flowers were sent and both officers expect to attend the funeral.

Captain Hickman was to have been a judge in the Triangle Rodeo on the Tom Burnett ranch next week.

Baylor Now Has An Alpha Omega

Special to The Record News.

WACO, Texas, April 18.—For the purpose of developing social culture and the erection of a club house on the campus for the use of the entire student body, the Alpha Omega club has been organized among junior and senior women of Baylor university. The club has just been given the sanction of President S. P. Brooks of the university, who was handed a copy of the regulations of the constitution yesterday.

The new club house, it is suggested, would accommodate functions of various classes and organizations of the university and would afford all students of the university an opportunity to develop social culture, poise and grace. Such a club house would contain reception halls, parlors, living rooms, dining rooms and banquet halls to be used by both students and faculty members.

Organization of the Alpha Omega club was the indirect result of a visit to Baylor last fall by Mrs. George P. Isbell of San Antonio, a former Baylor student, who pointed out the lack of opportunity to develop social culture and who said that the "present lack of practice of social graces at all American colleges and universities is one of the greatest defects in college and university training."

Woman Caught Taking Goods In Two Stores

A fine of $1 and costs was assessed Friday afternoon against a local woman when she entered a plea of guilty before Judge Guy Rogers of the county court at law to charges of theft of clothing. It was reported later, however, that felony charges were to be filed against the woman as a result of a shop-lifting escapade in which three dresses are alleged to have been taken from Wichita Falls stores.

The minimum penalty was inflicted by the court before she had been informed of the three thefts.

The woman was caught in the Williams store with an expensive dress in her possession, it was said, and later she is alleged to have confessed taking two other dresses from the J. C. Penny store. All three garments were found in her possession when she was taken to the city hall by Patrolman McIver. She was questioned by Chief Detective Dave May and Detective John Boone and later turned over to District Attorney James V. Allred to whom the confession was made.

NAME DIRECTORS FOR FAIR TODAY

Two directors to represent the 13th state senatorial district on the state board for the Texas Centennial and World's fair will be elected this afternoon at a meeting to be held in the Wichita county courthouse. Delegates from each of the counties in the district were elected last Saturday and all of these will meet here today to make the district selections.

The centennial and fair will be held in 1936 and plans are already being laid to make it an elaborate affair.

Today's meeting is scheduled to start at 2 o'clock.

Mayonnaise Dressing.

Two raw egg yolks, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 2 tablespoons vinegar, 1 pint olive oil, half teaspoon salt, half teaspoon mustard, 1 teaspoon powdered sugar, grains cayenne.

Have all materials very cold. Mix salt and pepper, add other seasonings and the egg yolks. Beat well with Dover egg beater, adding acid gradually. When all acid has been added, add oil a teaspoon at a time, beating vigorously. When dressing begins to solidify, oil in larger amounts may be used. Last, beat two tablespoons boiling water to keep it from curdling. Keep in glass jar in cold place. This may be used on many salads and varied by adding chopped pickles, horseradish, olives, etc. It may be colored red or green. When combined with whipped cream it is ideal for fruit salads.

Asparagus, Mousseline Sauce.

Bunch of asparagus, 4 tablespoons butter, yolks of 4 eggs, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, one-fourth cup thick cream, one-fourth teaspoon salt, pepper, toast.

Scrape and boil asparagus in a bunch. Drain. Prepare sauce by beating two tablespoons butter to a cream, then adding yolks of eggs one at a time. Last, add lemon juice and seasonings. Cook over hot water until it thickens, then add remaining butter in three parts, beating each in separately. Beat in the cream and serve when thoroughly heated. This is delicious also on cauliflower, artichoke, and other tender vegetables. Make salad of any stalks left by enclosing in ring of pepper and topping with mayonnaise.

BAKED FRESH HAM

Scrub and lay 10 pound ham (fresh) in pan and roast, allowing 25 minutes for pound. When partially cooked, cut off outer skin, brush over with beaten yolk of egg diluted with milk and sprinkle with mixed sugar and cracker crumbs. Return to oven to finish browning. This fresh ham tastes like veal or chicken. It is very delicious sliced cold.

