Questionnaire unlawful

Several Colorado City residents have received a questionnaire in the mail from American Testing Institute in Miami, Florida requesting the recipient to answer some questions about their TV viewing habits.

The accompanying literature also states that if you fill out the card and return it with $14.80, you will be given one of the prizes listed, including a microwave oven, video recorder, color television set or a trip to Acapulco, among other prizes.

According to the Better Business Bureau in Miami, Florida, persons who have received a television questionnaire from American Testing Institute are being advised not to respond to their offer.

A representative of the BBB stated that the U.S. Postal Service has filed a suit against the Miami-based company on charges of conducting a lottery and is intercepting all mail.

Fire Department battles two house fires

The Colorado City Volunteer Fire Department was called on to put out two house fires this past week.

The first alarm occurred Wednesday afternoon at 2:15 p.m. when a fire was reported at the home of Mr. and Mrs.

David Arocha at 129 West Riverside.

Firemen quickly rushed to the scene of the fire and put the blaze out, but not before it had caused extensive damage to the inside of the house. Assistant Fire Chief Jack Green said the cause of the blaze is still under the investigation.

A overheated light in a dog house was the cause of a fire which occurred Thursday at 12:46 p.m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Alberts at 943 East 13th Street.

The light was in the dog house to keep the pet warm, but it got overheated, caught fire, and spread to the Albert home. Again firemen hurried to the call, but extensive smoke damage hit the inside of the house.

Firemen have been having trouble with people running over their hose while they are fighting fires. Law officers will start enforcing Section 101 of the Texas

Motor Vehicle Law which states: No driver of a street car or vehicle shall drive over an unprotected hose of a fire department when laid down on any street, pri vate driveway, or street car track, to be used at any fire or alarm of fire, without the consent of the fire department in command.

Tax Appraisal District amends budget

Amending the 1983 budget was one of the items of business dis cussed by the Mitchell County Tax Appraisal District when they met

Thursday night, December 2.

The budget was am ended down from $164,601 to $160,556.64. Chief Appraiser Clarence C. Burt explained that the reason for the adjustment was to correct an error in the salaries for himself, the deputies and the clerks.

The first budget allowed for a 10 percent raise for these positions, when it should have reflected a five percent raise.

The Appraisal District also approved a proposal to raise the percentage rate at which the "current service credit" is calculated in figuring retirement for Appraisal District employees.

In a discussion concerning the Valero Transmission Company, Burt told the members of the Appraisal District that he had talked to Ed Pritchard of Pritchard & Abbott, the firm that is employed by the District to appraise property in Mitchell County.

Burt reported that Pritchard told him that he had met with Russell Graham, an attorney with the firm that is representing Crane, Eastland and Hood Counties in suits involving Valero, and requested that Burt ask the District to contribute funds toward the legal fees in

Child abuse is rising in county

Although the people of Mitchell County have always been aware of the existence of child abuse, the death of little Shawn Joe Dering has made a shocking impact on everyone—it can happen here!

Not only can it happen in Colorado City, it does happen and all too frequently.

All over Texas, incidences of child abuse and neglect are increas ing; in just one year, from September of 1981 to September of 1982, the number of cases of child abuse and neglect has increased from 47,340 to 52,912.

These figures reflect a statewide increase of 11 percent and a 43 percent increase in Mitchell County.

What is truly frightening about these figures is the fact that the worst See CHILD, Page 2

Man rides in memory of mother

By STEVE BELVIN

Picture this, making a 4,500 mile journey on a horse, out in the rain and snow; sleet and cold and averaging about 25 miles per day. Not a very pretty picture is it? But to Robert Roberts of Framingham, Mass., it turned out to be a blessing in disguise. You see Roberts is making a trek that started in his hometown of Framingham and will take him to Santa Monica, Calif. He has been on his trip for seven and a half months and hopes to reach sunny California by the early part of March.

What would possess a young, single 28-year-old man to partake on such an adventure? Roberts explains, "Well it all started back in November of '79. I was living in Denver at the time when I received news from Framingham that my mom died of a massive heart attack. After that, I moved back to Framingham and started working. One day I was at work and the guys and I were talking. I told them that I wanted to do something in memory of my mom that the whole country would notice. One guy asked me why I didn't ride a horse cross-country. Everybody sort of laughed, but I started to think about it, said Roberts.

