Identity of the winners in the "Mr. and Miss SHS" contest was not revealed until envelopes containing election results were opened by T. D. Wiman Jr. at the climax of the coronation ceremony.

Escape Of Lumumba, Two Aides Reported

ELISABETHVILLE, the Congo (AP)—The Katanga government announced today that it had blocked all roads leading from the province.

Lumumba previously had been reported in a prison at Jadoville, 65 miles northwest of Elisabethville, to which he had been moved under heavy guard from Thysville Military Camp outside Leopoldville on Jan. 18.

But the Katanga government today said he and his associates escaped from a farmhouse near Kasaji, which is about 80 miles from the Angola border, on a highway leading across the frontier.

Munongo said the two other prisoners who escaped with Lumumba were Col. Joseph Okito and Maurice Mpolo.

Munongo said the two other prisoners who escaped with Lumumba were Col. Joseph Okito and Maurice Mpolo.

Outside Katanga government circles, the announcement of Lumumba's escape was taken with some skepticism.

Rumors have circulated in Katanga, Leopoldville, Brussels and at the U. N. headquarters in New York that Lumumba has been killed. U. N. officials and newsmen have been putting pressure on Katanga officials for proof that the ex-premier is still alive.

One diplomat, hearing of the escape report, commented that this would be excellent preparation for an announcement later that Lumumba and those with him had died, or been killed, while trying to flee the country.

Moscow Radio said the report that Lumumba had fled may be a smokescreen to cover up his assassination and added he may already be dead. Lumumba has enjoyed Soviet support ever since the Congo won independence from Belgium last July.

Keeping Lumumba under confinement has been one of the major headaches of the central Congo government in Leopoldville since his ouster as Premier by Maj. Gen. Joseph Mobutu last fall.

He was put under house arrest in September. For weeks he remained in the official premier's mansion in Leopoldville, guarded by U. N. troops from Ghana who protected him against being arrested on a warrant issued by Congo President Joseph Kasavubu.

Health Plan Needs Time, Kennedy Told

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Kennedy administration may have to call in a new ally—to get its controversial Social Security-based health program through Congress.

This is the advice being given President Kennedy, it was learned today, by legislative leaders friendly to his program.

The health care plan for aged persons that Kennedy proposed Thursday faces almost all the opposition that kept a similar proposal from getting off the ground last year. But time is working in the administration's favor, and another year may make the difference.

Kennedy has called for legislative action this year, so that hospital, clinic and nursing home benefits would be available in 1963. But he has also called urgently for action on several other proposals which must start with the same committee that handles Social Security matters—the House Ways and Means Committee.

Without going out of its way to delay the health care proposal, the committee could very well keep busy enough on other administration legislation so that the showdown vote on health care would not come until next year's session.

At the administration's specific request, the committee is giving first priority to emergency extension of unemployment benefits and on Wednesday opens hearings on this bill and a companion measure benefiting children of unemployed parents. The Democratic leadership hopes to bring these bills to the House for action this month.

The bill was needed as a way to hike Texas firemen's wages, which, they said, are the lowest in the nation.

The only opposition to the bill came from Dr. James H. McCrackin, mayor of Kingsville and president of the Texas Municipal League. He called the measure an "election every Saturday bill" which would increase municipal employees' wages to the point where they take 50 per cent of local tax revenues.

Ballman said his committee definitely will consider some changes in the probe group's rules, but "as to what those changes will be I am not prepared to say."

"The first thing on the agenda is to get the committee together and discuss future activities and the feasibility of same while the Legislature is in session," Ballman said. He also is chairman of the Revenue and Taxation Committee.

The committee was reconstituted and set up to serve until the beginning of the 58th Legis-

Plane Incident Is Probed By French

PARIS (AP)—The government today termed French air force interception of Soviet President Leonid Brezhnev's plane a regrettable incident and promised an investigation.

Lower level officials in Algiers charged a jet fighter fired warning shots at the plane over the Mediterranean Thursday because the Soviets violated flight plans. The Soviet Embassy in Rabat, Morocco, replied today that the French charges were pure invention.

The Foreign Ministry issued a statement saying an investigation of the "regrettable incident" had been ordered.

The spokesman would make no further comment but it appeared the government here viewed the incident far more seriously than did French authorities in Algeria.

There was general agreement that the incident took place in the early afternoon in sunny skies when the Soviet Ilyushin 18 turbo-prop was flying over the Mediterranean en route to Rabat.

A French twin-jet Vulture fighter fired warning tracer bursts ahead of the plane. It was one of three sent out, said French officials in Algiers.

Algerian military authorities today issued a communique charging that the Soviet plane was flying south of its announced route in an irregular manner which "made verification necessary."

The Algerian communique also accused the Soviets of violating custom by failing to notify the French that Brezhnev was aboard.

Warning bursts were fired only because the Soviets violated regulations by refusing to make radio contact with the intercepting fighters, the communique said.

A Soviet communique issued in Rabat, Morocco, where Brezhnev stopped on the way to an official visit to Guinea, said the four-engine turbo-prop plane messaged Algerians when the first French Vulture fighter jet appeared.

The message asked Algiers to recall its plane, the message was acknowledged, and the shooting was broken off, the communique said.

The two communiques disagreed about the flight plan submitted in advance.

The French said the announced itinerary was along the 38th Parallel, "that is, 140 kilometers (87 miles) north of Algeria" and "respected scrupulously the rules of air flight instituted by the French government in its zone of responsibility."

"But for reasons unknown," the communique added, "the plane followed a route far to the south and found itself by this fact in a dangerous zone from which it was necessary to make it leave."

Had the Soviets made radio contact, they would have been given instructions on a route to follow, the French communique added.

The Soviet communique quoted the Soviet pilot as saying he was following a route previously communicated to the French 130 kilometers (80 miles) north of Algiers when the incident took place.

"It is necessary to specify that radio contacts with the Algerian radio station directed by the air services had been established before the appearance of the French fighter and before it had buzzed the Ilyushin 18," the communique added.

The 80-mile zone off Algeria is covered by French air and sea forces to head off arms shipments to the Algerian nationalist rebels.

Thursday's incident puts a new strain on Soviet-French relations, already tense because of Moscow's support of the Algerian rebels.

The French communique bore out the original protest by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko in Moscow that the plane's flight plan had been sent before-hand to the French government.

Coup de Force, director of information in Algeria, had said the plane did not possess any international flight plan.

Gromyko and the Soviet press called the incident "an act of international banditry carried out by the French armed forces."

Goldberg Begins Employment Study

By NORMAN WALKER
WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg leaves today on a three-day mission for President Kennedy to survey unemployment trouble spots in five states.

Goldberg, 52, had Chicago, Gary, South Bend, Lansing and Detroit on his first day schedule.

The Labor Secretary said that with half the nation's major industrial centers now classified as depressed, meaning a jobless rate of 6 per cent or more, he wants to talk over the problem with state officials, businessmen and labor leaders, and field workers and their families.

Before taking off to inspect key communities in an area containing about a third of the nation's total 5,385,000 industrial workers, Goldberg said from all indications the situation is growing worse.

