Home Town Talk

By B. D. D.

As compared with a purchasing power of $1.03 in June, 1929, your dollar in August, 1930, had a buying power of $1.20 in the purchase of basic commodities, according to a government bulletin.

Retail prices have not declined so rapidly nor has the retail dollar increased so much in buying power but it is usual for retail prices to lag behind wholesale values and their trend is now down.

So able an economist as Allard Smith, vice president of the Union Trust company of Cleveland, Ohio, says that apparently basic commodity prices have reached the bottom. The bottom of basic commodity prices is the point at which it is expected a great buying movement will start.

The retail purchasing power of the 1930 dollar may not be worth all of the 17 cents more than that 1929 dollar in commodity value but it is worth a considerable part of that 17 cents more and is probably worth as much as it is likely to be worth in a number of years.

To the man or woman who has a job and whose salary has not been reduced the shift in purchasing power of the dollar has been the equivalent of an increase in salary. Still you can hear such fortunate folks bemoaning their sad condition. Surely with them hard times are purely psychological.

Talker believes it would be a mistake for the public to go on a buying spree or for the individual to abandon thrift and saving. It is the folks who have practiced thrift and who have saved who are going to give business the impetus that will bring a return of prosperity.

Mr. Smith says that maladjustments of the economic structure are gradually remedied by the operation of economic laws. In this respect, he says, our present business depression contains in itself the seeds of its own correction. "This is apparent in more than one way," he adds. "For one thing debts are being liquidated and the extra caution on the part of many people is being translated into larger savings. That means a piling up of potential purchasing power."

Potential purchasing power has been piling up in our savings banks and other financial reservoirs. With the dollar worth more than in many years in its purchasing power Mr. Smith believes this money is now about to seek employment where it can buy more than at any time since the beginning of the world war.

The interior department of the federal government has prepared a new manual for teachers of adult illiterates which is now ready for distribution. The manual embodies the results of experience in teaching the natives of the Kentucky mountain region.

A bulletin announcing the new manual says that the illiterate is taught to write his name as a first lesson. A number of copies written in grooved letters on blotting paper are given him. By tracing in the grooves he gets the form quickly. The average illiterate will learn to write his name by this system, it is said, in about 30 minutes. He is then taught a simple reading lesson which requires about the same length of time. At the hour of 7 o'clock he appears at the schoolhouse unable to make a letter of the alphabet or to distinguish one word in print from another. By 8 o'clock he has learned to write his name and to read a page in his book. He is simply amazed and delighted with his progress, for like most illiterates and many educated persons, he has held the opinion that it would be extremely difficult, if not impossible, for him to learn. The first hour's instruction, as outlined in the new manual, will convince him that he can learn. Then the course proceeds, outlined by easy steps, through a first or beginner's period of 24 lessons in which he learns to write his own letters and read the news, and to keep his simple accounts. This is followed by two successive periods of instruction which will give him a more complete course, if he desires it.

A special campaign to reduce illiteracy was carried on in many communities just prior to the federal census, there being added interest through the desire of the communities to the percentages of illiteracy in their census showings. This desire in itself was and is commendable, but the great object of such a campaign is to broaden the lives of the illiterates and to make them better citizens. It is therefore just as important to carry on this campaign after the census as before.

SITUATION GRAVE

Union Workers Threaten To Paralyze Work Of Nation

LIMA, Peru, Nov. 12. (UP)—Indian miners, descendants of the Incas, ran riot today in the Cerro de Pasco mining area, high in the snow-capped Andes, and precipitated a national crisis.

Two Americans were killed, dispatches said, and one unnamed Austrian. One American at least was injured seriously.

The American casualties:
Dead:
John William Chapman, Chicago.
E. L. Tripari, American address unknown.
Seriously injured:
Albert Dianianti, American, address unknown.

13 Miners Killed

Twelve miners were killed, and 25 wounded. The rioting was the climax to labor troubles, growing gradually more serious in recent days.

At the news of today's riot, orders were given at once for evacuation of the 350 Americans and British and the 200 other foreigners in the area.

American Ambassador Fred M. Dearing requested the foreign office here to furnish protection for all Americans in the area, and the government sent emergency orders for 200 picked members of the Republican guard to entrain tonight for the region.

Gravity was lent to the situation nationally by the fact that a 24-hour general strike of unionized workers has been called for 7 a. m. tomorrow at Lima and Callao. To meet the threat of violence that such a strike might entail, all troops in these important cities were ordered to barracks tonight.

Situation Serious

The general federation of workers, in a strike manifesto, announced it intended to paralyze the nation.

For the moment the situation in the mountains was the most serious. Throughout tonight, special trains, each limited to four small coaches because of the altitude—16,000 feet, 2,000 feet above the tip of Pike's peak—wound down the tortuous mountain sides with foreign refugees, making for Lima.

The first American women arrived here tonight, six of them from La Oraya, near the little mining camp of Malpaso where the fatal riots occurred at noon.

Their husbands were at Cerro de Pasco, the mining center. They telegraphed the women to leave the area at once, and the wives, without even knowing what had happened, entrained.

Two other trains, carrying foreigners, are expected in the morning. They must move with painful slowness all night down the Andes slopes.

Business Leaders To Join Jobbers-Manufacturers In Seeking Trade Extension

By FRED L. HASKETT
The Record News Staff

A revival to increase trade and expansion of the Wichita Falls trade territory for the manufacturers and jobbers of this city is the next work suggested to the better business campaign committee.

Wednesday morning Jas. W. Chatham, Paul Putty and L. H. Estes met with the committee and requested that the general committee of the Better Business campaign meet with their group, as they felt confident that much good could be brought about and something of value established.

Mr. Chatham, Mr. Putty and Mr. Estes are members of the executive committee of the manufacturers and jobbers division of the chamber of commerce. So enthused has this committee become over the work done in behalf of the retail merchants and in aiding employment in Wichita Falls that they believed now the proper time to create a better spirit of cooperation among their members and to extend the trade area of the city.

New Territory

There is no question but that the trade belt can be extended over an area of several hundred square miles with completion of the Denver road branch line from Childress to Pampa. Much of this area has never been served from Wichita Falls, and to accomplish a friendly relationship between the wholesaler, jobber and manufacturer with the retail trade of the new area now is considered the proper time to act.

The executive committee will arrange for all members of the manufacturers and jobbers to assemble with the general committee of the Better Business committee Tuesday morning, at 10 o'clock, Nov. 18 at the directors' room of the chamber of commerce.

The jobbing and manufacturing trade of Wichita Falls has shown a good increase locally during the past 15 days. In fact one manufacturing firm stated that its local orders last week were greater than

Pop Bottlers Dismayed By Fight for Beer

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 12. (UP)—The convention of the American Bottlers or Carbonated Beverages opened here today with plans laid carefully to avoid all mention of beer, legal or otherwise.

Whereupon two of the principal speakers charged that prohibition was spreading crime and urged that light wines and beer be authorized. The Schlitz Brewing company then further upset the convention plans by issuing pamphlets predicting the return of real beer.

All of which was disconcerting to the soda pop and ginger ale manufacturers whose business has increased tremendously since the advent of prohibition.

German Military Giant Predicts Nation's Annihiliation in 1932 War

BERLIN, Nov. 12. (AP)—Another great European war in 1932, resulting in annihilation of Germany, is predicted by Gen. Erich Ludendorff in a pamphlet published today.

In the 93-page pamphlet, the one-time world war military giant, expresses belief the war, beginning May 1, 1932, will find Germany, Austria, Hungary, England and Soviet Russia, opposed to France, Poland, Czechoslovakia and Rumania.

He visualizes Germany as the battleground of the nations, with her cities razed by air attacks, her civilian population left to its fate and the nation's youth perishing in masses on the battlefronts.

Although he believes the war will last only a few weeks, he imagines Berlin held in a vise-like grip by the enemy forces, who mercilessly drive the fugitives back into the city's confines to die of starvation.

He sees German culture as receiving its death blow and the terrors of the 30 years' war surpassed.

Worwaerts, in commenting on the pamphlet, recalls that Adolf Hitler at the time of his abortive Putsch in November, 1923, selected Ludendorff as his minister of war with the object of organizing a "war of revenge."

The Socialist organ thinks Ludendorff's productions must be very unwelcome to the Fascists if the next war is to be one such as he predicts.

Mr. Moller's death resulted from an illness after an operation here about a month ago.

Helped Poultry Industry

Mr. Moller moved to Wichita Falls in 1925, coming here from Littleton, Colo. He took up residence in Wichita Falls because of his belief that this city was an ideal situation for poultry raising. His poultry ranch on the Grant street lake road is one of the largest in the Wichita valley and is stocked with several thousand white leghorns, among which are many prize winning fowls. His particular interest was in egg-laying strains of White Leghorns, although he was actively interested in all matters pertaining to poultry and was a past president of the North Texas Poultry association. He was primarily responsible for creating a demand here for standardized fertile eggs and was active in arranging for poultry shows here which drew entries from all parts of the country. Mr. Moller was a contributor to various poultry journals.

Mr. Moller was a member of a pioneer family of Galveston, where he was born and resided for a number of years. He received his education in the Galveston schools and in the Massachusetts Institute of Technology at Boston.

Active in Civic Affairs

Mr. Moller's health had been good until a few months ago, when over an extended period three operations were necessary. The latter operation of about a month ago was made necessary by sinus trouble and complications later caused his death.

Since taking up residence in Wichita Falls Mr. Moller had been active in civic affairs and was a member of the Rotary club.

Surviving are the widow, three daughters, Misses Clothilde, a student at the University of Colorado; Corinne of the Hockaday School for Girls at Dallas; and Maud, of C. I. A. at Denton; two sons, Herbert and Albert, all of Wichita Falls and all at the bedside; a brother, Jens Moller, a student at Yale university, but who has made his home here; and a brother, Herbert, and his mother, of Copenhagen, Denmark.

Vernon Assault Case Goes To Jury After Accused Man And Family Deny Complaint

Special to The Record News.

VERNON, Texas, Nov. 12.—The trial of G. F. Powell, 45, charged with criminal assault on a 12-year-old Vernon girl, reached the jury in district court here at 8:30 Wednesday night after Powell, his wife, and daughter had taken the stand to deny the girl's story. Testimony was closed about 4:30 Wednesday afternoon and arguments were completed in a night session.

Failing to reach a verdict before 10 o'clock, the jury was ordered to bed with instructions to continue.

In his testimony Powell denied that he attacked the little girl near Oklaunion last March as the two were returning from a visit to the Fat Stock show at Fort Worth. He charged that the girl's stepfather, R. W. Sherwood, had offered to get her out of town and drop the prosecution in return for $30 and an automobile. Powell is a used car salesman.

The defendant's wife and daughter, Valeria, told the same story, asserting that Sherwood had come to their home at 5 o'clock on the morning grand jury investigation was started. Sherwood, called by the defense, denied the charge, but admitted that a man unknown to him had approached him with the statement: "Money is no obstacle if you will help us out."

Powell, on the stand for more than three hours Wednesday and subjected to a bitter cross-examination, claimed that the little girl had driven the car all the way back from Fort Worth and that the trip from Wichita Falls to Vernon, a distance of 60 miles, had been made in two hours. The complaining witness said Tuesday that four hours were spent in the journey, most of the time on a side road near Oklaunion where the offense is alleged to have been committed.

DO-X Flies Under Hand Of Royalty

CALSHOT, England, Nov. 12. (AP)—The Prince of Wales, who not so long ago learned to fly a little sport plane and thus became the first aviator in the British royal family, today took the controls of the largest seaplane in the world and guided its course for 10 minutes.

It was the DO-X he flew, giant sister of the German ships which, during the great war it was his duty as a British officer to destroy. The flight lasted half an hour, during one-third of which the prince was in the pilot's seat guiding the course of the 12 motored plane over the Isle of Wight.

The German officers pronounced him an excellent pilot.

When the ship was at anchor again in Calshot harbor the prince thanked Dr. Claude Dornier for the opportunity of flying in the big plane. "She certainly is a wonderful ship," he exclaimed.

Doctor Dornier announced he would take his plane to Bordeaux, France, Friday on the third stage of the flight to New York.

AUTO STRIKES WICHITA BOY

Arthur Wortham in Critical Condition Here

Arthur Wortham, 13-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Wortham, 1411 Thirteenth street, was seriously injured when struck by an automobile driven by J. W. Boyd in the 1300 block on Holliday street early Wednesday night.

The boy was taken unconscious to the Wichita General hospital in an automobile and at a late hour Wednesday night had not regained consciousness. Hospital attendants stated that injuries possibly consisted of a fractured skull or concussion of the brain. An X-ray picture of the skull failed to reveal a fracture and although a fracture near the base of the head was possible, the child's condition was thought too serious to attempt an X-ray of the back of the head. Several hours will be required to determine whether a concussion exists, it was stated. The boy's general condition was reported to be fair.

Mr. Boyd reported the accident to police and stated that a group of boys were playing football in the block and that the Wortham youth ran from the curb, where he stumbled and fell into the path of the automobile.

COPPER METAL PRICES RISE TO BOLSTER MART

Many Shares Recover From Lowest Levels Since Slump Began

NEW GAINS ASSURED

Heavy Demand for Red Metal Lends Optimism To Outlook

By CLAUDE A. JAGGER
Associated Press Financial Editor

NEW YORK, Nov. 12—Bears were pinched in a swift rebound of share prices in the stock exchange today, on the eve of the anniversary of the definite reversal of the sweeping decline of the autumn of 1929.

The market got off on the wrong foot and gave a poor account of itself during the morning, many prominent issues losing $2 to $5 a share, but announcement that copper metal prices had been jacked up from the low of the century, 9¼ cents a pound, to 10 cents, had a decidedly bracing effect on speculative sentiment, and losses not only were regained, but a long list of leading shares showed final gains of $1 to $5 over final prices of the previous session.

Copper Agreement

The improvement in the copper metal market was described in trade circles as impressive. An attempt to turn prices early last summer failed, but the present effort comes at a time when leading world producers are believed to have reached an agreement to cut production by 20,000 tons a month, and more if necessary. Furthermore, copper dealers said bids for copper at 10 cents were much larger than the amount which producers were willing to sell at that level, and that further advances seemed assured.

As the copper outlook has been regarded in Wall street with deep gloom, and the stocks of many producers had fallen to about half the low prices reached in the 1929 selling panic, the promise of improvement in that industry was welcome news to the stock market.

Slump Severe Blow

After holding at 10 cents a pound all summer, the decline in copper to 9½ cents a few weeks ago, a price below production cost for most producers, had been a severe blow to Wall street's spirits. Not many producers are understood to be able to show a profit at 10 cents but the trade looks for an advance to 11 within a few weeks.

During 1929, and the first three months of this year, copper averaged about 18 cents a pound, but thereafter prices broke abruptly.

WIDER TRADE AREA SOUGHT

Business Committee to Meet Manufacturers

for the entire year up to Nov. 1.

J. C. Mytinger, general chairman of the Better Business committee, stated that it was not the purpose of the committee to endeavor to cure all ills of the community but felt that the committee was justified in supporting the manufacturers and jobbers, because as their business increased it would add to the number of men and women who could be given jobs, and also keep employed those now at work.

500 Register for Jobs

The meeting next Tuesday is expected to last two hours and beneficial results are expected.

During the meeting Wednesday morning Walter S. Curlee announced that over 300 people had been registered for employment. He expects the number to reach 600 before the end of the week. Many have already been given situations.

"We want the women and housewives to telephone us when they have even yard work to do," said Mr. Curlee.

"This morning I sent a man to work to do some special garden work. The women love to see their homes beautiful and attractive and this fall and winter is the time to do this work. If the women of Wichita Falls would decide now to improve 1,000 homes in the city by building flower gardens or planting of shrubs and evergreens it would give many a needy man a job. A week's work now means that the worker will have enough money to buy food that will last his family from 10 to 15 days."

Those attending the committee meeting Wednesday morning were J. W. Chatham, Paul Putty and L. H. Estes, representing the jobbers and manufacturers division of the chamber of commerce; J. C. Mytinger, general chairman; Roscoe Staton, Buford Stayton, Harry A. Gray Jr., John Boswell, Jack Barnard, B. D. Donnell, Dudley B. Foy and Albert E. Kelly.

Optimists Hear Education Talk

Methods of education past and present were discussed and illustrated before members of the Optimist club Wednesday noon at the Kemp hotel when Prof A. F. Edwards of the Junior college and two high school students spoke on a program arranged by Dr. George T. Singleton.

After reviewing hastily the history of educational methods, Professor Edwards declared that the present age has reverted noticeably to scholasticism.

"Fifty years ago, only 4 per cent of the boys and girls of high school age were in school," he said, "while today we have 54 per cent of that class in school."

Referring to development of academic principles the speaker said that Horace Mann was the greatest forerunner of modern education.

"Over 100 years ago," he said, "Horace Mann advocated the unheard of idea of having women teachers in the lower grades, and proposed that reading be taught by the word method rather than by alphabetically. The latter method, now so commonly appreciated, has been in actual practice only 10 or 15 years."

"World Brotherhood," was discussed by Patrick Henry Jr., who declared that organizations of youths of the present generation are purposed to outlaw war, largely through practicing in reality an international brotherhood when wars threaten.

Humorous readings were given by Joe Witherspoon Jr., also of the high school.

Don't neglect a COLD

DISTRESSING cold in chest or throat—that so often leads to something serious—generally responds to good old Musterole with the first application. Should be more effective if used once every hour for five hours.

This famous blend of oil of mustard, camphor, menthol and other helpful ingredients brings relief naturally. Musterole gets action because it is a scientific "counter-irritant"—not just a salve—it penetrates and stimulates blood circulation, helps to draw out infection and pain. Used by millions for 20 years. Recommended by doctors and nurses.

Keep Musterole handy—jars and tubes.

To Mothers—Musterole is also made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole.

'Old Time Gospel' Urged By Baptist Leader Before Annual Church Conference

AMARILLO, Texas, Nov. 12. (AP)—Exhorted by their leaders to adopt a broad missionary vision in an effort to "lift the world toward God" by preaching the "old time gospel," ministers and laymen attending the 45th annual session of the Baptist general convention of Texas today started recounting results attained in the 4,000 affiliated churches.

Dr. L. R. Scarborough of Fort Worth, president of Southwestern Baptist seminary, was re-elected president by acclamation for his second term, having succeeded former Gov. Pat M. Neff at the Beaumont convention last year. Approximately 600,000 Baptists are under his leadership, the largest state group of that church in the nation.

