Business Good In U. S., Claim Of Henry Ford

Motor Magnate Opines Nation Fails To Realize Fact; He Blames "Mental Dishonesty" For "So-Called Depression"

(By The Associated Press)

FORT MYERS, Fla., March 14—Henry Ford today described the nation as prosperous, despite high prices, but unable to realize its good fortune.

The manufacturer predicted another term for President Hoover. He cautioned the government not to enter business through utility ownership.

He said appreciation of present good times will not come until the people understand the cause of the business depression which he said was the mental dishonesty of a speculating public.

Sees End To Booms

Mr. Ford declared so-called prosperity of the inflated values period preceding the 1929 stock market crash probably will not return.

"These really are good times, but only a few know it," he said. "The only thing I see for a general enjoyment of conditions is price reduction and a realization of the cause and extent of the depression."

To prove his point he said a dollar will now buy from 30 to 75 per cent more than it would before the market crash.

Scores Dishonesty

"Dishonesty caused the so-called depression. People inflate stocks—that's dishonest. People buy inflated stock with the hope of getting rich at the expense of some else. That's also dishonest. Persons of that type are too gullible. They cannot understand. They need experience."

The question of wage adjustment to meet present day living demands is a hard problem to solve from a national standpoint, the manufacturer said. He has had no difficulty in his own plant, he added.

"We have had no wage cuts," he pointed out, "with more than 80,000 men employed."

Railroad Commission Resents Hoover And Sterling Attacks

AUSTIN, March 14. (AP)—Members of the railroad commission tonight characterized the statements of Governor Ross S. Sterling and President Hoover on the East Texas oil field as an unfounded and unwarranted attack upon the commission. The statement was signed by C. V. Terrell and Lon A. Smith, railroad commissioners, and R. D. Parker, head of the gas and oil division of the railroad commission.

Three Persons Killed When Bomb Explodes In Street Car

BUENOS AIRES, March 14. (AP)—Three persons were killed and three injured in the explosion of a bomb today in a street car in the Boedo district of Buenos Aires.

Police believed the man who set off the bomb was among those killed. One theory is the bomb exploded accidentally in his pocket when he stumbled in the car.

Annual Program To Open In Lubbock Monday

WHOLESALERS and retailers of the southwest, midwest, Pacific coast, and Great Lakes region were assembling here Saturday preparatory to official opening of the third semi-annual West Texas Market Week here Monday. The spring market event will continue through Wednesday.

A total of 60 companies dealing in wearing apparel Saturday night had made reservations for the marketing program here, and 19 had indicated that they would be represented in a style show which will be held Tuesday night.

Carpenter Arrives

Herbert B. Carpenter, assistant to the president of the Texas state fair, arrived here Saturday morning and will direct the fashion review. Mr. Carpenter has supervised style shows held in connection with former market weeks here. He formerly was manager of the Dallas Wholesale Merchants association.

Rehearsals at 3 p. m. and 7 p. m. Saturday at the Hilton hotel were attended by about 50 prospective models, from which 28 were chosen to appear in the review.

Expect Many Today

Although influx of representatives sent by a wide assortment of companies began late Friday, the largest arrival was expected today. Lobbies of Lubbock hotels had assumed an appearance of semi-congestion by late Saturday.

Visiting wholesalers and retail merchants will be guests of the Lubbock hotel at a dance Monday night and of the Hilton hotel at a similar affair Tuesday night.

Invitations have been mailed to more than 1,360 retail merchants throughout West Texas and eastern New Mexico, and several hundred retail clothiers are expected here for the spring market program.

To Arrange Displays

Arranging of displays in Lubbock hotels will get under way today preliminary to opening of market week Monday morning. Sale of personal items in connection with market week is forbidden by a ruling adopted recently by the market week committee of the Lubbock Retail Merchants association. Wholesale representatives who work in this territory supplemented Lubbock men on the committee.

Object of the rule is to eliminate inconvenience of dealing with individual customers instead of with merchants.

Woman Held For Assault On Rival

SPOKANE, Wash., March 14. (AP)—Mrs. Anna Galloway was arrested by police today and charged with throwing acid over the face and body of Miss Mary Asher, 22, her comely "love rival."

The girl was seriously burned, and probably will be disfigured for life.

Police said Mrs. Galloway found the girl and Galloway in a hotel room together and splashed the girl with the powerful acid.

Mrs. Galloway was charged with first degree assault, after police said she admitted her guilt.

Westbrook Resigns Farm Board Post

Federal Board Intervention Is Requested

Declares It Is Necessary That Certain Information Be Made Public Regarding Texas Organization

Asks Supervision

States That Members Involved Heavily Financially And Should Be Advised As To Actual Conditions

(By The Associated Press)

DALLAS, March 14.—Lawrence Westbrook of Waco today resigned as Texas representative of the American Cotton Co-operative association, at the same time requesting "immediate intervention" on the part of the feedral farm board to "protect the interest of 40,000 Texas members of the organization."

In a message to James C. Stone, chairman of the federal farm board, he said "it has become necessary to request that you make public certain information now in your possession relative to the condition of the Texas Cotton Co-operative association, particularly with reference to its subsidiary gin and finance corporations, also as to its accounting methods and to the efficiency and competency of its executive personnel."

Suggests Committee

Westbrook also urged Stone to arrange "without delay for the appointment of a committee of disinterested members of the Texas Cotton Co-operative association to investigate the affairs of the organization and to supervise the impending election of directors."

"The members as a whole have a heavy financial interest involved, and it is essential that they be fully advised as to actual conditions and that they be given free opportunity to elect directors competent to safeguard their interests," Westbrook wired Stone.

Dangerous Condition

Westbrook, who is a member of the Texas house of representatives from McLennan county, said that

Man Seriously Hurt In Crash

O. L. Reeder, Blinded By Rain Runs Into Moving Car At Intersection Of Broadway And Texas Avenue

O. L. Reeder, of 511 Avenue L, was seriously injured Saturday night about 9 o'clock when, blinded by rain, he walked into a moving automobile at the intersection of Broadway and Texas avenue.

Reeder was crossing the intersection on the south side of Broadway and a car driven by Frank Eaton, a sophomore student at Texas Tech, was traveling down Texas. Not seeing the car, Reeder was said to have crashed into it.

The door handles struck him in the right side, tearing a gash just above the hip bone.

Young Eaton stopped his car and picked the injured man up and rushed him to the Lubbock sanitarium for emergency treatment.

Physicians last night stated that Reeder's condition is regarded as serious but that he was resting well at midnight.

Stores Present Window Display Monday Evening

Windows of Lubbock stores will be aglow tomorrow night when local merchants, co-operating, will stage a Spring Style Window display. Downtown streets will be roped off—the pedestrian will reign supreme—and the Tech college and Lubbock High school bands will furnish music for all.

The unveiling of windows will take place promptly at 7:30 o'clock Monday night and many unique displays will be presented to milady—and to the men folks, too. It's going to be a big affair and Lubbock merchants promise to display advance styles for spring.

In addition to Lubbock people, those from over the South Plains are urged to attend. The event is the first of its kind held in this section.

Parrish Comes Out To Favor Sterling Plea

Lubbock Senator States That In His Opinion The Present Legislature Will Pass Some Control Legislation

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

AUSTIN, March 14.—Senator Pink L. Parrish, of Lubbock, today came out in support of Governor Sterling's plea for a state commission for the regulation of public utilities and hazarded the opinion that the present legislature would pass "some legislation pertaining to utilities control."

His stand in the governor's latest request, together with his opinion that legislation is forthcoming reiterated his stand taken in the senate recently when he spoke favoring control of gas, electric, telegraphic and telephone operations in Texas.

Statement Made

"I congratulate Governor Sterling on his bold stand and his statement that Texas needs utilities regulation", the senator from the 30th district declared. "It is my opinion that the greatest thing this legislature can do for Texas is give this needed legislation to the state.

"I further think, in all probability, that the present legislature will pass some legislation pertaining to utilities in the interest of the masses of our people."

Saturday Showers Reported Locally

Only local was the warm spring rain that fell Saturday night causing people to scurry along the sidewalks or make sudden dashes across streets.

Buss companies reported no rain at 9 o'clock without the city limits. At 10 o'clock the Fort Worth and Denver railway reported a little rain at Sterley.

The Slaton division of the Santa Fe at 11 o'clock reported for its entire area a northwest wind, cloudy skies, mist in places and little rain.

Building Will Start Soon In City, Environs

Private Projects Also To Be Begun Soon, Survey Shows; New Federal Building, New Jail To Prove Major Aid

Paving Plans Made

Hardsurfacing Work In South Plains Area To Loose Big Bag Of Money For Workers; Proposals Are Listed

BY J. SAM LEWIS,
Avalanche-Journal Staff

WITH more than $1,000,000 in public work definitely announced as either ordered or to be ordered for Lubbock county this year, private construction is expected to be equally as large, while over the South Plains, the figures will be double the local estimates.

Four projects are either ordered for Lubbock and the county or will be soon. They are:

Postoffice, to cost $335,000.
County jail, estimate, $100,000.
Paving No. 9 north, $346,000.
Paving No. 9 south, $250,000.

In addition to these projects, should the paving contract for No. 7 northwest be let this year, another third of a million dollars will be spent. Grading and drainage jobs on No. 24 east and 137 southwest will add between $50,000 and $100,000 to the total.

Magnolia Active

Private projects are being announced from time to time. It is understood that the Magnolia Petroleum company plant here will be one of approximately $50,000.

Announcement was made Saturday afternoon that the Conley estate probably will build another structure at the corner of Broadway and Texas avenue to replace the one destroyed by fire late last August. A definite announcement on plans, etc., is expected in about two weeks, it was stated.

Should the state legislature approve a proposal to erect a $50,000 dairy manufacturing building at Texas Technological college, that plant will also be included in the figures.

Paving to Help

Paving of College avenue with a 20 foot slab in addition to the state highway paving, also is planned,

Conflict Of Opinion Evident Among Leaders Of Recent Progressive Conference; Democrats Discarded

WASHINGTON, March 14.—A conflict of opinion among those who sponsored the recent progressive conference developed today to preclude the probability of their participation as a political unit in the 1932 presidential race.

Several of the group showed in their comments, both public and private, a decided disinclination to follow Senator Norris, Republican, Nebraska, chairman of the conference, in looking toward the Democratic party for a progressive presidential candidate.

Barking Guns, Ten-Gallon Hats And "Desperadoes" Greet Jimmy Walker

(By The Associated Press)

PALM SPRINGS, Calif., Mar. 14.—Mayor James J. Walker of New York got a real wild west welcome to this desert vacation land this afternoon, and for a time he didn't know whether he was going to like it or not.

A mile from the Palm Springs station 50 cowboys, wearing boots, chaps, 10-gallon hats, and bandanas over their faces, stopped the train with a red flag and unceremoniously invaded the mayor's private car.

Fifty guns flashed in the desert sun. Norman Parra, ring leader, shoved a gun at the mayor. Several revolvers on the outside spoke.

"Shell out," was the brusque command.

Walker was visibly upset. So visible was he upset that Farra broke into a laugh. Then New York's mayor laughed, rather weakly.

Then, laughing and milling, with cries of "Hurrah for Jimmy," The rest of the "desperadoes" carried Walker from the train to El Mirador tower, landmark of the town, where they loaded him into an ancient tally-ho stage and serenaded him through the streets with Prizi Ridgeway, Hollywood actress, garbed in cowboy attire, leading the parade.

Headliners In "Girl Market" Probe

These two girls, Alice Blake and Helen Livingston, are held in technical custody in Los Angeles while investigation is made of alleged participation of Alexander Pantages in the "love market" said to have been maintained to provide gay young companions for wealthy men. Pantages, wealthy theater proprietor, is still facing final settlement of charges filed against him by Eunice Pringle, a dancer.

Four Convicts Are Shot As Riot Sweeps Prison

Prison Shops, Dining Hall And Kitchen Are Wrecked

(By The Associated Press)

JOILET, Ill., March 14.—Four convicts were shot, one fatally, as 1,100 rebellious prisoners ran amuck at the old state penitentiary today, wrecking the prison shops, dining hall and kitchen in an hour's mad rioting.

Three of the prisoners were felled by sharpshooting guards on the high, castellated wall, picked off one by one as they attacked a captain of prison guards at the door of the dining hall. Capt. B. A. Davenport suffered a broken arm and perhaps internal injuries.

Officials Were Ready

The fourth convicts wounded was struck by a ricocheting bullet fired into the air by cellhouse sentries to drive the recalcitrant prisoners into their individual cells.

Warned by dincontent during the last few weeks, the prison administration was ready for the outbreak, and within a few moments after the alarm was sounded from the dining hall the outer walls were manned by machine gunners, and city and highway police surrounded the ancient prison, armed with shotguns, rifles and revolvers. None of the prisoners was armed, and there was no attempt to escape.

Felt Public Sympathy

Warden Henry O. Hill, who took command of the prison yard at the first alarm, attributed the rebellion to a feeling among the prisoners

Alvis Graves Goes To Trial

Facing Murder Charges, Local Youth Again Will Be Called To Court Monday; Burks To Head Prosecution

For the second time within a week Alvis Graves will be brought Monday before Judge Homer L. Pharr of the Seventy-second district court to stand trial for the alleged slaying of Horace Smith.

The trial last Monday had proceeded one-half a day when, due to the sudden illness of District Attorney Durwood Bradley, the case was continued until Monday, March 16.

Special Venire Chosen

The special venire of 125 men which had been chosen were excused until Monday, when it is expected that the selection of a jury will get under way at once. The trial will open at 9 o'clock.

Fifty witnesses were sworn in last Monday. Both sides announce ready for trial, though it is probable that in the place of District Attorney Durwood Bradley, who continues ill, the court will appoint a member of the Lubbock bar to

Charge That Motive Behind Attack Was Klan Hatred Aroused By Men's Speeches Against Jim-Crowism

KANSAS CITY, March 14.—Paul Cline, communist party district organizer, today charged members of the Ku Klux Klan with abducting and flogging Lewis Hurst and C. J. Coder, communist organizers, at Dallas, Tex., last Thursday. He said the police had connived with the mob.

Cline said Hurst and Coder had reached Kansas City yesterday and were under the care of a physician in private homes here, recovering from a beating administered by "fourteen armed Klansmen," who kidnaped them as they were released from jail.

Hatred Said Motive

"Coder and Hurst state that the motive behind the attack was the hatred of the Klansmen aroused by the communist speeches against Jim-Crowism, lynching of negroes and race discrimination," Cline said.

Both men intend to return to Dallas to continue their work, the organizer declared, as soon as they have fully recovered. William McCraw, district attorney at Dallas, announced today he would pay the communists' expenses if they would return to testify before a grand jury.

Coder and Hurst had been jailed in Dallas for organizing a street demonstration and were beaten by fellow prisoners when they made talks advocating intermarriage of negroes and whites and racial equality.

Three Killed As Airplane Crashes

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., March 14. (AP)—Three men were killed today when their airplane crashed near Paxon field, in the suburbs. The dead:

Frank Rawlins, Tom Henderson and Dewey Odom, all of Jacksonville.

Dr. R. R. Killinger, county physician, examined the plane and bodies. He said the ship was a rebuilt job and was not air-worthy.

The plane was said to have gone into a spin and crashed from an altitude of 250 feet.

Dr. Killinger's statement said: "The plane was overloaded. It was not fit to fly and the accident can not be charged to aviation."

Tentative Plans Drawn For WTCC Meet

Expect Local Gathering To Be Greatest

Group Conferences Will Be Employed Instead Of Old Time Resolutions Groups; Hopkins To Move Here

Featuring the replacement of the work of the resolutions committee by a series of group conferences on different subjects, tentative plans for the annual West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention to be held here, May 14, 15 and 16, were presented to the convention committee of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce by D. A. Bandeen, Stamford, manager and Maury Hopkins, Plainview, district manager, Friday night and Saturday. The plans await the approval of the local committee and final approval of the regional directors.

A. B. Davis, manager, C. E. Maedgen, president and Spencer Wells and Homer Grant, directors, conferred with Bandeen and Hopkins.

To Be Biggest

"We hope to make this the biggest convention the organization has ever held," Hopkins declared after conferring with the local men. Mr. Hopkins is to move to Lubbock on April 1 and will be in charge of general preparations for the gathering.

Six of these group conferences are scheduled for the convention, the recommendations of which will determine the policy of the organization during the year. They are: Industrial development, Agricultural development, Breeder-Feeder movement and Highway development. Each confrence is to have a chairman and discussions wtih well versed speakers on the subject of group will be heard. Each conference is to to be organized thoroughly, Hopkins said yesterday.

Opens On Thursday

The opening session of the convention will get under way Thursday morning after which the ten district gatherings will be held. The six group conferences will be called for Thursday afternoon and detailed study made of the subjects presented for discussion.

On Friday, the big day of the convention, Governor Ross Sterling is to be heard in an address. Reports of the results of the group conferences will also be made that day.

Saturday will be general clean-up day with the election of officers and the selection of the next convention city as the final business.

To Name Committees

Committees for the convention are to be appointed soon. The most important ones will be the work of the convention or general arrangements committee, the elections committee and the entertainment committe. The majority of members will be made up of local people.

Entertainment will be featured by the annual Home Town contest, the annual Texas Tech pageant, the annual Texas Tech Engineers' show dances, receptions and other events. No band contests will be held.

Through the use of the group conference plan, officials hope to determine a more definite policy of the organization, especially on the matter of the industrial development, feeder-breeder movement, and highway development. Sentiment of West Texans for or against highway bonds will be sought in that special conference.

The Repayment of Production Loans group will inaugurate an extensive campaign to get all the drouth relief loans paid back in full at the appointed time.

Sherrods Showing Latest In Styles; Stoves Featured

Feature a gas range as decorative as your most treasured antique, as easily cleaned as a china dish, as adjustable to your own height as if created for you alone and so thoroughly insulated that you might work in the kitchen throughout the hotest summer day and feel as cool at the close as if you had lounged in a hammock on the side porch—imagine all this and you will begin to realize the delightful satisfaction of owning an Estate gas range, of the sort that Sherrod Brothers will display for the window opening.

Not that these are all the amazing qualities of this almost-human mechanism which is called a stove for lack of a fitly expressive term. Why, the thing actually turns itself on-like electricity. Some sort of a gadget known as a pilot light does the trick and all that is necessary is to touch a cock-farewell to the burnt match problem! It is really a complete kitchen unit, too, with a sliding top of chromium-like material for working surface. Here one might mix and roll out a flaky pastry, with its life-and-death necessity for frigid temperature without even sensing the heat of the oven below, so perfect is the latter's 4-inch insulation.

Nothing, perhaps, has ever made so wide and instant appeal as the G. E. refrigerator which Sherrod Brothers has handled for the past three years. Its all-steel construction, its easily accessible temperature control, its mechanism that requires no oiling, its new standard of quiet operation and only a few of the vital features that recommend the General Electric to the discriminating householder. And there is absolutely no installation problem—it is simply delivered and connected. Look for an example of this refrigerator, as well as the new member of the family, the General Electric radio, also, in Sherrod's display.

A COLLEGE COLUMN

By MARSHALL FORMBY, TECH CORRESPONDENT

EXAMS START

Beginning tomorrow morning at 8 o'clock, final examinations will begin in the college for the winter term. Three exams will be held daily, each test lasting for two hours. Registration for the spring term will follow next Monday.

NO SOCIAL AFFAIRS SET

As is the custom during final examination week, no social affairs are scheduled during this week. Beginning next week, however, which is the first week of the spring term, organizations on the campus will begin regular meetings.

Several dances and picnics are scheduled for the spring term by the various organizations. Among the dances there will be frolics sponsored by the aggies, architects, freshmen, sophomores, pre-meds, seniors, and it is probable that many social clubs will sponsor affairs.

CALL FOR CONTESTANTS

"All students who wish to enter the oratorical contest in Tech must see me not later than Friday" Miss Annah Jo Pendleton said last week. The winner of the contest here will be awarded a prize of $50 which will be used for a trip to Austin in May to represent Tech at the state meet. The winner of first place at Austin will be awarded a prize of $60 and will represent Texas at the international meet.

Winner of second place at Austin will be given $40. These winners will be eligible for entrance in the national contest if they desire. They will not be required to enter, however, but the winner of the Tech contest will be expected to use the prize money to pay expenses of entering the state meeting.

All students who desire further information should see Miss Pendleton this week. Date of the contest here will be announced soon, she said.

IS CAMPUS VISITOR

Among visitors on the college campus yesterday was Miss Ann Hammons, who is teaching school near Brownfield.

Miss Hammons is a graduate of the Tech, having received her B. A. degree here.

CONTEST CLOSES

More than one hundred and seventy-five freshmen engineers took part in a lettering contest recently conducted by the Tech engineering drawing department. The students were divided into six groups, and a prize will be awarded to the winner of each group. Although the class was primarily meant for first year students several sophomores and a few juniors are enrolled, W. E. Street, member of the drawing department, said last week.

Announcement of winners will be made at a special meeting March 31 at which time a special program will be presented, members of the department have said. The winner of each group will be given a certificate of proficiency in letting as well as a surprise gift.

Professor Carl Lars Svensen is head of the drawing departent.

JOURNALISM COURSE OFFERED

"Problems of the Community Newspaper" is the name of a new journalism course to be offered next term. The course is for advanced journalism students and will be taught at 11 o'clock on Monday, Wednesdays and Fridays and will carry with it three hours of credit.

Cecil Horne, journalism professor and Tech publicity director, will be in charge.

PLAN DECORATIONS

Tech students will have an opportunity of visiting 'Chinatown' at the annual architect's ball to be held in the basement of the main engineering building April 4. The affair was formerly scheduled to be held at the college gym, but offficals decided the decorations could be more easily arranged if the frolic were held in the engineering basement. More space is available in the basement also.

Chinese motif will be carried out in the decorations which are being arranged by students in the architectural department under the direction of Professor F. A. Klienschmidt, head of the department. Japanese lanterns will hang from the ceiling. All students attending the frolic will be required to wear costumes.

Professor Kleinschmidt has announced that he can order these costumes much cheaper than they can be purchased or made. He asks all students who wish costumes to see him at once.

ASKS FOR GRADEBOOKS

Unless gradebooks are returned to the registrar's office this week, $1 will be charged for a new one, E. L. Dohoney, Tech registrar, has announced.

In order that plans for registration next Monday may be made during the week-end, Mr. Dohoney asks all Tech faculty members to turn names of students who have failed in their courses.

GIVES ARCHITECT BOOK

"The Life and Works of Sir Christopher Wren" is the title of an architectural book recently donated to the Tech library by Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Moore, of Ralls. The book was published by the British Royal Institution of Architects.

The book, which is available for Tech students and faculty members, has been placed on reserve in the architectural library in the engineering building.

Lubbock Men At Banquet Of International Harvester Co.

Representatives of International Harvester company headquartering in Lubbock, and their wives, attended a dinner given Saturday night at Amarillo commemorating the centennial of the reaper invented by Cyrus Hall McCormick in 1831.

Those expected to attend the affair from Lubbock included:

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Banks, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Herbstreist, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Herring, Mr. and Mrs. Burnett Cox, Mr. and Mrs. Byron Brown, Theron Buckinham, and J. P. Crossley.

LITTLEFIELD, March 14. (Special)—A. S. Page, Port Worth, a postoffice inspector, looked over several proposed sites for the new Littlefield office. Sealed bids for the lease to the government of additional space are to be sent to Washington soon.

Magnolia Has Sales Meeting

Eight Representatives Here For Dinner And Business Session; Company Officials On Program

An annual sales promotion meeting was attended by nearly 80 representatives of the Magnolia Petroleum company from the South Plains and eastern New Mexico at the Lubbock hotel Saturday. The assembly convened at 9 a. m.

W. S. Norman, manager of the Amarillo district of which this section is a part, was in charge of the meeting.

Speakers at the morning session were Mr. Norman; M. J. Sayre, assistant district manager, of Amarillo; J. L. Green, divisional manager, of Dallas; Charles Nelson, manager of the fuel and coke department, of Dallas; L. Y. Newman, assistant director of sales promotion, of Dallas, and S. H. Dunken, advertising manager, of Dallas.

Dinner Is Served

Both morning and afternoon sessions were held in the ballroom, where a dinner was served the company attaches and officers at noon. There was no dinner program.

Describing "the man on the pump" as the most important man in the petroleum company's organization, in that he is the immediate contact between his company and the consumer, Mr. Dunken cited "take care of the little things" as a formula for success.

The advertising manager introduced results of a survey showing that women in a majority of cases were those who drove the family automobile to a service station for service or to a garage for repairs. Satisfying women is a major factor in the success of an oil company and its agencies, Mr. Dunken said.

Salesmen, servicemen, agents, and dealers attended the meeting.

Mr. Norman, who supervised the meeting, formerly was assistant manager of Oklahoma territory for the company and was headquartered at Oklahoma City.

Oklahoma, Arkansas, and the Panhandle-Plains section comprise the company's division which has its main offices at Dallas.

A distributing plant is under construction by the company in Lubbock. The plant will be fireproof, have a capacity of possibly five carloads of lubricating oil, and will serve 32 Magnolia stations in this territory, according to Mr. Dunken.

Tim McCoy Will Be Starred After Divorce Rumor

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., March 14. (AP)—As some times happens in Holiyoow, the announcement that Colonel Tim McCoy was threatening to divorce his wife was followed today by another from a studio that the Wyoming rancher would be starred in a series of Buffalo Bill pictures.

Mrs. McCoy's attorney said a few days ago her husband had written asking her to get a divorce and they were prepared to fight to the finish any Reno action by the Colonel. Last night Mrs. McCoy was quoted as saying; "I have been in communication with him all the time. He wants me to join him and set at rest all these silly rumors."

California Evangelist Will Conduct Revival In Lubbock

Evangelist Price, of California, who is well known over the Southwest, will begin a series of revival meetings at the Church of God, Third and Avenue T, Sunday night at 7:30 o'clock.

Services will be held each night at the same hour. It is expected that the meetings will last at least two weeks.

Pastor of the church is George E. Anthony. The church was organized about a year ago. There will be singing each night by the church choir.

Changes To Be Made In Texas School Books

Suggested Corrections Are Accepted By Publishers Of Geographies In Sixth And Seventh Grade In State

(Special To Avalanche-Journal)

STAMFORD, March 14. — Every correction suggested by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce for "Advanced Geography," textbook used in the sixth and seventh grades of Texas public schools, has been accepted by Rand McNally Company, publishers of the book, and will be included in a reprinted edition now being made ready for the press.

This marks the second successful accomplishment in the effort of the WTCC to secure justice for Texas in the school books and officials of the organization are much gratified at the cooperation given the undertaking by the publishing concerns and by members of the Texas state textbook commission and board of education.

Corrections and changes presented by the regional chamber have already been made by the Macmillan Company in "Elementary Geography," the fourth and fifth grade text. Now an effort will be launched to get similar corrections in all school geographies used in the United States.

Fair Treatment Given

Proof sheets of the pages in "Advanced Geography" on which the changes were requested have been received at the WTCC general office here and reveal that Texas, and especially West Texas, is much more fairly and accurately treated than in the heretofore distributed editions of the book. Now the student who uses "Advanced Geography" will be told that West Texas produces wheat, cotton, oil, gas, copper, gold and silver. Also he will learn that the use of power machinery is widespread in agricultural operations in West Texas and that the area has a large production of grain sorghum.

Further, the book will say that immense quantities of wheat are grown, milled and exported in Texas; that there has been a rapid development in western Texas and Oklahoma in recent years; that Texas produces nearly nine-tenths of the world's supply of sulphur and that the state ranks second in the production of rice.

Gets Cotton Credit

On top of the fore-going, the reprinted geography will give the "Great Plains" region of Texas credit for being one of the leading cotton growing regions of the United States—that matter will be stated as follows:

"Cotton grows best in the rich soils of the costal plains of Alabama and Georgia, in the coastal plain and portions of the great plains of Texas, and in the Piedmont Belt south of Virginia and in parts of the rich alluvial plain if the Mississippi. his is the so-called Cotton Belt, from which comes most of the cotton grown in the country. Texas leads all the states in production."

The geography in its improved form, also recognizes Texas as a leading producer if citrus fruits, vegetables and other commodities, which heretofore, has been credited to Florida only. None of those items have been in this book.

A question in the book which reads: "Why are there so few large cities in western Texas and Oklahoma? Why is this section less densely populated than Mississippi and Alabama?" has been eliminated and in its place this will now be asked: "What reason can you give for the rapid development of Western Texas and Oklahoma? How did this development effect their towns and cities?"

Dry Farming Cited

Another statement—"West of the 100th meridian and extending to the eastern foot of the Cordilleran High land is a dry region but one not dry enough to be a true desert,"-has been cut out, as has one immediately following which told about the territory west of the 100th meridian being the home of that system of dry farming which was made up of the program of using two year's rainfall to make a crop every other year.

In listing southern resorts, seaports, important cities and places of tourist interest, the reprinted "Advanced Geography" will give Texas a "square deal." El Paso is now mentioned along with Asheville, N. C., as among the interesting and attractive places in the South. Corpus Christi is added to the list of "significant ports and shipping centers," which has previously included only Savannah, Ga., Charleston, S. C., and Key West and Tampa, Fla.

Wheat, Cotton Area

The map carried in the geography up to now, which classed parts of the United States according to production and other parts according to physical characteristics, and in which all of Texas, west of the 100th meridian, was designated either as the Great Plains region or as the arid inter-mountain plateau, has been changed and now shows that a part of the cotton belt extends all the way across West Texas and that the Panhandle area is in the winter wheat belt.

Another significant addition to the book is the picture of a wheat field near Lubbock, which shows three tractor-drawn combines harvesting the grain. This picture and the text explaining it, indirectly calls attention to the difference between agriculture in West Texas and in other sections.

DELAY IS ANNOUNCED

MULESHOE, March 14. (Special) Lack of blanks caused a delay in the sending into Fort Worth of youth relief applications. The committee has sent in about 16 applications and has 75 others to send as soon as a sufficient number of forms are received.

Seek Character Evidence In Case

NICE FRANCE, March 14. (AP)—French authorities have sent to St. Louis and Philadelphia, former homes of Mrs. Charlotte Nash Nixon-Nirdlinger, for character evidence which may determine whether charges shall be brought against her for the killing of her husband.

Magistrate Vacher, who will decide whether to release or place charges against the young woman, said it might be several weeks before he concluded his examination of the shooting, and it was indicated Mrs. Nixon-Nirdlinger might be held in jail until he reached a decision.

The young beauty clung to her story that she fired in self defense Wednesday night when she killed the wealthy Philadelphia theater man, 28 years older than she.

Levine's Has New Fashions

Store Now Maintains Representative On West Coast; Eastern Fashion Expert To Be Here During Week

Levine's, which in the past has maintained a representative at fashion headquarters in the east, is now represented at west coast markets, William Levine, proprietor, said yesterday. It is planned to have the store's eastern fashion expert in Lubbock also during Market Week.

"With our new western connections we are equipped to offer the smartest fashions of the season in every type of costume," Mr. Levine said. "The California markets, of course, specialize in youthful modes and our stock is now exceptionally complete in such garments."

Feature Sport Frocks

Sports frocks in the popular roshanara crepe were never more alluringly chick than those at Levine's right now. Tailored frock of oyster with shawl collar touched with rose and three-quarter length jacket or rose crepe, or gold silk crepe frock with short box jacket of black—doesn't either sound delightful? And both are.

Or how about an afternoon ensemble of soft new grey with petal trimmed neckline in the faintest flesh tones? Or a black lace evening frock with matching jacket, sophisticated in its long flowing lines and bright shoulder flower?

Hats run the entire gamut of the season's favored types and there are the very smartest of knitted suits and sports coats.

Mr. and Mrs. P. F. Prouty Have Guests In Home Here

Mr. and Mrs. Parker F. Prouty, of the Pickas apartments, are entertaining friends and relatives over the week-end.

Included in the visiting party are Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Underwood, Sr., of Amarillo; their sons, Rip, of Oklahoma City and Robert, Jr., SMU student of Dallas; and Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Kenniston, of Amarillo.

Mr. and Mrs. Robetr E. Underwood, sr., are parents of Mrs. Prouty. The party arrived yesterday afternoon and will remain in Lubbock until Monday morning.

Work Ordered On Highway In Andrews Area

Paving Of Highway 137 Now Authorized; Gaines County's Action Now Leaves One Sector Undesignated

Authorization for surveying of state highway No. 137 in Andrews county has been issued by the state highway department to Guy R. Johnson, division construction engineer. The authorization followed the recent voting of $200,000 in bonds by Andrews county for paving the north and south highway.

G. B. Abney, resident construction engineer at Odessa has been assigned to the task of preparing the plans and specifications for the paving job. Mr. Abney will probably meet with Mr. Johnson and Joe Caldwell, division maintenance engineer, some time during the next week to make a preliminary survey.

To Start Preliminary Work

The Lubbock men are going to Seagraves and Andrews to meet Mr. Abney and start their preliminary work.

"Voting of the bond issue automatically authorizes the designation of No. 137 from Andrews county through Gaines county," Mr. Johnson said in response to a query as to when the state highway department would designate No. 137 through Gaines county. "That is, as soon as the bond issue transcript is approved in Gaines county, it means that the highway survey work in Gaines but Mr. Johnston is expecting them as soon as the state approved the bonds.

Awaited Gaines Action

Andrews county early in January voted $200,000 for construction of the highway across the county. The state agreed to match that sum with enough to complete the road. Designation, however, was not accorded north of Andrews, the county seat, the state waiting to see what Gaines county would do with its bond issue.

On the last day of February Gaines county adopted a $250,000 bond issue, $215,000 of which was to be for No. 137 and the remainder for a lateral road from Seagraves to Loop.

One Sector Undesignated

This leaves the only undesignated section between Seagraves and to McCamey, in Upton county, the sectiond between Seagraves an Brownfield. From Brownfield to Lubbock the state has designated the highway and is now maintaining it.

Lubbock county has provided for the paving of the highway in its bond issue of nearly a million dollars.

From McCamey north to O'Dessa the highway has been surfaced and is now in use. Ector county is paving north from Odessa to the Andrews county line and this will give the entire south section of the highway a hard surface.

Terry county is discussing the voting of bonds and should the program carry, the only sector not provided for will be a short section of nine or ten miles in Hockley county, across the corner of the county.

Hereford Association Is To Give One-fourth Of Premiums For Fat Calf Contests Here

Panhandle-South Plains Meat Show Event Open To Four-H Club Members And Vocational Students Of Section

One-fourth of the premiums to be given to entries in the fat calf contest to be held March 27, as part of the Panhandle-South Plains Fat Calf, Pig and Meat show, is being donated by the American Hereford association.

These premiums amount to from $5 to $75 and the contest is open to all 4-H club members and vocational students in the South Plains and adjacent area of West Texas.

The remainder of the premiums is being paid by the Panhandle-South Plains Fair association and Lubbock Board of City Development, sponsors of the exposition, in the hope that the practice of feeding surplus feed to livestock will become more established on the farms in this grain-sorghum belt.

Entries Listed

Counties having the largest number of entries to date are: Lamb, Hale, Swisher, Hockley and Lubbock.

Among the interests of this particular branch of the show is the auction of approximately 50 head of Hereford cattle of strong anxiety breeding that have been consigned for sale here.

The committee in charge of the Hereford sale is composed of Dr. I. E. Barr, Temple Lewis, George Boles, Sam Arnett, W. L. Stangel, W. O. Stevens and Tom Ivey. Col. Earl Gartin will be the auctioneer. The consignors of these Herefords represent cattle breeders from over the entire Panhandle and South Plains.

Meat shows of the type that will be held in Lubbock March 27 and 28, have been held in a very successful manner in the north and middle east. However the show here is the first attempt at a cured meat show in the southwest. The exposition here is being sponsored and demonstrated by a committee composed of members of the different women's club of the city.

The committee follows: Mrs. O. R. Copeland, chairman, Mrs. A. T. Biggers, Mrs. H. E. Killem, Mrs. R. G. Shelton, Mrs. C. B. Powell, Mrs. Sam Lightfoot, Mrs. Nat Edmondson, Mrs. William Peticolas, Miss Ruth Stockton, Mrs. K. N. Clapp, Mrs. Wm. Dingus, and Mrs. N. L. Peters.

A "Quality Meats" banquet will be given the night of March 27, menu to list the meat of a prize winning fat calf, donated by the animal husbandry department of the Texas Technological college. Some of the leading agricultural workers in Texas plan to attend the banquet.

Those who expect to be present are: Miss Mildred Horton, state home demonstration agent, College Station; H. H. Williamson, state agent, College Station; W. H. Darrow, extension editor, College Station; T. B. Woods; district agent, Dist. 111, College Station; W. B. Lee district chairman Texas bakers, Spur; G. W. Barnes, Texas Livestock Cooperative, Fort Worth.

Ollie Webb, assistant, to president, T. and P. lines, Dallas; Roy Rupard, secretary State fair, Dallas, J. T. Tinsley, agricultural agent, Santa Fe lines, Amarillo, and Fred Hale, experiment station, College Station.

J. E. McDonald, secretary of State Department of Agriculture, Austin; C. L. Davis, director vocational education department, College Station; G. H. Alvord, farm board, San Marcos; and J. E. Stanford, editor, Southern Agriculturist, Bryan.

