MOODY PRISON PLAN MEETS DEFEAT IN HOUSE

Stimson Challenges Powers To Begin Immediate Sinking Of Battleships

Home Town Talk

By B. D. D.

When other topics fail to start off this column Talker finds a never failing source of talk in words.

Take this word "prosperity" Talker used the other day. It is a word that is on the tongues and in the minds of millions daily. Some dispute its existence and other assert it.

The word prosperity has an interesting fact in its history. Fundamentally, from its origin, the word means "an answer to hope." An effective popular definition of prosperity could perhaps be phrased: "Prosperity is that condition of affairs which the people earnestly hope will come to pass."

This origin of the word prosperity is borne out by Webster's New International dictionary, which traces the word to the Latin prefix "pro" meaning "according to" plus the first four letters of the verb "sperare" meaning to hope. This origin would make a literal definition of prosperity "according to hope."

Talker submits that this definition fits the application of the word to our present situation very well indeed.

Speaking of origins, Talker saw a story the other day about the origin of butter that sounded plausible. Butter was an accident, according to this story. Setting forth on a trip across the Sahar sands, an Arab strapped two skin bottles of milk to his camel. The motion of the animal somehow lacked the majestic serenity which his sobriquet, "ship of the desert," implies. The bags of milk were badly jounced. By the time the camel and rider neared the first oasis, the milk was thoroughly churned. The first batch of butter, a little fluid in the desert heat, but butter was squeezed from the skins.

Most of the early discoveries of our primitive ancestors were probably made entirely by accident in some such manner as the Arab discovered butter. In these days many of our discoveries are being made by patient research in the laboratory.

Imagine the glee of our hairy ancester who discovered that fire could be produced from the striking together of flints, or that a stone at the end of a stick could deliver a more powerful blow than his naked fist. Imagine the surprise of primitive man who discovered that a heavy object could be moved more easily with the aid of a round log and thus led to the making of wheels. Think of the power these discoveries gave to those who held the secret in a primitive world.

In this modern world somebody sees a use or need for something and sets about by patient work to produce something to fill that need. Probably more often than not a group of men at work in the laboratory of a great corporation solve the problem through their joint efforts.

Although the method of discoveries may be different now they still do give power to those who make them, or who acquire them after they have been made. An instance is the Radio Corporation of America which holds many of the patents connected with the radio. It exacts far reaching conditions upon those who use its patents. The federal trade commission is now engaged in an investigation of these conditions and terms.

There are doubtless some Democrats who disagree with the proposal of Ed Howard to require candidates for county and precinct offices to declare they have voted the ticket at the last election "from president to constable," and to pledge themselves they will support the nominees at the November election, but all must agree that Mr. Howard makes his position plain and that there is nothing of expediency or equivocation in it.

To say that Mr. Howard is a Democrat and an honest and forthright man is only to state something that everybody who knows him knows. There are other Democrats who hold the same views as Mr. Howard.

On the other hand there are many who believe just as consistently that the doors ought to be opened wide and all bolters, whether merely voters or candidates, given a welcome back.

The good of Texas and of the Democratic party are the things that ought to be kept in mind.

Alvin Moody, president of the "anti-Tammany Democrats of Texas" sends out a statement urging "the 300,000 Texas Democrats who voted against Al Smith and his liquor program in 1928, and the other 200,000 dry Democrats who stayed at home rather than vote for Governor Smith" to stand united now and says that in a few weeks a political course best for them to follow will develop.

Alvin—who is not to be confused with Governor Moody—uses such terms as "the Tammany-liquor program" in his statement which by any stretch could not be called temperate or conciliatory. Talker submits that in the present situation nothing is to be gained by the use of epithets or intemperate lan-

U. S. ANNOUNCED AS READY TO REDUCE NAVY

Chief American Delegate Anxious to Equalize With Britain

ACTION IS SURPRISE

Secretary of State Makes First Bid for Actual Disarmament

By ROBERT WELLES RITCHIE
(Copyr't, 1930, by Universal Service, Inc.)

LONDON, Feb. 6.—America is ready to reduce her battleships with Great Britain, in order that both fleets may be equalized by 1931 instead of 1942, as agreed in the Washington treaty.

America is ready to meet the Japanese on a mutual over-all relation in all categories satisfactory to both, a relation which is not based on the same ratio for every class of ship.

America is agreeable to meet Britain in the cruiser class on the basis that each nation has the option of duplicating exactly the cruiser fleet of the other, thus justifying the disparity between America's need of heavy, 10,000-ton cruisers and Britain's need of excess small cruisers.

Reporters Called

This is the substance of Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson's dramatic statement in the armorial hall of St. James' palace tonight exclusively to American newspaper men at 8 o'clock.

Only an hour's notice was given to correspondents, who were telephoned individually by Secretary Stimson, who appeared in evening clothes, due to his scheduled attendance as guest of honor at a dinner tendered by the Scots guards, on duty at the palace.

The scene was a triumphant setting for the American delegation chieftain, whose terse, staccato sentences ripped through the air and caused sharp, sudden exclamations on the part of correspondents.

The armory was dimly lighted, and that light concentrated on the striking, black-and-white garbed figure of the American chief delegate. With rosettes, daggers, bayonets and broadswords at his back, a full-panoplied knight of the war of the roses facing him over the a fireplace, he read his typed statement in sharp, incisive speech. He asserted:

"I will answer no questions, but you may quote me in entirety."

This is the first time Secretary Stimson has permitted a direct quotation since his arrival in London.

Americans Dissatisfied

The secretary's dramatic appearance capped rumors of many days that he and the whole American delegation are very dissatisfied at the slow progress of the conference.

'TAFT FOOLED,' BLEASE AVERS

'Something Crooked' About New Arrangement

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6. (UP)—Senator Blease, Democrat, South Carolina, called upon the senate today to reject the nomination of Charles Evans Hughes as chief justice of the United States supreme court and request President Hoover to reappoint William Howard Taft.

He declared there was "something crooked" about the sudden resignation of Taft and appointment of Hughes.

"I hope the judiciary committee will return the nomination of Mr. Hughes without recommendation and that the senate will pass a resolution requesting the president to reappoint William Howard Taft," Blease said.

"There is something crooked around here somewhere. I can not find out what it is. But someone has fooled the old gentleman.

"Why is it that his boy is to be put in the place of Hughes' boy and Taft is getting out to make way for Hughes? Why was it all fixed up ahead of time?

"Many a man has held jobs when he was sick. I love William Howard Taft and I think he has been mistreated and ill advised by some one.

"Why, he was going to die that night he was brought home. I hope he may live for many, many years.

"Why was it necessary for somebody to go to North Carolina to get Mr. Taft's resignation all fixed up?

"I have nothing against Mr. Hughes. He is a great corporation lawyer and will take care of them, but I love Mr. Taft and if there is anything in this world I like it is a square deal."

Stern Military Dictator Put Over Canon City Prison, Scene of Riot

STATE PRISON, CANON CITY, Colo., Feb. 6. (AP)—This little city of 1,100 inmates tonight was awaiting the imposition of a military dictatorship, a regime instituted as an answer to the problem of one disastrous riot and several incendiary fires.

Wracked by discontent which last October resulted in a riot occasioning the death of eight guards and five convicts, the penitentiary will be administered by a man of wide military experience, Col. Patrick J. Hamrock, commanding officer of the 157th infantry in the world war. Announcement of Hamrock's appointment was made today by the state board of corrections, controlling body for the prison.

The board instituting such reforms as might restore order to the institution, came to cross purposes with Gov. William H. Adams early in the day when the governor dispatched telegrams to its three members, suggesting that they re-

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 6. (AP)—(7 p. m.)—President Ortiz Rubio of Mexico underwent a second operation this morning to remove a piece of splintered bone from his jaw, but came out of the anesthetic in good shape, it was learned tonight. His doctors insisted that his condition was good.

Lieut. Col Chazaro, the president's private secretary, said this afternoon that former President Calles, Secretary Portes Gil and the other members of the cabinet had seen Ortiz Rubio today, but only at a distance.

The president's doctors strictly ordered that no one should be allowed to talk with him.

The military authorities endeavored to get to the bottom of what they believed to have been a well prepared plot against Ortiz Rubio.

Flores Defiant

Flores maintained a defiant attitude and insisted that he alone planned and executed the assassination attempt.

Blues Tune Whistled By Juror

AUSTIN, Feb. 6. (AP)—Fifty-six hours after receiving the case of John W. Brady on charges of fatally stabbing Miss Lehlia Highsmith, 28, stenographer, here Nov. 9, the jury had reached no verdict late today.

The division—still reported to be 10 for a heavy punishment and two for acquittal—stood firm and in the afternoon the lethargy of this spring day was evident in the jurors room.

Several men lolled about; one, young and appearing bored, whistled through his teeth "I'm the Medicine Man for the Blues" as he gazed down into the courtyard.

The jurors were moved twice, once from their room facing the main street because the authorities thought there was too great an inclination to look out on "the avenue" and see what was happening. They were brought back to the original quarters later, however, the change apparently not having had a salutary effect.

BOOZE PLOT DEFENSE OPENS

Only 17 Defendants Left In Trial

OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 6. (AP)—Its ranks thinned from the original 102 to 17 by pleas of guilt, dismissals, sustentions of demurrers, desertions and death, the little army of defendants charged with a conspiracy to violate the national prohibition laws in Pottawatomie county started its defense battle today.

Cases against six of the defendants were relinquished voluntarily today by Roy St. Lewis, United States' district attorney, who explained he could not produce sufficient evidence against them. Three more were released from the indictment by United States' Judge Edgar S. Vaught, who sustained defense demurrers.

In the defense trenches, however, were Randall Pitman, county attorney and Frank Fox, former sheriff of Pottowatomie county, involved by government witnesses as commanding chiefs of the alleged ring which was shown by testimony to have exacted tribute from both the wholesale and retail ends of an enterprise that undertook to slake the thirst of rich oil fields.

Testimony on behalf of two defendants was offered today near the close of a session devoted chiefly to presentation of demurrer arguments.

Negro Decapitated As Saw Flies Two Blocks

RICHMOND, Va., Feb. 6. (AP)—Death, assuming the form of a fly wheel to a saw, flew through space for two blocks today, plunged through the roof of a house, slashed a negro woman's head from her shoulders and buried itself deep in the ground under the floor.

James Brice, negro, was sawing wood in a vacant lot. The balance wheel, an iron disc half an inch thick, snapped as the saw was running at high speed. One part fell to the ground and the other sailed high in the air, clearing a two-story church and two small houses, plunging through the roof of a third, where it killed Winnie Jones, negro woman.

RURAL AID LAW HELD VALID BY APPEALS COURT

Judge Fly Reverses First Decision Holding Measure Void

FUNDS RELEASED

San Antonio Ruling Averts Closing of Many Small Grade Schools

SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 6. (UP)—Declaring the rural aid law constitutional, Chief Justice W. S. Fly, of the fourth court of civil appeals, today reversed a decision rendered here two weeks ago that held the law unconstitutional and restrained the state from spending any of the $5,000,000 appropriated for country school aid.

Judge Fly's decision nullified the injunction withholding expenditure of funds granted by Judge R. B. Minor of the 57th district court and also reversed the Minor decision.

The test case was brought in the name of Lillie Mae Mumme, 11-year-old student of the Peach Tree, Medina county, rural school. The petition alleged the law was unconstitutional because it granted monetary aid only to those schools having an enrollment of 20 students or more. Under the law, the Peach Tree school with only six students, would receive no state money. The case was backed by the Texas league for uniform and equal taxation.

Judge Minor's decision wrought consternation in state school circles More than 325,000 Texas students who were forced to attend high schools outside their own districts were affected since the state had no money to pay their tuitions. Ten members of the state school department would have been discharged if the money had been held up permanently.

The state was represented by Attorney General R. L. Bobbitt and S. M. N. Marrs, state superintendent of schools.

Legge Stresses Need Of Farm Cooperatives

MADISON, Wis., Feb. 6. (AP)—Salvation for the nation's farmers lies in a "collective attitude" towards cooperative organizations to stabilize prices, Alexander Legge, chairman of the federal farm board, told farmers today.

"Grain, cotton and wool now have been aided," he said. "The board is working towards assisting the dairy man and the livestock raiser."

The weakness of the cooperative today is that it has not gone far enough, Legge said.

The state had indicated the death penalty will be asked.

BOLTERS ASK STATE MEET

157 Attend Rally at Courthouse Here

Resolutions protesting the action of the state Democratic executive committee in barring Hoovercrats as Democratic candidates in the July primaries, and urging a state convention and a county organization resisting the ruling, were unanimously adopted Thursday night in a mass meeting called by bolt leaders and attended by 157 men and women assembled in the 39th district courtroom at the courthouse.

The nucleus from which the county organization, to be styled the Wichita county anti-Tammany Democrats of Texas, will be formed was created when W. B. Corlett was placed in the chair and authorized to appoint organization committee. He was empowered, also, to name delegates to the proposed state meeting. Mr. Corlett was acclaimed presiding officer for the night by the nomination of Rev. Ben Bates, after Claud Miller had called the meeting to order and asked for nominations.

J. H. Crouch was made secretary of the meeting. Claud Miller, A. V. Grant, J. M. Alexander of Burkburnett; Doctor Bishop of Iowa Park, and F. H. Harris of Electra, were named by the chair to draft the resolutions adopted before the adjournment of the meeting.

The resolutions as adopted by the group called upon Alvin Moody as president of the Texas Anti-Tammany Democrats, to call a state convention in Fort Worth or some other central city to protest

AUSTIN LOSES AS SITE FOR PENAL PLANT

Two Amendments Voted On Prove Measure Is Unpopular

LONG DEBATE HELD

Expression of House Sentiment Comes in Midst Of Tense Session

AUSTIN, Feb. 6. (AP)—The plan to centralize the penitentiary system near Austin was overwhelmingly defeated in the house of representatives tonight.

The vote was recorded on amendments offered to the bill of Representative Harry N. Graves of Georgetown, proposing rehabilitation of the walls at Huntsville.

Amendments Lose

The house voted 77 to 52 to table an amendment by Representative Alfred Petsch of Fredericksburg which would have brought the main plant to within 75 miles of Austin and an amendment by Representative Walter Beck of Fort worth to build an industrialized prison within 20 miles of the capitol was tabled by a vote of 80 to 47.

Beck, opponent of Austin centralization, had proposed his amendment, he explained, to expedite the matter of settling the dispute over a site.

The expression came after three days of debate on the pending amendments, during which time many on both sides of the plan to centralize near Austin, expressed themselves fully.

The vote was taken amid a scene of intense excitement as the two sides marshalled their votes in what had been one of the warmest legislative fights over a long period.

Senator Busy

The senate had made inroads, too, upon the administration plan to centralize the system near Austin, Senator A. J. Wirtz of Seguin getting over an amendment requiring the retention of Blue ridge, Clemens and retrieve farms, in addition to the imperial, Harlem,

Hambone's Meditations

House Expected to Pass New 'Dry' Alignment at Least by Saturday

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6. (AP)—The Williamson bill to carry out the first of President Hoover's proposals to strengthen dry enforcement by transferring the prohibition unit from the treasury to the justice department today received its first consideration in the house, where its passage by Saturday virtually was assured.

An attack was launched by wets and drys against a provision to make the attorney general and secretary of the treasury jointly responsible for regulation of industrial alcohol permits. The wets agreed they want to give the drys everything they desire to enforce the law under the bill, so that there will be no alibi when, as they contend, enforcement will have failed in the justice department.

Some want the attorney general to make regulations under which the secretary of the treasury may issue permits. Others believe the dual responsibility will result in a spying by justice department agents on legitimate industrial alcohol consuming concerns, and that the treasury alone should regulate the 160,000 permittees.