Proceedings Harmonious

Proceedings incident to organization were entirely harmonious, the convention body voting unanimously to ratify action of the secretaries in refusing recognition to two messengers who were certified to represent the First Baptist church of Fort Worth, of which Rev. J. Frank Norris, Fundamentalist whose church has not been a member of the convention for some years, is pastor.

Reverend Norris, here conducting a revival under a tabernacle, was seated in the auditorium, when, by rising vote, the messengers refused to seat the two who proposed to deliberate in the sessions as representatives of his church.

"World Baptists"

Dr. Scarborough pleaded for "a wide missionary vision," suggesting that Lone Star Baptists should not consider themselves "Texans only, not Southern Baptists only, but world Baptists," in their sympathies and purposes.

"It is our prime duty to try to lift this old world toward God," he said. "We cannot have room for narrowness or selfish provincialism. The New Testament has no mountains, no seas, no color lines, no political or ecclesiastical divisions. We should be mastered by a compassionate concern for a lost world." He said it was a fine opportunity for Texas Baptists, "amid their trials," to demonstrate "how much we love a lost world."

Religious Depression

Taking his text from First Corinthians, first chapter, 23rd and 24th verses, Dr. Marshall Craig, pastor of the Gaston Avenue Baptist church, Dallas, laid emphasis in the convention sermon on the first four words of the text: "But we preach Christ." He pointed out that there was not only a business depression, "but a religious depression," and said panaceas were offered by the wholesale, while "a bewildered world solemnly asks, what next? And hope in many hearts is waning."

To bring truths of God's word in contact with all people is the panacea to "a torn, bleeding and baffled world," he said.

Any other message than "to preach Christ" would be impudent if it is hoped to lead the world to brighter days, Dr. Craig said.

"Predch Christ who is coming back again in all his glory to claim this world as his own; no other theme will suffice in life or death. Half-hearted faith will make half-hearted followers."

Dr. Craig told the Baptists they needed to have their wealth consecrated, adding, "unconsecrated wealth is one of our darkest perils.

"Our vast material possessions may soon become our curse," he said. "What a responsibility rests upon us as ambassadors of God to see that this wealth of Christians is turned into channels of blessing. We cannot hope to get much nearer the heart of the world with our message of salvation until we are willing to dedicate anew our all to Christ. A spiritual people will be a giving people."

Officers Elected

Vice presidents elected were: Dr. J. E. Nunn, Amarillo, layman; Dr. W. W. Chancellor, Mineral Wells, and Dr. Harlan J. Matthews, Marshall, pastors of the first churches at their homes.

Rev. J. L. Truett, Whitewright, and D. B. South, San Antonio, were re-elected recording secretaries, and Dr. J. H. Pace, Beaumont, was re-chosen secretary of the corporation.

Among the veterans in attendance was the Rev. L. R. Millican, 77, still active as district missionary in the El Paso section. As a young fellow, he fought Indians. He was born in Texas, and is president of the cowboys camp meeting at Paisano. Others were Dr. J. M. Carroll, San Antonio, who has attended every convention; Dr. J. P. Morrow, Fort Worth, and Dr. R. C. Pender, Abilene.

Committee Chairmen

Committee chairmen were named as follows: student work, the Rev. J. E. Burrell, Denison; Young People's work, Dr. W. W. Melton, Waco; Christian education, Dr. M. M. Wolf, Houston; civic righteousness, Dr. John A. Ellis, Sherman; evangelism, Dr. I. E. Gates, San Antonio; naming the executive board, Dr. J. D. Tidwell, Waco; foreign missions, Dr. O. L. Powers, Wichita Falls; home mission, Dr. Millard A. Jenkins, Abilene; laymen's work, Earl B. Smyth, Dallas; relief and annuity, Dr. Wallace Bassett, Dallas; religious literature, Rev. Sam Malone, Abilene; seminaries, Dr. W. T. Connor, Fort Worth; Sunday school work, Dr. W. R. Hornburg, Brownwood; time, place, preacher, next convention, A. D. Foreman Jr., Houston; Women's Missionary union, Mrs. Fleet Linz, Mercedes; women's work, Mrs. J. H. Cozad, McKinney; publicity, Frank E. Burkhalter, Waco; order of business, Robert H. Coleman, Dallas; nominate trustees for correlated schools, Rev. George F. Brown, Midland; nominate trustees for Baptist hospitals, Rev. V. M. Cloyd, Hereford; nominate trustees for Buckner's orphan home, Dr. Alyin Swindell, Hillaboro; resolutions, Dr. Harlan J. Mathews, Marshall.

Hospital Reports

Reports on work of seven Baptist hospitals, at Fort Worth, Harlingen, Abilene, Waco, San Angelo, Dallas, Houston, were given, and Robert Jolly, superintendent of the Houston hospital, spoke on "Hospitals in Christ's Program," emphasizing the mission of hospitals in religious work in linking their sphere of caring for the sick and helpless with Christian education and other functions of the church.

Dr. Wallace Bassett of Dallas delivered a report on relief and annuities, and Dr. T. J. Watts of Dallas, secretary of the relief, and annuity board, spoke to it. He declared there were in the Texas convention about 1,200 dependent preachers and widows of ministers. In the Southern Baptist convention, there are 5,000 dependents, he said. If all the worthy were given $41.66 monthly now paid dependent ministers and $25 accorded widows and orphans it would require a sum of $2,500,000, he said.

The report of laymen's work was submitted by the Rev. Earl B. Smyth, Dallas, and George J. Burnett of Memphis, Tenn., associated secretary of the Southern Baptist convention, spoke to it, urging employment of a full-time man who would reach men in stewardship.

The Rev. Smyth said laymen in Texas were almost entirely without organization and unified effort. Where women have majored, men had been more than deficient, he said, although, he added, men are making progress and now there are thousands "zealous and active" where formerly there were only hundreds.

FIRE DESTROYS RANCH HOME

Residence of Mrs. H. S. Griffin Near Dundee Burns

The ranch home of Mrs. Herbert S. Griffin, half a mile north of Dundee, was destroyed by fire of undetermined origin early Wednesday morning, according to information received here.

The building was a one-story stucco structure of nine rooms, containing many fine objects of art and many antiques. It was said to be one of the finest and most beautifully furnished homes in Archer county and in Northwest Texas. Several of the floors were covered with valuable oriental rugs. The ranch and the home were among the best known in the county.

The fire originated, as near as could be determined, in the front room, and flames had spread over nearly the entire structure when Mrs. Griffin awakened. At the point of suffocation and with great danger to herself, she made her way to a rear room and awakened Frank Glenn, an employe, who was still sleeping and both escaped barefoot and in night clothes.

Although the blaze was confined to the main structure, several other buildings nearby were threatened, but were saved by bucket brigades which obtained water from an earthen tank.

A short circuit in wiring and mice gnawing matches were possible causes of the fire advanced by friends.

Mrs. Griffin, a widow, also maintains a residence in Wichita Falls on Polk street. Her son attends school here.

School Teacher Names Hembree

The girl's testimony opened the state's case against A. Y. Hembree, the second of two Grady county brothers charged with the offense. E. S. Hembree, the older of the two was convicted and sentenced to death after a trial in Duncan last summer. The second trial was transferred to Cotton county on a change of venue plea.

Identifies Hembree

The 23-year-old teacher told the jury that she and a companion, Chad Thurman, printer from Nocona, Texas, were returning from a dance at Loco last March when they were accosted by two men in an automobile, forced to enter the other machine, and driven to the empty house. There the girl was attacked and wounded by a bullet fired at Thurman when he refused to assault her, the witness declared. She identified Hembree as one of the attacking pair. Both she and Thurman were robbed before the two men fled, Miss Bosley declared.

The state claimed a victory Wednesday afternoon when attorneys for Hembree allowed into the record Hembree's admission that he was at the wheel of the car when the couple were stopped, that he drove it to the house, and later drove it away again.

Close Thursday

From the admission it appeared the defense would be based on Hembree's plea that he was not responsible for anything that might have occurred within the shack. In the earlier trial, the elder brother attempted to prove an alibi.

County Attorney C. S. McCuistion said Wednesday night that the state's case was practically complete and that he expected testimony on both sides to close late Thursday. Thurman will be called to the stand early in the day.

The case, which has attracted widespread attention throughout this section of the state, brought a great crowd to the county court room Wednesday.

Hoover Starts Red Cross Drive

"I trust that the Red Cross membership drive this year may be more successful than ever before. The Red Cross is our national insurance against the suffering of disaster in any part of our country. It is not charity in the normal sense of gift without obligation . . ." Thus said President Hoover, who is president of the American Red Cross, at the opening of the annual membership drive. And here you see him being enrolled by Judge John Barton Payne, right, chairman of the organization.

Texas Rangers Pay Tribute to Capt. Rogers

AUSTIN, Nov. 12. (UP)—A company of Texas Rangers from the Rio Grande border came here today to pay their last respects to "the bravest man ever on the ranger force."

Capt. J. H. Rogers, who survived the perils of the service for 50 years, was laid at rest here today. He died Tuesday in a Temple hospital. Recently he had commanded the ranger force with headquarters at Del Rio. Members of that company attended the funeral in a body.

Rogers' service began in 1880. He suffered three wounds, two of them normally mortal, in enforcing the law during frontier days.

Capitalist Uses Fists To Rout Hijackers

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 12. (US)—Unexpected resistance was met early today by two bandits who tried to hold up Harry D. Brown Jr., reputed millionaire and son of the late "Curley" Brown, prominent race track builder and turfman, at his home. Brown, a Christian Science practicioner, floored both gunmen with his fists during a furious fight. They escaped, leaving a trail of blood and several teeth, only after firing a bullet which left a deep furrow across Brown's cheek.

RAIL LINE TO GO ON BLOCK

Chicago and Alton Auction Set for Dec. 11

CHICAGO, Nov. 12. (AP)—A public auction sale of the Chicago and Alton railroad and all its mortgaged property was set for Dec. 11 at Wilmington, Ill., in an announcement today by Herbert A. Lundahl, special master for the federal district court.

The sale is in accordance with the final decree Oct. 1, 1930, on the case of the Texas company and other mortgagees vs. the railroad and offers to the highest bidder the various rail lines owned by the Chicago & Alton, its leases on other lines, millions of dollars in securities, bills and accounts receivable, cash and other property.

The Chicago & Alton road has been in receivership since 1922 and it has been generally understood the Baltimore and Ohio system was preparing to take over the C. & A. to expand its lines westward. The Chicago and Alton has been valued at $125,000,000. Announcement was made last August that a majority of the holders of the Alton's 3½ per cent bonds had agreed to sell them to the Baltimore & Ohio yielding control to that line.

DRAINAGE LOAN PLAN FAVORED

Reclamation Association in Session at Dallas

DALLAS, Nov. 12. (AP)—Support of the bill introduced in the last congress which would create a $95,000,000 non-interest bearing loan fund for the aid of drainage and levee districts affected by bad business conditions was pledged at a meeting here today, called by the Texas Reclamation and Drainage association.

Money obtained through passage of the bill would be used in refunding outstanding indebtedness of districts, taxpayers of which are unable to pay their assessments.

John T. Fortson of Corsicana is president of the association. Others in attendance included B. F. Williams of Austin, state reclamation engineer, W. A. Hartman of Washington, government engineer, and John M. Fouts, general manager of the Trinity River Canal association.

The group endorsed the proposed canalization of the Trinity river. The association discussed the promotion of crops other than cotton for farmers cultivating land within drainage districts. Conditions of Texas drainage districts were described "as acute" but "apparently in no worse condition than those in other sections of the country."

Few Homes Entirely Without Income, Report

DALLAS, Nov. 12. (AP)—Walter Basye of Rochester, N. Y., editor of the Fraternal Age, today told the Texas Fraternal congress that while there was considerable unemployment over the country there was little suffering because one or more members of nearly every family were working. He said this had been revealed by replies to a questionnaire to members of fraternal mutual benefit insurance orders.

Basye said the business depression was mostly psychological. He said larger deposits in mutual savings banks and commercial banks showed that people were afraid and "putting their money by."

'Bargain Bride' Given Five Years for Fraud

NEW YORK, Nov. 12. (AP)—A girl who offered her hand in marriage for $1,000 faced a five to 10 year prison sentence for fraud today.

The girl used the name of "Ruth Miller" and a young Japanese, Suehsi Suzuki, had her arrested at Bedford, Mass., after she vanished with his deposit of $750.

The 21-year-old blonde blamed Jack Madeson and his wife, convicted with her, for her plight. All will be sentenced Nov. 21.

Study Clubs Take Place Of Social Affairs Wednesday

Starting with the morning meeting of the Readers club which is remarkable for the activities of its busy members, Wednesday was as usual the day of study club meetings. Mrs. James G. Oakley was hostess to members of the Readers and with several members sick and out of town, talent was shown by the program which was almost impromptu.

"Over the Baluster" was a number given by the hostess and Mrs. John Thomas read two poems, "In Flanders Field" and "Lincoln, the Man of the People."

A clever little playlet concluded the program and the parts in "Letters" by Ryerson-Clements were taken by Ella Merle Mathis Bristol and Mesdames Charles Reid and Ben Bell.

Those present were Mesdames Ben Bell, Mrs. Harry B. Fuller, James G. Oakley, Charles Reid, John Thomas, Misses Marguerite Fisher, Catherine Sue Ralston, Edna Rundel Kirby, Frances Ann Sanders and Ella Merle Mathis Bristol.

Modern Study Club

Mrs. Arnold Cureton was hostess when members of the Modern Study club met in the afternoon to study "Opera in Germany." Mrs. George Arms talked on "Early Opera" and Mrs. Dick Carpenter on the "Influence of Wagner on Opera." Mrs. Wilburn Page discussed "Modern Art."

Following a round table discussion of German opera, a delightful social hour was held during which a delicious refreshment plate was served to Mesdames Dick Carpenter, George Arms, Ralph Spake, Robert Mathis, Ernest Robertson, Wilburn Page, Arnold Cureton and Misses Retta Barnard, Lucile Smith, Marjorie Bright and Willette Jarrell.

Unity Junior Club

Mrs. Jouette Bonner was hostess at a delightful meeting of the Unity Junior club when members studied matters of real importance. Mrs. J. L. Jackson Jr., read a splendid paper on "Peace Development," and Mrs. C. L. Anderson gave a splendid review of one of the most talked of war stories, "All Quiet on the Western Front."

After a delightful social hour, dainty refreshments were served to Mesdames W. S. Abbott, C. L. Anderson, J. M. Bonner, J. H. S. Bonner, J. P. Coleman, F. J. Elbert, C. J. Francis, G. W. Gutzman, J. L. Jackson Jr., W. U. McCutchen, A. M. Miller, A. D. Montgomery, R. M. Myers, S. S. Staley, L. R. Stringer, J. H. White and Miss Florence Sammons.

New Century Junior

Mrs. Eugene Clark was hostess to members of the New Century Junior club in their study of "Recent Peace Movements," a paper prepared by Miss Crystelle Waggoner and in her absence, read by Mrs. Ted Krohn.

Mrs. Gordon West gave a splendid paper on the constitution of the United States and following its reading gave a quiz on facts used in its preparation. The papers were taken up and will be graded and returned at the next meeting. The young matrons and maids of this club show real work in their program for the coming year.

Members present who were served a delightful salad plate were Mesdames Overton Abernathy, Dillard Anderson, Ray C. Arnhold, Joe B. Carrigan, Eugene Clark, A. R. Dillard, S. M. Gose, John Hampton, Paul Harding, Paul S. Oles, Ted R. Krohn, Ray Puckett and Gordon West.

Standard Club

When members of the Standard club met at the Woman's Forum, they took up two popular and much discussed American writers. Mrs. T. L. McGee was leader on the subject of Southern fiction in Virginia and Mrs. A. C. Price discussed "Poictesme and Its Philosophy"—that historical setting for the most discussed of Cabell's books.

"Barren Ground" by Ellen Glasgow was the subject of an interesting paper by Mrs. W. H. Weaver and Mrs. J. N. Catter gave a splendid paper on "Education in the South."

Members present were Mesdames C. E. Bailey, C. L. Baum, L. L. Boardman, R. D. Bone, S. L. Conn, F. B. Creighton, J. M. Isbell, W. H. Weaver, R. A. Lincoln, W. R. Little, O. P. Maricle, T. L. McGee, A. C. Price, C. W. Staley, J. E. Wolf, and J. N. Catter.

Mrs. D. B. Foy was hostess to members of the 1930 Study club Wednesday and roll call was answered with assigned topics.

Mrs. Jack Rayzor discussed the life of Hugh Walpole and Mrs. George Mobley gave a book review of "Rogue Herries," by Hugh Walpole. A round table discussion closed the program.

Dainty refreshments were served to Mesdames J. H. Campbell, D. B. Foy, R. V. Fite, Roy Grimes, F. C. Hardeman, George Mobley, E. D. Malone, Floyd Pace, Jack Rayzor, J. L. Swanner, Roy Thompson and W. Mrs. Sam Man talked of quite another character of France when she discussed Madame Curie.

Foster, Almond Gates, Darrell Kahn, Eugene Guthrie, Pierce Langford, J. Warner Zimmer, P. King Smith and Misses Helen Grisham, Mary Jo Kell and Frances Ann Saunders.

Forum Sponsors Greet Players For the Public

Members of the Ben Greet Players who have been presented in New Orleans and in San Antonio recently, have been praised highly by critics who have covered their plays in those cities and by the general public.

Sir Philip Ben Greet, a master humorist, is known on this continent with almost as much favor as in Europe. Russell Thorndike as Hamlet, holds his audience spellbound. But the part of Ophelia as played by Enid Clark, is said to be one of sweet wistfulness and true beauty. It has been said that she is one of the few actresses in the role who looks as though she is the young girl that Ophelia is supposed to be. Graceful and slight, with an attractive personality and voice, she makes the part a remarkable one.

The play Hamlet is set only with drapes, using as far as possible the scenery as it was used in Shakespeare's day. The general public will find it one of the most attractive offerings of recent years. Members of the forum will be admitted on their 1931 cards, and the rates for scholastic tickets and for the general public are moderate in price.

Ben Greet's company, it is announced, will leave a lasting memory of the beautifully toned voices of the personnel.

State A. A. U. W. Officer To Be Honoree at Dinner

Mrs. Ernest May, state councilor for the A. A. U. W., who will be presented in a lecture by the literature department of the Woman's Forum Thursday afternoon, has consented to remain over to be present at a dinner to be given by the local chapter A. A. U. W. at the Wichita club at 6 o'clock.

