Gins Modernize To Cut On Costs

To keep up with the times, Mitchell County Gins are installing new types of equipment. One of the most impressive of these new innovations is the Universal Density Press and Bale Handling System recently installed at the Co-Op Gin Association in Lorraine.

The system which represents an investment of about $350,000, according to Manager Harlin Reed, does just what the name says, it automatically presses bales of cotton into about half the size they would normally be after coming out of the gin and it automatically presses together a sample of the bale.

The smaller bale means, of course, that more bales can be shipped at one time thus lowering shipping costs.

The cotton is fed into a bin which goes underground where the cotton is compressed. It is fed upward where it is automatically tied with wire. It then rolls down a conveyor belt to be sacked.

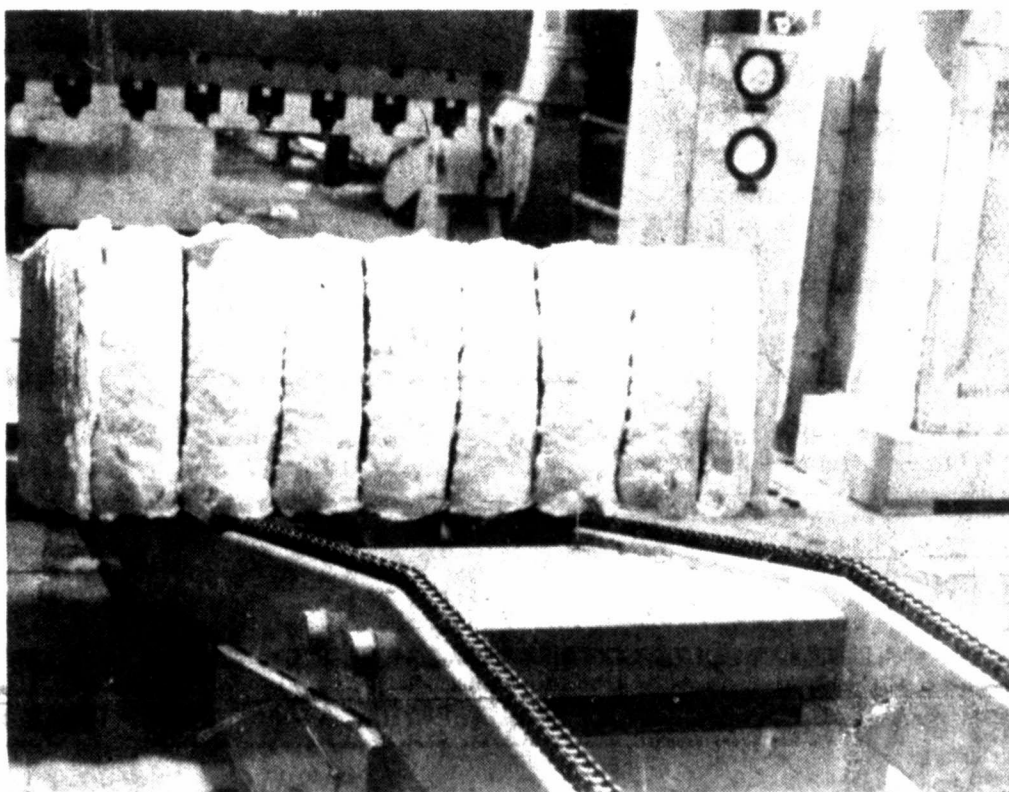

The operation is overseen by a man who operates a console.

The main purpose for the installation of any new equipment is to cut costs and save money.

Bale Count

The fair weather continued and the cotton continued to pour into the eight Mitchell County gins during the latter part of the week.

As of Friday afternoon, the eight gins reported having processed 32,986 bales with 8,717 on the yard for a total of 41,703 bales. Of these totals, 30,816 of the bales ginned have come from Mitchell County and 8,267 of the bales still on the yard are from this county. This means that Mitchell County farmers have so far turned in 39,083 bales.

A rundown of the individual totals for the gins is given as follows:

-Buford Co-op Gin: 3,100 bales ginned, 500 on the yard.

