PORTRAIT OF A BUSY YOUNG MAN

Paul Harvey has too many jobs for the number of hours in a day

Harried And Hurried, But Harvey Meets Torrid Pace

By SAM BLACKBURN
When Paul Harvey, ace news commentator for the American Broadcasting Co., is in Chicago, things are not so bad. He only works 16 hours a day. He doesn't have to get out of his warm bed in River Forest until 4:45 a.m. Lots of times he gets back home in time to have a late dinner with his wife and 12-year-old son.

It's when he is out on the road doing lectures, as is the case now and is the case about nine weeks out of 10, that things get just a little hectic. For example, Harvey spoke to the members of the Mississippi legislature on Thursday night. He immediately caught a plane and flew to Big Spring which permitted him to roll around in bed after 3 a.m. and loaf for two full hours before he had breakfast and had to be at the studios of Radio KRST to write and broadcast his first news program of the day.

After the speech tonight, he will board a plane and head for New York State where he has three lecture engagements booked in as many towns for the next three days. "SPARE TIME" And, in his spare (?) time, he writes his newspaper column which is syndicated and appears in 100 newspapers three times weekly. Naturally, too, he wants to get in a little work on the book he is writing. Of course there are other minor activities - the towns where he goes as lecturer want to show him their proudest possessions. These extra-curricular activities include tours of factories, schools and such operations.

"I really must find some way to slow down," he said this morning as he sat at the typewriter in the offices of KRST planning his noon broadcast. "I've got to either limit my number of speaking engagements, eliminate some of the broadcasts I do or find some other way to cut down on my schedule."

HE LIKES IT
"I hear a lot of fellows regret they got into whatever line of business they are in," he observed. "I have never regretted entering radio. I have been happy in my work and I still enjoy every day. I can't understand these fellows who bemoan whatever it was that got them started on their careers."

Harvey faces a dilemma. He realizes that he has saddled himself with too much work. That means he'll have to cut out some of his many activities. The problem he faces in which one to eliminate. "I love lecture work," he says. "I love broadcasting and all that it implies. I like to write. It's a difficult choice."

Man Killed As Car Rams Into Bridge, Companion Charged

A car crashed into the Wild Horse Creek bridge on the Snyder Highway 12 miles north of here Thursday evening, killing Charles Stansbury instantly. Stansbury, 38-year-old Snyder construction worker, became the first traffic fatality to occur in Howard County in 1960. The crash occurred at 6:10 p.m. Charges of murder with an automobile being filed against Harold J. Pitts, 27, also a construction worker of Snyder, and driver of the car in which Stansbury was killed. Bond was set at $2,500 by Jess Slaughter, justice of the peace, but Pitts had not posted it at noon. Highway patrol officers said that Stansbury and Pitts were en route from Andrews to Snyder in the 1954 Ford owned by Pitts. A rental trailer, loaded with Stansbury's personal belongings was being pulled by the car. The highway patrol said that the car was going east when it approached the bridge. It ran out of control, swerved to the left and crashed into the concrete abutment. The impact hurled it across the bridge and rammed it to the right railing. The car plowed ahead to the end of the bridge, rolled over and over down the embankment of the east approach. It stopped bottomside up in the ditch. The car was demolished. The engine was thrown clear of the chassis by the impact. Pitts escaped with a minor head injury. He was taken to the Big Spring Hospital for first aid treatment and then placed in the county jail. This morning the district attorney's office filed the charge of murder with an automobile against him. River Funeral Home ambulance brought Pitts from the accident to the hospital. Another River ambulance, sent on the same call, was rammed by a car at 3rd and Benton. The ambulance was considerably damaged. Raymond Lee Davis was driver of the ambulance and Dick Nichols, Rt. 2, was identified by police as driver of the second car. No one was injured in this accident. Stansbury's body was removed to Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home. Later it was transferred to Bell Funeral Home in Snyder, where arrangements are pending. Stansbury was born in Ardmore, Okla., on April 27, 1921. He was a cement finisher by trade and both he and Pitts were employees of the Universal Construction Co. of Snyder. His wife, Otis, lives on Ave. H in Snyder. Other survivors include a daughter, whose home is in Oklahoma but whose name was not available here. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Stansbury, live in Tyler. There are two brothers, Ed Stansbury, New London, and Donald Ray Stansbury, Tyler. Two sisters, Mrs. Bernice McCaslin and Mrs. Betty Lou Gafford, both live in Tyler. He had two grandchildren.

RECORD TURNOUT

Chamber Banquet Set This Evening

An all-time record attendance is in store for the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet at 7:30 p.m. today at Goliad Junior High School gymnasium. Paul Harvey, newscaster and lecturer, is to be the featured speaker. Chamber officials reminded those attending the banquet that the only entrance will be at the west main entrance of the Goliad School. Others will be blocked off so that visitors will be in the building and out of the weather while waiting for the food line to begin moving.

Representatives from 24 neighboring communities will be on hand for the event which will have a capacity crowd of 925. Bill Quimby, chamber manager, said that a few placements might be made on tickets which might become available during the afternoon.

Dan Krause, out-going president, will preside at the banquet, and Dr. R. Gage Lloyd, First Presbyterian pastor, will give the invocation. Maj. Vincent Brophy, accompanied by Jack Hendrix, will be the guest soloist.

In rapid sequence, George Creagh, Jaycee president, will present that organization's Distinguished Service Award to some individual 35 years or younger; Clyde McMahon, retiring president, will touch on highlights of the past decade, while Clifford W. Fisher, incoming president, will look to the new decade. Harvey will be introduced by Krause.

Bolivian Air Crash Kills 59 People

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP)—Fifty-nine persons aboard a Lloyd Aéreo Boliviano airliner were killed today when the plane crashed near Cochabamba. The DC4 airliner crashed a few minutes after takeoff at Cochabamba en route to La Paz. Officials of the airlines said they did not know the cause of the accident.

The airline reported, however, that all persons aboard perished. There were 55 passengers and 4 crew members. The passengers included 45 adults, and 10 children. Among the latter were five babies.

Most if not all those aboard were believed to be Bolivians. No passenger list was available immediately.

The plane was piloted by Joaquin Lobos, the airline's chief pilot with years of experience flying over this country's rugged mountain terrain.

Dr. Muir Dies After Attack

Funeral rites for Dr. Ian W. Muir, attached to the staff of Big Spring State Hospital, are pending at the River Funeral Home. Dr. Muir was dead on arrival at a city hospital at 10:50 p.m. Friday. Death was attributed to heart seizure. He had suffered a previous attack in 1956. Dr. Muir had been ill with the flu for several days at his residence, 609 Bucknell, prior to the attack last night. Dr. Muir came here in March 1957 as a staff member of the Veterans Administration Hospital. He transferred to the Big Spring State Hospital in August 1958.

He was born Dec. 1, 1920, in Toronto, Canada. He graduated from the University of Alabama and received his medical degree in 1952. He first engaged in practice at Sanford, Fla. He came to Big Spring after serving on the staff of the Texas Tuberculosis Hospital in San Antonio. He was also on the Kerrville hospital staff for a time.

He was a veteran of World War II and served as a fighter pilot in Europe. He won the DFC for his service in that war.

He was a member of St. Mary's Episcopal Church. Survivors include his wife, Maxene, one daughter, Elizabeth, one son, Randall, his father, John Muir, Birmingham, Ala.; two brothers, Douglas Muir, San Antonio, and Donald Muir, Birmingham; and a sister, Mrs. Aubrey McWhorter, Tuscaloosa, Ala.

Abilene Boy Gets Stock Show Prize

FORT WORTH (AP)—A $6,100 bid by Jesse Roach, represented here by his brother, Allen Roach, bought the grand champion steer of the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show for Cattlemen's Steak House and the Farmer's Daughter Restaurant today. Wilburn Holloway, 11, of Route 3, Abilene, who brought the 1,010-pound Hereford steer here, said he was going to use his money for his education. The reserve grand champion, a 1,050-pound Angus steer, brought here by Harvey Harter, was bought for $3,000 by Coca-Cola Bottling Co. The Texas Electric Service Co. bought the champion shorthorn for $1,800. The animal was brought here by the University of Kentucky.

Arrested

Mrs. Irene Marie Robbins, 45, a leader in Gardena, Calif., school and community affairs, sits in a police station after her arrest on a warrant charging her with violating parole by leaving Cook County, Ill. Police said she served a term and was put on parole after pleading guilty to involvement in a burglary at Havana, Ill., in 1958.

Incident Erupts At Big Exposition

HAVANA (AP)—Intense gunfire broke out today in the vicinity of the Fine Arts Palace as Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan and Cuban President Osvaldo Dorticos prepared to open the Soviet trade exposition there. Wild shooting broke out from a balcony across the street from the Fine Arts Palace just as Mikoyan and Dorticos stepped inside its doors.

There were no signs anyone was hit in the crowd of about 300 outside the exposition building. The Havana police radio quickly announced the arrest of two men on a charge of attempting to sabotage the appearance of Mikoyan at the exposition.

The shiny Soviet exposition set the stage for talks between Fidel Castro's trade-hungry government and Mikoyan.

