Voters Pass Hospital Bond

Although the total vote count which decided the $500,000 hospital bond issue was half that of the two previous bond elections here, Deaf Smith County voters still marked another step toward progress by passing the issue almost exactly two to one.

Vote count for the issuance of the hospital bonds is 376. Those opposing the bond totaled 187.

Election was conducted Tuesday with 563 voting.

Involved in the balloting is a 26-bed addition at Deaf Smith County Hospital. Total bed space is to become 91 when construction is completed.

Hospital administrator T. E. Seigler, who is out of the city on business until Friday, reported earlier that it will require from 30 to 60 days for the hospital's architect, Oscar Schilling of Amarillo, to complete the plans for the addition.

"Under the law, there is a specified time to advertise for construction bids," Seigler said, "then another 30 to 60 days before actual construction will begin."

He said that he hoped to get something "closed in" on the wing by cold weather.

Plans for the new addition, to be located between the east wing and the nurse's home, call for it to be the modern circular type.

Seigler pointed out that it would take at least a year for its completion here.

By county precincts the vote recorded Tuesday was:

Precinct 1: 51 for, 39 against; precinct 2: 108 for, 31 against; precinct 3: 3 for, 4 against; precinct 4: 4 for, 5 against; precint 5: 104 for, 49 against; precinct 6: 14 for, 0 against; precinct 7: 2 for, 18 against; precinct 8: 8 for, 3 against; precinct 9: 4 for, 1 against; precinct 10: 2 for, 5 against; precinct 11: 65 for, 29 against.

Absentee vote was 11 for, 3 against.

County taxes are to be raised a maximum of approximately 7 per cent with passage of the bond. However, the county has not yet released the exact figure. It is expected during the early summer.

County commissioners called the bond election on the date originally asked for by the hospital board, which was soon after the petitions were circulated in late April.

Seigler said the reason for the "hurry-up for the election" is the current rise in building construction costs. "It wouuld cost the people more if the construction is delayed," he said, "and we did not want that to happen."

Successor To Be Named

Michael Resigns

G. W. (Bill) Michael, who has been principal at Hereford High School since Jan. 17, 1964, will officially announce his resignation plans today.

Michael submitted his resignation to superintendent Johnny Clark Jr. Monday. Clark said, "We hate to lose such a man as Bill Michael because we feel he has done a fine job for us here."

No replacement has been announced for Michael. The Hereford Independent School Board of Trustees and school administrators will discuss the assignment of a new high school principal, possibly at its regularly-scheduled meeting set for the second Tuesday in June.

However, Clark announced that Michael would remain principal at the high school until the end of the summer school program. Michael had originally intended to enroll for further college studies during the summer months but changed his plans upon announcement of his resignation.

He is to become principal at an elementary school in Belton, a central Texas city, in September.

Michael said, "I consider the time I have spent in Hereford as the most enjoyable and rewarding years of my life. I have enjoyed the fine cooperation of the high school faculty, the students and patrons. On behalf of my family, it is with the deepest regret that we leave this excellent community and school. We shall always remember the good times we have had in wonderful Hereford."

Michael, whose original home is at May in Brown County, said that his father, who is a widower, still lives there. Belton is not too far distant. "I am his only child and try to see him as much as possible."

Michael has a bachelor's degree from Daniel Baker College at Brownwood and a master's degree from Texas Christian University at Fort Worth. He has done work in the past on his doctorate at Texas Tech.

In the teaching profession since 1951, he was coach at schools in Gorman and later at Rising Star (both near May) until 1956 when he became junior high principal at Crosbyton. Afterward, he was principal at Ralls for two years and an elementary principal at Bay City before coming to Hereford in 1962.

Michael spent a half-year at Central here before becoming assistant principal at HHS and later principal. He succeeded L. B. Russell, who is now principal at Walcott School.

Legion Offers Flags

Stars and stripes will be posted on the streets of downtown Hereford on Memorial Day and flags furnished for all veterans' gravesites, according to Ira W. Ott of American Legion Post 192.

An American Legion member is to be assigned to each local cemetery on Friday, May 30, where families of veterans may pick up their flag at any time during the day.

Ott reported that Legion members would place the flags on the gravesites themselves, but gravesites of such veterans are not listed in complete form and they have no desire to overlook any qualified veteran.

He also reported that those families who wish to post a flag prior to Memorial Day may do so. Flags are available at Wilkins Barber Shop in the Hotel Jim Hill.

Ott said that all flags will be removed by American Legion members after the holiday is ended.

Band Concert Friday

Hereford High School's sweepstakes-winning Whiteface Band will present a concert in the school auditorium at 7:30 p. m. Friday, with the public invited.

Originally scheduled for Thursday, the concert was postponed a day because of conflicting school activities. It is a benefit for a summer band camp scholarship fund, and admission will be a dollar for adults and 50 cents for students.

Announcement will be made at the concert of the band member chosen for this year's John Philip Sousa award, which is given each spring to the outstanding bandsman.

Also, the members chosen as band king and queen will be formally presented and crowned.

The band is closing another successful year in which it repeated its feat of winning sweepstakes awards in University Interscholastic League competition taking top places in concert playing, sight reading and marching.

Council Meeting Light

In a light session Monday night, the Hereford City Council refused an annexation petition presented by J. C. Reese, created an additional command position for the police department and appointed an officer to fill the job, tabled action on a plat of Green Acres Estate, Unit III and announced the date for the opening of the city swimming pool.

Ed Owsley, a patrolman on the Hereford police force was elevated to the newly created rank of Lieutenant in the local chain of command. Don Brush was appointed Chief of Police recently following the resignation of Marshall Padgett with Ray Reynolds now serving as Assistant Chief (Captain) and Ray Martin filling the Sergeant position. According to City Manager Dudley Bayne, the police department is now operating 5 men short of it's normal table of organization. "We just simply can't find policemen," Bayne told the council.

During the meeting, the commissioners refused an annexation petition submitted by J. C. Reese for the East 150 feet, Blk. Number 5, Assessors Addition. The property is located on the western edge of the city.

Reuben Aasland, developer of the Green Acres Estates Addition, submitted a plat of certain areas of Green Acres to be approved by the city. However there appeared to be some problems concerning school property that would block one of the through streets in that area and the commissioners tabled action pending further conferences with the developer.

City Manager Dudley Bayne also said that the city swimming pool was scheduled to open Sunday, June 1. Manager of the pool will be G. C. Graves, a teacher at Hereford High School.

Local Members Named To VFW District Jobs

Hereford members were named to offices in District 13, Veterans of Foreign Wars, at the spring convention at Dimmitt on the weekend, when nine representatives from the local VFW Post and Ladies Auxiliary attended social and business sessions. Castro Memorial Post and Auxiliary were hosts.

Wayne Driskill, past commander of the post here, was elected junior vice president of the district Auxiliary, and Mrs. Naomi Murrell of Hereford was named hospital chairman.

Plainview will be host for the fall convention. Announcement was made that a new post in the district is to be formed soon at Muleshoe and several Hereford members plan to attend the mustering ceremony.

After social events Saturday, a joint program was held Sunday morning with Vic Afflerbach of Hobbs, N. M. a former commander of the VFW Department of Texas, as speaker. Joe Cowen of Dimmitt welcomed delegates and visitors.

Business and the election followed a noon dinner. Doyce Flowers of Canyon was elected district commander, Charles Rogers of Amarillo senior vice commander and Walter Cox of Canyon quartermaster by the VFW Auxiliary members chose Mrs. Eupha Griffin of Dimmitt as district president, Mrs. Flowers of Canyon junior vice president and Mrs. Dean Loerwald of Plainview treasurer.

Those attending from Hereford included Mr. and Mrs. Norman Gilmore, John Green, Ken Gott, Mrs. Leonard Davis and Mrs. Nola Ralston.

Tennis Lessons Scheduled Here

Summer tennis lessons, scheduled for June 4 through July 1, will be given this summer, according to Glenda Whisenant, Hereford High School net instructor.

Lessons will be given for one hour, Monday through Friday during the one-month period to two age groups. Elementary children from the fourth grade to 12 years of age will comprise the lower group and 13 years of age and older, the second.

Forms have been distributed to all the elementary schools and the two junior highs and June 3 will also be open registration at the high school tennis courts. The lesson cost has been set at $20.