-China Grove Co-op Gin: 4,340 bales ginned (2,170 from Mitchell County), 900 on the yard (450 from Mitchell County).

-Colorado Gin Company: 1,790 bales ginned, 300 on the yard.

-Farmers Gin: 2,480 bales ginned, 248 on the yard.

-Lorraine Co-op Gin: 7,323 bales ginned, 4,054 on the yard.

-Mitchell County Gin: 4,950 bales ginned, 1,000 on the yard.

-Westbrook Gin: 3,747 bales ginned, 515 on the yard.

-Producers Co-op Gin: 5,266 bales ginned, 1,200 on the yard.

Chamber To Kick-Off The Christmas Season

Thanksgiving has come and gone and the Christmas holiday season is beginning.

The Colorado City Chamber of Commerce is planning a festive promotion to kick off the season Saturday.

Beginning about 10:30 that morning, area churches with organized choirs will sing Christmas carols throughout the city. They will make a special trip to nursing homes to allow residents to join in the Christmas spirit, according to Judy Blackstock, Chairman of the Chamber of Commerce Christmas Promotional Committee.

A kiddie movie will be shown Saturday afternoon about 1:30, to allow parents to drop-off children and continue Christmas shopping not intended for little eyes until Christmas morning.

Children should be out of the movie just in time for a Christmas parade. The parade will line up about 3:30 p.m. in front of the First Baptist Church at Third and Chestnut.

"We need all the floats and entries we can get," Mrs. Blackstock commented.

Prizes of $100 for first place, $50 for second place and $25 for third

Energy Economy Is FmHA's Object

Rural homeowners in Mitchell County who need to upgrade their homes may be eligible for financing from the Farmers Home Administration (FmHA), David Marion, FmHA County Supervisor has announced.

In addition to financing the purchase of homes, the Agency also has funds available to families who already own homes that need insulation and or weatherization improvements, he said.

"FmHA will offer

loans for energy conservation improvements to all rural families of low or moderate incomes who cannot obtain adequate commercial credit and are otherwise eligible for FmHA loan assistance," he noted.

Marion said, "this is not a new loan program, but a part of the total loan program FmHA has had for a number of years. However, the Agency is stressing the need to conserve energy and help families combat today's higher cost

Bountiful Hunting Is Reported Here

With Thanksgiving past, hunting season is in full swing.

Game Warden Ronnie Aston reports an extraordinary number of out of county hunters pouring in from all directions.

"I checked 50 or 60 bucks this past weekend. That's more than I remember checking in that time period for the past three or four years," he noted.

"I've checked 25 or 30 turkey and one unusual kill came off the Spade, a javelina wild boar," he said.

"Most of our deer seem to be south of the Interstate Highway this year," Aston said.

Only seven citations, one for shooting off the road and six tagging violations, have been issued in the county since the opening of hunting season, according to Aston.

"So far, we have not had any major problems. People don't seem to be mixing alcohol and hunting as much as usual," Aston stated.

"This weekend will be a busy one. I expect a large number of hunters to be in the county from the Midland and Odessa area," Aston noted.

"I would like to caution hunters not to drink while hunting and not to play with guns in camp," Aston stated.

"In the past we have had several accidental shootings as a result of hunters playing with firearms," he said.

"Hunters need to be certain of the target and what is beyond that target."

"A high powered rifle bullet will travel up to five miles," Aston reminded.

"Hunters should also remember that trespassing is a criminal offense and carries a fine of from $25 to $200," Aston cautioned.

Local Prudential Insurance Agent Bob Reilly and his son, Bill, reported bagging a small white tailed buck on W.E. Woods place southeast of Colorado City.

"We got out there about 5:30 a.m. and squatted down in a grain field. I took a little snooze and Bill woke me about sunup," Reilly said.

"About that time, I was wishing I'd stayed at the house," he laughingly recalled.

"Bill got me up and we began to move around a little. We had walked less than 100 yards when the buck ran up on us. There was another group of hunters less than a quarter mile away and they were coming our direction. They spotted the

This is my first annual Post-Thanksgiving "My World" column and here's hoping you had a happy one.