After giving it careful thought, he decided that he would give it a try. When he gave his friends and fellow employees the news everyone laughed, but Roberts was determined to try the feat.

Roberts had never ridden a horse before, so he went out and bought one to get ready for his journey. The animal turned out to be a registered Appaloosa by the name of Commanche

Time, and is the same horse that has covered every foot of this tedious trip.

Roberts states that he did not have much time to practice riding Commanche Time because of all the bad weather that hit Framingham (which is located just outside of Boston) that part of the season. "Commanche Time and I are very close, we have been through a lot together, and knows me well. He can tell when I'm happy or feeling mad or depressed. One time I had a heat stroke and passed out on top of him. He took me to a shade tree and let me rest there until I recovered. He has pulled up lame two times, but I always wait until he has healed. I had a new horse offered to me, but I started with Commanche Time, and I will finish with Commanche Time. It's gonna be hard on me when we reach our destination. I'll have to put him in a horse stable. I hope he doesn't think that I have abandoned him," said Roberts with a touch of sadness in his eyes.

Roberts started his journey on April 25 and his will-power and determination was tested from the start. The first night he bedded down he slept in a patch of Poison Ivy. The second night he ran into sleet and snow, and the third week Commanche Time pulled up lame for the first time. But the determined young man did not let this turn him back. "If I was going to quit, it would have been during that time," he said.

Taking a look at the mustachioed New Englander's gear, it was clear to see that he was traveling light. On Commanche Time's back See MAN, Page 2

ON THE ROAD TO SANTA MONICA—Is Robert Roberts of Framingham, Mass., as he passes through Colorado City on his horse Commanche Time. Roberts plans to reach his destination by early March.

Man

were two bags, a pair of boots, blankets and a canteen. One bag held his belongings which included four pair of jeans, six shirts, socks, underwear etc...The other bag contained blankets and rubbing liniments for Comanche Time.

Around Robert's neck he carried a small set of headphones that plugged into a mini-cassette player attached to his belt. He says he got the recorder in Dallas. "It got lonely sometimes until I got the cassette."

Does it get lonely riding in and day out? "Yes, it gets pretty lonely at times, it's the hardest part of the trip. I miss going out and having fun, going out on dates and just having people to talk to. You are the first people I have talked to since yesterday morning." But Roberts says that the people that he has met have been kind to him. He recalls of one incident while passing through Rockwall, located just outside of Dallas, when a local businessman paid him $300 for one day's work. "It was unbelievable. All I did was ride around with another guy checking up on jobs his company was doing. After we finished, he handed me a $100 bill. When I started to tell him it was too much, he shoved another $100 bill in my hand. The next morning when I was getting ready to leave, I went into his office to thank him for his generosity, he handed me another $100 bill and told me to be on my way."

Making this cross-country journey has brought Roberts lots of adventure and excitement. While passing through

New York he got the chance to appear in the movie "Thundershine," a western in which he appears as an extra in a scene on top of a waterfall. The producer said that he would pay one of the men $70 extra to jump off the 60-foot waterfall. Roberts volunteered and picked up the extra money. Later he was informed by the movie's make-up girl that if he had been in the union, the plunge would have netted him $600-$1,200. The movie is scheduled to preview sometime this month.

A couple of months later after leaving New York and making it to Virginia, he appeared in a reenactment of the Civil War. It was a benefit for a church, and Roberts was a member of the CSA Calvary.

While traveling through Tennessee he spent a couple of nights in Loretta Lynn's home. "When I was in Waverly, Tennessee, I was crossing a stream, when a guy rode up to me and we started talking. After a while he told me his name was Jack and that his mother was Loretta Lynn. He invited me to come and stay at the home he called the big house. It was a big beautiful house. I met all of the family except Loretta and her husband Moonie. They all treated me very nice," he commented.

But Roberts says his biggest enjoyment out of the entire trip is seeing the countryside. "It's wonderful and beautiful. You know you hear people say that they want to go to England, France and Rome, but they don't realize what a beautiful country this is. Riding in a car you just can't capture the true beauty of the country," he explained. Roberts says he has seen just about every kind of animal you can imagine, and it has taught him to enjoy nature. He has feasted his eyes on such mountain ranges as the Smokies, Appalachians, Blue Ridge and Catskills, but he declines to say which ones are the most beautiful. "They are all a sight to see," he commented.

