We Win National Recognition

"Muleshoe has won recognition in the newest edition of the country's best selling national tourist guidebook, the 1969 Mobil Travel Guide," said Mobil's Lynn Gaylord.

Out of all the cities and towns in the U.S., only 4,208 were considered to have enogh tourist-appeal for inclusion in the guides. Our town is one of them.

In addition to giving information on where to go, the books list over 23,000 places to eat and sleep with each one rated on a one to five star basis. One star indicates "good, better than average." Five means "one of the best in the country." Only 35 establishments have five star status in the new edition.

All ratngs are revaluated each year. Listings and ratings are based on reports from a corps of trained inspectors, local and regional consultants and an analysis of the over 100,000 pieces of reader mail received by the editors.

The guide is available at all Mobil stations. It is published in seven 300-page regional editions which contain road atlases, city maps, auto tours and a wealth of other travel information.

Postal Deficit To Raise Postage

An "inherited" postal deficit of $1.2 billion is responsible for the proposals to raise the postage bill for residents of Muleshoe, Tex. Postmaster Spencer Beavers said today.

Beavers said he had been advised by Postmaster General Winton M. Blount in Washington, D.C. that the record of 1.2 billion 1970 deficit compelled President Nixon to seek postage rate increases. Without higher rates the Department will be left with a staggering deficit that would become an added public tax burden.

In addition to increasing letter mail from 6 to 7 cents as proposed by the Johnson administration, President Nixon asked that second and third-class mailers help reduce the large postal deficit which would otherwise be paid by the taxpayers, the postmaster said.

For bulk third class mail and most magazines and newspapers, the rates would be increased 16 percent to 20 percent above today's levels he noted. The percentages include rate hikes already scheduled by previous action of Congress.

The President's recommended increases will reduce the 1970 deficit by more than $600 million.

The Postmaster listed other details on the proposed increases:

First class Mail: Letters and post cards would increase one cent, to 7 cents and 6 cents a piece, respectively, on July 1,1969. Air mail postage would remain the same at 10 cents. This would yield $557.2 million in new revenue.

Second-class mail: A handling charge of 3/10ths of a cent per piece for circulation outside home counties would be-

McDaniel Comes Long Way

HAPPY BIRTHDAY-DOCTOR MAC--Dr. B.O. McDaniel proudly displays a bright Hawaiian type shirt he received during his birthday party Monday afternoon at West Plains Memorial Hospital. Celebrating his 73 birthday, he was feted by employees of the hospital and the Muleshoe Nursing Home. As he plans a trip to Hawaii next month, the birthday motif was Hawaiian style.

'Possum McDaniel has come a long, long way since the days of playing football in Oxford, Miss. where he was the original "wrong way" ball carrier.

"It was back in Oxford (Miss.) High School," said McDaniel, "I think sometime in 1918. The quarterback tossed me this pass and I picked me out the near goals and started running. Only trouble was, it was the wrong way. Thus, I became the original wrong way ball carrier.

"Fortunately," continued Dr. McDaniel, "a brother of William Faulkner (the author) who was one of my teammates tackled me before I could score for the other team."

William Faulkner later wrote up the story of the 'wrong way' ball carrier in one of his books.

Monday afternoon, Dr. B.O. McDaniel was honored on his 73rd birthday by all the employees and a few patients at West Plains Memorial Hospital and the Muleshoe Nursing Home.

Dr. McDaniel was summoned to the nursing home wing of the hospital supposedly to check on a patient and when he was walking briskly down the hall he was stopped at the dining room

Tornado Watch... What it Means!

Spring brings with it the threat of tornadoes, and it is time once again to turn our attention to these destructive and sometimes deadly storms.

According to the U.S. Weather Bureau's State Climatologits, 140 confirmed tornadoes occurred in Texas last year. This compares with a record 232 reported during 1967.

Colonel Wilson E. Speir, director of the Texas Department of Public Safety and state director of defense and disaster relief, reminds that the peak tornado season has arrived.

Colonel Speir says there are no months free from twisters. The peak tornado months, April, May and June, produced 13, 48, and 21 tornadoes respectively. Other totals included January, 2; February, 1; March, 3; July, 4; August, 8; September, 5; October, 8; November, 11 and December, 16.

As knowledge of what to do if a tornado approaches may mean the difference in life and death for you and your family, the basic rules of tornado safety are briefly outlined below.

A tornado watch is used to alert the public to the possibility that tornadoes may develop over a certain area. A tornado warning means that a tornado has actually been sighted in the area or its presence has been detected by radar. Then the weather threatens, the Department of Public Safety urges you to keep tuned to your radio or television for information. Do not call police, civil defense, or the weather bureau except to report a tornado.