The fat calves and pigs of the exposition are to be sold at auction to create a demand for better grades of beef and pork in Lubbock.

The plans for the Panhandle-South Plains Fat Calf, Pig and Meat show are being made by a "steering committee" composed of Lubbock citizens.

Members of the committee are: N. L. Peters, chairman, J. J. Clements, W. B. Price, Homer D. Grant, E. J. Parsons, Dr. Fred W. Standefer, W. G. McMillan, F. M. Maddox, Dr. I. E. Barr, Temple Lewis, George Boles, Sam Arnett, Tom Ivey, W. L. Stangel, W. O. Stevens, D. F. Eaton, Paul Sherrod, L. C. Ellis, Dean A. H. Leidigh, Don Jones, and Parker Prouty.

Science Seeks To Find Out What Makes Singers Sing; Voices Are Taken Apart By Ohio Professor

Dr. Oscar Russell, Ohio State University professor, is shown here making tests with sonometer, on a graduate student in line with his investigation to determine scientifically if X-ray tests will provide a satisfactory study of voice.

By NEA Service

COLUMBIA, O., March 14.—Anybody knows that there is a whale of a difference between the voice of locker-room tenor warbling "Sweet Adeline" and the voice of Beniamino Gigli singing in "Pagliacci."

The quality, the carrying power of the voices are as different as day is from night. But exactly what makes the difference? Both the locker-room tenor and the Metropolitan Opera star have similar sets of vocal cords, larynxes, nasal passages, chest cavities, and physical equipment.

But are they the same? And just what makes the difference?

That is the problem which has been put up to Dr. G. Oscar Russell, Ohio State University professor, by the Carnegie Foundation and the American Academy of Teachers of Singing.

Dr. Russell has designed and built 20 or more pieces of delicate apparatus, and made tests on dozens of famous and not-so-famous singers. He has collected more than 4000 X-ray photographs of their vocal apparatus.

The results, while not yet conclusive, are interesting. It had formerly been thought that voice resonance or carrying power, depended largely on the size of the head, chest, and nasal cavities. Delicate tests by Dr. Russell's sonometer, one of the instruments he has devised, indicate that this is not true. The sonometer records the power of tones just as they come from the larynx, and also after they have come in contact with the chest, nasal, or head cavities.

"But in the case of Gigli," Dr. Russell reports the instrument registered very considerably greater loudness and energy when the contact is made just over the larynx, than when it was made over the maxillary, frontal sinus, or nasal bridge. The same result was obtained in tests on Bori, Melius and others.'

This does not mean that these cavities have nothing to do with tone, but simply that they are not really resonators, as was formerly supposed.

The X-ray pictures show the exact position of lips, tongue, larynx, velum, hyoid bone, and length of the vocal cord, with their exact positions in singing. Mannerisms in singers are thus revealed. Lawrence Tibbett's use of the tongue, which he raises in a hump while singing, is an example.

Dr. Russell believes that it will take many years of this sort of detailed study to establish definite principles, and show exactly what kind of physical equipment it takes to produce a Caruso or a Schumann-Heink.

But the time may come when the ambitious singer will be sent first not to a teacher of singing, but to a vocal clinic.

British railways now have nearly $50,000,000 invested in bus lines.

NAILS, CIGARETTES MATCH

Paris' latest fad is to have cigarettes colored to match feminine fingernails. Pale lilac nails are accompanied by "cigs." to match, with a deeper mauve monogram. Amber cigarettes have "amber" nails to harmonize, perfumed with amber. Rose colored nails must be "used" with rose-colored cigarettes, perfumed with roses, and newest of all are apple green nails with apple green "smokes," and a gilt monogram.

Clue Is Found Of Local Man

Picture Of M. B. Dresser Is Identified As That Of Man Seen Walking On Railroad Tracks Last Monday

A picture of M. B. Dresser, 55-year-old dairyman who has been missing Monday afternoon, has been identified as that of a man seen walking southeastward on the Santa Fe railroad tracks near the city between 3 and 4 p. m. Monday.

The disclosure was made Saturday by Mrs. Wesley Phillips, of 1812 Avenue N. Mr. and Mrs. Phillips are longtime acquaintances of Dresser, who called at their home early Monday afternoon. Mrs. Phillips said the dairyman had appeared worried about business affairs when she last saw him. Identity of the man who recognized Dresser's picture was not learned.

Believed to have had collections totaling about $100 on his person, Dresser was reported seen at about 2 p. m. Monday walking northward on Avenue L between Seventeenth and Eighteenth streets.

When seen by friends Monday, the dairyman was wearing large dark-rimmed glasses, an uncreased black hat which was an habitual part of his apparel, a green-striped shirt, and a pair of mixed brown stripped trousers. Be neath the brown trousers he had another pair which matched the black coat he was wearing.

Dresser was described as 134-pounds in weight and five feet, four and one-half inches tall. When he disappeared, he had not been shaved since the preceding Saturday night. His eyes were blue and his hair black, streaked with gray.

The missing man lived on a dairy two miles south of town. City and county peace officers entered the search for him late Wedensday.

Plays Politics

Sixteen-year-old Artemisia Calles, above, youngest daughter of ex-President Calles of Mexico, can show her noted father a thing or two in the game of politics. Seeking election as carnival queen at an exclusive San Diego, Calif., school, where she attends, Miss Calles wired political friends in Mexico City for their support; the aid of the Mexican consul was forthwith enlisted and when the balloting ended Miss Calles was 8,000 votes ahead of her nearest competitor.

ROYALTY IN ENGLAND

Never within living memory have so many members of the Royal Family visited Edinburgh, Scotland as in 1930. King George passed through the city twice in recent months. Enjoys Good Business In 1st Year Here

Newspaper Advertising Best Way To Push Product, Is Opinion Of W. Lee Cox Of Cox Tire Service

Consistent advertising has won for Kelly-Springfield tires a warm place among tire users over the South Plains says W. Lee Cox, of the Cox Tire Service, 1112 13th street, who is celebrating the close of his first year as distributor of the tires in Lubbock and the South Plains.

"I have tried novelties and other kinds of advertising but I find that newspaper advertising gets me better results," said Mr. Cox yesterday in discussing his year's results. "I often have people come in several months after I have had a certain ad and ask me about it."

Here A Year

Mr. Cox came to Lubbock a year ago and became agent for the Kelly-Springfield line. He handled the territory as well as local sales and says that in spite of conditions that have prevailed his business has been very satisfactory. He has pushed the tires more extensively than they have ever been before in this territory, he said, with the result that he has been able to show a healthy business.

A complete line of tires, tubes and repair materials are carried in the local store. The tires range from the 30x3 to the 10x50-20 for large trucks. A vulcanizing department is maintained as well as repair work done.

Prices Are Down

"Tires are cheaper now than they have ever been" Mr. Cox said. "We used to think that they would never be as cheap but they are still coming down."

There is still a demand over the South Plains for the old high pressure tires according to Mr. Cox. This type is used on the old Model T Ford cars and there seems to be a large number of that particular model of cars still in service.

Dealers over the territory are supplied from the Lubbock branch.

Stock Show Is Given Praise By Local Man

Dr. I. E. Barr Gives Invitation at Fort Worth To The Fat Calf, Pig And Meat Show To Be Held Here

"The Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show at Fort Worth this year was the best livestock display I have ever seen there", said Dr. I. E. Barr of Lubbock on his return from the annual exposition.

Dr Barr represented the Panhandle-South Plains Fat Calf, Pig and Meat show and Hereford sale, scheduled to be held here March 27 and 28. He was one of a group of Lubbock men who attended the show to offer invitations to the affair here.

Attendance Lighter

"The attendance seemed to me to be lighter than in other years," Dr. Barr continued. "There was more livestock than I ever saw before and it was better fitted for show purposes."

Lubbock received considerable advertising for its show. A large number of cattlemen from as far away as Colorado and Kansas City promised members of the Lubbock delegation they would attend the show and sale here.

"There will be many people from Fort Worth and between here and that town and also north, Dr. Barr said. "We had promises of attendance from people in New Mexico, Kansas and Oklahoma.

"Lubbock is the center of this whole cattle country. There should be a good attendance from all over this whole Southwest."

The Lubbock party were geusts of the show and attended the sale. From the way the Hereford sale was handled, Dr. Barr added, he believes that the Lubbock sale will be even better. This sale has had a wider adverstising among buyers of blooded animals than any other sale this season except the Fort Worth sale, he said.

Hogan & Patton Has Varied Stock Of Newest Styles

Society Brand and Michael Stern clothes, Dobbs hats, Florsheim shoes —sounds like a roster of What's What in men's furnishings, doesn't it? And each of these distinguished makes resides in the stock of Hogan and Patton, a shop to which the well dressed man turns instinctively in his search for style correctness.

According to Pierce Magee ,of the sales staff, light weight felt in small shapes and with snap brims are especially featured in the Dobbs this spring with emphasis upon light grey and tan for colorings. Suits follow the same color plan with some tendency toward greens, especially for the younger man.

Wilson Brothers shirts, which complete the galaxy of authoritative makes of men's wear, are at hand for spring in every important color and material to complement the well-planned costume.

CROSBYTON TO PLANT TREES

CROSBYTON (Special) — City authorities here are planning to plant at least 500 trees over the city. Chinese elms will be used, E. L. [illegible]erts, mayor, says.

Says Consistent Advertising Pays

"I have tried novelties and other kinds of advertising but I find that newspaper advertising gets me better results," said W. Lee Cox, right, who is celebrating the close of his first year as distributor for Kelly - Springfield tires for Lubbock and the South Plains. He declared his business enjoyed a healthy patronage throughout his first year in this section. His business is located at 1112 13th street and is known as the Cox Tire Service.

Garden Seed Is Distributed

Red Cross Sends Out Several Thousand Packets In Ten Counties Of Territory; More Packets Shipped

Several thousand packets of garden seed, all of the best type obtainable and suitable to the South Plains, have been distributed by the American Red Cross in the ten counties in the Lubbock area, Carl Van Hoorebeke, representative of the organization, announces.

Number of packets of seed varies from 150 to [illegible]00 to a county depending upon the number of people in each county that receive aid from the Red Cross.

"There are 18 or 19 varieties of seed in each packet", Mr. Van Hoorebeke said. "Each one was chosen on the recommendation of county agents and the state and federal department of agriculture representatives. They are supposed to be the best suited to this section."

Several instances of counties receiving additional allotments after the first shipment was made, have been reported.

Statistics show gasoline consumption in the United States was 6 per cent greater in 1930 tha nin 1929.

Wholesale Branch Is Opened In City

Adding another firm to the city's ever-increasing wholesale district, announcement was made Saturday of the establishment of a branch office of the Sowden Sales company of Dallas in Lubbock.

The new firm is to handle gin and mill supplies for the entire Northwest Texas territory.

J. H. Cullimore, Sr., formerly with the Axtell company, is to be in charge of the branch which will be opened in about ten days. Stock is to be shipped here about April 1.

The office and warehouse of the company is to be located at 1211 Avenue F.

State Research Laboratory Is Proposed In Texas House

AUSTIN, March 14 (AP) — A bill proposing establishment of a state laboratory for research in new uses for cotton and declaring a state agricultural policy, was introduced by Rep. Moffett of Chillicothe today. Agricultural agencies would spend at least one-half their time searching for new market outlets for Texas products, Moffett saying increased consumption should be stressed as much as production.

Most of the present uses for cotton have been discovered by accident and numerous new uses should be determined by a research laboratory, Moffett said.

Six Thousand Dollars Prize Money To La Gorce Champion

Walter Hagen, Grand Duke Of Pro Golf, Sarazen, Farrell Favorites In Big Event; To Winner Goes Jones' Laurels

(By The Associated Press)

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. March 14.—A first prize of $5,000 and a $1,000 gold plate to keep it company, as well as a step in the direction of the throne abdicated by Bobby Jones have lured the cream of American golf professionals into entering the $15,000 La Gorce open here March 19-21.

The tournament is considered something of a testing ground of the professionals who soon will be battling in the American and British opens with no Emperor Jones to set down their uprisings.

Seven Stars in Meet

Chief among the entries in the tourney are seven men who among them accounted for 12 national and British open titles, even while Bobby Jones was sweeping through the golf world.

Heading this list of past wearers of the purple is Walter C. Hagen of Detroit, Grand Duke of the golf professionals, four time winner of the British open and two time winner of the National open.

Hagen has had better luck abroad than at home in recent years, winning the United States open title in 1914 and in 1919, and the British open in 1922, 1924, 1928 and 1929.

Besides "The Haig," there will be Gene Sarazen, 1922 winner of the national open, and south Florida's favorite in open play.

Gene's pal and another local national open champion; Cyril Walker, 1924 open champion; Willie MacFarlane, 1925 open title winner; Tommy Armour, 1927 winner and Jock Hutchinson, who took the British open in 1921, also will be in there struggling.

These old campaigners will meet their stiffest opposition from the group that has been touring the winter circuit, led by John Golden and George Von Elm, and a group of young pros who have threatened in previous runnings of the big money tournament.

All the boys can use the important prize money, and also the stimulation victory will give in the coming battle for the kingdom Bobby Jones has given up.

Troop 4 Of Boy Scouts In 35-24 Victory Over No. 6

Troop 4 of the Lubbock division of American Boy Scouts defeated Troop 6 yesterday afternoon in a basketball game on the Broadway court. The score was 35 to 24, with the Troop 4 cagers holding the edge most of the way.

The lineup for the winners: Douglas and Blackwell, guards; Gunn, center; Crenshaw and Arpeld, forwards. For Troop 6 the following composed the lineup: Fuel and Foster, guards; Senn, center; McClelland and Eubanks, forwards.

O'Goofty Figures Tigers, Browns And Braves May Get Some Place By Using Straight Line Bucks

BY JOE O'GOOFTY
Former Big League Pitcher

ST. PETERSBURGH, Fla., March 14—Last year I covered the training camps as a pitcher for the Yankees, overlooking the various strengths and weaknesses of the teams. This year I have no obligations to fulfill except to my loyal readers, so I want to report I have found several things wrong with the game.

To begin with, this looks like spring football practice. The Braves, who go in for Rugby in a large way, have a fellow named Wes Schulmerich, who used to play the grid game at Oregon State.

The Browns have Larry Bettencourt, who used to go to St. Mary's (Calif.) and was an All-America player four years ago.

The Tigers have a former all-star end from George named Ivey Shiver.

Of course, from the way these three teams play baseball, you can't tell whether it's soccer or association football that they have in mind.

But the advent of the football player to the diamond means one thing. All baseball players used to start out early in life as coal miners. If football players are to be the rage, it behoves the younger generation to take their training as blacksmiths.

The Reds have a catcher named Lena Etyles who used to play football for the Crimson Tide. After another season with the Reds, he ought to be about ready to play for Notre Dame.

Australia's apple crop this year is estimated at 7,000,000 bushels.

Rally Late In Game Good For 30-26 Victory

Perryton Defeats Dalhart For Third And Fourth Places As Celeste Wins Consolations Over Roby Girls

(Special to the Avalanche-Journal)

PLAINVIEW, March 14. — The Dimmitt High school's girls' basketball team flashed fine form on the Wayland College gymnasium to defeat the Mingus entry from Palo Pinto county, 30 to 26, in the final game to win the state A. A. U. championship.

Perryton defeated Dalhart, 50 to 35, for third and fourth places. Celeste won the finals in the consolation round by defeating Roby, 30 to 26.

About 1,200 fans saw the championship game, jamming Wayland gymnasium to its full capacity. The Dimmit girls displayed fancy passing and goal shooting in the last half to overcome a 5-points lead which was against them as the first half ended and as the final gun sounded they were still rallying. The superior height of Smith and Scenter, Dimmitt forwards, and the accurate passing of guards and centers made for victory.

About $300 in prizes were awarded winning teams and high point players following the final game last night.

Dimmitt went into the finals after administering a 32 to 17 spanking to the Dalhart sextet. Mingus defeated Perryton, 24 to 19, in the semi-finals. In the semifinals to the consolation match, Celeste defeated Sherman, 28 to 21 and Roby won over Plainview, 39 to 21.

Meadowbrook Trophy Meet Opens Today

All Lubbock Players Eligible For Play In Gold And Silver Medal Play Opening Today For Three Days

Open to all Lubbock golfers, the Meadowbrook Golf club trophy tournament begins a three-day run this morning with nearly 100 golfers expected to participate. The tournament consists of 18 holes of medal play, the ten low scorers to be presented gold and silver trophies.

To the five low scorers in the three days of playing, each entry being eligible for only 18 holes of play, go five gold miniature golf balls, each numbered from one to five inclusive. The player making the lowest score will receive ball No. 1, and so on through the quintet.

The next five low scorers will be given silver golf balls, numbered through ten, each player taking the ball which bears his standing in the shooting.

The players have no definite times to round the course, may play today, Monday or Tuesday, but club officials suggest that entries team in three's, signifying at the caddy house their intentions of playing for medal score.

The trophies are not awarded as permanent holdings, though a player winning a gold or silver golf ball shall retain them until a player immediately beneath him in the standing, whether or not he holds a trophy, shall defeat in match play the winner of a ball.

Jake Atz Confers With Indians; Wants Talent

SHREVEPORT, La. March 14. (AP)—The Shreveport baseball club's training camp was in charge of First Baseman Gus Whelan, today, as Field Manager Jakie Atz and Business Manager Tom S. Hickman, co-owner of the team, went to New Orleans to confer with the Cleveland Indians concerning playing talent for the Sports squad.

New Horsehide Pellet Goes As Far And About As Often As Old Baseball Tests In Dixie Camps Show; Joke On Pitcher

BY GAYLE TALBOT, JR.
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

TAMPA, Fla., March 14.—The veterinaries who were supposed to have performed a major operation on the old horsehide during the winter, removing its combustible quantities and making life less hazardous for pitchers and infielders, evidently failed to locate the seat of the trouble.

If there is any difference in the sphere being distributed through the training camps this spring and that used in the two major leagues last season, a fortnight of intensive research has failed to disclose it. Players and pilots agree it seems to ride just as far when hit with the proper emphasis, and the pitcher has yet to be found who will admit the modified ball "handles" any better than the old.

The joke seems to be on the pitcher if any, who believed the things he read last month.

There is a possibility, the managers agree, that the qualities of the new ball will be better appreciated when the season is further along and the pitchers reach top form. The raised stitches might enable them to get a little better break on their curves. But when the batter connects it will be the same old story.

SPYING ON SPORTS

LETTERS from noteworthy men in the college coaching profession continue to flood the desk of Pete Cawthon, Texas Tech head coach, in regard to the first West Texas and Texas Tech coaching school to be held here during the first two weeks of August. Yesterday Cawthon received letters of encouragement from Matty Bell, Texas Aggie mentor, and Fred Thompson, head coach at the University of Arkansas.

Thompson expressed his desire to be present at the school here, at which Jimmy Phelan and Wallace Wade will be the principals, and indicated strongly his intentions to be present. "... And how far is it from Lubbock to El Paso?" questioned the Razorback mentor. It is thought that the visiting coaches will be visitors in El Paso following the school here. Tsk! Tsk Matty Bell says he has long wanted to absorb some of Wade's teachings and states that he will be present for the school.

Letters were received last week from Ray Morrison at S. M. U. and Jack Meagher at Rice Institute, both of which indicated their authors' intentions of being here in August and both offering encouragement and the promise to help make it statewide. It is thought that all of the Southwest Conference mentors will be here. Francis Schmidt of T. C. U. has indicated his desire to be here. Morely Jennings of Baylor and Clyde Littlefield of Texas probably will be present. Joe Utay, president of the Dixie Classic and one of the most popular officials in the Southwest, has promised to exert his energies in making the coaching school a success. Many letters from West Texas high school and college coaches have come in.

AS early as he can make the proper mechanical arrangements Dr. M. H. Duncan, superintendent of Lubbock public schools, may move the Texas Interscholastic Leaguer, otherwise the official publication of the Texas Interscholastic League, to Lubbock. It will be handier for him here and his "copy" should get into print earlier than it does at Austin. What we mean is that Prof. Duncan, the genial gentleman progenitor of the one-year transfer rule that is bidding for recognition and registration with the other nine hundred and forty-odd rules that make up the books, is getting places fast if the publicity given to his brain-child means anything.

The latest edition of the Leaguer, which also carries a story in which G. H. McLain, Sweetwater superintendent is quoted as saying "the sports writers' attitudes are schoolmen's handicaps" carries nearly three full columns of fine type arranged by Superintendent Duncan in connection with the proposed rule. It is readable material, all of it, and we congratulate the local prof for his ability to be recognised thusly. In addition, daily papers throughout the state are columning the professor's proposition with favor, there being few to find fault with his suggestions. With the help of the Leaguer and daily publications, among the latter of which this paper is a more or less ardent sympathizer and enthusiast, the professor's suggested rule should go down in the records when the big boys meet at San Antonio in May.

A little more about Professor McLain and his grouch toward sports writers in general and Oil Belt scribes in particular. "It is my impression," says the learned one, "that there is very little sportsmanship, educational conception, or moral standards taken into account by the sports writers, which attitude is, of course, not scientific.

"The point is this," continues McLain: "I believe there is a good master's thesis in the matter of sports writers' attitude on school activities, the publication of which would help materially to bolster the attitude of the school men and call attention of the public in an educational way to dangerous leadership of the sport columns."

And our point is this:* that the profession of professoring, teaching and running schools could get along a lot better without such self-possessed, self-admitted, all-powerful, all-knowledged, narrow-scoped, unsolvable, unorthodox bookworms et-cetera as the Sweetwater school man than the humble sports scribe, should one of the two be swept from the face of the earth.

We could think of other epitaphs without overworking our brain, but it's about Sunday school time and we must get into a good humor. Besides, lack of space won't permit an easy-flowing list of adjectives. Selah!

Texas League Clout Leader Helps Browns

Larry Bettencourt, Expected To Do Things For Browns, Reminisces Of College Days On St. Mary's Gridiron

BY ALAN GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor)

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., Mar. 14. — Larry Bettencourt, broad-shouldered, dark-haired, his face somewhat scarred from gridiron battle, was a ball-hawk when he won fame as All-America center four years ago with St. Mary's college of California.

Roving about the football fields, he was conspicuous for his ability to intercept enemy passes.

He's a ball-hawk now with the St. Louis Browns, battling for a regular berth in right field. He started out as a catcher and third baseman in 1928, but two seasons of outfielding in fast minor league company, in 1929 with Milwaukee and in 1930 with Wichita Falls, have developed his defensive as well as batting ability.

Texas League Leader

He led the Texas League with 43 circuit clouts last year.

Bettencourt had no thought of a major league baseball career when he got his A. B. degree at St. Mary's. He was more interested in a football coaching career but he was signed by the Browns in short order.

Meanwhile he has played and coached professional football with the Memphis Tigers, one of the best teams in the country. He thinks the pro gridiron game is cleaner, more enjoyable than the college brand.

"Why?" he repeated. "Chiefly because the professionals are better blockers and tacklers. Being older they are less likely to lose their tempers."

The best college team Bettencourt has ever watched was the 1930 Notre Dame machine. He played in a charity game in San Francisco against Joe Savoldi and labels the ex-Notre Dame fullback as one of the hardest men to stop he ever encountered.

If he succeeds in the big show, Bettencourt will do what many another college football hero has failed to accomplish. Jim Thorpe was ruined by curve balls. Ernie Nevers, the Stanford fullback, showed brief pitching promise. One of the few to succeed so far is Charley Berry, Red Sox backstop and onetime Lafayette All-America end.

Walter Hagen Sets Course Record To Lead In Biltmore

(By The Associated Press)

CORAL GABLES, Fla., March 14—Walter Hagen, dean of golfing professionals, smashed his way to a course record and the lead of the field of 108 at the halfway point in the 36-hole Coral Gables-Miami Biltmore open championship today.

The Haig's long distance tee shots and deadly putting enabled him to chalk up a 68 for his 18-hole play, two strokes under the former Miami Biltmore layout record and three strokes under par.

Tied for second position at the end of the 18 holes were Walter Kozack, Douglaston, L. I.; Billie Burke Greenwich, Conn.; Tom Kerrigan, Siwanoy, New York; Al Espinosa, Chicago, and Densmore Shute, Columbus, Ohio; all with 72. Jim Dante, Madison, N. J., was a step behind with 73.

Art Lynch, Mamaroneck, N. Y., led the parade of the amateur players for the first half of the play with a 77. John De Forest, England and Lee Chase, Buffalo, carded 83 each, for second place among the simon-pures.

Hall And Rainville Win Florida Coast Net Title

PALM BEACH, Fla., March 14 (AP)—Gilbert Hall, South Orange, N. J., and Marcel Rainville, Toronto, Ont., advanced to the finals of the Florida East Coast tennis doubles championship today by defeating Karl Hodge, St. Louis, and George Shafer, Philadelphia, 6-2, 5-7, 6-4, and 6-2.

Three of the matches were played yesterday, but darkness set in and the last match was played today.

Hall and Rainville will meet Phil Neer, California ranking player, and Fred Comanche Baggs, New York, in the finals.

PRATT ANNOUNCES LINEUP

(By The Associated Press)

GALVESTON, March 14.—With his Buccaneers due to open their exhibition season with the Dr. Peppers, Galveston semi-pro champions tomorrow, Skipper Del Pratt tonight announced the following starting lineup: Ballew, 2b; Robbins, rf; Holmes, lf; Pickett, 1b; Hume, cf; Melanna, 3b; Westbrook, ss; Kenna, c; Quested, p.

Quested, a Galveston county boy, Ernest Evans, youngster from Waco, and Hank Thormahlen, veteran southpaw, are each down to go three innings for the Buccaneers.

K. C. BLUES TROUNCE EXPORTERS

BEAUMONT, March 14.—The Kansas City Blues drubbed the Exporters, 11 to 3 here this afternoon largely because the locals chose to look at four young graduate hurlers of the Beaumont baseball school. The kids were extremely wild. The Blues, on the other hand, used three of their seconed American Association pitchers.

YANKS WIN, 6-5, OVER REDS

TAMPA, Fla., Mar. 14.—A three-run attack in the ninth inning gave the New York Yankees a 6 to 5 decision over the Cincinnati Reds today.

A single by Lary, Gehrig's double, a triple by Chapman and an infield out, put the Yanks in front for the first time the ninth. The Reds came back strong in their last time at bat, but fell one-run short of tying the score.

DODGERS WIN SLUG FEST

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 14.—In an old-fashioned Phillies-Dodgers slug fest, Brooklyn pounded out a 13 to 11 decision over Philadelphia today.

The Dodgers connected with 16 hits, nine of which were bunched in the first two innings to score 10 runs. The Phillies were almost as powerful at the plate, hitting safely 14 times but four errors helped the Dodgers to victory.

STEERS DEFEAT GIANTS, 6-1

DALLAS, March 14.—The undefeated Dallas baseball clubs Steers won their second game of the exhibition season today when they defeated George Burns' New York Giant seconds a 6 to 1 trimming. Dick Harrell attracted enthusiasm of fans by his fast defensive shortstop plays for the Steers. He ranged over a wide territory to handle eleven chances, some of them difficult, without a bobble. The two teams will meet again tomorrow afternoon.

BOB SEEDS WINS FOR TRIBE

NEW ORLEANS, March 14.—Bob Seeds, erstwhile left fielder, made his debut as understudy of first baseman Lew Fonseca today, and played errorless ball besides driving in the winning run for the Cleveland Indians in their fourth victory over New Orleans, 10 to 9.

SEALS TAKE SECOND OFF TIGERS

SAN FRANCISCO, March 14.—Coming from behind the San Francisco Seals pounded out their second victory over Detroit's Tigers in the Seals' new park here, taming today's ten-inning game, 4 to 3.

SPUDDER CIVIL WAR TO START

WICHITA FALLS, March 14.—Manager Carl Williams of the Spudders assembled his youthful Spudders this afternoon and divided them into two squads for the purpose of staging the first "civil war" tomorrow in a five inning game at Athletic park. The squads were placed in charge of Catchers Art Bradbury and Herbert Byrant.

The new arrivals in camp today were E. K. Martin, first base product of Texas A. and M. college and Robert Fuss, outfielder drafted from the New York-Pennsylvania league.

The coming week is expected to be a busy one in the Spudder camp as final preparations are made for the opening exhibition games next week end with the Steers at Dallas.

BROWNS DROP TO RED BIRDS

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., Mar. 14—The Columbus Red Birds of the American Association, which Club now is partly owned by the St. Louis Cardinals, defeated the Browns this afternoon 7 to 3. It was the Browns' first exhibition game against a team in organized baseball.

FRISCH AND GELBERT WITH CARDS

BRADENTON, Fla., March 14.—With Frankie Frisch signed to a contract and Charley Gelbert well advanced in this training, older members of the National league champions are predicting the Frisch-Gelbert Keystone combination will equal or excel any similar pair of defense men before the end of the 1931 season.

Frisch affixed his name to a contract today after a conference with President Sam Breadon.

BUFFS WHITEWASH OWLS

HOUSTON, March 14.—Skipper Joe Schultz sent his ace hurlers, Tex Carleton and George Payne to the mound today and the Houston Buffs beat the Rice Owls, 12 to 0. The veteran right handers set the Owls down with 3 scattered bingles in eight frames, while "Lefty" Deakin pitched hitless ball in the last inning.

FIVE MORE WITH CATS

FORT WORTH, March 14.—Five new arrivals were reported at the Fort Worth Panther training camp here Saturday as the first week of work was completed. They were Charles Engle, John Wingfield, Cliff Shaw, Dutch Phillips and Roy Rower. All are infielders.

Athens Hornets Unfurl Twelfth Major Pennant; Four State, Two National And Six Bi-District Titles Hang On Wall

By BILL PARKER,
Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS, March.—Three Texas Interscholastic league championships, two National scholastic titles, six district and bi-district crowns, one Texas A. A. U. championship, and runners-up in one National tournament. A brilliant basket-ball record and it belongs to Jimmy Kitts, director of athletics at Athens High School. Coach Kitts has realised all this within five years. His Hornets are the only quintet to thrice win the Texas schoolboy cage title.

During his five years at Athens, Kitts has coached numerous players who made various all-star teams. The Athens boys are noted for their basketball ability and height. Kites is a believer in height, and seldom does a boy make his first string team who is under the 6-1 mark.

Kitts closes his 1931 cage campaign with a selection of an all-star team from players he has coached the last five years. The Athens coach was a bit shy on naming his all-time all star team, but consented to do it for the Associated Press. His all-time team follows:

Fred Tompkins and "Doc" Summers, forwards.

Jake Reynolds, center.

Ben Tompkins and John Tompkins, guards.

Kitt's all-time should not make the Tompkins family peeved.

"I like a lot of height under the basket," said Kitts. "All five are good ball handlers and each can hit the bucket from anywhere. It is difficult to leave off such boys as Brannon, Ware and Cornelius. The latter two pulled my team through this season."

Executives To Discuss Local Bid For Joust

Lubbock Country Club Hopes Local Course Will Meet With Moguls' Approval; To Meet This Afternoon

To decide whether the 1931 West Texas Golfers association annual championship tournament shall be held at Lubbock over the Country Club course or at San Angelo, Fort Worth or Wichita Falls, and to name a definite date for the tournament will be the theme of the meeting here today of members of the executive committee of the West Texas association.

The tournament was held last year at Brownwood, and at its close Lubbock made a formal bid for the 1931 tournament.

Officials of the association began arriving in Lubbock last night and it is thought that all of the executive committee will be present by noon. At that hour the committee will be entertained with a luncheon at the Lubbock Hotel. Members and officers of the Lubbock Country club will attend the noon meeting.

Meet In Executive Session

The committee will meet in executive session this afternoon to decide the time and site of the annual tournament. Four clubs are known to be bidding for the tourney and representatives from each of these, Fort Worth, San Angelo, Wichita Falls and Lubbok will be represented at today's meeting.

During the morning the visiting executives will play an 18-hole inspection flight over the Country Club course and will return to the Lubbock Hotel to decide the time, place and headquarters for the tournament, which will be held some time in May.

Delegates who had arrived last night were Allen Guinn of Mineral Wells, now serving his third year as president of the association; F. M. Jenkins, serving his third year as secretary treasurer, also of Mineral Wells; C. A. Qualls, Post, E. T. Daniels, Idalou; Fred Roberson, Brownwood; Fred Bonner, Wichita Falls; and C. R. Polk, Abilene, directors elected last year.

Qualls Arrives Early

Charles Qualls, postmaster at Post and thrice a winner of the West Texas Golf championship, was among the early arrivals for the conference. The well known links ace was frank in his stand concerning the tournament site—remarking unqualifiedly, "I'm for Lubbock."

Mr. Qualls has long been interested in Lubbock's golfing problems and on more than one occasion has lent counsel to enthusiasts here. He said the Country club course, with a few minor improvements, would satisfy the association.

Lavendar Defending Champ

Dennis Lavender of Abilene is the defending champion, having won the tournament last year at Brownwood. Lavendar won the championship in 1928 and lost in 1929 to Clint Bussey of Lubbock. Bussey is expected to enter the 1931 tournament and is doped to finish among the low scorers.

Much out of town support and encouragement has come to Lubbock Country club officials in their attempt to bring the tourney here. Prexy Anderson, Abilene sports-scribe, has stated in his paper that by all means the 1931 tournament should come to Lubbock, adding that it is a logical time and place for the annual meet.

Tournament Carded Today

A tournament between four of the low scorers in the current ladder tournament at the Country Club has been set for this afternoon against a quarter of second division players. Three matches are carded on the tournament program, which is part of the perpetually running ladder tournament.

Thirty-Three Records Smashed At Southwestern Mee

Oklahoma Star Ties Leland's Sprint Record

Rice Institute Wins Honors In University Division; ACC First In College And Tulsa In High School

BY BILL PARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

FORT WORTH, March 14.—Records meant nothing here today at the ninth annual Southwest Exposition track and field meet. The southwest sent 912 of her athletes into the jumping pits, over the cinders, across bars and into competition where husky fellows toss weights, and when the high school relay finished in semi-darkness, 33 records had been riddled and two tied.

One of the big moments of the meet occurred in the university division of the 100-yard dash when Glass, Oklahoma A. and M., heard the roar of the crowd for him to beat Cy Leland's 9.6 mark, but the best the Sooner school artist could do was tie.

Rice Finishes High

In the university division, Rice Institute finished first with 52 points, Texas A. and M., second, Oklahoma University, third, Oklahoma A. and M., fourth. Abilene Christian College triumphed in the college division, scoring 59 points. North Texas State Teachers College was second; Daniel Baker, third Southwestern, fourth. In the junior college and academy division, the Oklahoma A. and M. freshmen won with 27 points. Amarillo Junior college was second; John Tarleton, third; Cameron A. and M., fourth. Tulsa High school, scoring 29 points, led this division. The San Angelo track men were second; Muskogee, Okla., third, and Halletsville, fourth. In the new preparatory school division, T. C. U. freshmen led the way with 71 points. Allen Academy was second; Terrill, third; Smithville, fourth.

Flashing beautiful form, Harlan of Texas A. and M. shattered his 20 low hurdles mark of 15.3 with a new mark of 14.8. Sprague, Hugh S. M. U. football and weight star, smashed the meet shot put record of 5 feet, 4 inches with a new mark of 46 feet, 11 inches. Other records established today follow:

Winds Aids Sprinters

The flying heels of sprinters were aided by a strong wind , but the boys who galloped to records in the longer runs had to race half the distance into the wind. Hess, the College of Marshall streak, who claimed a new record in the 100-yard dash in the junior college division, with a time of 9.9, pulled on a track suit today for the first time this year.

In the university division, Sprague of Southern Methodist and Glass, Oklahoma A. and M., tied for individual high score with 10 points each. Cress, Amarillo junior college and Hardman, Weatherford, tied with 10 points each in the junior college division. W. Randow, Hallettsville, who is quite a track star, led the high school entries with 10 points.

Adams, Abilene Christian, scored [illegible] points to head the college division.

Fights Sharkey?

TOMMY LOUGHRAN

Jack Sharkey, Loughran May Meet In Duel

Former Bout Resulted In Tom's Taking Count; Loughran To Meet Tuffy Griffiths March 27 In Ten Round Bout

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, March 14.—The dickering for another heavyweight duel between Tommy Loughran and Jack Sharkey got under way today as an aftermath of the Philadelphia boxer's brilliant exhibition against Ernie Schaaf in Madison Square Garden last night.

Sharkey, who owns half of Schaaf's managerial contract and watched his protege boxed into complete subjection by Loughran, talked with William F. Carey, president of the Garden, but seemed in no hurry to take the match. He knocked out Loughran in three rounds two years ago. Loughran is anxious for a return engagement but has a bigger interest at the moment, a ten-round bout with Tuffy Griffiths in Chicago March 27.

Negotiations probably will wait developments at the New York State athletic commission where Primo Carnera, the huge Italian, is scheduled soon for reinstatement.

Billiard Stars Of Five States To Meet In Match

NEW YORK, Mar. 14. (AP)—Amateur 18.2 balkline billiard players from five states will start at the New York Athletic Club play Monday in quest of Edgar T. Appleby's national championship.

