Released Wheat Acreage Will Be Reappropriated

Recently enacted legislation by the Congress permits a farmer to release to the ASC County Committee any part, or all of the 1955 wheat allotment established for the farm. This released acreage will then be reapportioned to other wheat farmers in the county desiring additional acreage, Millard Brown, ASC secretary, has announced.

Farms releasing wheat acreage credit for such acreage as wheat under this provision will be given history for 1955, in establishing future allotments, provided wheat has been planted on the farm at least one year during the three-year base.

On the other hand, farmers who do not intend to plant their 1955 wheat acreage and do not release the unused acreage will not be given credit for such acreage as history for 1955. Also the county will loose this unused acreage for history purposes.

However, farms receiving an increase in the allotment under this provision will not get credit for wheat history above the original allotments for the farm.

The State Committee has set November 5, 1954 as the final date for farmers to release unused 1955 wheat acreage.

Water Authority Step Explained

Confirmation Election Understanding Urged

The Confirmation election which will be called soon in connection with the proposed dam on Salt Fork river, sponsored by the Greenbelt Municipal and Industrial Water Authority is one of the important steps in securing that dam, but any town that votes itself into the Authority in this election, may withdraw later from the Authority if it wants to.

Jimmie Lee, one of the Wellington representatives on the board of directors of the Greenbelt Authority, declared Tuesday, September 21, that this confirmation election is one point which all property owners should understand. He explains it in this way:

The confirmation election will be held in the seven towns now in the Authority Wellington, Childress, Paducah, Quanah, Memphis, Hedley and Clarendon.

Any town wishing to remain a member must approve this confirmation election, but this does not bind the town to anything.

Later on, it is likely a bond election will be called, and should the city feel that is is not advisable to continue in the program, it may withdraw by presenting a petition to the Authority.

If a city votes down the confirmation election, it cannot later go back into the Authority.

Mr. Lee also said that a method of financing other than by bond election may be possible. Congressman Walter Rogers, in a conversation with Mr. Lee and County Judge R. L. Templeton, Monday evening revealed that there will come before Congress at the next session a bill which would provide financing of projects such as the Salt Fork Dam.

Should the legislation pass, the Authority will explore the possibility of that method of financing, Mr. Lee said.

Sherman Resigns As C-C President; Lee To Top Office

John Sherman, president of the Wellington Chamber of Commerce has resigned from that office, and has been succeeded by Jimmie Lee, vice-president. Mr. Sherman, in his letter of resignation, pointed out to the board of directors, that it is necessary for him to give his full time to his farming interests.

Mr. Lee, in taking over the office, announced that the C-C has endorsed and will work with the Soil Conservation Service in the up-stream flood control program which is being studied for Elm Creek and Dozier Creek in the north part of the county.

The C-C will also move, within the next few days, to fill four vacancies existing on the 12-man board of directors.

The new president reviewed briefly the working which the Chamber of Commerce is currently engaged, and the projects which it is developing.

The organization is working actively with the Greenbelt Municipal and Industrial Water Authority, which proposes a dam across Salt Fork River at the Donley County line. The Industrial committee, which Mr. Lee has headed during the year, made numerous contacts to secure users of the water impounded by the dam, and has received several definite commitments from industrial users.

"The industrial committee is working to get a payroll for Wellington, so that we need not again be so completely at the mercy of adverse weather conditions as we have for the last four years," Mr. Lee declared.

More immediate projects include the Christmas Decoration program. Mr. Lee appointed John Sherman as chairman of the committee in charge and he is to select his committee members.

An intensive "Buy at Home" campaign is in the making, with Sandy Parsons Jr. heading the committee. Ideas are being studied, and the C-C is working toward the goal of making Wellington the most attractive retailing center of the entire area.

The street is being widened from 48 feet to approximately 62 feet, with eight feet being taken from each sidewalk.

The Wellington Rotary Club stands at the top in the 183rd District from the standpoint of membership attendance at the regular meetings, D. C. McKinney, president, announced Monday, September 20.

The club has had 100 per cent attendance for the nine meetings in July and August, as well as for the meetings so far in September, Mr. McKinney said. The club also has met its 10 per cent in increase set as a goal for the current year.

Ask Dozier-Elm Creek UpStream Flood Control

Application is being made this week by the Salt Fork Soil Conservation District officials for upstream flood control project for Elm Creek and Dozier Creek, according to Fred Squyres, work unit conservationist for the Soil Conservation Service, who is preparing the papers.

Should this project be approved, it will mean a series of small dams on the creeks, along with various other types of erosion control. This is a direct outgrowth of a meeting held here in June, when representatives of the Texas Association of Soil Conservation Districts and of the Soil Conservation Service met with farmers and ranchers of this and surrounding counties.

At that time it was explained that a limited amount of money is now available for such erosion and control work.

Signing the application for funds with the Soil Conservation Districts, as interested agencies, is the Commissioners Court, the Chamber of Commerce, and the Rotary Club.

Elm Creek valley contains some of the most fertile land in the Salt Fork Soil Conservation district, the directors point out. Soil analysis show it to be lacking in no element for maximum crop production.

The SCS report states that some of this valley land is flooded out and there are floods of a damaging nature on the average of three per year.

The yearly average damage from floods for the last ten years is set by SCS figures at $87,000 annually,besides erosion damage to an estimated 153,000 acres of land.

It further estimates that 4,000 acres of this fertile land on Elm Creek watershed has been abandoned, 6,000 acres is farmed but the crops are lost one year our of three; that 109,744 acres is in rangeland and 28,436 acres in cropland.

The federal program under which such flood control projects are set up now has available some money to be used in Texas. The Texas Association of Soil Conservation Districts is the agency designated in Texas to handle the applications and grant approvals, and the Soil Conservation Service is to provide techincal assistance.

