Clayton States Reds Winning In 'Cold War'

Change In United States Policy Is Said Dangerous

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 4—John Foster Dulles said today that "war is highly probable" if the United States does not ratify the North Atlantic treaty.

DULLES

Dulles, American delegate to the United Nations, made this assertion to the Senate foreign relations committee in urging approval of the 12-nation defense alliance.

The diplomat told the committee it is dealing with a "totally different" world situation today than it was a year ago. The pact then was only being discussed, he said, whereas now it has been formally signed by each of the participating nations.

Make Others Change

Thus to repudiate the treaty now, Dulles continued, would reflect a change in the American point of view and this would make other nations change their plans.

"Out of that would come a war," he declared.

CLAYTON

Dulles offered that summation after Senator Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) had asked him whether he regards war as inevitable.

Dulles did not specify which nations he thinks might change their plans if the Senate refuses to ratify the treaty.

But in his earlier prepared testimony he said the lifting of the Berlin blockade, if it comes, may mean merely a change in Russia's methods and "not a change in Soviet intention."

From former Undersecretary of State Will Clayton the senators heard that "on balance, Russia is winning the cold war."

"Soviet Russia's principal objectives in the cold war are to frighten Democratic governments into excessive expenditures for

Spring Storms Hit In Texas

(By The Associated Press)

Several electrical storms in Central and West Texas may have signaled the end of Texas' reprieve from spring storms.

One man was severely burned today as lightning nearly wrecked a home at Cross Cut, small community in north Brown county.

At Midland, an intense electrical storm accompanied a .73-inch rain.

Elsewhere over the state there were clouds and some rain. Rainfalls ranging up to 1.34 inches at San Angelo moved into West and Southwest Texas during the night.

At Cross Cut, H. P. Kelly was severely burned on both feet and temporarily deafened and four others shaken up by the lightning which nearly destroyed his home.

Taken To Hospital

Kelly, whose right shoe was knocked off, was taken to a Brownwood hospital with third degree burns. Shaken up were his wife; his son, W. P. Kelly; Mrs. Aubrey Cox, and her daughter, Shelia Ann. Some suffered scratches and bruises. The cook stove was destroyed, windows blown in, wallpaper set fire, the roof unshingled and furniture piled up by the lightning. Rains ranging from .25 to .50 of an inch fell over Brown county.

The Dallas U. S. weather bureau said the thunderstorms will probably move over the rest of the state by tomorrow. The bureau

Uncle Sam Has Headache After Heavy-Punching GI Is Finished

Eight Russian Officers Nurse Sore Jaws As Fighting Irishman Opens War On Soviet

VIENNA, May 4 (AP)—A fighting army Irishman who started a one-man war against Russia had a headache today. So did the U. S. Army.

And eight Russian officers had sore jaws.

There was an unhappy feeling that the man who writes Russia's notes of diplomatic protest would have writer's cramp before long, too.

Pfc. Edward J. Touhey, of Howard Beach, Long Island, N. Y.—six feet three inches tall, 230 pounds and the alleged cause of it all—was under observation in a locked room at a Vienna Army hospital.

Touhey, according to Provost Marshal Col. Willard K. Liebel, had been drinking "but not enough to cause all this disturbance."

Liebel didn't specify how much alcohol he thought it should have required yesterday to cause a man to:

Start fighting the sentry outside the Soviet-occupied Grand hotel in Vienna's international district.

Walk across the street to the swank Imperial hotel and slug a Russian officer standing there.

Enter the hotel and start swinging at the available supply of Russian officers. Some said the stockpile was eight, others said 12.

All agreed Touhey took them on one at a time. Eight went down.

As a grand finale he grabbed an iron chair and took out after a Russian colonel. Then American military police grabbed him. Under heavy escort, he was taken away by ambulance.

A crowd of several hundred Austrians attended the festivities.

Five In One Family Die When Flash Fire Shoots Up Stairs

(By The Associated Press)

JERSEY CITY, N. J., May 4—Five members of a family were killed and two injured early today as a flash fire shot up the stairwell of a three-story brick building here.

Fire Chief Frank Ertle said the blaze started in the ground floor hallway and mushroomed out on the top floor of the building.

A family of 11 on the second floor got out uninjured by climbing through a window onto the roof of an adjoining building. The structure is surrounded on three sides by one-story buildings.

The dead were Frank Quazzo, 60; his son, Albert, 22; two daughters, Mrs. Angie De Marco, 20, and Phyllis Quazzo, 26; and Albert's wife, Concita, 24.

Firemen Injured

Injured were Mrs. Mary Quazzo, 55, the elder Quazzo's wife; and Samuel De Marco, 28, his son-in-law. Both suffered from smoke poisoning and burns, and De Marco had cuts on both feet. Also injured was fireman John Billa, 38, who hurt his back in a fall. All three were taken to Jersey City medical center.

Samuel De Marco and Mrs. Mary Quazzo escaped from the flaming seven-room apartment by climbing down fire ladders one story to an adjoining roof.

De Marco was clad only in pajamas and had a pink bath towel over his shoulders. He did not know at first whether his wife, Angie, had escaped. Later her body and that of her sister, Phyllis, were brought out by firemen from a rear bedroom. The other three victims were found in a front room.

A police pulmotor squad worked over Angie and Phyllis for nearly an hour without success.

Escaped By Window

The family of Fred Kohli, 53, and his wife, Mary, 45, all climbed safely through a rear kitchen window onto a roof when they were awakened by smoke.

Kohli's nine children—five boys and four girls—range in age from 8 to 23.

Chief Ertle said the cause of

Four Men Caught In Burning Coal Mine

GIRARDVILLE, Pa., May 4 (AP)—Four men are trapped 800 feet underground today in a burning anthracite mine.

The miners are entombed in the No. 5 colliery of the Gilberton Coal company near here.

"We hope the men are still alive," a company spokesman said.

Rescue workers pumped compressed aid down the smoke filled shaft in an effort to provide ventilation.

Water pumps, however, broke down. Company officials expressed fears that the trapped men may drown before they are reached.

"We have no idea where the men are or what their condition is," a company spokesman said.

The Chamber of Commerce Air Force affairs committee today recommended to the City commission that rent control be continued in Lubbock.

The unanimous action came after cognizance was taken of the dropping of rent controls in Amarillo and of petitions being circulated here by owners of rental properties. Petitions are expected to be lodged soon with the City commission asking that body's approval of abolishing rent controls.

Mayor W. H. Rodgers, who attended the Air Force Affairs committee meeting at City Hall this morning, said he and other members of the commission welcome opinions of the chamber of commerce group. The committee has the responsibility of making local preparations for the reactivation of Lubbock Air Force Base.

No Change Anticipated

The mayor further said that no action will be taken by the City commission in rent control matters, at least until a commission hearing is called to give both sides of the question opportunity to present cases. No such hearing has been requested by either landlords, or renters, he said. The mayor added that in his opinion, the commission would not look with favor upon relaxing rent controls any time soon—certainly not until more housing is more available here.

The committee meeting also resulted in the setting of date for a general meeting to which 100 or more citizens will be invited. The meeting, to be held next Wednesday afternoon—probably in the Hilton Hotel ballroom—will be attended by men and women representing, as far as possible, all segments of the population and all men's and women's civic organizations. All problems pertaining to reactivation of the air base will be discussed.

Lubbock Radio Case Reversed

The United States Court of Appeals today reversed and remanded a decision of the Federal Communications Commission which had granted a new radio station in Lubbock to the Lubbock Broadcasting company, a partnership composed of C. C. Woodson and Wendell Mayes of Brownwood and G. H. Nelson, Lubbock attorney, the Associated Press reported from Washington.

Station KFYO of Lubbock had applied for the same facilities as Lubbock County Broadcasting company — a power of 5,000 watts on a frequency of 790 kilocycles. After a hearing in 1946 the FCC had awarded the grant to Lubbock County Broadcasting Co.

Decision Was Appealed

KFYO then appealed the decision to the United States Court of Appeals, and a hearing was held last February 7 in Washington. Today's decision does not grant the change in facilities to KFYO; it remands the case to the FCC for a new hearing and a final determination upon facts other than those relied upon in the original decision.

The FCC in denying the application of KFYO placed especial emphasis on the fact that the station is identified in ownership with the Avalanche-Journal Publishing company. The Appeals Court decided that "The Commission cannot select the one fact that one applicant is the owner of the town's only newspaper and

House Leaves Repeal Of T-H Up To Senate

Wood Bill Is Sent Back To Committee In Voting Today

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 4 — Truman Democrats today won a fight to send the Wood labor bill back to a House committee.

Their margin on the motion to recommit was three votes—212 to 209.

This outcome left the House with no labor bill before it—in effect ending the great labor battle with a stalemate.

The administration was unable to put through its bill to repeal the Taft-Hartley law and enact labor statutes more to the liking of unions.

Wood Bill Blocked

On the other hand, it succeeded in preventing passage of the Wood bill which would repeal Taft-Hartley in name, but keep most of its essential provisions.

House leaders indicated that—in event of such an outcome—they would let the matter rest in the House for a while.

Their strategy is to wait now and see what kind of bill the Senate may be willing to pass.

The outcome of the recommittal vote was an upset for Republican leaders, who put the Wood bill over in the House yesterday with strong support from southern Democrats.

Eight Votes Needed

Yesterday's voting turned up a margin of 217 to 203 for the Wood bill. That meant the administration forces needed to swing eight votes overnight to put the Wood bill in the cooler.

They succeeded in getting the needed margin although there was one more vote cast today than in yesterday's ballot.

The motion to recommit was supported by 193 Democrats, 18 Republicans and one American-Labor member.

Voting against recommital were 62 Democrats and 147 Republicans.

The outcome served to take some of the sting from the rebuff handed to President Truman by yesterday's vote. He had made

Agreement On All Questions Said Reached

Mutual Lifting Of All Restrictions Is Slated On May 12

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, May 4—The Big Four powers agreed today to lift the Berlin blockades and to hold a foreign ministers' conference on Germany. The probable dates are May 12 and May 23, respectively.

The United States announced the agreement after a meeting here of United Nations delegates from the four powers. The statement gave no dates, but they were reported by London sources.

"Agreement has been reached," the U. S. statement said. "All restrictions imposed in Germany which have been the subject of conversation will be mutually lifted."

Communique Promised

A communique was promised for tomorrow if the remaining details can be worked out by that time. The statement was issued after a two-hour meeting at the United States' U. N. headquarters here. The conferees were:

Philip C. Jessup for the United States, Jakob A. Malik for the Soviet Union, Sir Alexander Cadogan for Britain and Jean Chauvel for France.

This marked the first time that representatives of all the four powers had conferred together in the current negotiations.

Porter McKeever, American delegation press officer, said the statement afterward was issued in behalf of all the conferees. It read:

Agreement Is Reached

"The representatives of the four powers have discussed all the problems arising in connection with the situation which as you know has been under discussion. Agreement has been reached on all the main questions of principle.

"There are certain details which are still under consideration but it can be said specifically that agreement has been reached that all of the restrictions imposed in Germany which have been the subject of these conversations will be mutually lifted. After an interval a meeting of the council of foreign ministers will be held.

"The council of foreign ministers will consider questions relating to Germany and the problems arising out of the situation in Berlin, including also the question of currency in Berlin.

"The four representatives are hopeful that the remaining matters of detail can be adjusted in a

C. Of C. Stunt Proves Costly

AUSTIN, May 4 (UP)—The state Supreme court sympathized today with an El Paso girl who refused to be "corraled" on a downtown El Paso street as part of a stunt staged by the city's chamber of commerce.

The court refused to review a case in which the chamber of commerce was ordered to pay $6,163 in damages to Jeanette Moore.

The El Paso Chamber of Commerce in March, 1946, sponsored the Southwestern livestock show and exposition.

Girl Is Injured

As part of the show, all persons roaming on downtown streets who didn't wear western clothes were roped and "corraled" and forced to sit in a "hot seat" equipped with a live wire sufficient to furnish a light shock.

The girl and her mother were shopping downtown, when participants in the stunt tried to rope them.

Jeanette, 17, attempting to escape from the ropers, dodged into a drug store but in the rush stuck her hand through a glass panel in the door, suffering cuts to her hand.

She brought suit against the chamber of commerce, charging

BLACK CAR WITH COVERED LIC ENSE PLATES IS SOUGHT

Man Carrying Money Bag Reported Kidnaped Here; Identity Of "Victim" Is Not Learned

Municipal and state police this afternoon were making extensive search of the area as outgrowth of the report of a man identified as "Doc" Aldredge, of near Lubbock, that he had witnessed a kidnaping about 11 a. m. near the Santa Fe depot.

Aldredge said in a telephone report to police that he had been sitting in his truck in front of 607 Main.

Two men in a 1947 or '48 black Chevrolet two-door or four-door, license numbers of which were covered with brown paper, jumped out and grabbed another man who walked past carrying one money sack in his hands, Aldredge continued.

One of them placed his hands over the victim's mouth and the other grabbed him by the legs. Together they forced him into their car, Aldredge told police.

The two "kidnappers" jumped into the car, raced westward on Main to Ave. H and turned northward the account continued. Trace of the car was lost, Aldredge said.

In the meantime, investigators sought to learn the identity of the man said to have been victimized.

Also, they wanted to know the name of a man or youth who was said by Aldredge to have been almost run over by the black getaway car near the depot.

Police said that person had told another unknown witness that he had seen no kidnaping, but that a car had almost struck him.

HST Offers Clay's Job To Bank Head

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 4—President Truman is urging John J. McCloy, president of the World bank, to succeed Gen. Lucius D. Clay as chief of the American occupation zone in Germany.

McCLOY

Clay's retirement from the job of military governor was accepted by Mr. Truman yesterday, effective May 15.

McCloy, if he accepts the appointment as close associates expect, will become the first American civilian high commissioner in Germany. He is a former assistant secretary of war.

The switch from military to civilian control was agreed on here last month by the United States, Britain and France. This was in connection with the plan to merge their three occupation zones and promote creation of a federal German republic.

End Of Era Seen

McCloy or whoever takes the assignment for the United States will be a member of the Allied high commission, which will have the responsibility for supervising the organization and development of the proposed new German state.

Mr. Truman brought out in a statement that Clay's retirement coincides with the end of an era in postwar Germany. He said that the work "of moral and economic reconstruction" in the western zones has arrived at a point where the Germans "are about to obtain a greatly enlarged measure of political and economic responsibility."

The President praised Clay for having carried out "a prodigious task of administration" and declared he is being released from his job because of his own "repeated

Ingrid Bergman To Return To Husband

ROME, May 4. (AP)—Ingrid Bergman said today she would finish work on the film she is making in Italy and then join her husband, Dr. Peter Lindstorm, either in the U. S. or Sweden.

In a statement issued by the Rome office of RKO pictures, Miss Bergman said she was making the announcement "for the protection of my family."

Lindstrom flew from Hollywood, where he practices surgery, to Italy last week after insistent rumors of a romance between the Swedish-born film star and her Italian director-parther, Roberto Rossellini.

The statement was aimed at putting an end to the speculation about a romance. There had been reports that Miss Bergman would divorce Dr. Lindstrom to marry Rossellini, the ace Italian director of such films as "Paisan" and "Open City."

Mom 'Worked Like Man' To Keep Home

FORT WORTH, May 4. (UP)—A brunette mother, fighting for custody of her son, 3, wept in district court here today as she told of "working like a man" for 10 years to keep her family of three together.

Mrs. Frances Powell, the mother, is being sued for divorce by Hiram Powell. The husband asked that Mr. and Mrs. John Clark, Cleburne, uncle and aunt of the child, Don Louis Powell, be given custody.

In her testimony, Mrs. Powell described her husband as "a playboy who wants to join all the country clubs." She once divorced him, later remarrying him when he was near death from an illness, she testified.

Youth Is Held For Burglary

PLAINVIEW, May 4. (Special)—Sheriff Ted Andrews told newsmen he would file a burglary complaint today against a 19-year-old youth of Tokio, charging breaking and entering Tuesday night of Earl Alley's Phillips 66 gasoline station at Abernathy.

The youth surrendered this morning to the sheriff's office in connection with the case.

