TO GET SHED OF 'THAT BUNCH UP THERE'

Red Berry Wants To Slice Texas Into North-South States

AUSTIN (AP)— Red Berry, a gambler turned state legislator, wants to split Texas into two states to get four senators.

"It's a great thing," said the representative from San Antonio. "North Texas ought to be glad to get rid of South Texas and vice versa."

Berry, whose initials are V.E., attracted some attention in his first legislative session with a series of unsuccessful measures that would legalize horse race betting in Texas, or parts of the state.

He frequently refers to his self-applied title of "retired gambler." Fellow members often ask his advice or "odds" on the outcome of pending legislation or political campaigns.

Berry's resolution, introduced Monday, would split the state from the northeast corner of Orange County to El Paso.

The proposal went to a House committee without debate. In the past, several Berry resolutions have never gotten out of committee.

Berry said today he "first dreamed up the idea last fall."

He said the boundary was determined by population concentrations.

"The way I figure it the north state will have a population of about 5,100,000 and the south 4,300,000. I thought about adding another county or two to the south state but I decided to give them (the north) a little the best of it," Berry said.

"In fact, they got a little the best of it. They would have all the oil, but we would have all the water. We would have them shut off from the water," he said.

Asked about the possibility of horse racing and liquor by the drink in the proposed new state —two of Berry's pet proposals— he said:

"At least we'd do what we want to without being bossed around by that bunch up there. We're even letting them have Austin."

"Everybody I've talked to has agreed with me on this," he said. He did not say to whom he talked.

The last straight-faced proposal was in the late 1920s, when the Republicans were entrenched. John Nance Garner, then a representative from South Texas, proposed that Texas be chopped into five states so there would be 10 senators. Like other proposals, that one got no where.

Under terms of Texas' entrance into the Union, the state is allowed to divide itself into as many as five states.

Berry asked for a division of Texas Monday in a proposal which would create the new State of South Texas.

His resolution was sent to a committee for study.

The boundary for the proposed new state would be westerly from the northeast corner of Orange and would be formed by the northern boundaries of these counties:

Harris, Orange, Liberty, Hardin, Waller, Austin, Fayette, Caldwell, Hays, Blanco, Gillespie, Kimball, Menard, Schleicher, Crockett, Pecos, Reeves, Culberson, Hudspeth, and El Paso.

Berry's resolution said that because of the size of Texas and the great variance in social political and economic requirements of citizens "residing in different sections of the state...it is difficult for the people of the various sections of Texas to procure legislation conducive to the best interests of Texas."

Texas' citizens are entitled to more than double the present representation in the U.S. Senate, the resolution said.

Fresh Winter Storms Sweep Wide Region

By The Associated Press

A fresh snowstorm swept across areas from the Rockies eastward into the Midwest today and a new surge of cold air spread into the East and deep into the Southland.

Subzero temperatures clung to much of the northern Midwest, with no general, immediate relief indicated in the prolonged cold wave. The new mass of arctic air which invaded the Northeast dropped temperatures below zero in northern Maine and western New York State.

Freezing weather chilled areas in northern Florida and much of the Southeast. Miami shivered as the mercury dropped into the 40s. There were sharp drops in temperatures throughout the East.

WARNINGS OUT

Blizzard warnings were posted for west and central South Dakota after snow, powered by winds of 40 m.p.h. swept into North Dakota and the lowlands of Montana. Snow fell across sections from the northern Plains, the upper Mississippi Valley and the Great Lakes region into the Ohio Valley. The amounts ranged from one to three inches.

Cold wave warnings were issued for all parts of Montana, Wyoming, Colorado, New Mexico, South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma, Iowa, Missouri and Northern Texas.

The cold air from Canada spread southward east of the Continental Divide in Montana and Wyoming and covered most of the Dakotas and Nebraska.

LOW READINGS

The arctic air was expected to spread southward across the Plains states and cover most of the nation's midsection. Temperatures were expected to drop to more than 30 below zero along the central Canadian border and to below zero in Kansas and Colorado.

Although temperatures moderated a little in the Midwest cold belt, subzero marks again were reported in the northern Plains and northern sections of the Midwest. They ranged from zero to more than 20 degrees below in International Falls, Minn., on the Canadian border.

In western New York the mercury dropped to -10 in Sinclairville, -8 in Cassadaga and -6 in Mayville. Readings edged near the zero mark in many other northern and western sections. New York reported 12 above, the same as in Philadelphia and Boston. In Maine, it was -9 in Old Town, with readings near zero in other parts of New England.

LOW TEENS

The mercury was in the low teens in Kentucky and Tennessee, near 20 in extreme northern Georgia and freezing into northern Florida, with 29 reported in Tallahassee. It was 14 in Asheville, N.C., 30 in New Orleans and 46 in Miami.

Cold Wave Warnings Are Out

By The Associated Press

The first snow of the third cold wave in 12 days struck Texas Tuesday, accompanied at Perryton by blowing dust kicked along by 40 mile per hour winds.

The biting weather is expected to reach the cold-sensitive Lower Rio Grande Valley by Wednesday night.

The storm struck hours ahead of predictions at Perryton in the upper Panhandle. The dust dropped visibility to a half mile for a time and was followed by fine snow.

When the leading edge of the front hit Perryton the temperature was 33 degrees. The mercury dropped 11 degrees in an hour.

The front hit Dalhart in the northwest Panhandle at 9:25 a.m.

The Weather Bureau said the cold wave will bring temperatures as low as zero. Snow flurries and possible freezing rain or sleet were forecast for the upper portion of Texas.

NOT MUCH MOISTURE

The forecast indicated that the moisture would not be great.

The Lower Valley forecast said the worst of the cold is not expected until Thursday morning, with temperatures dropping to near or slightly below freezing then.

The Weather Bureau issued a fruit and vegetable bulletin for the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

"Warmer tonight with lowest temperatures 52 to 56. Turning much colder late Wednesday with high temperatures 70 to 75 falling into low 40s in the early evening. Partly cloudy to cloudy tonight and Wednesday.

"Temperature outlook for Wednesday night: Turning much colder reaching near cold wave proportions with temperatures falling to near to slightly below freezing early Thursday morning. Protection of vegetation is advised. Cloudy with scattered rain or drizzle."

This meant a third bitter blast of winter in just 12 days for some parts of the state.

POLAR WINDS

It was due to thrust into the Texas Panhandle by midafternoon. Winds up to 30 miles per hour were expected as the polar air shoves on south and east.

The norther approached only a day after frost whitened much of the Lower Rio Grande Valley vegetable and citrus belt but, to many growers' surprise, inflicted comparatively little damage. Protective clouds of smoke from smudge pots and burning tires were credited for holding the loss down.

Sunshine warmed most of the state Monday. Afternoon temperatures ranged from 47 degrees at Beaumont to 63 at Brownsville, Childress and San Angelo.

FORECASTS

Forecasts warned of readings as low as 5 above zero, however, by Wednesday morning in the Panhandle, 18 in North Central Texas and 20 in Northeast Texas. While southern areas were due to share the colder air, the mercury was expected to stay well above freezing overnight.

France, Germany End Centuries Of Conflict

PARIS (AP) — West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and French President Charles de Gaulle today signed a comprehensive treaty of cooperation between Germany and France, laying to rest centuries of conflict.

The chancellor, 87, who regards French-German reconciliation as the crowning achievement of his waning political career, signed for his country, followed by Foreign Minister Gerhard Schroeder.

De Gaulle, who led Free French forces from British exile in the Allied victory over Nazi Germany in World War II, signed for France. He was followed by Premier Georges Pompidou and Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville.

The statesmen also signed an accompanying joint declaration of principles, calling for a lasting friendship between the two nations which have so frequently clashed.

The treaty calls for regular periodic consultation between the chiefs of state or government, and ministers and officials of the two governments to coordinate policy in the domains of diplomacy, defense, education and culture.

It was presented as an example to other European nations and a basis for further progress in European unity.

Adenauer is under pressure from his Parliament to prevent a breakdown of the negotiations to admit Great Britain to the European Common Market when talks resume Monday in Brussels, Belgium.

French sources said Adenauer proposed that Walter Hallstein, head of the market executive, undertake a detailed survey of the negotiations.

The delay might have an advantage from De Gaulle's standpoint, too. He might gamble that the next British elections will bring in a government opposed to taking Britain into the trading block.

One wing of the opposition Labor party in Britain opposes alignment with the market.

The market issue reached a crisis stage last week when De Gaulle disclosed that he definitely wants to keep Britain out and is against the American plan for a North Atlantic Treaty Organization nuclear force as well.

West Germany favors Britain's admission and also a multinational nuclear NATO force. But German sources said Adenauer regards the nuclear issue as less urgent.

British bitterness over De Gaulle's position welled up Monday night in a sharp speech by Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, warning the French president against trying to dictate the future of free Europe. Macmillan told a political rally in Liverpool that no country "in these days can stand entirely on its own. Alliances are essential to security."

Macmillan accused De Gaulle of opposing Britain's bid to enter the Common Market for political reasons. He rejected French claims that he had been insincere with De Gaulle in agreeing to President Kennedy's proposals to scrap the Skybolt missile in favor of Polaris missiles that would be controlled by the North Atlantic Alliance.

De Gaulle and Adenauer agreed Monday on a treaty of close cooperation in diplomacy, defense and culture, open to other states of Europe, which they hope will repair their differences in foreign policy.

West Germany backed away from an exclusive inner alliance with France inside the European and Atlantic communities. This apparently doomed the French concept of a continental "third force" dominated by France and West Germany.

Spokesmen specified that the treaty would be subject to parliamentary ratification in West Germany. This was considered important since an overwhelming majority of the West German Bundestag favors British entry into the European Economic Community and endorses participation in the NATO nuclear force.

No Comment On Rumors

Rumors that Petrofina S.A. has been in negotiation of purchase of the W. R. Grace & Company controlling interest in Cosden Petroleum Corporation have met with no comment here.

R. L. Tollett, president of Cosden, said unequivocally that he had no comment on the reports. Such matters would not be handled by him, he said.

One report current in industry circles was to the effect that talks had taken place in Brussels, Belgium between representatives of Petrofina S.A. and W. R. Grace & Co. Petrofina S.A. is a Belgian concern with international interests, including American Petrofina, Inc., which in turn is the parent of American Petrofina Co. of Texas. Grace holds a 52 per cent controlling interest in Cosden and last year had announced plans to acquire the remaining shares of Cosden. However, this was predicated upon a favorable ruling by the Internal Revenue Service, which at last accounts, had not been forthcoming. The rumor mills also had ground out stories of possible contacts with Socony Mobil Oil Co.

Exile Leader Insists Air Cover Pledged

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A leader in the exile organization that mounted the 1961 Cuban invasion insists that the anti-Castro brigade was promised full air cover.

The exile leader, Antonio de Varona of the Cuban Revolutionary Council, said he was obliged to "break silence" because of Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy's statement Monday that no United States air cover ever was planned.

The attorney general said President Kennedy couldn't have issued last-minute orders canceling air cover, as many administration critics have maintained, because there were never any plans for the United States to provide air support.

Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., also took issue with the attorney general in Washington. Goldwater said he talked with the President just after the invasion and "I certainly got the impression then that an air cover had been part of the original invasion plans."

Saves Hog, But Not His Nose

LOCUST GROVE, Okla. (AP)—A farmer said Monday that he saved his hog by administering artificial respiration to the animal after it fell into a pond.

Fred Whorton said the registered hog fell through a hole in the ice that had been chopped to permit cattle to drink.

Whorton said the 140-pound hog was not breathing when he pulled it out but revived after he administered artificial respiration for about 30 minutes.

The farmer said the hog went through the ordeal without any ill effects.

Whorton wasn't so lucky. He said he felt like he was catching a cold.

Ike Thinks U.S. Press Biased Against Nixon

NEW YORK (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower says his vice president, Richard M. Nixon, "did have a point" when he issued what Eisenhower calls his "bitter indictment of the press."

In the current Saturday Evening Post, Eisenhower has an article saying that throughout Nixon's political career, "it seemed that a considerable segment of the press was on his back."

"I suppose," Eisenhower wrote, "it was an extension of the curious, 'I don't like Nixon' cult, which I never could really understand."

"In any event," Eisenhower said, "It was obvious that many of the reporters did not like him, and frequently their bias showed through in their reporting of his activities and speeches."

Eisenhower referred to a Nixon news conference in Los Angeles last Nov. 7, after the former vice president lost the California gubernatorial election. Nixon said then that biased reporting had blocked his political comeback bid and that the news conference was his last.

In Palm Desert, Calif., a spokesman for the vacationing ex-president said Eisenhower would not identify the newspapers which he claimed printed biased reports about Nixon.

New Cotton Hearing Set

PECOS (AP)—A rehearing on a cotton allotment transfer case involving an Oklahoma man was scheduled today.

The case of Raymond Williams is the first of several to be heard again on appeals by the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

The ASCS, an agency of the Agriculture Department, claims transfers of cotton acreage allotments in this and many other cases were illegal.

A three-man board has ruled against the agency in all but one of the initial hearings.

Also scheduled this week in Pecos are rehearings on the cases of Jack Duke and Walter Shaw, both of Pecos, and J. J. Rogers of Waco.

A Feb. 7 rehearing is set at Fort Stockton on the Trans-Pecos Farm and William Ramsey cases. Also to be held in Fort Stockton are first hearings on cases involving D. W. Wallace, Don Vinson and Frank Coleman, all of Pecos.

Kennedy Aide's Wife Is Robbed

WASHINGTON (AP)—A youth slipped into the Capitol Hill home of presidential assistant Brooks Hays and robbed Mrs. Hays by threatening her with a scissors, police reported.

Mothers March For Polio Funds

Some 450 mothers marched from house to house in Big Spring Monday night in the first big solicitation for funds for the March of Dimes. Their efforts brought in $2,532.27.

Mrs. Buford Hull, general chairman of the Mothers March, expressed thanks to residents for their cooperation in giving to the effort.

Although the total is $264.63 lower than last year, Mrs. Hull said several hundred mailers were left in doors of homes where no one answered the knock of mothers. In the past, the response has been good to the mailers. Mrs. Hull said she was especially grateful to Mrs. D. B. McCann, city council P-TA president, to all the unit presidents and to every one of the several hundred mothers who took part. She urged those who may not have given, to mail in contributions to the March of Dimes.

An additional boost may be coming from the group at Kate Morrison, which failed to take part Monday night because of a mixup in date. They may conduct their drive later. With funds from this source and from mailers, the total proceeds may exceed the $3,100 total during 1962.

The Mothers March usually brings in about half the proceeds for the campaign, which is $10,000. Mrs. Hull is chairman of the Mother's March.

Next event for the month is the annual airlift for the March of Dimes slated to begin at 1 p.m. Sunday at the Howard County Airport. Bill McClendon is in charge of the program. Both local flying clubs this year have offered their planes for the event and if enough pilots can be obtained, at least 11 planes should again be in service.

Last year the airlift put $421.28 into the till. Eleven planes, fuel and services of pilots were donated to the cause. There were 270 passengers during the afternoon.

Coin collections have not yet been totaled. The coin boxes have been out since the start of this month. Last year this source brought in $461. Letters sent out in 1962 added $1,128 to the total.

Market Nudges New Recovery

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market nudged to a new recovery high in heavy trading early this afternoon.

It was a ragged advance, with gains of fractions to about a point among key stocks slightly outnumbering losers.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .5 at 253.6, with industrials off .1, rails up .9, and utilities up .6.

Industrials performed spottily. The burden of the advance was carried by utilities and rails.

Vote Is Due On Dock Issues

NEW YORK (AP) — Members of the 145-company New York Shipping Association meet today to act on the dock strike settlement terms proposed by a presidential mediation board.

Beauty Admits Story Was False

TOPEKA, Kan — Linda Light, Miss Kansas in the 1962 Miss Universe contest, admitted to police that her story of being held captive was fictitious, officers said.

The 19-year-old blonde, a Washington University sophomore had previously told police that a prowler terrorized her for almost two hours when she returned home from classes.

COLLEGE HEIGHTS CLASS FIRST SPELLING BEE ENTRY

All other schools in the county — be advised.

Lillian M. Jordan, teacher in the sixth grade at College Heights Elementary School, says that her youngsters will be contenders for the Big Spring Herald Spelling Bee championship.

Miss Jordan's class was the first group to officially declare itself in the competition. She ordered 10 copies of the practice book and said she is delighted that the Herald is sponsoring the event in this county.

"My sixth grade students may not produce a county winner," Miss Jordan wrote, "but we will be in there trying."

The county spelling bee championship will be determined March 16.

The official practice book, "Words of the Champions," is now available at the Herald office. Contestants are asked to come by the office to pick up copies. The price is 15 cents.

Paralyzed Boy Finds Out Who His Friends Are

MANHATTAN BEACH, Calif. (AP)—A teen-age boy paralyzed from the waist down lay helpless in his home for two days while his father, critically injured in a traffic accident, was unconscious in a hospital.

Then a neighbor heard of Bill Weber Sr.'s auto collision and asked police to check the son's condition.

They found Bill Jr., 18, cold, hungry and bewildered. He became a paraplegic two years ago when injured in a water skiing accident. Neighbors and police pitched in to help him. An officer's wife cooked him dinner. Others brought clothes. Some offered to stay with him until his father recovers. The boy's mother died six years ago.

"It was almost worth all this to find out I have so many friends," he said Monday.

'Catsup Kate' Case Solved

Aubrey Standard, chief deputy sheriff, has solved the weird mystery of Catsup Kate and has assured motorists traveling on on US 87 that the ghastly object they saw on the slab was not really a hit and run victim.

Standard said that he first heard of Catsup Kate about 6 p.m. Motorists travelling on US 87 south of town phoned in they had seen what appeared to be a bloody battered body on the paving 16 miles from Big Spring.

Standard went to the scene and found the body. It turned out to be a clumsily made dummy topped by a weathered old head from a clothing store model.

Generous applications of catsup gave a realistic appearance of blood; the head had been battered and beaten to provide the appearance of ghastly wounds.

Standard brought Kate to the sheriff's office.

"We will have a little trouble identifying her," he remarked. "Rigor mortis is certainly far advanced in her case."

Lions Hear YMCA Report

Evening Lions got a preview of YMCA week when Francis Flint, general secretary, headed up a group of YMCA participants who presented the program.

Flint explained the purposes of the YMCA and its program, and he detailed some of the advantages of the facilities here.

Also telling about their programs were Canny Coates, Senior Hi-Y Club, and Nancy Haralson, Junior Tri-Hi-Y Club. Mrs. Ora Burson, gymnastics and ballet instructor, presented five of her Y pupils who were roundly applauded for their demonstrations.

