Diplomat's Son Spotted In Panhandle

AMARILLO, Tex., (UP)—The search for the missing son of the Italian consul-general in Chicago turned to the Far West today after two Texas officials said they saw the boy.

The youth, Vittorio Barattieri, has been missing since last Tuesday.

Authorities in New Mexico, Arizona and California were alerted after Sheriff's Sgt. Bobby Gravestock of Potter county said he saw two boys, one resembling Vittorio, hitchhiking on U. S. 66 Saturday. Gravestock said he believed the boys were heading toward California.

At Shamrock, policeman M. M. Nix said he picked up a boy resembling Vittorio and another youth last Friday night and took them to jail as vagrants. However, Sheriff Bus Dorman later (See DIPLOMATS, Page 3)

Stassen Returns To London To Aid In Disarmament Talks

By MERRIMAN SMITH

United Press White House Writer AUGUSTA, Ga., (UP)—President Eisenhower sent Harold E. Stassen back to the London disarmament talks today with reaffirmation of this country's belief that reduction in world arms must come a step at a time.

The President and his disarmament representative at the five-power talks in London talked for 75 minutes today. They explored the progress made to date toward some type of working agreement with Russia on a dependable start in the reduction of conventional or non-nuclear arms and the inauguration of an international inspection system.

Stassen left Augusta immediately after his early morning talk with the President and will pause in Washington for a brief afternoon meeting with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles before continuing on to London late in the day.

Gets Review Of Talks
After the meeting, White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty issued this statement:
"The President received from Mr. Stassen a review of the London talks. The President has followed these London discussions with interest. He had arranged with the secretary of State to have Mr. Stassen come to Augusta to give him a personal report.

"The President encouraged the United States delegation to follow in London on Wednesday.

"The President reaffirmed that United States policy is, as stated by the secretary of State in his speech yesterday, that:

"We consider that controls and reduction of arms are possible, desirable, and in the last reckoning, indispensable. It is not essential that controls should encompass everything at once. In fact progress is likely to come by steps carefully measured and carefully taken."

"Mr. Stassen will return this morning to Washington to confer again with the secretary of State prior to leaving for London later this afternoon from New York City."

Seek Agreements For Right-Of-Way
The City Commission agreed this morning to make one final effort to reach agreement with the two remaining property owners with whom an agreement for the purchase of right-of-way for the Hobart Street underpass has not yet been made.

City officials report that delays have arisen over making settlements with these two owners for the purchase of right-of-way necessary for the widening of Hobart and Alcock streets. The property involved in the transactions are the Hobart property and Caldwell's Drive Inn. The property owners and commission have not been able to arrive at a suitable price for either so far.

It was reported this morning that all other right-of-way needed for the underpass and street widening project has either been purchased or that final arrangements for the purchase are now in progress.

The commissioners also learned that a report would need to be made in the near future to the State Highway Department on status of the right-of-way and that the contracts for the construction work could not be awarded until all of the right-of-way is obtained.

In another action, the commissioners approved the second reading of Ordinance 472 closing the public hearing on the current paving program. This program involves the paving of 29 1/2 blocks of unpaved streets within the city.

A water right option on 55 1/2 acres located near the new water pumping station was authorized by the commissioners. They agreed to purchase the option from L. D. Blanton for a sum of $50.

A request by the Jaycees for permission to park an exhibit, Lamb Exhibit, sponsored by that group, on Cuyler street was denied this morning. The commission stated that the exhibit charged admission and this was in violation of city policies. Any free exhibit can park where parking meters are located but one charging admission cannot.

'Value Days' Plans Completed
Late this morning the commission was still in session and items to be discussed were: insurance on public buildings, the bid date on fuel and greases for city equipment, the bid date on the purchase of city vehicles, De Molay Day and changes in parking.

De Molay Day is scheduled for next Tuesday and members of the boys' club will handle various city and county offices during the day.

The changes in parking involve adding a parking place where a driveway had been and also removing two parking places blocking the driveway of a service station.

Mrs. Harman sought to strike a blow at her foe with a nighttime complaint to the police. She told the desk sergeant the frogs were "hollering and carrying on" outside her bedroom window.

"Check disorderly frogs at 512 28th Place," the sergeant said to a police cruiser.

Ballistic Missile Program Reaches 'Really Critical Period'

By CHARLES CORDDRY

WASHINGTON (UP)—Air Force research rockets have reached new and still secret speeds well above 8,000 miles an hour in simulating the performance of long-range ballistic missiles.

Authorities guardedly gave details of the rocket flights today in disclosing that the "really critical period" of development in its multi-billion dollar ballistic missile program.

Imminent flight tests of prototype weapons will reveal whether the program is near the pay-off stage or is to face now-unexpected problems that will throw it off schedule.

The Thor 1,500-mile intermediate range ballistic missile (IRBM) is expected to undergo a number of "successful launchings" from the Air Force missile test center, Patrick Air Force Base, Fla., this year under present plans. It is considered to have "entered the flight test phase."

The Atlas inter-continental ballistic missile (ICBM) is "entering into the flight test phase" and should undergo launchings this year although probably not to its full 5,500-mile range. Its ultimate speed will be 15,000 to 16,000 miles an hour and it will climb 300 to 800 miles above the earth in streaking between continents.

"Successful launchings" will not mean combat units suddenly will begin to bristle with ballistic missiles. They will mean, authorities said, that barring the unforeseen there are no longer "fundamental engineering problems" to be solved.

The task is to put together the complicated rocket motors, tanks or air frames, control and guidance systems, and weapon-carrying nose cones that make up the dread vehicles.

Tests in wind tunnels and with scale models in actual flight give authorities "complete confidence" of success. They expect the forthcoming flight tests with prototypes to verify the correctness of their years of work.

The record flights with research rockets were made to provide data on the problems atomic weapon-carrying nose cones will face when they reenter the earth's atmosphere. The rockets were X17s, previously described as three-stage vehicles weighing more than six tons and standing as high as four-story buildings.

Authorities said they had gone faster than any other "instrumented" rocket yet fired. Their instruments return data to ground stations.

Red Propaganda Beleaguers Jordan

Events Are Building Up To A Climax

Leaflets Seized; Ike Doctrine Hit
By WALTER LOGAN
United Press Staff Correspondent

Soviet propagandists have intervened in Jordan in an effort to bring down the government of Premier Hussein el Khalidi and restore pro-leftist Premier Sulaiman Nabulsi to power. Amman dispatches said today.

At the same time, Cairo Radio beamed a steady propaganda barrage at Jordan in apparent hopes of inflaming the people against the Khalidi regime and keeping Jordan in the Syrian-Egyptian "neutralist" bloc.

It appeared events were building up to a climax behind the military censorship imposed in Jordan.

A brief dispatch from Amman said police loyal to 22-year-old King Hussein seized batches of Communist leaflets exhorting the nation to "stand united" against an Anglo-American "conspiracy against the people."

Leaflets Ask Unity
The leaflets, said to be of Soviet origin, linked the Anglo-Americans with King Hussein and called on the people and army to unite against a conspiracy "which resulted in the firing of the national (See PROPAGANDA, Page 3)

CLOUDS DARKEN SKIES—As storm clouds passed over Pampa early yesterday afternoon, the skies were darkened with the approaching storm. The heavy clouds, moving in from the Southwest, dumped a total of .51 of an inch of rain on Pampa. The rain was accompanied by strong winds and light hail but no damage was reported in the Pampa area other than to a few TV antennas. Yesterday's rain brought our three-day total to 1.16 inches.

Pampa Gets Half-Inch Rain As State Belted By Wind, Storms

Heavy clouds moved into the Top of Texas early yesterday afternoon from the Southwest and a heavy rain, driven by strong winds, dumped .51 of an inch on Pampa in less than an hour.

The moisture recorded yesterday brings the total for the past three days to 1.16 inches recorded by The News rain gauge since Saturday morning. The total moisture recorded since the first of the year now stands at 7.24 inches.

The heavy rain yesterday was also accompanied by light hail but reports from throughout the city indicate that the hail was not large enough to cause damage.

At one time during the storm, visibility was reduced to less than half a block because of the blowing rain. Water running down the streets was over some of the gutters and some streets in downtown Pampa and some streets during the height of the storm. The streets drained quickly, however.

Unconfirmed reports of a tornado sighted five miles east of Groom resulted in the storm sire being sounded at McLean. Upon checking with authorities and other persons in Groom this morning, The News learned that no tornado had touched the ground in the vicinity of Groom but that heavy rains were also received in that area.

McLean received a total of .54 of an inch of rain from the storm clouds. At Lefors, heavy rain accompanied by light hail fell but no reports were available as to the amount received.