A top Cuban official quickly let it be known that Cuba hopes for a new era in business dealings with Moscow.

Only a few hours after Mikoyan's arrival Thursday, the left-wing president of Cuba's national bank, Ernesto Guevara, told a TV audience that "trade is necessary and for us very necessary."

"We are completely disposed to talk," he said. "Now the problem is to see if our visitor is equally disposed. He must be asked," the top economic official added, "and we will do it when the opportunity presents itself." The opportunity probably will come after the 64-year-old Mikoyan formally opens the Soviet scientific, technical and cultural exhibit—the announced purpose of his visit.

U.S. officials in Washington viewed Mikoyan's visit as a dramatic propaganda move by Moscow to capitalize on the low ebb in American-Cuban relations.

They say he may have brought a raft of trade offers in anticipation of Cuban overtures. An added possibility is that Mikoyan will seek to re-establish Cuban-Soviet diplomatic relations, which were broken off during Fulgence Batista's regime. In line with such a move, he is expected to invite Castro to pay a state visit to Moscow.

Judge Ousts Lover's Charge Of Wife Hiding

NEW YORK (AP)—A judge has dismissed a complaint by Andrei Porumbanu that the grandmother of Gamble Benedict was hiding his wife so he could not discuss a divorce.

The 35-year-old Porumbanu went into State Supreme Court Thursday with a habeas corpus petition accusing Katherine Geddes Benedict, the grandmother, of secluding Helma (Mady) Porumbanu, 33, and their child, Gigi, 11.

Mrs. Benedict testified she had nothing to do with Mrs. Porumbanu's disappearance and added: "The only thing I was interested in was my granddaughter and getting her away from this man." The dashing ex-chef, who ran off to Paris with 19-year-old Gamble, did not take the witness stand.

Justice Irving L. Levy dismissed the charge against Mrs. Benedict and thus left Mrs. Porumbanu free to remain in hiding. She and her daughter are residing somewhere on Staten Island.

Earlier, in a surprise action, Mrs. Porumbanu sued her husband for a separation and charged him with "brazenly" conducting an affair with a teen-ager. Porumbanu has said that he and his wife agreed to a divorce back in 1958. His romance with Gamble last summer culminated in their running off together last December.

The girl was brought back from Paris to face a wayward minor charge. A decision on the charge still is pending. Also, Gamble has promised not to see Andrei while he still is married.

Building Funds Asked For Base

The Defense Department has asked congress to authorize $938,000 in construction for Webb AFB. Telegrams from Rep. George Mahone, Sen. Lyndon Johnson and Sen. Ralph Yarborough said that the funds were for extension of training and allied facilities at Webb. They are part of the $22,871,000 which the department asked of congress in new construction. The first step in any project is for the Defense Department to obtain authorization from congress. Then congress must make the actual appropriation later in a bill that has to be approved by the president. Hence there is a considerable time lag between the time an authorization request is made and that when the project is actually started.

Other Air Force bases sharing in the requests are Amarillo AFB $2,173,000, Connally AFB at Waco $678,000, Perrin AFB at Denison $5,040,000, Reese AFB at Lubbock $268,000, Sheppard AFB at Wichita Falls $1,874,000.

All Roads Open

AUSTIN (AP)—The State Highway Department said today all roads in the state are open but there is some ice on highways in part of the Panhandle. The department said ice on roads in the west and northwest part of the Amarillo highway district should be gone by tonight. In the Childress District, U.S. 287 between Memphis and Estelina is closed due to a construction project but traffic should be back to normal by the weekend.

Weary Sheriff Finds Storm-Marooned Kids

DALHART (AP)—A weary sheriff Thursday found five children and a bus driver, marooned by 10-foot high snow drifts, warm and well fed in a ranch home.

Sheriff R. C. Johnson of Dalhart and rescue workers labored through the night and half the day hunting for the missing persons. They were hampered by the high snow drifts in this wide-open and vast Panhandle country of Northwest Texas.

The bus driver, Sam Worden, 60, was taking the children to their rural homes Wednesday after school when he realized the snow storm was too fierce for him to complete the trip. He drove a quarter to half a mile off his route to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Carter, 18 miles from Dalhart.

The children were Phyllis Lindcamp, Jimmy Blocker and Linda, Sammy and Susie Singleton. Worden was unable to call authorities because there was no phone at the ranch.

Sheriff Johnson located the bus and its occupants at 2:30 p.m. Two rescue workers, searching for the children, were trapped in snow drifts. They were Arnold Tovrey, school board member, and Gene Sullivan, school principal. A Civil Air Patrol plane spotted them and dropped a note saying help was on the way. But Tovrey and Sullivan made their way to a ranch home nearby and spent the night there.

The sheriff called Dalhart on his radio and informed his office the children were well and happy. He and Worden returned to Dalhart Thursday but the children spent another night at the ranch. They expect to go home today.

Nine inches of snow fell here during a two-day period and strong winds piled the snow 10 feet deep in places. The storm covered the Texas Panhandle parts of Oklahoma, Eastern Colorado, western Kansas and parts of New Mexico. The temperature dropped to 30 at Dalhart Thursday.

Violent Weather Slips Out Of State

By The Associated Press
Violent weather slipped out of Texas Friday leaving behind snow drifts up to 10 feet high and a group of five school children stranded in a Panhandle ranch home.

Skies cleared over the Panhandle, where a blinding snow storm had forced a Dalhart school bus driver and five children to seek shelter in a home 18 miles from Dalhart.

The children and the bus driver were found Thursday by Sheriff R. C. Johnson of Dalhart. They were in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Carter.

The Weather Bureau reported clear skies over the Panhandle and Lower Rio Grande Valley. Skies in the rest of the state were cloudy.

No precipitation was reported in Texas Friday and the forecast did not predict any rain or snow through Saturday.

Temperatures ranged from 25 degrees at Dalhart to 50 at Brownsville Friday morning. Violent weather during the week in Texas was thought to have contributed to at least seven deaths.

Four persons died of injuries suffered near El Paso in a three-car crash during a dust storm; two persons died in car accidents in Dallas, and a highway accident near Big Spring claimed one life.

The heaviest snow was in the Dalhart area where 9 inches fell. Canadian and Pampa had about 5 inches and 2.5 inches fell at Amarillo. Many areas measured more than one inch of moisture from snow and rain.

District Engineer Charles W. Smith of the State Highway Department at Amarillo said all major routes in the Panhandle were open by late Thursday night but a number of farm roads were blocked. Moisture measurements from the storm, as reported to the Amarillo Daily News, included Shamrock 2.5 inches, Canadian and

Consolidation Vote Delayed

Consolidation election in the Elbow-Forsan school districts, originally scheduled for Feb. 20, has been postponed one week, Ed Carpenter, county judge, announced today.

The change from Feb. 20 to Feb. 27 was impelled by delay in receiving election supplies. It was necessary to delay voting one week in order to comply with all requirements for such an election, said Judge Carpenter.

Elbow and Forsan school districts, south of Big Spring filed petitions with the county judge last month asking that an election on consolidation of the two districts be held.

Supplies for the voting arrived this morning.

Press Shucks Gear, But Good Neighbors Help Out

The Herald's press stripped its gears Thursday afternoon, and caused considerable commotion.

While the big machine was turning out the regular run of papers, the main drive gear went out, and there was no immediate replacement.

There remained about 3,000 copies to be printed. The plates were hurriedly taken off the press, rushed to Midland, and the remainder of the Herald press run was completed on the presses of the Midland Reporter-Telegram.

By the time this operation was completed and the papers returned to Big Spring, it took carrier boys until about 8:30 to complete all deliveries.

Special milling of new gears was being done today by the Hoe printing press people in New York, with air shipment promised immediately. Meanwhile, a temporary arrangement was made by Herald press crews to handle today's production.

Finch Will Tell Of Fatal Accident

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The story Dr. R. Bernard Finch hopes will save his life today was near the point of crisis—where he tries to show his wife's death was not murder but mishap.

His attorney already has outlined the defense. And the crew-cut doctor has detailed his flight into adultery from a marriage frustrated by frigidity. But he had still to give his own version of how Barbara Jean Finch was shot to death outside their luxurious suburban home last July 18.

The 42-year-old physician, trying to counter the state's accusations, has said the gun that killed his wife was one she drew herself. And he has denied the state's charge that he hired a man to kill her, claiming instead that the man was paid to get evidence that could be used against her in her divorce suit.

Several women jurors couldn't keep from frowning Thursday when the physician testified that he tried twice unsuccessfully to hire someone who could follow Mrs. Finch in hopes of "getting something on her."

FOUND HELPER

Finally, he said, he and Carole Tregoff — his medical secretary, then his paramour, and now his co-defendant — found someone they thought could "do the job."

The 42-year-old doctor testified that Carole said Jack Cody told her that he'd get the information for us "if he had to sleep with her himself and then go to court and testify."

Jack Cody testified for the state that Carole and Finch hired him not as a gigolo but as a murderer—to kill Mrs. Finch. He said he took money but had no intention of murdering her.

But Finch firmly denied the charge for which he is on trial for his life: That he plotted to kill Mrs. Finch so he wouldn't have to share with her community property she estimated at three-quarters of a million dollars.

