Texas GOP Files Formal Contest

AUSTIN (AP)— Texas Republicans filed today a formal contest before the State Canvassing Board challenging the Democrats' 46,233-vote margin in the Nov. 8 election.

Hardy Hollers, Austin lawyer, said he would ask later in the day for a chance to present arguments to the three-man board alleging mishandling of vote counts in several counties, including Starr and Duval.

Secretary of State Zollie Steakley said the board would have no comment at once.

The Republicans alleged a number of vote counting violations.

"Specifically and by way of partial illustration, in many boxes the returns show more votes counted for president and vice president than there were voters listed on the actual voter list or poll list of those who cast ballots in said general election," the notice of contest said.

LOPSIDED

The notice cited an instance in Precinct 23, Angelina County, where returns showed 86 voters but 147 votes cast for John Kennedy and 24 for Richard Nixon.

It cited Precinct 15, Lee County, where there were 39 voters but 64 votes counted for the presidential nominees.

In Dawson Precinct of Navarro County, the poll list showed 479 voters with a vote of 315 for the Democratic nominees and 219 for the GOP nominees.

In Winkler Precinct of Navarro County the poll list showed 36 votes, but judges counted 27 for Kennedy, 9 for Nixon, and 9 more for other presidential nominees.

In Precinct 3, Marion County, 91 voters were on the poll list with 56 for Kennedy and 41 for Nixon.

In Precinct 10, Marion County, the poll list showed 108 voters but returns had 92 for Kennedy, 26 for Nixon and 2 for other nominees.

UNMARKED

The contest notice said that in some instances voters left either the Democratic or Republican nominees unmarked on ballots and at the same time failed to mark out either Constitution or Prohibition nominees.

"Some judges disqualified said ballots and refused to count them; other judges counted such ballots for the major party (Republican or Democratic) not stricken out; still other election judges recognized the incompleteness of ballots with only one party stricken out and proceeded to alter the ballots (illegally) by striking out the Constitution and (or) Prohibition party columns and then counting the ballots," the contest notice alleged.

The notice repeated GOP allegations that more than 100,000 voters were disfranchised due to "the statewide inconsistent legal theory used by election judges" when counting ballots.

STARR COUNTY

The contest referred to Starr County returns which had been used as an unsuccessful basis in asking the attorney general for an investigation. The original Republican protest, which they said was based on a statement signed by 18 persons, said Starr County returns to the Texas Election Bureau showed that Republican nominees for president, vice president, governor and U.S. Senate each received exactly 284 votes in Starr County. However, the Election Board said last Friday that official county returns showed 280 votes each for Nixon and Lodge, and 170 for the U.S. Senate nominee.

The contest said the official returns from Starr County "would indicate that after the protest of said citizens had been made public, the returns were either illegally changed or there was a gross error on the part of said election officials."

AND DUVAL

The GOP contest also alleged that in Precinct 2, Duval County, election judges violated state laws by instructing Latin American voters in Spanish "and in instances the voters were intimidated and coerced by the presence of election judges and others inside to the polling places wearing side arms."

The contestants added "that a re-count of votes at the general election for the presidential candidates in accordance with the laws of this state, will disclose that the results will be different and that the majority of voters in the State of Texas, or in all events the greatest number of voters, in truth and in fact voted for the Republican nominees for president and vice president."

The GOP arguments set the stage for possible federal court action by alleging that refusal of a recount would violate the 14th Amendment which guarantees citizens the right to equal protection under the law and in the courts.

Coahoma Bank Hearing Set

State Banking Commissioner J. M. Falkner announced today that the State Banking Board will hear the application for a new state bank at Coahoma on Dec. 3 in Austin.

Two applications are to be heard on the same date, the commissioner said. In addition to the Coahoma application, the one from Hitchcock is also slated for hearing.

The organizers of the proposed Coahoma bank conferred with examiners from the State Banking Department some days ago at Coahoma. The examiners said they would complete their investigation of conditions in Coahoma and that the date for application hearing would be set.

Ed Carpenter, who is to be chairman of the board of the new bank if it is organized, said that most of the officers and board members will attend the application hearing.

Apalachin Course May Be Up To Jack

NEW YORK (AP) — The Kennedy administration may have to decide whether to appeal the dismissal of conspiracy convictions against 20 delegates to the 1957 underworld convention at Apalachin, N.Y.

The U.S. Court of Appeals in a unanimous decision Monday dismissed the cases, ruling that the government had failed to prove its charge.

The three-man court called the government's case a "boot strap operation" based on "crash methods."

Lamesans May Request City Government Change

LAMESA (SC) — Approximately 20 petitions are being circulated in Lamesa, seeking a special election to oust the city manager form of government in favor of a mayor-city council type. The petitions were drawn as a result of a meeting of 40 proponents during the weekend.

A spokesman, who requested that his name not be used in connection with the campaign at this time, indicated Monday that the petitions had already obtained a sufficient number of signatures to force the election and they would be presented at the next regular council meeting on Dec. 5.

Ten per cent of the qualified city voters must sign the petitions and the proponents are striving for 700 signatures, which they believe will be available by Nov. 30.

The petitions also request the election of a city judge, presently an appointive position, and for redistricting Lamesa into four areas with a councilman in each and for the election of a mayor-at-large.

Mayor Bowers Purcell has scored the proposal as "too ridiculous to talk about" and added, "I've never been in favor of going backwards and don't believe the citizens of Lamesa want this type of government".

Proponents say the move is not a step backward, but a move toward 52 per cent of the American cities that have city council-mayor governments. El Paso and Houston are included in the majority and Purcell commented, "That's where your corrupted cliques get started".

The mayor's salary as outlined in the petitions, would be set at $6,000 a year or a maximum of 60 cents per capita. The city manager's salary here now is $10,800 per year, plus expenses.

The four council positions, under the petitions' criteria, would draw $100-a-month instead of the nominal $10-a-month presently being paid.

Purcell commented Monday, "I won't call a special election even if the council does get the petitions. I'll just excuse myself from the meeting."

Big Vote Turnout Sought On Bonds

Activities were being stepped up this week, in an endeavor to get out a large vote Saturday in the referendum on issuance of county road bonds.

The county is proposing to issue $150,000 in bonds to finance purchase of right of way on four major road projects—three of them already in the state's construction program.

Money derived from the bonds would go for widening U.S. 87 north into a four-lane artery for the extension of FM 700 north from Interstate 20 to State 350 (Snyder Highway); paving FM 846 (the Hamlin road) to connect up other farm roads in the northern part of the county. In the future is the widening of FM 700 west from U.S. 87.

State plans are to spend something close to 2¼ million dollars on these projects (this includes a four-lane overpass across the T&P tracks at Gregg) when the right of way is provided.

A brochure explaining the projects and their value to the county was being mailed this week. Arrangements for the mailing piece were handled by the Chamber of Commerce highway committee.

Members of the committee are appearing at Service Club meetings to outline the need for the bonds and urging a large turnout at the polls. Speakers have appeared, or will appear, before the JayCees, Optimists, Evening Lions Club, Rotary, Downtown Lions Club, Kiwanis and American Business Club.

In addition, a telephone campaign is mapped for Friday and Saturday.

The bond issue must be approved by a two-thirds majority hence its advocates are stressing the need for a large vote turnout.

Deadline for absentee voting in the election is at 5 p.m. today. Seven absentee ballots had been cast at noon.

Historic Capitol Flag Will Fly When Mahon Visits High School

An historical flag will be raised at Big Spring High School Wednesday, highlighting a busy day for Rep. George Mahon.

Starting with his appearance at the schools, Rep. Mahon will speak to a combined meeting of service clubs at noon in the Settles, and also will address the graduating class at Webb AFB.

The 50-star flag which was flown over the capitol building in Washington D. C. last July 4, the first day the 50-star national emblem became official, will be given to the Big Spring High School by Rep. Mahon.

John Smith, high school principal, said a Webb AFB color guard will be on hand and the colors will be raised in special ceremonies following the congressman's talk. Students will also be given the opportunity to participate in a question and answer period with Mahon.

The school assembly will get under way at 9:45 a.m.

At noon, Mahon will address the Downtown Lion's Club in the Settles Hotel ballroom. Lions have invited all Big Spring residents to attend the meeting.

In his last public appearance of the day, Mahon will speak to the graduating class at Webb AFB, Class 61-D. These ceremonies are scheduled for 7:30 p.m. in the Webb AFB chapel. The class includes 53 officers.

Mahon is chairman of the House subcommittee on military appropriations and has a real interest in the nation's defense.

The congressman may also include the special "get-acquainted" dinner for Big Spring businessmen and Webb AFB officers on his agenda. It is slated today at the Cosden Country Club, starting with a social at 6:30 p.m. and dinner an hour later.

Angry Mothers Eye School In New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Police jostled a path through angry, yelling white mothers today so a Protestant minister could escort his five-year-old daughter into an integrated New Orleans school.

Blockading mothers harangued two white mothers who had taken their children into William Frantz School, beat and kicked the women's car in frustration as the pair drove off.

"They should beat her 'til she can't stand up," screamed one woman.

Despite the human barrier, the boycott at William Frantz School weakened. Two white children went to that school with the one Negro first-grader Monday. Four entered and stayed for classes today.

The boycott held firm at the other integrated school, McDonogh No. 19. School officials said no white child showed up for today's classes.

VISITED

A 10-woman committee visited the home of a white mother who insisted on sending her child to William Frantz.

The committee refused to discuss the interview with the balking mother.

"All of us mothers are going to have to stick together," said one committeewoman. "We're going to get the job done."

The impassioned blockade may well be a major strategy of segregationists in the school fight. A 1922 Louisiana law says a school with an average attendance of 10 or less may not be kept open.

A young white Methodist minister, the Rev. Lloyd Foreman, incited most of the wrath of the mothers. His daughter attends the William Frantz kindergarten.

They screamed questions and insults at the minister as he stood with a protective arm about his daughter before police cracked the picket line.

JEERING

In the pattern of events since integration began in New Orleans public schools two weeks ago, white spectators jeered and hooted as U.S. marshals accompanied the four Negro students into the two schools.

A cold wave that tumbled the temperature into the 50s tempered the staying powers of the picketing mothers. An hour after school opened, the number of blockading mothers had dwindled to a handful.

The partially shattered truce remained uneasy while the city awaited a ruling by a three-judge federal court on a plea to suspend racial integration in New Orleans schools and to abandon the idea all together.

The two previously all-white elementary schools which dropped racial barriers Nov. 14 to admit four first-grade Negro girls were virtually segregated again Monday as classes started after a week-long holiday.

ONLY STUDENTS

The three Negro pupils were the only students at McDonogh No. 19. At William Frantz, two white students attended along with a lone Negro.

Fourth, fifth and sixth graders were packed off to segregated public schools in nearby St. Bernard Parish under a transfer arrangement set up by the parish's political czar, archsegregationist Leander H. Perez Sr.

Elsewhere in the city's schools, truancy and absence dropped to nearly normal for a Monday.

Police Supt. Joseph I. Giarrusso had only a handful of men stationed at the two schools but he had "ample reserves" nearby in case of trouble.

At McDonogh, a hard core of mothers said they intended to station themselves at the school each day to make sure no other white parents take their children back to school.

Asked how they intended to stop anyone determined to re-enter their children, one woman replied: "We'll get them. They just better not try."

"We don't want any violence or trouble," said Mrs. Raymond Arbon, 31. "We just don't want integrated schools."

SANTA'S SLEIGH POPULAR
Youngsters crowd on for around the block ride

A Few Are Scared, But Most Children Enjoy Santa's Sleigh

Some cry, others are mystified, but most Big Spring youngsters were having a wonderful time this morning talking to Santa Claus and riding in his huge sleigh.

Santa is visiting the city in new style. His giant sleigh cost more than a Cadillac and is equipped with a music box and a motor to help the six Shetland ponies pull it up steep inclines.

Santa takes about 60 youngsters for a ride at a time, talking to them along the route. For youngsters missing the trip today, he will return Wednesday and youngsters are invited to visit his headquarters and ride in the sleigh.

The trips will begin at 10 a.m. and continue until 6 p.m. The depot is located on the south side of the courthouse square, across from the Ritz Theater.

Santa urges parents to bring their children down early in the day to offset the after-school rush. He assures parents that experienced personnel are on hand to insure safety for the children.

The sleigh ride route circles the block south of the depot.

Santa's visit here was arranged by the retail committee of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce.

Security State Pays Dividend

A cash dividend of 10 per cent will be paid next month on Security State Bank stock.

Directors of the bank, in a meeting Monday, voted the dividend. It will be paid December 15 to shareholders of record December 1.

Security State paid a stock dividend of 10 per cent last year, and now has 11,000 shares outstanding. The action last year increased capitalization to $137,500 capital and $137,500 surplus.

This year's dividend is the first cash payment authorized since Security State was organized in the summer of 1956. Larson Lloyd, executive vice president, said the bank has enjoyed a "very good year."

Doomed Man Claims Innocence

HUNTSVILLE (AP) — Samuel Holmes Jr., 22, an Austin Negro, insisted today he is innocent of the charge of raping a white Austin grandmother in January 1959 for which he was given the death penalty.

Holmes is scheduled to die in the electric chair at midnight.

Seated on his bunk in death row, Holmes declared, "I have placed my faith in God hoping he would show the people the right way so that the truth could come out.

"The truth has not been revealed to the people. If I die and they learn the truth, what will the people have to say then?"

Holmes criticized the courts but said, "There is nothing I can do about this death sentence and I am ready to die."

Holmes smiled during the brief interview.

Asked what he wanted for his last meal, he merely shook his head and said, "I'll take the regular meal they serve everybody else."

"I am not afraid," Holmes added. "It takes more than this to scare me."

$250,000 Fire At Fairfield

FAIRFIELD, Tex. (AP) — A downtown fire at two motor companies caused an estimated $250,000 damage today at this Central Texas town.

The Fairfield Motor Co. was burned out, but all vehicles except two pickup trucks were saved.

The adjoining Parker Chevrolet Co. lost its garage, and sustained water damage to the showrooms and offices. Vehicles there also were saved.

The fire broke out in the Parker concern at about 8 a.m. after a wrecker towed a stalled bottled gas truck into the garage. The wrecker then backed into the gas truck, broke off a valve and the tank started spewing gas, which caught fire as employes fled.

The fire was controlled in about an hour by firemen from Fairfield (pop: 1,800), Corsicana, Mexia and Teague. Fire Marshal J. E. Lott made the damage estimate.

The motor companies were at the southwest corner of the Freestone County courthouse square.

No injuries were reported.

Fairfield is a Central Texas town of about 1,750 between Mexia and Palestine.

Businessmen Host WAFB Officers

A group of Big Spring businessmen will host officers of Webb AFB today at 6:30 p.m. in the Cosden Country Club in the first of a series of quarterly "get acquainted" meetings.

About 150 are expected to be on hand. No program is planned for the dinner meeting, as emphasis will be on discussion and fellowship.

The dinner was planned by the special events committee of the Base-Community division of the Chamber of Commerce.

Half Of 32 Aboard Are Believed Dead

LAMONT, Alta. (AP)—A Canadian National Railways train struck a loaded school bus here today and a school official said about half the 32 children aboard were killed.

The crash came in subzero weather at a grade crossing a quarter mile from the railroad station of Lamont, 45 miles northeast of Edmonton, Alberta's capital.

Harry Sharuk, chairman of the Lamont School Board, gave the estimate that half the children died. Others were injured.

The wreckage was carried down the track into the town itself and the victims were strewn along the right-of-way.

Frank Butney, driver of the bus, survived.

M. Woycenko, secretary-treasurer of the school division, said the train — a through freight — struck the bus "smack in the middle."

He said the students were mainly from the Chipman district, 10 miles southeast of Lamont.

They attended grades 10, 11 and 12.

Royal Canadian Mounted Police and rescue workers rushed to the scene to pry children free of the wreckage.

The injured were taken to the Lamont Hospital, where officials said they were too busy to give details.

FBI Agents Net Hunted Kidnaper

The agents said Marrone—driving his own 1953 automobile—carried currency identified as part of the $200,000 ransom paid by the Alessio family to secure his release.

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — Congolese soldiers went through the African quarter today, hunting for ex-Premier Patrice Lumumba.

His top lieutenants there were reported organizing to restore him to power.

Final plans were to be made this afternoon for the last push drive in the United Fund campaign, slated for Thursday. A 4 p.m. meeting in the Chamber of Commerce offices was to schedule broadcasting work in the one day push.

