Faculty Hired in Monday Night Board Meeting

Wellington School faculty members were elected in a meeting of the board of trustees Monday evening, April 13.

Supt. J. L. Harper said a reduction of three teachers was necessary due to two factors: a drop in the number of scholastics in the district and to the feeling that the district cannot continue to pay full salaries of so many teachers out of local funds as it is presently doing.

The district is currently paying the salaries of four teachers out of local funds and if the same number were retained, next year it would have paid five. The average daily attendance at the end of the fourth 6-weeks period was 627, Mr. Harper said.

Under its revised setup, the district will pay two teachers from local funds, Mr. Harper said.

Thayne Amonett, elementary school principal, was elected recently to succeed Mr. Harper as superintendent effective Jan. 1, 1971. From September through December, Mr. Amonett will continue as head coach and have other duties, Mr. Harper said.

The school has lost one principal, and A. A. McQueary, junior high school principal, has been transferred to succeed Mr. Amonett as elementary school principal.

Other elementary teachers elected Monday night were Mrs. Sam Thompson, Mrs. R. B. Tucker, Mrs. Vernon Peters, Mrs. Dan Henard, Jr., Mrs. Walter Camp, Mrs. Gus Barton, Mrs. Dan Henard, Sr., Mrs. Claude Savage, Mrs. J. I. Morgan, and Mrs. A. A. McQueary. Miss Rita Lowry was re-elected Title I reading teacher; Mrs. Lynn Carter, special education teacher and Mrs. Cal Sugg school nurse.

Junior High will have Dick Hamilton as head teacher and other faculty members elected are Mrs. Ralph Word, Mrs. Chester White, Mrs. Rufus Sweat, R. B. Tucker, Carroll Nunnelley, and Mrs. Billy R. Long, who was transferred from high school, and Mrs. Lynn Wright, Title I reading teacher.

Big Candidate Rally Set Friday

Candidates seeking offices from the state down to the precinct level will meet the people of Collingsworth at a big political rally in Wellington Friday night, April 17.

It will be in Bura Handley Community Center, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

The rally is sponsored by Collingsworth County Farmers Union and plans were announced by Rudie Tate, president.

A pie and cake auction will be held, with the buyers taking home the items they buy, Mr. Tate said. This is not a box supper or basket dinner type action. Successful bidders will take home what they buy.

All candidates will be given an opportunity to speak, but there will be a time limit determined by the number who are present, explained the Farmers Union president.

Judge David Brown of Sherman, who is running for attorney general of Texas, heads the list of candidates at this time.

He will arrive at Marian Airpark, Wellington, at 6:30 p.m. —See back page

The clean-up campaign is voluntary for the most part and dependent on the cooperation of the city.

There is one exception. This year the city is zeroing in on abandoned and junked cars and other vehicles left in streets and alleys.

Their owners are asked to cooperate in removing these from the streets and alleys to places where they will not be so unsightly.

If this request for voluntary removal is not observed by the time the clean-up week begins on April 20, the City Council will approve legal measures to impound these cars and the ex-

Sale of Wellington Bumper Stickers Set

Wellington — Little Town, Big People!

Bumper stickers with this wording to advertise Wellington will go on sale Thursday, April 16.

It is a project of Wellington Rotary Club, with a two-pronged purpose: to boost the town, and to raise money for the club's scholarship fund, declared Lynn Jenkins, president.

The project is under the direction of Billy Moseley, immediate past president.

The slogan was suggested by Tim Jones, 13-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Hezze Jones. An eighth grade student in Wellington Junior High School, he was judged winner in the contest conducted by Rotarians.

He received a plaque this week from the club president, Mr. Jenkins.

"We want to promote Wellington wherever we go," declared Mr. Moseley. "We want to let people know we are proud of our city and support it."

The Rotary Scholarship covers tuition to Clarendon College and is presented to some worthy boy, he explained. It was not awarded for the last two years, but it will be resumed for the 1970-71 school year.

Dwight Bowen was the last recipient. The bumper stickers were distributed to Rotarians Tuesday and are available from these members.

Approximately 50 children were listed in the school census as due to enter the first grade next year.

Plans to Accelerate Rural Housing Construction Told

Administrator James V. Smith of the Farmers Home Administration said in a prepared statement: "This Administration has a National objective of building some 3 million rural homes with public assistance within the next decade. To achieve this we need new concepts in rural home building and new administrative procedures so we can commit more of our agency's resources to the private builders for housing development projects and other types of industrialized rural home building. Our aim is to triple last year's record this coming year."

Farmers Home Administration has been authorized to issue conditional commitments on single-family dwellings in the open country and rural communities up to 5,500 population. The program is designed to encourage the construction or rehabilitation of single-family dwellings in rural areas for sale to low and moderate income families.