Several members of the Evening Club indicated they will ride the bus which the Downtown Lions are arranging Sunday for a trip to the mid-winter conference in Brady. Cotton Mize was in charge of the program, and other program chairmen for February include Bert Shive, Ed Shive and C. W. Tanner. One of the largest turn-outs in months attended the meeting in the Wesley Methodist Fellowship Hall.

Plaintiff Wins Compensation Suit

A jury in 118th District Court granted Archie Lee Lomax part of what he had sought of Travelers Insurance Company in its verdict returned late Monday.

The verdict allotted the plaintiff total disability payments for a restricted time and partial benefits after that time.

The case was the last of the trials on the docket for last week. It had been started Friday and carried over to Monday when a witness could not report in time to finish the case before the week ended.

Judge Ralph Caton said that he would open another civil jury docket next Monday in 118th District Court.

First Trial Finds Defendant Guilty

Jerry Arrick, who appealed a city court conviction of having crashed into two motor cars and failing to stop Sept. 24, elected to serve as his own attorney in trial of the appeal before Judge Lee Porter in County Court Tuesday morning. He had waived a jury in the two cases.

The court heard testimony in the case and ruled that Arrick was guilty as charged. He fined the youth $100 and costs in each case.

Arrick was the first defendant to go to trial on the current docket of appeals cases now before the county court. A jury panel which had reported, was excused until Wednesday when the docket for the day failed to turn up any matters requiring jury trials.

The jury will be back at 9 a.m. Wednesday when the second day's setting of cases will be sounded.

In addition to the Arrick case the court was advised that Ray Sosa Leos would waive jury and try his case before the court.

Joe Edgar Hollingshead announced he would dismiss the appeal and pay the fine assessed against him in the lower court.

Jesse Holmer Mabry Jr., whose appeal was remanded to the court of Justice of the Peace Jess Slaughter, elected to plead guilty and pay the fine.

When Judge Porter sounded the docket Monday afternoon, it was announced that 28 of the cases set were ready for trial. Of these, seven will be before the court and not require the services of a jury. It was also indicated others of the 21 might be disposed in a like manner.

Nine of the cases on the docket had to be passed for this term due to the absence from the city of the attorneys who represented the defendants. One case was dismissed.

Judge Porter set the following cases for trial:

Tuesday—Jesse Holmer Maybry Jr., Jerry R. Arrick (2), Ray Sosa Leos, Joe Edgar Hollingshead;

Wednesday — William Hughes Reed, Billy G. Meek, Alvin John Blakeney, Nancy Lea Sessions.

Thursday — Dois Orvil Ray, Clyde Brown Jr., Kelly R. Britt, Wayne L. Bennett, Bobby Warren Bailey.

Friday—James Royce Coyle, Gavino Felan, Ronnie Louis Clanton, J. D. Moore, Emzie Woodard, (2), Willie E. Buckner.

Burns said that additional cases on the list will probably be dismissed or remanded to the courts of origin before the week ends.

Mrs. Rogers Hurt In Monday Crash

Mrs. Kathleen Rogers, 2210 Merrily, was taken Thursday to the Howard County Hospital Foundation with injuries sustained in a car-pickup collision at 802 Birdwell Lane.

She was in the hospital Tuesday morning awaiting further treatment and X-ray examination. Her physician reported her condition as favorable.

Mrs. Rogers' car was in collision with a parked pickup, owned by W. A. Bryans, 802 Birdwell, shortly after 7 p.m. She was taken to the hospital in a River ambulance. Damage to her car was estimated at $400.

One other collision was investigated by Big Spring police in the past 24 hours. Allen Bagdasakian and Douglas Smith, 1103 E. 16th, were drivers of vehicles in collision at Marcy Drive and Airbase Road.

Shelter Signs To Be Installed

Fallout shelter signs will be installed Wednesday morning in Big Spring buildings designated as shelters.

W. D. Berry, Howard County Civil Defense director, will supervise the work, aided by two city employes from the department of public works.

Berry said signs would be placed outside and inside the buildings on floors designated. The outside signs will show the number of persons that can be safely sheltered, and the floor signs will show directions to shelter areas.

"We will begin stocking the shelters with food, water and other supplies on Feb. 2," Berry said. "A truck, carrying the supplies, will be sent out from the Army Supply Depot in Fort Worth. Supplies for the number of persons who may be sheltered in the buildings will be stored in each place."

More School Students Lost

Heavy losses in enrollment at the Senior High School brought the count of public school pupils Friday to 7,408, the lowest it has been since the 7,400 mark was surpassed in September, 1962.

During the past reporting week, total losses were 10 students. Elementary schools lost one, going to 4,373. Secondary schools lost 10, dropping to 2,870. SPecial Education picked up one student for a total of 165. The Senior High School lost 12 students during the week.

Despite consistent losses in past weeks as the semester drew to a close, there were 271 more pupils in Big Spring public schools than on Jan. 17, 1962, when 7,137 were enrolled.

By school the totals and changes during the week are: Airport 438, no change; Bauer 506, no change; Boydstun 527, up one; Cedar Crest 298, no change; College Heights 527, no change; Kate Morrison 273, no change; Lakeview 205, no change; Marcy 543, down two; Park Hill 289, down two; Washington 767, up two;

Club Stockholders To Meet Tonight

The annual stockholders meeting of the Big Spring Country Club has been set for 7:30 p.m. today.

Among business to be considered, other than the election of officers, are proposals to change the by-laws. One would enlarge the board from six to nine members and require that officers come from the board of directors. Another would lessen the 80 per cent minimum requirement of approval before assessments can become effective.

Kasch Signs 3 Contracts

Three contracts for $1,891,000 of work were signed here Monday by A. P. Kasch & Sons, contractors.

Fred Kasch, president, said that the concern completed negotiations for the general contract on the Imperial High School for $459,000. In December, Kasch & Sons had the low bid, but it was over the available money. Since then the contract had been under negotiation.

Two other jobs bid in December were closed formally Monday. One was for the mechanical work of the men's and women's dormitories at Texas Tech in the amount of $1,108,000. The other was for the mechanical work on the speech and psychology building at Tech in the amount of $244,000. These are part of the largest single contract letting in Tech history. The dormitories will take care of 1,000 men students and 800 women students.

Work is being started immediately on all three jobs, said Kasch.

Safeway Wins Damage Suit

The Big Spring Safeway store on Gregg was absolved of liability by a federal court jury in Abilene Monday after deliberating 20 minutes. Mr. and Mrs. Pete Vasquez brought the $14,000 damage suit against the grocery chain, represented by Wayne Basden, Big Spring.

Mrs. Vasquez contended she injured her back when she fell March 15, 1961 on an asphalt ramp sloping away from the store. She claimed it was slippery. John Taylor, store manager, testified he could find no evidence of slippery footing.

Mrs. Vasquez was pregnant at the time of the fall and she testified she gave normal birth to a child about a week later.

Big 3 Launch New Effort On Test Ban

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States, Great Britain and the Soviet Union launch here today a major new effort to reach a nuclear test ban agreement.

The conference is regarded as the best chance in almost two years to break the long deadlock. U.S. officials, however, laced their expressions of hope with words of caution.

They stressed that many issues—both major and minor—will have to be solved, particularly the U.S. and Soviet differences over inspections to guard against test cheating.

In Moscow, Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko dashed a little cold water on optimism. He told correspondents that the Soviet Union can agree to only three on-site inspections a year. The United States contends this is not enough. Gromyko also insisted that France must join in any test ban agreement.

The nuclear talks begin this afternoon when four Americans, four Russians and two Britons sit down at a conference table in the State Department.

Representing the United States will be William C. Foster, director of the U.S. Arms Control and Disarmament Agency; Charles C. Stelle, deputy U.S. representative at the 18-nation Geneva disarmament talks; and two officials not yet identified.

The Soviet delegation will be headed by Nikolas T. Fedorenko, Soviet ambassador to the United Nations, and Semjon K. Tsarapkin, chief Soviet representative at the Geneva conference.

Britain's chief representative will be Sir David Ormsby Gore, ambassador to Washington, who was England's chief delegate to the disarmament conference before his appointment to this country.

The ground was broken for the new round of nuclear talks by an exchange of letters between President Kennedy and Soviet Premier Khrushchev, made public Sunday.

Khrushchev told Kennedy he would accept two or three on-site inspections a year as part of a system to prevent sneak testing. Kennedy replied he was encouraged by Khrushchev's change of attitude which the Soviet premier called "a major act of good will on the part of the Soviet Union."

U.S. officials cautioned that beyond accepting a principle Khrushchev has offered little. They pointed out that in 1959 Khrushchev agreed to on-site inspections. He renounced this, however, in November 1961, shortly after the Soviet Union broke the voluntary test moratorium.

The American officials also said they were disappointed by what they called the insignificant number of on-site inspections Khrushchev has agreed to.

His proposal boils down to allowing the installation of three unmanned, automatic seismic stations—the so-called "black boxes"—on Soviet territory, and to permit two or three visits a year of the international control teams.

The United States originally asked for 12-20 on-site inspections a year and later reduced its request to eight to 10. The gap between the U.S. and Soviet positions is still too wide to be bridged easily, officials said.

Legislature Gets Delayed On Emergency Money Bill

AUSTIN (AP) — A legislative mixup today delayed Senate committee consideration of a House passed $197,000 emergency spending bill requested by Gov. John Connally.

Sen. Grady Hazlewood of Amarillo, Senate Finance Committee chairman, said before this morning's session that he would call the committee together on adjournment to set a hearing on the measure.

However, Hazlewood was off the Senate floor when the motion to adjourn until 10:30 a.m. Wednesday was passed.

He called a 10 a.m. session of the finance committee for tomorrow to get consideration "as quickly as possible."

The original House bill called for $217,772, but representatives trimmed away more than $20,000.

It now contains $50,000 for an 18-month study on higher education, $82,000 for the attorney general to continue slant-hole oil drilling probes and $65,000 from unspent funds in the governor's current budget.

The major opposition to the bill came from Rep. Bill Hollowell of Grand Saline.

"Connally is asking for 12 more people in his office," Hollowell said. "When this gentleman was campaigning for office, he said he would cut administrative expenses by 10 per cent.

"Then we find that he wants to increase expenses in the very first bill he backs."

Rep. James Cotton of Weatherford opposed giving money to the attorney general's office.

In opposing an amendment reducing the package to $197,000, Rep. Charles Wilson said: "You are just taking money from the civil defense fund instead of the general revenue fund, but the same amount will still be spent."

The measure also requires a two-thirds vote in the Senate to go into immediate effect.

The House convened at 10 a.m. and the Senate at 10:30 a.m. Introduction of bills and other routine business were the only items on the forenoon agenda.

House Appropriations Committee members were ready to start hearings on 1964-65 appropriations for state colleges and universities.

Neff Started Bible Custom

Garland Adair, editor of Texas Heritage, said Neff's note to Mrs. Ferguson said:

"When you go down to the office, the people's office, which a few moments ago I vacated, you will find I cleared it of all except three things.

"I left hanging above your chair for that hope, help and inspiration that comes from lofty ideals and sacrifical service, the portrait of Woodrow Wilson. By your side you will observe a white flower, emblematic, I hope, of pure motives that shall prompt your every act.

"On your working desk you will find the open Bible with this verse marked: 'Thy word is a lamp unto my feet, and a light unto my path.'"

Neff's note established the custom of outgoing governors marking a Bible passage for their successor.

Missionaries To Visit Local Church

Rev. and Mrs. Walter Tiesel, missionaries to Barbados for the past 15 years, will speak at the First Church of God Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. Presently they are touring the United States, discussing with churches the things that have challenged them in their field of work. A progress report will be made on the Bible School in Barbados.

Rev. V. Ward Jackson, pastor of the church, extended an invitation to the public to attend.

Martin C-C Banquet Set

Planning is in full swing for the annual Martin County Chamber of Commerce banquet, according to Howard M. McReynolds, Chamber manager.

The affair will be staged at 7:30 p.m. Monday at the Caprock Electric Co-op auditorium in Stanton.

Bob Cox, outgoing president, will report on work which the Chamber has accomplished during 1962. Although he retires as president, Cox remains a member of the board of directors. The new president is Roy Pickett, who will give his view on projects coming up during 1963.

Three new directors will be installed: James Wheeler, O. C. Turner and J. H. Fryar. They will be replacing R. O. Anderson, Jake Hodges and C. R. Crim.

Speaker for the occasion is a representative of the Federal Housing Administration from Dallas.

The Xi Alpha Beta Sorority will provide the meal for the banquet. Mrs. Leo Turner is in charge of arrangements.

Several representatives from Big Spring will attend the banquet, according to Carroll Davidson, Chamber manager here. They are Davidson, Kenneth Pace, assistant manager, Carlton Chapman and six or eight members of the Ambassador's Club.

Grand Jurors Being Selected

A jury commission, K. H. McGibbon, Horace Reagan and Ike Robb, was busy Tuesday selecting the names of 20 citizens to serve as the grand jury in Howard County for the January term of 118th District Court. The grand jurors will be notified to report to the court at 9 a.m. Tuesday.

Judge Ralph Caton pointed out the January term of court continues through the fourth Monday in June. It is the "long" term and it is not uncommon for the court to call the grand jury back for a second session before the term ends.

The grand jury is to consider about 30 felony matters Tuesday when it is empanelled.

Minimum Penalty

Three days in the county jail and a fine of $50 was meted out as punishment for Robert C. Meirless charged with DWI, when he entered a guilty plea Monday in Howard County court. Judge Lee Porter assessed the minimum penalty against the defendant.

Former Doctor In Jail Here

Eileen Bernice McAvoy, former Big Spring doctor whose license has been revoked by the state medical board, is being held in the Howard County jail.

She was returned here from Houston where she has been a patient in a Veterans Administration hospital. The hospital had decided to release the woman and notified county authorities.

Mrs. Sidney Boyles, who has been on the woman's bond, asked to be relieved of responsibility and her arrest was ordered by Gil Jones, district attorney.

Miller Harris, sheriff, Mrs. Boyles and Mrs. Ruby Phillips, county welfare officer, went to Houston to take custody of the prisoner.

Three indictments alleging violation of the state narcotic laws are pending against Miss McAvoy. Bond has been continued at $5,000 in each case. She was still in jail Tuesday morning.

OIL REPORT

Ellenburger Well Hits In Devonian

Pecos County has been assured of its first Devonian distillate production at Socony Mobil Oil Co. No. 1-B Effie Potts Sibley. The well recently opened the Ellenburger pay in the Coyanosa (Wolfcamp gas-distillate and Lamar and Delaware oil) field 22 miles northwest of Fort Stockton.

The operator has perforated the Devonian between 11,760-852 feet and that zone was acidized with 2,500 gallons of mud-acid. Operator cleaned to pits through a one-inch choke and then flowed an estimated gas rate of 16.5 million cubic feet per day for 14 hours.

Production tests through a 17-64 inch choke flowed 60 barrels of distillate with tubing pressure of 4,400 pounds. The gas rate was 3.9 million cubic feet per day and gas-distillate ratio was 37,500-1. Operator continues to test.

The well finaled Jan. 16 from the Ellenburger for a calculated absolute open flow of 21.73 million cubic feet of gas per day, plus 132.45 barrels of distillate with a gas-distillate ratio of 163,700-1. Production was from an open hole between 15,000-705 feet. This was discovery pay.

The project was bottomed at 16,282 feet and plugged back to 15,705 feet. It was the first well in the immediate area taken to the Ellenburger. Field pay has also been indicated from the Wolfcamp. Location is 1,980 feet from the north and east lines of section 45-?W, TTRR survey.

Previous recovery on the same interval included 95 feet of free oil and 6,000 feet of gas. The hole is C SW SW, section 4-32-4n, T&P survey, about five miles north of the Good (Fusselman) field.

GARZA

L. E. Windham No. 1 Post-Montgomery, spotting 467 feet from the north and east lines of section 1,226 A. Elevation is 2,544 feet, total depth is 3,572 feet, pay was topped at 3,485 feet, 4½ inch casing is at 3,571 feet and perforations between 3,485-89 feet were acidized with 256 gallons. The well had a gas-oil ratio of 184.

Weaknesses Are Assessed In South Vietnamese Effort

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP)—Hesitant leadership by South Vietnamese field officers and lack of aggressiveness by South Vietnamese GIs may prolong the war to crush Communist guerrillas threatening that country's independence.

This assessment emerges from talks with U.S. military officials involved in the massive American effort to help the pro-Western government in Saigon.

In the past year, the United States has fed money, military advisers and modern equipment into South Viet Nam and has made significant progress in improving the firepower, mobility, communications and planning of its armed forces.

U.S. experts have been trying to shape strong South Vietnamese military leadership from the top command to the squad level.

Results so far have been disappointing, particularly at the field echelon.

There is a feeling among some U.S. military authorities, who declined to be identified, that poor leadership could be the Achilles heel of the South Vietnamese effort to wipe out the persistent and resourceful Communist Viet Cong.

The top U.S. commander in South Viet Nam, Gen. Paul D. Harkins, took note of criticism voiced by unidentified American military advisers and issued a statement in Saigon.

"I believe that anyone who criticizes the fighting qualities of the armed forces of the republic of Viet Nam is doing a disservice to the thousands of gallant and courageous men who are fighting in the defense of their country," Harkins said.

Harkins said about 10,000 South Vietnamese soldiers have been killed in action in the past year and that almost 30,000 dead Viet Cong insurgents "attest to their courage."

U.S. advisers can only go so far —they are barred from issuing any commands in battle. There is little likelihood that this will change.

South Viet Nam's President Ngo Dinh Diem insists on holding a tight rein on his military forces. Even if he should consent to allowing U.S. officers command authority, there is the strong possibility the Communists would seize on this to picture South Viet Nam as a complete puppet of the United States.

Some of the difficulties of inculcating leadership in the South Vietnamese stem from the past when the French dominated the country and natives never were allowed to rise above junior officer grade.

The best—and best educated—South Vietnamese officers are in the many headquarters which are overstrength, by U.S. standards.

The battalions and rifle companies—where the fighting is done —are staffed with the less educated officers, mostly of peasant stock. These combat units are understrength in officers.

The result, as U.S. officials see it, is indecisiveness and timidity by small unit commanders in battle.

Because of these shortcomings, top commanders have been drafting detailed operational plans and insisting on rigid adherence. This denies the small unit leader any real initiative—even if he cares to exercise it.

There is another factor which may discourage Vietnamese field officers from sticking their necks out. U.S. authorities report that President Diem, who is his own war minister in practice, has been known to relieve commanders summarily after their units suffered casualties.

In contrast to the South Vietnamese officer corps, U.S. authorities say the Communist Viet Cong have dedicated leaders who are free to exercise considerable initiative.

The regular South Vietnamese soldier is considered tough and capable of great endurance.