Tornadoes are usually seen as a dark funnel-shaped cloud, spinning rapidly and extending toward the earth from the base of a thundercloud. When nearby, a tornado sounds like the roar of hundreds of airplanes.

If you are near a tornado cellar: When time permits, go to a tornado cellar, cave or underground excavation which should have an air outlet to help equalize the air pressure. It should be kept fit for use, free from water, gas or debris; and preferably equipped with pick and shovel. There is no universal protection against tornadoes except underground excavations.

If you are in open country: Move at right angles to the tornadoes path. Tornadoes usually move ahead at about 25 to 40 miles per hour. If there is no time to escape, lie flat in the nearest depression such as a ditch or ravine.

If in a city or town: Seek inside shelter, preferably in a strongly reinforced building. Stay away from windows. In homes: The corner of the basement toward the tornado usually offers greatest safety, particularly in frame houses. People in houses without basements can sometimes be protected by taking cover under heavy furniture against walls. Doors and windows on the sides of the houses away from the tornado may be opened to help reduce damage to the building. Standing against the inside wall on a lower floor of an office building offers some protection.

If in schools: In city areas: If school building is of strongly reinforced construction, stay inside, away from windows, remain near an inside wall on the lower floors when possible. Avoid auditoriums and gymnasiums with large, poorly-supported roofs.

In rural schools that do not have strongly reinforced construction, remove children and teachers to a ravine or ditch if storm shelter is not available.

Keep calm. It will not help to get excited. People have been killed by running out into streets and by turning back into the path of a tornado. Even though a warning is issued, chances of a tornado striking one's home or location are very slight. Tornadoes cover such a small zone, as a rule, that relatively only a few places in a warned area are directly affected. You should know about tornadoes though, "just in case."

Keep tuned to your radio or television station for latest tornado advisory information. Do not call the Weather Bureau, except to report a tornado, as your individual request may tie up telephone lines urgently needed to receive special reports or to relay advisories to radio and television stations for dissemination to thousands in the critical area.

door of the nursing home where the nurses and employees were waiting to sing "Happy Birthday."

The decorations were in the Hawaiian motif commemorating the proposed trip to Hawaii in June for Dr. and Mrs. McDaniel and their daughter Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth (Nan Ellen) Largent. They will visit another daughter, Mr. and Mrs. James (Bennie Ann) Walker.

When Dr. McDaniel makes the trip in June for two weeks, it will be the first time he has taken any days off from the hospital since February, 1968.

He carries a full work load working seven days (and nights) a week.

It is thought that Dr. B.O. McDaniel is one of the few doctors in the United States of his age who still carries the type work load as he does. He sees an average of 30-40 patients a day, delivers babies, performs surgery, sees each patient in the nursing home daily and makes twice a day hospital rounds.

He is on emergency call every third night, and sees his own patients at any time they call in. He keeps regular office hours of 8-5 on Monday through Saturday and may be found at his office until noon on Sunday.

Dr. McDaniel practiced in Amherst until 1954 when he moved to Muleshoe with Dr. Birdson and Dr. Slemmons. The association of Drs. McDaniel, Birdsong and Slemmons was formed until the deaths, first of Dr. Slemmons, then Dr. Birdsong.

Dr. McDaniel would attribute much of his present energy and activity to his early sports days. He is strong for football for youths and says "it provides good training and teaches quick thinking and decisions."

Considering medicine and football his hobbies, the doctor lives a full life with his medicinal practice and although a spectator now in football, still enjoys the sport.

He also introduced the tennis team and the varsity and freshmen cheerleaders.

Darrell Turner, president of the Muleshoe Athletic Boosters Club gave the introductory speech for the special speaker for the evening, Pete Ragus, Athletic Director of the Lubbock Public School System.

Ragus talked on the "Value of Athletics."

He said in athletics is one of the greatest forces in our society for developing thoughts, decisions and habits. "We are creatures of choice," he added, "and masters of our own destinies.

"Remember," he stressed, "when I do my best I am a successful person so always do the best you can with the ability you have.

"Success is measured in four letters W-O-R-K,' he said, "and in order to be successful you must ask yourself how much is it worth to me? Because it is a very simple fact, the higher the goal the greater the price."

"Involvement is the key part of athletics," continued the Athletic Director, "and the quality developed on the athletic field is needed throughout your life.

"Perhaps the most important thing to remember," said Ragus, "is courage. Defeat is mental you are defeated when you quit trying. Never give in and you cannot be defeated."

New Soybean Gets Approval

A new soybean variety developed and proven by the High Plains Research Foundation at Halfway was approved for certification by the Texas State Seed and Plant Board Saturday.

