MEMBER LOWER HOUSE INDICTED

JOHN W. LANGLEY OF KENTUCKY ONE OF FOUR

Charged With Conspiracy To Interfere With Government

FROM VET CHARGES

Is Member of House Representatives For Ninth Term

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, March 27.—Indictments charging Representative John W. Langley, republican, Kentucky; Millard F. West, a former deputy commissioner of internal revenue, and four others with conspiracy to interfere with the operations of the government were returned here today by a federal grand jury.

Langley alone was named in one indictment. Another was against him, Russell M. Sackett, a prohibition agent in Pennsylvania; Ben L. Moses and Harry Sattler, co-partners trading as the Union Drug company of Pittsburgh, and Sidney Reis, described as a procurer of liquors in large quantities.

The conspiracy section of the criminal code prescribes punishment of not more than two years imprisonment, or a fine of not more than $10,000, or both.

Langley, who is chairman of the house public buildings and grounds committee, is serving his ninth term in congress. He is said to have been one of the two members of congress referred to in the report of the Chicago grand jury which investigated alleged veterans' bureau frauds, as having been charged in testimony with accepting bribes.

On the floor of the house, Langley and Representative Zihlman, republican, Maryland, recently declared they had unofficial information that the Chicago grand jury's report was directed at them.

Both protested their innocence of any wrong doing and demanded immediate investigation of the charges. No mention of Zihlman was made in today's grand jury report.

References, however, was made in the report to John F. Kramer, former prohibition commissioner; Elias H. Mortimer, who was star witness before the Chicago grand jury; Arthur McKean, Ralph E. Clepper, Herman L. Geltzeiler, and Donald J. Delaney. All six the grand jury charged, were involved in the conspiracy, but were not indicted because they testified before it.

The indictments charged that the accused men and others, conspired to pay $100,000 to Mortimer, Geltzeiler and Delaney to secure the purchase, withdrawal and transportation by Moses and Sattler of whiskey from a distillery warehouse to the Union Drug company. Of the $100,000, it was charged that $5,000 was to have been paid Langley to prevail upon him to induce Kramer, West, McKean, who at the time was prohibition agent at Pittsburgh, Clepper and Sackett, "by the promise to them of official tenure and promotion, to connive," at the removal and transportation of the liquor. Four overt act, beginning in 1921, were set forth.

The joint indictment also alleged that the six accused men combined to defraud the federal government of the $4.20 a gallon internal revenue tax, due on liquor sold for beverage purposes, and to corruptly "defeat the internal revenue laws and the federal prohibition act."

After indictment of Langley had become known, Representative Burton, republican, Ohio, chairman of the house committee which has been investigating the charges, referred to in the Chicago grand jury's report, said the committee would meet tomorrow to decide what course it should pursue.

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, March 27.—Representative Langley, republican, Kentucky, declined to comment tonight on his indictment on charges of violating the prohibition and internal revenue laws, but his attorney, H. E. Davis, issued a statement saying: "Mr. Langley is absolutely innocent of charges against him and will demand and insist upon an immediate trial, of the result of which I entertain not the slightest doubt. The sufferers in this business will not include Mr. Langley."

Johnson Is Winner In South Dakota Primary

Unofficial Returns Indicate Californian Is Winner Over Coolidge for President.

By The Associated Press

SIOUX FALLS, S. D., March 27. Senator Hiram Johnson of California, won the republican presidential endorsement in Tuesday's primary in South Dakota on the face of unofficial returns compiled here by several newspapers.

With only 146 scattered precincts missing in 22 counties, the unofficial tabulations gave Johnson a lead of 1,743 over President Coolidge in returns available tonight.

The 1,684 precincts reported and compiled here, gave the California senator 40,243 votes and the president 38,500.

Most of the returns are semi-official as they are taken from the records county auditors are preparing for the state canvassing board.

Based on these unofficial returns, the president would have to carry the unreported precincts nearly five to four to overcome Johnson's lead if the volume of votes in unreported precincts average the same as in the last 300 precincts to report.

The returns on the republican senatorial nomination, won by W. H. McMaster over Senator Thomas Sterling, continued to strengthen his majority in belated returns. In 1,456 precincts the governor received 40,808 votes and Sterling 29,195.

While no tabulations were made on returns in the democratic primary, scattering returns here were favorable to William G. McAdoo and newspapers here declared he had won decisively.

Bermuda Grass Lawn on Dams Irrigation Project

To reduce erosion to a minimum and guard against washing away of the slope, Bermuda grass has been sown on the irrigation project. Work of reseeding the diversion dam slope has just been completed, although the main dam seeding has been finished for some time. Officials of the project declare that with a heavy matting of grass the slope will be protected and a large amount of erosion eliminated.

Some time ago the slope of main dam was sodded with Burmuda but this failed to hold and the seeding is now to be tried. It is believed that this will prove effective.

Complete sprinkler systems have been installed at both dams so that the seed may be watered regularly and its growth thus assured.

DEMOS COMBINE ON TAX FIGHT

Attempt Made To Oust Mellon Measure of Revenue Bill

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, March 27.—Renewing their program of day and night sessions the senate finance committee today practically cleaned the many administrative provisions of the revenue bill. The schedules of excise and miscellaneous taxes, most of which were revised by the house, will be taken up immediately.

Meanwhile democratic members of the committee spent another afternoon in an unsuccessful effort to reach an agreement on the income tax schedule which they will offer as a substitute for the Mellon rates voted into the bill by the finance committee.

The auctex rates proved the stumbling block. Senator Simmons of North Carolina, ranking democrat on the committee, presented a schedule which, it is understood, followed the general lines of the Garner plan supported by house democrats with a revision of the brackets and a reduction of the maximum rate to about 40 per cent.

Before taking up the revenue bill today the committee heard army and navy officers on the soldier bonus bill passed by the house, with a view to determining the number of veterans who would be eligible for the insurance provision and the average length of service of the veterans.

While representatives of the navy and marine corps said their records would be able to show the figures needed, army officers explained considerable work would be required to lay the foundation for administration of the proposed bill.

As a result, Chairman Smoot declared, costs of administration of the measure would amount to "millions of dollars."

ENTERS GUILTY PLEA THURSDAY IN U. S. COURT

Draws Lighter Penalty Than W. O. Nelson For Graham Offense

GOES TO PEN SOON

Commended by Judge For Giving Self Up and Admitting Guilt

A sentence of two years confinement in the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kansas, was passed Thursday night on Frank McDowell, former Graham Texas, banker, after he had entered a plea of guilty earlier in the day to an indictment charging embezzlement of national bank funds. He will be taken to the penitentiary immediately to begin serving his sentence.

In pronouncing sentence, Federal Judge William H. Atwell commended the attitude shown by the defendant in admitting his guilt and appearing before the court to pay the penalty. It was this, Judge Atwell said, that earned for McDowell a lighter sentence than was imposed on W. O. Nelson last June after the latter had been tried and convicted of embezzling funds from the same bank. Nelson was sent to prison for 30 months after he had plead not guilty to the indictment and had fought the case to a finish.

Jointly Endicted.

McDowell, who was jointly indicted with Nelson, faced six counts of a federal grand jury bill returned December 16, 1921. It was alleged that he had misappropriated an aggregate sum of $30,500 from the Graham National bank which he and Nelson formerely controlled.

A judgment in the amount of $7,500 was taken against McDowell's bondsmen in the March, 1923 term of court when the defendant failed to appear in answer to his cased He did appear later, however, and in open court Thursday morning entered his plea to the counts against him. Sentence was not passed until Thursday night when in a special evening session, his punishment was assessed along with that of several other defendants who had either plead guilty or been convicted.

Local lumber dealers protested vigorously against the shingle bar and as a result the code committee was asked to redraft this section of the instrument. This has now been completed and the code is ready for final passage.

A few other minor changes have also been made.

COUZENS IN GULF CHARGE

Senator Says Oil Corporation Given a Special Privilege

WASHINGTON, March 27.—Tax records of the Gulf Oil corporation, a "Mellon company," practically were impounded today by the special senate committee investigating the internal revenue bureau.

The committee's action followed testimony to the effect that the corporation had been allowed "lessee" depletion reductions in the settlement of its cases for 1917, 1918, 1919, made in February, 1921, and by which it was credited "net excessive payments" for the three years of $3,775,000.

Senator Cousens, republican, Michigan, whose resolution brought about the investigation obtained from A. C. Ernst, Cleveland, Ohio, accountant, whose firm worked up the consolidated returns for the Gulf group companies, a statement, that the "lessee depletion" allowance had been granted by the bureau in the 1921 Gulf settlement.

Turning to S. M. Greenadge, a bureau official, Senator Cousens was told that Secretary Mellon did not approve the treasury regulation granting "lessee allowance" on oil wells until 1920. Greenadge said he knew of no other case in which this allowance had been granted prior to the 1923 approval and added that the regulations effective in 1921 were to the contrary, and that the question was long under debate in the bureau before a decision to grant lessee depletion allowance, was arrived at, he said.

"The Gulf knew it in 1921, but the public didn't know of it until 1922." Senator Cousens said. "How is the public to know if the regulation isn't published until a year after the allowance was granted to a particular corporation?"

EXECUTIVE IS BELIEVED ABOUT READY TO ACT

Constant Pressure From Outside Insists On Removal

RUMORS RIFE TUESDAY

Say President Has Been Considering Matter A Week

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, March 27.—Attorney General Daugherty's tenure of office went back into uncertainty today with more positive indications of his retirement from the cabinet than at any time since the present drive upon him began.

At one time during the day the message went out over the mysterious wireless which warns those in the official know of big things about to happen that President Coolidge was rapidly approaching a definite decision on whether he would keep the attorney general in the cabinet, and that it would be announced publicly.