U. S. READY TO SINK CRUISERS

Stimson Announces Stand Of America

due to hair-splitting over the French transactional proposals and the shilly-shallying over the wording of this or that phrase concerning categories.

It is also very likely that Mr. Stimson's dramatic gesture was induced by the reported French determination to submit as a proposal that the treaty be drawn with two independent ratings of naval classes—one Anglo-American, the other covering French, Japanese and Italians.

At any rate, Secretary Stimson's statement was the first real bombshell of the conference, and its explosion is bound to have wide repercussions. It followed directly after a conference this afternoon at which Britain's delegates said that providing the cruiser question was settled first, Britain would invoke the Washington treaty of 1922 and scrap 10 capital ships within the next six years.

This was the proposal submitted by the British delegates to the representatives of the four other sea powers meeting as the naval conference's "first committee" today.

British Desires

The British spokesman, after the session, said his nation's representatives wish to begin all battleship scrapping under the Washington treaty as soon as is reasonably possible, contingent upon the settling of the cruiser problem.

In accordance with the Washington treaty, he said, Britain is due to scrap four capital ships by 1934, four more by 1935 and two more by 1936. This action carries with it the privilege of five replacements.

It is Britain's idea, he said, not to make these replacements, thus reaching equality of battleships with America at 15, according to the 5-5-3 ratio fixed at the Washington parley, and to which figure the total of American battleships will have been reduced by that time.

The naval conference today gave a modern instance of the ancient Greek myth of the many-headed hydra, which grew a new head for every one that hercules lopped off.

By SAM LOVE

NEW YORK, Feb. 6. (UP)—The public prosecutors resumed their interrupted task today of trying to return Mae West, the actress, to the mops and pans of Welfare Island because of her drama, "Pleasure Man," in which it was Miss West's idea to give her public a peep into the home life of a female impersonator.

Neither Miss West, who authored "Pleasure Man," nor any of the 53 members of the cast who were herded off the stage of a Broadway theater by the police on Oct. 1, 1928, were present at the preliminary hearing. But the trial date was set for Feb. 17, and impassioned speeches of lawyers gave a foretaste of the struggle soon to come over the fine line where art leaves off and dirt begins.

"Blue Ribbon" Panel

Assistant District Attorney James G. Wallace made a motion for a special blue ribbon panel of jurors to consider the weighty esthetic problems presented by "Pleasure Man." This, somewhat to the surprise of the dress rehearsal court fans, was opposed with might and main by Nathan Burkan, counsel for Miss West and most of the other 53 defendants.

Mr. Wallace wanted the panel, he said, because "intricate questions of law were involved."

The idea of a blue ribbon panel, however, filled Mr. Burkan with horror. He shrank from the suggestion. Mr. Burkan said, as undemocratic. It virtually amounted to putting a question of the people's art into the hands of a specially collected blue ribbon group—an "artistocracy of thought." Mr. Burkan earnestly hoped the court would not join with the assistant district attorney in insulting the average man—whether artisan or white-collar worker—by refusing him his constitutional right to sit on a jury trying Miss West and thus hearing juicy and occasionally even freudian evidence like a good citizen.

Results Uncertain

The assistant district attorney's scheme, Mr. Burkan argued warmly, meant turning over a question of art of the people to a selected group of the intelligentsia. Besides, he said, the common people can recognize obscenity as well as a policeman.

Whether or not Mr. Burkan's plea for the rights of the common people in trying Miss West this time bore fruit could not be learned immediately, because general sessions Judge Amedeo Bertini reserved decision upon Mr. Burkan's request for an amended bill of particulars. Attorney Wallace protested that he had already furnished one "generous" bill, citing words, lines, passages, scenes and tableaux" which the state would call obscene.

No outline of Miss West's defense, aside from her contention that her excursion into the not particularly alluring antics of her characters was artistic rather than illegal, was hinted at. Miss West's stand on the whole business is well known and she has been quoted previously without suing. It is that people are pretty dull at home and so when they go to the theater they want dirt. Miss West does not mince words.

POISON DEATH

SALLISAW, Okla., Feb. 6. (UP)—Jess Maynard was bound over for trial in district court today on charge of murder in connection with the death of his wife who allegedly died of poisoning.

cellista," or anti-re-electionists party, during the presidential campaign were said to be among them. The Vasconcelistas were the opponents of Ortiz Rubio's party at the last November election.

Gen. Mijares Palacios, chief of police, this afternoon made public part of the scant information that has been obtained from Flores by constant questioning.

Evasive Answers

General Palacios said that Flores, when asked if he had a father, had evaded giving any clues to his identity or his past.

"Everyone is supposed to have a father, isn't he?" Flores said.

"What is your father's name?" he was then asked.

"I don't know."

After blocking the progress of this kind of cross-examination for a while, Palacios said, Flores remarked:

"To show you how clever your detectives are I want to make you a little present."

Thereupon he extracted from his sleeve six revolver cartridges the detective had not found.

The authorities believe that Flores was born and raised in the state of San Luis Potosi and that his family still lives there. Detectives are conducting a complete investigation in that state.

EAST HEMPSTEAD, N. Y., Feb. 6. (AP)—Elliot de Lisser, New York automobile dealer, was killed today after his airplane went into a tail spin and crashed through the roof of a house. The flier apparently waited too long before making a parachute leap. He was taking a test for a private pilot's license.

the ruling, which the Hooverecrats claim will disfranchise 375,000 Texas voters.

After reading telegrams of congratulation and encouragement from Alvin Moody and Thomas B. Love, Mr. Corlett took the chair with an announcement of the policies of the group, asserting that they desired harmony, forbidding any discussion of "past history," and limiting the addresses strictly to a consideration of the protested ruling.

Tie Club Mentioned

C. C. Hudson, the first speaker called to the floor, addressed the group as "fellow Democrats, members of the Tie club, ladies and gentlemen." He announced that he did not protest the action of the committee, but stood to "denounce the crooked scoundrels," branding the state committee as usurpers, and reading an article printed in The Iowa Park Herald as expressing his stand upon the question.

The chairman next called on W. W. Silk as an "old Democratic war horse." Mr. Silk declared that the voters of Wichita county could not be coerced, and added that he did not care a snap about a pledge.

"Nobody is going to tell me when and how to vote," he asserted, urging the voters to maintain their independence, but not to say "too many mean things" about their opponents. He closed with a tribute to Ed Howard, president of the Times Publishing company, in spite of opposing political views.

"Ed Howard has nerve," he declared. "We always know where he stands. And although he differs from us, we'll have to admit that he runs an honest paper."

Minister Introduced

Prefacing his next introduction with the remark that some people thought preachers should stay out of politics, Mr. Corlett called upon Rev. Ben Bates, pastor of the Cumberland Presbyterian church.

The minister began with the assertion that critics could say what they would if they would allow him the same privilege. He declared that the American people had never been driven and that the county would never submit to a ruling which denied the rights of voting and of candidacy for office to a majority of its voters. He also urged harmony and suggested a spirit of conciliation in meeting the situation.

Lee McClain introduced as a former instructor in the public schools, began his address with a quotation from the declaration of independence and described the ruling of the committee as more autocratic than democratic.

C. A. Rogers, called to the floor, failed to respond. Claude Miller yielded his place on the program to B. D. Sartin, whose address brought the meeting to its climax amidst whistles and yells from the assembled group.

Committee Denounced

The congressional candidate disclaimed that it was "his meeting," but said he joined the other "350,000 disfranchised voters" in their resentment. He declared that the action of the committee was the result of deliberate "malice" which had endured for more than a year, asserting that Chairman Wilcox had threatened to drive out the bolters in statements made before the 1928 elections.

"Things have come to a pretty pass when 21 men, without legal or moral authority, can tell the majority in this great state that they have no more rights than an impeached ex-governor, that they can vote but can't run for office," he continued.

"Even the stand-pat Democrats say things have gone too far when a tiny group like that try to disrupt the party so that they can have somebody to hate."

The speaker called upon all Democrats and Hoovercrats alike to "denounce this movement in the spirit of fair play," declaring that the bolters have no malice and are willing to accord every man the right to vote as he pleases.

Mr. Sartin evoked the boisterous applause of his hearers when he closed his address with the assertion that the Hoovercrats have nothing to apologise for.

"We accept their challenge. We prefer harmony and have sought peace. But if they want war . . ."

"Let 'em have it," the group concluded for him.

The meeting was adjourned after J. R. Ogle had announced a banquet honoring Mr. Sartin to be held at the Kemp hotel next Thursday night. Tickets were on sale, in the hands of a committee of three, and were offered to the crowd as it filed from the meeting.

The full text of the resolutions as adopted Thursday night is as follows:

"Whereas the so-called state Democratic executive committee in its recent meeting held in the state capital has bold by its vote to exclude as candidates from the Democratic primary in July all Democrats who voted against the Al Smith electors in 1928, and in doing so spurned the warning and sound advice of practically all the Democratic papers and journals of this state, as well as leaders of all factions of the party who sought peace and harmony in the ranks of the party; and

"Whereas the Hon. Robert L. Bobbitt, attorney general of Texas, had just previously ruled that the said committee was without right or legal authority to take such action, and declared that the laws of Texas governing such matters were plain and unambiguous, nevertheless said so-called state executive committee refused to abide by the plain letter of the law or to heed the advice of the chief advisory officer of the state and set to work to revive the bitter campaign of 1928 and to deprive the majority of Democrats of Texas of rights guaranteed to them by the laws of Texas and by the constitution of the United States; and

Acts Promagitated

"Whereas, the action of said committee in barring from the Democratic primary all candidates who refused to swallow Al Smith, Raskob or to dance to the strains from the 'Sidewalks of New York,' is more than an affront to one individual candidate but in fact a curtailment of the rights of citizenship of more than 375,000 white men and women of this state, constituting a majority of the voting citizens of the state of Texas; we would like to think that such rash and thoughtless acts of the so-called state committee was the result of hasty and premature judgment but facts compel us to believe that such is not the case but was deliberate and premeditated design, for we remember that D. W. Wilcox, so-called chairman of the so-called state executive committee threatened the people of Texas with punishment and disfranchisement if they failed to follow Al Smith last November, 1928; again we hear this threat of coercion in a letter addressed to the chairman of the Wichita county Democratic executive committee, though asserting that such thought or action was his alone and not of the entire committee. This threat was made 12 months after last political campaign and said Wilcox had ample time to have cooled his judgment and to have quieted his temper, and again on Feb. 1, 1930, some 18 months after the bitterness of the last presidential campaign, again out of the abundance of the heart, the mouth speaketh, and there comes to the surface the action of the committee revealing the animus that was cool and deliberate.

"The people of Texas are free men and free born; they resent any word or action of any committee or group that would coerce the rights of any citizen and to browbeat him into submission; we, your committee openly denounce such conduct on the part of the so-called state committee, and assert that such action as taken by said committee is undemocratic and favors more of Mexico or Russia than from a state made sacred by blood of heroes and free men. Where coercion begins, democracy ends; and

Seeking Peace

"Whereas we have at all times sought for peace and harmony within the Democratic party, having sought from the chairman of the Wichita County Democratic executive committee as early as last September, 1928, his attitude and expressed a desire that peace and harmony might reign in the councils of the Democratic party, but to our request and desire for peace, we have been answered by disfranchisement and contempt."

"We, your committee therefore are constrained to believe that the members of said state executive committee are more anxious to vent their dislikes and hatreds than to promote the welfare of the Democratic party of Texas, and to treat the majority of Democrats of Texas as if they were their bosses instead of servants occupying questionable positions.

"We, your committee on resolutions, further charge and the people of Texas are witnesses to this fact; that said socalled state executive committee does not represent the real democracy of Texas nor the majority of such democracy, as majority of Texas Democrats were excluded from the last state convention in Dallas, in September, 1928, and therefore had no part in the selection of said committee but that said committee is hand picked and self perpetuated, and without any moral right to act as a committee for the democracy of Texas especially to coerce or dictate unlawfully to the people of Texas.

Action Illegal, Claims

"We, therefore submit to the people of Wichita county, and to the people of Texas, that said committee action is illegal, unfair and arbitrary, and cannot stand before the same judgment of the people of Texas, nor be sanctioned by the real democracy of this state. We submit the right to seek office and vote without coercion is the right of free men and go hand in hand. Such acts of intolerance and lawlessness on the part of the so-called state committee savors more of autocracy than democracy. We fear not the threat or domination of any political boss or gang calling themselves the bosses of the people, and do hereby openly brand the action of the socalled state committee as highhanded and in utter contempt of the laws of this state. Such indiscretion and conduct exercised by said committee could not more fittingly come from Tammany hall, itself, it lacking any sense of fair play or Democratic justice; we therefore, go on record as resenting the action of the socalled state committee in denying to the men and women of Texas the right to vote for candidates of their own choice or to become such candidates, which in effect deprives the majority of the Democrats of Texas the right of free and unrestricted franchise, a prerogative of free men, do hereby urge the Hon. Alvin S. Moody of Houston, Texas, president of the anti-Tammany Democrats of Texas, to call a statewide meeting at Fort Worth, Texas, or some central point, for the purpose of condemning the action of the socalled state Democratic executive committee, and to take such action as thought best to protect our rights as free men and Democrats.

"We further recommend that a county-wide organization be perfected known as the Wichita County Anti-Tammany Democrats of Texas, for the purpose of protecting our interest and rights as Democrats, and to aid in taking Tammany out of Texas, and that committees be appointed to perfect such organization and to confer with Chairman Alvin S. Moody, and representing this body at the statewide convention if such action is deemed best."

City Motorcycle Officer Gets Permanent To Show Wife

Women invading the barber shops did it.

Homer Bentley, a member of the police motorcycle squad here, has a permanent wave and he's been going back to the beauty parlor every day since Saturday to have it set.

It is reported his wife's wave failed to please the officer and he proceeded to have his own hair given that certain ripple in order to show her how it should be done. Other members of the police department would not say Thursday whether they contemplated making it customary among the men on the force. It was hinted that if others followed suit, a special time would be appointed each day for visits to the beauty parlor to have the waves set.

AUTO DRIVER SOCKS NEGRO

Angry Motorist Uses Fists After Car Overturns

Holding the wheel of an automobile while it turned three complete flips in midair Thursday morning left a Wichita Falls man uninjured but in no mood to enjoy wayside comment.

At least the remark of a negro youth to the effect that the car must have been going pretty fast when the flips began was unfavorably received, according to an account of the affair given L. V. Abernathy, assistant county attorney, Thursday afternoon.

The negro was struck in the face fell backward, and came up minus two front teeth, the attorney was told.

"What for you hit me, boss" he inquired as he wiped the dust from his clothing.

"I'll not have you commenting on what happens to me," the driver of the wrecked machine was quoted as saying.

Charges of assault and battery were filed against the white man. The young woman occupant of the car, which turned over near the Wichita Valley tracks at the south end of Indiana avenue, was also unhurt.

Yates Producers Want Output Cut

FORT WORTH, Feb. 6. (AP)—Unanimous decision by the Yates pool producers to petition the railroad commission for a 30,000 barrel per day reduction in allowance output was the only concrete result of the second meeting of oil producers' committees meeting here today to struggle with problems presented by mounting Texas oil production.

The central committee decided to appeal to Governor Moody for the presentation to the legislature of special legislation giving the railroad commission wider latitude and power in proration orders, and protecting operators complying with these orders.

A discussion with the governor is to be sought in Austin Monday. The situation will be presented to him as an emergency, and he will be asked to present the subject of new oil regulation to the called session of the legislature, which it is reported will be called immediately after the present session closes in a few days.