All interested persons are urged to be at the high school tennis courts, north of the building on June 3 if they wish to participate in the summer program. Tennis balls will be furnished by Miss Whisenant, but those taking the course must provide their own rackets.

UF Directors Meet Today

United Fund board of directors meeting is scheduled at 6:30 a. m. today at the Caison House.

Directors are to select campaign officers among other business affairs, it was reported.

Summer School Programs Being Prepared Locally

In-service and summer school programs have been set by the Hereford Independent School District for both the elementary and high schools here.

Under a summer school grant of approximately $87,500 for kindergarten through the sixth grade, 20 teachers and 20 teacher aides, along with two physical education teachers, one library, music, counselor, and bilingual social worker are set for special in-service programs June 2-6, prior to enrollment.

At the high school, counselor Wilma Braddy announced that among the subjects to be offered there are English, math, typing, and health 'if there is sufficient demand." First semester classes are to begin June 9 and continue through July 3. Second semester begins July 7 and continues until July 31 —class beginning at 8 a. m. each day. Tuition fee is $20 per half-credit semester. Mrs. Braddy said that all those interested in enrollment should contact her at the high school as soon as possible.

G. W. Michael will continue as principal at Hereford High School throughout the summer period.

Naomi Hopson has been placed in charge of the elementary program which superintendent Johnny Clark Jr. has described as a "migrant program which is more than merely preschool. It is for the children of migrant parents already in school who are having difficulties with the English language and for Anglo children who are also having difficulties with their studies."

Mrs. Hopson reported that registration will begin at Northwest Elementary School on June 6. "If a child is 5 years old on or before Sept. 1, 1968, he is eligible to enroll. Any parents who have moved here since Jan. 1, 1967, and whose work has to do with agriculture or agribusjness are eligible," she said.

She also pointed out that the school day will begin early for the students who are working in the fields. "We are starting early so that they can put in almost a full work day, if it is necessary," she said.

However, Mrs. Hopson stressed that — although funded by the Texas Education Agency under the migrant program — the program does not actually bear that name here. "The guidelines are different," she said.

Buses are to be operated for students in "concentrated" areas. Breakfast and lunch programs will also be continued. A swimming program is to be offered.

"We plan extensive field trips to involve the children in community life," she said. "Their development of language and other academic skills will be promoted through 'practical experience learning.' In this connection, the children will develop their skills and share them with church and civic groups — particularly in the area of music."

They are also to have practical buying tours here — "They will actually 'buy' their own supplies for school, so they will appreciate what they have to work with and what they have in school."

Prior instruction for this pilot program is to be given the teachers and aides, Mrs. Hopson said.

"A specialist from the Texas Education Agency in Austin will discuss the attitudes and potential of the child who must travel seasonally with his parents. There is also to be a specialist from Region 17 at Lubbock who will discuss health problems and how the teacher, parents, and school nurse can work together," she reported.

The entire summer faculty will also hear Dr. David L. Butts, professor of science education at the University of Texas, who is concentrating on the science discovery approach, and Dr. George Fishbeck, science coordinator of the Albuquerque Public Schools and instructor of science education at the University of New Mexico, at West Texas State University.

Hereford assistant superintendent Robert Holman and his wife, Anita, who is a teacher at Bluebonnet, are set to work with the language arts and materials suitable for the program. The Holmans are rated as specialists in this field.

PROGRESSING ON SCHEDULE — The Wilson & Company meat processing plant, despite the recent heavy rains in the area, is progressing on schedule. Officials at the plant say that if no major breakdowns, rains or shipping problems arise, the plant will be open on or before January 1, 1970. As shown in the photo, all of the walls in the main building have gone up and in certain parts, glass windows have been installed. —Staff Photo

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

Doctor, I'd Like To Know—

EACH morning when I awake I have a numb sensation in the fingers of my right hand. Sometimes the pain is so excruciating that I can't even pick up a cigarette. After about 15 minutes the heavy feeling in my fingers begins to disappear and does not return for the rest of the day. Sometimes I awaken in the night with the same sensation. What causes this? Will this become worse and eventually make me uncomfortable all day long?

Dr. Coleman

Mr. N. O. R., Wisconsin

Dear Mr. R.: A sensation of numbness, whether it is temporary or long lasting, is almost always due to some interference with the blood circulation. In your case, the fact that it lasts for such a short while indicates that there is little likelihood of other reasons like a pinched nerve in the armpit or at the elbow.

Sitting in an unusual position, with the arm over the back of the chair, easily explains this. Lying in bed does not usually interfere with normal circulation or cause pressure on a nerve.

Without meaning to, you tell me that you are a smoker. Tobacco, especially cigarettes, is one of the most common causes for interference with healthy blood circulation. Tingling of the hands and feet, coldness, numbness and cramps are frequently the result of spasm of the blood vessels due to tobacco.

There are, of course, other reasons. Women during the early period of change of life frequently complain of temporary periods of numbness. Early arthritis, with changes in the joints, can cause the same symptoms. The exact cause for your particular type of poor circulation should be studied so that the symptoms can be arrested.

For two years I have known that I have a large cyst of one ovary. Sometimes it is painful and I worry about it. When the pain disappears I again decide to do nothing about it. I know that I really worry that the removal of this cyst will prevent me from becoming pregnant and having a third child. If one ovary remains is there just as good chance of becoming pregnant?

Mrs. G. A., Florida

Dear Mrs. A.: It is generally believed that one perfectly healthy normal ovary is sufficient for pregnancy. The Fallopian tube that carries the egg into the womb must also be normal. I hope that this information will satisfy this one part of your anxiety.

There is, however, another aspect of your problem which must be separated from your desire to have another child. The fact that you have an ovarian cyst must be considered for your general health.

There are many types of ovarian cysts. Each month a small cyst forms in the ovary to house the egg which is discharged at ovulation.

Almost always the cyst then disappears. Occasionally a cyst grows larger, causes pain and pressure, and interferes with the normal menstrual cycle.

A special type of mucous cyst is found in young women. These may become as large as a basketball and can, by pressure, cause many odd symptoms.

Occasionally a cyst may become twisted and cause symptoms that resemble acute appendicitis with abdominal pain, nausea and disturbances of the intestines.

If your surgeon has recommended the removal of the cyst it is unwise to wait until a relatively simple operation is converted into a complicated one. It is not unusual for the surgeon to find a type of cyst which can be removed without the necessity of removing the entire ovary.

Delay, in your case, is not good judgment. Follow your doctor's advice.

Poppy Day Is Most Important

Memorial Poppy Day is scheduled Wednesday by the local American Legion Auxiliary, according to Poppy chairman Mrs. Ira W. Ott.

The Poppy program begins each year in the summer or fall when disabled veterans start making the flowers in government hospitals and special convalescent workshops maintained by the Auxiliary. In the following months these men — who have already served their country in uniform — are given profitable employment shaping the red memorial flowers.

Manufacturing Poppies aids the veteran both financially and psychologically. They are paid for the work they do regardless of any government compensation they might be receiving, and the job itself is a relief from long hours spent in the hospital ward. For many, it is the only opportunity to earn money during the year.

As each Poppy leaves the hands of a disabled man it contributes monetary assistance for necessities and comforts not supplied by the hospitals — a small amount of savings for the veteran toward the day he can leave the hospital — and financial assistance for his dependents.

Poppies made by veterans will be sold in Hereford by members of the American Legion Auxiliary 192, who feel that this is one of their most important projects of the year.

LET'S COOK SOMETHING

Young Cook Is Winner

By SUE COLEMAN
Women's Editor

Winning first place in a 4-H Club contest is fun, says blue-eyed Christine Marnell, who prefers to be called Chris, and now that she has started she hopes to go on to achieve more honors. The 13-year-old member of Merry Maidens Club was crowned queen of the recent County 4-H Bake Show.

THIS IS HER fourth year in 4-H Club work and she has placed in previous contests, both in food and clothing, but the top honor was an exciting new experience. As county winner she is eligible to compete in the Tri-State Fair baking contest at Amarillo next fall.

To stay in practice for that, she plans to help with the family baking this summer, making cookies as well as the muffins and cinnamon rolls on which she was judged in the county show. Her overall record in 4-H work was also judged.

All phases of the 4-H program interest her. "I like to learn new things," she says, then with an engaging grin adds, "especially learning to cook — and eating the things I cook!"