The United Fund drive has reached 91 per cent of its $98,210 goal and 12 welfare and guidance organizations are counting on the campaign going over the top Thursday. These organizations depend in whole or in part on financial support from the annual campaign.

Residents will be urged to dig a little deeper to assist the campaign in meeting the needs of these organizations. Randall Polk is president of the campaign and Floyd Parsons is campaign chairman.

All These Churches

The man on the street must be disheartened when he sees various displays of interdenominational cooperation, and yet each group continuing to hold out as a separate body in the community.

Tom Tarbet, preaching member (Church of Christ, West Highway 80).

If churches can forget their differences for three weeks while they work together during a "big campaign," why can they not do so every week in the year?

You ask, "Why does the Church of Christ hold out as a separate group?"

Because we cannot conscientiously work and worship with the others; not until they can justify their doctrine and practice by the Scriptures. If we could do so for three weeks, then I would urge upon my brethren that we disband and join one of the other groups.

Also, if any church will justify by the Scriptures what they are and what they do, then we will go with them permanently. Or we will prove the Scripturalness of the Church of Christ, and let them come with us permanently. Is that fair? —Adv.

U.S.-German Money Talks To Continue

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower says American-West German negotiations will continue on ways to improve the U. S. balance of payments position.

But West Germany will not be asked again to pay $600 million annually for maintaining American troops there.

The President said in a statement Monday that he thought the recent discussions in Bonn between West German leaders and Secretary of the Treasury Robert B. Anderson and Undersecretary of State Douglas Dillon were "most useful."

"As a result of these talks there is a greater acceptance of the United States view that there must be a basic improvement in the United States balance of payments position as an essential part of maintaining the free world's financial system, depending as it does upon the dollar as a cornerstone."

Eisenhower's statement obviously took note of published reports that there was a lack of coordination between the Anderson-Dillon mission and Secretary of State Christian A. Herter.

Eisenhower said the instructions had been fully coordinated with Herter as well as with Secretary of Defense Thomas S. Gates Jr. and had been known in advance to the West German government.

The Journal estimated 1960 production at 2,329,917,700 barrels compared to 2,323,420,600 a year ago.

Arkansas was up 100 to 74,650 and Louisiana up 75 to 1,099,950.

Production was unchanged in Texas, 2,460,200 barrels and in New Mexico, 296,700.

AMA Cites Method For Drunk Cases

By FRANK CAREY
Associated Press Science Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—High officials of the American Medical Association today urged a drastic tightening of chemistry standards by which many states seek to establish guilt of drunkenness or drunken driving.

One of the AMA's experts on alcoholism said that if the recommendation is written into state laws, a person could be declared legally drunk by chemical tests alone—ruling out any counter argument by a defense lawyer.

The recommendation came from the AMA's Board of Trustees. The policy-making House of Delegates will consider it tomorrow.

The trustees' recommendation, based on studies by two AMA committees, is that states using chemical tests of blood or breath for alcohol content make these changes in their statutes:

1. Lower by one-third the level of alcohol concentration on which a person can be legally presumed to be under the influence of intoxicants. Specifically, the change would be from 0.15 per cent to 0.10 per cent. The AMA itself first recommended the 0.15 per cent level more than 20 years ago.

2. Change the wording of statutes so that the word "intoxication would be substituted for the present "under the influence."

Dr. Marvin A. Block of Buffalo, N. Y., chairman of the AMA's committee on alocholism, was asked by a reporter to explain the significance of the proposal.

"This means that not only would we have a stricter criterion, but we'd also have real teeth in the drunkenness statutes for the first time," he replied.

"The present phrasing—'under the influence' — is a very vague term which depends on someone's judgment.

"Under the new recommendation, the chemical level of alcohol in the blood or the breath would be enough to convict a man of intoxication. The court wouldn't need any more evidence."

Contending that the 0.10 per cent level is a fair one, Dr. Block said: "People who carry that percentage of alcohol in their blood have their faculties affected. Their reflexes are slowed, their judgment impaired, their inhibitions lowered.

"And this is true even though some people—due to differences in tolerance to alcohol—would appear not to be drunk under such circumstances."

Sentence Makes Sad Sack Of Cat

ALAMEDA, Calif. (AP)—Court-enforced confinement is making a sad sack out of Herman, the once-gay tomcat with the Casanova complex.

He came home from a pet hospital Monday, after a Superior Court injunction banned him from J. H. Cook property, home of some attractive Siamese cats.

"He won't eat," said Herman's owner, Mrs. Russell Bowler. "He just sits and broods."

Herman was under treatment for alley fight injuries Friday when the court issued its order as a result of a suit by the Cooks against the Bowlers, demanding that he be restrained from further visits.

DEAR ABBY

SOLID FOUNDATION

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am 25. I have a son who is 6. He was born out of wedlock. We live with my mother and I work. I have grown fond of a man who is 50. He's the kindest, most considerate man I've ever known. He wants to marry me and adopt my son. He never mentions my past, is good to my son, and you won't believe this, Abby, but he's never gotten fresh or made an indecent suggestion to me. My one experience with "romantic love" was with the baby's father. He ran like a rat when he learned I was pregnant. I think I'll be happy. Can a marriage based on mutual respect and understanding work? Or must there be "romantic love"?

UNDECIDED

DEAR UNDECIDED: I've hear from many couples whose marriages—based on "romantic love"—collapsed in less than a year. No marriage is perfect. Mutual respect and understanding is a solid enough foundation for a lasting marriage.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: My problem is a husband who is going back to his second childhood. I am 57 and he is 59 and we live in a rural community. My husband walks half a mile down the road every morning to catch a ride with a fellow worker who drives right past our door.

The reason my husband goes to this man's house to wait is because he hopes to catch the man's wife in her baby doll pajamas. He has kidded me about this, but I wouldn't put it past him. What action should I follow?

JEALOUS

DEAR JEALOUS: Get yourself a pair of baby doll pajamas.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: We have in our circle of friends a fine man who has a very bad habit. He monopolizes every conversation, in his own home, or anybody else's. He seems unhappy unless he has the floor. We often enjoy the presence of a well-traveled visitor, but we are robbed of the wonderful experiences he has to tell because this man insists on doing all the talking, asking all the questions or changing the subject. He is well-to-do, respected and intelligent, and we wouldn't hurt his feelings for the world. How can we correct him without offending him?

HIS FRIENDS

DEAR FRIENDS: If he is truly "intelligent," do him a favor and tell him, privately. He might be a little "hurt" at first, but if he takes your well-meaning suggestion to heart, he will be more welcome and better loved by all. If you "think the world" of him—tell him.

* * *

CONFIDENTIAL TO "TRYING TO FORGET": Get rid of the letters, pictures and all the little "reminders." The romance is dead, dead, dead!

U.N. Nigerian Troops Kill 10 Rebels In Ambush

ELISABETHVILLE, Katanga (AP)—A detachment of U. N. Nigerian troops killed at least 10 rebel tribesmen in a bloody ambush in this Congo province, the United Nations reported today.

Four Nigerians were wounded in the clash, which occurred Monday near the central Katanga township of Kabondo-Dianda, about 300 miles north of Elisabethville.

The Nigerians were surprised by the tribesmen at a roadblock concealed around a bend in a dirt road.

The tribesmen appeared out of dense bush and began firing on the Nigerians with bows and arrows and rifles.

Three Nigerians were wounded before the rest of the detachment opened fire with Sten guns.

The tribesmen repeatedly swept toward the Nigerian detachment in waves, apparently fearless from drugs. They ignored the withering fire.

Beside the 10 known dead, many tribesmen were wounded.

The Nigerians arrived at the western Katanga air force base of Kamina three days ago and were on their way to the rebel-terrorized town of Manono to fortify that important tin mining town.

Rare Tigress

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—A rare white tigress was en route today to the National Zoological Park in Washington, D. C. The two-year-old tigress, named Mohini, was purchased here despite some Indians' protests that the animal should not be allowed to leave the country.

Iowa Girl Is Step Closer To Her Dreams

CHICAGO (AP)—An Iowa farm girl was a step closer to her dreams today thanks to a blue ribbon on the flank of her prince charming—a 1,050 pound Hereford named Hercy.

Kaye Pollock, 15, of Mount Auburn, Iowa, became the 1960 livestock queen Monday when Hercy, a junior yearling she raised from a calf, was chosen grand champion steer of the International Live Stock Exposition.

Kaye plans to sell her hero at auction Thursday. Grand champions generally bring fancy prices. The 1957 winner was sold for a record $30 a pound.

She wants to use the money to finance her dreams: burning a mortgage on her parents' 640-acre farm; an operation for her mother, Mrs. Ivan Pollock, and a college education for herself. She hopes to become a secretary or an airline stewardess.

Hercy, adjudged best Hereford junior yearling and named top Hereford in the junior class last week, won the grand championship over an original field of more than 1,000 top steers.

The reserve grand champion, P. S. Maximilian, an Aberdeen-Angus, was fitted for the show by Prof. Herman Purdy who is in charge of beef cattle at Penn State.

Hi-Y Clubs Hear Brownrigg

There were about 50 on hand Monday for the Senior Hi-Y Club meeting to hear Earl Brownrigg, Howard County trapper, tell of his experiences. The Junior Hi-Y Club joined the older boys for the program.

Johnny Case, president, presided and Ronnie Suggs introduced the speaker. The meeting was held at the YMCA.

Dawson Judge Dismisses Juvenile Officer Brewer

LAMESA (SC)—Bill Brewer is to be discharged as Dawson County juvenile officer effective Dec. 31, it was revealed in a regular meeting of the commissioners' court here Monday by Judge R. F. Spraberry.

The judge denied to comment on the dismissal of Brewer except to say, "the job was not being performed the way I thought it should be."

The county official stated that some other arrangement may be worked out by the first of the year. He indicated that he has submitted a bill to State Senator Preston Smith and Representative Wesley Roberts that would set up a county juvenile board if passed by the legislature.

Brewer was on hand at the meeting to present his annual report. He ends a year's service on Nov. 30.

The commissioners, however, adopted a hands-off policy and made it clearly understood that they had nothing to do with Brewer's dismissal. The court only sets the salary, they said.

Brewer indicated that he would also tender his resignation to District Judge Truett Smith as the county probation officer, effective Dec. 31.

The proposal Spraberry has submitted would include a board headed by the juvenile judge (Spraberry), an appointed member and the Chief of Police of Lamesa. The board would hire the juvenile officer, who would be directly responsible to the members.

In other business, the court agreed to a joint meeting with Lamesa City Council, but set no definite date. Presumably, the meeting is to discuss the fire protection plan for the county and to work out arrangements for a joint police radio network. Both contracts between the city and county expire on Dec. 31.

Club Requests Meeting Topics

"The relative merits of athletics to school systems", was the subject discussed by the Big Spring Toastmaster's Club Monday, on a local radio station.

Meeting each Monday at 6:30 p.m., Toastmasters will discuss any topic requested, according to Roy Thruston, program chairman. Topic requests may be sent to the Toastmaster's, Wagon Wheel Restaurant.

There will be no meeting Dec. 26.

Minnie Shows Gratitude To Man Who Rescued Her

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Minnie the mole disappeared into a ceiling hole and what a lot of trouble that cat caused.

Minnie had just moved into a new apartment with Mrs. A. Pierce, when the six-year-old calico cat spotted a small opening in the ceiling of the basement laundry room.

The cat crawled into the hole. Then she couldn't get out.

The Pennsylvania Society for Cruelty to Animals was notified.

The group dispatched agent John Tait. Tait barely got his hand through the opening between a cluster of pipes and conduits. All he could do was beckon with one finger to Minnie. But Minnie ignored him.

Armed with hammer and chisel, agent Albert J. Colling was on the scene next. He chiseled and hammered away for nearly four hours, finally opening a hole.

But Minnie had become restless and moved to another part of the ceiling. Colling gave up and went home.

A third SPCA agent, Arthur Fuccio, was summoned to the scene Monday. A carpenter and a plumber also tried their hand. No luck.

John H. Milligan, a Philadelphia Electric Co. construction superintendent, heard about Minnie's plight.

Milligan rushed to the scene, applied a measuring tape to the ceiling, tapped the surface, then said: "Up here."

A hole was cut. Four inches away stood Minnie. She leaped from the ceiling.

Milligan, the man of the hour, was bitten on the hand by Minnie the mole.

Shades Of HST! Reporters Find Kennedy's A Real Walker

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

WASHINGTON (AP) — Shades of former President Harry S. Truman—President-elect John F. Kennedy is a walker, and with a brisk pace that leaves newsmen puffing.

Kennedy has other athletic interests that parallel those of several other presidents.

Like President Eisenhower, he is a golfer and a hunter.

As did President Franklin D. Roosevelt, Kennedy loves to go boating.

In the pattern of President Theodore Roosevelt, he is a horseman and a tennis player—a man with a cannonball serve, says an aide the president-elect defeated the other day.

Beyond all these, Kennedy delights in a game of touch football.

Kennedy's interest in a good brisk walk has been coming to light this week.

Late Monday afternoon he strolled at a rapid pace through Georgetown's picturesque streets from his own home to the residence of Dean Acheson, secretary of state in the Truman administration.

On arrival at Acheson's home, Kennedy jokingly asked panting newsmen whether their blood pressure was up.

Truman used to walk almost every morning, usually with sleepy-eyed reporters and photographers in tow. Today's newsmen have noted that the 43-year-old president-elect doesn't seem to be an early riser, for which they are thankful.

Kennedy also walked three blocks to church last Sunday morning, but his three-year-old daughter was along and that slowed him.

Aides report that Kennedy never has been an avid golfer, but he has played a good bit since the election. One day there was a report he had shot a 37 for nine holes—no duffer's score.

In Texas week before last he went deer hunting for the first time and brought down two bucks. He is an experienced hunter of other game.

The Kennedy family has a sailboat at their Hyannis Port, Mass., summer home and the president-elect has been a boating enthusiast most of his life.

As for his horsemanship, there is no time for riding nowadays. But he did mount a white horse for a few minutes last week during a visit to his mother-in-law's estate at Fairfax, Va.

Then there's touch football — the Kennedy clan's game of games.

Letters Urge Electors To Halt Kennedy

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Letters—including one from the governor of Mississippi—which urged Democratic electors to join a movement at keeping Sen. John F. Kennedy from becoming president, have been received by Bexar County Democratic Chairman James W. Knight.

Knight, one of Texas' 24 Democratic electors, said he mailed the letters to Democratic National Chairman Henry Jackson of Washington.

He said he suggested that Jackson contact electors in Southern states carried by the Democrats and urge them to remain firm in their support of Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson, the party's presidential and vice presidential nominees.

Knight said one letter was from Mississippi Gov. Ross Barnett, calling on Knight to vote with that state's electors for "an American statesman" who believes in constitutional government, states' rights, local self government and segregation of the races."

Barnett's letter, as quoted by Knight, said Mississippi electors would not vote for either of the major presidential candidates so long as they adhere to the platforms of their parties.

Knight said two Alabama electors, on stationery of the Alabama Foundation, of Prairie, Ala., asked him to support U.S. Sens. Harry Byrd, D-Va., and Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., or some other ticket besides that headed by Kennedy and Johnson. He said the electors were J. Bruce Henderson and C. E. Hornsby Jr.

The letter claimed constitutional integrity was traded "for Negro and other unenlightened bloc votes" in the Nov. 8 voting.

A third letter, from Montgomery, Ala., attorney R. L. Harris proposed that Kennedy and Johnson attend a "Southwide meeting" of 119 electors from Southern and border states to discuss issues of interest to those areas. No date or site was specified for the meeting.

Boy Needs Pink Hair For Date

WISBECH, England (AP) — A boy without pink hair is a boy without a girl friend in this country town in Cambridgeshire.

The teen-age rage caught on last week when barber Aubrey Tite started spraying on the pink at 5 shillings 6 pence—77 cents—a shot.

"At first the girls laughed but now they won't go out with any boy who hasn't got pink hair," said David Grange, 18.

He said he expected the craze to sweep right through Britain once the advantages are known.