Appleby of New York city, won his title last year in St. Louis and successfully has defended it since in challenge matches with Ray V. Fessenden, Madison, Wis., and Monrad C. Wallgren, Everett, Wash. The coming series will be his third defense.

Arizona Negro Not Held For Death Of Opponent

PRESCOTT, Ariz., March 14. (AP)—John H. Lewis, Phoenix, Ariz., negro middleweight fighter, was absolved of blame today for the death here Wednesday night of Sam J. A coroner's jury found Terrin died as a result of "an abnormal heart condition, resulting from periods of violent physical exercise."

Iowa State Wins Big Ten Swimming Meet, 46 to 29

KANSAS CITY, March 14. (AP)—Iowa State college won the Big Six Conference swimming championship here today, scoring 46 points to 29 for Nebraska, the defending champions which placed second. Kansas was third with 21 1-2 and Oklahoma fourth with 16 1-2, and the Kansas Aggies fifth with 4 points. Missouri was not represented.

Big Bill Tilden Loses To Karel Kozeluh In Five Sets

LOS ANGELES, March 14. (AP)—Karel Koseluh, Czechoslovakian, today broke William T. Tilden's winning streak of 11 straight net victories to take the United States professional down, 4-6, 6-2, 3-6, 6-4, 6-1.

American And French Stars Win Net Sets

Jean Borotra And Francis X. Shields Head Seeded Men Through First Rounds Of Indoor Title Matches

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, March 14.—Headed by Jean Borotra, three time indoor champion, and Francis X. Shields, all of the French and American seeded players today advanced to the second round by straight set victories in the first day of play of the men's national singles indoor championship tournament on the courts of the Seventh Regiment Armory.

Christian Boussus and Pierre Landry, the other two French competitors, advanced after straight sets, while the American contingent of Clifford Sutter, Berkeley Bell, Herbert L. Bowman, William Aydelotte, Donald H. Cram, and F. G. Rockafellow all survived easily.

Fourth place in the list held by Julius Seligson, former intercollegiate champion, was vacated when Seligson was compelled to withdraw because of a broken arm.

Illinois Relays Featured By Fast 300-Yard Dashes

(By The Associated Press)

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., March 14—James Gordon, stocky sprinter from Miami University opened the night program of the Illinois relay carnival by retaining his championship in the 300 yard dash. Gordon cut loose with a great sprint to beat Jones of Kansas by about two yards in 31.9 seconds, eight tenths of a second slower than the meet record.

Eddie Tolan, Michigan's "Midnight Express," did as expected in winning the 75-yard dash. The stubby negro, away slowly as usual, pulled away to a one-foot lead over Sickle of Kansas at the half way mark and held it to the tape. Hass of Minnesota was third, with Campbell, another Michigan sprinter, fourth. The time was 7.6 seconds, four tenths of a second slower than the meet and world indoor record of Jack Elder of Notre Dame and Henry A. Russell of Cornell.

Senator Dwight Morrow Will Confer With Ambassador Dawes

WASHINGTON, March 14. (AP)—Conferences which Senator Dwight W. Morrow of New Jersey will have with Ambassador Dawes in London at the suggestion of Secretary Stimson may result in a change in present plans to place the Franco-Italian naval accord in the final form.

Secretary Stimson said today he had wirelessed the senator, who is en route with Mrs. Morrow to Europe on the Leviathan, asking that he discuss the entire question with Ambassador Dawes upon his arrival in London.

House Ends First Sixty Days Of Session With Bang

Bills Pour In As First Half Closed Friday

Fifty-four Measures Submitted; Committees Burdened With New Avalanche Of Proposals In Hopper

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, March 14.—The house of representatives of the legislature wound up its first sixty days yesterday with a bang and before the smoke had cleared, 54 more bills had been introduced to bring the total for the session to 966, the largest number of laws ever proposed in a single session.

Bills poured in from all sides as the house idled along to permit authors to draft measures and get them in under the sixty day introduction limit. Under the rules, a bill can be introduced the remainder of the session only by a vote of two thirds of the members.

Committees Burdened

Committees found themselves further burdened as the result of the multitude of bills introduced during the past week and the new avalanche added only to the muddle. Many of the committees have been holding sessions since the legislature started and have worked through only a small portion of the bills assigned them.

Both the house and senate adjourned until Monday, the house working through its session today with a bare quorum. The session of the senate lasted only 17 minutes, the upper branch adjourned to permit committees to go to work on the mass of bills awaiting action.

The number of bills introduced in both houses at the end of the first 60 day session totaled 1,504 with indications the total would reach 1,600 before the legislature adjourned to go home.

Sterling Sends Message

Friday Governor Sterling sent a message to the legislature in which he recommended establishment of a separate commission to regulate public utilities. Sterling said he favored the plan advocated by the bill of Representative Petsch of Fredericksburg, endorsed by the city attorneys and the League of Texas Municipalities. The Petsch bill has drawn the fire of the utilities. It would let the cities set the rates on data furnished by the public utilities commission with the utilities having the right of appeal.

The senate state affairs committee held a heated session to consider a resolution by Senator Parrish of Lubbock which would authorize appointment of a legislative committee of three members of the house and two senators to investigate all phases of public utility operation.

Parrish, Miller Clash

The session of the committee was marked by a clash between Senator Parrish and former Lieutenant Governor Miller, who opposed the resolution, saying the committee would be wasting every nickel put into the investigation. Parrish replied he was not surprised at Miller's opposition to the resolution because he knew Miller was being paid to oppose it.

One of the high lights of the house session was in troduction in a resolution denouncing efforts to put a wet plank in the national Democratic platform.

Raskob Flayed

John J. Raskob, chairman of the national democratic executive committee, was flayed by Representatives Shelton of San Marcos and Dodd of Nash. No action was taken on the resolution, it being ruled out on a point of order that time for consideration of resolutions had passed.

The resolution asked that the Texas legislature go on record unalterably opposed to a modification plank in the national party platform. Shelton accused Raskob of being a Republican in a Democrat's clothing and asked why the Democrats should support Raskob and his policies.

assist in the prosecution.

Pleads Not Guilty

Graves, defended by Vickers and Campbell, local law firm, has entered a plea of not guilty. Besides this trial he faces a second murder charge and three charges of assault with intent to murder.

Horace Smith and Robert Averett died of bullet wounds received at the home of E. D. Chadwick at 2107 Eighth street after midnight, January 11. Another man, a woman and a child, Smith's 8-year-old daughter, received minor wounds.

Graves, who Mrs. Chadwick said had appeared at her home uninvited, fled from the house after a pistol had been emptied. He was arrested several hours later at Post.

Lubbock County Clubs Have Plenty Of Vegetables Stored

Plenty of fresh vegetables for kitchen use are reported by the home demonstration clubs of Lubbock county.

These vegetables have either been stored in cellars during the winter months or have been raised in hot beds. Thirty-five hot beds for the raising of turnip greens, mustard greens and spinach have been reported to Miss Ruth Stockton, county home demonstration agent.

Among the vegetables that have been stored over winter are cabbage, carrots, cauliflower, collards, lettuce and turnips, Miss Stockton said.

Penniless And Drouth Stricken—And Then They Struck Oil On Their Land; Farmers Become Rich

Golden Flow Gives Sudden Wealth To East Texans

By NEA Service

LONGVIEW, March 14.—Drouth-stricken and penniless—and then they struck oil!

Land owners of northeast Texas, calloused by misfortune, are tempted to pinch themselves to see if they really are awake. It is difficult for them to realize that Mother Nature at last is making amends for the adversity she has dealt them. Yet it must be true, for millions of dollars are being handel them for oil leases, and experts tell them that their field already is the largest in the country and promises to be one of the greatest.

Picturesque among those who have profited by the shower of "black gold" is Malcolm Crim, keeper of the general store at the village of Kilgore, near here. He still smokes a corncob pipe and wears a leather coat, though oil has made him a millionaire almost overnight.

For years, Crim had financed a lot of farmers who were struggling along with their cotton. He was known as "the poor man's friend and the negro's ideal white man."

Then, when he struck it rich, he canceled every account that was owing him and mailed receipted bills to all his customers. Many of them owed him hundreds of dollars as the result of two successive crop failures. The colored people of the community held a big meeting and presented him a diamond stickpin. He had been their merchant, their lawyer and their friend.

Sells Out for Million

Crim had believed for a long time that oil lay beneath his land. Finally, he secured a driller and a well was started. A few weeks ago, it spouted the "black gold" all over his derrick. He sold his holdings to the Humble Oil & Refining Company for more than a million dollars. His mother, Mrs. Louella Crim and Crim's partner, Ed W. Bateman, former newspaperman, shared an additional $1,100,000.

Mrs. Crim is a deeply religious woman; she attended church as usual on the morning the well came in.

The Moncrief-Farrell well, brought in six miles from Longview on the F. K. Lathrop farm, was sold to the Arkansas Gas & Fuel Company with its holdings for approximately $2,500,000. Whereupon, Mr. Lathrop, production manager of a local plow company, retired.

It was only last fall that experts declared there was no oil in northeast Texas. But not long ago a 3,000-barrel well was brought in on the C. M. Joiner farm 25 miles southwest of Longview. Excitement reached fever heat a few weeks later when the 20,000-barrel well was brought in on the Crim farm, 10 miles north of the Joiner well.

Huge Well Comes In

Then all it took to drive northeast Texas oil wild was the bringing in of the Lathrop well, estimated at 30,000 to 40,000 barrels, on Jan. 26, 14 miles north of the Crim well. The Joiner, Crim and Lathrop wells are almost on a straight line, already proving the field about 35 miles long.

The strike came just in time, declare the landowners. They make no bones about their plight. Last summer's drought ruined most of their cotton crop and what little was left did not bring enough to pay for the picking. Many of them had been compelled to mortgage their farms and livestock and forced to an existence on the bare necessities of life.

Now the picture is changed. One of the greatest oil booms in the history of Texas is growing bigger every day as more derricks are reared toward the sky.

Practically every acre of land 50 miles west of the eastern state line and 150 miles south of Red River is now under lease. Scores of test wells are being sunk throughout the entire area.

Landowners, many of whom were nearly destitute a few weeks ago, now find themselves able to pay the mortgage on their farms, build better homes, and provide luxuries for their families. Leases four and five miles from the producing wells are bringing $50 to $300 an acre, $25,000 has been refused for a 10-acre tract a half mile from the Lathrop well, and $10 to $15 an acre is being paid for leases in counties 50 miles from the proven area.

Sinclair Enters Field

Harry F. Sinclair, who says: "I believe this is the biggest oil field I ever say in the making, and it has not yet been scratched," has bought 85 acres near the Joiner well and plans intensive drilling operations.

Thousands of fortune hunters have rushed here from all parts of the country. Representatives of large oil concerns, oil scouts, lease seekers, unemployed and hangers-on are present from far and wide.

Longview, listed in the 1930 census with a population of 5,025, suddenly finds itself a city of 20,000. Kilgore, a village of a couple of hundred, now boasts a population of nearly 10,000. Henderson, nearest town to the Joiner well, has about an equal number, while a typical oil town of about 2,500 has sprung up near the well and christened itself "Joinerville."

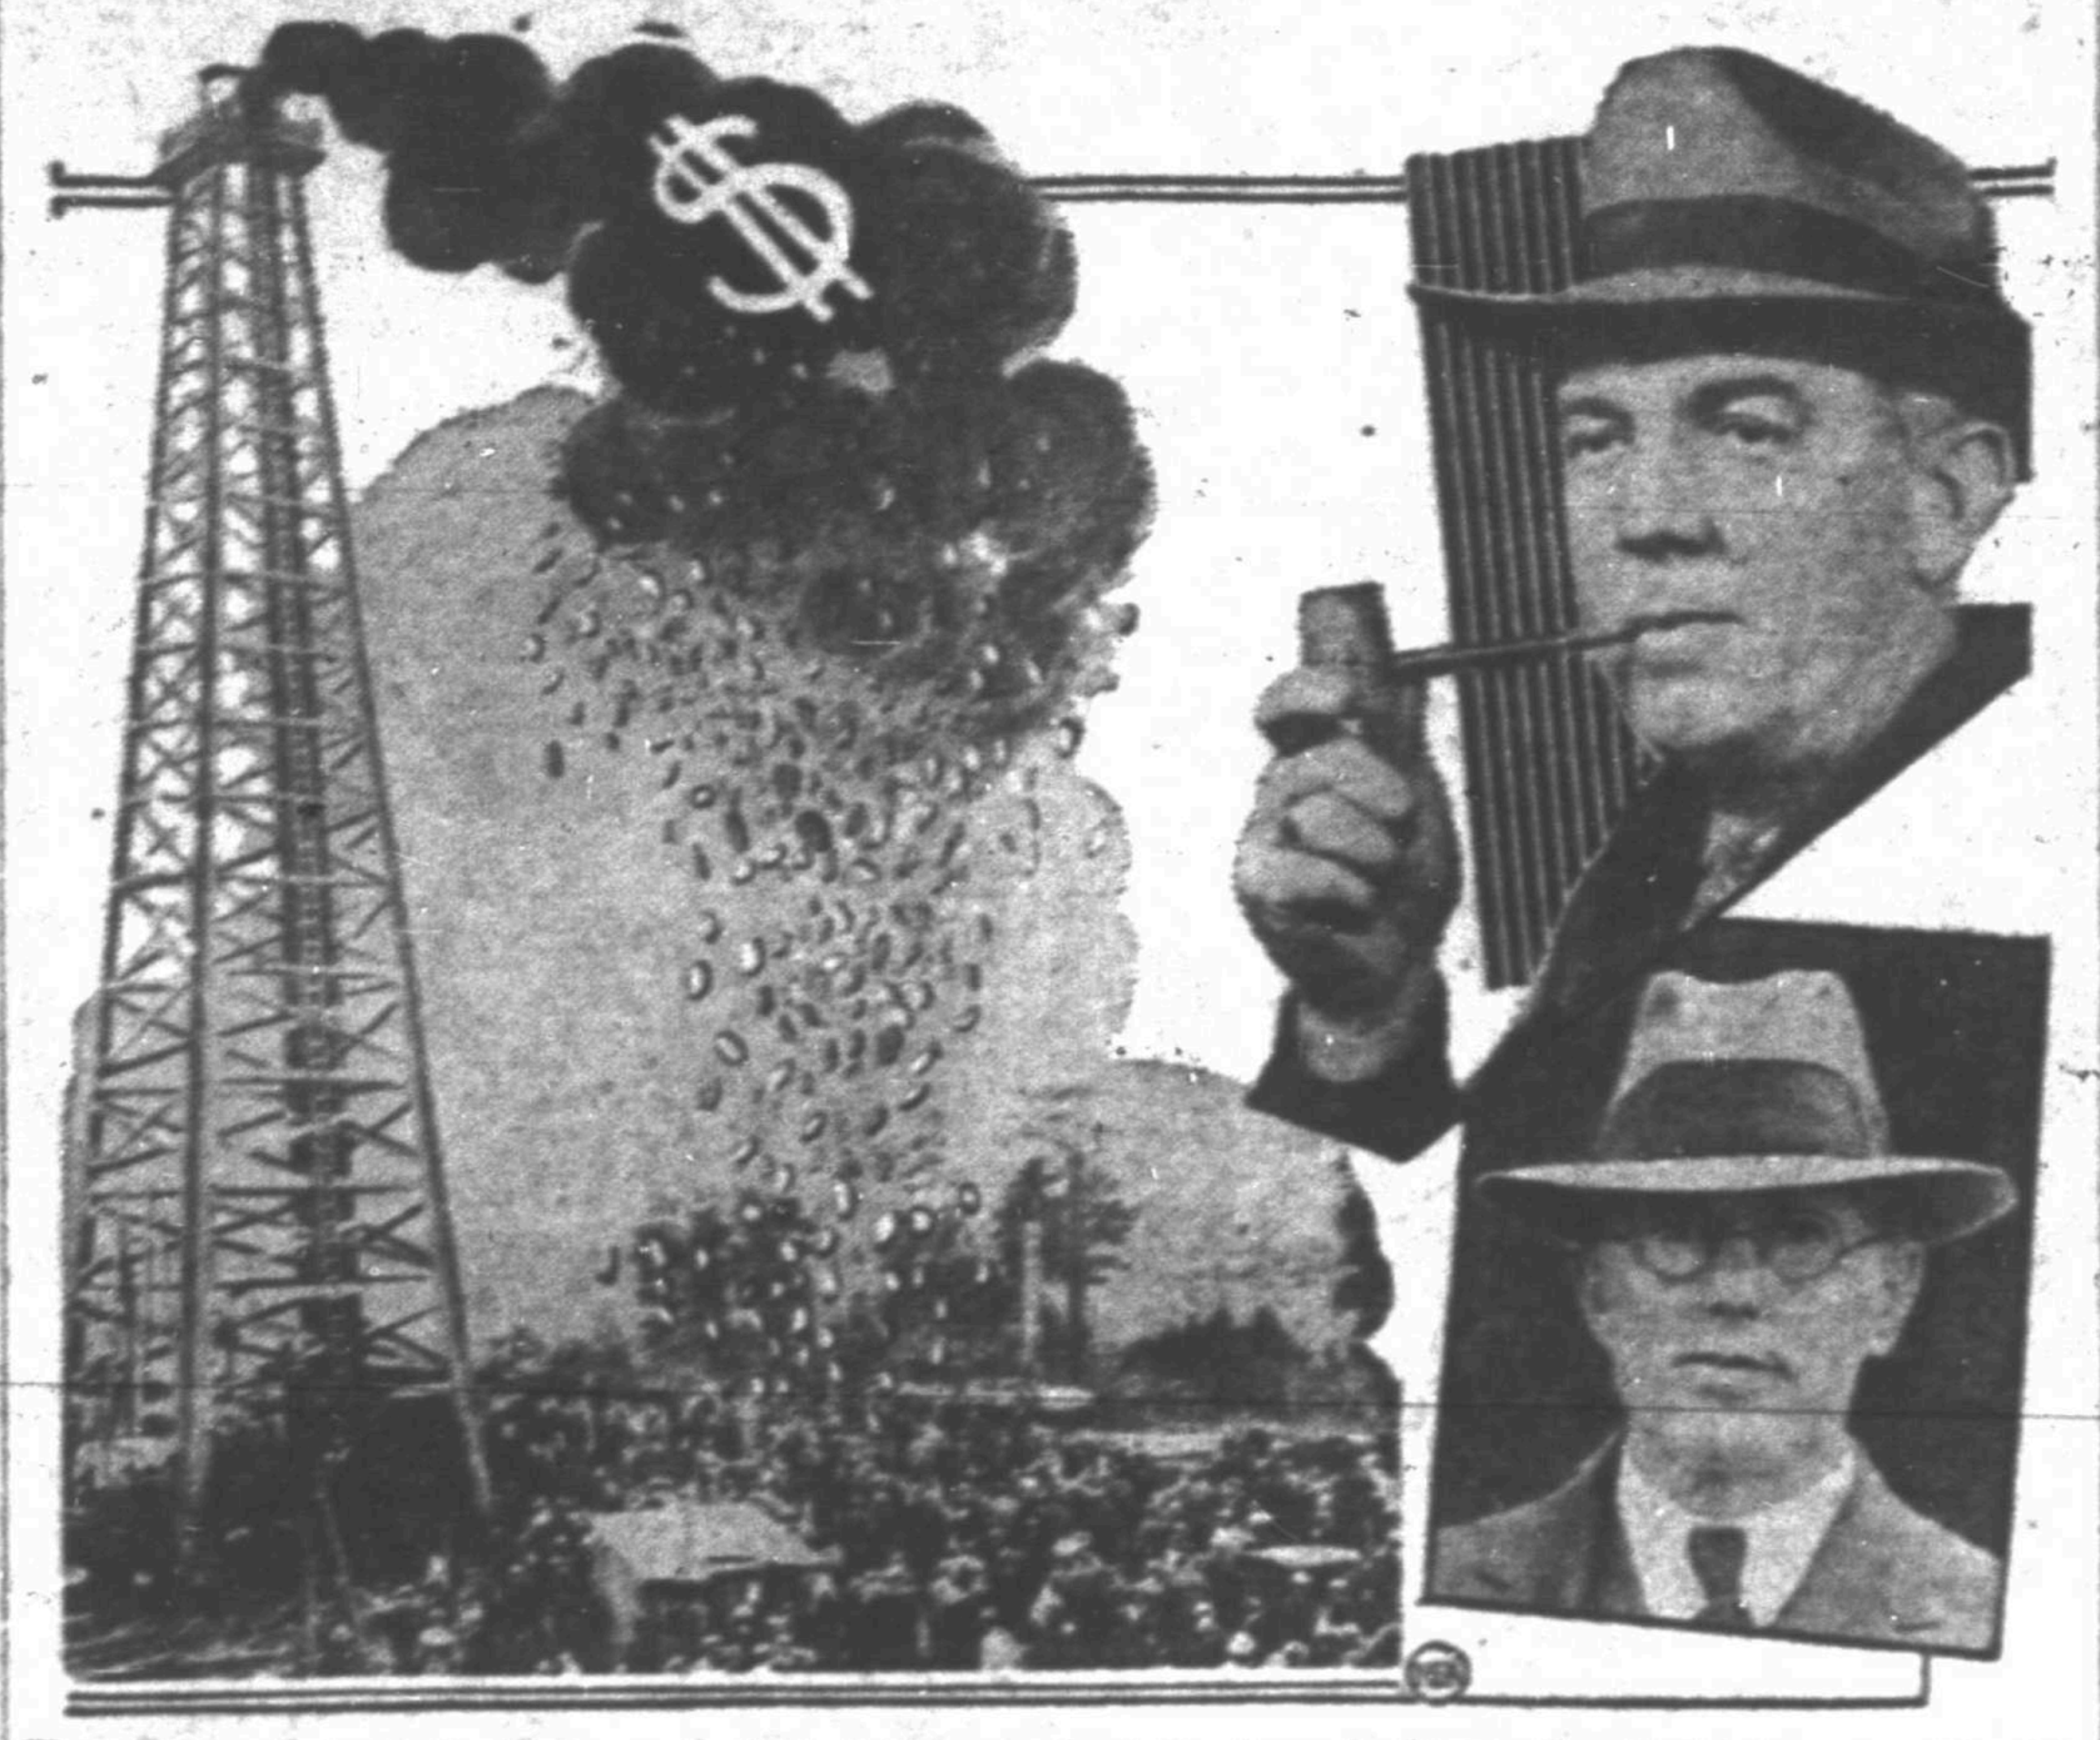
Longview hotels are overflowing and the newest and largest hotel already is starting work on a 64-room addition, while plans for a 10-story 500-room hostelry have been announced. Every vacant building has been occupied, and plans are under way for several large office buildings.

Excess of Workers

While there are already 14 producing wells in the area, most of them in the Joiner section, there is still an excess of oil field workmen and men seeking jobs are advised to stay away. However, the more experienced are rapidly finding work as the new drilling projects are started. The laying of four pipe lines into the field to handle the oil output is giving employment to hundreds. Work on three refineries is expected to start soon.

Along with the development of the oil field has come the problem of overproduction, which has led to a number of meetings by oil operators interested in proration, which has been in effect in Texas fields for several months under supervision of the railroad commission. Alarmed at the prospect of oil from the new field, those oil men who want the impending production curtailed have urged that a plan for orderly development be adopted and have been strongly opposed by a group that wants the area fully exploited.

Advocates of immediate proration declare that the apparently great field threatens to drive the price of oil down. The opposition demands that the field be unhampered until the next regular proration period in April, so as to give a chance for determining its extent.



The above photograph shows a typical daily crowd at the huge Lathrop oil well, having an estimated production of from 30,000 to 40,000 barrels a day, the artist having pictured figuratively the shower of gold which is indeed very literal. At the right, below, is F. K. Lathrop, on whose farm the well came in and who, as soon as the well and holdings were sold for $3,500,000, quit his job with a local plow company and retired. Above him is Malcolm Crim, proprietor of the general store at Kilgore, who sold his oil interests for a million dollars and forthwith sent receipted bills to everybody who owed him money.

Public Works Program Promises A Boon To Lubbock Trade Territory

making 40 feet width of paving.

No announcement has been made by the city of its building or street improvement plans for the year. However, it is known that the city has in mind an extensive program.

Besides the local work, building plans over the South Plains should be included.

Several months ago the State Telephone company announced a building program for its field, including the Standard and Haskell companies as well as the State company, of approximately $600,000.

Santa Fe to Build

The Santa Fe has announced a $60,000 depot at Littlefield. Track improvements for the Slaton division are expected to be well on towards a half million dollar total. This will include other lines of railroad work.

State paving contracts, both slab and dirt work, in South Plains counties will run up well over the million mark. Hall and Motley counties are to have grading and drainage contracts let late this month. Another contract for a slab in Motley, is expected in the summer.

Hale county at present has a 22 mile paving program started which will run over the half million dollar mark.

Crosby county has a small dirt program, with prospects of more work later on.

Gaines Bonds Voted

Gaines county recently voted $250,000 in road bonds for No. 137 and for a lateral road. Most of this work will be well under way before the end of the year. The county's share will be less than 50 per cent of the total.

Andrews county voted $200,000 in bonds. Plans for this work are to be started this week. The total for the county is also expected to be double the amount of the bonds, or more.

Plainview will have a modern postoffice building this year. The cost will be about $150,000 and the expenditure has been authorized. Plans are to be ready for asking bids soon.

Lamesa may not get its $95,000 federal building until next year. But the way has been paved for it also.

Terry county is talking a road bond issue of $700,00 or more. In the event of the issue carrying, some of the work may be ready by the latter part of the summer.

Hockley Is Busy

The same condition holds true of Hockley county. Late reports indicate that county is talking a bond issue, with no figures announced.

A grade school is reported from Levelland, to cost $25,000.

Should the Texas and Pacific Northern application be granted, the preliminary work on that 330 mile railroad will be started. Total cost will be $13,000,000 and many hundreds of thousands of dollars will be spent before the close of the year. The company has announced its program calls for dirt to fly within 30 days after the permit is granted.

Companies May Expand

No statement has been made of the program of building for the Texas Utilities company on the Plains. However, with completion of the Tuco plant near Abernathy it is believed there will be an expansion program. Additional units to this plant, with a total cost estimated at $3,000,000, may be authorized for this year.

Similiarly, the West Texas Gas company and the Southwestern Bell Telephone company have not made known their programs. These may be expected to amount to considerable money over the year.

Several rural and independent school districts are reported planning new buildings this year over the area. One is under way in Bailey county and others are expected to be started soon.

was the other member of the Post team, which is coached by C. J. Vanzandt, instructor in vocational agriculture at Post High school. Alternate was Dale Stone, who accompanied the team to Floydada.

The Post team placed first in cotton classing, budding and grafting, milo maize, kafir corn, wheat, and oats.

First place in the West Texas contest held at Lubbock was won in 1930 by Post High school, which will be represented at the annual competition at Lubbock Monday, March 23.

The Floydada plant production judging contest is sponsored by the Floydada Chamber of Commerce and the vocational agriculture department of the high school there.

Independents

in the conference said he could see little progressive hope in the Democratic party as long as it was connected in any way with Tammany Hall or led by Chairman Raskob. He also expressed little enthusiasm for Governor Roosevelt of New York, considered by some as the leading liberal candidate for the Democratic nomination.

Senator Brookhart, republican, Iowa another conference speaker, refused to concede the renomination of President Hoover and said that even with him as the republican candidate he could conceive of circumstances under which he would support the ticket.

Discount Third Party

Brookhart said the democratic party was not the slightest temptation to him with Raskob at its head. He predicted however, that if the republicans fail to solve the farm problem in the next session many progressives will support a liberal democratic candidate provided Raskob's policies are not dominant in the party.

Meanwhile, there still was apparent among some of those who participated in the conference the desire for a political union in 1932 between the democrats and progressives based on some of the issues they have united on in the senate during the past two years. There also was some talk of a third party despite the discounting of its possibility by Norris and others.

Organizations of both feminine wets and drys took exhibit space for the Women's Exposition in the St. Louis Coliseum March 3-11.

Prison Riot

that public sympathy was with them.

The outbreak was a sequel to the killing of three fugitives as they dropped from the prison wall February 22 into an ambush of guards—and the death of a prisoner from a clot on the heart last week while he was in solitary confinement for insubordination, shackled, as is the customary punishment, with his wrists cuffed to the bars above his head.

After the latter incident, although a coroner's jury absolved prison officials of blame for the death, the state legislature directed a committee to visit the penitentiary next week and make an investigation. This action, Warden Hill said, led the convicts to believe public sentiment was with them.

Started At Noon

The mutiny started at noon. Catcalls and shouts from the luncheon tables gave the signal of contempt for the guards, and the 1,100 convicts, refusing to march to their cells, milled about the hall and then rushed into the open. Warning shots fired from the walls sent them to cover, and 60 of the leaders ran for the kitchen. Leaving it thoroughly wrecked, they went on to the dining hall, smashing furniture, tearing tables and chairs from the concrete floor and hurling them through windows. Two fibre furniture shops also were demolished and a fire was started in one cell house but quickly was extinguished. The limestone cell blocks, although 75 years old, virtually are fireproof.

While the 60 ringleaders were smashing the shops, guards herded the less riotous mob of convicts back to their cell block. Sentries hidden in concealed posts at the end of each corridor fired warning shots and tossed tear bombs to force the prisoners into their own cells. The hidden sentry boxes with rifle slots were recently installed by Warden Hill.

All four wounded convicts were sentenced from Chicago. Albert Yarbeck, 23, sent up May 7, 1929 for assault with intent to rob, died in the prison hospital. Joseph Kwoka, 20, a lifer termer for robbery since February 5, 1931, may die. George Jakowanis, 24, adimtied June 5, 1929 for robbery, and Michael Kasli, 41 admitted October 23, 1930 after conviction as a bomb salesman in Chicago, were not seriously wounded.

Forty-three ringleaders were locked up tonight in solitary confinement, with irons on hands and feet.

ing it out unfavorably by a vote of 7 to 2.

Senator Parrish gave notice of a minority report.

The resolution was tabled indefinitely yesterday, but Senator Stevenson of Victoria charged Senator Woodward of Coleman, author of the motion, was out of order. The vote was reconsidered, resulting in a deadlock.

The Parrish resolution asks that a legislative committee of five members, three from the house and two from the senate, be appointed to investigate the activities and rate charges of utilities of the state. The committee would be required to make a report of its findings to the legislature within 40 days.

PURE SEED SOLD

WOLFFORTH, Mar. 14. (Staff Special)—More than enough pure bred cotton seed to plant 3,500 acres of cotton has been sold in this section of Lubbock county, J. E. Carter of the Texas Cotton Cooperative association, says. Most of the cotton seed being bought here is of the Mebane variety.

"Blue Print" Of Oil Depression Problem Now Under Construction

WASHINGTON, March 14. (AP)—What the federal oil conservation board considers a "blue print" is about to be drawn to guide the petroleum world from depression.

Such, in effect, is the opinion of board members on the purpose of its special committee surveying the country's oil needs for the six month ending September 30.

Haphazard production without accurate charting of likely needs, board members said, was largely responsible for the troubles of the industry and the existing 500,000,000,-barrel stored surplus.

Control of these problems, said Secretary Wilbur as chairman of the board, rests upon the states. He termed attempts of the federal agency to induce leading importers to restrict imports voluntarily only a small part of necessary work.

Records of the oil board show imports practically static over the past nine years, ranging from 9.2 per cent of the domestic production to 10.2 with alternating levels up and down yearly.

The special committee will meet April 1 to draft its report on gasoline requirements measured in crude oil needed and where it should come from.

Supply and demand, at home and in foreign fields, will be touched upon by the committee, which is due to report to the board around April 10.

The report will be given to the American Petroleum Institute, which requested the survey, at that organization's meeting in St. Louis, April 15 and 16.

Meanwhile, an independent investigation by the board of the production capacity of wells now shut-in or rigidly controlled disclosed that the industry lacks accurate knowledge of the possible increased production if wells were opened up and allowed to run.

Estimates from oil men ranged from 1,000,000 barrels to 5,000,000 barrels, with the average estimate around 2,000,00 more than the present production of 2,200,000 daily.

Shut-in production in Oklahoma, one of the leading producing states, was estimated at from 200,000 to 500,000 barrels daily, and the Yates pool in West Texas, between 400,000 and 1,000,000 in addition to an undetermined amount in California, placed at from 300,000 to 850,000.

Comparative figures on domestic prices for oil at well-mouth in 1930, compiled by the board, disclosed that the average in the mid-continent field of Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas, where most of the prevailing distress is centered, was above the average for the country at large, but also showed a steady decline since 1927.

Prices in the nation at large in 1930 averaged $1.16 per barrel, against $1.27 in 1929, and from $1.30 to $1.88 from 1927 to 1923. The mid-continent price in 1930 averaged $1.31 for typical grades, against $1.43 in 1929 and from $1.08 to $1.39 for the period between 1923 and 1927.

next week he would introduce a resolution in that body calling for legislative investigation into the "dangerous situation" he claimed exists in the co-operative organization.

Westbrook said for almost a year he had been "striving to bring about voluntary readjustments," but it had become necessary to take "a more drastic course." He said he had decided that the only "wise or honorable course" left him was to "bare the facts and arouse the members to such action as will clear the way to success."

He refused to enlarge upon his charges, but said he would go into them fully in his legislative resolution.

He said farmers and business men who joined in the co-operative program had done so with an understanding that the federal farm board would exercise strict supervision over the state organization, and that his request for intervention by the board was in fulfillment of this pledge, which, he said, was made with the farm board's authority.

Westbrook mailed his resignation to E. F. Creekmore of New Orleans, vice-president and general manager of the American Cotton Co-operative association. It is effective within 60 days, at Creekmore's discretion.

ROMANCE ON ROCKS

New York Society Girl Seeks Divorce From Cowboy

RENO, Nevada, March 14. (AP) The romance of a New York society girl and a Colorado cowboy has led to Reno.

Barbara Moneil Glaze, 26, was here today with the announced intention of obtaining a divorce from Kenneth Wilson Glaze, 30-year-old rodeo performer and harness maker to whom she was married February 21, 1928.

The daughter and heiress of Ambrose Monell, former head of the International Nickel company who left a $15,000,000 estate, did not reveal the basis of her suit.

Burial Services For Mrs. Alta Gunn To Be Held Here

Mrs. Alta Gunn, about 35, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Gaddy, 2308 20th street, died in Amarillo at noon Saturday. She will be brought to Lubbock for burial.

Besides her parents she is survived by a four year old child. Funeral arrangements have not been made. The body is in charge of the Rix-Sanders funeral home.

Stephens To Show Attractive Modes In Window Monday

If there still exists in Lubbock a woman who has not discovered the economy and satisfaction of shopping at Stephens Dry Goods company, let her take note of these windows tomorrow night and act accordingly! There is not a key-fashion of the 1931 mode which this shop is not showing and in such attractive and practical expressions, as have instant appeal.

Sunday night frocks, jacket costumes of silk crepe, knitted suits, and, for later wear, pert little rayon wash frocks are flaughting their fresh new colors here. Hats of baku and panamalaque in bandeau and sailor brimmed styles, shoes in smart new pumps of sea sand morrocco kid and other desirable models—and piece goods as authentically new as the spring itself all these and more are to be found at prices that will astonish.

In the last-named category there are especially interesting new plaid crepes in black-and-red combinations for fashioning blouses and scarfs, as well as printed and plain shantung for which there will be great demand.

been kidnaped as they left the jail. Edwards said they were taken into the country, where he was released, unharmed, after being warned against again representing the communists. Coder and Hurst disappeared.

In a statement issued in the name of the Kansas district of the international labor defense, Cline said the two organizers were taken nine miles from Dallas, beaten with doubled ropes, and left unconscious at the roadside, their hands tied behind them.

At dawn, the statement said, the two men were discovered by negro farmers who took them to their shacks and nursed them for six days until they recovered sufficiently to make the trip to Kansas City.

"No effort is being made by authorities to round up members of the gang, a number of whom are well known business men," the statement said.

"The international labor defense has launched a nationwide campaign, with particular concentration on Texas, to combat violence and terrorism which is being used against communist organizers by the Ku Klux Klan, American Legion and local police authorities."

Declare Men Will Return

DALLAS, March 14. (AP)—J. C. Papcun, state secretary of the Trades Union Unity league, affiliated with the Red Internationale of Moscow, said tonight that Lewis Hurst and C. J. Coder, organizers who were kidnaped from the city hall steps here by armed men and flogged, would return voluntarily to Dallas to testify before the grand jury.

George Clifton Edwards, attorney for the two men, who also was abducted from the city hall entrance the night of March 5, when Hurst and Coder were released from jail, said that as a lawyer he would "under no circumstances advise either man to return to Dallas unless the governor of Texas promises them safe conduct.

"Personally, I am convinced that Dallas law enforcement authorities can not afford these men adequate protection to come to Dallas and appear before the grand jury," Edwards declared. On the night of the abduction, Edwards was released unharmed after he said his captors warned him not to "represent communists again."

District Attorney William McGraw, accompanied by E. K. Mead, Dallas Times Herald city editor, left in an airplane at 2:15 p. m. today for Kansas City.