IN THE SEVENTH grade at St. Anthony's parish school, she plans to attend LaPlata Junior High next year, enroll in homemaking classes and be a member of Future Homemakers. She hopes to qualify for school choirs, too, and is getting basic instruction in music with piano lessons.

Something of a business woman at an early age, Chris earns spending money by baby-sitting, and has developed regular customers — or perhaps clients is the proper term — in her neighborhood. It's work that appeals to her because she likes children and enjoys caring for them.

For recreation she likes active outdoor fun. There is a new trampoline in the Marnells' backyard and she is enthusiastic about playing on it now. Another favorite sport is riding horseback, usually with her cousins.

DAUGHTER OF THE F. A. Marnells, 124 Aspen, she is the only girl in the family at home now. A married sister, Joan Minks, lives in Portales, N M., and Dorothy is employed in Albuquerque. She has an older brother, David, and one younger, nine-year-old Tommy.

A lifelong resident of Hereford, she has a number of relatives here including her grandmother, Mrs. Frank Wilhelm, the great-grandmother, Mrs. Loretta Warren.

Recipes she used for her award-winning breads are easy to follow, she says, and members of her family vouch for the delicious results.

COOLRISE CINNAMON ROLLS

2¾ to 3¼ cups unsifted flour
¼ cup sugar
¾ tsp. salt
1 pkg. active dry yeast
¼ cup (½ stick) margarine
¾ cup very hot tap water or hot milk
1 egg (at room temperature)
For filling:
One-third cup sugar
1½ tsp. cinnamon
½ stick margarine

In a large bowl thoroughly mix 1 cup flour with sugar, salt and undissolved yeast. Add softened margarine. Gradually add water or milk to dry ingredients and beat 2 minutes at medium speed of electric mixer, scraping bowl occasionally.

Add egg and ¼ cup flour, or enough to make a thick batter. Beat at high speed 2 minutes, scraping bowl occasionally. Stir in enough additional flour to make a soft dough.

Turn out onto lightly floured board and knead until smooth and elastic, 8 to 10 minutes. Cover with plastic wrap, then a towel, and let rest 20 minutes.

Combine sugar and cinnamon for filling. Melt additional margarine.

Punch down dough. On lightly floured board roll it into a 9x 18-inch rectangle and brush with the melted margarine. Sprinkle sugar-cinnamon mixture over dough. Roll from long side to form an 18-inch roll. Pinch seam to seal. Slice roll into pieces 1 to 1½ inches wide. Pace cut side up in greased pan.

Brush top with oil and cover loosely with plastic wrap. Refrigerate 2 to 24 hours. When ready to bake, remove from refrigerator, uncover dough carefully and let stand, uncovered, 10 minutes at room temperature.

Bake in moderate over (375 degrees) about 20 to 25 minutes. Remove immediately from pan and cool on wire racks.

POPULAR MUFFINS

2 cups unsifted flour
3 tsp. baking powder
One-third cup nonfat dry milk solids
1 cup water.
1 tsp. salt
¼ tsp sugar
1 egg
¼ cup vegetable oil or melted shortening

Set oven at 400 degrees. Grease muffin cups, on bottom only.

Measure flour and other dry ingredients and blend together. Beat egg slightly with fork. Add liquid ingredients and blend. Pour dry ingredients into liquid mixture and mix just enough to moisten dry ingredients.

Fill each muffin cup half to two-thirds full. Bake until golden brown in moderately hot oven, 400 to 425 degrees.

Local Board Of Realtors To Participate In Realtor Week

"Home Ownership — Foundation of the Nation" has been selected as the theme of Realtor Week, May 18-24, Harold Kids, president of the Hereford Board of Realtors, announced today.

The members of the Hereford Board are joining with more than 87,000 Realtors throughout the nation in community-wide observances and activities directing attention to the professional services they render and their efforts to help solve the major problems of our cities and towns.

He pointed out that this slogan merits special attention as a stabilizing force in an era marked by problems ranging from riots and a sagging respect for law and order to soaring housing demand and interest rates.

Home ownership is enjoyed by more than two-thirds of the families across the nation, Kids said, a dream Realtors have aided materially in attaining. This record of home ownership is matched by few other countries in the world, but it can become an even greater boon as it is extended to increasing numbers of low-income families through special programs and efforts. This goal is just one of those incorporated in the Make America Better Program of Realtors.

"The term Realtor is an indicator of particular qualifications because only a member of the National Association of Real Estate Boards and one of the more than 1,550 local boards can identify himself by that term," Kids explained. "To be eligible for membership, a candidate must demonstrate a superior knowledge of the business, possess a record of business integrity, and finally, subscribe to a strict code of ethics."

The code of ethics is important, he added. One of the first adopted in the history of American business, it is based on the Golden Rule. Under its 30 articles, the Realtor pledges to keep the interests of both the buyer and seller uppermost in his mind during the entire transaction.

Kids said "some surveys show that many people erroneously believe that the term Realtor is interchangeable with 'real estate man.' However, it is a service mark (trademark) registered in the U. S. Patent office, and only active members of NAREB and its member boards may use it. That is why it is always capitalized."

He praised Realtors' leadership over the years in championing the institution of private property and working to make home purchase possible for whole new classes of buyers.

"Realtors," Kids concluded, "feel they have contributed greatly to the nation's prosperity. NAREB and its leaders have for years urged and promoted home ownership both by the business in which they are engaged and by support of legislation and custom that have made purchase possible for millions of families who could not previously afford it."

—Small Talk—

By SUE COLEMAN
Women's Editor

On an afternoon ride Sunday, we discovered a road that crosses not one, but two of the Panhandle's spectacular canyons, and I heartily recommend it to anyone who thinks this country is too flat and monotonous to be interesting.

It's the excellent state highway, most of it newly surfaced, from Silverton to Claude. Actually, you turn off the Tulia-Silverton highway about five miles this side of Silverton, at a well-marked intersection, and go straight north to Claude.

First you cross Tule Canyon, which is not very wide at that point but has some unusual cliff formations of dark red-brown rock different from those you'll see in Palo Duro Canyon, which you cross nearer to Claude.

By this time the Palo Duro has widened considerably from its compass in the state park near Canyon, and you drive several miles from the time you go down sharply on one side until you climb out sharply on the other side.

In the middle you cross the Prairie Dog Town fork of Red River, also expanded from its size as a small creek in the park.

The whole wide valley is a succession of rugged hills and small canyons where creeks run into the river. The highway department has thoughtfully located a picnic area on a high spot with a magnificent view.

Another day I want to drive the highway the other direction, from Claude to Silverton, as views of the canyons vary with every turn of the road and are not the same when you look back at them.

Either way, it can be seen in an afternoon drive from Hereford, and is worth taking more time for closer looks in several spots. And it's worth showing to visitors as one of the sights of West Texas.

A HOSTESS, WHO likes to show off this, her adopted home country, to guests is Kathlee Palmer, who this week has had two friends from San Antonio visiting her.

They are Harriette and Betty Jane McHugh, and like Kathlee their former home was in North Dakota. They were friends as girls there, then when Kathlee was studying voice and singing professionally in New York, the two sisters were dancers in the famed Albertina Rasch ballet group.

Entertainment for the visitors by their hostess and her friends has included a trip over to Palo Duro Park, sightseeing around ranches and farms, as well as the expected luncheons, dinners and bridge games.

Gladys' Garden

By Gladys Howton Manjeot

The Manjeot's four have come and gone, and believe me, it is certainly quiet and lonesome at 303 Westhaven Drive. In fact it is so still and quiet that I am finding it difficut to think coherently.

For all the courtesies shown our son, Lloyd, and his family Rosemary, Beverly and Lloyd Jr., we are most grateful. I would really like to be around when she explains and describes to the friends in the south and east, about the "barbed-wire" ear screw which was presented to her at the Deaf Smith County Museum.

By the way, these ear-screws are very attractive and are certainly good conversational stimulus. They make nice gifts especially for friends away from here, and every time a set is purchased it helps the museum.