Should approval be given the Collingsworth projects, the mechanics for putting the program in operation would run something like this:

A water district would be formed to include the watershed area of not more than 250,000 acres. Some financing would be required. It would be necessary to provide land easements and right-of-way and operate and maintain the installed meausures. Salt Fork district officials believe local people are willing to provide these and so far as they can learn, there is no opposition to the proposed project.

The application adds that it is doubtful that a very large sum can be raised by taxation at this time and there are no other known sources of funds.

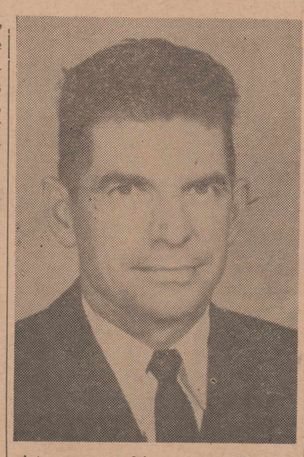

Judge R. L. Templeton, who has worked closely with the project, points out that the series of small dams that would be set up on Elm Creek would be only one phase of the flood control program. General erosion control measures would be applied on the land in the watershed, such as grass plantings to prevent erosion, terracing, and general land improvement practices recommended by the Soil Conservation Service.

The project, should it be completed, would furnish water for irrigating around 4,000 acres, improve fish and wildlife facilities, and offer some recreational facilities, reduce sediment damage control erosion, and reduce floodwater damage.

This project, the judge pointed out, has nothing to do with the proposed Salt Fork dam. The two are separate projects.

Blackhawks Invade Powell Field Friday

Wellington Skyrockets may have some of the strongest competition of the season Friday night, September 24, when they meet the Phillips Blackhawks here.

"Phillips has a very good, well hounded ball club. They are good on running and they're good throwing the ball. They have a better than average defensive ball club. They've just got a good team."

This is the way Rocket Coach Maxey McKnight assesses this week's foe.

This year's Blackhawks team is generally considered the best Phillips has had in several years. Don Meeks, one of the top scorers in the Panhandle last year, is in action again, and he is backed up by a set of team mates who all score pretty consistently.

"We're trying to correct our mistakes. We've doing a pretty good job with our football this year, but we're making too many mistakes. On the whole, however, we feel our kids are doing a wonderful job," McKnight commented as the Phillips game came nearer.

The probable Blackhawks starting lineup has not been announced here.

Accompanying the football team will be the standing Phillips Blackhawk band. During the half, they requesting a period of lights out, in order that they may give their night show, which those who have seen it describe as excellent and unusual.

The Rocket Band also will perform at the half, giving Wellington fans more of the same type entertainment that has been so well received during the intermissions of the first two games

Salt Fork Soil Conservation Dist.

The board of directors in a meeting Saturday night, September 13, voted to sell one of the grass seed drills it now owns on open bid to anyone interested.

The board will then buy a new type drill for grass seed that will put down both the seed and fertilizer, and chissle the land in one operation. It will be a sturdier drill with more punch, Fred Squyres, work unit conservationist with the Soil Conservation Service, said.

Anyone wanting to bid on the drill can contact one of the board members: Zook Thomas, chairman, Frank Coleman, Frank Ford, Tom Cunningham or John Robert Henard.

The board has voted to buy a three-row legume seed drill especially to seed rye, vetch, peas, alfalfa and similar seeds between rows of green cotton or feed, so that by the time these crops are off, the farmer will have a green cover crop, Squyres said.

The drill, to be bought from the Wichita-Wilbarger Soil Conservation District, will put down fertilizer in the same operation.

Planting of this type does not in any way injure the crop standing, it was pointed out. Anyone interested in using it should contact one of the custodians, Melvin Burks, Wellington; Frank Kennedy,Quail; Frank Claborn, Samnorwood; and Frank Ford, Dodson.

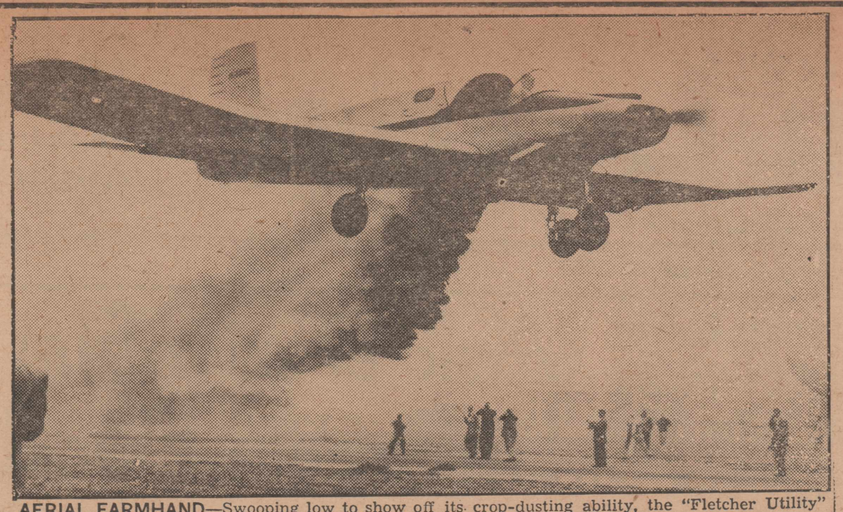

The Salt Fork Soil Conservation District is furnishing school packets to the high school students of the four schools in the district.

COLLINGSWORTH COUNTY CHECKERBOARD NEWS

BY CHARLES LITTLE JR.

Singley Mill & Elevator

LADIES . . . September is your month at Singley Mill and Elevator. We want to show our appreciation for your business. We want to make many more new friends. We want you to come in and get acquainted. And here is why you should.

We will give you a regular 1.29 value Scarf for only 25 cents when you buy 100 pounds of any Purina Laying Chow.

