

Union Jack Flies Again...

Argentina Surrenders

By The Associated Press
The Union Jack flew today over the capital of the Falkland Islands, a British reporter said, and Argentine troops throughout the islands surrendered to British forces that had shattered the defenses at the Stanley garrison.

British Defense Ministry sources said about 14,800 Argentine soldiers laid down their arms, 11,000 of them in Stanley alone. The figure astonished British commanders, who had estimated Argentine troop strength on the Falklands at about 8,500, the sources said.

The office of Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher announced early today that Argentina had formally surrendered at 9 p.m. Falklands time (8 p.m. EDT), after a 74-day war that began with the Argentine invasion of the islands April 2 and killed a total of more than 1,000 servicemen, according to British count.

Independent Television News correspondent Michael Nicholson reported later from Stanley that British forces had raised their country's flag over the governor's house.

Government sources said Britain was working through the Swiss Embassy in Buenos Aires to secure a stable peace on the South Atlantic archipelago.

The Buenos Aires government announced that the military commanders of the two forces had drawn up a document "establishing the conditions for a cease-fire and the withdrawal of the (Argentine) troops." The junta's communique made no mention of surrender, but said the document would be made public when the text is available.

"Great Britain is great again," Mrs. Thatcher said outside her Downing Street office just before midnight Monday. A crowd of about 100 sang "Rule Britannia" and "God Save the Queen" as she returned from addressing Parliament.

Aides to Mrs. Thatcher said she was considering a visit to the Falklands and had postponed her scheduled address Wednesday at the U.N.

special session on disarmament in New York until later in the week.

The official communique from her residence at 10 Downing Street quoted marine Maj. Gen. Jeremy Moore, commander of British land forces on the Falklands, as saying that arrangements were being made to assemble the captured Argentines for return to the mainland with their arms and equipment.

"Falkland Islands once more under the government desired by their inhabitants — God save the Queen," Moore's message read.

With his forces poised on the outskirts of Stanley, Moore had flown through a snowstorm into the Argentine garrison to accept the surrender from Brig. Gen. Mario Benjamin Menendez, British eyewitness reports said.

Britains rejoiced and Argentines chanted, jeered and wept over the British victory, which frustrated Argentina's 149-year-old dream of sovereignty over the wind-swept South Atlantic archipelago.

WTC Registers Record 878 Summer Students

Summer enrollment at Western Texas College has set a new record with a total of 878 students, Dr. Duane Hood, dean of student services, has announced.

The total represents a 54 percent increase over the figure for summer 1981 when 570 students were enrolled and is a 13 percent increase over the previous summer record set in 1980 when 779 students registered.

A breakdown on enrollment shows that 74 of the students are early admissions students who will be high school seniors in the fall. First-time enrollees total 125, while 443 are returning students. There are 128 transient students attending WTC only for the summer, and 71 students transferring to WTC from other institutions. The total also includes 37 quarterly students (those in vocational nursing and cosmetology).

Women make up 62.4 percent of the total enrollment. The 1981 summer enrollment was made up of 61.5 percent women, while in 1980 the percentage was considerably higher, 68.5 percent.

As might be expected, evening students outnumber day students this summer.

Scurry County has the greatest number of students with 349. Other counties represented in the student body are Nolan with 122, Haskell with 80, Jones with 57, Mitchell with 50, Crosby with 43, Knox with 27 and Runnels with one. Ninety-four students come from various other Texas counties, with seven students from other states and two from foreign countries.

The summer enrollment will generate 65,184 academic contact hours and 5,824 vocational-technical program contact hours. These figures compare with 55,392 and 5,536 in the 1980 summer semester when the

City Council Appoints Commission Member

Snyder city councilmen voted to sell one piece of city owned property and appointed one new member to the city's planning and zoning commission at their regular monthly meeting last night.

Councilmen in attendance at last night's meeting voted to sell the north 100 feet of lot 2 and the west 50 feet of lot 1 of block 13 of the Adams Addition to Mrs. James Nelson on the basis of her high bid of $700 for the vacant lot.

The city acquired the property, in the vicinity of 34th St and Avenue E, in October of 1972 for delinquent taxes. Councilman Ed Thrift made the motion to accept the bid with a second from councilman Gale McPherson. Thrift, McPherson and councilman Don Osborn voted for the sale. Councilman Don Gressett voted against the measure.

The council voted unanimously approval for the appointment of Dalton Walton to a three year term on the city Planning and Zoning Commission. Walton will now serve as an alternate member of the board and former alternate Joe V. Fowler will become an active member of the board.

Walton was appointed to fill the vacancy on the board created by the resignation of Don Osborn when he was elected to the city council.

The council had also been slated to make appointments filling two vacancies on the Zoning Board of Adjustment but they chose to table that measure pending the location of willing candidates for the posts.

In more routine business, the council approved a measure granting City Manager John Gayle permission to seek bids for the renovation of the landscape lighting system on the square.

The estimated cost of this project is in the $6,000 range and will include not only the repair of the existing lights around the trees on the square, but also modifications to the power supply system for the community's Christmas decorations.

According to Gayle, much of the problem with the maintenance of the Christmas lighting has stemmed from the fact that the current system requires hard to find 220 volt light bulbs. Part of this project will change that system over to a more common 110 volt system.

In other routine action, the council approved a request from the Scurry County Sheriff's Posse for permission to hold a rodeo parade at 5 p.m. July 21. This year's parade will follow a route from West 30th St. to the square and back to the point of origin.

The council also voted to allow Gayle to seek bids on the repainting of three of the city owned promotional signs located on incoming highways. Painting of the signs will be paid for out of the city's motel tax fund.

Councilmen also approved a resolution declaring July to be Clean-Up, Paint-Up and Fix-Up month in Snyder. Clean-Up, Paint-

Up and Fix-Up month is an annual project sponsored by the City and the Snyder Chamber of Commerce.

Two other measures on the council agenda were tabled in last night's session.

The council was slated to consider approval of a contract to sell water to Edwin Parks for the new Round Top Acres development. The council postponed any action on the contract pending final review.

WTC Staff For 1982-83 Filled

Trustees of Western Texas College Monday employed two instructors, filling all faculty positions for the 1982-83 school year.