Preparations for the issue of a statement were under way at the white house and also at the department of justice. Then, Secretary Hughes had a conference with the president and the prospects of an announcement disappeared. The attorney general also dismissed the preparations for making a statement and went home where he denied himself to inquirers.

The word went out that there would be "nothing doing tonight." None of those close to either the president or the attorney general would commit themselves by statement as to what tomorrow or the next day or the week might bring forth.

President Coolidge is known to have the situation surrounding Mr. Daugherty's tenure of office much in mind for nearly a week after a lapse in inattention given to it because of a feeling that the attorney general should be given an opportunity for a hearing before the senate committee investigating his conduct of the department of justice. In each day of testimony before the senate committee, the demand that the president request Mr. Daugherty to resign has grown more insistent. It has come from some of the president's closest advisers, and has been supplemented by numerous letters received at the whit house.

Equally insistent has been the demand for others close to the president that Mr. Daugherty be allowed an opportunity to weather the storm.

12 Defendants Sentenced Thursday As Result of First Day's U. S. Court Work

Sentences, either fines or jail penalties, were assessed against 12 defendants in United States district court Thursday after convictions or pleas of guilty had been obtained in the first day's trial of criminal actions. The jury in one case was locked up for the night at 10:30 Thursday evening without having arrived at a verdict and acquittals were returned in the remaining two cases tried during the day. With but two exceptions, all of the cases were for violation of the federal prohibition laws.

The heaviest sentences of the day, aside from those of the federal penitentiary, included one jail term of 90 days, the limit allowed by law for conviction the second time on a prohibition violation charge, and two fines of $500 each. One fine of $400 was also levied by Judge William H. Atwell. Other penalties meted out ranged from one extreme to as low as 20 days in jail and a $25 fine.

In two cases the defendants were allowed by the court to choose between a fine and jail sentence, the latter being accepted in both instances.

Indications Thursday night were that the trial of narcotic violations would start Friday. A number of such charges have been made and indictments returned during the present term of court. Trial of several defendants indicted on charges of concealing assets from a referee in bankruptcy may also be started today, it was indicated.

MUSIC AND GOOD WILL IS A FEATURE

Flowers, Telegrams And Verbal Expressions Are Given

EVERYBODY HAPPY

Visitors By Thousands Express Faith in Future of This Daily

A crowd estimated at five thousand people was welcomed by the management and staff of the Record News at their new home last night.

From seven until nine o'clock the roar of the press and the peremptory voice of the foreman was mingled with the chatter of the wondering child, the discerning voice of her mother, and the omniscient "yes, yes" of father. Clothes, a gala of color, ranging from the deep maroon of the thorn pierced robin to the brilliant yellow of the golden rod conspired with beaming faces and wondrous eyes to portray an assembly of joyous goodwill toward the house which has made posible for them the latest news at the earliest hour.

Music, syncopating and peppy, typical of the morning newspaper, and flowers, reminders of the just arrived springtime, blended age and youth, the human and the spiritual.

Little girls, next Sunday's "funny" held in their hands, grasped the details of the process which brought "Barney Google" to them with such astonishing regularity. Their older brothers watched the surprisingly young sports editor grind out the copy which they were to see in the morning as "Duke Trammel's Triumph." Their sisters of seventeen summers glanced coyly at the cuts of classmates in the "doc" frame, and father gazed through open door at the sanctum of the editor, where the heroes of the Teapot are hanged drawn, and quartered.

Promptly at 7 o'clock these readers of the Wichita Falls Record News began to gather to see for themselves the new building, the new press, the new typesetting machines, and to behold, for once and for all, a newspaper in the making. For veritably, it was a newspaper in the making: They would have been disappointed had it not come out as usual in the morning, so the work had to go on, the reporter at his typewriter, the linotype operator at his machine, the composing force at the frames, the stereotyper at his metal pot, and the pressman at the throttle of the new press. Thus did they see what will probably never again be their privilege, for a newspaper building is a busy place just before the paper gets out, and only on special occasions as this are sightseers admitted.

Wandering from the editorial office to the composing room, and from there to stereotype shop, and into the press room where next Sunday's comics were being run off, thence back to the business office, where the girls of the staff served them punch and cake, and six gay lads of the city furnished them music, these readers of The Record News left, convinced that this paper was going with Wichita Falls and other institutions of the city. They left with a deep impression of the courteous treatment accorded them by the management and the staff, who willingly left their work to explain. They left with words of good will on their lips, and the firmness of sincere friendship in their handclasp.

Great Day.

It was a great day for The Record News.

After six years of varying fortune, and at times rising to the heights of eight pages, this paper had at last, under the new management forced its way into the houses of Wichita Falls people, fought and won its battles with skeptical Wichita Falls merchants, taken itself from a modest place on Tenth street to the most modern up to date newspaper building in Wichita Falls, complete in every detail, with new press, typesetting machines and increased facilities for the work of every department.

Those "doubting Thomases" who still voiced antipathy last night were silenced forever when they beheld the throng who had confidence in the paper and their goodwill to the management by accepting graciously their invitation to come and see.

EMPIRE PLANS MORE CARRIERS

To Construct More Pipe Lines to Handle Crude In Burbank Field

Special to The Record News.

TULSA, March 27.—Increased oil production in the Burbank district which is expected by the Empire companies with its purchase of the tracts in the Osage lease auction last week, to be operated jointly with the Indian Territory interests, is necessitating the construction of additional pipeline facilities to handle this crude.

A six-inch line extending 23 miles from the northwest extension of the Burbank field to the Empire company's refinery at Ponca City, is now under construction by the Empire. This company already has four-inch lines stretching from the Burbank field to both its refineries at Ponca City and Cushing. The additional pipe line will give the Empire companies crude handling facility from the Burbank field of more than 20,000 barrels daily.

The telephone and telegraph division of the Empire companies has completed a wire extension to its system, now including the Burbank territory. In addition to giving the Empire's office in this field direct connection with the Empire company's central offices in Bartlesville, it will connect up the Empire's holdings in the Burbank with practically every other field in the midcontinent in which the Empire company's pipe lines extend.

Beavers have become so numerous in some farming localities of western states that their destruction has been necessary.

DORCAS CLASS ENTERTAINS.

One of the most enjoyable affairs of the week was the social given last Thursday evening at the First Methodist church by members of the Dorcas class of the Sunday school with the Young Woman's Bible class of the First Baptist church Sunday school and a few friends as guests of honor. Two months ago the two classes entered into an attendance and membership contest which proved a lively one and beneficial to both sides, new members were added and many were brought into the Sunday schools that had not been in attendance in a good long while. Mrs. C. A. Pruden, president of the Dorcas class assisted by several of the members presented a delightful program. An address of welcome was made by Mrs. C. C. Culp, the class teacher and Mrs. W. R. Potter, teacher of the Young Woman's Bible class of the Baptist church gave a very delightful response which was followed by a paino duet by Mrs. Will S. Young and Miss Virginia Cobb. Mrs. Harry Karlsberg then rendered a very beautiful piano solo that was greatly enjoyed. Mrs. C. S. Henderson and Mrs. Will S. Young gave very beautiful vocal numbers and Mrs. Tom Pierce and Mrs. W. J. Bridges delighted all with their French harp solos for which they were applauded time and time again. The class quartette, composed of Mesdames C. A. Pruden, C. C. Culp, T. B. Vastine and W. J. Bridges accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Will S. Young gave "Darling Nelly Gray" as their number, it was rendered in a comic fashion and created much laughter. The class orchestra in which members of the class wore their coats inside out and their hats in past styles and beat tin pans and made music with as many noise makers that could be found also proved a winning number. A wheelbarrow race in which the guests were given partners and called upon to make little paper caps and fan down a long line also afforded much merriment after which the guests were seated at individual tables decorated with ferns and served with brick ice cream and cake. There were 54 present to enjoy the evening's entertainment.

Style Show Up Defects

The girls who can't wear clothes which are in style because they have eczema, rash, tetter, scrofula, or a "breaking out" where it would show, are more to be scolded than pitied, because there is no need for them to be unattractive in out-of-style dresses when they can get rid of these skin troubles so easily now.

The wonderful Black and White Ointment is surprising thousands of girls who have had to deny themselves the attention which more attractive girls get, because it quickly removes all trace of these skin troubles.

Nearly two million packages of Black and White Ointment are sold every year. Nothing could prove more forcibly that it actually gets quick and lasting results.

It is economically priced, in liberal packages. The 50c size contains three times as much as the 25c size. All dealers have it.—Adv.

PINCHOT IS ANGRY.

Governor Gifford Pinchot of Pennsylvania is as mad as a hornet. He is the Pinchot who was responsible for the Roosevelt-Taft break in 1912. He is the Pinchot who damned Richard Achilles Ballinger into obscurity and penury. He is the Pinchot who followed the fortunes of Roosevelt until Roosevelt died.

He is the Pinchot who smashed the republican machine and became the independent governor of that state. Now Gifford Pinchot is on the road again and is running true to form. He demands that Daugherty be kicked out of office by President Coolidge. He asserts that Daugherty has lost the confidence of the president and the people.

Bristling like a porcupine, righteous in his wrath, Governor Pinchot is telling the republicans of the country that Albert B. Fall should be in jail. Albert B. Fall is the same Fall who was elected to the United States senate by the republicans of New Mexico. He had a record when he was elected senator and the independent newspapers of the country made known that record to the readers.

The leopard does not change its spots and neither does the politician change his hallmarks. Albert B. Fall was made secretary of the interior by Warren G. Harding. He carried the same record to the cabinet that he carried to the senate and he stood for the same things as secretary of the interior that he had advocated as a United States senator.