However, American experts feel they lack motivation and that there are very real reasons why they may avoid taking chances in battle.

A soldier permanently disabled in action may have to support his family on as little as $9 a month in pension.

Vietnamese soldiers are paid less than some menial workers in Saigon and there is virtually nothing in the way of family help, dependent housing and survivor benefits. Leaves are few.

The Viet Cong are aware of this and try to subver the regulars. They have enjoyed some success, as is shown by a relatively high desertion rate.

U.S. officials realize it is unrealistic to try to achieve Western standards in the South Vietnamese army, but they have tried to prod the Diem government into taking greater measures to ease the lot of its soldiers and their families.

So far improvements have been slight.

GOP Colleagues Arranging Dinner Salute To Goldwater

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican colleagues are arranging a dinner salute to Sen. Barry Goldwater which they hope will produce a $500,000 to help bail out financially strapped party committees.

No mere $100-a-plate affair, the Goldwater testimonial is expected to attract sizable subscriptions from party financial angels who applaud the Arizona senator's conservative views.

If it tends to implant the Goldwater image more firmly on the party, GOP liberals will not like that. But some of them conceded privately there isn't much they can do about it.

Presumably the dinner, presently scheduled for Feb. 28, will supplant the customary June congressional fund-raising rally at which former President Dwight Eisenhower has been the principal attraction in recent years.

Goldwater has retired from the post he has held for four years as chairman of the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee. He was succeeded by Sen. Thruston B. Morton of Kentucky, former party national chairman.

In agreeing to permit himself to be lauded publicly for the contributions he has made toward getting Republican senators elected, Goldwater laid down some limits.

The first of these is that there mustn't be anything said about him as a potential candidate for the 1964 GOP presidential nomination. It will be all right, however, to remind the faithful that there is in the offing his likely candidacy for re-election in Arizona next year.

As matters stand, Goldwater has asked those who want to boom him for the presidential nomination to give him a year to think about it before he makes any decision.

Primarily the dinner is planned for members of the Senate and House. But Goldwater has stipulated that Republican governors also must be invited, but not necessarily urged, to attend.

The general feeling is that Eisenhower won't want to interrupt his winter vacation at Palm Springs, Calif., to participate.

READER RESPONSE

By T. H. Tarbet, Preacher
Church of Christ, 2900 West Highway 80

Last week's two articles on instrumental music drew response from some of the readers. One gentleman wrote: "Dear Bro. Tarbet, I was reading your writing about Ps. 150 as pertaining to musical instruments in the church. You certainly strain at a gnat and swallow a camel on that 'consistency' business. I find nowhere in my Bible — King James — where the early church had 'pews,' pulpit furniture, carpets, especially air conditioning, or even baptismal pools." I understand they baptized in rivers or surrounding lakes. Now, brother, let's be honest, if your church has any of these, it certainly couldn't be following exactly the N. T. church pattern, as you so claim!

"Consistency thou art a jewel!

"Sincerely yours,

47 Days On The Beach

William Hapgood Berry, 47, with his two children, Steven, 9, left, and Bonny, 14, are shown in Bay City along with the two cats that spent 47 days with the trio on bleak Matagorda Peninsula, a desert beach. Berry, an unemployed insurance salesman, says he took his children to the peninsula "to get them close to nature." They are shown after they were cleaned up and fed. Sheriff J. B. Cole said they were "unbelievably dirty and ragged" when picked up. Berry is charged with felony theft. A boat used by Berry was reportedly stolen.

Harsh Weather Spawns Some Exaggerated Yarns

INTERNATIONAL FALLS Minn. (AP)—A logger says the trees around International Falls are frozen so hard the woodpeckers can't tell them from iron pipes driven into the ground for markers.

That's typical of the stories spawned in this northern Minnesota city that as often as not finds itself at the bottom of the U.S. temperature chart.

The mercury dipped to 14 below zero Jan. 10, and it has taken a nosedive every day since. Not just a little below zero, either. Most days recently it's been 30 below or more. It was -38 Monday.

Surprisingly, such weather does little to slow down the normal activity of the town of 6,700, most of it centering around the cutting of pulpwood that is turned into paper by a big mill here.

Oscar Bergstrom, a pulpwood operator, says he has an agreement that his men don't have to work in the woods when it's colder than -30.

Why is -29 better than -30 for working in the woods? Nobody seems to know.

Natives say it usually is a quiet cold, with little wind to bite into exposed skin.

Another story going the rounds is that the popping of trees in the woods is barely louder than the jingling of fuel old and coal dealers' cash registers.

Trees give off loud bangs as their fibers are popped open by freezing of moisture in intense cold.

Even starting cars isn't much of a problem. Most residents use electrical heaters which keep the chill off the engine. One car dealer startled residents by installing a device which periodically starts the car's motor. More than one person has done a double take when an unoccupied vehicle zooms to life.

"About the only ones that give trouble are the cars of salesmen, who forget how cold it gets up here," says a local man.

Fishermen aren't deterred much in their quest of walleyes and lake trout, a big tourist draw in the wintertime. Portable and permanent fishing shacks dot the lakes. Some anglers use small tents heated with tiny stoves.

One angler on a nearby Canadian lake had his tent stove going so hot last week that it melted two feet of ice and dropped into the lake.

"Life pretty much goes on as usual, no matter how cold it gets," says Harry Davy, publisher of the International Falls Journal.

You're Known By Things You Keep

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—One of life's little ordeals is what to keep—and what to throw away.

Some people don't have this trouble at all. They are the neat, precise people who feel no particular kinship to inanimate things.

As soon as they finish reading today's newspaper, into the incinerator it goes. As soon as this week's issue of a magazine arrives, out goes last week's issue—whether it has been read or not.

Such people automatically throw away shoes as soon as the leather cracks a little, and suits as soon as they get shiny or show the first signs of wear.

They live in a world that is always fresh, clean, antiseptic and new—and their homes inevitably remind you of a furniture display in a department store window, inhabited by handsome mannequins, as free of dust as they are of individuality.

They dwell only in the present and future. They have no past, because they throw away anything that has a memory to it, anything that reminds them of something before now.

To me that seems a terribly spendthrift and wasteful way to live. My hero is the man who will gladly lend you the new shirt off his back, but wouldn't part with a favorite old hat for fifty bucks.

Things have a meaning in your life not for their monetary value, but for what they stand in terms of remembered joy—or sometimes tears. Those who carelessly throw away the souvenirs of their past are, in a very real way, destroying part of their life.

There are those who say that, if you hoard oddments and trifles as you grow older, you are merely demonstrating that you had an insecure childhood. I choose to regard this habit in another light—as a safeguard against an insecure adulthood, which afflicts us all.

When you surround yourself with objects that remind you of pleasant times gone by, they can be a strong solace and comfort in a perilous present.

So I assure my wife anyway. But Frances, who so far has succumbed only to an inherited weakness for saving string, replies:

"You're just a frustrated junk man at heart, a born clutterbug. Do you have to save everything? For example, why do you still keep in a box that tooth you broke on a government chocolate bar in Tunisia in 1943?"

"Because when I look at it," I tell her, "I can see again the waving wheatfields of North Africa. The old Roman ruins by moonlight. Troops around a campfire. Hills sea-blue with flowers, or red with poppies."

"Well, if you'd lost two teeth there, heaven knows what you might be seeing," says Frances.

The truth is I have such a loyalty to old things I hate to let go of anything that ever touched my life—paid or unpaid bills, theater programs, plaid socks beyond further darning, old photos and letters—souvenirs of all kinds. It is a crippling shock to me to be forced to throw anything away.

My retirement goal is to buy a small four-room house with three basements and seven attics—and spend the rest of my days dwelling happily in the endless clutter and debris I've accumulated.

When I pass on, I intend to leave instructions in my will for my survivors to dig me a huge grave, and hire a bulldozer to push all that wonderful, dream-filled mass of memorabilia right in on top of me.

If you can't take it with you, why not stay there where it is?

Worker Killed

LEVELLAND (AP)—An explosion at a gasoline refinery Monday killed Edwin Wilcox, 51, a former Palestine resident.

Walker Not Cited By Jury

OXFORD, Miss. (AP)—The federal government has dropped charges against former Army Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker and six others arrested after the University of Mississippi desegregation riots last fall.

U.S. Atty. H. H. Ray asked for the dismissal Monday several hours after a federal grand jury quit without indicting Walker.

The charges against Walker were dismissed by U.S. Dist. Judge Claude F. Clayton "without prejudice." This means the federal government may reconsider them before the statute of limitations expires in five years.

Kennedy Hails U.N. Victory In Katanga

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has hailed the end of the Katanga secession and declared that the Congolese now have an opportunity "to rally behind their national and provincial leadership."

He said the peaceful entry of U.N. forces into the Katanga stronghold of Kolwezi had confirmed the downfall of the separatist regime of Moise Tshombe.

This, he said in a statement Monday, "is warmly welcomed by the United States and all who are concerned with the future of the Congo and the whole of Africa."

He said the Eisenhower administration "determined wisely" that the U.S. goal of seeking conditions allowing the Congolese to work out their own future could best be pursued through the United Nations.

He added that his administration had vigorously supported the U.N. efforts.

The American people, he said, are deeply indebted to U.N. Secretary-General U Thant and to his predecessor, Dag Hammarskjold, "who gave his life in the quest for peace" in the Congo.

Assistant Secretary of State G. Mennen Williams expressed belief that the U.N. success also had brought dividends to the United States.

The U.S. participation in the U.N. Congo operation, he said, "has greatly increased the respect of Africans for us."

Williams, chief of the State Department's Bureau of African Affairs, viewed the U.N. victory as, in effect, a defeat for communism.

In an interview he explained his reasoning:

"We think the major achievement of the U.N. operation was to remove one of the main obstacles to Congo unity and stability. Now the Congo government can get things rolling. Whenever there is stability or independence, the capacity of the Communists to enter and interfere is greatly diminished, or even diminished to zero."

Braceros Due To Return Home

MEXICO CITY (AP) — About 1,000 Mexicans are expected to return from the United States before the end of this month, winding up the 1962 bracero program. The Interior Ministry said about 199,000 went to work on U.S. farms.

What Kind Of Man Is The Mercenary?

By RICHARD K. O'MALLEY

ELISABETHVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Eight men lounged on cots in a makeshift internment room at Elisabethville Airport. Two played blackjack. A couple of others read paperbacks. A bored United Nations guard looked on.

These were eight mercenaries who had led troops for Katanga President Moise Tshombe in his unsuccessful battle to secede from the central Congo. All had been captured and were awaiting repatriation.

What kind of a man is the 20th-century mercenary soldier?

Let's take the case of Skimmer, a 6-foot-2 South African with a broad grin that never quite reaches his eyes and the shoulders of a professional fullback.

Skimmer has a fund of natural charm if you don't notice that the green eyes rarely smile. He is bluff and hearty and talks easily.

Now that the fighting was over, what did he worry about?

"I suppose I won't get the last of my pay," he said. "I don't see how they can pay that now and I can use it."

Mercenaries got around $1,000 a month with half paid in foreign currency, the rest in Katangan francs. Skimmer thought the pay wasn't bad. "They gave us three months in advance when we signed up."

About half of his enormous right bicep had been shot away by automatic rifle fire. He walked to a dressing station and got back into the fighting after treatment.

"This arm isn't ever going to be the same again. I lost too much muscle. Still got a machine-gun slug in my hip. It's not comfortable."

Did he want to join up some other venture?

"Not me. But I hope I get the last of my pay. I can use it. I got a relative in South Africa who runs a little garage. I'm going to go in with him."

Skimmer didn't want to talk much about the fighting, but he obviously was chagrined at the way he had been captured.

"I nipped into Elisabethville for a good dinner. First thing I know I was surrounded by guns. . .

"I expect we'll be sent off pretty soon now. It's been all right here. Absolutely no abuse, no bad treatment. The food is good. We've got no complaints."

It was hard to imagine him poking into the creaky workings of an automobile in a South African garage.

More To Leave Castro's Cuba

HAVANA (AP) — Between 900 and 1,000 relatives of Cuban invasion prisoners and up to 205 Americans are expected to leave Cuba for the United States this week.

The Swiss Embassy announced Monday night that the way had been cleared for the relatives of the former prisoners to sail aboard the American freighter Shirley Lykes, probably within a week.

An embassy spokesman said up to 205 American citizens living in Cuba also are scheduled to leave on two plane flights, one each on Wednesday and Friday. They are U.S. citizens being repatriated and have no connection with the prisoners' relatives.

ARM AND SHOULDER PAIN

By HALVARD T. HANSEN, D.C.

Hardly a week goes by without someone coming to the Hansen Chiropractic Clinic complaining of a pain in the shoulder and upper arm that may or may not extend into the hand and fingers.

We find that many have been diagnosed as Bursitis and have tried most everything from heat on the shoulder to tranquilizing drugs for relief. When all efforts fail and their unbearable pains persist, they find their way to the chiropractor, who can usually relieve their misery.

There are various types of shoulder and arm conditions but we find the pain can often be eliminated by tracing the affected nerves to their points of irritation in the spine and removing the cause. If you find water on the floor, don't you look to see where it is coming from, or do you close the door and try to forget about it?

The bursa is a sack-like fibrous membrane that encloses a joint and keeps the socket lubricated much like your mouth is kept moist. Bursisit simply means this bursa has become inflamed which causes severe pain with some loss of movement.

Frozen shoulder is an affliction that starts with painful arm movements which is usually worse at night when inactive muscles become contracted. If neglected, this condition gradually limits normal range of movement such as combing the hair, slipping a dress over the head, or reaching up for something.

One of the most common painful shoulder and arm conditions is the Scalenus Anticus Syndrome which is simply an inflammation of the brachial nerves associated with a reflex spasm of the scalenus muscle of the shoulder. This painful condition is caused by displacement of a neck vertebra or the first or second rib. Reflex pains often extend to the upper chest, arm pit, between the shoulders, in the neck, and up the back of the head. The arm gives a feeling of being heavy as if it will drop off. The arm and hand often feel cold with numbness and tingling, and weakness of grip. Such tasks as sweeping, shaving, painting, etc., may cause severe pain.

This local woman, examined last fall, stated that she had not been able to lift her arm or tie her apron for about six or seven months. I traced the restriction and with X-ray located the origin or cause of the arm disability and began treatment. Progress was rapid considering the length of time she had been disabled, and as the spasm of the scalenus muscle and surrounding tissue returned to normal flexibility, "the arm is as good as new," she stated the other day when she brought her daughter into the office. No. 1906.

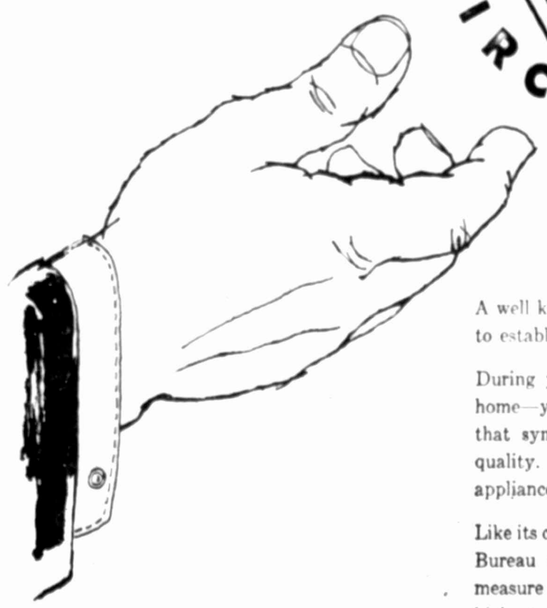

You may be suffering needlessly with an arm or a shoulder pain that you believe hopeless. Why not investigate as other wise readers are doing? What can you lose except your shoulder pains? Across from Piggly Wiggly and open until 6 p.m. AM 3-3324. —Adv.

Miss Kitty Kallen Has Found Her Way Back

By WILLIAM OLCOTT

LAS VEGAS (AP)—"Success went to my throat instead of my head."

That is how vocalist Kitty Kallen explains the mysterious emotional illness which robbed her of her voice for four years.

"When it happened I was singing at the Palladium in London," says Miss Kallen. "One night I went on stage and just couldn't sing. I finished my engagement but I was croaking, not singing."

When the affliction struck the tiny entertainer she was physically exhausted. She had been working hard and thought it was just a simple case of laryngitis.

But when she made a record her voice was perfect. Paralysis came when she faced an audience.

"That's when I knew it was something beyond the physical."

She says the problem basically was one of adopting to fame. Kitty suddenly found herself among the top female vocalists in show business.

"I just couldn't handle the adulation. I was making more money than the President of the United States. It seemed to me that no one was worthy of the money nor the excessive praise."

She tried psychiatry but without success.

Kitty told it this way:

"Psychiatry didn't help me, in fact, it hurt me and even prolonged the sickness. It made me sicker. I'm sure it has helped many people but I was too dumb for it.

"It made me too introspective at a time when I should have been thinking less of myself and more of others."

Miss Kallen commuted from her home in Englewood, N.J., to a psychiatrist in Manhattan five times a week for four years. But the problem remained.

MISS KITTY KALLEN

She tried hypnosis but that too failed.

"I recorded a few songs under hypnosis and they sounded pretty good," Kitty remembers.

But whenever she stood before a live audience, the old fear returned to paralyze her voice.

Seeking an answer to her sickness she finally came round to faith.

The turning point came when she faced a deep personal loss. After her mother-in-law died, Kitty went to pieces and became hysterical.

Her little boy saw her crying and said, "Mommy, it's in God's hands."

"I know it must sound corny but a light went on for me," the singer relates. "The one thing which was so obvious I had failed to see. I was trying to carry too much myself when a lot of life is in God's hands."

From that moment on Kitty rallied. She never went back to the psychiatrist.

Now the job was to get back to work, a difficult task for an entertainer away from show business for four years. She had to re-establish old contacts and prove to show people she had conquered the fear.

Singing under an assumed name, Kitty Kaplain, she opened at the Red Barn, a small club outside Providence, R.I.

Her voice was strong again. She signed for an engagement at the Palmer House in Chicago, then the Persian Room in the Plaza Hotel in New York.

With each success her confidence vaulted. Her record, "My Coloring Book," is climbing near the top of the best-seller charts. She recently played a four-week stand at the Hotel Sahara here.

"I live with the fear the sickness might return," the brown-haired songstress admits, "but I think I have it licked.

"I want to go on singing."

Keeping Tab On T&P's Freight Car Movement

Let Al's Automatic Laundry Do Washing For You

Who wants to get his or her hands in a wet wash and then stand out in the cold wind and hang the family laundry on the line, especially during the cold winter months?

With nothing to do but raise a lid, put in the clothes, push a dime into a slot, set the "hot or warm" temperture, and sit down and read, while the machine is going, the housewife or husband can really relax while Al's Automatic Laundry machines do the work.