Ladies you won't find a scarf to match this one any where else in the world. It comes in a new "Fall Fiesta" pattern, especially designed for Purina Dealers by the well - known artist, Eugene Hoy. You have your choice of four lovely color combinations.

Remember too, you get far more than just this lovely bargain at the Checkerboard Store. You become acquainted with a man and his trained employees who know how to help you make money with poultry. They believe in quality. They believe in results. They know the answers to many poultry problems, because they are trained by Purina experts.

If you really want to make this a banner fall and winter . . .a year when your pullets will lay like 60, drop in and see us real soon. Pick up your scarf and ask for any help you need. We must warn you that the supply of scarves is limited. So see us soon, while you can select the color you like best. You're cordially invited during September's open house for ladies at Singley Mill and Elevator, your friendly Purina Dealer.

This is the latest information we have from Mrs. T. C. Newkirks Cage hen operation. All of her pulletts are not in production at this time but in spite of this she is maintaining a 66 per cent production record. She is getting approximately 60 dozen eggs per day. It is taking 4.16 lbs. of Purina Cage Layena to produce a dozen eggs. Mrs. Newkirk is getting 24 dozen eggs for every 100 pounds of Purina Cage Layena she feeds

These are some of your neighbors who feed Purina Laying Chows. Ask them why they feed Purina Chows. Herman Jenkins, W. L. Green, Bob Jones, R. H. Burquist, Lonnie Neeley, Ray Brown, E. M. Cook, O. E. Dodson, J C. Emmert, Herman Harris and C. D. Messer.

NEW PURINA CAGE LAYENA

Purina Research men have announced a new high efficiency formula for Cage Layena. Results of our feeding trials show up to seven per cent less feed per dozen eggs. This savings alone means an extra 28 to 30 dozen eggs per ton.

Adjustments in protein, vitamins and minerals have been made to help utilize the higher level of carbohydrates needed for efficient egg production.

The new Cage Layena comes in Checker-Ett Form and is to be fed continually as the complete ration. It can also be fed on the mash and Cheker plan.

There is a bonus advantage to the new improvement. Feeders will probably notice that wet droppings are reduced during the summer.

Cage hen management shows up most when market conditions tighten up like they have recently. By taking some action on the management programs, feeders can keep profit margins where they ought to be in spite of an unfavorable market.

Deck's DIDACTICS

—By Deskins Wells

I see by the dailies that Senator McCarthy is thinking of taking to the radio and T-V to help the Republicans. That will be about as effective politically as Harry Truman speaking for Stevenson two years ago.

The county officials are taking a hand in curbing reckless driving by teen-age drivers in Quanah and Hardeman County. No less than a dozen teen-age drivers are due to lose their drivers licenses in the near future according to Hardeman County officials. This might be a thought for the county officials here. Up to now they have left it up entirely to city officials.

This newspaper has carried stories on the Greenbelt Water Authority in the last three issues giving rather a full picture of what it will cost and how it will be administered. We feel that small attention has been paid to this matter which might raise our city taxes as much as 30 cents on the hundred dollar valuation and which also might bring new industries to Wellington. Perhaps you ought to gather up the last three copies of the paper and read these three articles as a whole.

Bernice Welch's mother in law, Mrs. C. M. Workman of Decatur, is a lady of refinement, culture and good taste in newspapers. The other day I went in to buy a magazine and she was tending the stand. I did not know who she was and she did not know who I was; but in the course of the conversation she got to explaining to me about what an excellent newspaper the Wellington Leader is; and she went on to declare that she thought it was the most interesting weekly newspaper she had ever read. Considering all the cussing that I had listened to in the same spot about running a "Shivers Sheet" the gracious talk of the lady was music to my ears. I kept saying "Yes maam, that is sure the truth, you are so right". Finally I laughed and introduced myself. If Bernice would take a few lessons in salesmanship from his mother in law, he might double his sales in a week.

Harmon Ebey of Ada, Oklahoma says that this is the greenest spot he has seen on his trip across Oklahoma.

Our son must have heard us talking about buying door - to - door salesmen instead of local merchants. The other day he was supposed to be taking his nap while a salesman was talking to his mother in the yard about a vacumn sweeper. After a bit he stuck his head out the window and demanded: "What is he trying to dump on you?"

The City of Wellington is publishing a financial statement this week. It is taken from the audit of March 31st; but it shows that the city is in excellent shape with $61, 735.59 cash on hand or in bonds and a bonded indebtedness of only $155,500.00 as compared to permanent improvements and real estate valued at $717,011.83. Ample reserves are in sight to take care on the bonded indebtedness as it matures. There is only one dark spot in the picture and that is the item of $20,983.76 in deliquent taxes; but this a very mild one as compared to the county and school district. Actually this is an asset but it tends to make the ready tax payers pay a little bit more than they would otherwise have to do. A story will be in the paper about the statement next week.

Record Crowds Attend District VFW-Auxiliary Meet

One hundred and thirty VFW and Auxiliary members from 17 towns and cities attended the district meeting here Saturday and Sunday, September 17 and 18, and drew praise from district and state officials both for the size of the crowd and the interest.

Most of the two day session was devoted to VFW and Auxiliary business, including the Sunday morning school of instruction.

SAME OLD TUNE—As a French prisoner-repatriate fans away the hot air, right, a Viet Minh band serenades him with sweet music intended to make prisoners at the exchange point of Vietri, Indo-China, believe in the bamboo-woven "Peace" (Paix) sign overhead. The French high command say the Viet Minh play a different tune in regard to exchange of prisoners, and have delivered less than half of the promised 9000 French Union forces they agreed to return.

A Bank Does More Than Take Care Of Your Money

A bank is first and always the heart of the community's financial life. But this means more than depositing money and making loans.

