Worried Saigon Leaders Reassured of US Backing

Officials Pledge Full Support For Viet Nam

SAIGON (UPI) — U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk and special presidential envoy W. Averell Harriman told worried Saigon government leaders Saturday the United States was determined to assure South Viet Nam's "safety, freedom and prosperity."

After meeting with the U.S. officials South Vietnamese Premier Nguyen Cao Ky, apprehensive lest the U.S. peace offensive undermine his government's position, told the nation in a report: "Never can we tolerate any interference harmful to our national sovereignty."

Rumors of an impending coup against the South Vietnamese government swept the capital even while Rusk and Harriman dined with Premier Ky at the latter's residence Saturday night. But there was no concrete evidence to support the rumors.

A military spokesman in Saigon said he had no information of any move to upset the government. Parachute flares could be seen dropping on the southwestern edge of Saigon, and these added grist to the rumor mill. But it appeared to be no more than a routine flare-dropping mission against a suspected Viet Cong probe.

Rogers Opposes Expanding Trade With Communists

Congressman Walter Rogers said Saturday he is "vigorously opposed" to granting authority to the Administration to remove tariff restrictions opening the way to broader trade agreements between the United States and Communist nations.

"On the contrary, I advocate even tighter restrictions than now exist," Congressman Rogers said.

"Increased trade with Communist countries would serve merely to alleviate the distressed economies of nations whose leaders are pledged to the destruction of our freedoms," Congressman Rogers said. "There is no better argument for the Free World's position in the Cold War than the continuing economic distress of countries behind the Iron Curtain."

The Congressman said, "The Communists can't brag to the world about their economic success. Their failures are too obvious — and the world can easily contrast the economic booms in the United States, West Germany, Japan and other free nations with the stagnant, faltering economies of the Soviet Union, Red China, East Germany and the other satellites."

"We have the showplaces — they have the failures that state so eloquently the fundamental failure of Marxism," he said.

Congressman Rogers added, "We do not need Communist trade goods — but they'd like to have ours. The advantage is one way, and I'm opposed to anything that gives the Communists even the slightest advantage in the 'hot' and 'cold' conflicts in which we're engaged."

The Congressman said he was "very pleased" to learn that the U.S. balance of payments deficit had been slashed in 1965 through successful policies of trade expansion, but he said the United States would err if it sought to eliminate the deficit by trading with Communist countries. "A better answer can and must be found," he said.

Meanwhile as the Second Session of the 89th Congress enters its second week, Congressman Rogers' schedule of activities included a speech Monday in Pittsburgh, Pa., before a group of railroad and other businessmen; meetings of the two committees on which he serves, the House Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce and the House Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs; and the Session's first full week of floor sessions in the full House of Representatives.

Troop Move Routine

In Washington, the Defense Department said a "routine troop movement" took place in Saigon while the U.S. and Vietnamese talks were taking place. A department spokesman said a member of the U. S. South Viet Nam command gave the explanation in reply to Pentagon queries about reports that a troop caravan had sped Saigon outskirts. A State Department spokesman also called the troop movement routine.

A U. S. Embassy spokesman said Rusk and Harriman were going on to Manila Sunday from Saigon to confer with new Philippine President Ferdinand E. Marcos. It was reported they would discuss with Marcos the possibility of sending Filipino troops to South Viet Nam.

Rusk, accompanied by Harriman who has been touring world capitals on a peace mission for President Johnson, plunged into high level talks with Ky and other Saigon leaders almost as soon as they landed in Saigon from Bangkok.

"We are on a common effort the freedom, and prosperity of South Viet Nam," Rusk said in a statement. "We are determined to do everything within our power to assure that result."

After an hour-long meeting with the U. S. officials, Ky paid polite thanks to would-be (See LEADERS, Page 3)

BIEN HOA, Viet Nam (NEA) — Before battle, the devout, the skeptical and the merely frightened turn to prayer — each in his own faith, each in his own way.

They ask for courage and protection. They ask for life itself.

They ask that God intercede in the war... that He fight alongside them, that He give strength to one group of combatants but not to the other. They ask that God take sides — their side.

But will He? Whose side is God on in this weary war?

Captain Jim Hutchins thinks ours. Definitely and without doubt, ours.

Hutchins is a combat chaplain here, once wounded, many times under fire. He is a pious man who believes both armies in this fight are children of Christ. But he feels the enemy's children have fallen from grace.

"I think," he said recently, "God is on the GI's side."

"Why?" he was asked.

"Because the enemy is largely atheistic."

"Aren't some of us, too?"

Fifty-two Feared Dead In Crash of Colombian Airliner

CARTAGENA, Colombia plunged into the rough seas Friday night about a mile and a half off the coast. Fifty-two persons were feared Saturday to have died in a half off the coast. Many of the passengers were believed to have been trapped in the cabin of the airliner which sank almost immediately. Most of the survivors were thrown clear of the plane on impact with the water.

Only eight survivors were picked up by rescue launches and fishing vessels making an intensive search of the area after the propeller-driven aircraft carrying 55 passengers from year-end vacations at the Caribbean shore.

Residents Lag In Payment of 1966 Poll Tax

With only two weeks to go for paying 1966 poll tax or claiming exemption, only one out of five Gray County voters is qualified to vote, according to County Tax Assessor and Collector Jack Back.

As of Friday, 1,156 voters had paid their poll tax and 1,175 had qualified for exemptions — a total of 2,331 out of an estimated 12,000 eligible voters in Gray County.

Leaders of both major political parties have urged Texans (See POLL TAX, Page 3)

Whose Side Is God On?

As the trucks roll to battle in first light, prayer is often the unifying force.

"Yes, but our goal is a thumb Bible for his opinion. Does God condone war? the Communists are not, it's logical to assume He will answer our prayers more often." "Perhaps," the chaplain said, "one day He will." Jim Hutchins, a 31-year-old Protestant from Kokomo, Ind., consults a heavily prayed, he says. "And since we are daily showing we are a Christian people and our reliance on Him while the unbelieving enemy is not. As far as God helping individual soldiers, there are numerous instances in the Old Testament where He commanded followers into war with the promise that He would protect them. David was one. God told him to go, way."

Tension Eases In Viet Nam

SAIGON (UPI) — There has been no major contact between Allied forces and North Vietnamese regular troops since the Christmas cease-fire and many people are beginning to ask why.

The lack of any significant contact has led to speculation that Hanoi has ordered a reduction of military activity at least until the Communist leaders have assessed President Johnson's current peace offensive.

American military commanders in Viet Nam consider this interpretation of the decrease in Communist-initiated incidents during the last three weeks as highly optimistic.

The indications are that the North Vietnamese have withdrawn the bulk of their forces in the border areas at least, back across into Cambodia. The question remains why?

There are three possible reasons:

The first is that Hanoi, following a major defeat of one of its larger units at the hands of the 1st Cavalry troopers last November, has ordered a de-escalation of the war back to the so-called phase two, consisting of small scale guerrilla warfare, sabotage and terrorism.

This would mean that Hanoi is convinced that its troops cannot fight the Americans in pitched battle and this they are by no means willing to admit.

A second possibility is that Hanoi has ordered its forces to avoid contact to prepare a favorable climate for peace negotiations. Those holding this view suggest that the Communists may be reciprocating the cessation of American bombing of North Viet Nam.

To most people in Viet Nam with some experience of Communist intransigence, this explanation seems highly improbable.

The third possibility, generally favored here, is that the North Vietnamese have pulled back over the border to regroup, re-equip and reassess their tactical position prior to renewing their offensive after the Chinese new year period from Jan. 20 to 23.

The Viet Cong National Liberation front has called for a cease-fire against South Vietnamese "puppet troops" for the four-day holiday but made no mention of a similar cease-fire against American, Australian or Korean forces.

It is unlikely the Viet Cong and their North Vietnamese Allies will make any moves before the new year. But there are indications they may step up the pressure after the holiday. American military commanders believe that the lull in fighting is in preparation for an offensive rather than for peace.

ADDITIONAL $3.2 BILLION

Increased Funds Requested For 'Great Society'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Johnson will back up his pledge to give the country butter as well as guns by asking Congress to spend $3.2 billion more on "Great Society" programs next year. White House sources said Saturday.

In his State of the Union message to Congress on Wednesday, Johnson said he would need an additional $5.8 billion for Viet Nam in fiscal 1967. At the same time, he answered

Republicans and others calling for a cutback in domestic spending to pay for the war by saying that "we can continue the 'Great Society' while we fight in Viet Nam."

Administration officials put the $3.2 billion price tag on his statement although they declined to break this down among various programs such as the war on poverty, schools and health. They said details will not be made public officially until Johnson sends his new budget to Congress Jan. 24.

The officials also revealed that $10.5 billion will be earmarked for the Viet Nam war in fiscal 1967, which begins July 1, compared with an estimated $4.7 billion during the current 12 months.

In other words, the war is now expected to cost more than twice as much next year as it's costing this year. White House sources readily conceded that the cost may be even more if the war gets worse. As they put it, their Viet Nam estimates are "highly uncertain" and this means in turn that Johnson's (See FUNDS, Page 3)

First Snowfall Of '66 Expected

The first snow of 1966 was due to move into the Pampa area early today according to the U.S. Weather Bureau.

Shortly before midnight, light snow was barely visible and streets were beginning to get a little slick.

The moisture was a welcome relief to area farmers. The weatherman called for light snow to continue today with no big accumulations expected. The mercury was to rise to about the mid-30s today.

Texas had some of the few areas of pleasant weather in the nation Saturday with fair skies over most of the state and temperatures rising.

forth into battle and that 'no evil will befall thee.'

"And since the Old Testament is replete with specific examples of God's teachings, we can safely apply it to modern situations. That is, we can believe that God will watch over those who sincerely accept Him and ask His help."

"But," the chaplain was interrupted, "many Christian soldiers die."

"That's true."

"Can you give a reason?"

"Only that it's God's will."

"Then prayer may not sway God in combat?"

"Perhaps not. A soldier's prayer is not for God's benefit—to convince Him. It is for the soldier's benefit, to give him something to lean on and to strengthen and comfort his faith."

Jim Hutchins paused, then closed his Book. His point had been made. He who rises from prayer a better man, in his prayer is answered.

Thus, the GI here may die

But he does neither alone. Not with God on his side, any

Russians Lose Key Scientist

MOSCOW (UPI) — Sergei Korolev, mysterious Soviet space scientist who designed almost everything Russia put into orbit, has died at the age of 59, it was announced Saturday. His death dealt a heavy blow to the Soviet space program.

Korolev designed history's first artificial satellite, first space ship and first moon rocket.

To foreigners, however, he was a mystery man most of his life, and his connection with the space program was not announced until his death.

Korolev died Friday of cancer and heart disease. His death was announced Saturday in an obituary signed by Communist party chairman Leonid Brezhnev, Premier Alexei Kosygin and other leaders.

His value to the Soviet space program was indicated by the announcement that he will be buried Tuesday in the Kremlin wall, an honor reserved for only the most prominent Soviet citizens.

Korolev was active up to his death. Tass, the Soviet news agency, said he designed Russia's last spaceship—the one from which cosmonaut Alexei Leonov took his historic "walk in space."

Besides spaceships, Korolev also designed the first rockets to hit the moon, to orbit the moon and to take pictures of the moon's "dark side."

Panhandle Water Conservation News

By FELIX W. RYALS

Dr. Gerald W. Thomas, Dean of Agriculture for Texas Tech, and also Chairman of the West Texas Water Institute will be in White Deer this coming Tuesday night, January 18. He will be bringing the program for the White Deer Lions Club on their annual Farmer-Rancher night.

Dr. Thomas will show and narrate the NAWAPA film of the North American Water and Power Alliance. The film tells the story of how water may be brought down from Alaska through Western Canada and then piped across the Western portions of the United States to needy areas including West Texas.

Dr. Thomas is one of the best water authorities in the nation. He is immensely interested in the West Texas area effort to solve the water shortage problem.

The meeting will be held in the White Deer School Cafeteria. The supper meeting will start at 6:30 p.m. with the program to get under way about 7:15 p.m.

Cooperation seems to be the surest way to solving water problems. This cooperation certainly paid off for three groups seeking storage and use of some 310,000 acre feet of storage space in the proposed Cooper Reservoir, to be built in the Irving area, north of Dallas. The Sulphur River Municipal Water District and the City of Irving, in appearing before the Water Rights Commission, had prepared their petition very carefully and was granted the storage space by the Water Rights Commission. Irving will have 114,265 acre feet of storage with the same amount going to the North Texas Municipal Water District. Sulphur River Municipal Water District was allotted 81,470 acre feet. The matter of diversion was deferred to later.

The Water Rights Commission showed some concern over recreational development for local area benefit. Members of the commission suggested that a plan could be worked out with the Parks and Wildlife Department instead of allowing the Federal Government to assume control by default.

Salt Water Pollution still remains one of the biggest problems facing Texas fresh water. Diversion of saline water from the El Morillo Drain in Mexico to the Gulf of Mexico was proposed in a recent International Boundary and Water Commission report endorsed and released by President Johnson of the U. S. and President Diaz Ordaz of Mexico. The plan suggested in the report, calls for a 23-mile canal which would cost one and a half million dollars. The U. S. and Mexico would share equally in the construction, operation and maintenance costs of the project. Senator Ralph Yarborough has agreed to introduce the necessary legislation in the new Congress. According to studies made by the International Committee, the project when completed would greatly alleviate the salt water problem in the lower portion of the Rio Grande River.

The Railroad Commission recently issued a No "Unlined Salt Water" pit, order for Ector County. The order follows the plan worked out by the Ector County Commissioner Court and an oil industry committee. The delayed plan ended open salt water pits in the Odessa area on January 1, of 1966. The rest of the County was divided into four areas with different deadlines for each—with the last one going into effect on September 1, 1968.

The 1966 West Texas Water Institute will be held at Texas Tech on February 4th, at Lubbock, Texas. An outstanding program has been scheduled. All persons interested in "West Texas Water" problems are invited to attend. The Institute Meeting will begin at 10:00 a.m. at the Texas Tech Student Union Building.

A pond was staked for Alvin Reeves on his farm south of Pampa. John Haynes has completed 2 ponds on his ranch north of McLean. Bill Crisp has completed about 1200 feet of underground irrigation pipeline. He installed asbestos cement because high pressure pipeline is required to operate a sprinkler system. Ray Welch who farms northwest of Pampa has completed about 1600 feet of underground irrigation pipeline. T.D. Anderwald who farms south of Kingsmill is in the process of bordering about 20 acres of irrigated land. Tom plans to establish this land to bermudagrass. Crops such as bermudagrass and alfalfa water much better where the land is bordered.

A topography map was made by Paul Appleton and Bill Stockstill on Bill's irrigated farm northeast of Pampa. Bill plans to put down another irrigation well and do some land leveling.

W.B. Jackson has completed an irrigation well on his place northeast of Pampa.

The McClellan Creek Watershed Project is now underway. The survey crew and planning party have started the survey work. They will be headquartered at the City Hall in McLean.

Soil erosion has created a need for terracing on many Gray county farms and ranches. There has been an increase in the spacing of terraces since the early fifties when a considerable amount of terracing work was done. The terraces are now spaced further apart. In many cases the terrace system may be put in parallel. Parallel terraces are much easier to farm because you do not have any point rows.

Agriculturally Speaking

By Foster Whaley
Gray County Agent

On Wednesday of this week a meeting was held at the Court House Annex of several of the Agricultural Agencies for the purpose of discussing the economic aspects of commercial recreation to this region.

James Murphrey, Farm Management Specialist, Extension Service, Amarillo, gave some very interesting figures. Last year twenty billion dollars was spent on outdoor recreational supplies, services and goods. For comparison purposes $53 billion was allocated to our National Defense budget. An amount equivalent to 38 per cent of our National budget was spent on outdoor recreation. There are 7.7 million pleasure boats in the United States. 420,000 of these are in Texas. There are probably more boats in the Texas Panhandle and less water than any place in the United States in proportion to population.

In 1960, 383 million dollars was spent in Texas on hunting and fishing alone. In 1965 the estimated expenditure jumped to 750 million dollars. It is estimated this figure will double in the next five years. Twenty-two million acres were leased for deer hunting in 1964. Texas has the largest deer population in the Nation, two and one-quarter million deer.

A study was made in the Houston area. The average investment per household in camping equipment is $484.00 making a total of $35 million invested in camping equipment.

What age are the heads of families that go camping? A study was made of the Huntsville State Park.

Two per cent are under age 25; seven per cent are from age 25-29; 38 per cent are from age 30-39; 44 per cent are from age 40-49 and 9 per cent are from age 50-64. What is the family income of people that go camping? The same study revealed these figures.

There were no campers that had incomes below $3,000.00. Four per cent had incomes from $3,400 and; 4 per cent had incomes from $5,600 and; 35 per cent had incomes from $6,700-10; 19 per cent had incomes over $10 thousand.

Why all the added emphasis to recreation today? There are several reasons. Shorter hours, more leisure time. The average work week in the United States decreased from 60 hours in 1900 to approximately 40 hours for most of today's occupations. There is much pressure to reduce this further. Increasing population in urban concentration centers. People want to get away from the fast City life to relax. Higher incomes and improved travel facilities add to the incentive. The whole family can participate in outdoor recreation.