All the democratic senators voted for his confirmation. Senatorial courtesy, which appears to cover a multitude of sins, demanded that these democratic senators vote for confirmation. All his life Albert B. Fall has been the arch-enemy of conservation of the natural resources of this republic. He was bold about it, he was even brazen about it.

Perhaps Governor Pinchot is right, that the jail is the place for Fall, but unless he is caught on the charge of accepting bribes, it is safe to predict that he will never see the inside of a jail for the leasing of the naval oil reserves to the titans of the petroleum game. He worked within the law and congress appears to have enacted the law.

WAS IT AN OILY REVOLUTION?

President Alvarado Obregon of Mexico has crushed the latest rebellion under Aztec skies and Obregon knows where the rebellion was hatched. Lord Cowdry of the Aguila Oil company and his agents are said to have been the chief plotters against President Obregon and the government which he has given to the people of Mexico.

While the revolution was on many rumors were current that the Aguila, the oldest oil producing company in Mexico, had been helping the rebels and charges were made that oil tankers owned by the Cowdry interests had been placed at the disposition of the rebels and that the company had also loaned money to finance the chieftains of the rebel organization and their soldiers.

President Obregon says he has obtained concrete facts that prove agents of the Aguila have acted with marked partiality in favor of the rebels and he is only waiting to obtain latest information pertaining to this affair to proceed.

There has not been a revolution in Mexico from the abdication of Diaz to the flight of De la Huerta that has not been engineered by nationals of other countries and these nationals, knights of the Golden Fleece, called to Mexico by the Midas-like natural resources of that unhappy country.

It was in Mexico that an American oil prospector said to an American newspaper correspondent, "wherever there is oil there is hell." This was in the long ago, prior to the world war and it was the boast of General Haig that the allies were floated to victory on a sea of oil.

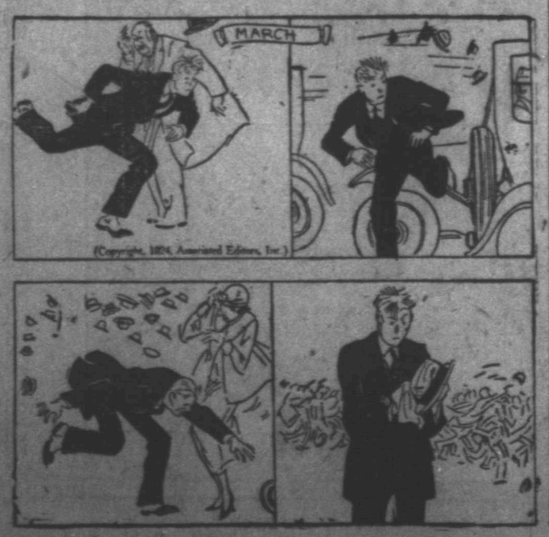

A vast deal of the oil that constituted the sea referred to by General Haig was shipped from Mexican ports across the Atlantic to allied headquarters. President Obregon is a merciful man. He has permitted the leaders of the late rebellion to take flight to foreign countries.

Porfirio Diaz would have sent them to bloody graves.

UP AND AT HIM, ATTICUS.

Judge George Bartlett of Philadelphia leaped into fame in a single day. One Paul Goldstein was accused of being the owner of grape juice which had eight per cent alcoholic content. Judge Bartlett dismissed the case, declaring that fermentation is a process of nature and an act of God. He held that a person can have wine in his possession just as a person can give a drink of liquor in his own house. Up and at him, Atticus.

PANTOMIME -:- By J. H. Striebel

BRINGING HOME UNCLE SAM'S WASHING

The Great Grandmother

"That's Macdermot's pookaun," said Mary. "I know that rotten old jib. I expect Jimmy Rafferty's sailing her. He's a great friend of Macdermot's, and if he wanted a boat it's that one he'd take. I shouldn't wonder a bit if he was after us."

"But how can he be after us?" said Basil. "He didn't know—he couldn't possibly know—that we were going out."

"You'd wonder," said Mary, "what Jimmy Rafferty would know. If you asked him he'd probably be able to tell you what you had for dinner yesterday."

Basil looked back, watching the pookaun, attentively. "He's sailing her for all she's worth," he said.

"Well," said Mary, "we can do that, too! Get in a bit more of the mainsheet."

Basil hauled on the wet rope, and the boat heeled over more than ever. Instead of rising over the seas she struck the tops of them defiantly. The showers of spray that flew over them grew thicker and heavier. Mary was quite undismayed.

"I think she'd do better with the jib a bit flatter," she said.

"Do you know," she said, "I've been sailing all my life and this is the first time I've ever raced. rather exciting, isn't it?"

It was. Mary disdained to ease up into the wind for any except the very largest waves. The boat plunged heavily into the troughs of the sea.

Large blobs of green water slopped on board, and was washed about in the bottom.

"You'd better bail a bit," said Mary; "there's a tin somewhere under the stern sheets."

Basil fumbled about and found it. Thereafter he worked hard, pitching gallons of water overboard. Now and then he glanced at the pookaun.

"She's gaining on us fast," he said.

There was no doubt about that. Tack after tack brought the pursuing boat nearer. It became possible to see that there were four men in her. Ten minutes later Basil could discern the men's faces. Jimmy Rafferty was at the tiller. Forward near the mast was a man whom he did know. Crouched amidships were Cohen and Kaitcer.

He rose to his knees and looked about him. A hundred yards or so to windward lay a shelf of rocks. Part of it was seaweed-covered, and plainly submerged at high tide. In other places the rocks rose gray or black, and at high tide must have stood out as islands. The shelter of this reef made the water calmer. On the far side of it the sea broke furiously.

"That's Corrigeen Glas Reef," said Mary.

Basil had heard about the reef. At the westward end of it was a tide-race. They must stand out to sea beyond it for a mile before they dared to go about and cross the end of the reef.

"There's Inishraher behind the reef," said Mary.

Basil saw the island, low and green, a mile to windward of the reef. He saw Mahony's white cottage standing on the very shore of a small sheltered bay. It looked very peaceful and safe.

"Once we go about," said Mary, "we'll have a clear reach down to the island, but we've got to stand out a long way yet."

Basil could see the reef stretching out to sea beyond them; and they had a mile to sail past the end of it. Basil looked back. The pookaun was no more than 50 yards behind them, rushing through the water dead astern of them. Jimmy Rafferty was certainly not afraid to sail his boat hard! He would cross their bows when they came on the port tack again. Then there would be no escape for them.

"Lee-O," said Mary, sharply.

"There's a way through," said Mary.

CHAPTER XVI.

Trapped.

To Basil it seemed as if there could be no possible way through. The rocks lay before them in an unbroken line. Mary's lips were tight set. Her eyes were fixed steadily on the reef. Her left hand held the tiller firmly. Only the movement of the fingers of her right hand showed any signs of nervousness. They tapped lightly on the gunwale beside her.

"It's just here," she said. "I've been through it twice or three times with Mahony. That gray spike of rock in line with the chimney on Mahony's cottage gives up the opening of the passage."

Basil's mouth was so dry that he could not speak. The boat was rushing forward fast. Already the water was shallowing. He could see the swinging weed below him and the ugly jagged rocks.

"I don't say for certain I can do it," said Mary. "It's a bit nasty even if I hit the opening right. But one comfort is that Jimmy Rafferty won't dare to follow us."

The water surged and swirled, black and foamless, up and down the rocks ahead of him. Basil crouched with mainsheet in his hand, sorely tempted to let it run right out and take some of the way off the boat before she struck. The crash seemed perfectly inevitable now.

"When I give the word, slack the main-sheet right away," said Mary, "and for goodness' sake, be sharp about it. If she doesn't fall right away when I pull up the tiller nothing will keep up off the rocks."

The boat headed straight into a narrow cleft. Then Basil saw that instead of ending as it seemed to end in a steep rock, a passage bent sharply away to leeward.

"Slack away," cried Mary. "Slack away for your life! Let the sheet run."

The boat's head paid off fast, but none too fast; she grazed the shelf of rocks on the starboard side. Then, the mainsail boomed right out, the jib flapping idly, the boat sped on an even keel down a narrow waterway, dead before the wind. Trails of slippery weed brushed the sides with a whispering sound. The water was no more than four feet deep. The passage was so narrow that a pair of oars set in the rowlocks would have touched the rocks on either side.

"Stand by to luff up," said Mary. "Let go the jib-sheet and haul in your main. Now!" she cried.

There was a sudden sharp knock on the keel. The boat stood still for an instant, heeling over. Then she bounded forward again.

"We're over it," said Mary. "Get in the jib-sheet."

But the order was useless. The boat flew up into the wind, head-reached with flapping sails, and at last slid, gently enough on to a seaweed-covered rock.

Basil looked at Mary in amazement. It should have been easy to avoid this final disaster. A single pull on the tiller would have kept the boat from flying up into the wind and the rest of the reef lay clear before them.

"Rudder's gone," said Mary. "The bottom of it must have touched when we bumped over the rock."

The boat, with her flapping sails, lay quietly enough on an even keel. "Anyhow, we've escaped Jimmy Rafferty," she added. "He'll never have the nerve to try the passage in the pookaun. She's a lot bigger than this boat."

"The pookaun has gone about," he said. "She's heading for the reef now."

"I wonder if he's going to try the passage!" said Mary. "He's be a fool if he does."

But Rafferty was by no means a fool. Before he reached the reef he lowered his sails, got out a pair of sweeps, and rowed cautiously up to the rocks. The man near the mast sprang ashore with a rope which he made fast to a rock. Rafferty jumped out and after much pulling of arms and legs, Cohen and Kaitcer were got ashore.

"I call that cowardly," said Mary. "When Rafferty funked the passage he ought to have gone away. No sportsman would come at us on foot across the rocks where we're stuck here and can't stir."