Representative Bob Price of Texas recently spoke out strongly in favor of the rural housing provisions in the 1969 housing bill. "Through its rural housing program," Representative Price said, "the Farmers Home Administration has been making substantial inroads on this problem, and it is vital that this activity not only be continued but accelerated."

Information and applications may be obtained from the Collingsworth County Farmers Home Administration office at 904 West Avenue in Wellington, between the hours of 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. The telephone number is 447-2597.

Stable Policy on Oil Imports Needed, Ramsey

AUSTIN.—Railroad Commissioner Ben Ramsey said here today that a stable federal policy on limitation of foreign oil imports is necessary for the orderly development and regulation of the petroleum industry in Texas.

Ramsey is seeking a second full elective term on the three-member Railroad Commission in the primaries May 2.

A consistent federal policy of restrictive imports would not only be beneficial to the domestic industry but also would give the Railroad Commission a more firm basis to determine its policies, Ramsey said. "This is not just as oil industry problem," Ramsey added. The state government relies heavily on taxes from the petroleum businesses for support of its programs, including services, schools and universities. "Additionally," Ramsey said, "some 210,400 employees in Texas alone with a $1.6 billion a year payroll are directly dependent on the petroleum industry."

"Oilmen and their families, as any other group, have a right to know where they stand," Ramsey said. Unlimited foreign oil imports and the inconsistency of federal policy, Ramsey continued, leaves the oilman, royalty owners, landowners, and state government in much the same position as the housewife with a heavy budget who has no idea what the family income will be from month to month.

Notes from Your County Home Demonstration Agent

By Mrs. Leta Hill

A professional dry cleaner can remove almost any stain in the book—but he is not a mind reader.

Many stains, such as those made by ginger ale and other sweetened soft drinks, become completely invisible when dry. When heat is applied to them, the stains become dark and permanent.

It is suggested you point out and identify these stains to your dry cleaner. Then he can take special measures to prevent permanent damage to your garments.

Honey

The honey you buy today has all the qualities that have made it a favorite sweet for centuries.

In addition, beekeepers and honey processors have new ways of packaging and handling honey that make it even more appealing to the taste—and more convenient to use.

Flavor, aroma and color of honey vary with the kind of flowers from which the bees gather the nectar.

As a rule, the lightest-colored honeys are the mildest. Much of the honey produced in this country is light-colored, mild-flavored sweet clover, clover or alfalfa honey.

Distinctively flavored honeys also come from orange and other citrus blossoms, tupelo tree, wild sage, cultivated buckwheat and tulip tree.

However, you'll find much of the honey on the market is a blend of different floral types. By blending, producers and processors keep their honey brand as uniform as possible in color and flavor.

Last year's honey production was record large—so supplies are plentiful.

HONEY CUBES are excellent in ice tea or other cold beverages.

1/2 c. honey
2 c. hot water
2 T. lemon juice

Pour hot water into honey, stirring to blend. Add lemon juice. Pour into ice cube trays and allow to cool slightly before placing in freezer. Serve in cube form, or crush and add to chilled tea or float in fruit punch.

To make an elegant ice ring, combine the ingredients, cool and add mint leaves and red cherries. Pour into ring or fancy mold and freeze. Unmold into punch bowl just before serving time.

A Question Answered

Can homemakers freeze the unused portion of a cooked turkey roast? Yes. Wrap the turkey for freezing, identify and date it and then freeze.

It is advisable to use the cooked turkey meat within 2 or 3 months for maximum quality. It is also suggested using the leftovers to make Turkey Hash. Cook 2 tablespoons of chopped onion and 1 level tablespoon of chopped green pepper in a couple of tablespoons of butter in a skillet until done. Add a tablespoon of chopped pimiento, the 1/2 cups of diced cooked turkey and a like amount of roasted bread cubes. Pour a half cup of cream over the hash and cook over low heat until the cream is absorbed.

FOLK TALES

and Bits of
Collingsworth County
History
by Nora Cocke Drake

Mobile Homes are not really new to this area at all, they have just changed models.

Coronado reported seeing Travois drawn by dogs on the Plains in 1540. Sometimes these had a small hut made of branches set upon the very top to carry small children. These must really have been the very first models of the trailer houses.

Most of the early 'claim' settlers to Collingsworth County came by covered wagon, an improved model—with wheels!

These were very completely equipped for families to live in while they traveled cross country. Usually they carried the essentials for 'setting up' their permanent home as well. The wagon bed could be set off onto the ground and used for a house while the wagon was put to use hauling supplies. After a house or dugout was ready for occupancy the wagon bows could be removed and stored and the wagon sheet could be used for other purposes or stored away for future trips.

Children loved this mode of travel, there was much freedom to explore and play. Ida Myers (Mrs. Grundy Karnes, oldest child of Judge and Mrs. P. W. Myers) wrote of one such trip made with her parents from Gribble Springs, Denton County, Texas to Collingsworth County when she was a child. Mrs. Karnes wrote this story for her niece, Peggy Riggs Wildman, so that "she would have a story to keep and enjoy" just last year after her 93d birthday. Dell Myers, Mrs. Howard Riggs, is the youngest of the Myers' children and was born after the family moved here.