We at the City State feel we must take part in the development of this community, encouraging the introduction of new crops adapted to the area, of better farming methods.

We believe a bank should work for those movements that build and improve a town—which add to its pay-roll, which enlarges its trade area, which makes it a better place in which to work and live.

SALT FORK

By MRS. R. H. ISBELL

The weather seems to be the main subject everywhere one goes. It's really Fall of the year though even if it is hot. Cotton pulling is getting under way in most every community.

The J. P. Cummings family have returned from a vacation through Colorado on out west across the Great Divide. Their first stop was at J. P.'s brothers, Joe Cummings. He went with them to see his wife, Mrs. Bramley Cummings, who has been very sick. She was at her daughter's home at Grand Valley. Mr. and Mrs. Ted Meguillon and family. Mrs. Cummings returned home with her husband.

The Cummings also visited Mr. and Mrs. L. P. King at Paonia, Colorado. They came by Anistad, New Mexico to see Mrs. Cummings brother, N. T. Biffle. Their next stop was at Bula. Retired Workers Get Social Security Benefit Increase

All retired workers who are receiving monthly social security checks will find them increased by at least $5 in October. The 1954 amendments to the social security law make this increase automatic on the September check which will be received early in October. In many cases the dependents and survivors of workers who are insured under the social security program will get proportionate increases. In all cases the total benefit payment to a family will show an increase. Present beneficiaries don't have to get in touch with their social security office to get the increase. It will be on the check received in October.

Under the law, the minimum benefit for a retired worker will be $30 instead of $25 and the maximum will be $98.50. The maximum family benefit which was $168.75 will be $200. No minimum benefit will be less than $30 for a retired worker or an only survivor.

The following table will show the present amount being received by the retired worker. The increased amount he will receive on the September check which will reach him in October.

Present Insurance Amount to a Retired Worker	New Insurance Amount to a Retired Worker

30.00	35.00
40.00	45.00
50.00	55.00

Skyrockets Roll Over Shamrock Irish 25-7

Wellington and Shamrock played their most peculiar football game of all time last Friday, September 17, as a strong and fighting Rocket line pushed the Irish all over Powell Field which was the only reason the Wellington boys emerged on the victory side of a 25 to 7 score.

The game must have set some sort of a record for fumbles as the Rockets fumbled ten times recovering only two and the Irish fumbled 6 times also recovering only two. Wellington missed two scoring chances early in the first quarter because of fumbles and continued scoreless until the middle of the second quarter when Wellington got the ball on the Shamrock 34 yard line.

With Ted Stanberry making a twelve yard run to put the ball on the 2, Billy Branch sneaked it over for the first touchdown to make the score 6 to 0.

Up to this point the Irish had not penetrated beyond the Rocket 50 yard line due to the strong play of the Rocket line. Their touchdown was set up for them when the Rocket safety elected to let the ball roll to their own ten and a penalty set it back inside the 1 yard line. Shamrock recovered on a fumble and on two tries punched the ball over with the conversion good making the score 7 to 6 where it remained until the second half.

As the second half opened the Rocket line continued to be outstanding with Wauer, Raburn, Drake, Slay, Jones, Issacs, Mc Cutchen, Brown and Agee showing a remarkable job of defensive playing. Ray Wauer was the heart of the defensive - offensive the Rockets displayed throughout the game but the others as well as their substitutes turned in outstanding plays on the defensive. In fact the Rockets pushed the Irish around for a minus 36 yards on running plays in the game and it was due almost entirely to the aggressive Wellington line. Shamrock made only one first down during the entire game.

The Wellington backs were sharp on defense against Shamrock passes and they proved that they could do effective running in the second half, when they could get hold of or hold on to the ball, that is.

Wellington's second touchdown was set up by an Irish fumble and the Rockets drove from their own 25 to the 15 where a neat pass from Billy Branch to Billy Frank Agee put the ball on the three yard line and on the next play Ted Stanberry carried it over to make the score 12 to 7.

The Rockets neatest scoring play came on their third touchdown when Branch pitched out to Tarver who carried from the sixteen to the four and on the next attempt Tarver carried over. Phillip Cobb converted for the extra point to make the score 19 to 7.

The last Rocket score featured some hard running by some of the substitutes as well as the starters with Cobb, Wayne Ketchum and R. W. Warren getting a chance to carry. After an exchange of fumbles and punts, Johnny Brock carried the last touchdown over to make the final score 25 to 7.

Head coach Maxie McKnight and line coach John Hurley used practically every member of their 23 man squad and they proved that they are a 23 man team and not just a starting team as evidenced by the tremendous tackle that John Cartwright laid on the Irish receiver which jarred him loose from the ball and paved the way for the third Rocket touchdown.

The Rockets made 12 first downs to 1 for the Irish and they gained 171 yards on the ground and completed two passes out of 5 attempts for a total of 21 yards. Shamrock made 23 yards passing and lacked 36 making any yards at all on the ground.

National Safety Council Award to Lone Star Gas

The National Safety Council announced today that Lone Star Gas Company has been presented the Council's Award of Honor for its excellent safety record.

The award is presented only where an establishment's record satisfies rigid requirements laid down in the Council's Award Plan for Recognizing Good Industrial Records.

Ned H. Dearborn, president of the National Safety Council, in a letter of congratulations to D. A. Hulcy, president of Lone Star Gas Company, explained that Lone Star qualified for the award because of its low injury rate in 1953

The company's injury frequency rate was 46 per cent better than its "par" rate, and its injury severity rate was 80 percent better "Par" rates are computed by the National Safety Council from the company's experience in other years and from the rates of Hulcy, president of Lone Star Gas industry's classification to which the company belongs

Hulcy, in a letter to Lone Star employes, said:

"The National Safety Council has presented our company with the Council's Award of Honor for its excellent safety record in 1953.