What does all this mean to you as a business man or you as a rancher or farmer? You might capitalize on a trend if you are alert. Personally, I wouldn't accept the best camping outfit in the Nation as a gift. I had over 100 weeks of camping out one time on an all expense paid trip. The way I figure it this would be about 10 days of camping per year for a person having an average life of 70 years. My theory is if I can't live more comfortably away from home than at home I'll stay home. So I stay home.

Dry, warm weather has just about pumped all the surface moisture out of the wheat. Pasture is diminishing very rapidly. We still have sub-soil moisture though. A week of weather that brought the temperature to zero and the teens would eliminate all wheat pasture. It is doubtful that the wheat would be killed. Probably just put it in a dormant condition until the spring thaw. However, where wheat was not rooted down sufficiently for grazing some winter kill might occur. What we need is just the opposite to what we are going to get. We need a two-inch, slow rain and then temperatures to range in the 65 to 70 degree bracket for a few days. If we get the 50 year average moisture for Jan., it will be below three-quarters of an inch and will come in three ineffective, one-quarter inch snows that all winds up in the fence row. The temperature will be considerably below the 65 degree level.

SS Numbers Play Important Part In Tax Returns

A taxpayer's Social Security number is the principal method of identification under the Internal Revenue Service's Automatic Data Processing, according to Ellis Campbell Jr., District Director for Internal Revenue Service's northern Texas District. Campbell says all individual taxpayers should verify the Social Security numbers by reference to their Social Security cards or by contacting the Social Security Administration if there is any question of the correctness of a number.

"If there has been any change in marital status or in the taxpayer's name, the nearest Social Security office should be contacted to make any of these changes on his or her Social Security records."

The taxpayer's 1965 income tax return will be matched with his Social Security records before a refund is made. Therefore, if a discrepancy exists in the name and Social Security number, there will probably be a delay in issuing a refund.

By making any of these corrections at an early date, the taxpayer could avoid any delay in receiving a refund.

Government Takeover Averted in Nigeria

By MICHAEL KRAFT
LEOPOLDVILLE (UPI) — Dissident army elements led by junior officers revolted against the Nigerian government of Prime Minister Sir Abubakar Tafawa Balewa Saturday. He and one of his top aides reportedly were kidnapped and at least two ministers assassinated.

However, broadcasts from the Nigerian capital of Lagos said army commander Maj. Gen. Aguiyi Ironsi and most of the 8,000-man army remained loyal to the government and that the situation "will soon completely return to normal."

Information sources in London said reports filtering in from the former British colony in West Africa indicated the revolt "may not have been successful."

The sources said Balewa and his finance minister, Chief F. S. Okotie-Eboh, had been kidnapped by the rebels and taken to an "undisclosed destination."

Report Two Deaths — They also said the mutineers had assassinated Prime Minister Sir Ahmadu Bello of the Northern Region and his wife and Chief Samuel Akintola of the Western Region, central figure in a recent political dispute which has violently torn the country.

Normal communications between Nigeria and the outside world were cut. Except for Nigerian radio, only fragmentary diplomatic messages were getting out.

Nigerian radio said there was no widespread bloodshed in Lagos, the nation's capital city which was the scene earlier this week of the British Commonwealth conference on Rhodesia.

Reports reaching Paris said elements of the army decided to act to prevent further deterioration in the nation's political situation, which has been threatened recently by violent rioting and murders in the Western Region.

Upsets Western Capitals

News of the revolt, the fourth to shake African nations within a shak African nations within the past few weeks, caused deep concern in London and other Western capitals. Nigeria, a country about twice the size of California and containing 55.6 million inhabitants from about 200 ethnic groups, until recently had been considered a model of stability and moderation in turbulent Africa.

But elections in the Western Region last October sparked violence and disorders which have claimed more than 100 lives and threatened disruption of the entire nation. Only Friday, police used tear gas to disperse demonstrators outside the federal parliament in Lagos.

In the election, the defeated United Progressive Grand Alliance (UPGA) National Democratic Party (NNPP) of rigging the results. The UPGA demanded that the government declare a state of emergency in the province and supervise new elections.

Nigeria's 30,000-man police force, charged with maintaining order, has been strained to the limit recently. Police and firemen were drafted from the federal territory of Lagos recently and moved to trouble spots.

The army, although much smaller, is well trained and commanded by a British-trained officer corps. Some military commanders have viewed the country's political troubles with increasing concern and apparently decided to act.

Suspect Sought In Fraud Scheme

The lightning rod swindler may soon be grounded, Sheriff Rufe Jordan said Saturday.

Jordan said that two persons had given him new information on the man who is reportedly perpetrating a swindle in connection with lightning rod installations and transformers.

Although the suspect gave two Lubbock addresses, it is believed that he hails from another state. Jordan was ready to request a warrant for his arrest.

to pay the poll tax by the Jan. 31 deadline in order to make sure they are eligible to vote in all elections this year.

While the tax—$1.75 in most counties—is being challenged in federal court, it is unlikely that a final decision will be obtained in time to effect 1966 voter qualification requirements.

And without a certificate that the tax has been paid, or an exemption in the case of first-time or elderly voters, Texans won't have a voice in state elections.

Chamber Looking For City Symbol

As Smoky Bear is to fire prevention and the Lone Star is to Texas, _____ is to Pampa.

The Pampa Chamber of Commerce convention committee wants a Pampa symbol to fill in the blank, according to Duggan Smith, chairman.

The committee is looking for an emblem or symbol that will personify Pampa to the world. The symbol should be clear, easy to recognize and quickly identifiable with the city.

The convention committee eyes the symbol as something that can be used in many areas of city activities.

It could, for example be used on invitations to groups interested in holding a convention in the city, on badges worn by convention goers, on Chamber of Commerce and industrial stationery, and on posters and pamphlets.

Whatever the symbol may be, the committee will take steps to copyright it and make it Pampa's own.

Anyone with ideas for this symbol is invited to submit the ideas to the Chamber of Commerce office in the Hughes Bldg. Ideas may be submitted in writing, or as color or black and white drawings.

Highway Patrol Investigates 21 Wrecks in County

Memories of 1965 are slipping quietly away for most people, but for those maimed in automobile accidents and the families of others who were killed during the year, 1965 will be remembered always with dread and sorrow.

The Texas Highway Patrol investigated 21 accidents on rural highways in Gray County during the month of December, according to Sgt. J. W. Wilson, Highway Patrol supervisor of this area.

The rural traffic accident summary for this county for the calendar year of 1965 shows a total of 203 crashes resulting in seven persons killed, 158 injured, and an estimated property damage of $136,002.

Six of the 31 counties in the THP's Amarillo district had no traffic fatalities in 1965. These were Briscoe, Donley, Foard, Hansford, Lipscomb, and Sherman — but 90 persons were injured and property damage reached $156,448 in automobile accidents in those six counties during the year.

"It is estimated when the final reports are tabulated, we will find that less people were killed in Texas traffic accidents during 1965 than in 1964," Wilson stated. The final count is expected to be about three percent less than the 1964 all time high of 3,006 traffic deaths.

The patrol supervisor reminded all motorists to think about reducing the deaths even more in 1966 than in 1965. This reduction can be brought about by strict observance of traffic laws and defensive driving practices. Remember, everytime you drive you have a motive, that is, drive to live.

Crippled Children's Hospital Theme Of Scottish Rite Group

The Dallas Scottish Rite Crippled Children's Hospital was the theme at the annual dinner of the Pampa Area Dallas Scottish Rite membership committee at the Coronado Inn Friday evening.

Aubrey Jones showed the group slides of the hospital and related a number of examples of the ways in which the hospital has helped children. Jones said the hospital will accept children under 15 of any race who have deformities, whether through birth or disease.

C. P. Buckler presided at the meeting. At the meeting, Russell Neef gave the invocation. Paul C. Crouch presented hats to those who had obtained two or more candidates in one reunion during the past year. Receiving hats were Leroy Frazier, Bill Gething and L. L. Garren.

Building Destroyed By Gasoline Fire

WHITE DEER — A serious fire was averted Saturday morning when local firemen extinguished a blaze at a service station on the west side of White Deer.

The fire started in a pump house near two storage tanks. A tanker-truck was off-loading into the tanks when gasoline overflowed and was set ablaze by an electric spark. The building and the pumps inside were destroyed by the fire.

In addition to the White Deer firemen who put out the blaze, fire companies from Borger and Panhandle and a foam truck from Amarillo Air Force Base responded to the call.

Youngsters To March for Dimes

Youngsters will take over the March of Dimes spotlight next Friday when boys and girls from the Junior Red Cross and the Truteens will solicit businesses on behalf of the annual campaign.

The students will split up in pairs and call on business firms in both the downtown and North Hobart areas between 10 and 11:30 a.m. All volunteers will have proper identification.

Truteens is a new girls service club at the high school and the Junior Red Cross is composed of both boys and girls.

The March of Dimes drive is held each year to combat birth defects, which is the nation's second greatest destroyer of life when prenatal loss is included.

A judgement for $500 in favor of Herbert V. Heasley was entered in District Court Friday in a case involving Heasley's son.

The judgement was against Furr Foods, Inc. and involved an alleged false accusation against Heasley's minor son.

Bloodmobile For US Servicemen To Be in Borger

BORGER (SpI) — "Wars are won through the blood, sweat, and tears of everyone, including those at home," says an editorial in the Carbon Copy, Frank Phillips College newspaper.

The editorial was written by Harold Orr who is chairman of the committee on arrangements for a drive sponsored by the FPC Student Government Association to secure blood to be used for service men who are wounded in battle.

"American soldiers need your blood as well as your sympathy," continues Orr as he urges the FPC students and citizens to respond to the call.

The SGA has made arrangements with the American National Red Cross to have the mobile unit from the Wichita, Kansas, Red Cross Blood Center come to Borger between 10:30 a.m. and 3:30 p.m. Jan. 26 and 27.

Facilities will be set up in the FPC gymnasium with the local Red Cross chapter in charge of the project. Red Cross volunteer workers under the direction of Mrs. C. A. Carlton, the local chairman of Red Cross volunteers will assist the doctors and nurses.

Fraternity Presidency Rejected by Pampan

An opportunity to become president of the National Speech Fraternity had to be refused by a former Pampan because her four children pretty well take up her free time.

Mrs. Frances Kahuska, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Wade, 421 N. Gray, was offered the high post during a 10-minute television appearance in Milwaukee, where she now lives.

Mrs. Kahuska is taking courses in speech therapy at Marquette University in Milwaukee. Her TV appearance was based on her work at the University.

MOONLIGHTING AIRLINER—A jet plane due to take to the air on United Airlines' short and medium-distance routes this summer will be serving a double purpose. It's the Boeing 727QC—for Quick Change—indistinguishable outside from the tri-jet-liners now familiar on many airlines, but a plane with a big difference. It will carry passengers during the day and early evening hours and freight at night. To make the switch, the 727's cargo hatch is opened and seat pallets, each containing two double rows of seats, are rolled from the plane into a special van. Even the galley is moved on a pallet as a self-contained unit. The plane is then ready for a freight run with up to 40,000 pounds of cargo. The entire quick-change operation can be completed in less than 20 minutes. The van, 55 feet long by 17 feet high, serves as storage space for passenger equipment while the plane is on cargo duty. For the airline, it means greater plane utilization and lower unit costs. For smaller cities, it opens up jet freight as well as passenger service.

The Week in Review

By H. J. HELLER
United Press International
 In an ancient ritual sacred to Hindus the mortal remains of Lal Bahadur Shastri were reduced to ashes this week in the flames of a sandalwood-scented funeral pyre. Cries of "you are immortal!" rose from multitudes of grieving Indians gathered near the banks of the holy river of Jamnu even as the fire consumed the body of the diminutive statesman. Indeed, the Indian prime minister had achieved that kind of immortality preserved in a grateful nation's archives where the deeds of its heroes are inscribed. Only hours before his sudden death of a heart attack Shastri had signed a no-war agreement with Pakistan. The two countries had been feuding over Kashmir whose beautiful vales had been transformed into a bloody battlefield in last fall's undeclared war. The successful truce negotiations took place in the Soviet city of Tashkent and called for the withdrawal of troops by sides to positions held before the outbreak of fighting. Around the world:

Washington: President Johnson delivered his State of the Union message to Congress, expressing this country's determination to pursue its fight against aggression in Viet Nam and at the same time continuing the search for peace. The President emphasized his intention to expand his "Great Society" program including continued anti-poverty measures, rebuilding of cities and fighting against discrimination. New Delhi: Vice President Humphrey, in New Delhi for the funeral of the late Indian Prime Minister Shastri held an hour and 45 minute talk with Soviet Premier Kosygin. Details of their conversation were not disclosed. New York: The 13-day transit strike which crippled transportation in New York City ended Thursday. The agreement which gave the transit workers a 15 per cent across the board pay increase was denounced by President Johnson as inflationary. Rio de Janeiro: As many as 650 persons may have died in landslides triggered by the heaviest rainfall in Rio de Janeiro's history.

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI)—When Patrick J. Nugent, the only Air National Guardsman engaged to a daughter of the President, reported for active duty last November, the Air Force said "He is just another basic trainee to us." And this month when Nugent was assigned, at his request, to an air base on the outskirts of Washington, the Air Force said approval of such transfers was not uncommon. I mention this simply to emphasize that it had absolutely no bearing on a conversation I had recently with another new Air Force recruit, who previously served as one of my tax exemptions. Shortly before he was decivilianized, this young man came to me for advice about his military career. It was only natural that he should. August Rank At the close of World War II, I was probably the senior technician-fifth grade in the U.S. Army, having held that August rank for a period of about three years. Anyone seeking helpful hints on how to get ahead in the armed forces could hardly have come to a better source. "The most important thing," I told him, "is to get off on the right foot. As soon as you reach the training center, ask the commanding officer to regard you as just another basic trainee." "That's important?" "Yes, indeed," I said. "The last thing you want to do is create the impression that you are not just another basic trainee." "Actually," he said, "I am not too worried about basic training. I'm more concerned about where they send me when it's over." Transfers Are Common "Don't worry about that either," I said. "If you want to be assigned to another base, you can request a transfer." "Do you think they would approve it?" "It's not uncommon, particularly when the request is made by someone who was just another trainee." "I still don't see what's so important about that," he said.

CUT YOUR OWN TAXES: II

Contributions Get Closer Look

By RAY DE CRANE
NEA Special Writer
 Form 1040 for 1965 calls for a clear-cut distinction in your contributions between cash gifts and those other than cash. For this purpose checks and money orders are treated as cash. Purpose of the change is to exercise greater control over claimed contributions of used clothing, furniture, appliances to welfare organizations, even over the donation of works of art, property and securities to libraries, museums and churches.

Whenever anything other than cash is contributed, a statement must be attached to the return explaining how the value of the contributed article was arrived at, the description and date made.

Most common charitable contributions are those to your church, Community Chest, Red Cross or your college. Also properly deductible are contributions made to a nonprofit hospital, Salvation Army, Camp Fire Girls, Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, health funds, societies for the prevention of cruelty to children or animals.

Your contributions are generally limited to a maximum of 30 per cent of your adjusted gross income. However, an additional 10 per cent of income is allowed if the contributions were in general to churches, tax-exempt educational organizations, and governmental agencies using the gifts for public purposes.

Many housewives frequently have another form of allowable charitable contribution which is generally overlooked. That is the out-of-pocket expenses they incur while performing work as a volunteer to a qualified religious, charitable, etc., organization.

Such expenses could include transportation from your home to the place where your volunteer work is performed. IRS will permit a standard rate of five cents per mile of auto use.

Also properly deductible by a volunteer are the cost of meals while away from home rendering his services and the initial cost and upkeep of any required uniforms which do not have any general utility.

Under no circumstances may you claim as a deduction any value placed on your time while performing such volunteer work.

Whenever such out-of-pocket volunteer expenses are claimed, an explanatory statement should be attached to your tax return.

(NEKT: Deductible taxes.) For handy reference order your copy of this instructive series in book form. Just send your name, address, zip code and 50 cent to: "Cut Your Own Taxes," in care of the Pampa Daily News, P.O. Box 489, Dept. 79065, Radio City Station, N. Y., N. Y. 10019.

GLASGOW, Scotland (UPI)—A check for 72 bottles of scotch at $1.60 a bottle reached a local distillery Friday—44 years late. The 1922 check became wedged behind a cash register in a store owned by Robbie Dunsmore of Bury St. Edmunds, England. Dunsmore forwarded the check with a note—"Have you any more at the same price?" Current price of whisky is $6.75 a bottle.

Backstairs At The Whitehouse

By MERRIMAN SMITH
UPI White House Reporter
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Backstairs at the White House: Some of the better known comedians who in recent years have gone in increasingly for political satire are having curious trouble with President Johnson.

These comics are discovering that some of their more satirical shafts are not funny because Johnson and his family may do something actually funnier than anything a comedy writer can dream up.

A satirical group known as the Committee recently opened a new season in San Francisco after postponing the first show several times. Alan Myerson, producer-director, said the problem was that "President Johnson got ahead of us."

"We had to throw out three pieces," he continued. "In satire, you have to stay head of the focus of your satire. The President is a hard man to stay ahead of. We think he's advanced 1966 to 1967."

Sahl also Stumped
 Another prominent satirist of television and night club fame, Mort Sahl, played here a few months ago and discovered that facts of Washington life were funnier than some of his more carefully honed satirical barbs.

"You start using an invented exaggeration about life on the LBJ Ranch and then discover he really does herd cattle in a white Continental," Sahl said.