May is a very busy, exciting and merry month in our gardens. Many of us are busy catching up on chores delayed by April rains and cold wind. So many, many things to do. As of today I found one of my chief chores was to get rid of the elms, that are coming up so profusely from the seeds. They are about to take over our garden and the alley. (Did you ever note the striking likeness that the young elms have to radishes?) I have a strong feeling that one hoeing is not going to be sufficient, as there are so many! It will be well to remember the rule for spraying and apply it to getting rid of the tiny elms. . .at least three times. They should be cut and then all season we will have to keep our eyes open and get rid of those that we have missed.

I am going to do some research and try to find something that they can be sprayed with that will kil.

It would be a real discovery if someone would come up with a spray that could be used on the seed before they start falling. We have one huge tree in our neighborhood, and it has had enough seed to fall to plant sections. It is a beautifully shaped tree and many birds nest in its branches.

Another garden chore is that of cutting the lawns. The grass clippings are real heavy, especially since the rains the grass is growing fast and it is necessary to cut more often. If you have ever taken the time to check, you will find that over half of the annual garden budget goes into lawn materials, mostly fertilizer, and in some instances help to maintain the lawn. Therefore the clippings should not be wasted. They make excellent fertilizer. This is especially true of the blue grass and other grasses not akin to Bermuda. So save the clippings and return to the soil the fertilizer qualities of the grass.

If you keep the lawn cut consistently, then the clippings will not be tall and they can fall back on the lawn to decay and thus nuture the grass. However, where the grass is left to grow taller and is heavy, then it will be too much to let all this fall on the lawn. It is asking for trouble, because where it is heavy it tends to smother out the grass and will also cause fungus diseases. Therefore, I would recommend that the grass be caught in a catcher, and used in flower beds, vegetable gardens, or given to friends who would like to have it for their cows or cattle.

We had our garden spot (for vegetables) spaded deep, and in the areas where I have not yet gotten it planted, I take the grass clippings directly from the machine and scatter it on the open areas. It is also used for a mulch around roses, shrubs, and other plants. I mulched the iris with the clippings, and the moister has been better retained, therefore less watering, and the results are beautiful. Have had some of the loveliest iris I have ever grown.

In using the grass clippings, check for any tiny bit of bermuda, as it will quickly take root, therefore trouble. It will take the flower beds if left, also check for seed, on the blue grass these will fall and come up, which will cause grass to grow where you do not want it. Then foreign grasses or other seed may be present so do NOT use these clippings.

One author I read after stated that grass clippings when piled up will soon make a putrid hot mess, of no value to garden, friend or foe, and are as hard to loose in the city as a dead horse.

I find the men do not like to handle the grass clippings and will deliberately empty barrels and leave the grass clippings. I have had a stack at one of our rent houses since last fall.

If there is space, then scatter the clippings out so that they will dry in the sun and then they are ready to be placed for mulching around your plants, trees, etc. In the fall when spading is done, then it is spaded under therefore making the soil more friable. You will be pleased with the results. Grass clippings are also excellent compost material.

I would recommend that you spray the lawns. We have insects which have hibernated there, and others are being added. I sprayed our front yards this week, and already there is a difference. The color is better and it will not need as much water, as the insects take out moisture a swell as damage the grass. Most of the infestation is from the sucking insects, so keep this in mind when spraying.

Gardening is big bisiness. In fact, it is the most popular of all hobbies and it is also a big paying business not only for our country but for other countries. I clipped the following from a recent paper: "Guatemala's flower growers exported $500,000 worth last year, but expected to ship more than $3 million worth this year because they have formed cooperatives. Chrysanthemums, roses, carnations and gladioli form the bulk of the exports." I was real thrilled to have an orchid flown in from Hawaii this last Mother's Day. The florist business there is one of their largest businesses and one of the greatest incomes is realized from it. Thousands of orchids were shipped this last Mother's Day for the service men. We enjoyed the beauty of leis as well as the single orchids, at our house.

Speaking of beauty: Take time to make a drive either in the country or on a highway. The wildflowers are so very pretty now. Last week we drove to Clovis, and the roadside and the pastures were a mass of beautiful wildflowers. Lloyd Jr. and I thoroughly enjoyed the daisies and other colorful flowers. In driving to and from Art's Corner (the elevator) I have taken it rather slow to enjoy the pretty patches of vivid color along the roadside. The potato, cabbage, wheat, and other crops are so very lovely and they are growing so very fast, the contrast in greens is beautiful.

The roses, peonies, and iris are a continuious riot of color and beauty throughout Hereford. Another pretty sight is that of the 'Snow Ball' shrub which has had such a profusion of blossoms this spring. The one at the Cansler home on Texas is an eye stopper. Beverly and I had fun making arrangements. The house looks like it is ready for a party.

If you have time, drive out 25 Mile Avenue to the Iwig home. Mrs. Iwig grows thousands of iris, and is doing some propagation with her iris. She tells me that she has several acres, and that now the yellow iris are at their height of color and beauty.

Mildew is already showing up on the roses, so do not forget to spray. Realize that spraying is time consuming and is not a pleasant chore, but it is a gardeners necessity. In using Tide, make a good soapy suds, and if you wish other insect spray may be added thus you will do two chores at one time.

QUESTIONS? Have you seen the pretty decals on the city trucks and pick-ups? They are replicas of the Hereford City Flag and are really nice. Hats off to Mr. Bayne and other city officials for this nice gesture. . .is grand to see our new City Flag thus shown.

How would you like to have lizards as wall decorations in your home? (They also like the ceilings). In the homes in Okinawa the lizards are used to keep down other crawling and flying insects. Rosemary used them while there, she said it took a bit of 'getting used to it" but that it realy worked.

Remember. . .Beauty is as Beauty does. . .so create beauty by gardening and sharing its beauty.

GLAD.

Concerning Veterans

EDITOR'S NOTE: Veterans and their families are asking thousands of questions concerning the benefits their Government provides for them through the Veterans Administration. Below are some representative queries. Additional information may be obtained at any VA office.

Q — How long does one have to serve in Vietnam to be eligible for the G. I. Bill to return to college, and how much would a married veteran with no children receive each month?

A — Actual service in Vietnam itself is not a requirement for benefits (including educational assistance) under the G. I. Bill.

The law requires that the veteran must have at least 181 days active duty, any part of which occurred after Jan. 31, 1955. (Active duty for training purposes cannot be counted towards the 181 days).

A veteran in full-time training (at least 14 semester hours) would receive training allowance of $155 monthly if he has one dependent.

Q — I was retired from the Air Force last April 30 because of physical disability. Am I entitled to VA compensation payments as well?

A — There is a prohibition against simultaneous receipt of service retirement pay and VA compensation. You may elect to receive whichever of these benefits is the greater.

You may re-elect between these benefits as often as it is advantageous to you.

Q — I was recently divorced. I am now a dependent parent of a son lost in Vietnam. I am 40 years old and would like to return to school to better qualify myself for self-support. Is educational assistance available for me through the VA?

A — No. Educational benefits have been authorized for widows of veterans whose death was due to service and wives of service-connected permanently and totally disabled veterans. This benefit is not available to dependent parents.

PROGRAM TEACHER — Mrs. Linda Harbin of Muleshoe has been announced as teacher of "Food Fun For Juniors" by the Deaf Smith County Electric Cooperative, set to begin at Hereford High School next month for girls in the 9 - 12 age bracket.

"Food Fun" Again Planned For Girls

Beginning in June, Deaf Smith County Electric Cooperative will again offer a summer program for elementary school-aged girls — "Food Fun For Juniors" — and has employed Mrs. Linda Harbin of Muleshoe to conduct the classes.

Mrs. Harbin is a senior student in the Home Economics Department at Texas Technological College at Lubbock and is majoring in Home Economics Education.

Food Fun For Juniors is designed to teach nine to 12-year-old girls the principles of basic food preparation, good kitchen management, meal planning, basic nutrition, table setting, and hints about table manners.

Definite date for classes to begin have not as yet been set. However, it is to be conducted in the Hereford High School home economics department in two-and-a half hour classes five days each week. Date is to be announced later.

Class times for the morning sessions are 9 to 11:30. Girls attending afternoon classes will report at 1:30 and remain until 4 p.m.

Food Fun For Juniors classes will also be conducted in high schools at Nazareth, Dimmitt, Friona, Bovina, and Farwell in this area.

Girls completing the week-long course are to be honored at a graduation party. They will receive diplomas.

Mrs. Harbin has had college courses in Food and Nutrition, Clothing and Textiles, Child Development and Family Relations, Home Management, and Home Economics education. During her high school years she was also active in Future Homemakers of America.