But Jimmy Rafferty was out for business, not for sport, while Cohen and Kaitcer were not the kind of men who took risks for the fun of the thing. They came across the rocks to where Mary and Basil sat in their boat.

Basil slipped off his coat and grasped one of the stretchers which floated about in the bottom of the boat. He meant to make a fight of it.

"You know what we want," said Rafferty. "You may as well give it to us and save any more trouble."

"That it?" she said, and laughed.

Basil heard the laugh with delight. She was mocking Rafferty.

"Come and take it," he said.

Then an amazing thing happened. Mary flung the roll neatly and accurately into Rafferty's arms. Basil dropped his stretcher in astonishment. Even Rafferty was so much taken by surprise that he was only just in time to catch the roll. Kaitcer of the whole party seemed the most self-possessed.

"Thank you, Miss Coppinger," he said. "I'm glad to receive it at last. And please tell your father that I bear him no ill-will, none at all. I shall send him the check I promised him. I do not wish him to be a loser though he has put us to a great deal of trouble. He shall have the 50 pounds."

He and his party scrambled back to their boat. Basil's furious rage in his heart, watched them hoist their sails. A few minutes later they were flying before the wind.

He turned to Mary. She was sitting in the stern of the boat laughing quietly. (Continued Tomorrow)

That's old stuff, of course, but it fits, and as a good Scotch friend of ours once said; No gentleman has ever heard a story when someone really wants to tell it.

More Truth Than Poetry

THE GREEDY GHOSTS

It wasn't young Tommy that pilfered the pie
From that pantry on Saturday night,
The ghost of the household was hurrying by
And gobbled it up at a bite.
For spirits, so Tommy has recently read,
Must eat as we mortals must do,
They cannot be happy unless they are fed,
And they're terribly greedy folk, too.

In the days of the past, when the cook would complain
Of the loss of this dainty or that,
We always would hunt for the culprit in vain,
And end by chastising the cat.
But now if some cookies or doughnuts are missed,
Or a couple of cakes disappear,
Young Tommy turns on all the lights and cries "Hist!"
That hungry old ghost has been here!"

The ghost has a dreadful effect on the lad
Observing him lately we've found.
That his usual husky young appetite's bad,
Whenever the ghost is around.
Ond once, when the ghost ate five jars of preserves,
And spilled half the juice in the hall,
The poor little child had a bad case of nerves,
And did not come to dinner at all.

How a creature composed almost wholly of fog,
As these spectres are pictured to be,
Can not only eat, but can eat like a hog,
Is a thing that's not easy to see.
But Tommy declares that the psychic folks say
That they must have their food every night,
And as eatables constantly vanish away,
It would seem that the boy must be right!

Spook Stuff

By DR. FRANK CRANE

Garrett P. Serviss, the distinguished astronomer and writer on scientific topics, recently pointed out the "danger of getting involved in the nets of superstition, the greatest enemy of the mind's comfort."

People who go to astrologers, palmists, fortune tellers, clairvoyants and the like are doing to their minds what drunkards and dope fiends are doing to their bodies. Every once in a while a bunko artist stumbles upon the truth. His poor dupes then forget the ninety-nine times that he has missed it. They shake their heads and mutter to one another "Now how do you account for that? There must be something in it. Isn't it wonderful?"

It is not wonderful, for it is not extraordinary and unusual. On the contrary it is the commonest thing in the world and it has been taking place for many thousands of years. That is, the spook doctors and witches and fortune tellers were at it anywhere from five to ten thousand years before the human race began to use religion for the purpose of behaving themselves or improving their moral character.

The great trouble in fooling with, entertaining or giving any attention to predictions, premonitions, prophecies and all such stuff is that it rots the mind.

The very first thing in education is to learn the connection between cause and effect, to learn that there are natural laws, that there are no exceptions and that there is no such thing as chance.

Unless the universe we live in is governed strictly by natural laws then there is no such thing in the mind as reason. If the universe is not rational then we all find as well be crazy.

"People are often dismayed and disheartened," says Mr. Serviss, "by the predictions of this kind, made under the cover of amusement, but really believed by everybody concerned. They have not enough soundly rooted confidence in the principle of rationality to throw off the depression of spirit, and the haunting, superstitious fear, which the pretended prophecy has unfortunately produced."

And suppose something is going to happen. What good does it do you to know it?

It is not in the order of the universe that we should know the future. Knowing the future does not make for sanity, for efficiency nor happiness. As Pope expressed it:

"Heaven hides from all the Book of Fate

The only sensible attitude for any human being is one of courage and optimism. We will have our ups and downs, each one of us. There is little doubt that sickness, disappointment, loss or calamity of some kind, will rock us sometime in the future. And it is dead certain that each of us will have to die.

What of it? It is the common lot. We can either face it like good soldiers or we can shirk and whine like condemned criminals. In other words we can either be optimists or pessimists.

Nature has been a good many million years developing the human brain and human reason. This is the latest and best of the products of evolution. For Heaven's sake let us use it and not go back ten thousand years to the spook stuff.

Timely Views On World's Topics

"INDIA IS READY FOR SELF RULE," SAYS GANDHI.

"Civil disobedience is always an advisable weapon when the government is not based on the will of the people, but it is practicable only when the masses are imbued with a spirit of nonviolence," Mahatma Gandhi, Indian non-co-operationist leader, said in a recent interview.

"India is now ready for self-rule if it is granted, but India is not able to seize self-rule either by force, which I oppose, or by disciplined nonviolence."

Gandhi defined that mysterious word Swaraj.

"It means parliamentary government, but I hope not in the sense of western nations, where the British interests reign supreme. It means also a return of India's ancient life. Despite years of sneering I still believe the home spinning wheel can oust the British factory. If so how can British capital which is the sole reason for the British dominion expect compensation?"

Gandhi said he thought that the British, whom he did not regard as a bad people, would eventually bit an honorable agreement, adding that he had good reasons for this hope.

"We fear the Afghans. Once the Hindoos an Mdoslems are united and established, the emirs will not attack their fellow Moslems.

"If Russia attacks us, we expect the militaristic nations of Europe to come to our aid to prevent Rusia from becoming too strong, and we should welcome the aid. That is what I think of the present rulers of Russia. I take them at their face value. What is built by force ends by force.

"What I want," he said, "is the end of the Indian's mortal fear of the white skin, which was more prevalent when I was a boy than now."

WHAT TODAY MEANS TO YOU

ARIES.

This is a much better and more peaceful day than yesterday and is favorable for business and the reparation of past wrongs and differences. It is a time for peacemaking, especially in the home and among former friends.

A child born today will be robust and escape most of the ailments to which children are subject. It will have a boistrous albeit cheerful disposition.

If today is your birthday, the good features of your character are adversely influenced by affectation. Very few recognize in your actions or your words the innate goodness of your heart, as it is effectively camouflaged by your continued efforts to seem to be what you are not, and by affecting those attributes which you do not possess. If you could only make up your mind to be natural you would be much more esteemed and appreciated by your friends, and, in addition, enjoy your own self-esteem.

If you could only appreciate how this affectation of superiority induces others to think less of you than they otherwise would, you would soon eliminate it. All the world enjoys sincerity of words and actions, and laughs at any pretensions which are based on foolish imagination and not on reality.

In your home life you are constantly assuming airs which do not correspond to your environment or station in life; you are always striving to create the impression, even on those nearest and dearest to you that you are superior, socially, financially and intellectually, to friends around you, and to actuate conditions that govern you.

Your business is adversely affected by the same unfortunate trait: you incur expense and waste your energy in order to convince others that you are more flourishing and successful than you, in reality, are.

Locke very truly said: "Affectation is an awkward and forced imitation of what should be genuine and easy, wanting the beauty that accompanies what is natural."

Successful people born on this date are:

Max Bendix, musician.

Charles H. Deere, manufacturer.

Austin Flint, physician.

Rufus B. Bullock, a governor of Georgia.

Cyrus F. Knight, P. E. bishop of Milwaukee.

A Suit For a Big Affair

"Oh, oh! Mary has a whole new spring outfit!" cried Betty Cut-out as she saw Mary in a suit and flower-trimmed hat walking down the street. "Where are you going wearing kid gloves?"

"I'm going to meet a wonderful Russian violinist," beamed Mary. "She is the guest of Mr. Tucker, our school orchestra leader. Because I got to direct the orchestra at our performance yesterday, he said I might meet her. So I am going to dinner at his house."

"You certainly look pretty enough to meet the King of England!" admired Betty.

Mary's suit material is Alice blue, which is the color halfway between dark and light blue. The hat is a blue straw with orange and yellow flowers that match the orange embroidery on the cape. Put gray tops on her boots.

Home-Wrecking Is Always An Inside Job

Lays Blame For Stolen Affections on Lack of Effort

No Wife Should Be Afraid to Let Her Husband See How She Worships Him, for Love Will Hold Him Where Coquetry Fails.

A woman asks this question:

"Is it wise for a wife who loves her husband devotedly to let him see how dear he is to her? Does the knowledge that her heart is his for keeps make him undervalue it? Does she best keep his interest in her alive by keeping him on the anxious seat?"

"After all, a husband is still a man, and we know that before marriage the more difficult a woman is to win the more a man chases her; and the more a woman throws herself at a man's head the more adroitly he dodges her. So the question is: Does this same state of affairs continue after marriage? Do men want their wives to blow hot and cold, as they do their sweethearts, or do they desire them to be a good, steady, reliable fire on the hearthstone?"

A man's attitude toward love undergoes a complete change on his wedding day. During his courtship, the thing that has been of more importance to him than anything else in the world has been the state of mind of his lady love. It has been a wonderful, sentimental adventure following all her moods and tenses, and plumbing the depths of her emotions. It has roused his sporting blood for her to be coy and difficult. Taking her away from his rivals was a game of fascinating intrigue, and he thrilled with the sense of being a conquering hero when she finally surrendered to him.