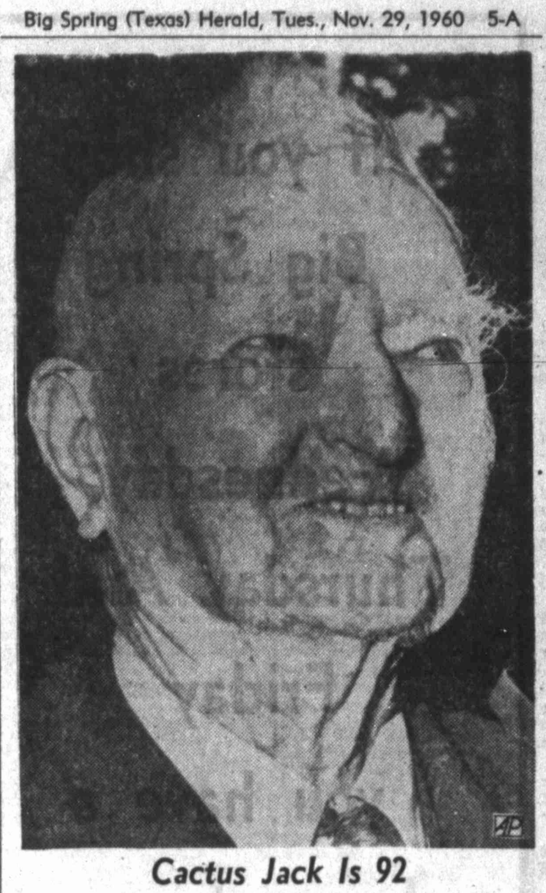

"You see," said David, "it makes you stand out in a crowd."

Barber Tite explained the spray needs to be applied once every two weeks.

"The only trouble," he said, "is that on chaps with dark hair the solution tends to turn their hair scarlet."

Abandon Line

WASHINGTON (AP) — The T&NO Railroad was authorized by the Interstate Commerce Commission Monday to abandon a line between Beaumont and Loeb, Tex. and substitute an operation over Santa Fe tracks between these points.

Season's First Big Storm Rakes U.S.

By The Associated Press

The season's first full-blown snow storm, sweeping eastward across the Great Plains, hammered wide areas of the Midwest today.

A blanket of snow and ice covered many sections of the eastern Plains and upper Mississippi Valley—up to a foot in some places. The late November storm, erupting after a week or more of fairly mild weather, hit hardest from the Dakotas eastward into western lower Michigan.

Gale winds whipped the snow into huge drifts in some areas. Traffic was curtailed, with roads blocked in some sections. Visibility was cut to zero in Grand Forks N.D., by snow driven by winds of 63 m.p.h. Blizzard conditions were reported in sections of the Dakotas and Minnesota.

Power and communication lines were disrupted. Schools were closed in some northern Midwest areas. Gale warnings were posted for all the Great Lakes. Traffic in some cities hit by snow and sleet was bumper-to-bumper for miles.

Temperatures dropped sharply as the stiff winds fanned arctic air across the mid-continent. The icy winds dropped the mercury to far below zero in parts of the Rockies and sent temperatures plunging over most areas eastward through the Mississippi Valley and southward to Texas.

Readings ranged from 14 below zero in Havre, Mont., and -15 in Fraser, Colo., to the teens in the northern and central Plains and the upper Mississippi Valley. They were in the 20s and 30s in most other parts of the cold belt.

The storm headed northeastward, with indications of showers and rain spreading into the Atlantic states as the colder air moves in.

About a foot of snow covered the ground in Duluth, Minn., which with nearby Superior, Wis., reported wind gusts up to 72 m.p.h. Huge waves battered the harbor area of the twin ports and the north shore of Lake Superior.

Water swirled knee-deep into the streets of Grand Marais, some 100 miles north along the shoreline from Duluth. Waves whipped as high as 40 feet when they hit seawalls, battered the lake's north shore from Duluth to the Canadian border.

At least six deaths were attributed to the stormy weather.

In other parts of the country, temperatures ranged from the 30s and 40s in New England to the 50s and 60s, with a few 70-degree marks along the Gulf in Florida.

Cold Wave Hits Texas

By The Associated Press

The most severe cold wave of the season brought hard freezes to the Panhandle and finger-numbing weather to a wide section of Texas Tuesday.

But it failed to live up to its advance billing, falling short by 6 to 10 degrees of reaching the low temperature readings that had been predicted.

The freezing weather early Tuesday extended as far south as Wichita Falls and Abilene. Freezing weather was also reported at Marfa in the Big Bend Country and at El Paso in far West Texas.

The coldest spot before dawn was Dalhart with 16 degrees. Warmest minimum was 57 at Brownsville.

Other lows included Amarillo 20, Lubbock 23, El Paso 27, Abilene 29, Midland and Wichita Falls 30; Brownwood, Dallas and Texarkana 34; Waco 39; Presidio 40; Austin 42; San Antonio and Beaumont 45, Victoria and Houston 46, Laredo 47, Galveston 50 and Corpus Christi 51.

Although freezing temperatures were again predicted for the northern part of the state early Wednesday, the cold wave had apparently delivered its heaviest punch.

A warming trend was expected in the Panhandle Tuesday and warmer weather was predicted for the state Wednesday.

Except for some cloudiness along the coast, skies were clear over the state Tuesday.

Rains were light and widely scattered as the cold dry air of the norther collided with moisture laden clouds Monday. Official totals for the 24 hours ending at 6 p.m. were College Station and Lufkin .09 inches, Austin .05 and San Antonio .02.

Maximum readings Monday ranged from 47 at Dalhart to 85 at Brownsville.

House Interim Members Continue

AUSTIN (AP) — Each member of a house interim committee continues to serve until the next Legislature convenes in January or his successor qualifies by taking the oath of office, the attorney general held Monday.

The opinion was written at the request of Committee Chairman Wesley Roberts of Lamesa of the committee on saving taxes.

Pay Increase

DALLAS (AP)—A 5 per cent pay increase will go to employes of Lone Star Gas Co. and Lone Star Producing Co. starting Dec. 1.

2 Union Men To Prison In Road Scandal

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Two top officials of the Carpenters Union were sentenced to prison in the Indiana highway scandals Monday over the sharp protest of their attorney.

Counsel for Carpenters President Maurice A. Hutcheson and vice President O. William Blaier filed a motion for a new trial just before special Judge M. Walter Bell sentenced them to 2 to 14 years in prison.

Judge Bell then released the defendants on $5,000 bond each and set arguments for Jan. 4 on their motion for a new trial.

Attorney John A. Royse objected strongly to the sentencing of Hutcheson and Blaier because the judge had not yet ruled on the new trial motion.

Hutcheson and Blaier were convicted Oct. 28 of conspiracy and bribery of a state highway department employe in connection with a quick profit of more than $81,000 on highway right-of-way deals in Lake and Wayne counties in 1956.

Judge Bell fined each man $250 and ordered both to pay trial costs. He also barred them from voting or holding public office for five years.

The sentences were mandatory, but the fines could have been any amounts up to $15,000 each. Judge Bell explained he did not levy the maximum fines because Hutcheson and Blaier paid back to the state their profits from the land deals.

Carpenters Treasurer Frank M. Chapman, convicted with Hutcheson and Blaier, died Nov. 16 in Seattle, Wash.

Royse objected to the disenfranchisement of Hutcheson and Blaier and accused the state of squeezing "the last ounce of a pound of flesh in this case."

If the retrial motion should be denied it could form the basis for an appeal to the Indiana Supreme Court. A pending appeal also would block any action to remove Hutcheson and Blaier as union officials under the Landrum-Griffin Act.

Harry O. Doggett, former assistant right-of-way chief of the State Highway Department, faces a charge of accepting bribes from Hutcheson and Blaier.

Seven other men have been convicted in the road scandals.

Airports Tilts With Strange Fog Problem

MEDFORD, Ore. (AP)—Medford Airport is taking steps to eliminate an unusual fog problem.

The field is the second busiest in Oregon, yet during the winter months the fog brings traffic almost to a standstill.

It's called "supercooled fog."

It dips into the valley area around Medford bringing with it temperatures of freezing or below.

Yet, while the valley is cooled and obscured, surrounding hills are clear with temperatures often in the neighborhood of 50 or 60 degrees.

The warm air holds the cool gof in the valley.

The fog-clearing experiment will be done with a weather balloon and dry ice, says airport manager Gil Gujahr.

The dry ice will be suspended from the weather balloon some 100 to 200 feet up on a cord from a vehicle, which will travel the length of the runway.

It is hoped the chemical reaction between dry ice and fog will temporarily clear the air allowing a plane to land.

Gutjahr says the experiment can be tried only with this special type of fog.

United Airlines, which had some 60 flights fouled up by the fog last December, will participate in the experiment.

Japanese Ask Pearl Harbor Sub's Return

HONOLULU, (AP)—The Japanese government would like to get back a midget submarine that failed in its mission on Dec. 7, 1941.

The sub was sunk in 70 feet of water off Pearl Harbor Channel. Navy divers found it last summer.

Masayuki Harigai, Japanese consul general in Honolulu, says his government wants to make the sub a memorial of World War II.

Even if the U.S. government agrees to let it go, no more than a large fraction of the sub can be handed over. The Navy recently cut off the bow and sank it.

The sub's two torpedoes, still "hot," could not be removed from their tubes.

Want To See Inauguration, Eh? Man, It's A Long Line

By ERNEST G. WARREN

WASHINGTON (AP)—Are you planning to attend the presidential inauguration in January?

Thousands of others are, too, and the headaches they are creating for Congress members and party officials shine through this composite of the letters piling up in Washington.

"As you know, my family and I worked awfully hard for the ticket during the campaign. So naturally we want in on the inaugural fun.

"Please send us five tickets for the inaugural ceremonies and six for the inaugural ball, as my daughter will want a dancing partner, and passes for other big doings.

"We don't know Washington so will depend on you to get us three hotel rooms, preferably along the parade route so we can see it from the windows if the weather is bad.

"Incidentally, we may use your office as a sort of 'headquarters' on Jan. 20 until the inaugural gets going. I remember you said to hang my hat there whenever I'm in Washington.

PUNCH LINE

"Sorry we couldn't carry our precinct for you and the ticket. But, to coin a phrase, You can't win 'em all!"

If your letter brings a disappointing answer you might like to know some of the reasons.

In the first place the inaugural ceremonies have two phases:

There is the solemn oath-taking in the specially built court before the recently reconstructed east side of the Capitol. This is under the jurisdiction of a joint Senate-House committee. Seats are free, but at least 50,000 requests are expected for the 18,314 spaces available.

Then there are the attendant spectaculars, such as the two-hour parade from the Capitol to the White House, the Inaugural Ball, the pre-inaugural dinner, the governors' reception and Constitution Hall concert, and the like. These are under direction of a citizens' inaugural committee. They cost money, but even money won't buy space that's already filled.

INVITED GUESTS

Seats in the inaugural stands at the Capitol are reserved for invited guests only.

For his personal and official family your senator will be allotted 12 guest tickets and your representative only 8, leaving precious few for distribution to insistent constituents.

Already, members from Massachusetts and Texas, home states of President-elect John F. Kennedy and Vice President-elect Lyndon B. Johnson, are circularizing colleagues from distant and less concerned states for spare tickets.

It's true, this congressional distribution will not fill the Capitol stands, but think of the other demands. About 1,500 places are assigned to the press, radio and TV personnel who must narrate and visualize this significant event for the world.

Add to these the diplomats and families; the electors; the families of governors; state party leaders, etc.

FIND PLACE?

Well, you say, if we can't see our leaders sworn in at least we can find a place along the two miles of parade route and cheer them as they pass. Standing room, if you can find it, is free. Seats also will be available, for a fee.

Contracts have been let for semipermanent—wooden, that is—spectator stands for 15,000 persons at a cost of $164,016. In addition, 25,000 bleacher-type seats will be put up with another 23,000 to be held in reserve for quick erection if seat sales warrant them.

The costs of all these side events are underwritten by local merchants and associations who hope to get their money back through ticket sales. If there is a loss, as there was in 1957, the underwriters take it. If there is a profit it goes to charity.

In 1957, parade route seats, depending upon location, were priced from $3.50 to $18.75, the latter near the presidential pavilion and reviewing stand in front of the White House. This year the committee hopes to break even at least by filling the stands at lower prices—but what the prices will be has not yet been decided.

INVITATION, TOO

So what about the inaugural ball? This formal affair also is by invitation. And your name must have been on the pre-inaugural committee invitation list since about Oct. 12 when members of Congress were asked to submit names—"with priorities noted."

Ticket prices haven't been fixed for this year. Four years ago they were $30 a couple, or $500 for an eight-person box.

In 1957 there were four simultaneous balls at which the principals and their attendants appeared briefly. Because the Secret Service had such difficulties then in moving their charges through the traffic and crowds from one ball to another, there probably will be just one ball this year—making tickets even harder to get.

OTHER EVENTS

There are a few other events you might get in on if you are in a special category. By invitation only there is the pre-inaugural dinner on Jan. 18, the governors' reception and governors' concert on Jan. 19, and various state society functions—but not what you would call wide open affairs.

What about a place to stay?.

For several weeks, members of Congress and their staffs have been pestering hotels, motels, rooming houses and what-have-you to reserve accommodations for insistent constituents.

Requests in writing are being received but invariably are being referred to a citizens' inaugural housing subcommittee for allocation to groups and individuals.

Hotels have said that regular rates will be maintained but that reservations must be made for four full days—Jan. 17 through Jan. 20—and that payment must be in advance.

Have you a Washington friend with a good rollaway?

Woman Rams Husband's Auto

MEMPHIS, Ten. (AP) — Police said Mary H. Gray, 32, was arrested after deliberately ramming her husband's parked car with her own auto.

Officers said Mrs. Gray reported Monday that she was angry at her husband and told them: "I ran into that car on purpose. I own it and I can run into it if I want to."

She was charged with reckless driving and striking a parked vehicle.

Preacher Urges Protest Against Filming 'Lolita'

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Though he says he realizes "it's the best publicity in the world for a preacher to come out against it," the Rev. George Mauze wants members of his church to protest turning the novel "Lolita" into a movie.

He called the best-seller by Vladimir Nabokov "the dirtiest, filthiest book ever written."

The 39-year-old pastor says a movie version of the book depicting an illicit relationship between a middle-aged man and his 14-year-old stepdaughter would aid the Communist cause by picturing American youth as degenerate.

It also would hurt the morals of young people in this country, he believes.

Venezuelan Troops Move

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — Strict security measures were enforced by troops today as President Romulo Betancourt's moderate Socialist government moved to crush leftist rioting that has raged since Friday.

The rioting, apparently inspired by admirers of Prime Minister Fidel Castro of Cuba, resulted in one person being killed Monday. Altogether four have been killed since the start. Scores have been injured and up to 200 are reported in jail.

The rioting so far has been confined to Caracas, capital of this oil-rich nation. Riot leaders have directed their fiercest attacks on police stations.

Authorities had a free hand under a suspension of civil guarantees.

Army, navy and air force commanders made a special trip to the presidential palace to pledge support to Betancourt, a pipe-smoking intellectual who has tried to steer Venezuela on a moderate Socialist path since taking office two years ago after the ousting of dictator Marcos Perez Jimenez.

Although the rioters have not outlined a specific program, they proclaim their opposition to the government in general terms and shout slogans backing Castro.

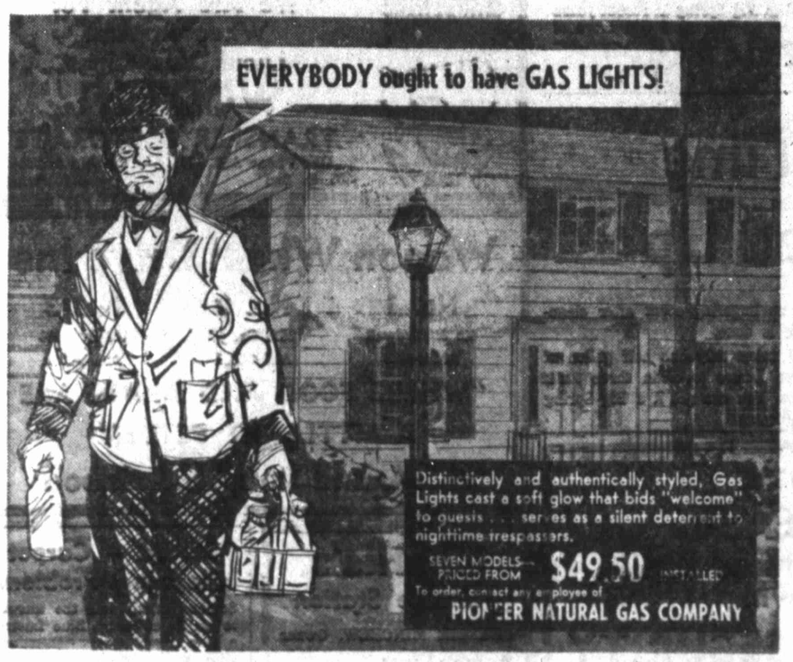

Betancourt charged Communists and the Movement of the Revolutionary Left, a Marxist splinter group, touched off the riots.