A 16-year-old Seagraves boy was arrested Tuesday night at Abernathy, but a youth whose physical description was said to be much like the other suspect's escaped in the darkness, Dep. Sheriff John Stricklin said.

Burglar Alarm Sounds

Stricklin, of Abernathy, arrested the juvenile after the burglar alarm in Struve's hardware store began ringing. The deputy found that a window of the store had been smashed. Stricklin and O. D. Rutledge, Abernathy city marshal, searched several hours for the suspect who had escaped.

Approximately a carton and a half of cigarets and eight or 10 bars of candy were taken from the service station, nothing from the store.

"The burglar alarm undoubtedly prevented another burglary, and was an agency in the arrest of the two men," Sheriff Andrews said.

The officer said he would swear to the burglary complaint before County Attorney Joe Cox. The complaint, he said, will be filed in the court of J. W. Lewis, justice of peace, for a Hale county grand jury meeting May 26.

Israel U. N. Membership Seems To Hinge On Palestine Regime

BY ROBERT HEWETT
Associated Press Staff Writer

LAKE SUCCESS, May 4 — Israel pressed her bid for U.N. membership today with success or failure apparently hanging on the issue of an international regime for Jerusalem.

El Salvador has called for Israeli representatives to clarify the Jewish state's attitude toward internationalization of the Holy City.

Arab leaders renewed their fight against admittance of Israel to the U.N. when the assembly's special political committee began hearings Tuesday on the Israeli application. They demanded that Israel be kept outside the U.N. until she agrees to international rule for Jerusalem and to return to Palestine Arab refugees.

U. S., Russia Agree

Russia and the United States agree on admission of Israel but another verbal east-west storm was expected in another committee studying disposal of Italy's former colonies. Russia's Andrei A. Gromyko is scheduled to speak on a British plan which would exclude Russia from sharing U.N. trusteeship control in the strategic North African area.

Latin American delegates, whose countries are predominantly Catholic, expressed concern about Israel's rejection of a U.N. resolution adopted in Paris last fall calling for an international regime for Jerusalem.

Israeli representatives are basing their hopes for U.N. admission on a compromise formula.

Regime Opposed

Aubrey S. Eban, Israeli representative to the U.N. told newsmen Israel still opposes an international regime that would have complete rule over Jerusalem. He said, however, that Israel would agree to some form of international regime whose authority would be limited to administration of Jerusalem's holy places with guarantees of free access to all religious shrines.

Also before the political committee is an Argentine proposal inviting the Vatican to send representatives to give the Catholic church views on an international regime for the Holy City.

On the question of the Italian colonies, Russia during month-long debate has favored placing Mussolini's pre-war empire under collective administration by the trusteeship council. This would give Russia a hand in controlling the strategic Mediterranean area.

Control Wanted

The British proposal adovcates keeping British control over Cyrenaica (Eastern Libia) under a 10-year U.N. trusteeship, ceding most of Eritrea to Ethiopia and returning Italy to control of Italian Somaliland under U.N. trusteeship. A five-power commission (U. S., Britain, France, Italy and Egypt) would be established to recommend how western Libia should be ruled under U.N. trusteeship.

Take them to reclaim your lost energy, your healthy color, your enjoyment of life!

Another Undercover Agent For FBI Is Produced In Red Trial

NEW YORK, May 4 (AP) — Government prosecutors, who have produced another undercover agent for the FBI as a surprise witness, are unfolding an ever-widening map of alleged Communist plans for violent overthrow of the government.

A St. Louis business man, Thomas A. Younglove, testified at the Communist conspiracy trial yesterday that American Red leaders preached the principles of violent revolution.

He said they returned to the program of violence in 1945 — after a wartime lull — on directions from Moscow. His testimony involved Communist activities in St. Louis.

Member Since 1945

The witness, a tall, rangy man of about 40, testified he has been a member of the Communist party since 1945, feeding out information to the FBI.

Younglove said he was an active Communist member at the time he took the stand against eleven Red leaders charged with conspiracy to advocate forcible overthow of the government.

Preceding Younglove's story about party doings in St. Louis, the federal court jury had heard testimony about New York City, Detroit and other parts of Michigan, Chicago Wisconsin, Maryland, and New England, especially the Boston area.

Younglove, an independent contractor in concrete work, was the fourth FBI undercover informer among the government's witnesses at the 16-week-old trial.

The witness, who had barely started his testimony when court adjourned for the day, said he was asked by Communist acquaintances to join the party, after which he communicated with the FBI. He said he joined in February, 1945, remained active until March 15, 1947, and maintained his membership to the present.

Younglove said he reported continually to the FBI. In May, 1945, he said, he was invited by letter to attend a meeting of 40 leading St. Louis members to hear Betty Gannett, then a member of the educational committee of the national Communist organization.

The witness said he attended the meeting and heard Miss Gannett discuss an article by Jacques Duclos, French Communist leader. Duclos attacked American Communists for forgetting the militant principles of Marxism-Leninism. Miss Bennett, Younglove said, agreed with Duclos and said we should be grateful to him."

Younglove took the witness stand after Miss Angela Calomiris, another undercover agent for the FBI, stepped down after testifying for seven days about Communist activities in New York.

Miss Calomiris, a Greenwich Village professional photographer, gave additional testimony that Communists planned in the spring of 1947 to back Henry A. Wallace for president under the Progressive slogan. This was a year before the Progressive party was organized and Wallace nominated.

Landscape Professor Joins Tech Faculty

Elo Urbanovisky has recently joined the Texas Tech faculty as a professor of landscape art and design in the agriculture division.

Dean W. L. Stangel, head of the agriculture department, said Urbanovisky would divide his time between the classroom and landscaping of the campus.

His classroom work will be with students who have majored in some phase of plant industry and want to learn about beautifying some of the surroundings they may come in contact with after leaving college.

Odds Are Against The Man Shooting The Dice, Says Expert; You Just Can't Win

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, May 4 (U.P.) — Dr. Ernest Blanche, a bespectacled little gent, used to give lectures to GI's in Italy on the odds in gambling.

"It was very discouraging," said Ernie, who knows all about the cube root of an equation and presently is the army's chief statistician. "Right after I got through talking, the boys would dive for the nearest cellar, get out the dice and try to prove I was wrong."

These experiences worried Ernie into some research that now has resulted in two books on gambling and threatens to run into a third.

His present effort, quite logically, is called "You Can't Win."

"I had a devil of a time with more than a dozen publishers," he said. "All said they would put it out if I would change the title. The public, the publishers said, wants to be told you CAN win."

Not Guess Work

Ernie figures there are about 50,000,000 people in the country who play poker, bet on the horses, play the numbers, yank the handles of slot machines, spin a wheel and buy Irish sweepstakes tickets without ever knowing or caring about the odds.

Ernie's work is not guess work. He spends hours, days and weeks in his little study at his Chevy Chase, Md., home testing each of his theories.

That doesn't cost anything but time. But he learned the other, or harder way, too. He hung around the carnivals and concluded after playing some skin games that most of them are out to gyp the home folks out of their milk and egg money. He went to the race track (and still does, foolish fellow) and risked a two-spot on this and that nag.

"Horses Are Like Women"

He concluded: "Horses are like women. They are temperamental, run around a lot, and cost a man an awful lot of money."

He shot craps, in the interest of science, and caught the very mischief from his lovely missus, Judy. There, said Ernie, the odds against the guy who throws out the cubes are 251 to 244. He counted 'em. The chance on a man making an "eight point" are 5 out of 36. A fellow pitches a 7 only 6 out of 36 times.

Dr. Ernie tried bingo. There, he said, a man has a fair chance—and even if he doesn't the house take generally goes to charity.

The scientist also played the numbers for a time. It took many a day and many a dollar, but he discovered that the "house" nets up to 50 percent of the intake and the bookies get another 10 percent.

"There is no use talking about the slot machines—or one-armed bandits," he said. "You're beat there before you put a nickel or a half dollar in the slot."

You Still Can't Win

When Ernie got around to poker, he picked what the boys in the back room called "five card stud, with nothing wild." In other words you get five cards, one face down.

Our man did a lot of research and discovered to his own amazement if nobody else's, that there are 2,598,960 different poker hands possible in random selections in five-card stud. That would have stopped a man of less courage.

But not our Ernie. He went Hoyle one better and proved that of these different hands you'll get 1,302,540 without a single pair.

By golly, maybe you can't win after all, what with the odds 649,739 to one against getting a royal flush.

The National Spinsters' Pensions Association, of Britain, is protesting against paying six cents a week national insurance maternity benefit to the age of 60.

William Tell Country Visited

Lucerne Is Busy Preparing For Summer Tourist Trade

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Margaret Turner's European article today is the third of a series sent from Switzerland. She will return to Lubbock in approximately two weeks.)

LUCERNE—On our motorcoach tour to the William Tell country, we stopped at the spot where Queen Astrid, beauteous Belgian, lost her life in a car crash several years ago. The tree which King Albert's car hit when he went off the highway as he turned to get a map from the back seat, is a gigantic pear, now in full bloom. Underneath is placed a large concrete cross and across the highway a small chapel has been erected in memory of the queen.

Workers were busy repairing highways damaged by rocks brought down by the last snows of winter and all of them waved at our bus as we rolled past. The driver spent a busy afternoon extolling the virtues of William Tell and sitting under large trees, drinking apple cider, we tried to capture the spirit. But a fast walk down and then back up a one-half mile of steps to the Tell chapel, built on the level of Lake Lucerne, was a task for a South Plains walker.

We were told today that Lucerne is preparing for a great number of tourists this summer and judging from the show windows of watches, handkerchiefs and wood carved articles, we can well believe it. There must be a greater number of hotels here than in any other given radius anywhere in the world. Our hotel, the Palace, was built in 1906 and is on the lake front. It has two large dining rooms and an immense salon, in addition to a great hall and foyer leading to the lobby. The waste of space would be maddening to an American hotel manager.

From our windows we look out on dozens of sailboats skimming along in the turquoise water. Wispy clouds have veiled the Alps and a chilling breeze has arisen. The tempo over here seems to have extended even to twilights which are long, the sun hanging long in the far distance as if reluctant to leave the sight of magnificent beauty.

WE turned typical tourist today, since there was nothing specific on our schedule, and explored the shops. Of course when one thinks of Lucerne, he thinks of watches. There were letters from one of the leading firms, Bucherer, when we arrived, containing a welcome note, and also a handkerchief embroidered in a colorful sailboat and bearing the name of the firm in inch-high letters.

WHEN we were at lunch Ruth Ford had the misfortune to lose a filling from a small bridge, due to the hardness of the roll she was munching. That necessitated a trip to a dentist and we walked along the street looking for the word, "zahnarft." On noting it, we walked into a hall way, saw the name "Dr. Shear," buzzed a bell and waited for an office girl to walk down two flights and show us to the waiting room.

After citing her plight, Miss Ford was asked to wait for a few minutes. We entertained ourselves with views through a stereoscope. (The first one we had seen since childhood.)

The dentist turned out to be a Swiss, who was born in Illinois, and who seemed pleased to have an American patient. He was amazed at the removable bridge and said they were not used by the Swiss and his amazement grew when we told him that American dentists no longer use gold in filling teeth.

AFTER leaving the dentist's office we walked around to see the Lion of Lucerne, a "must" on anyone's trip and well worth the walk. Gigantic trees grow at either side of the monument and green water laps at its base. Benches are placed at intervals for those who like to rest and to read literature about the tribute to the Swiss guard of Paris who fell during the French Revolution in 1792. Two American officers, knitting their foreheads in an attempt to read the Latin inscriptions, lent a touch of color to the grayness as we sat gazing at it.

When we stopped at a handkerchief and novelty store, the aging proprietor told us they had overstocked but were looking forward to visits from our countrymen. "Americans always buy so much stuff," she told us. When we came back to our rooms a few minutes ago and displayed our purchases we rolled on our beds in laughter. Yes, Americans buy a lot of stuff all right!

Mary Haworth's Mail . . .

Flawless Girl Is Unnerved When Scandal In Her Fiance's Family Is Uncovered

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I am of a family with a very religious background as well as community-wide popularity. There has never been a divorce or even a good spat in the whole family.

All my life I have been prompted to be the best in school, the best in church, the best in sports; in short, I had to be tops and only the best was expected of me.

Recently I became engaged to Bob, who has been so thoughtful and good, and who seemed so genuinely fine, sincere and clean that I have marvelled at his wonderful character. He has a lesser educaton and a lower salary than mine; but he is going to school and this can be corrected.

WHAT WOULD HER FAMILY THINK

BOB has many friends, all of whom speak only praise of him; and naturally I felt supremely happy to have met and been loved by such a person. But a week after we became engaged, Bob told me that he was born out of wedlock and that his mother didn't marry until some years after.

If you could have seen his face when he told me! It was like a little boy clutching his dead puppy and begging me to say it wasn't dead. My very soul winced as his words fell on my disbelieving ears. When I finally collected myself, I felt that that I would marry him, no matter what.

That was several months ago and neither of us has mentioned it since; but when we are out with friends I find myself wondering what they would do or say if they knew. Would they leave us out of things? What would my parents say? Is it fair to give my children such a father? Is it right to marry Bob for the fine person he is; or am I inviting mental and social disaster if we wed? I shall be grateful for your honest opinion. Signed A. V.

BOTH ARE TRYING TO SMOTHER FEAR

DEAR A. V.: This much is plain: Bob is profoundly anxious about his natal history, at least as concerns your reaction to it; and you are just as troubled by vague misgivings. But by tacit consent, both of you are trying to smother the fears that cloud your respective feelings; and thus in effect you are in flight from the issue, instead of facing it and searching for a true understanding of what it means to each of you.

In broaching the matter like a terrified child, Bob signified that he feared the worst; namely, rejection by you, if and when you heard the story. And the haste with which you pushed the admission back underground, so that it has never been mentioned since, shows his fears had something to feed on.

You were in love with Bob on an illusory basis, with the man you "thought" he was; and when he disclosed certain facts that presented him in a different light—from your viewpoint—you were stunned by the challenge to accept or reject the reality. Your emotions cried out, "I must have Bob, no matter what—", meaning the Bob your fancy had painted—and on that note the subject was tabled.

WISE TO REVIEW CASE WITH PASTOR

BUT THAT'S no settlement, as your mounting dismay has proved. The whole picture — as to past and future — still must be examined with calm candid thoroughness, in order to reach a working agreement concerning what seems best to do.

In fairness to Bob and yourself, you cannot make somebody else responsible for deciding whether you ought to marry him. You must find the answer to that yourself; but you should have prudent first-hand help, from a kindly objective source, in exploring the question. And your pastor is the logical person to consult.

It is my impression that you are living and working in a different city from your home town, and that you haven't known Bob very long; thus responsible personal guidance seems vitally important, to bring reason to bear on the situation. M. H.

PIN-WORMS CAN CAUSE SERIOUS TROUBLE

Beware of Pin-Worms . . . ugly creatures that live and grow inside the human body. Medical experts say that as many as one out of three persons may be infected. And not even the most careful families can be sure of escaping these nasty pests.

One of the danger signs of Pin-Worms is the tormenting, embarrassing rectal itch. And this can be the warning of more serious troubles . . . even internal inflammation and bleeding.

Don't take chances! At the first sign of Pin-Worms, get Joyce's P-W Vermifuge from your druggist. P-W contains an effective, medically-approved ingredient that destroys Pin-Worms and removes them from the body.

The small, easy-to-take P-W tablets were perfected in the laboratories of the famous Jayne Co., specialists in worm remedies for over 100 years. Get P-W—destroy those Pin-Worms . . . relieve that itch.

Hubs Drop Pampa Oilers, 9-5

Lubbock Nine Gets 13 Hits

(By The Associated Press)

Borger moved into a half game lead over the idle Albuquerque Dukes in the West Texas-New Mexico league Tuesday.

At the same time, Lubbock vaulted from sixth to third place with its fourth straight win.

Winning its tenth straight against only one loss, Borger took a victory with third baseman Bob Johnson's clutch triple in the eighth scoring two The hit gave the gassers a 15 to 13 win over Amarillo.

Lubbock Pounds Pampa

Lubbock pounded the offerings of Merlin Hubbard for 13 hits and a 9 to 5 victory over Pampa.

Five hits produced five runs in the first inning for Abilene as they swept a two game series with Lamesa 6 to 1.