Finch's attorneys said the doctor will explain that Mrs. Finch, 36, suffered injuries struggling with her estranged mate for a pistol—and that she was shot to death accidentally.

REACHED PACT

Finch didn't get to that part of his story Thursday, his second day on the stand. He told how his love for his wife dwindled after she grew sexually frigid—and how he became enamored of Carole after he and his wife reached an "armistice" under which he was free to come and go as he pleased.

Finch admitted candidly that he fought a delaying action against his wife's move for a divorce, even though he didn't want to remain permanently married to her.

He said he was afraid a divorce would adversely affect his credit rating at a time when he and associates were planning to build a hospital.

He said he even urged Barbara to see a marriage counselor, and channeled her suit into a conciliation court—purely as delaying tactics.

Under questioning by his attorney, Grant B. Cooper, the doctor went over much of the ground covered by the state in its month-long case against him and his 23-year-old mistress.

Dr. Finch offered explanations for all the charges made in the prosecution's case.

USED BY WIFE

The state said that he and Carole brought the death gun with them when they came to the Finch's home the night of the killing.

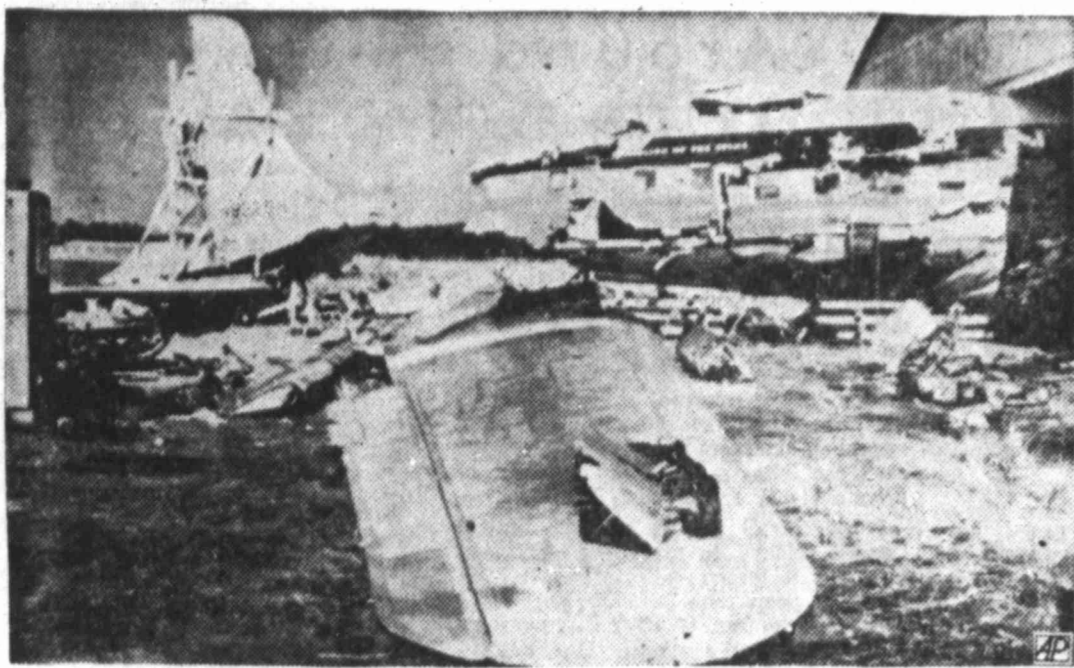

Finch said his .38 caliber pistol was under the seat of his car—but that his car was being used by his wife. He said Mrs. Finch pulled the gun from the car and pointed it at Carole.

The state said Finch also brought a length of clothesline to the home in an attache case which was later found at the scene.

Finch said the clothesline was purchased for use on a 30-foot yacht he and a friend had purchased shortly before Mrs. Finch's death.

State witnesses said Barbara Jean Finch told of being beaten by Finch twice in the weeks preceding her death.

The incidents were fabricated, said the doctor.

Crash Wreckage Reconstructed

This is the reconstruction of a National Airlines DC6B which crashed near Bolivia, N.C., Jan. 6, killing 34 persons. All the wreckage recovered has been reassembled by Civil Aeronautics Board experts at Wilmington in an effort to learn the cause of the crash. Marines are searching for pieces of the fuselage still missing from the tail area and forward right side of the passenger compartment.

Accidents Increase In 1959, But Ratio Indicates Decrease

CHICAGO (AP) — Accidents killed 91,500 Americans last year. They injured 9,300,000 men, women and children. They cost $12,600,000,000.

The National Safety Council, in so reporting today, said the 1959 death toll was just 1,000 higher than in 1958, an increase of one per cent.

Traffic accidents topped the list with 37,800 deaths, followed by home accidents with 26,500, accidents at work with 13,800 and accidents in public—excluding traffic fatalities—with 16,500.

Fatalities rose in all these classes except in the home, where there was no change in comparison with the previous year.

The council said the population death rate—the number of accidental deaths per 100,000 population—declined to a record low of 51.9.

The economic loss was calculated for both fatal and non-fatal accidents and it included wage losses, medical expense, production delays and equipment and property damage.

Falls, always a major killer in accidents, resulted in the death of 18,300 persons last year, about the same as in 1958. Deaths from burns totaled 7,400, an increase of 1 per cent from last year, while 6,500 persons drowned a decrease of 1 per cent. Firearms deaths of 2,300, were 1 per cent more than in 1958.

The council said only one catastrophe last year caused more than 50 deaths. Sixty-five persons were killed when an airplane plunged into the East River in New York City. However, there were four other accidents in which 25 or more persons died.

The council said the bulk of the accident total, as in past years, was made up of one or two-death mishaps.

The traffic death toll was 900 less than in 1957 and nearly 2,000 under the 1956 toll. The increase in deaths last year was less than half of the 5 per cent increase which occurred in motor vehicle travel, the council said.

The council said that 193 passengers and 28 crew members were killed in 1959 in 8 accidents, which occurred in the domestic passenger-carrying operations of scheduled air carriers.

In the first eight months of 1959, the latest information available, 1,346 persons were killed in all categories of railroad accidents compared with 1,437 in 1958.

The preliminary estimate of fire losses, made by the National Board of Fire Underwriters, was $1,047,000,000, 1 per cent lower than the comparable preliminary estimate for 1958.

DEAR ABBY

ASK HIM!

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Does a wife have the right to know what time her husband gets off from work or does she come with the furniture? Does a man have the right to cash his pay check before his wife sees it?

My husband comes home at all hours and claims he has been working overtime. But he doesn't bring home the extra money to prove it. He is either lying about working overtime or else he is spending his money on monkey business. How does a wife find out these things?

IN THE DARK

DEAR IN: A wife has the right to know how many hours her husband works and how much he is paid. Ask him. If he refuses to tell you, warn him that you will go to his place of work and find out from his boss. Then it will be apparent that he can't be trusted, and he'll be lucky to be working ANY TIME, let alone OVERTIME. Unless I miss my guess, your husband will probably tell you himself.

DEAR ABBY: I think waiters and waitresses should smile and give just as good service to non-tippers as they do to tippers. And I'll tell you why: Not everybody believes in tipping here on earth. Some people prefer to tip in their wills. So my advice is this: "Keep on giving good service in a Christ-like spirit and maybe they will remember you in their wills." I know of two such cases right here in this town.

DEAR J.G.H.: What you say may be true — but that's a long time to wait for a tip.

DEAR ABBY: Last June we went to Evanston, Ill., to see our son, 22, graduate. Like a bolt from the blue he introduced us to "the girl I intend to marry when my military obligations are over." She graduated also and now has a teaching job.

The only thing we have against her is that she manages to be where he is. When his ship docked last week, she went half-way across the country (unchaperoned) to spend the weekend with him. We presume everything is on the up and up because we have raised our son properly and know he has high morals. We understand that she comes from a poor family and our son is the best thing that has ever happened to her and she is not letting him get away. How can we break up this romance without being too obvious?

MRS. D.

DEAR MRS. D.: They are both adults, so cut the comedy AND the cord, Mother. Any effort on your part to break up this romance will be obvious.

Time To Renew Our Heritage

This is American History Month throughout the nation.

The study of American history is urged upon organizations of every kind, and public, private and parochial schools, during this month. "In order that our citizens may better appreciate the great strength and wisdom of our forefathers and will assist in building a continuing heritage of faith."

The call was prepared by the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

It is a tragedy of the times that at one of the most critical moments in our national existence the teaching and study of history seems to have gone into a decline.

American history in particular is dramatic and gripping. Here, in a New World, a new nation was brought forth, dedicated to the proposition that all men are and of right should be free, with liberty and justice for all, under a representative government of their own choosing.

That right, bought with the blood of patriots, is challenged today as never before, and we need to renew our faith and confidence by reading of their world-shaking exploits, their self-sacrifices and their courage and stamina.

No More Whittling - And Thinking

Up in New York they've been having a little trouble with their anti-pocketknife law.

The New York Civil Liberties Union and the New York Legal Aid Society got downright indignant, and they were a little vague about whether they resented the law's vagueness or the invasion of individual's right to carry a pocketknife.