The late George Dixon, satirical commentator on Washington life, said not long before his recent death that more and more he encountered true situations which seemed so satirical in themselves that when reported to the public, that readers thought he was making them up.

Negro comedian Dick Gregory handles the problem in a different manner. He takes the wealth of political material available from true life and magnifies it even more than truth would seem to have done. There are those, however, who feel that Gregory goes well beyond even the advanced borders of satire with his oneliners about Johnson and God, Luci and Catholicism.

When Gregory proposes a Negro march on Johnson City to stage a lie-in in the President's barbecue pit while demanding to see if there truly is any gold in Ft. Knox, the ridiculous is funny. But after a recent Gregory appearance on the Merv Griffin television show, there was a noticeable, negative mail response at the White House.

There were some letter-writers who said that while they were not overly pro-Johnson, they did object to Gregory's speculation that Johnson would live forever because God would not want him "up there telling Him how to run the place."

Gregory Sees Similarities
 Gregory has no qualms about the taste of such material. He says that the close link between politics and religion makes the entire area a suitable target for satire he says has been part of American life for many years.

Others see this differently and question whether Gregory is being comically and politically satirical or downright crude. This, of course, would depend a great deal on the political and religious convictions of the listener.

Gregory, incidentally, is seeking Democratic nomination for mayor of Chicago this year and is counting on a heavy Negro bloc vote to put him across. It will be interesting to see whether he uses cracks about Johnson and God or Luci and Catholicism in campaign appearances, particularly in neighborhoods known to be heavily Catholic.

Red Cross News

By Libby Shotwell
Executive Secretary
The Red Cross Board met Jan- uary 11th at the Coronado Inn with 15 members and 4 guests present. Guests were Dick Star- yer, field representative for the Panhandle; Navy Recruit- er, Carl Sweeney, and Bill Lang. Mrs. V. J. Drew acted as sec- retary and Adell Meyers, treas- urer, gave the financial report. The reports from the standing committees were given by com- mittee chairman. The group dis- cussed the financial problem that the chapter was in from the lack of funds raised by the Pampa Lefors United Fund this year. A committee with Wes Langham, John Schofield and Herman Wiatley was appointed to meet with the UF Board and see what was best for the Red Cross organization.

The program was given by the recruiters who discussed the work of the Red Cross as they knew it from their experi- ences in the service. Sweeney stated that while he was in the service death was in their fam- ily and the Red Cross verified the need for him at home. He said that they gave me money which I needed and helped me in every way. Bill Lang also told of his experiences with Red Cross while he was in the service.

The Association of Chapters will meet Tuesday in Dumas at the Flying A Motor Hotel and the Pampa Red Cross is invited to attend. Those who plan to make the trip are Mrs. A. D. Hills, secretary for the Association, Mrs. Louise Sewell, Mrs. Thelma Lutes, Mrs. V.J. Drews, Wes Langham, and Lib- by Shotwell, Mrs. Laura Converse will keep the Red Cros office during the day.

Dick Straver and Mrs. Libby Shotwell visited Wheeler Red Cross Chapter and Shamrock Red Cross Chapter Jan. 11th. Mrs. Roberta Adams, Chapter Chairman at Wheeler game her reports for the year to Strayer and plans were made to in- crease the work of Red Cross in the schools. Sam Pakan, chap- ter chairman at Shamrock made plans for the fund drive for their community in March.

Mrs. Mary Pace and Pakan plan to attend the Association of Chapters meeting in Dumas. We are so very sorry to learn that Jay Channel, chapter chairman at McLean, will be moving to another city soon. Channel has worked for Red Cross and he shall certainly be missed in their community.

The following Girls Scouts from Troop 54 received their Junior First Aid cards this week: Joanna Davis, Janet Black, Terry Sanders, Regina Ladd, Regina Griffin, Chrissy Laycock, Eva Whiteley, Paula Homer, Cathy Caskey, Barbara Simon, and Francis Palmer. Mrs. C.O. Estes, Red Cross first aid instructor, was their instructor.

Red Cross has several new films that may be borrowed from our chapter to be shown in organizations and shops.

Many of these films are kept at the Potter County chapter and others must be ordered from the Midwestern Area in St. Louis on a loan basis. Cele- nese will be using "Breath of Life" in February.

Garmon Attempts To Slash Wrist

DALLAS (UPI)—Delbert Har- mon Garmon Jr., of Wichita Falls, 26, was under closer ob- servation today as result of trying to slash his wrist with a piece of razor blade in jail.

Garmon just returned to Dal- las last Saturday from the U.S. hospital for federal prisoner at Springfield, Mo., where he un- dergoed psychiatric tests.

Garmon faces charges involv- ing a 17-day period in which he is accused of kidnaping 20 per- sons in Texas and Oklahoma.

Garmon is under formal charges of kidnaping Jesse El- bert Dugan of Frederick, Okla. and Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Prince of Wichita Falls. He allegedly took other persons as hostages but Dugan and Mr. and Mrs. Prince are the only ones he is accused of taking across state lines.

Sheriff Bill Decker said Gar- mon suffered only a slight wound and was treated by a doctor.

AIR COMPROMISE

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) and the heads of 11 major U.S. airlines may meet to seek a compromise solution to hold the line on passenger fares.

CAB Chairman Charles S. Murphy Thursday invited the airline heads to a meeting to discuss an airline proposal to let them resume surcharges for net jet routes while offsetting this with a cut in general fares.

Wall Street In Review

NEW YORK (UPI)—W. R. White of Hornblower and Weeks-Hemphill, Noyes says now that the averages have been forging ahead to new highs for a bullish Dow theory signal, it would be logical for new leadership to make itself evident.

White says portfolio man- agers may direct their attention to the long neglected cyclical equities rather than glamor stocks that have scored wide gains in the last six months.

Newton D. Zinder of E. F. Hutton & Co., Inc., says that in addition to the external ap- pearance of a market beginning to encounter more upside resis- tance, there also are some technical factors which suggest that a pause in the recent advance may soon be forthcom- ing.

L. O. Hooper of W. E. Hutton & Co., says the market will probably continue to be highly selective, increasingly active and from time to time is likely to be nervous, with the price trend bumpy.

Bache & Co. says it sees the possibility of the Dow-Jones industrial average reaching the 1,000 level over the interme- diate term but at the same time would also be aware of the possibility of profit-taking and would therefore, maintain a policy of selectivity.

Income Tax Questions, Answers

EDITOR'S NOTE — This column of questions and an- swers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by tax- payers.

Q — Where can I get the form I need to report sick pay which I want to exclude from my tax- able income?

A — Form 2440, "Statement to Support Exclusion of Sick Pay", is available at any IRS office. You also may find the tax forms you need in many banks and post offices.

Q — Do you have to be mar- ried to get the head of house- hold income tax rates?

A — No you don't. On page 4 of the 1040 instructions you will find an explanation of whether you qualify for these rates. Head of household tax cannot be used if you are mar- ried and can file a joint return.

Q — How much can a child earn and still be claimed as a dependent?

A — If your child is under 19 or is a full - time student, you may claim him as a dependent as long as you provide more than ½ of his total support for the year regardless of the amount of income he may have. Otherwise, he may not be claim- ed as a dependent if he has a gross of $600 or more.

Q — I have a disability pen- sion from Social Security. Is this taxable for me?

A — No. Social Security ben- efits are not taxable.

Q — When my widowed father retired he went back to Ireland to live. He has only a small $500 pension and I supply his chief support. Can I claim him as a dependent even though he is not in this country?

A — If he is a U.S. citizen then the fact that he lives in Ireland would not disqualify him as a dependent. One of the requirements for a dependent is that he be either a U.S. citizen, or a resident of the U.S., Cana- da, Mexico, the Panama Canal Zone or the Republic of Panama for some part of the tax year.

Q — I didn't get a blank in- come tax return in the mail. Where can I get the necessary forms?

A — You can get them at any IRS office and at most post of- fices and banks.

Q — What can I do with child support payments I am required to make. Are they deductible?

A — Child support payments are not deductible to you nor are they taxable to your former wife. However, if you rather than your former wife provide more than one-half the child's support, then you may claim the $600 dependency exemption on your return.

Q — Tips are one of my sources of income. What is the best way to keep track of them? I work as a waitress.

A — A daily diary is one of the best records you could keep. Every day enter in it the amount of tips you receive that day. Don't forget that starting this year income and Social Security tax will be withheld from your wages on your tip income. You are required to report to your employer what you receive in tips if it amounts to $20 or more a month and was earned while working for one employ- er. The withholding requirement would not apply if your tips amounted to $30 a month but were split between jobs with two employers, so that you re- ceived less than $20 from each place you worked that month. However, the $30 in tips is tax- able income and must be includ- ed in your tax return.

New York City Just Getting Back to Normal

NEW YORK (UPI)—New York is just like New York once again.

No more motorists offering rides to strangers. No friendly chats with the man in the restaurant about getting to work. No more skating across the Brooklyn Bridge.

It's back to the pushing and shoving on subways and the perennial command of the driver to "move to the rear of the bus."

People seem to love it. For the rest of today at least.

The great transit strike has ended. And the three million persons who use the subways and buses daily have found that riding them isn't really so bad after all.

"It beats walking," said an office worker who traveled to work Thursday aboard one of the first buses put back into operation after settlement of the 13-day strike was reached.

With the 1,069-mile transit system in full gear for the morning rush hour today, others will agree it also beats roller skating or cycling, hitchhiking or several hours at the wheel of a car.

Even the principals in the oft- bitter negotiations said they were satisfied with the way things turned out—a two-year contract with $60-$70 million in benefits for 36,000 transit workers.

Mayor John V. Lindsay, the handsome young Republican faced with the transit crisis the day his term started, called the settlement a "triumph of reason and good will over intransigence."

Michael J. Quill, the fiery leader of the striking Transport Workers Union (TWU) called it a "very, very substantial" contract. He later checked out of a hospital in which he was confined since the fourth day of the strike when jailed for ordering the walkout.

Joseph E. O'Grady, chairman of the three-member Transit Authority (TA) which operates buses and subways, said the settlement was an "acceptable" one. The TA requested the

By LYLE WILSON
United Press International
Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. is setting up shop to make Chicago safe for the Republican party. It is likely that nothing could be further from King's mind than doing such a favor for the GOP. His stated purpose is to shake up the public and private institutions of Chicago, which he regards as forces dedicated to the creation and maintenance of slum conditions for Negroes.

King's shakeup could become a political earthquake and probably will be just that. The greatest damage would be to the Democratic power structure in Cook County (Chicago), based on vast city slum areas of unskilled, often unemployed, usually hopeless Negroes.

Chicago Democrats need these ghetto votes to maintain control in that great city and through the city to control the state of Illinois.

The Republicans have little to lose to King's shakeup campaign because the Republicans possess not much in Cook County. King announced this week plans for what he called the first significant northern freedom movement ever attempted by major civil rights forces. In terms of politics, this was a declaration of war by King on the Chicago power structure, commanded by Mayor Richard J. Daley.

Daley's The Difference Democrats win the close ones in Illinois because Daley has a firm hand on Cook County politics. It would be reasonable to suppose that Richard Nixon lost the presidency in 1960 in the slum wards of Chicago's Negro ghetto and in the slums of a couple of other great cities. Dr. King's move against Chicago's school system, job opportunities, housing and in other areas of Negro discontent could break Daley's hold on Cook County politics.

Housing patterns have served in Chicago to maintain the appearance of segregated public schools. The public school authorities, supported by Daley, refuse to budge from the neighborhood school concept under which some all-Negro schools are inevitable and in which a so-called racial imbalance prevails generally.

This is called de facto segregation. The U.S. Office of Education last October ordered $30 million of school aid for Chicago held up until the de facto situation had been corrected. Francis Keppel, U.S. commissioner of education, underestimated Mayor Daley's political muscle. Daley telephoned a protest to President Johnson. Keppel was summoned to the White House. Daley got his $30 million. Democratic VIP.

This probably was an instance of politics at its worst. But it also was an example of Daley's importance to LBJ and to the Democratic party.

If King is able to break Daley's grip on the Chicago Negro vote, the mayor is likely to wind up as just another Democratic politician. Chicago might even elect a Republican mayor. In any event, Republican chances to elect statewide candidates would be much improved. King is angry. He sits, you might say, on a silk pillow provided by the Democrats. But that does not persuade King that he should pull his punches against Mayor Daley.

This promises to be a rock 'em, sock 'em battle to be observed by Democrats outside the South in anxious prayer and by Republicans everywhere in happy mood of hope. King may be able to perform for the Republicans a difficult task they could not do for themselves.

DAME'S BIRTHDAY
SARK, Channel Islands (UPI)
—The dame of Sark, Sybil Hathaway, absolute ruler of this tiny British island off the coast of France, today observed her 82nd birthday. Because she is crippled, Dame Sybil moves about her feudal domain in an electrically-powered wheel chair. It is the only vehicle allowed on the island, which bans automobiles.

FISHING DISASTER
SEOUL (UPI) —A fishing boat capsized late Thursday about 60 miles southwest of Seoul, killing 15 shell collectors, mostly women and girls. Reports said 10 others were also missing and presumed dead.

Draft Deferment

For Protesting

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (UPI)—

Another University of Michigan student said today he lost his student draft deferment for participating in an anti-Viet Nam sit-in at the local Selective Service office.

The student, John Raynor, 23, of Winnetka, Ill., was one of 3 students arrested on charges of trespassing during the protest demonstration at the Ann Arbor Selective Service office on Oct. 15. So far, 13 of them have been reclassified 1-A.

Raynor said he was notified by mail Thursday of his new draft status.

Transit Settlement

Contrary to LBJ

Inflation Moves

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson's sharp attack on a king-size pay increase that ended New York's transit strike pointed today to a renewed clash with organized labor over wage-price guidepost erected to halt inflation.

Businessmen were expected to line up behind the Chief Executive, however, in his condemnation of a contract settlement estimated to cost between $52 and $70 million—double or nearly triple the administration's 3.2 per cent guidepost figure.

Johnson said the negotiation of a 15 per cent wage increase by Michael J. Quill's Transport Workers Union (TWU) "may contribute to inflation," presumably by setting an example for other labor leaders.

"I do not believe any settlement which violates the guideposts to this extent is in the national interest," The President said at a surprise news conference Thursday.

Gardner Ackley, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, declared the settlement "contrasts sharply with the action of most other labor unions, which, in the past five years, have been willing to act with restraint in the public interest."

The administration comment contrasted sharply with the view of New York Mayor John V. Lindsay. He termed the settlement "an agreement best for the workers, the Transit Authority, the city and the country."

Johnson's denunciation was sure to please critics who charged he had acted tough to block "price increases by aluminum, copper and steel producers while letting Quill paralyze the nation's largest city without doing much about it."

The President, stung by federal inability to halt the walkout or hold down the cost of the settlement, told Congress Wednesday night he would ask for measures to deal effectively with strikes threatening irreparable damage to the national interest.

PRIDE HOSPITAL SHIP

BONN (UPI)—U.S. Ambassador George C. McGhee Thursday welcomed Germany's decision to send a Red Cross hospital ship to South Viet Nam. "This humanitarian action will not only help alleviate suffering caused by the violence of the war, but also stand as a symbol of the German desire to help assure better future for the people of that strife-torn country," he said.

Mary Ann Evans was the real name of George Eliot, the writer. She married a Mr. Cross the year before she died.

Hippocrates, the greatest of all physicians, was the first to separate medicine from religion and the first to differentiate diseases. Before his time all sickness was but one great disease, and no heed was given to varying symptoms.

Hippocrates' methods were largely based upon direct observation and logical interpretations, and after his time such accuracy of observation was not to serve medicine again for eighteen centuries.

Harvesters Tumble Blackhawks

Cain's 24 Point Spree Paces Pampa

By RON CROSS
News Sports Editor

Pampa's 'Go-Go' offense, whistled down most of the night, broke loose in the final two periods Saturday night to take a 72-56 non-conference basketball victory over the Phillips Blackhawks.

The Harvesters, 15-4, were whistled down 26 times and the Blackhawks 24 for a total of 50 penalties, eight less than was called in the B game earlier.

David Cain, despite missing several layups, paced the Pampa scoring with 24 points on eight of 22 from the field and eight of 12 from the charity line.

Steve Williams added 14 points and Gary Crossland 12 as the Harvesters shot only 34 per cent from the field on 23 of 68 and 68 per cent from the free throw line with 26 of 38.

Phillips didn't do much better connecting on 17 of 42 for 40 per cent from the field and 22 of 33 charity tosses for 66 per cent.

The Blackhawks Mike Kimmins, a 6'9" center, paced Phillips scoring with 15 points and Charles Hampton and Jim Carroll added 10 each.

The Blackhawks were never completely out of it until late in the game when the fouls began to take their toll and Hampton and David Bailey and a Larry Reid fouled out. Kimmins played the entire second half with four fouls.

Pampa took the lead to stay with 5:40 left in the second period when Doug Altom hit a 50-footer for an 18-17 margin. Cain followed with a basket, then Crossland tossed in a couple of free throws and Wise bucketed for a 24-17 lead with four minutes left in the half.

Pampa stretched it to eleven points at 30-19 with 2:50 to go but the Blackhawks came storming back to cut the Pampa margin to 32-25 at halftime.

Phillips, 15-6, went in front 29-29 on two charity tosses, by Hampton before Steve Williams tallied with a basket three minutes into the contest.