Although authorities thought they had the situation under control after army units were flown here from the interior, violence flared again Monday night with an attack on a police station in the capital's Sucre district.

Says GOP Vote Fuss Ridiculous

TEMPLE (AP)—Byron Skelton, Democratic national committeeman, asserted today that Texas Republicans are making themselves ridiculous with misrepresentations about voting frauds.

"Never in the history of our state have the people of Texas seen such poor losers as the Republicans have shown themselves to be in this election," he said. "Every day for the last three weeks they have made charge after charge and claim after claim about fraudulent voting and illegal vote counting, but to this day they haven't produced a single fraudulent vote or a dishonest election official. It's the worst case of sour grapes we have ever witnessed."

It represents the final word in establishments of its kind and stands ready at all times to lend a hand to any one requiring its services.

Modern Way To Deal With Concrete

Clyde McMahon, owner of the McMahon Concrete Company, is justly proud of the equipment his establishment employs. The very latest in mobile concrete mixers such as shown above, is an example. Beasts In Her Kitchen Is Show To Local Housewife

"I went into my kitchen and almost jumped out of my skin," writes a Big Spring resident. "I've always been scared to death of ugly cockroaches, and my sink was literally crawling with them."

"Luckily," she writes, "I found a new brush-on liquid that isn't frightened of roaches, called No-Roach. In fact, it kills roaches and ants better than anything I've ever seen!".

No-Roach is:

(a) Effective against all crawling insects, including the new resistant roaches.

(b) Easy to use.

(c) Safe to use around children and pets.

(d) Stays effective for months with only one application.

When you use No-Roach, there's no need to move dishes, or to breathe harmful sprays. Just brush this colorless liquid liberally on cabinets, baseboards, windowsills, doorsteps, cracks, drainpipes -wherever roaches and ants may enter. To be quite sure, re-apply No-Roach after 4 to 6 weeks. It dries quickly to form an invisible Death Zone for all crawling insects. They walk across it. . . and die within minutes! It stays effective 24 hours a day for months.

No-Roach works against roaches, ants, waterbugs, spiders, silverfish, all crawling insects. Get No-Roach in the pint size for an all-season supply. Available at your favorite drug store or supermarket.

A Squeeze In

Missile Age Brings AF Closures, Including Dyess

WASHINGTON (AP)—Four big air bases will be closed by mid-1962 as the Air Force mixes missile punch with its force of manned aircraft.

Closing of the four bases and a revamping of missions in 15 states will involve the transfer of nearly 16,000 officers and men and the elimination of 2,300 civilian jobs.

Here's what is in the offing:

By June 1961, Mitchell Air Force Base, L.I., N.Y., will close down as an operating base, and the headquarters of the Continental Air Command now located there will move to Robins Base at Macon, Ga.

By June 1962, MacDill at Tampa, Fla., and Chennault at Lake Charles, La., will close down as B47 strategic bomber bases. A small part of MacDill will be retained for reserve training.

Donaldson Base at Greenville, S.C., will lose its regular Air Force status in the spring of 1962. The 63rd Troop Carrier Wing will move to Hunter Air Force Base at Savannah, Ga. Donaldson will be used for training of the 77th Reserve Troop Squadron under the Continental Air Command.

In addition to the two manned bomber wings that will be deactivated at MacDill and Chennault, the B47 Wing remaining at Dyess Base at Abilene, Tex., will also be removed from the active list in January 1962. The Texas base will be used for support of a complex of Atlas intercontinental ballistic missiles and will gain a troop carrier wing.

Also to be deactivated are three separate squadrons now maintained by the Strategic Air Command — the 2nd Air Refueling Squadron at Hunter Base at Savannah, the 3rd Strategic Support Squadron at Barksdale Base at Shreveport, and the 4th Support Squadron at Dyess.

The Air Force said the changes will permit fuller use of bases with more modern facilities.

Senate Race May Become Free-For-All

By RAYMOND HOLBROOK
Associated Press Staff Writer

The special election to fill the U.S. Senate seat to be vacated by Lyndon B. Johnson took on all the aspects of a two-man conservative-liberal contest Monday with the entry of former Sen. William A. Blakley.

But if all the politicians who have been eyeing the race with interest from the sidelines become candidates, it could become a free-for-all offering Texas voters their choice of about every degree of political shading.

Blakley and U.S. Rep. Jim Wright are the only two candidates who have announced formally to date.

In announcing for the special election, Blakley also accepted the interim appointment which Gov. Price Daniel has offered him. A staunch conservative, he served briefly as an interim appointee in 1957, did not enter the special election, and was defeated when he sought a full six-year term against Sen. Ralph Yarborough in 1958.

LIBERAL

Wright was a hard-fighting liberal in the Texas Legislature and when he first went to Congress but more recently has been generally considered a moderate. In a two-man race with Blakley he would undoubtedly have strong liberal support.

The 1957 special election drew a field of 19 candidates but it was a "sudden death" contest with the high man being declared the winner. Since then the election laws have been changed to require a runoff if the high man lacks a majority.

The prospect of having to make two races may dampen the enthusiasm of some potential candidates who are now considering throwing their hat into the ring.

Blakley's entry into the race brought a "it won't affect me" reaction from several possible candidates.

Former Gov. Allan Shivers, who named Blakley to the Senate in 1957, said "It's a wide open race. Any one can run. I will make my decision and announce it later as indicated before." Shivers, who bolted the Democratic ranks to support Republican presidential candidates in 1952, 1956 and this year, has most of his strength in the ranks of ultra-conservatives.

NO CHANGE

Maury Maverick, San Antonio liberal and former state representative, said Blakley's candidacy would not affect his plans.

"I welcome into the race Mr. Blakley, who speaks of the horrors of the federal government but who tried to get all the federal subsidies he can for his Braniff Airways," Maverick said.

State Sen. Henry Gonzalez, also of San Antonio and also a liberal possibility, shrugged off the Blakley announcement.

"I had anticipated as much, and it doesn't have any effect as far as my intentions are concerned," said Gonzalez. "The more the merrier."

Atty. Gen. Will Wilson had no comment and said he doubted whether he would have anything to say anytime soon.

Republican John Tower, who piled up a sizable opposition vote against Johnson in the Nov. 8 general election, is also considered a possible candidate in the special Senate election.

OTHERS

Other members of the Texas House delegation in Washington still being mentioned are Rep. Frank Ikard, Wichita Falls, and Rep. Olin Teague, College Station.

Also seen as possibilities were former Rep. Martin Dies Sr., of Lufkin; John B. Connally of Fort Worth, close friend of Sen. Johnson; former Democratic National committeeman Wright Morrow of Houston; former Congressman Ed Gossett of Dallas; former Texas House Speaker Waggoner Carr of Lubbock; former State Rep. Jack Cox of Breckenridge; former Texas Atty. Gen. John Ben Shepperd of Odessa.

Johnson has not yet announced as to when he will resign his Senate seat to become vice president. The special election cannot be called until after his resignation has been tendered to Daniel.

Blakley, in a news conference, would not say whether he will oppose President-elect John Kennedy's generally liberal policies, saying, "I will take the issues as they come."

CONSERVATIVE

He added that "I do believe the state of Texas is basically conservative and the people here believe in state sovereignty and a strong local government."

Blakley also declared he's a Democrat and always has been, but then said, as he has before, that "I did, of course, support President Eisenhower in his two elections."

He said he voted the straight Democratic ticket in the Nov. 8 general election.

Of his heart attack, Blakley said, "My doctors tell me, in fact, that I'm in better health now than I was before. My work load this year has been one of the heaviest I've ever undertaken."

Lunacy Session Held Today

Regular monthly lunacy court session was conducted at the Big Spring State Hospital on Tuesday morning. Eight applications for admission were before the court. Four had requested jury trials.

County Judge Ed Carpenter; Wayne Burns, county attorney; and Mrs. Pauline Petty, county clerk; represented the state at the hearings.

U.N. Takes Up Money Problem

Cemetery Work Moving Ahead

Maintenance at the city cemetery, neglected in the past, is moving forward at a steady pace with a master plan currently in the mill for beautification and perpetual care.

Plus the current clean-up which has been done by city prison labor, paving of all streets in the cemetery is planned, as is construction of many sidewalks, according to Bruce Dunn, director of public works.

Existing streets are now being covered with caliche as a preparation for asphalt paving, Dunn said. To date, portions of the two east-west streets in the north section of the cemetery have a caliche surface.

City officials are beginning to negotiate with organizations owning cemetery property, such as the Masons and Odd Fellows, for a consistent design of burial plots a perpetual care.

Dunn is working on a master plan of cemetery design which includes proposed streets, sidewalks and landscaping. Thinking at this stage, Dunn said, is to have sections of the cemetery restricted to grass markers for maintenance ease.

The next immediate work slated for the cemetery after the clean up is to paint the fence on the east side of the property, Dunn said.

Palmer Shatters Earnings' Mark

DUNEDIN, Fla. (AP) — Arnold Palmer, already voted Professional golfer-of-the-year, has also become the biggest money winner for one season in the history of the game.

Latest figures released by the Professional Golfers Association list the 30-year-old competitor's earnings for 1960 at $79,200.

The Ligonier, Pa., pro pushed his official PGA winnings for the year to $73,716 by grabbing $2,000 first-place money in Sunday's final round of the Mobile, Ala., Open.

That placed Palmer almost $900 ahead of the 1956 take of Ted Kroll.

Yanks Advance In Net Play

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) —Barry MacKay, Dayton, Ohio, and Earl Buchholz and Chuck McKinley of St. Louis gained the semifinals of the Victorian tennis championships today. They were joined by mike Sangster, 20-year-old Briton.

McKinley won by default when Nicola Pietrangeli of Italy stormed off the court after taking the lead two sets to one. The Italian objected when Referee Al Cornish permitted McKinley to don spikes. McKinley was declared the winner, 9-11, 3-6, 6-0, default.

MacKay crushed Christian Kuhnke from West Germany, 8-6, 6-3, 0-6, 6-3 while Buchholz turned back Rod Laver, the Australian star, 6-4, 1-6, 7-9, 7-5, 6-2. Sangster whipped Bob Howe of Australia 7-5, 6-1, 4-6, 11-13, 6-3.

Buchholz will meet McKinley and MacKay will face Sangster in the semifinal round.

Methodist Meet Slated Friday

Reports from numerous standing commissions embracing the ministry of the church in worship, missions, benevolences and other areas will highlight the annual conference of the Big Spring Methodist District Friday.

The conference will be convened at 10 a.m. Friday at the First Methodist Church in Lamesa by Dr. H. Clyde Smith, district superintendent. The Rev. Weldon Butler is to deliver the annual message during the morning session.

Among those to make reports, said Dr. Smith, are:

There also will be a composite report of church progress from the pastors of the district, said Dr. Smith. The district meeting is held midway in the conference year.

Freeze Should Aid Farmers

The hard freeze, that Howard County cotton farmers wanted to burst the belated cotton bolls in their fields, hit Monday night and Tuesday morning.

The temperature, as forecast, dropped to a chilly 25 degrees. It was the second time this year that a 25 degree reading had been registered. The first defoliated most of the cotton and helped materially in opening bolls which had been stubborn. This new cold spell, it was said, should just about finish the job.

Cotton harvesting is rapidly nearing its finale in the county. Strippers have replaced most of the bracero crews and the lint now being collected is the final remnants of the crop.

Late planted seed in some fields has bolls which have not quite opened. The frost of last night will do the job. Leaves had begun to come out on some plants in the wake of the first frost. The current cold will strip these from the plants.

Three Questioned For Burglary

Three young Negroes were being questioned by police today in connection with the burglary on at least two occasions of a compress quarters apartment.

The youths, one 18-years old and two 16-years old, signed statements following their arrest admitting robbing the apartment of John Martin, Negro laborer, Saturday night. They took about $20, they told police, although Martin claims $43 is missing.

The trio said they entered the apartment, in the 1000 block of N. San Antonio, took the money from the pockets of a pair of pants hanging on the bed, then split the money.

Martin told officers that his apartment was also burglarized on the previous Saturday.

Perez' Condition Called Critical

Andrew Garcia Perez, 22, shot Saturday afternoon in an affray at the El Rancho tavern, was reported as holding his own but as being in a critical condition at the Cowper Hospital and Clinic on Tuesday morning.

Perez suffered extensive damage to the abdominal cavity from the gunshot. He was struck by one bullet fired from a .32 calibre pistol.

Tomas Carreno, 24, who admitted firing the shot, is in the county jail. He has been charged with assault with intent to murder and bond has been set at $3,000. He had not posted bond at noon Tuesday.

$75 Added To Service Fund

The YMCA World Service Fund added $75 to the treasury Sunday through the services of the Mt. Bethel Baptist Choir. Mrs. Jimmie D. Jones, sponsor of the Junior Girl's Tri-Hi-Y, said 150 tickets were sold to the special musical.

All YMCA clubs are working to raise as much money as possible for the World Service program. They are selling candy, Christmas wreaths and other items. Donations also may be made at the YMCA.

Station Operator Allowed Customer A Real Service

Not everyone who stops at a service station wants service. Some want money, as Leo Ashenhurst, attendant at the El Paso station, 221 E. 2nd, discovered Monday afternoon.

The station's cash register was robbed of $56, apparently while Ashenhurst was at work in the grease rack, he told police. He said he did not notice anyone around the building during that time.

The attendant said he was working away from the office for about an hour in mid-afternoon. A customer alerted him to the open and empty cash drawer.

The thieves took a quantity of ones, fives and ten dollar bills in making the haul.

Three other thefts were under police investigation today.

G. C. Heffington, owner of a wrecking yard at 1506 W. 3rd, reported the theft of three car radiators.

Lupe Urias, 611 NE 10th, told police four hub caps and two fender skirts were stolen from his car, and Don Cutter, 110 Wright reported the theft of a spare tire from his car.

Owners Want Care For Pet

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Sanderson, 2401 Morrison, wouldn't be nearly so worried about their Boston terrier, Bullger, if they knew someone was taking care of him.

The pet, almost always clad in a sweater and certainly in collar and harness, got away from the house Saturday without any of them. Bullger always has been a house pet and is not accustomed to cold; moreover he has rheumatism in his back left leg and gives in to it when cold weather comes.

Normally, he's a regular clown, said Mrs. Sanderson. He wags his stubbed tail in such a way he's worn a bald spot on it. The dog is seven years old, and the black, mingled with white, is brindled to some extent. They are anxious to have him back, but they're primarily concerned that he be taken care of during the cold weather.

Two Accidents Checked Today

Two traffic accidents were investigated by police during the past 24 hours, but no injuries were reported.

In a mishap this morning, Andrew Jack Hughes, Odessa, and Sharon Griffin, 2309 Scurry, collided at 23rd and Runnels.

Charles Wayne Nance, 709 W. 15th, and Milus W. Tolbert, 1207 Wood, were in collision at Wood and Rosemont.

Continental Asks Non-Stop Flights

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Continental Airlines Inc. official asked the Civil Aeronautics Board Monday to authorize several non-stop Texas flights to improve Southwestern air traffic.

S. D. Redmond, Continental vice president, urged the board to authorize the airline to operate non-stop between Dallas or Fort Worth and Houston, Austin and San Antonio.

He testified at a hearing that the added competitive stimulus would result in improved service and a substantial development of traffic.

Redmond, noting that Braniff Airways alone has had unrestricted non-stop rights between the cities for 22 years, said the routes need to be more "aggressively developed."

Redmond said Continental proposes to operate short-range jet planes over the Dallas or Fort Worth-Houston and Dallas or Fort Worth-San Antonio routes and jet-powered Viscount IIs over Dallas or Fort Worth-Austin r

In addition, Redmond requ that the CAB permit Contin to continue to serve Austin, Angelo and Wichita Falls, Santa Fe, N.M., and Lat Okla., where local service ca seek to replace Continental.