But marriage is another pair of sleeves. It is a different story altogether. A man marries to end romance, not to have it a to-be-continued-in-our-next serial that will run on the balance of his life. He wants to be done with doubts, and fears, and heart burnings, and speculation about the woman he loves, so that he will be free to give his undivided attention to his business.

Therefore, the tactics that won a woman a husband do not serve to hold him, and the wife who tries to pique her husband's interest in her by her flirtations with other men is more apt to land in the divorce court than to strengthen her position in the domestic love nest.

For men do not wish to be kept guessing about their wives. They want to be sure of them. The man who is married to a woman who plays around with other men and who keeps him on the ragged edge of nervous prostration with jealousies and suspicions does not think that he has drawn a capital prize in the matrimonial lottery. On the contrary, he thinks that he has been goldbricked, and he is not crazy over his bargain.

No woman need to be afraid to let her husband know how much she loves him, because her love makes the strongest claim she can possibly have upon him. Many a man who has made an unsuitable marriage with a woman with whom he had no real companionship; many a man who has outgrown the woman he married in his youth, is kept faithful to her by the knowledge of her devotion to him. It takes a brute to hurt the one who worships you, or to leave the one whose whole life is bound up in you.

Nor is there any charm of mind or person that appeals to a man so much as just the certainty of a wife's love and the sure knowledge that if all the world turned against him, there is one who would still be standing shoulder to shoulder with him; some one who would go down to the gates of death with him, or wait outside of the prison gates for him; some one whom neither disease nor poverty nor disgrace would alienate from him.

The coquettish woman who thinks to keep her husband's affection for her at fever heat by keeping him uncertain of her has no such hold upon her man as has the wife whose husband's heart doth safely trust in her, sure that whatever else fails him in life, her love will never fail.

A wife need not be afraid to show her husband her love, because men are just as heart hungry as women are. They crave affection and appreciation just as much as women do, and they long just as much as women do to be petted and fussed over.

No complaint is more common from women than that their husbands stop all love-making at the altar with a suddenness that jars the very marrow of their bones. They say that the men to whom they are married never seem to think that they long to be told that they are still loved and admired, and that they have made good as wives. They yearn for a kiss that is warm with passion, instead of a duty peck on the cheek that has about as much flavor to it as a cold batter cake.

But, apparently, it never occurs to these wives who are starving for some sign of real living affection themselves that their husbands are also on the bread line, mutely begging for a stray crumb of love. They do not realize that a great big, husky, successful man could want to be chucked under the chin, and babied, and told that he was the most booful thing on earth, and that his wifeikens got down on her knees and thanked God every night because she was lucky enough to get him, and that every day, in every way, she loved him better and better.

Yet there isn't a man in the world that wouldn't purr like a cat whose fur was being rubbed the right way by a wife who handed him that line of chatter, and who wouldn't walk mighty straight and reverently before the wife who opened the doors of her heart and let him see that he was enshrined therein.

No. No wife need be afraid of letting her husband know how much she worships him. For it is love that makes the world go round, and that greases the wheels of matrimony.

Don't Let That Cold Turn Into "Flu"

Rub on Good Old Musterole

That cold may turn into "Flu," Grippe or, even worse, Pneumonia, unless you take care of it at once.

Rub good old Musterole on the congested parts and see how quickly it brings relief.

Colds are merely congestion. Musterole, made from pure oil of mustard, camphor, menthol and other simple ingredients, is a counter-irritant which stimulates circulation and helps break up the cold.

As effective as the messy old mustard plaster, does the work without blister.

Just rub it on with your finger-tips. You will feel a warm tingle as it enters the pores, then a cooling sensation that brings welcome relief.

To Mothers:* Musterole is now made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole.

After a short business meeting, the following were received into the membership of the club: Mitchell Kadane, Faye Dunnaway, Willie Mae McGee, Alice Hartman, Juanita Erwin and Richard Pink. The initiation of the new members afforded much amusement for the old members of the club.

Spanish conversation by Mervin Keuhn, Raymond McPhaill and John Kaufman opened the interesting program that followed. Alice Hartman talked on "School Life in Mexico" and club members presented a Spanish play entitled "The Last Straw" which represented a Spanish family coming to America and their exciting experiences in a haunted house.

The cast follows: Senor Martinez, Raymond Strong; Senora Martinez, Ruth Terril; Maria Martinez, Jewell Harkins; Juan Martinez, Harry Feather; Susie, a maid, Clarice Cannon; Lizzie, a maid, Hilda Harvard; a negro butler, J. P. Davidson; keeper of the haunted house, James Moore.

About 50 members were in attendance.

Des Moines Draws Hodges, Morgan Today

TANNER'S REGULARS WIN 3RD FROM YANNIGANS IN STYLE; REGULAR CREW START TODAY

Buddy Tanner put his charges through a final going over Thursday afternoon before the beginning of the Des Moines series today, and incidentally led his regulars to a 5-1 win over the yannigans. For the week, the regulars have copped, taking three games to Cecil Coombs' crew's one. The Des Moines games will start a 3 o'clock.

Hodges-Morgan

Hippo Hodges and Dick Morgan will mount the mound today in the opener against Des Moines, stated Skipper Tanner Thursday afternoon. The two hurlers will be supported by the same line-up that beat the yannigans yesterday, he announced. The starting crew against the western league bunch then will be:

Three Games

Always barring showers and cold snaps, the Des Moines probables will go through a three-days' set-to. Prospects are that this series will go through. Furthermore, there will no doubt be no little amount of baseball displayed. The Spudder hopefuls have been playing some games worthy of Texas league classification. They are evidently anxoius to get off. Des Moines has been playing some time, now, and has had fair luck in Texas.

Pitching-Hitting

Yesterday continued to be a good day for baseball. And each and every man out took advantage of the opportunity to keep up a pace. It was a tight game up to the eighth inning, with the score 2-1, regulars. Then the Tannermen got to Boob Faulconer, who had been holding them to nothing at all, for three hits in a row and three runs.

Jonnard Homer

Bubber Jonnard was the homerun king yesterday, when the backstop all of a sudden lifted one of the Faulconer offerings over left field fence. He scored Williams ahead of him, on after a two bagger.

Hits Evened

Four pitchers allowed eleven hits; Wright (regulars) 3, Fussel (yannigans) 3, Faulconer (yannigans) 3, and Pope (regulars) 2. Buck Freeman led off with a single and a twobagger. Wohido stretched a hit into three bases. Crozier got a two-bagger, as did Williams and Wright. Locker led in scoring with two tallies, and stole two bases. Al White stole a couple.

Sparklers

In the field there were mixed some pretty playing with the not-so-good. Dallas Locker turned in a heavy day at first, stabbing liners and scooping grounders out of nowhere. Dorman's sure fire hit over first was hauled down gently by the big boy. In this gentle art, Chief Cheeves speared White's long fly to the fence in the fourth, which looked like it was long gone over. The yannigans got away with a nice double play, Dorman to Wohido to Coombs.

Cheeves, the big boy of Wednesday, was let down with one hit yesterday. Incidentally, he tallied the only yannigan run.

Yannigans

Schwab-Wetzel

The patients on Spudder sick roster are reported doing well. Schwab is expected out in a day or two with his ankle better. Wetzel, who under went an operation on his tonsils, is also expected out in a few days.

Members of the Boating Braves, unlimbering at St. Petersburg, Fla., believe the Beaneaters will present a much more formidable batting array this year as the result of the trade which sent Ray Powell and Horace Ford to the Phillies for Cotton Tierney. Tierney is a much stronger batter than Ford. In addition to this move the acquisition of Bancroft gave the club another .300 hitter. Beauty Dave ran four points above that last season.

Edison has more than 1,000 patents.

LEGION BOUTS UP TO RATING

SPORTS

Having matched their men in the best manner possible for the best of fighting in each bout, the American Legion promoters are of the opinion the recent rating of the cards will not be lowered Saturday night at the opera house.

Final.

A scrappy tangle will be the Donald Greer-Wildcat Monte ten-round affair, according to best authority. Great is a Lawton, Oklahoma, school boy, who knows something about the game and likes to fight. The Amarillo terror is well enough known here, and will fight when the best of them will not.

Sluggers.

Oklahoma sends another battler down in the form of Pat Kirkpatrick, of Oklahoma City. This man is scheduled to meet up with one of the hardest fighters in this section, a boy with a punch, in Battling Jennings of Henrietta. These two boys are expected to put on a slugging and mixing match like Jennings has before produced here. The Henrietta boy has not appeared in the local squared circle for some time, and Kirkpatrick will be introduced. They will go the other of the double-final ten-round affairs.

Heavies.

Heavyweights will again be on the bill, with Anderson Martin and Kelly Hunt leading the division. Martin has done well here, and comes back after some absence. Hunt is rated to be an experienced battler, from Idaho.

Snyder Back.

Third in line for return is Kid Snyder of Burkburnett. He will take on One-Round Casey, young local fighter.

All will be started by Smilling Joe Herman and Tuffie Bryant in their grudge fight. Each contends he is going to cave in the other.

Five duskies will engage in a battle royal.

TEXAS TRACK PROSPECTS SHIFT SINCE TOURNEY

AUSTIN, Tex., March 27.—The Longhorns' decisive track victory over Southwestern University furnished many surprises for Coach Clyde Littlefield. Some of the track men failed to come up to expectations while others did surprisingly well. As a whole, the Longhorn coach believes that if the team continues to improve, the University of Texas will win the southwestern championship in track.

Thames Not Best.