Albuquerque at Clovis was rained out.

Albuquerque moves to Amarillo tonight; Clovis goes to Borger; Lubbock journeys to Lamesa; and Pampa moves to Abilene.

Borger led in the fifth 11 to 2 against Amarillo when defense and pitching fell apart. The Gold Sox jumped on two pitchers for 11 runs and took a 13 to 11 lead. Borger scored one in the seventh and Johnson's triple produced two more for the win.

At Lubbock, the Hubbers racked up their fourth win over Pampa and lost no time getting to work. Two hits in the first were followed by a three run homer by Jim Prince. Two singles, a double and a triple accounted for three more runs in the second. In the third, an infield single was followed by Al Duarte's first home run of the year.

At Abilene, the Blue Sox took an early five to niothing heading and were never seriously challenged. Art Bosch led the Blue Sox attack with three hits in four trips.

Home Run Clouts Feature Major Tilts

Washington Outhits Chisox; Yankees Shade Browns, 5-3

BY JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

It looks as if this will be a happy and prosperous year for the "swing-from-the-heel" boys, better known as the home run hitting fraternity.

Time was when such sluggers as Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig, Jimmy Foxx, Mel Ott, Hack Wilson and Hank Greenberg had a monopoly on the four-base wallop. Not so today. Everybody wants to—and usually does—get into the act.

Already 87 athletes have poled at least one over the fence. Altogether they've accounted for 159 round trippers. The list of fence busters includes such "stalwarts" as Luke Appling, Mike Guerra, Mark Christman, Al Evans, Mike McCormick and Richie Ashburn.

No fewer than nine home runs were hit at Comiskey park yesterday, seven by Washington and two by Chicago. That was only one short of the major league record.

Those seven round trippers helped the Senators outslug the Chisox, 14-12, in a 10-inning donneybrook. Clyde Vollmer, rookie outfielder led the hit parade with two homers, a single and double. But it was home runs by Evans and Gil Coan in the 10th that decided the issue. Other homer hitters were Washington's Eddie Robinson, Christman and Ed Stewart, and Chicago's Gus Zernial and Joe Tipton.

The Boston Red Sox and Detroit Tigers played a 14-14 tie that was halted by darkness after 13 innings. This slugging match produced four home runs, two by each side. Vern Stephens hammered his sixth and Ted Williams his third for the Red Sox, and Johnny Groth hit his fifth and Aaron Robinson his third for the Tigers.

The New York Yankees, aided by Phil Rizzuto's home run, defeated the St. Louis Browns, 5-3 to increase their American league lead over the idle Cleveland Indians to three full games. Joe Page, who relieved starter Ed Lopat in the seventh, retired nine men in a row to receive credit for his second relief victory of the season.

The pitchers fared much better in the National league where Ralph Branca of Brooklyn shut out the Cincinnati Reds 3-0 and Walter Dubiel pitched the Chicago Cubs to a 4-0 victory over the Boston Braves.

Golden Sandie Club Clinches Title Tie

AMARILLO, May 4. (Special)—In a scrap cut short by rain in the last half of the fifth inning, Amarillo's Golden Sandies clinched a tie for first place in the northern half of District 1-AA by outscoring Pampa's Harvesters, 13-7 here Tuesday night.

Amarillo goes to Borger Saturday in quest of a clear-cut title. Borger invades Pampa Friday and a win by Pampa would give the title to Amarillo without regarding Saturday's game at Borger.

Durocher To Resume Post

NEW YORK, May 4. (AP)—Leo Durocher, off baseball's griddle, resumed his role as manager of the New York Giants today but still faced court action charging him with striking a Brooklyn fan.

The tempestuous Giant pilot, after sweating out four days of an indefinite suspension, was cleared and reinstated yesterday in less than two hours before Commissioner A. B. Chandler at Cincinnati.

Chandler held there wasn't sufficient evidence to show that Durocher had "deliberately assaulted" Fred Boysen, a vociferous Dodger rooter, after the wild game at the Polo grounds last Thursday.

"I am very happy about it all," Durocher said upon his return to New York "I am very anxious to get back to work."

Durocher picks up the Giants' reins today from Frankie Frisch, who has been acting manager. The Giants play Pittsburgh in an afternoon game.

Durocher showed no concern over the simple-assault summons which Boysen's attorney promised would be served as quickly as possible. The summons is returnable in upper Manhattan court Monday.

The lawyer, Benjamin H. Chasin, said he planned to proceed with the prosecution. He said he didn't believe Durocher's reinstatement would have any legal bearing on the case.

He added he was "very happy" the Giants' manager was given a clean bill of health by Chandler.

Boysen, a 22-year-old Puerto Rican, contends that Durocher punched him and knocked him to the ground as the teams were leaving the field from the game at the Polo grounds, won by Brooklyn, 15-2. Durocher denies it.

In announcing his findings, Chandler said the evidence was contradictory and showed "Manager Durocher was involved in an incident with Fred Boysen," and "apparently came in physical contoct with him.

"The evidence, however, is not sufficient to warrant the belief that Durocher deliberately assaulted Boysen," the commissioner's statement added.

Pro-Amateur Teams Compete In Tourney

DALLAS, May 4. (AP)—More than 100 pro-amateur teams competed today in the last preliminary to the Texas Professional Golfers association annual tournament.

Yesterday, five teams tied for first place in the professional best ball event.

Tomorrow, the 72-hole PGA tournament gets underway.

Warren Smith of Oak Hills Country club, San Antonio, and Jack Hardin of El Paso shot one under par 70s to tie for the best individual round in the best ball meet.

Lubbock Tops Bulldogs

Galey Sparks 8-7 Triumph

The Lubbock High school Westerners closed out the south half of District 1-AA baseball here Tuesday with a close 8-7 victory over Plainview's Bulldogs at Chapman field diamond.

After taking a comfortable 6-3 lead, the Westerners proceded to give Plainview four runs in the top of the seventh on three errors, two walks, a pair of wild pitches by Jimmy Richards and one base hit. The generosity of the home club nearly cost them the game.

But in the home half of the inning Morris Turner, catcher, hit a single into left field and Charles Galey, shortstop, reached first after being hit by a pitched ball. Both runners advanced on a passed ball, and Left Fielder Garnet Reeves singled in both men to end the game.

To Meet Winner

Three double plays were the only bright spots of Westerner fielding, as the locals made seven costly errors. The four run spree in the seventh by Plainview nearly broke the winning streak of the Lubbock nine in district play at five, but the regular season was completed with six straight victories — three each over Plainview and Borger. Lubbock will play the winner of the north half of the district next week for the 1-AA championship, but the top bracket will not be decided until later this week.

The first Lubbock double-killing came in the first frame when Third Baseman Powell Hinson took a batted ball off the bat of Jack Howton and threw to Dan Adkisson at second to force Randall Cooper. Adkisson completed the play with a throw to Jessie Fullerton.

Double Play Made

With the bases loaded in the second and one out, Pitcher Jimmy Hamilton took a batted ball, threw to Turner to force the man at home, and Turner retired the side with a throw to Fullerton at first. The final double play was in the fifth inning on an attempted sacrifice, but Bil lBlair, Plainview catcher, popped the bunt into the air attempting to move the base runner to second. Hamilton caught the ball and doubled Dale Scott off first base.

Reliefer Richards got credit for the win, and Jack Howton was the losing pitcher. Jimmy Hamilton started for the Westerners, giving up three runs on six hits in the five innings he worked. Lefty Bennie Day came on in the sixth, giving up one hit and leaving three runners stranded on base. Richards worked the seventh inn-

Tommy Fine Hurls Padres To Victory

San Antonio Missions Shade Dallas Eagles In 3-1 Clash

(By The Associated Press)

Texas league teams swap opponents tonight and the Dallas Eagles, for one, think it is a fine idea.

Tommy Fine last night beat the Eagles, 3-1, with neat eight-hit pitching. It gave the San Antonio Missions the brief series, two games to one, and impressed on the estimated 26,754 fans who saw the three tilts that Dallas isn't any winged monster.

Pitching played a part in two other victories last night, but in another, batting was best.

Tribe Batters Sports

Oklahoma City batters beat six Shreveport pitchers badly, pounding out 16 hits for a 16-3 victory.

Tulsa downed Beaumont, 8-3, and Fort Worth whipped Houston, 4-2, on pitching.

For Tulsa, Jim Avrea set the Exporters down with three hits. His mates clinched the game for him in the ninth with a five-run outburst, earlier, Jean Herbert had hit a home run.

Carl Erskine came in to choke off a ninth inning Houston rally for Fort Worth.

Dallas Threat Blocked

Seven of Oklahoma City's runs came in the first inning. Grant Dunlap hit a home run this frame and Ray Murray chipped in a grand-slam circuit clout a little later.

A snappy double play erased a Dallas threat in the final inning. The Eagles got one run this frame and had the bases loaded when the twin killing stopped everything.

Vernon Kennedy gave San Antonio only five hits, but one was Don Lenhardt's home run. It was his first defeat in five starts.

The schedule tonight has Dallas at Beaumont; Fort Worth at Shreveport; Oklahoma City at Houston and Tulsa at San Antonio.

Golfers Must Know Wind Shot Control

By BEN HOGAN
WIND SHOTS

There's an old saying in golf that when the wind blows the men are separated from the boys. It means, in so many words, that if you can golf when the wind is blowing you're a man; if not, you're still a boy.

Down in Texas the wind blows all of the time. That's why most of us golfers who learned the game there can play wind shots. If you can't maneuver the ball in the wind you'll never score well in Texas. Byron Nelson, Lloyd and Ray Mangrum, Ralph Guldahl, Henry Ransom, Harry Todd, and Jimmy Demaret are all great wind players. If they weren't nobody would ever have heard of them. They would still be down in Texas struggling to break 70.

Of us all, however, I think Jimmy Demaret is the greatest wind shot player in the business. And men who have been watching tournament golf a lot longer than I have, tell me that he is probably the greatest wind player the game has ever known.

All of which can be attributed to the fact that Demaret's first job as a professional was in Galveston, Texas, where strong winds blow in off the Gulf of Mexico day in and day out. Jimmy had his mind set on playing tournament golf even in those days and he spent all the time that he could working on his game.

During the course of the 1947 International Four Ball Championship at Miami, Fla., which Jimmy and I won for the second year in a row, Demaret made what I think was the greatest shot I have ever seen. The Four Ball was played at the Miami Country Club in 1947 and if you are familiar with the eleventh hole at that course you will recall how small the green is.

To complicate matters the wind was blowing strongly toward us out of the right quarter and the flag was cut in on the right side of the green. It was out of the question to hit a hook shot to the right and still keep the ball on the green as the wind would be sure to carry the ball off line.

After studying the situation for a moment Demaret hit the ball low into the wind and at the same time cut it to the right. It landed and stayed close to the pin.

Playing right along with Jimmy I could appreciate that shot because I was fully aware of the conditions he was playing under. Believe me, with the wind blowing as it was that day it was extremely difficult to keep the ball low and still reach the green. But by also cutting the ball to the right so that it landed close to the pin, Jimmy's shot approached the phenomenal.

I mention that particular shot not only to pay tribute to Demaret's ability in this phase of the game, but also to make you aware that it is possible to play golf in the wind and still control the ball. The idea, of course, is to play your shots, just as Demaret did that one, low into the wind at all times.

Quail high is the way we describe them in Texas. Keep the ball quail high and you will find yourself scoring better than the player who has plenty of power but is up in the clouds on every shot.

Any time you play golf on a windy day remember to widen your stance. Play the ball from a stance in which the ball is back more toward the right foot than you would ordinarily play it.

In addressing the ball, hood the face of your club just a little bit. Play your hands well in front of the club at address and also at contact.

Make sure you pick the club up more abruptly on the baskswing, breaking the wrists to the maximum earlier in the swing than you ordinarily do.

Hands Should Lead

Hit down into the ball more abruptly than you would on a regular shot, making sure that the hands are leading or drawing the swing and that the weight is well forward on the left foot. Try to keep the clubhead as low to the ground as possible on the finish. Don't let is come up immediately after contact. The hands should still be leading even while you are finishing up on the stroke after contacting the ball.

You will be surprised how little wind will affect a low ball. Of course, when playing on a windy day you will have to favor the wind and take advantage of it. Make allowances for a certain amount of carry. Just how much carry to allow for, you can judge after playing a couple of shots. This is another good reason why you should warm up by hitting a few shots on the practice tee before starting a round of golf.

On windy days don't forget to play for a bounce and allow for quite a bit of roll. In playing a low shot to the green never try to carry the green unless it is necessary because of a bunker guarding it. In that case you will have to play a higher shot and make some allowance for the wind.

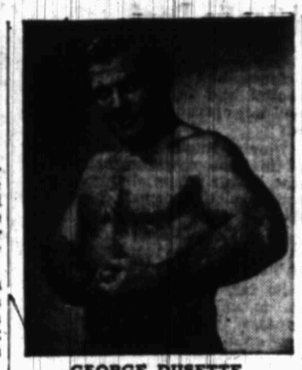

When playing against the wind be sure to use a stronger club than you would use for the same distance under normal conditions. Remember that the ball probably won't roll as much when you're playing against the wind and make allowances for that fact.

If you're playing with the wind use a weaker club than you would use under normal conditions. Make allowances for the fact that the wind will carry the ball and that you will probably get more roll than you ordinarily would on the same shot.

If the wind is blowing across the line of flight you are planning, take aim to the right or left of your objective, according to the strength of the wind and its likely effect on that particular shot.

Follow the above hints and take advantage of a windy day for an occasional session on the practice tee, and wind won't be the psychological hazard it was when you first encountered it.

Tag Match To Feature Card

A special feature of the wrestling card at Sled Allen's arena tonight will be an Australian tag team match between two very rough teams. The first event begins at 8:30 p. m.

Scheduled to team up for two out of three falls are Rod Fenton and Alex Kasaboski against George Curtis and George Dusette. It will probably take less than the hour time limit for one of the two teams to finish the fracas.

All Are Capable

These four men are very evenly matched in weight and ring experience, and all are capable of getting rough and tough. Kasaboski and Fenton are the type wrestlers who try to make their own rules when they think the referee will not interfere.

The two Georges are cleaner type wrestlers and prefer to adhere to the rules with wrestling holds that are legal, but against their opponents tonight they may have to fight fire with fire. Dusette is noted for his great strength and breaks many holds with sheer power.

Nenoff, McDonald Meet

In the first event Steve Nenoff meets Danno McDonald for two out of three falls or an hour time limit. The bald Nenoff, who sports a handle bar mustache, will have a tough fight with the Canadian. McDonald comes to Lubbock with a great record from the wrestling territory of the far north, and the Scotsman is said to be fast and a hustler who keeps after his opponent all the time.

Nenoff is a veteran in the ring and will probably figure out his adversary before the match is over.

Tickets are on sale at Wylie's Drug store until 5 p.m. today.

ODESSAN GETS POST

DALLAS, May. 4. (AP) — The Odessa Country club golf professional, H. T. (Shorty) Hornbuckle, has been re-elected president of the Texas PGA. Hornbuckle was re-elected at the annual meeting of the group here last night.

EAST TEXANS WIN

COMMERCE, May 4. (AP)—Netters from East Texas state college defeated Sam Houston State College 6-1 here yesterday.

H-SU NINE WINS

ABILENE, May 4. (AP)—Hardin-Simmons walloped Southwestern, 16-7, yesterday to sweep a two-game baseball series.

Between The Lines by Joe Kelly

When, in the course of human events, the local ball club wins four games in a row, it's a signal moment in sporting world achievement. The Hubbers now have climbed all the way from seventh place into third in four days. During that time they have played atrocious tricks on Grover Seitz and his ball club. Who would have thought that the Hubbers would win four straight from that club. And it was dat ol' debbil Grover himself who said, during an exhibition game here, that he thought he had best club since he had been managing.

It just goes to show you the vagaries of trying to predict in this league. The Pampa infield is good and the outfield is among the better ones, but the pitching staff definitely isn't up to snuff. Grover was in favor of having the veteran player limit raised by one so that he could get a veteran pitcher, but R. L Edmondson, the owner, wouldn't okay it. Perhaps now Mr. Edmondson is regretting that decision. Maybe Lamesa and Abilene also are having vaguely disturbing thoughts about turning down the addition of a veteran. Any time you raise the veteran limit, you bring in faster and generally better baseball.