Following the passage of the main storm cloud at Shamrock the storm signal siren was sounded at 3:55 but no tornadoes were sighted. Half the size of marbles fell at Shamrock and reports stated it nearly covered the ground.

On the J. Gillis place, located 12 miles east of Shamrock, damage resulted from the strong winds. The family had started for a storm cellar in their car but the heavy rain caused them to drive into the garage. Winds blew the walls to flatten. A fence on their place and a fence across the road were also blown over by the winds.

No reports of damage were received from other areas in the Top of Texas.

Up to six inches of rain deluged some places and getting steadily deeper.

In Dallas, police reported high water in six low spots. The worst was along Barbaree Rd., in East Dallas, where residents reported water was near floor level and they were afraid they would have to start moving.

Waco stood in danger of the worst flooding; a six inch rainfall above the city threatened a repetition of the flood that drove hundreds from their homes over the weekend.

Low places in Fort Worth were flooded and in the suburb of Kennedale, to the southeast, water was running seven feet deep in the northeastern quarter of Texas today, cutting roads and flooding whole sections of cities and towns and thousands of acres of cropland.

In Dallas, police reported high water in six low spots. The worst was along Barbaree Rd., in East Dallas, where residents reported water was near floor level and they were afraid they would have to start moving.

Trinity Over Flood Stage
The Trinity River was expected to crest at 32 feet, four feet over flood stage at Dallas, by Wednesday morning. It probably won't hurt Dallas itself, but will flood outlands south of the city.

The situation was so bad in McLennan county (Waco) that all schools were ordered closed except those in Waco itself and in the suburb of Belmead. Baylor University was closed until noon; students couldn't get to class earlier.

Flood warnings were issued on the Brazos River between Waco and Marlin in Falls county, about 32 miles. Firemen in Waco were taking residents out of homes in low areas around Waco Creek. The creek was reported flooding worse than it did last weekend.

Nine of the 16 gates of Lake Waco were opened, as the three forks of the Bosque poured thousands of tons of yellow, foaming water into it. The Brazos, below Lake Waco, was becoming as wide as the Mississippi River again.

Twisters Appear Over
No tornado warnings were out in Texas, and apparently an epidemic of twisters that began last Friday was over. A total of 32 (See PAMPA, Page 3) section of Barnes and Albert after being involved in an accident with a parked car.

Dick Benton of Pampa, who received a fine and costs totaling $158, also pleaded guilty before receiving sentence. He had been arrested by city police at 10:30 p.m. yesterday on the 1000 block of E. Frederic. There was no accident involved in his arrest.

Don't Fight Nature—Frogs Will Be Frogs

BRENTWOOD, Md., (UP)—City officials are deciding whether to blow the whistle on a crowd of sexy frogs.

Fortunately for the croakers.

Dr. Gordon To Speak At K&F Club

Members of the Pampa Knife and Fork Club will hear what it takes for a long life at their next meeting from Dr. William H. Gordon, heart specialist and college professor. The group will meet on Tuesday, April 30, at 7:30 p.m. in the High School Cafeteria.

Joe Gordon, president of the Knife and Fork Club, was high in his praise of Dr. Gordon who, he said, has a very full background.

After collecting two degrees at the University of Missouri, he obtained his M.D. from the Medical College of Virginia and has his fellowship in heart disease at Massachusetts General Hospital which is a part of the Harvard Medical School teaching faculty.

Aside from his interest in practicing his specialty, Dr. Gordon's chief interest is in the field of adult education in medicine, and he is a professor in the Department of Sociology at Texas Tech.

Dr. Gordon has also contributed to many medical publications and has written numerous books. One of his most outstanding works is a book designed for the layman entitled "What is Heart Disease."

Tickets will be on sale for all Knife and Fork Club members and will be available at Thompson's Hardware Store. Deadline for purchase of these tickets will be Monday at 1 p.m.

But Mrs. Mary Harman despises them with an abiding feror. Possibly she has good reason. She lives next door to a frog pond.

But what Mrs. Harman apparently needed was not the mayor, but someone with a pump.

Doris M. Cochran, amphibian curator at the Smithsonian Institution, said anyone trying to hunt a frog in the springtime is fighting nature. She said this is the frog mating season. And frogs will be frogs.

"The male is calling the female and establishing his territory," she said. "The only way to stop the calling is drain the pond."

Brentwood Mayor William H. Smith said he knew that, but didn't think much of it.

"I don't want to extinguish them," he said. "I think there is nothing nicer than having a bunch of frogs to go to sleep by" cabinet and the arrest and jailing of army officers."

Cairo Radio, which calls itself "the voice of the Arabs," cut through the Jordan censorship with slashing attacks against the Eisenhower Doctrine and the Baghdad Pact.
Coupled with the all-out propaganda war were open predictions in Cairo that street demonstrations Monday in Jordan might signal the beginning of a mass outburst against young King Hussein.

By-Laws Amended By Hotel Stockholders

At a stockholder's meeting of the Pampa Community Hotel Company held this morning in the Cabot Auditorium in the Hughes Building, those persons present voted to amend two sections of articles in the by-laws governing the company, adding an additional section to one article.
The sections amended were section 3 of Article IV and section 5 of Article V; and section 10 was added to Article V. The changes and addition of section 3, Article IV read as follows:

"At any meeting of the stockholders, the holders of 40 percent or more of the stock issued and outstanding, present in person or represented by proxy, shall constitute a quorum for all purposes except as otherwise provided by law. If the holders of the amount of stock necessary to constitute a quorum shall fail to attend in person or by proxy at the time and place fixed by these by-laws for an annual meeting, or fixed by notice as above provided for a special meeting, a majority in interest of the stockholders present in person or by proxy may adjourn, from time to time without notice other than by announcement at the meeting, until the holders of the amount of stock requisite to constitute a quorum shall attend. At any such adjourned meeting at which a quorum shall be present, any business may be transacted which might have been transacted at the meeting as originally called or notified."

Indian Chief Sets Visit In Pampa

Pampa will be invaded today through Saturday by a colorful hereditary chief of the Chippewa Indian Tribe.
Chief Go-Ge-We-Osh is making a personal appearance in behalf of Black Hawk Products which are manufactured by his sponsor, The Rath Packing Company of Waterloo, Iowa. During his stay in Pampa, the Chief's headquarters will be at the local Ideal Super Markets where he is giving out Indian headaddresses to the children.

Chief Go-Ge-We-Osh is the eldest son of an eldest son back through the line and is the hereditary Chief of the Chippewa Tribe. His name, "Sailing Home Once In Awhile," indicates his tribe is from the Nautical Clan (fish) of the Chippewa Tribe. He is one of seven clans of the Chippewa Tribe from the Bad River area and all members of his family have some term referring to sailing in their title.
The Chippewas, who presently live in northern Wisconsin, originally resided on the East Coast of the United States. They were the first Indian Tribe contacted by Pilgrims.
Chief Go-Ge-We-Osh has done everything from playing football with Jim Thorpe to being the Chippewa Indian interpreter on all Senate and House hearings on Indian affairs. He is a renowned lecturer on Indian costumes and relations. He also is very interested in Boy Scout work and has earned 52 merit badges. He was the first Indian to receive the Eagle Scout Badge.
He has a Bachelor Degree from Northland College, a Masters Degree from St. Paul's College and a Doctor's Degree (PHD) from Georgetown University in Washington, D.C.

What's wrong with putting in a hard day's work and being tired at the end of it?
I ask that question because my mail is full of letters from young wives who go into self-pitying detail about how hard they work.
And in the last year some of the women's magazines have started playing up to this self-pity.
There never was a time, and there probably never will be, when a woman with young children didn't have to work hard.
That is just the price of establishing a family and giving children a start in life. There have been working years or they can be a martyrdom, depending on how a woman feels.
If she takes it for granted that a family means work and does her job with pride and pleasure, she gets along fine and the hard-working years are soon behind her.
But if she feels she is being imposed upon because night finds her weary and she thinks and talks about how hard worked and tired down she is, she soon becomes a miserable creature.
What's wrong with hard work if you are young and healthy and working at the most important job and bringing up children?
In the world — making a home woman ought to start asking her.
That's a question the modern self. Because there are too many today who are willing to cater to her feeling of self-pity and frustration.
Rotating your handbags throughout the year will make them last longer. After you've used one for a time, give it a rest while you make use of another.