By the time you read this it will probably be late Saturday night or sometime Sunday, so you will have probably at least partially recovered from Thursday and all the turkey, dressing, rolls, fruit salad, cranberry sauce, chocolate cake, pound cake, pecan pie, pumpkin pie, chocolate pie, cherry pie and lemon pie that you've eaten plus whatever else you had that I didn't mention.

If you haven't already, you will also probably be starting in on the leftover cold turkey sandwiches which you will eat until Christmas when you stuff yourself with more turkey and all the rest of it again.

The above is supposed to be a little bit sarcastic, just a little bit though. Actually I think Thanksgiving is my favorite holiday. It's simply a time when you can get together with your family or friends or whoever and enjoy yourself.

I think Thanksgiving is more enjoyable than Christmas which is now nothing but a rat race in which most people go broke buying gifts and seemingly few people remember or care whose birthday we're supposed to be celebrating anyway.

There's something that keeps bothering me this Thanksgiving though. Whenever I read about what's happening in Cambodia, I keep getting the feeling that I ought to feel guilty or something but I can't quite manage it. I think it's because I simply can't conceive of what it would be like for an entire nation of eight million people to starve to death since I've

Police Roundup

Seven people were picked up by the Colorado City Police Department Wednesday for selling window cleaner from door to door without a city permit.

Assistant Police Chief Jerry Cowin reported that there were two males and five females in the group selling the window cleaner which had been manufactured by a company in Colorado.

A check was run on the salesmen and it was found that one of them, Michael Bruce Edwards, 22, of Salina, Kansas was wanted by the U.S. Marshal's Office in Washington, D.C. on a federal warrant for failure to appear in court on a charge stemming from an incident in Fort Riley, Kansas.

Edwards is now being held in the Mitchell County jail. The remaining six persons were released.

The department also reported an automobile accident in the 1400 block of Austin Street at about 6:10 p.m. Thursday.

Annette Callaway of 505 E. 4th Street, Colorado City, was northbound on Austin in a 1968 Plymouth when she was involved in a collision with Alva Franco of Midland who was driving a 1975 Buick. Franco was attempting to make a left turn when the accident occurred.

The Colorado City woman was treated and released from Root Memorial Hospital.

Damage to both cars was estimated to be about $250.

It was a year of ups and downs for Tom Ramsey in his first season as head football coach at Colorado High School but with the season barely over this week he was already looking forward to next year.

He stated that next season the Wolves will probably throw more and run the option more as they compete with Breckenridge, Clyde, Stamford and Abilene Wylie in District 7-AAA.

The Wolves will have eight offensive starters coming back and four defensive starters returning. Ramsey stated that his team will have to compensate for the fact that they will be a small team next year.

Ramsey also released the Wolves' final offensive statistics for their 10 game schedule.

Doug Johnson led the Wolves with 888 yards in 158 carries and eight touchdowns. He was closely followed by Jay Green with 828 yards in 140 carries and four TDs.

The statistics for the remaining offensive backs are as follows: Mark Carter, 148 yards in 29 carries and two TDs; Chuck Claxton, 76 yards in 45 carries and one TD; Doug Neff, eight yards in four carries and 0 TDs; Charles Edwards 27 yards in three carries and 0 TDs and Steve Feathers, 42 yards in three carries and 0 TDs.

Green had the longest run of the season, a 76 yard effort against Post. Claxton led the Wolves' passing attack with 44 completions in 105 attempts for 553 yards and three touchdowns. He threw 10 interceptions.

Carter had five completions in 24 attempts for 125 yards and two touchdowns. He threw one interception during the season.

The Wolves' receiving corp was led by Russell Noel with 20 receptions for 401 yards and three touchdowns.

Johnson had nine receptions for 133 yards and two touchdowns and Scott Cawthron had 10 receptions for 90 yards and 0 touchdowns.

Yancey Spivey had three receptions for 32 yards and 0 touchdowns. Green had three receptions for 24 yards and 0 TDs and Lupe Luera had one reception for 15 yards and 0 TDs.