Reed's free throw made it 3-2, then Williams knotted the score at 3-3 and David Cain chipped in three straight charity tosses for a 6-3 Pampa lead.

But a bucket by Kimmins and a free-throw by Dean Smith tied it once more, 6-6, with 5:25 left in the first period.

Pampa took an 11-8 lead with 53 seconds left on three straight charity tosses by Cain and Kenneth McWilliams hit a bucket at the buzzer for a 13-10 first period Harvester lead.

The Blackhawks tied it on buckets by Bailey and Jim Carroll before Pampa went in front on a basket by Williams. But Bailey's bucket tied it again and the Blackhawks took their last lead, 17-16 with 5:45 left in the second period.

Phillips could get no closer than five points in the second half, 32-27 at the start of the third period.

Pampa outscored the Blackhawks, 17-9 in the third period and led 46-34, their biggest lead of the night.

Gary Karr's basket with 1:35 left in the game made it 70-33 and Crossland goaled just 30 seconds from the end for the final, 72-56.

The Pampa Junior Varsity took advantage of the free throw line to down the Blackhawks B team 64-55.

The JV hit 41 of 59 from the charity stripe and Phillips 25 of 42.

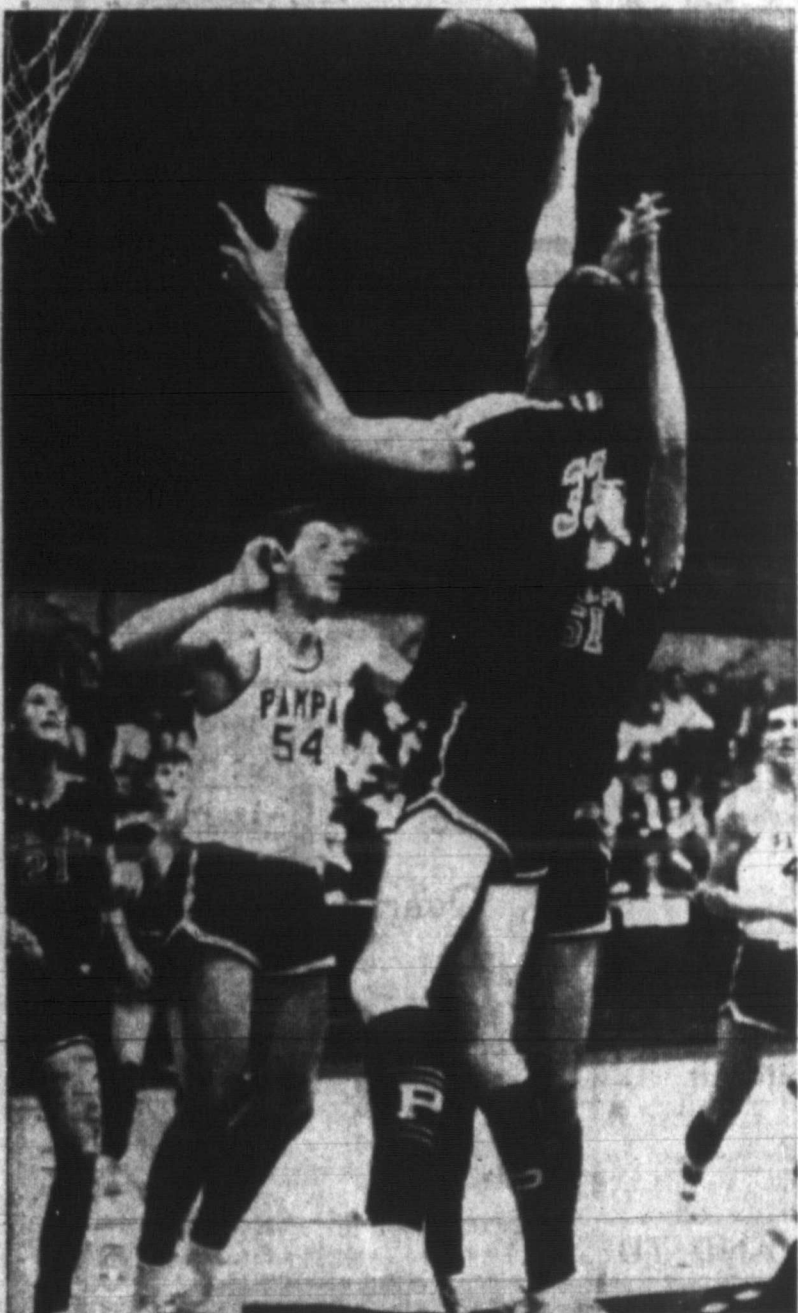

Johnny Marsh hit 15, Marion Porter 17 and Matt Brawley 12 for the JV, who trailed 33-27 at halftime.

Pampa opens second half play in district 3-4A Tuesday when they host Lubbock and continue play Friday night when they host Borger.

PHILLIPS GIANT — Phillips 6'9" Mike Kimmins (33) pushes up a shot in the Blackhawks 72-56 loss to Pampa Saturday night. Kimmins paced his team in scoring with 15 points and Charles Hampton (51) scored 10. Pampa's David Cain (54) led all scorers with 24 points.

Royal Hires High School Friend at TU

AUSTIN (UPI) — University of Texas coach Darrell Royal Saturday named Leon Manley, his hometown buddy and high school and college teammate, to the Texas football coaching staff.

Manley, defensive line coach at Northeast Louisiana State College, replaces Bob Schulze on the Texas staff. Schulze resigned to join a real estate firm in Houston.

The newest Longhorn staff member will assist Willie Zapolac with offensive line duties. He has been an assistant at Northeast Louisiana since 1955 except for two years at Colgate University.

WEST FAVORED

Orr Gets Okay To Start Today

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Rival coaches Vince Lombardi and Blanton Collier put the final polish on their East and West all-star teams Friday for the 16th annual Pro Bowl football game Sunday at the Coliseum.

Warm weather aided the practice sessions and relieved the aches of the bruised and injured. Flanker Jimmy Orr of Baltimore tested his injured leg and reported to Lombardi he thought he could play.

As a result, Orr was listed as a starter for the favored West team. Joining him in the backfield will be John Brodie at quarterback and Ken Willard at fullback, both of San Francisco. With breakaway star Gale Sayers of Chicago at halfback.

The East backfield is mainly a Cleveland Browns lineup with Frank Ryan at quarterback, Jim Brown at fullback and Gary Collins at the flanker post. Only Charley Taylor of Washington broke into the Browns backfield.

Despite the presence of such runners as Jim Brown and Sayers, the practice sessions indicated both clubs would go for an aerial game in their strategy.

The West training grounds at Dodger Stadium looked like an aerial circus as Brodie and Frank Tarkenton of Minnesota

Aggies Bowl Over Baylor For Fourth SWC Victory

WACO, Tex. (UPI) — Big John Beasley personally kept Texas A&M on top of the Southwest Conference basketball scramble Saturday, scoring 43 points to lead the Aggies to an 81-60 drubbing of the ice-cold Baylor Bears.

Beasley put on a patented one-man show, hitting 17 of 28 shots from the field, connecting on 9 of 10 from the free throw line and leading the Aggies in rebounding with 13.

It was the fourth straight win in league play for the Aggies, and Baylor now owns a 2-2 SWC mark.

The game was close during the early stages, with the Bears taking the lead at 15-13 midway through the raggedly played first half. But a minute later Tim Timmerman hit a short jump shot to put the Aggies in front 18-17 and Baylor was never in the game again.

The Bears stayed within five points at 36-31 at the half, but Beasley caught fire during the final 20 minutes.

Giant Randy Matson played a key role on the defense, blocking shot after shot in close to the A&M basket. The huge shot put scored only four points, however, before fouling out late in the contest.

Darrell Hardy hit 17 points to pace the scoring for Baylor, which hit on only 33 per cent from the field.

JACKSON FOR POWELL
HOUSTON (UPI) — San Diego's Sid Gillman, coach of the American Football League All-Star team, has picked Kansas City flanker Frank Jackson to replace injured Art Powell of Oakland in the All-Star Game Dec. 15.

He ran the whole football show. Nobody looked over his shoulder — even when he was losing. Down there he'll have all those alumni hounding him.

And don't kid yourself, he wasn't hired by Maryland to lose. The president of the university made that quite clear in his announcement of Saban's employment. Lou's "in" at Maryland was a close friend, Herb Goodman, a former president of the Terrapin Club, group overseer for the school's football program. Lou's contract eventually puts him a salary notch above Darrell Royal of Texas — and Royal has the best record in college coaching.

The idea that a college coach lives in a more desirable atmosphere, relatively tension-free, is a pipe-smoking delusion that comes out of hashish.

Saban apparently was worried about the pressures on his four children, and the time element of the pro season which stretches to 21 games, plus the challenge to a coach's authority on a squad loaded with high price, no-cut talent — as every pro team will be in two or three years if the present salary spiral continues.

But he ought to go back to a campus the night before a big game, like I have, and see the head coach feeding on his ulcers, unapproachable as if he were communing with some higher spirit — himself. At the same time, knowing that upon a bunch of immature, 20-year-olds, with unpredictable habit patterns, rests his job.

At least, if the pro coach does not like who's playing for him, he's got the option of going out and hiring others.

Saban was fired after a single season at Northwestern in 1957 for a simple reason. He didn't win a game.

I could understand his abdication from the pros for the reflective campus life if he were settling in some place like Mount Union College or Whitewater State. But Maryland is right in the middle of the pressure cooker, with such onerous duties as wooing ungrammatical, anthracitic high school kids.

The ego can be damaged, too. Maryland coaches have felt the squeeze from the pros on both sides — the Washington Redskins and the Baltimore Colts — in the quest for attention.

Unexpressed in Lou's reasoning might be resentment that some of the players in pro ball make more than the coaches. At least, he knows he'll be ing more than his scholar athletes.

It's unlikely any of them understand Chinese, either.

'Stars' Strike Down Bills

HOUSTON (UPI) — The American Football League's rookie-of-the-year, Joe Namath, came off the bench in the second half Saturday to hit Lance Alworth with two touchdowns passes and lead the AFL's All-Stars to a 30-19 victory over the league champion Buffalo Bills.

Namath picked up the All-Stars from what up to then had been a lackluster performance. The Bills had dominated the game throughout the first half, but Namath's passes picked the Bills' defense to pieces during the final two quarters.

The talented kicking toe of the AFL's top scorer Gino Cappelletti added 12 points to the All-Star total, with three points after touchdown and three field goals.

Buffalo got off to an early lead on one of Pete Gogolak's two field goals, then added to the margin when George Saimes picked off a John Hadl pass and ran 61 yards for a touchdown.

It was an all-Bufferalo show through the first half in beautiful 55 degree weather before a record crowd of 35,572, in Houston's Rice University Stadium. Then Namath and the injured Alworth got together.

Namath was named the outstanding offensive player of the game, while San Diego's Frank Buncum took home the title as the outstanding defensive player.

Buffalo got its final score late in the fourth quarter on a 34-yard pass from Darrell Lamonia to Wray Carlton.

Cappelletti's field goals came from 46, 32, and 14 yards.

Namath's first touchdown strike to Alworth was a 43-yarder deep into the third quarter. Alworth nabbed Namath's second scoring strike on the goal line in the fourth quarter for a 10 yard score, then was carried off the field unconscious, to a standing ovation.

Buffalo quarterback Jackie Kemp broke the passing record for the All-Star game, hitting 12 of 30 passes for 146 yards and career all star total of 344 yards.

San Diego, Calif. (UPI) — Tommy Aaron shot a 7-under-par 64 Saturday in the third round of the $40,000 San Diego Open for a tie with the veteran Texan Don January.

During a par-shattering day at the Stardust Country Club, Aaron fired eight birdies and got one botey in his third round 64 to go with earlier rounds of 65 and 71.

January had a third round 66 which coupled with first and second rounds of 68 and 66 gave him a 54-hole total of 200—the same as Aaron and 13 strokes under par.

January, 36, missed a putt by about one inch on the 18th hole, or he would have been in undisputed possession of the lead going into the final round Sunday.

Aaron, who has never won a championship on the PGA tour but collected $44,829 in official winnings last year, was not the only one to shoot a third-round 64. Bob Zimmerman, a 25-year-old pro from Dayton, Ohio, also carded a 64 and stood in second place at 202 after three rounds. At 203, and still very much in contention for first prize money of $5,800, were Mason Rudolph and Paul Bondeson. Rudolph had a third-round 67 and Bondeson slipped to even par 71 after leading the tournament at the halfway mark.

Chris Blocker, a little known pro from Jal, N.M., who was just one stroke behind Bondeson after 36 holes, dropped to a 3-over-par 74 in the third round.

The surprise performer of the third round was Aaron, who usually advances in the early rounds but fades as a tournament wears on. In 1955 he led in the first round of five tournaments but still never came in a winner.

Billy Casper, a local favorite who was the third leading money winner last year, had a third-round 68 and a 54-hole total of 204—a figure matched by young Tom Weiskopf of

AUSSIE SWIM MARK

SYDNEY, Australia (UPI) — Michael Wenden, 16, set the Australian swimming record for the 100-meter freestyle Friday with a 54.4 clocking. The old record was 54.6 set by John Devitt in 1957.

STOCKHOLM (UPI) — Lev Kaganov, a 33-year-old Russian ski instructor who defected to Sweden last Tuesday, received permission Friday from the foreign commission to stay in the country.

Grant Holdout Already?

By MILTON RICHMAN

NEW YORK (UPI) — Jim (Mudcat) Grant has been put on notice by the boss, the big boss, that unlike Bill Bailey, he needn't bother coming home if he dares sign that contract sent him by the Minnesota Twins.

"My wife told 'em she'll start divorce proceedings immediately if I sign that contract," laughed Minnesota's 21-game winner and World Series hero who doubles as a song-and-dance man during the off-season.

"If he (Twins owner Calvin Griffith) thinks I'm going to sign for what he's offering, he's got rocks in his head," said Grant, quietly but firmly. "I'm asking $50,000 and I don't feel I'm being unreasonable."

"What if you don't get it?" someone inquired. "Will you quit baseball and stay in show business? Do you think you're that good an entertainer?"

Nothing Personal

"I don't like that word 'quit.' I never use it. But I didn't like what Calvin said, either. He was quoted as saying that if I think I'm worth what I'm asking maybe I ought to stay in show business. I have nothing personal against Calvin. It's just that he doesn't pay, that's all."

Grant made his comments after he and Maury Wills of the Dodgers finished their opening night act at Basin Street East Thursday night. Both ball players turned in remarkably fine performances after comic Gene Baylos loosened up the audience with his rib tickling brand-of-humor.

Willie Mays was an unexpected visitor on opening night and enjoyed the performance so much that he made it a point to tell Wills and Grant about it. "Were you surprised they were that good?" a newsman asked Mays.

"Heck, no," Willie snapped. "You are the ones who were surprised, not me. You people think ball players can't do anything else but play ball."

"What about you, Willie, can you sing or dance?"

"Pshaw, I can't even carry a tune."

Then, in a whispered aside to another newsman after Grant and Wills had left, Willie did something typically thoughtful. "You guys be nice to them in the papers. Don't murder them. They're good. You saw that yourself. And they'll get better as they go along," Mays added.

Willie was right. Grant and Wills were good. Much better than was generally expected. The Dodger shortstop, as lithe and loose on the stage as he is on the base paths, sang folk songs, played the banjo and told baseball jokes to the audience.

"We Dodgers had problems last year. All kinds of problems. Can you imagine the strain on our club working under a colored captain? And Jewish pitcher?"

Carlen Hired As Virginia U Coach

MORGANTOWN, W.Va. (UPI) — A "new look" for West Virginia University football was inaugurated with the hiring of Jim Carlen, a stern and spirited defensive coach from Georgia Tech.

The eight-year understudy to Bobby Dodd says the days of the lumbering "strongman" football players are over at WVU.

And after being Gene Corum's successor for less than an hour Friday he had tuned in every football ear in the Southern Conference.

"I want more speed at West Virginia, not just the big lineman. Strength isn't everything. I'll take a man who is quick on his feet before the ordinary big boy," he said.

So it began—a new chapter in what Mountaineers hope will be a highly successful football book.

Carlen takes over a team which started last season as the nation's offensive leader and ended as one of the biggest disappointments with a 6-4 record.

Carlen said he would pick his assistants by Feb. 15. The present assistants will be the first ones interviewed, he said.

The salary of the new coach was not announced. Athletic Director Robert N. (Red) Brown called it "adequate," as did Carlen. Reliable reports had it "considerably higher" than the $14,000 paid Corum.

Chandler Quits As CFL Commissioner

NEW YORK (UPI) — A. B. (Happy) Chandler, who hoped to mold the Continental Football League into the stature of the National and American leagues, quit his post as commissioner Friday because he felt the owners were turning the CFL into "a minor league."

Chandler's action came after the nine league owners voted 8-1 to use optioned players from the NFL and AFL. Chandler, a former commissioner of baseball, tore up his $40,000 a year contract in answer to the owners' decision.

"Such a practice will make the Continental a minor league," he said. "That is contrary to promises made by the owners when I took the job."

All of the 10 CFL teams last season used players optioned by NFL and AFL clubs. Most of the players held outside jobs and were paid from $75-$200 a game. But Chandler called use of optioned players "a step in the wrong direction," adding that "optioned players ruined baseball."

A little bit about a lot of things, starting first with basketball.