Intermediate Girl Auxiliary Attends Banquet At Berger Baptist Church

(Special To The News)
SKELLYTOWN — The Intermediate Girl's Auxiliary of the First Baptist Church recently attended a banquet and slumber party at the First Baptist Church in Berger. The groups from this district were sponsored by the Womens' Missionary Union of the Palo Duro Association.
The banquet rooms were decorated in the G.A. Colors of Green, gold and white. The table was covered with a white cloth, centered with the G. A. emblem on streamers of green, gold and white. Individual favors were made of gumdrops and life savers, centered with a small white candle, representing the watch word "Arise and Shine." The wall of the banquet room was decorated with a large cross with the words "Arise and Shine" inscribed on it.
The invocation was given by the Rev. Jeff Moore of Berger. A musical program was presented by the Girl's Auxiliary in Berger. Guest speaker was Miss Vada Waldron, missionary to the San Andres Island in South America. Miss Frances Zello from Jamaica, a student at Wayland College, also gave a talk.

A number of contests were held and games were played to entertain the guests. Refreshments of brownies and coffee were served.
The next regular club meeting will be held April 19.
Those present were Mrs. M. E. Bigham, Dwayne Howard, Fred Cullen, Johnny Roe, Joe Archer, Lloyd McKnight, Bob Wilson, Jackie Taylor, Calvin Lacy, and A. J. Rollins.

Toenails Definite Part Of Foot Beauty As Spring Puts Its Best Foot Forward

With the approach of spring, open sandals and very sheer hose, most women become acutely aware that toenails are a definite part of foot beauty. Actually, toenails should have the same meticulous year-round care as fingernails.
If you use polish, it isn't enough to dab on a slapdash coat of it and leave it for three weeks until it wears off by itself. Change polish on your toenails as regularly as you change that on your fingernails.
Make sure that you cut your toenails straight across. Bevel them with an emery board, just as you do your fingernails.
And if you've any toenails that are painful, visit a foot doctor to have the matter cleared up.
The immense amount of money spent in this country annually for alterations in women's clothes is not entirely due to the clothes themselves. It's due also to posture and a slumping gait. Poor posture and gait are frequently responsible for expensive alterations of clothes that seem to bunch and hang unevenly. Besides this, these figure faults also can ruin the looks of the clothes even after they've been altered.
A beautiful carriage is achieved by lining up the body from head to toe. It takes care and practice and a constant watchfulness. Along with the lovely carriage, learn to walk so that you are not slouching or mincing or shuffling along.
Proper posture and a graceful walk can create the illusion that you've shed both pounds and inches, as well. Try it and see.
Clothes, in addition to helping you look pretty, should be fun to own and wear. Most of us remember how it feels to have to wear a dress we loathe because we made a mistake in buying. It's happened to practically all of us and it's enough to make a woman be very careful when she goes shopping.
By the same token, most of us remember a particularly loved dress in which we always felt happy. Wonderful things seemed to happen to us whenever we wore it. Often it was an evening dress, but not always.
The reaction to clothes is an emotional one (ours and others) and a large part of beauty lies in the clothes we pick. Therefore, a sound rule is never to pick a dress or suit or coat that you don't feel good in. Don't buy it because the saleswoman says she has one just like it, or because your best friend says it becomes you. Buy it because you yourself really and truly feel happier for having it on.

Pastels Favored For The Young

By GAILE DUGAS
NEA Women's Editor
NEW YORK (NEA) — Fashion headlines for the young bride and the informal bride stress the chit-chat waist dress, the kumper, the high-waist dress, the ankle-length hem and the slim sheath, sometimes with a train.
A great deal of fashion is packed into these designs for the younger bride who wants to look pretty on her wedding day but who also wants to avoid great formality.
Her fabrics are essentially the young ones: Cotton lace, organdy, batiste. But she may wear, if she likes, frosty white French imported rosepoint type lace over layers and layers of pale pink petticoats.
The informal bride may choose little cap sleeves or the traditional long-pointed sleeves. She is quite likely to favor a dress with the slender, long-waisted look and a shallow, scooped neckline.
With her dress, she will wear a little cap of lace or silk. She may or may not have a veil.
The informal bride may blossom in the pastel colors that lend themselves so well to a garden wedding.
This year, she may have a soft pink, green, blue, beige or mauve or any one of these done in combination with white. White lace is used as a veiling for any one of these pastels to give it a misty look.
Most younger brides favor the pastels, too, because they expect a wedding dress to see further wear in the summer following the wedding. And they feel that the pastels can see wear oftener than all white.
A change of hemline and perhaps in the sleeves turn the young wedding dress into a summer party dress.

Farewell Coffee Honors Mrs. Creez

Halliburton Ladies honored Mrs. Edward Creez with a farewell coffee recently in the home of Mrs. Floyd Bettis, 111 Sumner. Co-hostesses were Mrs. Byrl Skinner, Marion Hill, John Christner and Ray Burney.
A set of wall plaques were presented to Mrs. Creez. The Creezes are leaving Halliburton Oil Well Cementing Company to enter the Armed Forces.
Coffee and doughnuts were served throughout the calling hours. Those present other than the guest and hostesses were Mrs. James Gann, Dwayne Reeves, Earl Moreland, Jim Wells, Bill Lankard, Boyd Stewart, Benny Jones, Earl Weatherford, Leonard Cable, Wayne Cook, Gordon Pursley, Gerdes Schmidt, Austin Wilson, Buddy Cuthbert, Bob Rumsey, Weldon Rogers, Roel Morrison, Billie Richardson, and Miss Kay Le Masters.

MATURE PARENT

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
A father has taken me to task for disapproving of fraternities.
Referring to my recent comments on them, he says, "One of the freedoms Americans enjoy is choosing their own friends. Why shouldn't a group of young people be permitted to join with those of their preference and enjoy themselves as the majority prefer? Don't you choose your own friends?"
Indeed I do.
But my friends do not choose my friends.
That's the point of my objection to fraternities — they do choose a member's friends for him. The moment he joins one, he surrenders that American freedom to exercise his individual judgment on the desirability of a friend — and let's his fraternity brothers make the judgment for him. He trades the right to think for himself for his group's acceptance.
This exchange between the fraternity and your teen-age child is a drag on his development.
It's his special problem that he's already terrified of individuality. This is because he's at the point of growth where he can no longer trust what we think with his old childish confidence — nor has he lived long enough to know what he thinks himself.
In this chaotic state, he clings to what the group thinks as a drowning man clings to a life raft. He feels unsafe unless he wears what the group wears, goes where the group goes and thinks what the group thinks. At this period of his development, any difference from it threatens him terribly.
I don't applaud his joining a fraternity. I don't act as though his lack of individuality were wonderful. I don't treat his state of moral feebleness as a permanent one but treat it for what it is — a temporary state, a step in his progress toward maturity.
When we insist on glorifying the teen-ager's fear of being different, we can maroon him in a state of permanent adolescence. We can turn him into one of those "Yes" men who never develop any clear identity of their own.
We have no more right to encourage adolescent dependence on the group than we have to encourage the infant's dependence on his bottle.

Mrs. Bolderjack Is Guild Hostess

(Special To The News)

CROUPY COUGH AND ASTHMA CLEAR UP QUICKLY

"My son had the croup at the slightest weather change, or cold snap, all last winter," said a mother as she led her eight year old sniffing boy into the Miller Chiropractic Clinic for an examination into the cause of his troubles.
"One cold after another with fever and croup, poor appetite, and head aches a year after a year despite the best efforts of his physician."
Many remedies were tried, but none that would cure. Temporary relief then, bango, right back in bed he'd go with another cold, fever, and croup.
That's about the way this distraught mother told us the story of her son's lack of health.
Ninety percent of our patients come to us pre-diagnosed by experts, and only then because all the orthodox remedies have failed to effect a cure. We're the last to be consulted. If some one else could have cured them, Chiropractic would not have been considered. As you read about our cases, please bear in mind that fact.
Our spinal analysis and spinal examination disclosed a spinal injury that set up the causative nerve interferences.
When we removed them, the boy became robust and resisted weather of all kinds.

WHEN SPRING fever dulls the appetite, a sure-fire way to awaken it is with ham and pineapple roll.