Girl Too Modest to Show Dimples In Her Knees Wins Beauty Contest

By PRINCESS ALI FAZIL

PARIS, Feb. 6. (UP)—Miss Alice Diplogakou, a beautiful 18-year-old Greek brunet who was too modest to show the dimples in her knees, won the title of Miss Europe today against the beauties of 18 other European countries, and will compete at Rio de Janeiro for the crown of "Miss Universe."

Here are the "beauty" points which won for her before a jury of 19 artists, sculptors and art critics:

Height—5 feet 5½ inches.
Weight—130 pounds.
Skin—Brownish.
Profile—Ancient classical.
Eyes—Jet black and dancing.
Ankles—Very slim.
Calves—Curved but not decidedly.
Cosmetics—Darkest lipstick, applied lightly.

Speaks Three Tongues

"Miss Greece" was born in the Peloponnesus region, famous for centuries as having produced the purest Greek types. Her father is a wealthy lawyer and indulged her in travel. She is able to speak Greek, English and French.

She told the judges today she swims "like a fish," rows, and likes to dance, believes some cosmetics are necessary, and is "esthetically happy at the opportunity to match the European beauty judgment against the American."

She had not planned to enter the international beauty contest. She was attending the preliminary competition in Greece with the British ambassador's party. The judges saw her in the audience, remarked that she was prettier than any contestant entered, called her to the stage and awarded her the Greek crown for pulchritude.

Contest Narrows

For more than three hours the contestants were judged by the beauty jury here, on the basis of nine possible points from each judge, three for the head, three for the body and three for "expression of the soul," or grace.

At the end, Miss Greece, Miss Belgium, Miss France, Miss Germany, Miss Italy and Miss Poland alone were left. Then the field was reduced to the first two, and their merits were considered point by point.

Finally the judges decided they must see the knees of the two contestants before making their decision. Miss Belgium displayed her right knee, but Miss Greece demurred. The jurors appointed a woman to raise her dress for her and the sight of the dimpled knee won the decision for Miss Greece.

Van Zandt Field Has Eighth Well

Special to The Record News.

TULSA, Okla., Feb. 6.—The Shell Petroleum corporation No. 1 E. L. Fowler, in the Van pool in Van Zandt county, in East Central Texas, blew in late Tuesday, making it the eighth producing well in the field and is estimated to be the best well yet.

It topped the pay at 2760 feet and after three hours swabbing, began to flow mud and water. As soon as the hole was cleaned out, it started flowing oil and although was choked in immediately, it was estimated good for 8,000 to 10,000 barrels daily.

During the past week, the five wells in the Van pool produced 4,148 barrels of oil daily, each well flowing through a 5-16 inch choke. The two wells which blew in Saturday and the Shell well Tuesday, makes the eight producers in the field which has had no failures yet. The producing area is now about one and three-quarters mile across the crest of the structure from northwest to the southeast with production proven partly that distance from northeast to southwest.

The Sun company No. 1 J. W. Thompson and the Texas company No. 1 W. White, are both drilling below 2000 feet and are expected to set casing during this week.

It's economy that counts. Save on your hosiery bill. See Sunday Times.—Adv.

YOUNG COUNTY WILDCAT

C. C. Williams, and associates have opened up an entirely new shallow field in the territory of the townsite of True in north central Young county, from the showing for a nice well from a sand at 669 feet. The well, which is located 150 feet south and 150 feet west of the northeast corner of west half of section 263, T. E. & L. survey, on the J. C. Taack farm, drilled one foot into the sand when oil rose to a considerable depth. Conservative estimates give the well in its present condition a daily output from 50 to 60 barrels. The well is an absolute wildcat and is expected to become a factor in the starting of many other tests at once on the nearby tracts.

NORTH OF MEGARGEL

Consolidated-Grisham No. 1 H. F. Harmel located in the south half of section 2490, T. E. & L. survey, north of Megargel in southwest Archer county, set and cemented pipe on a sand at 1440 feet and will test sometime in the next few days.

SOUTHWEST IOWA PARK

The Arkansas Fuel Oil company will drill out the plugs and complete two more wells on its Kemp-Kempner leases in block 82, Wichita Valley farm lands in southwest Wichita county. No. A-25 is on the sand at 1746 feet, and No. B-40 is drilling in at 1765-66.

IN ARCHER'S METROPOLIS

Bo McMillan and others' No. 1 S. Covington is coring a sand at 1100 feet and may set pipe to test. The well which is being watched with plenty of interest is located in the J. Richards survey and just on the north line of the limits of the city of Archer.

NORTHEAST OF THE NORDAY

W. R. Duke and others have spudded in on their No. 1 T. J. Ellard wildcat located in the center of their 160 acres out of abstract 883 one mile northeast of the old Norday Oil company production in southwest Archer county.

DUKE POOL TEST

Duke and Lawson are drilling out the plug from the usual 1400-foot sand in their No. 4 W. T. Richardson test located in section 2425, T. E. & L. survey, southwest of Megargel in Archer county.

YOUNG COUNTY DUSTER

John Menke and associates have abandoned as a dry hole their No. 1 H. E. Smith wildcat located in the west 80 acres of the north half of section 73, T. E. & L. survey, west of the Cathey shallow pool in north Young county. Total depth 1350 feet.

Salted! ju-u-s-st enough to bring out the delicate wheat flavor

Brown Bakers are so careful, they almost count the grains of salt they put on Saltine Flakes.

That's why everybody likes 'em. They are not too salty . . . And yet there's a hearty tang about these crisp, flavorful squares that makes them just right to serve with soup, salad, cheese, jam, jelly, and peanut butter.

Writers Department Has Lovely Poets Program

Approximately 50 members and guests attended the February meeting of the writers department which took place as a luncheon program at the Forum clubhouse Thursday at noon with Mrs. W. M. Cason presiding. The table was centered with a beautiful variety of vivid flowers and red candles in crystal tapers were placed at intervals to lend their soft glow to the pretty scene.

Following the short business meeting in which Mesdames H. F. Weldon, Henry Fulcher and J. E. H. Railey were appointed as a nominating committee to report a slate for the department officers, an outstanding program was given. Poetry was the medium for the original work presented.

Mrs. Jodie D. Smith of Electra was first with a cycle of exquisite verses delivered with all the feeling the lines deserved. One number was a tribute to a friend of hers, whom she knew and loved as Lucile Tancred, daughter of Mrs. John Tancred, of Wichita Falls.

Mrs. H. F. Weldon gave a group of verses, ranging from outdoor life in a humorous poem devoted to Mrs. G. B. Smedley on "Fishing," through a beautiful series of home and nature poems to a trilogy depicting the little boy who wished a dog and the reaction of two mothers. All were lovely in words and happy in thought.

Mrs. C. J. Parchman of Henrietta gave the third number, introducing her "country children"—poems just composed in answer to the department's call. The two poems she read ranged the gamut of everyday emotions and brought heartiest applause for their beauty and cleverness.

Mrs. B. C. Nicholson, advertising manager of the forum magazine and secretary of the department, conducted the advertising contest in which Mrs. O. W. Harvey won first prize, a lovely pot of flowers donated by the Wichita Floral company. Second place, with eight correct answers, was a tie between Mrs. C. J. Parchman of Henrietta and Mrs. Henry Fulcher. Mrs. Fulcher withdrew her paper, giving this prize to Mrs. Parchman.

Covers were laid for Mesdames James P. Bowen, E. L. Goff, Jules Constantine, Joe Shipley, T. H. Clement, B. M. Hyde of Electra; Miss Nira Dent, Mesdames H. O. Cravens, O. W. Harvey, M. T. Clements, Jodie D. Smith of Electra; C. P. Engelking of Electra; St. Andrews Myers of Henrietta; Miss Pearl Rorabaugh, Mesdames A. D. Bracey, Canton, Ohio; C. J. Parchman, Henrietta; J. E. H. Railey, Miss Kate Patterson of San Diego, Calif.; E. M. Stallings and C. C. Hutchison of Bowie; H. F. Weldon, L. H. Angove and Paul Donald of Bowie; Carrie Joline, J. Truman Stevens, R. T. Belcher, J. M. Whitworth, H. C. Fulcher, G. B. Smedley, Bernard Martin, Dr. Maude Lindsey, Mesdames T. H. Peery, W. E. Parshall, John P. Marrs, John Tancred, D. S. Parshall, Annie W. Barker, C. R. Yauger, W. H. Sanford, Mat Shain, Sam Kruger, B. C. Nicholson and W. M. Cason.

PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

The question of "what" people would pay to see and hear came up Thursday morning in the meeting of the Musicians club at the Episcopal Parish house. The Musicians club members know something about it. They brought Reinald Werrenrath to the city and many lovers of culture passed him up, leaving a deficit for the club members to face.

Time after time, some one who has wanted to give Wichita Falls the best in the way of music and drama and art has lost money in the effort.

Some people said they had heard Werrenrath over the radio. They had heard a voice. His personal magnetism could not come to them in that way, the definite atmosphere that Werrenrath created with each song was never theirs.

It seems to us that artists would cease giving concerts over the radio if it so limits the possibility of a concert audience. It is at least one more thing we have against the radio, chief of which before was the "loud speaker."

But we think it a poor excuse for not hearing the real artist. We begin to think this theory of "culture" is not all it is supposed to be. If there were boxes in the auditorium where people might appear in gorgeous evening gowns and dress suits, it enters our mind that probably "cultural" music would be more popular.

Some society people who really care nothing for music enjoy appearing as "patrons and patronesses" of the arts.

Vienna is famed as a city where artists appear for art's sake. Chaliapin, Galli-Curci and artists of that type appear there for $2,000 or $3,000 a night. But when the popular singer of America, Al Jolson, was asked to appear there, he refused to do so for less than $5,000. Vienna did not hear Al.

We heard a lullaby sung this morning that thrilled the hearers. A contralto voice rich and smooth and full of the spirit of the song interpreted for us Carrie Jacobs Bonds' "His Lullaby." We heard piano and violin numbers worthy of a concert program.

And we pondered on that spirit that makes even the "cultural crowds" stay away from an exquisite play program, unless "dressing up" goes with it.

Costume numbers will draw more people than just the music. Is it the ears or just the eyes that crave satisfaction?

Mothers Today Too Patronizing Toward Children

"Of Course We Love Our Mothers," Cry the "Cold" Younger Generation, "but You Simply Can't Pal Up With Any One Who Is Always Patronizing You and Laying Down the Law to You"

"The other day in an article you accused us youngsters of being ungrateful and unappreciative of our parents, and of never being willing to sit down and talk with them and be companionable to them," said a young girl to me the other day. "It is true that most of us do try to avoid our parents' society as much as we can, but the fault isn't ours. It is theirs. They won't let us chum with them.

"Now take my case. My father is dead. My mother is one of the most attractive and intelligent women I have ever met, yet I am absolutely miserable when I am forced to be in her company because she does nothing but find fault with me. She makes me self-conscious and ill at ease because she is always 'picking on me,' as the children say.

"It is, 'Sally, don't sprawl. Sit up straight in your chair.' If I buy a new dress, it is always the wrong shade, or too long, or too short, or it makes me look sallow, or fat, or hump-shouldered, or something. If I am reading a book, she doesn't know why I waste my time on a silly novel like that, or why I addle my brains trying to understand some abstruse work that is beyond my comprehension.

"She criticizes all my girl friends and finds something the matter with every one of them. She pulls all my boy friends to pieces until she doesn't leave them a single decent characteristic, and until she succeeds in disillusioning me about them.

"She broke off my engagement to the only man I have ever really cared for, and for no reason at all except that she didn't like his nose and the cut of his collar. Whenever I try to tell her about any hope of plan she wet-blankets it so that it takes all the pleasure out of it and I give up my ambitions before I even try to realize them.

"Perhaps we young ones do need to have our ego deflated, but it is a darn unpleasant process, and none of us hang around those who feel it their sacred duty to perform surgical operations on our vanity, and that is why I dodge mother as much as I can, and we don't have any of those long mother-and-daughter talks about which we read in the goody-goody novels."

"The reason my mother and I do not enjoy each other," said the second girl, "is because she treats me as I were a feeble-minded female infant. I gave a pretty good account of myself at college, and I hold down a responsible job in a big business firm, but that doesn't convince mother that I have enough intelligence to wash the dishes without her standing over me and saying: 'Now use a little soap in the water. Always put them through two waters. Wash the glass first,' and so on, and so on.

"Every night she tells me not to sit up and read, but to go to bed. Every meal she tells me what to eat. Every time I go out of the house I am put through the third degree about where I am going, and why I am going, and who I expect to see, and when I am coming back. She listens in on my telephone calls and reads any letter that I leave lying around, and she supervises my incomings and outgoings and feels she has the same right to dictate to me as she would if I were 3 years old and not very bright at that.

"The result of this petty tyranny is, of course, that I am always mentally in a furious rebellion against mother and that I balk her prying curiosity by never telling her anything about my affairs, and that I make a sneak of it just as often as I can. You can't be chummy with a dictator, and I have never heard of any prisoner who loved his jailer."

"I just loathe to go out with my mother" said the third girl, "because she simply submerges me and makes me seem like a Dumb Dora, which I am not. People must think that I am tongue-tied, or a congenital idiot without an idea or an opinion of my own, for mother never even lets me answer a question. She does it for me.

"The other day we were at a tea and I was asked would I have tea or coffee. Instantaly mother replied: 'She will have weak tea.' Will you have one lump of sugar or two?' Mother replied: 'She doesn't take sugar. She takes lemon.' Somebody asked me if I was going to the symphony concert. Mother replied: 'Yes, she is very fond of music.' Somebody else said that I had on a pretty frock and mother replied: 'Yes, as soon as I saw that I knew it would just suit Alisia. I like those long straight lines,' and so on, and on.

"Mother doing all the talking for me, and me standing about consumed with fury at having the words taken out of my mouth and wishing that I knew some way of shaking her so that I could show that I wasn't such a fool as I looked."

"My mother," said the fourth girl, "is also a monologuist and the main reason that I never have any dates is because when young men come to see me she thinks their visits are to her and that it is her duty to entertain them, so she comes in the living room and grabs the conversation and holds forth until they leave. And they never come back.

"Of course, we love our mothers, but you simply can't pal up with any one who is always patronizing you and laying down the law to you and treating you as a baby who never grows up."

Austin Study Circle Has Meeting Thursday

Members of the Austin school Study circle sponsored by the P.-T. A. met Thursday morning at 9:30 o'clock in the school auditorium. Mrs. Felicie Downs led an interesting lesson on "Happiness in Childhood" and in her article stresed the fact that "the responsibility of the child's happiness does not rest entirely upon the parents but on outside associations, especially in the school."

Mrs. R. L. Underwood discussed happiness from the standpoint of mental hygeine, using as her authority literature from the mental hygiene bureau of the P.-T. A. Mrs. H. R. Cloughley, in her paper on "What Makes Happiness for Children" pointed out that "the first requirement was good health and the others of equal importance are harmony in the home, work, play and correct social and religious training."

A round table discussion was held and personal experiences were exchanged. Mrs. Robert Nolen was welcomed as a new member. The next lesson will be on "Truthfulness in Children." Mesdames J. B. King and Nolen have been assigned papers on the subject.

Musicians Club Presents Lovely Morning Program

Mrs. Edwin Bebb presided during a business meeting of the Musicians club held at the Episcopal parish house Thursday morning preceding the monthly program.

The club voted to endorse the convention resolution of Miss Inez Rudy that February be observed as endowment month, senior music clubs to sponsor junior clubs, each club to appoint an extension chairman, clubs to answer all letters and to be 100 per cent in subscription to the Federation Music magazine.