According to Dr. Tom Longnecker, Foundation director, the new variety known as HP-963 was selected from soybean seed stocks donated to the Foundation in 1959 by Paymaster Farm.

This particular variety is the result of a long-range program which could have been severely delayed. Such firms as Paymaster, Plains Coop Oil Mill, Lubbock, Lubbock Cotton Oil, and Levelland Vegetable Oil. through their financial support, made possible the stepped-up advances in this research.

This is the third variety released by the Foundation. First released in 1963 was Hinn, a late maturing group VI variety. Patterson, an early maturing group IV variety, was released in 1965. The new HP-963 variety is about 10 days later maturing than the Patterson variety, 7 to 10 days earlier than Hill and 10 to 14 days earlier than Hinn and Hood varieties.

Dr. Douglas Owen, Plant Breeder, said the variety had been in strains tests at the Foundation as PA 8-963 since 1961 and has proved successful in numerous area tests since 1965.

The variety seems to be better adapted to an area 50 miles north and south of Plainview and is not as well adapted to the North Plains as the Patterson or Clark 63 varieties. Dr. Owen described the variety as having the genetic yield potential of 60 bushels per acre or better under optimum conditions. This includes favorabel weather, proper planting dates, irrigation timing and harvesting conditions.

"Experienced soybean producers should average 40 to 50 bushel per acre yields from HP-963," Dr. Owen stated. He noted that in Foundation tests the variety had consistently out yielded Hill and Hinn varieties three to five bushels per acre.

As observed during testing at the Foundation, the new variety is a vigorous, erect, indeterminate plant type developing fruit fairly high off the ground for easier harvesting. Dr. Owen pointed out that the new variety usually formed two and three bean pods but under favorable conditions many 4 bean pods developed.

Dr. Owen also emphasized the fact that in Foundation tests the oil and protein content of HP-963 was comparable to other currently grown varieties.

"Optimum planting dates for HP-963 are from May 20 to June 10," Dr. Owen added, "and adequate seed is available at Plainview Wheat Growers in Plainview.

Ask Amy

BY AMY ADAMS

I'M TOLD THIS IS NORMAL

Dear Amy:

I have been worrying about a problem of mine for several months now. After seeing how understanding and helpful you are to your readers in your column, I feel I could turn to you.

I am a boy of fifteen years and have not yet started to enter puberty. I am even afraid to get undressed in the locker room at school. Is this normal for a boy of my age? I would appreciate your printing this letter because I am sure it would be helpful to other boys in this situation.

Chaz

Dear Chaz:

Many young people experience embarrassment when it is necessary to undress in front of others, but I assure you that it is very normal.

If your problem goes beyond that, I urge you to discuss it with your parents and your family doctor.

Dear Amy:

I'm 16. I met George last summer. From the first time he saw me, he pretended he liked me. He lied to me a lot but he only wanted me to like him, and I told him I did.

After a few weeks of knowing him, his friends told me that he was no good and that he didn't like me. I believed them and I didn't want to see George again. A few weeks later, he wanted me back, but I said no.

Now his brother tells me that ever since I got mad, he is going crazy. He doesn't want to talk to anybody and he says that I'm the only girl he will talk to. He went with many other girls since then but he broke up with them all.

He is just being miserable!

I like him more than I ever did. I want him back. How can I go about getting him back? I have to make the first move. He won't.

Jenny

Dear Jenny:

A boy who cares for a girl as much as his brother says he cares for you would certainly contact you. Frankly, I think you are believing what you want to believe and disregarding what you don't want to believe.

It's time you faced the facts! You can get in touch with him if you wish, but I wouldn't.

Dear Amy:

I love my husband and I believe he loves me. He says he does. We have been married 16 years and he never did anything like this before until he hurt his eye.

Since his accident, he will take off for a couple of days then come home again. He says he does not know why he takes off and that he does not want us to break up.

Do you think I am wrong in staying with him or should I call it quits? I have 3 sons and they tell me that they like their father the way he is.

I think a lot of this is his nerves and he doesn't want to believe he could be doing this because of nerves. He has always been so strong.

His Mrs.

Dear Mrs.:

If you think that your husband's behavior is due to his accident which resulted in disturbing his nervous system, accompany him to the doctor. Perhaps there is more damage than you realize, and if you love your husband, you will make every effort to help him with his problem.

Dear Any:

I am 13 and I am in the 8th grade. I live with my aunt. She doesn't think I should baby-sit for four children at one time. Three are boys and one is a girl. Their ages are 10, 8, 6 and the little girl is 4.

What is your opinion about it?

J.C.

Dear J.C.:

I agree with your aunt, dear. One at a time is quite enough of a responsibility for a 13 year-old.

PERSONAL TO Toni:

Electrolysis is fine for some people, but, in my opinion, for a teenager there are other ways to minimize the problem without such extreme measures.