The Labor Secretary said he intends to explain Kennedy's $1.2 billion emergency aid program for the unemployed, along with other administration plans designed to reverse the economic downturn and restore full employment.

A major purpose of the inspection tour, one of a planned series, is to show the degree of unemployment in large cities as contrasted with that in better-known chronic trouble spots such as West Virginia and eastern Pennsylvania.

Support for this view came in new data released by the Labor Department Thursday. It showed an employment decline of nearly 900,000 from a year ago in the nation's factories, most of them located in or near metropolitan areas.

Such cities as Philadelphia,

Cleveland, Baltimore, Los Angeles, St. Louis, Kansas City and Newark are among 25 major industrial areas just added to the list.

Detroit, the auto center where Goldberg stops tonight, showed an idle rating of nearly 12 per cent in the new Labor Department ratings. The Goldberg inspection party will go to Columbus, Ohio, Saturday, and to Pittsburgh Sunday.

The committee includes two members of the previous probe group that drew wide attention with sensational hearings on alleged vice and official misconduct in Amarillo, Port Arthur and Beaumont. The first meeting was originally set for today or Saturday.

Rep. Ballman said the organizational meeting had to be postponed because two members had to leave town. Rep. Bill Hollowell of Grand Saline had to go home because of illness in the family, Ballman said. He said he did not know which of the five-man committee's other members had left.

Members of the House Revenue and Taxation Committee are preparing for a busy week. Three days of public hearings will be held next week on bills either to raise new tax money or tighten existing tax laws.

The House and Senate adjourned until 11 a.m. Monday.

A subcommittee of the House is studying a bill (HR14) by Rep. Bob Hughes of Dallas to allow city governments and firemen to settle their disputes by arbitration. If arbitration failed, an issue could be submitted for a decision by the voters.

Guns Taken By Burglars

White's Pawn and Loan Shop, 2325 Avenue R, was burglarized Thursday night with 4 guns and an undetermined number of shells, rings and watches reported missing.

Investigating officers found the building had been entered through the back door after the haps had been pulled off. Also a window had been broken and the metal frame and screws taken off a trailer house behind the building.

Missing from the store were 22 and 25 caliber ammunition, rings and watches, while a .410 gauge shotgun, a .35 caliber automatic Astra, a .22 Astra pistol, and a 22 High Standard 9-shot were taken from the trailer house.

Snow Buries Automobiles

Nearly half that much—$20 million—has been spent so far simply in the exorbitant task of removing the snow that has imprisoned the metropolis. For the first time in history, ordinary traffic has been banned from the streets.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A covered doorman, in rubber boots and ear muffs, stood in front of a Manhattan apartment house, and looked along the street at the eight-foot-high ridges of snow on either side.

Beneath were rows of entombed automobiles.

"I've never seen anything like it," he said.

Neither, in a long span of memory, had many other New Yorkers. They, along with the rest of the heavily populated Northeast, have been buffeted by one of the harshest winters on record.

It has taken a shuddering toll, in financial losses, life and discomfort.

The massive volume of the snow itself—52.7 inches so far this season in New York—already exceeded the entire total for any winter in 39 years, with the exception of the 63.5 inches of 1947-'48.

And in some metropolitan areas, including adjacent New Jersey, even that all-time peak already surpassed by an overwhelming 88.8 inches.

Past records also toppled in Pennsylvania, where Harrisburg has sunk under a cumulative 67 inches of snow so far, more than in any other whole winter. One after another, for two months, the snows have come.

Coupled with the snow, 19 days of it in seven major downfalls during the last two months, have come relentless stretches of biting cold.

From the Carolinas northward, and even in Georgia, temperatures generally have been below average—by 4 degrees or more.

The 16 days of subfreezing temperatures that preceded last weekend's snowstorm was the longest period of such frigid readings ever recorded in the annals of the New York Weather Bureau. It equaled the 1918 record in Boston.

Winchester, in northern Virginia, has had 60 inches of snow this winter—an all-time record.

This winter in Norfolk, Va., was the coldest since the turn of the century. Temperatures in December and January averaged 35.7, compared to the record winter of 1917-18, which averaged 32.7.

Seldom in known history has the northeastern United States taken such a climatic pummeling—in crippled transportation, disrupted business and services and plain misery—as in this 1960-61 season.

By only fragmentary calculations, the cost to New York City alone would run to more than $50 million.

59 New Federal Judgeships Urged By Attorney General

WASHINGTON (AP) — Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy today asked Congress to create 59 new federal judgeships.

An administration bill sent to the House and Senate would provide nine new judges for the U.S. courts of appeals and 50 new U.S. District Court judgeships.

In identical letters to Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson and House Speaker Sam Rayburn, D-Tex., Kennedy said there has been no increase in the federal judiciary since 1954.

"Since 1954 there has been a decrease in the total number of judicial positions resulting from the expiration of three judgeships created on a temporary basis," Kennedy asserted.

"In the meantime, the increase in litigation in the federal courts has created serious problems of court congestion with consequent delay in disposition of the cases."

The bill would increase the number of Circuit Court judges in the 2nd Circuit (New York, Connecticut, Vermont) from six to nine; the 4th Circuit (Maryland, North Carolina, South Carolina, Virginia, West Virginia, Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, Texas, Canal Zone) from seven to nine; the 7th Circuit (Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin) from six to seven; and the 10th Circuit (Colorado, Kansas, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Utah, Wyoming) from five to six.

New district judgeships would be in the following areas:

Alabama, Northern District (1); Alaska (1); Arizona (1); California, Northern District (1); Colorado (1); Connecticut (2); Florida, Southern District (2); Georgia, Northern District (1); Illinois, Northern District (2); Iowa (1) to serve in both Northern and Southern Districts; Kansas (1); Louisiana, Eastern District (2); Maryland (2); Massachusetts (1); Michigan, Eastern District (2); Mississippi, Southern District (1); Nevada (1); New Jersey (1); New York, Southern District (6); Eastern District (2); North Carolina (1) to serve in both Northern and Southern Districts; Ohio, Northern District (2); Southern District (1); Pennsylvania, Eastern District (3); Western District (3); Middle District (1); Puerto Rico (1); South Carolina, Eastern District (1); Tennessee, Eastern District (1); Middle District (1); Western District (1); Texas, Northern District (3); Southern District (1); Western District (1); Eastern District (1); Michigan, one in the District of Nevada, two in the Eastern District of New York, one in the Southern District of Ohio, and one in the Middle District of Pennsylvania would be temporary. The first vacancies occurring in those districts would not be filled.

The bill provides that in Washington State a judge now serving in both the Eastern and Western districts be assigned for the Western District only.

The bill also provides that judgeships previously created on a temporary basis in the Middle District of Georgia, District of

New Mexico and the Western District of Pennsylvania, be made permanent.

Kennedy said his bill is in line with recommendations of the Judicial Conference of the United States. That body, headed by the chief justice, includes the chief judges of the Courts of Appeals, the chief judge of the Court of Claims and one district judge from each of the geographic areas over which the 11 appeals courts have jurisdiction.

According to Sheriff Herbert Hughes, the rioters tried to force one of the workers' barracks.