Ham And Pineapple Roll Is Spring "Alarm Clock" Idea

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor
Now is the time of year when spring fever dulls the appetite. So we looked about for a recipe to wake it up.
Satisfying and packed with surprise flavor, this ham and pineapple roll is a regular "alarm clock" idea.
PINEAPPLE HAM ROLL (68 servings)
Three-quarters pound ground ham, 3/4 pound ground veal, 1/4 cup quick-cooking rice cereal, 1/4 cup pineapple juice, 2 eggs, 2 teaspoons prepared mustard, 2 tablespoons catsup, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon pepper, 6 slices pineapple, 2 1-pound, 2-ounce cans sweet potatoes.
Mix together all ingredients except pineapple and sweet potatoes. Divide meat mixture into 7 portions and form into patties. Using a shallow baking dish or ovenware platter, form a long roll alternating a meat patty with a pineapple slice beginning and ending with meat.
To hold roll together put a large skewer through it from end to end. Bake 30 minutes in preheated 325 degree F. oven. Then baste with a glaze made by combining 1 cup light brown sugar, 1/2 cup pineapple juice, 1/2 teaspoon ground cloves, and 2 tablespoons vinegar which has been brought to a boil. Bake 1 hour longer basting every 20 minutes. After second basting place sweet potatoes around roll on platter. The glaze and drippings from the roll will baste the sweet potatoes.
APPLE PIE SUPREME (6-8 servings)
Pastry for 9-inch double pie crust, 4 cups sliced cooked apples or 2 No. 2 cans including juice, 1 cup sugar, 2 tablespoons quick-cooking rice cereal, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon, 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg, 2 tablespoons butter or margarine.
Place apples in mixing bowl. Combine sugar, rice cereal and seasonings. Sprinkle over apples and mix lightly. Prepare pastry and line bottom of 9-inch pie plate. Arrange apple mixture in plate, arranging evenly. Dot with butter or margarine.
Roll out top crust, cut vents to allow escape of steam and place over apples. Trim, seal and flute edges. Bake in preheated 425 degree F. oven, 45 minutes, or until crust is browned and filling bubbles.
Tomorrow's Dinner: Pineapple ham roll, glazed sweet potatoes, buttered French green beans, assorted relish plate, celery sticks, carrot curls, radish roses, assorted olives, rolls, butter or margarine, apple pie supreme, coffee, tea, milk.

The Pampa Daily News

One of Texas' Five Most Consistent Newspapers

We believe that one truth is always consistent with another truth. We endeavor to be consistent with truths expressed in such great moral guides as the Golden Rule, the Ten Commandments and the Declaration of Independence.

Should we at any time, be inconsistent with these truths, we would appreciate anyone pointing out to us how we are inconsistent with these moral guides.

Published daily except Saturday by The Pampa Daily News, Atchison at Bonville, Pampa, Texas. Phone 4-2525, all departments. Entered as second class matter under the act of March 3, 1879.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES

By CARRIER in Pampa, 30c per week. Paid in advance (at office) $1.90 per 4 months, $7.50 per 6 months, $12.00 per year. By mail $7.50 per year in retail trading zone, $12.00 per year outside retail trading zone. Price for single copy 5 cents. No mail orders accepted in localities served by carrier.

Bird In The Hand

Plutarch had it this way: "He is a fool who lets slip a bird in the hand for a bird in the bush." This may be applicable to a pair of birds. But before we are done, we may yet discover that this homely admonition is at the root of our evils.

While we would hasten to agree that an object had is more tangible than an object to be obtained, we frequently wonder if the idea generated by this ancient saw hasn't led to a general conviction of "I'll take mine now, and let the future look out for itself."

Surely, it is apparent that the present generation of Americans are in the process of trading their birthright for a mess of pottage. And in strict parlance, the phrase "of pottage" can be omitted.

The birthright of every American is freedom. This was a hard-won and much-bled-for commodity. But with each passing year we see less and less freedom for each American and more and more of a mess for him to face.

Freedom and control are opposite things. No man can be free if his choices and actions are curtailed, limited and finally halted. And what we see can be interpreted thus. Americans originally had much freedom and little money. Opportunity abounded. Security and opulence did not.

The government got into the act to assist Americans in finding both security and opulence. It provided the bird in the hand. The bird of freedom, which to most Americans was an intangible good if it really existed, was something they failed to grasp. "I'll take the handout now," is the generally prevailing mood.

So we exist in a period of time in which freedom is questioned. All sorts of specious arguments are marshaled. How much freedom is really good for a person to have? Can we ever be really free? Isn't it better to be safe with a multitude of government doles, than to be unsafe? Or otherwise worded, isn't it better to eat the bird we have than to dream of what the bird we may not have, which we do not know exists, might do for us in the future?

We are in the process of trading our future hopes, aspirations and accomplishments, for present comforts. And while there are many who will attempt to justify their actions on the basis of their own convenience, it must follow that our children will look with scorn and anger upon this generation of poor traders.

We are giving away that which is real and vital, for that which is unreal and transitory. And we are doing it under the illusion that that which is unreal is real and that which is but passing advantage is a permanent gain. Nothing could be sadder than this.

The American people were warned at the outset that the "price of liberty is eternal vigilance." But with ill-concealed apathy these same Americans have concluded that vigilance is the government's business, and that the rest of us can afford to relax and bask in the luxury of a protectionist society which only demands a percentage of all we can produce for the dubious advantage of maintaining the status quo.

Nor do we have the alibi that Esau had when he returned from the hunt in a state of semi-starvation. With him, hunger was an immediate emergency. His birthright was something for the future which he might never enjoy if he failed to find food. The pot of lentils prepared by his brother was a tempting dish. And in the pressure of his gnawing pangs he swapped his future for the assuaging of his appetite.

But we, because of our freedom, are far from hungry. We are simply greedy. And when someone offers us "something for nothing," the something is taken as a bird in the hand. The nothing is the freedom we lose by becoming dependant upon the donor.

What needs understanding is that the government itself is not an agency primarily concerned with protecting our liberties. The government is concerned primarily protecting itself. And we, as its subjects yield up our birthright so that the government can protect and perpetuate itself at all costs. The costs are in freedom and opportunity. The price is the illusion of safety. One day we will know it.

The Doctor Says

By EDGAR P. JORDAN, M. D.

MANY correspondents write for a discussion of the menopause or change of life.

They ask a great variety of questions about it, but perhaps the most common deal with old wives' tales and unnecessary fears which seem always with us.

Actually, there are too many misconceptions and false ideas about the menopause to mention all of them. It should be emphasized that this is entirely a normal phenomenon; that it usually, but not always, begins around the age of 45 and takes several years before adjustments have been completed.

Most women pass through the menopause without experiencing either physical or mental disturbances of any serious kind.

THE MENOPAUSE is more than the ending of one physiological function. Actually it represents the development of a new balance between the various internal glands which is caused by gradual slowing down of the ovaries.

The most obvious reflection of these changes is the cessation of the menses and the ending of the reproductive processes. Neither of these need produce any concern in the great majority of women. Nature has provided these changes for reasons which seem desirable both for the individual woman and for mankind as a whole.

If symptoms do develop, the most common are hot flashes, abnormal menses, a tendency to melancholy, putting on weight, headache and sleeplessness.

IT IS UNDER such circumstances that glandular products may be helpful. They act by supplying some of the internal secretion which the patient's own glands fail to supply.

Hormone or endocrine injections are definitely useful for most women who are encountering symptoms of lessened female glandular secretions during the menopause, providing that the substance chosen and the size of the dose is properly adjusted to the individual needs. They are not necessary for all women in the menopause.

During the usual two or three-year period of adjustment, a woman should remain active, both mentally and physically. It is not too late to renew old interests, which were abandoned while children were small, or to develop new ones.

BUT IT IS not a time for a woman to become careless in dress or to eat too much and get fat.

It is an opportunity to be met with courage and zest for new activities.

There are a number of excellent books and pamphlets, either on this subject alone, or included among a general discussion of problems peculiar to women. One of the briefest and yet satisfactory discussions is that entitled "Understanding Your Menopause," a pamphlet available for 25 cents from the Public Affairs Committee, 22 East 38th Street, New York, 18, N. Y.

BETTER JOBS

By R. C. HOILES

Honest Confession Shows Integrity

What we need is more people who will publicly admit a mistake. A mistake is not so serious but it is a refusal to try to correct it that does great harm, not only to the public but to the individual who has made the mistake.

The other day I received a very interesting letter from Betty Knowles Hunt who writes a column weekly under the heading of "Before The Dishes Are Done." She wrote:

"Dear Mr. Hoiles: "A long, long time ago, I wrote a column which quoted liberally from a seemingly-sincere speech lauding 'free enterprise' and the American way." The speech was made by a powerful labor-union leader, I had read it in the Congressional Record, and from my then limited point of view, it seemed unusual enough to quote and to applaud.

"You did not run that particular column in your papers, and sent me a letter of explanation, namely—that the speaker whom I was quoting, and congratulations I was extending, were unacceptable to you because of the speaker's character and reputation.

"The speaker referred to is one, Dave Beck, and in view of recent and current disclosures, I hereby wish to thank you sincerely for striking this old column of mine, which was obviously based upon my own innocence and ignorance at that time.