"Ours is one of only six gas utility companies to receive the award. To point up the significance of the presentation, there are 424 gas utility companies operating in the United States. All were eligible to receive this award.

"Our safety department is due much credit. It goes without saying that the efforts of that department's personnel contributed greatly to the success of our 1953 safety program.

"The lion's share of the credit, however, rightly belongs to you employes in the field, since it is in the field that accidents occur, or are prevented by the simple process of observing safety rules and exercising old-fashioned horse sense. It is entirely evident that you have done both.

"I extend my heartiest congratulations to all of you for this outstanding achievement in the field of safety," Hulcy concluded.

Witnessing the contest and telecast were Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Phipps and family; Mr. and Mrs. Riley Dunson; Mr. and Mrs. Rual Alexander; Miss Rickey Boyd; Miss Ada Carole Thomas; Mrs. J. W. Thomas and Franklin Knoll.

Miss Phipps was awarded a gold compact engraved with the name of the contest and date, and also a bouquet of roses.

Legion - Auxiliary Meeting Here

Wellington's Frank King Post of the American Legion and the Auxiliary Unit will be host to the Zone Legion meeting Tuesday night, September 28, Milburn Derryberry, post commander, has announced.

The meeting will begin at 8:00 p. m. and will be held in the Legion building.

Following the short business meeting, the social and entertainment program will be held.

More than 100 guests are expected from posts at Claude, McLean, Groom, Mobeetie, Wheeler, Shamrock, Wellington, Hedley and Clarendon.

Derryberry Named Commander

Milburn Derryberry has been elevated to commander of the Frank King Post of the American Legion to succeed Herman Crowley, who recently moved to Wichita Falls. Mr. Derryberry had been serving as first vice commander.

At this time, Fred Squyres, who has been serving as adjutant, was elected first vice commander to replace Derryberry, and C. A. Crawford was chosen adjutant.

Squyres also serves as membership chairman.

Recovers From Accident Injury

W. I. Underwood is recovering from a compound fracture of his right leg, an injury received in an accident envolving the city's garbage collection truck and a Cap Rock bus recently.

Bura Handley, city manager, said the accident occured at the alley between Arlington and Belton Streets on 9th Street. Mr. Underwood was riding on a small platform at rear of the city truck, as it turned into the alley. The bus, attempting to pass the truck on the left, barely hit the back end, but caught Mr. Underwood's leg.

Neither vehicle was damaged.

SAFETY ACHIEVEMENT

Lone Star Gas Company employees, perennial winners of safety awards, attained a new high in safety performance in 1953 to win the National Saftey Council's highest commendation, the Award of Honor. In the above picture, Lone Star President D. A. Hulcy of Dallas, right, commends A. W. Breeland, the company's assistant director of personnel and director of safety, holding the Award of Honor plaque, for the Safety Department's role in the establishment of the 1953 safety record. "The lion's share of the credit, however," Hulcy said, "rightly belongs to our more than 6,000 employees in the field, since it is in the field that accidents occur, or are prevented by the simgle process of observting safety rules and, during usual situations not listed in safety manuals, using plain horse sense in coping with those situations."

News Letter

From Congressman WALTER ROGERS

ATTENTION CATTLEMEN

Not long ago, a gentleman came into my office and wanted to discuss Alaska beef producing potentialities with me. He knew I was from Texas, and he saw the Hereford hide on the wall so, no doubt, he concluded that he would have a willing ear. About the time the conservation got started good, the bells rang and I had to leave him in order to get to the House in time for that day's session. He promised to write me a letter about it, and sure enough he did. It is very interesting, and I wish I could put the entire letter in this letter, as I know you cattle people would enjoy it.

This man, his wife and four children have been growing and marketing farm products since 1942. The father went up in 1941 to Alaska, and the family followed the next year. He tells me that they are meeting with great success and want to expand.

He tells me that there are several islands involved that are warmed by the Japanese current and sheltered by the Alaskan peninsula. That only occasional snowfalls occur and quickly disappear so that the cattle range out and thrive unsheltered in the wild state all the year around. The average winter temperatures are 20 degrees to 42 degrees Fahrenhiet, and the average summer temperatures are 35 to 54 degrees F., with three degrees F. coldest recorded and 80 degrees F. the highest. He also says that from July through December, the natural range grasses furnish beef carcasses able to compete with beef shipped in from the states, and that with a minimum of expense, grass silage can be provided to enable furnishing beef fit for market all the year. There is an ample constant flow of fresh water, seaweed on the beaches for salt and mineral, and very little fencing is needed. There are no pre predators or poisonous weeds on the islands.

The main market centers are Fairbanks, which serves about 37,000 people, and Anchorage, serving about 90,000.

He wants to interest some other fellows in this project so that the operations can be measurably expanded and will be glad to go into detail with anyone who might be glad to send full data concertning the weather, soil and grass analysis, market volume and prices, references, etc., or will make a personal visit to discuss the matter in full.

If anyone wants to go into the cattle business in Alaska, I will be glad to give you this man's name and address. I never saw him before he came into my office, but was impressed by his love for cattle and his apparent knowledge of Alaska.

Everyone seems to be getting water conscious. I was in company with several other members of Congress and a United States Senator recently surveying a project, the purpose of which is to create a means of reducing the salt content of water so that it can be used for human consumption or industrial or irrigation purposes. If such a process is perfected, it will not only be a boon to mankind, in so far as the use of sea water is concerned, but would be a tremendous benefit in the inland sections of all countries where you might have underground salt water. Certainly we have that in the Panhandle. The problem to solve is to develop the processes that are now known so that the cost of the sweet water produced will not be prohibited. Of course, it is anticipated that other means of reducing the salt content may be discovered or accidently stumbled upon. In any event, the project itself in its infancy, and it may be some time before the fruits of this research will be realized. However, it is well to note that this program is closely kin to another program that was started and developed during World War II that provided fresh water from sea water for many of our boats.