Another method is to cover the ham with a paste of flour and water before baking. About an hour before it is finished, make a hole in the paste and pour in a cup of hot cider. Repeat twice. When tender remove and skin, sprinkle with sugar and crumbs and brown as above.

Tongue in Aspic Jelly.

Boiled beef tongue, aspic jelly, hard-boiled egg, cucumber pickle, capers and cress.

Aspic jelly is made either from a rich beef stock or by adding two ounces of granulated gelatin to six cups of consomme such as a canned soup. Tongue should be boiled, skinned and cooled. Trim in even slices and lay them in the bottom of a mold or bread pan. Fill with aspic for one-half inch, set mold in ice to firm and chill. Continue decorating with slices of hard-boiled egg, cucumber rings and capers. Fill up with more aspic. When complete set on ice for several hours. Unmold and garnish with cress and lengthwise quarters of hard-boiled egg and serve with mayonnaise as main dish of hot weather meal or company luncheon.

SALADS AND SALAD SERVING

Summer is salad time and every housewife can become adept at making delicious fruit or vegetable salads suitable for any meal. Salads should be cool, crisp and simple and complicated mixtures avoided. Do not soak lettuce or other salad plants in water or oil. Pick over, wash quickly, drain well; wrap in cheesecloth and lay on ice.

All ingredients should be dry before mixing with dressing and added just before serving. Add the oil first, toss leaves until coated, then add other ingredients. Do not cut the pieces of fruit or vegetable too large or too small. Be sure you select the right salad to go with other dishes of your meal.

With heavy meats, such as pork, beef or rich fish, serve simple vegetable salads with simple acid dressings. With light meats like chicken, lamb, sweetbreads, etc., serve more elaborate vegetable and fruit combinations with less acid dressings. Never repeat in the salad course a vegetable used in a previous course, or a fruit that may follow in the dessert. Fruit salads or cocktails for the first course should be acid, as separate courses for refreshment they may be sweet.

Eggs and cheese increase the nutritive value of a salad and should not be used when meat is served. Starchy salads like potato should not be used when other starchy foods are included. The heavier salads are best eaten alone as the main dish of luncheon or a light meal. In summer jelly forms of salad are particularly attractive. Diced meat, eggs, vegetables and fruit may be served in an aspic or jelly served very cold. Leftover vegetables are always acceptable in a salad form. Learn to make a standard dressing and vary it according to the salad.

Milk As a Food

Many persons do not realize that milk is not a beverage but a food with the same value as meat. In hot weather it should be used extensively to replace meat and heavy dishes. Not only milk but buttermilk and cheese, which is a concentrated form of milk, are ideal summer foods. Such drinks as eggnogg or buttermilk, eaten with bread and a light salad are a complete hot weather meal.

Many delicious milk gelatins are easily made and if flavored with fruit are refreshing as well as nourishing. Ice cream is one of the best forms in which to use milk in summer, combining cooling qualities with food value. Homemade ice cream is no more difficult than pastry or cake and should be frequently made.

Cheese in all forms is a good hot weather food. Used in a custard, souffle or similar dish it replaces meat. Grated cheese may be combined with rice, in soup, and on salads. Cream cheese is the most digestible, delicious in sandwiches and in savory accessories to salads. Excellent dressing may be made from leftover sour cream, and all sour milk should be used either in baking or in the form of pot cheese.

Evaporated milk is pure milk, unsweetened, from which the water has been evaporated by machinery. A good grade of evaporated milk has the same quality as fresh milk and is often superior for sauces and other cooking. Some brands may be sweetened and flavored and used like whipped cream. On the other hand condensed milk is an entirely different product containing sugar in equal weight to milk. Powdered milk or dried milk is fresh milk from which all liquid has been removed. Water may be added to it and it used as fresh milk. An increased use of milk dishes will mean greater health for the family in hot weather.

QUICK AND EASY BREAD MAKING

No one item of a meal becomes so monotonous as the same kind of bread. And nothing is easier to give variety and appetite than different kinds of light breads. Learn a good standard recipe for a muffin or a baking powder biscuit, then vary it by using different kinds of flours, adding a cup of raisins, sprinkling cinnamon and sugar on top for a coffee cake, or baking the same mixture in different kinds of pans.