Action came in a 35-minute meeting at which the board also ratified the purchase of a replacement floor for the physical education gym.

John McRae, principal of Roscoe High School for the past year, was employed as assistant professor of science. Before going to Roscoe, McRae was employed by the Anson Independent School District.

Hired as instructor in diesel mechanics was Carl Guinn, a 1977 graduate of Western Texas College. He was instructor in diesel mechanics at WTC one year and has taught diesel mechanics at Cooke County Junior College since August, 1978.

The board also ratified the purchase of the wooden basketball court from Scurry County. The court has been in use in the Scurry County Coliseum 14 years, and the county is in the process of purchasing a new floor for the coliseum.

The college for several months has looked at repairing the synthetic floor in the physical education gym that is used for basketball workouts.

The college learned that the county is replacing the floor at the coliseum and found that it could be

A lot of people thought there were no more frontiers when this country finally was "settled" from coast to coast. And a lot of people as early as the turn of the century thought there was nothing left to challenge the ingenuity of inventors. Everything had been invented and developed to its maximum capacity, they said.

Others have stood by the wayside wringing their hands lamenting that opportunities for starting something new in this country have dwindled.

Happily, we can report that this is not true. In fact, if we had any laments they might be over the fact that there have been so many opportunities right under our noses that we did not recognize until someone else grabbed them.

A case in point hit us squarely between the eyes the other day when we saw a coupon for a discount on frozen "sausage and biscuits." We first encountered this fast food breakfast product some two years ago in Virginia, and at that time we suspected that a lot of 1920 and 1930 vintage school pupils had overlooked an opportunity. Sausage and biscuits were staple fare in school lunches prior to school cafeteria service. Thousands upon thousands of mothers arose on winter mornings, cooked up a batch of biscuits (from scratch) and platters of sausage patties, most of which were consumed at the breakfast tables. Those remaining after the breakfast onslaught became sandwiches for that day's school lunches. Two or three homemade biscuits stuffed with succulent sausage patties became a main course for a school lunch.

Those mothers, of course, took it for granted that nobody would pay money for that type of food, and their children naturally assumed that public eating places were only interested in fancier items. Perhaps they were right in their day. But a new day has dawned, and apparently a lot of people are discovering that some of yesterday's "everyday" foods are quite tasty and even nourishing.

City Wide Crusade...

Lester Roloff Fires Up Crowd

Lester Roloff, Corpus Christi evangelist, spoke Monday night at Scurry County Coliseum. His visit was part of a City Wide Crusade sponsored jointly by the Faith, Calvary and Victory Baptist churches.

His "fire and brimstone" style, belying his 68 years, Roloff captivated the crowd with his fiery exhortations. Several times he held up his personal Bible to emphasize a point.

Roloff, a self-proclaimed fundamentalist, has been a controversial figure for the past several years.

Nearly a year ago, Roloff won the court battle over state licensing of his homes for wayward children which had plagued him since 1973.

The evangelist, still bitter over the incident, claimed Monday night that Attorney General Mark White had reversed his promise not to seek an appeal of the 1981 decision.

However, Roloff placed most of the blame for his troubles on other spiritual leaders, the news media, and the state department of human resources.

"You know what most preachers are afraid of?" he asked the crowd. "Losing their exemptions. Who is the IRS? It's the new boy on the block. We were here before it got half stout." Roloff told the crowd he's never changed in 50 years because "I was right all the time."

He believes in separation of church and state but sees nothing wrong in voluntary prayer in public schools.

Roloff closed his oration with these thoughts. He said the United States is doomed unless a consensus is reached on the importance and inherent truth of Christianity.

"You know what's wrong with America? It hasn't been born again," he said. "We're never going to behave alike until we believe alike."

In addition to Roloff, Raymond Barber, pastor of Worth Baptist Church, Fort Worth, also spoke. He is the president of the World Baptist Fellowship and is a Bible professor at Arlington Baptist College.

Boy and girl choirs from Roloff's Lighthouse and Rebecca academies also sang several religious selections.

Palestinian guerrilla leaders in devastated Beirut, outgunned and trapped, are daring Israeli forces to hunt them down though Israel says it will not push its 10-day-old invasion of Lebanon into the capital.

"I think this is Lebanon's problem, not ours," Israeli Chief of Staff Lt. Gen. Raphael Eytan said Monday. He spoke to reporters in Tel Aviv after Israeli tanks, warplanes and gunships sealed off every exit from Beirut, ruling out escape for embattled chieftains of the Palestine Liberation Organization.

Amtrak Train Derails

EMERSON, Iowa (AP) — An Amtrak train derailed today near the southwest Iowa town of Emerson, injuring at least 150 passengers, authorities said. The Iowa Office of Disaster Services said 300 passengers were on the train when it derailed 30 miles southeast of Omaha, Neb.

The disaster services said light flight helicopters were sent from both Omaha and Des Moines. School buses were dispatched to the area to remove passengers.

The southwest Iowa area has been hit by heavy rains during the night and a flash flood watch was in effect. The cause of the derailment was not immediately determined.

Free Education Mandatory

WASHINGTON (AP) — States must provide free public education to illegal alien children, the Supreme Court said today.

By a 5-4 vote, the court ruled that a Texas law allowing such children to attend public schools only if tuition were paid was unconstitutional.

Lower courts had reached the same conclusion.

Hinckley Had Daydreams

WASHINGTON (AP) — John W. Hinckley's love fantasies, which defense attorneys contend drove him to shoot the president, were nothing more than daydreams, a prison psychiatrist says.

Dr. Sally Johnson told a jury Monday that "John was fantasizing his relationship" with actress Jodie Foster, but his fantasies were not the delusions that defense psychiatrists said they were.

A delusion, Mrs. Johnson said, is a fixed, false belief that can occur when someone lives in a fantasy world.

Mrs. Johnson, who returns to the witness stand today, was called by prosecutors trying Hinckley on charges of shooting President Reagan and three other men March 30, 1981. She is on the staff of the federal correctional institution at Butner, N.C., where Hinckley was evaluated for four months after the shooting.