In the recent series against Pampa, Jim Prince stood out like a searchlight in comparison with Virgil Richardson. The former Hubber first baseman, who last fall on the eve of the playoffs accused the Lubbock Baseball club of misrepresenting the crowd's size and of holding back money that the ball players deserved, did not fare well. He had one single in 14 trips to the plate, while Prince had five for 15, including two home runs, each time with two men on the bases. We understand, from one of the Hubber players of old, that Rich told him he was wrong last fall, but that it was too late to do anything about it. Too bad he didn't make that statement public.

We note that H. T. "Shorty" Hornbuckle of the Odessa Country club has been re-elected president of the Texas PGA for his second term. Shorty was the man primarily responsible for Lubbock's being named the West Texas qualifying site for the National Open last year. He's also a frequent visitor and his election gives added stature to golf as it is played in this part of the state. Ray Garrett of Wichita Falls, president of the West Texas Pro-Amateur Golf association, was named a vice president to represent the West Texas area. Incidentally, you may have noticed that Jack Hardin of El Paso, who shot the hottest qualifying score in the nation here in the National Open rounds, tied for the best individual round yesterday in the best-ball pro tournament. Warren Smith of Santone teamed with Garrett for first place in the best-ball event and one of the men tied for first was C. W. Hogan of Lamesa.

Two more Texas Golden Gloves champions are doing all right in the pro circle. Pete Gil and Valentina Luna, both of Austin, won their second pro fights Monday night in New Orleans. Gil is a welterweight, Luna a featherweight. There is an excellent change that after Luna becomes more seasoned, O. C. Foster will match him with Bill Henderson. Henderson, you may recall, beat Luna at Fort Worth in 1948 for the Golden Gloves featherweight title. If Tom Adams ever should turn pro and Foster could persuade J. D. Kirkpatrick to come out of retirement, there would be the match of the year in Lubbock. Incidentally, Eddie Giosa beat Lew Jenkins Monday night on a split decision in Philadelphia, Pa.

Lake Texoma has a new boss now. The U. S. Army Engineers have assumed control of the recreational development which for the past three years has been under the direction of the National Park Service. The change resulted from general dissatisfaction with the Park Service and its policies. One of the chief complaints was the fact that the Service did not request money for improvements, etc. The Engineers already have requested Congress to approve expenditure of $800,000 to be spent during the next 12 months. Under consideration is construction of additional roads, parking areas and beaches, along with graveling of all roads on government land and the surfacing of the more important roads. Attendance figures of 2,397,508 last year probably will be broken this year.

Decker Tops Hurdles In 22.7 In Practice

Preparing for the State Track and Field meet to be held Friday and Saturday in Austin, the small Westerner track team moved out to Texas Tech Tuesday to stage their workout with the Tech thinclads.

The six qualifying for the big schoolboy meet were Wayne Stroud, Malcolm Young, Charlie Williams, Bonald Decker, Cecil Caddell, and Alfred Adair. Along with Coach Fred Brown and Manager Davis Hopper, the team will leave by private cars at 8 a.m. Thursday.

In practice yesterday Charlie Williams ran the 220-yard dash in 21.9; Decker stepped the century in 10 flat and the 200-yard low hurdles in 22.7; and the 440-yard relay team, composed of Stroud, Young, Williams, and Decker made the distance in 45.4. A strong wind slowed the relay team considerably.

In addition to the events named above, the Lubbock team will also enter the broad jump, high jump, and pole vault. Williams will enter the broad jump, and Decker may also enter that event. Adair will participate in the high jump, and he and Caddell will handle the pole vault.

The Chicago Cubs finished the 1948 National League season last in the standings and last in home run production. They hit 87.

Record Entry List Sought

AMARILLO, May 4. (Special) — The target of the Tri-State Senior Golf tournament's board of directors is 200 entries when the tourney rolls around July 26 through July 30.

It will be the 15th consecutive time that the pioneers of southwest golf have gathered at the Amarillo Country club to slug it out.

This year an effort is being made to increase the association's membership in four states, Arkansas, Colorado, Kansas and New Mexico. Membership in the nations' largest senior golfing organization is now over the 375. And the remarkable thing about it is the fact that all members are 50 years old or more.

Entry Fee Decreased

The 1949 entry fee has decreased from $7.50 to $5.00 and the list prizes increased from 50 to 75, to be divided among players in 10 flights. Their aggregate value is over $500.

An annual feature is the Tri-State ...m matches, a competition among the five lowest scorers of Oklahoma, Texas and New Mexico. Texas has a slight lead in the series.

There will be a qualifying competition in five different age flights. Classifications are 50-55, 51-60, 61-65, 66-70, 71-100. The meet annually draws several dozen players over 70 years old, including a few over 80.

The championship flight boasts as much class as the average state championship meet anywhere in America. The meet began in 1947 and has grown into one of the most colorful events in Golfdom. Any player in America over 50 years old is eligible. Entries should be addressed to J. E. Evans, 920 Austin street, Amarillo. Memberships in the Association are $1.00 and tournament fee is $5.00 additional.

Extra-base blows were the rule rather than the exception in the game, and two homers, three triples, and two doubles went into the records. Powell Hinson blasted a four-ply wallop into left field in the first frame, and Charles Galey hit the longest ball seen here all year into left for an easy home run in the third with Hinson and Catcher Morris Turner on base.

Pacific Western To Abandon Hole

Pacific Western Oil corporation was preparing to plug and abandon its No. 1-B Brown, deep wildcat in southwest Lamb county, eight and one-half miles southwest of Sudan.

The prospector drilled to 8,135 feet in lime, developed no shows of oil or gas and plugged back to 4,430 feet for another examination.

With packer at 4,356 feet, the tool was open two hours. Recovery was 200 feet of drilling mud and 1,400 feet of salt water. Location is 440 feet from north and east lines of labor 15, league 213, Deaf Smith CSL survey.

After reducing hole for a drillstem test in the Pennsylvanian and recovering water, Lone Star Producing company No. 1 Maule, northwest Scurry county wildcat, is dry and abandoned.

Total depth was 8,297 feet in a deep lime formation thought to be Ellenburger. The deep horizon also made water.

The dry hole is 660 feet from south an deast lines of section 451, block 97, H & TC survey, about three miles east of Dermott.

Kidnap Report

Tech art students were in the lobby of the depot at the time the incident was alleged to have happened, but none had reported having seen anything irregular. Neither did railroad officials, the police said. Aldredge, later identified by city police as a farmer living six miles south on the Tahoka highway, could not be reached by telephone early this afternoon. State highway patrolmen, however, found him at his residence late this morning and interviewed him.

Adding to the complexity, no one had been reported missing. Officials said they had "checked out" business places in general vicinity of the place where the kidnapping was reported, to have happened, but no one was unaccounted for.

In Austin, Col. Homer Garrison, head of the state Department of Public Safety, was quoted early this afternoon by the Associated Press as saying that the state highway patrol and state rangers are not sure a man was kidnaped here.

Garrison said he had received a teletype message early this afternoon from Capt. Bob Crowder of district ranger headquarters here.

"Crowder told me that officers had not been able to definitely determine that a man had been kidnaped." Garrison said. "He said no one had been reported missing and no one had reported any money missing."

Police said the reported victim of the kidnaping had been described as from 35 to 40 years old, wearing a tie, a white shirt, a light snapbrim hat, light trousers, and was in his "shirtsleeves."

One of the "kidnapers" was described as 6 feet tall, 190 pounds, wearing white trousers, khaki shirt and tie, and a black hat.

The other man was described as stocky, about 5 feet 10 inches tall, bareheaded, wearing khaki trousers, gray shirt, and having black hair and no hat.

On the right side of his trousers there was "blood or red paint," police said they had been informed.

CHICAGO, May 4 (AP)—A police squad car raced across the loop Tuesday night, headed for the city's financial district.

There was no bomb. But, Sgt. Harold Enright reported, there was a man asleep on a newstand. Police gave him the bum's rush.

Dow Chemical stood out again with a rise of around a point on top of yesterday's advance of 1¾ following news of a boosted dividend.

Hearing Starts On Riley-Howard Case

Opening pleas in the case of B. C. Riley against the heirs and estate of J. L. Howard were heard by Judge Joseph B. Dooley in federal court this morning.

Riley, now living in Oklahoma City, seeks to recover all or part of the proceeds of an estate left by his mother, who died in 1901. Riley alleges that when his mother died he will called for the equal division of her properties between him and his step-father. As executor of the estate, Howard was to have rendered an accounting to Riley. Riley claims no such accounting was given.

The estate left by Mrs. Sally M. Howard in Montague county consisted of several hundred acres of land in Texas, approximately 1,200 head of cattle and about $40,000 in cash and bonds.

Howard Dies In Cyclone

Howard was killed by a cyclone in 1946 and left his portion of Sally Howard's estate to his children who are now defendants in the suit.

The hearing on the suit of the Union Supply Co., against the Levelland State bank was set for May 31. The court dismissed the First National bank of Levelland and the Levelland Country club as defendants in the suit.

The $10,000 damage suit brought by Clyde Brown, Levelland, against the Continental Bus System because of the death of his son in a highway collision was set for May 9. On that date the Northern District of Texas Federal Court also will hear 12 other civil cases.

Forces To Remain

Although the western powers are switching from military to civilian control, occupation forces will remain in Germany indefinitely for policing and general security reasons. The White House announced that Lieut. Gen. Clarence R. Huebner, Clay's military deputy, and Maj. Gen. George P. Hays, Clay's military government deputy, will carry on their respective tasks pending the appointment of high commissioner.

The high commissioner will take over the government responsibilities which Clay has exercised and apparently the President will have to name a military man as commander for American forces in Europe. There has been speculation that this job might go either to Gen. Mark W. Clark or Lieut. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer.

McCloy has been under consideration by Mr. Truman and Secretary of State Acheson as Clay's successor for several weeks. McCloy discussed the assignment with Acheson in a conference at the State department Friday but associates said today that he had not yet decided to accept.

Another Chance Possible

Today's vote salvaged another chance some time in the future.

Rep. Priest (D-Tenn), the Democratic "whip" or assistant leader, had the job of rounding up the needed votes for the over-night shift.

Before the ballot, even he appeared to be uncertain whether the administration could win. Priest would say only that there appeared to be a "fair chance."

Magician Is Feature Of "Children's Day" Rotary Club Program

The Rotary Club today featured a program of magic and legerdemain to entertain members and their "Children's Day" guests.

The magician was Lewis Zafran, regional traffic and sales manager of Pioneer Air Lines, Ft. Worth. As he performed his acts more than a score of small fry guests, sons and daughters of Rotarians, gathered around him. Two preschool age boys volunteered to help in one magic trick.

Magic Is Hobby

Zafran took up magic as a hobby when he was a youth. During the war he displayed his talents in many parts of the world. In his present position with the airline Zafran has entertained clubs, schools and groups in nearly every city served by his company.

Zafran makes his home in Fort Worth where he is a member of the Fort Worth Magicians and the International Brotherhood of Magicians.

Students Are Introduced

Bill Tranfield, Texas Tech, was introduced as the junior Rotarian from the college and Jack McCabe was named the junior Rotarian from the high school. One new member, T. A. Rogers, Lubbock Machine company, was presented to the club.

An announcement was made of the district conference of Rotary International now in progress at Plainview.

Visiting Rotarians today included, Carl Franz, Amarillo; Ed Hearne, Little Rock, Arkansas; Crates Snyder, Spur; Sam Hord, Fort Worth; Jim Barrow, Spur, and Harley Sadler, Abilene. Sadler was given a small gift for working so hard to maintain absentee attendance.

Mrs. Parker, a resident of Amarillo who had been visiting here had been in ill health for the last few years, and had suffered a stroke two weeks ago.

Funeral arrangements are pending arrival of relatives, Rix Funeral home reported.

Survivors include Mrs. White and seven other daughters, Mrs. Bernice Glaze of Long Beach, Calif., Mrs. R. B. Nutt and Mrs. F. Q. Kelleam, both of Amarillo, Mrs. J. A. Bresnahan of Washington, D. Sherman Woman Is Death Victim Here

Mrs. J. P. Grady, 78, of Sherman, died at about 8 a. m. today in the home of a daughter, Mrs. Porter Owens of 1623 Seventh.

Mrs. Grady had been in ill health since January, when she was injured in a fall.

She had lived here the last two months, after her home in Sherman was destroyed by fire March 4.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed, Sanders Funeral home reported, but services probably will be held Friday morning in Key Memorial Methodist church of Sherman.

John C. Daniel Funeral home of Sherman will direct burial in West Hill cemetery of that city.

Mrs. Grady was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Samuel William Ramsey, pioneer Dallas county settlers. Her family moved to Grayson county when she was a girl, and she married J. P. Grady on Oct. 7, 1879. Mr. Grady died Sept. 18, 1938.

Other survivors include a daughter, Mrs. Raymond Owens of Sherman; three sons, S. H. Grady of Arlington and James R. and Hugh N. Grady, both of Sherman; and two grandchildren whom Mrs. Grady helped rear, Sgt. Thomas P. Hocker, of Sherman and Mrs. Robert L. Ziegner of San Antonio.

Members also voted to extend the term of all local club officers from six to 12 months. In the future, officers will serve from July 1 to July 1.

Dr. M. H. Benson spoke briefly on behalf of the current city Cleanup, Paintup, Fixup campaign. He was introduced by Dr. Lee Hale.

One new member, Max Rutledge, was introduced.

City Rigs Pipeline To Give Tech Water

Six-inch pipe to connect a city water main with the Texas Technological college distribution system was being laid this afternoon and should relieve a sudden water shortage on the campus before dark, City Manager Steve Matthews said.

Tech has had its own water supply, obtained from its own wells, since the college was founded. The unexpected shortage late Tuesday was attributed to a pump failure on the largest of three wells now serving the campus.

However, a 16-inch city main crosses the campus within about 150 feet of the overhead storage tank which regulates pressure at the college. The work approved by the city involves a connection between the large main and the pipe to the tank.

Members of the city commission, polled by telephone, unanimously approved the emergency relief measure.

defense, and to frighten private capital and initiative so that it will not operate freely." He added:

"Soviet Russia is a past master at this type of warfare; she wages war on all fronts simultaneously, and at relatively small cost to herself.

Cost Is Enormous

"The cost to the Democracies, on the other hand, is enormous."

So far, he said, the Soviet effort to undermine the Democracies appears to be succeeding. The only solution, Clayton declared, is to use the pact as the basis for a federal union of Democracies, which would muster such strength Russia "would not dare attack" it.

As things stand now, the former government official told the lawmakers, we have won the battle of Berlin because that was a problem in transportation, a field in which we excel."

But he said the West has not won the battle of Greece, has "practically lost the battle of China," and has yet to fight the battle of the Middle East.

War Still Raging

"And," he added, "we have not yet won the battle of western Europe. The cold war is still raging there."

Clayton's appraisal was gloomy in comparison with recent sumups of officials now in the government.

The European recovery program is doing "well indeed," Clayton said, but the job of setting Europe on its feet must eventually be borne by private enterprise — and private enterprise is afraid to operate in Europe because it lacks confidence in European currencies.

"Even with ECA," he said, "Europe will not be in balance with the rest of the world by 1952, nor in all probability by 1962, unless the Democracies radically alter their present course.

Russia Is Winning

"Because, on balance, Russia is winning the cold war. The Democracies are on the defensive. Wars are not won that way."

He said the "Atlantic treaty is a necessary step, but, make no mistake about it, the cold war will go on with perhaps greater vigor than heretofore."

However, he added, if a federal union were formed, it would "take the offensive in the cold war in every country in Europe. And we would win that war."

Bell Rings For First Round In W. C. Fields Paternity Hearing

LOS ANGELES, May 4. (AP)—An involved court battle over the late W. C. Field's estate is under way with an alleged illegitimate son taking over the first round.

Attorneys for William Rexford Fields Morris, 31, Dallas airlines employe, set forth his claim to one third of the $771,429 estate Tuesday. They read into the record an 80-page deposition taken from Mrs. Rose Holden of Passaic, N. J., who reared Morris from infancy.