Bran flour and a half cup of shredded cocoanut will give a new taste to muffins. A few tablespoons of sliced orange peel may be added to some of the dough of the usual white bread sponge. A quick raising nut bread may be made with baking powder and will be delicious for sandwiches.

With all such breads, the eggs should be well beaten as it is the air enclosed by beating that helps the mixture to be light. Add the shortening, melted, last. Always have the oven hot and the pans or moulds also hot. The oven should be a quick oven at first to encourage rising.

In making baking powder biscuit mixtures, the biscuits will be more light and tender if the dough is made at night and stood in the cold until morning, or kept on ice several hours. Any biscuit mixture becomes a shortcake by the addition of more sugar and butter. Use any canned fruit or sliced oranges or bananas sweetened and mashed as filling. Any baking powder crust is also a meat pie crust or a dumpling, depending whether baked or broiled. Learn to add variety to every menu by the use of these different breads and doughs.

Marshmallow Icing.

One and a third cups granulated sugar, half cup boiling water, whites of 2 eggs, half pound marshmallows, 2 tablespoons boiling water, half teaspoon vanilla.

Boil sugar and water until it "threads." Remove from fire and whip into stiffly beaten whites. Add marshmallows cut in small pieces and melted over boiling water. Add flavor and beat until cold. Decorate with marshmallow cubes.

TODAY'S RECIPES

Boston Roast—Take one can kidney beans or same amount of cooked beans, salt, one-half pound grated cheese and bread crumbs. Mash beans or put them through a meat grinder. Add the cheese and sufficient bread crumbs to make the mixture stiff enough to be formed into a roll. Place in buttered baking pan and bake in moderate oven. Baste frequently with one-half cup hot water, in which one tablespoon butter is melted. Serve the roast with tomato sauce.

Fruit Salad—Take two oranges, three bananas, one-half pound Malaga grapes, 12 English walnuts, one head lettuce, French dressing. Peel oranges and remove pulp separately from each section. Peel bananas and cut in one-fourth inch slices. Remove skins and seeds from grapes. Break walnut meats in pieces. Mix prepared fruits and arrange on lettuce leaves. Serve with French dressing.

Meat Loaf—Wipe three pounds lean veal, and remove skin and membrane. Chop finely or force through meat chopper then add one-half pound fat salt pork (also finely chopped), six common crackers (rolled), four tablespoons cream, two tablespoons lemon juice, one teaspoon salt, one-half teaspoon pepper and a few drops onion juice. Pack in a small bread pan, smooth evenly on top, brush with white of egg, and bake slowly three hours, basting with one-fourth cup pork fat. Prick frequently while baking, that pork fat may be absorbed by meat, cool, remove from pan and cut in thin slices for serving.

Cheese Balls—Cheese balls served with tomato soup and sandwiches of plain bread and butter with a fruit dessert, form a meal. Take one-quarter cup flour, three-quarters cup grated cheese, one-quarter cup milk four eggs, salt and pepper. Beat eggs light, add other ingredients and blend over fire. Cool, form into balls and roll in cracker dust. Fry in deep fat.

KEEPING FIT IN SPRING

Spring is here and with it often comes the "spring fever" or "tired feeling." Do your best to keep fit physically. Exercise, drink plenty of water, eat proper food and keep a quiet mind. Brisk walks in the open air are fine. Drink a glass or two of water first thing in the morning between meals, and last thing at night. The first meal of the day is important as it directly affects the intestinal action, so do not omit breakfast. Vegetables and fruits head the proper food list and may be classified thus:

Those rich in cellulose, as string beans, celery, cabbage, asparagus, lettuce, spinach, onions, figs, raisins and prunes.

Those with vegetable acids, as lemons, oranges, rhubarb, tomatoes, grapefruit. Orange or lemon juice in the morning are beneficial.

Serenity of mind is essential to the efficient working of one's internal arrangements. Fear, anger, worry, any emotional disturbance immediately affects digestion. Be calm. "If you can't be aisy, be as aisy as you can."