It was passed, of course, in an effort to curb an outbreak of violence and forbids anyone under 21 years of age to carry a knife or sharp instrument capable of cutting or puncturing. Right off it had to exempt those needing knives for occupational purposes, or those going to Boy Scout meetings, hunting, fishing, etc.

There is nothing new about legislating against pocketknives of unusual bladed length and other deadly characteristics.

Far be it as we can remember Texas had a law limiting the length of blades—we can't recall the limit, but to the best of our recollection it was either two and a half or three inches.

There was a time when no well-acquainted Texan felt fully dressed unless he carried a pocketknife, but because it was a useful instrument of a thousand uses.

You could fix almost any kind of balky instrument, machine or buggy harness with a good knife, and the oldtimers took a great deal of pride in keeping their pocketpieces sharp enough to shave with.

No group of men felt at ease while hunkering down in a semi-circle to discuss the issues of the day unless they had a knife and a piece of soft white pine to whittle on. It helped a fellow to think clearly. More weighty issues have been settled by men so engaged than by legislative bodies and gatherings of international thinkers.

Maybe that's why things have gone to pot. Men no longer settle down to whittle the idle hours away and bring the weight of their wisdom to bear on the great issues of the day. And if you think we're kidding you'd be wrong. Men no longer have time to talk things out in an atmosphere of live and let live, of give and take. They are too busy settling affairs 10,000 miles away—and perhaps soon those 10 million miles away—and ignoring the problems right under their noses.

David Lawrence The Real Source Of Trouble

WASHINGTON—France suspends certain constitutional guarantees, and adopts quasi-totalitarian rule—and the free world applauds. This strange paradox emphasizes the point that it is sometimes to accept the philosophy that the end justifies the means.

Did President De Gaulle really have to ask for rule by decree? He needed far-reaching authority, of course, to deal with the rebellion in Algeria, but why was it necessary to abandon so much of the constitutional system inside France itself?

The answer is that the crisis is deeper than the issues raised by the Algerian insurrection. Premier Debre anticipated criticism and said on Tuesday in the formal statement of policy to the Parliament:

"We do not have enough power to subdue attempts at subversion."

the Sahara oil output. This means pressure on foreign distributors of fuel to sell Sahara oil, instead of Mideastern oil, inside France. Other state-owned projects are expected now that Mr. Pinay has left the cabinet and President De Gaulle has a free hand to bring about more and more nationalization of industries.

Business confidence naturally is impaired, and the political turbulence is likely to become more, rather than less, extensive. The conservatives of the independent party—the second biggest in the assembly—have broken with the De Gaulle government. On the "left," the Socialists, led by former Premier Mollet, broke with the De Gaulle government more than a year ago on economic policy. In the "center," the radical party has withdrawn its support. So Gen. De Gaulle is not sure from one day to the other that he can get a majority in the French national assembly.

THE FACT IS THAT Gen. De Gaulle has not dealt effectively with internal subversion. The Communists, for instance, have managed for several years now to sabotage parliamentary government in France. Instead of outlawing the Communist party and ferreting out the subversives who infest the executive departments, the De Gaulle regime has shown signs of adopting unwittingly some of the programs that fit in with Communist objectives.

The forced resignation recently of former Premier Pinay from the cabinet post of finance minister alarmed the conservatives. He objected to some of the proposals which, indeed, are an indication of the kind of France Gen. De Gaulle is planning to build now that he has semi-dictatorial powers.

One proposal would permit the trade unions to have one-fourth of the seats on a board of directors in an association, set up by the government, composed of corporations and labor unions. Since the Communist - controlled unions have strength enough to get six of the 10 seats to be occupied by labor, Mr. Pinay characterized the plan as the "Sovietization" of French industry.

WHILE HE TEMPORARILY gains power to deal with Algerian insurrectionists, it is only a question of time before the political parties combine against him. The challenge to the free-enterprise system and the marked tendency to go in the direction of socialism will cause plenty of friction in the Parliament.

It has been assumed, moreover, that Gen. De Gaulle would end the Algerian trouble, which is costing France two billion dollars a year and now has gone on for six years. To grant "self-determination" isn't the final answer. The French settlers have been repeatedly attacked by the Moslems. In one month 20 European farmers in Algeria have been killed. The army has been fighting the guerrillas and naturally sympathizes with the French settlers, who don't want to see negotiations carried on with the "Moslem cutthroats," as they are called.

FOR GEN. DE GAULLE to take the side of the Moslems against the French settlers may for the time being be defended as a step toward "pacification" and as a means of ending insurrection by French army men against the state, but it will not lead to internal peace. The Communist infiltrators in Algeria, who are helped by arms from neighboring countries in Africa, will see that the disturbance continues.

ANOTHER PROGRAM IS designed to subsidize ailing industries, including coal mines, shipyards and aircraft companies, by government purchase of large amounts of their stock. Mr. Pinay described this as "a national society for lame duck enterprises" that eventually would make the government a part-owner of industry.

A third program would place in a state-owned company the ownership of the real adversary in France is the enemy from within—the Communists. The infiltration has broken down the French settlers' may for the time being be defended as a step toward "pacification" and as a means of ending insurrection by French army men against the state, but it will not lead to internal peace. The Communist infiltrators in Algeria, who are helped by arms from neighboring countries in Africa, will see that the disturbance continues.

James Marlow Ike Spells Out Defense Ideas

WASHINGTON (AP) - While President Eisenhower's policy of calmness under stress has been able to keep the American people cool, it doesn't follow that his attitude will always have the same effect on allies and neutrals.

For example, he has been continually calm on the question of American defense against the Soviet Union. He also has always pursued a policy of avoiding extreme statements.

His two policies fused this week when he was asked to comment on criticism that American military strength was dangerously lagging behind the Soviets.

"I am always a little bit amazed about this business of catching up," he told his news conference. "What you want is enough, a thing that is adequate."

"A DETERRENT HAS no added power, once it has become completely adequate for compelling respect of any potential opponent for your future deterrent and therefore to make him act prudently."

This explained why, despite criticism, particularly from the Democrats, Eisenhower has refused to pump as much money into defense speedups as some of his administration's critics consider necessary.

What he said could be put another way: Why try to build up an armament whose only usefulness is to impress people with its size when it isn't size that counts but the adequacy of the defense you actually have.

This attitude indicates, as much as anything Eisenhower has said since becoming President, the apparent self-confidence he has in the judgment of himself and his aides, at least in military matters.

NEVERTHELESS, THERE is one possibility which the twin Eisenhower policy of calmness and unexaggerated statement may not be able to anticipate because it applies strictly to American ability to defend itself against the Soviet Union.

It's this:

What will be the effect on American allies and neutrals if the Soviets continue to build up a gigantic arsenal, plus the kind of "fantastic" new weapons Premier Nikita Khrushchev said is in the works?

Will Soviet accomplishments have a discouraging effect on allies and neutrals—much closer to the Soviet Union than this country—since they can't equip themselves with the kind of defense America can erect?

And will a Soviet armament, if it's much bigger and more glittering than this country's, persuade others that the Soviet Union has outstripped America as a nation and world power?

Perhaps Eisenhower has taken into consideration this kind of answer to the questions just raised: If American defense against the Soviet Union is adequate to prevent a Soviet attack, since it would in effect be a worldwide defense, it would be just as much a protection for the allies as for America.

Are You Worth Anything Alive?

NEW YORK (AP)—Have you made out your will yet?

If not, you ought to. Otherwise after you're gone your relatives will wind up squabbling over who gets your new two-pants suit and the gold fillings in your teeth.

Millions of Americans postpone making out a will because the mere thought depresses them. Actually, it is rather an enlightening experience.

"I'll go along with you—just so you won't feel nervous," says your wife, when you tell her you are going to a lawyer to make out your will.

You have a deep inner conviction that this isn't her real reason at all. But what can you say? So along she comes.

"Have you decided just what you want to do?" asks the lawyer.

"Yes," you tell him. "The first thing I want to do is disinheret mankind. That's only what it deserves."

"Heh, heh, heh," laughs the lawyer coldly. "Now what about your material possessions? Do you own any stocks, bonds, country homes, yachts or old grain elevators?"

"Any other chattels?"

"Just her," you reply, pointing to your wife.

Well, it turns out after further questioning that about all you have to leave is a few sticks of furniture, your life insurance, and your clothing.

In a burst of husbandly generosity, you say "Just make everything over to my wife. After all, she is a good woman, and she has given me the best years of her life—she says."

The secretary types out the will. For some reason, no matter how little you have to leave, the document always runs to three or four pages.

But after disposing of all your worldly goods—and paying the lawyer—your find you have just $2.63 in your pockets.

"I'm worth more dead than alive," you complain on the bus going home.

"I forgot to ask the lawyer who I should leave my credit cards to," you exclaim.

"Never mind, you can take them with you," says your wife, patting your hand again consolingly. "Where you're going, you'll need all the credit you can get."

To Your Good Health Some People Have 'Metal Allergy'

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M. D.