He also asked authority for tinental to transfer 11 cities cal service carriers in a which, he said, was designe eliminate all DC3 plane opera from the Continental system. cities are Abilene, Big Spring, lege Station-Bryan, Temple Waco, Tex.; Alamogordo, C bad, Clovis, Hobbs and Ros N.M., and Pueblo, Colo.

Heart Association Schedules Meeting

Earnest Guy, executive director of the Texas Heart Association, will address a meeting of the Howard County chapter here on Dec. 6, it was announced today.

The meeting will be at 7:30 p.m. in the Cosden Country Club. It will not be a dinner affair.

Bo Bowen Heads Phone Committee

Miss Bo Bowen will be general chairman of a telephone committee which will function Saturday in reminding citizens to vote in the $150,000 road bond election.

George Liberace's Ex-Wife Among Plane Crash Dead

The plane, missing since May 15 on a flight from Las Vegas, Nev., to Van Nuys, Calif., was found near Mt. Wilson, about 25 miles northeast of Los Angeles.

Others aboard included Ralph Quartarolli, 46, a wealthy Modesto, Calif., cannery owner and pilot; Ross Perrino, 49, a Los Angeles executive, and Perrino's wife, Santina, 45.

Wreckage was scattered over a wide area in nearly inaccessible terrain of the Angeles National Forest.

Liberace's ex-wife, Jayne, 42, divorced her husband, brother of pianist Lee Liberace, in September 1959. Her sister said she and Quartarolli had planned to wed.

Algerian Rebels Kidnap 50 Moslems

ALGIERS (AP)—Algerian rebels kidnaped about 50 Moslems and killed 5 others just inside Algeria on the Tunisian frontier, French sources said today.

The incident occurred Sunday night near the village of M'Raou, which lies between the Tunisian frontier and an electrified wire barrier the French have erected against Tunisian-based rebels.

French artillery killed about ten rebels, the report said. The kidnaped Moslems apparently were taken into Tunisia.

DOCTOR'S ORDERS

Jackie May Have To File Away Those Social Plans

WASHINGTON (AP)—Any plans Mrs. John F. Kennedy has for increasing social activity in the White House will have to be postponed for six months.

That advice from her doctor dashes some of the enthusiastic predictions that came only a week ago from Mrs. Kennedy's new social secretary.

Letitia Baldrige had reported Mrs. Kennedy would be making plenty of news and innovations in the White House starting about three months after the birth of her baby.

But the unexpectedly early arrival of John F. Kennedy Jr. last Friday changes the picture.

Dr. John W. Walsh, who brought baby John into the world four days ago, wants Mrs. Kennedy to take it easy for six months.

He explained that means she'll have to "cut down—but not eliminate" some of the White House social activities.

AMA Official Says Dues Increase Not For Politics

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American Medical Association is considering a dues increase that would add from $1.5 million to $3.5 million a year to its revenues.

The added money would go to increase activities of the association—not to battle expected efforts in Congress to finance medical care for the aged under the Social Security System, a spokesman said.

The AMA strongly opposes that health care plan, supported by President-elect John F. Kennedy, and claimed a share of credit for its defeat this year.

The AMA Board of Trustees disclosed the dues increase proposal Monday and said it would not be acted upon until next June. At that time the AMA House of Delegates is expected to vote on increasing dues from $25 to somewhere between $35 and $50 a year. The association has 143,000 members.

'Witch' Murder

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Two brothers have been arrested here for the murder of their stepmother. They said she was a witch. Police said the murder grew out of ignorance of the two brothers, Leon and Celso Soto Caro. The slaying took place recently on a small ranch in Hidalgo.

5 Holdups

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Five holdups were reported Sunday on the busy highway leading to Cuernavaca. Police said armed men stopped cars, robbed the occupants, and fled to the foothills of the nearby extinct volcano of Ajusco. All victims were Mexicans.

84 Box Cars Run Wild, No One Hurt

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A string of 84 box cars loaded with grain ran wild for five miles through Philadelphia Monday night, but quick thinking by two Pennsylvania Railroad workers prevented serious injury or damage.

Frank W. Bartle, of Lansdale, Pa., a movement director, and Larry Vance, of Collingswood, N.Y., a towerman in the West Philadelphia yards, combined to manipulate switches so that the runaway cars missed any passenger trains or other properties.

Bartle and Vance also routed the runaway cars—by manipulating track control switches—so as to bring them into an upgraded area where they came to a halt. Several passenger trains were stopped a couple of miles away.

Charles M. Campbell, 55, of Camden, N.J., an engineer, and John A. Cooney, 38, of Narberth, Pa., were injured slightly when they jumped from a locomotive just before the runaway freight cars rammed it. They were treated for bruises at Presbyterian Hospital.

A PRR spokesman said, a freight train bound from Buffalo, N.Y., to Jersey City, N.J., stopped at the entrance to the Overbrook station in the West Philadelphia freight yards.

The locomotive and 75 cars pulled into the yards. Thirty-eight cars were left sitting on the main track for the locomotive to return and take them to Jersey City.

The 38 cars drifted one-half mile into the yard and hit the 75 other cars, causing derailment of 15 of them.

Eight derailed cars rammed into the 84 grain cars, which were on another track, jarring the brakes loose and setting them in motion at about 10 miles an hour.

When the runaway cars hit their peak of speed, the PRR spokesman said, they were moving about 40 miles an hour. They came to a stop at an upgrade on the Media branch 19 minutes later.

A Man Who Stands High

Big Spring and Howard County are pleased to have George Mahon, representative of the 19th Congressional District, as a visitor Wednesday.

Rep. Mahon has always stood high in the affections of his constitutents. His innate modesty and Christian character would entitle him to such esteem regardless, but this performance in office had earned him that place.

His constituents will be proud to know that George Mahon is held in equally high regard on a national level, too, because of his ability, his quiet devotion to job, and his perception of the minimum security needs of this country.

Perhaps you noticed in a column written last week by Holmes Alexander that the columnist agreed with Mr. Mahon that it was the legislative branch rather than the executive which made it possible for the Polaris program to be pushed to fruition well ahead of schedule and to also revive the B70 supersonic bomber program.

"It was principally the subcommittee of which you are chairman that made both the Polaris and B70 possible above the budget-conscious Eisenhower Administration," wrote Alexander. (Rep. Mahon has been chairman of the subcommittee on military appropriations since the early days of World War II, except for one term when the GOP was in power. As such he and his panel have stood pat for the airborne alert; they succeeded in accelerating other programs such as the ICBM; they have contended for tighter unification and fiscal control of the military.)

George Mahon is a man of stature, and the nation as well as this district is fortunate to have his services.

Nixon Firmly In Control Of GOP

Based on observations by spokesmen within the party, there are surface signs of a schism within the GOP over whether Richard M. Nixon is to be the head of the Republican party during the next four years.

Ralph McGill, the erudite editor of the Atlanta Constitution, takes notice of these divergent views. He observes that one extreme contends that if Mr. Nixon could not win as vice president and with administration backing, he cannot hope to run successfully four years from now when his party is out of power. His failure, in this view, is laid to ineptitude in hammering at the conservative side of the GOP program.

Mr. McGill is a man of considerable political savvy perception, and he arrives at the opposite conclusion, namely that Mr. Nixon is in fact and will continue to be not only the titular but the active head of the Republican forces.

"Some read into the returns a conservative trend," he wrote in a recent column. "None with a political mind so understands it. Sen. Kennedy carried every state with 14 or more electoral votes with the exception of Ohio and California. He lost to the latter by a very narrow margin.

"The really meaningful, impressive Republican victories were not by the arch conservatives, but by progressives such as Sen. Case of New Jersey, Sen Saltonstall of Mass., and Sen. Smith in Maine. The political conservatism which Sen. Goldwater urges can never have more than a limited field. It is dogma without innovation.

"The Vice President inherited a Republican organization which was, in many areas, poorly prepared and lacking in strength precisely because in 1952, the White House abandoned its plan of progressive party organization in the deal with Sen. Taft and the conservative faction. The effect of this decision, more than any other factor, defeated Mr. Nixon. He now has the party in its healthiest state in years. . ."

Growth Of Profit-Sharing Plans

WASHINGTON, D.C.—In the upcoming Congress, under a history-minded, Labor-oriented, inflation-threatened Kennedy Administration, we are apt to hear more about the labor-management arrangement called profit sharing. In the initial quarter of 1960, Treasury Department figures showed that for the first time the number of plans for profit sharing exceeded those approved for pensions. The score was high—1,328 to 1,184—showing a strong trend.

THE FOUNDER of profit sharing in North America was the first Democratic secretary of the treasury, Albert Gallatin, who served both Jefferson and Madison. A modern Democrat, Senator Stuart Symington, made some of his early reputation in industry as a profit sharer.

Gallatin had the idea that Jeffersonianism ought to permeate the entire American society. He wrote that "the democratic principle upon which our nation is founded would not be restricted to the political processes, but should be applied to the industrial operation as well." Gallatin's own company, the Pennsylvania Glass Works, at New Geneva, kicked back half the "neat" (net) profits to employes, over and above wages.

MOST OF THE 600 profit sharing firms in the U.S. and Canada do it on a cash basis. Sometimes monthly, but often quarterly, semiannually or annually, the company simply slices the melon and gives each worker a piece. This is a morale-booster of instant action. It puts hard money into circulation. It discourages demands for higher wages, which most companies tend to meet by raising prices and by blaming it on labor costs. The companies also like the cash system because the Internal Revenue Service requires no reporting. The only Federal requirement seems to be that the plan comply with the Wage and Hour regulations.

THE OTHER WAY to share profits is under a deferment system. Usually the money goes into retirement plans for male workers at 65 and women workers at 60. There are escape clauses under which money can be withdrawn for emergency. The deferment plan encourages investment and fiscal stability, not to mention good relations between the workers and their management.

Some firms combine the two systems, paying part in cash and withholding the rest by agreement. The Council of Profit Sharing Industries feels that flexibility is paramount. For this reason, the Council runs two services—one for "tailoring" new plans to beginning participants; the other for reviewing older plans in the light of social and economic trends.

THE MAIN FAULT of profit sharing seems to lie in its undeserved reputation of "paternalism." Many labor leaders would rather have a good fight than accept any implication that their bosses know best. But once the union chiefs find out that the incentive system is honest and that productivity is increased painlessly and automatically, they will buy the cash payment plan. The deferred plans take a little more selling.

Actually, there are few instances where profit sharing caused strife, and many instances when profit sharing ended dragged-out wars between workers and owners. The best known example of the latter may be the American Velvet Company vs. the Textile Workers Union of America, AFL-CIO, Local 10. From its inception in 1871 this firm resisted unionization, operated on a seasonal basis, speeded up the workload. In 1938 the firm was closed by a strike and was about to join the migration of textile mills from New England to the South. As a last try, the parties switched to profit sharing in 1940.

SINCE THEN, without a single work stoppage, the workers have received $2,500,000 in cash and have a retirement plan for 300 participants totaling above $1,000,000.

The company still operates in President-elect Kennedy's New England.

Tougher To Be Yourself

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — After years as an accomplished actress, dusty-voiced June Allyson is thoroughly convinced of one thing as she heads toward her second season as a television master of ceremonies.

It's easier to act as someone else than to be yourself.

"It's the hardest thing I ever did," she says of her tour with the Du Pont Show. "It's one thing to immerse yourself in a role and stand before a camera—but it's quite another to come on as yourself.

"You've got nothing to hide behind—no character, no make-believe, it's just you standing out there in your skin, so scared you've got goose pimples."

Frightening Pet

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — George Bouchard, 13, didn't mean to disturb anyone. He just wanted three rolls of pennies.

But when bank teller Peggy McClure looked up and saw George at her window, she screamed and backed away.

George was wearing a 4-foot-9 inch king snake around his neck. Mrs. McClure refused service to George until the snake was removed.

The youth handed the snake to his 11-year-old sister while he completed his business transaction.

GRAND JUNCTION, Colo. (AP) — Grand Junction kids now get tickets for riding bicycles on sidewalks, riding double, parking illegally or having no licenses.

The penalty: The youngsters surrender their bikes for a week to the cops.

Police say this method is more effective than fines.

Kremlin Losing Hold On Party

Recent developments make it clear Moscow is becoming less and less able to impose total discipline upon foreign Communist parties.

This does not mean the Kremlin stands to lose the leadership of the world Communist movement in the foreseeable future. But it does mean Moscow is losing some control and is facing troublesome times.

The Soviet Communist party is running into disobedience and even rebellion in the ranks of the Communist fifth column in a number of areas of the world, and is encountering resentment among many of its partisans.

ONE OF THE important reasons is that the outlook of the Soviet party differs from that of many a Communist in the ranks beyond the Soviet borders.

The Bolshevik seizure of power in Russia took place 43 years ago. Any citizen of the Soviet Union today who is under the age of 60 is likely to have little memory of pre-revolutionary days in Russia.

The revolutionary fire has died away. The Soviet Communist party is made up, in the vast majority, of members of a distinctly privileged class, interested in keeping itself privileged and having singularly conservative views with regard to political and social change inside the U.S.S.R.

THE PARTY NOW is the core and the directing force of a complex, swiftly developing technocracy, faced with all the contradictions inherent in such a society. The need frequently to compromise between the urge for rapid growth and the structures of an inhibiting, rigid doctrine has a profound effect upon Soviet foreign policy and the Communist program to dominate the world.

The revolutionary spirit still lives, however, among the Communist party of China, which came to power only 10 years ago and which now is struggling through development phases passed by the Soviet Union 25 years ago. The Red Chinese insist upon the letter of party dogma. Indeed, they are forced into it as a factor in insuring their continued rule.

CHINA'S Communists also are extremely impatient for the expansion of the revolution abroad by violent means. They scornfully inform the Russians that peace can be insured only through violent struggle and cannot be achieved by "begging" for it from the Western world. If there is to be peace, say the Chinese, then it must be a peace which is imposed upon the United States, a peaceful coexistence which will be forced upon Americans on Communist terms. The notion of peace through negotiations, say the Red Chinese, is strictly an illusion.

Many a Communist in the non-Communist world agrees with Peiping and is chafing at Soviet attitudes. Many a Communist sees himself and his future dreams of power being sacrificed for the aims of Soviet national policy.

Why Husbands Are Kept Waiting

NEW YORK (AP)—Why is it wives love to keep their husbands waiting?

The habit of wifely procrastination probably has annoyed and puzzled more men than all other feminine idosyncrasies put together.

If two women agree to meet at a department store luncheon counter at noon, they miraculously arrive simultaneously as the clock strikes twelve.

Each would get there exactly on time if she had to crawl through snowdrifts on her hands and knees to make it. Neither would think of keeping the other waiting. A woman simply doesn't do that to another woman.

Before marriage a girl is also fairly punctual about meeting her boy friend on time. But once she gets a wedding ring on her finger, she changes almost instantly. From then on she seems to delight in keeping her husband waiting.

If she is to meet him after work, she arrives 45 minutes late—and she doesn't show up out of breath either. If they are leaving from home to go to a party, she dawdles before her mirror while her husband, fully dressed, fumes and paces impatiently in the living room.

An hour after they should have departed she enters and says: "Oh, are you all ready, dear? Why didn't you tell me?"

"I been hollering at you for a full hour," he yelps. But a lot of good it does him.

Year after year he moans, cries, screams, sobs and bellows: "Can't we ever get anywhere on time?" He never quite adjusts to the fact that no, they can't.

The other day a group of office water-cooler philosophers was discussing this strange penchant of wives for making their husbands wait unnecessarily.

Here are some of their views:

"Frankly, I think it's simply a matter of revenge," said one oldtimer. "I went with my wife three years before I decided to give her a break and marry her.

"For three years she didn't know whether she was winning or losing. That was a long time to wait. After marriage she started making me wait. She was just getting even.

"That's the way it is with all wives. They're simply getting revenge for the time we kept 'em dangling."

Another said he didn't think it was that simple.

"Actually it's a kind of feminine psychological warfare," he said. "When a woman keeps you waiting, she knows she has you off balance. It gives her a mental edge."

A third marital veteran said it was all a matter of feminine showmanship.

"Wives don't keep their husbands waiting to punish them," he said. "They just like to arrive late because it is exciting. It gives them a sense of drama."

Well, ladies, what about it? What is the real reason you keep your husbands waiting?

James Marlow, who usually writes this column, is on vacation.

Extreme Fatigue Can Result From Boredom

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

On my desk is this letter from a college freshman, and she's "so tired." She "has no energy."

She writes "I can forget myself for a while, and have a good time, but then I get tense."