"I trust that I have learned a little in the meantime. . . . Betty Knowles Hunt"

When I read the above I had forgotten all about it. I looked up the original piece but Mrs. Hunt had submitted and my answer to her as to why I thought it would be a disservice to publish such an article. I wrote, "We are not running your letter quoting from Mr. Beck's address. You say you do not know whether he and his union really live up to the noble principles espoused in this declaration. If you do not know that they do not, you must be asleep."

Beck's original article had professed belief in liberty. It quoted Mr. Beck saying, "I would say, as I have so often said before: let nothing under any circumstances cause you to surrender your American liberty. That is the most important thing I could possibly say."

Of course when I read that I knew that it was impossible for a man to believe in liberty and organized labor that practices collective bargaining and strikes and boycotts. Liberty, meaning the right of each and every individual to choose his own life and no one else's, is the exact opposite of the practices of organized labor. Organized labor is unprincipled and liberty is based on the principle that all men have equal rights to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness, not just the majority or those the labor union will admit into the group.

The speech Dave Beck made in 1949 when Mrs. Hunt's article was written, warned management not to shirk their responsibilities. Then he gave a lot of lip service to labor. He used the oft-repeated meaningless phrase, "Give a fair day's work for a fair day's wage."

But, I know no believer in unions who can tell how to arrive at a fair day's work for a fair day's wage, because they get their wage by a conspiracy to injure some one else—the other workers—if their demands are not granted. Union labor doesn't seem to realize that it is not a fight between labor and capital because the owners of capital consume relatively very, very little. The employer always collects what he pays in wages from the consumer and the consumer is largely made up of wage earners.

In my letter to Mrs. Hunt written in August, 1949, I told her that I would be glad to give Dave Beck $1,000 if he would submit to an interview with a stenographer present and agree to answer each question in 120 words without the consent of the questioner for a longer period of time. . . .

I told her that I had offered William Green, who was living at that time, $1,000 if he would answer questions on the labor problem.

Of course, no one could get any labor union leader to define his terms and reduce them to principles. They cannot reduce their acts to any moral law, to any principle because they are unprincipled and based on the theory that "we've got the might and we're going to cash in on it."

My letter of nearly eight years ago had little effect on Mrs. Hunt at that time. She wrote me a two-page single-spaced letter telling me how wrong I was in refusing to publish her quote from Dave Beck's speech and her eulogy of him.

I answered it and pointed out that Dave Beck's speech was not like other speeches that we thought would be beneficial to our readers. He never once pointed out any violations of liberty. . . .

"The answer as to why not quote Dave Beck is that it seems rational to conclude judging from his actions, and that is the only way you can conclude, that his speech is only given to gain more power for Dave Beck. Sure, it is possible to praise a speech or an act without at the same time endorsing a whole man, but there was nothing to praise in this speech any more than you would praise a preacher who said he is against sin. Such a sermon or speech is useless to any individual."

Mrs. Hunt did not need write her recent letter above quoted confessing her error. It did show, however, that she is a woman of integrity and tries to live in harmony with the Golden Rule, the Covenanted Commandment and the Declaration of Independence.

Would that we had more columnists like Betty Knowles Hunt.

Mysterious Cabal Has Been Able To Ignore Suspicion

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK — The mysterious cabal of supra-national architects of the future who spent three days in secret session at St. Simon Island, Ga., thus far have been able to ignore the flurry of suspicion which belatedly marred their otherwise serene and impudent coup. However, the jig is up and henceforth their privacy doubtless will be destroyed by notoriety and challenge. They tiptoed into session on Feb. 16 and tiptoed away on the 18th. Their island is close enough to Jekyll Island to compel in the mind of the knowing observer a comparison with the silly but fateful conclave of a similar bunch who in 1908 formulated the Federal Reserve System on Jekyll while using only their first names. They suppressed their last names to keep their identity secret from the servants.

In the present instance, since the discovery and denunciation of the conference efforts have been made to convince the public that the exploit was unofficial and not at all secret. To be sure, it was not "covered" by the press, although Arthur Hays Sulzberger, publisher of the New York Times, and Ralph McGill, editor of the Atlanta Constitution, were participants, but there was nothing clandestine about it.

Unfortunately for that effort to take the heat off a stealthy deal, Senator Alexander Wiley, of Wisconsin, stuck into the appendix of the congressional record a few days later a "summary" taken from the New York Times, and said in his introductory remarks, "some 70 European and American leaders concluded a private and unofficial three-day meeting at St. Simon." Wiley's self-important acknowledgment of himself and of Sulzberger and McGill as "leaders" will express in one word the efrontery of the whole affair. The Times' "summary" was not a factual news story.

McGill, formerly sport editor of the Constitution, has become a phenomenon of journalism, politics and power in the South. He lists among his distinctions a hitch as "special adviser and consultant to the Department of State. At the last Democratic Convention in Chicago he held up a Stevenson banner on a staff when Adlai met "the press" in answer to Harry Truman's frank verdict that he was a palooka due to be knocked through the skylight. McGill well might boast that when the new deal Republicans were going through the gaseous rites in San Francisco, he sat on the platform with the Republican National Committee. His paper is owned by James M. Cox, the Democrats' expendable candidate for president in 1920, with F. D. Roosevelt as his running-mate. Cox, now 86, is an uncompromising devotee of the profit system in his own business, but his editorial policies are independent of the counting room.

Although this conclave was "unofficial," the revealed roster names Viscount Kilmer, Lord High speech is useless to any individual."

Mrs. Hunt did not need write her recent letter above quoted confessing her error. It did show, however, that she is a woman of integrity and tries to live in harmony with the Golden Rule, the Covenanted Commandment and the Declaration of Independence.

Would that we had more columnists like Betty Knowles Hunt.

F. R. Christopherson writes in to say he's worried over the fact J. Edgar Hoover may be drawing near retirement age. He suggests that a "grass roots" movement be started to have him appointed, when this happens, to the office of Attorney General. There's no doubt the public would be for it. It might do some good for citizens to write to H. Meade Alcorn, the new G.O.P. national chairman, and make this suggestion. But I doubt it. The Attorney General is appointed by the President, and, according to repeated news from Washington, from "usually reliable sources," a "Secret Sixteen" committee was set up in January to see to it that only "Modern Republicans" receive appointments. The committee is composed of Left Wingers, such as Sidney Weinberg and Paul Hoffman (who has said, "The real danger to the United States is not from Communism but from anti-Communism"). None of its members has been elected to office by the voters of the country. I do not think J. Edgar Hoover would be very acceptable to them.

This thing is an extension of a blimpious scout rally called the Bilderberg Group because it held the first of its meetings in the Bilderberg Hotel in Oosterbeek, Holland, in 1954. Others have been held near Paris, and in Garmisch - Partenkirchen, Germany, and Fredensborg, Denmark.

They all say their only purpose is to preserve peace under the NATO arrangement. But of course they dug right in on the Eisenhower - Middle Eastern - Suez complex, but with no results thus far admitted.

Democratic Support Of Ike Program Helps His Policies

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — Capitol Hill Democrats' selective support of President Eisenhower's foreign and domestic program may enable the Administration to establish a satisfactory legislative record at this session of Congress. But their Machiavellian strategy is tearing the Republican Party into such ructions that it may be vulnerable in the 1958 and 1960 elections.

It is an extremely smart and two-sided game that the Rayburn-Johnson leadership plays. Besides rendering the GOP in open view of the voters, they are discrediting charges that they are defaulting in the conduct of Party affairs. These accusations have been leveled against them by National Chairman Paul M. Butler, former President Truman, Adlai E. Stevenson and the left-wing Americans for Democratic Action.

"Sam the man" has become the Party's take-charge boss and policy maker in the elections interim. What he and Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson seek to accomplish is to depict the Republican Party as a leaderless, confused and hopelessly divided organization. They have, and with unexpected success, revealed vividly the lack of unity and philosophy among their opponents. It is reminiscent of the GOP's plight during the Taft-Roosevelt feud from 1910 to 1912.

In the process they have provoked a soul-shaking debate among the opposition. They have forced the Republicans to acknowledge leaders to ask themselves, openly and publicly, whether they should repudiate Ike's "modern Republicanism" for a retreat to Taft-Knowland-Bridges conservatism. As a rule, and it is a safe guide such basic decisions are reached behind the locked doors of a "smoke-filled room."

The Knowland-Bridges frequent denunciation of their President's proposals is almost unprecedented for the Californian is Ike's Senate spokesman and Bridges is Chairman of the Senate Republicans' Policy Committee. Thus, they are supposed to speak and work for the White House and the organization, respectively.