Bottles Build a House, Fill a Woman's Life

A hobby that fills the house, upstairs and down, and spills over into the yard . . .consuming spare time and forming the basis for friendships . . . and one that causes the hobbyist to say, "I guess one of these days I'll quit looking, but it will be when there is no place else to go." .....

Mrs. Mabel Caldwell is a bottle collector and a collecto of many other items but the use she has put her collection to is unusual. She bacame interested in bottle collecting last year and at about the same time she read of a woman in Santa Susana, California who had built a house of bottles. She wrote to the woman and received picture postcards of the house and a letter about it, which made her want to do the same thing.

Mrs. Caldwell says there is a bottle house in Vancouver, B.C., one in Juarez, Mexico and the one in California, and hers is the only one in Texas, that she knows of.

Constructed of more than 3000 quart bottles set in concrete, the house is round, with walls about six feet high, sloping up to six and a half feet, with a wooden roof on it. She decorated thepainted roof with crushed glassset a screen door in palce and plans to concrete the dirt floor soon. The bottle house was built in only about six weeks, in her spare time.

The roof is braced with 2x4 lumber which holds collections of horseshoes and collectable bottles that are either embossed or 'cork topped'. She built a stand for her guest book of car headlights set in concrete and topped it with a slab of wood. Another stand has a base of snuff bottles and the pedestal part is worn wood from XIT Ranch headquarters. (Mrs. Caldwell sees a reason for collecting nearly everything sooner or later finds a way to use it.)

Just outside the door she has made a small planterof baby food bottles set in concrete and planted it with cactus, of which she has a fine collection.

In front of the bottle house are several beds built of reflectors from telephone poles and these are planted with cacti, driftwood gathered from many States, particularly Wyoming, Utah and New Mexico.

A wishing well, complete with wheel atop stands further out at the side of the bottle house and a 'bottle tree' made of a many-limbed tree and cobalt blue bottles rescued from dump grounds.

Statistics on Mrs. Caldwell's bottle collection are astounding The bottle house has over 3000 bottles; the cactus bed and rock bed has 854, the well has 275 quart bottles, and her little planter has 288 baby food bottles. All these have been collected by herself, with the exception of about 250 bottles given to her.

She has 341 stopper bottles (they are older than screwtop) 118 embossed, 92 small perfume bottles, 45 purple bottles and six candy bottles (some of these are in the shape of animals), 50 old pop bottles- each different with a name of a town or other writing and 88 different brands of fruit jars.

A real prize is a red beer bottle. She has a gold Kerr-Mason fruit jar, celebrating the company's 65th anniversary. She has one from Australia, with glass top and very old, has a gallon with a 'blob top' concave bottom with air bubbles.

Mrs. Caldwell and some of her friends have been writing letters to Budweiser Bottling Company asking for one of the souvenier horse shoes from the draft horses used to pull the wagons in parades after they learned the company gives them away. One of the women recently was sent one of the horse shoes. (Anything collected or that might possibly be in the future is a challenge to Mrs. Caldwell.)

With her keen interest in 'purple glass', Mrs. Caldwell has constructed a large box similar to an old fashioned cedar chest, with an ultra violet light and there she puts very old bottles and other glass items she finds or for friends. If the glass turns purple she knows she has a very old, valuable item.

In the bottle house, around the door and in the house one sees antique items of farm life, some mounted or used for stands, lamps and other household furniture. Mrs. Caldwell was engaged in woodcarving, a picture frame 'packed' with a square nail she had collected, and the picture was of wool yarn.

Of all the crafts hobbyists are engaged in, Mrs. Caldwell seems to have tried them all. She used Mod Podge, a plastic to mold picture for her seven grandchildren, trays,- even a pin she wears with each grandchild's picture frames as a flower. She has done copper tooling, tile work, basket weaving with reed, decoupage, paper mache, textile painting and displayed a 'rooster picture' made of seeds which took a prize at South Plains Fair in 1967. She also does tinwork.

When she was a child Mrs. Caldwell knitted, crocheted, tatted and embroidered and later learned to sew.

Mrs. Mabel Caldwell, Bottle Collector

Without assistance, Mrs. Caldwell built a three-level planter box of brick face under a window in her dining room filled it with plants of various kinds and her prize rock specimums. One of the most clever of her innovations is a small "rub board" in which she has set a mirror for her kitchen, and in the top part she attached a large chunk of brown lye soap she collected on one of her trips.

Mrs. Caldwell was born in Wood County, in East Texas. She and S.C. Caldwell were married in 1923 at Stamford and lived in the Peacock community until they moved to Post where they lived 19 years before coming to YL community in 1947.