This trip was made in 1888. The wagon was loaded; Jack and Bet, the fine team of mules, were hitched to the wagon; Mr. and Mrs. Myers and the six children "were off, driving forty miles each day. That was such an exciting happy trip for Bessie and me. We walked a lot, played in the sand, waded in the creeks, ran out in the woods when we came to any. We would get far behind and the wagon would have to stop and wait for us to catch up."

While the family lived in their mobile home in Childress which was "a small place, about two dozen houses, but very friendly", Mr. Myers went to visit an old friend, Will Elliott, in Collingsworth County. "One look was enough for Pa. Oregon, (where the Myers were really intending to move) lost all her glitter lure in one look. He chose a section that cornered with Mr. Elliott's. Pa came back to Childress almost in a run, hitched Jack and Bet to that wagon, filled it with lumber and hurried back out there like he thought someone might steal his section 66 if he was not there to claim and protect it. It was thirty miles from Childress to section 66 and it took two days to make the trip there and back. Pa worked faithfully and in two weeks had the lumber hauled to build us a home such as it was—one big room (above ground) and two dugouts. . . .

"The next spring my parents arranged for me to go back to Gribble Springs for a visit with my cousins there. I went with a family who were going back on business and who had been our neighbors there. Oh! how happy I was. We went in a covered wagon and had a nice trip. . . . I was gone a month. During that time the men (of what was to be called Fresno) got together and built a small school house three miles from our house. When we returned there was quite a caravan of us, several families, several covered wagons, and a bunch of cattle. Miss Emma Cocke and I took one wagon through. She did the

Sid Ewing Buys $950 Boar at National Show

J. Sid Ewing, veteran Poland China breeder from Dodson, purchased the seventh top-selling boar at the 17th annual National Poland China Spotlight, March 27-28 at Duncan, Okla.

The boar, shown by Charles Curtis and Sons of Churdan, Iowa, was the 10th place September boar and was sired by last year's Champion Spotlight boar that sold for $3,100 in the 1969 Spotlight sale.

Sixty-nine breeders from 12 states exhibited a record 249 head of fall boars and gilts, making it the largest Poland China Spotlight ever held.

Many old records fell in the sale of top-placing entries. Thirty prize winning boars averaged $699, and thirty top-placing gilts averaged $410.66, both new records for the annual event.

Chief keeper of the Vatican library, Cardinal Guiseppe Casper Mezzofanti (1774-1849) could translate 114 languages and 72 dialects, and spoke 60 languages fluently.

Miss Emma was going to teach school in that new school house."

Automation on the Farm Needs Serious Thought

COLLEGE STATION. — Have you totaled the capital you have invested in farm machinery and equipment lately? Chances are its been climbing, says W. S. Allen, Extension agricultural engineer.

On the other hand, unless you have expanded your operation tremendously, chances are equally good that your operation is producing a much greater volume of output without any increase in manpower.

Agricultural economists refer to this type of adjustment in farming operations as the substitution of capital for labor, Allen explains.

There are a number of non-economic reasons why a farmer will install a gutter cleaner or purchase some other piece of farm equipment even though it won't make any contribution to a more profitable farming operation.

Getting rid of a disagreeable chore is one. Another may be the satisfaction that goes with being the first, or only one, in the community to acquire a particular piece of equipment.

Justifying the purchase of additional farm equipment on economic grounds requires that the business be more profitable after the equipment is in operation.

However, Extension farm management specialists remind us that it is not enough just to make a profitable investment. Capable managers hunt for other alternate uses for their capital that may be even more profitable, says Allen.

During the past two decades, farmers have substituted tremendous amounts of capital for increasingly scarce, high-priced labor. Everyone agrees that this trend will continue.

Have your decisions to purchase or not to purchase labor saving equipment been generally satisfactory in the past? Could you strengthen future profits by placing greater reliance on economic considerations? These are among questions farmers should seriously ask themselves, suggests Allen.

Mrs. Edith Goodloe returned recently from Los Angeles where she visited for two weeks with friends.

Mrs. Glenis Wiseman Hatton and son of Albuquerque, N.M., were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ford last week.

He played in the Buffalo Band four years and the stage band one. He also played in a dance band that was not college-affiliated. He is a member of Kappa Kappa Psi fraternity.

Cyclist Club Sponsors Film

Motorcycle safety film will be sponsored in Wellington on Monday, April 20, by the Wellington Cyclist Club. It is open to everyone interested in motorcycling.

It will be shown in the Farm Bureau Hospitality Room at 7:30 p.m.
Patrolman Chester Fant of Quanah, safety officer for the Texas Department of Public Safety will present the film.