Morris was expected to take the witness stand today.

Most of the litigants were on hand as Superior Judge William R. McKay opened the hearing on the many-angled contest of the comedian's will. From the way it started, the court fight could last weeks.

The cast of contending characters:

Wife Also In Fight

Morris, who claims to be the son of Fields and Bessie Poole, Ziegfeld dancer, and vaudeville partner of the comic.

Fields' estranged widow, Harriet, who was left $10,000 but claims nearly $400,000 under California property law.

Her son, W. Claude Fields, jr., an attorney, who also was willed only $10,000.

Carlotta Monti, dancer and one-time nurse to Fields, who was bequeathed $100,000.

Walter Fields, brother, left about $125,000.

Fields left a large portion of his estate to an orphanage fund and lesser beneficiaries.

Backs His Claim

Miss Monti has said she will back Morris' claim. Both the widow and her son are fighting recognition of Morris as a legal heir. Mrs. Magda Michael, Fields' former secretary and executor of the estate, has taken a neutral stand. The brother and sister have not indicated their position.

The attorneys were banked two-deep around counsel tables as Mrs. Holden's deposition became court record. The lawyers agreed that the first step in the case is to decide the validity of Morris' claim.

Louis Thomsen, Morris' lawyer, told the court that the evidence would show that "Morris was the name used by Miss Poole to record the birth." He said that Fields had "acknowledged in writing that Morris is his son and therefore entitled to one-third of the estate."

Entered as evidence were some 25 letters which Mrs. Holden said she had received from Fields, including checks for the boy's support from 1928 until 1936. The death certificate of Elizabeth, Poole, dated Oct. 8, 1928, in New York City, also was entered.

Mrs. Holden's deposition further said.

Morris was brought up as her boy and knew Fields and Miss Poole only as "Uncle Bill" and Aunt Bessie." Even after he was told at the age of 17 who his parents were, he continued to call Mrs. Holden "mother."

Although Fields had agreed to pay $50 monthly for the boy's support, he was sometimes three to five months behind. Mrs. Holden had to pay most of the medical expenses for the boy, who was sickly.

She threatened Fields with publicity if he didn't pay the bills, but never sued "because I didn't want to hurt the child."

Got Settlement

In 1927, Bessie Poole came back from California and said she got a settlement from Fields, payable monthly, but that she had to sign away the boy's birthright.

"It don't amount to anything much," Mrs. Holden quoted the showgirl. "You could always fight for him if anything happened."

Now, the asserted foster mother said, "I'm only helping the boy out because he's been treated so unfairly."

After Mrs. Holden's statement, attorneys began reading another deposition supporting Morris' claim. This one was taken from Mrs. Bessie Witherell on Onset, Mass., mother of Bessie Poole.

Floyd County Co-Op Is Given REA Loan

FLOYDADA, May 4 (Special)—Electric co-op was granted Tuesday in Washington, L. W. Chapman of the REA office here announced.

The loan, according to United Press reports, is one of a group totaling $2,910,000 for expansion of electric service in rural areas of six states.

The Floyd county co-op loan, Chapman said, will be used to build two new sub-stations, and to replace many one-phase lines, which may be used for domestic purposes only, with three-phase lines which are required for the heavier loads imposed by irrigation pumps.

One sub-station is to be in the Finney Switch area, and another to be in Snyder community, wever the exact locations of the stations have not been determined, Chapman said.

The Floyd county co-op loan, Chapman said, will be used to build two new sub-stations, and to replace many one-phase lines, which may be used for domestic purposes only, with three-phase lines which are required for the heavier loads imposed by irrigation pumps.

New line construction totaling 258 miles and giving domestic service to over 300 additional members will start Monday, Chapman indicated. Work will be done in Floyd county and all the adjacent counties. However, today's loan is not concerned with that project.

State Contest Won By Lubbock Student

Kara Sam Dunn, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Sam G. Dunn of Levelland road, has been named winner of the 1949 Texas Junior Classical League essay contest, held in Waco last Saturday.

The essay was of research on "The Bases of Roman Glory," and all Latin students in Lubbock Senior High school wrote research essays. The best essays were selected by Mrs. Novelle Newsom, Latin teacher in Lubbock High school. Miss Dorothy Lomax, director of secondary education, chose Miss Dunn's as the winning essay in the group. It then was submitted to the state contest.

Latin clubs in Texas whose members comprise the Junior Classical League sent delegates to the Waco meeting and submitted essays and scrapbooks for judging. Delegates from Lubbock included Jean Smith, Theola Leonard, and Bobbie June Mitchell.

Miss Mitchell won first place in the essay contest last year.

The scrapbook of Gens Togata, Latin club of Lubbock High school won third place in the scrapbook contest. The book was dedicated to Mrs. Newsom. Marion Gill was art editor.

At the Waco meeting, Miss Mitchell served on the committee which voted for state officers. Miss Leonard gave a report on the local club's activities during the past school year.

Greek Truce To Be Sought

PRAGUE Czechoslovakia, May 4. (AP)—Miltiades Porphyrogenis, a Greek Communist leader, said today he has asked the United Nations to negotiate peace in the Greek civil war.

Porphyrogenis, minister of justice in the rebel cabinet, said he has written to Herbert V. Evatt, president of the United Nations assembly, proposing negotiation and U. N.-supervised general election in Greece after the end of strife.

The Greek government repeatedly has declared the only terms it will consider from the rebels are unconditional surrender.

Propaganda Gesture

(A dispatch from Athens reported Greek government sources called Porphyrogenis' action a propaganda gesture, and said the government still insists the rebels lay down arms.)

Porphyrogenis asserted Gen. Markos Vafiades, deposed rebel leader, is a "broken man" in a rebel-controlled hospital.

"Fighting is hard," Porphyrogenis said. "Markos is in bad shape."

The rebels announced last winter that Markos no longer was their leader, but did not disclose what had happened to him. There has been much speculation in the west that he was slain because of reverses his followers had suffered, or had been imprisoned by them.)

Japan'e canning industry is reported back to 50 per cent of the 1939 level.

Reds Want U. S. To Put Soviet Satellites Back On Their Feet

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press Foreign Affairs Analyst

The Soviet proposal for ending the Berlin blockade continues to present a complicated study of wheels within wheels.

The latest slant on the problem shows Moscow anxious to shelve the cold war for the purpose of easing the economic barriers between eastern and western Europe, besides ending the Berlin blockade. Why? Well, an authoritative American source in Berlin puts it like this:

"Eastern Europe is starved for manufactured goods which Russia cannot supply. Having made concessions in Germany the next step (for Russia) is to make others relieve the plight of her satellites."

In support of this thesis we see little Czechoslovakia send a delegation to Washington to ask for aid from the capitalists whom Communists damns so heartily. She wants credits of at least $50,000,000 and easement of the export controls on U. S. shipments to this once thriving state which now lies behind the Iron Curtain.

Dr. Hugo Skala, a member of the four-man Czech delevation to Washington, reports that Czechoslovakia is threatened with an early economic crisis. The doctor, a former top official in the Prague finance ministry, quit the delegation as soon as he reached America and asked the State department for asylum as a political refugee.

Edward E. Bomar, one of the A. P. Diplomatic experts in Washington, reports that the request for aid from the Communist-run Prague government seems destined for a final, flat "no."

That's strong mustard for Uncle Sam to have to hand a former friend.

Wilson A God-Father

The late President Woodrow Wilson had so much to do with the establishment of the Czechoslovakian republic after World War I that he might well be called its God-father. Relations between the two nations were close until the Iron Curtain descended.

Czechoslovakia has tumbled from pre-war prosperity to its present tough position. Early this year the Communist government put into effect the full red nationalization program under which all foreign trade is controlled by the state.

A chaotic condition developed, and Dr. Skala told the Overseas Writers club in Washington that the government's foreign exchange resources have dropped from about $400,000,000 to some $28,000,000. He predicted that the situation would become serious unless the country gets help soon.

U. S. Won't Weaken

So the Moscow controlled Prague government sends its envoys to Washington to ask for help. The significance of America's attitude is clear enough. She has no intention of weakening her position, or that of her allies, by strengthening a Communist bloc which is making war on all non-Communist countries.

Indications are that the answer "No" will apply not only to Czechoslovakia but to other Communist satellies. Yugoslavia, which is at loggerheads with Moscow, apparently is no longer regarded as in the same category. Diplomatic authorities in Washington state that the export-import bank is giving active consideration to a plea from Belgrade for a $50,000,000 credit.

Argentina Army leaders are complaining that "Evita" Peron, the President's wife, wields too much influence in the Government.

Hearing Scheduled On Plan To Change Names Of Streets

Session To Be Held Tuesday

A public hearing on a proposal to change the names of many Lubbock streets will be held in the city hall council chamber at 2 p. m. next Tuesday City Manager Steve Matthews announced late yesterday.

Members of the city commission said everyone desiring to appear for or against the proposed changes will be given opportunity to be heard at the meeting.

If the attendance overflows the relatively small council chamber on the second floor of the city hall, the hearing will be transferred to the auditorium of the adjoining American Legion home, Mayor W. H. Rodgers said.

System Explained

The name changing plan to be considered is one recommended by the city planning commission headed by K. N. Clapp, after extensive study by a special committee composed of J. D. Hassell, Chas. A. Guy and Dr. J. T. Krueger, members, and former City Manager M. R. Smith.

Broadly, the system proposed follows:

Alphabet streets (Avenues A, B, C, etc.) and numeral streets (First, Second, Third, etc.) would remain unchanged.

Numerous short streets which occur between numeral streets would be given "½" designations. For example, Ellwood street, which lies between Twenty second and Twenty-third streets would become "22½ street.

Names Of Cities Used

Main and Broadway, which lie between Tenth and Thirteenth streets, would retain their present names. So, also, would Texas and College avenues.

Avenues west of College avenue and now named for former Presidents would be re-named in alphabetical order for cities east of the Mississippi river. Members of the committee said they would have preferred cities west of the Mississippi, but there aren't enough of them.

Streets north of First street, now bearing an assortment of names, would be re-named alphabeucally for colleges.

LIST OF "FIRSTS" IN THIS AREA PROVES INTERESTING

Historical Diary Of Lubbock County Is Kept By C. E. Hunt

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Beginning Thursday, excerpts from the "Historical Diary of Lubbock County," written by Clifford E. Hunt, will be published in the Evening Journal. Today's story gives some background of the pioneer George M. Hunt family which came to the South Plains in 1885. A Lubbock school was named for George M. Hunt, father of the author of the historical diary).

By OPAL DIXON
Journal Staff Writer

A list of "firsts" which encompass many of the early day happenings in Lubbock county has been compiled in over a period of many years by Clifford E. Hunt, who has lived in the county since before the town of Lubbock was moved to its present site.

The author of the historical diary of the county began writing down dates and facts as early as 1900. He began keeping a diary intermittently at that time. He has kept a diary regularly since 1931.

Subject Of Thesis

He has spent numerous hours going through newspaper files to gain data and dates.

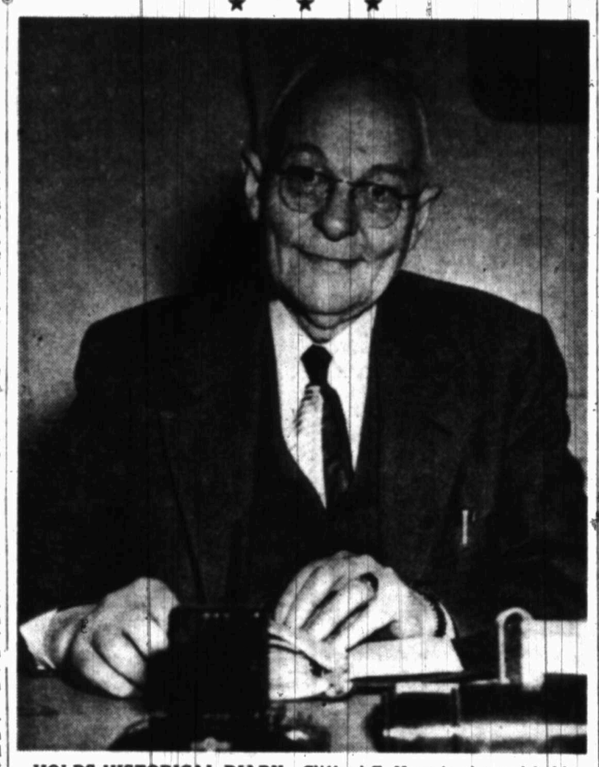

Hunt is the subject of a thesis, "Clifford E. Hunt (1886—): West Texan," written by Frank Hayne, who conferred with Hunt at intervals for about six months before writing the thesis prior to receiving his master's degree from Texas Technological college. Mrs. C. H. Dalton has conferred with Hunt and other persons for early day information for a research paper on history of the First Methodist church in connection with graduate work at Texas Tech.

Hunt has supplied identification for some of the pictures in West Texas museum. Clubs and individuals have called on him at various times for information.

He frequently has the information at his fingertips in a little black notebook he has filled with facts which he will vouch for. He has numerous other notes which have not yet gone into the notebook for the reason that he cannot yet vouch for their authenticity. He still has considerable research to do, he said.

Why does he do it? "Just for my personal interest," he said. "A whole lot of this is more or less personal and not of interest to the public," he added.

A fact he did not add, however, is that his family's personal history is interwoven with the history of Lubbock.

The facts given in Clifford E. Hunt's "Historical Diary of Lubbock" are those pertaining to the organization of Lubbock county; to the first postmaster, the first barber, the first doctor, the first lawyers and many other personalities who were the first in their field in the pioneer settlement; the first marriage license, issued to a sister of Hunt, Sylva B. Hunt, and Frank E. Wheelock; to the first bank and the first cotton gin and other early day establishments; to the first cotton grown in the county which since has moved to first place in the state in cotton ginning, and to other facts of history.

The George M. Hunt family moved to North Town, or Lubbock, which was located approxi-

Proposed Dam Site Studied

The advantages of Tascosa over Sanford as a site for a proposed Canadian river dam was urged by a delegation from Hereford which conferred with a Lubbock group at the city hall here Tuesday afternoon.

O. P. Cowart, Hereford Chamber of Commerce manager and spokesman for the visitors, said frankly they came to Lubbock in an effort to enlist support for the Tascosa site over the Sanford site which, he added, appears to have the backing of Amarillo interests.

"Amarillo pats us on the back but wouldn't hesitate to cut our throats," he commented. "Lubbock alwa has treated us fairly. That's why we have come to Lubbock, instead of going to Amarillo, to seek help."

Group Reserves Opinion

Accompanying Cowart here were Troy Moore, county commissioner; R. L. Thompson, Deaf Smith county clerk; Wayne Evans, past president of the Hereford Chamber, and Guy Lawrence, a director of the organization.

Conferring with them at the meeting arranged here at their request by the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce were Homer D. Grant, chamber manager; Mayor W. H. Rodgers; City Manager Steve Matthews, and Ruel Martin, chairman, and Joe Nislar and Harry N. Roberts, members, of the Lubbock Water Resources board.

The local group did not commit itself as being in favor of a dam at any particular site. But Grant and Davis did put the Hereford representatives in touch with U.S. Reclamation service authorities to whom they will present their arguments in favor of the Tascosa site.

Survey Nears Completion

The conference here pertains to a survey now nearing completion by the Reclamation service which will seek to determine whether a dam and reservoir on the Canadian would be financially feasible as a source of water supply for many South Plains and Panhandle communities.

Most frequently mentioned as the sites for the dam, if built, are Sanford, which is about 40 miles northeast of Amarillo, and Tascosa, which is about the same distance northwest of that city. Tascosa is about 40 miles as the crow flies upstream from Sanford. The points are about 60 miles apart following the meanderings of the river.

Hereford is about 50 miles almost due south of Tascosa.

One of the reasons for the Hereford interest in that site, Cowart

THE QUESTION

Are you for or against rent decontrol in Lubbock? Why?

THE ANSWERS

OSCAR TAYLOR, North Ave. H, 99th district court reporter: "I was against it until I bought a house and now I'm for it, because I think it will run the price of my home up. Everybody around here would run their rent up, until people would have to buy houses."

ALVIN GRIFFIN, 1613 Ave. Y, agent for State Reserve Life Insurance Co: "I'm against it, definitely, because there are too many people here for the houses available. I believe rent control has its place here, just like stop lights."