"Dear Dr. Molner: I have what I call a metal allergy—earrings, safety pins and rings make me break out in a red, itchy rash. I have had my ears break out from earrings, and my back from bra clips. This has cleared up when I removed the metal, but I just can't rid my hands of this nuisance—P. H."

Various metals are from time to time responsible for this sort of thing, and "metal allergy" is a perfectly good term for it. Another term is "contact dermatitis," or skin trouble caused from contact with some material or other.

In a good many cases people have found that they could go back to wearing jewelry if they coated it (or coated the parts touching the skin) with clear lacquer. This may be of considerable help to you.

It is possible that an allergist might be able to help you further in this respect. For one thing, of course, he may be able to determine which metals bother you, and that would simplify things. Nickel, chromium and a number of others are more likely to cause such distress.

You already have a pretty good understanding of the trouble, your letter shows. In all probability the reason your hands continue to break out is that you touch whatever metal (or metals) to which you are sensitive.

There are so many possibilities—metal in pens or pencils, keys, faucets, doorknobs, kitchenware. Things may be plated with metals that might be the ones you react to.

As an indication of the kind of watchfulness that is sometimes needed, I recollect the case of a man who was sensitive to nickel. He avoided anything that was nickel plated (which took some doing) but still on occasion found his fingertips becoming sore.

His doctor, an imaginative allergist, presently traced the cause of his sore fingertips to nickels in the change he carried in his pocket!

Remember that your problem may not have anything to do with nickel. It could be some other metal, but it's a good idea to keep nickel in mind. It may take quite a bit of watchfulness before you discover which things you touch are the ones that bother you. There are so many things we touch without thinking about it—knobs on drawers, windows and such are examples. All the same, people with your sort of trouble have learned how to avoid it, and I trust that you will, too.

"Dear Dr. Molner: Where do fever blisters come from?—G. McC."

The commonest cause appears to be a virus infection, which catches

Quite A Puzzle

LOCKPORT, N. Y. (AP) - The lock apparently was just too puzzling for thieves who broke into a trailer parked in a trucking depot here. Police found the contents of the eight cartons the thieves took, scattered around a field at the west end of the city. The cartons contained jigsaw puzzles.

Around The Rim They Should Be Let Be

One of our state officials has handed down a ruling which I feel should be stripped to its essentials—laid bare, so to speak.

This official denied a charter to a nudist association on the grounds that it amounts to indecent exposure, adding that indecent exposure is a matter affecting public morals and that courts have consistently sustained criminal laws regarding indecent exposure. Also, he said, the issue does not involve that of private rights or personal liberties.

I well recall the visit of a so-called "nudist colony" to my hometown years ago, but it turned out to be merely a traveling peep show—charging admission to all comers. It left the citizenry up in arms. I was a grown man before I learned that the bonafide nudist is an innocently conscientious person, albeit a bit on the odd side.

Nudism holds that the body is not an object of shame, and that our Creator never meant for it to be—and it thus becomes a religious issue. There is no hanky-panky in a nudist colony, both because it isn't allowed and because the bona fide nudist does not show himself to others for immoral reasons.

Thus, the official is guilty of a half-truth in equating nudism with indecent exposure and then pointing out that indecent exposure (not necessarily nudism) is frowned upon by the courts.

Of course, laws can be passed against anything, thus making that thing technically "criminal." It was unfair to the official to label the nudists as criminals.

He overlooks the fact that these people do not go without clothing in public, and that they keep themselves as far away as possible from a disapproving public, behind high walls and as far into the boonocks as they can travel. They don't try charging public admission fees, either.

Nudism is not a matter of public morals, as long as they are sincere and keep to themselves.

Me? Shucks, no, man. I'd be embarrassed to death.

Inez Robb Memo: Ease Up On Pat, Please

Back in May, 1958, there appeared in the "Letters from Readers" column of the New York World-Telegram and Sun a communication from Mrs. Marcia Isaacson, saying—in part—"I am tired of reading about 'Pat Nixon, Superwife!' Mrs. Isaacson was fed to the teeth, she went on, with another spate of publicity flattery stating that Mrs. Nixon not only did all her own household in a servile home but even—and that is what tore the blanket—pressed her husband's pants before dashing off to state dinners and Embassy balls.

Well, I yield to none in my admiration of Mrs. Nixon, an attractive, intelligent and beautifully groomed lady. But, in 1958, I yielded to none in my shared despair with Mrs. Isaacson over the GOP myth that Mrs. Nixon is a poor, pitiful Pearl.

"I HAVE A HUNCH THAT Mrs. Isaacson is an average housewife," I wrote at the time, "who, when she reads yet another blurb about Mrs. Nixon doing every single, solitary lick of her own housework, including the washing, ironing and—oh heaven's sake!—pressing her husband's pants, has to take a tranquilizer and lie down for an hour in a darkened room."

"The GOP myth that Mrs. Nixon is a domestic slave is no help to her husband politically," I continued. "A man who has a salary of $35,000 annually and a fat expense account, in addition, and who can't afford a little help in the house for his wife is—ipso facto—a poor manager. If he can't manage his own home, surely he can't manage the U.S.A."

"THE GOP WOULD BE WISE TO soft-pedal all this propaganda picturing Pat Nixon as a patient Griselda. First, it has a phony ring. Second, it makes the veep look like a 19th century domestic tyrant, which he isn't. Third, it casts Mrs. Nixon in the role of a doorman, which isn't what the White House needs as a first lady. (Whoever heard of Mamie, a most popular First Lady, pressing Ike's pants?)"

"And, fourth, it antagonizes the woman voter."

Truer words were never writ! That column drew bushels of mail from women in every section of the nation who said they could not bear one more story of Mrs. Nixon's domestic martyrdom.

But the topper came when I received a letter on stationery bearing the impressive legend, "Office of the vice president, Washington." It was from William G. Key, administrative assistant to the vice president (and so signed), who wrote as follows:

"Unfortunately, the reason why Mrs. Nixon is portrayed doing all her own housework is not GOP press agency but a lack of checking on the part of those who write about her. Certainly, anyone who has checked has been told quite frankly that the Nixons have a couple in their new home. Like so many ill-founded reports, however, the old status keeps cropping up. It is just as disconcerting to Mrs. Nixon as it is to me."

SO, AS I FELT THAT THE sadron business was settled, once and for all. But how naive I was! Even in an election year, after the above letter, I did not expect to see a full length picture of Mrs. Nixon—and a posed picture, at that—patiently pressing her husband's pants. But if you will look on page 160 of the current "Ladies Home Journal," you will see such a picture. It is part and parcel of an article, "The Nixons at Home."

And if you read the article, you will still get the idea that Mrs. Nixon is a young "Old Lady Who Lived in a Shoe." There is admission that they hire a couple, but only, I suspect, in order that Mrs. Nixon can take them breakfast is bed.

I just don't think a sweet, attractive lady like Pat Nixon should be made to look silly by such eyewash propaganda. True, that distinguished first lady, Abigail Adams, did hand the washing in the East Room of the White House. But no one ever forced her to pretend that she had stood over the hot tub herself.

Even the Creator rested on the seventh day. Isn't it time that Mrs. Nixon and the GOP press agents follow suit?

Marquis Childs Unity At The Top Is In Order

WASHINGTON—Largely as a result of a deep-seated conflict with the Eisenhower administration, the nuclear ban talks at Geneva have deteriorated to the point at which there may be no alternative but to break them off.

The State Department has been seriously embarrassed by what high officials believe was a calculated leak from within the government here. As a consequence the attempt to get agreement with the Russians and the British on a compromise proposal for a test ban has probably been blocked.

IT WAS AGREED WITHIN the government here that a compromise, excluding the small underground tests, was essential if a nuclear test-ban treaty were to be approved by the Senate. Otherwise, American scientists—including those who believe that a test ban is in this country's best interest—would have to testify that cheating would be possible. That would play directly into the hands of those who want to prevent a ban and the treaty would in all probability be rejected.

THIS COMES AT THE START of the effort to work out a common Western position on disarmament for negotiations with the Communist bloc to begin on March 15. Failure of the Geneva talks, whether acknowledged or merely in the form of a more or less open stalemate, would throw serious doubt on the East-West disarmament talks at the outset.

The impasse reached in the test-ban talks is part of a general deterioration in Soviet-American relations from the optimism of the Eisenhower-Khrushchev Camp David meeting last September.

With State, Pentagon and AEC presumably in agreement, State Department officials were considering how the plan could be best presented in the conference at Geneva now in its second year. It was decided that rather than give any preliminary preview the plan should be presented in strictest secrecy within the conference chamber.

The British are indignant at what they interpret as a thinly disguised attempt to force them to go along with the proposal without their prior consent. The Macmillan government is determined to reach an agreement with the Soviets which, while it might not guarantee the detection of small secret atomic blasts, would be a base from which progress could be made toward an all-embracing system of inspection and control. The suspicion has grown in London that powerful forces in Washington, both in the Pentagon and the Atomic Energy Commission, are determined to prevent any agreement from being reached.

Embarrassed by all this publicity for what was to have been a private negotiation that might have led to a way out of the long-drawn-out talks, the State Department has held up the proposal. The American delegate at Geneva, James J. Wadsworth, has not yet put it formally before the other two powers.