Public Feeling High After Marshall Girl Is Attacked

MARSHALL, March 14. (AP)—Miss Mary Young, 21, was in a hospital tonight in serious condition from stab wounds inflicted by a negro who attempted to attack her as she was on her way home.

The negro accosted her and as she started running and screaming for help, he seized her and tried to hold his hand over her mouth. She screamed again and he stabbed her in the throat, just missing the jugular vein, and again in the back.

Public feeling was tense, and officers were guarding several suspects arrested with unusual precautions, fearing mob violence.

NOT MANY ASKING AID

OLTON, (Staff Special)—Only about 15 persons have so far asked for aid in Olton and the community Jack Silcott, chairman of the county Red Cross group announces. At Amherst a total of 82 persons were reported seeking aid.

WATER RATES SLASHED

MATADOR, (Staff Special)—The city council has set new water rates for 1931, starting April 20 and closing August 20. With 2,000 gallons as the minimum, all water in excess of that will be charged for at the rate of 25 cents per 1,000 cubic feet.

BANK BUILDING READY

HALE CENTER, (Staff Special)—Finishing touches are being given to the new $16,000 home of the First National bank of Hale Center and it is believed the structure will be ready for occupancy about March 15. The laying of the new tile has been begun and as soon as possible the fixtures will be installed.

Dogs Get Right To Bite In Their Own Back Yards

COLUMBUS, O.—If a dog stays in its own back yard, it has a right to bite a trespasser, according to a law enacted by the Ohio House of Representatives. The measure provides, however, that if the dog wanders from the owner's grounds, the owner is liable for any injuries caused by the animal.

Oldest Woman Reporter Quits After 51 Years

MARSHALL, Mo.—The nation's oldest woman newspaper reporter has written "30" at the end of her last story.

Mrs. J. M. Patterson, who for 51 years turned in her daily grist of news for the Marshall Democrat-News, retired recently, on her 80th birthday. Reporting hasn't lost its lure, but it has become too difficult for her to hear over the telephone. Since 1879 when she helped her son found the paper, she had roamed the streets in search of news items.

Redingote To Be Displayed

Ensembles To Be Featured In Windows Of Cinderella Shop Tomorrow Night; Many Other New Modes Shown

The redingote—in every form which the spring mode has approved—was the only topic upon which Jerry Jarett, manager of the Cinderella shop, could wax enthusiastic last week. And why? Because a new shipment of these most practical and distinctive ensembles was expected any minute. And now that shipment has arrived—well, see for yourself in the windows tomorrow night.

Perhaps no other costume will be so widely represented in the Easter parade as the redingote—for with its combination of plain-colored coat and printed frock, either a complete garment in itself yet sold at little more than the price of one, it is practical as it is charming. Brown coat with brown-and-yellow print; black with black-and-white; blue with blue-and-white or blue with blue-and-red—all these are favored highly.

Has Other Modes

But of course the shop is showing a world of other modes. The printed chiffons in "Sunday night" interpretations are varied. A dress combining tones of black and yellow on a flame background and having tiny black velvet pipings stood out in the collection.

In hats the shop is featuring the tailored Swasha linen in natural color in the Weyman sports hat, an authentic and distinguished line. Most of these are in brimmed sailor type. Also notable are the semi-formal hats with long sweeping brims and the Watteau styles.

In the shoe section a sea sand kid pump with oak brown trim probably will be shown in tomorrow's windows. And there is a new Parisian sandal worth noting.

Special Rooms Are Fitted For Traveling British Princes

SOUTHAMPTON, Eng., March 14—A pink bathroom for the Prince of Wales and a green one for Prince George have been installed on the liner Arlanza, which sailed today for Buenor Aires to bring the princes home from their tour of South America.

The reception room paneled in apple green and fitted with oak furniture of the Tudor period also was installed in the liner for the royal travelers.

Tech To Be Host To Judging Contests, March 23

Seventy High Schools Asked To Take Part

Three Hundred Boys Are Invited To Participate In Annual Contests; New Features Added

MORE than 300 boys from 70 high schools in West Texas giving vocational agriculture instruction, are expected here Monday, March 23, for the annual vocational agriculture judging contests sponsored by Texas Technological college, according to Ray C. Mowery, superintendent of the contest.

Several new features are announced this year by Mr. Mowery, including a farm shop contest and a "sweepstake school" banner.

70 Schools Invited

Invitations were sent recently to the 70 schools in this section giving vocational work. A second letter was sent out the past week asking for information on the probable number of students expected.

Contests are in five divisions; livestock judging; dairy cattle judging; poultry judging; plant production judging and farm shop judging.

Dean A. H. Leidigh has named Mr. Mowrey as general superintendent of the course. H. J. Bower of the agronomy department, will supervise the plant production contests.

Eleven In Shop Contests

"Entries have closed for the farm shop contests and the following schools have been accepted: Floydada, Roby, Breckenridge, Dimmitt, Amherst, Silverton, McLean, Spur, Tulia, Tahoka and Throckmorton. No additional entries will be accepted," Mr. Mowrey announced.

A loving cup will be presented to the high team in each contest. These cups are now rotating and so far, no school has won a cup in any one contest more than twice. Winning three times by a school gives that body the cup.

A banner is to be given the school making the highest total points, to be known as the "sweepstake" banner. "This will be chosen on the basis of the ranking that teams in the various contests make," Mr. Mowrey explained. "The four highest teams from one school will be considered." The Caprock Uniform and Embroidery company is giving the banner.

Monday night at 6:30 the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce is giving a banquet to the visitors. Winners are expected to be announced then. High school students that have not taken part in the same contest in preceding years and who have not practiced judging on specimens of the Texas Technological college, are eligible to compete. They must also be regularly enrolled and be doing passing work in their respective school.

Pro Violation Charges Filed

Three Local Men Being Held In Jail Following Raids During The Week By County Authorities

Charges of prohibition law violations have been filed against three men in the court of Justice of the Peace H. K. Porter.

Following his arrest and confiscation of about a gallon and a half of whisky in a raid by county officers in 1700-block of Avenue F. G. O. Fleming was charged with liquor possesion and transportation.

Two Gallons Broken

The man evidently was preparing to deliver some liquor when he was arrested Friday night, according to the sheriff's department. Upon arrival of officers, he broke two gallon jars of corn whisky before taken into cutsody. Another gallon and a half of liquor was found in a stove in a garage at the residence, county officers reported.

Charges of possession of liquor were filed against Ray Holding and H. L. Fulton, who were arrested Thursday night by county officers in connection with confiscation of a gallon and a half of corn whisky and 47 quarter grains of morphine. The drug phase of the case is undergoing further investigation.

Needles Are Found

Subsequently, county officers found several hypodermic needles, a syringe, empty pint and quart bottles, a rubber siphon, a funnel, and a 10-gallon crock filled with homemade beer in a house in northwest Lubbock.

Empty beer bottles, a capper and bottle caps were found in a garage attached to the house.

A young man arrested near the Broadway underpass late Friday told members of the sheriff's department that he had been walking on Broadway near the underpass when a large automobile stopped near him, a man who was driving beckoned to him, and when he came to the car gave him a pint of whisky.

The suspect said he asked what he was expected to do with the liquor, was told to do as he liked and that he pocketed the pint after the mysterious automobile had been driven away.

Opinion Divided Whether Committee Of 100 Shall Handle Plans For The 100th Birthday Celebration Of Texas

AUSTIN, March 14. (AP)—A division of opinion as to whether the volunteer centennial committee of 100, organized some years ago and headed by Jesse Jones, Houston capitalist, should continue in charge of the project for celebrating Texas' 100th birthday anniversity in 1936 appeared here yesterday.

The division occurred at a meeting called by Mr. Jones, attended by only 12 members of the original committee, and about 35 visitors.

Support Voiced

Support of a bill proposed to the legislature by Senator Margie Neal of Carthage and Representative T. H. McGregor of Austin appeared at the meeting. After some discussion, Mr. Jones asked for a vote on his idea, that the state should be asked to submit a bond issue for $5,000,000 for the centennial, the money to be expended under management of the committee of 100. His proposal won a majority vote. The Neal McGregor bill provides for appointment of an official state commission to lay plans for the celebration.

Mr. Jones proposed that the centennial celebration be held in four sections, near Dallas and Fort Worth, at San Jacinto battle fields at Houston, at San Antonio and at Goliad.

A resolution for amending the state constitution to permit issuance of $5,000,000 in bonds for the centennial was to be drawn for presentation to the legislature. The funds raised thus would be insufficient for the proposal celebration, Mr. Jones said, adding that unless cities and counties "can make substantial contributions," the centennial can not be held.

Mr. McGregor appeared at the meeting and explained the bill he and Miss Neal are sponsoring. Other speakers complained that the bill "will put the committee of 100 out of business. Jacob F. Wolters of Houston, who took an active part in the meeting, described the McGregor-Neal bill as setting up a "junketing committee." He advised McGregor and Miss Neal to "get with Mr. Jones and those who have studied this matter and rewrite your bill."

In a fire at Carlisle, England, recently 5,000 phonograph records were destroyed.

FAVOR CONVICT LABOR

AUSTIN, March 14. (AP)—The bill by Representative Johnson of Carrizo Springs to permit use of convict labor in construction of state highways was voted out favorably today by the house committee on highways and motor traffic. Convict labor would be used under contract between the highway commission and the state prison board.

The oldest part of the Frowick Arms, the five-hundred-year-old inn at the ancient port of Canterbury, England, was destroyed by fire recently.

Sunday Avalanche-Journal
(Sunday Morning)

All classified advertising will appear in both the Morning and Afternoon papers—both papers counting one insertion. All classified advertising is printed in the Lubbock Morning Avalanche first and the Daily Journal of the same date, no classified originating the afternoon paper.

Classified for Sunday's issue will appear in the Avalanche-Journal counting one insertion, as this paper is sent to all subscribers of both the afternoon and morning papers.

AVALANCHE-JOURNAL
Combined Rates:

Minimum words, per insertion, 10.
One insertion, per word 4c
Two insertions, per word 6c
Three insertions, per word 7c
Seven insertions, per word 13c
Thirty insertions, per word 45c

These rates are for consecutive insertions only. Additional consecutive insertions over 30 times, at 1½c per word each.

All out of town ads, received by mail must be Cash with order. No exceptions.

PHONE 13 or 14

Our experienced ad-taker will receive your ad and help you to word it, then our collector will call the following day. These accounts are "accommodation accounts" for our patrons and for one day only.

No advertisements accepted on an "until forbid" order. A specified number of insertions must be given.

We reserve the right to place an advertisements under the proper classification and reject unclean or objectionable copy.

Obituaries and cards of thanks at regular classified advertising rate.

The publishers are not responsible for copy omissions, typographical errors, or any unintentional error that may occur further than to correct it next issue after it is brought to their attention. All advertising orders are accepted on this basis only.

Classified advertising accepted until 6:30 P. M. on week days, and 5:30 P. M. on Saturdays, and all advertising received after 5:30 P. M. will be placed under "Too Late To Classify."

For classified display advertising information.

WEST TEXANS!

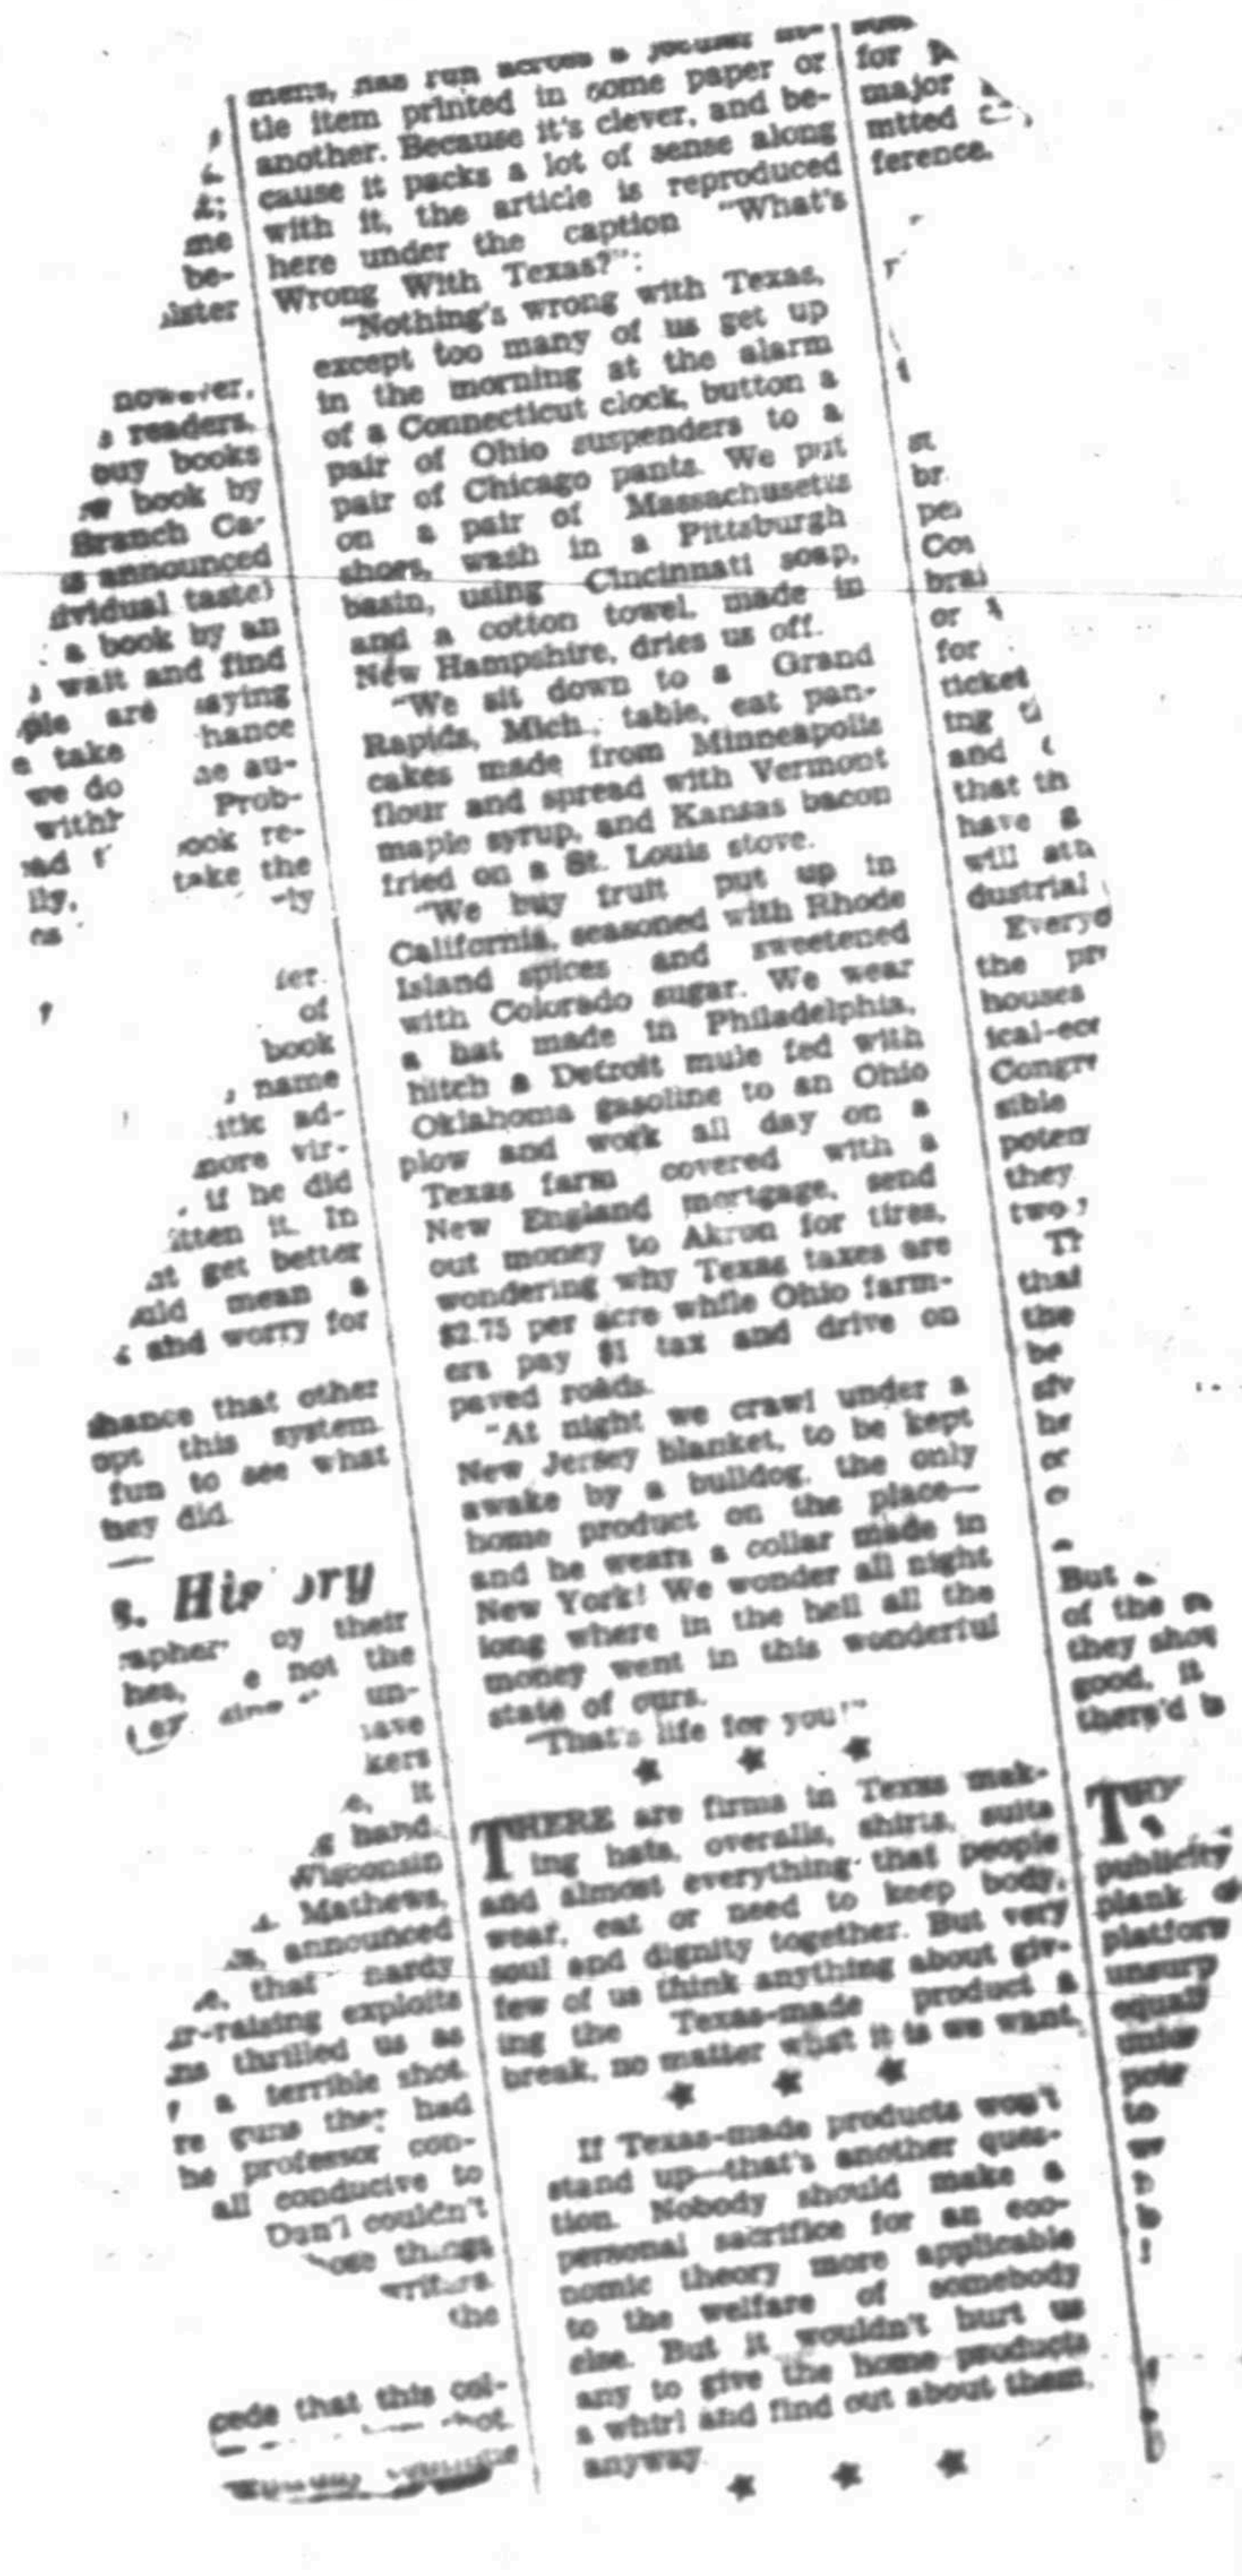
"The Plainsman" Is Right



ments, has run across a [illegible] little item printed in some paper or another. Because it's clever, and because it packs a lot of sense along with it, the article is reproduced here under the caption "What's Wrong With Texas?":

"Nothing's wrong with Texas, except too many of us get up in the morning at the alarm of a Connecticut clock, button a pair of Ohio suspenders to a pair of Chicago pants. We put on a pair of Massachusetts shoes, wash in a Pittsburgh basin, using Cincinnati soap, and a cotton towel, made in New Hampshire, dries us off.

"We sit down to a Grand Rapids, Mich., table, eat pancakes made from Minneapolis flour and spread with Vermont maple syrup, and Kansas bacon fried on a St. Louis stove.

"We buy fruit put up in California, seasoned with Rhode Island spices and sweetened with Colorado sugar. We wear a hat made in Philadelphia, hitch a Detroit mule fed with Oklahoma gasoline to an Ohio plow and work all day on a Texas farm covered with a New England mortgage, send out money to Akron for tires, wondering why Texas taxes are $2.75 per acre while Ohio farmers pay $1 tax and drive on paved roads.

"At night we crawl under a New Jersey blanket, to be kept awake by a bulldog, the only home product on the place—and he wears a collar made in New York! We wonder all night long where in the hell all the money went in this wonderful state of ours.

"That's life for you!"

THERE are firms in Texas making hats, overalls, shirts, suits and almost everything that people wear, eat or need to keep body, soul and dignity together. But very few of us think anything about giving the Texas-made product a break, no matter what it is we want.

If Texas-made products won't stand up—that's another question. Nobody should make a personal sacrifice for an economic theory more applicable to the welfare of somebody else. But it wouldn't hurt us any to give the home products a whirl and find out about them anyway.

Although we might add that many of them buy meats of all kinds which have been packed in Kansas City, in Chicago, in Wichita, Kansas, and other eastern cities. . . . when much fresher and cleaner meats are available. . . . packed in Lubbock, Texas by the

RULES TO BE OBSERVED IN LEWIS WALKER'S DANCING SCHOOL

1. Smoking prohibited at all times.
2. Drinking is "absolutely prohibited!"
3. Correct holding is essention. Cheek to cheek dancing not allowed.
4. Please do not chew gum during classes.
5. This is a dancing school, not a loafing school. There are other places more suited to loafing.
6. Don't talk crude. This doesn't help you or anyone else.
7. If anyone wants your opinion they will ask it. Don't talk out of place in class.
8. Do not interrupt classes. Tell the office girl your business, she will help you.
9. Please be quiet in the office. People come here for business and loud talking disturbe.
10. Cleanliness is essential. Please do not throw paper, matches, etc., on the floor. To come to my dances, all men must wear coats. This school is owned and managed by Lewis Walker. Your courtesy and respect to him in observing these rules will be appreciated. If you do not observe these rules, please do not come here.

33.—Real Estate

REAL ESTATE Is An Investment That Can't Lose

LAND IS ALWAYS WORTH MONEY. It is indestructible. And despite occasional fluctuations in value, the general trend is ever upward. That is why Real Estate is ALWAYS a good investment.

But today it is more advantageous than at any time in years. For, thanks to the nation-wide business slump, prices are unnaturally low. You can buy at much below par NOW.

Consult our varied list of realty bargains, both improved and unimproved. Farsighted men and women will profit by investing in GOOD Real Estate.

ORDINANCE NO. 483

An ordinance requiring payment of a license fee of five ($5.00) dollars per day in advance for engaging in the business of operating a bowling alley, or a five or ten pin alley, making it unlawful for any person, agent or servant to operate or assist in the operation of such business, unless such license fee has been paid in advance, and a receipt issued therefor by the city tax collector, and fixing a penalty for violation thereof. Be it ordained by the City Commission of Lubbock, Texas.

SECTION ONE

From and after the date this Ordinance takes effect, there shall be collected in advance by the City Tax Collector a license fee of Five ($5.00) Dollars per day from each and every person, firm or corporation engaged in the business of operating a bowling alley, or a five or ten pin alley in the City of Lubbock.

SECTION TWO

No person, firm, corporation, agent or servant shall engage in conducting such business, or assist in operating same, until and unless a license fee of Five ($5.00) Dollars per day is paid to the City Tax Collector in advance for the operation of such business each and every day operated or to be operated, and a written receipt issued by the City Tax Collector for each such day operated or to be operated.

SECTION THREE

Any person, firm or corporation who desires to enter into or engage in the business of conducting or operating a bowling alley, or a five pin or a ten pin alley in the City of Lubbock, must first pay to the City Tax Collector of Lubbock, Texas, in advance, a fee of Five ($5.00) Dollars per day for each and every day such business is operated in the City of Lubbock, and obtain a written receipt therefor from the Tax Collector.

SECTION FOUR

Any person, firm, corporation, agent or servant who shall engage in such business, or assist in operating such business of bowling alley, or five or ten pin alley, in the City of Lubbock, without having first paid such license fee of Five ($5.00) Dollars per day in advance and received a written receipt therefor from the City Tax Collector, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and for each day's violation shall be fined in any sum not to exceed Twenty ($20.00) Dollars per day.

SECTION FIVE

Each day's violation shall constitute a separate offense, whether such business be operated in day time or night time, or only a part of such day or night.

SECTION SIX

Should any clause, sentence or provision of this Ordinance be held illegal or unconstitutional, such finding shall not invalidate the remainder of this Ordinance.

Passed and approved at first reading by unanimous vote of the City Commission, this 22nd day of January, 1931.

Passed and approved at second reading by unanimous vote of the City Commission, this 12th day of February, 1931.

J. J. CLEMENTS, Mayor.

ATTEST:
W. H. RODGERS, City Secretary.

Texans Join In Movement To Promote The Uses Of Cotton

AUSTIN, March 14. (AP)—Joining in the movement to promote uses of cotton, five men will represent Texas at the southwide meeting of the Cotton Consumers association at Atlanta, Ga., March 23. The meeting was called yesterday by Harry D. Wilson, Louisiana commissioner of agriculture.

Texas representatives will be J. E. McDonald, commissioner of agriculture, Victor Schoffelmayer, agricultural editor of the Dallas News; J. E. Garrett of Corpus Christi, originator of the Garret plan of cotton acreage reduction, A. T. Barrett of Dallas, and W. A. Canon, director of Marketing in the state department of agriculture.

Thirty-four talking pictures are being made in France.

Cotton Cotton Rallies In Fair Demand — Livestock Fair Demand For Killing Classes — Grain No Grain Change Seen Saturday

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, March 14. (AP)—After a somewhat irregular start due to indifferent cables and an error in the transmission of the consumption total by domestic mills for February, cotton here eased off to levels 2 to 4 points below the previous close as the corrected consumption total of 433,510 bales proved to be about as expected.

Prices soon rallied on a fair trade demand and more or less covering by shorts for over the week-end and on the February mill stocks which were considerably smaller thant a year ago totalling 1,547,759 bales against 1,806,040 last year. Prices rallied 8 to 9 points from the early lows and closed at the top, the general market showing net gains for the day of 4 to 5 points.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, March 14. (AP)—Trading in cotton was quiet today and price changes were confined within comparatively narrow limits. At the outset the market was slightly lower in response to lower cables than had been anticipated and under moderate week-end liquidation and more or less selling for foreign and southern account.

Offers proved small however, and the market subsequently developed a steady tone on covering and trade buying. The May position declined early to 10.79, a loss of 3 points from the previous close, and later advanced to 10.85, closing at 10.83, a net gain of 1 point while the general market closed steady at 2 points higher to 2 points lower.

A report by the census bureau showed domestic consumption for February was 433,510 bales compared with 494,396 in February of last year, while for 7 months the total was 2,899,942 bales against 3,808,741 during the same period last year.

Ten-Day Hunt For Woman Is Unsuccessful

Man Questioned In Connection With Disappearance Of His Alleged Sweetheart In Forest Preserve

CHICAGO, March 14. (AP)—A fruitless ten-day search of a 20,000-acre forest preserve tract for a missing woman set county police last night to checking statements told them by Frank J. Murray, her friend for 17 years.

The woman, Norma Newby, 36, Murray said, last was seen by him when bandits abducted them both March 2, ordered them to drive to the preserve, stole his car, his money and then beat him into unconsciousness.

Admits Affair

Murray, 48, called in for questioning by Chief William F. Collins of the county highway police, admitted he had tried to break off his friendship with the woman but that she had threatened to cause trouble by telling his wife of their intimacy.

Police considered as one possible theory that Miss Newby had been slain and her body secreted.

Collins said he did not understand why Murray had not reported immediately that the girl was gone. He went, the records showed to a hospital for treatment and told of being robbed and his car stolen, but made no mention of Miss Newby.

The woman's mother, Mrs. Lillian Sheehan, notified Melrose police that Murray might know something of the case. His questioning and story that she had accompanied him to the preserve followed. A force of 100 highway police have been searching the area since but found no trace of the woman.

Murray said the reason he did not mention the girl at first was because the blows from the bandits' revolver knocked him unconscious and caused a temporary amnesia.

Murray was not held by authorities.

Rubio Kills Colonization Proposal In Mexico Area

MEXICO CITY, March 14. (AP)—President Ortiz Rubio today killed a project for colonization of certain undeveloped areas in Mexico by Salvic farmers.

Aaron Sapiro, American organizer, represented the American Slavic Colonization Trust, Inc., in attempting to bring the Slavs—said to be Russian—to Mexico and obtained the approval of both the department of interior and that of agriculture.

The president said, however, Mexico had too great a problem in caring for her own nationals now returning and permission for the new immigration scheme could not be approved.

Florida ginned 30,511 running bales of cotton from her 1930 crops as compared with 29,717 bales in 1929.

Short Coverings Saturday Fail To Rouse Market From Sluggishness

BY JOHN L. COOLEY,
Associated Press Financial Writer.

NEW YORK, March 14. (AP)—Short covering after four days of slow decline lifted stock prices today, but failed to rouse the market from its sluggishness.

Many prominent shares closed with gains of a point. Sales of 1,000,000 shares were in line with recent turnovers.

Shorts did get a squeeze in radio which ran up 3 points just before the close in a scramble of covering. Motors did reasonably well as a group, helped by reports of increasing activity in the industry. Utilities were firm.

New York Central, Atchison, Union Pacific and a few other rails added to Friday's late advances. U. S. Steel, General Electric, Westinghouse, Union Carbide and American Telephone made narrow progress. American Can, General Motors, Chrysler, Case, McKeesport Tin Plate, Sears Roebuck, Lambert, Baldwin Locomotive and Standard Oil of New Jersey closed around a point higher. Amusements improved slowly.

New Schedule On T.-P. Line Is Announced

Rearrangement Of Table Will Be Effective Today; Gives Improved Service Under New Train Consolidation

DALLAS, March 14. (AP)—Rearrangement of train schedules on the Texas & Pacific railway, effective Sunday, to provide improved service, has been announced here by Frank Jensen, general passenger agent. The changes were made in connection with consolidation of train No. 5 at Fort Worth with train No. 7, "The Southerner."

Jensen explained that recent improvements in track and other facilities on the transcontinental division between Texarkana, Clarksville Paris, Bonham, Sherman, Denton and Fort Worth enabled the company to speed up the schedule of train No. 31, to provide westbound connections at Fort Worth at 1:50 p. m. with the "Sunshine Special," for El Paso.

The new arrangement will permit pullman passengers from Dallas to various West Texas points to leave at 9:35 p. m. instead of 8:45 p. m., as at present. San Angelo, Lubbock and Amarillo sleepers now carried from Dallas on No. 5 will leave Dallas on No. 7. This train, "The Southern," will arrive at Sweetwater at 4:40 a. m. instead of 5:40 a. m. Train No. 4 leaving Big Spring at 1:30 p. m., will arrive in Dallas at 9:50 p. m. instead of 9:15 p. m. and leave at 10:20 p. m. instead of 10 p. m.

Lot Cleaning Is Completed

Total of Approximately $6,000 Was Spent In Cleaning About Vacant Lots of City; C. of C. In Charge Of Program

Remaining crews of 360 men who had been given jobs of cleaning alleys and vacant lots in Lubbock were discharged at noon Saturday.

Virtually all of the cleaning, which blanketed both business and residential districts, had been completed. A few scattered spots remain to be cleaned and work will be done in those places early this week.

Payroll Was Heavy

Total payroll of the lot-cleaning period, maximum of which for any crew was eight work days of eight hours each, approximated $6,000, according to attaches of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce and Board of City Development.

Operation of about 18 trucks will be continued for the next four or five days hauling refuse which could not be burned to the city dump grounds. Total cost of the hauling will be about $100 daily, it was estimated.

Appearance Improved

The emergency employment committee of the chamber supervised execution of the program, after it had been adopted by the chamber to alleviate unemployment and improve appearance of the city.

Billy Clark was general foreman of the work. Sub-foreman were assigned to each of the 21 districts into which the city was divided for the lot-cleaning program.

Workmen were paid $2 a day and district foremen and truck drivers received slightly higher wages.

BILL WITH COMMITTEE

AUSTIN, March 14. (AP)—A bill by Representative Sanders of Nacogdoches to give the governor continuing control over expenditures of appropriations and to make the governor the chief budget officer, of the house state affairs committee was referred to a sub-committee today for study. Representatives Beck of Fort Worth, Stevenson of Junction and Van Zandt of Tioga were named to the sub-committee.

MIDDLEWESTERN LIVESTOCK

KANSAS CITY, March 14. (AP)—(U. S. Dept. Agr.)—Cattle trade around the eleven market circuit this week was featured by a fairly broad demand for most all killing classes except the better grades of medium weight and heavy steers. The chief strengthening influence was continued light receipts. Light yearlings and fat she stock registered substantial upturns at all markets with mixed and straight heifer yearlings in Chicago 75 to 1.00 higher. Stocker and feeder classes ruled firm to higher and current quotations are from 50 to 75 above the low spot three weeks ago. Aggregate receipts were estimated at 158,800 as compared with 142,122 last week.

FORT WORTH LIVESTOCK

FORT WORTH, March 14. (AP)—(U. S. Dept. Agr.)—Hogs, 900; no rail hogs; truck hogs 15 higher; top 7.50; medium to choice 170 to 240 lbs. 7.25 to 7.40.

Cattle: 200, including 50 calves; week's tops; short fed steers 6.75; choice yearlings 8.75; few good cows 5.00; heavy fat calves 7.25; stock steer calves 8.50; bulk slaughter steer. 5.25 to 6.75; yearling 6.50 to 7.50; cows 3.25 to 3.75; heavy calves 6.50 down.

Sheep, 1,400; nominal, for week, bulk medium to good shorn lambs 6.25 to 7.00; yearlings 6.00; 2-year-old wethers 5.00 and 5.25.

Hundreds Are Driven Before Big Landslide

Tons Of Rock And Earth Are Sliding Down Mountains At Rate Of 500 Feet Per Hour As Villagers Flee

(By Associated Press)

CHAMBERY, France, March 14. —Four hundred million cubic meters of rock, snow and earth, sliding down the mountains at the rate of 500 feet an hour has driven the inhabitants of four villages into terrified flight in the last twenty-four hours.

Great walnut trees which have stood for generations were bowled over like strips of lath, engulfed in the unhurried mass which swallowed up farmhouses and barns.

Engineers To Aad

Army engineers were coming in tonight to try to divert the slide by blowing up a bridge at Granges. They hope this would split the movement in two and send the greater part of the mass into a mountain torrent which would carry it away.

The inhabitants of Granges were evacuated this afternoon and ordered to move farther down the valley. Three arms of the landslide threatened that village, the hamlets in the community of Motteen Beauce and villages between them.

Caused By Rain

The landslide was caused by heavy rains of the past few weeks. It tore loose from the hillside with a great rumble and began moving over an area of about a hundred acres, gathering volume as it rolled. So far no deaths have been reported.

The main slide, a lumbering wall of mud fifty feet high moved relentlessly down the hill with occasional booming explosions.

Before it fled the panic-stricken peasants, staggering under their furniture and such other goods as they could save, driving their cattle ahead of them.

Hundreds are homeless, and in Bellecombe-Savoie part of a mountain overlooking the river Isere toppled into the stream, damming the current and blocking the roadways.