The U. S. Navy is presently engaged in a Save Water Campaign that, I understand, is getting remarkable results. The August issue of the "Navy Conservationist" treats this problem at length and does a splendid work on it.

However, they did leave out one item that I think gives a clear picture of what a great resource water is. I have reference to an experience the Navy had in the Virgin Islands. These islands have no water supply other than rain water. In order to catch and conserve this, they concrete the sides of huge hills, and in many instances, mountains, and put a catch basin at the base of this concrete slab. Their underground water is all brackish and therefore, when it fails to rain, they just do not have any source from which they can obtain their needed water. Not many months ago, they were stricken by a drought, and the Navy put one of its war ships in the harbor at Charlotte Amalie, St. Thomas Island, and proceeded to produce fresh water to supplement the reserve on the island. Without this supplemental supply, the then Governor of the Virgin Islands advised me, the situation would have become very dangerous.

Capitol Hill has gotten very quiet for the moment. The few of us who are left here are trying to catch up on our mail and other chores, but most of the members have departed. The newspaper people seem to be having quite a bit of trouble finding news. When Congress shuts down, the news correspondents up here have to dig about twice as hard for stories.

I hope to get loose here sometime around the first of September or shortly thereafter. The family was a little upset at me because we did not get to spend the summer in Texas, but they all understand that the late adjournment of Congress makes it almost impossible to get them down there and back before school starts. When the Rogers tribe starts across the country, what with having to stop at every other filling station, it takes about five to five and one-half days to make the trip each way. That doesn't leave much time to say hello to your friends when you only have about 15 days for the entire trip.

I was looking at the August 20 daily statement of the U. S. Treasury and thought of the old story about the fellow who asked the other one what he would do if he had all of the money in the world. The reply was that he would pay it on his debts, as far as it would go. What made think of this was, that the balance on that particular day was 5,954,371-980.02. I had just finished reading about the national debt being $274,000,000,000. and the debt ceiling being raised six additional billion. The fellow in the old story wasn't being funny, he just lived before his time.

Crossroads Report

Dear Editor:

I see where the gov't turned down some legislators from Oklahoma here the other day, when they asked about a public works program or something to help the hungry unemployed farm workers in drought areas. It seems the Federals don't have any money to spend on such unorthodox give-aways.

If the treasury is in that bad a shape, maybe we ought to ask our foreign dependents to forego some frills so we can cut down on their allowances. Might be able to save enough this way to rehabilitate a few of these hardup U. S. citizens into handy taxpayers again.

Seems to me like this business of not having any money left is because we spend so much on foreign fiddling, is just as bad fiscal management as when, say, some father can't buy shoes for his kid on account of he needs all his money to keep up a fancier baby.

Here Are Delicious Ways to Prepare Broilers and Fryers

BY DOROTHY MADDOX

THE Department of Agriculture reports that unusually large supplies of broiler-fryer chickens are now on the market. So let's take advantage of the lower prices.

Here's a wonderful version of that world-famous taste treat, Hungarian chicken paprikas:

Chicken Paprikas
(Serves 4)

One-quarter pound salt pork, diced; 1 broiler fryer (3 to 3½-pound ready-to-cook weight), cut in serving pieces; flour, 1 tablespoon red (Hungarian) paprika, 1 teaspoon salt, ½ cup Tokay wine or soup stock, 1 cup sour cream, 1 cup heavy cream, 3 medium onions.

Preheat electric skillet or heavy iron skillet Place diced pork in skillet and fry for 10 minutes, turning frequently Meanwhile, dredge chicken with flour Blend seasonings into wine or stock and mix with cream Shred onions

When pork cubes are glazy and slightly brown, add chicken and brown well on all sides (about 10 to 15 minutes) Add onions, stir lightly; pour ⅔ of cream mixture over chicken and blend carefully Cover skillet; turn heat low and cook for 20 minutes

Add remaining cream mixture, cover and cook until chicken is tender (about 15 to 20 minutes) Sprinkle with paprika before serving: Serve with broad egg noodles

If you enjoy the flavor of curry here's a good recipe for you

Curry Broiled Chicken
(Serves 2 to 3)

Two and one-half to 3½-pound broiling chicken, salt and pepper, 4 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted, ½ to ¾ teaspoon curry powder, paprika.

Have butcher split chickens in half. Remove neck and backbone. Season inside and out with salt and pepper. Combine butter and curry With a pastry brush, coat chicken pieces on both sides with butter Sprinkle lightly with paprika.

Place in flat, shallow pan 6 inches from flame. Start chicken cooking skin side down. Broil 15 to 20 minutes, or until golden brown and tender Continue brushing with the butter mixture. Turn and broil 10 minutes longer.

Chicken paprikas is only one of many zestful ways to serve fryers and broilers now in abundant supply.

EDITORIAL COMMENT — THE WELLINGTON LEADER

Citizens—Working Together Build a City; Lack of Public Spirit Swells 'Ghost Town'

There is an old saying that colthes do not make the man. This can be enlarged upon and paraphrased to read "The community does not make the individual." It is the reverse that is true—a little thought will show that it is the individual and groups of people who really make the community. Lazy people, lazy community—progressive people, progressive community? No other conclusion can be drawn. But what makes a city great? What makes any town a good place to work and a good place to live? It can't be the steel and cement buildings. They have no feelings—they cannot act.

Again we return to the only conclusion to be drawn—the individuals make the city and the town. It is therefore up to each and every citizen as to what his town will or will not be. No one's responsibility ends at the boundaries of his house and lot but rather, extends over the whole community. One person or one group cannot be expected to accomplish the work of the whole town, no matter how enthusiastic they may be. We cannot have a wide awake community if we are asleep at the switch as individuals.