He has been in Texas since October 16, and figures that it will take him another month before he gets out. "I like the people in Texas, they remind me of myself because they are proud people. They are proud of Texas, just the way I am proud of myself."

He plans on going on through Midland and Odessa, on to El Paso. From there he will go to Las Cruces, New Mexico, to Tucson, Phoenix and then to Los Angeles. From there he will journey to his destination Santa Monica. With a smile forming on his lips, Roberts added, "I hope to stop in Burbank, Calif., to appear on the 'Johnny Carson Show.'"

After each day's ride, Roberts sits down and writes what happened that day, for the book he will author after his trip is over. The title of the book will be "I Rode For A Reason" and he hopes it will hit the market by early fall. "The book will show people what dedication, determination, patience, courage and love is all about. My mom taught me all of these things, and this book is dedicated to her," concluded Roberts. And after he has finished up the remaining 1,400 miles of his journey, and put his book on the market, it is no doubt that his mom would have been very proud of her son.

Child

is yet to come. According to Ron Plentl, supervisor of child welfare in a 6-county area that includes Mitchell County, pointed out that the State Advisory Council "predicts it's not going to get any better soon because Texas has not reached its peak yet."

Plentl said the reason for the rise in the number of cases of child abuse is the failing economy; the worse the economy gets, the worse child abuse is and Texas is just now really feeling the true impact of unemployment and inflation.

In hopes of keeping what happened to Shawn from happening to another child, the RECORD is beginning a series on child abuse, exploring what it is, who does it, how to spot it and maybe prevent it sometimes. The series will begin in the Thursday, December 9 issue.

FLOYD RITCHEY with his Mondell Pines that he planted as a windbreak for his home.

Windbreak trees now on sale

The Mitchell Soil and Water Conservation District will be selling windbreak trees from now until February 15th. The types of trees the district will sell will be the Modell Pine and Pinus Christmas Blue Eldarica.

These two trees are evergreens and originated in the desert regions of southwest Asia.

In fifteen years the trees will grow to a height of 40 to 50 feet and a width of 25 to 35 feet. The first year after planting will show little growth but in the following years growth from 18 to 24 inches is common. Trees will reach a height of about 18 feet in five years. These are adapted to this region and can survive temperatures up to 120 degrees F.

The Modell Pines will be sold in the one gallon size, which is a tree about 18 inches tall, and the Pinus Christmas Blue Eldarica will be sold in the tube-pak, which is a tree about 10 to 12 inches tall.

The gallon size will sell for $3.50 each and the tube-pak will sell for $1.50 each.

Spacing of the trees should be about 100 feet from the area to be protected. Spacing in the row should be 10 to 20 feet between trees. Trees can also be used for landscaping where a windbreak is not desired.

(Measure length of the windbreak and divide by the desired spacing to determine the number of trees needed. You should order more trees than needed for replacements.)

Protection from rodents and wind should be planned for the trees. This can be done by using cans, containers, shingles, hailscreens, old tires, etc.

Water is essential. A minimum of five to eight gallons per tree each week will be needed from the first growing season and about ten gallons the second growing season. An inexpensive "drip" irrigation system is recommended. This can be made using plastic pipe and emitter tubes.

Payment is due upon placement of the order. Refunds will be made if delivery is not completed. Due to variables in weather conditions and care required by planter, no guarantee of livability is made.

For further information or ordering of these trees contact the Soil Conservation Service office in the G-Kell building or call the SCS office at 728-3473.

Williams celebrates anniversary of shop

M. D. Williams, owner of M. D. Williams Pump Company in Colorado City, is celebrating the first anniversary of the Fash 'N Nails, a shop in Atascocita, a community near Houston.

Why is a local businessman interested in a shop that specializes in sculptured nails? Because, he along with his daughter Linda Engel, own it and business is great.

Although Fash 'N Nails also offers hot wax pedicures, manicures, lash and brow dyes, false lash placement and brow waxing, its main concern is the application of a product that allows for acrylic nail strength combined with fineness and blending reminiscent of porcelain.