Mrs. Caldvell is a member of Church of Christ and is active in Muleshoe Hospital Auxiliary, and Muleshoe Hobby Club.

Mrs. John Furr, Mrs. Caldwell's mother lives in an adjacent house and one sees that Mrs. Caldwell's hobby of collecting bottles has spilled over into her mother's yard, too. Mrs. Furr, aged 86, assisted her daughter in the building of the bottle house by washing many of the bottles.

Caldwell was a farmer until his death about five years ago. They were parents of three children, a son Gene who lives in the YL community; a daughter, Mrs. Alfred Clay who lives in Pocatello, Idaho; and a son, Bill who lives at Beoawe, Nevada. The Gene Caldwells have two daughters, the Clays have two children and the Bill Caldwells have three children.

It was perhaps through Mrs. Clay and the Bill Caldwells that Mrs. Caldwell became interested in rock collecting about four years ago during a visit to the two families. They are collectors, too.

She has the very beautiful rose rocks, petrified wood and fossils of many kinds -the fossil fish from Kennamer, Wyoming is her prize. She has turtle rocks of half dozen kind from small to a foot in diameter, geodes from several different places with some from Nevada that are fluorescent; flint from Lake Meredith, petrified wood from Arizona, Ft. Sumner, New Mexico, and Idaho; limb cast petrified rocks from Blanchard mines near Carrizozo, lead ore, gold ore and silver ore.

One of her prized items is melted sand made into rock, which came from a gin fire at Littlefield. She has a rock tumbler and makes many beautiful gemlike rocks and incorporates them into usuable items.

She also has marble from New York State, arsenic rock, coral, 'fool's gold' and jasper.

"I just can't hardly stop' ....that perhaps is the only way to explain the absorbing attraction collecting holds for Mrs. Caldwell and others who share her pleasure in searching for collectable items. Of one thing we can be sure, she will never be bored with Life.

The Case of the Five Cousins

Mrs. Zona Mae Meyers, of Ralls, must have a very special feeling for Texas Tech... having five grandchildren, a representative in each class, attending simultaneously would surely make one feel it is "our school".

Four grandsons, three of them majoring in advertising in the School of Business Administration, the fourth in agronomy, and a granddaughter majoring in home economics, all hope for degrees from Texas Technological College when the appointed time comes.

Judy Meyers, the nineteen year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C.D. Myers, of Ralls, is a freshman student majoring in home economics.

Larry Meyers, the twenty year old son of Mr. and Mrs. W.E. Meyers of Muleshoe, is majoring in advertising in the school of business, and is a sophomore.

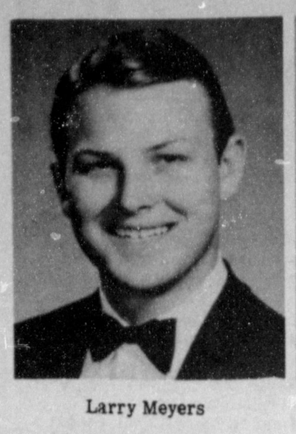

Randy Peterson, the twenty year old son of Mr. and Mrs. E.G. Peterson, Cooper community near Lubbock, is also a sophomore majoring in advertising.

Roy Peterson, twenty one years old, brother of Randy, is a junior and majoring in advertising.

Keith White, son of Mr. and Mrs. H.M. White, Sr. of Stratford, is a senior and majoring in agronomy.

Mrs. Meyers has thirty three grandchildren. In addition to the five attending Tech, there is another grandson, "Butch" Nelson, son of Mr. and Mrs. C.H. Nelson, attending SMU.

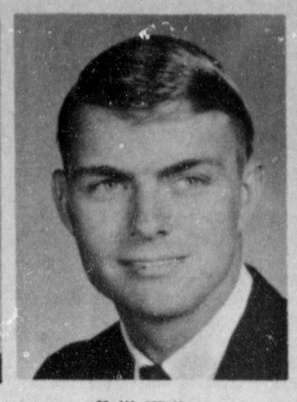

The late W.D. Meyers died about eighteen years ago. He had been a farmer and he and Mrs. Meyers were parents of of eight daughters and three sons. Meyers was a self-educated man, orphaned early, he attended school only about six or seven terms, and thereafter taught himself by much reading. None of his children are college graduates but each of them began from the time their own children were born to plan for the time when the children would enter college.

Time to Fumigate Cotton Nematodes

LUBBOCK--Farmers have only a few more days to fumigate their cotton land to control nematodes this year--and there's more evidence than ever that they should do it.

Dr. Calvin Orr, nematologist ath the South Plains Research and Extension Center here, said the center has analyzed soil samples from more than 2,000 farms across the Plains in the last year to determine whether damaging populations of nematodes exist on these farms.