Yet they denounce Ike's proposals for providing aid, especially food, to Poland and the satellite states as a means of weaning them from Russia. They insist upon sharp reduction of all foreign aid. They question the President's faith in the United Nations as a solvent of international disputes.

On the domestic side, they assail his $71.8 billion budget, not so much for its size as because it prolongs and expands Roosevelt-Truman projects and services which they have been fighting for years. To support them now would be to repudiate their past performance and pledges. So, they have chosen to be consistent rather than unquestioningly loyal.

Rayburn and Johnson have been careful not to give wholehearted approval to Ike's program. They, too, question his budget, and will claim credit for any Congressional economies. They detect and denote flaws in his foreign policy, especially toward England and Israel, and in Secretary Dulles' "brinkmanship." But Ike will have them to thank even for minor gains.

Even dissident Southerners are co-operating in this divide-and-conquer strategy. There is less friction between the Democrats' Northern and Southern wings than in many months. They may yet permit enactment of a modified Civil Rights Bill.

Speaker Rayburn is pointing directly toward next year's Congressional contests. He believes that a Democratic victory then, especially with Ike out of the 1960 race, will assure Democratic recapture of the White House.

The Texan already sees signs that the effort to drive a wedge between Eisenhower liberals and Knowland-Bridges conservatism is succeeding. Of 21 Republican Senators up for re-election next year, only six are supporting Ike's program.

The Speaker does not believe that a Party so split can convince the American people that it has a right to rule. In his opinion the GOP will have been jockeyed into such a position in 1960 that they cannot run on President Eisenhower's personality or policies — their two great assets in the past.

My ears can't say that I don't give them a chance to become multilingual. I urge to them to listen when I'm in foreign countries, and I am forever taking language lessons.

Language lessons are a weakness of mine. I crave them the way other people do sweets. Even when I know I am going to be in a country only a few days, I take lessons.

Right now I'm taking up Italian. I'm sharing a tutor with some friends, Jim and Frances Henaghans, and as they had already hired the tutor, I have to pay only fifty cents an hour to sit on the lessons. It seemed too big a bargain to pass up.

I have had four lessons and haven't learned a single word. In fairness to my ears, I must say that it isn't their fault — this time. The teacher's to blame — she and her system of teaching.

From the moment she enters the door, no one is allowed to speak a word of English. Only Italian is allowed. What kind of a way is this to teach?

I don't even know what page to turn to. The Henaghans do, because they have been taking lessons for a month, and have learned their numbers. I asked Jim to tell the teacher the quantity I was in, but he said he didn't know that much Italian, and that the teacher would get mad and probably leave if he broke the rule and spoke in English.

During yesterday's lesson I finally screwed up enough courage to come right out and speak to the teacher in English. I told her I

Robert Strom Latest Of Line Of 'Quiz Kids'

By WILLIAM EWALD
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (UP)—Robert Strom, the 19-year-old who has won $192,000 on "The $64,000 Question," is the latest of a long line of former "Quiz Kids" who have made good.
Rob was on the TV version of "Quiz Kids" from March to September, 1956. Last January he appeared on CBS-TV's "Giant" scholarship. He's currently shooting for a quarter of a million dollars on "question."
None of the other 200-odd graduates of "Quiz Kids," a show which ran on radio and TV for 13 years, were able to pick up as much loot in one quick gobble as Rob. But the records show that the alumni of "Quiz Kids" have done pretty well for themselves since they shuffled their knee pants.
Perhaps the most famous grad is Smylla Brind who was born in Vienna and schooled at Paris and other waylows. You know her as Vanessa Brown.
Miss Brown, who graduated from UCLA in 1955, has dabbled in movies, TV and politics. She has appeared in such flickers as "Tarzan and the Slave Girl," "The Heiress," "The Late George Apley" and "The Foxes of Harrow."
Her TV credits include "Lux Video," "Leave it to the Girls" and a stint on "My Favorite Husband." Last August, she turned up at the Democratic convention in Chicago as a worker for Adlai Stevenson.
Joan Bishop, who appeared 31 times on "Quiz Kids," is a singer. Among her early claims to distinction—growing a full set of teeth at eight months.
Joan, 30 and single, has sung

with the San Carlo Opera Company and in such NBC-TV productions as "War and Peace." A mezzo-soprano, Joan also has appeared as an entertainer at the hotels Pierre and Henry Hudson in Manhattan.
Free-Lancing
Harve Fischman, who left the show in 1946 after 181 appearances went on to take a degree in the arts at UCLA. He has worked as an associate producer on the shows of Red Skelton, Robert Q. Lewis and Johnny Carson. He's married, lives in Manhattan and is now a free-lance writer.
Jack Lucal, who made 65 appearances in the Army in Germany, spent two years at Harvard and graduated from Georgetown. He has been in training with the Jesuit order and is currently teaching in Ethiopia.

Claude Brenner the South African boy with 69 appearances, got a master's degree from MIT in aeronautical engineering and works in Boston for a research firm.

Press Club Meet Is Tuesday Night
HOUSTON (UP)—Public figures, from the high and mighty to the cop on the beat, will see themselves in retrospect at the annual Press Club gridiron show Tuesday night.
An estimated 1,000 guests who will pay $25 a plate for the privilege, will squirm in anticipation or stew in apprehension as local newsmen become actors to parade the antics of officialdom during the year.
Gov. Price Daniel won't be there, but he won't be overlooked. The annual show will be held at the Shamrock Hilton hotel.

Diana Barrymore To Resume Acting Career This Summer

By GAY PAULEY
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (UP)—Diana Barrymore, a girl for whom life mixed plenty of bitter with the glitter, says she will resume her acting career this summer.
Behind this statement of plans lies a back-from-the-deeps story of a girl who was born with just about everything—looks, name, breeding, wealth, talent and opportunity—and in her own words "seems to have done her best to throw it away."
"That Diana," she said, "has been a bloody fool."
But the 36-year-old daughter of the late actor John Barrymore says life is looking up. "I'm a happy girl," she said in an interview. "I used to run away from things. I don't anymore."
Miss Barrymore, whose mother was Michael Strange, the writer, said in retrospect, it seems she has lived three lives.
One was as a girl brought up in the surroundings of wealth and the social register; another, as a promising actress trying to live up to a family name; and the third, which would need "the combined talents of a Tennessee Williams and Dostoevski to explain, the wisdom and compassion of St. Augustine to forgive."
"Too much, too soon," her just-published biography, written with Gerold Frank, is a candid account of the three lives. It recites the details of her turning to alcohol, of three marriages, many affairs and a suicide attempt.
Why such a frank story, I asked her.
"There's no message...I didn't set out to point a moral," she said. "But writing it has been a cleansing process...it's like psychiatry in a way. And if I hadn't had the book to work on when Bob died (Bob Wilcox, her third husband) I don't know what would have happened to me."
"No, I'm not sorry I told all. In writing, I became so objective—I began to think of me as another person—that if you read some parts back to me now, I'd probably blush pink."
I asked whether she had whipped the alcohol problem.

Ike To View Exercises From Carrier

By MERRIMAN SMITH
United Press White House Writer
AUGUSTA, Ga. (UP)—The White House announced today that President Eisenhower will go aboard the Navy's newest carrier, the 80,000-ton USS Saratoga, for training exercises off the coast of Florida June 6-7.
Eisenhower will board the new ship at her home port, Mayport, Fla., and spend most of two days at sea, watching the Navy's second angled deck carrier put her jet fighters and twin-jet bombers through training paces.
The announcement of the President's forthcoming voyage came as Eisenhower prepared to discuss disarmament here at his vacation headquarters—with Harold E. Stassen, head of the American delegation to the currently recessed London disarmament talks.
Stassen Arrives Tonight
Stassen is scheduled to arrive here tonight from Washington and confer at 8 a. m. Tuesday with the President at the Augusta National Golf Club. Stassen will fly back to Washington immediately after his talk with Eisenhower and confer with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles before leaving by air for London early Tuesday afternoon.

Oilers Open Southwestern League Season At Midland Tonight

Play Here Saturday

MIDLAND — The Pampa Oilers, trimmed down to 16 players, help open the 140-game Southwestern League baseball schedule by meeting the Midland Indians here tonight at 8.

The Oilers will play four games away from home before returning to Oiler Park for a Saturday night home opener. The two teams meet again Wednesday night and then the Oilers move over to Ballinger for a two-game meeting. Midland will be Pampa's opponent at Pampa Saturday night.

Manager Allan Cross trimmed his roster to 16 players shortly before the team left Pampa. Deadline for cutting the 16-player roster is today for all members of the Class B circuit.