The nails, which look remarkably realistic, are semi-permanent but must be "refilled" and occasionally repaired for chips or cracks.

Ms. Engel says, "most of my customers come in to give themselves a 'perk.' They come back saying they have felt much more feminine since having the nails. They say they feel sexy, pretty and above all, different toward themselves since they added the nails."

Ms. Engel notes that women from all walks of life have sculptured nails applied, from waitresses to bank presidents. "We've had airline hostesses, garden club members, mechanics, cattle workers, swimming teachers and mothers. Anybody can wear the nails, the only thing you have to take into consideration is your activities and your need to perhaps make the nail a little shorter than those we put on those women less active."

So, the next time you see Mr. Williams, congratulate him on his success in branching out into an entirely different line of business.

Registration underway at TSTI

There is still time to register for winter quarter classes at TSTI in Sweetwater. Interested persons may register until December 16.

Many programs at TSTI are accepting new students this quarter. These include Machine Shop Operations, Livestock and Ranch Operations, Diesel Mechanics, Automotive Mechanics and Building Construction Craftsman.

Dogs keep slate clean

The Loraine boys and girls varsity teams kept their records unblemished as they downed the Divide Trojans Tuesday night in Bulldog Gym.

The Loraine girls 1-2-2 zone press was just too much for the Trojans. The Bulldogs pressed in the first and third quarters, and during that space outscored Divide 52-23 while going on to down the visitors 86-47. Guards Janie Barrera and Tacey DeLoera keyed the press as they combined for 13 steals.

Loraine junior post player Leslie Rose who is averaging 25 points and 12 rebounds per game, played her usual dominating game around the basket. Rose ended the night with 23 points and 10 rebounds. Barrera canned in 18 points, while Loraine's other post player Stephanie McAdams made her presence felt with 13 points and eight rebounds. Forward Julie Wells, making her first start of the season had a good game as she penetrated the Trojan defense for six points.

Bulldog coach Jimmy Fine was pleased with the win. "We controlled the boards and scored a lot of points off of our fast break," he said. Fine said the Bulldogs had put on a new offense Monday, and was pleased with the way his troops ran it on such short notice. He also added that he was impressed with the play of reserves Cathey Wright and Tina Vallejo. Both of the junior guards scored six points. The win ups the Bulldogs record to 2-0.

In the boys contest, the Loraine press was too much for the hapless Trojans as the Bulldogs took a 66-24 victory.

Loraine post James Griffin was the main man wearing black and gold as he popped the nets for 21 points and hauled down 14 rebounds. Aundra Rose and Adam Merket added eight points each. Jerry Darnell made six points and pulled in eight rebounds, while John McAdams scored six points and collected eight rebounds. Ruben Garcia added seven points, while Steve Morris grabbed nine rebounds.

SETTING UP A PLAY—Wolves sophomore guard Rebecca Jil Erwin sets up the offense in the Varsity's 60-45 loss to Sweetwater Tuesday night.

Wolves in tournament

The Colorado City boys varsity basketball team won their first game of the season in the opening round of the San Angelo Lake View Tournament Thursday night.

The Pack romped Water Valley 67-28 as they placed four men in double figures. Stacey Tarter led the Pack with 11 points. He was followed by Don Randle, Doug Chitsey and Tom Rees who all had 10 points. The Pack's next opponent was to be Ft. Stockton.

The varsity girls did not fare so well in their opening game of the tournament, as they were downed by a tough Monahans squad 62-39. Della Ausbie led C-City in scoring with 12 points.

She was followed by Laura Baum and Tomika Randle with eight points each. Their next opponent was to be Sweetwater.

Volleyball tournament planned at Wallace

The Wallace Center will be the site of the Wallace Center Recreational Volleyball Tournament Saturday, December 18 starting at 8 a.m.

The tournament is strictly for Mitchell County residents, and entry fee is $3 per person. According to tournament director Lulu Turner, entry deadline is Dec. 16 at 5 p.m. Turner said that after all entries were turned in, teams would be made up so that all the competition would be equal in the double elimination tournament.

Turner said that hopefully eight teams would be filled.

The first and second place teams will receive T-shirts, and an All-Tournament team will be selected.