The longest reception of the year was by Noel, a 65 yarder against Merkel.

Volleyballers Set To Go

The Colorado City Mixed Volleyball League will hit the court at the Wallace Center at 7 p.m. Monday for their first night of action.

League Representative Robert Henderson stated that the league hoped to have six or eight teams involved. The matches will be held every Monday at 7, 8, 9 and 10 p.m.

Each team in the league will have at least three women and they must be on the court at all times during a team's matches. Each team will consist of six players.

A match will consist of the best two-out-of-three games with the winner of each game being the first to score 15 points.

The winner of the league will be the team with the most wins. In case of a tie, there will be one playoff game.

Some of the league rules will include the following:

-Any team not present 15 minutes after schedule time will forfeit the match.

-A team may play with fewer than six players as long as two of the players are women, but they can not play with less than four players.

-A player may not cross the net to physically contact a player on the other side.

-If there is more than one hit on a return, one of them must be made by a woman.

-Each team will be allowed two time outs per game.

-A player may not touch the net with any part of his body.

Anyone needing further information about the league should contact Robert Henderson at 728-2952 or Keith Smith at 728-2493.

ton planting which will simply lay the cotton on the ground. By doing this it will save plowing, save erosion of the soil and will also enable the soil to hold the moisture better.

Another electronic innovation for cotton harvesting will also tell the man inside the cab of the machine automatically when the basket is full and if for some reason the shaft isn't turning.

Morris added that devices like these were becoming necessary because now the farmer inside the cab is often isolated from practically any sound which might indicate that something was wrong.

Morris went on to say that sometime in the future there will be a machine available for cotton used in carrying the cotton modules from the field to the gin is about $80,000.

The farming equipment available now, however, is only a small sample of what is planned for the future according to S.L. (Mac) Morris, owner of Costin Implement Company.

He stated there are many new innovations planned in agricultural equipment which he had read or heard about which are designed to cut costs and save labor and waste.

Among these are machines which will extract the burs from the cotton in the field as it is being harvested. Machines are also in the works which will extract the cottonseeds from the cotton, again as it is being harvested.

Reed estimates that if the gin can have five 10,000 bale years, the new equipment will be paid for.

The people who hope to realize the savings from the new equipment are the farmers themselves because they are the ones who own the Co-Op.

Reed estimated that the new system can save the farmers between $8 and $8.50 per bale. This saving will come from several different areas.

About $4.40 per bale will be saved because the cotton will no longer have to be processed at the compress and the gins will no longer have to pay the compress for this.

The cotton buyers pay the compress their fee for compressing the cotton as in the past and this fee is refunded back to the gin.

In other words, once the cotton leaves the gin, it requires no further processing, it is ready to be shipped anywhere in the world.

The compress also pays the gin 55 cents for the samples from each bale of cotton.

The other big saving from the new equipment is labor costs. The gin can operate using about four less people per shift, resulting in a saving of about $4 per bale.

Reed said that this type system is actually not all that new. It has been in use in other areas for about 12 years but it is new to Mitchell County. He added that probably all the gins in the area would go to this type system within the next few years.

The Mitchell County Gin in Lorraine has installed a new burr extractor which Gin Manager Dub Marchant states can extract the cotton burs at about a 30 per cent faster rate than the old machine.

The reason for this is because the new extractor has three saws instead of only the one in the old burr extractor.

Marchant went on to say that the new machine also does a better job of cleaning the cotton.

The machine represents about a $50,000 investment for the Mitchell County Gin.

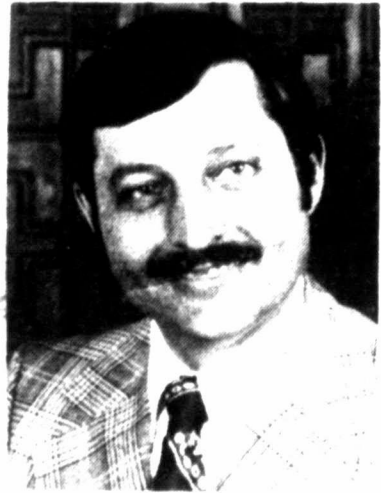

It has earlier been reported in the Record about the cotton module builder which is probably the most visible new piece of machinery being used in the area cotton harvest.