She's been to the doctor regularly, and he has given her medication for her thyroid, and tested her metabolism and found it normal. He has assured her that he can't find anything physically wrong.

Can one see the important part of the foregoing remarks? It is the statement about being able to "forget myself for a time—but then I get tense."

There are two major causes of tiredness. One is illness of some sort. The other is the result of being active—you burn up so much energy that you are just plain tired and need some sleep to recoup.

If neither of these is the case, then the answer lies in some other factor—like "nerves," "tension," "psychosomatic discomfort," or any blamed thing you want to call it.

If you are a tired person and you remain unconvinced, invest five minutes in this experiment. And I mean five minutes by the clock, not by guesswork. Hold one hand straight up over your head. Don't move it. Just leave it there. You won't go into any agonies. But after five minutes you'll decide that the second hand on your watch is going slow. You'll have the urge to get that arm down and move it around. You will, in short, discover a faint taste of what it means not to relax—or even have the relaxation that comes with moving.

My first rule for youngsters (and often oldsters, too) in this sort of situation is to urge more activity. For the young, especially, this can be dancing, walking, chopping wood, basketball, skating or anything. It may mean demanding mental exercise which can be bridge, acting in a play, working on the school paper, getting in an argument at the Purple Parrot Soda Fountain, or falling in what college freshmen call love.

But don't stand still or sit still—mentally or physically. Do things with other people. Be interested. Be interesting if you can. Don't—if you get my simile—just sit with one hand up over your head, perfectly static and bored and tired, for five minutes.

If I haven't made my meaning clear, then hold your hand up over your head, without moving, for 10 minutes. If that doesn't prove it, do it for 15. By that time you'll get my point: Extreme fatigue, when there is no physical excuse for it, is the result of the strain of being static. Of being bored. Of not entering into activity that is interesting enough so you don't wear yourself out being "tired."

"Dear Dr. Molner: What about digitalis poisoning? Symptoms, etc.? Would it show on a cardiogram?—M.O."

Symptoms of digitalis poisoning (as contrasted with the beneficial results of the right amount) are such things as nausea, vomiting, diarrhea, and slow or irregular pulse. Yes, the effect can be detected in a cardiogram.

What about constipation? Many can be relieved of it, both mentally and physically, by reading my booklet "The Way To Stop Constipation." For a copy write to Dr. Molner in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope, and 20 cents in coin to cover handling.

Around The Rim

She Wasn't Born Too Soon

Our town had a Carnegie library. When the eccentric Scot with the many dollars diecided to build libraries for towns, someone in our community had enough interest to get his attention.

So he built a rambling, two story stone building to house a library. But Mr. Carnegie did not buy books for the library. That, he felt, was the community's responsibility.

The library operated after a fashion for year after year. It was a sort of community step-child, like the libraries in many towns. The city reluctantly allocated the least possible amount of tax money to it each year. The per capita average, I would imagine, was around 50 cents.

TIME PASSED and the second floor of the building developed cracks. Props were placed at strategic points to keep the walls from collapsing. Finally it got in such bad shape that the second floor was abandoned. Eventually a check was made by an engineer and he condemned the building as unsafe. A lot of talk followed. If the city commissioners could have seen their way clear, they would have abandoned the library entirely. Instead, they compromised by agreeing to peel off the second floor and repair the lower story.

The librarian for perhaps three decades was an old maid. She had part-time help, usually volunteer, but the bulk of the work she did herself. As time passed, she so identified herself with the library that, in her mind, it became her personal property. She jealously guarded its sparse collection of books; religiously saw to it that youngsters who kept a book a day longer than the specified time paid the fine.

IN HER WAY of looking at it, she was the town's literary censor. It was her responsibility, she believed, to see to it that the minds of the library patrons were not contaminated by the written word. This resulted in two developments.

The comparatively few books her limited budget permitted her to buy each year were carefully chosen for their moral tone rather than for any literary value they might offer. Sometimes she would order a book and find, to her horror, that it contained definitely purple passages.

She had two solutions. Certainly she was not going to throw the book away—it represented money. She sometimes concealed it in a most obscure corner and if a patron asked for it, reluctantly produced it. To insure that the very young readers would not get their little grubby fingers on such books, she refused to let them borrow the questionable volumes unless a written note from their parents was presented.

BUT EVEN this was not enough.

So she would go through the books line by line. Where an off - color word appeared, she would mark it out with a heavy black pencil and substitute some harmless work above. Such editing as you might well inagine made the text read rather oddly. She sometimes went even further—if there were too many objectionable words, sentences or phrases, the solution was to carefully cut out that page. This was somewhat disconcerting.

The old lady finally died, and a new librarian took over. He was a little broader - minded, he replaced most of the mutilated books.

That was a long time ago. Even the most scarlet pages which so shocked the old lady in that day would be dull and unimportant today. Words which she carefully obscurred with her black pencil are heard or read today by millions who never even raise an eyebrow.

I wonder what she would do if she had lived until today and was faced by the flood of books in which crude Anglo-Saxon words are commonplace and violent situations found on every page.

She would probably go completely berserk trying to scratch out all of the objectionable phrases and cutting out not only pages but whole chapters.

Europeans Are Mad For Jackie

Was Europe excited about the Presidential elections? Is it hopped up over the impending change of administrations? Is it pleased?

These are a few of the questions that the traveler who has been abroad in recent weeks can expect to have fired at him even as he comes down the ramp from his jet at Idlewild.

The answer to all three inquiries is: YES, indeed!

BUT BEFORE the President-elect steps forward to take a bow, we had best glance over his shoulder to see who is crowding him from the rear. The Kennedy over whom Europeans are dancing in the street is not so much Jack as Jackie.

Europeans think Jackie Kennedy is the greatest thing since the Marshall Plan. It wouldn't surprise me if they asked for her on a long-term loan or under some form of lend-lease—say Jackie for Brigitte Bardot, Gina Lollabrigida and Sophia Loren.

SUCH A REACTION to the Presidential election may surprise you, as it did me. Overnight, not Jack but Jackie's picture appeared on the cover of every magazine from Iceland to Italy, all with captions paying fulsome tribute to her beauty, charm and intellect. And it is a poor day and a poor newspaper that cannot dream up still another reason for printing Jackie's picture.

And all this has been happening, mind you, in the midst of such earth-shaking events as the Arthur Miller-Marilyn Monroe debacle and the illness of that Cleopatra without an asp, Elizabeth Taylor. But Jackie has easily blanketed both.

IN ROME, I caught a glimmer of an explanation of the European infatuation when I met Nicole Fontana. She is one of the three sisters who operate the House of Fontana, which has helped make Italy a great fashion center.

"We are losing a customer," she said, in reference to Mrs. Kennedy, and sighed. "From now on, she will wear only American clothes, I'm certain. But our loss is your gain, for the United States is getting as its First Lady one of the most beautiful young women of our time. She not only has impeccable taste and instinctive chic, but great charm and sweetness as a person."

LATER, IN PARIS, Marc Bohan, the new chief designer at Dior, made an oblique comment on one of Mrs. Kennedy's few campaign statements. That was her insistence that if she spent $30,000 annually for clothes, as charged, she would have to have sable underwear.

"For that much," said Bohan seriously, thinking of Dior prices, "I do not believe she could have sable linings."

For the average American woman tourist, the way to beauty is not through such expensive Houses as that of Fontana and Dior. If there breathes an American woman with soul so dead that she trips off to Europe without confidence that a European haircut will transform her into a dream of beauty, I have yet to meet her.

I SAVED my money and my patience until I reached Rome. There, I had heard, the very Everest of beauty salons, one called Eve, was so great it regularly changed sows' ears into silk purses. So, with high hopes for a miracle, I approached Eve for that hair-do that would transform me.

Now, when in Rome, I am willing to do as the Romans do. I went into Eve's a faded blonde and expected to exit as one, hoping only for a miracle in cut and set. But Eve got me confused with another customer, and I turned out a bedraggled brunette. (And was the other woman surprised to emerge a faded blonde!)

Enough of miracles. It took a half day to get me back to a semi-faded blonde. From now on, I depend on the Old Adam.

Some Things We Can Do In Mexico

By WILLIAM S. WHITE

(For Marquis Childs, on vacation)

MEXICO CITY—Look homeward to this hemisphere for the most immediately critical of all the foreign policy problems with which the new Kennedy Administration must quickly grapple.

The cold war with the Soviet Union is, of course, infinitely larger in the ultimate sense than the crisis which Castro Cuba has created below the Rio Grande. But this second example of international communism's disruptive power almost certainly will be the higher on Kennedy's first world-affairs list of business, for our troubles down here are of the here-and-now kind.

THEY MUST BE dealt with at double time or they may become too inflamed to be dealt with at all, and Mexico under President Adolfo Lopez Mateos can fairly be said to hold the balance of power in Latin America. We must prevail upon him to weight that balance in our favor.

A visit here makes one deeply aware that to checkmate Castro as an effective agent of Communist imperialism we must have the genuine support of other Latin-American powers. Any action against him taken strictly on our own would injure us irreparably. The Mexicans have bitter memories of past American interventions. Though the decisive people here don't like what Castro is doing, they would like even less anything we might do in Cuba which smacked of the big stick.

FROM MANY conversations here with men from President Lopez Mateos downward, it would appear that the beginning of a solution might be found in the way:

1. By an early Kennedy-Lopez Mateos meeting. This correspondent is informed by very high quarters here that Mexico would be pleased if such a conference could be held immediately after Kennedy's inauguration, and Mexico would be pleased indeed if Lopez Mateos and Vice President-elect Lyndon Johnson could meet in the meantime to make the arrangements.

2. BY ALL - OUT American support for Mexican efforts to develop a common market in Latin America. This would help to arrest those economic conditions on which Castro feeds. Thus it would assist in neutralizing Castro. Lopez Mateos grants as much—though he quickly adds that the common market is not being formed for anti-Castro purposes (his emphatic line is that Castroism is "not a Mexican problem but a Cuban problem").

3. BY THE APPOINTMENT of an American ambassador, in succession to the able and retiring Republican Robert C. Hill, holding close personal friendship with Kennedy. What is needed is a man politically strong enough to bypass the State Department careerists. They seem chronically unable to see this area as currently of even more urgent importance to us than Europe.

4. By the exercise of some small sense of responsibility among the Hollywood producers who provide the main picture of the United States here.

FOR AN ILLUSTRATION, the other night at an international film festive in Acapulco the U. S. offering was a hate-sickened thing called "The Fugitive Ones." It presented racial troubles at home in terms so savagely extreme as to revolt even such members of a visiting American press party as hold an advanced civil rights position. In all the world, there could be no more worse place to show such a melodrama, for the Mexicans are infinitely sensitive about racial discrimination.

Some of us walked out of the film early, preferring to seem rude rather than to seem to support such a fantasy of ugliness. And Mexican officials pointedly, and in advance, avoided any association with it.

'ROUND TOWN

With LUCILLE PICKLE

Sunday was the last day of the Thanksgiving holidays, and the visitors left in droves. Not before they got to see the Christmas decorations on the streets though. It seems every year the Yule season is stepped up a bit.

* * *

One of the largest family gatherings was one held in the home of MR. and MRS. CLYDE THOMAS SR. All of the out-of-town members have returned home now but the Gregg Street home was a lively place on Thanksgiving Day and some of the weekend. Forty-eight people, which included children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren were present for the reunion.

From out-of-town were Mr. and MRS. T. R. BAILEY and two children from Odessa; KATHLEEN THOMAS, Tech, Lubbock; MR. and MRS. LANNY HAMBY and baby, San Antonio; MR. and MRS. RAYMOND PLUNKETT (REBECCA) and three children, and MR. and MRS. JOHN McDUFF (PEGGY) and three children, all Fort Worth; MR. and MRS. DON THOMAS and three children, Wichita Falls; MR and MRS. HOWARD SALISBURY (RUTH) and four children, Fort Stockton.

Members of the family who reside here are Mrs. Tracy Roberts, Dr. Clyde Thomas Jr., George, Richard and Ray Thomas.

When the BILL BRIGMANS (Janet Hogan) return to the states early in December from Bentwaters, England, Lt. Brigman will be leaving a championship football team he coached from a cellar position. He had been assigned to the 81st Tactical Fighter Wing and his job was to run the athletic program for Bentwaters and Woodbridge. Lt. Brigman got his grid-iron knowhow at Georgia Tech, where he played quarterback and during his senior year coached the B team backfield.

When he began working with his boys three years ago, he worked hard and the boys tried hard; each year brought more success until this year, his final one at the base, brought the team the third UK crown.

When the Brigmans return to Georgia in December, he may enter a less strenuous field of endeavor. . . perhaps a sporting goods shop.

* * *

MR. and MRS. JERE DEE SINK and their son, David, were here for the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Sledge and Carla Jo. The couple live in Canyon where he is a student in West Texas State College. They had spent Thanksgiving Day in Plains with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dee Sink and Mike.

* * *

Holiday guests in the home of MRS. MORRIS PRAGER, 1710 Harvard, were her son and family, MR. and MRS. JOEL PRAGER, ALAN, ROSEMARY and BARBARA.

Visiting in the home of MR. and MRS. A. J. PRAGER, 1709 Kentucky, were her parents, MR. and MRS. MAX JACOBS, also of Dallas. They are former residents of Big Spring.

* * *

We were happy to hear from MRS. FRANK MARTIN who lives in Terminal telling about their boys, Billy and Buddy. The Martins have just returned from a visit in Louisville, Ky., with the Billy Martins and their two daughters, Dawn and Lisa. Lisa, the younger child, was born in July and this was the first time the grandparents had seen her. Dawn is two years of age.

Word came to the parents from Buddy, who is Pfc. James R. Martin, not to write him any more as he expects to be starting home from Korea about Dec. 3. He has been stationed there for the past year. He should get into San Francisco about Dec. 19 or 20, and of course, the Martins are hoping he'll get home for Christmas. He should get his discharge when he gets back home.

The JOHN KINGS spent the weekend in Big Spring and visited his mother and numerous friends. They make their home in Robert Lee.

* * *

MR. and MRS. W. F. TAYLOR are back home from Cuero and San Antonio. They spent Thanksgiving Day with her brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Claggett, and then went over to San Antonio where they spent a day touring the city.

* * *

J. J. PICKLE and Peggy of Austin spent the weekend here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Pickle, and other relatives.

MR. and MRS. M. C. STULTING returned Sunday night from Fort Worth where they had been on a business trip.

Beatnik Party Given Mu Kappa

Guests sat on cushions while they listened to the reading of poetry Monday evening at the beatnik party given by the Mu Kappa Chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha Sorority. Refreshments were served on the floor to add to the atmosphere of the party.

Mrs. J. W. Dickens and Mrs. Roy Gammon were hostesses for the affair, held in the Dickens home.

During a brief business session, the group voted to buy a full-length mirror to be installed at the Crippled Children's Center.

Announcement was made of the Christmas party slated for Dec. 12, in the home of Mrs. John V. Gregory, 3212 Drexel. Hostesses will be Mrs. Ernie Kennedy and Mrs. Hanson Lawhon.

A special prize was awarded to Sue Smart; Mrs. Monterrey Valentine attended as a guest.

Organize For Glamour

Hope Lange's formula for being glamorous is to organize your grooming and your shopping and enjoy both.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Hope Lange Is A New Type Of Star

By LYDIA LANE

HOLLYWOOD—There is a new type of star rising in Hollywood that is a combination of glamour, acting ability and well-rounded personality. Hope Lange is a perfect example. She has won acclaim as an actress at 20th Century-Fox, is a devoted mother, a fine cook and homemaker and still finds time to look like a movie star.

"Being well-groomed hasn't come easy for me," Hope told me. "When I was younger, there were so many other things I enjoyed doing that I would often dash out of the house feeling ashamed of the way I looked.

"But almost every time I would run into someone who shouldn't have seen me that way. I finally resolved to get with it and be well-groomed and well-dressed."

We were lunching in a chic new French restaurant, Au Petit Jean, in Beverly Hills, and Hope was beautifully dressed in a beige suit which almost matched the color of her hair.

I complimented Hope on her coiffeur, recalling how she'd complained the first time we met about not being able to do a thing with it. "How did you lick that problem?" I wanted to know.

"It was a combination of patience, trial and error," she said. "There was no one dramatic thing, just a combination of many small ones. I couldn't handle my hair when I was modeling in New York, and I almost had to live in the beauty salon. But now, with all the new preparations, I've learned to keep my hair looking nice between weekly appointments.