When the wash is done all the person has to do is to put them into one of the driers, pay for the time desired, and sit back again.

He can either join his neighbors in a "fix the country" session, or read his magazine or book, and wait for the drier to stop.

Then all he has to do is take the clothes home and fold them.

Al's Automatic Laundry, located at 403 Aylford, is a neat-looking place with 10 Frigidaire Commercial Washers and two big Cook Tumblette dryers.

The washers are equipped with two water temperatures, to be set, depending upon the kind of fabrics a person put in. They have lint chasers which take up the loose threads, lint, and other small particles which might otherwise stick to the clothing and show up when they are dried, to be picked off by hand. The lids are used to start or stop the machines. If the clothing gets "lop-sided" in the machine, a red light comes on and the machine stops. When the load is balanced, and the lid closed, the machine gets busy again. This prevents uneven washing and insures cleaner garments.

The Tumblette Dryers may be set on low heat for delicate fabrics, or on high for regular fabrics. A dime will run the dryer for 10 minutes and two dimes for 20 minutes. This depends upon what is put in them for drying.

Be sure and take not more than 50-cent or 25-cent pieces with you. If you need dimes there's a machine to give you five dimes for 50 cents, and another machine to give you a nickle and two dimes for 25 cents. There's also a coke machine for refreshments while waiting on the laundry.

In these times, when both husband and wife work, there isn't much time left at home to do the always tedious job of laundering the family wash. If there are children the laundry accumulates in a big pile or has to be done more than once a week.

Al's Automatic Laundry was designed to help people to relax and to prevent drudgery when it comes to getting out that big pile of dirty clothes.

There's parking room for all those who patronize the automatic laundry at 403 Aylford, and the building is comfortable in the coldest weather.

Where Washing Is Easy

Al's Automatic Laundry, 403 Aylford, is equipped to give comfort as well as efficiency for those needing the service of the plant. Frigidaire Commercial washers and Cook Tumblette dryers are used, and all are kept in top condition. The neat little building provides comfort on cold days and nights, and has rest rooms for customers' convenience.

New Catalogues Are Out At Montgomery Ward's

The new spring and summer catalogues are out from Montgomery Ward, permitting customers to "window shop" at home, and providing over 100,000 items to choose from.

Montgomery Ward assures fast delivery on most items coming in from Fort Worth. A few items, which have to be shipped from factories, take a little longer.

In addition to the regular catalogue, there are smaller catalogues of photographic equipment, farm and garden tools and supplies, and several others. Some of these are available at the local Montgomery Ward catalogue office and some must be ordered.

The more than 100,000 items of merchandise, some of which are in stock at the retail store, and some of which may be secured on short notice, makes the local store the largest department store in Big Spring.

The same terms are available, whether the merchandise is selected in the store or from the pages of the mammoth catalogue. Shoppers are urged to stop by the store and take advantage of dual shopping convenience.

K And Teddy

Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev shows off the stuffed teddy bear which was presented to him during his visit to an East Berlin electronics factory. With him on his factory visit is Nicolai Podgrony, Ukrainian Communist leader. While Khrushchev was at the factory, Wu-Hsiu-Chuan, Communist China's top delegate to the East German Communist Party Congress in East Berlin, made a speech rejecting the Soviet leader's advice to soft pedal the Moscow-Peking dispute.

City Planner Goes Over Park, Recreation Program Here

Marvin Springer, planning consultant for the City of Big Spring, was in the city last week to go over the Master Plan bond program's parks and recreation plans with city officials.

"I have prepared a map outlining the possible needs for a long-range program of park, playground, and playing field sites," he said. "We want to evaluate the present park and ground system to set some standards, and place the emphasis on what should be recommended for the general program."

Springer spent several hours looking over present sites, and suggested sites, to come up with a long-range proposal for a projected population of 80,000 people. He will later present a detailed plan and map for use in the 1963 program of rehabilitation of the municipal golf course, new playground facilities in all parks, and probable additional grounds. New tables, shelters, and other equipment will be added to existing parks, and picnic shelters at Moss Creek Lake.

The consultant has an estimated acreage, per 1,000 people, for various needs. He recommends, after studies of other cities, an overall standard 16 to 20 acres of park land per 1,000 people, broken down as follows. Large parks in the city, four to six acres; reservations, eight to 10 acres; playfields, one to two acres; playgrounds, one to two acres, and squares, triangles and miscellaneous types, less than one acre.

He lists the large existing parks, and acreages, as follows: City Park (active area) 210 acres, allowing for playing field and playground area; Big Spring State Park, 439.6 acres; Scenic Overlook on South Mountain, 30 acres.

Reservatons listed were at Moss Creek Lake only, with 439 6 acres.

Playfields included: Birdwell Park, 20.4 acres; Northside, 20 acres; City Park, 20 acres; Webb area, 20 acres, and Cosden View, 16 acres.

Playgrounds proposed included, with acreages; East End 4, Southeast 4, South Mountain 4, City Park 4, West End 4, Northside 2.9, Northwest 4, Northeast 4, Cosden View 4, South Mountain East and West, 4 acres each, and South Park 4.

Squares, triangles and miscellaneous, described, including acreages, were: Washington Triangle .10, Lincoln Triangle .8, Elgin 1.44, Jefferson Neighborhood .70, and Park Street .58.

A total of 1,265.4 acres were listed as available on city-owned property. He estimates the adequate acreage needed for the long-range plan would be 1,663.5.

331st Pilots Make Live Missile Firings

For the past three weeks, 331st FIS pilots and aircraft have been firing live missiles at Holloman AFB, N.M., to help evaluate a new AF Missile Scoring System, called VIDAT.

Leaving in flights of two, each aircraft carries four GAR-1D missiles to be fired at drone targets during the evaluation.

Capt. William Richardson and Lt. Robert Buckey were the first pilots to leave for Holloman. On Jan. 10, Capt. Richard Sullivan, and Lt. Don Young went to Holloman; on Jan. 14 Capt. Ken Bruce, and Lt. James Nelson made the run.

Although VIDAT results are classified, the 331st Pilots have been scoring well; during the first week Lt. Buckey made a direct hit.

City, Schools Expected To Combine Tax Offices

LAMESA (SC)—Acceptance of a contract by the City of Lamesa is all that stands between the immediate merger of the city and Lamesa School District's tax offices. The city is expected to approve the contract in the near future.

An okay by the city would climax weeks of detailed study of the operations of both taxing agencies and was made with a particular view toward economy, efficiency and convenience to the public.

Costs of new equipment will be shared on a 50-50 basis and personnel in the office will be employed solely by the school district. The assessor-collector will assess and collect taxes for all real and personal property within the boundaries of both districts. A special delinquent tax collector will be appointed.

Administration, police and budget of the consolidated office will be determined by the assessor-collector, subject only to the approval of school trustees. The ratio of property assessment will be the same and changes are authorized only by mutual agreement of both parties.

Monthly and annual reports will be provided to the city as well as an annual estimate of anticipated revenue. All other expenses of the office, such as salaries, stamps, stationery, mileage, rent, etc., will be shared on a percentage basis with the school paying 63 and the city 37 per cent of the operation.

Those figures are based on proportionate shares of the total assessed valuation of both the city and school district properties, less oil and gas properties outside the city limits, for which the school district will bear full expense.

Temporarily, only necessary records will be pooled into one office since a site for the consolidated unit has not been determined. School officials are contemplating expansion of the present business office to accommodate the newly acquired records and personnel.

The merger would climax several weeks of study and was made possible partially by the completion last year of a revaluation program jointly sponsored by both agencies. Both facilities were then placed on the same valuation basis.

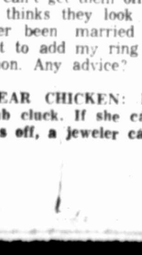

Interest Raised By Savings Firm

LAMESA (SC)—Lamesa Federal Savings & Loan Association has raised its rates of interest from four to 4½ per cent retroactive to Jan. 1, it was announced here by Will Q. Morris, executive vice president, following annual meetings of stockholders and directors.

Morris said the anticipated dividend would be payable semi-annually on June 30 and Dec. 31.

Perry Roberts, long-time treasurer of the firm, was also appointed as a vice president and Ray Renner was elected as a director to serve the remaining term of the late Carl Rountree. Dr. A. H. Smith and M. E. Smart were re-elected to three year terms each.

Morris also announced the appointment of Mrs. Jeannie Benson as assistant secretary of the Seminole branch of Lamesa Federal, which is now being managed by Roberts.

DEAR ABBY

Problems Not So Big

DEAR ABBY: My husband has a few faults I would like to tell you about. Whenever we go any place he walks about four or five steps ahead of me. I sometimes wonder if he isn't trying to give the impression that we aren't together.

He also has had two fried eggs for breakfast every morning since we've been married. He takes about five minutes to cut up his eggs with a knife, and then he places little pieces on his toast and eats it that way. He also has a habit of leaving shaving cream and whiskers in the sink. We have been married 46 years and I have hollered my head off about these habits, but it has done no good. Have you any suggestions?

TIRED WIFE

DEAR TIRED: Some men are deaf to hollering. Having lived with him for 46 years, overlook his minor faults and don't press your luck. Many widows would love to have your "problems."

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I am keeping company with a woman who is attractive, peppy and lots of fun. She's in her middle 30's and so am I. There is one thing I don't like about her. She wears three wedding rings — one right next to the other. She admits she has had three husbands. One died and she divorced two. I don't know whether she wears those rings because she can't get them off or because she thinks they look good. I've never been married and don't want to add my ring to her collection. Any advice?

CHICKEN

DEAR CHICKEN: Don't be a dumb cluck. If she can't get the rings off, a jeweler can help her. If you are interested in marrying her, ask her to get rid of the three-ring circus.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I am 17 and have a little boy eight months old. I am not married and never was. I didn't love the baby's father enough to marry him. It was just a wrong mistake. I met a boy about five months ago. I really love him and he wants to marry me. He doesn't know the baby is mine. I told him it was my sister's. (She is married.) I am afraid if I tell him the truth he won't want to marry me, but I can't keep it a secret forever. Please tell me if I should tell him. And if so, how?

YOUNG MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: You most certainly should tell him. And tell him exactly the way you told me. It was a "wrong mistake." He'll understand. And if he loves you, he'll marry you anyway. If he doesn't, you are better off to know now.

* * *

CONFIDENTIAL TO T. J.: You are better than you think you are. The more things a man is ashamed of, the more respectable he is.

BIG SPRING DAILY HERALD

SECTION B — BIG SPRING, TEXAS, TUESDAY, JANUARY 22, 1963 — SECTION B

H. Dauphin Quits Bison Grid Post

STANTON — Harlin Dauphin resigned as head coach at Stanton High School Monday, effective at the end of the school year.

DAUPHIN

Dauphin, an alumnus of Hardin - Simmons University and a veteran of 13 years in the coaching profession, has acquired an 80-acre farm nine miles out of Mount Vernon and said he might seek employment either in school administration or as a coach somewhere in that area.

Dauphin has been one of the most successful coaches in Stanton history and was under no pressure here, either from the school board or the fans.

He said he regretted leaving, but felt that it was time to make a change.

Dauphin has been head coach here five years, during which time his football teams won 28 games, lost 21 and tied one. His basketball teams have copped 108 victories and lost 34 times. Right now, the Stanton basketball team is considered the prime favorite to win the District 7-AA championship, having knocked off Crane last weekend.

Dauphin started his coaching career at Judson but was called back into service during the Korean War before he could complete a year there. He was at Hawkins as a coach for six years and coached in the Navy for two years.

Dauphin's first assistant, Larry Lewis, also submitted his resignation to accept a job as B team coach and head track coach at Jacksboro. He started on his new job yesterday.

No successor to Dauphin has been named and probably won't be for several weeks.

Dauphin indicated he would coach track and field here this spring. Lewis has had that job the past couple of years.

Shock Trooper

Billy Andrews (above), a junior, is one of the boys coach Delnor Poss of the Big Spring High School basketball team invariably calls on when he wants to give his regulars a rest. Bill doesn't score much, but he's good at keeping the ball away from the opposition and "feeding" the other players on his team.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With TOMMY HART

Sports dialogue:

COL. BOB WHITLOW, after he had been hired as athletic director of the Chicago Cubs:

"Perhaps Mr. Wrigley (owner of the Cubs) figured it would take an Air Force officer to get the team off the ground."

* * * *

SANDY KOUFAX, star hurler of the Los Angeles Dodgers:

"I haven't touched a baseball since the end of the 1962 season. I honestly don't know what effect gripping the ball will have. I'm not especially eager to start, I must admit. I've got to start sometime, so I'll know a lot more by mid-February."

* * * *

JAY HERBERT, pro golfer:

"The year I won the National PGA (1960), I had two strokes to get the ball into the hole on the 18th green, from 15 feet away. I went into a trance. I don't remember swinging my putter to move the ball on either shot. But I do know the ball came up about six inches short of the cup on the first putt. I'm sure if it had been 18 inches, I'd never have gotten it in."

SHERMAN

* * * *

ALLIE SHERMAN, coach of the New York (football) Giants:

"Greasy Neale was one of the most superstitious coaches I ever met. Opening game one year was on a blistering hot day and Greasy was wearing a lightweight summer suit. We won. So he had to wear that same suit, his lucky suit, as the game days grew colder and colder. We were huddling under blankets while Greasy stood on the sidelines in the summer suit. As long as we won, he wore it. We lost eventually. It saved him from pneumonia . . . Greasy let me quarterback one game against the Chicago Bears. At one point an official called one against the Bears. A Bear pushed the official. An Eagle pushed the Bear. And all Hades broke loose. It was a free-for-all, everybody swinging at everybody else. Suddenly Bulldog Turner reached out a big hand and plucked me off the ground, dangling me. 'Oh, it's you, Allie,' he said in disappointment. 'You're too small.' He threw me back in the pile and went looking for bigger game."

* * * *

MURRAY OLDERMAN, NEA writer-cartoonist:

"Revelations of lie detector tests on National Football League players started with a gossip column item . . . You can bet your boots that, besides Rick Cesares, one of the real glamour boys was involved."

* * * *

TOMMY PROTHRO, Oregon State football coach:

"I'm on the coaches' rules committee, and I'm one of the few men who voted against free substitution. The more unlimited substitution becomes, the more it affects the balance when the semi-large school, which we are, plays the really large school such as Ohio State and Notre Dame. They have more good boys and good coaches, which we can't afford. Leaving out the winning factor, I feel a boy ought to learn to play both ways."

* * * *

MAURICE PODOLOFF, president of the pro basketball league:

"A reduction in the number of games in our league would be reflected in a like reduction in salaries. When we pay players the salaries we do and our arenas have limited seating capacities —the one in Los Angeles is biggest and it seats only 15,000—we've got to be able to do something to pay the salaries. I'm sure if we ask the players if they want a pay cut, they will stop complaining. Besides, these men are youthful and physically able to take the travel."

* * * *

ED SHORT, marager of Chicago White Sox, after his club had recently traded players with Baltimore:

"I think you can throw out the year Ron Hansen had last season. He was in the Army most of the season and sometimes he was a soldier by day and a ball player by night. We think he can come close to having the year he had in 1960 . . . 22 home runs, 86 RBI's. I'll say honestly that when Luis Aparicio was having a good season, no one can cover as much ground as he can. But Hansen is a solid shortstop, and a good power hitter. As for Dave Nicholson, well, maybe we know something about him that Baltimore didn't. We've been real high on him for a long time. Right after we made the trade, Paul Richards called me and said if we could get Nicholson out of the American League he could make a good deal for him from Houston. Hoyt Wilhelm is 39 but he's still the best relief pitcher in the business. The way he throws, Hoyt can be pitching until he's 49. And Pete Ward could conceivably bat in the No. 4 spot for us."

STRIKES, SPARES

BS Pin-Topplers Prosper In Meet

Saturday and Sunday saw many bowlers from Big Spring participating in the Midland Invitational Tournament, and as usual, the Big Spring Bowlers turned in very respectable scores.

Billy R. Carter had the high individual scratch series with a large 662. Carter and Doug McDonald are on top in doubles with 1310. Doug McDonald is second in singles with a 690, Chester Coffman is ninth with 661, and W. C. Fryar is twelfth with 656. The Misfits of Big Spring are 14th in team with 2971.

The Big Spring Men's 12th annual City tournament, to be held February 2-3 and 9-10, received its official A.B.C. sanction and entry blanks can be picked up at the Bowl-A-Rama. The rules and all pertinent data are on the entry blanks, but rule 16 on the blank has been deleted with the exception that the Big Spring Bowling Association Executive Committee is the managing committee. This is a handicap tournament based on a composite average, and multiple entry. Pick your dates and get your entries in early to be assured of the time you want to bowl.

Winners of the Silver Dollar Doubles at the local Bowl-A-Rama produced some good scores. The winners were Winnie Cunningham and his wife, Jean Cunningham, with 1343. Tee Alano and Bill Cadzon were second with 1246 and Leon Kerby and Nellie Kerby were third with 1223. When those red and green pins come into the No. 1 and No. 3 position, strikes are hard to get. Ask the persons who have shot at them. A new Silver Dollar Doubles contest starts each week.

Again this year, local bowlers are contributing to the March of Dimes by conducting the March of Dimes tournament. This tournament operates differently from regular meets in that a tournament as such is not conducted. Any league member can enter the tournament for $1 and the score bowled in regular league play is the tournament score for that person.

This too, is handicap, using an average in that league of 75 per cent of 200. This is multiple entry, and a person can enter as many times as he bowls in a league, simply by paying the $1 fee. This fee goes to the March of Dimes. Local merchants have donated cash prize money, the winner getting $50, 2nd place $25, 3rd place $15, 4th place $10, 5th place 10 lines of bowling, and 6th place five lines of bowling. The 5th and 6th place prizes are donated by the Bowl-A-Rama. This is probably the least expensive tournament a person can enter, and probably will do more good for more people than any other tournament of its kind.

It seems that local bowlers enjoyed the rest during the holidays, but then settled down to do some serious bowling. Many good scratch games were bowled. Among the leaders are J. C. Self, Gulf Parks, 246; Al Pope, Harding Well Service, 234; Lt. Jack Wilson, Pilot Training, 232; Al Pope, Security State Bank, 223; Tom Clam, Highway Wrecking, 222; Oscar Nabors, Nabors Wash-O-Rama, 220; Doyle Irvin, Forsan Oil Service, 218; Jim Newsom, 217; Larry (Lefty) Howe, Mayflower, 215; Ace Wilkerson, Wilson Bros., 214; Howard Hendrix, T. H. McCann, two nice games of 214 each; O. D. O'Daniel, C. D. Turner Drilling Co., 213; Pete Tommison, T. H. McCann, 212; and Wade Bledsoe, Pearl Beer, 211.