Another former Harvester is having his success in the basketball world.

Sikes at 14.3

Gary Sikes, 1962 Pampa grad, who didn't play his senior year is the second leading scorer for West Texas State's freshman cage team.

Sikes with a 14.3 average on 100 points in seven games, is second only to Mike Mitchell of Roswell, N.M. who carries a 21.6 mark.

Either Sikes or Mitchell has been high point for the Buff frosh in all seven games. Gary's highest game total is 20 points.

Football lecturers at the Region I Texas high school coaches association meeting, Jan. 29 at Lubbock are J. T. King or a member of his staff who will talk on the passing game, Bill Spann, head coach at Dumas, James Odom of Lubbock Monterey and Collie Huffman of White Deer.

To lecture on the art of basketball will be John Ethridge of Amarillo, Jerry Hale of Dumas, Gene King of Quitaque and Tom Gilley of Palo Duro.

Coaches and players for the All-Star game in August will be voted on by the coaches.

Basketball has done one thing for Randy Matson. The "Panhandle's Superman" has lost about 25 pounds. But he isn't a "shadow of his former self," however. He still tips the scales at about 235 pounds.

Don't expect a 70 foot heave by him for a while after the track season starts. He intended to resume his weight lifting program while playing basketball but hasn't found time.

Coach Charlie Thomas says it will be late in the year before Matson hits his peak again.

One of Mayo Clinics best patients is back again, Mickey Mantle, the swat king of the Yanks.

He should get an answer next week if his future with the Yankees will be as a player this season.

Mantle usually has his legs treated but this time it's his shoulder, his right one.

Support Up

Yankee General Manager Ralph Houk insists there is no trouble with Mantle over his contract. "We never have any trouble about that," he said of the $100,000 star.

Kansas City sports fans are out to shed their city's image as "Cowtown-USA."

It was rumored that both Charles Finley and Lamar Hunt, owners of the Kansas City A's and Chiefs, respectively, were being pressured to move their franchise.

The A's attendance in 1965 was the worst in either league and the Chiefs were near the bottom in the pro leagues.

But Chiefs ticket sales have already soared past the 10,000 mark for 1966.

Randy Matson is second only to high scoring John Beasley in Aggie rebounds.

Beasley has hauled down 139 and Matson 127 for the first place Ags. Beasley is averaging 25.3 points a contest and Matson 6.9.

The White Deer All-Sports banquet has been officially scheduled February 19 in the Robert E. Lee Cafeteria. Tickets are $2.50 per person.

Carl McAdams is special guest and Beryl Huffman of Texas Tech is the speaker.

Briscoe Rips Wheeler To Post 23rd Victory

White Deer and Briscoe won important conference games Friday night with the Bucks taking two overtimes to triumph.

White Deer edged Wellington, 48-47 after the two teams tied 39-39 at the end of regulation and 43-43 after one overtime.

Bobby Rapp paced White Deer with 16 points and James Smith was high for Wellington with 17.

The Buck girls had no trouble downing Wellington's lassies, 46-38. Cindy Hubbard was high for the winners with 28 and Vickie Wade hit 20 for the losers.

Briscoe took a pair from Wheeler, 70-44 in the boys game and 63-43 in the girls contest.

Harvey Puryear—tipped in 18 points for Briscoe and Fred Goad led Wheeler with 10.

Wheeler led 14-11 after one period and trailed only 29-28 at halftime but the Broncos had their 23rd victory sewed up after three periods 48-35.

Miami never trailed in either game as they rambled past Lefors, 52-27 in girls action and 57-38 in the boys game.

David Braner hit 16 for Miami and Jerry Don Warner 10 for the losers, who trailed 32-16 at halftime.

In the girls contest the Warriors led 30-20 at the half. Beverly Weiss hit 18 for the winners and Ronda Shipman hit nine for Lefors.

Allison continued to make itself heard in area basketball by stopping Mobette twice, 65-30 in girls play and 83-50 in boys action.

Everett Childress scored 31 to pace the Allison boys to a 39-23 halftime lead and Gerald Gudgel hit 17 for the losers.

Dianne Kelly led the winning girls with 32 and Judy Bailey hit 23 for Mobette.

Groom trounced Quail in a doubleheader.

J. B. Parker scored 18 points to pace the Groom boys to a 59-49 victory. Paul Gollighugh hit 18 for the losers, who trailed only 27-23 at the half.

The Groom girls went in front, 34-14 at the half to coast to their victory. Suzan Lovelace paced the winners with 22 points and Judy Campbell hit 18 for the losers.

McLean and Canadian split a pair of conference games, the Canadian boys winning, 58-42 and the McLean girls taking a 58-27 victory.

Tony Steidle paced Canadian with 15 points and Brad Dalton hit 12 for the losers, who trailed 27-20 at halftime.

Sharon Coldstow hit 17 for McLean's girls and Sandy Brown hit 14 for the Canadian girls.

Growing force in U.S. business productivity—the temporary office worker—is interviewed (above) in new agency. Part-time workers account for $250 million temporary employment industry.

Foreign Commentary

By PHIL NEWSON
UPI Foreign News Analyst
Notes from the foreign news cables:

East-of-Suez:
Britain wants closer coordination of her East-of-Suez policy with United States global strategy. This will be discussed by British ministers in Washington later this month with American leaders. Britain will maintain her military posture in the Far East, which now involves more than 50,000 men in Malaysia. But she wants a closer alignment of strategy with Washington with a view to getting the United States eventually to take over some of London's present commitments which are considered over-extended.

Spy Planes:
Asian reports say Nationalist Chinese U2 pilots have extended their reconnaissance flights over the China mainland as far as the Viet Nam border, providing the U.S. Air Force with valuable information on location and movements of Communist forces in the area. A Filipino diplomat says information supplied by these U2 pilots has proved to be more extensive than that gathered by America's own intelligence units in Viet Nam.

Test of Strength:
France's labor unions are bracing for a new test of strength with the government, particularly on wages of two million workers in nationalized industries, which lag considerably behind levels of private industry. The government wants to handle the whole thing through inquiry commissions and similar bureaucratic channels but the unions are unlikely to accept such a slow-moving procedure without a fight.

De Gaulle Cutting Down:
French officials say President Charles de Gaulle, who was 75 last November, will "ration" his foreign trips in order to conserve himself. They doubt he will take more than two during 1966. One to Moscow may combine it with stopovers in other East European capitals. A mid-Eastern tour also is under consideration. De Gaulle has a standing invitation to visit Algeria but is unlikely to pick it up this year.

March of Dimes Drive Aids Gray County Residents

The Pampa Daily News

SUNDAY, JANUARY 16, 1966

THE GRAY COUNTY March of Dimes Drive now underway will aid county residents through national research on birth defects. It assists those needing help who have suffered or who might contract polio and it will help parents of babies born with birth defects meet the expenses of having these defects corrected.

LAST YEAR'S MOD drive netted $7,200, and although a goal for the drive has not been established, it is hoped this year's contributions will exceed that amount.

OF THE MONEY raised in each county for the March of Dimes, 25 percent goes to the National research, 37½ percent goes to the National Foundation in New York for administration and into a borrowing fund for the use of local chapters in need, and 37½ percent remains in the local chapter to be used for local aid.

GRAY COUNTY residents are being contacted in several ways to meet the needs of the drive, according to Harold Comer, Gray County March of Dimes campaign director. Last week 4,800 mailers were sent to county residents. Coin cards have been placed in all of Pampa's elementary schools under the direction of Mrs. Bruce Pratt and key business and industrial firms have been contacted by mail by Joe Fischer, chairman of the business and industrial committee. The Bucket Brigade, under direction of J. C. Roberts, is slated for Jan. 22 and the Mother's March has been set for the evening of Jan. 24 under Mrs. R. A. Mack's direction. Members of the Pampa High School Red Cross Youth Council will contact downtown merchants on Jan. 21, led by Miss Gienna Brown, president, and Howard Graham, club sponsor. A teenage program, directed by Rev. J. R. Manning, is slated for the first of February.

POLIO VICTIM — Randy Reeder, upper left, 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Reeder of 1138 S. Faulkner, was struck down by polio when he was 20 months old, two months after the family moved to Pampa. The dreaded disease left Randy paralyzed from the waist down but most of the paralysis has been overcome by the boy, who is a fifth grade student at Lamar Elementary School. Randy underwent surgery in Amarillo in December of 1964 and the local March of Dimes Chapter paid for his hospital care and has also supplied all of his crutches and braces.

BIRTH DEFECT — Orville Ray Anderson, center left, was born in a Pampa hospital with an intestinal defect that would not let his food digest. In order to survive, the baby had to undergo surgery when he was three days old. Expenses were paid by the local MOD Chapter. Orville Ray is now 11 months old and in good health. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Anderson. The family moved recently to Cottage Grove, Tenn.

MOTHER'S MARCH — Pampa residents are asked to turn on porch lights on the evening of Jan. 24 to give to the March of Dimes through the Mother's March slated for that day. At upper right, Mrs. Gifford Kerkisick of 1108 Darby, left, chairman of the Woodrow Wilson district, calls on Mrs. J. W. Bullard, 401 Lowry.

HEART DEFECT — Gregory Don Butler, center right, was born in a Pampa hospital last year with a heart defect. When the baby was four months old he was flown to Houston by chartered plane and entered for treatment in Texas Children's Hospital by the Gray County March of Dimes Chapter. Doctors first thought the infant would require surgery in order to live, but learned proper medication would help overcome the defect. Gregory is now an average 13-month-old child living in San Diego, Calif. with his parents, Ship Fitter Third Class and Mrs. Kenneth O. Butler. The father is stationed there with the U. S. Navy.

(Smith's Studio)

Mrs. John Shaw Lyle Jr.,
... nee Miss Janis Lee Grady

A tall arrangement of white gladioli and seven-branched candelabra bearing cathedral tapers, flanked by urns of white gladioli, appointed the altar of Zion Lutheran Church last evening for the wedding rites uniting Miss Janis Lee Grady and John Shaw Lyle Jr. Floor candelabra trimmed with foliage filled the background and pews of honor were marked with white satin bows.

Miss Grady is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernie D. Grady of 1124 Terrace and Mr. Lyle is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Lyle Sr. of 1836 N. Dwight.

Rev. Melvin G. Herring solemnized the double-ring vows at 7 o'clock. Jerry Whitten, organist, provided traditional nuptial selections and accompanied Mrs. Bruce Riehart and Mrs. Melvin G. Herring as they sang "Jesus, Joy of Man's Desiring."

Lovely in a formal-length gown of white bridal satin, the bride was given in marriage by her father. Designed with princess lines, the gown featured a scoop neckline and three-quarter length sleeves, with alencon lace and seed pearl motifs enhancing the bodice. The detachable, chapel-length train fell from the back neckline and was enhanced by lace and seed pearl motifs along the hemline. The bride's two-tiered shoulder-length veil of illusion fell from a satin petal and seed pearl comb. She carried a cascading bouquet of snow white roses and stephanotis and wore a single strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom.

Attired identically in cocktail-length gowns of emerald green satin with lace jackets, bridal attendants were Miss Beverly Grady, the bride's sister, maid of honor; Miss Marcia Bovard of Dallas and Miss Sandra Weatherly, bridesmaids, and Miss Amy Fisher and Miss Kathy Fisher, nieces of the bridegroom, junior bridesmaids. Each carried a cascade arrangement of white gladioli and green foliage.

Ken Elliott served the bridegroom as best man while groomsmen were Felix Finney and Bob Whately. Ushers seating the guests were Max Patton and Randy Giesler.

Lighting the tapers was Kerry Grady, brother of the bride. Ring bearer was Johnny Grady, bride's brother, and Miss Michelle Camarata attended as flower girl.

Hospitality Room of Citizen's Bank was the site of the reception. The bride is pledging of vows. The bride's table, covered with a white satin floor-length cloth, was centered with a cherub candelabra arranged with fiji mums. Mrs. Larry Flippo, sister of the bridegroom, presided at the punch bowl and Mrs. Ken Elliott served the three-tiered colonaded wedding

Brush Stimulates Scalp
A good hairbrush is essential to a woman's grooming wardrobe. Regular brushing each day stimulates the scalp and whisks away dust and grime picked up from the atmosphere. Keep brush clean for best results and to avoid infection.

Lives of Former Presidents Program Presented for TC Culture Members

The Twentieth Century Culture Club held its regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Leslie Hart with Mrs. Rufe Jordan as co-hostess Tuesday afternoon. The theme of the centerpiece of the refreshment table was carried out to honor Mrs. Fred Stockdale who is moving to Oklahoma City.

During the business meeting, conducted by Mrs. Doyle Osborne, the following officers were nominated and elected for the coming year: president, Mrs. J. L. Chase Jr.; vice president, Mrs. Weldon Carter; secretary, Mrs. A. L. Wagner; treasurer, Mrs. Jack R. Hood; reporter, Mrs. N. D. Steele; and parliamentarian, Mrs. Doyle Osborne.

Mrs. E. E. Shelhamer introduced Mrs. A. L. Wagner and Mrs. Otto Specht who spoke on the lives of Andrew Jackson and Martin and Hannah Van Buren.

Concerning Andrew Jackson, Mrs. Wagner said, "The tall, slender figure of Andrew Jackson, with brushed up white hair and brilliant eyes, is familiar to Americans; but his personality has often been obscured by partisanship. He had a quick temper and moods of violence; but he had, too, honesty and steadfastness, imagination and tenderness, integrity and loyalty to friend and country. It was given to him, Andy of the Waxhaws, to show for the first time that a poor boy, lacking family prestige, money, and formal education, could become president of the United States."

"His knowledge of people flowered into rare understanding of the average American and what he wanted from his government. He believed in the union of states, with each state enjoying as much freedom and responsibility as was possible within the framework of the constitution. He believed in strong bonds of fellowship and vigorous leadership in the service of all the people. His faith made the ideal of democracy have new and vivid meaning and gave courage to all who work for the freedom and betterment of mankind."

Mrs. Specht, speaking of Van Buren, said, "He was the first president who was not born a British subject and the first of Dutch ancestry. He was small, dapper and elegant in his manners and dress. A capable and wily politician, he went up the ladder step by step, to fill the roles of state senator, a Horney general of New York, United States senator, governor of New York and under President Jackson he was secretary of state and minister to England."

"Van Buren's four years of office were darkened by the gloom of financial panic, but he did what one man could to lighten it by obtaining from congress, its assent to a measure for a treasury independent of private banks."

"Hannah Van Buren and Martin had been playmates ever since they could remember. Each knew that they belonged together. They were married on the 21st of February, 1807, in Kinderhook, New York. To this union five children were born but one died in infancy."

"Despite the cold New England atmosphere, the years in Hudson must have been happy years for Hannah. She was proud of her fine sons and prouder still of her husband. She was happy that this big city offered opportunities that she and Martin had missed and that were given to her children. However, the climate of the city did not agree with her. After the birth of a fourth son, Hannah died at the age of 36. On her gravestone was written: "She was a sincere Christian, a dutiful child, tender mother and an affectionate wife."

Mrs. Specht showed slides of the inauguration gowns of the first ladies and other ladies who had been hostesses in the White House following her talk.

Members present were Mmes. Ross Buzzard, Weldon Carter, J. L. Chase Jr., G. L. Craddock, R. E. Dobbin, J. R. Donaldson, L. H. Hart, W. L. Hassel, E. L. Henderson, V. L. Hobbs, Jack R. Hood, Rufe Jordan, Doyle Osborne, Hugh Sanders, E. E. Shelhamer, Otto Specht, N. D. Steele, Fred Stockdale, A. L. Wagner and L. J. Zachry.

Mrs. E. E. Shelhamer introduced Mrs. A. L. Wagner and Mrs. Otto Specht who spoke on the lives of Andrew Jackson and Martin and Hannah Van Buren.

Dear Abby.... You Wear the Pants If Husband Refuses

DEAR ABBY: I have a problem in decorum. My husband refuses to keep his pants on in the house. As soon as he gets home from work he takes them off, but leaves his shirt and tie and shorts on. He stays that way all evening, even through dinner. He won't even put on his bathrobe if I get it. He says our apartment is too hot, so I bought him a pair of lightweight Bermuda shorts, but he refused to wear them. I hate to nag, but with a small daughter in the house a man should keep himself dressed decently. Besides, our windows look right into those of a large motel and I'm afraid one of these days some prude will get my husband arrested for indecent exposure. Abby, I realize a man has a right to be comfortable in his own home, but mine has gone too far. How can I get him to keep his pants on?

DEAR BARBARA: If your man doesn't want to wear the pants in your family — you wear 'em. Tell him that heat story is silly. He could have worn the Bermuda shorts. And when a man is warm he removes his tie and shirt, not his pants. Your husband could be a candidate for a psychiatrist's couch. But don't worry about his getting arrested for "indecent exposure" while going pantsless in his own home. There's a law against window peeping.

DEAR ABBY: We are a young, average couple, who have a nice little house in the city. My wife was a country girl, and she thinks it is necessary for us to wait our guests to their cars after we have entertained them in our home at a party. I don't think this is necessary at all, as it usually leads to lingering farewells, and even prolonged conversations while we stand outside in all kinds of weather. My wife still insists that it is "inhospitable" to say goodnight to your guests at your door and then close the door after them. Who is right?

DEAR DUFF: You are. It's not necessary to walk guests to their cars (unless your yard is poorly lighted, and you must guide them with a flashlight). But if for no other reason, consider your neighbors, and say your farewells in the house.