Nematode populations great enough to substantially reduce cotton yields were found in more than 50 per cent of the samples, he said, indicating that nematodes exist on these farms.

Nematode populations great enough to substantially reduce cotton yields were found in more than 50 percent of the samples, he said, indicating that nematodes are a problem in virtually every Plains cotton-growing county, particularly irrigated sandy or light soil areas.

Moreover, he said, there's evidence that the microscopic underground pest --which hurts both yield and quality of cotton by attacking cotton roots--continues to spread.

For the first time this spring, Dr. Orr and other researchers proved that nematodes are spread by blowing dust as well as by water and travel through the soil. Dust traps were set up in Terry County at a heighth approximately six feet above the surface, he said.

When dust collected in these traps was placed in incubators, nematodes hatched at a rate of one for each two grams of dust caught by the traps.

"This leads us to think that no farm can be considered safe from nematode infestation," he said. "Presumably, nematode eggs could be carried great distances on a windy day."

Dr. Orr said the best methods to control nematodes still is annual treatment of the seedbed with DBCP soil fumigants either before planting or at time of planting up to the same day of planting. Some farmers fumigate and plant in a single operation by mounting knives on the planter tool bar.

Dr. Orr said that, in four years of research, "we never have failed to produce a profit fumigating land where troublesome buildups of nematodes were known to exist.

"This year, when we have good moisture and a good chance to start good crops, it seems more important than ever to treat land a good chance to start good crops, it seems more important than ever to treat land where nematodes are a problem. Nematodes can ruin a good crop if they are not controlled."

Last year, he said, farmers who fumigated reported net profit -- over and above the cost of fumigating -- ranging from about $2.00 for every $1.00 invested up to as much as $17 for each $1.00 invested.

In one of the most dramatic examples, Dawson County Farmer Roy E. Bearden reported that land which he treated with Fumazone 86 produced 772 pounds more lint per acre than did land right beside it which was not fumigated.

ON VETERAN LOANS

The Veterans Administration has issued a reminder that war widows are eligible for education and home-loan benefits similar to those provided in the G.I. Bill. The law which went into effect December 1, 1968, states that wives of permanently and totally disabled veterans are also eligible for education benefits.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Vern Sanford

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN, Tex.--After a slow Monday - Wednesday, legislators wound up last week in a blaze of speed, turning out more than 100 bills on climatic Thursday.

Senate passage of a much-amended $1.25 an hour minimum wage bill, with a push from Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes, highlighted the action. Bill survived Senate filibusters. Now it goes to the House where Speaker Gus Mutscher reports it fate will be decided in a floor battle.

Also triumphant over filibusters was the bill to set up Texas State Technical Institute under a separate governing board with authority to operate facilities in Waco, Harlingen and Amarillo areas. It now is known as James Connaly Technical Institute and is under the Texas A&M University System. Only those courses which area junior colleges can't or won't offer could be taught in this job preparation field. Bill goes to Gov. Preston Smith for signature.

House earlier voted to split the Parks and Wildlife Department into separate agencies regulating parks and game and fish. Senate apparently is cool to the "divorce" plan.

House also voted to create University of Texas of Permian Basin near the present Odessa College campus and agreed the name of the Liquor Control Board should be changed to Texas Alcoholic Beverage Commission.

Both houses agreed on bills to provide for misdemeanor action against corporations charged with air and water pollution.

A Senate - passed bill would permit admission of oral confessions as evidence in criminal trials.

WATER PLAN ADOPTED--Nine billion dollar Texas Water Plan has been formally adopted by Texas Water Development Board, and implementing legislation is moving fast.

Water Development Board accepted the plan, which includes a proposal to import some 12 to 13 million acre feet of surplus water annually from the lower Mississippi River to meet state requirements to the year 2020.

Water Rights Commission set the stage by entering an official finding that the plan "gives adequate consideration to protection of existing water rights and takes into account modes and procedures for equitable adjustment of water rights to be affected."

BOTTLE CLUB RULES--Texas Liquor Control Board has set May 9 for a public hearing on a new proposal for private-club rules and regulations, drawn up after a previous hearing.

New draft includes major changes to allow the use of computers in record-keeping; more detailed regulations on record-keeping for tax collection purposes; definitions of "guest", "member" and "member's family"; a definition of food service required at clubs and more detailed rules on the locker system.

LCB also agreed to ask the Legislature for an additional $834,523 in appropriations--over what the Senate-passed money bill would give the LCB.

That extra money is needed, Board says, because of passage of a bill revising the Liquor Control Act recent increases in licenses and permits and "the further fact that there are now three ports of entry on the Mexico border which are presently not manned with . . . tax collectors."