Forty men were arrested and four others, including the son of the United Packinghouse Workers of America, Knowles, were treated for injuries at an emergency hospital.

Later in the day, Hughes' deputies arrested union members by invading the El Centro Labor Temple and arresting six of them. The sheriff was also in the raiding party, along with city policemen.

Among those arrested was Clive Knowles, international representative of the United Packinghouse Workers of America. Knowles had spearheaded a joint campaign by the UPWA and the agricultural workers organizing committee to become bargaining agents for workers on the farm.

Knowles and four other men were charged with misdemeanor rioting and a felony count of false imprisonment.

The sheriff said the latter count related to a sit-down demonstration at a labor camp a week earlier during which a large group of imported Mexican workers (braceros) were on the farm.

Blakley, in Texas temporarily to do some spade work in his campaign to keep the Senate seat he holds on an interim basis, said he went into Weaver's background thoroughly before fighting the nomination.

"Dr. Weaver has spent all his time espousing the cause of Negroes," he said. "I don't blame him for that, but since that has been his life's work I think it will be difficult for him to occupy an office where he is supposed to represent all factions."

Blakley repeated many points he made on the Senate floor in his unsuccessful attempt to block Weaver's nomination.

"He said in his writings he would use the full powers of the federal government to force integration. I think it is a dangerous thing," he said.

Blakley said he was concerned over the future of housing, "especially if it becomes impossible to build housing projects where segregation would be impossible."

Barber is charged with discrimination.

NEW YORK (AP)—A Long Island barber whose shop displayed a sign reading "Kinky Haircut—$5" was charged Thursday with discriminating against Negroes.

The State Commission Against Discrimination ordered Angelo Mustachio to remove the sign from his shop in Uniondale, N.Y. The agency said he had put it up to discourage Negro trade and had specifically discriminated against an 8-year-old Negro boy.

The boy, Charles E. Flot Jr. of Uniondale, testified at a hearing that Mustachio had raised the price to $5 when he asked about a haircut. Mustachio's usual price is 75 cents.

Troop Reductions Abroad Called Off

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Kennedy administration has scrapped former President Eisenhower's policy of considering overseas troop reductions and redeployment as a step to ease the gold-dollar problem.

President Kennedy is understood to have assured Gen. Lauris Norstad, supreme commander of NATO forces in Europe, there will be no shift or cutback in the numbers of American fighting men in Western Europe — or anywhere else.

Kennedy followed this up by stating at his Wednesday news conference "We for our part mean to go on as full and energetic partners in NATO, and in particular we wish to maintain our military strength in Europe." He praised NATO as "our central and most important defensive alliance."

Some outdated overseas bases conceivably will be closed as a result of a sweeping study now under way in the Defense Department to gear defenses to the nuclear age.

But Kennedy has ruled that the determining factor governing any such shutdowns must be whether the installations are obsolete and not whether dollars can be saved by abolishing them.

Kennedy's policy, in effect, reverses one of the last-minute moves the Eisenhower administration adopted to halt the outflow of gold and dollars.

The new Democratic President already has overturned another emergency Eisenhower action — the decision to bring home some 250,000 dependents of servicemen around the world.

Fears that such an American pullback might occur spread in Western Europe in December and January in the wake of public comment by Eisenhower and former Secretary of State Christian A. Herter.

Many State Department officials are known to have opposed the bringing-home dependents move as well as any public hint that troops might be pulled out of Western Europe.

But Eisenhower is understood to have overruled them, believing such drastic actions and talk would jar the Europeans into taking long delayed action to help bolster the dollar.

The Kennedy administration, while pledged to all-out efforts to meet the gold-dollar crisis, has rejected the Eisenhower approach for these two reasons:

1. Any revamping of foreign policy, dictated by economy motives rather than national security considerations, would shake the confidence of Western nations in the steadiness of future American leadership.

2. Prospects for getting Europeans to help in the gold-dollar crisis will be strengthened if the United States can demonstrate it will continue to carry a big overseas financial burden. This will make it possible to win allied cooperation on the grounds that Western security demands increased allied contributions, instead of by threatening unwise troop redeployment.

Water depletion, the Golden Gloves' color ban, and the opening of headquarters kept several Texas aspirants for U.S. senator busy this weekend.

Joseph Carter, of Boerne, a retired Army veteran, filed as a candidate Thursday in the special election April 4 that will select a successor to the Senate post vacated by Lyndon Johnson. The filing deadline is March 4.

There are now 28 candidates. More equitable water depletion for farmers was urged by Atty. Gen. Will Wilson in Amarillo.

"The present requirements for proof for water depletion are unreasonable and discriminatory," Wilson told 50 county campaign chairmen.

A depletion allowance on water to our farms would do more to help strengthen the farm countries in Texas than most measures now pending before Congress.

Sen. William Blakley said he will campaign over the weekend in Waco, Dallas and Houston. He will be in Dallas Sunday and Monday and return to Washington Tuesday.

Voicing opposition to the Golden Gloves' color ban, former State Rep. Maury Maverick sent a telegram to Negro amateur boxer Thurman Hubbard of San Antonio, saying:

"The Kennedy administration, while pledged to all-out efforts to meet the gold-dollar crisis, has rejected the Eisenhower approach for these two reasons:

Unintentional Record Set

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—Flight analysts say Air Force Maj. Bob White unintentionally set an unofficial world speed record of 2,275 miles per hour during a test run in the X-15 rocket plane.

The speed attained by White in a flight last Tuesday was originally announced as 2,112 m.p.h., but the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said Thursday a detailed study of flight data showed a record had been set and the maximum speed actually was 2,275 m.p.h. It eclipses the mark of 2,196 m.p.h. attained last Aug. 4.

White, who also holds the unofficial world altitude mark in the X-15—136,500 feet—was not after a record on Thursday's flight but was making stability control tests at 60,000 feet when the X-15 outran her former speed in a shallow dive.

Cause Of Noise In Car Found Quickly

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Shelley Levine of Pittsburgh heard strange noises under his car Thursday.

When the noise persisted, the worried Levine drove into a service station and asked the attendants to check the car.

The attendants found the trouble under a rear fender. They pulled out a badly frightened brown and white cat.

Self-Styled Bishop Held In California

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A self-styled bishop who FBI agents said resembled "atomic holy water," his followers is under arrest today on a Texas bail-jumping warrant.

William McKinley Estep, 64, better known as Bishop John Smith, was picked up Thursday in suburban La Puente. FBI agents said the California medical board cooperated in the arrest.

The "atomic holy water" agents said, was tap water colored with bluing.

Estep, pastor of the Kingdom Church of Christ, is accused of jumping $25,000 bond after his indictment on income tax evasion charges at Waco, Tex., in 1958.

Yellow-Billed Magpie Has Lone Champion

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Only one man stood up for the yellow-billed magpie in the California Senate Thursday. Thirty-one didn't.

The Senate passed and sent to the House a bill to keep the birds off the state's protected list for another two years. California walnut and almond growers charge the magpies eat nuts.

Sen. Richard Richards, D-Los Angeles, opposed the bill. But he was outvoted when proponents pointed out that 90-one agree with Richards—not even the bird-protecting Audubon Society.