Mrs. Charles Borland led the program in which some lovely numbers were heard. Miss Harriet Bradley, accompanied by Mrs. A. H. Mahaffey, gave two lovely songs, interpreting two sorts of love, "His Lullaby," by Carrie Jacobs Bond and "All the World Is Love," by Woodman.

Mrs. C. A. Rogers had charge of the lesson topic, "Love in Music," and gave an interesting paper on love as developed in the music of past times. Beethoven, she said, was considered the link between the period of classicism and that of romanticism. She told of how love was often expressed by modulation and named musicians who expressed feeling in the most melodious manner, telling of creators of romantic opera and of concert music. "There are more love songs than any other sort of folk music," Mrs. Rogers said. She spoke of the Indian love songs and explained why in their melancholy music, "sunrise" and "springa" were so often mentioned. "You may not understand the speech of other people," Mrs. Rogers said, "you may not understand their books, but everyone can understand their music."

Other lovely numbers given were a piano number, "The Tailor and the Bear," McDowell, by Mrs. Ben M. Bell; a violin number, "The Light of Love," Dancla, by Mrs. Howard Renfro with Mrs. W. C. Hamilton accompanying and another piano number, "Romance," Sibelius, by Mrs. W. C. Hamilton.

Members present were Mesdames Charles Borland, Edwin Bebb, C. A. Rogers, Flora Greenwood, Howard Renfro, F. C. Barron, Philip Oviatt, O. E. Marchman, Lester Jones, G. T. Buchanan, W. M. Cason, M. M. Garrett, J. Lewis Jackson, J. M. Baber, J. E. H. Railey, C. E. Beavers, R. A. Lincoln, Stanley Raub, W. C. Hamilton, Ben M. Bell, J. E. Hall, and A. H. Mahaffey and Misses Ruby Murrell, Florence Sammons, Harriett Bradley, Lucy Huggins, Lucille Smith and Mary Tancred.

250 ENROLL IN JUNIOR C.-C.

Membership of More Than 300 Expected

Prediction that the membership of approximately 250 already reported for 1930 will jump to more than 300 by the last-minute reports of membership drive contestants at the Junior chamber of commerce luncheon Friday noon was made Thursday by Guy P. Pool, secretary of the organization.

That several of the membership solicitors are "holding out" generous reserves in the contest from which some one of the workers will receive a new suit of clothes was the basis of Mr. P'Pool's prediction. Final compilation of results of the drive, which has been supervised by Paul Hines, will be completed at the membership luncheon at the Kemp hotel Friday noon.

J. S. Bridwell, president of the chamber of commerce, and J. A. Kemp will be guests of the Junior chamber Friday, and it has been announced that Mr. Kemp will make a short address. Other speakers for the occasion will be P. R. Freeman and J. L. Randel, who will discuss the demonstration farm project now being launched by the organization through its agricultural and dairying committees.

Music for the luncheon will be provided by Frank Byrd's Bluebird orchestra from station KGKO, and by Jimmie Campbell, baritone.

WHAT'S THE MATTER WITH THIS Cake Recipe?

Cream ½ cup butter and add gradually the beaten whites of 5 eggs. Sift 2½ cups flour, 4 teaspoons baking powder and ½ teaspoon salt and add alternately with ¾ cup milk to the first mixture. Beat well and bake in a shallow cake pan for about 40 minutes in a slow oven.

You can readily see that sugar is missing from this cake recipe. To be exact—one and one-half cups. What a failure you'd have if you followed the recipe with this single but important ingredient missing.

Too often we are inclined to leave sugar out of our meals. As a result the food is not palatable. This is true of certain vegetables. Yet you can make them appetising by adding a dash of sugar in cooking. For example, tomatoes, peas, carrots and spinach taste much better when a pinch of sugar is added. Also many stewed fresh or dried fruits are made more palatable by including sugar.

When nourishing foods are pleasant to the taste, you naturally eat what your system requires. Since sugar adds flavor to such foods why not cultivate the practice of using it as a flavorer? No doctor will prescribe against this suggestion. Neither will he object to the serving of simple puddings, cakes and custards for desserts. Good food promotes good health. The Sugar Institute.

9 out of 10 Screen Stars use Lux Toilet Soap

It has swept across the world from Hollywood to Europe

"No beauty is more important to a girl than alluring smooth skin." So says William A. Seiter, prominent First National director, summing up what 45 leading Hollywood directors have found out from their experience with motion pictures.

"A screen star must pass the most merciless test—the great close-up lights find out the slightest flaw in the skin," he goes on to say. "But the owner of a skin which can pass this test has the support of an immense adoring public."

It is because alluringly smooth skin is so vital for success on the screen that of the 521 important actresses in Hollywood, including all stars, 511 are simply devoted to Lux Toilet Soap. And all the great film studios have made it the official soap for their dressing rooms.

The Broadway stage stars are equally enthusiastic about this soap, so daintily fragrant and white. And now, too, the screen stars of the European capitals have adopted Lux Toilet Soap! To keep their skin as faultlessly smooth as the American stars keep theirs.

You will love the way it keeps your skin silken-smooth! And such generous lather as it gives, even in very hard water. Order several cakes of Lux Toilet Soap—today.

CORINNE GRIFFITH, First National's charmingly beautiful star, says: "The thing I like best about Lux Toilet Soap is the wonderful smoothness of my skin after it!"

RADIO TRUST DECISION NEAR

After 10-Year Probe, Department to Act

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6. (INS)—After 10 years of sporadic investigation the justice department is about ready to reach a decision regarding charges the Radio Corporation of America has been guilty of flagrant violation of anti-monopoly laws, Assistant Attorney General J. J. O'Brian wrote the senate interstate commerce committee today.

If investigation justifies legal proceedings, he wrote, they will be instituted promptly.

The letter was in response to the committee's request for information as to the status of the department's inquiry into complaints against the R. C. A. and affiliated companies.

The conflict between rights granted by the government under patent issuance, and the prohibition under anti-monopoly laws have caused the difficulties in determining the validity of the charges, O'Brian wrote.

Until the legal question can be solved, "it will be impossible for the department to reach a conclusive opinion as to whether the parties have in fact exceeded their legal rights and have transgressed the anti-trust laws," the letter said.

"From the progress already made it seems probable the department will be able to define its attitude within another three or four weeks additional time."

Religious Wrangle Excites College

HASTINGS, Neb., Feb. 6. (UP)—A religious controversy over theological views that had been simmering in Hastings college faculty since last November resulted today in the head of the department of religious education taking a new position and six other faculty members announcing they would not return to the college next year.

Dr. W. E. Uphaus, head of the religious education department, announced he had been awarded a research scholarship at Yale, his Alma Mater.

It was learned that because of Uphaus' liberal views, President Calvin H. French had reached an understanding with him that a new contract would not be offered him.

Because six other faculty members felt that their teachings would not be accepted by college authorities if the views of Dr. Uphaus were not acceptable, it was announced they would not be available for renewal of their contracts.

Dr. Uphaus declared the greatest difference between his views and those of the college is on the question of the inspiration of the Scriptures.

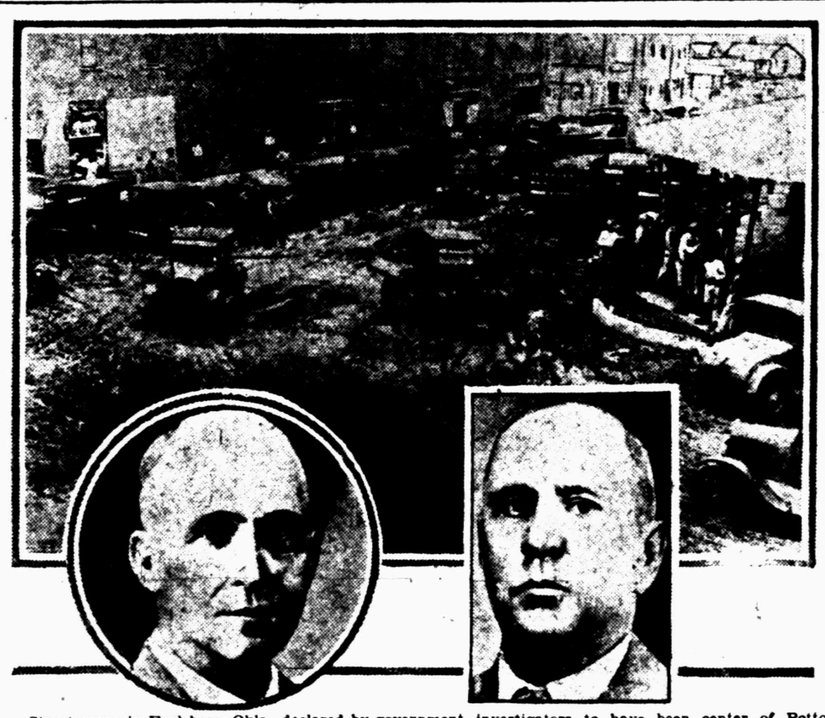

"I believe the Bible has been inspired and is a great piece of literature but that it is not infallible at all points," he explained.

BELLEVUE, Texas, Feb. 6.—J. W. McCrary, pioneer citizen of Bellevue, died at his home here Tuesday, after several month's illness.

Mr. McCrary came to this country from Dallas county in 1879 and with his wife and two small sons settled on a place west of Bellevue, known today as the Hapgood ranch, where he lived for two years. LINDY STUDIES SAIL PLANES

Ace Devotes Time to Glider As Valuable Craft

LINDBERGH CAMP, TEHACHAPI Mountains, Calif., Feb. 6. (AP)—An exhaustive study of the glider, which he believes will prove particularly valuable in teaching the public how to fly, has been launched by Col. Charles A. Lindbergh.

Colonel Lindbergh, who early this week piloted a glider to a graceful landing in the Tehachapi foothills after it had lost an aileron in mid-air, disclosed he believed the sail plane, because of the relatively high degree of safety it provides, could be used to increase public interest in aviation and in training prospective pilots to handle powered planes.

With Hawley Bowlus, glider builder of San Diego, Calif., Lindbergh established his camp here to carry on a series of experiments and test flights with gliders. During the encampment Bowlus expects to attempt to better the world glider record for sustained flight, 14 hours 45 minutes, held by Lieutenant Dinrot of Germany.

The flying colonel said he hoped to demonstrate that the glider, because of its ease of piloting, is not a hazardous craft, even in the hands of a novice. Embryo airplane pilots, the colonel believes, can learn to fly much more easily and naturally if they learn the first principles of flight in a glider.

Undertakers Row Over Flier's Body

WICHITA, Kan., Feb. 6. (UP)—Court action to force removal of the body of Ralph P. (Red) Shannon to Stillwater, Okla., was threatened today by M. F. Vincent of the Vincent Funeral home in Stillwater.

Vincent told officials at the courthouse he was authorized to come to Wichita by L. O. Shannon, father of the flier who crashed to his death Friday near Wichita.

Vincent charges a Wichita undertaking company had taken charge of the body, partly embalmed it and requested that the Vincent home pay $250 charges before the body would be relinquished.

Pola Negri Gets Into Berlin Court

BERLIN, Feb. 6. (AP)—After several years' absence from the city where she first achieved film success, the American film star, Pola Negri, returned to Berlin today only to get into hot water with the courts.

Sam Rachmann, theatrical agent, secured a writ of attachment whereby the courts sequestered Pola's jewelry to the extent of 50,000 marks (about $12,000). Rachmann claims he negotiated the screen star's American contracts, for which she failed to pay the stipulated commission.

Immediately after she handed over to a court attache her diamonds and rubies, she and her husband, Prince Mdvani, departed for St. Moritz, Switzerland.

WOODS HUNTED FOR GANGSTERS

Posse Scours Forest for Robbers' Car

MINNEAPOLIS, Feb. 6. (INS)—Searching in the timber of northern Minnesota, a sheriff's posse, sans tangible clues, was hunting gangsters, believed to be from Minneapolis or St. Paul, who accosted Roy Buck, Black Duck, Minn., slot machine baron, riddled his motor with machine gun bullets and fled with $1,600 in cash during a blinding snowstorm Wednesday night.

The gunmen, number undetermined, were driving an expensive sedan with a swivel machine gun mounted in the rear, according to their victim. Apparently they had trailed him through four or five small villages, where he had been collecting the proceeds of his gambling devices, before they held him up on the deserted road near Black Duck.

No auto corresponding to the description of the raiders' car has been seen.

STOMACH TROUBLE?

"DIASTATIC DEFICIENCY" (failure to digest starches), causes more than one-half the cases of stomach trouble. Because of this deficiency, potatoes, breads, macaroni, rice, breakfast cereals and other starchy foods remain in a semi-solid condition and refuse to move on as they should. This stoppage causes INDIGESTION, GAS, FERMENTATION, SOURNESS, SICK HEADACHE and other common troubles.

"TOO MUCH ACID" is the cause of almost all the remaining half of our stomach troubles. It also is the result of fermentation and causes digestive acids.

ACIDINE, the new discovery, is a perfect anti-acid combined with "Japtase," the most effective known starch digestant, one pound of which will digest more than 800 pounds of starchy foods. ATWATER KENT RADIO

This radio tells only the truth ... does yours?

YOU hear people talking about the "tone" of radio sets.

One set has a "deep tone," they say. Another set a "high tone."

But when you stop to think, you realize that the best radio has no tone of its own at all!

Of course it hasn't. A radio set shouldn't create anything. It is a reproducing instrument. It should pass on to you only what it gets from the broadcasting studios.

The better it does that, the better your radio.

This is what we mean when we speak of the naturalness of a Screen-Grid Atwater Kent. This radio tells only the truth.

Its bass notes are the true bass. Its treble is the true treble. Light and shade of music are put there by the broadcasters. The set does not intrude with its own version of a song or a talk.

Atwater Kent has developed this natural tone for your radio because of a conviction that this is the only tone that will permanently satisfy you.

It must be this naturalness that most people prefer, for already hundreds of thousands of families have chosen Atwater Kent Screen-Grid Radio. They say it has "the natural tone you never tire of."

Listen to radio without artificial coloring. Listen with the truth-telling Atwater Kent, and hear the big broadcasting show as it really is!

Novels Assailing War Don't Insure Peace

A GREAT MANY PEOPLE these days are living in the firm hope that there need be no more great wars. One of the things on which this hope is based is the great collection of war novels that have been printed during the past couple of years.

These novels have not been the old-fashioned "war romances." They have been brutal and bitter. They have dwelt long on the filth and suffering and ugliness of war, on its savage idiocy and monotonous, soul-killing routine.

Those of us who want to see peace made everlasting have been encouraged by all of this. We have told ourselves: "Surely the old illusions about war have been destroyed by now. Surely this literature, which shows war for the frightful business that it really is, will prevent people ever again from welcoming a new war."

That sounds quite logical. Such books as "All Quiet on the Western Front," "Squad," "All Our Yesterdays," "It's a Great War" and "All Else Is Folly"—to name a few at random—can hardly leave any non-combatant with the idea that war is anything but a ghastly business.

But the fond hope that these books raise may, after all, be quite mistaken.

Indeed, it is an open question whether even the most earnest of these anti-war novels may not, in the long run, actually inspire young men with a subconscious desire for war.

The dominant note in all of these books is much the same; that war is filled with pain and fright and suffering, to an extent almost unbelievable.

But when did those things really act as barriers in the path of restless human beings? When, in other words, did plain, physical fear bulk very large among the forces that make men do the things they do?

The human race is a great many things that it ought not to be. It is rather stupid, sometimes, and it is often cruel and selfish and reckless. But it is not very cowardly. You can't influence it very much by telling it that it is apt to get hurt.