While State Department officials have no proof that the leak came from the AEC, they believe this was its source. Nor will they discuss the motives behind what they believe to have been a calculated leak other than to point out what the consequences have been.

EVENTS LEADING UP to the present situation were as follows: The State Department, working with Pentagon and AEC officials, evolved a compromise proposal to be put before the conference at Geneva.

In essence, the United States proposed to ban tests in the upper atmosphere and the larger underground tests. As part of the agreement, scientists of all three powers would work toward a system of detecting smaller underground blasts, with a view eventually to including such blasts within the ban.

This is a gross oversimplification of a highly complicated matter involving the opposed findings of Soviet and American scientists on the question of identifying earthquake blasts as against what might be sneak atomic explosions intended to violate an agreement. President Eisenhower, in announcing in December that the United States would feel free to resume tests in 1960, accused Soviet scientists of refusing to consider new American data because of political motives.

IF THE END RESULT is to kill any chances for success in the talks then those who all along have resisted any test ban can claim a triumph. Foremost among them is Dr. Edward Teller, popularly known as the father of the H-bomb, who in a recent speech not only advocated continued testing but threw doubts on the possibility of any progress in disarmament.

This confused situation, growing out of the conflicts within the government here, comes as the Western allies are trying to overcome serious differences. There is deep concern over the French atomic explosion, and particularly over its size and the resulting fallout. But some discipline at the top to get unity at home would seem to be the first order of business.

Silverware Popular As Valentine

Silverware is becoming more and more a favorite Valentine's Day gift, reports the Jewelry Industry Council.

There's no mystery as to why silver has become such a favorite. First, there's the age-old pride of possession. The beauty of fine silver makes it an exquisite complement to a home and to a table, adding its own shining elegance wherever it is seen. And second, manufacturers today are providing enough variety in design and pattern to please everyone's individual taste.

Also, there is a sensible attitude about using one's silver every day instead of hiding it away except for special occasions. In fact, smart homemakers take pride in figuring out how many different ways one single piece can be used.

The special appeal that silver has as a Valentine's Day gift adds a fourth facet to its versatility—it has a definite commemorative value—and a frankly sentimental quality. Whether it is a magnificent coffee service or a pair of serving spoons, it is lovely and lasting, a lifelong reminder of a special date and a special person.

Spaders Hold Valentine Luncheon

A Valentine luncheon was held Thursday by the Spaders Garden Club in the home of Mrs. Earl Burnett.

Each member brought a covered dish, and the group was served buffet style. The centerpiece for the affair, set upon a white linen table cloth, was an arrangement of white gladioli interspersed with red felt hearts.

A surprise Valentine cake was made by Mrs. Dale Smith and club members drew numbers to get it. Mrs. C. J. Stocks was the winner.

February 18 is the date set for the meeting to be held in the home of Mrs. C. A. Tonn, 1712 East 13th. The program at that time will be Success With Roses and Shrubs for Many Uses.

Mrs. Fields Welcomed To Forsan Study Club

Mrs. Ted Fields was welcomed into the Forsan Study Club as a new member at a meeting Thursday afternoon at the school. Hostesses for the gathering were Mrs. A. L. McNallen and Mrs. Roy Lamb.

Theme of the program, Traffic Safety, was developed as members answered roll call by naming a driving hazard. Mrs. Ronnie Gandy, in a devotion, urged members to form the habit of breathing a prayer for protection each time they enter a car.

Mrs. H. H. Story introduced a skit, Lady Driver, in which Mrs. Hamlin Elrod and Mrs. J. C. Ferguson demonstrated how the power of an automobile is transferred to the rear wheels. Booklets explaining the operation of a car were distributed.

A federation report was given by Mrs. W. M. Roman. Announcement was made of the selection of the club's program of the year, which dealt with the general subject of Americanism. It had been given by Mrs. Gandy and Mrs. J. T. Blake and was based on the two new states, Alaska and Hawaii.

A Valentine theme was used on the tea table from which refreshments were served.

The next meeting, set for Feb. 18, will be an open session and will be a study of the American home. It is to be held at 7:30 p.m., which is a change in time from the regular afternoon gatherings.

Series Of Pre-Nuptial Parties Compliments Lamesa Bride-Elect

LAMESA—A luncheon Saturday climaxed a series of bridal parties held in Fort Worth recently for Susan Logan, bride-elect of Bill York.

Miss Logan, a member of the music staff at Travis Avenue Baptist Church in Fort Worth, and York, a student at Baptist Seminary, Fort Worth, are to be married Saturday in First Baptist Church here.

Hostesses for the Saturday luncheon at Wedgwood Country Club were Mrs. Blaine Caddell, Mrs. A. E. Emeett, Mrs. A. C. Largent and Mrs. Saxe Adams.

Centerpiece for the luncheon table, where places were laid for 11 guests, was fashioned of pink sweetheart roses centered in a large heart outlined with braided pink satin ribbon and net.

Places were marked by miniature swans with tiny wedding bells tied around their necks. Attending the luncheon from Lamesa were Mrs. Vernon Logan and Dee Ann, mother and sister of the honoree; Mrs. Olin York, and Mrs. Bob Boardman, her future mother-in-law and sister-in-law.

The Logans are former Big Spring residents.

Hostesses for a lingerie shower on Monday were Miss Logan's roommates, Nathalie Foster, Marie Ferguson, Carolyn Pruett and Raneal Ivey of Fort Worth.

Carrying out the pink and white color theme of the wedding, the serving table was laid with a pink cloth and featured a floral arrangement of pink carnations and bluebonnets with an angel centerpiece.

Tag Rush One Day Affair

It was a one day event in so far as the tag office is the county courthouse was concerned.

On Feb. 1, the office was jammed all day long with eager motorists clamoring to buy 1960 plates. Since then the office has had meager traffic.

The passenger car tags issued the first three days of the period they have been offered stood at 870 on Wednesday afternoon. Bulk of these were issued on Monday.

The office is now issuing tags in the CX series.

The first day rush, it was explained, was by motorists who hoped to obtain plates with low numbers. There are still three digit numbers available but evidently the drivers wanted to be included in the smallest possible bracket.

Car tags must be purchased and attached to motor vehicles by April 1.

Last Hope Dies For African Miners

COALBROOK, South Africa (AP)—The last hope has died for survival of any of the 435 miners trapped by a rockfall in the Clydesdale coal mine.

A microphone lowered through a newly completed nine-inch borehole to the 515-foot level, where all were believed imprisoned by the plunging rock two weeks ago, picked up only the gurgling of water, no humans.

The fate of these men—six whites and 429 Africans—shaped up as the second worst mine disaster in history. The toll of human life was greater only in the tragedy of the Honekeiko colliery in Manchuria last Feb. 1942. There 1,549 miners lost their lives.

Closed Terraces Hold Moisture

The current bonanza of moisture won't last always, and the Martin-Howard Soil Conservation District is urging farmers to put some of it in the bank.

One of the best ways, according to technicians of the Soil Conservation Service, is the use of closed level terraces.

Terracing has proven to be a beneficial means of preventing sheet and gully erosion and increasing crop production due to water storage in the soil.

In a recent trial of this method, the Spur Experiment Station revealed that rows which run up and down a slope produced 2.62 inches of run-off and yielded only 104 pounds of lint cotton.

With closed level terraces there was no run-off and the yield increased to 172 pounds. Over a 29-year period the terraced land gave an average annual increase of $18.63 per acre over non-terraced land.

Interest in conservation is very high in this area at the present time, according to Soil Conservation Service. Between the time a crop is harvested and the time of preparing for the new crops there is a period which is now being used as the "terracing season."

So far, 75 miles of terraces have been run this season on the following farms: Douglas Overman, Mrs. M. V. Boyles, L. S. Davidson, Leroy Findley, Gene O'Daniel, S. L. Lockhart, L. J. Painter, Budie Barr, Rex Shive and Mrs. George White.

Trial Dates Are Set For Three

Company Is Cited For DE Car Loan

McEwen Motor Company, authorized new car dealership in Big Spring, this week was awarded a Certificate of Merit for lending an automobile in the Big Spring high school driver training program.

Boats Must Have Tags By Deadline

Owners of motor boats in Howard County have until March 1 to apply for and receive registration tags for their watercraft.

However, the registration does not apply to all boats. Under the Water Safety Act passed by the last Legislature, it is required that owners, with motors exceeding 10 horsepower, register their craft with the Texas Highway Department. A tag is provided with the registration. This tag must be attached to the side of the boat.

Registration of motorboats is not handled at the office of the Howard County tax assessor. Motorboat owners, however, do go to the tax office (car tag division) for the application forms. These should be filled out, accompanied by the proper registration fee, and sent to the Texas Highway Department.

The schedule of rates as listed on the application blanks: boats less than 16 feet in length $1; boats 16 feet and not over 26 feet, $5; boats 26 feet and not over 40 feet, $10; B boats over 40 feet $12.50.

A boat owner with a smaller boat and a motor of less than 10 horsepower can register his craft if he wishes. He does not have to do so, the Texas Highway Department says.