Creamed Beets.

Beets, cream sauce, salt and pepper. Boil new beets, remove skins and cut in "shoestrings" about an inch long. Have ready delicate cream sauce, add beet sections and serve at once.

MEXICAN FIELDS GAIN STEADILY

Practically All Companies Report Increase In Exports of Crude

Special to The Record News.

HOUSTON, April 18.—Mexican exports of light and heavy crude, top crude and distillates fro Tampico district during March exceeded February export figures by 1,500,000 barrels and was greatest amount shipped in a month since October, 1922. The March total was 13,330,502 barrels. February total 11,808,550, and October, 1922, 13,602,580 barrels.

The March increase in exports mainly was because the sea-loading station of the gulf, closed since early last December, was able to resume operations and nearly all storage on the coast was filled. This is particularly true of the Mexican Seaboard, whose increase of 346,964 barrels in March shipments over February was mainly light crude.

Not only did the Transcontinental (Standard of New Jersey) lead all shippers for the fourth consecutive monthly period in March, but the 3,428,818 barrels loaded at Las Matillas and La Barra was the greatest amount ever loaded by this company in a month in Mexico.

The Huastect (Mexean Petroleum) showed a gain of 122,404 barrels in March over February, and in addition to these exports, which consisted mainly of light top crude, Cacalilao crude (top) and gasoline, the company sent into interior points in the republic 3,052,620 litres of refined gasoline and 163,830 litres of refined kerosene.

The Sinclair showed a decrease of 482,424 barrels in its March exports as against February, but the company actually exported an additional 500,000 barrels loaded at the terminals of other companies.

With the exception of the Sinclair, Mexican Gulf, East Coast, Pierce and United Oil all other companies showed an increase in March exports over those of the month before.

Rigging Up

By SUMMERS

Laredo and Luling are enjoying a boom period. Reports from the two towns are to the effect that the streets are crowded and that it is difficult to find lodging.

Railroads serving the two towns are taxed to keep pace with the rapid growth. Much oil field equipment is being consigned to the towns.

Activities are not confined to the two towns. The whole of the southwestern part of the state has the oil fever and each town is preparing for an influx of oil operators.

San Antonio, however, is the real Tulsa of southwest Texas. Most all transactions involving huge amounts are deals made in the Alamo city.

San Antonio has every modern convenience. Good roads radiate in all directions from the city. San Antonio is the logical center for the oil business of southwest Texas.

Albert Bartlett, state geologist of Wyoming, is to issue a bulletin on the southern part of Wyoming, giving data on the old fields of that district. The bulletin will describe 25 structures and give statistics on each. Of these, 16 are classed as worthless and nine as productive or not fully tested. Rock River is the best field of the area and Lost Soldier comes next.

Jefferson Field Survey Finished

Special to The Record News.

WAURIKA, April 18.—Frank V. Wright of Oklahoma City, former special representative of the department of justice, who recently left the government service to re-engage in the oil business, made a survey recently of sections of the southern part of Jefferson county.

Wright believes that the Clark Cowden and Kilgore discovery well, in 25-6-6, is at the north end of the structure and probably an edge well. He believes there is little doubt that the Hambro Oil company's second well, on the Seay ranch, is a paying producer. Because some five-year leases are nearing expiration in that area he looks for some rapid development before June 1.

CAMP COMPANY IS COMPLETING WELL

The Camp Oil and Gas company's L. F. Wilson 11-H, Geraldine townsite, American Tribune New Colony Lands survey, Archer county, is drilling in. The sand was found at depth of 1,587 feet. Company officials estimate the well as 100-125 barrel pumper.

R. M. F. Company Well Is Making 800 Bbls. Daily

The R. M. F. Oil company's L. F. Wilson E-1, section 27, American Tribune New Colony Lands, Wilmot pool, Archer county, was completed late Thursday from sand found at 1,595 feet. The well is reported flowing and swabbing at the rate of 800 barrels daily. The well is the best completion of the week in the Archer county district.

Luling Boosts Coast Output

Special to The Record News.