Cut from the list were four pitchers — three rookies and a limited serviceman. They were Jerry Jones, Mike Sanabria, Ted Ruston and Tony Rodriguez. Sanabria and Ruston were sent back to the Cincinnati Redlegs' Douglas, Ga., training camp for reassignment. Rodriguez was returned to Corpus Christi and Jones was released outright.

The Oilers will go into tonight's game with a makeshift line-up at three positions. Cross will start veteran Russ Harris on the mound against Midland. His line-up by hearing order consists of Henry Francis, second base; Jeral Landrum, shortstop; Goose Goff, first base; Bob Flores, centerfield; Alex Triggs, right field; Pat Platt, third base; Don Smith, catching; and Russ Harris, pitching.

Pampa still lacks a regular centerfielder and shortstop although negotiations later this week may give the Oilers the needed personnel. Smith, a rookie from Shreveport, will start behind the plate in order for the two other catchers, Goff and Flores, to play the other two positions.

Centerfield was left vacant when Ken Post was called into the army and veteran Jackie Wilcox broke a thumb, causing a vacancy at shortstop. Valdez, who played both second and shortstop at Clovis last year, will hold down the shortstop post indefinitely. Cross will probably take over at first base later in the season.

Other players who remain on the roster following the cut are pitchers Dick Bracco, Jim Allen, Roy Sorenson, Roberto Martinez, Tommy Harrison and Gene Summerlin. Cross is the 16th player on the roster which is composed of five rookies, six veterans and five limited servicemen.

The Oilers office received a telegram Monday from Juan Izaguirre, a veteran utility man who managed Midland the latter part of last season, requesting a tryout with the club. Izaguirre is still in Cuba and has asked the club to petition the Washington immigration department requesting his entry into the United States.

Brooklyn's Fresno Thompson wired the Oilers that he would provide them with player help but Cross learned that all three were veterans and were holding out for more money and a job with higher classification baseball.

In other Southwestern League games tonight, Hobs plays at El Paso, Clovis is at Carlsbad and Ballinger hosts Plainview. Thursday night the scenes shift again with Pampa playing at Ballinger, Plainview at Midland, Hobs at Carlsbad and Clovis at El Paso.

There will be no radio broadcasts of the Oilers games at the present although out-of-town contests may be aired by one of the local stations at a later date.

Pampa-Plainview Game Postponed

The Pampa Harvesters' scheduled District 3-AAAAA baseball game with the Plainview Bulldogs at Oiler Park this afternoon was called off because of improper playing conditions.

Coach Deck Woldt announced that he may get Plainview officials to agree to a game here Wednesday or Thursday afternoon at 3:30. If an agreement cannot be reached, the two teams will probably play in Plainview on May 8.

The Harvesters have had three district games postponed this season because of rain and cold weather. A pair of doubleheaders are scheduled to be played against Lubbock and Monterey in the South Plains city later in the schedule.

Pampa's next regularly scheduled game is against the Borger Bulldogs at Borger Friday afternoon. The Harvesters now stand 1-2 in district race. Amarillo and Palo Duro are slated to play tomorrow afternoon to decide the district leader.

HALLANDALE, Fla. (UP) — Gulfstream Park closes out the Florida racing season today, boasting a new find in jockey Harold Bolin. The young apprentice, who has been booting home winners with fair consistency during this meet, added three more Monday to run his total to 19. He scored on MI Model ($6.10), Jelly Princess ($17.10) and War Sally ($8.40).

Yankees Topple Senators; Braves Beat Cubs

By FRED DOWN United Press Sports Writer

The man and the team who produced the top slugging heroics of 1956 are off and running at last today at the expense of a pair of "jinx" pitchers.

Mickey Mantle, the American League's triple crown winner, continued for his first homer of the season Monday night as the New York Yankees crushed the Washington Senators, 15-6, with a 16-hit barrage. Mantle's blow came off southpaw Chuck Stobbs, who held Mickey to three singles in 27 official times at bat last season.

The Cincinnati Redlegs, meanwhile, finally scored their first victory of 1957 when they defeated the St. Louis Cardinals, 10-6. The Redlegs had 14 hits and took advantage of six errors. In addition, Mizzell, who topped them five times last year, topped them three times last year.

Mantle's homer gave the Yankees a 2-0 third-inning lead and the world champions wrapped up their fourth win in five games with a seven-run outburst in the sixth which was featured by Hank Bauer's grand-slam and a triple ending. Whitey Ford yielded two runs in seven innings before retiring and picked up his second straight victory over the Senators.

Ed Bailey and Johnny Temple had three hits each to pace the Redlegs' attack which exceeded the run production of their four previous losses. Tom Acker, third of four Cincinnati pitchers, gained credit for the win although Raul Sanchez finished up. Stan Musial collected four hits for the Cardinals for the second time in five games.

The unbeaten Milwaukee Braves ran their winning streak to five games with a 9-4 victory over the Chicago Cubs; the Brooklyn Dodgers downed the Philadelphia Phillies, 5-1, and Willie Mays' three-run homer gave the New York Giants a 3-1 win over the Pittsburgh Pirates in the other National League games. The Kansas City Athletics topped the Detroit Tigers, 11-7, and the Baltimore Orioles scored a 7-5 decision over the Boston Red Sox in the other American League action.

Hank Aaron and Joe Adcock hit homers and Bill Bruton had three steals with Billy Martin on the score to lead a 10-hit Milwaukee attack that paved the way for Bob Buhl's first win. Bob Rush suffered his second straight setback of 1957. The Dodgers, opening their seven-game schedule in Jersey City, profited from three unearned runs as they won their fifth decision in six games. Roger Craig picked up the triumph although Clem Labine retired the last five batters. Ex-Giant Jim Hearn was the victim of Philadelphia's loose support.

Ruben Gomez made it two in a row this year with a neat six-hitter marred only by Hank Foiles' pop-fly homer. Mays' homer came off Luis Arroyo in the third inning and gave the Giant center fielder three for the young campaign.

The Athletics blew an early four-run lead, but rallied for four runs in the ninth on only two hits for their third win in six games. Harry Simpson and Lou Skizas homered for Kansas City while Bill Tuttle knocked in five Detroit runs with a three-run homer and two sacrifice flies.

Pinch-hitter Bob Hale's fifth-inning sacrifice fly and Willie Miranda's run-scoring single in the seventh gave the Orioles their victory margin over Boston's Tom Brewer. Mike Fornieles, who turned in 2-3 hitless innings of relief, gained credit for the victory.

NEW YORK (UP)—The International Boxing Club, which has dominated the promotion of big-time boxing for more than eight years, would either be wiped out or sharply reduced under proposals now being considered by Federal Judge Sylvester J. Ryan.

Ryan, who ruled on Feb. 6 that the IBC is guilty of monopolizing championship fights, received the proposals Monday both from the government and from the IBC.

They were in the form of suggested "final judgments" to be meted out by Ryan to the IBC. The government suggestion was sweeping—calling for the dissolution of the IBC and its branches and the removal of IBC officials James D. Norris and Arthur Wirtz from power in Madison Square Garden.

The IBC suggestion for its own punishment was, of course, much more lenient—leaving the club in business but barring its use of exclusive contracts with fighters, arenas, or radio and television outlets and limiting it to the promotion of four title fights per year for the next five years.

The next step in the court procedure will come on May 20 when Judge Ryan will hear oral arguments from both sides in support of their proposals. Then, some undetermined time later, Ryan will hand down his decision as to how the IBC should be punished.

The IBC then has the right to appeal the case to the Court of Appeals and the Supreme Court. The Supreme Court cleared the way for the present action against the IBC when it ruled that boxing, unlike baseball, is subject to the federal anti-trust laws.

Baseball Head Is Optimistic

... Get Sunshine In Thinking

EDITOR'S NOTE: With the start of another baseball season, minor league baseball faces the customary post-war competition from television and radio among its other problems of survival. George Trautman, president of the National Assn. of Professional Baseball Leagues, is optimistic about the future, however. In the following dispatch, he presents the reasons for his optimism.

Barney Ross Fighting 'For Kids Who Think I'm A Hero'

By OSCAR ERALEY United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UP)—Barney Ross still was fighting today "for the kids who think I'm a hero."

He was always a battler, the round-faced little man from the Chicago ghetto. He proved it often by conquering the poverty which was his birthright, boxing his way to two world championships, earning the Silver Star as a Marine sergeant in the Pacific and then, in the most bitter fight of his life, conquering the dope habit.

Now he is fighting to save from censorship several shock scenes in a motion picture of his life "because they may keep some kid from getting the monkey on his back."

think it is high time that the people in baseball re-routed those storm clouds and began to get a little sunshine into their thinking.