"I'd be lost with those gigantic rollers. I buy the largest they make, for they give my hair body without a curl and without having to use a quick-set lotion. I spray it just a little after I put my hair up, and in a very short time it's ready to be combed.

"After I've arranged it, I cover my hair with a loose-fitting net cap and play the waves into place with a rat-tail comb. Coaxing my hair just the way I want it is a trick I've recently learned.

"Permanents and I never get along, and I finally gave them up. Too much curl is not at all becoming to me. Now they can be controlled so well that a permanent can be used for body and soft waves without curls.

"I suppose we women all resent the time we spend in the beauty salon. I used to, but I don't fight it any more. I've learned to make my visit a time to read and relax. I sit under the dryer in an air-conditioned shop with a good book, and I leave the shop refreshed."

Our talk turned to clothes. "All my mistakes came from shopping in a hurry, and there were plenty of them. But I've been helped to be organized about my wardrobe—to be an opportunist. When I see something I know is right for me, I buy it, even if I don't need it just then. And when the occasion for this type of dress comes up, I'm already prepared. I even do my Christmas shopping this way. I see something appealing, and I buy it, knowing I'll find someone who will like it.

"It's fun to take advantage of sales. But you must know quality and discriminate between what has value and what has been reduced as a "come on" bargain.

"I'm proud to say I've never fallen for a style just because it was the fashion of the moment. I feel the compulsion to be dressed in what is new expresses insecurity or egotism or both.

"You are well-dressed only when your true personality comes through—when you feel comfortable in what you are wearing and confident that it is becoming."

Watching Hope as she talked, I noted a composure about her you don't often find in Hollywood or other busy cities.

"We have to discoer the things which relax us," Hope explained. "For a while I was trying to accomplish so much that when I wasn't up and doing, I had a sense of guilt. Now I realize that I'm accomplishing something by seeming to do nothing. I'm learning that much-needed lesson of relaxation.

"I try not to tire myself, but when I do and feel exhausted, I enjoy a massage. Or, if it has been mental work, a swim brings me right back up again.

"I find I don't tire out when I enjoy what I'm doing," she said in parting. "A chore takes a lot less out of you when you don't fight it."

Big Crowd Due To See Playoff Battle Here

The Chamber of Commerce and the Quarterback Club, co-sponsors of the upcoming Class AA playoff game here Saturday afternoon with Denver City and Anson, are making plans to handle a crowd upwards to 7,500.

Both teams have had excellent followings in the playoffs to date. Anson and Coleman drew an estimated 8,000 when they clashed in Abilene last Saturday night. Denver City officials said their crowd at Brownfield last week totaled about 6,000.

The starting hour of the contest is 2:30 p.m. The winner meets the survivor in the Olney-Gilmer game for the right to go into the finals.

Denver City is undefeated now in 12 straight games and is the favorite to win the state championship. Anson got off to a relatively slow start but has picked up steam and is currently boasting a 7-4-1 record.

Three sections on each side of the field, which seats 10,000, will be set aside for reserve seats. Tickets for two of the sections on each side will be forwarded to the two cities for sale. The other two will remain here. Tickets can be purchased locally at the Chamber of Commerce office.

The prices will be $1.50 for both reserve seats and general admission and 75 cents for students. The advantage of having a reserve seat is that the holder knows where he is going to sit when he enters the stadium.

Anson will be "home team" in the game and its fans will sit in the west stands.

The officials will be selected by the schools. The game ball will be furnished by the sponsoring organizations, which also will supply the programs (priced at 15 cents each) and the concessions.

Pat Murphy and Don Crockett of the local school's business office were on hand at a meeting held at the Chamber office Monday to lend assurance that the school would supply personnel to stage the game and help in other ways.

River's Funeral Home will supply an ambulance for possible emergency service. Bob Rogers will be the official announcer at the game. Official statistics will be kept by an arbiter on the playing field, in accordance with Texas Interscholastic League rules. The clock on the south end of the playing field will serve as the official time.

Denver City, coached by Don Orr, has scored the amazing total of 525 points this season, compared to the opposition's 73. That averages out to about 48.6 per game.

Last week against Olton, Denver City breezed to a 58-0 victory.

The sensational Gravitt brothers, Bert and Bill, led the Mustangs. Bert has now scored 283 points. Last week against Olton, he gained 222 yards in 13 carries and counted touchdowns on runs of 22, 57 and 71 yards and threw a touchdown pass to end Bucky Johnson, the play covering 18 yards.

In conference (3-AA) play, the Mustangs ran up scores of 90-6 over Slaton, 61-8 over Post, 69-0 over Stanton and 82-6 over Tahoka.

Anson has had a much arder row to hoe. The Tigers lost their opening game to Coleman, 12-0, yet came back and beat that same club when it counted most—in the playoffs, 6-0.

They've also yielded decisions to Winters (20-18), Merkel (20-8) and Albany (34-0) and been tied by Cisco (20-20).

In conference play, Anson shellacked Hamlin, 12-6, Spur, 14-6, mighty Stamford, 19-8, and Haskell, 20-0.

Against Coleman last week, it was nip and tuck until the final four minutes of the game, when 200-pound Ronnie Bailey blasted over from six yards out.

Anson's fired up line held Coleman to 79 yards rushing and the Bluecats were able to make only 36 yards through the air.

Anson is coached by John Howle, who succeeded ex-Big Springer Wayne Bonner at the post after last season.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With TOMMY HART

Sports dialogue:

DARRELL ROYAL, University of Texas coach:

"We might have been able to win our game with Nebraska if we had had our field goal situation organized better, Dan Petty shows you what a little work can do."

* * * *

FURMAN BISHER, Atlanta scribe:

"This will hardly be of comfort to parents of sandlot football players, but a Good Housekeeping report indicates that a boy under 16 is five times as likely to be injured as an 18-year-old."

* * * *

BUD WILKINSON, Oklahoma University coach:

"We're still just a step away from being a good football team. We're not a bad team. If we were, we'd be run off the field every week because everybody is trying to lick us by 50 points."

* * * *

JOHN ROACH, former SMU quarterback, now a star with the St. Louis (football) Cardinals:

"I was so far back on the squad when I was at SMU, that I was the No. 7 quarterback on a squad that had only six teams. I've had a lot to learn, and most of it about passing because 90 per cent of quarterbacking in pro football is passing. Norman Van Brocklin, to me was—and is—a natural because he came out of college and led the league in passing his second year. John Unitas was made, not born. Bobby Layne took time to develop and even now, I believe, he's great more because of his competitiveness than because of mechanical skill as a passer."

* * * *

HOWARD WAITE, athletic trainer for Pittsburgh University:

"I've been in this business 30 years and I have seen coaches from schools all over the country make the same mistakes year after year. If the trainers did this, we'd be out of business."

* * * *

TUG WILSON, commissioner of the Big Ten Conferences:

"The answer to the strength of the Big Ten is in the high schools—the tremendous number of high schools we have playing 11-man football in the Big Ten states. Altogether, there are 2,942 high schools with 152,447 contestants playing 11-man football in the seven Big Ten states. Moreover, the high schools in this area are very progressive. In some suburban areas and in some parts of Ohio the team have staffs of seven or eight coaches. Why in Toledo, they have four high school stadiums that seat in excess of 15,000 each. Here is the only area where you can find the real tough lines in high school. The coaches in the Big Ten are probably the hardest working individuals of any in the university. At 8 o'clock in the morning, they're looking at movies and at 10 o'clock at night they're still in meetings. We'll always be good."

* * * *

JOE KUHARICH, Notre Dame football mentor, discussing his school's miserable season:

"We naturally hate to lose, but we're not disappointed. We've coldly analyzed what has developed, and it's still apparent our problems are about what we expected them to be before this season started. This is the year when we've been caught in the bind. Our No. 1 problem is that we lacked a senior group. The team is made up almost entirely of sophomores and juniors. We don't like to complain. We have no alibies—we've been beaten by good football teams. I think we will bring back those years of excellence."

Most All-SWC Boys Juniors

DALLAS (AP) — Indicative of the brand of football due in the Southwest Conference next season is the fact that most of the players on this year's all-conference team are juniors.

Six of them are on a team that had three unanimous selections.

Arkansas, the conference champion, placed the most men on the team selected for The Associated Press by the eight coaching staffs.

The Razorbacks, who play Duke in the Cotton Bowl Jan. 2, came up with Lance Alworth in the backfield, Wayne Harris at guard and Jim Collier at end.

Harris actually made the team at two positions. He tied E. J. Holub of Texas Tech for center and also got enough votes for guard to make one of those positions.

Ronnie Bull, the Baylor junior; Monte Lee, Texas senior, and Bob Lilly, Texas Christian senior, were the unanimous choices—Bull at a halfback post, Lee at guard and Lilly at tackle.

Johnny Burrell, Rice junior, got the other end position.

Jerry Mays played on a team that didn't win a game—Southern Methodist—but he was picked at one of the tackles.

Rounding out the backfield were Jim Saxton of Texas and Roland Jackson of Rice.

Five Track Groups Withdraw From TRA

By JOHN CHANDLER

NEW YORK (AP) — The Thoroughbred Racing Associations, Inc., a group which makes up a majority of the nation's major horse racing tracks, was shaken to its foundations today by the withdrawal of five track groups.

It was the culimination of a long-standing feud with Spencer J. Drayton, TRA executive vice president.

However, the TRA in its 19th annual convention here issued a statement indicating that it would steer a clear road ahead, following its code of standards in spite of the withdrawal Monday of Garden State Park in New Jersey, Hialeah in Florida, and three Chicago tracks, Arlington and Washington parks, and Balmoral which operates in meetings at Washington Park.

The TRA was organized in 1942 and the Thoroughbred Racing Protective Bureau (TRPB) followed in 1946. Drayton came in to head the TRPB, the policing force of TRA tracks.

Drayton was the FBI agent in charge of Chicago who directed the capture of prohibition gangster Roger Touhy.

When Drayton set up the TRPB he saw to it that about 95 per cent of his force were former FBI men.

Perhaps he stepped on a few toes. Eugene Mori, president of Garden State Park and Hialeah, was an original member of the TRA board of directors. So was the late Benjamin F. Lindheimer, whose daughter Mrs. Marjorie Lindheimer Everett heads Washington and Arlington parks. Hubert Howard is head of Balmoral.

The two Chicago tracks at Hialeah, in Miami, helped organize the TRA.

TRA directors interpreted the resignations to a difference in policy concerning the authority given to Drayton, who is also president of the TRPB.

Several years ago at the TRA convention in San Francisco, objections were raised about Drayton's powers. Drayton resigned, but the TRA board refused to accept it and he remained.

The resignations reduced the TRA membership to 43 tracks, all of which contribute roughly $500,000 per year to maintain the racing organization.

John G. Cella, president of the TRA and head of Oaklawn Park at Hot Springs, Ark., said he regretted the five tracks "will not continue to work with us in our national program for the betterment of thoroughbred racing."

In his statement, Cella said the TRA board was satisfied that Drayton had performed outstanding service and "continues to be our best possible executive officer under the president and board of directors of the TRA."

Drayton said that "naturally, I regret the resignations from the TRA. I'm deeply appreciative of the vote of confidence that was given to me by the board of directors and the full membership."

New Dirt At Muny Course Serving A Useful Purpose

Dirt which is being spread on the front nine holes at the municipal golf course is not in the way of an added hazard, but as a prelude to top-notch grass fairways.

The dirt work and planned grass strips of fairways are only part of the golf course improvements which have been under way since summer.

An up-to-date watering system, including sprinklers and a water pump to keep the grass fairways and greens in good shape is completed with the exception of the pump installation. Bruce Dunn, director of public works, said that delay on some parts is holding up installation of the pump.

All the dirt work preparatory to planting grass for the fairways should be complete this week, Dunn said. Winter rye and bermuda grasses will be planted. "The winter rye should come up now to form a turf. It will die in the spring, then the bermuda will sprout."

Dunn said he hopes that the bermuda will be well sodded before any heavy spring rains which could wash away the young grass.

Grass planting could get under way next week, Dunn said, but the date depends on when the water pump is installed. Planting will be after installaton of the pump.

Dunn said that the front nine will be closed to golfers for probably about 30 days once the grass is planted. "This will give the grass a chance to come up and get a good start," he said. Notice of the closing the first nine holes will be announced in advance, Dunn said.

A lot of cleaning up is taking place at the golf course, Dunn said. The "roughs" have been cleared of undesirable plants and trash and the sides of the creek which runs through the course have been smoothed making them negotiable in a car.

Dunn said that he plans to keep the roughs mowed, and added that the re-working of the creek will enable grass to grow on the banks.

When the work is finally finished, Dunn said the front nine will be in first class shape.

Archie Moore Licks Turman

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Old Archie Moore, currently on the NBA black list for failure to defend his world's light heavyweight championship in the required time, decisioned young Buddy Turman Monday night then announced he probably would be back soon.

Moore wants to give Donnie Fleeman, the talkative Texas light heavyweight champion, a chance to wipe the confident grin off his face.

Fleeman appeared on the same card and beat George (Scrap-Iron) Johnson of Oklahoma City on a technical knockout in the seventh round. Fleeman had been talking all week about Moore, who admits to 43, being too old and ready for the scrap heap.

Fleeman had said he thought Turman, the 26-year-old Tyler, Tex., heavyweight, would take out Archie.

But Turman, although he went the 10-round distance and never was badly hurt by the hard-punching Moore, was voted down by both judges and the referee. They saw Moore winning by a goodly margin, referee Jacky Woodruff scoring it 99-94, judge Bill Shaw 98-94 and judge Lonnie Hudkins 100-96.

Moore, trimmed to 189 pounds, floored Turman 186, in the first round with a lightning left but Turman arose without taking a count. He came back to fight the next round even. Turman got a bruised eye and a bloody nose while Moore had no marks on him.

Moore said he would defend his world's title only when "they put up enough money. I am asking $200,000 and that's what it will take."

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Army authorities said today two or three rebel battalions in the North Celebes have broken up because of feuding among their leader on strategy.

The Big Spring Steers see action twice this week, both times at home.

The local cagers challenge Sweetwater Thursday night and follow up with a Friday night engagement against Colorado City. The Longhorns are meeting all District 3-AAA teams this season in practice games.

Big Spring won its opening game here last week, turning back San Angelo Lake View, 47-31.

FORSAN — Forsan seeks its third straight basketball victory in a game with Ira here this evening.

Three games are on tap, as a matter of fact. The boys' B team plays at 5:30 p.m., after which the girls take the floor. Then the boys' A teams vie.

In previous starts, the Buffs defeated Ira, 47-46, and Stanton, 42-38.

Minnesota Wins National Title

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Minnesota, the comeback team of the year, won the national college football championship today in the final Associated Press poll of the 1960 season.

In a remarkably close vote, the Golden Gophers, last-place team of the Big Ten last year and co-champions this season, beat out Mississippi's Southeastern Conference champions for the title, Iowa, which battled Minnesota right down to the wire and drew even in the Big Ten race, was a very close third.

The difference on the ballots of 48 sports writers and broadcasters forming The Associated Press regional boards, was 1½ first-place votes and 22½ points. One voter, unable to decide between the Big Ten co-champions, split his vote between Minnesota and Iowa.

That gave Minnesota 17½ first place votes and a total of 433½ points on the basis of 10 for each first place, 9 for second, etc, down to one for 10th. Mississippi, concluding a highly successful season last Saturday with a 35-9 victory over Mississippi State, drew 16 votes for first place and 411 points. Iowa with 17½ firsts, had 407½ points.

Voting this year was done by 48 members of Associated Press boards representing the eight NCAA districts.

Minnesota was declared national champion in the first Associated Press ranking poll in 1936, when the Gophers' string of 28 games without a loss was ended by a 6-0 defeat by Northwestern.