The ladies were not to be outdone this week and turned in some very good scores. Among the leaders are: Ronnie Bachstadt, J. Johnson, 246; Jessie Pearl Watson, 239; Nadene Cortez, Reeder Insurance, 229; Fran Howe, Girdner Elect., 220; Wanda Warren, B&H Cleaners, 220; Joann O'Daniel, 220; Harriet Shroeder, Hull & Phillips, 219; Marie McDonald, Pinkies, 213; Jewell Wadsworth, Golden Nuggett, 212; Frances Glenn, Pinkies, 211; Sugar Brown, Lumber Bin, 213; Pat Allen, Coahoma Toys, 209; June White, Rocco Builders, 204; Wanda Warren, Warren Chiropractic, 204; Olive Cauble, Truman Jones Motor, 201; Dot Hood, Truman Jones, 201; Helen Cardwell, Carden Construction, 200.

Special congratulations are in order for Jack Walker, bowling for Nabors Paint, for his first sanctioned 200, a nice 205. Congratulations are also in order for J. C. Self for a 604 series, and Howard Hendrix for a 614 series.

It was nice to see Fred Martin at the Midland Tournament. Fred, who lives in Odessa, played football for the Steers in the early 30's. He is bowling for Phillips 66 in Odessa.

Do not forget the Texas State Tournament to be held in Fort Worth, March 16 through April 28, 1963. Entries close February 2.

BO BELINSKY

Belinsky Set For Brand-New Baseball Year

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

There are some who claim Bo Belinsky's best pitch is the one he makes off the field.

Belinsky, who ran into more trouble in his first season in major league baseball than Napoleon did at Waterloo, insists it's a screwball.

He says it without cracking a smile. Apparently he is going to get a chance to prove it one way or another during the 1963 season with the Los Angeles Angels, who signed him Tuesday with this guarded accolade from General Manager Fred Haney.

"He could become one of the game's fine pitchers. It's strictly up to him. He has great ability and if he concentrates on baseball, Bo can become a great asset to the club, to baseball and to himself."

Belinsky, who came to the majors more celebrated as a pool shark than a pitcher and for a time found it just as easy to put the ball in the strike zone as the side pocket, had a sensational rookie year in 1962.

He was fined $250 for after-hours shenanigans, was the subject of a $150,000 damage suit and was the center of a controversial trade which he eventually helped to kill. He also pitched a no-hitter and posted a 10-11 record.

That pitching record did not make as much an impression on Haney as his antics off the field. It was rumored he was to be traded to Kansas City to complete a deal in which the Angels acquired pitcher Dan Osinski, but Commissioner Ford Frick vetoed that move.

Jayhawks Host Odessa In 8 O'Clock Battle

Two storied basketball rivals, Howard County Junior College and Odessa College, square off in a Western Conference game at 8 o'clock here this evening.

This is one of two home games for the Hawks this week, they square off with South Plains of Levelland at 8 o'clock Saturday night. HCJC now stands 4-1 in league play, having won over Clarendon, NMMI and Lubbock Christian twice. The Hawk defeat came at the hands of South Plains in Levelland.

Odessa is experiencing only so-so luck this season and finished dead last in the HCJC Christmas tournament last month. However, that is no tipoff on how it will fare with HCJC. Invariably, the Wranglers always play their best game against the Hawks.

Overall, the Wranglers are 7-7 and have scored an average of 57.3 points to 58.9 for the opposition.

HCJC is 18-3 overall, despite the fact that coach Buddy Travis hasn't been able to field his strongest lineup in nearly a month now.

Travis had to use a crippled Walter Carter against NMMI here last weekend, simply because he didn't have enough able-bodied players otherwise.

Carter, although he was still favoring a broken hand, came through with flying colors, scoring 12 points.

Odessa will probably start a team composed of Joe Varro, 6-1; Robert Duzan, 6-3; Bobby Green, 6-1; Ed Gardner, 5-10; and either Vince Panozzo, 6-3, or Sterling Jeter, 5-10, here.

Others who will accompany the Wranglers here include Bill Moore, 6-7; Joe Acevedo, 5-8; Ronnie White, 5-11; Ray Hawkins, 5-11; Buddy Othick, 6-0, and Stanley Heaps, 6-0.

In one of their most recent starts, the Wranglers were nosed out by Frank Phillips of Borger, 58-56.

Travis is apt to open with a lineup consisting of Ernest Turner, Conroy Lacy, Bill (Cotton) Thompson, Charles Cumbers and Jim Oldham.

Jim Wilburn, a regular guard, is still favoring a twisted ankle. Carter will be used, if necessary.

Terry Williams, the Hawks' new man from Hobbs, N.M., doesn't become eligible until after tonight. He is expected to be of great help to the Hawks in the stretch run for the Western Conference championship.

Yearlings Lick Lakeview In Pair Of Engagements

Runnels Junior High's two basketball teams scored a clean sweep in games with Big Spring Lakeview here Monday evening.

The ninth grade Yearlings vanquished the Rockets after a slow start, 45-38. The eighth graders' margin of victory was 40-12.

The ninth grade Yearlings trailed practically all of the game but used a full court press in the final quarter to pull out in front.

Paul Thomas was especially effective for Lakeview, pouring in 18 points—all on field goals. He hit six buckets the first half and, no doubt, would have counted more had his teammates been able to get the ball to him.

Joe Jaure counted 24 points for the Yearlings while Bobby Baker did a splendid job of rebounding for Runnels.

Runnels' ninth now has a 10-3 won-lost record.

In eighth grade action, it was Runnels all the way. The Yearlings led, 11-5, at the end of the first quarter, 21-9 at half time and 36-9 after three periods.

Runnels' won - lost record is now 9-2.

Gary Rogers bombed the Lakeview defenses for 15 points while Ronnie Anderson had eight and James Carver six.

Robert Green of Lakeview paced his club with six points.

Runnels hit 45 per cent of its shots from the court the first half and 27 the last half, compared to 10 and 11 per cent for Lakeview.

The Runnels teams will play the High School Sophomores next Monday.

Loyola Has But 1 Senior On Starting Cage Lineup

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Note to Loyola of Chicago's future basketball opposition: If you are waiting for Rambler coach George Ireland to run thin in the talent department, don't hold your breath.

The fast-moving Ramblers, ranked second in the nation and the country's highest-scoring major college team, have a lot going for them—and that includes youth.

Jerry Harkness is the only senior on Loyola's unbeaten powerhouse. The four other starters are juniors—John Egan, Les Hunter, Vic Rouse and Ron Miller. There is a competent crop of sophomores in reserve, headed by Billy Smith.

Harkness and his junior partners carried Loyola to its 17th season victory Monday night, winning a reasonably tough one at Ohio University 80-72.

In other games on the abbreviated schedule—Iowa squeaked by Michigan State 60-59 in the Big Ten, Notre Dame overpowered Purdue 96-86, and Georgia whipped Stetson 99-80.

The youthful Ramblers, who clicked last season for a 22-4 record and third place in the National Invitation Tournament, overcame Ohio University with their featured strong point—all-around firepower. Harkness led with 20 points, Rouse added 17, Egan 16, Hunter 13 and Miller 12. For the season, Loyola is averaging 98 points per game.

Iowa's Hawkeyes, who toppled Ohio State Saturday, pulled off another upset by winning at Michigan State. They clinched this one when Joe Reddington slipped through the Spartan defense, took a pass under the basket, and dunked in the decisive bucket with 27 seconds left.

Notre Dame's tall Irish, led by 6-9½ Walt Sahm, showed too much ball control in what turned into a runaway against Purdue. Sahm scored 28 points and grabbed 23 rebounds for the Irish, who outrebounded the Boilermakers 62-34. Soph Bob Purkhiser had 28 points for Purdue. The Boilermaker defeat left the Big Ten with a 55-41 won-lost record against outside competition this season.

Bisons Clash With Sonora

STANTON — The Stanton Buffaloes will try to make it two wins in a row over a District 7-AA co-favorite when they play Sonora here at 4 o'clock today.

The Buffs raised many an eyebrow around the area last Friday night when they toppled mighty Crane 60-56, in a game played at Stanton.

In the Crane battle, Buddy Glaspie counted 26 points and Bob Stephenson 23 for Harlin Dauphin's team.

The two teams entered the last quarter tied, 36-36, but the Buffs poured on the coals to outscore the Cranes in that round, 24 points to 20.

Mack Mathis and Mike Sorley didn't score much for the Buffs but they did a splendid job on the boards to help swing the issue.

Stanton went ahead for keeps in the game, at 55-53, when Stephenson hit two free shots with 1:32 to go.

Stanton also won the B game, 58-40.

Lee Harris Leads Boydstun To Win

Frigid weather of the past weekend played havoc with Gra-Y basketball league play as only two of the eight teams matched were able to battle it out on the backboards.

Boydstun Gra-Y, with the spectacular shooting of Lee Harris, who scored all 16 points chalked up by the victors, took the hapless Airport team by a score of 16-2. Richie Tubb scored the only Airport points.

Lakeview defeated Park Hill and Washington took Cedar Crest by forfeit when the teams could not field squads. The Bauer vs. Kate Morrison contest was postponed until later.

This Saturday Washington takes on Kate Morrison at the YMCA at 8:45 a.m. Lakeview meets Bauer at 9:15 a.m., Boydstun battles Park Hill at 10 a.m. and College Heights challenges Cedar Crest at 10:30 a.m. Airport gets a breather.

A Devotional For The Day

Saul trembling and astonished, said, Lord, what wilt thou have me to do? And the Lord said unto him, Arise, and go into the city, and it shall be told thee what thou must do. (Acts 9:6.)

We Can Do Better

Among the figures contained in our annual year-review sections Sunday were those on fire losses.

This ought to sound a triple alarm for preventive action.

Within the past dozen years the average fire loss has been $82,000. Take out the last three years and the average would be only $62,000, and even that's higher than it ought to be.

If the past three years can influence the average so drastically, think what the loss rate will do to our insurance charges. Last year was our worst yet with losses of $165,000, and in three years we have accumulated $423,000 in losses, about 45 per cent of the total of the last dozen years.

These are the insured loss figures, but don't be deceived. "Ain't" nobody but us going to pay for these losses. When we hold them down, the State Fire Insurance Commission grants credits which in effect lowers our fire insurance premiums. Let them go up—as we have—and the premium goes up.

Now we can placidly accept fire losses as the will of God, the law of averages, tough luck or what have you, or we can do something about them. We can promote a year-round program of carefulness and good housekeeping which will help, and we can crack down a lot harder on potential fire hazards.

Sauce For The Gander

A bill which would force members of Congress to make a detailed accounting of how they spend public money when traveling ostensibly in the public interest has been introduced in the House again this year. Ordinary citizens may be forgiven for concluding that this would be an appropriate time for passage of such legislation.

The conclusion is bolstered by the fact that this is the year when, on congressional authority, the Internal Revenue Service begins its crackdown on expense account deductions. The IRS is going to be a lot more curious than in the past about exactly how expense account money was spent; it is going to require more itemizing and less generalizing.

This is exactly what the proposed legislation would require of members of Congress, when they go a-junketing. At present they are able to hide a lot of their outlay behind that convenient facade known as "miscellaneous." Congress feels that lumping together a lot of expenditures and claiming tax reduction has deprived the government of much revenue. It should apply the same reasoning to its own system of accounting for public money spent on travel.

Some Things That Are Not Happening

WASHINGTON — The most conspicuous feature of the international scene is not what is happening but what is not happening.

From Berlin last year a great many of us wrote that sometime after December 15 the Soviet Union would sign a separate peace treaty with East Germany and close the access routes to the West and then the great test would follow. This has not come about and if the speeches at the Communist rally in Berlin are any criterion it is unlikely to occur in the foreseeable future.

THOSE SPEECHES were not full of love and kisses for the West. But they contained neither new deadlines nor new threats and this may be the most remarkable alteration in the atmosphere following the Cuban confrontation last October on the brink of nuclear war. The talks at East Berlin were largely taken up with the split within the Communist bloc.

How this split has been widened by the Cuban crisis is just becoming evident. Fidel Castro was egged on by the Chinese Communists in Cuba to resist the settlement of the crisis agreed to by Premier Khrushchev and President Kennedy. From sources trustworthy in the past it has been learned that the conviction is widely held within the Communist bloc that Castro would have agreed to some form of on-the-spot inspection—with a face-saving provision — if it had not been for the Chinese.

THEY CONSTANTLY encouraged him to resist. As a consequence they made the task of Deputy Premier Anastas Mikoyan all but impossible during the three difficult weeks he spent in Havana as Khrushchev's compromiser. This is one of the deepest sources of resentment not only in Moscow but in Communist capitals where loyalty to the Khrushchev coexistence line is greatest.

Since the Cuban crisis was only in part resolved, one reason being the split in the bloc, it resembles today a mine field that still abounds with booby traps. While the offensive missiles have been removed, the skeptical are saying that the components for secretly putting new offensive weapons in place, including 15,000 to 17,000 Soviet troops, still remain. How real this threat is only those with access to all intelligence reports can say.

LIKEWISE, THE degree of hope in negotiations with the Soviets, currently renewed, is hard to appraise. Talks on a nuclear test ban are going on in New York anticipating a new go-round in February of the 18-nation disarmament conference. Moscow sent Semyon Tsarapkin, their chief test ban negotiator, for these talks. Printed reports have been to the effect that the Soviets are prepared to give up their opposition to on-site inspection and agree to a minimum of three or four inspections a year.

OFFICIALS OF the disarmament agency are coy about such hopes. Yet William C. Foster, director of the agency now in New York for the talks, said in a recent television interview that after four and a half years of negotiation "an agreement now appears to be within reach." Pointing out that the United States is prepared today to ban tests in the atmosphere, under water and in outer space he added:

"There is no way at present to distinguish certain natural underground occurrences from nuclear explosions. We have therefore insisted that if underground tests are banned, we must have the right to conduct a very limited number of on-site inspections each year in suspicious cases to make sure that they were not secret tests."

IN THE SAME interview, as though to discourage any sudden rush of optimism, he added that negotiation with the Soviets could succeed, citing the Austrian treaty. But that break came only after eight years around the conference table.

Negotiation on several aspects of the peaceful use of outer space will begin in Rome in March. These cover joint exploration with the Soviets of weather and the magnetic field and the next launching of an Echo satellite. Dr. Anatoli A. Balgantrayov, leading Soviet space scientist, wrote Space Administrator James E. Webb saying that he was naming specialists for the Rome negotiations. Webb has been determined to keep the lines open to discover whether military competition can be barred from outer space.

THE KEY WORDS may well be patience and forbearance—the qualities conspicuous in the President's State of the Union address. For a man of Khrushchev's ebullient temperament there was a kind of restraint in his Berlin speech, above all, an awareness of the total disaster of nuclear war.

Castro and the Chinese would like to kick over the applecart. Whether they have any success will depend on the capacity to continue to be patient and forbearing.

If It's Legal In Virginia

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Few Kentuckians know that, to some extent, they are living under the laws of Virginia.

Section 233 of the state constitution provides that general laws in force in Virginia in 1792 are in effect in Kentucky, unless repugnant to the constitution or statutes.

Kentucky once was a part of Virginia.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP)—Most air travelers to this convention city arrive at Philadelphia International Airport, 65 miles away. In 1962, the City Convention Bureau spent more than $46,000 to subsidize transportation for 14,000 delegates over the remaining distance.

Joseph I. McDonnell, chairman of the bureau's transportation committee, said the subsidy was applied to 477 bus trips and 90 special flights between the Philadelphia airport and the Atlantic City Municipal Airport during nine major conventions.

Retroactive Billing

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — The Pioneer Hotel and the Ramada Inn received city water bills totaling $13,212.52.

The city explained that for two years it had erroneously been billing the hotels at the minimum rate of only $3.25 per month.

Your Income Tax

Which Form Is The Proper One?

EDITOR'S NOTE — There are several forms which citizens use to file federal income tax returns, and it is important that the proper one be used. This article, second of a series, explains the different types and how income is reported.

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—The two main forms for filling out your 1962 income tax return are 1040 and 1040A. The latter, a punch-card, is simpler.

Anyone can use 1040. People with $10,000 or more income must use it. Only under-$10,000 people can use 1040A and only if they meet certain rules.

ON BOTH forms you must figure your own tax if your income was $5,000 or more.

You do this from the tax rate schedule on page 9 of the 14-page instruction sheet sent all taxpayers by the Internal Revenue Service (IRS).

On both forms under $5,000 people can find their tax, without figuring, in the tax table on page 10 of the instruction sheet.

You can not use either the tax table or 1040A if you want to itemize deductible expenses. You must use 1040. More on that later.

Take 1040A. You can use it if:

1. Your under-$10,000 income was entirely in wages from which tax was withheld except for no more than $200 in dividends or interest or wages from which tax was not withheld.

2. YOU'RE WILLING to accept for deductible expenses the standard deduction of 10 per cent on your income—up to a maximum deduction of $1,000—without itemizing.

Anyone claiming more than that standard deduction must itemize on 1040.

The tax table for under-$5,000 people has built into it a deduction of 10 per cent for personal expenses. You don't have to claim it or itemize to prove you had that much deduction.

WHEN YOU figure your own tax you can claim without itemizing a deduction of 10 per cent of income up to a $1,000 limit.

You can not use 1040A if you wish to file a return as head of household or surviving spouse, were self-employed, claim credit for retirement income, are delinquent in filing your return, claim exclusion for sick pay, or paid an estimated tax in 1962.

If you're one of the under-$5,000 people using 1040A and don't want to look up your tax in the table, fill out your return and send it to the IRS district collector.

He'll find your tax for you and (1) bill you for any tax still owed or (2) send you a refund if too much tax was withheld from your pay in 1962.

When a husband and wife file separate returns and one itemizes deductions, both must itemize and claim only what each can prove.

Neither, in this case, can use 1040A. Both must use 1040.

(NEW RULES on deductions for travel, entertainment and gift expenses for business purposes went into effect Jan. 1, 1963. They require far more record-keeping than in the past but do not apply to 1962 expenses.)

You are allowed to exclude from your reportable income the first $50 of dividends you receive. You can do this by leaving out the first $50 of income you report on 1040A. 1040 filers use Schedule B.

(Note: the so-called dividends you get on your savings in a savings and loan association are in fact interest and must be reported as interest, not as dividends.)

WHEN HUSBAND and wife jointly own stock and file a joint return, they can exclude the first $100 in dividend income from their return on 1040 or 1040A.

When they hold stock separately and file a joint return, each can exclude no more than the first $50 of dividends each receives. This can be done on 1040 or 1040A. Example:

The husband receives $85 in dividends, the wife $35. He can exclude only $50 and she can exclude only $35.