There is too much irresponsible talk about how baseball below the major league level is dying on the vine, about how radio and television broadcasting are killing it at the gate, and about how we need the $500,000 stabilization fund for structure of the association.

Those statements simply are not the truth. Throughout the structure of the National Association we have people who operate their franchises as successfully as the men who run teams in the major leagues. We recently completed a survey of pre-season ticket promotions and the results are most encouraging. In city after city sales were up substantially over the corresponding period a year ago.

The indications are that baseball at our level is due to make a comeback—perhaps a spectacular one. The reasons for that are obvious.

Our people, keenly aware of the competition in today's market for the entertainment dollar, are promoting baseball as never before. In fact, some of our big brothers in the majors could well take lessons from our clubs on how to sell the public.

We have a first-class product to sell all the way down through our Class D leagues. We have baseball's big stars of tomorrow and they're young and eager, hustling more perhaps than some of today's big leaguers, who have been known to let down a little on occasions because they have made the grade.

Harvester Golfers Set For State

The Pampa Harvesters' golf team is one of the many athletic groups that are finding it tough to get in enough practice this week.

The Harvesters are scheduled to compete in the state golf tournament in Austin on May 3-4. The 36-hole medal play meet will be held at the Austin Municipal Golf Course. Class AAAA teams will compete with Class AAA teams for one title, listed as Class AA. The other schools of lower classifications will compete in the Class A bracket.

Only regional champions and individual medalists are eligible to compete. The Harvesters won the regional championship in Lubbock two weeks ago to earn the right to compete. Ed Moore of Odessa, the tournament medalist, will also represent Region One.

The Harvesters, who have won four tournaments in a row, won a third place at the state meet last year. Members of this year's team are Melvin Chisum, Les Howard, Bill McLeod and Burt WALKER. They are coached by Weldon (Bird Dog) Trice.

TIP FROM TOP—Mickey Mantle, left, took Tony Kubek out to left field and gave the Yankee rookie some pointers on how to play it in the tricky, triple-decked home of the World Champions. Even the best have trouble playing the Stadium outfield.

Red Koreans Were Alerted

TOKYO, April 22 (UP)—Communist North Korean troops were on alert orders to "full combat readiness" when Hungarian freedom fighters roared up in revolt last autumn, the United Nations command said today.

The UNC said this was disclosed by a former North Korean soldier who fled to the south.

Ex-senior private An Choon Keun said in an interview in Seoul reported by the "Voice of the United Nations Command" that "guns were placed all along the border line" and mines were planted.

"I thought that fighting would start in a minute," the former Communist North Korean soldier said. "Then I made up my mind that if shooting really starts I would turn my rifle backward" toward the Reds.

James A. Bland, composer of "Carry Me Back to Old Virginia," was born in Flushing, N.Y. Theodore Roosevelt took the oath of office as president of the United States without "the use of the Bible."

On hilly sheep farms at the Strait of Magellan, the most serious losses are caused by thick rain. In a rainy weather the wool becomes so wet and heavy that a sheep that rolls on its back may

'Painted Pigs' Part of US Aid To Viet Nam

By NEA Foreign Service SAIGON, Viet Nam (NEA)—"Painted pigs" are making friends for the U.S. in Southeast Asia. The Republic of Viet Nam, with assistance from Uncle Sam's International Cooperation Administration, is engaged in a nation-wide program to improve and increase the country's livestock.

Most actively working with the Vietnamese in this project is ICA's animal husbandry advisor, Dr. Yoshio Yamashiro of Honolulu, an American of Hawaiian and Korean ancestry who graduated in agriculture from Iowa State College in 1935.

Various kinds of breeding stock have been sent to Viet Nam, ranging from water buffalo to chickens and ducks, and even fish. All of them, as their numbers increase, add to the ability of the country to improve its economic strength.

One of the most-talked-about livestock projects of Dr. Yamashiro in Viet Nam was the importation recently of some 3,400 "painted pigs," all pedigreed Berkshires and Yorkshires purchased in Japan.

Before they were turned over to Vietnamese farmers, each pig was "painted." That is, the familiar shield emblem which identifies by de la Guardia in a questionnaire last week, is that the United States was merely granted "jurisdictional" rights to construct, maintain, operate and protect the canal.

The position of the United States was defined by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles in a press conference last August.

As Dulles put it, the United States possesses all the rights it would have if the Canal Zone were American territory and Panama has no right to exercise any "sovereign rights, power or authority."

U.S. aid goods the world over was stenciled on each side of each pig. The emblem shows the clasped hands of friendship that denotes American economic assistance.

Bright yellow shields went onto the black Berkshire pigs, and navy blue shields on the white Yorkshire pigs. The Vietnamese jokingly asked whether spotted paint would have been used, had the pigs been spotted.

Commenting on the project, "The

Panama Claims Canal Sovereignty

By CHARLES M. MCCANN United Press Staff Correspondent

President Ernesto de la Guardia of Panama has just reminded the United States that his country claims sovereignty over the Panama Canal Zone.

He has said also that the question of seeking nationalization of the Canal Zone is not a public issue in Panama at this time.

He and other Panamanians have intimated that the United States may be asked before long to increase substantially the revenue which Panama gets from the canal—a rental fee of $1,930,000 a year.

year ended last June 30 totalled $40,856,995. Expenses, including depreciation, totalled $16,138,277, leaving a balance of $24,718,718.

La Guardia's statement that nationalization is not an issue right now may be taken to mean that if there happened to be a chance of government in Panama, the issue could become a live one.

The status of the canal has been mentioned frequently ever since

Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser seized control of the Suez Canal.

Russia, among other countries, has expressed the conviction that the canal ought to be internationalized.

The British Labor party issued a pamphlet last Wednesday suggesting that the United Nations be given "supervisory rights" over the Panama Canal, the English Channel, the Strait of Gibraltar, and other great international waterways.

The question of Panama Canal sovereignty has been in dispute ever since Panama became a republic in 1903 after revolting against Colombia.

Panama's position, as reassert-

Easy Carpet Cleaning Discovery Hailed

What is said to be the easiest and "cleansiest" rug cleaner, known as Blue Lustre, is available after years of research.

Blue Lustre leaves no foreign residue to cause rapid resoiling. The pile is left open and fluffy as the colors spring out like magic. So easy to apply with a long handle brush (like playing shuffleboard) and is safe for all types of carpets.

Use Blue Lustre to clean the entire carpet or remove spots and traffic lanes. It's economical as 1/4 gallon of concentrate cleans three 9 x 12 rugs.

Couple Who Kept Him Say The James Dean Legend Exaggerated

By ALINE MOSBY
United Press Hollywood Writer
HOLLYWOOD (UP) — The legend of the late James Dean, according to a couple of tourists in Hollywood, has been exaggerated and at times just isn't true.

The visitors, Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Winslow of Fairmont, Ind., spoke as they began a tour of Warner Studio, unnoticed by the other out-of-towners inspecting the film factory.

But to the quiet, reserved Winslows it was a special trip for they were seeing for the first time the working place of Dean, the boy they brought up in Indiana after his mother died and his father moved to California.

Jim's grave is a path four feet wide, worn out plumb around, and you know how high the grass grows in Indiana."

"They keep saying Jimmy was 'rebellious,'" put in his wife, Hortense.

"Jimmy actually was the type who just gets out and does things himself. He knew what he wanted and he went out and got it. I've never known anybody so determined."

"He had no pull, no money, he worked for everything himself."

NEW YORK: Asbestos heir Tommy Manville, disclosing plans for his tenth marriage: "It will be a small quiet wedding in some New York hotel."

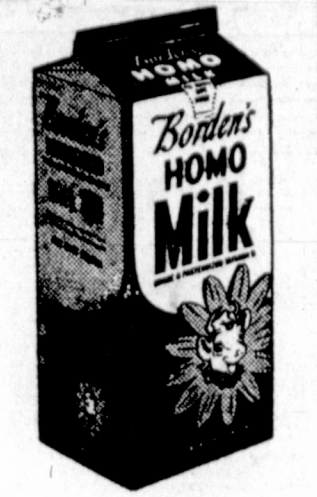

Buenos Aires is the largest city in Argentina.

One account of Dean's life the Winslows call authentic, however, is a documentary movie, "The James Dean Story," which will be released soon. They attended a preview of the picture and "it

"Oh, the things we've read about Jimmy," said Winslow, shaking his head. "One story said the headstone on his grave had been chipped. Not a word of truth in it."

The headstone is just as nice as when it was new. We read they carry pieces of the grave away but they don't. A very high class of people visit his grave. Around