The All-Tournament team will compete in the Annual Wallace Center Tournament against out of town teams. This tournament will be held at the first part of 1983.

Turner said that the Wallace Gym will be open for people to practice on Monday nights, and on Saturday from noon-3 p.m. Cost will be 50 cents per person.

Also Ms. Turner explained that this tournament is being organized to create more interest in adult volleyball in Mitchell County. For more information and entries, call Turner at 728-5184 or Barbara Gray at 728-2392.

SHOOTING FOR A BASKET—Wolf forward Tracy Tarter fires a jumper over the outstretched arms of a Sweetwater defender. Positioning for the rebound are Wolf players Tom Rees, Stacey Tarter and Dennis Rivera.

Mustangs buck Wolves

The Sweetwater Mustangs came to Wolf Gym Tuesday night and came away with victories in both the boys and girls varsity tilts.

The Wolves girls team fell behind early in the contest, but battled back to take a 40-39 lead after trailing by as much as 13 early in the game. But the lead was short lived as the Mustangs put on a fourth quarter spurt led by Sandra McCain and Alice Smith as they went on to hand the Pack their third consecutive defeat 60-45.

McCain and Smith were thorns in the Wolves side all night as they combined for 41 of the Mustangs points. McCain finished the night with 23 points and 10 rebounds including nine points in the first quarter which the 'Stangs outscored the Pack 19-6. Smith had a banner night as she bombed 18 points and hauled down a game high 23 rebounds. She took charge in the final quarter after the Wolves surged ahead. She scored 11 points and grabbed seven rebounds.

Sweetwater was "cooking" in the first quarter as they hit 8 of 14 shots from the field. They surged to a 23-11 lead in the second quarter, and that is when the Wolves caught fire and started to narrow the lead. Two baskets by Laura Baum, a basket by Della Ausbie and a couple of freethrows by Baum cut the lead to 27-22 right before the half.

Right before the end of the third quarter the Pack narrowed the lead to 35-33 on buckets by Sheri Morris and Jackie Sue Nutt. The Pack took the lead 40-39 in the fourth quarter on two jumpers by Tomika Randle, who missed the entire third quarter because of foul trouble. But that's when Smith went to work and the 'Stangs went on to take the win.

Baum led the scoring for C-City with 20 points. She was followed by Randle with seven and Anita Silva with six points. Randle also pulled in 10 rebounds, while Stacy Hamrick grabbed six and Becky Albin pulled in five missed shots.

The Varsity boys jumped out on the Mustangs 18-11 behind the timely shooting of Stacey Tarter and Tim Beights.

The Pack faltered a little in the second quarter as Sweetwater's 6-5 postman John Van Denver got hot. The Mustangs had narrowed the margin to 29-27 at the half.

The final two quarters were "nightmares" for the Pack as they just could not find the range. The Pack had a three minute span in the third quarter and a five minute span in the final quarter in which they did not score. Sweetwater went on to take the game 49-39.

Stacey Tarter and Dennis Rivera led the Pack in scoring with nine points each, while Tim Beights added six points. The loss was the Pack's first contest of the season.

Colorado Middle School News

By MARK JONES & CHARLIE GARRETT

Mr. Evans' wood shop classes have mostly finished their first wood projects and started on the second project.

The first accident in wood shop was a thumb injury on a sanding machine, but it was only minor.

Some of the projects are: tool box, constructed by James Richmond; a wall lamp made by Mark Jones; knife holders built by Donovan Kelly and Danny Hogue; gun racks evolved from the hands of J. D. McCartney and Richard Wilkinson.

Mr. Kelly's 8th grade art classes are painting pictures of Mr. and Mrs. Rowe's house.

The Colorado Middle School Dance will be held on Dec. 10, from 8 until 10 p.m. at Wolf Gym.

Learn to make centerpieces

A two-session workshop in making Christmas centerpieces will be taught December 7 and 9, by Cricket Waid. The sessions will be on Tuesday and Thursday nights from 6:30-8:30 p.m.

Mrs. Waid will be giving instruction in making centerpieces, wall hangings and other Holiday arrangements.

Tuition for the class is $10 per person plus cost of supplies.

Pre-registration can be made at the Wallace Center office. For more information call 728-2392, Community Education office.