All that is necessary for the 9 — 12-year-old girls is filing an application. Applications may be obtained from Ray P. Simpson, Deaf Smith County Electric Co-op, P. O. Box 753, Hereford 79045. The school is made available at no charge through the cooperation of the local school district as a part of the Deaf Smith County Electric Cooperative's youth development program.

First twenty students to enroll will be accepted for this training course, Simpson said. If the enrollee is presently a Girl Scout or 4-H member, she will be given appropriate credits upon completion of the prescribed course.

Lesson One (Monday) is a review of cooking terms, measurements, and the electric range; safety in the kitchen; special treats for Thanksgiving and the Fourth of July.

Lesson Two (Tuesday) is how to plan a party — original invitations and decorations — secrets of cake baking.

Lesson Three (Wednesday): The importance of well-balanced meals, creative cookies, Christmas and Easter specialties.

Lesson Four (Thursday): How to be a good hostess, principles of good management, decorative sandwiches and cupcakes for Valentine and Halloween.

Lesson Five (Friday): Punch party for parents, planned and carried out by students.

Presentation of diplomas will also be presented on Friday.

Meeting Set Tonight

Hereford Action Board Selected

An informational and organizational meeting of the advisory board of the Hereford Community Action Program is to be held at 8 p. m. today in the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce offices.

Fifteen members have been named to the board. Those who have accepted appointments are Virgil Dodson, Rev. C. W. Allen, The Rev. John Broderick, S. A.; Frank Hernandez, Thomas Albracht, Frank Torres, John Velasquez, Marcus Latham, Lowell Sharp, Roland Barton, James Gouldy, Neil Cooper, Rev. Gerald Mann, Mrs. Rita Huckert, and Mrs. George Turrentine.

The Community Action Program in Hereford is a part of the 26-county Texas Panhandle Area Community Action Program, funded through the Federal Office of Economic Opportunity. Planned locally is a community service center staffed by a coordinator and possibly two field service workers.

The local board is to supervise the work of the staff and to determine policy relative to local programs.

Meade Michael, area coordinator for the program, spoke to some 25 local representatives of various groups and organizations here in mid-April concerning the program. At that time, Bill Thompson, Latham, Paul Abalos, and Father Broderick were selected as a steering committee to set up the board of directors.

Michael explained at that time that the Community Action Program "is not a welfare project in any sense of the word. It is designed to work directly with the unemployed and the under-employed in guiding them toward job training programs, adult education programs in language skills, financial management, and the acquiring of other skills that will help them to move from the rolls of 'tax consuumers' to 'taxpayers' and useful citizens."

The advisory board will have an opportunity tonight to question Michael on the role of the board, programs planned for the Hereford area, and the relationship to the area program.

Directors will also elect the administrative officers and review qualifications for staff positions.

The Bluebird Angels Campfire group of St. Anthony's parish closed their season Friday with a final meeting honoring their mothers as special guests.

Poems were recited by the girls, each describing their mother.

Refreshments of cookies, which the group made, were served with punch furnished by Mrs. William Koozers.

Other guests included Mmes. Bob Morgan, Leonard Walterscheid and Kenneth Walterscheid.

Leader of the group is Mrs. Vincent Walterscheid.

Approximately 1400 persons, including wives, from 41 states, Puerto Rico and Guam, will attend the meeting. A. M. Jockusch, vice president and director of the Ordinary Agencies Division of American National, reported from the company's home office in Galveston.

The Fontainebleau Hotel will be the site for the meeting.

Ask Dr. Quizmee ????

Dr. Quizmee, our information specialist, answers your questions in this column. Complete, illustrated, 25-volume sets of Funk & Wagnalls Standard Reference Encyclopedia go this week to:

Mark Greiner who asked:

"What is the world's longest mountain range?"

On land, it is the Himalaya-Karakoram which extends about 1,500 miles from the Indus River to the Brahmaputra River. Below the ocean, it is the mid-Atlantic range which extends 7,000 miles.

David Sander, for asking:

"Where does the name 'Adam's Apple' come from?"

From the superstition that a piece of the forbidden fruit, picked by Eve in the Garden of Eden, stuck in Adam's throat, leaving a lump there.

Kevin Hall, whose question is:

"Do ostriches really bury their heads in sand when frightened?"

No, this is strictly a myth. An ostrich can run as fast as 25 miles per hour and has very powerful legs which he uses to defend himself. With that kind of equipment, who needs to hide his head?

Election of officers and the naming of the "Pioneer of the Year" will climax this year's Mid-Plains Pioneer Day celebration, which is set for Friday, May 30, at the Bull Barn.

Clint Formby, manager of KPAN radio, will present the award to the "Pioneer of the Year".

Registration for the event will begin at 9:30 a. m. at the Bull Barn and greetings and information will be provided by the Cultural and Wyche Home Demonstration Clubs, who will also serve coffee and doughnuts to guests.

Invocation will be given by the Rev. Ron Harpster following the call to order by Claude Ickets, president of the organization. The presentation of colors will be conducted by local Boy Scouts and will be followed by the welcome by Jimmie Allred.

The Rev. Roy Nunn, of Childress, will give the response and wil be followed by Formby's presentation of the coveted "Pioneer of the Year." Formby stressed Wednesday that nominations for the award wil be accepted until 5 p. m. May 26.

"Pioneer of the Year" is selected by the pioneers themselves on the basis of information sent in for nominations.

Pioneer Day officials remind that all out-of-town guests need not bring food as lunch will be provided by local persons. The basket lunch will be at the Bull Barn, following the election of officers during the annual meeting.

Open house will also be held at the Deaf Smith County Museum through the day, beginning at 10 a. m.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Impractical Jokes

Good-natured John, proprietor of a grocery store, kept a can of free tobacco on the counter. One day, just for kicks, he sprinkled a little gunpowder into the tobacco.

Sure enough, the first customer to use the mixture set off an explosion in his pipe. Result: injury to the customer's eyes and a successful damage suit against John.

It is well worth remembering, when you feel playful, that "I was only joking" is seldom a good defense in a court of law.

"One who plays dangerous practical jokes on others," observed one court, "takes the risk that his victims may not appreciate the humor."

Of course, if there is no reason to foresee harm, you are on safer ground. Thus, a prankster who wore an outlandish costume was held not responsible for the fright which his appearance caused in the woman next door.

But add enough cruelty or recklessness to your sense of humor and you may have to pay for costly consequences. For example, courts have imposed liability on:

1) a joker who gave a hot foot to a man too drunk to realize that he was suffering a third degree burn;

2) a grocer who packed a dead rat into a bundle of groceries;

3) a wag who informed a woman, falsely but convincingly, that her husband had had both legs broken in a smashup;

4) a card player who, while bending down for some money, flipped a fellow player backwards out of his chair.

In fact, in addition to liability for damages, you might even face criminal charges.

A man had an old revolver containing a jammed cartridge. Confident that the gun wouldn't shoot, he playfully brandished it at a visitor and pulled the trigger. To his horror, the gun fired a shot that killed the visitor.

Booked on a manslaughter charge, he pleaded that it was a pure accident—"all in fun." But the court found him guilty.

"Human life," said the court grimly, "is not to be sported with."

ABC

What is the A.B.C.?

Chatting with a merchant the other day, we mentioned our "ABC figure."

"What," he asked, "is an ABC figure?"

Perhaps what we told him will also interest you.

This newspaper is a member of the Audit Bureau of Circulations, an independent, nonprofit organization of nearly 4,000 advertisers, advertising agencies, and publishers.

Its purpose is to provide accurate and factual reports on the circulations of member publishers. In the advertising and publishing industry, the ABC insigne is often referred to as the "hallmark of circulation values."

At regular intervals, an ABC traveling auditor visits our office to check our records. The findings of this physical audit are embodied in an Audit Report published by ABC — the report literally tells us what our circulation is.

Virtually everything an advertiser should know about our circulation is found in this report, facts and figures without opinions.

Few retailers bother to ask to see a copy of our report, yet we want you to know one is available anytime you are interested in the quality and quantity of our circulation audience — the audience for your advertising messages.

Gophers And Phone People Do Not Mix

GOPHER PROBLEMS

Gophers, long a pesky problem for telephone companies, are gnawing at Southwestern Bell's ingenuity.