If you receive dividends you are also allowed what is called a dividend credit in addition to excluding the first $50 of dividends from the income you report. This means besides excluding the first $50 of your dividends, you can take a credit of 4 per cent of the rest of your dividend income.

You can't do it on 1040A. There's no place for it. You must use 1040.

SOME NOTES on 1040:

It's in several sections. Most people will need only the first sheet—pages 1 and 2—with questions on both sides.

That's all you'll need if your income was entirely from wages and salary. But there are other parts to 1040—Schedules B, C, D to fit people with other kinds of income.

You'll need B if you had dividends or interest or if you had income from rents, royalties, pensions, annuities, partnerships, estates, trusts, and so on.

You'll need C if you were self-employed or had income from a personally owned business or profession. You'll need D if you had income from the sale or exchange of property, and F if you had income from farming.

Those using these various schedules will, of course, also have to use that main sheet of 1040.

Impulse Against Theft

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — By use of tracers and electronic charges which emit radio-like waves or impulses, General Nucleonics Inc. says it has developed a system for business and industry to detect pilferers.

Items that might be pilfered are provided with this electronic "voice" which can be detected by receivers at exits. An auxiliary hand probe then is used to locate the stolen items without physical search.

Found No Green Men

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz. (AP) — Dr. Earl C. Slipher, one of the world's foremost authorities on the planet Mars, has published a two-volume summary of more than half a century of research.

"The Photographic History of Mars" and "The Photographic Story of Mars" are illustrated by 512 photographs, maps and charts of the mystery planet.

Dr. Slipher, former director of Lowell Observatory at Flagstaff, is head of the International Mars Committee.

Gem Of The Nation

COLUMBUS, Ky. (AP) — This city once was considered the site for the nation's capital.

After the Capitol was burned in Washington in 1814, real estate speculators proclaimed this area as the approximate center of the country and urged that the government be moved to this less vulnerable spot.

Engineers laid out plans for an elaborate city to be known as Columbus. The promoters were unsuccessful but the name remained.

Risk Of Strokes Can Be Reduced

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M. D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Can a doctor prevent strokes? What causes them? If a person over 60 loses coordination of one arm momentarily, does this mean a slight stroke? Or could something else cause it?—Mrs. D. L.

Let's put it this way: The risk of strokes can be reduced, but there's no way of preventing them to the degree that, for example, smallpox, lockjaw, or diphtheria can be prevented by inoculation.

A stroke is a disruption of the circulation of blood in the brain; a thrombus (clot) blocks circulation or a hemorrhage occurs. Either is a stroke, or as many technical people prefer to call it, a "CVA," for "cardio-vascular accident."

Generally speaking, there are three main causes: hardening of the arteries, which involves thickening of the artery walls and hence a reduced space through which the blood flows; high blood pressure; weakness of the walls of the blood vessels.

As an instance of this last, I recall a 9-year-old girl who was born with a weak spot that ruptured. She was, at that early age, the victim of a stroke. In her case, because the tissues were supple, surgeons were able to repair the damage. Later in life the blood vessels, like the rest of our tissues, become more brittle, and surgery such as was done on the little girl is impractical and usually impossible.

Hence we cannot depend on such surgical treatment except in very rare circumstances — although, in view of the achievements of recent years, I wonder what marvels may appear in years to come.

Anyway, controlling high blood pressure is the principal means we now have for combatting strokes, and it is an effective aid. Vigorous research is in progress on the problem of hardening of the arteries, but the picture is not yet as clear as, I trust it will be in the future.

A person known to have fragile or otherwise impaired arteries would do well to avoid excessive exertion.

So, at present, the measures to fend off strokes are mainly in the realm of the way you live—eat, work and rest—rather than something your doctor can do for you.

As to momentary loss of coordination such as you mention, I suppose it could be the result of a "little stroke," but there are too many other possible explanations to justify jumping to such a conclusion.

If a paralysis follows, then a stroke is the likeliest answer, but if this does not happen, then I assume that some other factor was the more probable cause.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am 15 and have the problem of nail-biting. Once in awhile I let a few fingernails grow long and within a week I bite them down to the quick. What causes this and what can I do to stop?—P. D.

P. S.: My school project in physical education is nail-biting. Please send me as many sources of information as possible.

It's a nervous habit that makes your fingers look terrible. First, make up your mind to stop doing it. After tha, keep your fingernails trimmed short—with scissors or clippers, but not with your teeth. But it's up to you.

P.S.: I'm not going to do your homework for you. Find your own references, as your teacher intended. And congratulations to your teacher for assigning that topic to you for a project. Or did you choose it yourself? If so, congratulations to you.

Around The Rim

Beg Pardon, How's That Again?

I grant you that my hearing is not all it should be. For years and years I have had the comfort of not being bothered at all by the drip-drip of leaky water faucets or the noisy ticking of clocks and watches.

As a matter of record, I can't hear the average clock (even a goodsized grandfather sort) tick unless I glue one ear close to the dial. And if the dripping water tap is as much as 15 feet away I will have to look to even know it is leaking. And, what with the faults of my tri-focals, there's a pretty good chance, I still won't know.

I HAVE TOYED with the idea that I might make good use of a hearing aid but so far toying is all I have done about it. In a lot of ways, not having the full rattle and crash of modern civilization batter at one's eardrums, is a fairly happy situation. In other ways, though, it ain't so good.

Too many people, I am convinced, go around speaking so softly and so low that I do not believe that even folks with good hearing can understand them. A lot of folks have a slovenly habit of slurring words together in such a manner as to defy the slightly deaf listener breaking them apart in their proper components.

PROBABLY THE worst offender of all in this field is the guy who presents the speaker at the average civic club luncheon. First of all, he does not speak loudly enough for the front row of knife-and-forkers to hear him; secondly, he's prone to slur his words; and thirdly, he seems to assume (utterly without justification) that everyone present is a close personal friend of the speaker he is introducing. Therefore, he often neglects to do more than tell you that the speaker today is "good ole Bob" and you're supposed to know whole ole Bob is. Ninety-nine times out of 100, I never saw or heard of good ole Bob before in my life.

THE UPSHOT of such sloppy introductions is that the speaker, when he finally decides that he has been introduced (he can't tell anymore about it than the audience and he usually assumes the thing's finished when the chairman sits down) goes to bat with three strikes already against him.

Furthermore, things have been stacked against the poor speaker by the president permitting other club affairs to absorb more than half of the time he was promised.

He has a 30-minute discussion prepared; the time left to him after the introduction is perhaps 10 minutes. He's inwardly peeved (as he darned well has a right to be) and maybe doesn't do his best. His audience, weary with the prolonged preliminary hoopla, is so bored it won't pay any attention even if the speaker did have something worth while.

IF THE AVERAGE toastmaster would only stand up on his hind legs and state that the speaker today is Bill Bloke, pickle salesman from Peoria, and that he is going to talk on the economics of the cucumber business, everyone would be ever so much happier.

And us partly deaf customers would at least know who it was we were supposed to hear.

A Nation Should Show Gratitude

On one wall of the old 12th Century Church of Notre Dame in Senlis, a small town only a pleasant 90-minute drive northeast of Paris, there is a small marble plaque put there shortly after World War I by grateful Frenchmen.

I cannot quote the plaque word for word, but roughly its legend reads: "In grateful memory of one million British soldiers who lie buried in French soil."

THAT CHILLING statistic "one million British soldiers" is a blunt clue to the decline of British power in this century; of the manpower she mustered in but one war to defend the West. And the price she paid.

"Gratitude is a fruit of great cultivation," said Dr. Samuel Johnson, "you do not find it among gross people."

THE FRENCH are not a gross people and certainly their leader, Gen. Charles de Gaulle, is the antithesis of a gross man. Yet it might not be a bad idea for the general to drive out to Senlis and inspect the little marble plaque affixed to the church wall by grateful Frenchmen of his own generation.

Perhaps only an American is sufficiently naive to believe that gratitude should play some part in the conduct of foreign policy. But President de Gaulle's threat to blackball British membership in the European Common Market is not only distressing to Americans who feel a kinship with Britain but to those who have long admired le grand Charles.

FIVE OF THE six Common Market countries — West Germany, Italy, Luxembourg, Belgium and the Netherlands—have rallied behind Great Britain in her struggle to gain admission to the trading bloc. But admission to this flourishing economic lodge must be by unanimous vote. A De Gaulle veto can keep France's gallant ally in two World Wars on the outside looking in.

Paul-Henri Spaak, Foreign Minister of Belgium and one of Europe's most respected senior statemen, surely spoke for the West when, in the face of De Gaulle's most recent intransigence, he said:

"FOR US BELGIANS it is difficult to admit that Great Britain should not be an integral part of Europe. And, when one recalls the second World War and the role that Great Britain played, it seems to us that, if one can talk today of building Europe, we owe it largely to her attitude when she was alone or almost alone."

Speak can speak to De Gaulle as an old comrade in arms, for Spaak fled to London to head the Belgian government-in-exile during World War II even as De Gaulle sought sanctuary there to head the Free French. (And who can forget Winston Churchill's noble gesture, even as France was falling to pieces, of joint British-French citizenship?)

ENGLAND GAVE De Gaulle refuge and a base from which to operate. In every way, but particularly in the light of history, De Gaulle is far too great a man to harbor personal bitterness toward either imaginary or real slights.

His place in history is so secure, particularly as the postwar savior of France, that De Gaulle can afford to look beyond both Churchill and Roosevelt to the two nations, and their peoples, that enabled the general to return in honor and triumph to this native land.

HE HAS THE power now to keep Great Britain out of the Common Market, to the probable detriment not only of Britain but of all Western Europe. The general has the power to sunder and weaken NATO, to the great damage of the West in its long struggle with communism.

De Gaulle's battle to restore to France her ancient glory can only end in failure ultimately if he sacrifices the West to his ambitions. The general is now too big and too great a man to act with anything but generosity, the child of gratitude.

Time For A Political Strike

WASHINGTON—Strikes and lockouts are weapons employed by Americans who feel themselves economically aggrieved, and maybe the idea would also help the politically aggrieved.

THIS THOUGHT hit your observer at his first sight of the 88th Senate "at work" in their old men's battle over Rule 22. Not one of the bright new faces was on the floor—nor a bright new idea, either. My notebook caught Humphrey, Clark, Kuchel, Russell, Hill, Holland, Keating, Case, and a few drifters.

The list is telltale. These are the same statesmen forced, year after year, to conduct a senseless talkathon on an issue which is best described in Hamlet's words: "weary, stale, flat and unprofitable."

THERE OUGHT TO BE a voting man's strike against this nonsense. There ought to be a lockout against this misuse of the public's time and money, this shameful waste of talent and drain upon human vitality. As sure as the coming of hot weather, there will be Senators dropping dead, as they drop every year. I have written before on the mortality rate in the Upper Chamber and today I have a letter from one of its senior members who, sadly enough, is caught up in the filibuster fight. I know he won't mind if I refer to his acknowledged weariness, yet his sense of duty, as it relates to the really important work. He adds, concerning what I wrote:

"AND WHILE BOB Kerr is not here to thank you for it, I am; and I do."

Well, a walkout-and-lockout which I'm suggesting would lengthen the life and service of Bob Kerr's wonderful generation. It would get the new generation cracking on things that matter far more than whether 51, 60 or 67 votes are needed to halt a filibuster.

I SAY these men are "forced" into the fight over Rule 22, an I mean just that. Fussbudgeting organizations of Liberals give money and propaganda to candidates, and then demand this degrading performance of them. Southerners concerned with their endangered "way of life," and conservative groups concerned with the threat of economic chaos, expect their spokesmen to give their lives, if necessary, to stall the majority steamroller. I think it ought to be stalled, and the minority always protected, and I respect men willing to die for principle. But should good men on both sides be forced to die? Rule 22 has often worked for the benefit of Liberals and Conservatives alike. Why not let good enough alone? Those are the questions.

THE SOLUTION, it appears to me, is a strike in the public interest. From the White House, from the new members, from newspapers, from a deluge of letters, from somewhere and everywhere, these debaters should get the word: "Stop it!"

WHAT OTHERS SAY

Tremendous sums, public and private, are bing spent on college expansion to keep up with mounting enrollments. Even so, it is freely predicted that there will not be room for all. One hears all sorts of stories about this or that bright youngster who had to apply to any number of colleges before being accepted.

Yet four-year accredited colleges have room for at least 57,000 more freshmen in January, according to the Kiplinger magazine, Changing Times. The magazine's survey had revealed 41,000 freshman vacancies in the fall semester.

So if a qualified applicant tries hard enough he can find an accredited four-year college that will accept him. The best chances are for commuting students at large urban universities. For example, the University of Denver could have accepted 150 more day students this fall, says the magazine.

Such vacancy figures are interesting but hardly significant except to a really desperate student or one who happens to find one of these uncrowded institutions convenient and to his liking.

The necessity for rapid expansion of higher educational facilities generally and for maintaining the highest standards is too evident to challenge. Yet there will be growing necessity, too, for many young people to be satisfied with whatever suitable college opportunities are available.

Welcome TO BIG SPRING

WEBB PILOT TRAINING CLASS 64-E

Big Spring and all its people extend the friendly hand of a West Texas welcome to the student pilots of Webb's Class 64-E. These young men, here for a complete course of primary and basic jet-flying instruction, become citizens of our city for more than a year, and it is our earnest hope that they will find here a helpful, cheerful and hospitable atmosphere; and that when they must leave, they will do so with a kind feeling in their hearts for Big Spring, its business establishments, and all its population.

May we urge our new student pilots, as time permits them, to become acquainted with our town, to know about the churches and the schools, the facilities for leisure and enjoyment, the shops and the service establishments.

Particularly do we ask them to drop in and see us, just to let us get acquainted, and say in person what we are saying here. There's no obligation to buy at any time . . . we want to be of service, and of assistance if we can.

Yes, it's all wrapped up in one wholesome, hearty word . . . "WELCOME!"

A "HOSPITALITY GIFT" For New STUDENT PILOTS

If the Webb student pilot or his wife will call within the next 10 days at the store or service establishment whose name appears with his under his picture (bringing this page with him for identification), he will be given a "welcome gift" by that firm. There is no obligation, and we simply ask that the visit be for getting acquainted. Be our guest!

A Devotional For The Day

Saul trembling and astonished, said, Lord, what wilt thou have me to do? And the Lord said unto him, Arise, and go into the city, and it shall be told thee what thou must do. (Acts 9:6.)

PRAYER: O God, teach us the discipline of obedience to Thee who art our Father. Mold us to Thy will and make us willing instruments in Thy service. Send us forth at Thy command to do Thy bidding. In Jesus' name. Amen.

(From The 'Upper Room')

We Can Do Better

Among the figures contained in our annual year-review sections Sunday were those on fire losses.

This ought to sound a triple alarm for preventive action.

Within the past dozen years the average fire loss has been $82,000. Take out the last three years and the average would be only $62,000, and even that's higher than it ought to be.

If the past three years can influence the average so drastically, think what the loss rate will do to our insurance charges. Last year was our worst yet with losses of $165,000, and in three years we have accumulated $423,000 in losses, about 45 per cent of the total of the last dozen years.

These are the insured loss figures, but don't be deceived. "Ain't" nobody but us going to pay for these losses. When we hold them down, the State Fire Insurance Commission grants credits which in effect lowers our fire insurance premiums. Let them go up—as we have—and the premium goes up.

Now we can placidly accept fire losses as the will of God, the law of averages, tough luck or what have you, or we can do something about them. We can promote a year-round program of carefulness and good housekeeping which will help, and we can crack down a lot harder on potential fire hazards.

Sauce For The Gander

A bill which would force members of Congress to make a detailed accounting of how they spend public money when traveling ostensibly in the public interest has been introduced in the House again this year. Ordinary citizens may be forgiven for concluding that this would be an appropriate time for passage of such legislation.

The conclusion is bolstered by the fact that this is the year when, on congressional authority, the Internal Revenue Service begins its crackdown on expense account deductions. The IRS is going to be a lot more curious than in the past about exactly how expense account money was spent; it is going to require more itemizing and less generalizing.

This is exactly what the proposed legislation would require of members of Congress, when they go a-junketing. At present they are able to hide a lot of their outlay behind that convenient facade known as "miscellaneous." Congress feels that lumping together a lot of expenditures and claiming tax reduction has deprived the government of much revenue. It should apply the same reasoning to its own system of accounting for public money spent on travel.

Some Things That Are Not Happening

WASHINGTON — The most conspicuous feature of the international scene is not what is happening but what is not happening.

From Berlin last year a great many of us wrote that sometime after December 15 the Soviet Union would sign a separate peace treaty with East Germany and close the access routes to the West and then the great test would follow. This has not come about and if the speeches at the Communist rally in Berlin are any criterion it is unlikely to occur in the foreseeable future.

THOSE SPEECHES were not full of love and kisses for the West. But they contained neither new deadlines nor new threats and this may be the most remarkable alteration in the atmosphere following the Cuban confrontation last October on the brink of nuclear war. The talks at East Berlin were largely taken up with the split within the Communist bloc.

How this split has been widened by the Cuban crisis is just becoming evident. Fidel Castro was egged on by the Chinese Communists in Cuba to resist the settlement of the crisis agreed to by Premier Khrushchev and President Kennedy. From sources trustworthy in the past it has been learned that the conviction is widely held within the Communist bloc that Castro would have agreed to some form of on-the-spot inspection—with a face-saving provision — if it had not been for the Chinese.

THEY CONSTANTLY encouraged him to resist. As a consequence, they made the task of Deputy Premier Anastas Mikoyan all but impossible during the three difficult weeks he spent in Havana as Khrushchev's compromiser. This is one of the deepest sources of resentment not only in Moscow but in Communist capitals where loyalty to the Khrushchev co-existence line is greatest.

Since the Cuban crisis was only in part resolved, one reason being the split in the bloc, it resembles today a mine field that still abounds with booby traps. While the offensive missiles have been removed, the skeptical are saying that the components for secretly putting new offensive weapons in place, including 15,000 to 17,000 Soviet troops, still remain. How real this threat is only those with access to all intelligence reports can say.

LIKEWISE, THE degree of hope in negotiations with the Soviets currently renewed, is hard to appraise. Talks on a nuclear test ban are going on in New York anticipating a new go-round in February of the 18-nation disarmament conference. Moscow sent Semyon Tsarapkin, their chief test ban negotiator, for these talks. Printed reports have been to the effect that the Soviets are prepared to give up their opposition to on-site inspection and agree to a minimum of three or four inspections a year.