A Dessert, Coffee For 8 O'Clock

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
AP Newsfeatures Food Editor

Want a simple way of entertaining? Invite friends to come at eight o'clock in the evening for dessert and coffee. This idea was wildly popular some years ago. It's worth reviving.

Fine fare for this occasion is a wintertime ice-cream cake. A recipe we tried recently is made with a chocolate brownie cake base and topped with three kinds of ice cream—vanilla, chocolate and mint.

If you prefer other ice cream flavors, make sure their colors are compatible. You want this dessert to look pretty as well as taste good. We've tried substituting coffee ice cream for the mint. If the coffee variety isn't available or you don't care for it, two layers of either vanilla or chocolate might be used.

You can serve any of these combinations with a chocolate sauce. We found this sauce recipe made enough to offer with plain ice cream for these dessert addicts who appreciate second helpings.

Put this ice-cream cake together shortly before serving so the cake base won't get too hard. It should defrost in about the time it takes the ice cream to get soft enough to eat easily.

PARTY ICE-CREAM CAKE

4 cups sifted flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 squares (2 ounces) unsweetened chocolate
1/2 cup butter
2 eggs
1 cup sugar
1/2 cup chopped walnuts
1 pint vanilla ice cream
1 pint chocolate ice cream
1 pint pink or green mint ice cream

Sift together the flour and salt. Melt chocolate and butter over hot water. Beat together until thick the eggs and sugar; beat in the melted chocolate and butter. Stir in flour mixture until blended, then fold in walnuts. Turn into a buttered round 9-inch layer-cake pan. Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven 25 to 30 minutes. Place on wire rack to cool, then turn out. Spread vanilla ice cream over top of cake; freeze until firm. Spread chocolate ice cream over vanilla ice cream; freeze until firm. Spread mint ice cream over chocolate ice cream; freeze until firm. Serve with chocolate sauce.

CHOCOLATE SAUCE
1-3 cup butter
1 box (1 pound) light brown sugar
1/2 cup light corn syrup
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 squares (2 ounces) unsweetened chocolate
1 cup evaporated milk (undiluted)
Melt butter in a saucepan over low heat. Add brown sugar, corn syrup and salt; stir constantly until sugar dissolves. Add chocolate and stir until melted. Slowly add evaporated milk, stirring constantly until smooth. Serve warm or cold. Makes 3 cups.

A Bishop's Warning On Apartheid

Shifting At Sharpeville: The Agency of South Africa. By Ambrose Reeves.

On Monday, March 21 last, 67 natives were killed and 186 wounded by the police of the Sharpeville station, Union of South Africa. The police claimed an armed mob attacked them and they fired only in self-defense.

This author flatly denies the charge. Bishop of Johannesburg, long a defender of Negro rights, Reeves says almost all the victims were shot in the back, the crowd was not armed, in fact certain elements of it behaved in a friendly manner to law officers, and in short this is another bloody chapter in the dreadful history of apartheid.

The Bishop, who has been living in an exile, forced on him by the government, opens his short account with a quotation from Churchill, who got it from Macaulay: "Then was seen what we believe to be the most frightful of all spectacles, the strength of civilization without its mercy."

Reeves writes with little of the passion of Alan Paton or of that other African Anglican, Father Huddleston, but he has a clear-cut case supported by press photos of a deliberate and unjustified slaughter, a 40-second fusillade that affected 215 families and over 500 children tragically and perhaps disastrously. He warns that the white must stop treating the Negro as he does, on pain of strife, and declares that apartheid is not merely erroneous, "it is a heresy which is unthinkable that within the Church differences of race and color should be allowed to continue to separate Christians from one another."

Peg-Board Popular As Kitchen Feature

Pre-decorated peg-board panels, available in many colors and patterns, are convenient for hanging shelves to hold dishes, utensils, cookbooks, condiments, and other items cooks like to have close at hand.

Another advantage is that peg-board panels can be sponged clean with soap or detergent suds.

A new spot-resistant tablecloth is finished so that mealtime spills "head up" on the surface and can be blotted up with a sudsy sponge or cloth before they do damage. What's more, this rayon-and-acetate cloth can be machine-washed without affecting the finish, and requires little or no ironing.

Jeweled Furniture Is Latest Discovery On New Frontier

BY INEZ ROBB

What follows is hard to credit. But I saw it with my own eyes, and I have witnesses. In addition, I scanned the price tag. It read $299 for the most offensive item of household equipment since some demented innovator first sank a clock in the stomach of Venus de Milo.

I was doing a bit of household shopping, minding my own business for once, when I ran full tilt into a covey of furniture currently known as a dinette set. As nearly as I can figure out, the dinette set on the New Frontier furnishes what used to be called "the breakfast nook" in my salad days.

At any rate, the dinette set consists of a table and four chairs that are not quite sufficiently solid to embellish the dining room, if one is lucky enough to have a separate room in which to eat in this age of living-dining-family activities-room architecture. But if the dinette set of '51 is not quite up to scratch for formal dining, it is several cuts above the old kitchen table and chairs.

Truth to tell, the dinette set is to the old kitchen table and chairs as the new glass-fronted wall ovens are to the old, black, wood stove that baked such delicious bread. Apparently a good bit of status attaches to the dinette set, with the result that it is to the kitchen what tailfins were to cars two or three years ago. There are new models every year in dinettes no less than in Detroit.

But the tailfin got too big and gaudy for its own good, as we all know. After what I saw yesterday I feel the dinette set has just about had it, too. Get a good grip on the reins, friends, and I shall proceed.

The framework and legs of the table and four chairs were made of what appeared to be gleaming gold metal. The upholstery was of one of these new miracle fabrics, in white, from which one can instantly wash instant jam prints of little fingers.

So far, so good. I could even overlook the fact that the glistening white table top was embellished with a painted wreath of golden laurel. Just the ticket, say, for Nero's Golden House. Maybe a bit overdone for my straining tastes, but still tolerable.

What floored me was the five-inch-high honeycomb or lattice work of neo-golden metal that ran across the top of each chair back. Come to think of it, maybe I could even have stood this lily gliding. What really loomed my wig was the fact that the golden lattice was set with "jewels." Honestly, cross - my - heart - and - hope - to - die, those dinette chairs looked like refugees from a cut-rate Cartier's.

Dits of emerald-green, ruby-red, topaz-yellow and sapphirine-blue glass studded the golden lattice. But if one had her itty-bitsy heart and head set on a dinette set to match her aquarium of kitchen and snack bar, why, of

Lord Salisbury Urges Seat For Red China

LONDON (AP) — Lord Salisbury, Conservative member of the House of Lords, urged in a foreign affairs debate today that Communist China be admitted to the United Nations.

Lord Salisbury acknowledged he has opposed membership for Red China.

"That was because I did not want to see a wedge driven on a really important issue between ourselves and the United States," he said.

Sure Way To Get A Child Off To Sleep

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — "How can I get my child to go to sleep?" Millions of parents have raised this cry. In some neighborhoods—where there are a lot of kids—this can be a bigger problem than the mortgages.

But what grownup cannot defeat a child if he puts his mind to it?

It is really very simple. You want the child to go to sleep at a certain time, but it decides it doesn't want to.