Low Price, Good Quality Feature Of Penney Store

The lowest possible price consistent with good quality is the alluring beacon for all women who purchase from J. C. Penney stores. And it would seem that never have the two features been combined so satisfactorily as in the Lubbock store this season. New street frocks, most of them having jackets, in navy or brown silk crepe have just been received. One, in the former color, is distinguished by the long streamer ties of blue, lined with white, which finish the tailored collar and the smart jacket, peplum-finished. Another is in skipper blue with a draped collar studded in gold nailheads.

As for wraps, there are formal ones, galyak trimmed, and those dependably smart camel's hair sports coats in the new spring shades.

Would-Be Assassin Faces Heavy Fine At Mexico City

MEXICO CITY, March 14. (AP)—A fine of 50,000 pesos (about $23,500) was assessed by the second district court today against Daniel Flores, who a year ago tried to assassinate President Ortiz Rubio and a few weeks ago was sentenced to 19 years, 9 months and 18 days in prison for the crime.

There is no chance of the youth being able to pay the amount, but the judgment can be used to extend his sentence if that is ever desired.

Lubbock County 4-H Council To Meet Here Next Saturday

A call meeting of the 4-H council at the courthouse for 2 o'clock Saturday has been announced. This meeting is for the purpose of giving members that intend to have exhibits in the Fat Calf, Pig and Meat Show, to be held in Lubbock March 27 and 28, their final instructions.

After a short program Saturday afternoon, the council will make a trip of inspection through the Lubbock Poultry and Egg Company.

Grain

FORT WORTH GRAIN

FORT WORTH, March 14. (AP)—Cash grain prices on the Fort Worth market showed no change today. Fairly heavy receipts of wheat continued to go into elevators, largely for farm board account.

Quotations ranged as follws, basis carloads delivered Texas common points, freight paid:

Wheat, No. 1 hard of any protein, 77 1- to 80 1-4.

Corn, No. 2 mixed 70 1-2 to 71 1-2; No. 2 white 73 1-2 to 74 1-2; No. 2 yellow 72 1-2 to 73 1-2.

Oats, No. 2 red 42 to 42 1-2; No. 3 white delivered Texas group one 41 3-4 to 42 1-2.

Barley, No. 2, 56-57.

Sorghums, No. 2 milo per 100 pounds, 1.22 to 1.24; bulk county run red top, per 100 pounds, according to type, origin, germination and clean-out, 2.25 to 2.45.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, March 14. (AP)—Breaking of the season's bottom price record for wheat resulted today from liberal sized future delivery wheat sales matched by simultaneous purchases of corn. This cross-cross proceeding had to do entirely with July and September wheat.

Wheat closed irregular, 5-8 cents lower to 1-8 to 1-4 advance, corn 1-8 off to 3-8 up, oats unchanged to 1-4 down, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 7 cents.

Downstate Illinois points said industries were bidding 1 to 1 3-4 cents over the Chicago basis for No. 3 yellow corn. Cash purchases of oats were the largest in some time.

Regular air service between Ireland and England is being planned.

New Altitude Mark Thought Set By Woman

Altimeter Shows Altitude Of 36,000 Feet For Miss Frankie Renner; Barograph To Be Sent To Washington

AKRON, O., March 14 (AP)—Miss Frankie Renner, 30, Akron aviatrix, was believed to have flown a Waco monoplane to an altitude of 36,000 feet here yesterday in an effort to shatter the world's altitude record for women.

The previous record, set by Miss Elinor Smith, was 27,418 feet.

The altitude was shown on the altimeter carried by her plane, according to Hugh Robbins, president of the Robbins Flying service, sponsoring the flight. The sealed barograph will be sent to Washington for calibration.

Miss Renner took off at Stow field at 1:42 p. m., and landed at 5:54.

New Modern Jail Building Planned For Lubbock County

Bids Will Be Received For Work Monday

Structure To Be 3 Stories High And Will Have Capacity Of 100 Prisoners; All To Be Of Latest Design

BIDS for the construction of the new county jail are to be opened on Monday by the county commissioner's court and it is expected that work on the building that will house involuntary guests of the county will be started in a short time.

The building is to be located in the center of the northeast quarter of the county block, just north of the old jail structure. Only one unit is to be built at this time, with room on both the east and the west sides for the addition of two more wings when the time comes.

To Be of Latest Design

Plans, drawn by S. B. Haynes, local architect for the commissioner's court, show the building to be one of the most modern in the entire South Plains, with the very latest in equipment and arrangement.

Of brick and fire proof construction, the building will be three stories high. It will be about 85 feet east and west and 53 feet north and south.

Entrance will be on the north side of the building, facing Main street. To the right, or west side, will be the office of the sheriff, with an office for the deputies, a bed room for a deputy and other rooms. To the east, or left side, will be the quarters of the jailor, with a hospital and detention ward in the rear of his quarters.

Garage Inclosed

In the rear of the entrance will be a garage that will permit automobiles of the sheriff to be driven into the building where their load can be hustled into the detention rooms to one side and the suspects examined and searched.

"The jail will be thoroughly modern," E. L. Pitts, county judge, said in discussing the plans. "We will comply with state regulations regarding the segregation of prisoners.

"For instance, there will be quarters for white men and white boys and white women and white girls. Also, there will be quarters for negro boys and negro men and negro women and negro girls. We also will have quarters for Mexicans.

To Have Separate Cells

"White men will be kept separate from the boys and women from the girls. We will have a cell for violent insane prisoners. There will be detention cell for prisoners until they are assigned to their special quarters."

An elevator to take prisoners to and from their respective floors will be another feature of the building.

Prisoners will be kept permanently on the second and third floors. Cell blocks will be so arranged as to enable a minimum number of guards to keep them confined.

To Hold 100 Prisoners

Capacity of the jail will be 100 prisoners.

It is planned to use as much of the old jail equipment as possible. All of the former cells were stored pending future use, when the old jail was wrecked.

The plans call for landscaping of the northeast corner of the court house square and it is to be one of the beauty spots of town. The general scheme of the buildings on the square will harmonize with the present courthouse, it is expected.

In the present jail fund is approximately $32,000. Warrants are to be issued by the commissioner's court for the remainder of the cost. While no figures are available, the court believes it can hold the cost to below $100,000 according to Judge Pitts.

Creations Of Fashion Authorities To Be Displayed By Abney Apparel Shop

Such authorization fashion mentors as Suzy et Paulette and Mathilde are creators of the adorable hats which will be seen in the windows of Abney Apparel shop Monday evening. Here, too, is the Caliente sports hat, which always is a good selection for outdoor purposes. There is a Jean Patou reproduction also that may be shown if not already snapped by a customer who admired it Saturday.

A platinum grey crepe costume consisting of semi-formal frock and finger-tip has been chosen by Mrs. Abney for display. The new vogue for yellow with grey is exemplified perfectly here in the velvet embroidery of rust and gold on the rounded yoke of net. Intricate self-stitchery below the yoke and about the hipline lend additional interest. The flowing sleeves of the jacket are edged in platinum fox.

A wash frock for later wear is entirely of the new linen lace in gold, self-trimmed except for the belt of black velvet.

Knit and jersey suits—sometimes in two-tone combinations—for the collegiate crowd are exceptionally attractive in the Abney collection and there are stunning sports coats—both full length and pertly short—of featherdown that are 1931 itself.

Soy Beans To Be Planted In Lamb

By Staff Correspondent

AMHERST, March 14.—Already more than enough soy beans to sow 700 acres has been ordered by farmers of Lamb county, according to D. A. Adam, county agent, with prospects of double that amount being sold before it is time to plant the seed.

"I have orders for 60 bushels of soy beans, or enough to plant 720 acres," said the county agent. "I believe that farmers will average a ton of hay to the acre. The cost is low, about five pounds costing 12 cents a pound being enough to sow an acre."

Farmers of the county who have been using soy beans are very enthusiastic over the crop.

GOOD TAX COLLECTION

LEVELLAND (Staff Special)—Seventy-seven percent of the taxes of Hockley county have been collected for the current year, it is announced. Last year there was 92 per cent of the total collected.

Centennial Is Being Talked

Jesse Jones Declares That State Contributions Are Needed Or The Texas Centennial May Be Lost

AUSTIN, March 14. (AP)—Jesse H. Jones of Houston, director-general of the Texas Centennial exposition, said in a statement prepared for delivery before a meeting of the Centennial directors here today that unless the people amended the Texas constitution to permit state contributions, the Centennial could not be held.

He advocated that if it be held, it be split into four parts, held in state parks at San Jacinto battlefield, near Houston, at San Antonio, in North Texas and at Goliad.

He said cities holding the exposition or any section of it "should make substantial contributions" toward its financing.

"We do not want a bazaar," he said. "A hurdy-gurdy entertainment is not my idea of what our Centennial should be."

The meeting of directors today, the first in five years, was called by Jones to discuss a pending bill by Senator Margie Neal of Carthage and Representative T. H. McGregor, Austin, to create an official Centennial board to report back to the next legislature plans for holding the offiical Centennial exposition in Austin in 1936.

Jones said he had been invited to appear before the senate committee considering Miss Neal's bill. It, he said, calls for appropriation of money for the survey. The state cannot spend money on the centennial itself without a constitutional amendment.

Among those present at the meeting today were Mr. and Mrs. Jones, Former Mayor Oscar F. Holcombe, Jacob F. Wolters and Joseph S. Myers, Houston; Will H. Mayes, Sam Sparks, W. H. Folts, Theodore P. Meyers, Austin; Thomas B. Love, Dallas; Dayton Moses, Fort Worth; Lowry Martin, Corsicana, secretary; Miss Neal; J. K. Hughes, Mexia; Representative B. F. Vaughan, Greenville.

Salt Is Topped In Gaines Test

The salt has been topped in the Texas Consolidated-Texas and Pacific No. 1 Jones, in Gaines county at 2,225 feet or 1,411 feet above sea level according to word received here. Drilling was continued to 2,265 feet.

Anhydrite was topped at 2,120 feet, making it 105 feet from the top of the anhydrite to the top of the salt.

In the Barnsdall Oil company's No. 1 Bronson, in Lea county, New Mexico, six miles from the Jones, the interval between the tops was 110 feet. In the Bronson the anhydrite was topped at 2,055 feet, or 140 feet higher than in the Gaines county test. The salt was reached at 2,165 feet.

More than 3,225,000 bunches of bananas were shipped from Costa Rica to the United States last year.

Folk Music Of The South Contributes To Program For Music Club Saturday

Folk music, developed principally in the South, formed the theme for a program that was heard Saturday afternoon by members of the Lubbock Music club in a meeting with Mrs. Roscoe Wilson, 2201 Broadway. The topic for the day was "Negro Music," which is defined as probably "the most beautiful folk music of which our country can boast."

Mrs. R. A. Mills was program director Saturday and roll call was answered with negro superstitions. Piano and vocal numbers contributed to the program, which was as follows:

"Cotton Field Dance" (Frances Gilder), Mrs. Floyd Beall; "De Ol' Ark's a-Moverin'" (Guion), "I Want to be Ready" (Burleigh), "The Greatest Miracle of All" (Guion), and "Mah Lindy Lou" (Strickland), by Mrs. G. E. McCelvey, Jr.; "The Crap Shooter" (Lane), Mrs. John W. Jarrott; "Chant Negre" (Kramer), Miss Margaret Stone; "Juba Dance" (Dett), Mrs. J. A. McCelvey; "Not a Murmuring Word" (Fisher), Mrs. A. B. Short.

DR. MYERS

Doctor Myers' Daily Column On Child Welfare

BY GARRY C. MYERS, PH. D.
Head Division Parental Education Cleveland College, Western Reserve University

PLAY SYSTEM OF SCHOOL

"DEAR DR. MYERS: We fathers who read the syndicated articles, as anyone else who can and does use his brain to some extent, naturally agree and disagree with these articles, depending on the subject. It generally is a thankless job to write in answer to such articles, as it does not open a discussion on any particular subject and such a letter, particularly one that disagrees with the published article, generally ends the subject. That may be one, and possibly the main, reason why you do not hear from 'DAD.' He is too busy to write useless letters.

"Personally, I have been watching the schools as they influence youth, having four children in the grade and high schools now. There are several important factors missing in the educational systems of today in the opinion of numerous of my friends, not all men, but people who, like myself went to school 30 and 40 years ago.

"The imagination which you mention is all right for the small child before the school age, but generally that trait is carried on throughout the school years. The children are not impressed with the fact that this life is not one round of play, and few when they graduate from high school have any sense of duty or responsibility, and have not learned actually how to study.

"In the lower grades, the system is to teach the children everything by playing. Home work is eliminated completely and the child, after school hours, has nothing to do but play.

"When the children get along a few years, a little home work may be given, but often not regularly, and they then find difficulty in getting the fundamental principles of studying as they have so far been taught nothing but play.' So much of fundamental knowledge is not taught as it would necessitate use of memory. But what else than memory is knowledge? I do not say memorizing, but memory? You can not know anything but by having it in your mind, or having the basic facts in your mind so you can derive what you want to use.

"This applies just as much to the elements of arithmetic as it does to advanced science. The child should be so conversant with the elements of knowledge that their use is second nature. However, such a thorough knowledge is absent today as the educators claim that that is memorizing and is, therefore, undesirable. 'Let the child find out for himself,' is a pet phrase of the educator of today. But then why have schools at all, as in principle that is going back to before the cave man?—Even he learned something from his own father.

"The fear of the educator that the child might have to use his brain naturally gives the child the feeling, and rightly so,

Club Affairs Fill Calendar For The Week

Few Purely Social Events Are Forecast; Collegians Are To Revive Festivities In Spring Term

ALTHOUGH few social events have been announced for the week that begins today, there probably will be several to follow in the wake of the recent series of large parties.

The period of Lent has not occasioned any appreciable decline in the number of parties here, although the conclusion of a term at Texas Technological college has virtually put an end to socialities there for the present. Collegian affairs are due for a revival with the opening of the spring term on March 23.

Regular meetings of social and other organizations are planned for this week as follows:

MONDAY

The First Christian General Aid society is to meet at the church at 3 o'clock. An Easter pageant will be a feature of the program.

Members of Circle 5 of the First Methodist Mary Helm auxiliary are to be hostesses to other members of the organization with a luncheon at 12:30 o'clock at the church.

Mrs. T. W. Keys is leader of the mission lesson which will be studied by members of the W. M. S. of the Asbury Methodist church in a meeting at 3 o'clock at the church.

The Readers Digest club will meet at 12 o'clock for a luncheon at the Hilton hotel.

Members of the First Methodist W. M. S. are to meet in circles as follows: Circle 1 with Mrs. J. C. Reynolds, 1802 Avenue O; Circle 2 with Mrs. Maggie Hussey, 2023 15th street; Circle 3 will visit; Circle 4 with Mrs. W. W. Royalty, 1819 19th street; Circle 5 with Mrs. O. B. Walden, 1601 19th street; Circle 6 will visit; Circle 7 with Mrs. O. R. Copeland, 1610 Avenue K; Circle 9 with Mrs. J. F. Hawthorne, 2113 14th street; Circle 10 with Mrs. J. B. Anthony, 2116 7th street.

A missionary program which is to be given at a meeting of the First Baptist W. M. S. will be in charge of members of Circle 8. The program will be at the church, beginning at 3 o'clock.

The First Presbyterian Women's auxiliary is to meet at the church at 3 o'clock for a Bible lesson which will be taught by Mrs. C. J. Wagner.

Women in the Church of the Nazarene are to meet at the church at 2:30 o'clock for mission study on Japan.

St. Paul's Episcopal auxiliary is to meet with Mrs. Ralph Sherman, 2413 22nd street, at 3 o'clock.

Members of the American Legion auxiliary are to attend a bridge party at the Legion home, 910 Texas avenue, with Mesdames E. J. Parsons, Homer Pharr, N. L. Peters, and W. M. Peticolas, jr., as hostesses.

TUESDAY

Mrs. P. W. Cawthon, is entertaining a small bridge club at the home of Mrs. E. B. Adcock, 2601 19th street, at 3 o'clock.

Members of the Tuesday Bridge club are to meet with Mrs. J. T. Hutchinson, 1517 Broadway at 3 o'clock.

The New Era Study club will meet with Mrs. Charles Whitacre, 2016 10th street, at 3 o'clock.

Annual Anniversary Observance Of Camp Fire To Start This Evening With Sermon; Council Fire To Close Week

Today marks the beginning of a birthday celebration to which Camp Fire girls have been looking for several weeks.

This evening approximately seventy-five girls in the city and their guardians are to attend a service at the First Christian church. At that time, Rev. Walter P. Jennings, pastor of the host congregation, is to preach. The girls will be in service uniform and will sit in a body.

Next Friday is to close the annual observance and at that time there will be a Council Fire and International Revue in the banquet room at the Hilton hotel with girls from all groups in the city participating.

In conjunction with this week's observance, Camp Fire girls have arranged a display for the week-end in the window at the Minter-Gamel store. All hand work that the girls have done in meeting the requirements for honors in birthday projects is included in this display, with foreign articles that typify the international theme of the occasion.

Camp Fire girls throughout the world are joining in the observance this week since this is the anniversary of the founding of the organization.

Two Series Of Affairs Given During The Last Few Days In City Among Week-End Parties

Mesdames W. O. Stevens, R. Q. Pierce, A. B. Conley, W. F. Schenck And Miss Delia Wilkinson Entertain With Series; Mmes. Kleinschmidt, Renner Hostesses

HARBINGER of spring was the series of parties which has been given in Lubbock during the past few days. Floral decorations of jonquils, blue bonnets, peach blossoms, violets and snapdragons have promised the coming of warmer days. The Irish motif of St. Patrick's Day has been used in appointments on several occasions.

The culmination of a series of parties given Thursday, Friday and Saturday afternoons was the bridge party given yesterday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Stevens, 1406 Avenue O, with five women entertaining. They were Mesdames Stevens, R. Q. Pierce, W. F. Schenck, A. B. Conley and Miss Delia Wilkinson, who were hostesses for each of the three events.

Jonquils and smilax were arranged in baskets throughout the entertaining suite for the three days. On Thursday at one o'clock the hostesses gave a lovely luncheon and forty guests were in attendance.

St. Patrick Motif

A St. Patrick theme was used in table appointments and repeated in decorations on Friday afternoon when games of forty-two and bridge were played.

Eleven tables were in progression and at the close of the afternoon the hostesses served a salad course.

Twelve out-of-town women were present for the Saturday party when eleven tables were placed for bridge.

They were Mrs. J. D. Hughes, of Quanah, Mrs. J. M. Pratt, of Austin, and Mesdames J. B. Slaughter, Jay Slaughter, C. D. Morrell, John Herd, O. D. Cardwell, J. N. Power, O. L. Weakley, Walter Roy, C. D. Williams and W. O. Stevens, jr., all of Post.

Entertain Twice

Mesdames F. A. Kleinschmidt and K. M. Renner were joint hostesses at ten tables of bridge on Friday afternoon and the same number of guests played bridge Saturday afternoon. Both affairs were in the Kleinschmidt home at 2118 15th street.

On the first afternoon Mrs. H. F. Godeke made high score in games of bridge and high cut was made by Mrs. L. S. Mast.

When the refreshment course was served tall green tapers were placed on the tables and a color motif of green and white was used. Baskets of flowers were placed in the entertaining room.

Mrs. Kleinschmidt gave the first of a series of teas in her home last Sunday afternoon. Twenty people were invited in for an informal hour and a brief skit was presented under the direction of Miss D'Laurel Beville.

Mrs. Howell Hostess

Fruit blossoms, snapdragons, violets and bluebonnets were used as decorations at a forty-two party given by Mrs. R. L. Howell 1616 Main street, Saturday afternoon in her home. Six tables were in progress.

At the close of the afternoon Mrs. H. W. Moore sang a group of Irish songs, accompanied at the piano by Miss Louise Jennings.

The guest list included Mesdames E. L. Pitts, J. N. Nislar, Frank Maddox, L. C. Ellis, J. O. Jones, J. F. Abel, J. F. Gregory, Carroll Thompson, T. W. Waddill, W. R. Blake, Joe Coursey, G. P. Kuykendall, J. D. Hassell, jr., Russell Jones, L. S. Mast, J. F. Tom, Olen Stewart, J. A. Raley, jr., Jewel Davis, D. N. Leaverton, W. T. Milam, W. G. Murray, H. W. Moore, Ralph Bedford, J. O. Ballinger, Enoch Dawson, R. A. Mills, D. W. Robertson and Miss Louise Jennings.

Mrs. Howell was assisted in serving by her daughter, Catherine, and Bess Hodges.

Mrs. Charles Read was a gracious hostess with a small luncheon in the home of Mrs. E. B. Adcock, 2601 19th street, Friday at 12 o'clock. Members of a club which meets monthly were guests for the occasion.

Mesdames Furr And Sidney Oglesbee Entertain Friday

Mesdames Roy Furr and Sidney Oglesbee were joint hostesses with a party for members of the Lucky 13 club and their husbands Friday evening in the home of the former at 2412 20th street.

Following a series of forty-two games, the hostesses served a light refreshment plate.

Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Wade Biggers, Mr. and Mrs. V. H. Lindsey and Miss Mable Ruth Duke.

Members and their husbands who were present were Messrs. and Mesdames A. K. O'Kelley, O. W. Ribble, Albert Fryar, Burton S. Burks, E. F. Alford, L. L. Kelso, Allan Hill, S. M. Reed, Messrs. Oglesbee and Furr.

Camp Fire Girls Meet For Work On Projects Saturday

Nowatompatimmin Camp Fire girls met Saturday afternoon in the Camp Fire headquarters to finish birthday projects for honors that will be awarded next Friday evening at a Council Fire. The guardian, Mrs. R. T. Campbell, met with the group. Flags of Great Britain and Bulgaria, which will be used in a program Friday evening, were made by the girls.

Blossoms Are Used In Gala Parties Here

Fellowship Club Affair Is Given At Adcocks; Mrs. E. McKinney Is Hostess To Kil Kare Society

Spring blossoms brought an atmosphere of color and freshness to two parties that were given for clubs here on Friday afternoon. These were affairs for the Fellowship and Kil Kare societies.

Baskets of blue bonnets, snapdragons, violets and peach blossoms lent an atmosphere of spring to the party given by Mesdames R. M. Chitwood and R. L. Howell Friday afternoon for members of the Fellowship club. The party was in the home of Mrs. E. B. Adcock, 2601 19th street.

At the close of the afternoon the hostesses served a salad course, assisted by Misses Pauline Jones and Catherine Howell.

These Are Guests

Guests were Mesdames W. G. Rylander, A. B. Davis, T. R. Prideaux, J. J. Richards, W. L. Baugh, C. E. Maedgen, Paul Jones, J. C. Hardgrave, Cecil Horne, W. R. Blake, H. W. Stanton, J. F. Hankins, J. B. Maxey, L. E. Grimes, G. P. Kuykendall, O. B. Trinkle, W. H. Douthit, Walter P. Jennings, J. H. Hankins, W. W. Royalty, J. E. Garrison and Norton Baker.

Games of forty-two were the diversion for the afternoon.

Bridge Club Meets

Colors of pink and green were used in decorations and later in the refreshment course at a party given by Mrs. Earl McKinney, 1304 Avenue Q, Friday afternoon for members of the Kil Kare Bridge club.

Mrs. Dalton Weaver made high score for club members, and Mrs. A. D. Brown made high score among guests. High cut was made by Mrs. Gettys Tucker.

Guests were Mesdames A. D. Brown, D. Z. Dobyns, Harry Roberts, W. R. O'Brien and Dewey McClellan.

Club members in attendance were Mesdames Vernon Bradley, Dewey Campbell, W. H. Carpenter, R. C. Harvey, William Levine, Clarence Martin, Altus Sansom, Gettys Tucker, Henry Frnka and Dalton Weaver.

Quanah People Are Guests Of Mr. And Mrs. Simmons

Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Simmons, of 2124 Broadway, have as their guests during the week-end Dr. and Mrs. R. R. McDaniel, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Hughes, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Cope, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Willingham and Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Sommer, all of Quanah.

Mr. and Mrs. Simmons are former residents of Quanah.

Tentative Program For High School Girls Rally Being Made

The Woman's Angle

BY BLANCHE E. BEAN
Avalanche Woman's Editor

VIRTUALLY every week of the year has some particular significance and this is Camp Fire Birthday week, so that the seventy-five girls in Lubbock will have a number of extra activities during the time.

Contemplating the year in a bird's eye view fashion, it appears that we do little except celebrate one anniversary or another and that there is never time to settle down to the serious business of living. However, these occasions serve a purpose. The general public is so involved in this serious business of living that few know much about what the rest of the world is doing.

There is considerable ballyhood about most of these weeks, to be sure, but a certain amount of education is included and in the end we usually learn a little about the aims and accomplishments of the various organizations or grooups that are celebrating.

OUR OPPORTUNITY

WHICH serves as a reminder that Lubbock merchants are going to offer people of the South Plains an opportunity to learn of spring fashions tomorrow night in a unique way. And, because the average woman never ceases to have an interest in what the season will bring forth in fashions and fads, the newest in spring wear will be on display at that time.

We don't like the word "education" in connection with a show such as this promises to be, but that term is applicable. This display will tell the people of Lubbock and of the South Plains what is "good" for spring and what will be worn during the next few months. And people from the surrounding territory, as well as the city, will find this an occasion to study the innovations that spring has evolved for the well-dressed person.

THESE FLOWERY NAMES

AFTER considerable research, a Berlin physician has discovered that fancy first names lead all the rest in lists of children with defective health. This man's duties involve the examination of thousands of children with impaired health and curiosity led him into this investigation after he had noted a peculiar lack of common names among his patients.

He is seeking an explanation of this, other than the theory that these flowery epithets have had some sort of ill effect psychologically, and therefore physically.

The actual explanation probably will come from the fact that these children have foreign-born parents or from some such logical source, but I'd like to believe that the names had something to do with it all. As one whose work is with these nomenclatures, I could wish for the return of those stern and rock-bound days when parents held such prosaic cognomens as John and Mary and Gertrude in favor.

I'm very well aware that it is none of my business what people decided to hang on their children for names and if they prefer a few high-sounding syllables to a real title that is an affair for the parents and children to worry about. But you should try spelling them for a week!

The pronunciation has nothing to do with the actual letters that may be involved and any number of ways may be discovered for spelling the simplest names. Y's and E's have become the fad of the times and some have several of them added.

Here's something else, too. Most children now have double names. If you don't believe it, watch lists for children's parties. The single title is an exception.

And, while I'm on the subject, we might just as well exhaust it. Names go in cycles. There are the days of the Evelyns, the Julias, Ethels, depending upon the novel heroine of stage star of the times. I can imagine few things more flattering than having all the girl babies bear my name because of some fame that I might happen to attain. This is a poignant sort of feeling with me since all of my young life was blighted by a poem in our third grade Language which had one stanza about "Blanche is such an old-fashioned name."

AGE IS RELATIVE

THE city of Carthage, Ill., claims one of the first women's clubs of the country. It was originally called the Carthage Female Benevolent society and was organized in 1833.

That makes our pioneer clubs seem somewhat young. Who was it that I heard expounding about the significance of time, comparing age in the various sections of the world. Our ancient cities of the sixteenth century with Asia's venerable cities of the times before Christ.

ADHESIVE TAPE

You will find the following idea very helpful when in a hurry to use adhesive plaster: After cutting off the desired length of tape, place a small piece of cloth under the end of the tape still on the roll. The next time you are in a hurry to [illegible] some adhesive tape off, you will not have to pull to loosen it from the roll.

Lubbock Is To Provide For Entertainment When Annual High School Rally Is Held

Five Hundred Girls Expected To Attend States Meeting Here April 30 To May 2; Is Annual Occasion

TENTATIVE plans for the entertainment of several hundred high school girls in Lubbock the first of May are being made by a committee composed of representatives from the High school, Texas Technological college and the town.

This group of girls will come to Lubbock for the Homemaking Education Rally of Texas High Schools on April 30 to May 2. Approximately 500 are expected, judging the attendance by the number who have attended the last few annual meetings.

The Homemaking Education Rally is an outgrowth of the Girls' Clothing Contest which has been an annual feature in high schools of the state for the last ten years. The change in name was made this year as the program is planned to combine additional homemaking features that are included in home economics instruction in the high schools.

Superintendent Is Sponsor

The rally is conducted under the supervision of S. M. N. Marrs, state superintendent of public instruction; Miss Lillian Peek, state supervisor of home economics education; Miss Bernice Mallory, assistant state supervisor of home economics education, and Mrs. W. A. Craddock, secretary. Home economics departments of Texas Technological college and the Lubbock High school are lending their assistance in the local entertainment for this year.

Although it will not be known for some time how many will attend this meeting, plans are being made now to care for 500 girls. During the last seven years the attendance has not fallen below that number and in 1928-29 the attendance was 850. One year there was an attendance of 800 at the meeting and some high school girls may attend the meeting here who will not serve as official delegates, according to announcements that have been made.

Subordinate Contests

During the history of this high school feature, the educational projects have superceded the contests, according to Miss Peek and others in charge. Stated aims of the meeting for this year are to continue the best features of the Girls' Clothing contest; to emphasize other phases of the homemaking education program by giving them a place in the State meet; to make the State meeting of home economics clubs an integral part of the Homemaking Education Rally; to continue to place the emphasis, as far as possible, on the educational influences of the State meet rather than the contest element.

Lubbock people are going to be responsible, principally, for the entertainment features of the meeting. A trip to Carlsbad Cavern is being discussed as a possibility for the meeting and plans for this trek have been submitted to the state leaders.

Other Entertainment

A banquet, breakfast, tea, drive, programs and other items are on the tentative entertainment list and definite announcements concerning them will be made later in the month. Mrs. Walter P. Jennings is general chairman of the committee in charge of these arrangements.

The Hilton and Lubbock hotels will be used for this meeting and most of the convention program will take place at one of the hostelries, although a few meetings will be at the college or high school.

This rally is to be divided into three parts: State club meeting; individual entries, including child care and guidance, clothing and posture, foods and hospitality, household decoration and furnishing; group entries that include exhibit of play suits, layette and publicity portfolio.

Each school may have four pupils participating in the rally and one of this group is to serve as delegate to the state club meeting, and each school is expected to participate in each of the three divisions of the contest.

Special rates are being offered for this convention and schools are divided into four classes, according to enrollment, for entrance in the contests. Girls who attend will be chaperoned by teachers or other adults and a feature of their preliminary training will be education in hotel etiquette.

Girl Scouts Plan Hike For Saturday At Regular Meet

Plans for a hike for next Saturday were made by members of the Bluebonnet Troop 2 of the local Girl Scouts in a meeting Friday night at the First Christian church.

Mrs. C. C. Mansell and Mrs. H. L. Cain directed the meeting, and games were in charge of girls from the Meadow Lark patrol.

EASY SPRINKLER

You can get a contrivance to fit over any bottle to make a patent sprinkler for laundered clothes for as low as 10 cents. It is a mistake not to have all the equipment you need for such regular tasks as laundering.

Piano Recital Is Given Last Night

Pupils of Mrs. Gordon M. Fleniken were presented in piano recital Saturday evening at 8 o'clock in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Cudd, 2501 22nd street.

Those playing were Mary Coffman, Sarah Spenzer, Marvin Stiles, Elizabeth Knight, Lucille Cudd and Mrs. O. L. Hughes.

Additional numbers were given by Miss Jimmie Hamilton who played a violin solo and by Lorane Morris, who gave two readings.

Ruth Holland gave a musical reading. She is a pupil of Miss Lulu Mae Cravens.

Following the program an informal social hour was spent and punch was served.

School Group Election For Year Is Held

Shallowater Parent-Teacher Association Is To Have Benefit Party On Next Saturday Evening

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

SHALLOWATER, March 14.—The Parent-Teacher Association met in regular session Friday afternoon at four o'clock in the study hall of the high school unit. The entire hour was devoted to business at which time officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: Mrs. Lang Anderson, president; Mrs. O. L. Molone, vice-president; Mrs. J. E. Dry, secretary-treasurer; Miss Lena Maserang, reporter. At the next meeting, which will be the last meeting of the year, to be held April 17, the new officers will be installed, and Mrs. Lang Anderson, delegate to the district meeting of the Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teacher Association that will be held at Lamesa, April 8, 9, 10, will give a report of the convention.

Superintendent Talks

After Supt. R. L. Hooten made a talk on the need of beautifying the school ground, it was decided to designate Monday, March 16, as tree planting day. A committee to get trees composed of Messrs. Walter Copeland, S. W. Vaught, and A. C. Wright, was appointed by Mrs. Jess Hardy, president. Several of the ladies volunteered to bring rose cuttings and shrubs, which will be set out Monday afternoon.

Next Saturday night a benefit forty-two party will be held in the school building. Admission will be twenty-five cents per couple, and refreshments will be served.

Attendance award went to the high school department.

Total Of 4,100 Head Sold In Midland Area, Recently

MIDLAND, March 14.—Four cattle sales, involving more than 4,000 coming yearling steers, are reported here. Delivery is to be made the early part of May. No prices were announced.

S. R. Preston, who has a ranch south of town, made the largest sale of the four, disposing of 1,700 to Bob Sowder, of Carrisozo, N. M.

Johnson brothers, operating a large ranch south of Borger, in Hutchinson and Carson counties, bought 1,000 steers from the Clabber Hill ranch northwest of Midland from Ellwood and Arnett of Lubbock.

Ceese and Kincaid, Kansas Cattle buyers, bought 1,000 head from Foy Proctor and 400 head from Roy Parks.

Lea County Gets Good State Highway Work During 1930

LOVINGTON, N. M., March 14.—(Special)—The state of New Mexico spent a total of $93,247 on nine state road projects in Lea county during 1930, a report of the state engineer shows. Mileage included 72 miles of regrading; 21 miles of new road; 22 miles of grading and surfacing; 12 miles of grading, six miles of plating and three of surfacing.

Ten miles of caliche surfacing on No. 10, Hobbs to the Carlsbad Cavern highway, will be built. Maintenance includes 22 miles of state system of gravel surfaced roads and 52 miles of graded earth roads, a total of 74 miles.

Study Is To Be Concluded Monday At Methodist Meet

The final chapters in a study course, "The Turn Toward Peace" will be studied following a luncheon to be attended by members of the Mary Helm auxiliary Monday at 12:30 o'clock at the First Methodist church.

Circle 5 will be hostess on the occasion.

LAUNDERING BLOUSES

If you roll any washed blouse up in a Turkish towel and iron just before it dries, it has a fresh look that is hard to get if you let it dry entirely and then sprinkle.

People Read More During Depression

By HELEN WELSHIMER
NEA Service Writer

CLEVELAND, March 14.—Miss Linda Anne Eastman has charge of more books than any other woman in the world.

For she has the special distinction, as executive head of Cleveland Public Library, of heading a larger system than has been entrusted to a woman in any other place.

It all began, a long time ago, with a class room library which a slim, blue-eyed teacher started, just because she liked books and wanted her boys and girls to like them, too.

"I always liked to read," Miss Eastman explained. "Even when I was teaching I couldn't resist the lure of libraries. I spent every Saturday in them and somehow I knew that library work was the field in which I belonged."

Educated in Home City

Miss Eastman started the second class room library in Cleveland. She sensed that the boys and girls were learning more from the books than from their other instruction. That decided her. She stopped teaching and became a librarian.

Today she is the head of a library which is the third largest in the United States in circulation. In 1930 the per capita of the circulation was 10.55 hundreds . . . an average of ten and one-half books for everybody in town! And there were 10,000,000 books in circulation.

Miss Eastman received her education in the grammar and high schools of Cleveland and under private tutors. She received an honorary Master's degree from Oberlin college. For seven years she taught. Then she held various library positions, becoming librarian of the Cleveland Library in 1918.

In 1928-1929 she served as president of the American Library Association. When members of the International Library Association met in Glasgow, Scotland, in 1927, she addressed them.

But the most interesting thing that she has done is to tie up the libraries of the United States with the movies!

How Link Is Formed

People were flocking to the cinema. They were coming away, enthused by the stories that they had seen portrayed. Many of them were historical. People were wondering about them.

But they didn't seem to realise that over in the public library, shelf after shelf of green and red volumes stood quietly and orderly, just waiting to tell them more about the people and places that had interested them.

Miss Eastman got busy. She had posters prepared which listed books suggested by coming photoplays. She made lists of such books and put them into circulation. The demand for them grew by leaps and bounds.

After a while the American Library Association heard about it, was enchanted with the idea, and organized a follow-up of the movies. A representative is now sent to Hollywood to see the pre-views. Those pictures which meet the high requirements of the association are selected, and suggested reading lists prepared.

"People are reading more than they used to," Miss Lindman says. "Always in a period of business depression we find that this is true. Many people read because it provides a free form of entertainment, and commercial amusements are expensive. Others use the period of unemployment, or partial employment, to improve themselves so they will be prepared for bigger opportunities."

Aid Foreign Readers

Another service which Miss Eastman has rendered her community is the placing of books which deal with American themes, but are written in foreign languages, on the shelves.

"People who cannot speak English are able to familarize themselves with our history and ideals at the very beginning of their American careers," she stated. "They can take these books, also, and compare them with the English versions, receiving help in their translation which makes it easier for them to learn the English language."

There are 1300 names on the pay roll of the library which Miss Eastman directs.