Reagan Visit Set

HOUSTON (AP) — President Reagan will dine with a few thousand Republicans tonight to raise an unprecedented $3 million for Gov. Bill Clements' reelection campaign.

In contract to the GOP's "silk tie" affair, Harris County Democrats have scheduled a $5-per-person gathering with hot dogs and country music.

More than 3,000 guests are expected to pay $1,000 each for the Republican dinner, said Clements' campaign press aide, Mary Jane Maddox.

Highest In Texas...

Starr County Unemployment

RIO GRANDE CITY, Texas (AP) — Detroit, Flint, Kokomo and other northern cities with double-digit unemployment rates move over. Last year 38.3 percent of the work force in Starr County did not have jobs, the worst unemployment rate in Texas.

The jobless picture in Starr County, located in deep south Texas, is not a new phenomenon brought on by budget cuts or industrial layoffs. There is simply no industry here for its 27,000 residents, including a large number of migrant farmworkers.

Most of the county consists of rough, rolling ranch country barely fit for cattle grazing. Along the Rio Grande, large farms hire mostly seasonal workers. Oil production in the northern sections around San Isidro employ few full-time workers.

The problem stems from a combination of the county's border with Mexico and a reluctance to give up an agriculturally based economy.

"The people are changing from not wanting foreign, or rather outside, business to come into the county," said Bruno Trevino, interim head of the Starr County Industrial Foundation which is trying to attract new industry to the area. "That was the attitude for a long, long time."

The dismal unemployment figure ballooned in January to 52.4 percent when only 6,000 of the county's 12,600-member labor pool had jobs, said James Barnes of the Texas Employment Commission's statistical reporting division in Austin.

The jobless rate declined to 28.8 percent in April, including those who have stopped looking for work and those who do not qualify for unemployment benefits, the commission said.

By comparison, unemployment for the entire state stands at 6.4 percent, more than three percentage points below the national average of 9.5 percent.

Per capita income for county residents was $3,493 in 1980, the second lowest in the state. Only Maverick County, further north along the U.S.-Mexican border, was worse, with $3,324.

A large number of migrant farmworkers live in Starr County and cause the seasonal fluctuations in unemployment figures. The jobless rate is highest between October to February when they return home from harvesting in other states.

Trevino came home from teaching college economics to induce industry to come here. He said the work is similar to what he did as a Foreign Service officer assisting economic development in Mexico, South America and Africa.

School districts and other governmental bodies are the largest industries. Jobs there are highly favored and rarely relinquished.

The job crunch annually comes down hardest on graduating high school seniors.

"They know it's going to be rough," said Joe Herrera, a vocational counselor at Rio Grande City High School.

"A lot of them will come in and tell me, 'I want to be this or that.' I'll tell them that's fine, but are they willing to relocate? A lot of students don't want to move," he said. "The family ties are very strong."

Out of a class of 350 freshman, usually 250 will graduate, said high school counselor Herrera. The rest drop out to support families or are unemployed.

Forty-five percent of those who graduate go on to either two-year technical schools or four-year colleges. Many must leave South Texas for Houston, Dallas and other cities to find steady work, Herrera said.

A Southern newspaper has, as one of its features, a column devoted to exposing the sanitation or the lack of it in local restaurants.

The list of improprieties consisted of the following: Food not covered in refrigerator.

Improper dishwashing practices.

Hot dogs soaking in water in refrigerator.

Tank top broken in women's restroom.

Restrooms not labeled.

Cutting board not smooth.

Thermometers needed in refrigerator.

Back door open to flies.

Employees working without proper hair restraint.

Carbon build-up on pans.

Corroded vent fan.

No soap or towels at sink.

Outdated buttermilk ... possibly unwholesome.

I had to stop reading. The list had just described my kitchen.

Keeping a kitchen clean is like trying to tidy up after a sandstorm. Besides, I employ cheap labor. My own kids. Somehow, you don't get the pride from them that you'd get from, say, a transient Mexican alien.

The other night, I walked into the kitchen with a clipboard and made out my own list of health violations.

Dog drinking water out of Old Fashioned glass. Wet finger running around rim of mashed potatoes pan.

Hair dryer on counter-top.

Ice cream in carton at room temperature.

Melted ice cubes on floor creating safety hazard.

Fight among kitchen help using cold, hard peas as ammunition ... possible danger to cook.

Loading dishwasher while diner is still eating off plate.

Emptying raw garbage into wastebasket with no plan of removing it from kitchen.

As I was writing down the violations, my mother came in, her eyes panning the kitchen area slowly. "This place is a dump!" she said.

My face brightened.

Gen. George Washington was defeated at the Battle of Brandywine Sept. 11, 1777, by a British force under Sir William Howe.

More than 1,000 Americans were killed, wounded or taken prisoner in the engagement near the Brandywine River in Pennsylvania, compared with 600 British casualties.

Judge Orders Complete Jail Move-In By Fall

HOUSTON (AP) — County officials say they forsee no problems completing a new downtown jail in time to begin the court-ordered transfer of prisoners from the old, overcrowded lockup before a Sept. 15 deadline.

U.S. District Judge Carl O. Bue ordered county commissioners Monday to move everything they could to ensure completion of the new jail's basement and first nine floors by Sept. 15.

The partial ruling, issued after four days of hearings, ordered Sheriff Jack Heard to begin moving inmates into the new jail by Sept. 15 and to complete by transfer within a month.

Officials have said 3,000 prisoners are now housed in a jail designed to hold only 2,000.

Noting that the county has failed to meet previously targeted move-in dates, Bue said the court "will not look favorably on any application for an extension of time to commence or complete the movement."

"Harris County has the opportunity here to show this federal court that it can deal with the problem itself," Birnberg said.

If you replace your central electric air conditioner with one that's more efficient, Texas Electric will pay you a bonus of $80 per ton.

Not only that, you'll save on your electric bill as well. For example, a high-efficiency 3-ton unit will save you up to $160 a year.

This equipment costs more initially, but the bonus from Texas Electric plus the savings on your electric bill will make up the difference in just a few years.

If enough people buy high-

Before you replace your old air conditioner, ask your dealer about central air conditioners, heat pumps, and window units that qualify for this program.