Let us assume that you and your wife are going out for the evening. You have a daughter named Mary Anne, aged below 10, and a teen-age baby sister named Gloria has been hired to subdue her.

The whole idea is that Gloria is to get Mary Anne in bed by 8:30 p.m. "at the very latest." Naturally, your wife is aware of the problem early in the day. And she attacks it early. She wakes Mary Anne an hour before usual and puts her through a stiff course of Zen-Buddhism exercises.

After school your wife meets Mary Anne and takes her ice skating or for a ballet lesson. Anything to wear the child down. When you leave for the evening, you tell Gloria, "Don't let her watch violent TV shows about people in trouble. Either she won't pay any attention to them, or else she'll be scared awake."

"Let her see a show about an animal in trouble, and then she'll cry herself tired before she is sure the animal is going to come out. Okay. She doesn't yet know that on television an animal never loses."

So you come home at 11:30 p.m. and there is little Mary late movie, and Gloria, her baby sister, sitting up in a chair sound asleep, her weekend algebra lesson unsolved in her hand.

You feed her, and she coaxes, "Please, can't I just this once stay up and see the rest of the movie? It's Friday."

"Sure," you tell her, "stay up as long as you want to. But your mommy and I are going to sleep now."

If you carry out this threat, within five moments there is a plaintive cry, "I'm sleepy. I want to go to bed."

Children are great parent-herders. And they are quick to follow the sheep of their choice to the pastures of drowse.

If parents want a child to go to sleep, all they have to do is to go to sleep first.

The child will follow without trouble.

Lab Man Is Winner Of Cooking Contest

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—A rocket laboratory man's cooking produced a dish-potato chip lasagna—that won him the men's national cooking contest $1,000 prize.

He is Bernard L. Troup, 49, an electronics specialist at the Army Missile Center, Huntsville, Ala., a perfectionist in home cooking.

Runnersup in the contest finals this week were Art Butler, Scottsdale, Ariz.; the Rev. Airmin G. Weng Jr., Lena, Ill.; and Dr. Henry Bornheimer, Mamaroneck, N. Y. They won their trip expenses.

SNYDER, GAIL VIE AT 7:30

'B' Tournament To Start Here Tonight

Heavy action on three fronts tonight will be the highlight of the annual Snyder "B" Team Tournament. The launch of the tournament is set for 7:30 p.m. at the Snyder High School gymnasium.

Due to the tournament set-up, two of the initial contests—both on the agenda for tonight—will be played in cities other than Snyder. This somewhat unusual twist comes about due to a pair of regularly scheduled district 3-3A "B" games counting as tournament first water at Lamesa and Lake View at Colorado City.

All five 3-3A members are participating in the meet, plus the Big Spring "B" and the Gail Coyote varsity cup. Composing the upper bracket of play will be Sweetwaters, and will involve Sweetwater, Lamesa and Big Spring with Big Spring drawing a first round bye, while the lower bracket will be composed of Gail, Colorado City, Lake View, and host Snyder.

With the exception of the aforementioned contest which will be untelevised on foreign courts, all of the remaining games will be played in Snyder's Tiger Gym. The sole clash here tonight will see Snyder engaging Gail at 7:30, thus completing first round firing when coupled with the two tilts being played away.

Tomorrow morning second round action will get underway, when at 10:15 the Gail-Snyder and Colorado City-Lake View losers meet in the consolation semi-finals. Immediately thereafter, at 11:30, the winners of those two games are to clash in the championship semi-final.

Completing the second round of play will be the fray matching Big Spring and the Sweetwater-Lamesa victor. That championship semi-final has a starting time of 2:45 tomorrow afternoon.

The consolation final clash is to begin at 6:15 tomorrow and the championship final will follow on its heels at 7:30.

Eddie James, Gail Coyote mentor, has indicated that two of his mainline performers will not be able to take part in the tournament due to illness. His tentative starting lineup is to include Carroll Ramsey and Joe Dennis at guards, Harold Steadman at center, and Jim McEachern and probably Bobby Burris at the forwards.

McEachern is the leading scorer for the Coyotes, having averaged approximately 18 points per game over the campaign.

McEachern is the leading scorer for the Coyotes, having averaged approximately 18 points per game over the campaign.

Snyder enters the tournament with a 10-1 record, having won 8 of its last 9 outings.

Blue Devils Post 2 Of 3 Victories

The Lamar-Travis junior high rivalry was renewed here once again last night, with the Blue Devils from Travis turning the tables on the Texans in 2 out of 3 games.

Billy Stewart powered the Blue Devils to a 22-10 triumph in the first game, followed by Jimmy Wilson and his 14.

Lamar led through much of the game, but went under in the latter stages when a late Travis rally halted the Blue Devils into the winner's circle.

Travis came out on top in the 8th grade contest, 41-26, as the Blue Devil quind roared to a quick 16-1 first quarter advantage from which the Texans never recovered.

In rolling to a 30-7 halftime lead, the Travisites hit over 50 per cent of their field goal attempts in the first half, making good on 14 of 27 shots.

The second half was a different story, however, as Lamar came back to outscore the eventual winners by 19-11. But the comeback proved to be too late, as the first half bulge was too much to overcome.

Leslie Brown was the big gun in the Travis attack with 16, while teammate Kenneth Dower meshed 11. Lamar's Jerry Vestal popped the strings for 14 to be high for his team.

Lamar 7th, in salvaging an 18-11 victory from its cross-town rivals, used a big first quarter advantage in taking the win, as the count of the contest.

A pair of Texans shared high point honors in that one, as Bill Blum and Freddie Wiman each tallied 6. Marvin Mayfield had two points for Travis with 5.

Between You And Me

BY JERRY JACKSON

Well, we've got a new president now, and things are getting back pretty much normal again. The inauguration was a lot like a wedding, with incoming Kennedy playing the role of the groom, or bridesmaid. Not a whole lot of difference, since both principals have to take a back seat for the proceedings.

The big news was the Mrs., and the current wave of Jacqueline. I'll have to admit that I was becoming a little concerned myself there a day or two before the change-over, wondering whether she would show up in a little hat with curly-ques all over it or a BIG one with bangles. She ended up with some sort of Casack-type headpiece that defies all imagination.

The last high-level bull session between the incoming and outgoing presidents was probably a master piece. I can only theorize what took place, but it might've gone something like this:

Mr. "Been golfing any lately?"

JFK: "Naah. Hardly evuh. I lettueth at Hawud, howhuv. Those draitied newsmen with thooch draitied camera make it extremly trying foah me nowdays, so I yuv almost given up the game of golf. You had some trouble along those lines, didn't you? Bad publicity, shall we say?"

Mr. "As a matter of fact, I did. People must think that all I ever did in office was to go on vacations and play golf. Sometimes I almost wish I'd never even SEEN a pair of knickers."

JFK: "I see your point, old man. Now, about this slice that we were discussing earlier..."

Mr. "Just bring that right hand under the shaft a little more and close your stance. That'll do it every time."

JFK: (slowly) "Ouy was referring to the slice in the FAWM budget, Mistah President."