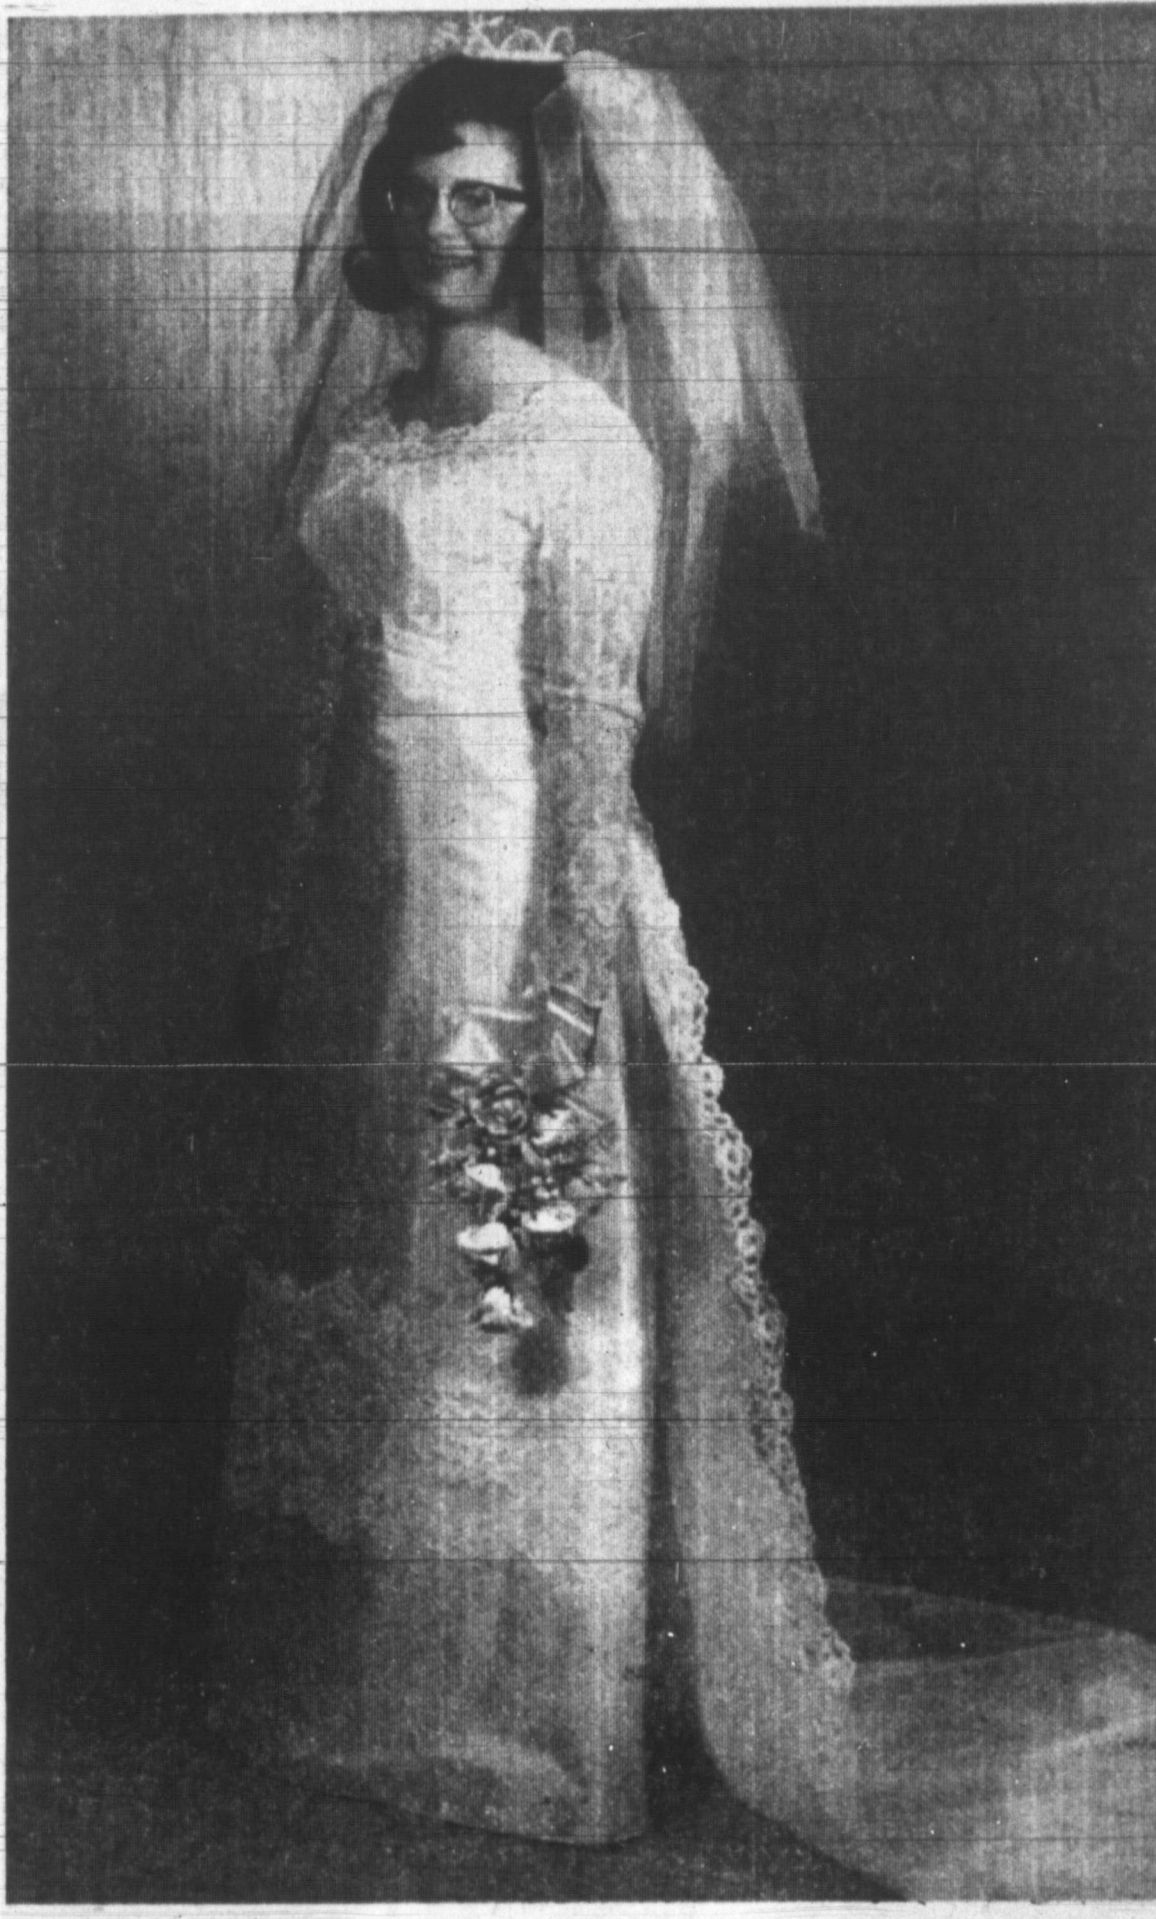

DEAR ABBY: My niece is planning to be married soon. We have met her fiancé, and he is tops. Good family, college graduate (so is she) and he has a grand personality. Shouldn't he be told that this girl deliberately took an overdose of aspirin tablets the summer before she entered college? Also that during her freshman year she was picked up (along with some other girls) for shoplifting? Her parents took her to a psychiatrist and he couldn't find anything wrong with her. She never misses church and has appeared to lead a good life since then, but what if this leaks out after he marries her?

INTERESTED AUNT
DEAR AUNT: Then it will be her problem. Since the psychiatrist could find nothing wrong with her and the girl has led a good life since, it is safe to assume that she has overcome her handicap. If the girl, herself, wishes to reveal the foolish mistakes of her past, it's up to her. But others should keep out of it.

"CONFIDENTIAL TO PIGEON": Don't be silly. Almost every wife has some sort of "sugar bowl" savings. She's really not "holding out" on her husband if she saves it from her allowance after paying bills. And she usually winds up spending it on either a gift for her husband or one of the kids.

Mrs. Carl Wayne Clark

Couple United in Double-Ring Ceremony

Miss Ruth Ann Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Johnson of 1801 N. Sumner, and Carl Wayne Clark, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Allison Clark of 1200 E. Foster, pledged double-ring wedding vows at 7:30 o'clock last evening in First Methodist Church Chapel.

Rev. M. B. Smith officiated the ceremony before an altar appointed with baskets of white gladioli, jade palms and candelabra bearing white tapers.

Mrs. Hugh Carson, organist, provided a program of nuptial selections and accompanied Miss Martha Stuart as she sang "Because."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a formal gown with empire styling fashioned of angel mist peau de soie and chantilly lace. The bodice of the chosen lace featured a scalloped neckline and full-length fitted sleeves terminating in petal points. Chantilly lace enhanced the lower edge of the peau-de-soie skirt and medallions of lace edged the chapel-length train, which was attached to the back waistline. A crown of seed pearls and iridescent beads held the bride's shoulder-length veil of illusion. She carried a white Bible topped by a cascading arrangement of white feathered carnations centered with a white orchid.

Mrs. Charles Miller, attired in a frock fashioned of mint green satin complimented by a matching pill box coif with circular veil, and carrying a nosegay of white rosebuds, attended the bride as matron of honor.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 21): Don't rake up old coals at home or there is sure to be a little fire under them that will grow out of proportion. Although you want to get talents working, this is not the right time for that. Present duties come first.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Fussing about all the work ahead of you is hardly constructive. Get at it quickly. Don't get it done! One you know is in trouble. Use diplomacy in proffering your help, since the pride here is great.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Usually good pairs are in a rather strange mood to make no bones about telling them that you are busy for the time being. Although you would like to go out socially, forget it. Improve your health. Be being too demanding with you right now, but you must use tact or you lose their good will since they are more powerful than you right now. Be sure your credit is good. Be ethical.

Judith Ormson Is Bride of Richard Hall

Mrs. Richard Lee Hall
... nee Miss Judith Lee Ormson

In a double-ring ceremony read at 7:30 p.m. Dec. 30 in Borger First Baptist Church, Miss Judith Lee Ormson became the bride of Richard Lee Hall. The Rev. Dan B. Cameron, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Fort Smith, Ark., and former pastor of the Borger

First Baptist Church, read the service for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don C. Ormson of Borger, former Pampans, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gladstone Hall of Borger.

Vows were recited under an arch covered with spruce roping with two white wedding bells at its keystone. Flanking the arch were two sets of candelabra entwined with spruce roping and bearing pink tapers. Four baskets of pink and white gladioli added to the setting. The church was further decorated with spruce garlands.

Mrs. Jim Scott, organist, played the traditional nuptial procession and recessional. She accompanied Mrs. Ralph Bayless who sang, "The Lord's Prayer," "Der Ring An Meinem Finger" and "If There Be Ecstasy."

Mr. Ormson gave his daughter in marriage. She wore a formal gown of white peau de soie in empire style, with high neckline and long sleeves that tapered to points over the hands. The slim skirt extended into a chapel train, which was overlaid from the shoulders by a train of Spanish lace, a souvenir of a European trip made by the bride. A pearl tiara held her tiered veil of illusion. She wore a diamond and pearl lavallier set in gold, for "something old," and "something borrowed," as it is an antique piece of jewelry belonging to Mrs. C. R. Alsip, Whitesboro, grandmother of the bridegroom. She followed other bridal traditions.

The bride's white Bible was arranged with a cascade of white mission Dolores orchids, pink elfe roses and stephanotis. Miss Becky Meador, Bethany, Okla., was maid of honor, and Miss Janette Stephens, Houston, was bridesmaid. They wore identical gowns, in empire style, with bodices and short sleeves of cranberry velvet and slim skirts of pink peau de soie. Their shoulder-length veils of pink tulle were attached to large roses of cranberry velvet and peau de soie. Each carried a colonial nosegay of red delight rosebuds.

Larry Phillips, Dumas, was best man. Scottie Baldwin, Houston, served as groomsman. Ushers were Bobby Holt and Kerry Don Ormson, brother of the bride.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Ormson chose a pink satin brocade two-piece suit, with matching accessories. Mrs. Hall mother of the bridegroom, wore a dress of pink silk, with lace bodice, and pink accessories. Both wore corsages of red rosebuds.

At the reception in the church parlor, Miss Marsha Johnson, Whitesboro, attended the guest book. Miss Patti Butler, Lubbock, served punch, and Miss Linda Anderson cut the fourtiered wedding cake with its tiers separated by swans, its decoration of pink and white rosebuds, and its topping of a miniature-bridal pair—beneath an arch.

The table was covered with a white lace cloth and centered with the bride's attendants bouquets, arranged with greenery. Pink candles in crystal candelabra, flanked the arrangement, and crystal appointments were used.

For her wedding trip to Amarillo, the new Mrs. Hall wore a dress of soft pink wool with off white collar and cuffs and matching accessories. Her corsage was a white Mission Dolores orchid.

Mr. Hall and his bride are at home in Denton, where both are students at North Texas State University. Mr. Hall will receive his degree in personnel management and accounting in June, and Mrs. Hall plans to continue her work as a music major.

Out of town guests included Bud Biggers, Canyon; Vernon Rogers, Monte Allison and Miss Rebecca Allison, Abilene; Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Biggers and Miss Marilyn Biggers, Skellytown; Messrs. and Mmes. Ray (See JUDITH, Page 19)

PLAN STYLE SHOW -- Mrs. Jack Reeve, Mrs. Ted Alexander and Mrs. D. W. Hayes, left to right, are shown making plans for the up-coming style show and luncheon to be presented by Twentieth Century Allegro Club at 12:30 p.m., Feb. 14, in Coronado Inn. Mrs. Reeve is ticket sales chairman, Mrs. Alexander is committee chairman and Mrs. Hayes is publicity chairman for the event. Other committee members not pictured include Mrs. R. A. Johnson, co-chairman; Mrs. LeRoi Ogden, decorations chairman, and Mrs. Jack Miller, fashion commentator. Proceeds of the event will go toward the club's annual project of contributing to the support of a Pampa High School student through the Student Council Welfare Fund.

'Today's Challenges' Panel Discussion Comprises Program for Varietas Club

Varietas Study Club held its Jan. 11 meeting in the home of Mrs. Luther Kirk. The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. J. E. Kirchman, and the Club Collect was read in unison.

Mrs. R. W. Lane, speaking in a panel discussion on "Today's Challenges," said "Our General Federation Women's Club goals are community service and adult education. As we commemorate the 75th anniversary of Federation we must re-evaluate ourselves to the educational goals set out in 1896 when the first program for the improvement of educational conditions was launched. At a time when this nation is taking steps to explore outer space, when each day brings new scientific endeavors we can and must continue to educate ourselves by all means available to us. True, our educational programs are far from perfect but education is a dynamic and rapidly changing process. To provide all our young people with enough knowledge and information to equip them for these competitive and demanding times is a tremendous task. With all its faults our educational system makes a genuine effort to marry the American premise of open educational opportunity with the developmental interest of the country. This is a continuing challenge that should elicit our cooperation and patience rather than our censure."

Mrs. W. E. Abernathy joined the discussion with the subject "Changing Values In Industry," saying "A hundred years ago as today, 'Industry' meant all the related industries necessary to supplying the needs of mankind. Agriculture was the predominant industry in the United States. Widespread industrialization did not begin until after the Civil War. The telephone, the wireless, the steamship, electric light and power, the automobile, Deisel engines and airplanes were all developed in the past century. The invention of the machine tool made it possible to manufacture interchangeable parts and to turn our machinery with perfect accuracy. Thus was born the 'assembly line' production."

Mrs. Luther Kirk, continuing the discussion, said "With the ratification of the 14th Amendment of the Constitution in Dec. 1863 slavery was gone forever. The emancipation created one of the most formidable problems ever faced by a nation. Education had been almost taboo. The churches were quick to see the need and respond to it. One church had 52 teachers and 59 schools with more than five thousand pupils by the end of the first year. The education expansion brings into the picture one of the most fascinating and significant achievements of the churches. By 1926 the Methodist church had 46 colleges and universities, 41 professional schools including law, medicine and theology as well as 30 secondary schools.