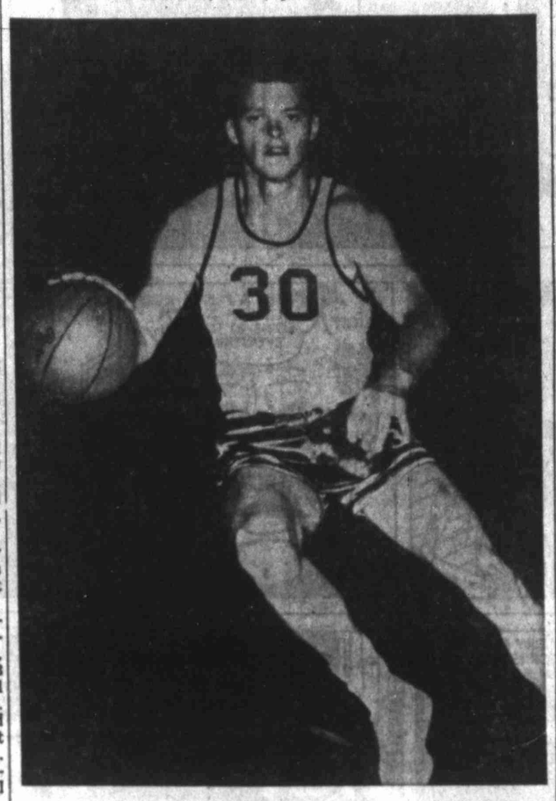

Minnesota and sixth-ranked Washington are scheduled to meet in the Rose Bowl game Jan. 1.

Mississippi carries its 9-0-1 season record into the Sugar Bowl game against Rice. Navy, No. 4, and Missouri, No. 5, clash in the Orange Bowl; Arkansas, No. 7, and Duke, No. 10, meet in the Cotton Bowl and Alabama, No. 9, plays Texas in the Dec. 17 Bluebonnet Bowl.

The final ranking of the leaders, with first place votes in parentheses:

1	Minnesota (17½)	433½
2.	Mississippi (16)	411
3.	Iowa (12½)	407½
4.	Navy	282
5.	Missouri	253
6.	Washington (2)	250
7.	Arkansas	212
8.	Ohio State	138
9	Alabama	53
10	Duke	46

Others receiving votes were: Kansas 40, Baylor 35; Auburn 25, Yale 17, Michigan State 16, Penn State 15, New Mexico State 8, Florida 6, Syracuse and Purdue 4 each, Rice 3, Oregon 2, Tennessee, Michigan and Texas, 1 each.

LARRY CRUISE

Ex-Jayhawk Star Member Of North Texas Quintet

DENTON — Larry Cruise of Pampa, a junior transfer, is a member of the North Texas State basketball team for the 1960-61 season.

The 6-2 guard has earned a starting position in the Eagles' pre-season workouts. Cruise won all-state honors at Howard County Junior College of Big Spring last year.

Cruise, who played both basketball and baseball in high school, served his freshman season at San Angelo College.

As a member of the Missouri Valley Conference, North Texas has some of the top teams in the nation on its 24-game schedule. The season opens here Dec. 1 against the University of Houston.

Six of the 10 home games will be against MVC opponents Cincinnati, Bradley, St. Louis, Wichita, Drake and Tulsa. The Eagles' non-conference slate include such teams as Arkansas, Memphis State and Oklahoma City.

QBC In Meeting Here At 7:30

The Quarterback Club, saddled with the job of co-sponsoring the Saturday afternoon playoff game here between Denver City and Anson, will hold an important meeting at 7:30 o'clock in the High School Cafeteria this evening.

Jimmy Felts, co-captain of the club, said the organization had to supply some personnel to help work the game and it was imperative that members learn assignments as early as possible.

Plans relative to the club's activities during basketball season will also be discussed.

Taylor Is Named AFL Back Of Week

DALLAS (AP)—Lionel Taylor, the Denver end who gains more yards from his position than do most of the backs, today was named American Football League player of the week on offense.

Taylor, who played his college football at New Mexico Highlands, became the first end to win the weekly award.

Soph Halback Is Bellwether Of Tide Eleven

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP)—His name is George Wilson but they call him Butch, and he's Alabama's biggest backfield man in more ways than one.

At 195 pounds, he's the heftiest player in Alabama's backfield as the Crimson Tide heads for the Bluebonnet Bowl date with Texas on Dec. 17.

A cotton-topped sophomore halfback, Wilson has caught 13 passes for 204 yards and one touchdown in 10 games. That's more catches than any Alabama player since Marshall Brown brought in 15 in 1955.

"Butch has grown up as we went along," says coach Paul Bryant.

Wilson probably reached full growth in Alabama's magnificent comeback that erased a 15-0 halftime deficit and beat Georgia Tech 16-15.

Wilson outfought a crowd of Georgia Tech defenders and grabbed a Bobby Skelton pass on the 6 in the last minute. Then Richard O'Dell booted his game-winning field goal.

But that wasn't the first big one for Wilson.

Against Tulane, with Alabama fighting back from a 6-0 Greenies' lead, Wilson caught a Pat Trammell pass for 19 yards to the Tulane 6 in the closing minutes, setting the stage for the tying touchdown three plays later.

He's caught only one touchdown pass, taking an eight-yarder for a score in Alabama's 51-0 rout of Furman. But Bryant figures Wilson has saved many more with his work in the secondary on defense. He's intercepted two passes.

"He saved a couple of touchdown shots by Georgia's Francis Tarkenton in the opener," said Bryant.

Alabama whipped Georgia 21-6 by blunting the passing of Tarkenton, the Southeastern Conference's leading thrower.

Although pretty fast for a big man—he runs the 100 in 10.5—Wilson has gained only 65 net yards in 23 carries.

But this shortcoming is offset by his record as a pass receiver, a blocker and a pass defender—by his durability. He's one of the few members of the injury-plagued Alabama team who has played in every game.

4 Bowl Elevens Taking A Rest

By The Associated Press

The Southwest Conference's four bowl teams — Arkansas, Baylor, Texas and Rice—are resting a spell.

They won't return to practice until next week.

Baylor, which meets Florida in the Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, Fla., Dec. 31, is taking the longest time out. The Golden Bears won't go back to the practice field until Dec. 7. Then they'll work until Dec. 21 when they take out for the Christmas holidays.

Arkansas, which meets Duke in the Cotton Bowl, will wait until Dec. 5 to start drills. Coach Frank Broyles found that he would be at full strength for this game, scheduled Jan. 2, with fullback Joe Paul Alberty and end Les Legsinger off the injury list at last.

Rice, which meets Mississippi in the Sugar Bowl Jan. 2, hasn't decided when it will return to work but Coach Jess Neely said he thought it might be a week or 10 days. Neely was in New Orleans Monday to make his plans for bringing the Owls there.

Texas, which plays Alabama in the Bluebonnet Bowl, will resume practice Dec. 5. There still was a doubtful player on the Longhorn squad—Jack Collins, who reinjured a knee in the Thanksgiving Day game with Texas A&M.

American League May Still Field LA Team

By JOE REICHLER

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—The American League, anticipating a negative National League reply to its nine-team inter-league play proposal, plans to re-affirm its original decision to place a franchise in Los Angeles and expand to 10 teams in 1961.

This move was indicated today by Cleveland Vice President Nate Dolin and Vice President Hank Greenberg of the Chicago White Sox, who insist the time has come when the American League must stop procrastinating and force a showdown with Los Angeles Dodger owner Walter O'Malley.

It was O'Malley's steadfast opposition to a rival major league club in Los Angeles that forced the American League to back down last week and offer the nine team inter-league competition as a compromise.

"We announced last week that if the National League would not agree to inter-league play, we would go to 10 teams and open shop in Los Angeles in 1961," said Dolin. "I see no reason why we should waver on this decision.

"The American League has declared its earnest intention to negotiate a reasonable settlement with O'Malley for expenses he had to assume in his three-year operation in Los Angeles. I feel confident Commissioner Ford Frick and the two league presidents, in their meeting in New York tomorrow, will decide on a plan that will enable us to operate in Los Angeles next year."

Greenberg, a staunch advocator of inter-league play, has just about given up the idea he has been nourishing for five years.

"A week ago," he said, "I had the feeling the National League finally convinced that inter-league play would be a very good thing for baseball and would give it a try in 1961. Since coming here to the minor league convention, I have been made aware, to my disappointment, that our league will receive very little support from the National League to have an inter-locking playing schedule in 1961."

One rumor was squelched Monday during the annual player draft when the majors selected 22 players at a cost of $472,000 and the higher minors followed by drafting 36 players from leagues of lower classifications for $345,000.

That was the report that the American League would put off for one year in placing a new team in Washington and revert to an eight-team league in 1961.

"The American League has not asked us to postpone our entry into the nation's capital," said Ed Doherty, general manager of the Senators. "And we at no time entertained such a thought. When the opening day of the 1961 season comes around, our Washington team will be out there on the field ready to take on the opposition."

Doherty selected two minor league players, at a cost of $25,000 each, in a special one-team draft following the regular draft of the eight established clubs. Thus pitchers John Gabler, a New York Yankee farmhand at Richmond last year; and Ray Semproch, a Dodger chattel at Spokane, became the first members of the newly created Washington Senators.

IN BIG-TIME FOOTBALL

N-Dame May Never Again Be Winner

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Stamped far and wide as an "academic" question is whether Notre Dame is dead as a college football power, incapable of ever rising again to national championship stature.

In the wake of this season's disastrous campaign two wins and eight losses, which matched the record low of 1956 in Notre Dame's football history, this writer searched the campus for what promise may be held for the school's grid future under its tightening academic standards.

The school's president, the Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh, said "we're not pushing the panic button."

Coach Joe Kuharich, while suggesting modern football works in cycles, said he was "weighing things in my mind," when questioned about continuing at the Irish helm. His four-year contract extends through 1962.

A segment of the student body demonstrated against the school's avowed policy of "academic excellence", which most of the uncounted Irish rooting legions blame for the decline and fall of Notre Dame football.

"We want football, we want football," a throng of about 800 chanted in front of Corby Hall, where Father Hesburgh and other faculty priests reside.

A few hours after this demonstration, Father Hesburgh spoke on the campus radio system.

He blamed the demonstration on five per cent of the student body of about 6,000. These five per cent could quit the school with his blessing, Father Hesburgh said.

"We don't want to be second to anybody in anything, including football," said Father Hesburgh. "I am proud of this year's team. I think they did magnificently with what they had to work."

He told the campus audience he was convinced there were 40 high school seniors each year in the country who are both good students and good football players.

Bowl Teams Fret Over Injuries

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

College football's bowl-bound elevens, deservedly resting on their laurels, today were concentrating on getting their wounded warriors into shape for the post-season classics before resuming full-scale workouts.

Duke's Atlantic Coast Conference champions, who meet Arkansas' Southwest Conference titlists in the Jan. 2 Cotton Bowl, were the lone exception as the head coaches of the 15 other teams headed for major bowls rewarded their players with 10-day vacation.

The Blue Devils (7-2) close out the regular season Saturday against UCLA at Los Angeles. "That's the game we're focusing our attention on now," said Coach Bill Murray.

The Razorbacks (8-2), who'll resume practice a week from Friday, expect to have No. 1 fullback Joe Paul Alberty at full strength for the Cotton Bowl along with end Leslie Letsinger. Both have been hobbled most of the year.

Co-Big Ten champ Minnesota (8-1) which meets Washington (9-1) in the Rose Bowl, expects to hold no more than two or three formal practice sessions before leaving for California. Fullback Tom Robbins, the Gophers' kicking specialist hurt on the first play of the season, may be available for duty.

The Huskies will be at full strength for their defense of the Rose Bowl title with All-America quarterback Bob Schloredt returning to action for the first time since Oct. 15, when he broke his collarbone in the UCLA game. Halfback Don McKeta, who gashed his calf against Washington State, also will be ready.

Florida (8-2) has two key operatives on the injured list—end Tom Smith and halfback Dick Skelly—and their status for the Gator Bowl encounter with Baylor (8-2) Dec. 31, still is uncertain. The Bears are physically sound.

Navy (9-1) and Missouri (9-1) reported no front-line players sidelined now that Tigers' quarterback Jim Johnson, out with a broken thumb since Oct. 29, is rounding into form for the Orange Bowl. Sugar Bowl foes Mississippi (9-0-1) and Rice (7-3) also found their casualty lists clean.

Garner Claims Studio Made Him Maverick

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actor James Garner contends Warner Brothers made him a maverick in more ways than one.

Garner, who once played the title role in the "Maverick" TV series, was in court Monday to answer a studio suit asking that he be compelled to return to work.

The studio said Garner quit because his $1,750 weekly salary was stopped. But it maintained his pay was cut off only because of a strike by writers and actors and said his contract provided for salary interruptions in such cases.

Garner insisted the strike did not interfere with production of "Maverick." He argued, in effect, that the studio turned him into a maverick actor. A maverick, in the Old West, was an unclaimed animal.

Garner is demanding $141,000 in damages from Warners, contending the studio interferred with his right to work by telling other producers he was still under contract.

Getting Ready For Duel

British bongo drummer Tony Moynihan looks at a Japanese sword in a Tokyo shop, as his wife watches. Moynihan has challenged Pacific Stars and Stripes columnist Al Ricketts to a duel for writing that Mrs. Moynihan—a belly dancer—gave a "routine" performance in a Tokyo night club. Ricketts, 32, says he is prepared to meet Moynihan, a captain in the British Coldstream Guards, on the field of honor, but flinches at cold steel or bullets. Dry martinis would be more to his liking.

ABC Pushes Into Limelight, And This May Mean Trouble

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP-TV Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—While the tinkle of the bells of the sidewalk Santas rings across the land and and the Christmas spirit of peace is abroad in the world, television-land is locked in fierce combat—more violent than ever before.

In the good old days—well, until fairly recently—the Columbia Broadcasting Company and the National Broadcasting Company battled in gentlemanly fashion for audiences, ratings and sponsors' coin. The smaller, poorer American Broadcasting Company had to be content with the leavings.

Now, however, tough, ambitious hard-fighting ABC has shoved and pushed itself into the competition. Currently it is right up with the big two in the favor of the audiences.

None of this has made CBS and NBC very happy—audience ratings now reflect a three-way split and often these days they are on the short ends of the polls.

The two established networks have had a tendency to regard the upstart ABC in much the way old established social leaders regard the activities of a pushy, new-rich family, particularly since ABC has made no bones about its uncomplicated interest in getting big audiences. It has done it, largely by scheduling action and adventure in massive doses and—until very recently—taken little time for the so-called "finer things" of TV—public information shows and many specials.

ABC seems particularly to have thrown a scare into NBC. Recently Robert Sarnoff, president of the network, was so irked by ABC and its claims he took a specific slap at the rival, in the course of a public speech to executives of stations affiliated with the network. He complained about ABC's concentrated programming and called it a "narrow-gauge network."

Intra-television competition should be healthy rivalry and produce better programs for the viewing public. Unfortunately, this one—particularly if it becomes a struggle for financial survival—may have just the opposite effect.

Woody Strode Had Hard Climb

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie - TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Twenty years ago, a giant Negro with a body like a Greek god was playing superb football for UCLA.

Today Woody Strode is carving out a new career as an actor and he is still a hard-muscled, flat-bellied giant of a man.

This time he is playing for the John Ford team. The cantankerous director gave Strode his first real dramatic part in "The Trial of Sgt. Rutledge." He played the title role as a frontier soldier accused of raping a white woman.

Woody is again working for Ford, this time as a villainous Indian chief menacing James Stewart and Richard Widmark in "Two Rode Together."

"Ford browbeats me, but it's great working for him," Woody remarked. "This is a great part for me, the first time I've played an Indian. If I can pull it off, it might open a whole new field for me. If not, it's back to the jungle."

Woody has had a long, hard pull up from the sports jungles and then through the lairs of Tarzan and Ramar. Through it all, he has remained the same as when he played for UCLA, physically and temperamentally.

How does he do it?

"Two hundred pushups every morning," said Woody. That helps maintain his 6 feet 4 inches at a trim 205 pounds.

His temperament hasn't changed. He was a cool pass-catcher in his gridiron days, and he is still taking life as it comes.

A brickmason's son, Woody grew up in the depression years in Los Angeles with never a thought of going to college—"we went to school to learn a job in those days." But in a couple of years he turned from a short fat boy into a slim athlete and attracted scholarships to several colleges.

He chose UCLA, and starred at end on a team that was also notable for Kenny Washington and Jackie Robinson.

After the war, Woody rambled through pro football, then drifted into professional wrestling.

His performances as a TV wrestler led to a role as jungle chief in a Tarzan film.

Ceylon Fears Catholic Violence

COLOMBO, Ceylon (AP) — A state of emergency may be declared in western Ceylon Wednesday to prevent possible Roman Catholic demonstrations, a reliable source said today.

A new law transferring control of private schools to the state goes into effect Thursday and government officials fear violent demonstrations by Catholics, the source said.