And the woman who guides them has a low, soft voice, silvery hair, and gentle smile. She is the type whom the authors she loves would place back of a tea-table in the candle-lighted gloaming.

But she's the biggest woman executive in her field!

Husbands Of Club Women At Party

Husbands of members in the Thursday Bridge club were special guests Friday evening when Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Clement entertained in their home at 2505 23rd street.

Green and white were carried through the appointment scheme and refreshments with roses and salmon colored sweetpeas as the flowers. Mrs. A. S. Meinecke and L. C. Hewitt scored high in bridge games.

Friendship Club Party For Friday Given At McCauleys

The rural home of Mrs. J. B. McCauley was the scene of a party Friday afternoon for members of the 1930 Friendship society. Mrs. McCauley was joined in entertaining by Mrs. W. D. Benson.

Forty-two was played by those who attended: Mesdames T. V. McKinney, C. E. Love, Joe Hess, C. M. Mitchell, Erie Thompson, A. O. Odom, A. H. Crawford, M. A. Welch, Pebble Talley, E. B. Harris, Carroll Thompson and Miss Ruth Jones.

Annual Affair Is Given Here

Mr. And Mrs. R. W. Matthews Entertain Teachers With St. Patrick's Party On Friday Evening

An annual party for teachers in the Lubbock High school was given Friday evening by Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Matthews in their home 2109 18th street.

Mr. Matthews is principal of the school. During the last three years he and Mrs. Matthews have entertained the high school teachers, with their wives and husbands, in their home at some holiday season.

Friday evening's party was a St. Patrick affair. Irish games were played and prizes were typical of the occasion. Refreshments were in the same motif and Mrs. Matthews was assisted in serving by Misses Velma Anderson and Lyra Armeling.

About fifty were in attendance.

PATENT FASTENING

If you have a wrap-around skirt that falls open when you sit down, attach a piece of narrow elastic from the underflap to the side seam. It gives enough to allow freedom but holds the skirt shut.

In Fashion Show

Mrs. William Bayard Hawthorne, jr., is one of New York's Junior league members who is serving as a mannikin at fashion shows arranged to aid drouth sufferers. The model fees of these society mannikins go to the Red Cross. This costume is by Jay-Thorpe.

Capital Chat

BY HARRELL E. LEE
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, March 14 (AP)—It appears that a bill to abolish social fraternities at the University of Texas will not be introduced in the legislature this session.

Sen. V. E. Tomason of Nacogdoches was the author of such a bill two years ago. The 45-day period for introducing bills in the Senate has passed and the bill was not offered. However, it still could be introduced with the consent of four-fifths of the Senate.

Senator Thomason said he believed he could get the constent of four-fifths of his colleagues to introduce the bill. However, he is not at all certain that he wants to do it.

"This is a question that should be handled by the University," he said. "The legislature should take a hand in it only as a matter of last resort." Senator Thomason stated further that he had not had opportunity to complete certain surveys concerning fraternities and sororities which he had planned to make before determining his course of action.

PEN LEFT ALONE

The 45-day period also ended without a bill being offered to move the penitentiary to near Austin. Former Governor Moody wrestled with the two previous legislatures for several sessions over this problem, but the lawmakers would never agree with him that a central industrial plant ought to be established near the capital.

CONGRESSMEN INTERESTED

Probably no one should be interested in the Congressional redistricting bills now pending in the legislature than the 18 Texans who are in the national House of Representatives. It is their districts room for the three new Congresswhich will be rearranged to make men to which the state is entitled.

So far, however, few of the Congressmen have written to the legislators concerning the matter. Probably they have been waiting until the proposals take more definite shape or until they return from Washington. They all should be back in Texas a few days and then likely will advise with the state lawmakers.

The opinion seems to be nearly unanimous in the Democratic Legislature that no plan should be adopted which would endanger the continued tenure of John N. Garner of Uvalde. The legislator realize that Texas has in Garner a man who probably will become speaker of the House if and when the Democrats gain control of Congress.

THOMASON DOESN'T CARE

One of Texas' new Congressmen, Ewing Thomason of El Paso, does not care from a purely personal standpoint how much of his present vast district is lopped off.

In past campaigns the former mayor of El Paso and former speaker of the state house of representatives had proved himself stronger politically, the closer he comes to El Paso. Any counties taken away from his district would be removed from the eastern part. So he should worry.

TO PROMOTE YOUNG

A state organization has been formed to promote the candidacy of Owen D. Young of New York for the Democratic nomination for the presidency.

R. F. Howard, secretary of the "Young-for-President" club, spoke of the assistance Young gave to the former service by urging on increase in the loan value of the veterans' compensation certificates.

Ernest Cix, national committeeman of the American Legion, and Hal Brennan, state Legion commander, are directors of the state organization as are Gen. Jacob F. Wolters of Houston, Representative Weinert of Seguin, V. Earl Earp of Sweetwater, and Senators Pink L. Parrish of Lubbock and J. W. Stevenson of Victoria.

STUDY CHID WELFARE

Four of the five women members of the 42nd legislature have announced their support of the child welfare program sponsored by William H. Strauss, wealthy Houston insurance man. The fifth said she had not yet had time to study all of the five bills which had been introduced.

Mrs. Lee J. Rountree, representatve from Bryan, made this declaration: "Our children have already been neglected too long while we thought about the welfare of our cattle, sheep or other animals. Everything else should be shoved into the background where the care of our unfortunate children is concerned. Illegitimate, dependent, orphaned and other unfortunate children must have better protection. Adoptions should be closely supervised as provided in this program."

Child welfare is a hobby with Strauss, who managed Governor Sterling's campaign last summer. He gets as much pleasure out of it as another man would out of golf or riding. He divides his spare time between child welfare work and fishing and hunting.

IT'S TRUE

A few interesting facts about members of the legislature:

Representative Hardy of Breckenridge, charman of the oil, gas and mining committee, wears spats.

Representative Parmer of Fort Worth invariably has an apple core and a bottle of cough medicine on his desk.

Whenever prohibition or any law affecting prohibition enforcement in mentioned, the dry cause has a ready champion in the person of Representative Forbes if Weatherford.

One of the house's women members, Mrs. Sarah T. Hughes of Dallas, is against loosening the provisions of the divorce law and voted against a bill to include insanity in the number of grounds for divorce.

Penrose Metcalfe, author of the congressional and legislative redistricting bills, occupies the same seat in the house as did his father when the elder Metcalfe was in the house.

Mrs. Lee Roundtree of Bryan, who succeeded to her husband's place in the house, is a lover of nature, especially flowers. She keeps a fresh vase of flowers on her desk.

Representative Veatch of Joshua, member of the economy block, voted against the amendment which increased the pay of the legislators from $5 to $10 per day. Veatch, who has difficulty in hearing, has an amplifier hooker up to his desk.

Planes Will Visit Midland

Large Number Of Army Ships Expected To Land In May At Texas Port In Nation Wide Maneuvers

(Special to The Avalanche-Journal)

MIDLAND, March 14—Midland is one of a score or two of widely separated cities that will be visited by army air corps units in the annual series of mimic battles to be staged on the Atlantic seaboard between May 20 and May 30. The war department has advised the chamber of commerce that this city will be one of the towns to be visited by by army planes in the course of the air maneuvers.

Just how many planes will come here and when, is not known. At least 670 machines of all types are to be involved in the nation wide plans. These will include 335 observation planes; 205 pursuit planes; 51 attack planes; 36 bombardment planes; 45 heavy duty planes.

Personnel numbering 740 officers and 631 enlisted men will be used in the maneuvers. The machines and men from northern, southern, eastern and western army fields will concentrate at Dayton, Ohio. National guard as well as regular army units are to be employed.

Brigadier General Benjamin D. Foulois, with a staff of 30 officers, will command the planes. He will need for his staff one pursuit and 21 two-seater observation planes.

Texas will send pursuit and attack units as well as observation units. Other states will supply units.

South Plains Will Plant Much Certified Cotton Seed

Lamb County Puts Up Plan For Financing

Blocks Of Certified Seed To Be Planted: Bankers Will Support Movement; County To Take 2 Or 3 Car Loads

By Staff Correspondent

AMHERST, March 14—Lamb county bankers and farmers are working on a plan of financing whereby farmers of the county who will put out a small block of certified cotton seed, of not to exceed 12 to 15 acres, will be able to secure their seed under a bank financing plan.

In the event the plan is worked out, between 400 and 500 or more blocks of cotton will be planted in an effort to secure pure seed for the 1932 crop. Several meetings have been held at which men who wanted seed indicated the probable amount they desired and so far the men have passed the tests that the bankers have given them.

Working on Plan

"We are working on the plan with the Texas Certified Cotton Breeders association and the five bankers of the county," D. A. Adam, county agent, explained. "Bankers have agreed to finance farmers for from three to twelve or fifteen bushels of certified seed, depending upon the ability of the farmer to get the finances from his bank.

"We are concentrating on two varieties for the seed blocks. Of course a man may select his own variety but the breeders prefer two varieties that they consider best for this Plains country.

"At one meeting there were 22 out of 26 farmers who indicated the amount of seed they desired. All of these were given an 'O. K.' by their banker."

The breeders have agreed to have a man in the county during the summer who will rogue the cotton and instruct farmers who have blocks on how to rogue their crops. Gins have agreed to store the certified seed after the cotton is ginned, separating it from other seed.

Mr. Adam is of the opinion that between 2,000 and 3,000 pounds of certified seed, or two to three car loads, will be bought of the breeders. The gins may be able to sell as many more.

Sudan, advance indications are, will take a car load through the proposed plan. At Amherst another car will be sold, while Littlefield will in all probability handle another car.

Olton does not have as much cotton acreage as other parts of the county. For this reason it is not thought that the county seat will take a full car load. Also it is off a railroad line.

Clyde Barron, cashier of the bank at Sudan; C. A. Duffy, cashier of the Amherst bank; L. E. Silcott of the Olton bank and Cashier Sullivan of the Littlefield State bank and J. C. Hilburn of the First National bank, have been giving considerable study to the plan.

R. E. Overstreet, Lubbock, representing the breeders, has been holding meetings with farmers and reports much encouragement from farmers.

Lamb Feeders To Sell Soon

Movement Of Livestock To The Markets Expected To Begin About April 1; 4,500 Head Fed During Winter

By Staff Correspondent

AMHERST, March 14. — Movement of the 4,000 or so head of cattle that have been in the feed lots of Lamb county, to the markets, is expected to start about the first of April according to reports here.

From time to time farmers have sold off their animals for one reason or another, mostly a car load at a time. Several farmers were able sell. Sevreal farmers were able to to make pretty well above what they had expected the market to bring at the time they sold.

Twenty eight or thirty farmers fed out about 4,500 head of cattle. They used home grown feed. The five banks of the county sponsored the feeder-breeder plan and it so far has been very successful.

Crop Financing Set-Up Made In Plainview; Offers Loans

PLAINVIEW, March 14—(Staff Special)—Formation of the Plainview Securities corporation, a $50,000 subsidiary of the Plainview National bank here, will aid in the financing of the crop in Hale county says J. D. Steakley, active vice-president of the bank.

"Farmers can obtain all needed credit for the feeding, breeding and raising of livestock and in the production of all crops," Mr. Steakley explained. "Where the farmer has collateral, ample credit awaits him, both locally and through this agency."

The corporation is being financed through loans from the federal intermediate credit bank at Houston.

Growing Of Certified Grain Sorghum Seed On South Plains Is Expected To Interest Farmers; Step Is Supported

Thirty farmers and seed growers in the South Plains will be growing certified grain sorghums within a year, in the opinion of H. J. Bower, head of the agronomy work at Texas Technological college and one of the best posted men on grain sorghums in the state.

"Of these 30 men, only one man, W. H. Cunningham, of Rochester, in Haskell county, is located off the cap rock, Mr. Bower declared. "There is more demand for pure seed and we will have at least 30 growers of certified sorghums."

Sponsored By Association

The movement is being sponsored by the South Plains Pure Seed Growers association. This organization has been functioning several years and has largely been instrumental in the introduction of certified seed acclimated to the plains country.

James Burroughs of Lubbock is president; W. A. Goeth, Abernathy, vice president and W. H. Cunningham, Rochester, secretary.

The chief types of seed grown by members of the association are: red top cane, milo maize, kafir and hegira.

Past Crops Sold

Most of the dealers have sold their 1930 crops by this time. Only a few have not disposed of their crop.

When R. V. Miller of Austin, secretary of the state plant and seed board, comes to Canyon April 2 and 3, he probably will visit in Lubbock and will meet with the sorghum growers at that time, Mr. Bower says.

Plainview Seed Men To Stock Only High Class Seeds

PLAINVIEW, March 14. (Special)—Plainview seed men, following a conference with R. B. Davis, county agent and Grady Shipp, secretary of the chamber of commerce, have agreed to stock up only with high class seeds this year.

The move is being made in an effort to increase the quality of seeds used in Hale county. Grain men meeting with the officials included: Harvest Queen Mills, Noble Grain company; C. E. White, Jeffus and De Loach, E. H. Bawdin and L. J. Halbert.

Mr. Gore has a number of hogs and dairy cattle and Mrs. Gore is well known in Brownfield for her country butter.

Dairy Maid To Be Crowned In Plains Event

Pageant Is To Feature Annual Panhandle-Plains Dairy Show At Plainview; Will Have 54 Princesses

PLAINVIEW, Mar. 14 (Staff Special)—Something new for the Texas Panhandle-South Plains dairy show, the fourth annual show scheduled for April 6 to 9, is a pageant with a dairy maid to be crowned queen of the show.

F. E. Cave, of the entertainment committee, announced the appointment of Hal C. Worth as director of the pageant and the date to be Tuesday night, April 7.

To Be Plainview Girl

The dairy maid queen and her court of honor would all be Plainview young women. Each of the 54 counties in the Texas Panhandle-Plains area will be asked to select a princess from each town. The show covers that number of counties in West Texas.

"The atmosphere of the pageant will be in keeping with the dairy maid theme," Mr. Worth stated. "Special scenery and lighting equipment will be provided for the coronation ceremonies."

Members of the committee, Fred Madison and Roy Pierce and Mr. Cave are working on details of the plan with Mr. Worth. The latter has had wide experience along pageant lines, having conducted a number for the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and the Fort Worth Fat Stock show.

WHEAT IS GROWING FAST

Crosby County Crop Said To Be Showing Much Growth

CROSBYTON, March 14 (Special)—Wheat is growing faster this year than farmers have ever known in Crosby county, old timers declare. The roots are unusually deep and strongly rooted.

Farmers are quoted as stating that most of those who planted wheat last fall will be able, to make some money if wheat does not bring over 50 cents a bushel. This belief is based on the cost of preparing the land and the price of seed.

With approximately 100,000 acres of wheat or more in Crosby county this year, farmers are expecting between 1,000,000 and 2,000,000 bushels or even more. Present condition of the ground should average well over the Texas normal production of around 15 bushels so that an average of as high as 25 bushels will be common.

The three hardest metals known are nickel, cobalt and manganese.

Ohio State university has published a book, "Education on the Air," showing the growing use of radio as an educational factor.

More Than Thirty Car Loads Will Be Sold; Better Staple And Quality Is In Prospect

Certified Breeders Distributing Stock Now; Lubbock County Expected To Take 3 Or 4 Cars This Year

BY J. SAM LEWIS
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

MORE than 30 car loads of certified cotton seed will be sold to the farmers of the South Plains during the pre-planting season, through the Texas Certified Cotton Seed Breeders association and this should be the foundation for enough seed to supply nearly all the counties on the plains with enough pure seed to plant the 1932 crop.

A price of $1.50 per bushel, in car load lots, has been made by the breeders to the people of the Plains country for seed. This is about a dollar per bushel below the regular price and is made purely on the basis of present economic conditions.

Secured Federal Loan

Dealers, there are 21 firms in the state of Texas who belong to the state breeders group and who are classified as "ceritified" breeders, have been able to secure a federal loan of half million dollars to finance the sale this year. The loan was secured on the basis of $1.23 a bushel.

Five hundred car loads of pure seed, each with a minimum of 1,002 bushels per car, have been placed by these breeders in the bonded warehouses of the government. These seed represent the chief varieties, such as Acala, Kasch, Lone Star, Mebane, Rowden, Russell and Wacoma.

The breeders decided to cut commissions, selling direct through the county agents and to put the seed out to farmers of the Plains country at cost. In other sections of the state the seed is bringing $2 a bushel while the nomal price [illegible] said to be $2.50.

Under an agreement with breeders, the association plans to send a man into each county that has a large amount of seed, to rogue the cotton during the summer and to instruct farmers how to rogue the work.

Garret Visits In Area

R. E. Garrett, of Dallas repre senting the breeders, has been i Lubbock for several days on the proposition. He is handling five counties Lubbock, Crosby, Dickens Terry and Hockley and anticipate selling a minimum of 12 to 14 ca loads in these counties.

Lubbock county will take at leas three or four, possibly more, ca loads, Mr. Garrett believes. Dicken county is expected to handle thre cars and Crosby county two. Advance indications are that Hockley and Terry counties will very probably average two each.

H. A. McNeill, also of Dallas representing the group, has bee working in Lamb, Hale, Floyd an Motley counties. He plans to se three or four cars in Hale and a many in Lamb county, with at leas two more each in Motley and Floyd Bailey county also is expected t buy a car load. If more is brough it is probable this will come throu Lamb county.

Others To Order

Other representatives will be i Dawson, Lynn, Gaines, Borde Garza and other counties. Dawso county is expected to order two o three car loads, possibly more, wi Lynn doing about as well. Gaine and Borden will have a car lo each, with Garza handling two o three car loads.

Farmers may order variety cotton they desire. The standa breeds all have an inch or bett staple.

Each farmer is being asked plant a block of from six to te acres of certified cotton seed th year. Normally, such a block of te acres would result in ten times th acreage being available next yea the seed producing from 10 to bushels per acre.

Staple Is Longer

Cotton breeders point to sever advantage of pure seed. First, t staple is longer, this insuring higher price for the bale, averagi $10 per bale on up; second, t seed yield is larger, 1,300 to 1,5 pounds of cotton for a 500 pou bale yielding 800 to 960 pounds seed compared to around 500 to for the short staple; third, the se if sold to farmers for planting w yield double the price that it wou bring at cotton mills.

It is conservatively estimated th the 30 to 35 car loads of certifi cotton seed sold this year will yie between 450,000 and 525,000 poun of pure seed for planting ne spring.

Many groups are endorsing t plan. The Texas Bankers associati and all of its groups are sponsori the proposal and individual banke are strongly urging their farm friends and clients to buy a sm block of seed. The County age over the state are aiding in t work of securing orders for a po

After a lengthly investigati the federal department of agriculture has placed the stamp of approval on the seed program.

In Lamb county, for examp the five bankers have agreed finance their customers up to high as a 15-bushel order of certified seed.

Other counties also report bankers are planning the same t of service, believing that a sm block of certified seed on each fa will bring larger returns to t individual farmer.

In addition to the certified s program, the Texas Cotton Cooperative association is working o plan for the sale of pure s through the pool plan.

Reports from all sections of 26 counties in district No. 2, Lubbock district, indicate about many cars of pure seed will be as there are cars of certified se

"ATTA BOY"—THE BOLIVIAN MUMMY

The unique art of reducing human figures into small mummified forms is known only to the Jivaro Indians of Ecuador.

The tiny mummy "Atta Boy," which measures only six and one-half inches in height, was brought to the United States a few years ago from its resting place in a tomb high up in the Andes. The frame of the mummy is slightly askew, but its features and limbs are almost perfectly preserved.

There is a chapter on the art of mummification in the first "Believe It or Not" book.

CHAUNCEY DEPEW

Chauncey M. Depew, (1834-1928), one of the staunchest members of the Grand Old Party that ever lived, voted for president of the United States 18 times. He attended 17 conventions which nominated presidents, (not being present at the convention of 1856, when he was but 22 years of age) and campaigned in 17 elections. His health did not permit him to participate in the election campaign for President Coolidge in 1924.

BELMONTE KILLED 2,200 BULLS IN THE RING

Juan Belmonte, most famous Spanish Matador of all time, is known throughout the Spanish world as the "Idol of Andalusia." His record of 2,200 bulls killed in the ring has never been equalled, and it has made Belmonte the richest athlete in the world.

THE INVOICE PRESENTED TO THE SWISS GOVERNMENT

An old Swiss church decided to repair its properties and employed an artist to touch up its paintings. After some differences developed between the artist and the church committee, the former appealed to the government for settlement, submitting this bizarre itemized bill. Its diminutive size (less than an inch square) was an added unique feature.

For Better Plains Cotton

ALL over the South Plains there is being waged a persistent, and we think entirely justified, campaign for better cotton seed. County agents, farmers who have seen fit to study the question, bankers and business men interested in a better cotton have joined hands in the effort to make the rank and file of planters conscious of the fact that better cotton is raised from better seed, which in turn nets the planter a better price for his raw product.

Improving cotton, agricultural specialists tell us, is as simple, yet as important, as improving livestock or poultry. Better cotton can be bred, just as better horses, mules, cows and dogs can be bred and it is from the breeding standpoint that supporters of better cotton are waging their campaign.

The Drouth Relief committee of Lynn county, for instance, insists that certified cotton seed be purchased with money loaned farmers for advance crops in that county.

Many bankers are insisting that advance crop money loaned to cotton farmers be spent on certified cotton seed—and if it is not loans are taboo. All sort of pressure is being applied to make the planter see the light and help himself, as well as everyone else concerned.

Seed certified by the Texas Certified Cotton Breeders association is being distributed in this section and many farmers, while using their own seed for the greater part of their 1931 acreage will be planting five, ten or fifteen acres in certified seed. Men close to the cotton situation feel that enough certified seed will be produced this year to furnish every farmer enough for planting his 1932 crop with the finest seed available.

There's no getting around it, cotton is the 'money crop' in the section—and likely will continue as such for a long time. If better cotton can be produced, better cotton should be produced.

The Avalanche-Journal hopes planters all over the plains will listen to those who have studied the situation—and that business men of the area will preach better cotton from better seed upon every possible occasion.

Practical Health Problems

DAILY BATH GOOD MEANS TO OBTAIN SKIN HEALTH

BY LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

THE SKIN, if it is to be beautiful, must be healthy. And in order to be healthy it must be well nourished from within and kept clean and supple by external treatments. No application to the skin is so regularly performed as the bath.

Dr. Clendening

The outer layer of the skin, the derma, is a dry layer of cells that are constantly being shed and scruffed off. They are held together in the outer layer like an elastic armor by the oil from the fat glands. There should be just enough of this oil, and neither too much or too little, if the skin is to have the delightful satiny feeling we like. A bath at proper temperature used daily is the best way of obtaining this kind of beauty.

But the skin has a peculiar relationship to all the other organs of the body. Small nerves which terminate in the skin have reflexes which control the size of the blood vessels all over the body. The bath, therefore, by influencing these nerves, affects the work of the heart, the kidneys, the liver, the stomach, and most of all, the nerves and brain.

Man has ingeniously devised many kinds of bath for himself—to benefit, protect and improve his skin, and through it the health of his whole body. There are air, sun, water, mineral, mud, mustard, salt and bran baths; and plunge, shower, sponge and vapor baths; and body, foot, sitz, face and hand baths.

The cold (65 F.) and cool (65 to 75 F.) water bath is stimulating in its effect. For its best results it should be taken immediately on arising, and should last only a few minutes.

The full warm bath (from 85 to 98 F.) and the tepid bath (under 90 F.) have soothing effects on tired nerves and overwrought brains. Therefore, theoretically at least, they remove wrinkles. They relieve weariness and the muscle ache of hard work. Therefore, the best time to take them is at the end of a hard day's labor.

QUESTIONS FROM READERS

I. C. B., California: "Does it harm hair to steam it in order to make it fluffy?"

Answer: It is not likely that there is any harm done to hair by this process. The steam should not be too hot nor the treatment carried out too often.

J. T. J., New Jersey: "Does cold cream enlarge the pores?"

Answer: Cold cream properly used does not enlarge the pores. It should be removed by washing after having been on the skin for a suitable time.

"Should an astringent lotion or cream be used before or after the cream?"

Answer: Astringent lotions or creams are better used after the cream. Astringent creams are better for oily skin. Astringents should only be left on for a short time.

Contrast In Personalities

BY CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, March 14.—Senator Cameron Morrison and Senator-elect Josiah W. Bailey, who will double-team it together as North Carolina's two representatives in the upper chamber at the next session of congress, are an oddly-assorted pair.

Senator Morrison is toga-clad already, by appointment of Governor O. Max Gardner to succeed the late Senator Lee S. Overman. He will serve only until the 1932 election—unless, of course, he runs then and wins.

Senator-elect Bailey defeated the veteran Senator Furnifold M. Simmons in last year's Democratic primaries and triumphed easily in November over Representative George M. Pritchard, the Republican senatorial nominee, and takes his seat in the Seventy-second congress in December.

IN THE ordinary course of events Washington consequently would not have had its introduction to Senator-elect Bailey so early, but he made a special trip here some time ago to oppose (unsuccessfully) the senate's confirmation of Frank R. McNinch as a member of the new federal power commission, on which he was chosen by President Hoover to serve as one of the two legally required Democrats.

Senator Morrison took McNinch's part.

This clearly brought on the contrast between them.

Senator-elect Bailey is hard boiled. Senator Morrison is of the benevolent type.

THE STATEMENT that Senator-Elect Bailey is hard boiled should by no means be interpreted as implying that there is anything rough-hewn about him. Emphatically to the contrary, he is hard boiled like polished steel. In appearance and manner, he is ultra-aristocratic—the scornful, haughty aristocrat.

Senator Morrison is aristocratic, too, but he is of the gentle old aristocratic pattern—kindly to everyone, his inferiors especially maybe.

According to Senator-elect Bailey, McNinch is not a Democrat at all, but a Hoovercrat; which being the case, the senator-elect was frank to imply that he could see mighty little good in him whatever.

Senator Morrison agreed that McNinch is what he called "a sorry Democrat," but the very fact that he had to make this admission immediately set him to looking for redeeming features in the latter, and he found them—in particular that McNinch is an excellent churchman, in fact an elder, well known for his piety; also a pleasant neighbor and a delightful companion.

EXAMINED by various senators relative to his antecedents, McNinch had described himself as "a poor man's lawyer."

"Pooh!" quoth Senator-elect Bailey, commenting on this utterance. "There never was a time when he wouldn't have accepted a rich man's retainer if one ever had been offered to him. If he's a poor man's lawyer, it's because rich men won't hire him."

I cite this remark, made as a witness before the state interstate commerce committee, merely in illustration of the senator-elect's psychology.

The expression "poor man's lawyer" excited his ire.

When it was quoted to Senator Morrison, the senator purred affably.

"Well, yes, I suppose he is," he said, in a tone which gave the impression of commending McNinch for it, though the actual words he used may not fully convey the idea.

SENATOR-ELECT BAILEY is handsome, but cold of visage. His voice is hard and resolute; his manner assured. He is a fine figure of a man, lithe and erect. He suggests a fencer, with a keen-pointed rapier in his hand, jabbing it (the weapon) through an adversary's vitals.

Senator Morrison also is handsome, but with the handsomeness of a multi-millionaire-ite philanthropist of some sort, thinking up ways of making the human race better and happier.

Each, in his own particular specialty, is, if anything, somewhat exaggerated.

I WOULD SAY, at a guess, that Senator Morrison will fret Senator-elect Bailey considerably as a colleague, when the senator-elect has become a full-fledged senator.

Senator Bailey, I surmise, will want to do harsh things occasionally—just, but stern.

And Senator Morrison, in my opinion, will say, "Now, now," soothingly and placatingly (but dissentingly), and I think it will drive Senator Bailey darn near frantic.

It will be noted that Senator Morrison had his way about Frank R. McNinch, despite the vigor of Senator-elect Bailey's opposition.

FLEETING IDOLS

There is a wide distinction between mere company and the companionship that banishes loneliness. One may be in the midst of a congenial company and still be lonely for true companionship presupposes understanding and sympathy.

True companionship is akin to hero worship. An individual fashions an ideal and searches for it in the flesh. Frequently he thinks he has found that hero. With all the enthusiasm of the votary he sings the idol's praises, unbosoms himself of all his hopes and fears and rejoices that at last he has come upon his cherished ideal.

But how often does man discover that his enthusiasm is unwarranted and that the dream so carefully nurtured must be shattered by disillusionment! By word or gesture, or even by silence, the hero reveals some prejudicial trait, be it conceit, cowardice, selfishness, narrowness, coldness, disloyalty, ignorance or plain stupidity, and the idol falls. And once fallen, all the king's horses and all the king's men cannot put it together again.

Some persons, to avoid these crushing disillusionments, attribute only one virtue to each of a number of friends and realize their ideal through a composite picture. This is possible where one can overlook the hundred other glaring faults in each part of the picture.

Others may feel that the price of disillusionment is not too much to pay for a moment of idol worship, for brief surcease from that loneliness which comes from not having a confiding and trustworthy friend in the world.

Man is most critical of his best friends, otherwise friendships would not be such fleeting things. That old proverb, "I love my friends well, but myself better," explains many broken friendships.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

GINGER ELLA TOLLIVER, daughter of a minister and step-daughter of the wealthy and indulgent former PHIL VAN DOORN, organized a Junior Country Club in the town of Red Thrush, Iowa, just to keep life among the younger set from becoming too dull.

BARD HOLLOWAY, a young artist who was hoboing around the country, stopped in Red Thrush. Attracted by Ginger, he agreed to stay and paint portraits and decorate the new clubhouse. He gave the name "Joie de Vivre" to the club, and suggested sending to Chicago for NICOLO CALLENO, who could cook and sing and strum a guitar.

But Nicolo could not come. In his place arrived three of his countrymen, ANGELO could play; PIETRO could cook; BENITO could sing. Ginger took them on. Beginning to realize he was in love with Ginger, Bard suggested leaving. But Phil, knowing Ginger, persuaded him to stay as their guest. But for Ginger's good she wrote to SPEED RONEY, a former friend of Ginger's and invited him. She felt he would give Bard some competition.

Ginger thereupon invited PATTY SEARS to take care of Speed, but Patty wouldn't come, pleading loyalty to EDDY JACKSON. Whereupon Ginger went to Eddy about it. Getting word that Speed was bringing his sister, she persuaded both Eddy and Patty to come. Eddy, however, decided to ball things up by making things miserable for Ginger and keeping her and Bard separated.

Meanwhile, Benito had made a trip to Chicago and returned with a plan to kidnap Ginger and hold her for ransom.

When Speed and his sister arrived Ginger got another surprise. Sister's name was COTTON. She was different from what Ginger suspected. She was a little afraid that Cotton would prove attractive to Bard, and Eddy devilishly arranged for Bard and Cotton to be together while he stuck to Ginger and paired Patty off with Speed.

Speed tells Bard Ginger and Eddy are in love and Bard plans to leave as Eddy keeps up his mischievous plot. And at that point of the proceedings Ginger disappeared.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXXI

"Let's have a look around the house," said Eddy Jackson. "She just may be somewhere about, you know."

But a rigid search of the premises from attic to cellar revealed no Ginger.

"I think we'd better call Doorndee," said Bard. "Maybe she has gone home."

Eddy looked more hopeful. "Yes, probably," he said. "She may have stumbled upon some one she knew on the road and gone off home for a joke on us. Though it isn't quite like her. I'll call Phil."

"Be careful what you say," cautioned Cotton. "Don't frighten her."

But at Eddy's first word of inquiry Phil's voice did show fright.

"Eddy, what do you mean?" she cried. "Isn't Ginger there?"

Eddy tried to explain that she must merely have wandered off for a solitary stroll and would soon return, but Phil was not to be reassured.

"But, Eddy, hasn't she been there since morning? Six hours! Oh, she wouldn't go off like that! Something has happened to her. We'll come right out."

Phil's alarm communicated itself to him, and he showed considerable uneasiness when he returned to the group. "She's not there. They are coming out. Phil's—frightened."

Patty burst into tears. "Oh, Eddy, you—you don't suppose she would—do anything to herself, do you? They left her right by the river—and she's been so unhappy."

"Oh, nonsense," said Eddy, nervously impatient. "Ginger do a thing like that? I'm surprised at you, Patty."

"But she's been so unhappy," Patty protested tearfully.

"What did she have to be unhappy about?" asked Bard, dully, from the depth of his own great woe.

"About— Oh, about —" Patty looked in confusion from Bard to Eddy. "Well, she's been unhappy anyhow. She cried—after we went to bed—every night, and made me promise not to tell."

Eddy looked more than a little ashamed of himself, but Bard was entirely nonplused.

"I don't see what she had to worry about. Everything seemed to be going just fine—for her."

"Oh, Bard," said Patty, weeping afresh, "it was all on your account. You've been just horrid, you know you have. The way you flirted with —with Cotton. Oh, please excuse me, Cotton! But Bard did flirt, and Ginger felt terribly."

"Be here!" cried Bard wildly. "Are you all crazy, or am I? You come to me and ask me to hang around Cotton so Ginger won't be jealous on account of Eddy, and when I do it, you tell me it made Ginger cry."

"Who told you any such truck as that?" demanded Eddy Jackson.

"I did," admitted Speed bravely. "You and Ginger have been in love for years—you know you have—"

"What a fool!" cried Eddy. "That was when we were kids. And Gingere was never in love with me in her life. We just grew up together, that's all."

"Do you mean," demanded Bard, advancing toward Speed in a very menacing manner, "that you lied to me about Ginger?"

"No, I didn't lie" denied Speed excitedly. "It was the truth — at least I thought it was the truth."

Patty ran to the door. "Oh, please, boys, go look for her, and don't stand there quarreling. Ginger," she called plaintively into the woods, "Ginger, darling!"

"Eddy, tell me the truth," said Bard, "do you mean—I did pretend to be making up to Cotton after Speed asked me to—do you mean that you and Ginger—"

"Pfft!" said Eddy, snapping his fingers. "I used to be crazy about Ginger, and I still think she's about the greatest little scout I ever knew. But she never thought of me like that."

Bard turned a vicious look toward Speed. "I'd just like to know if that little cur did it on purpose," he said between his teeth.

"Naw," said Eddy reassuringly, "he wouldn't do it on purpose. Just a little dumb, that's all. He likes Ginger, he was just trying to do her a good turn. Where the devil do you suppose she can have got to?"

In a very few minutes, Phil's big car tore up the wood lane, and Mr. and Mrs. Tolliver were quickly surrounded. They were surprised at Ginger's absence, and a little uneasy, but on the whole they inclined to the idea that nothing really serious could have happened to her on such familiar and friendly ground. They demanded a ful account of just what had happened after their arrival at Mill Rush, and the others were prompt and unanimous in their recital of events.

Ginger had gone for a walk in the woods with Cotton and Speed. They returned laughing, in the best of spirits, and they had left her at the boat-landing, Ginger asking them to send Eddy down to her. Cotton and Speed agreed that they had left her quite doubled up with laughter, chortling gleefully over a joke on Eddy Jackson.

"But she hasn't been in good spirits at all," protested Phil. "She's been terribly unhappy."

"We cheered her up," insisted Cotton. "We told her something that put her in the very best of spirits immediately."

"What in the world did you tell her?"

"Mrs. Tolliver," said Cotton simply, "of course I will tell you if you insist, but it hasn't a thing in the world to do with the case. It was just a little secret between us three."

"To tell you the truth," said Speed slowly, "now that I really understand the lay of the land, I think what really cheered her up was my telling her that I had asked Bard to keep Cotton away from Eddy Jackson. Don't you remember Cotton? She made me tell her three times over, and then she took my

In Which Walter S. Ruffner, Lubbock Man, Describes His Experiences During Japanese Consular Service

EDITOR'S NOTE: Below is another of a series of articles being written by Walter S. Ruffner for the Sunday Avalanche-Journal. Mr. Ruffner, former consular official for the U. S. Government on three continents, is now an executive for the West Texas Gas company. Other articles on his experiences are to follow on this page on successive Sundays.

Foreign Clerks

It might occur to Americans here how consular officers can do efficient work while relying mostly on foreigners as clerks.

Occasionally it is different but, as a rule, very competent people can be employed abroad.

In our office in Ghent we had three Belgian girls and a messenger. All three were excellent typists, stenographers and bookkeepers and two of them spoke English perfectly.

I never saw one of the staff, except the messenger, late and most often they would be hard at work long before the office opened.

Miss Billen was able to answer most of the local correspondence without assistance, preparing perfect letters in English, French, German and Flemish, while the others knew all passport regulations, invoice work, accounting, etc.

Soon Learned

The messenger was valuable to us. Although he was but 16, he had been trained in large hotels in Belgium and England. He wasn't with us long until he was typewriting like an oldtimer.

His only fault was that he didn't let office hours worry him much. Due to his arriving a little later than the rest of us, the girls called him "Consul."

In Leipzig I experienced the same condition.

When we took the office over from the Spanish Consul after we had resumed relations with Germany, Rudolph Fricke was our mainstay. He had been in the office about 20 years, and knew the work, business people and, naturally, the customs. When in doubt, Fricke would be consulted.

Gradually we got together a staff of about 15 (including the consul and myself) of these, practically all were German and they were just as efficient as we could have found in the United States. All spoke two or three languages, which is very valuable to a consulate, and were very conscientious. None of them would ever think of leaving the office until all records, etc., were complete for the day.