The regular meeting to have been held in the afternoon has therefore been changed to a dinner when Mrs. May will be the principal speaker and is noted as one of charm and personality. O. F. Didson will also speak on "Women and the Investment Problem."

Baldwin Montgomery will give a voice number with Miss Mamie Raborn at the piano.

Guests are urged to be on hand promptly as the dinner will start at 6 o'clock for the convenience of the out of town guest.

Reservations may be made with Mrs. Roy Daniel, 6073 or with the Wichita club.

Complimenting Mrs. E. F. Bohmfalk who is leaving Wichita Falls Mesdames L. C. Ulrich and Stanley M. Forum Executive Board Uses Carnival Funds

Cooperation of Woman's Forum members, merchants and manufacturers was particularly stressed at the executive board meeting held at the Forum clubhouse Wednesday morning when members of the board considered the amount received from the flower carnival and voted to send several checks.

The balance on the yearbooks, approximately $112, was paid and the note on forum club furnishings was paid off—an amount of more than $1,100.

The annual flower show is one time when members of the forum are all called on for help and merchants and manufacturers are asked to participate. Their generosity this year, in the face of what has been called "hard times," was greater than it has ever been and a vote of thanks was extended by the executive board to every friend who took part in the flower carnival.

PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

We know of one neighborhood in town that still has the spirit of neighborliness. During the summer, lights were strung and people in the block played that game that comes and goes without changing very many of its rules—croquet. Then it got too cold for croquet and they've been having just as much fun with "steak frys," or do you say "steak fries?"

In an age that has forgotten the spirit of being neighbor to the one who lives near you, this is a pretty spirit. We wish that more neighborhoods practiced it.

Strange to say, we missed the two minutes of quiet Tuesday. We who love utter silence at times more than anyone with whom we have ever come in contact, did not know the world stood still for two minutes. At 11 o'clock, we were listening to at least four men talk.

We would have liked to hear the bugler sound taps from the balcony of the Hotel Astor. We would have liked to see the row of porters stand at attention in the Pennsylvania station.

It was a pretty "spirit" of attention to be shown to those who passed in the great war. The spirit of a thing is all that counts. Honors that are merely form amount to nothing. With their performance, they are gone.

As we write, we face a lovely orchid chrysanthemum. As we ate our lunch today, we faced through an upstairs window, the top leaves of a tree that was wearing its autumn colors: it has always seemed to us that trees are like the defiant folk that take a last fling at life with brilliant "make-up."

Such things are solace to our soul. We know there are people who say "slush" but we are glad that beauty can keep alive for us a spirit of immortality.

If nothing were beautiful enough to give us a thrill; if we could not feel the ecstacy of music, the beauty of nature when the moonlight is shifting through the trees; if these things did not have the power to take away our feeling of being tired then why live?

We have even gone into our room and read a verse of poetry and forgotten aching bones. We congratulate ourself and feel sorry for that person who hasn't that love of loveliness.

And quiet is one of the lovely things. It is a blessing that does not often descend upon this busy world.

There's many a person going about the world who doesn't care a whit for these things. But there are those who love them. And their spirits never grow gray.

Mrs. Van Noy Honoree At Beautiful Shower

Complimenting Mrs. E. Van Noy, Mesdames C. D. Whitley, Cliff Everts, L. T. Francis and Borden Morris entertained with a shower at the home of Mrs. Whitley on Victory street Wednesday afternoon.

Baskets and vases of autumn flowers were used in the decorations and the feature of the program was a vocal duet, "The Slumber Boat" given by Mesdames A. M. Stimpson and L. T. Francis who were accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Myrl Thompson.

In a contest, Mrs. A. O. Hall won the prize.

A tiny cart filled with lovely gifts and laced with pink tulle and satin ribbon was drawn into the room by little Mary Lynn Brotherton and Billy Whitley and presented to the honoree. Mrs. A. O. Hall won the prize in the contest.

A salad course was served to Mesdames R. P. Brougherton, A. M. Stimpson, A. J. Conner, R. C. Gutherie, J. B. McNeil, Thomas Holcombe, C. W. Stovall, A. O. Hall, O. B. Allbritton, Myrl Thompson, Al Parker, Nathan Lynch, J. E. Parks Jr., H. E. Nettles, J. Gray, W. C. Reeves, P. P. Langford Jr., Eugene Clark, Bryan Lovelace, W. D. Jones, E. Van Noy and the hostesses.

Children of Confederacy Make Interesting Plans

Members of the Lone Star chapter, Children of the Confederacy, met Wednesday with Mrs. Guy Raley at her home on Monroe and the meeting was called to order by Mary Allen Newton, the president.

Plans were made to send $5 to the Old Ladies home in Austin and a drive for new members was inaugurated. Each member is to bring at least one new member to the next meeting.

An interesting discussion of Armistice day celebration around the world was a feature of the afternoon and Katherine Smith gave a splendid talk on "Bravery of Southern Women During the Civil War." A negro dialect reading, "Massa John," was given splendidly by Miss Jonnie Morgan.

Delightful refreshments were served to Sadie Shain, Margaret Alice Pease, Mary Allen Newton, Mildred Mosby, Mary Brown Basham, Katherine Smith, Misses Loraine Russell and Jonnie Morgan and the hostess, Mrs. Raley.

It's always good business to trade at home-owned stores.—Adv.

Wichita Falls friends have received announcements of the birth of Joy Isla, a daughter, to Mr. and Mrs. Mason Ham of San Diego, Calif., on Nov. 5. Mrs. Ham is remembered in Wichita Falls as Miss Isla Cothran. She was a graduate of the Junior college and was elected college beauty in 1927.

'Texas Boy is Healthiest

"My little son, Lee Boyce, had whooping cough," says Mrs. Sam Heyman, 3700 Haynie Ave., Dallas. "He was having a hard time until I heard of California Fig Syrup and got him some. The first few doses regulated his bowels; brightened him up marvelously; even seemed to ease the coughing spasms a great deal.

"I have since used Fig Syrup with my boy during colds or upsets. It has been a wonderful help to him; has assisted in making him the strong boy you see—perhaps the healthiest one in our neighborhood."

For more than fifty years, mothers have praised California Fig Syrup. Leading physicians advise its use with bilious, headachy, constipated children, or to keep the bowels open during colds or children's diseases. Children love its rich, fruity flavor. It tones and strengthens weakened bowels; helps make children robust.

Look for the name California when buying. That marks the genuine.

OPEN FORUM BOOKS SEVEN NATIONALLY KNOWN SPEAKERS

FIRST LECTURE HERE NOV. 23

Dr. David Spence Hill To Open Discussions

Seven nationally known writers and lecturers have been secured to appear on the Wichita Falls Open Forum programs which will start here at the Memorial auditorium Sunday afternoon, Nov. 23, and will continue on Sundays through several months, according to an announcement Wednesday by Dr. O. T. Kimbrough, director.

Noted Educator Coming

The open forum will open its first season with Dr. David Spence Hill, whose subject will be "Man, Master or Victim." Dr. Hill was president of the University of New Mexico from 1919 to 1927, and has been a professor in Tulane university and other institutions and is a writer and lecturer in fields of education and psychology.

On Dec. 7, Dr. Chas. G. Obermayer, brilliant English philosopher and psychologist who has made a notable impression on America in 1929 and 1930, will lecture on the tentative subject "Culture and the Problem of Happiness."

On Dec. 21, Dr. Howard Mumford Jones, formerly of the University of Texas, later of the University of North Carolina and now of the faculty of the University of Michigan as professor of English literature, and very favorably known in the Southwest, will lecture on the tentative subject "The Future of Southern Culture."

On Feb. 8, Dr. Lorine Pruette, Ph. D., consulting psychologist and member of the staff of the psychological clinic in New York City, will lecture on "Women in the Modern World" or "Decline of the Male." Dr. Pruette is well known as an author, and as a lecturer, she is rated as one of the most talented of her sex in America.

March 22, Jose Kelly, commissioner of commerce, industry and labor, to the United States from Mexico since 1926, will speak on "The United States of Mexico: Team Work for Good." Senor Kelly is a vigorous and colorful speaker as an interpreter of Mexico.

March 27, Dr. A. E. Haydon of the department of comparative religion of the University of Chicago will speak on the tentative subject "The Real Issue Between Science and Religion." Dr. Haydon is widely accepted as an authority on the history and significance of religious development.

April 5, Dr. Edward A. Steiner, distinguished member of the faculty of Grinnell college (Iowa), will speak on the tentative subject "Conflict Between Culture and Civilization." Dr. Steiner's writings have related chiefly to the immigrant and to better racial understanding.

Purpose of the Forum

Dr. Max Strang will probably be secured for Sunday, Jan. 11, it was announced.

The purpose of the forum, it was stated, is to encourage thought and a knowledge of a most complicated and progressive civilization; to make its members world citizens rather than colloquial; to have a popular appeal which will draw in its audience people of all classes, creeds and colors. The forum, it was declared, is a non-profit organization and particularly invites and urges the citizens of other localities within commuting distance of Wichita Falls to feel that they are welcome to the programs and to make a habit of attending all lectures.

Christian Churches of District To Hear Oklahoma Leader in Address

Dr. Claude E. Hill, pastor of the First Christian church of Tulsa, Okla., will be the principal speaker at a banquet to be held by members of the Christian churches of the Wichita district at the First Christian church Thursday evening at 6:30 o'clock, it was announced Wednesday.

Dr. Hill is expected to arrive by a private airplane Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock and will return to his home Friday morning by plane.

Harry Hines, prominent layman of the local church, will also make an address. R. V. Tidwell, vice president of the Graham National bank of Graham, and president of the district will act as toastmaster and preside at the affair.

Dr. Hill is a nationally known civic leader of the Brotherhood of the Disciples of Christ in North America and was one of the principal speakers at the international and world convention of Christian churches held recently in Washington.

Auditors Start Work On County Records

Auditing of all county books and records for the period from Jan. 1, 1927, to Dec. 31, 1930, began Wednesday morning by the firm of Allred, Lambert & Nichols, who were awarded the contract Monday.

Four to six accountants will be employed steadily in auditing the records. The work will be completed by Jan. 15, members of the firm said.

Use of trucks has cut railroad freight traffic 50 per cent in the Dominican republic.

'Hell and Back' Valise Routed Out of Wichita

Bearing the labels of many cities and consigned "To Hell and Back," a much-traveled valise spent four hours in Wichita Falls Wednesday afternoon, while bus officials carried on a heated argument as to whether or not it was nearer its destination.

The bag began its varied journey about two months ago in El Paso, and has traveled since to many parts of the country, with the number of souvenirs typical of many miles' travel steadily increasing.

Among the numerous articles picked up during its travels are baby dolls, hotel and cafe silverware, an old tin can, soap, and many tags, stickers and menus.

The traveling bag has no certain destination other than that to which the whims and notions of the bus drivers into whose hands it falls take it. Its next stop will be Amarillo, having boarded a north-bound bus late Wednesday.

Officials Arrive For Term of U. S. Court

Opening of the November term of the United States district court here next Monday by Judge W. H. Atwell was presaged Wednesday by the arrival of E. Crippen, assistant United States district attorney, and Miss Ino R. McCook, secretary to United States District Attorney N. A. Dodge, for preliminary work in connection with the prospective docket.

Mr. Dodge will be here for the opening of court at 10 o'clock next Monday morning, Nov. 17, according to Miss Jessie Cowan, deputy United States district clerk.

All cases which will not need to be heard by the grand jury to be formed upon the arrival of Judge Atwell will be filed between now and the hour for opening the coming term, it was announced.

"An Example of Advancement"

"Competition is the life of business. To win leadership a manufacturer must make his product more desirable than others. Hence there results a great benefit to the public through constant striving for improvement. The use of the modern Ultra Violet Ray in toasting the tobaccos used in LUCKY STRIKES is an example of such advancement."

Vincent Bendix

Everyone knows that sunshine mellows—that's why TOASTING includes the use of the Ultra Violet Ray. LUCKY STRIKE—the finest cigarette you ever smoked, made of the finest tobaccos—the Cream of the Crop—THEN—"IT'S TOASTED." Everyone knows that heat purifies and so TOASTING removes harmful irritants that cause throat irritation and coughing. No wonder 20,679 physicians have stated LUCKIES to be less irritating!

The Great Landslide It Explodes a Legend When Stocks Dive New Crop of Voters

By EMILE GAUVREAU

Well-fed, prosperous Americans, and there are many of them left, discuss the elections in their comfortable clubs and ask:

"Why such a landslide and what brought it all about?"

If they would take the trouble to talk to some of the 6,000,000 people out of work they would find out quickly enough. The old idea that one political party in this country can bring about and maintain prosperity is as dead as the dodo.

When people are not too busy to vote something generally happens. Mr. Hoover came into power with grand proclamations that he was to be the safe protector of prosperity. The Democratic landslide blows up that legend. It so happens that big slumps in American business have come during Democratic administrations, but this time it happend while a Republican president, and a very unlucky one, was on the job. Mr. Hoover will have an unpleasant time of it, but don't blame it all on him, though most of the country seems to think so.

Anxious gentlemen watch the market, which reflects the nation's unrest. Prices drop on news of the Democratic sweep. Steel hits 142 and many hearts palpitate. But we are used to it now. Last year, on the day after election, stocks did not merely drop, they dove, with net declines in some cases of 20 points or more. We have had plenty of time to ponder over what happens to false prosperity.

Unemployment had much to do with the landslide, but don't forget prohibition as an important cause of it. Prohibition, an impossible law, has been on the books for 12 years. It has been a disgrace to the country. Every year, for 12 years, these young voters with their new, fresh opinions, have been casting their ballots. They don't like prohibition. We are feeling the first effects of that new thought.

Professor Zing Yang Kuo of the University of Chekiang, China, makes a discovery which will interest many, including cartoonists who, drawing for the animated comics, make more money than the president. The professor finds that cats and rats are not natural enemies. His experimental studies show that the hostility is due to the inclination and perpetration of an ancient prejudice.

Experimental studies show that in the whole animal kingdom there are no "natural" enemies. Hunger, unjust advantages, arrogance, vanity, groundless suspicions will make foes of the friendliest of creatures. We need not wait for the millennium for the wolf to lie down with the lamb, or the leopard with the kid. The removal of hunger and fear alone will almost accomplish the miracle.

The fact that the $50,000,000 bond issue in New York state has gone through by a vote of 15 to 1 is another indication that people are being aroused to brotherly consciousness in the matter of unemployment. These millions, to be used in rehabilitating prisons and hospitals, will provide work for thousands over a period of five years.

Bankers will tell you that there is plenty of money on hand, but that they can find little industrial use for it at the moment. In view of the dire distress of multitudes, who haven't enough to buy food, clothing or shelter, this frozen money is an economic crime against the people who created it, and whom it should serve.

There are more than 500 factories in Washington, D. C.

There has been no execution for murder in Denmark since 1892.

What We Pay for Coal

APPARENTLY we do not get horrified as easily as we used to. There was a day—not so terribly remote, either—when the news that more than 80 men had been killed by an explosion in a coal mine would have shocked us almost beyond endurance. But the Sunday Creek tragedy in Ohio, if it did not pass unnoticed, at least made little more than a ripple on the surface.

Of course, it happened at the wrong time. News of it reached the country on a day when election returns were in everybody's mind. It was a lot more interesting, that day, to see who was being elected to what than it was to read about a few score men being killed in underground passages along the Hocking valley. Usually we can't absorb more than one sensation at a time.

Nevertheless, this disaster should have jarred us harder than it did. For the coal miner, after all, is a man whose job touches all of us. The coal that you shovel into your furnace, on winter nights, was brought up for you by men who risked just such catastrophies. At some time during your life you have been kept warm by a fire that was bought with some man's blood.

The very least we can do is to meditate a bit on the coal miner and his job. It isn't a very pleasant job, and it most assuredly is not one on which a man can grow rich. It is characterized by poor living quarters, recurring labor troubles and intermittent employment. The industry as a whole is ailing, and when an industry falls sick the worker is always the first man to discover the symptoms—in his pay envelope, usually.

All in all, the coal miner is not a man to be envied; and when you add to his other troubles the fact that explosions and cave-ins will happen, now and then, in spite of all precautions, you can perhaps understand how it is that bitter and violent strikes occasionally disrupt the industry.

All of this, probably, is just another way of saying that this is rather an imperfect world. The millennium probably is still a little distance away. Coal is a commodity with which nature has bountifully supplied us, and which we need very much; but so far nobody seems to have devised a means of geting it out of the earth that does not mean a pretty poor sort of life for the man who does the digging.

Nor is there anything in particular that we can do about it. It will take a good deal of time—plus a good deal more honest thought than has yet been given the subject—to make coal mining what it ought to be; and in the meantime we shall go on as we are, with a subterranean explosion every now and then to remind us that the job hasn't been finished. But it is at least good for us to realize just how things are. It may help to keep us from getting too contented with things.

Respect the Farmer's Property

ONE OF THE MOST flagrant violations of the rules of good sportsmanship and of the property rights of others reported to this newspaper in many months involves the loss of three turkeys by a Clay county farmer to three Wichita Falls hunters. According to the story given The Record News, the three Wichita Falls men, apparently in the belief that the owner of the turkeys was not at home, shot three of the birds, threw them in their car and proceeded home. Fortunately the farmer heard the shots and took up the pursuit in his own car, finally locating the men in Wichita Falls and collecting, with police aid, $10 each from them for the turkeys.

Such conduct on the part of residents of this or any other city is all too common. If the three guilty hunters had been hungry hoboes, we would call them sneak thieves. The Wichita Falls men, holding responsible positions here and well able to buy the turkeys, would resent a similar appelation, although it seems to this newspaper their act was more reprehensible than if they had been driven to it by the demands of hunger.

City residents who would not dare step across a neighbor's lawn and pull his roses or help themselves to the turnips or radishes in his back yard, seem to lose all sense of property rights and of justice when they are in the country. Taking a watermelon, a peach or a box of berries from a fruit stand in town is theft, but in the country many of us think a raid on an orchard, garden or berry patch is just a practical joke on the farmer.

One result of this indifferent attitude of the city dweller to the rights of the farmer is already reflected in the restrictions placed on hunters and fishermen by property owners. The farmer who will allow a stranger to go hunting or fishing on his land has become the exception. He knows from bitter experience the treatment he is all too apt to receive in return for his kindness. And so far as this newspaper can judge, he will be justified in his attitude until sportsmen take steps to protect their recreation from the bad name given it by irresponsible persons.