It greatly eliminates the need for cotton trailers. By means of a giant box type piece of machinery the cotton is compressed into a giant loaf in the field where it can be left until it can be picked up and taken to the gin.

The module builder enables the farmer to complete his harvest much quicker.

The cost of a cotton module is about $20,000 and the cost of the truck

THANKSGIVING THOUGHTS

Rev. Bob Grayson,
Pastor
Calvary Baptist Church

Thanksgiving has its origin in the pilgrims' observance of giving thanks 359 years ago at Plymouth Rock on December 21, 1620. Sarah Hale led a one woman crusade for twenty years before Thanksgiving Day was declared to be a national holiday by Abraham Lincoln in 1863.

Today some jokingly and some seriously refer to Thanksgiving as "turkey day". With any significant observance in our culture and in our nation there are two basic attitudes among the people. Some see the spiritual significance and purpose of the observance and it is a meaningful time for them. Others focus their attention on the insignificant activities that have become associated with the day or time and they miss out on the real meaning of life itself.

It is impossible to truly observe Thanksgiving without a real awareness of God and of the kindness, love and mercy that are part of His character. Abraham Lincoln officially proclaimed Thanksgiving as a day set apart for the national giving of thanks with Almighty God. Therefore Thanksgiving is intended to be one of our holiest holidays.

Even in a world of uncertainty and instability and during a time of economic recession, we have so much for which to be thankful that it is overwhelming. We all need to count our many blessings. But true giving of thanks should take us one step beyond what God has done for us to an appreciation for who God is. When we are truly thankful for who God is, the very character of His being, then we will be able to do what the Bible says, "In everything give thanks..." We will be able to respond like Job who lost so much but continued to trust the Lord and praise His name.

The greatest gift from God for which we have to be thankful is His solution to our sin problem by having His Son on the cross in our place. Unless one has accepted this gift, he or she lives in self-imposed spiritual poverty and Thanksgiving has little meaning.

Let me close with this question, "How meaningful will this Thanksgiving season be to you and your family?"

Kissinger is presenting the program with the sponsorship of the Colorado City Chamber of Commerce and it is being put on in hopes that local merchants will attend and find ways to eliminate the shoplifting which increases the price of everything people buy and which is especially prevalent during the Christmas season.

Kissinger stated that he will explain to the merchants what they should look for to be suspicious of a shoplifter.

The main tipoffs should be in what the shoplifter is wearing or in his actions.

Kissinger stated that as an example, a merchant should become suspicious if a person came in wearing a raincoat in weather in which they didn't need one.

Kissinger will also show a film which shows shoplifters in action and how they operate.

The former policeman emphasized, however, that it doesn't do any good to catch a shoplifter if the merchant won't prosecute.

Finally, he urged all merchants and anyone else interested to come to the program if at all possible.

Shoplifting can become costly to a person if he persists in the habit and if he is caught, prosecuted and convicted.

A person may be charged with a Class C misdemeanor the first time he is prosecuted for shoplifting if the amount he has taken is less than $5.

A Class C misdemeanor is punishable by a fine of up to $200.

The person may be charged with a Class B misdemeanor if the amount he is charged of shoplifting is more than $5 or less than $20. He may also be charged with a Class B misdemeanor if it is the second time he has been charged with the crime, regardless of the amount taken. A Class B misdemeanor carries a penalty of a jail term of up to 180 days, a fine of up to $1,000 or both.

A person may be charged with a Class A misdemeanor if he is charged with shoplifting goods of over $20 but less than $200 in value. He may also be charged with a Class A misdemeanor if it is the third time he has been charged with the crime, again, regardless of the amount taken. A Class A misdemeanor carries a penalty of a fine of up to $2,000 and jail term of up to one year or both.

If a person is convicted of shoplifting goods of over $200 in value, he may be charged with a third degree felony. He may also be charged with the third degree felony if it is his fourth shoplifting offense, regardless of the value of the goods he has taken.