Mr. "Yep, things are getting back to normal again, as witnessed by the lead paragraph as noted yesterday in a news brief. Dateline—Palm Springs, California."

It said, "Dwight D. Eisenhower began a long golfing vacation at this desert resort Wednesday by hooking his first drive into a grapefruit tree."

Three Canadians — Dave Johnston, Tom Heintzman and Dick Blakey — are members of Harvard's hockey team.

Ted Williams, Jack Jensen and Sammy White are on the voluntarily retired list of the Boston Red Sox.

Simon Weatherby, a native of England, will captain the 1961 Columbia University soccer team.

Whitney Reed of Alameda, Calif., No. 3, halted Robert Brulot of Belgium, 6-2, 6-4, and Chris Crawford of Piedmont, Calif., No. 4, dropped Sid Schwartz of Long Beach, N. Y., 6-3, 6-2.

Billy Knight of England, seeded behind Sirola in the foreign draw, downed Mike Green of Miami Beach, 6-3, 6-4. Rafael Osuna of Mexico, No. 3, vanquished Alvin Hollander of New York, 6-3, 6-2, and Pierre Darmon of France, No. 4, defeated Karl Hedrick of Preepert, N. Y., 6-4, 6-1.

Sirola, the No. 1 seeded foreigner, and the man who scored the decisive victory over MacKay in last year's interzone final in the Davis Cup said "the lights hurt me. When I would look one way, the ball would come the other way."

ACC Breezes To Easy Indoor Win

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — They ran off a track and field meet here Thursday night—something quite rare for Texas and the South—and there was a sellout crowd to watch Abilene Christian College win first place in a walk.

The meet, drawing 400 Texas athletes, was run off on a dirt track where a rodeo had been held last week. It got an enthusiastic reception from the crowd of 7,200 while 2,000 more, who could not get into Will Rogers Coliseum, probably would have been just as enthusiastic.

Earl Young, who won a gold medal in the Olympic Games by running a lap on the 1600-yard relay team, led Abilene Christian to its smashing triumph. He won the 440-yard dash in an easy 50.6, then anchored the mile relay team to a 3:25.5 clocking.

Probably the best showing of any athlete was that of John Fry of Baylor, who tossed the shot 56 feet 6 inches. It was the longest throw a Texas collegian ever made in a Texas meet.

Abilene Christian won the meet with 42 2-3 points. Southern Methodist was second with 21, Texas third with 18, Texas Tech fourth with 17 1-3 and Baylor, the South-west Conference champion, fifth with 14 1-2.

No one seriously endangered an American indoor record but the times and distances were considered quite good since it was the earliest a track meet ever has been held in Texas and it was a new experience for the athletes. The only other time an indoor meet has been held in Texas—or the South—was in 1923 here in Fort Worth.

L. B. Morris, track coach of Arlington Heights High School here, promoted the meet. He was unable to get any civic organization back it for fear it would be a losing proposition. But the High School Coach's Association decided to push it and the result was a neat profit.

Bob Swofford of Texas Tech ran a 7.4 seconds 60-yard high hurdles, a time duplicated in the open division by Bob Sewell, Texas as freshman. This was only two-tenths of a second over the American indoor dirt track record.

Ralph Alspaugh of Texas won the 60-yard dash in 6.3 as Bill Kemp, the Baylor freshman sensation of last season, wound up fifth.

Abilene Christian registered a sweep in the 440-yard dash with Young first, Bud Clanton second and Dave Clark, former North Texas State star who was on the U.S. Olympics team, vaulted 14 feet 1 inch as an exhibition but missed at 14-6.

Sirola Clipped In National Indoor Tennis

NEW YORK (AP) — Crawford Henry blasted big Orlando Sirola of Italy, 6-3, 7-5, in the first round of the National Indoor Championship Thursday night and thus knocked out one of the prime favorites for the title.

"I needed a big victory real bad," said Henry. "You have to have a big one now and then to give you confidence, and I guess this is my biggest."

"Right now I'm not doing a thing except playing tennis. When I was graduated from Tulane last summer, I started on the tournament trail. But then, I got a pulled stomach muscle and that just about finished me. I think I would have made the top 10 in the country if I hadn't been hurt."

As it is, Henry, 23, from Atlanta, is the No. 12 player on the official list and since MacKay and Earl Buchholz have turned pro, he actually ranks No. 10.

Sirola, the No. 1 seeded foreigner, and the man who scored the decisive victory over MacKay in last year's interzone final in the Davis Cup said "the lights hurt me. When I would look one way, the ball would come the other way."

Sirola, the No. 1 seeded foreigner, and the man who scored the decisive victory over MacKay in last year's interzone final in the Davis Cup said "the lights hurt me. When I would look one way, the ball would come the other way."

Hearty agreed that Sirola was a better player than he showed in his indoor debut.

BELEW, WARE TOP SCORERS

Lamesa Hungrily Eyes 3-3A Flag

Nothing short of a two-stage collapse will keep Lamesa's Golden Tornadoes from repeating as District 3-3A cage kings.

Sweetwater and Snyder, in that order, are to attempt the chore, with both games being played with in the friendly Tornado Gym confines. Lamesa, standing at 6-0 in district play, could clinch the crown tonight with a victory over the Mustangs. Should the Pones spring the upset, then it would be up to Snyder to make it unanimous this Tuesday, when the Tigers take the westward trek.

Under those theoretical circumstances a three-way tie for the hunting would develop, assuming that Sweetwater takes Colorado City in stride on Tuesday, also.

Such a gigantic collapse on the part of the Tors is not probable, but the glimmer of hope still remains. Going into tonight's game, the Lamesans are averaging a strapping 84.2 points per district game to their opponents' 47.2.

Following Tuesday's action, Mustang Billy Belew continued to cling to the district scoring leadership with 129 points to his credit. Breathing down his neck is Snyder's Weldon Ware, with 127. Belew has a fatter per-game average, however, having played one less game than has Ware.

Lamesa's Leslie Williams bolted into the "show" spot in the individual scoring race with a 20-point spurge against Lake View's smarting Chiefs, while the previous third-place occupant—Ronnie Turnbow of Sweetwater—was being held to only 10 against Snyder.

A statistical look-see at the race as it now stands follows:

Team	Record	Pts	Opp
Lamesa (6-0)	84.2	505	283
Snyder (5-1)	48.2	482	381
Sweetwater (4-2)	44.2	438	388
C-City (1-5)	28.2	286	484
Lake View (0-7)	20.2	201	540

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—A trio of young sharpshooters held a skimpy one-stroke lead as a whole army of par wreckers headed into today's second round of the $30,000 Phoenix Open golf tournament.

Out front with four-under-par 68 in the opening session were Bill Collins, Dave Marr and Marion Rudolph, but 44 others who bettered or equaled par Thursday were within striking distance.

Among those only a single stroke back was Buddy Sullivan of Yuba City, Calif., whose only big golf payoff came when Joe Campbell sank a $50,000 hole in one in the 1960 Palm Springs tournament. Sullivan and Campbell had agreed in advance to divide the money if either shot an ace.

Also in the 67 group were Don January, who grabbed $50,000 from a Palm Springs hole in one last week; Don Fairfield and veterans Jay Hebert, Tommy Bolt and Julius Boros.