Careful and conscientious sportsmen of Wichita Falls and of Texas must suffer for the pilfering and malicious mischief of such men as the three fearless turkey hunters mentioned above. As to these nimrods, The Record News would judge that they own three hunting licenses which are far more deserving of revocation by the state than if they had slaughtered a hundred ducks or two score quail.

The Lame Ducks Again

RIGHT NOW is an excellent time to mention once more the fact that the Norris "lame duck" amendment to the constitution ought to be passed at the very earliest opportunity.

A great many senators and representatives were voted out of office at the recent election; yet every man jack of them will help make laws for us during the next sitting of congress. The voters have decided that they want no more of them, but back to Washington they will go, to exercise their old powers for a good many weeks.

Such a situation is utterly ridiculous, and admits of no defense. The Norris amendment would end it, and there is no good reason why it should not be speedily adopted. Any politician who fails to vote for it ought to be called on for a speedy explanation.

Portrait of a Man Talking to Himself

The excitement in a newspaper editorial department while the election returns come in . . . The din of the countless machines thumping out the defeat of this candidate or that one, and the glory for the other fellow . . . Wonder how sad a loser feels? . . . It's so noisy I can't even hear the rat-a-tat-tattle of my typewriter keys . . . Gee! it must grand to be a reporter! . . . I mean like those boys and girls out there, who have been on the hop since the polls opened . . . When there is real news—fellers like me realize just how unimportant we are to a newspaper . . . Those machines fascinate me . . . The INS wires are thumping breathlessly . . . Even that little red-headed copy boy, who keeps racing here and there, is busy ripping the yellow copy paper out of the machines after every paragraph . . . And hastening it to the city desk . . . Where the blood of a newspaper circulates . . . The last time I watched those machines was when Judd Gray and Ruth Snyder went to the hot seat at Sing Sing . . . How ill it made me when the one sentence came in, the signal to release the paper, which was ready for the newsstands . . . A tiny bell made a tinga-ling and the machine seemed to writhe and squirm . . . Then this: "Flash—Ruth Snyder dead! . . . In chair 11:01—Dead 11:06!"

That caption under the huge photo of the Notre Dame-Pittsburgh game in the Sunday World's roto section is too comical . . . "The Fighting Irish Prove Their Mettle," it says . . . And then: "Schwartz, Notre Dame backfield ace, making Notre's first touchdown." . . . Some readers are just as amusing, though . . . Maybe it's that retribution thing I've heard so much about . . . The tales I hear about myself . . . I'd rather be hissed at than yawned at, any time! . . . Now the newest legend . . . That I boost Ruth Etting's phonograph platters and her stage activities because she is my sweetheart . . . Heheheh . . . That's what I get for saying something nice about somebody . . . You mustn't throw word bouquets at people . . . If you hammer them you are jealous of their success, but when you boost 'em—ah-hah! . . . Particularly if the recipient of prasie is a femme . . . What was that grand crack by that philosopher? . . . Oh, yes—jealous ears hear double.

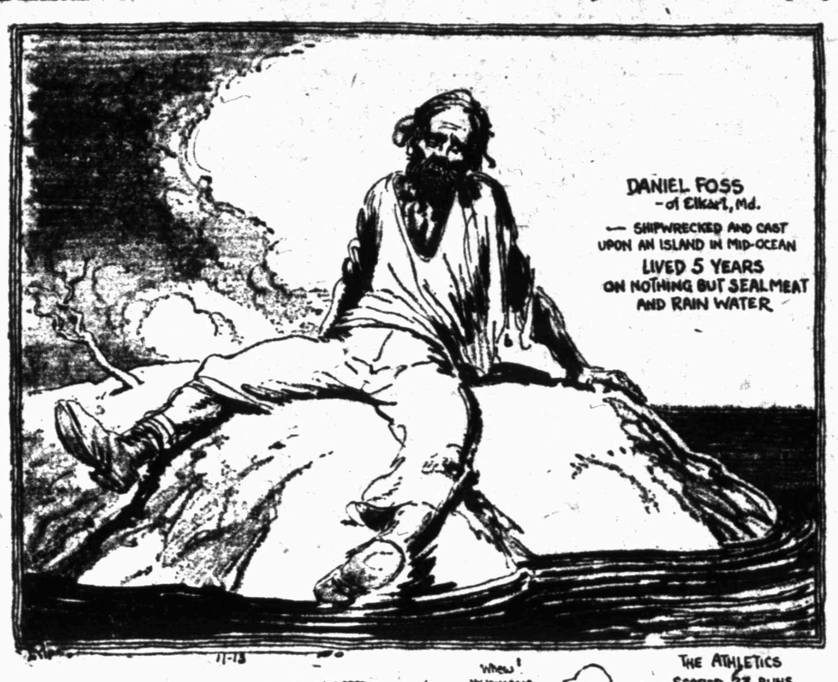

Things that burn me up and knock me cold . . . That hospital at Woodhaven, L. I., which refuses private patients the privilege of reading certain newspapers . . . Of all things! . . . And when a private patient wanted a radio in her room she was comforted with: "You should prepare yourself for the next world and cease seeking this world's evil distractions." . . . "No beast is more savage than man." . . . Some ad-writers are too clever . . . The lad who thinks up the Old Gold ones frinstance . . . The railway train cars which feature this advertisement: "No Smoking—Not Even Old Gold Cigarettes!" . . . No wonder they call Aimee MacPherson the Guinan of Religion . . . When she wants a heavy collection she hints: "We have enough copper to cover our roof. Let's have a noiseless collection!" . . . Meaning she wants paper money . . . We used to call it "showmanship" on the small-time . . . Wonder if it is true that yesterday marked the first time that a reporter couldn't get a drink at Tammany Hall?

I am glad Variety decided to list me again along with the others in its critics' box-score . . . Even if I did cop the booby prize . . . When Variety dropped me last season on the ground that "it was unfair to the other boys" because I didn't cover as many shows (considering my exile from so many playhouses) I columned in rebuttal that if I ran last I would be tabulated . . . I'm psychic, by golly! . . . You find the most unusual things between the Times Building and the 53rd St. "L" . . . Take the situation in the "Sisters of the Chorus" show, frixample . . . Sonia Kariov has to shelve the troupe because of illness . . . A lassie tagged Catherine Crosby pinch-hits . . . Playing a role, highly seasoned enough, opposite a "sugar daddy" . . . He's on the make for her . . . Off stage the "sugar daddy" is Henry Crosby—her real father! . . . There is a shudder somewhere in that.

Gotta do that book for Simon & Schuster, I know, but I can't find the time! . . . My conscience bothers me . . . I wish they'd take back the advance . . . Wonder if they would accept a book made up of more engaging material than I could ever jot down . . . The way Mencken did . . . He saved every rap to which his attention was summoned—the doggawndest attacks ever a man served target for, bitter paragraphs dipped in carbolic they were—from ministers, editors and others . . . Then when he had collected a trunk load of them he put them between covers! . . . The gesture delightful . . . In other words 'Mencken made money on his enemies' ammunition! . . . Paragraphed praises bore people when you ask them to inspect your scrapbook . . . I would include the notice by the Lansing, Michigan, critic who said I danced as gracefully as a duck out of water . . . No one ever equaled Napoleon in the art of getting himself talked about . . . Didn't Dr. Brown argue that a man should stand in doubt of himself when he is very popular?

They wouldn't believe it if I told it, I'm sure . . . They'd say it was a gag, a joke, anything to make people laugh . . . But it is hardly a funny item . . . I mean the fact about the lad who held an important post with the Paramount flicker firm in New York . . . And who quit recently for this amazing reason: Every week he was bombarded with chiselers, panhandlers and so many others who were suffering from unemployment-poisoning that he discovered he was coming out on the wrong side of the ledger . . . so he decided to quit his job, and join the unemployed to see if he could do any better . . . I never thought I'd live to see it—the gag about teaching people how to become columnists! . . . For a dollar you rate a personal lesson, says the advertiser in the humor magazines . . . Ten lessons for $2 and a single lesson by mail costs only two-bits . . . The come-on says in part: "Became a Columnist! They make plenty of money. Not that they write better than you might write, but because they have a Name!" . . . Wonder why the mugg doesn't get an example?

HEARTBREAK GIRL

By ROB EDEN . . .

Gail Stuart, befriended by Nick Walther after she has hiked to Hollywood, can't get into pictures. She becomes secretary to Carla Cross, the star, and by a subterfuge gets Ross Hardy, her fiance, a job as Carla's leading man. He makes good, but fame turns his head and Gail ends their engagement when he makes love to Carla. Carla, hoping to marry the wealthy Walther, discharges Gail when he takes her to dinner. Nick loves Gail and wants to marry her. Ross won't help the girl and she gets a job in a store. She forces Carla to pay off a woman the actress has injured in an auto crash while Gail took the blame. Ross comes to the store to ask Gail to dinner and she is thrilled, as she still loves him. He tells her of his financial troubles. She knows he has been living far beyond his means.

Of course that's what he wanted. He wanted her to forgive him. She would tell him nothing mattered but his love.

CHAPTER XXXII

Ross said very little during the meal. When they were lingering over their coffee Gail spoke.

"It's like old times, isn't it?"

"What?"

"You and I—" She didn't want to explain. She wanted him to understand.

Ross frowned, and set down his coffee cup. "I've a favor to ask you, Gail—" he paused as if he did not quite know how to begin.

The girl leaned over the table eagerly. Her chin was cupped in her hands, and her small mouth was trembling. Her eyes were almost black, and her long lashes quivered over them from time to time.

Hopes Fall

Ross pulled out his watch and glanced at it quickly. Gail noticed it wasn't the one he had formerly. This was thinner, and smaller, initialed "R. H." There was a watch, too, on the silver lighter on the table, but apparently he had forgotten it. Gail picked up the cigaret lighter because she had to have something in her fingers. Idly she admired the small watch, the size of a dime on the face of the lighter. Then turning it over, she saw an inscription on the back, R. H. from C. C.

Carla had given him the lighter! Then Carla gave him gifts, too. She dropped the trinket as if it had been fire. She hadn't thought of Carla for quite a time, an hour at least, all the time they had been eating.

R. H. from C. C. The initials were staring her in the face. Hastily she turned the lighter over and the watch was visible. There, that was better. She wouldn't be reminded that way of Carla . . .

"The favor, Ross?" What could she do for him, that he couldn't do for himself? Nothing, she decided, except to forgive him. Of course, that's what he wanted. Wanted her to forgive him! A film of tears veiled her eyes, as she looked at him. She would tell him nothing mattered but his love . . .

Ross stamped out a cigaret, and immediately lighted another.

He seemed nervous about something. Gail longed to put her hand on his.

Then he plunged into his subject as if to get it through as quickly as possible. "You see, I'm awfully short of money, Gail. Maybe you didn't know but I'm telling you . . ."

She nodded. Sarah had been right, and Ross was worried. She was glad in a way that he was worried. That meant he was coming to his senses.

Mere Nothing

"My salary is a mere nothing. I can't possibly live on it. It's a shame to expect me to live on it. I've told Max time and time again he'll have to get me more money, and he's promised. I even went to Mr. Werber and asked him. Well," he set his lips grimly, and the frown deepened on his forehead, "well, Mr. Werber refused to give me any more—is intending to hold me to my contract. Nothing I could say would do any good. I even went to a lawyer, and he says the contract is legal, so I can't do a thing! You see how I'm placed? A measly two hundred a week and of course my expenses are a lot more. Much more. I've rent on my house, my boy to pay, then I've another cabin now on the beach. I have to have some relaxation, and I love to swim. Damn it all! It's too much to expect to think I can live on two hundred a week! In a few months I'll be getting two fifty, but that won't help.

"I pay Tod Janson fifty a week, but he's worth it. He's doing me a lot of good."

Gail was a little disappointed. She had thought Ross was going to be sensible. Talk of cutting down his expenses.

"Werber's can't expect me to do good work when I'm worried about finances. And I can't do good work with creditors bowling at my heels all the time. I buy things because I want them. Everybody wants things, luxuries and all that—" Ross hailed the waiter for some fresh hot coffee.

"It's no fun having to worry, like I've worried lately. I—I borrowed some money from my bank to tide me over, and went again yesterday for another loan. They refused it, Gail! Imagine! Then I went to some other money lenders. Wouldn't give me a cent, and the studio won't let me have any more advances."

Ross Rankly Extravagant

Why was he telling her this? Did he want to borrow money from her? She didn't have any. If she had she would lend him—anything . . .

"You see how I'm fixed?" he asked. She nodded, but did not look at him this time.

"I haven't a cent, and my salary is pledged for a year and a half on my bank loan. I can't even collect it. A pretty mess! Working for nothing for a year and a half!"

Gail remembered the riding horse Mrs. Cross had said he had presented Carla. Was it only yesterday she had been up there, pleading for Mrs. Mendenhall?

"I have to have money, Gail."

"I see. I wish I had some to—give you—"

"But you can help me, Gail! You can, don't you see?"

She stared at him vaguely. She help him? Impossible.

"Nick Walther is a good friend of yours, isn't he?"

"Yes—" What did he mean?

"Well, I thought—you see—well—can't you go to Nick and ask him to loan me some money?" Ross sighed heavily. It was out. Hard to do, but he had to do it. Now it was done. He wiped his forehead with a silk handkerchief. He would not tell her that he already had seen Nick this afternoon. No necessity of that, and that Nick had refused him the loan. Refused him rather shortly, too. Carla had told him to go to him, when he had gone to her in despair.

"Nick has lots of money, Ross. He'll help you out. He's helped me out."

So he had gone, thinking it would be easy, thinking Nick would hand him the money immediately, smiling as he did it. Ross had not had much experience with loans.

He couldn't believe Nick had refused him. He had seen Carla after his visit to Walther, and told her the situation. Nick was his last hope. Again Carla had been helpful.

"Get Gail Stuart to ask him. I think he—likes her."

She had said it rather savagely, and Ross had taken her at her word. No harm asking Gail to do this for him. And it might be a good hunch.

"You want me to go to Nick and ask him to loan you money?" Gail thought at first she hadn't understood. Surely Ross wouldn't ask her to do this!

Lump in Throat

"Yes, will you?"

"Oh, I can't Ross—I can't—" she shook her head. Go to Nick, and ask him money for Ross, when Nick loved her. Of course she couldn't do it—not even for Ross.

Ross leaned back dejectedly. "I'm disappointed. I thought you might—surely there's no harm trying?"

"I couldn't go to Nick, Ross, not even for you." Ross hadn't asked her out to renew their love. He didn't love her at all. And she had counted—had hoped. Sick with discouragement, she turned to the water, and looked out over the ocean. Ross didn't love her. All the time they had been together, he had been thinking of Carla, wanting Carla . . . Oh, God . . . She swallowed the lump in her throat and brushed a weary hand over her eyes. She had been blind. Blind.

"I don't know what I'll do, Gail. I'll have to give up my house, my car, everything. I just can't do it—you don't understand! I can't work feeling like I do. I came off the set today to see you, to ask you this, and you refuse me. I'll just have to let the picture go—I'll be terrible if I try to work feeling so low—"

"You wouldn't stop work?" Gail was astonished. This picture was to mean everything to Ross. His future, for "Crossroads" had started his fame, but he had to have

Lucey Advises Texas Employers To Maintain Full Working Force

DALLAS, Nov. 22. (AP)—Keeping all present employes at work, even though it may be necessary to reduce them to part time status, is the greatest need in the unemployment crisis, Capt. J. F. Lucey, member of President Hoover's emergency commission, said here today.

Captain Lucey arrived from New Orleans this morning and planned to leave for Oklahoma City tonight. He had been in Washington conferring with other members of the commission and also with a number of federal department heads in an effort to speed up work in the Southwest. He said he received assurances that everything possible would be done to speed up this work.

The Southwestern member of the president's commission met early this week with Gov. Huey P. Long of Louisiana and citizens of New Orleans on unemployment there. He said a Louisiana state unemployment bureau and one for New Orleans were being organized.

"I do not believe it will be necessary to organize a Texas state unemployment bureau," he said. "The work must be done in the cities such as Dallas, Fort Worth, Houston, Amarillo, San Antonio, and several others. Committees already are functioning in Fort Worth and Amarillo."

Captain Lucey said that so far he had under his jurisdiction Arkansas, Louisiana, Texas, Oklahoma, Missouri and Kansas. During the next two weeks he will check conditions in the district, after which he will go to Washington again.

RECLUSE SLAYS RIVAL IN DUEL

Aged Man Dying After Gun Battle

ELLICOTT CITY, Md., Nov. 12. (INS)—A gun duel between a 70-year-old recluse and the man who married his divorced wife was revealed at Atholton, near here today when neighbors broke into the home of Herman Westphal and found Charles Hubble, 40, dead and Westphal dying.

The room was blazing from a fire presumably started by the shot gun charges.

Five years ago, Mrs. Westphal, then in her early 20's, was divorced from her elderly husband and later was married to Hubble. Yesterday Westphal invited Hubble to go hunting with him, and the two men went off. The Westphal home showed that the men had been drinking prior to the shooting.

Clara Bow And Secretary Break Long Friendship

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Nov. 12. (INS)—One of the film colony's close friendships was considered at an end today after Clara Bow's announcement that she had reached a parting of the ways with her confidential secretary, Daisy Devoe.

The two had been close companions for several years, and each time Miss Bow, the red-haired film star, became involved in some publicity-getting rumpus, Miss Devoe stood by issuing statements and denials.

Neither would comment on the reason for the parting after it became known. Miss Bow carried out the instructions given her by her attorney recently, that she make no more public statements without first getting his advice.

Neither Miss Devoe nor W. I. Gilbert, Miss Bow's attorney, could be reached for amplification of the admission made by Miss Bow that she had broken with her secretary.

A.P.I. SPEAKER PLEADS CONSERVATION OF GAS RESOURCES

OIL MEN URGED TO END WASTE

C. B. Ames Offers Another Remedy for Industry

CHICAGO, Nov. 12. (AP)—Another remedy for ills of the industry was prescribed before the American Petroleum Institute today—C. B. Ames, vice president of the Texas company, urging legislation to prevent wastage of natural gas.

In a paper before the unit operation division, Ames praised efforts already made as well as future plans for limiting production. He suggested by stopping the two billion cubic feet of gas blown in the air every day, the United States could not only cut down production to a point where the oil industry might recover but also save millions of dollars annually and conserve an irreplaceable resource.

The gas, which he said is being wasted principally in California, Oklahoma and Texas, brings to the surface more than 400,000 barrels of oil per day and also produces large quantities of natural gasoline which is not needed at this time.