OFFICIALS OF the disarmament agency are coy about such hopes. Yet William C. Foster, director of the agency now in New York for the talks, said in a recent television interview that after four and a half years of negotiation "an agreement now appears to be within reach." Pointing out that the United States is prepared today to ban tests in the atmosphere, under water and in outer space he added:

"There is no way at present to distinguish certain natural underground occurrences from nuclear explosions. We have therefore insisted that if underground tests are banned, we must have the right to conduct a very limited number of on-site inspections each year in suspicious cases to make sure that they were not secret tests."

IN THE SAME interview, as though to discourage any sudden rush of optimism, he added that negotiation with the Soviets could succeed, citing the Austrian treaty. But that break came only after eight years around the conference table.

Negotiation on several aspects of the peaceful use of outer space will begin in Rome in March. These cover joint exploration with the Soviets of weather and the magnetic field and the next launching of an Echo satellite. Dr. Anatoli A. Balgantayov, leading Soviet space scientist, wrote Space Administrator James E. Webb saying that he was naming specialists for the Rome negotiations. Webb has been determined to keep the lines open to discover whether military competition can be barred from outer space.

THE KEY WORDS may well be patience and forbearance—the qualities conspicuous in the President's State of the Union address. For a man of Khrushchev's ebullient temperament there was a kind of restraint in his Berlin speech, above all, an awareness of the total disaster of nuclear war.

Castro and the Chinese would like to kick over the applecart. Whether they have any success will depend on the capacity to continue to be patient and forbearing.

If It's Legal In Virginia

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Few Kentuckians know that, to some extent, they are living under the laws of Virginia.

Section 233 of the state constitution provides that general laws in force in Virginia in 1792 are in effect in Kentucky, unless repugnant to the constitution or statutes.

Kentucky once was a part of Virginia.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP)—Most air travelers to this convention city arrive at Philadelphia International Airport, 65 miles away. In 1962, the City Convention Bureau spent more than $46,000 to subsidize transportation for 14,000 delegates over the remaining distance.

Joseph I. McDonnell, chairman of the bureau's transportation committee, said the subsidy was applied to 477 bus trips and 90 special flights between the Philadelphia airport and the Atlantic City Municipal Airport during nine major conventions.

Retroactive Billing

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — The Pioneer Hotel and the Ramada Inn received city water bills totaling $13,212.52.

The city explained that for two years it had erroneously been billing the hotels at the minimum rate of only $3.25 per month.

Your Income Tax

Which Form Is The Proper One?

EDITOR'S NOTE — There are several forms which citizens use to file federal income tax returns, and it is important that the proper one be used. This article, second of a series, explains the different types and how income is reported.

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—The two main forms for filling out your 1962 income tax return are 1040 and 1040A. The latter, a punch-card, is simpler.

Anyone can use 1040. People with $10,000 or more income must use it. Only under-$10,000 people can use 1040A and only if they meet certain rules.

ON BOTH forms you must figure your own tax if your income was $5,000 or more.

You do this from the tax rate schedule on page 9 of the 14-page instruction sheet sent all taxpayers by the Internal Revenue Service (IRS).

On both forms under $5,000 people can find their tax, without figuring, in the tax table on page 10 of the instruction sheet.

You can not use either the tax table or 1040A if you want to itemize deductible expenses. You must use 1040. More on that later.

Take 1040A. You can use it if: 1. Your under-$10,000 income was entirely in wages from which tax was withheld except for no more than $200 in dividends or interest or wages from which tax was not withheld.

2. YOU'RE WILLING to accept for deductible expenses the standard deduction of 10 per cent on your income—up to a maximum deduction of $1,000—without itemizing.

Anyone claiming more than that standard deduction must itemize on 1040.

The tax table for under-$5,000 people has built into it a deduction of 10 per cent for personal expenses. You don't have to claim it or itemize to prove you had that much deduction.

WHEN YOU figure your own tax you can claim without itemizing a deduction of 10 per cent of income up to a $1,000 limit.

You can not use 1040A if you wish to file a return as head of household or surviving spouse, were self-employed, claim credit for retirement income, are delinquent in filing your return, claim exclusion for sick pay, or paid an estimated tax in 1962.

If you're one of the under-$5,000 people using 1040A and don't want to look up your tax in the table, fill out your return and send it to the IRS district collector.

He'll find your tax for you and (1) bill you for any tax still owed or (2) send you a refund if too much tax was withheld from your pay in 1962.

When a husband and wife file separate returns and one itemizes deductions, both must itemize and claim only what each can prove.

Neither, in this case, can use 1040A. Both must use 1040.

(NEW RULES on deductions for travel, entertainment and gift expenses for business purposes went into effect Jan. 1, 1963. They require far more record-keeping than in the past but do not apply to 1962 expenses.)

You are allowed to exclude from your reportable income the first $50 of dividends you receive. You can do this by leaving out the first $50 of income you report on 1040A. 1040 filers use Schedule B.

(Note: the so-called dividends you get on your savings in a savings and loan association are in fact interest and must be reported as interest, not as dividends.)

WHEN HUSBAND and wife jointly own stock and file a joint return, they can exclude the first $100 in dividend income from their return on 1040 or 1040A.

When they hold stock separately and file a joint return, each can exclude no more than the first $50 of dividends each receives. This can be done on 1040 or 1040A. Example:

The husband receives $85 in dividends, the wife $35. He can exclude only $50 and she can exclude only $35.

If you receive dividends you are also allowed what is called a dividend credit in addition to excluding the first $50 of dividends from the income you report. This means besides excluding the first $50 of your dividends you can take a credit of 4 per cent of the rest of your dividend income.

You can't do it on 1040A. There's no place for it. You must use 1040.

SOME NOTES on 1040:

It's in several sections. Most people will need only the first sheet—pages 1 and 2—with questions on both sides.

That's all you'll need if your income was entirely from wages and salary. But there are other parts to 1040—Schedules B, C, D to fit people with other kinds of income.

You'll need B if you had dividends or interest or if you had income from rents, royalties, pensions, annuities, partnerships, estates, trusts, and so on.

You'll need C if you were self-employed or had income from a personally owned business or profession. You'll need D if you had income from the sale or exchange of property, and F if you had income from farming.

Those using these various schedules will, of course, also have to use that main sheet of 1040.

Impulse Against Theft

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — By use of tracers and electronic charges which emit radio-like waves or impulses General Nucleonics Inc. says it has developed a system for business and industry to detect pilferers.

Items that might be pilfered are provided with this electronic "voice," which can be detected by receivers at exits. An auxiliary hand probe then is used to locate the stolen items without physical search.

Found No Green Men

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz. (AP) — Dr. Earl C. Slipher, one of the world's foremost authorities on the planet Mars, has published a two-volume summary of more than half a century of research.

"The Photographic History of Mars" and "The Photographic Story of Mars" are illustrated by 512 photographs, maps and charts of the mystery planet.

Dr. Slipher, former director of Lowell Observatory at Flagstaff, is head of the International Mars Committee.

Gem Of The Nation

COLUMBUS, Ky. (AP) — This city once was considered the site for the nation's capital.

After the Capitol was burned in Washington in 1814, real estate speculators proclaimed this area as the approximate center of the country and urged that the government be moved to this less vulnerable spot.

Engineers laid out plans for an elaborate city to be known as Columbus. The promoters were unsuccessful but the name remained.

Risk Of Strokes Can Be Reduced

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M. D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Can a doctor prevent strokes? What causes them? If a person over 60 loses coordination of one arm momentarily, does this mean a slight stroke? Or could something else cause it?—Mrs. D. L.

Let's put it this way: The risk of strokes can be reduced, but there's no way of preventing them to the degree that, for example, smallpox, lockjaw, or diphtheria can be prevented by inoculation.

A stroke is a disruption of the circulation of blood in the brain; a thrombus (clot) blocks circulation or a hemorrhage occurs. Either is a stroke, or as many technical people prefer to call it, a "CVA," for "cardio-vascular accident."

Generally speaking, there are three main causes: hardening of the arteries, which involves thickening of the artery walls and hence a reduced space through which the blood flows; high blood pressure; weakness of the walls of the blood vessels.

As an instance of this last, I recall a 9-year-old girl who was born with a weak spot that ruptured. She was, at that early age, the victim of a stroke. In her case, because the tissues were supple, surgeons were able to repair the damage. Later in life the blood vessels, like the rest of our tissues, become more brittle, and surgery such as was done on the little girl is impractical and usually impossible.

Hence we cannot depend on such surgical treatment except in very rare circumstances — although, in view of the achievements of recent years, I wonder what marvels may appear in years to come.

Anyway, controlling high blood pressure is the principal means we now have for combatting strokes, and it is an effective aid. Vigorous research is in progress on the problem of hardening of the arteries, but the picture is not yet as clear as, I trust it will be in the future.

A person known to have fragile or otherwise impaired arteries would do well to avoid excessive exertion.

So, at present, the measures to fend off strokes are mainly in the realm of the way you live—eat, work and rest—rather than something your doctor can do for you.

As to momentary loss of coordination such as you mention, I suppose it could be the result of a "little stroke," but there are too many other possible explanations to justify jumping to such a conclusion.

If a paralysis follows, then a stroke is the likeliest answer, but if this does not happen, then I assume that some other factor was the more probable cause.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am 15 and have the problem of nail-biting. Once in awhile I let a few fingernails grow long and within a week I bite them down to the quick. What causes this and what can I do to stop?—P. D.

P. S.: My school project in physical education is nail-biting. Please send me as many sources of information as possible.

It's a nervous habit that makes your fingers look terrible. First, make up your mind to stop doing it. After tha, keep your fingernails trimmed short—with scissors or clippers, but not with your teeth. But it's up to you.

P.S.: I'm not going to do your homework for you. Find your own references, as your teacher intended. And congratulations to your teacher for assigning that topic to you for a project. Or did you choose it yourself? If so, congratulations to you.

Around The Rim

Beg Pardon, How's That Again?

I grant you that my hearing is not all it should be. For years and years I have had the comfort of not being bothered at all by the drip-drip of leaky water faucets or the noisy ticking of clocks and watches.

As a matter of record, I can't hear the average clock (even a goodsized grandfather sort) tick unless I glue one ear close to the dial. And if the dripping water tap is as much as 15 feet away I will have to look to even know it is leaking. And, what with the faults of my tri-focals, there's a pretty good chance, I still won't know.

I HAVE TOYED with the idea that I might make good use of a hearing aid but so far toying is all I have done about it. In a lot of ways, not having the full rattle and crash of modern civilization batter at one's eardrums, is a fairly happy situation. In other ways, though, it ain't so good.

Too many people, I am convinced, go around speaking so softly and so low that I do not believe that even folks with good hearing can understand them. A lot of folks have a slovenly habit of slurring words together in such a manner as to defy the slightly deaf listener breaking them apart in their proper components.

PROBABLY THE worst offender of all in this field is the guy who presents the speaker at the average civic club luncheon. First of all, he does not speak loudly enough for the front row of knife-and-forkers to hear him; secondly, he's prone to slur his words; and thirdly, he seems to assume (utterly without justification) that everyone present is a close personal friend of the speaker he is introducing. Therefore, he often neglects to do more than tell you that the speaker today is "good ole Bob" and you're supposed to know whole ole Bob is. Ninety-nine times out of 100, I never saw or heard of good ole Bob before in my life.

THE UPSHOT of such sloppy introductions is that the speaker, when he finally decides that he has been introduced (he can't tell anymore about it than the audience and he usually assumes the thing's finished when the chairman sits down) goes to bat with three strikes already against him.

Furthermore, things have been stacked against the poor speaker by the president permitting other club affairs to absorb more than half of the time he was promised.

He has a 30-minute discussion prepared; the time left to him after the introduction is perhaps 10 minutes. He's inwardly peeved (as he darned well has a right to be) and maybe doesn't do his best. His audience, weary with the prolonged preliminary hoopla, is so bored it won't pay any attention even if the speaker did have something worth while.

IF THE AVERAGE toastmaster would only stand up on his hind legs and state that the speaker today is Bill Bloke, pickle salesman from Peoria, and that he is going to talk on the economics of the cucumber business, everyone would be ever so much happier.

And us partly deaf customers would at least know who it was we were supposed to hear.

A Nation Should Show Gratitude

On one wall of the old 12th Century Church of Notre Dame in Senlis, a small town only a pleasant 90-minute drive northeast of Paris, there is a small marble plaque put there shortly after World War I by grateful Frenchmen.

I cannot quote the plaque word for word, but roughly its legend reads: "In grateful memory of one million British soldiers who lie buried in French soil."

THAT CHILLING statistic "one million British soldiers" is a blunt clue to the decline of British power in this century; of the manpower she mustered in but one war to defend the West. And the price she paid.

"Gratitude is a fruit of great cultivation," said Dr. Samuel Johnson, "you do not find it among gross people."

THE FRENCH are not a gross people and certainly their leader, Gen. Charles de Gaulle, is the antithesis of a gross man. Yet it might not be a bad idea for the general to drive out to Senlis and inspect the little marble plaque affixed to the church wall by grateful Frenchmen of his own generation.

Perhaps only an American is sufficiently naive to believe that gratitude should play some part in the conduct of foreign policy. But President de Gaulle's threat to blackball British membership in the European Common Market is not only distressing to Americans who feel a kinship with Britain but to those who have long admired le grand Charles.

FIVE OF THE six Common Market countries — West Germany, Italy, Luxembourg, Belgium and the Netherlands—have rallied behind Great Britain in her struggle to gain admission to the trading bloc. But admission to this flourishing economic lodge must be by unanimous vote. A De Gaulle veto can keep France's gallant ally in two World Wars on the outside looking in.

Paul-Henri Spaak, Foreign Minister of Belgium and one of Europe's most respected senior statemen, surely spoke for the West when, in the face of De Gaulle's most recent intransigence, he said:

"FOR US BELGIANS it is difficult to admit that Great Britain should not be an integral part of Europe. And, when one recalls the second World War and the role that Great Britain played, it seems to us that, if one can talk today of building Europe, we owe it largely to her attitude when she was alone or almost alone."

Speak can speak to De Gaulle as an old comrade in arms, for Spaak fled to London to head the Belgian government-in-exile during World War II even as De Gaulle sought sanctuary there to head the Free French. (And who can forget Winston Churchill's noble gesture, even as France was falling to pieces, of joint British-French citizenship?)

ENGLAND GAVE De Gaulle refuge and a base from which to operate. In every way, but particularly in the light of history, De Gaulle is far too great a man to harbor personal bitterness toward either imaginary or real slights.

His place in history is so secure, particularly as the postwar savior of France, that De Gaulle can afford to look beyond both Churchill and Roosevelt to the two nations, and their peoples, that enabled the general to return in honor and triumph to this native land.

HE HAS THE power now to keep Great Britain out of the Common Market, to the probable detriment not only of Britain but of all Western Europe. The general has the power to sunder and weaken NATO, to the great damage of the West in its long struggle with communism.

De Gaulle's battle to restore to France her ancient glory can only end in failure ultimately if he sacrifices the West to his ambitions. The general is now too big and too great a man to act with anything but generosity, the child of gratitude.

Time For A Political Strike

WASHINGTON—Strikes and lockouts are weapons employed by Americans who feel themselves economically aggrieved, and maybe the idea would also help the politically aggrieved.

THIS THOUGHT hit your observer at his first sight of the 88th Senate "at work" in their old men's battle over Rule 22. Not one of the bright new faces was on the floor—nor a bright new idea, either. My notebook caught Humphrey, Clark, Kuchel, Russell, Hill, Holland, Keating, Case, and a few drifters.

The list is telltale. These are the same statesmen forced, year after year, to conduct a senseless talkathon on an issue which is best described in Hamlet's words: "weary, stale, flat and unprofitable."

THERE OUGHT TO BE a voting man's strike against this nonsense. There ought to be a lockout against this misuse of the public's time and money, this shameful waste of talent and drain upon human vitality. As sure as the coming of hot weather, there will be Senators dropping dead, as they drop every year. I have written before on the mortality rate in the Upper Chamber and today I have a letter from one of its senior members who, sadly enough, is caught up in the filibuster fight. I know he won't mind if I refer to his acknowledged weariness, yet his sense of duty, as it relates to the really important work. He adds, concerning what I wrote:

"AND WHILE BOB Kerr is not here to thank you for it, I am; and I do."

Well, a walkout-and-lockout which I'm suggesting would lengthen the life and service of Bob Kerr's wonderful generation. It would get the new generation cracking on things that matter far more than whether 51, 60 or 67 votes are needed to halt a filibuster.

I SAY these men are "forced" into the fight over Rule 22, an I mean just that. Fussbudgeting organizations of Liberals give money and propaganda to candidates, and then demand this degrading performance of them. Southerners concerned with their endangered "way of life," and conservative groups concerned with the threat of economic chaos, expect their spokesmen to give their lives, if necessary, to stall the majority steamroller. I think it ought to be stalled, and the minority always protected, and I respect men willing to die for principle. But should good men on both sides be forced to die? Rule 22 has often worked for the benefit of Liberals and Conservatives alike. Why not let good enough alone? Those are the questions.

THE SOLUTION, it appears to me, is a strike in the public interest. From the White House, from the new members, from newspapers, from a deluge of letters, from somewhere and everywhere, these debaters should get the word: "Stop it!"

WHAT OTHERS SAY

Tremendous sums, public and private, are bing spent on college expansion to keep up with mounting enrollments. Even so, it is freely predicted that there will not be room for all. One hears all sorts of stories about this or that bright youngster who had to apply to any number of colleges before being accepted.

Yet four-year accredited colleges have room for at least 57,000 more freshmen in January, according to the Kiplinger magazine, Changing Times. The magazine's survey had revealed 41,000 freshman vacancies in the fall semester.

So if a qualified applicant tries hard enough he can find an accredited four-year college that will accept him. The best chances are for commuting students at large urban universities. For example, the University of Denver could have accepted 150 more day students this fall, says the magazine.

Such vacancy figures are interesting but hardly significant except to a really desperate student or one who happens to find one of these uncrowded institutions convenient and to his liking.

The necessity for rapid expansion of higher educational facilities generally and for maintaining the highest standards is too evident to challenge. Yet there will be growing necessity, too, for many young people to be satisfied with whatever suitable college opportunities are available.

Welcome TO BIG SPRING

WEBB PILOT TRAINING CLASS 64-E

Big Spring and all its people extend the friendly hand of a West Texas welcome to the student pilots of Webb's Class 64-E. These young men, here for a complete course of primary and basic jet-flying instruction, become citizens of our city for more than a year, and it is our earnest hope that they will find here a helpful, cheerful and hospitable atmosphere; and that when they must leave, they will do so with a kind feeling in their hearts for Big Spring, its business establishments, and all its population.

May we urge our new student pilots, as time permits them, to become acquainted with our town, to know about the churches and the schools, the facilities for leisure and enjoyment, the shops and the service establishments.