The mere passage of years will put into the pages of these war novels a glamour that their authors never intended. A decade hence the dreadful attack on Verdun may look as romantic and thrilling as Pickett's charge has looked to this generation. This literature of disillusionment will be read by people in search of thrills.

It will take more than novels to bring us enduring peace. If we depend on them too heavily we shall let ourselves in for a sad awakening.

Kinship With Fame

NOTHING is more fascinating than the power that can linger in a man's name long after the man himself is dead and gone. For a demonstration of this fact you are invited to go to Springfield, Ill., the home town of Abraham Lincoln.

Lincoln's name hangs in the atmosphere of that city. It colors the lives of all its citizens. It takes some men and women and sets them apart, puts them in a class above the average of their fellows—because, at one time or another, many years ago, they shook Abraham Lincoln by the hand, or stopped on the street to chat with him, or trudged into his law office when he had his lengthy Illinois legs cocked up on his table.

These people—the favored ones who have memories of that kind to sustain their pride—seem to live for nothing else. Some of them are well to do, surrounded by friends, and some of them are poor and lonely, but all of them seem to feel that their lives have been very much worth while. They can remember actual contacts with the greatest American of their day.

These incidents, too, often grow with years. A man whom, as a barefooted toddler, was once patted on the head by Lincoln, will come to believe that he was really a confidant of the great emancipator. Without ever intending to deceive himself or anyone else, he will presently be looking on himself as one of the circle of Lincoln's intimates. He will speak of Lincoln with a proprietary air. He will repeat things that he has read in books as if they were his own conclusions.

All of this is quite harmless, and at times it is rather pathetic. But it testifies, in its own way, to that longing for contact with greatness that seems to be born in all of us.

We are never satisfied, either with ourselves or with the people around us. We have a lurking feeling that people ought to be a great deal wiser and kinder and nobler than they really are. So, if we discover that at some distant time in our lives we, ourselves, came into touch with someone who reached the ideal, we magnify the incident, take it to our hearts, make it almost our excuse for existence.

And yet, all the while, we shut our eyes to the people we rub elbows with. We don't realize their fineness, any more than we realize our own. It may be, some day, that you will be vastly proud of your acquaintance with neighbor Jim Jones. He may become great and famous. But the chances are you won't know it until you have nothing left but a memory.

We have an instinctive, imperative desire to mingle with people who are of finer fiber than ourselves. Yet—so common, after all, they are—we don't recognize them, when we find them; not until long afterward.

Agreement

Oh, why does glamour make so short a stay?
I can remember not so long ago,
You were a mystery in every way
And how I wish you could have kept it so.

There were so many new things to discover,
A hidden phrase—a low laugh in the street;
It was a simple task to play the lover
And count the hours between the times we'd meet.

How times have altered—I can face you now
Heart-whole and cool, and little things you do
Irk me at times—it seems to me somehow
The months have made a drastic change in you.

My dear, how eagerly you nod your head!)

Casting the First Stone

Local first-nighters probably are preparing for another good cry on the night Fred Stone makes his comeback in "Ripples." Audiences have already wept as much as they cheered at three Stone premieres. The first time they sobbed was when Fred made his first appearance without his partner, Dave Montgomery. The second time when "Stepping Stones" premiered and Dorothy Stone made her initial appearance with her Pop. Fred had remarked: "I hope I am forgiven for going back on my word that I would never have another partner after Dave passed away," and the last time they wept was during the "Three Cheers" engagement. Stone crashed in a plane and was in the hospital. And when Dorothy filled her father's 10 o'clock spot "down in one" in her pappy's hick clothes and went into his famous eccentric dance, every handkerchief in the house came into view.

The Retort Proper

"There are two kinds of dramatic critics," someone once said to George Jean Nathan, "destructive and constructive. You are destructive!"

"Huh-uh," replied Nathan, "and there are two kinds of guns—Krupp and pop!"

In Fewer Words

Seen on the wall of a 54th street speakeasy: "Wicked women are responsible for half the troubles in the world. Virtuous women are responsible for the other half."

You've Met the Type

They are telling about the chap who hastened into a kosher restaurant on the East Side and instructed the waiter to bring him a demi-tasse.

The waiter brought a large cup-pa-cawfee.

"I distinctly told you," bellowed the exasperated customer, "that I wanted a demi-tasse—a small cup of coffee!"

"So wot are you gatting haxcited," responded the waiter indifferently, "can't you drink a little?"

Imagine

They've arrested another book-peddler for selling a copy of "Lady Chatterley's Lover," and it is hoped that the New Masses will reprint its cartoon of September, 1915, which revealed Anthony Comstock, then "The Roundsman of the Lord," dragging a mother in her night clothes into a court. The captain being: "Your Honor, this woman gave birth to a naked child!"

Observation

When we last saw him with her again last night we wondered why we never thought of making a paragraph out of it before. His name is Philip Rosen, a powerfully built youth, whose activities in the insurance world have won for him great distinction. He is a concrete example of the Man About Town, a good spender, a heavy tipper and he is mad about the tango, having once made a trip to the old country to polish up on the tango routine.

He goes out with this movie star or that beautiful woman. This chorus girl or that show personage and makes the better class night clubs as well as the so-called dives.

But he is the most different Broadwayward man of them all. He actually finds time once every week to do what very few other lads ever think of doing. No matter how beautiful the sirens are, he snubs them on a certain night in the week to take his mother out!

The Pity of It

What with this tale and that one about the road being shot to pieces, an advance agent offers this concrete example of how dreadful show business is in the hinterland. One troupe which was losing members of the cast in every port because they were weary of being paid off in promises was in a small Montana town, booked for a one-night date. One of the hams was peeking through the curtain's peep-hole and counted eight customers.

"How's the house?" asked the leading lady.

"We're still in the majority," was the sad retort.

A Sad, Sad Story

It appears that the critical opinions in the newspapers on the shows are taken seriously, after all. One of the cut-rate ticket chiefs was arguing along these lines the other day and remarked: "Why, I can remember when we could shove a ticket for any play into the hands of the bargain-counter mob and they would grab it. Now, when we have to force some of the shows, the wiser mob tell us that they read the reviews 'on that one, and the notices weren't so hot.' Yes, indeedy, the critics are not making it easy, for even when they do a rave on a show the show's management doesn't need our help and so we don't get any tickets."

Quitsee, Quitsee

A newcomer to journalism was being complimented on this and that, yet he remained dejected. "Oh,' he oh'd, "I am unhappy working on a paper that is ridiculed. I always aspired to write for the better journals and magazines."

"You've got the wrong slant," someone interrupted. "Don't forget Finley Dunne's advice to one of America's better commentators. Dunne said: "Don't ever bother about the dignity or importance of the medium for which you write, It doesn't matter a damn where your stuff appears so long as it is good. If it is good the right people are sure to see it."

It Runs Into Money

Among other favorite anecdotes of Grover Whalen, the police commissioner, is the one about the gunman who was up before the magistrate for killing a man. The judge was horrorstruck by the brutality of the crime. "You knew very well," said his honor, "that your victim was shabbily dressed and was poor. You yourself admit you shot him down from behind to rob him and yet all you got for killing him was a dollar."

"Well, your honor," allbied the tough guy, "you know how it is—a dollar here and a dollar there."

"LOVEJOY" : By : Beatrice Burton

CHAPTER XXX

On Sunday Lovejoy went out of her way to be sweet to Norrie Shane.

She was sweet to her the way sage-honey is sweet—with just a touch of sharpness.

"You look tired, Norrie, dear," she said to her at breakfast time. "I'm afraid you worked too hard yesterday—and then you stayed up so late, helping Tom with his poker party."

She hoped that Tom would look up and see how plain and colorless Norrie was and how fresh and lovely she, herself, was that morning.

But he went on drinking his coffee without lifting his eyes from the financial page of the Sunday newspaper.

"Tom," she said to him, "I'm afraid I'll have to ask you for a little money. I haven't paid Norrie her wages for last week, and I should have done it yesterday."

His head came up with a jerk then.

"I gave you your housekeeping money yesterday morning!" he reminded her, frowning at her as he spoke. "You should have paid her out of that."

She nodded, smiling into his eyes.

"Yes—but I spent all of that money on myself," she answered calmly. "You seem to think that I never need any money for myself, Tom. But I do—and I'm afraid you'll have to pay Norrie her $18 this morning, because I haven't a dollar to my name."

Tom dug down deep into his trousers' pocket and handed Norrie two or three crumpled bank notes.

"With a soft "Thanks" Norrie got up from the table and went out of the breakfast room. She closed the door quietly behind her.

"You ought to be ashamed to work that girl the way you do," Tom began as soon as she was gone. "You hired her to look after the baby, but you shove all the work in the house on to her."

Lovejoy shrugged one of her shoulders.

"She gets plenty of money for it," she said carelessly. "Her board and keep—and eighteen dollars a week besides."

"Which I can't afford to pay her!" Tom added. "Great Guns, Lovejoy, with all this new furniture and the high rent and all the rest of it, I swear I don't know which way to turn!—You seem to think that I'm made of money lately!" His frown deepened.

"Oh, don't try to pull that poor-mouth stuff on me, Tom Nicholson!" Lovejoy's face burned with sudden anger. "I know you're making scads of money, so don't try to tell me that you aren't!—You're just like all men! You spend a young fortune on a poker party, but you begrudge your wife a few dollars for a shampoo and a bottle of perfume!"

Tom said nothing. He just sat looking out into the backyard, all green with the glory of new grass and young leaves.

"You're falling for Norrie—that's what ails you!" Lovejoy went on, infuriated still more by his silence. "If you still cared for me, Tom, you'd want me to spend your money! You'd want me to have everything other women have—even if you went to the poor-house trying to get it for me!"

Tom's grave dark eyes came back to her face.

"I suppose you think Steve Oglebay cares for you like that," he said, and his lips twisted in a sarcastic smile. "I suppose you think you could have had everything in the world if you'd married him instead of me . . . and it begins to look as if you should have married him instead of me. Doesn't it?"

Lovejoy did not answer.

"But don't get it into your head that I'm jealous of him," Tom said. "Any time you want to leave me and go to him, you're free to do it. I won't stand in your way. But listen to me—"

Lovejoy waited for him to finish what he had to say.

"I won't stand for your running around with him, making me a laughing stock," he told her. "If you're through with me, that's all right. If you're going to keep on living with me, you're going to behave yourself. There are to be no more of these midnight automobile rides with him. Understand?"

Lovejoy raised her eyebrows.

"I understand one thing—you wouldn't talk like this to me if you cared a hang about me," she said bluntly. "You're just finding out that you married the wrong girl, Tom. You should have married somebody like Norrie who'd find her highest happiness in bathing the dishes and putting the baby's beer on ice!"

She tried to laugh. But she couldn't. This was no laughing matter.

She got up from the table and went out of the room.

Outside the door she began to wring her hands as if she were in the very deepest kind of trouble.

"What's happened to Tom and me? What's happened to us?" she whispered with dry lips—just as many another woman has asked when her marriage has begun to go on the rocks.

She started up the stairs, and then came down again.

"Tom" she said, opening the door of the sunny little breakfast room once more, "Tom—don't forget that we're having the Aldersons and the Goodsells in for supper tonight. The Goodsells have another couple staying with them over the week-end, and they're going to bring them along. I've forgotten their name."

Tom groaned.

"I was hoping to get some sleep tonight," he said. "Gosh, sometimes I wish we were back in the flat on Hewlett street, where we didn't know anybody!"

Lovejoy scorned him and Hewlett street with a blighting look.

"Go ahead and wish yourself back there all you want to—but please leave me out of it!" she snapped. "I'm perfectly contented right where I am."

But she was miles from contentment, really.

On her way upstairs she looked the house over with a discontented and unhappy pair of eyes.

The silk-damask chairs were deep and comfortable-looking. The new baby-grand piano was a thing of beauty. So was the Spanish shawl that covered one end of it.

Everything is lovely—but the place isn't like home, said Lovejoy to herself, trying to explain the lack of something real and satisfying in the house. It's so stiff and lonesome-looking.

Besides one of the chairs stood a little Martha Washington sewing table.

It belonged to Norrie, who had brought it with her from Bullard street. On the top of it was Norrie's little mending basket woven of green and yellow sweet-grass.

Her garden scissors and gloves lay on the hall seat. And upstairs on the top of the writing-desk in the hall was a little leather bag full of silver coins—the money that Norrie had saved that week out of the grocery money that Lovejoy had given her on Monday.

That's what ails this house—too much Norrie in it! thought Lovejoy bitterly. She cleans it and fusses with it as if it belonged to her instead of to me!

She would get rid of Norrie just as soon as she decently could. She promised herself that as she began to make the bed in Tom's room.

Across the hall was her own room with its gray walls and its orchid curtains and bedspread. . . . Perhaps it wasn't a good thing for married people to have separate bedrooms.

Back in the old house Tom and I just had to make up our quarrels when we were shut up in the same room every night, she thought.

There had been no Norrie with them then to listen to everything that was said in the house. . . . Those had been happy days.

Norrie will just have to go, she said again to herself. I can get a good housemaid for half the money that I pay her—one who won't be making googly eyes at Tom all the time.

But it wasn't so pleasant to think of getting rid of Norrie, somehow.

All during the long hot afternoon Norrie worked in the kitchen, helping Lovejoy with the chicken salad and the rolled sandwiches for the Sunday night supper.

She put the baby to bed and gave him his bottle and his drink of orange juice.

"I'll be back here at 10," she said to Lovejoy when she left the house at 6 o'clock, "so don't touch the dishes. I'll wash them all when I come home."

I'm going to miss her, thought Lovejoy.

But she went upstairs and telephoned the "Help Wanted" department of the morning newspaper and told the girl who answered her that she wanted to hire a housemaid and would pay $12 a week for a good one.

"I'm going to let Norrie go," she said to Tom who was taking bottles from the top shelf of his clothes-closet. "We can't afford to keep her."

He came into the hall and stood looking at her for a second. Then he shook his dark head.

"No." He spoke very softly as he always did when he particularly meant what he said. "I don't want you to let her go. I want her to stay."

Pre-Volstead Jug Found In East Texas Bayou

JEFFERSON, Texas, Feb. 6. (AP)—A jug used as a container for whisky before prohibition has been unearthed here by government excavators clearing the channel of Big Cypress bayou from Jefferson to the head of Caddo lake, a distance of 20 miles from Jefferson.

The jug is on display here in a drug store, the same store that owned it before it was lost several years ago. Identification was by the name of the firm which was plainly visible after many years in the mud of the bayou. Old residents believe it was lost before the government cut the natural dam that held Caddo lake and thus gave Jefferson one of the best interior waterways in the South.

Dallas Sheriff Turns In $5,700 Excess Fees

DALLAS, Feb. 6. (AP)—Hal Hood, sheriff of Dallas county, believes he has set an all-time record for excess fees returned to the county treasurer by any sheriff in Texas.

After deducting all expenses, Hood, in the first year of his term, turned back $5,731.90 to the county.

Officials at the sheriff's office said it was the exception rather than the rule for a sheriff to so conduct his office that he would have excess fees.

Employers, personnel managers, department heads, simply will not tolerate employees who have halitosis (bad breath). You can readily understand why.

Halitosis is wide spread—due to the fact that everyday conditions (many of germ origin) develop in the mouth and cause odors. Defective teeth. Minor infections. Fermenting food particles.

Eliminate all risk of offending others by the daily use of full strength Listerine, the safe antiseptic.

So active a germicide it kills the Staphylococcus Aureus (pus) and Bacillus Typhosus (typhoid) germ in counts ranging to 200,000,000, full strength Listerine strikes at the cause of mouth odors. The trunk of jewelry was stolen while in transit on railway between Wichita Falls and Fort Worth in 1928. Trunk checks were switched and when Joe Optician, jewelry salesman, called for his gem trunk here, he found himself in possession of a trunk filled with bricks and cans.