Right along with defending champion Jack Piek at 68 were Gary Loustalot of Sacramento, Calif., who hasn't won any money in his one-month on the tour, and part time circuit rider Bud Duden of Portland, Ore., who putts between his legs croquet style.

The others with first round 68s are Stan Leonard, Henry Williams, Tommy Aaron, Paul Harney, Al Balding and hometown pro Ken Kier.

Arnold Palmer, 1960 golfer of the year, and Gary Player, top money winner so far this year, were among 13 who fired ones to round out a total of 31 players with sub par rounds.

CONSCIENTIOUSLY YOURS

The prescription your doctor writes may call for numerous ingredients. These must be compounded precisely—measured, weighed, powdered, sometimes heated, sometimes chilled and ultimately blended into a medicine.

Your pharmacist must be exactly right with his grams, cubic centimeters, percentages and other scientific guideposts.

During the process, to the exclusion of all else, we are in every way—conscientiously your servant.

For the evening service, his topic will be "At Thy Word I Will."

Kennedy Prodded On Ireland Issue

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy, long an advocate of unification for Ireland while in the Senate, got a Republican prod Thursday to do something about it now that he is in the White House.

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., the GOP leader, told the Senate that over the years he and Kennedy repeatedly—but in vain—had sought to place the Senate on record as saying Northern Ireland should be included in the Republic of Ireland.

Dirksen then introduced an identical resolution and suggested that Kennedy, from the White House, might be able to use his good offices for unification.

Christian Clergymen, Jewish Scholars Slate Discussion

By E. E. MAKESKY
OMAHA, Neb. (AP)—Christian clergymen will gather next week at the Temple on Feb. 17 to hear Jewish scholars discuss Judaism with Jewish scholars.

The clergymen, from Omaha and nearby towns in Nebraska and Iowa, will convene in the sanctuary of Temple Israel, as they have for almost a quarter of a century, for the annual Institute on Judaism of Christian Clergymen. About 200 are expected.

They will spend a full day at the Temple on Feb. 17 to hear scholarly discussions of Judaism. They will be free to comment from the floor and contribute to the discussion. Differences between Christian and Jewish beliefs will be discussed and there will be questions and answers about the Jewish view of Jesus.

Rabbi Sidney H. Brooks of Temple Israel will direct the Institute. Dr. Robert I. Kahn, the national chaplain of the American Legion, will lecture. Dr. Kahn is recognized in ecclesiastical circles as a scholar, preacher, author and soldier. He is rabbi of Congregation Emanuel in Houston, Tex., and holds the degree of doctor of Hebrew letters.

Both Rabbis Brooks and Kahn are reform Jewish rabbis and adhere to what is often called liberal Judaism, as distinguished from the two other branches of Judaism—orthodox and conservative.

Rabbi Brooks describes the annual meeting with his Christian colleagues as "a wonderful experience in mutual spiritual and academic search."

He regards the Institute as Temple Israel's most significant project and rates it highly as a vehicle for better understanding between the spiritual leaders of Christians and Jews. He says it is designed to serve as a scholarly seminar geared to the interest of the officiating Christian pastor.

Rabbi Kahn will lecture on "The Midrash as a distinctive method of teaching and preaching," and will illustrate it with preaching material and pulpit themes at the opening session. The Midrash is a collection of ancient rabbinic books containing ethical, inspirational and legal interpretations of the biblical text in addition to the literal meaning.

At an afternoon session, Rabbi Kahn will discuss the varieties of modern Jewish religious life with emphasis on the reform movement. This will be a study of the dynamics of religious reformation.

Invariably the institutes are followed by an influx of visitors from Christian churches, represented at the Institute, including many Christian youth groups. Previous institutes have prompted experiments in common classes of youth groups from the two faiths.

Cooling Off Is Urged On Missile Gap

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate voices of both parties are urging a cooling off period for the missile gap controversy.

Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., Thursday said the dispute should "not be made a partisan matter." At the same time he accused the Eisenhower administration of "a calculated and deliberate effort to keep vital defense information from President Kennedy when he was campaigning for the White House."

Republican Sen. John Sherman Cooper of Kentucky agreed defense is not a partisan matter. When it is fully appraised, he said, Kennedy "should tell the American people the actual situation."

"Wait until the facts are in," said Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn.

The missile gap go-around started when Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara held a briefing session Monday with newsmen, with the understanding that nothing was to be attributed to him. In answer to a reporter's question, McNamara said at one point he did not believe there was a missile gap with the Soviet Union ahead of the United States.

The defense issue was a key facet of Kennedy's election campaign. He used the term missile gap in speeches.

McNamara's name soon reached print as the source of the story. Kennedy was confronted with this at his news conference Wednesday.

The President backed off, saying that studies on U.S. defense positions had not been completed. Republicans in Capitol Hill took up the cry that Kennedy had misled the American people during his election campaign. Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois wrote McNamara urging him to "tell the truth" about his Monday briefing session.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., said much of it results from confusion and misunderstanding.

On that note, the dispute seems to be simmering down, at least temporarily.

If cooking under pressure, allow time for a slow rise and fall of pressure so that beans will cook evenly without breaking.

Drama From India Adds New Variety

By WILLIAM GLOVER
NEW YORK (AP)—A spirited drama from India now adds further variety to New York's impromptu world theatrical festival.

"The King of the Dark Chamber," written by Nobel Prize poet Rabindranath Tagore, opened Thursday night at the Jan Hus Playhouse as part of centennial celebration of the artist's birth.

Notable in her American debut was Surya Kumari, a leading stage-screen actress of Asian land. Under the direction of Krishna Shah, a compatriot from Bombay, Miss Kumari displayed a luminous artistry to match appealing beauty.

The play, described as an exercise in imaginative reality, approximates the myth of Cupid and Psyche. Well cast as the mysterious king who seeks to shield her from his countenance is Brock Peters, who played Crown in the film version of "Porgy and Bess."

Moving from straight drama to interludes of haunting music and stirring dance, Shah uses his heterogeneous company of Indian and Western performers with brilliant results.

As the principal dancer, Bhaskar, another visitor from the subcontinent, moves with muscular virtuosity. The villain of the piece is ably limned by Bruce Glover.

Funeral Is Set Sunday For Former Maryland Senator

HAVRE DE GRACE, Md. (AP)—Funeral services will be held Sunday for Millard E. Tydings, a leading Democratic spokesman who never hesitated to buck leaders of either party during 24 years in the U. S. Senate.

Tydings died of pneumonia Thursday night at Oakington, his 550-acre farm near here in Harford County. He was 70.

During his Senate career, from 1926 to 1950, Tydings at times crossed swords with Presidents Franklin D. Roosevelt and Harry S. Truman. But his most bitter political feud was with the late Joseph R. McCarthy, Republican senator from Wisconsin.

Early in 1950, Tydings was named chairman of a special Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee to investigate McCarthy's charges that Communists were working in the State Department.

Tydings subsequently denounced McCarthy in a two-hour Senate speech, and claiming McCarthy's charges did not contain "an ounce of truth."

Distinguished Service Medal and Distinguished Service Cross.