In Yokohama we were fortunate —in that our foreign staff stayed with us after the earthquake.

Were Most Efficient

Taking into consideration all phases of consular work, I should say that they were the most efficient clerks I've ever seen.

Genji Kuribara, our interpreter, was well informed on all subjects. He could tell you, without hesitation, whether a document to be used in certain American state required two witnesses, separate acknowledgements, etc. All legal forms he could prepare without resorting to a form book.

Ogoshi San, who handled all shipping forms, amused me. He was a graduate in law and knew very little English, but he could fill out any form we used. No matter how covered his desk was when we gave him more to do, he never appeared to worry and everything was done wonderfully well.

Katikura San prepared all consular invoices, attached all fee stamps to documents and took care of the receipts—entering each service in detail in a record book. Even though we had nearly 1,000 services in a day, his receipts balanced always and a fee stamp was never lost. He, too, never worried no matter how high his desk was stacked with work.

Just Look At Him

Nagoya San was the office comedian. To laugh, you only had to look at him. He considered himself quite a singer, although, from the atrocious tones he let out, I often thought his rice had disagreed with him.

He prepared the consular accounts and all commercial statistics. Each receipt had to be translated into English and converted into the quivalent in American money; so you can see he had his work cut out. Furthermore, he had to prepare tabulated, alphabetically arranged, statements showing the quantity of goods, nature, value, etc., shipped to the United States each month. None of this worried him, yet I never saw him behind in his work.

Miscellaneous

While a consular office is primarily established for the purpose of carrying out certain American laws, furthering trade, etc., many small and sometimes ridiculous requests are made of consular officers.

Now an officer, if he wants to be successful, must first of all be human and, therefore, does usually exert himself to satisfy everybody.

I don't suppose a mail is received at any office that doesn't contain at least one request for postage stamps from some little boy at home. These we always answered, sending as many as we could possibly find—knowing that the young man would be watching every mail. Often an officer will buy personally a small collection rather than disappoint a youngster.

Information Wanted

In the same mail, it is likely that some high school or college boy will apprise us that he is preparing for a debate or thesis, and needs certain material pertaining to our consular district. Again the average officer sees himself in the writer's shoes, knowing what he is up against, and carefully prepared all useful information obtainable.

I don't believe I've been at a post where a number of requests for stones—yes, stones, were not received. A choice assortment was always collected and sent on to the writer.

People traveling abroad usually have some strange requests to make and ask for varied information. As a rule, too, they expect prompt consideration and appear skeptical if an officer must resort to a book. While seven professions in the United States might have to be consulted on a particular question, a consular officer is expected to hand out a satisfactory answer at once.

In a very short space of time, I've been asked to introduce a person into one of the most exclusive families; purchase some silverware from a well-known hotel; help find husband supposed to be in Texas; prevent baron from showering attentions on American girl (most unusual, but a fact); call on would-be suicide; escort party through shopping district; furnish certificate showing that dog should be welcomed by American officials with open arms; call on passengers sick aboard ship; ask immigration officials to permit certain persons to land without passports; arrange for permission to visit certain palaces; help French woman sell dresses; write letters for people; recover excess paid for articles in shops; and I made an honest effort to comply with these requests.

Bouquets For Officer

Very seldom does a consular officer receive anything in the nature of bouquets from the Department of State. As long, however, as he hears nothing adverse, he can assure himself that he is doing fair enough. This is all right, but it seems to me that an officer, having handled a particular case well, should be commended.

Of course, when some person pulls himself out from under a wrecked building, he may be congratulated but this does not apply to his work.

Naturally the department never hears of some real services done by a consul, as there very often is no necessity for reporting same.

I recall one being requested to report on a large cotton concern incorporated in Belgium. Through friends, publications and a few dinners, I was enabled to report in a detailed manner concerning same—giving names of stockholders, shares owned, etc. This report covered the subject from all angles. This, I transmitted in four copies to the department. Within a reasonable time, its receipt was acknowledged—with a statement to the effect that I was one copy short. That was all I heard.

APPLICATIONS SLOW

POST —(Staff Special)—Former service men of Post and Garza county are slow in making application for their loans under the recent bonus legislation, J. C. May, local post adjutant, says. Only 25 have applied so far. There are about 125 former service men in Garza county it is said.

Minter-Gamel Store Ready

Daily Arrivals Of Women's Wear In Past Week May Be Cause For Traffic Jam; Colors Dominate

Minter-Gamel's assortment of ready-to-wear, which includes the distinctive line of Co-Ed frocks, has been augmented during the past week by almost daily arrivals of women's wear, assuring a window display that may create a traffic problem tomorrow night but who cares about that?

One of the most coveted models in this department is a Sunday night dress of grey crepe accented with black and the faintest sunset pink in its splashy, open design. The short jacket ties in a soft bow at the waistline and a banding of embroidered black net outlines the V-neckline.

Quite Individual

A quite individual idea in suits is found here—three piece ratine costumes in Argentine tints with blouse of plain crepe. The silk suit is represented too, of course, notably in a number platinum grey with blouse of embroidered batiste and an artistic employment of pastel pink as lining for the pockets and scarf collar.

Mrs. N. F. Minor was enthusiastic last week over the collection of coats, and with reason. As witness a sports coat of spring green basket weave, unfurred and untoched by trimming except for self-color stitching on the shawl collar and intricate cuffs, flaring at the elbow. The lining of coat and collar is in a somewhat lighter tone and there is a tailored green leather belt.

Gage hats are made much of here, and what woman does not know and respect this millinery authority? A model of baku cedar rose with the becoming underbrim is outstanding as is also a black bangkok with hand made gardenia trimming. Green panamalaque fashions a smart tailored hat.

Walkover shoes in the new spring tones are shown by Max Williams and there is a new reptile style for young girls which should delight the sub-deb.

SWAN

In Barbary With Gilbert Swan

BISKRA, Algeria.—The two Arab guides, mere lads in age, assured me that I would have a most busy day.

Ah—I would be shown the most marvelous of the Ouled-Nail dancing girls. Then there would be something very special—of course, this would mean a special fee! But I could peep in upon the very secret doings of certain fanatical holy men who run needles through their flesh, nibble on glass and swallow live snakes.

I merely yawned. The guides seemed bewildered. What was the matter? Why was monsieur so bored? Well, I explained, I had seen so many dancing girls all across Africa that a combined chorus of Ziegfeld, Carroll, White and Aaron and Freedley girls wouldn't cause me to stir from my comfortable chair.

As for gents who sit on nails, swallow snakes and all the rest—well, Broadway had seen quite a few Hindu fakers, magicians and such who did any number such stunts. I believed, said I, that much of this hocus-pocus was trickery and when it wasn't, it was slightly revolting. If, for instance, a gent actually swallowed a snake, I might lose my appetite. But if, as I suspected, he resorted to a bit of magic—well, I had seen the trick before.

The Arab boys scratched their heads. They are given to scratching heads, and the rest of their body, for that matter, but not always out of perplexity. What were they to do? I shrugged my shoulders.

"Ah—the hasheesh smokers." Yes, with great difficulty, and much crossing of the palm, this might be arranged.

So it came about that toward midnight we abandoned the hall of the Ouled-Nail dancers and made our way through one unfamiliar passageway after another, until we came to what seemed to be the outskirts of the city. There the guides pointed to a little hut perched on a slope. No regular stairway led to the entrance; rather, there was a crude device of wood, something like a ladder, that we had to climb.

The Arab boys preceded us, went through some hocus-pocus and I found myself crawling rather than walking into an ill-lighted, unventilated, dirty room. It was practically bare, save for a ring of turbaned and whiskered old fellows who sat in a ring about what appeared, at first, to be a water pipe. A primitive oil device furnished a sputtering light.

I looked around. On the floor were a few highly colored, but well worn, cushions. At one side of the room there was a small semicircular doorway cut in the wall, like the entrance to an Eskimo's igloo.

"What's beyond that?" I whispered to the guide.

"That's for the women." As I was musing, a shadow fell over the little doorway—there was an unfamiliar, pattering sound and through the "ladies' entrance" came ambling a goat, followed by two curious hens. We laughed. Our laughter caused one or two of the smokers to lift their heads. They motioned to our guide and mumbled in Arabic.

"They want to know if you want to smoke," interpreted the guide. We joined the circle, squatted beside the guides and pretended to take a puff or two. One of the three men in the party, who spoke a broken French-Arabic lingo, found that he could make himself understood. He began to rattle off his jargon.

Soon several of our hosts were slapping their knees and laughing while my friend went on and on . . . everyone seemed to be having a grand time.

"What the dickens are you telling them that gets the big laugh?" I asked.

We stayed until well toward morning, laughing and chatting —and far be it from me to jar dramatic illusions—having a swell time with the "dangerous" hasheesh smokers, telling them risque yarns from home.

Chief of Police John Lemond pledge co-operation with the Silvertown Safety League

JOHN LEMOND

"Let me urge every citizen to lend his support to this very worthy crusade to reduce the fatal accidents on the highways."

The callous disregard of life and limb by reckless driving . . . the menace to the safety of his family and himself has stirred the indignation of every conscientious driver and citizen.

But, together we can do something about it!

When you realize that more people were killed last year by automobiles than were lost by the American Forces during the World War and that the number of deaths is growing year by year . . . then we believe you will want to join in this crusade against recklessness and unsafe equipment.

Only an aroused and militant public opinion can change these conditions. Your help, your example, are needed.

The Silvertown Safety League is your means of expression. Read the pledge . . . nine common-sense rules . . . nine commandments of safety. Are you willing to take this pledge along with the prominent people of this community and abide by it? If you are . . . if enough people will do it . . . thousands of lives can be saved in 1931.

We have a pledge ready for your signature . . . we will see that the beautiful emblem of the League is installed on your car and give you a recognition button for your lapel.

There is no cost . . . no obligation to buy . . . we simply welcome you as another soldier in the war against recklessness.

Sign up! This crusade needs you.

My Pledge as a Member of

THE SILVERTOWN SAFETY LEAGUE

I agree

2 To keep on the right side of the road, except when passing.
3 To pass only when I know there is ample time and space—never on blind curves or when nearing the crest of a hill.
4 To go through intersections only when I have the right of way.
5 To observe all traffic signals.
6 To give signals myself that can be clearly seen and understood, before turning or stopping in traffic.
7 To drive only when in full possession of my faculties.
8 To keep my brakes, lights, and horn in good condition.
9 To operate my car on tires which assure a positive grip on the road—safe traction—and freedom from hazardous tire failures.

WITNESS SIGNATURE

SILVERTOWN SAFETY LEAGUE

Let us install a brilliant chromium Silvertown Safety League emblem on the radiator of your car. It tells the world that you are in the fight against recklessness that took 33,000 lives last year.

Exclusiveness Store Feature

Carter-Houston's Offerings Bring Spring's Latest In Dresses, Frocks, Coats, Hats And Such

If any other guarantee of quality than a Carter-Houston label is needed on a new spring frock it would be wise to look for the insignia of College Princess, a distinguished line which this store represents exclusively in Lubbock. Two of the loveliest dresses in this season's showing are of black crepe, each touched with white. One makes effective use of box pleating on the full skirt and simulated box pleats on the brief bolero jacket beneath which the white crepe blouse is glimpsed in narrow stripings. There are a narrow tailored belt and shaggy shoulder flower for added detail. The other illustrates the softly draped neckline lined in white and ending in a bow at the back and is pointed up with silk braid in a hand embroidered design on the bodice, employing tones of green, orchid, blue.

Silk Suits Shown

As for the silk suit one of its finest expressions is found here in a printed silk dress of blue shot with cherry, yellow, green, and topped with a short jacket in the new yacht blue. Another shows a blouse of the new linen lace, successor to wool lace, a favorite of the season just past.

An afternoon frock in beige flat chiffon shows and exquisite bodice of Alencon lace with a trimming of appliqued net at the neckline. Evening and "Suday night" models find delightful examples here, in chiffons and crepes.

"Our Rothmoor coats this spring are a revelation of fine quality and workmanship," said Mrs. C. C. Reed, manager of the ready-to-wear department. One agrees upon viewing this distinguished collection, both furred and unfurred types, and in an astonishing price range. Eponge in the fascinating new tone, peach beige, fashions a smart furred model whose graceful shawl collar edged in dyed fox is an outstanding feature. A trimly belted high waist effect and graceful sleeve treatment give added charm.

Patricia Hat Featured

The authoritative Patricia hat is featured in the shop, delightful examples found in bandeau styles and brimmed models. Noteworthy under this name is a hat of beige baku with bandeau of brown and an exquisite trim of brown lace appliqued upon the brim. A tweed straw with a jaunty feater is notable also and ideal for completing a tailored ensemble.

In the new shipments of footwear exhibited by D. J. McClellan and "Red" Brooks the popular watersnake is outstanding and the plain black kid gore pump with junior Spanish heel is certain to be a favorite. Fabric shoes for both outdoor and evening use, in linen, shantung and moire are here in a lavish collection.

Half Hog Worth More Than Whole

D. A. Adam, Lamb County Agent, Demonstrates How Curing Of Hams, Shoulders And Bacon Prove Paying Method

(By Staff Correspondent)

AMHERST, March 14.—The hams, shoulders and bacon of the average farm hog is worth more to the farmer when dressed than the whole hog will bring on the market.

So says D. A. Adams, county agent of Lamb county, who has tested out his theory recently to the satisfaction of more than one farmer here.

The other week Henry Pickrell, owner of a couple of hogs that tipped the beam at 250 pounds, was "shown" the theory. Henry believed the animals bring about $17.50 on the hoof.

Out at Henry's farm there was a hog killing, with the county agent doing the experimental work and several neighbors on hand to watch the process. The animals were slaughtered and dressed. Then came the canning.

The hams weighed about 18 pounds each, the shoulders nine pounds and there was about nine pounds of bacon to the side. Thirty-three pounds of sausage, worth 25 cents a pound. 66 cans of No 3 size and 10 cans of No. 2 size, were producedd besides head cheese, lard, etc.

"Almost any farmer can get 35 cents a pound for his cured ham is he knows how to cure it," says the county agent. "We figured what Henry would received at the current prices for his two hogs. He would get more than $96 from the two. They would have brought about $35 on the hoof."

According to Mr. Adam a large number of farmers in Lamb county are finding it no trouble at all to sell all the cured hams, shoulders and bacon they can produce at good prices. The hams bring 35 cent a pound. Bacon and shoulder bring 25 cents a pound.

"Sit Tight", With Joe E. Brown, Featured This Week

Walter Huston Plays Part In Crime Picture

Constance Bennett To Appear In Pictures At Both Lyric And Lindsey Theaters Here This Week

BIG-MOUTHED Joe E. Brown will furnish the chief amusement for Lubbock movie fans this week. The homely one appears in "Sit Tight", a real laugh riot, which begins a three-day run at the Lindsey today.

Winnie Lightner plays opposite Brown in the picture. "Sit Tight", according to advance reports, is one of the best pictures in which either of the comedians has appeared.

Victor McLaglen

Love Is Theme

Love and loving as an emotion, an art, a science and a racket are revealed in the dramatic story of "Sin Takes a Holiday", which comes to the Lindsey Wednesday and Thursday.

Headed by Constance Bennett, the cast includes Kenneth MacKenna, Basil Rathbone, Lita LaRoy, Louis Bartels, John Roche, Zazu Pipps and a flock of others.

Huston Returns

Walter Huston who pleased Lubbock moviegoers last week in his portrayal of Abraham Lincoln returns this week in an entirely different type of picture. It is "The Criminal Code" which comes to the Lindsey Friday and Saturday. Phillips Holmes, who will be remembered here for his appearance last week with Nancy Carroll in "Stolen Heaven", also is one of the leading players in "The Criminal Code". Others in the cast include Constance Cummings, Ethel Wales, and Mary Doran.

The picture presents the never-ending conflict of crime and law. Huston, who has become one of the most realistic and best liked actors, plays the part of Warden Brady, a virile, impartial arbiter of the destinies of the prisoners under his charge. Before taking the part, Huston made a careful study of courtroom scenes and prison life. It was made in connection with his system to actually live the part he is to portray.

WALTER HUSTON

William Boyd, big he-man of the movies, is leading character in "Tthe Painted Desert", now showing at the Palace. Helen Twelvetrees is the leading lady and William Farnum and J. Farrell MacDonald, both of silent film fame, have leading roles.

Filled With Action

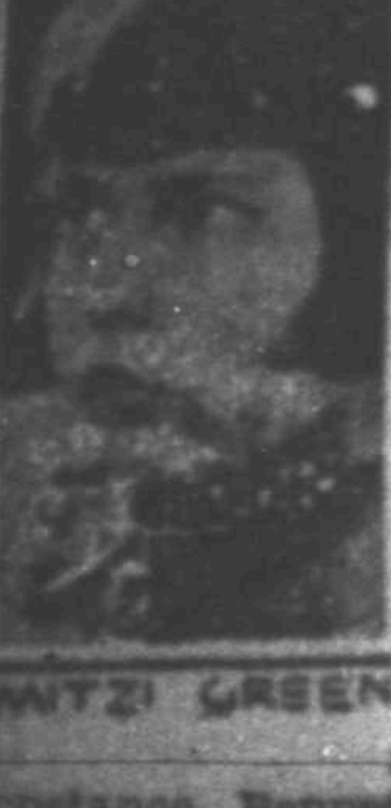
The picture is filled with real old time action and gives Boyd a change to do things in a big way. A smashing cattle stampede, a race with death along a yawning canyon and driving a twenty-mule team like mad are but a few of the thrilling sequences.

The story deals with a twenty-year-old feud between two pioneers that had its start on the desert when they found an infant deserted in a covered wagon. An argument as to who would take the infant developed and resulted in one of them riding off with the youngster. The other settled at a water hole, married and had a daughter who grew up to be the heroine. With a beautiful young girl on one side and a big handsome hero on the other it isn't hard to imagine how the feud would end.

McLaglen To Show

The latest novelty in Central American revolutions furnishes the background for Victor McLaglen's newest laugh hit, "A Devil With Women", which is the attraction Tuesday and Wednesday at the Palace. The picture shows a new McLaglen, a more human and more likeable character. As a typical soldier of fortune and captain in the federal army of a little republic, he manages to embroil himself in plenty of exciting adventures. Mona Maris plays the leading feminine role.

Mischievious little Mitzie Green is the star of "Finn and Hattie Abroad" which shows at the Palace Thursday and Friday of this week. It is a light, mirth-provoking comedy.



MITZI GREEN

The Lyric theater, which is bringing to Lubbock for a second showing some of the outstanding pictures, this week will present two headliners. They are "Common Clay" with Constance Bennett and "Unholy Three" with Lon Chaney.

"Common Clay" is a dramatic, unforgettable picture dealing with the morals of society. If you failed to see it at its first showing here, dont miss it again.

"Common Clay" shows for three days starting today.

"Unholy Three" is as weird as any of the pictures of the late Lon Chaney. It shows Wednesday and Thursday.

Friday and Saturday at the Lyric will be seen "King of the Wind", with an all star cast.

At the THEATERS

Here is Constance Bennett, who appears in two pictures here this week. She stars in "Sin Takes A Holiday" Wednesday and Thursday at the Lindsey and in "Common Clay," at the Lyric three days starting today.

THE BOOK SURVEY

Stribling Writes Bitter, Ironic And Merciless Novel Of Old South During Civil War In "The Forge"; Just Out

A NIMBUS of romance, hazy and other-worldly like the thin smoke of an Indian summer afternoon, persists in clinging to tales of the Civil War. The tired lines of gray and blue, diminished by distance, move like figures in a pageant.

The American novelist who lets 1861 get into his manuscript is apt to find himself, no matter how he began, writing as if the war between the states were a legend of old chivalry; and realism gets away from him to the end of the book.

Escapes Influence

There appears now, however, a book called "The Forge," by T. S. Stribling (published by Doubleday, Doran & Co.), which manages to escape from this influence. It is a novel of the old south and the war, but it has no trailing clouds of sentiment. It is bitter, ironic and merciless.

The scene is a crossroads hamlet in northern Alabama; the characters are chiefly members of an out-at-the-elbows aristocracy. Mr. Stribling gives us, first, his conception of the pre-war south, and it is not appealing. Occasionally one meets the storied culture and gentility of plantation life, but more often the culture is sterile, and the gentility is barely skin-deep. The edifice built on slavery is shown to have chipped plaster, uneven floors and a cracked base.

Then Comes The War

Then comes the war. The hamlet lies in the path of the invading Union armies. Blue-coated hordes sweep down to pillage and loot. Negroes run to join them, chanting of the armies of the Lord, and discover, to their bewilderment, that the Lord's hosts had many scoundrels in the ranks. Guerilla bands, little better than ordinary bandits, ravage the countryside. All is confusion, meanness and chaos.

And then after Appomattox, comes the reconstruction era. Here the picture is bitterest. The northern rulers Mr. Stribling presents are corrupt and malicious; but the southerners get an even worse interpretation. They suffer, not only because of the war and the ferocious reconstruction regime, but because they themselves lack the wisdom and the stamina to solve their own problems. They cannot admit the departure of slavery; they cannot devise a means of adapting themselves to the new conditions.

T. S. Stribling, author of "The Forge."

That is the picture "The Forge" gives us. It is Mr. Stribling's most ambitious work to date—and probably his best. It suffers in many places from a multiplicity of people and incidents. There is obscurity here and there, and some of the characters are poorly drawn. But it is an absorbing novel, and there is a great deal of first-rate stuff in it.

The invention of a Scottish engineer, a new lubricant, gives warning of the danger of overheating bearings by emitting a specific odor.

New Books Added To City Library

About 100 new books have been added to the City library since the first of this year. Among these are: (Juvenile), Hogan, "The White Kitten," Wiese, "Liang and Lo," Verrill, "Sky Girl," Albert, "Little Pilgrim to Penn's Woods," Chase, "Silver Shell," Wells, "Beppo the Donkey," Farjeon, "Tale of Tom Tiddler," Walker, "How They Carried the Mail," Sand, "Tales of a Grandmother," Baker, "Noddy Goes A-Plowing," Brooke, "Roundabout Turn."

(Fiction), Biggers, "Black Camel," Norris, "Barberry Bush," Rolvaag, "Giants In the Earth," Steele, "Meat," Catcher, "O Pioneers," Heyward, "Porgy," Gale, "Faint Perfume," Priestly, "Good Companions," Lewis, "Dodsworth," Drieser, "Sister Carrie," Wharton, "Ethan Frome."

(Non-Fiction), De Kruif, "Microbe Hunters," Story, "Individuality and Clothes," Dorsey, "Why We Behave Like Human Beings," Yeats-Brown, "Lives of a Bengal Lancer," Byrd, "Little America," Andrews, "George Washington's Country," Cades "Jobs for Girls," Phelps, "Essays on Things," Bond, "How to Play Modern Blackgammon," Jastrow, "Keeping Mentally Fit," Saxon, "Fabulous New Orleans."

New Texas Book Being Published

The Southwest Press of Dallas, Texas, is publishing a book by John William Rogers entitled "Finding Literature on the Texas Plains." Included in it is a bibliography on life and literature in the Southwest, compiled by J. Frank Dobie, professor of English at the University of Texas and author of "Coronado's Children." This bibliography is said to list virtually every important book dealing with various phases of Southwestern life and tradition, with an informal discussion of the present significance of each book. This is the first comprehensive bibliography on the Southwest since Raines's "Bibliography of Texas," which appeared in 1860 and is now so rare that stray copies of it have brought as much as $300.

Wherein Murder Is Unexciting

"Murder For Love", by Ione Quinby, is rather sad stuff. It gives the life stories of an assorted half dozen ladies who have committed, as the author so neatly puts it, murder for love, among them are Ruth Snyder, Clara Smith Hamon and Grace Lusk.

It would be hard, of course, to turn out anything very enduring in the way of literature in a book of this kind; even so, this book falls short of what one might reasonably expect. It seems to be aimed directly at the tabloid public, and it is filled with the cliches of speech and thought that always characterize appeals to that body of readers.

The book is published by Covici, Friede, Inc.

Millinery Of 1931 Spring Fashions Accentuates Charm, Jackman's Shows

While a hat can never be merely headgear to any woman it is quite true that the millinery of the 1931 spring season holds promise of added charm for every wearer, charm she may well have forgotten existed, so advanced are the new modes above past seasons in grace and wearableness.

Particularly illustrative of this truth are the hats at Jackman's, as tomorrow night's windows will show. Gay and provocative, daring or demure, the assortment holds fascination for every type.

Details Are Exquisite

Especially engaging is the new line of Mancelle hand made modes, all of them distinguished for exquisite detail work and original trimming treatment. The Watteau style predominates here, for most of these hats are in the semi-formal mood, adapted to wear with the accepted afternoon frock. Hand made flowers—roses, gardenias, forget-me-nots—peep from beneath the titled brims, narrow bandings and artful bows of pastel-toned velvet add both grace and chic.

The new starched eyelet-embroidered linen, which is contributing so delightfully to the millinery picture for summer wear, is illustrated in a wide-brimmed model in ecru with a brilliant red leather band about the crown. Similar in type is the reproduction of an original Suzanne Talbot model in natural toned baku, smartly bordered with a two-inch band of black.

Knitted Suits Shown

To be sure, millinery is by no means the chief concern of Jackman's, nor of its clientele. Long known for its street and sports costumes, the store is just now exhibiting the most fascinating assortment of knitted suits that it has ever shown, according to Miss Lela Kendall, manager. These garments are the Smartsport, a standard make of clever outdoor wear. The colors are quite unexpectedly varied and delightful, coral, sunset, orchid, blue, and the whole family of yellows.

Coats Are Praised

Perhaps everybody knows that Jackman's is headquarters for the aristocratic Kirshmoor coat and it is also probably that the smart new model in this line which was one of Miss Kendall's favorites last week may be snapped up before Monday evening's opening. Just in case it isn't though, look for a stunning wrap in tan and brown tweed, its distinction lying wholly in superb cut and splendid tailoring. This shop is the home of Redfern, too, a name that means much to the discriminating woman.

The silk suit, which is certain to be a season's favorite whether its jacket be the briefest of boleros or a full length redingote, is admirably illustrate in the Jackman collection. One of these is in the new skipper blue crepe whose sleeveless dress shows an interesting neckline outlined in white net which, in turn, is enlivened with an appliqued design in blue and beading in tones of coral. There is a narrow tailored belt at the natural waistline. The jacket is finger-tip in length.

The "Sunday night frock," which some masculine person has designated as being adapted to any other occasion than Sunday night, has several interesting illustrations which may be looked for in tomorrow night's showing. Those prints combining chiffon and crepe in the same design and colorings are notable here and are picturesque in their subtle colorings and flattering lines.

DRILL NEAR CARLSBAD

CARLSBAD, N. M. (Staff Special)—The Oil Well Drilling company is now drilling a test four and a half miles northeast of the city limits. Barker No. 1 is the name of the test in section 21-21-26. It is half a mile south of the Roswell highway and two miles from the old Ohio well. Barker has the grazing rights to the acreage, which is state land.

The curvature of the earth is about eight inches to the mile and varies as the square of the distance.

A Message to the Public from the United States Gypsum Company

No unsightly corners with this
Armored Joint Wallboard

ARE you one of the many Texas home-owners who still think that wallpaper must sag, draw and bulge? Would you be surprised to know that it is no longer necessary to endure this disgraceful condition?

Now, by putting Metalock Sheetrock right over your present walls, you can have decoration of which you'll be proud. Secure beautiful textured finishes in colorful two-toned effects—just like those you see in new modern homes—by using Textone, the Plastic Paint. Textone is the ideal decoration over Metalock Sheetrock walls and ceilings. Beautiful, practical and economical.

THIS BOOK FREE
It shows how Metalock Sheetrock is applied, and illustrates the beautiful decorative effects this armored joint construction makes possible.

Metalock Sheetrock joints are armored by a patented USG metal fabric. Walls remain firm and rigid—no cracking or warping. Wind and sand cannot penetrate its smooth sealed surface. Moreover Metalock Sheetrock is fireproof and verminproof.

Cost is moderate

Armored Joint Metalock Sheetrock is easily and quickly installed right over old walls or in new houses. Its moderate cost will surprise you. Often the entire cost of refinishing with Metalock Sheetrock and decorating with Textone—including all materials and labor—in an average living room is less than $75.00

Get in touch with your carpenter or contractor, now. He will tell you how Metalock Sheetrock will beautify your home and will gladly estimate the cost of any job you have in mind. Also ask about Sheetrock Tile Board for kitchens and bathrooms. Your dealer in lumber and building supplies can furnish the materials. Or write to us. State Highway Bonds To Be Center Of Fight In House

Opposition Is Preparing For Waging Battle

Young Of Wellington And Stevenson Of Junction Will Lead Opposition; Hubbard Pilots New Bill

BY CHARLES E. SIMONS,
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, March 14.—A determined stand against the constitutional amendment proposing submission of a statewide bond issue for highway building purposes will be made when the amendment comes up for action in the house. The opposition will be led by Representatives Young of Wellington and Stevenson of Junction while the amendment will be piloted by Representative Hubbard of New Boston.

Opponents of the bond issue will center on a bill by Representative Stevenson which proposes that the state buy the roads from the counties for the amount of the outstanding bonds. This, according to Stevenson, would provide immediate relief and would not be a burden on the state or materially hamper highway construction. Counties that had paid off their bond issues would receive nothing from the state under the Stevenson bill.

Made From Gas Tax

Payments would be made from the gasoline tax fund.

Young failed to get his constitutional amendment, which would have provided for reimbursement of the counties from current funds, out of the constitutional amendment committee, the committee reporting out instead the Hubbard amendment, generally accepted by bond issue proponents as the amendment that will be pushed for adoption.

The Hubbard amendment would provide for an issue of $200,000,000, with $100,000,000, or as much thereof as needed, used to reimburse the counties for the money spent on the state highway system

Discussing the bond question, Young said the proposed bond issue was not needed, especially at this time. It would merely mean the addition of new burdens in the form of interest to the taxpayers and also would mean placing Texas in a state of bondage to bond holders of the north and east for years to come, Young said.

"The history of such matters is that one issue of bonds continually follows another," Young stated. "The big question in the proposition of the state reimbursing the counties and building henceforth all its highways at its own cost, is whether we do it by the 'pay as you go' plan or by voting a bond issue. A 'pay as you go' plan might mean the actual construction of hard-surfaced roads a little slower than would result under the bond plan. In the end, however, we would come out owing no money and not out untold sums in interest for the sole and only privilege of inaugurating a great building program which would necessarily usher in carelessness in the expenditure of money and its attendant evils.

"If necessary, in order to sustain the accelerated program of highway construction, it would be better for the people to stand a little higher tax for the time being. In doing so they would come out at the end of the program without having paid out the large amounts of interests and other charges that go with a bond issue.

"The interest alone, if bonds are voted, would construct many miles of highways. Then, in addition, we would get away from placing a burden on generations to follow purely for the benefit of the present needs.

"The proposition as advocated by those favoring a bond issue calls for issuing $100,000,000 to retire bonds of counties and road districts, many of which issue bonds when the bonds they will retire are not due and will not be for many years?

"This seems to me to be utterly foolish. Why not face the proposition in a business like way and begin to lay aside out of current revenues of the highway department, now ranging between $40,000,000 and $50,000,000 per year, an amount sufficient to retire the outstanding bonds when they are due and to reimburse the counties and districts for what they have paid out? This occurs to me as the most sensible way of handling the matter.

"It is maintained the election of oss Sterling as governor is a di ct demand of the people for sub ission of this question to a vote f the electorate, or is an endorse ent thereof by the people. Let review the fact that when the estion of a bond issue was be re the people in the governor's ce, the two candidates favoring e bond issue received about 250,- votes while opposing the bond ue received almost 600,000 votes. us, as the people have already oken on this question in this way, do not see how the argument uld be made that it is demanded them."

Should the amendment of Hub rd be adopted, which Young de res is highly improbable since demand for the issue is not as at as it was two years ago when was defeated, opponents of the e will line up solidly behind the proposing to permit only own of real property to vote in bond e elections. This would mater y reduce the chances of the d issue being passed by the elec ate in the event it was submit Young said, since taxpayers are willing to place additional bur s on the state even though the bbard amendment provides the e shall never become a lien on property.

Lamesa Legion To Construct Home

LAMESA, March 14. (Special)—The Allen-Houston Post No. 330 of this city decided to build an American Legion hall in a meeting here Tuesday evening when more than 30 Legionaires were present according to S. Richardson, post commander.

The cottage will be located on 5th and Travis streets and will cost about $2,000. Plans for the cottage were submitted by the building committee of which F. T. McCollum is chairman and J. D. Dyer, Paul Mullinix, Clyde Backenstoss and S. Richardson are members.

Construction is to start as soon as details can be worked out it is stated.

IN FAVOR OF PARKS

CANYON, March 14. (Special)—Ray V. Davis, Canyon photographer and director of the Canyon Chamber of Commerce, has arrived home from Austin where he went in connection with the legislation for a state parks system. Mr. Davis reported that he found most of the members of the Texas legislators highly in favor of a park system for Texas.

"PRICES TALK" LEVINE'S

Presbyterians Observe "Loyalty Week"

Plan Special Service Here This Morning

Camp Fire Girls To Be Guests At Christian Church; Tech Band Will Perform At First Methodist Church Tonight

Continuing an observance of "Loyalty Week" members of the First Presbyterian church are to hold a special service at the morning hour today at 11 o'clock. George Dupree, local attorney, will speak on "Loyalty To My Church", and the pastor has announced as his sermon subject, "The Significance of Our Loyalty Day."

At the close of the service the congregation will go to the basement where officers of the church are to receive their pledges for the new church year which begins the first of April.

Remain All Afternoon

Dr. Lewis has announced that officers will be at the church throughout the afternoon so that if it is impossible for one to pledge this morning he may sign up this afternoon.

"What Think Ye?" is the subject for a talk to be made by Dr. Lewis at the vesper services at the church this afternoon at 5:30 o'clock.

A choir composed of Tech Presbyterian students will sing two numbers.

Annual election of officers will be conducted at the regular meeting of the Men-of-the-Church Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock.

To Be Guests

Camp Fire girls of the city are to be special guests at the First Christian church tonight and will sit in a body, wearing their uniforms. The guardians and Miss Margie Taylor, city executive, will attend with the girls. An attendance of 150 is expected.

The Rev. Walter P. Jennings, pastor, has announced as the subject of his sermon, "Following the Trail". Special songs will be given.

The service begins at 7:45 instead of at 7:30 o'clock, the hour for evening worship during the winter months.

Band To Play

The evening service at the First Methodist church has been designated as "Tech College Music Organizations Night" and will open with numbers by the Matador band at 7:15 o'clock. The Girls band is to play afterwards.

W. R. Waghorne will be at the organ and Harry LeMaire, band master, is to lead congregational singing.

Included in the musical numbers announced for the program are the following: Organ prelude, "Schubert's Serenade," Mr. Waghorne; "O, College Mother Beautiful," audience; "O, Alma Mater" (Beethoven), Tech Choral club; Offertory, Tech band; Negro spirituals, "Steal Away to Jesus" and "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot," sung by the Men's Glee club.

Rev. Mr. J. O. Haymes, pastor, will preach the third of a series of sermons for young men. The theme is "Playing On Your Harp."

The annual revival of the Cumberland Presbyterian church will begin June 21, according to an announcement from the pastor, Rev. O. N. Baucom. Rev. H. C. Walton, of Jackson, Tenn., is to preach and Tom Scott, of Fayetteville, Tenn. will lead the singing.

Lynn Drouth Group Insists On Cotton Seed Being Better

TAHOKA, March 14.—(Special)—Farmers of Lynn county must plant a better grade of cotton seed this year and should buy at least a reasonable amount of state certified seeds, insists the Lynn county federal drouth relief committee composed of A. L. Lockwood, J. K. Applewhite, and Judge J. W. Elliott. This will build up the quality of the cotton raised here and enable the farmers to get a much better price for their cotton, they point out. This action by the committee is in keeping with a move started last year by the Tahoka Chamber of Commerce.

The local drouth relief committee has just returned from Corpus Christi, where they inspected the government bonded ware house, in which cotton seeds of many varieties are stored and shipped to growers throughout the state, and studied methods of breeding and raising seeds with a view to shipping several varieties to this section.

Lynn county farmers who planted pedigreed seed of longer staple last year received several dollars per bale premium and got better production per acre than from half-and-half seed which has been used so extensively over the Plains in the past.

MOVES STORE TO POST

ABERNATHY, (Staff Special)—The Lloyd Dry Goods store, located here for the past two years, is being moved to Post. The store was originally known as the Seales and Son store and later consolidated with Barrier brothers. The Lloyd Dry Goods store of Snyder recently bought the stock.

NEGROES JOIN CHURCH

LITTLEFIELD, (Staff Special)—The recently organized negro Baptist church now has over 50 members. It is the first negro church in the county. J. W. Bailey of Marshall, Texas is conducting a revival.

The baleen plates from the mouth of a whale are made into imitation ostrich feathers in France.