"A writer said at the end of the Nineteenth Century that he felt that the last fifty years had seen more progress than all the centuries since the stone age," Mrs. Sherman White said on entering the discussion, "but I wonder what he would write today if he were living to observe the progress of this century. Of all the great advances the changes brought about for the women are well worth recognition. There was a time when women had to spin the yarn to weave the cloth to make hers and her family's clothes. Today there beautiful materials to buy and electric sewing machines with which to make them into lovely garments even though the ready made clothes to be bought in the stores at reasonable prices makes it impracticable for her to use her time in (See TODAY'S, Page 22)

Mrs. Mack Tells Altrusa Members The Purpose for March of Dimes Drive

The Altrusa Club of Pampa met Monday noon in Coronado Inn with 30 members and one guest present. Mrs. Libby Shotwell, president, presided at the meeting. Blessing was given in unison. Pledge of allegiance to the flag was led by Mrs. Thelma Bray and minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. Guests introduced were Miss Jessica Dugan, Altrusa girl of the month for December, Mrs. Louise Sewell introduced Janie Eckhart, Mrs. Georgia Mack introduced Mrs. Geneva Tidwell and Mrs. Bray introduced Miss Martha McMullen from Truteen. Miss McMullen reported that the goal for the Tommy McDonald Fund was $2,100 and that $2,600 had been raised. Recommendation from the board of directors was read on the appointment of a nomination committee composed of Mmes. Emily Coston, chairman, Ann Kay and Marie Fitzgerald. Motion was made and carried that these be approved. Reports were heard from Mrs. Lalar Wilkerson, Altrusa information committee; Mrs. Ruth Sewell, international relations committee; Mrs. Ila Pool, vocational service committee; Mrs. Mary Wilson, community service committee; Mrs. Louise Sewell on the Christmas basket provided by the club; Mrs. Ila Pool, meals chairman; Mrs. Marion Jameson, treasurer; Mrs. Georgia Mack, Council of Clubs and Mrs. Jameson on Career Clinic to be held Feb. 16. JAYCEES WORKING TOGETHER FOR A BETTER COMMUNITY

LEUKEMIA BLOOD DRIVE — George Oliver, left, 1034 S. Gray, has taken a few minutes out of his day to aid leukemia victims in Gray and Roberts counties. He was one of over 200 people who donated a pint of blood to set up a permanent bank for any leukemia victim from these two counties. He is attended to by R. L. Johnson of Dallas who is a pre-dental student at Baylor University.

JAYCEE COMMUNITY FAIR — Shown here are Duggan Smith (left) and Eddie Polnac making a last minute check of fair rides on opening day of the fair. Smith is past president of the Jaycees and Polnac is presently serving as local club president. The fair was a tremendous success. Plans are presently underway for a bigger and better fair to be held this summer.

JAYCEE PROJECTS

LEUKEMIA BLOOD DRIVE — This project set up a blood fund for all Gray and Roberts county residents at Wadley Blood Bank in Dallas. This blood is available at no cost to any resident of those two counties that may suffer from this dread illness.

JAYCEE COMMUNITY FAIR — The Community Fair was held for the second time this past summer. Purpose of the fair is to provide entertainment for the people of Pampa and to raise money for the activities that the Jaycees carry on during the year. Fourteen civic clubs took part in the Community Fair this past summer. As a result the Fair was a tremendous success.

FLAGS FOR FREEDOM WEEK — This observance was held in November. The purpose of it was to show by peaceful demonstration of Flag flying that the people of Pampa were behind our fighting in Viet Nam. The Key Club worked with the Jaycees on this project.

PROJECT CONCERN — This project involves the collection of sample drugs from local physicians and dentists. These drugs are then shipped to Dr. Jim Turpin in Hong Kong for use among the many poverty stricken people of that huge city. Last year the club collected more than $15,000 worth of surplus drugs and shipped them to Project Concern.

JUNIOR GOLF, TENNIS, TRACK — These three area include a complete sports program that is sponsored by the Jaycees during the summer months to provide young people with a chance to compete in a wholesome program and to earn awards and honors at the local, state and national levels if they are able.

STATE TEENAGE ROAD-E-O — A delegation from Pampa traveled to McAllen to bid on hosting this safe driving contest for teenagers and won their bid. As a result, on June 11-12, many teenagers and sponsors will flow into Pampa to enter this competition. The local Jaycees expect more than 100 entries from across the state of Texas.

THE PAMPA JAYCEES

Sometime between October 1929 and the summer of 1930, a group of young business men in Pampa undertook the organizing of a Junior Chamber of Commerce. Over the past thirty five years the Pampa Jaycees have done an outstanding job of serving the community with various needed projects. Energetic young leaders have been the by-products of these projects and have provided the community with able civic leadership that has made Pampa what it is today.

The Pampa club was the first Jaycee club in the Panhandle and was responsible for the organizing of the Amarillo club and many other area clubs. At present, the Jaycee club stands 60 strong with a long list of committees and projects to carry out. The Pampa club is one of the most active clubs in the state as evidenced by the many awards brought home from the Jaycees State Convention in El Paso last year.

This past year, for the first time in the long history of the Pampa club, they fielded a candidate for the state presidency of the Texas Junior Chamber of Commerce. They succeeded in this venture and A. J. Carubbi, Jr., a Pampa Attorney, was elected president of the 15,000 member organization. This project alone has brought endless publicity to Pampa throughout the state.

The Jaycee Creed

We believe:
That faith in God gives meaning and purpose to human life;
That the brotherhood of man transcends the sovereignty of nations;
That economic justice can best be won by free men through free enterprise;
That government should be of laws rather than of men;
That earth's great treasure lies in human personality;
And that service to humanity is the best work of life.

making them. Yesterday's woman washed her clothes on a rub board, boiled them in a cast iron pot and hung them on an unsteady line to dry, whereas today all she has to do is plug in the cord to her electric washing machine and dryer. There were few women who worked outside the home not too many years ago as few professions were available to them.

Today women work in practically every line of work and profession that a man does. To mention more of the modern conveniences available to the woman of today is unnecessary since we are all familiar with them.

Civic Culture Club Hears Program
On the Life of Sir Winston Churchill

The Civic Culture Club met in the home of Mrs. Frank Graham Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. George Neff conducted the business meeting. The salute to the U.S. and Texas flags were given. Mrs. Carl Axelsson, club reports chairman, announced a meeting to be held in her home at 1 p.m. Jan. 17, in order to make out yearly reports.

Officers elected for the ensuing year included president, Mrs. Frank Grantham; vice president, Mrs. Emmett Osborn; membership chairman, Mrs. Floyd Pennington; recording secretary, Mrs. W. J. Morris; corresponding secretary, Mrs. John McKeeney; treasurer, Mrs. A. D. Hills; parliamentarian, Mrs. George Neff and reporter, Mrs. Chester Williams. Mrs. Frank Grantham introduced the program on International Affairs. Mrs. Floyd Pennington speaking on "Winston Churchill, Champion of Peace," said "Winston Churchill was born Nov. 30, 1874 in the 37th year of the reign of Queen Victoria and at a time when the United States was mourning its war dead and engaged in the time of reconstruction after the Civil War.

"Churchill was the son of Jennie Jerome of Brooklyn, N. Y. and Lord Randolph Churchill. As a child Winston had a distinct impediment of speech. Even with this hindrance he became one of the world's greatest orators. He began his army career as lieutenant when the British Empire was lying peacefully in the dying glow of the Victorian era. All over the world, war seemed to be extinct except for a minor rebellion in Cuba. He received a commission as war correspondent and set sail for Cuba.

"Whenever there was war, 'Winnie' generally was on hand. After being in Cuba he fought on India's North West frontier in 1897, in the Boer war in 1899.

Nuptials Performed in Candelight Rites

Rev. J. R. Ferguson pronounced double-ring vows at 8 p.m. Dec. 28, uniting Miss Linda Illene Hennig and Robert Cairl Campbell.

The bride is the daughter of John Hennig of Pampa and
Mrs. Robert Speck of Stinnett.
The bridegroom is the son of
Mr. and Mrs. Jack Campbell of Pampa.

Baskets of white gladioli and jade palms, flanked by candelabra, appointed Barrett Baptist Church for the wedding ceremony. Mrs. J. R. Ferguson, organist, provided traditional wedding selections and accompanied Mrs. Joyce Morse as she sang "I love You Truly" and
"The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a waltz-length gown of white briddal satin and alencon lace. The fitted bodice of the chosen lace featured a scalloped neckline and long, fitted sleeves, ending in petal points. The skirt of satin was softly pleated. Her shoulder-length veil of illusion was secured by a jeweled crown. She carried a cascading bouquet of white roses centered with a cymbidium orchid atop a white Bible, tied with blue streamers enhanced with lover's knots. A single strand of pearls was the bride's only jewelry and she carried out the tradition of "something old, new, borrowed and blue."

Miss Mary Kay, wearing a suit fashioned of blue taffeta brocade and carrying a bouquet of white carnations centered with a white rose, attended the bride as maid of honor.
Serving as best man to the bridegroom was Orville Ray Reams.

Larry Hubanks and David
Sweet were candelighters. Stephen Lister attended as ring-bearer.

Sharing ushers duties were Andy Hennig of San Diego, Calif., and Eddie Hennig, brothers of the bride, and Tommy Crawford.

Immediately following the pledging of vows a reception was held in Barrett Baptist Church Fellowship Hall. A miniature white archway tied with blue bells and circled by blue flowers centered the bride's table, which was covered with a white lace cloth over blue. Miss Ina Mae Reames attended the guest register and Miss Glenda Davis presided at the punch bowl. Miss Shirley Lister served the seven-tiered wedding cake which was topped by a miniature bridal pair.

The bride is a graduate of Pampa High School. The bridegroom, a graduate of Pampa

Mrs. Homer Johnson Discusses 'Art and Architecture of Greece' at Club Meeting

Twentieth Century Forum met Tuesday, afternoon in the home of Mrs. Aubrey Steele.

The program was presented by Mrs. Homer Johnson who discussed the "Art and Architecture of Greece."

"It is amazing to find how very long ago there were people inhabiting this world and leaving remnants of their skills for archeologists to unearth and so weave their history," Mrs.
Johnson said.

"From the Paleolithic Period of 10,000 B.C. on, there are evidences of civilizations on this mainland and on the islands but not until the fifth century did the full glory of Greece erupt to spread throughout the world and leave an indelible mark on all art and architecture. Today we can see replicas here in our town, and wherever we look."

Mrs. Johnson showed moving pictures she had taken recently when she and her husband toured Greece, the Aegean Islands, Ephesus and Istanbul. In the pictures were evidences of Aegean Art which refers to that of the civilization that flourished during the third and second millennium B.C. before the development of Greek civilization proper.

Mrs. Johnson pointed out the Acropolis in Athens which, she said, was one of the few true pieces of Greek Architecture of the Classical Period, and in her pictures, Mrs. Johnson pointed out the different examples.

Greek architecture has been identified since ancient Roman times with the creation of the three classic architectural orders, Doric, Ionic and Corinthian.

"Classical Art came into full maturity in the building of the Parthenon — the largest and most lavish temple on the Greek mainland," the speaker stated.

Mrs. Johnson said that one interesting fact about Greek Art and Architecture is that the Greeks liked to color the marble in their sculpture and architecture. Many explanations have been given, but none can be truly accepted.

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS

TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Panma News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself no more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Who Pays the Taxes?

There still are quite a few persons who hold to the belief that under the graduated income tax laws, most of the costs of the federal government are paid by the wealthy. It just isn't so. Tax Foundation, Inc., of New York has come up with a revealing report on study which shows that the bulk of the costs of government are borne by those in the lower-income brackets. Says Tax Foundation:

When, years ago, the Federal individual income tax was just bite-size, relatively few were seriously nipped. In 1929, for example, a married man with two children and a net income of $5,000, paid only $2.62 in income tax. This limited snip was possible, because federal government spending was much smaller than it is today.

Low spending made it possible then to collect most of the income tax from the higher bracket people — even though the top rate was only 24 per cent. About two-thirds of the total income tax collections came from those earning $10,000 or more.

Skimming off the top would not yield like results now. In the face of reports that taxes might have to be raised to meet both the cost of the Viet Nam effort and the down payment on the 30-odd new domestic programs considered by the Congress, the 1965 higher bracket incomes wouldn't support the $100 billion, $110 billion, maybe $120 billion — a year type budgets in prospect.

Suppose — just suppose the Federal government were to tax away all taxable income over $10,000 a year: a $15,000 a-year man would pay 1965 tax rates on his first $10,000, the remainder of taxable income would go to Washington; a $25,000 man would pay $1,000 plus the going tax rate on his first $10,000, etc., etc.

Even if this happened, the federal government would collect only about $6.5 billion. With federal spending currently at $19 billion per week, taking $100 per cent of everybody's taxable income over $10,000 would only be enough to keep the government going about 3½ weeks.

There is, a total of about $11.5 billion in taxable income in the brackets in excess of $10,000 on individual returns. Under present law, the rates in excess of $10,000 yield about $5 billion.

Drop in for Repairs

Weighted down by life's frustrations? Difficulty living within your budget? A drinking problem? Marital trouble?

If you have one of a hundred emotional problems, you could, if a plan proposed by the University of North Carolina were to be adopted nationwide, take them to a "shopping center" for treatment.

Just as a shopping center contains all the goods and services to meet a community's physical needs, the mental health "shopping center" would contain all the clinics and types of treatment necessary to meet its emotional needs.

Called a Comprehensive Mental Health Plan for North Carolina, the new approach would divide the state into 27 regions with a mental health center in each. Each center would be able to treat anything from simple frustration to suicidal tendencies, but its long-range aim would be to prevent mental health problems which can arise out of every social situation.

"Reliance upon the big, isolated mental hospital as the only mental resource is now a thing of the past," argues Dr. Harvey L. Smith, professor of sociology at the university and head of the North Carolina Mental Health Council planning committee.

Rather than going to a hospital in a distant city, under the regional plan the delinquent, drop-out, alcoholic or aging person with an emotional problem would be treated in a center near his home.

Such a center as visualized would serve 75,000 to 200,000 persons, with full-time teams composed of psychiatrists, psychologists and social workers, co-operating with doctors, clergymen, teachers, policemen, court officials and other community officials.

You Pay for These Studies

Some of the more prying members of Congress, instead of spending tax payer funds to go gallivanting over the globe, have been digging into some of the more foolish expenditures of the federal agencies.

Rep. Richard L. Roudebush of Indiana recently came up with an item of $23,700 which was spent to finance a study that led to the discovery that a now extinct giant ostrich once roamed Africa.

Earlier Rep. Henry Reuss of Wisconsin disclosed that the federal government is paying foreign scientists $70 million to investigate such subjects as the sweating characteristics of Australian aborigines.

It may seem like pittance, these observant law makers are bringing up, but Rep. Roudebush said that if one multiplies the "insignificant items" by a thousandfold he will get some idea of the incredible burden the government is placing on the tax payers.

However, we wonder if the disclosures of the items of waste are not more of publicity gimmicks for the congressmen. We wonder if these law makers have made any effort to screen out the foolish items when the budgets are adopted.

For instance, a lot of the most foolish items are expenditures of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, the fastest growing bureaucracy in Washington. Most of the expenditures are claimed to be justified under science and health.

This agency seems to have an unlimited call on the tax payer. Obviously there are some persons who will be interested in learning that an ostrich once roamed in Africa and in studying how an aborigine perspires. But why should all the tax payers be asked to finance the studies?

When politicians start getting into deciding what is good for the people, there seems no limit on how far they will go.

What a Way To Get Sick!

Feeling fine? No trace of mononucleosis, canker sore, scarlet fever, tuberculosis, diphtheria, trench mouth or tooth decay? Not even a cold?

Then you are more than healthy. You are as good as cleared of any suspicion that some time during the Christmas-New Year holiday hilarity you may have succumbed to the uninhibited spirit of the season and bestowed or received a festive little kiss under the mistletoe.

For the Portland, Ore. Bureau of Health came out right before New Year's Eve with a sober warning (given with a straight face and an evident nose for news) that promiscuous, party pecking might result in any of the dread maladies listed above. (Not to mention a punch in the nose if some hot-head mistook friendly fun for serious smooching.)

Now, this is a pretty hard rap at romance. But not too hard. For there is, a simple way to do it.

Just let Congress do to kissing what it has done to cigarette smoking.

So the eager swain says to the waiting girl: "You understand, of course, that this kiss can cause mononucleosis, canker sore, tuberculosis, scarlet fever, diphtheria, trench mouth, tooth decay, or a cold?"

Then if they STILL want to proceed—cheers for romance and nut to germs!

WASHINGTON:

Ho Chi Minh Liberation Plan Fizzles

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON (NEA) — In his war against the French, Ho Chi Minh was able to rally a considerable number of prominent Vietnamese to his banners. Many of these men were patriotic nationalists — not Communists.

Ho's success against the French, in fact, lay in great part in his genius for the creation of "national fronts." Through them he was able to unite key national leaders and considerable numbers of able administrators and intellectuals in his program.

Ho has been attempting the same strategy in the war in South Viet Nam.

December 20 was the fifth anniversary of the establishment of his National Front for the Liberation of South Viet Nam.

The front has a platform (written in North-Viet Nam) which "promises" many things. The front is active abroad in an attempt to gain prestige — in France, Africa and in Asia. A steady flow of telegrams of greetings and congratulations go out from the front to foreign governments and heads of state.

There are permanent front missions in Cuba, Czechoslovakia, East Germany, Algeria, Red China, Moscow, Indonesia and the United Arab Republic. A front representative is accredited to the Afro-Asia Solidarity Organization. Front men at these posts use their positions to meet foreign leaders visiting these countries. The front's representatives in Peking have been increasingly successful in arranging meetings with the stream of Afro-Asian personalities flowing through this Red capital.

Within South Viet Nam the front has organized a series of associations — for farmers, students, women, youth, urban workers, journalists, artists, doctors, teachers and Buddhists. There are 20 of these organizations, which purportedly represent all shades of opinion. But all have Communist first secretaries.

Where possible, these affiliated organizations have tied in with international Communist front associations in order to give them international character, stimulate publicity and make them appear important. Two captive "political parties" have been attached to the front and operated in a way designed to attract support from the intellectual and bourgeois classes.

The front organizations are active in the 25 per cent of South Viet Nam controlled by the Viet Cong armies. They're surprisingly weak elsewhere.