It's not that the telephone company is anti-gopher, but gopher's bad cable manners make it necessary for Southwestern Bell to wage a scientific war against the chomping creatures.

Southwestern Bell, working with the U. S. Interior Department's Fish and Wildlife Service and Bell Telephone Laboratories, has buried various types of cable samples in a gopher-infested area of Oklahoma to evaluate its resistance to the animal's urge to chew.

Why telephone cable as a delectable dish?

The front teeth of gophers grow more than 46 inches a year, somewhat unmanageable for a 10-inch gopher who's teeth could grow into his skull and pierce his brain.

"Gophers instinctively avoid these splitting headaches by wearing down their teeth too often on our cable," said Mike Patrick, Manager for Southwestern Bell. "Underground cable is easy for gophers to get at and tougher to chew than vegetation they usually eat."

Dental-minded gophers have acquired such a taste for cable that telephone companies, not gophers, have been getting the headaches recently.

"The Bell System now uses as much as 1,300 tons of steel a year to shield cable in areas west of the Mississippi, where most gophers are found," said Patric. "Gophers will chew through almost all plastic materials, and even through softer metals like lead and aluminum.

"Severe gopher damage can cause a cable to fail," noted Patrick. "This is particularly disturbing to telephone companies and their customers, since underground cables are often long distance facilities that carry hundreds of telephone messages at one time."

Scientists and engineers for years have searched diligently for alternate materials that gophers either can't chew or aren't gastronomically inclined toward.

Bell Telephone scientists for several years "fed" cables to gophers in a controlled experiment at Denver by the Fish and Widlife Service. Now, the program is undergoing the actual "field tests" with wild gophers.

Southwestern Bell, working with the wildlife rangers, buried some 100 cables of varying types, about 20 feet in length, in both horizontal and vertical positions in the Washita National Wildlife Refuge in western Oklahoma.

Why not anti-deterrent sprays?

"In the interest of protecting harmless animals, we've fairly well ruled out most chemical soil treatments around cable trenches and chemical repellents applied to the cable surfaces," Patrick said.

"Fortunately, in our testing, we've gained some useful knowledge about the sizes of cable that a gopher can chew. After all, there's a limit to how big a bite he can take."

Let's Go Fishin'

BY BOB BREWSTER
Outdoor Editor, Mercury Outboards

LUNKER HUNTING

Some guys catch lunkers as if fish didn't come in any other size, while most of us work hard to catch the ones that are dwarfs by comparison, and then feel pretty lucky.

To a successful "lunker hunter" luck plays a minor role, say the fishing authorities at Mercury outboards. Seeking out the big fish is a deliberate undertaking, requiring both a knowledge of fish and an unswerving devotion to the proposition that one trophy of braggin' size is worth a hundred of his lesser brethren.

While lunker-catching proficiency doesn't come overnight, there is one basic rule the aspiring might keep in mind: "locate the lairs."

Lunkers, like gold, are where you find them. This can be in the most unpredictable quarters, usually offshore where no visible signs give a clue to a hotspot beneath the surface.

To find such locations, they are usually quite small, calls for extensive prospecting through a great deal of barren water. Slow trolling on the bottom or drift casting is the best bet.

When a fish strikes, mark the exact spot immediately for future reference. This means taking cross sightings on land objects so that you can find it again. A single hole may yield more lunkers on the next few casts, next day, or a year hence.

The main thing is to know exactly where the location is, for if conditions are favorable for one lunker, invariably others move in.

Another aspect of lunker hunting commonly neglected is the tendence of large fish to bump a bait half-heartedly without getting hooked. If a few casts prove futile, advise the Mercury lads, mark the location and leave with a minimum of disturbance. Return later for another try.

Big fish don't come easy. With patience and an enthusiasm that overlooks long fruitless hours and sometimes the ridicule of shoreline casters, the prospecting pays off. That first lunker, and knowing where it came from, will be ample reward.

Rural Housing Set For Loans: Gouldy

About 56,000 rural families in the United States were benefited during 1968 by the Rural Housing program administered by the Farmers Home Administration, according to James Goudly, county supervisor.

Funds may be advanced to build, improve, or repair existing dwellings and related facilities, or to buy an existing house and lot. Farmers may borrow to build a house for their own use or for farm laborers or tenants, Goudly said.

Farmers Home Administration loans are made to families who for various reasons are unable to obtain credit from private sources.

Under the Housing and Urban Development Act of 1968, low income families who do not have adequate income to meet payments at the usual rate of interest may qualify for interest credit. The amount of interest these families would pay depends on the family income, and the size of the family. However, it would never be less than 1 per cent.

"The rural housing program creates the type rural community that encourages people to live in rural areas. It is instrumental in helping to check the flow of rural residents to urban areas. Rural housing loans stimulate the economy of rural commuities through the sale of building materials, home furnishings, and increased employment opportunities," Gouldy said.

Interested individuals should contact Gouldy, County Supervisor of Deaf Smith and Oldham Counties; at his office in Hereford for further information.

Graduate Is Honored With Party

A party complimenting Miss Ann Priddy, a 1969 graduate of Hereford High School, was given Sunday afternoon by Mrs. George Warner at her home at 805 N. Main.

Punch, strawberry cream puffs and fortune cookies were served from a table covered in white with graduation dolls as the centerpiece.

Reminiscing about past school years and talking about plans for the future were enjoyed by the guests and honoree. Reading of fortunes from the fortune cookies provided humorous entertainment.

The guest list for the party included Elaine Kelly, Sandra Willis, Billee Goettsch, Dell Sealy, Sharon Watson, Karolyn Betzen, Kaye Williams, Lanny Buck, Sharon Cash, Denise Daniels, Annie Nunley, Trisha Hale and Linda Merrill.

Also Joette Hanna, Kathy Skypala, Vickie Brownlow, Jane Witkowski, Grace Ann Flood, Chris Loerwald and Anna Johnson.

Have Faith in yourself, your fellow man, your country, your church. Whenever you and I doubt either God or man, we would do well to think of Jesus.

Life becomes a radiant thing for people of Faith. Faith can overcome the most miserable circumstances . . . overcome despair. The universe opens its heart to eyes of faith; closed doors swing ajar when faithful steps approach; loving spirits smile their welcome to trustworthy souls; latent powers blossom in the presence of fidelity. God waits to shower His blessings on men who can be trusted . . . MEN OF FAITH.

Collision Injures Local Woman

A local woman was treated and released at Deaf Smith County Hospital following a two-car collision Friday morning at the intersection of Schley and Third Sts.

Mrs. Thelma Wiley Arbuckle, 23, of 212 Fir, sustained minor injuries when the late model car she was driving collided with an automobile driven by Bertha Martinez of Hereford.

Damage to the Martinez car was reported at $1200 and the Arbuckle vehicle sustained an estimated $600 in damage, according to investigating officer Holbrooks.

Storms rage beneath the surface of the ocean as well as above. Violent "weather fronts," maelstroms, currents and mudslides are blamed for some submarine disasters.

DOG'S MENU IMPROVES

VIENNA — The "living standard" of Vienna's municipal watchdogs has been raised to the level of state-owned police dogs. The dogs after the "raise" will be able to eat 12 Schillings (48 cents) worth of food daily. Before, the city-owned dogs earned five Schillings (20 cents) a day.

All Venice stands on thick planks and stone foundations supported by thousands of wooden piles. Perhaps eight inches a century, the piles are sinking into mud.

Gifford-Hill Nets High Rise

DALLAS — Gifford-Hill & Co., Inc.'s first quarter net income in 1969 was 165 per cent more than in the same period in 1968.

P. W. Gifford, president and board chairman, said Friday the construction materials firm headquartered in Dallas showed a net income of $1,277,000 from Jan. 1 through March 31 this year compared to $482,000 for the same period last year.

The chief executive officer of the company said consolidated sales and other revenues totaled $16,977,000 in the first quarter of 1969 and were $13,864,000 for the period in 1968.

Gifford announced also that the board declared a 10 cents-per-share dividend on common stock to shareholders of record May 26 this year. The dividend is payable June 13, 1969, he said.

Earnings per share the first quarter this year were 38 cents on 3,240,000 shares outstanding on March 31, 1969, or 35 cents per share on 3,740,000 shares outstanding following the company's first public sale of stock which occurred April 8, 1969. The 38 cents per share for the quarter compared with 14 cents for the same period in 1968, said Gifford.