He served in both houses of the Maryland Legislature before being elected to the House of Representatives in 1923.

Survivors include his widow, the former Eleanor Davies Chesebrough; a son, Joseph D. Tydings, a member of the Maryland House of Delegates; a daughter, Mrs. F. Warrington Gillet Jr. of Owings Mills, Md.; two sisters, Naomi Pickett of Havre De Grace and Mrs. John Eager of Washington.

Mott Goes To Workshop

R. Virgil Mott recently attended the Southern Baptist Sacred Music Workshop which convened in Fort Worth. The meeting was held at Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary.

Dr. James McKinney, who is dean of the School of Music at the Seminary was also dean of the Workshop.

Those appearing on the faculty included: Dr. T. W. (Jack) Dean for several years professor of music at Hardin-Simmons University and now dean of Graduate Studies at the Seminary; Miss Gladys Day head of the Seminary department of Organ; Dr. Robert Burton, director of Choral activities at the Seminary; and Dr. Lara Hoggard who served as the chief clinician of the sessions.

Dr. Hoggard was formerly with the Fred Waring Music organization for several years. He now resides at Hemet, Calif., where he is engaged in writing three books on Church and School music education and methods. Miss Mabel Warkentin, who is a teacher of graded choirs in Southern Seminary, Louisville, Ky. was the clinician for the graded choir laboratory at the Seminary.

In the Maryland senatorial campaign that fall, Republican John Marshall Butler accused Tydings of whitewashing the State Department loyalty investigation.

Tydings lost to Butler in a bitter fight. Butler was seated over Tydings' objections when a Senate subcommittee found Butler had conducted a dignified campaign blackened by "non-Maryland outsiders."

A tabloid circulated during the campaign contained a composite picture purporting to show Tydings in conversation with Earl Browder, one-time head of the American Communist party.

Six years later Tydings challenged Butler for re-election but withdrew from the campaign one month before the general election because of illness. He never regained good health.

Rev. Mitchell On Morning Devotions

The Rev. Walter A. Mitchell, pastor of First Baptist Church, will be the speaker next week on the Morning Devotions radio program. The program is presented at 9:15 a. m., Monday through Friday.

It is scheduled by the radio committee of the Snyder Ministerial Alliance.

Junior Editors Quiz on HANDKERCHIEFS

QUESTION: When and where did handkerchiefs originate?

ANSWER: The handkerchief played an important part in the games and races of ancient Rome. When it was dropped by some notable, that marked the start of the game. The Greeks also used handkerchiefs. But among both the Romans and Greeks, handkerchiefs were used only by a small number of people. Handkerchiefs became part of an elaborate costume about 1000 years ago in France. These were made of fine linen and lace and were not meant for practical use. These very fancy handkerchiefs were carried by more men than women. Eventually, the handkerchief spread into wider use. Big cotton handkerchiefs were used by workers of all sorts, to protect their heads from the sun, or tied around the neck to absorb perspiration. The kerchief—as the handkerchief is sometimes called—is part of the uniform of Boy and Girl Scouts, who wear them about their necks.

FOR YOU TO DO: There are many different kinds of handkerchiefs. Some have embroidered initials; some are souvenirs of special occasions. See how many different ones you can find in your home.

Valentine's Day Death Notice Due

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (AP)—One of California's record number of 33 condemned killers now awaiting execution will get an official Valentine's notice of the date he is to die.

Valentine's Day, Feb. 14, was chosen Thursday by San Mateo County Superior Court Judge Frank B. Blum to set the execution date of Alexander Robillard XIV, one of seven men on San Quentin Prison's death row for killing policemen.

Today only one of the 33 condemned persons knows when he is due to die—April 12. He is Ronald Rittiger, 24, a life-long criminal who once begged for the gas chamber and later changed his mind.

Goldfine Is Competent To Face Trial

BOSTON (AP)—Industrialist Bernard Goldfine of Boston, who wooed favor with expensive gifts to politicians, has been ruled mentally competent to face trial on charges of evading $800,000 in federal income taxes.

The ruling Thursday followed a six-day hearing on the government's contention Goldfine, 70, was capable of standing in the conduct of his defense.

Federal Judge George C. Sweeney found Goldfine had no "delusions or hallucinations" and could "assist and consult with his attorneys in preparation of his defense."

Trial was set for March 20. U.S. Atty. Elliot L. Richardson said indictments against Goldfine did not cover all his liability for taxes and penalties, which Richardson said exceed $5 million.

Goldfine was released in $5,000 bail and Judge Sweeney ordered that "no drastic psychiatric therapy" be used before trial.

Goldfine's association with high figures in government came to public attention during congressional hearings. Testimony disclosed that Goldfine lavished gifts on many officials of state and federal governments.

Most prominent of the recipients of Goldfine's largesse was Sherman Adams, assistant to President Eisenhower. The disclosures that Adams was given an expensive vacation coat and other gifts led to his resignation of the White House post.

During the hearing on Goldfine's mental competence, Judge Sweeney received the opinions of some 20 psychiatrists, several of them from St. Elizabeth's Mental Hospital in Washington, D. C. The psychiatrist was a patient there for a short time.

Judge Sweeney said that "as a matter of law I must reject all their conclusions" on Goldfine's competency to stand trial. He noted there was disagreement among the psychiatrists on the nature and severity of the elderly man's mental illness.

Most of those in death row are awaiting decision of the California Supreme Court, which automatically reviews each capital case. Eight others once had dates with death, but their executions were stayed for further appeals.

The number awaiting the gas chamber is unprecedented in any state. It has revived pleas for abolition of the death sentence.

Richard McGee, California director of corrections, has urged a six year moratorium on executions "to test the validity of the contention the death penalty is a deterrent."

Prisoners and their families are hopeful. Nothing more. They remember that the fight against the death penalty was at its height during Caryl Chessman's 12-year legal struggle to escape execution, and that he died in the gas chamber last May 2 as Los Angeles' "red light hand."

"Individually, there are as many different reactions as we have men up there," said Associate Warden Dale Frody.

Of the 32 men in death row—the 33rd condemned person is Elizabeth Duncan who is held in the California Institution for Women at Corona-Rittiger is definitely resigned to his fate.

Rittiger still studies mathematics in a University of California extension course but "feels that at this time there is no future for him."

He begged for death in 1956 in Marin County Superior Court after he hit another San Quentin prisoner with a steel drill. "I've done it three times already, and if I get away with this, I'll do it again," he declared.

He did, in 1959, killing another inmate in Soledad Prison.

HAVE
IN

Let's make St. Valentine's Day unanimous.
Let's say "I love you" to at least one other person. It is a bright and good day in the Christian calendar. Every one of us is the better man because he dares to love. The heart and the cross belong together. You cannot truly love without honoring the principle of sacrifice.
Saint Valentine was a Christian martyr, beheaded by Claudius, emperor of Rome about the year 50 A.D. He loved enough to surrender his life in the service of God. The heart and the cross tell us that God is love, that he loved enough to give all for us. Will St. Valentine succeed in winning you and me to a genuine love for God that will not count the cost? The best text for St. Valentine's Day is John 3:16.