Members of the Wellington Cyclist Club point out that this is being held to emphasize safety in the area's fast-growing sport of motorcycle riding. It is sponsored by a major manufacturer of motorcycles and it will be of interest to those trying to make up their minds if they want to buy a machine, according to Dwight Bowen, a club member.

Effie Childress, Retired Teacher, Dies April 3

Miss Effie Leota Childress, 81, a principal of West Ward School, Wellington, from 1921 until 1943, died at the home of a niece, Mrs. Roy Long, in Fort Worth April 3, after an illness of several months.

She and her sister, Miss Zeffie Childress, came here together, and the latter served as principal of East Ward School.

From here they went to Muleshoe to complete their teaching careers. Miss Effie Childress retiring in 1961 after teaching 50 years, and Miss Zeffie Childress in 1960 after teaching 53 years.

The two were often thought of as a team in their work with the Wellington schools and many younger teachers recall the beginning of outstanding careers, under their guidance.

They had lived in the home of their niece, Mrs. Long (Margaret Childress) for six years. Miss Zeffie Childress died Feb. 10, 1969.

Miss Effie Childress was born Sept. 10, 1888 at Blackfoot, Anderson County. She received the B.A. degree from Texas Tech and M.Ed. from WTU in 1952.

Services were conducted at Meissner's Chapel at 1 p.m. Sunday, April 5, with the Rev. E. R. Gordon officiating. Graveside services were at 4 p.m. at Rock Church Cemetery in Blackfoot, where burial was beside her sister.

Survivors are two nieces, Mrs. Long and Mrs. W. G. Marquardt (Helen Childress) both of Fort Worth, and a brother, Grady Childress of Center, Colo.

A number of former Wellington residents attended the services.

Geo. Richards Dies at Olton

Services were conducted at Olton Methodist Church Monday and burial was at Olton.

The son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Richards, he was born Dec. 29, 1902, at Tolbert. The family came here while he was a small boy and lived in the Cross Roads community.

He was married to Miss Winifred Louise (Bill) Stall Nov. 10, 1923. They moved to Olton about 1925.

Survivors are his wife; a daughter, Mrs. Owen Norfleet of Olton; four grandchildren; a sister and three brothers: Mrs. Ruth Driskill of Roswell, N.M.; Herschel of Amarillo; R. L. of Plainview, and Cleo of Lubbock. Attending the funeral from here were Mr. and Mrs. Donald Curry, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Keller and Mr. and Mrs. Auburn Keller.

Mrs. Ray Richards of Amarillo spent several days last week with her mother, Mrs. Doshia Dix.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Harper recently were three of her cousins, all sisters, and the husband of one. They were Mr. and Mrs. Chester Corvine of Monte Vista, Colo., Mrs. Maurine Hill of Tracy, Calif., and Mrs. Bill Corvine of Albuquerque, N.M. The three women and their parents lived here many years ago.

how to live - and die - with Texas Probate

By Charles A. Saunders, State Bar of Texas, for the Texas Press Association WILL SUBSTITUTES—JOINTLY OWNED PROPERTY

Many people believe that an ideal method of owning property is "joint tenancy with right of survivorship", that is, putting the title in the names of husband and wife so that on the death of either one the property will be owned automatically by the other (referred to in this article as "joint ownership").

Joint ownership is not a new idea. In early England, the purpose of joint ownership was to avoid feudal tenures, the forerunner of present day death taxes.

Shortly after World War II the idea of joint ownership was rediscovered in Texas. Many thought this was a completely new idea created to do away with probate. Many misconceptions about it and its uses came about, and its limitations and disadvantages were often overlooked.

The simplicity of joint ownership has always been appealing; this convenient and inexpensive method of passing property is available today in certain situations under Texas law. It is not fair to say that property should never be held in joint ownership; neither is it accurate to say that all property should be held in joint ownership.

Government Bonds
Frequently U.S. bonds are registered in two names. A common method of registering such bonds is "John Smith or Mary Smith" (husband and wife).

A problem often arises if John or Mary dies. Do half of the bonds pass under the will of the one who died or do they all belong to the survivor named on the bond?

After conflicting court rulings in the several states, including Texas, the U.S. Supreme Court held in 1962 that the survivor named on the bond became the owner of all at the death of the other.

In this case (which came from Texas), a husband and wife purchased bonds with the funds they accumulated during marriage — U.S. bonds worth $87,035.50. In her will, the wife gave her property to her son. In a suit between the husband and the son to determine who owned the bonds, the U.S. Supreme Court held that the bonds belonged solely to the husband.

In another case the husband had purchased the bonds worth $18,000 and registered them in his name and the name of a daughter by a prior marriage. After his death the daughter claimed the bonds were hers.

In a suit seeking half of the bonds, the surviving wife claimed that her husband had used funds accumulated during their marriage to purchase the bonds. The wife failed to prove her claim and she lost.

When a U.S. savings bond is registered in the name of two individuals as co-owners, either may cash it in without the permission of the other.