W. M. CHEANEY, 2117 Fifteenth, owner of rental property: "I hope we knock rent control out. There's too much government control in business. I don't think the government ought to control the property owner. If they're going to control one, they ought to control everything to be fair, but that wouldn't be a good idea."

GEORGE B. JONES, 206 Forty - fourth, constable: "I don't think it should be removed. It would allow lots of them to take advantage of the poor renter. Lots of them are getting more than the place deserves now."

M. L. BAKER, JR., 2415 Eighth, owner of Baker's Jewelry: "I'd be against taking controls off, I believe, because if they do remove rent control it will hurt the working class of people who are having to rent and I believe rent is high enough as it is."

J. B. FORTENBERRY, 2216 Twenty - second driver for Sunset Motor lines: "I'm for it, because I believe a man has a right to rent his house as he wants to. That's what I think about it"

Men Save 4 Persons In San Antonio Fire

SAN ANTONIO, May 4. (U.P.)—Two men today were credited with saving four persons from a flaming death.

Ralph de la Garza rushed into a burning house on the rear of his lot and rescued three children Thursday. Patrolman F. A. Toudouze, who arrived at the scene a few minutes later, went into the house and dragged out the children's father, Joe Gonzales.

Firemen said a kerosene stove exploded, setting off the blaze that destroyed the house.

Rough Handling Is Given Labor Party

LONDON, May 4. (AP)—The labor party got some rough treatment from the voters in yesterday's municipal elections in Scotland.

The returns—viewed as another possible barometer of what may happen in the general elections next year—showed laborites with a net loss of 43 seats to the progressive, moderates and some other local parties. No Communists were elected.

The elections chose the councils of 195 Scottish burghs. The small burgs correspond to American townsships, the large ones to metropolitan counties.

The nearly complete returns showed labor lost 72 seats, while winning 29 new ones. Its worst reverse was in Edinburg, where labor's council representation was cut from 27 to 16 seats, the smallest in 25 years, while the Progressive party's rose from 41 seats to 52.

Interest High In Beer Vote

(Special To The Journal)

CROSBYTON, May 4 — With only three days remaining in which to campaign against the proposed legalized sale of four per cent beer in Crosby county, dry forces, combined with the United Drys of Crosby county, are expected to step up their efforts to defeat the proposal.

A county-wide vote on the proposal has been called for Saturday.

Interest is running high in the election, and some 1,800 votes are expected to be cast by county voters, officials believe. The county has a voting potential of slightly more than 2,000. A close contest is indicated, observers on the scene say.

Lewis Benton, Crosby county clerk, said Tuesday afternoon that a total of 67 absentee ballots had been received at his office. Tuesday was the last day for absentee voting, Benton said.

Interest in the election is widespread throughout the South Plains. Should the county go wet, it would be the only such spot between Amarillo and Big Spring and Hobbs and Wichita Falls.

The expected large vote Saturday will climax several weeks of struggle between the wet and dry factions in Crosby county. The more highly organized of the two opposing groups is the dry faction, especially since the organization of the United Drys of Crosby County about two weeks ago.

Headed by Rev. Carl Grissom, pastor of First Baptist church of Crosbyton, the United Drys held its organizational meeting in Ralls April 19 to fight the proposed legalization of four per cent beer in the county. Some 75 persons attended. Pastors from the majority of the county's churches were present.

Actual administration of the United Dry campaign is being handled by Rev. Roy Clayton, pastor of the Baptist church of Roaring Springs, Dickens county, who was until recently a worker for the United Texas Drys.

The group set up a budget of approximately $640 to finance their campaign. Other leaders of the United Drys of Crosby County include M. K. King, Ralls, secretary; Roy Terrell, Lorenzo, treasurer; Bill Jones, Ralls, general chairman for men; Mrs. H. C. Pearson, Lorenzo, general chairman for women; Raymond Tanner, Lorenzo, general chairman for youth.

Town chairmen and church chairmen for each group are being appointed in the various communities and churches. Concerted action in the form of frequent meetings all over the county ap-

Czech Exile Says Russia Now Stepping Up Uranium Mining

LAKE SUCCESS, May 4. (AP)—A Czechoslovak political exile said today he has received secret information from home that Russia is stepping up operations at the Jachymov uranium mine.

The Jachymov mine, on the Czechslovak-German border, is the biggest source of uranium ore so far turned up in Europe. Uranium is one of the principal sources for atomic energy.

Resigned As Delegate

The Czechoslovak is Dr. Jan Papanek, who resigned as delegate to the United Nations after the Communist coup in Feb. 1948, and has since become a secretary of the newly-formed council of free Czechoslovakia. He is a member of the United Nations administrative and budgetary committee, whose members are elected as individuals and not as government representatives.

Papanek said his information was of recent date. It was that the Russians have opened 20 new holes in the Jachymov area. He said some of the holes are on the German side of the border.

Papanek said the Russians also constructed tunnels through which they are taking much of the uranium mined in Czechoslovakia to the surface in Germany, where the Russians have complete control of it.

Supposed To Pay

The Russians are supposed to pay Czechoslovakia for uranium ore taken out in Czechoslovakia. Also, when it is brought up in Czechoslovakia, the Russians do not have the firm control of it they have in Germany, he added.

Papanek said the tunnels were constructed by young Germans who have been indoctrinated with Communism. He said they were paid a good price for their work and as far as he knew no so-called "slave labor" was used in the new operations.

Papanek said the Communists have taken extraordinary precautions for the ninth congress of the Communist party of Czechoslovakia. He said they have taken unusual means to be sure the members of the Congress will be unanimously behind the party leadership.

Papanek said 300 persons were jailed in Prague in the latter part of March. He said that 60,000 persons have been arrested since the Communist coup of 1948.

Beery 'Held Her In Bondage By Professing Love,' Woman Says

LOS ANGELES, May 4. (AP) — Wallace Beery "held her in bondage" by repeatedly professing love for her, Mrs. Gloria Schumm, 34, charges in a suit seeking $104,135 from his estate to support a son she claims is Beery's.

The petition, filed Tuesday asserts that the late actor promised to marry the film bit player when she became pregnant and before she remarried her divorced husband, Hans Schumm. She claims Beery exercised "undue influence" on her since she was 13.

Mrs. Schumm, initiated a paternity suit shortly before Beery's death April 15 and said later she rejected an offer to settle for $20,000.

In his will disposing of an estate estimated at up to $2,000,000, Beery denied paternity of the child and specified that under no circumstances was it to inherit any part of the estate.

The child, named Johan, now is 14 months old.

Under the will, Beery's estate goes in equal shares of his adopted daughter, Carol Ann, 18; his brother, Will, and his nephew, Noah Beery, jr.

Babich Faces Hearing Today

MILWAUKEE, May 4 (AP) — Milton Babich's unsigned statement to Dis. Atty. William McCauley drew top interest as the 19-year-old youth faced preliminary hearing today (2 p. m. CST) before District Judge Harvey Neelen on a charge of first degree murder.

Babich is accused of slaying Patricia Birmingham, 16-year-old sister of his wife. McCauley has said Babich made a statement relating that Patricia was shot fatally Feb. 10 during a struggle for a revolver.

McCauley quoted Babich as saying he purchased the weapon in order to frighten Patricia into remaining silent about Kathleen's pregnancy.

Chief defense counsel Arthur Richter has declared he will try to prevent the statement from being admitted into evidence today.

Denies Mistreatment

He said the action would be based upon a contention the statement was obtained by mental coercion."

McCauley denied that Babich had been mistreated.

Richter said that without the statement in evidence the first degree murder count will fall flat" and his client will not be bound over for trial.

Richter also said he might call McCauley as a defense witness and the result would be to remove McCauley as state prosecutor in the case.

Patricia disappeared Feb. 10 while on her way home from high school. Her weighted body, with two bullets in the head, was recovered from the Milwaukee river March 20. Two days before that, Babich and Kathleen eloped to Kalamazoo, Mich., and were married.

Brazil may have a 30,000 ton Brazil-nut crop this season, twice that of 1947-48.

Truman May Take Labor Law Case Direct To The People

BY JACK BELL
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, May 4—The stunning house defeat of administration efforts to repeal the Taft-Hartley labor law raised the possibility today that President Truman might carry his case direct to the people.

Mr. Truman's assertion last week that a vote on this issue would be regarded by him as a test of party loyalty backfired with a 217 to 203 House vote Tuesday approving the Republican-backed Wood labor bill.

For the President, this roll call vote represented a major political defeat on his campaign promise to wipe off the books the Taft-Hartley act passed by the Republican 80th congress. This was true even though the Wood bill was still subject to final House action. Rep. Priest (D-Tenn) saw a "fair chance" the House would send the bill back to its labor committee. However, that would leave the House with no T-H repealer before it at all.

Represents Break

For the 71 Democrats who voted with 146 Republicans for the Wood bill it represented a break with the President which may easily be reflected in opposition to other measures on his program. The coalition thus triumphed in the biggest political test yet in the 81st congress.

This raised the immediate question on Capitol Hill whether the president might return to his February frame of mind—when he spoke openly of touring the country if congress failed to act on his proposals.

Commenting on this speculation, Senator Pepper (D-Fla) said there would be "time enough next year" for the president to tour the country if other votes go against his program.

Another important part of that program—the administration plan for a new farm aid system—is not making much headway in congress.

Talks With Editors

Mr. Truman discussed farm matters with a group of agricultural editors Tuesday. They said afterward that he discussed his farm speeches of last year's campaign and quoted him as commenting:

"The farmers apparently realized which side of their bread was buttered. I'm sure they will continue to realize that."

(This quote was not included in the White House transcript of Mr. Truman's remarks to the editors.)

Mr. Truman clearly indicated at his news conference last week that Democrats who don't support the party platform can't expect to share in party patronage. That marked the first open break in the be-kind-to-congress campaign he had carried on since he returned from a Florida vacation March 19.

Only Tuesday, William M. Boyle, jr., executive director of the Democratic national committee, tried to modify the patronage edict with a statement that it is "not a hard and fast rule."

Comes Too Late

But Boyle's statement, made after a White House visit, came too late to have much effect on the turbulent House, where leaders privately blamed the president's patronage stand for the loss of some votes.

The administration's defeat there was made more bitter by the fact that its leaders had tried for a last-minute compromise after having held out for weeks for a bill which would wipe out almost all of the Taft-Hartley act.

Sponsored by Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex), the compromise measure represented a last-ditch effort to kill some of the important Taft-Hartley provisions.

With a coalition of Republicans and Dixie Democrats in control, it was rejected, 211 to 183, without a roll call.

No Vote Seen

Rayburn, offering it as a middle-of-the-road bill, was careful to say that it was not cleared previously at the White House. But there seemed little doubt that Mr. Truman was in touch with what his legislative lieutenants were doing.

In Elizabeth, N. J., Senator Taft (R-Ohio) predicted that congress will approve the measure passed by the House—and that the president will then sign it. A veto, he pointed out, would only serve to leave the Taft-Hartley law in effect.

Tentative Schedule For Next Symphony Season Is Revealed

A meeting of the board of directors of the Lubbock Symphony Orchestra was held Monday night in the cafeteria of the Lubbock National bank.

A highlight of the meeting was a report from the guest artists committee, in which it was announced that Leonard Warren, Metropolitan opera baritone, will be guest artist for the first symphony concert next fall. Warren will be presented in concert with the orchestra on the nights of October 24 and 25.

Operetta Is Planned

The December concert will feature Robert Pipkin, concert master of the symphony orchestra, in a violin concerto, and his wife, Mary Anna Pipkin, in a Rachmaninoff piano concerto.

At the February concert, tentative plans call for the first half of the program to consist of orchestral selections, and the second half to be devoted to an operetta will have orchestral accompaniment, and will be composed of solo voices and a chorus. The operetta will not be presented in costume.

At the final concert of the season, in late April or early May, plans have been made for a two-piano team to appear with the symphony.

Budget Is Okayed

At the meeting, the budget for the forthcoming season was presented and accepted. Tentative plans for a financial drive also were formulated. Marion T. Key is finance chairman. Roy Bass, chairman of the board, was in charge of the directors' meeting.

Symphony officials also have announced the season's subscriptions will be accepted through the first concert next fall for renewal in each subscriber's present seating location. Prices will be the same as they were this year, with the exception of the two front rows in the center section of the high school auditorium, which will be $10 for adults and $5 for children.

Season subscriptions for the remainder of the auditorium will be $7.20 and $3.60. Ticket orders will be ready to be picked up at the door at the first concert next fall.

Renewals should be mailed to post office box 894, it was announced.

Half Million Left To Help Children

DALLAS, May 4 (AP) — The will of the late Tom B. Owens of Fort Worth has left more than half a million dollars to the Texas Scottish Rite hospital for crippled children.

Owens, an oil and cotton man, directed that the hospital receive half of his estate upon the death of his daughter, Mrs. Henry Buchanan of Fort Worth, who died last Monday.

WORKER-MINISTER IS CHARGED

Woman Discovered Chained To Bed, Dogs Guarding All Exits

YORK, Pa., May 4 (AP)—A chain plant worker has been charged with assault and battery after District Attorney Harld B. Rudisill said the man's sister-in-law was found chained to a bed.

Rudisill filed the charge Tuesday against William H. Gable, 58, who told authorities he holds a certificate as a minister of the gospel.

Chained To Bed

Sheriff Clyde F. Bentzel said he found 48-year-old Ellen Swemley chained to her bed in the Gable home. The woman, clad only in a two-piece under-garment, had blood marks on her face and neck, the sheriff said.

Bentzel said he went to the Gable home after neighbors complained. The woman had chains wrapped about her body and wrists and was fastened to the bed with a heavy rope as well, Bentzel said, while dogs were chained to the front and rear doors of the house.

The sheriff said Gable told him he secured his sister-in-law to the bed after she threatened his wife, Alverta, 38, with bodily harm. The two women are sisters.

Had Been Beaten

Ellen Swemley told him, Bentzel said, that Gable had beaten her and chained her to the bed Monday night after she was caught taking a piece of bread from the table. She insisted, Bentzel said, that she took the bread because she was hungry.

Bentzel said the woman—who was quoted as telling him she was chained in the cellar for four days last week without food—had been an inmate of the Pennhurst School for Defective Women for 30 years. She was released a year ago and spent six months in the York county home before going to live with the Gables, the sheriff said.

Beer Election

parently has strengthened the dry cause.

Other phases of the United Dry campaign include newspaper advertising, personal solicitation, direct mail appeals to the county's qualified voters, and distribution of handbills. The group plans a parade of young people on Friday.

The voting element of the county favoring the legalization of beer has remained unorganized, and no concentrated effort for legalization has been made by the wets as a group.

That the sale of beer within the county will be legalized Saturday is more than a remote possibility, however, as evidenced by a report from an Amarillo beer wholesaler that, to date, he has received more than 50 applications for beer franchises in Crosby county.

It must be remembered, in connection with this, that licenses for the sale of beer cannot be issued to any person who has not resided in the county for at least six months. Thus, it would appear that 50 or more Crosby county residents, all of whom are residents of at least six months time and are therefore not "drifters" who have come into the county in recent weeks on the strength of the possible legalization of beer, have already made plans in anticipation of a wet victory.

At the last beer election in Crosby county, held some nine years ago, the dry faction polled approximately 868 votes. Their strength has been estimated to be relatively the same today, whereas there are some 2,000 veterans and new residents in the county, many of whom are expected to favor the legal sale of beer.

Lubbock Diary

mately three miles northeast of the present location of Lubbock, in 1890. George H. Hunt managed the Nicolett hotel, which was later moved to the present site of Lubbock.

Members Of Family

Members of the family were Mr. and Mrs. George M. Hunt and three daughters, two of whom, Mrs. George Wolffarth and Mrs. W. A. Bacon, now live in Lubbock, and one of whom, Mrs. Frank E. Wheelock, has died, and three sons, Allie Hunt and Clifford E. Hunt, both of whom live here, and the late Irvin L. Hunt, who died in the influenza epidemic of 1919.