HOUSTON, April 18.—Were it not for the Luling field, principally the Guadalupe extension, the Gulf coast and southwest Texas pools would have shown a falling off in daily average production for the week. As it was, the salt dome pools, or heavy oil districts, did register a nominal decline of roundly 200 barrels, because of a 700-barrel decline in the Hull field. Combining the saline dome and south Texas pools gave an increase of around 1,700 barrels.

Orange forged back into third place by a bare 80 barrels over West Columbia. Goose Creek was in second place with 12,300 barrels. Other pools remained about steady, except Sour Lake, which fell off around 800 barrels.

TEXAS COMPANY POSTS NEW PRICES SMACKOVER CRUDE

By The Associated Press.

SHREVEPORT, La., April 18.—The Texas company, which recently cut the price of all grades of Smackover, Ark., crude oil 10 cents per barrel today announced an increase of 10 cents per barrel in the three top grades, leaving oil below 24 gravity unchanged at 85 cents. The top price is now $1.35.

CAMP COMPANY SETS AND CEMENTS CASING

The Camp Oil and Gas company's L. F. Wilson H-12, Geraldine townsite, American Tribune New Colony Lands survey, Archer county, has set and cemented casing on top of sand encountered at depth of 1,584 feet. The company's H-17, on the same lease is drilling at 800 feet.

TEXHOMA DRILLING DEEPER AT ELECTRA

The Texhoma Oil and Refining company's W. T. Waggoner A-30, section 34, H. & T. C. R. R. Co. survey, Electra district, is drilling at approximately 1,630 feet after testing sand encountered at about 1,600 feet. The company plans to drill to deeper horizons.

ELECTRA GULF TO OFFSET TEXHOMA

The Electra Gulf Oil company has made location in the south half of section 34, Kemp and Kempner lands. The test will be an offset to the Texhoma Staniforth's No. 2.

S. S. NIGHT AT M. E. REVIVAL

Money Not Main Thing In Life, Boaz Tells Large Crowd

Friday evening was "Sunday School Night" in the revival services at the First Methodist church, south, when Bishop Boaz preached to the largest crowd of the week on the theme, "The Worthy Aim of a Noble Life." He used for his text Ecclesiastes 1:3; "What profit hath a man of all his labor which he taketh under the sun?"

The sermon in part was as follows:

"The question was propounded by a wise man who was seeking to know what was the best thing for a man to do. all advanced in years, looking backwards, then into the future, he wants to know the worthy aim of a noble life.

It is an appropriate question now to ask. Life is ahead. Thirty or more years are ours. Eternity precedes and eternity follows. What we do with these few years determines our destinies. Some are just entering the threshold. What glorious hopes! Hearts are buoyant, hopes are radiant. You are eager for the contest. Hearts are fired by splendid ambitions, the flowers of hope are budding with beautiful promise. You must have a purpose.

" 'What profit?' is a worthy question. When one seeks employment for a few weeks or months, the question of profit enters in. Why is it not more important when the whole life is considered?

The view of life determines its motive. There are two distinct views of life. First, we hear Byron saying, "Life sparkles only at the brim." Again, we hear, "Vanity of vanities; all is vanity." Those who take this viewpoint believe life has more shadow than sunshine, sorrow than joy, pain than pleasure. The second viewpoint is given by Longfellow in his lines: "Life is real. Life is earnest, and the grave is not its goal. Dust thou art, to dust returneth, was not spoken of the soul." This is your view. It makes life sacred and fills it with boundless possibilities.

"Some live for pleasure alone. 'Eat, drink and be merry,' is their motto. They seek to gratify appetite. They look from one social event to another or from one physical pleasure to another. They joy in fine apparel, elegant fixtures, fine food. Such a life is simply animal. They live to eat. The dude in the ball room has no greater aim than the hog in the mire.

"God designed us to be happy. Have a good time. But let it not be the aim of life.

"Some live to achieve glory. The ambitious youth dreams of making a name. He wants to see this name in the daily paper or on the page of history. He longs for great victories and applauding multitudes. His soul is on fire for glory. He is willing to suffer all manner of privations, some seek glory by the sword, pen law, politics, preaching. Great souls are stirred by such ambitions. I am sorry for the man who has never known such stirrings of the soul.