Legislature Nears Windup; College Business Remains

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association

AUSTIN, TEX. — Senate filibusters against new college bills may take up much of the remaining days of the legislative session due to close June 2.

A proposal to create a medical school at Texas Technological College in Lubbock brought prolonged oratory from Sen. Joe Christie of El Paso who wanted the school in his home town.

Sen. Don Kennard of Fort Worth warmed up on the Tech bill for an extended effort to delay approval of a University of Texas at Dallas on property of the Southwest Center for Advanced Studies.

Senate State Affairs Committee voted out other bills to set up upper level (junior-senior-graduate studies) colleges at Midland-Odessa, Corpus Christi and Texarkana and an additional University of Texas dental branch.

State Affairs Chairman Sen. William T. Moore of Bryan emphasized he is opposed to all of the bills and intends to make his views known on the floor. Moore postponed action on any of the group over the weekend by leaving town with the bills locked in a vault — and unreported to the senate floor.

Meanwhile, a House-Senate conference committee coached by Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes and House Speaker Gus Mutscher plowed slowly through the job of writing a one-year budget bill that will necessitate no new taxes.

Gov. Preston Smith spelled out his opposition to such a short-term approach to state governmental budgeting as more costly in the long run as evidenced by recent experiences with the one-year plan and emphasized he interprets the Texas constitution to require a biennial appropriation pattern.

By trimming proposed spending and switching some unused surplus in several state funds, a conference committee headed by Sen. A. M. Aikin, Jr., of Paris and Rep. W. S. Heatly of Paducah believes it can provide the teacher pay raise requested by the Texas State Teachers Association without new taxes.

Smith feels that the state's dollars simply cannot be stretched that far. Barnes thinks they can cover the basic needs of higher education, state hospitals and special schools and state agencies, and still leave $61.9 million for the first year of the teacher pay raise.

Smith said there was a movement afoot to kill the $15,000-a-year general fund allocation to farm-to-market roads. Barnes said the Senate conferees would not propose taking that program away.

Governor declined to say he will veto the one-year bill. "Several alternatives will be open to the governor," said Smith. "It would not be proper or possible for me to choose one at this time, because I do not know what the circumstances will be."

LEGISLATURE NEARS WINDUP — With adjournment deadline closing in, legislators are getting day and night workouts on literally hundreds of bills.

House finally completed action on a watered-down $1.25-an-hour minimum wage bill. Amendments sent it back to the Senate. House earlier approved creation of a dental school for San Antonio, new regulation of coin-operated amusement machines, law banning possession of LSD and other hallucinogenic drugs, higher service charges on large real estate loans, a new upper-level college at Laredo, strengthened rules for transporting migrant workers, elimination of the requirement that jurors be free-holders or hourse-holders and county civil service systems for major counties.

Senate, not so productive due to filibusters, passed three bills to remove legal obstacles to heart and other organ transplants, agreed to creation of a new medical school in Houston and another in an unnamed city, approved a broadened tuition-aid plan for needy students, and proposed submission of a constitutional amendment to abolish the welfare spending ceiling in 1970 (in event the August 5 vote fails).

Both houses completed action on bills to expand the program of special education for exceptional children between the ages of 3 and 21, make universities out of Stephen F. Austin (Nacogdoches), Southwest Texas (San Marcos), Angelo State (San Angelo), and Sul Ross (Alpine) State Colleges, permit use of Spanish in teaching in the first six grades of public schools by repealing the prohibition against use of a foreign language in public classrooms, create a board to license private detectives, set legislative salaries at $6,800 a year (if the voters approve a constitutional amendment at the special election Aug. 5 to permit the increase from the present $4,800 a year), allow courts to issue driver licenses to persons who drive for a living but have lost their licenses for traffic law infractions (to be used on-the-job only and not for private driving), create the University of Texas Clinical Nursing School at San Antonio, make public agencies liable to persons injured by mistakes of public employees while driving motor vehicles or operating motor-driven equipment, and regulate practice of optometry.

OMNIBUS COURTS BILL — Rep. Renal Rosson, chairman of the House Judicial Districts Committee, says Sen. Murray Watson's bill which combines all requests for new courts and court reorganization will get to the floor of the House before adjournment. Says Rosson, "a subcommittee needs to work on the bill, but it will probably be out of committee next week."

Senator Watson's bill will reorganize the 71st, 124th, 33rd, 35th, 38th, Second 38th, 63rd, 119th, 49th and the 79th Judicial Districts and create the 229th, 236th, 232nd, 159th, 158th, 246th, 244th 243rd, 242nd, 241st, 239th, 237th, 238th, 149th, 168th, 230th, 228th, 227th, 226th, 225th, 194th, 181st and the 192nd Judicial Districts. It also creates or reorganizes the 168th District Court, the 237th District Court and the Court of Domestic Relations for Midland County.

HORSES RUN SLOWLY — Rep. Glenn Kothmann of San Antonio did not even come close in his effort to submit to the voters a proposal for local-option horse race betting.

And the funeral oration of the Kothmann resolution was preached by Rep. David Allred of Wichita Falls. Thirty-three years ago his father, Gov. James V. Allred, kept calling the legislature into special sessions until horse race betting was repealed. So this week's fight by Representative Allred was a rerun of history.

COURTS SPEAK — Finding no reversible error in the court of Civil Appeals, State Supreme Court upheld the annexation by Pasadena of 576 acres on the Houston ship channel. Annexed farm land of Houston Endowment Inc. is surrounded by unannexed oil company holdings and the foundation contended unequal taxation would result.

High court stuck with its decision upholding forfeiture of 5,00 acres of sulphur leases by Cobra Oil and Gas Corporation in Culberson, Pecos and Reeves counties.

A Lubbock prosecutor argued for Supreme Court reversal of the decision that juveniles charged with offenses have the same right as adults to be proven guilty "beyond a reasonable doubt."

OIL ALLOWABLE JUMPED — June oil allowable was booted by Texas Railroad Commission to 63.5 per cent of potential, highest since 1948 when an all-out effort was made to replenish war-depleted stocks.

Allotment tops periods when foreign imports were shut off due to international crises.

Estimated top allowable is 4,187,252, slightly more than the record 4,186,004 of August, 1967, when the Arab-Israeli war flared. But actual production next month probably will be less than that of August, 1967, when a 51 percent factor was in effect. Production figure for June is estimated at 3,258,184, compared with 3,314,00 during the Arab-Israeli crisis.

Maximum allowable for May under 53.8 percent formula, is 3,710,926. Actual production will be about 3,089,660.

Commission Chairman Ben Ramsey said crude stocks are 6.3 milion barrels less than a year ago.

LEASES BRING $3.5 MILLION — Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler reports bids of more than $3.5 million were received from mineral leases on far West Texas lands of University of Texas. Total brought the University fund to $528,049,139.

Lease sale covered 78,000 acres. Actual acreage leased during the auction totaled 66,123 with an average bonus of $53 per acre. Total of 251 tracts were offered and all but 44 were leased. Tracts were in 11 counties-Gaines, Andrews, Ward, Winkler, Loving, Pecos, Terrell, Reagan, Upton, Crockett and Hudspeth.

Following University lands lease sale, an additional tract of 30,972 acres in Cotton Estate land in Hudspeth and Culberson counties was offered at auction but no bids were received on it.

Three Hereford Men Invited To Directors Meet

Clint Formby, J. H. Sears and Harlan D. Vander Zee of Hereford have been invited to attend the first meeting of directors of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce for District I in Amarillo on Monday at the Reddy Room, Southwestern Public Service Company.

District vice-president C. F. Mlinar of Amarillo will preside at the 2 p. m. coffee meeting. The WTCC program of work will be detailed by vice president Harlan Bridwell of Bridgeport and vice-president John Freeman of Fort Worth will discuss finance and membership plans.

The local director and his role as a representative of the local business and professional members of the WTCC will be discussed by WTCC president J. Fike Godfrey of Spur.

"The local director is a vital link in our communications with and work for the local chambers of commerce and the local business community," Godfrey said. "The success of our entire program depends upon the efforts of the director at the local level and only through these people can we truly represent the entire West Texas area in matters of vital concern to all of us," he concluded.