Even before 1890, the Hunts had lived in this section. In 1884, Mr. and Mrs. Hunt and children had arrived in Crosby county and had spent their first night there at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hank Smith. The next day, the family went on to Estacado, where George M. Hunt's first cousin, Dr. William Hunt, was a physician. George M. Hunt built a hotel at Estacado.

Bob Smith, now of Lubbock, was the first male baby born in Crosby county and Clifford E. Hunt, born in 1886, was the second male baby born in that county.

The new highway now known as Northwest Ave. Q would be named Clovis road and Northeast Ave. Q would be changed to Amarillo road.

The system would not require any changes in numbers of individual addresses. Places would retain the numbers they now have even if the street name should be changed.

Mayor Rodgers emphasized the hearing will be open to everyone and expressed the hope that many citizens will appear to participate in the discussions.

Dam Site

acknowledged, is a projected major highway from Dalhart through Tascosa, Hereford and Littlefield into Lubbock.

"The highway would cause a good deal of travel to by-pass Amarillo and come to Lubbock," Cowart remarked. "That may be one of the reasons why Amarillo seems to be so much in favor of the Sanford site."

Some of the arguments cited in favor of the Tascosa site were persuasive. They pointed out that the altitude of the Canadian riverbed at Tascosa is about 173 feet higher than at Sanford. That could mean a huge saving in pumping costs to get water from a reservoir to points south.

Gypsum Deposits Reported

They referred also to insistent reports that huge formations of gypsum are cut by the Canadian between Tascosa and Sanford. Interested Lubbock officials already were aware of these reports. If correct, they could mean that water impounded at Tascosa might be much better in taste and quality than any stored at Sanford.

Mayor Rodgers has one opinion from a highly authoritative private source that water impounded at Sanford would be unfit for human use. The same opinion, however, held somewhat the same view of water stored at Tascosa. But he said the Tascosa water probably would be the better of the two.

Personal Interest Secondary

Cowart repeatedly emphasized that the Hereford citizenship is more interested in getting a dam built than in its location, if it would help to solve the long range water problem of the High and South Plains. But it is their conclusion, aside from the community's personal interests, that Tascosa would be the more practical site, he said.

Grant and other Lubbock participants in the conference pointed out that this city's and area's first interests are in a dam and reservoir which would guarantee abundant water of usable quality and price this and other communities can afford to pay. The site of the dam and reservoir are secondary considerations, they added.

"After all, if the dam is built, the reclamation service will decide the location," Davis remarked. "Officials of that service will put it where they think it should be. There's not much Lubbock could do about determining the location."

Cowart said a meeting with reclamation service officials contacted by Grant and Davis probably will be arranged at once.

The Venezuelan Government will make $3,000,000 available to develop its largest irrigation project, El Cenizo, on the Motatan River which flows into Lake Maracaibo.

IN HOLLYWOOD: BY ERSKINE JOHNSON

Career Worries Add Inches In Wrong Spots, Stars Find

HOLLYWOOD, May 4 (NEA)—Maybe I shouldn't even be mentioning it, but unemployment figures aren't the only ones Hollywood is worried about.

The "between pictures spread" is beginning to show up in the hips of the film colony's glamour girls.

Worry about careers has caused the greatest hip flare in Hollywood history.

I've noticed it, agents and producers are screaming about it, and lately Bernard Stauffer has been doing something about it. Movie dolls by the dozens who have been on the shelf for several months have been coming to Bernard's swank reducing salons to have themselves slimmed down.

Bulges are being put back into curve formation so the ladies will be in shape the day the camera's grinding replaces their agents' groaning.

"It's a natural reaction," Stauffer said. "Worry weighs as heavily on the scales as on the mind. When you're worried, you eat more and drink more to take your mind off your troubles. That's when a girl's hips begin to show."

Some Fans Disagree

Maybe some movie fans disagree. One wistful teenager who spied a movie queen entering a Stauffer salon said bitterly: "Gee—there's not enough of her to go around as is." But reporters who met Lana Turner and Rita Hayworth on their return from European jaunts discovered that more of the same just isn't as much fun.

Stauffer says Martha Vickers has one of the best figures in Hollywood (Mickey Rooney discovered it first). Stauffer put the wolf-whistle to words:

"She has everything where it should be—and nothing where space adds interest."

But statistically speaking, he said, Hollywood's glamour girls are on the average, about 10 pounds overweight.

Shorter Films

M-G-M is talking about a series of films which would run approximately one hour. They could be played, the studio figures, instead of shorts . . . Television sponsors are so scarce in Hollywood that one local station is offering, seriously, to erect a statue in the studio lobby of the first person cornering three sponsors

* * *

Rita Hayworth's ex-husband, Eddie Judson, is going places in Florida with Peggy Rabe, blonde heiress to a banking fortune . . . Here's the reason local glamor dolls have failed to impress Montgomery Clift. His big heart interest of five years standing is Anne Lincoln, a Broadway actress.

Sam Goldwyn is looking for a new title for "The Milwaukee Story" for obvious reasons. All the action takes place in Oregon.

Susan Peters, still paralyzed from the waist down as a result of that hunting accident, will star in "The Glass Menagerie" in summer stock at Norwich, Conn. She'll play the Julie Hayden role in a wheelchair.

* * *

Henry Fonda will remain with "Mister Roberts" for its Broadway duration and has taken a three-year lease on a home in Greenwich.

* * *

An agent was trying to sell producer Robert Welch on a new actress. "She's a great beauty," the agent enthused, "except we will have to be careful about close-ups—she has braces on her teeth."

"I know," said Welch. "I've seen her When she smiles she looks like the front end of a Buick."

Body Of Teacher Is Found In Bay

CORPUS CHRISTI, May 4. (AP)—The body of a school teacher, John Paul Kelly, has been found in Corpus Christi bay. Kelly's body was found late yesterday and the search will continue today for Mrs. Kelly.

The couple left Corpus Christi Sunday in a small fishing boat. Justice B. A. Carter returned a verdict of accidental drowning in the death of Kelly.

Laymen Say Pastor Used Church Money To Keep Mistress

LOS ANGELES, May 4. (AP)—Church laws demand the ouster of Dr. J. Whitcomb Brougher, jr., as pastor of Glendale's First Baptist church, a parishioner charges in an amended complaint accusing him of peccadillos with women. (The dictionary defines peccadillo as a light of trifling sin.)

The complaint was filed Tuesday in superior court by Edgar Maxwell, who noted in his suit that church rules demand exclusion of "every brother that walketh disorderly."

Had "Love Child'

The suit charges Dr. Brougher, 46, with kissing women members and maintaining a mistress and a "love child" on church funds.

Maxwell's previous suit was denied on the grounds that before a hearing on misconduct charges could proceed, church by-laws must be brought into court.

The amended action, brought on behalf of 500 church members against the minister and 79 trustees and deacons, quotes the Baptist church manual as follows:

"Offenses of an infamous or scandalous character must have peculiar treatment. The church must express its reprobation of them by an immediate act of expulsion."

TEXAS LADY LOSES 47 POUNDS

The following remarkable story shows conclusively that Barcentrate, DOES take off fat.

It contains nothing harmful. In fact, it contains ingredients that make you feel better. No starvation diet—no weakness—no hunger. Barcentrate, the original grapefruit juice recipe, takes off fat quickly, safely and you can eat plenty.

Here is proof

Here is what Mrs. H. P. Bishop, Route 2, Stamford, Texas, wrote us:

"I am very glad to endorse Barcentrate, so please accept my sincere thanks and appreciation for the great benefit I derived from its use. I not only lost weight, but also looked and felt better in every way.

"I had to have a very serious operation and was told that I must lose a lot of weight before the operation could be performed. I went on a diet and tried very hard to reduce, but wasn't losing much weight until I heard of Barcentrate. I began taking it and could soon tell the difference in the way I felt and the weight I was losing. I weighed 200 pounds when I started and I lost a total of 47 pounds and was able to undergo my operation. I can truthfully recommend it to others, since it did so much for me."

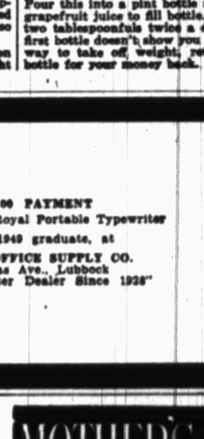

At all druggists

If you are overweight and want to take off ugly fat, just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of liquid Barcentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Then take just two tablespoonfuls twice a day. If the very first bottle doesn't show you the simple, safe way to take off weight, return the empty bottle for your money back.

Demos Speed Ticket Sale

Members of the local arrangements committee for the big $10-a-plate Democratic barbecue to be staged here Saturday are concerned about a lot of details regarding the barbecue.

"First thing we're worried about is whether or not we'll have enough local people at the barbecue," Wesley Read, co-chairman with Arch Underwood on the barbecue, said Tuesday. 'We have reports of such large delegations coming here from other places that we're afraid they're going to outnumber our local attendance."

Ticket Sales Pushed

Eighteen teams of Lubbock men went out Monday in an effort to boost local sales of tickets, but no report will be received on their progress until late today.

Delegations have already purchased tickets from as far away as Houston, Alice and Fort Worth. Midland and Odessa will send approximately 150 persons here for the barbecue, tickets for that number having already been paid for.

Floydada will also have a good delegation here, Homer Steen, editor of The Floydada Hesperian, reported. Hereford has made reservations for 14 persons.

Brannan To Speak

Abilene, Wichita Falls, Amarillo, Plainview and Snyder have made reservations for large groups.

Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan is coming here from Washington to make the principal talk at the barbecue.

Accompanying him will be six congressmen, five of them Texans, and several high government officials.

Geo. H. Mahon, congressman from the 19th district, Colorado City, is to introduce Secretary Brannan at the barbecue. Raymond Buck, Fort Worth attorney, will be master of ceremonies.

Others in the Brannan party will include: Congressmen Bob Poage, Waco and Gene Worley, Shamrock, members of the House Agriculture committee; Ed Gossett, Wichita Falls, member of the Judiciary committee; O. C. Fisher, San Angelo, member of the Appropriations committee; and Antonio E. Fernandez, Santa Fe, member of the Appropriations committee; Ralph S. Trigg, Washington, president of the Commodity Credit Corp., I. W. Duggan, governor of the Farm Credit administration; Harrington Wimberly, Altus, Okla., vice chairman of the Federal Power commission; and Wm. J. Neal, deputy administrator of the Rural Electrification administration.

Marvin Jones, chief justice of the U. C. court of claims, is also coming here and will attend the barbecue as well as extend his visit with a brother, Hub Jones, of Lubbock.

Brannan, Leaders Due To Leave For Texas Farm Meeting Friday

WASHINGTON, May 4 (AP)—A plane load of administration officials and congressmen will leave Friday for Texas to take part in farm and political gatherings.

Heading the group will be Secretary of Agriculture Charles Brannan, who will be principal speaker at a Jefferson Day barbecue and rally in Lubbock Saturday.

In Waco Friday

Scheduled to arrive in Waco about noon Friday, the visitors will go to McGregor, site of Texas A. and M. college experimental station at the old Bluebonnet Ordnance plant.

There Brannan is to address 200 farm leaders from all parts of the state on the federal agriculture research programs in Texas.

At 4 p. m. (CST) Brannan will speak in Waco hall at Baylor university.

A dinner in honor of the visitors will be held in Waco Friday night.

The next morning they will fly to Lubbock for the political rally.

Others in the party, which plans to fly back to Washington Sunday evening, will include:

Others Coming

Ralph Trigg, head of the production and marketing administration; Texas Reps. Poage, Mahon, Fisher, Gossett, Burleson and Worley, and New Mexico Reps. Fernandez and Miles, all Democrats; federal judges Marvin Jones and Luther A. Johnson, both former Texas congressmen now on the bench here; Lacey Sharp, secretary to Poage; William Neal, assistant rural electrification administrator Jack Cowart, P. M. and A. official, and vice-chairman Harrington Wimberly of the power commission.

Arch Underwood of Lubbock has been here several days lining up plans for the rally.

POLICE MOVE FAST

ROCK ISLAND, Ill. (U.P.)—Two Rock Island policemen found a stolen car five minutes before the owner discovered that it was missing. The officers found the car abandoned on a side street and had barely reported to the police station when Norman Geiken complained that it had been stolen.

Lubbock Physicians Speak At Meeting

SAN ANTONIO May 4 (Special)—Two Lubbock doctors were among speakers at today's sessions of the 82nd annual meeting of the state medical association.

Dr. Ben B. Hutchinson spoke on "Acute Iritis," giving a general review of acute inflammation of the iris. His talk given at the eye, ear, nose and throat section meeting, stressed the importance of early diagnosis and early institution of proper treatment. He also recounted numerous complications and summarized the local and general treatment.

Dr. A. G. Barsh spoke on "Primary Malignant Tumors of the Small Bowel" at the radiology and physical medicine section meeting.

He reported that although the incidence of primary malignancies of the small bowel is low, possibility of their occurrence should be kept in mind so that an early diagnosis can be made when malignancy exists.

Sailor Faces Slaying Count

KEY WEST, Fla., May 4. (INS)—An 18-year-old apprentice seaman, captured near Miami after a wild 170-mile ride in a commandeered cab, was returned to Key West today to face charges of shooting a petty officer to death.

John D. Hollingsworth, the sailor, surrendered meekly to Dade county patrolmen who set up a road block at Goulds, Fla., to halt his escape.

Caught Stealing Pistols

Key West authorities said Hollingsworth, of Asheville, N. C., killed 23-year-old Robert William Long, of Buckeye, Ariz., aboard a Navy patrol boat early Tuesday when the petty officer caught him stealing two pistols from an arms locker.

Authorities said Hollingsworth fired a bullet into Long's arm. The shot penetrated the arm and pierced his heart.

Then he rushed up on deck, slugged Seaman J. E. Smith, who was on deck watch, and escaped to shore.

Deputy Sheriff Frank Webber gave the following account of what happened after that.

Took Over Cab

Hollingsworth changed into civilian clothes, hailed a cab and told driver Rafael Ferrier to drive him to a naval air base on the outskirts of Key West.

When they reached the field, the sailor rammed a gun in Ferrier's neck and told him to keep driving. The youth fired a bullet into the cab's dashboard to prove he wasn't afraid to use it, Webber added.

Ferrer later told authorities that Hollingsworth said:

"Have you ever heard of John Dillinger? Well, I'm a young boy like him, too."

OVER in neighboring Crosby county, they're getting ready to vote again on a proposal to legalize beer. The election will be held on Saturday.

We don't live in Crosby county, so whether the people over there vote for or against beer definitely is none of our business. But in perusing the Crosby county papers of late we were struck by one, over-all thought in connection with the wet-dry campaign.

That thought is that nothing brings out the worst in people like a fight over whether it is better to legalize alcoholic beverages, or keep them in an illegal status.

People who ordinarily are pretty fair and fairly honest pull out all the stops when it comes to a fight over prohibition.

Both sides throw all discretion and fair play to the winds, charging and counter-charging recklessly and with no thought to truth, or facts.

People who take no interest whatsoever in their schools, their city, county, state, or federal government will work like beavers on one side or the other of a beer election, forgetful that no matter which side wins, conditions remain pretty much the same.

If they gave the same study and energetic action to other community problems that they give to the wet-dry question, they'd accomplish to lot more in the end.

WHAT currently is happening in Crosby county happens in Lubbock county and everywhere else when a prohibition election is coming up.

Old friends fall out. Neighbors call each other hard names. Preachers forget about the Gospel and its teachings and other usually thoughtful citizens go fully as berserk on the other side of the fence.

Arguing whether it is better to have legal beer than illegal beer, and vice versa, blinds otherwise amiable people to facts on both sides of the question. Nearly everybody goes on an emotional binge which too frequently leaves a bad and lengthy hangover.

It's too bad we humans can't whip up the same energy and enthusiasm in other, saner matters bearing on the public weal.

WHENEVER any governmental agency in Washington decides to place an installation anywhere in the country, the headquarters of the agency advises both senators from the state involved and also the congressman from the district in which the installation is to be located.

That's strictly routine. It's supposed (1) to make the senators and congressman involved feel more kindly toward the agency and its requests for appropriations; and (2) to give the senators and congressman a chance to telegraph the papers published where the installation is to be made and, thereby, get credit for wangling a hunk of political pie for their constituents.