"Some live to acquire wealth. This is the popular ambition. Most men seek wealth and care little for glory or the gratification of the appetite. The thirst for gain consumes. The greed for wealth is characteristic of Americans. They are prone to value men by money.

" 'Life is not in possessions. A man's life consisteth not in the abundance of the things that he possesseth.' One may amass a fortune and still be a failure and his life a positive curse to his country.

"Make all the money you can honorably. The faculty for making money is desirable. But let not money getting be the aim of life. Let it be secondary. Solomon sought pleasure, glory, money. Three times he succeeded the orange and at the end had but an empty rind.

"What is the true aim of life? The glory of God in the good of the race. Real life is in doing good. The truly great have rendered great service. Moses, Paul, Washington, Luther, Wesley, Jesus, are great examples. We live in deeds, not years. 'The Son of man come not to be ministered unto, but to minister.'

"You are here to help others. Life is in being. Being is greater than doing. Character is greater than achievement. 'Let this mind be in you which was also in Jesus.' 'Fear God and keep His commandments, for this is the whole duty of man.' 'Seek ye first the Kingdom of God and His righteousness, and all these things shall be added unti you.' You cannot live this life without Christ. You need Him now."

No Shortage Of Eggs Here When Kids Get Busy

No shortage of eggs was known in Wichita Falls Friday when the children of San Jacinto school presented the San Jacinto Mother's club 135 dozens of eggs, it was announced Friday afternoon at the meeting of the club. The eggs were bought by the White Front market and the Willow grocery, the $27.35 proceeds going into the treasury of the San Jacinto Mother's club.

Through the generosity of Mr. Wills who operates the Wills Cash grocery, 10 gallons of soap was donated for the Friday lunch of the school.

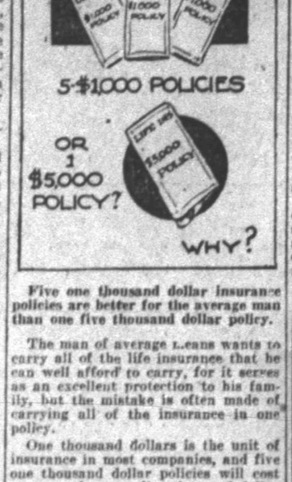

It was announced that election of officers of the club will take place at the meeting Thursday. Mrs. L. C. M. Blakely, president, presided at the meeting.

College Inspection Postponed One Week

The first public inspection of the new Junior college scheduled for Friday, April 18, was postponed until April 25 because the interior decorations of the college are not completely finished, according to Dr. J. W. Cantwell, superintendent of city schools. The hours for the inspection will be announced later.

The college was formally opened April 8, when the St. Louis Symphony orchestra played to a matinee and night audience.

MONEY At Work

Five one thousand dollar insurance policies are better for the average man than one five thousand dollar policy.

The man of average means wants to carry all of the life insurance that he can well afford to carry, for it serves as an excellent protection to his family, but the mistake is often made of carrying all of the insurance in one policy.

One thousand dollars is the unit of insurance in most companies, and five one thousand dollar policies will cost no more than one five thousand dollar policy. The advantage in holding several small policies is that the loss of employment or temporary inability to continue the full amount of insurance, and in such cases where the insurance is in several policies one policy may be cashed in, and the proceeds applied to the payment of premiums to keep the remaining policies paid up.

Fraudulent Paintings Exposed By Use of Ultra-Violet Rays

BERKELEY, Cal. — Fraudulent representations of paintings by the masters can be detected by turning ultra-violet light rays on the art objects, according to members of the faculty of the art department in the University of California. Experiments along this line are being made at the university.

"Under ultra-violet rays the brush strokes show plainly," said a professor, "and if photographs are made while the lights are turned on the canvasses, the kinds of color used also are shown, and when these are compared with the kinds known to have been used by the artist supposed to have painted the picture, any fraud can be detected. The Germans have used the same system in criminology for a number of years, and this is simply applying the process to painting. It is inevitable that it will come into general use."