We have to take pride in our town and do what we can to raise the standards that prevail. Clubs and organizations cannot be "out for themselves"—they must work together for the community as a whole. A healthy, prosperous and progressive community is the results of the cordinated efforts of all—not just a few.

It is impossible for any municipality to stand still and let the world go on around them. They either move on to bigger things or they decay. There is no middle ground. It is therefore up to each one of us to decide just what we for both ourselves and our children? be known as a community of far thinking people who are trying our best to make a better place in which to live for both ousselves and our children? Or shall we bask in the reputation of being a decadent town headed eventually toward earning the inglorious title of "Ghost Town?"

Here in Wood River we have the "makins" of a really outstanding community. Doubtless no one wants Wood River to become a big city but we could be the best doggone small town in Illinois if we would only use what we have at hand and work. We need to take more pride in our town—to support it, its clubs, businesses, churches and everything about it. Our public spirited citizens are few and far between and scarcer yet is public spirit itself. There is a great lack of civic pride—but is not a situation that cannot be remedied.

It is up to us, as individuals, to get together and decide just what we would like to be—then get together and do it.

The Journal (Wood River, Ill.)

Small Towns Get Industries

It is interesting to note that almost half of the 485 new industries located in Iowa during the last eight years have been established in towns with populations of less than 5,000 people.

The Iowa Development Commission reports that 356 new plants were located in towns of less than 5,000, 134 were located in the much smaller number of towns between 5,000 and 10,000, and 355 were located in towns with more than 10,000 people.

It's true that some of these new small-town industries were located in suburban towns adjoining larger towns or cities. But the fact must be regarded as important that scores upon scores of manufanturers prefer small towns as locations.

These figures on business location point out again that small towns have much to gain by maintaining an active Chamber of Commerce as well as a generally progressive attitude that is receptive to new ideas and to new businesses. Small towns need to avoid the deadly state of mind which causes them to be generally suspicious of the new and different or to want to remain always the same. Towns are no different from businesses or people. They cannot stand still. They either progress or go backwards.

The differences in attitude eventually are translated into differences in populations and differences in prosperity.

Man's Greed Kills Off Grazing Grass

Before the coming of man and the plow to the "short grass country", the buffalo was king of the beasts getting a living off this land.

Relibale estimates tell us that a bull buffalo, at three years of age, weighed 1800 pounds—all of which he put on from the natural forage available in the great, wide-open semi-arid plains region. Legend tells us that the size of these herds was unbelievable.

Where has the grass gone that supported these prairie giants year after year? Where is the cover crop that built up these herds? Where is the grass that is so vital to the success of an agricultural economy in this region?

Despite modern knowledge, equipment and techniques, the vital grass either is going or is gone. Over-grazing started it, wholesale plowing pushed it along and recurring wind and drought took repeated advantage of man's folly.

What was once the buffalo's need is now a monument to man's greed.

BUCK CREEK PHILOSOPHER

Editor's notes -The Buck Creek Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Buck Creek may have a good idea this week, but he won't get anywhere with it.

Dear editar:

I don't know anything about international diplomacy, don't even know anything about local diplomacy or I'd figure out a way to pacify my neighbor when my cows jump my fence into his pasture, but I was reading the other day macy which interests me.

Accordin to this item, the United States has just succeeded in getting West Germany or maybe it was East Germany, I forget which, to accept a big shipment of fodd from us, free of course, and some officials in Washington hailed this as a great diplomatic victory.

I have pondered this a long time and have decided I wish the government would win a few diplomatic victories over me.

For example, say the government has some surplus hay on hand and wants to let me have some, just to keep my friendship. If all I had to do was act like I wouldn't think of acceptin any of that hay, ignore their offer, draw myself up in a dignified huff, and hold off awhile, then magnanimously unbend and agree that after thinkin the matter over for several days and in the interest of international harmony I have decided to go ahead and accept a few loads, if they'd stack it in the barn, of course, I believe I could carry out the part and would be perfectly willin to let the government hail me as another diplomatic victory.

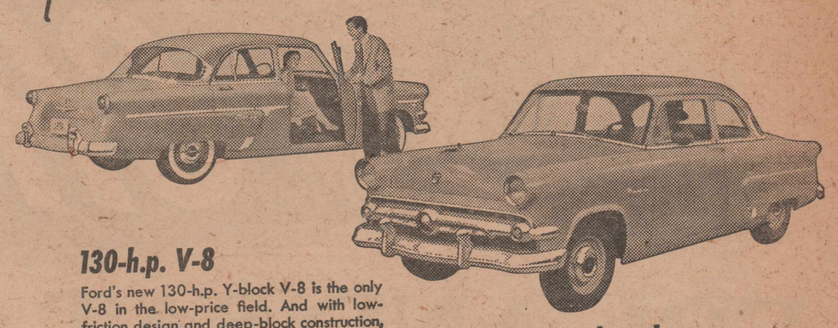

Or say I was passin by a store in town and the owner rushed out on the sidewalk, drug me inside, and insisted I accept a couple of shirts and a pair of shoes, just to give him another diplomatic victory. This thing has great possibilities, if more people would forget about economics and brush up on diplomacy.

If you hear of anybody anywhere, whether it's the government or individuals, who are interested in practicing diplomacy in this fashion, I will be glad to serve as a sort of provin ground. I can think of dozens of diplomatic victories they could win out here on my Johnson grass farm.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Church-Home Ideal It Still Vital

When we look back on the origins of the Christian church, we are reminded that the churches, in various places where the missionary journeys of Paul and others led to their establishment, were in the homes of the disciples.

Saint Paul, in greeting Priscilla and Aquila, says "Likewise greet the church that is in the house."

A church could not very well be maintained in a home without the family being a part of it, and family religion is strongly exemplified in the experiences of these early Christians.