Junior varsity teams fall to Sweetwater

The Sweetwater Mustangs handed the Wolves boys and girls junior varsity losses in Tuesday night basketball action at Wolf Gym.

In the girls contest, the roof fell in on the Pack in the second quarter as they went scoreless for five minutes, until Dianne Gregory's jumper cut the Sweetwater lead to 14-8. The half ended 26-11 in favor of the visitors.

In the second half, Sweetwater dominated the contest as the Pack still had trouble finding the range. One bright spot for C-City was the return of Cres Aguilar, who was injured in the first period. She came back to score 11 second half points, but it wasn't enough as the Mustangs took a 48-32 victory.

Aguilar led the Wolves in scoring with 15 points. She was followed by Julie Waid with six, and Sherri Fite with four points. The loss drops the J.V.'s record to 0-3.

The C-City boys J.V.'s had the same problem the girls did in the first quarter; cold shooting. Jay Piland was the only Wolf on target as he connected on a long jumper, and scored on a drive to the basket, as Sweetwater took a 10-4 first quarter lead.

The Mustangs stretched their lead to 29-10 at halftime, and it carried over into the third quarter as they scored the first eight points, and cruised to a 51-29 win over the Wolves.

Armando Rivera led the Pack in scoring with nine points. He was followed by Perry Conner with eight, and Piland with six points. The contest was the Pack's first of the season.

Body Control Class offered

A special one week Body Control Class with Joanne Sanderson will start at the Wallace Center on December 6 at 6 p.m. The class will meet Monday, Tuesday and Thursday night for one week. Tuition for the class is $8.

The class is designed to help those desiring to lose inches around the waist, hips, and thighs. It is also helpful in toning up those flabby muscles and getting an over-all body conditioning.

Cook's Corner

Debbie Carlock says, "I've always liked to cook," but she faces one small problem—her husband is partial to basic fare. She explains, "I wish Tom would eat more variety of things, but he's a steak, gravy and potato person. He's a plain food person."

However, he doesn't mind a little variation now and then: "I can get away with a few Mexican dishes and every once in awhile, spaghetti. The kids and I love spaghetti, but he just won't eat it very much." "The kids" are 5-year-old Cory and 1-year-old Cade.

She continues, "He likes pork chops and steaks and chicken and just plain things, but I found a few things that he does like that are a little different."

One of the dishes her husband enjoys is El Supremo. Debbie says, "It's a meal in one—a giant burrito. They used to have those at Jess's Barbeque downtown. I like it so well that whenever his business went out, I tried to figure out how he did it and every time I have company, this is usually what I serve so we can have a variety."

She laughs, "I can get by with it when we have company and since my company likes it so well, it's one of the things I wanted to share."

Debbie also likes to make bread. "I used to make bread all the time. I made it about two years solid. I'd have to make it once a week and finally got tired of it. I said 'I'm not going to do this for awhile,' and then I never have started back, but I really enjoyed it when I did it. When Cade gets a little bit bigger I think I'll probably start it back," she says.

She is also more concerned about nutrition now than she used to be, noting, "I've gotten away from a lot of sweets because I think you can get too many sweets, so we don't have any but maybe once a week now or once every two weeks. I try to encourage fruit a lot more now."

Debbie's other interests include crocheting, reading and her children.

Fellowship of Christian Athletes claims 200 members

There are thousands of members of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes all over America, and Colorado City has had an FCA organization for 11 years.

Many people think that the FCA is just a group of athletes with an impressive title, who just get together and have fun. It is much more than that. The purpose of FCA is to present athletes and coaches, and all whom they influence, the challenge and adventure of receiving Jesus Christ as Savior and Lord. Serving Christ in their relationships and in the fellowship of the church.

There are over 200 FCA members in Colorado City's high school and middle school. They meet every other Thursday at 8 a.m. Each meeting begins with devotion and prayer service. The group's main project will be collecting food for the needy at Christmas time.

Officers of the Colorado High School boys FCA are: President, Dennis Rivera; Vice President, James Blackwell; Secretary, Doug Chitsey; and Program Directors, Tip Chaney and Larry Hamilton. Sponsors are Tom Ramsey, Mel Gierhart, Raymond Zamarippa, Bill Barnard and Rick Robinson. There are 40 members in the group. Officers for the CHS girls FCA are: President, Laura Baum; Vice President, Stacy Hamrick; Secretary, Becky Albin and Treasurer, Sheri Morris.