Man Pays Small Fine After Crossing Crash

WASHINGTON, Feb 6. (US)—Justice is blind in more than one eye in the opinion of Leo Townshend, government clerk.

Townshend drove his car in front of an express train at Hyattsville, Md., and was forced to leap for his life. The auto was demolished.

Today, Townshend was fined $5 on a reckless driving charge brought by the railroad company.

Mothers, Mix This At Home for a Bad Cough

You'll be pleasantly surprised when you make up this simple home mixture and try it for a distressing cough or chest cold. It takes but a moment to mix and costs little, but it can be depended upon to give quick and lasting relief.

Get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist. Pour this into a pint bottle; then fill it with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. The full pint thus made costs no more than a small bottle of ready-made medicine, yet it is much more effective. It is pure, keeps perfectly and children love its pleasant taste.

This simple remedy has a remarkable three-fold action. It goes right to the seat of trouble, loosens the germladen phlegm, and soothes away the inflammation. Part of the medicine is absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly upon the bronchial tubes and thus helps inwardly to throw off the whole trouble with surprising ease.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form, and known as one of the greatest healing agents for severe coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex, as it is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

MOODY PRISON MEASURE LOST

House Vote on Amendments Decides Fate of Bill

Ramsey and Darrington farms it had been proposed to exempt from sale.

The bills of Representative Tillotson of Sealy, and of Representative Young of Wellington, were sent up just before the recess and will be before the house when it reconvenes Friday morning. Both were offered as amendments to the Graves bill.

The Tillotson measure would centralize agricultural activity farms below Houston, with the industrial unit to be located on 7,500 acres of land to be selected by a commission, which commission must report its findings back to the next session of the legislature for final action.

Farm Concentration

The Young bill would concentrate all activity of the system on the Imperial farm below Houston.

Prediction was made tonight that the penitentiary would be moved from Huntsville. This was based on the assertion of Representative John Wallace of Teague, author of the administration bill to centralize near Austin, and other supporters of that bill, that they would support the Young bill.

That the vote definitely removed all hope of adoption of Governor Moody's plan for centralization with an industrial unit near Austin, retaining four of the seven farms near Houston for agricultural purposes, was admitted from the floor after the vote by Representative Petsch, one of the administration supporters, who with Representative John F. Wallace of Teague, had led the fight since the called session began its deliberations nearly three weeks ago.

Bitter Debate

The debate during the day was bitter and exhaustive, with members who rarely, if ever, take the floor debating for long periods. Towards the close, opponents of the administration plan became restless Representative Beck charging that supporters of the Austin site were filibustering.

Representative Adrian Pool of El Paso declared the question was the "most important that has been before the legislature in the 12 years I have been a member," and sought to take the bridle off in the matter of debate.

Both sides moved their heavy artillery into action during the closing hours. Representative George Purl of Dallas, chief lieutenant of the administration group, pointed out that every commission since 1910 has recommended removal from Huntsville, and concentration of the system, preferably near Austin. These reports also recommended continuation of agricultural activities on the lower Brazos farms in most instances. He spoke nearly two hours.

Representative W. K. Hopkins of Gonzales, closed for the opposition. His plea to retain the system on present lands was based on the expense incurred in moving to Austin. He estimated the ultimate expense of this move at $20,000,000.

Representative Petsch closed the debate with the plea to follow the advice of the experts on the commission who had studied the problem and "adopt the majority report."

Houston Lady's Skin Nice and Clear Now

"My complexion used to show how bad I felt. Now it shows that I am free from those depressing headaches and nervous spells," says Mrs. Ollie Walker, who lives at 3434 Morse St., in Houston.

"I suffered from constipation, I might say all my life. I couldn't throw off the wastes and they gave me headaches, and a very sallow complexion. Ever since I started taking Nature's Remedy, all that is gone. I reckon the real reason is that NR Tablets are so pleasant to take that I continued taking them long enough to get results."

NR Tablets are so effective because they soothe, sweeten and stimulate the stomach and bowels. Then the starch and sugar wastes from the food you eat can't remain in your system to form the acids which sour your stomach, bind your bowels and rob the blood of the red corpuscles it must have plenty of to keep you from losing weight and strength, and from becoming [illegible] headachy, dyspeptic and [illegible]matic. Jury in Ellis Case At Houston Strikes Snag

HOUSTON, Feb. 6. (AP)—After seven hours of deliberation, a jury which today was given the case of Dr. J. C. Ellis was locked up for the night, with no indication of a verdict.

Ellis was tried on a murder charge growing out of the slaying of Gordon Ross, Omaha, Neb., butcher, who was shot to death in the Ellis home on Nov. 17.

After arguments in which the shooting was characterized as "murder caused by disagreements over women acquaintances of the two men" by the state, and "accidental shooting" by the defense, the case was given to the jury.

This Nurse Just Couldn't Stop Coughing

Specialists Didn't Help

It takes more than ordinary sweet, syrupy cough mixtures to stop a stubborn cough that persists in hanging on.

For slight ordinary coughs almost any decent cough syrup will do, but if you have one of those tough ones that won't yield to common remedies and often keeps you awake at night then your one best bet is Bronchuline Emulsion.

Often one half bottle forces the most stubborn cough to yield and you are better almost before you know it.

There is no sugar, chloroform or dope in Bronchuline Emulsion; it's a wonderful medicine for people who are getting over a heavy cold or an attack of Flu.

A New York nurse just couldn't stop coughing even after consulting specialists yet one half bottle of Bronchuline Emulsion did stop it—completely.

Ask Allison Drug store or any good dealer for a bottle—often three or four doses will stop an ordinary cough.—Adv.

DICTATOR PUT OVER PRISON

Military Man Named To Rule Canon City

sign their posts. The board replied that the governor's suggestion would not be followed.

By resolution the correction board took steps to discharge three guards whose actions were criticized after the riot in October and summarily discharged two more.

J. J. Shea and O. J. Pennington were relieved of duty, and charges will be filed with the state civil service commission here tomorrow against M. J. Conway, George Asher and F. G. Thomas. Asher, the prepared charges set forth failed to throw a riot gun from the wall during the riot, while another guard, Clyde Davis, shouted to him from the prison yard that a riot was in progress. Davis testified before Governor Adams' special investigating committee that he could have quelled the mutiny at its inception had Asher given him the gun. Shea and Pennington were on the temporary employment list.

Governor Adams holds no power of discharge over the board of corrections, which is under civil service. His suggestion followed a statement from the executive offices in Denver, earlier in the week, that he himself could take no action toward the betterment of conditions in the penitentiary, a declaration to which Mrs. Elizabeth W. Quereau, president of the civil service commission, took exception.

Colonel Hamrock, it was said informally, would be given virtually absolute control in managing the prison for three to six months, but the exising administration is not to be disturbed in its official capacity. Warden Francis E. Crawford is to retain supervision of the institution and William Green, deputy warden, the target of much criticism from the convicts, is not to be removed.

Hamrock's title will be special deputy warden. In order to facilitate the work of reorganization, which is to include hiring when feasible, ex-service men and others with military experience as guards, the board of corrections will purchase 1800 acres of farm land four miles east of Canon City, on which to quarter and work the more orderly convicts. A new cell house is in the process of construction.

DRINK WATER IF BACK OR KIDNEYS HURT

Too much rich food forms acids which excite and overwork the kidneys in their efforts to filter it from the system. Flush the kidneys occasionally to relieve them like you relieve the bowels, removing acids, waste and poison, else you may feel a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, the stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get irritated, obliging one to get up two or three times during the night.

To help neutralize these irritating acids and flush off the body's urinous waste, begin drinking water. Also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine and bladder disorders disappear.

This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys and stop bladder irritation. Jad Salts is inexpensive and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to help prevent serious kidney and bladder disorders.—Adv.

TIN PAIL BOOZE STORY SHOCKS

Minnesota Solon's Charge Creates Sensation

MINNEAPOLIS, Feb. 6. (INS)—The charge of former Congressman J. Adam Bede of Minnesota that guests at a farewell banquet to the late "Uncle Joe" Cannon, held in Washington in June, 1922, were served liquor in tin pails, created a sensation here today.

The charge was hurled during a debate between the former congressman and W. G. Calderwood, veteran Minneapolis prohibition leader. They argued on the merits of the 18th amendment and the Volstead act before a packed gallery attending the Minneapolis Voters' association meeting in Elks club.

"I attended a farewell party tendered 'Uncle Joe' Cannon shortly before he left Washington in 1922 and whisky was carried into the banquet hall in tin pails," the former congressman from the Duluth district asserted.

"Why don't prohibition officers dry up the District of Columbia?" Bede shouted. "That little strip of the United States is the wettest spot on the earth.

"I have attended a dozen banquets in the city of Washington where you could have anything you wanted to drink. At each party there was a room full of liquor to which any guest had access. Dry up the District of Columbia, then try and enforce the dry law over the country.

"I defy President Hoover and Andrew Mellon, secretary of the treasury, to make the district bone dry. I don't believe they can do it. At the same time, remember that law and order in the district are right under Mr. Hoover's thumb."

Cotton Acreage Campaign Planned

JACKSON, Miss., Feb. 6. (AP)—Within the next two weeks, data will be laid before every farmer in the South designed to show that the maintenance of the 1929 cotton acreage in 1930 will result in continued agricultural depression and threatened economic catastrophe, according to plans shaped here today by the cotton acreage reduction committee of the American Cotton Cooperative association.

The committee voted to undertake an intensive educational campaign through the several southern states after Carl Williams, cotton member of the federal farm board, announced yesterday that he considered anything in excess of 40,000,000 acres of American cotton as crossing "the danger line."

Prohibition Saves 25,000 Lives, Claim

EVANSTON, Ill., Feb. 6. (UP)—Prohibition has saved at least 25,000 lives that would have been lost had pre-prohibition alcoholism death rates continued, according to data at the national headquarters of the Women's Christian Temperance union made public today.

The data, covering alcoholism mortality in 45 states from 1910 to 1928 inclusive, came from the U. S. bureau of census.

Alcoholism killed 4,627 persons in the United States last year, the figures show. This is a death rate of 4 per 100,000 as compared with a death rate of 6.6 per 100,000 in 1916—the year the W. C. T. U. calls "the height of the saloon era."

FLOYD COLLINS RESCUER SLAIN

Special Investigator Silent After Killing

HARRISBURG, Ill., Feb. 6. (UP)—Elmer Hayes, 45, a miner employed at Peabody Mine No. 47, was shot and killed by Charles Grace, local investigator for subdistrict 11 of the United Mine Workers of America shortly before noon today.

The shooting took place in the offices here of James B. Lewis, counsel for subdistrict 11.

A blanket of silence shrouds the mysterious shooting.

Grace refused to make a statement after he was taken into custody by Sheriff Thomas J. Cain. Lewis, in whose offices the killing took place, also would not talk. Hayes never recovered consciousness and died five minutes after being shot.

Hayes was one of the men who helped retrieve the body of Floyd Collins from Sandstone cave in Kentucky several years ago when the brave, vain fight against death made by the man whose leg was pinned under a huge boulder aroused the sympathy of the entire world.

Sickly Run Down People Now Getting Precious Vitamins Every Day

They Are Sure They Are Getting Them the Sensible Way

Every person needs Vitamin A and D—from them comes the vitalizing substance you are supposed to get from the various foods you eat.

Half sick, run down, anemic men, women and children need them and need them badly.

If you could depend on getting these precious health promoting Vitamins in the daily food you eat—you would not have to go further.

But it is seldom done. You would have to eat a variety of foods that are Vitamin tested and that is next to impossible. An able chemist after years of experiment has taken Vitamin A and D from pure Norwegian Vitamin tested cod liver oil and put them in small sugar coated tablets—as easy to take as candy.

In two of these energy creating tablets you get the equal of one full teaspoon of pure Cod Liver Oil—almost a miracle.

You avoid the fishy taste and the repulsive smell—but you do get the Vitamins—you are sure you are getting them.

Your doctor when he tells you to take cod liver oil will tell you that he is prescribing it for the Vitamins it contains—he will tell you that the greasy oil has no value.

Now when we say to ailing people whose health is below par that they are sure of getting these Vitamins in McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Extract Tablets we are simply stating proven truth.

And when we say to your physician that for every ailment, malady or rundown condition for which he prescribes cod liver oil that McCoy's are equally as good we are making a statement of fact—if it were not true we could not publicly publish it.

So all people who are striving for robust health, for greater energy, for keen mind and more power of endurance can now get all the precious Vitamins A and D they need by taking McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Extract Tablets as directed.

Take your Vitamins straight.

And, remember also that these tablets, rich in Vitamins, work wonders with puny, frail, underweight children whose bones and teeth are not developing properly and especially is this true when there are any signs of rickets.

Ask any druggist in America for McCoy's—precious but inexpensive—take them with every assurance that they are equally as potent in Vitamins as liquid cod liver oil. 60 tablets 60 cents.—Adv.

Your joy may depend upon rich, red-blood-cells

A HEALTHY body is vigorous, strong and sound. It is man and woman's greatest asset. It demands that the red-blood-cells shall not be decreased in number.

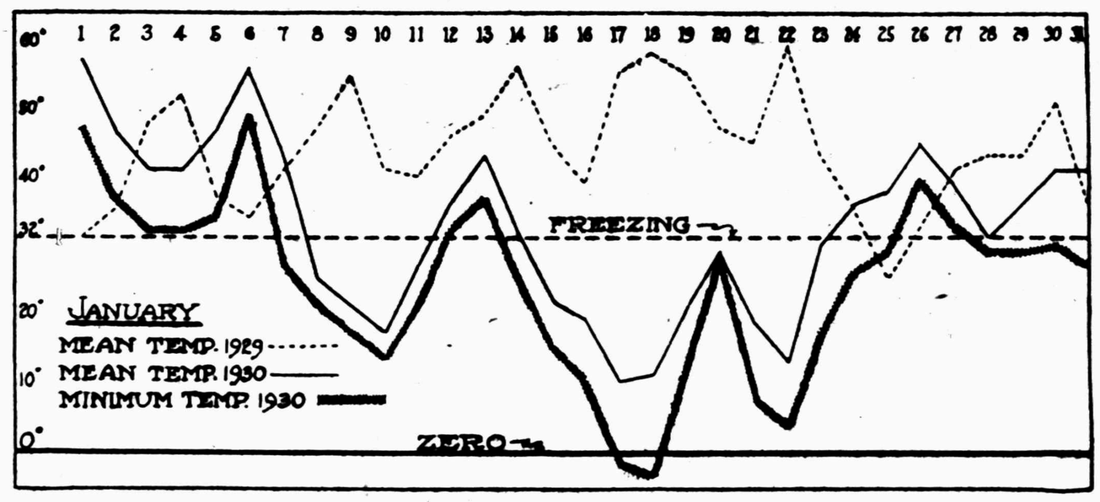

The red-blood-cells are its workers—5,000,000 to the cubic millimeter. They give to the blood its color and are carriers of nourishment to every part of the body. Rich, red blood wards off disease. It is very dangerous to let the blood count remain below normal.

With an increase in the red-blood-cells, you will be on the right road to Health. This is Nature's way to body power and to clear skin. Naturally, with your strength restored, it is easier to fight disease and infection; to enjoy your food and to sleep soundly. When firm flesh takes the place of that which was once flabby, you will feel strong—your nerves will become steady—more happiness and friends will follow.

You owe it to yourself and family to give S.S.S. a trial. It promotes healthy body building. It helps Nature build rich, red blood. For more than 100 years S.S.S. has been helping people regain and retain their strength and charm. It is made from strictly fresh vegetable drugs and is easy to assimilate.