A third degree felony carries a penalty of a fine of up to $5,000 and term in the state penitentiary of not less than two or more than ten years or both.

Hospital Board To Meet

The Board of Directors of the Mitchell County Hospital District will meet in regular session at 7 p.m. Tuesday in the conference room of Root Memorial Hospital.

Main items on the agenda include the purchase of a microscope and delinquent accounts.

A hospital financial report and a financial report from Root Valley Fair Lodge are also listed on the agenda.

Charles Root, hospital administrator, is scheduled to give a report on management matters, according to the agenda.

of home energy."

Improvements designed to save energy, such as installing additional insulation, storm windows and doors, caulking and in some cases modifying heating systems will, in many cases, save more than enough to repay the loan funds borrowed for the improvement, according to Marion.

In addition to energy conservation, repair loans may also be used to remove health and safety hazards—such as repairing roofs, providing sanitary water and waste disposal systems, and upgrading electrical wiring. Applicants from Mitchell County must own and live in the home to be improved, he commented.

The current rural housing interest rate is 10 per cent for moderate-income applicants. Families with lower incomes may qualify for a subsidy that can reduce the effective interest rate down to as low as 1 per cent per year.

More information may be obtained at the FmHA County Office located in the G-Kell Building, Highway 208, or by calling 728-2257.

Off on another subject, one of my favorite characters from American history has always been Teddy Roosevelt. I've wondered lately if he were in the White House again whether or not it would change some country's attitudes toward the U.S. I'm thinking mostly of Iran, of course.

I guess it's hard to say what he would do. It's been 70 years since he left office and the problems he faced may not have been as big as the problems we have today.

However, nobody pushed him around then and got away with it and I don't think anybody would now. We certainly need someone to carry a big stick for us or, maybe should I say, provide some leadership while we carry the stick ourselves.

I expected to see black crepe paper spread all over town Friday after the Cowboys' loss to Houston. Those little tragedies do happen occasionally though. Donny Phillips of Lorraine bagged a 9 point buck south of Colorado City.

"I was hunting in a field that has always been planted in wheat, but this year it had been too dry to plant so the field was bare," Phillips recalled.

"I got out there about 5:30 a.m. and walked around a little. Then I climbed up in a tree and sat to wait for sunup," he said.

"About 7:30 a.m. this big buck and four or five does wandered up. They were all in good shape, their coats looked good and they were fat," he stated.

"I used a Winchester Model 308 to kill him. I took him home, dressed him out and felt very lucky to have gotten one," Phillips said.

Council To Meet Tuesday

Colorado City Council will meet at 7 p.m. Tuesday in City Hall to make the final decision on the Auxiliary Airfield now used as the city airport.

Proposals and counter-proposals have been made by the city and Dell Barber in order to clear title to the property.

Barber originally sold the property to the United States Air Force for use as a military airfield.

The city was granted title to the property by the government when the Air Force discontinued use of the airstrip.

Due to a clause in the deed giving Barber the option to repurchase the property at $25 an acre if it was abandoned as an airfield, they have been in negotiation.

The matter has been repeatedly discussed during council sessions but no definite decision has been reached.

The city, taking the stance that they are legal holders of title to the property, has considered court action to condemn the property in order to remove any cloud from the title, a very costly process.

place floats will be given by the Chamber of Commerce.

"Groups, individuals and organizations are all invited to make an entry for the parade," Mrs. Blackstock stated. "Persons interested should contact the Chamber of Commerce. Applications will be accepted up until the day of the parade," she noted.

The Colorado City High School Band, the Junior High Band, the Wolverines from High School and the Jamborees from Junior High will all march in the parade.

The Navy Color Guard and Shriners Clowns from Abilene will be featured in the parade.

The Chamber of Commerce Ambassadors will march with the parade too.

"We would like to have all children dress up in red and green costumes in some type Christmas motif and march with us. We are trying to get together a group of donkey carts for the tiny tots to ride," Mrs. Blackstock said.