The Texas Highway Department emphasized that the deadline for making such applications for registration is March 1.

Mrs. Viola Robinson, county tax collector, said that her office has a small supply of the required application forms and that a considerable number of boat owners have asked for these forms. Other than for handing out the applications, the local tax office has nothing to do with the registration.

Ship, Headed For Graveyard, Takes Own Life And 6 Seamen

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — A steep roll by a ship doomed to the Navy's "graveyard" left one of its crewmen dead and five others missing in the icy waters of the Atlantic off the Virginia Coast.

One of the men of the destroyer Daly was injured fatally on board as the vessel lurched unexpectedly. Ten others were swept overboard, and of these only five were rescued.

Early today, many hours after the accident at 3:40 p.m. Thursday ships and planes still combed the area 200 miles off Cape Henry, with hope almost gone for finding any of the missing seamen alive.

The Daly and two other destroyers based at Newport, R. I., the Young and the Cotten, were on perhaps their last cruises when the tragedy took place.

Their "sea trials" en route from Newport to Hampton Roads will end shortly with their entrance into the Norfolk Naval Shipyard, where they will be mothballed in preparation for joining the reserve fleet.

Three of the 10 who went overboard were plucked from the sea by the Daly herself. The other two were picked up by the merchant ship Alabama. One of these two was seriously injured.

Murder Charged

VICTORIA (AP) — Mrs. Violet Glosson, about 45, was under murder charges today following the death Thursday of her husband, a Victoria ironworker. R. T. Glosson, 51, died after being stabbed.

ward the Alabama to take aboard the two injured men and bring them here. The cutter was due to land the men at the nearby Little Creek Amphibious Base, from where they were to be transferred by ambulance to the Portsmouth Naval Hospital.

Their estimated time of arrival was not given out, and the Navy withheld the identity of all involved until next of kin have been notified.

There was no immediate explanation of what caused the mishap. Atlantic Fleet Headquarters said it had no information on either the accident or the weather conditions at the time it occurred.

The three destroyers from Newport, along with the Borie and the Soley from Norfolk, kept up an all-night search of the area for the missing men. They were aided by flare-equipped planes from the Coast Guard station at Elizabeth City, N.C., and the nearby Oceana Naval Air Station.

DPS Sergeant Is Speaker At Annual Safety Banquet

Sgt. J. Ross Kemp, Texas Department of Public Safety, is to be special speaker at the annual safety meeting Saturday evening of the Steere Tank Lines. The meeting will be at 7:30 p.m. at the Sands Restaurant. It is expected 85 will be present. Steere has 40 drivers at the local terminal as an average staff but on occasions the number runs much higher.

Officers of the company from Albuquerque and Dallas will attend.

W. P. Hollis, assistant vice president, whose home is in Big Spring, will make presentation of driver safety awards to 26 drivers from the Big Spring terminal. These cover periods from one to five years and represent several million miles of accident free driving.

Hollis said every driver stationed here who has been driving a year or longer has received a safe driving award from the National Safety Council. In 1959, the company had a year with a 45 per cent reduction in accidents because of the outstanding performance of these drivers, Hollis stated.

Steere Tank Lines Inc., operates in Texas, New Mexico and Kansas. It has again received the first place award from Motor Carriers Assn. and the Texas Safety Assn. In the past four years, Steere has won 15 major state and national safety contests. Ed West of Albuquerque, N. M., is vice president in charge of safety and personnel for the company.

PRAYER POWER

Spurgeon Demonstrates Prayer Of Righteous

When Charles H. Spurgeon was a minister in London, he was often called upon in prayer for the sick. In 1855 he was in conference with a physician, a deacon, and a father whose son had an arm broken in two places, below the elbow and near the shoulder. The boy's father was keenly anxious for the minister to pray for the healing of his son's arm, but the doctor shook his head.

"The boy will recover the use of his arm without prayer," the physician objected. "If you pray for anything, then pray that the upper arm will not be deformed. There's nothing I know in surgery that can prevent that happening."

Spurgeon prayed for the healing with all the fervency he could. Later, when he and the deacon were alone, the deacon asked: "Do you think the break can be healed without the deformity?" "All things are possible with God," the preacher answered with a smile, "but I cannot feel it is very probable. Yet it is our duty to pray for the things we desire even though they seem impossible."

The next day, to the dismay and alarm of everybody, the boy fell down the steps, suffering a fresh fracture. Rushed quickly to the hospital, there was a visiting French specialist who directed the resetting of the bones, so that they healed in perfect position.

"The effectual, fervent prayer of a righteous man availeth much." (James 5:16).

Perseverance in Christian Work

AN ILLUSTRATION OF THE AMAZING FOUR-FOLD ACTIVITY OF THE APOSTLE PAUL—TENT-MAKING, TRAVELING, PREACHING AND WRITING

Scripture—Acts 18:1-23; 1 Corinthians 1:26-31.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL
THE REV. DR. WILBUR M. SMITH introduces today's lesson by reminding us of the differences in cities in our own country—Boston with its shipping and historical sites, for instance, and Denver, Colorado, with a much shorter history, but with such wonderful scenery, which awes travelers who visit. "What a difference between New Orleans and another city in the nation, directly north on the Mississippi river, with its sturdy Scandinavian element, its large evangelical churches and Bible Institutes—Minneapolis. So in the days of Paul did the great cities of the empire, more or less, have their own separate individuality, and Paul was marvelously gifted in being able to adapt himself to the mood of any city into which he entered for the preaching of the gospel. The one that concerns us in this lesson is Corinth, situated in northern Greece, the residence of the governor.

"As Athens was the intellectual center, so Corinth was the political and commercial center of Greece."

There he "found a certain Jew named Aquila, born in Pontus, lately come from Italy, with his wife Priscilla; (because that Claudius had commanded all Jews to depart from Rome)."—Acts 18:1-2.

Because he was a tentmaker like themselves, he lived with them, "and he reasoned in the synagogue every Sabbath, and persuaded the Jews and the Greeks. And when Silas and Timothy were come from Macedonia, Paul was pressed in the spirit, and testified to the Jews that Jesus was Christ."

"And when they opposed themselves and blasphemed, he shook his raiment, and said unto them, Your blood be upon your own heads; I am clean: from henceforth I will go unto the Gentiles."—Acts 18:3-6.

So Paul departed, and "entered into a certain man's house, named Justus, one that worshipped God, whose house joined to the political and commercial center of Greece."

He then took Sothenes, chief ruler of the synagogue, and beat him. Paul stayed there a "good while" before leaving his brethren and sailing to Syria, taking Aquila and Priscilla with him. He left them there and went to Ephesus, where he taught in the synagogue. They wanted him to stay there, but he bid them goodbye, saying that he must keep the feast in Jerusalem.

However, he said, "I will return again unto you, if God will." So he sailed from Ephesus "and when he had landed at Caesarea, and gone up, and saluted the church, he went down to Antioch."—Acts 18:19-22.

So we see in our lesson how God protected Paul from his enemies. He will do the same for us if, when we are in trouble we need His help and pray to Him.

GOLDEN TEXT
"Be ye steadfast, unmovable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, forasmuch as ye know that your labour is not in vain in the Lord."—1 Corinthians 15:58.

hard to the synagogue."—Acts 18:7.

"And Crispus, the chief ruler of the synagogue, believed on the Lord with all his house; and many of the Corinthians hearing, believed, and were baptized."—Acts 18:7-8.

Then the Lord spoke to Paul in a vision at night, saying: "Be not afraid, but speak, and hold not thy peace: For I am with thee, and no man shall set on thee to hurt thee: for I have much people in this city."—Acts 18:9-10.

So Paul stayed on there a year and six months, teaching the gospel.

Then Gallio was the deputy of Achaia, the unbelieving Jews brought Paul to the judgment seat, saying, This fellow persuaded men to worship God contrary to the law." But Gallio refused to listen to them, saying, "If it were a matter of wrong or wickedness, O ye Jews, reason would that I should bear with you; but if it be a question of words and names, and of your law, look ye to it: for I will be no judge of such matters." And he drove them away. —Acts 18:12-16.

The Greeks then took Sothenes, chief ruler of the synagogue, and beat him.

Paul stayed there a "good while" before leaving his brethren and sailing to Syria, taking Aquila and Priscilla with him. He left them there and went to Ephesus, where he taught in the synagogue. # Give God A Chance—God Will Open Doors For You!

THE KEY —and the OPEN DOOR

One of the disturbing discoveries of life is that the truth one man cherishes seems a mystery to another.

But is that surprising? We live in a world of doors and locks. To the man with the Key a door opens. To another it remains closed.

Among the keys to spiritual truth is one called HUMILITY. It accounts for many of the millions who worship God every Sunday in the churches of our land.

An American President once said, "I have been driven many times to my knees by the knowledge that my own strength, and that of all around me, was insufficient for that day."

He ruled a nation divided. But neither Blue nor Gray ever questioned the humility of the man who signed his name, "A. Lincoln."