Invisible Ailment Breaks Bones

LOS ANGELES (AP) — An "invisible ailment" that leads to a million broken bones among America's elderly every year can be prevented or eased by a program including exercise, diet and sensible shoes, a medical group said today.

For women, who suffer most from osteoporosis, a gradual erosion or thinning of bones, the American Society for Bone and Mineral Research also recommended hormone therapy.

There is a virtual epidemic of broken hips and fractured spines among older women, Dr. Robert P. Heaney, before a news conference called today to announce the findings.

He said one-fourth of white women over 60 will suffer a spinal fracture and a fourth of all women over 80 will break a hip because of the progressive disease. And the painful, often-crippling breaks can result from falls that would hardly have bruised the same victim two decades earlier.

Broken bones can even result from such everyday tasks as "taking a roast out of the oven, lifting a stuck window or raising the corner of a mattress," said Heaney, vice president for health science at Creighton University in Omaha, Neb.

"This is at least as common as diabetes and it costs incredible amounts of money," yet few people are even aware it exists, he said Monday. "It is a strangely invisible ailment in our society."

And, he said, "It is totally asymptomatic — you don't know your bones are fragile until you break one."

The society, during a meeting in San Francisco today, was issuing a list of guidelines designed to prevent or slow the deterioration.

To stem a lifetime of erosion, Heaney said, prevention is most beneficial among teen-agers and young adults and should continue for a lifetime.

The recommendations are:

—Daily exercise, especially running or walking. Heaney said bones, like muscles, seem to wither with disuse.

—A calcium-rich diet. The society recommends 800 to 1,000 milligrams of calcium daily, while pregnant women and nursing mothers should add another 500 milligrams a day. A quart of milk contains about 1,100 milligrams and Heaney said two glasses of milk added to a normal diet should hit about 800 milligrams.

—Avoiding excess doses of vitamins A and D.

—Not smoking. Heaney said studies have shown "people who smoke have less bone mass and more fractures than people who don't smoke," probably because smoking clogs blood vessels that feed the skeleton.

—The possible use, with cautious physician control, of estrogen replacement therapy for women after menopause. Heaney said the female hormone estrogen helps protect bones.

—Safety precautions. Things as simple as adequate lighting, sensible shoes, safety rails in bathrooms and use of a cane could prevent many injuries, the society said.

Woman Types 123 Words Per Minute To Win

BALTIMORE (AP) — A woman at home with the piano and organ keyboards also displayed her talent on a typewriter keyboard to win first prize in the fifth annual Staff Builders' World's Fastest Typist Contest here.

Mary Jane Mueller, a pianist and organist who also won the top award in 1979, had defeated hundreds of other typists previously to attain a seat in the finals, which she won by setting a new speed record for the contest. The mark was 123 words per minute after deduction for two errors in the five-minute test.

In the finals the administrative secretary for the Baltimore County Auditing Division triumphed over a field of 25 U.S. and Canadian champions to land the $2,000 cash prize and an electronic typewriter.

Her husband, Joseph, is a patrolman on the Baltimore police force. The prize, she said, will go toward her 17-year-old daughter's education for becoming a veterinarian.

Another accomplished pianist and organist came in second with a net speed of 108.6 wpm. She is Nancy St. Pierre, a Columbus, Ohio, secretary for an architects' firm. She won a $1,000 cash prize and an electronic portable typewriter.

Rhona Ceppos of Somerville, Mass., won $500 in cash and a set of luggage as third-place winner with a net score of 105.8 wpm. A May graduate of Tufts University, Ms. Ceppos has supported herself with temporary typing jobs.

sions to and review of the contract by the city attorney and attorneys for the developers.

The council also looked at a petition requesting city sewer service for the area bordered by Ave. M, Ave. K, 13th St. and 15th St. Some 22 residents of the area had signed the petition requesting the installation of the service.

A preliminary study by City Water Superintendent George Lee estimated the cost for the project at nearly $34,000. The council took no action on the proposal pending further study by city personnel to determine how many property owners in the area would or could be willing to pay their share of the cost under the city's prorate ordinance for improvements.

Program Will Be Changed

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP) — The director of a job placement program that helped Ohioans find jobs in the Sun Belt says he doesn't know how he can be effective now that state officials have told him not to stray beyond Ohio's borders.

"The option locally is to take a minimum-wage job, go on welfare or get a job in another state," said Robert Walton, director of a job placement program sponsored by the Scioto County Community Action Organization. "Our only success in getting people jobs has been out of the state of Ohio."

The program run by Walton was developed after Scioto County's major employer, Cyclops Steel, closed its New Boston mill two years ago.

Walton said Monday the program has found jobs for about 300 people, about 5 percent of whom have found jobs in other parts of Ohio. About 200 have moved to Longview, Texas, a community Walton called "similar to Portsmouth, Ohio," and home of Lone Star Steel.

In the past, the city has only undertaken such projects when the property owners in the affected areas agreed to pay for the cost of the installation. This particular part of the city has had city water service since the 1950's but no sewers were ever installed.

Mayor Rod Walker presided over last night's meeting with councilmen Thrift, Gressett, Osborn and McPherson in attendance. Councilmen David Holt and John Wilson were absent.

"We are extremely pleased with this summer's enrollment," Dr. Hood stated. "This is a funding year and enrollment figures are doubly important."

Summer classes will end July 23. Summer students will have a holiday on July 5 since July 4 comes on Sunday. The 1982 fall semester will begin on Sept. 3.

Theft Reported

Snyder police officers are investigating one misdemeanor theft and two incidents of criminal mischief reported Monday.

Henry Valdez called police shortly before 1 p.m. yesterday and told officers that someone had stolen two wire hubcaps from his car while it was parked at Dupree Motors. The wheelcovers, valued at $75, disappeared sometime between June 12 and 1 p.m. yesterday.

Criminal mischief incidents were reported at the City Automatic Laundry and in the 400 block of 32nd St.

According to reports, someone damaged a dryer at the laundry sometime Sunday night. Cayetona Medrano of 420 32nd St. called police around 7 p.m. and reported the slashing of a tire on his car sometime between 3 and 4 p.m. yesterday. No dollar value was set for damages in either of these incidents.