The Longhorn hurdlers were slightly off form in the recent contest. Clement Thames of Smithville, declared by many to be one of the best hurdlers in the south, did not do his best in high hurdles. However, Aubrey Jackson of Hillsboro, appearing for the first time on a Longhorn team, did exceptionally well in low hurdles.

In the discus G. A. Harris failed to do as well in the game as he has been performing in practice. He has been throwing the discus 134 feet in practice but was able to heave it only 123 feet Saturday.

Bruce Shearer of Houston, of whom little was expected, threw the javelin 176 feet and 3 inches. Shearer played end on the Longhorn football team and is expected to make the basketball team next year.

Reese in Form.

The Longhorn distance runners are pleasing Coach Littlefield with their excellent performances. Jim Reece of Comanche, who will participate in the Olympic meet this summer, ran the 880-yard dash in one minute and 56 8-10 seconds, which was as good as he did any time last year. This showing is considered a remarkable early season record. A wet track hindered Aubrey Jackson and Clement Thames.

Kearns said that James Coffroth, Pacific Coast sportsman, would sponsor the bout, and that it would be "A finish fight." Dispatches from San Diego quoted Coffroth in verification of Kearn's announcement.

AGGIES-OWLS OPEN BASEBALL

Southwestern Conference Baseball Season Opens This Afternoon

Special to The Record News.

COLLEGE STATION, March 27. The Texas Aggies and the Rice Owls open the Southwestern conference 1924 baseball season tomorrow and Saturday when they meet here for the initial games of this year's conference race. Neither team has played any collegiate games thus far and the strength of neither with its probable effect on the conference race will be known until after the smoke of this week's two contests has cleared up.

The Southwestern conference baseball season, thus begun, will continue through May 23 and 24, the games of Texas with Baylor at Austin, and S. M. U. with T. C. U. at Dallas on those dates marking the close of Southwestern conference baseball for 1924.

The schedule, as arranged this year, gives Rice 14 conference games, Texas A. & M. 18, T. C. U. and Baylor 20 each, S. M. U. 22, and Texas 24. Oklahoma A. & M. with ten games and Arkansas with eight are excluded from the running this year by the conference ruling which requires 12 conference games with six on the road for championship eligibility. Thus these two schools can affect the standing of the other schools but cannot hope to win themselves.

Texas and T. C. U. are the only nines that meet every other baseball team in the conference. Texas has the most advantageous schedule of any team, having ten road games and 14 contests at home.

Today's Iron

By T. T. HUNT.

While the orchestra jazzes 'em up for today's iron—

Spudders and Des Moines this afternoon, 3 o'clock.

Now it stands, regulars 3 yannigans 1, in the lil ole Spudder series.

Skipper Tanner and his bunch of highflung regulars like to of gone down before the pounding yannies. According to the latest, the right must prevail.

As to hitters, there are those as say the yannigans have among themselves some of the choice sluggers of the outfit. The homerun king is to date esconsed within that division.

Chief Cheeves practically rubbed Al White of a homer Thursday afternoon. Some say the fly ball would have cleared the fence, others produce proof that it probably wouldn't have done so. As it was, the chief lifted a mean paw high in the ozone and dragged down one right off the face of the palings. Reckon Al would say it was long over.

Waco Indians of the Texas association played Des Moines a fairly good game yesterday. The second Texas loop is alright, but in the way of baseball players they have their limitations, of course.

Ed Wetzel esconsed himself in a chair before open windows in the club house Thursday afternoon and viewed the game from afar. The big boy is missed and needed. He is believed to be on his way out again, soon.

First allotment of fish on the stocking plan came in tagged for Lake Kemp. All in and out and gone, again for more. Fishing time is soon here, though some day it is long time arrived.

First high school and Junior college baseball was marched in Thursday afternoon when the Coyotes beat the Indians 13 to 1. The lone college tally came in the first when Rawls slammed out a two-bagger to right field, scoring Captain Caskey, who had walked. Rawls rated a three-bagger, but got interested in the ball and tripped himself between first and second.

While all the baseball is going on, the cinder path artists are out taking the air. There were every bit of two dozen out at Coyote park Thursday afternoon. They have a squarred-off 440-yard loop dragged and lined.

Harry Schwab, who injured an ankle Wednesday afternoon in the practice game, will be out a few days, it is announced. Schwab is a heavy fellow and will probably not be able to be around much until the member is practically fit to go. He was using a stick awhile yesterday.

Dallas Locker, playing with the regulars in Schwab's place, graduated into a good man's place. Locker held down the big in great style however, as is his wont, anywhere placed.

Fitzgerald had a first attack of off luck yesterday, not being able to get off but one hit. This is unusual for the center field regular.

The boys were on Cheeves feet yesterday. Lefty Wright kept floating his lazy one in to the big boy, and refused to give up a homer.

Today's Best Joke. Luis Firpo announces that he will quit the ring after his coming fight with Al Reich. And a return battle with Jack Dempsey (for $200,000 looming for Labor Day).

Many fishes carry a band of eye spots down each side of their bodies.

Wild rabbits, which overrun eastern Washington, are being trapped and shipped to Alaska for food for foxes.

Stock Fish for Lake Kemp Here

One hundred and fifty fish for Lake Kemp stocking purposes arrived in Wichita Falls Wednesday and were immediately placed in the big irrigation lake. Chief Deputy Game Warden Breedlove of the state fish and game department personally superintended delivery and placing of the consignment. Another shipment will arrive the first of next week, it was promised by Deputy Breedlove.

The fish, filling 25 cans, were brought from Lake Caddo at the request of the North Texas Fish and Game association, the newly organized protective club with headquarters in Wichita Falls. According to President E. G. Hill of the association, who was with the party that placed the fish, Breedlove returned to Caddo Thursday with the intention of getting another supply of fish from the live-traps there. Several men have been employed by the state department for the past few days catching stock fish especially for Lake Kemp.

Bass, Brim, Perch, Croppie.

Although no black bass were in this allotment of fish, there were calico, white and rock bass; croppie, cherry and blue gilled brim, and white perch. In the next lot there are expected to be black bass and other varieties not included this time.

Brood Fish.

The fish brought in to add to the supply at the lakes are full grown brood fish. It is estimated that the entire lot will produce, under ordinary circumstances, one million and a half fish. Fishermen who have studied the habits of the finny tribe state it is not unusual for a female bass to spawn 20,000 eggs at one time.

At the present time and through the month of April, Deputy Warden H. White will be at the lakes to keep would-be fishermen informed that it is the closed season. Fishing of no kind is allowed, so that the supply on hand may have a chance to grow.

Sports of 1924

No, this is not the Prince of Wales and some horse he has just fallen off. It is Laddie Sanford of Amsterdam, N. Y., and his 14-year-old thoroughbred, "Sergeant Murphy," who will today try to make it two in a row in the Grand National Steeplechase in England.

"Sergeant Murphy's" performance will be watched with interest by all turf followers because no American entry had won this historic race until he turned the trick last year. A lot can happen in an English steeplechase; those native jockeys clutter up the track so with the "H's" they drop, that it's hard for any foreign entry to catch the steeple—let alone chase it. But then, the Sergeant carries horse shoes—four of them!

Coyote Nine Wins From Collegiates

In the first Wichita Falls school baseball game of the season yesterday afternoon at Coyote park, Coach Henderson's Coyotes poured a 13-1 win on Coach Moore's Wichita college Indians.

The Coyotes, who have been out for some time, displayed their ability to hit as well as field, and were not stopped in their rush for tallies. Not having had the grueling training of the Coyotes, the Indians were not able to stand the pace. Moore has had his men in training since before the close of the cage season, but bad weather broke into their work at a crucial time.

Coyotes Good.

Coach Henderson's nine lived up to the reputation they have already established for themselves. With a good pitching staff to start on and the rest of the works filled in with good men, there were bright prospects for the high school.

Pitchers.

However, notwithstanding the victory yesterday, there is now a notch in the wheels of the high school team. According to their mentor, his only regular hurler is now out of school here, and the remainder of the staff fallen off from expectations. Their next and opening inter-school game will be with the Amarillo Sandstorm, which it is their cherished desire to roll under the sod in baseball.

Indians.

The Indians have as yet failed to hit a teamworking stride. Their lone tally yesterday came in the first of the first inning, when Rawls drove out a long two-bagger, scoring Captain Caskey, who had walked.

Timely hitting and a good game on the field was responsible for the Coyote win. Captain Red Jenkins led his crew like a veteran.

YOU KNOW ME AL

The Adventures of Jack Keefe —By Ring Lardner

Friend Al:

Well Al dont be supprised if you here that your old pal is traded to the Yankees. One of the boys got a hold of a N.Y. paper today and it says in it that Mgr. Huggins was trying to pull off a deal with our club and did not say who he was going to give up but says he was libel to get a young pitcher and a infielder. Well Al the only young pitcher who they could reffer to is myself as we aint got no other young pitcher who Huggins would look at unless he wanted a good laugh. I guest that would be tough luck to get traded off this club to a club that cant hardily help from win the pennant a specially when they have got me and live in the big town besides where a man gets apresiated. POULTRY TRAIN AWARDS NAMED

Oates Makes Announcement Of Denver Special Trip

Results of the Poultry Special train which was in Wichita Falls February 8, were announced Thursday by M. B. Oates, agricultural agent, when it found that 53 citizens said they would increase the number of hens; 2,610 buy baby chicks; 35 build poultry houses modeled after those on the train; 10 to buy an incubator or brooder; 54 to keep egg records; and 40 to produce infertile eggs.

Of the 23 towns visited by the poultry school on the Fort Worth and Denver City special train, 793 showed their intentions of increasing the number of hens, and a total of 42,201 baby chicks were to be bought.