Not only the portal, but the Truth of God's House, is every Sunday an Open Door to humble men!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Scientist Predicts Orbit Phone Calls

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A scientist predicts telephone calls from New York to California soon will be routed via an instrumented balloon orbiting a thousand miles above earth. Dr. John Pierce, research director of the Bell Laboratories in New York, told a convention on military electronics Wednesday that westbound messages will be received at a laboratory near Barstow, Calif. Such a plan would eliminate the need for costly telephone wires.

Inge Not Mad At Critics Who Shot Down Last Play

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie - TV Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — A little more respect for the ailing theater, if you please, asks playwright William Inge. Inge is here to oversee the local stage debut and the start of filming the "The Dark at the Top of the Stairs," as well as to visit Disneyland, of all places. I had expected that he might issue a blast against the Broadway critics who recently torpedoed his first flop after four smash hits ("Come Back, Little Sheba," "Picnic," "Bus Stop," "Dark").

But no. The gentle-voiced Midwesterner spoke plaintively, not in anger. "I have no quarrel with the critics," he said. "I knew that 'A Loss of Roses' was not right. I didn't even read the reviews. It was painful enough for me to realize that the play had gone wrong; I didn't need the further punishment of reading about it."

"But I will say something about the critics: It amazes me how violent they get when a play is not a hit. They act as though it were a personal affront to them that such a presentation should be made. "Everyone realizes that the theater is in bad condition. But you don't treat a sick child by beating her. I think a playwright who has set out to write a serious piece of work for the theater ought to be able to expect respect. Instead, I was treated as if I had spit on the floor."

What went wrong with "A Loss of Roses?" Inge said he had a basic difference with director Danny Mann.

"Mann is fundamentally a film director," the playwright said. "He did all the rehearsals in small scenes and wouldn't let me see a full run-through until the last day. Then I realized things were wrong, but we were ready to open."

Of course, it is probable that you have to be Maurice Chevalier to do without them. Anyway, CBS' "A Bouquet From Maurice Chevalier" lived up to the promise of its title, all 60 minutes.

It was, as the engaging gentleman explained, a one-man show. All his onstage assistants were girls but they were big name guests — Joan Crawford's twins, Lucy Arnaz, Randy Paar and Barbara Britton's daughter. He chatted with and sang to them. Chevalier sang most of the songs with which he is associated but I do think I enjoyed him most with his version of Al Jolson songs, when he was longing for that Swanee Ree-vare. He reminisced, philosophized, danced and gave us a wonderful informal time.

The show, as CBS carefully announced, was pre-recorded. And it sounded as if the name of a record company had been erased from the tape where Maurice was tossing in a little plug for a record.

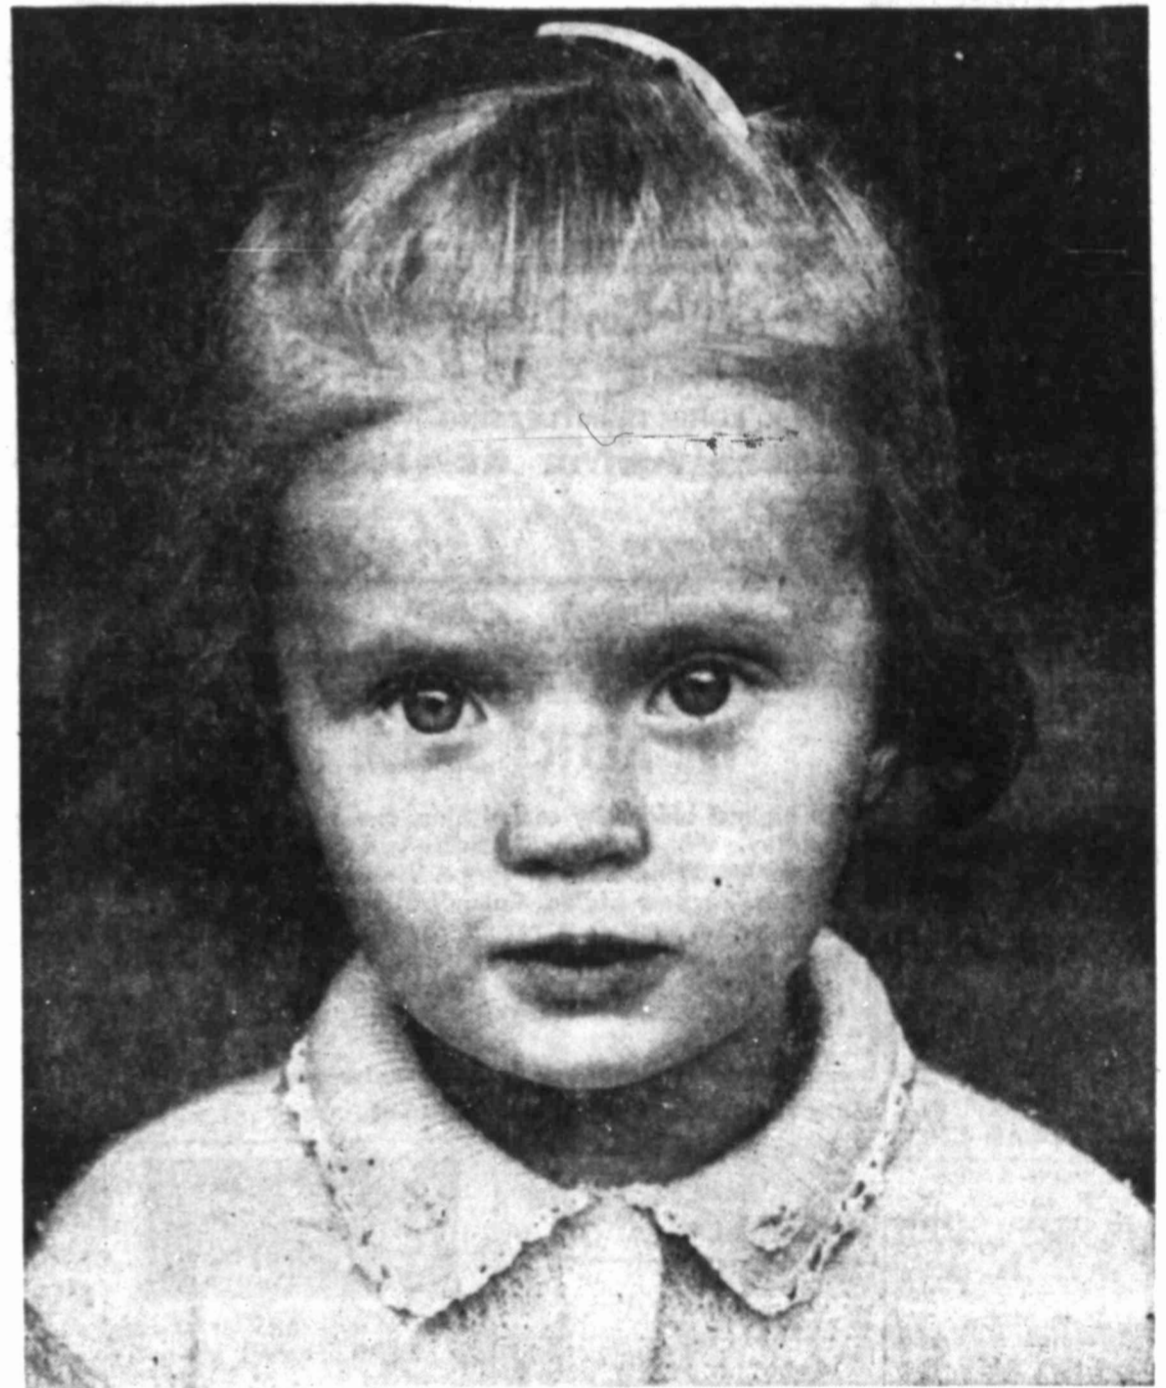

If you're looking closely at the commercials these days, you are noticing that some changes are being made. That headache remedy, for instance, has a new one which substitutes a twisted rope and electric sparks in the head for that old pounding hammer. When next Sunday's "Frontiers of Faith" show about Africa was first shown last September on NBC, Charles Van Doren was the host—just before the TV roof fell in. This time out, Peter Roberts and Dr. Emory Ross will be taped into the quiz veteran's spot.

Dolores Del Rio, once one of Hollywood's brightest stars, will appear in a March musical show about Mexico with Janet Blair, Gilbert Roland and Ricardo Montalban. The Arthur Murray Show will start an occasional out-of-format show during which a famous name star will be "fall guy," to be ribbed or roasted by other performers.

Chevalier's 1-Man Show Entertaining

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Maurice Chevalier demonstrated dramatically Thursday night that you don't need guest stars, a big chorus and sketches for an entertaining musical show.

You hope she'll never find out

She discovers something new about this world of ours every day, and you're happy to help her learn. But there is one thing you hope she'll never have to know: what it's like to live without peace.

For everything you hope for her, every chance she has to grow up into a strong, secure, happy woman—all depend on peace.

What can you do, personally, to help the cause of peace? Remember, peace costs money. Money for military strength, for science, for a strong economy. You can help provide this money by buying U.S. Savings Bonds. Because Bonds not only build your financial security—they help pay America's "peace bills" as well.

You can buy Bonds where you work, through Payroll Savings, or where you bank. But it doesn't matter where—just so you do.