PLAINVIEW, Mar. 14. (Staff Special)—Bishop Hiram A. Boaz of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, will conduct the second week of a two weeks revival at the First M. E. Church here in September, Rev. D. B. Doak, pastor, announces.

Bishop Boaz will arrive September 20 and will preach at the revival meetings until the night of September 27. The pastor will begin the revival on September 13.

Before becoming a bishop several years ago, Dr. Boaz served as president of Southern Methodist University, at Dallas and before that president of Polytechnic College, Fort Worth. His first assignment as a bishop was to the foreign field.

At the last general conference of the Methodist church, Bishop Boaz was assigned as presiding officer for the Northwest Texas conference. He also leads the Texas conference and the North Texas conference.

Work To Begin Soon On Road Stretch In Crosby County

Just as soon as the contractors, Womack, Rollins and Herring, finish their work on Highway No. 7 northwest of Lubbock, the machinery is to be moved to Crosbyton for use on the grading and drainage work from four miles west of Crosbyton to the edge of the caprock.

The chief work to be completed on No. 7 now is the ditching following the recent snows. The road will then be planned and will be ready for all traffic.

Only about 100 yards of concrete work on culverts is to be done on No. 24 in Crosby county it is understood. Detour has been selected and it will be north of the railroad tracks between Ralls and Crosbyton. Marking will be started as soon as the machinery is moved onto the job.

Riviera Hails Beauty Queen

Thousands of visitors to Cannes, France, during the recent annual "Battle of Flowers" (above) mage to "Miss Europe" (above) as she participated in the parade, riding in a flower bedecked carriage. "Miss Europe," who is Mlle. Jeanne Juilla, of Paris, plans to visit the United States soon to contest for the title of "Miss Universe."

New Modes Of Spring Are Detailed In Jewelry, Anderson's Windows Reveal

Costume jewelry and other concomitants of the spring ensemble are as individual this season as the costume itself. For confirmation see the windows of Anderson Brothers, Jewelers, tomorrow night. Perhaps an exquisite choker of cut coral and crystal will be still unsold and you are quite likely to see another entirely of crystal and beautifully cut in star design.

Jade has lost none of its charm, as the display will show, one of the new long necklaces with a jade pendant attracts instant attention.

New Bands Shown

The Easter bride, as well as the long train of her successors throughout the spring season, will be happier for the new wedding bands which are shown here and which will also be a part of the fashion showing. The Link-of-Love and Bluebonnet circlets are featured here.

Charming new designs in mountings make the new yellow stone rings lovelier than ever, many having trimmings of yellow and green gold.

It may be surprising to learn that Anderson Brothers just last week signed the largest order for men's and women's wrist watches that it has ever stocked. It is hoped that the new shipments will be at hand for the window unveiling for the design-white gold with green and yellow trimming and matchings band—are modernity itself. Anderson Brothers is exclusive representative of the Bulova watch in Lubbock. The same fact is worth noting in the realm of electric clocks, of which there is a varied assortment.

Appointments Are New

No fashion event is complete, so far as women are concerned, without a showing of those appointments for the home that make for more gracious living. Silver, china, glassware—these hold perennial interest. The half-dozen lovely new patterns in sterling at Anderson's this spring are priceless beyond words and at least one or two will have preferred place in the display. If your home is English Tudor in type you will delight in the Oxford or Gainsborough pattern. And there are the Louis XIV and Della Robbia, in case your dining room is French or Italian in feeling.

Haviland and English Bone china are more sparklingly lovely than ever, as are the new patterns in Fostoria glassware. Look for them.

Lamesa Will Hold Annual Banquet Soon

March 19 Is The Date Set For Annual Affair; Plans For Program Made; Expecting Large Attendance

LAMESA, March 14 (Special)—The annual banquet for Lamesa Chamber of Commerce is set for Thursday, March 19th according to W. G. Weekes, Chairman of the entertainment bureau of the local chamber. Already tickets are on sale and 300 plates expected.

The banquet will be served by the Church of Christ ladies and a program has been arranged. The affair will be served between the hours of 8 and 10 p. m. so state those in charge.

W. T. (Tanlac) Strange, of Big Spring will deliver the annual address for the banquet according to announcement given out Wednesday of this week by officials of the local chamber.

TO COMPLETE BRIDGE

Highway Department Nearly Through In Motley Area

The last bridge in Motley county on U. S. highway No. 70 between Matador and the Cottle county line, is expected to be completed this week but opening will not be possible for about 30 days or more, Guy H. Johnston, division construction engineer, states.

Just east of Matador is Ballard creek and a four-section bridge is being built across the creek.

Four bridges are included in the project from Matador east to the county line. Besides the bridge over Ballard creek, there is another over Tee Pee creek and one over the South Pease river, with another for the overflow of backwater from the river.

Traffic is now being routed over the three bridges that have been completed and opened.

PREPARE FOR ELECTION

SPUR, Mar. 14. (Staff Special)—Mayor Ned Hogan has announced an election to be held Tuesday, April 7 for the purpose of electing a mayor and two commissioners. Foy Vernon was named presiding judge in charge of the election. Voting will be in the director's room of the Spur National bank.

The Bolshevist Navy consists of four vessels, the Marat, the Paris Commune, the October Revolution and the Michael Fruntze. All these vessels are 15 years old.

SHOULD THE CHILDREN EAT IT?

PARENTS, particularly mothers, are paying a lot of attention to children's diet these days. For it is far more economical and pleasant to keep a child well by feeding him correctly than by nursing and doctoring him back to health.

Of course the doctor should be consulted regarding what a child should eat and what he should not eat. But do you realize that the leading manufacturers of food now seek the advice and approval of the leading nutritional authorities in the country, relative to the claims they make for their products in their advertising?

In other words, food advertisements are reliable sources of information regarding diet. They are based upon the results of the latest approved scientific discoveries about vitamins, minerals and roughage, in relation to vigorous bodies, clear complexions, sound teeth and properly regulated systems.

So read these advertisements carefully. Consult your doctor about them. Very often the advertiser invites you to do this because he has asked authorities, whom your doctor respects, about those advertisements first.

Catholic Bishop Is Due Here Today

RT. REV. R. A. GERKEN, D. D.

Making his second official visit to Lubbock, the Rt. Rev. R. A. Gerken, D. D., of Amarillo, Bishop of the Amarillo Diocese of the Roman Catholic church, will be in the city this afternoon and this evening, Rev. Gregory A. Boeckman, pastor of St. Joseph's church of Lubbock, has announced.

Bishop Gerken will administer the Sacrament of Confirmation here. He is the first Bishop of the Amarillo Diocese, which was erected in August, 1926, by the present reigning pontiff, Pope Pius XI. Rev. Mr. Gerken was installed as Bishop in April, 1927.

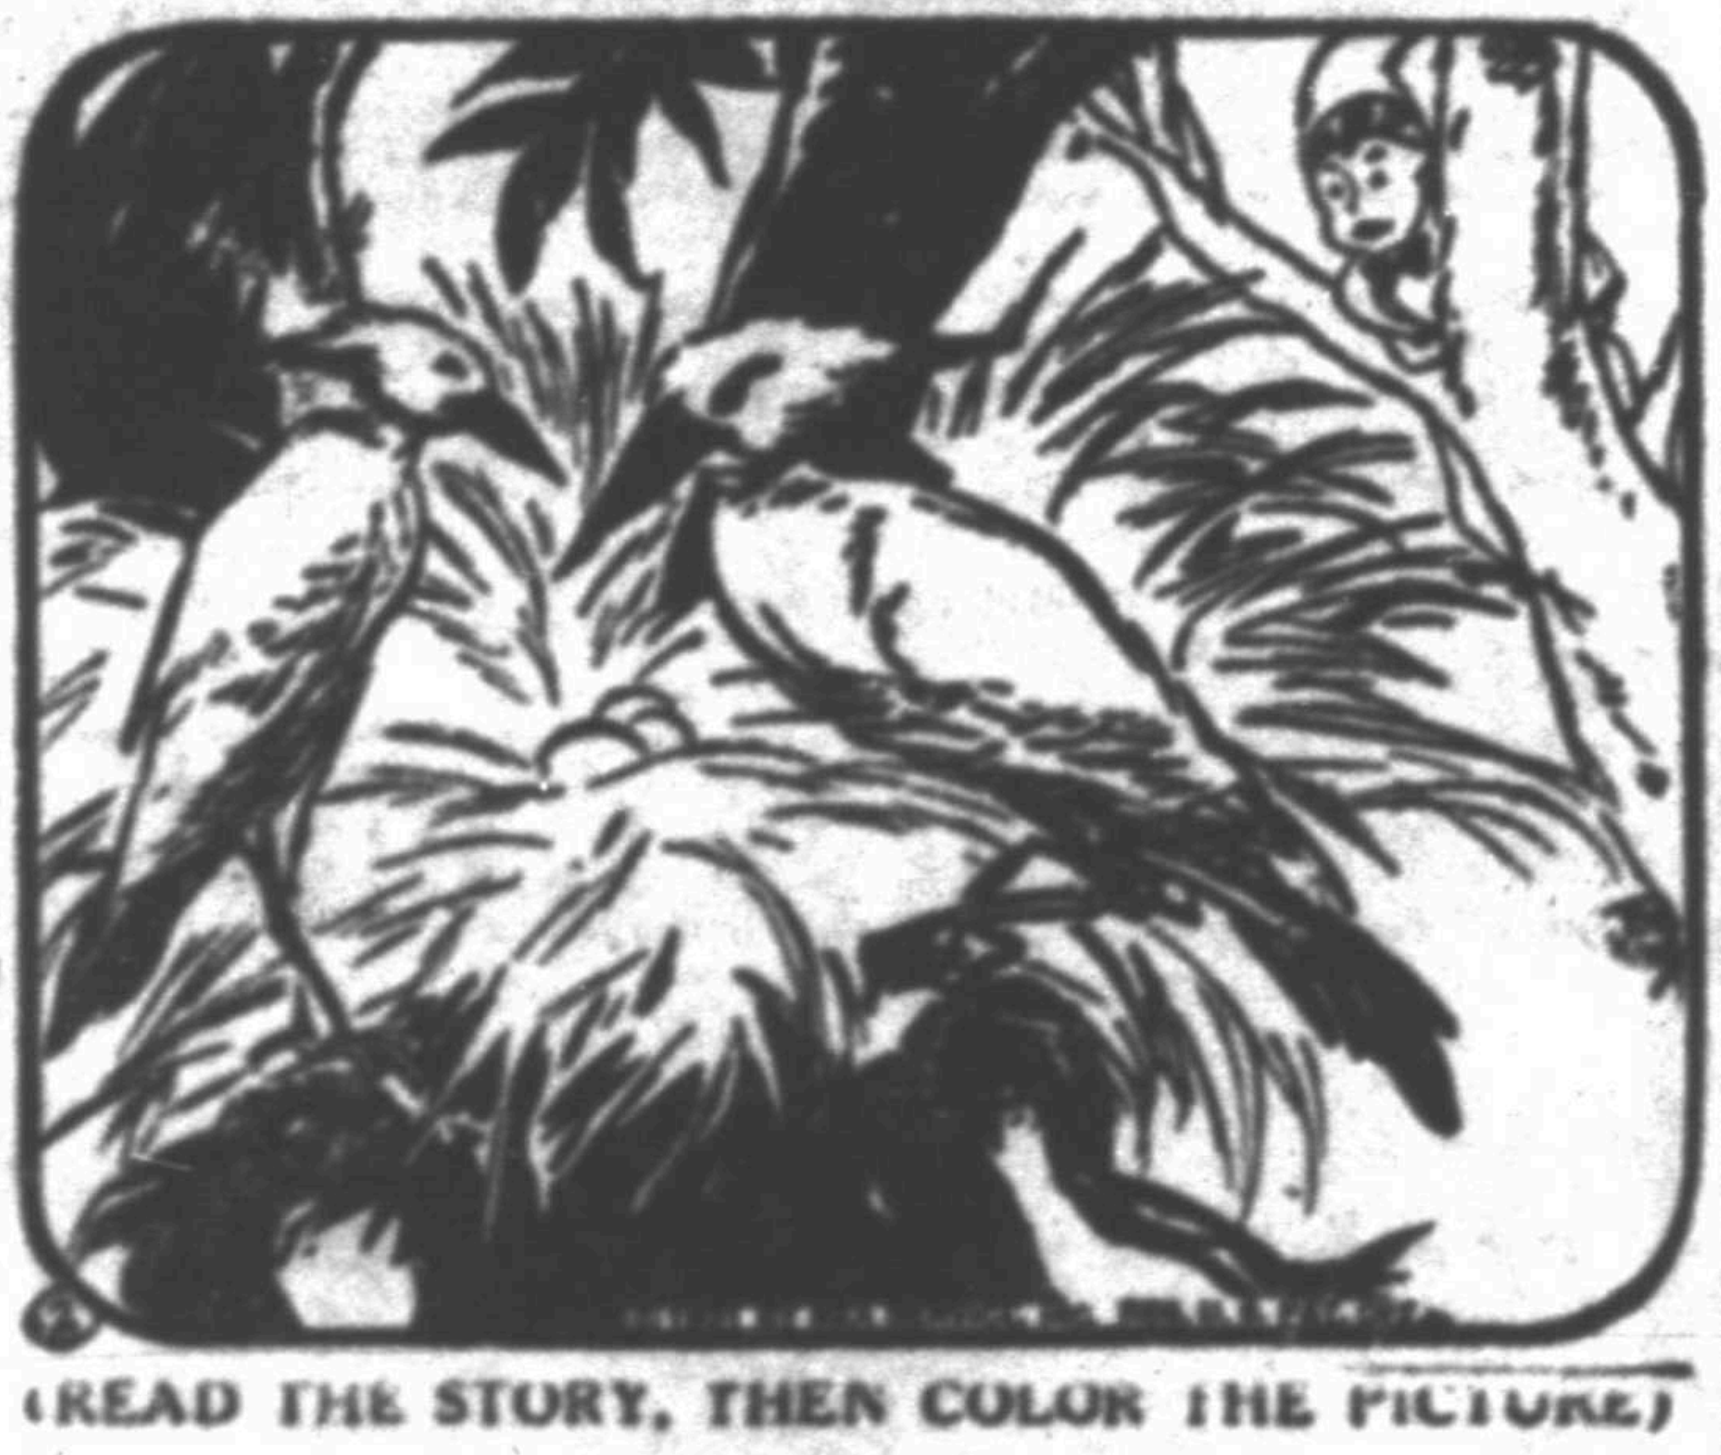
THE TINYMITES

STORY by HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES by KING



(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

Said Colwny Tinymite, "I hope that you kill no more antelope. They are such pretty animals. I hate to see them slain. I don't think I could ever be a hunter. It would upset me. I couldn't kill a single thing. My trip would be in vain."

"Ha, ha," laughed Scouty. "You are wrong, because I know that you are strong for killing one thing. That is time and you know well I'm right. You'd rather loaf than work a bit. So, what you said just doesn't fit." Wee Clowny blushed and frankly was a funny looking sight.

One of the hunters then said, "Well, we're going to rest here for a spell. Our camp is just around the bend. Why don't you come along? I don't know just how long 'twill take, but we'll prepare some antelope steak. I think you lads will like it, though it's just a wee bit strong."

"Oh, great!" cried Coppy. "I can eat a real good share. 'Twill be a treat!" And so they joined the hunters and soon reached the comfy camp. It wasn't long until a meal was cooked and my, it tasted real! Wee Clowny stuffed and said, "I am a hungry little scamp!"

A real soft chirping filled the air and Scouty cried, "Look over there! What is that, in that spreading tree? A bird's nest, I'll just bet." And, then he looked and, sure enough, the nest was made of twigs and stuff. "Don't touch them," said a hunter. "It will only make them fret."

"Those birds are hammerheads and they have worked, I guess, both night and day to make their home a dandy one. It's strong as it can be. They fasten it so it won't fall. To them that isn't hard at all. You'll notice it is clinging to low branches of the tree."

For Ginger's Sake

hand and burst out laughing, and said, 'Oh, Eddy! Oh, how gorgeous!' over and over again."

"But why in the world did you ask Bard to do such a thing?" ejaculated Phil.

"Because," confessed Speed shamefacedly, "I thought she was jealous because Cotton made such a fuss over Eddy. I wasn't on about Bard."

Phil rolled expressive eyes toward heaven. "Go on," she said at last in a strangled voice. "You left her at the landing."

That was really all there was to tell. They had joined Bard where he was painting at the edge of the wood and waited for Pat and Eddy to come back from their walk. Ginger did not come. Eddy went to the landing—perhaps an hour later—and she was not there. No one had seen her since.

"And where were—all the others?" asked Phil quietly.

The others, it seemed, had been all over the place doing their accustomed work. Pietro had prepared luncheon for them, Benito had fed and watered his birds and caught fish for their supper, and Angelo worked in the garden. They had assisted in the search for her through the woods and throughout the cottage.

Phil's first inclination was to notify the sheriff immediately and get in touch with the state police who patrolled the highway, but Mr. Tolliver hesitated to adopt so drastic a measure until it was found to be absolutely necessary.

"Ginger is so proud," he said. "If she has just gone off alone to wear out a fit of the sulks the publicity would embarrass her terribly."

"But Ginger would not do that," said Phil. "I know her. She could never be so cross or worried that she would deliberately alarm us like this without reason. Something has happened to her."

"What I am afraid of is that she has fallen in the woods and hurt herself, sprained an ankle, or fainted," said Eddy. "That's the only way I can account for it. I agree with Phil—she wouldn't do this on purpose."

"Go and look in the woods again, boys, and have Benito call her. We must try to figure out how best to go about this."

A shrill and piercing shriek from Jenky drew them to the open door. She was flying up the gravel path from the barnyard, one arm thrown protectingly over her head, one hand stretched out at full length before her, and gripped between her thumb and forefinger as if it were something poisonous was a bit of common string, from the end of which dangled a scrap of brown wrapping paper.

Steel Plants May Be Moved Near Detroit

World's Hub Of Automotive Industry May Also Turn Into Steel Center; Will Make Prices Lower

DETROIT, March 14.—Auto men and bankers, who have made Detroit the world's hub of automotive activity, now are directing their efforts toward making the city a huge center to supply sheet steel and other such products direct to the automotive plants.

Rumors of huge steel combines seeking sites for plants in and near the city have been going the rounds of automotive and manufacturing circles for months. It is expected that several will commence plants before the year is out, furnishing employment for thousands now out of work.

Can Cut Costs

Automobile manufacturers have realized during the past few years that they could put their cars on the market cheaper if they could purchase their steel close by and avoid shipping costs. Sheet steel has been shipped in here from eastern steel centers such as Toledo, Cleveland, Pittsburgh and Youngstown.

Automobile production men say steel can be produced as cheaply in Detroit as it is in the eastern centers. The iron ore can be brought down from the Lake Superior regions cheaper by boat than it can by the combined boat and rail method used to ship it into interior steel cities. Coal can also be shipped up the Great Lakes.

May Mean Cheaper Cars

By erecting their own steel plants, automobile experts assert much of the expense in body and frame construction will be cut. Rail rates, research overhead and production costs could be lowered, manufacturers believe, and such reduction might result in a cheaper product for the consumer.

Mentioned as possible seekers of manufacturing sites in Detroit are some of the biggest names in the steel industry. Among them are Bethlehem, United States Steel Corporation and the Mather interests.

Combine Rumored

It is expected that increased activity in the steel industry will be brought about here if the rumor of a gigantic steel combine, closely rivaling the U. S. Steel Corporation, being pushed by the Eaton-Mather group in Cleveland, is brought about.

The automotive industry takes 18 per cent of the annual steel production of the country, the ranking single consumer. That is the primary reason why business men of the city are endeavoring to secure an independent supply of steel for consumption by the automobile industry here.

Co-Op Area In Second Place

Lubbock District Ranks 2nd In Number Of Members And Percentage Of Deliveries Are Made In Past Season

The Lubbock district of the Texas Cotton Cooperative association ranks both second in number of members and percentage of delivery of bales ginned for the 1930 cotton crop. The district was fourth in number of bales of cotton sold through the cooperative group.

Reports indicate the membership this coming year will be much larger than last year according to Charles M. Davis, manager of the district. There is an increased interest in the program, which includes better seed as well as cooperative marketing.

Others To Sign

Many farmers who have not marketed their crop through the association are planning to do so and will sign the contract. Present contracts cover the 1931 as well as the 1930 crop, local officials state.

The Abilene district with 60,497 bales delivered out of 275,130 ginned, claims 22 percent of delivery. Members number 7,805.

Lubbock's record is: members 10,590; bales delivered, slightly under 80,000; ginnings, 381,371; percentage of delivery, 21.

Waco: 9,599 members; 148,428 bales delivered; 832,273 bales ginned; 18 percent delivered.

Dallas: 11,226 members; 129,838 bales delivered, 853,777 bales ginned; 15 percent delivered.

On Auto Row In Lubbock

Bits Of News And Personal Mention Gleaned From Motor Car Dealers In Plains Capital

RESULT OF SHOW

A new kind of optimism pervades the atmosphere along Lubbock's Auto Row. It was born with the duration and comes as a direct result of Lubbock's third annual automobile show, brought to a successful close a week ago today. Local dealers have put up a brave front and have tried hard to be optimistic since the first of the year 1931 and the arrival of the most beautiful and serviceable cars manufactured to date. But the new wave is materialistic instead of idealistic and fantastic. There's a reason.

DIFFERENT LAST WEEK

Auto Row's weekly visit to each of Lubbock's retail car dealers has heretofore been received with a degree of stand-offishness in some display rooms and his quest for news has been met with an I-wish-I-had-some sigh in reply. It was different last week following the three-day display of the 1931 models. Besides having from one to four new car deliveries to report, a good sign in itself, every dealer has "on his string" a number of likely prospects.

THINGS LOOKING UP

With one and all the statement regarding the recent show was about as follows: "It was the biggest success in the history of the Lubbock Auto Row. Smaller than usual in number of cars and in number of dealers participating, the 1931 show goes down as triumphant. Things are looking up. A great difference could be told from the opening hour of the show. We sold cars and are selling cars and have a fine bunch of prospects lined up as a result."

TEN NEW ONES DELIVERED

Ten new automobiles were delivered to Lubbock drivers during the three days that followed the show. It is possible that as many as five more were sold last week. One, the first 1931 Chrysler to be delivered in Lubbock, was sold on the opening day of the show. It went to Frank Jolley, a sedan in the new six series. Approximately twenty used cars were moved last week.

THREE BUY FORDS

Lubbock Auto Company announces the delivery of three new Fords last week. A Ford Victoria coupe, new in its line, was delivered to J. W. Richards. Miss Margaret Connor drives a new two-door sedan and "Cap" Moore added a two-door sedan to his garage last week.

SELLS FOUR CHEVROLETS

Four Chevrolets were sold by Kuykendall Chevrolet Company during the three days following the show. Warren Landers bought a sedan, Ted Barnett a coach and Jack Mabry a coach. L. G. Haynes purchased a new roadster delivery.

USED CARS SELL ALSO

New car sales at Scoggin-Dickey Motor Company, dealers for Oakland and Pontiac, were limited to one delivery last week, this a Pontiac coach to O. A. Woody, an Avalanche-Journal employe, but the company did a good used car business and reported pleasing prospective sales.

ADDED TO FORCE

J. E. Roberts, formerly of Lubbock, more recently of Hobbs, N. M., has been added to the city sales force at Scoggin-Dickey. C. E. Sloan, former district representative for Oakland and Pontiac at Oklahoma City, has moved to Lubbock and will serve in that capacity in this district. He replaces W. R. Ramsen who has been transferred to Indianapolis, Ind. S. D. Braden, sales promotion manager for the company at Oklahoma City, and R. W. Losey, zones sales manager of Oklahoma City territory, were in Lubbock last week conferring with local and South Plains Pontiac and Oakland dealers. A special dinner and meeting was held at the Hilton Hotel.

M. C. WILLIAMS BUYS BUICK

Ratliff-Rogers, local Buick distributors, delivered one new car last week and a number of used machines. The new one, a roadster in the new straight 8 series, went to M. C. Williams.

NEW PLYMOUTH SOLD

Another new car sale as a direct outgrowth of the automobile show was registered by Royalty Motor Company, dealers for Dodge and Plymouth. Rupert Hays purchased a new Plymouth sedan last week.

TO ATTEND CONVENTION

George P. Kuykendall, Lubbock Chevrolet dealer, and ten members of his staff will attend a novel retail sales convention Monday when nearly 400 Chevrolet representatives of West Texas meet at Amarillo. A luncheon at the Herring Hotel will be followed by a full afternoon of instruction at the Municipal auditorium. A feature of the luncheon will be the installation of officers of the "100-Car Club," a star salesmen's honorary organization. W. L. Price of the Kuykendall Chevrolet company here is to be inaugurated as secretary-treasurer since he is the third highest salesman in the Amarillo Zone. Other Lubbock men who will attend are J. O. Kuykendall, W. K. Moreland, M. H. McFarlane, Neil S. Phontson, A. A. Gearheart, C. A. Hubbard, Guy Wheatly, C. C. Arnold and Glen Burson.

Commission's Approval Not Given Plans

Commercial Broadcasting Of Programs With Short-Wave Receivers Is Denied By Federal Official

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 14—Plans to pick up radio programs in all parts of the world and broadcast them on a commercial basis to listeners with short-wave receivers have incurred a setback.

Denial of the Westinghouse company's application for removal of the experimental restriction on the relay broadcasting of W8XK has been recommended by Ellis A. Yost, chief examiner of the federal radio commission.

Reach Few People

Yost holds that programs broadcast to short wave listeners would reach a comparatively small audience.

Relaying programs between the United States and other countries has been carried on experimentally by various stations at infrequent intervals.

Yost contends that the popular demand for a short wave service and development of the art does not yet warrant taking it out of the experimental class.

Licenses Issued

Licenses have been issued to 10 companies for experimental relay stations, and 23 out of 27 channels available for such service have been assigned.

Westinghouse has been experimenting in short wave and relay broadcasting since 1922. The expense of operating the relay station from 1924 to 1930 excluding program costs was approximately $400,000. During 1930 its transmitters operated an average of 406 hours a month.

Switch On Lights

Strengthening Of Radio Is Easy

NEW YORK, March 14—(AP)—Radio receivers powered through the lighting lines often suddenly increase in volume when a switch is turned on in the home.

This is due, engineers explain, to the fact that the lighting circuit, which is tied into the set through the power supply equipment, acts as an auxiliary antenna.

Turning on the switch in effect, adds more wire to the pick-up circuit.

The gold mines of South Africa have apparently been worked from antiquity, and must in ancient times have supported a very large population and a much higher civilization than it has known up to our times.

A. V. C. Features Saving On Budget

A. V. C. windows are always inviting, not only for the variety of merchandise displayed but for their markings which spell economy in the budget-language of the average family. Just now those tags are more exciting than ever for a store-wide sale is on. While exact prices can not be quoted here, it will be interesting to note how inexpensively the linen closet can be replenished with towels, sheets and pillow cases for every day use, how practically the small boy or girl can be outfitted for summer in coveralls and play suits, what savings can be effected even in such staples as sheer and service-weight silk hose for women. And what housewife would despise a bargain in a broom—or a cage for the family canary?

An entirely fresh shipment of candies, Easter favors and toys is also at hand for this event with new low prices on these items too.

Seminole To Get Gas By April 1

SEMINOLE, March 14.—(Staff Special)—Seminole is assured of a natural gas supply before April 1, by officials of the West Texas Gas company, it was announced following a visit of officials of that company here. The line which is furnishing Brownfield and Seagraves is being extended to Seminole.

RANGER IS PROMOTED

CARLSBAD, N. M., March 14—(Staff Special)—Dixon Freeland, for the past year and a half chief ranger at Carlsbad Caverns National park, near here, has been promoted to superintendent of Wind Cave National park, in South Dakota.

Before coming to Carlsbad, Mr. Freeland was for seven years on the ranger force of Yosemite National park, California. He has been acting as superintendent of the local park in the absence of Col. Thomas L. Boles, superintendent.

Examinations Will Begin At Tech Monday

Entire Week Will Be Spent In Exams; Spring Term Registration To Open On Next Monday

Terminating the 12 weeks work for the winter term in Texas Technological college, final examinations will begin Monday and will continue through Friday. The examination schedule was released several days ago.

Three examinations will be held each day, each of these exams being two hours in length. No regular classes will be held in the college this week. The examination periods begin at 8 o'clock and 10:30 o'clock each morning and at 2 o'clock each afternoon. No examinations are scheduled for Friday afternoon.

To Visit Homes

Most of the students will complete their tests by Thursday afternoon although a few will have to remain here Friday. Most of the students who live out of town will take advantage of the two-day vacation and visit their homes during the week-end.

Registration for the spring term will be held Monday, March 23. Students who will have to make no changes in their schedules for next term will only have to pay their fees when they register. Students who change their courses will require considerable more time for registration.

New students will first have to take a physical examination before they will be permitted to register. After Monday an extra fee of two dollars will be charged for late registration.

Horses have the power of sleeping while standing. Their legs are provided with muscular mechanisms which cause them to lock, as it were, and permit the animals to rest somewhat as if they were standing on stilts.

Double Appeal Offered When Windows Of Montgomery-Ward Store Unveiled

Women who are interested in outfitting themselves smartly without doing violence to the family budget will be —in fact, always have been—attracted to the ready-to-wear section of Montgomery-Ward's, long famed for its startling values. And it is a happy coincidence that new low price levels have been reached during the past few days in a sale that includes every item of women's wear. So that the window unveiling will have a double appeal at this store.

Just as an example of the newness of the fashions here consider a coat of the semi-formal type created in trico broadcloth of the navy skipper blue and having the flattering wide-revered collar in eggshell lapin. Unusual sleeves with button trim lend added chic. Or another of rough tweed exquisitely lined with high grade satin.

"My Own" Featured

"My Own" hats, featured here, present a wide assortment of styles in bandeau, turban and brimmed models. One of the bandeau type of beige straw braid with ribbon trim is noteworthy. And another of black horsehair enlivened by a flat trim of velvet roses on bandeau and crown. There is a tricky little hat box, to be had too, with each purchase.

The season's prints, which everyone admits are quite different from and superior to those of any previous season, are to be found at Montgomery-Ward's—but no one pattern lingers long. At last inspection a redingote of navy patterned in peach, green and tan and topped by a smart full length coat of navy wool crepe was memorable. And a street dress of brown and beige with roll collar finished with long ties of self material.

Suits of tweed and knit materials in the preferred 1931 colors are ridiculously low-priced and at the same time astonishingly attractive and wearable.

FERRY'S SEEDS

. . . tested for generations

HERE come tomatoes a deeper scarlet than have ever been grown before . . . and sweeter peppers . . . fatter, yellower squashes . . . all the vegetables in your garden give abundant evidence that Ferry's purebred Seeds produce more successfully. Colors in the flowers grown from Ferry's Seeds are more vivid, more gorgeous. They have a richer, deeper fragrance. All this heritage of superior size, color, radiance and flavor is due to generations of tested plants and seeds.

Ferry's Seeds are not placed upon the market until their strain has been tested through years of seeding and growth in the Ferry-Morse laboratory fields. No wonder Ferry's purebred Seeds produce vegetables and flowers of unequaled goodness and beauty.

Look for the Ferry Seed Display Box filled with purebred seeds. It is placed near you, in your neighborhood store. Plant with Ferry's purebred Seeds this year and assure yourself of a successful garden. Ferry-Morse Seed Co., Detroit, Michigan.

Tech To Hold Two Sessins This Summer

Catalog For Term Now Being Printed; First Term Is To Open June 9; 2nd Period Closes August 27

Two terms will be held during the summer session of Texas Technological college, the first term opening June 9 and closing July 18 and the second opening July 20 and closing August 27.

In addition to the regular faculty there will be some special lectures during the session. The regular trip to Carlsbad Caverns will be held as usual and the summer lyceum course also is planned.

Catalog showing the courses available, is now being printed and will be ready for distribution soon. Its printing was delayed until the state legislature acted on the appropriation for the summer session. Texas Technological college this year has an appropriation of $21,000 or 40 per cent of the amount sought by the board.

Lynn Farmers Are Ready For Spring

(Special to The Avalanche-Journal)

TAHOKA, March 14.—With the best spring season in the ground in the history of the county, Lynn county farmers have between eighty and ninety per cent of their land put up already for planting. Frequent rains and snows of the winter and unusually fine weather which has permitted plowing earlier than most years give farming conditions here the excellent outlook, which old timers declare is the best they have ever seen.

Indications are that this year's cotton acreage will be less than that of last year. Nearly all farmers will plant more feed than in the past due to the short crop of this year and to the early season practically insuring at least a fair feed crop. Many farmers are raising small fields of wheat this year, which have been of great benefit in furnishing grazing for livestock during the winter.

Then there's the facetious dry cleaner who advertised: "We're Johnny on the spots."

Emergency Is Declared As Visitor's Hemphill-Wells Description Is Given

Adjectives, a distinguished man of letters once said, are like strychnine—they should be used only in emergencies and sparingly, at that.

If this be true an emergency is declared herewith, for unless a visit to the ready-to-wear department of Hemphill-Wells company is sufficient cause to unlimber a glittering set of modifiers then this useful but mischievous part of speech might as well be deleted from the language. N. B. — See Monday night's windows for confirmation.

All The New Developments

Here are all the new developments of the season—the two-color costume, the jacket frock in its bewildering forms of expression, the tailored suit with its unexpected touch of color here and there, the smart little silk frock for the school girl who prefers several costumes at a lower price than the matron usually pays, the new hats, many with pert feather trimmings or touches of the "Argentine colors," of which one surely will hear a great deal more as the fashion season advances.

Take suits, for instance. Take as many as you like, but if you want to look supremely well this season make your selection a DelMonte-Hickey. Such as the one in duotone tweed at Hemphill-Wells with exquisite hemstiching on the matching crepe blouse, or another of navy chonga whose blouse of eggshell satin wears a touch of formal elegance in its shirred shoulder line and its flattering accordian pleated cape collar.

Coats Stunning

The coats by DelMonte-Hickey are as stunning as the suits, of course, and the woman whose architectural elevations preclude the latter type of costume will revel in the selection of full length wraps by this fashion authority. And of course there are numberless others who simply prefer a coat. Other suits and coats in the Hemphill-Wells showing are fully as wearable as those by this famous house, notably the well known Printzess line.

And as for dresses! It is sincerely to be hoped that an adorable little "Sunday night" frock of beige chiffon with embroidered golden dots will fall into the hands of some Lubbock young person whose brown hair is shot with reddish glints and whose eyes match the darker brown of the crisp taffeta bands which outline the square neckline and the crisp taffeta bows on sleeve and shoulder. In the same category is a more dignified number in ivory chiffon patterned in grey and black, the whole enlivened by two soft bows of velvet in chartreuse and emerald placed at the normal waistline.

This shop is headquarters for the smart Mary Elizabeth and Claire lines of frocks as every fashion-conscious woman in Lubbock knows, and Mrs. Ben Maxey, department head, is authority for the statement that never have the garments by these two designers been so lovely or so useful. For example there is the Mary Elizabeth street dress of navy triple georgette and crepe in the new Rose of Sharon shade combined with white, your three-color costume at its best! The short-sleeved dress of georgette has a box-pleated skirt attached to a bodice of white crepe with touches of hand embroidery in blue. The hip-length jacket is youthfully straight and is simply "made" by the employment of a long scarf collar with graceful ties lined in rose crepe.

Remember your mother's wedding picture and how attractive she looked in her wide-brimmed hat of "chip" straw? Prepare to emulate her example this season for "chip," "pineapple" and other rough straws have come back. And very graciously, as Hemphill-Wells windows will illustrate. Bright feathers—perhaps synthetic but no less effective for that—touch up the tailored styles for street and sports and hand made flowers and velvet bows decorate the more formal Watteau models.

The store's shoe department is complete for spring, according to John Keathley, manager, who illustrated with a pattern in sea sand with reptile trim and having the fifteen-eighths box heel decreed for street and sports, and a three-eyelet tie in pigskin with caramel bindings. The simple black kid regent pump is again in the fashion limlight—good news for the woman of conservative taste—and the blue kid pump is also smart.

FIVE WAYLAND GRADUATES

PLAINVIEW, —(Staff Special)—Five students graduated from Wayland college here at the close of the winter term. They are: Truett Hodnett and Ed R. Landtroop, of Plainview; Miss Elizabeth Gantt of Wildorado; Kirby Kirkpatrick of Haskell and Henry Pennington of Joy.

Maurice Chevalier, according to his publicists, is not so much interested in the $78,000 he's going to get for broadcasting as he is in the drama of the thing. The delicatessen dealer had a word for it.

You're Invited to visit our store and see the latest Styles and Fashions in

Home Furnishings

In the great galaxy of bright new styles of home furnishings and decorations here one finds a new scale of lower prices. Our entire purchases for a new season were made when wholesale prices of furniture were at the lowest ebb ...... lowest since the war.

From the several car loads of the new styles we have just received every kind of suite to be found ..... from the cellar to the attic we can furnish that nook or room expertly and inexpensively as you would want us to.

You will really enjoy a trip through the rows and rows of the lovely new furniture that we are now displaying on our floor and we urge you to make an early visit and start immediate plans for the spring re-decorating program.