The other day, when the Air Force officially announced reactivation of Lubbock Air Force Base, the information was sent the offices of U. S. Senators Tom Connally and Lyndon B. Johnson, and, also, the office of Congressman George Mahon. Senator Johnson's secretary happened to be the first one to tip off the news services in Washington, so the story went out that the reactivation was announced by Senator Johnson.

The inference, of course, was that Lyndon had played the major role in getting the base reactivated.

The truth is that Congressman Mahon is the individual due most of the credit for persuading the Air Force to reactivate here. He has had years of help from Lubbock citizens working through the chamber of commerce. But, by and large, Mr. Mahon is due most of the credit.

But what was very unusual about the whole thing was a letter we received yesterday from Senator Johnson — a handwritten letter on Senate stationary.

Wrote Senator Johnson:

"I'm afraid the people of Lubbock may get the wrong impression about the reactivation of LAFB, hence this note to you.

"Although I conferred with George Mahon and Air Force officials, and expressed interest in this project, the decision reached was not the result of my endeavors. It came as the result of George's fine work."

MR. JOHNSON went on at some length to describe Representative Mahon's long efforts in regard to LAFB and pointed out that "it would be a decided and grave injustice to a capable and conscientious legislator like George Mahon" for the LAFB credit to go to Senator Johnson, simply because the announcement of reactivation happened to break from his office.

"While I shall always strive to further the interests of Lubbock, the 19th district and its Congressman Mahon, I want the people out there to know that in the case of LAFB, 'George did it.' It wasn't Lyndon—and I regret more than you can know that any other impression may have been created."

That is a generous statement—and most unusual in American politics.

Furthermore, in addition to giving credit where credit is due, Senator Johnson shows himself to be a "right guy"—the kind of a "right guy" the country could use more of in high places.

In our more than a quarter century of newspapering, that's the first time we've ever seen a man in public office go out of his way to avoid being credited with something good—and to make certain that the proper person got the credit.

NOW THAT the trial of Richard McGee is at least temporarily over, this is a good time to throw the spotlight on one of the weirdest points of the American system of jurisprudence—that which recognizes insanity as a defense for murder, or any other crime.

Whether McGee is sane, or insane, may be a matter of scientific opinion. Whether he was sane, or insane, at the time he committed a cold-blooded murder also is a matter of opinion.

But the point is that a victim is just as dead when killed by an insane man as by a sane one. The further premise is that an insane killer may be more expected to kill a second time than a sane person, therefore should be removed from the scene as quickly as possible under the law.

Attorneys can talk wisely—and, of course, at length—about this and all other weird points of law and jurisprudence. But to us poor dumb citizens who don't know a tort from a contract, it still doesn't make sense.

The best thing for society, if not for lawyers and alienists, is to get rid of all cold blooded killers as soon as they are convicted—whether they are sane, or insane.

If our justice were more like that of Britain, we'd have fewer murders, whether committed by either the sane or the insane.

BY DREW PEARSON: SOVIET RUSSIA IS REPORTED EASING ALL PRESSURE ON IRAN

Hungary Building Pillboxes On Austrian Border

WASHINGTON.—Here are uncensored diplomatic slants on how the cold war and the hot peace negotiations are going. Some are bad but most are good:

Russians Relent—The Iranian government has reported to the State department that all Russian pressure on Iran has suddenly and strangely halted. Two weeks ago the Iranians had prepared a formal demand that the United Nations security council investigate Soviet aggression. But the pressure eased up dramatically when negotiations over Berlin began.

PEARSON

Evatt's Optimism—Dr. Herbert Evatt, president of the United Nations general assembly, is happier than he's ever been about the future of the U. N. The fact that the Berlin peace talks have taken place in the U. N. has thoroughly justified its existence even if the organization accomplishes nothing else. Actually the U. N. has also already brought peace to Palestine, Pakistan, and India. Not bad for a three-year-old baby.

Austrian Jitters—The Austrian government is alarmed because the Hungarian army has begun building concrete pillboxes along the Austrian border. Huge floodlights and barbed-wire barricades also are being installed opposite Austria with pillboxes every 100 yards. All this has the Austrians in the jitters.

Arms to Europe—The joint chiefs of staff have notified President Truman that the Army has 9,286 surplus tanks and 7,000,000 tons of ammunition it can ship to western Europe under the Atlantic pact. That's enough to equip 25 armored divisions.

American plant in Yugoslavia—Yugoslavia has begun secret negotiations with an American company to build a steel plant in Yugoslavia. The State department has given its blessings to the deal upon recommendations from the American embassy, which is looking for ways to keep Marshal Tito from patching up his fight with Moscow. American engineers are now estimating the costs, which may go as high as $100,000,000.

The Vaughan Medal

Sen. Ray Baldwin of Connecticut made sensational news last week by resigning from the Senate to become a state Supreme court judge in his home state. And behind-the-scenes he may make more news by blocking the diamond-studded medal recently given to President Truman's military aide, Maj. Gen. Harry Vaughan, by President Peron of Argentina.

The Vaughan medal hasn't actually come before the Senate yet, but Senator Baldwin gave some idea as to how his mind was working by holding up approval of various foreign decorations for American citizens until the Senate could study the entire question. Meanwhile he called attention to article 1, section 9, paragraph 8 of the U. S. constitution which is clear and to the point. It states: "No title of nobility shall be granted by the United States. And no person holding any office of profit or trust under them shall, without the consent of the Congress, accept any present, emolument, office, or title of any kind whatever from any king, prince, or foreign state."

Under this provision, some members of the Senate armed services committee questioned whether General Vaughan was within his legal rights in accepting the Peron medal. The State department argued that he was, claiming that technically he had not accepted, had merely turned the medal over to the State department for safekeeping until Congress approved.

However, from the propaganda viewpoint, which was the main thing Peron was interested in, some senators felt Vaughan had definitely accepted the medal. His photo was taken with the Argentine ambassador pinning the medal on his bosom.

Radio transcriptions were made of Vaughan's acceptance speech, and the Argentine embassy stated that it planned to distribute the recordings through Latin America. Certainly in the eyes of South Americans, who do not understand U. S. legal technicalities, Vaughan accepted the medal and the incident had the effect of giving White House blessing to the government of South America's leading dictator.

MEANWHILE the State department is holding more than 100 foreign decorations for U. S. citizens, and recently sent 12 of the least controversial decorations to the Senate armed services committee for its o. k. No senator has any objection to these 12, since they are British awards to U. S. scientists. However, their approval might set a precedent for okaying Vaughan's medal, and at a closed-door meeting, alert Senator Baldwin objected to considering the awards in dribbles and batches. He urged instead that the whole question of foreign decorations be settled first.

As a result, the awards were held up and letters were written sounding out various governmental departments on the question of foreign medals.

Note—Those whom Britain had singled out for decorations, now delayed, were Dr. Vannevar Bush, chairman of the research and development board; Dr. Jerome C. Hunsaker, chairman of the national advisory committee for aeronautics; Dr. Hugh L. Dryden, director of aeronautical research for the committee; Carroll L. Wilson, general manager of the Atomic Energy Commission; Dr. A. V. Astin of the research and development board; Dr. Fred C. Bishop of the Agriculture department; John C. Green of the research and development board; Dr. David B. Langmuir of the Atomic Energy Commission; Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer, atomic energy scientist; Dr. Eugene Scott of the research and development board, and Dr. William E. Story, jr., also of the research board.

Gen. Clay Blunders

The State department is burned to a cinder over a diplomatic blunder pulled by Gen. Lucius D. Clay. It almost upset the applecart in Germany.

It's a well-known fact that one of the thins the Russians are worried about is the complete formation of a western German state. They have wanted to head this off from the start, and one reason for their present moves to lift the Berlin blockade was to sidetrack, if possible, the new western republic of Germany.

Therefore when British Foreign Minister Bevin and French Foreign Minister Schumann met in Washington last month and agreed on the charter for the new German state, an important cable was sent to General Clay immediately. It notified him of the charter's approval and instructed him to present it to German leaders at once.

Among other things the State department was worried lest news of the Russian-American peace talks should leak out to the German leaders. If so, they knew the Germans would stall, refuse to set up the new German state, and resort to their traditional tactics of playing Russia off against the West.

The cabled instruction to Clay was sent early in April. But for some mysterious reason Clay delayed. He did not present the charter to the German leaders.

News of the Russian-U. S. Peace talks began to leak out, and still Clay did not act. Finally, the State department ordered special U. S. Ambassador Robert Murphy to hop in a plane, fly to Germany and put a firecracker under Clay. Murphy did so and the revised charter of government was presented to the German leaders.

Note — During the U. S.-Russian peace talks, Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Malik told U. S. Delegate Dr. Phillip Jessup in New York that Russia would not lift the Berlin blockade unless the Allies abandoned their plans for a western German state. Malik talked tough. But Jessup came back equally tough, and Malik said no more about it.

The laws of supply and demand are being abused in that those who have the supply are doing the demanding.

Experts Disagree On Effects Of Bombing On Large Cities

NOTES of an Innocent Bystander—The Broadway Lights: Critic George Jean Nathan's much-quoted comment, "It is humiliating for critics to have to mingle with actors," lifted the eyebrows of Stork cub-roomers, many of whom are showfolks. It is practically where the critic lives! . . . Colleague Richard Watts summed it up, though. He noted: "It is my terrible suspicion that the local play reviewers like actors more than they do each other." Mr. Watts must have meant "actresses" . . . He also observed "there is no current newspaperman who writes as brilliantly as the late critic, Percy Hammond" . . . It is good to see that Mr. Watts has finally come to his senses . . . The Messrs. Sherwood & Hart are offering parts of their investment in the new show they are preparing with Mr. Berlin ("Miss Liberty"), but the songsmith won't sell. Miser! . . . Jackie Cooper, the former kid star, reportedly lost $12,500 when "Magnolia Alley" closed . . . Talu Bankhead is toying with an offer to do a syndicated column . . . Meanest crack of the show week was in The Hollywood Peporter review by I. Hoffman of producer L. Cutler's "Magnolia Alley." He called it: 'Cutler's Last Stand" . . . Although it closed weeks ago, Tennessee Williams' play, "Summer and Smoke," just paid back "angels" 15% more of their original investment.

What Price Victory?

Jimmy Durante Is Hailed As Future Star Of Television

NEW YORK, May 4.—I buy my first television set the day Jimmy Durante starts a regular program on it. That is the day when the man will have been cut out from the boys; when the video industry can call itself mature.

RUARK

Mr. Durante's noble nose and maniac eye will have no truck with the medium for another year or so. James is waiting for television to grow up to fit his face. Television has an odd habit of foreshorting the legs of its performers. Mr. Durante is not a man to take chances with his nose.

I will not attempt to reproduce any Durante conversation for you, since it never has been done correctly and never will be. Mr. Durante's quotes are useless unless uttered by the master himself, because his fine moral indignation, the wildly rolled eye, the outraged squawk and the fretful, panther pace are all necessary to a Durante delivery.

Needs No Makeup

But I had the rare good fortune to observe two hours of unrehearsed Durante in his hotel soom the other afternoon. James, fresh up from a nap, was busy. He was eating cornflakes with bananas, answering telephones, and talking. He was wearing an old bathrobe and a pair of shorts, socks, and shoes.

Mr. Durante prowled his suite, speaking nervously over his shoulder, slapping his thigh and being constantly indignant. It was a performance that could run 99 years on television—once that mysterious thing Jimmy calls a "Coactrical cable" is laid from one side of the country to the other.

Mr. Durante actually was created for television. He needs no makeup, for no retouch artist can improve on the features God humorously bequeathed him. He needs no script, really—an unrehearsed Durante on any subject is better entertainment than anything the contrivers can sweat from a conference.

IT is impossible to go stale on Durante. He never tells the same story the same way, and he has been plowing the same furrow for 34 years. Nobody ever yawned at him yet.

Mr. Durante's single trade trick is frustration, but it is frustration with a peculiar codicil. Mr. Durante busts loose and lets go at what bothers him, as opposed to you and me, who sit silently and take it. All the world frustrates Durante — telephones, people whose names he can't remember, race horses, the English language—but Durante won't stand for it. It's desplickable!

James has a deepseated enmity toward the piano, which he was forced to play, for food, for years. When he tears up a piano today he gets even with the infernal machine for every tortured child who had to practice on the keyboard when a lusty game of baseball was going on outside.

When I say that Jimmy won't hold still for frustration, I don't mean it's all act. They still remember him in the Ambassador hotel here for a wartime benefit performance he put on. Jim was a little piqued, for one reason or another. He took a piano—a real, expensive, irreplacable piano—and chased the orchestra into a corner with it. He busted leg after leg off the thing, and finished his number lying flat on his belly on the floor, still whanging on the keys. The hotel manager nearly had a hemhorrhage. Jimmy says the manager later remarked that it was woit' it.

Close Up Club

Jim has always suffered from frustration. Once, when he was running a speak, the Club Durante, he bought a drink for two people he assumed were friends. Then they bought him a drink. Then they closed up the joint, because they happened to be revenooers. Jimmy's cash register, in those days, tinkled chiefly for the benefit of his employees. The milkman and the janitor ate his steaks and drank his whisky. In all of Durante's life, people have crowded into his act, and he has reacted with typical comic courage.

Which is why I think he's a cinch to be the king of television. He has a nation of frustrates to work on. Jimmy's classic frustration comes through fine every Friday on radio, but to appreciate him you really have to see him. Mr. Milton Berle has steered video through its early adolescence — Mr. Durante will inaugurate its manhood.

BY RUTH MILLETT: TO THE LADIES

The Feminine Viewpoint

NEVER, never forget that the dinner hour is the hour of intimacy. Even after marriage dinner should—and could—retain its aura of romance." So says a New York restaurateur.

After marriage, yes. But after children—no.

Let's for a moment so far forget our manners as to peek in at the Jones family during that "hour of intimacy"—when Mama, Papa, Joe and little Sadie are ready to sit down to the evening meal.

MILLETT

"Joe, go wash your hands. And you, too, Sadie," says Mama pleasantly but firmly, the first time. The second time the order is given it's more firm, not quite so pleasant.

Then there's the problem of getting Papa to the dining room. He was starved—or so he said—when he tossed his hat on the living-room table 15 minutes ago. But now he's got his nose buried in the evening paper and answers the call to dinner with an irritable or absent minded, "Okay, in a minute," while he continues to read the funnies, and the gravy starts to jell.

Finally the four Joneses are seated. And then begins that evening meal, with its aura of romance.

Papa wants to know why the ketchup is never on the table. Little Joe gulps his food down hurriedly so he can get back to playing baseball.

Sadie pushes the food around on her plate and is assured by both Mama and Papa that if she doesn't eat her vegetables, there'll be no dessert.

FOOD ALL-IMPORTANT

CONVERSATION is hardly scintillating — since any topic brought up for conversation that is on a higher than third-grade level has to be interpreted for Junior.

Papa's not thinking about how lovely Mama looks—with her face flushed from cooking and hurrying a meal to the table.

And Mama's not in a romantic frame of mind either. She's probably dreading the next couple of hours when the dishes have to be done, the children argued into taking their baths and going to bed.

Yes, the dinner hour may be the hour of intimacy before a couple get married. It still may be when they've set up housekeeping and the two of them eat their roast beef in the gentle glow of candlelight.

But when the children come along the dinner hour is about as intimate and romantic as lunch in an automat. By then it's the food and not the atmosphere that's all-important.

IMPORTANT TO US ALL

Lubbock residents will have the best opportunity in years during the next few days to dispose of accumulations of trash and, at the same time, to make a contribution of personal effort toward the success of the 19th annual City Cleanup, Paintup, Fixup campaign now in progress.

The City has been divided into districts with one of the service clubs assuming responsibility for the collection of trash in each. The Rotarians are working in Southwest Lubbock today. The Exchange club will be busy south of Thirty-fourth street tomorrow. Plans are to cover the entire city by May 12. Extra trucks and crews will handle trash of the type not ordinarily hauled in City vehicles.

Residents of each district will be notified by sound trucks one day in advance of the collections in their areas. They then will have the opportunity to get rid of lawn cuttings, tree prunings, waste paper and other trash which is unsightly and a fire and health hazard.

The trash pickup is one of the most important phases of the Cleanup camapign and should be given full cooperation by every resident.