"A reduction of 400,000 barrels of crude per day, and a reduction of the natural gasoline output derived from the wasted gas would have an immediate effect upon the crude situation of incalculable value to the industry," Ames said, and added that better refinery prices and reduction of stocks above ground would follow.

"After a while, as the demand for crude increases, the gas which would otherwise be wasted would be returned to the oil sands for further use in the production of crude, thus increasing the ultimate yield by a figure which is estimated by some competent observers as 20 per cent of the total," said the Texas official.

Pointing out the oil and gas resources are irreplaceable and when they once are exhausted they are permanently exhausted. Ames urged each state take advantage of the federal statutes enabling it to stop the flow of wasted gas.

Ames agreed with previous speakers in saying the utilization of oil pools was a theory "so obviously sound that there is practically no division of opinion as to its desirability."

One of the earlier papers, prepared by John P. West of the Prairie Oil and Gas company, Tulsa, said the unit plan not only was "legally and from all leasing standpoints sound and practical, but it is in line with economic thought and an elaboration of the cooperation and conservation movement."

With encouragement West said, unitization eventually will substitute for proration and he added its growth should be fostered by discouragement of other currently used, but non-economic alternatives.

Discussing the subject from still another angle, T. E. Swigart of the Shell Oil company, Los Angeles, took up the engineering and economic aspects and asserted unitization is the best suited policy to accomplish the desired results—cooperation to avoid evils of competitive development; regulation of output to avoid overproduction; and fair division of current and ultimate revenues from underground deposits of oil and gas among rightful owners.

The board of directors today approved the continuation of fundamental research in petroleum begun five years ago with gifts of $250,000 each from John D. Rockefeller and the Universal Oil Products company. The institute directors approved a plan for raising a special fund of $100,000 a year to continue this research into the occurrence and recovery, and the composition and properties of petroleum. Individual companies will be asked to contribute to the fund.

The directors, who were in session nearly all day, also re-elected E. B. Reeser of Tulsa, president of the institute and named the following vice presidents: L. P. St. Clair, Los Angeles; Robert P. Penn, Dallas; R. C. Holmes, New York; E. G. Seubert, Chicago. Other officers were W. R. Boyd Jr., New York, executive vice president; A. L. Beatty, New York, treasurer; Lacey Walker, New York, secretary.

The institute's code of ethics, adopted last year, came in for extensive discussion today with most speakers, including E. C. Hall of the Standard Oil company of New Jersey, praising the act of business standards in glowing terms.

Sweetwater Host To Methodists

SWEETWATER, Texas, Nov. 12. (AP)—More than 500 delegates were registered today for the opening session of the Northwest Texas conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, South.

The sessions today were devoted principally to arranging details for work during the rest of the conference. Dr. J. Walton Mills, Beaumont, presiding elder, preached during the afternoon session and Dr. T. F. Ralls, tonight.

Dr. L. E. Todd, general secretary of the superannuate endowment fund, reported that $6,000,000 of a $10,000,000 fund had been raised.

Memorial services for deceased pastors of the district will be held Sunday.

Bishop Hiram A. Boaz of Houston presided.

Ozark Ripley Thrills Anglers And Hunters at Izaak Walton Banquet

Noted Sportsman Gives Address at Annual Dinner; Work of Local Chapter Reviewed by Oneal

By FRED THOMPSON
Record News Sports Editor

Always leaving the beaten path to tell some good yarn of the fishing stream or the hunters' camp, Ozark Ripley, the "old timer," brought the message of conservation of wild life to members of the Izaak Walton league chapter here Wednesday night. Mr. Ripley was the principal speaker at the chapter's fall banquet held in the Woman's Forum. Approximately 120 members, their wives and friends, attended.

Quality of Sport

Ripley spoke of conservation as "the keynote of all success in connection with wild life of any sort—fish, game, or forests," traced the history of the conservation movement in America, and concluded his remarks on the subject with the declaration that "it is the quality of the sport that counts, and not the quantity of fish you get." He urged conservation as an ideal for the Izaak Walton league to follow in the interest of American youth, stating the league, while anxious to preserve game and fish for sport among its members, was inspirey by this further goal. He spurred the members to carefulness in observing game laws with the assertion, "I have the greatest abhorrence for a fourflusher."

Preceding Mr. Ripley's speech, Ben G. Oneal, president of the chapter, listed the accomplishments of the local organization in respect to conservation in this district during the past year.

Members of the league partook of the fruits of their labors when the banquet hall was thrown open. Grapefruit and "petrified soup" was all they saw when they took their seats, but after the preliminaries the banquet board was laden with wild duck and fish, supplied by the shooting irons and casting rods of members of the chapter. There was wild game aplenty and the second round didn't suffice in many instances. And even when it was all over, it was said there was enough duck meat to serve another helping.

The "old-timer" drew applause from his many stories, particularly the one in which he related how he had snared the biggest trout in the world only to lose him when, thinking he was throwing it to the bank after a great fight, he threw the monster into another stream of the river which was shrouded in tall grass.

Any doubts the veteran fishermen in the audience may have entertained after these exciting stories had been told were dispelled when several reels of movies taken on Ozark's recent fishing trip in Ontario were flashed on the screen. The movies showed Ripley hauling in some whoppers.

Mr. Ripley is scheduled to speak tonight at Breckenridge, where an organization meeting of a Stephens County Izaak Walton league will be held. He will be accompanied on the trip by Mr. Oneal.

Achievements of the local chapter during the year, as outlined by Mr. Oneal in the opening address of the evening, included extensive work on rearing ponds at Lake Wichita and the big lakes.

The chapter member outstanding in these endeavors, Mr. Oneal said, was J. W. Pond, "the man who put the pond in rearing ponds." Mr. Pond, the speaker said, had given his services unseifishly in making the Lake Wichita project a success.

The chapter, in the last year, placed 1,526 bass, and 14,000 bream in Lake Wichita; 2,053 bass and 15,000 bream in Diversion lake; and 450 bass and 10,000 bream in Lake Kemp. These included fish shipped here by the state and federal governments.

Approximately 28,000 bass were placed in the rearing pond at Lake Kemp, Mr. Oneal said, many of which, however, were lost in the June overflow. At Lake Wichita two rearing ponds were built and fenced and during the year about 35,000 young fish, ranging in size from two to six inches, were taken from these ponds and placed in Lake Wichita.

At Lake Kemp, he continued, the Vernon chapter built an additional pond, making three in all, and it is expected a large supply of bass will be forthcoming from these projects in the future.

As for the chapter's activities toward preserving game, 48 pairs of quail were loosed in protected pastures last spring, Mr. Oneal said.

Mr. Oneal then detailed the chapter's activities towards obtaining a division of the league in Texas intp two districts, in order that the chapters can work together to better advantage, and detailed the progress of the membership drive now being conducted by the local chapter. A membership of 300 is the goal of the drive, he said.

Prizes are to be awarded the member bringing in the largest number of initiates. Mr. Ripley, after this had been announced, said he would send an autographed set of his books to member winning first prize.

WOMEN CALL DONORS' ROLL

Permanent Home Founders Are Listed

HOUSTON, Nov. 12. (AP)—A "roll call" of the names of approximately 200 founders and patrons of the proposed permanent home of the State Federation of Women's clubs, each name representing gifts of $100 and more, was made at today's session of the federation convention in session here.

The names, including those of individuals and clubs, of donors to the permanent headquarters home to be built in Austin were announced by the seven district presidents. The fifth district of which Mrs. Volney Taylor of Brownsville is president ranked highest with 47 names. The fourth district of which Houston is a part ranked second with 40 names.

Endorsement of the past year's work of the fine art department of the federation, and of the main objectives as outlined by the various chairmen, was made at the afternoon session.

Resolutions calling for radical changes in the educational system of Texas as applied to county superintendents and the school attendance of rural children, were read by Dr. Annie Webb Blanton, former state superintendent of public instruction.

The resolutions also called for repeal of the present laws as to the certification of teachers, and vesting in the state board of education authority to make rules as to the issuance of teachers' certificates; raising the standard of requirements for rural teachers; establishment of a retiring fund for teachers under constitutional amendment; favoring lump sum contributions to colleges, and submission of an amendment authorizing commissioners courts to levy a special tax for the support of county libraries.

Copies of the resolution were distributed and will be voted on later.

At a press luncheon, Governor-elect R. S. Sterling spoke briefly in welcome to the guests and Judge W. O. Huggins, editor of the Houston Chronicle, spoke on "What Women Have Done in the News World."

ules in the country. The Lockheed-Vegas have a cruising speed of more than 150 miles per hour, and it is planned to fly the Wichita Falls-Oklahoma City trip, 112 miles, in 40 minutes, while the Oklahoma City-Tulsa flight, 110 miles, will consume about the same time or less.

Mr. Braniff stated that if business justified, additional planes augmenting the two trips each way per day would be put on to take care of traffic.

Wecome Sunday

James E. McKanna, chairman of the aviation committee, stated that an offical welcome would be given Mr. Braniff on his arrival here Sunday when the first flight of the actual schedule would be made. Following a conference here a short time ago with chamber of commerce officials, Mr. Braniff decided to inaugurate the new air service here although a guarantee of a certain amount of business for 90 days requested by him was rejected. In view of this confidence in Wichita Falls, Mr. McKanna, the aviation committee and the chamber of commerce urged that a large number of citizens appear at the airport Sunday afternoon to participate in the official welcome.

"Because Mr. Braniff is bringing his service here without the guarantee, the chamber of commerce is desirous of having the public at the municipal airport Sunday afternoon," Mr. McKanna said. "As an incentive for the public to be there, the chamber of commerce aviation committee is arranging for an exhibition of flying and aerial demonstrations for the entertainment of those present. Details of the exhibition will be announced through the press before Sunday."

Little Theater Entertains 200 At Musical and Dramatic Program

Approximately 200 members and guests of the Wichita Falls Little Theater had opportunity Wednesday night to appreciate the full fruits of membership in that organization when they were entertained for more than an hour with a delightfully appealing fantasy, "My Lady Dreams," preceded by a varied musical program of equal merit, prepared by Mrs. Victor B. Lowrey.

Not since Eithel Allen Nelson's "Two Spirits" was interpreted here several years ago has the local public been treated to the highly imaginative type of dramatic entertainment which "My Lady Dreams" so well represents. Portrayed by Miss Dorothy Campbell, a strictly conventional young lady was pictured as refusing the love of a deserving nobleman because she fears that a longed-for literary career might be jeopardized by marriage. That soliloquy having defined "my lady's" attitude, there resolved in turn from the luxurious furnishings of the room spirit characters which effected miraculous changes in her mind and heart, whose romantic dreams remained unchanged by a logical decision.

From one portion of the setting emerged the figure of "the little old lady," representing motherhood, and portrayed by Miss Marguerite Fisher. Through her was voiced the plea of every mother for the gift of a woman's true love for her son; from the shadows of an opposite corner resolved the scarlet-gowned figure of "the other woman," as played by Miss Evelyn Kelly, promising a courtesan's conquest of the lover should "my lady" persist in rejecting his suit; explosively from the depths of two impressive piles of silken pillows, suddenly appeared the figures of hoped for children, excellently natural in the persons of little Misses Jane Fisher and Ruth Raborn.

The ingenius arrangement of the stage, presenting a boudoir, softly lighted, behind a richly-appointed ante-room in semi-darkness, enhanced effectively the whimsical appeal of the storied fantasy which the six young ladies portrayed with excellent feeling.

Prior to the dramatic portion of the program, a varied musical entertainment was presented by Mrs. Lowrey. Miss Tilla Mae Schaffer, accompanied by Mrs. J. W. Akin Jr., sang "Heart Flower." "The Boys of the Old Brigade," and "Kentucky Babe" were sung by Messrs. Durwood Parks, Louis Bond, Bob West and Ed Napier, accompanied by Miss Mildred Anderson. Mrs. Lowrey sang Cadman's "Is It You?" with Mrs. Akin at the piano, and youthful Alton Bedinghaus, violinist, played Kreisler's "Liebesfreud." Accompanied by Miss Anderson, the High School Girls' trio composed of Misses Evelyn and Elta Rose Franklin and Stella Evans sang two numbers.

Emil Hermann, president of the Little Theater, made a short talk before the musical program began, predicting a highly successful year for the organization on the basis of results thus far obtained. Furnishings were loaned for the play by the Antique shop, Freear Furniture company, and others, it was stated.

State Court Refuses To Reopen Wichita Cases

Constitutionality of tax assessments for the Wichita County Water Improvement District No. 1 was finally established Wednesday when the state supreme court overruled a motion for a re-hearing in a test suit brought against the district by the Western Union Telegraph company. The suit contesting the assessment was decided in favor of the district several months ago, and the court Wednesday declined to reopen the case.

At the same time the court upheld again the constitutionality of the law exempting homesteads from liability to meet street paving assessments. In the suit brought by the L. E. Whitham company against L. M. Crunk Williams, in an attempt to foreclose a paving lien against a homestead, the court ruled finally that paving assessments are not "taxes."

SENSIBLE! SAFE! SURE!

Popular demand changed aspirin from a closely guarded secret of the medical profession, first compounded by an obscure country chemist, until today doctors and public alike know and have faith in aspirin and that faith has made aspirin the largest selling medicine in the world. There is one laboratory alone in Memphis, Tenn., which produced over nine million boxes of pure aspirin last year and this aspirin, known the country over as St. Joseph's Pure Aspirin, is sold in convenient tins for 10c for a dozen tablets of guaranteed pure aspirin.

Sensible economy and a sureness in its purity has directed thousands to demand only St. Joseph's Pure Aspirin which conforms to all government standards. It is generally known in medical circles that the manufacturers of St.Joseph's Pure Aspirin guarantee that it is as pure as money can buy.

MEDICOS HEAR DR. F. CARMAN

Tuberculosis Curable By Early Diagnosis, He Says

Dr. Frank Carman, tuberculosis specialist of Dallas, was the principal speaker at the regular meeting of the Wichita County Medical society at the Wichita club Wednesday night.

In the course of his lecture on the treatment of tuberculosis, Dr. Carman declared that the state's greatest need is for more county tubercular sanatoriums, explaining that there are 80,000 cases in the state and only 1,200 beds in the state hospital.

The specialist asserted that most cases of the disease are curable in from four to 12 months if diagnosed early and properly treated. He suggested a well-balanced diet and rest as among the essentials of the treatment. In pulmonary tuberculosis, too much exposure to the sun causes a rise in temperature, he explained. Patients with temperatures above 100 degrees should rest in bed, the physician said.

Danger to society exists only when the patient himself does not know of the disease, Dr. Carman asserted, adding that the sufferer can protect his associates if he is aware of his trouble.

Dr. Carman, a member of the state hospital staff for many years, has been in Wichita Falls conducting a three-day free clinic under the auspices of the Wichita County Tuberculosis association.

Other speakers at the meeting Wednesday night were Dr. W. B. Whiting who discussed irregularities of the heart and Dr. Bain Leake of Burkburnett who read a paper on infantile paralysis. Dr. Leake announced that two new cases of the disease had been recently reported in the county.

Officers for the coming year will be elected at the next meeting of the society to be held on Dec. 9 in conjunction with the Wichita Dental society.

FRANK MUSKRAT TELLS VIVID STORY OF BANK ROBBERY

Cherokee Indian Reporter Plays Important Part in Thwarted Raid

Newspaperman Describes Slaying of One Bandit and Serious Wounding of Another at Marland, Okla.

(This is the story of Frank Muskrat, Cherokee Indian reporter for the Ponca City News, who Wednesday helped officers thwart a bank robbery at Marland Okla., where cowboys from nearby ranches still mingle with "first Americans" to present a 1930 picture of the glamorous old West. Officers who had received advance information of the robbery took Muskrat along and as a result, one bank robber, also an Indian, was killed and another wounded).

By FRANK MUSKRAT
(Written for the Ponca City News and the Associated Press)

PONCA CITY, Okla., Nov. 12.—Two young bandits who robbed the Marland State bank of $2,000 shortly after the bank opened for business today were paid off in lead—hot lead from the guns of police officers. Jimmie Jackson, 24, of Pawhuska, fell dying from the open door of the bandit car, and Carter Camp, 22, also of Pawhuska sprawled wounded in the street and begged officers not to kill him.

One of those "tips" which every reporter dreams for but seldom gets enabled me to be in the officers' party. It was my first "participation" in a bank robbery, and while my paper maintains I yelled excitedly into the 'phone as I gave the first account two minutes later, I don't think my knees shook any more than they have a number of times on other good stories.

Take Posts Early

A tip several days ago resulted in the officers' trap into which the two bandits unwittingly walked. We took up our vigil for the robbers at 8:30 o'clock, with information that the "party," if it occurred at all, would begin about 9 o'clock, just a few minutes after the bank opened.

A. B. Cooper of the state bureau stationed himself in a store adjoining the bank. The rest of the party, including Art Redman, Ponca City chief of police; Elmer Cole, chief of detectives, and Ivan Webb, plainclothes officer; Henry Isham, Noble county sheriff, Clint Miers and Claude Tyler of the state bureau, and myself, were across the street in the J. W. Elkins grocery store.

Bandits Arrive

About 9:45 o'clock a brown coupe drove up in front of the bank and two men dressed in white painters' overalls and white jumpers, with handkerchiefs tied over their faces, jumped out. At the same time the bank's burglar alarm connected to the grocery store sounded and the officers jumped to their feet and threw shells into their rifles.

Cutting off the motor the two ran into the bank. J. C. Roberts, cashier, and V. N. Ehler, customer, were alone. Whipping out pistols the robbers lined Ehler against the wall. Camp kept Ehler and Roberts covered with a .45 caliber revolver, while Jackson, armed with a .32 caliber pistol took Roberts to the safe, which is in full view of the street.

Roberts Is Kicked

Roberts apparently was too slow to suit them. Jackson kicked Roberts a couple of times with an admonition to make haste. Roberts fumbled with the combination, threw open the door of the safe and drew out $2,000 in cash, held in two leather bags. Jackson slapped Roberts with the money bags and hurriedly handed them to Camp, covering Camp's exit from the door. Then he turned and ran with Camp to the waiting car. At this moment the officers burst from the store across the street. Call to the bandits to "throw up your hands," the officers began firing when the men jumped for the car and Camp fumbled for the starter. Slugs from high powered rifles and buckshot from riot guns riddled the car and the two rolled to the street.

Jackson fell face downward. Camp moaned and twisted as officers ran to him. Webb seized Camp's gun where it fell, and I covered Jackson with a rifle, at the same time looking for a pistol Jackson might have concealed. Jackson was not breathing and I turned him over on his back and tore away his mask. He was dead.