COURTS SPEAK -- State Supreme Court has held that Orange-Bridge City retired machinists cannot collect unemployment compensation unless they actively seek work.

High Court also found an Amarillo couple entitled to damages from Ford Motor Company as a result of an accident caused when a truck with faulty brakes hit their car.

Court of Criminal Appeals sustained a new law directing motorcycle riders and passengers to wear prescribed helmets.

Same Courth upheld death sentence for a Houston man charged with beating a baby to death.

AG OPINIONS--Although the Legislature intended ballots may be prepared so as to be compatible for use in automatic tabulating equipment, those used with electronic devices must be similiar to ordinary paper ballot, Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin has concluded.

Martin also held that:

Baptist hospital parking lots can be exempt from taxes if local tax authorities find they are an essential part of the hospital operation.

There is no authority to use county funds for purchasing volumes of a county history.

SCREWWORM CASES FEW--Texas had only eight cases of screwworms confirmed in March, which--with the nine cases found in February--marks the end of the serious screwworm outbreaks last summer and fall.

Spring is about here, however, and the Texas Animal Health Commission forsees "more problems." Rain and warm weather hurt the control program.

A joint report of the Commission and the Animal Health Division of the US Department of Agriculture says that 200,272,000 sterile flies were dropped in Texas during March to fight the expected increase.

Report also shows that 184 Texas counties now are modified certified brucellosis counties, 30 other counties are being tested and 32 others are under modified certified testing.

VISTA PROGRAM SIGNED--Governor Smith announced signing of a VISTA (Volunteers in Service to America) project to benefit aged in a 16-county Central Texas area.

Counties which have highest percentage over-65 population in the state include Coleman, Callahan, Concho, McCullough, Runnels, Brown, Blanco, San Sabe, Mason, Mills, Llano, Hamilton, Eastland, Erath, Bosque and Comanche. Community Council of Blanco and Comal counties and Central Texas Opportunities Inc. will serve as delegate sponsors, and Hill County Action Association as prime sponsor or grantee. Twenty VISTA volunteers will assist in the area.

TEACHER - SHORTAGE GRANTS--US Office of Education has awarded the Texas Education Agency six grants totalling more than $600,000 to attract and qualify teachers to meet the critical teacher shortage.

A TEA spokesman said the projects represent a cooperative effort among six regional education service centers--at Amarillo, Austin, Corpus Christi, El Paso, Houston and Richardson--with local education agencies and colleges and universities.

SHORT SNORTS

State Welfare Commissioner Burton G. Hackney said that the plight of Texas' dependent children will worsen steadily unless a Constitutional amendment on welfare programs is approved in a special election August 5.

U.S. Supreme Court knocked out state residency requirements for welfare assistance, but decision will not have "tremendous effect" on Texas finances, welfare authorities report.

Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler banned mini-skirts and long sideburns for General Land Office employees.

Governor Smith has signed into law the bill to set up a procedure for handling development of the state's sulphur royalty interests in the West Texas sulphur rush, much as the state's oil interests are handled.

Vernon M. Averell is new director of Program on Alcoholism for Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation.

Jack Revill, chief of Department of Public Safety Criminal Law Enforcement Division, will serve on National Organized Advisiory Committee of Lae Enforcement Assistance Administration.

"Section 5. The Legislature shall meet in regular session each year at such time as may be provided by law and at other times as convened by the Governor. When convened in odd-numbered years in regular session, the Legislature shall devote the first thirty days to the introduction of bills and resolutions, acting upon emergency appropriations, passing upon the confirmation of the recess appointees of the Governor and such emergency matters as may be submitted by the Governor in special messages to the Legislature; provided that during the succeeding thirty days of such session the various committees of each House shall hold hearings to consider all bills and resolutions and other matters then pending; and such emergency matters as may be submitted by the Governor; provided further that during the following sixty days the Legislature shall act upon such bills and resolutions as may be then pending and upon such emergency matters as may be submitted by the Governor in special messages to the Legislature; provided, however, either House may otherwise determine its order of business during this session by an affirmative vote of four-fifths of its membership.

NUMBER TWO ON THE BALLOT (HJR9)

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF TEXAS:

Section 1. That Article III of the Constitution of the State of Texas be amended by adding thereto a new Section 49-d-1 to read as follows:

"Section 49-d-1. (a) In addition to Texas Water Development Bonds heretofore authorized to be issued by Sections 49-c and 49-d of Article III of the Constitution, the Texas Water Development Board is hereby authorized to issue $3,500,000,000 in aggregate principal amount of bonds. No part of such additional bonds shall be issued prior to approval thereof by the vote of two-thirds of the elected members of both houses of the Legislature.

"(b) The proceeds from the sale of such bonds shall be deposited in the Texas Water Development Fund.