CATTLE LIGHT AT FT. WORTH

Receipts Moderate And Trading Light In Friday Market

FORT WORTH, Texas, April 18.—Cattle receipts were moderate today and trading was quiet. The estimate called for 1,500 head of cattle and 500 calves. All classes were purchased during the forenoon at prices that were in line with those that prevailed Thursday. A few cars of south Texas steers arrived, and the remainder of the run consisted of mixed shipments.

South Texas grassers went at a spread of 6.00 to 7.00. Nothing toppy was on hand.

Strength characterized the trade in hogs. Prices were steady to 10 cents higher, with 700 head on offer.

The best in car lots stopped at 7.40. Bulk sales made a range of 7.15 to 7.35.

The pig market remained unchanged. Good butcher grades were taken at 5.75 to 6.00 and the desirable grades found an outlet at 5.50 to 5.75.

Nothing new developed in the sheep house, receipts amounting to 2,000 head. Prices were called steady. Six decks of good fresh clipped wethers brought 9.50.

BUSINESS GAINS, IN DUN REPORT

NEW YORK, April 18.—Dun's Review tomorrow will say:

It is possible to see points of gain in current business, yet they do not mark any fundamental change in the situation. Retail trade had felt the stimulus of Easter demands, but increased activity in that quarter is natural at this season and was expected in present instance. Against these indications and the more cheerful outlook, there are evidences of domestic industrial reaction, which have become more noticeable in recent weeks. A slowing down has occurred in most leading branches of manufacture, even steel mills curtailing output, because of a decrease in new orders, and some pig iron furnaces blowing out, and the easing of prices goes on. Generally, political phases account for much of the existing hesitation, with the delay in the enactment of federal tax reduction legislation adding to the uncertainties of a presidential year.

Weekly bank clearings $7,714,381,000.

Hogs, 18,000; 15 to 25 higher; butchers, 7.55@7.65; top, 7.70; medium averaged 7.25@7.60; light averaged 6.90@7.20; packing sows, 6.80@6.95; killing pigs, 6.60@6.50; estimated holdover, 15,000.

HEARING ON STOCK RATES POSTPONED

EARTHQUAKE LEAVES ITS MARK ON CHILDREN

YOKOHAMA, Japan.—The youth of Japan will feel the effects of the earthquake of last September for many years and in many ways.

New evidence of this has been disclosed by a physical examination made recently of the school children of Yokohama. It was found that the earthquake had afflicted 677 children with "night blindness," or inability to see after nightfall even in the best artificial light.

Physical deterioration after the quake was found to be general. Of about 33,000 children examined fully three per cent were anaemic.

Start Drive for Funds With Which to Buy Experiment Farm

The drive for raising $6,000 toward the purchase of an experimental farm in the Wichita river irrigated valley will be formally launched at the next meeting of the business council, according to plans discussed at the weekly meeting of that organization Friday noon. Business interests of Wichita Falls have promised to raise the $6,000 for the purchase of lands for a state experimental farm.

The accepted plans for lands and equipment necessary for the maintenance of the farm in a first class manner will cost approximately $18,000. Two-thirds of this amount will be subscribed by landowners who derive direct benefits from the experimental farm, and one-third will be raised by the business men of Wichita Falls with the cooperation of merchants of Iowa Park.

It was pointed out at the meeting that if the farm is not ready for work by June 1, the installation of equipment and the beginning of activities by the state would be held up for another year. According to statements, Dr. B. Youngblood of the experimental department of the Texas A. and M. college is desirous that the lands be obtained and turned over to the state, it is understood from reliable authority that the state department hopes to feature the experimental farm and that officials are very enthusiastic over the plans.

That the raising of the $6,000 is an obligation of the chamber of commerce and should be attended immediately was pointed out, it was announced that ten land owners had promised $500 each.

With the funds thus received, it is proposed that that 160 acres of land already on the irrigation ditch, already selected, be purchased for the experimental farm.

A barbecue is to be given at the farm May 15, and short speeches will be made, after which the deed and title to the land will be formally presented to state authorities.