The home and family, therefore, were of great importance in the beginning of the Christian church. Their status suggests very clearly what ought to be the relationship between the church and the home, between Christian belief and practice and family life, at all times, and in all places.

However, one must realize without any undue pessimism that in most, if not in all, communities today the facts and conditions regarding church and home are very different from those that the New Testiment records.

In the great multitude of cases, such strictly Christian homes are perhaps the exception, even where there is profession of Christian faith. To mention one example: For good or bad, the rule of parents in the home is no longer what it was in those early Christian homes.

And present - day conditions create new difficulties, as families are not often together as they once were.

But the ideal, implicit in Christian faith and teaching, and in the close - association of home and home and church in the days of early Christianity, still remains.

The Greatest Gasoline Development in 31 Years

New Conoco Super Gasoline with TCP*

Since this announcement was first published just one year ago, more than 8,000,000 motorists have proved the astonishing benefits of TCP in their own cars. Today, the greatest gasoline development in 31 years has become the greatest gasoline success in history!

CONOCO

Your Guarantee. The trademark, TCP, is your guarantee that you are getting the full benefits of "The Greatest Gasoline Development in 31 Years." Only Shell Oil Company and its authorized licensee, Continental Oil Company, have the full knowledge of the proper use of TCP. Only Conoco Super Gasoline and Shell Premium have TCP.

Boosts power as much as 15%!

Increases spark-plug life up to 150%!

Gives you extra gas mileage, too!

Here's the most revolutionary advance in motor fuels since the introduction of tetraethyl lead in 1922—new Conoco Super Gasoline with TCP, brought to you by special arrangement with Shell Oil Company. TCP is Shell's trademark for the remarkable additive first developed for aviation fuels.

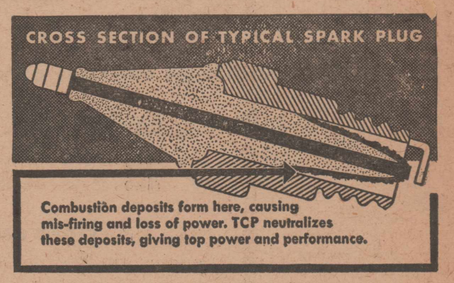

Now you can actually enjoy the benefits of an engine tune-up—just by changing to new Conoco Super Gasoline. Chances are, by the time you've finished your second tankful, you'll feel the increase in power. And you'll keep that extra power just as long as you use Conoco Super.

For Conoco Super with TCP is a new kind of gasoline. It overcomes the greatest single cause of power loss affecting most of the cars on the road today. Now, you can enjoy all the power that was built into your car.

Why you need Conoco Super Gasoline with TCP

In the average automobile, the by-products of fuel combustion constantly build up deposits on spark plugs and in combustion chambers. These deposits can "cheat" you of power in two ways. First, they actually short-circuit your spark plugs. This causes mis-firing. Second, deposits in the combustion chamber get red hot and cause the fuel to ignite before it should. This is called pre-ignition or "wild ping." The effect of fouled spark plugs and pre-ignition is a loss in power and a waste of gasoline.

How TCP works

TCP is a special chemical additive which is added to Conoco Super Gasoline. It was specifically developed to overcome the loss of power and fuel caused by combustion deposits. TCP neutralizes harmful deposits on spark plugs—your plugs spark as they should. It prevents deposits in the combustion chambers from causing pre-ignition—"wild ping" is controlled. Thus, every time you fill up with new Conoco Super, it's like getting your spark plugs cleaned and your engine tuned-up.

TCP helps your car, whether new or old

If you are driving a new car, with a high-compression engine, you need Conoco Super Gasoline to keep your car delivering all the power that was built into it. It will actually increase spark-plug life up to 150%. If you drive an older car, with tens of thousands of miles on the speedometer, Conoco Super can restore much of the "new car" performance and power you've been missing.

Yes, a great new era in motoring is here for you. Drive into your Conoco station today and fill your tank with new Conoco Super Gasoline with TCP. You'll feel the difference by the second tankful!

Now—at your Conoco dealer!

Gulf announces a completely new and different gasoline!

▶ Now—Gulf refines out the "dirty-burning tail-end" of gasoline—the No. 1 trouble-maker in high-compression engines. Result: a cleaner-burning super-fuel that gives you thousands of extra miles of full engine power . . . free from knock or pre-ignition.

Proof: Instead of trying to fight trouble-making deposits with so-called "miracle-additives"—inside your engine—Gulf believes in preventing them from forming in the first place.

That's why Gulf, in making new Super-Refined NO-NOX, refines out the carbon-forming, "dirty-burning tail-end"—more than a cupful in every gallon. Look at the plates the Gulf scientist is holding in the unretouched photo above and see what a difference Gulf super refining makes!

Starting with your first tankful, this new, super-refined, super-powered fuel will give you these immediate and lasting benefits:

- More complete engine protection than so-called "miracle-additive" gasolines. See laboratory test proof at left.
- Extra gas mileage in the kind of short-trip, stop-and-go driving motorists do most.
- No knock, no pre-ignition. Because the anti-knock power of new Gulf NO-NOX has been stepped up to an all-time high.
- Stall-proof smoothness—no more worries about carburetor icing in chilly weather, or vapor lock on warm days. Instant starts, too—and fast, fuel-saving warm-up.

That's why new Super-Refined Gulf NO-NOX gives your engine more power-with-protection than you've ever known. See proof below . . .

Road tests show: New Gulf No-Nox actually makes cars perform better than new . . . even after 15,000 miles!

Under all conditions—Gulf test cars showed: Higher-than-new horsepower! Better-than-new on gasoline mileage! And not a single trace of carbon knock or pre-ignition at any time.

COMPLETELY NEW! SUPER-REFINED

New Gulf No-Nox