Camp Pleads

I turned to Camp, who was begging officers not to kill him. He was shot four times. I stripped away his surplus clothing, blood-stained. He was shot through the right thigh, the left and right wrists and the left side of the head was gashed from a glancing bullet.

The officers gathered up the two money bags and returned them to Roberts at the bank. The gaping safe again swallowed up the money, which represented all the bank's available cash.

A crowd of curious gathered to stare. Camp was taken into a back room of the bank and kept under guard while authorities telephoned to Ponca City for an ambulance. Jackson was beyond the need of medical aid.

The bullet-riddled car, a Chevrolet coupe, was inspected and found to have been stolen from Blackwell Tuesday night. The pair evidently had planned to leave the stolen car on a side road and transfer to their own machine which they bought in Ponca City last week. Officers began searching side roads to locate the cached car.

Local officers believe the men are the ones who robbed a filling station at Fairfax Sunday night and another at Foraker Monday night.

Cole Gets Credit

Elmer Cole was responsible for trapping the robbers. He learned of their plans when they discussed them in a Ponca City rooming house several days ago and verified them by other acts discussed in the plans. When the bandits brought a car into the garage where they planned to leave it, Cole decided the plot overheard was "on the level," and organized his posse.

The group of officers were amused whiling away the time awaiting the arrival of the bandits by the discourse of J. W. Elkins, Marland grocer, in whose store they lay in wait. Elkins, a slight, elderly man, was decidedly nervous. He acted as the lookout for the officers, going outside every few minutes to sweep his sidewalk as a stall while he looked up and down the street. Officers had given him a description of the bandit car before it arrived. The sidewalk in front of the store shone like spun gold from numerous sweepings.

Grocer Grows Bold

As the minutes wore on and no robbers approached, the grocer grew bolder, even intimating that the robbers feared to make their proposed raid. "I've heard of a man who jumped into bed and covered up during a robbery," Elkins said. "Now, if I do that, don't you tell on me."

Sheriff Isham assured him that in that event nothing would be said.

A customer, Mrs. Jake Todfast, was entering the door just as the burglar alarm sounded. Elkins gallantly escorted her rapidly to the rear of the store to get her out of harm's way.

Camp talked readily with officers as he waited for the ambulance. It was his first attempt at major crime, he said, and he wept as he reflected planning the robbery. He asked that his father, J. A. Camp, and his sister, Thelma, of Pawhuska, be notified. Obliging officers put through a call.

As Camp was loaded into the ambulance he turned his head to avoid the stares of the crowd gathered about.

"It's not the bullets that hurt, it's the future," he wept as he was carried away.

Courts Give Cow Two Legal Homes

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 12. (AP)—A red faced cow with dog-split ears which figuratively came to the state supreme court to determine its owner, still had two homes today after the high court had passed back to the lower tribunal a problem something like the one Solomon proposed to solve with a sword.

J. M. Myers, 80-year-old farmer of near Vian, claimed the cow on the ground it originally was his and wandered away. Harve Craighead, a neighbor, claimed it because he gave the bovine asylum and ensilage for four years.

Justice court decided the cow and a calf born on the Craighead homestead should return to the Myers farm. The district court of Sequoyah county dismissed Craighead's appeal and the supreme court reversed the district court's decison.

Trial by J. P. Courts Of 'Dry' Cases Proposed

HELENA, Ark., Nov. 12. (AP)—A suggestion by County Judge John C. Sheffield that all or nearly all prohibition law violations be disposed of by justices of the peace and municipal court instead of being taken to circuit court, thus reducing the high cost of crime to the county, was before the Phillips county quorum court today.

From 55 to 57 per cent of the county's revenue is spent on crime, Judge Sheffield said at yesterday's meeting of the quorum court, composed of all justices of the peace in the county.

Hawks Lands After Record Flight

Here's the end of another record-breaking flight for Capt. Frank Hawks, shown in his low-winged racer as he landed at Roosevelt field, Long Island, eight hours and 44 minutes after he had left Havana. About 10,000 persons greeted him at the field and heard him tell how he had "just cruised along" at an average speed of 190 miles an hour in a plane which is capable of a sustained speed of 245 miles. In addition to the records to and from Havana, Captain Hawks holds numerous other inter-city marks, including the two-way continental speed records.

HOUSTON HOST TO 'DRY ARMY'

State W. C. T. U. to Open Session Today

HOUSTON, Nov. 12. (AP)—Around 300 of the state's dry army gathered here today in the state convention of the Women's Christian Temperance union to hear militant addresses, clear up routine business and prepare for the opening of the organization's national convention tomorrow.

There were meetings of the official board and the executive committee, a roll call, songs, devotionals, in addition to a welcome to Houston by Mrs. W. M. Baines, the district head.

The feature of the morning session was the inspirational address by Mrs. Mary Harris Armour, "The Georgia Cyclone."

"You are all on upward ground in Texas," she declared, "the W. C. T. U., doesn't get in a rut. You ought to thank God that you have Mrs. Watts (Mrs. Claude de van Watts) as your president."

Referring to last week's election, she said there was nothing surprising in New York, New Jersey and Illinois "going wet."

Sooner Court Affirms Pottawatomie Verdict

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 12 (UP)—Damages of $1,200 awarded M. C. Bice in the Pottawatomie county district court against Homer Knappenberger and Marion Fuller were affirmed today in an opinion by the state supreme court.

Knappenberger and Fuller were found guilty by the district court of taking certain property belonging to Bice.

MRS. M'CORMICK NAMED IN SUIT

Detective Asks $25,000 for Bodily Injuries

CHICAGO, Nov. 12. (INS)—An echo of the skirmishes between Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick, defeated Republican senatorial nominee, and Senator Gerald P. Nye, chairman of the senatorial group probing campaign expenditures, was heard today in the filing of a $25,000 suit brought by George L. Cole, detective for the Nye committee.

Cole set forth charges of assault and damages to his body, naming as defendants Mrs. McCormick and W. C. Dannenberg, head of the private detective agency employed by Mrs. McCormick.

On Sept. 13, while he was working in the apartment building occupied by Dannenberg, he was seized and held a prisoner by the detective agency head, Cole maintained. He charged he was assaulted and beaten and was not allowed to use the telephone.

At one time during his alleged imprisonment, Cole stated in the declaration, Mrs. McCormick, accompanied by Attorney General Oscar Carlstrom, walked into the apartment but made no move toward releasing him.

Cole stated he had been hired by the Nye committee to shadow Dannenberg to ascertain whether the latter had any operatives shadowing members of the committee.

HOW WHITE IS WHITE?

WE USUALLY think of newly laundered things as pure white. But the truth is that most of the time they are not white at all. Sometimes they are gray, sometimes they are yellow, and sometimes they are even blue. It all depends on the soap.

White things will emerge from washing absolutely white if they are washed with a soap that is absolutely pure. And White King Granulated Soap is pure. No "filler" or foreign matter—nothing but the finest vegetable and nut oils, good enough to eat.

It's economical too! Because White King is condensed, a little of it goes a long way. One teaspoonful in a wash basin, one cupful in the washing machine—plenty, even in hard or lukewarm water. Safe and swift for blankets . . . dishes . . . delicate colored fabrics. Your grocer has it.

VITALITY IS LOW AMONG WORKERS AT FOUR O'CLOCK

Fatigue During This Zero Hour Can be Overcome by Sugar

Finishing the day's work "dead tired" is neither wise nor necessary. Everybody knows that a fatigued system is readily susceptible to the common ills. To maintain vitality during the last half of the day is therefore essential, not only for the sake of health but efficient work.

One of the simplest ways to combat fatigue is eating a food or drinking a beverage that contains refined sugar. Candy, ice cream, cookies and cakes are ideal in this respect. Best of all, they can be bought readily and cheaply everywhere.

Medical men have made many experiments with workers and sugar foods in mid-afternoon and have found the results most satisfactory. The sugar quickly nourishes the body without taxing the digestive system. When the body is nourished in this way, fatigue disappears.

Such sweet snacks as those previously mentioned can be kept in one's desk and eaten while at work. For a sweet beverage, a glass of water containing sugar — the "athlete's cocktail" — is most invigorating. Many famous athletes drink this prior to a hard game. Most foods are more delicious with refined sugar. The Sugar Institute.

Health and Diet Advice

Watch That Waistline

Many people who are over 40 years of age realize that they weigh too much, but hesitate about reducing because they have read so much about the danger of losing weight, but the truth of it is that they are in more danger if they do not reduce. Between 40 and 45 is the time of life when most people begin to put on a great deal of weight and become candidates for pneumonia, heart trouble, kidney trouble, diabetes, diseases of the arteries and anemia.

Experts of the great life insurance companies state that after the age of 35 it is a slight advantage to be even a little under normal in weight. These experts say that the worst type of fat from the standpoint of long life is the fat which is packed on the abdomen. A good way to find out if you have too much weight at this point is to draw in a breath and measure your chest. Now measure your abdomen. If your chest is anywhere within three to five inches greater than your abdomen you are not dangerously overweight, but if your chest and abdomen measure the same or if your abdomen is larger, you should immediately start to reduce.

After 35 overweight not only handicaps your appearance but is a shortener of life itself. In fact it might be said that the longer your waistline the shorter your lifeline after the age of 35. If you want to keep going full speed to a long life, see that your weight does not get above normal.

Many people do not know how to begin a reducing regime nor how to continue with it. The permanent cure of overweight depends upon the evolution of diet so as to use only the amount of food necessary for repairing and building up the normal tissues of the body and no excess need be taken above this requirement.

The quickest and most infallible method of reducing the weight to normal is to use a fasting cure in some form. A fast with small amounts of water and the juice of citrus fruits is perhaps the best procedure for the average case. Weight can be reduced from a half to a pound daily with marked improvement in all the bodily functions. An apparent increase of energy will be noted which is caused by the body being freed of its burden of incumbrance. The mind power will be strengthened, and the ordinary occupations may be practiced with increased vigor. Deep breathing exercises should also be taken.

The diet following the short fast should be carefully chosen, avoiding the starches and sugars until the normal weight has been reached. If the proper amount of protein and green vegetables is used the body will be supplied with all the elements essential for the perfect growth of cells and tissues.

An overweight body may be maintained for years without any sugar or starch or fat if enough protein is used together with the non-starchy vegetables to supply the organic salts and vitamins.

After the weight has reached normal the carbohydrates and fats may be gradually introduced into the daily menu. A little experimentation will show the one inclined to be stout just how much of these fat-producing foods may be tolerated without the danger of again gaining excess weight.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Detached Retina

Question: A. J. L. writes—"My father is blind in one eye from what the doctor says is detached retina. Can this be cured by diet, or is an operation necessary?

Answer—This condition is usually incurable. There are a few instances where the retina became reattached with and without treatment. I have been unable to discover any cases that were successfully treated surgically.

Pie and Cake

Question: D. J. asks—"May one use milk and cream with any foods desired, and when can pies, cakes and doughnuts be eaten, and in what combination with other food?"

Answer—Milk should be used by itself or with fruits or non-starchy vegetables, but not with the ordinary meal containing proteins and starches. Cream may be used on cereals or added to vegetables after they are cooked. If pies, cakes or doughnuts are ever used they should be used as starchy foods and the same rules about combinations holds good with these foods as with other starches.

King's Evil

Question: L. H. writes—"My whole family is and has been troubled with scrofula or king's evil. I think you call it, all our lives. I also have a necrosis bone in the second joint of my big toe—had it since I was a boy. Is there anything I can do for it?"

Answer—The trouble is that your whole family has been living on the wrong kind of food. This is the usual cause of scrofula which was at one time called king's evil. I would advise you to consult a bone specialist about your toe. He would doubtless have X-ray pictures taken of the toe and in this way could make a correct diagnosis.

Moody Pledges Aid In El Paso's Drive On Open Gambling

AUSTIN, Nov. 12. (AP)—Replying to a query from R. E. Chambers, one time candidate for the legislature, Gov. Dan Moody said today that agencies of the state government stood ready to assist El Paso officers in enforcing the law against gambling.

Chambers wired the governor yesterday that "open gambling is being conducted in El Paso under the eyes of our law enforcing officers."

The governor wrote Chambers that he informed Mayor R. E. Thomason and County Attorney Dave Mulcahy of these charges and tendered them the assistance of state agencies if needed. "I know these gentlemen personally," the governor said, "and am positive they will take steps to correct any unlawful condition."

SQUABBLE LOOMS OVER FORFEITURE OF VERNON-DENTON GAME

The Rambler's Corner

By FRED THOMPSON

I was told by a friend that a friend of his this week plunked down $10,000 and purchased 1,000 shares of a certain oil stock that has hit the dumps, but which is likely to soar upwards when we get Howard Fitzgerald elected president, that is, manager.

That's straight goods. Such things shouldn't happen often. If they do, all these oil stocks will go up before I can save up enough to buy an eighth of a share.

That's one good part about the depression. It enables the guy with dough to make more by outright purchases of good stocks.

You've got to have the money, though. That's one reason why the Rambler had just as soon see good times return.

All in all, I have reached the conclusion that two things must happen before happiness will gallop o'er the land. We must elect Howard Fitzgerald manager of the 1931 Spudders, and we must get the Olney Cubs into a class A circuit. And a third thing happens to the mind. The Spudders must win the pennant in 1931.

President J. Alvin Gardner of the Texas league told me that had he retained ownership of the Wichita Falls baseball club he eventually would have installed Fitzgerald as manager, because of Howard's fine reputation as a baseball player, because of his knowledge of the game, because of his ability to handle men, and because of his charming personality that made him friends everywhere.

A friend who knows other lands as well as he knows America told me of the system used in athletic competition in Europe. Football teams in Europe are grouped into class A, B, C, and so on according to their ability, and the membership of the various districts is forever changing, because if a team in one of the higher loops fails to deliver at the end of the season, it is dropped into what corresponds to our class B loops, and is replaced, in turn, by the most promising class B team in its territory.

Thus, if the European system were used in this country, the Wichita Falls Coyotes, more than likely, would drop into class B, and be replaced in district No. 1 by the Olney Cubs.

The European teams, my friend tells me, are spurred to great activity by this system. If a class A team winds up in the cellar one year and is dropped to class B, you can count on that team being back in class A pretty soon, for it feels the sting of being relegated to a lower class, and fights to regain its lost dignity. On the other hand, the elevated class B teams strive to maintain their winning reputation. The result is the games are taken in all seriousness, and some real contests develop.

It is the Rambler's opinion that such a system is just what the Coyotes need. You can't tell me Barry Holton hasn't got the physical makings of a good football team, for I've watched those boys too long. But his players do not have the old spirit in sufficient quantity.

Well, if they could be made to suffer the ignominy of a year in class B, you'd soon see how good a football team the Wichita Falls High school could produce. They'd get the spirit pronto. After one year of being caged in a minor circuit, those Coyotes would come out and whip everything in sight in a class A loop, or I miss my guess.

It would be a good idea to make the Coyotes switch places with Olney for a season. No doubt Olney would crowd out some other class A team like Plainview, or Quanah. Or maybe Electra. Maybe Vernon, who can tell? It's almost a cinch they would stay up there. The Coyotes meanwhile would arise to the top of their class B circuit and take the place of whoever the Cubs crowded out. Certain it is that they would show more fight than they have this season, because they would have more to work for, more of an incentive.

The Hefty Maroons

One of the best games in the interscholastic league race this year occurred down Austin way Tuesday, when the Austin High Maroons and Main Avenue High of San Antonio battled to a scoreless tie. Not only were the teams even so far as the score was concerned—of which, one might say, there wasn't any—but both teams made the same number of first downs. It must have been some tough contest.

The game threw the district race in that region into a muddle. Austin High hasn't been defeated, and neither has Main Avenue, according to reports. The game will be decided on 20-yard penetrations, under the interscholastic league rules, but the news story on the game neglected to say which team made the greater number of lunges within the 20-yard stripe, in case there were any penetrations of that kind.

If Austin got within the stripe once, and Main Avenue failed to do that much, Austin high will get the decision.

But what if neither team made a 20-yard penetration? I guess the league would then rule that the team that gained the most yards would be declared winner. The story said Austin gained slightly the more, so Austin would get the game.

It goes to show the wisdom of the Interscholastic league in making rules which rule out tie games. In the event of no scores by either team, the game is decided then on first downs. In case these are the same, then 20-yard penetrations. Needless to say, the league fathers didn't expect many games to be as closely fought as the Maroon game of Tuesday. But they had made preparations for such an emergency just the same.

I'm going to write a friend of mine down in Austin and find out just who won that scrap. It sounds interesting.

COACHES ARGUE OVER RULES

Zundy and Coyote Tilts On This Week's Schedule

The question of which team will be called on to forfeit a scheduled Northwest Texas Junior high school conference game between Vernon and Denton at Vernon last Friday was uppermost in the minds of fandom today on the eve of Denton's invasion of Wichita Falls for a conference battle with Zundelowitz Junior High school.

According to reports from Vernon, the Denton coach refused to play the scheduled game when his team arrived in Vernon last Friday, because the Vernon coach would not agree to certain eligibility rules under which the Denton team had been playing. The Vernon coach, on the other hand, informed the Denton coach that the Vernon team was playing under rules adopted and approved by the newly organized Junior High school conference, it was said.

Vernon Claims Decision

The upshot of it was the game was not played. The Vernon coach told a representative of The Record News at Vernon Wednesday he had concluded the Denton team should forfeit inasmuch as the Vernon team was ready to play last Friday, and was operating under rules approved by the conference. The Denton coach, on the other hand, is understood to have claimed Vernon should forfeit.

The question in the minds of Wichita Falls fans Wednesday was whether the Denton coach would make the same demands of the Zundelowitz team in regard to eligibility rules as was made at Vernon.

The matter of deciding the dispute has been talked all week but no definite action had been taken Wednesday. H. A. Glass, principal of Reagan and one of the organizers of the conference, said the matter would have to be decided by conference officials, including principals and coaches of each of the four teams in the circuit.

Zundy Seeks Revenge

Pending an official decision on the matter, both the Zundelowitz and the Denton teams have been grooming for Friday's game. The contest will be staged at Athletic park.

Coach Roy Golden's Zundy warriors will be in fit mood for a victory when the whistle blows, owing to their overwhelming defeat at the hands of the Fort Sill Indians last week. The Indians won this practice battle, 25 to 0, and the Zundyites felt somewhat of a shock after their early season conference victory over Vernon. Zundy and Denton are tied for the lead, and Friday's game will decide the conference winner.