Crop Rotation Ups Grain Yield

McGREGOR.—Crop rotation in the Texas Blacklands can give increased grain sorghum yields and fewer weed, insect and disease problems, reports Dr. Lloyd Fenn, Texas A&M University researcher.

Fenn, a soil scientist for the Texas A&M Research Center at McGregor, said their tests have revealed that continuous cropping of grain sorghum required a fertilizer treatment of 60-40-0 pounds of nitrogen, phosphorus and potash, respectively, to produce maximum yields.

Grain sorghum which followed oats required a treatment of only 40-20-0 to do the same job. Top yields of grain sorghum grown after a small grain crop were, at least, 200 pounds per acre more than yields from continuous cropping.

Glean-up Campaign Is Civic Project for Every Resident

Small cities are judged by their appearance—their cleanliness. Wellington is no exception to this rule of judgement.

The Clean-Up Campaign that starts Monday is the most intensive we have had in years. It is a civic project of which every resident is a part.

Junked and abandoned cars left on streets are a target this year, and the city has legal authority to back up its request that they be moved.

The rest is up to us, whether it is moving old cars on private property to places where they will be less noticeable, or trimming trees and hedges and in general cleaning up our premises.

Wellington that is clean and orderly can be worth dollars to itself, attracting travelers to stop, catching the eye of industrial prospects.

Beyond that, it can be a source of great civic pride and a reflection of the fine and progressive people that we are.

Other Editors Say . . .

A People on the Move!

When Texas Legislators passed the revised Motor Vehicle Control Law increasing the age youngsters can operate motor vehicles (4-wheel kind) to 16 years, it created a boom in the motor bike business like this state has never seen.

Our younger generation has an itch to travel and they aren't content to wait until they can drive a car, sports or otherwise, to get on the move; so the solution has been to mount the motorized cycle and head for the open road. Parents of these youngsters are also finding the cycle an interesting way of transporting and are creating a new sport—husband and wife hill climbing.

Most of the cycles appearing in Memphis are what is termed the trail bike, a cycle designed to travel over rough terrain. Memphis is even the site selected for a trail bike race by an Amarillo based club.

The cycling fad is growing faster than anything Memphis has seen in years. There have been approximately 50 tags issued for cycles by the county tax assessor-collector, and many are taking their cycling license tests, and having their bikes inspected as required by law.

What is the sport? Well the sport is traveling, primarily over unpaved terrain. Some are even discussing cross country trips along Red River, most however, enjoy going over terraces and climbing the abundance of sand hills in the area.

For the driving public, the danger of having more cycles on our streets is also present. As the youngsters tend to run in packs, motorists are going to have to be careful, especially at intersections. So far, locally, there have been no serious accidents but several narrow misses have been reported to us. Memphis has approximately 100 cycles of one kind or other it is being estimated.

We would encourage those who are taking up cycling to abide by the laws for operating their vehicles and to observe the traffic laws and exercise good judgement in selecting trails when out in the rough country.

Cycling is a sport enjoyed by many throughout the years. Memphis has many bicycles as well as motor bikes. The time of year for the sport is upon us; so we would encourage those riding the two wheelers to operate their mounts in a safe fashion.

BITTER CRITTER — The Litter Critter, the Texas Highway Department's faithful sidekick in the battle against highway litter, now is making his appearance on colorful 17x22-inch posters. AUSTIN.—State Welfare costs may go up sharply next year if Congress passes a new Medicaid bill.

State Senate Committee on Welfare Reform heard estimates that Medicaid amendments alone will require at least $25.9 million in additional state outlays during the coming biennium.

Burton G. Hackney, State Welfare Commissioner, predicts President Nixon's Family Assistance Plan of legislation might cost Texas a minimum of $22 million more each year and double the number of children on the state aid rolls.

Senate committee heard estimates that Medicaid changes will add more than $6.2 million to the state's obligations for the present biennium.

While welfare officials are now optimistic over being able to continue present program levels until the next legislative sessions, they will, at best, be in debt $13.5 million come January. That's the amount Gov. Preston Smith transferred to welfare from medical school construction funds to head off the scheduled April 1 cut in payments to the needy.

If rough estimates presented the committee are correct, the legislature will be looking at an increase of $70 million for new programs during the next fiscal period—not to mention another $20 million "catch-up" money carrying over from the current biennium.

If Congress places mental retardation under new limitations for inpatient services, the state could end up with another $9 million a year in new obligations, plus $8.2 million in unexpected expenses for the present fiscal period.

Your Own Future Prosperity

Spend a dollar here at home and it's a vote FOR the improvement of your own individual well-being.

Because it's a dollar that keeps on working for you . . . circulating and creating more trade volume in your own community.

Trade volume that makes YOUR business better, YOUR job more secure, YOUR schools and churches better, YOUR local investments more valuable and profitable.