Diet Center Provides Safe & Effective Weight Counseling

Judie Reed says, "Thanks to Diet Center now I feel good about myself."

"For the past four years I have tried to diet on my own. I would lose five pounds and then gain it right back. I tried all the fad diets, and the weight kept on coming back. Now, since I have been to Diet Center, everyone tells me how good I look, and I believe them."

"The concerned, helpful counselors at Diet Center encouraged me whenever I needed it, and offered helpful hints about how to change my eating habits. Weighing every day kept me from cheating and allowed me to go from a size 14 to a size 10 in only three weeks. And the great thing about it is that I feel that I'll be able to keep the weight off."

For more information on how to win at the losing game, contact one of the counselors at the Diet Center, located at 1904 37th St., or call 573-8583.

Strickland TV Carries Quasar Televisions & Apollo Antennas

Whenever you think of first-quality television sets and where to get them in Snyder, naturally you think of Strickland TV. The Quasar sets that they sell have proven themselves not only by the excellent picture that you see, but also in warranty and service. What you may not know is that Strickland TV offers a great deal more than televisions.

Strickland sells and installs the Apollo 9 satellite antenna. With this antenna, you can receive over 60 channels of TV viewing. You will receive programs, sports and movies 24 hours a day from 20,000 miles away.

Microwave ovens are extremely popular right now, and Strickland carries a full line of the Quasar, with Insta-matic cooking. With this advanced concept, you simply make your food selection, tap the Insta-matic control as indicated, touch the start control and the oven does the rest.

With the Quasar, you don't need to set cooking times, power settings or temperature settings. This is all possible through Quasar's Humidity Sensor system that senses when moisture escapes from the food as it cooks. This information automatically determines the correct power settings and cooking times for the food.

In addition, all Quasar microwaves come with a 5 year limited warranty on all parts and labor.

Hoyle Dean and Pauline Strickland also have a line of sound equipment, including portable cassette players with AM-FM radio, small screen TV's and Video Tape Recorders which enable you to record one program while you watch another or record programs while you're gone.

Finally, there are many places that sell but don't service. Hoyle Dean Strickland feels that it's important to service everything that he sells, and that's important these days. Whether you need a television, satellite antenna, microwave, sound equipment, or service, remember Strickland TV, located at 2413 College. And Strickland offers a rent-to-own plan on selected models of most everything they sell.

Air-Conditioning Aids Library Of Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — Airconditioning equipment in the Library of Congress here does more than provide a comfortable atmosphere for its many visitors throughout the year — it also contributes to the survival of millions of books in the historic repository up the hill from the Capitol building.

The chemical reaction to the alum in most paper made since 185 can make the paper brittle, reducing it almost to dust, and the rate of decomposition doubles with each 10-degree increase in temperature. So humidity and temperature control are vital to the library's contents, according to Peter Sparks, chief of its preservation office.

Protecting the paper and bindings in the collections in the new library addition, the James Madison Memorial building, for example, requires versatile climate controls such as those supplied by United Technologies' Carrier subsidiary, Sparks points out.

Special, ruggedly built cooling coils, air handlers and humidifiers are used throughout the building, which has a design life of 700 years.

The library's rare books, many printed on vellum or bound in leather, are kept cooler and moister by the air conditioning so that the animal skins won't dry out, Sparks says. "The library wants the temperature as low as possible, yet still kept consistently comfortable for the staff as well as the visitors."

Mono Lake lies at the eastern edge of the Sierra Nevada near Yosemite National Park. It has no outlet other than evaporation and has not overflowed its basin in tens of thousands of years. Because of its minerals, the water in the lake is 2½ times as salty as the ocean.

Dear Abby

Support Group Helps Children Cope with Aging Parents

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1982 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I read in the Bucks County (Pa.) Courier Times that there is a new organization in that area called "Children of Aging Parents." That's exactly what I need: some people who are in the same boat as I am — people who can guide me in caring for my aging parents.

I need to know how to deal with the physical and medical problems of my parents — now both in their 80s. Also, I need to know how to be more patient when they become forgetful and repetitious, and sometimes paranoid and hostile.

Please tell me how to reach this great group. Thank you!
LOYAL FAN IN LEVITTOWN, PA.

DEAR FAN: Children of Aging Parents (CAPS) is a non-profit organization serving the lower Bucks County area. It consists of adult children who have the responsibility of an aging parent or family member. CAPS provides training, education, counseling and rap sessions as well as information and referral services related to caring for the older person. It is a loving, caring, supportive organization.

For information, contact Mirca Liberti, its founder and president. This wonderful organization deserves to go national, and I hope it does!

The address: 2761 Trenton Road, Levittown, Pa. 19056. And the hot line is: 1-215-547-1070. When writing, please include a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

DEAR ABBY: Ever since our son was born (six months ago), my husband started calling me "Mamma." I really don't like it. I've told him I don't like it and to please quit, but he still calls me "Mamma."

How can I get him to stop? It turns me off in bed.
NOT HIS MAMMA

DEAR NOT: Remind him. In bed.

DEAR ABBY: I am a new mother this year, and what did I get? Nothing! I have a beautiful baby girl — she's 6 months old — but my husband evidently doesn't consider me a "mother."

I expected some flowers or a card. Even a "Happy Mother's Day" would have been nice, but the day came and went with no mention that I was a mother, too.

I felt so bad, I mentioned it before we went to sleep, and he said, "You aren't my mother."

Well, I'm his daughter's mother, and she's too young to shop. Should I get him something for Father's Day?
HURT

DEAR HURT: Yes. A course in sensitivity training would be appropriate.

DEAR ABBY: My husband has never given me a present for Mother's Day or any other occasion since the day we met seven years ago. He simply doesn't care about special dates. Do I feel hurt or "forgotten"? No! Why? Because he never forgets to take out the garbage, wash the truck, bathe three dogs, take two preschool children out alone on a weekend afternoon, clean the basement, trim the hedges, repair whatever needs fixing in the house, deposit his paycheck, and come right home after work.

And yes, he never forgets to give me a hug and tell me he loves me.

So who needs presents?