Sponsors are Christene Hall, Linda Mathis and Debbie Goforth. There are 41 members in the group. Officers for the Colorado Middle School girls FCA are: Becca Westside, president; Sally Mendoza, vice president; Lisa Lara, secretary and Denise Alvarez, treasurer. There are 83 members and the sponsors are Debbie Goforth and Kathy Marshall.

Right now the CHS boys FCA is selling candy to raise money to send some of its members to the National Conference in Waco at Baylor University. Christian athletes from all across the United States attend this week long session. Some of the many activities these young men participate in are: bible study, singing and fun and games. It's a great chance for Christian young people to get together. According to sponsor Rick Robinson the cost is $150 per person, but the benefits received cannot be measured in dollars.

Robinson said that Colorado City would like to send 12-15 boys to the conference, and that would be the most that Colorado City has ever sent.

Local band places 4th in contest

Colorado City's local band Loosely Tite barely missed out in the money winnings as they finished fourth placed last Sunday in Midland in the Search For Tomorrow Stars contest.

The first three bands received money for the contest which was held in Midland's Exhibition Center. But according to Loosely Tite drummer "Head" Orona the band was offered jobs to play at the club Cactus Jack in Big Spring. Orona also stated that it was a possibility that the group might start a circuit playing at surrounding West Texas clubs. Loosely Tite would like to thank Roy Miles for the use of his P.A. system, without it their success would not have been possible.

Quail hunters fined

A quail hunting trip for five Hugo, Okla. men turned out to be an expensive outing for the group last Saturday (Nov. 27) as local lawmen stopped and searched their vehicle following a tip from a local landowner.

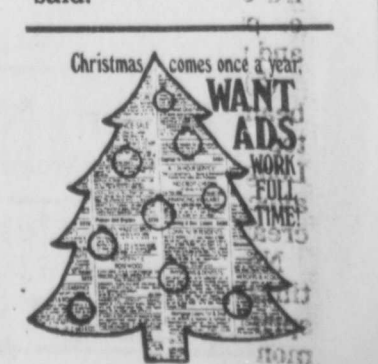

The search turned up 144 dressed quail in the ice chest and 44 undressed quail.

The five were taken to Justice of the Peace Charles Watlington's office and fined $2,000 or $412 each.

Each hunter was fined on two counts (1) hunting on private property without the consent of owner and (2) exceeding the bag and possession limit for quail. The hunters were nine birds over their limit. Game Warden Ronnie Aston, Sheriff Wendell Bryant, Deputy Sheriff Bobby Calloway and Loraine Police Chief Edgar Haltom were all involved in the apprehension of the hunters.

Aston encouraged local landowners and concerned citizens to call him or the Sheriff's office if they think someone is hunting illegally on their property on county roads.

It was with the help of a concerned landowner that the individuals were caught, Aston said.

Local agents to attend conference

County Agents Bob Benson and Marian Morris and County Entomologist Deanna Myers will be attending the 1982 State Extension Conference in the J. Earl Rudder Center at Texas A&M University on December 13-17. The theme of the conference is "Inspiring People for Progress."

During the five-day in-service conference, some 1,100 Texas Agricultural Extension Service professionals will attend three general sessions to hear national and state leaders discuss technology advances, and take part in concurrent educational sessions and refresher courses to update their knowledge and skills.

The conference focuses on Extension's special role of providing informal education programs in agriculture, home economics, community development and 4-H and youth. It is designed to bring specialists and county Extension agents from all areas to the campus.

Other special features of the conference include presentation of three Distinguished Performance Awards to Extension staff members by Dr. Perry L. Adkisson, deputy chancellor for agriculture, the Texas A&M University System.

Also to be honored are three winners of the prestigious Knapp-Porter Awards for state and national leaders, with Dr. Zerle L. Carpenter, Extension Service director, in charge of the presentations.

Conference registration is set from 3 to 6 p.m. Dec. 13 in the Rudder Exhibit Hall.