Spend a dollar away from home and it's a vote AGAINST the life and growth of this community . . . the prosperity of which has much to do with the kind of living that YOUR work will provide for you.

Many small town folks have helped to vote themselves out of business, out of jobs, and out of investments which were the savings of a lifetime, by casting their $-ballots AGAINST the community in which they live.

SALT FORK SCD WINNERS

This Samnorwood land judging team placed second in the annual Salt Fork Soil Conservation District contests Wednesday, April 8. It

Linda Williams

Football Queen this year, and the girl selected as Most Talented, was Linda Williams.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Billy D. Williams, 108B West 13th, she was born here Jan. 14, 1952. She attended school in Shamrock before returning here.

Linda is also president of the Future Homemakers this year and she was on the All-District Basketball Team three years. She was WHS Basketball Queen and twice the queen's attendant.

A cheerleader three years, Linda also was a member of FTA and Ko Shari. Her interest in dramatics was shown by her participation in the Children's Play, one-act play and junior and senior plays.

Shorthand and speech are her favorite studies.

Outside of school, Linda was a member and officer of the Collingsworth 4-H Riding Club, and won many honors in rodeo competition.

West Texas University is the college of her choice after graduation.

Betsy Lindsey

Many honors have come to Betsy Trapp Lindsey, some of them concerned specifically with moulding the school's spirit and some paying tribute to Betsy's own spirited personality.

She is the wife of Jim Lindsey and daughter of James Stavenhagen. Betsy was born in Amarillo Oct. 14, 1951 and attended Amarillo and Stratford schools before coming to Wellington as a fourth grader.

Her classmates singled Betsy out for honors as class favorite, Most Mischievous, Football Queen attendant twice, Basketball Queen attendant, and twice Miss School Spirit.

Head cheerleader this year, she was also a cheerleader two years previously. She played basketball four years and was on the 2-AA Girls All-District team as a junior.

Betsy belonged to Beta Club, Future Homemakers, Future Teachers, and the Skyrocket Youth Conference. She was a member of Ko Shari four years and resigned as president this year when she married. Betsy also was in the Children's Play, Christmas play, and one-act play.

Swimming and skiing are her hobbies.

Betsy will attend college but she is not sure where.

Sidney D. Duncan

Sidney Duncan's musical talent is outstanding, and he is one of those who helped to make That Skyrocket Band memorable.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Duncan, he was born in Wellington July 25, 1952. He has attended only the Wellington Schools.

Sidney has been a member of the Wellington High School Marching Band and Concert Band four years each. He has participated in University Inter-scholastic League band competition and he has won a share of the honors.

Music is also Sidney's hobby, and he plays the accordion as well. He is probably the only high school musician who has several compositions to his credit that have been recognized by national organizations.

Dramatics are another of his school interests, and he has been in the cast of the Christmas play, both the junior and senior plays, the Children's play and UIL One-Act Contest play.

Band and speech are his favorite subjects.

After graduating, Sidney plans to attend National Electronics Institute at Denver, Colo.

Jan White

The reigning Miss Wellington is a dark-haired beauty with a vibrant personality — Janice White. (All her friends have shortened this to Jan.)

Her awards have been major, for she is also the present Collingsworth County Farm Bureau Queen and the District I Farm Bureau Queen. She is the immediate past Clarendon College Rodeo Queen.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. J. White, Route 1, Jan was born Sept. 9, 1951. She has attended only Wellington Schools.

In high school she was treasurer of FHA, and of the Student Council two years each, and a member of FTA and Beta Club. She played basketball three years and had a role in the children's play and junior and senior plays.

Jan was selected for Who's Who, Miss April in FHA, and Outstanding Student in biology (two years), and related math.

She works each afternoon after school in the law office of Charles Darter.

Biology is Jan's favorite subject. Horseback riding and playing the guitar are her hobbies.

She will attend either West Texas State University or Clarendon College.

Dallas Holland

Senior Class Favorite is Dallas Holland, who also excels as a Future Farmer, in athletics and dramatics.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Holland, he was born here July 23, 1951. He attended Amarillo schools four years, then returned to Wellington.

In WHS, Dallas was FTA historian and state convention delegate, FFA treasurer and secretary, a member of the junior and senior chapter conducting teams, quiz team that placed first in Greenbelt District, and competed in area. He also was on the radio, land and grass teams and a member of the combo that was second in district as the talent team. He was on FFA trips to Amarillo and Houston Fat Stock Shows.

Dallas participated in football, basketball and track for three years each, and placed in District and Hereford track meets.

He was in the UIL one-act play and class play casts.

Vo ag and speed reading are his favorite subjects, playing the guitar his hobby.

Dallas will take care of his military obligation through the National Guard, then continue his education.

Susan Denise Oney

Susan Denise Oney was chosen by her classmates this year as the student Most Likely to Succeed. Her high school record tells why.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Oney, she was born at Paducah July 15, 1952, and attended school there for four years before coming to Wellington.