Particularly do we ask them to drop in and see us, just to let us get acquainted, and say in person what we are saying here. There's no obligation to buy at any time . . . we want to be of service, and of assistance if we can.

Yes, it's all wrapped up in one wholesome, hearty word . . . "WELCOME!"

A "HOSPITALITY GIFT" For New STUDENT PILOTS

If the Webb student pilot or his wife will call within the next 10 days at the store or service establishment whose name appears with his under his picture (bringing this page with him for identification), he will be given a "welcome gift" by that firm. There is no obligation, and we simply ask that the visit be for getting acquainted. Be our guest!

Dunlap Wins WAFB Contract

A contract for $14,737 was let this week for modification of the Webb base exchange buildings. The successful bidder was Ray Dunlap Company, Big Spring.

The Base Exchange Officer said that the modification of the exchange properties would include the removal of the old BX Service Station, now inoperative, from its present location on Avenue A near the East Gate, to a site adjoining the new service station at the corner of Fourth St. and Avenue C.

The building will be remodeled to conform to the accepted standard of the conventional "ice station." The new facility will handle most of the small items common to this type of commercial store. An additional driveway will be opened to accommodate the traffic without interference with the service station customers. The new facility will be open evenings, Saturdays, and perhaps certain hours on Sundays and holidays.

All County Schools Enter Spelling Bee

All schools in Howard County have agreed to participate in the first annual Howard County Spelling Bee, sponsored by the Herald.

Walker Bailey, county school superintendent and director of the bee for Howard County, said that representatives of all of the schools in the county attended a conference at his office Monday afternoon.

The plans were accepted and approved and the school men, provided with rules and practice books, were to go to their teachers with the plan today.

The bee for Howard County will begin with the selection of a class room champion in each class room. This will be followed by a school contest at which the school champion will be selected.

It was voted by the schoolmen that each school select a champion and alternate. At the county meet, only one entrant from each school will be permitted to compete; however, should the champion not be able to appear, then the school would be represented by its alternate.

There are 22 school campuses in the county, not including high schools. Fourteen of these are in Big Spring—11 elementary schools and three junior high schools; three in Coahoma — one junior high school, Coahoma elementary school and Midway elementary school; two in Forsan — Forsan and Elbow schools; one school is listed for Vealmoor, Gay Hill and Center Point.

School men said there will be 22 spellers in the county bee which will be March 16. Dr. W. A. Hunt, of Howard County Junior College, has said that the HCJC auditorium will be available for the match. The spelling starts at 10 a.m.

The winner of the County Bee goes to Lubbock where he or she will compete in the regional match against the county champions from 23 West Texas counties. The winner of the regional goes to Washington for the National Bee.

The practice books which contain words used in the contest are now on hand at the Herald office. The books cost 15 cents each.

Copies of the official rules are also available.

Bailey told the school men at the conference that it was imperative steps be taken at once to get elimination events under way.

Attending the meeting Monday afternoon: Sam Anderson, superintendent of the Big Spring schools; Sebron Williams, assistant superintendent of the Big Spring schools; W. A. Wilson, Coahoma superintendent; Roy Stockstill, Forsan superintendent, Tom Spell, member of his faculty and Darrell Flynt, principal at Elbow; George Archer, principal at Gay Hill; M. G. Kilgore, principal at Center Point; Bill Daugherty, Vealmoor principal.

Two Murder Cases Ready For Grand Jury

Two charges of murder with malice are to be considered by the Howard County Grand Jury which is to be convened here Jan. 29, Gil Jones, district attorney, said Tuesday.

The grand jury will investigate about 30 complaints, including the murder charge against James Monroe Steward, charged with the slaying in November, 1961 of Travis B. Hicks. Hicks' skeleton was found in a soggy Martin County field Sept. 1, 1962. Investigation showed that he was last seen alive on or about Nov. 30, 1961. Steward was implicated in the case and has admitted, Jones said, that he fired a shot into Hicks' head about that date. The shooting occurred in Big Spring in a motel cabin, Steward said.

The second murder case is of more recent history. It is a charge filed in the double slaying of Jerry Lee Johnson, 19, and Arthur Roland Williams, 20. These young Negroes were shot to death late on the night of Jan. 12 in front of a Northside tavern. Charges of murder with malice have been filed against Roosevelt Carter, 27. He is being held in the county jail and bond has been denied him. He has made a statement admitting the shootings, Jones said.

The other cases run the gamut, the district attorney explained. He described the docket about normal for this term of court.

Judge Ralph Caton will order the grand jurors notified to report to his court at 9 a.m. Jan. 29.

Y BANQUET DUCATS READY

YMCA boosters were reminded today that tickets are now on sale for the annual banquet, slated for next Tuesday at the Y. Ducats are $2.50 for adults and $1 for students.

Walter K. Kerr, noted youth worker, will be speaker and emphasis of the meeting will be on the youth of the local association. Tickets are available from Y board members or at the Y offices.

Wanted Man Arrested Here

Bill Whitton, deputy sheriff, was called to a store on Gregg Street several days ago to investigate the antics of two men who were attempting to pass what appeared to be a worthless check.

Whitton, holding the pair to be intoxicated, took them to the county jail and they were held for drunkenness. Unable to pay a fine they were locked up to lay out their time. Aubrey Standard, chief deputy, said a routine report on the case was dispatched to the Department of Public Safety, as in all cases.

The reaction was prompt. The DPS called the sheriff's office and instructed that one of the men—C. H. Tankersley, 37, be held here until a DPS officer could come for him. He is wanted for parole violation. Picked up in Tom Green County on a charge of forgery and passing he was sent to the state penitentiary. He served some of his time and was paroled. He has violated his parole and penitentiary officials have been looking for him.

Probation May Be Revoked

Gil Jones, district attorney, has asked that Judge Ralph Caton set aside probated sentences he gave two young forgery defendants in his court some months ago.

Jones has filed motions to revoke the probation of Jimmy Crosson and Doyle Sharp. Both young men were given three year probated sentences when they entered pleas of guilty to forgery charges against them.

Now, Jones has informed the court, both have admitted being involved in a series of burglaries. As a result, the district attorney has asked the court to set aside the probation.

Judge Caton has set the two matters for hearing at 9 a.m. Jan. 25.

Basket Of Clothes Reported Stolen

Mrs. Darlene Franz, 1601 Robin, reported the theft of a basket of clothes from a washateria on US 80 west Sunday night. She told police she had sone her wash and had left one basket at the place. When she returned it was gone.

John Lee Mitchell, 906 NW 2nd, called police and reported that another Negro had shot at him in the 600 Block of Lamesa Drive about 1:30 p.m. today. The second man was arrested and charged with aggravated assault.

Honor Airman

Airman 1.C. Earlie Griffin was named 331st Fighter Interceptor Squadron "Airman of the Month" for December. He is a communications operator with the 331st Fighter Interceptor Squadron Security Section, and has been with the unit since 1961. Airman Griffin is from Madison, Ga., is married and has four children.

Spence Named To Panel On Pollution Of Water

E. V. Spence, general manager of the Colorado River Municipal Water District, will take part Thursday in a meeting of the Texas Water Conservation Association's reactivated water pollution control committee.

The committee was re-named following a meeting of the joint meeting of directors, executive board, river authorities and water laws committee of the TWCA in Austin last week. Spence was largely responsible for that meeting unanimously going on record for sufficient appropriations to undergird pollution control work of the railroad commission. The resolution specifically called for not only ample funds but ample staff to enforce commission regulations safeguarding surface and underground waters.

J. W. Buchanan, Dumas, former member of the legislature and manager of the High Plains Water Conservation Association, is chairman of the TWCA special pollution control panel. Austin P. Hancock; Abilene, manager of the West Central Texas Municipal Water District, is vice chairman, and Spence is one of the four other members.

The Thursday session may result in some concrete steps to implement the previous resolution to obtain ample funds for the railroad commission pollution control division.

Sealed proposals will be received by the Board of Directors of the Colorado River Municipal Water District, Texas, at the Settles Hotel in Big Spring, Texas, until 2:00 o'clock p.m., Central Standard Time, on the 29th day of January, 1963, at which time and place they will be publicly opened and read, for the purchase of all, but not less than all, of $2,750,000 Water Revenue Bonds, Series 1963, dated January 1, 1963, in coupon form registrable as to principal only or as to both principal and interest, and maturing as follows on January 1 of each year:

YEAR	AMOUNT	YEAR	AMOUNT
1964	$250,000	1967	$500,000
1965	500,000	1968	500,000
1966	500,000	1969	500,000

Bidders shall name a rate or rates of interest to be borne by the bonds of Series 1963 in multiples of ¼ or 1/10 of 1 per cent per annum. The rates may be uniform for all of said bonds of Series 1963 or may be split so as to name not more than two rates, but with not more than one coupon change, and there shall be not more than one rate in any one maturity and no rate of interest may be more than 2 per cent higher than the lower rate named, and no supplemental coupon will be permitted.

Principal and interest shall be payable in lawful money of the United States of America at the principal office of the Morgan Guaranty Trust Company of New York, New York, New York. Interest payment dates will be January 1 and July 1 of each year, with the first coupon to be payable July 1, 1963.

Said bonds are to be issued in accordance with the provisions of the Constitution and Statutes of the State of Texas and pursuant to an Indenture dated January 1, 1951 by and between the District and The First National Bank of Fort Worth, Fort Worth, Texas. The bonds are "Additional Bonds" as defined and permitted in the Indenture and will be authorized and issued under Resolution of the Board of directors of the District to be dated January 29, 1963.

The legality of the bonds will be approved by Messrs. McCall, Parkhurst, Crowe, McCall & Norton of Dallas, Texas, whose legal opinion will state in effect that said bonds have been authorized in accordance with the Constitution and Statutes of the State of Texas, and are consequently valid and binding special obligations of said District payable solely from and secured by a pledge of the Net Revenues derived from the operation of the Water System of said District, that said bonds will be on a parity as to source of payments and security with the District's Water Revenue Bonds, Series 1951 now outstanding in the amount of $8,524,000, and the District's Water Revenue Bonds, Series 1958, now outstanding in the amount of $3,013,000, and any parity bonds issued hereafter pursuant to and in conformity with the terms, limitations and conditions contained in the Indenture. Said legal opinion will further state that the interest on said bonds is exempt from Federal Income Taxes under existing statutes, regulations, rulings and court decisions. With delivery of the bonds the District will execute and furnish the successful purchaser a certificate to the effect that no litigation of any nature has been filed or is then pending to restrain or enjoin the issuance or delivery of said bonds or the coupons appertaining thereto, or which would affect the provisions made for their payment or security, or in any manner questioning the validity of said bonds or coupons.

Delivery of the bonds will be made at The First National Bank of Fort Worth, Fort Worth, Texas. It is anticipated that the delivery will be made prior to March 1, 1963, and if for any reason the District is unable to make delivery on or before April 1, 1963, then the successful bidder may accept delivery thereafter at his option for an additional 30 days.

No bid will be considered for said bonds offering to pay less than 99's per cent of the par value thereof, plus accrued interest thereon to date of delivery. The award of said bonds will be made on the basis of the lowest net interest cost to the Colorado River Municipal Water District, and comparison of the lowest net interest cost will be made by taking the aggregate amount of interest over the life of the bonds computed from January 1, 1963, at the rate or rates named, and deducting therefrom the amount of premium, or adding thereto the amount of discount, if any, specified in the bid form.

Bids or proposals must be made on the "Official Bid Form," which will be furnished by the District or by the Financial Advisor. All bids must be unconditional and each bid must be accompanied by a certified or cashier's check payable to Colorado River Municipal Water District, Texas, in the amount of $55,000, which is 2 per cent of the par value amount of the bonds being bid upon. This check will be considered as a good faith deposit. The check of the successful bidder will be retained by the District to assure performance of the contract on the part of the successful bidder. In the event such bidder should fail or refuse to take up and pay for the bonds in accordance with the terms contained herein, the said check shall be cashed and retained by the Colorado River Municipal Water District as full and complete liquidated damages. Said check will be applied to the purchase price of said bonds. No interest will be allowed on the good faith deposit of the successful bidder. Checks of the unsuccessful bidders will be returned to such bidders after the award of the bonds is made.

Additional copies of the "Official Notice of Sale," "Official Statement" and "Official Bid Form" may be obtained at the office of the District in Big Spring, Texas, or at the main office of Eastman Dillon, Union Securities & Co., One Chase Manhattan Plaza, New York 5, N. Y., Financial Advisor to the District.

The District reserves the right to reject any and all bids, and to waive any and all irregularities, but any bid not complying substantially with the provisions contained herein will be rejected.

Pocketbook Is Basic To New Farm Policy

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Kennedy administration apparently decided it can get further by paying farmers to help reduce surpluses than by trying to compel them.

An authoritative source said Monday the administration will abandon its attempts to get rigid controls and will recommend a voluntary program with payments.

This is expected to be spelled out to Congress within a week or so.

Reverent Filming Of Greatest Story

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie - TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The atmosphere was hushed but business-like. The actors were summoned to their places and the lights were adjusted. The camera started rolling.

In the background came the sound of voices chanting a prayer. Mary Magdalene anointed Jesus' feet and wiped them with her hair. Judas came forth to rebuke her for using precious oil and was in turn rebuked by Jesus.

"Cut," said the quiet voice of the man in dark glasses and slouch hat.

"The Greatest Story Ever Told" had begun its Hollywood filming, having been snowed out of locations in Page, Ariz. This was only a minor hazard for producer-director George Stevens who has proceeded single-mindedly on his course of putting the Christ story on film. He has weathered corporate clashes and the Hollywood depression. What's a blizzard or two?

Stevens paused to discuss his progress so far.

"It's coming along even better than I expected," he said. "I'm very pleased with what we're getting, and especially with Max."

Max Von Sydow, the Swedish veteran of Ingmar Bergman movies, is playing the role of Jesus. He is a gaunt, lone figure on the set. Stevens has banned interviews for him.

"Max is so tied up with what he is doing that I don't want anything to distract him," said Stevens.

About being snowed out: "It was a gamble to go up to the high country in the winter, but it was worth it.

"The winter light gives you startling photographic effects that you can never get in the summer when the sun is high overhead. We'll go back there in February."

Meanwhile, he will be shooting interiors at the Desilu Culver City lot. He started the film in October and expects to be finished in the latter part of May. Esimates are that the bill will total somewhere "under $20 million."

The finished product won't be seen until Easter of 1964, perhaps later, because "Greatest Story" must follow "Brothers Grimm," "How the West Was Won" and "It's a Mad World" into Cinerama theaters. Stevens estimates the running time at 3 hours, 30 minutes—"about as long as any picture can run and hold its audience."

Tech Loan Granted

WASHINGTON (AP) — A $6,850,000 loan to Texas Technological College to build two dormitories and a dining hall has been granted by the Community Facilities Administration.

Officials said one dormitory will house 804 women students, the other 1,054 men students.

TV Classics Are Chosen

NEW YORK (AP) — Television has been described—and it is perhaps a perfect description — as "this marvelous, exciting, depressing, promising, wonderful, deplorable miracle."

And now, whatever you may think about "Beverly Hillbilhes" and Liberace in living color, television is an art form—well, sometimes, anyway.

The Museum of Modern Art in New York City starting next month will feature screenings of some 50 programs culled from 13 busy seasons of network broadcasts (1948-1961).

Among the programs selected by a large committee of experts, are a 1949 Studio One, "The Storm," a half-hour "Kukla, Fran and Ollie" kinescoped the same year, and a 1950-51 "Garroway at Large" program.

Memorable dramatic shows include "Marty," "Requiem for a Heavyweight," "The Miracle Worker," "Little Moon of Alban," and "The Taming of the Shrew."

Selected also were a Mike Wallace interview with Philip Wyhe, Edward R. Murrow's program on Sen. Joseph McCarthy—and McCarthy's show on Murrow. Shown will be samples of television coverage of Queen Elizabeth's coronation and the 1960 political conventions.

Judged to be young classics in the variety area were the 1953 Ford Anniversary Show, the 1955 "Your Hit Parade," the 1957 special "Cinderella," and "Tonight with Belafonte" in 1959. There is also included an "Ernie Kovacs Show" of 1957 and a 1961 Red Skelton hour.

Other shows are the CBS "Harvest of Shame" program on migrant workers, ABC's "Yankie No.'" about communism in Latin America, and NBC's "The Real West," narrated by Gary Cooper.

Car Buyers' Bulletin

How to be an expert new car shopper

When most people shop for a new car they are at a loss what to look for. Here are some valuable rules the experts use that will help you select the best car for your driving, your family, your budget:

WHAT TO LOOK FOR IN A COMPACT CAR

When the experts consider the compacts, they check out economy first. To the experts, economy means more than merely gas savings. It also includes low-cost operation resulting from simple design and service-saving features. Here's how Falcon fills the bill: (1) A 6-cylinder Falcon set the all-time Mobil Economy Run record for Sixes and Eights. (2) Falcon* now has Ford's exclusive twice-a-year or 6,000 mile maintenance that cuts costs and cares. (3) Design features such as bolt-on front fenders cut Falcon repair costs. (4) Falcon is a true compact—an original design for people who like compact car advantages. (5) Falcon is America's lowest priced 6-passenger car. (6) Falcon resale value is consistently high.

*Except Falcon Station Bus and Club Wagons

WHAT TO LOOK FOR IN A MIDDLEWEIGHT CAR

A car is a true middleweight when it delivers big-car room, ride and performance, plus compact handling and economy. Here's how Fairlane measures up. (1) Fairlane pares away exterior bulk and gas-wasting weight, retains full 6-passenger room. (2) Fairlane's rigid unit construction—plus four ingenious torque boxes—help Fairlane ride like cars a foot longer. (3) Thanks to Fairlane's true middle-size wheelbase, it handles trim and taut like the compact Falcon. (4) Fairlane reduces operating costs with Ford's famous twice-a-year or 6,000 mile maintenance. (5) Fairlane is priced below some compacts. (6) Fairlane offers the choice of two scarring V-8's or a peppy Six.

Based on comparison of manufacturers' suggested retail prices of cars comparably equipped

WHAT TO LOOK FOR IN A BIG LUXURY CAR

Experts put a premium on luxury . . . as reflected in classic styling, smooth ride, ultra-low noise level, impressive performance and quality-controlled manufacture. And low maintenance is a must. Here's how the Ford Galaxie meets these tests. (1) Ford has spent over $10 million to develop an unbelievably smooth, new Galaxie ride. (2) Noise, harshness, vibration are virtually eliminated. (3) Ford Galaxie offers the widest range of V-8 power—up to 425 Thunderbird horsepower. (4) Galaxie's Thunderbird-inspired roofline has set an industry-wide trend—will mean higher resale value years from now. (5) Galaxie has Ford's service-saving features to back up its luxury.