YES . . the COLDEST Weather in 30 Years!

No one needed a thermometer to tell him that it was COLD—bitterly cold—during most of January! But it is interesting to check up after it is all over and see just how cold it was. This chart, based on temperature readings at a representative point in Lone Star territory, tells the story. Note the wide difference between January, 1930, and January, 1929. Twenty-three days this January were colder than the same days the preceding January. The average mean temperature was 33 degrees (just one degree above freezing) this year against an average mean of 45 degrees last year.

Remember, we have been referring to "mean" temperature—AVERAGE temperatures for each day. The minimum or low-point readings as shown on the chart give the LOWEST TEMPERATURES registered each day in January, 1930. Two successive days registered BELOW ZERO—January 17th, 1 degree below zero, January 18th, 3 degrees below zero. The first subzero weather in 30 years—the coldest weather since 1899! Gas heating demands SHOT UP to unprecedented heights! From a temperature standpoint, fuel requirements in January, 1930, were increased 88% over December, 1929!

14 Days Showed Mean Temperature of 32 Degrees (Freezing) or Below in January, 1930, Against Only 2 Such Days in January, 1929

Here's just another point, in passing. While, according to past experience, we'll probably not have such cold weather again for many years, yet the Lone Star Gas System must maintain capacity facilities through cold and warm weather, in winter and in summer. Millions of dollars in pipe lines and compressor stations, an army of trained, experienced men and women, must be kept functioning practically at peak capacity regardless of rapidly fluctuating gas demands. It is a duty as well as a privilege to maintain the Lone Star Gas System always at the highest point of efficiency in order that the more than a million people who depend on our lines for gas may have it regardless of weather.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Scarlet Fever

Question—Mrs. K. J. asks: "Will you kindly answer some things about scarlet fever? Is there any danger of a child taking it if he is with other children just coming down with it? How long after a child has been exposed does he come down with it? How long do scarlet fever germs live? How long should children be kept from those who have just had it?"

Answer—There is danger that a child exposed to scarlet fever will contract the disease. I would suggest an acid fruit diet for a few days to try to increase the child's immunity. Children who have the disease should be kept away from other children for from three to six weeks or longer if there is any pus discharging. The period of incubation before the disease appears is usually from two to six days.

Swallowing Glass

Question—Constant Reader asks: "What would you advise a person to do who has swallowed five pieces of glass?"

Answer—If you are the glass swallower it is probably too late for my advice to be worth anything to you. However, for others who might someday have this accident I will make the following suggestions. First, call your doctor on the telephone and get him to see you as soon as possible. Then at about the same time drink two or three glasses of milk. Try to vomit the milk if possible, but if you do not succeed in doing this the glass may become imbedded in the curds of milk and pass through without causing much harm. The doctor if called at once and told over the phone about the trouble will be able to call with the stomach pump and pump out the stomach's contents. This procedure would bring away any small pieces of glass if it is done in a short enough time after the glass has been swallowed.

CARNERA KNOCKS OUT COWBOY OWENS IN SECOND ROUND

OKLAHOMAN IS THIRD VICTIM

But He Lasted Longer Than Other Two

By GEORGE KIRKSEY
United Press Sports Writer

NEWARK ARMORY, NEWark, N. J., Feb. 6.—Primo Carnera an amazing Italian heavyweight who has captured the imagination of the American fight public as no boxer since Jack Dempsey's retirement, won his third bout in this country tonight, knocking out "Cowboy" Owens in the second round of a scheduled 10-round bout.

The end came after 23 seconds of the second round, the chief surprise of the evening being the fact that the Oklahoma heavyweight lasted throughout the first heat.

Owens, who tipped the beam at 230, compared with Carnera's 276, was smiling at the end of the first round.

Establishes Record

He had established a new American record by lasting one full session with the Gargantuan Gondolier, and the crowd of 7,500 capacity for the smoky armory, cheered the Indian as he went to his corner.

Carnera, whose purse was held up in Chicago last Friday because he flattened helpless Elzear Rioux in 47 seconds, allowed his third American victim to last until the bell called them to action for the second round.

Then the Italian began his barrage of lefts and rights, and the "cowboy" paled and wilted under the fire, going down for the count after 23 seconds of hammering.

Owens solved the problem of staying at least a round with the six-foot-six Italian by diving into clinches, and beating upon the barrel-like ribs of the Venetian.

If anything, the Oklahoman had the better of the opening heat, but when the second started it was obvious that Carnera had just been bidding his time.

Starts Real Battle

Stepping out from his corner like a lightweight at the start of the second round, Carnera had his opponent helpless in jig time. The Italian's previous American performances had been the defeat of Big Boy Peterson of New Orleans in one minute and 10 seconds, and of Rioux in 47 seconds at Chicago.

There was a broad smile on the milk chocolate colored countenance of the "cowboy" at the end of his successful first round, but a left hook to the nose wiped off the smile and took most of the color from his face.

By this time, Carnera was flailing away with both hands, just as he did in disposing of Peterson and Rioux. A tremendous ham-like right staggered Owens, and a left sent him spinning back in the other direction.

The finishing blow was a right cross to the jaw and the dusky Oklahoman went sprawling to the canvas, where he was counted out.

He had established two records, as a matter of fact, having lasted one full round and having been down but once. Each of Carnera's previous victims were bounced up and down five times before staying on the canvas for the count.

Longhorns Meet S. M. U., Upsetters Of 1929 Race, Tonight

Plucky Girl Wins Tank Title

This 18-year-old Chicago swimmer once was told she might not walk again because of injuries received in an automobile crash. Four years later she held high national swimming honors.

By PAUL R. MICKELSON
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

CHICAGO, Feb. 6.—A lesson in pluck is behind the swimming and diving records of shapely Jane Fauntz of the Illinois Women's Athletic club.

Eighteen-year-old Jane knows how to win because she learned how to persevere.

She has made better than world record time in the 100-yard breast stroke event.

In 1929 she won the national low board diving contest in addition to the breast stroke.

When 14, Miss Fauntz was destined for stardom in swimming. An automobile accident left her with a broken arm and an injured spine.

Jane wouldn't swim any more; she might not walk. And the physicians shook their heads. The swimming coaches also shook their heads.

But the little girl recovered locomotion. In less than a year she was back in the tank. The broken right arm, however, would not pull as evenly, nor as powerfully, as the left.

Through long painstaking hours of exercise, Jane developed powerful leg strokes and body movements.

To give versatility to her long periods of practice, Jane resumed diving, a branch of aquatics she had abandoned for the breast stroke events. Her diving improved, and soon she was speeding through the water at record time.

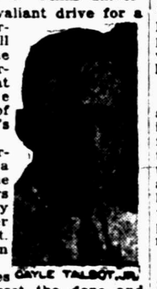

Jane will take a recess in her work at the Chicago art institute in March to compete in the breast stroke and diving contests at the A. U. U. meet in Florida.

ORANGE CAGERS ARE FAVORITES

But Defeat Likely Would Cost Championship

By GAYLE TALBOT JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS, Feb. 6.—Texas university, making a valiant drive for a Southwest conference basket ball title, meets the team here tomorrow night that knocked the Longhorns out of a tie in last year's scramble.

As on that former occasion a year ago, the Orange basketeers will be top-heavy favorites over Coach Jimmy St. Clair's Southern Methodist five.

If the Ponies should again upset the dope and win, there is reason to believe the 1930 race will end just as did the 1929 marathon, with Arkansas beating the Longhorns to the tape by a half-game. The decisive manner in which the Razorbacks romped upon Baylor in last week's series at Waco made it look very doubtful that the champions would drop any of their remaining six games.

One thing is certain: The Texas five will not be sneaked up on tomorrow night. Last year, with Holly Brock going like a prairie fire, the Longhorns were over-confident when they came here to tackle the supposedly inferior Ponies. That costly loss taught them plenty. The team which Coach Walker says is stronger than last year, despite the loss of Brock, will be bearing down every minute against the Methodists.

Saturday night the Orange hoopsters are due to meet Francis Schmidt's Texas Christian university five at Fort Worth. The Frogs, fresh from an impressive victory over Baylor, figure to give the Longhorns a closer scrap than the Mustangs. Schmidt, reports say, has abandoned his delayed offense and has his team breaking fast. Captain Eury of the Frogs is leading the conference's individual scores.

Aggies Meet Rice

An engagement between the Aggies and Rice Saturday night at Houston completes the week's schedule. Rice holds a 23 to 17 decision over the Farmers in a previous bout at College Station.

Arkansas, out in front and each week looking more like the outfit that has won four straight titles, has no conference tilts scheduled, but will tackle the Oklahoma Aggies Friday and Saturday at Stillwater in practice affairs. Baylor takes a rest.

If they can get over this week's hump, the Longhorns will stand a fine chance of going through the remainder of their schedule without a reverse. They will play all but one of their remaining games at home, where they are hard to lick. They close the season against the Aggies at College Station.

The standing:

Team	Won	Lost	Pct.
Arkansas	5	1	.833
Texas	4	1	.800
Texas A. & M.	3	2	.600
T. C. U.	3	4	.429
S. M. U.	2	3	.400
Rice	2	4	.333
Baylor	1	5	.183

Promoter of Caterpillar Races Goes to Chicago

CHICAGO, Feb. 6. (UP)—Another sport promoter arrived in Chicago tonight to give Jack Dempsey, Nate Lewis and other magnates of the sporting world some competition. His card read:

"C. J. Gathercoal,
"Caterpillar race promoter
"Selma, Alabama."

Gathercoal said he believed Chicago would provide an excellent field for the thrilling caterpillar races he intended to promote. The races are very popular among the sporting bloods of his home town, said Gathercoal, and should be even more popular here because Gathercoal himself is prepared to furnish the worms.

"Down home the boys have to furnish their own caterpillars," he said.

The Rambler's Corner

By FRED D. THOMPSON

Our Junior chamber of commerce an array of hearty young men, is coming to the aid of the languishing basket ball fans of Wichita Falls. It is sponsoring, in its 1930 program, a Municipal Athletic club, which would house an indoor basket ball court.

It is our opinion that those who say Wichita Falls is not interested in basket ball are wandering afar from the truth. It is interested in this sport to the extent that for the last five years the hoopsters among our young business men have formed City leagues, and waged battle through the season preparing for the annual state tournament.

This year, for the first time in five years, we have no league. And the reason is the lack of an indoor court.

The Junior c-c now rushes into the fray with this in mind: to raise an amount of money sufficient to build an athletic club, a sum estimated at from $12,000 to $15,000. They will not have to worry about a place to build it. The city has furnished that—it has offered a site across from the Memorial auditorium. In addition, it has agreed that if the club is built, it will take charge of it and run it economically. The result would be that in a few years the club would be paid for and yielding revenue, to say nothing of the improvement in the general health that would ensue. Bookkeepers would grow manly, bank clerks would bulge with stern muscles, and editorial writers could go home and once and for all smash the medicine chest. The populace, we deem, is yearning for exercise, and basket ball is gradually becoming their grand passion.

With a good court built, the resumption of City league play would come, and a team could be sent to the state tournament each year to represent us. As it is, Tom Vague, of the F. H. V. Travelers, a local independent group of cagers, says that the only way in sight for this city to have representation at the state tourney at San Antonio March 14 and 15 is for the team to pay its own expenses, a plan not likely to work out.

In Tom's eye the situation here is fast becoming an affront to a basket ball team's honor. The Travelers, he says, have received many invitations to play in other Texas cities, all of which have been turned down because of a lack of a court on which to practice, and the lack of money.

At present the team is practicing and playing its games on the Junior college court, a plan that is reported to be unsatisfactory in certain quarters. This handicap would be overcome by the Junior chamber of commerce's plan of building the municipal club on city-owned property, and we hope the plan materializes.

The school children of the city likewise need a court, it has been pointed out. The lack of adequate courts is held responsible for the lethargic interest taken in the sport by school and college pupils here. The Municipal court, if built, could, at certain times, be turned over to the use of school children, and the interest in the sport could thereby be revived.

Here's the latest Aireyism that Guy got off up at the Spudder office yesterday, when he accidentally flicked cigaret ashes all over a gentleman caller's trousers: "Oh, pardon me," says he, "you may be the world to your mother, but you look like an ash tray to me."

Prexy Huff, discussing the baseball situation this year, indicated Thursday that one or two more pitchers will be added to the Spudder staff this season. Wiltse and Steengrafe are back, of course, but more strength is needed, the president believes. Especially does the club need one or two pitchers who are well versed and reliable, he said. Should the club decide to add the new material, it will be along in March, after training starts before it would forage around the various clubs looking for prospects, and among the hurlers to be examined would be those in the Milwaukee and St. Louis camps, Prexy Huff said.

COYOTES MEET LIONS TONIGHT

Vernon Team Plays Pack On Local Court

By JACK ALLEN
The Record News Staff

Enthusiasm is running high in the corridors of the local high school as the moment draws near when the local Coyotes will clash with the Vernon High school Lions on the local court Friday night. The two teams are bitter rivals in any sport and a thrilling, sensational game is predicted. Thursday's assembly resolved itself into a pep meeting for the coming fray and a large turnout is expected.

Coach Binnion and Weir's Lions have been going at a terrific pace for the last week and will invade the land of the Coyote with the determination to avenge an 18 to 15 defeat plastered on them by Coach Holton's charges recently. Short shots and passing have occupied the practice sessions in the steady grind of preparation. A hard workout Wednesday topped off by a hard scrimmage against the yannigans put the regulars in fine shape and ready for the tricks that the Coyotes are expected to dish up.

Emerick Leads Lions

Captain Emerick, elongated center, continues to be the mainstay of the Lion offense. He is fast and is always there on the defense as well as hitting the iron circle from all parts of the floor. Shorty Wall, guard, also looms as particularly good, both on the defense and on the scoring side. Nixon, versatile sharpshooter and occupant of one forward hole, is a good man to have around when the score is close. Capable reserve material is not lacking and if the regulars can't deliver the goods, the yannigans will be given a chance. Baird and Judd, along with Cox and Phillips form the reserve material and seem fully capable of handling regular jobs in a satisfactory way. The Lions loom as the best team in Wilbarger county and will probably represent that county in the district tournament which will be held here on the Feb. 21 and 22.

Coach Barry Holton's Pack also has gone through a strenuous practice session and have been looking forward to the game. A short game between the Junior college Indians and the Coyote five was the feature of the regular assembly program Thursday morning. The entire student body received a real treat by the short game. The wearers of the red and black got the jump on the collegians and held their lead all the way. Two long shots from the center of the court were good for a four point lead and the Indians awoke from their dream of victory to find themselves trailing their younger and less experienced opponents. The final score found the Coyotes leading the Indians by a score of 7 to 1.

Offense Stars

Tom Beaty and Mitenell Scarbrough are the important cogs in the Coyote offense. The former is a veteran from last season while Scarbrough hails from Oklahoma and has been in the scoring column against the best of opposition thus far. These two are expected to give the Lion defense lots of trouble in the coming game. Paul Dickey, also a vet from last year, occupies the forward position along with Scarbrough while Beaty holds the track on the running guard position. He is also a veteran of last season, but has been hampered by an injured foot incurred during football season.

Raymond Allen is having a hard fight holding the other guard position. Brandon, Howell, John Skeen form the reserve material.

The game is scheduled for 7 o'clock sharp.

CLARA QUINTET DEFEATS COYOTES

The Clara High school basket ball quintet defeated the high school Coyotes, 20 to 19, in a nip-and-tuck clash Thursday night on the Junior college court. SABE'S BIRTHDAY

Ruth, 36 Today, Is Still Hankering for $85,000 Contract

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Feb. 6. (AP)—Babe Ruth is preparing to cut himself a piece of cake tomorrow. It will not be a slice of the profits made by the New York Yankees, of which the Babe desires $85,000 a year on a three-year contract, but a slice of birthday cake.