The "hen of mystery" carried on the poultry train is no longer a mystery, for her feathers have been counted, Mr. Oates stated. A prize of $50 was offered to the four who came the nearest of guessing the number of feathers on a hen carried on the train. As far as has been ascertained, no one had ever counted the feathers on a hen, but Mr. Oates stated that he counted the feathers on the "hen of mystery," finding a total of 7,583.

Those wining the prizes were Floyd Brown of Dalhart, first prize, $20; D. U. Guoldy, Amarillo, second prize, $15; H. H. Read, Munday, third prize, $10; J. H. Pittman, fourth prize, $5. The prizes were mailed out Thursday. Two thousand one hundred and sixty-one guessing cards were turned in, and the ten who came the nearest to to guesing the correct number were within 33 of the right digits.

Much interest was shown in the poultry schools conducted by the train, Mr. Oates stated.

Electra Preparing For Rotary Stunt To Be Given Here

ELECTRA, March 27.—The operetta, "The Trial of Miss Rotarian," which is to be presented under the supervision of E. W. Barr, who represents the Rotary club of Electra to the conference of the 13th district of Rotary to be held in Wichita Falls, April 2, 3 and 4, promises to be one of the feature events at the two-day luncheons given at the Kemp by this club. The rehearsals have been under way the past two weeks, the principals composing the cast are among Electra's best talent and much pep and enthusiasm is being shown as the rehearsals progress.

The theme of the operetta is "catchy," emphasizing the progress of Rotary over her sister civic clubs whose jealousy causes her arrest and a trial proceeds before mother Chamber of Commerce, in Judge Electra's court. Miss Ritzajan, however, pleads her case most convincingly and in the end her sister clubs, Miss I. B. A. Lion and Miss Ima Kiwanjan, are repentant and ask forgiveness and all is well again.

HOW DOCTORS TREAT COLDS AND THE FLU

First Step in Treatment Is Calotabs, the Purified and Refined Calomel Tablets That Are Nausealess, Safe and Sure.

Doctors have found by experience that no medicine for colds, coughs, sore throat, and influenza can be depended upon for full effectiveness until the liver is made thoroughly active. That is why the first step in the treatment is the nauseless calomel tablets called Calotabs, which are free from the sickening and weakening effects of the old style calomel. Doctors also point out the fact that an active liver may go a long way towards preventing influenza and colds and is one of the most important factors in enabling the patient to successfully withstand an attack and ward off pneumonia.

One or two Calotabs at bed time, with a swallow of water—that's all. No salts, no nausea nor the slightest interference with your eating, pleasure or work. Next morning your cold has vanished, your liver is active, your system is purified, and you are feeling fine, with a hearty appetite for breakfast. Genuine Calotabs are sold only in original sealed packages, price 35c for the large, family package; 10c for the small, vest pocket size.—Adv.

HAVE KIDNEYS EXAMINED BY YOUR DOCTOR

Drink Water Freely and Often If Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers

Flush your kidneys by drinking a quart of water each day, also take salts occasionally, says a noted authority, who tells us that too much rich food forms acids which almost paralyze the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken; then you may suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

To help neutralize these irritating acids; to help cleanse the kidneys and flush off the body's urinous waste, get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here. Take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days, and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been use for years to help flsh an stimulate sluggish kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.—Adv.

Oil and Rail Shares Develop Strength Thursday

SHARP BREAKS SHOW AFFECTS

High Priced Industrials Show Leading Fluctuations

Total stock sales 645,000 shares.

Twenty industrials averaged 93.60; net loss 1.19.

High 1924, 101.24; low 93.60.

Twenty railroads averaged 84.16; net loss .11.

High 1924, 85.90; low 82.74.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, March 27.—Sharp breaks in high priced industrial issues unsettled today's dull stock market after an early period of irregularity in which the buying influence predominated. At the close the average of 20 leading industrials had established a new low record for the year.

Rallying tendencies were in evidence at the opening, more than a score active issues rising a point or more in the first half hour of trading on what appeared to be active short covering. When this buying ceased and operators on the long side showed no disposition to boost their favorites, short selling was renewed particularly against such issues as Baldwin, Chandler and a number of the chemical, copper and silk company shares.

Fairly good resistances was offered to selling pressure until the late trading when nine point breaks in General Electric and Corn Products, and a 6½ point drop Fisher body caused rather extensive liquidation in other quarters, giving the market a decidedly reactionary appearance in the final dealings.

Oil and rail shares, with few exceptions, developed independent strength. With consumption rapidly overtaking production and price tendencies pointing upward, oil shares, particularly those of companies with large inventories, are beginning to discount what is expected to be a profitable summer's business. Steadiness of the rails is due largely to the unusually favorable character of most of the February statements making their appearance, the first thirty roads to report showing combined net operating income of $35,042,000, compared with $21,321,000 in the same month last year, an increase of 64 per cent.

Despite predictions in the steel trade that net earnings of the U. S. Steel corporation for first quarter which will be made public late next month, will reach the gigantic total of $55,000,000, U. S. Stel common fluctuated within a radius of one point, closing slightly higher at 98⅝. Fluctuations in American Can were less violent after its 12 point drop in the previous days, the stock closing ⅝ lower at 103¼.

Another flock of new lows was established during the day, including the American agricultural chemical issues, Mullinson and Julius Kayser silks, Ray, Miami and Cerro de Pasco coppers, Sears Roebuck and several others. Among the rails heaviness was noted in Norfolk and Western and Chesapeake and Ohio.

Call money opened at 4½, advanced to five and 5½, and then dropped back to 5, where it closed. The time money market was rather dull with the bulk of the business being transacted at 4½ per cent. Prime commercial paper was unchanged at 4¾.

Moderate advances in French francs, which advanced about five points to around 5.97 cents and in demand sterling which was up ⅝ of a cent at $4.30, featured the quiet foreign exchange market.

Spanish Pesetas were in good demand, climbing 13 points to 13.17 cents.

FORT WORTH CATTLE

FORT WORTH Tex., March 27.—No activity was shown in the cattle trade today. Prices however were steady for the most part. All kinds bulls excepted, sold to a fair outlet, and rates were unchanged. Bulls faced a decline of 25 to 35 cents and the market was called 25 to 75 cents under the high time of last week. Receipts were estimated at 1,700 head of cattle and 800 calves. Small drafts of cows ranged from 5.50 to 6.00 and a car of yearlings notched 9.00. Canners sold at 1.75 to 2.00 and cutters sold at 2.25 to 3.00.

Some little outside competition developed for calves and the market supported a top of 8.00.

CONVENTION IS ROTARY THEME

Many Angles of Big Meet Are Gone Over Thursday

Accommodations for the Rotary district conference to be held here April 2, 3 and 4, are still needed, was the report made Thursday noon at the Rotary club, its final luncheon before the convention. Discussion from the reports by the various committees was taken up during the meeting.

It was suggested that announcements be made from the pulpits in the various churches over the city Sunday morning might cause more homes in the city to be opened to the visitors.

It was announced by the decoration committee that the decoration of the down-town stores with Rotary colors be begun Thursday. Rotarians having places of business were reminded of the decorations of the business section, including all stores and buildings. It was also announced that the Country Club where a part of the entertainment is to take place, will be decorated for the events that are to be given there.

Plans are being worked out to take the visitors to the Diversion Dam, and cars will be needed for that purpose. The committee stated that cars for this trip would be needed on Tuesday. It was suggested that automobile dealers not be asked to take new automobiles on the trip.

It was reported by the reception committee that it was practically assured that special trains would run from Dallas and Fort Worth. Everything is in readiness to meet the visitors.

The train from Dallas, leaving there at 11:30 p. m., April 1, will arrive in this city at 6:30 a. m., April 2. The train fro mFort Worth will leave there at 9 a. m. on April 2 and arrive here at 12:30 p. m.

The Rotary club of Waxahachie won the cup given by the local club to the city in Texas sending in the greatest number of responses from the Rotary program which was broadcast from the Kemp hotel Tuesday night through the Dallas News broadcasting station, it was announced at the meeting. A total of 264 telegrams were received from Rotary clubs throughout the stage and 54 were received from Waxahachie.

JUNKER MAKES SAFETY TALK

Principal Speaker Before Electric Co. Bi-Weekly Meet

M. C. Junker, member of the safety committee of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas railroad at this point spoke to the employees of the Wichita Falls Electric company at their regular bimonthly safety meeting last night on the work that the M. K. and T. was doing to promote the "Safety First" movement over its lines.

"The first safety committee on the M. K. and T. was organized in 1919," he stated. "Incident to the growth of the movement since that start the number of fatal accidents to its employees has decreased 77 per cent, and it is hoped to make an even better record this year."

Mr. Junker told how the Katy is spending thousands of dollars every year for safety promotion, and how results invariably exceeded expectations. He brought out that the Katy was not stopping with its own employees but was carrying the message of "safety first" into the homes and the schools.

J. C. Rufland, safety engineer for the Texas Power and Light company, and member of the National Safety council stated that the Wichita Falls Electric company was a leader in the safety movement among the electric companies of Texas. He declared that the record made by the company last year was little short of remarkable.

A distinct gain in the popularity of the safety movement among the employees of the local electric company was noticeable at last night's meeting, it being the best attended and the most enthusiastic ever held here.

It was announced that the following organizations have been formed among the employees: Athletic association, which will put out a baseball team; orchestra, woman's public information bureau, and a group insurance organization.

Music was furnished by the company orchestra during the dinner preceding the meeting.

NEAR 5,000

and expressions of good will, these were convincing testimonials of the esteem that is now accorded the Record News.

Congratulations were showered upon the management and the staff from every hand.

A typical remark was, "I can hardly believe my own eyes," or, "Accept my congratulations, old fellow; you've done what we never expected."

Such expressions of regard following as they did what was undoubtedly the best paper ever issued by the Record News yesterday morning, a goal for emulation for all years to come, make the future seem exceptionally bright, and show, just above the horizon the silver lining to the black opaque cloud that has hovered above for the last six years.