Special prizes of five silver dollars will be awarded to the boy with the most unique red and green costume and for the girl with the most unique red and green costume. A special prize will be awarded for the most all around unique children's costume.

"Santa Clause has agreed to fly down from the North Pole and ride a special float in our parade," she said.

"Santa will be on the corner of Second and Walnut in the Friendly Park for the next three Saturdays. Children are all invited to come tell him what they would like to have for Christmas. Danbo-rah Studios will be there from about 10:30 a.m. to 4 p.m., except during the noon hour, to take pictures of the children with Santa," Mrs. Blackstock said.

A special holiday treat will be a drawing to be held at Friendly Park at 2nd and Walnut each Saturday beginning December 8 and running through December 22. Colorado City Merchants participating in the promotional will be giving away "Bonus Bucks" to the lucky shoppers whose tickets are drawn, she stated.

Shoppers may enter the drawing by picking up tickets at any of the participating merchants beginning Monday, according to Mac McKinnon, president of the Chamber of Commerce.

1980-81 Texas Almanac Is Off The Presses

The 1980-81 Texas Almanac and State Industrial Guide, now off the presses, marks a major milestone in book publishing. It is the 50th edition of this unique book since the first edition was published in Galveston in 1857.

A special article in the new edition, written by Lee Milazzo, director of archives at Southern Methodist University and book reviewer for the Dallas Morning News, traces the history of the Texas Almanac since Willard Richardson, who was the Galveston News publisher at the time, launched the enterprise.

There have been several time gaps in the book's publication, the longest being from 1873 until 1904, when publication was resumed in Dallas by A.H. Belo & Co. The Belo Corporation, publisher of The Dallas News, has been the book's publisher since that time. Throughout most of this century, it has been published every other year, except for a gap of several years during World War I.

Another article tells of the colorful and sometimes tragic history of the city of Galveston. The account and another on the Port of Galveston were written by Robert A. Nesbitt, writer, editor and former president of the Galveston Historical Foundation.

In continuing to present a section of Texas (The Hill Country of Lyndon Johnson, 1976-77 edition, and Texas West of the Pecos, 1978-79 edition), the Gulf Coast of Texas is spotlighted in a special article in the new 1980-81 edition of the Texas Almanac. It was prepared by the staff of the Dallas Museum of Natural History.

The feature, which is liberally illustrated with color photographs made by the museum staff, discusses places, plants, birds, mammals, reptiles, fish and seashells found along the Texas Gulf Coast.

For Texas political historians, Richard M. Morehead, who for many years was chief of The Dallas News' Austin Bureau, has written a history of Texas politics since 1857.

The 1980-81 edition has many other features as well as updated data on Texas weather, statewide political races, business, agriculture, mining and petroleum production, state boards and commissions, organizations—almost every subject about Texas that Texans will want to know. Also included are the lists of state and national parks, lakes and rivers—and interesting places to visit.

The Texas Constitution, a history of Texas, gardening in Texas and the popular section—Counties of Texas with maps—are among the contents of the book's 704 pages.

Social Security Issues To Be Aired In Austin Tuesday

The National Commission on Social Security will seek the public's evaluation of the social security program at a public hearing in Austin, Nov. 27. The hearing will be held at the East Campus Lecture Hall, LBJ School of Public Affairs at the corner of Manor and Red River on the University of Texas at Austin Campus beginning at 9 a.m. and will continue throughout the day.

The Commission is an independent agency of the United States and is not connected with the Social Security Administration or the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. It was created by Congress to conduct a thorough and independent review of the social security system. The Commission has nine members—five of whom were appointed by the President and four by the Congress. Some of the members are attorneys, while others are scholars, business and labor representatives and social security beneficiaries. The Commission began its work in January of this year and will submit a final report of its findings and recommendations to the President and the Congress by January 1981.

Declining birth rates, earlier retirements and increasing benefit levels are causing Americans to question the stability of the social security system, according to Milton S. Gwirtzman, the Commission chairman. The 1977 Social Security Amendments increased both the social security tax rate and the wage base on which taxes are levied. Even so, some Americans fear they are paying taxes into a system from which they will receive no benefits when they reach retirement age," Gwirtzman said.