Twenty-five thousand acres of land will be irrigated with waters from the diversion dam by June 1, it was stated.

Motions were unanimously carried that the council members pledge themselves to serve on committees to raise the funds and purchase the farm, and that a committee be appointed to begin arrangements for the barbecue.

Al Ellis called attention to the fact that no train sheds had been erected at the union station and asked that the matter be gone into again. After some discussion, the matter was referred to the traffic committee of the chamber of commerce of which J. W. Chatham, Jr., is chairman.

M. A. Bundy, chairman of the trade extension trip, gave a detailed account of the proposed trip. He stated that 105 tickets had been sold, and that the trip was assured. Mr. Bundy asked that at least five other men go to complete the train. He thanked the council for its help in action in putting the trip "over the top."

He explained that at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon a drawing for the berths and drawing rooms would take place at the chamber offices.

Reports were given on the work of the directors and the various committees of the chamber.

The state highway department is not satisfied with the warehouse facilities furnished at the Texas-Oklahoma fair grounds because of its location, was announced at the meeting. A movement, however, is on foot to have the county commissioners build a warehouse and give space to the highway department free of charge.

Jack Barnard, vice-president of the council, presided at the meeting.

Troy, Tenn.—Mrs. J. T. Roney, the wife of a prominent merchant here, near the shores of famous Reelfoot Lake, tells of an interesting experience she had with Cardui.

"One day, while talking to a customer," says Mrs. Roney, "I spoke of being so nervous and my back hurting me. She told me how much good Cardui had done her. I took home a bottle.

"After taking one bottle I was less nervous and seemed stronger. I took three bottles at this time and it did me so much good.

"When I became . . . I was very weak. I had severe headaches and at my . . . . I would cramp, have pains in my side and hurtings in my limbs. I couldn't stand on my feet I suffered so.

"I sent for a bottle of Cardui and I didn't suffer pain the next month at all. I took two bottles then and two before the birth of my next baby. It is certainly a good tonic."

Cardui has been in use for almost fifty years, and in that time hundreds of thousands of women have written to tell of the great benefit it has been to them in many forms of common female ailments. Be sure to try it when you ned a female tonic.

Salvation Rainbow Is Moore's Theme

"Salvation's Rainbow" was the topic Friday night of Dr. J. E. L. Moore in his address to a large audience at the revival services he is conducting here. Special music was given by Prof. James E. Campbell.

Dr. Moore said in part:

Salvation is present in application. Salvation is free in communication. Salvation is universal in extension. Salvation is perfect in construction. Salvation is abundant in provision. Salvation is appropriate in administration. Salvation is eternal in duration.

Everlasting life! Language staggers under the weight of its meaning. The imagination sits silent and bewildered and contemplates its import with folded wing. Life with its unlimited possibilities unfolding through endless years! The surroundings may change, but no new element or quality will be added to life. New delights, new joys, new sources of enjoyment may surprise the soul at every beat of the heart, but it is the same life marching to the music of endless years. Time may grind down the mountains till those granite heaps are reduced to a level with the plain; the pitiless waves may corrode the shore till the rocky barriers disappear and the mad waters are set at liberty; these disintegrating forces may continue operative until the entire globe is reduced to its original elements—but there will be no diminution of the eternal years. New stars may begin their courses, grow old and pass away but the tide of everlasting life sweeps on with ceaseless flow. New constellations may be reared in space, measure their course and disappear, but it will yet be morning in heaven, and the swelling tide of endless life pours on afresh, and fells the boundless pulse of eternal youth.

French Fear of Earthquakes Prevents New Tokio Embassy.

PARIS.—The prevalence of earthquakes in Japan is given as the reason for the decision of the French government to abandon the plan of erecting an embassy building in Tokio. A bill recently introduced in the French chamber, and sponsored by the government, asks authority to sell the site purchased in 1912.

The bill reads: "The cataclysm which has brought desolation to Japan has demonstrated the inopportunity of erecting so important a construction as had been planned."

The amount accruing from the sale of the site of the proposed embassy will be applied to reconstructing the old one.