Coyotes Get Ready

Friday's game will be the introduction to a strenuous week of football for the edification of Wichita Falls fans, for on Saturday, Coach Holton's High school Coyotes tackle the Sherman High school team here in the last non-conference game of the season for the Pack. After that battle some contests with Pampa and Amarillo, the latter of which will be played on the local gridiron.

While Coach Roy Golden's Zundy warriors were whipping into shape Wednesday afternoon by scrimmage with a team from the Coyote C squad, Coach Holton was drilling his Coyotes for the Sherman battle.

The Zundy team defeated the Coyote C squad, 6 to 0, on an intercepted pass.

Bridgeport Replaces Jacksboro As District 4 Runner-Up

Sophs Are Strength of T. C. U. Toads

The star playing of a wealth of sophomore line talent has been a large factor in placing the Texas Christian Frogs at the top of the conference, with a good chance of repeating for the title. The Texas Aggies failed to make a first down against the Frogs' steller forward wall, and Rice last Saturday found the going hard. Whether or not they can stop the Texas Longhorns will be decided next Saturday when the two teams meet in T. C. U.'s new stadium. Boswell, Howell, Evans and Shackelford are tackles; Boyd and Salkeld, ends, and Townsend, center. Boswell, Howell and Salkeld are probable starters against the Longhorns.

Frogs Start Final Preparations For Crucial Battle With Longhorns

FORT WORTH, Nov. 13.—With a firm grasp on first place and holding commanding position over their nearest rivals in the Southwest conference, the Texas Christian Horned Frogs today started their final preparations for the tilt with the powerful Texas Longhorns, to be played Saturday in the new Horned Frog stadium. For the first time since its completion, there are prospects of having every one of the 19,600 seats filled. Athletic Director L. C. Wright announced Monday morning that all seats within the two 15-yard stripes had been sold.

The Frogs emerged from the Rice clash without a single injury. Barring accidents in practice this week, the entire squad will be intact for Saturday's game.

More Stars Develop

The Frog mentors were especially pleased with the showing of Johnny Vaught, guard, and B. W. Spearman, halfback, in Houston last Saturday. It is conceded by every sport writer who saw Vaught in action against the Owls that if he turns in as good game against the Longhorns as he did against the Owls, it will be impossible to crowd him off the all-conference eleven. He drove through the enemy's line to break up plays before they got under way, backed out from his position to knock down or intercept Owl passes and ran down under the high spirals of Woolwine and Hinton with the skill of a veteran of three seasons.

The touchdown that Spearman made after snatching a pass from the air was due largely to his own brilliance. After tucking the ball under his arm, he weaved and stiff armed himself to the Rice goal 45 yards away and crossed it standing up. Spearman, a sophomore, is likewise making a bid for both an all-conference berth and the title of "the outstanding sophomore back of the season."

Defense Polished Off

Practice sessions on Clark field this week are being devoted to fashioning a defense to cope with the deceptive Longhorn air attack, the "powerhouse plays" with the giant Koy and Captain Shelly carrying the ball, and the elusiveness of their outstanding sophomore back, Stafford, and quarterback, "Bull" Elkins. The offense will be devoted to perfecting plays to cope with Coach Littlefield's famous five man line and his "5-2-2-1 defense." The Frog tutor will put a variety of powerful running plays and a good air attack on the field.

WICHITA SEES JACK DEMPSEY

Ex-Heavyweight Lands Here En Route to Coast

Jack Dempsey, former knock-out king, known in other days as the Manassa Man Mauler, alighted from the air to pay Wichita Falls a brief visit Wednesday morning.

The erstwhile king of the heavyweights, pug nose and all, won the cheers of a large crowd at the airport by being, not by delivering, a knockout.

He delighted the throng by his cheery greetings of "Hello, folks!" and made his way among his admirers shaking hands with all who could crowd around him.

The former fighter was a passenger on a Western Air Express plane. Dempsey was en route from Chicago to Los Angeles, to re-join his wife. He had been refereeing boxing bouts on the Atlantic seacoast. The plane landed at the Municipal airport.

Dempsey, asked for his views on the fistic situation today, declared Young Stribling was the best of the lot, although he admitted the scrapper hadn't "found himself yet."

Too Clubby

NEW YORK—Mrs. Florence Donato's club activities are too strenuous, so she was recently put in jail under $5,000 bail until her clubby ardore cooled off. She had a little tiff with Patrolman Michael Cassmasimma and, after he handed her his club and told her to go ahead and hit him if she wanted to, she whacked him over the head with the "billy" and sent him to the hospital for a while.

OWLS FAVORED TO WHIP A. & M.

Rice's Win Over Steers Gives It Preference

Special to The Record News.

COLLEGE STATION, Texas, Nov. 12.—Closing their schedule of home games for the year, Coach Madison Bell's Texas Aggie gridsters will meet the Rice Owls of Coach Jack Meagher on Kyle field Saturday afternoon. The game will be the next to last of the season for the A. & M. gridsters, the Thanksgiving day classic with the Texas Longhorns at Austin being the final.

The A. & M.-Rice game this year presents an unusual situation for games between the two teams in that it is the first time in recent football history that the feathered tribe has been favored to down the Aggie eleven. In past years the Owls have always been considered the underdogs, or the games have been considered toss-ups.

They Whipped the Steers

This year, with the scalp of the Texas Longhorn eleven, second position holders in the title race at present, as a trophy, the Owls will enter the game slight favorites to triumph. The victory over the Longhorns, who since then have downed the S. M. U. Mustangs and the Baylor Bears, is the only conference win of the season for the Owls while the Aggies have yet to break into the win column of the percentage table.

A comparison of scores against teams both elevens have met shows the two teams to be of about equal strength. Both teams have been trounced by the title-pointed T. C. U. Horned Frogs and the Arkansas Razorbacks. That the Frogs barely eked out a 3 to 0 victory over the Aggies and decisively defeated the Owls, 20 to 0, while the Porkers trounced the Aggies, 13 to 0, and barely nosed out the Owls, 7 to 6, makes guessing at the comparative strengths of the two teams even less certain.

Aggies Hold Record

In the 14 games that the Aggies and Owls have played since 1914 the Owls have won three and tied one with the remainder of the contests going to A. & M. It is interesting to note that in most instances the games were won by small margins, even in the years when the Aggies were rated with the best in the country and the Owls considered poor. Such was the case in 1921, when the A. & M. team which later trounced the Centre college Praying Colonels was able to get only a 7 to 7 tie with the Owls. Again in 1927 the Owls proved that against the Aggies they play the hardest by holding the team which is still considered by many to be the strongest in the history of the Southwest to a 14 to 0 victory, the Aggies' smallest score of the year except that of the game with T. C. U., which resulted in a scoreless tie.

Results of the Aggie-Owl games of the past follow:

1914—A. & M., 32, Rice 7.
1915—A. & M., 0, Rice 7.
1916—A. & M., 0, Rice 20.
1917—A. & M., 10, Rice 0.

HENRIETTANS FORFEIT GAME

Team Yields to Acker's Olney Cubs

The Olney Cubs this week "shot the Bluebirds on the wing," according to reports of the Cubs' 62 to 6 victory over Megargel at Olney Tuesday, but the buckshot apparently punctured another bird, and so two were slain with one charge.

For Wednesday there came the announcement that Henrietta had forfeited its game with the Cubs, scheduled to have been played Nov. 21 at Olney.

Thus the Cubs are only one game away from the district championship. They play Seymour in the Panthers' city Thanksgiving day. Seymour has a relatively strong team, but nothing in comparison to the Cub machine. The Panthers are not expected to forfeit. Instead they are expected to do the manly thing and try to keep Olney's score below 70 or 80 points.

Henriettans Crippled

Coach M. J. Guillet of Henrietta, in announcing the forfeit, said his team was in no condition to meet such a strong outfit as the Cubs. Injuries in the Megargel game early in the season, he said, had taken their toll, and the team never had recovered. That Megargel game, incidentally, was won by the Henriettans, on first downs. Leave off the Chillicothe and Olney teams, and Megargel has one of the strongest teams in the district. But the Henriettans paid dearly for their technical victory.

The Cubs wiped away the slightest doubts that might have arisen over their prowess Tuesday when they laced the Bluebirds. It was one of the greatest exhibitions of offensive football ever seen on an Olney gridiron, reports of the game said.

Meanwhile Archer City blanked the Seymour Panthers, 7 to 0, at Seymour. A snared pass was taken down the field for a touchdown. Otherwise there would have been a scoreless tie, as both teams were evenly matched, and punctured every offensive drive of the opposition.

Eagles Crush Eldorado

The Chillicothe Eagles, originally scheduled to play Crowell Armistice day, took on the Eldorado, Okla. team, instead, and rolled up an 80 to 0 victory while Crowell was being hammered by the Vernon Lions at Vernon, 26 to 13.

The Eagles relished the imposing score they piled up at Eldorado's expense, since it was their first game since they lost to Olney Oct. 31. It is the hope of the Eagles now to go through the season with only one defeat registered against them. Only one more game in the conference remains for Coach Volney Hill's Chillicothe team, that with Archer City Nov. 21 in the home town of the Wildcats.

One Game Scheduled

This Friday there will be little of note in the way of district games. Henrietta will invade Fairview for the only conference game of the week in class B, district No. 3.

Mustangs Entrain For Navy Gridiron

DALLAS, Nov. 12. (AP)—Determined to bring further football glory to the Southwest conference, 30 members of the Southern Methodist squad left late today for Baltimore, where they will engage the Navy eleven Saturday. Several special trains of supporters will follow them tomorrow.

Bruce Kattman, veteran backfield star, was not with the group which entrained. Kattman sustained ankle injuries in the Texas game. Coaches said with only 20 men making the trip they could not take any chances with cripples.

The Methodists will work out on the high school field at Flora, Ill., tomorrow and will reach Baltimore Friday.

Arkansas Hogs To 'Shoot the Works'

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Nov. 12. (AP)—Fred Thomsen, football coach at the University of Arkansas, said today the Razorbacks would "shoot the works and offer no alibis," in case of defeat in their game with Baylor university here Saturday.

The return of Robison, a regular tackle, to the lineup, indicated Arkansas would have its full strength for the first time since the clash with the Texas Aggies.

FAVORED TEAM LOSES AGAIN

Graham on Even Terms With Indians

The haughty Jacksboro eleven, which two weeks ago was considered very much in the running in the northern half of class B, district No. 4, was shoved further down the ladder Tuesday when the Bridgeport High school warriors held their scoring to a goose egg and registered nine points on a touchdown and a field goal. Jacksboro recently was regarded by the Nocona Indians as a big problem, but the Indians rode over them with a mighty score. The defeat seemed to demoralize the Jacksboro team, and Bridgeport took advantage of the mental slump and advanced to second place in the standings with their Armistice day victory.

Graham trounced Newcastle, 47 to 9, after being held in check until the last minutes of play, and thus came to even terms with Nocona, both having four victories and no defeats to their credit.

The biggest game of the season in this district will be held at Graham Nov. 21, when Nocona goes there for a game to break the tie and establish the winner.

The standings:

NOCONA NEEDS TWO VICTORIES FOR TITLE

Special to The Record News.

NOCONA, Texas, Nov. 12.—Two more victories will round out a north half championship district No. 4, class B, for the Nocona Indians. The first of the two games scheduled is Newcastle at Newcastle Friday. The Graham game comes next. While the Indians do not fear Newcastle, Coach Jenkins and Superintendent Stone are very much on their guard. They realize that a little carelessness on the part of the squad might mean the loss of the coveted prize that almost fell into the hands of Nocona High last year.

So Newcastle need not expect any quarter whatever. Nocona goes there to win and will use all strategy and force that can be gotten out of 11 little Indians.

The game here Armistice day with Henrietta with the score of 61 for the Indians' second string, to 0 for Henrietta had no bearing on the conference standing, this being a practice game. However, the result gave much encouragement to Nocona.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Nov. 12. (AP)—An opening advance in cotton was followed by reactions today, but prices firmed up again, reaching the highest of the day later on trade buying and covering. After selling off from 11.37 to 11.20, or about 12 points net lower, March advanced to 11.61 and closed at 11.54 compared with 11.32 at the close of the previous day. The general market closed very steady at net advances of 21 to 25 points.

According to local brokers any show of returning stability in securities has a tendency to stimulate buying of cotton and after today's early selling of cotton had been absorbed there appeared to be comparatively little offering. The New York cotton exchange service estimated the domestic consumption for October of cotton of all growths at 431,000 bales compared with 395,000 in September and 639,000 in October of last year.

Liverpool cables said covering and continental buying had been supplied by realizing. Exports today 12,183, making 2,605,388 so far this season. Port receipts 51,898. U. S. port stocks 3,989,850.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 12. (AP)—Influenced almost entirely by the stock market fluctuations, the cotton market here today first went down on a weakening of stocks but later bounded upward on a Wall street announcement that stocks had hit the bottom and the day ended in a boiling finish with net gains of 33 to 40 points in the general market.

Following an early advance of 14 to 17 points due to natural readjustment to gains in New York yesterday while the market here was closed, prices eased off sharply due to selling and liquidation resulting from weakness in stocks although there also was some hedge selling. By noon prices had declined 23 to 29 points from the highs to levels 2 to 6 points under Monday's close.

Prices rallied briskly in the afternoon on the recovery in stocks which sent shorts scurring to cover. Trading became very active in the last half hour and new highs were made 40 to 47 points above the lows of the morning. There was a reaction of 4 to 5 points at the end on realizing and the close was strong. The late bulge was helped some by a private estimate of October domestic consumption of 441,000 bales.

Liverpool came in as due to 2 points lower than due and private cables reported local and continental buying was supplied by realizing. The market paid little attention to the cables and moved up in adjustment with the previous day's advance in New York, December trading up to 10.95.

The market soon turned weak with a slump in stocks and before the offerings were absorbed December dropped to 10.72 and January to 10.91.

The market started to rally with stocks right after noon and gathered strength all-afternoon making the highs of the day in the late trading with December at 11.19 and January at 11.36.

Active months eased off slightly at the end but closed 36 to 20 points net higher for such active months.

Port receipts 56,144, for week 259,939 for season 5,163,784. Last season 4,965,358, exports 16,429, for week 130,983, for season 2,565,086, last season 2,570,893. Port stocks 3,927,818, last year 2,498,624. Combined shipboard stock at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 144,484, last year 161,473. Spot sales at southern markets 39,646, last year 30,947.

Increase in Copper Metal Brings Stocks Out of Bog in Brisk Rise

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, Nov. 12. (US)—The stock market today enjoyed a brisk rebound which carried various issues five points or more above the lowest levels of the day, recorded in the morning trading. The market seemed inclined to disregard the previous day's relative stability and once again seek generally lower prices. Actually, many stocks declined to record lows. Announcement around mid-day, however, of an increase in Copper metal by one-half cent a pound brought about a sudden shift in the character of the market. Almost immediately prices responded to this first definite cheering news from one of the most depressed industries. Whether the advance which ensued was the result chiefly of short covering or actual new buying was indeterminable, but prices marched upward with a steadiness which undoubtedly unnerved many bears. Virtually the entire list improved and the close found numerous substantial gains among industrials and utilities. The railroad shares continued laggards.

The Copper Price News appeared to furnish that pleasing shock which, if followed by similar news concerning other industries, probably will revive optimism and prove even to skeptics that business is absolutely at the bottom. Any doubt that the Copper industry has reached an agreement will be dissipated by an official announcement which probably will be issued tomorrow. The Copper shares naturally were quick to respond. Kennecott spurting three points from its low. American Smelting, which certainly is one of the strongest units in the industry, came back almost five points from the day's low which, incidentally, had marked a new low for the year. Even at its closing price Smelting yields about 8 per cent. Anaconda was up over two points. International Nickel, which plays an important role in the Copper world now, likewise joined in the improvement.

The action of Steel common in advancing almost three points in the face of further reduction in scrap prices and continued cheerless news from the industry likewise furnished evidence of the temporarily oversold condition of the market. American Can assumed again its role of rally-leader. The Utilities, however, enjoyed the briskest recovery of any group. American Telephone was heavily sold and forced through 180 to a new low, but on appearance of 5 per cent yield on this premier issue heavy buying appeared and was sufficient to carry the stock above 187 for a net gain of 4½ points. Consolidated Gas had a similar experience, rallying 5 points from its low of the day, which was within 1½ points of its panic low last year. The Railroad shares were disappointing in their action, failing to join, except fractionally, in the general betterment.

There is little doubt but that short-covering contributed to the day's strength, but a rally was over due. The Copper News furnished the necessary incentive to bring about covering and perhaps to encourage some increase in investment demand. The short covering extended into the wheat market and likewise into cotton. It is understood that one of the largest and most active bear operators covered a considerable portion of his commitments. In various stocks it was evident that the recovery was the result of the uncomfortable position of the shorts, who find difficulty in borrowing stocks. A typical example was furnished by Ingersoll-Rand, which spurted 7½ points to a price representing almost 22 times its average per-share earnings over the last five years. The company in its best year failed to earn as much per-share as is estimated for U. S. Steel common this year, yet the latter is selling more than 20 points under Ingersoll-Rand.

The best friends of the market are hopeful that the recovery was scored on more substantial buying than short covering. In various stocks investment demand is being attracted. A cheering factor in the News was report from Detroit that automobile dealers note an increasing demand for new cars. The Auto shares, however, responded only moderately. Obviously, it will take sustained strength in the market to bring in an expanding buying power.

Grain

TEXAS CASH GRAIN

FORT WORTH, Nov. 12. (AP)—Trading on the cash grain markets continued slow today with little demand evident. Receipts over the holiday were fairly heavy; wheat, 10 cars; corn 7; oats 9; and sorghums 22. Prices quoted by dealers were nominal in all cases, few sales being posted. No. 1 hard wheat of any protein was probably worth around 80@81c, basis carloads delivered Texas common points.

Bids and offers on coarse grains ranged as follows, basis carloads delivered Texas common points, freight paid:

Corn—No. 2 mixed 79@80c; No. 2 white or yellow 84@85c.

Oats—No. 2 red 46½@47½c; No. 2 white delivered Texas group one 42½@43c, to which add one cent for delivery group three.

Barley—No. 2, 61@62c.

Sorghums—No. 2 milo per 100 pounds $1.18@1.22; No. 2 kaffir $1.15@1.17.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Nov. 12. (AP)—Brisk upturns in price took place in the grain pits today after all cereals had undergone a setback to fresh bottom records. Simultaneous with the late rise of grain values was much talk that the record of past cycles of low prices for commodities indicated that recoveries were now to be looked for. Significance also was attached to reports that farm board allies would require actual deliveries of about 10,000,000 bushels on December wheat contracts, and that the world's available surplus of wheat was 32,000,000 bushels less than recently had been estimated.