Here is a hand from H. W. Kelsey's "Killing Defense at Bridge." It doesn't really show killing defense, but merely illustrates the expert mind at work.

You open the king of spades against South's four-heart contract. Your partner plays the three and declarer drops the queen.

You shift to the jack of diamonds. Then low from dummy, eight from East and king from declarer. Now declarer plays ace and another trump. You take your king and must proceed to try to get two more tricks.

Incidentally, your partner has echoed with small trumps to show that he holds

Abravanel Named Artistic Director

BOSTON (AP) — Maurice Abravanel, music director laureate of the Utah Symphony and former music director of the Music Academy of the West, has been appointed acting artistic director of the Berkshire Music Center at Tanglewood for the 1982 session.

Abravanel will assume his duties during July and August while Berkshire artistic director Gunther Schuller is on a two-month sabbatical.

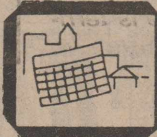

three of them. So you know declarer held a six-card heart suit. Your partner has played the eight of diamonds and surely holds the ace. Declarer bid one heart and jumped to three with only 12 high card points outside the club suit. Obviously, he will hold the ace and queen of clubs and one or two more.

If he holds four clubs the contract is surely home so give him just three. Now he must hold either two diamonds or one spade and one diamond.

If he holds one of each, it is up to you to take your ace of spades before leading the 10 of diamonds to save your partner a guess.

You have one point of guidance. If your partner held four spades to the jack and the diamond ace, he might have raised to two spades. So you cash your spade ace, lead a diamond and spoil declarer's fun.

Bethel Students Attend Convention In Austin

Students from Bethel Studio of Music are attending the Texas Music Teacher's Convention in Austin which began Sunday. Most of the activities will be held in the new Performing Arts Center of the University of Texas.

Monday was Student Affiliate Day where some 2,500 pupils performed and listened to the TMTC-SA Texas-American Composer Program. This was followed by a luncheon in the newly remodeled Villa Capri.

Afternoon sessions will be exciting because performers of the TMTC high school ensembles will play twelve grand pianos simultaneously. Students will use the new Opera Lab Theater and other recital halls in the new music building.

Following the convention students will tour the state capital, Lyndon Johnson's boyhood home, Johnson Settlement in Johnson City, and LBJ State Historical Park and Ranch.

Sponsors for the group are Mrs. Jimmy Hale of Rotan, Mmes. Jerry Vestal, Albert Malone, Michael Holmes, Charles Church, and Wayne Bethel.

Students attending are Alfred and Alex Brice, Bill Vestal, Lyle Hale, Michelle Holmes, Michele Anderson, Rebecca Vestal, Dayla Church, and Mysty Malone.

Gloria Flack, a former pupil of Mrs. Bethel, performed with the Dallas Ensemble during the convention program.

Silent heart attacks

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Please send me some information about silent heart attacks. I was in the hospital last month for an operation. The evening before the operation the doctor came to my room and told me they would have to cancel the operation because I had had a heart attack.

I don't remember having any trouble or being sick but now I have to wait six months before they can operate on my fractured right shoulder. I was to have a prosthesis.

A friend of mine told me you had a column on silent heart attacks but at that time she didn't know about my having one.

DEAR READER — There isn't much to tell you except that as many as a third, maybe more, heart attacks either cause no symptoms at all or the symptoms are so mild that the true nature of the problem is not suspected.

I was very impressed by finding such silent heart attacks in members of the U.S. Air Force flying personnel. We found them by annual electrocardiograms. One year the tracing would be normal and the next year there would be changes that were left from a heart attack that had occurred between examinations.

Silent heart attacks have been documented to occur even in heavy laborers who have continued to work. These were found by examination of hearts after death. Such examinations have shown that lots of people have previously had heart attacks and never knew it.

These are usually found by electrocardiograms or incidentally at post mortem examinations. And the electrocardiogram may also return to normal in some cases. When I recorded Lyndon Johnson's ECG a few years after his well-publicized attack his record was within normal limits. You had to compare it with previous records to tell that there had been a significant change.

So no wonder it is sometimes hard to diagnose heart disease by symptoms. And of course for some people the first symptom is a heart attack. That is why prevention is so important.

To give you more information I am sending you The Health Letter number 17-10, What You Need to Know About Heart Attacks. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

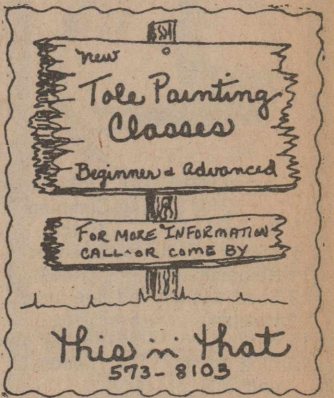

DEAR DR. LAMB — The latest craze around here is sunflower nuts. We use them in cakes, pies, puddings, salad and eat them by the handful. They are like potato chips, the more you eat the more you crave. Can you please tell us if they have any food value, also protein, fat and cholesterol content?

DEAR READER — Yes, they certainly have food value, because they contain a lot of fat. Dry sunflower seed kernels contain 560 calories per 100 grams, that is 160 calories per ounce.

They contain very little water (4.8 percent) and 47.3 percent of their weight is fat. Sunflower oil is a good cooking oil and is comparable to safflower oil. It contains very little saturated fat and nearly three-fourths of its fat is polyunsaturated. To the extent that you should limit saturated fats and increase polyunsaturated fats, that is good.

Sunflower seeds are about 24 percent protein by weight. So they are a good protein source. And they are about 20 percent carbohydrate. They contain NO cholesterol. Cholesterol is an animal product and is not found in plants or plant products.

All interested persons are urged to attend.

Boosters Pick Officers; Discuss Future Plans

Ernest Sears has again been elected as president of the Western Texas College Booster Club, which formulated plans for the 1982-83 season at a club breakfast this morning.

In addition to election of officers, booster members discussed admission rates and halftime activities for basketball games.

It was learned that all local and area high school and elementary students will be admitted free to home junior college basketball games during the coming season. Elementary students must be accompanied by an adult or someone of high school age.

Adult tickets will be $3 each.