There are prominent South Vietnamese in the Communist hierarchy in North Viet Nam. Ho's political activists have found and trained some able young southern leaders.

But the men publicly allied with the National Front for the Liberation of South Viet Nam are not famous enough or admired enough to rally large numbers of other South Vietnamese.

They are not openly attracting other leaders.

There is not the snowballing there was in the war against the French.

A successful front is not essential for Ho's success, but his stumbling here handicaps him seriously.

It makes this war much more difficult for him than his war against the French.

Moyers Switching From Presidential Press Secretary; Lawrence, Scherer Sounded Out As Successor

PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — For the third time in little more than two years in office, President Johnson is again looking for a press secretary.

In this instance it is the incumbent who "wants out." Bill Moyers apparently has had enough of the high-pressure job and has asked to be shifted to less hectic work.

The press post was abruptly thrust on Moyers last July when hefty George Reedy had to be replaced because of his urgent need for surgery for long-painful "hammer toes." Although without active press experience, Moyers has been a marked improvement over his predecessor and is generally well regarded by newsmen.

In considering possibilities as Moyers' successor, the President has sounded out veteran correspondents he has known for a long time. Foremost among them are:

William Lawrence, former member of the Washington staff of the New York Times, and ABC White House correspondent since 1961.

Raymond Sherr, long-time member of NBC's Washington bureau, with extensive White House experience.

In seeking to be relieved as press secretary, Moyers is credited by White House insiders with two aspirations:

(1) Taking over the Peace Corps from Sargent Shriver, who has headed it since its establishment in the first year of the Kennedy administration. Moyers has a strong attachment for the corps, which he helped organize. Under his reputed plan, the corps would be directly under the White House. It is now a State Department agency. Presumably, Shriver would devote all his time to directing the hotly-contested anti-poverty program.

(2) Reverting to his one-time function as a top member of the President's speech-writing and research staff. Before becoming press secretary, Moyers acted as "coordinator" of this group.

VIETNAM WAR MEASURE—The coal industry wants the government to provide an export subsidy to induce Japan to stop buying large quantities of coal from North Viet Nam and to use U.S. coal instead.

Industry leaders pressed this as a war measure to be President Humphrey following his recent visit to Japan. They pointed out such an export subsidy would not be unprecedented as it already exists on grain and other commodities.

Japan imports one-third of its coal from North Viet Nam—an estimated 50 million tons a year. American producers say all or most of this can be supplied by the U.S. with an export subsidy to make up the cost difference between the North Vietnamese and U.S. coal.

The producers contend North Viet Nam's loss of the Japanese market would be a double-barreled gain for the U.S.: It would deprive North Viet Nam of much-needed foreign currency and thus hamper its warring; and it would directly stimulate mining in depressed U.S. areas, particularly anthracite. At Humphrey's urging, the producers are taking up the proposed export subsidy with Secretaries McNamara and Rusk.

LONG-DELAYED FINANCIAL ACCOUNTING — Chief Justice Earl Warren is convening the one-time special commission that investigated the assassination of President Kennedy.

Warren, chairman of the seven-member group, has agreed to do that at the request of the four congressional members. They asked for the meeting to obtain a financial accounting of the year-long inquiry.

No report has ever been submitted, although the commission formally concluded its work in September 1964.

Several months ago the legislators, after discussing the matter for some time, decided that a detailed financial accounting should be presented and made part of the official records of the commission. It was their understanding this would be done before the commission disbanded. But for some unexplained reason, nothing came of that.

So in identical letters to Chief Justice Warren and Lee Rankin, general counsel of the commission and now New York City attorney in the new Lindsay administration, the lawmakers asked that the commission be reconvened for the express purpose of receiving and acting on a comprehensive financial statement.

Warren promptly agreed, and asked the legislators to set a date.

Senator John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., former ambassador to India, who took the lead in this move, is conferring with the other lawmakers on this. They are Senator Richard Russell, D-Ga., chairman of the Armed Services Committee, Representative Hale Boggs, La., House Democratic whip, and Gerald Ford, Mich., House Republican Leader.

On y 5 of last year, this color disclosed the commission's year-long investigation had cost $1.2 million.

Biggest single expenditure was $556,500 for printing. Next largest was $225,650 for "salaries and related benefits." It is authoritatively understood the money for these outlays came from contingency funds available to President Johnson—who initiated the investigation and named the seven members.

A thought for the day—Daniel Webster: "God grants liberty only to those who live it, and are always ready to guard and defend it."

Pull Up A Chair

By Frank Markey

Many traffic experts believe that state laws on vision tests for drivers' licenses are much too lax and should be updated. There has been very little pressure in this field beyond the first perfunctory eye test of a generation ago. Good vision is obviously a necessity for safe driving. Yet many individuals are unaware of their visual handicaps until they meet with an accident, or they visit an eye specialist for an examination.

Today's smile: A teacher asked her class to define "a half." One bright lad answered: "A half is when you cut something in two pieces and you don't care which one the other fellow takes."

To maintain a single U.S. Senator today in the style to which he's become accustomed costs the taxpayers $423,559 a year. Representatives come a little cheaper; it costs only $224,599 to support one for a year. The job pays well, too. Congressmen and senators receive $30,000 a year and next year they may meet the rising "cost of living" which most of them help to create.

Thoughts while shaving: If your cat is having a nervous breakdown you can send it to a cat motel in Chicago, where it will get a good rest. Hi-fi music is piped throughout and there are other appointments equally as luxurious for your pet. Of course, there's a hefty tab for taking care of your Tabby. . . . In the early days of railroading, "highballing" meant going fast. Trainmen, always on a tight schedule, only had time for a quick drink at the various station stops and that was usually whiskey and water. That's how it came to be called a "highball." . . . Many of our military heroes have found the pen is mightier than the sword. Gen. Ike Eisenhower made more money from his "Crusade in Europe" and his other books than he did during his entire career in the Army and as President. . . . Soviet Russian scientists now claim they can make synthetic caviar, which will be as "cheap as butter." Since they have a good market for the real thing it's doubtful they'll ship much of the synthetic variety anywhere. If they have really produced phony fish eggs, we can expect any day they'll produce a phony fish. . . . Have you noticed how many teachers who hold Ph.D. degrees use the title of "Doctor"? It's a new trend in the teaching profession that sets them on a higher plane than their colleagues who lack that degree. Curiously, the title of "Professor" was held in disrepute until about 1870. Such eminent Harvard intellectuals as James Russell Lowell, Louis Agassiz and William James disdained using it. They preferred to be known as teachers. . . . The New York JOURNAL-AMERICAN reported in a story: "The American Society of Appraisers will meet in the Overseas Press Club of the Amron Construction Co." Maybe that's as good a place as any.

Country Editor speaking: "A bachelor is a guy who always wanted to get married, but never got around to it."

BIG LABOR PASSING ITS PEAK

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen (R-Ill.) engineered defeat of the proposed repealer of the Taft-Hartley Act's Sec. 14-B in the recent session of Congress — with startling results. Sec. 14-B permits the states to outlaw compulsory union membership of enacting right-to-work statutes — which 19 states have done. Encouraged by the Dirksen victory, the National Right-to-Work Committee is steaming up its campaign for such laws in all states. The group reports a 25 per cent membership increase in one year, with many members of labor unions joining up. It is full of zip and zingo — and full of hope to defeat the 14-B repealer again, and again, and again. Maybe big labor already is passing its power-peak. We wish the right-to-workers well. We believe the labor movement would be far better off if labor leaders in all the states had to work to sell and resell unionism to workers, rather CAPITALISM VS. SOCIALISM Capitalism and the market economy afford the greatest freedom of choice for the individual to select the goods and services he desires, and it will make available to him a far greater quantity of these desirable things than any other known economic system. In the face of this proven record, in many lands and throughout centuries of history, it is more than curious, even tragic, that the demand for more socialism continues unabated around the world, including our own country.

If any people ought to be aware of the benefits of Capitalism and the market economy, it is surely the American people. But in spite of the greatest demonstration in the history of the world, the demand for more socialism in our country seems insatiable.

The production of red meat and poultry in the Soviet Union has declined to about one-third the per capita production in the United States. It stands at the lowest point in the last seven or eight years. It is believed that the Soviet Union produced last year only about 79 pounds of red meat and poultry per capita.

The present leaders of the Soviet Union, however, are taking the right steps to improve this rather desperate situation. They are relaxing restrictions imposed by Khrushchev on the private ownership of livestock. At the present time only a little more than one-quarter of the cattle, hogs, sheep and goats, in the Soviet Union are privately owned. If this percentage is allowed to increase, the meat supply will quickly become more adequate in the years ahead.

The collectivism which all Communist countries have inforced upon their farmers has resulted in inadequate food supplies in all of these countries. In proportion as farming is turned back to individual farmers, more and better quality foods will be available for the people.

AMERICAN ACHIEVEMENT We are in danger of forgetting the society which made us what we are today, and we are in danger of ignoring what lies at the end of the new road we have taken as a nation and a people.

That new road is marked by the unlimited use of government power and the dominance of the collective group over the individual in almost every walk of life. By contrast, our nation and its economic achievement which is the wonder of the world were built in freedom by personal enterprise.

We have all heard the glib arguments used to justify the change: that modern society is "too complex" to tolerate much freedom, that our future must now be planned by force, that minority collectives need our help, and so on. The fact remains that the tremendous success story of America took place without controls and planning and collectivism.

The American people attained by far the highest living standard in the world; they became by far the most efficient producers in the world; they made their land rich far beyond the most fantastic dreams of earlier ages. This cannot be explained by the blessings of nature or by stimulation through government action. Other lands equally blessed by nature, notably Russia, have lagged far behind us, and the most energetic programs of governments having total power have not enabled the peoples of these lands to overtake or significantly gain on us.

Freedom was our secret, the fountainhead of all we achieved. Without freedom, our future would be very different from our past.

Freedom was our secret, the fountainhead of all we achieved. Without freedom, our future would be very different from our past.

Hollywood Report

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — What in the world is a swinger? No, seriously, how does one define a swinger today? Frank Sinatra's a swinger. Shirley Maclaine's a swinger. What does it mean? Why are they swingers?

The answer comes from one of Hollywood's classic young swingers, Ann-Margret. She's so closely associated with the term that the red-haired Swedish beauty is currently starring in a movie titled, simply but directly, "The Swinger."

You begin to understand the expression somewhat when Ann-Margret repairs for lunch at Paramount Studios where the film is being made. She drove up to her fancy dressing room in a $7,000 gold leaf electric gold cart with a fringe on top and her name emblazoned on the front in gold. Even the cushions are gold.

The cart is named "Scoobie I." And you have the feeling that when the tires wear down there'll be a Scoobie II and Scoobie III.

Ann-Margret wore a clinging pair of purple pants and matching blouse which made every man worthy of the name sigh with gladness. And when she walked... well, hardly anybody walks like that anymore.

So Ann-Margret, what is a swinger?

Her long lashes veiled her eyes in thought for a few seconds, and then she said: "Everyone has his own definition of a swinger. But as applied to me, I think it means non-conformist."

"I don't conform and I won't conform. I'm not rebelliously non-conformist. I just pursue my own life and ideas as quietly as possible. In most people's minds it's permissible for a man to be a swinger, but it's not especially desirable in a girl."

Her two first names and no last name is non-conformity. She also drives a big powerful motorcycle which is not standard equipment for debutantes these days.

Her clothes are exotic and one-of-a-kindish, her powder blue leather motorcycle outfit, for instance.

Still, it takes more than physical trappings to make a swinger, otherwise beatniks and other eccentrics (hermits) might qualify.

A swinger must be blessed with style and excitement. Ann-Margret has both. But she is cautious about becoming the wrong kind of swinger, else her reputation be tarnished.

"A girl can be a swinger and a lady at the same time," she explained. "A swinger exists mostly in the minds of the beholder, rather than the swinger herself. I've always been impressed with being a woman first and an actress second. I value my character and reputation as a female more than I do my career."

TV's "Batman" series, based on the old comic book hero, to be as hip as advertised.

Needless to say, it wasn't. And needless to say, it couldn't have been, because to be hip, to be anything—really anything—means to be able to go all our without fear, and television can't do that because it's afraid it might lose three viewers in backwoods area. Thus the live-action "Batman" show, a half-hour twice-weekly entry (the second half is on tonight) tried to combine straight adventure for the small fry and a sort of "Pop TV" and high camp for adults. In short, it tried to half-hip, which is like being half safe, or a little bit in love, or moderately satisfied with one's job.

But this is the way burghers think. For television to try to be truly hip means running the same kind of risk that a respectable, dull middle-aged businessman takes on when he in his brown shoes and his wife in her floral pattern dress get up to do the Watusi in one of those fancy nightclubs ("Look, Hazel, there's Cary Grant!" in the big city.

Strictly Mediocre

"This 'Batman' was strictly a brown shoe and floral pattern show. It had a few decent moments as the costumed hero, played by Adam West in the grand manner of Gardner McKay, ran into trouble with a comic strip bad guy type called 'The Riddler.' In one of these moments, Batman goes into a discotheque, in costume, and an employee asks him, 'Anything I can do for you, sir? Check your cape?'"

But by and large, the better instincts of the show were throttled by the basic fact that television is run not by people who know and understand entertainment, but by promoters who try to exploit and cash in on talent, trends and ideas usually originated elsewhere. What this means is that, although pop art and high camp may be very highly commercialized now, there was something natural and even perhaps pure of thought that stimulated their arrival in the first place. Video cares nothing, understands nothing, about original, genuine motivations but rather gages the trend by the pocketbook, wrings it dry of all things natural and stuffs it into a hard and fast format.

The format, in this case with "Batman," is tied to a cold, impersonal and brittle wisecrack humor because everyone involved is so painfully aware that he is making fun of something, that he is spoofing, that he is satirizing, that he is just so "in"—in brief, the genuineness is totally lost because there is no spontaneous wit but only a series of gags directed at a trend already once removed from its source by promoters.

All the "Batman" executives, then, probably did all they could to do the right thing. The only thing they lacked was dedication to natural innocence. They don't know what camp is. They only think they do.

Second Class Spy

Also on ABC-TV Wednesday night, Robert Goulet turned out as the star of a new half-hour series, "Blue Light," in which he plays a double agent in World War II who operates behind Nazi lines and tries to undermine the German high command. I wouldn't say the production is exactly second-class, but if I were the producer I would name the villain Brassfinger.

The Channel Swim: Barbara Streisand's next one-hour special airs March 30 and will be divided into three segments: The first in the Philadelphia Museum of Art, the second in circus setting and the third in concert in New York.

Arthur Godfrey is the host of ABC-TV's "Hollywood Palace" Jan. 29, and Sid Caesar is a guest.

ABC-TV's "Directions" for Jan. 23 offers "a dramatic inquiry into the dilemma of the American Indian seeking integration in our urban society."

NBC-TV's "Profiles in Courage" series of last season, based on President Kennedy's Pulitzer Prize-winning book, has been sold for broadcast in Yugoslavia.

In 1943, Moscow announced that the German siege of Leningrad had been lifted. It had lasted since the fall of 1941.

He's Man Behind Creampuff

BY DICK KLEINER
Hollywood Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD (NEA)—I have done my little bit for Franco-American relations. There were two highlights of the champagne supper after the premiere of "Viva Maria." One was the appearance of Brigitte Bardot, who looked lively but didn't feel too well and left early.

The other was the dessert—a French crequembouche, or creampuff tree, hundreds of crusty little round creampuffs piled up in the shape of a tall Christmas tree. Brigitte clapped her hands with joy when she saw it and said it was "delicious" when she sampled it. She seemed to enjoy it more than anything else on her brief visit here.

Well, Brigitte, my little cabbage, the only reason you got a crequembouche is because of me. The man who planned the whole affair happened to have been at my house for dinner a few weeks before, and we served ed crequembouche and he went and figured it would please you. Viola. You thank me next time we meet, eh, cherie?

WAYNE, or NEW FOR NEWTON.

I wandered over to Paramount to watch Wayne Newton making his dramatic debut on a Bonanza episode. The red-hot singer has done a couple of situation comedies, but this is his first crack at dramatic acting. "How's he doing?" I asked Lorne Greene.

"He's got it," Lorne said. "He's really got it."

Wayne, whose blushing quotient is very low, blushed when he heard that.

"But really," Wayne said, "why is everybody surprised that I can act? I act every time I go out there to sing. Look, I don't really want to sing the same songs all the time, but I have to act like I'm happy about the whole thing."

"Yes, sir," said Lorne. "You're a good actor—skinny but good."

Everybody laughed. Wayne has recently lost 55 pounds and slimmed down neatly.

"Now," Lorne went on, "what you should do is go to a gym for 15 minutes every day and tighten all that flesh up a bit."

Wayne listened respectfully. And blushed.

HOWARD, or THIS? KELL YOU

Howard Keel has just finished his first picture here since "The Big Fisherman," and that was six years ago. This is "Waco," one of A. C. Lyles' instant westerns—it was made in 10 days.

Keel, probably the best of this singer is a success, and they're voices, doesn't sing a quarter-note in "Waco."

"There's no future for me in singing any more," he says, and there's a touch of despondency in his tone. "Since Rex Harrison did 'My Fair Lady,' the musicals aren't being written for singers. Not here, and not on Broadway either."

"They talk about Hollywood being full of sheep, following each other. Broadway, is just as bad. One musical with a non-singer is a success, and they're all written that way."