"(c) The bonds herein authorized and all bonds authorized by such Sections 49-c and 49-d of Article III shall bear such interest and mature as the Texas Water Development Board shall prescribe subject to the limitations as may be imposed by the Legislature.

"(d) The Texas Water Development Fund shall be used for the purposes heretofore permitted by and subject to the limitations in said Sections 49-c and 49-d and in addition thereto for the purposes of developing water resources and facilities for the State of Texas, both within the State and without the State of Texas. Provided, however, that financial assistance may be made pursuant to the provisions of such Sections 49-c and 49-d subject only to the availability of funds and without regard to the provisions in Section 49-c that such financial assistance shall terminate after December 31, 1982.

"(e) Under such provisions as the Legislature may prescribe, the Texas Water Development Board may receive grants and, in addition, execute contracts with the United States or any of its agencies, other states of the United States, foreign governments and others, for the acquisition and development of such water resources and facilities for the State of Texas. Such contracts when executed may be secured by the general credit of the state, and if so secured shall constitute general obligations of the State of Texas in the same manner and with the same effect as Texas Water Development Bonds. If facilities are acquired for a term of years, such contracts shall contain provisions for renewal that will protect the state's investment. The aggregate principal amount of Texas Water Development Bonds authorized herein and in said Sections 49-c and 49-d shall be reduced by the aggregate of principal payments committed under such contracts constituting general obligations of the state. The provisions hereof shall not be construed to limit the authority of the Texas Water Development Board to execute contracts or issue revenue bonds when such contracts or bonds are not secured by the general credit of the state.

"(f) Texas Water Development Bonds and such contracts secured by the general credit of the state shall after approval by the Attorney General, registration by the Comptroller of Public Accounts of the State of Texas, and delivery to the purchasers, be incontestable and shall constitute general obligations of the State of Texas under the Constitution of Texas.

"(g) Should the Legislature enact enabling laws in anticipation of the adoption of this amendment, such Acts shall not be void by reason of their anticipatory character."

VETERANS Q's and A's

Q -- My son will soon be discharged from the Army after two years of service. He received his college education under the War Orphans Education Assistance program. Will he be entitled to any additional education assistance under the G.I. Bill?

A -- Yes. A recent law increased the aggregate amount of Veterans Administration educational assistance which a veteran may receive under two or more programs from 36 to 48 months. Assuming your son received 36 months of VA benefits under the War Orphans program, he will be entitled to 12 months of additional aid under the G.I. Bill.

Q -- I am a World War II veteran who financed my home with a G.I. loan. I am being transferred to another city by my employer. May I have my G.I. loan entitlement restored?

A -- Yes, the sale of your G.I. home due to such transfer entitles you to restoration of entitlement provided the loan is paid off.

The Legislature shall have the power, by General Laws, to provide, subject to limitations herein contained, and such other limitations, restrictions and regulations as may by the Legislature be deemed expedient, for assistance grants to and/or medical care for, and for rehabilitation and any other services included in the federal laws as they now read or as they may hereafter be amended, providing matching funds to help such families and individuals attain or retain capability for independence or self-care, and for the payment of assistance grants to and/or medical care for, and for rehabilitation and other services to or on behalf of:

PIONEER SEEDS

Choose this brand and you still have plenty of choices

For yield power where it counts, Texas grain sorghum producers have been choosing Pioneer varieties year after year. Such Pioneer hybrids as 846 have been breaking yield records from the top of the Panhandle to the South Plains. Besides popular 846 here are five other top performers from Pioneer:

828
This new full-season hybrid frequently yields above the five-ton level with plenty of water and ample fertility. Texas A&M tests and farm reports show 828 to be one of the highest yielding hybrids you can plant.

820
An old reliable, 820 has been a favorite on the high plains for six years, turning in some of the top yields in Texas year after year. This full-season variety is medium height with outstanding stalks and roots.

845
Another new Pioneer brand hybrid, 845 is a medium-maturity variety that yields with most full-season varieties. In the 1967 Texas A&M performance tests, the highest official yield for any variety, any maturity and any test was recorded by 845 — a whopping 10,570 pounds per acre.

848
This medium-maturity hybrid rates exceptionally well for standability and easy harvesting. Short, uniform plants have very strong stalks and roots. Open heads are loaded with heavy, red grain. An outstanding yielder for its maturity.

866
A medium-early hybrid, 866 yields along with many later varieties. Its uniform height and good head exsertion make it easy to thresh. 866 performs well under dryland or irrigated conditions.

Pioneer has many other high yielding grain sorghum hybrids. Pioneer also has performance-proved seed corn hybrids for grain and silage. See your Pioneer dealer now and pick the variety that's best for you.