Executive vice-president Jack G. Springer and membership director Ralph Duncan, both of Abilene, will attend the district meeting also and assist in the orientation of the directors.

Wilson Buys "Pig Mama"

CHICAGO, ILL. — Wilson & Co., Inc. has purchased the assets of Tuffy Manufacturing Company, Omaha, Nebraska, it was announced by Roy V. Edwards, Wilson president and chief executive officer.

Tuffy produces equipment that automatically feeds baby pigs during the three critical weeks following birth. This equipment, sold under the trade name, "Pig Mama," enables the producer to increase the number of surviving pigs in a litter and the number of farrowings possible each year.

In announcing the purchase, Edwards said, "Wilson has always been interested in providing hog producers with the research and service which will enable them to increase both production and profit. We believe that Tuffy's equipment is a major development in this area."

Wilson & Co., Inc. is a subsidiary of Ling-Temco-Vought Inc., Dallas, and has a plant under construction in Hereford.

KIDS GET HOSPITAL PREVIEW

ALBUQUERQUE — St. Joseph's Hospital has come up with a new way to make stays in the hospital more fun for young patients.

The hospital staff conducts preadmission parties twice monthly, when children scheduled for a hospital stay tour the pediatrics unit. They also watch a slide presentation of x-rays & operating room scenes.

The Eiffel Tower, made of bolted iron girders and standing 984 feet high, plus a 20-foot TV antenna, grows seven inches on a sunny summer day.

THEIR OWN THING

TOLEDO, Ohio — A committee formed by Mayor William Ensign to help solve parking and meeting space problems had to delay its first meeting.

It couldn't find a place to meet.

ADDED CARGO

TOLEDO, Ohio — Dorothy Carter told police someone must have borrowed her car overnight.

Police agreed. When she started to work in the early morning she found two television sets, 23 bottles of whisky, two boxes of cigars and a locked tool box, all strange items, inside the car.

Police picked up the loot and waited for someone to report a theft.

Suspense Novel Is Set In France

A suspense novel set in France and a story of two young Quakers in the Civil War Period are two new books now available at the Deaf Smith County Library.

SHADOWS WAITING, by ANNE ELIOT. . . The Chateau of Laurais looked stately yet welcoming in the clear moonlight as Jenny Warren approached it in her little car one evening in June. She knew that the romantic building held many treasures and secrets: secrets she was determined to penetrate, if only because it would please her beloved Oliver, back in Boston.

Sent to France on an ample budget by the terms of her aunt's will, Jenny had decided she would go to stay at Laurais, meet the young owner, and catalog for herself the fine porcelains and other art objects he had been sending to Oliver to be sold in America. Within a few days she realized that her role in the chateau was more than that. She had been shot at in the woods, her room had been searched, and she had been warned to leave Laurais or face the consequences. Who was her enemy? Was it Dr. Collomore, the saturnine art expert, the blond German Valkyrie who was her fellow guest, her handsome host, or his difficult lawyer friend who wanted to sell the whole collection at auction? Where was the priceless Book of Hours, the real object of her quest?

Suspense mounts as Jenny finds herself embroiled in an intrigue of deception danger and romance.

These further adventures of Jess and Eliza Birdwell, the beloved hero and heroine of The Friendly Persuasion, are cause for celebration to the millions who have met them in Jessamyn West's memorable book or in its enduring film, of which Miss West was co-author. Now their world comes vibrantly alive once more in EXCEPT FOR ME AND THEE.

Here are those gallant Quakers, young and in love, meeting the challenges of nature and man as the growing family travels westward, then encountering the bitterness and savagery that explode into the Civil War, later guiding their children through the confusing aftermath, and, finally, looking at their world with bittersweet maturity. For all its fascinating differences, their world confronts dilemas strikingly contemporary — youthful rebellion, racial intolerance, social inequity, and warfare's misery. To each, Miss West brings deep and meaningful insights.

And she brings more in the many moments of spirited comedy and gentle humor that are equally a part of living and so natural to this appealing couple and their family.

Here, then, are full measures of joy and sadness, tenderness and brutality, hope and despair-a sweeping spectrum of human experience ranging continuously through this compelling story. Its beauty and wisdom, merged into the swift narrative, bear the hallmark of its distinguished author. Its readers will be delighted, will be moved, and will long remember EXCEPT FOR ME AND THEE.

CURIOUS CRITTER — This racoon, found by the police department last week, seemed to have a good time wherever he was taken, always getting his nose into something. Found on Ave. K, the racoon had a collar around his neck indicating he was someone's pet, but the police department did not know whose animal it was. —Staff Photo

Texan Wins Top USDA Award

WASHINGTON, D. C. — John O. Barnes, Assistant Texas State Director of the Farmers Home Administration, received the coveted Superior Service Award of the U. S. Department of Agriculture from Secretary of Agriculture Clifford M. Hardin.

In ceremonies at the Sylvan Theatre adjacent to the Washington Monument, Barnes was cited "for superlative leadership to the Farmers Home Administration during a critical period when the State Director was disabled."

Barnes is one of five selected for the award from among the 6,500 employees of his agency.

Barnes, 48, took full responsibility for direction of the Farmers Home Administration program in Texas, which includes a staff of 430 people, when former State Director Lester J. Cappleman was severely injured in an automobile accident last June and was away from his duties for several months.

Because the Texas program accounts for nearly one-tenth of the national loan volume of the USDA rural credit agency, high quality leadership in Texas is essential to success of the agency's programs, the Barnes award nomination noted.

More than $125 million in loans and grants was handled by the Texas Farmers Home Administration office in the last fiscal year, by far the largest state program in the nation. More than 35,000 loans are outstanding for family and community projects.

When confronted with the major challenges facing him as Acting State Director, Barnes could call on more than 16 years of experience with FHA, having joined the agency in 1952 in Jacksonville, Texas. He carried out increasingly responsible posts in Beeville, Carrizo Springs, Corsicana, and Greenville prior to his promotion to Assistant State Director at the Temple headquarters in 1967.

Barnes holds both B. S. and M. A. degrees in Vocational agriculture from Sam Houston State College in Huntsville. He served in the U. S. Marines during World War II and again during the Korean conflict.

James Gouldy is Farmers Home Administration supervisor in Hereford.

Mrs. Figley's Mother Buried

Funeral services for Mrs. Lona Marie Reed, 64, of Spade, mother of Mrs. Gwendolyn Figley of Hereford, were held Wednesday at the Spade Baptist Church with the Rev. J. J. Terry, pastor, officiating. Burial was in the Littlefield Cemetery.

Mrs. Reed was dead on arrival at 8 a.m. Monday at the Littlefield Hospital-Clinic.

A resident of Spade for 22 years, she was a native of Oklahoma.

She is survived by her husband, Frank; one son, Carl of Spade; three other daughters, Mrs. LaVerne Campbell of Uvalde, Mrs. Voncile Hutson of Green Valley, Calif. and Mrs. Charlene Trotter of Littlefield; one brother, Charlie Epps of Sudan; sisters, Mrs. Jane Horn of Bakersville, Calif., Mrs. Ida Bates and Mrs. Lela Griggs, both of Modesto, Calif., Mrs. Johnny Sewell and Mrs. Lovona Shipey, both of Littlefield; 16 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Referendum Results Announced

Cotton producers of Deaf Smith County, in a referendum held by mail May 2 through May 9, voted not to sell or ease their cotton allotments outside the county in 1970.

There was a total of 374 producers who cast ballots in this referendum, of which 101 voted in favor of transfers and 273 voted against transfers. A vote by at least two thirds of the voters voting in the referendum would have been required before outside county sales and leases would have been in effect.

This vote will not affect the transfer of upland cotton allotments by sale or lease from one farm to another within the county, and it will not affect transfers across county lines from one farm owner to another farm owned or operated by the same person. Both of these kind of transfers are already provided by law.

The Light Touch
by RALPH OWENS

Engineers are very resourceful people. They couldn't open a Pullman window, so they air-conditioned the train.

Acquaintance: a person whom we know well enough to borrow from, but not well enough to lend to.

Then there was the hippie wife who told a surprise guest, "Next time phone before you come, so I can have a chance to mess up the house."

A man owes it to himself to become successful — after that he owes it to the Bureau of Internal Revenue.

We owe you our full attention to your housing needs, and that's what we promise at Justice Realtors.