Closing quotations on wheat were nervous ⅜@2⅝c a bushel higher than Monday's finish. Corn closed at ⅛c net decline to ⅞c advance, oats ⅛c off to ⅞c up, and provisions unchanged to 32c down.

At first, rallies in wheat values proved transient, being overcome soon by the influence of corn market weakness associated with bearish aspects of the government crop report. The official figures on 1930 corn production were 54,000,000 bushels larger than as a rule had been expected, and this circumstance led to persistent selling to stop losses on the part of holders of corn future delivery contracts. Later, however, offerings of corn became scarce, and all grain values rebounded.

Provisions were unsettled, but averaged lower, reflecting downturns in hog values.

Closing indemnities: Wheat December 70⅜@70½c, 74½c; March 73c, 76⅜c; May 75@75½c. Corn December 71@71⅛c, 74½c; March 73½c, 77½c; May 75½c, 79½c.

PIT NOTES

CHICAGO, Nov. 12. (US)—Opinions regarding the effect of the farm board position in wheat were diversified. Some were inclined to minimize its importance in the market action today other than accounting for the narrowing of the December-May spread, while others felt it was the chief supporting influence and its effects had not been felt fully.

Regardless of difference of opinion, there appeared to be a better sentiment toward the market generally. Some went so far as to express the belief that things in general had changed definitely and markets had seen the bottom. One bearish house saw possibilities of improvement in the wheat market at the first sign of improvement in the general commercial situation.

Daniel F. Rice and company say: "reckless though it may be, we are going to venture the opinion that everything turned today."

Uhlman Grain company says: "Wheat never would have declined as much as it did had it not been for the general commercial situation; with any improvement we think wheat reasonably low, and corn in an extremely strong fundamental position."

TEXAS TURKEY PRICES

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 12. (AP)—(U. S. D. A.)—Turkeys, San Antonio and nearby points: Receipts at dressing plants were light Tuesday, due to muddy impassable roads. Prices for best hens and young toms range 16 to 17c, with much of stock being bought at latter figures. In some instances, purchases have been made slightly higher, due principally to light receipts. A differential of 4 to 5 cents less for old toms and 7 to 8 cents less for No. 2s is made. Dressed stock is slow in moving with some of best quality bringing 25c, and poorly graded and poorly packed around 24c. There is a tendency to hold for higher prices. Buyers are assuming a waiting attitude and the demand for dressed stock is not overly brisk.

DRY GOODS MARKET

NEW YORK, Nov. 12. (AP)—Cotton goods were quiet today. Some easing was reported on a few constructions of gray cloths. ⅛ of a cent a yard lower being quoted. Dull luster fine Denier yarns were being sold more freely by hosiery knitters. The large producers of Viscose yarns reported moderate calls for medium fine Deniers. Wool goods ruled quiet. No change of moment was reported in silk goods or raw silk. Burlaps were unchanged and steady.

Heartbreak Girl

something to follow it. Something good.

"I haven't the heart for work—" It hadn't been easy asking Gail to do this for him. It had been hard. Harder than he thought. She was pretty tonight. Not as pretty as Carla, of course. No one could be as pretty as Carla. Her face so white in the dim light of the lamp on the table. Her small mouth, her chin quivering . . .

"What does Max say?" she asked.

"Max is pretty disgusted with me. He's let me have all the money he can." Ross grinned shamefacedly. Max had lectured him plenty this afternoon. Ross squirmed when he thought of it.

"Why don't you try to get along, Ross?"

"How can I, when my salary is pledged for a year and a half?"

"You've been extravagant—"

The boy tossed his head impatiently. Sarah was right. Gail thought. Ross wouldn't listen to advice. Useless to give it to him.

Then, suddenly she knew she would ask Nick for the money. Anything for Ross, no matter how much she humiliated herself.

"I'll ask him—" she said in a tired, small voice.

Ross was exuberant. "Thanks, Gail! You don't know how much I appreciate it!" Carla had been so sure Nick would loan him something if only Gail would ask. He couldn't understand why she was so sure.

Ross looked at his watch again, and announced they had better be on their way home. Gail huddled in the far corner of the roadster. She could think of nothing but what she had to ask Nick. Yet she had promised . . .

Ross' arm drew her over nearer him, and she found her head pillowed on her shoulder.

"Kiss, me, Gail!"

"Do you want to kiss me, Ross?" Gail asked in return.

"Of course——"

The girl pulled away. "I—I don't think you do—" The remainder of the drive home, she sat in her corner, her head sunk on her chest, her hot lids closed.

What would Nick say, when she asked him? What he had said before, "I'm sorry for you—and me——"

Tomorrow—Gail Humbles Her Pride for Ross.

Spinach Harvest Cuts Down Drouth Damage

MUSKOGEE, Okla., Nov. 12. (AP)—The song of the spinach cutters has drowned out the drone of drouth and depression for Dennis Mayes, Muskogee truck farmer, who expects to clear $30,000 this year from his 100 acre vegetable farm near Muskogee, in addition to providing employment for scores of persons.

More than 100 men and women were cutting spinach today on the Mayes farm.

Mayes has grown larger crops of radishes, Irish and sweet potatoes and cantaloupes this year, despite the drouth.

Clyde Reed Urged For U. S. Power Commission

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12. (UP)—Appointment of Gov. Clyde M. Reed of Kansas as chairman of the federal power commission was urged upon President Hoover today by Senator Allen, Republican, Kansas.

The president sent three power commission nominations to the senate last session, but they were not acted upon before adjournment.

FIGURED IT OUT

RESEDA, Calif., Nov. 12. (AP)—A chicken ate a $1,000 diamond from Mrs. S. S. Long's ring when she was throwing corn to a flock of 250. Mr. Long decided that he would eat a chicken a day and by the law of averages it would be necessary to kill 125 at the most. The diamond was found in the craw of the 120th to be killed.

LEACH GIVES LEGION'S AIMS

Post Commander Addresses Lions Club

Objectives of the American Legion were detailed before members of the Lions club at the Kemp hotel Wednesday noon by Dr. Austin F. Leach, commander of Pat Carrigan post.

Among the aims adopted by the organization in recent years the speaker emphasized was that of war-prevention.

"Few veterans would welcome another opportunity to see service" he said. "They realize that America's entry into the great war was necessary. Otherwise we might now be subjects of the kaiser. But none of them want to see another war which science would make even more horrible than the last one.

"Another objective of the legion," Dr. Leach continued, "is to provide for universal draft of manufacturers and material in case of another conflict. We are informed that more than 3,000 men in the city of New York alone were made multi-millionaires through excess profits during the war. One manufacturer used the rubber intended for 1,000,000 raincoats to make 7,000,000 garments for our soldiers. No wonder the doughboys called them 'cheese cloth' during their service in France."

Ravages wrought upon manhood of the world by the war was outlined briefly by the speaker. The 5,000,000 men struggling in Belgium and France for supremacy when the armistice was signed, had seen the greatest carnage of any conflict in history. But the carnage did not end with the cessation of fighting, Dr. Leach declared, pointing to the increasing numbers of insane and hopelessly crippeld men as an after-effect of the war. Government experts, he said, predict that the peak of war-made insanity will not reach its peak until 1947.

Introduced by Milton Gaines, legionnaire, and chairman of the program, Dr. Leach was accompanied by O. T. Ailes, past post commander, and Dr. L. I. Lucey, member of the post executive committee.

One inter-city Lions meeting will be held in this district before Christmas, and one after Jan. 1, 1931, according to an announcement by P. B. Curd, chairman of the committee in charge of such activity.

Selections by a quartet composed of Luther Thurman, J. S. Minton, E. F. Bohmfalk and Leo M. Underwood closed the program.

KEGS OF GOLD

NEW YORK, Nov. 12. (AP)—No Oriental potentate ever carried so much gold as the Eastern Prince, a steamship which is bringing from Buenos Aires 160 kegs containing 400,000 American eagles and 38 kegs of sovereigns and gold Napoleons, the total valued at $5,000,000.

Negro Boy, 12, Secures Two Suits From Tailor Shop by Clever Ruse

Something new in the way of technique in acquiring a wardrobe but which hardly can be classed as consistent with the purposes of "better business week" came to light here Wednesday through complaints made to Constable Frank Morgan.

Early in the week, a sprightly negro boy of about 12 years, it was said, bustled into a tailoring establishment radiating a desire to serve his master with diligence and dispatch. He bore a penciled note, asking that a suit belonging to one of the establishment's regular customers be delivered to the efficient messenger who bore the note. The garments were handed at once to the boy for delivery to their owner.

Some minutes passed. The youthful negro appeared again, reporting that the suit "the boss" wanted was the other one. Since three suits belonging to the man who presumably had sent the note had been in the place for service, a second suit immediately was surrendered for delivery, it was said.

Revelation of the ruse in which the young negro had been the modus operandi came when the owner of the three suits called Wednesday at the tailoring establishment for his clothing. According to the information given Constable Morgan, the customer knew of no such messenger, and is certain only that whereas he had three freshly tailored suits in reserve for the week-end, he now has but one.

The warning of which is, according to the constable, that even zealously dutiful looking negro boys should be compelled to show credentials before being given valuable property.

Today — At the Theaters

By ELEANOR FLEMING

MAJESTIC: "Tom Sawyer" with Jackie Coogan, Junior Durkin, and Mitzi Green. Lloyd Hamilton comedy, Lillian Roth novelty and sound news.

STATE: Victor McLaglen in "A Devil With the Women." Chapter five of "The Lone Defender" with Rin-Tin-Tin. Sound news.

STRAND: "Feet First" with Harold Lloyd. Mickey Mouse comedy and sound news.

GEM: Richard Dix in "Shooting Straight." Comedy.

The fellow who is really sincere about this backward-turn-backward-o-time stuff is guaranteed perfect delivery on his order if he goes to the Majestic theater, sits down in front with the hundreds of children and sees "Tom Sawyer." Any person who could retain the dignity of his years under the pressure of such a perfect filming of the Mark Twain classic, greatly abetted by the enthusiastic yells of the youngsters, is too old for the movies anyhow.

Someone had said, "It can't be done—nobody could put Tom Sawyer on the screen without leaving out something important." It is as truly Tom Sawyer as if Mark Twain had been whispering in the ear of John Chomwell, director, and as if the picture had actually been filmed in Hannibal, Mo., in 1850, instead of in Hollywood in 1930.

I saw a ragged urchin in front of the theater, gazing wistfully at the tempting "stills" used in the artistically-decorated front, who later came in to find a seat just behind me. There was a trio of 7-year-old schoolboys on one side, while on the other, one of these bored 5-year-olds in a silk suit gave everybody a disdainful look. In front, there were half a dozen little girls and a few boys at the end of the row. All us kids were set for a good time.

The picture raced on as no 90-minute film ever did. Tom had put over the whitewashing deal on the back fence and Tom, Huck and Joe had walked in on their own funeral. Becky and Tom were lost in the cave. Injun Joe began to chase Tom. I looked around.

The ragged one was beating fran-tically on another boy who sat immediately in front. "Run, Tom!" he screamed. The three little first graders were on their feet, pleading with Tom to dodge the Indian. The poor little rich boy was bored no longer; he was standing on the seat, waving his arms and hitting first his nurse, and then the rest of us in his unbounded excitement.

The little girls behaved exactly like their older sisters at a football game. When Injun Joe was finally disposed of in the usual bloodcurdling manner, one embryo flapper threw her arms enthusiastically about the neck of the boy who stood next to her. "Oh, goodie, goodie!" she screamed. "I'm so glad he's dead!"

"Well, gosh, don't kiss me about it!" he replied. But already an earsplitting scream had gone up. The treasure was found; the picture was ended; the hero had triumphed.

"Tom Sawyer" is the most perfect of all the talkies that have been made from famous books. Junior Durkin is superb as Huck Finn, Jackie Coogan is more appealing as a big boy than as a baby, and Mitzi Green is in her greatest role. There is nothing of Hollywood in it. It is Mark Twain in every respect, and, being Mark Twain, it is Tom Sawyer.

BRALLEY WINS DAMAGE SUIT

Sheriff Vindicated by Jury's Verdict

Returning a verdict at 5:05 p. m. Wednesday after almost four hours of deliberation, a jury before Judge W. W. Cook in the 78th district court denied Mrs. Ruth Locke damages against Sheriff W. G. Bralley et al., and by its answers to issues contained in the court's charges in the case, absolved the defendant from all blame in the shooting last October of William T. Locke, son of the plaintiff.

Trial of the $25,000 suit began Tuesday morning, taking of testimony requiring all of that day. The case was given to the jury shortly after 1 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

Loss of one hand by amputation following its injury by gunshot during a raid on a still near the Archer-Wichita county line last October was the basis of the action brought by the mother of the injured man, who was 19 years of age at the time of the shooting, it was stated. Testimony introduced showed that a bullet fired by one of the officers struck the hand of Locke, who allegedly was running from the still after arrival of the raiding party had interrupted his assistance in the still's operation.

Wichita Above Average In Health, Recreation

The city of Wichita Falls is spending almost twice as much money on health and recreation per year as the average of 250 cities in the United States with a population of more than 30,000 persons, it was revealed by statistics compiled by the United States department of commerce and sent to City Clerk W. E. McBroom.

Wichita Falls' report for last year shows that 5.3 cents of every dollar collected by the city was used for health and 6 cents of each dollar was used for the maintenance of parks and recreation while the average of 250 cities is only 3.4 cents for recreation and 2.4 cents for health facilities.

Young Johnson was selected for the promotion from a group of more than 500 cadets from 38 states and five foreign countries.

Electra Farmers to Attend Terracing School Today; Club to Serve Luncheon

Farmers of the Electra community are expected to gather in large numbers at the farm of Roy Cunningham northeast of that city Thursday morning for an all-day terracing demonstration which will be interrupted at noon by a generous luncheon to be served by the Fairwise Home Demonstration club, according to information given The Record News by G. C. McGown, county farm agent.

Leaders in Thursday's demonstration of modern methods of preserving soil and surface moisture will be M. R. Bentley of the extension service of A. & M. college; A. K. (Dad) Short of the Federal Land bank, Houston; M. B. Oates, agricultural agent of the Fort Worth and Denver railway; R. E. L. Pattillo, Wilbarger county farm agent, and Mr. McGown.

Preparatory to staging the field work in modern terracing Thursday, Mr. Bentley addressed a gathering of farmers in that territory at the Enterprise school house Wednesday night, using in his lecture pictorial slides illustrating applied principles of soil washing and terracing.

The Cunningham farm at which Thursday's demonstration will take place is located four miles north and two miles east of Electra, Mr. McGown said. This will be the first of four such community terracing schools planned by Mr. McGown for different sections of the county, the others to follow at intervals of one week each, it was said.

The luncheon Thursday noon will be served under the direction of Miss Ethel Webb, home demonstration agent for the county.

THIS IS THE FOURTEENTH PUZZLE IN TIMES-RECORD NEWS "SCRAMBLED LETTER CONTEST"

This Is The Letter

D

The Times-Record News is conducting one of the most absorbing contests ever designed for the entertainment of its readers. To stimulate interest in it, and to make it a profitable as well as an enjoyable pastime for the next few weeks, a grand total of 39 prizes aggregating $100 will be awarded for the winning solutions.

Every other day there will be printed a letter of the alphabet in scrambled form, similar to the "D" above. These scrambled sections, when cut apart and properly assembled, will form the accompanying letter indicated. Each letter will be printed once in The Times and Record News.

This new game is extremely fascinating. It requires a high degree of skill to arrange these apparently simple sections in such forms as to make a perfect capital letter. "Scrambled Letters" has swept the country like a storm. Big business executives have taken it up as a genuine test of their ingenuity. Parties are formed in hundreds of communities to work out the puzzle in interested groups.

Each letter will appear in both papers. Full details about entering the contest are published herewith. Remember, 39 prizes make it well worth your time in matching your wits against this brand new intelligence test.

PRIZES ARE AS FOLLOWS

First prize	$25.00
Second prize	15.00
Third prize	10.00
Fourth prize	5.00
Ten prizes at $2 each	20.00
Twenty-five prizes at $1 each	25.00
Grand total	$100.00

Read These Rules

The Times-Record News Nu-Way alphabet puzzles include the 26 letters of the alphabet. The publication of the various letters of the alphabet will cover a period of several weeks. These letters appearing in the paper are cut into pieces of varying shapes, the object being to place these parts together so they will form the respective letters as illustrated in outline accompanying the pieces.

An outline and its entire parts will be published in the Times and Record News every other day, a different letter of the alphabet being presented. The publication of all letters of the alphabet will cover a period of several weeks.

Anyone who is a resident of Wichita Falls or this section may participate in this profitable fun, except employes of the Times and Record News or their families. You pay nothing to enter. Each letter, as it appears in the Times and Record News may be traced or copied free of charge from the files at the office of this newspaper.

The Times and Record News will pay $100 in cash prizes to the persons who send in the nearest correctly solved complete set of puzzles in accordance with the rules. This does not necessarily mean that you have to solve all the puzzles to win. The prizes will be paid to the persons whose entries rank the highest. Neatness, accuracy and simplicity are the prime requisites. Accurate cutting and correct assembling of the pieces to form each respective letter. Entries that are elaborate will receive no more consideration than the simplest ones. Young and old thus have an equal chance to win.

Take the page of the Times or Record News wherein the puzzles are published. Cut the pieces along the outside of the black border and paste the pieces neatly on cardboard or a piece of paper to form the letter indicated. Repeat this operation every week with the new letters in the Nu-Way alphabet puzzles published in the Times and Record News until you complete the full alphabet. Letters previously worked by pasting on the large letters we formerly published may be submitted in that way.

Puzzle solutions are to be submitted only in complete sets five days after all letters of the alphabet have been published in the Times and Record News. Do not send in each puzzle separately. When you have the complete set of 26 puzzles, or parts thereof, mail first class, postage prepaid, or bring them to the Times and Record News alphabet puzzle department. All entries must be in by midnight five days after the last puzzle has been published in the Times and Record News. The winners will be announced as soon thereafter as possible. Be sure that mailed entries have name and address of sender and sufficient postage is used.

In addition to your entry, you must send an advertisement of one of the advertisers shown on any of the letters clipped from the Times or Record News during this contest period, and a letter not exceeding 50 words in length telling why you can profitably deal with this concern.

The Times and Record News will appoint judges, and their decision will be final. In the event of a tie for any of the prizes offered, the full amount of the prize tied for will be awarded each tying contestant.