The home-run king will be 36 years of age tomorrow. He will leave his daily rounds of golf long enough to participate in a birthday party in his honor, arranged by Adolph Grant, of New Rochelle, N. Y., a wealthy admirer of the bambino.

The Babe insists he is not worrying over the dispute about salary.

"The next move is up to Ruppert," said Ruth today. He insisted he was serious in his demands for an increase of some $15,000 per year.

Colonel Ruppert is due here next week to talk to the home-run king about salary matters.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Feb. 6 (AP)—A further decline which carried prices for all positions into new low ground for the season occurred in cotton here today, under more or less general selling promoted by weakness in foreign markets and the apparent absence of aggressive support. May contracts sold off to 15.59 or 40 points net lower and 53 points below the high price reached yesterday morning. They closed easy at 15.91 with all general market closing at 15.91 with all general market closing easy at net declines of 38 to 45 points.

The opening was barely steady at a decline of 15 to 20 points. The lowest prices were reached during the afternoon when March sold as low as 15.05 and October as low as 16.29, making net declines of 38 to 45 points on the active positions. Trade buying was more in evidence below the 16 cent level for May and showed moderate dullness although they were not maintained as the prices met increased offering which were supposed to include some cotton for southern account.

Liverpool cables attributed the decline here to continental and Bombay liquidation but said the offerings that were absorbed in covering promoted by the reduction in the bank of England rate.

Exports today 16,911; making 0,085,687 so far this season.

Port receipts 11,000; U. S. port stocks 2,582,126.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 6 (AP)—Cotton prices sagged over $2 a bale today under pressure of heavy liquidation induced by weakness in foreign markets and rather general selling which uncovered stop loss orders. Prices reached the low points in final trading. May contracts sold down to 15.68 and closed at 15.70 or 46 points net lower. The general market closed steady at net declines of 41 to 48 points.

For the remainder of the morning and into the afternoon the market declined under pressure of the heavy offerings. At the lowest March sold at 15.41 and July 15.69, or 47 to 49 points below yesterday's close. Last prices were a point or two above the lowest with March at 15.42 and July 15.91.

CHICAGO COTTON

CHICAGO, Feb. 6 (AP)—Cotton prices made new lows for the season today. Opening prices were from 13 to 19 points lower on cables which were not so good as expected and weakness in outside markets. Memorial to Dead Of Alamo May Be Built

SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 6. (AP)—A colorful memorial to the heroic dead of the Alamo may be erected in the commercial heart of the city within another year, if plans of Mayor C. M. Chambers go through.

A model of an electrical fountain to be placed in the plaza facing the Alamo has been designed by Stephen F. Austin, San Antonio sculptor, and direct descendant of the great empire builder of that name.

Mayor Chambers approved the model and said efforts would be made to raise $30,000 for its construction.

Profit Taking and Active Bear Work Closes Stocks at Lower Levels

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, Feb. 6. (US)—Profit taking and more active professional bearish operations closed the stock market lower today, in another 4,000,000 share session. Constant liquidation was influenced by the bearish rumors that were circulated industriously during the session. Offerings were taken in fairly good manner, however, and most active issues were held to comparatively small loss with the exception of Gillette which crashed 1¼ further. Some specialties moved against the main trend with Stone & Webster gaining 7⅛ for the session while Fox added 2⅜ to its climb and Detroit Edison climbed 10¼. Steel finished 1⅜ lower, while Can declined 1⅛, Simmons 3⅛, Radio 1⅛, Foreign Power 3⅜, Standard Gas 3, Columbia Gas 3, Montgomery Ward 1⅛ and Allegheny 1¼. Oils remained loggy. The call rate again eased from renewal of 4½ to 4 per cent.

Once again there were many good words passed around about the railroad shares. Lackawanna was the main favorite and "Pinochle score price forecasts" were revived by its boosters. Erie, Atchison, Missouri Pacific and Alleghany were others mentioned. The last named continued to reflect the pool operations and its activity would have been more inspiring if it were not for the obvious indications that some important people were taking advantage of the momentary cheerfulness to pass on stock they had to take during the year-end break. Pennroad also came in for bullish work. Favorable outlook for the Pennsylvania, New Haven and other roads in which it is interested was stressed. Some operators, however, made the mistake of mentioning its plans for activity in commercial aviation as a bull point. Such talk at this time does not have a bullish effect for as Loree once said: "T. A. T. means take a train."

Considerable buying was kept out of the market and some added liquidation made its appearance because of bearish rumors that came over the brokerage wires from the South. It was stated that the professionals vacationing there figured the recovery had gone far enough for the time being and were resuming bearish activity. At the same time the wires contained dire forebodings as to a "bearish forecast" by the Boston economist who is also "vacationing" in Florida. His last bearish blast fell rather flat as did his bullish prognostication on the Coppers.

Selling from the South was emphasized most in Gillette and talk of competition was spread more industriously. Steel remained the outstanding hope of the bulls with opinions expressed that continuance of current favorable rate of operations would bring another increase in dividend before the end of the year. At the present time the management is giving most thought to retiring balance of subsidiary debt, however, so that melons, extra disbursements or recapitalization probably will wait on conclusion of such program. Quiet absorption is reported in American tobacco and others of the Tobacco group. There was rumor of "special activity" being planned in American International but inquiry indicated that insiders were satisfied to simply sit with their position and watch for the market for awhile longer.

As expected the Bank of England reduced its rate. The federal reserve board immediately granted the necessary authorization for the local bank to put its rate on a 4 per cent basis. Chicago and some other districts should do likewise soon but those representing agricultural communities may maintain the higher rate in as much as the present policy of the money powers apparently is to keep funds away from stock speculation as much as possible without interfering with international affairs. The increase in loans of $37,000,000 was about as anticipated. If it were to have an effect it should be bullish in as much as it reflects increased public interest in dealings. There can be a further huge increase before the loan report again becomes a bearish factor in the stock market.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Feb. 6. (AP)—Big buying for previous speculative sellers turned wheat futures deliveries sharply upward today after the market had divided below bottom price records for the season. The sudden switching to buying appeared due to belief that definite steps toward establishment of a wheat stabilization corporation would speedily be announced.

A stimulating factor was that any losses of the proposed corporation could be met by federal farm board funds and not by assessments on stockholders of the stabilization corporation.

Chicago closing prices today for wheat were firm, 1¼@1½c to 1½@1⅝c a bushel higher than yesterday's finish. Corn closed ¼ to ⅝c to ⅝c up, oats ⅛@⅜c to ⅜@½c advanced, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 12c.

Corn and oats paralleled the action of wheat. Some buying of corn was due to Peoria advices that movement of the corn crop is likely to be disappointing, and that country roads are breaking up fast.

Provisions rose on account of commission house buying of lard and because of upturns in the value of hogs.

RECEIPTS OF POULTRY GAIN

Butterfat Prices Advance Two Cents

Marked increase in the movement of poultry during the past 10 days has resulted in unusually heavy shipment of dressed birds for this season, according to statements of local buyers Thursday.

Heavy marketing of chickens has been recorded in outlying portions of this territory, however, rather than in the immediate vicinity of Wichita Falls. Since Jan. 25, approximately 10,000 pounds of chickens have been dressed daily at the Armour plant, and the major part of this stock has come from Memphis, Quitaque, Crowell, Clarendon, Munday, Graham and Henrietta, and from Oklahoma counties along Red river. A large part of the annual crop of chickens raised in this community, it was said, is marketed as broilers and fryers, while in much of the contributing territory chickens are retained to sell as hens. Birds now being marketed average from 4 to 5 pounds each, it was said.

In Oklahoma, in the vicinity of Altus and Elk City, unusually large numbers of chickens are being marketed daily, two plants in Altus having heavy deliveries.

Production of eggs has increased rapidly during the recent warm days. It was said that the price of 28 cents now offered would probably drop to 25 by Saturday.

Butterfat price on cream Thursday was 33 cents, a gain of two cents in the past few days. Much of the surplus of butter reported a month ago has been worked out, it was stated. Retail prices remained at near 50 cents.

Wheat dropped Thursday to 90 cents per bushel on No. 1 hard, the lowest figure quoted in several months.

ROAD CREWS RESUME WORK

State Pushes Construction Of New Paving

Completion of hard-surfaced roads from the Wilbarger county line to Crowell, from the Archer county line to Seymour, and from the Baylor county line to Throckmorton comprise the construction program now being resumed on the highways in this district, according to D. M. Puckett, division engineer for the state highway department.

Up until Thursday morning, most automobiles passing over the road to Seymour received help from a highway department crew in getting over the detour near Maybelle, it was said. Two days of sunshine took up enough of the moisture to permit dragging for the removal of high-centers Thursday however, and the road was said to offer little trouble to motorists. Equipment is now being limbered up for the resumption of work on that section, Mr. Puckett said, dependent upon continued fair weather.

Work began last week in Throckmorton county on the road leading to Seymour. That highway will be of crushed rock base, with heavy asphalt surface. All grading and bridge work was finished several weeks ago. It was said that completion of the Throckmorton county strip will require most of the coming summer. The road from the Throckmorton line to Seymour has been paved for some time, and Mr. Puckett predicted that the strip from Seymour to the Archer county line will be open to traffic by June 15.

Two concrete mixers are now stationed on the highway between Vernon and Crowell, expecting to resume laying of pavement next week. It is expected that traffic will be admitted to the new road there by the first of June.

Completion of shoulders paralleling the new Archer-Young counties highway, on a small portion of the road in each county, represents the only highway work now under contract in this district. Letting of other contracts within the next 30 days was predicted.

STATE ENGINEERS TOUR WICHITA HIGHWAYS

L. A. Fletcher, equipment engineer, and J. B. Early, maintenance engineer, both of the state highway department, were in this city Thursday on routine inspection of highways in this district.

On the present tour, Mr. Early has given most of his time to investigation of damage to highways caused by the severe weather experienced in January. In this section of the state, he stated, the damage has proven to be merely nominal, due to the high grade type of roads recently constructed throughout the area. Where light surfaces of asphalt have been used to prolong the life of older highways, he said, considerable buckling and cracking resulted from the freeze.

Maintenance forces of the state highway department are being utilized more and more, according to Mr. Early, to keep the highways open to necessary travel, such as rural mail delivery, in all kinds of weather. Uninterrupted delivery of mail to rural districts is becoming one of the chief objectives of that department, he stated.

Industrial Census Headquarters Open

Headquarters for the distribution and manufactures census for the United States department of commerce has been established in the Perkins-Snider building, Ninth and Indiana, according to Thomas L. Ball, supervisor for this district.

Compilation of returns for all retail and wholesale dealers in Wichita and surrounding counties, except those in cities of 10,000 or more population, will begin this week, Mr. Ball said. Forms to be used in taking the census are expected to arrive Friday, having been shipped several days ago.

Fourteen men will be engaged in completing the census in this district, with the expectation of finishing the work by March 15, it was stated.

SUPPORT FOR DAIRIES URGED

Wichita C-C Sends Message To Farm Board

Aid of the federal farm board in promoting the increased use of dairy products particularly butter, as a means of further stabilizing the dairy industry in this section of the country is being asked by the board of directors of the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce, according to information given The Record News Thursday.

Resolutions asking such aid, it was said, are based upon conditions resulting from emphasis placed upon milk and butter production in recent years without corresponding efforts to increase the consumption of such products. Proper education in the superior nutritive qualities of milk and butter, it was pointed out, would occasion an equality of supply and consumption.

Other chambers of commerce in this section of the country have adopted similar resolutions, according to O. K. Barnes, of the chamber of commerce. The resolution adopted Wednesday and forwarded to the federal farm board follows:

"Whereas, the dairy development in the South, which has brought a considerable degree of prosperity to many communities, is seriously handicapped at this time by a low consumption of dairy products, especially butter, which has resulted in an oversupply of butter and cream in cold storage, and the demoralization of the butter market with sharp declines in the price of cream for manufacturing purposes, and,

"Whereas, this decline in prices has been caused by a nation-wide movement to encourage the increased production of milk without a corresponding effort to increase the consumption of milk products, and,

"Whereas, the future prosperity of agriculture in this, as well as other sections of the South, depends on the welfare of, and profit derived from our dairy farms; therefore, be it

"Resolved, that the board of directors of the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce request the federal farm board, through its appropriate department, to establish a "National Butter Week" in which shall be emphasized the value of butter and other dairy products as a food, and encourage the people generally to use more butter; and further, to assist in the establishment of some permanent agency for the promotion of the increased use of dairy products."

Musical and Literary "High Hatting" Absent in "Connecticut Yankee"

Modernization of Mark Twain's famous novel, "A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court," for the musical comedy to be presented at the Memorial auditorium next Tuesday night will not be limited to the provision of thoroughly modern music for its lyrics.

Dramatizations of Mark's story have always brought its presentation strictly up to date without sacrificing the setting and traditional speech of sixth century England. The Field-Rodgers-Hart version, the one to be shown here, being the latest will, accordingly be more strictly modernized than former adaptations of the piece.

Complete freedom of "The Yankee" from any pretense at musical or literary high-hatting is evidenced by its generous inclusion of the latest slang in humorous combination with the measured, euphonious oral delivery of King Arthur's day. It will even include a dozen or more puns—of better sort. The ancient British castles will find themselves advanced 1400 years through the installation of telephones, radio, and telescopes, and King Arthur will go by motor with the energetic Yankee to Kiwanis and Rotary club meetings—all in Camelot.

Without relating that the story provides culmination to a romance in its last chapter, which always is taken for granted, it may be narrated that a love-triangle precipitates the entire tale. Found by the girl who had the desired money in the arms of the girl he loved, the Yankee, played by Richard Lane, is relieved by a well-swung bottle of further embarrassment. He awakens in the land of Lancelot and soon Guienevere, only to find himself soon between two feminine fires. Battling with modern accoutrement against Merlin's sorcery and the amorous designs of Morgan le Fay, the Yankee quite completely revolutionizes social and military procedure in that section of the country.

Lyrics and libretto of the coming production have been widely acclaimed by critics as filled with good-natured, every day fun, rather than aspiring to pretentious musical scores and carefully-knit narrative.

Sale of seats for the "Yankee" opened at the Renfro Drug store, Eighth and Scott, Thursday morning.

Federal Agents Raid Young Still

One man is under arrest and a 50 gallon still, 600 gallons of mash and other liquor making equipment, have been confiscated as the result of a federal raid in Young county, north of Farmer, according to information from the office of Deputy Marshal J. T. Bentley Thursday afternoon. Charges are to be filed against the prisoner before United States Commissioner J. A. Lantz.

The copper still was uncovered in the woods near Farmer. A dozen 55 gallon fermenters, coils, worms and fruit jars were among the equipment seized. The raid was conducted by federal agents with headquarters here.

Rotary Club Hears Talk by County Agent

Development of demonstration work for farmers to an institution of national scope, and many phases of the current program of work in Wichita county, were discussed before the Rotary club at the Kemp hotel Thursday, noon by G. C. McGown, county farm demonstrator.

Aid of this type for farmers originated 26 years ago in Texas, the speaker said, and has spread to all parts of the United States and parts of Europe as a standard community service. Among the accomplishments of the local county farm agent's department, Mr. McGown named raising of sugar beets, poisoning of cotton for the leaf-worm, organization of boys clubs, cow testing, bull-circles, marketing and terracing.

R. E. Shepherd led a sing song, with Mrs. Shepherd at the piano. The program was arranged by the rural-urban committee.