She is presently co-editor of the school paper, Rocket Reader, and yearbook staff photographer. She was parliamentarian, fifth vice president and first vice president of FHA; secretary of FTA, Beta Club reporter, vice president of Ko Shari, and belongs to the Pep Squad and Skyrocket Youth Conference. She was selected for Who's Who.

Susan was basketball manager a year, and played tennis. This year she attended the

She was chosen outstanding student in English, algebra, geometry, general business, world history, American history, government, home economics, biology and Spanish. Susan will attend Texas Tech

James Clifton Wolf

A career as coach and teacher of history and government on the high school level is the goal of James Clifton Wolf, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Wolf, 1401 Arlington.

Born Jan. 18, 1952, he has lived here all his life.

James was a member of FTA and FFA, and for two years he has been a teachers' aide. He devoted considerable time to physical education, driver's ed and speech.

Talented in the latter field, he was in the junior and senior plays, UIL one-act plays and the children's play. He belonged to the Skyrocket Youth Conference, was on the spring honor roll and twice was chosen Mr. School Spirit.

Every afternoon after school he works with junior students who need help in their lessons.

Active in the United Methodist Church, he has been an MYF officer.

Bookkeeping, English, government and history are his favorite subjects and his hobbies are football, basketball and reading.

DANGERS OF DEBT MONEY

The amount of commodity money available is necessarily limited by the available supply of the particular commodity which it represents. There is no such limitation on debt money. The stability of debt money is dependent upon the exercise of due restraint by the issuing authority and the satisfactory function of such currency depends upon the strength and responsibility of the government and a reasonable stability of economic conditions.

History has provided examples of what can happen when the conditions of strength and stability fail and non-commodity money is issued without due restraint. It occurred in Germany in the mid-1920's and in China, Greece and Hungary in the mid-1940's. The monetary structure of those countries crumbled and political and economic chaos ensued.

SELF DEFENSE FOR WOMEN

Walking

If a strange man follows you off a bus in a remote unlighted area, take a quick lead of him before the bus pulls away. If the man is suspect for some reason, you might remain in the bus to the next stop or ask to be let off at a selected place.

Take note of shadows when walking on a poorly lighted street. They might alert you to a person some distance away.

In remote areas where people are not stirring, circle all hedges and bushes. Walk near street when sidewalk crosses alleys.

Good, small 2-cell flashlights suitable for a woman's purse are available. If you must walk alone at night in unlighted areas, invest in one.

At Home

A dog can be useful if you live in a remote area where a call for help would not be heard. A big growler might be better for protection while a little barker might be better for signaling. Some dogs growl or bark at so many things, however, that they might keep a "nervous" person in a state of fright. Such dogs and their owners can become very unpopular in a congested neighborhood because the dogs may cause workers to lose sleep. If an assailant calls you will need your neighbors much more than you will need a dog.

If you rely on a gun, know how to handle it and shoot it. A gun used in an emergency by a person who has never practiced shooting can be a real danger versus an unknown "danger". Such persons kill or injure many innocent callers who come along when the owner is in a state of fright. Recall the many innocent callers who have come onto your lot at all hours of the day and night to see what we mean. However, this fact is not a good reason for failing to take common precautions against unwanted callers.

Leave garage area or house entrance lighted when away at night in your car.

Turn on porch or yard light before opening outside doors to callers at night. After opening door, day or night, leave the screen latched until you learn caller's intent.

If entrance to your house can be made through a screen door, place two latches on the screen with at least one located where an ice pick cannot be used from the outside to release it. Special safety latches are available for window screens through which entrance might be made. Do not leave a purse or other valuables on a table near a window through which a sneak thief might hook it. Such a theft might occur while you are watching TV in another room.

Place chair under handle of door if door night latch is not secure. Where outside doors cannot be locked securely, leave in pathway within house near likely entrances such objects as will make a noise when tripped on by a prowler.

A professional house burglar will make sure of an escape route by moving chairs, etc., out of the way before searching. His object is not to harm anyone. He fears being detected, but most, being identified.

He will leave quickly if he thinks occupants are awake. You are wasting your time trying to hide a large sum of money from a professional.

Those "secure" places you dream up like under the rug, in a window shade, on a chandelier, or under your pillow, are like hiding a door key in the mailbox. You might just as well put it in the sugar bowl.

You should put it in a bank. Information about your keeping a large sum of money in your house gets around and often motivates burglars to pay you a call. Flashing a roll of money or large bills while shopping or traveling can catch the eye of a burglar or robber who is looking for a "prospect" and can mark you as a victim, at another time or place, possibly a later date. A purse-snatcher might attack before you get to your car.

But most prowlers of average homes are not professionals and can be more dangerous. Keep a good flashlight near your bed and keep in mind some object nearby that you can and will use as a weapon in an emergency when other precautions fail.