The club also discussed forms of entertainment during halftime of the men's basketball games, and plan to come up with details on the project at a later meeting.

Other officers elected were Dennis Ball as vice-president and Dr. Jim Tully as secretary-treasurer.

Executive board members are Guy Sullivan, Donna Kruse, Mal Donelson, Waylen Holder and C.L. Casey.

The club will begin its annual membership drive in upcoming months.

Saints Owner Charges Reese Claim Ridiculous

HOUSTON (AP) - Allegations by a former New Orleans Saints lineman that half the team used cocaine during the disasterous 1980 season are "ridiculous," said owner John Mecom.

Mecom said he believes some players took cocaine, but he estimated no more than "maybe 10 percent" of the athletes used the drug when the Saints compiled a 1-15 National Football League record two years ago.

"I think the NFL has a drug problem, and maybe everyone will admit it now. I don't think the players' association or management wanted to admit it. Now maybe we can all work together to clean it up," he said.

Mecom, who lives in Houston, said he was out of the country when "Sports Illustrated" published former lineman Donald Reese's allegations.

In the first-person article, Reese said, about half the Saints' players used cocaine in 1980.

"It was ridiculous for Donald to claim that sort of thing went on," Mecom said of Reese's charges that players often got high before the games and again in the dressing room at halftime.

"I'm very much an anti-drugger. Something like that would have caught my attention," Mecom said.

The 6-6, 280-pound Reese, once convicted of selling cocaine to an undercover agent, has been treated recently in a drug rehabilitation program.

Injunction May Promote Move

LOS ANGELES (AP) - A federal judge's injunction may enable the Oakland Raiders to move to the Los Angeles Coliseum in time for the 1982 National Football League season.

Frankovich said, he didn't see how the Raiders "can be down here this fall," another spokesman, Bill Robertson, disagreed.

"I talked by phone with Al Davis (managing general partner of the Raiders) and he told me there would be no problems," Robertson said.

Davis wasn't present when Pregerson issued his ruling, nor was NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle.

"The overwhelming jury verdicts for the Raiders were upheld by the federal court today," said Davis from his San Francisco office. "Aside from the National Football League's anti-trust violation, the ruling reaffirms that the actions and conduct of the league were in bad faith and unfair dealing."

On May 7, a jury of six women found the NFL in violation of the Sherman Antitrust Law and a second law applying to fair dealing in the league's refusal to grant the Raiders permission to move.

Pregerson said such an application to the 9th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals must be served and filed on or before June 21, and the temporary stay would be dissolved July 2.

At the courthouse following Pregerson's ruling, NFL Attorney Patrick Lynch said, "We will probably make our appeal immediately against the injunction and ask for a stay."

WTC Competes In NIRA Finals

B O Z E M A N, Mont.—There was good news and bad news for Western Texas College on the opening day of the National Intercollegiate Rodeo Association Finals Rodeo.

The good news was produced by James Zant, who won the first go-round in the calf roping competition. Zant had a time of 10.2 seconds. Troy Reynolds of WTC placed 9th in the roping with a time of 12.66.

Some of the bad news came when Todd Whatley apparently had a time of 10.9, good for fourth place, but was disqualified when his calf got loose and stood up before the six-second period had elapsed.

Dave Appleton, WTC's star bronc rider, was holding 5th place in the first go-round of the bareback event, which was still in progress today. Appleton was disqualified in the first go-round of the saddlebronc contest.

The NIRA National Finals will continue through the remainder of the week. The first go-round of the calf-roping began at 6 a. m. Monday and was completed at 4 p. m.

Men's Doubles Are Added

A men's age 35 and over doubles division has been added to the Snyder Tennis Tournament, which will be held here July 24 and 25.

Tournament director Coach Charlie Chrane reported that a number of tennis players had indicated interest in the extra division.

Other events include boy's singles and doubles, 14 and under and 17 and under; girl's singles and doubles, 13 and under and 17 and under; men's and women's singles and doubles and mixed doubles.

Entry fee is $5 per person per event.

Deadline to enter is July 19.

Players are limited to two events plus mixed doubles.

To enter, or for further information, contact Charlie Chrane, 4106 Jacksboro, Snyder, TX, 79549.

McEnroe Is Top Seed

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) - Tennis stars, standing by to hear the Wimbledon draw today, mostly have been avoiding tournament play to practice on grass.

John McEnroe, preparing to defend his title, was named the men's top seed, with fellow American Jimmy Connors second No.2.

Among the women, Wimbledon made Martina Navratilova the top seed with defending champion Chris Evert Lloyd No.2.

The seedings, for the most part, conform with the world computer rankings.

Former Soldier Gives Account

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — A former Fort Bliss soldier has testified that two Border Patrol agents accused of violating the civil rights of two Mexican women did not arrest him for smuggling the women into the country.

Border Patrolmen Robert M. Jacques and David M. Davila are charged with obstructing justice, falsifying official reports and violating the civil rights to two women who contend they were coerced into having sex with the agents.

William Ward testified Monday in the first day of the trial that he and fellow soldier Warren Palmer smuggled the women across the border Oct. 18, 1980, through a hole in a fence.

The four were stopped by two Border Patrol agents, who released the soldiers and said the women would be deported to Mexico, Ward said.

Pioneer aviator Orville Wright was born in 1871.

Governor Makes WCTCOG Grant

AUSTIN—Gov. William P. Clements has awarded the West Central Texas Council of Governments an $11,000 grant to be used for management and productivity improvement projects within this region.

The award was presented personally by the governor during ceremonies held at the state capitol. Accepting the award for WCTCOG were County Judge Preston Wilson of Snyder, who currently serves as WCTCOG board chairman, and Bob Gallagher, executive director.

In presenting the award, Gov. Clements said, "Our regional councils are committed to strengthening state and local government and these grants will help them be ever more responsive to Texans' needs. I initiated management effectiveness in our state government, and I am pleased that these state funds can go toward management improvement at local levels."

These grant dollars will fund a project to provide training for public officials and managers, develop a performance evaluation system, and provide shared legal services for several agencies in the region.