"It is our intent to look carefully at the major questions that now surround the program, including the fiscal status of the social security trust funds, the jobs that are not covered by the program, the adequacy of and eligibility for benefits, as well as alternative methods of financing social security benefits such as the value added tax which was recently proposed by some Congressional leaders. We will rely not only on experts from within government and business but will go directly to the taxpayers and the beneficiaries to learn firsthand what type of social security program they want and what needs it must meet."

The Austin hearing is the fourth of eight regional hearings the Commission will conduct across the country and citizens from throughout the southwest are encouraged to attend. People interested in sharing their views with the Commission can either request to testify at the hearing, submit written comments to the Commission or take part in an open microphone session at the hearing. Additional hearings will be held in Phoenix, Arizona November 29; Portland, Oregon January 16; Sacramento, California January 18 and St. Petersburg, Florida February 15 and 16.

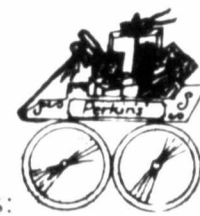

Serving with Gwirtzman on the Commission are James Dillman from Sheboygan, Wisconsin; Donald MacNaughton of Nashville, Tennessee; Wilbur Cohen of Ann Arbor, Michigan; David Rodgers of Olympia, Washington; Russell Laxson of Wayzata, Minnesota; Robert Myers of Silver Spring, Maryland; Elizabeth Duskin of Washington, D.C. and Joyce Miller of New York City.

More information about the hearings can be obtained by writing Melanie W. McClintock, Public Information Officer, The National Commission on Social Security, 440 G Street, N.W., Room 126, Washington, D.C. 20218 or by calling her at (202) 376-2622.

What Other Factors Enter Into The Cost Of A Homeowners Or Tenants Policy?

Coverage on a home in a city with a professional fire department and a dependable water system will often cost less than protection for a similar dwelling in the suburbs or a rural area.

A vital consideration is the type of construction of your home or apartment building. Among other factors, insurers take into consideration the distance of fire hydrants from the property.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Crane Terry
...wed in Loraine

Miller, Crane Exchange Vows Saturday Evening

Rebecca Diane Miller and Mark Crane Terry were united in marriage in a double ring ceremony Saturday evening in the home of the groom's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Crane Terry of Loraine. Parents of the bride are Mrs. Eva Freeman of Abilene and Marshall Pylant of Vernon.

The home was decorated with baskets of pink gladiolus and carnations. Floral arrangements of pink roses, carnations, pom poms and greenery complemented the decor throughout the home.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a street length dress of mauve with matching accessories.

Mrs. Beth Feiner of Abilene served as matron of honor. She wore a mauve street length dress with matching accessories and carried a cascade of pink roses and stephanotis. Best man was David Rankin Terry of Austin, brother of the groom. Ringbearer was Christopher Miller, son of the bride.

Pat Terry, brother of the groom, lighted candles.

A reception was held in the home of the groom's parents following the ceremony. The table was laid in a madras cloth with a pink and white floral arrangement centering the table. Crystal and silver appointments were used.

After a wedding trip to San Angelo, the couple will make their home in Abilene.

The bride is a graduate of Clyde High School and is presently employed by the Abilene State School.

The groom is a graduate of Loraine High School and attended Western Texas College. He graduated from the Hendrick Medical School of Radiological Technology and is presently employed at the Hendrick Medical Center in Abilene.

A FESTIVE THANKSGIVING DINNER was enjoyed Wednesday evening at the Nursing Home in Loraine. It was an enjoyable occasion for relatives and friends of residents in the home. Bountiful food and pretty decor made it an evening to truly be thankful.

Is now the time to buy land?

Acquiring that farm might seem more practical with financing through the Federal Land Bank. Land is easier to pay off when costs are amortized over extra years with a long-term Land Bank Loan. Your total cost of borrowing, too, can be less. Ask us for help: We know land values; we will inspect the property. We will then try to make a loan that meets your exact needs.