The welcome and conference challenge by Director Carpenter is slated at the 8:30 a.m. opening session Dec. 14. Adkisson is to announce winners of the Distinguished Performance Awards following Carpenter's comments, and Dr. Robert Lindberg of San Antonio is to discuss "How to Motivate Yourself and Others."

Throughout the afternoon on Dec. 14, each Extension member is to attend two of six concurrent educational sessions. On Dec. 15, Extension staff members are to take part in "refresher courses" covering a wide variety of subject matter ranging from microcomputer uses to livestock production and housing for the 1980s.

"Reaching Out Through New Technology" is the thrust of the Dec. 16 general session, with Dr. Don Springer, head, Department of Agricultural Communications, in charge. Bob Heard of San Antonio, chairman of the Extension Committee of Target 2000, is to discuss "Target 2000," and Penny Damlo, futurist with Anticipatory Sciences, Inc., Minneapolis, Minn., is to speak.

Afternoon sessions Dec. 16 are to focus on agriculture and home economics.

Speaker for the final general session Dec. 17 is Dr. Mary Nell Greenwood, administrator, Cooperative Extension Service, USDA, Washington, D.C.

Turn The Other Cheek

Food For Thought
By Rev. Morris Wood

Attend The Church Of Your Choice

Jesus said, "You have heard that it was said, an eye for an eye, and a tooth for a tooth. But I say to you do not resist him who is evil, but whoever slaps you on your right cheek, turn to him the other also." Matthew 5:38,39

This particular scripture is one of the better known passages. However, I doubt if few of us have ever been smitten on the jaw by the angry hand of someone opposed to the gospel. But many, I'm sure, have been slapped in the face by the ugly words of someone they know, perhaps even someone dear and close to their hearts. Here we have had many occasions to turn the other cheek. Let us well take note the words which Christ did NOT SAY. If someone insults you, then insult them back. Nor did he mention slander for slander, neither did the Savior state he who criticise me, will I criticise in return.

Wise is the man who bites his tongue and does not retaliate or seek vengeance. How well Solomon penned it when he recorded, "A prudent wise man ignores an insult" Proverbs 12:16 Amplified Bible.

Jesus Christ teaches do not fight or resist the evil person who injures you, but turn to him the other cheek.

Pete McKinney, legal counsel for the District, told the group that "We've got a unique situation in this district," because the Mitchell County Tax Appraisal District already has a suit pending with Valero, adding that they shouldn't pay part of other lawsuits when they already have legal expenses of their own.

McKinney concluded that "contribution would be valid only if Valero agreed to settle on the basis of one test case."

District member Billy Bridgford suggested that a representative of Pritchard & Abbot attend the next meeting of the District to inform the group of how much participation they could expect when the Valero suit comes to court.

All members agreed that the presence of a representative would be very beneficial and Burt said that he would contact the firm in time for them to send someone to the January meeting, noting that appoints to the Board of Review would also be discussed at that time.

The amount of delinquent taxes owed by Valero to Mitchell County taxing entities is $202,933.51. Other counties involved in litigation include Crane, Eastland, Ellis, Erath, Glasscock, Hood, Johnson, Midland, Nolan and Taylor. The total amount of taxes owed by Valero to all these counties is $1,258,244.94.

IRS still owes some refunds

The Internal Revenue Service has $1,203,216.43 it wants to send to some North Texas taxpayers. Over 2,600 taxpayers in the northernmost 143 counties, including Mitchell County, have not received their 1981 refund checks, which average $461. The smallest refund is $1, while the larger is over $96 thousand.

The most common reason for the failure of refund check and taxpayer to meet up is that the taxpayer has moved and not left a forwarding address. Others have changed their marital status and their names and failed to notify the Postal Service and the IRS. Still others are the victims of illegible address entries on the Form 1040.

When a check is returned to the IRS as undeliverable, the IRS follows up by mailing a notice to the address of record. If this fails, extensive efforts are made at the district level to locate the taxpayer's correct address.

If your name appears on the following list, please write or call the IRS. Write: Internal Revenue Service, 1100 Commerce Street, Mail Code 151-A, Dallas, Texas 75242, or call 742-2440 in Dallas, 335-1370 in Fort Worth, or 1-800-492-4830 elsewhere in Texas.