To the people of Wichita Falls and the surrounding towns who have made this possible, to their guests of last night, who accepted the invitation to come and see, to those who so graciously "said it with flowers," to the Nafziger Baking company, who so thoughtfully provided the cakes for the refreshments and to the Wichita Music company whose piano furnished part of the music by the orchestra; to the business houses of Wichita Falls whose co-operation has assisted greatly in making all of this possible, to the loyal staff which it has been good fortune to obtain, to these does the management of the Wichita Falls Record News extend thanks, and expressions of its sincere appreciation.

To Conan Cantell, Ted Malacard, "Al" Carley, Levon Stewart, Jack Spiers and L. S. Cleveland, members of the "Original Green River Jazz Orchestra," whose music assisted so ably in the entertainment of its guests last evening, The Wichita Falls Record News extends thanks and best wishes for the future.

CITATION BY PUBLICATION

THE STATE OF TEXAS,

To the Sheriff or any Constable of Wichita county, greeting:

You are hereby commanded to summon H. J. Bryant by making publication of this citation once each week for four successive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your county, to appear at the next regular term of the 89th district court of Wichita county, to be holden at the Court House thereof in Wichita Falls, on the first Monday in April, A. D., 1924, the same being the 7th day of April, A. D., 1924. Then and there to answer a petition filed in said court on the 13th day of March, A. D., 1924, in a suit, numbered on the docket of said court No. 15472C wherein, Alice Bryant is plaintiff and H. J. Bryant is defendant, said petition alleging, as follows:

First; Plaintiff and defendant were lawfully married on the 1st day of June, 1921, and lived together until about the 1st day of July, 1921, when plaintiff separated from defendant, and has not since said time lived with defendant as his wife. That plaintiff was the owner of a little property and the defendant married her expecting plaintiff to support him and that the defendant refused and would not contribute a cent toward the support of plaintiff and plaintiff separated from him on the day and date above set forth.

Second, That Plaintiff is the owner of lot No. 4 in block No. 132 of the city of Wichita Falls, Texas, and that this property was purchased by plaintiff with her separate funds and the defendant has no interest in said property.

Third. Plaintiff alleges that the acts of the defendant are of such a nature as to render plaintiff's living with defendant as his wife, insupportable and plaintiff asks this court for a divorce upon the grounds of cruel treatment and abandonment.

Wherefore, premises considered, plaintiff prays this court for a decree of divorce from defendant; that the title of the above property be decreed to her and that her former name of Alice Shahan be restored to her and for such other and further relief, special and general, in law and in equity, as she may be entitled to receive.

Herein fail not, but have before said court, at its aforesaid next regular term, this writ with your return thereon showing how you have executed the same.

Given under my hand and the seal of said court at office in Wichita Falls, Texas, this the 13th day of March, A. D., 1924.

A. F. KERR, Clerk,
District Court, Wichita County, Texas.
By EUNICE JACKSON, Deputy.

WICHITA FALLS GROWTH RAPID

M. A. Bundy Reviews Progress and Congratulates The Record News

"I have lived in Wichita Falls for eighteen years and during that time have seen the city grow from population of 5,000 to approximately 55,000. I have watched the wonderful growth with much interest and its progressiveness is due to the tireless efforts of various businesses, civic and kindred organizations which comprises the community," said M. A. Bundy last night.

"No citizen of Wichita Falls has taken more interest in the progressiveness than myself. I have served in most every capacity in city activities, being police and fire commissioner, and at the same time serving as a member of the school board. I was a member of that organization when the junior college was taking form and gave much time to this phase of the work, serving the city as an official during the boom days when the population greatly exceeded housing facilities. An official had to give much time to conditions as they existed at that time.

"The women of Wichita Falls know of my many activities in civic work. My policy has always been for a clean city, one that is beautiful and attractive. I have always co-operated with women's organizations in every way that would be a benefit to the city.

"The cost of water is seemingly too high, and the cost of this essential should be reduced so that an abundant water supply could be obtained at small cost.

"The city needs more parks to afford recreation and play grounds for adults and children. Our trees and foliage should be kept well watered and should have proper care when needed.

"The Record News is to be congratulated in its progressive move to give the city of Wichita Falls and surrounding territory a real live morning newspaper. The Record News' new plant is one of the most interesting and modern institutions in the southwest. The publishers of the Record News are men of vision and they will keep pace with the city's growth."

Frazier Fined $907 For Fund Misuse in P.O.

A fine of $908.70, the amount he was alleged to have misappropriated from a King county postoffice over which he presided in 1919 was levied Thursday night against M. T. Frazier. A 30-day jail sentence, however, will be served in lieu of this until such time as the defendant may, if he ever does, acquire property of sufficient value to all of a collection being made. Frazier told Judge Atwell after his sentence that he had no property or funds and was unable to make the payment.

He will be released after spending 30 days in the county jail, but a check will be kept so that should he ever be able to pay the fine, collection will be made by the government.

Frazier was indicted on a charge of misappropriating $908.70 from the postoffice in 1919. He conducted his own defense in the trial Thursday afternoon and held that the alleged shortage was the result of a fire which destroyed the building in which the postoffice was located.

M'HAM STRONG RECORD NEWS BACKER

Among the congratulations received last night at The Record News jubilee by the management was one from E. B. McHam of 807 Austin, which for sincerity and depth of feeling was appreciated.

"I have followed the growth of The Record News very closely since its initial issue in 1919," stated Mr. McHam, "and I find the paper now better than it has ever been before. Every feature has been improved upon by the new management to an immeasurable extent. I have never missed a copy of this paper since it was started, and I don't intend to let any get by me in the future."

Co-operative Market Plan Told to Farmers

Representatives of the Texas Wheat Growers' association from Amarillo addressed a gathering of farmers of the Frieberg community about seven miles north of Wichita Falls at the Frieberg school house last night. A. M. Griffin of Amarillo, the principal speaker, told of the advantages accruing to the farmer from collective bargaining for the sale of his wheat, this being the plan the association has for benefiting its members. It was brought out that farmers in the Panhandle region have reaped large profits as a result of the use of this plan.

SEEK TO COMBINE SCHOOL DISTRICTS

Petitions calling for an election to effect the consolidation of the Barwise and Sunshine school districts are being circulated in that territory, it was learned Thursday. Signatures are being obtained without difficulty, it was said, and it is expected that the election will be ordered in the near future.

Present plans of school trustees of the two districts call for a consolidation and the erection of a new and modern school building to accomodate the entire section. The need for such a building has been felt for some time, it was said, and it is believed that with the consolidation of the districts this can be affected without difficulty.

Hill Draws 90-Day Jail Sentence On Charge of Prohibition Law Violation

A 90-day sentence in the county jail was imposed Thursday night by Federal Judge Atwell on Jack Hill after he had been convicted of violating the federal prohibition laws. The penalty, which was the most severe of any levied against liquor law violators, was preceded by a sharp rebuke from the court. Hill, who, the records show, had been convicted before on similar charges, was warned that if ever he was brought before the bar again he would go to the penitentiary.

It was made plain by Judge Atwell that the penalty imposed was the heaviest he was allowed to give.

The heaviest fines assessed were for $500 each, one of which was made against M. A. Crumm and the other against Harvey Hathcock. Crumm plead guilty but Hathcock fought his case and was convicted. A $400 fine was assessed against J. L. Manning, J. D. King was fined $200 and E. L. Worley $100. Earl Pitts drew the lightest sentence assessed during the day with a $25 fine. E. M. Powell was sent to jail for 20 days.

After Monte Mitchell, a negro, had been found guilty of possessing liquor he was give his choice of a fine or 20 days in jail. He deliberated for some time and finally chose the jail sentence. During his trial he told the court that he knew it was unlawful to transport or sell whiskey but that he was not aware of the law prohibiting possession.

The other optional sentence was one of 20 days, chosen by Gerald Isler. His conviction Thursday was the second but his sentence was materially lightened after the court was informed that since his arrest, Isler had "gone straight." Assistant U. S. District Attorney Reinhart, in a brief address to Judge Atwell, stated that he had been informed of Isler's efforts to reform. The court at first gave Isler his choice of a $400 fine and 30 days in jail, and on learning that the fine could not be paid, cut the jail sentence to 20 days.

The two defendants acquitted were Mrs. L. C. Baker and Fred Carter.

The case of Sam Flannery was still with the jury Thursday night. The defendant plead not guilty to an information charging him with possession of liquor, the case arising out of his arrest early in the month by Deputy Sheriff's Hawkins and McDonald. The government represented in its prosecution that a large barrel had been found buried under the concrete floor of Flannery's garage and that this was being used to dispense liquor. Flannery contended that he had just moved into the house in which he was arrested and knew nothing of the barrel in the garage.

Last Touches Made On Diversion Dam

Final touches are being put on the diversion dam and irrigation canals and the last crew of workmen will be withdrawn Saturday, it was announced Thursday by local irrigation contractors. Work has been complete for some time but the usual "clean-up" has necessitated the maintaining of a number of men on the ground.

The channel from the dam spillway to the river bed is being cleaned out and when this is finished the work is complete.

'ARE YOU EXHAUSTED?

Your reserve supply of nerve force is getting low. It is time to investigate where the leakage is before the source of supply gives way and you collapse.

Some part of your body is not functioning properly and thereby it interferes with your reserve supply being kept up to normal. You may need it soon to carry you through a critical time if you do not want the undertaker to care for you.

The greatest cause and source of interference with nerve force working properly is in the spine where nerves may be compressed between bony structures and thereby cut off the flow of nervous energy.

Come in and let us show you where the leaks are and keep in mind that—Chiropractic Gets You Well.