Deck's DIDACTICS

—By Deskins Wells

Next Tuesday, April 21, is San Jacinto Day or Texas Independence Day. It is also the time for the full moon, Texas Aggie Muster Day, and the first day of Passover. Of more importance to members of the American Legion of Texas and Oklahoma and to the people of Dodson, however, is the fact that this is the date the National Commander J. Milton Patrick will be in Dodson. Along with him will be national officials as well as state officials of the Legion from Kansas, Texas and Oklahoma. It should be a red letter day for everybody.

Clean-up week starts in Wellington next Monday and it should be conducted with enthusiasm and energy. The various civic organizations can add emphasis and effectiveness of the City's effort by encouraging all of their members to get busy that week. Tullia and Shamrock started their clean-up campaigns last week. Hereford does it differently. Their Mayor issued a proclamation designating the period from April 15 to May 15 as clean-up "month" in Hereford.

Shamrock has passed a new ordinance regulating old cars left on the streets and on private property. Tullia is enforcing the ordinance they already had on the books. In addition the Tullia ordinance also applies to dilapidated buildings that are unsightly and a hazard to health and safety. The ordinance empowers the city officials with the authority to condemn such property and if the owner will not remove it, the city can tear it down and charge the expense to the owner. The same thing can be done with junk cars and other rubbish.

Are you bothered with mosquitoes in the summertime? It is in the spring that they start breeding. Look around your place and see if there are any old cans, buckets, tires or other water holding vessels that are partly hidden under the shrubs. Wash the watering bowl for your pets and your birdbath at least twice a week. If you have a fish pond or lily pond stock it with gold fish. The fish will eat the wiggletails. Take time to look around your premises now. Many people breed their own mosquitoes as well as their own flies. Flies may be a different story; but cleanliness is the answer to both.

Thanks to the Texas Highway Department, the bluebonnets are spreading farther north along the highways with every passing year. And this is only one of the 5,000 varieties of wild flowers native to Texas that the department seeks to protect and increase. Instructions have gone out to the maintenance forces to delay full scale mowing until the seeds mature so the wild flowers can re-seed for a greater display next spring and summer. In the next few weeks the wild flowers will be at their best; but there are some wild flowers blooming all summer long and if the moisture is ample, well into fall.

Catfish farming is a success here as well as in other parts of the state; but bullfrog farming is not such a happy story. Marion Toole of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department says the reason is because the bullfrog refuses to eat anything that is not alive and moving. On the other hand commercial feed can be obtained for the catfish and in abundance. Tadpoles will eat anything in the water; but the grown frog eats nothing but insects and such live water creatures as baby turtles and minnows. This information should not bother Oran Starkey. In fact it causes me no concern. I like frog legs; but given a choice I will eat catfish nine times out of ten.

Writing a column with one finger in a splint is not a task that can be accomplished easily. Using the touch system with the left hand and the hunt and peck system with the right is not conducive to accuracy either. Neither does it aid clear writing. By the time you are half way through a sentence so much time has elapsed and so many other thoughts have gone through your mind that you have forgotten what you intended to say in the beginning. That is the difficulty I am laboring under today.

Gala Fund Raising Will Benefit St. Joseph's Hospital

A gala fund raising celebration to mark National Hospital Week will be held Friday, May 8, with St. Joseph's Hospital as the beneficiary.

The big entertainment will center around the barbecue supper to be served from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. at Ellison Park. Other events will include music, a flea market, auction of paintings, and games.

St. Joseph's Hospital Auxiliary is the sponsor.

Bobo Castleberry has accepted the place as overall chairman, the Auxiliary president, Mrs. Wayne Cudd, announced.

Preliminary Steering Committee members are Mrs. Cudd, Mrs. Creed Lewis Hill and Mrs. Clyde Drake.

Other working committees will be named within the next week.

Approximately 2,000 tickets will go on sale within a few days, and these may be had from any Auxiliary member.

The meat will be donated and pit barbecued by some of the county's men famous for this western skill. At least one will prepare the barbecue sauce by his own recipe—a secret which none will share with anyone else.

The traditional barbecue foods will be served with the meat.

Should the weather be bad, the big celebration will be moved indoors, with the location to be announced, Mrs. Cudd said.

During the celebration, community recognition will be given to St. Joseph's Hospital, the doctors, the Dominican Sisters, and nurses, and other hospital personnel, according to Mrs. Drake.

Money from the gala will go toward improvement projects at the hospital. One of these, begun by the Auxiliary in the fall, is installation of a new rubbish.

All county and precinct candidates are due to attend. "This is an opportunity for the people of Collingsworth County to meet the people who seek to represent us and to find out just how they stand on issues that are important to us," said the Farmers Union president.

The entire emphasis of Crusade 1970 is on action: the action of protecting oneself against cancer; the action of protecting others through support of cancer research.

"Each dollar given to the American Cancer Society goes to work in so many ways to fight this cruel disease," emphasizes Mrs. Williamson.