"This grant will enable the West Central Texas Council of Governments to continue its commitment to improve the effectiveness and efficiency of local governments and provide additional services to its members," said Wilson in accepting the award.

Award ceremonies were held during the quarterly meeting of the Texas Association of Regional Councils in Austin.

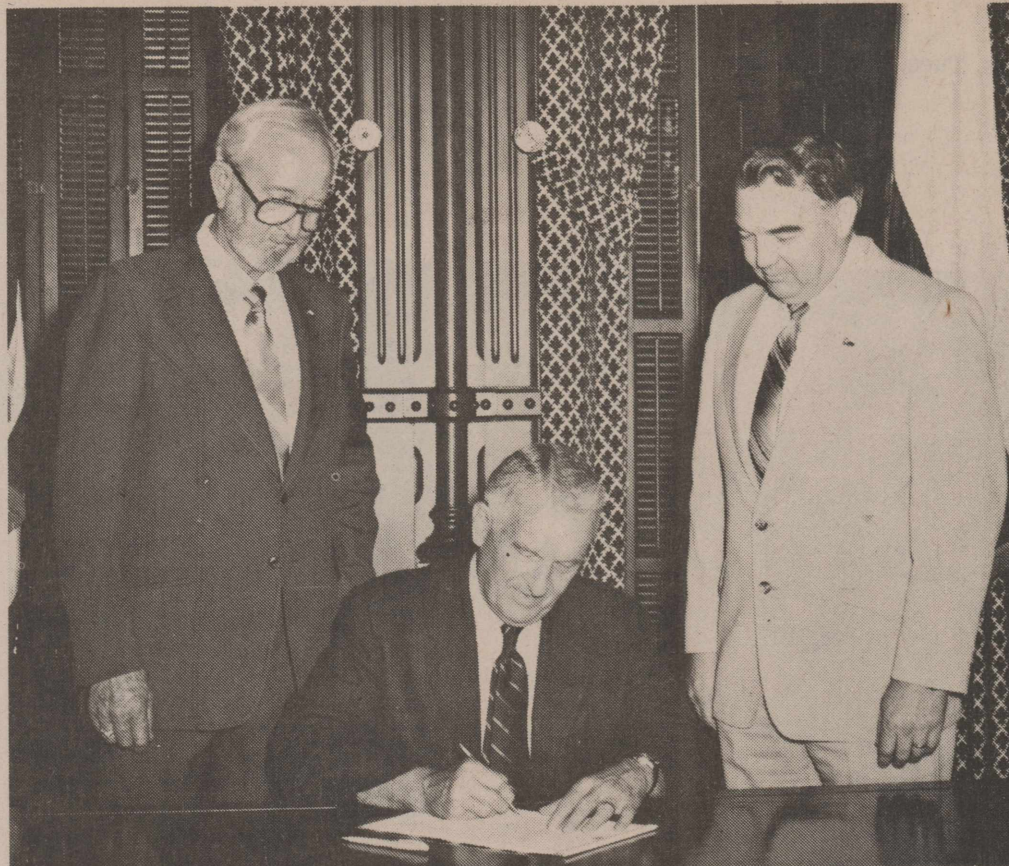

TV Station Tops Mark

BOSTON (AP) — Public television station WGBH topped its $1 million target in its 17th annual on-the-air auction to raise operating funds, the station says.

Auction manager Edythe C. Baker said Sunday the nine-day effort had raised about $50,000 more than its $1 million goal.

FIRST ONE—Pamela R. Self, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Billy H. Matchett, is the first to sign up in the Texas Reading Club at Scurry County Library. The theme for 1982 is "Space Capers."

GOVERNOR SIGNS AWARD—Gov. William P. Clements signs an $11,000 grant to the West Central Texas Council of Governments as Scurry County Judge Preston Wilson, left, and Bob Gallagher look on. Wilson is WCTCOG board chairman and Gallagher is the executive director.

War Considered Normal For Beirut Residents

JOUNIEH, Lebanon (AP) — Just 10 miles from the battle lines of Israel's invasion forces and the Palestinian guerrillas, bikini-clad Lebanese sunbathe, water ski and paddle kayaks along Mediterranean beaches.

"I am afraid, but I like the sea and the sun," said Marthe Yazbek, 32, as she leafed through a French fashion magazine at the private Lagon beach club Monday afternoon.

Jounieh, a favorite retreat for Lebanese Christians of east Beirut, is a pretty little port crammed with glittering discos, stylish boutiques and gourmet restaurants. The port has barely been touched by the Israeli invaders' fierce air, sea and ground attacks against guerrillas of the Palestine Liberation Organization.

It is part of Lebanon's Christian heartland, a virtual state within a state run by a political coalition called the Lebanese Front and a uniformed militia called the Lebanese Forces. Both groups are dominated by the militant Maronite Christian Phalange Party, strongest group among the rightist Christians who fought a predominantly Moslem alliance of Lebanese leftists and Palestinians in Lebanon's 1975-76 civil war.

Palestinians are not tolerated in this area. Phalange leaders in recent months claimed to have severed ties with Israel. But when the Israelis reached the Christian lines of East Beirut on Monday, Lebanese Forces officers said the Phalangists had helped coordinate organizing Israeli deployment in the area.

"It's terrible over there," Zeina Yazbek said. "Every five minutes you don't know if you will die or not." However, she added, "This war is something very normal for us."

Withdraws From Patrols

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — The U.S. Border Patrol has temporarily stopped participating in crime-fighting downtown foot patrols here because of a confusing order handed down by a federal judge, the agency's chief says.

The wording in an order filed last week by U.S. District Judge Lucius Buntion calls into question the ability of Border Patrol agents to legally stop and ask people their citizenship, Alan Eliason said Monday.

He said agents no longer will pair up with El Paso police officers to patrol downtown on foot until the border patrol's lawyers study the order.

Statistics show the foot patrol cut downtown crime 30 percent in the last three months, Eliason said.

The Border Patrol in January raided bars frequented by Mexican-American patrons and netted 300 illegal aliens. But agents also scooped up at least two legal citizens and angered two bar owners.

"When shopping at Special Moments, you get friendly personal service. We get the same kind of service when we advertise in The Snyder Daily News."
